of not less than 20 per cent of the value of the oil, gas or other hydrocarbon produced, which royalty may be paid in money or in oil.

b. Upon the following terms and conditions and under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, the said Director of Finance shall have power to lease any oil, gas or other hydrocarbon producing tidelands or any portion thereof belonging to the State, or in which the State owns an interest, which prior to the date when this amendment becomes effective shall have been proven to be such commercial oil bearing area, for the production of minerals, oil, gas or other hydrocarbons, wherever in his judgment, it is for the best interest of the State so to do; provided, that no such lease shall be made where it will seriously impair or destroy any fishing, or bathing right, privilege, easement, or use, or any right of navigation vested in any private person, trust, firm or corporation, or in the people of the State of California.

c. The Director of Finance is further authorized and empowered to acquire upon behalf and in the name of the State of California, any real property or interest therein which he may consider necessary and desirable for the purpose of exercising the powers and performing the duties contained in this act. Should he determine that the public interest and necessity so require, to enable him to exercise the powers and perform the duties contained in this act, he may institute condemnation proceedings in the name of the State of California pursuant to section 14 of Article I of the Constitution and the provision for the Code of Civil Procedure relating to eminent domain for the purpose of acquisition of any real property or interest therein adjacent but not necessarily contiguous to the hereinafter described lands. g. Whenever under any of the provisions of this act, the Director of Finance is authorized to award any contract, lease or easement by competitive bidding, he may reject all bids and may call for new proposals

When advertising for bids the director shall specify whether the bid shall apply to the whole of any oil bearing structure or to a designated part or parts of it.

No contract, lease or easement may be entered into or approved by the Director of Finance which does not secure to the State a compensation of at least a 20 per cent royalty on production.

h. The State shall have a first lien upon all oil, gas or other hydrocarbons or other minerals produced under any contract provided for herein to secure payment of all unpaid royalty and other sum or sums of money which may be due and become due under the provisions of this act, and may follow the same and the value thereof into the hands of any purchaser.

i. In the event the Director of Finance is unable to acquire the necessary rights of way and easements, hereinbefore provided for, promptly, or if he deems that the delay incidental to acquiring such rights of way and easements is detrimental to the best interests of or will result in a loss to the State, or that there will be a loss of oil or gas pressure during such period as to substantially diminish such oil, gas, or other hydrocarbons which may be recovered from such State lands, he may and is hereby authorized to contract for the development and extraction of the oil, gas and other hydrocarbons from the said State lands by means of piers, islands or other suitable structures erected over and upon such State lands. All such groins shall be so placed and constructed that they will cause accretions to form along and on the coast line, which said accretions shall at all times be and remain an unobstructed and open beach for the free use by the people, and the Director of Finance is also authorized to acquire, either by purchase or condemnation, easements for ingress and egress from any public highway to and from any beach so formed. All groins, piers, islands and other structures, provided for herein, shall be of the type and appearance provided for in plans and specifications, which shall be approved by the Director of Finance prior to the calling of bids as in this act hereinbefore provided.

j If said director fails to secure a contract for the development and extraction of the oil, gas and other hydrocarbons from said State lands upon a basis and for royalties and which will result in the development and extraction of such oil, gas and other hydrocarbons from said State lands within a time and under conditions which will be for the best interests of the State, he may, proceed in the name of the State without further notice or advertising to develop and extract the oil, gas and other hydrocarbons from said State lands by means of piers, islands or other suitable structures erected over and upon said State lands If said director deems it necessary, in order to protect the interests of the State, to develop and extract said oil, gas and other hydrocarbons from said State lands by means of piers, islands or other suitable structures, such piers, islands and structures shall be of the type described in and shall be constructed in the manner provided in subdivision i hereof, and all of the duties imposed upon said director in and by subdivision i shall be equally applicable to the development and extraction of said oil by the State as provided in this subdivision The method provided in this subdivision shall be resorted to only in the event said director is unable to procure a satisfactory contract for such development and extraction. In view of differences in climatic and other growing conditions prevailing north of the Tehachapi Mountains in California which results in some navel oranges grown in certain districts of that area having at maturity a lower ratio of soluble solids to acid than matured navel oranges grown in the area south of the Tehachapi Mountains, navel oranges produced in the area north of the Tehachapi Mountains which are at least 70 per cent colored at the time of picking shall be considered mature if the juice contains soluble solids as determined by a Brix scale hydrometer, equal to or in excess of six and one-half parts to every part of acid contained in the juice No oranges may be accelerated in color unless the juice contains soluble solids, as determined by a Brix scale hydrometer, equal to or in excess of eight parts to every part of acid contained in the juice (the acidity of the juice to be calculated as citric acid without water of crystallization).

'Twenty-five per cent of characteristic color' in the case of oranges is defined as that color designated by the Munsell color notation as hue one and fourteen one-hundredths green-yellow, value five and twenty-three one-hundredths chroma four and three-tenths (1 14GY5.23/4.3), and "70 per cent colored" as hue three yellow, value six, chroma five (3Y6/5). Oranges shall be considered as having exceeded 25 or 70 per cent color if the average hue of the surface of each fruit is numerically less than one and fourteen-hundredths green-yellow or three yellow respectively, regardless of the other components of the color."

Whenever the Director of Finance, with the consent of the Governor, has elected to proceed under the provisions of section 11 of this act he may, in the name of the people of the State of California, and in the manner provided for in and by the sections of the Code of Civil Procedure relating to eminent domain, condemn any rights of way and easements in, upon, over or through such littoral lands or adjacent lands whenever he shall deem the acquisition thereof necessary or convenient for the extraction, development, protection, recovery or storage of oil, gas and other hydrocarbons from the State lands described in section 3 of this act.

Rights of way and easements as herein used shall be deemed to mean and include the right to enter in and upon and take possession of and use such part or portion of the surface or subsoil of the said littoral lands or lands adjacent thereto as the said director shall deem necessary or convenient for drilling sites or for carrying out any of the purposes of this act, and the right to construct and install derricks, machinery, storage tanks and receptacles thereon, and drill therein and from or through such littoral and adjacent lands to and into the lands described in section 3 hereof, and to construct all such roads, pipe lines and other things over, through or across such littoral lands or lands adjacent thereto as may be necessary or convenient to carry out any of the purposes of this act or to extract, develop, protect, recover or store oil, gas and other hydrocarbons from the lands described in section 3.

SEC. 5 The Director of Finance, on behalf of the State of California, subject only to the provisions of this act, and irrespective of any acreage limitation, is hereby authorized and directed to contract for the development, extraction, recovery, storage and sale of oil, gas and other hydrocarbons within and from the subsurface of the lands described in section 3, whether within the known geologic structure of a producing oil or gas field or not, and whether or not they front on an incorporated city or be within any given distance on either side thereof, but excepting and excluding any portion of all of the State-owned lands which may then be subject to a previously issued oil and gas lease or a valid and subsisting prospecting permit issued pursuant to law in that behalf.

Said director shall first prepare the form of contract to be executed, and such contract shall contain such terms and conditions consistent with the provisions of this act as shall be necessary or proper to carry into effect the provisions of this act.

SEC. 6. The form of contract to be prepared by the said director shall provide for a term of thirty (30) years from and after the date of its execution, and shall provide for a royalty to the State which shall be such percentage in amount or value of the oil, gas and other hydrocarbons produced and saved from the property covered by said contract as said director shall determine, but in no event shall said royalty be for an amount less than forty per centum (40%) of the net proceeds as hereinafter defined. Said form of contract shall also provide, with reference to payment of royalty to the State:

(a) For an annual rental payment in advance in the sum of $10 per acre for each acre, or portion thereof, of the State lands described and included within any such contract, which rental shall be credited upon the royalties as they accrue for the year for which such rental is paid; and

(b) For advance royalties in an amount equal to 12½ per cent of the gross value of all oil, gas and other hydrocarbons produced and saved from the property covered by said contract during the preceding calendar month, said royalty to be paid on or before the twenty-fifth day of each month for the preceding calendar month.

The advance royalties provided for by this subsection (b) shall likewise be credited upon the total royalties as they accrue during the entire term of said contract.

Net proceeds as used in this section shall be deemed to mean the sum of money remaining after deducting from the total gross value of all oil, gas and other hydrocarbons produced from the land covered by said contract the following items:

(1) The amount of all taxes, license fees, or other development charges which may be levied or assessed upon the rights granted under any such contract and upon all the materials and equipment which may be used in the development, production, extraction, protection, storage and/or recovery of oil, gas or other hydrocarbons from the said State lands.

(2) All expenses, costs and liabilities incurred directly or indirectly in the drilling operations or maintaining of such State lands or in pumping, cleaning out, repairing or redrilling any or all wells and the cost of maintenance of sumps, tanks, pipe lines, or any other facilities used in conjunction with the development of said State lands, the cost of cleaning oil and a sum equal to five per cent (5%) of all installation, drilling, operating, production and maintenance expenses, which sum shall be the agreement cost of supervision and management overhead, and without limitation of the foregoing by reason of said specific items, any and all expenditures made in connection with the development, operation, and maintenance of said State lands, or any wells thereon, the abandonment of any such wells, and all costs incurred in carrying out the purposes of this act.

Said form of contract shall also contain the following provisions:

(c) That all operations thereunder shall be conducted in such manner as will not destroy or impair any right of fishing, navigation, or commerce, or any easement, right, privilege, trust, or use vested in the people of this State;

(d) In event there be any well or wells drilled so that the producing intervals thereof are within three hundred (300) feet of any exterior boundary line of the property embraced by the contract, and which are producing oil, gas or other hydrocarbon substances in commercially paying quantities, and as to which no royalty is being paid to the State, the contractor shall reasonably offset such wells so as to minify drainage. For such purpose the contractor shall not be required to operate with more than two (2) strings of tools;

(e) That the contractor shall comply with all reasonable rules and regulations not inconsistent with the provisions of this act that the Director of Finance thereafter makes affecting the leased lands and the production of oil, gas and other hydrocarbons therefrom;

(f) That the contractor at any time after the drilling of the first well may quitclaim the lands described in his contract in their entirety, or as to part or parts thereof, with the privilege of retaining 20 acres surrounding each producing or drilling well, and thereupon the contractor shall be released from all further obligations and duties as to the area so quitclaimed, and all rentals and drilling requirements shall be reduced pro rata. All lands quitclaimed shall remain subject to the easements and rights of way in said contract provided for. Except for such easements and rights of way as so provided, full right to the land so quitclaimed shall revest in the State free and clear of all claims of the contractor except that the State, its successors and assigns, shall not drill any well on the land quitclaimed within 300 feet of any producing or drilling well retained by the contractor, and the director is authorized to enter into a new contract with respect to said quitclaimed lands in accordance with the provisions of this act.

(g) The contractor shall within ninety (90) days from the execution of said contract commence drilling operations and shall prosecute the same with reasonable diligence until oil or gas is found in paying quantities, or to a depth of which further drilling would in the judgment of contractor, be unprofitable. In the event that the contractor shall not within ninety (90) days from the execution of said contract commence drilling operations, then said contract may be declared forfeited by the director, and thereupon said contract shall be null and void, and all rights of the contractor under said contract be at an end. If oil is found in paying quantities in any well so drilled by the contractor, said contractor shall continue to drill additional wells, working with reasonable diligence, until a total number of wells, including offset wells, shall have been drilled equal to one (1) well for each three hundred thirty (330) feet, or major fraction thereof, of the direct distance along the ordinary high-water mark of the lands embraced in the contract. The contractor may drill as many additional wells as he may desire.

(h) Each well drilled pursuant to the terms of such contract shall be slant drilled from littoral lands or lands adjacent thereto to and into the subsurface of the State lands. The derrick, machinery and any and all other surface structures, equipment and appurtenances shall be located upon the littoral lands or lands adjacent thereto and all surface operations shall be conducted on and from such lands.

SEC. 7. All wells drilled pursuant to any contract issued pursuant to this act shall be slant drilled from the littoral lands or lands adjacent thereto and drilled into the subsurface of the property described in said contract. The derrick, machinery, and any and all surface structures, equipment and appliances shall be located upon said littoral lands or lands adjacent thereto and all surface operations shall be conducted on and from such littoral lands or lands adjacent thereto.

SEC. 8. After the form of such contract shall have been prepared, but before the execution thereof, the Director of Finance shall offer to enter into a contract or contracts with the owner or owners of the littoral lands or lands adjacent thereto, or with any person, firm or corporation possessing present existing rights, rights of way or easements over, on or through such lands, which rights, rights of way or easements are sufficient to enable such person, firm or corporation to commence work under the terms of the proposed contract immediately upon its execution, for the development, extraction and recovery of the oil, gas and other hydrocarbons from said State lands subject to the provisions of this act. Such offer shall be made by publishing notice thereof once a week for two consecutive weeks in two newspapers of general circulation, one published in the city of Los Angeles and one in the City and County of San Francisco.

SEC. 9. The offer or offers provided for in section 8 shall be accepted by the execution in duplicate by the person, firm or corporation to whom such offer is made of the form of contract prepared by the Director of Finance and the delivery of such contracts to the director. The director shall thereupon sign such contracts on behalf of the State, deliver one copy thereof to the contractor and retain the other copy in his office.

The failure to accept such offer in the manner herein provided within two weeks from the date of the last publication provided for in section 8 shall constitute a rejection of the offer.

SEC. 10 Any contract herein authorized shall be subject to all prior existing easements and/or rights of way.

SEC 11. If said director fails to secure a contract for the development and extraction of the oil, gas and other hydrocarbons from any State lands upon the terms and for royalties hereinbefore provided, he may, with the consent of the Governor, proceed in the name of the State, without further notice or advertising, to develop and extract the oil, gas and other hydrocarbons from said State lands from drilling sites, rights of way and/or easements upon said littoral and other adjacent lands acquired as hereinbefore provided. Nothing in this section shall be deemed to require the State to engage in the development and extraction of said oil, gas and other hydrocarbons from said State lands, and the method provided in this section shall be resorted to only in the event said director is unable to procure a satisfactory contract for such development and extraction, and only in the event the Governor shall consent to such method. If said director determines that the oil, gas and other hydrocarbons shall be extracted from said State lands by the State, and the Governor consents thereto, said director may purchase, with any funds appropriated therefor, or, if the Governor consents thereto, with moneys then available in the emergency fund, all necessary equipment, materials and supplies, and he shall promptly proceed with the necessary drilling operations and with the construction of derricks, wells, pipe lines, storage tanks and other necessary and convenient structures, and the maintenance and operation thereof, and he may do all things necessary or proper for the extraction, storage and sale of oil, gas and other hydrocarbons from said State lands. The construction of such structures may be performed by contract or by day labor, in the discretion of said director.

Said director may sell, at the current market price, all oil, gas or other hydrocarbons produced, or may hold and store the same if he deems it desirable, and generally may do all things necessary in the operation of such property and the disposition of the oil, gas or other hydrocarbons produced therefrom as is consistent with accepted efficient business practices in private industry.

SEC. 12. All moneys received by the Director of Finance under the provisions of this act shall be reported promptly to the Controller and paid into the general fund.

SEC. 13. The Director of Finance may make and enforce reasonable rules and regulations not inconsistent with this act for the purpose of carrying out the provisions hereof, and he may do all things reasonably necessary for such purpose.

SEC. 14. If any section, subsection, sentence, clause, or phrase of this act is for any reason held to be unconstitutional, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions thereof. The Legislature hereby declares that it would have passed this act, and each and every section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase thereof, irrespective of the fact that any one or more sections, subsections, sentences, clauses or phrases be declared unconstitutional."

Motion to Print Report in Journal.

On motion of Mr. Reaves, the following report of the Interim Committee to Investigate Unemployed Self-help Cooperatives, was ordered printed in the Journal:

Report of Interim Committee to Investigate Unemployed Self-Help Cooperatives.

Honorable Wm. Moseley Jones, Speaker of the Assembly,
Assembly Chamber, Sacramento, California

MR. SPEAKER: The Interim Committee to Investigate Unemployed Self-help Cooperatives, pursuant to Assembly resolution adopted June 16, 1935, and composed of the following members, Patrick J. McMurray, Ernest C. Crowley, Frank J. Waters, Gene Flint, and Fred Reaves, chairman, begs to report.

The committee met in the State Building in Los Angeles and named Patrick J. McMurray vice chairman, and Gene Flint, secretary.

The following day the committee reconvened to hear a plan outlined by Mr. John Wink, president of the Utopian Society. It was then agreed to make independent investigations.

During the years 1931 to 1934 the people of California found themselves in the midst of an economic and industrial collapse. Thousands of men were suddenly thrown out of employment, with little or no cash reserves. As a result hardships and actual suffering resulted.

County charities departments, particularly in Los Angeles County, found themselves faced with a burden with which they were not organized to cope.

At the same time farmers and truck gardeners found themselves without a market, due to the fact that their former customers were out of work. An unemployed veteran at Compton offered to trade his labor for some of the products of the garden. These vegetables he distributed among his friends On the following day he returned with several of his comrades. Out of this humble beginning organizations began to spring up within a few weeks that contained 2,500 families, drawn from the surrounding towns and communities. Other towns and communities soon followed the example and by this time there were 25 or 30 of these organizations who organized themselves into county central organizations. There were three delegates from each local organization, and these said local organizations were known as units and were given numbers.

Other communities continued to form until in 1933 there were more than 200 such units in Los Angeles County. The Los Angeles County board of supervisors sensed that the charity load could be supplemented and a vast amount of produce recovered that otherwise would have gone to waste The board appointed Col Wyman as food administrator, whose duty was to cooperate with and coordinate etc. Also later to administer a $60,000 fund for gas and oil This fund was later supplemented by other allocations.

The gross amount of foodstuffs and their value is hard to determine due to the fact that the fruit and vegetables received were of an inferior quality and a huge waste was entailed. Suffice to say at one time in 1933 and 1934 some 45,000 persons were on their rolls and foodstuffs, mostly fruits and vegetables, were recovered and distributed by the hundreds of tons Thus amounting in the aggregate to some millions of dollars and perhaps prevented a breakdown in Los Angeles County by partially relieving the sudden load

It should be understood that at no time was a unit in a position to maintain a family without some supplemental income. During the early part of 1933 a State-wide organization was formed Several of these organizations had sprung up in the counties south of Los Angeles also Alameda, San Jose, and some others, and many and varied were the schemes and theories advanced but in one thing they all agreed that capital was indispensable.

It was only natural that such a vast organization should consider theirs a permanent situation and took steps to weld themselves together and work out a program which succeeded in securing Federal funds How much? Then Relief Administrator Hopkins sent a Mr. Winslow Carlton to Los Angeles to administer the funds. Outright grants of money were made to the units for the purchase of machinery, trucks, and equipment Later loans were made to purchase raw material. These loans are now being made by SRA.

From the time that the Federal relief was instituted membership in the cooperatives started to decline and after the WPA was inaugurated most of the units closed their doors for lack of membership. Only those who had received grants and loans were able to survive, with a greatly reduced membership.

Method of Grants.

Grants of money were made to the units with which to purchase machinery, trucks, etc., and was restricted to that purpose.

Loans.

Loans were made to purchase raw material with the provision that they should be repaid in goods, but with the condition that these goods were not to be sold in open market in competition with private business and the surplus, which was the profit, was to be retained by the unit

Surplus.

Those employed in the units having a Federal grant and were known as grant units (those not having grants were called nongrant units) were given credit for labor using points (a point was ½ cent), at the day or week in some instances. Members could redeem points for goods, produce, or leave on deposit. These deposits were used to exchange with other unit producing a different line and thus a greater variety of goods were available.

This may sound like an ideal set-up but in practice it did not work out, for the following reasons, as above stated no unit could maintain a family who had no cash income, hence it was impossible to keep a trained personnel The result was that the cost of production was so high that it was necessary to write off some of the credits in order to reduce the production cost. Men refused to work in the units when they could secure work on the PWA, WPA, or direct relief through the SRA. Thus when Federal relief through the various agencies reached its peak the nongrant units were abandoned, and grant units continued with a reduced membership

Lack of Outlet.

We found that perhaps the greatest handicap is their lack of an adequate market or outlet for their products; most outstanding instance was Santa Ana.

Where the unit had received a grant for the purchase of broom making machinery and broom corn, but they soon found that the restricted market offered them i.e., other units were soon glutted. On the occasion of the committee's visit to this unit the broom project had been closed and the men were engaged in cutting and selling wood where there were no restrictions.

