5. Bulkheads. Tanks with compartments carrying fluids of different classes, as defined in section 51 of this act, shall be provided with an air space between the compartments thereof, equipped and maintained with drainage facilities.

6. Surge Plates. Each tank having a cubic content in excess of eighty (80) cubic feet shall be equipped with a sufficient number of transverse baffle plates extending the full width of the tank, to divide the tank or tank compartments into units not to exceed eighty (80) cubic feet A tolerance of ten (10) per cent shall be allowed in computing the eighty (80) cubic feet volume specified in this section Each such baffle plate shall be of the same material specified in subsection a-1 hereof, and of a thickness not less than the thickness of the shell of the tank or tank compartment in which it is installed; provided, however, that no surge plate shall require to be thicker than ten gauge. Each surge plate shall be substantially installed. No portion of the top or bottom of any such plate shall be at greater vertical distance than eight (8) inches from the horizontal plane of the highest portion of the shell, or the lowest portion of the shell, respectively, of the tank in which the same is installed Provided that there may be maintained either at the top or the bottom of each such plate an opening of not more than twenty (20) inches in horizontal width, no portion of which opening shall be more than fourteen (14) inches vertical distance below or above the plane of that portion of the top or bottom, respectively, of such shell immediately above or below the middle of such opening, as the case may be.

7. The provisions of paragraphs five and six of this subsection shall not be applicable to any tank in service prior to the enactment of this act.

(b) Operating Vents and Relief Valves

1. Each tank, or each compartment of a tank, for the carrying of flammable liquids of Class 1 shall be provided with a vacuum and pressure operating vent having a free and effective opening of not less than forty-four one-hundredths square inch.

(c) Pressure Vents Each tank, or each compartment of a tank, for the carrying of flammable liquids of Classes 1-a and 1 shall be provided with a venting device which shall be so constructed as to provide a minimum free and effective opening of not less than two and eighty-five one-hundredths square inches.

1. If the volume of a tank, or compartment of a tank, exceeds eighty cubic feet, then the minimum area of the venting device shall be increased in the proportion that the greater volume bears to eighty cubic feet.

2. If the design of the venting device includes a fusible element, the temperature at which such fusible element will melt shall not exceed two hundred degrees Fahrenheit.

3. The provisions of this subsection shall not be applicable to any tank vehicle in service prior to the enactment of this act until the first day of January, 1941.

(d) Internal Valves. Each tank, or each compartment of a tank, for the carrying of flammable liquids of Classes 1-a and 1, shall be equipped with a reliable and efficient shut-off valve which shall be located inside the shell of the tank, in the compartment outlet.

1. The operating mechanism of such valves shall be provided with a secondary control which shall be located as remotely from the filling openings and discharge faucets as is practicable

2. The mechanism by which the internal valves are operated or controlled shall include a fusible section, the melting of which will cause all such internal valves to close automatically.

3. There shall be provided between the seat of the internal valve and the discharge faucet, a shear section which will break under strain; provided, that such shear section will not be required if the piping or tubing between the internal valve seat and the discharge faucet is so arranged as to afford the same protection and to leave the seat of the internal valve intact.

4. The provisions of this subsection shall not be applicable to any tank vehicle in service prior to the enactment of this act, until the first day of January, 1941.

(e) Capacity Gauges. Each tank, or each compartment of a tank, for the carrying of flammable liquids shall be equipped with a gauge which shall indicate the maximum volume to which the tank or compartment may be filled.

1. The capacity gauge may be adjustable, but it must be capable of being sealed at a given volume, and in no case may it be set to indicate in excess of ninety-nine and one-quarter per centum of the total internal volume of the tank or compartment.

(f) Connections of Discharge Valves and Faucets. All discharge valves or faucets shall be so designed as to permit being tightly connected to the discharge hose.

(g) Can and Bucket Compartments. If boxes or compartments for the carrying of cans, buckets, or other metallic objects, are attached to, or provided in conjunction with, tanks for the carrying of flammable liquids, the interiors of such boxes or compartments shall be lined, or insulated, or otherwise so designed and constructed, as to prevent or avoid the generation of sparks because of contact with such cans, buckets, or other metallic objects as may normally be carried therein.

(h) Every tank for the carrying of flammable liquids must be securely attached to the vehicle.

(i) Electrical Bonding, and Grounding.

1. Every tank vehicle shall be so equipped that there will be a constant and permanent metallic interconnection between its tank, frame, springs and axles.

2. Every tank vehicle shall be equipped with a chain or other metallic device which will insure a practically constant continuous metallic circuit between the metal parts of the tank vehicle and the ground upon which it rests or travels

(j) Rear Bumpers. Whenever a tank vehicle is so constructed or equipped that the discharge valves or faucets project to the rear of the chassis frame, a bumper or other device shall be provided which will afford protection to the discharge valves or faucets against collision.

1. The provisions of this subsection shall not be applicable to any tank vehicle in service prior to the enactment of this act, until the first day of January, 1941.

(k) Fire Extinguishers.

1. Every tank truck shall be equipped with at least one hand fire extinguisher of a type suitable for the extinguishment of flammable liquid fire, and which bears the label of approval of the Underwriters Laboratories.

2. Every tank truck which is equipped for the hauling of one or more tank trailers and/or semitrailers shall be equipped with at least one hand fire extinguisher for each such tank trailer or semitrailer.

3. For the purpose of this subsection, a tractor, as described in section 37 shall be construed to be a tank truck.

(l) Fuel Tank. No tank vehicle shall be equipped to carry its liquid fuel in any container which is over, or adjacent to its motor or engine, or on or over the cab, or which projects beyond the sides of the chassis frame; provided, that this shall not be construed to prohibit:

1. The use of a portion, or compartment, of the main tank of the tank vehicle for the carrying of the vehicle's liquid fuel, but provided that, if such portion or compartment is so used, that portion or compartment shall be so designed, constructed, and equipped as to conform to those requirements of this section which apply to the remaining compartments of the tank, except that no internal valve shall be required in the fuel compartment of the tank.

2. The use of a fuel tank or container which is contained within the sides of the driver's cab or compartment.

(m) Fuel Supply System.

1. If the liquid fuel, to be used in the motor of a tank truck, is to be transferred from the fuel tank directly to the carburetor by means of gravity a stop, or shut-off valve shall be provided as close to the outlet of the fuel tank as is practicable.

2. The tube or pipe through which the liquid fuel is to be transferred shall be so installed and supported as to prevent chafing and to prevent or neutralize vibration.

3. The carburetor shall be so installed as to insure the immediate drainage of any overflow liquid fuel to the ground.

(n) Exhaust System.

1. Mufflers. The muffler and that portion of the exhaust pipe which is forward of the muffler, on each tank vehicle shall be so installed and maintained as to prevent any flammable liquid of Classes 1-a or 1 from spilling or leaking upon such muffler or portion of exhaust pipe, or from coming in contact therewith. Any muffler and any part of that portion of the exhaust pipe which is forward of the muffler, which may be exposed to the spilling or leaking of flammable liquid of Classes 1-a or 1 shall be equipped with a metal shield, so constructed, installed and maintained as to adequately cover the muffler and such part of that portion of the exhaust pipe which is forward of the muffler, plus a minimum distance of six (6) inches, both forward and to the rear thereof; and there shall be provided a space of not less than one (1) inch between such shield and muffler and exhaust pipe.

2. The entire exhaust system of every tank vehicle shall be substantially supported, and shall be so installed and so placed as to be free from chafing and from accumulations of oil and grease.

(o) Failure of any tank or tank vehicle to conform to the requirements of this section, or to such portions thereof as are applicable to a tank or to a tank vehicle, is prima facie evidence that such tank or tank vehicle is mechanically unfit or unsafe to be operated or moved upon the highways."

"3810. The board of supervisors of any county of the first class may by the concurring vote of a majority of said board at any time after the first Monday in May of each year and prior to the third Monday in July, resolve to appoint a commission or commissions of equalization. Each such commission so appointed shall be composed of three members consisting of one real estate broker, with at least five years experience in appraising real estate, a certified public accountant who had at the date of his appointment been so certified for at least a period of five years and one attorney at law who had at the date of his appointment been admitted to the practice of the law for a period of at least five years. A reasonable per diem for the services of each of said commissioners as determined in the order of appointment, together with his necessary and reasonable expenses incurred in the performance of his duties shall be a charge against the general fund of said county.

Upon the application of any taxpayer setting forth the properties which he desires submitted to said commission and the assessment or proposed assessment of which he believes to be illegal or erroneous, the board of supervisors shall order the county assessor to certify to said commission or one of said commissions, if more than one be appointed, the valuations said assessor intends to place or has placed upon said several properties together with a certificate in writing as to the percentage of value to be employed for said year as full cash value and in brief his method of arriving at such basic value for the principal classes of property upon the assessment roll. Said certification of intended assessments together with statement of method of assessment shall be returned to said commission within ten days after demand therefor unless such time shall be extended by order of the board of supervisors. A copy of said return shall be furnished by the county assessor to the taxpayer at the address specified in the application of the taxpayer, if such address be specified, otherwise by leaving a copy addressed to said taxpayer at the office of the clerk of the board of supervisors.

Said commission upon the date of said return shall thereupon fix a date of hearing before said commission at which time the taxpayer shall be entitled to present any and all reasons and evidence why such proposed valuation should be reduced. Such subpena may be issued to compel the attendance of the county assessor, any deputy or assistant in the office of said county assessor and to compel the production of any and all documents pertaining to the assessment of said properties in the possession, custody or control of said assessor. Said commission shall, with the approval of the board of supervisors, have power to appoint expert witnesses of its own choosing to ascertain any facts or evidence necessary to the determination of such hearing. The compensation of such witnesses as determined by the order of the board of supervisors shall be a charge against the general fund of said county.

All testimony taken before said commission shall be under oath and the commissioners herein provided for are expressly authorized to take the oath of any witness appearing before said commission. The commission may upon the application of the taxpayer or the assessor provide for transcription of evidence taken before said hearing, the cost of the preparation of such transcript to be borne by the party demanding the same or, in event demanded by both parties, to be equally divided between the taxpayer and the assessor.

In the event such transcript is demanded by the assessor, the cost thereof is hereby declared to be a charge against the general fund of said county.

Upon the conclusion of the taking of such testimony and the making of such other investigation or appraisals as said commission may deem advisable said commission shall in concise form make an advisory recommendation to the board of supervisors sitting thereafter as a board of equalization upon the following matters, to wit:

1. The true, correct and equalized assessed value of the properties covered in said hearing equalized in accordance with the general method of assessment employed on the same and other classes of property in said county for said tax year as said method is stated in the return of the assessor setting forth said method or as may be developed at the hearing before said commission.

2. The reasons in support of such valuation with particular reference to: (a) the assessment of other properties of similar character and location; (b) of other classes of property as the same are shown to be valued by the county assessor in the aforesaid return of his method of assessment and/or evidence concerning the same as produced at said hearing.

It is hereby declared to be the intent of this section that the equalized valuations placed upon the assessment roll shall be equalized upon the same value as to all classes of property.

The report of said commission, together with any transcript of any evidence taken before said commission shall be certified to the board of supervisors sitting as a board of equalization, and a copy of the report shall be transmitted forthwith to the county assessor of said county. In the event that there is previously or subsequently filed with the board of equalization any application for and on behalf of the taxpayer concerning the properties covered by the aforesaid report of the commission, the aforesaid report, together with any transcript of hearings taken before said commission, shall be attached and made a part of said application. The board of equalization in its regular sessions may thereupon adopt the report of said commission or reject the same in full or in part. In so acting the board of equalization may in its discretion hear further evidence in support or in opposition to said application or it may base its finding and determination solely upon the aforesaid report with or without the attached transcript of the hearings before said commission."

Preliminary Report of Assembly Investigating Committee of the Drilling and Development of the Tidelands of the State of California.

The following report was ordered printed in the Journal:

To the Members of the Assembly of the Fifty-first Session of the California Legislature.

MEMBERS OF THE ASSEMBLY: Your Special Committee appointed by the Speaker of this Assembly, pursuant to resolution adopted by the Assembly on April 11, 1935, presents this, its preliminary report of the matters assigned to it, i.e., an investigation of the drilling and development of the tidelands of the State of California with reference particularly to the operations of various portions of the tidelands for drilling and production of oil and gas in the tide and submerged lands belonging to the State of California, and determining the reasonableness and satisfaction to the State of California of the revenues produced thereby, and in addition thereto, making a report to this body, of the evidence and findings on which a policy may be pursued by this State in the future development of the State tidelands, as set forth in the resolution.

Necessarily, by reason of the pressure of time, this committee has not been able to go into all the many details of past operations with respect to tideland drilling. It conducted investigations at Sacramento, Huntington Beach and at Los Angeles, and made a trip to Elwood and Rincon fields in Santa Barbara and Ventura counties, where tideland development of an oil pool is now in operation from piers and islands erected in the water. Hearings were held in the cities mentioned, a great many witnesses were subpenaed whose testimony was taken, and a transcript of which is herewith filed.

While there are many aspects of the whole situation that the committee would like to report upon as the result of its investigation from the testimony taken and its independent investigation, such a report would entail voluminous findings and would perhaps take it beyond the scope of its original inquiry, and we suggest that this committee be authorized to continue during the legislative recess and present an additional report at the beginning of the next legislative session.

Our report is divided into four parts:

1. Legislative history and development of State tidelands;
2. The present conditions and exploitation of tideland pools;
3. Findings of this committee relative to the establishment of a policy for future legislation in respect to tideland development.
4. Specific legislative recommendations.

1. PAST OPERATIONS AND BRIEF HISTORICAL LEGISLATIVE BACKGROUND

A resume of the history of legislation affecting the conservation of minerals beneath state-owned tidelands begins in 1921. In that year there was passed Chapter 303, Statutes of 1921, to reserve all the minerals in State lands to the State, and to provide for the granting of permits and leases to prospect for and to take any minerals located on State lands. The administration of the act was placed in the Surveyor General, which office was subsequently merged and the powers and duties of that office were transferred to the Division of State Lands of the Department of Finance.

Under Chapter 303, as amended, the Surveyor General was authorized to grant prospecting permits which would give the exclusive right for a period not exceeding two years to prospect for oil or gas upon State lands not exceeding 640 acres in area and which lands were not within any known geological structure of a producing oil or gas field.

Section 4 of the act relates to the granting of these permits and specifically provides that in no case shall permits or leases be granted covering tide, overflowed or submerged lands fronting on an incorporated city or for a distance of one mile on either side thereof; and that the littoral or riparian owner of tide, overflowed or submerged lands shall have six months in which to file an application after service of notice of the filing of an application for a permit by someone other than such littoral or riparian owner.

Upon the establishment to the satisfaction of the Surveyor General that valuable deposits of oil or gas have been discovered within the limits of the land embraced in any permit, the permittee is entitled to (1) a lease for one-fourth of the land included in the permit or for as much as 160 acres, for a term of 20 years upon a royalty of five per cent in amount or value of the product at the option of the Surveyor General; (2) preference right to a lease for the remainder of the land covered by the prospecting permit at such royalties as may be determined by competitive bidding or such other methods as the Surveyor General may by regulation prescribe, but in no case less than 12½ per cent in amount or value of the production.

All permits and leases are subject to the condition that no wells shall be drilled within 200 feet of the outer boundaries of the lands so permitted or leased, unless the adjoining lands have been patented or the title thereto otherwise vested in private owners.

In 1929, by Chapter 7, Statutes of 1929, sections 4 and 8 of the 1921 act were amended to provide that no permit to prospect for or drill for oil or gas and no lease of any tide, overflowed or submerged lands of the State should be made after the first day of September, 1929. By Chapter 536, Statutes of 1929, sections 23 and 24 were added to provide that no permits or leases should be granted for tidelands, submerged lands, or overflowed lands, or the beds of navigable rivers or lakes; provided, however, that the provisions of these sections should not apply to the holders of a valid prospecting permit granted upon an application filed prior to January 17, 1929, or to a littoral owner who had filed his preferential rights with respect to an application made prior to January 17, 1929.

By Chapter 593, Statutes of 1933, section 12 of the act was amended to provide that the Surveyor General be authorized to approve operating, drilling or development contracts made by one or more permittees or lessees in oil or gas leases or permits with one or more persons, associations, or corporations, whenever in his discretion the conservation of natural products or public convenience or necessity may require it, or the interests of the State of California may best be served thereby. It is further provided that whenever it appears to the Surveyor General that wells now drilled upon private lands are draining oil or gas from State lands upon which drilling is now prohibited by law (tide and submerged lands), the Surveyor General is authorized to negotiate, on behalf of the State, agreements whereby the State of California shall be compensated for such drainage.

Off the coast of California there are seven known tideland oil fields being of greater or less dimensions. Under the law of 1921, the Surveyor General had given permits along the coast of Santa Barbara and Ventura and Orange counties, some of which thereafter developed into leases, many of which are in operation today with the principal places being at Elwood in Santa Barbara County and Rincon in Ventura County. In both of these places there are steel piers of various lengths extending from the land to concrete well foundations in the ocean upon which wells have been drilled and from which oil is produced. All of these leases grew out of permits for exploration which carried only a 5 per cent royalty and from these leases the State, during 1934, received a return of approximately $150,000.

Huntington Beach.

Early in 1932 there was brought to the attention of the Division of State Lands a great flurry of drilling at Huntington Beach and the division shortly afterwards detailed investigators to secure what information they could, to detect if possible some manner of drilling being in operation that would cause the bit started on the upland to be directionally drilled out to sea, and the subsequent production from the hole so as to extract oil from the tideland pool This suspicion was confirmed and in 1933 suits were filed for the purpose of enjoining the theft of this State oil and finally a system of compromise was entered into by the State with these upland drillers by which the State has been paid a royalty on all of the oil so drained It is readily understandable that such a subterfuge of compromise is, in effect, a leasing of the State's lands. This means that the State is at the present time carrying on a policy without full legal sanction. This should be corrected by legislation.

With respect to the independent operators who have drilled from the townsite area, this committee feels that the Department of Finance has made every diligent effort to correctly ascertain and appraise to what extent oil, gas and other hydrocarbons have been obtained from its lands, and obtain compensation for its removal. These royalties are based upon a uniform scale of percentages based upon a mathematical formula, taking into consideration the two factors of price and production, the percentages becoming higher as these two factors increase The committee is of the belief that this scale is a fair one.

In addition to the wells covered by the settlement agreements, heretofore referred to, there are other wells Some of these may also have been drilled by wilfull trespassers, some may have penetrated the tidelands innocently. Regardless of motive, all are alike trespassers, all should be compelled to pay a fair royalty to the State We recommend that the State officials be directed to proceed against all trespassers and to effectuate a settlement with them at the same royalty and on the same terms as those already negotiated

The State has collected in royalties from the Huntington Beach pool a little over $2,000,000 of which $891,000 was earned and collected between March 1, 1934 and March 1, 1935.

2 PRESENT CONDITION OF FIELD

Based upon the testimony of numerous geologists who appeared and testified at the hearings before this committee, it would appear that the proven portion of the pool at Huntington Beach is some 250 acres in size, of which a little better than 95 acres has now been developed. This pool, as far as operations are concerned, has used a prolongation of 23d Street of the city of Huntington Beach as a marker to distinguish the separation of lands fronting the ocean controlled on the west side by the Standard Oil Company, including what is commonly referred to and known as the "Bailey Patch", and on the east side by numerous townsite lots which have been drilled from by numerous independent operators. At the present time there are some 88 wells drilled from the townsite into the tidelands, and as far as can be ascertained, some six wells belonging to the Standard Oil Company also are extended into the tidelands. By reason of the numerous wells coming into the pool south of 23d Street, it was the concensus of the experts who have appeared before this committee that the portion of the pool east of 23d Street has been amply developed West of 23d Street there are but few wells in comparison Yet, all geologists are in accord that the greatest portion of this pool as far as they can judge and determine lies west of 23d Street, which, by reason of there being but a small number of wells, has hardly been tapped, as far as wealth of resources is concerned.

Most of the geologists that have testified before the committee have been in unanimity that the apex of this pool or the axis of the anticline, as they term it, is approximately 1000 feet seaward from the mean high tide line

Present Legislation

At the present time there are pending before this Legislature three Assembly bills, all affecting tideland drilling. Dealing with them in the manner of their introduction, we present:

1. Assembly Bill No 465, by Assemblyman Utt, briefly provides for the adoption of a new section to be known as 6755 of the Political Code, giving to the Director of Finance authority to negotiate with upland owners having wells near the State tideland pool which do or are likely to secure oil from the tideland pool by drainage. (2) To enter into contracts with upland owners to drill directed wells slanted from the upland into tidelands; or, (3) If no satisfactory arrangement can be made with the upland owner, to enter into such contracts as may be necessary to protect the State's interest in tideland pools

2 Assembly Bill No 1539, by Assemblyman Cunningham This adds a new section known as 18a to Chapter 303, Statutes of 1921, and briefly, provides that the Surveyor General may grant leases on tidelands to be drilled from the upland

3. Assembly Bill No. 1684, by Assemblyman Burns, provides that any city or political subdivision is hereby prohibited from granting any leases upon the tidelands and that the Surveyor General may grant leases on the tidelands for the production of oil and gas to be drilled from the upland and repeals section 24 of the present act.

3. FINDINGS OF THIS COMMITTEE RELATIVE TO THE ESTABLISHMENT OF A POLICY FOR FUTURE LEGISLATION IN RESPECT TO TIDELAND DEVELOPMENT

With respect to the policy which the State should follow in the future development and exploitation of this large amount of potential wealth belonging to the State, the problem in general has not been an extremely difficult one

The proposal that the State itself drill into and develop the tidelands has received the consideration of the committee and although some of the members of the committee are sympathetic to the proposal as a more or less idealistic one, nevertheless, the committee is unanimous in its belief that as a practical matter the State can not at this time engage in any such activity. The greatest practical objection to such a means of development is that oil wells held by the State would of necessity have to be drilled from islands or piers in the tidelands

The proposal that the State might condemn littoral lands under the power of eminent domain and use such lands for the purpose of directional drilling into the tidelands has also come to the attention of the committee. Such a proposal likewise presents many problems It is quite likely that the State would be obliged to pay such a high award in the condemnation proceedings that the value of the development would be nullified. It is also quite likely that inasmuch as such littoral lands are in the main controlled by large oil companies the State would be involved in lengthy and expensive litigation before such properties could be acquired and developments commenced It must also be taken into consideration that in the development of such resources, a large amount of capital outlay is necessary before any financial return accrues to the State and that under existing proration a relatively long period of operation is necessary before even heavily producing wells pay for themselves

In view of the straitened condition of the State's finances, these considerations are very important It is also true that the oil business is a very competitive one and that the State, as a body politic, would probably be subject to many handicaps should it attempt to enter into any such competition. The inevitable conclusion to be arrived at is that development must be accomplished by means of lease agreements with private enterprises (The committee is also of the opinion that generally speaking, the known tideland fields can be adequately exploited by means of directional drilling from the upland. This method of drilling, although recent in development, has progressed rapidly and has reached a point of efficiency and precision)

As a matter of general policy, the committee is aware of the fact that the State of California possesses in its tourist attractions one of its greatest assets and that the attractive beaches and beach resorts throughout the State are a source of considerable revenue to business interests in the State, in addition to being of inestimable pleasure and aesthetic value The State of California has recently expended upward to $6,000,000 in acquiring beaches for the people of the State. We can not overlook the fact that the people of the State have, on two occasions, expressed themselves against any policy of tideland drilling

The foregoing statement of the committee is its recommendation and opinion with regard to the general policy of the State in the future development of the tideland oil and gas resources However, the facts heretofore incorporated in this report show the existence of a peculiar situation in the Huntington Beach area lying west of 23d Street, namely, that this undeveloped portion of the field has littoral lands that are controlled by a combination of three oil companies, to wit: The Standard Oil Company of California, The Signal Oil and Gas Company, and the Hancock Oil Company This means that restricted drilling from the uplands would be entirely conducted by these companies

The committee feels that the problem of determining whether or not tideland drilling should be permitted in this area in order that there might be competition between producers is of such importance that the question should not be determined by this committee alone and it, therefore, is presenting in this report the facts as they appear in order that the Legislature of California may determine whether it desires to permit tideland drilling in this one restricted area, having in mind at all times, however, that it is the recommendation of the committee that as a matter of general policy no further tideland drilling should be permitted even though the Legislature in its wisdom should believe that such a course is proper in this one particular field.

4. SPECIFIC LEGISLATIVE RECOMMENDATIONS.

Thus, in brief, the committee recommends that Assembly Bill No. 465, and Assembly Bill No. 1684 be reported out of the committees, and that a bill be introduced to provide that the Surveyor General can call for competitive bidding for a lease in the Huntington Beach area or the Director of Finance submit the most favorable lease he can obtain to the Legislature for ratification, and that all these be discussed upon the floor of the Assembly and the votes of the members, as representing the people of the State, be recorded.

We do not believe that capacity production at Huntington Beach can be had by only directional drilling from the uplands.

Supplementary Report.

The undersigned members present this as their report supplementary to the report of the committee as a whole.

The undersigned members of the committee believe that the key to the problem of capacity production at the Huntington Beach oil pool, so that the State may receive the most in royalties, is by competitive drilling. This can only be accomplished by allowing tideland drilling at Huntington Beach. Such competitive drilling would save for the State many thousands of dollars which would otherwise be lost to it by drainage by upland drilling.

The undersigned members of the committee also feel that general legislation designed to permit an administrative agency of the State to negotiate for and enter into leases at Huntington Beach is not sufficient to meet the situation We believe that a question of such importance to the people of the State and involving State resources of such great value should be passed upon specifically by the Legislature and not left to the discretion of any State administrative agency.

We believe the most feasible method of doing this is to have the Legislature ratify or reject past agreements entered into between the State and persons now drilling into the tidelands as well as any future agreements that may be submitted to this Legislature

Respectfully submitted.

Explanation of Vote.

I voted "Aye" on Assembly Bill No. 1 on the strength of its endorsement by labor, and on the ground that it has provisions purporting to strengthen labor organization; but I vote under protest because I know that the only ultimate answer to the collapse of capitalism must be the inauguration of socialism, and that any attempt to plan and regulate capitalism will ultimately be futile, not to say dangerous, as being the economic basis of Fascism.

PAUL A. RICHIE.

Statement of Vote.

Due to the fact that I had been called to the Governor's office at four o'clock p.m., to attend the signing of Assembly Bill No. 990, introduced by me, I was unable to be in the Assembly Chambers to vote on the final passage of Assembly Bill No. 1. Had I been present I would have voted "Aye" and desire the insertion of this statement to indicate my views on this measure.

"SECTION 1. Chapter 8 is hereby added to Division VI of the Agricultural Code to read as follows:

CHAPTER 8. PRORATION PROGRAM.

Sec. 1300. A petition for the institution of a program of prorated marketing with respect to a variety or kind of agricultural commodity may be presented to the director which shall be signed by not less than fifty producers of said variety or kind of agricultural commodity within the proposed prorating zone. If it be alleged in said petition that it is signed by two-thirds or more in number of the producers within the proposed zone of the commodity as to which it is proposed to institute a prorating program and by the owners of two-thirds or more in number of the producing factors of said commodity in said proposed zone, the number of signers shall be immaterial.

The said petition shall, among other things, contain:

1. A legal description of the district or districts comprising the proposed zone, together with a map thereof.

2. A general statement of facts showing the necessity for the institution of a prorating program; and

3. A request that an election be called in said zone for the purpose of submitting to the qualified producers therein the proposition of instituting a program of proration. If the petition is signed by the owners of two-thirds or more of the producing factors and two-thirds or more of the producers of the commodity concerned, as hereinbefore specified, it need not contain a request for an election.

There shall also be filed with said petition a good and sufficient undertaking to be approved by the director in double the amount of the probable cost of conducting the hearing of the petition, conditioned that the sureties will pay all such costs in case the petition be denied.

The signatures to said petition may be either in person or by duly authorized agent or representative and nothing herein shall be construed to prevent any cooperative or other marketing agency from signing such petition if thereunto properly authorized by producers for whom it purports to sign.

Sec. 1300.1. Upon the presentation of any such petition, the director shall hold a hearing at some central point located within the district described in said petition and proposed to be established as a proration zone. Notice of such hearing shall be given at least ten (10) days prior thereto by publication in a newspaper of general circulation printed and published in the district affected and by posting in at least three (3) conspicuous places in said district. In case the proposed proration zone includes more than one district the required notice shall be given in each district and the director shall hold hearings in each of said districts. At said hearings, the director shall receive and hear the evidence offered by the petitioners in support of the petition and by any interested person in opposition thereto. Said hearings may be adjourned from time to time and from place to place as the circumstances may require. A transcript of the proceedings at all such hearings shall be made by the director and shall be opened to inspection by any interested party.

Sec. 1300.2 If upon such hearing it shall be made to appear to the director:

(1) That the petition is signed in person or by proxy by the required number of producers and by the owners of the required number of producing factors; and

(2) That the economic stability of the agricultural industry concerned is being or is about to be imperiled by prevailing market conditions; and

(3) That agricultural waste is occurring or is about to occur; and

(4) That the institution of a program of prorated marketing will conserve the agricultural wealth of the State and will prevent threatened economic waste; and

(5) That the institution of a proration program as proposed in the petition will advance the public welfare without injustice to any producer; and

(6) That the proposed program may be instituted and conducted without permitting unreasonable profits to the producers and that the commodity named in the petition can not be marketed at a reasonable profit otherwise than by means of such a program; and

(7) That the proposed zone of proration includes all of the producing territory within this State reasonably necessary to render the proposed program feasible, it shall make written findings to that effect If in any case of any petition it shall appear to the director that the inclusion of territory additional to that described in the petition is necessary to the feasibility of the proposed program, it shall postpone further proceedings until notice shall have been given to the producers within such additional territory. Thereafter the director may complete said hearings and make findings in the manner hereinbefore provided If the director shall find against the existence of any of the facts required to be present under this section, he shall deny the petition.

Sec. 1300.3. If it shall be alleged in said petition that it is signed by two-thirds or more of the producers of the commodity named in the petition within the zone described and by the owners of two-thirds or more of the producing factors in said zone, proof shall be required in support of such allegation and the director shall make a finding with respect thereto. If it shall find such allegation to be the fact, and shall also find to exist all of the other facts specified in section 1300.2 of this act, the director shall forthwith make an order declaring the proposed program adopted and specifying the zone in which the program shall be effective.

Sec. 1300.4. If said petition shall have proposed an election in the proposed zone, and the director shall find to exist all of the facts specified in section 1300.2 hereof, thereupon he shall order an election to be held in the proposed original or modified zone. At any such election, the polling places shall be located in each of the regular county precincts, any part of which are included in proposed zone affected. At least twenty (20) days before any election called the director shall cause to be posted in three (3) public places in each election precinct notice of the time and place of holding the election and also post in the office of the county clerk of each county in which any part of the proposed zone affected is located a general notice specifying the polling places of each precinct.

Sec. 1300.5. At such elections only producers of the commodity named in the petition shall be entitled to vote and each producer shall be entitled to one vote for each producing factor which it is determined in the manner hereinafter specified he may be expected to utilize for production purposes in the ensuing season. At the time of posting notices of election, the agricultural commissioners of each county shall be notified thereof and it shall be the duty of such agricultural commissioners to prepare lists of producers entitled to vote in each precinct in their respective counties which lists shall be filed in the office of the county clerks of their respective counties at least five (5) days prior to the day of the election. Such lists shall also show the producing factors belonging to or controlled by each producer used in the production of the commodity as to which a proration program is proposed. Said agricultural commissioners shall at the same time notify by mail all producers whose names appear on such lists of the number of votes to which they are entitled. No irregularity in the mailing of such notices and no failure on the part of any producer to receive such notice shall affect the validity of the subsequent election.

