Assembly Joint Resolution No. 52.

Relative to regulation of the production of crude petroleum.

WHEREAS, The past history of the sovereign State of California is replete with illustrations of its earnest endeavor to jealously guard the States' rights prerogatives granted under the Constitution of the United States; and

WHEREAS, There is continuing evidence of a desire on the part of some officials in Washington to compel a surrender of these rights in whole or in part; and

WHEREAS, The oil and gas conservation statutes of this State have been rigidly enforced to prevent physical waste in the production of crude petroleum or natural gas, and to protect the underlying strata that hold these natural resource reserves; and

WHEREAS, There is now pending before the Congress of the United States a bill, generally known as the "Thomas Bill," which has for its purpose the attempted regulation of the production of crude petroleum with the several oil-producing States; and

WHEREAS, The objective of the main portion of this bill is contrary to the principles of our dual form of government in that it provides for an attempted invasion of the sovereign powers of California, and would permit Federal encroachment upon the exclusive power of this State to control the production of its natural resources; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly and the Senate of the State of California, jointly, That Senators and Representatives in Congress from this State, be urged to use their utmost endeavor to defeat the passage of this proposed measure and other measures of a similar nature; and be it further

Resolved, That the Governor of the State of California be requested to transmit a copy of this resolution to the members of the California delegation in Congress, to the presiding officers of the Senate and House of Representatives, and to the chairman of the Committee on Mines and Mining of the United States Senate, and to the chairman of the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce of the House of Representatives.

(4) The words "contemplation of death," as used in this act, shall be taken to include that expectancy of death which actuates the mind of a person on the execution of his will, and in nowise shall said words be limited and restricted to that expectancy of death which actuates the mind of a person making a gift causa mortis; and it is hereby declared to be the intent and purpose of this act to tax any and all transfers which are made in lieu of or to avoid the passing of property transferred by testate or intestate laws.

(5) Whenever property, real or personal, is held in the joint names of two or more persons, or is deposited in banks or other institutions or depositaries in the joint names of two or more persons and payable to either or the survivor, upon the death of one of such persons, the right of the surviving joint tenant or joint tenants, person or persons to the immediate ownership or possession and enjoyment of such property shall be deemed a transfer taxable under the provisions of this act in the same manner as though the whole property to which such transfer relates belonged absolutely to the deceased joint tenant or joint depositor and had been devised or bequeathed to the surviving joint tenant or joint tenants, person or persons, by such deceased joint tenant or joint depositor by will, excepting therefrom such part thereof as may be proved by the surviving joint tenant or joint tenants to have originally belonged to him or them and never to have belonged to the decedent.

(6) Whenever any person or corporation shall be given a power of appointment by virtue of any disposition of property made before or after the passage of this act, such gift of power of appointment shall, under the provisions of this act, be deemed a taxable transfer made from the donor of said power to the donee thereof at the date of the donor's death; provided that where the donor of a power of appointment dies prior to the taking effect of this amendment and the power is exercised thereafter the exercise of said power of appointment shall be deemed a transfer taxable as provided in subdivision 6 of section 2 of the Inheritance Tax Act of 1921 as amended in 1929

(7) Whenever a decedent appoints or names one or more executors or trustees, and makes a bequest or devise of property to them in lieu of commissions or allowances, which otherwise would be liable to said tax, or appoints them his residuary legatees or devisees, and said bequest, devise or residuary legacies or devices exceeds the executor's commission provided in section 901 of the Probate Code, or a reasonable compensation to be fixed by the court for the trustee, such excess over and above the exemptions herein provided for shall be liable to said tax.

(8) Where any property shall, after the passage of this act, be transferred subject to any charge, estate or interest, determinable by the death of any person, or at any period ascertainable only by reference to death, the increase accruing to any person or corporation upon the extinction or determination of such charge, estate or interest shall be deemed a transfer of property taxable under the provisions of this act in the same manner as though the person or corporation beneficially entitled thereto had then acquired such increase from the person from whom the title to their respective estates or interests is derived.

(9) The proceeds of all life or accident insurance policies payable on account of the death of the insured shall be subject to the tax herein imposed, as follows:

(a) The proceeds of all such policies now in force or hereafter issued payable to the estate, executor or administrator or personal representative of the insured.

(b) The proceeds of all such policies hereafter issued payable to named beneficiaries.

(c) The proceeds of all such policies now in force payable to named beneficiaries in which the insured has the right to change the beneficiary or under which he has cash surrender right

(10) When more than one transfer within the meaning of any of the preceding subdivisions of this section has been made, either before or after the passage of this act, by a decedent to one person, the tax shall be imposed upon the aggregate market value of all of the property so transferred to such person in the same manner and to the same extent as if all of the property so transferred were actually transferred by one transfer made at the date of the transferor's death and with the value, rates and exemptions as of that date.

(11) In determining the market value of the property transferred, the following deductions, if obligations of the decedent or his estate and paid by the estate or transferee, and no others, shall be made from the appraised value thereof:

(a) Debts of decedent owing at the date of death;

(b) Expenses of funeral and last illness;

(c) All State, county, and municipal taxes and assessments which are a lien against said property and due and payable at the date of death;

(d) The ordinary expenses of administration, including the ordinary fees allowed executors and administrators and the ordinary fees of their attorneys under the provisions of sections 901 and 910 of the Probate Code of California, computed on the value of the estate at the date of decedent's death;

(e) The amount due or paid the government of the United States as a Federal inheritance or estate tax; provided, however, that the amount of such tax allowable herein as a deduction shall be limited to a computation thereof (commencing at the primary rates) made by the acting State Inheritance Tax Appraiser upon his own valuations of that portion of such property only, the transfer of which is taxable under the provisions of this act, by applying to such valuations the exemptions and rates of the Federal inheritance or estate tax in force at the date of decedent's death.

(f) This subdivision (11) is intended as a limitation on deductions, and it is not its purpose to allow as a deduction anything that does not actually reduce the amount of the inheritance or transfer.

(12) Where the tax imposed by this act is of a lesser amount than the maximum credit of the Federal estate tax allowed by the Federal Estate Tax Law because of said tax herein imposed, then the tax provided for by this act shall be increased so that the amount of tax due this State shall be the maximum amount of the credit allowed under said Federal Estate Tax Law. Said additional tax shall be paid out of the same funds as any other ordinary charge against the estate

Where no tax is imposed by this act because of the exemptions herein, or for any other reason, and a tax is due the United States under the Federal Estate Tax Law, then a tax shall be due this State equal to the maximum amount of the credit allowed under said Federal Estate Tax Law.

Should the amount of tax in this act increased by this section be afterwards found to be more than the maximum credit allowed under the Federal Estate Tax Law, then any excess over and above the said maximum credit shall be refunded as is provided in subdivision 4 of section 11 of this act. Said application for refund must be made within six months after said maximum credit has been determined by the Federal Government.

SEC. 3. Such taxes shall be and remain a lien upon the property passed or transferred until paid; provided, however, that where property is sold under and in accordance with the provisions of the Probate Code the lien herein provided for shall be released from the property so sold and shall attach to the proceeds of such sale, and the person to whom the property passes or is transferred, except as herein in this section provided, and all administrators, executors and trustees of every estate so transferred or passed, shall be liable for any and all such taxes until the same shall have been paid as hereinafter directed. The provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure relative to the limitation of time of enforcing a civil remedy shall not apply to any proceeding or action taken to levy, appraise, assess, determine or enforce the collection of any tax or penalty prescribed by this act, provided, that unless sued for within five years after they are due and legally demandable, such taxes or any taxes accruing under any act hereby repealed, shall cease to be a lien as against any bona fide purchaser of said property.

SEC. 4. When the property or any beneficial interest therein so passed or transferred exceeds in value the exemption hereinafter specified and shall not exceed in value twenty-five thousand dollars, the tax hereby imposed shall be.

(1) Where the person or persons entitled to any beneficial interest in such property shall be the husband, wife, lineal ancestor, lineal issue of the decedent or any child adopted as such in conformity with the laws of this State, or any child to whom such decedent for not less than ten years prior to such transfer stood in the mutually acknowledged relation of a parent (provided, however, such relationship began at or before the child's fifteenth birthday, and was continuous for said ten years thereafter), or any lineal issue of such adopted or mutually acknowledged child, at the rate of two per centum of the clear value of such interest in such property

Upon the approval of said bond as herein provided, said tax shall cease to be a lien upon the property so transferred. If such security shall not be renewed before the expiration of each five year period, said bond shall immediately become due and payable and if the same be not paid forthwith, the Attorney General shall file an action in the name of the people of the State on the relation of the Controller, to recover the same and the penalties thereunder and no demand for payment shall be necessary before the institution of such suit. In case such new undertaking so required shall not be given within the time required by such order, or in case the sureties thereon fail to justify thereon when required, all rights obtained by the filing of such original undertaking, or subsequent undertaking, shall cease and the amount of said tax and interest thereon shall immediately become due and payable.

(5) Notwithstanding any provisions hereof whereby final determination of taxability of the transfer of property or interests therein or income therefrom, is or may be deferred until the happening of certain contingencies or conditions, the State Controller may compromise, adjust and settle with the administrator, executor or trustee having charge of the estate or property in question, the taxability of the transfer of such property and of each and every interest therein, including the income therefrom, whether such interests be absolute or qualified, perpetual or limited, present or future, vested or contingent, or otherwise.

(7) Where an estate or interest can be divested by the act or omission of the legatee or devisee it shall be taxed as if there were no possibility of such divesting.

The Insurance Commissioner shall without a fee on the application of any superior court or of any inheritance tax appraiser determine the value of any future or contingent estate, income or interest therein limited, contingent, dependent or determinable upon the life or lives of persons in being, upon the facts contained in any such appraiser's application or other facts to him submitted by said appraiser or said court and certify the same in duplicate to such court or appraiser, and his certificate thereof shall be conclusive evidence that the method of computation therein is correct. When an annuity or a life estate is terminated by the death of the annuitant or life tenant, and the tax upon such interest has not been fixed and determined, the value of said interest for the purpose of taxation under this act shall be the amount of the annuity or income actually paid or payable to the annuitant or life tenant during the period for which such annuitant or life tenant was entitled to the annuity or was in possession of the life estate.

The State Controller shall deduct from the fees allowed by this act to the county treasurer the amount theretofore allowed him upon such overpayment

(4) When any amount of said tax shall have been erroneously paid, the superior court having jurisdiction, on application after notice to the State Controller, and on satisfactory proof to it, shall by order, direct the county auditor to draw his warrants upon the county treasurer in favor of the executor, administrator, trustee,

3670. On the second Monday in July of each year the auditor of each county must report to the State Board of Equalization, in addition to the items required to be so reported by him under section 3728 of this code, the value of each piece of real estate other than mortgage interests therein belonging to each bank in his county as assessed and equalized for purposes of county taxation.

Whenever the State Board of Equalization is satisfied after investigation that any county assessor, or board of equalization, has assessed any real estate belonging to any bank above its full cash value and has thereby unjustly reduced the amount of taxes due the State from said bank, said State board shall, under such rules of notice to the clerk of the board of supervisors of the county affected thereby as the said State board shall deem reasonable, equalize the assessed value of such real estate and shall upon completion of said equalization issue an order to said assessor or board of equalization and to the county auditor of the county in which said real estate is located, fixing the assessed value of said real estate.

The value so equalized and fixed, and no other, shall be deemed the value, as assessed for county taxes, of such real estate, and the sole basis of taxation upon such real estate for county taxes.

A copy of the order certified by the Secretary of the State Board of Equalization shall be prima facie evidence of the regularity of all proceedings of the board resulting in the action which is the subject matter of the order.

SEC. 16. Section 3672 of the Political Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

3672. The board of supervisors of each county must meet on the first Monday of June in each year, to examine the assessment book and equalize the assessment of property in the county. It must continue in session for that purpose, from time to time, until the business of equalization is disposed of, but not later than the third Monday in June; provided, however, that the board of supervisors shall sit as a board of equalization at the time of the first regular meeting of each month of the calendar year for the purpose of equalizing assessments made by the assessor subsequent to the first Monday of June.

SEC. 17. Section 3693 of the Political Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

3693. Whenever the board of supervisors and assessor of any county or city and county shall determine that, in order to equalize the assessment of taxable property within the county or city and county, an appraisal or reappraisal of such property, or any class thereof, is required, such determination shall be certified by the clerk of the board of supervisors and the assessor of said county or city and county to the State Board of Equalization. Thereupon the county assessor, the chairman of the board of supervisors and the member of the State Board of Equalization from the district within which the county or city and county is situate, shall constitute a commission to conduct the work of appraising or reappraising the taxable property, or any class thereof, within the county or city and county. Save as assessments of property may be made by an assessor or his duly constituted deputy or deputies or as valuations may be made of individual parcels of property by a county board of equalization during its regular session in the month of June or extensions thereof as authorized by the State Board of Equalization, no property shall be valued or appraised for the purposes of taxation under authority of any county or city and county except in the manner prescribed by this section.

To carry out the purposes of this section the commission composed of the county assessor, the chairman of the board of supervisors and the member of the State Board of Equalization shall be empowered to employ, subject to the approval of the board of supervisors, such technical assistants as said commission shall deem necessary, but no contract shall be made with any person, firm, association or corporation by which the duty of conducting such work of appraisal or reappraisal shall be delegated to any private interests. No person employed hereunder shall be or shall be considered to be an additional deputy or assistant of any county assessor, but all work done hereunder shall be in furtherance of the power of the county board of equalization to equalize assessments. The expenses of the work of the appraisal or reappraisal of the taxable property, or any class thereof, within the county or city and county, shall be a charge against the funds of said county, or city and county, and the board of supervisors of any county or city and county in which such a commission shall function are hereby authorized and empowered to make such appropriation or appropriations of the funds of said county or city and county as may be necessary to meet the expenses of said work.

SEC. 18. Section 3696 of the Political Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

3696. On the third Monday in July, of each year, the board must determine the rate of State tax to be levied and collected upon the assessed valuation of the property of the State, which, after allowing five per cent for delinquencies in collection of taxes, must be sufficient to raise the specific amount of revenue directed to be raised by the Legislature for State purposes. The board must immediately thereafter transmit to the board of supervisors and county auditor of each county, a statement of such rate, and upon its receipt the clerk of said board and county auditor must each, in writing, notify the State Board of Equalization thereof.

SEC. 19. Section 3713 of the Political Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

3713. In the event that all the State taxes, together with all of the other State revenues, are at any time deemed by the State Board of Control insufficient to meet all of the annual expenditures of the State of California, including all appropriations made by the Budget Bill, all appropriations made by law other than by the Budget Bill, and all appropriations or expenditures made or authorized by the Constitution, the Board of Control shall notify the Board of Equalization as to the amount of the deficiency. Thereafter, the State Board of Equalization, in accordance with the provisions of subdivision (e) of section 14 of Article XIII of the Constitution of California, shall fix, on the third Monday in July, such an ad valorem rate of State tax on all the property in the State, including all classes of property taxed under the provisions of any section of Article XIII of the Constitution, as, after allowing five per cent for delinquencies, will raise an amount of money sufficient to meet the said deficiency.

Any tax so levied and collected to meet such a deficiency shall be assessed, levied and collected under the provisions of the Political Code relating to the assessment, levy and collection of State and county taxes as said provisions were in force on the seventh day of November, 1910.

SEC. 20. Section 3714 of the Political Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

3714. On or before the tenth day of June in each year, at such time as the county board of supervisors may direct, each county official elective or appointive, or person in charge of any office, department, service, institution or district of the county, excepting irrigation and reclamation and any other district where a tax levy for such district is not carried on the regular county, or city and county assessment roll including township officers and the judges of any court of record, and the executive head of each special district whose affairs and funds are under the supervision and control of the county board of supervisors or for which the county board of supervisors is ex officio the governing body, shall file with the county auditor of such county, an itemized estimate showing both the probable revenues from sources other than taxation that will accrue to his department, office, service, institution, or district, during the fiscal year, to which the budget is intended to apply, and all expenditures required by such department, office, service, institution or district, for the same period, together with a brief explanatory statement of the requested increases in expenditures over the current fiscal year, or if such estimate is not presented before the first day of June, such statement should show the increases in expenditures over the last completed fiscal year. The county board of supervisors shall submit to the county auditor a statement showing all new road and bridge construction and grade separation, classified by funds from which the same are to be financed, for the fiscal year to which the budget is intended to apply, together with the estimated cost thereof. The county board of supervisors shall also submit a similar statement showing their road and bridge maintenance or betterment program, as nearly as can be estimated, as well as an estimate of all expenditures for construction or improvement purposes proposed to be made from the proceeds of bonds or other income not yet authorized; provided, that not to exceed twenty per cent of the moneys belonging to any road district may be carried in an "unappropriated reserve," and shall be available for the use of said district to cover expenditures that may have been insufficiently provided for or for unforeseen requirements as they may arise.

School district estimates shall be submitted, on the twentieth day of June through the county superintendent of schools in the manner heretofore prescribed by law, on forms prescribed by the State Department of Education, all other estimates required in this section shall be submitted on forms prescribed by the State Department of Finance, and may only be varied or departed from with the approval of said department; provided, however, that any county may without disturbing the uniformity of the forms and data prescribed, add to the information required or show the same in more detail. The county auditor is hereby directed to provide such forms, and it is made his duty to prepare the estimates for interest and debt redemption requirements and any other estimates, the preparation of which properly falls within the duties of his office; provided, that in the absence, failure, or disability of any official, or person, required to furnish estimates hereunder, such estimates shall be furnished by the official or employee in charge of such office, department, service, institution, or district, during such absence or disability, or such estimates may be prepared and furnished by the county board of supervisors.

2. From such estimates, the county auditor shall prepare a tabulation showing the complete expenditure program of the county, school districts and special districts for the fiscal year to which the budget is intended to apply, and the sources of revenue by which it is to be financed. Such tabulation shall set forth the estimated revenue from sources other than taxation for each office, department, service, institution, or district, for the fiscal year to which the budget is intended to apply, compared with the corresponding figures of the last completed fiscal year, the estimated unencumbered surplus, after allowing for outstanding orders, contracts or other commitments, at the close of the current fiscal year, if such estimate is presented before June first, or the actual unencumbered surplus at the close of the last completed fiscal year, if such estimate is presented after June first, and the amount proposed to be raised by taxation; the estimated expenditures for each office, department, service, institution, or district, for the fiscal year to which the budget is intended to apply, the actual expenditures for the last completed fiscal year, together with the actual expenditures that have accrued for the current fiscal year and an estimate of the expenditures that will accrue for the remainder of such current fiscal year, if such estimate is presented before June first, and the sums necessary to be provided as "general reserves," or a general reserve as hereinafter provided.

Such estimates of expenditures shall be classified to set forth the data by funds, organization units, character and objects of expenditure; the organization units may be subclassified by functions and activities at the discretion of the county board of supervisors, but the expenditures for each organization unit shall be classified under the general classes of (1) salaries and wages; (2) maintenance and operation; (3) capital outlay; (4) interest and debt redemption; and, (5) expenditures proposed to be made from bonds or other income not yet authorized.

Within the general class of "salaries and wages" each salary shall be set forth separately, together with the title or designation of the recipient; provided and excepted, that in counties empowered by charter to increase or decrease the number of deputies and assistants in any office an unitemized estimate may be made to cover the salaries and wages of such deputies and assistants. Wages for day labor may be given in totals by designating the general purpose or object for which the expenditure is to be made. Expenditures coming under the general classification of "maintenance and operation" shall show the major subdivisions and objects for which such expenditure is to be made. Expenditures coming under the general classification of "capital outlay" shall show the major subdivisions and objects for which such expenditure is to be made, except that expenditures for structural or nonstructural improvements shall be listed separately as to each project. Under the general class of "interest and debt redemption" shall be set forth separately each series or issue of bonds, together with its individual requirements for interest and redemption. The total amount of emergency appropriations made during the last completed fiscal year shall be set forth separately together with a statement showing the amount issued for each emergency, a list of appropriations canceled showing the amount of each and a list showing each appropriation made from the unappropriated reserves and the amount thereof.

3. The said tabulation shall be submitted by the county auditor to the clerk of the county board of supervisors on or before the thirtieth day of June of each year, at such time as the county board of supervisors may direct. Said county board of supervisors shall, upon receipt thereof, consider the same in detail, and shall on or before the tenth day of July of each year at such time as the county board of supervisors may direct, make, except as otherwise provided in this section, any revisions, reductions or additions therein, that it may deem advisable, setting forth thereon such changes as have been made to make said budget conform to the judgment and conclusion of the county board of supervisors as to a proper financial program for the county for the fiscal year to which the budget is intended to apply; provided, however, that the estimate submitted by any official, or person, as designated herein shall not be increased or reduced until such official or person shall have first had a hearing thereon before said county board of supervisors; it is further provided, that no school district budget shall be revised, reduced or added to except by the board of school district trustees, except to bring it within the maximum tax limits provided by law. In counties empowered by charter to increase or decrease the compensation and number of deputies and assistants in any office, the county board of supervisors shall, on or before the thirtieth day of May of each year adopt a salary ordinance.

The county board of supervisors may, if it deem advisable, set aside a portion of each fund, other than school funds, to be known as "unappropriated reserves" which shall not exceed ten per cent of the total amount of said fund exclusive of surplus, provided, that in any fund from which expenditures are to be made wholly from surplus ten per cent of the estimated expenditures may be so reserved, or in lieu thereof a general unappropriated reserve which shall not exceed ten per cent of the total budget exclusive of all items for bond interest and redemption. The money in such unappropriated reserves shall be available for appropriation by a four-fifths vote of the members of the county board of supervisors present at any meeting of which all members shall have had reasonable notice, to cover expenditures that have not been provided for or that may have been insufficiently provided for or for unforeseen requirements as they may arise

Said budget shall contain an amount or amounts to be known as a general reserve or "general reserves," if carried in separate funds, in such sum or sums as the county boards of supervisors shall deem sufficient, for the fiscal year for which the budget is intended to apply, to meet the cash requirements of any fund to which the county's credit may be legally extended for that portion of such fiscal year prior to the receipt of taxes therein. Sums withdrawn from such "reserves" shall be returned thereto out of the respective appropriations in favor of which they were so withdrawn, and the amount thereof if found excessive, may, at the end of the fiscal year, be reduced by the county board of supervisors by applying such excess to the reduction of the tax levy. It shall be the duty of the county auditor or a deputy designated by him to attend the board's hearings on the matter contained in his tabulation and the preliminary budget, and to furnish said county board of supervisors with any additional data or information it may require

Said tabulation with such revisions, additions, or changes as have been made therein as herein provided, shall constitute the preliminary county budget for the fiscal year to which the budget is intended to apply. Said budget in which shall be set forth the auditor's tabulation and each individual estimate required as per subdivisions one and two hereof shall, on or before the tenth day of July of each year at such time as the county board of supervisors may direct be printed or mimeographed in full in pamphlet form in quantities sufficient to supply one copy to each taxpayer requesting same, and said county board of supervisors shall on or before such date cause to be published once in a newspaper of general circulation throughout the county, notice that said budget has been prepared and is available for distribution to the taxpayers desiring a copy thereof. Such notice shall also set forth that on a date named therein, which date shall be not less than ten days subsequent to date that said budget is available to taxpayers desiring a copy thereof, the county board of supervisors will meet for the purpose of fixing the final budget designating the time and place of such meeting, and setting forth that any taxpayer may appear thereat and be heard for or against any part of said budget.

4. On or before the twentieth day of July of each year at such time as the county board of supervisors may direct, said board, shall meet at the time and place designated in the notice, provided in subdivision three hereof, at which time and place any taxpayer may appear and be heard for or against any part of such budget. Such hearing shall be continued from day to day until concluded, but not to exceed a total of ten days; provided, however, that such hearing shall be concluded before the expiration of ten days if there are no requests or applications on file with the board for further hearing. The county board of supervisors shall have power to call in the official or person in charge of any office, department, service, institution, or district, other than school districts at the time the estimates for their respective offices are under consideration, for examination concerning such estimates, and such official or person shall be called by said county board of supervisors upon the request of any taxpayer for questioning upon such estimates.

Upon the conclusion of such hearing but not later than the thirtieth day of July of each year at such time as the county board of supervisors may direct, said board shall by resolution, adopt the budget as so finally determined, which resolution may specify appropriations by general classes for "salaries and wages," "maintenance and operation," and "interest and debt redemption," and shall specify by items all appropriations for "capital outlays" and shall file in their offices a copy of the completed budget. The several amounts specified in the resolution as finally enacted, shall be and become appropriated for the several offices, departments, services, institutions or districts, for the fiscal year to which the budget is intended to apply; provided, however, that if the budget as adopted, for any fund, special or school district, requires a tax levy greater than the legal limit as determined by the equalized valuations as shown on the assessment roll, such budget shall be decreased so as to come within the legal requirements, and this revised amount shall be the amount deemed to be appropriated for such purposes for such fiscal year. Nothing in this section shall be construed as removing or in any way affecting any tax limit heretofore fixed by law.

5. The county board of supervisors shall, not later than the first day of August, fix the rates of county and district taxes designating the number of cents levied for each fund upon each one hundred dollars of assessed value of the county for the current fiscal year to raise the amount of the estimated expenditures as finally determined, less the total of the estimated revenues from sources other than taxation, including available surplus, and such expenditures as are to be made from bond sources, and must levy the State, county and district taxes. All taxes shall be levied, upon the taxable property in the county, as provided by law, in specific sums, and the tax for county and local purposes shall not exceed the amount specified in the budget, after allowing for delinquency as provided by law; provided, that it shall not be lawful for any board of supervisors of any county in the State to levy, nor shall any tax greater than seventy-five cents on each hundred dollars of property be levied and collected in any one year, to pay the bonded indebtedness or judgments arising therefrom, of this State, or of any county or municipality in this State.

The clerk of the county board of supervisors shall immediately forward a copy of the completed budget and tax levies to both the State Department of Finance and the State Controller.

The estimates of expenditures, classified as required in subdivision two hereof, and as finally fixed and adopted by said county board of supervisors, shall constitute the appropriations for the county for the fiscal year to which the budget is intended to apply and the county board of supervisors and every other county official, or person, including township officers and judges of any court of record, shall be limited in the making of expenditures or the incurring of liabilities to the amount of such appropriations and classifications respectively; provided, that upon a resolution, formally adopted by the county board of supervisors at a regular or special meeting, and entered upon its minutes, transfers or revisions within the general classes of "salaries and wages," "maintenance and operation," and "capital outlay" may be made. Transfers between the general classes provided in subdivision two hereof, shall not be permitted; provided, that in the case of road and bridge maintenance appropriations, any lawful transfer, deemed necessary may be made; and it is further provided, that the county board of supervisors may by a four-fifths vote of the members present at any meeting of which all members have had reasonable notice cancel any appropriation in whole or in part that is not needed, and return such amount to the "unappropriated reserve" of the fund from which such appropriation was originally made.

Where any budget shall contain an expenditure program to be financed from a bond issue to be authorized thereafter, no such expenditure shall be made or obligations therefor incurred, except such preliminary expenditures as may be now provided by law, until such bonds have been duly authorized and sold. Expenditures made, liabilities incurred, or warrants issued in excess of any of the budget appropriations as originally determined, or as thereafter increased from the "unappropriated reserves" or as thereafter revised by transfer, as herein provided, shall not be a liability of the county, but the official making or incurring such expenditure in an amount known by him to be in excess of the available balance of the appropriation against which it is drawn, shall be liable therefor personally and upon his official bond. The county board of supervisors shall approve no claim, and the county auditor shall issue no warrant for any expenditure in excess of said budget appropriations, as finally adopted or as thereafter increased from the "unappropriated reserves" or by a transfer as herein provided by said county board of supervisors, or as revised under the provisions herein except upon an order of a court of competent jurisdiction, or for an emergency, as hereinafter provided

Nothing herein contained shall be construed as affecting any authority now granted the county board of supervisors to enter into any contract for governmental services for a period exceeding one year, provided that such contract shall only be considered an encumbrance of the fund from which it is to be liquidated in the amount of indebtedness accruing to June thirtieth of each fiscal year covered by such contract.

It is expressly provided that school districts are included herein for the sole purpose of making possible the printing or mimeographing of a proposed expenditure program of moneys collected through county and district tax levies, in order to make possible a ready analysis of such tax levies by the taxpayers and county officials of the county, and it is further expressly provided that nothing in this section shall be construed as requiring any greater detail in school district budgets, nor as allowing any control, alteration or revision thereof or expenditure thereunder not heretofore provided by law, nor as placing any penalty upon any action of any school district board or officer not so heretofore provided.

6. Upon the happening of any emergency caused by fire, flood, explosion, storm, earthquake, epidemic, riot, or insurrection, or for the immediate preservation of order or of public health, or for the restoration to a condition of usefulness of any public property, the usefulness of which has been destroyed by accident, or for the relief of a stricken community, overtaken by calamity, or the settlement of approved claims for personal injuries, or for property damages, exclusive of claims arising from the operation of any public utilities, owned by the county, or to meet mandatory expenditures required by law, the county board of supervisors may upon the adoption, by a four-fifths vote of the members present at any meeting, of the time and place of which all the members of such board shall have had reasonable notice, of a resolution stating the facts constituting the emergency and entering the same upon the minutes, make the expenditure necessary to meet such emergency

All emergency expenditures shall be paid by warrant from any moneys on hand in the county treasury, in any fund properly chargeable with such expenditure, and the county treasurer is hereby authorized and directed to pay such warrants out of any moneys in the treasury in such fund If, at any time, there shall be insufficient moneys on hand in the treasury to pay any of such warrants, then such warrant shall be registered, bear interest, and be called in the manner provided by law for other county warrants.

The unencumbered balance remaining in any fund at the end of the fiscal year shall be carried over to the credit of such fund for the next fiscal year, and shall be deducted from the amount finally determined as necessary to be expended by that fund, for such fiscal year; provided, however, that nothing in this act shall be construed as affecting the right of a county to levy, budget, and expend for highway purposes, the maximum tax provided in sections 2653 and 4041 of the Political Code in addition to such encumbered balance; provided, that all balances remaining to the credit of any fund which is not to be continued in the succeeding fiscal year, shall revert to the general fund, except as to such funds as belong to special districts and are not a part of general county finances

All contractual services rendered or deliveries made prior to the first day of June of each fiscal year, shall be taken into account as expenditures of the year in progress.

If at the beginning of any fiscal year the appropriations necessary for the support of the various county offices, departments, services, institutions or districts for such fiscal year shall not have been made, the several amounts appropriated in the budget of the preceding year for the objects and purposes therein specified, so far as the same shall relate to the operation and maintenance expenses, shall be deemed to be reappropriated for the several objects and purposes specified in said previous year budget until the county board of supervisors shall complete the budget for the current fiscal year and the county auditor shall approve the payments necessary for the support of the various county offices, departments, services, institutions, or districts on the basis of the appropriations of the preceding fiscal year

7. On or before the tenth day of each month, or such other date in any month as the county board of supervisors may direct, the county auditor shall submit to the county board of supervisors a statement showing such information with respect to the condition of each separate budget appropriation as the county board of supervisors may require.

8. It is hereby made the duty of the State Department of Finance to prescribe forms, to initiate or approve changes therein whenever in its judgment same are advisable, and to promulgate such rules, regulations and classifications as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this act.

SEC. 21. Section 3728 of the Political Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

3728. The auditor must, on or before the second Monday in July in each year, prepare from the "assessment book" of such year, as corrected by the board of supervisors, duplicate statements, showing in separate columns—

1. The number of acres of land.
2. The total value of all property.

SEC. 23. Section 3737 of the Political Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

3737. The auditor must, on or before the meeting of the board of supervisors on the first Monday in August, prepare a statement, in duplicate, showing:

First—The indebtedness of the county, funded and floating, the amount of each class, and the rate of interest borne by each class of such indebtedness, or any part thereof.

