Speech by Hon. Gordon H. Garland, Speaker of the Assembly

FELLOW MEMBERS. It is always difficult to properly express one's thanks for honors which are given them, but I do want you to know I am grateful to you for again electing me as your presiding officer, and I am also grateful to the people of this State for returning the coalition bloc to this House.

To have been elected Speaker of this Assembly, I consider a great honor; to be reelected after presiding over its deliberations during the many trying special sessions is positive indication of your sincere desire to continue your fight for decency in government. To this end, I ask your continued cooperation.

To the new members, I extend a cordial welcome.

As most of you know, during the last regular session, it became apparent to many of us that most of the Administration leaders had lost their perspective and sense of proportion and were attempting to effect a program that would have been disastrous to California. Many were preaching doctrines entirely at variance with our established customs and traditions; doctrines that were shocking to those of us who believed in the typically American form of government. The SRA was a hotbed of Communistic activity and the vilest form of political intrigue. The Administration was playing politics with hunger—the hunger of women and children. Prodigal and profligate spending seemed to be the "order of the day." Such a situation demanded that strictly partisan politics be put aside and that the welfare of the State be the paramount consideration

Thus was the Coalition Economy Bloc born . . . to the everlasting credit of the members thereof, they stood firm throughout all the numerous battles of the special sessions for decency in government. As a result, not a single major or minor battle was lost We feel that as a result of those labors, California has a better government and is a better place to live in. We were bitterly denounced by the Administration and its leaders and they all, together with the Administration floor leader, prophesied financial and economic chaos would result from our refusing to pass additional tax legislation. In spite of these prophesies, we held to our course and time has shown that we were correct in every premise

After it was apparent from commitments many of you so generously gave me at the close of the last special session that I was to again be your Speaker, I thought it advisable to have committees appointed at the earliest possible date. I accordingly spent the holiday season here in Sacramento working out committee assignments. I have them nearly completed and they will be announced in a day or two. I have tried to be as fair as it is humanly possible, and have been guided by seniority and the peculiarities of each member's district.

Let me again express my appreciation for the privilege of again being your presiding officer. I bespeak your continued cooperation to the end that we may proceed with and complete our work with such dispatch as is commensurate with our duty to pass just and proper laws and reject all others.

I wish for every one of you a pleasant session and let us hope that the peace this State and Nation has enjoyed will continue and that ere we finish this session peace will again be restored to a war-torn world.

REPORT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE

Before the Joint Legislative Fact-Finding Committee

STATEMENT OF JOHN R. RICHARDS

Taken at Hollywood Hospital, 1322 North Vermont Avenue, Los Angeles, California
December 17, 1940, 9 o'clock a.m.

Appearances: Hon. John Phillips, Hon. A. C. Wollenberg.

F. L. Middleton, Official Court Reporter,
322 Wilcox Bldg., MU. 5523, Los Angeles, California.

J. R. RICHARDS, being called as a witness, after being first duly sworn, was examined and testified as follows:

EXAMINATION

By MR. PHILLIPS:

Q. Now, first of all, your name is John R. Richards and your address is Los Angeles?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, if you will, tell us that connecting link between your private life and getting into the directorship and so forth.

A. Shortly after the Governor was elected I first had a talk with Dewey Anderson who had been appointed Director of SRA relative to the organization of a Citizens Committee to investigate the whole field of unemployment and make recommendations for some scheme of activities. That developed into continued conversations in which the Governor was involved and the committee was set up and organized in March, 1939.

I was very anxious not to have large expenses incurred by this committee as I knew it had no legal status; that is, it hadn't been authorized by the Legislature and for that reason no particular funds could be appropriated to it. I set up an original budget that should not be exceeding $15,000. I have never seen an exact accounting on that as to what has been charged in but just at the tail end of it we kept within our budget.

It was a modest committee and we paid very small salaries to a few technicians and, of course, we didn't have large expense accounts or large traveling expenses. The committee worked earnestly. Certain members of the committee worked all the time and others did not.

It gave us an acquaintance with the situation in SRA. I was called in at the beginning—first, I refused to be called in to the SRA as to controversial matters in so far as the Director of the Administration or the Governor were concerned, feeling that it might hamper anything that we might want to do. But ultimately I was called in and did go into those conferences so that at the beginning I saw that there was a difficulty, there were difficulties between the Governor and Dewey Anderson and in a nutshell, those differences can be described as a difference as to personnel; Anderson maintaining that he could not make a wholesale cleanout of the personnel as it existed, even though he put in competent people, without jeopardizing the service in SRA. It was a gradual program and could only be carried out gradually.

Furthermore, it was the contention of the Governor that the SRA was filled with Merriam Republicans, which was in error, and that those things should be carefully investigated; that nevertheless there was that continual, continual, continual trouble, the Governor agreeing usually that he wanted efficiency and that he did not want to break down standards, but that he couldn't see why certain positions couldn't be filled and the duties performed as well by one individual as another. So there was that constant trouble, the Governor then moving in and endeavoring to get control or to take control of the personnel department.

Originally there had been a man by the name of Culver that had been placed in there by Dewey Anderson who, of course, was loyal to his department and very largely carried out the orders of Dewey Anderson.

I know nothing about the relative degree of efficiency of the personnel officer except that he seemed to be working diligently and seemed to know personnel practices and methods In so far as I was concerned, I took the position both with the Governor and with Anderson that Anderson was right; that no wholesale elimination of personnel during a short period was possible for the good of the organization and for the efficiency of the service; that it must be done gradually and upon evidence that through a competent personnel department there was a qualified person going in regardless of politics. In the abstract, the Governor would agree to that but continually came back with the idea that it had to be done.

Then there was pressure on the outside from groups that were constantly coming in. Then he insisted on having Walter Ballou, who was one of his secretaries, go in in some capacity in the personnel department. He wanted him as a personnel officer. Anderson resisted that and finally he said that he would allow him to go in in some capacity under Mr. Culver.

Q. For a while in there didn't they have the difficult position of practically having two personnel officers?

A. That is the situation. Of course, Ballou then insisted that he had no authority, that Culver wouldn't do anything that he wanted and he was continually making complaints to the Governor about the bad situation in the personnel department and a continual row went on. Many of those I was called in to. It continued to a point where—and I have never taken any other position whenever there was a showdown than that fundamentally Anderson was correct. I am not passing on Dewey Anderson at all as an executive. It is possible that he had some weaknesses. I am talking of the fundamental problem that existed between the Governor and Dewey Anderson. On that fundamental position it seemed to me that he was sound. At least, he was standing for higher standards and so forth in his department.

That continued, becoming more and more acute, and you know certain things that have taken place. There have been, at the suggestion of some of the people in the Legislature, an elimination of certain people in the SRA spoken of as "Reds," of which we know Plunkert stands for that. Why a number of so-called—I don't know whether they are Communists or not, but they were classified as such and they were eliminated. I had some discussion with Anderson about those and he said, of course, that they were originally not his appointees, that he didn't want them anyway.

Q. My recollection is that Plunkert in particular was just forced on him, that Anderson protested and Plunkert had sufficient power, perhaps through some previous association with the Governor to get it.

A. Well, anyway, the situation continued until Mr. Ballou, with or without the knowledge and consent of the Governor, began to, what I call, build bonfires under Anderson. The usual method that is pursued by this group that now are once again working to get control of SRA would be to take certain points through the State and have some of the local authorities, political authorities, send petitions to the Governor, demanding, for instance, the firing of Anderson, the institution of this, that or the other, and they would come from all over everywhere, instigated, of course, but coming from different sections of a little different complexion, perhaps create the idea that there was a sort of a demand all over the State.

That continued until July of '39, wasn't it, Rube, growing out of two things that occurred The State Relief Commission which the membership at least at the time that I referred to, Mr. Wilson and Mr Melvyn Douglas were members of that commission, and they became very much concerned over what they felt to be the pressure from various sources to force purely political appointments upon the Director of SRA and felt it was inimicable to the best service of SRA and they wanted a showdown on the matter and they appointed Wilson and Douglas as that committee to confer with the Governor and they asked me to go with them and I did

There was a long representation. The upset of that was that they suggested to the Governor was of such importance that he ought to give more than a casual hour or so to a problem of that sort, that he ought to set aside a day in which people who knew the situation and who knew the requirements of the administration of SRA be given the opportunity to present the whole picture to him. He agreed that it was that important and that he should do so and that he would do so. He named a date which was within a day or two when that would take place at the Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles and the meeting was held. It was evidently prepared, however, or seized upon by some people as a basis for trying Dewey Anderson. That is, they did not construe it as an open, honest and frank investigation of the situation on the part of an executive to see what was taking place. I know that telegrams were sent all over the State for certain people who were known to be opposed to the Anderson regime to be present

Q By whom?

A. Well, they were signed by the Governor, the telegrams that I saw. I doubt very much whether the Governor signed them

Q. Do you think this was probably Walter Ballou?

A. Yes, I am told they were. I am giving hearsay evidence. I am willing to state the statement, however.

The meeting was held and it was what I would call a mob lynching of a public servant. The Governor, presiding, called upon people to make their statements. It is, of course, perfectly natural that those who were in the SRA confined themselves to a businesslike statement of administrative principles and needs and costs; such men as Dr Chernig and Miss Hudson, Mrs. Hudson. And Freda Olson was personnel officer here and people of that type simply made a very careful statement of the requirements and needs of the department

That was followed by calling upon people who, of course, to my opinion, knew nothing about SRA, very little about government They included several members, quite a number of members of the County Democratic Committee of Los Angeles, a few of the Assemblymen who were anxious to have appointments in the SRA for political reasons; some men whom I didn't know had anything to do with SRA but took a position against it like Bailey and a great galaxy of them appeared There was a fellow by the name of Miller who afterwards became personnel officer. They all appeared.

Q. That must be Harry B. Miller.

A. Yes. They all appeared Mr Rubinow, who was there, I had asked to have Mr Rubinow present because in trying to find out something about agricultural surpluses and general agricultural situations in the State, I had found him as a source of easy information for me and I found him very sympathetic on the good government side and on the matter of better utilization of the resources of the State for relief. I don't think Mr Rubinow was called upon, if I am correct.

Along towards the latter part of the day I was called upon and if I am not mistaken I rather exploded the meeting. It ended with my—I took the position that I was ashamed of the sort of an exhibition that I had been in in which I thought—I said, "I think it is a very peculiar situation in regard to our times and our trends that the older people of us like Wilson and myself and some others were standing for what we believe had been one of the gains in our democratic setups and the merits of the system, efficiency in office, and that we were fighting for that and the administration not only in the more important parts of the State, but the younger people were against it, like this Maury Adkisson." He made a spiel, too, against the Anderson regime

The main charge was that good democratic people weren't getting the jobs. To put it very succinctly that was the question. I said I had heard no discussion of the interests of the persons who needed relief and I also stated that the problems of the State Relief had not been discussed The paramount issue had been who could get a job and how quickly.

Q. What was the date of this meeting? It was in the Spring of '39?

A No, it was in July.

Q. July, '39?

A. July, '39, at the Ambassador

And when I got through with my statement, there was a bitter arraignment of the whole condition that the Governor felt called upon to make

I felt it was a direct cleavage between the Governor and myself. At least, the Assemblymen who were there jumped at me very bitterly; such fellows as Pelletier. He rose and interrupted me two or three times and he said that when the opportunity was given to him he was going to tell the Assembly what he knew about me and what sort of a scamp I was. When he arose, the Governor was going to stop him and I said, "No, Governor, I have said some very severe things and give those gentlemen an opportunity to say them against me." But then he got his eye on Freda Olson And it was just like drawing a herring across the track and he went after her instead of me because she hadn't put somebody that he wanted on a job But it blew up It was a foregone conclusion that Anderson was through and it had been so voiced That was on Friday.

I went on back to work and on Sunday of that week, the following week, the Governor asked me to come up to the Fairmont Hotel and have a discussion with him and I did go up there and Melvyn Douglas was there and he said, "Anderson as you know, is resigning as director, and I have got to have a new administrator of SRA."

There had been a long discussion for an hour in which it was not supposed that I was a part of it or anything any more and he ended up by saying that he wanted me to take that position I told him that that was quite possible.

Q. In other words, that you were to take Dewey Anderson's position as administrator?

A Yes I told him that I imagined that I had put myself outside the pale, from what I had said.

"Oh," he said, "I can square you with all those assemblymen."

I said, "I don't want you to square me with the assemblymen." I said, "What I said was true. I meant it and it was true and I don't want anybody to square me."

We talked quite a while and Melvyn Douglas got into the bandwagon, too. His attitude, however, I want to say, had been good. He wanted the elimination of politics and straight administration of SRA and so forth. And they both began putting on the pressure that it was my duty and so forth

I said, "Well, I have certain obligations and I don't want this job. It is a difficult one and so forth." I said, "Furthermore, I would have to consult with my partner and I would have to talk to my wife." I said, "However, I'll do this: I will go back to my hotel and I will talk to my wife and my partner and I will let you know tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock."

They said, "Now, is this just a gesture or are you really going to try to clear the deck so you can take it?"

I said, "I am endeavoring to clear the deck so that I can go ahead and do this job. I don't want to but," I said, "I will see about it."

And as I was leaving—I got ready and I went across to get my hat and the Governor said to me, "Now, I am very glad of one thing that you said a little while ago."

I said, "What is that?" I said, "Is it about Ballou?" I had made the statement when we were discussing it that I had nothing against him. I knew nothing against him personally. I knew nothing against his character; that, nevertheless, I felt he was wholly unqualified for the position in which they were trying to put him

And he said, "I am very glad you made that statement about Ballou."

And I said "Why?" And I had previously sat there and when he kept urging me, I said, "You tell me under what conditions you want me to take this job. I am not asking for it. I will listen to your statement." It was apparently to give me carte blanche authority.

And when I got ready to go away, he said, "I am very glad you said that about Ballou." He said, "Because I would like to have you take Ballou as your personnel officer over there and," he said, "he'll serve you faithfully, faithfully as a dog. He will keep these politicos off your back, whom you don't like, and" he said, "you'll have no difficulties with him at all."

And I was after my hat. I just winked at Melvyn Douglas as we went by. I winked at him and I kept on going. Of course, that ended it. I knew then that there was no chance. So I heard Melvyn Douglas say to the Governor, "Call him back here, Governor. Call him back. You've lost him." But he didn't.

And I went on and went right over to the hotel and wrote a statement to the Governor that under no circumstances would I accept the appointment. In other words, I saw moving in the same situation that had existed there with Dewey. So Dewey resigned the next day and the Governor—I went over at 10 o'clock with my letter to hand to him personally and the Governor was off to make some talk to some Legionnaires or something and he was not there. But I left it on his desk with instructions that nobody was to open it.

He didn't get back until about 12 o'clock and Dewey was to be in at 12, and he opened my letter just a few minutes before Dewey came in and he had to have a Director. I understand he sent out and tried to find me somewhere but he didn't find me. That was that. He appointed Walter Chambers, Acting Director, Acting Administrator.

Q You continued with your report and Mr. Chambers went on with the directorship?

A. Yes. I had about a month's work more to do. As Chambers moved in, of course, the things that the administration wanted done in SRA were done.

Q I would like to get this straight in my mind. When did you become Director of Finance?

A. The 1st of October.

Q Then there was a period of about two and a half to three months that Walter Chambers was the Director before you came in?

A. That is correct.

Q. But you had a good opportunity to observe his handling of the SRA?

A. Yes. He moved in carefully, that is, it is always considered when a man doesn't make any decisions and holds everything in abeyance that he is just being careful I thought that was more or less caution that was taking place at the start but I found it was habit or a general condition

Then I went over as Director of Finance and the Governor called me up along the first of October and wanted me to go in as Director of Finance At that time we had on the tape, as you recall, legislation looking towards the control of the oil situation in the State, the oil bill was up. I raised the point with him that I had not been favorable to that oil measure; I hadn't taken a very firm position one way or the other but I had rather felt that the Independents were probably more nearly correct from the standpoint of the State than the other crowd.

However, going on that commission that would be that important, I wouldn't want to go around the State holding hearings on oil problems and he said, "You know it is a fact," he said "that that is important but the Director of Natural Resources will be the man that will be the Chairman of that Commission and will handle the matters of shaping the policies, that will be in his hands and you will only be brought in incidentally on hearings."

And I said again, "Who is that person? Who is it going to be?"

And he said that he was going to appoint Mr. Richard Sachse as Director of Natural Resources. Well, I know Mr. Sachse very well, and in fact I introduced him to the Governor.

I said, "Well, is he going to accept?"

"Well," he said, "yes, he is."

I said, "Of course, I don't want this job."

And he said, "Well, you have roasted me on several occasions because of having young men and amateurs in many of my key spots. Now," he said, "take some of your own medicine," and so forth. That was true.

And I said, "Well, I'll let you know tonight."

And I got in touch with Sachse and I had a high regard for Richard Sachse and his conception of public duty and his experience He had had good experience. That is, he had had experience as an engineer, utility engineer for utility companies, both privately and publicly owned, and was held in high regard by all those men as a very efficient man. He had no experience in government and it is possible that I thought he would perform a little more efficiently than he has. But anyway, I found that he wouldn't go, so I called the Governor and said that I would go, but not agreeing to stay forever.

So I went up there and I had an opportunity, of course, as the Director of Finance is thrown in close relationship with the SRA, as he is with other departments, to see how it is administered and it was being very badly administered, particularly in the personnel department. Finally, I went into those focal points that mean so much in the matter of expense to the State. There was crowding in of appointments here and there, making of place The personnel department seemed to be working in reverse.

Q. Who was the personnel officer then?

A. At that time it was Harry Miller He had been put in by Chambers. As I understand, the proper working of the personnel department is to get up proper classified lists and from those lists certify to heads of departments upon requisition the proper people for the jobs He used to spend his time in going out into departments and trying to create positions, which I held was putting the reverse English on it. They were constantly behind and the matter of papers going over my desk were so many weeks and months behind that it occasioned trouble. I found that the officers would place people in jobs and not put through their AP-20's,—is that what you call them?—for months after they were at work. The fact that they got no pay during that time would create trouble and I found that the constant excuse was used throughout that that was the duty of the Finance Department.

Q. You mean that he would put people to work where there was no job?

A Well, I don't know whether there was a job or not. They would put them to work, yes

Q. Well, wasn't that the time they had the waivers that if the job wasn't created they would get paid anyhow?

A. That is right For instance, Alliston put 600 on here in Los Angeles County.

Q. With waivers?

A With waivers, because we had a rule to the effect that if the appointing officer puts somebody to work without authority and the appointment was not confirmed by the Department of Finance and the Personnel Board, that no liability should attach to the appointing officer; he would get a waiver to that effect, absolving him from liability on that matter The files were full of those I would continually ask that the thing be cleaned up, set a deadline, and would have a meeting with Miller and some of those people and they would bring in their lists and I said, "Let's get through this and know that we are through once and for all"

They would swear that everything was all through and the next thing I knew I would have 70 or 80 more And, of course, I laid that on to the personnel department.

Often I found, in justice to Miller, that when he was making these statements to me that they had cleaned everything up, that he thought so, but these people had already been appointed and nothing was said about it and the A. P. would come in after. And in most cases he said they should be done in small homeopathic doses.

These things continued, irregularities were present until the Legislature got uneasy and we had a committee appointed, as you recall, before the session of the Legislature, to look into the situation and the Governor and your committee made some statement through Anderson, I believe it was, some general statement relative to irregularities and extravagances and so forth that existed in SRA, all of which were true, and we could have given him some worse than that.

The Governor then called a meeting and wanted a Personnel Standards Committee set up which would look into the matter of this whole personnel arrangement and act in a way like the Personnel Board of the State in connection with the civil service employees. It had no direct authority. It was another one of those extra bodies, but as I say, it had no direct authority. Dwight Stevenson was chairman and Mr. Mallory and Ivan Spurbeck and myself and Philbrick were on that committee.

The committee went to work with earnestness, with a desire to be helpful in the determination to do a good job. That was the temper of the committee while I was on it, that they wouldn't stultify themselves on something unless they knew it to be a proper piece of work. They knew that they didn't have any authority but at least orders which they asked by SRA, since they were created by SRA, orders which they asked SRA to carry out, if they did not carry them out they at least had the defense of resigning and they went to work. They had a very close view of everything that was taking place in SRA. They first went to work with the Director of Finance. There came up in a session of the Legislature the matter of appropriations for the remainder of the biennium. That was one of the chief items on the agenda for the Legislature. The Legislature, as I recall it, met in January, you will recall, January 28th or 29th, and we asked in the Finance Department that the budgetary requirements of SRA be submitted some time in advance so that some investigation and study could be made of the request.

Four days before the Legislature met, or six days before the Legislature met, I got the first intimation of the budget. I had had Mr. Ruble, who is an auditor in our department making some investigations, and they had told me just as hearsay from some of them in the SRA that they were operating on a $112,000,000 biennium basis; that their rated expenditures at that moment and their estimates for case load for the future would be approximately $112,000,000 for the biennium. So that in so far as making any estimates of what our possible deficit might be or the warrant situation might be, I was wholly dependent upon making some sort of a guess as to what was happening over there.

Ruble came in to me one day and he said, "If you are laboring under the impression that that $112,000,000 figure is correct" he said, "you're going to be fooled." He said they were operating way above that.

I said, "Well, they've got to get something up here."

We teletyped and wired and finally they came in with a budget which asked, for the remainder of the biennium, for either 105 or 108 million dollars, I have forgotten which. I spent perhaps a couple of hours running over the budget and the Governor 'phoned me wanting to know if I had it and I said, "Yes."

He said, "What do you think of it?"

I said, "Well, I haven't had time to digest it at all but I would be glad to talk to you about it tonight." and I did. I went over to his house and I just handed it to him and he looked at the total figures and had quite as bad a reaction as I did. It was terrible. And he said, "What can you do about that?"

Q. That would have been a budget for what part of the biennium?

A. For last year.

By MR. WOLLENBERG:

Q. That would have been really for ten months?

A For about ten months that they were figuring for the budget.

Q. No, it would have been June 30, 1941, so it would have been sixteen months, seventeen months.

A. Sixteen or seventeen months They were endeavoring to make a complete budget for the entire biennium. So we talked that over and he said, "What can be done about this budget?"

"Well," I said, "the budget is largely on estimates"

I said, "A lot of it is dependent upon the future. That is No. 1."

Then I said, "There have been various inquiries in my office coming from members of the Legislature and from people out through the State relative to the effect of certain possible changes in eligibility in our costs"

I had made some estimates on those and if those were utilized it was possible that quite a considerable reduction in the budget might be made.

He said, "Well, I wish you would have a meeting immediately with those SRA people and make an investigation of all those possible alterations and changes and possible reduction in this budget and then give me a statement of it."

I said, "All right." I got them up.

He said, "Do you think a sum of that size is necessary?"

And I said, "No."

He said, "How much too much is it?"

And I said, "Well, offhand, I would say 30 million."

He said, "Do you mean to say that you could run SRA for 30 million less than they are asking for there?"

And I said, "Yes, and run it better."

"Well," he said, "that's a terrific amount, you'll have to show how that 30 million saving can be obtained."

Of course, the crux of this is the matter of the control of the intake. It is difficult to get direct estimates. I had an estimate in the matter of control of the intake making a saving of around 12½ per cent. They agreed around 10. We know now, as you gentlemen know, in your experience, that even that 12½ per cent was none too high.

By MR. PHILLIPS:

Q. That is right.

A. And the matter of a ceiling for a budget, the effect that would have, was opposed by most of what we would call the social minded group of SRA. I took the viewpoint, however, that we were not changing the standards of relief, that the matter of a budget (which is dependent upon a large family) was hitting at other social problems and that we couldn't bring in, under what is known as "relief" for those who were unemployed and who could be employed, all our social problems and try to solve them and pay for them under that It might be important to have a large family taken care of, it might be all right in some governments to subsidize large families, but we weren't doing that here.

That is what we would have been doing under those conditions. But, anyway, they opposed that situation, as you can see, and they also opposed the three-year residence rules rather than one-year residence. They called it retroactive if we applied it to those who were at present on the relief rolls. Of course, under the law as it existed, it wasn't necessary for the Legislature to set up three-year residence rules. It could have been done by the Relief Commission, but of course the Relief Commission were going to push the responsibility off on the Legislature They weren't going to do it. Of course all those things were suggested and estimates were made and, of course, as you know, there had been a reduction of that budget from 105 million that they wanted, to 95 million, on the basis that their so-called business trends were out of line with what we were estimating in the Finance Department.

In the Finance Department we had estimated that there was going to be a pickup in business Of course, we didn't know about this defense program that was coming on, but there was going to be a general pickup and we felt that our revenues from existing revenue laws were going to increase But here was another agency in the State with an estimate of quite the opposite trend We insisted that we would have to harmonize that They agreed, finally I asked them where they had their authority on the business trends. They only had one and that was the Alexander Hamilton Institute, which is all right, but it is more or less in the nature of an educational institution rather than a reporting agency.

We had employed all the best reporting agencies. The Alexander Hamilton Institute is high class I don't wish to criticize that.

By MR. WOLFENBERG:

Q But it is not as realistic as the others?

A No In any reporting agency in the field of industry, business and commerce, it is inclined to be six or seven weeks behind actual conditions. They report conditions They don't go out They catch the trend before they indicate it and then they will measure it somewhat. That change was then made, reducing the budget to 95 million But the Governor then, in his message to the Legislature, said that if certain reforms and changes in the rules of eligibility were made, that probably a 30-million reduction in this 95 million could be made but that it would occasion untold misery and suffering.

Now, certainly I did not put that in when I made the report to him, that it would occasion untold misery and suffering. While he had asked me to make those estimates, you all know that I am accused and was quite generally accused of fathering an economy program for reliefers and furnishing a program of economy for a smearing outfit of the Legislature lending them food and ammunition because of the position that I took in regard to relief. That was on the inside Charges were made against me all the way down the line, which I don't care for The facts are borne out that I was only partially correct; that the Legislature was nearer correct than I was, although I don't believe the Legislature claimed they knew about this defense program that was going to take place.

Q We admitted that we were simply trying it out and we didn't know whether our figures were correct or not.

A Well, it worked out that you were.

Q. That brings us up to about when? Some time in 1940, doesn't it?

A Yes Then we moved along in this picture until conditions under the loose management of Mr. Chambers—I want to say that that management was, I think, completely in line with what I would say the administration forces wanted. The general conditions in SRA had gotten to a point where the expenditures were exceedingly large. The Legislature had passed a new law and also had budgeted the appropriation so that it was necessary for a reorganization to accomplish what was necessary under that law to take place July 1st Well, it was evident to the administration that they didn't have the—I mean, the State administration—that they didn't have an SRA administration to accomplish that, so the Governor looked about to get somebody who could do it and Mr. Rubinow went in as SRA director.

Q. That brings us to a very moot question, Mr Richards. Maybe this would be a good place to ask you. We had appropriated a certain amount of money for a period of about June and then divided into quarters, into the first, second, and third quarter of the next three quarters. The charge is very definitely made that no economies were begun during the month of June and the charges have also been made, or at least we have been told they have been made, that that was pretty much on either orders or an understanding on the part of the administration Did you ever hear anything about that? Do you have any idea about that? In other words, why were no economies made during the last six weeks of Walter Chambers' administration, even though we had appropriated a limited amount of money which required economies?

A Well, I don't think there were any orders given to Chambers not to economize I think it is entirely a matter of his own methods of administration He knew, of course, that in order to square his organization with the new appropriations and limitations, he has got to reduce his administrative force enormously and he didn't undertake it. I think that he was laboring under the impression that somebody else would be given the job and that he just let it all drift and go to the new man I don't believe that anybody told Walter Chambers—I am guessing at that, but I am quite certain. I know the Governor was ——

Q Let me ask the question directly, then, Mr Richards The charge has been made, or we have heard it said, that the reason that was done was to bring about a crisis which might force reduction again in relief budgets to the ultimate embarrassment of the Legislature rather than the executive, as to the appropriation of the funds.

A Well, I don't think the administration knew enough about relief to figure that far ahead.

By MR PHILLIPS:

Q. When did you resign as director?

A I resigned approximately the 15th, somewhere around the 15th of September

Q I would like to ask you a very direct question because you know this and we have told you in your own office about it that is, you were one man in the administration, one of the very few men in the administration in whom the Legislature had confidence Now, you sort of stepped out, shall I say, not from under the Legislature, but left us with a very complete void in the department Now, we would like to know why you left

A. Well, of course, the statement that I made when I left was two-thirds correct, or rather, it was all correct It covered two-thirds of the field, and that is that I had other things that were demanding my attention and that I was neglecting The second one that was discussed, and I did discuss, was the fact that when I went into the service of the State I had hoped to be of some value to the State and not to be as an appointee in a job in a routine way

I felt that maybe there were certain general conditions in the State that could be remedied by setting up certain forces of investigation, drawing together of information and analyzing it, making it useful for the proper services of the Legislature or committees that they might set up that would enable us, perhaps, to make a better machine, a cheaper machine, a more efficient machine. I wanted to be a partner of some such piece of work as that.

When I became convinced that work of that character was not very important to the administration, I quit.

Q. The job was set up very definitely in the statutes and it was the intent of the Legislature that it would be exactly as you expected it to be You were supposed to have very definite budget control and advice and a sort of clearing house for all of the financial matters of the State

A It is more or less in the capacity, roughly described as a managerial capacity. The Legislature gave the Director of Finance power, for instance, to approve or disapprove appropriations, that is, expenditures; either for personnel or commodities. Heretofore, in nine cases out of ten, the Director of Finance would take a requisition and if there were unencumbered funds in the budget of that department sufficient to take care of that expenditure, a profit, whether it be for personnel or whether it be commodities Now, I took the position that approval or disapproval was a power granted by the Legislature and meant to go beyond pure routine; that I was supposed to examine into the need and necessity. Well, in some instances when we have got large expenditures in certain departments we did do that but many of the department heads took the position that I was trying to run their department and that if there was an unexpended balance, for me to question the expenditure was absolutely wrong; that I was meddling into a matter which was out of my department and was purely departmental administration. There is some truth in that

By MR. WOLLENBERG:

Q. Were you allowed to set up the type of department you wanted? I mean, most of it is civil service in that office personnel?

