Section 1295. The other copy he must direct and address, in the same manner, and at once deliver it to a member-elect of the Legislature, or to a Senator who holds over; and the person to whom it is so delivered must deliver it to the Speaker on or before the second day next after his election.

Section 1296. The returns of election for Governor and Lieutenant Governor must, during the first week of the session, be opened, canvassed, and the result declared by the Speaker of the Assembly, in presence of both houses.

INTRODUCTION OF GOVERNOR FRANK F. MERRIAM.

Hon. W. P. Rich, President pro tempore of the Senate, addressed the Joint Convention as follows:

Fellow Members of the Legislature and Fellow Citizens of California.

It is extremely difficult for me to tell you with what delight and satisfaction that I appear before you as your representative in extending your welcome and greeting to the Governor of the State of California. Our Governor needs no eulogy from me. The members of this Legislature know him as well as I. He was a member of the Assembly for several years. He has been a member of the Senate and he has served one term as Lieutenant Governor of the State of California. No man in the State is better qualified by experience than he is for the position he holds.

As members of the Legislature, we know that there are ahead of us for this coming session some of the greatest problems that ever faced the Legislature of the State of California.

In such trying times the Legislature and the people of the State of California are extremely fortunate in having as their Governor a man of so much experience and of such outstanding ability.

The people of the State of California are looking to this Legislature for some help and for a constructive program which will grant relief to its citizenry. With such a great leader to guide us, I know we can not fail.

Governor Merriam, on behalf of the members of the Legislature of California sitting here today in Joint Convention, I welcome you and greet you as Governor of the State of California and I pledge to you their hearty cooperation and support to make your administration one of progress and of triumph.

INAUGURAL ADDRESS OF GOVERNOR FRANK F. MERRIAM.

Governor Frank F. Merriam proceeded to address the Joint Convention as follows:

INAUGURAL ADDRESS OF GOVERNOR FRANK F. MERRIAM

Delivered to the Senate and Assembly in Joint Session Tuesday, January 8, 1935.

Members of the California Senate and Assembly:

As the representatives of the people in the legislative branch of the State government, I welcome you to Sacramento for the biennial session of the State Legislature. We meet here under conditions that rob this occasion—and our common endeavors—of every influence and issue not vitally concerned with the public welfare and the exceedingly grave problems immediately ahead.

The people of California expect from you and from me at this time the fullest exercise of intelligent, devoted, energetic and unselfish attention to the critical problems confronting this commonwealth.

CONFIDENCE AND COOPERATION NECESSARY.

And if you perceive a disposition on my part in the remarks I shall make to you today, or in later messages I may submit to you, to stress the imperative need for cooperation and confidence between the executive and the legislative agencies of the government, let me say now with all the emphasis at my command that only by the widest application of such cooperation and confidence can essential results be obtained.

In no perfunctory or formal manner, but wholeheartedly and earnestly, I assure you that you may rely at all times upon my readiness to give sympathetic attention to your views and to confer with you individually or collectively upon any and all matters having your attention.

We must not come here as Republicans or as Democrats, or as the representatives of any political party, but as Californians—charged with the responsibility and inspired by the opportunity to serve our people and our State.

If there is any one among us who has come to the State Capital seeking merely to accomplish personal ends, or to further the selfish interests of any class or faction or section, that individual is not only misguided, but is blind to the nature of the trust which all of us share in common

PUBLIC SERVICE ONLY ISSUE

Public necessity, the security of our people, the employment of our citizens, the protection of our homes, the relief of destitution and suffering, the restoration of our constructive economic processes, and the wider and greater enjoyment of the full range of social justice and basic human rights should have, and must have, our undivided, unremitting, and unselfish care.

The next three or four months will mark an epoch in California's history. It is your opportunity, and mine, to labor so diligently, to attain results so effectively, to serve so faithfully, that this epochal period shall hereafter be regarded as a milestone in the progress and in the development of good government.

For if we fail to measure up to the requirements of the emergency with which we are faced; if we do not expeditiously and ably discharge our several duties; if we complicate and increase rather than eliminate and solve the problems of our people—then it shall be said of us that we lacked the capacity and the vision required to render the valuable public service which the people entrusted to us

FUTURE OUTLOOK IS PROMISING.

I fear no such misfortune; rather I am filled with optimism and with confidence We shall succeed, and our success will be interpreted in terms of greater security, happiness, and prosperity for the people of California.

We are entering upon a year of promise and of hope. Our courage is high; and if we soberly recognize the need for renewed effort and for continued service and sacrifice in the interests of our fellow citizens needing and meriting our consideration and care, we are prepared to carry our burdens uncomplainingly and with stout hearts.

With respect to all the methods to be employed or all the steps to be taken in attempting a solution of our many perplexing problems, we may not always see alike, but in the main we are in accord as to the ends to be attained; we have a common goal—service to the people.

With such an understanding, and in such a spirit, I earnestly pray we may proceed.

GOVERNMENT ALONE CAN NOT INDEFINITELY MEET EMERGENCY.

In this era of unprecedented dislocation of ordinary economic forces, the people have been required by necessity to look to National, State and local government for a coordination and the effective use of all their resources.

This condition has prevailed, and to an increasing extent, for almost five years Now, hope is revived that the normal activities of industry, agriculture, business, and commerce will steadily improve to a point where the initiative and enterprise of our citizens will once again afford full opportunity for the employment of all our able-bodied citizens and for the proper and useful expansion of our productive enterprises.

But as fondly as some may believe, and as earnestly as others may hope, government itself can not indefinitely assume the responsibility for meeting all the demands of this depression and this emergency.

PEOPLE THEMSELVES ARE MASTERS OF THEIR DESTINY.

Government, if it be intelligent, efficient, and devoted, can aid in the solution of these problems. Government can be the medium through which an enlightened people can express their ideals and their aspirations, but government can not permanently assume responsibilities which the private citizen and private business must eventually discharge if our people are to remain free and independent.

Before we shall attain complete economic balance, however, we must eliminate the evils which aggravated, and which, in fact, contributed to the collapse of the old economic order from which we now are emerging.

Furthermore, as much as the necessity is to be regretted, we must for some time to come continue to pay the price of some of our mistakes, of our wastefulness, our extravagance, our disregard, as a people, of many of the ordinary safeguards which we should have placed around our activities both in private enterprises and in governmental policies and functions.

SOUND FINANCIAL BASIS ESSENTIAL TO SECURITY.

Of primary importance at this time, from the standpoint of an efficient administration of State functions, is the need for placing the government of California on a sound financial basis.

This we must do without imposing intolerable taxes upon the people and without undertaking obligations not absolutely essential to the public service

As the first step in such a direction, we must adopt a program that will enable us to keep our expenditures below our income.

The mere accomplishment of a balanced State budget is in itself unimportant unless it definitely reflects an intelligent management of the people's business.

In the efforts of myself and those working under my direction to gain a full understanding of the State's financial needs and of measures that must be taken to meet those needs, we have kept in mind the two important facts, that no tax is popular, and that no tax system can be maintained and supported unless it is equitable and in no sense discriminatory.

NEED FOR TAX REVISION AND ADJUSTMENTS RECOGNIZED.

I have been deeply impressed with the general feeling upon the part of citizens everywhere in the State that taxes must be temporarily increased and that the so-called tax base must be broadened to gain revenues from new sources, but I have been equally struck by the fact that both individuals and groups are disposed to feel that "the other fellow" should be called upon to bear the added burden.

This is natural, and particularly so at a time when any additional drain upon the income and resources of individuals and business organizations represents a genuine hardship.

Yet it is obvious that if government is to survive and if the needs of the people in this emergency are to be properly served, public funds must be raised and disbursed.

Ours is the difficult and perhaps thankless task to see to it that no one unnecessary dollar be sought from the taxpayers; that no injustice be worked; that the individual or the corporation, or the business institution, pay all that equity and necessity demand.

Within a short time I shall submit to you a biennial budget for 1935–1937, together with a tax program designed to meet budget requirements. We will complete the current biennium with a deficit of approximately $30,000,000. If we do not adjust our tax needs and our tax program to the emergency condition now confronting us, we shall have a further deficit of approximately $100,000,000 during the next biennial period.

Such conditions prevail despite a determined and widespread policy of retrenchment and economy in the administration of State functions subject to the jurisdiction and direction of the Legislature and of the Governor.

HUMAN NEEDS COME FIRST.

Human needs demand and should receive first consideration; they must be served as long as society exists and government is maintained.

To such a service we must bring not alone the words of our mouths and the wishes of our hearts; we must contribute the labor of our hands and the intelligent and practical attention of our minds.

It is impossible at this time to estimate either the extent or the exact nature of the unemployment relief program which California, in cooperation with the Federal government, will be called upon to carry out. This is a continuing obligation, however, which we neither can nor desire to shirk.

COOPERATION WITH FEDERAL RELIEF PROGRAM ASSURED.

The State and Federal governments are in accord on the general aspects of the relief program. The $24,000,000 relief bond issue approved by the Legislature in special session last September and ratified by the voters of California in November, soon will be available for use.

While it is my purpose to administer State relief policies according to my best judgment as to local needs, I am likewise determined to maintain close contact with Federal relief authorities and to carry on relief activities in California in close harmony with the policies and wishes of the National administration.

Upon this phase of our State affairs I shall have more to say when officers of the National government have indicated their views of certain steps already taken by me to carry out further development of our relief program.

PRESIDENT'S WORK PROGRAM APPROVED.

I am in hearty accord with the announcement of President Roosevelt that every needy unemployed man and woman who is able to work should be required to do so in exchange for compensation from employment either by private business or upon some governmental or public project.

To the care of the disabled, the aged, and the sick, every consideration should be given. There is an obligation here which as a people we have never fully understood or assumed In the future, society will meet this responsibility not only in justice to the individual, but as a protection to society itself.

The hazards and the hardships encountered by the common man have been immeasurably increased and complicated during the last five years. Ours is the duty, so far as we are able, to overcome and remove such handicaps as they are imposed upon the citizenship of our own State.

California is a fertile and a fruitful land. Our natural resources are abundant, and sufficient for many generations to come if wisely utilized and properly conserved. As a people, we are industrious, progressive, and enlightened. Our public and private institutions are sound. Our wellbeing is assured as long as we act for the common good and with an understanding of our common needs

BIENNIAL MESSAGE TO PRESENT STATE'S PROBLEMS.

In the regular biennial message of the Governor, which I am preparing, and which I shall present to you without unnecessary delay, I shall discuss in detail all of the various subjects and public issues which you and I will be expected to consider and upon which we must act during this legislative session.

While it is not in any sense my purpose to ask you to accept and approve, without mature consideration and discussion, such proposals as I may make to you in the furtherance of my administrative program, it is my earnest hope and expectation that your deliberations will result in expeditious handling of the business I shall place before you.

Furthermore, from my own years of experience as a legislator, I feel I may say that your success as a legislative body will be determined more by the quality, the clarity, the justice, and the effectiveness of the laws you enact than by their multiplicity and complexity.

LEGISLATURE RESPONSIBLE TO THE PEOPLE ALONE

Here in this historic State Capitol you are the independent representatives of the people, to whom alone you owe your allegiance and your duty.

Let no special interest, no selfish pleader, no secret influence intrude.

You have my best wishes and throughout the session to come you shall at all times have my assistance and support in evolving a workable program which, in its broad aspects, will encompass efficient and economic administration of government, relief of distress, and eventual reconstruction, recovery and stability.

Very promptly I shall lay before you such information and recommendations as I feel merit your consideration and official action.

FRANK F. MERRIAM, Governor of California.

ADMINISTRATION OF OATH OF OFFICE.

Hon. George J. Hatfield took and subscribed to the following oath of office, administered by Hon. A. F. St. Sure, United States District Judge:

I do solemnly swear that I will support the Constitution of the United States, and the State of California, and that I will faithfully discharge the duties of the office of Lieutenant Governor of the State of California to the best of my ability, so help me God.

INTRODUCTION OF LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR GEORGE J. HATFIELD.

Hon. Edward Craig, Speaker of the Assembly, addressed the Joint Convention as follows:

It is my pleasure and privilege to present to the members of this Joint Convention, Hon. George J. Hatfield, the Lieutenant Governor-elect of the State of California.

I deem this a personal pleasure, for George Hatfield has been a friend of mine of long years' standing, and we have worked together in the American Legion during the many years of our association.

George Hatfield is a member of a pioneer family; he received his education in the public schools of California and is a graduate of Stanford University. He is a veteran, having answered the call of the President during the World War.

For seven and one-half years George Hatfield was the United States District Attorney for northern California, which is a record, no other person having served for that length of time in this position.

One and one-half million people in California expressed their confidence in the ability of George J. Hatfield to perform the duties of the office of Lieutenant Governor. I know that all of the people of California will be well, sincerely and faithfully served by Mr. Hatfield as Lieutenant Governor.

Members of the Senate and Assembly in Joint Convention, I now present to you George J. Hatfield, Lieutenant Governor-elect.

ADDRESS BY LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR GEORGE J. HATFIELD.

Lieutenant Governor George J. Hatfield then addressed the Joint Convention as follows:

INAUGURAL ADDRESS OF
LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR GEORGE J. HATFIELD.

California, during the four years just ahead, faces a period of transcending importance—an era of reconstruction, readjustment and rebuilding after several years of distress and upheaval which have shaken the very foundations of our social and economic order.

Both to California and the entire Nation, it is the most significant period since the critical years of reconstruction which came as an aftermath of the Civil War.

And the course which California charts and follows—a course which must be determined, in large measure, during the legislative session just convened—will undoubtedly have a vital bearing on the future of California government and the welfare of California citizens for generations to come.

More than that, it is of national and international consequence, for California has been made the first major battleground of the changing order.

What we do here, in the months just before us, will determine, to large extent, whether we can have social justice without Socialism. It will determine whether we can have a liberal and progressive idealism, with a proper regard for human rights and human needs, without radicalism!

And in all honesty, we must recognize the fact that unless the causes of radicalism are removed—unless we put our house in order and restore faith in the essential fairness and justness of our governmental and business and industrial institutions—we shall reap the whirlwind of our own callous indifference and inadequacy.

The recent revolt against the established order in California was not without cause. And we need not be in sympathy with many of the policies advocated during that revolt to have a quick sympathy for the human suffering and distress which gave it headway.

So long as we have widespread unemployment and want and need in California, we shall have the seeds of radicalism in California. So long as we have a form of "special privilege" in California which permits tax evasion by a favored few, at the expense of the average taxpayer, we shall have public distrust of our public institutions.

I am not, in this address today, making accusations, or indulging in a program of fault-finding. In fact, I believe that California voters, as a whole, are at least equally responsible with California officials for the inequalities of our tax system and the many other shortcomings of government. None of us—or at least very few of us—had taken our responsibilities as citizens very seriously during the late period of prosperity. And popular government, after all, is usually no better, nor no worse, than the populace behind it.

During the depression, if we learned no other lesson, we learned that selfishness and greed are bad public policy. We had cut corners with a reckless abandon; we had almost come to have a contempt for such simple ideals of early Americanism as equity and justice, loyalty and honesty! We had played fast and loose with our government and carelessly "blamed the politicians" for governmental abuses.

And finally life caught up with us. Finally we came to the inevitable reckoning for our holiday of gambling and plunging.

Today, after four years of depression, which has touched virtually every home and every family, I think we are all a little tired of insincerity. I think—and I sincerely hope—that we are all ready to admit that there can be no true love of country without consideration for the rights and welfare of our neighbors who comprise the country.

I believe, as Americans, that we are fast acquiring a new concept of loyalty to our own fellow Americans. And in that new stirring of an old idealism, I believe, lies the real hope of rebuilding our business and industrial structure, reemploying our idle workers and securing for every worker a fairer share of his production.

If we are entirely honest, we must recognize that many of the victims of the depression—given the same opportunities, the same natural equipment, preparation and environment, as we have been given—would not today be begging for bread and pleading for work but would be enjoying the comforts now denied them.

We might even admit, if we are thoroughly candid with ourselves, that much of own good fortune in not being numbered among the unemployed and destitute is, in fact, just good fortune—the whim of circumstances which gave us a certain parentage, a certain native ability, a certain resourcefulness and a fair measure of preparation to equip us for the battle with life.

I am not, today, discounting individual initiative, which has been the mainspring in the upbuilding of California and America, but I am appealing for a new spirit of cooperation in solving common problems; a new appreciation of the other fellow's problems and a recognition that human need must come first in the new scheme of things, regardless of the cost and regardless even of a balanced or an unbalanced budget.

Many of us, as candidates, made pledges during the recent campaign—pledges that we would work for a 30-hour week in private and public business, for unemployment insurance and old age pensions, for a more equitable distribution of the tax load—and, in short, for a new order of social justice!

I believe we meant those pledges. I believe we owe it to ourselves, as well as to the voters of California, to do everything humanly possible to make them realities.

Governor Merriam, I am confident, will do all in his power to keep faith with the voters—and, as Lieutenant Governor, I will give him every possible assistance in making his program of reconstruction and recovery a success.

The immediate problem before us is to care for the unemployed and destitute until they can be returned to gainful employment. And regardless of every other consideration, the hungry must be fed; the needy must be cared for. But beyond this immediate task, there is the greater task of maintaining the advantage already gained in the battle for recovery and in restoring our people to a normal degree of security and independence.

I believe we can all cooperate in the solution of these problems—and the many other critical problems before us—without regard to narrow partisanship.

Whether we are Republicans or Democrats, we can and should honestly support President Roosevelt in his earnest and untiring efforts to help the American people through a period of crisis. And we owe the same unselfish, nonpartisan support to Governor Merriam and his administration in their efforts to chart a course to better and happier days in California.

I am not appealing, however, for blind acceptance of any program which may be suggested, or for unquestioning, unthinking loyalty to any leadership. The President of the United States and the Governor of California are entitled to our vigorous support and help when we believe they are right, and they are also entitled to intelligent and helpful criticism when we believe they are wrong. But in this period of emergency, above all else they both deserve complete freedom from petty partisan heckling and the selfish interference of political obstructionists.

There are both Republicans and Democrats in the army of the unemployed. And both Republicans and Democrats should join wholeheartedly in putting them back to work!

The task of caring for the thousands of jobless and destitute in California is made doubly difficult by the fact that our tax sources have run dry—by the fact that we must raise approximately $130,000,000 to wipe out the present general fund deficit and effect a balance between normal income and normal outgo for the coming two years.

It is of primary importance in maintaining California's credit as a State that we balance the State budget. But it is also of primary importance that California's fine reputation for progressive and humanitarian legislation—for splendid educational facilities and for agencies which safeguard the rights and welfare of our workers—be maintained.

We have a regard for the humanities in California more priceless than the excellent credit rating of our securities. If it requires additional taxation to care for California men, women and children during a period of distress, we must find new tax sources. But we must, I believe, recognize that new taxes must be levied on ability to pay, rather than merely on the old theory of services rendered, or benefits obtained.

Those who have must pay toward the support of those who have not. And any refusal on the part of our great corporations and more wealthy taxpayers to accept their just share of the burden will inevitably fan the flames of radicalism and threaten the overthrow of our whole business and industrial structure.

We can and will achieve reconstruction in California without revolution But we can not, in my opinion, achieve it without adopting a new policy of "live and let live"—a policy which places human rights above property rights and man above the dollar!

BENEDICTION.

Most Rev. Robert Armstrong, D.D., Bishop of Sacramento.

WHEREAS, The establishment of a system of old age security by the payment of pensions to worthy citizens would obviate the need for public charity in this direction, and restore self-respect to the persons receiving such assistance, increase purchasing power and economic revival, and carry out the principles of humanitarian social justice upon which our country was founded; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly and the Senate of the State of California, jointly, That the President and the Congress of the United States are hereby respectfully urged to enact as quickly as possible such suitable legislation as will provide such a National system of old age pensions and old age security as will accomplish the purposes above set forth and which will be adequate for a respectable existence; and be it further

Resolved, That the Governor of the State of California is hereby requested to transmit copies of this resolution to the President and Vice President of the United States, to the Speaker of the House of Representatives and to each Senator and member of the House of Representatives from California in the Congress of the United States, and that such Senators and Representatives from California are hereby respectfully urged to support such legislation.

MOTION.

On motion of Mr. Martin, the following report of special committee was ordered printed in the Journal:

REPORT OF INTERIM COMMITTEE TO STUDY WAYS AND MEANS "TO PROMOTE TEMPERANCE AND SECURE ADDED REVENUE FOR THE STATE BY TAXATION OF INTOXICATING LIQUORS."

To the Honorable Speaker and Honorable Members of the California State Assembly, Fifty-first Legislature.

GENTLEMEN: On Wednesday, July 26, 1933, the California State Assembly, then in session, adopted a resolution, offered by Hon. C. Ray Robinson, under the terms of which resolution a committee was provided for, consisting of five members of the Assembly, to be appointed by the Speaker of the Assembly, to conduct hearings and to make recommendations on ways and means "to promote temperance and secure added revenue for the State by the taxation of intoxicating liquors."

This committee, duly appointed by the Speaker, and composed of the following personnel: Hon. C Ray Robinson, chairman; Hon. Lawrence Cobb, secretary; Hon. Ernest C. Crowley, Hon. James E Thorp and Hon. Frank G. Martin, held a series of public hearings, in the autumn of 1933, in different portions of the State, to wit: Fresno, San Francisco, St. Helena and Los Angeles. Before the committee appeared representatives of grape growers, wine producers, brewers, hotel and restaurant men, retail liquor dealers' associations and church and temperance organizations. Many suggestions were made to our committee.

A supplemental report will be filed later by Hon. C. Ray Robinson, chairman, whose report was delayed on account of his illness.

Individual members of this committee report, recommend and comment as follows:

Hon. Frank G. Martin, of Altadena, Assemblyman, Forty-eighth Assembly District, submits the following as his individual report:

1. Our interim committee heard much for and against the so-called Canadian Plan—by which plan, if adopted, exclusive right of sale and control of sale of liquor in the State would be vested, proprietarily, in the State government itself. While this plan has its merits, I personally am not convinced that, at this time, such a plan affords the best method of handling and controlling the sale of liquor in California. Public sentiment is in flux over this problem. Even since this interim committee was named, the voters of California have ratified a constitutional amendment which provides marked changes in methods of sale of liquor. I feel that the Canadian Plan should be held in abeyance. Should evils and abuses in the sale of liquor by private interests multiply, then it may be deemed advisable to propose to the people of California the adoption of a plan of this nature. I believe that other methods than this should be given thorough trial, until public sentiment crystallizes and takes more definite and concrete form.

2. As to ways and means to handle and control the liquor traffic in California to promote temperance, I strongly favor legislation, amending existing statutes, to make mandatory the teaching, in all grades of the public schools of the State, the harmful effects of alcohol and narcotics upon the human system. Such teaching should be scientific in nature and should be given regularly in all public schools, in all grades, as part of the established curriculum of classroom instruction. The benefits of such teaching as this, in many States of the Union, dating back nearly half a century, are manifestly wholesome and surely promoted temperance, based not upon bigotry, but upon scientific knowledge, reason and common sense.

3. I favor a practicable plan of local option for the State, subject of course, to the sentiment of the people of the State

4. I favor the most rigid provisions possible, in law and in enforcement of law, to prevent the sale of intoxicating liquors to minors.

5 I recommend that no license to sell intoxicating liquors be granted which would permit sale of liquors in direct connection with any public dance hall in the State.

6. I strongly urge that saloons never shall be legalized in California I urge that the sale of intoxicating liquors shall be prohibited in areas within 1,000 feet of any public school or educational institution; any church, public library, hospital or eleemosynary institution

7. I recommend that any and all applicants for license to sell intoxicating liquors in this State shall be required to pass a rigid character test, to prove that they are not and have not been criminal or vicious characters, and to show conclusively, through proper references and certifications, that they are of good character and standing.

8. It should promote temperance to limit the number of liquor-selling establishments in proportion to the population of the localities in which such establishments are situated. It should be promotive of temperance to provide against liquor advertising of any kind in newspapers, magazines, on billboards and in window displays

9. Laws and ordinances against drunken driving on streets and highways should be made more rigid.

REVENUE PHASES.

I believe the members of our interim committee were unanimous in the conviction that the State should not lean heavily upon the liquor traffic for revenues. The heavier taxes should be levied upon imported wines and liquors and upon hard liquor. But even these taxes should be moderate, so as not to encourage bootlegging and illicit manufacture and sale of liquors.