Sec. 1300.6. Any producer whose name does not appear on the proper list and any producer claiming to be allotted an erroneous production estimate may make application to the agricultural commissioner to be placed on said list, or to be credited with the proper number of producing factors, as the case may be, and upon substantiating his claim, is entitled to have the error corrected. In the event any such producer shall be dissatisfied with the final action of the agricultural commissioner in that regard, he may appeal to the director. Producers may vote production only in the precincts in which it is listed. Corporations and firms shall have their voting rights similarly determined. Votes of producers may be cast either in person or by proxy through duly authorized representatives, which shall include marketing agencies.

Sec. 1300.7. At least five (5) days prior to the day fixed for the election, the board of supervisors of each county in which any part of the district or districts affected is situated shall appoint for each precinct from among those entitled to vote at the election, one inspector and two judges, who shall constitute a board of election for such precinct. If the board fail to appoint a board of election, or the members appointed do not attend at the opening of the polls on the morning of the election, the voters of the precinct present at that hour may appoint the board, or supply the place of an absent member thereof. The polls shall be kept open for the reception of votes from ten o'clock a.m. until six o'clock p.m. when the same must be closed. The election board shall, before the opening of the polls, post in a conspicuous place thereat a list of all persons entitled to vote in said precinct at said election, together with the factors of production of such persons. The ballots used at the election shall be provided by the director and one of the clerks of election shall deliver one of them to each person qualified to cast a vote, or to his representative by proxy. The election board shall retain and file with returns of the election all proxies presented at said election. At the close of the polls the board of elections shall at once proceed to canvass the votes and declare the result and shall forward its certificates of such result, together with all ballots used and all documents and papers used at such election, to the clerk of the board of supervisors of the county in which the precinct is located. A copy of said certificate certified by said clerk of the board of supervisors shall be by him forwarded to the director.

Sec. 1300.8. On the second Monday succeeding such election, the director shall proceed to canvass the votes cast thereat, and if upon such canvass it appears that two-thirds or more of the producing factors in the proposed zone as shown by the lists prepared by the agricultural commissioner, voted in favor of the institution of a proration program, the director shall declare such a program adopted. In order instituting a proration program, whether on petition or after election, the director shall define the zone affected, and shall designate it by some title indicative of the commodity concerned.

Sec. 1300.9. Any order of the director instituting a proration program and any other order of the director substantially affecting the rights of any interested party may be reviewed by any court of competent jurisdiction. Any such action must be commenced within thirty days after the effective date of the order complained of or within thirty days after the injurious effect complained of.

Sec 1300 10 In the event of the institution of a proration program in a marketing zone, it shall be the duty of the director to forthwith select a proration program committee of five producers and two handlers operating within the zone; provided, that any marketing agency controlling more than one-fifth of the production within the zone of the commodity subject to the program shall be entitled to name such proportion of the producer members of said committee as it controls of the production except that no such marketing agency shall be entitled to name more than three of the producer members of said program committee, provided further, that in the case of commodities, the bulk of which is processed before consumption, one of the producer members of said program committee shall be a processor. It shall be the duty of such committee to determine the method, manner and extent of prorating. Such prorating program may be altered or modified from time to time by such committee but the original program and any alteration or modification thereof must be approved by the director before it shall be made effective. Before approving any program or any alteration or modification thereof, the director shall hold a hearing in the zone and must find that the same is reasonably calculated to maintain the existence of the facts specified in section 1300.2 hereof. The members of such program committee shall not be entitled to compensation.

The program committee shall appoint an agent, approved by the director, who shall administer the proration program in the zone on behalf of the director. Such agent shall appoint such deputy agents and other assistants as may be necessary to properly direct the program.

Sec. 1300.11. In the event that a program committee shall fail within a reasonable time to present to the director a prorating program or shall present a program which is not consistent with the conditions specified in this act, the director shall initiate a proper program or shall modify the program presented, as the case may be, in conformity with the provisions of section 1300 2. If at any time during the operation of any proration program, it shall appear probable to the director that the program being carried out has ceased to be in conformity with the provisions of section 1300 2, it shall be the duty of the director, after hearing, to so modify such program as to obtain the conditions required by said section 1300.2.

Sec. 1300 12. After any prorating program has been formulated and has been approved by the director, the agent for the zone shall assume the administration of the program and any subsequent modification thereof and the issuance of proration certificates thereunder. Such certificates shall be divided into primary and secondary certificates. Each producer shall be entitled to one primary certificate which shall indicate the quantities of the commodity as to which the program has been instituted which the producer named in such certificate shall be entitled to harvest or otherwise prepare for market and delivery into the primary channels of trade. Said primary certificates shall also indicate from time to time the number of secondary certificates theretofore issued under it. Secondary certificates shall be numbered consecutively and shall be used to control the time and volume of harvesting or other preparation for disposal. Such secondary certificates shall accompany all deliveries of the prorated commodity by producers into a primary trade channel. It shall be unlawful for any commodity to be harvested, prepared for market or marketed unless and until there shall have been an appropriate secondary proration certificate issued therefor. It shall be unlawful for any producer to deliver to any dealer and for any dealer or handler in the primary channels of trade to have in his possession, within this State, any commodity produced in an established proration zone upon which a proration program has been instituted without an accompanying certificate issued under the authority of the director. Such certificates shall be negotiable between producers.

Sec. 1300 13 The agent under each zone program shall collect for each certificate issued to the producers, a reasonable and proportional fee to be fixed by the program committee so calculated as to produce the expenses of the administration of the program, the costs of the institution of the program, and a proper proportion of the cost of the maintenance of the department which shall not be less than ten per cent of the fees collected for certificates, but may be such percentage in excess of ten per cent as may be determined by the program committee. All such fees shall be paid monthly by the director into the State treasury to the credit of the "Agricultural Prorate Commission fund" which fund is hereby created All moneys credited to such funds shall be used only for the purpose of defraying the expenses of the organization and of administering and enforcing the program under which they were collected.

Sec. 1300.14. The director may establish such rules and regulations consistent with this act as may be necessary to carry out the purposes thereof, and through his duly authorized representatives and agents shall have access, solely for the purpose of investigating possible violations of any program, to the records of producers, dealers, distributors and handlers of a commodity as to which a proration program has been instituted, and shall have at all times free and unimpeded access to all buildings, yards, warehouses, storage and transportations, or any other facility or place in which any commodity under a proration program is kept, stored, handled or transported. "or other successors in interest shall have the right to apply to the board of supervisors of the county, in which said property is located, for a hearing, at which time he may make a showing of reason or reasons why he should be allowed to make a redemption of such property for less than the full amount, said amount to be stated in said application, which amount may be less than the total taxes, penalties, and costs accrued up to the date of such application. Such application must contain a physical and legal description of such property.

At the time of making such application, the petitioner shall deposit with the clerk of the board of supervisors a sufficient sum of money to cover the costs and advertising of such hearing and shall also deposit, to be held in trust, a quitclaim deed transferring all of his right, title, and interest in and to the said property to the said board of supervisors.

Notice of such hearing together with a copy of such application shall be published at least three weeks in some newspaper of general circulation published in the county, or city and county, or if there be no newspaper published therein, then by posting a notice in three conspicuous places in the county, or city and county, one of which shall be in or near the United States post office nearest the land. In addition to such publication or posting, a copy of the notice shall be conspicuously posted on the land itself. Said publication, if made by newspaper, shall be made once each week for three weeks and the hearing shall not be held until at least seven days subsequent to the last publication shall have elapsed, or if the notice is by posting, until twenty-one days have elapsed from the date of such posting. At the hearing of such application, any person other than the applicant shall have the right to offer to redeem the property involved for an amount greater than that offered by the applicant but such offer must be accompanied by a deposit of cash or certified check in an amount equal to ten per cent of such offer and such amount shall be deposited with the clerk of the board of supervisors when such offer is made.

If the applicant refuses to meet such offer, he will be deemed to have waived his right to the property and the board of supervisors may declare the property sold to the party making such offer, who shall then be required to complete the purchase under the same terms and conditions hereinafter set forth, or to forfeit the deposit made at the time of meeting such offer. At the time of such hearing, the applicant or his agent may produce either oral or written testimony which will tend to show the reason or reasons why a redemption of his property should be allowed for less than the full amount of taxes, penalties, and costs accrued thereon.

The board may, upon such showing, authorize the redemption of the property for the amount stated in said application or for some greater amount determined by the board, but in no case for more than the total taxes, penalties, and costs accrued thereon. The board may reserve its decision pending an investigation of the facts adduced at such hearing and for that purpose, may delegate such investigation to other officers of the county or may employ investigators for such purpose. The expense of such investigation to be a charge against the general fund of the county and they may render their decision after such investigation without further hearing, but such decision by the board must be made within thirty days from the date of such hearing. If the decision of the board of supervisors is for some other amount than that applied for by the applicant, the applicant shall have the right to choose whether or not he shall proceed with such redemption at the amount so fixed by the board's decision.

If the applicant or his agent does not notify the board of his intention to proceed with the redemption for the amount set by the board within ten days from the date of the notice to him by the said board of their decision, it shall be deemed that he has refused the offer of the board and the quitclaim deed heretofore deposited by him shall be returned to him by the clerk of the board of supervisors. The notice above provided to be given the applicant by the said board shall be sent by registered mail to either the applicant or his agent at the address specified in the application. If the applicant proceeds with the redemption of the property, either in the amount specified in the application or in some other amount determined as proper by the board of supervisors, he shall, within ten days after the receipt of the notice above mentioned, deposit with the clerk of the board of supervisors, an amount equal to ten per cent of the redemption price as fixed by the said board and shall be required to complete the payment of the adjusted price fixed by the board within thirty days thereafter and if not completed within the said thirty days or within an extended period granted by the board of supervisors, which extended period shall not be for more than thirty days additional, then the original payment of ten per cent shall be forfeited to the general fund of the county and the quitclaim deed heretofore provided for shall be retained by the county.

Should, however, the applicant have refused to meet an offer made by some other party as hereinbefore provided, then that other party shall have the right to redeem the said property in the same manner and under the same terms as hereinbefore set forth for redemption by the applicant and upon completion of such redemption, the board of supervisors shall transfer all of the right, title, and interest in and to said property conveyed to it by the applicant or acquired in any other manner to the redemptioner."

Amendment No. 6.

On page 2 of the printed bill, as amended, strike out lines 1 to 7, inclusive, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"Due to the fact that many properties throughout the State of California have ceased to pay taxes and there being no existing method by which such property can be sold or redeemed and because of the fact that in many cases the taxes, penalties, and costs accrued against such property amount to more than the present market value of such property, a method must be provided whereby the accrued taxes, penalties, and costs may be reduced to an amount which will make the redemption of such property possible and further, that this measure offers such an opportunity for the original owner to retrieve and retain the property which he has to all intents and purposes lost, probably through no fault of his own, but through economic stress. The operation of this law will, in a great measure, relieve the economic pressure now burdening the various political subdivisions of this State by recovering a portion of the taxes, penalties, and costs now charged against these properties and further by restoring to the revenue tax rolls the said properties which are now not bearing any proportion of the cost of government due to the fact that said properties are not now being taxed The pressing need for a method that will correct this condition is evidenced by the fact that in some counties this delinquent property approaches fifty per cent of the total taxable property within the county."

Two petitions were addressed to the Legislature, respectively by approximately 600 shopmen employed in the San Bernardino shops of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad and by more than 1100 men employed in the Sacramento shops of the Southern Pacific Company.

Approximately 2600 letters and telegrams from shippers and their associations were addressed to the Legislature or the Governor opposing the passage of train limit legislation. In addition, more than 3900 railroad employees also wrote or wired the Governor requesting veto of the bill. Among those opposing such legislation were Eliot Jones, professor of transportation, Stanford University, and vice chairman of committee on educational institutions of the Pacific Coast Transportation Advisory Board, and Stuart Daggett, professor of transportation, University of California. Their letters, as well as copies of typical resolutions opposing such legislation, copies of editorials in opposition thereto, and other details are set forth in the report on opposition to train limit legislation accompanying this statement.

Summarizing the foregoing, it appears that 85 chambers of commerce, 79 organizations and associations, plus the 30 organizations represented by the agricultural council, and 72 newspapers in California, are on record as opposed to this legislation, as well as the several thousand firms and individuals who have also voiced their opposition to train limit legislation

Amendment No. 2.

On page 1, line 1, of the printed bill, after the figure "1", insert the following: "Whenever in the opinion of the legislative body which conducted any proceeding or proceedings under that certain act of the Legislature of the State of California designated and known as the "Acquisition and Improvement Act of 1925," and pursuant to which proceeding or proceedings any bonds provided for in said act have been issued, the public interest, convenience or necessity require the acquisition and cancellation of any such bonds so issued, such legislative body is hereby authorized and empowered to order, under the provisions of this act, the acquisition and cancellation of any such bonds so issued; provided, however, that no proceeding may be taken under this act unless the total amount of the principal of the assessment readjustment bonds to be issued, as provided for in this act, is less than the total amount of the bonds proposed to be acquired and unless and until a written petition, consent and agreement, signed by the owners of more than one-half of the area of property: (a) within each district the bonds of which are to be acquired and canceled hereunder, and (b) within the district to be assessed hereunder for the purposes of such acquisition and cancellation; shall have been filed with the clerk of such legislative body requesting that such proceedings be taken hereunder, in which said petition, consent and agreement, such owners subscribing thereto consent and agree that, subject to such exceptions and limitations as may be set forth in such petition, consent and agreement, any contract or contractual relation existing between the property owners of such district or districts and the owners or holders of such outstanding bonds may be amended, modified, changed, terminated, abrogated, or otherwise altered, to any extent and in any particular or particulars necessary in order to accomplish the purposes of such proceedings hereunder. Unless otherwise limited by the context of this act the term "bonds" as used herein shall include bonds and their respective coupons.

SEC. 2. Before ordering the acquisition and cancellation of any such bonds, as hereinabove contemplated in section 1 of this act, such legislative body shall adopt a resolution declaring the intention of such legislative body so to do, which said resolution of intention shall contain a description of the boundaries of an assessment district to be created hereunder and which is to be assessed to pay the cost of acquisition of such bonds including all costs and incidental expenses of the proceedings under this act for the issuance of assessment readjustment bonds as herein contemplated. In the event any such resolution of intention declares or contemplates that the outstanding bonds of only one acquisition and improvement district are sought to be acquired and canceled hereunder, then the exterior boundaries of such district to be created hereunder shall be coterminous with the exterior boundaries of the assessment district against which such bonds were issued as fixed in the proceedings under said "Acquisition and Improvement Act of 1925" pursuant to which the same were issued and the properties to be assessed therein under the proceedings taken pursuant to the provisions of this act shall be the same properties as were assessed in the proceedings pursuant to which such bonds so to be acquired and canceled were issued. Outstanding bonds of more than one acquisition and improvement district may be acquired and canceled in a single proceeding under the provisions of this act, provided such acquisition and improvement districts are contiguous to or in any manner overlap each other. In the event any such resolution of intention declares or contemplates that outstanding bonds of more than one such acquisition and improvement district are sought to be acquired and canceled hereunder, then the exterior boundary line of the district to be created hereunder in such proceeding shall be an exterior boundary line which shall encompass and include all of the properties included within the composite area formed by the contiguous or overlapping or contiguous and overlapping districts the bonds of which are to be acquired and canceled hereunder and the properties to be assessed in such district created hereunder shall be the same properties as were assessed in the various proceedings pursuant to which such bonds so to be acquired and canceled hereunder were issued.

Such resolution of intention shall also contain a reference to the proceeding or proceedings under which such bonds were issued with sufficient clarity to identify the same and shall indicate the amount of bonds and of each series of bonds, if more than one series, which were originally issued against each of the respective districts created under such proceeding or proceedings, and also the amount or respective amounts of such bonds as the case may be, outstanding against such district or districts on the date of the adoption of such resolution of intention. Said resolution shall further state that it is proposed to issue bonds of the district to be created hereunder as contemplated in this act and shall specify the maximum amount for which such bonds are to be issued hereunder and the term for which such bonds are to be issued and the rate of interest to be paid thereon which shall not exceed seven per cent per annum. There shall also be stated in said resolution of intention the amount of any sum allocated, up to date of said resolution, from any source toward the payment and redemption of such outstanding bonds and a further statement to the effect that in the event any subsequent allocation is, or subsequent allocations are, made, that same will be used and applied toward the payment or redemption of such outstanding bonds and the reduction of the indebtedness of such district or districts. Said legislative body may also in said resolution of intention recite, in its discretion, the facts or circumstances upon which such body forms its finding or determination that the public interest, convenience or necessity require the acquisition and cancellation of such bonds and the creation of the district to be formed under this act for the purposes indicated. Said resolution shall contain also a notice of the day, hour and place when and where any and all persons having any objection or objections to the proposed acquisition and cancellation of such outstanding bonds or to the creation of such district, or to the issuance of bonds against the same, hereunder, may appear before such legislative body and show cause why said proposed district should not be created, or such assessment readjustment bonds issued for the purposes of the acquisition and cancellation of such existing bonds and the payment of the costs and incidental expenses of the proceedings under such resolution of intention, said time shall not be less than fifteen nor more than sixty days from the date of the adoption of said resolution.

SEC. 3. Any assessment district proposed to be created under the provisions of this act may be described in the resolution of intention by stating the exterior boundaries thereof, or by giving a description thereof according to any official or recorded map or maps, or by referring to a plat or map, approved by such legislative body, which shall be on file in the office of the city, county, or city and county, officer whose office has been designated by the legislative body of the city, county, or city and county, conducting the proceedings hereunder, as the office in which same is to be so filed, at the time of passing the resolution of intention, which shall indicate by a boundary line the extent of the territory included in the proposed district, which said plat or map shall govern for all details as to the extent of said assessment district. The said district need not be described in any of the notices or resolutions provided for herein other than the resolution of intention.

SEC. 4. Resolutions of intention adopted under the provisions of this act shall be published and notice of the passage and adoption thereof shall be given and posted in the same time, form and manner as is provided in that certain act of the Legislature of the State of California designated and referred to as the "Improvement Act of 1911," as amended, for resolutions of intention adopted under the provisions of said last mentioned act; provided, however, that the notices required to be posted under the provisions of said last mentioned act shall be headed "Notice of proposed acquisition and cancellation of certain outstanding bonds and of the creation of an assessment district in connection therewith to pay the costs and expenses thereof and of the proceedings incidental thereto." Said notices shall, in legible characters, state the fact of the passage of the resolution of intention, its date and briefly the purpose of the proceeding as indicated in such resolution of intention and may refer to the resolution of intention on file in the office of the clerk of such legislative body for further particulars. Said notices shall contain also a statement of the day, hour and place when and where any and all persons having any objections to the proposed acquisition and cancellation of such issued bonds, or to the creation of such district, or to the issuance of bonds against the same, hereunder, may appear before such legislative body and show cause why said proposed district should not be created, or such assessment readjustment bonds issued for the purpose of acquisition and cancellation of such existing bonds and the payment of the costs and incidental expenses of the proceedings under such resolution of intention.

SEC. 5. Written protests against the proposed acquisition and cancellation of such issued bonds, or against the creation of such proposed district, or against the issuance of bonds of such district, hereunder, for the purpose proposed, may be made and filed in the same manner and subject to the same terms and conditions as is provided for in the case of protests under said "Improvement Act of 1911" above referred to; provided, however, that any such protest or protests made by the owners of more than one-half of the area of the property to be assessed for the purposes recited in the resolution of intention, may not be overruled by any action of such legislative body, but such a protest or protests shall operate to bar any further proceedings under the resolution of intention referred to in such proceedings and no other proceedings under this act relating to such district or districts, shall be commenced within a period of three months after the date of the determination by the legislative body of the fact that such a majority protest has been made. The legislative body may adjourn such hearings from time to time. If no protests or objections, in writing, as contemplated in this act, have been delivered to the clerk of such legislative body up to the hour set for hearing, provided in section 2 hereof, or when a protest, other than a protest which is a bar hereunder, shall have been heard and denied, immediately thereupon the legislative body shall be deemed to have acquired, subject to the further provisions of this act, jurisdiction to order the issuance of bonds of such district up to but not exceeding the principal amount specified in the resolution of intention for the purpose of the acquisition and cancellation of such issued bonds and the payment of the costs and expenses incidental to the proceedings hereunder.

SEC. 6. After such legislative body shall have acquired jurisdiction to proceed further under the provisions of this act, as hereinabove provided, said legislative body shall cause a notice to be published in the same newspaper in which the resolution of intention was published, if same still exists, otherwise in such newspaper as such legislative body may designate and which is located in the county, or city and county, in which such legislative body has jurisdiction, which said notice shall be headed (with blanks appropriately filled in) substantially as follows: "Notice to holders of bonds of acquisition and improvement district ___ No. _____ and _____ of the _____ (political subdivision) California." Said notice shall briefly set forth the fact of the adoption of the resolution of intention hereunder, its date, and the purpose of the proceeding indicated in such resolution of intention and shall refer to said resolution for further particulars. Said notice shall further briefly state the maximum amount and the character of bonds which it is proposed to issue hereunder against the district described in such resolution and the rate of interest to be paid thereon. In said notice, such legislative body shall invite the holders of the issued bonds proposed to be acquired and canceled in such proceedings, to submit, in writing, to such legislative body, in the event such bondholders desire so to do, a proposal or proposals setting forth the terms and conditions upon which such bondholders will deliver to such legislative body or to such official as may be designated by such legislative body their respective bonds proposed to be acquired and canceled hereunder for cancellation in consideration of the delivery to such bondholders of assessment readjustment bonds to be issued against the district described in said resolution of intention, or in consideration of the payment to such bondholders of a sum or sums, in cash, to be specified in such proposal or proposals, or in consideration of the delivery and payment to such bondholders of any combination of such assessment readjustment bonds and cash as may be stated in such proposal or proposals. If, pursuant to such notice, there shall be filed with such legislative body, in writing, a proposal or proposals which provide for the surrender and cancellation, or redemption as herein provided, of not less than seventy-five per cent of the principal amount of all of the outstanding bonds referred to in the resolution of intention, such legislative body shall have authority to order such person as said legislative body may designate to make a diagram of the property within said assessment district created hereunder, affected or benefited by the proposed acquisition and cancellation of such outstanding bonds and to be assessed to pay the cost thereof and the expenses incidental thereto. Such diagram shall show each separate lot, piece or parcel of land, and the dimensions of each such lot, piece or parcel of land, within the limits of such assessment district. Such person, so designated by such legislative body to make such diagram, or such other person as said legislative body may designate, shall, upon the completion thereof, proceed to estimate upon the lands, lots or portions of lots within said assessment district as shown by said diagram, the benefits arising from the acquisition and cancellation of such issued bonds, and to be received by each such lot, portion of such lot, piece or subdivision of land, and shall thereupon assess upon and against said lands in said assessment district the total net amount of the cost of the acquisition and cancellation of such issued bonds and the costs and expenses incidental to the proceedings hereunder to be assessed against the lands within said district hereunder, and in so doing shall assess said total sum upon the several pieces, parcels, lots or portions of lots, and subdivisions of lands in said assessment district, benefited thereby, to wit: upon each, respectively, in proportion to the estimated benefits to be received by each of said several lots, portions of lots, or subdivisions of land. The terms, "lot", "lots", "lands", "piece" or "parcel" of land, wherever mentioned in this act, shall be deemed to have the same meaning as such terms have assigned to them respectively in said "Improvement Act of 1911" above referred to. At the time of the making of the assessment hereunder and in estimating the benefits to be received by each such lot, portion of such lot, piece or subdivision of land, among other things, there shall be taken into consideration the following

(a) The principal amount of all such bonds originally issued;

(b) The amount of special assessment levies theretofore made on account of such bonds;

(c) The amount of outstanding bonds proposed to be acquired and canceled;

(d) The number of issues of such bonds if more than one;

(e) The amount or amounts which have been collected or paid into the interest and sinking fund of any such district or districts, the bonds of which are to be acquired and canceled hereunder, for, or on account of, any lot, piece or parcel of land upon assessments theretofore levied to pay the principal and interest of such bonds;

(f) The delinquency in the payment of any such assessments so levied which may exist against any such lot, piece or subdivision of land;

(g) The allocation, if any, referred to in the resolution of intention and any subsequent allocations or additional amounts which may have been subsequently added to such allocated amount;

(h) Any costs and expenses incidental to the proceedings hereunder; and

(i) The amount of any discount or discounts or other concession or concessions referred to in the proposal or proposals of the bondholders hereinabove referred to. When such diagram and such assessment shall have been made, the same shall then be filed with the clerk of such legislative body. Such clerk shall then give notice of the filing of the same and of a time to be therein fixed by said clerk when all persons interested in the acquisition and cancellation of such issued bonds, or in the diagram or assessment, will be heard by such legislative body. Such notice shall also recite the fact of the filing of such proposal or proposals by such bondholders and shall briefly indicate the terms, conditions and basis thereof and shall refer to such resolution of intention and to such proposal or proposals of such bondholders and to such diagram and assessment so on file for further particulars with reference thereto Such notice shall be posted for not less than five days on or near the door of the chamber in which such legislative body conducts its regular public meetings and in addition, shall be published twice, before the date designated for such hearing, in the newspaper in which the resolution of intention was published, if same still exists, otherwise in such newspaper as such legislative body may designate and which is published and circulated in the territory in which such legislative body has jurisdiction. Such notice shall also be given by such clerk by mailing a copy of the same at least fifteen days prior to the time fixed for such hearing, to the owner of each lot, parcel or subdivision of land listed according to the name and address appearing on the last equalized assessment roll for city, county, or city and county taxes prior thereto, or as known to such clerk. Such notice so to be mailed shall also designate the property within the assessment district belonging to said owner by a description sufficient to enable the property owner to identify the property and a statement of the amount proposed to be assessed against such property Such clerk shall upon the completion of such mailing, file with such legislative body an affidavit setting forth the time and manner of the compliance with the above requirement for such mailing. The failure of such clerk to give such notice by mailing or of the person addressed to receive same shall not affect the jurisdiction of the legislative body to proceed with the hearing noticed The owners and all other persons interested in the proposed acquisition and cancellation of such issued bonds, or in the diagram or assessment, feeling aggrieved by any act or determination of the person or persons who prepared such diagram and assessment in relation thereto, or having or making any objection to the correctness of the assessment or diagram, or other act, determination or proceedings of the person or persons who prepared the same, shall, prior to the day fixed for the hearing upon such assessment, appeal to such legislative body by briefly stating in writing the grounds of such appeal Upon such appeal, such legislative body may remedy and correct any error or informality in the proceedings, and revise and correct any of the acts or determinations of the person or persons who made such diagram and assessment relative to said diagram or assessment; may confirm, amend, alter, modify or correct the assessment or diagram in such manner as to such legislative body shall seem just; and may instruct and direct the person who made such assessment and diagram to correct such assessment or diagram in any particular. All the decisions and determinations of such legislative body, upon notice and hearing as aforesaid, shall be final and conclusive upon all persons entitled to appeal under the provisions of this section, as to all errors, informalities and irregularities which such legislative body might have avoided, or have remedied during the process of the proceedings or which it can at that time remedy. No assessment or diagram, and no proceedings prior to the assessment, shall be held invalid by any court for any error, informality or other defect in the same, where the resolution of intention of the legislative body adopted thereunder has been actually published as herein provided When no appeal is taken or when the orders and determinations of the legislative body upon appeal have been complied with, and such legislative body is satisfied with the correctness of the assessment thereupon such legislative body shall forthwith confirm the proceedings and the assessment and the clerk of such legislative body shall attach thereto a certified copy of the order of such legislative body confirming the same and shall state in such certificate the date upon which such order was so adopted Provided, however, and notwithstanding anything contained in this act to the contrary, in the event any such appeal is or such appeals are made by the owners of more than one-half the area of the property to be assessed for the purposes recited in the resolution of intention and such appeal or appeals further contain an express protest against the issuance of such assessment readjustment bonds and the taking of any further proceedings under the resolution of intention in said matter, then, but only in such event, shall such legislative body be deprived of jurisdiction to proceed further hereunder in such proceedings and no new resolution of intention with reference to the same matter, under the provisions of this act, may be adopted by such legislative body for a period of three months from the date of the determination of such legislative body that such a majority appeal or protest, or appeals or protests have been filed.

SEC 7 In the event no such majority protest or appeal constituting a bar to further proceedings under the provisions of this act has been filed and such legislative body shall have confirmed the assessment as originally filed, or as modified or corrected as herein provided, such legislative body shall be deemed to have acquired jurisdiction to proceed further in such proceedings under the provisions of this act and to issue assessment readjustment bonds in the manner, to the extent and form hereinafter provided, to represent assessments for the cost of the acquisition and cancellation of such outstanding bonds and of the costs and expenses incidental to the proceedings Such assessment readjustment bonds so to be issued, shall be serial bonds; shall be substantially in the form as the street improvement bonds provided for in said "Improvement Act of 1911" hereinabove referred to,

In the event such deposit be made with the treasurer of the political subdivision over which such legislative body has jurisdiction, such treasurer shall, and he is hereby empowered, authorized and required so to do, make all payments of principal and interest thereafter maturing on any such outstanding, lost or otherwise unobtainable bonds for the payment and redemption of which such deposit was made, such payments to be made as such bonds mature and installments of interest thereon become payable according to the terms and tenor thereof; provided, however, in the event any holder or owner of any bond or bonds payable out of such fund on deposit with such treasurer at any time desires so to do, he may surrender any of such bond or bonds for cancellation, in which case he shall receive, out of such fund, the full amount of the principal sum of such bond or bonds, plus accrued interest to and including the date of such surrender and cancellation.

Upon the making of such order, all such outstanding bonds, referred to in the resolution of intention, (excepting only such thereof for the payment of which a deposit or arrangement for the redemption or payment of which shall have been made as herein provided) and all unpaid special assessment taxes levied to pay principal and interest on such issued bonds and all penalties and interest thereon shall be deemed to be, and shall be, canceled and annulled and the clerk of such legislative body shall notify the proper officials of the city, or of the county, or of the city and county, or any or all of such proper officials, as the case may be, that such outstanding bonds and all unpaid special assessment taxes levied to pay principal and interest of the same and all penalties and interest thereon have been canceled and annulled and such proper officials shall thereupon proceed to make the necessary entries showing the cancellation thereof and thereafter no further taxes or assessments shall be levied for the purposes of paying or redeeming such bonds and the districts against which same were issued shall thereupon be deemed dissolved and any payments made thereon, or on account thereof, subsequent to such dissolution shall be refunded to the person or persons who paid the same. Upon such dissolution of such district or districts any lien or liens then existing against the lands within the same by virtue of proceedings taken or assessments levied and pursuant to which such bonds were issued shall be canceled, satisfied and discharged and the then uncanceled bonds above excepted, if any, shall be payable only out of the deposit with such treasurer hereinabove referred to according to their terms and tenor or as may be provided in any such decree or order under the said bankruptcy laws. Said diagram and assessment shall thereupon be recorded in the office of such official of the political subdivision over which such legislative body has jurisdiction as such legislative body may, by resolution, so designate, which said official so designated shall indorse thereon the date of such recording. When so recorded the several amounts assessed shall be a lien upon the lands, lots, or portions of lots assessed, respectively, and such lien shall so continue until it be discharged of record. From and after the date of said recording of any assessment and diagram, all persons shall be deemed to have notice of the contents thereof. Said bonds shall bear date as contemplated in the case of bonds issued under said "Improvement Act of 1911."