Second—A concise description of all property owned by the county, with an approximate estimate of the value thereof, and the amount of cash in the county treasury subject to the payment of such indebtedness.

Third—The rate of taxation for county purposes, as shown by the last tax levy made by the board.

Fourth—The assessed value of all property, in detail, for the year.

Fifth—Such other information as the board of supervisors or the Controller of the State may require.

One of the statements mentioned in this section must be filed with the board on the first Monday in August, and the other forwarded immediately, by mail or express, to the Controller of the State. The Controller shall include in his biennial report to the Governor a digest and synopsis, in tabular form, of all reports received by him under the provisions of this section. Any auditor failing to furnish such statement within the time prescribed by law, or to forward to the Controller as herein directed, forfeits to the county one thousand dollars, to be recovered in an action brought by the district attorney in the name of the county.

Assembly Joint Resolution No. 54.

Relative to memorializing Congress, urging it to use or cause the adoption of safety slogans for various postal districts in canceling postage stamps so that each time canceled mail was handled the person handling it would have before him a reminder that the misuse of the highways, or violation of Safety Laws may cause a loss of life, injury of person, or loss of money.

WHEREAS, In the United States in the year 1934, 51,000 persons were killed and nearly a million injured in traffic accidents because of a misuse of the highway or violation of Safety Laws, with a resultant loss of many millions of dollars in property damage; and

WHEREAS, The traffic problem has become so serious that the President of the United States has, on numerous occasions, publicly urged the necessity of its regulation and encouraged organizations who have undertaken the task of trying to make our highways safe for those who use them; and

WHEREAS, One of the effective ways to combat this heavy loss of life and injury to person is by making the citizens of the United States safety and traffic minded through education and publicity; and

WHEREAS, The Post Office Department of the United States has heretofore used various slogans when canceling stamps or mail, such as admonishing persons to "shop early" before the Christmas holidays, and has thus conducted a gigantic publicity campaign at little or no cost, and has daily reached a vast number of the citizens of the United States; and

WHEREAS, In the State of California in the year last passed, there were 2700 people killed and between 35,000 and 40,000 injured because of various safety laws being violated, causing an estimated economic loss in the State between $10,000,000 and $50,000,000; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly and the Senate of the State of California, jointly, That the Congress of the United States be urged to use or cause the adoption of safety slogans for various postal districts in canceling postage stamps so that every time canceled mail was handled the person handling it would have before him a reminder that the misuse of the highways or violation of safety laws may cause a loss of life; injury to person or loss of money; and be it further

Resolved, That the Governor of the State of California be hereby requested to transmit a copy of this resolution to the Honorable James F. Farley, Postmaster General.

Assembly Resolution.

WHEREAS, Thomas J. Mooney and Warren K. Billings were separately charged and separately convicted of the crime of murder alleged to have been committed during the Patriotic Preparedness Day parade held in San Francisco in June, 1916; and

WHEREAS, Both of said parties have been incarcerated, as a result thereof, for approximately 19 years; and

WHEREAS, Since the conviction of said parties the witnesses, who gave direct evidence connecting said parties with the commission of said crime, have shown a degree of unreliability in that most of them have since made statements inconsistent with their sworn testimony; and

WHEREAS, The degree of the unreliability of said witnesses should be measured by whether said inconsistent statements were made freely or under coercion, suggestion or duress, or as the result of propaganda; and

WHEREAS, It is impractical and, in fact, impossible to determine with any degree of certainty the unreliability of said witnesses; and

WHEREAS, During the trial of the so-called Billings Case, the first of said so-called Preparedness Day cases to be tried, much circumstantial evidence which was offered tending to connect Billings, Mooney, Alexander Burkman, Emma Goldman, and others in a conspiracy to stop said Preparedness Day parade by force and violence and to change the existing social order by acts of sabotage with the use of explosives was denied admission in evidence by the judge presiding at the trial of said Billings Case; and

WHEREAS, As a result of the confusion thus arising a wide divergence of sentiment exists among our most outstanding, patriotic and well-meaning citizens as to the guilt or innocence of said Billings and Mooney; and

WHEREAS, Regardless of guilt or innocence, it is not in the public welfare that anyone should be incarcerated where there is such an equally divided sentiment as to guilt or innocence existing among our citizens giving rise to the opinion, shared by many, that an injustice is being done; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, the Legislature of the State of California in meeting assembled, without, in any way, expressing our opinion or conviction as to the guilt or innocence of the said Mooney and Billings, but having in mind the fact that they have already been incarcerated for a period of approximately 19 years in State prisons, and with the view of, in some measure, terminating a vexed and contentious problem, hereby recommend to Governor Frank F. Merriam that the terms of Warren K. Billings and Thomas J. Mooney be commuted to the time served and that they be relieved of further incarceration.

Notice of Reconsideration of Resolution.

Mr. Minard gave notice that on the next legislative day he would move to reconsider the vote whereby the resolution by Mr. Brennan was this day adopted.

Explanation of Vote.

The resolution introduced by Mr. Brennan is so cleverly worded as to preclude expressing an opinion as to the guilt or innocence of either Mr. Mooney or Mr. Billings. It is but an idle gesture and a first class example of evading the merits of the issue involved. At the present time there is pending in the courts of this State a petition for a writ of habeas corpus in behalf of Mr. Mooney. It is not within the province of the Legislature to pass on matters pending in the courts and until Mr. Mooney and Mr. Billings have exhausted their legal remedies and the courts have finally decided the question involved, this Assembly should not intrude itself. Regardless of the merits of the resolution in either purport or objective, in my opinion its presentation was inopportune, as to time and, accordingly, I voted "No" on the resolution.

KENNETT B. DAWSON,
Assemblyman Twenty-second District

Explanation of Vote.

The subject of this resolution lies entirely and without reservation within the power of the Governor In no sense can this be considered a legislative matter Thousands of pages of testimony have been taken in this matter of which the members of this body have no knowledge. The Constitution of the State has definitely placed within the scope of the Governor and the Supreme Court the power of disposing of this character of case. I was elected to the Assembly, not Governor, nor Supreme Court Justice Therefore, viewing this as entirely outside of the legislative work I voted against the resolution

Senate Joint Resolution No. 16.

Relative to Federal legislation granting subsidy or assistance to the American Merchant Marine.

WHEREAS, It is deemed desirous by the government of the United States to give consideration to the development of the American Merchant Marine through assistance by the government in the matter of sale of vessels constructed by the government, in the matter of subsidies, mail contracts, or otherwise; and

WHEREAS, Steamships operating over the various trade routes of the world are grouped into conferences or associations granting to the shipping industry a certain amount of self-government and coordination in the matter of rates and services; and

WHEREAS, Under Federal laws enacted by the Congress, these conferences or groups are relieved of the Sherman Act preventing combinations in the restraint of trade; and

WHEREAS, These conferences in the majority of cases having a preponderance of foreign ownership through their policies and rules have seen fit to prevent their members from serving certain American ports; and

Resolved by the Legislature of the State of California, That the Congress of the United States in connection with any legislation granting subsidy or assistance to the American Merchant Marine, be requested to incorporate therein the provision that no steamship line operating vessels belonging to the United States or purchased or being purchased from the United States or any agency thereof; or any steamship company receiving from the United States or any agency thereof any subsidy or payment through contract for the carrying of mails, or otherwise, shall belong to any conference or association relieved of the Sherman Act which either through official acts or policies prevents or attempts to prevent either directly or indirectly the serving of any port within the continental limits of the United States located on any improvement project designed for the accommodation of ocean going vessels, authorized by the Congress or through it by any other agency of the Federal Government; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this joint resolution be transmitted to the President and to the Vice President of the United States and to each member of the Senate and of the House of Representatives of the United States.

Motion picture films when delivered under a lease to motion picture houses shall not be deemed to be a commodity or product of general use, or consumption, under this act. This act shall not be construed to prohibit the meeting in good faith of a competitive rate, or to prevent a reasonable classification of service by public utilities for the purpose of establishing rates. The inhibition hereof against locality discrimination shall embrace any scheme of special rebates, collateral contracts or any device of any nature whereby such discrimination is, in substance or fact, effected in violation of the spirit and intent of this act.

SEC. 2. Any person who, either as director, officer or agent of any firm or corporation or as agent of any person, violating the provisions of this act, assists or aids, directly or indirectly, in such violation shall be responsible therefor equally with the person, firm or corporation for whom or which he acts.

In the prosecution of any person as officer, director or agent, it shall be sufficient to allege and prove the unlawful intent of the person, firm or corporation for whom or which he acts.

SEC. 3. Every person, partnership, firm, corporation, joint stock company, or other association engaged in business within this State, who shall sell, offer for sale or advertise for sale any article or product, or service or output of a service trade, at less than the cost thereof to such vendor, or give, offer to give or advertise the intent to give away any article or product, or service or output of a service trade for the purpose of injuring competitors and destroying competition, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof shall be subject to the penalties set out in section 11 of this act.

The term "cost" as applied to production is hereby defined as including the cost of raw materials, labor and all overhead expenses of the producer; and as applied to distribution "cost" shall mean the invoice or replacement cost, whichever is lower, of the article or product to the distributor and vendor plus the cost of doing business by said distributor and vendor.

The "cost of doing business" or "overhead expense" is defined as all costs of doing business incurred in the conduct of such business and must include without limitation the following items of expense: labor (including salaries of executives and officers), rent, interest on borrowed capital, depreciation, selling cost, maintenance of equipment, delivery costs, credit losses, all types of licenses, taxes, insurance and advertising.

SEC. 4. In establishing the cost of a given article or product to the distributor and vendor, the invoice cost of said article or product purchased at a forced, bankrupt, close-out sale, or other sale outside of the ordinary channels of trade may not be used as a basis for justifying a price lower than one based upon the replacement cost as of date of said sale of said article or product replaced through the ordinary channels of trade, unless said article or product is kept separate from goods purchased in the ordinary channels of trade and unless said article or product is advertised and sold as merchandise purchased at a forced, bankrupt, close-out sale, or by means other than through the ordinary channels of trade, and said advertising shall state the conditions under which said goods were so purchased, and the quantity of such merchandise to be sold or offered for sale.

SEC. 5. In the prosecution of any person as officer, director or agent, it shall be sufficient to allege and prove the unlawful intent of the person, firm or corporation for whom or which he acts. Where a particular trade or industry, of which the person, firm or corporation complained against is a member, has an established cost survey for the locality and vicinity in which the offense is committed, the said cost survey shall be deemed competent evidence to be used in proving the costs of the person, firm or corporation complained against within the provisions of this act.

SEC. 6. The provisions of sections 3, 4 and 5 shall not apply to any sale made:

(a) In closing out in good faith the owner's stock or any part thereof for the purpose of discontinuing his trade in any such stock or commodity, and in the case of the sale of seasonal goods or to the bona fide sale of perishable goods to prevent loss to the vendor by spoilage or depreciation, provided notice is given to the public thereof;

(b) When the goods are damaged or deteriorated in quality, and notice is given to the public thereof;

(c) By an officer acting under the orders of any court;

(d) In an endeavor made in good faith to meet the legal prices of a competitor as herein defined selling the same article or product, or service or output of a service trade, in the same locality or trade area

Any person, firm or corporation who performs work upon, renovates, alters or improves any personal property belonging to another person, firm or corporation, shall be construed to be a vendor within the meaning of this act.

SEC 7. The secret payment or allowance of rebates, refunds, commissions, or unearned discounts, whether in the form of money or otherwise, or secretly extending to certain purchasers special services or privileges not extended to all purchasers purchasing upon like terms and conditions, to the injury of a competitor and where such payment or allowance tends to destroy competition, is an unfair trade practice and any person, firm, partnership, corporation, or association resorting to such trade practice shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and on conviction thereof shall be subject to the penalties set out in section 11 of this act.

SEC. 8. Upon the third violation of any of the provisions of sections 1 to 7, inclusive, of this act by any corporation, it shall be the duty of the Attorney General to institute proper suits or quo warranto proceedings in any court of competent jurisdiction for the forfeiture of its charter, rights, franchises or privileges and powers exercised by such corporation, and to permanently enjoin it from transacting business in this State If in such action the court shall find that such corporation is violating or has violated any of the provisions of sections 1 to 7, inclusive, of this act, it must enjoin said corporation from doing business in this State permanently or for such time as the court shall order, or must annul the charter, or revoke the franchise of such corporation.

SEC. 9. Any contract, express or implied, made by any person, firm, or corporation in violation of any of the provisions of sections 1 to 7, inclusive, of this act is declared to be an illegal contract and no recovery thereon shall be had.

SEC. 10. Any person, firm, private corporation or municipal or other public corporation, or trade association, may maintain an action to enjoin a continuance of any act or acts in violation of sections 1 to 7, inclusive, of this act and, if injured thereby, for the recovery of damages If, in such action, the court shall find that the defendant is violating or has violated any of the provisions of sections 1 to 7, inclusive, of this act, it shall enjoin the defendant from a continuance thereof. It shall not be necessary that actual damages to the plaintiff be alleged or proved. In addition to such injunctive relief, the plaintiff in said action shall be entitled to recover from the defendant three times the amount of the actual damages, if any, sustained.

Any defendant in an action brought under the provisions of this section may be required to testify under the provisions of sections 2021, 2031 and 2055 of the Code of Civil Procedure of this State, in addition the books and records of any such defendant may be brought into court and introduced, by reference, into evidence; provided, however, that no information so obtained may be used against the defendant as a basis for a misdemeanor prosecution under the provisions of sections 1 to 7, inclusive, and 11 of this act.

SEC. 11. Any person, firm or corporation, whether as principal, agent, officer or director, for himself, or itself, or for another person, or for any firm or corporation, or any corporation, who or which shall violate any of the provisions of sections 1 to 7, inclusive, of this act, is guilty of a misdemeanor for each single violation and upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred ($100) dollars nor more than one thousand ($1000) dollars, or by imprisonment not exceeding six months or by both said fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court

The Legislature hereby declares that it would have passed this act, and each section, sentence, clause or phrase thereof, irrespective of the fact that any one or more other sections, sentences, clauses or phrases be declared unconstitutional The remedies herein prescribed are cumulative and in addition to the remedies prescribed to the public utilities act for discriminations by public utilities. If any conflict shall arise between this act and the public utilities act, the latter shall prevail.

SEC. 13. The Legislature declares that the purpose of this act is to safeguard the public against the creation on perpetuation of monopolies and to foster and encourage competition, by prohibiting unfair and discriminatory practices by which fair and honest competition is destroyed or prevented. This act shall be literally construed that its beneficial purposes may be subserved

SEC. 14 This act shall be known and designated as the "Unfair Practices Act."

SEC. 5. Section 703 of the Code of Civil Procedure is hereby amended to read as follows:

703. If property be so redeemed by a redemptioner, another redemptioner may, within sixty days after the last redemption, again redeem it from the last redemptioner on paying the sum paid on such last redemption, with two per cent thereon in addition, and the amount of any assessment or taxes, and any reasonable sum for fire insurance, maintenance, upkeep, or repair of any improvements upon the property, which the last redemptioner may have paid thereon after the redemption by him, with interest on such amount, and, in addition, the amount of any liens held by such redemptioner prior to his own, with interest; but the judgment or obligation under which the property was originally sold need not be so paid as a lien. In the event there shall be a dispute or disagreement as to whether any sum demanded for fire insurance, maintenance, upkeep, or repair, is a reasonable charge to be added to the amount required to be paid by the subsequent redemptioner, the amount to be paid shall be determined in a like manner as provided in section 702 for the determination of such amount in the event of disagreement between the original redemptioner and purchaser.

The property may be again, and as often as a redemptioner is so disposed, redeemed from any previous redemptioner within sixty days after the last redemption, on paying the sum paid on the past previous redemption, with two per cent thereon in addition, and the amounts of any assessments or taxes, and any reasonable sum for fire insurance, maintenance, upkeep, or repair of any improvements upon the property, which the last previous redemptioner paid after the redemption by him, with interest thereon, and the amount of any liens, other than the judgment under which the property was sold, held by the last redemptioner previous to his own with interest. In the event there shall be a dispute or disagreement as to whether any sum demanded for fire insurance maintenance, upkeep, or repair, is a reasonable charge to be added to the amount required to be paid by the subsequent redemptioner, the amount to be paid shall be determined in a like manner as provided in section 702 for the determination of such amount in the event of disagreement between the original redemptioner and purchaser.

Written notice of redemption must be given to the sheriff or the person who made the original sale and a duplicate filed with the recorder of the county, and if any taxes or assessments are paid by the redemptioner, or if any sum for fire insurance, maintenance, upkeep, or repair of any improvement upon the property, is paid by the redemptioner, or if he has or acquires any lien other than that upon which the redemption was made, notice thereof must in like manner be given to the sheriff or person who made the original sale and filed with the recorder, and if such notice be not filed, the property may be redeemed without paying such tax, assessment, sum, or lien.

If no redemption be made within twelve months after the sale, the purchaser, or his assignee, is entitled to a conveyance; or if so redeemed, whenever sixty days have elapsed, and no other redemption has been made, and notice thereof given and the time for redemption has expired, the last redemptioner, or his assignee, is entitled to a deed from the sheriff or from the person who made the original sale; but, in all cases, the judgment debtor or person whose property was sold under power of sale shall have the entire period of twelve months from the date of the sale to redeem the property.

If the judgment debtor or person whose property was sold under power of sale redeem, he must make the same payments as are required to effect a redemption by a redemptioner. If the judgment debtor or person whose property was sold under power or sale redeem, the effect of the sale is terminated and he is restored to his estate.

Upon a redemption by the judgment debtor or person whose property was sold under power of sale, the person to whom the payment is made must execute and deliver to him a certificate of redemption, acknowledged or proved before an officer authorized to take acknowledgments of conveyances or real property. Such certificate must be filed and recorded in the office of the recorder of the county in which the property is situated, and the recorder must note the record thereof in the margin of the record of the certificate of sale.

If the person who made the original sale dies, becomes incapacitated, or refuses to act, any person having any interest in the property may petition any court of competent jurisdiction to appoint a commissioner to act in his place. All notices required by this section may be served upon such commissioner and he shall execute all conveyances to which any person would be entitled under the provisions of this section.

SEC. 6. Section 704 of the Code of Civil Procedure is hereby amended to read as follows:

704. The payments mentioned in the last two sections may be made to the purchaser or redemptioner, or for him, to the officer or person who made the sale. When the judgment or obligation under which the sale has been made is payable in a specified kind of money or currency, payments must be made in the same kind of money or currency, and the tender of the money is equivalent to payment.

SEC. 7. Section 705 of the Code of Civil Procedure is hereby amended to read as follows:

705. A redemptioner must produce to the officer or person from whom he seeks to redeem and serve with his notice to the sheriff or the person who made the original sale:

1. A copy of the docket of the judgment under which he claims the right to redeem, certified by the clerk of the court, or of the county where the judgment is docketed; or, if he redeem upon a mortgage or other lien, a note of the record thereof, certified by the recorder.

2. A copy of any assignment necessary to establish his claim, verified by the affidavit of himself, or of a subscribing witness thereto.

3. An affidavit by himself or his agent, showing the amount then actually due on the lien."

Introduction of William H. Jordan, Former Speaker of the Assembly, by Hon. Charles W. Lyon.

He came to California in 1860. His life has been eventful. He attended the public schools of the State and was a student of Brayton College in Oakland when Henry Durant was president. As you will remember, Durant later was the first President of the University of California.

Jordan finished his education at Yale University and in 1887 he and William L. Endicott, Secretary of the Navy, were greatly honored when Yale conferred on them the degree of Master of Arts.

He was admitted to the Bar by the Supreme Court of California in 1885 and until recently has been a prominent practitioner.

In fraternal circles he has been active, being a Thirty-third Degree Mason and Supreme Master of the Workmens' Order A.O.U.W., when that order represented a million members.

On January 5, 1885, he was sworn in as a member of the Assembly of the State of California (26th session) and is now the only living member of the Assembly of 1885. Among his legislative accomplishments he sponsored the Mechanics' Lien Law and it was through his efforts that the Home for the Adult Blind was established in Oakland.

On January 3, 1887, he was elected Speaker of the Assembly (twenty-fifth session) and is the oldest ex Speaker.

SEC. 4. (a) Every modification granted under section 3 of this act shall be made subject to the condition that the employer shall agree so to adjust rates of compensation that the average weekly earnings of employees for the hours of work reduced, as herein authorized or required, shall not be less than their average weekly earnings under the hours of work prevailing prior to such reduction, and such adjusted rates shall be applied to employment for any portion of the maximum hours of work so authorized or required.

CONGRESS OF THE UNITED STATES,
HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, WASHINGTON, D. C., April 23, 1935

Mr. Arthur A. Ohnimus,
Assembly, California Legislature,
Sacramento, California.

MY DEAR MR. OHNIMUS: Thank you for your letter of April 12th in which you enclosed copy of Assembly Joint Resolution No. 46.

Your thoughtfulness in sending this is appreciated and you may be assured I am giving my most aggressive support to the trans-Pacific air mail legislation.

As you probably know, an amendment was made to the Air Mail Service Bill in which the appropriation was increased from $8,500,000 to $10,500,000 for air mail service on the Pacific Ocean between California and China. This amendment is up for discussion at the present time but the conferees have not approved it as yet. I am following the matter up at this end and shall give it my most aggressive support.

With every good wish, I am,
Very cordially yours,

CHARLES KRAMER, M. C.

Message from the Governor.

The following message from the Governor was received and read:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE,
SACRAMENTO, April 26, 1935.

To the Honorable Members of the Assembly,
State of California, Sacramento, California.

GREETINGS. For the reasons set forth below by attorneys to whom Assembly Bill No. 1863 was submitted for analysis, I am returning herewith without approval Assembly Bill No. 1863.

One statement is as follows:

"Although the bill does not expressly so state, it seems to imply that no State employee who has been employed less than one year could be granted pay for any time off due to illness even though it were only half a day. This would apply to heads of departments as well as civil service employees.

If the bill could be construed in accordance with the above implication, it would seem to be very unjust. Furthermore, there would seem to be no necessity for the bill for the reason that the State Personnel Board has succeeded to all the powers and duties of the Civil Service Commission. Subdivision 3 of section 5 of the State Civil Service Act gives the Civil Service Commission power to prescribe rules and regulations for carrying the Civil Service Act into effect. The Civil Service Commission, under this provision, has heretofore made rules governing sick leave As this power now rests in the Personnel Board, there would seem to be no reason to write a rigid provision on sick leave into the statute."

Another, commenting on the bill, states:

"Why should a State employee have to work a whole year before being entitled to sick leave?"

Respectfully submitted.

FRANK F. MERRIAM, Governor of California.

The above message ordered to unfinished business file.

"SEC. 28. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure, deemed necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety within the meaning of section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution and shall therefore take effect immediately.

The following is a statement of the facts constituting such necessity. Inasmuch as this act provides for the compiling, manufacturing and furnishing of necessary textbooks to be used in the public schools of the State of California, it is imperative that the preparation of such textbooks shall be begun immediately so that they shall be available at the ensuing fall school term. The provision of these books for the public schools of California is a necessary and helpful addition to the textbooks now available for instruction of pupils in the public schools, and much time will be lost in the ensuing fall term unless such books are made available when such term opens."

Notice of Reconsideration of Assembly Bill No. 1618.

Mr. Evans, Ralph W., gave notice that on the next legislative day he would move to reconsider the vote whereby Assembly Bill No. 1618, as amended, was this day passed.

Explanation of Vote.

Regarding my reason for voting "Aye" on Assembly Bill No. 1618, fixing rate of interest on small loans, I wish to state that the evidence submitted before the Assembly convinces me that this legislation is most necessary; that the unfortunates who must borrow small loans be protected from loan sharks.

JAMES J. BOYLE.

Explanation of Vote.

(Explanation to be placed in the Journal as to why I voted "yes" on Assembly Bill No. 1618, which passed the Assembly this date.)

This bill refers to the Small Loan Act. Realizing that there is no regulation for small loans in the State of California at this time and after speaking to the labor representatives who are supporting this legislation, I decided that this regulation was better than none at all because without legislation the "bootleg" loan shark receives interest as high as 600 per cent.

Mr. Speaker and Members of the Assembly.

The family and I wish to express our deepest appreciation for the kindness tendered to us by the Assembly during our bereavement.

AUGUSTUS F. HAWKINS.

SALEM, OREGON, April 19, 1935.

Hon. James B. Utt, Member of Assembly.

Oregon Small Loan Law effective since 1913. In 1931 revision distinguished between small loan and pawnbrokers. In preparing amendment we followed Russell Sage latest revision, and if new legislation is contemplated would suggest consideration sixth draft Russell Sage Foundation, believing that to be most modern. Licensees have cooperated excellently with supervising agency.

Rate in this State has always been 3 per cent per month on unpaid balances with the exception on unsecured loans of $30 or less any amount agreed upon between licensee and borrower could be charged. This provision was deleted by amendments effective March 6th this year.

Licensees generally contend small loans more expensive than larger ones. Believe there is merit to their contention but our Legislature made no sliding rate. Our law contains usual provision relative to salary assignments. Following figures reflect operations during 1934 of 24 Oregon licensees doing 3 per cent lending business only:

Average amount each loan made, $106; average balance per loan account end of year, $102; average monthly expense per account, $2.01; average effective monthly rate from 2 to 3 per cent; average net profit on average assets used in small loan business 6.6 per cent.

Mailing you copy Interim Committee report to recent session our Legislature containing data re small loan legislation. Also sending compilation expenses and earnings for 1934.

A. A. SCHRAMM, Superintendent of Banks.

ATLANTA, GEORGIA, April 19, 1935.

James B. Utt, Member of Assembly.

Small Loan Law permitting rate 3½ enacted 1920.

Amendment reducing rate to 1½ passed March, 1935. Results to date nine licensees have filed notice of intention to cease operating as such.

Operation small loan companies in my opinion tended to eliminate salary buyer and other high rate companies. Average loan made $110. Average monthly expense per account $1.39. Average effective monthly rate $2.83. Average net profit licensee $5 79.

Suggest rate balances up to 153⅓. One hundred fifty to 302½ as minimum permitting fair profit.

Minimum capital and convenience and necessity requirements good.

R. E. GORMLEY, Superintendent of Banks.

AUGUSTA, MAINE, April 22, 1935.

James B. Utt, Member of Assembly.

Answering your wire April 19th our opinion is as follows: Law in effect since 1917. Has served economic need. Reduced cost of small loans to borrowers. Tended to eliminate salary buyers and high rate other companies. Would say has been helpful generally. Average amount each loan made 1934, $99.31. Average balance per account as of December 31, 1934, $87.77. Average monthly expense per account not available. Flat rate 3 per cent per month on unpaid balances. Average net profit of 13 companies operating small loan agency only before interest on borrowed money or Federal tax 11.15 per cent of total average invested capital. Figures for few independents unavailable.

Based on evidence submitted to committee last Legislature, 3 per cent per month on unpaid balances would appear to be fair.

Regulation as to capital might be beneficial.

THOMAS A. COOPER, Bank Commissioner.

RICHMOND, VIRGINIA, April 19, 1935.

James B. Utt.

Answering wire our law has been in existence 17 years, and seems to be worth while. Unable to furnish statistics called for. We have Sage draft of law carrying 3½ per cent per month.

M. E. BRISTOW,
Commissioner of Insurance and Banking.

PROVIDENCE, RHODE ISLAND, April 19, 1935.

James B. Utt.

Small Loan Law effective just 12 years. Has driven out loan sharks and effectively taken care small credit demand. Averages for year 1933 as follows: Loans average 128, loan balance 99 monthly, expense per account $1.94, effective rate 2.63, ratio net earnings to total assets 6½ per cent. Recently adjourned Legislature have favored continuing 3½ per cent rate.

M. JOSEPH CUMMINGS,
Chief of Division of Banking and Insurance.

SPRINGFIELD, ILLINOIS, April 19, 1935.

James B. Utt.

Regulatory law has been in effect in Illinois 18 years without change. Maximum rate 3½ per cent per month for $300 or less. Competition has served to reduce rate on loans in higher brackets. Law has undoubtedly been effective in reducing costs to borrowers and has practically eliminated salary buyers and high rate operators. Last figures available for year 1933: Average loan $126, average loan balance $103, average monthly expense per account $1.51, average monthly rate realized 2.79 per cent, average net profit for year 8.01 per cent on assets employed in business if 3½ per cent is allowed as a starter.

After lapse of sufficient time to enable study of results, adjustment could be considered. Our figures indicate loans under $100 not profitable at lower rate. Believe minimum capital and convenience and necessity provisions should be in act, and have recommended them for Illinois. Experience proves that they are needed.

HIRAM McCULLOUGH, Supervisor,
Division of Small Loans, Department of Insurance.

CHARLESTON, WEST VIRGINIA, April 19, 1935.

James B. Utt, Member of Assembly.

Your wire 19th. First Small Loan Act passed in 1925. Rate 3½ per cent monthly. Rate reduced to 2 per cent per month in 1931. Act amended 1933. Rate 3½ per cent on loans up to $150, 2½ per cent on loans from $150 to $300. Am not advised as to activity of salary buyers after reduction of rate. Am of opinion that small loan companies under proper supervision serve useful purpose.

GEORGE WARD, Commissioner of Banking.

LYON, Chairman.

Second Reading of Assembly Bill No. 2136.

Assembly Bill No. 2136—An act relating to the relief of debtors and guarantors, and permitting postponement of foreclosures and sales under mortgages, deeds of trust, or contracts of purchase of real property, or postponement of forfeitures and terminations under such contracts of purchase, declaring the urgency thereof, and providing that it shall take effect immediately.

Floor Amendments.

During second reading of the bill, the following amendments were submitted by Mr. Jones:

Amendment No. 1.

On page 1 of the printed bill, as amended, strike out the entire title, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"An act relating to the relief of debtors and guarantors; permitting postponement of sales conferred by mortgages, deeds of trust, or contracts of purchase of real property, or chattels attached to real property, or postponement of forfeitures and terminations under such contracts of purchase, or extensions of periods for redemption, or reduction of moneys to be paid on redemption; regulating the appointment of receivers in certain cases; repealing Chapter 1, Statutes of the Extra Session of 1934, and Chapter 7 of the Statutes of 1935; declaring the urgency hereof, and providing that it shall take effect immediately"

Amendment No. 2.

On page 1 of the printed bill, as amended, strike out lines 1 to 18, inclusive, and strike out all of pages 2 to 7, inclusive, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"SECTION 1 A large proportion of the real property in this State is held subject to mortgage or deed of trust or under contract of purchase, and many owners and purchasers thereof are finding it extremely difficult or impossible, because of present economic conditions, to meet their obligations to retain their property. Prices for farm products are at present so low and unemployment in industry and business is so widespread, that farmers and wage earners, and those who do business with them, have as a class lost a considerable part of their income, and large numbers of such individuals have no income or scarcely enough for food and other necessities.

The value to the State of a large body of owners of land is inestimable, as such owners have a vital interest in the State and its welfare, and participate in governmental affairs to such an extent and in such a way that they constitute an essential factor in the political and economic life of the State.

If steps are not taken immediately to permit delay of sales under mortgages, deeds of trust, and contracts of purchase, and forfeitures and terminations under contracts of purchase, a large number of owners of real property will be forced to abandon their interests in their property.

An emergency therefore exists, and it is necessary to provide for the permitting of delays of sales under mortgages, deeds of trust, and contracts of purchase, or of forfeitures and terminations under contracts of purchase.