A. Yes. My department had one position that was not civil service and that was a deputy and was filled by George Killion, the man who is now Director of Finance. It has long been the policy, as you gentlemen know better than I do, in this State, when one administration succeeds another, when the Democrats succeed the Republicans or the Republicans succeed the Democrats, every newly elected Governor feels that he is under obligation to find jobs for the committees responsible for bringing about his election. One way of answering that is to get various heads of the Personnel Department to create new positions and fill those positions.

Otherwise, our personnel, under our civil service scheme of things, has just been adding on to the personnel of the State. We have, I know, Mr. Wood, of the Legislature Council Department, research department. He has felt it very keenly. We have nowhere, any set up scheme of evaluating and determining the adequacy or inadequacy of our personnel in various departments. It is added on and on and on, but the difficulties of getting rid of anyone make it almost impossible. Now, in my department I took it over as it existed. There has been added by such a process a deputy. He was supposed to be a legal deputy and it was filled by Jack Welch, and had been set up by the Personnel Department as a need and necessity. And the second assistant in there was a man by the name of Clifton. Now, Clifton is a good man, probably earns his money, but they had put him in there under the previous administration and the organization of all departments is such that they are filled with people who, under an efficiency examination, could be done away with. I should say that there were a half a dozen in the Finance Department.

Q. There is only one non-civil service job then, and that is the deputy?

A. That is right.

Q. Were you allowed to set up your department as you wished it?

A. No.

Q. Was he your selection, Killion?

A. No. He was there when I came in.

By MR PHILLIPS:

Q. He was there under Mr. Gibson?

A. Yes He was only appointed by Mr. Gibson shortly—Gibson had no deputy for a matter of months and when it became, I suppose—I didn't know, of course, anything about this—when the vacancy occurred over in the Supreme Court and Gibson was to go over there, why then he appointed a deputy so that there would be somebody to fill in after he left if there was no immediate appointment, to take his place.

By MR. WOLLENBERG:

Q. Did Killion, as your deputy, spend his time rendering his services to your department exclusively?

A. No. I think that Mr. Killion looked upon the Governor as the chief source of his responsibilities; that is, whenever the Governor asked him to do anything of any kind and character, even though it may be of a nature entirely outside of the Finance Department, he felt that he was called upon to do it. The routine obligations which I placed upon the deputy were limited.

Q. Did he ever exceed those obligations and undertake other duties?

A. Not in my department. He did lots of things outside that I considered were political in their character and nature. He was running all over the State for the Governor politically, but in so far as his work in my department was concerned, I have a routine for him to follow which, as far as I know, at least I have been led to believe after I left, I didn't have the correct reports in certain matters For instance, you know the Purchasing Department is in the Finance Department. They buy approximately $20,000,000 worth of commodities a year. We had a very simply operating rule when I was there and that was that our specifications should be as general as possible so as to make competition as free and broad as possible, and that other things being equal that the low bidder should always be awarded the contract. That was followed right straight through; and that on small contracts of less than a thousand dollars they did not come over my desk unless there was a controversy.

That, I had Killion handle. If it was above that, then it came over my desk.

And, of course, there were occasions when they did come on to my desk, where we had, like for instance, this stamp matter, revenue stamps, around a $40,000 contract; and the matter of oil contracts, they came over my desk. Anything, by request, would come over my desk. I found no irregularities. I found that there were at times disgruntled vendors who would make assertions that weren't true. Whether or not the recipients of contracts on the part of the State should be solicited for campaign funds was, of course, always a point of contention

By MR PHILLIPS.

Q. That is an interesting issue You mean that a vendor to the State was solicited for campaign funds, before the contract was let?

A. I never knew of anything of that sort specifically, but I found that there was a desire on the part of the politicos, or they felt that those who were the beneficiaries of contracts should be given the opportunity to contribute I insisted that no one should ever solicit before or after, anybody connected with my department, to my knowledge.

Q. You mean that was a point at issue between you and Mr Killion?

A No. Killion agreed with it quite generally. It was a point at issue between all the politicos, not necessarily in my department. Now, for instance, there used to be continual meetings in the Governor's mansion or others, of following what we called the council meeting. As I say, the thing that caused me primarily to resign was because I am not particularly interested in the political welfare of an individual. If he is a good man and a good public servant, yes, I want to keep him in there if possible But if building political fences is the chief concern of an administration rather than the good administration of the department of the State they are supposed to represent, and perhaps work out better ways in which to do that, if that is the principal objective, then I am through. So I quit.

By MR. WOLLENBERG:

Q Did you ever hear any discussion about solicitation of funds from vendors in the State?

A. Yes.

Q. Where did these discussions take place?

A. Well, one of them I was not present. I was told the day after I left from one of these meetings that one of my deputies said that, "Here's a big reservoir that isn't being touched at all and those men should be approached." I was told about it afterwards.

Q. What particular industry or what particular group of people did that include?

A. Well, it would include anybody that was a beneficiary under the State. If you were buying $20,000,000 worth of stuff, you can imagine that that includes everything from a Mazda lamp to oil.

Q. All vendors?

A. All vendors. Some might have very large contracts that they were interested in and were in possession of. I had left the meeting. You may recall. I had left that meeting. I was told that Welch developed that. I called him in afterwards and I told him I didn't want any discussion hereafter of my department when I was not present.

Q. That was Welch that brought up that discussion?

A. Yes.

Q. You mean that that applied to all contracts of less than a thousand dollars? That that was a source of campaign contribution?

A. Whether there was a source of campaign contribution being neglected?

Q. Did you ever hear any discussion in those conferences, as Mr. Wollenberg asked, concerning particular groups that should be approached for campaign contributions?

A. Yes.

Q If they didn't give campaign contributions, that might be a source of additional tax or a little pressure?

A. Well, no; I never heard them discuss it that way. The only time that I have heard groups discuss it, it was not in my department, I heard quite a long discussion as to why certain contributions could not come from the commercial fishermen.

Q. Well, that is what I mean. What were the contributions? How were they to be figured?

A. Well, there was, as far as I know, no precise method by which they were to determine those.

Q. Where did this discussion take place?

A. In a general meeting of all these heads of the departments and others who were asked by the Governor. That was preceding the last campaign down here, in November, wasn't it?

Q The primary campaign?

A. The primary campaign. They always needed money for political purposes. There was always a demand on the part of the Democratic State Central Committee or some other committee that was set up. They never had any money to do anything with.

By MR. PHILLIPS:

Q. You mean these conferences were held in the Governor's Mansion in Sacramento?

A. Often there or somewhere around the capital.

By MR. WOLLENBERG:

Q You spoke of commercial fishermen. They have to get a permit, don't they, for the quantity of fish they take? They have to report it and so forth to the Fish and Game Commission? They have to get a permit for their take, don't they?

A. That is right

Q. Now, was it to be based on their fishing permits?

A. Oh, well, now, they hadn't been worked out precisely as to the amount. It was just brought out as a source of funds which heretofore had been utilized and was not being utilized at the present time.

By MR. PHILLIPS:

Q. I take it from what you say there was sufficient of that to make you feel that you didn't like the job of Director of Finance? Am I right?

A. That is right.

Q. Coming back to Mr Killion You didn't appoint him? Mr. Gibson appointed him? I don't know his background, but would you say his background and experience and ability justified his appointment as Director of Finance? Did you recommend him as Director of Finance?

A. No.

Q. When you came out?

A. No.

Q. Would you say that his qualifications and background were sufficient for a Director of Finance in the State of California?

A. No. Of course, he had had some experience in there and he is more intelligent than I think most people give him credit for being. I have always been inclined to grant to the man, in making an estimate of character, you know, what he shows himself to be to me. I am told that he, of course, exhibited his very best side of himself at all times to me. I never saw anything on his part when his character was not all right. He has not had a lot of experience financially, although when I first went in there just preceding the Ham 'n' Eggs election, there was a question as to whether or not the commercial banks would buy our warrants up through the period of a month or so there preceding the election and we needed around 10 million to carry us through. And we wanted a general agreement between the banks, both in San Francisco and in Los Angeles, that they would buy those warrants, that there would be no question of our having to hawk those warrants around the State in small amounts

I was asked to come in, as Director of Finance at that time A day or so afterwards, Killion called me up and said that matter was on the table and did I want to handle it or did I want him to handle it.

Well, I hadn't taken any oath of office and he was in it at the time and I said, "I prefer you, as long as you are on it, to continue it."

He said, "Well, I don't know the Los Angeles bankers. I do have some acquaintances with the San Francisco bankers and I can do it with them."

I said, "All right. You come down here and I'll arrange a luncheon and get you together with the Los Angeles bankers. You, however, will have to present the matter to them as I am not familiar enough with it at this time to do so."

And I arranged such a meeting and he did present it to them and he did a very good job I was quite impressed with the man at that time. Of course, the statistics that he had were prepared by the analytical department, but he handled it well and the banks agreed to go along with this matter, although they charged us plenty of interest, as you know.

By MR. PHILLIPS:

Q. That was the time they increased the interest?

A. Yes.

Q. Did you get complete cooperation from all the people in the department? I mean, not merely Mr. Killion, but all of the others, Mr. Welch, Mr. Links, and all of the others in the department?

A. Yes.

Q. Did you have confidence in Mr. Killion's interest in the department, in his word?

A Well, as I say, the responsibilities that I gave Killion, I didn't have things on his desk, which, if he followed the rules that I have given him, could get me into much trouble whatever he did. I doubt whether Killion has had experience in the matter—take one thing of servicing various portfolios that are supposed to be serviced by the Finance Department.

Q. Bonds?

A. Yes. In round numbers, about a half a million dollars worth of bonds a month purchased for the various portfolios. That is continually getting more and more and more difficult because of the lists involved and nearly all of the board have adopted—they look to the Finance Department to revise their lists Not much more had been done by the Finance Department than act as brokers for the purpose of going into the market and getting it at the best price possible, the securities that they had eligible for investment for their portfolio at the time requested

There was a suspicion, of course, in the minds of many people that don't know a whole lot about the investment business, that lots of money can be made by getting more or less exclusive on that Well, there isn't much made on that. I had felt that a more careful service should be given to those portfolios in the way of analyses in connection with watching maturities and the general income situation and the requirement of the portfolios in regard to income, that all of that we should go over very carefully and set up a program to take care of that by the utilization part time of Mr. Procoff. He was on the eligible list. We didn't need him full time up there, but I felt that we could use him to do the purchasing as well, although I had used a young man, or a man who was then over in the Fairs Exhibit Department, by the name of Smith, to do the purchasing. He was pretty market wise and all that. But a lot of the brokers would insist that he was favoring this, that and the other, until I had him run everything over my desk, although he didn't.

Now, on that phase of purchasing and service why, I should say, no I doubt whether you could get a man in there as Director of Finance who has had investment experience who would have some knowledge of it

BY MR PHILLIPS.

Q I think we are interested, as a legislative body, in the matter of ability and integrity

A I have no basis on which to question his integrity I have never caught him in anything where I could specifically say there was a question as to his integrity.

Q. And that applies to all the people in the department, would you say?

A. Yes I have heard some of the people. There were constant reports brought to me by Mispley.

Q. That is the purchasing agent, Mr. Mispley?

A Yes I never found any of those things to be correct

Q Did you make any effort to check up on them?

A Yes, largely, they accused Mr. Mispley of having been a part of the old regime, rather than the new one. I knew this That one time when these bonds were up, these stamps, or revenue stamps, that the question was brought up between lithographed and engraved. The low bidder was a Chicago concern. It was just a matter of formality that they would have been awarded the contract, around $40,000 worth. They had a meeting with Mr Armstrong, who is the head of the Services Supply Department, in which the Purchasing Department Bureau at the present time exists.

Mispley and Armstrong were talking with this representative of this Chicago firm and they told him that the award had been made to his firm and the contract was just a formality of going on to my desk and being signed. After this conversation was all through, he said to those gentlemen, "Well, now, in my price I have made arrangements to take care of you gentlemen"

They said, "What do you mean by 'taking care of us'?"

He said, "The usual 10 per cent," which would be around $4,000.

And they immediately reported it to me and I threw the bid out at once

BY MR WOLLENBERG:

Q. Was there another occasion, I mean just about the time you left, that you threw a bid out because you thought there was some contribution being made or something, in connection with it, some contract?

A. I reorganized the bid because—I asked that it be thrown out. I asked for a bid It was on Mazda lamps We have a provision in this State something to the effect that where all or part of something is made within the State preference may be given to that particular bidder They were always identical bids. There is always a provision in each one of our contracts where it is optional whether or not we continue the contract for another year And the Westinghouse and General Electric are the bidders on these Mazda lamps.

Now, the General Electric maintain—I think it is the General Electric—they have a factory down at Oakland. They assemble part of their stuff down there and therefore are entitled to preference. Well, anyway, the Mazda lamp contract was up in, say, either July 1st or August 1st, one or the other, and the contract was renewed with the General Electric, as I recall, and it was not thrown open to bid, although under the contract existing it could have been done That was objected to on the part of the Westinghouse people. When they presented the matter to me, I knew nothing about it, nothing about anything that had occurred I listened to a representative of the Westinghouse and I asked him to come to Sacramento to see me, which he did do. And then I asked for the papers He handed them all in and I went over them and I said there was no object; if you want to bid on this, maybe they wouldn't be identical bids, we will get some difference, but there is no reason why we should stop you from bidding. I said, "therefore, I will open this and let it go ahead" I did that without any knowledge that anything had occurred. I afterwards heard that the local representatives, either in Sacramento or in some other place of the General Electric, had made a campaign contribution.

BY MR. WOLLENBERG:

Q. Through your department or directly to the Governor?

A No, not through my department, but they had made a contribution to somebody soliciting, somebody, I understand, by the name of Rose. Wasn't that the name of the fellow? Wasn't that the fellow who was a campaign solicitor? I think he runs a saloon or something there. Of course, when I learned of that, then I said, "Well, I don't know anything about this campaign contribution; there is certainly no obligation attaching over here, and we will have to declare this thing open."

Q. Was it a substantial contribution?

A. Well, I heard that it was either twelve or fifteen hundred dollars. I know nothing about it.

MR PHILLIPS: We don't want to tire you out but there are several things we want to ask specifically about while the stenographer takes a rest

(Short recess.)

By MR. PHILLIPS:

Now, will you continue?

A. I had supposed that every man in this State wanted the cost of work relief to go down, and also to accept the objectives which I knew Mr. Rubinow was working on, that he wanted to liquidate the department, that if he could get private industry to absorb all these people and say "There are no more" or "That there are so few that it doesn't pay to have a State organization; that he had accomplished his purposes and that the State had done what they had set out to do."

Q. In your earlier experience, did you see any effort on the part of the SRA to get people back to employment?

A. Well, yes, once or twice, the idea was developed by Chambers and continued under Anderson wherein there was a placement organization which was to supplement and work with the State Employment Service. The State Employment Service, I understand, now is much better than it was. And where we used to criticize the State Employment Service a whole lot, I imagine they had a whole lot of room for criticism on their side. They had classifications where it was impossible and everything of that character. But there never has been the hard-headed attempt made on the part of SRA to drive towards placing people in private employment, utilizing the agencies that exist and working this out as we should have had. Now, that is our out. The more often you change regimes and so forth, the more difficult it is to get a program of that sort in operation. It requires a lot of work and it requires the elimination of possible chiseling and the elimination of all that sort of thing. I am not certain about it but I am under the impression that we will have to come to a central index.

Q. Did you ever go into the expense of that? We like the idea and we just don't know the details of expense and so forth.

A. No, but there is a way of utilizing a lot that has already been done. Those partially exist. I am told that Mendocino County or some county had employed somebody to investigate the question of chiseling even in the categorical aid of the county and found an astonishing condition.

Q. Condition of duplication?

A. Of duplication and fraud. The elimination of all of those things and the emphasis upon the return to private employment means the liquidation of this department. What is your case load now?

Q. Thirty-nine thousand. It is going up. It is rising again. It was down to 38,000 and it is rising now and Mr. Wakefield wrote me a letter a few days ago and has asked to come before the committee today to say that it is rising again and he wants the Legislative Committee to be closely in touch with it to check on the rise. I want to point out to you that in spite of the fact that the defense program is taking men constantly, the case load is rising and I asked him why and he said he didn't understand it. Off the record.

(Discussion outside the record.)

By MR. PHILLIPS:

Q. What is your opinion of the Governor's knowledge and interest in relief?

A. Well, I should say that the Governor has a very considerable knowledge of relief and the administration of SRA; that its problems have been before him constantly since he has been Governor, and he has had innumerable hearings and conferences to acquaint himself with administrative problems and problems of personnel. It is my judgment that he is more interested in the matter of personnel than in the matter of proper objective in the operation of the department.

By MR. WOLLENBERG:

Q. You say he is more interested in personnel You mean certain individuals rather than qualifications or ability to do a job?

A. He is more interested in having persons in the personnel who will aid, and, in his opinion, develop the political fortunes of the administration.

By MR. PHILLIPS:

Q. I would like to ask you a question about another contract that we have heard something about but have no details concerning. Do you know anything about a contract with the Calaveras Cement Company? What was the story about that. Or the Calaveras Oil Company. The Calaveras Cement Company was on another matter. I am referring now to the Calaveras Oil matter.

A. That was with the Land Commission It is a simple matter It is down there in the Rio Vista field. There is a gas field there that was developed two or three years ago in which the State owns considerable interest in the lands under the river and so forth, so that it owns about a tenth of the field. It called for tenders for State interests in the gas field and to a limitation of 31 per cent upon any bid There were two bids, Calaveras and Standard of California, in which the Standard of California offered 50 per cent of the production as royalty to the State. Both of those tenders were submitted to Mr. Soper, who is an engineer connected with the University of California at Los Angeles and has been utilized by the Governor in a lot of his Huntington Beach difficulties, to analyze the relative value to the State of California of those two tenders He reported that the tender of the Standard Oil Company was worth over a million dollars more to the State of California than that of the Calaveras bid, upon which the Land Commission awarded the contract to the Standard of California. Calaveras seemed disappointed because they wanted some oil to run their plant up there at Calaveras and asked for a reopening of the case. When I was on the commission we had a hearing as to whether we should reopen, but we did not. Mr. Riley and Mr. Patterson seemed satisfied with the regularity of the procedure and the values that would come to the State. They owned a little acreage of their own in fee, the Calaveras Company, and they had asked for a right-of-way to get into that land of theirs and part of that, about six or seven hundred feet of it, would be over lands controlled by the Land Commission and the other by the Reclamation Commission. The Reclamation Commission had granted Calaveras a lease on a royalty basis. I don't know why they should grant a royalty for lease purposes because the right to pass State lines with a pipeline or something has been a routine. We have let many people have it for a small fee and they seemed quite dubious about getting it from us. The Reclamation Board seemed very anxious that we grant them this.

I said, "There will be no question as far as I am concerned about Calaveras getting the right-of-way to cross our lands. However, there will be a limitation made by the Land Commission upon the oil or on the gas which they may take out of this well and transport across this right-of-way. We will not allow them to take State oil or State gas. Whatever they own they have a right to take. They can have it for a dollar a year or whatever is necessary, because granted under those conditions with a severe limitation in that lease, that they could only take such gas as they were entitled to under a prorate basis."

Well, then, it seems that after I left they came in with contentions that they really were the lowest bid because they had a guaranteed minimum of 400,000 cubic feet and so forth. Well, of course, that doesn't answer the question at all, but I understand they have been at it. The Calaveras people came to me once or twice afterwards and finally the old gentleman who was at the head of it; I said, "I don't know why you people have had so many people calling me up, or calling the Land Commission about this. It is a simple matter." I said, "Whom have you employed in this matter?" He told me, frankly, that they had employed a firm by the name of Alport & Olson to represent them in this matter.

I said, "They have never been in here, never been before this commission or done anything for it that I know anything about."

I said, "Furthermore, there isn't anything that they can do that you couldn't do."

That is the way I left it. I understand now, they are raising—Killion called me up sometime afterwards and asked me what I thought of the situation and if that wasn't the best bid.

I said, "It doesn't make any difference. All you need to do is to turn the matter over to the Attorney General's office and ask him whether or not we have made a binding contract." I said, "That's the answer to it."

Of course we had.

By MR. WOLLENBERG:

Q. The firm of Alport & Olson, of course, is the one in which the son of Governor Olson, or Richard Olson, is a partner?

A. Yes.

Q. Did the Governor, himself, make any representations in regard to this contract or deal?

A. He appeared at the time we had the hearing.

Q. What for? On behalf of Calaveras?

A. Apparently not. He said he just wanted to see our procedure and to listen to our handling of this matter.

Q. Did he express himself on the subject?

A. No, only the award was made right there before him and he told me he didn't see how we could do otherwise.

Q. He didn't ask for a reopening of the matter?

A. No. Of course, I do say this, knowing the personnel of SRA as I do, and what is taking place, that I can see the appointment of the present director or administrator as being a move to return into key places the very people who had cost the State and wasted so much of the State's money heretofore. The same gang is being brought back. It is a travesty on public service. If we are going to have the Ballous and the Estells and all of that crowd brought back in there to administer one of the most important functions of the State ——

By MR. WOLLENBERG:

Q. Do you know where Estell is now?

A. No.

Q. You didn't hear that he was Assistant Secretary of the State Board of Health?

A. Well, you know the minute they have a new head of a department they establish their—I had supposed you knew that there was some scheme of things in the administration of the State whereby the constituted authorities of the State determine where the head of that organization should be. Hadn't you supposed so? Well, now, apparently whenever there is a new man appointed to the head of anything, why the head office is wherever he chooses to be If he lives in Los Angeles, he wants it down here If he lives in San Francisco, he wants it up there.

Q The Legislature thought a great many times, and several times has expressed itself on the subject, that that was the case, but it then begins to slip away again Mr Irving seems to have had several headquarters but none at which he lived so that he could draw his per diem We understand that Mr Armstrong, the assistant in that department, also is rather a floating gentleman. Did you know that?

A I didn't know in regard to it. Didn't he live there? He seems to know everybody.

Q. He doesn't spend much time on real estate matters, I understand

A Oh, he is a political solicitor.

Q. What does he do in that regard?

A. Well, he is one of the little fellows that has to go about and see that they get enough money to keep the political organizations going

By MR. WOLLENBERG:

Q Does he collect from State employees?

A Yes

Q. Did he do that in the SRA? I mean, at one time?

A. Not to my knowledge, that I don't know

By MR PHILLIPS:

Q. Did he collect from you?

A Yes.

By MR. WOLLENBERG:

Q. Was it on a percentage basis of salary?

A. Yes; 10 per cent.

Q 10 per cent of the salary?

A Yes.

Q He would collect monthly?

A Yes

Q From your pay check?

A. Well, they got out of it this way I don't think they all paid it but they could or could not, pay it into what was known as the Democrat Associates

Q. You don't know, though, whether there was any Hatch Act violations on file there on the part of SRA, or attempted ones?

A No, I don't think there was. They were pretty careful on that I don't know what they did with the money. When Rubinow was busy eliminating a lot of those political palookas from the SRA, they were busy giving those jobs over in the Democratic organization. Sid thought that was all right, he said, because he didn't have anything to do with that. The administration of SRA has been so important in the State and means so much, you know it makes a difference between our running on a surplus and running in the red, and I can't understand why any administration shouldn't want it very carefully administered

The Governor asked me if, if there is no increase in revenue, will you be able to sell our warrants even of this biennium and I said, "Yes"

Well, the Governor objected He took me to task for that statement.

I said, "I don't understand, Governor, why you are objecting That is the truth" I said, "Members of the Legislature know that just as well as I do" I said, "They have their sources of information. They can ask any commercial banker as well as I can" I said, "The commercial bankers will tell them if our deficit doesn't go beyond a certain point they will continue to buy our warrants and our deficits will not go beyond that point at our present rate of expenditures."

Well, he said "that statement of itself will preclude the possibility of getting through new revenue legislation"

I said, "I don't understand what you think I should do."

He said, 'You could equivocate"

Well, had I equivocated there wouldn't be a member of the Legislature who wouldn't have known it immediately If I had said, "I don't know," or something of that sort, they would have said, "Couldn't you ask and determine quickly enough?" That was one point. The other thing was that he felt that the financial program was wrong the situation was, of course, that our deficit would not reach a point where we wouldn't have sale of our warrants and the second was that I took the position with him all the time that we ought not to expect the Legislature to give us revenue measures that would liquidate our deficit in his term of office; that it had taken us ten years to accumulate that deficit and to do away with it in two or three years meant revenue laws of such a severe character that it would simply invite opposition and would be impossible to pass.

He said, "How long should we take?"

"Well," I said, "It has taken us ten years to accumulate this deficit. Why not spread our liquidation over a period of ten years?"

He objected to that very fundamentally. I don't know why.

I had a different opinion I had an idea that a Director of Finance, if asked to prepare and make recommendations relative to revenue, he should make it on his own judgment and not accept absolute orders from the Governor as to what should be done; that, I never did do, and, of course, wouldn't do I understand now that they have gotten quite an economy idea.

BY MR. PHILLIPS.

Q. Yes, we have been reading the papers too We gather that the administration has joined the economy bloc

A I don't see how this Legislature—of course, if this administration had left Sid in there and kept you fellows lulled in peace and had continued in the administration it would have gotten by the next session of the Legislature and then if they had kicked you out that would have been the procedure

MR. PHILLIPS:

I believe that is all.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE
SACRAMENTO, January 7, 1941

To the Honorable Members of the Assembly
Sacramento, California

GREETINGS: In accordance with the provisions of Section 1 of Article VII of the Constitution of California, I hereby transmit to you a report of the cases of pardon, commutation of sentence and reprieve issued by me from January 2, 1939, to January 1, 1941.

Very truly yours,

CULBERT L OLSON, Governor of California

Message of Governor Concerning Pardons, Commutations and Reprieves Granted by Governor Culbert L. Olson for Period 1939-1941

To the Members of the Senate and Assembly of the State of California

In accordance with the provisions of Section 1 of Article VII of the Constitution of California, I hereby transmit to you a report of the cases of pardon, commutation of sentence and reprieve issued by me from January 2, 1939 to January 1, 1941.

You will note that I have granted 75 pardons, 49 commutations of sentence and 56 reprieves This represents a reasonable middle ground between a biennium such as 1933-1935 when 267 pardons and restorations of citizenship, 39 commutations and 68 reprieves were granted, and the biennium of 1937-1939 when only 48 pardons, 21 commutations of sentence and 18 reprieves were granted.

I have adopted as a policy the reference of every application of executive clemency submitted to my office to the Advisory Pardon Board for a thorough investigation, consideration and a recommendation to me. As a result of this policy, there have been filed with my office and, therefore, with the Advisory Pardon Board, a total of 621 applications. A recapitulation submitted to me by the Advisory Pardon Board indicates that I have followed its recommendation in approximately 97½ per cent of the cases.

Respectfully submitted.

CULBERT L. OLSON, Governor of California

Commutations of Sentence

CLARENCE L ANDREWS, Folsom No. 15375, (4T) pleaded guilty to the crime of forgery after three prior convictions of forgery in Los Angeles County on July 19, 1928. Recommended by the Board of Prison Directors and by a majority of the Justices of the Supreme Court. Sentence commuted from life without the possibility of parole to 12 calendar years. Dated February 28, 1939.

BENNIE BONIFACIO ARANDA, San Quentin No. 61781, convicted in the County of Alameda, of the crime of first degree murder, on December 6, 1937. Sentenced to be executed on October 27, 1939 Dr D. G Schmidt, resident psychiatrist at San Quentin, stated that there was a definite amnesia during the commission of the crime, with factors to have produced a state of temporary insanity. Dr. A J Rosanoff, Director of the State Department of Institutions, concluded his report with the statement that only a partial criminal responsibility existed at the time of the offense. Ample medical evidence also existed to show that the applicant is juvenile in mind, and Hon. Willard W. Shea, Public Defender of Alameda County, counsel for applicant at his trial, stated that he had received several lengthy arguments from public and State officials urging that under the California law a person under the age of 18 years can not legally be executed and that applicant's mental age had been determined to be far below the actual age of 18 years. Sentence commuted from death to life imprisonment, October 20, 1939. (Aranda died in San Quentin one month later.)

GEORGE G. ALTON, San Quentin No. 56932, convicted of kidnaping for the purpose of robbery, in Kern County, on November 19, 1934. Recommended by the Board of Prison Terms and Paroles, following a review by that board of cases which did not seem to come within the spirit of the habitual criminal or kidnaping laws. Judge Robert B Lambert, of the Kern County Superior Court, also recommended a commutation to a sentence more in accord with the crime committed Chief of Police Powers of Bakersfield, Chief Scout James E West of the Boy Scout movement, and Governor Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts also recommended a commutation of sentence Sentence commuted from life to 16 years, June 2, 1940.