I am not speaking in favor of the legalized sale of any kind of intoxicating liquor. But so long as the people have decreed that selling liquor shall be legal, I feel that California, from the standpoint of sound economy, should tax native wines very lightly, and also beer manufactured in this State. Growing of grapes and making of wines constitute an important allied industry in California and the conservation and encouragement of this industry well may be considered. From the moral standpoint, there is less drunkenness from wine drinking than from any other intoxicating drink, and conditions surrounding the traffic in wines are less objectionable.

Respectfully submitted.

FRANK G. MARTIN.

Report of Hon. James E. Thorp, of Lockeford, Twelfth Assembly District, member of the interim committee:

1. I recommend that the State should not go into the liquor business at this time.

2. I favor the creation of a board known as the State Liquor Control Board, composed of three members; one appointed by the beer interests; one from the wine industry; and one from the distillery or whiskey interests; this board to serve without pay except actual expenses, and to be paid from the revenues of the State derived from liquor licenses and fees. Board members to be removed at the demand of groups appointing them.

I believe this method would remove politics from this important industry and that the industry itself would have to and will keep its own house in order. The board to select a director or manager at a salary of $_____ per month, who will be responsible to the board and the Governor of the State for the administration of his office.

3. That on-sale and off-sale licenses be issued based on population and high enough to demand the respect of the law.

4. That hotels, restaurants, eating houses and clubs be defined and their license fee be based on volume of business, and designated by "A license," "B license" and "C license."

5. That no license be issued for a business where liquor is sold within 1,000 feet of any school or church.

6. That no license be issued to anyone who does not have a good reputation and vouched for by a petition signed by ten taxpayers from the district where said business is to be conducted and only to a citizen of the United States

7. That the tax on beer and dry wine be made light, and the increase be based on the degree of fortification.

8. That proposed changes in the present law by the State Wine Association be given every consideration.

9 That everything possible be done to discourage drunken driving and the sale of liquor to minors

Respectfully submitted.

JAMES E. THORP.

Hon. Ernest C Crowley of Suisun, presents his report as follows:

No conclusion as to the liquor problems in this State can be reached without taking into consideration the large extent of our own California industry. While we have large breweries and some distilleries in California, her native industry is the wine industry. I say native because it represents the investment of millions of dollars in our State and because California, because of her geographical and climatic conditions is a natural wine-producing area and is by far the greatest in the United States About 90 per cent of our home produced wine is shipped to other States and is practically without competition from any wine other than foreign wine. It is subject to competition and sometimes discrimination from other liquor industries but as to wines, we produce most of that used in the United States and for that reason the government of this State must take care as to her attitude toward taxing wine, that she does not set a precedent for too high taxes which will be followed by the receiving States and destroy our industry. These matters are discussed further in the report under the proper heading.

CANADIAN PLAN.

The Honorable Frank Martin has ably discussed the question of the adoption of the Canadian Plan of state-owned stores and my views coincide fully with his so that I shall not discuss that further than to say that I agree entirely with his statement on the matter.

LEGISLATION.

I believe there should be considerable legislation on the liquor question, chiefly with a view to codifying or clearing up the matter and to remedying oversights in the acts at present. I believe the Beverage Act and the Hornblower Liquor Bill should be rewritten as one bill and the same set forth clearly and concisely in accordance with the new constitutional amendment set forth by the people at the last election.

The people rejected the local option bill presented to them at the last election and while that is final as to that bill, it may be that in the future a local option bill of the type suggested in the Rockefeller report will be acceptable to them, providing for local option with the privilege of bringing in liquor for the man who desires it. If this is done, I believe the legislation should be so drafted as to define the local option area as a large area such as a supervisorial district at least Too small local option areas will lead to inevitable strife and confusion and be impossible of enforcement.

I believe that the legislation as to the sale of light wines and beers should be distinct and apart from that regulating hard liquor. The provision of the amendment requiring a bona fide eating place and meals for the sale of hard liquor is acceptable but I do not believe that a purchaser should be barred from the privilege of light wines and beer with a sandwich or a so-called "Dutch lunch" if he desires them As Mr Martin says, the use of these is more in accordance with temperance and allowing wine or beer at our sandwich parlors will not force a man to go to an establishment which features the hard liquor on its bill of fare.

As to limitation of licenses, I believe that it will be wise not to have too many cutting each other's throats in selling liquor but I can not see how any limitation is to be made without possibility of unfair discrimination and do not believe that the license should be made too high. I believe the situation will adjust itself in accordance with economic conditions and we are not paternal in limiting our grocery stores so they will not fail or lose, why a liquor store?

ENFORCEMENT.

I am not in favor of the creation of a California Liquor Authority or any other such appointive board to handle our liquor enforcement. Such boards soon become invested with autocratic powers and are not responsive to the people as is an elective board. Placing liquor control in the hands of a small appointed board is setting up a political machine of unknown magnitude and power.

The Board of Equalization has worked hard on the liquor question and has done as well as any other board could have done in the times of uncertainty we have just passed. It is also a board subject to popular control at the polls. I see no reason why the liquor supervision should be shifted from them to another head

It is, however, a good policy to rely upon the local officers for the enforcement of the liquor laws and with the power of supervision recently granted the Attorney General of the State, there should not be any question of local influence upon the local officers preventing the enforcement of the laws.

The law which should be most strictly enforced and the violation of which is doing most to discredit the liquor industry at the present time is the prohibition of sales to minors.

The enforcement officers should also be able to block the issuance of further licenses to violators of the law in the past and should investigate carefully to avoid subterfuge in handling these matters.

REVENUE AND TAXES

The State should not look only to its revenue from liquor taxes to the extent of discouraging industry or she may be in the position of killing the goose that laid the golden egg. In the wine industry for instance, the State derives large amounts from the real property taxes on the land and buildings of the wine producers. She also derives personal property taxes from one or two years up to many years while the wine is aging in the winery. Added to this, she collects a sales tax of 2½ per cent and a beverage tax. If she adds to her taxes on wine, she endangers the increase of her revenue from the real property taxes and personal property taxes which would otherwise increase with a growing industry. For that reason, I believe that when you add up the taxes paid by the wine as follows:

Federal taxes
Federal bonds
State license
State bond fee
Real property taxes
Personal property taxes
Beverage tax to State
Sales tax to State that wine is paying its full share of taxes now and I should not favor any increase in tax on wine If it must bear further tax, it should be limited to a small tax on fortified wines. And I should further recommend that the winery license fee be modified to be set in accordance to the production of the winery. At present a man with a winery pays a manufacturer's tax of $100 and two bond fees of at least $20 to start a winery be it large or small and this is inequitable to the small man or the grape grower who is trying to produce his own wine to better market his grapes.

Provision should also be made for a temporary license for civic occasions for a licensee with a permanent license. For example, A holds a license in the town of Milpitas to sell beer. The Holy Ghost festival is held a mile or so from town and he desires to sell beer there for the day. He can not now do so without a new license and that being high, too high, for one day, he sells without a license and the agents in fairness must overlook his act The revenue from one such occasion is small but many of them occur continually. Some provision should be made, for a small fee, to allow him a transfer for that day This would bring in revenue now escaping.

As I said before, I do not believe that licenses for the sale of liquor should be too high as that encourages bootlegging again and I do not believe they should be graded as 10,000 or under as a beginning step. Many of our rural towns are 500 or thereabouts. They should not have to pay the license required of a town of 10,000.

I believe that the question of the discrimination of other States against our wines should be considered It has been reported that eastern brewery and distillery interests are levying prohibitive taxes on wines to keep out the competition of our wine industry. If this is true, then I believe that we should retaliate against their products in any way that is constitutionally possible in order to open up the eastern markets.

Respectfully submitted.

ERNEST C. CROWLEY.

EXPLANATION OF VOTE.

I voted "No" on the resolution concerning the soldiers' bonus by mistake I intended to vote "Aye." My attention was diverted for a moment and I understood the vote was on a proposed objectionable amendment to the resolution when, as a matter of fact, the roll call was on the original resolution and I did not have an opportunity to change my vote before the roll call was announced.

An appeal can not be amended and yields only to a motion to recess or adjourn, to lay on the table, or a question of personal privilege. If an appeal be laid on the table, it carries with it the main question, except when the sustaining of the appeal would not affect the consideration of or action upon the main question. A motion to amend having been decided in the negative, shall not again be in order on the same day, or at the same stage of proceeding. A motion to amend by striking out certain words having been decided in the negative, shall not preclude a motion to amend by adding words, or a motion to amend by striking out and inserting words; but in no case shall a further amendment be substantially the same as the one rejected.

Subject to the above provisions of this rule, a motion to amend is in order during the second or third reading of any bill.

ASSEMBLY JOINT RESOLUTION No. 8.

Memorializing Congress to grant consent to taxation by the several States of certain interstate sales.

WHEREAS, Necessity for property tax relief is imperative in California as well as in other States throughout the Union; and

WHEREAS, Twenty-six States in an effort to afford property tax relief and to provide revenue for essential functions of government have enacted laws imposing taxes based upon or measured by sales of tangible personal property purchased and delivered in such States; and

WHEREAS, No less than 65 per cent of the population of the United States now resides in States with such laws; and

WHEREAS, By virtue of judicial interpretation of the Federal Constitution, the States may not levy without the consent of Congress taxes based upon or measured by sales moving in interstate commerce; and

WHEREAS, As a result of such an interpretation there is a discrimination in favor of interstate sales as against intrastate sales; and

WHEREAS, Such discrimination if permitted to continue will tend to divert business from normal channels in California and elsewhere throughout the Union, thus subjecting local merchants to unfair competition; and

WHEREAS, It is of vital importance to the welfare of the people of the United States that all things be done to promote the stability of local business in order that the financial structure of California and other States throughout the Union may be preserved; and

WHEREAS, It rests within the power of Congress to permit the States to levy nondiscriminatory taxes upon sales in interstate commerce; and

WHEREAS, The Hon. Pat Harrison, Senator from Mississippi, introduced a measure at the second session of the seventy-third Congress designed to afford the States relief in this matter, and reading as follows:

S. 2897.

An act to regulate interstate commerce by granting the consent of Congress to taxation by the several States of certain interstate sales.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled. That all taxes or excises levied by any State upon sales of tangible personal property, or measured by sales of tangible personal property, may be levied upon, or measured by, sales of like property in interstate commerce, by the State into which the property is moved for use or consumption therein, in the same manner, and to the same extent, that said taxes or excises are levied upon or measured by sales of like property not in interstate commerce and no such property shall be exempt from such taxation by reason of being introduced into any State or Territory in original packages, or containers, or otherwise: Provided, That no State shall discriminate against sales of tangible personal property in interstate commerce, nor shall any State discriminate against the sale of products of any other States: Provided further, That no State shall levy any tax or excise upon, or measured by, the sales in interstate commerce of tangible personal property transported for the purpose of resale by the consignee: Provided further, That no political subdivision of any State shall levy a tax or excise upon, or measured by, sales of tangible personal property in interstate commerce. For the purposes of this act a sale of tangible personal property transported, or to be transported, in interstate commerce shall be considered as made within the State into which such property is to be transported for use or consumption therein, whenever such sale is made, solicited, or negotiated in whole or in part within that State.

SEC. 2. Receivers, liquidators, referees, and other officers of any court of the United States are required to pay all taxes and licenses levied by any State or subdivision thereof the same as corporations, partnerships, concerns, persons, or association of persons are required to pay the same. And

WHEREAS, said measure was passed by the Senate on March 15, 1934, but was not voted upon by the House of Representatives and hence did not become law; and

REPORT OF JOINT COMMITTEE.

The following report of the Assembly Joint Committee on Unemployment Insurance was submitted:

By Mr. Cottrell:

INSURANCE.

To the Members of the Fifty-first Session of the Legislature of the State of California

SIRS: In accordance with Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 2 adopted at the fiftieth (extraordinary) session of the California Legislature, the Joint Legislative Committee on Unemployment Insurance appointed pursuant thereto submits to you this, its report. As a result of our study of the matter embraced within Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 2, the committee recommends the adoption of legislation establishing a compulsory plan of unemployment reserves and benefits for the State of California. A suggested measure accompanies this report.

GENERAL DISCUSSION

In 1911 the State of California adopted its first Workmen's Compensation Insurance and Safety Act the purpose of which was to protect workmen and their families against loss of earnings through injury or death by spreading this loss over industry as a whole, on the ground that it should be considered as one of the costs of doing business. The purpose of unemployment reserves is to protect this workman and his dependents, so far as possible, against a similar loss of earnings arising (again through no fault of his own), out of another type of industrial accident just as serious for the worker and his dependents—the loss of his job. Through a system of compulsory reserves, this loss is to be considered as a part of the expense of doing business, and spread over all industry. We do not deem it necessary to stress the effect of irregular employment on the workman and his family and the resultant excessive drain on relief agencies; nor to more than mention that the decreased purchasing power of wage earners caused by irregular employment creates a vicious circle. Unemployment is an ever-existing social cost, but we believe that in the future a larger part of the cost must be contributed by industry and business. It is perhaps pertinent that at the present year-end we find many of the larger corporations in the country stressing the size of their respective surpluses which sums are generally accumulated in order to make certain that at least a limited return can be paid on capital through bad times as well as good. The purpose of unemployment reserves is to create a similar fund under the supervision of the State so that at least a limited return may continue to be paid to labor during the same dull periods.

It must be pointed out that the creation of a system of unemployment reserves is not a cure-all. It insures a job to no one and does not mean the end of the present economic depression. When the act has been in effect sufficiently long to have caused the accumulation of a reserve fund large enough to pay unemployment benefits, the cost of unemployment will not thereafter fall entirely upon the worker and his family. The reserve plan should likewise be able to take care of ordinary fluctuations in the demand for labor and to soften the blow of a devastating economic depression, although it definitely can not prevent it.

HISTORY.

The first stage in the evolution of employment insurance consisted of the unemployment benefit plans of trade unions. In England as early as 1824 payments were distributed by the Journeymen Steam Engine Makers Society to men out of work. The first public plan was instituted in 1893 by the public authorities of Berne, Switzerland. Numerous plans were subsequently adopted in many Continental cities but the first bold step of any real importance was the adoption of the National Insurance Act in Great Britain in 1911 covering six industries which normally employed about two and one-half million workers. Since that date the British act has been extended so that it now covers approximately 13,000,000 persons constituting practically the entire wage-earning population of Great Britain other than farm workers and domestic servants. It perhaps is advisable to digress a moment at this point to call attention to the difficulties experienced in the administration of the British act and the reasons therefor. Unemployment reserves are made up of contributions from employers, employees and the State, or from any one or more of them. The amount which can be paid out in benefits to unemployed persons coming within the purview of the act are necessarily limited by the size of the reserve fund It must thus be seen that no workers are paid so much more than their share that nothing remains for the casualties later occurring. It must therefore be understood that if a worker does not secure employment within the limited period of time during which benefits can be paid, he must thereafter be taken care of through actual relief rather than through the payment of unemployment benefits. In Great Britain it was attempted to continue unemployment benefits during a major depression after the reserve fund could no longer meet the drain, having already paid out to the workers the full amount to which they were entitled under the British act. For this purpose, large sums were borrowed from the British treasury. It is submitted that this should not be done and that if reemployment is not obtained by workers within the period provided in the proposed act, the situation should be promptly and properly faced as one for relief rather than for unemployment benefits.

Compulsory insurance laws have further been enacted in Australia, Austria, Bulgaria, Germany, Irish Free State, Italy, Poland and Switzerland, and in the State of Wisconsin. As a matter of fact, 147 bills have been introduced in the various States from 1916 down through 1933 (not to mention numerous amendments and proposed constitutional amendments and enabling acts). As already mentioned, however, the only act adopted to date is the Wisconsin Unemployment Reserves and Compensation Act which although it became a law on January 29, 1932, did not become generally operative until June 27, 1934. The Wisconsin plan, however, provides for a separate reserve fund for each separate employer and is not approved by economists or students of social legislation as it fails to in any way spread the risk.

The members of your committee have communicated with the United States Department of Labor and with the Committee on Economic Security appointed by the President of the United States. It is understood that Federal legislation on the subject under consideration will be proposed and probably adopted. Due to constitutional limitations, however, it is anticipated that the Federal plan will merely impose a pay roll tax for the purpose of raising unemployment reserve funds, permitting a credit as against this tax to employers in States which have adopted a satisfactory plan of unemployment reserves. Although your committee suggests the introduction of the appended bill it is of the belief that no measure should be actually adopted until such amendments may be made as may be necessary to conform the State legislation to the requirements of any Federal legislation. It is believed by your committee that the essential points of the appended bill will satisfy any Federal requirements.

ESSENTIALS OF PROPOSED BILL

1. Organization of Fund. Your committee recommends that one reserve fund be established for all industry. It further recommends, however, that the administrators of the act be required to segregate all employers by industries and that all statistics be kept on an industry basis so that after five years a system of merit rating can be adopted for the benefit of industries which have more stable employment. The British act is based on one fund for all industries; the proposed Minnesota plan suggests the segregation into industries after the fund is satisfactorily established.

2. Coverage. Your committee recommends that coverage be made as broad as possible excluding only the smaller firms and certain employments necessarily excluded because of administrative or legal difficulties. It is thus recommended that the plan cover all employers employing an average of more than six employees but exclude, however, certain agricultural and cannery workers, personal or domestic servants in homes, teachers, and public officials, certain employees engaged in interstate commerce, and casual and part-time employees The committee further recommends that the administrators be directed to report to the Legislature after the act has been in force for a period of five years, a scheme for the inclusion within the act of employers employing less than six employees.

3. Contributions. Your committee recommends that contributions be made by the employer and employee, the former in an amount equal to 3 per cent of wages paid to employees subject to the act and the latter in an amount equal to 1 per cent of the wage received, the same to be deducted from his wage by his employer Employees receiving in excess of $50 per week ($2,600 per year) are considered, for the purpose of determining contributions and benefits, as receiving $50 per week, their (and their employer's) contributions and their benefits being based on that amount. Based upon the expert opinions which your committee has received, it is of the belief that for the plan to succeed, contributions to the fund must equal at least 4 per cent of the pay roll. Your committee believes that the employee should contribute to the fund in that he is the direct beneficiary thereof, and that he will have more control over it, be more interested in its success and more helpful in the prevention of malingering. Your committee believes that the proportions suggested are proper in view of the employee's lesser ability to pay together with the fact that he makes a further contribution through the waiting period provided for. Your committee is firmly of the opinion that no limitation should be placed upon the number of contributions to be made inasmuch as to place any such limitation would prevent the creation of a fund able to be of substantial benefit when most needed at the time of economic depressions

Your committee recommends that contributions commence January 1, 1936

4 Benefits. Your committee recommends a waiting period of four weeks before the payment of benefits, this period to run from the date of the registration of the employee with a State Employment Exchange after the cessation of employment. Your committee further recommends that this waiting period be shortened to three weeks after contributions have been made to the fund for a period of two years It is felt that the longer waiting period is essential in the beginning in order to build up the reserve fund. It is believed that the waiting period should ultimately be made as short as possible inasmuch as the workers sought to be protected by this plan have little or no resources to fall back on when their employment ceases and every effort must be made to have the plan effective without the need of the worker first applying for public relief. The period, however, must be sufficiently long to permit of a proper check of the applicant's case as well as his placement in a new employment. It must likewise be sufficiently long to discourage malingering

The amount of the benefit must necessarily depend upon the amount of the contributions. It must be, however, sufficiently large to permit the worker to support himself and his family during the period it is given, but for obvious reasons must not, as well as can not, be as great as his wage. Your committee recommends that the benefit be 65 per cent of his average weekly wage, in no event to exceed, however, a maximum of $15 per week. Your committee likewise believes that a minimum of $7 per week should be provided in the act.

Benefits can only be paid to an unemployed worker for a limited time without exhausting the fund for the first cases. It is deemed advisable, instead of providing an arbitrary number of benefits for any year, that a worker be entitled to one week of benefits for every four weeks of contributions which he has made. Thus if a worker has contributed to the reserve fund for a year he may receive a maximum of 13 weeks of benefits, if he remains unemployed that long The employee helping to build up the reserve can thus draw benefits in proportion to his number of contributions with certain stipulated maximums Inasmuch as all of the contributions are pooled he is able to draw benefits several times as large as his contributions to the reserve.

Your committee recommends that benefits commence to be paid January 1, 1937.

5. Conditions for Receipt of Benefits. Your committee recommends that it be required that a certain number of payments be made before an employee be entitled to receive benefits. This is necessary in order to protect the fund in its infancy. It is further necessary that the worker seeking benefit payments present a true case of unemployment, that is that he be physically able to work, that he register at a State Employment Exchange, and that he accept suitable employment when offered. In the event his employment is terminated without just cause or because of his misconduct your committee believes that sufficient penalty is imposed upon the worker if the waiting period is lengthened, particularly in view of the fact that he, too, has contributed to the reserve.

Administration.

6. Your committee strongly recommends the creation of a new department to administer the proposed Unemployment Reserve Act. This should be created in order to make certain that the administration of the act will be as free from politics as possible. It is recommended that a board of five members be appointed by the Governor with staggered terms similar to the Railroad Commission, in order that control of the board will not be obtained by any one State administration. It is believed that the board should have the right to select its executive officer who should be the actual director, the board to act in an advisory capacity It is likewise believed that all employees below the director should be subject to Civil Service. In this connection it is recommended that the control of the present State Employment Agencies be transferred to the administrators of the act inasmuch as the functioning of these agencies is one of the most important features of the proper administration of an Unemployment Reserve Plan.

In closing, your committee wishes to express its debt to Miss Emily Huntington, Assistant Professor of Economics; Charles A. Gulick, Jr., Associate Professor of Economics, and Albert H. Mowbray, Professor of Insurance, all of the University of California; John B. Canning, Professor of Economics, Leland Stanford University; Paul Scharrenberg, Executive Secretary, California State Federation of Labor; Miss Dorothy Williams, of the California League of Women Voters, and Dr. Louis Bloch, of the Department of Industrial Relations.

Our appreciation must likewise be expressed for the help given us by Mr. H. E. McClellan, who furnished to the members of the committee a great amount of data on the general subject in the form of the reports of the commissions of all the States which have attempted a study of this subject.

ASSEMBLY JOINT RESOLUTION No. 11.

Relative to memorializing the President and Congress to enact the necessary legislation to extend, for at least another two-year period, the existence and activities of the Home Owners' Loan Corporation, and to appropriate sufficient funds for the same

WHEREAS, The National government saw fit to bring into existence in the year 1933 the Home Owners' Loan Corporation for the purpose of aiding financially distressed home owners in refinancing and reconditioning their homes; and

WHEREAS, The services rendered to financially distressed home owners through the Home Owners' Loan Corporation have been of material help in relieving the burdens of many thousands of our citizens, and has been a stabilizing influence during the recent financial and economic crisis; and

WHEREAS, The relief granted to home owners in the form of loans with a moderate rate of interest for reconditioning their property has furnished work to many thousands of the unemployed and needy citizens of the United States, and has materially aided manufacturers and industry; and

WHEREAS, The financial and economic crisis still exists to a moderated degree and there are still many thousands of financially distressed home owners who are in need of the services rendered and loans granted through the Home Owners' Loan Corporation, because they are laboring under the burdens of first and second mortgages which are amortized at a rate of interest too great for their present incomes, or because their homes need reconditioning or refinancing; and

WHEREAS, The extension of the existence and activities, for at least another two-year period, of the Home Owners' Loan Corporation will tend to relieve financial distress, achieve one of its chief purposes, relieve unemployment through encouragement of reconstruction, and aid the economic welfare and stability of the United States; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly and the Senate of the State of California, jointly, That the President and the Congress of the United States is hereby respectfully urged to enact the necessary legislation to extend the existence and activities, for at least another two-year period, of the Home Owners' Loan Corporation, and to appropriate sufficient funds for the same; and be it further

Resolved, That the Governor of the State of California is hereby requested to transmit copies of this resolution to the President and Vice President of the United States, to the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and to each Senator and member of the House of Representatives from California in the Congress of the United States, and that such Senators and members from California are hereby respectfully urged to support such legislation.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE,
SACRAMENTO, January 15, 1935.

Members of the Assembly, Sacramento, California.

Herewith attached find copy of letter received from His Excellency, President Roosevelt, regarding the need for legislation to make the National Housing Act more effective in California. Copy of the letter from Mr. James A. Moffett, Administrator of the Federal Housing Act, and copy of the New York law, to both of which reference is made, are also enclosed.

President Roosevelt has been assured of the cooperation of California along the line suggested, and I am sending the enclosed to the Assembly and Senate for such consideration and action as may be deemed desirable.