Perhaps the most outstanding success in the nongrant unit class was the cooperative at Carlsbad. This is essentially a consumers' cooperative but work projects are taken such as the picking of beans and the pay taken in beans which is sent to the cooperative cannery at Wilmington and canned, later distributed back to the members as needed. The store operated by this unit is a credit to the town. It has a large fresh up to date stock of meats and groceries, is clean and run as any up to date store should be.

The employees were efficient and courteous and except for the sign on the window one would never suspect this store to be a cooperative.

We further learned that there was a great deal of red tape and delay in granting the loans for purchase of material. Sometimes the funds are delayed until after the season for the particular kind of fruit or vegetables intended to process had passed.

Conclusions:

(1) We respectfully suggest that a revolving fund of not less than $2,000,000 be set up out of the $48,000,000 allocated for the SRA.

(2) That facilities be set up so that these loans can be made without undue delay.

(3) That in the event the SRA is consolidated the Department of Social Welfare, that a man familiar and experienced in the cooperatives be employed to administrate the fund.

(4) That the State receive payment in goods for such loans and that the co-ops be not allowed to compete with private business in the open market

Message from the Governor.

The following message from the Governor was received and read:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE,
SACRAMENTO, April 12, 1937.

Honorable Members of the Assembly, State Capitol, Sacramento, California.

GETLEMEN: I am returning herewith without my signature Assembly Bill No. 1679, being

"An act to amend section 1058 of the Code of Civil Procedure, relating to the giving of bonds in civil actions or proceedings."

The veto is predicated upon the broad proposition that the enactment of such a measure would constitute a cession of certain of the sovereign rights of the people of this State to the Federal Government, which rights were among those specifically withheld by the people at the time of the creation of the Federal Government.

Aside from the principle involved which would result in the breaking down of the sovereignty of the State in a piece-meal fashion, the people of the State would be under a disability since any citizen of this State damaged or injured on account of the institution of an action, or the filing of a defense, without merit, would be without an adequate remedy to obtain compensation for such damage or injury.

Yours most respectfully,

[SEAL]

FRANK F. MERRIAM, Governor of California.

It shall be the duty of the tax collector to pay into the county treasury all money collected by him under the provisions of this section at the same time and in the same manner as other money collected by him are so paid, such payments to be made in accordance with section 3753.

A settlement with the county auditor for all money collected under the provisions of this section shall be made by the tax collector in accordance with section 3753. Semiannually, on the fifteenth day of February and the fifteenth day of August, the county auditor shall audit the books and records of the tax collector, balancing the unpaid and paid taxes shown on the delinquent assessment rolls and abstract delinquent rolls hereinafter provided for with the proper tax accounts of the auditor, crediting the tax collector with all delinquent taxes paid and settled for as shown by the copies of redemption certificates and by the treasurer's receipts on file in the office of the county auditor and tax collector. Within 30 days after the effective date of this act, the tax collector in each county shall prepare, with the aid and cooperation of the county auditor, an abstract delinquent roll from all delinquent lists now and heretofore filed and kept in the office of the county auditor, excepting the delinquent list for the years subsequent to the year for which property was last deeded to the State of California for unpaid delinquent taxes.

Each year on the first day of August, after the tax collector has performed the duties required in section 3785, the tax collector shall prepare an abstract delinquent roll from the delinquent list of property which has been unpaid more than five years. Upon completion, the abstract delinquent roll so prepared shall be examined and audited by the county auditor who shall add up the total of unpaid taxes thereon shown and charge such unpaid delinquent taxes to the tax collector

Each of the provisions of sections 3881 and 3881a relating to the correction of defects in description or form or clerical errors of the assessor in the assessment book or of the tax collector in the delinquent list or the clerical errors of the auditor in the assessment book may be corrected in the abstract delinquent roll hereinbefore mentioned in the same manner as other defects and errors are corrected in accordance with the provisions of the Political Code

The abstract delinquent roll prepared in accordance with the provisions of this section, or copy thereof, certified by the county tax collector, showing unpaid taxes against any person or property, is prima facie evidence of the assessment, the property assessed, the delinquency, the amount of taxes due and unpaid, and that all the forms of law in relation to the assessment and levy of such taxes and the equalization thereof have been complied with"

The qualifications to be required of an applicant by the board are as follows:

(1) Such degree of experience, and such general knowledge of the Building, Safety, Health and Lien Laws of the State and of the rudimentary administrative principles of the contracting business as may be deemed necessary by the board for the safety and protection of the public. If the person qualifying by examination as to experience and knowledge shall, for any reason whatsoever, cease to be connected with the licensee to whom the license is issued, the licensee shall so notify the registrar in writing within ten (10) days from such cessation. If such notice is given the license shall remain in force for a reasonable length of time to be determined by rules of the board; provided, however, that if such licensee fails to so notify the registrar within such ten (10) days, at the end of such ten (10) days his or its license shall be ipso facto suspended; provided, however, that the license shall be reinstated upon the filing of an affidavit executed by the licensee or a member of the licentiate firm so suspended and filed with the registrar, to the effect that the person originally appearing for examination on behalf of the licensee has been replaced by another individual who shall have been qualified by examination as in this section provided, and who shall not have had a license suspended or revoked, nor have been connected with any licensee who has had his or its license suspended or revoked for reasons that should preclude him from personally qualifying as to good character as in this section required of an applicant.

(2) The possession by the applicant of good character. (3) That applicant has never been refused a license or had a license revoked for reasons that should preclude the granting of the license applied for.

(4) Provided that no license shall be issued to a corporation, copartnership, or other combination or organization if any responsible officer of such corporation, or other combination or organization, or any member of such copartnership does not meet the qualifications required of an applicant by this section other than those relating to knowledge and experience.

To obtain an original license under this act the applicant shall submit to the registrar, on such forms as he shall prescribe, accompanied by a fee of $10, and in accordance with such rules and regulations as may be deemed necessary and adopted by the board in order to carry out the foregoing provisions of this section, an application in writing for such license, containing the statement that the applicant desires the issuance of a license under the terms of this act. The information contained in such application forms shall include a complete statement of the general nature of the applicant's contracting business, and stating concisely the classification or classifications under which the applicant desires to be qualified as a contractor, and, in addition, if the applicant is an individual, his name and address, if a copartnership the names and addresses of all partners, and if a corporation, association or other organization the names and addresses of the president, vice president, secretary, and chief construction managing officer or officers, or responsible managing employee, together with all other information which may be deemed necessary by the registrar.

Licenses issued under this section may be classified in accordance with section 3½ of this act as general engineering, general building, and specialty contracting, provided that the specialty contracting division may be further subdivided in accordance with established practices in the construction industry.

SEC. 6. Section 6 of the act cited in the title hereof is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec 6. Upon receipt of said application and of said fee, and after such examination and investigation as the registrar may require in accordance with the provisions of section 5 of this act, if no valid reason exists for further investigation of said applicant, it shall be the duty of the registrar forthwith and within fifteen (15) days to issue a license to the applicant permitting him to engage in business as a contractor under the terms of this act for the balance of the fiscal year following the approval of the application, provided the applicant has furnished such complete information and in such manner as may be required by the registrar in accordance with section 5 of this act.

If the information brought to the attention of the registrar concerning the character and integrity of the applicant is such that, in the registrar's discretion, it would be proper to deny the application, the registrar shall forthwith notify the applicant by registered mail, or by personal service, to show cause within such time, not less than five days nor more than 30 days, why the application should not be denied.

The fees received under this act shall be deposited in the contractors' license fund, which fund is hereby created, and all moneys in said fund are hereby appropriated for the purposes of carrying out the provisions of this act.

Application for renewal of a current license at any time before June 30th of any year shall authorize operation as a contractor by such licensee until actual issuance of such renewal license for the ensuing fiscal year. The annual renewal fee shall be $5. In making application for renewal of a license issued under the provisions of this act such licensee applicant shall not be required to take any other or further examination to obtain such renewal license, provided such licensee has not been suspended or his license lapsed for any cause, for a period of one year or more, at the time of making such application. After a license has been suspended as in this section provided, for the period of one or more fiscal years, a new application for license must be made and a new license issued in accordance with the provisions of section 5 of this act.

The license issued under this act shall be signed by the licensee, shall be nontransferable, and shall be displayed in the licensee's main office or chief place of business, and satisfactory evidence of the possession thereof, and the current annual renewal thereof shall be exhibited by him upon demand.

A surviving member or members of a licensed copartnership by reason of death shall be entitled to continue in business under such license until the expiration date of such license; provided due application therefor is made to the registrar within 30 days after the death of the member, and same is approved by the registrar in accordance with such rules and regulations as he may adopt.

All licensees shall report to the registrar all changes of personnel, name style, or addresses recorded under this act, within 30 days after same shall occur.

Sec. 8. The registrar shall maintain at the office of the Department of Professional and Vocational Standards in Sacramento, open to public inspection during office hours, a complete indexed record of all applications and all licenses issued and of all renewed licenses under this act, and of all revocations, cancellations and suspensions thereof; and shall furnish a certified copy of any license issued, upon receipt of the sum of 50 cents, and such certified copy shall be received in all courts and elsewhere as evidence of the facts stated therein.

Whenever funds are available for that purpose, it shall be the duty of the registrar to publish a list of contractors, with their addresses, registered under the provisions of this act and of licenses issued, suspended or revoked, and such further information with respect to this act and the administration thereof as he may deem proper. He may furnish such lists to such public works and building departments, public officials or public bodies, associations, groups, bodies and individuals interested in or allied with the building and construction industry in this or any other State as in his judgment may be deemed advisable

Said lists of registered contractors, and of licenses issued, suspended or revoked, may, whenever funds are available for that purpose, be furnished to the public officials and others hereinbefore enumerated at such intervals as the registrar may deem necessary. Copies of said lists may also be furnished by the registrar upon request to any firm or individual upon payment of such reasonable fee or fees as may be determined by the registrar.

Whenever funds are available for that purpose, the registrar may publish and disseminate such information with relation to the administration and enforcement of this act to licentiates of the board, and such other public officials or bodies, associations, groups, bodies and individuals interested in or allied with the building and construction industry, as he may deem necessary to carry out the purposes of this act

It shall be the duty of the Registrar of Contractors, with the approval of the Director of the Department of Professional and Vocational Standards, to adopt and promulgate such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary to carry out the provisions of this section.

SEC. 10. Section 9a of the act cited in the title hereof is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 9a. Upon the filing with the registrar of a verified complaint charging a licensee with the commission within two years prior to the date of filing of such complaint of any act which is cause for suspension or revocation of license, the registrar must forthwith issue a citation directing the licensee, within ten days after service of the citation upon him, to appear by filing with the registrar his verified answer to the complaint, showing cause, if any he has, why his license should not be suspended or revoked; provided, however, that the appearance of the licensee by the filing of an answer may be waived by the complainant with the approval of the registrar, in which case the registrar shall proceed to a hearing as hereinafter provided. Service of the citation upon the licensee shall be fully effected by mailing a true copy thereof, together with a true copy of the complaint, by United States registered mail in a sealed envelope with postage fully prepaid thereon addressed to the licensee at his latest address of record in the registrar's office. Service of said citation shall be complete at the time of said deposit subject to the provisions of section 1013 of the Code of Civil Procedure of this State. Failure of the licensee to answer may be deemed an admission by him of the commission of the act or acts charged in the complaint and his license shall thereupon be suspended forthwith pending any hearing of the cause which the registrar in his discretion may order; provided that the registrar shall have power, in the event of such failure to answer, to suspend or revoke the license without further evidence than the verified complaint in the case.

Upon the filing of the answer, the registrar shall fix a time and place for the hearing and give the licensee and the complainant not less than five days' notice thereof. The notice may be served by depositing by registered mail in the United States mail a true copy of the notice inclosed in a sealed envelope with postage thereon fully prepaid and addressed to the licensee and to the complainant, respectively, at his last known address. Failure of the licensee to appear at such hearing, after having been notified as in this section provided, may be deemed an admission by him of the commission of the act or acts charged in the complaint and his license may thereupon be suspended forthwith pending any hearing of the cause which the registrar in his discretion may order; provided that the registrar shall have the power, in the event of such failure to appear, to suspend or revoke the license without further evidence than the verified complaint in the case. With the notice to the complainant there shall be attached or inclosed a copy of the answer. If either party has appeared by counsel, the notice shall be given in like manner, to counsel instead of to the party.

Upon the hearing, the registrar shall hear all relevant and competent evidence material to the issues and shall have power to continue the hearing from time to time as in his judgment may be necessary or proper. After the hearing is concluded and the matter submitted, the registrar shall, within 20 days after such submission, render his decision in writing, suspending or revoking the license or dismissing the complaint, with a brief statement of his reasons therefor. He shall give to the complainant and the licensee, or their respective attorneys, notice of the decision, by mail, in the same manner as prescribed herein for the giving of notice of hearing. Such decision may provide for the immediate complete suspension by the licensee of all operations as a contractor during the period fixed by the decision. The decision may however contain a provision permitting the licensee to complete any or all contracts shown by competent evidence taken at said hearing to be then uncompleted The decision may also contain a provision imposing upon the licensee compliance with such specific conditions as may be just in connection with his operations as a contractor as disclosed at said hearing and may further provide that until such conditions are complied with no application for restoration of the license so suspended or revoked shall be accepted by the registrar. The decision of the registrar suspending or revoking a license shall take effect immediately upon the service of such notice of decision; provided that the registrar shall have the power to grant a stay of execution of such decision suspending or revoking a license, pending the filing by the licensee of a petition to the superior court for a writ of review or to the registrar for a rehearing as hereinafter provided.

The licensee may within 20 days after such service of notice of the decision of the registrar suspending or revoking a license, apply for a rehearing by filing with the registrar his petition in writing therefor. Within five days after such filing, the registrar shall cause notice thereof to be served upon the complainant by mailing a copy of the petition for rehearing to the complainant in the same manner as herein prescribed for the giving of notice of hearing. Within 20 days after the service of the last mentioned notice the registrar shall either grant or deny said petition and if said petition is not granted within said period of 20 days it shall be deemed to be denied.

In his order granting or denying a rehearing, the registrar shall set forth a statement of the particular grounds and reasons for his action on the petition and shall forthwith mail a copy of the order to the parties who have appeared in support of or in opposition to the petition for rehearing. If a rehearing is granted, the registrar shall vacate the decision theretofore rendered suspending or revoking the license and shall set the matter for further hearing on due notice to the parties, given in the same manner as prescribed herein for the giving of notice of an original hearing.

After submission of the matter upon rehearing, the registrar shall promptly render his decision in writing and give notice thereof in the same manner as of a decision rendered upon an original hearing.

Any citation, notice or other process or any paper or document provided by this section to be served on any party may be personally served as provided in section 1011 of the Code of Civil Procedure with the same effect as if served by mail as in this act provided.

At any time before a case is finally submitted for decision to the registrar, whether upon an original hearing, or upon a rehearing, a complaint or answer may, upon the motion of either party and with the consent of the registrar, or upon the registrar's own motion, be amended; provided that if new charges are alleged in an amended complaint the defendant may upon request be allowed a reasonable time to prepare his defense to such new charges. Ten days shall be deemed a reasonable time in such case.

Any decision of the registrar, whether upon an original hearing or after a rehearing as herein provided, shall be subject to review by the superior court under the provisions of Chapter I, Title I, Part III, of the Code of Civil Procedure The party desiring such review of the decision of the registrar shall file his petition therefor in the superior court within 20 days after service upon him of the registrar's decision, or, in case a rehearing has been applied for, within 20 days after service upon him of the order denying such application therefor, or within 20 days after service upon him of the registrar's decision upon rehearing, and, in any proceeding for review, the court may in its discretion, upon the filing of a proper bond by the licensee in an amount to be fixed by the court, but not less than $1,000 guaranteeing the compliance by the licensee with such specific conditions as may have been imposed upon him by the registrar's decision, permit the licensee to continue to do business as a contractor pending entry of judgment by the court in the case. The person desiring such review shall pay to the registrar the sum of 20 cents for each 100 words of the transcript of the record and proceedings certified to the reviewing court.

The suspension or revocation of license as in this act provided may also be embraced in any action otherwise proper in any court involving the licensee's performance of his legal obligation as a contractor.

SEC. 11. Section 12 of the act cited in the title hereof is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 12. Any person, who acts in the capacity of a contractor within the meaning of this act without a license as herein provided, and any person who conspires with another person to violate any of the provisions of this act, is guilty of a misdemeanor and shall, upon conviction thereof, be punished by a fine of not to exceed $500, or by imprisonment in the county jail for a term not to exceed six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

No person engaged in the business or acting in the capacity of a contractor as defined by section 3 of this act, shall bring or maintain any action in any court of this State for the collection of compensation for the performance of any act or contract for which a license is required by this act without alleging and proving that such person was a duly licensed contractor at all times during the performance of such act or contract.

The word "person" as used in this section includes an individual, a firm, copartnership, corporation, association, or other organization."

The penalty shall be computed beginning July first of the year of sale upon the amount of taxes delinquent at the time of sale, and upon the amount of each year's taxes in like manner, beginning the first day of July of the year when the property would have been sold for the taxes of that year, if there had been no previous sale.

The county auditor shall, on the application of the person desiring to redeem, make an estimate of the amount to be paid, and shall give him triplicate certificates of the amount, specifying the several amounts thereof, which certificates the redemptioner shall deliver to the county treasurer, together with the money, and the county treasurer shall give triplicate receipts, written or indorsed upon said cerificates, one to the redemptioner, and two to the county auditor, who shall deliver one of the said receipts to the State Controller.

The State Controller shall, upon request of the auditor, issue a receipt which may be recorded in the recorder's office of the county in which said real estate is situated, in the book of deeds, and the record thereof shall have the same effect as that of a deed of reconveyance of the interest conveyed by such deed or certificate of sale.

This section shall also apply to State lands sold by the State when the full amount of the purchase price has not been paid to the State therefor, after the deed to the State, provided for in section 3785 has been filed with the Surveyor General; provided, however, that one of the receipts showing the redemption of such land shall be delivered to the Surveyor General who shall issue his receipt to the redemptioner; and provided further, that no certificates of redemption shall be issued by the county auditor until he has first ascertained from the Surveyor General that the land has not been disposed of by the State."

Message from the Governor.

The following message from the Governor was received and read:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE,
SACRAMENTO, April 13, 1937.

Honorable Members of the Assembly,
State Capitol, Sacramento, California.

GENTLEMEN: I am returning herewith without my signature Assembly Bill No. 1682, being

"An act to amend section 566 of the Code of Civil Procedure, relating to restrictions on appointment of receiver."

The section of the Code of Civil Procedure which this measure would amend places restrictions upon the appointment of receivers in the State courts. Under the existing law, without the written consent of the parties a judge is prohibited from appointing as receiver a party to the action, an attorney of the party, a person interested in the action or a person related to the judge by consanguinity or affinity within the third degree. The prohibition against the appointment of a party to an action, attorney of the party or person interested in an action has been the law of this State since 1872.

These prohibitions were obviously adopted to prevent the appointment of persons who by virtue of their interest in the action might harbor a bias or prejudice.

By the proposed amendments a number of these safeguards would be taken away not only in the appointment of officers and employees of the State, but also in the appointment of officers and employees of the Federal Government.

Aside from the proposal which would authorize the appointment of officers and employees of the United States as receivers in actions in which the Federal Government is interested, and which I oppose for the reason that this would constitute a cession of certain of the sovereign rights of the people of this State to the Federal Government without affording adequate protection to citizens of this State, I am not unmindful of the unconscious partiality which might be taken by a State officer or employee acting as receiver in a matter in which the State might be interested.

For the foregoing reasons, it is my opinion that the interests of the parties in receiverships would not receive added protection by these proposals.

Yours most respectfully,

FRANK F. MERRIAM, Governor of California.

Assembly Bill No. 1682 ordered on unfinished business calendar.

MODESTO DEFENDANTS COMMITTEE REPORT

Mr. Speaker and Members of the Assembly

The committee appointed pursuant to an Assembly resolution passed in the Assembly January 21, 1937, for the purpose of investigating the conviction of certain men known as the "Modesto Defendants" and allegations of perjury and subornation of perjury connected therewith, reports as follows:

The transcript of testimony and all proceedings had in Los Angeles are contained in three volumes of 490 pages.

The committee met in the State Building in San Francisco, California, on the seventeenth, eighteenth, nineteenth and twentieth of February, 1937, and again on the twenty-fifth, twenty-sixth and twenty-seventh of February, 1937, and heard the following witnesses:

Ralph O. Marron.

