With respect to the present situation of the air carriers there was testimony that the airlines today are suffering a considerable financial setback and are faced with problems of inadequate equipment and personnel and are, accordingly, subject to much public criticism for the service and performance that they give.

On the other hand, the prediction was made to the committee that with additional sales effort, education, equipment, and service the use of air travel should materially improve.

It must be observed, however, that the problems, both financial and operational, brought about by the rapid expansion of the industry have made its position extremely vulnerable. Consequently, if California is to promote and encourage the development of air commerce it must do so with a clear realization that we are dealing with a young industry which cannot withstand the impact of special taxes, levies and other financial burdens.

Several witnesses before the committee emphasized the unique position of California in the aviation picture, predicting that California will be the greatest state in the Union insofar as aviation is concerned as a result of the topography of the State, the adaptability of air travel thereto, and the needs and requirements of the State.

California will be, it was stated to the committee, the major gateway to the Orient, and the development with respect thereto will bring tremendous aviation trade and commerce to this State.

The payroll at the San Francisco Municipal Airport runs over $1,200,000 a month, and the airport is self-sustaining insofar as its operating costs are concerned. The Oakland Municipal Airport is almost self-sustaining and shortly should be so.

It is predicted that there will be a need for additional airports in all of the metropolitan areas of California. Traffic conditions at many airports are such that even the most experienced pilots have difficulty in their operations.

At both the San Francisco and Los Angeles Municipal Airports consideration is even now being given toward prohibiting private fliers from using those fields.

The general picture of aviation in the United States and in California foreshadows great development in the future. With this introduction the committee presents the specific matters presented to it for consideration.

CHAPTER 2. THE FEDERAL AIRPORT ACT

The Federal Airport Act (Public Law 377, Seventy-Ninth Congress, Second Session, approved May 13, 1946) provides for an airport program in which the Federal Government will participate to the extent of $500,000,000, to be matched by local agencies on a 50-50 basis. The result is a $1,000,000,000 federal airport program under which it is planned to double the number of airports within the United States and to conduct major improvements on the approximately 1,600 airports which are substandard at present. The life of the project is seven years. Not more than $100,000,000 of federal funds may be authorized to be expended in any one year, and not more than $500,000,000 in total expenditures may be authorized. It is required that the plan be revised annually.

The federal aid money is apportioned as follows: After a 5 percent deduction for research, planning, and administrative expenses incurred by the Civil Aeronautics Administrator, 75 percent of the remainder is apportioned among the states on the basis of one-half in the proportion a state's population bears to the population of all the states and one-half in the proportion which its area bears to the total area of all the states.

The remaining 25 percent of the net federal aid money constitutes a discretionary fund to be allocated by the administrator in the manner in which he deems most appropriate for carrying out the national airport plan, regardless of the state in which such projects are located. The 25 percent allocated in the discretion of the commissioner may also be used to aid airport development in national parks, monuments, forests, and recreational areas.

In apportioning the 75 percent those states which have a large percentage of public land, that is if more than 5 percent of their area is made up of public land, will receive a minor additional grant.

With respect to airport development in national parks, monuments, forests, and federal recreational areas, the moneys that would otherwise be matched by the state or local communities are to be matched by the department of the government concerned—the Department of Commerce, the Department of Interior, or whatever department of the Federal Government has jurisdiction over the area involved.

Of the 75 percent to be allocated, California's share is in the neighborhood of $18,500,000. California can expect at least $7,000,000 out of the 25 percent to be allocated which will give California a total of $25,000,000 of federal money out of the total fund.

All proposed airport development must be in accordance with standards established by the federal administrator, including the standards for site, location, airport layout, grading, drainage, seeding, paving, lighting, and safety of approaches.

Project applications from local agencies must contain detailed engineering plans and estimates of construction costs.

In matching funds with the Federal Government for airport construction, the Federal Government will pay up to 25 percent of the project cost for lands and interests in connection therewith and up to 50 percent of the project cost on actual construction. This will allow a community to contribute labor and material in lieu of cash for their portion of the cost of the project. The law does not specifically provide for this, however.

The allowable project cost includes:

(a) Necessary cost in accomplishing the airport development in accordance with the plans submitted with project applications, if incurred subsequent to execution of the grant.

(b) Necessary cost of formulating the specific plans, even though incurred prior to execution of a grant but subsequent to the enactment of the Federal Airport Act.

(c) The cost of administration buildings, but not the cost of hangars.

(d) The cost of acquiring land and interests in airspace in connection with the development of airports, it being specified that not more than 25 percent of such costs is allowable.

The Federal Airport Act provides for a national plan for the development of public airports to be prepared and revised annually, specifying in terms of general location and type of development, the projects necessary to provide a system of public airports adequate to anticipate and meet the needs of civil aeronautics. The act further provides that regulations will be promulgated by the administrator specifying the terms under which grants of money will be allocated to communities or political subdivisions. Specific projects selected annually for development will be those of highest priority in the state and national airport plan.

After the plan has been prepared and is adopted on a national scale, and only then, can construction of specific projects begin, including the allocation of funds for airport construction. The exact basis of the priority is to be established by regulations authorized to be promulgated by the administrator.

To participate fully and advantageously in the Federal Airport Program it is incumbent upon the State of California to plan for the airport needs of the State as a whole by providing and keeping current a Master Plan of Airports showing existing and proposed airports and justifying each in terms of immediate and future needs. Otherwise the allocation of federal funds within California will be left to federal agencies and will benefit only the more energetic or affluent communities of the State.

According to the Federal Airport Act, where a state aviation agency exists, the federal funds are allocated to the State, and by the State allocated to a local agency, but where no such state agency exists, as in California, then the funds may be allocated to the political subdivisions and tax supported agencies, the allocation to the specific projects to be made in the discretion of the Civil Aeronautics Administrator.

Participation in the federal airport program is open to all public agencies authorized by law to own or operate a civil airport and able to match federal funds.

Many communities have felt that since they were asking for a specific amount for the development of a specific airport in their community, they would be allocated a certain amount of money, but there is no such provision in the federal act. There is only one provision applicable, that is that the specific projects selected annually for development be those of highest priority in the state-wide and nation-wide airport plan.

In the case of California whatever funds may be allocated to the State will be administered by the local representative of the Civil Aeronautics Authority according to a plan which he himself will develop or which the Reconstruction and Reemployment Commission at state level will develop.

There has been some indication that the cities are not entirely satisfied with the first regulations of the Civil Aeronautics Authority interpreting the law relative to the use of federal funds for the development of airports—that the Civil Aeronautics Authority would have been able to take away the right of the city to run its own airport under the contract that the Authority proposed to make with cities.

At the hearings before the Civil Aeronautics Administrator in connection with these regulations strong objection was made to the attempt of the Federal Government to supersede the cities in the operation of their own airport. As a result of the hearings before the administrator, the regulations have now been rewritten in a greatly simplified form more acceptable to all participating agencies.

CHAPTER 3. STATE AND LOCAL PLANNING

In the past airport planning in California has not been comprehensive in nature but has depended principally upon the interest of each community.

About June 1, 1946, the State Reconstruction and Reemployment Commission, with the approval of the County Supervisors' Association of California and the League of California Cities, undertook to develop for the State of California a master plan of airports which would be representative of the needs of the State.

According to Colonel Warren E. Carey, Chief, Airport Master Planning Staff, State Reconstruction and Reemployment Commission, the commission proposes to assist in every possible way each community planning group to make its airport plan an acceptable part of a larger plan, this being a prerequisite to the approval of any local airport project for federal funds under the Federal Airport Act.

Each community is being requested by the Reconstruction and Reemployment Commission to prepare its own plan with a view toward cooperation in a state-wide plan in which the many local plans may be assembled and evaluated, one as related to the other.