Very sincerely yours,

FRANK F. MERRIAM, Governor of California.

(COPY).

THE WHITE HOUSE, WASHINGTON, December 17, 1934.

MY DEAR GOVERNOR: I am enclosing a copy of a letter to me from Mr. James A. Moffett, the Administrator of the Federal Housing Administration. This letter calls my attention to the need for certain legislation to make Titles II and III of the National Housing Act more effective.

Amendments to existing State laws seem to be called for in practically every State—44 of them—in which State Legislatures are meeting this winter.

Mr. Moffett tells me that the bill passed by the Legislature of the State of New York, in special session last August, seems to meet the general needs. I am enclosing a copy of this bill.

It would give me great satisfaction if you would give this matter your most careful consideration with the object, if you approve, of obtaining legislation in your State in 1935.

If you would care to have any further information in regard to the details or objects relating to this subject, I shall be glad to have you call on Mr. Moffett at any time.

Very sincerely yours,

(Signed) FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT.

His Excellency, Frank F. Merriam, Governor of California, Sacramento, California.

FEDERAL HOUSING ADMINISTRATION,
WASHINGTON, December 11, 1934.

MY DEAR MR. PRESIDENT: In order that the Federal Housing Administration may attain a full measure of success throughout the country, it is essential that banks, insurance companies, building and loan associations, trust companies, fiduciaries, and other investors be able legally to make insured mortgage loans, and to invest in insured mortgages and in National mortgage association obligations, as provided by the National Housing Act.

You may recall that Title II of the National Housing Act, in order to create a sound mortgage market and induce mortgage money to finance new construction, provided for the insurance of long term, low interest-bearing, fully amortized home mortgage loans, by authorizing the creation of a Federal mutual insurance fund Title III of the act authorizes the creation of National mortgage associations subject to the supervision and control of the Federal Housing Administrator. The object of these associations is to provide a liquid market for home mortgages and thus to aid in establishing a more sound National credit system.

At the present time there are in the States various statutory limitations upon loans and investments by the aforementioned investing institutions, which restrict their ability to benefit fully from the National housing program. A similar limitation upon the lending power of National banks has already been removed by the Congress.

The legislatures of many States will convene during the next few months. Could you not, with propriety, suggest to the Governors of these States that their statutes shall be amended as soon as possible so that banks, insurance companies, building and loan associations, trust companies, fiduciaries and all other investors under statutory restrictions might be permitted legally to make insured mortgage loans and to invest in insured mortgages and in National mortgage association obligations as provided by the National Housing Act?

Respectfully yours,

J. A. MOFFETT, Administrator.

The President, The White House, Washington, D. C.

State of New York, No. 195, in Assembly (Extraordinary Session), August 17, 1934.

Rec. 60.

Senate Bill No. 187—Introduced by Mr. Wald, amended on second reading, ordered reprinted, and passed.

An Act to authorize corporations and private bankers subject to the provisions of the banking law to make loans, advances of credit and purchases in accordance with the provisions of an act of Congress, entitled "National Housing Act," approved by the President on June 27, 1934, and exempting such loans, advances of credit and purchases from the application of general statutes.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Subject to such regulations as may be prescribed by the Federal Housing Administrator, acting pursuant to the act of Congress, entitled "National Housing Act," approved on June 27, 1934, and to such regulations as the Banking Board finds to be necessary and proper, corporations and private bankers subject to the banking law are authorized:

(a) To make such loans and advances of credit and purchases of obligations representing loans and advances of credit as are eligible for insurance pursuant to Title I, section 2 of such National Housing Act and to obtain such insurance.

(b) To make such loans secured by mortgages on real property as are eligible for insurance pursuant to Title II of such National Housing Act and to obtain such insurance.

No law of this State prescribing the nature, amount or form of security or requiring security upon which loans or advances of credit may be made, or prescribing or limiting interest rates upon loans or advances of credit, or prescribing or limiting the period for which loans or advances of credit may be made shall be deemed to apply to loans, advances of credit or purchases made pursuant to the foregoing paragraphs (a) and (b).

2. Subject to such regulations as the Banking Board finds to be necessary and proper, building and loan associations and savings and loan associations are authorized to secure insurance from the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation pursuant to Title IV of such National Housing Act.

COMMUNICATIONS.

The following communication was received, and ordered printed in the Journal

By Mr. Heisinger.

CAPITOL, January 15, 1935.

MR. SPEAKER: A constituent has written to me as follows:

"Assemblyman S. L. Heisinger, Sacramento, California.

DEAR SIR:

The letter which is enclosed with this note brings up the question in my mind as to who is running this State; the Legislature and other authorized authorities or the California Teachers Association?

Very respectfully."

(Encl.)

(COPY).

CALIFORNIA TEACHERS ASSOCIATION, SIERRA EDUCATIONAL NEWS,
155 SANSOME STREET, SAN FRANCISCO, December 29, 1934.

To County, City and District Superintendents, and High School Principals.

Assemblyman S. L. Heisinger of Fresno states that he will introduce a bill in the next session of the Legislature for the printing of all high school textbooks in the State Printing Office. Mr. Heisinger tried to have such legislation enacted in the 1929 session of the Legislature. At that time we had difficulty in defeating the proposal.

He states:

"The eastern book printers are earning millions of dollars from the printing of school books. It appears to every loyal Californian that this work should remain in the State. The State Printing Office saves the taxpayers of California many thousands of dollars on what books are printed by it. It is my intention that every book used in the schools shall be printed by the State."

I believe it is the duty of the high school principals of the State to contact the members of the Legislature before they go to Sacramento in January, in order that this proposal may be defeated.

I am sure that I do not have to discuss this matter with you in order that you may know its seriousness. The State printing of high school texts would mean a curtailment of the educational opportunity of our youth. It will restrict the various high schools in the selection of material suitable for their own needs.

Will you contact your Assemblyman and your Senator and explain to them just how serious this proposal is?

We must do everything we can to keep a measure of this kind from becoming a law.

Yours very truly,

ROY W. CLOUD, State Executive Secretary.

This letter of Mr. Cloud's is erroneous in practically every detail. I have not made the statements he has quoted and never had an intention to introduce such a drastic bill. My School Text Book Bill of 1929, having passed both houses of the Legislature, Mr. Cloud admits that he and others caused the Governor to veto it. By wide distribution of this letter, Mr. Cloud has placed himself in a very unenviable position. Mr. Cloud should verify these statements or publicly retract the same.

Respectfully submitted,

S. L. HEISINGER,
Assemblyman, Thirty-Seventh District.

MOTION.

Mr. Williamson moved that the Chief Clerk be instructed to purchase flowers to be sent to Miss Eleanor Miller, with the best wishes of the Assembly for a speedy recovery from her illness.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE,
SACRAMENTO, January 16, 1935.

Members of the California Assembly, Sacramento.

Herewith enclosed find copy of communication received from His Excellency, President Franklin D. Roosevelt, and my reply thereto.

I am submitting this correspondence to the members of the Assembly and Senate that they may be fully informed regarding the President's generous offer of aid and my assurance of the appreciation and cooperation of the State of California.

Yours very sincerely,

FRANK F. MERRIAM, Governor of California.

(COPY).

THE WHITE HOUSE, WASHINGTON, December 22, 1934.

MY DEAR GOVERNOR MERRIAM: In the event that an additional public works program is authorized at the coming session of the Congress, I should like to see the municipalities of your State legally able to take full advantage of such a program. With this in mind, I have instructed Administrator Ickes to place at your disposal the Legal Division of the Public Works Administration for the purpose of suggesting bills which, if enacted into law, would enable municipalities of your State to secure the benefits of this phase of the recovery program.

Our experience in the past 18 months has brought to light the difficulty of gearing the legal machinery which has served municipalities of your State adequately for decades to the speed with which the Federal government must extend credit to achieve desired results. It has been found that revision of the procedure relative to municipal financing is essential, at least for the duration of the existing emergency. I wish to submit for your consideration in formulating your legislative program, the following general suggestions:

1. Simplification of the procedure for the authorization and financing by municipalities of public works projects, for example, by shortening the periods of notices before elections on bond issues.

2. Creation of municipal improvement authorities without power to tax, but with power to issue bonds payable solely from the income of revenue-producing improvements, such as water, sewer, and electric light and power systems.

3. Authorizing municipalities to engage in slum clearance, including condemnation of necessary lands, and the construction, operation and maintenance of low-cost housing, to make contributions therefor, and to enter into contracts with the Federal government in connection therewith.

4. Providing for the creation of nonprofit public benefit corporations or agencies to provide for the electrification of rural communities with the assistance of the Federal government.

5. Validation of bonds and other obligations heretofore issued by municipalities for public works projects and sold to the Federal government.

If you will write me how you feel about these suggestions, I will request Administrator Ickes to have prepared such bills as may be deemed advisable.

Quite apart from the above suggestions, I think it would be helpful if arrangements could be made whereby the Public Works Administration is furnished with copies of all laws enacted at the forthcoming legislative session This will materially aid the administration in advancing funds on approved projects.

Very sincerely,

(Signed) FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT.

Hon Frank F. Merriam, Governor of California, Sacramento, California.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE,
SACRAMENTO, January 16, 1935

His Excellency, Franklin D. Roosevelt,
President of the United States, Washington, D. C

MY DEAR MR PRESIDENT: This will acknowledge your favor of December 22d, last, regarding enactment of any legislation necessary to enable the municipalities of California to secure benefits of any additional public works program which may be authorized by Congress at the present session

The suggestions are most welcome, and copies of such bills as Administrator Ickes may prepare and forward will be appreciated It will be a pleasure to forward to Public Administrator Ickes copies of such laws as may be enacted by the Legislature during the current session.

Because it is a matter of deep concern to our people and to the welfare of the State, may I call attention to the great Central Valley Water Project of California. This project is pending for approval before the Federal Emergency Administration of Public Works.

The project seems to fulfill completely and in detail the requirements of that part of your recovery program relative to the granting of Federal assistance in financing the construction by States of meritorious public works I heartily recommend the Central Valley Water Project for your favorable consideration.

Perhaps, I am going somewhat afield but it would be most helpful if Administrator Harold L Ickes would present to me any suggestions or recommendations regarding legislation deemed desirable, in order to expedite the approval of this project

Allow me, Mr President, to thank you for your offer of assistance and to assure you that such offer is accepted by me, on behalf of the State which I represent, in the full measure in which it is made California wishes to cooperate with you to the utmost in your great and constructive recovery program.

With highest assurances of regard, I am

Yours very sincerely,

(Signed) FRANK F MERRIAM, Governor of California

ASSEMBLY JOINT RESOLUTION No. 6.

Relative to memorializing the President and Congress to carefully consider what is known as the Townsend Plan of Old Age Revolving Pension

WHEREAS, The care of the dependent aged has become so great a financial burden to some States that the economic welfare and stability of such States are seriously affected and even threatened; and

WHEREAS, The problem of the care of the dependent aged has recently attained major proportions throughout the Nation, owing largely to the increasing mechanization of our industrial system and to the fact that the economic depression has destroyed the financial independence of a large number of our people, including even those who had prudently prepared for the time when they could no longer earn a livelihood; and

WHEREAS, It seems wise to retire from industry and business those whose efficiency is declining because of advancing old age, thus giving more opportunity for employment and advancement to younger workers; and

WHEREAS, Experience has shown that when ownership of property disqualifies the owner for receipt of an old age pension, a serious injustice is effected and a penalty imposed upon those whose prudence and thrift has led them to prepare for old age by investment in a home or other small holdings, but who have no income with which to support themselves and to preserve their property, particularly since there is often no market for the property; and

WHEREAS, Doctor F. E. Townsend, of Long Beach, California, has devised a plan, commonly known as the "Townsend Plan of Old Age Revolving Pension"; and

WHEREAS, The President of the United States has recognized the responsibility of the Federal Government in this matter, and has indicated that he will recommend to the Congress of the United States, at its next session, that there be legislation bearing on this problem; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly and the Senate of the State of California, jointly, That the President and the Congress of the United States is hereby respectfully urged to carefully consider the enactment of an old age pension law and to study the "Townsend Plan of Old Age Revolving Pension"; and be it further

REPORT OF SELECT COMMITTEE.

The following report of Select Committee on Self-Help Cooperatives was ordered printed in the Journal:

By Mr. Boyle:

REPORT OF SELECT COMMITTEE ON SELF-HELP COOPERATIVES.

ASSEMBLY CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, January 21, 1935.

MR. SPEAKER: Your Select Committee on Self-Help Cooperatives, appointed during the special session of 1934 pursuant to a resolution approved by the Assembly on September __, 1934, having conducted public hearings at which representatives of these groups and of the government expressed their opinions, having visited a number of these units where their problems were discussed with the cooperators themselves, and having collected considerable literature in the field, wishes to report as follows:

RISE OF THE MOVEMENT.

The self-help cooperative movement in California began in early 1932 when self-respecting but idle men, their labor unwanted, and farmers, whose produce lay rotting in the fields for lack of an effective market, began trading their surplus services and commodities. Within the ranks of the unemployed, men and women formed "relief associations" and "unemployed units" to facilitate barter with the farmers and between themselves.

By March, 1933, one year after its humble beginning, the movement had assumed tremendous importance, with over 200 associations in the State, and a membership reliably estimated at 89,000, which, added to dependents of the members, makes the total number associated with the self-help groups 340,000, 6 per cent of the State's population. The location of these groups in this early period was conditioned by two chief factors: The availability of agricultural surpluses, and the extent of the unemployment problem in the particular area. In early 1933, Los Angeles County had about 75 per cent of the cooperative members; Alameda had nearly 12 per cent; and Orange contained about 3½ per cent.

During 1932–1933, the cooperatives were chiefly concerned with the salvage of waste products. Most units were able to offer their members food, chiefly vegetables, and services which together amounted to less than a minimum for subsistence. Almost without exception, these groups were democratic in management, and were composed of skilled and unskilled laborers. No race, color, or creed lines were drawn. Usually distribution was made on the basis of need. This initial period of California self-help history has been called the "vegetable" stage, and a considerable number of groups have continued the bartering of their labor with farmers as their chief activity.

LOCAL GOVERNMENT ASSISTANCE.

Confronted with a deepening unemployment relief problem, local officials recognized in the cooperatives the possibility of sustaining a portion of the needy at considerable saving of money and morale. Pressed by the Unemployed Cooperative Relief Association, the leading federation of cooperatives, the Los Angeles County board of supervisors appropriated gasoline for the transportation of food and labor. The city of Los Angeles purchased staple groceries for cooperators in the spring of 1933. Later the county set up an agency called the food administration to supervise the distribution of gasoline. Additional help came from various municipal governments to self-help groups within their boundaries.

The Legislature, during the fiftieth session, greatly facilitated the work of self-help groups by granting free license plates to motor vehicles used for unemployed cooperative relief.

FEDERAL AID TO COOPERATIVES.

Under the Wagner-Lewis Act of June, 1933, the Federal Emergency Relief Administration was empowered to make grants to self-help cooperatives. The policy of the administration was to make grants for working capital to enable the cooperatives to produce necessities and to exchange more efficiently for surpluses. The aims of the Federal administration were not put into effect in California until several months after the approval of the Wagner-Lewis Act. A few scattering grants were made to self-help groups in this State, but the funds were largely used for nonproductive activities.

Following the rejection of a million dollar request of the Unemployed Cooperative Distribution Association, then dominant alliance of southern California barter groups, the Federal program was inaugurated in California in May, 1934. Between June and December of last year, Federal grants have been made to about 75 self-help cooperatives in the State, to an amount totaling nearly a half million dollars.

The productive activities engaged in by California groups under Federal grant covers a wide range, including: Sewing, canning, farming, baking, lumbering, dairying, printing, shoe repairing, fishing, poultry raising, furniture making, soap manufacturing, dehydrating, rabbit raising, and many others.

An analysis of the geographical distribution of cooperatives with Federal aid shows that Los Angeles County has 54 groups with grants; Orange, 22; Alameda, 3; Santa Clara, 2; Riverside, 2; San Bernardino, 1; Monterey, 1; San Luis Obispo, 1; and Tulare, 1.

PROCEDURE UNDER FEDERAL GRANTS.

Application for Federal assistance is made through the State Emergency Relief Administration and the Governor. Grants are limited to nonstock, nonprofit self-cooperatives, which are made up of persons eligible or prospectively eligible to relief. In California, particularly in the southern area, the government has attempted to encourage groups to specialize in particular lines of production, and to obtain balance by interunit exchange of products.

Although the Wagner-Lewis Act forbids the sale of cooperative products on the open market, it does permit sale for cash to the relief administrations and charity agencies. It was anticipated that sufficient sales for cash would be made to enable self-help groups to recover their working capital, thus making possible continued production after the governmental aid was no longer forthcoming. Relief agencies have not yet made sufficient purchases to render this possible.

The grants are administered by the Division of Self-Help Cooperatives of the State Emergency Relief Administration, which maintains an accounting and field staff, with headquarters in San Francisco and Los Angeles. The cooperatives draw upon their grants by purchase orders drawn upon their funds, which remain on deposit with the S E R A. Members of self-help groups with grants are compensated in "cooperative points," at a rate not less than 60 points (30 cents) for each hour of work. There is no cash compensation for the ordinary member, but a limited number of supervisorial work orders based on minimum family budgets are issued by the S E R.A. to managers, bookkeepers, and project superintendents. The number of work orders varies with the size of the group, ranging from three to six or more.

SUCCESS OF COOPERATIVE PRODUCTION.

Proponents of cooperative production did not anticipate any startling record of efficiency and superiority, because of the following factors: (1) The workers recruited by self-help groups are usually less skilled than those in private industry. (2) Machinery and equipment tend to be poorer than that used in private business. (3) Production projects were set up speedily, often without adequate planning. (4) Management is in the hands of leaders who are democratically selected, sometimes without regard to technical ability.

As in private business, the production record in the first months proved disappointing, but recent reports indicate growing success. During November, 1934, for example, Federal grant cooperatives produced $72,239.48 worth of commodities, at a cash cost of only $11,475.41, and a point cost of $52,748.49 (largely labor), which, taken together represent a total cost of production of $64,223.90. This is an enviable record for groups of unemployed cooperators.

Relief and charity agencies appear very hesitant about buying cooperative products for cash. Such purchases in the month of November amounted to only $8,559.05, a small fraction of the total amount produced. Products worth $50,368.59 were exchanged on the barter market, that is, traded between self-help groups on a cooperative point basis.

PRESENT STATUS OF THE MOVEMENT.

There are today probably 200 barter groups in the State, of which about 75 are under Federal grant. Accurate figures on the membership of all groups are not available, but Federal aid cooperatives have something over 6000 active registered members, which, together with their dependents, total around 24,000.

Complete data on the personnel of California cooperatives is not yet available, but a recent survey of nine northern California groups gives an indication of the nature of the membership. It was found that the cooperators are largely American-born; 73.7 per cent were born in the United States; 3.8 per cent in England; 2.1 per cent in Norway; and 2.1 per cent in Germany. Most of the members are Californians of long standing, approximately 87 per cent having been residents of this State for more than five years. The chief occupations of the heads of families or single persons in the movement were: laborers, 25.7 per cent; houseworkers, 13.8 per cent; carpenters, 10.6 per cent; clerks, 6.0 per cent; and mechanics, 6.0 per cent.

A large portion of the cooperative membership is past the period of middle age, and will almost certainly not be reassimilated into industry again.

COMMITTEE'S CONCLUSIONS.

After its study of the self-help cooperative movement in California, the committee draws the following conclusions:

(1) The self-help cooperatives constitute a most suitable means for the rehabilitation of the skills and morale of the unemployed, and the State should take suitable steps to improve their condition and facilitate their work.

(2) These groups will be immeasurably handicapped without the renewal of the free motor vehicle license privilege granted by the Legislature in 1933. The committee has introduced and sponsored Assembly Bill No. 37, which covers this recommendation.

(3) Some provision should be made for utility services for families dependent upon the cooperatives for sustenance. Legislation encouraging the donation of electric, water, and gas services by utility companies may be necessary.

(4) Lacking cash to meet their rent, cooperative families are frequently a heavy burden on small landlords. Some provision should be made for rebating taxes to owners of property used by self-help groups and cooperative members who have no money income.

(5) The State and its subdivisions own considerable amounts of land, some of which is fertile in soil or rich in resources. It might well be made available for use by the cooperatives in their productive endeavors.

(6) Cooperatives might be placed on a self-sustaining basis if some legislation were enacted requiring relief agencies to buy from them.

WHEREAS, The United States has, for the past few years passed through a most severe period of depression, hardship and destitution;

WHEREAS, It has become universally recognized that such depression and hardship can, to a large extent, be avoided in the future by providing reserves in prosperous times which may be resorted to in time of distress; and

WHEREAS, The reserves against unemployment is an all essential item in any such program and in times of stress would provide a means of maintaining purchasing power, supporting those unemployed in a self respecting American fashion, obviating public charity and maintaining confidence generally; and

WHEREAS, To be most effective any such program must be National in scope; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly and the Senate of the State of California, jointly, That the President and Congress of the United States are hereby respectfully urged to enact such legislation, at as early a date as possible, as will provide a means of establishing throughout the United States a system of reserves or insurance against unemployment; and be it further

ASSEMBLY CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 14.

Relative to the further increase of machine work while laborers and their families are in distress.

WHEREAS, The President of the United States, Franklin D. Roosevelt, has, since the first day of his inauguration into office, recognized the stark necessity of providing employment for the desperate, sick, and starving millions of workers and their dependents, and

WHEREAS, In 1933, under Title II of the National Industrial Recovery Act, the said President of the United States caused Congress to require that in all contracts, financed wholly or in part by Federal funds, a clause must be inserted providing that, whenever practicable, hand labor must be substituted for machine work upon a short-work-week basis; and

WHEREAS, The aforementioned contracts involve the expenditure of billions of dollars in the State of California and throughout the rest of the Nation; and

WHEREAS, The California Highway Commission has generally followed the same course in regard to substituting hand labor for machine work; and

WHEREAS, At a special session of the California Legislature, the Governor of California, Frank F Merriam, requested that a $24,000,000 bond issue for the relief of unemployment be submitted to the electorate of California, and such bond issue was in fact submitted to such electorate and was decisively approved thereby at the election held in this State in November, 1934; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, the Senate thereof concurring, That, while they firmly believe in constant perfection and introduction of machines to alleviate the drudgery of human existence and thereby make for cultural and physical advancement of our citizenship, nevertheless they realize that it is cruel, ironical, and illogical to vote millions of dollars for the relief of unemployment and then, under the idea of economy, adopt measures which will place workers upon the already staggering charity of relief rolls; and be it further

Resolved, That they do not approve any measure or act proposing additional machines or the introduction of additional machinery into departments of the State government, by any departmental order, until such time as the Nation and the State have had opportunity to return its desperately distressed citizens into productive employment whereby they can earn a remuneration commensurate with a decent standard of American living.

BUDGET MESSAGE OF GOVERNOR FRANK F. MERRIAM, AS DELIVERED TO THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY OF CALIFORNIA IN JOINT ASSEMBLY AT SACRAMENTO, TUESDAY, JANUARY 22, 1935.

To the State Legislature

Fulfilling the requirements of the State Constitution, I am submitting herewith a proposed budget for the State of California for the eighty-seventh and eighty-eighth fiscal years, in which will be presented in detail recommended expenditures and a tax program for meeting the budgetary needs of the State government.

Also, observing the commitments contained in the party platforms adopted last September, and in keeping with certain plans and policies of my own which are neither partisan nor political in their inspiration or objective, I am presenting a discussion of general issues and problems of importance to the State.

THE STATE'S FISCAL PROBLEM.

Members of the Senate and Assembly are familiar with the unprecedented financial condition of the State government, and, hence, I feel it is unnecessary for me to dwell at length upon the fact that our situation with respect to State finances is a critical one.

Let me impress upon you, however, the fundamental fact that unless drastic remedies are applied in this emergency, the State government soon will be unable to function in many of its essential activities, and a condition closely approximating bankruptcy will develop.

There is no precedent in this State for the financial difficulties in which we find ourselves. State revenues have decreased markedly during the last few years At the same time, due in part to emergency demands arising from the extended economic depression, it has not been possible to accomplish any great reduction in governmental costs.

We now come face to face with the fact that the disparity between the income of the State and the expenditures of the State has reached a point of real danger.

This danger is strikingly exemplified by the sharp decline of the State's income from various important sources, some of which have been eliminated, as in the case of the gross receipts tax on the utility corporations, and others which now produce less than half the total moneys collected four years ago.