Robert C. Johnston.
Bertram D. Robertson.

Glenn M. DeVore.
Leslie A. Cleary.
Charles W. Dullea.
Edward A. Harding.
George H. Page.

The committee met in San Quentin State Prison the afternoon of February 19, 1937, and heard the following witnesses:

Robert J. Fitzgerald.
Victor H. Johnson.
Reuel Stanfield.

The transcript of testimony and all proceedings had in San Francisco and in San Quentin State Prison are contained in three volumes of 1266 pages, making six volumes of testimony. (Testimony taken in Los Angeles will hereafter be designated as L. A. and testimony taken in San Francisco will be designated as S. F.)

In addition to questioning witnesses the committee examined the original statements made by the defendants and others to District Attorney Leslie A. Cleary of Stanislaus County early in the morning of April 21, 1935, and caused these statements to be set forth in the transcript. All available affidavits were examined and made part of the record. The testimony given by James F. Scrudder before the Stanislaus County grand jury May 10, 1935, was closely examined and the transcript made part of the record as Exhibit Number 4. Likewise the transcript of the testimony taken before the Stanislaus County grand jury January 28 and 29, 1937, was also closely examined and made part of the record. The committee listened to 14 or more of the Ediphone records reproducing a conversation between Mr. and Mrs. James F. Scrudder, Mr. and Mrs. William S. Briggs and H. C. Magee, made without the knowledge of Mr. and Mrs. Scrudder on the evening of December 1, 1936. Many parts of the transcript taken from these recordings are set forth in the transcript of these proceedings.

The outstanding facts of the case may be briefly stated as follows:

In the Spring of 1935 a strike was in progress known as the "Tankers' Strike." On or about the tenth day of April, 1935, some dynamite was stolen from a quarry in Marin County. About six-thirty or seven o'clock on the evening of April 20, 1935, Grattan Hogin, sheriff of Stanislaus County, received a telephone call at his residence in Modesto from an official of the Standard Oil Company at Patterson that they had received word from San Francisco that some men were on their way to Patterson and that they feared trouble. These Standard Oil officials had the license number of a Nash car. Late that evening or early the morning of the twenty-first, Standard Oil guards stopped two cars, a Chrysler and a Nash, in which were 11 men. Six sticks of dynamite were found in the Chrysler. The men were taken to the county jail in Modesto. Six sticks of dynamite were found on the roadside the following morning, alleged to have been thrown from the Nash car before it was stopped.

Two of the men arrested, James F. Scrudder and Hal Marchant, revealed to Jack Sayers, special agent for the Standard Oil Company, that they were undercover men. Hal Marchant did not hesitate to state that he was in the employ of the Standard Oil Company. Scrudder's status was not made clear. These men were the chief witnesses for the prosecution, and although the defendants were indicted under five counts, they were found guilty of but one, reckless and malicious possession of dynamite. The jury recommended leniency.

On or about December 11, 1936, the substance of 18 Ediphone records was published purporting to be statements made by Scrudder and recorded without his knowledge in which he was alleged to have said that the Modesto Defendants had been framed; that he had perjured himself and that he had done so under intimidation of Standard Oil officials, District Attorney Leslie A. Cleary and Special Prosecutor Glenn M. DeVore.

The committee has carefully sifted all the testimony given by the witness in the trial court and has subpenaed and examined every available witness during the course of the investigation. Hal Marchant could not be found and it is believed that he is beyond the borders of the State. Neither George Brazelton (hereafter mentioned) nor his alleged wife, Helen, could be found. In the case of these witnesses the committee has had to rely on the transcript of the trial and upon statements made before District Attorney Leslie A. Cleary and before the county grand jury of Stanislaus County.

As a result of the investigation the committee finds as follows:

1. That without the testimony of Scrudder, now entirely discredited by his own confessions, Reuel Stanfield, Victor H. Johnson, Robert J. Fitzgerald, John Sousa, John Burrows, Henry Silva and Patsy Ciambrelli would not have been convicted on any count contained in the indictment, and the presumption of their innocence is fortified by the evidence before the committee.

It should be said in this connection that this finding casts no reflection on the Honorable Roy B. Maxey, judge of the superior court, who presided at the trial. The transcript of the trial shows and all parties thereto state that Judge Maxey heard the case in an honest and impartial manner. Likewise it should be stated that the jury that heard the case and brought back the verdict acted in good faith, honestly and intelligently. The basis of this miscarriage of justice is the perjury of the prosecution's chief witness, James F. Scrudder.

2. That James F. Scrudder perjured himself before the Stanislaus grand jury on the tenth day of May, 1935, at the trial of the defendants, before the Stanislaus grand jury January 28, 1937, and before this legislative committee. The committee's estimation of Scrudder may be summed up as follows: He is a cunning psycopathic liar with a complex for "detecting" and "snooping"; a megalomaniac who would sacrifice his brother or best friend to gratify his own ego; and an intriguing parasite who would betray his greatest benefactor in hope of greater rewards.

3. That Glenn M. De Vore, special prosecutor hired by the Standard Oil Company, was not guilty of subornation of perjury.

4. That there is no evidence to sustain charges of subornation of perjury on the part of Leslie A. Cleary, district attorney of Stanislaus County.

5. That the case should have been entitled THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA and THE STANDARD OIL COMPANY OF CALIFORNIA versus THE DEFENDANTS.

6. That there is strong evidence of what may be termed "a tacit conspiracy to frame" the defendants on the part of certain individuals, and particularly on the part of James F. Scrudder and Hal Marchant. This statement is not intended to convey the idea of an express agreement to "frame" the defendants, but rather a tacit agreement prompted by the zeal of hirelings to "produce" results for their employers.

The committee bases its findings as set forth above on the record and specifically on the following:

1. Reuel Stanfield, Victor H. Johnson, Robert J. Fitzgerald, John Sousa, John Burrows, Henry Silva and Patsy Ciambrelli were convicted in Modesto, California, under the third count of an indictment containing five counts. They were found guilty of the offense of reckless and malicious possession of dynamite and the verdict carried a recommendation for leniency. They were acquitted of the other four counts, which included conspiracy to injure property and persons by the use of explosives, conspiracy to injure persons by the use of blackjacks, etc., and the possession of blackjacks. All of these men are members of maritime unions, particularly of the Pacific Coast Marine Firemen, Oilers, Watertenders and Wipers Association. Both Reuel Stanfield and Victor H. Johnson were effective members of the striker's committee.

James F. Scrudder held a working permit in the San Francisco unit of the International Longshoremen's Association; the International Longshoremen's Association was not involved in the strike. He had gained a foothold in the I. L. A. while that organization was on strike, and had quit a well-paying job as a painter on the San Francisco Bridge in order to do so. He had done strike duty, going around in squad cars with "six and eight" men in a car; which picket-duty he declares "was fighting, going after nonunion men." (Page 45 at line 12, Stanislaus grand jury, May 10, 1935.)

On the afternoon of April 20, 1935, a man by the name of Donald W. Cobble notified some of the union men that he had a letter from his wife, who was a waitress in a hotel in Patterson, that strike breakers were being housed at a hotel in that town. It was Saturday and the men decided to organize a party, take a trip to Patterson, and investigate the situation. The Mohawk Tavern, located at the foot of Commercial Street near the Ferry Building, and adjacent to the Union Halls, was a usual meeting place for the men and the party was to start from there.

The evidence shows that the defendants were within the Mohawk Tavern eating and drinking. Two of the men were more or less intoxicated. Scrudder testified that Rodger had gone for the dynamite and that when he returned with the 12 sticks, caps and fuses, he (Scrudder) insisted that it be separated into two packages. The division was made, and the two packages were tightly wrapped in newspapers and one package placed in the Nash and one in the Chrysler. Scrudder testified that Buyle carried the package for the Chrysler across the street and placed it in the car.

Scrudder told District Attorney Leslie A. Cleary, the night of the arrest, that only Rodger, Buyle and possibly Marchant, had anything to do with dividing the dynamite. The rest of the defendants were inside the Mohawk Tavern when Buyle and Rodger split up the packages in the street and placed them in the cars. Scrudder told H. C. Magee and Mr. and Mrs. William Briggs (see Los Angeles Transcript) that only these three men and he knew that the dynamite was in the cars. He also stated to these people that the defendants were "framed" and that if he told the truth that they would go free. He told them that he would be willing to spend a year in jail if he could right the wrong that he had done.

In view of the fact that most men who are unfamiliar with the use of dynamite fear to come in contact with it, there is grave doubt that 11 men, and particularly seamen, would knowingly ride in a car containing dynamite. The fact that few of the men knew each other, and that none of them knew the entire group, should be considered. It appears incredible to the committee that total strangers (for the greatest part) should suddenly place such confidence in each other that, without misgivings, 11 of them should start out with dynamite to blow up a hotel.

The committee discredits Scrudder's affidavits and testimony that his statements to Mr. and Mrs. Briggs and to H. C. Magee, including those recorded on the Ediphone records without his knowledge, were made under "fear" and intimidation. This explanation is entirely discredited in view of Scrudder's original statement to District Attorney Cleary the night of the arrest, which corroborates many statements made by Scrudder to Mr. and Mrs. Briggs and H. C. Magee. In this statement Scrudder told Cleary that only Buyle and Rodger were present when the dynamite was separated into two packages. The committee listened to Ediphone records of the conversation recorded on the night of December 1, 1936, between Mr. and Mrs. Briggs, H. C. Magee and Mr. and Mrs. Scrudder, and the committee is convinced that the statements made by Scrudder were not made under the slightest fear or intimidation, but, on the contrary, were quite spontaneous, boastful, and for the most part prompted by his dissatisfaction with the poor rewards he had received for his services. Details, ranging in degree of significance, have been completely verified by the committee, many of which were not adduced at the trial. The committee is further convinced that Scrudder was more truthful in his statements to District Attorney Leslie A. Cleary and to Mr. and Mrs. William Briggs and H. C. Magee than at any other time. He did not tell the whole truth to District Attorney Cleary and he fell into vicious and malicious lies in his statements to the others. Most of these lies were prompted by his intense disappointment in receiving such poor rewards from the Standard Oil Company when he believed that his perjured testimony was instrumental in breaking the strike, and, consequently were directed toward Attorney Glenn M. DeVore, District Attorney Cleary and the Standard Oil Company Special Agent, James P. Arnold.

There is good reason to believe, and the evidence, in part at least, supports the contention that Scrudder and George Brazelton induced Buyle and Rodger to steal the dynamite from Marin County; that Donald W. Cobble incited the union men to go to Patterson; that the seven defendants organized a picketing party for legitimate reconnoitering; that Scrudder induced Buyle and Rodger to take the dynamite with the picketing party; that the dynamite was divided and placed in the cars without the knowledge of these seven defendants and that they had no knowledge of its presence until they were arrested by the Standard Oil guards at Patterson.

2. The record does not raise any doubt of the guilt of Alphonse Buyle and John Rodger. The record, affidavits and transcript of the testimony taken at the trial does indicate, however, that both these misguided men were tools in the hands of James Scrudder and George Brazelton.

It is an established fact that Brazelton's alleged wife, Helen, accompanied the men to shield them from suspicion.

Scrudder admits an acquaintanceship and something of friendship with George Brazelton. It was George Brazelton that sponsored Scrudder for admission into the I. L. A.

George Brazelton and his alleged wife were never brought to trial, although they were secretly indicted by the Stanislaus grand jury.

A close scrutiny of Scrudder's testimony regarding the theft of the dynamite reveals an unusual knowledge of details. He testified that Brazelton merely told him that Buyle and Rodger had taken Brazelton's wife and had gone to Marin County to steal some dynamite. The following morning Scrudder testified that he asked Buyle about it and was able to tell Buyle that it was stolen from McNear's Point (See SF1071, line 8 and LA226, line 15). This fact, according to Scrudder, was not published in the papers until at least two days later.

3. To report all the lies and the perjuries of James Scrudder told in this case is a task too great for this committee to undertake. The following merely touches upon the mass of conflicting statements made by him, most of which were under oath.

An examination of his testimony before the Stanislaus County grand jury May 10, 1935 (page 49, beginning at line 24), will reveal that he told the grand jury that he was not a "detective"; that he was not a "detective" at any time; that he did not have "pay" from any "outfit" as an undercover agent. He told the committee that he was giving volunteer information to the San Francisco police department without compensation; "no salary at all." (L.A. 209 at line 5.) An examination of his statement to District Attorney Cleary on April 21, 1935, reveals that he was receiving $30 per week from Captain George M. Healy of the San Francisco police department that "Healy took up with oil companies" (Page S.F. 275 beginning at line 10.) This testimony is corroborated by Healy, Majors and James P. Arnold, head of the investigating division of the Standard Oil Company. Scrudder testified at the trial (page 1850 Trial Transcript) that he had told Cleary that he was an employee of the San Francisco police department. He lied again before the Stanislaus grand jury on January 28, 1937, when he stated: "I was not on the pay roll of the Standard Oil nor of the police department. What I was doing then was voluntarily. I was employed as a stevedore at the time." (Page 32, beginning at line 17 of the Transcript of Testimony taken before the Stanislaus grand jury January 28, 29, 1937.) He lied again (page 60, beginning at line 8 of the Transcript of Testimony taken before the Stanislaus grand jury January 28 and 29, 1937) when he stated that he did not expect to get "any pay of any sort, a job of any sort" or "anything" for his services.

When testifying before the Stanislaus grand jury on May 10, 1935, he made this statement: "I couldn't get ahold of any authorities there (at San Francisco) or I would have killed it. It had me worried." (Page 47 at line 5.) At the trial of the defendants in Modesto he gave this testimony: Q. Did you communicate with the police department at all before you left San Francisco? A. I did. Q. You did? A. Yes. Q. And who did you communicate with? A. Officer Harry Majors. (Page 1943 at line 20 of the Trial Transcript.) He also testified before the Stanislaus grand jury that a police "squad" car was in the alley near the Mohawk Tavern and that he walked down to investigate. A subpolice station was within a block and he left the Mohawk Tavern three times to telephone Majors.

4. There is nothing in the record to substantiate the charge made by Scrudder to Magee and Mr. and Mrs. Briggs that Glenn M. DeVore was guilty of subornation of perjury. The committee heard the Ediphone records of the conversation between Mr. and Mrs. Scrudder, Mr. and Mrs. William S. Briggs and H. C. Magee and heard Scrudder say that DeVore caused him to change his testimony. There is nothing in the record as gathered by the committee to substantiate this charge and the committee does not hesitate to report that any unsubstantiated and uncorroborated statement made by Scrudder should be viewed with caution and suspicion. The committee believes that Scrudder was disgruntled because of his poor treatment at the hands of the Standard Oil Company and that he was seriously considering ways and means of bringing the company to terms. He stated that Marchant had received more money for his part of the affair than he had received, which statement is verified by James P. Arnold, and his ego was wounded. He also may have been suffering some human pangs of regret and remorse in regard to the defendants he had sent to prison and it may have been that he was willing to right the wrong he had committed, because, after all, he had gained so little for his pains. But his charge against Glenn M DeVore is not corroborated anywhere else in the record and for that reason the committee can not give credence to it.

The testimony does establish the fact, however, that Glenn M. DeVore was paid in excess of $14,000 by the Standard Oil Company to assist Leslie A. Cleary, the duly elected district attorney of Stanislaus County, in prosecuting the defendants. DeVore received expenses and $7,500 for the trial work and $6,500 plus expenses to resist the appeal of the defendants. All of this money was paid to him by the Standard Oil Company of California. As there is no law on the statute books of the State of California known to the members of the committee, which prohibits an attorney to act as special prosecutor and to accept pay from private corporations for such services, the committee reports that DeVore's conduct appears to have been ethical and professionally proper. The fact that DeVore was in continuous contact with Standard Oil officials during the trial is of little consequence in view of the above and in view of the fact that he was not representing the people of the State of California but was representing his client, the Standard Oil Company.

5. What is said above in regard to subornation of perjury on the part of Glenn M. DeVore is equally true in regard to subornation of perjury on the part of District Attorney Leslie A. Cleary. Although the conduct of Cleary in conferring daily with Standard Oil officials is open to criticism on the ground that he was a duly elected official of Stanislaus County and not an attorney for the oil company as was DeVore, there is nothing to substantiate Scrudder's charges of subornation of perjury. Although Scrudder's testimony changed quite often there is nothing to indicate that Leslie A. Cleary was forcing him to change it. Therefore we only have Scrudder's word that Cleary was guilty of subornation of perjury. And, as stated above, the allegations made by Scrudder that are unsubstantiated and uncorroborated are not entitled to credence.

Leslie A. Cleary is a man who believes that Communists are lurking behind every pillar and post and that "Red" armies are apt to materialize out of thin air at any minute to destroy the government. He believes that every activity on the part of organized labor to better their working and living conditions of working men is "subversive" and "un-American". He is burdened with the idea that every strike and every labor dispute is ordered and directed by Moscow. He thinks the present tendencies in government radical and very serious. The committee wishes to state that this finding is not reported in derogation of District Attorney Cleary, but, on the contrary, is stated in his defense. The committee believes that these convictions on the part of Mr. Cleary are sincere and honest and that they explain his unusual and extraordinary zeal in the prosecution of these defendants.

6. When an offense of such magnitude and seriousness as the reckless and malicious possession of dynamite is committed it should be prosecuted by law in the name of the people.

Although the tanker service of the Standard Oil Company suffered little from the strike, in the instant case the commitee finds that this private corporation hired Glenn M. DeVore as a special prosecutor to assist the duly elected district attorney of Stanislaus County in the prosecution of the defendants for such an offense. The Standard Oil Company, through its special agent, James P. Arnold, paid Attorney Glenn M. DeVore $7,500 for his services in prosecuting the defendants. But the company did not stop there. This corporation was not satisfied in convicting and sending these men to prison, but was concerned in keeping them there. So Glenn M. DeVore was paid an additional $6,500 by the company to resist the appeal of the defendants. In addition the company paid DeVore a considerable sum to cover his expenses during the trial and in connection with the appeal.

The committee finds that the Standard Oil Company paid the expenses of the chief witnesses at the trial and in addition thereto paid James F. Scrudder $650; Hal Marchant $1,320; George Brazelton $100 and Helen Brazelton $100. (S.F. 905.) In addition to this, the company furnished guards for Scrudder from the day the Stanislaus grand jury brought in its indictment of the defendants until the day the trial ended; paid the expenses, hotel bills and doctor bills for Mrs. Scrudder and gave Scrudder a job. It should be said in this connection that James Scrudder was virtually a prisoner of the Standard Oil Company during the interval he was given guards. (Ediphone records and testimony of Jack Sayers, San Francisco Transcript)

District Attorney Cleary and Glenn M DeVore were in constant consultation with Jack Sayers and James P. Arnold throughout the duration of the trial. Cleary was in constant touch with Sayers from the night the defendants were arrested. James P. Arnold and Jack Savers, Standard Oil officials, took up residence in Modesto during the trial and DeVore and Cleary went over the events of the trial with one or the other every evening. (S.F. 873 at line 10)

Arnold paid Cleary $208.50 which is explained by Cleary as a reimbursement for expenses incurred by him in bringing two court reporters from Portland to testify in the trial of the defendants at Modesto. (S.F. 1117 at line 10.) Why the Standard Oil Company should reimburse Stanislaus County is not explained.

It is from these well-corroborated facts and others too numerous to mention, that the committee concluded that the prosecution of the defendants was actually carried on by the Standard Oil Company and not the people of the State of California.

7. While direct evidence is lacking to prove an express "frameup" of these defendants, there is abundant evidence of what may be termed a tacit conspiracy to "frame" them. The committee looks upon the following facts as highly significant:

James P. Arnold, chief special agent for the Standard Oil Company, stationed in San Francisco, was the directing head of strike-breaking activities for what was known as the "Six Oil Company's Tanker Committee." (S.F. 858 at line 26.)

Jack Sayers, special agent, working under orders of Arnold, moved his strike breakers and guards from San Luis Obispo to Fairfield (or Fairtax) and finally came to rest in Patterson on or about April 1, 1935.

Hal Marchant was hired by Arnold as an undercover operator on or about the sixth day of April, 1935. (S.F. 855 at line 7.) Arrangements had previously been made for the employment of Marchant. He was sent to Arnold by a Mr. Bacon and a Mr. O'Dale of the Red detail or Communist detail of the Portland police department. (Trial Transcript, page 2308, beginning at line 12.) From the day of his meeting Arnold, he made a report daily. His testimony at the trial of the Modesto defendants indicates that he was engaged in strike-breaking activities in Portland and that he had been instrumental on one occasion, at least, in attempting to incite labor men to violence during a strike. While serving Mr Arnold, he was also a delegate to the Joint Tanker Strike Committee from the Sailors' Union in Portland. Marchant received his expenses and an allowance from the union.