SEC. 11. At any time prior to the final confirmation of the assessment hereunder by such legislative body, such legislative body may receive and accept from any source whatsoever and from any person or persons, contributions of any sum or sums or amount or amounts of money in cash, to be applied on the total amount of the cost of the acquisition and cancellation of such outstanding bonds and the costs and expenses incidental to the proceedings hereunder, thereby reducing to that extent the total sum to be assessed upon the several pieces, parcels, lots, or portions of lots and subdivisions of land in the assessment district; provided, however, that in the event, for any reason assessment readjustment bonds are not thereafter issued under the proceedings in connection with which any such contribution is, or such contributions are, made, such legislative body shall have the right, and it is hereby authorized and empowered, to refund any such contribution or contributions to the person or persons who made the same. Nothing herein contained however, shall be construed as preventing such legislative body from paying the costs and expenses of any proceedings hereunder, in whole or in part, from any fund, funds or money over which such legislative body has jurisdiction and control and which are legally applicable to the payment of costs and expenses of proceedings under the laws of the State of California

Said legislative body may appropriate funds from the general fund, or from any funds available to such legislative body for any or all of the purposes contemplated in this act

SEC 17 This act shall be liberally construed to the end that its purposes may be effective No error, irregularity, informality, and no neglect or omission of any officer of a city, county, or city and county, in any procedure taken hereunder, which does not directly affect the jurisdiction of the legislative body to order the issuance of "assessment readjustment bonds" hereunder, shall void or invalidate such proceeding or any assessment for the cost of acquisition and cancellation of such issued bonds and of the costs and expenses incidental to proceedings under this act The exclusive remedy of any person affected or aggrieved thereby shall be by appeal to the legislative body as herein provided

SEC 18 If any section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase of this act is for any reason held to be unconstitutional such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this act The Legislature hereby declares that it would have passed this act irrespective of the fact that any one or more sections, subsections, sentences, clauses or phrases thereof be declared to be unconstitutional

SEC 19 No action to test the validity of, or to set aside, or to attack or annul any petition or proceeding hereunder up to and including the resolution of intention herein provided for shall be commenced in any court unless the same be so commenced within ninety days after the date of the adoption of such resolution, excluding the date of such adoption; nor shall any action to test the validity of or to set aside, or to attack or annul any proceeding hereunder subsequent to said date of the adoption of said resolution of intention, be commenced or be prosecuted unless same be commenced within ninety days after the date of recordation of the assessment or diagram as hereinabove provided; and any action commenced subsequent to the periods of limitation hereinabove provided for shall be forever barred and the court upon being advised of such fact shall immediately dismiss any such barred action. Reassessments may be ordered and made under this act for the same reasons and for the same purposes and when made shall have the same force and effect as reassessments made, or authorized to be made, under the provisions of said "Improvement Act of 1911".

SEC 21 This act may be designated and referred to as the "Assessment Readjustment Act of 1935"

SEC 22 That certain act of the Legislature of the State of California approved June 5, 1933, which is commonly known, designated and referred to as the "Assessment Readjustment Act of 1933," is hereby repealed.

SEC 23. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety within the meaning of section 1, Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California, and shall take effect immediately

The facts constituting such urgency are as follows:

Numerous acquisition and improvement districts have been created in the State of California under the provisions of said Acquisition and Improvement Act of 1925 and landowners owning properties located therein are in dire distress financially. The lands therein have become greatly in arrears in the payment of taxes and assessments and consequently the bonds of such districts are and have been delinquent for a considerable period of time The great bulk of the property within such districts is subject to tax and assessment liens of various kinds for delinquent taxes and assessments Previous refunding acts adopted by the Legislature have been declared invalid by the Supreme Court of the State of California and unless extraordinary means are provided for the returning of such lands and properties to the tax rolls, on a tax paying basis, it will be impossible for the landowners to pay their taxes and assessments and save their respective properties in such districts. The collection of taxes for general city and county governmental purposes within such districts has been, and is being, seriously and adversely affected and governmental agencies have been, are being, and will continue to be, deprived of necessary revenues which are urgently and immediately required in order to perform governmental services and functions. The great bulk of the property owned by said owners within such districts will shortly be deeded to the State and lost to the owners thereof, and danger to life, health and property now exists and will continue to increase

This act is also necessary to accomplish the clearing of the titles to lands and properties located within such districts, to secure the payment of taxes, tolls and charges, to permit the landowners to retain possession of their lands and to continue to occupy, use and develop the same, and thereby to prevent the destruction of life, health and property"

"SECTION 1. The production of crude petroleum oil in the State of California in such manner, under such conditions and in such amounts as to constitute or result in waste, as hereinafter defined, is hereby declared to be opposed to the public interest and is hereby prohibited.

SEC. 2. The term "waste" as used herein shall include underground waste or destruction without beneficial use, or surface waste or destruction, waste by reduction of the total quantity of recoverable crude petroleum oil in any underground source of supply by the careless or improper drilling or operation of wells, and the waste incident to or resulting from the production of crude petroleum oil when the current production, together with the amount of crude petroleum oil or its products in storage exceeds the current requirements for use within and for shipment to points without the State, and for the maintenance in storage of such reserves of crude petroleum oil or its products as are reasonably necessary to meet and insure the continuity of an adequate supply of crude petroleum oil or its products for such current requirements. The loss by evaporation or leakage and the increased hazard of loss from fire and other causes resulting from the storage of crude petroleum oil or its products in excess of the quantities which are reasonably necessary to insure continuity of an adequate supply for such current requirements is waste within the meaning of this act.

SEC. 3. There is hereby created an Oil Conservation Commission which shall consist of seven members who shall be chosen as follows: The Governor of the State of California shall appoint said commissioners for terms of four (4) years. Each of said commissioners shall be an experienced oil industry man; two of said commissioners shall be selected from the major oil companies and three shall be selected from the minor oil companies; the other two commissioners shall be business men selected from the oil information or publicity industry in mineral oil development.

All of said commissioners shall have had experience in the oil and hydrocarbon industry, and the Governor in office shall appoint the successors of each of said appointees upon the resignation or termination of the appointment of each of said commissioners hereafter. The term "major oil companies" shall include those companies doing business in the State of California and elsewhere. The term "minor oil companies" shall include those doing business exclusively within the State of California.

SEC. 4. It shall be the duty of the oil conservation commission from time to time to inquire into the production of crude petroleum oil in this State and the extent of the current requirements for use within and for shipment to points without the State and of requirements for the maintenance in storage of such reserves as are reasonably necessary to meet and insure the continuity of an adequate supply of crude petroleum oil and its products for such requirements in order to enable it to determine whether or not waste as herein defined exists. For this purpose the Oil Conservation Commission shall have the power and it shall be its duty to adopt such rules and regulations as shall enable it to ascertain all the facts upon which the proper and adequate enforcement of this act shall depend. Said commission shall have the right to require any producer or producers of such crude petroleum oil or any operators of any drilling or producing well or wells, and any absorption or refining plant connected therewith to make and file sworn statements of production of or facts concerning any well or wells under their contract or control whenever and as often and for such periods as it may specify and such well or wells may be inspected or gauged or the production therefrom gauged in such manner and under such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by such commission.

All of the records of the Oil and Gas Supervisor of the State of California shall be available for the use of said Oil Conservation Commission under this act.

Said commission shall likewise have the power to require owners or operators of any storage facilities of crude petroleum oil or its products in this State to make and file sworn statements regarding the same and the quantity and quality of the oil or its products in storage, in such manner and to such extent as shall be prescribed by said commission by rules and regulations or by specific order in the performance of its duties under this act

SEC. 5. Upon complaint of the Oil Conservation Commission, or upon the verified complaint of any producer of crude petroleum oil in this State, or upon complaint of the Director of Natural Resources of this State, that waste of crude petroleum oil as herembefore defined is being committed in this State, it shall hold a hearing in one of the counties in which it is alleged that such waste is being committed, to determine whether or not such or any waste is being committed. At least five (5) days prior to the date of said hearing the commission shall cause notice of the time and place of said hearing to be published in a newspaper of general circulation printed and published in each county in which it is alleged that waste is being committed, and to be posted in at least three (3) conspicuous places in each field or locality in which it is alleged that such waste is being committed; provided, however, that in lieu of notice by posting or by publication, personal service of such notice upon any person, firm or corporation at least five (5) days prior to the date of said hearing shall be sufficient notice of such hearing to such person, firm or corporation. Said notice shall also specify the commonly accepted name or general description of the field or fields or locality or localities in which the waste is alleged to be taking place and the county or counties in which the same are situated At said hearing all persons interested shall be entitled to be heard and to introduce evidence Said hearing shall first be held at the place specified in said notice and may be by the commission adjourned from time to time for further hearing or hearings at such place or places as may be specified by it upon such adjournments, respectively, in the county or any of the counties in which it is alleged waste is being committed as set forth in the original notice of such hearing. Each member of the Board of Oil Conservation Commissioners and each representative of such commission appointed and designated to take testimony at the hearing provided herein shall have power to administer oaths, take affidavits and issue subpenas for the attendance of witnesses at such hearing The superior court in and for the county, or city and county, in which any hearing may be held under the authority of this act shall have power to compel the attendance of witnesses, the giving of testimony and the production of papers as required by any subpena issued hereunder. The Oil Conservation Commission or its representatives before whom the testimony is to be given or produced may, in case of refusal of any witness to attend or testify or produce any papers required by such subpena, report to the superior court in said county, or city and county, by petition, setting forth that due notice has been given of the time and place of the attendance of said witness or the production of said papers and that the witness has been summoned in the manner prescribed in this act and has failed and refused to attend or produce the papers required by the subpena before the commission or its representative in the case or proceeding named in the notice of time and place of hearing and subpena, or has refused to answer questions propounded to him in the course of said proceedings, and ask an order of said court to compel the witness to attend and testify or produce said papers before the commission or its representative The court, upon such petition, shall enter an order directing the witness to appear before the court at a time and place to be fixed by the court in such order, the time to be not more than five (5) days from the date of the order, and then and there show cause why he has not attended or testified or produced said papers before the commission or its representative. A copy of said order shall be served upon said witness. If it shall appear to the court that said subpena was regularly issued by the commission or its representative, the court shall thereupon enter an order that said witness shall appear before the commission or its representative at the time and place entered in such order and testify or produce the required papers, and upon failure to obey said witness shall be dealt with as for contempt of court.

The commission or its representative may in any investigation or hearing cause the deposition of witnesses residing within or without the State to be taken in the manner prescribed by law for like depositions in civil actions in the superior courts of this State and to that end may compel or cause to be compelled as hereinabove set forth, the attendance of witnesses and the production of documents and papers.

SEC. 6 If upon the hearing the commission finds that waste is being committed and if such waste be incident to or result from the wasteful overproduction of crude petroleum oil as defined in section 2 hereof, the commission shall make an order fixing therein the amount of nonwasteful production for the State of California and for the several oil fields within the State, respectively, found to be contributing to such waste, and for each such oil field fixing therein the amount of allowable production for the several zones, producing properties or well or wells in such oil field, so as to stop said waste. The aggregate amount of production without waste, as so determined, shall be so allocated by the commission among the different fields and the different zones, properties and wells in the respective fields as to avoid discrimination in the quantity of production from any field or zone or property as compared with the quantity of production from any other field, zone or property, taking into consideration the extent of the respective fields, zones or properties and their recoverable oil content, the state of development of each field or zone, the potential production of the wells, the size and condition of the wells, the quality of the oil produced from each field or zone, and the demand therefor.

If the commission finds that waste other than waste incident to or resulting from excessive production, as hereinabove set forth, is being committed, it shall enter its order or orders requiring the person, firm or corporation found to be committing such waste to desist from the same within such time and to the extent specified in such order or orders.

SEC. 7. Each order shall state the time during which the same shall be effective and may provide for subsequent hearings for the purpose of determining upon the necessity of and providing for the amendment, modification or setting aside of any such order. The property or properties or well or wells referred to therein shall be described by using the commonly known name or designation thereof filed with the State Oil and Gas Supervisor.

A copy of each order made by the commission shall be mailed to each person, firm or corporation operating any property affected by said order.

No failure to mail copies of any order of the commission as hereinabove provided shall affect the validity of the same.

Any order of the commission may at any time or times be amended, modified or set aside by the commission upon hearing, upon notice as hereinbefore prescribed for the original hearing, or had as provided for in such order.

A copy of each order when made by the commission shall be filed with the Director of the Department of Natural Resources of the State.

SEC. 8. If and when an order of the commission shall be made fixing the amount of allowable production from any oil-producing property within the State, and notice thereof shall have been given as hereinbefore provided, no crude petroleum oil produced in violation of such order shall be removed by any third person, firm or corporation from the property where the same was produced.

SEC. 9. If and when any order shall be made by the commission hereunder fixing the quantity of allowable production from any oil-producing property within the State, and notice thereof shall have been given as hereinbefore provided, if thereafter any person, firm or corporation operating any such property shall produce therefrom a quantity of crude petroleum oil in excess of the quantity allowed to such property under said order of the commission pending proceedings in a court of competent jurisdiction as provided in section 11 hereof, the well or wells on said property shall be entirely closed in until such time as the amount which said well or wells could produce under the order of said court equals the amount theretofore produced in excess of the amount allowed by said order. Thereupon such well or wells may be restored to production upon the basis allowed by such order of said court.

SEC. 10 Any producer of crude petroleum oil or operator of any drilling or producing well or wells, or owner or operator of any storage facilities of crude petroleum oil referred to in this act, or employee thereof, or of any refining plant or absorption plant who refuses to permit the commission or its representative to inspect the same, and every person, firm, association, corporation, trust or syndicate, whether as principal, agent, servant, employee or otherwise, failing or neglecting or refusing to furnish any report or record or statement which may be required pursuant to the provisions of this act, or who wilfully renders or furnishes a false or fraudulent report or statement or record, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 11. If any person, firm or corporation violates any order of the Oil Conservation Commission made hereunder and persists in such violation after having been given notice of said order as herein provided, the Director of the Department of Natural Resources of this State may, and upon request of such commission must, bring an action by complaint in equity in the name of the people of the State of California against such person, firm or corporation in the superior court for any county in which any of the property covered by such order is situated, to restrain the commission of waste as herein defined. There may be joined in the same proceeding any number of defendants alleged to be violating the same order, although their properties and interests may be severally owned, may be situated in several counties, and their actual violations of the order may be separate and distinct. In such action the court shall enjoin the defendants from violating said order or may find to what extent waste is being committed as herein defined regardless of said order, and enter judgment accordingly. In event the order is determined to be invalid, the court may dismiss said action without prejudice to the right and jurisdiction to conduct further hearings and make a new order in the premises by giving notice thereof as is in this statute provided. In any action for injunction brought hereunder no restraining order shall be issued ex parte but otherwise the procedure shall be governed by the provisions of Chapter III, Title VII, Part 2, of the Code of Civil Procedure of the State of California and pending appeal no temporary or permanent injunction issued in such proceeding shall be refused or dissolved or stayed upon the giving of any bond or undertaking, or otherwise.

SEC. 12. The Department of Natural Resources shall annually on or before the first Monday in March, acting in conjunction with the State Board of Control, make an estimate of the amount of moneys which shall be required to carry out the provisions of this act. Said amount of money shall be provided which shall be levied, assessed, equalized and collected in the manner at the same time as is provided for the collection of the charges under the provisions of an act entitled "An act to protect the natural resources of petroleum and gas approved June 10, 1915, Chapter 718, amended 1917, Chapter 759, amended 1919, Chapter 538, amended 1921, Chapter 912, amended 1929, Chapter 535," and shall be paid into the petroleum and gas fund created by section 46 of the act above referred to in addition to the amount provided for in said act.

SEC. 13 Out of any moneys in the State treasury not otherwise appropriated, there is hereby appropriated the sum of fifty thousand dollars, which said sum shall be immediately transferred by the State Controller on the books of his office from the general fund to the petroleum and gas fund created by section 46 of the act last above referred to. The above mentioned fund shall be expended by the Department of Natural Resources in carrying out the provisions of this act and for the necessary expense of the Controller in carrying out the provisions of this act On or before July 1, 1935, said sum of fifty thousand dollars shall be returned into the general fund from moneys in the petroleum and gas fund.

SEC 14 Nothing herein contained shall be construed to confer on the Oil Conservation Commission any jurisdiction over any matter or matters given to the State Oil and Gas Supervisor or to the Director of Natural Resources by any law of the State of California or to limit the effect of any such law

SEC. 15. The invalidity of any section, subdivision, clause or sentence of this act shall not in any manner affect the validity of the remaining portion thereof."

The average amount of rolling stock habitually in this State and in any county, city and county, city or district of this State shall be determined upon the basis of car mileage, track mileage or such other factors or combination thereof as are reasonably calculated to establish the situs of such rolling stock.

The term "rolling stock" means cars, engines or other equipment operated or designed for operation on rails, and includes motor vehicles which are operated between fixed termini or over a regular route.

The words "between fixed termini or over a regular route" mean termini or route between or over which rolling stock is usually or ordinarily operated even though there may be departures from said termini or route whether such departures be periodic or irregular.

SEC 2. This act is hereby declared an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety within the meaning of section 1, Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California, and shall take effect immediately. The following is a statement of the facts constituting such urgency.

In 1933 amendments to the Constitution were adopted by the people substantially changing the tax system of the State. These amendments provided among other things that properties of certain companies formerly taxed exclusively for State purposes should on and after January 1, 1935, be assessed by the State Board of Equalization and be subject to taxation to the same extent and in the same manner as other property. Unless such properties are assessed and taxed as required by the Constitution the revenue system of the State and its political subdivisions will be disrupted and the orderly functioning of government will be seriously jeopardized.

Among the properties so required to be assessed by said board are large amounts of rolling stock The present law relating to the assessment of such rolling stock is ambiguous and inconsistent in many respects Since said board must complete its work of assessment and equalization as of its current assessment date prior to a date which will be ninety days after the adjournment of the present session of the Legislature, it is essential that this act take effect immediately in order to make certain that such properties will be assessed and taxed as required by the Constitution."

Senate Bill No. 585—An act to amend section 3663b of the Political Code, relating to the assessment of property by the State Board of Equalization.

Committee Amendments.

During second reading of the bill, the following amendments were submitted by the committee:

Amendment No. 1.

In the last line of the title of the printed bill, after "Equalization", insert "and to provide that this act shall take effect immediately".

Amendment No. 2.

On page 1 of the printed bill strike out all of line 3 after "3663b", and all of lines 4 to 27, both inclusive, and on page 2, strike out all of lines 1 to 28, both inclusive, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"The board shall have the power to equalize the assessments made by it pursuant to section 3663a of this code, of property located in any city where property is not assessed for city purposes by the assessor of the county in which such city is located, with the assessed value of other property therein. Such equalized value shall be set forth upon the assessment roll transmitted by the board to the auditor or other chief accounting officer of such city pursuant to section 3663a of this code Immediately following the close of the period for equalizing assessments of property in each city where property is not assessed for city purposes by the assessor of the county in which such city is located, it shall be the duty of the city auditor or other chief accounting officer of such city to notify the State Board of Equalization of the total assessed value of property assessed by the city assessor, after equalization by the city equalization body. In case the board is not so notified of such assessed values in any such city the board need not equalize the assessments made by it of property in such city with such assessed values

SEC 2 This act is hereby declared an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety within the meaning of section 1 Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California, and shall take effect immediately. The following is a statement of the facts constituting such urgency:

In many cities in the State of California, the ratio between the assessed value as determined for the purposes of municipal taxation and the true value of the taxable property differs materially from the corresponding ratio of the assessed value as determined by the county assessor. Under section 14 of Article XIII of the Constitution of this State the State Board of Equalization is required to assess certain property for all tax purposes and unless said board is authorized to equalize such assessments with the assessed value of other property subject to municipal taxation, serious inequalities will result threatening the revenues of many cities of the State Since said board must complete its work of assessment and equalization as of the current assessment date prior to a date which will be ninety days after the adjournment of the present session of the Legislature, it is essential that this act take effect immediately in order to avert such consequences which will be subversive to the public peace health and safety"

Between the first Monday in August and the third Monday in August of each year, the assessments made by the board shall be open for inspection by all persons interested. At any time prior to the third Monday in August the owner of any property assessed by the board, or the one to whom it is assessed may be heard by the board upon a petition for reassessment.

Immediately after the third Monday in August the board shall transmit to the auditor of each county and city and county an assessment roll showing the assessments made by the board upon all property located in such county or city and county and in each district, and city in such county or city and county.

The board shall also immediately transmit to the auditor or other chief accounting officer of each city the assessment date of which is the first Monday in March an assessment roll showing the assessments made by the board upon all property located in such city and in each district in such city.

In the case of property situated within the limits of any city having an assessment date other than the first Monday in March, the board, upon the completion of the assessment of such property as of such other assessment date, shall give notice to those to whom it is assessed either by mail, in the manner prescribed by section 1013 of the Code of Civil Procedure, or by publication in a newspaper of general circulation published in the municipality where such property is located, that the assessment of such property as of such other assessment date has been completed and the time when, and place where, those to whom such property is assessed may be heard on a petition by them for reassessment of such property. Immediately after the time specified in such notice the board shall transmit to the auditor or other chief accounting officer of such municipality an assessment roll showing the assessment made by the board upon all property located in such city.

All such property shall be subject to taxation to the same extent and in the same manner as other property.

In the event that any property required to be assessed by the board escapes assessment for any year, such property when discovered shall immediately be assessed by the board, and a statement of the value of such property shall be transmitted by the board to the officer of the county, city and county, or city required by law to assess property escaping assessment. The property so assessed by the board and returned to such officer shall thereupon be entered upon the assessment roll of such county, city and county, or city and shall be subject to the same taxes and assessment levies with the same penalties added thereto as if such property had been assessed by such officer."

Amendment No. 7.

On page 2 of the printed bill, after line 26, add the following:

"SEC. 2. This act is hereby declared an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety within the meaning of section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California, and shall take effect immediately. The following is a statement of the facts constituting such urgency:

Several cities within California have, under special charter provisions, assessment dates other than the first Monday in March. Unless the law is immediately amended to permit the State Board of Equalization to assess such property as is required to be assessed by such board under the provisions of section 14 of Article XIII of the Constitution of this State as of the same date as other property subject to municipal taxation in such cities, grave inequalities in tax burden will result threatening the stability of the public revenues for such cities. Under existing law said board is required to complete all assessments under said section of the Constitution by the third Monday in June. Said board is also required to equalize its assessments with those made locally, and since equalization of local assessments is not completed normally until August, it would be impossible to provide for an equitable assessment of property by the State Board of Equalization unless the existing law requiring the board to complete its assessments by the third Monday in June should be amended. Consequently, unless this act goes into effect immediately grave inequalities in assessments for tax purposes will result, since an act which would not become effective until ninety days following adjournment of the Legislature could not accomplish the necessary changes in time to correct the injustices which would otherwise occur."

Amendments adopted.

If the taxes, penalties, and costs are not paid within the time specified in said notice, the Controller shall, on said Saturday preceding the first Monday in March at six o'clock p.m. of said day, mark on the record of assessments of insurance companies opposite the assessment of the delinquent corporation the words "corporate powers suspended," if the delinquent corporation be a domestic corporation, and thereupon said corporate powers shall be suspended and incapable of exercise until restored as hereinafter provided; and if the delinquent corporation be a foreign corporation, the Controller shall mark said record of assessments opposite the assessment of such delinquent corporation the words "right to do intrastate business forfeited" and thereupon said right to do such business shall be so forfeited. After six o'clock p.m. of the Saturday preceding the first Monday in March in any year, the corporate rights, privileges and powers of every domestic corporation which has failed to pay said tax and money penalty shall, from and after said hour of said day, be suspended, and incapable of being exercised for any purpose or in any manner, except to defend any action brought in any court against such corporation, until said tax with all accrued penalties, and all taxes and charges due the State under the corporation license act are paid as hereinafter provided. The right and privilege of every foreign corporation to transact intrastate business in this State shall, for failure to pay said tax and money penalty, be forfeited at said hour of said day, and the Controller shall make a record of such forfeiture. In the case of foreign corporations such forfeiture may be relieved and the corporation's privilege to transact intrastate business in this State restored in the manner hereinafter provided.

After said hour of said day and until such taxes, penalties and charges are paid, every person who attempts or purports to exercise any of the rights, privileges or powers of any delinquent corporation, or, who transacts or attempts to transact any intrastate business in this State in behalf of any forfeited foreign corporation, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than two hundred fifty dollars and not exceeding one thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail not less than fifty days or more than five hundred days, or by both such fine and imprisonment. The jurisdiction of such offense shall be held to be in any county in which any part of such attempted exercise of such powers, or any part of such transaction of business was had or occurred. Every contract made in violation of this section is hereby declared to be void.

All corporate powers, rights and privileges suspended or forfeited may be revived and restored to full force and effect by the payment of all accrued taxes and penalties due to the State under sections 3664b and 3664b1 of this code and also, in addition thereto, a sum of money equal to the tax last assessed under the provisions of said sections of this code, for each year succeeding the year in which such tax was levied, and to the time of such revivor. "Year" within the meaning of the preceding sentence is hereby defined as the period between the first Monday in March of any calendar year and the first Monday in March of the following calendar year.

Upon payment of all such taxes and penalties the State Controller shall issue a certificate under his seal evidencing such payment and restoration, which certificate when recorded in the office of any county recorder shall constitute a release of all existing liens for such taxes upon the property of such corporation. Each county recorder shall keep an index of all such Controller's certificates recorded by him. Upon presentation of such Controller's certificate of revivor to any county clerk said officer shall make a record thereof in his office in a book kept for such purpose. The record so made by said county clerk shall be prima facie evidence of the restoration to such corporation of all previously suspended or forfeited rights, powers and privileges unless it appears from the records in the office of such county clerk or of the Secretary of State that subsequent to the date of such certificate of revivor the powers of said corporation have been suspended or its right to do intrastate business forfeited.

The Controller may, on or before the thirtieth day of April next following said delinquency and suspension or forfeiture, bring an action in a court of competent jurisdiction in the county of Sacramento in the name of the people of the State of California, to collect any delinquent taxes, together with any penalties, or costs, which have not been paid in accordance with the provisions of this code and appearing delinquent upon the record of assessments for State taxes hereinbefore mentioned, and such actions shall be tried in the county of Sacramento unless the court, with the consent of the Attorney General, order a change of place of trial.

The Attorney General must prosecute such action, and the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure relating to service of summons, pleadings, proofs, trials, and appeals are applicable to the proceedings herein provided for. In such action a writ of attachment may be issued, and no bond or affidavit previous to the issuing of said attachment is required.

In the case of companies whose right to do business has been forfeited or corporate powers suspended, service of summons may be made upon the persons provided for by law to be served as agents or officers of any of such companies and such persons shall be deemed to be the agents of such companies for all purposes necessary in order to prosecute such action In the case of corporations whose powers have been suspended, the persons constituting the board of directors thereof shall have the power and right to defend such action. Payment of the taxes and penalties, or amount of the judgment recovered in such action must be made to the State Treasurer.

In such actions the record of assessments of insurance companies, or a copy of so much thereof as is applicable in said action, duly certified by the Controller, or by the Secretary of the State Board of Equalization, showing unpaid taxes against any company, person or association assessed by the State Board of Equalization, is prima facie evidence of the assessment upon the property and franchises, the delinquency, the amount of the taxes, penalties, and costs due and unpaid to the State, and that the company, person, or association is indebted to the people of the State of California in the amount of taxes and penalties therein appearing unpaid, and that all the forms of law in relation to the assessment and levy of such taxes have been complied with."

Explanation of Vote.

I predict that if Senate Bill No 329 becomes law that a constant elimination of the small trucks will take place until the Southern Pacific Company and the other large transportation companies will monopolize the transportation of the business of this State, and that freight rates will raise in price until the producer will be penalized, and the consumers of all products will be forced to pay millions of dollars which will flow into the coffers of the monopolies.

Transcript of Testimony Presented Before Assembly Committee on Public Utilities, April 26, 1935, in re Senate Bill No. 329, as Amended.

Testimony of Warren K. Brown.

Ruth L. Anderson, Reporter.

COMMITTEE MEMBERS:

Honorable Herbert J. Evans (Chairman).
Honorable Arthur H. Breed.
Honorable James M. Cassidy.
Honorable Ralph W. Evans.
Honorable C. Don Field.
Honorable James J. McBride.
Honorable Eleanor Miller.
Honorable Alfred W. Robertson.
Honorable Charles W. Stream.
Honorable James B. Utt.

MR. FIELD: We have asked the department that is going to administer this act, if and when it becomes a law, to have their representative here, and Mr. Warren Brown of the Railroad Commission is here and if it is agreeable to this committee there are certain questions I would like to ask him in order to prove that this bill is not being passed to hurt any of the small truck operators. This matter is being talked about all through the valley and advertised in the valley papers, so if it is agreeable to the committee I would like to ask Mr. Brown some questions, in order to prove the intent of the Legislature in the passage of Senate Bill No. 329.

MR RALPH W. EVANS: I see no necessity for any hearing in view of the fact there appears to be no opposition to the bill.

SENATOR HAYS: If Mr. Brown can give his interpretation of the bill I think it would be valuable. It is important.

MR. FIELD: It is important, Ralph.

MR. EVANS: Well if you feel it is important to you I have no objection, no serious objections, only that the committee is apparently ready to go and there seems to be no opposition.

MR. FIELD: But that doesn't satisfy the people who are cutting out the articles in the paper that Mr. Elliott is giving out and a lot of those truckmen have just been told to send a protest against Senate Bill No. 329; this would prove the intent and show that it would not hurt them.

MR. RALPH W. EVANS: If you would like to introduce further arguments, it is satisfactory.

SENATOR HAYS: My thought is that if there is anything wrong about the bill I would like to know it right now.

MISS MILLER: Mr. Field, you are talking about the little truckman, rather than the large operator, are you not?

MR. FIELD: Yes.

MR. EVANS: Would Mr. Brown be willing to sign an affidavit in regard to his statements?

MR. FIELD: I am sure he would be willing to do that. For the purpose of laying the foundation, I will ask a few questions:

Mr. Warren Brown thereupon appeared before the committee.

QUESTIONS BY MR FIELD.

Q. Your name is Mr. Warren Brown?
A My name is Warren K. Brown.
Q. You are with the Railroad Commission?
A. I am the rate expert and head of the Trucking Department.
Q. You are the man who, if this bill becomes a law, would administer it under the direction of the commission?
A. Yes.
Q. You were sent here on the request of the Railroad Commission?
A. I was.
Q. You can speak for the Railroad Commisison?
A. I am so authorized, yes.
Q. You are the rate expert of the Railroad Commission?
A And also head of the auto stage and truck departments.
Q. In order to clarify the situation for the people throughout the State who are making their living out of the trucking business, there are a few questions I want to ask; in the first place:

Must the commission, under this bill, if it passes, under the bill and without a hearing, issue a permit to any applicant to operate trucks within the territory which the operator offers to or is willing to serve, transporting any and all commodities which the operator offers to or is willing to transport?