SHRINKING REVENUE AND INCREASING EXPENSES.

While this shrinkage in revenue has been in progress, requirements for our public schools, for aid to the needy, and for interest and redemption of bonds have more than doubled.

Our revenue situation has been complicated by the loss of the gross receipts tax on utility corporations, a biennial item of approximately $58,000,000 This adjustment in our tax structure, and the transfer of the utility properties to the tax rolls of the several counties, was approved by the people more than eighteen months ago and became effective on the first day of this calendar year

Through this change, also, practically the entire support of the public schools has devolved upon the State.

Because of such losses, the total mandatory expenses of the State government for the coming biennium will exceed the total revenues which existing law will provide. In fact, present rates and schedules will not furnish the State with revenues sufficient to meet payments required by the Constitution for the support of the public schools

Such conditions must be faced with courage; they must be met with intelligence. Political considerations are not involved; partisan issues have no place; personal interests are entirely subordinate. We must work harmoniously and unselfishly together in a common cause for the common good.

At a time when so many hundreds of thousands of men, women and children are suffering undeserved hardships—when the very salvation of society and civilization depends upon our willingness to sacrifice any personal or selfish interests in the service of the people—we must meet extraordinary ills with extraordinary remedies

And while moving with energy and determination to solve the difficulties and handicaps of this emergency, we must likewise begin in an earnest and an effective way to provide means and adopt policies that will cause the State itself to observe the ordinary precautions of the prudent citizen, who does not spend more than he may reasonably expect to earn, and who does not borrow more than he may ultimately be able to repay.

Savings to be effected by reductions in expenditures readily subject to the authority and discretion of the Legislature and the Governor will not materially bring down the cost of State government.

In fact, we could not balance the budget of the State by wholly eliminating the cost of all agencies supported from the general fund, including appropriations for the Legislature, the State courts, the Governor's office, all constitutional officers, the administrative and regulatory departments, State hospitals, prisons, teachers' colleges, and the State university.

STRICT ECONOMY NECESSARY.

The people, who expect no such impossible action nevertheless demand that we, as their chosen representatives, shall cut out all needless costs; that we shall place the government on a sound footing of economy and efficiency, and that we shall obtain maximum return from the expenditure of public funds.

To such an end we must unreservedly dedicate our common endeavors.

The State government, acting either under mandate of a direct vote of the people, or through legislative enactments that have the approval of the people, has followed certain well-defined policies and has incurred certain specific and continuing obligations.

It must be assumed, and in fact there is no question at all, that the people want these broad policies continued and advanced and expect these obligations to be fully carried out. In my administrative program, and in the budget and tax recommendations presented herein, I am proceeding on such an assumption.

Thus we come to the question of obtaining sufficient revenues to carry out the necessary functions of the government—a question that involves both a necessity for meeting the emergency immediately before us and also for the development of a tax program that will impose no undue hardship and no inequitable or unjust burden upon any individual, class or organization.

In simple terms, our problem from a taxation and revenue standpoint may be readily summarized thus:

The minimum budget requirements from the general fund for the biennium of 1935–37, including $69,800,000 for the general operating costs of the State government, and $158,400,000 for disbursements to the counties, will exceed $228,200,000 This is exclusive of the anticipated deficit for the current biennium of approximately $29,000,000.

Estimated revenues from present sources will total $132,600,000

GENERAL FUND REQUIREMENTS.

The following table sets forth the general outlines of the State's financial situation with respect to the general fund:

PAYMENTS TO THE COUNTIES:
Support of public schools; aid to the needy blind, aged, orphans; tuberculosis, and other subsidies		$158,433,892 82
OPERATING COSTS FOR 1935–37:
Legislative, executive, judicial, and general administrative	$4,920,532 80
Regulative, protective, and developmental	7,671,922 45
Charities and corrections, hospitals, prisons, correctional schools, social welfare	17,195,545 78
State educational establishments, including the teachers colleges and the University of California	17,723,570 00
TOTAL OPERATING COSTS		47,511,571 03
PRICES AND EMERGENCIES	$1,500,000 00
NECESSARY CONSTRUCTION AND IMPROVEMENTS	4,349,300 00
INTEREST AND REDEMPTION OF BONDS	16,472,074 64
TOTAL		22,321,374 64
TOTAL GENERAL FUND REQUIREMENTS		$228,266,838 49
ESTIMATED REVENUE UNDER EXISTING LAW, 1935–37		132,643,656 33
REVENUE NEEDED FROM NEW SOURCES TO BALANCE BUDGET		$95,623,182 16

THE DEFICIT PROBLEM.

It will be noted that I have not included in the foregoing table the estimated deficit of approximately $29,000,000 for the current biennium. In all probability the Legislature will find it feasible and advisable to retire this deficit over a period of years. I have, however, made tentative provision for assimilating this debt in the tax program contained in this message.

As a temporary solution of the deficit problem I suggest the possibility of adopting a plan calling for the payment of a greatly reduced rate of interest on the accumulated deficit items.

During the current biennium it will be possible to determine whether the deficit may be gradually absorbed through increased revenues, or through an amortization plan to be submitted to the people for their approval.

Notwithstanding the elimination of this large item from immediate revenue needs, it is apparent that we still must obtain approximately $95,600,000 through new revenue sources if the State's budget is to be brought into balance for the ensuing biennial period.

To such an end I invite your assistance and cooperation in order that the State's business may be efficiently conducted and the State's credit be maintained.

In spite of rigid restrictions in budget recommendations for the operating expenses of the various State departments and agencies, I find that the total appropriations required from the general fund for the ensuing biennium will exceed the 5 per cent limitation on increases provided in section 34a of Article IV of the Constitution.

As will be shown by the analysis below, the budget increase, exclusive of that for public school system (which is exempt from the limitation by the constitutional provision), is taken up by fixed charges and mandatory items over which the budget-maker has practically no control.

INCREASE IN GENERAL FUND APPROPRIATIONS AND COMPARISON WITH FIVE PER CENT LIMITATION AS PROVIDED BY CONSTITUTION, ARTICLE IV, SECTION THIRTY-FOUR-A.

	1933-1935	1935-1937
Total appropriations	$214,524,747 76	$228,266,838 49
Less appropriations for public school system	143,148,286 46	146,592,683 82
(Including State teachers colleges and special schools.)
Appropriations exclusive of public school system	$71,376,461 30	$81,674,154 67
Increase	(14.43%)	10,296,693 37
5 per cent increase would be	3,568,823 06

The foregoing increase of $10,296,693 37 is composed of the following items:

1. Increased requirements for payment to the counties as the State's share of aid to the aged, orphans, blind, and patients in tuberculosis sanitaria	$3,211,810 41
2. For increased requirements for interest and redemption on State bonds, the increase being very largely occasioned by the two recent relief bond issues	3,096,767 67
3. For increased operating expenses of our State institutions and prisons due to an increase in the number of the State's wards and higher prices of staple commodities	1,156,141 69
4. For necessary new construction at the State hospitals for insane	3,356,388 00
5 For reserves for emergencies and contingencies	1,308,019 56
These increases total	$12,129,127 33
Offset against this sum the recommendations for all other purposes show a net reduction of	1,832,433 96
Making a total net increase in appropriations from the general fund other than for public schools	$10,296,693 37

Items 1 and 2 above are fixed charges over which the executive budget officer has no control whatever.

Item 3 is in a certain sense likewise a fixed charge since there is no means of controlling the number of individuals committed to our State institutions. There is a certain requirement for care and subsistence which must be met. Higher prices for provisions and other supplies have increased these budget requirements.

Item 4: Our State institutions are badly overcrowded The amount of construction provided for in the budget will not relieve present overcrowded conditions to any great degree, but will provide merely for the anticipated increased numbers

Item 5 is in reality not an expenditure item. It is a safety factor demanded in proper budget construction. With the budgets for all State departments and agencies reduced as they are, there remains no margin in the individual budget allotments to provide for emergency conditions.

It is essential to the welfare of the State as a whole that these adjustments in our revenue-producing program be accomplished by the imposition of new or modified taxes only upon those best able to pay. To follow any other course or principle would involve either outright confiscation or invite further dislocation of our economic situation.

NEW SOURCES OF REVENUE RECOMMENDED.

The following new sources of revenue are herewith recommended as being levied either upon profits or luxuries, or upon so-called nonessentials, and are thus most likely to be least burdensome upon our workers and all citizens of small means:

1. Personal Income Tax at one-third federal normal and surtax rates	$17,500,000 00
2. Real Estate Transfer Tax 1 per cent on value of sales	10,000,000 00
3. Increase Bank and Corporation Franchise Tax Increase rate from 2 per cent to 4 per cent	11,000,000 00
4. Alcoholic Beverage Tax (Beer) Increase rate from 2 cents per gallon to 3 cents per gallon	1,000,000 00
5. Tax on Intoxicating Liquors (Hard Liquors) Stamp Tax on sales in State at 40 cents per proof gallon	2,400,000 00
6. Insurance Gross Premium Tax-Increase Increase rate from 2.6 per cent to 4 per cent	6,000,000 00
7. Two per cent Severance Tax and Processing Tax	12,000,000 00
8. Tax on Admissions: Theatres, Games, etc. 1 cent on each 10 cents (first 20 cents exempt)	4,000,000 00
9. Motor Transportation Tax Increase from 3 per cent to 6 per cent and eliminate personal property tax	1,400,000 00
These nine items total	$65,300,000 00
In addition to the above items, to provide funds required for support of public schools, I recommend that the Retail Sales Tax be increased from the 2 per cent rate to 3 per cent	42,000,000 00
TOTAL	$107,300,000 00

This proposed program for obtaining new revenue is not advanced on any basis other than necessity, nor is it imposed with any thought other than it will fall upon those best able to support it.

In compiling the facts and figures upon which each new revenue item is based, we have sought to limit the tax to a minimum. It is axiomatic that no tax, new or old, meets with the approval of those who pay it. Furthermore, because of the economic disturbances of the last few years, with consequent loss of employment to thousands of our citizens, and great reduction in income to other individuals and to industries, we have two general opposing influences with which to contend.

The first, because of its specific needs, would approve a program of taxation that might result in confiscation, and, hence in the destruction of those productive activities to which we must look for revenue at this time. The second, yielding to the human and wholly understandable impulse of self-protection, will look with disfavor upon any further demands upon its resources.

It is my belief the program as outlined to you strikes a just balance between two such extremes, and that your approval of the recommendations herewith presented to you will result in benefits which the State as a whole will enjoy.

IN LIEU TAX.

It is my recommendation that you give consideration to the advisability of eliminating personal property taxes on motor vehicles and levy fees in lieu thereof for State purposes based on weight and value. It is estimated that $25,000,000 can be secured by this arrangement without increasing the tax load on the individual automobile owner. This would in some measure compensate the State for the loss of revenue occasioned by the transfer of the public utility property to the counties. Should you desire to substitute this source of revenue for others above recommended or use it in providing funds for additional buildings at the institutions, it will meet with my approval.

This system will also save the automobile owner the inconvenience of having his certificate stamped by the assessor or tax collecter before securing the automobile license plates and will prove much more efficient.

UNEMPLOYMENT RELIEF.

For the purpose of financing unemployment relief for the coming biennium, it is recommended that certain taxes be levied, with provision for their abrogation at the discretion of the Governor when it shall appear that the present emergency has ceased to exist. In any event, I suggest that such emergency unemployment relief taxes be definitely limited to the two-year period beginning July 1, 1935.

It is recommended that a sum totaling $47,300,000 be provided for unemployment relief for the biennium of 1935-37, to be expended under State supervision and used exclusively in a public works program, and not exceeding 50 per cent of this amount to be used for the construction of State buildings.

The following tax plan to carry out the emergency program of unemployment relief is recommended:

1. 1 cent additional tax on gasoline	$23,300,000 00
2. 3 per cent consumers' tax on gas, electricity, telephone, telegraph, and other utility services	16,000,000 00
3 Tobacco tax: 2 cents per package of twenty cigarettes, and 10 per cent on other products	8,000,000 00
Total	$47,300,000 00

TAXES FOR SUPPORT OF THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Contributions to be made by the State, as required by the Constitution, to the public schools of California for the coming biennium will exceed $142,500,000. The major portion of this sum will be provided by a school tax levied on retail sales.

Two years ago, under provisions of the Sales Tax Law, the Legislature enacted this tax for the support of our schools The terms of the act provided for a rate of 2½ per cent on retail sales, to be reduced to 2 per cent after June 30, 1935.

At the lower rate, it is estimated this tax will produce approximately $84,000,000—or $58,500,000 less than the indicated school requirements.

Because of the unsatisfactory condition of our finances, and the obvious necessity for maintaining our schools at their present high standard of efficiency, I am convinced that during a continuance of our present emergency conditions this type of tax can carry, without severe hardship to our people, an even greater share of the school costs.

Such a tax reaches a large group which otherwise makes a relatively small contribution toward the support of government; and that is the group which derives the most benefit from the public schools. The increased revenue from a 3 per cent school tax will produce approximately $126,000,000—still short of the total required for public school purposes and exclusive of the appropriations needed for the operation of the State university, the teachers' colleges, and other educational institutions of the State.

Operation of the tax on retail sales has indicated the desirability of certain minor adjustments in the method of collecting the tax. It is recommended that section 8 and section 8½ of the Retail Sales Tax Act be repealed, and that the act be amended so as to authorize the merchant to allocate and collect this tax on the basis of his gross sales, thus enabling him to assess the tax on whatever items he may select. To a modified extent this practice has already been followed with success in certain retail establishments.

COSTS OF GOVERNMENTAL OPERATIONS RESTRICTED.

Owing to decreased revenues, and also to the lessened ability of our citizens to carry their financial burdens, I have felt it necessary to adopt a policy calling for the strictest limitation of expenditures for the maintenance and operation of various State boards, departments, commissions and other agencies.

Operating costs have been greatly reduced. Reductions have been made in the higher salaries and further pruning may be necessary if our total income falls short of the basic needs of the government. I have been compelled—in many instances with great reluctance—to make sweeping reductions in the budget requests submitted by department heads.

It is only just to say that under this policy of rigid economy, many State agencies will be unable to operate as heretofore or, possibly, to the extent which the people may expect. In this regard the taxpayer, in his own interest, must be content with less service in some instances until increased revenues permit the government to more fully serve the public.

This much is certain, that every State official and employee will be expected to do his or her best, without complaint in a spirit of public service.

With few exceptions the restricted program of expenditures adopted by the Legislature two years ago has been adhered to and continued in effect. It has been found necessary to provide increased supply allotments for institutions charged with the custody and care of the State's wards. This is due to additional population in these institutions, and to an increase in commodity prices.

While some elasticity has been provided in the budget recommendations for such establishments, any general price increases will involve costs in excess of the budget estimates herewith submitted.

As a measure of safety and protection, I recommend establishment of an emergency reserve fund of not less than $1,500,000 to meet contingencies that may arise.

INSTITUTIONS AND PRISONS OVERCROWDED.

The recent prison break at San Quentin has served to focus public attention on deplorable conditions, due to overcrowding and inadequate facilities, existing in our great penal institutions.

Recurrences of such unfortunate episodes, more terrible and far more disastrous than the temporary escape of four desperate men, more menacing to the lives of prison authorities and of peaceful citizens generally, are inevitable if immediate and vigorous steps are not taken to remedy conditions that have been too long neglected.

On this issue we can not temporize, we can not delay. In the ordinary sense of the term, I feel we can not economize. There is nothing to be gained by the State in saving dollars at the expense of public security and public decency.

The enforced idleness caused by the overcrowding of a prison is a curse which breeds despair, viciousness and corruption. From such consequences society itself is the chief sufferer.

California is an enlightened State, and in this commonwealth have germinated and developed some of the most forward-looking and inspiring humanitarian laws and practices. What a splendid service would be the prompt development here of a prison system that would prevent, rather than create and encourage, the spread of criminal activities and the inculcation of criminal tendencies.

The mere inadequacy of prison facilities falls like a poisonous blight upon the first offender, or those convicted of lesser crimes, who must be herded day and night—month after month—with the vicious, antisocial or degenerate criminal.

It is my prayerful hope that with the aid of the Legislature we may immediately begin the work of sensible prison reform to the end that a modern penal system may be established here, providing for the segregation not only of first offenders, but of different types of offenders.

A junior prison and reformatory should be constructed in Southern California as soon as a proper site can be acquired. Such an institution should be located where soil and climatic conditions are favorable to a work program which will combine healthful activity with useful and productive occupation.

I recommend prompt action looking to appropriations from State revenues, or to the acquisition of funds from the public works program of President Roosevelt, for the purchase of lands and the construction of buildings adequate to meet the requirements of this menacing problem.

At the same time we should adopt laws which will guarantee not only proper corrective procedure in our prisons, but will assure the application of policies definitely seeking the reformation of the individual prisoner. Work, which the individual is equipped by training and experience to perform, or which can be adapted to his physical needs and aptitudes, should be provided for each able-bodied prison inmate. Of course care must be taken that the products of prison labor shall not come into competition with those of free labor.

This practice should be followed as a requisite of prison routine both as a measure of economy in prison operation and in furtherance of the far more important task of rehabilitation of those whose offenses against society have brought about their incarceration.

The lessons so sharply brought home by the San Quentin escapes will have the further effect of drawing attention to our parole laws and their application. In this regard, I hope we may proceed alertly and intelligently; for no individual or public good will be accomplished by any arbitrary or hasty action on this question. Obviously, our parole procedure needs overhauling to the end that society may be more adequately protected and the case of the individual prisoner may be more carefully studied before a parole is granted.

Notwithstanding that we have, possibly, made some mistakes on the side of excessive optimism concerning the likelihood of reforming certain types of prisoners, we shall gain nothing by a sudden zeal for severity toward those who may deserve our thoughtful consideration.

THE WOMEN'S REFORMATORY.

Operation of the Women's Reformatory at Tehachapi has been conducted on an unsatisfactory basis because of contradictions and inadequacies of existing law. This reformatory was established as a result of perseverance and unselfish devotion of leaders in the various women's organizations of California. The institution was authorized, land was purchased and buildings were erected under the directions of a State Board, the majority of whom were women.

An oversight in drafting appropriate legislation for the creation and administration of the reformatory has brought about a situation under which the management of the institution itself is under the women's board, while the prisoners are subject to control by the State Prison Board and the Board of Prison Terms and Paroles.

In order that this important corrective institution be permitted to function efficiently, and in accordance with the purposes for which it was founded, I recommend the enactment of certain clarifying amendments designed to remedy the existing situation.

It is recommended that full control of the reformatory and its inmates be placed under the women's board, and that such board be authorized to fix the length of prison terms and also exercise all powers conferred under our parole laws.

OTHER INSTITUTIONS CROWDED.

Our prisons are not the only State institutions where overcrowding and inadequate facilities and equipment work severe hardships upon the inmates. Many wooden structures, constructed more than 27 years ago as temporary housing facilities, continue to house the insane. These buildings are sheeted with 1-inch pine boards with neither lath nor plaster to protect against heat or cold. This condition presents a serious fire hazard and a constant menace to the lives of patients and attendants.

In many of our State hospitals patients are quartered in basements and in attics. Beds in many wards are so close together that care and treatment of patients is seriously impaired.

To remedy this condition a building program calculated to relieve the situation as rapidly as funds may be made available should be adopted. If the State had been able to maintain such a program through the years, the present intolerable conditions would not exist.

In this budget only such recommendations as will meet the minimum immediate requirements for permanent construction have been included. This is illustrated by the fact that items recommended by me total $3,700,000 for such purposes, while the requirements as estimated by department heads approximate $36,000,000.

Your attention is also directed to the message of President Roosevelt to the present Congress in which he recommended that an augmented program of public works be undertaken without delay through aid from the Federal Government.

AGENCIES SUPPORTED FROM "SPECIAL" FUNDS.

This message has thus far dealt solely with financial problems relating to the proposed expenditures from the State's general fund. We are not confronted with any serious difficulty in maintaining and operating State agencies supported by special funds collected specifically for their exclusive use.

Of course, most of these agencies have found it necessary to adjust their activities and expenditures to the diminished revenues which they have collected, but in the main they have suffered no restrictions in keeping with the severe handicaps encountered by activities supported from general fund appropriations.

A DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SAFETY.

The many separate agencies of the State government directly or indirectly concerned with the protection and safety of our citizens can be rendered far more efficient in their services and much more economical in their maintenance and operation through a coordination of authority and effort.

To this end the creation of a Department of Public Safety, into which department should be transferred the California Highway Patrol, the Division of Motor Vehicle Registration, the Bureau of Criminal Identification, the Detective License Division, the Division of Narcotic Enforcement, Board of Prison Terms and Paroles, the State Parole Department, the State Board of Prison Directors, and the State Capitol Police, is recommended.

The members of the California Highway Patrol should be given general police powers, subject to certain restrictions, to be exercised at the discretion of the Governor.

The prevention, detection, suppression and punishment of crime has become difficult and complex. Each political subdivision possesses its own police power and its machinery for fighting crime. The State, however, which is in a position to render effective aid in this matter, and through its widespread activities and facilities to coordinate and expedite the war on criminal activities, has been handicapped through an absence of specifically delegated police authority.

The cost of maintaining and administering a State Department of Public Safety will be more than justified by the results to be obtained.

Your approval of these suggestions will enable California to take a decisive part, within its own borders, in the constant and unrelenting war which goes on between the forces of law and order and the members of the criminal element Representatives from certain western States have been invited to come to California to meet with representatives from this State for a conference designed to improve, strengthen and extend crime suppression activities. This conference should result in many very definite benefits, among which can be listed more uniform laws, improvement in general police procedure, and greater cooperation between the law enforcement agencies of the several State governments.

It is my earnest determination not only to make California unpopular with the gangster, the criminal, and the thug, but to develop conditions here that will render more difficult if not impossible the operations of organized crime.

COMMISSION TO INVESTIGATE STATE WATER AND POWER PROGRAM.

I now come to a matter which must be treated with absolute candor and impartiality if any ultimate public benefit is to be derived from a discussion of all of its aspects and possibilities. A mere repetition and rehash of all the controversial, contentious, and to some extent highly prejudiced arguments surrounding this subject will serve only to add to popular confusion.

It is a subject upon which honest opinion differs sharply and concerning which experts and other competent authorities are in disagreement. It has become an issue, frequently misunderstood and misrepresented, in politics and political campaigns. Basically, however, it is vitally related to the economic welfare of all the people.

Hence, the suggestions I am advancing herewith must be considered as an attempt to create a basis for intelligent and just consideration of a problem which ultimately must be solved equitably and sensibly

The appointment of a Commission to Investigate the State's Water and Power Program is recommended, to be composed of citizens of California appointed by the Governor, and to be authorized to investigate the feasibility and desirability, from the standpoint of public interest, of the acquisition by the State of California of the electric power generating and distributing facilities now under both private and public ownership within the State.

We have this situation before us in California: developing side by side, serving a similar purpose, and utilizing the same resources for the production, distribution, and sale of an identical product, there are two great electrical power groups, one actually owned by hundreds of thousands of investors and operated under private manag ment, and the other owned by the people and managed by public authority.

No wide difference exists in the general rates charged by these respective, and to an increasing extent competitive, groups. The privately-owned utilities, subject to government regulation, are required to pay various kinds of taxes; the publicly-owned utilities have not been subject to taxation. There are many other conditions involved in this situation which embrace either actual or potential contradictions, inequalities, and opportunities for conflict.

This problem should not be approached from the standpoint of the partisans either of public or private ownership, but solely from that of the economic well-being of the State as a whole.

Entrance of the Federal Government into gigantic power development projects, and the vast resources thus made available from the public treasury for virtually unlimited e tension of publicly-owned undertakings of this nature, have greatly added to the uncertain status of privately-owned power utilities.

The commission which I ask you to authorize, and which should have a membership of not less than nine nor to exceed fifteen persons, should be empowered to discuss the possible purchase, and to obtain independent estimates of the sale value, of such privately- and publicly-owned generating and distributing systems, which the State might determine to acquire

It must be kept in mind that there are more than 250,000 men and women in California whose savings are invested in the privately-owned electrical industry, and that this very large group of our population is entitled to fair treatment in any negotiations looking to the acquisition, by purchase, of the properties whose securities are held by the investing pub'ic

Whether electric power is to be supplied under private or under public ownership, it is manifest that it should be supplied by a widespread and interconnected system having a diversity of load, serving agriculture and industry as well as residences, so that all classes of consumers may continue to enjoy low rates and the continuity of service that only such a system can afford.

