Recommendation of the Governor

In accordance with Article IV, Section 34, of the Constitution, the Governor presented the following communication recommending the consideration of Senate Bill No. 722:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE
SACRAMENTO, March 15, 1955

To the Honorable Members of the Assembly
Sacramento, California

GENTLEMEN:

Senate Bill No. 722, "An act making an appropriation for the completion of the lower level of the Richmond-San Rafael bridge," in my opinion constitutes an emergency bill within the meaning of that term as used in Section 34 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California, the consideration of which should not await the final enactmentment of the Budget Bill.

It is necessary that provision be made for the construction of the additional deck on the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge as early as possible so that the new construction can be integrated with the construction work already authorized and under way.

It is desirable that this measure be enacted early in the session, and I therefore recommend its consideration before final action on the budget.

Respectfully submitted,

GOODWIN J. KNIGHT, Governor

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL

ASSEMBLY, CALIFORNIA LEGISLATURE, March 19, 1955

Honorable L. H. Lincoln
Speaker of the Assembly
State Capitol, Sacramento, California

MR. SPEAKER AND MEMBERS OF THE ASSEMBLY: Under the direction of the Assembly Interim Committee on Education the Subcommittee on Educational Television held hearings in Los Angeles on December 2, 1953, and in San Francisco on January 25, 1954.

Prior to these hearings, it was agreed by the committee that since a subcommittee of the Assembly Ways and Means Committee was assigned the task of studying phases of educational television finance, that the subcommittee should limit the hearings to—viz:

1. What is educational television?—Definition and objectives.
2. Should the State of California regulate educational television, if so, to what degree?

The public hearings thus held for the purpose of feeling the pulse of all levels of society on the subject of educational television, teachers, parents, officials from public and private schools, businessmen, religious groups, newspapers, and all others interested, were invited to testify.

In analyzing the transcript of proceedings of the hearings, the subcommittee feels that there is undoubtedly a substantial need and that opportunity for serious educational activities could be stimulated and aided by television, but that there is at this time obvious disagreement as to what role the State should play in regulating educational television.

The subcommittee recommends that the law should be clarified in permitting school districts to purchase television sets and that the subject of educational television be periodically reviewed by the Legislature, and that consideration be given by the Assembly Standing Committee on Education as to continued study of this important subject during the next legislative interim.

Respectfully submitted.

JOHN L. E. COLLIER, Chairman

"SEC. 2. Section 10202.8 of said code is amended to read:

10202.8. A group life policy conforming to all of the following conditions may be issued to the trustees of a fund established by one employer, or by two or more employers in the same industry, or by one or more labor unions, or by one or more employers and one or more labor unions, to insure employees of the employers or members of the unions for the benefit of persons other than the employers or the unions:

(a) The persons eligible for insurance shall be all of the employees of the employers or all of the members of the unions, or all of any class or classes thereof determined by conditions pertaining to their employment, or to membership in the unions, or to both. The policy may provide that the term "employees" shall include retired employees, and the individual proprietor or partners if an employer is an individual proprietor or a partnership. No director of a corporate employer shall be eligible for insurance under the policy unless such person is otherwise eligible as a bona fide employee of the corporation by performing services other than the usual duties of a director. No individual proprietor or partner shall be eligible for insurance under the policy unless he is actively engaged in and devotes a substantial part of his time to the conduct of the business of the proprietor or partnership. The policy may provide that the term "employees" shall include the trustees or their employees, or both, if their duties are principally connected with such trusteeship.

(b) The premium for the policy shall be paid by the trustees either: (a) wholly from funds contributed by the employer or employers of the insured persons, or by the union or unions, or by both; or (b) partly from such funds and partly from funds contributed by either all of the insured persons or by one or more classes thereof. No policy may be issued on which the entire premium is to be derived from funds contributed by the insured persons specifically for their insurance.

A policy on which part of the premium is to be derived from funds contributed by all of the insured persons may be placed in force only if at least 75 percent of the then eligible employees of any employer unit participating in the trust, or 75 percent of the then eligible members of any participating union if no employer unit is participating in the trust, elect to make the required contributions. A policy on which no part of the premium is to be derived from funds contributed by the insured persons must insure all eligible persons. A policy on which part of the premium is to be derived from funds contributed by one or more classes of insured persons but not from all the insured persons, must insure all eligible persons from whom no contributions are required and must extend insurance to each class from whom contributions are required when 75 percent of the then eligible persons of any such class elect to make the required contributions. Any eligible person as to whom evidence of individual insurability is not satisfactory to the insurer shall be excluded.

(c) The policy must cover at date of issue at least 100 persons. If the fund is established by the members of an association of employers the policy may be issued only if (i) either (a) the participating employers constitute at date of issue at least 60 percent of those employer members whose employees are not already covered for group life insurance or (b) the total number of persons covered at date of issue exceeds 600; and (ii) the policy shall not require that, if a participating employer discontinues membership in the association, the insurance of his employees shall cease solely by reason of such discontinuance.

(d) The amounts of insurance under the policy must be based upon some plan precluding individual selection by the insured persons or by the trustees, employers or unions. [No policy may be issued which provides term insurance on any person which together with any other term insurance under any group life insurance policy or policies issued to the employers, or any of them, or to the trustees of a fund established in whole or in part by the employers, or any of them, exceeds twenty thousand dollars ($20,000).]

Such insurance may be issued with or without medical examination. For the purpose of this section the word "industry" shall not include licensed professions, such as medicine, dentistry, pharmacy, law and accountancy."

CITY OF LONG BEACH, a Municipal Corporation; A. L. PARMLEY, LYMAN B. SUTTER, RAYMOND C. KEALER, JAMES R. SEATON, CLARENCE E. WAGNER, MAX LIVONI, CARL FLETCHER, BAZIL U. CARLSON AND JOHN DOE, as Councilmen of the City of Long Beach; FRANK W. BREJCHA, as Treasurer of the City of Long Beach; and JOHN R. MANSELL, as Auditor of the City of Long Beach.
Defendants, Defendants in Intervention in Certain Pleadings, and Respondents.

Plaintiff and plaintiff in intervention appeal from a judgment for defendants entered after defendants' demurrers to their complaints were sustained without leave to amend. Plaintiffs sought to enjoin defendants from appropriating and expending for general municipal purposes the income derived from the sale of oil and gas produced from the tide and submerged lands granted in trust to the City of Long Beach by the State of California (Stats. 1911, p. 1304, as amended by Stats. 1925, p. 235, Stats. 1935, p. 794, and Stats. 1951, p. 2443.) The expenditures to which plaintiffs object are purportedly authorized by a duly enacted amendment to the Charter of the City of Long Beach, the material parts of which provide:

> "The 'Public Improvement Fund' is hereby created and established. . . . Money placed therein shall be used exclusively for the payment of costs and expenses for the acquisition, construction, reconstruction, development, operation, repair and maintenance of public improvements and the acquisition of such lands, rights and property as may be necessary or convenient therefor. . . .
> "Within thirty days after the effective date of this section, the City Treasurer shall transfer to the 'Public Improvement Fund' fifty per cent of all revenue derived by the City from oil, gas and other hydrocarbons, and fifty per cent of the interest, earnings, income and/or profits from investment of said revenue which is in the 'Harbor Revenue Fund' on the date of such transfer. Within said thirty days, he shall also transfer to the 'Public Improvement Fund' fifty per cent of all revenue in the 'Harbor Reserve Fund' and the 'Tideland Oil Fund' on the date of such transfer.
> "At least once each calendar month thereafter, the City Treasurer shall transfer to the 'Public Improvement Fund' fifty per cent of all revenue derived by the City from oil, gas and other hydrocarbons and placed in the 'Harbor Revenue Fund,' which is not required by this Charter to be transferred from said 'Harbor Revenue Fund' to the 'Harbor Reserve Fund'. He shall also transfer to the 'Public Improvement Fund', at least once each calendar month thereafter, fifty per cent of all revenue so derived, which is required by this Charter to be transferred to the 'Harbor Reserve Fund' and fifty per cent of all revenue, so derived, which is required by this chapter to be placed in the 'Tideland Oil Fund'." (Charter of the City of Long Beach §260 8, approved by concurrent resolution of the Legislature [Const., Art. XI, §8], Stats. 1953, p. 3826.)

The Harbor Revenue Fund (Stats. 1931, p. 2807), the Harbor Reserve Fund (Stats. 1949, p. 2857), and the Tideland Oil Fund (Stats 2d Ex. Sess. 1946, p. 367; Stats. 1949, p. 2857) are depositories of the income derived from the production of oil and gas from the tide and submerged lands granted to the city by the state, except for the income derived from the production of "dry gas" from those lands, which is handled separately and is discussed below. Plaintiffs claim that the transfers authorized by this charter amendment and the expenditures pursuant thereto are unlawful. Defendants contend that the type of expenditures enumerated in the amendment are proper ones for a municipality to make, and that the transfers ordered by the amendment are authorized by chapter 915 of the Statutes of 1951. That statute provides:

"Section 1. It is hereby found and determined: That the City of Long Beach since 1939 has produced and is now producing large quantities of oil, gas and other hydrocarbon substances from lands conveyed to said city by [the statutes cited above]. That from the revenue derived therefrom, said city has constructed upon said lands, wharves, docks, piers, slips, quays, and other utilities, structures and appliances necessary or convenient for the promotion and accommodation of commerce and navigation, at a cost of approximately thirty-five million dollars ($35,000,000). That said city has available and unexpended approximately seventy-five million dollars ($75,000,000), also derived from said source, for the uses and purposes required by said acts, and is now receiving and will continue to receive for many years approximately twenty-four million dollars ($24,000,000) per annum from said source. That, in addition thereto, said city obtains large quantities of 'dry gas' derived from natural gas produced from said lands, which is sold by said city to domestic and other consumers. That by reason of the already large expenditure on such lands for the uses and purposes required by said acts, the large additional sums available and to become available throughout the years for such purposes, the expenditure of more than a total of fifty per centum (50%) of such revenue, received and unexpended and hereafter to become available for such uses and purposes, would be economically impracticable, unwise and unnecessary. That fifty per centum (50%) of all revenue heretofore derived and unexpended, and to be derived, by the City of Long Beach from oil, gas and other hydrocarbon substances, other than 'dry gas', produced from lands conveyed by said acts, is no longer required for navigation, commerce and fisheries, nor for such uses, trusts, conditions and restrictions as are imposed by said acts. That none of the revenue heretofore derived, and to be derived, by said city from 'dry gas' obtained from said lands is any longer required for navigation, commerce and fisheries, nor for such uses, trusts, conditions and restrictions as are imposed by said acts.

"For the purposes of this act, 'dry gas' is defined to mean the gas directly produced from wells, which contains one-half of a gallon or less of recoverable gasoline per 1,000 cubic feet, or from which gasoline has been removed by processing.

"SEC. 2 That fifty per centum (50%) of all revenue heretofore derived and unexpended, and to be derived, by the City of Long Beach from oil, gas and other hydrocarbon substances, other than 'dry gas', produced from lands conveyed by said above-entitled acts is hereby declared to be free from the public trust for navigation, commerce and fisheries, and from such uses, trusts, conditions and restrictions as are imposed by any of said above-entitled acts. That all of the revenue heretofore derived, and to be derived, by said city from 'dry gas', obtained from said lands is hereby declared to be free from the public trust for navigation, commerce and fisheries, and from such uses, trusts, conditions and restrictions as are imposed by any of said above-entitled acts." (Stats. 1951, pp. 2444-2445.)

The tide and submerged lands from which the monies in question are derived were originally owned by the state subject to a trust for purposes of commerce, navigation, and fisheries for the benefit of all the people of the state. (City of Long Beach v. Morse, 31 Cal. 2d 254, 262; City of Long Beach v. Marshall, 11 Cal. 2d 609, 614; Boone v. Kingsbury, 206 Cal. 148, 183, 189; City of Long Beach v. Lisenby, 175 Cal. 575, 579; People v. California Fish Co., 166 Cal. 576, 584, quoting from Illinois Central Railroad v Illinois, 146 U.S. 387, 452-453.) The Legislature committed the administration of this trust to the City of Long Beach (City of Long Beach v. Lisenby, supra, 175 Cal. 575, 579; and see Pub. Res. Code §6875) by conveying the lands involved to the city in fee simple (City of Long Beach v. Marshall, supra, 11 Cal. 2d 609, 613) subject to an express trust that they be devoted exclusively to the improvement of commerce, navigation, and fisheries for the benefit of all the people of the state. (Ibid ; Atwood v. Hammond, 4 Cal 2d 31, 37-38, and cases cited.) The lands granted included the minerals therein, which are also subject to the trust. (City of Long Beach v. Morse, supra, 31 Cal. 2d 254, 257-258; City of Long Beach v. Marshall, supra, 11 Cal. 2d 609, 614; Trickey v. City of Long Beach, 101 Cal App. 2d 871, 879) Before the enactment of the 1951 statute, quoted above, we held that "the proceeds from the sale of oil and gas from the lands in question may not be used for any purposes other than those specified in the trust conveyances under which the [City of Long Beach] claims title to the lands. The Legislature specified purposes relating to the harbor that it deemed beneficial to the state as a whole and did not authorize the city of Long Beach to use the corpus or the income of the trust for strictly local improvements." (City of Long Beach v. Morse, supra, 31 Cal. 2d 254, 262, see also, Trickey v. City of Long Beach, supra, 101 Cal. App. 2d 871, 880.) The transfers and expenditures authorized by the 1953 amendment to the Charter of the City of Long Beach are of the same character as those declared unlawful in the Morse case. (See, Stats. 2d Ex. Sess. 1946, pp. 366, 367.) The lawfulness of those transfers and expenditures depend, therefore, on the validity and effect of the 1951 statute revoking in part the public trust on the income derived from the lands in question. Thus, the principal issues to be resolved in the present case are whether the revocation was a valid exercise of the legislative power, whether the revocation operated as a transfer from the state to the city of the monies affected thereby, and, if so, whether such a transfer would offend the constitutional prohibition against gifts of public monies.

It is well established that "[t]he trust in which tide and submerged lands are held does not prevent the state from reclaiming tide and submerged lands from the sea where it can be done without prejudice to the public right of navigation and applying them to other purposes and uses." (Boone v. Kingsbury, supra, 206 Cal. 148, 189; Illinois Central Railroad v. Illinois, supra, 146 U.S. 387, 452-453; Atwood v. Hammond, supra, 4 Cal. 2d 31, 41; Oakland v. Oakland Waterfront Co.,

118 Cal. 160, 183-185; People v. California Fish Co., supra, 166 Cal. 576, 585-586; Ward v. Mulford, 32 Cal. 365, 372-373.) This principle has never been judicially applied in this state to the partial revocation of the public trust as to the income derived from the extraction of minerals imbedded in the lands subject to the trust, but the Legislature has devoted such income from tide and submerged lands held by the state to uses unconnected with the purposes of the public trust. (See, Stats. 1921, chap. 303, § 19; Pub. Res. Code, § 6816.) Furthermore, we can see no real distinction between reclamation of peripheral lands that become, in the course of harbor development, unusable for purposes of the trust (Atwood v. Hammond, supra, 4 Cal. 2d 31, 40-41) and the reclamation of part of the minerals imbedded in the lands subject to the trust that likewise become unnecessary for the purposes of the trust Such a partial revocation of the trust will in no way impair the public interest in commerce, navigation, and fisheries in Long Beach harbor, and thus the revocation does not conflict with the manifest purposes of sections 2 and 3 of Article XV of the Constitution. (See, People v. California Fish Co, supra, 166 Cal. 576, 598; Cimpher v. City of Oakland, 162 Cal. 87, 90.) Moreover, the Legislature has "found and determined" that, to the extent affected by such partial revocation, the income derived from the production of oil and gas from the tide and submerged lands of Long Beach harbor "is no longer required for navigation, commerce and fisheries, nor for such uses, trusts, conditions and restrictions as are imposed by" the statutes granting the said tide and submerged lands in trust. (Stats 1951, p 2445.) That determination and finding is conclusive upon this court in the absence of evidence indicating that the abandonment of the public trust will impair the power of succeeding legislatures to protect, improve, and develop the public interest in commerce, navigation, and fisheries. (County of San Diego v. Hammond, 6 Cal. 2d 709, 726; Boone v. Kingsbury, supra, 206 Cal. 148, 183; People v. California Fish Co., supra, 166 Cal. 576, 597; Oakland v. Oakland Waterfront Co., supra, 118 Cal. 160, 185.) Plaintiffs' sole contention on this point, that succeeding generations might have need for the monies thus freed from the trust for development and improvement of the state's harbors, waterways, and fisheries, is a matter of speculation and is insufficient of itself to overcome the legislative determination. Moreover, since the revocation in question does not contemplate or authorize the alienation of the tide and submerged lands free from the trust, succeeding legislatures can, if they deem it necessary for the purposes of the trust, re-establish the public trust on all the income derived from the production of oil and gas from the lands in question.

The next question is whether the revocation effected by the 1951 statute operates to transfer the monies involved to the state, as the plaintiff in intervention contends, or whether it operates as a transfer of those monies to the City of Long Beach, as defendants contend. In an early case concerning title to former pueblo lands, which the state held subject to a public trust for "municipal purposes", this court said that "[t]hrough such repeal [of the act by which the administration of the trust was transferred to the City of Monterey] the entire property held for public use—which would include the public lands—would revert to the state, and no limitation being imposed upon the legislature under the constitution of 1849 * in that respect, could be then disposed of in any manner it saw fit" (City of Monterey v. Jacks, 139 Cal. 542, 555-556, affirmed in 203 U S. 360; see also, San Francisco v. Canavan, 42 Cal. 541, 554-556; Hart v. Burnett, 15 Cal. 530, 624.) In an early Kentucky case, concerning a grant of public lands for school purposes, similar reasoning was employed: "the legislature granted this land to the persons named in the trust for a certain purpose, and the title of the commonwealth did not pass from it to the grantees, except for that purpose; and, when the object of the trust became extinct, the title reverted to the commonwealth as a matter of law . . . . The reversion of title in such a case is . . . in consequence of the failure of the purpose for which it was granted." (Kennedy v. McElroy, [Ky.] 17 S.W. 202, 22 S.W. 442, 443.) The reasoning in these cases is the same as that governing private trusts in which, in the absence of an express provision to the contrary, a revocation of the trust results in a reversion of the trust property to the settlor. (Civ. Code §2280; see 3 Scott on Trusts (1939) §345.3.) That this reasoning applies to the trust on which the tide and submerged lands in question were conveyed to the City of Long Beach is indicated by the language in City of Long Beach v. Morse, supra, 31 Cal. 2d 254, 257, that the "city is a trustee and as such 'assumes the same burdens and is subject to the same regulations that appertain to other trustees of such trusts.' [Citation.]" Defendants' reliance on the statement in City of Long Beach v. Marshall, 11 Cal. 2d 609, that the lands were granted to the city in fee simple, is therefore ill founded. It was clearly recognized in that case that the city's title in fee simple was subject to the public trust (11 Cal. 2d at 613; and see, City of Long Beach v. Morse, supra, 31 Cal. 2d 254, 259), and the problem of the effect of a revocation of the trust was not then before the court. Moreover, trustees normally hold title to the corpus of the trust in fee simple, but only for the purpose of carrying out the objects of the trust (See, City of Long Beach v. Morse, supra, 31 Cal. 2d 254, 258.) When the trust is terminated, the corpus does not become the individual property of the trustee; it reverts to the settlor.