A. I think, Mr. Field, under section 3, the commission must as a matter of course issue the permit if the application is made for a State-wide operating permit, either as a radial common carrier or as a contract carrier.
Q. And the operator has a choice?
A. Yes. He has a choice.
Q In other words, any operator simply by filing an application can obtain a State-wide permit to haul any and all commodities to and from any and all possible points of origin and destination in California?
A. That is correct.
Q. And the Railroad Commission under this act must grant it?
A. If he comes within one or two classes, as a radial common carrier or as a contract carrier, that is correct, yes.
Q Would he obtain both a contract carrier permit and a radial highway common carrier permit, or both or which?
A. He would have to select within which class he would come; either have to be a radial highway common carrier or a contract carrier; can not be both between the same points and on the same commodities. However, he could be both if he obtained a permit as a contract carrier to operate between points A and B and asked for a permit as radial highway common carrier to operate between points A and C, providing of course, he didn't operate as a radial highway common carrier between A and B.

MR. MCBRIDE: What is a radial highway common carrier, would you explain that?

A. There are three classes: Certificated carriers operating under Chapter 213 as common carriers, operating between fixed termini or over regular routes; the second class, the so-called contract carriers who operate as private carriers under contract; the third class, radial highway common carriers which operates not between fixed termini but operates within a certain defined area or radius.
Q. And under this, of course, if a man asked for a permit for a radius covering the whole State of California the commission would have to grant it?
A. If he applied for a permit.
Q. That is what I mean
A. Yes.
Q. If an operator owns a permit to operate as a radial highway common carrier within a certain area or state-wide, would not the fact that in the conduct of his business he traversed certain highways more frequently than others or usually and ordinarily render him subject to complaint and a proceeding under Chapter 213 of the Statutes of 1917 for operating between fixed termini or over a regular route?
A I can't give you a definite answer to that—whether or not he is operating as a common carrier under Chapter 213 is primarily a question of fact. There has been no hard and set rule for determining what constitutes a common carrier operating between fixed termini or over regular routes. The courts have not determined it precisely. However, I understand that there is a bill—Assembly Bill No. 2263—that would make the question reviewable by the court. It is just a question of fact in each individual case.
Q If an operator contracted with a large number of persons to transport their commodity but at all times reserved the right to and did refuse to carry goods for any persons for whom he would not haul for any reason, could he be held by the commission to be a common carrier and subject to a complaint and proceedings under Chapter 213, Statutes of 1917?
A. I think the answer I just gave would cover that also
Q. If an operator owns a permit to operate as a state-wide highway radial common carrier, can he operate as a highway contract carrier between any two points within the State?

A. Under section 4 he could not He would have to elect under which classification he would come. If he had that permit he would then be licensed to operate as a radial highway common carrier between any point in the State and then he could not become a highway contract carrier between those two points under section 4 of the proposed act.

Q. If a person has a permit to operate as a highway contract carrier between any two points or for example, within any two counties in the State, can he as a radial highway common carrier go to points intermediate, or through the two points or counties to points beyond the points or counties?

A. Yes, provided, of course, he doesn't operate as a radial highway common carrier to points where he is permitted to operate as a contract carrier

Q. Is it not a fact that in your opinion, so-called "minimum rates" are the actual rates which will be charged by highway carriers for transportation services?

A. In most cases they will be the "going" rates but in many cases they will not be. Where a minimum rate is established by the commission——

Q. But as a practical thing, your minimum rates will in most cases be the actual going rates?

A. I can't say Suppose in cases where special services are rendered, for instance, hauling fruit from orchards under adverse weather conditions, bad roads, etc. Minimum rates may be established based on rates of common carriers but they would not be the going rates. The "going" rates would be what the contract carrier could get for that particular service.

Q. Is it a fact that the commission, under the proposed bill, can not permit any truckman to charge any more than rail plus P.M.T. charges between any two points, or more than river line rates between two points?

A. I don't know exactly what you mean by rail plus P.M.T. Do you mean pick-up and delivery rates?

Q. Yes, for comparable service.

A. The commission under this bill would be obligated to establish the minimum rates no higher than the effective rates of any common carrier that renders pick-up and delivery service: it would apply with equal force to certificated highway carriers.

Q. Getting back to the rates. If the rail or river lines saw fit, in order to eliminate truck competition, to lower rates to any level, would not the commission under this act be compelled to fix rates for trucks which shall not exceed the current rates of common carriers, the rail and river lines, for the transportation of the same?

A. That is right. Under the provisions of this bill the minimum rates will automatically be the rates of the common carriers in that particular territory.

Q. Of all classes?

A. Yes.

Q. And the minimum rates of the radial highway common carrier and the contract carrier will be comparable to the minimum rates of the rails or river lines, under this act?

A Not the minimum rates, the actual rates of rails or river lines In other words, the rails and river lines have their rates on file with the Railroad Commission, published in a tariff. These are the actual rates now The contract carrier rates or the radial highway common carrier rates would not be higher than the railroad rates. They are the minimum rates. However, the maximum rates can be higher.

Q. Do you know of any particular protection that a certificated highway carrier has under such a condition, under this bill?

A. Yes, I think as a matter of policy the commission would not look with favor upon reducing rates of the rails or steamer lines to drive out truck competition. I think under section 32c of the Public Utilities Act the commission now has the power to peg the rail or water rates. There is some difference of opinion on that.

Q. As you understand and construe the provisions of this bill as it is written, is it your understanding that any truck operator can, by filing an application, immediately procure a permit to continue his present operations, as he is operating, or file to extend those operations as to territory and as to commodity without any power of the commission to restrict the rights sought?

A. Yes, I think so, providing he operates as a contract carrier or as a radial highway carrier.

Q. In case an applicant sets forth in his application for a permit to operate as a highway contract carrier the method of the conduct of his business, and a permit is issued thereon, would the continuation of that business under the permit safeguard him against prosecution for violating Chapter 213?

A. I would have to give you the same answer as I gave to question 4. It is a question of fact to be determined in each case.

Q. Has the commission under the bill any discretion as to the kind of a permit it must issue in response to any application? In other words, if a man applies for a radial highway common carrier permit must the commission grant it, or if an operator applies for a permit as a contract carrier must the commission grant the permit?

A. I think under section 3 of Senate Bill No. 329, Senator Hays' bill, the commission would be obligated to issue the permit as applied for.

Q. You understand that the purpose of this hearing was to try to get the intent of your department The Railroad Commission would administer this bill and owing to the adverse publicity it has had it was my personal opinion that we should at least try to get the understanding of the Railroad Commission as to its interpretation of the bill and how it would be administered

MR. UTT I would like to move the bill out with a "do pass".

MR. EVANS: In regard to the administration of the cost; how is the administrative cost to be borne?

SENATOR HAYS: That will be a separate bill in addition to this

Q. (By MR. EVANS): Does the Railroad Commission set the same rates in all cases?

A. No, we have a rather complex rate situation in California and there is no hard and fast rule for making the rates. However, there is a provision in this bill which will prohibit the Railroad Commission establishing for contract or radial highway common carriers any rate as a minimum——

MR. UTT (Interposing): Personally, I believe we should take up those other bills.

MR. RALPH W. EVANS: Does the Railroad Commission want this bill passed?

A To this extent—and incidentally the Railroad Commission has not participated in drafting this bill—we feel that there is a very demoralized condition in transportation in the State at the present time, and there are one or two courses to follow: Either place all the carriers under regulation or lighten the regulation of common carriers. It is a question for the Legislature to decide. We believe that this bill is a step in the right direction; that it will go a long way toward stabilizing transportation conditions in the State, and to that extent we are in favor of the bill.

Q. Do you recommend the passage of this bill?

A. Yes.

MR. RALPH W. EVANS. Q. Fixing the rates of the contract carriers, aside from the explanation you gave about making the minimum higher than the railroad rate, would you take the railroad rates into consideration for a given haul——

A. We take them into consideration but in many cases they would not be the rates we would use.

Q. For what purpose would you take the railroad rates?

A. Only in competitive territory. In other words, there has to be some relationship of rates between the various forms of transportation.

Q. Suppose that taking a given haul—a truckman is entitled to his cost plus a reasonable profit generally speaking—why should not the railroad rate be taken into consideration?

MR. FIELD: As a private operator I can answer that.

MR. BROWN: I have no objection—unless there was a relationship between the rail and the truck the traffic would all go to one carrier. If the rail rates were not related to your truck rates there would be no competition.

Q. (By MR. EVANS): You say "If there was a relationship" I am asking what the relationship is?

A. For instance—a truckman in hauling grain from the Sacramento Valley to the bay region: The railroad rate from the warehouse we will assume is 10 cents. Ordinarily we would have to establish the truck rate and the rail rate on the same level—10 cents from the warehouse in order to put them on a competitive basis. But the warehouse makes a charge against the truck for loading, a charge we will say of 50 cents per ton; that puts the truck at a disadvantage of 50 cents, so in order to put them on an equal basis and have a proper relationship the truck rate would have to be 50 cents lower than the railroad rate.

Q. With reference to cost in either case?

A. I would say this as a general statement—that the cheapest form of transportation will establish the rate; for the short haul it will probably be the truck

Q. When you say the "cheapest form" you disregard cost—you are not basing that statement on the cost of operation.

MR. O'DONNELL: Is that covered by present ruling, or is it in this act?

A. Partly in the act, but it is a matter of policy with the commission.

Q. By MR. O'DONNELL: What class of hauling is exempt, if any, under this act?

A. Those operating exclusively within a single unincorporated city and those called as a casual accommodation These are the exemptions (reading exemptions).

Q. What does "accommodation" mean there?

A. If the carrier is not in the transportation business he would not come under this act.

Q. Then you exempt "within city" but not within counties?

A. That is correct.

Q. How would you establish a rate for live stock—say 20 miles away from a railroad, bad roads and wet weather?

A. I am sorry, I can't answer that question definitely We would not establish any rate unless a complaint were made

Q. (By MR. FIELD): You will be willing to sign this transcript, will you Mr. Brown?

A. Yes.

MR. RALPH W. EVANS I understood you to say, Mr. Brown, that transportation was in a demoralized condition. Do you feel that this regulation is going to help the railroads?

A. Some, but not to any great extent on their short haul which is practically gone. They now rely to a great extent on their long haul and transcontinental traffic.

Q. Do the truckmen want this bill?

A. Yes; I don't think there is any question about that. Of course there is one group opposed to this bill, particularly with reference to the jurisdiction of the Railroad Commission, but I don't think that reflects the attitude of the truckmen throughout the State.

Q. That is the Independent Truck Owners Association Will you explain, as rate expert of the Railroad Commission, its ability to regulate this truck matter over any other agency?

A. Yes, because the Railroad Commission now has jurisdiction over the rates of the certificated carriers, the railroad and steamer lines, and as I said before, in establishing these minimum rates that those rates will have to be taken into consideration in order to get a proper transportation system. An independent agency would have to operate through the Railroad Commission. You would have one agency regulating the common carriers and the other agency regulating part of the common carriers and the contract haulers. You can't establish minimum rates in this State without taking into consideration all forms of transportation. I don't think it would be practical without being under one head, whether under the Railroad Commission or not. All forms of transportation should be regulated by one commission.

(GENERAL DISCUSSION)

It was thereupon moved and seconded that these amendments be adopted, and that the bill go out "do pass" as amended.

All "Ayes."

WHEREAS, All bond issues for the improvement of said water front and all laws, rules, regulations and questions of policy for the operation of such water front are ultimately subject to the approval or disapproval of all the voters of the State of California, including the voters of various communities that own and operate their respective water fronts in competition with the San Francisco water front; and

Further resolved, That we hereby declare the following municipal policy with respect to said water front, in the event the same is returned to this municipal government, and we pledge the City and County of San Francisco to the faithful performance thereof, namely

The civil service status of all civil service employees of the State Board of Harbor Commissioners, as of the date of the assumption of water front control by this city and county, shall be faithfully preserved, and such employees shall be "blanketed in" as aforesaid, as civil service employees of this municipality.

The members of the State Board of Harbor Commissioners shall be continued in office, as such commissioners, for the terms which they may be serving at the time of the assumption of water front control by this city and county

Said water front shall be operated, controlled and policed by this municipality, in a progressive, orderly and businesslike manner, without regard to any political concern whatsoever, and in the interests of all persons who may visit or use said water front, whether as shippers, carriers, passengers, or otherwise, and at a minimum cost to said shippers and passengers.

The interests of all shippers, including all agricultural interests, are fully recognized and appreciated and this city and county pledges itself to exert every legitimate means to safeguard the rights of all shippers of agricultural commodities over, in or upon said water front and to erect and to maintain thereon or adjacent thereto, at minimum rates to such agricultural interests, such structures and enterprises as may be advisable for the accommodation of such agricultural interests.

"SECTION 1. Section 194 of the Streets and Highways Code is amended to read as follows:

194. The commission shall allocate annually, and the department shall expend or cause to be expended within the cities of this State, from the State highway fund, an amount equal to the net revenue derived from one-quarter cent per gallon of tax on motor vehicle fuel.

Such expenditures shall be made within each city in the proportion that the total population of such city bears to the total population of all cities in this State. For the purpose of this section the population in each city is that determined by the last preceding Federal census. In the case of a city incorporated subsequent to the last census, or in the case of unincorporated territory being annexed to a city subsequent to the last census, the department shall ascertain the population of the city, or of the annexed territory, by multiplying the number of registered electors therein by three.

SEC. 2. Section 195 of the Streets and Highways Code is amended to read as follows:

195. Except as provided in section 200, all moneys allocated under the provisions of section 194 shall be expended for the acquisition of real property or interests therein for, or the construction, maintenance, or improvement of streets of major importance within such city, other than State highways, as are agreed upon by the department and the legislative body of the city.

Such expenditures shall be limited to that portion of the street available for use by vehicular traffic except that such funds may be expended for pedestrian underpasses or pedestrian overhead crossings and the installation and maintenance of traffic control devices, but such funds shall not be expended for street lighting, or for the construction or maintenance of sidewalks, or, except as hereinbefore expressly authorized, for the construction or maintenance of any structure or facility in, over, or under the street which is not of direct and primary service in providing a way for vehicular traffic. Sidewalks may be constructed with such funds to replace those removed or damaged by construction or improvement of the street.

SEC. 3. Section 196 of the Streets and Highways Code is amended to read as follows:

196. Any expenditure of money from the State highway fund, as provided in section 194, shall be delegated by the department to the governing body of such city if the department is satisfied that such city is equipped to conduct the particular work to be delegated in an efficient and economic manner and if the city has set up by ordinance a "Special gas tax street improvement fund."

No moneys shall be expended by the city from such fund except for items specified in the budget and approved by the department as required in this article.

In making any such delegated expenditure a city shall follow the law governing it in regard to the doing of the particular type of work in cases which are not exclusively municipal affairs.

No State officer or employee shall be liable for anything done, or omitted to be done, by any city in the performance of any delegated work.

SEC. 4. Section 197 of the Streets and Highways Code is amended to read as follows:

197. It shall be the duty of the legislative body of each city, on or before the first day of June of each year, to prepare and to submit to the department a budget on such forms as the department may specify, showing the estimated expenditure of such funds recommended to be made during the ensuing fiscal year.

The department may refuse to approve any such budget or any item thereof if in the opinion of the department the work proposed to be done or the expenditures proposed to be made, as outlined therein, do not comply with the requirements of this article as to the purposes for which such funds may be expended. The department may also refuse to approve any such budget or any item thereof if in the opinion of the department the proposed expenditure or expenditures are excessive for the work to be done, or if in the opinion of the department adequate provision has not been made in such budget to serve traffic on streets on which any previous expenditure of funds allocated under section 194 has been made, other than such expenditures previously made for maintenance.

SEC. 5. Section 198 of the Streets and Highways Code is amended to read as follows:

198. The department shall pay quarterly, as revenues are received in the State highway fund, to each city to which any expenditure has been delegated, that proportion of its pro rata share which has been delegated, unless a different schedule of payment is agreed upon between the city and the department. All payments received by a city shall be deposited in its "Special gas tax street improvement fund."

In the event that any sums are taken or borrowed from the State highway fund, or from the motor vehicle fuel fund, to augment the State general fund, or to pay any appropriations made from the State general fund, the department is authorized to reduce the amounts expended in each proportionately to the reduction in the State highway fund, such reduction to be made up when and if the State highway fund is reimbursed from the State general fund.

SEC. 6. A new section is added to the Streets and Highways Code, to be numbered 199, and to read as follows:

199. Before expending any such funds for construction, or improvement of any street except for preliminary engineering, the city shall furnish to the department for approval such surveys, plans, specifications, and estimates of cost thereof as the department may require. When the department has approved the plans, specifications, and estimates, the city may proceed to advertise for bids. The written consent of the department must be secured before any contract may be awarded for an amount in excess of the estimates of cost, or to other than the low bidder on the grounds that the low bidder is not responsible, or before the work may be done by day's labor.

The written consent of the department must likewise be obtained before the amount of any item specified in the budget for maintenance or acquisition of real property is exceeded.

SEC. 7. A new section is added to the Streets and Highways Code, to be numbered 200, and to read as follows:

200 To permit the accomplishment of a major project in its entirety, the governing body of a city may authorize the accumulation of money accruing over a period of years from the State highway fund. Such expenditures shall be made within each city in the proportion that the total population of such city bears to the total population of all cities in this State. The population of each city shall be determined as provided in section 194.

Any expenditure of moneys allocated under this section may be delegated by the department to the city, in the discretion of the department, and on such terms as may be agreed upon by the department and the city.

The provisions of this section guarantee and require the expenditure of not less than the amount specified herein but shall not be deemed to prevent the expenditure by the department of a larger amount on the State highways within the cities in this State. The expenditures required by this section shall be made first for the acquisition of real property, or interests therein, for, or the construction, improvement, or maintenance of State highways within cities.

In the event that the department determines that the amount of money available under this section for expenditure in any city is greater than is necessary to adequately maintain and improve to adequate standard all State highways within such city then any surplus amount available for expenditure therein under this section shall be expended for the acquisition of real property or interests therein, for, or the construction, maintenance, or improvement of streets of major importance within such city, other than State highways and such expenditure shall be made in the same manner and for the same purposes as the expenditure of any money allocated to a city under section 194.

(d) Directly from its members.

In the case of arrangements under subdivisions (a), (b) or (c) of this section, the employer shall withhold the percentages payable by employees under the provisions of this act and pay the same to the commission or to the association, as the case may be, in the same manner as though the members of such association were employees as defined in this act.

In any action against the applicant covered by the conditions of said bond, the surety thereon may be joined with the applicant, in which case the surety, to the amount of the bond, will be jointly and severally liable with applicant for the payment of any judgment rendered against applicant in such action.

The provisions of this section shall not apply to the following:

The foregoing periods and services may be lengthened and increased by the commission by reasonable, uniform regulations if, in its opinion, the resources of the fund permit such action and the public interest makes such action necessary or advisable.

134 Whenever the commission finds that the revenues of the fund justify provision of benefits in addition to the primary benefits it may from time to time provide for the furnishing of all or a part of the following additional benefits:

SEC. 138. If any benefit is furnished to any person who, by reason of the same sickness or injury, has a claim for compensation or damages (including costs of or liability for medical care), under any workmen's compensation insurance act or any employer's liability act of this State, or of the United States of America, or otherwise, against his employer or against any other person, firm, or corporation for causing such sickness or injury and for the damages resulting therefrom, the commission shall, to the extent of the disbursement for furnishing such benefit, have a prior right to be reimbursed from any sum of damages which such person is entitled to receive by way of compensation or damages, by suit, settlement, voluntary payment or judgment, and the commission shall, to such extent, be subrogated to such claim. After having received notice that the commission is entitled to reimbursement and is subrogated as provided in this section, the payment of any sum of money or delivery of any thing of value to such person by way of such compensation or damages without first reimbursing the commission for such disbursement shall render the employer or other person, firm, or corporation making such payment or delivery liable to damages, at the suit of the commission, in such sum as may be necessary to reimburse the commission to the extent of such disbursement.

SEC. 139. If the person furnished such benefit and having such claim for compensation or damages (including costs of or liability for medical care) unreasonably refuses or neglects to commence action or to institute proceedings to enforce and collect such claim, the commission may either.

(a) Recover from the person furnished such benefit such sum as may be necessary to reimburse the commission to the extent of the disbursement for so furnishing the benefit to such person; or

(b) Take such action or institute such proceeding, in the name and on behalf of such person, to recover such claim for compensation or damages (including costs of or liability for medical care) from the one liable to such person therefor, in which case any sum recovered by settlement or judgment as the result of such action or proceeding, after deducting the costs, shall be used first to reimburse the commission to the extent of its disbursement, and any balance thereof remaining shall be paid to such person having such claim.

Nothing in this act shall affect or diminish any physician's, dentist's, nurse's, hospital's, or other agency's claim for the value of services rendered by them, whether or not paid for under this act, in any such action brought to recover such compensation or damages

SEC. 140. If an employee himself pays for care or treatment when sick or injured because of a dispute over his right to be furnished such care or treatment under this act, he shall be reimbursed therefor by the commission from the fund when it is determined, at a hearing before the commission under its jurisdiction as elsewhere provided in this act, that he should have received such benefit under the provisions of this act.

SEC. 150. The commission shall be authorized to enter into contracts and agreements with persons, firms or corporations to furnish benefits upon the terms and conditions provided in this act. Said agreements shall provide for benefits for such periods of time and contain such other reasonable terms and provisions consistent with this act as the commission shall prescribe.

SEC. 151. The commission shall, by contractual engagements or other undertakings, make all the primary benefits enumerated in this act available to any person living within this State who is not an employee within the meaning of this act, subject, however, to all of the following four enumerated conditions:

When no general State tax on the annual net income of natural persons is in effect, the annual net income, for the purposes of this act, of a person and his spouse shall be determined with respect to the next preceding completed calendar year and shall be deemed to be the amount which the wages paid to such person, if such person is employed, or the net income during the previous taxable year, without exemption, of such person and spouse computed on the basis of those provisions of the revenue act of 1934, by which the United States Government levies a tax upon the annual net income of natural persons.

The commission, for the purpose of ascertaining the correctness of any verified statement or for the purpose of making an estimate of the net income of any person, shall have power to examine or cause to be examined by any agent or representative designated by it for that purpose, any books, records or memoranda, bearing upon the matters required to be included in the verified statement ance with the conditions enumerated in this act with respect to contractual agreements and other undertakings relating to primary benefits.

In order equitably to distribute the cost of additional benefits to be made available to those voluntarily subscribing thereto, either on behalf of themselves, or on behalf of themselves and their dependents or on behalf of others, the commission may from time to time establish and alter systems of premium rates giving effect, in accordance with established actuarial principles, to the following variable characteristics.

SEC. 156. The commission shall from time to time make rules for the reduction, postponement, suspension, or termination of the right of any person to receive any or all benefits hereunder because of nonpayment of premiums, for the methods by which unpaid premiums may be paid, and for the reinstatement of the right to receive all or a portion of such benefits by payment of past and present unpaid premiums.

Reassembled.

At one o'clock and thirty minutes p.m , the Assembly reconvened. Speaker Craig in the chair.

Mother's Day Address by Governor Frank F. Merriam.

We are assembled today in a formal legislative session as representatives of our people charged with the responsibility of giving direction, through legal enactment, and executive sanction, to their common interests. We pause in the midst of this busy period to give recognition to the women of our State who carry the responsibility and enjoy the distinction of motherhood. It is appropriate that we should do this, for, in the final analysis, civilization derives its authority neither from legislative determination nor executive action. It comes from the heart of the people.

The lawmaker and executive may perform their governmental duties by legalizing and promoting human enterprise. But society can not make progress of a lasting character unless it is surcharged with the spirit of human understanding In short, civilization can not long survive without a soul.

The observance of Mother's Day affords opportunity to give expression to aspirations often considered but seldom uttered. And at once we observe that the highest aspirations of people are determined, in the main, by the nature of the rights they enjoy. Accordingly, there must be those who champion these rights. The mother is such a person. Her unselfish interpretation of our way of life, her sacrificial loyalty to our form of government and withal her kindly and considerate nature, give her a place of advantageous leadership without the ordinary involvements that often arise because of enforced legislative and executive decisions. For this reason we praise her today. In so doing we must analyze her opinions and evaluate her principles of conduct.

How, the typical American mother believes that every person has a right to be well-born, properly nurtured, adequately educated and equitably governed. Our interest in these rights and her insistence upon their preservation places her in a position of large responsibility and significant influence.

When the mother insists that a child has a right to be well-born she means that he has a right to a personal inheritance of physical and mental equipment that can come only from an ancestral lineage of clean living and high thinking. Such an ideal raises motherhood to the level of human achievement where pure blood, a clear brain and a noble spirit become definite objectives of the individual and the social order. This right, elastic in nature but rigid in purpose, becomes the safeguard to future generations

But to be well-born a child must have more than an historical background of sobriety and achievement. He must be reared in an environment where, through parental solicitude, he increases in wisdom and stature and grows in favor with God and man. He is the offspring of a parent but the product of a family. He must have a home for it is here companionship finds expression in shared experience, enjoyed by both parents and children, it is here sympathetic understanding stimulates the individual to face difficult tasks with a spirit of determination that brings success and satisfaction; it is here cooperative effort encourages the development of personal initiative in which spiritual achievement and substantial prosperity have their origin.

Because of her love and maturity we expect mother to give direction to these wholesome family attainments, institutional in nature, individual in purpose, social in result.

If then a person has a right to be well-born he has the right also to be properly nurtured. At least our mothers believe this. In times of economic stress and social unrest it is the mother who unhesitatingly holds to the principle that her children have a right to something to eat, something to wear and a comfortable place in which to live even though these common necessities involve extreme self-sacrifice on her part.

During the past few years executives with great responsibility in both private and public corporations, because of changing economic conditions, have been compelled to listen to protests from their administrative assistants who have been removed from positions which they long held. Business leaders have heard the complaints of employees who have been relieved of their work and deprived of the salaries derived therefrom. Educational administrators in the schools, colleges and universities have listened with intense feeling to pathetic stories of teachers who have been retired from professional service because of the necessity of a curtailed academic program. Social welfare workers have learned to respond helpfully in relieving the distress of all of these people in times of stinging disappointment and discouragement. But not even to be compared with all of this is the feeble cry of the cold and hungry child in the arms of a helpless and almost hopeless mother. For her to say that these conditions should not obtain is but to express a platitude. To say that they must be changed is to hurl a challenge to the official representatives of the people that can be met only by sympathetic understanding and bold action. The observance of Mother's Day brings this problem into bold relief. Some day we shall solve it.

The third inalienable right advocated by the typical mother for her children is that of adequate education. Here her interest assumes the nature of an insistent demand. For more than 300 years she has supported a program that has had as its primary purpose the improvability of the race through education. She knows that if life is to bring satisfaction and contentment it must be lived in a spirit of confidence rather than in an atmosphere of suspicion. She is well aware that if the child is to grow into maturity without the handicap of excessive fear, he must acquire knowledge and quickly learn the skillful use thereof.

The mother clearly understands that life is so complex that insecurity occasioned by the lack of knowledge easily provokes the emotion of fear, and fear quickly deadens initiative. And when the spirit of the people becomes stifled, prosperity ceases. Dislocation of the natural order of affairs takes place and social and economic life becomes stagnant.

In contrast with this situation it is apparent that children having at their command facts derived from the experience of history and the ability to evaluate and interpret these facts develop principles of life worthy of the admiration of the race that produced them. Adequate education does just this and more

It preserves the spiritual resources of our country. If it doesn't the school is not worthy of the personal interest of our mothers who, through the years, have supported it as an agency of social progress. Even the casual observer can see evidence of their efforts in this field of human achievement. For with one of our Presidents we can say now that,

"The things of the spirit alone persist. It is in that field that the Nation makes its lasting progress. To cherish religious faith and the tolerance of all faith; to reflect into every aspect of public life the spirit of charity, the practice of forbearance, and the restraint of passion while reason seeks the way; to lay aside blind prejudice and follow knowledge together; to pursue diligently the common welfare and find within its boundaries our private benefit; to enlarge the borders of opportunity for all and find our own within them; to enhance the greatness of the Nation and thereby find for ourselves an individual distinction; to face with courage and confident expectation the task set before us, these are the paths of true glory for this Nation."

These paths that lead through the fields of spiritual conduct have been surveyed, cleared of debris, and made safe for travel by our mothers; they have been transformed into highways of moral accomplishment by our statesmen Thus we work together in the common tasks of life fostering the inherent educational rights of all.

Finally, the typical American mother cherishes for her children the right to be equitably governed. Time forbids a lengthy discussion of this ideal. However, it should be said that our mothers have always taken an active interest in the provisions of government that guarantee to the individual liberty, justice and opportunity. These words are familiar to all; they express the fundamental principles of progressive people everywhere. They make possible liberal legislation and constructive administrative action. They permit a united people to differ in opinion while working together in the common interests of a growing social order.

And now may we conclude, by saying that the greatest contribution that we can make to the mothers of our Commonwealth and by so doing pay a deserved tribute to them, is to conduct our affairs so as to do our part in making these ideals effective among the peoples of the earth to the end that individual good will, National tranquility and world friendship may prevail. Let us within the limits of our State see that our people are well-born, properly nurtured, adequately educated and equitably governed Such is the governmental philosophy of the mothers of men.

(l) Depreciation.—A reasonable allowance for the exhaustion, wear and tear of property used in the trade or business, including a reasonable allowance for obsolescence. In the case of property held by one person for life with remainder to another person, the deduction shall be computed as if the life tenant were the absolute owner of the property and shall be allowed to the life tenant. In the case of property held in trust the allowable deduction shall be apportioned between the income beneficiaries and the trustee in accordance with the pertinent provisions of the instrument creating the trust, or, in the absence of such provisions, on the basis of the trust income allocable to each.

In any case in which it is ascertained as a result of operations or of development work that the recoverable units are greater or less than the prior estimate thereof, then such prior estimate (but not the basis for depletion) shall be revised and the allowance under this subsection for subsequent taxable years shall be based upon such revised estimate. In the case of leases the deductions shall be equitably apportioned between the lessor and lessee. In the case of property held by one person for life with remainder to another person, the deduction shall be computed as if the life tenant were the absolute owner of the property and shall be allowed to the life tenant. In the case of property held in trust the allowable deduction shall be apportioned between the income beneficiaries and the trustee in accordance with the pertinent provisions of the instrument creating the trust, or, in the absence of such provisions, on the basis of the trust income allocable to each. (For percentage depletion allowable under this subsection, see section 114 (b), (3) and (4).)

(a) Credits for Normal Tax Only.—There shall be allowed for the purpose of the normal tax, but not for the surtax, the following credits against the net income.

(1) Dividends.—The amount received as dividends which is included in gross income under section 22.

(4) Earned Income Credit.—Ten per centum of the amount of the earned net income, but not in excess of ten per centum of the amount of the net income

(5) Earned Income Definitions.—For the purposes of this section—

(A) "Earned income" means wages, salaries, professional fees, and other amounts received as compensation for personal services actually rendered, but does not include any amount not included in gross income, nor that part of the compensation derived by the taxpayer for personal services rendered by him to a corporation which represents a distribution of earnings or profits rather than a reasonable allowance as compensation for the personal services actually rendered. In the case of a taxpayer engaged in a trade or business in which both personal services and capital are material income producing factors, a reasonable allowance as compensation for the personal services actually rendered by the taxpayer, not in excess of twenty per centum of his share of the net profits of such trade or business, shall be considered as earned income.

(B) "Earned income deductions" means such deductions as are allowed by section 23 for the purpose of computing net income, and are properly allocable to or chargeable against earned income.

(C) "Earned net income" means the excess of the amount of the earned income over the sum of the earned income deductions. If the taxpayer's net income is not more than $3,000, his entire net income shall be considered to be earned net income, and if his net income is more than $3.000, his earned net income shall not be considered to be less than $3,000. In no case shall the earned net income be considered to be more than $14,000.