In its broader aspects, this whole question necessarily involves the vital problem of the development and conservation of our water resources in the State, because power development can not be disassociated from that greatest of all natural resources.

STATE'S WATER PROBLEM.

Our water problems are complicated by unequal geographical and seasonal distribution and supply. Such inequalities occur from year to year, and from season to season. In some parts of our State, the water supply is in excess of ultimate needs of the area chiefly affected, while in other sections there is a deficiency even for present necessities.

This vital natural resource must be controlled, distributed and utilized for the benefit and the welfare of the people. So far as practicable, and equitable, the inequalities due to natural conditions must be adjusted by conservation and development.

Floods from our streams must be impounded and their destructive and wasteful forces brought under control. To this end we must plan with energy, foresight, and vision The future progress and prosperity of California are in large degree dependent upon the economic development of our water resources.

Some of our most acute water problems involve a large area of the State These pressing questions can not here be treated in detail, although the conditions have been the subject of legislative concern for many years and a comprehensive plan for their solution has, over a long course of time, been evolved for a large portion of the State.

These plans propose the coordination of all efforts, both public and private, for the complete development, conservation and utilization of all the water resources of California. Portions of the plans are now in course of being realized.

The Metropolitan Water District of Southern California is actively engaged in constructing works to convey and distribute water from the Colorado River, made available by the Boulder Dam Project. The Imperial Valley will benefit largely from the All-American Canal, upon which work is already commenced Our west coast counties, as well as others in the interior, all have their water problems which must be solved at the proper time

The two great valleys of the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers present an exceedingly acute and complex problem, including impairment of navigation on the Sacramento River, salt water intrusion into the fertile delta lands of the Sacramento and San Joaquin, lack of sufficient fresh water supply for the industries in the San Francisco Bay region, and an entirely inadequate water supply in the San Joaquin Valley.

The Central Valley Project has been carefully planned to embrace the solution of these problems and will confer lasting benefits upon the State and Nation.

UNEMPLOYMENT RELIEF.

The most serious problem confronting us today is the need for relief of unemployment. The situation demands perfect coordination of action between State and Nation. The President in a recent message to Congress has announced that this emergency must be solved by providing employment for those in need, but that the result of that work must be useful in that it must afford permanent improvement in living conditions, or that it shall create future new wealth for the Nation. The Central Valley Project fulfills in all its aspects these practical principles declared by the President to be the necessary foundation for a successful program of work relief.

For many years I have been in complete sympathy with this project, and I am wholeheartedly in favor of its early construction. I have done, and I propose to do, everything in my power to make the project a reality. The Legislature has passed an act, which has been approved by a vote of the people, authorizing and directing the project to be constructed immediately upon funds being made available. The administrative agency created by that act has filed with the Federal Emergency Administration of Public Works an application for a grant and loan of funds for that purpose. Should Congress approve the broad program of the administration for unemployment relief, it is believed the Central Valley Project is in a favorable position to receive Federal aid. In such event we shall be privileged to participate in the erection of a conspicuous and permanent landmark in California history. It may well be placed in the class of the other four great projects now under construction in California, namely, the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge, the Golden Gate Bridge, the Metropolitan Water District and the All American Canal. These five projects involve the expenditure of $526,000,000.

I am in receipt of a letter from the President offering the advice and assistance of the legal division of the Public Works Administration in the preparation and drafting of legislation necessary to facilitate and expedite the National Public Works Program as it may be extended to the State of California. On behalf of the people of the State of California, I have accepted that offer and given assurance that you will stand ready to cooperate with the President and Congress by enacting such legislation as may be necessary to enable our State to go forward with the President and Congress in a National Recovery Program.

FEDERAL COOPERATION WITH STATES FOR SOCIAL SECURITY.

In a special message to Congress, President Roosevelt has outlined a comprehensive program for social security, including unemployment insurance, old age benefits, Federal aid to dependent children, and Federal aid to State and local governmental health agencies.

From a careful reading of the President's comments, and from a study of the plan he has urged Congress to approve, I find myself in full accord with practically all of the suggestions contained in his message.

He has submitted to Congress a report from those appointed by him to investigate the subjects which he discusses, and has asked the Congress to enact proper legislation without delay.

The success of the general social security plan depends entirely on the degree of cooperation that may be developed and maintained between the Federal Government and the governments of the several States, and as no single State at this time can undertake upon its own account a program that does not harmonize with the policies of the National Government, I recommend that we hold ourselves in readiness for prompt action following enactment of legislation by Congress.

Regardless of any differences of opinion and policy that may arise, I believe there is little opportunity for disagreeing with the principles as laid down by the President for the care of the aged and for the protection of workers thrown out of employment during periods of economic depression.

I quote herewith from his message:

> "Federal action is necessary to and conditioned upon the action of States. Fourty-four Legislatures are meeting or will meet soon. In order that the necessary State action may be taken promptly it is important that the Federal Government proceed speedily.
> "It is overwhelmingly important to avoid any danger of permanently discrediting the sound and necessary policy of Federal legislation for economic security by attempting to apply it on too ambitious a scale before actual experience has provided guidance for the permanently safe direction of such efforts.
> "The place of such a fundamental in our future civilization is too precious to be jeopardized now by extravagant action. It is a sound idea—a sound ideal. Most of the other advanced countries of the world have already adopted it and their experiment affords the knowledge that social insurance can be made a sound and workable project.
> "Three principles should be observed in legislation on this subject. In the first place, the system adopted, except for the money necessary to initiate it, should be self-sustaining in the sense that funds for the payment of insurance benefits should not come from the proceeds of general taxation. Second, excepting in old age insurance, actual management should be left to the States subject to standards established by the Federal Government. Third, sound financial management of the funds and the reserves, and protection of the credit structure of the Nation should be assured by retaining Federal control over all funds through trustees in the treasury of the United States.

"At this time I recommend the following types of legislation looking to economic security:

"1—Unemployment compensation.

"2—Old age benefits, including compulsory and voluntary annuities.

"3—Federal aid to dependent children through grants to States for the support of existing mothers' pension systems and for services for the protection and care of homeless, neglected, dependent and crippled children.

"4—Additional Federal aid to State and local public health agencies and the strengthening of the Federal public health service. I am not at this time recommending the adoption of so-called health insurance, although groups representing the medical profession are cooperating with the Federal Government in the further study of the subject and definite progress is being made.

"With respect to unemployment compensation, I have concluded that the most practical proposal is the levy of a uniform Federal pay roll tax, 90 per cent of which should be allowed as an offset to employers contributing under a compulsory State Unemployment Compensation Act. The purpose of this is to afford a requirement of a reasonably uniform character for all States cooperating with the Federal Government and to promote and encourage the passage of unemployment compensation laws in the States.

"Moreover, in order to encourage the stabilization of private employment, Federal legislation should not foreclose the States from establishing means for inducing industries to afford an even greater stabilization of employment.

"In the important field of security for our old people, it seems necessary to adopt three principles—first, noncontributory old age pensions for those who are now too old to build up their own insurance; it is, of course, clear that for perhaps 30 years to come funds will have to be provided by the States and the Federal Government to meet these pensions.

"Second, compulsory contributory annuities which in time will establish a self-supporting system for those now young and for future generations. Third, voluntary contributory annuities by which individual initiative can increase the annual amounts received in old age.

"It is proposed that the Federal Government assume one-half of the cost of the old age pension plan, which ought ultimately to be supplanted by self-supporting annuity plans.

"The amount necessary at this time for the initiation of unemployment compensation, old age security, children's aid and the promotion of public health, as outlined in the report of the committee on economic security, is approximately $100,000,000.

"The establishment of sound means toward a greater future economic security of the American people is dictated by a prudent consideration of the hazards involved in our National life. No one can guarantee this country against the dangers of future depressions but we can reduce these dangers."

I shall ask California's Representatives in the United States Congress to inform me promptly of the adoption of legislation requested by the President in this matter, and upon receipt of the necessary information, I shall transmit a further message to you, with such recommendations as may be deemed necessary to place California in harmony and cooperation with the Federal Government's social security program.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE.

The problem of the industrious, law-abiding man or woman who wants work and is unable to get it, is one of the gravest and most perplexing problems confronting and challenging our modern, highly organized, minutely specialized, industrial civilization.

The inherent difficulties of the problem are suggested when we try to differentiate between the industrious, good citizen, who is willing to work, but can not find employment, and the habitual and incurable waster, drifter, and unemployable, who thinks the world, by which he means the industrious and frugal portion of the population, owes him a living.

Nevertheless, the time has come when society, represented by government, can no longer shirk or postpone a vigorous, continued, determined, effort to solve the problem of unemployment. To that task California, in common with the other States and the Federal Government, must devote itself, undaunted by the difficulties.

Numerous unemployment insurance bills have been introduced in the Legislatures of the various States in the past year or two, and 35 such bills were introduced in the last session of Congress.

Thus far, Wisconsin is the only State in which unemployment insurance legislation has been enacted, and as the Wisconsin statute has been in effect only since July 1, 1934, that State is not in a position to aid other States through her experience. Many informed persons question whether the Wisconsin Plan of Unemployment Insurance will accomplish what every well devised plan of unemployment insurance should accomplish. The Wisconsin Plan provides for the creation of a reserve by contributions from a single employer, a group of employers, or an entire industry, but the liability of the group contributing to the fund is limited to the amount of money in the reserve. When the fund is exhausted, the liability ceases. Thus the fund can not become insolvent, but it avoids insolvency by the simple expedient of shutting off liability to support the unemployed.

England has had an insurance act since 1911 and Germany since 1927. Both were swamped by the exigencies of the depression, which upset all calculations, and both have had to seek special subsidies from tax money and have therefore become systems of unemployment relief rather than unemployment insurance based on insurance principles.

In the United States, in addition to the Wisconsin experiment, several large private corporations have adopted plans of unemployment insurance for their own employees. Other and untried plans are being advocated. It is not necessary here to discuss those various plans. My purpose in this statement is to emphasize the urgent need of some practicable plan of relief.

THE TOWNSEND OLD AGE PENSION PLAN.

Formulation of an old age pension law, generally applicable throughout the Nation and representing the joint responsibility of the Federal Government and the several States, will remove the menace of want and destitution from the lives of hundreds of thousands of men and women.

There are many plans for accomplishing this highly desirable result, among them the so-called Townsend Plan, originated by a citizen of California and now formally brought before the Congress of the United States in the form of proposed legislation introduced in the House of Representatives.

The Townsend Plan has attracted the attention and inspired the eager hopes of many thousands of our citizens throughout the Nation. Old age pensions have been recommended by the major political parties of California to the careful attention of the Federal Government.

It is my recommendation that the California Legislature memorialize the Congress, urging a full investigation and study of this plan with a view to its possible adaptation to the Federal old age benefits plan.

SHORTER WORK WEEK.

No permanent and satisfactory adjustment of our long-range unemployment problem can be accomplished until we discover an equitable and economic plan for reducing the total number of hours the average worker shall be required to labor in any one day or any one week in return for a living wage.

On this subject, the Republican Party Platform adopted in State convention at Sacramento on September 20, 1934, said:

> "That as an aid to and in assistance of the greater dissemination of work among the greatest number of people, thereby relieving unemployment and aiding economic recovery, the Congress of the United States is respectfully and earnestly requested and urged to enact laws providing for a shorter working week and day, namely, a thirty-hour week and a six-hour day."

The Democratic Party's State Platform, adopted in State convention on September 20, 1934, announced:

> "We declare in favor of the five-day week and six-hour day without corresponding reduction in wages."

The two major political parties are thus shown to be in close harmony on this vitally important subject, which is in no sense political, but is related to the basic influences of our economic future

It is improbable that absolute uniformity of working hours in all lines of business and industry can readily be achieved, but this should be our goal and the thirty-hour week should be the basis for which we should strive. The accomplishments of such a result should enlist the active cooperation of the State, the employers and the workers.

ALL HIGHWAYS IN STATE SYSTEM.

Since 1912, when the State of California began its highway-building program, good roads have played an increasingly important part in the progress and development of the State. Many millions of dollars have been expended on our highways by the State and county governments and our great highway system is described by the United States Bureau of Public Roads at this time as second to none in the Nation.

It should be our purpose, therefore, not only to maintain the high road-building and maintenance standards of the past, but to seek every avenue for greater efficiency and improvement.

To this end I recommend abandonment of the existing dual system of State and county roads, and the inclusion of all highways into a single State system, whereby greater economy in construction and maintenance may be assured.

The present sources of revenue for construction and maintenance of highways include the gasoline tax and motor vehicle registration fees, augmented in many counties by taxes on real property.

Under provisions of a program calling for exclusive construction and maintenance of highways by the State, counties will be relieved of the necessity for levying property taxes for road purposes and, through the elimination of 58 separate county road departments, millions of dollars annually will be saved to the taxpayers.

There is no economic justification of this vast duplicating system operated by the counties, and from a service standpoint, the benefits to be obtained from the centralized and coordinated control of the State are almost incalculable.

The actual savings to the taxpayers in the various counties will represent a large sum, as is indicated by the fact that for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1934, such road taxes collected in the counties reached a total of approximately $3,000,000 00

Furthermore, it is evident that a larger percentage of State highway revenues must be expended in the cities and towns of the State in the interest of the people as a whole and of the traveling public.

It is, therefore, recommended that legislation be enacted whereby, first, all county roads shall be constituted State highways, and, second, that the amount now required by law to be expended in cities by the Department of Public Works, out of the State highway fund, shall be doubled.

If approved, this would mean that the cities, instead of receiving ¼-cent from the gasoline tax fund, will be allocated ½-cent from this fund

The policy of opposition to any diversion of highway revenues to any use other than that for which such funds are raised should be continued and protected. This principle, which has received indorsement by vote of the people of California, also is upheld by the Congress of the United States, which has provided, in an act approved by the President on June 18, 1934, that any State which shall divert such taxes to uses other than construction and maintenance of highways shall be deprived of not less than one-third of its apportionment of Federal road-aid funds.

THE STATE'S MINERAL RESOURCES.

Wherever California's agricultural land stops, her mineral resources begin. Our deserts are rich in chemicals, our arid hills and plains are underlain with oil, and the foothills of our Sierras define the greatest established gold-bearing zone in the world. Every encouragement should be given to the exploration and conservation of these mineral resources, of benefit to no one so long as they lie buried, but which, upon development, furnish employment, and stimulate demand for power, transportation, supplies, machinery, and farm products.

In this connection, I wish especially to mention our gold industry. Owing to international concern in the metal, the basis of finance and credit in times of peace, and often the determining factor in war, California's increased gold production is of world-wide interest.

Gold mining, which has played so large a part in the history of the State, merits all the encouragement that the State government can give it.

THE OIL INDUSTRY.

Hundreds of thousands of our people are dependent on the oil industry for employment, for income from investments, or royalties from lands. Virtually everybody is a consumer of the products of this industry The importance of petroleum and its derivatives to our modern civilization, their value as a safeguard to the Nation in time of war, and as a means of holding our commercial supremacy can not be exaggerated.

It is estimated that approximately 9,000,000,000 barrels or three-fourths of our recoverable oil reserves, must be produced from some 300,000 small wells by pumping and that this three-fourths of our proven reserve is in danger on account of the inability of the owners of these small wells to market their oil in competition with that produced from flowing wells.

Low-cost flowing oil can be brought to the surface and dumped on the market, thereby forcing the shut-down and abandonment of the small wells with higher production costs, with a resultant loss of employment, loss to the owners of the land, loss of revenue to the various units of government, and loss to the Nation of an irreplacable resource of enormous economic value.

The taxes paid by the oil industry in California to the Federal, State and local governments exceed $5,000,000 per month.

Regulation of crude oil production by governmental authority is necessary to prevent waste of our oil reserves. For several years we have had comparatively successful regulation of oil production in this State by voluntary agreement within the industry. But this is not sufficient. We should cooperate with the other oil-producing States and the Federal Government in order to protect California's oil industry from the evils attendant upon excessive production and ruinous competition.

AGRICULTURE.

The last two years have shown some improvement in prices received by producers of California crops, but prices are still below a fair normal return for most of our agricultural products. Restoration of normal prices for such products would be reflected in the increased purchasing power of farmers, with a consequent speeding up of many other forms of industry.

Everything possible should be done by the Legislature and the State government to encourage producing farmers and to restore the normal income of this basic industry. Laws having a practical application to the farmers' problems should be enacted in aid of the more efficient and profitable production, transportation and marketing of crops.

At the same time there should be no impairment of the valuable and multitudinous services rendered to the farmer, the dairyman, and the horticulturist, such as quarantine service, pest control, the program for wiping out bovine tuberculosis, and other governmental activities administered in the farmers' interest.

It is recommended that the Senate and Assembly committees having as their special concern the problems and needs of the State's agriculture scrutinize Federal legislation enacted by Congress in aid of the farmer and base any additional or supplementary State laws on the Federal enactments.

This will assure cooperation between the National and State governments and enable California to benefit from any special advantages offered by the Federal farm program.

EXTENSION OF DEBT RELIEF LEGISLATION.

It is recommended that the temporary relief to taxpayers and certain classes of debtors afforded by the special legislative session last September be extended as a further measure of protection for those unable to meet their financial obligations at this time.

Conditions which prompted such relief measures have not improved to an extent that would justify suspension of such emergency enactments as those providing for the extension of periods of redemption, reduction of penalties, and postponement of times of sale, resale, and execution of deeds in respect to delinquent State, county and irrigation district taxes and assessments on real property.

Necessity also demands an extension of various emergency legislative acts adopted for the purpose of aiding other hard-pressed debtors, including a moratorium on defaults on contracts of purchase and on the foreclosure of mortgages and deeds of trust, and on the sale under power of sale contained in mortgages or deeds of trust executed upon real property.

The Legislature will have ample time to give these important problems such consideration and attention as may be requisite to the adoption of a more comprehensive plan for the relief of those individuals and groups in our citizenship requiring the solicitous and helpful care of the State government.

CALIFORNIA PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION.

In keeping with the ability of the State of California to participate, it is recommended that the Legislature cooperate with and aid those in charge of the California Pacific International Exposition, which is scheduled to open in San Diego on May 29 of this year.

Sponsored by the civic and business leaders of the State, and actively supported by the enterprising citizens of San Diego, this nonprofit undertaking will seek to stimulate recovery in the west by attracting to its exhibits residents from all sections of the country and from abroad.

California joins with the people of San Diego in inviting a host of visitors to this exhibit of modern invention, art, and industry.

CONCLUSION.

This budget is offered with no pride of opinion concerning any item. Neither have I advanced my views on other subjects relating to the State government and the welfare of the people with any arbitrary thought or purpose. Our difficulties are great, and there is no simple or easy way to meet them. There may be better solutions of some of our fiscal and social problems than I have been able to present. But I have given to the task long and anxious days, and I feel that the budget recommendations are fair and practical, and, if approved, will enable the State government to carry on through the next biennium on a business basis.

In formulating the budget I have adhered to certain principles which seem to me not only sound, but in present circumstances, imperative. Severe economy must be practiced to the point where further economy would be injurious to the public interest. But the necessary appropriations and expenditures should be balanced by income.

Taxes from new sources should be distributed so that all shall bear some portion of the burden, but those best able to pay should carry a greater portion of the load.

If you disagree with me respecting any revenue item, I shall be glad to discuss its merits with you, but if the Legislature should decide to eliminate or modify any revenue item, then the responsibility will be on you to provide an equal amount of revenue from another source or to eliminate an equal item of expense.

If you should add expense items, it will be necessary for the Legislature to provide the money wherewith they shall be met.

The task of solving these questions is yours as well as mine and I certainly claim no monopoly of knowledge or wisdom. In this spirit, and with this reminder of the restrictions imposed by the simple arithmetic of the situation I confide this budget to your consideration.

Submitted this twenty-second day of January, 1935.

FRANK F. MERRIAM, Governor of California.

COMMUNICATION.

The following communication was received, and ordered printed in the Journal.

STATE BOARD OF EQUALIZATION, STATE OF CALIFORNIA,
SACRAMENTO, January 23, 1935.

Hon. Arthur A. Ohnimus, Chief Clerk of the Assembly,
State Capitol, Sacramento, California.

DEAR MR. OHNIMUS: Pursuant to Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 13, I have the honor to transmit a statement prepared by the State Board of Equalization showing the approximate valuation of utility properties in the State of California, based upon operative roll assessments of 1934.

This statement is supplemented by tabulations showing this information in such detail as we think may prove of value to the members of the Legislature for the purposes indicated in the resolution

A similar letter and enclosure are being sent to Honorable Joseph A. Beek, Secretary of the Senate.

Very truly yours,

DIXWELL L. PIERCE, Secretary.

REPORT BY STATE BOARD OF EQUALIZATION PURSUANT TO ASSEMBLY CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NUMBER THIRTEEN.

AVAILABILITY OF INFORMATION.

In order to carry out the duties imposed upon it, pursuant to section 14 of Article XIII of the Constitution and of sections 3663a and 3663b of the Political Code, the State Board of Equalization created a division in its organization designated the Valuation Division, which division is, at present, diligently engaged in assembling the necessary information and data to enable the board to make the required assessments annually beginning in 1935.

This information and data, however, are not yet complete, nor will it be until about June 1, 1935. Accordingly, it is impossible at this date for the State Board of Equalization to furnish the Legislature with a statement of the valuation of utility property based upon its own independent studies and conclusions. Recourse, therefore, must be had to certain other information which is in the possession of the board, and the following report is based upon such information. A statement of the information used and the value of utility property based thereon follows.

TABLE I.

Column 1. A statement showing the actual assessment in 1934 of those classes of operative property, which beginning in 1935 are to be assessed by the board and placed upon local tax rolls. The material under this heading has been compiled from the operative assessment rolls for 1934 submitted by the respective county assessors, pursuant to the provisions of section 3665c of the Political Code, together with the assessments made by the State Board of Equalization for roadways, roadbeds, rails and rolling stock of intercounty railroads, pursuant to the provisions of section 3670c of the Political Code.

Column 2. A statement showing the assessment of nonoperative property as assessed by local county assessors and as equalized by local county boards of equalization as reported by county auditors, pursuant to the provisions of section 2728 of the Political Code.

Column 3. The total of Column 1 and Column 2.

TABLE II.

Column 1. The assessed values as reported by the local county assessors contained in Table I, Column 1, have been converted to an estimated true value by the application of the ratios of assessed value to true value, as found by the State Board of Equalization on December 3, 1934, pursuant to the provisions of section 11, Chapter 642, Statutes of 1931, as amended by Chapter 757, Statutes of 1933, to which has been added the value of that portion of intercounty railroad property assessed by the State Board of Equalization.

Column 2. Shows the estimated true value of nonoperative property obtained by applying the assessment ratios above referred to, to the total assessments of nonoperative property as set forth in Column 2 of Table I.

Column 3. Is the estimated true value of both classes of property arrived at by the addition of Column 1 and Column 2.

Column 4. Shows the proportion that the operative property (column 1) bears to the nonoperative property (column 2) expressed in per cent.

The total true value of operative property to be placed upon local tax rolls as developed in Column 1 of Table II amounts to $1,280,852,026, this figure being as of March 2, 1934.

The total value of operative property as found by the Tax Research Bureau in its report to the Legislature dated December 1, 1932, amounted to $1,920,945,000. This figure was as of December 31, 1931.

The difference between these two figures would appear to arise from four principal causes:

A. The inclusion of the value of franchises in the figure reported by the Tax Research Bureau, which value is excluded from the amount arrived at based on the operative roll of 1934.

Franchises were excluded from the analysis of the operative roll for the reason that the franchises are especially excluded from the property to be assessed by the State Board of Equalization.

B. The inclusion of the value of other intangibles in the figure reported by the Tax Research Bureau, which value is excluded from the amount determined on the basis of the 1934 operative roll.

Intangibles were excluded from the analysis of the operative roll, and likewise from nonoperative property values, for the reason that intangibles are subject to special low rates of taxation and are not available as a part of the general property tax base.

C. The two figures are not of the same date, and it is possible that there has been a material change in values since December 31, 1931.

D. The two totals are based upon figures which represent the judgment of different groups of individuals and, therefore, may not reflect exactly the same judgment as to value.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION No. 7.

Relative to authorizing the Governor to appoint a representative to confer with the representative of other oil-producing States and the United States.

WHEREAS, A subcommittee of the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, acting pursuant to H. Res. 441, Seventy-third Congress, has recommended to the Congress that the enactment of Federal legislation for regulation of the oil industry be withheld temporarily to give an opportunity for the oil-producing States to effect an interstate agreement for the conservation of oil and stabilization of production thereof; and

WHEREAS, It is preferable that the States, through the exercise of their police powers in cooperation with each other and the Federal government, shall meet this problem rather than surrender their sovereign function in favor of centralized Federal control.