Defendants also contend that the dictum in Atwood v. Hammond, 4 Cal. 2d 31, 44, that "the state could not by unilateral action divest the city of its title, nor annex a different use to this eighteen acre parcel [of reclaimed tidelands]," established the rule that although the state can terminate the public trust over such lands, the termination of the trust results, not in a reversion to the state as grantor, but in the ownership by the city of an absolute title to the lands originally conveyed to it in trust. This contention is based on the assumption that, pursuant to a conveyance to it from the state of lands subject to a public trust, the city acquires property or contractual rights that are beyond the power of the Legislature to alter. Even if a conveyance, such as the one to the City of Long Beach in the present case, from the state to a municipal corporation is considered as a contract between the city and the state or as creating property interests in the city, the state acting through the Legislature has the power to alter contractual or property rights acquired by the municipal corporation from the state for governmental purposes. (County of Alameda v. Janssen, 16 Cal. 2d 276, 284; R.R Comm'n v. Los Angeles R. Co., 280 U.S 145, 156; Trenton v New Jersey, 262 U.S. 182, 188, 191-192; Pawhuska v Pawhuska Oil Co., 250 U S 394, 398-399; Hunter v Pittsburgh, 207 U.S. 161, 178-179 and cases cited; New Orleans v. N.O. Water Works Co., 142 U S 79, 91; see also Brooklyn & Richmond Ferry Co. v. United States, 167 F. 2d 330, 333; Schulz, "The Effect of the Contract Clause and the Fourteeenth Amendment Upon the Power of the States to Control Municipal Corporations," 36 Mich. L. Rev. 385, 387-398, 408.) A municipal corporation has no privileges or immunities under the United States Constitution that it can invoke against the will of the state (Williams v. Mayor and City Council of Baltimore, 289 U S. 36, 40), and under the California Constitution a freeholder city, such as the City of Long Beach, is exempt from legislative control only as to "municipal affairs." (Const., Art. XI, § 6; Eastlick v. City of Los Angeles, 29 Cal. 2d 661, 665 and cases cited) It is clear in the present case that any interest of the City of Long Beach in the tidelands was acquired not as a "municipal affair," but subject to a public trust to develop its harbor and navigation facilities for the benefit of the entire state, and was therefore subject to the control of the Legislature. (City of Monterey v. Jacks, supra, 139 Cal. 542, 555-556.)

* The prohibition on "the making of any gift, of any public money or thing or value" (Const., Art. IV, § 31) was not added to the Constitution until 1879.

Moreover, the construction of the 1951 statute for which defendants contend would result in its unconstitutionality It the statutory revocation operates as a transfer of the monies affected thereby to the City of Long Beach, such a transfer would be a gift of public monies in violation of section 31 of Article IV of the Constitution.* Defendants argue that the development of the harbor without expense to the state was sufficient consideration for the original grant of the lands in trust, and that, the grant having thus been made, the state had nothing more of value to convey and the 1951 statute merely released certain conditions and restrictions on the original grant. Although the question of gift has never been directly discussed in any of the cases, it is clear that grants in trust of tide and submerged lands to municipal corporations have been made in furtherance of the interest of the entire state in the development of its harbors and thus such grants do not violate the constitutional prohibition against gifts. (See, City of Long Beach v. Morse, supra, 31 Cal. 2d 254, 262; Miller v. Stockberger, 12 Cal. 2d 440, 444; Atwood v. Hammond, supra, 4 Cal. 2d 31, 45; Oakland v. Oakland Waterfront Co., supra, 118 Cal. 160, 189; City of Newport Beach v. Fager, 39 Cal. App. 2d 23, 29) Defendants contend, however, that the transfer to the city of the monies released from the trust by the 1951 statute would not violate the constitutional prohibition against gifts because the state had nothing of value to convey and the city received nothing of value by reason of that statute. There is no merit to this contention. If, as defendants contend, the city is entitled to those monies, it is entitled to them by reason of the statute. If defendants' interpretation of the statute is the correct one, the city now has available for general municipal expenditures millions of dollars that were not available to it before the enactment of the 1951 statute.

* "Sec 31 The Legislature shall have no power . . . to make any gift or authorize the making of any gift, of any public money or thing of value to any individual, municipal or other corporation whatever . . ."

(City of Long Beach v. Morse, supra, 31 Cal. 2d 254, 262.) There being no benefit to all the people of the state from such a transfer, it would be a gift of public monies and thus prohibited by the Constitution.

County of Los Angeles v. Southern California Telephone Company, 32 Cal. 2d 378, on which defendants rely, is not inconsistent with this conclusion. That case involved the validity of franchises acquired under the provisions of section 536 of the Civil Code. In holding that such franchises are not gifts within the meaning of section 31 of Article IV, we said that "the state is assured of a continuing benefit in return for the privileges granted under section 536 . . . . The company must not only construct a telephone system but it must render service, and if it fails to do so the franchise terminates. Thus the state receives a benefit during the life of the franchise, since in order to retain it the company must continue to serve the public . . .

"Since the offer of a franchise in section 536, when accepted, results in a binding agreement supported by a valid consideration, there is no gift within the meaning of the constitutional prohibitions." (32 Cal. 2d at 388.)

It is suggested, however, that the expenditures purportedly authorized by section 260.8 of the Charter of the City of Long Beach are expenditures for public purposes and thus that a transfer of the funds in question from the state to the city would not be a gift within the meaning of section 31 of Article IV of the Constitution. There is no merit to this contention That section of the Constitution specifically forbids the making of a gift of public monies or thing of value to any municipal corporation, and all lawful expenditures of such corporations are necessarily for public purposes. Moreover, as we said in City of Oakland v. Garrison, 194 Cal. 298, 304, in reference to the appropriation of county funds for the improvement of a city street, "It is not sufficient, therefore, that the appropriation here in question be for a public purpose It must also be for a purpose which is of interest and benefit generally to the people of the county of Alameda. The question, then, is whether the improvement of this particular street within the city of Oakland is a matter of such general county interest that the county funds may properly be expended therein " Applying that principle to the present case, we cannot hold that the construction and establishment by the City of Long Beach of storm drains, a city incinerator, a public library, public hospitals, public parks, a fire alarm system, off-street parking facilities, city streets and highways, and other expenditures that have been authorized to be made from the "Public Improvement Fund", are of such general state-wide interest that state funds could properly be expended thereon. Such expenditures are for purely "municipal affairs" within the meaning of section 6 of Article XI of the Constitution. (See, City of Grass Valley v Wilkinshaw, 34 Cal. 2d 595, 599 [sewer]; Jardine v. City of Pasadena, 199 Cal. 64, 68 [isolation hospital]; Stege v. City of Richmond, 194 Cal. 305, 212 [city streets]; City of Pasadena v. Paine, 126 A.C.A 100, 105 [city library], Alexander v Mitchell, 119 Cal. App. 2d 816, 826-827 [off-street parking facilities]; Perez v City of San Jose, 107 Cal. App. 2d 562, 566 [city highways]; Beard v. City & County of San Francisco, 79 Cal App. 2d 753, 755 [public hospital]; Armas v City of Oakland, 135 Cal. App. 411, 420 [fire protection].) Moreover, they are normal expenditures for a municipal corporation to make, and to hold that a grant of public monies from the state to defray such expenditures is not a gift within the meaning of section 31 of Article IV of the Constitution would render meaningless the express prohibition therein against gifts to "municipal corporations." We conclude, therefore, that in view of the intendments in favor of the constitutionality of a statute (Jersey Milk Maid Products Co. v. Brock, 13 Cal. 2d 620, 636, and cases cited), we must adopt the construction of the 1951 statute indicated by City of Monterey v. Jacks, supra, 139 Cal. 542, 555-556, and we hold that the partial revocation of the trust effected by that statute necessarily results in a reversion to the state of the monies thus released from the trust, and the city holds those funds upon a resulting trust for the state. It is, therefore, unnecessary to consider plaintiff's other constitutional objections to the construction of the statute urged by defendants.

It remains only to consider the intervening plaintiff's contention that the provision in the 1951 statute, "[t]hat all of the revenue heretofore derived, or to be derived, by said city from 'dry gas', obtained from said lands is hereby declared to be free from the public trust . . . ." [Italics added], is an unconstitutional attempt to validate the past unlawful expenditure of such funds for general municipal purposes. (Const., Article IV, § 25[16][18].) It was held in Trickey v. City of Long Beach, 101 Cal. App. 2d 871, that the income derived from the production of "dry gas" from the tide and submerged lands granted to the city was subject to the public trust for commerce, navigation, and fisheries, and that the expenditure of that income for general municipal purposes was unlawful. It follows from the conclusion reached above that as a result of the 1951 statute the city holds all of the funds "heretofore derived, or to be derived" from the production of "dry gas" from the lands in question subject to a resulting trust in favor of the state.

The judgment is reversed.

MALLON-SWART v. CITY OF LONG BEACH L. A. 23176

DISSENTING OPINION

I dissent.

In my opinion, the revenue in question from oil and gas production on tidelands, which lands had been previously granted by the state to the City of Long Beach, have been validly released by the Legislature from the trust, and the city may properly use the revenue so released for municipal improvements.

The precise question before us appears to be one of first impression, but I do not believe that the conclusions reached in the majority opinion can be reconciled with the decisions of this court in Atwood v. Hammond, 4 Cal. 2d 31, and City of Long Beach v. Marshall, 11 Cal.

2d 609, nor with the implications of the more recent decision of this court in City of Long Beach v Morse, 31 Cal. 2d 254. These and other authorities will be hereinafter discussed, but as the solution of the present problem involves a determination of the respective rights of the state and the city to the revenues which have been admittedly released from the trust, the fundamental question to be considered is that of the nature of the trust under which the tidelands are held. It appears to me that this question has been erroneously over-simplified in the majority opinion, which treats the state as the "trustor" or "settlor," and the Act of 1951 (Stats. 1951, p. 2443) as a "revocation," or at least a "partial revocation" of the trust, resulting in a "reversion" to the state of said revenues. This reasoning is based upon an assumed analogy in all respects between the trust upon which the tidelands are held and the ordinary private trust, but I can find no proper basis for such analogy. On the contrary, the trust involved here appears to be sui generis, and any attempt to determine the respective rights of the state and city upon such reasoning can lead only to confusion and to erroneous conclusions.

When the state embarked upon the program of granting the tidelands to local authorities, it was dealing only with those portions of land along the shore line which were submerged at high tide and exposed at low tide. It is a matter of common knowledge that there are little, if any, tidelands at many points where the shore line is precipitous, and that the greatest areas of tidelands are found in and about our bays and at the mouths of our rivers, near which points many of our municipalities have developed. In their natural state, these tidelands were apparently of little value for any purpose, and were obviously of little value for navigation or commerce because of the relatively shallow water which covered them even when the tides were at their highest. Furthermore, the extent of the so-called tidelands has been subject to change over the years by reason of natural accretions to, or the wearing away of, the shore line, or by reason of artificial improvements by way of dredging and filling. In fact, the improvement of any tidelands for the purpose of navigation and commerce normally contemplates the artificial change of a part or all of such land into high land bordering upon water deep enough for the normal purposes of navigation and commerce. Hence, the state, in granting the tidelands to the local authorities, was dealing with lands having apparently little value and having irregular boundaries which could not be precisely and permanently delineated. The Legislature no doubt concluded that some of such lands should be improved and could best be improved in the interest of navigation and commerce by the local authorities which administered the lands bordering such tidelands. It therefore embarked upon its program, and the grants to the local authorities were accompanied with the express or implied undertaking that such lands would be so improved by the local authorities without expense to the state. Such was the express stipulation in the grant of the tidelands under consideration to the city of Long Beach. (City of Long Beach v. Morse, supra, 31 Cal. 2d 254, 257.) Pursuant to such undertaking, those lands have been extensively improved over the years by the city of Long Beach by the expenditure of tremendous sums of money.

In the light of these observations, let us consider the nature of the "trust" with which we are dealing. It has been said that these tidelands were acquired by the State of California by the act of admission, subject however to a trust for navigation, commerce and fishing. (City of Long Beach v. Marshall, supra, 11 Cal. 2d 609, 614.) The precise nature of this trust has never been clearly defined, and, as above indicated, the trust appears to be sui generis. (See cases discussed in Illinois Central Railroad v. Illinois, 146 U.S. 387, and Boone v. Kingsbury, 206 Cal. 148.) Some things nevertheless appear certain. First, that the State of California was itself a trustee rather than a trustor in relation to any trust imposed upon such tidelands, and that the beneficiaries of such trust were not alone the people of this state but all the people of the United States. Thus, it has been indicated that the federal government could enforce such trust. (Boone v. Kingsbury, supra, 206 Cal. 148, 189.) Second, that the trust does not permanently attach to all the lands which were originally tidelands, for many of the areas embraced in the original tideland areas have been improved by developing such lands into high lands, and portions thereof have become either the property of municipalities (Atwood v. Hammond, supra, 4 Cal. 2d 31, 38) or of private owners (Boone v. Kingsbury, supra, 206 Cal. 148, 189), free of any trust when no longer necessary for the accomplishment of the trust purposes.

In determining the nature and extent of the trust imposed upon the tidelands, such lands should be distinguished from the lands involved in United States v. California, 332 U.S. 19, which, under the complaint in that action, included only lands "lying seaward of the ordinary low water mark on the coast of California." (P. 22.) We are here concerned only with lands lying shoreward of such low water mark. While the trusts affecting both types of land may have a common origin, no question was raised in the cited case concerning the respective rights of the state and the federal government in "tidelands down to the low water mark." (P. 30.) Rather, the court merely refused to extend the law relating to the latter, as expounded in Pollard's Lessee v. Hagan, 3 How. 212, to cover the land there in controversy to the seaward of the low water mark.

The historical background of the trust in tidelands throws some light upon the peculiar nature of such trust The original colonies acquired these tidelands by right of conquest, and after the conquest, such lands were held by them "as they were by the king, in trust for the public uses of navigation and fishery, and the erection thereon of wharves, piers, light-houses, beacons and other facilities of navigation and commerce. Being subject to this trust, they were publici juris; in other words, they were held for the use of the people at large . . . . It is also true that portions of the submerged shoals and flats, which really interfered with navigation, and could better subserve the purposes of commerce by being filled up and reclaimed, were disposed of to individuals for that purpose. But neither did these dispositions of useless parts affect the character of the title to the remainder." (Illinois Central Railroad v Illinois, supra, 146 U.S. 387, 457, quoting from Stockton v. Baltimore and New York Railroad Company, 32 Fed. Rep. 9, 19, 20)

With respect to the tidelands of California, it was said that "upon the admission of California into the Union upon equal footing with the original States, absolute property in, and dominion and sovereignty over, all soils under the tide waters within her limits passed to the State, with the consequent right to dispose of the title to any part of said soils in such manner as she might deem proper, subject only to the paramount right of navigation over the waters, as far as such navigation might be required by the necessities of commerce with foreign nations or among the several States, the regulation of which was vested in the general government." (Illinois Central Railroad v. Illinois, supra, 146 U. S. 387, 465, quoting approvingly from Weber v. Harbor Commissioners, 18 Wall. 57, 65.)

In Boone v. Kingsbury, supra, 206 Cal. 148, at page 180, in referring to "the title in the soil of the sea or arms of the sea," it is said that such title "at common law was vested in the sovereign in trust for the people"; and in referring to the title of the states and to the exhaustive study therein made of the entire subject, it quotes approvingly on page 180 from Shively v. Bowlby, 152 U.S. 1, as follows: "The foregoing summary of the laws of the original states shows that there is no universal and uniform law upon the subject; but that each state has dealt with the lands under the tide waters within its borders according to its own views of justice and policy . . . ."

In summary, it appears from these authorities that historically the title to the tidelands has been held by the sovereign subject to a trust which is defined in general terms as a trust for navigation, commerce and fishing; that the exact nature of the trust has never been clearly defined; that the main purpose of the trust is to maintain a shore line which is generally free from any substantial interference with the public enjoyment of navigation, commerce and fishing; that the sovereign may deal with the tidelands in almost any way so long as there is no substantial impairment of the trust purpose; and that any substantial impairment of the trust purpose in the tidelands within any state could be abated by the state or the federal government.

Concerning the California tidelands, we find that title to all of such lands, with the possible exception of title to those lands covered by prior Mexican grants, was acquired by the state by the act of admission following their acquisition by the United States under the Treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo. In dealing with those lands in the early case of Oakland v Oakland Water Front Co , 118 Cal. 160, at page 183, the court said: " . . . the several states hold and own the lands covered by navigable waters within their respective boundaries in their sovereign capacity, and primarily for the purpose of preserving and improving the public rights of navigation and fishery. They have in them a double right, a jus publicum and a jus privatum. The former pertains to their political power—their sovereign dominion, and cannot be irrevocably alienated or materially impaired. The latter is proprietary and the subject of private ownership, but it is alienable only in strict subordination to the former."