In making provisions permitting such delays the greatest care must be taken to prevent an economic result contrary to the purpose of moratoria legislation. Undue restrictions upon, and extended postponements of, the remedies of owners of mortgages, deeds of trust and contracts of purchase must, of necessity, result both in a material lessening of the loan value of the property of the State and of the value to the property owners of their equity over and above encumbrances, and also in the inability of property owners to refinance their obligations on favorable terms. Such results can not but impair the financial stability and prevent the financial rehabilitation of property owners of the State, and must eventually precipitate an unduly large number of foreclosures, sales and forfeitures. The conflicting economic principles involved in moratoria legislation and the inestimable value to the State, not only of a large body of landowners but also of the existence of sound property values, requires at this time a statement of the policy of this Legislature to be that relief by moratoria legislation should not be extended beyond the periods prescribed by this act, and although such policy will not be binding upon the succeeding Legislatures it may, nevertheless, serve as a recommendation

With these considerations in view, the following provisions are intended to permit such delays and such safeguards to the interests of creditors affected thereby as are required by the present emergency.

SEC. 2. At any time within thirty days from and after the recording of notice of default under section 2924 of the Civil Code, but not later than November 1, 1936, the trustor under any deed of trust upon real property, or upon chattels attached to real property, or the mortgagor under any mortgage upon real property, or upon chattels attached to real property, conferring the power of sale, may file a petition in the superior court of the county in which such real property, or chattels attached to real property, or the major portion thereof, is situated, praying for an order postponing the sale of such property under the power of sale conferred by such deed of trust or such mortgage.

SEC. 3 A copy of such petition shall be served upon the trustee and the beneficiary under such deed of trust, or upon the mortgagee under such mortgage, as the case may be, in the manner provided by law for the service of summons in a civil action.

A notice of pendency of such petition shall immediately be recorded in each county in which any of such property is situated, and on the day of such recordation a copy thereof shall be mailed, postage prepaid, from a post office within this State, addressed to such trustee and beneficiary, or such mortgagee, as the case may be, at their respective places of residence, if known to petitioner, if not, then at the county seat of the county, or at the city and county, where the proceeding is pending.

Such notice of pendency shall state the name of the petitioner, the nature of the petition, and the book and page of the records of the county recorder in which the mortgage or deed of trust is recorded.

SEC. 4 Upon application of the petitioner, after service of such petition, or upon application of any other interested party after the filing of the petition, a hearing shall be had thereon within twenty days after such application, upon such notice as the court shall reasonably prescribe; provided, however, that the court, if it finds equitable grounds therefor, may postpone such hearing for not to exceed ten days

After the filing of such petition and the recording and mailing of the notice of the pendency thereof, as provided in sections 2 and 3 of this act, no sale under the power of sale conferred by such deed of trust or such mortgage shall be held until the court makes its order in the matter, but nothing herein contained shall prevent such sale at any time after February 1, 1937.

SEC. 5 Upon such hearing the court may make its order, if it finds equitable grounds for relief, ordering that such sale shall not be held until after such date as the court considers just and equitable, but in no event shall such date be beyond February 1, 1937, or may make its order dismissing such proceedings.

If the court orders the sale postponed it shall determine the reasonable value of the income from such property, or if the property has no income, then the reasonable rental value of such property, or if the property is unimproved, a reasonable sum to be paid by the trustor or mortgagor as determined by the court, and by such order shall require the trustor or mortgagor to pay all or at least a reasonable part of such income, rental value, or sum so determined by the court, in or toward the payment of taxes, insurance, interest, or principal of the indebtedness at such times and in such manner as are determined to be just and equitable under the circumstances.

SEC. 6. The court must include in such order provisions requiring maintenance and repair by the trustor or mortgagor, regulating the disposition of any income from the property and such other provisions as it deems just and equitable for the protection of the security, but in no event shall the court order the payment by the trustor or mortgagor of a lesser sum than necessary to pay (a) current taxes, (b) all delinquent taxes, except that such taxes may be paid in installments as may be provided by law, and (c) any insurance premiums required to be paid by the debtor under the contract between the parties.

SEC 7. When any mortgage or deed of trust upon real property, or upon chattels attached to real property, has been foreclosed, and the property covered thereby has been sold in whole or in part under decree of foreclosure, and the period of redemption has not yet expired, the mortgagor or trustor thereof, having the right of redemption, may at any time not later than November 1, 1936, file a petition in the superior court of the county in which the property so sold or the major portion thereof is situated, praying for an order extending such period of redemption

SEC 8 A copy of such petition shall be served upon the purchaser of such property at the foreclosure sale, or, if there has been a redemption, upon the last redemptioner, in the manner provided by law for the service of summons in a civil action

A notice of pendency of such petition shall immediately be recorded in each county in which any of such property is situated, and, on the day of such recordation, a copy thereof shall be mailed, postage prepaid, from a post office within this State, addressed to such purchaser or last redemptioner, as the case may be, at his place of residence, if known to petitioner, if not, then at the county seat of the county, or at the city and county, where the proceeding is pending.

Such notice of pendency shall state the name of the petitioner, the nature of the petition, and the book and page of the records of the county recorder in which the mortgage or deed of trust is recorded

SEC 9. Upon application of the petitioner after service of such petition, or upon application of any other interested party, after the filing of the petition, a hearing shall be had thereon within twenty days after such application, upon such notice as the court shall reasonably prescribe; provided, however, that the court, if it finds equitable grounds therefor, may postpone such hearing for not to exceed ten days

Upon the filing of such petition and the recording and mailing of the notice of pendency thereof as provided in sections 7 and 8 of this act, the period of redemption, if such period would sooner terminate, shall be extended until ten days after the court makes its order in the matter, but in no event beyond February 1, 1937

SEC 10 Upon such hearing the court may make its order, if it finds equitable grounds for relief, extending such period of redemption for such additional time as the court considers just and equitable, but in no event beyond February 1, 1937, or may make its order dismissing such proceeding.

If the court by its order extends the period of redemption, it shall determine the reasonable value of the income from such property, or if the property has no income then the reasonable rental value of such property, or if the property is unimproved, a reasonable sum to be paid by the trustor or mortgagor as determined by the court.

The court shall require the trustor or mortgagor to pay all or at least a reasonable part of such income, rental value, or sum so determined by the court, in or toward the payment of taxes upon such property, the cost of insurance and the sums to which the purchaser of such property at such foreclosure sale, or the last redemptioner as the case may be, is entitled under the provisions of section 707 of the Code of Civil Procedure, at such times and in such manner determined to be just and equitable under the circumstances.

SEC. 11. The court must include in such order provisions requiring maintenance and repair by the trustor or mortgagor, regulating the disposition of any income from the property, and such other provisions as it deems just and equitable for the protection of the interest of the purchaser or last redemptioner, as the case may be

In no event shall the court order the payment by the trustor or mortgagor of a lesser sum than the greater of (1) the amount of such reasonable value of the income, or such reasonable rental value, or such reasonable sum so determined by the court, or (2) a sum sufficient to pay (a) current taxes, (b) all delinquent taxes, except that such taxes may be paid in installments as provided by law, and

(c) a sum reasonably necessary for fire and other insurance upon any improvement upon such property

SEC. 12. Any sums paid to a purchaser or redemptioner pursuant to sections 10 or 11 of this act shall be a credit upon the redemption money to be paid as provided in section 707 of the Code of Civil Procedure, but in the event no redemption is made, the same shall belong to such purchaser or redemptioner

Upon finding equitable grounds for such relief, the court, in the order extending the period of redemption, may provide that if the property so sold is redeemed by the petitioner within the period of redemption as extended by such order, but not later than February 1, 1937, the amount to be paid by the petitioner on such redemption shall be reduced by such sum as the court finds to be just and equitable under the circumstances, not exceeding in any event five-twelfths of one per cent of the amount of the purchase made by the purchaser at the foreclosure sale for each month between either the foreclosure sale or the effective date of this act, whichever is later, and such redemption

SEC. 13. Nothing in this act shall be construed as abridging or limiting the statutory right of redemption provided in sections 701, 702, 703, 704, 705, 706 and 707 of the Code of Civil Procedure, or as shortening the period of redemption as therein provided, or as altering the mode or procedure for redemption as therein provided.

SEC. 14. When any mortgage or deed of trust upon real property, or upon chattels attached to real property, has been foreclosed and property not covered by such mortgage or deed of trust (herein called "other property") has been sold under a writ of execution to satisfy the deficiency remaining after the exhaustion of the property covered by such mortgage or deed of trust, and the period for redemption of such other property so sold has not yet expired, the owner thereof having the right of redemption may at any time not later than November 1, 1936, file a petition in the superior court of the county in which such other property so sold, or the major portion thereof, is situated, praying for an order extending such period of redemption.

SEC. 15. A copy of such petition shall be served upon the purchaser of such other property at the execution sale, or, if there has been a redemption, upon the last redemptioner, in the manner provided by law for the service of summons in a civil action.

A notice of pendency of such petition shall immediately be recorded in each county in which any of such other property is situated, and, on the day of such recordation a copy thereof shall be mailed, postage prepaid, from a post office within this State, addressed to such purchaser or last redemptioner, as the case may be, at his place of residence, if known to petitioner, if not, then at the county seat of the county, or at the city and county, where the proceeding is pending.

Such notice of pendency shall state the name of the petitioner, the nature of the petition, and the book and page of the records of the county recorder in which the mortgage or deed of trust is recorded.

SEC. 16. Upon application of the petitioner after service of such petition, or upon application of any other interested party, after the filing of the petition, a hearing shall be had thereon within twenty days after such application, upon such notice as the court shall reasonably prescribe, provided, however, that the court, if it finds equitable grounds therefor, may postpone such hearing for not to exceed ten days.

Upon the filing of such petition and the recording and mailing of the notice of pendency thereof as provided in sections 14 and 15 of this act, the period of redemption, if such period would sooner terminate, shall be extended until ten days after the court makes its order in the matter, but in no event beyond February 1, 1937.

SEC. 17. Upon such hearing the court may make its order, if it finds equitable grounds for relief, extending such period of redemption for such additional time as the court considers just and equitable, but in no event beyond February 1, 1937, or may make its order dismissing such proceeding.

If the court by its order extends the period of redemption, it shall determine the reasonable value of the income from such other property, or if such other property has no income, then the reasonable rental value of such other property, or if such other property is unimproved, a reasonable sum to be paid by the petitioner as determined by the court.

The court shall require such petitioner to pay all or at least a reasonable part of such income, rental value or sum so determined by the court in or toward the payment of taxes upon such other property, the cost of insurance and the sums to which the purchaser of such other property at such execution sale or the last redemptioner, as the case may be, is entitled under the provisions of section 707 of the Code of Civil Procedure, at such times and in such manner determined to be just and equitable under the circumstances.

SEC. 18. The court must include in such order provisions requiring maintenance and repair by the petitioner, regulating the disposition of any income from the property, and such other provisions as it deems just and equitable for the protection of the interest of the purchaser or last redemptioner, as the case may be.

In no event shall the court order the payment by the petitioner of a lesser sum than the greater of (1) the amount of such reasonable value of the income, or such reasonable rental value, or such reasonable sum so determined by the court, or (2) a sum sufficient to pay (a) current taxes, (b) all delinquent taxes, except that such taxes may be paid in installments as provided by law, and (c) a sum reasonably necessary for fire and other insurance upon any improvement upon such other property.

SEC. 19. Any sums paid to a purchaser or redemptioner pursuant to sections 17 and 18 of this act shall be a credit upon the redemption money to be paid as provided in section 707 of the Code of Civil Procedure; but in the event no redemption is made, the same shall belong to such purchaser or redemptioner.

Upon finding equitable grounds for such relief, the court, in the order extending the period of redemption, may provide that if the other property so sold is redeemed by the petitioner within the period of redemption as extended by such order, but not later than February 1, 1937, the amount to be paid by the petitioner on such redemption shall be reduced by such sum as the court finds to be just and equitable under the circumstances, not exceeding in any event five-twelfths of one per cent of the amount of the purchase made by the purchaser at the execution sale for each month between either the execution sale or the effective date of this act, whichever is later, and such redemption

SEC. 20. In any decree hereafter rendered, prior to February 1, 1937, foreclosing a mortgage or deed of trust upon real property, the court may provide that the sale of the property shall not be held until on or after such date as the court considers just and equitable, but in no event later than February 1, 1937. If the court provides in such decree that the sale shall not be held until on or after such date as it shall fix, it shall determine the reasonable value of the income from such property, or if the property has no income, then the reasonable rental value of such property, or if the property is unimproved, a reasonable sum to be paid by the trustor or mortgagor as determined by the court, and shall require the trustor or mortgagor to pay all or at least a reasonable part of such income, rental value, or sum so determined by the court, in or toward the payment of taxes, insurance, interest, or principal of the indebtedness at such times and in such manner determined to be just and equitable under the circumstances. The court may include in such order provisions requiring maintenance and repair, regulating the disposition of any income from the property, and such other provisions as it deems just and equitable for the protection of the security.

SEC. 21. The purchaser of any real property, or of chattels attached to real property, under any contract of purchase may, at any time prior to the foreclosure, termination, or forfeiture of his interest under such contract, but not later than February 1, 1937, file a petition in the superior court of the county in which such property, or the major portion thereof, is situated for an order postponing to a date not later than February 1, 1937, the foreclosure, termination, or forfeiture of his interest thereunder.

A copy of such petition shall be served upon the vendor, and notice of pendency of such petition shall be recorded and mailed, and a hearing shall be held thereon within the time, after the notice, and in the manner provided in sections 3, 4, 5 and 6 of this act in respect to petitions relating to sales under the power of sale conferred by deeds of trust and mortgages

After such hearing the court, if it shall determine that it is equitable and just so to do, may make its order postponing to a date not later than February 1, 1937, the foreclosure, termination or forfeiture of the petitioner's interest under such contract of purchase on substantially the same terms and conditions as those prescribed in sections 5 and 6 of this act, or the court may make its order dismissing such proceeding.

SEC. 22. Upon the petition of any interested party at any time or from time to time prior to the date to which any postponement or extension pursuant to this or any of the foregoing sections, or pursuant to Chapter 7, Statutes of 1935, was made, or prior to the time that a sale may be held under any decree referred to in section 17 of this act, the court, upon hearing after such notice to the other interested parties as it shall reasonably prescribe, may make an order altering or supplementing or extending any previous order or decree or the postponement of sale therein provided rendered in the matter pursuant to this or any of the foregoing sections, or pursuant to Chapter 7, Statutes of 1935, upon the presentation of evidence showing that the provisions of such order or decree should be altered or supplemented or extended to make them just and equitable; provided, however, that the court by such order shall not require the payment of lesser sums than are under this act required to be paid, nor extend any periods of postponement or extension beyond the limits in this act prescribed

SEC. 23. If the trustor, mortgagor or purchaser under a contract of purchase commits waste or defaults in any payment or act required by order or decree of court, the court, unless good excuse therefor is shown, must order that the sale, foreclosure, termination or forfeiture postponed by its order or decree proceed as provided by law, or that the period of redemption extended by its order or decree shall expire on the making of its order or within the time provided by law, whichever shall last occur, and that the moneys to be paid on redemption, if theretofore reduced, be increased to the extent of such of such previous reduction, if it finds after hearing upon such notice to the original petitioner or his attorney as it prescribes, that there has been such waste or such default, unless good excuse therefor is shown, amounting to a material breach of the order or decree of postponement or extension

SEC. 24. No suit or action shall be commenced against the guarantor of any note secured by a mortgage or deed of trust upon real property, or upon chattels attached to real property, in any case while, pursuant to the provisions of this act, no sale may be made under any power of sale contained in such mortgage or deed of trust or while no sale may be made under the final decree of foreclosure rendered in an action to foreclose such mortgage.

SEC. 25. Between the effective date of this act and February 1, 1937, no judgment shall be rendered for the balance due upon any obligation which was secured by a deed of trust or mortgage with power of sale upon real property following the exercise of such power of sale and no money judgment for a balance due after sale under a decree of foreclosure of a mortgage upon real property shall be rendered in any action brought under section 726 of the Code of Civil Procedure.

After the effective date of this act, any person who takes as security for an obligation a deed of trust, mortgage or other lien upon real property, thereby waives all right to obtain a judgment for the balance due upon said obligation following the sale of said real property upon foreclosure by suit or by exercise of the power of sale contained in the instrument creating a lien upon such real property.

SEC. 26 Whenever the time within which an action may be commenced upon any obligation founded upon a written instrument secured by mortgage, deed of trust or contract of purchase, or founded upon any guarantee of such obligation or any contract of suretyship therefor or any indorsement of such instrument, would expire by virtue of section 337 of the Code of Civil Procedure, or by virtue of the provisions of Chapter 1, Statutes of extra session of 1934, or by virtue of the provisions of Chapter 7, Statutes of 1935, or any other provision of law, during the period commencing with the effective date of this act and ending on February 1, 1937, such time is hereby extended so as not to expire until the first day of July, 1937.

SEC. 27. Nothing contained in this act shall apply to or be deemed to affect:

(a) Any mortgage, deed of trust or contract of sale upon real property, or upon chattels attached to real property, executed after February 1, 1935;

(b) Any mortgage or deed of trust securing the payment of bonds or other evidences of indebtedness authorized or permitted to be issued by the Commissioner of Corporations or made by public utilities subject to the provisions of the Public Utilities Act;

(c) Any mortgage or deed of trust while held and owned by the original lender securing any loan made by the United States Government or any agency thereof or any loan insured by the United States Government or any agency thereof

SEC. 28. As used in this act:

(a) The terms "mortgagor," "mortgagee," "trustor," "trustee," "purchaser," "vendor," and "guarantor" shall include their personal representatives, assigns or successors in interest, and the singular shall include the plural.

(b) The term "trustee" shall also include the beneficiary of a deed of trust.

(c) As used in this act, the term "chattels attached to real property," or similar designation, includes anything which is deemed affixed or attached to land, or as forming part of the land, but for the execution of the mortgage or of an agreement for the severance of the thing from the land.

SEC. 29. Nothing contained in this act shall preclude any trustor under a deed of trust or any mortgagor under a mortgage or any purchaser under a contract for the purchase of real property, or chattels attached to real property, from executing and delivering at any time a deed to his beneficiary, mortgagee or vendor, or the purchaser at any foreclosure sale or a redemptioner, as the case may be, and the execution and delivery of any such deed by any such trustor, mortgagor or purchaser shall constitute a waiver of the benefit of all the provisions of this act. The failure on the part of any trustor, mortgagor or purchaser to file a petition within the times specified in this act, shall be deemed a waiver of the benefit of the provisions of this act.

SEC. 30. Any sale of real property, or of chattels attached to real property, under a deed of trust or mortgage made in violation of this act shall be voidable, except as against a bona fide purchaser or encumbrancer for value, at the instance of the record owner of such real property at the time of such sale; provided, that any action to avoid such sale or any deed executed pursuant thereto must be brought within one year of the date of such sale.

SEC. 31. There shall be no filing fees for the filing of any document with the county clerk under the provisions of this act.

SEC. 32. No receiver shall be appointed at the instance of the mortgagee of any mortgage or the trustee or beneficiary of any deed of trust, or the vendor of a contract for the purchase of real property, with respect to real property or chattels attached to real property subject to mortgage, deed of trust, or contract of purchase, until the time has expired for filing a petition under this act, or until the time permitted by law to make answer to any action to foreclose any such mortgage or deed of trust has expired, or in the event such a petition or answer is filed within the time permitted by law therefor, then not until the court has heard the matter and in the event, pursuant to such a petition or in any decree in any such action, a postponement is granted, then not as long as such postponement remains in effect. None of the provisions of this section shall prohibit the court from appointing a receiver after ten days notice in writing of hearing of application therefor, served upon the owner, mortgagor or trustor, or their attorney of record, and at which hearing the court shall find that grounds do not exist for the extension of any relief under the provisions of this act.

SEC. 33. If any feature or application of this act is finally determined by the courts to be unconstitutional, such features and applications shall continue in full force and effect, it being the intent of the Legislature to make this act as effective as possible to relieve debtors in the manner provided in this act.

SEC. 34 Whenever any petition under this act is to be or is being heard by the court, the interested parties may submit to the court, in writing, a composition of the indebtedness involved in the proceeding, or a compromise settlement of the proceeding, and the court shall have jurisdiction and may by its order confirm and approve such composition or settlement.

SEC. 35. Chapter 1, Statutes of the Extra Session of 1934, is hereby repealed; provided, however, that the repeal of said act shall not affect any rights which have accrued thereunder, or shorten the time within which any action may be commenced.

SEC. 36 Chapter 7, Statutes of 1935, is hereby repealed; provided, however, that the repeal of such act shall not affect any rights which have accrued thereunder, or shorten the time within which any action may be commenced, or affect any proceedings taken thereunder, and in so far as such proceedings have not been completed they may be continued under this act and subject to its provisions, and the court in any such proceeding shall have the same powers as though the petition therein had been filed under the provisions of this act.

SEC. 37. This act shall not be construed as repealing an act entitled: "An act to prohibit until February 1, 1937, sales under certain mortgages and deeds of trust, and the forfeiture of the interest of the purchaser under certain contracts of purchase, for default in the payment of the principal sum of obligations secured thereby or contracted to be paid thereunder, to extend the statute of limitations upon certain obligations, to make voidable at the instance of the owner any sale or forfeiture made in violation of this act, to prescribe the time within which an action to avoid the same may be brought, to postpone sales for default in payment of installments due between effective date of this act and February 1, 1937, to authorize waiver hereof, to regulate actions upon guarantors' obligations the enforcement of the security for which is affected by this act, to repeal an act entitled: 'An act relating to the relief of debtors and guarantors, and permitting postponement of foreclosures and sales under mortgages, deeds of trust, or contracts of purchase of real property, or postponement of forfeitures and terminations under such contracts of purchase, declaring the urgency thereof, and providing that it shall take effect immediately,' approved January 31, 1935; to repeal an act entitled 'An act to prohibit until February 1, 1935, sales under certain mortgages and deeds of trust, and the forfeiture of the interest of the purchaser under certain contracts of purchase, for default in the payment of the principal sum of obligations secured thereby or contracted to be paid thereunder, to extend the statute of limitations upon such obligations, to make voidable at the instance of the owner any sale or forfeiture made in violation of the act, to prescribe the time within which an action to avoid the same may be brought, to postpone sales for default in payment of installments due between effective date of act and February 1, 1935, to authorize waiver hereof, to prevent actions against guarantors' obligations the enforcement of the security for which is affected by the act, and to declare the urgency hereof,' approved September 15, 1934; declaring the urgency hereof, and providing that it shall take effect immediately" or any part or parts thereof, nor shall said act be construed as repealing this act or any part or parts hereof.

SEC 38 This act shall be known and may be cited as the "Mortgage and Trust Deed Moratorium of 1935"

SEC 39. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety, within the meaning of section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution, and shall therefore take effect immediately

The facts constituting the necessity are the dangers to the State and to the people involved in the unusually large number of foreclosures, sales, forfeitures and terminations which will result in the near future under mortgages, deeds of trust, and contracts of purchase of real property, or upon chattels attached to real property, because of defaults in payments by the owners or purchasers of such property Such defaults are the result of exceptionally depressed conditions in this State, which have deprived a large proportion of the landowners and land purchasers of sufficient income to meet their obligations The dangers in the situation are such as to threaten the maintenance of law and order, and to lead to the pauperization of many persons who have hitherto constituted an important part of the self-supporting and economically independent people of this State. This act will provide a means for delaying such sales, foreclosures, terminations and forfeitures so as to permit landowners and land purchasers to find means of meeting their obligations, and at the same time will protect the interests of creditors. The dangers mentioned will thus be avoided."

Amendment No. 2.

Strike out the entire body of the printed bill commencing with the words "Section 1" in line 1, on page 1, and ending with the words "of their property", in line 26, on page 5, and any and all amendments to the body of the printed bill, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"SECTION 1. A large proportion of the real property in this State is held subject to mortgage or deed of trust or under contract of purchase, and many owners and purchasers thereof are finding it extremely difficult or impossible, because of present economic conditions, to meet their obligations to retain their property. Prices for farm products are at present so low and unemployment in industry and business is so widespread, that farmers and wage earners, and those who do business with them, have as a class lost a considerable part of their income, and large numbers of such individuals have no income or scarcely enough for food and other necessities.

The value to the State of a large body of owners of land is inestimable, as such owners have a vital interest in the State and its welfare, and participate in governmental affairs to such an extent and in such a way that they constitute an essential factor in the political and economic life of the State.

If steps are not taken immediately to permit delay of foreclosures and sales under mortgages, deeds of trust, and contracts of purchase, and forfeitures and terminations under contracts of purchase, a large number of owners of real property will be forced to abandon their interests in their property.

An emergency therefore exists, and it is necessary to provide for the permitting of delays of foreclosures and sales under mortgages, deeds of trust, and contracts of purchase or of forfeitures and terminations under contracts of purchase.

With these considerations in view, the following provisions are intended to permit such delays and such safeguards to the interests of creditors affected thereby as are required by the present emergency.

SEC. 2. Until February 1, 1937, except in the case of mining property no decree of foreclosure of a mortgage or deed of trust heretofore executed upon real property or of a mortgage heretofore executed upon chattels as further security for an obligation secured by mortgage or deed of trust upon real property shall be entered nor shall any sale be made under any power of sale contained in any mortgage or deed of trust heretofore executed upon real property or contained in any mortgage heretofore executed upon chattels as further security for an obligation secured by mortgage or deed of trust upon real property nor shall any sale be made under any final decree of foreclosure rendered in any action to foreclose a mortgage heretofore executed upon real property or a mortgage heretofore executed upon chattels as further security for an obligation secured by mortgage or deed of trust on real property nor shall the interest of any purchaser under a contract of purchase of real property heretofore executed be terminated or forfeited in any case while the only default in the performance of the obligation for which any such mortgage or deed of trust was given as security or in the performance of such contract consists solely of the failure to pay when due the principal sum of such obligation. In any case where a decree of foreclosure has been rendered the original obligation secured by deed of trust or mortgage shall not, for the purpose of determining what defaults in the performance of such obligation exist, be deemed to have been merged in such decree of foreclosure.

Nothing contained in this section shall prevent the acceleration by reason of the nonpayment of taxes, interest or insurance of the entire obligation secured by any such mortgage or deed of trust.

SEC 3. Except in the case of mining property no sale shall be made under any power of sale contained in any mortgage or deed of trust executed before the effective date of this act upon real property or contained in any mortgage executed before the effective date of this act upon chattels as further security for an obligation secured by mortgage or deed of trust upon real property nor shall any sale be made under any final decree of foreclosure rendered in any action to foreclose a mortgage or deed of trust executed before the effective date of this act upon real property or a mortgage executed before the effective date of this act upon chattels as further security for an obligation secured by mortgage or deed of trust upon real property nor shall the interest of any purchaser under a contract of purchase of real property executed before the effective date of this act be terminated or forfeited in any case while the only default in the performance of the obligation for which any such mortgage or deed of trust was given as security, or in the performance of the obligation of such contract, consists solely of the failure to pay when due one or more installments of the principal sum of such obligation which become due according to the terms of such obligation during the period commencing with the effective date of this act and ending on February 1, 1937, until at least six months after the due date of the last principal installment which becomes due during said period but nothing in this section shall prevent any such sale, termination or forfeiture after the expiration of said six months. In any case where a decree of foreclosure has been rendered the obligation secured by deed of trust or mortgage shall not, for the purpose of determining what defaults in the payment of such obligation exist, be deemed to have been merged in such decree of foreclosure.

Nothing contained in this section shall prevent the acceleration by reason of the nonpayment of taxes, interest or insurance of the entire obligation secured by any such mortgage or deed of trust.

SEC. 4. Except in the case of mining property no sale shall be made prior to January 1, 1936, under any power of sale contained in any mortgage or deed of trust executed before the effective date of this act upon real property or contained in any mortgage executed before the effective date of this act upon chattels as further security for an obligation secured by mortgage or deed of trust upon real property nor shall any sale be made prior to January 1, 1936 under any final decree of foreclosure rendered in any action to foreclose a mortgage or deed of trust executed before the effective date of this act upon real property or a mortgage executed before the effective date of this act upon chattels as further security for an obligation secured by mortgage or deed of trust upon real property nor shall the interest of any purchaser under a contract of purchase of real property executed before the effective date of this act be terminated or forfeited prior to January 1, 1936, in any case while the only defaults in the performance of the obligation for which any such mortgage or deed of trust was given as security, or in the performance of the obligation of such contract, consists solely of one or more of the following, viz:

(a) Failure to pay one or more installments of interest which shall have become due on or after January 1, 1935, and prior to the effective date of this act.

(b) Failure to pay the principal sum of such obligation, or

(c) Failure to pay one or more installments of the principal sum of such obligation. In any case where a decree of foreclosure has been rendered the obligation secured by deed of trust or mortgage shall not, for the purpose of determining what defaults in the payment of such obligation exist, be deemed to have been merged in such decree of foreclosure.

Nothing contained in this section shall prevent the acceleration by reason of the nonpayment of interest which becomes due after the effective date of this act, or by reason of the nonpayment of taxes or insurance of the entire obligation secured by any such mortgage or deed of trust, or prevent after January 1, 1936, the acceleration of such entire obligation by reason of the failure to pay, on or before January 1, 1936, all installments of interest which became due prior to the effective date of this act.

SEC. 5. Anything in this act to the contrary notwithstanding a mortgagor, trustor or purchaser shall not be deemed to be in default in his obligation to pay taxes on property subject to mortgage, deed of trust or contract of purchase if he shall have paid all current taxes on such property and shall have elected to pay all delinquent taxes thereon in installments as provided by law and is not delinquent in the payment of any such installment.

SEC 6. Until February 1, 1937, no receiver shall be appointed at the instance of the mortgagee of any mortgage or the trustee or beneficiary of any deed of trust with respect to real property subject to mortgage or deed of trust or with respect to chattels subject to mortgage given as further security for an obligation secured by mortgage or deed of trust upon real property, except in a suit or action for the foreclosure of any such mortgage or deed of trust or for the enforcement of the covenants, or any thereof, contained in any such mortgage or deed of trust, or in a proceeding ancillary to any such suit or action.

SEC. 7 Whenever the time within which an action may be commenced upon any obligation founded upon a written instrument secured by mortgage, deed of trust or contract of purchase, or upon any installment of any such obligation, or founded upon any guarantee of such obligation or installment thereof, or any contract of suretyship therefor or any endorsement of such instrument, would expire by virtue of section 337 of the Code of Civil Procedure, or by virtue of the provisions of the act approved September 15, 1934, cited in the title hereof, or by virtue of the provisions of an act approved January 31, 1935, cited in the title hereof, or any other provision of law during the period commencing with the effective date of this act and ending on August 1, 1937, such time is hereby extended so as not to expire until the thirty-first day of December, 1937.

SEC. 8. Any sale of real property under a deed of trust or mortgage with power of sale or of chattels under mortgage with power of sale made in violation of this act shall be voidable, except as against a bona fide purchaser or encumbrancer for value, at the instance of the record owner of such real property or the owner of such chattels at the time of such sale; provided that any action to avoid such sale or any deed or bill of sale executed pursuant thereto must be brought within one year following the date of such sale

SEC. 9. Nothing contained in this act shall apply to or be deemed to affect (a) any mortgage, deed of trust or contract of sale upon real property, or upon chattels executed after February 1, 1935, or (b) any mortgage or deed of trust securing the payment of bonds or other evidences of indebtedness authorized or permitted to be issued by the Commissioner of Corporations or made by public utilities subject to the provisions of the Public Utilities Act, or (c) any mortgage or deed of trust while held and owned by the original lender securing any loan made by the United States Government or any agency thereof or any loan insured by the United States Government or any agency thereof.

SEC. 10. No suit or action shall be commenced against the guarantor of any note secured by a mortgage or deed of trust upon real property or a mortgage upon chattels given as further security for a note secured by mortgage or deed of trust upon real property in any case while pursuant to the provisions of this act no sale may be made under any power of sale contained in such mortgage or deed of trust; provided, however, that the provisions of this section shall not prevent the joinder of any such guarantor, for the purpose of enforcing his obligation, as a party defendant in a suit or action brought to foreclose any such mortgage or deed of trust.