(b) Credits for Both Normal Tax and Surtax.—There shall be allowed for the purposes of the normal tax and the surtax the following credits against net income

(1) Personal Exemption.—In the case of a single person, a personal exemption of $1,000; or in the case of the head of a family or a married person living with husband or wife, a personal exemption of $2,500. If such husband and wife make separate returns, the personal exemption may be taken by either or divided between them.

(3) Change of Status.—If the status of the taxpayer, in so far as it affects the personal exemption or credit for dependents, changes during the taxable year, the personal exemption and credit shall be apportioned, under rules and regulations prescribed by the commissioner in accordance with the number of months before and after such change. For the purpose of such apportionment a fractional part of a month shall be disregarded unless it amounts to more than half a month in which case it shall be considered as a month.

PART III.—CREDITS AGAINST TAX.

SEC. 31. Taxes of States, Territories and Possessions of the United States and Foreign Countries.—(a) Whenever a resident taxpayer of this State has become liable to income tax to another State, Territory or possession of the United States or a foreign country upon his net income, or any part thereof, for the taxable year, derived from sources without this State, and subject to taxation under this act, the amount of income tax payable by him under this act shall be credited with the amount of income tax so paid by him to such other State, Territory or possession of the United States or a foreign country but such credit shall not exceed such proportion of the tax payable under this act as the income subject to tax in such other State, Territory or possession of the United States or a foreign country bears to the taxpayer's entire income upon which the tax is imposed by this act.

(b) Whenever a nonresident taxpayer taxable under this act has become liable to income tax to the State, Territory or possession of the United States or a foreign country where he resides upon his net income for the taxable year, derived from sources within this State and subject to taxation under this act, the amount of income tax payable by him under this act shall be credited with such proportion of the tax so payable by him to the State, Territory or possession of the United States or a foreign country where he resides as his income subject to taxation under this act bears to his entire income upon which the tax so payable to such other State, Territory or possession of the United States or a foreign country was imposed; provided, that such credit shall be allowed only if the laws of said State, Territory or possession of the United States or a foreign country grant a substantially similar credit to residents of this State subject to income tax under such laws, or impose a tax upon the personal incomes of its residents derived from sources in this State and exempt from taxation the personal incomes of residents of this State. No credit shall be allowed against the amount of the tax on any income taxable under this act which is exempt from taxation under the laws of such other State.

(c) The credits provided in this section shall be allowed only on presentation to the commissioner of satisfactory proof that the taxpayer is entitled to same.

SEC. 33. Credit for Overpayments. For credit against the tax of overpayments of taxes imposed by this title for other taxable years, see section 322.

PART IV—ACCOUNTING PERIODS AND METHODS OF ACCOUNTING

SEC. 41. General Rule. The net income shall be computed upon the basis of the taxpayer's annual accounting period (fiscal year or calendar year, as the case may be) in accordance with the method of accounting regularly employed in keeping the books of such taxpayer, but if no such method of accounting has been so employed, or if the method employed does not clearly reflect the income, the computation shall be made in accordance with such method as in the opinion of the commissioner does clearly reflect the income. If the taxpayer's annual accounting period is other than a fiscal year as defined in section 48 or if the taxpayer has no annual accounting period or does not keep books, the net income shall be computed on the basis of the calendar year. (For use of inventories, see section 22 (c))

SEC. 42. Period in Which Items of Gross Income Included. The amount of all items of gross income shall be included in the gross income for the taxable year in which received by the taxpayer, unless, under methods of accounting permitted under section 41, any such amounts are to be properly accounted for as of a different period. In the case of the death of a taxpayer there shall be included in computing net income for the taxable period in which falls the date of his death, amounts accrued up to the date of his death if not otherwise properly includible in respect of such period or a prior period.

SEC. 43. Period for Which Deductions and Credits Taken. The deductions and credits provided for in this title shall be taken for the taxable year in which "paid or accrued" or "paid or incurred," dependent upon the method of accounting upon the basis of which the net income is computed, unless in order to clearly reflect the income the deductions or credits should be taken as of a different period. In the case of the death of a taxpayer there shall be allowed as deductions and credits for the taxable period in which falls the date of his death, amounts accrued up to the date of his death if not otherwise properly allowable in respect of such period or a prior period.

SEC. 44. Installment Basis. (a) Dealers in Personal Property.—Under regulations prescribed by the commissioner with the approval of the board a person who regularly sells or otherwise disposes of personal property on the installment plan may return as income therefrom in any taxable year that proportion of the installment payments actually received in that year which the gross profit realized or to be realized when payment is completed, bears to the total contract price.

(b) Sales of Realty and Casual Sales of Personalty.—In the case (1) of a casual sale or other casual disposition of personal property (other than property of a kind which would properly be included in the inventory of the taxpayer if on hand at the close of the taxable year), for a price exceeding $1,000 or (2) of a sale or other disposition of real property, if in either case the initial payments do not exceed 30 per centum of the selling price (or, in case the sale or other disposition was in a taxable year beginning prior to January 1, 1934, the percentage of the selling price prescribed in the law applicable to such year), the income may under regulations prescribed by the commissioner be returned on the basis and in the manner above prescribed in this section. As used in this section the term "initial payments" means the payments received in cash or property other than evidences of indebtedness of the purchaser during the taxable period in which the sale or other disposition is made.

(c) Change From Accrual to Installment Basis.—If a taxpayer entitled to the benefits of subsection (a) elects for any taxable year to report his net income on the installment basis, then in computing his income for the year of change or any subsequent year, amounts actually received during any such year on account of sales or other dispositions of property made in any prior year shall not be excluded.

(d) Gain or Loss Upon Disposition of Installment Obligations.—If an installment obligation is satisfied at other than its face value or distributed, transmitted, sold, or otherwise disposed of, gain or loss shall result to the extent of the difference between the basis of the obligation and (1) in the case of satisfaction at other than face value or a sale or exchange—the amount realized, or (2) in case of a distribution, transmission, or disposition otherwise than by sale or exchange—the fair market value of the obligation at the time of such distribution, transmission, or disposition. Any gain or loss so resulting shall be considered as resulting from the sale or exchange of the property in respect of which the installment obligation was received. The basis of the obligation shall be the excess of the face value of the obligation over an amount equal to the income which would be returnable were the obligation satisfied in full. This subsection shall not apply to the transmission at death of installment obligations if there is filed with the commissioner, at such time as he may by regulation prescribe, a bond in such amount and with such sureties as he may deem necessary, conditioned upon the return as income, by the person receiving any payment on such obligations, of the same proportion of such payment as would be returnable as income by the decedent if he had lived and had received such payment.

SEC. 45. Allocation of Income and Deductions. In any case of two or more organizations, trades, or businesses (whether or not incorporated, whether or not organized in the State of California, and whether or not affiliated), owned or controlled directly or indirectly by the same interests, the commissioner is authorized to distribute, apportion, or allocate gross income or deductions between or among such organizations, trades, or businesses, if he determines that such distribution, apportionment, or allocation is necessary (1) in order to prevent evasion of taxes of any taxpayer taxable hereunder, or (2) clearly to reflect the income of any of such organizations, trades, or businesses where the income of any taxpayer taxable hereunder is affected thereby in such manner as to permit evasion of taxes

SEC. 46. Change of Accounting Period. If a taxpayer changes his accounting period from fiscal year to calendar year, from calendar year to fiscal year, or from one fiscal year to another, the net income shall, with the approval of the commissioner, be computed on the basis of such new accounting period, subject to the provisions of section 47.

SEC. 47. Returns for a Period of Less Than Twelve Months. (a) Returns for Short Period Resulting From Change of Accounting Period.—If a taxpayer, with the approval of the commissioner, changes the basis of computing net income from fiscal year to calendar year a separate return shall be made for the period between the close of the last fiscal year for which return was made and the following December 31st. If the change is from calendar year to fiscal year, a separate return shall be made for the period between the close of the last calendar year for which return is made and the date designated as the close of the fiscal year. If the change is from one fiscal year to another fiscal year a separate return shall be made for the period between the close of the former fiscal year and the date designated as the close of the new fiscal year.

(b) Income Computed on Basis of Short Period.—Where a separate return is made under subsection (a) on account of a change in the accounting period, and in all other cases where a separate return is required or permitted, by regulations prescribed by the commissioner to be made for a fractional part of a year, then the income shall be computed on the basis of the period for which separate return is made.

(c) Income Placed on Annual Basis.—If a separate return is made under subsection (a) on account of a change in the accounting period, the net income, computed on the basis of the period for which separate return is made, shall be placed on an annual basis by multiplying the amount thereof by twelve and dividing by the number of months included in the period for which the separate return is made. The tax shall be such part of the tax computed on such annual basis as the number of months in such period is of twelve months.

(d) Earned Income.—The commissioner shall by regulations prescribe the method of applying the provisions of subsections (b) and (c) (relating to computing income on the basis of a short period, and placing such income on an annual basis) to cases where the taxpayer makes a separate return under subsection (a) on account of a change in the accounting period, and it appears that for the period for which the return is so made he has received earned income.

(e) Reduction of Credits Against Net Income.—In the case of a return made for a fractional part of a year, except a return made under subsection (a), on account of a change in the accounting period, the personal exemption and credit for dependents shall be reduced respectively to amounts which bear the same ratio to the full credits provided as the number of months in the period for which return is made bears to twelve months

(f) Closing of Taxable Year in Case of Jeopardy.—For closing of taxable year in case of jeopardy, see section 146.

PART V—RETURNS AND PAYMENT OF TAX.

SEC. 51. Individual Returns. (a) Requirement.—The following residents shall each make under oath a return stating specifically the items of his gross income and the deductions and credits allowed under this title—

(1) Every individual having a net income for the taxable year of $1,000 or over, if single, or if married and not living with husband or wife;

(2) Every individual having a net income for the taxable year of $2,500 or over, if married and living with husband or wife; and

(3) Every individual having a gross income for the taxable year of $5,000 or over, regardless of the amount of his net income.

(b) Husband and Wife.—If a husband and wife living together have an aggregate net income for the taxable year of $2,500 or over, or an aggregate gross income for such year of $5,000 or over—

(1) Each shall make such a return, or

(2) The income of each shall be included in a single joint return, in which case the tax shall be computed on the aggregate income.

(c) Persons Under Disability.—If the taxpayer is unable to make his own return, the return shall be made by a duly authorized agent or by the guardian or other person charged with the care of the person or property of such taxpayer.

(d) Fiduciaries.—For returns to be made by fiduciaries, see section 142.

(1) General Rule.—Returns made on the basis of the calendar year shall be made on or before the fifteenth day of April following the close of the calendar year. Returns made on the basis of a fiscal year shall be made on or before the fifteenth day of the fourth month following the close of the fiscal year.

(2) Extension of Time.—The commissioner may grant a reasonable extension of time for filing returns, under such rules and regulations as he shall prescribe. Except in the case of taxpayers who are abroad, no such extension shall be for more than six months.

(b) To Whom Return Made.—(1) Individuals.—Returns shall be made to the collector for the district in which is located the legal residence or principal place of business of the person making the return, or, if he has no legal residence or principal place of business in California, then to the collector at Sacramento, California.

(c) Returns shall be under oath, in such form as the Commissioner may from time to time prescribe, and shall be filed with the commissioner, at his main office or at any branch office which he may establish. The commissioner shall cause to be prepared blank forms for the said returns and shall cause them to be distributed throughout the State and to be furnished upon application, but failure to receive or secure the form shall not relieve any taxpayer from the obligation of making any return herein required.

SEC. 54. Records and Special Returns. (a) By Taxpayer.—Every person liable to any tax imposed by this title shall keep such records, render under oath such statements, make such returns, and comply with such rules and regulations, as the commissioner may from time to time prescribe.

(b) To Determine Liability to Tax.—Whenever in the judgment of the commissioner necessary he may require any person, by notice served upon him, to make a return, render under oath such statements or keep such records, as the commissioner deems sufficient to show whether or not such person is liable to tax under this title.

(c) Information at the Source.—For requirement of statements and returns by one person to assist in determining the tax liability of another person, see sections 147 to 150.

SEC. 55. Secrecy of Returns and Information.—(a) It shall be unlawful for any officer or employee of the State of California to divulge or to make known in any manner whatever not provided by law to any person the operations, style of work, or apparatus of any manufacturer or producer visited by him in the discharge of his official duties, or the amount or source of income, profits, losses, expenditures, or any particular thereof, set forth or disclosed in any income return, or to permit any income return or copy thereof or any book containing any abstract or particulars thereof to be seen or examined by any person except as provided by law; and it shall be unlawful for any person to print or publish in any manner whatever not provided by law any income returns, or any part thereof or source of income, profits, losses, or expenditures appearing in any income return; and any offense against the foregoing provision shall be a misdemeanor and be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment not exceeding one year, or both, at the discretion of the court; and if the offender be an officer or employee of the State of California he shall be dismissed from office or discharged from employment. Nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit the publication of statistics, so classified as to prevent the identification of particular reports or returns and the items thereof, or the inspection by the Attorney General or other legal representatives of the State, of the report or return of any taxpayer who shall bring action to set aside or review the tax based thereon, or against whom an action or proceeding has been instituted to recover any tax or any penalty imposed by this act.

(b) Notwithstanding the provisions of this section, the commissioner may permit the commissioner of internal revenue of the United States, or the proper officer of any State imposing an income tax upon the incomes of individuals, or the authorized representative of either such officer, to inspect the income tax returns of any individual, or may furnish to such officer or his authorized representative an abstract of the return of income of any taxpayer or supply him with information concerning any item of income contained in any return, or disclosed by the report of any investigation of the income or return of income of any taxpayer; but such permission shall be granted or such information furnished to such officer or his representative, only if the statutes of the United States or of such other State, as the case may be, grant substantially similar privileges to the proper officer of this State charged with the administration of this act.

SEC. 56. Payment of Tax (a) Time of Payment.—The total amount of tax imposed by this title shall be paid on the fifteenth day of April following the close of the calendar year, or, if the return should be made on the basis of a fiscal year, then on the fifteenth day of the fourth month following the close of the fiscal year.

If any installment is not paid on or before the date fixed for its payment, the whole amount of the tax unpaid shall be paid upon notice and demand from the commissioner.

(c) Extension of Time for Payment.—At the request of the taxpayer, the commissioner may extend the time for payment of the amount determined as the tax by the taxpayer, or any installment thereof, for a period not to exceed six months from the date prescribed for the payment of the tax or an installment thereof. In such case the amount in respect of which the extension is granted shall be paid on or before the date of the expiration of the period of the extension.

(d) Voluntary Advance Payment.—A tax imposed by this title, or any installment thereof, may be paid, at the election of the taxpayer, prior to the date prescribed for its payment.

(e) Advance Payment in Case of Jeopardy.—For advance payment in case of jeopardy, see section 146.

(h) Receipts.—The commissioner when any payment of any income tax is made shall upon request give to the person making such payment a full written or printed receipt therefore.

(i) Method of Payment.—The tax, and any additions thereto, imposed by this act, shall be paid to the commissioner at Sacramento, or to his authorized representatives at any branch office. Remittances may be in the form of uncertified check, payable to the State Treasurer, during such time and under such regulations as the commissioner may prescribe, but if a check so received is not paid by the bank on which it is drawn, the taxpayer by whom such check is tendered shall remain liable for the payment of the tax, and all additions thereto, the same as if such check had not been tendered.

SEC. 57. Examination of Return and Determination of Tax. As soon as practicable after the return is filed the commissioner shall examine it and shall determine the correct amount of the tax.

(b) Amount Realized.—The amount realized from the sale or other disposition of property shall be the sum of any money received plus the fair market value of the property (other than money) received.

(c) Gain From Exchanges Not Solely In Kind —

(1) If an exchange would be within the provisions of subsection (b) (1), (2), (3), or (5) of this section if it were not for the fact that the property received in exchange consists not only of property permitted by such paragraph to be received without the recognition of gain, but also of other property or money, then the gain, if any, to the recipient shall be recognized, but in an amount not in excess of the sum of such money and the fair market value of such other property.

(2) If a distribution made in pursuance of a plan of reorganization is within the provisions of paragraph (1) of this subsection but has the effect of the distribution of a taxable dividend, then there shall be taxed as a dividend to each distributee such an amount of the gain recognized under paragraph (1) as is not in excess of his ratable share of the undistributed earnings and profits of the corporation accumulated after February 28, 1913. The remainder, if any, of the gain recognized under paragraph (1) shall be taxed as a gain from the exchange of property.

(f) Involuntary Conversions —If property (as a result of its destruction in whole or in part, theft or seizure, or an exercise of the power of requisition or condemnation, or the threat or imminence thereof) is compulsorily or involuntarily converted into property similar or related in service or use to the property so converted, or into money which is forthwith in good faith, under regulations prescribed by the commissioner with the approval of the board, expended in the acquisition of other property similar or related in service or use to the property so converted, or in the acquisition of control of a corporation owning such other property, or in the establishment of a replacement fund, no gain or loss shall be recognized If any part of the money is not so expended, the gain, if any, shall be recognized, but in an amount not in excess of the money which is not so expended.

(g) Definition of Reorganization —As used in this section and section 113—

(1) The term "reorganization" means (a) a statutory merger or consolidation or (b) the acquisition by one corporation in exchange solely for all or a part of its voting stock: Of at least eighty per centum of the voting stock and at least eighty per centum of the total number of shares of all other classes of stock of another corporation; or of substantially all the properties of another corporation, or (c) a transfer by a corporation of all or a part of its assets to another corporation if immediately after the transfer the transferor or its stockholders or both are in control of the corporation to which the assets are transferred, or (d) a recapitalization, or (e) a mere change in identity, form, or place of organization however affected

(2) The term "a party to a reorganization" includes a corporation resulting from a reorganization and includes both corporations in the case of a reorganization resulting from the acquisition by one corporation of stock or properties of another.

(h) Definition of Control —As used in this section the term "control" means the ownership of at least eighty per centum of the voting stock and at least eighty per centum of the total number of shares of all other classes of stock of the corporation.

(i) Foreign Corporations.—In determining the extent to which gain shall be recognized in the case of any of the exchanges (made after the date of the enactment of this act) described in subsection (b) (3), (4), or (5), or described in so much of subsection (c) as refers to subsection (b) (3) or (5), or described in subsection (d), a foreign corporation shall not be considered as a corporation unless, prior to such exchange, it has been established to the satisfaction of the commissioner that such exchange is not in pursuance of a plan having as one of its principal purposes the avoidance of California income taxes.

SEC. 113. Adjusted Basis for Determining Gain or Loss. (a) Basis (Unadjusted) or Property.—The basis of property shall be the cost of such property, except that—

(1) Inventory Value.—If the property should have been included in the last inventory, the basis shall be the last inventory value thereof.

(2) Gifts After December 31, 1920.—If the property was acquired by gift after December 31, 1920, the basis shall be the same as it would be in the hands of the donor or the last preceding owner by whom it was not acquired by gift, except that for the purpose of determining loss the basis shall be the basis so determined or the fair market value of the property at the time of the gift, whichever is lower. If the facts necessary to determine the basis in the hands of the donor or the last preceding owner are unknown to the donee, the commissioner shall, if possible, obtain such facts from such donor or last preceding owner, or any other person cognizant thereof. If the commissioner finds it impossible to obtain such facts, the basis in the hands of such donor or last preceding owner shall be the fair market value of such property as found by the commissioner as of the date or approximate date at which, according to the best information that the commissioner is able to obtain, such property was acquired by such donor or last preceding owner.

(3) Transfer In Trust After December 31, 1920.—If the property was acquired after December 31, 1920, by a transfer in trust (other than by a transfer in trust by a bequest or devise) the basis shall be the same as it would be in the hands of the grantor, increased in the amount of gain or decreased in the amount of loss recognized to the grantor upon such transfer under the law applicable to the year in which the transfer was made.

(4) Gift or Transfer in Trust Before January 1, 1921.—If the property was acquired by gift or transfer in trust on or before December 31, 1920, the basis shall be the fair market value of such property at the time of such acquisition.

(5) Property Transmitted at Death.—If the property was acquired by bequest, devise, or inheritance, or by the decedent's estate from the decedent, the basis shall be the fair market value of such property at the time of such acquisition. In the case of property transferred in trust to pay the income for life to or upon the order or direction of the grantor, with the right reserved to the grantor at all times prior to his death to revoke the trust, the basis of such property in the hands of the persons entitled under the terms of the trust instrument to the property after the grantor's death shall, after such death, be the same as if the trust instrument had been a will executed on the day of the grantor's death. For the purpose of this paragraph property passing without full and adequate consideration under a general power of appointment exercised by will shall be deemed to be property passing from the individual exercising such power by bequest or devise.

(6) Tax-Free Exchanges Generally.—If the property was acquired, after February 28, 1913, upon an exchange described in section 112 (b) to (e), inclusive, the basis shall be the same as in the case of the property exchanged, decreased in the amount of any money received by the taxpayer and increased in the amount of gain or decreased in the amount of loss to the taxpayer that was recognized upon such exchange under the law applicable to the year in which the exchange was made. If the property so acquired consisted in part of the type of property permitted by section 112 (b) to be received without the recognition of gain or loss, and in part of other property, the basis provided in this paragraph shall be allocated between the properties (other than money) received, and for the purpose of the allocation there shall be assigned to such other property an amount equivalent to its fair market value at the date of the exchange. This paragraph shall not apply to property acquired by a corporation by the issuance of its stock or securities as the consideration in whole or in part for the transfer of the property to it.

(7) Transfers to Corporation Where Control of Property Remains in Same Persons.—If the property was acquired after December 13, 1917, by a corporation in connection with a reorganization, and immediately after the transfer an interest or control in such property of fifty per centum or more remained in the same persons or any of them, then the basis shall be the same as it would be in the hands of the transferor, increased in the amount of gain or decreased in the amount of loss recognized to the transferor upon such transfer under the law applicable to the year in which the transfer was made. This paragraph shall not apply if the property acquired consists of stock or securities in a corporation a party to the reorganization, unless acquired by the issuance of stock or securities of the transferee as the consideration in whole or in part for the transfer.

(8) Property Acquired by Issuance of Stock or as Paid-in Surplus.—If the property was acquired after December 31, 1920, by a corporation—

(a) By the issuance of its stock or securities in connection with a transaction described in section 112 (b) (5) (including also, cases where part of the consideration for the transfer of such property to the corporation was property or money, in addition to such stock or securities), or

(b) As paid-in surplus or as a contribution to capital, then the basis shall be the same as it would be in the hands of the transferor, increased in the amount of gain or decreased in the amount of loss recognized to the transferor upon such transfer under the law applicable to the year in which the transfer was made.

(9) Involuntary Conversion.—If the property was acquired, after February 28, 1913, as the result of a compulsory or involuntary conversion described in section 112 (f), the basis shall be the same as in the case of the property so converted, decreased in the amount of any money received by the taxpayer which was not expended in accordance with the provisions of law (applicable to the year in which such conversion was made) determining the taxable status of the gain or loss upon such conversion, and increased in the amount of gain or decreased in the amount of loss to the taxpayer recognized upon such conversion under the law applicable to the year in which such conversion was made.

(10) Wash Sales of Stock.—If the property consists of stock or securities the acquisition of which (or the contract or option to acquire which) resulted in the nondeductibility (under section 118 of this act) of the loss from the sale or other disposition of substantially identical stock or securities, then the basis shall be the basis of the stock or securities so sold or disposed of, increased or decreased, as the case may be, by the difference, if any, between the price at which the property was acquired and the price at which such substantially identical stock or securities were sold or otherwise disposed of.

(12) Basis Established by Revenue Act of 1932.—If the property was acquired, after February 28, 1913, in any taxable year beginning prior to January 1, 1934, and the basis thereof, for the purposes of the Revenue Act of 1932 was prescribed by section 113 (a) (6), (7), or (9) of such act, then for the purposes of this act the basis shall be the same as the basis therein prescribed in the Revenue Act of 1932.

(13) Partnerships.—If the property was acquired, after February 28, 1913, by a partnership and the basis is not otherwise determined under any of the paragraphs (1) to (12), inclusive, of this subsection, then the basis shall be the same as it would be in the hands of the transferor, increased in the amount of gain or decreased in the amount of loss recognized to the transferor upon such transfer under the law applicable to the year in which the transfer was made. If the property was distributed in kind by a partnership to any partner, the basis of such property in the hands of the partner shall be such part of the basis in his hands of his partnership interest as is properly allocable to such property.

(14) Property Acquired Before March 1, 1913.—In the case of property acquired before March 1, 1913, if the basis otherwise determined under this subsection, adjusted (for the period prior to March 1, 1913) as provided in subsection (b), is less than the fair market value of the property as of March 1, 1913, then the basis for determining gain shall be such fair market value. In determining the fair market value of stock in a corporation as of March 1, 1913, due regard shall be given to the fair market value of the assets of the corporation as of that date.

(b) Adjusted Basis.—The adjusted basis for determining the gain or loss from the sale or other disposition of property, whenever acquired, shall be the basis determined under subsection (a), adjusted as hereinafter provided.

(1) General Rule.—Proper adjustment in respect of the property shall in all cases be made—

(a) For expenditures, receipts, losses, or other items, properly chargeable to capital account, including taxes and other carrying charges on unimproved and unproductive real property but no such adjustment shall be made for taxes or other carrying charges for which deductions have been taken by the taxpayer in determining net income for the taxable year or prior taxable years;

(b) In respect of any period since February 28, 1913, for exhaustion, wear and tear, obsolescence, amortization, and depletion, to the extent allowed (but not less than the amount allowable) under this act. Where for any taxable year prior to the taxable year 1932 the depletion allowance was based on discovery value or a percentage of income, then the adjustment for depletion for such year shall be based on the depletion which would have been allowable for such year if computed without reference to discovery value or a percentage of income;

(c) In respect of any period prior to March 1, 1913, for exhaustion, wear and tear, obsolescence, amortization, and depletion, to the extent sustained;

(d) In the case of stock (to the extent not provided for in the foregoing subparagraphs) for the amount of distributions previously made which, under the law applicable to the year in which the distribution was made, either were tax-free or were applicable in reduction of basis (not including distributions made by a corporation, which was classified as a personal service corporation under the provisions of the Revenue Act of 1918 or 1921, out of its earnings or profits which were taxable in accordance with the provisions of section 218 of the Revenue Act of 1918 or 1921

(2) Substituted Basis.—The term "substituted basis" as used in this subsection means a basis determined under any provision of subsection (a) of this section or under any corresponding provision of a prior income tax law, providing that the basis shall be determined—

(a) By reference to the basis in the hands of a transferor, donor, or grantor, or

(b) By reference to other property held at any time by the person for whom the basis is to be determined

Whenever it appears that the basis of property in the hands of the taxpayer is a substituted basis, then the adjustments provided in paragraph (1) of this subsection shall be made after first making in respect of such substituted basis proper adjustments of a similar nature in respect of the period during which the property was held by the transferor, donor, or grantor, or during which the other property was held by the person for whom the basis is to be determined. A similar rule shall be applied in the case of a series of substituted basis.

SEC. 114. Basis for Depreciation and Depletion.

(a) Basis for Depreciation.—The basis upon which exhaustion, wear and tear, and obsolescence are to be allowed in respect of any property shall be the adjusted basis provided in section 113 (b) for the purpose of determining the gain upon the sale or other disposition of such property.

(b) Basis for Depletion.—

(1) General Rule.—The basis upon which depletion is to be allowed in respect of any property shall be the adjusted basis provided in section 113 (b) for the purpose of determining the gain upon the sale or other disposition of such property, except as provided in paragraphs (2), (3), and (4) of this subsection.

(2) Discovery Value in Case of Mines.—In the case of mines (other than metal, coal or sulphur mines) discovered by the taxpayer after February 28, 1913, the basis for depletion shall be the fair market value of the property at the date of discovery or within thirty days thereafter, if such mines were not acquired as the result of purchase of a proven tract or lease, and if the fair market value of the property is materially disproportionate to the cost. The depletion allowance under section 23 (m) based on discovery value provided in this paragraph shall not exceed fifty per centum of the net income of the taxpayer (computed without allowance for depletion) from the property upon which the discovery was made, except that in no case shall the depletion allowance under section 23 (m) be less than it would be if computed without reference to discovery value. Discoveries shall include minerals in commercial quantities contained within a vein or deposit discovered in an existing mine or mining tract by the taxpayer after February 28, 1913, if the vein or deposit thus discovered was not merely the uninterrupted extension of a continuing commercial vein or deposit already known to exist, and if the discovered minerals are of sufficient value and quantity that they could be separately mined and marketed at a profit.

(3) Percentage Depletion for Oil and Gas Wells.—In the case of oil and gas wells the allowance for depletion under section 23 (m) shall be twenty-seven and one-half per centum of the gross income from the property during the taxable year, excluding from such gross income an amount equal to any rents or royalties paid or incurred by the taxpayer in respect of the property. Such allowance shall not exceed fifty per centum of the net income of the taxpayer (computed without allowance for depletion) from the property, except that in no case shall the depletion allowance under section 23 (m) be less than it would be if computed without reference to this paragraph.

(4) Percentage Depletion for Coal and Metal Mines and Sulphur.—The allowance for depletion under section 23 (m) shall be, in the case of coal mines, five per centum, in the case of metal mines, fifteen per centum, and, in the case of sulphur mines or deposits, twenty-three per centum, of the gross income from the property during the taxable year, excluding from such gross income an amount equal to any rents or royalties paid or incurred by the taxpayer in respect of the property. Such allowance shall not exceed fifty per centum of the net income of the taxpayer (computed without allowance for depletion) from the property. A taxpayer making his first return under this title in respect of a property shall state whether he elects to have the depletion allowance for such property for the taxable year for which the return is made computed with or without regard to percentage depletion, and the depletion allowance in respect of such property for such year shall be computed according to the election thus made. If the taxpayer fails to make such statement in the return, the depletion allowance for such property for such year shall be computed without reference to percentage depletion. The method, determined as above, of computing the depletion allowance shall be applied in the case of the property for all taxable years in which it is in the hands of such taxpayer, or of any other person if the basis of the property (for determining gain) in his hands is under section 113, determined by reference to the basis in the hands of such taxpayer, either directly or through one or more substituted basis, as defined in that section.

SEC. 115. Distributions by Corporations.

(a) Definition of Dividend.—The term "dividend" when used in this title means any distribution made by a corporation to its shareholders, whether in money or in other property, out of its earnings or profits accumulated after February 28, 1913.

(b) Source of Distributions.—For the purposes of this act every distribution is made out of earnings or profits to the extent thereof, and from the most recently accumulated earnings or profits. Any earnings or profits accumulated, or increase in value of property accrued, before March 1, 1913, may be distributed exempt from tax, after the earnings and profits accumulated after February 28, 1913, have been distributed, but any such tax-free distribution shall be applied against and reduce the adjusted basis of the stock provided in section 113.

(c) Distributions in Liquidation.—Amounts distributed in complete liquidation of a corporation shall be treated as in full payment in exchange for the stock, and amounts distributed in partial liquidation of a corporation shall be treated as in part or full payment in exchange for the stock. The gain or loss to the distributee resulting from such exchange shall be determined under section 111, but shall be recognized only to the extent provided in section 112. Despite the provisions of section 117 (a), one hundred per centum of the gain so recognized shall be taken into account in computing net income. In the case of amounts distributed (whether before January 1, 1934, or on or after such date) in partial liquidation (other than a distribution within the provisions of subsection (h) of this section of stock or securities in connection with a reorganization) the part of such distribution which is properly chargeable to capital account shall not be considered a distribution of earnings or profits within the meaning of subsection (b) of this section for the purpose of determining the taxability of subsequent distributions by the corporation

(d) Other Distributions from Capital.—If any distribution (not in partial or complete liquidation) made by a corporation to its shareholders is not out of increase in value of property accrued before March 1, 1913, and is not out of earnings or profits, then the amount of such distribution shall be applied against and reduce the adjusted basis of the stock provided in section 113, and if in excess of such basis, such excess shall be taxable in the same manner as a gain from the sale or exchange of property.