The same distinction between the state's sovereign and proprietary rights in tidelands was made in Santa Cruz v. Southern Pac. R. R. Co., 163 Cal. 538, 544, and in People v. California Fish Co., 166 Cal. 576, 597. In its sovereign capacity, the state held these lands subject to a public trust for navigation, commerce and fishing; and it could not completely divest itself of its responsibilities as such trustee to the impairment of the public interest. (Boone v. Kingsbury, supra, 206 Cal. 148, 183, 189; City of Long Beach v. Marshall, supra, 11 Cal. 2d 609, 614.) However, in its proprietary capacity and as the proprietary owner, the state could grant the tidelands to a municipality subject to this public trust. (Atwood v. Hammond, supra, 4 Cal. 2d 31, 37; City of Long Beach v Marshall, supra, 11 Cal. 2d 609, 614-615) This distinction between the state's sovereign and proprietary rights and duties in respect to the tidelands was not considered material for the purpose of the decision in City of Long Beach v. Marshall, supra (see pages 614-615), but as will hereinafter appear, such distinction is important in the determination of the question presented here.

Various legislative acts, other than the act of 1951 (Stats. 1951, p. 2443), affecting the Long Beach tidelands have been discussed in numerous cases. (City of Long Beach v. Lisenby, 175 Cal. 575; City of Long Beach v Marshall, supra, 11 Cal 2d 609; Miller v. Stockburger, 12 Cal. 2d 440; City of Long Beach v. Morse, supra, 31 Cal. 2d 254.) Such discussion will not be repeated here except insofar as it affects the particular problem before us.

In City of Long Beach v. Marshall, supra, 11 Cal. 2d 609, at page 616, it was said: "It remains only to point out briefly that the history of tideland grants in this state, and the actions of the various legislatures and the courts in connection therewith, show a general agreement that the tidelands were conveyed to municipalities in fee, subject only to the public trusts and the limitations and reservations specified in the acts; and that until the discovery of these valuable oil rights in the Southern California tidelands no serious doubt was ever expressed as to the title of the municipalities."

The Marshall case was brought on the theory that "the rights in oil and other minerals belonged to the state and not to the city" (p. 612), and such theory was held untenable (See, also, Miller v. Stockburger, supra, 12 Cal. 2d 440.) The court there said at page 613, in speaking of this original grant to the city of Long Beach in 1911 (Stats. 1911, p. 1304): "Giving this language its ordinary and reasonable meaning, it would seem clear that the state intended to and did convey whatever title or interest it had in these lands to the city, in fee simple, subject to certain conditions and upon certain trusts." It follows from the two cited cases that ever since the original grant in 1911, the rights in the oil and other minerals under the Long Beach tidelands and the proceeds from the extraction thereof have belonged to the city, rather than to the state, subject only to the trust under which the city held such tidelands.

In City of Long Beach v. Morse, supra, 31 Cal. 2d 254, the question of the right of the city to divert a portion of the proceeds of the production of oil and gas to the city's general "Public Improvement Fund" was before this court That case arose prior to the act of 1951 (Stats. 1951, p 2443) and before there had been any express declaration by the Legislature that such proceeds were no longer necessary for the trust purpose. This court there said at pages 257 and 258: "If the proceeds from the sale of oil and gas are regarded as corpus (see Rest. Trusts, § 238; Bogert, Trusts and Trustees, §§ 789, 828), they must be used for the purposes set forth in the legislative grants in trust, for the city, as trustee, clearly has no authority to appropriate the corpus to its own uses contrary to the terms of the trust. If the proceeds are regarded as income from trust property, the trustee, in the absence of a legislative provision to the contrary, has no more right to them than it has to the corpus." (Emphasis added.)

Since the decision in City of Long Beach v. Morse, supra, there has been enacted such "legislative provision to the contrary." In 1951 (Stats 1951, p. 2443), the Legislature released a portion of such proceeds from the trust, being the precise portion which is in controversy here. By that act the Legislature expressly found and determined that from the revenue derived from oil production from the tidelands, the city has constructed upon these lands various harbor facilities "necessary or convenient for the promotion of commerce and navigation" at a cost of approximately $35,000,000 00; that from the same source the city has now available and unexpended approximately $75,000,000.00; that it will continue to receive from the same source for many years to come approximately $24,000,000.00 per annum; that in addition, the city obtains large quantities of "dry gas" derived from the natural gas produced from said lands, which it sells; that in view of the already large expenditures on these lands for harbor improvements and the available and anticipated sums, the expenditures of more than 50% of the revenue from the oil production for trust purposes would be "economically impracticable, unwise and unnecessary"; that "50% of all revenue" from the oil produced on these tidelands and "all of the revenue . . . derived from 'dry gas' . . . is hereby declared to be free from the public trust for navigation, commerce and fisheries, and from such uses, trusts, conditions and restrictions as are imposed by any of said above-entitled acts" (Stats 1951, pp. 2444-2445.)

It was clearly within the power of the Legislature to release such portion of the city's income from the trust upon finding that such portion was no longer required for the purposes of the trust. (Atwood v. Hammond, supra, 4 Cal. 2d 31, 35-36, 39, 41-42; Illinois Central Railroad v. Illinois, supra, 146 U.S. 387, 452-453.) In the Atwood case, the Legislature had made a similar declaration with respect to a portion of the San Diego tidelands, releasing them from the trust. (Stats. 1929, ch. 642, p. 1058.) This court there said at pages 42 and 43: "We are of the view that it was competent for the legislature upon finding that the eighteen-acre tract was 'not longer required for navigation, commerce or fisheries', to free it from the public easement for those purposes." It was further held that the Legislature could not thereafter deal with such land upon the theory that the state owned the land so released from the trust. If then the Legislature may validly release a portion of the tidelands themselves from the trust upon finding that such lands are no longer required for trust purposes, it follows that the Legislature may validly release a portion of the proceeds of such tidelands. Such was the necessary implication of this court in City of Long Beach v. Morse, supra, 31 Cal. 2d 254, when it predicated its decision there on the "absence of a legislative provision" expressly finding that such proceeds were no longer required for trust purposes and releasing them from the trust.

The power of the Legislature to make such declaration under appropriate circumstances is derived from its sovereignty and the duty imposed upon it in accepting the tidelands under the act of admission, subject to the public trust. It is true that this court, in discussing the possible distinction between the state's sovereign and proprietary rights in City of Long Beach v. Marshall, supra, 11 Cal. 2d 609, said at page 614: "There is neither logic in, nor practical necessity for the 'double fee' doctrine"; and on page 615 said, in speaking of the grant to the city: "Such language cannot be distorted to mean that the grant to the city is only of rights of sovereignty in the sense of political or governmental power. The argument of the state's 'double fee' is met by the very statutory language which grants the land, for it conveys 'all' the 'right, title and interest' of the state. Whatever the state had by way of title or interest, however, divided it may have been, it all passed under the plain words of the grant." That language should be read in the light of the problem then before the court, and it should not be interpreted so broadly as to declare that the state, acting in its sovereign capacity, did not retain the power and duty to determine when any portion of the tidelands might be declared no longer necessary for trust purposes, and therefore be released from the trust. That the state in its sovereign capacity retained such power and duty is clearly indicated in several cases. (Boone v. Kingsbury, 206 Cal. 148, 184, 191; Atwood v. Hammond, supra, 4 Cal. 2d 31, 38-43; City of Newport Beach v. Fager, 39 Cal. App. 2d 23, 29; Illinois Central Railroad v. Illinois, supra, 146 U. S. 387, 453-455), and is clearly implied in City of Long Beach v. Morse, supra, 31 Cal. 2d 254, which was based upon the "absence of a legislative provision" finding that the proceeds were no longer required for trust purposes. As was said in City of Newport Beach v. Fager, supra, at page 29: " . . . by virtue of the prior grants to the city, the state has divested itself of all interest in such land excepting its interest as the sovereign in protecting the public trust." (Emphasis added.) In other words, the only right reserved by the state with respect to the tidelands or their proceeds was its sovereign right to protect the trust and to declare when, if ever, any portion of such lands or their proceeds might no longer be required for the trust purposes and might be released from the trust without any substantial impairment of the trust purposes. In the present case the Legislature has exercised that right and has released the disputed proceeds by the 1951 enactment. (Stats. 1951, p. 2443.)

The majority opinion declares that the solution of the present problem depends upon "the validity and effect of the 1951 statute revoking in part the public trust on the income derived from the lands in question. Thus, the principal issues to be resolved in the present case are whether the revocation was a valid exercise of the legislative power, whether the revocation operated as a transfer from the state to the city of the monies affected thereby, and, if so, whether such a transfer would offend the constitutional prohibition against gifts of public moneys." (Emphasis added.)

Thus the entire majority opinion is based upon the theory that the Act of 1951 was a partial "revocation" of a trust created by the state and a "transfer from the state to the city of the monies affected thereby." I agree that the solution of the problem depends upon the validity and effect of the 1951 statute, but I cannot agree with the reasoning of the majority opinion. It treats the state as the "trustor" or "settlor," with the property reverting "to the settlor" upon the termination of the trust; whereas, as heretofore indicated, the state was itself only a trustee with respect to the public trust under which the tidelands were previously held by it, and it had previously conveyed all its proprietary interest to the city. This court has clearly declared that the title to the tidelands, and therefore to the proceeds thereof, was thereafter in the city, not the state, subject only to the trust, for "whatever the state had by way of title or interest, . . . it all passed under the plain words of the grant" to the city of Long Beach; and that such conveyance carried with it "the mineral rights in the land." (City of Long Beach v. Marshall, supra, 11 Cal. 2d 609, 615, 616.)

It follows that the Act of 1951 was not a "revocation" of any trust in any true sense of the word. The state was not the trustor or settlor to which the lands or their proceeds would revert upon the termination of the trust. It is true that the state's grant to the city employed the words "in trust for the uses and purposes and upon the express conditions following. . . ." (City of Long Beach v. Morse, supra, 31 Cal. 2d 254, 256); but the grant did not create the trust, which already existed and under which the state itself held the property as trustee, and said grant merely imposed such conditions as the state deemed necessary to protect such preexisting public trust. Following the grant to the city the tidelands and the proceeds therefrom belonged to the city of Long Beach, subject only to the trust, and hence the exercise of the sovereign power by the state in 1951, in declaring a portion of the proceeds released from the trust, did not in any sense effect a "transfer" of anything "from the state to the city." It therefore appears that the claim that the Act of 1951 was invalid under section 31 of the Constitution cannot be sustained. The majority opinion concedes that the original grants of the tidelands to the cities "do not violate the constitutional prohibition against gifts," and it follows that the exercise by the state of its power to release a part of the tidelands or the proceeds from the trust is merely an exercise of the limited power retained by the state in its sovereign capacity following the original grant of all its right, title and interest in said tidelands. The validity of such a release was sustained in Atwood v. Hammond, supra, 4 Cal. 2d 31.

It may be conceded that the majority opinion, by starting from an erroneous premise, reads quite plausibly. The erroneous premise, however, appears to be unfortunate, for the premise itself does violence to the principles laid down in the authorities, and more particularly to those clearly enunciated in Atwood v. Hammond, supra, 4 Cal 2d 31, and City of Long Beach v. Marshall, supra, 11 Cal. 2d 609. Furthermore, the conclusions reached run contrary to the principles laid down in those cases and the other authorities above cited. These authorities sustain the judgment of the trial court.

It may well be that the state, as a matter of policy, should have reserved to itself the mineral rights in the Long Beach tidelands. It has made such reservation in later grants to other cities, such as Santa Barbara (Stats. 1931, p. 173), Ventura (Stats. 1935, p. 869), and Santa Cruz (Stats. 1935, p. 1876). The fact remains, however, that the state did not make any similar reservation in the grant to the city of Long Beach, and I find no justification for now declaring, contrary to the principles enunciated in the prior decisions of this court, that the state has any right, title or interest therein or to the proceeds therefrom.

In my opinion, the judgment of the trial court should be affirmed.

MALLON-SWART v. CITY OF LONG BEACH L.A. 23176

SHENK, J. DISSENTING.

I concur in the dissenting opinion of Mr. Justice Spence and deem it unanswerable. A further word seems desirable from my standpoint.

When Boone v. Kingsbury was decided by this court in 1928 (206 Cal. 148) I expressed the view as the sole dissenter that permits proposed to be issued by the state for exploration and production of oil and gas from tide lands of the state would be inconsistent with the trust under which the state held those lands, namely, for commerce, navigation and fisheries. That case involved tidelands of the state outside of any municipality. It was there decided by the majority that the state owns those lands in fee subject only to the limited trust and that the granting of permits there sought to be issued by the state on a royalty basis for the production of oil and gas would not be inconsistent with the trust. The holding in that case has been the law of the state without deviation since that time. It has also been the law of the state that in granting to municipalities the tidelands within their borders the state conveyed the fee subject only to the same trust under which the state owned them. If leasing directly by the state for oil and gas production is not inconsistent with the trust the same rule should apply to a municipality occupying the same position as its grantor, the state. The case of City of Long Beach v. Morse, 31 Cal.2d 254, specifically left the way open for further legislation on the subject. That legislation was supplied by the Act of 1951 (Stats. 1951, p. 2443). By that enactment there is a legislative finding that the use of the proceeds from oil and gas production by the City of Long Beach is not in any way affected by the terms of the trust. If the City of Long Beach is bound by the terms of the trust, as the majority holds, the state likewise is bound by the same trust. The only logical deduction to be drawn from the majority opinion is that the trust relationship now declared is also fastened on the state's title and right to the use of the proceeds from oil and gas development and production on tide lands.

Following the case of United States v. California in 1947 (332 U.S. 19) the United States granted to the several states bordering tidelands and to their grantees the right, title and interest of the Federal government in and to such tide lands (Public Law No. 31, 67 Stat.p.29, approved May 22, 1953). By that enactment the government reserved from the grant the right to exercise its constitutional powers over commerce and navigation and particularly stated in section 6 of the act that the reservation should "not be deemed to include proprietary rights of ownership, or the rights of management, administration, leasing, use, and development of the lands and natural resources which are specially recognized, confirmed, established, and vested in and assigned to the respective States and others by section 3 of this Act." If the title of the City of Long Beach is encumbered by the trust as the majority holds, the title of the State of California is also subject to the trust, and falls within the reservations of the act of Congress. The only way to avoid this conclusion is to declare, as we should, that the proceeds from oil and gas development here involved fall within the proprietary classification of the property of the City of Long Beach in accordance with the statutory and decisional law of the state and as contemplated by the recent Act of Congress.

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE
SACRAMENTO, April 6, 1955

To the Honorable Members of the Assembly

GENTLEMEN: As I pointed out to you in my message of January 3, 1955, the "conservation and development of our water resources is of paramount importance to the people of our State" The problem is also one which calls for action. Such action, in my judgment, should be initiated at the present session of the Legislature. Considering our rapidly increasing population, and looking at the State as a whole, we well may be facing a very serious situation in the not too distant future.

We are all in agreement, I am sure, that there must be a sound and basic plan for the full conservation, control, and utilization of all of the water resources in California, both underground and surface, to meet present and future needs for all beneficial purposes and uses in all areas of the State. I realize, however, that the full implementation of the California Water Plan is a long-range program to which the Legislature will wish to give careful consideration. It will involve, among its many aspects, the determination of an equitable and just solution of the problem involved in the diversion and distribution of surplus waters from areas where they may not be needed to areas of deficiency.

Pending the formulation of such a program, I wish to make the following specific recommendations for action at this session of the Legislature:

1. Trinity River Project The plan of the Department of the Interior for the development of the Trinity Project has heretofore been submitted to, and favorably recommended by, the Executive Branch of the State Government on April 15, 1953.

There is now pending in the Congress legislation to provide for federal construction of this project as a unit of the Central Valley Project. I reiterate my recommendation of last January that the Legislature adopt a joint resolution urging the Congress to take favorable action on appropriate legislation to authorize construction of the project

2 San Luis Project. The confusion that has arisen with respect to the Trinity River Project apparently stems from the fact that the legislation in Congress to authorize the "Trinity River Division" also includes authorization of the so-called San Luis Project, which is also proposed to be made a part of the Central Valley Project, as now operated by the Federal Government. The dam and reservoir on San Luis Creek in western Merced County, which presumably would be main features of the project, have also been studied and included by the Division of Water Resources as a part of the State's Feather River Project.

I am advised that the existing Tracy Pumping Plant, and portions of the Delta-Mendota Canal, have excess capacity at the present time which could be used to supply water from the Sacramento-San Joaquin Delta for a reservoir on San Luis Creek, at least for an initial development as contemplated by pending congressional legislation. In view of the urgent need for a supplemental supply of water for lands in the San Joaquin Valley which could be served by such a San Luis development, the plan to use this excess capacity of existing facilities of the Central Valley Project appears to me to be logical. On the other hand, any federal development of the project should not prevent the use of the San Luis Reservoir site and appurtenant works which will be required for development of the Feather River Project as now planned

What we need is a cooperative arrangement with the Federal Government whereby immediate construction of the San Luis Project may proceed as a joint Federal-State undertaking Both federal and state legislation, in all probability, would be required to provide for any such cooperative arrangement I urge that the Legislature memorialize the Congress to authorize such a program, and that any necessary state legislation also be enacted Such federal and state legislation should provide for implementation of the program by a contract between the State and Federal Government

3. Feather River Project The Feather River Project has been authorized by the Legislature for construction by the State as a major unit of our long-range water plan The plans that have been made for it are state plans, while the plans for the Trinity River Project are federal plans. The flood waters of the Feather River constitute, I am advised, the largest single remaining source of high-quality, unconserved water in the Central Valley This great project is vitally needed, not only for a firm supply of irrigation water, and for flood control on the reaches of the Feather River itself, but also to firm up a supply of water in the delta for transportation and use in the San Joaquin Valley, for a supply to the Santa Clara Valley, and other coastal areas, as well as Southern California

I repeat the urgent recommendation of my message of last January—that the Legislature take "immediate steps to determine the proper and most effective means of raising the funds necessary for its construction" to the end that initial phases of the project can be gotten under way without delay, to the greatest extent that the Legislature finds it possible to finance at this session

While such initial work is being undertaken, the Legislature will, I am sure, be conscious of the need for protecting the reasonable water requirements of the counties of origin.

In order that the Government of the State may be in a position to act, and to act effectively, on all fronts at all times with respect to water matters, I urge again the creation of a workable State Water Resources Department to be headed by a director, and with clear lines of authority. While it is recognized that this may be a complicated problem, it is my judgment that action should be taken at this session of the Legislature.

The above-mentioned recommendations cover problems relating to water, and its conservation and distribution, which appear to me to be the most pressing at the present time. They are not intended to cover all of the many important related problems and, for that reason, I may transmit further recommendations prior to the adjournment of the present session.