Resolved, by the Senate and the Assembly of the State of California, jointly, That the Legislature of the State of California does hereby authorize the Governor to appoint a representative to meet with representatives of the Governors of other petroleum-producing States, and the United States, for the purpose of formulating a compact among such States effecting the following objectives:

(a) Establishment of a Joint State and Federal Fact-Finding Agency to consist of one representative of each compacting State appointed by the Governor and one representative of the United States as Congress or the President shall direct. Said agency shall make periodic findings, of the demand for petroleum to be produced within the United States or withdrawals from storage, and for petroleum and products thereof to be imported.

(b) Voluntary regulation of production by each compacting State within its own borders in accordance with said determination of the Joint Fact-Finding Agency, to the extent that and in such manner as the laws of each State may authorize.

(c) Formulation by the joint agency of Uniform Conservation Measures and Tax Laws which it shall recommend to the compacting States

No compact made under the authority of this act shall bind this State unless and until:

(a) Said compact shall be ratified by the Legislature of this State, and Congress shall consent thereto.

(b) Congress shall make provision for the limitation of importations of petroleum and the products thereof, including natural asphalt.

(c) Congress shall provide for the control of interstate movements of petroleum produced or withdrawn from storage in violation of the compact or of the laws and valid regulations of the several States, and products of such petroleum.

(d) Any act of the Legislature of the State of California approving said compact shall likewise provide for its administration, and shall include in the provisions for the administration of the compact the creation of a commission to administer the compact, which commission shall be fairly representative of the various interests of the oil industry, with due provision for the protection of the public interest.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS,
SACRAMENTO, January 4, 1935.

To the Honorable Members of the State Legislature of California, Session of 1935.

Pursuant to the provisions of Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 49 (Chapter 88, Statutes of 1931), directing the Department of Public Works to investigate the possibilities of taking over the Muir Woods Toll Road, Marin County, California, or building a State highway into the National park, maintained by the United States government, and to report its findings to the 1935 Session of the Legislature, I have the honor to transmit to you, in the accompanying report, the results of such study.

Yours very truly,

EARL LEE KELLY, Director of Public Works.

REPORT ON MUIR WOODS TOLL ROAD, MARIN COUNTY, CALIFORNIA, DECEMBER, 1934.

At the last session of the State Legislature was passed Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 49, reading as follows:

"WHEREAS, The United States Government maintains the Muir Woods in Marin County as a National park; and

"WHEREAS, Thousands of the citizens of the State of California and of other States visit said park annually; and

"WHEREAS, The only highway leading to and from said park is privately owned and is a toll road; and

"WHEREAS, The existence of a toll road is of great inconvenience to the people of the State of California and tends to deprive great numbers of people from the advantages of the park maintained by the Federal government; now, therefore, be it

"Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, the Senate thereof concurring, That the Department of Public Works be and it is hereby requested to investigate the possibilities of taking over said toll road or building a State highway into said part, and to report its findings to the 1935 Session of the Legislature."

In accordance with the above an investigation and study were made and the following report is prepared for consideration and further action.

The Muir Woods National Monument is a beautiful stand of virgin redwood timber of high scenic value. It comprises an area of approximately 426 acres, originally included in the monument proper, to which a subsequent addition of 29.25 acres was secured by the monument to prevent encroachment of unsightly developments by commercial exploitation. It is situated in the basin of and on the slope of Redwood Creek, west of a divide that runs southerly from Mt. Tamalpais. Its location is indicated on the attached map, marked in orange, west of Mill Valley on the Marin Peninsula.

The monument lies in an area of Marin County removed from main traveled highways. Present highway access to the monument is provided by a toll road, owned and operated by the Muir Woods Toll Road Company. The easterly end of the toll road joins a county road that extends southeasterly from Mill Valley. This toll road terminus is on a point of the aforesaid county road on the ridge 0.9 mile north of a road from Manzanita across the Marin Peninsula to the coast, now being maintained as State Highway Route 56. The east entrance to the toll road is accordingly approached by using the road from Manzanita to approximately the summit of the Marin Peninsula and thence by county road northerly for 0.9 mile, or by an alternative and more circuitous route by way of Mill Valley and a minor standard road ascending to the ridge therefrom.

From the above mentioned east terminus of the toll road the latter descends rapidly to the southeast corner of the Muir Woods National Monument in a distance of 1.8 miles. The road has steep grades, ranging from 8 per cent to 11 per cent, with very sharp curvature. Roadway width averages 18 feet and its alignment closely follows the contour of ridges in descending to the floor of Frank Valley.

Another section of toll road descends southwesterly from the monument, following Frank Canyon for a distance of approximately 2.7 miles to a connection with said State Route 56 at a point where the latter approaches close to the coast from its descent from the ridge that divides the Marin Peninsula. The west leg of the toll road on the floor of Frank Valley is on rather poor alignment but on light grades. It also averages 18-foot width.

The toll road, comprising the two above sections aggregating 4.5 miles in length, came under the jurisdiction of the Muir Woods Toll Road Company in 1926 through the efforts of the William Kent interests, who still control it. It was built primarily to furnish highway facilities to the Muir Woods Monument by improving an existing road which was not traversable by automobile. The toll road company made this road improvement approximately on the location of the existing road. It is estimated that about 50,000 cubic yards of material were removed in widening and constructing the former road on the east leg thereof, and approximately 25,000 cubic yards of material were removed on the western section in Frank Canyon. The road was earth graded and at present but a few sections have been lightly surfaced with local material. There are a few minor structures for drainage, consisting mostly of timber type, and at the present time in poor condition.

In its present location, shown on the map in yellow, the toll road is not considered a suitable location on which improvements could be made that would render it satisfactory for any considerable period of time or for that volume of traffic which would induce serious consideration for improvement of the road. Particularly on the east toll road entrance the sharp alignment, steep gradients, narrow roadway width and general low type of improvement make the location not adaptable to higher standards. It would be necessary to construct on a new location to obtain adequate standards. The east approach road to the monument constitutes the routing leading most directly from the points of origin of the majority of travel to the monument.

The west section of the toll road in Frank Canyon is susceptible to improvement because the sharp alignment could be rectified on gradients that are not excessive. This west section, however, has its terminus on the State highway near the coast and to use it traffic must negotiate the entire length of the State maintained route from Manzanita across the Marin Peninsula, a road section which in itself would require much improvement prior to and to be consistent with improvement of an approach to the Muir Woods National Monument.

The entire toll road could be made more safe for traffic by widening in the nature of minor improvements. It would be necessary to replace old timber structures and to oil surface the roadbed. Such improvements might be accomplished on the present road with an expenditure of approximately $25,000. The general character of the road would not be materially changed by this procedure.

To construct a highway on better standards to the present point of contact at the Muir Woods National Monument would require a new location. A feasible location has been indicated on the map in dotted green line. The projected location departs from Manzanita Highway on the ridge near the point of departure of the present county road approach to the east toll gate. The location would descend on maximum 6 per cent grade northerly to the floor of Frank Valley near the southeast corner of the monument: It would be 1.9 miles in length. Alignment would necessarily be on curvature requiring 200-foot minimum radius curves in the gulches. The cost of constructing such a road would be approximately $150,000, which includes grading for a 36-foot roadway and a bituminous type surfacing 22 feet in width.

From observation of the map it will be noted that the existing toll road and the suggestion for a location on modern standards serve as an entrance to one extreme corner of the Muir Woods National Monument. Before considering the expenditure of the considerable sum necessary to provide an adequate highway for the sole purpose of reaching one point on the monument, or of acquiring the existing toll road of inferior standards and inherent disadvantages for continued maintenance thereof, it would be advisable to study roadways in relation to the scenic area in the vicinity of the National monument.

North of the monument lies a considerable area of State park and north of the latter lies a wide area surrounding Mt. Tamalpais. The ultimate creation of a large recreational area or park would include much of the mountain area contiguous to Mt. Tamalpais, which has a beautiful growth of redwood, fir and other species of native trees. The wooded areas accessible from and the panoramic views that are obtained from the summit and ridges offer recreational advantages of an area close to San Francisco and the bay cities. With the construction of the Golden Gate Bridge, the demand for developing adequate highway through this area will increase and will not be satisfied with access only to the National monument.

With the above in mind it would be possible to construct a highway approach to the monument which would provide access to both the State park and to the monument and could be eventually extended to serve a wider area. On this suggestion a routing has been indicated in heavy green line, a road starting from the Manzanita Highway as on the present county road that approaches the east toll road entrance from the south. This highway would continue northwesterly along the ridge north of the east toll road entrance to a point near the northeast corner of the State park land. Thence it is projected to descend through the State park to a site which could be used as its general terminal, central to points of interest in Muir Woods National Monument and in the State park. It is estimated that such a road, with a length of approximately 3.75 miles, could be built on a standard 36-foot graded width with 22 feet bituminous surfacing at approximately $185,000. The estimated cost is $35,000 in excess of that required to construct the previously described road direct to the floor of Frank Valley at the southerly tip of the Muir Woods National Monument.

The accompanying map shows the relation of the alternative highway to the existing county road from Mill Valley across the Marin Peninsula to Stinson Beach. There is also shown the location of the toll road known as the Ridgecrest Toll Road, which connects with the Mill Valley-Stinson Beach County Road on the south and with the Bolinas Bay-Fairfax County Road on the north. One leg of the toll road ascends to the summit of Mt. Tamalpais.

The investigation of practical roads to the Muir Woods National Monument naturally lead to considerations of a more comprehensive nature. The facts developed are:

1. The Muir Woods Toll Road has relatively small value as a permanent facility and would not be adaptable to other than minor improvements.

2. The Muir Woods Toll Road serves only as an approach to an extreme corner of the National monument. Construction of a modern highway on new location, intended for the same purpose, would cost approximately $150,000.

3. An alternative location of high scenic value and serving a greater area of State park and Muir Woods National Monument can be constructed for approximately $185,000. The alternative route would be adaptable to extension through a wider recreational area.

4. Available records show that within the last six years visitors to the National monument have decreased 50 per cent. The maximum number of visitors occurred in 1928, when 103,000 visited the monument, approximately 50 per cent being hikers, approximately 20 per cent came by the cog train then operating, and approximately 30 per cent by passenger cars and stages. At the present time approximately 50,000 visit the park annually, of which about 13 000 enter by automobile and about 37,000 are hikers.

5. At the present time approximately 4000 to 5000 vehicles utilize the toll road annually. Removal of the toll, 50 cents per car and 15 cents per passenger, would induce an increase in traffic over the available road facility but require a considerable betterment thereof and considerable annual maintenance. Betterment, limited by the inherent deficiencies in the existing location, would be a temporary and not wholly adequate or safe expedient

6. A satisfactory approach road requires new construction on new location. To provide a new approach road to the monument will cost $150 000 to $185,000. The projected new approach roads to serve in lieu of the toll road are predicated upon forming connection to State Highway Route 56 as now maintained from Manzanita across the Marin Peninsula. It would be inconsistent to plan construction on the monument road until the State highway route providing access thereto is brought to better standard. State Highway Route 56 may be subject to relocation or rerouting which would alter present suggestions for coordinating the monument approach road therewith. Until routing and location of Route 56 is permanently defined it would be inadvisable to determine upon location and construction of a new monument road.

The conclusion reached is that, under the above circumstances, the State would not be justified in taking over the present low standard toll road for temporary use or in adopting and constructing a permanent type of approach road before permanent routing and location of State Highway Route 56 is established and consistent improvement is made on this State route

Assembly Joint Resolution No. 29 ordered transmitted to the Senate.

ASSEMBLY JOINT RESOLUTION No. 29.

Relative to fostering and protecting grape and wine industries.

WHEREAS, The grape and wine industries provide a livelihood for upwards of 150,000 persons, comprising grape growers, winery workers and their dependents, in California, in addition to many thousands in other States and in addition to many thousands employed in various allied industries in this State and elsewhere; and

WHEREAS, These industries, after fifteen years of compulsory stagnation due to the Prohibition Laws, are now again in a position to recover their losses and to contribute greatly to the public welfare, because the industries above named already comprise the second largest agricultural pursuit in California, within excess of 500,000 acres of vineyards and 654 wineries in active operation, altogether representing an investment exceeding $420,000,000; and

WHEREAS, The increasing use of wine as an article of food in certain major consuming centers, including California, offers the most promising available means of increasing the prosperity and speeding the agricultural, industrial and business recovery of this State and also holds promise of developing the grape and wine industries into the greatest industries of California; and

WHEREAS, The principal obstacle now delaying the extensive development, and, in fact, seriously hampering the present recovery of these industries is the blocking of the wine distribution channels in many parts of the Nation by certain types of excessive taxation, excessive licensing and regulatory restrictions, which obstacle is created almost entirely by the widely prevalent misunderstanding of the true function of wine, which is in fact an integral part of the diet, entitled to be classified and treated as a food rather than as a liquor; and

WHEREAS, Such obstacles to wine distribution act to increase the cost of wine beyond the average family's food budget and also to prevent the product from being made conveniently available for use in the home, therefore working a discrimination against consumers of ordinary means by placing wine in a luxury class in which it is available only to a wealthy few; and

WHEREAS, The experience of the State of California, which has during the past year received in excess of $250,000 in revenue from a reasonable tax on wine, has demonstrated that a reasonable tax upon wine can return a larger net revenue to a taxing unit than can be obtained from an excessive tax which hampers distribution; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly and Senate of the State of California, jointly. That the Legislature of the State of California respectfully urges the President and Congress of the United States and California's Senators and Representatives in Congress to do all in the their power to remove all unwarranted obstacles to wine distribution, so that the recovery and the Nation-wide growth of the grape and wine industry may be encouraged in this State as well as in other States and so that consumers of average means may be enabled to obtain wine conveniently and at reasonable prices within the family food budget; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the President of the United States, the Vice President, the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States and to California's Senators and Representatives in Congress.

REPORT OF THE CALIFORNIA CODE COMMISSION FOR THE YEARS 1933–1934.

I—PREVIOUS REPORTS.

1. Report 1930 (submitted at the legislative session of 1931).

The California Code Commission, appointed in January, 1930, submitted its first report in December of that year presenting:

(1) A plan for the consolidation and revision of all the laws of the State, to be arranged alphabetically by subjects. These subjects or titles, as they were tentatively recommended, numbered 33.

(2) A bill to complete a revision of the law on one of these subjects, the Probate Code.

(3) A Statutory Record, showing the status and disposition of every act and of every section of every act adopted in California, so far as expressly affected by subsequent legislation.

At the legislative session of 1931, the Probate Code bill was adopted, the Statutory Record ordered printed, an appropriation of $45,000 made for the continuation of the work, and the commission directed to proceed with the plan and to report to the Legislature in 1933.

2. Report 1933 (submitted at the legislative session of 1933).

Upon the new appropriation being available in August, 1931, the commission resumed its work and submitted its second report January 9, 1933, presenting:

(1) A Statutory Record completed to include 1931 legislation, checked against the official session laws and delivered to the State Printer for publication with the cumulative supplement to the Index to the Laws of California.

(2) A compilation of the latest amended forms of each act of the Legislature not expressly repealed or superseded, on the basis of the completed Statutory Record and revised list of subject codes, compiled from the official session laws, classified and allocated.

(3) A list of statutes declared unconstitutional or impliedly repealed, and source notes compiled and recorded.

(4) A Fish and Game Code, an Agricultural Code, a District Organization Act, and changes in the Code of Civil Procedure, in bill form, recommended for adoption by the Legislature and approval by the Governor.

(5) A Military Code and a Vehicle Code. (For recommendations on these two codes see report of commission, submitted January 9, 1933, at page 14.)

(6) A report of progress made in the preparation of the Insurance Code and the Streets and Highways Code.

(7) An amendment to section 24 of Article IV of the State Constitution, relating to the titles and subjects of revision laws recommended for adoption by the Legislature.

(8) A recommendation of the commission (in addition to those above noted) that the Legislature indicate a definite policy in reference to publication of the codes and that a Code Commission be continued with an adequate appropriation to pursue the plan of revision.

At the legislative session of 1933 the Fish and Game Code Bill, the Agricultural Code Bill, the Military Code Bill, the District Organization Act Bill and the bills setting out changes in the Code of Civil Procedure were adopted and the commission was directed to proceed with its plan of revision and codification and to report to the Legislature in 1935. (Act creating commission, as amended, set forth as Appendix A.)

II—ORGANIZATION FOR 1933–1935.

Upon the new appropriation becoming available in August, 1933, the commission resumed its work with the following membership:

Charles A. Beardsley, Oakland.
Don G. Bowker, Los Angeles.
Perry Evans, San Francisco.
Gerald H. Hagar, Oakland.
William G. Hale, Los Angeles.
A. M. Kidd, Berkeley.
William B. Owens, Stanford University.
Thomas C. Ridgway, Los Angeles.
Charles D. Swanner, Santa Ana.

Charles D. Swanner has resigned and has been succeeded by:

Norris Montgomery, Santa Barbara.

Thomas C. Ridgway, Perry Evans and Fred B. Wood, Legislative Counsel, were continued as chairman, vice chairman and secretary, respectively, and William G. Hale elected a vice chairman of the commission.

III—STATEMENT OF WORK DONE.

With the major part of the foundation work, the so-called "mechanics" of the revision, such as the Statutory Record, compilation, classification and allocation of statutes, completed, and with only minor details remaining plus the necessary labor to keep the foundation work up to date, the commission devoted itself to the remaining step, in accordance with its plan of revision and codification of all the laws of the State, namely the actual drafting of the remaining codes.

The commission in its work of revision and codification has adopted a definite policy not to make substantive changes, but to confine its work to a compilation, consolidation, and clarification of the existing law. Such changes in wording as are made, are made to resolve ambiguities or to conform with administrative practice and legislative intent. The revision and codification will present the existing law in such form as to facilitate greatly the making of such substantive changes as are found to be necessary.

In August, 1933, when the appropriation for the continuation of the work became available, the commission selected the following codes for consideration:

Vehicle Code.
Insurance Code.
Streets and Highways Code.
Military Code.
Labor Code.
Elections Code.
Natural Resources Code.
Parks, Museums, and Public Monuments Code.
Health and Safety Code.
Business and Professional Regulations Code.
Social Welfare Code.
Harbors and Navigation Code.
Code of Civil Procedure.
Penal Code.

The Vehicle Code, Insurance Code, Military Code, and Division I and Division II of the Streets and Highways Code have been completed. These have been prepared in bill form and are recommended for adoption at the 1935 session of the Legislature. On the remaining codes substantial progress has been made, but the commission feels further work should be done upon them and will delay submitting them until the 1937 session of the Legislature. The commission plans to make further reports thereon to the Legislature at the 1935 session.

The preliminary drafting of the codes is done by a staff of statute revisers, one code being assigned to each reviser. The subject matter of each code is first arranged into divisions, parts, chapters, articles and sections, work which is fully as important as the work of allocating the laws to the various codes. Each draft as it is prepared by the reviser is examined and checked by an editor on the staff and is then submitted to a special subcommittee, composed of members of the commission, for consideration and approval.

The commission has deemed it of the utmost importance to receive from interested "experts in the field" criticism and suggestion on each code during the course of its preparation. A conference group for each code, composed of such persons, is organized, and mimeographed copies of the code as it is prepared are submitted to them. Conferences are periodically held with the group and the subcommittee of the commission and the draftsman and editor of the code. When completed each code is submitted to the commission as a whole for final consideration and approval

Each code is then printed together with notes and cross-reference tables and distributed to all members of the Legislature and to all other interested persons for criticism and suggestions.

In 1931 an appropriation of $45,000 was made from the general fund for the work of the commission in 1933, but approximately one-half of this amount was appropriated ($25,500), only $10,000 of which was from the general fund To augment this appropriation the commission was authorized to contract with State agencies for the revision and codification of laws, in which they might be particularly interested to form a part of the general plan of revision and codification, and the commission was also authorized to accept donations of money.

No donations were received. Only one contract was entered into, that being with the Department of Public Works for the revision and codification of the laws relating to State highways for inclusion in the Streets and Highways Code.

1. Vehicle Code

Pursuant to a resolution adopted at the 1931 session of the Legislature (Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 37) a legislative committee was appointed to revise the California Vehicle Act In response to the request of the chairman of the committee, the commission assisted in this revision, providing a draftsman from its staff and a subcommittee of its membership The legislative committee appointed an advisory committee of representatives of the automotive industry and other interested parties to consider and propose substantive changes in the law relating to motor vehicles which were incorporated in the Vehicle Code Bill introduced at the 1933 session (Assembly Bill 674).

The Vehicle Code bill so presented was not a Code Commission bill revising and codifying the law relating to this subject, but contained many substantive changes The commission in its report submitted January 9, 1933 (p. 14) stated that "The proposed Vehicle Code, to be submitted by the legislative committee, is recommended by the commission as to form and draftsmanship."

Assembly Bill 674 passed the Assembly but was referred by the Senate to the Code Commission, with the direction to note all substantive changes and to report thereon to the Senate (Senate Daily Journal for May 12, 1933, at page 111.) The report was published, and presented to the Senate in July, 1933. No action was taken by the Senate on this report at that time.

The commission, on the basis of its report and as the result of further study, has prepared a new draft of the Vehicle Code, incorporating the existing law without substantive change. This draft was printed and distributed May 10, 1934, together with explanatory notes and cross-reference tables. It has been thoroughly examined by all interested persons and many suggestions have been received. Such of these suggestions as are designed to eliminate possible substantive changes or to improve the form and draftsmanship have been incorporated in the bill submitting the Vehicle Code to the 1935 session of the Legislature.

This code has been carefully prepared, has had the benefit of wide distribution and the consideration and comment of all interested persons, and the commission recommends its adoption.

The commission has assisted the legislative advisory committee, among others, in the preparation of separate bills to amend the Vehicle Code. The commission, however, makes no recommendation concerning the substantive changes proposed by those separate amendatory bills

The Vehicle Code, originally entitled Vehicles and Aircraft Code, has been renamed and the laws relating to aircraft are no longer included in it.

2. Insurance Code.

This code revises and codifies all of the laws of this State relating to the subject of insurance. It includes the substance of 359 sections taken from the Political, Penal and Civil Codes, a portion of two sections of the Code of Civil Procedure and in addition portions of 46 general laws. All laws thus revised and codified will be repealed in a schedule of repeals which constitutes Division IV of the code.

The code consists of four main divisions. A number of sections governing the construction of all four divisions are included as general provisions inserted before Division I.

Division I contains the rules governing insurance generally. Division II contains the rules governing particular classes of insurance. Division III contains the rules governing the office and duties of the Insurance Commissioner.

This code embodies a very technical and involved body of law At the inception of the work on it a conference group, composed of organizations representing the insurance agents, insurance brokers, reciprocal insurers, mutual insurers, and stock insurers, the Insurance Commissioner and the Attorney General was formed, and the comments and suggestions of this group have proven to be invaluable Without this the commission would not have the assurance which it has in recommending this code for adoption.

The proposed code, together with cross-reference tables and explanatory notes was printed September 20, 1934, and widely distributed and further suggestions received; such of these as improve the form and draftsmanship or eliminate possible substantive changes are incorporated in the code as introduced in the Legislature.

3. Streets and Highways Code.

This code will revise and codify all the laws of this State relating to: the acquisition, construction, improvement, and maintenance of State highways, county highways and city streets, public bridges (other than those under California Toll Bridge Authority) and ferries; street, highway, and bridge districts; street and highway lighting, grade separation; tree planting; State and county official bodies having charge of construction, improvement and maintenance operations.

This code, in addition to general provisions governing construction of the code and Division V, consisting of a schedule of repeals, will include Division I State highways, Division II county highways, Division III street improvement and opening, Division IV street bonds, and two or three other divisions covering the remainder of the laws to be revised and codified in this code.

The preliminary mimeographed draft of the entire first two divisions and parts of Divisions III and IV have been prepared and distributed to interested persons for examination. The first two divisions comprise a natural group and the preliminary draft of these divisions has been given very thorough consideration especially by the persons concerned with the administration of their provisions.

The "Proposed Streets and Highways Code" as printed sets forth the text proposed for Division I, State highways, and Division II, county highways. The commission submits this portion of the law as a Streets and Highways Code and recommends it for adoption. The code will be provided with a title sufficiently broad to embrace the entire proposed subject matter to be included in this code, but with a text setting forth only the text of Divisions I and II, leaving for addition thereto at a subsequent session the remaining provisions of the proposed code.