Scrudder was employed by the San Francisco police department on or about the same date and his salary of $30 per week was paid by Arnold (S.F. 919 at line 21. Compare S F 906 at line 13), although no one admits it except Arnold. That Scrudder knew of the arrangement is evidenced by his remark to Cleary the night of the arrest when he said "Healy took up with oil companies" mentioning the sum of $30. (S.F. 275 at line 10.) He was given a list of names by Captain Healy "to look these guys up." (Statement to District Attorney Cleary April 21, 1935. S.F. 286 at line 16.) (See Healy's denial S.F. 1099.)

George Brazelton and Scrudder were friends Brazelton knew Rodger and Buyle. He "loaned" his "wife" to these two men the night they stole the dynamite.

Donald W. Cobble was apparently an undercover man planted in San Francisco for the purpose of sending the defendants out of the county. (S F. 801 at line 6.) Marchant told Cleary the night of the arrest. (S.F. 801 at line 6.) "* * * the way it looked to me it was a trap from the start, and I will tell you the reason why I made that observation was the fact that this informer (Cobble) in San Francisco * * " " * * and I formed the conclusion right there that it was a trap, you know, to get these fellows, see * * *". It was Cobble who informed the union man that his wife, who was supposed to be employed as a waitress in the hotel in Patterson, had written him that strike breakers were being housed in Patterson, which led the men to take the trip to investigate, but not to blow up a hotel where the wife of one of their supposed friends might be living and working.

The committee recognizes the fact that Marchant's statements in respect to Cobble are not corroborated by other evidence, upon which conclusions may be drawn that there was an express "frameup", rather than what the committee has termed a "tacit conspiracy to frame". Cobble was a witness for the State at the trial in Modesto Mr. Arnold guaranteed payment of Cobble's expenses. (Trial Transcript, pages 3467-2474).

The committee finds that Scrudder had his car overhauled at a time, when under the circumstances, he could hardly afford it. He was quite insistent that he not be left out of any "trip" or "party" and was careful to inform the men that his car was available for picket duty or anything else. He had done strike duty before and had gone out with six and eight men in what he termed "squad cars" "fighting, going after nonunion men." He had attempted to incite the men to violence before. (Statement to Cleary the night of the arrest.) He told Cleary that he had said to Buyle. "Listen, Boele, the car is at your disposal, we ought to get some things around this town."

The committee finds that Scrudder could have notified the police before leaving San Francisco and should have done so; but that he was more interested in 'producing" for his employers. He testified that a police "squad" car was in the alley and that he went down to investigate. (Testimony taken before the grand jury of Stanislaus County, May 10, 1935, page 28 at line 3.)

The committee believes that there is a greater significance in many of Scrudder's statements than appear on the surface. The night of the arrest, he said to District Attorney Leslie A. Cleary "If you had another car tonight, we probably would have got another load." (S.F. 277 at line 25.)

The committee was unable to definitely determine how information actually got from San Francisco to Patterson that the union men were on the way down. There are many broken links in the series of telephone calls that are alleged to have originated with Scrudder and ended in the sheriff's office in Modesto The committee feels that these broken links are important and that the lack of explanation is significant.

Scrudder testified that he called Harry Majors, the evening of the twentieth of April, 1935. (L A. 248 at line 13; L.A. 249 at line 21.) Majors testified that Scrudder called him and told him that two cars were going to Patterson with "the stuff" and that he (Majors) then called Captain Healy. Healy testified that Majors called him and told him that the men were on their way to Patterson with dynamite. (S.F. 1,100 at line 17.) He further testified that he then called the sheriff's office in Modesto. (S F. 1100 at line 19) Sheriff Hogin of Stanislaus County testified that either Jack Sayers or a Robertson, both employees of the Standard Oil Company, called him from Patterson and that the word dynamite was not mentioned. (S.F. 662 at line 26.) He was told that word had been received from San Francisco that a "car had left San Francisco loaded with men, apparently coming to Patterson." (S.F. 665 at line 18.) Bertram D. Robertson testified that he received a telephone call from Arthur Quackenboss, a member of the Tanker's Committee, in San Francisco. He testified that Quackenboss told him that he (Quackenboss) had just received a call from the San Francisco police department that two cars containing a "beef squad" were on the way to Patterson. (S.F. 1003 at line 26.) Robertson then called Sheriff Hogin. (S.F. 1005 at line 5.) Quackenboss testified that someone in the San Francisco police department called him and told him to notify Modesto that some of the boys were on the way down. (S.F. 1088 at line 2.) He then called Robertson at Modesto. (S.F. 1088 at line 15.) It was either Majors of the San Francisco police department that called Quackenboss. or someone in Major's office. (S F. 1091 at line 25) Healy testified that Majors called him and told him the men were on the way with dynamite. (S F. 1100 at line 18) Healy then called the sheriff's office in Modesto. (S F. 1100 at line 21.) Healy testified: "I told them that I had received information that there were two carloads of men on their way to Patterson with some dynamite" (S F. 1100 at line 25.) Majors testified that he did not call anyone other than Healy. (S.F. 1143 at line 24) Who was it then, that called Quackenboss? Majors was quite positive that no one from his office could have called Quackenboss. (S.F. 1146 at line 23) The records of the telephone company do not reveal a single telephone call from the San Francisco police department to Modesto on the twentieth of April, 1935. Did Healy actually call the sheriff's office in Modesto? If he did, to whom did he deliver his message? If someone called Quackenboss from the San Francisco police department, who was it? Did Marchant contact Arnold, or perhaps call Quackenboss on the telephone? Did the Standard Oil officials have knowledge that the cars were coming to Patterson early in the afternoon of April 20, 1935, and that dynamite would be discovered in them?

These are only a few of the questions the committee were unable to have satisfactorily answered and the committee reports them as significant because, under ordinary circumstances, they should be easy to answer

The committee makes the following recommendations:

1. That a full and complete pardon for Ruel Stanfield, Victor H. Johnson, Robert J. Fitzgerald, John Sousa, John Burrows, Henry Silva and Patsy Ciambrelli be granted, because their legal presumption of innocence obtains in view of Scrudder's confession and discredited testimony.

2. The enactment of a law prohibiting private corporations from defraying expenses of public prosecutions, or furnishing special counsel to assist in criminal prosecutions.

3 The enactment of a law prohibiting district attorneys, city attorneys and all public prosecutors from accepting financial aid, either directly or indirectly, from private corporations in the prosecution of a public offense.

4. Legislation making it mandatory upon the trial judge in a criminal case arising out of, or involving, labor disputes to instruct the jury that the testimony of any witness appearing to be a "stool pigeon" or undercover operator must be received with suspicion and caution

5. The enactment of such legislation as may be necessary to authorize the employment of special assistants to district attorneys in the prosecution of cases where such assistance is reasonably necessary for the prosecution of any particular case.

6. The enactment of legislation prohibiting district attorneys, city attorneys and all other public prosecutors from conferring and consulting with private corporation officials, other than witnesses to be called in trial, in all public offenses involving labor disputes or arising out of labor disputes.

7. The enactment of legislation providing that all private guards employed by private corporations shall be deputized in the county where they are employed and that their authority shall extend only to the physical limits of the property they are hired to guard.

Warrants registered in accordance with the provisions of this section shall cease to bear interest on the date following the date upon which said advertisements first appear.

After payment of support of the public school system, as provided for in section 14 of Article XIII of the Constitution, all moneys remaining in the general fund in the State Treasury shall be first applied to the payment of the principal and interest of any outstanding bonds of the State of California as such principal and interest become due. If at any time it is necessary to register warrants for the payment of such principal and interest, warrants so registered shall constitute a prior lien in the order of their issuance on any moneys thereafter received into the general fund in the State Treasury, and said warrants shall be paid before any other warrants regardless of the prior issuance of the latter.

For the purposes of this section "unapplied money" means money in the general fund in the State Treasury for which outstanding warrants have not already been drawn and which would remain in said general fund if all outstanding warrants theretofore drawn were paid.

SEC. 14. If and when any State revenue mentioned in section 15 of Article XIII of the Constitution, other than revenue payable into the general fund of the State, is or has been set apart to be applied by the State to the support of the public school system and the State university, which such revenue would otherwise have been paid or from which such revenue was set apart. There is hereby specifically appropriated out of the State general fund such amounts as may be necessary to make such repayments. Except as otherwise provided in this section, such repayments shall be made from the first moneys accruing to the general fund over and above those then necessary to provide for payments for the support of the public school system and the State university, and over and above those moneys, if any, which under the Constitution of California must first be applied to the payment of obligations of the State existing at the time such revenues were set apart. In the event money has been set apart from more than one such revenue, and moneys available are insufficient for repayment in full, repayments shall be made in the proportions in which such revenues so set apart are then unpaid.

In the event that any claim against any appropriation made from any special fund for the support of any State department, office, board, commission, or other State agency, can not be paid out of such special fund by reason of the depletion of such special fund as a result of any such setting apart of revenues therefrom, or of revenues which would otherwise have been paid thereinto, such claim or claims shall be paid from the appropriation hereby made out of the general fund to the extent only of the sum or sums so set apart. It is the intention of the Legislature to provide to the fullest extent of its power for priority of such repayments and to prevent the interruption of the performance of any State function by providing an alternative method of repayment by use of general fund registered warrants, when and if necessary.

SEC. 15. Whenever any State agency except the State Compensation Insurance Fund has drawn against any bank account for the payment of any claim and payment of such claim has not been paid for a period of six months by reason of the failure of the claimant to present the instrument to the bank, the State agency shall pay the amount of said claim to the State Treasurer in trust and whenever the amount of any claim against the State has been deposited in trust with the State Treasurer by any department, board, officer or commission, because of inability to locate the claimant thereof, the State Treasurer shall thereafter hold the same for the payment of such claim for a period of two years after such return thereof, and if the said claim be not so paid within said period of time, said amount so returned shall at the close of the next succeeding fiscal year revert to and become a part of the general fund of the State."

Such Treasurer may, during the existence of such conflicting provisions between such Federal law or regulations and the provisions of this act, with the consent of the governing body of the county, city and county, city, town, municipality or other public or municipal corporation, determine what amount of money shall be deposited as inactive deposits and the rate or rates of interest thereon, and shall determine what amount of money shall be deposited as active deposits and shall enter into such contract or contracts with such depositary or depositaries as in his judgment will be to the public advantage so to do, which contract or contracts shall fix the duration of deposits and the rate or rates of interest thereon, if any, and provide conditions for the withdrawal and repayment thereof and, within the requirements of section 4 of this act, prescribe the security therefor. Amendment No. 7.

On page 3 of the printed bill, strike out all of lines 1 to 52, both inclusive, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"SEC. 3. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety, within the meaning of section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution, and shall therefore go into immediate effect.

The facts constituting such necessity are as follows: Upon the expiration of two years after the enactment by Congress of the Banking Act of 1935, signed by the President August 23, 1935, said act prohibits all banks, members of the Federal Reserve System, from paying any interest upon any deposit in the United States, including deposits of public funds made by or on behalf of any State, county, school district, or other subdivision or municipality, which is payable on demand, and makes the payment of interest by such banks on all such deposits, other than those payable on demand, subject to limitation by regulation by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System. Said Banking Act of 1935 also authorizes the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System to define "demand" and "time" deposits and to determine what shall be deemed to be a payment of interest and to prescribe such rules and regulations as it may deem necessary, and also requires that no such bank shall pay any time deposit before its maturity except upon such conditions and in accordance with such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the said board.

Unless the laws of the United States and of the State of California be brought into harmony, in this respect, on or before August 23, 1937, it will become mandatory that very large sums of public money be withdrawn from deposit with banks and that all amounts so withdrawn be held by the Treasurer in his own possession and handled in currency.

It is necessary that the withdrawal of such an amount of currency from circulation at one time be prevented and that the radical and objectionable changes in the handling of public financial transactions that would immediately ensue, as an inevitable consequence of such withdrawal and holding of currency, be obviated and that the means of deriving revenue from the depositing of public funds be impeded as little as possible. This act will permit deposits of public moneys to be made in such manner as to comply with the Federal requirements. This act is necessary in order to provide for the economical, orderly and safe handling of such moneys."

In determining the "actual value" of notes, debentures, shares of capital stock, bonds, solvent credits, deeds of trust, mortgages, and any legal or equitable interest therein, the assessor shall not take into account the existence of any custom or common method, if any, of assessing any other class or classes of property at less than the full cash value thereof."

"Eighth—In determining the net average warranted annual productivity, income or utility of the property, the assessor shall take into consideration the property's net earnings for a period not to exceed three years next preceding the date of assessment thereof, and may require a verified statement of all gross income and of all expenses incident to the operation of the property for a term not to exceed three years immediately prior to the assessment. Failure of the taxpayer to furnish the assessor with such statement, or with any other statement in regard to the property, when required by the assessor so to do, shall enjoin such taxpayer or others affected by the assessment from contesting the amount of the assessment.

In case of improved properties where the improvement in such as to make it suitable for special purposes only, or where the property is occupied or used by the owner (yielding its utility directly to the owner), or where such improved property is temporarily vacant, such property shall be assessed in relation to the annual productivity, income or utility of occupied property of like character, similarly situated; due consideration being given to the demand for and the supply of, and to the reasonable absorption rate of the type of property which is being assessed.

Should there be available for income comparison no other property improved in like manner, of like character, and similarly situated, then the replacement cost of an adequate improvement may be regarded as determining the use or utility value of owner-occupied buildings. Items which do not add to the property's usefulness or earning power shall not be included in the valuation of any property.

In the valuation of vacant and unused property in the congested district in any incorporated village, town or city, such property shall be appraised with reference to utilized property of like character, similarly situated, due consideration being given to the demand for and the supply of, and to the reasonable absorption rate of the type of property which is being assessed.

Should the property taxed be in the category of industrial, income or rental properties, and such property be equipped and furnished, in whole or in part, with movable or removable equipment and furnishings, two-thirds of the annual depreciation of such chattels shall be allowed as an expense in arriving at the warranted net income from the property.

Messages from the Governor.

The following messages from the Governor were received and read:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE,
SACRAMENTO, April 14, 1937.

To the Honorable Members of the Assembly,
Sacramento, California.

Assembly Bill No. 1105—An act to amend section 7 of an act entitled "An act authorizing the establishing of municipal courts, prescribing their constitution, regulation, government, procedure and jurisdiction, and providing for the election and appointment of the judges, clerks and other attaches of such courts, their terms of office, qualification and compensation and for the selection of jurors therein," approved May 23, 1925, relating to municipal courts as amended.

For reasons which seem to me to be compelling, I am returning herewith, without my approval, Assembly Bill No. 1105, which proposes to increase the annual salaries of thirty municipal judges in the city of Los Angeles from $6,500 to $7,500, and the monthly salaries of court clerk and the court marshal from $450 to $500.

Having carefully examined the measure, and the reasons advanced for its enactment, I am convinced that no considerations are involved which justify suspension of a policy of consistent economy in the administration of all governmental agencies subject to my control.

The only policy of governmental economy which can be maintained efficiently, is a policy that honestly economizes wherever and whenever possible without impairment of public service. That this is a fact which the great body of taxpayers recognize and approve is attested by the hundreds of letters and telegrams received by me from those in all walks of life.

Despite the fact that Assembly Bill No. 1105 makes no direct demands upon the revenue of the State, it does, nevertheless, propose a further demand upon the general taxpayer, and I am unable to give it my approval.

Respectfully submitted

FRANK F. MERRIAM, Governor of California.

Nothing contained herein shall be construed as prohibiting the board of education of the district from providing protection against fire losses partly by means of such fund and partly by means of fire insurance written by fire insurance companies as provided in section 6.2 of this code.

Such fund shall be considered as separate and apart from all other funds of the district and the balance therein shall not be considered as being part of the working cash of the district in compiling annual budgets or fixing annual tax rates.

The income derived from such investments together with interest earned on uninvested funds shall be considered revenue of and be deposited in such fund.

On page 2 of the printed bill, strike out lines 1 to 24, inclusive, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"(3) If any such amendment would change any outstanding shares in any one or more of the following respects: (a) to authorize the corporation to levy assessments thereon; (b) to reduce the dividend rate thereof; (c) to make noncumulative, in whole or in part, as to dividends shares which had theretofore been cumulative; (d) to reduce the redemption price thereof; (e) to reduce any amount payable thereon upon voluntary or involuntary liquidation; (f) to eliminate, diminish or alter adversely conversion rights pertaining thereto; (g) to diminish or eliminate voting rights pertaining thereto; (h) to diminish or alter adversely any options or rights theretofore granted to the holders thereof to purchase other shares of the corporation; (i) to change adversely any sinking fund provision relating thereto; (j) to rearrange the priority of such outstanding shares so as to make them subject to the preferences of other than outstanding shares as to distributions by way of dividends or otherwise; then the vote or written consent of shareholders required for the approval of any such amendment shall include the vote or written consent of the holders of two-thirds of the outstanding shares of any such class or series which would be changed by such amendment in any one or more of said foregoing respects, regardless of limitations or restrictions on the voting power thereof.

(4) If any such amendment would change any outstanding shares in any one or more of the following respects: (a) to make nonassessable shares which had theretofore been assessable; (b) to increase the dividend rate thereof; (c) to make cumulative, in whole or in part, as to dividends shares which had theretofore been noncumulative; (d) to increase the redemption price thereof; (e) to increase any amount payable thereon upon voluntary or involuntary liquidation; (f) to create, increase or alter advantageously the conversion rights pertaining thereto; (g) to create or increase voting rights pertaining thereto; (h) to create, increase or alter advantageously any options or rights granted to the holders thereof to purchase other shares of the corporation; (i) to change advantageously the relative priority thereof as to distributions, whether by way of dividends or otherwise, by the rearrangement of the relative priorities of the classes or series of shares of the corporation theretofore authorized; then the vote or written consent of shareholders required for the approval of any such amendment shall include the vote or written consent of the holders of a majority of all other outstanding shares of the corporation, regardless of limitations or restrictions on the voting power thereof.

(5) If any such amendment would create a new class or series of shares not theretofore authorized by the articles of incorporation, or would increase the authorized number of shares of any existing class or series, regardless of whether or not such amendment would result in the increase of the total authorized number of shares of the corporation, then the vote or written consent of shareholders required for the approval of any such amendment shall include the vote or written consent of the holders of a majority of all outstanding shares of the corporation, regardless of limitations or restrictions on the voting power thereof, and such vote or written consent shall be sufficient for such approval regardless of the relative priority of such new class or series with respect to outstanding shares.

(6) If any such amendment would authorize the remedy by action for the collection of an assessment on fully paid shares, then the vote or written consent of the holders of all outstanding shares, regardless of limitations or restrictions on the voting power thereof, shall be required for the approval thereof.

Different series or subdivisions of the same class of shares shall not be construed to constitute different classes of shares for the purpose of voting or consent by classes except when such series is adversely affected by an amendment in a different manner than other shares of the same class.

The articles of incorporation may require the vote or written consent of the holders of any greater percentage or fraction of the outstanding shares of any one or more classes or series for the approval of any amendment of the articles or of amendments of particular kinds or for particular purposes, or may require for such approval the vote or written consent of the holders of a greater percentage or fraction of the voting power or outstanding shares, than would otherwise be required under this section

The requirements of subdivision (3) and (4) of this section respectively with respect to the vote or written consent of shareholders, shall not apply to any amendment referred to in said subdivisions the purpose of which is merely to split up or subdivide the shares of a particular class or series into a larger number of shares with the same aggregate par value or without par value, or merely to change the outstanding shares into a smaller number of shares with the same aggregate par value or without par value, without otherwise changing the relative preferences, rights or privileges thereof, providing the articles as so amended contain a statement of such purpose and the effect thereof on outstanding shares.

In soliciting proxies authorizing the holder thereof to vote in favor of any amendment referred to in subdivisions (3) and (4) hereof, or in soliciting written consents of shareholders thereto, it shall be the duty of the corporation (the performance of which shall not be a condition precedent to the validity of the amendment) to mail to each shareholder of the corporation addressed to such holder at his address appearing on the books of the corporation, or given by him to the corporation for the purpose of notice, or if no such address appears or is given, at the place where the principal office of the corporation is located, a concise summary of the proposed amendment and the changes proposed to be effected thereby in the rights of the shareholders"

Amendment No. 7.