The fact that the Legislature may not find it possible to act on all phases of the water problem in the immediate future, should not deter it from giving prompt attention to those matters on which, I think, we can all agree there should be no further delay.

Respectfully submitted.

GOODWIN J. KNIGHT, Governor

CALIFORNIANS FOR TRINITY-SACRAMENTO-SAN LUIS
WEAVERVILLE, CALIFORNIA, April 5, 1955

Assemblyman Richard H McCollister
Chairman, Assembly Water Committee
State Capitol, Sacramento, California

DEAR ASSEMBLYMAN MCCOLLISTER: The vital importance of the surplus waters in Northern California to the prosperity and continued progress of the entire State is becoming increasingly evident.

Therefore, the Californians for Trinity-Sacramento-San Luis, the Trinity County Board of Supervisors and the Redding Chamber of Commerce extend an invitation to the entire Assembly to make an on-the-spot tour of inspection of proposed project sites in Trinity and Shasta Counties

We believe that such a first hand tour would not only furnish you with additional information concerning the project, but would also give a more complete and better picture of factors which might have some bearing on any future legislation revising the "County of Origin" Act

The date suggested is for Sunday, April 17th. Transportation of Assemblymen from Sacramento to the sites of the projects and return will be furnished by the Redding Chamber of Commerce The Trinity County Board of Supervisors will arrange for a luncheon in Weaverville, and the day can be timed so that the entire tour and trip back to Sacramento could be completed in the one day.

In order to proceed with our plans it will be necessary that we know as soon as possible the number planning on making the trip, proposed time of leaving Sacramento, etc. If a sufficient number of Assemblymen can be present, Life magazine photographers and a feature writer will be invited to cover the tour.

We would like to express our appreciation to the Assembly for its keen interest in the Trinity-San Luis Projects, and we are hoping that you and a number of other Assemblymen can meet with us on the seventeenth.

Sincerely yours,

ARMON HEFFINGTON, President
HAL E GOODYEAR, Clerk
Trinity County Board of Supervisors

JOE ALECK, President
Redding Chamber of Commerce
ROBERT A. THOMAS, Chairman
Water Committee,

Every such order shall be filed forthwith with the Secretary of State and shall become effective at the time specified therein but not sooner than 10 days after such filing.

5.6. Any order of the committee pursuant to this chapter which relates to salt water fish may apply to all or any district or portion thereof and may do any or all of the following as to any or all species or varieties in order to conserve the present supply of salt water fish, assure a continuous and stable supply of such fish for the future, and yet provide the maximum yield:

2426. The department may enter into a cooperative agreement with any local district or other public agency engaged in the work of controlling mosquitoes or gnats, or mosquitoes and gnats, in such areas and under such terms, conditions, and specifications as the board may prescribe. Such agreement may provide for financial assistance on behalf of the State in accordance with a plan and formula for determining the amounts of funds to be allocated to individual agencies annually which plan and formula shall be developed by the department and which shall include appropriate recognition of the factors of the degree of local fiscal support, area requiring mosquito control, mosquito-borne disease endemicity, and technical guidance, and for the doing of all or any portion of the necessary work by either of the contracting parties, except that in no event shall the department agree that the State's contribution shall exceed 50 percent of the total cost of any acceptable plan

The Legislature recognizes that mosquitoes are of great and growing public health and economic significance to the State of California and it is the intent of this section to provide an equitable basis for financially and technically assisting local agencies to cope with this problem. It is the intention of the Legislature to adjust from time to time state participation in supporting mosquito and gnat control and mosquito-borne disease control in accordance with the need for assistance.

SEC. 2. There is hereby appropriated out of the General Fund in the State Treasury the sum of four hundred and ninety thousand dollars ($490,000), of which the sum of three hundred seventy-five thousand dollars ($375,000) is allocated for augmentation of Item 410, Section 2 of the Budget Act of 1955, to be expended by the State Department of Public Health for subsidies to local districts and other public agencies for the control of mosquitoes and gnats, and of which the sum of one hundred fifteen thousand dollars ($115,000) is allocated in augmentation of Item 194, Section 2 of the Budget Act of 1955, to be expended by the State Department of Public Health to make the necessary studies, investigations and demonstrations with respect to significant mosquito species and their control and to conduct measurement studies of mosquito distribution and density aimed particularly at increasing the knowledge of mosquito-borne disease occurence.

SEC. 3. This act shall become operative on July 1, 1955

SEC. 4. This act is an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health or safety within the meaning of Article IV of the Constitution and shall go into immediate effect The facts constituting such necessity are:

Mosquito-borne encephalitis, a serious virus disease transmitted by mosquitoes, is endemic throughout a large part of California Epidemics of this disease even exceeding the serious outbreak in 1952 may occur annually due to the growing prevalence of the mosquito vector In 1952, despite emergency measures taken by the State and local agencies to control encephalitis, there were 805 cases and 58 deaths reported in morbidity and vital records Of the 805 cases reported, 414 were confirmed by laboratory findings to be mosquito transmitted types. It is essential that additional funds be available to local districts and other public agencies to enable them to increase the amount of mosquito control work to prevent a possible epidemic in 1955 and to avoid future epidemics. Mosquito control is the only presently available means to prevent human encephalitis. The State Department of Public Health requires additional funds in order to adequately conduct the studies, investigations, measurements and demonstrations needed in the furtherance of the objectives of this act."

OPINION OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL

STATE OF CALIFORNIA
OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL
SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, March 30, 1955

Honorable Gordon A. Fleury
Assembly Chamber

Old Age and Survivors Insurance Coverage for Public Employees—No. 7488

DEAR MR. FLEURY: You ask what effect the following provision of the federal law will have on the extension of the Federal Old Age and Survivors Insurance Systems to state and local employees. The provision in question states:

> "It is hereby declared to be the policy of the Congress in enacting the succeeding paragraphs of this subsection that the protection afforded employees in positions covered by a retirement system on the date an agreement under this section is made applicable to service performed in such positions, or receiving periodic benefits under such retirement system at such time, will not be impaired as a result of making the agreement so applicable or as a result of legislative enactment in anticipation thereof." (Sec. 218(d) (2), Social Security Act as amended 1954, P.L. 761, 83rd Cong.)

It is difficult to predict with any degree of certainty what effect such provision will have on the extension of the provisions of the Social Security Act to state and local employees who are under an existing retirement system, as such effect depends in no small measure upon the administrative interpretation of such provision that is adopted by the appropriate federal officer or agency.

A consideration of the legal effect of such provision raises several questions. The first is what operational effect does such a provision have, the second is what is the scope or meaning to be given its terms, and the third question is what legal effect does such provision have on agreements for the extension of old age and survivors insurance to the public employees of a state.

The Social Security Act amendments of 1954 (H.R. 9366, P.L. 761, 83rd Cong.) for the first time permit the extension of the Old Age and Survivors Insurance System to public employees in positions covered by a retirement system. This is effected by directing the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, at the request of any state, to enter into an agreement with such state for such purpose, which agreement "shall contain such provisions not inconsistent with the provisions of this section [218] as the state may request" (Sec. 218 (a)). By amendment to Section 218 (d), the previous prohibition against making an agreement applicable to positions covered by a retirement system (Sec. 218 (d) (1) was superseded by the addition of the provision in question (Sec. 218 (d) (2) quoted above) and followed by subdivisions (3) to (6) inclusive, which expressly authorize the inclusion of such positions under an agreement if the governor of the state certifies that certain prescribed conditions have been met. These conditions are (A) that a referendum by secret written ballot was held on the question of such inclusion; (B) that an opportunity to vote in such referendum was given, and was limited, to eligible employees; (C) that not less than 90 days' notice of the referendum was given to the employees; (D) that the referendum was conducted under the supervision of the governor or an agency or individual designated by him; and (E) that a majority of the eligible employees voted in favor of inclusion in the agreement. (Sec. 218 (d) (3)).

Thus the only express conditions to the inclusion of employees under a retirement system in an agreement for coverage under the Federal Act are those relating to the referendum. If the provision in question were expressly made a condition to inclusion in an agreement similar to the referendum provisions, no question would arise as to its operational effect. In such case the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare would have no authority to enter into an agreement with respect to such employees where the effect of such agreement would be to impair the protection afforded the employees under their retirement system, and the secretary would be required to make such determination in each case, or by regulation require the governor to so certify.

However, the provision is not made an express condition, but consists of a statement of the policy of Congress in enacting the provisions permitting the extension of coverage to employees under a retirement system. It is a fundamental rule of construction that an act is to be so construed to give effect to the legislative intent. Such rule, however, has application only where some provisions of the act require construction because of ambiguity, or because their meaning is obscure. Since there are no provisions in the act relating to the effect of inclusion in an agreement for coverage under the Federal Act on rights existing under a retirement system, except in the provision in question, it cannot be said that Congress enacted such provision to serve as a guide to the construction or interpretation of such provisions. This implies that Congress may have intended such provision to have some more direct and positive effect.

Since the provision in question was enacted as a part of an act designed to extend the power delegated to an executive officer, to execute an agreement in a narrowly prescribed area, it would appear that full effect would be given to the provision by construing it as a limitation upon the scope of the succeeding provisions, and as establishing a standard for administrative action within which the administrative officer must take appropriate action to effectuate the powers delegated. As a practical matter, however, the effect to be given to a declaration of congressional policy by a federal administrative officer in the administration of a specific statute, is within the discretion of such officer, subject to judicial review in an appropriate proceeding.

Assuming that administrative effect is given to such provision the question arises as to the scope or extent of the limitation. That is, what will constitute an impairment of protection so as to preclude the extension of federal coverage.

Certainly where the retirement system is or will be discontinued, as a result of federal coverage, there would appear to be an impairment of protection. "Impair" is defined as meaning "to make worse; to diminish in quantity, value, excellence, or strength; to deteriorate; to damage" (Webster's New International Dictionary).

In view of such definition it would appear that any reduction of benefits under an existing retirement system, or an increase in cost for the same benefits which would result from such coverage, would constitute an impairment of protection within the meaning of such provision. It is obvious that any plan of supplementing an existing retirement system with coverage under the federal system without change in the existing system would not constitute any such impairment. When there is an integration of the two systems, however, it becomes a difficult task to determine whether any impairment results

The so called "full offset" method of integration apparently contemplates that the employee's contribution under the federal system would be deducted from the present retirement contribution of the employee and paid to the federal agency, and all retirement benefits under the existing system would be reduced to an amount which, together with the federal benefit would equal the benefits under the existing system, and would of course also give the employee the benefit of the survivors insurance payable under the federal system To the extent that the benefits to be paid by the existing system can continue to be provided out of the reduced revenue, there does not appear to be an impairment. This result may be illusory, however, particularly where the existing state or local system is an actuarial system.

The increase in federal rates which are fixed by congressional action reduces the revenue to the existing system, which must bear all retirement benefit costs of employees until they become eligible for a federal allowance. In the case of state miscellaneous employees under the State Employees Retirement System, this means the state system would pay full retirement allowances to retired employees from age 55 (optional retirement) or age 60 (normal retirement) until the employee reaches age 65, at which time the benefits are reduced by the amount of the federal allowance. While the ability of any system to meet the costs of a particular program under a fixed revenue can be determined by actuarial principles, such financial condition cannot be predicted when the rate of revenue is unknown or uncertain nor can prescribed benefits be guaranteed under such conditions. It is therefore possible that a plan which integrates an existing state or local system in such a manner that said system retains only such revenue as remains after payment of the federal rate which is not subject to state control, would "diminish in quantity, value, excellence or strength" the protection afforded under the existing system and therefore constitute an impairment under the provision in question.

Assuming that the extension of the federal system to employees under an existing retirement system has a direct result of impairing the protection of such employees, contrary to the declared policy of Congress, the question arises as to what the legal effect would be.

If the provision is a limitation on the power vested in the administrator to enter into an agreement with a state upon its request, for the extension of the old age and survivors insurance provisions of the Social Security Act to public employees of the state which agreement "shall contain such provisions not inconsistent with the provisions of this section [218] as the state may request" (Sec. 218(d)), it is possible that any agreement in violation of the policy provision would be in excess of such delegated powers and hence invalid.

While it is recognized that a court would be reluctant to declare invalid any such executed agreement between a state and the Federal Government, we believe that the possibility of such a determination would exist until the matter is clarified by judicial interpretation or further congressional action.

Very truly yours,

RALPH N. KLEPS, Legislative Counsel
By BERNARD CZESLA, Deputy

Mr. Stanley asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent that the three-day notice rule be waived with regard to Senate Bill No. 1889, and that it be set for hearing by the Committee on Municipal and County Government at 8 p.m. Wednesday, April 13th. Through inadvertence, the bill was not heretofore set for hearing.

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT THAT OPINIONS BE PRINTED IN JOURNAL

Miss Donahoe asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent that two opinions of the Legislative Counsel, relative to Senate Bill No. 1558, be ordered printed in the Journal, in 10-point type, as follows:

OPINIONS OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL

STATE OF CALIFORNIA
OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL
SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, April 5, 1955

Honorable Dorothy M. Donahoe
Assembly Chamber

Senate Bill 1558—No. 8797

DEAR MISS DONAHOE:

Question

You have asked us the following question:

If Senate Bill 1558, as amended in Senate March 23, 1955, is enacted, what would be the effect of the declarations therein with respect to a violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust Act?

Opinion

In our opinion Senate Bill 1558 would have no effect upon a prosecution for a violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust Act.

Analysis

The Sherman Anti-Trust Act is a federal statute (Secs. 1-7, incl. Title 15, United States Code) which declares that contracts, combinations and conspiracies, in restraint of trade or commerce among the several states, or with foreign nations, are illegal (See Sec. 1, Title 15, U.S.C.).

A combination to limit or restrict the production of a commodity in aid of an attempt to monopolize interstate commerce in the commodity is within the scope of the prohibitions of the Sherman Anti-Trust Act (Gibbs vs. McNeeley, 118 Fed. 120).

Senate Bill 1558 would declare that certain contracts between oil producers would be lawful. In these contracts the producers would agree to comply with certain recommendations as to the "maximum efficient rates of production" from all pools as to which "capacity production would result in a loss of ultimate production." Whether or not such an agreement would constitute a violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust Act is immaterial to our question. If such an agreement is not a violation of such law our conclusion that S.B. 1558 would have no effect on the matter is obviously correct.

If, however, such an agreement as is made lawful by S.B. 1558 would constitute a violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust Act, the bill would nevertheless have no effect upon a prosecution under that act. The fact that an agreement may be valid under state law does not mean that it may not violate the federal act (Northern Securities Co. vs. United States, 193 U. S. 197, 48 L. Ed. 679). In any federal anti-trust case the primary question is whether or not the combination or agreement affects interstate commerce. It is obvious that a contract which is legal under state law could affect interstate commerce just as much, if not more, than one which was illegal under state law.

The situation here involved is different from that involved in Parker vs. Brown, 317 U. S. 341, 87 L. Ed 315. That case involved a marketing program for raisins under the California Agricultural Prorate Act. The program, without doubt, did affect interstate commerce in raisins. However, the program was not a result of a combination or agreement among the individuals engaged in the raisin business but was imposed upon such individuals under the police power of the State and violation of the program was punishable by both fine and a civil penalty (See p. 347, 317 U. S.). The courts said that the purpose of the Sherman Act was to suppress combinations to restrain competition and attempts to monopolize by individuals and corporations (p. 352, 317 U. S.).

The court then said, "The State in adopting and enforcing the prorate program made no contract or agreement and entered into no conspiracy in restraint of trade or to establish monopoly, but as sovereign, imposed the restraint as an act of government which the Sherman Act did not undertake to prohibit" (p. 352, 317 U. S.).

The situation presented by S.B 1558 is, of course, quite different from that involved in Parker vs. Brown above cited. S.B. 1558 not only does not impose mandatory limitations or restrictions upon oil production under the police power but, in the last sentence of the bill, expressly negatives any implication that the rates of production are mandatory. That sentence reads: "Neither a disapproval by the supervisor nor a recommendation by him shall constitute a basis for implying any obligation for producers of oil to comply with such a disapproval or recommendation."

Therefore, the situation presented by S.B. 1558 seems to come squarely with the proposition declared in Northern Securities Co. vs. United States, above cited, that compliance with state law does not give immunity to those who violate the Sherman Anti-Trust Act. It should be understood, of course, that in preparing the foregoing opinion we have not considered the specific facts involved and we are not assuming that any of the activities of the Conservation Committee have been in violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust Act.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA
OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL
SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, April 5, 1955

Honorable Dorothy M. Donahoe
Assembly Chamber

Senate Bill No. 1558—No. 8797

DEAR MISS DONAHOE:

Question

You have requested our opinion on the operation, effect, and constitutionality of Senate Bill No. 1558.

In S.B. 1558, as amended in Senate March 23, 1955, the Legislature would add an article to the Public Resources Code which would:

(a) Recognize the existence of the Conservation Committee of California Oil Producers and of the fact that in past years the committee has made recommendations of maximum efficient rates of production and for intrapool distribution of such rates with respect to oil pools as to which capacity production would result in ultimate loss of production.

(b) Declare that such recommendations are in the interest of conservation of oil and gas resources of the State

(c) Declare that it is lawful for such committee to make such recommendations.

(d) Declare that it is lawful for oil producers to comply or to agree to comply with such recommendations.

(e) Provide that the foregoing are conditioned upon the delivery to the State Oil and Gas Supervisor of copies of the recommendations, which shall be open to public inspection, and making available to said supervisor of the records, files, minutes, reports and other data pertaining to the recommendations.

(f) Authorize the supervisor to join in or express disapproval of such recommendations.

(g) Authorize the supervisor, in the absence of such recommendations, or, if he deems such recommendations to be insufficient or incorrect, to issue recommendations with respect to such pools on such subject matter, and provide that neither a disapproval nor a recommendation of the supervisor shall be a basis for implying that producers must comply with such a disapproval or recommendation.

Opinion

In our opinion the bill, if enacted, would be subject to attack upon constitutional grounds, and we doubt that it would be held to be constitutional.