SEC. 11. There shall be no filing fees for the filing of any document with the county clerk under the provisions of this act.

SEC. 12. As used in this act:

(a) The terms "mortgagor," "mortgagee," "trustor," "purchaser," "trustee," "vendor," and "guarantor" shall include their personal representatives, assigns or successors in interest, and the singular shall include the plural.

(b) The term "trustee" shall also include the beneficiary of a deed of trust.

(c) The term "chattels" shall mean personal property located in and used in connection with the operation of any building located upon real property, sale of which real property under any mortgage, deed of trust or decree of foreclosure is prevented or postponed by this act.

SEC. 13. The act approved September 15, 1934, cited in the title hereof, is hereby repealed; provided, however, that the repeal of said act shall not affect any rights which have accrued thereunder, or shorten the time within which any action may be commenced.

SEC. 14. The act approved January 31, 1935, cited in the title hereof, is hereby repealed; provided, however, that the repeal of such act shall not affect any rights which have accrued thereunder, or shorten the time within which any action may be commenced, or affect any proceedings taken thereunder.

SEC. 15. Nothing contained in this act shall be construed as repealing any of the provisions of an act entitled: "An act relating to the relief of debtors and guarantors; permitting postponement of sales conferred by mortgages, deeds of trust, or contracts of purchase of real property, or chattels attached to real property, or postponement of forfeitures and terminations under such contracts of purchase, or extensions of periods for redemption, or reduction of moneys to be paid on redemption; regulating the appointment of receivers in certain cases; repealing Chapter 1, Statutes of the Extra Session of 1934, and Chapter 7 of the Statutes of 1935; declaring the urgency hereof, and providing that it shall take effect immediately."

SEC. 16. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety, within the meaning of section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution, and shall therefore take effect immediately.

The facts constituting the necessity are the dangers to the State and to the people involved in the unusually large number of foreclosures, sales, forfeitures and terminations which will result in the near future under mortgages, deeds of trust, and contracts of purchase of real property, or under mortgages upon chattels, because of defaults in payments by the owners or purchasers of such property. Such defaults are the result of exceptionally depressed economic conditions in this State, which have deprived a large proportion of the landowners and land purchasers of sufficient income to meet their obligations. The dangers in the situation are such as to threaten the maintenance of law and order, and to lead to the pauperization of many persons who have hitherto constituted an important part of the self-supporting and economically independent people of this State. This act will provide a means for delaying such sales, foreclosures, terminations and forfeitures so as to permit landowners and land purchasers to find means of meeting their obligations, and at the same time will protect the interests of creditors. The dangers mentioned will be thus avoided.

SEC. 17. This act shall not be construed as repealing an act entitled "An act relating to the relief of debtors and guarantors; permitting postponement of sales under powers of sale conferred by mortgages, deeds of trust, or contracts of purchase of real property, or chattels attached to real property, or postponement of forfeitures and terminations under such contracts of purchase, or extensions of periods for redemption, or reduction of moneys to be paid on redemption; regulating the appointment of receivers in certain cases, repealing an act entitled 'An act relating to the relief of debtors and guarantors, and permitting postponement of foreclosures and sales under mortgages, deeds of trust, or contracts of purchase of real property, or postponement of forfeitures and terminations under such contracts of purchase. Declaring the urgency thereof, and providing that it shall take effect immediately,' approved January 31, 1935; repealing an act entitled 'An act to prohibit until February 1, 1935, sales under certain mortgages and deeds of trust, and the forfeiture of the interest of the purchaser under certain contracts of purchase, for default in the payment of the principal sum of obligations secured thereby or contracted to be paid thereunder, to extend the statute of limitations upon such obligations to make voidable at the instance of the owner any sale or forfeiture made in violation of the act, to prescribe the time within which an action to avoid the same may be brought, to postpone sales for default in payment of installments due between effective date of act and February 1, 1935, to authorize waiver hereof, to prevent actions against guarantors' obligations the enforcement of the security for which is affected by the act, and to declare the urgency hereof,' approved September 15, 1934; declaring the urgency hereof, and providing that it shall take effect immediately." Motion carried.

SUPERINTENDENT OF BANKS, STATE OF CALIFORNIA,
SAN FRANCISCO, March 27, 1935.

Hon. John D. McCarthy,
Assembly, Sacramento, California.

DEAR MR. MCCARTHY: I appreciate your reading to the Assembly a few paragraphs from my testimony before the special Building and Loan Committee. If you would read the whole report I would be still more appreciative.

You may be interested to know that I am taking no part in building and loan legislation. I have been in Sacramento but once during your session. That was yesterday when I came up at request of Senate Banking Committee.

I am sending you another copy of my testimony printed at my own expense.

Yours sincerely,

FRIEND W. RICHARDSON, Superintendent of Banks

(Enclosure.)

History of Building and Loan Associations in California from January 1, 1932, to July 19, 1934.

Friend W. Richardson, who was Building and Loan Commissioner during the above period, made the following statement before the Special Assembly Committee in San Francisco on February 28, 1935:

Gentlemen of the Assembly Committee:

Will you kindly permit me to make the following statement:

Governor Rolph appointed me Building and Loan Commissioner on January 1, 1932. I took my oath of office, filed my bond and went to work on that day, even though it was a holiday. I succeeded former Lieutenant Governor H. L. Carnahan, who resigned after having been in office a few days more than one year. The position came to me absolutely unsolicited. Governor Rolph gave me carte blanche to run the office according to my own ideas and agreed that he would not act as a Supreme Court in considering any complaints that might be made regarding the operation of building and loan associations. He supported me loyally, and that made the difficult task easier than it would have been had the Governor seen fit to listen to complaints. Each complaint that went to him was forwarded to me and I used every possible effort to satisfy the complainants and to answer their inquiries.

The first few days in the San Francisco office convinced me I had made a mistake in accepting the job. I was overwhelmed with letters, complaints and delegations. Soon after, I went to Los Angeles for a respite, but the anteroom of the office there was so crowded that it took four of us to listen to the sad stories of the unfortunates who wanted their money. I then realized that I had undertaken the most difficult position in all of my experience. I carefully considered every problem and decided in the interest of the investors, as I felt the office was created for the purpose of furnishing all possible protection to them. I appreciated keenly the grief of those who had assumed that they were depositing money and had been misled by false advertising and false statements to believe they could get their money on demand. To add to my many problems were the crooks, who were still in control of a few associations, where they controlled holding companies as owners of guarantee stock and were spreading alarm among the investors.

Soon after taking office, I called a meeting of building and loan officials and urged all associations to go on notice at once for the reason that the panic-stricken were then getting their money while loyal investors were left holding the bag. I pointed out that the nature of investments of the associations made demand payments impossible in times of depression and that borrowing money to meet withdrawals would lead to disaster. I also pointed out that the assets of building and loan associations were, in the main, in long time loans payable in installments and that in times of depression many of these loans were frozen. During these trying times a number of savings banks had also found it necessary to go on notice. The great majority of the associations at once went on notice and thus saved themselves from liquidation.

UNDER STATE SUPERVISION.

The use of the expression "under State supervision" in advertising and on signs and letterheads had led many investors into thinking that the State had guaranteed their investments. At a meeting of the Building and Loan League in Riverside in May, 1933, I urged the discontinuance of this misleading term as it led to a false assumption of security on the part of investors. I advised investors to look carefully into the standing of an association and the integrity and ability of its officers before investing their money. I also pointed out that associations under strict supervision were those in liquidation and in charge of special deputies appointed by me. As a result of this suggestion, every association in California abandoned this misleading expression.

I tried to impress on investors the fact that building and loan associations were under the supervision of their officers and boards of directors and that the public, before investing, should look to the responsibility and integrity of these officials

Just a few weeks before this meeting I had taken over a small association in Long Beach whose capital was impaired and whose officers had indulged in questionable practices. Later, one of the officials was convicted of a criminal offense. On the take-over, literature was found on the counter saying, "This is a financial institution and operates under the constant, strict and rigid supervision and regular examination of the State Building and Loan Commissioner." This statement became actually true after the custodian was placed in charge of the cash and assets of the association. Undoubtedly many innocent people invested their money thinking that the association was "under the constant, strict and rigid supervision" of the commissioner. Here is another quotation from its literature: "Your savings in this account are under State supervision, secured by first liens on city improved property, and in addition are guaranteed by our guaranteed capital stock." This statement was false because the guaranteed capital stock was owned by a holding company and thus responsibility could not be fixed.

In the Riverside address to the league I said that the use of the expression "under State supervision," "had caused a great deal of misapprehension on the part of the public." I pointed out "that in a republican form of government such as ours it is not possible to have building and loan associations or any financial institutions under State supervision in the strict and literal sense in which it would be if this government were a despotism. In a despotism it is probable that institutions of this character, which were not run to suit the dictator or his agents, would be summarily dealt with, and the officers given liberal doses of castor oil or denied food tickets for dereliction of duty. This would hardly be possible in a government such as ours and, of course, would not be tolerated by our citizens. We live in a country of individual effort and individual responsibility where private enterprise is encouraged.

"I do not believe it would be advisable or proper that building and loan associations should be strictly under State supervision. The State of California does not want to go into the building and loan business. It does not want to be responsible for conducting and managing building and loan associations. It does not want to destroy individual effort and enterprise. The State of California simply wants: to exercise a wise and discreet observance of these associations, to do whatever it possibly can to help the private individuals who are managing them, and to safeguard the investors.

"There is a tendency toward too much regulation of business by State and National governments. The attempt to regulate business by public officials has proved harmful in some cases and too often has given the public a false sense of security."

POWER APPARENT RATHER THAN REAL.

At that time I called attention to the fact that the 1931 Building and Loan Law apparently gave the commissioner much power but that I was proceeding on the theory that this power was more apparent than real; that many sections were confusing and ambiguous and that the courts must finally determine what powers the commissioner really has. The decisions in various law suits have sustained this viewpoint.

When I took office I found 15 associations in liquidation by the department. Four of these associations had been taken over by Commissioner Whitmore in 1930, and eleven had been taken over by Commissioner Carnahan during the year 1931. During 1932 I took over eight associations whose capital and assets were seriously impaired and which were operating at a loss. One association was taken over and, upon restoration of part of the impaired capital, was returned after holding it for eight months.

The Pacific Coast Building and Loan Association of Los Angeles was taken over on January 11, 1932, and was the first association taken over by me. A case involving this association had been in the Federal courts for some time. Not only was its capital impaired, but it had a furious internal fight among its certificate holders, shareholders and guarantee capital stock owners. My prediction at the Riverside convention that the power given the commissioner in the 1931 Law was more apparent than real was in this case abundantly proved. Before the thirty days elapsed during which the conservator was holding the assets, a suit was brought against me in the superior court of Los Angeles County. The trial did not take place until the latter part of April. The guarantee stock holders were represented by four able trial lawyers who vigorously resisted my action and were of the caliber who received $100 a day for their services. I was represented by my Los Angeles deputy, a young attorney with limited court experience, who received only $350 a month for full time service. The report of the chief examiner showed there was a small impairment of capital. The civil service appraisers of the department showed a large impairment of assets. Appraisers for the plaintiffs put a higher value on the real estate and showed there was no impairment. Their position was sustained by the court. The final decision was not rendered until July 11, 1932. It held that the capital was impaired and sustained my action, notwithstanding the superiority of the legal battery against me. It was a narrow escape, and proved the truth of my predictions regarding the power of the commissioner.

INVESTORS OPPOSE LIQUIDATION

On January 18, 1932, I took over a small association and appointed a conservator An action was brought to restrain me from placing the association in liquidation The matter was held up for several months. Finally the directors offered to restore a part of the impaired capital and I agreed that a plebiscite be taken to see how the investors stood. In a circular letter sent to each of the investors I told them frankly and fully of the unsound condition of the association, of its impairment of capital, of its losses over several years, of its poor management, and of the fact that the restoration of capital was not sufficient to cover the entire impairment. The manager of the association also sent out a circular, pleading for a chance to continue to run the association. The vote showed 90 per cent in favor of returning the assets to the management, notwithstanding its poor condition and its failure to meet expenses. The association was promptly turned back to the directors and a committee of the large investors was appointed to watch over the affairs of the association.

ANOTHER VEXATIOUS LAWSUIT.

The North American Building-Loan Association of Los Angeles was taken over on July 8, 1932, and a conservator placed in charge. An action was immediately brought to restrain me from placing the association in liquidation, and after many weeks of delay a trial was had lasting several days. My action was vigorously assailed. Again I was faced with high powered, high feed attorneys and again my small salaried deputy represented me. In this case I made no attempt whatever to claim the depreciation of assets on account of the shrinkage in the value of real estate, as from experience in the Pacific Coast case I concluded that there were plenty of high pressure appraisers whom the directors could hire who would place any value on the property necessary. I relied entirely on the book statements. The chief examiner of the department showed that the capital was impaired and a certified public accountant who had been hired to check over the books verified his figures The attorneys for the defendant made a very vicious attack upon me for daring to do my duty by the investors. The court decided that the association was insolvent and it was taken over for liquidation. Notwithstanding my objection, the court allowed the attorney for the stockholders a fee for his services in the case which he had lost. This fee came from the association and the case only tended to injure the investors This suit again convinced me that the power given the commissioner in the 1931 statute was more apparent than real. Thus another suit had been won by a very narrow margin. It was followed by a vexatious litigation on the part of the holding company of the North American. My experience in this case led to a discussion of one of the rackets in my annual report to the Governor.

BORROWERS WRITE INSURANCE.

I adopted the policy that special deputies in charge of associations in liquidation should permit the borrowers to place their insurance with a company or agent of their own selection. The trust deeds made in these cases by the borrower provided that the association might place the insurance, but I believe the borrowers should have the privilege of selecting their own agents. The only limit I placed on this policy was that the insurance companies must be reliable and fair in their dealings, must not welsh in case of loss, and the rate charged must not be above the standard rate This policy, of course, could not apply to the solvent associations of the State whose contracts with their borrowers were private ones over which the commissioner has no control.

THE THREE RACKETS.

In my report to Governor Rolph for the calendar year 1932 I called attention to the "certificate racket," the 'attorney racket" and the "league racket." Certain brokers were spreading false reports regarding the financial condition of associations and purchasing certificates at low figures. Many of these deals were not made in cash, but certificate holders were given bonds of little value, fake stock, worthless lands or oil royalties. Investors were repeatedly warned to hold on to their investments and not sell their certificates at the low prices offered. Corporation Commissioner Daugherty cooperated with me in every way in trying to stop this racket. I called attention to the practice of certain attorneys in contesting the action of the commissioner when associations were taken over for liquidation. In some of these cases, attorneys demanded fees for their unsuccessful efforts to prevent the commissioner from doing his duty, and the court allowed their high fees. In one case the fees were so exorbitant that an appeal was taken to the Supreme Court more as a matter of protest than in hope of saving the investors this fee. We lost the case.

Another racket to which I called attention in my report was the "league racket." These leagues were variously known as investors leagues, depositors leagues, certificate holder leagues, recovery leagues and reorganization leagues. A few of the leagues were good—most of them were bad. The honest leagues had my cooperation and support. The hijacking kind were referred to the Corporation Commissioner and every possible effort made to prevent their exploitation of the investors. Repeated warning was given to investors through the newspapers by me. A typical warning is contained in an article in the San Francisco News of August 26, 1932, which I am filing herewith.

RELIEF LEGISLATION NECESSARY

By the end of 1932 conditions had become so bad that it was necessary that there should be legislation to relieve the associations and to protect investors. During the year 1932 the assets of building and loan associations decreased from $453,000,000 in round numbers to $407,000,000. The Building and Loan League presented to the 1933 Legislature an emergency law. This law passed the Senate by unanimous vote and was adopted by the Assembly with only seven adverse votes. It was promptly signed by Governor Rolph and became effective on March 10, 1933 Had this law not been passed it would have been necessary for me to take over a number of associations for liquidation with assets of many millions of dollars and having thousands of investors. The new law placed all investors on an equal basis and provided that associations could pay out not to exceed $25 or 1 per cent per month to investors. This law prevented those who had filed notice from having preference over those who had not. The 1931 law permitted those at the head of the withdrawal list to get all of the available funds and this proved grossly unfair to other investors. The rate of interest on all investment certificates was reduced to 4 per cent a year and at the same time the rate of interest on loans to borrowers was reduced to 7 2 per cent. One of the most beneficial provisions of this law was the right of associations to exchange real estate for investment certificates These exchanges have been made as a rule at a profit to the association, thus helping the investors who remain in the association. Since the law was passed some associations have found it impossible to pay the maximum amount on withdrawals per month and have paid a smaller amount; others have been unable to pay anything

INTEREST RATE

This law gave the Building and Loan Commissioner power to increase the rate of interest to associations to 5 per cent on application, and in several cases this was done The law also provided that the rate of interest might be decreased after notice given and this was done in a number of cases At the time this provision was placed in the law I objected to it on the ground that the Legislature could not delegate its authority in this manner and besides I did not want to have the added responsibility. In this contention I was unanimously overruled by the Building and Loan Committee of each house.

Under this new law no dividends may be paid to stockholders, so the stockholders were not allowed to profit at the expense of the certificate holders. The law also provided that persons having certificates of record on March 10, 1933, and also having loans, might have the same offset at their own option. After that date such offsets must be at the option of the association and with the approval of the commissioner.

One of the best things in the law was the elimination of withdrawal notices and the placing of all investors on an equal basis.

STOCK ASSESSMENTS.

The new law also contained a provision that stockholders who do not pay will have their stock canceled This has been done in a number of cases In the payment of assessment some of the stockholders paid in certificates instead of cash. In each of these cases I made a protest against such payment. Thomas M Gannon, Chief Deputy, who is an attorney, looked up the law and rendered an opinion that assessments should be paid in cash. Attorneys for the building and loan associations affected claimed that their payments were legal. This matter has not been decided by the courts but there is nothing to prevent the commissioner, in case of further impairment of capital, from making other assessments.

EXCHANGING CERTIFICATES FOR REAL ESTATE

On April 14, 1933, I sent out a circular calling attention to the provisions of the emergency law permitting the exchange of real estate for certificates In this I urged upon every association the importance of trading its nonincome bearing real estate for certificates These exchanges were permitted when a profit was shown to the association, and this profit benefited the investors who remained. I also sent out a blank form which should be submitted to the commissioner in triplicate; one of these blanks, when approved was handed to the association; one filed in the Los Angeles office and one in the San Francisco office.

In the matter of accepting certificates in payment of loans, I said:

> "The law also provides that with the prior approval of the commissioner certificates may be accepted, at the option of the association, in partial or full payment of loans These exchanges should be considered with great caution, as, clearly, an association can not give up its good income bearing loans without sacrificing its financial position, but in cases where loans are doubtful or are too high, then it would seem to me to be the part of the wisdom for the association to accept a certain percentage of payment in certificates, to the amount of say 20 or 25 per cent Another blank form is enclosed to cover cases of this kind"

BE KIND TO BORROWERS

On May 10, 1933, I sent out a circular letter calling attention to Assembly Bill No. 908, an emergency measure which became a law on May 9th. This bill provided that there could be no foreclosures on account of failure of home owners to pay interest, taxes or insurance. I urged upon all associations to cooperate with the borrower and to live up to the spirit of this legislation. I said:

"Many legislators felt the moratorium should have been for a longer period, and when the Legislature reconvenes it is possible that a further extension will be asked for. This feeling will undoubtedly be accentuated should you fail to treat your borrowers with the consideration they deserve.

"I fully agree that the borrower in these trying times should be treated with every consideration, but still it should be impressed upon his mind that he has received the money representing the hard earned savings of hundreds of investors, many of whom are now finding it difficult to get money enough to pay for the bare necessities of life."

LEAGUE COMMENDS MY EFFORTS.

At the session of the Building and Loan League at Yosemite Valley in May, 1933, I made a full report of my activities for the preceding year and four months. At that time the league adopted the following resolution:

"Resolved, That the California Building-Loan League again recognize its debt of gratitude and pay honor to Governor Friend W. Richardson, our Building and Loan Commissioner. His counsel, his unfailing cooperation and helpfulness, have been of tremendous assistance to us in this difficult year. Perhaps no other individual could have administered his office so fairly and so competently at this time."

URGED TO PAY INTEREST.

On June 13, 1933, I sent out a circular letter urging all associations to meet their interest payments promptly on July 1st. In that circular I said:

"I have at all times emphasized the duty of associations to pay their interest promptly. Many of those who have invested their funds with you are more urgently in need of money now than ever. The action of the Legislature in reducing the rate of interest on investments to 4 per cent places an added responsibility on you to pay the interest falling due at this period. For this reason, I urge every association to pay its interest promptly on July 1st and thereafter, as due."

NO CASH COMMISSIONS

On July 8, 1933, I notified all associations that in exchange of real estate for certificates of investment, they could not pay out cash commissions to brokers In that circular I said:

"This is to direct that no cash commission be paid on these transactions unless sufficient cash is received by the association to cover the commission paid. The cash which your association has on hand should be paid to your needy investors, and to use it in any other manner would subject your association and this office to criticism

"Where certificates are received in full payment, you may arrange through the escrow to have the purchaser pay the commission by transferring a portion of his certificates to the broker. In that case, you should state in your request for approval that the commission is to be paid in certificates."

HOLC BONDS.

On July 25, 1933, I wrote to the various members of the advisory committee of the Building-Loan League in regard to Home Owners' Loan Corporation bonds In that letter I said:

"I feel it will be necessary for me to accept these bonds at par on behalf of associations which are being liquidated by this office and to consent to any reasonable write-off the government insists upon before taking over the loan."

I asked these league members to give me their opinion as to what open associations should do in the premises

On August 7th I notified all associations that I thought they should accept the Home Owners' Loan Corporation bonds. I said:

"After full and careful consideration I have decided that any association may at its option accept the bonds of this corporation in exchange for any of its loans which are distressed, and such bonds may be carried on its books at par The matter of what exchanges shall be made rests in the judgment of the officials and each association and will depend upon each particular loan

"In my opinion, the new law is a very beneficial one, and if judiciously used by the associations, many 'sour' loans may be disposed of. It is not the purpose of the new law to apply to good loans, but only to such loans as are delinquent in taxes or interest or principal or excessive.

"These bonds run for 18 years, and the interest at 4 per cent is guaranteed by the government. They will be accepted by the corporation in payment of loans, and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation will take them as security for loans."

On August 3, 1933, The Illustrated Daily News of Los Angeles, in an editorial commended me for deciding to accept HOLC bonds at par and said:

"This one act has done more to assure successful operation of the Federal agency in California than any single development since the passage of the act authorizing its organization, according to Monroe Butler.

"This means that building and loan associations now holding liens against homes, are authorized to accept these bonds and report them at par in their financial statements.

"Heretofore, there has been a question as to what these associations were to do with these bonds in the event they took them in exchange for mortgages or trust deeds It is admitted that the market for these bonds will be thin. They could not afford to take them and then sell them at a loss, which might be greater than if they had held the liens which they exchanged for them.

"However, under authority of the Building and Loan Commissioner they now are permitted to hold them at par until such time as they are able to dispose of them on favorable terms if they wish to sell."

WESTERN OF SALT LAKE CITY.

On August 18, 1933, the $19,000,000 of assets in California of the Western Loan and Building Company of Salt Lake City, Utah, were taken over by me. At the same time the commissioner of Utah took over the assets of this company in Utah and five other States, and the commissioner of Oregon took over the assets in that State.

The laws of Utah provide for the reorganization of building and loan associations which have been taken over by the State, and accordingly a plan of reorganization was drawn up by the commissioners of the various States This was submitted to the investors and more than 75 per cent approved it. On December 15, 1933, a meeting of the shareholders and investors was held in Salt Lake City, and new by-laws were adopted and eleven new directors were elected to take the place of the former board. Following the reorganization, various suits were instituted seeking the appointment of Federal receivers. Judge James of the Federal court of Los Angeles on June 22, 1934, in the Tomich case declined to appoint a temporary receiver and dissolved all restraining orders.

The California Law has no provision for the reorganization of associations and bills to accomplish that purpose have been submitted to the present Legislature

The reorganization of the Western took a great deal of my time and attention and I feel that my work in that particular was one of the outstanding achievements of my administration.

In the reorganization, the new directors made a complete appraisal of all the property and a write-down of 35 per cent of the liabilities. This made the association solvent with a large surplus.

Governor Merriam appointed me Bank Superintendent on the first of July, 1934, but in order to help complete the reorganization of the Western I delayed taking my oath of office and filing a bond until the 19th of that month.

On August 16, 1934, an affidavit was filed in the Federal court of Los Angeles alleging conspiracy on the part of myself and others to defraud investors of the Western The next day I made the following statement:

"For several months actions have been pending in the Federal court to place the Western in receivership. A number of sensational and libelous affidavits have been filed. Yesterday another one was filed in Los Angeles. A person has no defense against this clever means of defamation, as libel will not lie against the maker of an affidavit filed in court.

"The charges of conspiracy in the reorganization of the Western is old stuff. It was gone into by the superior court of Los Angeles County and Judge Henry M. Willis authorized me to turn the assets of the company over to the new directors. The reorganization plan will protect Western investors and avoid an expensive Federal receivership

"Of course the flare given this libelous affidavit in certain newspapers is for political effect and I am inured to libel, misrepresentation and abuse in political campaigns. I have thriven on it for 20 years I only fear the time when my name may be omitted from the front page and the big headlines

"This is part of the mud-slinging campaign of those who resent my activity in campaigning for Governor Merriam."

Superior Judge Willis of Los Angeles County said, in his order authorizing the return of the California assets to the Western Loan and Building Company that the reorganization plan was fair and equitable and he also stated that he was "well acquainted with the soundness and integrity of his (Friend W. Richardson's) official judgment."

When the matter of this libelous affidavit came before the Federal court no attempt was made by those making the affidavit or their attorneys to prove it, and the Federal judge dismissed it. This, of course, was abundant proof that the affidavit was filed simply for political reasons.

PUBLIC HEARINGS.

The 1933 emergency law provided that notice should be given of any change in the rate of interest by the commissioner. While the law did not require public hearings, I decided that public hearings ought to be held. These hearings were duly advertised in the newspapers and the directors required to furnish affidavits of such publications. The first hearing was held in my office on the application of the Mercantile Building and Loan Association of Stockton. A small number of investors was present and it was agreed that the interest rate should be reduced in order to save the association from liquidation.

Later, I held a hearing in my office in Los Angeles on the application of three Long Beach associations to have their interest rate reduced. At this hearing less than 100 people were present. The Mutual Building and Loan of Long Beach, having published its notice in a Los Angeles paper instead of a Long Beach paper, was required to publish a new notice in its home town and a hearing was held in Long Beach. This hearing was held in the Masonic Temple in that city. The hall was packed to overflowing, with some 1200 people. In the lobby of the Temple outside the hall, and on the sidewalk, were more people than there were inside. I adjourned the meeting to the city pavilion where a crowd conservatively estimated at 4500 assembled. At this hearing every opportunity was given to investors to make their complaints articulate. Investors were urged to come forward and make known their grievances. As a result of this meeting, a committee of investors was appointed to cooperate with the directors. I met with the directors the next day (a Sunday) and frankly stated that there must be a change in the management. This change was made and a new management installed. After that was done I reduced the rate of interest to nothing.

The Guarantee Building and Loan Association of San Jose asked to have their rate of interest reduced to 2 per cent. A public meeting was held at the High School Auditorium in San Jose. About 1200 people were present and on this occasion everyone was given an opportunity to say what they pleased. Many scored the directors.

A meeting of the investors of the California Security Loan Corporation was held in Pasadena in Shakespeare Hall and some 900 people were present. All of those present were given a full opportunity to be heard. It was a hot meeting. An investors' committee was appointed. Later a new management was installed.

Another one of these meetings was held of the investors of the Pomona Mutual Building and Loan Association in the High School Auditorium in Pomona. It was packed, people standing in the aisles and on the sides, and the gallery was full. I should judge 1100 people were present. On this occasion I notified the investors that the law of libel was off—that anyone who wanted to roast the management was welcome to do so. This brought forth some very severe criticism of the officers. After the meeting I wrote a letter to the directors, a copy of which is hereto attached. At the same time a committee of investors was appointed to protect their interests.

The San Jose Pacific Building and Loan Association applied for a reduction of their rate of interest and a public meeting was held in one of the school buildings there. At this meeting only about 600 people were present, and I felt that my drawing power, in these one-stand events that I had been putting on, was waning. At this meeting the investors were encouraged to register their criticism and many of them did it with a vengeance.

I attended an annual meeting of the shareholders of the Insurance Plan Building and Loan Association in Los Angeles. (I say "shareholders" because this was a pure mutual.) Many complaints had been made to me and one irate shareholder was on the point of shooting the manager. At this meeting some 300 people were present and I told them frankly that the shareholders were in control of the association, could elect whatever officials they desired, and that if they were not satisfied with their officers they should elect new ones. The officers were freely criticized. After the new board was elected, no further trouble was had by this association. The manager still lives.

I attended an annual meeting of the Cosmopolitan Building and Loan Association in Oakland where there were some 200 people present. The affairs of the association were fully discussed and the officers criticized.

A meeting was held of the investors of the Prudential Building and Loan at their office in Oakland. Although this meeting was duly advertised, not more than 20 people attended and they were satisfied that the interest rate should be reduced, so it was evident that my drawing power as a manager of these meetings was sinking to the vanishing point.

CALIFORNIA MUTUAL.

The condition of the California Mutual Building and Loan Association became gradually worse. The directors attempted a reorganization plan which did not meet with the majority approval from the investors. I held a public meeting of the investors at San Jose in the high school where some 1200 people were present and the question of the take-over was publicly discussed by me and the manager of the association. A great majority of investors present voted in favor of my taking over the association. Even then I hesitated on account of my experiences with vicious law suits in Los Angeles I finally attended a meeting of the board of directors and told them frankly that they would have to adopt a resolution asking me to take over the association, and agree not to contest my right before I would do it. After consideration the board unanimously agreed that I should take it over. I did this because I had had my fill of vexatious law suits.

OTHER ASSOCIATIONS TAKEN OVER.

During 1933 four other associations were taken over. The Pittsburg Building and Loan Association of Pittsburg was taken over on account of the felonies of the officers of the holding company who were also officers of the building and loan company. The Marine Building and Loan of San Pedro was taken over on account of the impairment of capital and mismanagement. To say what I think about the managers of these associations and some others might subject me to a libel suit. The Seaboard Building and Loan Association of San Diego was in such bad condition that it was necessary to take it over. The Western has already been mentioned

SUPERVISION OFFICERS.

Supervision officers for the liquidation of insolvent associations were established by me in Los Angeles, San Francisco, San Diego and Oakland in order to conduct the business more economically and efficiently. By departmentalizing the offices and operating several associations as one, great economies were effected. In the Los Angeles office 14 associations were liquidated under one management with two special deputies in charge and their salaries $400 per month each. In the Oakland office five associations were in liquidation, in the San Francisco office two and the San Diego office two.

CERTIFICATE RACKET.

In my annual report to Governor Rolph dated April 30, 1934, I said:

"I have done everything possible to protect certificate holders from racketeers, and have had the earnest cooperation of the Corporation Commissioner, who was given power by the last Legislature to license brokers.

"There are many honest brokers who are dealing in certificates at the market price and paying cash. There are some who are attempting to trade for fake stock, unsecured notes, desert land, oil royalties or unlisted bonds."

A PROPHETIC VETO.