The remainder of this code will include the many laws relating to "streets." They are very involved, the result of many years of legislation governing street proceedings throughout the entire State, the various alternative technical methods having been the subject of almost constant litigation in the courts. These laws have been the subject of study by several interim legislative committees, the latest of which reported to the Legislature in 1933:

> "As stated earlier in this report, the committee believes that further work of revision should be done and we therefore recommend that the Code Commission, which is technically better able to handle the research than a legislative committee, carry on the work of scientific revision which this committee has commenced so that ultimately the entire law on the subject may be codified into three or four adequate statutes." (Report of Assembly Committee to Study the Acquisition and Improvement Laws of the State of California, 1933, p. 9.)

The commission has made considerable progress in formulating a plan for the revision and codification of these laws and has completed a good portion of the actual drafting. The drafts must be submitted to city officials throughout the State for suggestions and comment, for which reason the commission is not prepared at this time to submit the balance of this code, but will delay submission of it until 1937, at which time it will be recommended for incorporation with Divisions I and II submitted at this time.

4 Military Code.

The Military Code enacted at the 1933 session of the Legislature (Chapter 975, Statutes 1933) was not a Code Commission project. The commission in its report of January 9, 1933, stated that the Department of Veterans and Military Affairs had prepared a revision of the laws relating to the State's Military activities, the principal object of which was to make the State Military Law conform to The National Defense Act, and that the Code Commission had assisted in formulating a Military Code, which code

> "if submitted to the 1933 session of the Legislature will propose several substantive changes in the State's Military Laws, and, hence can only carry the recommendation of the commission, in so far as it has participated in its preparation, as to form and draftsmanship." (P. 12.)

The commission has prepared a complete revision of the Military Code enacted at the 1933 session, to place it in harmony with the Code Commission's plan of revision and codification, and among other things to incorporate in it all of the laws relating to veterans, which will more than double the size of this code.

The preliminary draft was completed early in 1934 and copies distributed to interested persons, including representatives of the National Guard and the Veterans' Welfare Board, the two agencies principally concerned with the laws revised and codified in this code.

Although a considerable number of changes have been made in the preliminary draft and it has not been printed for wider distribution, the commission feels, since the work has been done in such close cooperation with the persons most intimately concerned with the subject matter of the law revised and codified, and in view of the few persons vitally interested, that this code may be submitted at this time and so recommends it for adoption.

5. Labor Code.

This code revises and codifies all the laws of this State relating to the subject of labor, including laws governing the Department of Industrial Relations, employment agencies, child and female labor, employer and employee, master and servant, master and apprentice, health and safety of employees at work, wages and hours of labor, labor provisions relating to public works, trade unions, unemployment, and certain aspects of workmen's compensation. This includes 82 sections taken from the Penal, Political and Civil Codes and 56 general laws. These laws and code sections will be repealed in a schedule of repeals which constitutes Division VI of the code.

In addition to the schedule of repeals and 20 sections of general provisions of construction in the front of the code, there are five other divisions. Division I relates to the Department of Industrial Relations, Division II employment regulation and supervision, Division III employment relations, Division IV workmen's compensation and insurauce, Division V safety in employment.

The laws included in this code unquestionably affect more intimately the rights and duties of a larger group of people than do any other group of laws. They embody the bill of rights for labor. For this reason the commission is extremely anxious to have the preliminary draft of the code as widely distributed and as carefully examined by as many interested persons as possible, including employer groups, employee groups and representatives of the State agencies charged with the enforcement of these laws. The commission was not able to organize a conference group until this preliminary draft was completed, although many suggestions and comments were received by correspondence. Consequently the commission has not had this proposed code printed for wider distribution, but is awaiting further suggestions and comments from persons examining it.

Persons now examining the preliminary draft and who are most intimately concerned with the administration of these laws have expressed the desire for a further period of study and the commission believes that their wishes should be respected and that opportunity afforded. Printed copies of the proposed code, together with cross-reference tables and explanatory notes, when available, will afford a means for consideration by more interested persons and will probably make easier the examination and study by those who have received the preliminary draft.

The commission, therefore, will not request adoption of the Labor Code at this time, but will submit it in 1937.

6. Elections Code.

This code, revising and codifying all of the laws of this State relating to elections, includes laws governing general elections, the presidential primary, the direct primary, local elections, contests, recall, election officers, voting machines, ballots, campaign expenses and consolidation of elections.

The code, in addition to the general provisions governing construction and Division XIII setting out a schedule of repeals, includes the following divisions: Division I voters. Division II precincts and election officers, Division III types of elections generally, Division IV nominations (including the presidential and direct primary), Division V local elections, Division VI propositions submitted to voters, Division VII proclamations and ballots, Division VIII conduct of elections, Division IX canvass and declaration of results, Division X election campaigns, Division XI contests, and Division XII penal provisions.

This code, while not making substantive changes, does depart from the existing set up of the election laws and attempts to consolidate and set out in a logical manner the procedure applicable to general, primary and local elections. This has involved more than mere drafting, because it necessitates the gathering together of similar rules relating to the many types of elections and the formulating of a single rule applicable to all, and the filling in of many gaps in the procedure governing the conduct of the various types of elections where the procedure is now left to cross-reference and inference.

The preliminary draft of this code is over half completed and copies have been submitted to various experts in the field of election law, including representative public officials charged with their administration and enforcement. The commission has not received from the persons examining the draft suggestions or comments indicating that it was receiving the detailed attention and study which the commission feels the draft must have before it can be submitted. Persons receiving the draft, however, have been unanimous in their approval of the general plan.

With the completion of the draft and the printing of the proposed code, more time can be devoted to arranging for detailed examination and for suggestions and comments from experts in the field of election law. The code will be ready for submission in 1937.

7. Natural Resources Code.

This code revises and codifies all the laws of this State relating to natural resources, with the exception of those relating to fish and game (Fish and Game Code, Chapter 73, Statutes 1933) and waters (proposed Waters Code).

The code is divided into five divisions in addition to the general provisions governing construction, and Division VI schedule of repeals: Division I public lands, Division II mines and minerals, Division III oil and gas, Division IV forests and forestry, and Division V parks. (In connection with the last division it is to be noted that the 1933 list of then proposed codes included the "Parks, Museums and Public Monuments Code," as number sixteen in the list of twenty-five alphabetically arranged subject codes. This code has been incorporated in the Natural Resources Code as Division V.)

The work on this code was begun early in the year but was later suspended and was not resumed until the latter part of the year. Thus far the preliminary mimeographed draft has been completed through Division I public lands, and copies have been supplied to the Division of State Lands in the Department of Finance, and have been the subject of conferences with members of the staff of the division. Such part of the preliminary draft as has been completed has also been submitted to the Department of Natural Resources and is being examined by the officers of that department as will the balance of the code.

This code is not ready for submission at this time, but the preliminary draft will soon be completed and printed for distribution and examination. The code will be ready for submission in 1937.

8. (a) Health and Safety Code; (b) Business and Professional Regulations Code; (c) Social Welfare Code; (d) Harbors and Navigation Code.

Although the reduced appropriation for the work of the commission did not permit of work upon these four codes as originally planned, considerable preliminary work has been done. The volume of law included in any of these is not large and they will be ready for submission in 1937.

9. Code of Civil Procedure.

The commission, in addition to its work on the general revision and codification, has collaborated with the Judicial Council and the State Bar in formulating certain substantial changes in the Code of Civil Procedure, as follows:

The commission at the 1933 session submitted to the Legislature a revision of certain portions of the Code of Civil Procedure designed to harmonize the provisions relating to jurisdiction, venue and practice in the superior, municipal and justices courts, and to eliminate ambiguities and archaic and obsolete practices and to make the rules of procedure in trial courts more nearly uniform. The bills submitting this revision were adopted by the Legislature and approved by the Governor in accordance with the recommendations of the commission.

Certain proposed amendments have been drafted which for the most part are only for the purpose of clarifying the sections amended, or to bring the sections up to date, or to eliminate obsolete provisions or provisions held unconstitutional. In a few instances some changes in substance are suggested. The scope of the changes is indicated, and the amendments explained, in a detailed report, covering each section amended, on file in the office of the secretary of the commission, copies of which have been distributed to judges and lawyers for consideration. Bills embodying these changes, or some of them, will be submitted to the Legislature.

The commission is now working on a complete revision of the law of evidence. The proposed revision will not be confined to a mere restatement and reorganization of the present code, but will include substantial changes. Prior to any final approval by the Code Commission, the proposed changes together with a statement of reasons and full citation of authorities will be submitted to the Committee on Administration of Justice of the State Bar for consideration and criticism. Sections dealing with the subject of witnesses, particularly the topics of competency, privilege, examination, cross-examination and impeachment, are well under way.

The commission is receiving the assistance of the School of Law of the University of Southern California, Stanford Law School and School of Jurisprudence of the University of California in making the preliminary studies and tentative revision.

When completed, this revision will be presented to the Legislature as a unit. This will make possible a special consideration of questions involving substantial changes in the law of evidence prior to the submission of a complete recodification of the Code of Civil Procedure.

10. Penal Code.

The commission is preparing amendments to the Penal Code to bring the code into conformity with propositions 4, 5 and 6, adopted November 6, 1934.

The general revision of the Penal Code is proceeding more slowly. A model code on criminal procedure has been prepared by the American Law Institute. Most of the important changes from the common law proposed by this model code are already law in California. A detailed comparison of the model code with the procedural provisions of the California Penal Code is being made to see if there are changes which should be recommended.

Important changes in criminal procedure depend upon changes in the substantive criminal law. No important codification of substantive criminal law has been made in this country for over 80 years. The American Bar Association has recommended that the American Law Institute prepare such codification, but the latter organization has not yet received funds for this work. The New York Commission on the Administration of Justice (see report of the commission for 1934, page 50) states:

> "It is hoped by this commission that the comprehensive study of the Penal Law of New York, begun under its auspices, can be carried to completion by the permanent Law Revision Commission proposed by it, and that the State of New York can thus be given in the near future a modern law of crimes, and one which shall be a model for other States."

It would seem advisable to proceed slowly with the restatement of the substantive criminal law and to cooperate with other organizations engaged in similar work.

IV—AMENDMENT TO SECTION TWENTY-FOUR OF ARTICLE IV OF THE CONSTITUTION OF CALIFORNIA.

The commission, in its report of January 9, 1933, stated:

> "Section 24 of Article IV of the Constitution of California provides, in part, that 'every act shall embrace but one subject, which subject shall be expressed in its title.' Because of the scope, and often complexity, of revision acts, there will be ever present the danger of having such acts declared unconstitutional under this section. The Supreme Court of California so declared the revision of the codes attempted in 1901, in Lewis vs. Dunne, 134 Cal. 291, and although the Supreme Court has indicated a very liberal policy in interpreting this section in the case of Evans vs. Superior Court, 83 Cal. Dec. 263, holding that the Probate Code contains but a single subject, properly expressed in its title, any revision bill is always subject to this danger.
> "For this reason, the commission has prepared and recommends to the Legislature the adoption of a proposed amendment to this section of the Constitution, which will except from its operation the revision acts proposed by a 'commission, commissioner or board constituted and authorized by law to prepare such codification, revision, consolidation, rearrangement, or repeal, whether such act is enacted as thus submitted or with changes therein made by the Legislature prior to enactment.'
> It is to be noted that the exemption is limited to revision acts proposed by constituted and authorized commissions, commissioners or boards.
> "Many other States having in their constitutions provisions similar to section 24 of Article IV of our Constitution have realized the danger it presents to revision acts and have inserted a provision similar to this proposed amendment. Likewise, the California Constitutional Commission, in its report submitted September 29, 1930, proposing a revision of the California Constitution, revised section 24 of Article IV so as to include such an exception."

Pursuant to this recommendation, Assembly Constitutional Amendment No. 31 was introduced at the 1933 session of the Legislature and was passed by the Assembly.

The commission is definitely of the opinion that this amendment should be made, and therefore again submits it and recommends its adoption by the Legislature. The wording of this proposed amendment, as now submitted (set forth as Appendix C), has been revised so as to refer to codes enacted prior to its adoption and subsequent to 1928 (in order not to purport to validate the revisions of the codes attempted in 1901 and declared unconstitutional) subject to the same limitation that the revision acts have been proposed by constituted and authorized commissions, commissioners or boards.

V—RECOMMENDATIONS.

All of the work on the revision and codification herein reported has been done in less than one year and a half and with an appropriation of a little more than half of that available for the work during the preceding year and a half period. Consideration has been given to 12 of the 24 codes (in addition to the Code of Civil Procedure and Penal Code), which has resulted in the completion of some for submission to the Legislature and the Governor and sufficient progress on the balance to make possible their completion by 1937.

Besides the codes already enacted and those herein reported on there remain but six codes for consideration: (1) Banking, Building and Loan and Investment Code, (2) Corporations, Partnerships and Associations Code, (3) Government Code, (4) Public Utilities Code, (5) Revenue and Taxation Code, and (6) Waters Code.

The work on the codes, consideration to which has been given during the last year and a half, and which are not submitted at this time, will continue even during the 1935 session of the Legislature. Attention can soon be given to these remaining six important codes. On these codes, as well as all other remaining codes, the foundation work has been done, as explained in the reports of the commission submitted in 1930 and in 1933. How fast this work proceeds, of course, will depend upon the appropriation available.

Unquestionably a greater number of the codes to which consideration has been given during the last year and a half could have been submitted at this time if the commission were not committed to the definite policy of earnestly soliciting the examination and resulting suggestions and comment from interested persons, "experts in the field." The commission is convinced that it is only by arranging for such examination and subjecting proposed codes to the hot fire of criticism, that the commission can with due confidence submit a code and recommend it to the Legislature for adoption and to the Governor for approval as a finished product, in view of the absolute reliance of all concerned on the recommendation of the commission, so necessary to its effectiveness and the utility of its work.

The commission expresses its appreciation to the representatives of public and private agencies who have at all times during the preparation of the codes so generously assisted and cooperated with their advice and counsel, and it is sincerely hoped that this will continue in connection with the remaining codes.

The 1935 session of the Legislature will be a busy and important session, crowded with the consideration of pressing problems affecting the welfare of the State. This will prevent detailed consideration of proposed codes, for which reason the commission does not feel justified in submitting any code not considered a finished product.

The commission is desirous once again of calling attention to the problem of compiling the codes for publication when the revision and codification is completed, as outlined in the commission's report of January 9, 1933:

> "The various codes in the revision plan will be scattered throughout the session laws of the respective years in which they are adopted; presumably a compilation thereof will be made by private publishers. The form and thoroughness of this compilation is tremendously important, for upon it may depend one of the chief advantages of the revision, namely, the expeditious determination of the status of all the statutory law on a given subject. In order to assure this advantage, the publication of the finished revision must comprehend a system of thorough and complete cross reference, together with a comprehensive and exhaustive subject index. The code classification adopted and the arrangement made of the material included are believed to be the most logical and practical grouping of the California law; but no grouping can be devised which, without the aid of proper index headings and cross reference entries, will present at all times, in one place, all the statutory law on a given subject. This publication should be supervised by an appropriate State agency, to the end that the preparation of the material for publication be characterized by the same degree of thoroughness as is the actual revision.
> "State publication, under such supervision, would permit the finished revision to be sold at a price sufficient to cover the cost of printing and such amount, in addition, as would to a substantial extent defray the expense incurred in making the revision. Experience in other States, as cited in the 1930 report of the commission, indicates that State publication will permit the sale of the codes at a moderate price." (Pages 13 and 14.)

As the commission stated in its report submitted in 1930 and again in its report submitted in 1933, it is impossible to estimate definitely the time necessary to complete the entire revision and codification. The foundation work is completed, the drafting alone remains to be pursued in the manner and order herein indicated. The trained personnel and organization developed up to 1933 was correspondingly reduced with the reduction in appropriation at that time. Such a personnel and organization can not be immediately redeveloped, but if adequate appropriation is made, consistent with a satisfactory redevelopment of such personnel and organization, the work, it is estimated, could be completed by 1939.

It is to be recalled that the appropriation in 1935 included only $10,000 from the general fund, the balance being obtained from certain designated special funds of various departments concerned with the administration of laws being codified

It may be that the Legislature will again desire to indicate that appropriations be made from certain special funds of various departments concerned with the administration of the laws now being codified.

In accordance with the foregoing, the commission makes the following recommendations:

(1) The commission recommends that the Legislature adopt, and that the Governor approve, the

(a) Proposed Vehicle Code
(b) Proposed Insurance Code
(c) Proposed Military Code
(d) Proposed Streets and Highways Code (including only text of Division I, State highways, and Division II, county highways).

(2) The commission recommends that the Legislature adopt the proposed concurrent resolution submitting an amendment to section 24 of Article IV of the State Constitution, relating to the titles and subjects of revision laws.

(3) The commission recommends that the Legislature indicate a definite policy in reference to the compilation for publication of the various codes that will be included in the completed revision.

(4) The commission recommends that a Code Commission be continued, for the purpose of continuing the revision and codification in accordance with the general plan now being followed.

(5) The commission recommends that an adequate sum be made available for carrying on the work of the commission.

AMENDMENTS TO STANDING RULES.

The following amendments to the Standing Rules of the Assembly, as printed in the Assembly Journal of January 10, 1935, were read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

In Rule 11, srike out the period at the end of the first sentence after the word "same," and the first 20 words of the following sentence, and substitute a comma and the following: ". or he may at any time during a session send or hand the bill to the clerk's desk. When received at the clerk's desk, it shall, under the proper order of business, be numbered and read the first time, and referred to a standing committee,".

In Rule 20, in the second sentence, after the comma following the word "desk", insert the following: ", or at a microphone,".

Following Rule 86, add the following new rules:

The procedure for using the electrical voting system will be as follows: When the Speaker orders "The clerk shall prepare the roll", the clerk shall thereupon unlock the electrical voting system, and when the ringing of the gong indicates that the electrical system is unlocked, the members present shall record their votes. The clerk will then show the total vote upon the voting boards, except in the case of uncontested measures, when previously agreed upon by the Assembly. The Speaker shall then ask: "Has every member voted?" and upon repeating this question, and receiving no negative answer, nor a request for an extension, nor for a call of the absentees, nor a motion for a call of the Assembly, he shall order the clerk to clear the roll. The clerk shall then lock the system, and hand the record to the Speaker, who shall announce the vote.

Calling the Absentee Vote.

86B. If during the interval between the showing of the vote upon the voting boards and the clearing of the roll, any member shall request that "the absentees be called", the Speaker shall say: "If there is any member who has not voted, he shall now vote." After the voting of such absentees, the vote shall be shown, the roll cleared and the vote announced as provided for in Rule 86A. The Speaker may order the vote of the absentees without request from the floor."

In Rule 87, line 2, change the word "declare", to the word "record".

In Rule 88, line 3, between the words "the", and "announcement", insert the following: "final recording and".

Following Rule 93, add the following new rules:

Call of the Assembly Under Electrical Voting System.

"93A. This procedure under a call of the Assembly shall be the same as in Rule 93, except as follows: If during the interval before vote has been recorded, a member shall move a call of the Assembly, and a majority of the members present so order, the Speaker shall instruct the clerk to record a temporary vote, which record shall be in duplicate. The clerk shall then lock the voting system as in Rule 86A, and shall hold the original record at his desk, and shall give the duplicate to the author of the bill, or the member handling it. When the call of the Assembly has been dispensed with, and upon order of the Speaker, the clerk shall call the roll of the absent members and record these upon the original record, which shall then become the permanent record and be handed to the Speaker, who shall announce the vote.

A member may change his vote while the record is held at the desk (before other business is taken up), or when the oral roll call is taken after the call of the Assembly is dispensed with.

During a call of the Assembly the electrical voting system may be used for any other business taken up by unanimous consent and requiring roll call, except as provided for in Rule 93C.

Request for Roll Call by Clerk.

93B. Upon request of five (5) members, an oral roll call may be substituted for the electrically recorded vote. Such request must be made before the Speaker orders a vote by the electrical system.

The vote upon this request must be viva voce or by division and count. If the vote is ordered held upon the electrical system during a call of the Assembly, voting on other measures, where a roll call is required, shall be by oral roll call."

In Rule 111, strike out the first 27 words of the second sentence and substitute the following: "When an oral roll call is taken by the clerk, instead of by the electrical voting system, the clerk shall, as each member votes, repeat the "aye" or the "no" in an audible tone of voice, so that the member voting".

"SEC. 2. Until February 1, 1937, except in the case of mining property, no sale shall be made under any power of sale contained in any mortgage or deed of trust heretofore executed upon real property, nor shall any sale be made under any final decree of foreclosure rendered in any action to foreclose a mortgage hertofore executed upon real property nor shall the interest of any purchaser under a contract of purchase of real property heretofore executed, be terminated or forfeited, in any case in which the only default in the performance of the obligation for which said mortgage or deed of trust was given as security or in the performance of such contract consists solely of the failure to pay when due the principal sum of such obligation.

Nothing contained in this act shall prevent the acceleration, by reason of the nonpayment of taxes, interest or insurance, of the entire obligation secured by any such mortgage or deed of trust, nor prevent the sale thereunder by reason of such default.

SEC. 3. In all cases in which the time within which an action upon any obligation founded upon a written instrument secured by a mortgage or deed of trust upon real property, or any guaranty thereof, may be commenced would expire by virtue of section 337 of the Code of Civil Procedure during the period extending between the date upon which this act takes effect and the first day of February, 1937, such time is hereby extended so as not to expire until April 1, 1937.

SEC. 4. Any sale of real property under a deed of trust or mortgage with power of sale made in violation of this act shall be voidable, except as against a bona fide purchaser or encumbrancer for value, at the instance of the record owner of such real property at the time of such sale; provided that any action to avoid such sale or any deed executed pursuant thereto must be brought within one year of the date of such sale.

Nothing contained in this act shall apply to or be deemed to affect (a) any mortgage, deed or trust or contract of sale upon real property executed after the effective date of this act, or (b) any mortgage or deed of trust securing the payment of bonds or other evidences of indebtedness authorized or permitted to be issued by the Commissioner of Corporations or made by public utilities subject to the provisions of the Public Utilities Act.

SEC. 6. Except in the case of mining property, no sale shall be made under any power of sale contained in any mortgage or deed of trust executed before the effective date of this act upon real property, nor shall any sale be made under any final decree of foreclosure rendered in any action to foreclose a mortgage executed before the effective date of this act upon real property, nor shall the interest of any purchaser under a contract of purchase of real property executed before the effective date of this act be terminated or forfeited, in any case in which the only default in the performance of the obligation for which said mortgage or deed of trust was given as security or in the performance of the obligation of such contract consists solely of the failure to pay when due installments of the principal sum of such obligation which became due according to the terms of such obligation between the effective date of this act and February 1, 1937, until at least six months after the due date of the last installment of the principal sum of such obligation.

Nothing contained in this section shall prevent the acceleration by reason of the nonpayment of taxes, interest or insurance, of the entire obligation secured by any such mortgage or deed of trust, nor prevent the sale thereunder by reason of such default.

In all cases in which the time within which an action upon any installment of the principal sum of an obligation, or any guaranty thereof, a sale for default in the payment of which is postponed by this act, would expire by virtue of section 337 of the Code of Civil Procedure prior to the time when such sale is permitted by this section, then such time in which such action may be brought is extended to and until three months after the date upon which such sale might be held under this section.

SEC. 7. No suit or action shall be commenced against the guarantor of any note secured by a mortgage or deed of trust upon real property in any case while by virtue of any law no sale may be made under any power of sale contained in such mortgage or deed of trust, or while no sale may be made under the final decree of foreclosure rendered in an action to foreclose such mortgage.

The facts constituting the necessity are as follows: A severe economic depression exists throughout the State, rendering many of its citizens unable to pay the principal sum of their debts or to otherwise refinance their loans. COMMUNICATION.

The following communication was received, and ordered printed in the Journal:

By Mr. Heisinger:

Mr. Speaker and Members of the Assembly.

There has come into my hands a letter addressed to Mr. Anderson from one of the leading educators of America. He has requested his name to be withheld from publicity, but his letter in part is as follows:

Dr. H. D. Anderson, State Assemblyman, Sacramento, California.

MY DEAR DR. ANDERSON: I read with approval the enclosed statement of an investigation of the State textbook situation, the resolution calling for the investigation coming from Assemblyman Heisinger of Fresno. In my honest opinion conditions are as bad as they were in the period preceding the adoption of the new Constitution back in 1879. I hope that if the State Senate fails to concur in the joint investigation that the Assembly will go ahead on its own accord.