Analysis

(1) Detailed Explanation of Bill

The bill recognizes the existence of the Conservation Committee of California Oil Producers. So far as we can discover this committee is not an official agency of the State. We assume, therefore, that it is a private, rather than a public, organization. We do not think that the mere recognition of the existence of the committee would be construed as constituting it an official state agency and its members state officers. Such a recognition would lack practically all of the elements of the creation of an official body, such as membership, method of selection, and tenure. If the Legislature intends to create the committee as a state agency the usual procedure for creating such an agency is available. The fact that it did not follow such procedure would seem to indicate that it had no intention of creating an official body.

The bill then recites that for a number of years last past the committee has made recommendations of the kind described in the bill and further provides that "the Legislature declares that such recommendations are in the interest of the conservation of the oil and gas resources of the State and that it is lawful for said committee to issue such recommendations." (Emphasis added.) At this point we enter into an area of uncertainty as to the meaning of the bill. The first "such" refers back to the recommendations of maximum efficient rates of production and intrapool distribution thereof. Since the present tense includes the past and future tenses (Sec. 11, P.R.C.), the word "are", therefore, means "have been, are, and will be." The first part of the quoted provision, therefore, may be transposed to read that the recommendations have been, are, and will continue to be in the interests of conservation.

The second part of the quoted provision is, in effect, that the Legislature declares that it is lawful for the committee to issue such recommendations. Therefore, continuing with this approach to the problem, what the bill has said to this point is, in effect, that the committee has issued and will continue to issue recommendations which the Legislature declares have been, are and will continue to be in the interests of conservation and that it has been, still is, and will continue to be lawful for the committee to issue recommendations of that kind.

The next provision, in the bill, is that the Legislature declares that it is lawful for producers of oil to comply therewith or to agree to comply therewith. The word "therewith" in both cases refers back to "such recommendations", including the past, present and future recommendations of the committee. There follows a proviso which conditions the declaration that it is lawful for the producers to comply or to agree to comply with the recommendations. The conditions are (a) that copies of such recommendations shall be currently delivered to the supervisor and open to public inspection, and (b) that the committee shall make available to the supervisor the records, files, minutes and reports pertaining to such recommendations.

As to past recommendations the first condition apparently cannot be met. The term "shall be" expresses simple futurity. The term "currently" apparently means, with reference to the recommendations, currently with the making thereof. Since the future tense does not include the past the term "shall be" does not include "shall have been." Without the word "currently" the conditions could be met, as to past transactions, by future compliance However, it seems to us that the presence of the word "currently" in the conditions precludes construing the intent of the bill to be to validate past contracts.

At this point, therefore, we must abandon any idea that the bill is intended to operate retrospectively so as to make past contracts lawful and must construe the bill as being intended to operate prospectively, as statutes ordinarily do. (Aetna Casualty and Surety Company vs. Industrial Accident Commission, 30 Cal. 2d 388).*

The bill then provides that the supervisor may, in his discretion, join in or express his disapproval of the recommendations. If the supervisor joins in, the recommendations presumably would acquire something of an official status. However, his joining in the recommendations is not necessary and his disapproval is given no force. These provisions, therefore, do not restrict the preceding provisions of the bill.

The bill then provides that in the absence of such recommendations by the committee, or if the supervisor deems the recommendations of the committee insufficient, he may issue recommendations with respect to any such pool on said subject matter. The bill does not specify what, if any, effect the recommendations of the supervisor will have upon the lawfulness of the agreements to comply with the committee's recommendations. These provisions, also, do not restrict the preceding provisions of the bill.

The last sentence of the bill provides that neither a disapproval or a recommendation of the supervisor shall constitute a basis for implying any obligation for oil producers to comply with such a disapproval or recommendation. These provisions, also, do not restrict the preceding provisions of the bill.

The net effect of the bill, therefore, is that the committee will be able to make recommendations as to rates of production and the intrapool distribution of such rates as to oil pools as to which capacity production would result in loss of ultimate production. The recommendations will be filed with the supervisor and the committee's records and data relating to the recommendations will be available to him. The supervisor, however, will have no specific duties with respect to such recommendations and no effective control over them. The oil producers then may comply or agree to comply with the recommendations and if they do so it will be lawful under the bill.

(2) Effect of Bill

Whether or not such an agreement is unlawful under the present law is a matter which, so far as we know, has not been determined. Such an agreement may, or may not, constitute a combination to limit or reduce the production of a commodity under the Cartwright Anti-Trust Law (Sec. 16720, B. & P. C.). The effect of the bill would be that as to agreements made in conformity with the bill the producers would be given some measure of protection not afforded to producers who entered into agreements for the same purpose which were not made in conformity with the bill.

* Since the bill, taken as a whole, clearly indicates the Legislature's intention to cover future recommendations of the committee, we have not considered here the question whether the bill could be sustained if drafted so as to validate past recommendations and past agreements only.

Provision is made in the existing law that whenever the State Oil and Gas Supervisor finds that it is in the interest of the protection of oil or gas from unreasonable waste, the persons owning or controlling interests in the separate properties of the same oil or gas field, including lessors and operators, may, with the approval of the supervisor, enter into agreements for the purpose of bringing about the cooperative development and operation of the field (P. R. C. 3301). Presumably, recommendations under S.B. 1558 could be inconsistent with an agreement made pursuant to the foregoing existing law. Moreover, the recommendations could be inconsistent with the provisions of existing law with respect to the prevention of the unreasonable waste of natural gas (P. R. C. 3300-3359).

While S.B. 1558 declares that the agreements referred to are lawful when in compliance with the recommendations of the committee, the bill does not specify the purposes for which they are to be lawful, nor the existing provisions of law to be abrogated. Presumably, the agreements would be lawful despite the Cartwright Anti-Trust Law and also the conservation laws referred to. The agreements are specifically made lawful between the producers who are parties thereto. The bill is silent as to whether or not they would be lawful as between the producers and others, for example, in a situation where the producer was also under a lease which called for a rate of production greater than the recommended rate.

We doubt that the bill could constitutionally be construed to make "lawful" contracts that would affect rights of land owners and others which antedated such contracts. In this respect the bill would be something like the act involved in Hornblower vs. Masonic Cemetery Association, 191 Cal. 83. In that case the statute, known as the Morris Act, authorized a cemetery association to abandon its cemetery by resolution of its governing body ratified by a majority vote of the lot owners. The appellant was an owner of one of the cemetery lots. After stating that the Legislature, itself, in the exercise of the police power, could compel the removal of the bodies and the abandonment of the cemetery, thus terminating the right of the lot owners to their continued existence, the court pointed out that under the act the cemetery could be maintained as long as the trustees desired to do so. The court thus said:

> "The Morris Act is nothing more or less than an enabling act. It neither commands nor prohibits, but provides, in effect, that these cemeteries may be either abandoned or continued at the discretion of their governing bodies, and leaves that discretion uncontrolled and unguided. Its effect, as construed by respondent, would be to make the property right of appellant, resting in a contract executed upon a valuable consideration, subject to destruction at the will of others. This can not be done." (p. 91, 191 Cal.).

The most serious constitutional problem presented by the bill is that it would vest in a private body designated by name the sole authority to make the recommendations which furnish the basis for dispensing with conflicting provisions of law. Such a provision would seem on its face to violate the provisions of the California Constitution that "all laws of a general nature shall have a uniform operation" (Const., Art. I, Sec. 11), that "the Legislature shall not pass * * * special laws * * * granting to any corporation, association, or individual any special or exclusive right, privilege, or immunity" (Const. Art. IV, Sec. 25, subd. 19; and see Art. I, Sec. 21), and that "the Legislature shall not pass * * * special laws * * * in * * * cases where a general law can be made applicable" (Const., Art. IV, Sec. 25, subd. 33).

So, it has been held that the Legislature may not in licensing the practice of accounting grant an exemption to corporations engaged in such practice for a period of three years prior to the effective date of the statute and exclude all other corporations from such practice (Accounting Corporation of America vs. State Board of Accountancy, 34 Cal. 2d 186). Said the court:

> "The presumption of validity to which every statute is entitled will not alone compel the sustaining of a statutory provision which can only be characterized as arbitrary. Forbearance by the courts from hasty invalidation of legislation is imperative, but a statute which permits some corporations to continue operations as public accountants while denying others that privilege where no reasonable grounds exist for such favoritism, denies equal protection to the excluded corporations and grants unlawful special privileges to the favored." (34 Cal. 2d, at 191; see State ex rel. Davies vs. White (Nev. 1913), 136 Pac. 110).

On the basis of the constitutional provisions cited, as interpreted by our Supreme Court, we conclude that the provisions of S.B. 1558 would be held unconstitutional.

In accordance with Article IV, Section 34, of the Constitution, the Governor presented the following communication recommending the consideration of Assembly Bill No. 146:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE
SACRAMENTO, March 10, 1955

To the Honorable Members of the Assembly

GENTLEMEN:

Assembly Bill No. 146, "An act to amend Sections 430.2, 430.4, 430.6, and 432.3 of, and to add Sections 430.9, 430.10, 430.11, and 430.12 to, and to repeal Section 432.6, as added by Chapter 327 of the Statutes of 1947, of, the Health and Safety Code, relating to the survey and construction of hospitals, declaring the urgency thereof, to take effect immediately," in my opinion constitutes an emergency bill within the meaning of that term as used in Section 34 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California, the consideration of which should not await the final enactment of the Budget Bill.

It is necessary that the money be appropriated by this bill to take advantage of federal grants which are available, and in order to promote the construction of hospital facilities within the State at as early a date as is possible.

It is desirable that this measure be enacted early in the session, and I therefore recommend its consideration before final action on the budget.

Respectfully submitted.

GOODWIN J. KNIGHT, Governor

Recommendation of the Governor

In accordance with Article IV, Section 34, of the Constitution, the Governor presented the following communication recommending the consideration of Assembly Bill No. 735:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE
SACRAMENTO, April 11, 1955

To the Honorable Members of the Assembly

GENTLEMEN:

Assembly Bill No. 735, "An act to add Chapter 18.5 to Division 3 of the Education Code, relating to advance apportionments to junior college districts formed to include high school districts maintaining junior colleges, declaring the urgency thereof, to take effect immediately," in my opinion constitutes an emergency bill within the meaning of that term as used in Section 34 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California, the consideration of which should not await the final enactment of the Budget Bill.

It will be necessary to pass this bill to make money available for advance to newly formed junior college districts. There are in the state such districts seriously in need of receiving such funds at once.

Respectfully submitted.

APPOINTMENT OF SELECT COMMITTEE

Speaker Lincoln announced the appointment of Mr. Stanley as a Select Committee to escort to the rostrum Roger Lauer, a student from San Clemente, who has just won a state-wide oratorical contest.

RECESS

At 11.02 a.m., on motion of Mr. Stanley, the Assembly recessed until 11.05 a.m. to hear remarks from Roger Lauer of San Clemente.

REASSEMBLED

At 11.05 a.m., the Assembly reconvened.

Hon. L. H. Lincoln, Speaker of the Assembly, presiding.

Chief Clerk Arthur A. Ohnimus at the desk.

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT THAT ESSAY BE PRINTED IN JOURNAL

Mr. Gaffney asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent that the essay on "Why I Want To Own My Own Home," as presented by Roger Lauer, state-wide student oratorical winner, be ordered printed in the Journal, in 10-point type, as follows:

WHY I WANT TO OWN MY OWN HOME

By Roger Lauer

I want to own my own home because it would answer many of my needs.

Since time immemorial most living beings on this fair planet of ours have had a need for a place to live, a place where they could be secure and raise their families. The birds build their nests, the moles burrow their homes deep in the ground, the lions seek safety in their dens, while man seeks shelter in a house.

Down through the ages this desire has never changed. I am not an exception to this natural longing for a home. In 10 or 15 years, I, like millions of others, hope to be able to achieve this dream.

Like my forefathers I seek safety and protection from natural hazards and a place which will be a haven for me and my loved ones. I am indeed fortunate to live in a land where such things are possible.

Like my fellow man I must have friends, neighbors, and be part of the community. All these things are mine when I own a home.

From a practical or financial point of view the ownership of a home is also a good investment. When you rent or lease a house and later move out you don't have anything to show for it. When you buy a house you can sell it years later and still get a large portion, if not all of your money back.

I hope some day to own a home. A home where my family and I can relax and be free to do the things we enjoy. For enjoyment and happiness are what make a house a home.

This is why I wish some day to be the proud owner of a home.

Recommendation of the Governor

In accordance with Article IV, Section 34, of the Constitution, the Governor presented the following communication recommending the consideration of Assembly Bill No. 154:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE
SACRAMENTO, April 4, 1955

To the Honorable Members of the Assembly
Sacramento, California
GENTLEMEN:

Assembly Bill No. 154, "An act making an appropriation to the University of California for air pollution research, to take effect immediately," in my opinion constitutes an emergency bill within the meaning of that term as used in Section 34 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California, the consideration of which should not await the final enactment of the Budget Bill.

The money heretofore made available for the university for its research on air pollution is exhausted and it is necessary that this appropriation measure be passed without delay in order that the research can continue without interruption.

It is desirable that this measure be enacted early in the session, and I therefore recommend its consideration before final action on the budget.

Respectfully submitted.

790.07. (a) Any person required by an order of the commissioner under Section 790.06 to cease and desist from engaging in any unfair method of competition or any unfair or deceptive act or practice may obtain a review of such order by filing in the superior court of the proper county, within twenty days from the date of the service of such order, a written petition praying that the order of the commissioner be set aside A copy of such petition shall be forthwith served upon the commissioner, and thereupon the commissioner forthwith shall certify and file in such court a transcript of the entire record in the proceeding, including all the evidence taken and the report and order of the commissioner Upon such filing of the petition and transcript such court shall have jurisdiction of the proceeding and of the question determined therein, shall determine whether the filing of such petition shall operate as a stay of such order of the commissioner, and shall have power to make and enter upon the pleadings, evidence, and proceedings set forth in such transcript a decree modifying, affirming or reversing the order of the commissioner, in whole or in part. The findings of the commissioner as to the facts, if supported by the weight of the evidence, shall be conclusive

(b) To the extent that the order of the commissioner is affirmed, the court shall thereupon issue its own order commanding obedience to the terms of such order of the commissioner If either party shall apply to the court for leave to adduce additional evidence and shall show to the satisfaction of the court that such additional evidence is material and that there were reasonable grounds for the failure to adduce such evidence in the proceeding before the commissioner, the court may order such additional evidence to be taken before the commissioner and to be adduced upon the hearing in such manner and upon such terms and conditions as to the court may seem proper. The commissioner may modify his findings of fact, or make new findings by reason of the additional evidence so taken, and he shall file such modified or new findings which, if supported by the weight of the evidence shall be conclusive, and his recommendation, if any, for the modification or setting aside of his original order, with the return of such additional evidence.

(d) No order of the commissioner under this article or order of a court to enforce the same shall in any way relieve or absolve any person affected by such order from any liability under any other laws of this State.

790.08. (a) Whenever the commissioner shall have reason to believe that any person engaged in the business of insurance is engaging in this State in any method of competition or in any act or practice in the conduct of such business which is not defined in Section 790.03, that such method of competition is unfair or that such act or practice is unfair or deceptive and that a proceeding by him in respect thereto would be to the interest of the public, he may issue and serve upon such person a statement of the charges in that respect and a notice of a hearing thereon to be held at a time and place fixed in the notice, which shall not be less than 10 days after the date of the service thereof Each such hearing shall be conducted in the same manner as the hearings provided for in Section 790.05. The commissioner shall, after such hearing, make a report in writing in which he shall state his findings as to the facts, and he shall serve a copy thereof upon such person.

(b) If such report charges a violation of this article and if such method of competition, act or practice has not been discontinued, the commissioner may, through the Attorney General of this State, at any time after 30 days after the service of such report cause a petition to be filed in the superior court of this State within the county wherein the person resides or has his principal place of business, to enjoin and restrain such person from engaging in such method, act or practice. The court shall have jurisdiction of the proceeding and shall have power to make and enter appropriate orders in connection therewith and to issue such writs as are ancillary to its jurisdiction or are necessary in its judgment to prevent injury to the public pendente lite

(c) A transcript of the proceedings before the commissioner, including all evidence taken and the report and findings shall be filed with such petition. If either party shall apply to the court for leave to adduce additional evidence and shall show, to the satisfaction of the court, that such additional evidence is material and there were reasonable grounds for the failure to adduce such evidence in the proceeding before the commissioner, the court may order such additional evidence to be taken before the commissioner and to be adduced upon the hearing in such manner and upon such terms and conditions as to the court may seem proper. The commissioner may modify his findings of fact or make new findings by reason of the additional evidence so taken, and he shall file such modified or new findings with the return of such additional evidence.

(d) If the court finds that the method of competition complained of is unfair or that the act or practice complained of is unfair or deceptive, that the proceeding by the commissioner with respect thereto is to the interest of the public and that the findings of the commissioner are supported by the weight of the evidence, it shall issue its order enjoining and restraining the continuance of such method of competition, act or practice.

790.09. If the report of the commissioner does not charge a violation of this article, then any intervenor in the proceedings may within 20 days after the service of such report, cause a petition to be filed in the Superior Court of the City and County of San Francisco for a review of such report. Upon such review, the court shall have authority to issue appropriate orders and decrees in connection therewith, including, if the court finds that it is to the interest of the public, orders enjoining and restraining the continuance of any method of competition, act or practice which it finds, notwithstanding such report of the commissioner, constitutes a violation of this article.

790.1. Any person who violates a cease and desist order of the commissioner under Section 790.06, after it has become final, and while such order is in effect, shall, upon proof thereof to the satisfaction of the court forfeit and pay to the State of California a sum not to exceed fifty dollars ($50), which may be recovered in a civil action, except that, if such violation is found to be wilful, the amount of such penalty shall be a sum not to exceed five hundred dollars ($500).