The history of building and loan associations during the past four years has been a sad story. I hope you will pardon me for calling attention to the fact that, while Governor in 1925, I vetoed a number of bills in regard to building and loan associations. On April 6, 1925, I sent the following message to the Senate of the State of California:

"EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, STATE OF CALIFORNIA,
"SACRAMENTO, April 6, 1925

"To the Senate of the State of California

"Senate Bill No. 629 is returned herewith without my approval. This bill would permit building and loan associations to invest or loan 25 per cent of their assets upon full paid investment certificates to other building and loan associations. Building and loan associations when of a local character, managed by local directors without compensation, and conducted with a small overhead expense, have resulted in great good to the home builder of modest income To preserve the beneficial character of these associations, it is important that they be conducted on the most conservative basis The present laws have aided in building up the present associations which are uniformly sound financially. Any change in the laws tending to break down the conservative character of building and loan associations will prove a menace to the thousands of small investors who have placed their savings in these institutions and are paying for their modest homes in monthly installments. This bill would remove a valuable safeguard now given investors of these associations. The proposed bill might result in pyramiding of securities of various associations with disastrous results. Under this bill a chain system of building and loan associations might be built up with as little stability as a house of cards.

"Respectfully submitted.

"FRIEND W. RICHARDSON, Governor."

I think I can say with modesty that this veto message was a prophecy and a warning. A dozen other bills tending to permit associations to change their character and engage in unsafe practices were vetoed by me. In 1927 the Legislature passed bills identical in substance with the bills I had vetoed. My prophecy in the 1925 veto was brought home to California investors when it was discovered in 1930 that Gilbert Beesemyer had in one month borrowed $430,000 from another association in return for that amount of certificates of the Guarantee Building and Loan Association of Hollywood as security, he being a director in both institutions. The smash of the Beesemyer chains brought ruin and grief to hundreds of unfortunate investors

NEW MONEY.

When an association's capital and reserves were impaired or it asked for a reduction of its interest rate, I notified it to cease taking in new money. The exercise of such power may be questioned but it was not in any case disputed. In 1933, 21 associations were notified and in 1934 up to July 19th, eight associations.

A LITTLE SUNSHINE.

So that you may not assume that all building and loan associations are in bad shape, I call your attention to the following associations whose interest rate was at their request increased to 5 per cent as authorized by the 1933 emergency law:

Greater Arcadia, Arcadia; San Gorgonio, Banning; Beverly Hills, Beverly Hills; Chula Vista, Chula Vista; Imperial Valley, El Centro; Fortuna, Fortuna; Merced Mutual, Merced; Home Foundation, Palo Alto; Palo Alto Mutual, Palo Alto; Mutual, Pasadena, Salinas Valley, Salinas; Franklin Mutual, San Francisco; Stockton Land, Stockton; Turlock Guarantee, Turlock; Watsonville, Watsonville.

AN IMPORTANT POSITION.

The importance of the office of Building and Loan Commissioner seems to be generally underrated by the public. The commissioner has an office in San Francisco and one in Los Angeles. These two offices have control of 190 live associations with assets of $359,000,000, with some 700,000 investors and 80,000 borrowers. This would be ample work for one executive but there are also the many associations in liquidation with their multitude of trials and tribulations. From actual experience I can say that the duties are much more onerous than those of the position I now occupy. The loyal support which I received from Governor Rolph and Governor Merriam helped me in bearing the griefs incident to the position.

COMMISSIONER DRAPEAU

Louis C. Drapeau, who was appointed commissioner by Governor Merriam and took office on July 19, 1934, has shown a quick grasp of the many intricate problems involved in building and loan, and has arrived at wise conclusions. He has the advantage of broad legal and business experience. The investors in building and loan associations are fortunate in having a master at the helm like Commissioner Drapeau to safeguard their interest. Governor Merriam showed wisdom in this appointment.

I desire to call your attention to the following documents which I am filing herewith:

(b) Witnesses before the board or its authorized agents shall be entitled to the same fees as are allowed witnesses in civil cases in courts of record. An officer serving a subpena to secure the attendance of such a witness shall receive the same fees therefor as for the service by him of a subpena for the attendance of a witness before a court of record. Such fees need not be prepaid, but the Controller shall draw his warrant for the payment of the amount thereof when the same shall have been certified by the board and duly proved by affidavit or otherwise to the satisfaction of the Controller.

SEC. 63. (a) The decision must be rendered within thirty days after the completion of the trial and shall be entered upon the minutes of the board and upon its official roster of employees The decision of the board shall be effective as of the date of the service of the charges upon the employee. Copies of the decision shall be furnished to both the appointing power and the accused.

(b) Such hearings may be held by the board or any authorized agent of the board

SEC 64. Any employee, or any appointing power, with the concurrence of such employee, may petition the board to permit the voluntary demotion of such employee for any reason satisfactory to the board, and such demotion may be permitted after such hearing or investigation as the board may deem necessary.

SEC. 65. An appointing power may, from time to time, peremptorily suspend an employee without pay or other compensation and without the right of a hearing as punishment for any minor infraction of any of the causes specified in this act or other improper behavior, or for the good of the service, but such suspension or total suspensions by such appointing power of such person shall not exceed thirty days in any year of service Such suspension with loss of pay must be accompanied by service upon the employee by the appointing power of written charges setting out clearly the delinquency for which such suspension was made and a copy of which must at the same time be mailed or delivered to the board. The suspended employee shall have the right to file with the board and the appointing power a written answer or explanation of such charges, as a matter of record.

SEC. 66 (a) Whenever it is necessary because of lack of work or lack of funds, or whenever it is advisable in the interests of economy, to reduce the staff of any department or agency in the State service, the appointing power may with the approval of the board lay off employees according to the procedure set forth in this act and the rules and regulations thereunder.

(b) The duties performed by the employee or employees so laid off may be assigned to any other civil service employee or employees in the department or agency, who in the opinion of the board are qualified to perform such duties regardless of the specific classification or grade to which such employees are allocated

SEC. 67 In the event that any department or other State agency decides to abolish one or more positions of any class, or to temporarily discontinue the same because of lack of work or lack of funds, or in the interest of economy, then a number of employees of that department or agency equal to the number of positions to be so abolished or discontinued, shall be laid off. With the approval of the board, only the employees of a designated geographical, organizational, or functional subdivision of a department or other agency need be considered for lay off under the procedure in this act provided, and in such event the resulting lay off lists may likewise be established by such subdivision.

SEC. 68 Lay offs shall be made in accordance with the seniority and the efficiency of the employee or employees of the class in which the lay off is to be made by applying the following rule: In determining the rating to be given for seniority, two points shall be allowed for each complete year of State service, and in determining the rating to be given for efficiency that number of points shall be allowed which expresses the efficiency of the employee in terms of percentage of perfection, with one hundred per cent considered as perfect; provided, however, that if a rating of less than seventy per cent for efficiency is given to an employee, the employee or the board may compel the appointing power to prefer charges against said employee for inefficiency in accordance with this act.

SEC. 69. In making lay offs the combined score of the employee for seniority and efficiency shall be considered, and the employee or employees of the class under consideration having the lowest combined score or scores, up to the number of positions to be abolished or discontinued, shall be laid off; but in any case where an employee has previously served the State with civil service status in the class next below that of the class under consideration, or its equivalent in any previous classification, the employee shall be afforded the option of being demoted to the lower class in lieu of being laid off, to replace the employee in said lower class having the lowest combined score for seniority and efficiency, provided such combined score is lower than that of the employee being demoted.

SEC. 70. The names of employees thus laid off or demoted shall be placed upon the departmental lay off list for the class from which they were laid off or demoted, and also upon the general lay off list for such positions as, in the opinion of the board, the employees are qualified and entitled to hold. The order of names on all lay off lists heretofore or hereafter created shall be the relative order of combined scores for seniority and efficiency If a person whose name now or hereafter stands upon a lay off list is not reemployed in such class within five years from the date of lay off, his name may be removed from such list.

SEC. 71. Any employee replaced by an employee from the next higher class in the manner provided in this act, who has previously served the State, with civil service status in the class, or its equivalent in any previous classification, next below that in which he was serving at the time of replacement, shall have the same option of demotion as though his position were abolished or discontinued, and under the conditions provided in this act may replace an employee in said next lower class

SEC 72. All employees compensated on a monthly basis who are to be laid off or demoted under the provisions of this act shall be given fifteen days' notice of such lay off or demotion prior to the effective date thereof.

SEC. 73. Any employee may appeal to the board within thirty days of receiving notice of lay off or demotion on the grounds that the procedure herein prescribed has not been complied with or that the lay off or demotion has not been made in good faith The board shall within thirty days of such appeal hold such hearing or investigation as it may deem necessary. In rendering its decision thereon, the board may order the reinstatement of the employee, with or without pay, if it appears that the proper procedure has not been followed or that the lay off or demotion was not made in good faith.

SEC. 74. (a) It shall be the duty of each appointing power to report promptly to the board such information as the board may require in connection with each appointment, separation from the service, or other change in position or salary, and such other information, including attendance reports, as the board may require in order to keep the roster mentioned in this section. When any such change is required by this act or the rules of the board, to be approved by the board, it shall not be effective until such approval is granted.

(b) The board shall keep in its office an official roster of all persons holding positions under the provisions of this act and shall enter thereon the name, complete record of State employment, and other facts deemed pertinent by the board

SEC. 75. The board may enter into an agreement with any political subdivision of the State for the purpose of exchanging services or of giving effect to a unified program of personnel administration in the State and its various subdivisions, and such political subdivisions are hereby authorized to enter into such agreements with the board. The board shall ascertain the cost of services rendered by it under any such agreement with a political subdivision and such cost shall be a charge against the political subdivision. For the purposes of this section "political subdivision" includes any city, county, city and county, public corporation or public district The board may also join or subscribe to any association or service having as its purpose the interchange of information relating to the technique of personnel administration, and may expend a reasonable part of the funds appropriated to its use for this purpose

SEC. 76. It shall be unlawful for the Controller or other fiscal officer of the State to draw, sign, issue, or authorize the drawing, signing, or issuing of any warrant on the Treasurer or other disbursing officer of the State for the payment of, or for the Treasurer or other disbursing officer to pay, any salary or compensation to any one holding any position under the provisions of this act unless the estimate, pay roll or account for such salary or compensation, containing the name of the person to be paid, shall bear the certificate of the board that the persons named in such estimate, pay roll or account are holding positions as provided by this act and the rules and regulations prescribed thereunder.

SEC 77 No salary, compensation or other emolument shall be paid to any one appointed to or retained in any position in violation of this act. Any sums paid contrary to the provisions of this act may be recovered from any one making such appointment in violation of the provisions of this act and of the rules and regulations prescribed thereunder or from any officer signing, or countersigning, or authorizing the signing or countersigning, of any warrant for the payment of the same, and from the sureties on his official bond in an action in any court of competent jurisdiction of this State maintained by a citizen resident therein, who is assessed for and is liable to pay, or within one year before the commencement of such action has paid, a tax therein. All moneys recovered in any action brought under the provisions of this section must, when collected, be paid into the treasury of the State, except that the plaintiff in any such action shall be entitled to receive for his own use the taxable costs of such action.

SEC. 78. Any person acting in good faith in accepting appointment or employment contrary to the provisions of this act or of the rules and regulations prescribed thereunder, shall be paid by the appointing power the compensation promised by or on behalf of the appointing power or in case no compensation is so promised then the actual value of any service rendered and the expense incurred in good faith under such attempted appointment or employment, and shall have a cause of action against the appointing power for such sum or sums and for the costs of action. No public officer shall be reimbursed by the State or any of its instrumentalities for any sum so paid or recovered in such action.

SEC. 79. Any member or employee of the board, or any person who wilfully by himself or in cooperation with one or more persons, defeats, deceives or obstructs any person in respect of his or her right of examination or application, according to any rules or regulations prescribed pursuant to the provisions of this act, or who wilfully and falsely marks, grades, estimates, or reports upon the examination or proper standing of any person examined, or certified pursuant to the provisions of this act, or aids in so doing, or who wilfully makes any false representation concerning the same, or concerning the person examined, or who wilfully furnishes to any person any special or secret information for the purpose of either improving or injuring the prospects or chances of any person so examined, or certified, or to be examined, or certified, or who personates any other person, or permits or aids in any manner any other person to personate him, in connection with any examination or application or request to be examined, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 80. No officer, agent, clerk or employee, under the government of the State shall, directly or indirectly, solicit or receive, or be in any manner concerned in soliciting or receiving, any assessment, subscription, contribution or political service, whether voluntary or involuntary, for any political purpose whatever, from any one on the eligible lists or holding any position under the provisions of this act.

SEC. 81. Every officer, agent, clerk or employee under the government of the State who may have charge or control in any building office or room occupied for any purpose of said government is hereby authorized to prohibit the entry of any person, and he shall not permit any person to enter the same, for the purpose of therein making, collecting, receiving, or giving notice of any political assessment, subscription or contribution, and no person shall enter, or remain in any said building, office or room, or send or direct any letter or other notice thereto, for the purpose of giving notice of, demanding, or collecting a political assessment, subscription or contribution, nor shall any person therein give notice of, demand, collect or receive, any such assessment, subscription or contribution contrary to the provisions of this act.

SEC. 82. No one, while holding any public office, or in nomination for, or while seeking a nomination or appointment for, any public office, shall use or promise to use, whether directly or indirectly, any official authority or influence (whether then possessed or merely anticipated) in the way of conferring upon any person, or in order to secure or aid any person in securing any position under the provisions of this act, either in nomination, confirmation, promotion, or increase in salary, or as to any change in any such position, upon a consideration or condition that the vote or political influence or action of the last-named person or any other, shall be given or used in behalf of any candidate, officer or party, or upon any other corrupt condition or consideration. And no one, being a public officer, or in nomination for, or while seeking nomination or appointment for, any public office or having or claiming to have any authority or influence (whether then possessed or merely anticipated) for the securing or holding of or as to affecting any position under the provisions of this act, shall use, or promise or threaten to use, any such authority or influence, directly or indirectly, in order to coerce or persuade the vote or political action of any person on the eligible lists or holding any position under the provisions of this act.

SEC. 83. No recommendation or question or inquiry under the authority of this act shall relate to the political or religious opinions or affiliations of any person, and no appointment or change in or removal from any position under the provisions of this act shall be in any manner affected or influenced by such opinions or affiliations.

SEC. 84. Any person wilfully violating any of the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 85. The board shall establish preference for veterans as follows: In the case of entrance examinations to establish eligible lists for policemen and watchmen, veterans who become eligible for appointment by attaining the passing mark established for the examination, and whose service as veterans exceeds three months, shall be classified on such eligible lists in the relative order of the individual ratings attained, and ahead of all nonveterans passing such examinations, and shall be eligible for appointment on the basis of such order of standing on such eligible lists

SEC. 86. In the case of all other entrance examinations, veterans with thirty days or more of service, and widows of veterans who were married to such veterans on or before November 11, 1918, who become eligible for appointment by attaining the passing mark established for the examination, shall be allowed an additional credit of five points, provided that disabled veterans shall be allowed an additional credit of ten points, which shall be added to the percentages attained in such examinations by such veterans, and they shall be placed on eligible lists and be eligible for appointment in the order and on the basis of the percentages attained by them in examinations after such credit of five points, or ten points in the case of disabled veterans, shall have been added. All ties shall be decided in favor of veterans; provided, however, in the case of promotional examinations, a credit of three points shall be allowed to veterans, and to widows of veterans who were married to such veterans on or before November 11, 1918

SEC. 87. The board, for specific State services or employments, as determined by the board, may, in examination, allow general or individual preferences in rating to veterans who have suffered permanent disability in line of duty; provided, that such disability would not prevent the proper performance of the duties required under such service or employment, and provided that such disability was of record in the files of the War Department as of July 1, 1920.

SEC 88. In the case of examination to establish eligible lists for artisans, and in which credits are allowed for experience as a journeyman, periods of service in the armed forces of the United States, whether as artisan or otherwise, shall be counted by the board as journeyman experience.

SEC. 89 Proof of eligibility for the preferences provided in this act must be submitted to the board prior to or at the time of examination.

SEC 90. Whenever this act or any part or section thereof is interpreted by a court, it shall be liberally construed by such court, with particular consideration to the general purposes set forth in section 1 hereof.

SEC. 91. No judicial action or proceeding may be brought or maintained against any appointing power or against the board by any officer or employee (in the State civil service or by any person claiming to be a member of the State civil service) unless and until he shall have exhausted every remedy to or before the board accorded him by the provisions of this act.

Each decision or order of the board is final and conclusive, save only that it is subject to review by a court of competent jurisdiction in a proceeding brought in accordance with the provisions of Chapter I of Title I of Part III of the Code of Civil Procedure, which proceeding must be commenced within sixty days from and after the date of the rendition of the decision. As to such a decision heretofore rendered, such proceeding may be commenced within sixty days from and after the effective date of this act unless the time otherwise prescribed therefor has expired prior to said date. Nothing in this section shall be construed to prevent the maintenance of any proceeding or action which is pending on said date, nor as conferring or validating any right to maintain such pending action or proceeding.

SEC. 92. If in an action or proceeding it is finally adjudged by a court of competent jurisdiction that any salary has been illegally withheld from an officer or employee, the measure of recovery that may be granted by the court shall be the amount of salary actually so withheld less the amount of the earnings of the officer or employee during the period of his separation from the service.

SEC. 93. The measure of recovery prescribed by section 92 hereof shall apply retroactively to all cases in which salaries may have been illegally withheld prior to the effective date of this act, save as to those in which judgment in the action or proceeding has become final prior to said date. However, this section 93 is separable and distinct from all other portions of this act and is not a consideration or inducement for the enactment of the whole or any portion of this act. If any of the provisions of this section be for any reason declared invalid, the remainder of this act shall be in full force and effect and as completely operative as if this section had not been included therein

SEC. 94 If any section, subsection, subdivision, sentence, clause or phrase of this act is for any reason held to be unconstitutional, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this act. The Legislature hereby declares that it would have passed this act, and each section, subsection, subdivision, sentence, clause and phrase thereof, irrespective of the fact that any one or more sections, subsections, subdivisions, sentences, clauses or phrases be declared unconstitutional.

SEC. 95. All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with this act are hereby repealed in so far as they are inconsistent with the provisions of this act. All acts or parts of acts establishing titles and rates of pay of positions, or conferring the power upon another official to select or fix the compensation of any employee are hereby declared inconsistent with this act. Section 686 of the Political Code is expressly repealed.

SEC 96 This act shall be known and may be cited as the "State Civil Service Act."

SEC 97 This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety, within the meaning of section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution, and shall therefore take effect immediately.

The facts constituting the necessity are as follows At the general election, November 6, 1934, the people approved an initiative constitutional amendment, adding Article XXIV to the State Constitution, creating a State Personnel Board, and outlining its duties and powers. The provisions of such Article XXIV being in conflict with the present State Civil Service Act, and the said State Civil Service Act being within itself inadequate, ambiguous and contradictory, the powers of the State Personnel Board are so poorly defined as to render imminent the possibility of widespread and lengthy litigation to clarify the status of State employees and to define the powers of the board. Such litigation might result in the stoppage of essential State functions and would thereby endanger the public peace, health and safety."

Communications.

The following communications were received, and ordered printed in the Journal:

By Mr. Speaker:

SAN RAFAEL, April 27, 1935.

Hon Edward Craig, Speaker of the Assembly,
State Capitol, Sacramento, California

DEAR MR. CRAIG: On Sunday, May 5th, one of the biggest events to occur on San Francisco Bay this year will take place at McNear's Beach near San Rafael in Marin County This will be the second annual striped bass carnival sponsored by the Marin Rod and Gun Club in observance of legislation taking the striped bass out of the hands of commercial fishermen and reserving this splendid game fish for sportsmen.

The first event of its kind, held on April 15, 1934, after only three weeks preparation, brought out approximately 17,000 people. Indications at the present time are that double this number will be present on Sunday, May 5th. Arrangements are being made to care for from 30,000 to 40,000 people.

An excellent program of entertainment and sports has been arranged and it will be a day long to be remembered by both young and old.

Can you not arrange to be with us as our honored guest on Sunday, May 5th, and join us in the festivities paying homage to Old King Striped himself? Also, will you please extend a personal invitation from the carnival committee to each and every member of the Assembly to be our honored guest on that day. We are sure you and they will always remember the event.

Sincerely yours,

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

Statement on State and Local Tax Issues Submitted to the California Legislative and Joint Legislative Tax Committee of California by the California Real Estate Association, Sacramento, California, April 30, 1935.

SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, April 30, 1935

To the California Legislative and Joint Committee of Fourteen on Taxation, California Legislature, Sacramento, California.

Attention: Lieutenant Governor George J. Hatfield, Speaker Edward Craig, Hon Walter H. Duval, Chairman; Hon. Harry B. Riley, Secretary.

GENTLEMEN. In response to Assemblyman Riley's request, we submit the following statement

The California Real Estate Association heretofore, to wit, on February 16, 1935, and again on March 23, 1935, endorsed the main planks of the State executive budget revenue and taxation program submitted by Governor Frank F. Merriam to the Legislature on January 22, 1935.

Property owners we contacted are in quite general accord with our position on this tax subject. Also, some groups favored retention of the utilities $60,000,000 gross receipts tax by the State.

The only way to delay that return is by a special State election.

The State directors of the California Real Estate Association recently adopted the following resolution addressed to the Legislature and to the people:

"WHEREAS, An emergency exists wherein the State Legislature is faced with the problem of raising a large amount of revenue; and,

WHEREAS, Real estate has, and is today, bearing far more than its just and fair share of the cost and can not possibly carry any further tax burden of government; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the board of directors of the California Real Estate Association in session at Sacramento, April 25, 1935, That the California Real Estate Association, representing organized real estate and on behalf of 800,000 property owners, respectfully recommends to the Legislature the adherence to the following program in order that ownership of real property be not further impaired:

1. Passage of Assembly Bill No. 834, providing for retention of the 5 per cent limitation on public expenditures.
2. That no additional tax of any kind be levied or assessed against real estate.
3. That there be no exemption of any kind or character granted under the sales tax.
4. That the strictest economy be effected in all departments of government."

The 1933 Joint Legislative Committee of Fourteen on Taxation on April 29, 1933, filed its report with the Legislature and recommended:

1. Repeal of amendment.
2. Restore public utilities to local tax base.
3. Relieve real estate by absorbing the county school costs.
4. Retail sales tax.
5. Tax limitation on real and personal property for State purposes.
6. Limitation on public expenditures.

It was further stated in said report that the committee "desired to give consideration to and work out complete and detailed plans for the obtaining of revenue from new sources in order that complete and full relief be given to real property."

No State ad valorem tax for State purposes has been levied in California since 1910. Under the dual system it was abolished by vote of the people. The general belief exists today that no popular majority could be secured to restore a State ad valorem tax.

President Walter Schmidt of Cincinnati, Ohio, who heads the National Real Estate Association, says:

"The general property tax, the basis of taxation in most of our States, is an archaic method of raising public revenues and should be abandoned. It was adopted when 90 per cent of wealth was in land, and services of government were almost exclusively for realty benefit. If it is not practical to completely shift this system, at the least, a maximum rate not exceeding 1½ per cent on value should be fixed.

"The Department of Commerce made surveys showing that in 1931, taking all real estate in the country, improved and vacant, 95 per cent of the total net income was collected in taxes This is an insufferable burden—in fact, confiscation as effective as that perpetrated in Russia. Those interested in schools, municipal and county operation, instead of fearing scrapping the general property tax, should work for it Only by turning to modern methods can their own incomes be made secure and adequate."

With some modifications, we believe that a majority of the revenue planks in the executive budget of California's Governor are sound, feasible, and can be carried out by this Legislature Its planks are used in whole or in part in other States.

Two of these budget proposals have already passed the California Assembly by large majorities.

It was generally understood during the Riley-Stewart real estate tax relief amendment campaign, carried in 55 counties by 277,000 majority, two years ago, that a sales tax on all retail articles would be imposed by the State to make up for the county school costs transferred to the State Also, that it was desirable for the State to levy on available sources other than common property to raise funds to take care of the State needs when the privately owned utilities were returned from the gross receipts base to local tax rolls. These utilities have definitely been returned to local base.

We reaffirm our belief that said equalization can be accomplished through the executive budget, without the State levying any new additional taxes on real estate. Homes, farms, and real estate generally already bear 65 per cent or more of the cost of government in this State. Real estate has less than 28 per cent of the States' business income, yet now it pays two-thirds of the cost of public services to all the people.

State after State has abandoned the ad valorem or general property tax for State costs. It's a source of revenue best left to the home people

Replacement taxes used in the seven States that have over-all property tax rate limitation include Gross income, gross sales, personal income, intangibles, insurance, excise tax, general sales, bank taxes, beer and liquor, inheritance, horse race fees, motor fees, gasoline taxes, cigarettes, admission and so-called nuisance taxes. This many of the several taxes proposed in the Governor's budget are already in successful use in other States.

The California Real Estate Association realizes the serious emergency. It will cooperate with you It believes the urgency calls for two years more the reenactment of the sales tax on its present base, or at 3 per cent no exemptions. This the Governor proposes in his budget, and we believe that the public sentiment will support this position Governor Merriam received 1,140,000 votes. Clearly his mandate and recommendations come backed by the largest group of taxpaying constituents. These facts must be kept in mind.

Our President was elected to carry out the mandate of the people of 1932. He is trying to do his best Shall we accord our Governor less support? The President of the United States is supported by Congress in his major proposals. Similar backing by the Legislature will put through the executive budget in California.

Two years ago the California Legislature adopted the income tax. The bill was vetoed. The State now has a $29,000,000 deficit to be made up as a result of having insufficient State revenue. Will bonds be needed to replace the lost revenue that can be collected day by day?

Oklahoma last week became the thirty-fourth State to enact an income tax. The Oklahoma rate is declared to be 1 to 9 per cent These things are mentioned here because of newspaper reports that ad valorem taxes are being suggested again. If the State ad valorem comes now it will be the first for California in a quarter of a century.

The State Department of Education reported that the total school costs for 1932–1933 were approximately $131,000,000

The revenues for the sales tax for the year 1933–1934 approximated $52,500,000. The average family of four people pays $34 68 sales tax; it costs the State $84 71 per year per pupil for each of the average family's two children in elementary school. In high school the year's cost per child is $142.

Thus the public schools will cost California taxpayers about $131,000,000 for the year 1934–1935; whereas, the sales tax on the present base and 2½ per cent rate will yield about $52 500,000 We ask you what large group of taxpayers puts up year in, year out the biggest part of the $61,800,000 still remaining to be collected in 1934–1935 to keep the public schools open, 1,000,000 pupils educated, the 40,000 teachers employed and paid, school bond payments and interest met on time. It is the 800 000 common property owners who pay most of the bill, and besides this the yearly total of $131,000,000 for the schools, millions more are to be raised other than from the sales tax More than $300,000,000 is still needed annually to pay the common ordinary running expenses of State, cities, counties, districts, irrigation, unemployment, old age pensions, State prisons, asylums, institutions, bonds, interest, etc.

The grand total annual tax bill in California for State and local purposes is around $450,000,000 or $75 per capita This tax is overwhelmingly paid by the real property owners. At least 65 per cent or more of it is his burden of taxation He can carry no more. He needs still further tax reduction than the Riley-Stewart Plan gives him.

The California Real Estate Association is traditionally against and will oppose all exemption on any kind of tax system. To exempt foods and clothing under the sales tax will subtract $30,000,000 biennial revenue. We believe the people will respond to your urgent appeal to keep the present sales tax base, at least until such time as other normal revenues resume normal levels.

The Los Angeles Times says:

> "The proposal in the Assembly to exempt food from the sales tax—except meals sold in hotels and restaurants—is based on the theory that it will relieve from the tax burden the principal expenditures of the poor. But the protection of life and property, which is the main function of government, is as essential as food and shelter, and it is equitable that every beneficiary thereof should pay something for it even though only a very little. Also, since the sales tax goes mainly to support schools, which directly benefit the poor more than the wealthy, this is an additional reason why the exemption should not be made. Nobody can or should be wholly exempt from bearing a share in the cost of general tax-paid benefits."

The Pacific Rural Press, leading State farm paper, published at San Francisco on April 20, 1935, commenting against a State ad valorem tax said, in part:

"Farmers * * * can merely refuse to pay their taxes, and they have five years of grace in which to remain on the land and argue with the hungry State officials about a fair and just settlement, including the often-promised and never kept pledge of making a comprehensive, complete and fair revision of our tax structure.

"Mayhap at the end of the five years the farmers will have decided that the burdens of government are so heavy that ownership of land is not worth the candle, and they can relinquish the land to the State, * * * applying for a Federal dole to piece out the savings which they made in five years of not paying their taxes."

William May Garland recently addressed a letter to the members of the Legislature in part as follows:

"Governor Merriam has presented for your consideration a general fund revenue, proposed as a means of balancing the budget, which under the desperate conditions we now face challenges your support. I hope you can conscientiously get behind his program.

"Let me, with my mind only on the future greatness of California and the welfare of those citizens who have established homes, educated their children and gone the limit in supporting the State Government, ask that you grant them aid in this hour of their despair, by denying the enactment of an ad valorem tax on their properties."

For many years the California Real Estate Association has taken an active part in general tax relief and for property tax limitation. In 1931 our plans failed to get out of committee. Two years ago we helped in getting the gross transactions tax through the Senate. The vote there was unanimous. In the Assembly the final roll call was 52-28. The amendment lacked two votes. Possibly a gross transaction or gross income tax is to be considered as a possibility by this Legislature. Yet we can be certain that nearly all the taxes named in the budget are in actual use somewhere. We know that these taxes will yield revenues and not confiscate property. The sales tax at $8.67 per capita has caused no home owner to lose his home. No wage earner has gone hungry because he couldn't pay the sales tax. Increase it to 3 or 3½ per cent and you have solved the problem of the State.

The real estate men, challenged as to their preference on an ad valorem tax or a realty transfer tax, many took the latter alternative; although in effect it is a capital levy. Just why any new tax of any kind, even a small nuisance tax should be imposed on real estate is hard to understand. Real estate has by no means had its full relief. Real estate is still too heavily tax ridden.

Seven States, to protect the real estate against high government exactions year after year, have adopted $1 or $1.50 per $100 valuation over-all tax property tax limitation. Such an amendment (ACA 4)is pending in this Legislature. Ohio voted $1 tax rate limitation by 600,000 majority. Florida voted $5,000 tax exemption for homes by 3 to 1 majority.

The States which now have over-all property tax limitation:

Ohio—By constitutional amendment: Limit is 1 per cent of the assessed value of property.

West Virginia—By constitutional amendment: Graduated limit ranging from 0.5 per cent to 2 per cent on different classes of property.

Indiana—By statutory enactment: Farm property is limited to 1 per cent and city property to 1½ per cent of assessed value.

Michigan—By constitutional amendment: Limit is 1 5 per cent of the assessed value of property.

Oklahoma—By constitutional amendment: Limit is 1.5 per cent of the assessed value of property.

New Mexico—By constitutional amendment: Limit is 2 per cent of the assessed value of property.

Washington—By statutory enactment: Limit is 2 per cent of the true value of the property. (The law reads 40 mills, but assessment is 50 per cent of true value.)

WHAT IS OVER-ALL TAX LIMITATION ON REAL ESTATE?

Over-all tax limitation is the limit placed on the total of all taxes which may be levied in any one year against a piece of real property by all units of government within a State.

Over-all limitation is usually expressed in percentage. A limitation of 1 per cent means this: The total taxes levied in one year against a piece of real estate by State, county, and municipal taxing units can not exceed 1 per cent of the true value of the property.

Limitation of 1 per cent is economically sound. Property can not afford to pay a tax bill of more than 1 per cent of its true value. Suppose your real estate is earning 6 per cent on your investment in it. A tax of even 1 per cent is one-sixth of the earnings of that property—or a 16⅔ per cent tax on the income. Yet most States are taking twice or three times or even ten times that much in taxes.