Local planning groups have been advised that the Reconstruction and Reemployment Commission will work with them and aid them in every way possible, supplying them with additional information relative to the development of the master plan so that they may take steps necessary to enable them to participate in the benefits of the master plan and to qualify them for inclusion in the nationwide master plan, the latter being a prerequisite to the allocation of any federal money to a community.

The Federal Civil Aeronautics Administrator and his assistant for airports have urged that communities start with the planning of their airport projects for as long as 10 years into the future. Among the objectives of the Reconstruction and Reemployment Commission are the preparation of comprehensive long-term general plans for the physical development of the community for which the plans are made with reference to transportation and aviation, but this function is not to superimpose a state plan upon the community, but simply to get the communities to make their plan. Most of the communities are cooperating with the Reconstruction and Reemployment Commission in working out their plans.

In connection with the airport program of the Reconstruction and Reemployment Commission, Colonel Carey stated that the commission intended to do the following:

(a) Encourage city, county, and regional airport planning and the integration of airports into community plans.

(b) Establish the basic concepts of adequate airport plans in order that local and regional plans may have a common denominator and be readily assimilated into a state-wide plan.

(c) Provide local planning agencies with suggestions and procedures for estimating future aviation growth, population growth, population trends, and airport needs.

(d) Cooperate with the airport section of the Civil Aeronautics Administration to serve as a clearing house for information relative to airport planning, airport standards, airport construction and regulation relating to the federal airport program.

With regard to state land, the committee was informed that the Department of Natural Resources is cooperating with the Reconstruction and Reemployment Commission in the making of its master plan, and it was indicated that the Division of Forestry of the department will probably use aircraft to a considerable extent in the future.

It is at the local level that the need for planning becomes most apparent. For instance, one of the seven feeder airlines certificated by the Civil Aeronautics Board as an experiment to determine whether smaller communities can economically sustain air transportation operates in Oregon and California. In a number of cases, this airline will use airports acquired by local governmental agencies from the Army and the Navy. A representative of this airline indicated that of the 22 cities it will service, aside from cities already having scheduled air service, not one is in a position to handle any type of substantial aviation activity.

The airport at Montague, which will serve Yreka, has taxiways, aprons, and runways, but not a building on the airport, and it was cited as typical of many other airports, although some of them have temporary structures not usable for permanent operation. Moreover, the problem is not solely of concern to the certificated carrier which will carry passengers, mail, and express, but it is also of importance to fixed base operators, GI training schools, and the people located on the fields.

The County Supervisors Association in June at Yreka adopted a resolution calling for a legislative investigation of what the State should do from an engineering and planning standpoint in helping the cities and counties improve ther present airport situation.

Most of the cities and counties do not need further airport construction insofar as runways, taxiways, and aprons, but they do need administration buildings, parking areas, and general facilities for the handling of trainees at the airports, the people who will travel by feeder line, and the people who will base their own aircraft at the field.

The representative of the National Skyways Freight Corporation, which company hauls perishable fruit and produce from this State to the East indicated the interest of the company in the encouragement of rural areas in the development of airports which are available to them through the Army and Navy. If a county is able to maintain airports already in existence, it may be possible, in some cases, to reduce the hauling on perishable produce from as much as 50 or 60 miles to a mile or two.

The airports outside of the major cities are very essential to the whole aviation picture in this State. However, there are very few cities throughout the State that are financially able to undertake the job of maintaining the federal airfields. As one witness graphically stated, "The cities could very well build a fence around that portion of the wartime airport which will be used and blow the rest of the field up as the cost of maintaining some of these enormous fields will not be equal to the benefit to be derived therefrom." For instance, at Chico the airport cost $10,000,000. The city spends $1,800 a month in maintenance and receives a very small amount in return out of operating revenues.

Turning to airport planning in the metropolitan areas of the State, in Los Angeles County, the regional planning commission in 1940 prepared a master airport plan showing definite locations in the county where airports might be situated. Subsequent to that time many of these areas were developed for residential and other purposes so that by 1943 or 1944 it was necessary to bring the plan down to date, this resulting in the approval by the board of supervisors of a new master plan for the county. The new regional plan was prepared after careful study and cooperation with the airport committee of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce and with the cooperation of many city and county officials. The staffs of both the city and county planning agencies cooperated and together viewed many of the sites selected for airports.

The airport plan adopted in 1946 called for a total of 62 airports, of which at that time there were 26 in existence and 36 proposed. These airports were divided into four categories: Major, secondary, airparks, and emergency landing fields.

Since the adoption of the new master plan the county planning commission has had several applications for permits to establish airports, hearings being held in each case. At these hearings considerable objection was raised to the proposed airports by the neighboring residents.

Part of the work of the staff of the planning commission has been to try to assure these people that by working with the operators of the airport an endeavor would be made to assure that irresponsible and dangerous flying was not permitted and that noises would be minimized, especially in the use of airports by the smaller planes.

The reason for the denial of two applications by the Los Angeles Planning Commission was given that in one case the airport was too close to another airport so that the flight pattern would conflict and in the other case existing uses and improvements would be damaged by the location of the airport. The two applications which were denied were within the master airport plan as prepared by the county. It was indicated that in Los Angeles County the mere fact that the airport site was incorporated in the master plan would not prevent it from being subdivided for other purposes.

With respect to the City of Los Angeles, it is hoped that its plan will fit in with the county master plan, although there has been no official action in this regard as yet.

In the City of Los Angeles it was reported that in the previous year and a half five applications had been submitted for the establishment of airports, all of them in the San Fernando Valley. Of these applications, two were approved, one for the establishment of Whiteman Air Park and one for the extension of the existing San Fernando Airport, the future runways of which will project into the City of Los Angeles. The other applications were denied on the ground that the necessary facts to sustain zone variances, such as exceptional or unusual circumstances, deprivation of property rights, or interference or damage to the district, could not be found. In connection with the establishment of the Whiteman Air Park, it is reported that in the record of the Los Angeles City Planning Commission is to be found the expression of the commission that such a facility would be studied carefully for the purpose of gaining experience for similar uses in other locations in close proximity to residential communities.

One of the conditions imposed with respect to the air park was that there should be no night flying between the hours of 8 p.m. and 6 a.m.

The City of San Diego recently adopted a master airport plan after considerable study A master plan is also intended for the County of San Diego.

The master plan for the City of San Diego is effective only to the end that an area designated as an aviation field can be used only for that purpose, but there is no requirement that it be so used.

Alameda County also will adopt a zoning ordinance which will be submitted to the State Reconstruction and Reemployment Commission.

CHAPTER 4. PROTECTION OF AIRSPACE ADJACENT TO AIRPORTS

This complex problem is closely related to airport planning in that buildings, other structures, and natural growth immediately surrounding an airport directly affect the use to which the airport may be put and at the same time the use to which the adjoining property is put may be the determining factor with respect to whether the operation of the airport constitutes a nuisance in law with respect to such adjoining property.

If planning were complete and without regard to the property rights of adjoining owners, the territory immediately surrounding an airport would be integrated into the plan for the airport itself. The existence of rights in the adjoining property owner prevents such a simple solution.

In a very able discussion of the law relating thereto, entitled "Local Control of Airports and Aviation," a copy of which is appended hereto, Mr. Harold W. Kennedy, County Counsel of the County of Los Angeles, sets forth the legal principles defining the relationship between an airport and adjoining property.

Ordinances prohibiting structures erected for the express purpose of interfering with aviation, would be, according to Mr Kennedy, constitutional, and in certain limited cases, captive balloons, tall poles, derricks, unnecessarily tall chimneys, guy wires, and tall trees, constituting a great hazard to aircraft, might be regulated by zoning without compensation to the landowner.