EARL M BARNES, San Quentin No 64008, pleaded guilty of the crime of falsification of public records in San Diego County on September 1, 1939 Recommended by the Board of Prison Terms and Paroles, by District Attorney James B. Abbey of San Diego County, and by the Advisory Pardon Board. A commutation of sentence to six years granted December 23, 1940

JOHN H BRITE and COKE T BRITE, Folsom Nos 20662 and 20661, found guilty on December 22, 1936, in Siskiyou County of the crime of murder in the first degree Recommended by a majority of Justices of the Supreme Court, by Hon. James Davis, District Attorney for Siskiyou County at the time of the conviction, and by two of the jurors who stated that upon reflection they considered the death penalty to be extreme and that a commutation should be granted. Hundreds of letters and petitions were received from citizens of Siskiyou and neighboring counties, some presenting clues and information indicating that applicants acted in self defense and all urging consideration The trial transcript indicated sufficient doubt of applicants' guilt of first degree murder. Sentence commuted from death to life imprisonment May 8, 1939

WARREN K. BILLINGS, Folsom Prison No 10699, convicted on September 21, 1916, of the crime of first degree murder in the County of San Francisco Commutation of sentence recommended by a majority of members of the Supreme Court, as advised by Chief Justice Waste Action taken in view of the fact that he was convicted upon perjured testimony and through suppression of evidence and that he is innocent of the particular crime for which he was convicted In addition it was pointed out by many leading members of the California Bar that he was not charged, tried or found guilty of having been previously convicted of a felony. Sentence commuted to time served, October 17, 1939

ALLAN D. BOGGS, San Quentin No 60561, convicted of first degree murder in Santa Cruz County, June 22, 1937. Dr. Joseph Catton, psychiatrist, submitted medical facts which showed that the applicant had for some time manifested a hereditary mental disorder, that he had long been an intemperate user of alcohol, and that he had been continuously under the influence of liquor for weeks previous to the day of the crime Dr D G Schmidt, psychiatrist at San Quentin, stated that applicant was probably in a state of alcoholic amnesia when he committed the felony. Hon Max Eatson, Adult Probation Officer of Santa Clara County, and Hon. Orie W. Dunlap, Chief Investigating Officer in the case, stated that a mass of evidence which had come to light since the trial pointed conclusively to applicant's insanity when he committed the crime Six of the jurors subsequently submitted recommendations for a commutation of sentence to life imprisonment Dr. John T. Harrington, who was a witness for the prosecution, Dr Frank P. Ware, the Boggs family physician, close personal friends of applicant and his wife, and a large number of persons who knew the background and conditions, all testified to applicant's intemperance and mental unbalance and petitioned for consideration of his application Upon all of this evidence commutation of sentence to life imprisonment granted November 28, 1939

FRANCISCO CANSINO, San Quentin No. 60416, found guilty of the crime of first degree murder in Los Angeles County on May 24, 1937 Reports from ten psychiatrists showed that applicant was diseased at the time of the commission of the crime and aroused considerable controversy as to the extent to which the disease had impaired his reasoning processes Former Chief of Police James E Davis of Los Angeles recommended clemency on the basis of the doctors' diagnosis of applicant's mental condition, and Frederick H Vercoe, Public Defender of Los Angeles County, also recommended that the death sentence be commuted Commutation to life imprisonment granted June 19, 1939

SIDNEY CHAPLIN, San Quentin No. 55528, convicted in Alameda County, February 9, 1934, of violation of Section 209 of the Penal Code, robbery first degree, and attempted robbery Recommended by the Board of Prison Terms and Paroles, following a review by that board of cases which did not come within the spirit of the habitual criminal and kidnaping laws, and also by the Advisory Pardon Board Sentence commuted to 16 years Dated June 25, 1940.

JESSIE JAMES CORDOVA, San Quentin No 62953, convicted of first degree murder in San Diego County, January 16, 1939 Dr A. J Rosanoff, Director of the State Department of Institutions, in his examination of the applicant, reported manifestations of paranoid personality and, in incipient form, grandiose and persecutory delusions, giving rise, under unusual stress and provocation, to total inability to reach any reasonable compromise. Dr. D J. Schmidt, psychiatrist at San Quentin, concluded a five-page report with the statement that it was quite possible that applicant was in an active state of insanity when he committed the crime The Advisory Pardon Board recommended a commutation to life imprisonment. Granted July 8, 1940

OLIVE DALERIO, confined in the California Institution for Women at Tehachapi, convicted of conspiracy to commit grand theft, and grand theft, in Tulare County, August 9, 1939. Applicant's physician reported that she could not recover from present serious ailments without proper hospitalization In view of her impaired physical condition and the fact that the amount of time served would seem to have been sufficient punishment, a commutation to time served was granted August 19, 1940.

PASQUALE D'ANGELO, San Quentin No. 62534, sentenced to be executed at San Quentin November 24, 1939 Recommendation of Judge I. M Golden, of the San Francisco Superior Court, of Attorney J. A. Pardini, of San Francisco, who did not represent the applicant, and the psychiatric examination of Dr Rosanoff, Director of the State Department of Institutions, all testify to mental abnormalities and extreme emotional disturbances and preclude the possibility of premeditated murder Death sentence commuted to life imprisonment November 22, 1939

RAY DAVIS, San Quentin No 55475, convicted in Alameda County, February 6, 1934, of violation of Section 209 of the Penal Code. ELWOOD GIDNEY, San Quentin No 61283, convicted in Los Angeles County on January 20, 1937, of the crime of rape The favorable recommendation of the Advisory Pardon Board was based on information revealed by the State Division of Criminal Investigation and the fact that the trial jury had recommended probation The Supreme Court also found grounds for questioning the verdict but due to a technicality was unable to reverse the judgment Applicant and his accomplices, Omar Gidney, San Quentin No 61284, and Harvey Allen Zike, San Quentin No 61298, have served over two and one-half years in prison Commutation of sentence to time served granted to each of these three applicants October 23, 1939.

The Board of Prison Terms and Paroles recommended clemency pursuant to its recent study of the present applicability of the habitual criminal and kidnaping laws to cases in which conviction had formerly been made under those laws A commutation of sentence was granted August 15, 1939, thus enabling the Parole Board to consider parole for this applicant at such time as might be proper.

BEDIE HEARNESBERGER, San Quentin No 45387 Pleaded guilty to the crime of murder, in Alameda County in May, 1928, applicant being the survivor in a suicide pact Sheriff M. B. Driver of Alameda County stated that applicant's record on parole was excellent, that he sought reinstatement in the United States Navy and that the sheriff's office had no objection to clemency being granted him. Chief of Police B. A. FRANK D. KEATON, San Quentin No. 49068. Convicted of murder in Los Angeles County on September 15, 1930. Recommended by Willard W. WILBERT F. KING, San Quentin No. 62722, convicted of the crime of murder in the first degree in Fresno County on November 29, 1938. Four of the trial jurors stated that they had labored under a misapprehension in considering the evidence and they now recommended a life sentence. The psychiatric report of Dr. A. J. Rosanoff, Director of the Department of Institutions, disclosed that applicant had suffered illness and a head injury in his youth that had probably resulted in a susceptibility to alcohol. This was borne out in an affidavit by his brother, Charles W. King of Fresno. A great number of petitions were received from citizens of Fresno and from Las Vegas, Nevada, applicant's former home, indicating good moral character until he took to excessive drinking. Evidence further showed that applicant's companion, Neil Anderson, did the actual shooting and that King had done all in his power to assist the victim. Applicant and his associate, Lyle Woollomes, San Quentin No. 58229-A, have steadfastly denied their guilt or implication in the slaying; affidavits from five eye-witnesses were produced after the trial and conviction setting forth the belief that both were victims of mistaken identification. The subsequent investigation made for the Advisory Pardon Board, by the Division of Criminal Identification and Investigation, brought forth statements by eight witnesses not called at the time of the trial that applicant and his codefendant were not the persons who killed the victim. The Advisory Pardon Board recommended a commutation to life imprisonment for both Lariscy and Woollomes; Dr. A. J. Shuder, Director of Education at San Quentin, urged clemency for Lariscy. JOSEPH E MITCHELL, of Salinas, convicted on October 2, 1939, of violation of Section 245 of the Penal Code and sentenced to one year in the county jail The chief of police, the city manager and the mayor of Salinas recommended the granting of the application, as well as the complaining witness and all of the members of the trial jury, each stating the belief that the applicant had been amply punished Sentence commuted, on August 14, 1940, to payment of a fine of one hundred dollars ($100) or, in default of payment, imprisonment for 30 days in the county jail.

Two of the trial jurors have subsequently urged that the sentence be commuted to life imprisonment Mr Justice Houser, in a seven-page dissent to the majority opinion of the Supreme Court, stated that while the jury had been fully instructed with reference to the crime of murder it had no instruction relating to the crime of manslaughter, and he believed the error had been prejudicial to applicant's rights. John Gee Clark, Director of Penology, recommended the granting of clemency Numerous public officials and private citizens in applicant's former home, Eldorado, Arkansas, sent petitions certifying to his character and industry. Applicant was only 20 years of age when he committed the crime, and all recommendations expressed a belief that he was not a confirmed criminal and had intelligence and ability to make a contribution to society Sentence commuted to life imprisonment, March 27, 1940

JAY SHERIDAN, Folsom No 16061 Convicted in San Diego County on December 29, 1929, of the crime of forgery and three prior convictions The Advisory Pardon Board recommended that the sentence be commuted inasmuch as the crime of forgery had, since applicant's conviction, been deleted from the habitual criminal statute, and in view of the fact that none of the applicant's offenses had involved violence A majority of the Justices of the Supreme Court recommended that the application be granted. Dr. Margaret Smyth, Medical Director and Superintendent at the Stockton State Hospital, who had examined applicant, concluded her report with a favorable recommendation Trial Judge Dal Lemmon of Sacramento County pointed out the injustice of the bifurcated plea of "not guilty" and "not guilty by reason of insanity," depriving the jury, in one trial, of information which it should have in both but received only in the second trial after the verdict had been given. MOTION TO PRINT SPEECH IN JOURNAL

Mr. Desmond moved that the speech by Mr. Voigt, introducing Capt. Claude B. Mayo and the officers and cadets of the California Maritime Academy, be printed in the Journal.

Motion carried.

Mr. Speaker and Members of the Assembly:

We have as our guests this morning the Superintendent, officers and Cadet Corps of the California Maritime Academy who are paying us this visit before starting on their training cruise January 15th which will take them to Mexico, Central America and Panama—then to Honolulu and back to the United States.

I know that they all have our best wishes for bon voyage and a safe return to the United States.

The Legislature may well be proud of the California Maritime Academy, which has moved into the foreground as one of the most important of our institutions, in the National Defense Program These men are all in the Naval Reserve and are being called to active service as rapidly as they can qualify for their duties as deck or engineer officers

A few days ago the President announced that in addition to ships now built and being built, 200 additional 7,500-ton merchant ships would be built, also 280 additional small craft, mine sweepers, mine layers, and sub-chasers would be constructed in addition to naval vessels now being built This will call for thousands of trained officer personnel and there is already an acute shortage in that part of our defense program. I believe these facts illustrate the tremendous importance and responsibility suddenly thrust upon the California Maritime Academy.

No one can foresee accurately all the events of the future, and perhaps it is well, but the flames of war which have engulfed most of the world, impel us to believe that the time of our own trial by fire may be near, and that this Nation may again be called to give its blood and treasure to defend the heritage of free representative government and its rightful independence among the nations of the world

If that time comes, we can be sure that these proteges of ours will perform their duties faithfully and well. When the future welfare of the Nation is at stake, factional or party differences will disappear, and as we expect these young men to give their best to the State and the Nation, I am sure that the Legislature will give its best patriotic support to the California Maritime Academy.

May we again extend a cordial welcome to the captain, officers and Cadet Corps, and request that their names be inscribed as our guests in the Journal of the Assembly.

May I ask that the Speaker present the commanding officer and that he be given the privilege of the rostrum to tell us of the California Maritime Academy and its part in the defense program.

RECESS

At 10.55 a.m., on motion of Mr. Voigt, the Assembly recessed until 11.10 a.m., to hear from Captain Claude B. Mayo, U. S. Navy (Retired).

No recess or adjournment shall be taken during a call of the Assembly. During such call the Assembly may consider and transact any matter of business by unanimous consent. No call of the Assembly shall be ordered on any matter while the Assembly is already under call. Seventh—To refer or re-refer;

Appeal From Decision of the Speaker

40. Any member may appeal from a decision of the Speaker without waiting for recognition by the Speaker, even though another member has the floor. No appeal is in order when another is pending, or when other business has been transacted by the Assembly prior to the appeal being taken.

Upon the appeal being seconded, the Speaker may give his reasons for the decision, and shall forthwith put this question to the Assembly: "Shall the decision of the Speaker be sustained?"

An appeal can not be amended and yields only to a motion to recess or adjourn, to lay on the table, or a question of personal privilege. If an appeal be laid on the table, such action shall have no effect on the pending question.

An appeal can not be debated when relating to indecorum, transgression of rules, or priority of business. A majority vote of the members present shall decide any appeal

To Adjourn

41. A motion to adjourn is not debatable and can not be amended, and is always in order, except (a) when another member has the floor; (b) when the Assembly is voting; (c) during a call of the Assembly. The name of any member moving an adjournment and also the hour at which the motion was made and adjournment taken, shall be entered on the Journal. Such a motion to adjourn must be adopted by a majority vote of the members present.

When such a motion to adjourn is made and seconded, it shall be in order for the Speaker, before putting the question, to permit any member to state to the Assembly any fact relating to the condition of the business of the Assembly which would seem to render it improper or inadvisable to adjourn. Such statement shall not occupy more than two minutes and shall not be debatable.

To Recess to a Time Certain

42. A motion to recess to a time certain shall be treated the same as a motion to adjourn, except that such motion is debatable when no business is before the Assembly, and can be amended as to the time and duration of the recess. It yields only to a motion to adjourn.

To Lay on the Table

43. A motion to lay on the table is not debatable and can not be amended.

A motion to table a bill, constitutional amendment, concurrent or joint resolution requires a majority vote of the entire elected membership.

Any motion to lay on the table, if carried by a majority vote of the entire elected membership, carries with it the main question and everything that adheres to it; provided, however, that a motion to lay an amendment on the table, if adopted, does not carry with it a bill, constitutional amendment, concurrent, joint or House resolution.

A motion to lay an amendment on the table may be adopted by a majority vote of the members present.

The Previous Question

44. The previous question shall be put only when demanded by five members, and in this form: "Shall the question be now put?" And its effect, when sustained by a majority of the members present, shall be to put an end to all debate and bring the House to a vote only on the question then pending; except that the proponent of the matter pending shall be allowed not to exceed five minutes to close the debate.

46. A motion to postpone to a time certain shall be deemed and treated as a motion to set as a special order.

Motion to Postpone Indefinitely

47. When a motion is made to postpone indefinitely any bill, motion or amendment, it opens the main question to debate. Should the motion to postpone indefinitely prevail by a majority vote of the entire membership, the main question shall not be acted upon again during the session.

Motion to Amend

48. A motion to amend may itself be amended, but no "amendment to an amendment" can be amended. A motion to amend is debatable, except where the main question to be amended is not debatable. Any motion to amend may be adopted by a majority vote of the members present.

A motion to amend having been decided in the negative, shall not again be in order on the same day, or at the same stage of proceeding. A motion to amend by striking out certain words having been decided in the negative, shall not preclude a motion to amend by adding words, or a motion to amend by striking out and inserting words; but in no case shall a further amendment be substantially the same as the one rejected.

Subject to the above provisions of this rule, a motion to amend is in order during the second or third reading of any bill.

A motion to lay an amendment on the table may be adopted by a majority vote of the members present, as provided in Rule 43.

Amendment to Be Germane

49. No amendment to any bill, whether reported by a committee or offered by a member, shall be in order when such amendment relates to a different subject, or is intended to accomplish a different purpose, or requires a title essentially different from the original title of any bill.

No amendment shall be in order which adds or deletes the name of a member as an author or co-author, or which changes the original number of any bill.

Withdrawal of Motions

55. After a motion is stated by the Speaker, or a bill, resolution or petition read by the clerk, it shall be deemed to be in the possession of the Assembly.

Motion to Be Germane

56. No motion or proposition on a subject different from that under consideration shall be admitted as an amendment.

Bills Reported Back to Assembly

57. All committees shall act upon bills referred to them as soon as practicable, and when acted upon each bill shall be reported back to the Assembly forthwith, and the chairman of each committee is charged with the observance of this rule.

Motion to Withdraw and Recall Bills

58. A motion to withdraw a bill or resolution from committee, or to re-refer a bill or resolution from one committee to another committee may be made during the regular order of business. A motion to re-refer shall only be debatable as to the propriety of such reference.

No bill or resolution shall be withdrawn from committee and placed upon the Calendar except upon two days' notice thereof and except by a recorded vote of a majority of the elected members.

No motion to rescind the action and expunge the record shall be made twice on the same proposition.

Reference of Bills to Committee

61. Immediately following its first reading the Speaker shall refer each bill to a committee, unless upon a motion, the Assembly by a majority vote of its entire elected membership, shall refer it to some other committee. 1. Committee of the Whole.
2. Standing Committee.
3. Special Committee.

62. The Chief Clerk shall cause to be kept a permanent record of every action taken by the Assembly on every bill, and the date of such action. Every such action and the date thereof shall also be indorsed upon such bill.

63. Constitutional amendments, concurrent and joint resolutions may be amended by a majority of the members present and shall be treated the same as bills, except that they shall be read but once. The report of the Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment shall be in order at any time.

MOTION TO PRINT MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR IN JOURNAL

On motion of Mr. Bennett, the following message from the Governor was ordered printed in the Journal:

First Biennial Message of Governor Culbert L. Olson to the Fifty-fourth Legislature of the State of California

To the Senate and Assembly of the State of California

Section 10 of Article V of our State Constitution, which has been a part of our Constitution since 1849, provides that the Governor, "shall communicate by message to the Legislature, at every session, the condition of the State, and recommend such matters as he shall deem expedient." It is in the performance of that duty that I appear before you at this opening session of the Fifty-fourth California Legislature; also to extend my greetings and best wishes for the success of your legislative labors and for your personal well being; also to express my sincere desire that we shall engage in the performance of our respective duties in a spirit of cooperation with constructive purpose and mutual respect for the dignity of our offices.

We enter upon this year of 1941 with improved conditions in State finances, due to the increased activity of certain California industries, in which vast expenditures are being made by the Federal Government in carrying forward a program of National defense. This has increased the State's revenues under our existing revenue laws to the point of balancing our current month to month expenditures, and they may gradually reduce the accumulated deficit which a year ago, before the Nation entered upon a program of expenditures for National defense, was consistently rising to alarming proportions.

In my budget message two years ago it was shown that existing revenue laws were insufficient to meet the fixed charges and budgetary requirements for governmental services provided for by law, even with the most stringent curtailment of those services and the greatest possible economies that could be accomplished in their administration. And, as required by the Constitution I then recommended new measures to produce sufficient revenue to balance the budget for the ensuing biennium and to reduce the deficit that had accumulated during previous administrations. The present World War and the prospect that the United States would now be engaged in carrying forward a National Defense Program involving expenditures of many billions of dollars, with resultant stimulation of industrial and commercial activities, reemployment and great reduction in the State unemployment relief load, was then unforseen. Had the revenue measures then recommended been adopted, it now appears that by the end of the present biennium the entire State deficit would have been wiped out and we could be looking forward to a reduction in tax revenues lightening the tax burden on those least able to pay.

Later on in your session this month, in obedience to my constitutional duty, I shall submit to you a proposed budget to meet the fixed charges and expenditures required by the Constitution and present laws during the next biennium. Looking forward to a continuance if not an increase in State revenues under existing laws sufficient to meet the expenditures under that budget and to also reduce the remaining State deficit during the next biennium, I am pleased to say at this time that I will not be compelled in my budget message to recommend enactment of any additional revenue measures at this regular session.

With regard to the condition and accomplishments of the administrative departments which are under the direction of the Governor, I submit to you the following report, leaving it to other elected officials to submit to you reports on the condition of their departments.

STATE DEPARTMENT OF FINANCE

The Department of Finance has exercised during this biennial period rigid control over all expenditures, resulting in substantial savings to the State Government. Every means available to the department has been utilized in accomplishing this result.

Judicious scrutiny has been made of all requests for the purchase of materials, supplies, and equipment, the filling of vacant positions, and the creation of new positions. Through the exercise of rigid budgetary control, all excessive and unjustified expenditure requests of the several State agencies have been disallowed and the savings thus effected, together with those accomplished through the other activities of the Department of Finance, have been set aside in reserves. These reserves will revert to the State Treasury, except to the extent that they have been utilized to make salary adjustments and to meet unforeseen contingencies not provided for in the original appropriation.

In order to encourage the widest possible competition on the State's purchasing, agencies have been required to draw specifications which will not discriminate against any firm or its products. Specifications are so prepared as to permit the fullest possible competition among business firms in the State. This serves to accomplish two purposes: (a) Extend to every business equal opportunity to bid; (b) Safeguard the interests of the State by obtaining quality products at the lowest cost. The result of such requirements has been a saving of thousands of dollars to the State.

Citing one instance of the result of competitive bidding: The 1941 contract for oil and gas netted the State a saving of $158,365, the lowest price ever received by the State for its oil and gas requirements. The following accomplishments by the Department of Finance are worthy of mention:

1. Reduction in the premium of surety bonds, from a high of $7.50 per thousand to a high of $2.50 per thousand, will result in a saving of approximately $50,000 per biennium.

2. Fewer passenger automobiles purchased, together with the policy of buying less expensive types.

3. Closing of the Napa State Farm, which during the twenty years of its operation resulted in losses of approximately $275,000 to the State.

4. Daily report required as to use, mileage, and purpose of trips of each State automobile. This has eliminated the use of State cars for personal purposes.

5. The establishment of a policy that all State passenger vehicles must be operated for at least 65,000 miles instead of 50,000 miles before these vehicles are turned in on the purchase of new cars.

6. The more effective coordination achieved by the Department of Finance in the purchasing of securities for various State funds has prevented the numerous State agencies from bidding against each other, and thus makes it possible for the State to obtain high yield bonds at the lowest possible price.

7. All leasing of office and other rental space has been placed under the supervision of a Chief of the Division of Service and Supply, in order that the State may obtain adequate quarters at lowest rental prices.

The past two years have been quite the most active and successful in the history of the State Planning Board.

As a result of the board's studies of tax-delinquent lands, Assembly Bill No. 47, the Lands Classification Bill, has been adopted and will become effective early this year. The importance of the problem here dealt with is indicated by the fact that some three and one-half million acres of rural lands and three hundred fifty thousand subdivision lots have been deeded to the State for nonpayment of taxes.

Accurate maps are a necessity to practically all governmental agencies. California is today less than half covered by basic surveys, although more than $10,000,000 have been spent for them by public agencies. As a result of studies, the Planning Board has developed a plan for State and Federal cooperation in providing complete statewide coverage within a reasonable period of time. This plan will give California the most comprehensive and best coordinated mapping program in the country and will assure a maximum return for every dollar spent.

As a result of studies by the Planning Board, California now has its first long term plan for the location of future State office buildings in Sacramento.

The board has cooperated with the National Resources Planning Board in studies of governmental and voluntary regulations of the oil and gas industries in California. This was done in preparation of a nationwide study of energy resources.

In cooperation with the State Council of Defense and at the request of the Army, the board conducted an intensive survey of tracts of land appropriate for use for Army training camps. For this, the board has received praise and thanks from Army officials.

The board has issued the first survey of the activities of the various local and regional planning boards of California. As a result, for the first time, each of the thirty-three county planning commissions and the one hundred thirty city planning commissions, now knows what all of the commissions are doing.

The board expects to continue its studies of tax-deeded lands.

Other studies now well advanced are:

"An airport and airway plan for California" being prepared in cooperation with the Civil Aeronautics Authority, a study of "Recreation in California," with the assistance of the National Park Service, and a "Local Planning Manual" designed to guide the work of planning commissions in small cities. Unless emergencies interfere, all of these reports should be completed this year.

The facilities of the State Planning Board are available to investigate problems and make reports which will contribute to an improved administration of State affairs. It is a tool to be used in fact-finding, research and broad planning. It should be given greater support and larger responsibilities.

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS

In the eighteen months ending last June 30, the Division of Highways expended some $55,000,000. This included $29,000,000 for construction including rights of way, betterments, minor improvements and engineering, $13,000,000 for maintenance and $12,000,000 for allocations of work within incorporated cities.

Thirty-three major works have been completed in this eighteen-month period or are now in course of construction. These include:

The West's first freeway, the Arroyo Seco Parkway, between Los Angeles and Pasadena.

The further extension of this freeway on North Figueroa Street in Los Angeles.

The Cahuenga Pass freeway from Hollywood to San Fernando Valley and points north

More adequate approaches to the Golden Gate Bridge.

The Los Gatos Canyon road from Santa Cruz to Los Gatos.

The relocation of the Pacific Highway north of Redding due to the construction of Shasta Dam.

Shortening and straightening the road between Sacramento and San Francisco.

Several grade separation projects.

Numerous other projects throughout the State from Del Norte County in the north to Imperial County in the south.

New state-wide traffic surveys and studies have been undertaken with the hope of eliminating highway traffic congestion, particularly in metropolitan areas. The Highway Commission has pledged itself to convert the Bay Shore Highway from Palo Alto to San Francisco into a "freeway."

The California Toll Bridge Authority has rendered signal public service during the past two years.

In May, 1939, the Authority refinanced the bonded indebtedness against the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge, thereby securing a reduction of interest from 4¾ per cent to 4 per cent. In the bargain, the new issue was sold at a premium netting the Bridge a profit of $1,065,000.

The Authority has since by four successive steps, reduced passenger car tolls from 50¢ to 25¢. Corresponding reductions have been made in tolls charged trucks, busses and commuters.

In September, 1940, the Authority completed purchase of the Carquinez and Antioch Toll Bridges from the American Toll Bridge Corporation and immediately reduced passenger car tolls by nearly 50 per cent. This was done without delaying the date when the bridges would otherwise have become public property and toll free. In the meantime, the public will be saved upward of $4,000,000 in toll charges. This purchase was made by the issuance of revenue bonds purchased at an interest rate of only about 1¾ per cent per annum.

Under the function of construction, repair and improvement for the various State departments, the Division of Architecture has, during the past two years, accomplished architectural and engineering work to the value of over $10,000,000.

In addition, the division constantly renders assistance of an advisory nature to the various departments.

Plans have been checked and approved for safety of design and construction for more than 760 school construction projects having an estimated construction cost in excess of $35,000,000.

As a result of consultations with the Department of Institutions, the division has succeeded in standardizing all plans, fixtures and equipment for future housing facilities for the department. By this means the cost of such institutional housing has been reduced so that it now costs no more, and in many cases costs less, than modern housing built under mass construction methods. Further savings are anticipated.

The Division of Architecture has completely rearranged the plans for Chino Prison, making them conform with the original purposes of the Legislature in providing for its establishment, namely, that of a detention and rehabilitation home rather than a "maximum security" prison; also greatly increasing its capacity without increasing its cost.

In the Division of Water Resources an extraordinary number of surveys, investigations and studies have been made of the many problems raised by the construction of Shasta Dam and the Central Valley Project. These relate both to the disposal of water conserved by the project and also to the electric power to be generated at Shasta Dam.

An investigation was made and report rendered on the feasibility and cost of obtaining supplemental water supplies for the State institutions and cities in Napa Valley.

Following last year's floods in northern California, the division rendered a report covering the nature and extent of the floods, the damages resulting therefrom, and a program of rehabilitation and permanent remedial flood control measures.

The Department of Public Works has at all times sought to protect the market for Shasta Dam power and has appeared before the Railroad Commission to oppose the various efforts on the part of public utilities corporations that might interfere with that market. Conferences were held in recent months with representatives of the Department of Interior, United States Bureau of Reclamation, and the California Water Project Authority. Out of these conferences have come the first determinations of the cost of Shasta power to such public agencies as may wish to buy it wholesale.

I believe that it is very generally recognized that the Golden Gate International Exposition was a great success; that all Californians should draw great satisfaction from it; and that the State Government's participation therein, through the California Commission, was well conceived, well planned, and most capably managed.

Most of the State's exhibits have been salvaged for continued use. Several of the exhibits have been or will be reconstructed at the State Fair or elsewhere.

The commission has returned to the General Fund in excess of $250,000 in cash unexpended by it in the administration of the State's appropriation for the purposes of the exposition.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

The Department of Agriculture now has forty-five marketing programs in effect. These include twenty-one milk distributing programs, under five of which there is an excess supply distributed to relief clients at reduced prices. Milk wars have been eliminated.

The marketing programs as respects various crops, have benefited both the farmers and the consumers. In addition, when farmers are well organized to sell their crops under the various marketing acts, they find that they can qualify readily for Federal crop marketing loans which assist orderly marketing and increase the margin of profit remaining for the farmer.

The Department of Agriculture has been especially successful in removing large, market-depressing surpluses of many of California's important agricultural crops, by promoting their purchase by the Federal Surplus Commodity Corporation, for distribution in California and elsewhere to relief clients This has meant not only a large direct augmentation of farmer income in California, but it has produced a much greater income because it served to stabilize and improve prices for the remaining major portions of their crops.

California now has one of the best meat inspection systems in the country. The City of Los Angeles asked the department to take over their meat inspection service. This was done as of November 1st. State meat inspection service is now rendered in forty of the fifty-eight counties, insuring consumers a wholesome meat supply.

The bovine tuberculosis problem is at last about cleaned up in California and we hope for Federal certification thereto early in 1941.

After years of effort, artichoke thistle infestation has been reduced from some 18,000 acres, mostly in Solano County, to less than 200. These lands have been restored to normal production purposes.

The department, working with the University of California, is publishing a new weed-control manual for farmers. It will be of great value.

Plant quarantines have been reexamined and corrections made to facilitate movement of restricted commodities.

An outstanding achievement of the department has been the development of methyl bromide as a fumigant. It is already of enormous value to the agriculture industry of the State. It has reduced the cost of fumigation in warehouses, being more effective than older methods. Its use in treating California pears and potatoes has broadened the market for these commodities in other States because it kills the codling moth in pears and tuber moth in potatoes. Its use as a fumigant against insect pests infesting nursery stock has been quite successful, enabling the movement and wider circulation and use thereof.

Four cattlemen, selected by their industry, have reviewed the department's administration of the hide and brand laws. They have found State enforcement to be efficient.

DEPARTMENT OF INDUSTRIAL RELATIONS

In this department, notable improvements have been made in carrying out the provisions of the Labor Code for the protection of the workers, some of which for many years had become practically dead letters for laxity of enforcement.

Responsive to the need for more prompt compensation of workers' compensation claims, the Industrial Accident Commission now meets every day except Saturdays, Sundays and holidays, and has accomplished many procedural improvements to expedite the handling of compensation cases, so that the beneficiaries of the Workmens' Compensation Act receive the benefits of that act when they are most needed. Experience in its administration shows the need for amendments of procedural provisions of the act so as to further facilitate the prompt application of its benefits The policies of the commission have been liberalized and its liberal interpretations of the Workmen's Compensation Laws are being sustained by court decisions. As an instance of the commission's liberalization policies, hernia cases which theretofore had been allowed medical treatment only during the first ten weeks are now treated as any other industrial injury and full benefits awarded; injured employees who must leave their home town for examination or special treatment are allowed reasonable expenses for board and lodging. Heretofore injured workmen were allowed only 50 per cent disability compensation if able to perform light work even though such work was unobtainable. Under present policies they are allowed full disability compensation unless such light work is available.

Elimination of the element of surprise at commission hearings and the saving of time of the commission and referees in reaching their decisions has been aided by making all records, such as X-rays, of injuries, available to both sides of any contest before the case comes for hearing.

This department has diligently sought to reduce the number of accidents and personal injuries in California's industries through the enforcement of safety laws and regulations and the thorough inspections needed particularly at this time, although insufficiently budgeted for this service. The benefit of the Workmen's Compensation Law and the safety measures in accident and personal injury prevention is shown in the fact that in 1914, when California's population was less than 3,000,000, there were 691 accidental fatalities. In 1939, when the population was nearly 7,000,000, industrial fatalities were reduced to 461 in number.