Limitation of 1 per cent represents all that real property should pay. It represents real estate's fair share of the costs of government The other forms of wealth—stocks, bonds, tax exempt securities, etc—are not now paying their share of government costs. Stock and bond owners benefit from government just as real estate owners benefit; therefore they should help pay the costs of that government

The California Real Estate Association submits this somewhat general statement of policies for your consideration In our belief the California tax puzzle can be solved without resort to a State ad valorem tax. The sales tax should be strengthened, improved, not weakened It is really a sufficiently gross transactions tax for State purposes.

Very truly yours,

CALIFORNIA REAL ESTATE ASSOCIATION.
CHARLES W. BROCK, President.
By GLENN D. WILLAMAN, State Secretary.

State Tax Legislation, 1935 [1]

Raymond E. Manning, Library of Congress.

Alabama H. B. 138 provides for a recess committee to study the tax problem and report to the present session of the Legislature. North Dakota S. B. 66 authorizes an Interim Tax Commission to make a complete study of the State's tax system and report not later than November 1, 1936.

SALES TAXES.

Complete general sales or gross income tax laws were adopted during March by Arizona H. B. 118, Arkansas S. B. 85, Idaho H B. 76, Maryland Ch 188, New Mexico Ch. 73, North Dakota S. B. 332, South Dakota S. B. 36, Washington H. B. 237, and West Virginia S. B. 211, S. B. 283. The Arizona, New Mexico, South Dakota, Washington, and West Virginia laws are revisions, while those of Arkansas, Idaho, Maryland, and North Dakota are new legislation

The rate on retail sales is 1 per cent in Maryland and 2 per cent in all the other States. Except for Maryland, all the States tax tickets to amusements, sales of electricity, gas, water, telephone, and telegraph service. Arizona, New Mexico, Washington, and West Virginia apply varied rates to several of the sales and services and also tax wholesalers, manufacturers, etc. The West Virginia law reduces the special surtaxes levied in 1933 from 50 per cent to 30 per cent and reduces the gross income tax rate on retail sales (as distinguished from the consumers' sales tax rate, which remains at 2 per cent) from ¾ of 1 per cent to ½ of 1 per cent.

Exemptions in Arkansas include staple foods and drugs, and in Washington include newspapers, milk, and bread Gasoline will be exempt at least in Idaho, North Dakota, and South Dakota, cigarettes in North Dakota and South Dakota, and sales by producers of farm products and live stock in Idaho. The tax will not apply on sales of automobiles in West Virginia, but it will apply at the time of first registration. The apparent purpose of this West Virginia provision is to prevent avoidance by making purchases outside the State. Washington tries to solve the problem by levying a 2 per cent excise on purchases of $20 or more made in other States. One report says that the city of Texarkana will be exempt from the Arkansas tax.

Generally, the laws require merchants to pass on the retail sales tax to purchasers, but shifting will be optional in Maryland.

GASOLINE TAXES

Nebraska S. B 363 increases the gasoline tax from 4 cents to 5 cents until June 30, 1936. Alabama H B. 88 consolidates two separate 1-cent gasoline taxes into a single 2-cent tax. Montana Ch 116 applies the tax to fuel used in Diesel engines on highways. Oklahoma H B 38 reduces the shrinkage allowance from 3 per cent to 2 per cent. A veto is expected for Arkansas S B. 260, which permits wholesale dealers to take an evaporation and handling loss credit of 3 per cent.

Refunds and exemptions are the principal subjects of gasoline tax legislation so far in 1935 By New Mexico Ch. 101 and South Dakota H. B. 90 refund claims may not be assigned. Oregon has tightened its refund laws and requires an annual permit as a preliminary to claiming any refund. Oklahoma H. B 38 prescribes refunds rather than exemption for fuel used in farm machinery. North Dakota S. B. 164 relates to an exemption for farm machinery fuel A Maryland bill orders exemption for fuel used in motor boats, and South Dakota S. B. 86 frees gasoline used in buses operating under franchise exclusively within city limits Another South Dakota act, H. B 186, eliminates refunds for fuels used on highway construction or maintenance paid for by public funds Airplane fuel will not be taxed under West Virginia S. B 119. Promotion of domestic industry apparently motivated Utah in exempting fuel made from Utah coal, oil shales, and hydrocarbons.

Arkansas's Governor has signed S B 265 to clarify provisions relating to collection of taxes in cities and towns bordering on State lines, where the rate is adjusted to that in the border State. Montana Ch 147 provides for revoking licenses of dealers who charge exorbitant or unreasonable prices or who discriminate in their prices

LIQUOR TAXES.

Numerous liquor laws have been adopted, details of which are lacking in most instances A few notes are given: Arkansas—liquor 40 cents a gallon, wine 10 cents, beer 3 cents; Indiana—hard liquor $1 (formerly $2), wine 25 cents, beer $1 a barrel (formerly $1.55); Georgia—10 per cent on gross receipts of retail sales of liquor; Idaho—enacts a beer law; Louisiana—forbids imposition of gallonage taxes by municipalities; North Dakota—wines 10 cents to 60 cents, liquors 60 cents, increases tax on beer from 4 cents to 8 cents, Oregon—beer $1.30 per barrel (formerly 62 cents), wine 15 per cent, South Dakota—liquors 10 cents to 50 cents; Washington—liquors 10 per cent; Wyoming—liquor taxes.

MISCELLANEOUS SALES TAXES.

Arizona has rewritten its luxury tax on cosmetics, liquors, and tobaccos, and applies the tax to equipment for golf, fishing, and polo. Included in Washington's Omnibus Tax Bill, H. B. 237, were several luxury taxes, including 1 cent per 20 on cigarettes selling for less than 20 cents and 10 per cent for all others. A 10 per cent tax on cosmetics and toilet preparations was vetoed.

Arkansas, in addition to authorizing horse racing (noted in last month's Bulletin), will permit dog racing and collect 5 per cent on pari-mutuels. West Virginia reduces its pari-mutuel horse race tax from 3 per cent to 1 per cent. Racing has been legalized in Nebraska. A bill has been vetoed in Connecticut concerning pari-mutuels Boxing will be authorized by North Dakota H. B. 413.

Oleomargarine will be taxed 10 cents per pound under Maine Ch. 54 This is the same rate as under the Arkansas law noted in March. New Mexico Ch. 110 taxes oleomargarine made outside the United States. A 10-cent per pound tax on butter substitutes was vetoed in Nevada. Maine Ch. 13 creates a Milk Control Board and levies a tax of 1 cent per 100 pounds of milk produced.

South Dakota S B 2 taxes grain handled by elevators and stored on farms at the rate of $\frac{1}{4}$ mill on wheat and $\frac{1}{8}$ mill on all other grains

TAXES ON NATURAL RESOURCES.

Oklahoma has increased its gross production tax on oil from 3 per cent to 5 per cent. Idaho H. B. 22 will exact 3 per cent on the net proceeds of mines, and South Dakota H B. 4 will collect 4 per cent on gross receipts derived from extracting minerals in excess of 50,000 tons The South Dakota tax will be in lieu of income, sales, franchise taxes, etc. Louisiana Ch. 5 and H. C. R. 1 make possible a reduction in the oil refiners' tax from 5 cents to 1 cent per barrel by proclamation of the Governor.

INHERITANCE TAX.

Rate increases will be effective under Maryland Ch. 90, Utah S. B 127 (which also provides for taking up Federal credit), and Washington H. B. 237. The Maryland act increases the tax on collaterals from 5 per cent to $7\frac{1}{2}$ per cent and imposes 1 per cent on certain direct inheritances. Until July 1, 1937, Wisconsin A. B 48 adds 25 per cent to taxes in excess of $100.

Oregon Ch. 13 describes the deductions that may be made, and limits funeral expenses to $500, and support of widow and minors during administration to $3,500. Provision is also made for allowing claims, taxes, administration, etc Formerly, there was no legislation on this subject in Oregon.

Details are lacking on other inheritance tax laws, viz: Colorado H. B 81, Oregon Ch. 45, Ch. 103, S. B. 288, Wyoming Ch. 91.

INCOME TAX.

New taxes on personal incomes were adopted by South Dakota S. B. 36, Washington H. B. 513, and West Virginia H B. 441. A bill passed in Colorado has been vetoed. North Dakota S B 294 revises the rate structure, and Wisconsin A. B. 48 imposes a surtax on 1934 income

The rates under the three new laws are: South Dakota 1 per cent to 8 per cent—maximum on all over $318,000; Washington 3 per cent plus a surtax of 4 per cent on incomes over $4,000; West Virginia 1 per cent to 3 per cent—maximum on all over $6,000. The Wisconsin surtax rates on 1934 incomes range from 1 per cent to 7 per cent, the maximum applying on all over $12,000. The North Dakota act, which revises the rate structure, retains the minimum and maximum rates (1 per cent and 15 per cent) but applies the rates without benefit of personal exemption, which are taken off afterwards in the form of credits against the tax; this makes a very substantial increase in the tax payable Utah S B. 88 is believed to have made a rate increase

Exemptions under the foregoing laws are $1,000, $2,500, and $400 in Washington, and $600, $1,300, and $200 in West Virginia. The others allow a credit against the tax as follows. North Dakota, $5, $15, $2; South Dakota $6, $12, $2; Wisconsin $16 25, $33.75, $__. An Arizona bill reverses the present tendency towards lower exemptions by increasing the credits against the tax from $8 to $10 and from $17 50 to $20 Utah S B 88 does however continue the trend by adopting exemptions of $600 instead of $1,000 and $1,200 instead of $2,000

The outstanding features of these and other laws, so far as information has been available, are presented below. The South Dakota act omits reference to capital gains and losses, and it is believed that the Wisconsin surtax adopts a percentage of capital gains and losses provision similar to that in the 1934 Federal Revenue Act. A new Montana law, Ch 148, adds sections relating to procedure for determining gain or loss, tax-free exchanges, reorganizations, etc. The North Dakota act prohibits the carrying forward of net losses from prior years and denies the right to deduct losses on operation in one field of endeavor from gains in another. Utah eliminated the property tax offset and the $1 filing fee. By Montana S. B 89, the $1 filing fee will be paid only by those who pay a tax.

The Wisconsin act that levied a surtax on 1934 incomes also imposed an income tax on 1933 untaxed dividends over $750 at rates ranging from 1 per cent to 7 per cent, the maximum applying on all over $5,000.

Washington will submit to referendum a constitutional amendment authorizing a graduated income tax. A similar measure was defeated in 1934.

TAXES ON CORPORATIONS AND INSURANCE COMPANIES.

South Dakota S. B. 36 levies an income on corporations ranging from 1 per cent to 8 per cent, the maximum being imposed on all over $318.000 These rates are the same as those for individuals. Apportionment of income for corporations doing business outside South Dakota may be by separate accounting or the arithmetical average of property, cost of manufacturing, and sales fractions. Details are lacking on Washington H. B. 237, which levies a 4 per cent tax on corporations, including banks. It is reported that Utah S B. 1 increases the corporate income tax rate from 3 per cent to 4 per cent and amends the offset provisions. By an Idaho bill, corporation stock taxes will be levied on the par value of the stock

Utah H. B. 62 raises the premium tax on insurance companies from 1½ per cent to 2½ per cent. By South Dakota S. B. 94, domestic stock life insurance companies will be taxed at the rate of 1 per cent on their gross premium receipts.

BANK TAXES.

Amendments to the 1933 bank tax laws of Indiana were adopted by Chs 200, 263, and 298. Louisiana Ch 21 exempts banks from the income tax New York Ch. 120 permits banks to deduct dividends paid on preferred stock of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation National banks are subject to the new Washington 4 per cent corporation net income tax levied under H. B. 237

TAXES ON UTILITIES.

Louisiana Ch 2 slightly more than doubles the inspection and supervision fee charged by the Public Service Commission on Utilities operating in the State. Ch. 11 provides penalties for violating the 1934 acts that imposed a 2 per cent gross receipts tax on utilities, and Ch 21 taxes the income of railroads incorporated in more than one State in the same manner as foreign corporations. Montana Ch. 26 bases the new freight line company tax on property values, and H. B 303 imposes a 2 per cent tax on the gross revenue of telegraph companies. Montana H. B. 109 repeals an old electrical energy tax. Ohio S. B. 23 continues for two years the exemption of nondividend paying interurban railways from all taxation except real estate taxes, provided no employee receives more than $5,000 a year. By Wisconsin A. B 48. telephone, gas, water, and electric companies will pay 3 per cent on their 1934 gross receipts; lower rates are imposed in some instances where the gross receipts are less than $20,000 North Dakota is said to have initiated an equitable adjustment of utility taxes through a proposed constitutional change.

Several acts relate to motor carriers. By North Dakota S. B. 91, interstate carriers must carry with them, posted in a conspicuous place, a receipt for payment of the road tax. Other North Dakota bills, S. B. 89 and S. B. 155, exempt certain vehicles from taxes. Montana H. B. 390 levies a ½ of 1 per cent gross operating revenue tax on motor trucks and buses, and Utah replaces the ton-mile tax with a maximum load tax. Washington lowers the rates on trucking, and Wyoming H. B. 193 rewrites the law on carriers but makes no rate changes. Arkansas H. B. 206 fixes the license fees for motor buses operating in lieu of street cars in border cities.

TAXES ON CHAIN STORES

South Dakota S. B. 154 levies a chain store tax with rates ranging from $1 for 1 store to $10 for each store in excess of 10. In addition a tax is imposed upon their gross sales at retail ranging from ⅛ of 1 per cent on the first $50,000 to 1 per cent on sales in excess of $1,500,000. A ½ of 1 per cent rate is imposed on gross sales at wholesale. These taxes are in lieu of the net income tax.

Washington's Governor vetoed that portion of H. B. 237 that imposed a chain store tax ranging from $50 for 2 stores to $250 for each store over 50

PROPERTY TAXES.

Classification amendments to the Constitutions of Georgia and Washington will be submitted to referendum

Arkansas S. B. 300 requires county assessors to list alphabetically all property owners according to political townships and wards. Another Arkansas act, S. B. 302, requires county assessors to assess new businesses started after the regular time for assessment. Arizona provides for apportionment among counties of assessments against transient live stock, and Oregon H. B. 227 provides for assessing live stock in their home county and apportioning taxes among the grazing counties.

By New Mexico Ch. 46, the Tax Commission may go back 5 years and assess omitted property. By Ch. 129, it shall survey taxable property for 1930 and prior years and petition the district courts to reassess property on which valuations should be changed. No interest or penalties (other than a 5 per cent charge for the Tax Commission fund) will be exacted. A Georgia bill authorizes the city of Macon to go back 7 years and reassess property never before returned or on which the returns or assessments are invalid An Indiana act permits the Board of Tax Commissioners to raise the assessed valuation of smaller taxing units without making a horizontal increase for the entire county.

The Utah Legislature passed a bill for assessing utilities at their own book value. Washington H. B. 290 empowers the State Tax Commission to assess the operating properties of public service commissions.

TAX LIMIT MEASURES.

One tax limit proposal has passed the Legislatures. The people of Georgia will be afforded an opportunity to vote on a constitutional amendment eliminating State property levies and limiting all levies of local units on tangibles to 15 mills (5 for counties, 5 for municipalities, and 5 for school districts). Intangible property taxes will be limited to 5 mills Procedure for exceeding Ohio's 10-mill limit is prescribed by S B. 10 and S. B. 46. Idaho has reduced the annual ad valorem tax to be levied for State purposes from $1,250,000 to $1,000,000.

INTANGIBLE PROPERTY TAXES

Classification constitutional amendments will be submitted to referendum in Georgia and Washington. South Dakota S. B. 161 and S. B. 162 are said to be companion bills clarifying the law for determining what corporation stock is taxable under the moneys and credits tax. Another South Dakota bill, S. B. 196, provides for an investigation of moneys and credits tax evasion Indiana's Intangible Stamp Tax Law has been amended generally by Ch. 294 By Nebraska H. R. 322, separate returns no longer will be required for intangibles; they will be included in the tangibles return The provision for making public the total of each individual's return is repealed. A North Dakota report states that action has been initiated looking to the withdrawal of tax-exempt securities.

PROPERTY TAX EXEMPTIONS

New Mexico Ch. 61 exempts agricultural produce while held by the grower, and Utah H. B. 122 exempts poultry, dairy, and live stock feed from taxation. South Carolina Chs. 33 and 44 exempt in two counties the property of taxpayers 50 per cent of whose crops was damaged by hail in 1934. Tennessee S. B. 4 provides for taxing religious and charitable institutions whose property is in competition with private business. North Dakota H. B. 347 exempts Federal grants for relief to the North Dakota Rural Rehabilitation Corporation. A 10-year exemption to the Yankton Bridge is allowed by South Dakota H. B. 71.

COLLECTION AND DELINQUENCY

Much legislation other than that noted below has been enacted on these subjects. That which is noted for the most part is based on inadequate information. It should be read with that in mind.

Dates for paying current 1934-1935 taxes without penalty are extended by New Mexico Ch. 133 and Tennessee H. B. 461. Interest and penalties on past due taxes are waived or reduced by Idaho H. B. 2, Montana Ch. 88, New Mexico Ch. 133, North Dakota H. B. 48 (personal property—also waives part of principal for 1931 and prior years), H. B. 265, Oregon Ch. __, and Washington H. B. 39. The right to pay delinquent taxes in installments over a period of years is granted or extended by Arizona Ch. 30, Idaho H. B. 2, Indiana S. B. 142, New Mexico Ch. 133, Oregon Ch. __, and Washington H. B. 39.

Through the failure of the West Virginia Legislature to act, it is said that the moratorium on sales for taxes is continued. Arkansas S. B. 18 regulates sales for nonpayment of taxes and provides that minor technicalities shall not invalidate tax titles. The Governor in his biennial message stated that he had never heard of anyone's getting a good tax title in Arkansas. Oregon extends the period of compulsory foreclosure from 3 years to 5 years. Wyoming S. B. 21 and Ch. 127 relate to redemption and tax titles. Arkansas Ch. 18, North Carolina S. B. 238, North Dakota H. B. 76, S. B. 262, Utah S. B 229, Washington H. B. 39, and West Virginia H. B. 5 extend the period of redemption on property already sold.

A few further notes may be added. Oregon Ch. __ permits partial payment in any sum of $2 50 or more, and H. B. 11 allows delinquent taxpayers to work out their indebtedness. South Dakota S. B. 165 permits the giving of notes to cover interest and penalties on delinquent taxes. An Arkansas act permitting counties to accept school district warrants in payment of school taxes has been held unconstitutional by the Attorney General. By North Carolina S. B. 11 and S. B. 121, the collector for Transylvania County may accept bonds, etc. in payment of certain taxes. Utah S. B. 72 reduces the discount for payment of taxes in advance of delinquency.

SEC. 3. SEC. 4. This act and all of its provisions shall be liberally construed to the end that the purposes hereof may be made effective. If any section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase of this act is for any reason held to be unconstitutional, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portion of this act. The legislature hereby declares that it would have passed this act irrespective of the fact that any one or more sections, subsections, sentences, clauses or phrases thereof be declared unconstitutional.

SEC. 5. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety within the meaning of section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution, and shall therefore go into immediate effect.

The facts constituting the necessity are as follows:

During the fifteen years last past hundreds of districts have been organized throughout the State of California under the provisions of the Road District Improvement Act of 1907 and the Acquisition and Improvement Act of 1925. Many of these districts were created during times of great economic prosperity and high land values. In many of such districts, due to the optimism of the times, or other causes, bonds for public improvements were issued in amounts in excess of the ability of the lands of such districts to bear the assessments necessary to pay the principal and interest on such bonds. Millions of dollars in assessed land valuation are located within districts created under these acts. Due to the present economic depression land values throughout the State have shrunk to the point where, in many cases, the total assessed valuation of all lands within a given district is less than the face value of the bonds outstanding in such district. Annual assessments upon individual parcels of land within these districts amount in many instances to more than the assessed value of such land.

Under present economic conditions property owners are unable to meet these high assessments and hundreds of such districts throughout the State have reached a point of hopeless delinquency.

Inasmuch as the property owners of these districts can not, under the law, pay their county or municipal taxes without at the same time paying the district assessments many cities and counties are unable to collect large sums of money badly needed for the purposes of government.

Many hundreds of properties in these districts are being deeded to the State for delinquent taxes and assessments and unless the financial aid of the counties is immediately made available to assist these overburdened districts thousands of parcels of lands will be stricken from the tax rolls this year; thousands of property owners will lose their homes, millions of dollars in governmental revenue will be uncollectible and at the same time thousands of bondholders will be unable to realize any return upon their investments."

(2) To sue and be sued in all actions and proceedings and in all courts and tribunals of competent jurisdiction

(3) To adopt a corporate seal and alter it at pleasure.

(4) To take by grant, purchase, bequest, devise or lease, and to hold, enjoy, lease, sell or otherwise dispose of, any and all real and personal property of any kind within or without the district and within and without the State necessary or convenient to the full exercise of its powers; also to acquire, construct or operate, control and use any and all works, facilities and means necessary or convenient to the exercise of its powers, both within and without and within or without the district and within and without the State, and to do and perform any and all things necessary or convenient to the full exercise of the powers herein granted.

If the land, rights of way or easement for which application shall be made is for the construction of any aqueduct, ditch, pipe line, conduit, tunnel or other works for the conveyance of water, or for roads, or for poles, or towers and wires for the conveyance of electrical energy or for telephonic or telegraphic communication, no compensation shall be charged the district therefor, unless, in the opinion of the chief of such Division of State Lands the construction of such works will render the remainder of the legal subdivision through which such works are to be constructed valueless or unsalable, in which event the district shall pay for the lands to be taken and for such portion of any legal subdivision which, in the opinion of said Chief of the Division of State Lands, are rendered valueless or unsalable, at the rate of one dollar and twenty-five cents per acre. If the lands for which application is made are for purposes other than the construction of roads or for works for the conveyance of water, or electricity or telephonic or telegraphic communication, such district shall pay to the State for such lands at the rate of one dollar and twenty-five cents per acre. In the event that the duties or titles of any of the officers herein mentioned shall be changed by lawful authority, the functions herein required to be performed shall be performed by the appropriate officer or officers of the State of California. No fee shall be exacted from such district for any patent, permit or grant so issued or for any service rendered hereunder. In the use of streets the district shall be subject to the reasonable rules and regulations of the county or city wherein such streets lie, concerning excavations and the refilling of excavations, the relaying of pavements and the protection of the public during periods of construction; provided, that the district shall not be required to pay any license or permit fees, or file any bonds. The district may be required to pay reasonable inspection fees.

(7) To borrow money and incur indebtedness and to issue bonds or other evidence of such indebtedness; provided, however, that no district incorporated hereunder shall incur indebtedness which, in the aggregate, shall exceed fifteen (15) per cent of the assessed valuation of all the taxable property included within the district, as shown by the assessment records of the county or counties, excepting property subject to taxation for State purposes under the provision of section 14 of Article XIII of the Constitution of the State of California.

(8) To levy and collect taxes for the purposes of carrying on the operations and paying the obligations of the district; provided, however, that such tax levied under this section exclusive of any tax levied to meet the bonded indebtedness of such district and the interest thereon and exclusive of any tax levied as a means of enforcing the collection of charges for water or of other charges herein authorized, shall not exceed five cents on each such one hundred dollars of assessed valuation; to enter into contracts, employ and retain personal services and employ laborers; to create, establish and maintain such offices and positions as shall be necessary and convenient for the transaction of the business of the district, and to elect, appoint and employ such officers, attorneys, agents and employees therefor as shall be found by the board of directors to be necessary and convenient.

Such contracts may provide for contributions to be made by each party thereto and for the division and apportionment of the expenses of such acquisitions and operations, and the division and apportionment of the benefits, the services and products therefrom, and may provide for an agency to effect such acquisitions and carry on such operations, and shall provide in the powers and methods of procedure for such agency the method by which such agency may contract. Such contract may contain such other and further covenants and agreements as may be necessary and convenient to accomplish the purposes hereof. The term "public corporation" as used in this subdivision shall be deemed to mean and include the United States or any other public agency thereof or this or any other State or any political district or subdivision thereof.

(10) To acquire water and water rights within or without the State; to develop, store and transport water; to provide, sell and deliver water at wholesale for municipal and domestic uses and purposes; to provide, sell and deliver surplus water of the district not needed or required by member cities for domestic or municipal uses therein, for beneficial purposes, but giving preference to uses within the district; provided, that the supplying of such surplus water shall, in every case, be subject to the paramount right of the district to discontinue the same, in whole or in part, and to take and hold, or to provide, sell and deliver, such water for domestic or municipal uses within the district, upon one year's written notice to the purchaser or user of such surplus water, such notice to be given by the board of directors of the district whenever it shall be determined and declared by resolution adopted by said board of directors by a two-thirds vote thereof that such water is needed or required by member cities of the district for domestic or municipal uses therein; to fix the rates therefor, and to acquire, construct, operate and maintain any and all works, facilities, improvements and property necessary or convenient therefor.

(11) To invest any surplus money in the district treasury, including such money in any sinking fund established for the purpose of providing for the payment of the principal or interest of any bonded or other indebtedness or for any other purpose, not required for the immediate necessities of the district, in its own bonds, or in treasury notes, or bonds, of the United States, or of this State, and such investment may be made by direct purchase of any issue of such bonds or treasury notes, or part thereof, at the original sale of the same, or by the subsequent purchase of such bonds or treasury notes. Any bonds or treasury notes thus purchased and held may, from time to time, be sold and the proceeds reinvested in bonds or treasury notes, as above provided. Sales of any bonds or treasury notes thus purchased and held shall, from time to time, be made in season so that the proceeds may be applied to the purposes for which the money, with which the bonds or treasury notes were originally purchased, was placed in the treasury of the district. The functions and duties authorized by this paragraph shall be performed by joint action of the Controller and Treasurer, with the approval of the attorney, under such rules and regulations as shall be prescribed by the board of directors of the district.

(12) To refund bonded indebtedness incurred by the district under and pursuant to the provisions of section 7 of this act, such refunding to be made in the following manner:

(a) The board of directors by a two-thirds vote may refund such bonded indebtedness, or any portion thereof, and issue refunding bonds of the district therefor maturing not later than fifty (50) years from the date of the first issue of the refunded bonds, if said refunded bonds shall have been issued in one block, or from the date of the respective installment of such refunded bonds, if the same shall have been issued in installments, and bearing interest at a rate not exceeding the interest rate on the refunded bonds. The provisions of subsections (e), (f), (j), (k) and (l) of section 7 of this act, subject to the limitations and modifications imposed by this paragraph, shall apply to such refunding bonds. The provision in said subsection (e) for deferring the date of the earliest maturity of the principal of the bonds shall be construed to authorize the board of directors, in its discretion, to determine and fix the date for the earliest maturity of the principal of said refunding bonds, which date shall be not later than fifteen (15) years from the date of the first issue of the refunded bonds, or from the date of the respective installment of the refunded bonds, as the case may be.

(b) Said refunding bonds may be sold by the board of directors as it shall determine, in the manner provided in subsection (g) of section 7 of this act for the sale of the bonds to be refunded, and the proceeds of the sale of such refunding bonds, excepting premium and accrued interest, shall be placed in the treasury of the district to the credit of the "refunding fund" and shall be applied only to the purchase, at not more than par and accrued interest, of the bonded indebtedness for which said refunding bonds shall have been issued. Premium and accrued interest shall be placed in the fund to be applied to the payment of interest on, and the retirement of, the refunding bonds so sold. In lieu of selling such refunding bonds and purchasing with the proceeds thereof the bonds to be refunded, the board of directors of the district may exchange refunding bonds at not less than par and accrued interest for the bonds so refunded.

(c) Whenever such outstanding bonds shall be refunded, they shall be surrendered to the treasurer of the district, who shall proceed to cancel the same by indorsing on the face thereof the manner in which the refunding shall have been effected (whether by exchange or purchase, and the amount for which so purchased, if any) and by perforating through each bond and each coupon attached thereto, the word "canceled" together with the date of cancellation. He shall keep a record of such bonds so refunded and shall make a report to the board of directors at least once a month.

(d) All moneys which shall remain in said "refunding fund" after all outstanding bonds which were proposed to be refunded therefrom have been taken up and canceled, shall be paid into the sinking fund of such district and become a part thereof."

On all ordinances the roll shall be called and the ayes and noes recorded. Resolutions and orders may be adopted by viva voce, but on demand of any member the roll shall be called. No ordinance shall be adopted unless it shall have been introduced on a day previous to the time of such adoption except by unanimous vote of all the members of the board of directors present, provided there shall be present directors from not less than three-fourths of all cities composing said metropolitan water district and representing not less than three-fourths of the total votes of said district; provided, that in lieu of such previous introduction or unanimous vote any ordinance may be mailed by registered mail, postage prepaid to each member of the board of directors at least five (5) days prior to the day upon which such ordinance shall be presented for adoption. No ordinance adopted by the board of directors shall take effect until the expiration of thirty (30) days following the adoption thereof, except an ordinance ordering or otherwise relating to an election or to the issuance of sale of bonds or to the levying or collection of taxes or the fixing of water rates; and an ordinance necessary for the immediate preservation or protection of the property, interests or welfare of the district, which shall contain a specific statement showing its urgency, and is passed by three-fourths of the total vote of the board of directors but all ordinances of any of the classes heretofore excepted by this section shall take effect upon their adoption. All ordinances except those which shall take effect upon their adoption as provided in this section shall be subject to referendum in the manner provided by law for the legislative acts of boards of supervisors of counties.

(3) To fix the location of the principal place of business of the district and the location of all offices and departments maintained hereunder.

(4) To prescribe by ordinance a system of business administration and to create any and all necessary offices which shall include the offices of controller and of treasurer and to establish and reestablish the powers and duties and compensation of all officers and employees and to require and fix the amount of all official bonds necessary for the protection of the funds and property of the district.

(5) To prescribe by ordinance a system of civil service.

(6) To delegate and redelegate by ordinance to officers of the district power to employ clerical, legal and engineering assistants and labor, and under such conditions and restrictions as shall be fixed by the directors' power to bind the district by contract.

(7) To prescribe a method of auditing and allowing or rejecting claims and demands; also to prescribe methods for the construction of works and for the letting of contracts for the construction of works, structures or equipment, or the performance or furnishing of labor, materials or supplies, required for the carrying out of any of the purposes of this act; provided that, in cases where work is not to be done by the district itself by force account, and the amount involved shall be ten thousand dollars, or more, the board of directors shall provide for the letting of contracts to the lowest responsible bidder, after publication of notices inviting bids, subject to the right of said board to reject any and all proposals. Provided, likewise, that the board of directors in advertising for bids and in letting contracts as above provided, may require all articles to be furnished to the district thereunder to be manufactured, produced or fabricated in the United States or its Territories, and may prohibit the use in, or employment in connection with, the carrying out of such contracts by the contractor or any subcontractor, of all machinery or materials except such as shall have been manufactured, produced or fabricated in the United States or its Territories, if such are available, the question of such availability to be determined by the board of directors. Provided, further, that contracts, in writing or otherwise, may be let without advertising for or inviting bids, when any repairs, alterations, or other work, or the purchase of materials, supplies, equipment or other property, shall be deemed by the board of directors to be of urgent necessity, and shall be authorized by a two-thirds vote thereof."

Amendment No. 6.

On page 1, lines 24 and 25, of the printed bill, strike out the following: ", and provided further, that the rates shall not exceed five (5) cents per one hundred cubic feet.", and insert in lieu thereof a period and also add thereto the following: 'To fix and collect annually a minimum charge for water against each city the area of which shall lie within the district, and to fix the time and method of payment thereof and to enforce the collection thereof by all appropriate means, including the levy of taxes, and to do any and all things convenient or necessary to render fully effective the power to assess and collect such charges as herein conferred; provided, however, that the said annual minimum charge imposed shall be prorated and the obligation of each city within the district therefor shall bear the same ratio to the whole amount of such minimum charge imposed, as the averaged assessed valuation of all taxable property within such city shall bear to the averaged assessed valuation of all taxable property within the district. Said averaged assessed valuation shall be the annual mean of such assessed valuations for the preceding ten (10) years.