(e) Distributions by Personal Service Corporations.—Any distribution made by a corporation, which was classified as a personal service corporation under the provisions of the Revenue Act of 1918 or the Revenue Act of 1921, out of its earnings or profits which were taxable in accordance with the provisions of section 218 of the Revenue Act of 1918 or section 218 of the Revenue Act of 1921, shall be exempt from tax to the distributees.

(f) Stock Dividends.—A stock dividend shall not be subject to tax.

(g) Redemption of Stock.—If a corporation cancels or redeems its stock (whether or not such stock was issued as a stock dividend) at such time and in such manner as to make the distribution and cancellation or redemption in whole or in part essentially equivalent to the distribution of a taxable dividend, the amount so distributed in redemption or cancellation of the stock, to the extent that it represents a distribution of earnings or profits accumulated after February 28, 1913, shall be treated as a taxable dividend

(h) Distribution of Stock on Reorganization.—Effect on Future Distributions — The distribution before January 1, 1934, in pursuance of a plan of reorganization, by or on behalf of a corporation a party to the reorganization, of its stock or securities or stock or securities in a corporation a party to the reorganization, if no gain to the distributee from the receipt of such stock or securities was recognized by law, shall not be considered a distribution of earnings or profits within the meaning of this section for the purpose of determining the taxability of subsequent distributions by the corporation. As used in this subsection, the terms "reorganization" and "party to the reorganization" shall have the meanings assigned to such terms in section 112 of the Revenue Act of 1932.

(i) Definition of Partial Liquidation.—As used in this section the term "amounts distributed in partial liquidation" means a distribution by a corporation in complete cancellation or redemption of a part of its stock, or one of a series of distributions in complete cancellation or redemption of all or a portion of its stock.

SEC. 116. Exclusions from Gross Income. In addition to the items specified in section 22 (b), the following items shall not be included in gross income and shall be exempt from taxation under this title:

(a) Earned Income from Sources Without California.—In the case of an individual citizen of California, a bona fide nonresident of California for more than six months during the taxable year, amounts received from sources without California (except amounts paid by California or any agency thereof) if such amounts would constitute earned income as defined in section 25 (a) if received from sources within California; but such individual shall not be allowed as a deduction from his gross income any deductions properly allocable to or chargeable against amounts excluded from gross income under this subsection.

SEC. 117 Capital Gains and Losses. (a) General Rule.—Only the following percentages of the gain or loss recognized upon the sale or exchange of a capital asset shall be taken into account in computing net income:

One hundred per centum if the capital asset has been held for not more than one year;

Eighty per centum if the capital asset has been held for more than one year but not for more than two years;

Sixty per centum if the capital asset has been held for more than two years but not for more than five years;

Forty per centum if the capital asset has been held for more than five years but not for more than ten years;

Thirty per centum if the capital asset has been held for more than ten years.

(b) Definition of Capital Assets.—For the purposes of this title, "capital assets" means property held by the taxpayer (whether or not connected with his trade or business), but does not include stock in trade of the taxpayer or other property of a kind which would properly be included in the inventory of the taxpayer if on hand at the close of the taxable year, or property held by the taxpayer primarily for sale to customers in the ordinary course of his trade or business

(c) Determination of Period for Which Held.—For the purpose of subsection (a)—

(1) In determining the period for which the taxpayer has held property received on an exchange there shall be included the period for which he held the property exchanged, if under the provisions of section 113, the property received has, for the purpose of determining gain or loss from a sale or exchange, the same basis in whole or in part in his hands as the property exchanged.

(2) In determining the period for which the taxpayer has held property however acquired there shall be included the period for which such property was held by any other person, if under the provisions of section 113, such property has, for the purpose of determining gain or loss from a sale or exchange, the same basis in whole or in part in his hands as it would have in the hands of such other person.

(3) In determining the period for which the taxpayer has held stock or securities received upon a distribution where no gain was recognized to the distributee under the provisions of section 112 (g) of the Revenue Act of 1928 or the Revenue Act of 1932, there shall be included the period for which he held the stock or securities in the distributing corporation prior to the receipt of the stock or securities upon such distribution.

(4) In determining the period for which the taxpayer has held stock or securities the acquisition of which (or the contract or option to acquire which) resulted in the nondeductibility (under section 118 of this act or section 118 of the Revenue Act of 1928 or the Revenue Act of 1932, relating to wash sales) of the loss from the sale or other disposition of substantially identical stock or securities, there shall be included the period for which he held the stock or securities the loss from the sale or other disposition of which was not deductible.

(d) Limitation of Capital Losses.—Losses from sales or exchanges of capital assets shall be allowed only to the extent of $2,000 plus the gains from such sales or exchanges. If a bank or trust company incorporated under the laws of the United States or of any State or Territory, a substantial part of whose business is the receipt of deposits, sells any bond, debenture, note, or certificate or other evidence of indebtedness issued by any corporation (including one issued by a government or political subdivision thereof), with interest coupons or in registered form, any loss resulting from such sale (except such portion of the loss as does not exceed the amount, if any, by which the adjusted basis of such instrument exceeds the par or face value thereof) shall not be subject to the foregoing limitation and shall not be included in determining the applicability of such limitation to other losses.

(e) Gains and Losses from Short Sales, etc.—For the purpose of this title—

(1) Gains or losses from short sales of property shall be considered as gains or losses from sales or exchanges of capital assets, and

(2) Gains or losses attributable to the failure to exercise privileges or options to buy or sell property shall be considered as gains or losses from sales or exchanges of capital assets held for one year or less

(f) Retirement of Bonds, etc.—For the purposes of this title, amounts received by the holder upon the retirement of bonds, debentures, notes, or certificates or other evidences of indebtedness issued by any corporation (including those issued by a government or political subdivision thereof), with interest coupons or in registered form, shall be considered as amounts received in exchange therefor.

SEC. 118. Loss from Wash Sales of Stock or Securities. (a) In the case of any loss claimed to have been sustained from any sale or other disposition of shares of stock or securities where it appears that within a period beginning thirty days before the date of such sale or disposition and ending thirty days after such date, the taxpayer has acquired (by purchase or by an exchange upon which the entire amount of gain or loss was recognized by law), or has entered into a contract or option so to acquire, substantially identical stock or securities then no deduction for the loss shall be allowed under section 23 (e) (2); nor shall such deduction be allowed under section 23 (f) unless the claim is made by a corporation, a dealer in stocks or securities, and with respect to a transaction made in the ordinary course of its business

(b) If the amount of stock or securities acquired (or covered by the contract or option to acquire) is less than the amount of stock or securities sold or otherwise disposed of, then the particular shares of stock or securities the loss from the sale or other disposition of which is not deductible shall be determined under rules and regulations prescribed by the commissioner

(c) If the amount of stock or securities acquired (or covered by the contract or option to acquire) is not less than the amount of stock or securities sold or otherwise disposed of, then the particular shares of stock or securities the acquisition of which (or the contract or option to acquire which) resulted in the nondeductibility of the loss shall be determined under rules and regulations prescribed by the commissioner.

SEC. 120. Unlimited Deduction for Charitable and Other Contributions. In the case of an individual if in the taxable year and in each of the ten preceding taxable years the amount of the contributions or gifts described in section 23 (o) plus the amount of income taxes paid during such year in respect of preceding taxable years, exceeds ninety per centum of the taxpayer's net income for each such year, as computed without the benefit of section 23 (o), then the fifteen per centum limit imposed by such section shall not be applicable.

SUPPLEMENT D—RETURNS AND PAYMENT OF TAX.

[Supplementary to Subtitle B, Part V]

SEC. 142. Fiduciary Returns. (a) Requirement of Return.—Every fiduciary (except a receiver appointed by authority of law in possession of part only of the property of an individual) shall make under oath a return for any of the following individuals, estates, or trusts for which he acts, stating specifically the items of gross income thereof and the deductions and credits allowed under this title—

(1) Every individual having a net income for the taxable year of $1,000 or over, if single, or if married and not living with husband or wife;

(2) Every individual having a net income for the taxable year of $2,500 or over, if married and living with husband or wife;

(3) Every individual having a gross income for the taxable year of $5,000 or over, regardless of the amount of his net income;

(4) Every estate or trust the net income of which for the taxable year is $1,000 or over;

(5) Every estate or trust the gross income of which for the taxable year is $5,000 or over, regardless of the amount of the net income; and

(6) Every estate or trust of which any beneficiary is a nonresident alien.

(b) Joint Fiduciaries.—Under such regulations as the commissioner may prescribe a return made by one of two or more joint fiduciaries and filed in the office of the collector of the district where such fiduciary resides shall be sufficient compliance with the above requirement. Such fiduciary shall make oath (1) that he has sufficient knowledge of the affairs of the individual, estate, or trust for which the return is made, to enable him to make the return, and (2) that the return is, to the best of his knowledge and belief, true and correct.

(c) Law Applicable to Fiduciaries.—Any fiduciary required to make a return under this title shall be subject to all the provisions of law which apply to individuals.

(d) Tax Upon Settlement of Fiduciary's Account.—No final account of a fiduciary shall be allowed by the probate court unless such account shows and the judge of said court finds, that all taxes imposed by the provisions of this act upon said fiduciary, which have become payable, have been paid, and that all taxes which may become due are secured by bond, deposit or otherwise. The certificate of the commissioner and the receipt for the amount of the tax therein certified shall be conclusive as to the payment of the tax, to the extent of said certificate. For the purpose of facilitating the settlement and distribution of estates held by fiduciaries, the commissioner with the approval of the Attorney General may on behalf of the State agree upon the amount of taxes at any time due or to become due from such fiduciaries under the provisions of this act, and payment in accordance with such agreement shall be full satisfaction of the taxes to which the agreement relates.

SEC. 145. Penalties. (a) Any person required under this title to pay any tax, or required by law or regulations made under authority thereof to make a return, keep any records, or supply any information, for the purposes of the computation, assessment, or collection of any tax imposed by this title, who wilfully fails to pay such tax, make such return, keep such records, or supply such information, at the time or times required by law or regulations, shall, in addition to other penalties provided by law, be guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction thereof, be fined not more than $10,000, or imprisoned for not more than one year, or both, together with the costs or prosecution.

(b) Any person required under this title to collect, account for, and pay over any tax imposed by this title, who wilfully fails to collect or truthfully account for and pay over such tax, and any person who wilfully attempts in any manner to evade or defeat any tax imposed by this title or the payment thereof, shall, in addition to other penalties provided by law, be guilty of a felony and, upon conviction thereof, be fined not more than $10,000, or imprisonment for not more than five years or both, together with the costs of prosecution.

(c) The term "person" as used in this section includes an officer or employee, of a corporation or a member or employee of a partnership, who as such officer, employee, or member is under a duty to perform the act in respect of which the violation occurs.

SEC. 146. Closing by Commissioner of Taxable Year. (a) Tax in Jeopardy.—If the commissioner finds that a taxpayer designs quickly to depart from California or to remove his property therefrom, or to conceal himself or his property therein, or to do any other act tending to prejudice or to render wholly or partly ineffectual proceedings to collect the tax for the taxable year then last past or the taxable year then current unless such proceeding be brought without delay, the commissioner shall declare the taxable period for such taxpayer immediately terminated and shall cause notice of such finding and declaration to be given the taxpayer, together with a demand for immediately payment of the tax for the taxable period so declared terminated and of the tax for the preceding taxable year or so much of such tax as is unpaid, whether or not the time otherwise allowed by law for filing return and paying the tax has expired; and such taxes shall thereupon become immediately due and payable. In any proceeding in court brought to enforce payment of taxes made due and payable by virtue of the provisions of this section the finding of the commissioner, made as herein provided, whether made after notice to the taxpayer or not, shall be for all purposes presumptive evidence of the taxpayer's design.

Such distributees shall for the purpose of the normal tax be allowed as credits against net income such part of the amount so distributed or made available as represents the items of dividends and interest specified in section 25 (a).

Where the taxability of income under this section depends on the residence of the beneficiary and there are two or more beneficiaries for the estate or trust, the income taxable under this section shall be apportioned according to the number of beneficiaries resident in this State, such apportionment being determined according to rules and regulations prescribed by the commissioner.

SUPPLEMENT L—ASSESSMENT AND COLLECTION OF DEFICIENCIES

SEC. 271. Definition of Deficiency As used in this title in respect of a tax imposed by this title "deficiency" means—

(a) The amount by which the tax imposed by this title exceeds the amount shown as the tax by the taxpayer upon his return; but the amount so shown on the return shall first be increased by the amounts previously assessed (or collected without assessment) as a deficiency, and decreased by the amounts previously abated, credited, refunded, or otherwise repaid in respect of such tax; or

(b) If no amount is shown as the tax by the taxpayer upon his return, or if no return is made by the taxpayer, then the amount by which the tax exceeds the amounts previously assessed (or collected without assessment) as a deficiency; but such amounts previously assessed or collected without assessment, shall first be decreased by the amounts previously abated, credited, refunded, or otherwise repaid in respect of such tax.

SEC. 272. Procedure in General (a) Petition to Board.—If in the case of any taxpayer, the commissioner determines that there is a deficiency in respect of the tax imposed by this title, the commissioner is authorized to send notice of such deficiency to the taxpayer by registered mail. Within ninety days after such notice is mailed (not counting Sunday or a legal holiday as the ninetieth day), the taxpayer may file a petition with the board for a redetermination of the deficiency. No assessment of a deficiency in respect of the tax imposed by this title and no distraint or proceeding in court for its collection shall be made, begun, or prosecuted until such notice has been mailed to the taxpayer, nor until the expiration of such ninety-day period, nor, if a petition has been filed with the board, until the decision of the board has become final.

For exceptions to the restrictions imposed by this subsection, see—

(1) Subsection (d) of this section, relating to waivers by the taxpayer;

(2) Subsection (f) of this section, relating to notifications of mathematical errors appearing upon the face of the return;

(3) Section 273, relating to jeopardy assessments; and

(4) Section 274, relating to bankruptcy and receiverships.

(b) Collection of Deficiency Found by Board.—If the taxpayer files a petition with the board, the entire amount redetermined as the deficiency by the decision of the board which has become final shall be assessed and shall be paid upon notice and demand from the commissioner. No part of the amount determined as a deficiency by the commissioner but disallowed as such by the decision of the board which has become final shall be assessed or be collected by distraint or by proceeding in court with or without assessment

(c) Failure to File Petition.—If the taxpayer does not file a petition with the board within the time prescribed in subsection (a) of this section, the deficiency, notice of which has been mailed to the taxpayer, shall be assessed, and shall be paid upon notice and demand from the commissioner

(d) Waiver of Restrictions.—The taxpayer shall at any time have the right, by a signed notice in writing filed with the commissioner, to waive the restrictions provided in subsection (a) of this section on the assessment and collection of the whole or any part of the deficiency.

(e) Increase of Deficiency After Notice Mailed.—The board shall have jurisdiction to redetermine the correct amount of the deficiency even if the amount so redetermined is greater than the amount of the deficiency, notice of which has been mailed to the taxpayer, and to determine whether any penalty, additional amount or addition to the tax should be assessed—if claim therefor is asserted by the commissioner at or before the hearing or a rehearing.

(f) Further Deficiency Letters Restricted.—If the commissioner has mailed to the taxpayer notice of a deficiency as provided in subsection (a) of this section, and the taxpayer files a petition with the board within the time prescribed in such subsection, the commissioner shall have no right to determine any additional deficiency in respect of the same taxable year, except in the case of fraud, and except as provided in subsection (e) of this section, relating to assertion of greater deficiencies before the board, or in section 273 (c), relating to the making of jeopardy assessments. If the taxpayer is notified that, on account of a mathematical error appearing upon the face of the return, an amount of tax in excess of that shown upon the return is due, and that an assessment of the tax has been or will be made on the basis of what would have been the correct amount of tax but for the mathematical error, such notice shall not be considered (for purposes of this subsection, or of subsection (a) of this section, prohibiting assessment and collection until notice of deficiency has been mailed, or of section 322 (c), prohibiting credits or refunds after petition to the board) as a notice of a deficiency, and the taxpayer shall have no right to file a petition with the board based on such notice, nor shall such assessment or collection be prohibited by the provisions of subsection (a) of this section.

(g) Jurisdiction Over Other Taxable Years.—The board in redetermining a deficiency in respect of any taxable year shall consider such facts with relation to the taxes for other taxable years as may be necessary correctly to redetermine the amount of such deficiency, but in so doing shall have no jurisdiction to determine whether or not the tax for any other taxable year has been overpaid or underpaid.

(h) Final Decisions of Board.—For the purposes of this title the date on which a decision of the board becomes final shall be upon the expiration of the time allowed for filing a petition for review, if no such petition has been duly filed within such time; or

Upon the expiration of the time allowed for filing a petition for certiorari, if the decision of the board has been affirmed or the petition for review dismissed by a court of competent jurisdiction and no petition for certiorari has been duly filed; or

Upon the denial of a petition for certiorari, if the decision of the board has been affirmed or the petition for review dismissed by a court of competent jurisdiction; or

Upon the expiration of thirty days from the date of issuance of the mandate of the Supreme Court of the State of California, if such court directs that the decision of the board be affirmed or the petition for review dismissed.

(i) Prorating of Deficiency to Installments.—If the taxpayer has elected to pay the tax in installments and a deficiency has been assessed, the deficiency shall be prorated to the three installments. Except as provided in section 273 (relating to jeopardy assessments), that part of the deficiency so prorated to any installment the date for payment of which has not arrived, shall be collected at the same time as and as part of such installment. That part of the deficiency so prorated to any installment the date for payment of which has arrived, shall be paid upon notice and demand from the commissioner.

(j) Extension of Time for Payment of Deficiencies.—Where it is shown to the satisfaction of the commissioner that the payment of a deficiency upon the date prescribed for the payment thereof will result in undue hardship to the taxpayer the commissioner, (except where the deficiency is due to negligence, to intentional disregard of rules and regulations, or to fraud with intent to evade tax), may grant an extension for the payment of such deficiency or any part thereof for a period not in excess of eighteen months, and, in exceptional cases, for a further period not in excess of twelve months. If an extension is granted, the commissioner may require the taxpayer to furnish a bond in such amount, not exceeding double the amount of the deficiency, and with such sureties, as the commissioner deems necessary, conditioned upon the payment of the deficiency in accordance with the terms of the extension.

(k) Address for Notice of Deficiency.—In the absence of notice to the commissioner under section 312 (a) of the existence of a fiduciary relationship, notice of a deficiency in respect of a tax imposed by this title, if mailed to the taxpayer at his last known address, shall be sufficient for the purposes of this title even if such taxpayer is deceased, or is under a legal disability.

SEC. 273. Jeopardy Assessments. (a) Authority for Making.—If the commissioner believes that the assessment or collection of a deficiency will be jeopardized by delay, he shall immediately assess such deficiency (together with all interest, additional amounts, or additions to the tax provided for by law) and notice and demand shall be made for the payment thereof.

(b) Deficiency Letters.—If the jeopardy assessment is made before any notice in respect of the tax to which the jeopardy assessment relates has been mailed under section 272 (a), then the commissioner shall mail a notice under such subsection within sixty days after the making of the assessment.

(c) Amount Assessable Before Decision of Board.—The jeopardy assessment may be made in respect of a deficiency greater or less than that notice of which has been mailed to the taxpayer, despite the provisions of section 272 (f) prohibiting the determination of additional deficiencies, and whether or not the taxpayer has theretofore filed a petition with the board. The commissioner shall notify the board of the amount of such assessment, if the petition is filed with the board before the making of the assessment or is subsequently filed, and the board shall have jurisdiction to redetermine the entire amount of the deficiency and of all amounts assessed at the same time in connection therewith.

(d) Amount Assessable After Decision of Board.—If the jeopardy assessment is made after the decision of the board is rendered such assessment may be made only in respect of the deficiency determined by the board in its decision.

(e) Expiration of Right to Assess.—A jeopardy assessment may not be made after the decision of the board has become final or after the taxpayer has filed a petition for review of the decision of the board

(f) Bond to Stay Collection.—When a jeopardy assessment has been made the taxpayer, within ten days after notice and demand from the collector for the payment of the amount of the assessment, may obtain a stay of collection of the whole or any part of the amount of the assessment by filing with the commissioner a bond in such amount, not exceeding double the amount as to which the stay is desired, and with such sureties, as the commissioner deems necessary, conditioned upon the payment of so much of the amount, the collection of which is stayed by the bond, as is not abated by a decision of the board which has become final, together with interest thereon as provided in section 297.

(g) Same—Further Conditions.—If the bond is given before the taxpayer has filed his petition with the board under section 272 (a), the bond shall contain a further condition that if a petition is not filed within the period provided in such subsection, then the amount the collection of which is stayed by the bond, will be paid on notice and demand at any time after the expiration of such period, together with interest thereon at the rate of six per centum per annum from the date of the jeopardy notice and demand to the date of notice and demand under this subsection.

(h) Waiver of Stay.—Upon the filing of the bond the collection of so much of the amount assessed as is covered by the bond shall be stayed. The taxpayer shall have the right to waive such stay at any time in respect of the whole or any part of the amount covered by the bond, and if as a result of such waiver any part of the amount covered by the bond is paid, then the bond shall, at the request of the taxpayer, be proportionately reduced If the board determines that the amount assessed is greater than the amount which should have been assessed, then when the decision of the board is rendered the bond shall, at the request of the taxpayer, be proportionately reduced.

(i) Collection of Unpaid Amounts.—When the petition has been filed with the board and when the amount which should have been assessed has been determined by a decision of the board which has become final, then any unpaid portion, the collection of which has been stayed by the bond, shall be collected as part of the tax upon notice and demand from the commissioner, and any remaining portion of the assessment shall be abated. If the amount already collected exceeds the amount determined as the amount which should have been assessed, such excess shall be credited or refunded to the taxpayer as provided in section 322, without the filing of claim therefor If the amount determined as the amount which should have been assessed is greater than the amount actually assessed, then the difference shall be assessed and shall be collected as part of the tax upon notice and demand from the commissioner.

(j) Claims in Abatement.—No claim in abatement shall be filed in respect of any assessment in respect of any tax imposed by this title.

SEC. 274. Bankruptcy and Receiverships. (a) Immediate Assessment.—Upon the adjudication of bankruptcy of any taxpayer in any bankruptcy proceeding or the appointment of a receiver for any taxpayer in any receivership proceeding before any court of the United States or of any State or Territory or of the District of Columbia, any deficiency (together with all interest, additional amounts, or additions to the tax provided for by law) determined by the commissioner in respect of a tax imposed by this title upon such taxpayer shall, despite the restrictions imposed by section 272 (a) upon assessments be immediately assessed if such deficiency has not theretofore been assessed in accordance with law. In such cases the trustee in bankruptcy or receiver shall give notice in writing to the commissioner of the adjudication of bankruptcy or the appointment of the receiver, and the running of the Statute of Limitations on the making of assessments shall be suspended for the period from the date of adjudication in bankruptcy or the appointment of the receiver to a date thirty days after the date upon which the notice from the trustee or receiver is received by the commissioner, but the suspension under this sentence shall in no case be for a period in excess of two years. Claims for the deficiency and such interest, additional amounts and additions to the tax may be presented, for adjudication in accordance with law, to the court before which the bankruptcy or receivership proceeding is pending, despite the pendency of proceedings for the redetermination of the deficiency in pursuance of a petition to the board; but no petition for any such redetermination shall be filed with the board after the adjudication of bankruptcy or the appointment of the receiver.

(b) Unpaid Claims.—Any portion of the claim allowed in such bankruptcy or receivership proceeding which is unpaid shall be paid by the taxpayer upon notice and demand from the commissioner after the termination of such proceeding, and may be collected by distrain or proceeding in court within six years after termination of such proceeding. Extensions of time for such payment may be had in the same manner and subject to the same provisions and limitations as are provided in section 272 (j) and section 296 in the case of a deficiency in a tax imposed by this title.

SEC 275 Period of Limitation upon Assessment and Collection. SUPPLEMENT M—INTEREST AND ADDITIONS TO THE TAX.

SEC 291 Failure to File Return. In case of any failure to make and file a return required by this title, within the time prescribed by law or prescribed by the commissioner in pursuance of law, twenty-five per centum of the tax shall be added to the tax, except that when a return is filed after such time and it is shown that the failure to file it was due to reasonable cause and not due to wilful neglect no such addition shall be made to the tax. The amount so added to any tax shall be collected at the same time and in the same manner and as a part of the tax unless the tax has been paid before the discovery of the neglect, in which case the amount so added shall be collected in the same manner as the tax

SEC. 292. Interest on Deficiencies. Interest upon the amount determined as a deficiency shall be assessed at the same time as the deficiency, shall be paid upon notice and demand from the collector, and shall be collected as a part of the tax, at the rate of six per centum per annum from the date prescribed for the payment of the tax (or, if the tax is paid in installments, from the date prescribed for the payment of the first installment) to the date the deficiency is assessed, or, in the case of a waiver under section 272 (d), to the thirtieth day after the filing of such waiver or to the date the deficiency is assessed whichever is the earlier.

SEC. 293. Additions to the Tax in Case of Deficiency. (a) Negligence.—If any part of any deficiency is due to negligence, or intentional disregard of rules and regulations but without intent to defraud, five per centum of the total amount of the deficiency (in addition to such deficiency) shall be assessed, collected, and paid in the same manner as if it were a deficiency, except that the provisions of section 272 (i), relating to the prorating of a deficiency, and of section 292, relating to interest on deficiencies, shall not be applicable.

(b) Fraud.—If any part of any deficiency is due to fraud with intent to evade tax, then fifty per centum of the total amount of the deficiency (in addition to such deficiency) shall be so assessed, collected, and paid.

SEC. 294 Additions to the Tax in Case of Nonpayment. (a) Tax Shown on Return.—(1) General Rule.—Where the amount determined by the taxpayer as the tax imposed by this title, or any installment thereof, or any part of such amount or installment is not paid on or before the date prescribed for its payment, there shall be collected as a part of the tax, interest upon such unpaid amount at the rate of one per centum a month from the date prescribed for its payment until it is paid.

(2) If Extension Granted.—Where an extension of time for payment of the amount so determined as the tax by the taxpayer, or any installment thereof, has been granted, and the amount the time for payment of which has been extended, and the interest thereon determined under section 295, is not paid in full prior to the expiration of the period of the extension then, in lieu of the interest provided for in paragraph (1) of this subsection, interest at the rate of one per centum a month shall be collected on such unpaid amount from the date of the expiration of the period of the extension until it is paid.

(b) Deficiency.—Where a deficiency, or any interest or additional amounts assessed in connection therewith under section 292, or under section 293, or any addition to the tax in case of delinquency provided for in section 291, is not paid in full within ten days from the date of notice and demand from the commissioner there shall be collected as part of the tax, interest upon the unpaid amount at the rate of one per centum a month from the date of such notice and demand until it is paid. If any part of a deficiency prorated to any unpaid installment under section 272 (i) is not paid in full on or before the date prescribed for the payment of such installment, there shall be collected as part of the tax interest upon the unpaid amount of the rate of one per centum a month from such date until it is paid.

(c) Fiduciaries.—For any period an estate is held by a fiduciary appointed by order of any court of competent jurisdiction or by will, there shall be collected interest at the rate of six per centum per annum in lieu of the interest provided in subsections (a) and (b) of this section.

(d) Filing of Jeopardy Bond.—If a bond is filed, as provided in section 273, the provisions of subsections (b) and (c) of this section shall not apply to the amount covered by the bond.

SEC. 295. Time Extended for Payment of Tax Shown on Return. If the time for payment of the amount determined as the tax by the taxpayer, or any installment thereof, is extended under the authority of section 56 (e), there shall be collected as a part of such amount, interest thereon at the rate of six per centum per annum from the date when such payment should have been made if no extension had been granted, until the expiration of the period of the extension.

SEC. 296. Time Extended for Payment of Deficiency. If the time for the payment of any part of a deficiency is extended, there shall be collected, as part of the tax, interest on the part of the deficiency the time for payment of which is so extended, at the rate of six per centum per annum for the period of the extension, and no other interest shall be collected on such part of the deficiency for such period. If the part of the deficiency the time for payment of which is so extended is not paid in accordance with the terms of the extension, there shall be collected, as a part of the tax, interest on such unpaid amount at the rate of one per centum a month for the period from the time fixed by the terms of the extension for its payment until it is paid, and no other interest shall be collected on such unpaid amount for such period.

SEC. 297. Interest in Case of Jeopardy Assessments. In the case of the amount collected under section 273 (i) there shall be collected at the same time as such amount, and as a part of the tax, interest at the rate of six per centum per annum upon such amount from the date of the jeopardy notice and demand to the date of notice and demand under section 273 (i), or, in the case of the amount collected in excess of the amount of the jeopardy assessment, interest as provided in section 292. If the amount included in the notice and demand from the collector under section 273 (1) is not paid in full within ten days after such notice and demand, then there shall be collected, as part of the tax, interest upon the unpaid amount at the rate of one per centum a month (or, for any period the estate of the taxpayer is held by a fiduciary appointed by any court of competent jurisdiction or by will, at the rate of six per centum per annum) from the date of such notice and demand until it is paid.

SEC. 298. Bankruptcy and Receiverships If the unpaid portion of the claim allowed in a bankruptcy or receivership proceeding, as provided in section 274, is not paid in full within ten days from the date of notice and demand from the commissioner, then there shall be collected as a part of such amount interest upon the unpaid portion thereof at the rate of one per centum a month from the date of such notice and demand until payment.

Any such liability may be either as to the amount of tax shown on the return or as to any deficiency in tax.

(b) Period of Limitation.—The period of limitation for assessment of any such liability of a transferee or fiduciary shall be as follows:

(1) In the case of the liability of an initial transferee of the property of the taxpayer,—within one year after the expiration of the period of limitation for assessment against the taxpayer;

(2) In the case of the liability of a transferee of a transferee of the property of the taxpayer,—within one year after the expiration of the period of limitation for assessment against the preceding transferee, but only if within three years after the expiration of the period of limitation for assessment against the taxpayer;—except that if before the expiration of the period of limitation for the assessment of the liability of the transferee, a court proceeding for the collection of the tax or liability in respect thereof has been begun against the taxpayer or last preceding transferee, respectively,—then the period of limitation for assessment of the liability of the transferee shall expire one year after the return of execution in the court proceeding.

(3) In the case of the liability of a fiduciary,—not later than one year after the liability arises or not later than the expiration of the period for collection of the tax in respect of which such liability arises, whichever is the later

(c) Period for Assessment Against Taxpayer.—For the purposes of this section, if the taxpayer is deceased, the period of limitation for assessment against the taxpayer shall be the period that would be in effect had death or termination of existence not occurred.

(d) Suspension of Running of Statute of Limitations.—The running of the Statute of Limitations upon the assessment of the liability of a transferee or fiduciary shall, after the mailing to the transferee or fiduciary of the notice provided for in section 272 (a), be suspended for the period during which the commissioner is prohibited from making the assessment in respect of the liability of the transferee or fiduciary (and in any event, if a proceeding in respect of the liability is placed on the docket of the board, until the decision of the board becomes final), and for sixty days thereafter.