More determined enforcement of the Workmen's Compensation Act has compelled many employers who have heretofore failed to comply with the act to carry insurance for the first time, and more than 200,000 workers not heretofore covered, have been brought under the protection of Workmen's Compensation Insurance. More than 217,000 employers are now insured. If all workmen's compensation was exclusively written by the State Compensation Insurance Fund, great savings in administrative costs could be made, the burden of workmen's compensation on the State's industries could be lessened, and the benefits of the act increased.

The State Compensation Fund is solvent and strong. It has experienced its greatest growth during 1939 and 1940. In this period new business amounted to over $2,000,000 in premiums and accounted for more than 18,000 new policies. The fund insures more than 40,000 employers whose employees number more than 600,000.

In the Division of Labor Statistics and Law Enforcement, notwithstanding serious understaffing due to insufficient appropriations, marked progress has been made in the enforcement of labor laws and improving general administration The division is handling a constantly growing and now very heavy load of labor complaints, both wage and nonwage. Laws for the protection of women and minors in industry are being fully enforced. To assist enforcement of child labor laws, a comprehensive digest of such laws has been prepared and distributed widely through school authorities, employers and others.

The Division of Industrial Welfare is charged with the welfare of women and minors in industry. Prior to 1939, due to lax interpretation of Industrial Welfare Commission orders, compliance with the minimum wage law was indifferent and "spotty." Since then, as a result of a series of law suits to enforce and a program of strict enforcement, this law is being observed to the letter throughout the State. Since February, 1939, the division has instituted 23 such suits, and won 22 of them. As a result, nearly $500,000 have been added to the earnings of women and minors.

The Division of Immigration and Housing is handling a much heavier load of immigrant aid work and rendering a much improved service.

The division assisted the Housing Authorities of Los Angeles, San Francisco, and Oakland by checking their housing plans for conformity with the State Housing Act. During 1940, some 150 plans for hotels and apartments were similarly checked. This work is increasingly important and necessary because of the unusual increase in housing construction adjacent to the Army training camps and elsewhere outside incorporated cities.

Following the Imperial Valley earthquakes, the division inspected practically all of the hotels, rooming and apartment houses in that district. As a result of the reports thereon, many of them were demolished because they were considered to be damaged beyond repair.

The division has conducted several clean-up drives on shack-housing in cities, in cooperation with local authorities, with excellent results. An outstanding example of this work is in the City of Stockton where a number of the older rooming houses have been vacated or demolished on the division's recommendations.

The law creating the California Apprenticeship Council was adopted in 1939 and has been in operation only since September, 1939. But it is already apparent that the council has carried its program to practically all of the industrial centers of the State and that the program has met with pronounced success

The past two years have been much the most active in the history of the Division of Fire Safety. Special attention has been given to correcting hazardous conditions disclosed by inspections of State institutions charged with the care and custody of some 28,000 persons, including insane, feeble-minded, narcotic addicts and juvenile delinquents. For the first time in the history of the division, exhaustive fire surveys have been made at six State Hospitals, at the Preston School and the Sonoma State Home. Recommendations have been made for corrective measures including new legislation.

Dangerous hazards discovered and revealed by the division have resulted in a new building program at the Yountville Home and the razing of two tinder-dry barracks declared unfit and unsafe for use.

Inspection revealed the existence of alarming fire hazards in the State Building at Los Angeles. These are being corrected.

Inspection at Folsom has resulted in the correction of serious hazards, improvement of equipment and increase of fire department personnel.

A fire survey of the University of California is now under way; the first in its history. Already some surprising and deplorable conditions have been disclosed. And recommendations have been made condemning certain old buildings and calling for increased water supply, more fire alarm boxes, and elimination of unsafe practices.

The Division of Fire Safety is self-supporting, out of fees collected paid by the cleaning industry in which, incidentally, a high level of fire safety is maintained.

The State Fire Marshal's salary should be paid by the State rather than by private interests. The 28,000 wards of the State, in the various hospitals and institutions should be given adequate, organized protection from fire. The State, moreover, has invested some $30,000,000 in the buildings housing them.

DEPARTMENT OF NATURAL RESOURCES

This department has initiated new and much needed programs for the conservation, development and utilization of our natural resources.

In the past the several divisions of this department operated independently of each other, and of the department. The various policy-making boards and commissions had never met together. Joint conferences of these commissions have been instituted, resulting in their closer cooperation, and in the coordination of their programs. Plans for the multiple use of the areas controlled and protected by the department are being worked out with the expectation that they will result in greater returns to the State.

Intervention by the Department has been highly instrumental in preventing great wastage of natural gas in the Montebello oil fields. By securing the cooperation of the interests involved, the owners of wells in this field have been able to make arrangements to distribute large quantities of gas into consumptive channels and to store still larger quantities underground. Otherwise, this gas would have been blown into the air and lost completely.

The State Park Commission now has a program for the orderly development of the State parks. Heretofore there has been no program. Park areas are now being developed and opened to the public. Obsolete accommodations are being rebuilt and modernized. New swimming pools and camp sites are being provided. Public use of State parks has increased 45 per cent and revenues therefrom 60 per cent. In 1939 13,000,000 people and in 1940 over 20,000,000 people visited our State parks.

The State Mining Board heretofore but little active, has been reorganized and reenergized. The board is making a special effort to stimulate the search for minerals and ores essential to the National defense.

The Fish and Game Commission has improved relations with the Sportsmen's organizations and with the industries dependent upon our fisheries. Its development and conservation program is meeting wide public approval.

For the first time in the history of the State, the Board of Forestry has a state-wide policy and program for the control and prevention of forest fires. The Forestry Board has also initiated a program for the reforestation of devastated forest areas, and is working in close cooperation with Federal agencies for reforestation and for flood and soil erosion control and for the development of farm forestry in California.

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC HEALTH

California has the right to be very proud of the service rendered by its Department of Public Health. In the past two years, new low records have been established in the incidence of typhoid fever, diphtheria and smallpox, infant mortality and maternal deaths. The tuberculosis death rate is now the lowest in the history of the State.

Special researches are being conducted into the nature, cause and cure of sleeping-sickness, influenza, trichinosis and occupational diseases. County public health services have been further extended; so also public health nursing services.

Five motor clinics are now bringing dental service to pregnant women and to children living in rural areas. The crippled children's service has been extended. Mobile clinics render medical and public health service to thousands of migrants, both residents and new arrivals. Last year more than 47,000 immunizations were given to migratory agricultural workers against smallpox, typhoid and diphtheria.

Steady advance is reported in the work of controlling and stamping out syphilis and gonorrhea.

The new laws requiring premarital examination and prenatal blood tests for syphilis have already proved their worth in the discovery of hundreds of unsuspected infections in young people, and expectant mothers. With the continuation of these laws and expansion of the venereal disease control program, we believe that syphilis in new-born babies will soon be eradicated and that the incidence of acquired syphilis and gonorrhea will be greatly reduced.

Recommendations for the improvement of health conditions in San Quentin Prison were made in a survey conducted by the State Department of Public Health in 1939, at the request of the Department of Penology. Complete studies were made of the method of purchasing, preparing and serving food, of the water supply and sewage disposal systems, and of general sanitary conditions. As a result of the survey, a chief steward was employed and the quality of food improved. Other recommendations are being put into effect.

DEPARTMENT OF INVESTMENTS

Some State banks are not large enough to afford independent audits. Therefore, the examining work of the State Banking Department has been expanded to include more minute inspection of banking operations. This has had a generally salutary effect and increased the safety factor protecting depositors.

Two years ago there were 25 banks in liquidation, having assets estimated at $3,420,000 as against liabilities of $6,327,000. Fifteen of these have been closed out. The remaining 10 have assets estimated at $1,182,000 as against liabilities of $3,690,000. Economical liquidation administration has, in some instances, enabled partial return of assessments paid by stockholders as well as 100 per cent return to the depositors.

Some banks are not the most favorably located for purposes of making sound commercial loans in sufficient volume. This has encouraged bond investment as an alternative. Therefore precautionary steps have been taken, for protection of depositors, to supervise their bond buying and selling operations.

Steps have been taken to encourage banks to divest themselves of real estate taken on foreclosure, so as to forestall embarrassment by too great capital tied up in this form of investment.

Two years ago the Division of Building and Loan had 21 associations in liquidation, all of which had been taken over in the period from 1930 to 1935. Since then, six of these associations have been closed out, four more will be closed out early this year and three more before the end of this year. These closures have had a beneficial effect upon the building and loan association business generally.

Two years ago the division was administering assets in liquidation totaling $9,000,000. They now total $10,500,000; an increase due principally to taking over the Mutual of Long Beach.

Two years ago the division was administering 411 parcels of real estate, plus two subdivisions, totaling 1,134 lots. Now there are 493 parcels, plus two subdivisions, containing 980 lots. All of this is exclusive of the Pacific States Savings and Loan Company.

In spite of this heavy increase in business transacted and assets under liquidation, the several offices of the division have been consolidated in two offices, one in Los Angeles, the other in San Francisco; the number of employees has been reduced by about one-third, the pay roll has been reduced by about 50 per cent, and overhead expenses have been reduced.

The Pacific States Savings and Loan Company was taken over in March, 1939. The association was insolvent in excess of $10,000,000. It had ceased to function as a building and loan association. For several years it had deliberately carried on policies contrary to the requirements of the Building and Loan Association Act. The greater part of its total assets had become frozen in various kinds of real property holdings and its management was engaged in purchasing at heavy discounts and losses to their owners its certificates of deposit by various and devious methods, taking advantage of their needs for their money. In the performance of his duty under the law the commissioner was compelled to take over the assets of this association for the protection of the certificate holders to whom they belong and for whose benefit they must be liquidated and distributed. Yet the take-over has been contested, and is still being contested in court by the former management. Meantime, the affairs of the company have been operated by the Building and Loan Commissioner at considerably less cost for attorney fees than the former management had been paying, at considerably less cost for administration, and with much greater profit to the company than under the former management. Two dividends totaling 12½ per cent have been paid to the investors out of accumulated profits and collections of interest and principal on loans.

Contrary to predictions, the taking over of Pacific States and the Mutual of Long Beach have had no harmful effect upon the active associations remaining in the business. In fact, the aggregate assets of the latter associations have registered substantial increases. There are now 103 of these associations doing business under State license. They are generally in a very good condition; in better condition than at any time during the past 10 years. Loan delinquencies are at a minimum. Foreclosures have practically ceased. The associations have no difficulty in obtaining new funds. Their most difficult problem is that of finding satisfactory loans in sufficient number. In the past two years, these associations have increased and combined reserves from 14 per cent to 17 per cent of their liabilities; thus increasing the margin of safety afforded their investors. This compares most favorably with the Federal Savings and Loan Associations operating in California on a reserve of only about 4 per cent.

During the past two years, at least three associations have been saved from very serious difficulties and possible liquidation by the guidance of the division. In each instance, additional capital was brought into the business, the management was changed to some degree and the business well started on the road to success.

The investing public may now confidently rely upon the office of the Building and Loan Commissioner to do its proper duty and the building and loan associations operating under the supervision of this division may justly take pride in the possession of their license certificates entitling them to engage in the building and loan association business.

DIVISION OF CORPORATIONS

The work of the Division of Corporations during the past two years has shown material improvement, characterized by a decidedly larger volume of work accomplished with greater economy. New legislation added heavily to the division's duties and work. Nevertheless, it was accomplished without adding to the staff and without exceeding the budget which, when adopted, did not contemplate a drastic expansion of activities.

During the past two years, special attention has been given to fraud prevention.

Because of the sharp decline of the number and volume of security offerings, the income of the division from licenses and other sources has suffered seriously. Thus far, however, due to the assistance of the Department of Finance by way of instituting modernized office methods and other economies, the division has nevertheless been able to keep within its budget.

The new California Small Loan Act and the Personal Property Brokers Act have now been in force long enough to prove their worth to the community. One proof lies in the fact that hordes of "loan sharks" retired from this field of business just prior to these laws becoming effective. The unsuccessful attempt to defeat the California Small Loan Law by referendum had a salutary effect upon several of the nation-wide "loan shark" chains, most of which closed their offices when it became apparent that the law was to go into effect.

However, there is evidence that these lenders are still looking at California with covetous eyes. There is indication that they plan a campaign at this session of the Legislature. Few people realize the nature and extent of social problems consequent upon the unhampered operations of "loan sharks" or the general damaging effect upon the entire economic and social structure of the community.

Credit Unions, licensed by the State, have displayed a remarkable growth during the last two years due, at least in part, to the new law liberalizing the rules governing their operation. In general, these Credit Unions, some of which are very small, have been very successful and have operated with benefit to their members and borrowers alike.

There have been no "bucket shops" operating in California during the past two years.

The new Stockholders' Protective Committee Act has likewise proved its worth. Under it, racketeering promoters have been denied licenses while legitimate protective committees have found it easy to comply with the statute and have enjoyed protection against the competition of racketeering committees.

The Division of Real Estate reports a most substantial revival of the real estate business; especially as reflected in the large increase in the number of men and women licensed to practice as brokers and salesmen.

Added precautionary measures have been adopted to protect unwary investors against sharp practices in the sale of oil and gas leases, cemetery lots and business opportunities.

DIVISION OF INSURANCE

Broader powers to protect the public granted in 1939 to the Division of Insurance have been applied with salutary and beneficial effects already apparent. For the first time in our history the division now has competent investigators and auditors in sufficient number to supervise the conduct of agents, brokers, solicitors, as well as the insuring companies themselves.

Labor-saving equipment and procedures have been installed with most satisfying results in efficiency and economy.

Last year the bureau recovered $932,000 of policy proceeds and claim settlements for policyholders; nearly treble all previous yearly records.

Eleven of California's so-called "Chapter Nine" mutual life insurance companies, operating only in California, having $58,000,000 of life insurance in effect and some 100,000 policies outstanding, were taken over. Investigations and hearings had disclosed misrepresentations, fraudulent claim settlements, exorbitant commissions to a few agents, inordinately high administrative expenses and excessive salaries to incompetent executives. Management has been assumed by division personnel at a cost of less than 19 per cent of salaries heretofore paid to officers and employees. Consideration is now being given to the rehabilitation of these companies so as to permit their return to independent operation. In the meantime, the policyholders are protected.

Careful studies of the worker's compensation rates proposed in 1939 accomplished a reduction of $8\frac{8}{10}$ per cent, which has now been in force one year and is saving California business over $2,500,000 a year. We can not anticipate comparable reductions every year, but it is the fixed policy of the division to keep rates at the lowest levels consistent with the stability of the carriers and adequate protection.

The people may well be satisfied with the conduct of this division in which insurance companies, agencies and the insuring public alike have the highest confidence.

DEPARTMENT OF INSTITUTIONS

Introduction of the insulin shock treatment for acute case of schizophrenia has yielded a recovery rate of 83 per cent. This disease accounts for a very high proportion of all patients in State hospitals. Heretofore the spontaneous recovery rate has been only 8 per cent.

Cooperating with the State Department of Health, our mental hospitals are giving fever treatment, by malarial inoculation, for cases of syphilis involving the central nervous system before they have progressed to the stage of insanity. At present, more than a third of all admissions of cases of this kind are admitted upon their voluntary application. They stay two or three months and are then discharged as cured, being thus saved from the destiny of death or permanent insanity from their diseases. The trend of admissions of cases of neurosyphilis indicates that before very long almost all such cases will be admitted in the early stages and that general paresis will become a rare disease instead of constituting, as it has heretofore, 7 per cent of all of our hospital admissions.

By making new special provisions for outside care, we have been able to greatly liberalize and extend the parole policy for mental patients. Two years ago there were about 2,700 patients on parole. Now there are over 4,500; a net increase of about 1,800 patients, or 67 per cent. This new policy has produced great benefits for the patients, the institutions are relieved of some of their overcrowding, and large economies are realized.

In spite of a growing admission rate, our system of outside care has enabled us to check the increase of population of our mental hospitals. In fact, recent months have produced an actual reduction, the first in the history of the department.

In the meantime new construction has increased the capacity of our mental hospitals by 1,284 beds. The net result, thus far, has been a reduction of overcrowding from 25 per cent to 20 per cent.

The medical work and the general care of our patients has been raised to a higher standard. This is perhaps best demonstrated by the sharp reduction in the death rate among patients in the seven mental hospitals.

The new activities of the department have, of course, necessitated fairly large expenditures for transportation, new equipment, and additional specially trained personnel. Nevertheless, economies growing out of our extension of extra mural care have enabled the department to restore to employees salary adjustments in the amount of over $750,000 for the current biennium.

During the past year two deaths occurred in the Whittier State School for Boys, which were apparently suicidal. Inquiry into the circumstances and means of discipline used in handling recalcitrant boys in the school, made by the Director of Institutions and by a committee appointed by the Governor to thoroughly investigate the case, failed to disclose any evidence of corporal punishment or abuse of the boy, or other boys in the school, and that committee selected by the Governor upon the recommendation of relatives and friends of the boy made a report exonerating the Superintendent and all persons employed in and about the school for any blame in connection with his death. When the second suicide occurred, widespread public interest and indignation was aroused, in the belief, drawn from publicized statements of former inmates of the school and others, that attendants in charge of enforcing discipline in the school customarily engaged in inflicting corporal punishment upon runaway boys and for violations of disciplinary rules. In order to have such accusations and also the disciplinary means and methods used at the school fully investigated, I appointed a committee of three outstanding citizens experienced in handling juvenile delinquents and incorrigibles and sincerely interested in their reformation and welfare. This committee has made such an investigation, has heard volumes of testimony and received reports from any and all sources from which they believed truthful information might be obtained that would help them to reach conclusions of fact and report their conclusions and recommendations to the Governor's office. This report has been made. It embraces findings and conclusions of this committee that corporal punishment and brutal treatment has been commonly inflicted by attendants in charge of boys in the school who have been segregated for escaping or violating the rules of the school. As a result of this investigation one such attendant was tried and found guilty for violating the State law against corporal punishment in a State institution. In the light of this report, I have requested the State Personnel Board, with whom a copy has been filed in support of charges against the Superintendent of the Whittier School, to consider that report as charges affecting all persons employed in the institution for the purpose of making a thorough investigation of the matters thus reported to me as facts in regard to the treatment and handling of inmates of the school by their attendants. Inasmuch as this report would be secondary evidence before the Personnel Board in support of any charges, and in order that appropriate action justified by facts may be legally taken, a hearing and investigation of the whole matter must be held by the Personnel Board, which is the only authority to make removals of State Civil Service employees for cause. Recommendations have been made to me by said investigating committee with regard to a reformation of the system of handling the inmates of the Whitter School for Boys, and the qualifications of personnel employed at the school for that purpose, which I deem worthy of consideration and upon which I propose to act at the proper time.

DEPARTMENT OF EMPLOYMENT

The Department of Employment has two principal functions; finding jobs for workers and workers for employers, and administering unemployment insurance. The performance of both of these functions has been improved substantially during the past two years.

Specifically, the employment service to farmers and farm hands has been improved. During the past season, for the first time, workers could learn definitely where jobs were to be had, farmers could learn where to get workers on short notice, migrants were saved thousands of dollars in travel expense, there were no excess concentrations of labor, orders for workers were filled on request—even in isolated areas and, for the first time in many years, the agricultural season passed without a major strike.

Specifically, effective job-finding service is now rendered to youth, to young men discharged from the CCC's and to war veterans. California holds the record in the Nation for veteran placement.

Specifically, the department is working in closest cooperation with the National Defense Program, having placed thousands of skilled workers in the aircraft and other defense industries. The department, with funds made available by the State Department of Education, has inaugurated job training and retraining programs in which men have been given training for both old and new occupations—to assure a continuous supply of skilled workers.

Up to date, the department has collected over $280,000,000 in contributions to the Unemployment Insurance Fund from 50,000 California employers, and disbursed over $115,000,000 in unemployment benefits. The balance in the fund exceeds $165,000,000. The fund now protects more than 1,500,000 workers. Thus far, there has been no quarter in which disbursements have exceeded income. However, there is some tendency toward equalization of income and disbursements.

A year ago at this time, charges were current that thousands of persons were obtaining insurance benefits illegally; that students were paying their way through college on unemployment insurance benefits; and that the fund was being used for health insurance. Four hundred twenty-four persons have been convicted in the California courts for obtaining money from the fund illegally. Chiseling has been stopped. The department is not financing college educations. And the department is not paying insurance to anyone who, because of sickness, can not take employment in his usual occupation.

More persons than ever before are obtaining jobs through the State Employment Service. Unemployment insurance benefits are being paid more promptly The department has strengthened its relationships with both employers and employees. The department has become the center of labor placement for the defense industries. The department has reached that level of efficiency where it can, readily and efficiently, take care of an increased load, should this Legislature decide to place all workers in California under the protection of unemployment insurance.

The activities and policies of the Department of Employment stabilize and strengthen the economic life of the State.

DEPARTMENT OF MILITARY AFFAIRS

The California National Guard has been raised to new high levels of size and efficiency. Training schedules have been made more rigid and now embrace the newer developments in military arts. Personnel standards have been raised.

Two years ago the Guard's strength was 7,501 officers and men. Today it is 10,975. Old units have been increased in size and many new units have been organized. All units are modernized.

Some armories have been remodeled; some new facilities erected. Two new armories have been built and one is now under construction. Many more are urgently needed and are in contemplation.

The Guard camp near San Luis Obispo has been enlarged by the purchase of 1,300 acres of additional land and the whole camp leased to the War Department which is building a large troop training cantonment thereon.

The schooling program for both officers and enlisted men has been enlarged.

Induction of the California National Guard into Federal service for a year of intensive training started last September 16th. It is contemplated that the entire Guard will have been called up by the end of this month.

The office of The Adjutant General is now engaged in framing plans for a State Guard to perform the normal peace-time duties of the National Guard when all of the latter shall have been inducted into the Federal Service. The State Guard will be on a voluntary basis and composed of men not subject to military service.

The National Guard is an organization of enthusiastic men animated and bound together by a high esprit de corps. It is proud of its past record and its high professional standards. As the several units pass into the Federal service, we may be sure that they will reflect great honor upon the State of California.

In anticipation of the passage of the National Selective Service and Training Act, plans for its administration in California were made through The Adjutant General's office many months in advance. These plans have since been executed with efficiency, dispatch, and great credit to the State.

The outstanding development within the Veterans' Welfare Board during the past two years is that its home purchase operations have come to an end, all funds placed at its disposal having been used in full. Very substantial operating economies have been effected. The board's affairs are in excellent condition.

DEPARTMENT OF MOTOR VEHICLES

In the past two years, economies have been instituted in the Department of Motor Vehicles effecting savings of nearly $500,000 a year. This has enabled payment of the long delayed salary increases due employees under the Civil Service Act. At the same time, efficiency and service have been improved.

The department carries on a continuous campaign of safety education and the Highway Patrol continues to render efficient service, but additional patrolmen are probably needed.

HORSE RACING BOARD AND ATHLETIC COMMISSION

The California Horse Racing Board and the State Athletic Commission have accomplished many reforms in aid of clean and honest races and athletics conducted by their licensees. They are performing a highly constructive service to the licensees, their patrons and the State.

BOARD OF STATE HARBOR COMMISSIONERS

The San Francisco Harbor Board, faced with a 35 per cent reduction in number of ships visiting San Francisco Harbor (due principally to war conditions), by an annual loss of $350,000 in ferry boat revenue, and by the necessity for extensive repairs (too long deferred) to the railroad equipment, buildings and piers belonging to the board, has nevertheless succeeded in reducing staff and expenses, increasing the number of freight cars moved, making extensive repairs of rolling stock, tracks, buildings and piers, developing new revenues, collecting old debts, reducing insurance rate and premium charges, improving harbor services, and giving the personnel their automatic pay increases; all with the result that the board's budget will be balanced by the end of this biennium.

The board is working in close cooperation with Army and Navy officials in the National Defense Program.

The President of the board has performed a signal service for the State by assisting west coast ship-building interests to secure contracts for the building of ships on the Pacific Coast.

Present plans contemplate converting the Ferry Building to use as a bus terminal. A start in this direction has already been made. Traffic studies indicate that a centering of all interurban bus transportation in and out of San Francisco at the Ferry Building would serve the best interests of the general public as well as most business interests.

The board contemplates redesigning the piers at the Ferry Building in order to accommodate the large passenger ships contemplated in the Federal ship-building program This development would make San Francisco the most famous and unique port in the world for the handling of ocean passenger business.

DEPARTMENT OF SOCIAL WELFARE

Under the Department of Social Welfare, 143,000 of California's elder citizens are now receiving old age assistance. They are deeply grateful for the release of liens against their property and for the increased monthly allowance from $35 to $40. The average payment is about $38 per month.

The State has increased the proportion of costs paid for financial aid to dependent children, thus relieving the overburdened counties. Care for children in rural California has been extended and specialists made available under the Child Welfare Service.

Administration of the whole Social Security Program has been improved and mutually satisfactory arrangements between the State, as the supervising authority, and the counties have been achieved.

The State is preparing the first manual for administration of aid to the needy aged, the blind, and children, for distribution to county agencies. A State Hearing Officer has been employed so that needy persons appealing to the State Board of Social Welfare, but unable to get to the place where the board meets, can be heard in their own communities.

Thanks to cooperation with the State Fire Marshal's office, the inmates of all institutions in the State for aged persons, and children, are being given the most careful protection from fire hazards.

There has been no increase in the percentage of administrative costs.

STATE RELIEF ADMINISTRATION

Administration of State relief in the form of cash doles to the needy unemployed has been rather a hectic job in every administration, due to a number of causes but principally to the underlying cause for State relief. That is the dire distress, need and want for sustenance by so many hundreds of thousands of people in poverty and unable to find a place in which to work for their own maintenance. Organized pressure groups voicing the complaints of many in need of relief who are on the borderline of eligibility but who have not been admitted to the relief rolls have harrassed every administrator, particularly during the periods when the number needing relief was nearly three times greater than in recent months. And individual leaders with a revolutionary or social upheaval purpose have caused dissensions and made disturbances for relief administrators in disregard of the limitations of the powers of the administrators and often in disregard of the reasonableness of their protests. The number employed in the administration of relief has varied with the ups and downs of the relief case load, and administrators have been harassed by pressure groups to be retained while others were laid off, and by those who were laid off, for reemployment, all due to their dire need for employment and constituting another manifestation of the unemployment problem. Conflicting needs for retaining or obtaining employment have often inspired unfounded criticism of individuals as being incompetent for the jobs they seek to hold. Such charges are too often erroneously accepted as facts by those disposed to criticize rather than cooperate in establishment of harmony and systematic, orderly procedure in employments and layoffs based upon a sense of fairness to all concerned.

Charges have been common that there has been a disposition on the part of this administration to give employment in the administration of relief purely as rewards for political party service in the election of this administration, regardless of their competency. But the fact is that no administrator has ever been requested—no administrator has ever been authorized by me to employ any person incompetent to perform the work for which he has applied. And it has been left to every administrator and his personnel division, working under contract with the State Personnel Board, under classifications, standards, ratings and qualifications established by it for the various employments, to determine the qualifications of each according to such standards. In order to relieve the administrator of the burden of hearing complaints as to discrimination and unfairness in layoffs and employments, there was designated under one administrator a board of personnel standards and appeals to hear such complaints and assist the administrator in dealing fairly with all persons concerned, and in all possible ways to assist in improving efficiency of this service and keeping the cost of administration within a limit of 15 per cent of the appropriation for relief, which I consistently recommended, and which recommendation was finally embraced in the relief appropriation act.

A joint legislative committee of the preceding Legislature has spent much time and money in the investigation of every relief agency in the State. In its hearings many loose, unfounded and utterly false statements have been made regarding employments in the relief administration by persons disgruntled because they have been discharged. Irrational, intemperate and false statements have been made by disappointed and vengeful individuals.

Good faith in seeking the distribution of the moneys appropriated for relief to the fullest possible extent to those for whose benefit it was intended has even been questioned by such persons in hearings of their ex parte and unsupportable statements.

Any imputation that it was ever the purpose of this administration to make a political machine of the relief administration by appointing persons as rewards for their political activities and regardless of competency and merit is disproved by the fact that I have consistently heretofore and I am today recommending that the Legislature enact a law placing the State Relief Administration under civil service beyond the control of its employees for political purposes.

Fortunately, with the drastic drop in the relief load and the prospect of continued employment of its employables in industry due to the increased Federal expenditures in preparing for National defense, we can look forward to the need for a budget not to exceed $20,000,000 a year during the next biennium for whatever form of unemployment relief that may be provided for by the Legislature.

In my recent visit to Washington I was reliably informed that the National Administration contemplates a continuation of the WPA on approximately its present scale of WPA employments, which in California now provides for about 75,000 cases. It is to be hoped that there will be no let-down in WPA employments as there was in the latter part of 1939, when some 30,000 cases were dropped from the WPA rolls onto the State relief rolls, increasing the State relief load to an all time high in the early part of 1940.

THE STATE FAIR

The conduct of the State Fair has been attended with extraordinary success The 4-H Clubs and Future Farmers organizations now have 15 new exhibit buildings which they crowd to capacity. At last September's fair the live stock exhibits were larger than ever before; the educational exhibit buildings were filled to capacity; the night attractions were exciting and drew capacity audiences; the grounds were greatly improved; the crowds were pleased with improvements in the conduct of racing events. Exhibitors and concessionaires alike were pleased and the attendance broke all records, reaching a total of 713,625. Since closing of the Exposition at Treasure Island, several buildings and much exhibit material has been transferred to the State Fair Grounds.

DEPARTMENT OF PENOLOGY

The Department of Penology has been reestablished and made to function.

A private contract made by the old prison board with a firm of architects to do the architectural work for the Chino Prison, instead of having that work done by the State Division of Architecture, was canceled at a direct saving to the State of approximately $150,000. The architectural work is being done by the State Director of Architecture under reformed plans to conform with the original intent of the Legislature in providing for the establishment of this institution. This has resulted in further large savings

The most comprehensive and scientific study of prison feeding ever made in the United States was made in 1939 at San Quentin. The direct result was the hiring of a chief steward, improvement in the quality and nutritive value of food served, and the elimination of waste formerly suffered from bad preparation.