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolution was offered:

By Messrs. Erwin and Thomas J. Doyle:

House Resolution No. 124

Relative to congratulating the El Monte Herald on its 50 years in the newspaper business

WHEREAS, The El Monte Herald has been instrumental in the history of El Monte, California, for the past 50 years; and

WHEREAS, Its predecessor, the El Monte Gazette, published the first issue of this then infant tabloid on June 10, 1905, a now time-yellowed edition of four pages, which was printed in the days when type was hand-set and "going to press" was a great chore; and

WHEREAS, On July 13, 1923, the present editor, Mr. Neil Murray, and his wife, Merle, published the first issue under the name "El Monte Herald," which was eight pages in length; they were complimented for this splendid edition, but were assured that they could not continue publishing such a large paper in a small town, which assurance was disproved as the Herald thrived and grew in importance; and

WHEREAS, Mr Murray had been a city editor of the Omaha Daily News the Atlantic News-Telegraph, and the New York Tribune, he brought this vast experience in the metropolitan journalism field to El Monte, which showed itself in the great growth and stature of the newspaper in the area; and

WHEREAS, Mrs Murray became society editor and devoted a full page to the coverage of news of interest to women, which was the only weekly in California to publish a woman's page devoted entirely to news; and

WHEREAS, The El Monte Herald has always taken an active part in the progress of the community, backing all constructive enterprises for the growth and development of the area, fighting unceasingly for what was believed to be in the best interests of the community, and its editorial policy has always upheld the ideals embraced in its slogan, "Clean, Constructive and Comprehensive;" and

WHEREAS, The El Monte Herald has recently become a semi-weekly newspaper to keep pace with the tremendous growth of the community, having received many awards as one of the best national weekly newspapers; and

WHEREAS, The El Monte Herald has actively participated in the last 50 years which have formed such an integral part in the history that has built El Monte into its present thriving and prosperous era, continually striving to work for the best interest of El Monte and its wonderful people, now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Assembly hereby extends to the El Monte Herald its heartiest congratulations upon its history of 50 glorious years in the newspaper business; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly is hereby directed to transmit a suitably prepared copy of this resolution to the publishers of the El Monte Herald, Mr. and Mrs. Neil R. Murray.

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT THAT LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL BE PRINTED IN JOURNAL

Mr. Lindsay asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent that a letter of transmittal be ordered printed in the Journal, in 10-point type, as follows:

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL

ASSEMBLY CHAMBER, STATE CAPITOL
SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, April 13, 1955

HON. L. H. LINCOLN
Speaker of the Assembly; and
MEMBERS OF THE ASSEMBLY
Assembly Chamber, Sacramento, California

GENTLEMEN: The hearings and investigations upon which this report and proposed legislation are based were conducted by Assemblyman Don Hobbie, Chairman of the Subcommittee on County and Community Planning. Because of the illness of Mr. Hobbie, it is my responsibility and pleasure to submit this report, prepared in accordance with House Resolution No. 177, 1953, for the consideration of the Legislature.

Foresight is an essential ingredient of good government as it is in good business, but foresight is not achieved without effort. All large-scale modern enterprise, whether public or private, calls for special organs or agencies of a staff nature to advise legislative and executive policy makers. The legislation submitted with this report makes such provision and estimates its cost to the State. That this cost is small in comparison to the immediate and future growth of the State and the planning problems which must be solved to make this a healthy growth is demonstrated in this report.

I believe it significant that the legislation submitted herein is the product of public and private citizens who face the day to day responsibilities of planning our physical development. On behalf of Mr. Hobbie I wish to thank these representatives who have assisted the subcommittee in its investigation and in the preparation of the legislation.

Respectfully submitted.

FRANCIS C. LINDSAY, Chairman
Assembly Interim Committee on Conservation, Planning, and Public Works
MEMBERS OF THE SUBCOMMITTEE
DON HOBBIE, Chairman
BRUCE F. ALLEN
MRS. PAULINE L. DAVIS
VERNON KILPATRICK
L. H. LINCOLN

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT THAT LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL AND REPORT BE PRINTED AS SEPARATE DOCUMENT

Mr. Lindsay asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent that the above letter of transmittal, and a report with supplemental material of the Subcommittee on County and Community Planning, as presented by a Subcommittee of the Assembly Interim Committee on Conservation, Planning, and Public Works, be ordered printed, as a separate document, in 10-point type, and that 1,000 copies be printed.

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolution was offered:

By Mr. Bee:

House Resolution No. 126

Relative to congratulating Mr. and Mrs William Bowman

WHEREAS, It has come to the attention of the Assembly that one of Hayward's outstanding citizens, Mr. William Bowman, has been awarded a national honor by the Brand Name Foundation; and

WHEREAS, The secret of success of Bowman's Camera Store has been due to its policy of dealing in well-known nationally advertised branded merchandise exclusively; and

WHEREAS, Within the past two decades William Bowman has spent many hours away from his business serving his community as a Director of the City Planning Commission, a Director of the Hayward Chamber of Commerce, Chairman of the Advisory Board of the Hayward Area Recreation Commission, and an active member and former President of the Hayward Lions Club; and

WHEREAS, These many activities and business affairs would consume all the time of an ordinarily busy person, including time devoted to a family, but Bill Bowman has done all this and still found time to be extremely active in camera club promotion work and pursue his hobbies, among which are photography and traveling; and

WHEREAS, His wife, Florence, has shared in the many problems encountered in the establishment and growth of this noteworthy enterprise, has blessed him with two handsome sons, and has constantly been his guiding inspiration; and

WHEREAS, This is the second consecutive year that this aggressive young businessman has received such an award as a Brand Name Retailer-of-the-Year, given for outstanding year-round presentation of manufacturers' brand name products to the public; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Assembly hereby extends its heartiest congratulations to William and Florence Bowman upon the selection of Bowman's Camera Store as a Brand Name Retailer-of-the-Year award winner; and be it further Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly transmit a suitable copy of this resolution to Mr. and Mrs. William Bowman.

If such notice seeks to prevent the transfer or other disposition of a deposit in a bank or other credits or personal property in the possession or under the control of a bank, the notice to be effective shall be delivered or mailed to the branch or office of such bank at which such deposit is carried or at which such credits or personal property is held.

The referee shall give at least 20 days' notice* [Notice] of the time and place of [such] the hearing [must be mailed at least 15 days in advance thereof, and may be sent] by registered mail addressed to the last known address of the delinquent[.] and by delivering or mailing the notice to the director. In the event the delinquent employer or his representative does not appear at the hearing or if an appearance is made but the delinquent employer does not establish to the satisfaction of the referee that the amount of contributions, interest and penalties claimed to be due is erroneous, the director may, after the referee's decision becomes final, file the certificate provided for in this article. The referee shall render a decision in the matter. The delinquent employer and the director shall be promptly notified of the referee's decision, together with his reasons therefor.

(b) The referee's decision shall be final unless, within 30 days after the mailing of the decision, the delinquent employer or the director files an appeal to the Appeals Board. [Prior to the filing of such certificate the delinquent employer or the director may appeal to the Appeals Board if the appeal is filed within 10 days of the mailing of the referee's decision, which time] This appeal period may be extended [for] where good cause is found to exist by the Appeals Board. If an appeal is not filed within the 30-day period, or within the additional period granted by the Appeals Board, the decision of the referee upon a petition becomes final at the expiration of the period. If the decision of the Appeals Board on an appeal finds that the delinquent employer has not established that the contributions, interest and penalties sought to be collected are erroneous, the director may file the certificate provided for in this article. [The hearing provided in this section shall not be required before the filing of a certificate if the employer has previously been afforded a full hearing before the Appeals Board, but if the employer files an affidavit setting forth new and additional evidence to establish that the contributions, interest and penalties sought to be collected are erroneous, the Appeals Board may grant an additional hearing.]

1. For the common benefit of the district as a whole; or

2. For the benefit of two or more proposed zones hereinafter referred to as participating zones, or

3. For the benefit of a single proposed zone to be established in the manner hereinafter provided.

The board may institute projects for single zones and joint projects for two or more zones, for the financing, constructing, maintaining, operating, extending, repairing or otherwise improving any work or improvement of common benefit to such zone or participating zones For the purpose of acquiring authority to proceed with any such project, and for the formation of any zone or zones, the board shall adopt a resolution specifying its intention to form a zone or zones and to undertake such project, together with the engineering estimates of the cost of same to be borne by a particular proposed zone and the proposed apportionment of said cost upon territory within same and in the case of participating zones the proportionate cost to be borne by each of the participating zones and fixing a time and place for public hearing of said resolution and which shall refer to a map or maps showing the boundaries of the proposed zone or zones and the general location and general construction of said project Notice of such hearing shall be given by publication once a week for two consecutive weeks prior to said hearing, the last publication of which notice must be at least seven (7) days before said hearing, in a newspaper of general circulation, circulated in such proposed zone or each of said proposed participating zones, if there be such newspaper, and if there be no such newspaper then by posting notice for two consecutive weeks prior to said hearing in five public places designated by the board, in such zone or in each of said proposed participating zones. Said notice must designate a public place in such proposed zone or in each of said proposed participating zones where a copy or copies of the map or maps of said project or joint project may be seen by any interested person, and said map must be posted in each of said public places so designated in said notice at least two weeks prior to said hearing. Notice of said hearing shall also be given in writing to the city council of each city wholly or partially included within a proposed zone, by letter addressed to the city clerk of such city or cities.

At the time and place fixed for the hearing, or at any time to which said hearings may be continued, the board shall consider all written protests or objections to the proposed project. Each such objection or protest shall include the description and assessed valuation of the property owned by the protestant. Upon the conclusion of the hearing the board may proceed with the proposed project, unless prior to the conclusion of said hearing a written protest against the proposed project signed by a majority in number of the holders of title to real property, or assessable rights therein, or evidence of title thereto, representing one-half or more of the assessed valuation of the real property within such zone or within any of the participating zones of which said project was initiated, be filed with the board, in which event, unless said protests are overruled by an affirmative vote of four-fifths of the members of the board, further proceedings relating to such project must be suspended for not less than six months following the date of the conclusion of said hearing and a new hearing held thereafter, or said proceeding may be abandoned, in the discretion of the board However, if the city council of any city whose territory lies wholly or partially within a proposed zone, which territory will bear a majority of the cost of the proposed project, protests against being included in the proposed zone, said project shall be abandoned and may not be renewed for at least six months

In all matters in this section referred to, the last equalized assessment roll of the County of San Mateo next preceding the filing of the protest shall be prima facie evidence as to the ownership of real property, the names and number of the persons who are the holders of title or evidence of title, or assessable rights therein, and as to the assessed valuation of real property within the zone or within any of the participating zones for which the project was initiated.

Executors, administrators, special administrators and guardians may sign the protest provided for in this act on behalf of the estate represented by them If the property is assessed in the name of such representatives, that fact shall establish the right of such representatives to sign the protest; if assessed in the name of the decedent, minor or incompetent person, certified copies of the letters or such other evidence as may be satisfactory to the board must be produced.

Where real property appears to be owned in common or jointly or by a partnership, or where letters of representatives of decedents, minors or guardians are joint, only one of the owners or representatives or partners need sign the protest for all joint owners or representatives or partners; provided, the party claiming the right to protest for all produces the written consent of his co-owners or representatives or partners so to do, duly acknowledged by the consenting co-owners or representatives or partners in the manner that deeds of real property are required to be acknowledged to entitle such deeds to be recorded in the recorder's office of the county.

Where real property is assessed in the name of a trustee or trustees, such trustee or trustees shall be deemed to be the person entitled to sign the protest, and if assessed in the name of more than one trustee the right to sign the protest shall be determined in like manner as above provided with respect to co-owners.

The protest of any public or quasi-public corporation, private corporation or unincorporated association, may be signed by any person authorized by the board of directors or trustees or other managing body thereof, which authorization shall be in writing; and a proxy executed by an officer or officers thereof, attested by its seal and duly acknowledged, shall constitute sufficient evidence of such authority, and shall be filed with the board.

The owner of any real property or interest therein, appearing upon the assessment roll, which has been assessed in the wrong name or to unknown owners, or which has passed from the owner appearing as such on the last equalized assessment roll, since the same was made, shall be entitled to sign the protest represented thereby, either by the production of a proxy from such former owner, or by furnishing evidence of his ownership by a conveyance duly acknowledged showing the title to be vested in the person claiming the right to sign the protest, accompanied by a certificate of a competent searcher of titles, certifying that a search of the official records of the county, since the date of the conveyance, discloses no conveyance or transfer out from the grantee or transferee named in the conveyance.

Where the real property has been contracted to be sold, the vendee shall be entitled to sign the protest, unless such real property is assessed in the name of the vendor, in which event the vendor shall be entitled to do so.

The board shall likewise be entitled to inquire and take evidence for the purpose of identifying any person claiming the right to sign the protest as being the person shown on the assessment roll or otherwise as entitled thereto. And, unless satisfactory evidence is furnished, the right to sign said protest may be denied.

SEC. 11. If the board determines to proceed with the proposed project and the formation of the proposed zone or zones, it shall adopt a resolution and order establishing such zone or zones and defining the boundaries thereof. Said zone or zones shall be deemed established from and after the date of said adoption. However, before taxes or assessments as hereinabove provided for may be levied therein, compliance must be had with the provisions of Government Code Sections 54900, and following

The board may expend proceeds of the general administrative tax, provided for in Section 8, subdivision 1 hereof, for engineering and other preliminary incidental expenses in connection with projects in any particular zone; provided, however, that such expenditures shall be repaid into the general administrative fund of the district by the zone or zones for whose benefit such expenditures are made as provided in Section 18 hereof.

For the purpose of financing the work on the project or projects determined upon the board may levy the taxes or assessments provided for in Section 8, subdivisions 2 and 3 of this act, or issue bonds therefor after an election as hereinafter provided. The proceeds of the taxes, assessments or bonds may be accumulated over a period of years before being expended. Annual taxes or assessments may be levied for the purpose of maintaining or repairing such works or projects as are constructed or acquired pursuant to a hearing as provided for in Section 10 hereof, without the necessity of holding further hearings.

SEC. 12. (1) Whenever the board determines that a bonded indebtedness should be incurred to pay the cost of any work or improvement in any zone or zones, the board may by resolution, determine and declare the respective amounts of bonds necessary to be issued in each zone in order to raise the amount of money necessary for each work or improvement and the denomination and the maximum rate of interest of said bonds. The board shall cause a copy of the resolution, duly certified by the clerk, to be filed for record in the Office of the Recorder of San Mateo County within five (5) days after its issuance. From and after said filing of said copy of said resolution the board shall be deemed vested with the authority to proceed with the bond election.

(2) After the filing for record of the resolution specified in subdivision (1) of this section, the board may call a special bond election in said zone or participating zones at which shall be submitted to the qualified electors of said zone or participating zones the question whether or not bonds shall be issued in the amount or amounts determined in said resolution and for the purpose or purposes therein stated. Said bonds and the interest thereon shall be paid from revenue derived from annual taxes or assessments levied.

(3) Said board shall call such special bond election by ordinance and not otherwise and submit to the qualified electors of said zone or participating zones, the proposition of incurring a bonded debt in said zone or participating zones in the amount and for the purposes stated in said resolution and shall recite therein the objects and purposes for which the indebtedness is proposed to be incurred; provided, that it shall be sufficient to give a brief, general description of such objects and purposes, and refer to the recorded copy of such resolution adopted by said board, and on file for particulars; and said ordinance shall also state the estimated cost of the proposed work and improvements, the amount of the principal of the indebtedness to be incurred therefor, and the maximum rate of interest to be paid on said indebtedness, and shall fix the date on which such special election shall be held, and the form and contents of the ballot to be used. The rate of interest to be paid on such indebtedness shall not exceed five percent (5%) per annum. For the purposes of said election, said board shall in said ordinance establish special bond election precincts within the boundaries of each zone and participating zone and may form election precincts by consolidating the precincts established for general elections in said district to a number not exceeding six general precincts for each such special bond election precinct, and shall designate a polling place and appoint one inspector, one judge and one clerk for each of such special bond election precincts.

In all particulars not recited in said ordinance, such special bond election shall be held as nearly as practicable in conformity with the General Election Laws of the State.

Said board shall cause a map or maps to be prepared covering a general description of the work to be done, which said map shall show the location of the proposed works and improvements and shall cause the said map to be posted in a prominent place in the county courthouse for public inspection for at least thirty (30) days before the date fixed for such election.

Said ordinance calling for such special bond election shall, prior to the date set for such election, be published in a newspaper of general circulation circulated in each zone and participating zone affected for six consecutive times if published in a daily newspaper of general circulation, or two times if published in a weekly newspaper of general circulation. The last publication of such ordinance must be at least fourteen (14) days before said election, and if there be no such newspaper, then such ordinance shall be posted in five public places designated by the board, in each zone and participating zone for at least thirty (30) days before the date fixed for such election. No other notice of such election need be given nor need polling place cards be issued.

Any defect or irregularity in the proceedings prior to the calling of such special bond election shall not affect the validity of the bonds authorized by said election. Where a project affects a single zone only, if at such election two-thirds (⅔) of the votes cast in said zone on the proposition of incurring a bonded indebtedness are in favor thereof, then bonds for such zone for the amount stated in such proceedings shall be issued and sold as in this act provided. Where the incurring of bonded indebtedness by participating zones is to be determined at such election, no bonds for any of such participating zones shall be issued or sold unless two-thirds (⅔) of the votes cast on the proposition in each such participating zone are in favor of incurring the bonded indebtedness to be undertaken by such zone.

SEC. 13. The board shall, subject to the provisions of this act, prescribe by resolution the form of said bonds, which must include a designation of the zone or participating zone affected, and of the interest coupons attached thereto. Said bonds shall be payable annually or semiannually at the discretion of the board each and every year on a day and date, and at a place to be fixed by said board, and designated in such bonds, together with the interest on all sums unpaid on such date until the whole of said indebtedness shall have been paid.

The board may divide the principal amount of any issue into two or more series and fix different dates for the bonds of each series. The bonds of one series may be made payable at different times from those of any other series. The maturity of each series shall comply with this section. The board may fix a date, not more than two years from the date of issuance, for the earliest maturity of each issue or series of bonds. Beginning with the date of the earliest maturity of each issue or series, not less than one-fortieth of the indebtedness of such issue or series shall be paid every year. The final maturity date shall not exceed 40 years from the time of incurring the indebtedness evidenced by each issue or series.

The bonds shall be issued in such denominations as the board may determine, except that no bonds shall be of a less denomination than one hundred dollars ($100), nor of a greater denomination than one thousand dollars ($1,000), and shall be payable on the days and at the place fixed in said bonds, and with interest at the rate specified in such bonds, which rate shall not be in excess of five percentum (5%) per annum, and shall be made payable annually or semiannually, and said bonds shall be numbered consecutively and shall be signed by the chairman of the board, and countersigned by the controller of said district, and the seal of said district shall be affixed thereto by the clerk of the board Either or both such signatures may be printed, engraved or lithographed. The interest coupons of said bonds shall be numbered consecutively and signed by the said controller by his printed, engraved or lithographed signature. In case any such officers whose signatures or countersignatures appear on the bonds or coupons shall cease to be such officer before the delivery of such bonds to the purchaser, such bonds and coupons, and signatures or countersignatures shall nevertheless be valid and sufficient for all purposes the same as if such officer had remained in office until the delivery of the bonds.