(e) Address for Notice of Liability.—In the absence of notice to the commissioner under section 312 (b) of the existence of a fiduciary relationship, notice of liability enforceable under this section in respect of a tax imposed by this title, if mailed to the person subject to the liability at his last known address, shall be sufficient for the purposes of this title even if such person is deceased, or is under a legal disability, or, in the case of a corporation, has terminated its existence.

(f) Definition of "Transferee."—As used in this section, the term "transferee" includes heir, legatee, devisee, and distributee.

(b) Fiduciary of Transferee.—Upon notice to the commissioner that any person is acting in a fiduciary capacity for a person subject to the liability specified in section 311, the fiduciary shall assume, on behalf of such person, the powers, rights, duties, and privileges of such person under such section (except that the liability shall be collected from the estate of such person), until notice is given that the fiduciary capacity has terminated.

(c) Manner of Notice.—Notice under subsection (a) or (b) shall be given in accordance with regulations prescribed by the commissioner.

SUPPLEMENT O—OVERPAYMENTS

SEC. 321. Overpayment of Installment. If the taxpayer has paid as an installment of the tax more than the amount determined to be the correct amount of such installment, the overpayment shall be credited against the unpaid installments, if any. If the amount already paid, whether or not on the basis of installments, exceeds the amount determined to be the correct amount of the tax, the overpayment shall be credited or refunded as provided in section 322.

SEC. 322. Refunds and Credits.—

(a) Authorization.—Where there has been an overpayment of any tax imposed by this title, the amount of such overpayment shall be credited against any income tax or installment thereof then due from the taxpayer, and any balance shall be refunded immediately to the taxpayer by the Controller, upon order of the commissioner or the board.

(b) Limitation on Allowance—

(1) Period of Limitation.—Unless a claim for credit or refund is filed by the taxpayer within three years from the time the return was filed by the taxpayer or within two years from the time the tax was paid, no credit or refund shall be allowed or made after the expiration of whichever of such periods expires the later. If no return is filed by the taxpayer, then no credit or refund shall be allowed or made after two years from the time the tax was paid, unless before the expiration of such period a claim therefor is filed by the taxpayer.

(c) Effect of Petition to Board.—If the commissioner has mailed to the taxpayer a notice of deficiency under section 272 (a) and if the taxpayer files a petition with the board within the time prescribed in such subsection, no credit or refund in respect of the tax for the taxable year in respect of which the commissioner has determined the deficiency shall be allowed or made and no suit by the taxpayer for the recovery of any part of such tax shall be instituted in any court except—

(1) As to overpayments determined by a decision of the board which has become final; and

(2) As to any amount collected in excess of an amount computed in accordance with the decision of the board which has become final; and

(3) As to any amount collected after the period of limitation upon the beginning of distraint or a proceeding in court for collection has expired; but in any such claim for credit or refund or in any such suit for refund the decision of the board which has become final, as to whether such period has expired before the notice of deficiency was mailed, shall be conclusive

(d) Overpayment Found by Board.—If the board finds that there is no deficiency and further finds that the taxpayer has made an overpayment of tax in respect of the taxable year in respect of which the commissioner determined the deficiency, the board shall have jurisdiction to determine the amount of such overpayment, and such amount shall, when the decision of the board has become final, be credited or refunded to the taxpayer. No such credit or refund shall be made of any portion of the tax unless the board determines as part of its decision that it was paid within three years before the filing of the claim or the filing of the petition, whichever is earlier.

By Mr. Wagner:

December 31, 1934.

Benjamin Warren Black, M.D

DEAR SIR: I received your letter concerning the proposed legislation or Assembly Bill No. 183, act to amend the section of the Political Code pertaining to the State Department of Public Institutions.

That I can not agree with you or the proponents of the change. It may be that politics, political patronage and influence are entrenched in the present system of conducting public institutions. But we can always hold the State administration responsible for the administration of our institutions.

Under the plan that you seem to be interested in, the people will have just a certain class of special interest controlling our public institutions.

They in turn will be appointed by the administration in power, influenced by the interests that elected them. Staggering their terms of office would mean that if a group that had charge under a certain administration would not conduct the management of the institutions in the interest of the people, then a new State administration that would want to do the right thing could not discontinue the services of a group that was discrediting or mismanaging our public institutions.

Under the present bad system of political patronage set-up, we can hold the State administration responsible for the business of the State in connection with any and all governmental departments.

The people at election time can vote against any administration that does not conduct the business of the State in all its branches and departments in the interests of the people.

The bill that is sponsored by your group has many jokers in it.

It is my opinion that the act would create an autocratic dictatorship without limit to expense and powers.

The people of California should elect all commissions if they are necessary, "and many of them are not necessary."

Each session of the Legislature we find that the powers of our elected representatives are gradually being taken away by the clever manipulations of special interests

Our referendum measures are nearly always sponsored by certain interests that pretend good legislation. With money! The interests put over clever trickery, scientifically arranged, deceiving publicity schemes "that would puzzle a Philadelphia lawyer"

As a result of this system we have a deplorable state of affairs in our State Government, financial and otherwise

We have a great deal of unnecessary duplication of governmental agencies, bureaus, commissions and what not, that have been created in the interest of selfish special interests that want to take the control of the State Government away from the people

It may be stated that any elected commissions could be controlled by the interests that would finance their campaign.

But if they did not conduct the affairs of their respective offices properly, they could be recalled or not reelected Appointed commissions can not be recalled or elected to office by the people.

Appointed commissions are the alibi or the way out for the evading of the responsibilities of our elected public officials that should conduct the business of the State and be held responsible to the citizens.

The same idea should be carried out in our counties and municipalities

Doctor Black, the undersigned is the person that exposed your empty wards with wax figures in the beds, when the destitute citizen was refused admission to the Highland Hospital with a statement that the Highland Hospital was crowded and wards and beds were not available for our destitute sick.

I also stirred up a mess when your Highland Hospital refused to take a destitute psychopathic case without a legal or common sense reason.

I have also made possible an expose of the rackets connected with the social welfare bunk of Alameda County

Could I possibly think well of any appointed public institutions' commission? When my investigations show what a rotten set-up we have in Alameda County.

If I have shown a too progressive explanation of my opinion I apologize.

Sincerely yours,

CHAS J. WAGNER,

Democratic Assemblyman-elect, Fourteenth District, Alameda, California.

ASSISTANT CLERK OLIVER READING.

Therefore I move that the bill be stricken from the calendar.

Final Report.

Report filed with Secretary of State.

Communication.

On request of Mr. Wagner, the following letter was ordered printed in the Journal.

May 3, 1935.

To Members of the Assembly.

I desire to place before the Assembly a resolution requesting an investigation of the SERA Work Relief Administration and the Alameda County Welfare of Alameda County.

By reason of the evident failure of both these bodies to function in the interest of our destitute unemployed American citizens on relief.

Both these organizations are simply duplications in many phases of relief and at the same time our unemployed citizens, many of whom were taxpayers, are forced to accept the humiliating and degrading and un-American standards of living.

May I state the service of both these organizations are of such types of activities that can only result in Communism especially when their un-American methods in social welfare and when the higher-ups in control of these services to our citizens continue to make their services worse instead of better.

Then we have a condition of incompetency and a waste of public funds for social welfare and SERA activities.

We have our State Public Welfare Commission that does not seem able to function in its supposed authority and could no doubt with its present reorganization and capable management could handle all the problems. Especially when this department of the State Government has the experience and knowledge of our social welfare problems of our State.

Why should we have three set-ups of social welfare, State, county and SERA? The reason is very plain, political patronage, and with it comes inefficient service and our overhead expense that will soon stagger our taxpayers.

This Legislature should set these conditions right. We have politicians in control of our Alameda County welfare.

In our SERA we have another political set-up that is simply controlled by State politics.

In our State Department of Social Welfare there has been a political mess and was dominated by special interests and now handicapped by certain types of know-it-all lady bountiful special social workers that can not remedy the conditions of misery that exist in their respective districts who also seem to be controlled by a certain group of organized medical fraternity that have only their interests in mind, and can not consider the welfare of our destitute people.

All of the statements are facts and can be proven.

How can we expect to escape Communism and all its menaces when those that are so much interested and fearful of the menace of Communism do not and evidently will not go to the root of what is causing Communism, let me tell these persons when you eliminate the cause you destroy the evil, that is unemployment, low standards of living and our present system of political social relief and all its humiliating, degrading and un-American service to our destitute citizens.

I would ask this question of those that are sitting in this Legislature if they would care to think much of our so-called American ideals if they or theirs had to accept such services as follows: If you were a disabled unemployed war veteran and you had a family of four that had to exist on $4.80 a week and a so-called trained social worker came to your home and told your wife that a quart of milk was too much for two children, what would you do and say? Would you care to live on a so-called welfare budget that was given to your family when food commodities were 25 per cent cheaper?

Would you care to have your landlord beat out of his rent for three months by the present set-up of social workers in Alameda County when the social worker moved you into another house they started the same old racket over again? Would you care to be forced to eat the listed budget of foods day in and day out?

Would you care to have a so-called trained social worker cut your budget to $10 a month because your wife earned $4.25 in one month? Would you like to have a super social worker go to your wife's employer and snooper investigate your statement of truth and the employer discharges your wife on account of such snooper activities when you were on SERA and your wife was trying to help out by earning a few cents to help a family of four children.

How would you feel if you were an old lady 68 years of age, deeded your property interests to the social welfare racket and received $22 a month to exist on and because you made $3 or $4 a month once in a while mending silk stockings and have your budget reduced to $11 a month? And if you requested an increase in your budget to pay taxes on the interest you had in your property that you had deeded to the present social welfare set-up and they refused to consider the request? What would you think of having to wait four years for an old age pension if you were 65 years of age?

If you were a widow and had three children and you were destitute and placed your three children in the care of your almost destitute parents to take care of while you tried to look for employment and worked on SERA for $24 a month and had to pay $12 a month for room rent and you were told you could not get consideration for your children because they were not living with you.

What would you think if you were unemployed and had exhausted your savings you would have to wait one and two months before you received consideration? Can you imagine your state of mind if you were destitute and sick and refused admission to your county hospital because there were no beds or wards available and when upon investigation a few days later there was discovered four empty wards with wax figures in some of the beds?

The investigator was not allowed to continue his investigation on some of the other floors of the hospital.

When our social welfare was given 120,000 cases of canned food by the SERA for distribution to those on county relief. Why was only 40,000 cases distributed and many county charity cases never received a can of that food? Why was the canned food taken back by the SERA and the county charity cases deprived of that food? Was it because one county supervisor stated that the small merchant would go bankrupt if surplus foods were given away?

The latest flash on the air and all of the subsidized press comes from the same old racket that was worked by the counties to discredit our unemployed citizens that are on relief to effect a state of mind of the public that the unemployed are racketeering and chiseling on the SERA when the fact of the matter is that about one-tenth of 1 per cent is racketeering on the SERA but they would have you and the general public believe that 60 per cent of our citizens are grafting or racketeering on our political relief system, clever propaganda that would make me think that their extensive investigation system is all wrong

If we could see the cost of investigating these relief cases.

Members of the Legislature, I could go on for hours and show up conditions in the Alameda County welfare set-up that give you every reason to wonder why unemployed citizens did not become Communistic

Our unemployed and destitute have been very patient expecting to secure just consideration of their problems but with the present system of political and special interest welfare set-up we can not expect to see anything but Communism if we do not effect a sincere humanitarian policy of welfare service in Alameda County.

I ask your favorable support of this request that an Assembly investigation of the Alameda County social welfare and SERA in all its phases.

Sincerely and respectfully submitted.

CHARLES J. WAGNER.
Assemblyman, Fourteenth District

Resolution.

The following resolution was offered:

By Messrs. Heisinger, Anderson, Voigt, and Evans, Ralph W.:

Assembly Resolution.

Relative to memorializing Congress to enact a Federal Banking System.

WHEREAS, During the last 25 years, the big bankers of America, working in collaboration with other international bankers of the world, brought about the sale to our people of billions of dollars of worthless securities and also caused many bankers all over our country to loan the people's deposited money to the furtherance of such schemes and to the gamblers on the boards of trade in the large eastern cities, and practically ceased to loan money to legitimate business and enterprises; and

WHEREAS, Such tactics turned the people's minds against the banks until nearly all confidence was lost in banks, which brought about the collapse of many such institutions throughout the country, thereby wrecking the savings of millions of our people; and

WHEREAS, The bankers had no remedy to save themselves, but remedy was finally brought about by the rehabilitation of the banks at the beginning of the present administration wherein the bank depositors were guaranteed their accounts and the confidence of the people was restored until the banks today are literally bulging with money; and

WHEREAS, The bankers, even though the first to be helped, have not learned their lesson and would not assist in the restoration of prosperity but continued to refuse loans to the people until the Federal Government guaranteed home loans to the extent of billions of dollars; and

WHEREAS, The banks charge a higher rate of interest on such guaranteed loans than is justified under such conditions, and

WHEREAS, There is now in the Congress a proposal to establish a Federal banking system which is intended to serve the interests of the people as against the interests of Wall Street, and

WHEREAS, It appears that our present banking system will never be of such service to the people as a banking system should be, and that the people more and more are depositing their savings in post-office certificates, and apparently demanding a Federal banking system; therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the California Legislature, That we urge upon the Congress to enact a Federal banking system which may take in every post office so that all the people may enjoy the privileges and advantages of low rates of interest and terms of loans which the rich have enjoyed for so long; be it further

Resolved, That the Speaker of the Assembly be instructed to send a copy of this resolution to the President of the United States, to the President of the United States Senate, to the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and to each of the United States Senators from this State and to each Congressman from this State

Relative to memorializing the Secretary of State of the United States to maintain the present tariff rate on barley and barley malt imports.

WHEREAS, At the present time certain reciprocal trade agreements are being consummated by the Secretary of State of the United States with other countries; and

WHEREAS, It is reported that consideration is being given to the feasibility of lowering tariff duties on foreign produced malt and barley and barley malt imports; and

WHEREAS, The farmers of the State of California are producers of these products and any lowering of the tariff thereon would result in the lowering of the price which the farmer receives for these products, and a continuation of the present tariff on said products is absolutely essential and necessary to the agricultural prosperity of the Pacific Coast; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate and the Assembly of the State of California, jointly, That these bodies do hereby urge the Secretary of State of the United States that the present tariff rates on barley and barley malt imports be maintained in order that the interests of the American farmer be not sacrificed in any reciprocity trade agreement; and, be it further

SEC. 22 At the time appointed, the board of directors shall open the proposals, and may sell the bonds or any portion or portions thereof to the highest responsible bidder or bidders Any and all bids may be rejected and no proposal shall be accepted unless accompanied by a certified check or such reasonable percentage of the amount of the bid as shall be determined by the board of directors to apply to the purchase price of the bonds. The amount of such check shall be forfeited if, after the acceptance of the proposal the bidder refuses to accept the bond and to complete his purchase thereof on conditions stated in his bid. In case no award is made the board thereafter may again advertise said bonds or any part thereof for sale.

SEC. 23. Bonds and the interest thereon shall be paid from revenues derived from assessments, as authorized by this act.

"SEC. 3. Section 36 of the act cited in the title hereof is hereby amended to read as follows

Sec. 36. The district may incur a bonded indebtedness for any purpose for which the board of directors is authorized to expend the funds of the district in the manner in this act set forth.

The board of directors, whenever the interest of the district shall require, may cause a report to be made to the effect that the acquisition of certain property or works or the construction of such works is convenient or necessary to serve or fulfill the purpose for which the district exists and that the cost of such property or works can not be paid for out of the annual revenue of the district. Such report shall be in such detail and be accompanied by such exhibits as will disclose the purpose sought to be accomplished and the means to be employed therefor. Such report shall be printed in convenient form for distribution to the electors of the district.

After the printing of said report the board of directors by resolution adopted by a majority of the members of the board may call an election to be held in the district for the purpose of authorizing the incurring of a bonded indebtedness by the district. Such resolution shall specify the purpose for which the indebtedness is to be incurred, the amount of bonds which it is proposed shall be issued, the maximum rate of interest such bonds shall bear, and the number of years, not exceeding twenty-five, the whole or any part of said bonds are to run until maturity. It shall further provide for submitting the question of the incurring of such indebtedness to the qualified electors of the district at an election called for that purpose, and the words to appear upon the ballot shall be "Bonds—Yes," and "Bonds—No," or words of similar import, together with a general statement of the amount and purpose of the bonds to be issued. Several propositions may be submitted at the same election. None but qualified electors of the district shall be permitted to vote at such election.

A notice shall be given of such election by publication in a newspaper of general circulation published in the district once a week for at least three weeks if published in a weekly or semiweekly newspaper or for at least ten days if published in a daily newspaper and the first publication shall be at least thirty days prior to the day fixed for the election.

Such notice shall state the time and place for holding the election, the names or numbers of the election precincts, which may be the general election precincts established by the board of supervisors for general State or county elections, or a consolidation of such precincts, or such other special precincts for the purpose of such bond election as the board of directors of such water conservation district may designate and establish, the location of the polling places and the names of the election officers appointed to conduct such election. Such notice shall also state the amount of the debt that it is proposed to incur, a brief statement of the purpose thereof and refer to the report hereinbefore provided to be made for further particulars, the number of years the bonds or any part thereof are to run before the maturity thereof and the maximum rate of interest such bonds shall bear

The manner of holding and conducting such election, the selection of officers to conduct the same, the designation of precincts and polling places, the preparation of ballots and the receipt, counting and return of the same, and the canvassing and determining the results thereof shall be as provided for the election of directors as provided in this act as nearly as practicable, and in particulars not so provided shall be in accordance with the general laws of the State relative to elections whereat propositions are submitted and voted upon. In the event that such election has been fairly held and conducted, no informality nor omission to perform a prescribed duty shall be held to invalidate or affect the legality of any bonded debt authorized to be incurred.

If two-thirds of the votes cast upon the proposition shall have been marked and counted "Bonds—Yes" or appear to favor the proposition submitted, then such proposition shall be deemed to have been accepted by the voters and to authorize the incurring of a bonded debt and the issuance of bonds therefor to the amount of and for the purpose stated in the proposition

Thereafter the board of directors of the district may issue the bonds of the district for the whole or for any part of the amount of the indebtedness so authorized, and may, from time to time, provide for the issuance of such amounts as the necessity therefor shall appear, until the full amount of such bonds authorized shall have been issued Each separate issue shall be given a serial number or letter.

The board of directors shall, by a resolution adopted by a majority of its members, prescribe the form of the bonds and the form of the coupons attached thereto and fix the time when the whole or any part of the principal shall become due and payable. The denomination of the bonds shall be stated in the resolution providing for their issuance, but shall not be less than one hundred nor more than one thousand dollars. The principal and interest shall be payable in gold coin of the United States at the office of the treasurer of the county or such other place as may be designated or at either place at the option of the holder of the bond

The bonds shall be dated numbered consecutively, and be signed by the president of the district and attested by the secretary with the official seal of the district. The interest coupons shall bear the actual or facsimile signature of the president of the district.

The bonds as the same shall be issued may be sold at such times and in such amounts as the board of directors shall deem expedient, after a notice inviting bids therefor shall have been given by publication in a newspaper of general circulation published in the district for a period of at least ten days prior to such sale. A certified check payable to the district for at least five per cent of the amount of the bonds offered shall accompany each bid conditioned that the bidder will accept and pay for the bonds bid for if awarded to him, otherwise such check shall be forfeited to the district and the amount thereof paid into the treasury In case no bids are received the bonds offered may be sold at private sale.

The proceeds arising from the sale of bonds shall be paid into the treasury of the district and placed to the credit of a special fund and expended only for the purpose for which the indebtedness was created.

It shall be the duty of the board of supervisors of the county or counties within which the district is situated to provide for the levy and collection of an assessment tax upon the lands within the district as in this act provided sufficient and in season to pay any installment of principal and all interest on the bonds that may become due during the year following the levy of such assessment tax

At any time the board of directors may apply to the commission authorized by law to approve bonds of irrigation and other districts for certification as legal investments for savings banks or for other purposes specified in the act creating such commission to approve or certify the bonds of such water conservation district Said commission may require such investigation and procedure as is specified in said act, or may, in its discretion, make such other investigation as it shall deem sufficient When such certification shall have been given the bonds of the water conservation district shall be acceptable for investment and surety purposes to the same extend as are county or municipal bonds"

To that end and for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this section, districts organized under this act, and the boards of directors thereof, may avail themselves of and utilize the provisions of any statutes of this State now in effect or hereafter to be enacted; provided, that if such certificates, bonds or debentures are issued payable only out of such revenue, the issuance of the same shall be authorized by a majority of all votes cast at an election called by said board of directors for the purpose of authorizing the issuance of such certificates, bonds or debentures; provided further, that if bonds are to be issued payable from taxes or assessments against the lands of said district, the same shall be authorized by a two-thirds vote of all votes cast at an election called by said board of directors for the purpose of authorizing the issuance of such general obligation bonds."

Explanation of Vote.

May 15, 1935.

To the Members of the Assembly and Whom it May Concern:

My vote against the final passage of the bill, Assembly Bill No. 947, relative to the Bay Bridge Authority, is hereby explained

For the reason that the Bay Bridge Authority Bill, Assembly Bill No 947, has been amended in the Senate, and Assemblyman Gardiner Johnson who handled the bill did not notify the group sponsors of the bill that the Senate had amended the bill, I believed the Alameda County delegation that were co-authors should have been consulted and allowed time to study the amendments.

I requested Assemblyman Patterson to stand by and be ready for a move to reconsider the passage should the amendments be against the best interests of the people

I studied the amendments and found that the amendments were in the best interests of the people and released Mr Patterson from request to stand by for a move to reconsider.

This statement is submitted so as to clear any misunderstanding of my action.

Assembly Constitutional Amendment No. 60.

A resolution to propose to the people of the State of California amendments to Article XI of the Constitution of said State by adding sections 4 and 7¼ thereto, relating to the consolidation of counties, cities and counties, and cities

Resolved by the Assembly, the Senate concurring, That the Legislature of the State of California at its fifty-first regular session commencing on the seventh day of January, 1935, two-thirds of the members elected to each of the two houses of the said Legislature voting therefor, hereby proposes to the people of the State of California, that the Constitution of said State be amended by adding to Article XI thereof two new sections to be numbered 4 and 7¼, and to read as follows

Sec 4. The Legislature, by general and uniform laws, may provide for the consolidation of two or more contiguous counties, other than chartered counties, by the majority vote of the electors of each county involved who vote on the proposition, so that such counties may merge and consolidate into one government with one set of officers.

Laws heretofore passed not in conflict herewith are hereby ratified accordingly.

Sec. 7¼ Any two or more contiguous counties, whether chartered or not, may join to frame a charter for their own government as a consolidated county in the same manner and subject to the same provisions as any county may frame a charter for its own government under section 7½ of this article The board of 15 freeholders shall be elected by the qualified electors of all the counties involved, by a system of representation to be designated in the ordinances or the petition, as the case may be in pursuance of which the board is to be elected. If the board of freeholders is to be elected in pursuance of ordinances, an uniform ordinance specifying the counties to be joined and the proposed name of the consolidated county shall be adopted by the board of supervisors of each county involved, by a three-fifths vote of all the members of each such board. If the board of freeholders is to be elected in pursuance of a petition of qualified electors, such petition must specify the counties to be joined and the proposed name of the consolidated county, and must be signed by at least 15 per centum of the registered electors of each county involved, and each part must be filed in the office of the clerk of the county in which the signatures were secured. Each said clerk who shall find that the petition has been signed by the requisite number of registered electors in his county, shall present the parts he has examined, with his certificate, to the board of supervisors of the county involved which has the largest population according to the last Federal census. If such parts and certificates are received from all the counties involved, the said board of supervisors shall order the election and act on behalf of all the counties and their boards of supervisors under said section 7½ as if all the counties involved were one county (except that each board of supervisors shall have jurisdiction in its county in regard to election precincts and officers) and all such counties together shall be considered to be a single county for the purpose of preparing, publishing, and submitting the proposed charter under the provisions of said section 7½, and said section 7½ shall be interpreted accordingly. The proposed charter shall not be deemed to be ratified unless a majority of the qualified electors of each county involved who vote on the proposition vote in its favor. If said charter is ratified, the counties involved shall be consolidated and governed thereby. Except as is otherwise provided in this section, the provisions of section 7½ of this article shall apply to and govern said charter.

Any city and county may similarly join with any contiguous county or city and county, or city, or counties or cities and counties, or cities, or any combination thereof, whether chartered or not, to frame a charter as a consolidated city and county, the provisions of sections 8 and 8½ of this article to control instead of section 7½ as above provided for the consolidation of two or more counties, and the clerk and governing body of any city to act for the city as above provided for the county clerk and board of supervisors to act for a county.

Any two or more contiguous cities, whether within the boundaries of the same county or not, and whether chartered or not, may similarly join to frame a charter for their own government as a consolidated city, the provisions of sections 8 and 8½ of this article to control instead of section 7½ as above provided for the consolidation of two or more counties, and the clerks and governing bodies of the cities to act in place of the county clerks and boards of supervisors.

Nothing herein contained shall be held to repeal, modify or otherwise affect section 7½b of Article XI of the Constitution of this State.

Recess.

At twelve o'clock and twenty minutes p.m., on motion of Mr. Lyon, the Assembly was declared at recess until two o'clock p.m. of this day.

Reassembled.

At two o'clock p.m., the Assembly reconvened.

Speaker Craig in the chair.

Motion to Print in Journal.

Mr. Voigt moved that the speech of Mr. Laughlin on the passage of Assembly Bill No. 2421 be printed in the Journal.

Motion carried unanimously.

Speech by Mr. Laughlin, Relative to Assembly Bill No. 2421.

I urgently request the approval of this Assembly for the passage of Assembly Bill No. 2421. This bill would place the "Los Angeles Workshop for the Blind" under the supervision of the superintendent of the Oakland "Industrial Home for the Adult Blind."

Such an arrangement would make it possible to effect certain economies in government which we must agree is a worthy motive in view of the unbalanced condition of the budget.

I introduced this measure at the request of the "Los Angeles County Club of Adult Blind," and it is indorsed by the California Council for the Blind and the "Southern California Civic League of the Deaf."

Mr. Kelley, the Oakland superintendent, has been doing very efficient work and the blind of southern California wish to benefit by his experience, ability and fairness.

At the present time there are seven or eight sighted persons employed in the Los Angeles workshop.

If this bill is not passed this session these sighted employees will, under the new Civil Service Law, obtain life jobs. This condition is one of the causes for general dissatisfaction among the blind. The inefficiency of these sighted people, because of their failure to understand the problems of the blind, results in what may amount to an unbearable condition in the Los Angeles workshop.

The Oakland superintendent could replace some of these employees with qualified blind, subject to the approval of the Director of Institutions, and thereby save the State the expense of maintaining these people on the civil service rolls.

The superintendent could coordinate purchases between the two workshops and effect further economies and efficiency

We have been passing legislation this session for the benefit of certain worthy group—the ethical dentist, and the sportsman, but in our search for the "forgotten man"—surely, here, we have the real McCoy

Members of the Assembly, are you willing to turn a deaf ear to the pleadings of these unfortunate people?

Are you going to deprive them of an opportunity to render the State financial benefits and at the same time bring joy into the councils of the handicapped?

By the mere pressure of our finger we can flood this voting board with green lights which will indicate to them safe passage into a realm of industrial contentment and peace of mind.

By such an act we would be casting a ray of light and hope into the lives of those who by act of providence are destined to spend the rest of their days in darkness

Report of Select Committee on Revenue and Taxation.

The following report was received, and ordered printed in the Journal:

By Mr. Riley:

To the Honorable Members of the Senate and the Assembly.

Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 25, providing for the appointment of a joint committee of fourteen members of the Senate and Assembly, authorized us to confer on revenue and tax measures and to make recommendations to the Legislature. We have made our studies and submit our report.

The three major problems have been considered: (1) a balanced budget for the next biennium, (2) adequate provision for unemployment relief, and (3) the present deficit.

I.

THE 1935-1937 BUDGET.

The original estimate of the budget deficit for the coming biennium was		$95,600,000 00
This amount may be reduced by three items:
(a) Revised estimate of gross premium tax on insurance companies at present rate	$4,000,000 00
(b) Increase in liquor licenses to be assessed by the State Board of Equalization under provisions of existing law	2,000,000 00
(c) Reduction of the proposed emergency appropriation from $1,500,000 to $1,000,000	500,000 00
	$6,500,000 00	$ 6,500,000 00
Revised estimate of deficit		$89,100,000 00

EXPLANATION OF REDUCTIONS.

(a) The measure of 1935-1937 revenue from the gross premiums tax on insurance companies in 1934-1935 business. In 1934 there was a marked increase in insurance written in the State. The first four months of 1935 show further increase. With these known figures, the committee is satisfied that the State revenue from this source will be about $4,000,000 more than originally estimated. Sixteen months of the 24 are already completed. This is assured revenue. The increase in the revenue from the existing insurance tax is about one-third above the preceding biennium. Since insurance activity represents a fair cross-section of general business, this figure is not without value in reflecting the present trend in California.

(b) Under existing law the State Board of Equalization has power to levy liquor licenses and to fix the rate. In the opinion of the committee, $2,000,000 more for the biennium should be raised from this source.

(c) The budget fixes the emergency appropriation fund at $1,500,000. It is recognized that circumstances justify an increase over previous years, but the committee believes that the fund should not exceed $1,000,000. The budget estimate is accordingly reduced by the sum of $500,000.

II.

PROPOSED SOURCES OF ADDED REVENUE.

The proposals of the committee are set out in the following table in order that the measures and their effect may be briefly summarized.

	Added revenue
(1) Sales tax at 3 per cent (with essential foods exempt under Assembly Bill No. 122)	$35,500,000 00
(2) Additional sales tax revenue, under Assembly Bills Nos. 1271 and 1273	4,800,000 00
(3) Additional bank and corporation franchise tax (4 per cent-8 per cent)	17,000,000 00
(4) Personal income tax	17,500,000 00
(5) Spirituous liquor tax (80 cents a proof gallon)	9,000,000 00
(6) Revision of inheritance tax rates and exemptions	3,000,000 00
(7) Revision of truck tax	2,000,000 00
(8) Real estate transfer tax	6,000,000 00
(9) State tax on motor vehicles in lieu of present local tax	18,000,000 00
	$112,800,000 00
Revised budget deficit	89,100,000 00
Balance available for unemployment relief	$23,700,000 00

EXPLANATION OF NEW REVENUE ESTIMATE.

(1) and (2). Sales Tax. It is recommended that the sales tax rate be fixed at 3 per cent, with the act enforced under the present measure. It is also recommended that essential food stuffs be exempt, as provided in Assembly Bill No. 122, and that Assembly Bill No. 1271 and Assembly Bill No. 1273 be adopted in order to reach certain purchases and transactions not now taxable.

The committee has studied the operation of the sales tax and the yield from it over the past two years and has tried to make a reasonable estimate of what may be expected in the next biennium. There is a definite upswing in prospect, both in volume and price. The receipts from the first quarter of this year are about 15 per cent above those in the first quarter of last year. Indications are that the increase will continue for the next two years. Considering governmental and trade reports, and the present trend, the committee feels justified in counting upon at least a 10 per cent increase over present levels for the next two years.

The deduction in revenue on account of the exemption of foods has been liberally estimated. Any steps that may be taken by the Legislature in restricting the exemption to food stuffs that may properly be called essential, will be reflected in a corresponding increase in revenue.