Corporal punishment in connection with the enforcement of discipline in San Quentin Prison has been abolished and orderly compliance with law and prison regulations now prevails in that penal institution.

Several divisions of the Department of Penology heretofore scattered are now being consolidated in the Ferry Building at San Francisco with prospect of increased efficiency and economy.

BOARD OF PRISON TERMS AND PAROLES

Inability to find outside jobs, a condition of parole, continues to delay the parole of many prisoners. Last year 544 prisoners approved for parole were forced to remain in prison for this reason, and another 284 were discharged, having served their sentences in full, who could have been released much earlier had jobs been available.

Experience with road camps and prison farms has been most satisfactory. Their expansion is strongly urged.

The board constantly strives to improve the type of information upon which paroles are granted. Increased attention is given psychiatric findings.

Continued increase in the number of sex offenders is a matter of grave concern. Their segregation and special treatment are especially difficult. It has become apparent that prison is not the solution for the constitutional psychopathic inferior type of criminal with antisocial tendencies. The board is trying to provide for clinical psychiatric treatment and observation for paroled sex offenders.

In 1939 California became a signatory to the Interstate Parole Compact for the supervision of parolees and probationers. Experience thereunder has been quite satisfactory.

The board has established its office in the Ferry Building in San Francisco with an executive secretary. Here for the first time in the history of the State's parole system, members of the board are available to relatives, dependents, attorneys and friends of inmates and to others properly interested in parole problems. The executive secretary spends part of his time in Los Angeles for parole interviews. This service has afforded tremendous relief to hundreds of distressed relatives of prisoners in furnishing them accurate information about the length of prison terms and parole requirements.

Considerably more time than ever before is now being spent by members of the board in consideration of parole cases. Last year, 4,746 cases were considered by the board at meetings held in San Quentin and Folsom Prisons. In each case, the inmate appeared personally before the board for the purpose of having his sentence fixed or his parole application considered.

DIVISION OF NARCOTIC ENFORCEMENT

Although in operation only a few months, the benefits of the new Narcotic Prescription Control law are already apparent. The compulsory reports thereunder disclose large amounts of narcotics being supplied to known addicts; addicts procuring prescriptions from two or more physicians at the same time; addicts using different names with different doctors and many other startling and flagrant abuses. The division is only now and for the first time in position to make individual investigations of disclosures developed by the prescription control system.

The division works in closest cooperation with Federal and local enforcement officers, and as a result the country now has a nation-wide network for the apprehension of illicit manufacturers, importers and distributors of narcotics. In the past two years, many spectacular captures have been made of marihuana, heroin, Japanese "cotton" morphine, cocaine and opium. These captures, together with the seizure of 62 automobiles have been a strong factor in crippling the narcotic traffic.

Nevertheless the prevalence of drug addiction remains astounding and alarming owing to the many difficulties encountered in its prevention. For example, it is stated that it will require a 10-year program to eradicte marihuana, because of the widespread growth and easy access to this destructive drug plant.

The new Prison Board, in the six months since its appointment, has sponsored and effected a series of constructive projects, betterments and reforms much needed to give California a practical, humane prison administration. The results so far achieved justify confidence that the board is proceeding in the right direction. There has been a marked improvement in prison morale and discipline, both at San Quentin and Folsom. Brutalities have been abolished. Officials and guards responsible for brutalities have been summarily discharged. Political control has been eliminated and standards of prison management materially raised.

Plans have been adopted and are under way for creating more useful work opportunity for the inmates, to expand the present prison road camps and to establish prison forestry camps in isolated sections of the State parks and forest areas.

The policy of making the new prison at Chino, in San Bernardino County, a minimum security rather than a maximum security institution, and to operate it largely as a prison farm, is being followed by the board.

The Detective License Bureau, an adjunct of the State Board of Prison Directors, is being revamped.

The State Parole Office is in the process of complete reorganization to provide more adequate supervision over parole prisoners. A merit system for the selection of employees has been inaugurated. The parole office will have a higher type of personnel and more modern facilities to meet existing conditions.

RECOMMENDATIONS

I shall not attempt in this message to recommend all the legislation which I consider is needed, but I here make the following recommendations:

Unemployment Relief

I recommend changes in the basic policy governing the handling of unemployment relief. Members of this, and of the past Legislature, and the general public as well, know that I have constantly advocated abandonment of the cash dole and the substitution therefor of work relief, including productive work, making opportunities for the unemployed to produce for their own needs.

I still oppose the dole. If I were to amplify this statement, I would only be repeating messages transmitted to you in the past and contained in your Journals.

I now recommend that the State Relief Administration should be provided with funds and empowered to give employment to the unemployed and training for employment. The Relief Administration should cooperate closely with the State Employment Service with a view to finding jobs for the unemployed in industry. The Relief Administration should sponsor public works projects providing work for those who can not be placed in industry. The Relief Administration, cooperating with the Employment Service and with our State and local educational institutions should conduct and provide vocational courses of instruction to train the unemployed for skilled and semiskilled jobs. Such courses, of course, should be equally available for all job-seekers, whether they be eligible for relief or not. Job training should be a definite public policy; especially as long as there are large numbers of workers seeking jobs and defense industries in need of trained workers.

Giving job training to unemployed workers will for a time cost a little more than the cash dole but to the extent that it fits them for jobs now waiting, it will in the long run be a profitable policy.

The policy of work relief will draw the line, clearly and sharply, between employable and unemployable. The giving of jobs and the doing of work will eliminate the onus of public charity. Even more, it will make certain that no chiselers will be found on the relief rolls.

Central Valleys Project

One subject of the most vital concern to the people of California is the development of our natural resources in a manner assuring maximum benefits therefrom to the people. As a part of this concern, we have the great Central Valleys Project. So very much depends upon the manner in which it shall be organized, how the costs of the various elements of the project shall be apportioned to navigation, flood control, salinity control, irrigation and electric power; how the water and power shall be distributed to the people and how much they shall cost; and how the great Central Valleys region shall be developed in order to improve the welfare of the people who live there.

If the Central Valleys Project is to be planned and operated so that its benefits shall really inure to all of the people, then we must develop definite, comprehensive, long-range plans and operating policies for the project. We must do this either by creating a California Authority fully empowered to serve these purposes and to help finance publicly-owned facilities for the distribution of electric power generated by the project, and to aid and promote new industrial developments and economic opportunities built upon the vast mineral, forest and farm resources of the region, OR by a Federal Authority clothed with ample powers by the National Congress.

Heretofore I have recommended amendments to our Central Valleys Project Act to give our Central Valleys Authority the power to proceed with such plans; particularly through the release and sale of a portion of the originally authorized revenue bonds to help finance local, publicly-owned electric power distribution systems.

But the Legislature has not seen fit to grant these powers.

And, being somewhat doubtful that the present Legislature would act favorably to such recommendations, I recently presented to the President of the United States the proposal that, since the Federal Government has assumed the cost of and is constructing the main features of the Central Valleys Project, it should go further and establish a Federal Regional Authority with full powers to secure its benefits to the people. The President's reaction was immediately favorable. He said he would favor the enactment by Congress of the necessary legislation establishing such an authority. As a result, a bill will be introduced in Congress providing for the establishment of a regional Central Valleys Authority or a Pacific Southwest Authority which would also have similar jurisdiction in the Colorado River Basin. This solution of the Central Valleys problem will, if adopted, save time, eliminate confusion and the delays incident to divided authority, and assure the effective integration of all of the great benefits potential in the project.

In the meantime, however, as a safeguard and to facilitate the organization and construction of publicly-owned electric power distribution systems by cities and utility districts, I again recommend amendments to our Central Valleys Act, releasing revenue bonds authorized by the act and enabling their use to help finance local public utility districts.

I also recommend that memorials be addressed to the President and Congress urging further aid and the establishment of the proposed regional authority and greater speed in the construction of the Central Valleys Project.

Usury

Later on, during your session, I expect to make recommendations for further regulation and control over the small loan business, to prevent usurious charges.

Health Insurance

I repeat here a recommendation I made two years ago that California adopt a system of universal compulsory health insurance. The need and demand for such insurance is amply demonstrated by the many plans proposed or already in operation, including that advanced by the medical association. These plans are all constructive in purpose and many of them are quite useful within their limits but, by their very nature, they can not meet the broad needs of society.

There is but one method that is socially adequate. That is the method already applied to Workmen's Compensation Insurance, Old Age Insurance and Unemployment Insurance. It is the method applied to health insurance in 24 of the 27 countries having health insurance; that is, by making it both universal and compulsory. In our Department of Employment, which administers unemployment insurance in California, we already have the machinery and the organization to take over the work of administering a health insurance plan.

State Housing Authority

I again recommend the creation of a State Housing Authority.

Agricultural Legislation

I recommend still further strengthening of our agricultural marketing laws. This is needed not only to improve the farmer's economic position but also to counteract the weakening effect of recent court decisions.

The practice of submitting so-called "open-price" contracts to farmers in California still continues a source of irritation to growers and State enforcement officials. Under these so-called "open-price" plans, the grower is more or less at the mercy of the buyer in so far as the price he receives for his product is concerned. This matter should be studied by the Legislature with the hope that protective features for the growers can be devised to eliminate the losses which so frequently result from these contracts. Laws establishing and maintaining high quality standards for farm products entering the markets need strengthening.

Interstate trade barriers are hampering free movement of California's agricultural products. The California Commission on Interstate Cooperation should be empowered to move legally to help solve these problems which have such important bearing upon our relations with other States.

Soil Conservation

I again recommend legislation relating to soil conservation through the control of run-off and the prevention and control of soil erosion, establishing a State Soil Conservation Commission and providing for the organization and operation of soil conservation districts.

Reorganization of Governmental Agencies

For reasons set out in my message of May 18, 1939, I again recommend legislation and constitutional amendments providing for the reorganization of the State's fiscal operations, including tax collections, pre-audits and post-audits of expenditures, and the handling and investment of State funds.

Liquor Control

I again recommend the creation of a separate State agency to administer State control of the manufacture, transport, sale, purchase, possession and disposition of alcoholic beverages, and a restoration of the State Board of Equalization to its original status as a board of equalization of assessment of State and county taxes.

Industrial Relations

The need still exists for a State Labor Relations Act to provide machinery for the peaceful settlement of jurisdictional disputes, strikes and lockouts in intrastate commerce.

Unemployment Insurance

I recommend the broadening of the California Unemployment Insurance Act to include all industrial and agricultural employees so that no worker will be excluded from the benefits of this insurance

Workmen's Compensation Insurance

The benefits, accruing alike to workmen and employers, still warrant legislation vesting the writing of Workmen's Compensation Insurance exclusively in the State fund.

Horse Racing

The California Horse Racing Law should be amended in several respects. Greater revenue should be derived to the State from the operation of tracks licensed by the State, and numerous amendments are recommended by the Racing Board, needed to better enable the board to administer the law in accordance with its purposes, in order to increase revenue, aid horse breeding in California, and aid the enforcement of fair-dealing and honest practices in the operation of the tracks and in the conduct of racetrack employees. I commend to your careful consideration the specific amendments recommended by the Horse Racing Board.

Division of Insurance

I recommend submission to the people for vote an amendment to the State Constitution to progressively eliminate the right to deduct certain real estate taxes from gross premium taxes, and to equitably modify the premium tax rate. Under present constitutional provisions the right to deduct real estate taxes has resulted inequitably in favor of those companies which, due to the depression, have acquired by foreclosure unprecedented amounts of real estate. The mounting size of these deductions affect State revenues very adversely. The insurance companies themselves, recognizing this situation, agree in principle with a plan for equitable progressive adjustment.

Memorials to the National Government

I believe that memorials should be addressed to the President and the Congress as follows:

1. Giving assurance of California's complete support of and desire to cooperate in the National defense

2. Urging additional Federal appropriations to connect military cantonments with existing State highway systems and to improve and enlarge the capacity of highways and bridges where necessary to meet the extraordinary requirements of military use.

3. Calling attention to the large number of workers remaining unemployed and in need of relief in California; to the value of WPA work projects to the National Defense Program; and asking for continued large WPA allocations for California.

4. Calling attention to the housing shortage emergency induced in several areas in California by the rapid expansion of war industries and urging prompt response thereto.

5. Calling attention to the need of Federal aid for low cost housing projects in certain rural areas of California.

6. Calling for a study of the effects upon our economy of foreign war purchases and of National defense spending, and of the economic repercussions which may be expected when peace comes; and calling for the formulation of policies and programs for economic readjustment to peace.

7. Declaring our belief that old age pensions should be Federally financed and administered in their entirety.

8. Urging continued and enlarged appropriations for the more rapid development of the Central Valleys Project; calling attention to the value of the project to the National defense.

9. Reminding that the migrant problem remains very serious and distressing in California; asking continued support of the studies of the Tolan Committee; and asking enlarged allocation of funds for relief and rehabilitation of migrants.

10. Calling attention to the need for further flood control and navigation work in California.

11. Calling attention to the need for measures to remove and restrain interstate trade barriers.

12. Supporting the establishment of a Federal Executive Department of Education and increased Federal aid for education and public health services including proposals for National hospitals for tuberculars.

CONCLUSION

In concluding this message I wish to make these observations:

Our most pressing and acute problems, mass unemployment and taxation for its relief, have been rendered less acute and less pressing as a result of heavy National defense spending. Nevertheless we must regard this condition as temporary. We must give serious thought to the recurrence of these problems which will attend the return of peace. They may recur in forms even more aggravated than we have experienced in the past, and when war ends, which we all fervently hope shall be soon, we shall also have to face payment of its costs. In other words, the legislative and executive branches of our government must give every aid and support to the National defense. But we should, at the same time, anticipate the disturbing realignment of social and economic forces consequent upon the return of peace and prepare for readjustments thereto. If we can, in the preparedness for peace, preserve and apply the same high purpose and National unity which prompt and support our present efforts to prepare our National and home defenses, we shall be better prepared for the solution of our internal problems and to maintain the confidence of the people in democratic processes and democratic institutions.

Respectfully submitted.

CULBERT L. OLSON,
Governor of California

No recess or adjournment shall be taken during a call of the Assembly. During such call the Assembly may consider and transact any matter of business by unanimous consent

No call of the Assembly shall be ordered on any matter while the Assembly is already under call. A call of the Assembly may be dispensed with at any time upon a majority vote of the members present, at which time the completion of the roll call pending when the call of the Assembly was ordered, shall become the immediate order of business before the Assembly.

40. Any member may appeal from a decision of the Speaker without waiting for recognition by the Speaker, even though another member has the floor. No appeal is in order when another is pending, or when other business has been transacted by the Assembly prior to the appeal being taken.

Upon the appeal being seconded, the Speaker may give his reasons for the decision, and shall forthwith put this question to the Assembly: "Shall the decision of the Speaker be sustained?"

An appeal can not be amended and yields only to a motion to recess or adjourn, to lay on the table, or a question of personal privilege. If an appeal be laid on the table, such action shall have no effect on the pending question.

An appeal can not be debated when relating to indecorum, transgression of rules, or priority of business. A majority vote of the members present shall decide any appeal.

Such statement shall not occupy more than two minutes and shall not be debatable.

48. A motion to amend may itself be amended, but no "amendment to an amendment" can be amended. A motion to amend is debatable, except where the main question to be amended is not debatable. Any motion to amend may be adopted by a majority vote of the members present.

A motion to amend having been decided in the negative, shall not again be in order on the same day, or at the same stage of proceeding. A motion to amend by striking out certain words having been decided in the negative, shall not preclude a motion to amend by adding words, or a motion to amend by striking out and inserting words; but in no case shall a further amendment be substantially the same as the one rejected.

Subject to the above provisions of this rule, a motion to amend is in order during the second or third reading of any bill.

A motion to lay an amendment on the table may be adopted by a majority vote of the members present, as provided in Rule 43.

Recommendations of Committee on Rules Concerning Enforcement of Rule 33 Relating to Calls of the Assembly

We recommend to the Speaker and members of the Assembly that, during the Fifty-fourth Session, it be the uniform policy of the Assembly that Rule No. 33 concerning calls of the Assembly be strictly enforced

It is our recommendation that when a call of the Assembly has been ordered no recess shall be taken, whether by unanimous consent or otherwise. We hereby give notice that the members of the Committee on Rules will join consistently in withholding unanimous consent to any recess under a call of the Assembly.

We recommend that when a call of the Assembly has been ordered, and the Sergeant-at-Arms has been furnished with a list of absent members, that portion of Rule 33 requiring the Sergeant-at-Arms to take absent members into custody be strictly enforced. It is our suggestion that immediate steps be taken to bring absent members to the Chamber, and that any member, who, being notified to return, fails to do so, shall have assessed against him any cost of returning him to the Chamber.

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolutions were offered:

By Mr. George D. Collins:

House Resolution No. 29

WHEREAS, The method of appointing standing committees of the Assembly of the State of California has long since become antiquated and is undemocratic; and

WHEREAS, The Senate of this State recognized that fact in 1939, and the House of Representatives of the United States as long ago as in April, 1911, and many other States have supplanted such an out-moded and dictatorial method of appointing standing committees; and

WHEREAS, The democratic and American way of setting up such committees is by direct election by the membership of the house which they are to serve, or by a Committee on Committees, which is either elected by the legislative body itself, or by the caucuses of the political parties to which the members belong, and

WHEREAS, The method of constituting the standing committees of this House, namely, through choice and appointment by the Speaker, is open to the faults above mentioned as well as giving one man too much power and too much control of the proposed legislation submitted to this House, thereby greatly and adversely weakening the constitutional powers granted to the Legislators elected by the people of this State; and

WHEREAS, Such a one man power over and control of legislation is not indicated or contemplated by the organic law of this sovereign State and is a delegation of authority contrary and inimical to constitutional democratic government; and

WHEREAS, One of the main and chief evils of the concentration of so much power in the hands of a single individual was plainly evident and apparent here last month when during the extraordinary sessions then in progress, a swarm of agents of special interests, or lobbyists, descended upon the Capitol and showed an indecent and nefarious activity in attempting to line up votes or to get commitments for their favorite candidate, all of which is against the best interests of the people of this State and is the continuation or resuscitation of a condition which existed during the domination of the government of this State by the Southern Pacific Railroad; and

WHEREAS, Government by and through political parties is necessary for the proper functioning of a democracy; and

WHEREAS, Section 248 of the Political Code provides that the Assembly may, by resolution, direct the method of appointment of standing committees, now, therefore, it is hereby

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the standing committees and all committees of this House be appointed by a body consisting of eight members to be known as a Committee on Committees, and each political party shall be represented thereon as follows: One member for each 10 members of the then current Assembly registered with the party at their last election, and the remaining member, or members, if there is one or more, shall be of the party having a plurality of members of said Assembly registered with it at said election; and it is further

Resolved by this Body, That the members of said committee shall be elected by a plurality vote of said Assembly members meeting in a caucus of their respective political party for that purpose and voting only for their party representation on said committee; and it is also

Resolved, That the party representation on each standing or other committee shall be as nearly as possible in the same proportion as that of the Committee on Committees.

Resolution read, and referred to Committee on Rules.

By the Committee on Rules:

House Resolution No. 30

Resolved, That the following named person be stricken from the list of Assembly attaches and her name be stricken from the pay roll of the Assembly, to take effect upon the completion of work on January 11, 1941.

By Mr. Heisinger:

House Resolution No. 31

WHEREAS, During all the years of the period when major transportation was by horse-drawn vehicles, the country was sparsely settled and roads, in many instances, were mere trails almost impassable and the need of better roads forced the people to band together to work the roads so as to fit them for better transportation facilities; and

WHEREAS, When the population increased, it was found to be advisable to place a tax upon the farms and other property for the purpose of providing improved roads so that the farmers could haul their crops to market at lower costs; and

WHEREAS, Since motor transportation has become almost universal, it has driven horse-drawn vehicles from the roads and the farmers and other taxpayers must now hire commercial motor vehicles to transport their products to and from market; and

WHEREAS, The old method of the road tax upon real estate to assist the farmer to get his products to market is, in fact, now a double tax upon him because, in addition to the road tax, he must now pay regular commercial rates for his hauling the same as those who have no road tax; and

WHEREAS, Real estate in California is very heavily taxed and should not bear any tax burden other than what is just and right; and

WHEREAS, Farmers as a class, are in no position to pass on to others the costs of production and delivery to markets of their products; and

WHEREAS, Such apparent double cost of road and highway maintenance, in many instances, forces an actual loss upon the business of such taxpayers; and

WHEREAS, It is the general custom in this State that certain lines of business should not be subsidized by taxes upon other lines of business; and

WHEREAS, It appears that the motor transportation business in California is in a position to pay its own way without being subsidized by real estate taxes; and

WHEREAS, It appears that legislation should be enacted to fairly equalize such taxes upon real estate and motor vehicles relative to highway maintenance; and

WHEREAS, The members of the Legislature are not sufficiently informed upon this general subject to act intelligently; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Speaker appoint a committee of five members to make an investigation to ascertain and report to the Assembly the following matters:

(1) The total cost of the construction and maintenance of all highways in this State and the total cost of the supervision of operations of motor vehicles on such highways

(2) The sources from which the funds are derived at the present time for the construction and maintenance of such highways and the supervision of the motor vehicles thereover, such sources to be divided between funds secured for such purposes from real estate taxes on the one hand, and funds secured for such purposes from taxes collected from motor vehicles and motor vehicle operation and other sources on the other hand

(3) The extent to which the distribution of real estate taxes are used in the construction and maintenance of highways and supervision of the operation of motor vehicles thereover on the one hand, and taxes, licenses, registration fees, weight fees and other charges against motor vehicles on the other hand, is an equitable distribution.

(4) The extent to which the taxes, licenses, registration fees, weight fees, and other charges collected from motor vehicles as a whole, for the construction and maintenance of highways and the supervision of operations of motor vehicles thereover, is an equitable distribution as between various classes of motor vehicles using such highways.

(5) The extent to which taxes, license fees, registration fees, weight fees, and other charges assessed against motor vehicles and motor vehicle operations are used for purposes other than the construction and maintenance of highways and the supervision of the operations of motor vehicles thereover, and the extent to which revenue from taxes on real estate is used for purposes other than construction and maintenance of highways and the supervision of operations of motor vehicles thereover, as compared with such revenue used for the construction and maintenance of highways and the supervision of operations of motor vehicles thereover.

(6) The costs which are paid by municipalities for traffic control arising out of the requirement for such control as a result of motor vehicle operations over streets and highways within such municipalities; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee hereby created in exercising the powers and performing the functions vested in it by this resolution shall have (i) all the powers conferred upon legislative committees by Article 8, Chapter 2, Title 1, Part 3 of the Political Code; (ii) except when inconsistent with this resolution, all the powers conferred upon legislative committees by the Rules of the Assembly and the Joint Rules of the Senate and Assembly as they are enacted and amended from time to time and such Rules are hereby incorporated herein and made a part hereof the same as if they were set forth in this resolution in full. The powers specified in such Rules may be exercised by the committee after the final adjournment of this session; (iii) all powers necessary or convenient to accomplish the objects and purposes of this resolution, including but not limited to the following duties and powers:

(1) To select a chairman from its membership and to employ and fix the compensation of a secretary and such legal, clerical, expert and technical assistants as it may deem necessary;

(2) To create subcommittees from its membership, assigning to the subcommittee any study, inquiry, investigation or hearing which the committee itself has authority to undertake or hold, and the subcommittee for the purpose of this assignment shall have and exercise all of the powers conferred upon the committee limited by the express terms of the resolution or resolutions of the latter defining the powers and duties of the subcommittee, which powers may be withdrawn or terminated at any time by the committee;

(3) To adopt and from time to time amend such rules governing its procedure (including the fixing of its own quorum and the number of votes necessary to take action on any matter) as may to it appear appropriate;

(4) To contract with such other agencies, public or private, as it deems necessary for the rendition and affording of such services, facilities, studies and reports to the committee as will best assist it to carry out the purposes for which it is created;

(5) To hold public hearings at any place in California at which hearings the people are to have an opportunity to present their views to the committee;

(6) To make a complete study, survey and investigation of every phase of the subject of this resolution, including but not limited to the operation, effect, administration, enforcement, and needed revision of any and all laws in any wise bearing upon or relating to the subject of this resolution;

(7) To meet at any and all places in this State, in public or executive session;
(8) To act during this session of the Legislature, including any recess hereof, and after final adjournment hereof, until the commencement of the Fifty-fifth Legislature;
(9) To file a report or reports with the Assembly as soon as possible after the constitutional recess and during any session of the Fifty-fourth Legislature and with the Assembly during the regular session of the Fifty-fifth Legislature;
(10) To summon and subpena witnesses, require the production of papers, books, accounts, reports, documents, and records of every kind and description, to issue subpenas and to take all necessary means to compel the attendance of witnesses and procure testimony; and
(11) To do any and all other things necessary or convenient to enable it fully and adequately to exercise its powers, perform its duties, and accomplish the objects and purposes of this resolution; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee, each of its members, and any representative of the committee thereunto authorized by the committee or by its chairman, is authorized and empowered to administer oaths, and be it further

Resolved, That the Sergeant-at-Arms of the Assembly and other officers designated by him are hereby directed to serve any and all subpenas, orders and other process issued by the committee, when directed so to do by the chairman or by a majority of the membership of the committee; and be it further

Resolved, That every department, commission, board, agency, officer and employee of the State Government and of any political subdivision, county, city, or public district of or in this State shall furnish the committee and any subcommittee, upon request, any and all such assistance, and information, records and documents as the committee or subcommittee deems proper for the accomplishment of the purposes for which the committee is created; and be it further

Resolved, That the members of the committee shall serve without compensation but shall be allowed mileage at the rate of five and one-half cents ($0.05½) per mile each way incurred in connection with their services upon the committee and other actual and necessary expenses for living accommodations and meals, incurred in connection with their services upon the committee, or in lieu of such expenses for accommodations and meals an allowance of eight dollars ($8) per day; and be it further

Resolved, That the sum of two thousand five hundred dollars ($2,500) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby made available from the Contingent Fund of the Assembly for expenses of the committee and its members, and for any charges, expenses or claims it may incur under this resolution, to be disbursed, after certification by the chairman of the committee upon warrants drawn by the Controller upon the Treasurer.

Resolution read, and referred to Committee on Rules.

WHEREAS, The Fifth General Assembly offers an opportunity through section meetings for the consideration by Delegates of other matters requiring cooperative action; and

WHEREAS, It is believed that considerable benefits would result from this State's representation at the Fifth General Assembly, and that such Assembly offers a means of solving obvious difficulties arising in governmental activities due to the absence of facilities for conference between governmental units; and

WHEREAS, The Assembly of this State is invited to send a Delegate to this Fifth General Assembly; now, therefore, be it

House Resolution No. 34

WHEREAS, The Fifth General Assembly of the Council of State Governments will be held in Washington, D. C, at the Mayflower Hotel upon the twenty-first, twenty-second and twenty-third days of January, 1941; and

WHEREAS, California is vitally interested in matters which come before this Assembly; and

WHEREAS, There appears to be a great need and universal sentiment for the abolishment of the practice of electing Presidents of the United States through the election of Presidential Electors; and

WHEREAS, The procedure of electing Presidents of the United States through Presidential Electors may not be abolished in any State until concerted action is taken through Congress and the various States in the adoption of a constitutional amendment; and

WHEREAS, The California Legislature has gone as far as is possible toward the abolishment of Electors by the enactment of a law which has stricken from the general election ballot the names of all of the Electors for President of the United States; and

WHEREAS, Through the adoption of such law shortening the ballot large sums of money have been saved to the taxpayers, the convenience of the individual voter has been served through the simplicity of the ballot, and savings in time and labor have accrued to the election boards and the election officers in the computation and compilation of election returns; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That we respectfully urge the Fifth General Assembly of the Council of State Governments to go on record by resolution recommending to the several States and to the Congress of the United States that action be taken to institute the adoption of a constitutional amendment abolishing the practice of electing Presidents of the United States through voting for Electors, and substituting in its place the election of Presidents of the United States through direct vote; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly is authorized and directed to send a copy of this resolution to the Fifth General Assembly of the Council of State Governments.

WHEREAS, It is essential to the welfare of the United States that we proceed with the greatest rapidity in the accomplishment of our National Defense Program; and

The following communication from the superior court of Alameda County, relative to bonded indebtedness, was presented by Mr. Johnson, ordered printed in the Journal, and referred to the Committee on Rules:

OAKLAND, CALIFORNIA, January 15, 1941

To the Honorable the Superior Court of the State of California, in and for the County of Alameda

In view of the new and imperative needs for National defense which must be undertaken by the United States Government, we, the grand jury of Alameda County for the year 1940-41, respectfully submit the following partial report.

The present National debt, plus defense appropriations to date, amounts to $57,227,497,749.

It has been estimated by competent authority that Alameda County's share or pro rata thereof is $222,969,971.

Further, we find that our pro rata of the State bonded indebtedness and deficiency is $18,596,649.

The county's bonded debt is $4,917,000, an amount that reflects conservative policies over the years.

The bonded debts of the incorporated cities of Alameda County follow.

Alameda	$544,498 00	Livermore	$43,000 00
Albany	18,000 00	Oakland	8,793,160 00
Berkeley	1,030,168 00	Piedmont	83,500 00
Emeryville	None	Pleasanton	39,000 00
Hayward	264,093 00	San Leandro	180,000 00

The aggregate of all district school bonds in the county is $12,696,250

Alameda County's share of the East Bay Municipal Utility District bonds is $51,323,958.

The total, therefore, of all public debt resting directly and indirectly on Alameda County is $321,499,247.

The taxable assessed valuation of the county is $455,205,215.

In other words, government debt, at this time, amounts to 70 per cent of our taxable assessed valuation. This means a burden of $1,400 on every home assessed at $2,000, or an average of $2,131 for every family in the county, or $627 for every individual.

In addition to this are the current tax levies, Federal, State and local, which already are of consequential proportions.

The foregoing is submitted as an estimate of the situation confronting Alameda County, one that is to be seriously pondered by all citizens. The burden must be sustained by the productive energies of the people, all of whom have a definite part in the responsibility. We believe it to be timely to give greater consideration to the taxpayer's capacity to pay.

We, therefore, commend to State and local tax-fixing authorities and to those expending these public funds the caution and thoughtful restraint that conditions so definitely warrant.

It is gratifying to report that some of the taxing agencies in Alameda County already have given recognition to the stern realities of the new development and we feel assured of their further cooperation.