All sums received for any fiscal year from each city on account of minimum charges for water shall entitle each such city during such year to credit for water from the district up to the amount of such payment at the prescribed rates, but no credit for water shall be carried over beyond the end of the fiscal year for which such minimum charge was imposed."

Amendment No. 7.

On page 1, line 26, of the printed bill, strike out the numeral "4" after "Sec.", and insert in lieu thereof the numeral "3".

Amendment No. 8.

On page 2 of the printed bill, strike out line 1, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"SEC. 7. (a) Whenever the board of directors of any metropolitan water district incorporated under this act shall, by ordinance adopted by a vote of a majority of the aggregate number of votes of all the members of the board of directors, determine that the interests of said district and the public interest or necessity demand the acquisition, construction or completion of any public improvement or works, or the incurring of any preliminary expenses, necessary or convenient to carry out the objects or purposes of said district the cost of which will be too great to be paid out of the ordinary annual income and revenue of the district, said board of directors may order the submission of the proposition of incurring bonded indebtedness, for the purposes set forth in the said ordinance, to the qualified voters of such district, at an election held for that purpose. Any election held for the purpose of submitting any proposition or propositions of incurring such bonded indebtedness may be held separately, or may be consolidated or held concurrently with any other election authorized by law at which the qualified electors of the district are entitled to vote. The declaration of public interest or necessity herein required and the provision for the holding of such election may be included within one and the same ordinance, which ordinance, in addition to such declaration of public interest or necessity, shall recite the objects and purposes for which the indebtedness is proposed to be incurred, the estimated cost of the public works or improvements, or the estimated amount of preliminary expenses, as the case may be, the amount of the principal of the indebtedness to be incurred therefor and the maximum rate of interest to be paid on such indebtedness, which rate shall not exceed six (6) per cent per annum payable semiannually. Such ordinance shall also fix the date upon which such election shall be held and the manner of holding the same and the method of voting for or against incurring the proposed indebtedness. Such ordinance shall also fix the compensation to be paid the officers of the election and shall designate the precincts and polling places and shall appoint the officers of such election, which officers shall consist of one inspector, one judge and two clerks in each precinct. The description of precincts may be made by reference to any order or orders of the board of supervisors of the county or counties in which the district or any part thereof is situated, or by reference to any previous order or ordinance of the legislative body of the municipality, or by detailed description of such precincts. Precincts established by the boards of supervisors of the various counties, to a number not exceeding six (6), may be consolidated for special elections held hereunder. In the event any bond election shall be called to be held concurrently with any other election or shall be consolidated therewith, the ordinance calling the election hereunder need not designate precincts or polling places or the names of officers of election, but shall contain reference to the act or order calling such other election and fixing the precincts and polling places and appointing election officers therefor.

(b) The ordinance provided for in subdivision (a) of this section shall be published once, at least ten (10) days before the date of the election therein called, in a newspaper of general circulation printed and published within the district, and no other or further notice of such election or publication of the names of election officers or of the precincts or polling places need be given or made.

(c) The respective election boards shall conduct the election in their respective precincts in the manner prescribed by law for the holding of general elections, and shall make their returns to the secretary of the district. At any regular or special meeting of the board of directors held not earlier than five (5) days following the date of such election, the returns thereof shall be canvassed and the results thereof declared. In the event that any election held hereunder shall be consolidated with any primary or general election and the proposition to incur indebtedness shall be printed upon a ballot containing other propositions, the returns of the election held hereunder shall be made with the returns of the primary or general election to the board of supervisors or other bodies whose duty it shall be to canvass the returns thereof, and the results of the election held hereunder shall be canvassed at the time and in the manner provided by law for the canvass of the returns of such primary or general election. It shall be the duty of such canvassing body or bodies to promptly certify and transmit to the board of directors of the district a statement of the result of the vote upon the proposition submitted hereunder. Upon receipt of such certificates, it shall be the duty of the board of directors to tabulate and declare the results of the election held hereunder.

(d) In the event that it shall appear from said returns that a majority of the electors voting on any propositions submitted hereunder at such election voted in favor of such proposition, the district shall thereupon be authorized to issue and sell bonds of the district in the amount and for the purpose or purposes and object or objects provided for such proposition in such ordinance, and at a rate of interest, not exceeding the rate recited in said ordinance.

(e) All bonds of such district, issued under the provisions of this act, shall be payable substantially in the following manner: A part to be determined by the board of directors which shall not be less than one-fiftieth (1/50) part of the whole amount of such indebtedness, shall be payable each and every year on a day and date, and at a place or places to be fixed by said board of directors, together with the interest on all sums unpaid at such date; provided, that in case such bonds are issued in installments at different times, each installment shall be payable substantially in the following manner: A part to be determined by the board of directors which shall not be less than one-fiftieth (1/50) part of the whole amount of such installment, shall be payable each and every year on a day and date, and at a place or places to be fixed by said board of directors, together with the interest on all sums unpaid at such date; provided, however, that said board may, in its discretion, determine and fix the date for the earliest maturity of the principal of the whole amount of such bonded indebtedness, or of each installment of such bonds, as the case may be, not more than fifteen years from the date of the first issue of such bonds, or of the respective installment of such bonds, as the case may be; in this event, the whole amount of such bonded indebtedness, or of the respective installment of such bonds, as the case may be, must be made payable in substantially equal annual parts in not to exceed fifty (50) years from the date of the first issue of such bonds, when the bonds are issued in one block, or from the date of the respective installment of such bonds, when the bonds are issued in installments. The bonds shall be issued in such denominations as the board of directors may determine, except that no bonds shall be of less denomination than one hundred (100) dollars, nor of a greater denomination than fifty thousand (50,000) dollars, and shall be payable on the day and at the place or places fixed in such bonds and with interest at the rate specified therein, which rate shall not be in excess of six per cent (6%) per annum, and shall be payable semiannually. Such bonds shall be signed by the chairman of said board of directors, or by such other officer as said board of directors shall, by resolution adopted by a majority vote of its members, authorize and designate for that purpose, and such bonds shall also be signed by the Controller, or Assistant Controller, and countersigned by the secretary of said board of directors. The coupons of said bonds shall be numbered consecutively, and signed by said Controller, or Assistant Controller. All such signatures and countersignatures excepting that of the Controller, or Assistant Controller, on said bonds, may be printed, lithographed or engraved.

(f) In case any of such officers, whose signatures or countersignatures appear on the bonds or coupons, shall cease to be such officer before the delivery of such bonds to the purchaser, such signatures or countersignatures shall nevertheless be valid and sufficient for all purposes, the same as if they had remained in office until the delivery of such bonds

(g) Such bonds shall not be sold at a price less than the par value thereof, together with accrued interest to the date of delivery, nor until notice calling for bids therefor shall have been published in a newspaper of general circulation published and circulated in the county wherein the principal place of business of said district shall be located Said notice, calling for bids, shall state the time for the receipt of such bids, which shall not be less than ten (10) days after the first publication thereof. Such notice may offer the bonds at a fixed interest rate or with the interest rate undetermined, in which event the bids shall contain a statement of the lowest rate of interest at which the bidder will take the bonds and pay par value or more therefor, together with accrued interest. Bids for such bonds shall be opened publicly and the results thereof publicly announced. Such bonds shall be sold to the highest bidder. Temporary, or interim, bonds or certificates, of any denomination whatsoever, to be signed by the Controller, may be issued until the definite bonds are executed and available for delivery.

(h) Such bonds may be issued and sold by said board of directors as they shall determine, and the proceeds thereof, excepting premium and accrued interest, shall be placed in the treasury of said district to the credit of the proper improvement fund, and shall be applied exclusively to the purposes and objects mentioned in said ordinance; provided, that the interest on said bonds accruing during the construction period and for one year thereafter shall be deemed to be a construction cost within the meaning of the purposes and objects mentioned in said ordinance, and such interest may be paid from said proceeds of the sales of such bonds. Premium and accrued interest shall be placed in the fund to be applied to the payment of interest on, and the retirement of, the bonds so sold. For the purposes of this section, the construction period shall be deemed to end when the works, the construction of which shall have been authorized from the proceeds of any such bond issue, shall have been placed in operation to such extent as to result in the sale and delivery in the district, of water transported and provided by means of such works

(i) The board of directors shall, within ninety (90) days from the date of the election authorizing the issuance of bonds, cause to be brought in the name of the district an action in the superior court of the county in which said district, or the greater portion of the property subject to taxation by said district, according to the most recent assessment, is located, to determine the validity of any such bonds and the sufficiency of the provision for the collection of an annual tax sufficient to pay the interest on such indebtedness as it falls due and to constitute a sinking fund for the payment of the principal thereof on or before maturity. Such action shall be in the nature of a proceeding in rem, and jurisdiction of all parties interested may be had by publication of summons for at least once a week for three (3) weeks in some paper of general circulation published in the county where the action is pending, such paper to be designated by the court having jurisdiction of the proceedings Jurisdiction shall be complete within ten (10) days after the full publication of such summons in the manner herein provided. Anyone interested may at any time before the expiration of said ten (10) days appear and by proper proceedings contest the validity of such bonds and the sufficiency of the provision for the collection of an annual tax sufficient to pay the interest on such indebtedness as it falls due and to constitute a sinking fund for the payment of the principal thereof on or before maturity. Such action shall be speedily tried and judgment rendered declaring such bonds to be valid or invalid, and declaring the provision for the collection of an annual tax for said purposes, to be sufficient or insufficient. Either party may have the right to appeal to the Supreme Court at any time within thirty (30) days after the rendition of such judgment, which appeal must be heard and determined within three months from the time of taking such appeal. After the expiration of ninety (90) days from the date of the election authorizing the issuance of bonds, no action may be brought to contest or question the validity of said bonds and proceedings in relation thereto or the sufficiency of the provision for the collection of an annual tax sufficient to pay the interest on such indebtedness as it falls due and to constitute a sinking fund for the payment of the principal thereof on or before maturity. If there be more than one action or proceeding involving the validity of any of such bonds, or the sufficiency of the provision for the collection of an annual tax sufficient for the said purposes, they shall be consolidated and tried together. The court hearing any proceeding or action inquiring into the regularity, legality or correctness of the proceedings leading up to the issuance of bonds or the validity of such bonds or the sufficiency of such provision for the collection of an annual tax, must disregard any error, irregularity or omission which does not affect the substantial rights of the parties to said action or proceeding. The rules of pleading and practice provided by the Code of Civil Procedure, which are not inconsistent with the provisions of this act, are applicable to all actions or proceedings herein provided for. The motion for a new trial of any such action or proceeding must be heard and determined within ten (10) days from the filing of the notice of intention.

The costs on any proceeding or action herein provided for may be allowed and apportioned between the parties or taxed to the losing party, in the discretion of the court

(j) The board of directors shall fix such rate or rates for water furnished as will pay the operating expenses of the district, provide for repairs and depreciation of works owned or operated by such district, pay the interest on any bonded debt, and, so far as practicable, provide a sinking or other fund for the payment of the principal of such debt as the same may become due; it being the intention of this section to require the district to pay the interest and principal of the bonded debt from the revenues of such district, so far as practicable.

The board of directors shall annually fix a minimum charge for water to be collected from all the cities within the district, which such minimum charge shall be ascertained and declared by the board by appropriate resolution or ordinance not less than sixty (60) days prior to the commencement of each successive fiscal year. Said minimum charge for water shall be imposed against each and all of the cities within the said district during each of such fiscal years, which charge shall be proportionate as provided in section 6, (subsection 8) of this act. Said minimum charge shall aggregate an amount which shall be estimated by the board to be at least sufficient to pay the operating expenses of the district and provide for necessary repairs of works owned or operated by such district during the fiscal year for which such minimum charge is made. In the event that the prescribed water rates for any fiscal year shall be computed on a basis including the creation of a depreciation reserve therefrom, depreciation on the same basis shall be computed and included in the said minimum charge.

If, however, from any cause, the revenues of the district shall be inadequate to pay the interest or principal of any bonded debt as the same becomes due, the board of directors shall, at the time of fixing the tax levy and in the manner for such tax levy provided, levy and collect annually until said bonds are paid or until there shall be a sum in the treasury of the district set apart for that purpose sufficient to meet all sums coming due for principal and interest on such bonds, a tax sufficient to pay the annual interest on such bonds, or such part thereof as shall not be met from revenues of the district, and also sufficient to pay such part of the principal of such bonds as shall become due before the time when money will be available from the next general tax levy, or such portion thereof as shall not be met from revenues of the district; provided, however, that if the maturity of the indebtedness created by the issue of bonds be made to begin more than one year after the date of the issuance of such bonds, such tax shall be levied and collected at the time and in the manner aforesaid annually sufficient when added to revenues of the district available for that purpose to pay the interest on such indebtedness as it falls due and also to constitute, together with the revenues of the district available for such purpose, a sinking fund for the payment of the principal of such bonds on or before maturity. The taxes herein required to be levied and collected shall be in addition to all other taxes levied for district purposes and shall be collected at the time and in the same manner as other district taxes are collected and shall be used for no purpose other than the payment of such bonds and accruing interest.

(k) Coupon bonds issued hereunder, at the request of the holder, may be registered as to principal and interest in the holder's name on the books of the treasurer of the district, and the coupons surrendered and the principal and interest made payable only to the registered holder of the bond. For that purpose the treasurer of the district shall detach and cancel the coupons, and shall indorse a statement on the bonds that the coupon sheet issued therewith has been surrendered by the holder, and the coupons canceled by such treasurer, and that the principal and the semiannual interest are thereafter to be paid to the registered holder, or order, by draft, check or warrant drawn payable at a place of payment specified in the bond, after which no transfer shall be valid unless made on such treasurer's books by the registered holder, or by his attorney duly authorized, and similarly noted on the bond. After such registration, the principal and interest of such bond shall be payable only to the registered owner. Bonds registered under this paragraph may, with the consent of the district and the holders of the bonds, be reconverted into coupon bonds at the expense of the holder thereof, and again reconverted into registered bonds from time to time, as the board of directors of the district and the holders of the bonds may determine. In converting coupon bonds into registered bonds, coupon bonds may be exchanged for registered bonds of one hundred dollars ($100) each, or multiples thereof, but not exceeding fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) each, in which event new registered bonds shall be issued at the expense of the holder. Coupon bonds may be exchanged for other coupon bonds of one hundred dollars ($100) each, or multiples thereof, but not exceeding fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) each, in which event new coupon bonds shall be issued at the expense of the holder.

For each conversion or reconversion of a coupon or registered bond, the treasurer of the district shall be entitled to charge and collect such fee as the board of directors of the district may prescribe from time to time.

(1) All bonds heretofore or hereafter issued by any metropolitan water district shall be legal investments for all trust funds, and for the funds of all insurance companies, banks, both commercial and savings and trust companies, and for the State school funds, and for all sinking funds under the control of the State Treasurer, and whenever any moneys or funds may by law now or hereafter enacted be invested in, or loaned upon the security of, bonds of cities, cities and counties, counties, or school districts in the State of California, such moneys or funds may be invested in, or loaned upon the security of, the bonds of such metropolitan water district; and whenever bonds of cities, cities and counties, counties, or school districts, by any law now or hereafter enacted, may be used as security for the faithful performance or execution of any court or private trust or of any other act, bonds of such metropolitan water district may be so used."

Amendment No. 9.

On page 2, line 2, of the printed bill, after the word "Sec.", strike out the numeral "5", and insert in lieu thereof the numeral "4".

Amendment No. 10.

On page 2 of the printed bill, strike out line 4, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"SEC. 8. (a) Immediately after equalization and not later than the fifteenth day of August of each year, it shall be the duty of the auditor of each county wherein such district or any part thereof shall lie, to prepare and deliver to the controller of the district a certificate showing the assessed valuation of all property within the district lying in the county, and also such assessed valuation segregated according to cities, the area of which lie within the district.

(b) On or before the twentieth day of August the board of directors of the district shall by resolution determine the amount of money necessary to be raised by taxation during the fiscal year beginning the first day of July next preceding and shall fix the rate of taxation of the district, designating the number of cents upon each one hundred dollars assessed valuation of taxable property in each county and shall levy a tax accordingly.

(1) Sufficient to meet interest and sinking fund requirements on all outstanding bonded indebtedness of said district; and sufficient to meet the payment of the principal and interest on any refunding bonds, or on any bonds the issuance of which may have been authorized by the electors, and which bonds have not been sold but which, in the judgment of the board of directors, will be sold prior to the time when money will be available from the next subsequent tax levy, and in case such bonds are not so issued and sold or such tax for any other reason is not required for said purpose, the tax so levied shall be applied to the payment of interest and/or principal on any refunding bonds, or on any bonds authorized by the electors, then outstanding or subsequently issued and/or sold; and

(2) For all other district purposes.

(c) The board of directors shall also cause to be computed and shall declare in said resolution the amount of money to be derived from the area of the district lying within each separate municipality by virtue of the tax levy. In such resolution the board shall also fix and determine the times and proportional amounts of installments in which any city may elect to make payment in lieu of taxes as hereinafter provided. The board shall immediately cause certified copies of such resolution to be transmitted to the presiding officer of the governing body of each such city.

(d) On or before the twenty-fifth day of August of each year the governing body of each such city may elect to pay out of the municipal funds all or any portion of the amount of tax which would otherwise be levied upon property within such city. Such election shall be made by order upon motion, which order shall recite that such payment shall be made in cash concurrently with the certification of such order to the controller of the district, or that such payment shall be made in installments and the times wherein such installments shall be payable and the amounts thereof, which amounts shall be in accordance with the requirements of the board of directors of the district as approved by resolution. In the event that any city shall elect to pay in cash, or by deferred installments, money or any part thereof which would otherwise be levied upon property within the city, it shall immediately certify to the controller of the district a copy of such order and a statement showing its financial condition, the funds from which such payments shall be made and the sources of revenue to be used therefor. Provided, however, that in the event any city shall elect to pay in cash all or any portion of the amount of tax which would otherwise be levied upon property within such city to meet interest and sinking fund requirements on the outstanding bonded indebtedness of said district, such amount so elected to be paid shall be deposited with the treasurer of said district on or before the twenty-seventh day of August next following such election; and provided, also, that unless such payment is so made in the case of interest and sinking fund requirements, and unless such election, as to all other taxes, shall provide for payments in accordance with the resolution of the board of directors as hereinbefore provided for, then such election shall be ineffective for any purpose.

(e) Before the first day of September the controller of the district shall cause to be prepared and transmitted to the auditor of each county in which the district shall lie, a statement showing the tax rate to be applied to assessed property in each city, which rate shall be the rate fixed by resolution of the board of directors modified to the extent necessary to produce from each city only the amount of money apportioned thereto in said resolution, less any amount paid or undertaken to be paid by such city, or credited thereto as herein provided, but if any fraction of a cent occur, it must be taken as a full cent on each one hundred dollars

(f) Upon receipt by the auditor of each county wherein such district, or any part thereof, shall lie, of a certified copy of the controller's statement showing the tax rate to be applied to assessed property in each city, and showing the cities, the assessed property in which is exempt therefrom, if any, it shall be the duty of the county officers to collect taxes for the benefit of the district at the rate specified as herein provided. The taxes so levied shall be computed and collected at the time and in the manner required by law for the computation and collection of taxes for county purposes, and the property subject to such tax shall be subject to the same penalties for delinquency, and the same provisions of law relating to the sale of property for nonpayment of county taxes and redemption thereof shall apply to the tax herein authorized. When so collected, such taxes shall be paid over to the treasurer of the district, subject to the deduction herein authorized

In consideration of services rendered hereunder, any county shall annually be entitled to deduct and withhold an amount not exceeding one per cent on the first twenty-five thousand dollars collected hereunder, and one-fourth of one per cent of any amount in excess of twenty-five thousand dollars collected hereunder. The board of supervisors of each such county may provide such extra help as in their judgment may be necessary for the proper performance of duties hereunder.

(g) Whenever any real property situated in any district organized hereunder and upon which a tax shall have been levied, as herein provided, shall be sold for taxes and shall be redeemed, the money paid for such redemption, except advertising costs, shall be apportioned and paid in part to such district in the proportion which the tax due to such district shall bear to the total tax for which such property shall have been sold. All taxes levied under the provisions of this act shall be a lien upon the property upon which levied, and the enforcement of the collection of such tax shall be had in the same manner and by the same means as is or shall be provided by law for the enforcement of liens for State and county taxes, and all of the provisions of law relating to the enforcement of such taxes are hereby made a part of this act so far as applicable

(h) Cities, the areas of which are included within metropolitan water districts incorporated hereunder, are hereby authorized to pay to such districts, out of funds derived from the sale of water or other funds not appropriated to some other use, such amounts as may be determined upon by the governing bodies, or other bodies, boards, commissioners or officers having control of such funds, thereof, respectively. Such payments may be made in avoidance of taxes as herein provided, or otherwise, and shall not be deemed gratuitous or in the nature of gifts, but shall be deemed payments for water or services in connection with the distribution of water. Any city making any such payment to any district incorporated hereunder, whether in avoidance of taxes or otherwise, shall receive credit therefor and the amount of the payment so made by any city shall be deducted from the amount of taxes which would otherwise be levied against property lying therein as herein provided. In the event that payment so made by any city shall exceed the amount of taxes which would otherwise have been levied against property within such city, the amount of such excess without interest shall be carried over and applied in reduction of taxes levied, or which would otherwise have been levied during the ensuing year or years. Any city, or body, board, commission or officer thereof having control of funds, which shall have incurred expenses (for which such funds have been, or will be, expended) in the investigation of or preliminary work upon any works or projects taken over by the district, may receive, and the district so taking over any such works or projects may make to such city, body, board, commission or officer thereof, reimbursement for all such sums so expended, or to be expended, for expenses incurred in such investigation of or preliminary work upon the works or projects so taken over by the district, to the extent that the board of directors of the district shall find that such expenditures have benefited such district, it being the intention of this provision to permit the district to purchase, and the city or body, board, commission or officer thereof, to sell, such works or projects taken over by such district, and for which such city, body, board, commission or officer thereof, has no further use or need. The sum so to be paid by such district to such city or body, board, commission or officer thereof, shall be mutually agreed upon, and if the expenses, for which such reimbursement is to be made by the district, shall have been incurred by a body, board, commission or officer, of the city, having control of the funds so expended, or to be expended, for such expenses, then the district shall pay such sum to said body, board, commission or officer, or if ordered so to do by such body, board, commission or officer, the district shall pay such sum to the city.

As an alternative to the purchase and sale of any works or projects taken over by the district, as hereinabove provided, any city, or body, board, commission or officer thereof having control of funds, which shall have incurred expenses for which such funds have been, or will be, expended in the investigation of or preliminary work upon any such works or projects taken over by the district, may certify the amount thereof, without interest, to the board of directors of said district at any time within four (4) years from the date of the incorporation of such district, or the incurring of such expenses, if such district be already incorporated, and if allowed by the board of directors, such amount shall be credited to the city, which itself, or whose body, board, commission or officer, incurred the same, and such expenditures shall be considered as a payment of money made as herein provided for which deduction shall be made from the amount of taxes which would otherwise be levied against property lying within such city.

Any city which shall incur expenses in preliminary work in preparing for the incorporation of or in the incorporation of any district hereunder likewise may certify the amount thereof, without interest, to the board of directors of said district at any time within four (4) years from the date of the incorporation of such district, and if allowed by the board of directors, such amount shall be credited to the city incurring the same, and shall be considered as a payment of money made as herein provided, for which deduction shall be made from the amount of taxes which would otherwise be levied against property lying within such city.

No such payments of money made in avoidance of taxes or otherwise, or such credit allowed by such board of directors, as hereinabove provided, shall apply to reduce the amount of taxes which would otherwise be levied against the property within such cities respectively, to meet interest and sinking fund requirements on outstanding bonded indebtedness or such district.

Such certification and allowance shall be made on or before the first Monday in July, and the amount of money to be raised by taxation shall be computed with reference to the credit to be allowed as herein provided, but such credit may, in the discretion of the board of directors, be considered in connection with the amount of money to be raised by the next tax levy, or may be spread over subsequent years, not to exceed five.

(i) If any city shall fail to comply with the terms of the order relating to payments to be made to the district in lieu of taxation, or if any city shall fail, refuse or neglect to pay for water furnished, or to pay the minimum charge or other charges imposed under this act, within the time, and in the manner and under the terms specified by the board of directors, or if any city annexed to the district shall fail to comply with the terms and conditions fixed by the board of directors and upon which such annexation occurred, the amount of the delinquency, plus a penalty of eight per cent shall be added to the taxes to be collected during the ensuing fiscal year, from the property within such delinquent city, and thereafter for a period of two (2) years no order or ordinance shall be sufficient to exempt the property in said city from taxation hereunder unless it be accompanied by payment in cash of the amount which would otherwise be collected from owners of property within the city, together with all moneys due but unpaid under any previous order, or annexation provision."

In the event that the amount of money allocated to any one city is greater than is necessary to maintain, illuminate and improve to adequate standard all State highways within such city, then any surplus amount accruing to such city shall be expended for the acquisition of any real property or interest therein for, or for the construction, illumination, improvement or maintenance of, such other streets of major importance within the city as are agreed upon by the department and the governing body of such city.

Said report and petition shall set forth that the work contemplated by the original or supplemental plan of reclamation has been completed, and that hereafter the said reclamation district will only require funds for the maintenance and repair of the said works of reclamation. Upon filing said report and petition the said board of supervisors shall appoint three commissioners, each of whom shall be similarly qualified, and shall make and subscribe the same oath as is provided hereinabove for commissioners

When so appointed and so qualified such commissioners shall prepare an assessment list, which list shall contain the following information in separate columns.

At said hearing, the board of supervisors shall hear such evidence as may be offered in support of said written objections, and may modify or amend the said assessment valuations in any particular No objections to said assessment valuations shall be considered by the board of supervisors, or allowed in any other action or proceeding, unless said objections shall have been made in writing to the board of supervisors before the date of such hearing

Such action must be commenced within thirty days after said assessment valuations have been approved by the board of supervisors It said action shall not be commenced within thirty days, no action or defense shall thereafter be maintained attacking the legality of said assessment valuations in any respect

Thereafter, whenever, in the opinion of the trustees of the district, it shall be necessary to raise any sum for the construction, maintenance or repair of the works of reclamation, or for the incidental expenses of the district, the said board of trustees shall make an order, which order shall be entered in the minutes of the board and shall recite the total amount necessary to be raised and shall fix a rate designating the number of cents to be levied on each one hundred dollars of assessment valuation shown on the list prepared and approved in the manner hereinabove provided Incidental expenses, as used in this section and in section 3480a of the Political Code are hereby declared to include, among other things, the difference in amount between the par value of refunding bonds sold pursuant to section 3480a of this act and the amount less than par for which said bonds may be sold, and also the amount necessary to be made available for the payment of interest upon said refunding bonds directed to be sold from the date of sale thereof to the date of maturity of the bonds to be refunded out of the proceeds of such sale

Thereafter the board of trustees must complete said assessment list by inserting the rate and the total assessment in columns six and seven as provided therefor

The assessment made in pursuance hereof shall be filed with the county treasurer and thereafter collected in the same manner provided for the collection of any original assessment, provided, however, that the board of trustees may, in their discretion, direct the payment of any such assessment in one installment.

The money so collected shall be placed by said county treasurer in which the greater portion of said district is situated, to the credit of said district in a separate fund to be designated "Maintenance fund" of such district, and be paid out or disbursed only in payment of said costs of such maintenance, repairs, and incidental expenses thereof and only upon orders or warrants of the trustees of the district issued or drawn in payment of the cost or expense of such maintenance and repair of the works of reclamation of such district, and incidental expenses thereof as aforesaid and all orders or warrants so issued or drawn on such fund shall designate the said fund from which they are drawn and are to be paid, and shall not be required to be in the form specified in section 3457 of the Political Code; and warrants or orders issued or drawn by the trustees on said maintenance fund shall be presented to the said county treasurer of said county, and if there be insufficient money in said fund to pay the same, indorsement of that fact must be made thereon by said county treasurer, and any such warrant not paid for want of funds at the time it is presented shall be registered by said county treasurer separately from other warrants of the district and shall thereafter bear interest from their date at the rate of seven per cent per annum until paid, and be payable only from said maintenance fund, and in the order of their registration; and all of the provisions of section 3457 of the Political Code as to the payment or renewal of warrants shall be applicable to said warrants.

The report of assessment commissioners as herein provided, fixing the assessment valuations for reclamation purposes, after having first been approved by the board of supervisors as hereinabove provided, shall continue in force as the basis for raising necessary funds for construction, maintenance and repair of the works of reclamation, and for incidental expenses of the district until the trustees of said district, or the holders of title or evidence of title representing fifteen per cent or more of the lands within the district, shall petition said board of supervisors to make an order directing the commissioners who made the original assessment list or other commissioners, to be named in such order to prepare a new assessment list. Such commissioners must have the same qualifications and take the same oath as the original assessment commissioners.

The assessment list when so prepared by said commissioners shall be filed with the clerk of the board of supervisors, and shall thereafter in all respects be subject to the same provisions as an original assessment list. All provisions of this code relating to collection of unbonded assessments and sale of land for delinquent assessments, and for sale, leasing and other disposition of land as in section 3466a of this code provided, shall be applicable to assessments levied in accordance with the provisions of this section."

SEC. 2. The members of such commission shall be appointed by the person or group of persons who, acting singly or in conjunction, are vested by law with power and authority to select, appoint, or employ the chief of a fire department in any such city prior to the enactment of this act. Such review shall be confined to the determination of whether the judgment or order of removal made by the appointing power was or was not made in good faith for cause, and no review by such court shall be taken except upon such ground or grounds.

SEC. 5 The members of such commission shall devote due time and attention to the performance of the duties specified and imposed upon them by this act. Two members of such commission shall constitute a quorum, and the votes of any two members of such commission concurring shall be sufficient for the decision of all matters and the transaction of all business to be decided or transacted by the commission under or by virtue of the provisions of this act. Confirmation of said appointment or appointments of commissioners by any legislative body shall not be required. At the time of any appointment, not more than two commissioners shall be adherents of the same political party.

SEC. 9. The commission shall make suitable rules and regulations not inconsistent with the provisions of this act. Such rules and regulations shall provide in detail the manner in which examinations may be held, and appointments, promotions, transfers, reinstatements, demotions, suspensions, and discharges shall be made, and may also provide for any other matters connected with the general subject of personnel administration, and which may be considered desirable to further carry out the general purposes of this act, or which may be found to be in the interest of good personnel administration.

Such investigations may be made by the commission or by any commissioner or the chief examiner designated by the commission for that purpose.

The commission shall make like investigation on the petition of a citizen, duly verified, stating that irregularities or abuses exist, or setting forth in concise language, in writing, the necessity for such investigation. In the course of such investigation the commission or designated commissioner, or chief examiner, shall have the power to administer oaths, subpena and require the attendance of witnesses and the production by them of books, papers, documents, and accounts appertaining to the investigation, and also to cause the deposition of witnesses residing within or without the State to be taken in the manner prescribed by law for like depositions in civil actions in the superior court. The oaths administered hereunder and the subpenas issued hereunder shall have the same force and effect as the oaths administered by a Federal circuit judge in his judicial capacity; and the failure upon the part of any person so subpenaed to comply with the provisions of this section shall be deemed a violation of this act, and punishable as such.