"131. In actions for divorce, the court must file its decision and conclusions of law as in other cases, and if it determines that no divorce shall be granted, final judgment must thereupon be entered accordingly. If it determines that the divorce ought to be granted, an interlocutory judgment must be entered, declaring that the party in whose favor the court decides is entitled to a divorce and declaring at what time a final decree may be granted, which time shall be determined under the provisions of section 132 of this code. After the entry of the interlocutory judgment, neither party shall have the right to dismiss the action without the consent of the other.

SEC. 14. Section 132 of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

132. The court on motion of either party, or upon its own motion may enter the final judgment granting the divorce, when one year has expired after the entry of such interlocutory judgment, or when that period of a year has passed which when added to the time that the parties to a divorce have spent in an effort to effect a reconciliation under order of the conciliation commissioner would equal one year after the entry of the interlocutory judgement. Such final judgment shall restore them to the status of single persons, and permit either to marry after the entry thereof; and such other and further relief as may be necessary to complete disposition of the action, but if any appeal is taken from the interlocutory judgment or motion for a new trial made, final judgment shall not be entered until such motion or appeal has been finally disposed of, nor then, if the motion has been granted or judgment reversed. The death of either party after the entry of the interlocutory judgment does not impair the power of the court to enter final judgment as hereinbefore provided; but such entry shall not validate any marriage contracted by either party before the entry of such final judgment, nor constitute any defense of any criminal prosecution made against either.

SEC. 15. Section 138 of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

138. In actions for divorce the court may, during the pendency of the action, or at the final hearing or at any time thereafter during the minority of any of the children of the marriage, make such order for the custody, care, education, maintenance and support of such minor children as may seem necessary or proper, and may at any time modify or vacate the same. Such court orders shall be directed to both the parents and the children and shall be obeyed by the children while they are minors. Regardless of custody, both parents shall continue to have a voice in all important decisions concerning their children. In awarding the custody the court is to be guided by the following considerations:

(1) By what appears to be for the best interest of the child in respect to its temporal and its mental and moral welfare; and if the child is of a sufficient age to form an intelligent preference, the court may consider that preference in determining the question;

(2) As between parents adversely claiming the custody, neither parent is entitled to it as of right; but other things being equal, if the child is of tender years, it should be given to the mother; if it is of an age to require education and preparation for labor and business, then to the father.

(3) If the defendant is not desirous of a divorce and is willing to live with the plaintiff, the child should be given to him during the pendency of the action.

(4) If, after a divorce has been granted a parent who has been given the custody of a child remarries, the child should be given to the parent who remains unattached.

Any parent who is denied the custody of his child shall be given the right, unless there are grave reasons against it, to have his child visit him for not less than 30 continuous days in each year so long as he remains unmarried.

If the normal filial feelings of a minor child becomes alienated from the parent who does not have the custody of such child, unless caused by such parent's ill treatment or wilful neglect of such child, it shall be a good reason for giving such parent the custody of such child, or else of placing such child in a neutral home."

Message from the Governor.

The following message from the Governor was received and read:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE,
SACRAMENTO, April 16, 1937.

To the Honorable Members of the Assembly,
Sacramento, California.

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Assembly Bill No. 2380, being

"An act to amend section 11.4 of an act entitled 'An act to regulate land surveying and to define the duties of and to license land surveyors, to provide for the revocation of such licenses and the restoration thereof, to make certain acts misdemeanors and to provide penalties therefor, and to repeal an act entitled "An act to define the duties of and to license land surveyors," approved March 16, 1907,' approved May 24, 1933, relating to land surveyors."

The present law requires the county surveyor in filing subdivision maps to index the same by grant, tract, subdivision "and/or United States Subdivision." Assembly Bill No. 2380 strikes out the words above quoted "and or United States Subdivision."

Protests respecting the enactment of this bill which eliminates the keeping of such indexes state that in many instances these indexes are the only manner in which maps can or should be filed, and that the maintenance of such indexes is of distinct value to those interested in surveys since it obviates the necessity of unlimited searching to acquire the information desired.

Since there seems to be no good reason for the repeal of this provision, and that its retention is of distinct value and service to those who are called upon from time to time to refer to the records, I am not giving the measure my approval.

Respectfully submitted,

FRANK F. MERRIAM, Governor of California.

Assembly Bill No 2380 ordered on unfinished business calendar.

"SEC. 4 Nothing herein shall be construed as giving to the State officers named herein or any other State official or employee the power or authority to grant any easement or privilege for any well drilled in or on said property after the effective date hereof Except as may be provided by statute subsequently enacted hereto, the Chief of the Division of State Lands is hereby expressly prohibited from granting any further or additional agreement for easement in and to the lands herein described; and is further expressly prohibited from consenting under any existing agreements to the drilling of any additional well into said State lands described, but the provisions hereof shall not be construed to prohibit under said agreements consents for the redrilling, lengthening, or deepening of existing wells.

SEC. 5 This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, and safety, within the meaning of section 1, Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California and as such shall take effect immediately The following is a statement of the facts constituting such necessity:

Underlying the State lands described herein, there is a reservoir of crude petroleum and natural gas, which, according to official reports of and to the Legislature, lies under said State lands. In the past the Legislature has adopted legislation prohibiting drilling for oil or gas on the tide or submerged lands of the State but in the case of the lands herein described such legislation has been defeated and the policy of the State frustrated by the operations of private concerns and individuals drilling from sites on private lands wells bottomed on State lands With many such private companies, the State has entered into agreements whereby for a valuable consideration and payment of royalty to the State easements have been granted authorizing such persons to abstract oil, gas, and other petroleum products from said State lands. Other persons and companies with whom the State has no agreement, may be found, upon an accurate survey showing the location of wells, to be trespassing on said State lands and thus depleting the natural resources underlying the State lands without payment to the State of royalty or compensation of any nature.

Also, there is before the Legislature certain legislation pending which would provide for the leasing and development of said State lands by the State or through leases executed by the State.

In order to give effect to such intended legislation; to preserve the right of the State to royalties being received from those having executed agreements of easement with the State; to provide for the prosecution of those trespassing without permits, to prohibit further agreements of easement being executed by the Division of State Lands, it is necessary that the existing agreements be approved and no future agreements be executed allowing any additional wells until such time as there is passed comprehensive legislation directly authorizing the development or prohibiting future development of the natural resources owned by the State"

Motion to Print Minority Report in Journal.

On motion of Mr. Redwine, the following Minority Report of the Select Committee Appointed to Investigate the So-Called Modesto Defendants Case, was ordered printed in the Journal:

MINORITY REPORT OF THE MODESTO DEFENDANTS COMMITTEE.

Mr. Speaker and Members of the Assembly.

The undersigned find themselves unable to either coincide with or sign the report filed by the majority because of the conviction that both the premise and the conclusion are not based on or supported by the evidence presented to us.

Before going into the reasons that necessitate this minority report, we desire to make plain that we believe that this entire investigation was a breach of the proprieties, for the reason, aside from other things, that there not only was at the time of the direction of the report, but there still is pending in the Appellate Courts of California, the appeal of Alphonse Buyle on a conviction in Stanislaus County for malicious possession and transportation of dynamite, and also the appeal of Alphonse Buyle and John Rodgers from a conviction by a jury in Marin County of the crime of grand theft; namely, the stealing of the dynamite involved.

We appreciate the fact that any report of this committee, and this bears equal reference to the minority as well as to the majority report, is an indelicate invasion of the province of the courts, and as a matter of decency the minority desire to state that we only submit our convictions on this subject because we have to and without any desire to express an opinion as to the guilt or innocence of the defendants, but only to express our opinion as to the fairness of the trial and the question of whether or not the defendants were, to use an expression of the vernacular, "framed."

The aforementioned improprieties are only accentuated by the presence on the committee of an office associate of the present chief defense counsel for the defendants.

In view of the demands of the investigation, however, the minority felt it necessary to question Buyle and Rodgers. That privilege was denied us by the majority of this committee on the ground that an appeal was pending which would determine the fate of these two men. That belated acquisition of a sense of delicacy is also applied by the minority to this entire investigation, and we assert that the same sense of delicacy and propriety should apply to this whole investigation, and the Assembly of the State of California should pay enough respect to final determination of our Appellate Courts to have denied this investigation until the last right of appeal had been exhausted by the defendants.

The resolution directs the committee "to make a special investigation to determine whether perjury and subornation of perjury were committed." The recitals indicate no intent that we investigate the transparent perjuries of the defendants themselves—venial offenses.

From the investigation made, your committee concludes that there was no subornation of perjury. In this the majority of the committee are in accord with the members of the committee making this minority report.

The recitals of the Assembly's resolution focused attention on the dictaphone records upon which the charges of perjury are based. The charges urged have been twofold:

1. That Scrudder perjured himself regarding his employment as informer;
2. That Scrudder perjured himself regarding knowledge of various defendants other than Rodger and Buyle that dynamite was present in the cars

1 Scrudder's testimony at the Modesto trial stated his relations with the San Francisco police, and the fact that he was paid by them. This testimony was consistent with everything your committee has learned from the police officers and others. It disclosed the whole situation. Scrudder had no direct relations with the oil companies until after the arrest.

2. Scrudder testified at all times that all of the defendants except perhaps Sousa and Burrows knew of the presence of dynamite in the cars The dictagraph records show positively that Scrudder told the same thing to Messrs. Magee and Briggs. According to them, he also made inconsistent statements. Scrudder admits that for his own purposes he undertook to deceive Messrs. Magee and Briggs. That he did so does not indicate in any way that his testimony on this point was perjured.

The report of the majority of this committee is devoted largely to matters not within the purview of the resolution appointing the committee outside of the province of the Legislature.

Thus the first finding (Assembly Daily Journal, April 14, 1937, p. 37) deals with the guilt or innocence of certain of the defendants. To this point most of the argument is addressed. The first recommendation of the majority is that these men be pardoned. Under the Constitution of this State, these questions are committed to the judicial and executive branches of the government The legislative branch can not properly be concerned with them. Without trespassing, however, upon the functions of the other branches of the government, it seems proper to add that the record made before this committee fully sustains the action of the other branches of the government. The majority concedes that two of the defendants, Buyle and Rodger, were guilty of dangerous and desperate crimes (Journal, p. 38). With these men the other defendants associated themselves on some sort of a wild adventure. Some at least took the precaution of disposing of their identification cards (S.F. 786). They and their representatives have never offered even a plausible explanation of what their object was. At the outset, when arrested, one defendant refused to give any statement (S F. 755) The others concurred in an obvious fabrication that Scrudder was just taking the men in his car for a ride and that since his engine had just been overhauled, Rodger and his men "gave this other fellow the push" (S.F. 736. 770, 773, 776, 782. 821). At the trial they said that they went to do picket duty (e.g., Mod. Trial, p. 1414). For a time the defense claimed that the dynamite was planted in the cars at Patterson (e.g., Mod. Grand Jury, pp. 124-125). The majority of this committee now concedes that the dynamite was not planted, but put in the cars by two of the defendants. The majority is unable to say what the object of these two defendants was. For the others, however, the majority offers the implausible explanation that their object was "investigation"—in the dead of night (Journal, pp. 38-41). The other defendants and their counsel must have known or suspected the guilt of the two, whose guilt the majority now concedes, yet they elected to cast their lot together at the trial. It is not strange that those who undertook a joint defense should have received a joint verdict of guilty. On this issue—the guilt of these seven defendants —the majority finds "a tacit conspiracy to frame" naming as conspirators Marchant and Scrudder particularly (Journal, p 37), and also Cobble (p. 41). The record does not even suggest cooperation between these men. According to the record the only time Cobble saw either of the others was when Stanfield brought them together (Mod. Trial, p. 1068). There is nothing in the record that hints that either Scrudder or Marchant knew that the other was anything except an enthusiastic striker. There is nothing in the record to intimate that Cobble was an "undercover man" (Journal, p 41), or anything except an enthusiastic striker. There is nothing in the record justifying any question regarding the fairness of the trial these defendants received. If it were not presumptuous to do so, therefore, we would concur with the conclusion of the majority that "the transcript of the trial shows and all parties thereto state that Judge Maxey heard the case in an honest and impartial manner. Likewise it should be stated that the jury that heard the case and brought back the verdict acted in good faith, honestly and intelligently" (Journal, p. 37).

Most dramatic and recent events have reaffirmed the correctness of this verdict and refuted the charges of frame-up, perjury and subornation. January 29, 1937, before the grand jury, Aaron Sapiro, counsel for Fitzgerald and the other defendants, testified regarding the men in Scrudder's Nash car:

> "A. Scrudder, Marchant and Buyle are in the front seat, and Souza, Burrows and Fitzgerald were in the back seat
> Q. No dynamite was found in Scrudder's car, was it?
> A. No, that is the dynamite that was thrown out on the road and was supposed to have been found along the road, and unquestionably was so found.
> Q. Was thrown out on the road and found on the road?
> A. Yes" (Mod. Grand Jury, p. 120, lines 2-10)
> "Q Fitzgerald threw it out, Fitzgerald was in the back seat? A. Yes" (Mod Grand Jury, p. 120, lines 16-17).
> "A JUROR: Do you have any ideas why he threw out something that he didn't know what it was? A. Yes, they said, 'Throw it out,' apparently, they said, they were being followed and told him to throw the package out and he threw it out, then Buyle threw his package out
> MR. MARRON: Buyle? A. Yes, he threw his out.
> Q. His fuses? A. He had just, I think, one fuse, he threw it out" (Mod Grand Jury, p 121, lines 14-16)
> "What we maintain is that * * * in the other car, the men in the front seat knew there was dynamite, and it is a possibility that Fitzgerald might have, although I believe he did not" (Mod Grand Jury, p 124, lines 1-2, 4-7)

Before this committee Fitzgerald established his guilty knowledge by denying the existence of the package in the car, denying that he threw it out, denying that anyone threw anything out (S.F. 359, 368, 369, 377, 378, 403).

With the same reservation we would concur with the finding of the majority that "the record does not raise any doubt of the guilt of Alphonse Buyle and John Rodger" (Journal, p. 38) For the reasons we have stated, we feel that the majority went outside the functions committed to them by the Assembly, outside of the functions of the legislative department of the State Government itself in seeking to palliate that guilt by the suggestion that these men were tools of others (Journal, p. 38). The record supports this in no way. According to the record Cobble never saw Buyle or Rodger, Marchant never saw Buyle or Rodger until after they had stolen the dynamite Scrudder never discussed the theft with Buyle or Rodger and knew nothing of it until after they had stolen the dynamite Brazelton knew nothing of the theft until after Buyle and Rodger had embarked upon it. If Buyle and Rodger were the tools of anyone, the obvious suspicion arises that they were the tools of Stanfield and Johnson. This, however, the record does not disclose. This, however, is not a matter within the committee's jurisdiction.

Equally outside of our jurisdiction is the majority's criticism of the economical, social and philosophical views of the district attorney, Mr. Cleary (Journal, p. 40). In fairness to him we say that the record shows him to have been honest, efficient and devoted, sacrificing his personal interests and his health to the successful performance of his public duty. Remembering the admitted guilt of Buyle and Rodger, the question presents itself immediately whether that guilt would have been admitted now if the district attorney had acted differently.

Equally outside of the jurisdiction of the committee is the discussion of the aid rendered to the prosecution by private interests (Journal, pp 37, 40-42). A similar question presents itself here, remembering the admitted guilt of Buyle and Rodger, whether that guilt would be now admitted if private interests had not assisted the prosecution. In this connection again with the same reservation we say that if it were within our jurisdiction, we would concur with the majority that "as there is no law in the statute books of the State of California known to the members of the committee which prohibits an attorney to act as special prosecutor and to accept pay from private corporations for such service, the committee reports that DeVore's conduct appears to have been ethical and professionally proper"

Summarizing the foregoing matter, we dispose of all other issues as outside of the jurisdiction of the committee, and we answer the two specific queries put by the Assembly's resolution categorically, that neither perjury nor subornation of perjury was committed in connection with the conviction of the "Modesto Defendants"

While the foregoing adequately disposes, we submit, of the matters involved in this investigation, we will at the expense of brevity answer in detail the premises and conclusions stated by the majority.

The principal premise of the majority is that James Scrudder perjured himself before the Stanislaus grand jury on May 10, 1935, and on January 28, 1937; at the trial of the defendants, and before this committee.

We respectfully submit that at all four of those hearings at which Scrudder was under oath, his testimony was consistent in every important and material particular.

The majority concludes in connection with this thought that Scrudder is what they designate as a "cunning psychopathic liar." The majority also goes into the use of some extremely intemperate language, and even though it was justified we would be extremely reluctant to attach our names to any document that exhausts the subject of vituperation, and in passing, neither the conclusion nor the language is justified from the evidence.

The majority concludes that Glen M. DeVore was not guilty of subornation of perjury, and in this conclusion we concur. They conclude that there is no evidence to sustain charges of subornation on the part of Leslie A. Cleary, the district attorney of Stanislaus County, and in this conclusion we agree Next, however, the majority concludes that the case should have been entitled "The People of the State of California and Standard Oil Company of California vs. the Defendants" There is absolutely nothing in the record to sustain this conclusion. First, Standard Oil Company did not employ anybody to either assist in the procuring of evidence, or in the assistance to the district attorney in the prosecution of the action What money was expended in these two connections was done by the tankers committee, consisting of six oil companies, of which Standard Oil Company was one (see pp 888-889 S.F. Tr.). While that is only a detail, the evidence is conclusive that neither Standard Oil Company nor the tankers committee expended any money that was not either legal or proper It is true that this tankers committee did expend the sums of money named in the majority report, but legally they had a right to do it, and morally here can be no criticism of expenditure of money for the purpose of protecting their rights, and there is nothing in the record before us to justify any other conclusion than that they honestly believed that they were protecting their rights in the strictest accordance with every demand of law, morality or decency, so we can not agree with this conclusion for reasons that will be hereinafter stated.

Conclusion seven by the majority was that there was no express agreement to "frame" the defendants The majority assert, however that there is strong evidence of what may be termed "a tacit conspiracy to frame the defendants' on the part of certain individuals, and particularly on the part of James F.

Scrudder and Hal Marchant. The complete absurdity of this conclusion is demonstrated in the testimony before the committee.

As to the narrative contained in the succeeding pages after the conclusion, most of it is true; however, the statement that Scrudder had left a well paying job as painter on the San Francisco Bridge is hardly sustained by the evidence. He was receiving $11 per day, but the record shows that he had to abandon this work because he had been in the hospital due to lead poisoning (L.A. Tr p. 210), which is relatively unimportant, however.

As to the statement of the majority, that Scrudder insisted upon the separation of the dynamite into two packages, that is only half true. The record shows that the following, as well as Scrudder, made this demand. Stanfield (L.A. 342), Buyle (L.A. 342), Rodger (L.A. 342), Ciambrelli (L.A. 244, 245, 246), Marchant (L.A. 244, 245).

The statement of the majority that Scrudder told H. C. McGee and Mr. and Mrs. William Briggs that only three men knew of the presence of the dynamite in the car stands as one of the examples of the selection of isolated remarks to sustain an erroneous conclusion. This statement ignores the fact that Scrudder also told McGee and Mr. and Mrs. Briggs that the other defendants knew about the dynamite (Disc. 3). Scrudder on one occasion did tell these people that only three men, besides himself, knew of the presence of the dynamite, but he explained that by saying that he was leading them on to find out why they were pursuing and interrogating him. In this connection we refer to the affidavit of Mrs. Pettinger, which was dated December 15, 1936 (L.A. 97-98), and in which affidavit the affiant states that Scrudder came to her as a notary public following his conversations with the persons above named, to make a record of the fact that he was leading them on for the purpose of determining what they were trying to do with him (L.A. 97).

To divert from the main course for a moment, the majority opinion places great reliance upon the dictaphonic records of conversations in which Scrudder was led along to the end of a complete disclosure of his soul, and in these records examined and listened to by the committee, in which we believe Scrudder spoke freely and without restraint, he stated in connection with the dynamite as follows: All of the men knew it was there "except two and they didn't know it was there until it was brought there" (Disc. 3).

Phonographic record No. 3 does not mention to whom Scrudder was referring as the two were never disclosed, but as a matter of conclusion it was quite obvious he must have been referring to Souza and Burroughs, who at the time of their embarking on this adventure, were not in the full possession of their faculties, due to excess worship at the altar of Bacchus.