Particularly as regards pressure groups, political and otherwise, are we persuaded that a warning should be uttered.

Respectfully submitted by the grand jury.

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, the Assembly concurring, That the following be, and the same are, hereby adopted as the Joint Rules of the Senate and Assembly of the State of California for the Fifty-fourth Session:

JOINT RULES OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY

Committees and Committee Meetings

Standing Committees

1. Each house shall appoint such standing committees as the business of the house may require, the committees, the number of members and the manner of selection to be determined by the Rules of each house.

Joint Committees

2. The Rules Committees of each house shall constitute the Joint Standing Committee on Joint Rules of the Senate and the Assembly.

Joint Meeting of Committees

3. Whenever any bill has been referred by the Senate to one of its committees, and the same or a like bill has been referred by the Assembly to one of its committees, the chairman of the respective committees, when in their judgment the interests of legislation or the expedition of business will be better served thereby, shall arrange for a joint meeting of their committees for the consideration of such bill.

Bills and Resolutions

Definition of Word Bill

4. Whenever the word "bill" is used in these Rules, it shall include constitutional amendments, concurrent and joint resolutions.

Concurrent and Joint Resolutions

5. Concurrent resolutions relate to matters to be treated by both houses of the Legislature.

Joint resolutions are those which relate to matters connected with the Federal Government.

Resolutions Treated as Bills

6. Constitutional amendments, concurrent and joint resolutions shall be treated in all respects as bills; except that they shall be given only one formal reading in each house and that they shall not be deemed bills within the meaning of Section 2 of Article IV of the Constitution, and shall not be referred to the Committee on Introduction of Bills, and shall not require a vote to authorize their introduction. As in the case of bills, they shall be engrossed in the house in which they originate before being voted upon.

Preparation and Introduction of Bills

7. The title of every bill introduced shall convey an accurate idea of the contents of the bill and shall be indicative of the scope of the act and the object to be accomplished. In amending a code section, the mere reference to the section by number shall not be deemed sufficient.

Division of Bill Into Sections

8. A bill amending more than one section of an existing law shall contain a separate section for each section amended.

Bills which are not amendatory of existing laws shall be divided into short sections, where this can be done without destroying the sense of any particular section, to the end that future amendments may be made without the necessity of setting forth and repeating sections of unnecessary length.

Restrictions as to Amendments

23. No Senate bill shall be passed by the Senate, and no Assembly bill shall be passed by the Assembly within the time specified in the resolution prior to the adjournment sine die of the two houses of the Legislature at a regular session, unless permission to vote on such bill shall be granted by a three-fourths vote of the house of its origin after being recommended by the Committee on Rules (if it be a Senate bill) or by the Speaker of the Assembly (if it be an Assembly bill).

Enrollment of Bill After Passage

24. After a bill has passed both houses it shall be printed in enrolled form, omitting symbols indicating amendments, and shall be compared by the Engrossing and Enrolling Clerk and the proper committee of the house where it originated to determine that it is in the form approved by the houses. The enrolled bill shall thereupon be signed by the presiding officers of both houses and the Secretary of the Senate and Chief Clerk of the Assembly and presented without delay to the Governor. The committee shall report the time of presentation of the bill to the Governor to the house and the record shall be entered in the Journal.

Amendments and Conferences

Amendments to Amended Bills Must Be Attached

25. Such amendment or amendments shall be attached to the bill or resolution so amended, and indorsed "adopted" and such amendment or amendments, if concurred in by the house in which such bill or resolution originated, shall be indorsed "concurred in," and such indorsement shall be signed by the Secretary or Assistant Secretary of the Senate, or the Chief Clerk or Assistant Clerk of the Assembly as the case may be; provided, however, that an amendment to the title of a bill adopted after the passage of such bill shall not necessitate reprinting, but such amendment must be concurred in by the house in which such bill originated.

To Concur or Refuse to Concur in Amendments

26. In case the Senate amend and pass an Assembly bill, or the Assembly amend and pass a Senate bill, the Senate (if it be a Senate bill) or the Assembly (if it be an Assembly bill) must either "concur" or "refuse to concur" in the amendments. If the Senate concur (if it be a Senate bill), or the Assembly concur (if it be an Assembly bill), the Secretary or Chief Clerk shall notify the house making the amendments and the bill shall be ordered to enrollment.

Concurring in Amendments Adding Urgency Section

27. When a bill which has been passed in one house is amended in the other by the addition of a section providing that the act shall take effect immediately as an urgency measure, and is returned to the house in which it originated for concurrence in the amendment or amendments thereto, the procedure and vote thereon shall be as follows:

The presiding officer shall first direct that the urgency section be read and put to a vote. If two-thirds of the members elected to the house vote in the affirmative the presiding officer shall then direct that the question of whether the house shall concur in the amendment or amendments shall be put to a vote. If two-thirds of all the members elected to the house vote in the affirmative, concurrence in the amendments shall be effective.

If the affirmative vote on either of such questions is less than two-thirds of all the members elected to such house, the effect is a refusal to concur in the amendment or amendments, and the procedure thereupon shall be as provided in Joint Rule No. 28.

When Senate or Assembly Refuse to Concur

28. If the Senate or the Assembly refuse to concur in the amendments, the Committee on Rules (if it be a Senate bill) or the Speaker of the Assembly (if it be an Assembly bill) shall appoint a Committee of Three (3) on Conference and the Secretary or the Chief Clerk shall immediately notify the other house of the action taken and request the appointment of a like committee. Two of the members comprising such committee from each house shall be selected from those voting with the majority on the point about which the difference has arisen, and the other member from each house of such committee shall be selected from the minority, in the event there is a minority vote. The first Senator named on the Conference Committee shall act as chairman of the committee from the Senate, and the first Assemblyman named on such committee shall act as chairman of the committee from the Assembly and the chairmen thus selected shall arrange the time and place of all meetings and prepare or direct the preparation of reports. The Committee on Conference shall report to both the Senate and Assembly.

Report of Committee on Conference

29. The report of the Committee on Conference shall not be subject to amendment, and if either house refuse to adopt such report the conferees may be discharged and other conferees appointed; provided, however, that no more than three different Conference Committees shall be appointed on any one bill.

It shall require the affirmative vote of not less than four of the members constituting the committee to agree upon a report. No member who has served on a Committee on Conference shall be appointed a member of another Committee on Conference on the same bill.

When Conference Committee Report Is in Order

30. The presentation of the report of a Committee on Conference shall always be in order, except when a question of order or a motion to adjourn is pending, or during roll call, and, when received, the question of proceeding to the consideration of the report, if raised, shall be immediately passed upon, and shall be determined without debate.

Adjournment

33. Adjournment for the constitutional recess and adjournment sine die shall be made only by concurrent resolution.

Dispensing With Joint Rules

34. No joint rule shall be dispensed with except by a vote of two-thirds of each house; and Joint Rule No 23 can be dispensed with only in the manner provided for in said joint rule. If either house shall violate a joint rule a question of order may be raised in the other house and decided in the same manner as in the case of the violation of the Rules of such house; and if it shall be decided that the Joint Rules have been violated, the bill involving such violations shall be returned to the house in which it originated, and such disputed matter be considered in like manner as in Conference Committee.

Investigating Committees

35. In order to expedite the work of the Legislature either house, or both houses jointly may by resolution provide for the appointment of committees to ascertain facts and to make recommendations as to any subject within the scope of legislative regulation or control.

The resolution providing for the appointment of a committee shall state the purpose of the committee, and the scope of the subject with which it is to act and may authorize it to act either during sessions of the Legislature or after final adjournment.

In the exercise of the power granted by this rule, each committee may appoint a secretary and adopt such rules as may appear necessary and proper to carry out the powers granted and duties imposed under this Rule. It may employ such clerical, legal and technical assistants as may appear necessary when money has been made available therefor.

Each such committee is authorized and empowered to summon and subpena witnesses, require the production of papers, books, accounts, reports, documents, records and papers of every kind and description, to issue subpenas and to take all necessary means to compel the attendance of witnesses and to procure testimony, oral and documentary.

The members of such committees are, and each of them is, authorized and empowered to administer oaths, and all of the provisions of Article 8, Chapter 2, Title 1, Part 3 of the Political Code, relating to the attendance and examination of witnesses before the Legislature and the committees thereof, shall apply to such committees

The Sergeant-at-Arms of the Senate or Assembly, or other person designated by such Sergeant-at-Arms or by the committee, shall serve any and all subpenas, orders and other process that may be issued by the committee, when directed to do so upon a vote of the majority of the membership of the committee

All officers of the State, including the Legislative Counsel and the heads of each department, agency and subdivision thereof, and all employees of such departments, agencies and subdivisions, and all other persons whether connected with the State Government or not, shall give and furnish to these committees upon request such information, records and documents as the committees deem necessary or proper for the achievement of the purposes for which each such committee was created.

Each such committee may either during the session or during the constitutional recess, meet at the State Capitol or at any other place in the State of California and do any and all things necessary or convenient to enable it to exercise the powers and perform the duties herein granted to it and may expend such money as may be made available to it for such purpose; but no committee shall incur any indebtedness unless money shall have been first made available therefor. Members shall not be entitled to any salary because of membership on any such committee but shall be entitled to actual necessary expenses, not to exceed eight dollars ($8) per day and actual travel expenses which shall be deemed to be five and one-half cents ($0 05½) per mile. The chairman of each committee shall audit and approve the expense claims of the members of the committee and shall certify the amount approved to the Controller, and the Controller shall draw his warrants upon the certification of the chairman.

Resolution of Alameda County Grand Jury

(Copy)

OFFICE OF DISTRICT ATTORNEY OF ALAMEDA COUNTY

Hon. Gardiner Johnson, Member of the Assembly
State Capitol, Sacramento, California

DEAR MR. JOHNSON: At the request of the Grand Jury of Alameda County, I am inclosing herewith a copy of a partial report filed this day by them with the Superior Court of Alameda County, relating to taxation.

Very truly yours,

(Signed) RALPH E. HOYT, District Attorney

OAKLAND, CALIFORNIA, January 15, 1941

To the Honorable the Superior Court of the State of California, in and for the County of Alameda

In view of the new and imperative needs for National defense which must be undertaken by the United States Government, we, the Grand Jury of Alameda County for the year 1940-41, respectfully submit the following partial report:

The present National debt, plus defense appropriations to date, amounts to $57,227,497,749.

It has been estimated by competent authority that Alameda County's share or pro rata thereof is $222,969,971.

Further, we find that our pro rata of the State bonded indebtedness and deficiency is $18,596,649

The county's bonded debt is $4,917,000, an amount that reflects conservative policies over the years.

The bonded debts of the incorporated cities of Alameda County follow:

Alameda	$544,498	Livermore	$43,000
Albany	18,000	Oakland	8,793,160
Berkeley	1,030,168	Piedmont	83,500
Emeryville	None	Pleasanton	39,000
Hayward	264,093	San Leandro	180,000

The aggregate of all district school bonds in the county is $12,696,250.

Alameda County's share of the East Bay Municipal Utility District bonds is $51,323,958

The total, therefore, of all public debt resting directly and indirectly on Alameda County is $321,499,247.

The taxable assessed valuation of the county is $455,205,215

In other words, government debt, at this time, amounts to 70 per cent of our taxable assessed valuation. This means a burden of $1,400 on every home assessed at $2,000, or an average of $2,131 for every family in the county, or $627 for every individual.

In addition to this are the current tax levies, Federal, State and local, which already are of consequential proportions.

The foregoing is submitted as an estimate of the situation confronting Alameda County, one that is to be seriously pondered by all citizens. The burden must be sustained by the productive energies of the people, all of whom have a definite part in the responsibility. We believe it to be timely to give greater consideration to the taxpayer's capacity to pay.

We, therefore, commend to State and local tax-fixing authorities and to those expending these public funds the caution and thoughtful restraint that conditions so definitely warrant.

It is gratifying to report that some of the taxing agencies in Alameda County already have given recognition to the stern realities of the new development and we feel assured of their further cooperation

Particularly as regards pressure groups, political and otherwise, are we persuaded that a warning should be uttered.

Respectfully submitted by the grand jury

M R BRONNER, Foreman
LOUISE M GLASIER, Secretary

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolutions were offered:

By Mr. Allen:

House Resolution No. 41

WHEREAS, The Governmental Efficiency and Economy Fact-Finding Committee created by House Resolution No. 67 of the First Extraordinary Session of the Fifty-third Legislature has heretofore exercised the functions conferred upon it, and has made report to the Legislature on the result of its investigations; and

WHEREAS, It appears from those investigations and reports that the best interests of the people of this State will be served by establishing a similar committee to function for the Fifty-fourth Legislature; and

WHEREAS, The people on November 5, 1940, adopted an amendment to the Constitution of this State authorizing the Legislature or either house thereof to provide for the appointment of committees to act after final adjournment of the session creating them; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That a committee, designated the "Governmental Efficiency and Economy Fact-Finding Committee," is hereby created, which committee shall consist of 11 members of the Assembly appointed by the Speaker thereof. The committee hereby created shall have and exercise all of the powers, duties and functions conferred upon said former committee by Assembly House Resolution No. 67 adopted by the First Extraordinary Session of the Fifty-third Legislature, and all of the provisions of the said resolution are incorporated herein by reference and made applicable to the committee hereby created except as herein otherwise provided; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee created by this resolution is hereby authorized to act during this session of the Legislature, including any recess hereof, and after final adjournment hereof, until the commencement of the regular session of the Fifty-fifth Legislature, and may file a report at said regular session as well as at this session; and be it further

Resolved, That the sum of five thousand dollars ($5,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby made available from the Contingent Fund of the Assembly for expenses of the committee and its members, and for any charges, expenses or claims it may incur under this resolution, to be disbursed after certification by the chairman of the committee upon warrants drawn by the Controller upon the Treasurer.

Resolution read, and referred to Committee on Rules.

By Messrs Phillips and Dickey:

House Resolution No. 42

WHEREAS, One of the most pressing problems facing the State of California today is the returning of tax-delinquent property to the tax rolls, thus making such property bear its fair share of the costs of government and lightening the burden now imposed on property which is not tax-delinquent The solution to this problem may only be reached through well-founded legislation, far reaching in scope and vision, which is designed to make all property bear its share of taxes, to provide an incentive for the original owner or his successor to redeem delinquent property, to supply encouragement for the sales of tax-delinquent property, and to furnish a sound management of delinquent property while it remains tax-deeded so that the greatest return may be obtained therefrom This legislative program can best be studied by a competent and impartial committee of members of the Legislature; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That a committee to be known as the Tax-Delinquent Property Committee is hereby created, which committee is hereby authorized and directed to make a complete investigation into the extent of tax delinquency in California, with a view to recommending to the legislators such legislation as will tend to make all property bear its fair share of taxes, to return tax-delinquent property to the tax rolls, and to furnish sound management of delinquent property while it remains tax-deeded; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee shall consist of five members of the Assembly appointed by the Speaker. Vacancies in the membership of the committee occurring at any time shall be filled by the Speaker.

The committee in exercising the powers and performing the functions vested in it by this resolution shall have: (i) all the powers conferred upon legislative committees by Article 8, Chapter 2, Title 1, Part 3 of the Political Code; (ii) except when inconsistent with this resolution, all the powers conferred upon Assembly committees by the Rules of the Assembly, and the Joint Rules of the Senate and Assembly, as they are enacted and amended from time to time and such Rules are hereby incorporated herein and made a part hereof the same as if they were set forth in this resolution in full The powers specified in such Rules may be exercised by the committee after the final adjournment of this session; (iii) all powers necessary or convenient to accomplish the objects and purposes of this resolution, including but not limited to the following duties and powers:

(1) To select a chairman from its membership and to employ and fix the compensation of a secretary and such legal, clerical, expert and technical assistants as it may deem necessary;

(2) To create subcommittees from its membership, assigning to the subcommittee any study, inquiry, investigation or hearing which the committee itself has authority to undertake or hold, and the subcommittee for the purpose of this assignment shall have and exercise all of the powers conferred upon the committee limited by the express terms of the resolution or resolutions of the latter defining the powers and duties of the subcommittee, which powers may be withdrawn or terminated at any time by the committee;

(3) To adopt and from time to time amend such rules governing its procedure (including the fixing of its own quorum and the number of votes necessary to take action on any matter) as may to it appear appropriate;

(4) To contract with such other agencies, public or private, as it deems necessary for the rendition and affording of such services, facilities, studies and reports to the committee as will best assist it to carry out the purposes for which it is created;

(5) To hold public hearings at any place in California at which hearings the people are to have an opportunity to present their views to the committee;

(6) To make a complete study, survey and investigation of every phase of the subject of this resolution, including but not limited to the operation, effect, administration, enforcement, and needed revision of any and all laws in any wise bearing upon or relating to the subject of this resolution;

(7) To meet at any and all places in this State, in public or executive session;

(8) To act during this session of the Legislature, including any recess hereof, until the final adjournment of the Fifty-fourth Legislature;

(9) To file a report with the Assembly as soon after the end of the constitutional recess as is possible

(10) To summon and subpena witnesses, require the production of papers, books, accounts, reports, documents, and records of every kind and description, to issue subpenas and to take all necessary means to compel the attendance of witnesses and procedure testimony; and

(11) To do any and all other things necessary or convenient to enable it fully and adequately to exercise its powers, perform its duties, and accomplish the objects and purposes of this resolution; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee, each of its members, and any representative of the committee thereunto authorized by the committee or by its chairman, is authorized and empowered to administer oaths and the Sergeant-at-Arms of the Assembly or other officers designated by him are hereby directed to serve any and all subpenas, orders and other process issued by the committee, when directed so to do by the chairman or by a majority of the membership of the committee; and be it further

Resolved, That every department, commission, board, agency, officer and employee of the State Government and of any political subdivision, county, city, or public district of or in this State shall furnish the committee and any subcommittee, upon request, any and all such assistance, and information, records and documents as the committee or subcommittee deems proper for the accomplishment of the purposes for which the committee is created; and be it further

Resolved, That the members of the committee shall serve without compensation but shall be allowed mileage at the rate of five and one-half cents ($0.05½) per mile each way incurred in connection with their services upon the committee and other actual and necessary expenses for living accommodations and meals, incurred in connection with their services upon the committee, or in lieu of such expenses for accommodations and meals an allowance of eight dollars ($8) per day; and be it further

Consideration of Committee Amendments

The following amendments were proposed by the Committee on Live Stock and Dairies:

Amendment No. 1

In the last line of the title of the printed bill, strike out the period, and insert ", declaring the urgency of this act, to take effect immediately."

Amendment No. 2

On page 53 of the printed bill, after line 30, insert:

"Sec. 178. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety within the meaning of Section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution and shall therefore take effect immediately. The facts constituting such necessity are as follows:

This act relates to milk and dairy products and imitations thereof and is designed to facilitate amendments to and to rearrange the provisions of law relating thereto. The regulation of milk and dairy products, including imitations thereof, is essential for the protection of the public health. If this bill is required to await the passage of the regular period before it takes effect, other amendments to the provisions covered by this bill will be rendered difficult and in the resulting confusion measures essential to the protection of the public health through regulation of the milk supply and associated food products will be retarded or prevented. In order to eliminate this hazard to the public health and welfare it is necessary that this act take immediate effect."

STATE LANDS COMMISSION, January 15, 1941

To the Assembly of the State of California

Pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 800, Statutes of California, 1917, we respectfully report that, according to advices received, certificates of title have been issued to August 1, 1940, by the registrars of land titles under the Torrens Law in 16 of the 58 counties as follows.

Alameda	176	San Bernardino	6,560
Fresno	107	San Diego	6,695
Humboldt	339	San Luis Obispo	1
Imperial	512	Santa Barbara	775
Kern	155	Santa Cruz	246
Los Angeles	108,430	Sonoma	601
Orange	8,648	Tulare	91
Riverside	293	Ventura	6

The Torrens Act provides that upon the original registration of any land a sum equal to one-tenth of 1 per cent of the assessed value of the land, including permanent improvements thereon as the same were valued for county taxation the last time said land and permanent improvements or either thereof were assessed for county taxes next preceding the filing of the petition, shall be collected by the registrar and paid to the State Treasurer to be credited to the "Torrens Title Assurance Fund." The books of the State Treasurer show at the close of business June 30, 1940, combined total receipts of $47,476.47 and total payments during the Eighty-ninth Fiscal Year on account of defective titles of $47,474.69, with a cash balance of $1.78, indicating that only $0.55 was received into the "Torrens Title Assurance Fund" during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1940.

For further information relative to the status of the "Torrens Title Assurance Fund," we respectfully direct your attention to the Report of the Honorable State Treasurer for the period ending June 30, 1940.

RESOLUTIONS

By Mr. Gunlock:

House Resolution No. 43

Creating an Assembly Committee to investigate political activity of State officers and employees

WHEREAS, It appears that buildings and offices occupied by agencies of the State, as well as State-owned automobiles, have been used during regular working hours by some State officials to further political purposes.

Other reported instances indicate an unwarranted use of official prestige and position to influence the vote of, or to demand, collect or receive political contributions from, citizens whose businesses are subject to the jurisdiction of State regulatory agencies.

The most flagrant reported instances of improper political activity have involved certain officers and employees of the State Board of Equalization and have occurred in the area comprising the Second Assembly District.

The fact that these reports persist indicates a need for a thorough study of these matters, so that the members of the Legislature may formulate adequate and effective corrective legislation; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That there is hereby established the Assembly Committee on Political Activity, which committee is to exercise the powers and perform the duties hereby granted to and imposed upon it during the sessions and any recess or recesses of the Fifty-fourth Legislature, but in no event beyond the fourteenth legislative day after the termination of the constitutional recess.

(1) The committee shall study and investigate, accurately and in detail, any and all phases of the matters referred to in this resolution including but not limited to any and all things connected with political activity or attempted political activity of an improper nature by State officers and employees, unauthorized use of State-owned property, offices, and equipment, attempts to coerce or affect by any improper means whatsoever the elections held in said Assembly district, or any portion thereof, whether by directly or indirectly threatening, influencing or attempting or seeking to threaten or thus influence any voter in that district.

(2) The committee shall report to the Assembly the results of its investigation, together with its recommendations as to any needed changes in the law.

(3) The committee shall consist of three members of the Assembly appointed by the Speaker. Vacancies in the membership of the committee occurring at any time shall be filled by the Speaker. The committee may select a chairman and a secretary from its membership and may employ, prescribe the duties and fix the compensation of such professional assistants, clerical and other employees as it finds necessary for the conduct of its work and may contract with other agencies, public or private, for the rendition of such services, studies and reports to it as will best assist it to effectuate the purposes for which it is created.

(4) The committee may hold public hearings at Sacramento and at any place in the Second Assembly District of California at which hearings the people are to have an opportunity to present their views to the committee.

(5) The committee may issue subpenas, summon and subpena witnesses, require the production of papers, books, accounts, reports, documents and records of every kind and description, and may take all necessary means to compel the attendance of witnesses and to procure testimony. The committee, each of its members and any representative of the committee thereunto authorized by the committee or by its chairman may administer oaths. All of the provisions of Political Code Sections 300 to 304, inclusive, apply to the committee hereby created.

(6) Every department, commission, board, agency, officer, and employee of the State Government and of the political subdivisions, the counties, and the cities shall furnish the committee, upon request, such information, records and documents as the committee may request.

(7) The committee is further authorized and empowered to make a complete investigation and study of every phase of the subject hereinabove mentioned and any and all matters incidental thereto and to do any and all things necessary or convenient to enable it fully and completely to exercise its powers and perform its duties.

(8) The Sergeant-at-Arms of the Assembly and the Deputies Sergeant-at-Arms of the Assembly are hereby directed to serve any and all subpenas, orders and other process that may be issued by the committee, when directed so to do by the chairman or upon a vote of the majority of the membership of the committee.

(9) The members of the committee shall serve without compensation but shall be allowed mileage at the rate of five and one-half cents ($0.05½) per mile each way, incurred in connection with their services upon the committee, and other actual and necessary expenses for living accommodations and meals, incurred in connection with their services upon the committee or in lieu of such expenses for accommodations and meals, an allowance of eight dollars ($8) per day.

(10) The sum of one thousand dollars ($1,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby made available from the Contingent Fund of the Assembly for expenses of the committee and its members, and for any charges, expenses or claims it may incur under this resolution, to be disbursed, after certification by the chairman of the committee, upon warrants drawn by the Controller upon the Treasurer

WHEREAS, In order to intelligently consider an act upon such legislation it is necessary that the said committee be fully informed about the facts concerning the same, and

WHEREAS, It appears that the best method of acquiring accurate and necessary information concerning such matters would be to authorize a subcommittee appointed from the membership of the Standing Committee on Live Stock and Dairies to conduct an investigation and to study those subjects; now, therefore, be it

PETITION

Petition for Funds to Establish a School of Veterinary Medicine

WHEREAS, One of the basic branches of California's huge agricultural industry is animal husbandry; and

WHEREAS, Successful live stock production necessarily requires the services of veterinarians trained in recognized schools of veterinary medicine; and

WHEREAS, California has no graduate school qualified to train veterinarians; and

WHEREAS, This results in a definite hardship on those men and women interested in this branch of medical science inasmuch as it is necessary for them to go outside the State to obtain the proper degree; and

WHEREAS, These hardships frequently are so great on the parents and students that it is impossible for them to acquire the training they could otherwise obtain if it were available in California; now, therefore,

We, the undersigned, hereby petition Governor Culbert L. Olson and the members of the Legislature, to provide necessary funds which will permit the establishment of a School of Veterinary Medicine at the University of California, either at Davis or Berkeley, to the end that it will not be necessary for California students to go to other States to obtain the training essential to the future development of one of the State's most important industries.

REMARKS BY MR. MIDDOUGH ORDERED PRINTED IN THE JOURNAL

On motion of Mr. Tenney, the following remarks by Mr. Middough were ordered printed in the Journal:

Mr. Speaker—Ladies and Gentlemen:

Last evening in this Assembly Chamber many of us enjoyed the Governor's preview of "Land of Liberty." We heard splendid speeches and saw wonderful pictures of Democracy at work.

In the day of my friend and neighbor, about whom this resolution is written, there were no pictures, and few speeches, but there was much action. My fellow townsman and friend was a vital part of that action. He was one of those brave and heroic Pony Express riders in the late '50s and the troublous early '60s. Through the prairies and over the mountains, from darkness of night into the light of day, week after week and year after year he—Curley Ayres—now 94 years old, rode, supplying the connection link between civilized East and the Pioneer West, when the West really was wild.

For many years this gentleman—the last living Pony Express rider—has been totally blind. Then, a few days ago, rising from a fall to the floor on his face, his vision was restored.

"The strangest thing has happened, Mother. I can see your face," he exclaimed.

Again my friend came from darkness into light. It would seem, my Colleagues, that it is fitting that the Assembly honor this worthy citizen of my City of Long Beach.

I ask an "AYE" vote on the resolution.

Consideration of Committee Amendments

Amendment No. 1

On the last page of the printed bill, after the last line insert

"SEC. 20. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure within the meaning of Section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California. The following is a statement of the facts constituting such necessity

Under present provisions of the Insurance Code persons licensed to transact insurance who have been and will be called into the military service of the United States in the present emergency will forfeit their licenses and suffer loss of their business. By providing for the preservation of the licenses of such persons during such military service and by making it possible for such persons to designate other persons to care for their businesses during such military service under the jurisdiction of the Division of Insurance, this act will contribute to the public peace, health, and safety. Other provisions of this act eliminate conflicts in the laws relating to applications for, and issuance and renewal of, licenses, which conflicts have resulted in the imposition of penalties on persons who have endeavored in good faith to comply with the law. It is essential that a change be made before the next renewal license period begins in order to avoid such harsh results which appear to be inevitable under the present law. Other provisions of this act eliminate provisions of the law which are obsolete in fact and which are not adapted to present conditions The enforcement of such laws has caused much uncertainty and confusion among persons transacting insurance and those dealing with them to the detriment of the public peace, health and safety and it is desirable that these conditions be eliminated with a minimum of delay Other provisions of this act clarify the status of many persons who perform acts in connection with insurance which under literal interpretation of the present law may require the possession of a license to transact insurance although in the past it has been generally considered that it was not necessary to possess a license in order to perform such acts. The public interest not requiring that such persons be licensed to transact insurance an immediate clarification of the status of such persons is necessitated by the public peace, health and safety "

Amendment read and adopted

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolution was offered:

House Resolution No. 49

WHEREAS, The expansion of the merchant marine necessary to the National Defense Program will require a large number of trained officer personnel. The California Maritime Academy is without proper facilities to meet the responsibilities in training this greatly increased number for the Merchant Marine Naval Reserve. These circumstances have made the California Maritime Academy one of the most important educational institutions under State supervision. Recently the training ship provided by the Federal Government has been left without a shore base because the United States Navy has taken back the Tiburon Base. It now becomes necessary to provide facilities for the conduct of the school. The factual basis for the necessary legislation may best be acquired as the result of an investigation by a legislative committee; therefore be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That there is hereby created a California Maritime Academy Investigating Committee, which committee shall investigate, ascertain and appraise all facts relating to the present necessities of the California Maritime Academy, and shall report to the Legislature its recommendations for legislation based on those facts; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee shall consist of five members of the Assembly appointed by the Speaker. Vacancies in the membership of the committee occurring at any time shall be filled by the Speaker.