Mr. Kennedy points out that the structures which have been enjoined by the courts are similar to spite fences or traps where injunction was allowed on the settled principle of law that a person may not set a trap, or otherwise wilfully injure, even on his own land, a trespasser.

Contrasted with this is a prohibition against the use of property in good faith for a lawful purpose in order that someone else who has no right to it may use it. Thus, a regulation under the police power limiting the height of structures around airports for the purpose of protecting approaches, to facilitate takeoffs and landings, would in the opinion of Mr. Kennedy be unconstitutional and invalid in that it would prevent a man from using his own property.

So, in Yara Engineering Corporation v. City of Newark, 132 N.J.L. 370, 40 A 2d 559, it was held that an airport zoning ordinance was unconstitutional which within two miles of an airport restricted the height of buildings and trees, prohibited electrical interference with communication, an impairment of visibility by lights, and forbade using property in any way to endanger aircraft landing or taking off at the airport as an invalid taking of property without due process of law.

The United States Supreme Court in United States v. Causby, 66 S.Ct. 1062, recently determined that the use of property by airplane traffic over it in approaching an airport constituted a taking of such property under the Federal Constitution. In that case United States planes passed over the property at approximately 83 feet. The property was being used as a chicken farm. Noise from the planes and the glare of their lights at night scared about 150 chickens to death

The court recognized that the common law doctrine that the ownership of land extends to the periphery of the universe has no place in the modern world, that no damages and no compensation may be obtained under the fifth amendment for damages to property which are merely consequential. But, it was also recognized that the landowner owns at least as much of the space above the ground as he can occupy and use in connection with the land even though he does not occupy it in a physical sense, and accordingly, flying so low and so frequently as to be a direct immediate interference with the enjoyment and use of the land constituted an illegal taking of property.

On the basis of California Supreme Court cases with respect to the taking of property, all strictly construing Section 14 of Article I of the Constitution providing that private property may not be taken or damaged without just compensation, Mr. Kennedy indicates that the probable holding of the California Supreme Court with respect to airport approach zoning may be predicted. Concluding his discussion of this subject Mr. Kennedy points out that there is a difference between height regulations for the benefit of all concerned and a similar limitation purely for the benefit of particular property and to the detriment of the owners of the surrounding property.

With respect to air rights over property adjacent to the Los Angeles Municipal Airport, the city has taken the position that it would be responsible for any damage which might be caused by flights over this adjacent territory and has proceeded to take air rights over the areas over which the extended runways of the airport extend.

In order to acquire air rights the City of Los Angeles has in one instance purchased property outright and may possibly in the future dispose of the land and reserve the air rights. In other cases the city has acquired air rights over the property.

In general such rights have been acquired for about half a mile beyond the exterior boundaries of the airport. Beyond that distance it is not known to what extent the use of the air will damage the property and so no acquisition of air rights further than a half mile from the airport are being made at the present time.

The City of San Diego in 1931 adopted its first ordinance establishing a height limit on property around the municipal field, that ordinance being based on a glide angle of seven horizontal units to one vertical unit. That angle being outmoded, the ordinance was revised in 1942 to permit three different types of approach zoning: 40 to 1, 30 to 1, and 20 to 1.

The committee was informed that it was the opinion of the city attorney of San Diego that the city does have authority under the police power to establish a height limit controlling the height of buildings and other structures that might interfere with the use of the municipal airport. The height limit is also applicable to the turning and approach zones to the airport.

In Alameda County, also, there is an ordinance protecting airspace around airports.

Private airports, according to one witness before the committee, have received little legislative protection with respect to their operations with the result that the owners thereof are constantly faced with the possibility of abatement proceedings being initiated by surrounding property owners to abate the airport as a public or private nuisance.

This question of whether or not an airport is or is not a nuisance is not resolved by the method of operation of the airport or whether all federal, state, and local regulations are complied with but upon whether or not the flight of airplanes to and from the port in itself constitutes a nuisance.

In the late nineteen thirties an airport on Western Avenue in Los Angeles that had been in existence for some 15 years was abated as a public nuisance. At the present time three airports in the Los Angeles area are faced with abatement proceedings. At the Whiteman Air Park in San Fernando Valley the only complaint is that the airplanes fly over homes and no complaint, so far is known, with respect to the method of operation of the airpark itself.

There was some evidence presented to the committee that people who are professionally engaged in such matters go into a community for the purpose of building up a hostile feeling toward an airport—mass meetings are held, a fever heat is built up, people sign petitions, they go to city councils and city attorneys and demand that something be done. Even if an abatement action is not brought, this activity prevents private capital from being invested in airport property merely on account of the threat thereof.

It is immaterial whether or not the area surrounding the airport is built up at the time it is established. In the case of the Whiteman Air Park, the surrounding area was residentially developed at the time of the establishment of the airport, about the same as it is now. On the other hand, with respect to the Western Avenue airport, at first there was nothing but an agricultural field surrounding the airport, but at the time of the abatement proceedings, residences were abutting on the airport property.

It was proposed to the committee that there should be State legislation with respect to zoning problems, protecting not only the property owner adjacent to the airport but protecting the operation of the airport itself. It was argued that the law should be a compromise between the rights of the property owners adjacent to an airport and those who used the airspace above such property. It was recommended to the committee that California enact the State Airport Zoning Act as proposed by the Council of State Government.

It was indicated that the Reconstruction and Reemployment Commission would encourage the enactment of suitable zoning ordinances to protect airport sites, approaches, and airport operations, this being under the Federal Airport Act a prerequisite to federal airport aid.

CHAPTER 5. STATE AVIATION AGENCY

The State Aeronautics Commission or Department Act is sponsored by the National Association of State Aviation Officials and was developed with assistance in drafting by the Civil Aeronautics Administration and the Department of Justice and has been endorsed by the Civil Aeronautics Administration and the Council of State Governments.

Your committee is recommending that the commission form of this act be adopted in California, the commission to consist of five members appointed by the Governor. A director of aeronautics similarly appointed (rather than being appointed by the commission as in the original act) would act as its executive officer and exercise such functions of the commission as the commission might delegate to him.

The commission is charged generally with supervision of aeronautics within California, and empowered and directed to encourage, foster, and assist in the development of aeronautics and the establishment of airports. The commission is further directed to cooperate with and assist the Federal Government, the municipalities of California, and other persons in the development of aeronautics and to seek to coordinate the aeronautical activities of these bodies and persons.

The commission is given power to

(a) Draft and recommend necessary legislation to advance the interest of California in aeronautics.

(b) Represent the State in aeronautical matters before federal agencies and other state agencies.

(c) Participate as party plaintiff or defendant or as intervenor on behalf of the State or any municipality or citizen thereof in any controversy which involves the interest of the State in aeronautics.

The commission is given power to make available its engineering and other technical services to any municipality or person desiring them in connection with the planning, acquisition, construction, improvement, maintenance or operation of airports or air navigation facilities, and may do so either with or without charge.

Financial assistance by loan or grant, or both, to any municipality or municipalities acting jointly, in the planning, acquisition, construction, improvement, maintenance or operation of an airport, owned or controlled by such municipalities may be given by the commission out of appropriations made by the Legislature for such purposes and may be furnished in connection with federal or other financial aid for the same purposes.

Authority is given the commission to act as agent of any municipality or municipalities acting jointly, upon request thereof, in accepting and disbursing federal and other moneys made available to finance the planning, acquisition, construction, improvement, maintenance or operation of a municipal airport or air navigation facility. The commission is also authorized to act as the agent of a municipality upon its request in contracting for and supervising such planning, acquisition, construction, improvement, maintenance or operation.