It is true that at all times Scrudder testified that he, Rodgers, Buyle and Marchant divided the dynamite; never did he state, however, that the rest were uninformed as to its presence, excepting when he was talking to Mr. and Mrs. Briggs and McGee, which is fully explained (L.A. 97-98). He did state to these persons that the defendants were framed, but he gave reasons for that statement as above explained, and all of the evidence above, as shown by the transcript of the trial at Modesto and the hearings before the grand jury, and as adduced by this committee, demonstrates that the contrary is true.

We are in accord with the conclusion that men unfamiliar with the use of dynamite are extremely reluctant to place themselves in its presence. Two conclusions can be drawn from this premise; one that the seven did not know it was there, which the majority reaches, and the other that they were sufficiently aware of the innocuous effect of dynamite in the absence of a fulminating cap. The majority concludes they were innocent and did not know the dynamite was there but the minority declines to accept any conclusion based upon such specious reasoning. It is equally probable that the nine men were sufficiently cognizant of the properties and powers of dynamite and knew that they had nothing to fear.

The references to fact that Scrudder told the district attorney that only Rodgers, Buyle and Marchant had anything to do with dividing of the dynamite was merely the relation of a physical condition and we again repeat that at no time except in his deliberate misstatement to McGee and Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Briggs did he ever state that the seven knew nothing of the dynamite and that is conclusively explained as shown by the Pettinger affidavit.

We agree with the majority opinion that the recordation on the Ediphone records was from statements made without either fear or intimidation on Scrudder's part, but every statement he made, as recorded on these Ediphone records, was that all nine of the defendants knew of the presence of the dynamite, seven of them before Rodgers brought it to the Mohawk Tavern.

Equally true is the fact that the majority conclusion that Scrudder was more truthful in his statement to District Attorney Cleary and to Mr. and Mrs. Briggs and McGee than at any other time, finds no justification in the record, particularly the reference to the Briggses and McGee, and it follows logically that the language characterizing Scrudder is without justification.

The majority has reached a mere conclusion as to what prompted the statements made by Scrudder to Mr. and Mrs. Briggs and McGee. We decline to draw a conclusion, believing that the province of this investigation is to decide the question of whether or not the defendants had a fair trial and not to place our opinions against the verdict reached by the juries who heard the evidence.

As to the conclusion reached by the majority that Scrudder and Brazelton induced Buyle and Rodgers to steal the dynamite from Marin County; that Donald W. Cobble incited the union men to go to Patterson; that the seven defendants organized a picketing party for legitimate reconnoitering; that Scrudder induced Buyle and Rodgers to take the dynamite with the picketing party; that the seven other than Buyle and Rodgers had no knowledge of the presence of the dynamite, until they were arrested at Patterson, has no background in the record at all and has no foundation.

It is impossible for us to quote nonexistent testimony, but we challenge the majority to point to anything in the record to justify this impossible conclusion.

The majority opinion recognizes the guilt of Alphonse Buyle and John Rodgers. The record justifies no other conclusion.

Reference is made to an affidavit of Herman Stuyvelaar by which Stuyvelaar states that Buyle told him that the theft of the dynamite was prompted by Brazelton. The majority accepts this third-handed hearsay as evidence. It might be appropriate at this point to mention that the chairman of this committee is an attorney with a full appreciation of the probative value of testimony of this character. Even the majority makes no statement that either Scrudder or Brazelton had any knowledge of an intended theft of the dynamite, but concedes that Scrudder learned of it afterward. If this is a part of a "frame-up," then Scrudder is eliminated from the suggested conspiracy by the majority on the statement that Scrudder knew nothing of the theft until the consummation of the act.

The majority opinion states, "* * * to report all the lies and the perjuries of James Scrudder told in this case is a task too great for this committee to undertake * * *" and then proceeds to quote isolated excerpts that demonstrate nothing which could "whitewash" a group of men who knowingly participated in an adventure that could have no conclusion except felonious destruction of property. To analyze those excerpts: It is true that Scrudder told the grand jury that he was not a detective. Without going into a dissertation on the subject of philology, we concede that had Scrudder claimed to be a "detective" he would have been guilty of indecent boasting. It is true, however, that he worked under the direction of the San Francisco police department at a compensation of $30 per week; that under the direction of Chief of Police Quinn, Captain Healy paid him. It is true that before the grand jury of Stanislaus County, Scrudder stated that he was not on the payroll of the Standard Oil Company or the police department. The former was true for he received nothing from the Standard Oil Company nor from the tanker committee, except as compensation for the time that he was held in Modesto pending the trial of the case. He had at that time received pay from the San Francisco police department and, if that is a perjury, the majority have made the most they could of it, but might it be mentioned that the statement had nothing to do with the guilt or innocence of the nine men, two of whom are guilty even under the reluctant concessions of the majority. The majority states that he lied again before the Stanislaus grand jury on January 28th and 29th when he stated that he did not expect to get any pay for his services. We find ourselves unable to refute the soul-reading conclusions of the majority, but with all due respect to the majority conclusions based upon their psychic powers, we state that the record is devoid of justification for this conclusion. The material point (if the matter of Scrudder's connection and pay is at all material or important) is that at the trial he truthfully testified as to his connection with, and his receiving pay from, the San Francisco police department.

It is true that Scrudder did state that, had he been able to get hold of the authorities in San Francisco, he would have killed it (obviously referring to the proposed expedition). In view of the testimony of Scrudder at the hearing, and incidentally of the testimony of such of the defendants as the majority permitted us to see and listen to, it is obvious that Scrudder could not have either reported to the squad car or to the subpolice station with any hope of having officers catch the defendants with the dynamite. He did telephone to Majors, concealing the purpose of the call, however, by telling Stanfield that he was phoning to his wife. As a matter of reasoning, is it humanly possible that Scrudder could have left the others, gone to either the squad car or the police station and returned with police officers to arrest the men who, under the admission of the majority were the custodians of the dynamite. But it is too obvious for comment that officers would have been seen approaching and the dynamite would have vanished and there would have been nothing upon which an arrest could have been predicated.

The next conclusion of the majority, that there is nothing to substantiate the charge made by Scrudder to McGee and Mr. and Mrs. Briggs that Glenn N. DeVore was guilty of subornation of perjury, is the only conclusion that could be reached and, in this connection, the minority is in accord. As to the "disgruntled mental attitude" of Scrudder, as to "human pangs of regret and remorse" set forth in the majority opinion, we submit that this portion of the paragraph is without justification.

It is true that Devore was paid to assist Leslie A. Cleary, the district attorney of Stanislaus County, in prosecuting and on the appeal of the action.

In this connection, may it be said that Mr. Cleary appealed to U. S. Webb, the Attorney General for the State of California, for assistance in the carrying on of the prosecution of this action (S.F. 1114). That his request was justified by the conditions was demonstrated by the fact that the defendants had six attorneys, most of whom are recognized as leaders of the Bar in matters pertaining to criminal procedure The Attorney General, under the law as it existed at that time, was apparently unable to give him this assistance and, as a consequence, he appealed to the tankers committee for help in meeting the vast array of legal armament that these "innocent men" felt required to have to establish their innocence What was paid to these six lawyers for the defense was never disclosed to this committee and we make no mention of staggering sums that were mentioned off the record, but suffice to say, the most modest of the sums mentioned made the fee of DeVore pale into insignificance.

The majority concedes that Leslie A. Cleary, the district attorney of Stanislaus County, was innocent of any subornation of perjury. No other conclusion could be reached under the record. An attempt is made to criticize him for consulting with representatives of the tanker committee. It is true that he did consult with James Arnold and others, but it is equally true that they were endeavoring to assist him in the prosecution by furnishing what even the majority concedes was no more than the facts. The attempt to criticize such conduct could find no justification for it was both legally and ethically within the proprieties. The conclusion of the majority that Cleary is a man who believes that communists are lurking behind every pillar and post and that "red" armies are apt to materialize out of thin air at any minute to destroy the Government, is a conclusion that is too absurd to merit comment. Needless to say, the record is devoid of one single word that furnishes any justification for this conclusion

We agree with the conclusion that an offense of this magnitude and seriousness should be prosecuted by law in the name of the people of the State of California and that is just exactly what was done in this case.

Comment is made by the majority on the fact that after the conviction of these defendants, the oil companies further paid DeVore for his services in resisting the appeal. In the name of common sense, if such a virtue still remains on this earth, what else could they have done? The defense employed a battery of legal brains and ability which certainly required at least, legal armaments approaching the onslaught in efficiency to meet the attack.

The majority finds that the Standard Oil Company paid the expenses of certain witnesses specifically set forth in their report At the risk of being accused of constant repetition, on a matter which seems of little importance, and yet should be accurate if stated at all, the evidence before the committee showed that while the Standard Oil Company advanced moneys for these expenses they were accounted for and paid by the tanker committee, consisting of the six oil companies. However, let it be remembered that the persons named were kept in Modesto for the purpose of testifying, for a period of time that certainly justified some compensation. Whether the amounts were excessive or inadequate, however, does not in the slightest degree tell the story which is the question before this committee of whether or not the defendants were guilty or innocent or more germane to the subject of our investigation, whether they were given a fair trial. It is equally true that Scrudder was guarded during all of this period, but it is not true that he was virtually or at all a prisoner (L.A. 379). It is hardly necessary to comment on the fact that Scrudder undoubtedly needed protection and even with the liberal ideas of the majority, no comment is made on the propriety of seeing that one of the witnesses for the people was not sent on a journey to that bourne from which no traveler returns

It is true that Arnold, representing the tanker committee, paid to District Attorney Cleary the sum of $208.30 "to reimburse the district attorney's fund or budget" which according to Cleary represented the expense of bringing from Portland to the trial at Modesto two shorthand reporters whose testimony and notes were necessary to impeach the testimony of one of the defendants' witnesses which they had brought from Portland. Arnold reimbursed Cleary's fund for this expenditure as he had previously agreed to do (S.F. 881, 117, 118). Nothing would appear illegal or improper in this, but if it was, it could have no possible bearing on the guilt or innocence of the defendants, nor the question under investigation, i. e., whether the defendants were convicted by reason of perjury or subornation of perjury. It is equally obvious from the record that the prosecution was not carried on by Standard Oil Company, neither was it carried on by the tanker committee, but was carried on by the taxpayers of Stanislaus County. The only connection that DeVore, as special prosecutor, had was in research and preparation. Cleary conducted the case (S.F. 116).

The majority concedes that there isn't the slightest vestige of testimony to justify the conclusion, or report, that it was an express "frame-up." The majority does say that there was a tacit conspiracy to "frame" them. Webster defines "tacit" as silent or implied. "Tacit" may be the correct word for the record is absolutely silent on anything to justify the conclusion and so far as the use of the word as a synonym for "implied," the reasons as given for that conclusion by the majority is unsustained

The statement of the majority, that James P. Arnold was director of the strike-breaking activities, is not in accordance with the facts. Arnold was in charge of the tanker committee guards, and investigating activities, but he had no part in the selection or hiring of any "strike breakers" (S.F. 866). But whatever his capacity, that had nothing to do with Buyle and Rodgers stealing dynamite and embarking with seven others on a felonious expedition.

Jack Sayer was guarding strike breakers at a congregation point for the purpose of completing crews for tankers and, upon getting a complete crew, transferred them to the water front. What had that to do with the theft of dynamite and the proposed dynamiting of a hotel? It is true that Hal Marchant was employed by Arnold as an under-cover operator for the purpose of learning what the strikers were doing. Not a word is suggested in the record (nor can any process of astrology, necromancy or crystal gazing draw a conclusion) that he had anything to do with the theft of the dynamite or was responsible for the expedition to Patterson.

It is true that Scrudder worked under the San Francisco police department and that he received pay from them. Not a suggestion is found in either the record or the report of the majority that Scrudder knew anything about the theft of the dynamite until after it had been done. Do any of these things constitute a frame-up, to put the answer in the negative? It is stated in the majority opinion that Brazelton and Scrudder were friends, that Brazelton knew Rodgers and Buyle; that Brazelton's wife—the word "wife," however, not being sanctified by either the blessing of priest, clergy or judiciary—accompanied Rodgers and Buyle on the expedition on which the dynamite was stolen Again taking refuge in the negative, what has this to do with the guilt or innocence of the seven men other than Rodgers and Buyle, the last two admittedly being guilty? Donald W. Cobble, according to the majority, was apparently an under-cover man planted in San Francisco for the purpose of sending the defendants out of the county. Reference being made to the San Francisco transcript, page 801, at line 6. It would have embarrassed Sherlock Holmes to have attempted to reach that deduction from this clue. Reference is made by the majority to a statement by Marchant to Cleary, "* * * the way it looked to me, it was a trap from the start, etc." From this, no conclusion can be drawn except the one that there was no conspiracy to "frame" these men. Marchant was the only under-cover man in the employ of the tanker committee. If he was not informed of the proposed or prospective conspiracy to "frame" them, who was? Then the conclusion of the majority falls for no other reason that its own unbalanced weight. It is true that Cobble notified the committee that his wife was a waitress in a hotel at Patterson, that strike breakers were being employed there. What of it? There isn't anything in the record to show that Cobble was anything other than a conscientious union man who desired to help his fellow members to obtain their ends, namely, the successful conclusion of the strike.

The only evidence in the record as to the motives that inspired the expedition to Patterson is found in the reasons finally given by the men themselves They testified that they went to Patterson for the purpose of investigating the situation. Let us analyze it: Eleven men left San Francisco between six-thirty and seven o'clock p.m., for a destination over an unknown road so far as any of them were concerned, to a goal approximately 100 miles distant; applying the mechanical ability of two old automobiles to the chronometer, they would have arrived in Patterson between eleven and twelve o'clock at night and, incidentally, that is when they did arrive. At that hour of the night there would have been nobody awake in Patterson except the night watchman. We respectfully submit that only one conclusion can be drawn from the hour of arrival and that leads invariably to the thought of violence at an hour when no witness would be present to testify on the day of retribution In plain English, the only conclusion the minority can reach is that these nine men went to Patterson on a felonious and illegal mission for. if their purpose and desires had been honorable, and they really intended to investigate. they would have endeavored to arrive at an hour when "sleek headed men and such as sleep o' night" would have been available for interrogation without disturbing their repose. Can any normal human being draw any other conclusion than that the expedition was one with no other objective than that of ultimate violence? We have already commented on the fact that Scrudder could not have notified the police before leaving San Francisco by any other method than the one he adopted. It is true that Scrudder told Cleary on the night of the arrest that, "If we had another car tonight we probably would have another load" In this connection, might it be said that Herman Stuyvelaar testified before this committee that three other men were to have gone on the expedition, but, for reasons sufficient to them, would not go (L. A. 188). The minority desires to draw no unjustifiable conclusions, but might it not be concluded that these three other men, upon learning the objective of the mission, declined to participate in any felonious patrolling with dynamiting as the ultimate aim?

We agree with the majority that there is nothing to justify a definite determination of how the information actually went from San Francisco to Patterson on the night that the two cars left. We regard that as of minor importance for the ultimate object of this investigation is to determine whether or not the defendants had a fair trial. Captain Healy testified that he telephoned to Modesto It is apparent that he did not, for the records of the telephone company show no call from the police department in San Francisco to Patterson on the night of April 20th Quackenboss, who was in charge of the office of the joint tankers committee testified that he received the call from the police department at San Francisco and that he telephoned it to Patterson In view of the records of the telephone company, that is probably the true statement of facts, but there is no criticism that should apply to Captain Healy because his memory missed the minutia of detail after a lapse of two years Equally true, we are not inclined to decide whether or not the San Francisco police department was reimbursed by the tanker committee for the salary paid to Scrudder, for by either answer no light is thrown on either the fairness of trial nor the guilt or innocence of the defendants. The majority recommends a full and complete pardon be granted Reuel Stanfield, Victor H Johnson, Robert J. Fitzgerald, John Sousa, John Burroughs, Henry Silva and Patsy Ciambrelli for the reason, as they state, because of the legal presumption of innocence in view of Scrudder's alleged confession and discredited testimony The majority bases a conclusion upon a conclusion when the basic conclusion rests upon no premise at all, at least so far as the record goes. Let us examine the record

The majority admits that Buyle and Rodgers stole the dynamite; that they were guilty. It follows as the night the day that the dynamite was in the cars when they left San Francisco. There were eleven men in the party, including Buyle and Rodgers, admittedly guilty, and also including Scrudder and Marchant, both under-cover agents, and seven others. Admittedly these eleven men in many instances did not know each other, with the exception of Buyle and Rodgers who were close friends, Stanfield and Johnson, similarly situated; Burroughs and Sousa, likewise intimates—there was no closeness of either acquaintance or friendship. Admitting Buyle and Rodgers brought dynamite to the place from which the expedition started, it was a matter of logic that they brought it for a purpose. As a final conclusion, in view of their intent on the expedition, the object of the presence of the dynamite was violence. Is it conceivable that Buyle and Rodgers would be embarking on a felonious expedition whose only object was a destruction of property, and had with them nine men who were strangers in varying degrees without first having sounded the depths of their emotions along these lines to have determined the question of whether they were being accompanied by kindred spirits? Unless Buyle and Rodgers are morons of the lowest depths of intelligence, it is inconceivable that they would have brought along with them on an expedition of this character, nine men who, if their judgments were wrong, would have been witnesses for the prosecution in a dynamiting episode There is no occasion for our stretching human credulity beyond the breaking point. No human being, normal or subnormal, would ever have presented the prosecution with nine eye witnesses to a felony. The answer presents itself. Every one of these men must have known of the presence of the dynamite and had complete intention to lend both their presence and activity to its ultimate use Let it be further remembered that Stanfield was the leader of the party. He and Rodgers organized it. Johnson was the roommate and intimate associate and friend of Stanfield. As to the guilty knowledge of Stanfield and Johnson, there can be no question. Incidentally in passing, let it be said that Stanfield has a record of convictions in cases of violence that shocks all sense of decency Also Ciambrelli and Buyle have a record of conviction in cases of felony. Even the imagination of the majority must have found difficulty in comparing these three with the white pristine purity of the driven snow. In passing, it might be said that Fitzgerald is a man who impresses. His appearance is one of intelligence and his face would indicate a sense of recognition of the decencies and proprieties of life Yet, let it be remembered that he deliberately lied to the committee when he was examined at San Quentin when he narrated the more minute details of an attack by Swartz upon Johnson at the time of the arrest at Patterson (S.F. 408). Yet, when confronted with a record of his testimony at Modesto which was entirely to the contrary, he admitted that he was lying to the committee (S F. 413, 419). Be it also remembered that the testimony was that Fitzgerald, Sousa and Burroughs were seated in the back seat of the Nash car; that Fitzgerald sat on the right (S.F. 405). That is admittedly the situation. Testimony by others, but denied by Fitzgerald, was that he held in his lap the six sticks of dynamite Admittedly, and conceded by the majority, these six sticks were thrown from the car by someone. Admittedly and conceded by the majority, they were found on the righthand side of the road. Somebody threw that dynamite out of the car Can a person analyze the situation and apply any degree of logic and reach any other conclusion than that Fitzgerald furnished the impetus by which the eruption from the car of the dynamite originated? If the admitted facts and circumstances were not sufficient to establish Fitzgerald's knowing participation, any reasonable doubt is removed by the testimony of the defendants' chief counsel, Mr. Aaron Sapiro before the Stanislaus grand jury when that body investigated the charge of "frame-up" At that time Mr Sapiro informed the grand jury that it was Fitzgerald who was holding the paper package containing the dynamite and that it was he, Fitzgerald, who threw it out of the automobile just before the car was halted by the Stanislaus County officers (Tr. Stanislaus Grand Jury Hearing January 28, 1937, pp. 119-124). In fairness to Fitzgerald, he looked like a man who would not willingly have participated in such an affair and it is our conclusion that he was an unwilling victim of circumstances, the circumstances, however, being produced by his fellow union men. As to Sousa, Burroughs and Silva, no conclusion can be reached except that they were willing tools in the hands of Stanfield, Johnson, Rodgers and Buyle and obviously, in the leniency of their sentences, this fact must have been recognized

The minority concludes from the reasons above given that we agree with the majority in the following: (1) that Altonse Buyle and John Rodgers were guilty and received the just punishment for their actions; (2) that Glenn M. DeVore did nothing that is not in accordance with the highest ethics of his profession and in fullest cognizance with every demand of the proprieties; (3) Leslie A. Cleary, district attorney of Stanislaus County, performed his functions as a public official without violating in the slightest degree any requirement of law or conscience; (4) that there was no frame-up of any kind or character, and, while not understanding what the majority means by a "tacit conspiracy to frame," our conclusions are that there was no frame-up or "tacit conspiracy to frame" by either Standard Oil or the tanker committee, by Scrudder, Marchant, or any other person, in any manner, shape or form; (5) that the effect of Scrudder's testimony on the conviction of the defendants is a matter of pure speculation. As above pointed out, the testimony of other witnesses, the admitted physical facts and circumstances, as well as the inconsistent statements and testimony of the defendants themselves, may well have been the basis for the jury's finding of guilt, rather than anything testified to by Scrudder. But with reference to Scrudder, we concur with the Stanislaus grand jury and with the Attorney General's Office, who investigated the charge of perjury (S.F. 20) that Scrudder did not commit perjury at the trial or at any time that he was under oath.