SEC 14. The said board of supervisors may issue and sell the bonds of such district zones authorized as hereinbefore provided at not less than par value, and the proceeds of the sale of such bonds shall be placed in the treasury of the County of San Mateo to the credit of said district for the uses and purposes of the zone voting said bonds, and the proper record of such transactions shall be placed upon the books of said county treasurer, and said respective zone funds shall be applied exclusively to the purposes and objects mentioned in the ordinance calling such special bond election as aforesaid, subject to the provisions in this act contained. Payments from said zone fund shall be made upon demands prepared, presented, allowed and audited in the same manner as demands upon the funds of the County of San Mateo.

SEC. 15. No zone nor the property therein shall be liable for the bonded indebtedness of any other zone, nor shall any moneys derived from taxation or assessments in any of the several zones be used in payment of principal or interest or otherwise of the bonded indebtedness chargeable to any other zone

SEC. 16. The board of supervisors shall levy a tax or assessment each year upon all the taxable property in the zone of issuance sufficient to pay the interest upon said bonds for that year, and such portion of the principal thereof as is to become due before the time for making the next general tax levy. Such tax shall be levied and collected in the zone of issuance together with and not separately from taxes for county purposes, and when collected shall be paid into the county treasury of said San Mateo County to the credit of the zone of issuance, and be used for the payment of the principal and interest on said bonds and for no other purpose. The principal and interest on said bonds shall be paid by the county treasurer of said San Mateo County in the manner provided by law for the payment of principal and interest on bonds of said county.

SEC. 17. SEC. 2. Chapter 2.5 is added to Division 20 of said code, to read:

CHAPTER 2.5. BAY AREA AIR POLLUTION CONTROL DISTRICT

Article 1 Short Title

24345 This chapter may be cited and shall be known as the Bay Area Air Pollution Control Law.

Article 2. Declaration of Policy

24346. The Legislature finds and declares that the people of the State of California have a primary interest in atmospheric purity and freedom of the air from any air contaminants and that there is pollution of the atmosphere in certain portions of the State which is detrimental to the public peace, health, safety, and welfare of the people of the State.

24346.1 The Legislature further finds and declares:

(a) That in portions of the State the air is polluted with smoke, charred paper, dust, soot, grime, carbon, noxious acids, fumes, gases, odors, particulate matter, and other air contaminants

(b) That it is not practical or feasible to prevent or reduce such air contaminants by local county and city ordinances.

(c) That it is necessary, therefore, to provide for air pollution control districts in those portions of the State where regulations are necessary and feasible to reduce air contaminants in order to safeguard life, health, property and the public welfare and to make possible the comfortable enjoyment of life and property.

34346.2. The problems of air pollution are primarily regional and dependent upon factors of weather, topography, population, transportation, methods of waste disposal, and agricultural and industrial development. These factors vary greatly from area to area. The San Francisco Bay area, with its permanent temperature inversion layer, presents a special problem, distinct from that found in the remainder of the State. This chapter is enacted to provide a special district to control and suppress air pollution in that area.

Since the problem requiring this legislation is local and special due to atmospheric and geographic conditions, a general law cannot be made applicable so as to insure its effective alleviation. It is necessary, therefore, to create, by special law, an air pollution control district which includes only that area within the boundaries of the Counties of Alameda, Contra Costa, Marin, Napa, San Francisco, San Mateo, Santa Clara, Solano, and Sonoma

Article 3. Definitions

24348 "District," as used in this chapter, means the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District.

24348.1. "Board," as used in this chapter, means the board of directors of the district

24348.2. "Control officer," as used in this chapter, means the air pollution control officer of the district.

24348.3. "Air contaminant," as used in this chapter, includes smoke, charred paper, dust, soot, grime, carbon, noxious acids, fumes, gases, mist, odors, or particulate matter, or any combination thereof.

Article 4. Creation of District

24350. An air pollution control district is hereby created comprising the area lying with the boundaries of the Counties of Alameda, Contra Costa, Marin, Napa, San Francisco, San Mateo, Santa Clara, Solano, and Sonoma, which shall be called the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District.

24350.1. The district is a body corporate and politic and a public agency of the State

24350.2. On the effective date of this chapter, the district shall begin to transact business and exercise its powers under this chapter in the counties of Alameda, Contra Costa, Marin, San Francisco, San Mateo, and Santa Clara.

24350.3. The district shall not transact any business or exercise any of its powers under any of this chapter in the Counties of Napa, Solano, and Sonoma until and unless the boards of supervisors of such counties determine in the manner provided by this article that there is need for the district to function in such counties and so declare by resolution.

24350.4. Before the district may begin to transact business or exercise its powers in Napa County, Solano County, or Sonoma County, the board of supervisors of such county, on its own motion or whenever a petition requesting that the district transact business and exercise its powers in such county signed by not less than 10 percent of the qualified electors of such county is presented to such board of supervisors, shall hold a public hearing to determine whether or not there is need for the district to function in such county.

24360.1. This article does not apply to smoke from fire set by or permitted by any public officer if such fire is set or permission given in the performance of the official duty of such officer, for the purpose of weed abatement, the prevention of a fire hazard, or the instruction of public employees in the methods of fighting fire, which is, in the opinion of such officer, necessary.

24360.2. This article does not apply to smoke from agricultural fires set by, or permitted by, the county agricultural commissioner of any county within the district after consultation with the board, if such fire is set or permission given in the performance of the official duty of such county agricultural commissioner for the purpose of disease prevention.

24360.3. The control officer, during reasonable hours, for the purpose of enforcing or administering this act or of any order, regulation or rule prescribed pursuant thereto, may enter every building, premises, or other place, except a building designed for and used exclusively as a private residence and may stop, detain, and inspect any vehicle, designed for and used on a public highway.

24360.4. The Legislature does not, by the provisions of this chapter, intend to occupy the field.

The provisions of this chapter do not prohibit the enactment or enforcement by any county or city of any local ordinance stricter than the provisions of this article and stricter than the rules and regulations adopted pursuant to this chapter, which local ordinance prohibits, regulates or controls air pollution.

24360.5. The provisions of this chapter do not supersede any such local county or city ordinance.

24360.6. If it should be held that the provisions of this chapter supersede the provisions of any local county or city ordinance, such suspension shall not bar the prosecution or punishment of any violation of such ordinance which violation was committed when such ordinance was in full force and effect.

24360.7. Nothing in this article limits in any way the power of the board to make needful orders, rules, and regulations pursuant to other provisions of this chapter. Nothing in this article permits any action contrary to any such order, rule, or regulation.

24360.8. Any violation of any provisions of this article or of any order, rule, or regulation of the board may be enjoined in a civil action brought in the name of the people of the State of California.

Article 11. Rules and Regulations

24362. At any time after October 1, 1956, the board may by resolution declare it necessary that the district adopt rules and regulations to control the release of air contaminants in order to reduce or alleviate air pollution within the district. Such determination shall be based on surveys and studies made by the district and such other information as may be available to the district. The determination shall be made only after the board has considered the matter at a public hearing at which all interested persons are afforded the opportunity to appear and urge or oppose adoption of the resolution. The board shall give notice of its intention to adopt the resolution and give notice of the hearing by publication in a newspaper of general circulation in each of the counties within the district not less than 10 days prior to the hearing. The notice shall contain the time and place of the hearing and such other information as may be necessary to reasonably apprise the people with the district of the nature and purpose of the meeting. The hearing may be adjourned from time to time in order to permit presentation of all pertinent testimony.

Upon the conclusion of the hearing, if the board determines it to be necessary to adopt rules and regulations to control the release of air contaminants, the board shall so declare by resolution.

24362.1. At any time after the resolution of necessity has been adopted, the board may make and enforce all needful orders, rules, and regulations necessary or proper to accomplish the purposes of this chapter

24362.2. The board shall not enact any order, rule or regulation until it first holds a public hearing thereon. It shall give not less than 10 days' notice of the time and place of such public hearing by publication in a newspaper of general circulation published within the district.

24362.3. Whenever the board finds that the air in the district is so polluted as to cause discomfort or property damage at intervals to a substantial number of inhabitants of the district, the board may make and enforce such orders, rules, and regulations as will reduce the amount of air contaminants released within the district.

24362.4. The board may require by regulation that before any person builds, erects, alters, replaces, operates, or uses any article, machine, equipment, or other contrivance specified by such regulation the use of which may cause the issuance of air contaminants, such person shall obtain a permit to do so from the control officer.

Insofar as the regulations do not grant an automatic permit for the operation or use of any article, machine, equipment or contrivance in existence upon the effective date of such regulations, a permit shall not be required without first affording the owner, operator, or user thereof a reasonable time within which to apply for such permit, and to furnish the control officer the information required pursuant to Section 24362.9.

24362.5. The board may require by regulation that before the control officer issues a permit to build, erect, alter, or replace any equipment, that the plans and specifications show, and that the permit issued by the control officer require, that such building, erection, alteration, or replacement will be done in such a manner, and that such approved equipment be used as the board finds will eliminate or reduce the discharge of any air contaminants.

24362.6. The board may contract with any county or city within its boundaries for the performance of such work in the name of, and subject to the approval of, the control officer by the building department or other officer, department or agency of the county or such city charged with the enforcement of regulations pertaining to the erection, construction, reconstruction, movement, conversion, alteration, or enlargement of buildings or structures, as will accomplish all or part of the purposes of Sections 24362.4 and 24362.5. The contract may provide for the consideration, if any, which the district shall pay to such city or county.

24362.7. The board may provide by regulation a schedule of fees, not exceeding the estimated cost of issuing such permits and inspection pertaining to such issuance, to be paid for the issuance of such permits. Every person applying for a permit shall pay the fee required by such schedule.

24362.8. A contract entered into pursuant to Section 24362.7 may provide that fees for permits shall be paid to the city or county, the officer, department, or agency of which city or county issues the permit, and may be retained by such city or county in whole or in part as the consideration, or part thereof, for issuing such permits. Otherwise, all fees paid for the issuance of permits shall be paid into the district treasury.

24362.9. The control officer at any time may require from an applicant for, or holder of any permit provided for by the regulations of the board, such information, analysis, plans, or specifications as will disclose the nature, extent, quantity, or degree of air contaminants which are or may be discharged by such source.

24362.10. If the holder of any permit provided for by the regulations of the board within a reasonable time wilfully fails or refuses to furnish to the control officer information, analysis, plans, or specifications requested by such control officer, the control officer may suspend the permit. He shall serve notice in writing of such suspension and the reasons therefor on the permittee.

24362.11. Within 10 days after receipt of notice of suspension the permittee may file with the hearing board a demand for a public hearing as to whether or not the permit was properly suspended.

24362.12. The control officer shall reinstate a suspended permit when all information, analyses, plans, and specifications are furnished.

24362.13. The control officer may reinstate a suspended permit where, in his opinion, good reasons exist therefor.

24362.14. The control officer may request the hearing board to hold a public hearing to determine whether a permit should be revoked, or a suspended permit should be reinstated.

24362.15. Within 30 days after either the control officer or the permittee has requested a public hearing, the hearing board shall hold such a hearing and give notice of the time and place of such hearing to the permittee, to the control officer and to such other persons as the hearing board deems should be notified, not less than 10 days before the date of the public hearing.

24362.16. After a public hearing, the hearing board may:

(a) Continue the suspention of a permit suspended by the control officer, or

(b) Remove the suspension of an existing permit invoked by the control officer pending the furnishing by the permittee of the information, analyses, plans, and specifications required, or

(c) Find that no violation exists and reinstate an existing permit, or

(d) Revoke an existing permit, if it finds:

(1) The permittee has failed to correct any conditions required by the control officer, or

(2) A refusal of a permit would be justified, or

(3) Fraud or deceit was employed in the obtaining of the permit, or

(4) Any violation of this act or of any rule or regulation of the board.

Article 12. Variances

24365. The provisions of this chapter do not prohibit the discharge of air contaminants to a greater extent or for a longer time, or both, than permitted by Article 10 or by rules, regulations, or orders of the board, if not of a greater extent or longer time than the hearing board or a court after a hearing before the hearing board finds necessary pursuant to the provisions of this article.

24365.1. The hearing board on its own motion or at the request of any person may hold a hearing to determine under what conditions and to what extent a variance from the requirements established by Article 10 or by rules, regulations, or orders of the board is necessary and will be permitted.

24365.2. The board may provide, by regulation, a schedule of fees which will yield a sum not exceeding the estimated cost of the administration of this article, for the filing of applications for variances or to revoke or modify variances. All applicants shall pay the fees required by such regulations.

24365.3. All such fees shall be paid to the district treasurer to the credit of the district.

24365.4. The hearing board shall serve a notice of the time and place of a hearing to grant a variance upon the control officer and upon the applicant, if any, not less than 10 days prior to such hearing.

24365.5. If the hearing board finds that because of conditions beyond control compliance with Article 10 or with any rule, regulation, or order of the air pollution control board will result in an arbitrary and unreasonable taking of property or in the practical closing and elimination of any lawful business, occupation or activity, in either case without a sufficient corresponding benefit or advantage to the people in the reduction of air contamination, it shall prescribe other and different requirements not more onerous applicable to plants and equipment operated either by named classes of industries or persons, or to the operation of separate persons; provided, however, that no variance may permit or authorize the maintenance of a nuisance.

24365.6. In determining under what conditions and to what extent a variance from said requirements is necessary and will be permitted, the hearing board shall exercise a wide discretion in weighing the equities involved and the advantages and disadvantages to the residents of the district and to any lawful business, occupation or activity involved, resulting from requiring compliance with said requirements or resulting from granting a variance.

24365.7. The hearing board may revoke or modify by written order, after a public hearing held upon not less than 10 days' notice, any order permitting a variance.

24365.8. The hearing board shall serve notice of the time and place of a hearing to revoke or modify any order permitting a variance not less than 10 days prior to such hearing upon the control officer, upon all persons who will be subjected to greater restrictions if such order is revoked or modified as proposed and upon all other persons interested or likely to be affected who have filed with the hearing board or control officer a written request for such notification.

24365.9. The hearing board shall serve a notice of the time and place of a hearing to grant a variance or to revoke or modify an order permitting a variance either by personal service or by first-class mail, postage prepaid. If either the identity or address of any person entitled to notice is unknown, the hearing board shall serve such person by publication of notice once in a newspaper of general circulation published within the district.

24365.10. The hearing board in making any order permitting a variance may specify the time during which such order will be effective, in no event to exceed one year, but such variance may be continued from year to year without another hearing on the approval of the control officer.

24365.11. If any local county or city ordinance has provided regulations similar to those in Article 10 or to any order, regulation, or rule prescribed by the board, and has provided for the granting of variances, and pursuant to such local ordinance a variance has been granted prior to notification of the district, such variance shall be continued as a variance of the hearing board for the time specified therein or one year whichever is shorter or until and unless prior to the expiration of such time the hearing board modifies or revokes such variance as provided in this article.

Article 13. Procedure

24367. This article applies to all hearings which either Article 11 or Article 12 of this chapter provides shall be held by the hearing board.

24367.1. The hearing board shall select from its number a chairman.

24367.2. The hearing board may hold a hearing in bank or may designate two or one of their number to hold a hearing.

24367.3. If two or three members of the hearing board conduct a hearing the concurrence of two shall be necessary to a decision.

24367.4. The hearing board, not less than two being present, may, in its discretion, within 30 days rehear any matter which was decided by a single member.

24367.5. Whenever the members of the hearing board conducting any hearing deem it necessary to examine any person as a witness at such hearing, the chairman of the hearing board shall issue a subpena, in proper form, commanding such person to appear before it at a time and place specified to be examined as a witness The subpena may require such person to produce all books, papers, and documents in his possession or under his control material to such hearing.

24367.6 A subpena to appear before the hearing board shall be served in the same manner as a subpena in a civil action

24367 7. Whenever any person duly subpenaed to appear and give evidence or to produce any books and papers before the hearing board neglects or refuses to appear, or to produce any books and papers, as required by the subpena, or refuses to testify or to answer any question which the hearing board decides is proper and pertinent, he shall be deemed in contempt, and the hearing board shall report the fact to the judge of the superior court of the county in which the person resides.

24367 8. Upon receipt of the report, the judge of the superior court shall issue an attachment directed to the sheriff of the county where the witness was required to appear and testify, commanding the sheriff to attach such person and forthwith bring him before the judge who ordered the attachment issued 24367 9. On the return of the attachment and the production of the body of the defendant, the judge has jurisdiction of the matter The person charged may purge himself of the contempt in the same way, and the same proceeding shall be had, and the same penalties may be imposed, and the same punishment inflicted as in the case of a witness subpenaed to appear and give evidence on the trial of a civil cause before a superior court.

24367 10. Every member of the hearing board may administer oaths in every hearing in which he participates 24367.11 At any hearing the hearing board may require all or any witnesses to be sworn before testifying.

24367 12. Any person deeming himself aggrieved, including the district, may maintain a special proceeding in a superior court within the district, to determine the reasonableness and legality of any action of the hearing board.

24367 13 Any person filing such a special proceeding after any decision of the hearing board shall be entitled to a trial de novo and an independent determination of the reasonableness and legality of such action in such court on all issues of law, facts, and mixed questions of law and facts and opinions therein involved.

Article 14. Financial Provisions

24370. The district may borrow money and incur indebtedness in anticipation of the revenue for the current year in which the indebtedness is incurred or of the ensuing year Such indebtedness shall not exceed the total amount of the estimate of the tax income for either the current year or the ensuing year.

24370.1. Before the fifteenth day of June of each year the board shall estimate and determine the amount of money required by the district for purposes of the district during the ensuing fiscal year and shall apportion this amount to the counties included within the district, one-half according to the relative value of the real estate of each county within the district as determined by the board and one-half in the proportion that the population of each county bears to the total population of the district For the purposes of this section the board shall base its determination of the population of the several counties on the latest official information available to it. The total amount of money required by the district for district purposes during any one fiscal year shall not exceed two cents ($0.02) on each one hundred dollars ($100) of the assessed valuation of all the property included within the district.