Out of appropriations made available for such purposes, the commission is authorized to plan, establish and operate airports and air navigation facilities within or without the State, and to acquire property for such purposes, except that the commission may not acquire any airport or air navigation facilities owned or controlled by a municipality in this or any other state without the consent of such municipality.

For the purpose of acquiring and operating airports and air navigation facilities, the commission is authorized to accept and use federal and other moneys made available for such purposes.

The act includes the following provisions as to safety:

(a) Makes unlawful the reckless operation of aircraft.

(b) Requires operators of civil aircraft to be appropriately licensed by the United States.

(c) Gives investigatorial powers to the commission concerning matters covered by the provisions of the act and the rules, regulations and orders of the commission and accidents in aeronautics within California, and permits cooperation with the United States in connection therewith.

(d) Provides for enforcement of aeronautics laws by the commission.

(e) Provides for exchange of violation information with federal agencies and agencies of other states.

(f) Contains penalty provisions for the enforcement of the provisions of the act, the rules, regulations or orders issued pursuant thereto.

To adapt the proposed legislation to California the committee has deleted the provisions in the original act for a state airways system, registration of planes, and registration of pilots, on the ground that these subjects are adequately provided for by the Federal Government. Provision is made that the director be appointed by the Governor rather than by the commission.

The bill carries regulatory powers to include the regulation of intrastate carriers carrying passengers for hire subjecting them to the same safety regulation by the commission as a federally certificated carrier is subject under the federal law.

In order to legalize the passage of planes in flight over California property a declaration to this effect has been placed in the bill. It is not intended thereby to deal with the subject of airport approach zoning or to legalize any nuisance committed by any plane or airport.

In the hearings before the committee, it was pointed out that for many years there have been efforts to set up agencies in California that would have regulatory or directive powers with respect to aviation but that such an agency has not been created because of the divergency of opinion on that matter. The testimony was practically unanimous that there should be some one agency in the State Government having planning and coordination powers with respect to aviation.

It is difficult to see how such functions with respect to aviation can possibly be fitted into the structure of any existing state agency, including the Public Utilities Commission.

Another function of the state aviation agency proposed in the testimony before the committee was the need for safety enforcement, it being indicated that the Civil Aeronautics Administration is unable adequately to enforce all the safety regulations which the Civil Aeronautics Board has set forth. The state agency could back up the enforcement of those regulations.

The San Diego County Airport Owners and Operators Association indicated that it favored a state aviation commission similar to the State Highway Commission composed of flying men representing every region of the State, and further indicated that it favored uniform federal regulation of scheduled air transportation, uniform federal safety regulations, being opposed to state regulation or licensing of air transportation, aircraft, airmen or airports, but favoring state and local enforcement of federal safety regulations.

CHAPTER 6. AIRLINE ECONOMIC REGULATION

Purely from a local standpoint the interest of California in aviation is probably much greater than that of any other state in the Union. This results from the geography of the State and also from the fact that the third and eighth largest metropolitan centers in the country are about 335 miles apart. The distance between these two centers is extremely suitable for short haul air transportation. But, there is a danger of demoralization from too many competitors entering the field.

The committee was informed that the interest of the State Public Utilities Commission with respect to aviation is confined to the economic aspects, particularly to matters of rates and service. The fact that air transportation is speedier than other forms of transportation in the opinion of the commission does not change the fact that transportation between two fixed termini in California is local commerce.

The commission takes the view that with respect to the trucking industry, the State waited too long before it had adequate regulation.

It is in anticipation of the rapidly changing conditions of the present times with respect to air transportation that the Public Utilities Commission desires to proceed in a careful manner to the end that the provisions that are considered necessary are inserted in the state law.

Whatever may be said in regard to other states, it cannot be said that California has not undertaken the economic regulation of air transportation. The Public Utilities Commission (formerly the Railroad Commission) has had jurisdiction of the economic phases of air transportation, as well as other transportation, ever since the present Constitution was adopted in 1879.

Sections 20 and 21 of Article XII of the 1879 Constitution have always expressly applied to all transportation companies. In amending Sections 22 and 23 of the same article in 1911, there is every indication that the regulation of carriers contemplated was inclusive of all types of carriers. The arguments in favor of the 1911 amendments to Sections 22 and 23 of Article XII published by the Secretary of State confidently speak of the commission regulating all public service corporations. The same is true of the argument with respect to the amendment of Section 23 approved by the voters in 1914.

The Constitution clearly contemplates the regulation of all carriers to the full extent of the jurisdiction of this state. There is no intention that one type of carrier—the carrier by air—should remain unregulated while all other carriers are regulated. The absence of regulation as to one type of carrier not only has its effect thereon, but also upon the whole transportation industry. The plain intent of the Constitution and the economic effects of permitting the growing air transport business to remain unregulated in a competitive field otherwise regulated demands effective public utility control of air carriers.

At present, all carriers are required to file their tariffs with the Public Utilities Commission and may not secure an increase in their rates without authority from the commission. Airlines may not charge more for a shorter than for a longer operation without specific authority from the commission. Also, the commission has a right to require certain reports.

In 1924, the first air tariff schedule was filed with the Public Utilities Commission, and since 1935 at least 50 airlines have filed tariffs. Legislation providing for rate regulation by the Railroad Commission would merely, according to the commission, constitute statutory recognition of that which the commission already is doing.

On the other hand, a legislative requirement for a certificate of public convenience and necessity would constitute a change in the existing law. Such a change is one consistent with the constitutional framework and constitutional history of this State.

The centering of the economic regulations of airlines in the Public Utilities Commission would be but the following of a practice of long standing, that of centering the economic regulation of the various forms of transportation in one state agency.

The Pacific Airlines operate between Los Angeles and San Francisco without any authority from the Civil Aeronautics Board. It should be necessary for a line to apply to the Public Utilities Commission in order for it to render this service, according to the commission's point of view. However, under legislation as previously proposed, no line that is operating at the time the legislation would go into effect would be required to discontinue operating, the legislation containing the usual grandfather clause.

However, the legislation would prevent any airline in the future from offering service unless there were proof of a need for additional service justifying a new line and that the new line would be able to furnish the service.

On the other side of the question, it was represented to the committee that no state agency should have a right to forbid a company that is adequately financed and organized for the purpose of giving service to the people from entering business, but that the only factor which should control should be the normal processes of competition. It was further contended that, with respect to surface carriers regulation was necessary because the public thoroughfares were not able to handle all of the traffic, but that with respect to airlines the only congestion is at the airport. It was stated that there is no need for the economic regulation of air carriers at the present time and that it is to the public advantage to have as many air enterprises as possible. Southwest Airways Company, in a letter filed with the committee, asserts that the fact that the Public Utilities Commission doesn't feel the State should regulate in any way the safety operations of air carriers is in itself an admission that any state regulation of the operations of federally certificated carriers is on tenuous ground.

If the intrastate carriers take the cream of the business from the interstate carriers, also carrying intrastate passengers between points of this State, and that becomes a real threat to the interstate carriers, then, it was asserted before the committee, the problem is one for the Federal Government, and Congress has the authority to extend the Civil Aeronautics Act to protect the interstate carriers in this respect. The Civil Aeronautics Board, according to information presented to the committee, has issued a cease and desist order against five unscheduled carriers in the United States. Included among the five was one carrier which was strictly an intrastate carrier and the inclusion of that carrier in the cease and desist order raised at once the question of the jurisdiction of the Civil Aeronautics Board over an intrastate carrier. The determination of the extent of the jurisdiction of the Civil Aeronautics Board over nonscheduled intrastate air carriers may be indicative of the jurisdiction of the board with respect to Pacific Airlines in this State.