There are several matters which ought not to be overlooked in such a study. In the first place, there is a Curriculum Commission which expends much thought and effort on textbooks. To my knowledge, the reports of this committee have never decided the adoption of books. As a matter of fact, I do not know of a single time when the recommendation of the commission has been followed. You have probably seen that just recently three members of the commission resigned. It would be interesting to know why; particularly why Hockett of the University of California, and Jacobson of Oakland, gave up their connections with the commission.

If this commission is not able to function, the proper thing to do would be to repeal the legislation which created it. I believe this would be a good thing. In the first place, it would save some money, the second place, it would take away any shield under which a State Board of Education and a State superintendent could conceal their actions. I have no doubt that the general assumption is that the State board adopts on the recommendation of this commission of experts. This is not the case.

My first suggestion therefore is that the Legislature repeal sections 6 263, 6 264, and 6.265.

Second, we now have in the office of the State Department of Education two men who devote themselves to the administration of textbooks and publications. A single division should take care of all this work, and, it may well take over the work now performed by the California Textbook Commission.

As an alternative to this, the connection of the State Board of Education with textbook adoptions might be taken away altogether, and the function lodged in a State Textbook Commission which actually adopts the books according to law.

The textbook law declares specifically that "other things being equal," California authors shall be favored in adopting books. This law has also been set aside by the State Board of Education

I shall not enter into a report of the rumors which are afloat concerning textbook adoptions in this State. They are as scandalous as any reported 50 or 60 years ago, when the present State Textbook Law was enacted. My idea is that a thorough and complete investigation ought to be made, and the whole matter cleared up. Whenever any kind of unethical conduct enters into the management of the schools, whenever there is even a suspicion of crookedness, the children suffer, and in the long run, the people foot the bill.

I have heard rumors that people interested in textbook adoptions have financial connections with publishing interests. Such matters should be checked.

If this investigation committee is authorized, I believe it will uncover an amazing story of intrigue.

In connection with his statement, may I say that on last evening when the Senate committee hearing on my resolution should have been held, there was a lineup around the room, the usual lobby of California educators, presumably to strangle the proposed investigation into the activities of the schoolbook trust.

When the committee was dismissed for lack of a quorum which automatically killed my resolution, there seemed to be a smile of satisfaction upon the faces of some persons who seem so anxious about the interests of the book trust.

S. L. HEISINGER.

AMENDMENT NUMBER ONE.

On page 1 of the printed bill, strike out the title, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"An act to provide for the formation, government, operation, and dissolution of pest abatement districts, for the assessment, levy, collection, and disbursement of taxes therein, to declare the urgency hereof, and to provide that this act take effect immediately."

AMENDMENT NUMBER TWO.

On page 1 of the printed bill, strike out lines 1 to 26, inclusive, also all of page 2, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"SECTION 1. As used in this act, the term "pest" includes any plant, animal, insect, fish, or other matter or material, not under human control, which is offensive to the senses or interferes with the comfortable enjoyment of life, and is not protected under any other provision of law. It is the purpose of this act to provide for the abatement of pests, and the provisions of this act shall be cumulative to any other provisions of law relating to the abatement of pests or nuisances.

SEC. 2. The organization of a pest abatement district may be initiated by a petition, describing the exterior boundaries of the proposed district, and the nature of the pest or pests to be controlled or abated. The petition may fix the maximum rate of assessment to be levied for the district.

SEC. 3. The petition shall be signed by registered voters resident in the proposed district equal in number to ten per cent of the votes cast therein at the last preceding general election. The petition may consist of any number of separate instruments, which shall be duplicates, except as to the signatures and addresses of the signers. Each person who signs the petition shall also include his address.

SEC. 4. The petition shall be presented to the clerk of the county in which the land in the proposed district is situated. The clerk shall compare the signatures on the petition with the names of the registered voters for the purpose of ascertaining whether or not the petition contains sufficient signatures.

SEC. 5. If the petition lacks the necessary number of signatures the clerk shall certify that fact, and at any time within sixty days thereafter additional signatures may be presented to supplement the signatures on the original petition and such signatures shall be compared by the clerk in the manner above prescribed. If sufficient additional signatures are not so presented, proceedings under such petition shall be terminated, without prejudice to the right to file a new petition.

SEC 6. If the petition is found to contain the requisite number of signatures the clerk shall make a certificate to that effect and shall present the petition, with his certificate, to the board of supervisors.

SEC. 7. If the board of supervisors finds that the petition has been properly presented, the board shall, by resolution, fix a time for the hearing of said petition not less than two nor more than five weeks from the time of presentation thereof, and shall cause notice to be given of the time and place of said hearing by publication in some newspaper of general circulation, printed and published in said county, for not less than two weeks prior to the time of said hearing.

SEC. 8. At the time of the hearing or at any time to which it may be adjourned the board shall determine whether or not the notice required herein has been published as required and shall hear and consider all competent and relevant testimony or evidence offered in support of or in opposition to the formation of such district. The board may make such changes in the proposed boundaries of the district as it may deem advisable, and upon the application of the owner of any land within the proposed district may exclude such land, or upon the application of the owner of any land outside of the district and contiguous thereto, may include such land within the district, if the board determines that such exclusion or inclusion is proper.

SEC. 9 If, upon such hearing, the board determines that the public interest or welfare of the proposed territory and the inhabitants thereof require the formation of such district, the board, by resolution, shall declare its findings, and shall order that the territory within the boundaries determined by the board be created into a pest abatement district, under an appropriate name to be selected by the board.

SEC. 10. The clerk of the board shall immediately cause to be filed in the office of the county recorder in which the district is situated a certified copy of such order, and shall cause to be filed a certified copy thereof with the Secretary of State, and after the date of the last mentioned filing the district named therein shall be incorporated as a pest abatement district, with all of the rights, privileges, and powers set forth in this act, or necessarily incident thereto.

SEC. 11. Within thirty days after such incorporation the board of supervisors shall appoint a board of trustees, consisting of five members, as the governing body of such district The members of the board of trustees shall hold office at the pleasure of the board of supervisors, and shall serve as such trustees without compensation, but shall be allowed their necessary traveling and other expenses incurred in the performance of their official duties.

SEC. 12. The board of trustees of such district shall have power to take all necessary or proper steps for the extermination of the pest or pests referred to in the petition, subject to the control of municipal or other public authorities having jurisdiction in the matter. The board of trustees may purchase supplies, and other personal property; may employ such labor as may be necessary; may acquire by purchase, condemnation, or otherwise, in the name of the district, any necessary lands, rights of way, easements, real property, or other property or material, necessary for any of the purposes of the district; may make contracts to indemnify or compensate any owner of land or other property for any injury or damage caused by the exercise of the powers conferred by this act or incident thereto; and may sue and be sued and do all things that are necessary to carry out the powers herein conferred and to carry out the objects of the formation of the district.

SEC. 13. The board of trustees of each district shall annually before the tenth day of July file with the board of supervisors an estimate of the amount of money necessary to be raised by taxation for the purposes of the district during the ensuing fiscal year.

SEC. 14. The board of supervisors shall levy, annually, a tax sufficient to raise the amount required for the purposes of the district. The board of supervisors shall determine the rate of such tax by deducting fifteen per cent from the total assessed value of the taxable property of the district as it appears upon the assessment roll and then dividing the sum required for the purposes of the district by the remainder of such assessed value. If the rate has been fixed by the petition, the rate fixed by the board shall not exceed such rate.

SEC. 15. All taxes levied under the provisions of this act shall be assessed and collected at the same time and in the same manner as other taxes are collected for county purposes, and when collected shall be paid into the county treasury to the credit of the district.

SEC. 16. The funds of the district shall be withdrawn from the treasury upon the warrant of the board of trustees. The board of supervisors, from time to time, may order a temporary transfer from other funds in the treasury available for the purpose to the credit of the fund of the district. Such temporary transfer shall be made only upon resolution adopted by the board of supervisors directing the treasurer to make such transfer, and shall not exceed eighty-five per cent of the taxes accruing to the district, and shall not be made prior to the first day of the fiscal year nor after the last Monday in April of the current fiscal year. Any funds so transferred shall be replaced from the taxes accruing to such district before any other obligation of the district is met from such taxes.

SEC. 17. At any time after the incorporation of the district, upon petition of the owners of land contiguous thereto, such land may be annexed to the district, if the board of supervisors find that such annexation shall be for the benefit of the land so annexed and for the benefit of the district.

SEC. 18. Upon application of such persons as could have initiated proceedings for the formation of a district, the board of supervisors may, after notice of hearing, published in the manner herein prescribed for the notice of a hearing of a petition, dissolve such district if it appears to the board that such dissolution is proper. The dissolution of a district shall not have any effect on any assessment theretofore levied. Upon such dissolution the board of supervisors shall succeed to all the powers and jurisdiction of the board of trustees for the purpose of winding up the affairs of the district, and may continue to levy such assessments as are necessary in the winding up of the affairs of the district. No district shall be finally dissolved until all outstanding obligations of the district, including the repayment of funds transferred to the credit of the district including the repayment of funds transferred to the credit of the district from other funds of the county, have been fully paid and discharged.

SEC. 19. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety within the meaning of section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution, and shall therefore go into effect immediately. A statement of the facts constituting such necessity is as follows:

In certain areas within this State there exist pests, the abatement of which is necessary and desirable in order to promote the comfort and welfare of the residents of such areas. The purpose of this act is to provide a method for the abatement of such pests. Facilities of the State Emergency Relief Administration are now available to assist in the work of eradicating or controlling these pests in cooperation with local governmental units such as a district, the organization of which is herein provided for. These facilities may not long continue to be available and in order to utilize these facilities, and in order that the work of abating these pests and relieving persons from the discomforts caused by such pests may be accomplished as soon as possible, it is necessary that this act take effect immediately."

MANUEL LARRIOS, San Quentin No. 54465. Convicted in San Bernardino County of the crime of Murder, First Degree, sentenced to death June 15, 1934. Application for a commutation of sentence filed on behalf on Manuel Larrios had not been considered by the late Governor James Rolph, Jr., because of his illness. Governor Merriam, having only been Governor for one week, did not have an opportunity to give the application his careful consideration. Therefore it was necessary to issue a reprieve in order to give additional time in which to study the case. Reprieve was also requested by Hon. A. Lubbert, Consul General of Mexico. Reprieved to September 14, 1934. Dated June 11, 1934

Reprieve.

ARTHUR SHORTEN, San Quentin No. 53152. Convicted in Los Angeles County of the crime of Murder, First Degree, scheduled to be executed July 27, 1934. Letter of recommendation was received July 22, 1934, from Hon. Isaac Pacht, Judge of the Superior Court of Los Angeles County, who presided at the trial of Arthur Shorten. In view of the nearness of the date of execution, it was not possible for the Governor to complete his investigation and give sufficient thought and study to the recommendation of Judge Pacht. Swing stating that in his opinion the facts of the case justify clemency. Reprieve granted to Manuel Larrios in order to allow the Governor sufficient time in which to consult with the Judge and to receive a detailed report from him. Reprieved to November 9, 1934. Dated September 13, 1934.

ASSEMBLY JOINT RESOLUTION No. 32.

Memorializing Congress to prepare proper legislation providing for the deportation of aliens who are dependent upon public relief.

WHEREAS, The problem of public relief is of paramount importance to every city, county, State and the Federal government, and as the projects of public relief in every community, State, and the Nation find thousands of instances in which aliens having failed to apply for citizenship in the United States are enjoying such benefits; and

WHEREAS, The prerequisite of admission to citizenship requires that aliens submit proof that they are not likely to become a public charge; and

WHEREAS, It is the duty of the city, county, State and Federal government to provide primarily for its citizens and taxpayers who are confronted with the impossibility of maintaining their own existence by gainful labors in commerce and industry; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly and the Senate of the State of California, jointly, That the Legislature of the State of California respectfully requests and memorializes the Congress of the United States to pass immediately National legislation requiring the deportation of all unemployed aliens now dependent upon public charity and relief and those who may be occupying positions of employment on

Resolved, That the Legislature of the State of California respectfully requests and memorializes that in order to not impose undue hardship on those aliens having accustomed themselves to our standards of living that an exemption from the provisions of such proposed legislation be granted to such aliens over 60 years of age who have resided continuously in the United States for a period of 20 or more years.

ASSEMBLY RESOLUTION.

Resolved, That the following amendments to the rules as presented in the Journal of Friday, January 25th, be adopted.

In Rule 11, strike out the period at the end of the first sentence after the word "same," and the first 20 words of the following sentence, and substitute a comma and the following. ", or he may at any time during a session send or hand the bill to the clerk's desk. When received at the clerk's desk, it shall, under the proper order of business, be numbered and read the first time, and referred to a standing committee,".

In Rule 20, in the second sentence, after the comma following the word "desk", insert the following: ", or at a microphone,".

Following Rule 86, add the following new rules:

The procedure for using the electrical voting system will be as follows: When the Speaker orders "The clerk shall prepare the roll", the clerk shall thereupon unlock the electrical voting system, and when the ringing of the gong indicates that the electrical system is unlocked, the members present shall record their votes. The clerk will then show the total vote upon the voting boards, except in the case of uncontested measures, when previously agreed upon by the Assembly. The Speaker shall then ask: "Has every member voted?" and upon repeating this question, and receiving no negative answer, nor a request for an extension, nor for a call of the absentees, nor a motion for a call of the Assembly, he shall order the clerk to clear the roll. The clerk shall then lock the system, and hand the record to the Speaker, who shall announce the vote.

86B. If during the interval between the showing of the vote upon the voting boards and the clearing of the roll, any member shall request that "the absentees be called", the Speaker shall say: "If there is any member who has not voted, he shall now vote." The clerk shall then lock the voting system as in Rule 86A, and shall hold the original record at his desk, and shall give the duplicate to the author of the bill, or the member handling it. When the call of the Assembly has been dispensed with, and upon order of the Speaker, the clerk shall call the roll of the absent members and record these upon the original record, which shall then become the permanent record and be handed to the Speaker, who shall announce the vote.

A member may change his vote while the record is held at the desk (before other business is taken up), or when the oral roll call is taken after the call of the Assembly is dispensed with.

During a call of the Assembly the electrical voting system may be used for any other business taken up by unanimous consent and requiring roll call, except as provided for in Rule 93C.

Assembly Joint Resolution No. 36 ordered transmitted to the Senate.

ASSEMBLY JOINT RESOLUTION No. 36.

Relative to memorializing Congress to enact proposed legislation commonly known as "Universal draft" in time of war.

WHEREAS, The young men of America were called from their useful occupations during the World War to shoulder arms in the defense of our country and to make the great sacrifice of time, strength, health and even life itself while certain others not required to make these great sacrifices were exploiting our government and our citizens; and

WHEREAS, During this National emergency, profiteering by individuals, firms and corporations who looted the government and gouged our citizens was so prevalent as to become a stain upon our National honor; and

WHEREAS, The munitions committee of the United States Senate has recently disclosed the huge profits made by munition, shipbuilding and other war-time contractors; and

WHEREAS, It is fair and just that every resource of this Nation, in addition to men to bear arms should be available without private profit or gain for National defense in time of war and that Congress should provide for the conscription of every citizen and all of money, industries, and property of whatsoever nature necessary for the prosecution thereof; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, by the Assembly and the Senate of the State of California, jointly, That the Legislature of the State of California most respectfully urges and petitions the President of the United States and the Congress of the United States to enact such legislation necessary to accomplish the universal conscription in time of war of the material resources, industrial organizations and services of our Nation which is necessary to the successful termination of such emergency and to the end that all semblances of profit shall be eliminated therefrom; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly transmit copies of this resolution to the President and Vice President of the United States, to the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and to each Senator and Member of the House of Representatives from California in the Congress of the United States, and that such Senators and Members from California be urged to support such legislation.

EXPLANATION OF VOTE.

To the Clerk:

Please record the following "explanation of vote" in case of my vote on the resolution to draft wealth in time of war.

I vote "no" because the principle in the law recommended to Congress would be that of a stronger sanction to the draft of men. War today is a capitalist racket, and a law to draft wealth would be circumvented. The psychology of a law to draft wealth would be that of strengthening the hands of the war makers.

After the filing of such petition and the recording of the notice of pendency thereof as provided in this act, no sale shall be held under such deed of trust or under the power of sale conferred by such mortgage until the court makes its order in the matter. Upon such hearing the court may make its order, if it finds equitable grounds for relief, ordering that the sale shall not be held until on or after such date as the court considers just and equitable, but in no event beyond September 1, 1935. If the court orders the sale postponed it shall determine the reasonable value of the income from such property, or if the property has no income, then the reasonable rental value of such property, or if the property is unimproved, a reasonable sum to be paid by the trustor or mortgagor as determined by the court, and shall require the trustor or mortgagor to pay all or at least a reasonable part of such income, rental value, or sum so determined by the court, in or toward the payment of taxes, insurance, interest, or principal of the indebtedness at such times and in such manner determined to be just and equitable under the circumstances.

In no event shall the court order the payment of a lesser sum than that necessary to pay (a) current taxes, (b) all delinquent taxes, except that such taxes may be paid in installments as may be provided by law, and (c) any insurance premiums required to be paid by the debtor under the contract between the parties. The court must include in such order provisions requiring maintenance and repair, regulating the disposition of any income from the property, and such other provisions as it deems just and equitable for the protection of the security.

SEC. 4. In any decree hereafter rendered, prior to September 1, 1935, foreclosing a mortgage or deed of trust upon real property, the court may provide that the sale of the property shall not be held until on or after such date as the court considers just and equitable, but in no event later than September 1, 1935 If the court provides in such decree that the sale shall not be held until on or after such date as it shall fix, it shall determine the reasonable value of the income from such property, or if the property has no income, then the reasonable rental value of such property, or if the property is unimproved, a reasonable sum to be paid by the trustor or mortgagor as determined by the court, and shall require the trustor or mortgagor to pay all or at least a reasonable part of such income, rental value, or sum so determined by the court, in or toward the payment of taxes, insurance, interest, or principal of the indebtedness at such times and in such manner determined to be just and equitable under the circumstances

In no event shall the court order the payment of a lesser sum than that necessary to pay (a) current taxes, (b) all delinquent taxes, except that such taxes may be paid in installments as may be provided by law, and (c) any insurance premiums required to be paid by the debtor under the contract between the parties. The court must include in such order provisions requiring maintenance and repair, regulating the disposition of any income from the property, and such other provisions as it deems just and equitable for the protection of the security.

SEC. 4a Where any mortgage or trust deed upon real property has been foreclosed and the period of redemption has not yet expired, the period of redemption may be extended for such additional time as the court may deem just and equitable, but in no event beyond September 1, 1935; provided that the mortgagor, trustor or owner in possession of said property shall, prior to the expiration of the period of redemption, apply to the superior court having jurisdiction of the matter, on not less than 10 days' written notice to the mortgagee or trustee, or the attorney of either, as the case may be, for an order determining the reasonable value of the income on said property, or, if the property has no income, then the reasonable rental value of the property involved in such sale, and directing and requiring such mortgagor, trustor or owner in possession, to pay all or a reasonable part of such income or rental value, in or toward the payment of taxes, insurance, interest, mortgage or trust deed indebtedness at such times and in such manner as shall be fixed and determined and ordered by the court

In no event shall the court order the payment of a lesser sum than that necessary to pay (a) current taxes, (b) all delinquent taxes, except that such taxes may be paid in installments as may be provided by law, and (c) any insurance premiums required to be paid by the debtor under the contract between the parties.

The court shall thereupon hear said application and after such hearing shall make and file its order directing the payment by such mortgagor, trustor or owner in possession, of such an amount at such times and in such manner as to the court shall, under all the circumstances, appear just and equitable. Provided that upon the service of the notice or demand aforesaid that the running of the period of redemption shall be tolled until the court shall make its order upon such application.

SEC 5 The purchaser of any real property under any contract of purchase may, at any time within thirty days after the effective date of this act, or at any time prior to the foreclosure, termination, or forfeiture of his interest under such contract, but in no event later than September 1, 1935, file a petition in the superior court of the county in which such real property, or the major portion thereof, is situated for an order postponing the foreclosure, termination, or forfeiture of his interest thereunder A copy of such petition shall be served upon the vendor, and notice of pendency of such petition shall be recorded, and a hearing shall be held at the same time and in the same manner as is provided in section 3 of this act in respect to petitions in relation to sales under deeds of trust and mortgages conferring a power of sale.

SEC. 6 Upon the petition of any party in interest prior to the time to which the postponement was made, and after notice and hearing as in the case of a petition for postponement, the court may alter or supplement its order or decree of postponement upon the presentation of evidence that the provisions of the order or decree require alteration or supplementing to make them just and reasonable.

If the trustor, mortgagor or purchaser commits waste or defaults in any payment or act required by the order or decree of the court, the court may order that the sale, foreclosure, termination or forfeiture postponed by the original order or decree, proceed as provided by law if it finds after hearing upon such notice to the applicant or his attorney as it prescribes, that there has been such waste or such default, amounting to a material breach of the order or decree of postponement.

SEC. 7. No suit or action shall be commenced against the guarantor of any note secured by a mortgage or deed of trust upon real property in any case while by virtue of any law no sale may be made under any power of sale contained in such mortgage or deed of trust, or while no sale may be made under the final decree of foreclosure rendered in an action to foreclose such mortgage.

SEC 8 Whenever the time within which an action may be commenced upon any obligation founded upon a written instrument secured by mortgage, deed of trust or contract of purchase of real property, would expire by virtue of section 337 of the Code of Civil Procedure during the period of postponement ordered pursuant to the provisions of this act, such time is hereby extended to the extent of such period of postponement.

SEC 9. Nothing contained in this act shall apply to or be deemed to affect (a) any mortgage, deed of trust or contract of sale upon real property executed after the effective date of this act, or (b) any mortgage or deed of trust securing the payment of bonds or other evidences of indebtedness authorized or permitted to be issued by the Commissioner of Corporations or made by public utilities subject to the provisions of the Public Utilities Act.

SEC 10 As used in this act:

(a) The terms "mortgagor," "mortgagee," "trustor," "trustee," "purchaser," "vendor," and "guarantor," shall include their personal representatives, assigns or successors in interest, and the singular shall include the plural.

(b) The term "trustee" shall also include the beneficiary of a deed of trust

SEC 11 Nothing contained in this act precludes any trustor under a deed of trust or any mortgagor under a mortgage or any purchaser under a contract for the purchase of real property from executing and delivering at any time a grant deed to his beneficiary, mortgagee or vendor, as the case may be, and the execution and delivery of any such deed by any such trustor, mortgagor or purchaser shall constitute a waiver of the benefit of all the provisions of this act. The failure on the part of any trustor, mortgagor or purchaser to file a petition within the times specified in this act, shall be deemed a waiver of the benefit of the provisions of this act.

SEC. 12. Any sale of real property under a deed of trust or mortgage made in violation of this act shall be voidable, except as against a bona fide purchaser or encumbrancer for value, at the instance of the record owner of such real property at the time of such sale: provided that any action to avoid such sale or any deed executed pursuant thereto must be brought within one year of the date of such sale.

SEC. 13. There shall be no filing fees for the filing of any document with the county clerk under the provisions of this act.

SEC. 14. If any feature or application of this act is finally determined by the courts to be unconstitutional, such feature or application shall no longer apply, but all other features and applications shall continue in full force and effect, it being the intent of the Legislature to make this act as effective as possible to relieve debtors in the manner herein provided.

SEC. 15. Whenever any petition under this act is to be or is being heard by the court, the interested parties may submit to the court, in writing, a composition of the indebtedness involved in the proceeding, or a compromise settlement of the proceeding, and the court shall have jurisdiction and may by its order confirm and approve such composition or settlement.

SEC. 16. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety, within the meaning of section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution, and shall therefore take effect immediately.

The facts constituting the necessity are the dangers to the State and to the people involved in the unusually large number of foreclosures, sales, forfeitures and terminations which will result in the near future under mortgages, deeds of trust, and contracts of purchase of real property, because of defaults in payments by the owners or purchasers of such property. Such defaults are the result of exceptionally depressed economic conditions in this State, which have deprived a large proportion of the landowners and land purchasers of sufficient income to meet their obligations. The dangers in the situation are such as to threaten the maintenance of law and order, and to lead to the pauperization of many persons who have hitherto constituted an important part of the self-supporting and economically independent people of this State. This act will provide a means for delaying such sales, foreclosures, terminations, and forfeitures so as to permit landowners and land purchasers to find means of meeting their obligations, and at the same time will protect the interests of creditors. The dangers mentioned will thus be avoided."