The committee in exercising its powers and performing the functions vested in it by this resolution shall have: (i) all the powers conferred upon legislative committees by Article 8, Chapter 2, Title 1, Part 3 of the Political Code; (ii) except when inconsistent with this resolution, all the powers conferred upon Assembly committees by the Rules of the Assembly, and the Joint Rules of the Senate and Assembly, as they are enacted and amended from time to time and such Rules are hereby incorporated herein and made a part hereof the same as if they were set forth in this resolution in full. The powers specified in such rules may be exercised by the committee after the final adjournment of this session; (iii) all powers necessary or convenient to accomplish the objects and purposes of this resolution, including but not limited to the following duties and powers:

(1) To select a chairman from its membership and to employ and fix the compensation of a secretary and such legal, clerical, expert and technical assistants as it may deem necessary;

(2) To create subcommittees from its membership, assigning to the subcommittee any study, inquiry, investigation or hearing which the committee itself has authority to undertake or hold, and the subcommittee for the purpose of this assignment shall have and exercise all of the powers conferred upon the committee limited by the express terms of the resolution or resolutions of the latter defining the powers and duties of the subcommittee, which powers may be withdrawn or terminated at any time by the committee;

(3) To adopt and from time to time amend such rules governing its procedure (including the fixing of its own quorum and the number of votes necessary to take action on any matter) as may to it appear appropriate;

(4) To contract with such other agencies, public or private, as it deems necessary for the rendition and affording of such services, facilities, studies and reports to the committee as will best assist it to carry out the purposes for which it is created;

(5) To hold public hearings at any place in California at which hearings the people are to have an opportunity to present their views to the committee;

(6) To make a complete study, survey and investigation of every phase of the subject of this resolution, including but not limited to the operation, effect, administration, enforcement, and needed revision of any and all laws in any wise bearing upon or relating to the subject of this resolution;

(7) To meet at any and all places in this State, in public or executive session;

(8) To act during this session of the Legislature, including any recess hereof, and after final adjournment hereof, until the commencement of the Fifty-fifth Legislature;

(9) To file a report with the Assembly during any session of the Fifty-fourth Legislature and with the Assembly during the regular session of the Fifty-fifth Legislature;

(10) To summon and subpena witnesses, require the production of papers, books, accounts, reports, documents, and records of every kind and description, to issue subpenas and to take all necessary means to compel the attendance of witnesses and procedure testimony; and

(11) To do any and all other things necessary or convenient to enable it fully and adequately to exercise its powers, perform its duties, and accomplish the objects and purposes of this resolution; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee, each of its members, and any representative of the committee thereunto authorized by the committee or by its chairman, is authorized and empowered to administer oaths and the Sergeant-at-Arms of the Assembly or other officers designated by him are hereby directed to serve any and all subpenas, orders and other process issued by the committee, when directed so to do by the chairman or by a majority of the membership of the committee; and be it further

Resolved, That every department, commission, board, agency, officer and employee of the State Government and of any political subdivision, county, city, or public district of or in this State shall furnish the committee and any subcommittee, upon request, any and all such assistance, and information, records and documents as the committee or subcommittee deems proper for the accomplishment of the purposes for which the committee is created; and be it further

Resolved, That the members of the committee shall serve without compensation but shall be allowed mileage at the rate of five and one-half cents ($0.05½) per mile each way incurred in connection with their services upon the committee and other actual and necessary expenses for living accommodations and meals incurred in connection with their services upon the committee, or in lieu of such expenses for accommodations and meals an allowance of eight dollars ($8) per day; and be it further

Resolved, That the sum of fifteen hundred dollars ($1,500) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby made available from the Contingent Fund of the Assembly for expenses of the committee and its members, and for any charges, expenses or claims it may incur under this resolution, to be disbursed, after certification by the chairman of the committee upon warrants drawn by the Controller upon the Treasurer.

BUDGET MESSAGE ORDERED PRINTED IN THE JOURNAL

The Speaker ordered the Budget Message printed in the Journal:

Budget Message

To the Senate and the Assembly of the State Legislature of California

In accordance with the provisions of Section 34, Article IV of the State Constitution, I herewith submit for your consideration a budget containing a complete plan and itemized statement of all proposed expenditures provided by existing law and recommended for each fiscal year of the biennium beginning July 1, 1941, and ending June 30, 1943, together with the comparisons of revenues and expenditures, as required by that section.

Expenditures recommended in this budget, totaling $552,570,000 are $13,487,000 below the actual and estimated expenditures for the current biennium. Estimated receipts are $613,070,000, or $54,532,000 more than the amount for the present biennial period. If this estimate proves correct, the excess of General Fund revenue over expenditures will retire the existing deficit in its entirety and permit the State to close the coming biennium with a General Fund surplus of $11,000,000.

This prospect is, of course, contingent upon three factors:

First, the continuance of the National Defense Program with its huge expenditures and consequent mounting economic activity.

Second, maintaining tax rates at present levels, and

Factors Controlling the Size of the Total Budget

Before discussing the items in this budget which show increases over the corresponding items of the current biennium, a few basic facts about the budget should be mentioned.

First, the fixed charges, or continuing appropriations, represent 70 per cent of the $552,570,000 total, or $385,700,000, of which $289,758,000 is for distribution or subventions to the counties, cities, and other units of local government for schools, streets and roads, local fairs and aid to the needy aged, the blind, and dependent children.

Second, items subject to executive control comprise only 30 per cent of the budget. Aside from unemployment relief, reductions possible in other controllable costs of State Government can not, in any case, be sufficient to offset the growth in mandatory charges experienced during recent years.

Third, California is a rapidly growing State. The numerical growth in population during the last decade exceeded that of any other State of the Union. It is reasonable, therefore, to expect corresponding demands for expanded governmental services with resultant increases in governmental costs.

Finally, we must take account of the fact that during the past quarter century the people have needed—demanded—and received many new, important and costly services at the hands of State Government. These services have contributed to and supported the general welfare. They have been evolved through our democratic processes. They are helping us to survive the impact of the machine age. They are easing our transition to a more rational social and economic order. They typify the evolution of government from a mere instrument of the police power used for the preservation of order, into an effective agency responsible to the collective needs and will of the people. This is the promise of American democracy which makes it strong and unconquerable.

Fixed Charges

Fixed charges, over which the Governor can exercise no control, will increase $21,424,000 during the coming biennium, according to budget estimates. In other words, that increase is mandatory under provisions of our State Constitution and existing statutes.

The largest item of mandatory costs is support of the public school system, which during the coming two-year period will require $160,670,000 or $4,680,000 more than the expenditure for this purpose during the current biennium. This increase is a product of our population growth. Elementary school enrollment has advanced during the current school year and will rise further as the increased number of children born in 1934 and 1935 reach school age. High school and junior college attendance is gradually mounting. Moreover, schools are being called upon to train workers for our National Defense Program.

Expenditures for construction and maintenance of highways, county roads, and city streets—another fixed cost—will increase $9,470,000 in the coming biennium to a new high total of $128,000,000. Nevertheless, those most familiar with the demands likely to be made upon our highway system believe that the present rate of investment in the traffic arteries of our State is inadequate.

Aid to needy aged, blind, and children, a function of government much neglected in the past, is rapidly assuming major proportions. State payments required for assistance to these needy citizens will increase $7,600,000 in the 1941-1943 period, reaching a total of $49,750,000.

Requirements for debt interest and redemption will decrease in the next two years, due principally to a reduction in interest charges on registered warrants. It is anticipated that the improvement in the State's financial position will enable retirement of all but a fraction of the $90,000,000 of General Fund warrants now outstanding, and that the interest rate, which has decreased significantly in recent months, may drop to a still more advantageous level under the impact of increasing revenue. It should be emphasized, however, that debt service is the only important item of fixed cost showing a decrease in the coming fiscal period, and that this reduction is more than offset by increases in the mandatory costs already mentioned.

Other fixed charges, principally representing State-collected revenue shared with local units of government, will increase $3,100,000, making up the remainder of the $21,424,000 in the unavoidable increases encompassed in the budget total. It may be unnecessary to observe that had there been no increases in fixed charges, the budget total for 1941-1943 would have been $531,100,000 instead of $552,500,000.

Controllable Expenditures

Controllable expenditures of State Government may be divided into six functional groups: General government offices; unemployment relief; charitable and penal institutions; the State university and State colleges; regulation of motor vehicles; and miscellaneous.

In order to facilitate presentation of these budget data, I shall first discuss operating expenses of each group.

Operating expenses are those incurred in the normal running of our State offices, departments, institutions, schools, and other agencies of general government. They include salaries and wages of State employees, expenditures for food and clothing for inmates of our State institutions and prisons, and services, supplies, and equipment required by governmental offices.

In analyzing the State's operating expenses there is one large item common to all agencies; that is the allowance for salary adjustments. The budget recommendations make full provision for these adjustments, in compliance with the expressed intention of the Legislature to recognize merit in its public servants, and to offer qualified persons an incentive for a career in public service. Governmental efficiency is promoted, and sound business principles prompt, the adoption and application of this policy.

Section 70 of the State Civil Service Act, adopted in 1937, provides that after one year in service, each employee shall receive an upward adjustment of salary equivalent to one of the intermediate steps in his salary range if his performance rating shall equal a required percentage fixed by the Personnel Board. Salary ranges provide, generally, for four intermediate steps. Thus each efficient employee is entitled under the Civil Service Act to receive an adjustment of his salary at the end of each of his first four years of State service. Furthermore, the act provides that all agencies, in submitting budgetary requirements, shall carefully estimate and call attention to the need for moneys sufficient to provide for appropriate salary adjustments for the employees under their jurisdiction. To carry through the next biennium the adjustments given in the current two-year period, and to make the further adjustments due in 1941-1943, will require approximately $5,000,000. This increase affects all State agencies and is included in the totals for the six functional groups itemized below.

General State Offices, Boards, Commissions and Departments

The function of general government, involving support of 13 State departments, 17 boards and commissions, 5 administrative offices, together with the legislative, executive, and judicial branches, will require $48,500,000 for normal operating expenses during the 1941-1943 biennium, under the recommendations I am making to you. Of this amount, approximately 45 per cent will be paid out of the State General Fund, and 55 per cent from special funds—funds earmarked for specific purposes. The aggregate increase over the current biennium is $3,900,000. In recommending larger appropriations for general governmental agencies, I am recognizing the need for some additional funds by the State Department of Industrial Relations, the State Railroad Commission, the State Board of Equalization, the Franchise Tax Commissioner, and certain other agencies. During the budget hearings for these and all other agencies, substantial reductions were made, and it is only on the basis of established need that increases have been included in my budget recommendations.

Unemployment Relief

Because of the upsurge of business and industrial activity in California, induced by large Federal expenditures for National defense and the training of Army and Navy personnel, unemployment in this State has been decreasing at a rate unhoped-for even 12 months ago. It is now anticipated that by the beginning of the next biennium, jobs will have been found for nearly all of those now on the relief rolls who are capable of holding skilled or semiskilled jobs, and that the relief load will then consist mainly of the unskilled, the physically handicapped, and the seasonally unemployed. In this budget I have recommended an appropriation of $38,700,000 for unemployment relief for the entire next biennium, a reduction of $40,600,000 from the total for the current biennial period. You know, as I have so often stated, that I am convinced we should as speedily as possible, but without permitting want and suffering, discontinue the payment of cash doles to the employable unemployed. Therefore, I shall present for your consideration, legislation to provide that unemployment relief funds may be used to give employment to the unemployed, and to train the unskilled for jobs in industry.

Hospitals, Homes, Prisons, Correctional Schools

The institutions, prisons, and reform schools of this State will provide care and maintenance for an average of 39,200 persons each year of the next biennium. For this purpose I recommend appropriations totaling $28,650,000 or $4,460,000 more than for the 1939-1941 period. In addition to salary adjustments and increases necessary for the growing number of patients and inmates, this increased allotment for the institutions of our State also makes provision for progress in the work of these agencies. I am recommending that during the next biennium the State make full provision for the institution shortly to be opened at the site of the State Narcotic Hospital, near Spadra, for the care and cure of chronic inebriates. The budget also contemplates that new treatments for the mentally ill, which have proved highly successful in limited applications, will be extended. The recently developed methods of intensive treatment, such as insulin shock, which have produced recoveries in the vast majority of cases in which they have been used, must be utilized in all instances where there is a possibility of success. The research work now being conducted in the State mental hospitals will be extended through placing into operation in January, 1942, the new Acute Psychiatric Hospital in San Francisco. While these improvements in the scientific handling of institutional cases will necessitate larger expenditures in the next biennium, the State will benefit economically and socially by rehabilitating thousands of men and women now crowding our State hospitals and restoring them to society as normal and useful citizens.

Education, State Colleges, University, and Special Schools

As all of you know, the University of California is one of the largest institutions of its kind in the United States in point of student enrollment, and the personnel of its instructing staff is unsurpassed. The State maintains seven State colleges, which are also recognized as foremost among educational institutions with high standards of instructions. The State also maintains two special schools for the deaf and blind, a merchant marine training academy and a polytechnic school, which are performing a splendid service in vocational education. Operation of these educational institutions, support of the State Department of Education, free textbooks, and other educational activities will require an expenditure of $27,980,000 during the coming two-year period, over 95 per cent of which will be paid from the State General Fund. Expenditures for these educational functions will increase $2,800,000 over the total for this biennium, of which $1,500,000 is for the University of California.

Regulation of Motor Vehicles

A constitutional amendment adopted in 1938 sets aside all revenue received from motor vehicle fuel taxes and motor vehicle fees, with the exception of "in lieu" license fees, for expenditure on highway, road, and street work and the regulation of motor vehicles. Thus, the State Department of Motor Vehicles occupies a somewhat unique place in governmental structure. Although expenditures of this department are controllable, any saving made in regulation of motor vehicles must be expended on highways, roads, and city streets. Expenditures recommended for this function of government total $14,300,000 or $1,230,000 above the comparable 1939-1941 figure.

Miscellaneous

Miscellaneous controllable items, including the State Fair, Sixth District Agricultural Association in Los Angeles, flood control, tuberculosis subsidies, the Emergency Fund, and miscellaneous minor charges will require $6,600,000. These expenditures will be $1,200,000 less than for the current biennium.

The increase in the operating expenditures for the State Government, exclusive of the $5,000,000 to carry salary adjustments, will be about $6,000,000. This sum represents the increased cost of extending governmental services in the fields I have mentioned.

Capital Outlays

Capital outlays recommended in this budget include only those "must" items requiring immediate attention. There are many others which would be highly desirable and which should be undertaken at the proper time, but a large part of this work can be postponed until the housing needs of the State Government can be surveyed and a long-term building program formulated In the meantime, provision should be made for the relatively minor outlays embraced in this budget.

The State Government is badly in need of additional buildings. But whether we should enter upon a construction program at this time, in competition with the Federal Government's Program of Defense Construction, is a question meriting your immediate and serious study. Present prospects are that economic activity within our State will reach new high levels during the coming two or three years. But the time will come when peace shall again prevail in the world. We shall then have to face the probability that unemployment will again become as burdensome, as acute in all of its manifestations as ever before; perhaps more so. This prospect suggests that the actual commencement of an extensive public building program may well be postponed to provide work for those now engaged in preparedness industries. If we may judge from experience, an additional advantage of this policy will be the substantial economies resulting from lower prices of building materials.

I am, therefore, recommending that the State undertake a study of its long-term building needs and that, so far as possible, provision be made to time the construction of public buildings and the performance of public works to coincide with the work-needs of our citizens. Appropriate legislation for such a program will be introduced for your consideration.

The State's Financial Position

With respect to the current financial position of the State Government, I am pleased to report real improvement during the last year The tax system of this State is quickly responsive to business conditions, and the industrial activity generated by the National Defense Program has produced an extraordinary and unpredicted rise in revenue collections Although the General Fund deficit is estimated at $47,600,000 as of June 30, 1941, as compared with $36,500,000 in 1939, this increase occurred entirely within the first year of the present biennium. Financial operations during the current fiscal year show income and expenditures in balance.

A General Fund surplus of $11,000,000 is estimated for June 30, 1943, but I must caution you that this surplus is entirely prospective and contingent. It is two and one-half years in the future. These estimates have been carefully prepared and every effort has been made to anticipate the course of future economic conditions. But events may change our whole outlook. In view of the uncertainties in present world affairs, every effort must be made to husband the financial resources of State Government with a view to creating a surplus in hand rather than a surplus in prospect. Periods of great economic activity have always generated a reaction. We can not expect defense activity to be an exception. When the last business boom ended in the market crash of 1929 and we entered upon a prolonged depression, the State of California had a General Fund surplus of over $30,000,000. With our present State Budget approximately twice that of 10 years ago and a larger percentage of the total tied up in fixed charges, there is even greater need for a reasonable surplus to cushion the shock of another depression. When we have accumulated such a surplus, we may then turn our attention to revising our State Tax System and reducing the levies which now fall so heavily on those least able to pay. To that end, I invite your cooperation in holding special appropriation measures to the absolute minimum.

This budget, as I have said before, is based upon what I believe to be the present requirements of our State Government However, in the discharge of your duties as legislators, you will wish to determine for yourselves the needs of each State agency. In carrying out this task, all departments of the State Government stand ready to extend to you every facility at their disposal.

Respectfully submitted.

CULBERT L. OLSON, Governor of California

January 24, 1941

Letter of Transmittal

SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, January 23, 1941

Honorable Culbert L Olson, Governor of California
State Capitol, Sacramento, California

DEAR GOVERNOR OLSON. The 1941-1943 Biennial Budget for the State of California, totaling $552,570,000, is presented herewith for your consideration.

I am glad to report this budget to you at a time when increased revenues and decreased disbursements combine to give California a balanced fiscal program and assure the elimination of the General Fund deficit at the end of the biennium.

The Department of Finance has made every effort in the preparation of this budget to carry out your policies, analyzing each request submitted by the State departments, boards, and commissions, and eliminating increases which were considered unnecessary to the maintenance of existing governmental services. Reductions totaling over $11,000,000 were made in the budget requests of the 118 units of the State Government, including the elimination of proposals to create nearly 1,400 new positions. These deductions are in addition to the $37,000,000 request for capital outlay, final decision on which must await the adoption of a long range construction program.

I wish to call your attention to the conscientious service rendered by the staff of the Division of Budgets and Accounts, Department of Finance, in the preparation of this budget. The efficiency and sincerity which marked their labors speak well for the character of civil service in California.

Cordially yours,

GEORGE KILLION, Director of Finance

REPORT ON INVESTIGATION AND VALUATION OF CALIFORNIA STATE TEACHERS' RETIREMENT SYSTEM AS OF JUNE 30, 1940

By Ralph R Nelson, Actuary for California State Teachers' Retirement System for State Employees Association

CALIFORNIA STATE TEACHERS' RETIREMENT SYSTEM
SACRAMENTO, November 18, 1940

Retirement Board
California State Teachers' Retirement System
State Library and Courts Building
Sacramento, California

GENTLEMEN: Section 5821(c) of the State Teachers' Retirement Act provides that the Retirement Board

> "(c) shall keep in convenient form such data as shall be necessary for the actuarial valuation of the Retirement System In not to exceed six-year periods after June 30, 1935, the board shall make an actuarial investigation into the mortality, service and other experience of members and beneficiaries as defined in this chapter, and further shall make an actuarial valuation of the assets and liabilities of the Retirement System. From time to time, the board shall determine the rates of interest being earned on the funds created hereunder Upon the basis of any or all of such investigation, valuation and determination shall adopt for the Retirement System such interest rates, mortality, service and other tables as shall be deemed necessary; provided, that no action of the board, other than correction of errors in calculating the annuity at the time of retirement, shall change the annuity payable to a person retired prior to the date such action is taken";

In accordance with the foregoing provision and as directed and authorized by you at the meeting held in April, 1940, an investigation into the experience under the Permanent Fund during the five years ended June 30, 1940, and a valuation of the assets and liabilities of the fund as of that date, have been made. The investigation and valuation, based on data taken from the records in the office of the Retirement System, refer particularly to the Permanent Fund. Since, however, the retirement status of an increasing number of members of the Retirement System, is dependent on both the Permanent and Annuity Deposit Funds, certain data and information about the latter, are pertinent and are given in this report. The results of the investigation, in fact, apply also to the Annuity Deposit Fund, hereinafter called the Annuity Fund, and the mortality tables developed for retired persons will be used under the Annuity Deposit Fund for calculating the actuarial equivalent in life annuities, of accumulated annuity deposits at retirement. The nature of the Permanent and Annuity Funds will be explained later

The original working papers and all tables used in the valuation, are available at the Retirement Office, and consequently the various rates developed from the experience under the system during the five years ended June 30, 1940, will not be given in this report According to accepted methods, however, rates were developed on a basis of the actual experience among members and beneficiaries of the system, under the following headings

1. Rates of termination of membership in Retirement System through resignation or discharge.

2. Rates of death prior to retirement.

3. Rates of disability retirement.

4. Rates of service retirement.

5. Rates of death after retirement.

In connection with the rates in Items 1 to 5, and with the interest rate, the following statements are made:

6. Many persons cease to be employed in positions subject to the Retirement System, without withdrawing their contributions and thus terminating their membership in the system. The failure to withdraw in some instances is due to the small amount of contributions made; but persons having appreciable service, most probably do not withdraw their contributions, because they intend to return to service and receive credit for time served under the system, without the necessity of redepositing contributions with interest which would be required, were such contributions withdrawn

Persons leaving the service and having credit for a small amount of service, are replaced on the average with persons similarly situated with regard to age and service. On the contrary, persons with appreciable service and therefore at higher ages, are not replaced on the average with persons similarly situated with regard to age and service, but instead with persons younger in age and with little service.

After careful consideration, members who failed to contribute during 1939-1940, but who did not withdraw contributions, were not considered in determining the rates in Item 1. Such persons who had rendered less than seven years of service, were eliminated from the valuation, except as to the liability of the system for the refund, at resignation or death, of contributions made since July 1, 1935. Such individuals with more than seven years of service were included in the valuation, in the same manner as other members Results based on these "noncontributors" are tabulated separately from results for "contributors," i.e, members who contributed during 1939-1940

7. Although not a part of the Retirement Act, the School Code provision terminating permanent employment at age 65, is increasingly having the effect of a provision requiring retirement at that age For the purpose of the valuation, therefore, compulsory retirement at age 65 or at a higher age now attained, was assumed.

8. The interest earned under the Permanent Fund is now over 3 per cent. The rate is constantly decreasing, however, first because new funds are being invested in a high security market, at rates approximating or less than 3 per cent, and second because securities under which an interest return of from 4 to 6 per cent is being realized, are maturing now, and the proceeds are reinvested at the lower yields in the current market. While no one can forecast with confidence, the future course of interest rates under high quality securities required for the Retirement Fund, it is unlikely that a rate materially higher than 3 per cent can be earned over an extended period. For the purpose of the current valuation, interest at the rate of 3 per cent per annum was assumed

The principal provisions governing the State Teachers' Retirement System are given in the following items, reference being made to pages 1 to 8 of the pamphlet containing the Teachers' Retirement Act as printed in September, 1939, and attached hereto, except as noted,* as "Exhibit A," for a more detailed statement of such provisions, and to the act itself, contained in "Exhibit A," for a complete and final statement of provisions bearing on all phases of the system:

Principal Provisions

9. Contributions required of members

Twenty-four dollars to the Permanent Fund, for each year of credited service, but for not over 30 years of service rendered prior to July 1, 1935, with the provision that interest is charged on certain contributions in arrears, and the further provision that contributions with interest, in arrears and not paid before retirement, will be deducted in monthly installments from the retirement salary. Members coming under the system for the first time, after July 1, 1935, except members of local funds, must contribute to the Annuity Fund, 4 per cent of salary, less the Permanent Fund contribution of $24 per year, and may contribute additional percentages Other members, including members of local funds, have the option of so

* Because many persons receiving this report will have the pamphlet, it will not be attached to all copies of the report The pamphlet may be secured in any event, by writing to the Retirement Office in Sacramento contributing to the Annuity Fund (See Item 23(e), for the number of members making annuity contributions.)

10. Contributions required of the State

Five per cent of the Inheritance Tax to the Permanent Fund, the contributions made at the beginning of each year being based on the Inheritance Tax collected during the preceding year. No contributions to the Annuity Fund.

11. Contributions required of school districts, State institutions and other employers

Six dollars semi-annually for each member shown on the pay rolls next preceding November and May 15th, respectively, making $12 per annum per member to the Permanent Fund, the number of members being determined for each installment, on the basis of the pay rolls as stated No contributions to the Annuity Fund.

12. Benefit at resignation or discharge

Refund to member of Permanent Fund contributions made after July 1, 1935, without interest, and Annuity Fund contributions with interest. Upon reemployment, Permanent Fund contributions withdrawn, must be redeposited with 4 per cent interest from date of refund to date of redeposit. Redeposit of annuity contributions, without interest, is optional with member.

13. Benefit at death before retirement

Payment to deceased's beneficiary or estate, of Permanent Fund contributions made after July 1, 1935, without interest, and Annuity Fund contributions with interest.

14. Conditions for service retirement

Completion, regardless of age, of at least 30 years of service which may be credited under the Retirement System in accordance with Section 5 822, at least 15 of which shall have been served in California, including 10 of the last 11 years of service immediately preceding retirement (See Item 7 for statement on retirement at age 65.)

15 Allowance upon service retirement

A retirement salary from the Permanent Fund, of $50 per month, subject to monthly deductions of $15 until contributions with interest, in arrears on account of service rendered outside the State, or under claimed exemption, as permitted in 1914, are liquidated; and thereafter monthly deductions at the rate of $5 until the balance of contributions in arrears is liquidated. In addition to the retirement salary from the Permanent Fund, an annuity actuarially equivalent to the member's annuity contributions, with interest, is paid from the Annuity Fund.

16. Conditions for disability retirement

Completion, regardless of age, of at least 15 years of service which may be credited under the Retirement System in accordance with Section 5 822, at least 15 of which shall have been served in California, including 10 of the last 11 years of service immediately preceding retirement, and proof by medical examination of bodily or mental infirmity which incapacitates the member for further service; or

Attainment of age 65 as a permanent employee of a school district, and the completion of at least 10 years of service which may be credited under the Retirement System in accordance with Section 5 822 (See Item 7 for statement on retirement at age 65.)

17. Allowance upon disability retirement

A retirement salary from the Permanent Fund, in an amount which bears the same ratio to $50, as the years of service credited to the member, not to exceed 30 years, bear to 30 years, subject to monthly deductions of $12 and $4, on account of contributions in arrears, as explained in Item 15, for service retirement. In addition to the retirement salary from the Permanent Fund, an annuity actuarially equivalent to the member's annuity contributions, with interest, is paid from the Annuity Fund.

To make clearer the nature of the Permanent and Annuity Funds, partially described in Items 9 to 17, three plans under which retirement funds may be founded, are described as follows:

18. Purely Cash Disbursement Plan

The system is established without calculation of its costs, contributions equal to benefits only, being provided. There is no Reserve Fund, since benefits are paid as they become due, out of equal current revenues, and no part of the cost is borne by interest.

During the first few years, the number of pensioners is few and the contributions required to pay benefits increase slowly. As more persons qualify for retirement, the number of pensioners and the required contributions increase at an accelerating rate. Finally, the contribution requirements become sufficiently heavy to cause a reorganization of the system, with addition of new sources of revenue or reduction of benefits, or both. The system may be continued on the purely cash disbursement plan, with a repetition of its experience, or it may be changed to one of the plans described in the next two items.

19. Semi Cash Disbursement Plan

The system is established without calculation of its cost, but revenues are provided somewhat in excess of the amounts required, by rough estimate, to pay benefits for a few years. During the early years, the system accumulates reserves, and interest bears a minor part of the cost. As more persons qualify for retirement, current disbursements approach or exceed current income, and the system is overhauled, with increased contributions based on another rough estimate of future costs, and with a repetition of its experience. Under this and the preceding plan, contributions required of members are used ultimately, wholly or in part to meet current expenditures.

20. Reserve Plan

The system is established after an actuarial calculation of the cost, or by limiting a member's benefits to an actuarial equivalent of accumulated contributions held for him when the benefit is determined. Contributions are made by the member and the employer as service is rendered, in amounts to accumulate at retirement to a fund sufficient to carry out the promise to pay benefits to the member, on account of service as a member while contributions are being made, without further contributions from any source. Interest earned on the reserve meets a material part of the cost. Benefits payable on account of service rendered prior to the date of placing the system on the reserve basis, usually are met by contributions from the employer over a fixed period, plus assets on hand at that date. Under this plan, contributions, whether by a member or by the employer in his behalf, are unchanged throughout membership, either in amount or in percentage of salary, except as experience under the system requires adjustments in the rates adopted for the contingencies listed in Items 1 to 5.

Under the State Teachers' Retirement System, the Permanent Fund follows the Semi Cash Disbursement Plan in Item 19, while the Annuity Fund, to which only members contribute, follows the Reserve Plan in Item 20.

The valuation of the assets and liabilities under the system gives the following results, to be considered only in the light of statements in preceding paragraphs, including the provisions of the Retirement Act, and the statements in Items 51 to 63. The number of items under which data are given, may be confusing until they are studied. Experience has shown, however, the desirability of giving the fullest possible information under all items, to permit various combinations of benefits and contributions directly from the report itself. An Actuarial Balance Sheet appears on page 13.

The foregoing data should be considered in the light of the following comments:

51. The data are tabulated in two columns. The first column includes all members of the Retirement System, regardless of whether they also are members of local funds. "Local funds" refers to the retirement systems established in the Los Angeles, San Diego and San Francisco School Districts, to supplement the benefits under the State System. The data in the second column apply only to members not belonging to local funds. The information in the second column, referring to members not belonging to local funds, is furnished to permit any desired calculations under assumed scales of benefits and contributions, to apply to these members only.

52. Item 6 and Item 21 explain the meaning of "Contributors" and "Non-Contributors," these terms being applied, respectively, to persons who contributed during 1939-40, and to persons who contributed only prior to that year and who had rendered more than seven years of service, but who had not withdrawn contributions. The 47,016 "Contributors" in Item 21, consist of 12,387 men and 34,629 women, and the "Non-Contributors" of 235 men and 2,527 women Persons who elected, in 1914, to be exempt from membership, and who are still exempt but in service, are not included in the valuation, although they have the right to become members.

53. "Contributions in arrears" as used in Items 24(g), 24(h) and subsequent items, refers to the amount by which members, whether active or retired, have failed to contribute $24 to the Retirement System, for each year of service credited, subject to the limitation that contributions shall not be charged for more than 30 years rendered prior to July 1, 1935 See Items 9, 15 and 17, on pages 3, 4 and 5, for further explanation Section 5822 of the Retirement Law covers crediting of service.