It was indicated to the committee that legislation has in the past been introduced in Congress providing for complete federal jurisdiction over interstate carriers, including their intrastate business and that if such legislation were enacted it would leave to the State only the regulation of carriers doing no interstate business.

CHAPTER 7. TAXATION

Means of support for the state aviation agency have been considered both by those appearing before the committee and by the committee. Several witnesses indicated that the agency in its first stages should be supported out of the general fund. After the state agency is under way and a thorough study has been made of the means of supporting it, some other means may be adopted for the support of the agency.

Your committee has also had prepared for it legislation providing sources of revenue for the support of a state aviation agency based on two different tax concepts. One provides for a gross receipts tax on passenger and freight revenues of intrastate and interstate business of the airlines, the tax on gross revenues from interstate business being limited to that proportion of such revenues as the business activity of the carrier in California bears to all of the business activity of the carrier everywhere.

The second bill in effect provides for a one cent per gallon tax on aviation gasoline. At the present time a tax of three cents per gallon is paid on all gasoline, but if the gasoline is used for aviation purposes a refund may be obtained of the difference between such tax and the 2½ percent sales and use tax. The new legislation would permit a straight two cents per gallon refund and would exempt from the sales and use tax aviation gasoline as to which such refund was to be made. The administration of such a tax would be simple inasmuch as the refund claims of the purchasers of aviation fuel would provide the means for ascertaining the amount of gasoline tax which would be set aside for aviation purposes.

The San Diego Airport Owners and Operators Association advocates a state aviation gasoline tax, the proceeds thereof to be used in providing for the development of airports and airways and for the maintenance and improvement of existing port and airway facilities. In the opinion of the association the proceeds of the tax should be allocated on the basis of the ratio in which the tax was collected. Both public and private airports should, according to the association, share in such distribution. Administrative expenses of the state aviation agency would be deducted from the revenues before their distribution, according to the association plan.

The representative of the State Aviation Committee of the American Legion advocated an aviation gasoline tax similar to that proposed by the committee and to be used for a state aviation agency and for the improvement of private fields. On the other hand the committee was informed that San Francisco Municipal Airport by virtue of the fact that it has a seaplane harbor and a ship channel is able to purchase gasoline at extremely low prices and resell the gasoline and make a profit for the city. It was indicated by a representative of the city that there should be some other means of taxation than by putting a direct tax on aviation gasoline.

In 1945 the airlines paid $15,000 in sales tax on aviation gasoline in California, according to the information presented to the committee, and it was stated that if Pan American Airlines had not been under contract with the Federal Government the figure would have been $21,000. If the airlines purchase 25,000,000 gallons of gasoline in California in 1947 it was predicted that they will pay approximately $60,000 in sales tax. The suggestion was made to the committee that this sales tax on aviation gasoline be used for the support of the state aviation agency.

The interstate air carriers recognized in the testimony before the committee that they have obligations to the State of California and its municipalities, both with respect to the payment of fair and reasonable charges for the utilization of facilities provided and also to the payment of equitable taxes for the privilege of doing business within the State.

An airplane, it was pointed out, operates principally in airspace, which alone adds nothing in the way of increased capital cost or of maintenance to the State or local budget. The airway aids required in interstate commerce are provided principally by the Federal Government and in part by the air carriers. It is when the airplane lands that it makes use of the facilities provided by the municipalities.

An airline representative maintained before the committee that each user of a municipal airport should make some contribution toward the expense of providing and maintaining that airport. In some cases this may be done by the payment of landing fees, in some cases through the profit accruing through the purchase of fuel and lubricants.

These charges, it was asserted, should be equitable and should conform to the relative use made of the airport. Experience has shown that a landing charge will fairly compensate for the use of the runways, taxiways, loading and unloading areas, and for the use of the buildings on the airport. If such a fee is charged, then, according to the airline representative there should be no other charge for the same use.

The occupants of an airport terminal building should, it was said, pay rental sufficient in amount to amortize the cost of the building over a reasonable period of time and terminal buildings should be designed to provide space for all potential revenue producing activities.

The airline representative also pointed out that in the past there has been a tendency on the part of governmental agencies to expect free space in the municipally operated air terminal buildings and that in the early days the Post Office Department was the greatest user of airport space, often insisting with success that the space it required be provided by the city without charge, or if not by the city then by the air carriers.

The present policy of the Post Office Department is being reshaped with a view toward paying a reasonable rental for the space occupied in airport buildings.

It was pointed out that the reason why airlines have not constructed and operated their own airports is the same as that applicable in the case of a marine harbor, that is, a port or harbor is utilized by many craft other than those engaged in scheduled service and accordingly each carrier should pay the just proportion of the total cost of operating the port. Concluding, the airline representative pointed out that the airlines in the respective states pay taxes on the same basis that comparable business institutions pay in the same states with the comparable privilege of doing business and that air carriers should not be charged a landing fee for utilization of the landing area and at the same time be taxed on aviation fuel for the same purpose.

There was considerable testimony before the committee relating to the subject of multiple taxation of air commerce, resulting from conflicting taxation arising out of the assertion of overlapping jurisdiction to tax by the several states. It is an extremely complicated subject as to which your committee desires to express no conclusion at this time. House Document No. 141, Seventy-ninth Congress, First Session, entitled "Multiple Taxation of Air Commerce," constituting the recommendations of the Civil Aeronautics Board with regard to the multiple taxation of air commerce, sets forth the magnitude of the problem. However, your committee does not wish either to agree or to disagree with the recommendations and the conclusions in that report, feeling that the matter is one for further study.

The taxes which give rise to jurisdictional conflict, according to this report, are state and local property levies and state taxes on net income, capital stock, and gross receipts.

With respect to the property tax during the 1944-1945 tax years the total assessment of aircraft in this State was about $150,000, and the total taxes levied were a little less than $7,000, of which $5,000 were collected in Los Angeles County alone. In the same year the total city and county property taxes paid by the airlines were in the vicinity of $50,000. These figures are restricted to carrier airlines and do not include private plane owners.

The representative of one airline explained to the committee that it pays its property tax in each of the four counties in which it lands on what is known as a plane hour basis with respect to movable property, this being the proportion of the book value of the company that the total flying time and ground time in a particular county bears to the total flying time and ground time everywhere. Since the property tax on movable equipment is paid in only four counties, the proportion of book value represented by flying time in other counties is entirely lost for property tax purposes to the political subdivisions in California.

CHAPTER 8. MISCELLANEOUS PROBLEMS

With respect to the control of low and acrobatic flying, one effective measure is to require pilots to register in a log book at the airport, requiring the operator of the airport to keep the log for a certain period of time. There is some doubt whether such a regulation promulgated by a city or county is valid in view of the California Air Navigation Act (Deering Act No. 151). Legislative action to resolve any doubt in favor of the power of the counties and cities so to regulate should be possible.

A representative of the City of Los Angeles informed the committee that the greatest aid that could be given to the city at the present time in connection with its municipal airport would be in the speeding of construction of highways to provide access to the airport from the business district of the city so that the traveling public will be able to get to and from the airport in the shortest possible time. Similarly, with respect to a possible San Mateo County and San Francisco County joint airport for private aircraft, it was indicated that one of the problems would be transportation to the port.

The committee was informed that under the GI Bill of Rights veterans are entitled to take aviation training at any approved educational or training institution if the institution has been approved by the appropriate state agency, this being the State Board of Education in California In California the board requires certain facilities which are extremely difficult to obtain because of the shortage of materials and labor. Arizona, New Mexico, and Texas are reported to have taken steps to waive certain requirements at the present time.

It was not contended that there should be any waiver with respect to safety regulations, but only with respect to hangars, ready-rooms, and other buildings required to be constructed in compliance with Civil Aeronautics standards for a certified school. It was indicated that some veterans are going to Arizona for training because of the inability of the schools to comply with the present high standards in California.