The budget estimate of the sales tax at 2 per cent, with no exemptions, for the coming biennium was $84,000,000. The committee's estimate for the 3 per cent rate with food exempt is $119,500,000. The net additional revenue from this source is therefore $35,500,000.

The estimate of the yield under Assembly Bills Nos. 1271 and 1273 is an additional $4,800,000.

Added revenues to be derived under Assembly Bills Nos. 1271 and 1273 are conservatively estimated. No figures are available to fix a formula. The committee has therefore taken an amount which is well under the first estimate made by the sponsors of the bill. It is not unlikely that the yield from this source may be much greater than any estimate yet made.

(3) Bank and Corporation Franchise Tax. The present rate on general corporations is 2 per cent and on banks 6 per cent. It is proposed to increase the corporate rate to 4 per cent and the bank rate to 8 per cent. The new rates are to apply to 1934 income, returnable in 1935.

As in the case of insurance premiums and retail sales there is a substantial increase in current corporate franchise tax returns. In addition, public utilities will hereafter be subject to the Franchise Tax Act. The combined effect of increased rates on banks and corporations, the inclusion of utilities, the upswing in returns, and the elimination of consolidated returns, should supply additional revenue from this tax in the sum of $17,000,000

(4) Personal Income Tax. The committee recommends a personal income tax at State rates which will equal 20 per cent of the present Federal rates. The normal rate for persons in the lowest bracket will be eight-tenths of 1 per cent with surtax increasing on a graduated scale to 11.8 per cent.

The Federal income tax is not applicable to officials and employees of the State and its political subdivisions, but the State act will include them. Based upon current Federal returns and the projection of the present curve for next year it is estimated that the State income tax for the biennium will yield not less than $17,500,000.

In order that this amount may be realized, it is recommended that the tax become immediately effective and that the tax to be paid in 1935 shall be upon one-half of the income of 1934. Thereafter the tax will be based on full annual income. Enough time should be allowed for filing returns this year. To simplify local administration, the Federal method of computing net income should be followed as far as possible.

When the tax on intangible personal property was adopted in 1929, it was represented that this unsatisfactory form of taxation should eventually be superseded by an income tax. The committee now recommends that the income tax levy be in lieu of the intangible tax.

(5) Spirituous Liquor Tax. A tax of 80 cents a proof gallon should be levied. This is comparable to the tax imposed by other States. The estimates of the revenue to be derived from this source which were submitted to the committee ranged from $7,000,000 to $17,000,000. This is a new tax here and no accurate State record is available for precise computation. The committee feels however that an estimate of $9,000,000 is reasonable and strongly recommends provision for strict enforcement.

(6) Inheritance Tax The committee recommends that there be a revision of the rates and exemptions in the Inheritance Tax Act which will yield an increase of $3,000,000.

(7) Truck Tax The committee recommends that there be a revision of the existing tax on trucks to yield an increase of $2,000,000.

(8) Real Estate Transfer Tax. The committee recommends a tax on conveyances of real property, with the basis the same as in the Federal law, but with the rate fixed at 1 per cent. For unmortgaged property, the tax will be measured by the full amount of the consideration For property mortgaged at the time of sale the tax will be measured by the equity. The estimated yield from this source is $6,000,000.

(9) State Tax on Motor Vehicles in Lieu of Local Tax. It is recommended that motor vehicles be eliminated from the local tax rolls and that they be taxed solely for State purposes. The return of the public utility properties to the local rolls will benefit the counties to the extent of at least $60,000,000 a biennium. Two years ago a further benefit of $80,000,000 a biennium was provided for the counties when the sales tax was adopted and the State assumed a larger part of the school costs.

It is estimated that a rate approximating 1¼ per cent, applied to the standard and annually adjusted "Blue book" value of motor vehicles, with proper allowance for make and age, and with a minimum of $1 a car, will yield $18,000,000 for the biennium. The committee recommends the adoption of this measure with an expiration date of December 31, 1937.

The committee further recommends that the first revenue received from this tax be earmarked and applied to the payment of interest and amortization charges on State highway bonds. For the 1935-1937 biennium this will amount to $8,100,000 and will, if continued thereafter, decrease each biennium until bonds are retired.

UNEMPLOYMENT RELIEF

It appears from the table previously incorporated in this report that after deducting the revised budget deficit from the proposed sources of revenue there is a balance available for relief of about $24,000,000. The committee recommends that of the money raised by the State for relief, $10,000,000 be allocated to employment of labor in making permanent and necessary improvements to State institutions.

The Federal authorities have suggested that it may be necessary before the biennium is ended to supply an additional $24,000,000 in order that the State may avail itself of its full quota of Federal aid.

The added revenue to be derived from the proposed measures, and the exact amount of the Federal requirements over the next two years, can not now be determined with certainty. Several potential factors, not fully taken into account in the committee's estimates, may increase the revenue return and supply a further part of the later Federal requirements.

California has never failed to meet promptly the suggestion that Federal aid be adequately matched. It has recognized its obligation and will not fail to meet it again. The committee does not believe it now necessary or advisable to propose any further emergency tax burden, and recommends that the solution of the remainder of the problem, if there be one, be postponed until the early part of next year. The committee feels assured that the Legislature will readily respond in special session to the Governor's call to survey the situation when it crystalizes and when the need is known. If it be the will of the Legislature, the committee will be glad to continue to serve in the interim in its present capacity.

If the Legislature concurs in the committee's recommendations, it may adjourn shortly with the assurance that the budget is balanced and that the maximum Federal requirements for the first year of the biennium have been met. Timely and advised action to meet future needs can be taken whenever occasion requires. A State ad valorem tax is no part of the program contemplated by the committee.

IV.

THE PRESENT DEFICIT.

The deficit for the current biennium will be about $25,000,000 on June 30, 1935. The committee has been advised that early in June it will be necessary to transfer about $7,000,000 from cash balances of special funds to the general fund under section 15 of Article XIII of the Constitution. The major part will come from the gas tax fund. If this amount be not restored to the special fund the general fund deficit will be reduced to about $18,000,000.

The committee considered on several occasions the advisability of proposing for the coming two years the application of $8,100,000 from the gas tax fund to the servicing of highway bonds. It decided, however, against such a recommendation, being influenced in part by the suggestion of the State Department of Public Works that the funds proposed to be taken from the gas tax fund in June might not be replaced.

The committee is assured that if its recommendations be adopted, the present deficit can be funded through tax anticipation warrants or some other form of short term paper with a fixed maturity. This will put the State again on a cash basis. The interest rate payable under the plan proposed would probably not exceed 1 per cent in the present market, in place of the 5 per cent paid on warrants. In addition, the cost and nuisance of registering warrants and the uncertainty arising out of the absence of a fixed due date would be eliminated. The adoption of Senate Constitutional Amendment No. 18 and Senate Bill No. 708 with such amendments as may be deemed necessary, will make this recommendation effective.

The committee recommends that the Legislature call a special election at a time to be fixed by it and submit Senate Constitutional Amendment No. 18 to the people. It is further recommended that at the same election, the Legislature submit to the voters a bond issue to provide necessary money for permanent State institutions, including the purchase of a prison site in southern California. The proposed bond issue should also cover an amount sufficient to reimburse the general fund in the sum now provided in the Governor's budget for permanent improvements to State institutions. The total amount of the proposed issue should not, however, exceed $12,000,000.

Respectfully submitted.

Report of the Select Committee of the Assembly for the Purpose of Investigating the Building and Loan Association Situation in the State of California.

Mr. Speaker and Members of the Assembly:

Your Committee Appointed to Investigate the Building and Loan Situation in the State of California pursuant to Assembly Resolution adopted the ninth day of January, 1935, desires to make the following report:

In view of the previously filed reports from the committee, the Minority Report having been filed by the committee's chairman the Honorable Frederick Peterson, and the majority report which was concurred in by the other four members of the committee, we believe it is not now necessary to go into an extensive study of the history of building and loan associations throughout the State. We feel, however, that the present deplorable situation, which is by no means universal in the building and loan industry, can be traced to certain conditions and practices of the associations in difficulty, and it is with particular reference to those conditions and practices that your committee will concern itself in this report.

CONDITIONS CONTRIBUTING TO THE PRESENT DISORGANIZED STATE OF BUILDING AND LOAN AFFAIRS.

We are of the opinion that certain generally existing conditions have contributed in a great measure to the present unorganized state of affairs within the building and loan industry and in so far as these conditions are concerned, we feel that those associations which are now in difficulty should not be censured by reason of their effect on financial standings of the particular associations involved. We refer primarily to the wide-spread economic depression, with its consequent unemployment and constriction of currency and credit. Most of the associations of the State which are now in difficulty were forced by the stress of circumstances to foreclose a large number of loans due to the borrower's inability to meet the interest and principal payments as they became due. The necessity for foreclosing can, in our opinion, in a majority of cases, be traced to certain practices which were indulged in by the building and loan associations and which will be commented upon later herein. This program of foreclosure has resulted, in most instances, in an abnormally large amount of real estate holdings, as reflected in the percentage of such holdings to the total assets of the building and loan association. In some instances the proportion of real estate to the total assets is not as high as 60 per cent and in the case of one association, the largest in the State (Pacific States Savings and Loan) this percentage can be conservatively estimated at from 48 to 52 per cent. Such large real estate holdings do not permit of the normal conduct of the association's affairs, due to the frozen condition of so large a portion of their assets, although the circumstances do not necessarily indicate that the investors in building and loans will not ultimately be repaid dollar for dollar for their investment therein.

In any discussion of building and loan associations, the circumstances with reference to any individual association must be considered alone in order to determine whether or not that association is one which will ultimately repay its investors without loss. Your committee finds that there have been two distinct schools of thought among building and loan association managements with reference to the best method of riding out of the present economic depression. The first has been followed by a number of the smaller associations throughout the State and it seems to have been quite satisfactory, as long as the investors in the association maintained their confidence and did not present demands for withdrawals of money. This policy might well be termed simply the "satisfactory" policy. Loans were carried, even though delinquent, upon the theory that with the return of better times the loans might be reinstated and the consequent foreclosures avoided, and the assets kept in a more liquid condition. So long as an institution was financially able to pursue this policy it seems to have been of benfit to that institution as well as to its borrowers and investors, although from a standpoint of business, it is doubtful whether or not good business practice would permit delinquent loans to be carried as loans for as great a period of time as has been done in small associations.

The other major policy has been quite the opposite. Those associations pursuing it have insisted upon reasonably prompt performance from their borrowers and in default thereof have instituted and completed foreclosure proceedings, and this type management has reflected itself in the balance sheets of the companies and resulted in the previously mentioned high percentage of real estate holdings to total assets.

In most cases where this procedure was followed the management seems to have felt that good business required the pursuit of such policy. We are not prepared to condemn nor to commend either policy, inasmuch as the two represent a debatable question as to which constitutes the better practice. In the final analysis it would seem that the present status of building and loan associations are "good" or "bad", depending upon and reflecting the ability of the individual management. Your committee has found from its hearings that certain associations in the State have followed a policy with regard to their real estate holdings which has been both severely criticized and highly praised.

In the case of the Pacific States Savings and Loan, the largest building and loan association in the State, a definite policy has been pursued which has resulted in a change which might aptly be termed "a change in the nature of the business of the association." This association, being one of those which pursue the policy of foreclosing delinquent loans, has a large proportion of its assets represented by real estate. Foreclosures brought many types of property upon the books of this concern, predominant in number being the single dwelling. The management of this association believed that the cost of supervision and maintenance of numerous small pieces of property would be such a burden upon the association as would make difficult the earning of interest upon the moneys invested, and as a result, traded many small pieces for several large holdings.

Your committee finds this practice to have been not without objectionable features and not without some merit. Testimony adduced before your committee in San Francisco has shown that within the past two and one-half years this association has acquired numerous hotel properties, chief among them being the Clift Hotel in San Francisco, the Plaza Hotel in San Francisco, the Claus Spreckels Building, as well as numerous other hotels, apartments and office buildings throughout the State of California. It is questionable whether such procedure is the best procedure for this association to follow, but all such deals were approved by the then commissioner before consummation and have resulted in a considerable profit for the association. The Clift Hotel was acquired through exchange of small properties owned by Pacific States Savings for defaulted bonds of the Clift Hotel Company which bonds were in turn foreclosed. Thus, Pacific States acquired title to the property. Since the acquisition of this property it has been paying a net return on the book value of approximately 13 per cent per annum, whereas the properties which were exchanged for the bonds of this hotel company were causing to the Pacific States Savings and Loan a net loss of approximately 1 per cent. Substantially the same procedure was followed by this association in obtaining possession of the Plaza Hotel, the Claus Spreckels Building and numerous other properties, and substantially the same results were obtained in so far as net income to the association was concerned. The only doubt with reference to the advisability of such practice is that in the event of liquidation the question arises as to whether one large property may find as ready a market as some 150 or 200 small pieces.

There is no question in our minds, from the testimony produced before us, that this practice has resulted in increased earning power on the part of the assets involved, and our only doubt, with reference to such exchanges, has been as to the disposability of such assets.

PRACTICES CONTRIBUTING TO THE PRESENT DISORGANIZED BUILDING AND LOAN AFFAIRS.

We feel it is proper to discuss at some length the numerous practices indulged in by various associations and which practices reflected the policies of the associations' managements. First and foremost, among the practices of the associations which should be condemned was that of uncontrolled and unsubstantiable claims in so-called institutional advertising. Your committee feels it to be entirely proper to call attention to specific instances.

Probably the association most flagrantly violating the canons of business ethics and honesty, was the Pomona Mutual Building and Loan Association of Pomona. Over a long period of time, this association conducted a connected series of advertisements, stressing always therein, the purported fact that investments in that association "could never be worth less than 100 cents for each dollar invested." Your committee feels that this course of advertising was conducted in the face of a very apparent critical situation then confronting the association, and the officers of that association freely admitted that such was the case.

The Pacific States Savings and Loan conducted an intensive advertising campaign by newspapers and radio, the theme of which was "7 per cent with safety." Likewise, the Mercantile Building and Loan Association of Stockton, with branch offices throughout the entire State, engaged in a similar advertising campaign.

In your committee's opinion, proper safeguards should be provided which would forever bar the repetition of such flagrantly misleading advertising on the part of building and loan associations.

Your committee feels that in passing, it should comment upon the fact that practically every building and loan association in the State used, as one of the inducements to the public to invest in their association, words similar, at least in import, to the following, "under State supervision." One association for some time carried this idea of State supervision to the extent of causing to be printed within the association pass books a replica of the Great Seal of the State of California, together with a slogan having the import that "you are protected by the great State of California." This practice was severely condemned by the committee during its hearings.

Had the Building and Loan Commissioner the powers then which have since been conferred upon him by the passage of Assembly Bill No. 1300, it is our opinion that a number of these abuses would not have occurred. Your committee feels that this type of advertising contributed directly to some of the disastrous conditions in which certain building and loan associations of the State found themselves, by reason of the fact that such advertising, from the standpoint of the public welfare, was too successful. It resulted in a condition, within those institutions using this type of advertising, of a surplus of investible funds upon which, under the terms of the contract under which they were invested by the investing public, such associations were obligated to pay a fixed rate of interest, usually 7 per cent, sometimes 6 per cent. This condition created a competitive lending market and the associations, in order to place their money at work, made loans of questionable value and of questionable judgment.

Your committee believes that a definite relationship between advertising and present conditions exist, and in this connection, your committee wishes to point out that those associations most active in advertising for new investors are those associations which are today suffering from too great a proportion of real estate assets to total assets. Your committee feels also that in this regard the so-called mutual type associations have fared somewhat better generally than have guarantee capital stock companies. In our opinion this is due to the fact that the mutual companies are under no obligation to pay a fixed rate of interest to their holders, and as a consequence the pressure of necessity did not bear so heavily upon them, and they could, without danger to themselves, deal more leniently with their borrowers. The practice of the guarantee capital stock companies of issuing certificates calling for a fixed rate of interest, in your committee's opinion, is economically unsound, as such certificates do not permit a flexibility which should be had in order that the interest-paying power of the association could follow the actual earning power.

Another practice which has been indulged in by a few associations to the detriment of their investors has been the issuance of investment certificates having rights prior to those certificates issued generally. The Commonwealth Building and Loan Association of Long Beach has outstanding at the present time some $400,000 in this type of certificate, which in the case of this association have been termed "gold notes." This type of certificate represents a first lien and a first claim on the assets of this association, and has resulted in practically stopping withdrawals by investment certificate holders having the usual investment certificate. Your committee feels this to be inequitable and believes that in the future no association should be permitted to issue certificates which have preference in any particular to any individuals, as distinguished from certificates issued to any other investor within the same association.

Your committee also feels that a number of the ills confronting building and loan associations within the State are a result of the attitude of the management of those associations. We have concluded that the managements of building and loan associations generally have failed to recognize to the fullest extent the fiduciary relationship existing in the handling of the institution's funds. Your committee does not, by this, mean to infer there has been dishonesty, but rather that in too many instances, the affairs of the association have been looked upon as the affairs of the individual or individuals controlling the association. This is true even in those associations operating as mutuals, where, theoretically, every investor is a shareholder and has an equal voice in the management of such associations. Your committee is of the opinion that a more rigid control of associations' affairs by the Building and Loan Commissioner will go a long way toward remedying this situation, and Assembly Bill No. 1300 has conferred upon the commissioner that power.

Your committee wishes to call particular attention to the affairs of the Mercantile Building and Loan Association with respect to this matter, although it does not consider the present management responsible for the conditions existing. This association represents a merger of interests of several preexisting mutual type associations. The management and control was centered in the hands of one individual, who operated it practically unhampered or unaided. The association made many second mortgage loans on high priced apartment house properties. These loans were almost, in every instance, wiped out through default and foreclosure on the prior encumbrances, and the association suffered a loss of approximately $1,000,000 in such deals. Your committee feels that such management should not be countenanced in the future, and we are of the opinion that with the commissioner's proper supervision, such instances will not again occur.

We do not feel that it is incumbent upon us at this time to enter upon a discussion of the many evils which have developed during the past five years of depression. We feel that such matters were adequately covered in our preliminary report. We are likewise of the opinion that Assembly Bill No 1300, passage of which we recommended, will furnish adequate means for the curtailment of such abuses.

EXISTING BUILDING AND LOAN LAWS.

We feel that the existing Building and Loan Law governing the associations within this State is in the main satisfactory, although we believe certain refinements and changes should be made therein.

Your committee at this time wishes to call attention to certain phases of existing law which your committee believes to be either incomplete, impracticable or inequitable. It is the sense of this committee that the existing law does not regulate stringently enough the what might be termed incidental affairs of the building and loan associations. By this we mean that the law is silent on certain matters, notably regulations covering the operations of associations with reference to advertising, solicitation of new accounts, and matters of similar nature. Your committee believes that such regulatory matter should be included in the organic law under which these institutions operate so that there may be avoided in the future any repetition of the mistakes of the past.

Our recommendations with reference to this matter are to be found herein. In addition to such regulatory matters, no restriction is placed upon the associations with reference to the nature or size of loans, nor with reference to the locale of the property securing such loans. It has been the practice in the past and one which should be avoided in the future, for persons primarily interested in real estate development to organize building and loan associations to the end that they might finance their development work. This practice has resulted in the associations involved in a lack of diversity of loans and a consequent total collapse of the company in the event of disaster. The most notable example of this type of financing which was presented to your committee during its hearings was the case of the Prudential Building and Loan Association of Oakland. This association, while not having its entire assets in one type or locale, had a very substantial portion thereof invested in the townsite of Alturas. Alturas was a "one-industry" town and when that industry experienced difficulties it resulted in the association's having most of its assets tied up in real estate, the present value of which represents a very small proportion of its actual cost to the association.

Your committee believes that such lack of diversification represents a very real peril to the association permitting itself to operate in such a manner We believe that an amendment to the existing Building and Loan Law which would restrict the operations of any association within a given area would be very desirable.

Your committee believes that the existing section 6.02 of the Building and Loan Law which has to do with order of withdrawals and which section becomes operative at the expiration date of the emergency section 6.02, is one which, if permitted to remain in its present state, will be a source of difficulty and embarrassment to the associations and their investors if allowed to remain unchanged. This section in its present form provides for payment of withdrawal claims on the basis of priority of filing, and past experience would seem to indicate that once the emergency period is terminated so that the section becomes effective, the largest investors will be the first investors to file notices of withdrawal. Your committee believes that a modification of the Federal savings and loan plan for withdrawals should be adopted and in this respect your committee has definite recommendations for your consideration.

Also, your committee believes that the existing law, which permits a guaranteed interest rate return, to be one of the primary causes for the present dilemma of many of the associations of the State, and we base our conclusion upon the fact that some associations, in order to meet their interest commitments, were forced to and did resort to many practices which we can not condone. Many of the associations throughout the State conducted extensive campaigns with the object of inducing their investors to exchange certificates calling for "6 and 7 per cent," for certificates calling for a lesser rate of interest.

Many of the evils which were pointed out in our preliminary report and many of the objectionable practices and deceptive tactics therein discussed were used in the furtherance of these campaigns, and it is your committee's belief that if all associations were denied by law the right to issue certificates calling for a fixed rate of interest much benefit would result.

We found, as a result of our inquiry, that many persons well acquainted with the building and loan industry are widely at variance on this point, and many of the views expressed during the hearings were irreconcilable.

We believe, however, that the interest of the investors in such institutions would best be served by placing investors in such institutions on a plane comparable to depositors in banks, and allow the earnings of the institution to govern the rate of return to the investor.

COMPARISON OF THE RESPECTIVE QUALITIES OF THE GUARANTEE CAPITAL STOCK TYPE AND MUTUAL TYPE ASSOCIATIONS

Your committee has been unable to determine definitely that either the guarantee capital stock type association or the mutual type association is superior, one to the other. Each type seems to have advantages as well as disadvantages. The "guarantee capital stock" type's principal distinction is one which, for many years, seemed to be adequate to accomplish the ends for which it was conceived. In principle, the guarantee capital stock of such associations was to absorb possible losses through diminution of assets, and the owners thereof are required by law to make up any impairment of such guarantee capital at the call of the Building and Loan Commissioner. Experience has shown, however, that in most cases such calls have resulted not in the reestablishment of the impaired capital, but rather in a reduction of the guarantee capital stock, so that what was presumed to be a guarantee to the investor in investment certificates was not in fact such. One of the principal objections raised to this type company is one, the soundness of which your committee is not prepared to admit, that the holders of investment certificates have no voice in the management or control of such associations.

We feel that the status of investors in such associations is analogous to that of depositors in a bank, and your committee is not of the opinion that such investors should necessarily have such voice in the management and control of those associations, save in the event such associations fail to meet their withdrawal demands upon maturity.

Your committee is of the opinion that when an association becomes an "association on notice" some provision should be made which will permit the holders of the investment certificates of such associations to exercise some degree of control over the affairs of the association in order that their interests may be protected. This procedure is provided for in Assembly Bill No. 1300.

We found that the mutual type association is usually in less difficulty than is the guarantee capital stock type company, but in your committee's opinion, this is directly attributable to the fact that mutual type associations do not, through the issuance of membership shares, guarantee a definite rate of return to the shareholders. The investigation made by us has forced us to the conclusion that neither type of association has had characteristics superior to the other, without some compensating detrimental attribute.

In the matter of the "mutual type association," your committee finds that the position of the borrower therefrom is such as to offset any possible advantages occurring to shareholders over certificate holders in "guarantee capital stock type companies." A borrower from the mutual type association is required to subscribe to the membership shares therein, equal in amount to the amount of money borrowed. Thereafter, in making monthly payments to the association, those payments are applied against the purchase price of the membership shares and no portion is applied toward writing down the loan until the value of the membership shares, plus accrued interest thereon is equal to the amount of the loan plus other charges. It is readily apparent from these circumstances, that if the mutual association becomes involved, the borrowers who have been paying, some of them for years, are still faced with the liability of the loan in its full amount and receive credit thereon in the event of ultimate dissolution only in the amount the depreciated shares may bring. Your committee believes that in any comprehensive adjustment of this problem, the rights of the borrowers must be protected as well as those of the investors, and it is to this point your committee's chief criticism of the mutual type association is directed.

Your committee believes that the ultimate solution to this problem of type of organization lies somewhere between the two types of associations now in existence.

We do not feel that it is essential to the welfare of the State of California that all building and loan associations become federalized. Your committee feels that there is a definite place in the financing field for building and loan associations other than Federal savings and loan associations. We are, however, of the opinion that it would lead to greater stability in the building and loan field if all associations were to avail themselves of the insurance provisions set up by the Federal Government for that purpose.

HOLDING COMPANIES.

We are of the opinion that holding companies in the building and loan field are not of themselves inherently bad practice. Here again we desire to point out that such evils as are existent result from unwise or unethical policies. Your committee believes that even a casual examination of the record of this investigation discloses a certain definite correlation between associations controlled through holding companies and the association's financial status. The Pacific States Savings and Loan, the Mercantile Building and Loan Association, and the Pomona Mutual Building and Loan Association are perhaps the most outstanding examples of this situation, each of these associations being controlled by a holding corporation and all are heavily loaded with real estate inventories The principal use to which holding corporations seem to have been put in the past was that of promotion as well as avoidance of any personal liability by reason of ownership of guarantee capital stock. We do not feel that regulation of holding companies is a proper subject for legislation but your committee believes such practices as were indulged in in the past will be effectively dealt with by the Building and Loan Commissioner under the general powers granted to him under the provisions of the Building and Loan Code.

COMMITTEE RECOMMENDATIONS.

Your committee, after due deliberation, feels that the following recommendations are in order:

1. More stringent regulation of association advertising, and forbidding associations the right to exploit in any way the fact that such institutions are under the supervision of the State of California. In this connection we feel that this regulation should be extended to the point that the prior approval of the Building and Loan Commissioner should and must be had before advertising is released and such restrictions should be broad enough to inhibit any repetition of past indiscretions.

2. No association should be permitted to make loans upon more than 33⅓ per cent of the property within any one geographical area.

3 No association should be permitted to engage in a building and loan business within this State unless that association is organized under the laws of the State of California.

4. No association should be permitted to issue more than one class of certificates and no association should be permitted to grant a preference to any certificate holders.

5. No association should be permitted to issue hereafter any contract which, by its terms, obligates the said association to pay interest at a fixed rate or on any basis other than the actual earnings of the association.

6. The present section 6.02 of the Building and Loan Code governing withdrawals should be amended in the following particulars:

First: No association should be permitted by law to pay any withdrawal demand on less than 30 days notice (this to discourage the idea that such institutions are savings institutions accepting demand deposits).

Second: The present provisions of section 6.02 with reference to the net income of said associations which may be used as free money should be maintained.

Third: When an association has matured withdrawal notices on file, such notices should be paid on the basis of priority in time of filing subject to the following limitations:

> So long as there are subsequent matured notices of withdrawal on file no investor should be permitted to withdraw in excess of 33⅓ per cent of the total of the amount, subject to a minimum payment of $250 and a maximum payment of $5,000.

The practical effect of such a provision would be a more equitable basis for withdrawals as between large and small investors

Fourth: Withdrawal notices which come under the limitations as expressed in our third recommendation should not be deemed to be matured withdrawal notices for the purpose of determining an "association on notice" except to the extent such notice is payable in terms of dollars at the time such notice becomes first on the list

7. No association should be permitted to make loans in excess of 1 per cent of its total assets, or $5,000, whichever is the greater except in exceptional cases, and then only upon the prior approval of the commissioner.

Your committee again desires to express its appreciation to the offices of the Attorney General and Legislative Counsel for their splendid cooperation.

Your committee desires to bring to the attention of the members of the Assembly that the transcript of its proceedings are on file in the Legislative Counsel Bureau and are, of course, open to the inspection of any person interested therein.

Respectfully submitted

Assembly Resolution.

WHEREAS, The California Code Commission, as part of its work, has prepared a draft of a Labor Code revising and codifying all the laws of this State relating to the subject of labor; and

WHEREAS, This measure in typewritten form was submitted to many interested persons and groups prior to the present session of the Legislature, but has not as yet been printed and thus has not received the wide circulation and exhaustive scrutiny which such a measure should receive before submission for legislative enactment; and

WHEREAS, The laws included in this code, embodying the bill of rights for labor, unquestionably affect more intimately the rights and duties of a larger number of people than does any other group of laws, and should be widely distributed and carefully examined for as long a period and by as many interested persons as possible, including members of the Legislature, employee groups, employer groups, and representatives of the State agencies charged with the enforcement of these laws, before submission to the Legislature for enactment into law; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Code Commission is hereby directed to prepare the proposed Labor Code for printing as soon after the adjournment of the 1935 session of the Legislature as possible, including therein all laws relating to the subject of labor enacted at this session, and to immediately distribute the same as herein indicated; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk is hereby instructed to have 1,500 copies of said proposed code printed, the cost thereof to be payable from the legislative printing appropriation.

By Mr. Anderson:

Assembly Resolution.

WHEREAS, It is universally recognized that all forms of taxes should bear some equitable relationship to the ability of the person taxed, to pay the tax; and

WHEREAS, All taxes if paid at all, must be paid from income of some character or else constitute confiscation; and

WHEREAS, The tremendous number of sales of real property for delinquent taxes would seem to indicate that the taxes levied thereon have exceeded the net return to the owners of such real estate; and

WHEREAS, It has often and authoritatively been asserted that real property taxes, being based upon appraisals determined largely upon original purchase price, prospective sales price or both, frequently bear no relationship whatever to the actual or warranted return upon the property to the owner either in the form of rentals or usefulness; and

WHEREAS, It has been stated that the burden of real estate taxes, even though not further reduced in total amount, could be borne more easily by property owners if the amount of taxes levied thereon, was based, in some degree, upon the earning power of the particular property taxed; and

WHEREAS, It is contended that it is possible to cause real property taxes to bear a more equitable relationship to the earning power of the particular property taxed by modifications in the methods of assessment and in the methods of appraisals for assessment purposes now employed; be it

Resolved, by the Assembly of the State of California, That a committee of five members of the Assembly be appointed by the Speaker of the Assembly, to meet from time to time following the adjournment of the fifty-first session of the Legislature, for the purpose of thoroughly and adequately examining and investigating the methods of assessment and of appraisal for assessment purposes now employed; for the purpose of levying real property taxes and to study any and all methods for changes in the method of assessment which may come to its attention and to report thereon, together with its recommendations, to the Assembly upon the convening of the fifty-second session; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee shall proceed to organize by the election of one of its members as chairman and by the selection of a secretary and shall thereon proceed with the study and investigation herein authorized in such manner as it pertinent to the purposes herein stated; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee is hereby authorized and empowered to require the production of books, agreements, documents, records, accounts and papers of every kind; to issue subpenas to compel the attendance of witnesses and secure testimony, and as far as practicable to have material testimony reported so the same may be available for use by the Assembly; each member of the committee is authorized to administer oaths and all of the provisions of Article VIII, Chapter 2 of Title I of Part III of the Political Code, relating to the attendance of witnesses before the Legislature and committees thereof shall apply to the committee appointed under this resolution and it shall be the duty of all public officials to furnish such reports, information and evidence upon request of the committee as may be pertinent to the purposes herein stated; and be it further

Resolved, That the sum of $1,000 or so much thereof as may be necessary for the purpose of defraying the expenses of the committee and the cost of its investigation, is hereby made available and appropriated for the use of the committee out of the contingent fund of the Assembly, and the State Controller is authorized and directed to draw his warrants in favor of the person or persons entitled thereto for such expenditures as may be certified to him from time to time by the chairman of the committee, and the State Treasurer is hereby authorized and directed to pay the same.