54. The State's contributions referred to in Item 32 on page 10, are made up of 5 per cent of the inheritance tax. This amount varies from year to year, but for the purposes of this item, an average of the amounts received during the last four years has been taken Five per cent of the inheritance tax during the last few years has varied by as much as $250,000, and it is possible that the average annual amount taken here is in excess of what will be received during the next few years It should be noted in connection with this item and with the preceding Item 31, referring to districts' contributions, that the annual contribution per member is taken for the future, on the basis of present active members only. "Districts" is used in this report to include State schools and other employers Contributions to be received on account of members who replace present members, are considered as for the benefit of those members, and, therefore, not included in the present values here stated This is a proper procedure, because, in the present valuation, benefits to be paid by the Retirement System in the future, are based altogether on present members If contributions to lie made on account of future members are included in determining the present value of asset items, namely, the present value of contributions from various sources, it would be necessary to take into account, benefits to be paid to future members, as well as members now in the service, in determining the present value of liability items

55. Items 25 to 32 both inclusive, give the present value of the various benefits yet to be paid, and contributions yet to be received, under the Retirement System Present value of benefits means amounts which, if improved at the assumed rate of interest from July 1, 1940, will pay the benefits as they fall due That is, the benefits, falling due from time to time in the future, have been discounted back to June 30, 1940, by the use of (1) an assumed rate of interest on retirement funds, and (2) the probability that an individual now in service will survive to receive the respective benefits Present value of contributions likewise means an amount derived by discounting contributions from the various sources and at the various rates provided in the Retirement Act, from the time they normally would be paid to the system, back to June 30, 1940, by the use of an assumed rate of interest, and the probability that individuals will survive to make the contributions. Items 1 to 8, refer to the interest rate assumed, and the various rates used in determining the probabilities that individuals will remain in the service to contribute and to receive benefits. Items 33 to 38, both inclusive, give aggregate present values of benefits and contributions, and the net unfunded present values of benefits "Unfunded" means that contributions are not now provided under the Retirement System to pay the benefits in question. The amounts in these various items are derived directly from the present values in Items 25 to 32, both inclusive.

56. For example, the aggregate present value of contributions yet to be made by members, the State and school districts, is given in Item 34, as $31,012,891, excluding contributions in arrears, the amount being derived from Items 29, 31 and 32 The present value of contributions in arrears is given in Item 30, and is credited in Item 36, on the present value of aggregate benefits.

57. Items 39 to 41 show, as illustrations only and not as suggestions, the amount which would be required of the State and the districts to fund the unfunded benefits; first, if members continue with their present contributions; second, if members contribute $60 per year instead of $24; and third, if members contribute $84 per year instead of $24. In deriving the State's and districts' contributions under these items, based on present active members, it must be remembered that a change in the rates of contributions of members increases the amounts shown in Items 25 and 26, as based on contributions to be made after July 1, 1940, and the amount shown in Item 29, in direct proportion to the change in the contributions. The difference between the increase in Items 25 and 26, and the increase in Item 29, resulting from the change in members' contributions, if deducted from the amount in Item 38, shows the new net unfunded present value of benefits to be funded by State and district contributions in addition to their present contributions, namely, $12 per year from districts, and $9 34 from the State. If this new net unfunded present value is divided by $684.007, which is the present value of $1 per year per present active member, the result is the additional annual contribution per member required of the State and districts under the new assumed rate of contributions by members.

58. If the retirement allowances now provided for members, not belonging to local funds were increased, the present values in Items 27 and 28, active members only, would be increased in direct proportion to the change in benefits. If the increase in the present value is divided by $513,420, the present value of $1 per year present active member not under local funds, the result is the additional contribution per member per year which would be required of the State and districts, if members' contributions are as assumed in Items 39 to 41.

59 The annual contribution per member shown in Items 39, 40 and 41, may be compared roughly with the costs of annuities purchased now from life insurance companies, and also with costs under other retirement systems. Because of the difference in benefits, these comparisons are not conclusive, but merely indicate that the contributions in Items 39 to 41, are not out of line For example, according to quotations from a typical life insurance company, $344 82 is the annual premium quoted for an annuity of $50 per month, purchased at age 43, the present average age of women members shown in Item 23 (a), with annuity payments to start and premiums to cease at age 63, the average age of retirement shown in Item 23 (b) The foregoing quotation is given for women, the comparable annual cost for men being $246 92 These annuities provide for refunds at death or failure to pay premiums, but they do not provide disability benefits

Under the San Francisco City and County Retirement System, the school district contributes $157 per year for each member employed by the school district. The average contribution of the member is $87.75, making a total of $244 75 contributed to the system annually for each member. In this system the average monthly service retirement allowance being paid at July 1, 1940, as shown in Item 24, is about 50 per cent larger than the service retirement allowance under the Permanent Fund. The disability monthly retirement allowance, however, is only about 25 per cent greater under the San Francisco Fund The ages of retirement are different under the two systems, and there are other differences in principles. More important, however, the San Francisco school district started contributions on the reserve basis over 15 years ago. These comparisons are rough, and merely indicate, as stated, that contributions determined in Items 39 to 41 are not out of line.

60. Attention should be given to the question as to whether all members' contributions should not be placed in a fund separate from contributions of the State and districts. This practice is followed now with annuity contributions The use of active members' contributions to pay monthly allowances to persons already retired, becomes of greater concern as members' contributions increase

61. Contributions under Items 39, 40 and 41 are not shown in column 2, referring to members not belonging to local funds, because they, of course, are included in the column for all members. Separate data referring to members not belonging to local funds, are furnished as already stated, solely for the purpose of any calculations which might be desired, in connection with additional benefits for these members.

62 Item 23 (c) shows that 2,037 present members who were subject to the Retirement System prior to July 1, 1935, and who, therefore, were not subject to compulsory annuity contributions, have elected to make such contributions in accordance with the option explained in Item 9. The item also shows that 12,943 present members who became subject to the Retirement Law after July 1, 1935, are now required to contribute to the Annuity Fund as explained in Item 9. The contributions made by these persons to the Annuity Fund will be applied at their retirement, to provide life annuities in addition to the retirement salaries payable from the Permanent Fund as explained in Items 15 and 17 To permit an approximate calculation of the benefit which will be provided by the annuity contributions, the following table is submitted:

Approximate Monthly Annuity Provided by Member's Contributions of $100 Per Year (Administered on "Savings Bank" Basis)

Age at Which Contributions Begin	Retirement Age
	Men			Women
	55	60	65	55	60	65
25	$29 10	$42 29	$61 82	$25 46	$36 86	$54 00
30	22 30	33 28	49 57	19 51	29 00	43 30
35	16 43	25 50	39 01	14 38	22 23	34 07
40	11 38	18 79	29 89	9 95	16 38	26 11
45	7 01	13 01	22 03	6 14	11 34	19 25
50	3 25	8 02	15 25	2 84	6 99	13 32
55	----	3 71	9 40	----	3 24	8 21

It is sufficiently accurate for rough approximations to base the table on contributions in amount rather than percentages of salaries, particularly since annuity contributions consist of a percentage of salary, less $24 per year For example, if a man, under the foregoing table, contributed $100 per year from age 30 to 60, an additional annuity of approximately $33 28 would be provided. This amount would be added to the $50 per month now provided by the Permanent Fund to make a total retirement allowance of approximately $83 28 Approximately 15,000 members are now providing additional annuities, varying in amounts according to their salaries, to which the 4 per cent or higher percentage (see Item 9) will be applied, and to the length of time during which they will contribute

63. The deficit shown in Items 38 and 49 is larger than the deficit determined by any previous valuation The difference between the results of this valuation and the valuation as of December 31, 1926, for example, results principally from: (a) lower interest rate earned; (b) lower mortality rates among both active and retired persons, and consequently a greater number of members surviving to receive retirement allowances, and surviving longer after retirement; (c) lower rates of separation among the members of the system and therefore the survival of more members to receive retirement allowances; (d) additional 13½ years of service rendered since the previous valuation was made, and consequent increase in ages of members; (e) increase by approximately one-third in the number of members; (f) lower average age at retirement; (g) increase in retirement benefits; and (h) increase in contributions of members and districts.

Respectfully submitted.

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolution was offered:

By Mr. Field:

House Resolution No. 62

WHEREAS, Hundreds of changes in the organization and administration of the State Government have been proposed by bills introduced at this session of the Legislature. The complicated machinery of State Government erected to serve the citizens of this State, can function only under law. New circumstances constantly arise which previous statutes did not contemplate. It is necessary for the Legislature to study these circumstances carefully, with a view to revising and amending the law relating thereto, in order that the most efficient, economical and equitable administration of the laws may be fostered.

The constitutional recess was provided for in order that the Legislature might ascertain the facts affected by the proposed changes in the law. The Legislature can best function as a fact-finding agency through legislative committees; therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That there is hereby created an Assembly Committee on Governmental Efficiency and Economy, which committee shall study and investigate, accurately and in detail, the organization, functions, and administration of the State Government and of any department, agency, or subdivision thereof and of the governments of the cities and counties of this State, for the purpose of recommending changes and proposing legislation in order to promote efficiency, to reduce and eliminate costs, to provide for the consolidation of functions and removal of duplication, and to do all other things necessary and proper to increase the efficiency and effectiveness of the State and local governments and the agencies and subdivisions thereof

The committee shall consist of 15 members of the Assembly appointed by the Speaker of the Assembly, and the Speaker as an ex officio member. Vacancies on the committee shall be filled by appointment by the Speaker

Upon the appointment of its members the committee may organize, appoint a secretary and employ such clerical and technical assistants and adopt such rules as in its discretion it deems necessary and proper to enable it to carry out to full force and effect the powers granted and the duties imposed herein

The committee is authorized and empowered to summon and subpena witnesses, require the production of papers, books, accounts, reports, documents, and records, of every kind and description, and to take all necessary means to compel the attendance of witnesses and to procure testimony. The members of the committee may each administer oaths, and all the provisions of Article 8 of Chapter 2, Title 1, Part 3 of the Political Code, relative to the attendance and examination of witnesses before the Legislature and committees thereof shall apply to the committee appointed under this resolution.

The committee is hereby authorized and empowered to make a complete investigation and study of all matters and subjects hereinbefore referred to and relating thereto, and to do any and all things necessary or convenient to enable it to exercise the powers and duties granted to and imposed upon it.

The committee may create sub-committees from its membership, assigning to the sub-committee any study, inquiry, investigation or hearing which the committee itself has authority to take or hold, and the sub-committee for the purpose of this assignment shall have and exercise all of the powers conferred upon the committee limited by the express terms of the resolution or resolutions of the latter, defining the powers and duties of the sub-committee, which powers may be withdrawn or terminated at any time by the committee

The committee may hold public hearings at any place in California at which hearings the people are to have an opportunity to present their views to the committee. The committee may also meet in executive session. It may act during this session of the Legislature and any recess, including the constitutional recess thereof, and it shall make a report of the results of its study and investigation, together with its recommendations for proposed legislation to the Assembly upon its reconvening after the constitutional recess, or as soon thereafter as possible

Every department, commission, board, agency, officer and employee of the State Government and of any political subdivision, county, city, or public district of or in this State shall furnish the committee and any sub-committee upon request, any and all assistance and information, records, and documents as the committee or sub-committee deems proper for the accomplishment of the purposes for which the committee is created. The Sergeant-at-Arms of the Assembly, or other officers designated by him are hereby directed to serve any and all subpenas, orders and other process issued by the committee, when directed so to do by the chairman or by a majority of the membership of the committee

The members of the committee shall serve without compensation but shall be allowed mileage at the rate of five and one-half cents ($0.05½) per mile each way incurred in connection with their services upon the committee and other actual and necessary expenses for living accommodations and meals incurred in connection with their services upon the committee, or in lieu thereof an allowance of eight dollars ($8) per day for accommodations and meals. The sum of five thousand dollars ($5,000) is hereby made available from the Contingent Fund of the Assembly, for expenses of the committee and its members, and for any other charges, expenses or claims it may incur under this resolution, to be disbursed, after certification by the chairman of the committee upon warrants drawn by the State Controller upon the State Treasurer.

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE
SACRAMENTO, January 24, 1941

To the Honorable Members of the Assembly,
Sacramento, California

GREETINGS: I am returning herewith without my signature Assembly Bill No. 69, entitled "An act to amend Sections 6830 and 6870 of, and to add Section 6879.5 to, the Health and Safety Code, relating to the annexation of territory to a sanitary district, declaring the urgency thereof, and providing that it shall take effect immediately."

My objections to this bill are as follows:

This bill provides that there may be annexed to an existing sanitary district "any territory any point of which * * * touches any point of any territory contiguous to the district." This would permit the annexation of widely separated territories, contrary to the intent of the Legislature. The author of this bill introduced Assembly Bill No. 595 to cure this defect.

Assembly Bill No. 595 has been passed by the Legislature and I have approved the same. This bill is therefore unnecessary.

Respectfully submitted.

CULBERT L. OLSON, Governor of California

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the State Highway Commission make an immediate survey to determine the cost and time necessary

RESOLUTIONS

By Messrs. Dills, Bashore, Doyle, Kilpatrick and Field:

House Resolution No. 71

WHEREAS, The prime reason for granting pensions to the aged citizens of this State is to afford them a measure of security against financial distress; and

WHEREAS, Complaints have been placed before this Assembly indicating that in the County of Los Angeles delay on the part of local officials in administering the Old Age Security Law has caused untold suffering to persons applying for and receiving old age pensions; and

WHEREAS, It appears that the most flagrant type of delay on the part of these officials has been in the matter of acting upon applications for aid, the evidence indicating that most applications are not acted upon for periods ranging upwards of three months; and

WHEREAS, It seems desirable that the cause of delay should be thoroughly investigated and that a report of such investigation be submitted to this Assembly for such corrective legislation as may be necessary; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Department of Social Welfare is hereby requested to make a thorough investigation into the method and manner in which the Old Age Security Law is being administered in the County of Los Angeles, with particular reference to the reasons for delay in acting upon old age pension applications, and submit a report thereon to this Assembly not later than 30 days after the reconvening of the Legislature after the constitutional recess of 1941; and be it further agencies and with its citizens has devoted such lands to other public and private uses, and

WHEREAS, Legislation has been introduced in the Congress of the United States wherein it is asserted that the Federal Government possesses the title to or holds an interest in submerged lands and tidelands bordering upon the various States of the Union, and

WHEREAS, There has been introduced by the Honorable Homer Angell, member of the House of Representatives, a resolution reasserting that the individual States have title to submerged and tidelands and condemning the invasion of the jurisdiction of the States in the operation of harbors and control of tidelands, and

WHEREAS, This resolution clarifies the rights and title of the respective States and further enables them to develop such land for State and local uses, both public and private, and the adoption of this resolution is, in the opinion of the Assembly of the State of California desirable and in conformity with the public interest; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly, That the Assembly of the State of California respectfully urges and petitions the Congress of the United States to enact the resolution introduced by Representative Homer Angell and to refuse enactment of bills and resolutions which may seek to establish the asserted claim of the Federal Government to any title or interest in submerged lands or tidelands in the State of California, other than such lands as may have been expressly granted it by this State or under its authority; and be it further

REPORT OF THE BUREAU OF PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION

A Study of Administrative Expenses in the State Relief Administration

(Submitted pursuant to House Resolution Number 73, Fifty-third Extraordinary Session, California Legislature)

BUREAU OF PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION, UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA
BERKELEY, January 25, 1941

Summary

Purpose of the Study

To determine proper size of work loads for SRA case workers

Findings of the Study

1. The most efficient procedure for determining eligibility of applicants for unemployment relief is a long office interview followed by a brief visit to the applicant's home.

2. The most economical work load for case workers who interview applicants for relief in the district offices is 50 applications per week; for case workers who make field investigations of applicants, 20 applications per week; for workers who handle the cases of persons accepted for relief, 60 active cases. These quotas resulted in fewer accepted applications, prompter case closings, and smaller agency expenditures than any other quotas tested

Conclusions

From the findings of this study it would seem that.

1. Any limit on administrative expenses should allow sufficient funds to establish the work loads found by this study to be most efficient and economical.

2. A cost analysis should be made to determine how high this limit on administrative expenses must be set to permit the establishment of such work loads.

3. Any limit should take into account number of applications, number of cases, travel time, and overhead, as well as direct relief expenditures It should be arranged so as not to penalize efficient operation.

4. Any limitation should be on an annual, rather than a quarterly or monthly, basis.

House Resolution No. 73

Relative to the administration of unemployment relief.

WHEREAS, The Legislature is seeking feasible means of limiting the administration expenses of the State Relief Administration; and

WHEREAS, It has been claimed that the method of limiting administration expenses in terms of a percentage of the total appropriation will not necessarily result in efficient and economical administration; and

WHEREAS, The Bureau of Public Administration of the University of California has received a grant of money from the Rockefeller Foundation for the purpose of making studies in the field of public administration; and

WHEREAS, The Bureau of Public Administration of the University of California, in pursuance of these studies, has undertaken, with the cooperation of the Relief Administration, to conduct an experiment to determine the most efficient and most economical methods of administering unemployment relief under the California Unemployment Act of 1935; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Bureau of Public Administration of the University of California is hereby respectfully requested to submit to the Assembly as soon as possible its findings and recommendations concerning the administration of unemployment relief, in order that the Assembly may have the benefit thereof in considering relief legislation at the said regular session

House Resolution No. 73 read, and adopted.

A Study of Administrative Expenses in the State Relief Administration

(This report on a Study of Administrative Expenses in the State Relief Administration is submitted to the Legislature by the Bureau of Public Administration of the University of California pursuant to House Resolution No. 73, Fifty-third Extraordinary Session of the California Legislature, adopted February 25, 1940. A copy of the resolution is attached.)

This memorandum briefly summarizes the findings of a study which was undertaken to determine how many social workers were needed by the State Relief Administration for the most efficient and economical operation of that agency In spite of considerable changes in employment conditions in the State during the past few months, the problem of securing a proper balance between direct relief expenditures and administrative expenses in administering unemployment relief is of continuing importance.

Any unemployment relief agency is faced with two conflicting aims On the one hand, it desires to conserve as large a portion of its funds as possible for direct payments to eligible needy persons, and consequently to keep the internal administrative expenses of the agency at a minimum. On the other hand, it desires to keep ineligible persons off the relief rolls, a task which requires adequate staffing of the agency. The study of the SRA was intended to gather factual information on this problem in order that that agency or any similar agency administering unemployment relief might properly distribute its funds between administrative expenses and relief payments

It is hoped that the findings of this study may be of some assistance to the Legislature in setting limits, if they are desired, to the amount of money spent for the administration of unemployment relief. These findings should be equally applicable whether unemployment relief is administered through a State agency or whether it is handled by the counties.

Purpose of the Study

The study was conducted jointly by the Bureau of Public Administration of the University of California and the Division of Planning and Research of the State Relief Administration It was made possible by a grant of funds to the Bureau by the Rockefeller Foundation It was designed to determine how many cases should be handled by a case worker in the SRA for most efficient operation, and how many new applications for relief should be handled by each of the agency's interviewers

How the SRA Operates

The customary procedures of the State Relief Administration may be briefly summarized as follows:

(1) A needy unemployed person who believes himself eligible for relief presents himself at a district office of the SRA.

(2) The applicant is given an interview in the district office. At this interview information is obtained which will assist the case worker to determine in a preliminary way whether the applicant is eligible for relief.

(3) A visit is made to the home of each applicant who is tentatively accepted in the office interview in order to verify the information concerning eligibility Inquiries are also made with former employers, relatives, and others who may be able to supply additional information. It is only after the home visit that a final decision is reached as to whether the applicant is eligible. If eligible, he is certified for relief.

(4) After the applicant is accepted, his case is referred to a carrier worker who is expected to reinvestigate the case regularly in order to determine whether it is still eligible for relief. At the time the study was made this reinvestigation involved a monthly visit to the client's home, but at present the procedure has been changed to require the client to report periodically to the district office In addition to eligibility the carrier case worker is responsible for the correctness of the family budget and is expected to refer the family for clothing, medical care and other services available through the SRA when they are needed

The SRA case worker devotes most of his time to determining the eligibility of applicants for relief, and reinvestigating the eligibility of active cases on the rolls It was in terms of this function—the accuracy with which workers determined eligibility—that their work was judged in the case load study. It was assumed that if the net amount of public funds expended by the agency could be decreased by increasing its staff, then an increase in staff would be desirable. But if increased administrative expenses would more than offset savings resulting from the removal of ineligible persons from the rolls, then the staff should not be increased.

Method of the Study

In order to determine the work quotas which would produce the most economical results, quotas of different sizes were actually tested in practice under comparable conditions. This was done for each step in the SRA procedure. That is, to test the office interview (step 2 above), different interviewers were assigned applications at the rates of 50, 75, 100 and 125 per week, respectively, and the operating results observed. Different field workers who made the intake home visits (step 3 above) were assigned applications at the rates of 8, 12 and 16 per week, respectively Similarly, carrier workers handling active cases (step 4 above) were assigned loads of 60, 100 and 150 active cases, respectively. No attempt was made to study clerical, accounting, or other special workers in the agency or employees in the State office; this report refers only to case workers in the local district offices of the SRA.

The study was conducted in two Los Angeles districts of the State Relief Administration during the months of January through April, 1940, and the findings are based on the activities of some 75 workers who handled 2,771 applications and 7,346 cases during that period.

Findings of the Study

The study of case workers under the different work loads which were established showed that the lighter loads generally resulted in the more economical and efficient operation. The most efficient procedure for determining the eligibility of new applicants proved to be a long office interview (step 2) followed by a brief visit to the applicant's home (step 3). It was shown that with this procedure the office interviewer could effectively handle 50 applications per week, while the worker making home calls could handle 16 to 20 such calls per week. Table 1 shows that the percentage of applicants accepted for relief was substantially smaller with a long than with a short office interview. The long interview, although it required a larger staff, resulted in smaller total agency expenditures.

Table 1

Estimated Effect of Interviewers' Work Loads on Agency Expenditures

Quota of office interviewer	Percentage of total applications accepted for relief	*Estimated agency expenditures per 100 applications
50 applications per week	52 9	$10,810
75 applications per week	55.9	11,385
100 applications per week	56.4	11,470
125 applications per week	57 5	11,685

* This includes the administrative cost of handling applications, and the estimated cost of relief to cases accepted It should be emphasized that these costs are estimates, and that their significance lies in the differences between the results obtained under different quotas rather than in the absolute amount of expenditures

Likewise, in the handling of active cases already on the rolls, it was found that if case loads were reduced to 60 per worker, considerably prompter closing of cases could be expected than if case loads of 100 or 150 were established. As shown in Table 2, the average time that cases remained on relief was materially reduced with the lower case loads, with consequent saving to the agency in spite of larger administrative costs.

Table 2

Estimated Effect of Carrier Workers' Loads on Agency Expenditures

Case load of worker	Average number days on relief per case	*Estimated agency expenditures per 100 cases accepted
100 active cases	194	23,022
150 active cases	193	22,795

 This includes both direct relief payments and administrative costs. Again, it should be emphasized that these costs are estimates, and that their significance lies in the differences between the results obtained under different quotas rather than in the absolute amount of expenditures

These findings indicate that by relatively small increases in the agency's administrative expenses, substantial savings could be made in total agency expenditures. These savings are explained by the fact that increased administrative costs would be more than balanced by the removal of ineligible cases from the rolls.

It should be emphasized that these findings are based on net savings to public funds and do not include additional reductions in SRA expenditures through transfer of clients to the county relief rolls. It is felt that such transfers are largely bookkeeping transactions that do not result in any net saving to the general public (although they may shift part of the burden from one group of taxpayers to another), and therefore they are not included in the figures cited here. If such transfers were included, the estimated savings would be greatly increased.

While the study was in progress an over-all limitation of 15 per cent was placed upon SRA administrative expenses by the Legislature. It was not a function of this study to determine whether the work quotas which were found to be most efficient could be set up within this 15 per cent limitation. It should be possible, however, by an analysis of the agency's financial statements, to determine whether this would be possible.

Conclusions

If the Legislature is considering the continuation of the limit on SRA administrative expenses, the following conclusions regarding the manner of framing the limitations can be drawn from the study. The conclusions are equally valid if the administration of unemployment relief is assumed by the counties, and if the Legislature wishes to limit the administrative expenses incurred by the counties.

(1) If a limit is established, it should be set at a level which would permit the agency or agencies to operate with work loads of the most efficient and economical size. In this study, the most economical work loads were found to be approximately 50 applications per week for office interviewers, 20 home calls per week for intake field workers, and 60 active cases for carrier workers. The study showed that operation of the agency with higher loads resulted in an increase in the number of ineligible persons on the rolls.

(2) A cost analysis should be made to determine approximately what percentage of the agency's funds would be needed for administrative purposes in order to establish the most efficient work loads for its staff.

(3) Preferable to a flat percentage limitation would be a limitation based on a formula taking into account number of applications and number of cases on the rolls, with perhaps an additional allowance to rural areas for travel time and for the relatively high overhead per case. Since the flat percentage limit allows administrative expenses in proportion to the amount of money spent for relief, such a limit would penalize counties which rejected a relatively high percentage of applicants, and which had a high rate of turnover of their cases—and thus might tend to encourage the acceptance of cases of dubious eligibility and delays in closing cases.

(4) It would seem preferable to place a limitation on expenditures for an entire year rather than to limit expenditures on a monthly or quarterly basis. The number of unemployment relief cases fluctuates widely from month to month throughout the year because of seasonal unemployment in many occupations. If administrative expenditures are required to follow these fluctuations too closely, it will be impossible to maintain a trained and qualified staff of case workers in the county or district offices. The large number of dismissals which would be required during slack periods and the large number of hirings during periods of high application rate would lead to an extremely high and costly staff turnover rate. Under a monthly limitation, it is estimated that staff turnover would reach 50 per cent per year.

These fluctuations in staff could be materially reduced if the limitation on administrative expenses were on an annual basis. Staff requirements could be averaged over the entire year and workers could be transferred to tasks for which they were most needed at a particular time. Operation of the agency would be much more flexible. During a period of high application rates primary emphasis could be given to the handling of applications, and during a period favorable for placement in private industry, special attention could be given to the prompt closing of active cases. When it is realized that a case worker requires at least three months' training before he is of much value to the agency, and a much longer period before he can be said to be thoroughly experienced, the value of a stabilized staff is evident.

The complete report of the SRA study is not yet available in published form. Further information about the study can be supplied by the Bureau of Public Administration, University of California.

Speech by Hon. Gordon H. Garland

This Assembly reconvenes today for the purpose of enacting laws which a majority of the Legislature shall conclude to be in the best interests of the State of California and its people.

These critical times, as well as the important nature of pending legislation, demand that our labor be conducted with diligence, prudence and expediency.

It is my earnest hope that we can transact the business awaiting our attention and adjourn within a few weeks.

While the fullest consideration must be given to every item on the legislative calendar, it is my conviction that each of us can best serve the State by earnestly seeking prompt disposal of the matters that are to come before us.

A practice has grown up here, and in other legislative bodies, whereby public business receives either desultory attention from those not primarily interested in its fate, or becomes the object of ill-considered judgment.

One of the greatest evils of legislative procedure is the practice of delaying action until the closing days and hours of a legislative session

This practice is vicious in two principal directions, as it not only jeopardizes the enactment of essential laws, many of which are discarded in the last-minute rush to reach adjournment, but it likewise results all too often in the adoption of measures which are neither necessary nor desirable.

We should give every interested person or group an opportunity to present its views and arguments; we should then act thereon according to our own independent and honest decisions.

The Speaker will lend his best efforts to facilitate the work of all committees and to aid all members to obtain prompt and adequate consideration of their proposals.

Without partisan prejudice, and, I am sure, without personal or individual selfishness, the members of this Assembly will proceed to the consideration of the business before it. We invite the fullest cooperation of the Governor and of all administrative officers and departments in effecting the strictest economies as well as the highest efficiency in State affairs.

There is no question in my mind that the Legislature as a whole is determined to place State business on a sound basis and that any effort to spend the people's money unwisely, or to inject politics into the conduct of State service will be frustrated by the economy-minded Assemblymen and Senators

We are not here to bicker either among ourselves or with any official or department of the Government I hope and I predict that this session will set a precedent for the capable and industrious manner in which public business shall be discussed, considered, and decided. To this end, I invite your sincere and intelligent cooperation.

CONGRESS OF THE UNITED STATES
HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, WASHINGTON, D. C., February 13, 1941

Mr. Arthur A. Ohnimus, Chief Clerk
Assembly, California Legislature
Sacramento, California

DEAR MR. OHNIMUS: This acknowledges receipt of your letter of January 31st inclosing copy of the Assembly Daily Journal of January 25th. Thank you for sending it to me.

I have read the resolutions with interest. With reference to the first one I think it is unnecessary for Congress to enact legislation to protect the rights of California in submerged and tidelands. However, I believe that it is necessary to see that legislation taking away the State's rights is not enacted. That, the California Delegation is endeavoring to prevent.

Sincerely yours,

FRANK H. BUCK

By the Chief Clerk:

ASSEMBLY CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, March 3, 1941

MR. SPEAKER: Pursuant to your instructions, the following named persons have filed their credentials and are duly recognized as representatives of the newspapers set opposite their names:

By the Chief Clerk:

WAR DEPARTMENT, OFFICE OF THE CHIEF OF ENGINEERS
WASHINGTON, February 13, 1941

Mr. Arthur A. Ohnimus, Chief Clerk
Assembly, California Legislature
Sacramento, California

DEAR SIR: The department has received your letter of January 27, 1941, with which you inclosed a copy of Assembly Joint Resolution No. 17, adopted on January 25, 1941, by the Assembly of the California Legislature, urging Congress to make available such funds as may be recommended in the Interim Report on that part of the Sacramento River dealing with the existing Flood Control Project.

I am pleased to inform you that the Interim Report on the Sacramento River and Tributaries Within the Existing Flood Control Project has been prepared by the Division Engineer, South Pacific Division and the District Engineer at Sacramento pursuant to an existing Congressional authorization for a detailed survey of the Sacramento River Valley in the interest of flood control and that this report has just been received in this office. The Interim Report has been referred to the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors for review as required by law prior to its transmission to Congress with the recommendations of the department. As you know, the Detailed Survey Report on the entire Sacramento River Valley is not expected to be submitted to this office until March, 1942.

You may be assured that the department is fully aware of the flood problems in the Sacramento Valley and that every effort consistent with the necessity for sound engineering study and analysis will be made to expedite the department's action on the afore-mentioned Interim Report and to submit it to Congress at the earliest practicable date. In order that the Board of Engineers may know of the interest of the Assembly of the California Legislature in this Interim Report, I am today taking the liberty of forwarding your letter and its inclosure to Colonel Charles L. Hall, the resident member of the board, for the board's information and consideration in connection with their review of the report.

For the Chief of Engineers:

Very respectfully,

MILES REBER, Major, Corps of Engineers
Assistant Chief, Construction Section