COMMUNICATIONS

By Speaker Collins:

The following communication was received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

PERMANENT BIPARTISAN COMMITTEE OF YOUNG REPUBLICANS AND YOUNG DEMOCRATS FOR THE IMPROVEMENT OF LEGISLATION IN CITY, COUNTY, STATE AND NATIONAL GOVERNMENT.

ROOM 622 HEARST BUILDING
SAN FRANCISCO 3, CALIFORNIA, January 23, 1947

Hon. Harold T. Powers, President pro Tempore, State Senate
Hon. Sam Collins, Speaker of the Assembly
State Capitol Building, Sacramento, California

GREETINGS:

We respectfully request that this communication become a part of the official records of the State Senate and Assembly so that it may become known to all Members of the Senate and Assembly.

That Frank Tracey and Richard Cassady of the Young Republicans and J. Edwin Mattox, Edward Levin and Edwin T. Thayer of the Young Democrats being members of the steering committee and duly authorized to act and speak in behalf of the full committee membership.

Do deplore the excessive pressure being brought to bear upon you our duly elected public servants by the powerful lobbying interests now assembled in Sacramento, in their efforts to wreck the all important special session on highway matters called by the Governor. We further resent this insult to the intelligence of our legislators in the methods being resorted to by these lobbyists in their attempts to secure sufficient votes in both Senate and Assembly to gain their selfish end.

We earnestly implore you to remain in special session, because we feel sure that you do not desire to disregard the mandate of the people of California, Republicans and Democrats alike, who indicated by their votes faith and confidence in Governor Earl Warren and his program for a better California.

We of this committee are vitally concerned with the postwar years ahead and we know that now more than ever before, bipartisan cooperation can and must become a part of every duly elected public servant's objectives, in the State of California, if we are to ever accomplish the goals set for ourselves.

Respectfully.

EDWIN T. THAYER,
Public Relations Director
FRANK TRACEY, RICHARD CASSADY,

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolution was offered:

By Messrs. Allen and M. Philip Davis:

House Resolution No. 54

Relative to the continuance of the California Legislative Committee on Administrative Regulations created by House Resolution No. 278 of the Fifty-sixth Regular Session

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, As follows:

1. The California Legislative Committee on Administrative Regulations created by House Resolution No. 278 of the Fifty-sixth Regular Session is continued as an Assembly committee at this general session, with all the rights, powers and duties possessed by the committee and its members immediately prior to the commencement of this session. Vacancies occurring or existing in the membership of the committee shall be filled by the appointing power.

2. The committee is authorized to act during this session of the Legislature, including any recess, but not after final adjournment.

3. The provisions of the Joint Rules of the Senate and Assembly and of the Standing Rules of the Assembly, as soon as such rules are adopted at this session or amended from time to time, become applicable to this committee and its members.

4. The sum of five hundred dollars ($500) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby made available from the Contingent Fund of the Assembly for the expenses of the committee and its members and for any charges, expenses or claims it may incur under this resolution, to be paid from said contingent fund and disbursed, after certification by the chairman of the committee, upon warrants drawn by the State Controller upon the State Controller.

Resolution read, and referred to the Committee on Rules.

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolution was offered:

By Mr. Thurman:

House Resolution No. 55

Respecting the discovery of gold at Coloma

WHEREAS, January 24, 1947, is the official Ninety-ninth Anniversary of the Discovery of Gold at Coloma by James Wilson Marshall; and

WHEREAS, As a result of that discovery, many of the Nation's finest came to California, and upon their arrival, made the further discovery that California held not only gold, but a wealth of other resources as well; and

WHEREAS, During the period of nearly 100 years that has elapsed since this great State has reached a high place within the aggregation of our several states; and

WHEREAS, We have become more and more engrossed in our daily round of duty as the days go by, it becomes more and more fitting that we should pause on this day to reflect upon the achievements and the high ideals of those pioneers who carved from the vastness of our forests and plains this great State that we love, and to draw from their precept and example renewed inspiration to sustain and guide us as we face the problems before us now. Not all the pioneering has been done. We face today some of the greatest problems that have ever faced any people, so let us now, in the light of those high ideals, consecrate ourselves this day to the tasks that lie before us, that we may prove worthy of our heritage and wisely administer our trust.

It is not alone for the accidental discovery of gold that we mark this day. Rather it is for the momentous events that flowed therefrom. The voice of the golden siren called to the shores of the broad Pacific the very flower of the Nation's manhood. None but those of the highest courage could dare the great adventure, and none but the fittest could survive its hardships; and

WHEREAS, Beginning January 24, 1948, we begin a three-year centennial celebration of all the events leading up to and including California's admission into the Union; therefore, be it

Resolved, That when the Assembly does this day adjourn, that we do so in commemoration of the discovery of gold at Coloma, and out of respect to the memory of James Wilson Marshall and those rugged pioneers who have bequeathed to us this priceless heritage.

Request for Unanimous Consent

Mr. Thurman asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent to take up House Resolution No. 55, at this time, without reference to committee or file.

Resolution read and, on motion of Mr. Thurman, adopted.

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT THAT REPORT BE ORDERED PRINTED IN THE JOURNAL

Mr. Geddes asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent that the Report of the Assembly Interim Committee on Exhibitions and Fairs be ordered printed in the Journal sometime before the end of this month, January, at the convenience of the State Printer.

INTRODUCTION, FIRST READING, AND REFERENCE OF ASSEMBLY BILLS (RESUMED)

The following bills were introduced, and read the first time:

COMMUNICATIONS

By Mr. Anderson:

A communication from Rudolph F. Wedler, City Clerk of Manhattan Beach, relative to introducing legislation permitting automobile ownership certificates to be issued by the State as taxable instruments was received, and ordered referred to the Committee on Transportation and Commerce.

By Mr. Geddes:

The following opinion of the Legislative Counsel was received, read, and, on motion of Mr. Doyle, ordered printed in the Journal:

Opinion of Legislative Counsel

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL
SACRAMENTO 2, CALIFORNIA, January 22, 1947

Honorable Ernest E. Geddes
Assembly Chamber

Los Angeles City Election Ballots—No. 1053

DEAR MR. GEDDES: We have your request of January 13, 1947, with attached pamphlet entitled "Election Calendar and General Information for Candidates." You direct our attention to this statement in the last page of the pamphlet:

> "Order of Candidates. Underneath the title of each office shall be printed, in alphabetical order, the names of the candidates for that office, without any occupational statement, except in the case of the incumbents, who may have printed underneath their names either the word 'Incumbent,' or the words designating such elective office."

You have asked us whether the Legislature can change this provision.

It appears to us that the municipal election in Los Angeles City is purely a municipal affair to be governed by the city charter and over which the Legislature has no authority.

Article XI, Section 8½, of the Constitution provides that the charter may contain provisions:

"4. For the manner in which and the times at which any municipal election shall be held and the result thereof determined; * * * "

Article XXVII of the Los Angeles Charter contains exhaustive provisions upon the subject. Section 306 provides that all elections, except as otherwise provided in the charter, shall be conducted pursuant to a City Election Code, to be adopted by ordinance of the council, or pursuant to state law if held before the adoption of the Election Code. We are informed that the city has adopted such a code.

The charter discloses no provision as to the printing upon the ballot which would be inconsistent with the statement on the Election Calendar, and if the provision as to incumbents above quoted is contained in the Election Code of Los Angeles, the Legislature is without authority to alter it.