24370.2 On or before the fifteenth day of June of each year, the board shall inform the boards of supervisors of each county of the amount apportioned to the county. Each board of supervisors shall levy an ad valorem tax on the taxable real property within the county included within the district sufficient to secure the amount so apportioned to it and such taxes shall be levied and collected together with, and not separately from, the taxes for county purposes and paid to the treasurer of each of the counties to the credit of the district. The board of supervisors shall in carrying out the provisions of this article, proceed, as nearly as possible, in accordance with Chapter 1 of Division 3 of Title 3 of the Government Code.

24370.3. Taxes levied by the board of supervisors for the benefit of the district shall be a lien upon all property within such county lying within the district and shall have the same force and effect as other liens for taxes. Their collection may be enforced in the same manner as liens for county taxes are enforced.

24370.4. At any time prior to the first receipt by the district of revenues from taxation, the counties within the district may loan any available money to the district for purposes of organization and operation and such expenditures shall constitute a proper expenditure of county funds. The board shall add the sums of money so borrowed from the counties to the first amount apportioned by the board pursuant to Section 24370 1, and shall repay the counties for all money borrowed from the first revenues received from taxation.

24370.5. The treasurers of the several counties within the district shall pay into the district treasury all funds held by them to the credit of the district.

24370.6 The district treasury shall be in the custody of the county treasurer of a county in the district designated by the board and such treasurer shall be the district treasurer.

Article 15. Dissolution

24372. A district may be dissolved in the following manner:

1. The boards of supervisors of the counties containing more than fifty percent (50%) of the population of the entire district shall adopt a resolution stating that the existence of the district is no longer necessary or desirable for the public welfare, and announcing the intention to withdraw therefrom and to dissolve the district.

2. The resolutions so adopted shall be communicated to the clerks of the boards of supervisors of all counties comprising the district and also to the board

3 If it appears that the resolutions were adopted by the boards of supervisors in the counties desiring to withdraw, and that such counties contain more than fifty percent (50%) of the entire population in the district, the board, by resolution, shall call an election to determine the question of dissolution. The resolution shall state the time and place and purpose thereof, establish election precincts, designate polling places, and appoint election officers and, in all respects not provided in this section, the election shall be held and conducted, as nearly as practicable, in the same manner as elections for county officers in the counties In the event such election shall be consolidated with any other election, the resolution calling the election hereunder need not describe the precincts, polling places, or appoint officers of election, but may refer to the ordinance, order, resolution or notice calling or providing for such other election, or listing or designating the precincts, polling places, and election officers therefor for the precincts, polling places and officers of election for the election called hereunder. Such resolution shall be published twice in some newspaper of general circulation in each county within the district and the first publication shall be at least 30 days prior to the date of election.

4 If a majority of the qualified electors voting at such election vote in favor of such dissolution, the board shall declare the results of the election, proceed to wind up the affairs of the district, and pay all indebtedness thereof Any surplus funds shall be paid over to the counties in which the district lies in proportion to the amount last previously apportioned by the board to each county for purposes of levying taxes The board shall exercise only such powers and secure such revenue from taxation as shall be necessary to wind up the affairs of the district.

5 Upon the completion of the process of winding up the affairs of the district, the board shall, by resolution, entered upon its minutes, declare the district dissolved A certified copy of such resolution shall be filed with the county recorder of each county within the district and with the Secretary of State Upon the adoption of such resolution the district shall be dissolved

SEC. 3 Section 24213 is added to the Health and Safety Code, to read:

24213. An air pollution control district which is situated in any county included within another air pollution control district created by special law shall cease to function and exercise its powers upon the date of any rules and regulations adopted by the governing body of such special district

Article 8. Leasing of School Buildings

18351. Notwithstanding other provisions of law to the contrary, any school district may enter into leases and agreements relating to real property and buildings to be used by the district pursuant to this article.

18352. Before the governing board of a school district enters into a lease or agreement pursuant to this article, it shall have available a site upon which a building to be used by the district may be constructed and shall have complied with the provisions of law relating to the selection and approval of sites, and it shall have adopted plans and specifications for such building which have been approved pursuant to Articles 2 and 3 of this chapter.

18353. The term of any lease or agreement entered into by a school district pursuant to this article shall not exceed 40 years.

18354. Article 2, Chapter 5 of this division shall not apply to leases made pursuant to this article.

18355. The governing board of a school district may let, at a minimum rental of one dollar ($1) a year, to any person, firm, or corporation any real property which belongs to the district if the instrument by which such property is let requires the lessee therein to construct on the demised premises a building or buildings for the use of the school district during the term thereof, and provides that title to such building shall vest in the school district at the expiration of such term. Such instrument may provide for the means or methods by which such title shall vest in the school district prior to the expiration of such term, and shall contain such other terms and conditions as the governing board may deem to be in the best interest of the school district.

18356. The governing board of any school district may enter into an agreement with any person, firm, or corporation under which such person, firm, or corporation shall construct, or provide for the construction of, a building to be used by the district upon a designated site and lease such building and site to the district. Such instrument shall provide that the title to such building and site shall vest in the district at the expiration of such lease, and may provide the means or method by which the title to the building and site shall vest in the district prior to the expiration of such lease, and shall contain such other terms and conditions as the governing board of the district deems to be in the best interest of the district.

18357. Except as provided in Section 18362, the governing board of a school district shall call and hold an election, pursuant to Section 18358 or 18359, before or after entering a lease or agreement, as the case may be.

18358. Before entering into a lease or agreement pursuant to this article, the governing board of the district shall call, hold, and conduct an election in the manner provided in Section 6358, except that the ballot used in the election shall contain substantially the words: "shall the governing board of the ____ _____ District purchase a site, prepare plans and specifications, [the reference to the site and plans and specifications shall not be included if, prior to calling the election, the governing board of the district has acquired a site or proposes to lease a site and has prepared plans and specifications] and lease [a site and] a building to be constructed for use by the school district [designating the location of the site on which the building will be constructed and generally describing the building], and, for such purposes, shall the maximum tax rate of the district be increased from _____ to _____, such rate to be in effect in the _____ District for the years 19__ to 19___, be authorized and the amount of such increase used solely and exclusively for such purposes?"

18359. In lieu of calling an election pursuant to Section 18358, the governing board of a school district may call an election pursuant to this section. Within 10 days after the governing board has opened the proposals pursuant to Section 18364 it may accept a proposal and execute the lease or agreement, and immediately thereafter call an election pursuant to this section.

The governing board of the district shall call, hold, and conduct an election in the manner provided in Section 6358, except that the ballot used in the election shall contain substantially the words, "shall the governing board of the _____ District lease [a site and] a building to be constructed for use by the school district [designating the location of the site on which the building will be constructed, and generally describing the building], and, for such purposes, shall the maximum tax rate of the district be increased from _____ to _____, such rate to be in effect in the _____ District for the years 19____ to 19____ be authorized and the amount of such increase used solely and exclusively for such purposes?"

18360 If, at the election held pursuant to Section 18358, a majority of the electors voting on the proposition vote "yes", the governing board may proceed pursuant to this article. If, at the election held pursuant to Section 18359, a majority of the electors voting on the proposition vote "no", any lease or agreement entered into by the governing board for the lease of the site or building, or both, designated in the proposition is void.

18361 If the governing board of the district fails to enter into a lease pursuant to this article within one year after the result of an election, held pursuant to Section 18358, at which a majority of the votes cast favors the proposition submitted, the authorization for an increase in the maximum tax rate shall become void.

18362 If the governing board of a school district finds, by resolution adopted by a two-thirds vote, that it is within the financial ability of the district to enter into a lease or agreement pursuant to this article and make any payments required thereby without an increase in the maximum school district tax rate then existing for the school district, the governing board may proceed under this article without complying with Sections 18358 or 18359.

18364 After the governing board of a school district has complied with Section 18352, it shall, in a regular open meeting, adopt a resolution declaring its intention to enter into a lease or agreement pursuant to this article. The resolution shall describe, in such manner as to identify it, the available site upon which the building to be used by the district shall be constructed, shall generally describe the building to be constructed and state that the building shall be constructed pursuant to the plans and specifications adopted by the governing board therefor, shall, if such is the case, state the minimum yearly rental at which the governing board will lease real property belonging to the district upon which the building is to be constructed, and shall state the maximum number of years for which the school district will lease the building or site and building, as the case may be, and shall state that the proposals submitted therefor shall designate the amount of rental, which shall be annual, semiannual, or monthly, to be paid by the school district for the use of the building, or building and site, as the case may be. The resolution shall fix a time, not less than three weeks thereafter for a public meeting of the governing board to be held at its regular place of meeting, at which sealed proposals to enter such a lease or agreement with the school district will be received from any person, firm, or corporation, and considered by the governing board. Notice thereof shall be given in the manner provided in Section 18608.

At the time and place fixed in the resolution for the meeting of the governing body, all sealed proposals which have been received shall, in public session, be opened, examined, and declared by the board. Of the proposals submitted which conform to all terms and conditions specified in the resolution of intention to enter a lease or agreement and which are made by responsible bidders, the proposal which calls for the lowest rental shall be finally accepted, or the board shall reject all bids. The board is not required to accept a proposal, or else reject all bids, on the same day as that in which the proposals are opened.

18365 Any building constructed for the use of a school district pursuant to this article is subject to Article 3 of this chapter.

18367 For the purposes of Sections 4714, 7431, and 7431.3, 60 percent of any remaining payments which would become due from the district under any leases and agreements entered into by the district pursuant to this article, if such leases and agreements were to run their full term, shall be considered outstanding bonded indebtedness."

5028 The bonds are special obligations of the local agency and shall be secured solely by a pledge of, lien, charge and encumbrance upon the revenues derived by the local agency within the sewer revenue district from the operation of the sewer system and are not secured by the taxing power of the local agency and the payment of the principal of and interest on said bonds and any premiums upon the redemption of any thereof are not a debt of the local agency or a legal or equitable pledge, charge, lien or encumbrance upon any of its property, or any of its income, receipts or revenues except said revenues derived within the sewer revenue district from the operation of the sewer system.

5029. The revenues and any interest earned on the revenues shall constitute a trust fund for the payment of the interest on and principal of the bonds

5030. The general fund of the local agency is not liable for the payment of the bonds or their interest, nor is the credit or taxing power of the local agency pledged for the payment of the bonds or their interest nor can the holder of bonds or coupons compel the exercise of the taxing power of the local agency or the forfeiture of any of its property.

5031. Pursuant to this chapter and the resolution authorizing their issuance, bonds of the same issue shall be equally secured by a pledge of, and lien, charge and encumbrance upon, the revenues derived by the local agency within the sewer revenue district from the operation of the sewer system without priority for number, date of bonds, of sale, or execution or of delivery; provided, however, that the local agency may authorize the issuance of bonds of different series and may provide that the bonds in any series shall, to the extent and in the manner prescribed in the resolution, be subordinated to and be junior in standing, with respect to payment of principal and interest and the security thereof, to such other bonds as may be specified in the resolution.

5032. In the resolution authorizing the issuance of the bonds the governing body may pledge, place a lien, charge and encumbrance upon and assign all or any part of the revenues derived by the local agency within the sewer revenue district from the operation of the sewer system for the security of the bonds.

5033. Every bond shall recite in substance that the principal of and interest on the bond are payable solely from the revenues derived by the local agency within the sewer revenue district from the operation of the sewer system, and that the local agency is not obligated to pay it except from said revenues.

5034. The governing body may provide in the resolution authorizing the issuance of the bonds that amounts for the necessary and reasonable costs of maintenance, operation and repair of the sewer system within the sewer revenue district may be apportioned from the revenues. (a) The interest on and principal of the bonds as they become due and payable.

(b) All payments required for compliance with the resolution authorizing the issuance of the bonds, including the creation of sinking and reserve funds.

(d) The necessary and reasonable costs of maintenance, operation and repair of the sewer system within the sewer revenue district and, if so provided by the governing body in the resolution providing for the issuance of the bonds, all or a portion of the necessary and reasonable costs of maintenance, operation and repair of any works or system of works lying outside of the sewer revenue district which are in whole or in part used for the collection, carrying away, treatment or disposal of sewage or industrial waste originating within the sewer revenue district.

5038. After all the aforementioned payments have been made, but subject to any limiting covenants in the resolution providing for the issuance of the bonds, the remaining surplus may be used for any lawful purpose of the local agency.

5039. Whenever the governing body declares by resolution that it deems it desirable that the bonds should be certified as provided in this section and in Section 5040, the governing body shall file a certified copy of the resolution with the California Districts Securities Commission and the bonds shall then be subject to investigation and certification by the California Districts Securities Commission pursuant to the Districts Securities Commission Law, except that, any provision of the Districts Securities Commission Law to the contrary notwithstanding, only Sections 20040 to 20043, inclusive, paragraph (c) of Section 20044, Sections 20046 to 20049, inclusive, 20051, 20052, 20053 and 20060 to 20064, inclusive, of the Water Code shall be applicable to the governing body and the bonds.

5040. If in the opinion of the commission, the bonds are adequately secured and the revenues derived by the local agency within the sewer revenue district from the operation of a sewer system and the other funds applicable to the payment of the bonds are, or upon the acquisition, construction, improvement, repair or financing of the works will be sufficient to pay the principal of and the interest on the bonds, the commission shall certify that the bonds are eligible as legal investments for public and private funds and as security for the deposit of public funds in banks in the State pursuant to the Districts Securities Commission Law and pursuant to Section 5039 and this section.

Article 6. Remedies to Enforce the Collection of Charges

5050. Remedies for collecting and enforcing rates and charges set out in this chapter are cumulative and may be pursued alternately, or any thereof may be used consecutively when the legislative body so determines. If any one of said remedies is or may be invalid, all valid remedies shall remain effectual until the principal and interest of the bonds are fully paid. Any holder of any bond outstanding at any time may compel the use of any or all of the remedies herein provided. The costs of collection and enforcement of the remedies for the collection of charges shall be paid from the revenues.

5051. As a remedy established for the collection of due and unpaid deposits and charges and the penalties thereon an action may be brought in the name of the local agency in any court of competent jurisdiction against the person or persons who occupied the property when the service was rendered or the deposit became due or against the owner or owners of the property when the service was rendered or the deposit became due or against any person guaranteeing payment of bills, or against any or all of said persons, for the collection of the amount of the deposit or the collection of delinquent charges and all penalties thereon. A local agency may declare in the resolution or ordinance prescribing or revising charges for sewer services and facilities that delinquent charges for sewer service and all penalties thereon when recorded as in this chapter provided shall constitute a lien upon the real property served, except that no such lien shall be created against any publicly owned property, and such lien shall continue until the charge and all penalties thereon are fully paid or the property sold therefor.

5053. Such lien shall attach when the treasurer or other officer whose duty it is to collect the charge records a list of delinquent unpaid charges and penalties thereon with the county recorder, stating the amount of each charge and the penalty thereon, a description of the real property upon which the same is a lien and the name of the local agency to which the same is payable. Such lien shall have the same force, effect, priority and duration as to the property described as would the lien of an abstract of a judgment against the owner of the real property at the time such list is recorded and may be enforced in like manner. A list of all such delinquent charges shall be recorded at least every year, but no delay or informality in recording the same shall invalidate the lien or any unpaid charge or any subsequent act or proceeding. If through error or otherwise the amount of any unpaid charge plus penalties thereon as stated in said list shall be incorrect, said error shall be deemed to be a trifle and shall not affect or invalidate the filing if said error is one dollar ($1) or less.

5054. As a separate, distinct and cumulative remedy established for the collection of said charges and penalties thereon an action may be brought in the name of the local agency in any court of competent jurisdiction to foreclose the lien of the charge and all penalties thereon In such action a reasonable attorney's fee shall be awarded plaintiff

5117 A waiver of any default or breach of duty or contract by any bondholder or his trustee does not affect any subsequent default or breach of duty or contract nor impair any rights or remedies on the subsequent default or breach

5118. The delay or omission of any bondholder or his trustee to exercise any right or power accruing upon any default does not impair the right or power and is not a waiver of the default or acquiescence in it

5119. Every substantive right and remedy conferred upon the bondholders or their trustee may be enforced and exercised as often as is deemed expedient.

5120. If a suit, action, or proceeding to enforce any right or exercise any remedy is abandoned or determined adversely to the bondholders or their trustees, the local agency and bondholder or trustee shall be restored to their former positions, rights, and remedies as if such suit, action, or proceeding had not be brought or taken.

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT THAT LETTER BE PRINTED IN JOURNAL

Mr. Ernest R. Geddes asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent that a letter relative to a Report of the Assembly Interim Committee on Horse Racing in California be ordered printed in the Journal, in 10-point type, as follows:

Letter of Transmittal

LOS ANGELES COUNTY FAIR ASSOCIATION
POMONA, CALIFORNIA, April 12, 1955

The Honorable Ernest Geddes
House of Representatives
State Capitol, Sacramento, California

DEAR ERNEST: I have recently received the Assembly Interim Committee Report on Horse Racing in California for the years 1953-1955, Volume 8, Number 3, published March 1, 1955.

I thought it would be wise to call to your attention the portion of the report on page 62 which refers to the Sacramento State Fair and Los Angeles County Fair. Apparently some member of the staff had been misinformed and you will note that the report states, "The Los Angeles County Fair has had pari mutuel betting and racing since 1923. It had pari mutuel betting 10 years before it was authorized by law in the State of California."

As you know, we have always had racing since our Fair opened in 1922 but there was no pari mutuel wagering in any form prior to legalized pari mutuel wagering in 1933.

I thought you might like to bring this to the attention of the Assembly and possibly have it incorporated in the Journal.

Thanks very much, Ernest, for your usual cooperation, and with best personal regards,

Sincerely yours,

JACK
C. B. AFFLERBAUGH, President-Manager
Los Angeles County Fair Association

22210. Notwithstanding any other provisions of this part, the board shall execute a modification of the agreement in conformity with the provisions of Section 218 of the Social Security Act and applicable federal regulations adopted pursuant thereto, to include the services of all state employees and employees of the University of California in positions covered by the State Employees Retirement System when a majority of the eligible retirement system employees of the State and the university in positions covered by such system at a referendum conducted by the board pursuant to Article 2 of this chapter and Section 218(d) of the Social Security Act have voted in favor of inclusion in the federal system