It is therefore our judgment, in view of the foregoing considerations and the scope and purpose of this investigation, that there is no occasion for recommending any action to be taken by the Assembly.

Assuming that this legislative body might properly under certain circumstances, act with reference to a pardon, no such case is presented here. Admittedly the defendants were tried and convicted by a fair and impartial judge and jury, and there is nothing disclosed by this investigation that shows that such conviction was the result of perjury, subornation of perjury or "frame-up" of any kind, or that those convicted did not have a fair trial.

The other recommendations in the majority report involve matters without and beyond the scope of the investigation called for by the Assembly resolution. That resolution by its express terms directed and confined the investigation "to determine whether perjury and subornation of perjury were committed in connection with the conviction of said 'Modesto Defendants'." The committee was not called upon, nor was it authorized to investigate the matter of "labor controversies" or the whole field of law enforcement. And while the investigation did at times go far afield from the real subject of inquiry, no adequate investigation was had of the other matters to justify or warrant findings or recommendations for legislation concerning the same.

In the main, the other matters, concerning which legislation is recommended by the majority, have to do with the rendering of assistance to district attorneys and law enforcement officers by private sources. In the case under investigation such assistance was given the district attorney, but was given at his request, and after he had sought but failed to secure such assistance by the Attorney General. The special prosecutor, while compensated by private sources, was not selected by them, but was personally selected and chosen by the district attorney.

Admittedly district attorneys and public prosecutors should not be required to secure or rely on assistance from private sources in order to discharge their official duties. And the people, by constitutional amendment (Article V, section 21), and the Legislature, by enactment of law (Political Code, section 476-479), have since provided adequate means to avoid such situations by enlarging the duties, responsibilities, facilities and funds of the Attorney General, so that now the Attorney General is charged not only with the supervision of district attorneys and sheriffs, but is required to render all needed assistance, and if necessary, actually prosecute criminal proceedings.

Respectfully submitted.

In Lake County and in other portions of the State many persons are eager to form recreation districts under the act amended by this bill but under the act as at present are unable to undertake any work thereunder because of lack of authority to construct recreation facilities other than swimming pools. If this act does not take effect until 90 days after the adjournment of the session it will not be possible to construct the recreational facilities in time for the summer season of 1937 and the work may be delayed for over a year to the great detriment both to the people in the proposed recreation districts themselves and to the economic well being of the State of California as a whole."

Assembly Concurrent Resolution No 44 referred to the Committee on Labor and Capital

Notice of Motion to Withdraw Assembly Bill No. 311 from Committee

Mr Richie gave notice, in compliance with Rule 58, that he would move to withdraw Assembly Bill No. 311 from the Committee on Crime Problems, and have it placed upon the calendar.

Resolution.

The following resolution was offered:

By Mr. Richie:

House Resolution No. 142.

WHEREAS, On February 9, 1917 in the superior court of the State of California in and for the City and County of San Francisco, Thomas J. Mooney was convicted of the crime of murder in connection with the bombing of the Preparedness Day Parade in the city of San Francisco on July 22, 1916, resulting in the death of several persons, and

WHEREAS, Thomas J Mooney was thereupon sentenced to death, which sentence was later commuted by the Governor of the State of California to life imprisonment; and

WHEREAS, The said Thomas J. Mooney has, since said conviction, been incarcerated in the State Prison at San Quentin, where he is still confined as a life prisoner; and

WHEREAS, It has since been shown that the conviction of said Thomas J. Mooney was based upon false and perjured testimony, and it is now fully evident that said Thomas J Mooney is innocent of the crime for which he was convicted, and should be granted immediately a full and complete pardon and set at liberty; and

WHEREAS, The Assembly of the State of California did, on the tenth day of March, 1937, pass an Assembly concurrent resolution purporting to be a legislative pardon, but which resolution was not concurred in by the Senate; and

WHEREAS, The Assembly, on March 31, 1937, did then pass an Assembly concurrent resolution, recommending and asking the Governor to pardon the said Thomas J. Mooney; and

WHEREAS, The Senate again did not concur, with the result that the will of the Assembly and its recommendation in this matter have not been transmitted to the Governor; and

WHEREAS, It is highly significant that in both instances the Senators who voted for the aforementioned resolutions, although being five and eight, respectively, nevertheless represent in each case more than half the population of California, particularly in the last instance: and

WHEREAS, It seems just and fitting that the overwhelming opinion of the Assembly, with a reference to the opinion of those Senators who represent much more than half the people of California, should formally be brought to the attention of the Governor, now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Governor of this State is hereby requested to grant to said Thomas J. Mooney a full and complete pardon; and, be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly is hereby directed to transmit a copy of this resolution to the Governor of this State

Request for Unanimous Consent.

WHEREAS, Harold Pomeroy, State Relief Administrator, has issued a verbal order prohibiting employees of the S R A from pursuing legislative activities in the California Legislature on their own time and in their capacity as private citizens; and

WHEREAS, Said order specifically forbids any meetings with legislators for the purpose of discussing any and all legislation; and

WHEREAS, Said order further prohibits the sending of communications or petitions to legislators concerning pending legislation; and

WHEREAS, Said order arbitrarily limits the exercise of fundamental political rights and liberties; and

WHEREAS, Said order is un-American and undemocratic in that it abridges the fundamental liberties of free speech, free press and free assemblage and the right of petition; and

WHEREAS, Our democratic form of government can only survive so long as the citizens engage in free discussion on public questions; and

WHEREAS, Said Harold Pomeroy has threatened to dismiss any S R A employee who disobeys said order; and

WHEREAS, The said Harold E. Pomeroy in the issue of said order has acted contrary to the Constitutions and laws of the United States and of this State; and

WHEREAS, In connection with the question of what constitutes an improper activity on the part of an employee of the State Relief Commission, the Attorney General of this State has ruled as follows:

"* * * In reply, the term 'Improper Activity' is not susceptible of a definition which could be applied in determining in each particular instance whether an activity of a political character were proper or improper. The propriety of political activity must in a large degree depend upon the circumstances of the particular instances.

"It is generally admitted to be not only the privilege but the duty of an American citizen to be politically active, and it has not been supposed that employment in State or municipal service, either civil service or otherwise, would prevent or prohibit an employee from the exercise of political right, including a reasonable and well ordered activity in behalf of those political principles which he favored, or in the support of those candidates whose success he believed would best contribute to the general welfare. Whether an employee in a particular instance exceeds the limits indicated must be determined as above indicated by a consideration of the facts and circumstances bearing upon the particular activity.

"The propriety of political activity in a given instance does not depend upon the question whether such activity of the employee accords with the views of the principal, or even with the views of the political party represented by all or a majority of the office encumbents * * * *; and,

WHEREAS, It is inconsistent that said Harold E. Pomeroy has himself lobbied on State time both on the floor of this Assembly and elsewhere; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That said Harold E. Pomeroy is hereby requested to reverse any and all orders and directions made by him relative to the exercise of the rights of any citizen, whether employed by the State or not, and that he refrain from dismissing any employee for petitioning the State Legislature in person or otherwise; and be it further

Resolved, That the Governor be and he hereby is requested to relieve said Harold E. Pomeroy of his duties as State Relief Administrator, if the practices condemned by this resolution are continued."

House Resolution No. 131, re-referred to Committee on Social Service and Welfare.

Message from the Governor.

The following message from the Governor was received and read:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE,
SACRAMENTO, April 21, 1937.

To the Honorable Members of the Assembly,
Sacramento, California

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Assembly Bill No. 1435, the same being:

"An act to amend section 445 of the Political Code, relating to the salaries of the Inheritance Tax Attorney and five assistant inheritance tax attorneys."

This bill proposes to eliminate from the present law the salaries of the Inheritance Tax Attorney and five assistants. Under existing law the Inheritance Tax Attorney and two assistants receive annually $4,200 each, and the other three assistants receive $3,000 each. These payments are for part time service. Assembly Bill No. 1435 would place the authority for determining these salaries with the State Controller "according to law".

No particular reason has been assigned for the proposed change, and I am convinced that there is little need for the repeal of the provisions above mentioned, and am of the opinion the law should remain as it exists at the present time.

I am, therefore, returning Assembly Bill No. 1435 without my approval.

Respectfully submitted

FRANK F. MERRIAM, Governor of California

Consideration of Governor's Veto to Assembly Bill No. 1435.

Assembly Bill No. 1435—An act to amend section 445 of the Political Code, relating to the salaries of the Inheritance Tax Attorney and five assistant inheritance tax attorneys.

The question being put: Shall Assembly Bill No. 1435 become a law notwithstanding the veto of the Governor?

The roll was called, and the veto of the Governor sustained by the following vote:

AYES—Hunt, and Richie—2

Explanation of Vote.

I voted "No" on the motion to bring Assembly Bill No. 311 out of the committee and place it upon the calendar for passage. I know that the Criminal Syndicalism Act is not as it should be, and might be amended to the advantage of our people, but the author of this bill insists on outright repeal and will not accept any amendments. Therefore I am voting "No."

"Any stabilization and marketing plan shall contain the following provisions:

(a) Provisions for prohibiting distributors from engaging in the unfair practices hereinafter set forth:

(1) The payment, allowance or acceptance of secret rebates, secret refunds, or unearned discounts by any person whether in the form of money or otherwise

(2) The giving of any milk, cream, dairy products, services or articles of any kind, except to bona fide charities, for the purpose of securing the fluid milk or fluid cream business of any customer.

(3) The extension to certain customers of special prices or services not made available to all customers who purchase fluid milk or fluid cream of like quantity under like terms and conditions.

(4) The false or misleading advertising of fluid milk or fluid cream as defined in section 654a of the Penal Code.

(5) The purchase of any fluid milk in excess of 100 gallons monthly from any producer or association of producers unless a written contract has been entered into with such producer or association of producers stating the amount of fluid milk to be purchased for any period; the quantity of such milk to be paid for as Class 1, and Class 2, and the price to be paid for each of the several classes. The contract shall also state the date and method of payment, the charges for transportation if hauled by the distributor, and may contain such other provisions as are not in conflict with this chapter. A signed copy of such contract shall be filed by the distributor with the director within five days from the date of its execution.

(b) Provisions whereby the director designates and prescribes or provides methods for designating or prescribing minimum prices to be paid by distributors to producers, for fluid milk in one or more of the various classes; provided, however, that the prices so designated or prescribed shall be based upon the economic relationship of the price of fluid milk for the marketing area involved to the price of manufacturing milk, taking into consideration the additional costs incurred in producing and marketing fluid milk over and above costs incurred in producing and marketing manufacturing milk; and provided further the director finds that such prices will tend to effectuate the purposes and policy of this chapter and will insure consumers a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk.

Any stabilization and marketing plan may contain the following provisions:

(c) Provisions whereby distributors shall report to each producer from whom fluid milk is secured, the volume of fluid milk received from such producer in pounds of milk, the milk fat test of such milk and the amount of fluid milk in milk fat pounds paid for in the several classes and the prices paid for the various classes for each month.

(d) Provisions whereby the director designates and prescribes or provides methods for designating or prescribing minimum prices to be paid by distributors to producers for fluid cream, provides that the prices so designated or prescribed shall be based upon the economic relationship of the price of fluid cream for the marketing area involved to the price of manufacturing areas, taking into consideration the additional costs incurred in producing and marketing fluid cream and provided further, that the director finds that such prices will tend to effectuate the purposes and policy of this chapter and will insure consumers a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome cream.

(e) Provisions whereby the director designates or prescribes methods to provide uniform prices to be paid to all producers supplying fluid milk to distributors for pasteurization purposes in the marketing area involved by pooling the returns of all such fluid milk; provided that no equalization pool shall be established unless producers who supply distributors with not less than 65 per cent of the total volume of fluid milk used for pasteurization purposes and who represent not less than 65 per cent of the total number of such producers petition the director in writing to establish such equalization pool as a part of the plan. The director may designate the local control board for the marketing area as his agency to operate the equalization pool and may permit such local board to employ a pool manager and such other necessary personnel and to incur such expenses incidental to the operation of the pool as the director finds are necessary. The director is hereby empowered to require distributors to make reports to the pool manager at such intervals and in such detail as he finds is necessary for the operation of the pool which reports shall be kept confidential as to any individual distributor but shall be available to the director or his agents and the pool manager, and such employees of the pool as are necessary to the operation of the equalization pool.

No provision of any pooling program shall prevent any distributor from paying premiums for quality provided all producers supplying fluid milk of like quality to such distributor are paid similar premiums, nor shall any provision prohibit the paying of different prices to producers based on differentials in transportation adjustments or deductions made by a cooperative association of producers to its members, including the blending of proceeds received from the sale of fluid milk by such cooperative in other markets. Distributors who purchase fluid milk from producers for pasteurization purposes shall deduct from payments due such producers at such time and in such manner such sums as the director determines are sufficient to insure uniform prices to all producers subject to the provisions of the equalization pool, irrespective of the usage of such fluid milk by the distributors. Distributors shall make, in addition to the deductions herein prescribed, such additional deductions per pound milk fat as the director finds necessary to pay all expenses incidental to the operation of the equalization pool, including the establishment of a reserve account to insure prompt payments to producers. The deductions herein prescribed are in addition to any other deductions prescribed by this chapter."

Dear Dr. Maier:

I wish to thank you for your frank letter to me recently. I have also noted your correspondence with Mrs. de Lafayette-Washburn of Chicago. It has been rather difficult for me to understand your attitude and I am not quite sure that I do now, your broadcasts seem so straightforward, righteous and fearless.

It seems to me that the world is suffering today from a double moral standard, one standard for sins of commission another for sins of omission. There are innumerable tragic examples of this. For instance, it is rather difficult to question the financial integrity and honesty of our bankers. They merely omit to tell us when they propose to deflate credit so that our possessions fall into their hands like ripe apples from a tree. How can we successfully accuse our public officials of deliberately betraying their trust and willfully destroying our constitution? They merely omit to enforce the clause which states that "Congress shall have the power to coin money and regulate the value thereof", so that the whole structure of government is undermined and in danger of collapse. Our publishers, educators, moral and religious leaders, are careful not to be caught telling lies. They merely omit to tell the truth about an economic system so foul that it stinks to the high heavens and a moral leadership so low and cowardly that it crawls on its belly in fear before a hollow barbarian superstition, the Image of the Golden Calf. Tell me, Dr. Maier, do you think Christ has two moral standards, one for sins of commission another for sins of omission?

Ignoring our problems seems to be a poor way of solving them. Everyone of intelligence realizes that this country is facing REVOLUTION. We shall shortly be compelled to decide whether to turn to the Left to Communism, or to the Right to fascism or go straight ahead under Democracy to Economic Liberty. Have we the courage to face this question openly with reason or must we be driven like beasts with VIOLENCE?

Hon. Henry A. Dannenbrink
Member of Assembly, Eighteenth District
State Capitol
Sacramento, California

Dear Mr. Dannendrink:

I have been informed by one of our undercover western agents that you have displayed rather unusual interest in a recent intra-organizational letter of mine to Capt. Bethel of Oakland that seems to have inadvertantly fallen into your hands. Now, Mr. Danbridink, don't you know that curiosity is sometimes a very dangerous thing to have too much of?

Naturally with the time of VIOLENT REVOLUTION approaching so close, we are now giving a great deal of thought to the liquidation of the traitors who have lead our beloved nation into this desperate situation. Strangely it seems there is quite a difference of opinion in regard to this. In the East they seem to prefer to line them up against a wall and shoot them, starting with the Bankers. Here in the South we like the Publishers best and prefer some slow lasting torture like burning at the stake or some modified form of lynching. The West seems to be raring for straight old fashioned hanging, taking the Politicians just as they come without bothering to look for or spare a possible honest one.

Now, Mr. Drinkandbedamned, permit me to hope that your turn may come last instead of first so that your curiosity will not be too abruptly terminated. I enclose some other material for you to look over before the dead line.

Yours in the fellowship of freedom,

Geo. W. Christians, Commander-in-Chief

NOES—Hawkins, Pelletier, and Richie—3.

Explanation of Vote.

By Mr. Richie:

MR. SPEAKER: I vote "No" on the resolution to print in the Journal the remarks of U. S. Senator McAdoo on the subject of so-called sit-down strikes, not because of any displeasure at having the Senator's remarks recorded in the Journal, but because the resolution carried an indorsement of the views expressed. The Senator's remarks were not read in full to the Assembly and I had not read them. I could not know in advance whether I agree or disagree with what I had not read nor heard read.

Speech of Hon. William Gibbs McAdoo, of California, in the Senate of the United States, April 7, 1937.

MR MCADOO: Mr. President, I should like briefly to submit to the Senate some observations on this concurrent resolution.

While I construe the pending resolution as merely declaratory, nevertheless it may prove helpful in requickening in the American consciousness the pregnant fact that "obedience to law is liberty", and that without it the constitutional guaranty of the sacred right of "life, liberty, and property" is but an empty phrase. Without life, liberty is worthless; without liberty, life is unendurable; but even life and liberty can not be realized in full measure unless every citizen is permitted to enjoy the fruits of his labor or efforts; unless he is made secure in the possession of his lawfully acquired property.

It is for these reasons that the Constitution of the United States, in the fifth amendment, provides:

> No person shall be * * * deprived of life, liberty, or property without due process of law.

And in the fourteenth amendment that—

> No State shall * * * deprive any person of life, liberty, or property without due process of law.

And again in the fifth amendment:

> Nor shall private property be taken for public use without just compensation.

The fundamental law of the land, the Constitution itself, prohibits the Government of the United States and the government of every State from taking the property—to say nothing of life and liberty—of the citizen "without due process of law." It is because the sit-down strike violates the fundamental law of the land by taking property without due process of law that I can not indorse it without disregarding my oath of office and my conscientious conviction that the mistaken policy and illegality of the sit-down strike, if carried to its logical conclusion, will inevitably lead to anarchy and the demoralization of organized society.

The Government of the United States itself does not have the power, which the sit-down strike asserts, to take possession of private property without due process of law. The State of Michigan possesses no such power. When private property is taken by government, Federal or State, for public use, just compensation must be provided.

Suppose the Federal Government or any State Government arbitrarily seized a factory, an office building, a warehouse, or a ranch, and drove out the owners. Such action would be reprehended by every citizen in the land. Government must set an example to the citizen, must live within the law, and proceed in strict conformity with law in every action it may take. It can not be claimed that sit-down strikers possess a power which transcends that of the sovereign Government of the United States and of the States composing the Union.

Aside from these considerations I can not, as a consistent friend of labor over a period of many years, indorse a course which, if persisted in, will do grave injury to the just cause of labor. Correction of the obvious evils in our economic and social order can not, in my judgment, be achieved by lawless methods on the part of capital or labor. With the long struggle of labor for reasonable hours and better working conditions and a more equitable share in the fruits of its industry, I am now, as I have always been, in full sympathy. As a member of this body I have voted for every measure which I thought would contribute to the achievement of these ends. As a member of the Cabinet of that great statesman and friend of the workingman, Woodrow Wilson, during the World War, I was brought into intimate contact with the problems of labor, industry, and agriculture because of the grave responsibilities imposed upon me by my official duties. I hope my colleagues on the floor will acquit me of even the semblance of egotism if I refer to some phases of my administration as Director General of the Railroads of the United States.

By Executive order some 250,000,000 miles of railroad were taken over by the Government on the 27th day of December, 1917, as a war measure, and supreme authority over them was conferred upon me as Director General. I found myself in command of more than 2,000,000 railway employees. Transportation was disorganized; the spirit of the employees was at low ebb because of inadequate wages, unsatisfactory and, to some extent, inhuman working conditions. Strikes were impending in various parts of the country, not because of a lack of patriotism but because of the harsh conditions under which employees were compelled to toil. The draft law deprived the railroads of the service of much skilled labor, and the scale of wages in competitive war industries was so much higher than the scales prevailing on the railroads that men were going to shipyards and war industries, where they could work with equal patriotism and receive wages far in excess of those the railroads were paying. On many of the lines organized labor was unrecognized.