Very truly yours,

FRED B. WOOD, Legislative Counsel
By JOSEPH L. KNOWLES, Deputy

By Speaker Collins:

A communication with recommendations, and a resolution, from the Imperial Highway Association, signed by George Kellogg, Secretary, of Yorba Linda, relative to development of the State Highway System, was received, and ordered referred to the Committee on Conservation and Planning.

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolutions were offered:

By Messrs. Maloney, Dolwig, and Miller:

House Resolution No. 56

WHEREAS, On Sunday, January 19th, in the City of Richmond in Contra Costa County the Richmond Open Championship Golf Tournament terminated in one of the biggest upsets in the history of golf; and

WHEREAS, Competing in that tournament was a California boy, Mr. George Schoux, aged 28, a resident of San Bruno in San Mateo County; and

WHEREAS, In competition with George Schoux were the Nation's leading golf champions and tournament winners; and

WHEREAS, This young man, who two years ago came back home from hazardous Pacific war work a wrecked individual due to his hard labors in the interests of his Country, thought he would never be able to again play golf, the game that he loved; and

WHEREAS, To the surprise of the golfing world, George Schoux turned in a record score of 16 under par, 268, and putting together sensational rounds of 66-66-65 finished to win his first major tournament over the greatest competition that ever competed in a golf tournament; and

WHEREAS, The victory of George Schoux is a victory for California in this field of sport that is now one of the Nation's greatest pastimes; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Assembly of the State of California hereby congratulates George Schoux for winning this major Richmond Open Championship Golf Tournament, and wishes him every success in the future so that he may carry the best thoughts of the State of California in his travels throughout the Nation; and be it further

Resolved, That suitable engrossed copy of this resolution be forwarded to Mr. George Schoux.

Request for Unanimous Consent

Mr. Miller asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent to take up House Resolution No. 56, at this time, without reference to committee or file.

Resolution read, and adopted unanimously.

By Mr. Thompson:

House Resolution No. 57

Relative to the creation of an Assembly Fact-Finding Committee on Working Hours of State Employees

WHEREAS, The Legislature, in a resolution adopted at the Fifty-sixth (Second Extraordinary) Session, recognized the probability of being called upon to consider the problem of uniform working hours and conditions in the state service, during this Regular General Session of the Legislature; and

WHEREAS, It appears that private industry and many other public jurisdictions are rapidly adopting a standard 40 hour work week and may provide for additional compensation for overtime and night work; and

WHEREAS, There are many specific examples where persons in the state service work longer hours than persons in private industry and other public jurisdictions doing comparable work and receiving only the same pay as those who work shorter hours; and

WHEREAS, There are many examples in the state service where employees doing identical work receive the same rate of pay, but some of them have to work longer hours because they are in different departments; and

WHEREAS, Many of the hours of work for state employees are determined under a statute enacted to meet the manpower shortage problem caused by the war and the readjustment of working hours to normal conditions is a large problem needing immediate legislative attention and action; and

WHEREAS, These conditions are having and will continue to have a serious adverse effect on the morale of a large number of state employees and also cause unsurmountable administrative problems to state departments; and

WHEREAS, The State will suffer seriously in obtaining and retaining necessary employees unless it can compete in the labor market on approximately the same basis as to hours and working conditions as other employers; and

WHEREAS, If this session of the Legislature does not take action on this problem it will be two years before it can again consider it, during which time the problem will get progressively worse; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, As follows:

1. The Assembly Fact-Finding Committee on Working Hours of State Employees is hereby created and authorized and directed to ascertain, study and analyze all facts relating to the working hours of all state employees, including but not limited to the operation, effect, administration, enforcement, and needed revision of any and all laws in any way bearing upon or relating to the subject of this resolution, and to report thereon to the Assembly, including in the reports its recommendations for appropriate legislation.

2. The committee shall consist of five Members of the Assembly appointed by the Speaker thereof. Vacancies occurring or existing in the membership of the committee shall be filled by the appointing power.

3. The committee is authorized to act during this session of the Legislature, including any recess, but not after final adjournment.

4. The committee and its members shall have and exercise all of the rights, duties and powers conferred upon investigating committees and their members by the provisions of the Joint Rules of the Senate and Assembly and of the Standing Rules of the Assembly as they are adopted and amended from time to time, which provisions are incorporated herein and made applicable to this committee and its members.

5. The committee has the following additional powers and duties:

(a) To select a chairman and a vice chairman from its membership.

(b) To contract with such other agencies, public or private, as it deems necessary for the rendition and affording of such services, facilities, studies and reports to the committee as will best assist it to carry out the purposes for which it is created.

(c) To cooperate with and secure the cooperation of county, city, city and county, and other local law enforcement agencies in investigating any matter within the scope of this resolution and to direct the sheriff of any county to serve subpenas, orders and other process issued by the committee.

(d) To report its findings and recommendations to the Legislature and to the people from time to time and at any time, not later than herein provided.

(e) To do any and all other things necessary or convenient to enable it fully and adequately to exercise its powers, perform its duties, and accomplish the objects and purposes of this resolution.

6. The sum of five hundred dollars ($500) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby made available from the Contingent Fund of the Assembly for the expenses of the committee and its members and for any charges, expenses or claims it may incur under this resolution, to be disbursed after certification by the chairman of the committee, upon warrants drawn by the State Controller upon the State Treasurer.

Resolution read, and referred to the Committee on Rules.

RECOMMENDATION OF THE GOVERNOR

In accordance with Article IV, Section 34, of the Constitution, the Governor presented the following communication recommending the passage of Assembly Bill No. 714:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE
SACRAMENTO, January 24, 1947

To the Honorable Members of the Assembly
Sacramento, California

GENTLEMEN:

Assembly Bill No. 714—"An act to authorize the Department of Finance to acquire surplus housing facilities from the United States of America or any of its agencies for resale to veterans, making an appropriation, and declaring that this act shall take effect immediately," in my opinion constitutes an emergency bill within the meaning of that term as used in Section 34 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California, the consideration of which should not await the final enactment of the Budget Bill.

I therefore recommend consideration of Assembly Bill No. 714 as necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health or safety and as an emergency measure.

Respectfully submitted.

EARL WARREN, Governor

Request for Unanimous Consent

Mr. Maloney asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent to take up Assembly Bill No. 714, at this time, without reference to file.

CONSIDERATION OF ASSEMBLY BILL NO. 714

Assembly Bill No. 714—An act to authorize the Department of Finance to acquire surplus housing facilities from the United States of America or any of its agencies for resale to veterans, making an appropriation, and declaring that this act shall take effect immediately.

Bill read second time.

Resolution to Suspend Constitutional Provision

The following resolution was offered:

By Mr. Maloney:

Resolved, That Assembly Bill No. 714 presents a case of urgency, as that term is used in Article IV, Section 15, of the Constitution, and the provision of that section requiring that the bill be read on three several days in each house is hereby dispensed with, and it is ordered that said bill be read the third time, considered engrossed, and placed upon its passage.

Resolution read.