SEC. 13. All hearings and investigations before the commission, or designated commissioner, or chief examiner, shall be governed by this act and by rules of practice and procedure to be adopted by the commission, and in the conduct thereof neither the commission nor the designated commissioner shall be bound by the technical rules of evidence. SEC. 14. The commission shall hear and determine appeals or complaints respecting the administrative work of the personnel department; appeals upon the allocation of positions; the rejection of an examination; and such other matters as may be referred to the commission.

SEC. 15. If there are no such lists, it shall authorize provisional or temporary appointment lists for such class Such temporary or provisional appointment shall not continue for a period longer than four months; nor shall any person receive more than one provisional appointment or serve more than four months as a provisional appointee in any one fiscal year.

SEC. 17. The commission shall keep such records as may be necessary for the proper administration of this act, and establish and maintain in card or other suitable form a roster of officers and employees.

SEC. 18. For the benefit of the public service and to prevent delay, injury or interruption therein by reason of the enactment of this act, all persons holding a position in the fire department, including the chief thereof, when this act takes effect, who has served in such position for a period of at least six months last past continuously, are hereby declared eligible for permanent appointment under civil service to the offices, places, positions or employments which they then hold, respectively, without examination or other act on their part, and not on probation. Every such person is hereby automatically adopted and inducted permanently into civil service, into such office, place, position or employment which such person then holds as completely and effectually to all intents and purposes as if such person had been permanently appointed thereto under civil service after examination and investigation.

SEC. 19. (a) An applicant for a position of any kind under civil service must be a citizen of the United States of America and an elector of the county in which he resides, who can read and write the English language, and must have been a resident of the city for at least one year.

(c) Mental or physical unfitness for the position which the employee holds.

(d) Dishonest, disgraceful, immoral or prejudicial conduct.

(e) Drunkenness or use of intoxicating liquors, narcotics, or any other habit-forming drug, liquid or preparation to such extent that the use thereof interferes with the efficiency or mental or physical fitness of the employee, or which precludes the employee from properly performing the functions and duties of any position under civil service

(f) Conviction of a felony, or a misdemeanor, involving moral turpitude.

(g) Any other act or failure to act which in the judgment of the civil service commissioners is sufficient to show the offender to be an unsuitable and unfit person to be employed in the public service

SEC 21 No person in the classified civil service, who shall have been permanently appointed or inducted into civil service under provisions of this act, shall be removed, suspended, demoted or discharged except for cause, and only upon the written accusation of the appointing power, or any citizen or taxpayer, a written statement of which accusation, in general terms, shall be served upon the accused, and a duplicate filed with the commission. The chief of the fire department may suspend a member pending the confirmation of the suspension by the regular appointing power under the act which must be within three days. Any person so removed, suspended, demoted or discharged may within ten days from the time of his removal, suspension, demotion or discharge, file with the commission a written demand for an investigation, whereupon the commission shall conduct such investigation.

SEC. 22 The investigation shall be confined to the determination of the question of whether such removal, suspension, demotion or discharge was or was not made for political or religious reasons and was or was not made in good faith for cause.

After such investigation the commission may, if in its estimation the evidence is conclusive, affirm the action, or if it shall find that the removal, suspension, or demotion was made for political or religious reasons, or was not made in good faith for cause, shall order the immediate reinstatement or reemployment of such person in the office, place, position or employment from which such person was removed, suspended, demoted or discharged, which reinstatement shall, if the commission so provides in its discretion, be retroactive, and entitle such person to pay or compensation from the time of such removal, suspension, demotion or discharge

The commission upon such investigation, in lieu of affirming the removal, suspension, demotion or discharge may modify the order of removal, suspension, demotion or discharge by directing a suspension, without pay, for a given period, and subsequent restoration of duty, or demotion in classification, grade, or pay; the findings of the commission shall be certified in writing to the appointing power, and shall be forthwith enforced by such officer.

SEC 23 All investigations made by the commission pursuant to the provisions of this act shall be by public hearing, after reasonable notice to the accused of the time and place of such hearing, at which hearing the accused shall be afforded an opportunity of appearing in person and by counsel, and presenting his defense. If such judgment or order be concurred in by the commission or a majority thereof, the accused may appeal therefrom to the superior court of the county wherein he resides.

Such appeal shall be taken by serving the commission, within thirty days after the entry of such judgment or order, a written notice of appeal, stating the grounds thereof, and demanding that a certified transcript of the record and of all papers on file in the office of the commission affecting or relating to such judgment or order, be filed by the commission with such court. The commission shall within ten days after the filing of such notice, make, certify and file such transcript with such court.

The superior court shall thereupon proceed to hear and determine such appeal in a summary manner, but such hearing shall be confined to the determination of whether the judgment or order of removal discharge, demotion or suspension made by the commission, was or was not made in good faith for cause, and no appeal to such court shall be taken except upon such ground or grounds

SEC 24 It shall be the duty of all officers and employees of any such city to aid in all proper ways in carrying out the provisions of this act, and such rules and regulations as are from time to time prescribed by the commission thereunder, and to afford the commission, its members and employees all reasonable facilities and assistance in inspecting all books, papers documents and accounts applying or in any way appertaining to any and all offices places, positions and employments subject

The commission shall certify the name of the person highest on the eligible list, for the class to which the vacant position has been allocated, who is willing to accept employment. If more than one vacancy is to be filled an additional name shall be certified for each additional vacancy. The appointing power shall forthwith appoint such person to the vacant position.

SEC. 26. Whenever a request for certification is to be made, or whenever a position is held by a temporary appointee and an eligible list for the class of such position exists, the commission shall forthwith certify the name of the person eligible for appointment to the appointing power, and the appointing power shall forthwith appoint the person so certified to said position. No person so certified shall be laid off, suspended, or given leave of absence from duty, transferred or reduced in pay or grade, except for reasons which will promote the good of the service, specified in writing, and after an opportunity to be heard by the commission and then only with its consent and approval.

SEC. 27. To enable the appointing power to exercise a choice in the filling of positions, no appointment, employment or promotion in any position in the classified service shall be deemed complete until after the expiration of a period of three to six months' probationary service, as may be provided in the rules of the commission, during which the appointing power may terminate the employment of the person certified to him, if during the performance test thus afforded, upon observation or consideration of the performance of duty, the appointing power deems him unfit or unsatisfactory for service in the department. LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA, May 2, 1935.

Assemblyman Charles Lyon,
Hotel Senator

Understand charge is made on Assembly floor that Great Western Stock Show has some agreement with Santa Maria fair covering premium money. Neither myself or any other representative has contacted any officer or agent of Santa Maria fair and I positively deny agreement or understanding of any kind or character with any person concerning this matter. Following telegram sent Wednesday to several interested people in Santa Barbara County: "Robertson still opposed Assembly Bill No 1192. Question is whether Santa Maria fair should concede ½ of 1 per cent of allotment premium money in order to make possible carrying on of our major stock show. We have always encouraged Santa Maria and other fairs, believing that our show provided place for final awards, thus stimulating interest in purebreds. We have passed hat to keep the show going through depression periods while many district fairs folded up account shortage of money. Whatever is finally decided upon should be communicated to Robertson at once as matter will come up for further consideration tomorrow morning." I will call you on phone at eight o'clock for further discussion of matter.

Explanation of Vote.

I was called on the phone when the vote was taken on Assembly Bill No. 947 and did not vote. Had I been at my desk I would have voted.

HARRY P. MEEHAN.

Explanation of Vote.

Mr. Speaker, and Members of the Assembly.

In making explanation of our vote in opposition to the passage of Assembly Bill No. 947 permit us to say that we believe this Toll Bridge Bill, permitting a complete monopolistic control by the Southern Pacific Company of rail traffic across the bridge, is one of the biggest "grabs" ever made in the history of California.

With the first plans for constructing the Bay Bridge the Southern Pacific and Key Route Systems have followed a very direct course of action culminating today in the passage of Assembly Bill No. 947. Proof of this is found in the following excerpts from letters of H. G. Butler, consulting engineer, to F. L. Burckhalter of the Southern Pacific and A. J. Lundberg of the Key Route Systems.

On May 4, 1932, Mr. Butler wrote these utility executives as follows, suggesting the course of action which has been taken:

"(1) If it should be found desirable for the companies to run trains over the bridge, under proper assurance as to bus competition and tolls, is there any legal way in which the Toll Bridge Authority can bind itself, for any given period, to keep buses carrying passengers between the East Bay cities and San Francisco, from operating over the bridge? If not under the existing law is it possible to frame a law so that it can be done?

The importance of the last question can be shown by assuming that the present schedule (60 cents per car and 5 cents per passenger) of the Southern Pacific Golden Gate Ferries was originally adopted by the Toll Bridge Authority and a 5 cent toll was charged per rail passenger, and that shortly after the bridge was placed in operation tolls on automobiles were reduced to 10 cents. By such a change the loss of business by the railroads might be sufficiently great to have justified them in not operating over the bridge had they foreseen its possibility in advance."

On May 10, 1932, he wrote the same gentlemen concerning the results of conversations with Mr. Purcell, engineer for the Bay Bridge Authority:

"I told him that I thought that the 75 per cent of the people that cross the bay by rail were such an important factor in the transportation situation that it would not be economically unsound to let the entire cost of providing excess facilities for their convenience be borne by the vehicles and their users. He agreed with this but doubted whether it would be practical to do it.

Mr. Purcell stated that with Mr. Cox, of his staff, Mr. Ready was making some studies which he would be glad if I would look over some time this week. I told him, of course, that I would be glad to do so."

If space permitted in which to trace completely the development of this utility "grab" to the present moment when a Legislature was helpless to defeat the purposes of the utilities, we could clearly show the activity of the utility groups which will reduce their taxes to the State, grant them a complete monopoly and an assured income profit possibly in excess of a million dollars a year. All this is done to the disadvantage of the public for whom the Bay Bridge was constructed.

We firmly believe that our negative vote on this measure will be completely vindicated by time.

H. DEWEY ANDERSON.
S. L. HEISINGER.

MR. SPEAKER. I am directed to inform your honorable body that the Senate on this day passed, as a case of urgency, Senate Bill No. 498—An act to add Chapter 9 to Division IV of the Agricultural Code, relating to the stabilization and marketing of fluid milk and fluid cream, declaring the urgency of this act, to take effect immediately.

Motion Withdrawn.

Senate Bill No. 498 read first time, and referred to Committee on Live Stock and Dairies.

Explanation of Vote.

To the Members of the Assembly.

I hereby desire to make a statement with regard to my vote on the Bay Bridge Authority Bill. I voted for the urgency clause believing that a misinterpretation of my vote would be construed as being against interurban rail transportation across the bay bridge.

I, at no time was in favor of allowing the bay bridge authorities to have the powers granted by the bill.

And to have the authority and extensive power granted by the bill that could or may be used by such powers granted by the bill, that would react against the interests of the people.

I voted in favor of public ownership of the passenger interurban service and full and complete control of all transportation passenger service in all its phases on the bay bridge.

Several other members of the Alameda County legislative delegation and myself forced a number of amendments to the bill in conference committee that provided safeguards in the interest of the public interests that were not originally in the bill.

I personally believe that the proposed policy of compensating revenue to the State for the valuable contract or franchise considerations is not sufficient.

And that the depreciation of state-owned equipment that will be handled to the railroad interests has not been properly considered in the interest of the people.

It may develop that the Bay Bridge Authority will protect the interests of the public.

The public in general and the Legislature must be ever watchful of future proceedings of the Bay Bridge Authority with respect to contracts that will affect the public interests.

With this statement submitted I offer no apology for my vote on the urgency clause of the bill, that will force the issues before the public

Sincerely submitted

CHAS. J WAGNER,
Member of the Legislature, Fourteenth Assembly District.

To His Excellency, Frank F. Merriam, Governor of California, and to the Members of the Legislature

Supplementing our factual report of January 26, 1935, we herewith submit the following:

The sale of 1016 65 acres of land at the Durham State Land Settlement, hereinafter referred to, completely closes the Durham State Land Settlement, with the exception of one small first deed of trust and one final payment on Lot 87.

Land sales at the Delhi State Land Settlement since January 1, 1935, have shown a marked increase over any similar period for the past several years. Two hundred fifty and eight-five one hundredths acres have been sold for cash or on a short term basis, and the State has optioned 19.73 acres additional as indicated in Exhibit "A" attached hereto and by reference made a part hereof.

All of the unsold farming lands owned by the State at Delhi are under lease either on a cash or crop share basis

Ten first deeds of trust on Delhi property, representing an indebtedness to the State in the sum of $6,044 73, have been extinguished through the consummation of a deal with the Capital Company, which involved an exchange of said deeds of trust as part of the consideration, as indicated in Exhibit "B" attached hereto and by reference made a part hereof.

On page 9 of our report of January 26, 1935, we mentioned that we had been negotiating a transaction involving the exchange of land at Delhi for some property in Sacramento. A deal has finally been consummated with the Capital Company on the following basis

1. The State will transfer all its right, title and interest in and to the above mentioned deeds of trust in the sum of (See Exhibit "B").	$6,044 73
2 The State will convey all its right, title and interest in and to certain real properties at Delhi in the sum of (See Exhibit "C")	36,953 50
3. The State will pay to the Capital Company the proceeds of the sale to E L Adams of Chico, California, of 1016 65 acres of pasture land in the Durham State Land Settlement in the sum of	19,000 00
4. The State will pay to the Capital Company from the land settlement fund, cash	19,000 00
Total	$74,998 23

The land in the Delhi settlement as exchanged to the Capital Company in the sum of $36,953 50, was at the listed cash sale price.

The Capital Company is to convey to the State of California by grant deed, free and clear of all liens, incumbrances and charges of any kind whatsoever, the garage property at the corner of 9th and L Streets, Sacramento, designated as 830 L Street, which property consists of a lot 80x160 feet, together with a two-story brick building, which is assessed for tax purposes by the county at $62,000 and by the city at $66,000. The assessment is levied on an approximate 50 per cent valuation.

The Capital Company is also to furnish at its expense a policy of title insurance covering said garage property in the name of the State of California in the sum of $75,000. The irrigation taxes on the parcels of property selected at the Delhi State Land Settlement by the Capital Company (as shown on Exhibit "C") are to be prorated as of April 25, 1935.

This agreement has been executed by the Director of Finance on behalf of the State of California, subject to confirmation and ratification by the Legislature of the State of California.

Since the report of January 26, 1935, there has been transferred to the general fund from the land settlement fund the sum of $75,000, and the said fund has on hand at the present time, after the consummation of the Capital Company deal, the sum of $13,728.06.

Dated: April 30, 1935.

Respectfully submitted

A. E. STOCKBURGER, Director of Finance.

Motion to Print in Journal.

Mr. Heisinger moved that the following report be printed in the Journal:

Motion carried.

Minority Report of Special Assembly School Textbook Committee.

The committee has spent weeks in its endeavors to make a unanimous report, but has not yet succeeded

The chairman believes that the facts of the investigation should be presented to the Assembly and to the people who may draw their own conclusions, rather than to present the conclusions of the committee.

The Assembly committee appointed by Speaker Edward Craig, consisting of Assemblyman S. L. Heisinger (Chairman), Thomas J Cunningham and Charles W Fisher, appointed January 26, 1935, pursuant to Assembly resolution introduced by Assemblyman Heisinger, said resolution appearing on page 46 of the Assembly Daily Journal of January 26, 1935, respectfully submits the following report of its investigation.

Hearings were held by the committee in Los Angeles, Fresno, Oakland and Sacramento The leading educators of the State appeared before the committee, consisting of the State Superintendent of Schools, members of the State Board of Education and of the State Curriculum Commission Also leading administrative officials of local school systems, together with many teachers, laymen and the Superintendent of State Printing

In the matter of whether or not children required to move from one school to another are greatly hampered and retarded in their educational progress by the use of textbooks with which they are unfamiliar, was found not to be the case This is so because the State basal textbooks are uniform throughout the State, and are liberally supplemented by supplemental textbooks.

We investigated the so-called propaganda and pamphlets of eastern book concerns from which pamphlets excerpts are as follows:

1 "There is no reason to suppose that the part of the business of publishing books can be done less expensively by the State than by the private publisher."

2 "Books manufactured by the State are likely to be greatly inferior in paper, printing, and binding to those offered by publishers."

3. "There is no evidence that the publication or printing of books by the State is less expensive than publication and printing by publishers if all cost factors are considered."

4 "State publication or State printing leads to the use of inferior books and to difficulties in their distribution which lower the educational efficiency of the schools."

Quotations of California educators as contained in circular letters:

1 "Should all final costs, both direct and indirect, be included in the price of State-printed books and a valid comparison of publisher and State-printing prices were made available, the evidence presented would strongly indicate that there could be no financial advantage possible to the State printing of textbooks."

2 "It is evident that support of State printing for the sake of home production and for its beneficial effect on employment in the State are not particularly weighty. Materials used all come from outside the State. Capital for their purchase would have to travel beyond our boundaries as it does now. The employment of printers and other workers in the State establishment would displace employment of workers in the considerable establishments now maintained by private publishers. The balance is conjectural and could not be great."

These statements should not be taken seriously because they are so similar that they might have sprung from the same inspiration. It is not so long ago that a Federal investigation revealed that other educators voiced the propaganda of the so-called electrical power trust, and some educators here who constantly deride our State textbooks might also find themselves very much embarrassed should a Federal investigation be conducted.

We found that these pamphlets were widely distributed among the teachers and educators of California, and while the educators did not seem to be unduly influenced by the pamphlets or the propaganda, yet the constant and unethical methods practiced by the book concerns show plainly that the unfair tactics of the publishers have been stamped upon the minds of the educators which are evidenced by their circular letters

However, the statements above quoted are not in accordance with the findings nor with the testimony of the educators generally who say that our free textbooks are good educationally as well as in mechanical structure, and their main concern is the lack of sufficient books.

Herewith is a list of books, together with comparative costs and savings to the State, which we submit for public information and which disproves the quotations above recited.

Although not coming directly within the purview of the resolution the committee comments upon the fact that there was some difference of opinion between the educators who testified as to whether or not the fundamentals of education were being too lightly touched upon under present day methods of education. Testimony indicated, among other things, that the teachers of today are operating under forced draft because of the compulsory education laws and that in many instances students were promoted and sent from class to class because of the necessity to make room for other students. One county superintendent of schools, prominent in educational work in the State, vigorously asserted that even though we have comptometers and various calculating machines that there should nevertheless be teaching in mind training, discipline of the mind and more stress on the basic fundamentals of education. This apparently is true, and to stress the fundamentals will better equip our children for their future work. This same man testified that when his own son was in school he spent an hour a day drilling him in arithmetic and algebra. The light treatment of the basic fundamentals of education, English, spelling and arithmetic, wherever this may occur in the State of California, might be regretted. Another educator said to be sure and stress the three "R's", and teach English, grammar and then some more English. It might be said that a lack of fundamentals in the child's training has brought about such criticism as this by an editor: "I can not hire a high school student here that can spell well enough to proof read simple copy. None of the pupils know English grammar."

Attorneys and other business men have made complaints about the inefficiency and inability of high school graduates to perform services normally expected of boys and girls with similar educational facilities The instructors should have sympathy in their complaints because of the lack of the basal or fundamental State textbooks. And well may they complain when it is known that the 1933 Legislature cut the appropriation 29 per cent for the publication of State textbooks.

The committee thoroughly investigated the relative position between the State textbooks and supplementary textbooks, and it is found that while the State textbooks are very much needed in several branches of education, yet in the same classes supplemental textbooks are quite generally and liberally supplied. This condition has been brought about because in former years the districts liberally purchased supplemental textbooks and recently supplemental books have been supplied from the State Library textbook fund.

PADDING ADULT HIGH SCHOOL ATTENDANCE

A serious condition is menacing the school system of California because unfair padding of adult education in the high schools exists. Inasmuch as the high schools exclusively use supplemental textbooks, it became our duty to make such investigations as come under our notice. We found that in many high schools the instructors solicit the attendance to the evening high school of any persons who will attend. Many such schools have lectures, forums, shows and other entertainments to which the general public is invited, and all of those present are counted as evening high school adult attendants.

Aside from our own investigation we have letters bearing out these assertions One of the leading county superintendents of the State made the statement that in some schools they teach everything that any teacher can think of to teach. A further criticism by letter that our high schools were being turned into old people's homes should cause most serious consideration. This statement is borne out by the fact that such adult teaching has gone so far as to embrace horseback riding, golf, fancy dancing, bridge and other card games, together with other things that should not be taught at public expense.

Aside from the solicitation of attendance by instructors, we found one high school where a large Neon electric sign 13 feet high and 24 feet wide, of which we have a photograph, and substantially fastened upon a steel frame and permanently facing several intersecting streets, displayed day and night the following words, "Night School Adult Classes Keep on Learning" Such methods of padding the attendance to our night schools is a very serious condition, and probably accounts in a great measure for the large increased attendance of high schools in California Such increase in the adult high schools using supplemental texts is taking away from the children in the elementary schools some of the funds which are so sorely needed for basal texts. It appears that legislation should be enacted to curb these flagrant abuses. Finally, it may be said that outside of the adult schools of the State, our schools are being conducted in a very splendid manner.

Educators all over California complained that action of the State Board of Education was many times so slow in their adoption of books, after the Curriculum Commission had made recommendations, that much harm was done to the education of our children

At this time there is dire need for geographies and other texts for use in the next school year, and unless the printing can be done at once the books will not be ready in time which may necessitate the purchase from eastern concerns at a great financial loss to the State.

Therefore, it might be a move in the interest of economy and for the educational advantage of the children should the Legislature empower the Governor to act in emergency cases where the board delays action However, the board should be commended for their action in certain cases when because of economy, and for the better education of the children, they have caused to be printed and distributed supplemental textbooks. This work is not authorized by law but should be, so that the board may not be subject to criticism

Taking into consideration all of the problems and difficulties that enter our school life, we should extend to the teachers of California our heartiest commendation upon the excellent work they are doing, because in many instances they have been forced to "Make bricks without straw."

As a last word, it plainly appears that this session of the Legislature should make an appropriation of State funds for our basal school texts which shall be adequate to bring them back to a place which they formerly occupied.

Respectfully submitted.

S. L. HEISINGER, Chairman.

Motion to Print in Journal.

Mr. Cunningham moved that the Majority Report of the Select Committee on Textbooks be printed in the Journal.

Motion carried.

Majority Report of Special Assembly Textbook Committee.

The Assembly Committee consisting of Assemblymen S L Heisinger (Chairman), Thomas J Cunningham and Charles W. Fisher, appointed January 26, 1935, by Speaker Edward Craig, pursuant to Assembly resolution introduced by Assemblyman Heisinger, said resolution appearing on Page 46 of the Assembly Daily Journal of January 26, 1935, respectfully submits the following report of its investigation:

Hearings were held by the committee in Los Angeles, Fresno, Oakland and Sacramento. The leading educators of the State appeared before the committee, consisting of the State Superintendent of Schools, members of the State Board of Education and of the State Curriculum Commission. Also leading administrative officials of local school systems appeared before the committee together with many teachers and laymen.

In the matter of whether or not children required to move from one school to another are greatly hampered and retarded in their educational progress by the use of textbooks with which they are unfamiliar, was found not to be the case. This is so because the State basal textbooks are uniform throughout the State.

The committee investigated the use of supplemental textbooks from two points of view First, their retardation, if any, on the education of children moving from one district to another. Second, the advisability of the State of California printing supplemental textbooks in the State printing office.

The committee reports that the use of supplemental texts is not hampering or retarding the education of children moving from one district to another—as has previously been pointed out, the basic studies are covered by uniform State textbooks. Supplemental texts are purchased by school districts for their own schools In many instances the committee found these books purchased and distributed through county circulating libraries.

The selection and purchase of supplemental texts by local authorities makes possible a more progressive and thorough educational system This the committee found to be true due to the difference in the I. Q.'s of the children, not only in the same room and school, but also in different sections of the same community. Sectional differences were also found to play an important part in the use of supplemental texts.

The advisability of the State printing supplemental textbooks was investigated from both an educational and economic point of view. The committee feels that it would be economically hazardous for the State to print all supplemental texts because of the variety of the number of supplemental texts and the variation of such texts that are used throughout the State. The cost to the State would be beyond consideration. One witness very closely connected with the printing and binding of State textbooks, testified that such a vast amount of financing would be necessary that it would take years to bring a program into fact for the printing of all supplemental texts by the State This statement was substantiated by several other witnesses. It is also a fact that many of the eastern book publishers would not lease their plates to the State printing office. That while superior books may be obtained for one basic text in each subject, yet in printing of supplemental texts the State would not be able to get the best books due to the objection previously stated of publishers refusing to lease their plates. An example was many times cited to the committee in the recent adoption in this State of a geographic basic textbook. If the State did not print the books, under normal circumstances, bids for the adoption of approximately twelve geographies would be submitted. Under the circumstances, bids for only three geographies were submitted for California since nine publishers would not consider leasing plates to our State printing office. Thus it can readily be seen that in many instances the children of the State of California might have to use an inferior text due to the fact that the State Curriculum Commission and the State Board of Education would not even be given the opportunity to consider the best book adoptable for the children of this State.

It would be educationally as hazardous for the State to print all supplemental texts because a wide variety of supplemental texts are purchased in every school district. This should remain so because of sectional needs, individual needs of children, experimentation with new books and new teaching techniques. The committee found in many instances the State basic textbooks are read through thoroughly in two weeks—that in some grades some children read as many as thirty-five supplemental textbooks.

The committee cites an example given by a principal of one of the Oakland elementary schools—That in the low first grade, the chronological age is about the same, but their abilities and home backgrounds are different,—that a group of 40 students might be divided into about four groups,—that the better group would use three or four readers. Books used in the Highland School would not be acceptable to the East Oakland School—that the First Primer is an excellent book, but two out of four groups above cited could not use the First Primer One could readily see, for the reasons set forth, the impracticability, from an educational standpoint, of the State printing all supplemental textbooks.

In questioning those who appeared before the committee in the matter of whether or not undue influence is being used by private concerns upon our educational representatives in California to induce them to purchase school textbooks, the committee found it to be the unanimous opinion of those interested that no such undue influence was being used, but that the usual methods of salesmanship as in the case of the sale of any commodity were present. Various educators testified that many of the textbook salesmen were a great help to them in the selection of texts, in the initial presentation of the type of book and the context thereof.

Statistics were submitted by the State printing office to the committee showing that books could be printed in the State printing office cheaper than they could be purchased from private publishers. The committee did not analyze these figures to determine what items, such as overhead, etc, were included in determining by the State printing office what is constituted under the term cost.

Objections were made to the committee relative to poor binding and other defects in the books printed by the State printing office. The committee concludes that the books printed by the State printing office are in many respects as high a grade, quality, binding, etc, as those printed by the private publishers

It was found that there was some difference in the manner of purchasing of supplemental textbooks in the various counties of the State In many of the counties the textbook fund is being pooled and the purchasing is centralized In other counties each separate school district purchases its own supplemental texts It would seem that the pooling of book funds in the respective counties would lead to more efficiency and establish a more uniform grouping of textbooks within the counties The committee noted considerable difference in the amount per pupil spent for supplemental texts in the various counties, i.e., Los Angeles in 1934 spent approximately 37 cents per pupil for texts while Oakland spent approximately 75 cents per pupil and Berkeley expended the $1 maximum allowed by law. The Oakland and Berkeley authorities explained that while they might economize in other directions, they felt that the school texts are the basis of education and that little or no economy should be made in this regard.

Although not within the purview of the resolution evidence was given touching upon the point of whether or not our State educational system was touching too lightly upon the fundamentals of education One of the most eminent county superintendents states that in his opinion this is the case and that there is not enough mental discipline given. The consensus of opinion was that wherever this is the case it is to some degree caused by our compulsory educational system necessitating the forcing of students from one grade to another. The committee regrets the lack of concentration upon the teaching of fundamentals wherever this might occur in the State of California.

CONCLUSION.

The committee concludes with the following statements and conclusions that we feel should be called to the attention of those concerned.

The committee feels that the State's adoption and printing of basic texts to be fundamental. That the budget for the adoption and printing of basic texts should be increased and not further curtailed; that the success of State printing and the welfare of our educational system in California depends upon its proper maintenance. We feel equally as strong against the State entering the field of supplementary texts, both from an educational as well as economic point of view.

With proper budget allowance, a State Speller of 15 years without revision we hope will not again take place We strongly feel that our basic State textbooks should be kept up-to-date, available to all school districts when needed, and sufficient funds applicable to maintain clean textbooks available to the children of our State school system at all times.

Lastly we desire to recommend the necessity we find throughout the State for a uniform dictionary printed and/or adopted by the State.

Dated, this third day of May, 1935.

WHEREAS, It has been proposed to be erected in the beautiful residential and ranching districts of Cucamonga Canyon, San Antonio Heights and the Pasadena foothills certain towers, 144 feet in height, for the purpose of transmitting electrical energy to the Los Angeles Light and Power Bureau from Boulder Dam; and

WHEREAS, The erection of such towers will impair the natural scenic beauty of these districts, greatly destroy existing property values thereof, and in addition cause a serious fire hazard which may result in the possible destruction of a natural watershed, thus endangering life and property; and

WHEREAS, The residents of these districts, through great physical and financial effort have improved and beautified said districts, and through extensive development have reclaimed this land from the desert and made this area one of the richest ranching districts in the State of California; and

WHEREAS, An alternate route exists nearby said districts which in the main part consists of undeveloped and undesired lowlands that in no wise will create a fire hazard, endanger life, or result in a loss of property values; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That this Assembly urgently petitions the Los Angeles Municipal Light and Power Bureau and such others as may be involved in the authorization of said construction to realign their proposed route; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly is hereby directed to send copies of this resolution to the mayor, members of the city council, commissioners of the board of water and power of the city of Los Angeles, and to the members of the board of supervisors of the county of Los Angeles, and to officers of municipalities affected by the erection of this proposed transmission system.

WHEREAS, We are informed by the Legislative Counsel that an ad valorem tax for State purposes can not be levied without further statutory enactment; and

WHEREAS, We believe that such legislation will not receive the approval of this Assembly; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That we earnestly petition this Joint Tax Committee in the interest of harmony, the welfare of the State of California, and for the conservation of the time of this Legislature, that an ad valorem tax for State purposes be eliminated from any plan or plans which its honorable members may submit for consideration; and be it further

Resolved, That we sincerely believe that the levying of an ad valorem tax for State purposes at this time is unsound, inadvisable, and would lead to excessive tax delinquencies, and perhaps economic chaos.

Explanation of Vote.

Mr. Speaker and Members of the Assembly.

My "Aye" vote on Assembly Bill No. 947, the "Toll Bridge Bill," was the result either of carelessness on my part or due to defective recording on the voting machine.

I did not intend to vote "Aye," for I regard the passage of that bill as an indefensible grant of public property, for public use, to a corporation for private profit without compensation to the State. It was my firm intention to vote "No."

I desire this published in the Journal of May 2d.

Sincerely,

JOHN GEE CLARK.

Motion.

Miss Miller moved that the Chief Clerk be instructed to furnish the State Printer with the copy of the program as proposed by her for Mother's Day, and that the State Printer be directed to print the same.

"SEC. 4. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety within the meaning of section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California, and as such it shall take effect immediately. The following is a statement of the facts constituting such necessity:

Continued dry years have made immediate action imperative in the various water districts to conserve the waters of the present rainy season in order to save not only extensive areas of crops, but also for industrial and domestic purposes. Immediate action is further imperative to construct works during the coming summer season for conserving and utilizing the floods and waters of the coming winter. For the proper and ready financing of such construction the immediate voting of bonds is necessary, and to that end the legislation contained in this act relative to such bonds and their maturities, terms and conditions, is required to be immediately effective. An adequate supply of water for agricultural, domestic and industrial purposes is necessary for the public peace, health and safety of the communities affected in the State of California"