After a thorough investigation of the conditions I issued General Order No. 27 on May 25, 1918. The basic eight-hour day was recognized in every line of railroad work. Discrimination against employees because they were or were not members of a labor union was prohibited. The fundamental injustice of paying women in the employ of the railroads less for their services than was paid to men for exactly the same class of work was removed, and the pay of women was equalized with that of men for the same services rendered.

For many years the Negro employees of the railroads, such as firemen, trainmen, and switchmen, were paid less for identically the same work than was paid to white men in like capacities. That discrimination was struck down, and equal pay for the same services performed was accorded to Negroes and to white men alike.

Increases in the pay of employees to put them on a comparable basis with those who worked in war industries, in shipyards, and in other industries throughout the country, were granted. These resulted in a gross increase in the wages of railroad employees during the year 1918 of more than $700,000,000. The amount of the gross addition to income is not particularly important, but it has a bearing upon the magnitude of the problem then presented of equalizing the pay of railroad workers with the pay of those engaged in competitive industries.

These and other corrective acts brought peace and contentment to the great army of railroad men and women who, in that critical time, were charged with providing transportation for troops, supplies, and equipment indispensable to victory on the fields of France.

I recite these things to point the moral that justice to labor in industry will produce contentment, improve efficiency, and bring peace and just rewards to both capital and labor.

Mr. President, we are going through one of those epochal changes in the life of Nations when fundamental and sometimes radical readjustments, economic and social, are involved. The processes of change and reform require patience, intelligence, and the highest order of statesmanship. It is my hope that out of the disturbances that now agitate the industrial world a new formula to govern the relations between labor and capital may emerge. It must emerge if peace in the industrial world is to be secured. It can not emerge, however, unless our great captains of industry abandon ideas made archaic by a machine age, and recognize frankly that their resistance to laws enacted by Congress to promote industrial justice must be abandoned and a policy of cooperation with government and labor substituted if the great boon of industrial peace and stability is to be secured. I agree with my distinguished colleague, the Senator from New York [Mr. WAGNER], that if the provisions of the National Labor Relations Act for collective bargaining had been accepted by industrial captains instead of being resisted by court proceedings which, although within their technical right to institute, seem to me to have been unenlightened policy, this situation would probably not have arisen. But we are face to face with it now. What are we going to do about it?

A mere denunciation of the sit-down strike will not solve the problem. Compulsory arbitration will get us nowhere. The validity of the Wagner Labor Relations Act, if sustained by the Supreme Court, will prove a valuable contribution, but not in itself a solution.

A new formula, of which I have spoken, to govern the relations between labor and capital must be found. This can be found only if capital and labor will cooperate to that end, aided by government and guided by government. I should like to see action by the Senate which would initiate conferences between the leaders of labor and industry for discussion and counsel on this superlatively important matter. Under the friendly auspices of government, in an atmosphere permeated by patriotism and with a determination to gain the great objective, I am confident that the outcome will set civilization upon a new path toward the ultimate goal of human rights, industrial peace, and contentment.

But, Mr. President, these ends can not be secured through force or violence. We need the calm of peace for deliberate judgment.

Over the main entrance to the courthouse in Worcester, Mass., is this fine phrase, "Obedience to law is liberty." It is, to my mind, a perfect definition of liberty—liberty regulated by law; the only kind of liberty which assures to every man, however humble, security for his life and property; the only kind of liberty under which civilization has been able to advance; the only kind of liberty under which the people of this great Republic have been able to acquire a commanding position among the powers of the earth. Liberty without lawlessness is the greatest goal of free men. Liberty cursed with lawlessness produces a cancerous growth on the body of society which can lead only to irreparable disaster.

Messages from the Governor.

The following messages from the Governor were received and read:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE,
SACRAMENTO, April 23, 1937.

To the Honorable Members of the Assembly,
Sacramento, California

GREETINGS: I am returning herewith without my approval, Assembly Bill No. 1726, the same being

"An act to amend section 1151 of the Political Code, relating to election officers in cities".

This bill proposes among other things to require the members of election boards to be appointed from a register of applicants for such positions on file with the county clerk, or from a list secured by advertising for election officers. If this amendment becomes effective, only those who appear on such list will be eligible to serve as election officers. I am of the opinion that every elector should be eligible to serve on an election board as provided at the present time.

I am, therefore, returning Assembly Bill No. 1726 without my approval.

Respectfully submitted,

FRANK F. MERRIAM, Governor of California.

Assembly Bill No. 1726 ordered on unfinished business calendar.

The action thus taken is prompted by the same considerations as set forth in a message refusing approval of Assembly Bill No. 1105.

Respectfully submitted

Motion to Print Report in Journal.

On motion of Mr. Fulcher, the following report was ordered printed in the Journal:

REPORT OF COMMITTEE RELATING TO EXCHANGE OF LAND BETWEEN FEDERAL GOVERNMENT AND McCLOUD RIVER LAND COMPANY.

GENTLEMEN: On June 7, 1935, the Assembly passed a resolution requesting the Speaker to appoint an investigating committee to investigate the proposed exchange of land belonging to the United States Government situated in the vicinity of the McCloud River in Shasta and Siskiyou counties for land which the McCloud River Land Company had agreed to acquire in Shasta, Modoc, Trinity and Siskiyou counties.

On August 24, 1935, the Speaker appointed the undersigned as members of said committee, and thereafter the committee conducted an investigation into the facts relating to said proposed exchange.

On August 31, 1935, the chairman of this committee directed a communication to Mr. S. B. Show, Regional Forester of the United States Forest Service, at San Francisco, requesting a statement from him relative to said proposed exchange, and received a letter from Mr. L. A Barrett, Acting Regional Forester, under date of September 4, 1935, in which he states in part.

> "This exchange has been pending for some ten or 12 years. The formal application has not as yet been filed, but it is expected to be filed within the near future In order that you may be informed of the conditions under which such exchanges are made, I am sending you herewith a copy of Circular No. 863 giving the law and regulations relative to exchanges under the General Land Exchange Act of March 20, 1922 You will note that an exchange of this character must receive the approval of the Secretary of Agriculture and then all the title proceedings must be handled through the United States Land Office in the district in which the land is located. The regulations require the publication of the offer of exchange and posting of a copy in the United States Land Office. This is done in order that there may be full publicity relative to the exchange and that protests may be filed the same as where an application is made for patent to a mining claim or to a homestead.
> As the proposition now stands, the McCloud River Land Company has asked for some 19,481 acres of land mainly adjacent to the McCloud River and in the vicinity of their present holdings and the holdings of the McCloud Country Club, etc. In exchange for this they will offer to convey to the United States a total of 28,281 acres of land located approximately as follows. About 17,240 acres mainly adjacent to Squaw Valley Creek; two tracts of this, however, are along McCloud River and are now accessible by road There is offered another 40 acres which is needed by the Forest Service for a fire lookout station; 160 acres northeast of McCloud which is crossed by the present mud flow control project; 40 acres in the North Warner Mountains surrounding Cave Lake; 434 acres in the South Warners surrounding Blue Lake, and 10,367 acres of land in the Salmon-Trinity Alps wilderness area, which controls some of the fishing streams in that locality. You will note that the offer, when made, will be about three acres for two, so that the public would gain considerable acreage of land if the exchange is consummated."

In a summary of a report on said proposed exchange, dated October 3, 1935, by Mr L. A. Barrett, Acting Regional Forester, he states:

> "This exchange, if consummated, will:
> 1. Consolidate land holdings along the McCloud and Squaw Valley Creek drainages.
> 2. Consolidate in public ownership the lands in the Salmon-Trinity Alps primitive area.
> 3. Place in public ownership two of the finest recreation tracts in northeastern California—Blue Lake and Cave Lake."

From the foregoing it is obvious that the United States Forest Service, or at least Mr. Barrett as spokesman for the Forest Service, have committed the Federal Government to the proposed exchange

Your committee made as thorough an investigation of the facts involving said proposed exchange as their time and means would permit, and we have arrived at the conclusion that the public interest will not be promoted by consummating said exchange for the following reasons:

(1) The act under which the proposed exchange is authorized provides:

> "That, when the public interests will be benefited thereby, the Secretary of the Interior be, and hereby is, authorized in his discretion to accept on behalf of the United States title to any lands within exterior boundaries of the National forests which, in the opinion of the Secretary of Agriculture, are chiefly valuable for National forest purposes, and in exchange therefor may patent not to exceed an equal value of such National forest land, in the same State, surveyed and nonmineral in character."

The committee is of the opinion that the investigation made by the United States Forest Service of the government land which it proposes to convey to the McCloud River Land Company is insufficient to determine whether or not said land is nonmineral in character, and the committee is of the opinion, from information derived as a result of its investigation, that a considerable portion of the land which the Forest Service proposes to convey to said land company is mineral in character and the mineral rights therein should be reserved to the Federal Government so that the same may be explored and exploited in the manner now authorized by Federal statutes.

It is obvious that the United States Forest Service is opposed to the development of the mineral resources of the lands belonging to the Federal Government within the National forests, and they have repeatedly refused to recognize the right of citizens to develop said mineral resources in the manner now authorized by the Federal statutes.

(2) The committee were informed that one of the conditions of the proposed exchange is that the McCloud River Land Company shall reserve all mineral rights in the land which it proposes to convey to the Federal Government; this is obviously in accordance with the program of the United States Forest Service to stifle the exploration and exploitation of the mineral resources of lands belonging to the United States Government within the National forests, and such provision is manifestly unfair to the citizens of this State who desire to explore and exploit the mineral resources of the public domain, in accordance with the statutes and laws of the United States.

(3) The members of the committee are also of the opinion that the proposed exchange is detrimental to the public interest for the further and additional reason that it will permit a large and wealthy corporation to acquire large and valuable areas of the public domain which is now valuable for its mineral resources and for recreational purposes, and thus deprive posterity of the opportunity of developing these resources or making use of said land for recreational purposes for all time to come.

(4) The members of the committee believe that no advantage will be gained to the public by the proposed exchange for the further reason that the land which the McCloud River Land Company proposes to convey to the Government consists largely of land granted to the Central Pacific Railway Company under the Federal land grants authorized by Congress, and said land is now available to the public for recreational purposes, and the mineral resources thereof can be explored and exploited by virtue of the policy of the railway company to lease or sell its lands to private individuals for this purpose.

If these lands are now conveyed to the government with the mineral rights reserved to the McCloud River Land Company, as proposed by the Forest Service, all opportunity for future development of the mineral resources thereof will be forever lost.

(5) The committee is of the opinion that if a public necessity exists for the acquisition of the lands by the Federal Government which the McCloud River Land Company proposes to convey, both the Federal and State Governments have the power and the means to acquire said land at a reasonable cost in money without conveying to the McCloud River Land Company, or any other private entity or individual, the valuable government lands which the Forest Service proposes to convey to the McCloud River Land Company, pursuant to the proposed exchange

(6) That the committee is of the opinion that in view of the magnitude of the proposed exchange and the possibility of the public interest being jeopardized thereby, the Congress of the United States should be called upon to investigate the same and determine whether or not public interest will be promoted by said exchange before the same is consummated.

For the above and foregoing reasons we respectfully submit the proposed exchange should not be consummated, and that appropriate action should be taken by the California Legislature to prevent the consummation of said exchange.

Respectfully submitted.

CLINTON J. FULCHER
KENT H. REDWINE
JAMES B. UTT

Ship Models.

You stand in shadowed nooks with all sails set,
Dreaming of phantom seas and flying spray,
Waiting for winds that whistled eerie tunes
To proud ancestors of a bygone day.

You wait in quiet corners wistfully,
With sails high flung to trades that never blow,
Thirsting for flying spindrift and a gale
And troughs of rocking green and blue below.

Your lines are taut with hidden eagerness
To sail the seven seas and plow the blue,
To listen to the chanting of the trades
And see dim ports that once, in dreams, you knew.

But never may you fly before the wind
Hull down with your proud kin of other years,
While roofs of home must be your starless skies
And shelves above a hearth remain your piers.

Cristel Hastings in Delineator, October, 1935.

Presentation of Petitions.

The following petition was received and filed:

By Mr. Speaker:

LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA, April 22, 1937.

Clerk of the Assembly, Capitol Building, Sacramento, California.

DEAR SIR: The members of the United Independent Van and Warehousemen's Association of America at their regular meeting held in Los Angeles on the twenty-first day of April, 1937, having been brought to their attention certain bills which would be detrimental to the trucking industry, particularly Senate Bill No. 973, which would take away the rights of the Railway Commission setting minimum rates, etc., and thus placing the industry back in the demoralizing position it was in before the present laws were placed in effect;

Therefore, be it resolved, That this association requests your Honorable Body to oppose this bill and other bills of similar nature which would be unfavorable to the trucking industry as we believe the present Motor Carriers' Act should be given full support for the reason that they have already gone a long way toward stabilizing the industry, and by regulating the rates as well as the conduct of all for-hire trucking operators, the result will be beneficial to the shippers as well as to the operators.

Yours very truly,

UNITED INDEPENDENT VAN & WAREHOUSEMEN'S ASSOCIATION.
GEO. W. HOVER, Executive Secretary

Assistant Chief Clerk Greenburg Reading.

The time fixed for such hearing shall be not less than twenty (20) nor more than sixty (60) days after the date of the passage of said resolution. Said notice shall state that the grantee of said franchise and its successors and assigns, will, during the life of said franchise, pay to the municipality the percentage specified in said application, and that the same will be paid annually from the date of the granting of said franchise, and in the event such payment shall not be made, said franchise will be forfeited. Said notice shall also designate the term, whether definite or indeterminate, for which the franchise is proposed to be granted.

SEC. 4. At any time not later than the hour set for the hearing of objections, any person interested may make written protest stating objections against the granting of such franchise. Such protest must be signed by the protestant and be delivered to the clerk of the legislative body. At the time set for hearing objections the legislative body shall proceed to hear and pass upon all protests so made and its decision shall be final and conclusive subject to the right of referendum of the people. The legislative body may adjourn said hearing from time to time.

If no protest in writing shall have been delivered to the clerk up to the hour set for hearing, or such protests as shall have been filed shall have been heard and determined by the legislative body to be insufficient, or shall have been overruled or denied, the legislative body may grant such franchise. Such franchise shall be granted by ordinance adopted in the manner prescribed by law for the enactment of ordinances by such body.

SEC 5. Every franchise granted pursuant to this act shall, except when a definite term therefor shall be specified in the ordinance granting same, be indeterminate, that is to say, every such franchise shall endure in full force and effect until the same shall, with the consent of the Railroad Commission of the State of California, be voluntarily surrendered or abandoned by its possessor, or until the State of California or some municipal or public corporation thereunto duly authorized by law shall purchase by voluntary agreement or shall condemn and take, under the power of eminent domain, all property actually used and useful in the exercise of such franchise and situate within the territorial limits of the State, municipal or public corporation purchasing or condemning such property, or until such franchise shall be forfeited for noncompliance with its terms by the possessor thereof.

SEC. 7. Any franchise granted hereunder shall not become effective until written acceptance thereof shall have been filed by the grantee thereof with the clerk of the granting municipality. When so filed such acceptance shall constitute a continuing agreement of such grantee that if and when the granting municipality shall thereafter annex, or consolidate with, additional territory, any and all franchises, rights and privileges owned by the grantee therein, except a franchise derived under said constitutional provision, shall likewise be deemed to be abandoned within the limits of such territory.

SEC. 8. No franchise granted pursuant hereto shall in any way or to any extent impair or affect the right of the municipality granting same to acquire the property of the grantee thereof either by purchase or through the exercise of the right of eminent domain, and nothing therein contained shall be construed to contract away or to modify or to abridge either for a term or in perpetuity the municipality's right of eminent domain in respect to any public utility. Nor shall any such franchise ever be given any value before any court or other public authority in any proceeding of any character in excess of the cost to the grantee of the necessary publication and any other sum paid by it to the municipality therefor at the time of the acquisition thereof.

SEC. 9. The grantee of any franchise granted pursuant hereto shall be required to file a bond running to the municipality with at least two good and sufficient sureties to be approved by the legislative body thereof, in a penal sum to be prescribed by such legislative body, and to be set forth in the resolution of intention to grant such franchise, conditioned that such grantee shall well and truly observe, fulfill and perform each and every term and condition of such franchise, and that in case of any breach of condition of such bond, the whole amount of the penal sum therein named shall be taken and deemed to be liquidated damages and shall be recoverable from the principal and sureties upon said bond. Said bond shall be filed with the legislative body within five (5) days after the date of the granting of such franchise; and in case said bond shall not be so filed, or shall not receive the approval of the legislative body, such franchise shall be forfeited and any money paid to the municipality in connection therewith shall likewise be forfeited.

SEC. 10. The grantee of any franchise granted pursuant hereto shall (a) construct, install and maintain all pipes, conduits, poles, wires and appurtenances in accordance and in conformity with all of the ordinances, rules and regulations theretofore or thereafter adopted by said legislative body in the exercise of its police powers and not in conflict with the paramount authority of the State, (b) pay to the municipality on demand the cost of all repairs to public property made necessary by any of the operations of the grantee under such franchise, (c) indemnify and hold harmless the municipality and its officers from any and all liability for damages proximately resulting from any operations under such franchise, (d) remove or relocate without expense to the municipality any facilities installed, used and maintained under the franchise if and when made necessary by any lawful change of grade, alignment or width of any public street, way, alley, or place, including the construction of any subway or viaduct, by such municipality, and (e) file with the legislative body of such municipality within thirty (30) days after any sale, transfer, assignment or lease of the franchise or any part thereof or any of the rights or privileges granted thereby, written evidence of same certified to by the grantee or its duly authorized officers.

SEC 11. If the grantee of any franchise shall fail, neglect or refuse to comply with any of the provisions or conditions prescribed in this act, and shall not within ten (10) days after written demand for compliance begin the work of compliance, or after such beginning, shall not prosecute the same with due diligence to completion, then the municipality, by its legislative body, may declare the franchise forfeited.

Any municipality may sue in its own name for the forfeiture of any franchise granted pursuant to this act, in the event of noncompliance by the grantee, its successors or assigns, with any of the conditions thereof.

SEC. 12 The grantee of any franchise granted pursuant hereto shall file with the clerk of such municipality, within three (3) months after the expiration of the calendar year, or fractional calendar year, following the date of the granting of such franchise and within three (3) months after the expiration of each and every calendar year thereafter, a duly verified statement showing in detail the total gross receipts of such grantee, its successors or assigns, during the preceding calendar year, or such fractional calendar year, from the sale of the utility service for which such franchise was granted It shall be the duty of such grantee to pay to such municipality within fifteen (15) days after the time for filing such statement, in lawful money of the United States, the specified percentage of its gross receipts for the calendar year, or such fractional calendar year, covered by such statement Any neglect, omission or refusal by said grantee to file such verified statement, or to pay said percentage at the times or in the manner hereinbefore provided, shall be grounds for the declaration of a forfeiture of the franchise and of all rights thereunder.

SEC. 13 The grantee of any franchise granted pursuant hereto shall pay to such municipality a sum of money sufficient to reimburse it for all publication expenses incurred by it in connection with the granting of such franchise; such payment to be made within thirty (30) days after such municipality shall furnish such grantee with a written statement of such expenses.

SEC. 14. This act shall not repeal an act entitled "An act providing for the sale of street railroad and other franchises in counties and municipalities, and providing conditions for the granting of such franchises by legislative or other governing bodies, and repealing conflicting acts," approved March 22, 1905, as amended, commonly known as the Broughton Act, but is intended to and does provide an alternative procedure available to municipalities for the granting of franchises. When any proceeding shall be initiated under this act for the granting of a franchise, the provisions hereof and of such amendments hereof as may be hereafter adopted, shall exclusively govern the granting of such franchise, and no provision of said Broughton Act, or any other act in conflict herewith, shall apply to such proceeding. This act shall be called the "Franchise Act of 1937".

SEC. 15. This act is not intended to apply to those municipalities having a freeholders' charter adopted and ratified under the provisions of the constitution and having in such charter, provisions for the issuance of franchises by such municipalities, nor are any of the provisions of this act relating to the payment of a percentage of gross receipts to be construed as a declaration of legislative judgment as to the compensation proper to be paid said chartered municipalities for the right to exercise franchise priveleges therein.