The roll was called, and the resolution adopted by the following vote:

AYES—Allen, Anderson, Beck, Bennett, Berry, Blosser, Brown, Burke, Burns, Butters, Caldecott, Carey, Clarke, Collier, George D. Collins, Conrad, Cooke, Cramer, Crichton, Crowley, Lester T. Davis, M. RESOLUTIONS

The following resolutions were offered:

By Messrs. O'Day, Blosser, Berry, Brady, George D. Collins, Gaffney, Maloney, and Wollenberg:

House Resolution No. 58

WHEREAS, Forty-four years ago today, on January 27, 1903 to be exact, there was born to Mr and Mrs. Peter J Haggerty of San Francisco a bouncing baby boy, who was named Gerald P. Haggerty, and

WHEREAS, This bouncing baby boy grew into manhood and in due course of events was elected as a Member of the State Assembly from the Twenty-fifth District in San Francisco in 1942 and re-elected in 1944, and

WHEREAS, Gerald P. Haggerty served with distinction at two sessions of the California State Legislature, and was a member of several important committees, and

WHEREAS, He has been identified with correctional activities, particularly with reform measures concerned with juvenile welfare, and

WHEREAS, Mr Haggerty decided, for personal reasons, not to seek re-election to this Fifty-seventh Session of the State Legislature, much to the regret of the Members of this Assembly, and

WHEREAS, We miss his friendly smile and genial personality and constructive services, and are not able to extend personal birthday greetings to him on this milestone in his life; now therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Members of the State Assembly extend to their former colleague, Gerald P Haggerty, their good wishes for continued good health, happiness and prosperity, and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly be hereby directed to prepare a suitably engrossed copy of this resolution and forward it to Gerald P. Haggerty on behalf of all Members of this Assembly.

Request for Unanimous Consent

Mr. Berry asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent to take up House Resolution No. 58, at this time, without reference to committee or file.

Resolution read, and adopted unanimously.

By Messrs. Berry, Burke, Sheridan, Beck, Ralph C. Dills, Waters, and McMillan:

House Resolution No. 59

Relative to the Purchase of Published Opinions of the Attorney General

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, As follows:

1. That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly be and he is hereby authorized and directed to purchase eighty-one (81) sets of each of the following bound volumes (Nos. 9, 10, 11, 12) and advance sheets of Attorney General's Opinions:

1947 Advance Sheets and Volumes at $25 plus sales tax per set;
1948 Advance Sheets and Volumes at $25 plus sales tax per set.

2. That the Chief Clerk is instructed to deliver one set of each set of Attorney General's Opinions to each Member of the Assembly, and one set to the Chief Clerk of the Assembly.

3. That the Controller be and he is hereby authorized and directed to draw his warrant on the Contingent Fund of the Assembly in favor of California Legal Publications for four thousand one hundred thirty-one dollars ($4,131) in payment for the above volumes and advance sheets, and the State Treasurer is directed to pay the same.

Resolution read, and referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. Waters:

House Resolution No. 60

Resolved, That the Controller be and he is hereby authorized and directed to draw his warrant in favor of Borden Printing Company in the sum of not to exceed nine hundred dollars ($900), in payment for 23 sets of the latest edition of "Summary of California Law," by B. E. Witkin; and, be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly is directed to deliver one set of said "Summary" to each new Member of the Assembly.

Resolution read, and referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. Geddes, Crichton, Hinckley, Erwin, Thompson, Clarke, Robertson, Grant, Evans, Blosser, Thomas, Sherwin, Stephenson, Stewart, Allen, and Price:

House Resolution No. 61

Relative to the creation of an Assembly Committee on Public Opinion Research

WHEREAS, The Assembly is confronted at this regular session of the Legislature with the responsibility of wisely considering proposed legislation which touches upon every phase of human existence, and

WHEREAS, The individual Members of the Assembly are conscious of their responsibility and are constantly seeking additional facts as a means of reducing possible errors of judgment, and

WHEREAS, Many Members of the Assembly spend considerable amounts of their own time and money for the purpose of obtaining the opinions of their constituents, and most of their constituents would welcome an opportunity to express their opinions if it were physically possible for them to do so, and

WHEREAS, The Members of the Assembly should have the advantage of the expression of the opinions of their constituents in order to counterbalance the arguments of organized pressure groups, and

WHEREAS, The opinions of the constituents may not be based upon the same quality or quantity of fact possessed by the members, and the members should have facilities to provide their constituents with correct information on important measures, and

WHEREAS, The fact that bills are subject to amendment during the course of passage would not prevent the surveying of public opinion as to the fundamental principles or concepts involved, and

WHEREAS, Proven and scientific techniques have been developed for the survey and appraisal of public opinion through which the voice of the people may be given expression; and

WHEREAS, In the consideration of measures directly affecting the lives and wellbeing of the people of the State it is necessary that the members be apprised as accurately and thoroughly as possible of the opinion on these measures of the people whom they represent; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, As follows:

1. That the Assembly Committee on Public Opinion Research is hereby created and authorized to ascertain, study, investigate, survey and analyze public opinion on such measures as the committee deems of sufficient importance to the people in general to warrant a survey of public opinion, and on such measures as the Assembly may direct such a survey to be made, and to report to the Assembly the results of each such survey, including in such report not only its conclusions of public opinion on the measure but also the reasons therefor.

2. The committee shall consist of five Members of the Assembly appointed by the Speaker thereof. Any vacancy occurring in the membership of the committee shall be filled by the Speaker.

3. The committee is authorized to act during this session of the Legislature, including any recess, but not after final adjournment.

4. The committee and its members shall have and exercise all of the rights, duties and powers conferred upon investigating committees and their members by the provisions of the Joint Rules of the Senate and Assembly and of the Standing Rules of the Assembly as they are adopted and amended from time to time, which provisions are incorporated herein and made applicable to this committee and its members.

5. The committee has the following additional powers and duties:

(a) To select a chairman and a vice chairman from its membership.

(b) To contract with such other agencies, public or private, as it deems necessary for the rendition and affording of such services, facilities, studies and reports to the committee as will best assist it to carry out the purposes for which it is created.

(c) To cooperate with and secure the cooperation of county, city, city and county, and other local law enforcement agencies in investigating any matter within the scope of this resolution and to direct the sheriff of any county to serve subpenas, orders and other process issued by the committee.

(d) To report its findings and recommendations to the Legislature and to the people from time to time and at any time, not later than herein provided.

(e) To do any and all other things necessary or convenient to enable it fully and adequately to exercise its powers, perform its duties, and accomplish the objects and purposes of this resolution.

6 The sum of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby made available from the Contingent Fund of the Assembly for the expenses of the committee and its members and for any charges, expenses or claims it may incur under this resolution, to be paid from the said contingent fund and disbursed, after certification by the chairman of the committee, upon warrants drawn by the State Controller upon the State Treasurer.

Resolution read, and referred to the Committee on Rules.

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolutions were offered:

By Mr. Sam L Collins:

House Resolution No. 62

Relative to the creation of Assembly investigating committees, and establishing the permanent standing committees of the Assembly as interim committees

WHEREAS, Many of the proposed subjects of legislation presented at this session require further study and the development of additional information in order that proper consideration may be given thereto; and

WHEREAS, Such study and investigation can best be undertaken by interim committees composed of Members of the Assembly who have served on standing committees that have considered measures relating to such proposed subjects during this session of the Legislature; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, As follows:

1. Twenty-five Assembly investigating committees are hereby created, consisting of the permanent standing committees of the Assembly listed in Rule 72 of the Permanent Standing Rules of the Assembly for this General Session of the Legislature, and having the same membership and chairmen, and vice chairmen respectively as have such standing committees. Vacancies occurring or existing in the membership of such investigating committees shall be filled by the Speaker of the Assembly. Each such investigating committee shall be known as "The Assembly Interim Committee on (the name of the corresponding standing committee)."

2. Each investigating committee is authorized and directed to ascertain, study and analyze all facts relating to any subject of legislation it may be authorized and directed to consider pursuant to any resolution adopted by the Assembly, including but not limited to the operation, effect, administration, enforcement and needed revision of any and all laws in any way bearing upon or relating to such subject and to report thereon to the Assembly, including in the reports its recommendations for appropriate legislation.

3. Each committee is authorized to act during this session of the Legislature, including any recess, and after final adjournment until the commencement of the next regular general session, with authority to file its final report not later than the thirtieth legislative day of the next regular general session.

4. Each committee and its members shall have and exercise all of the rights, duties and powers conferred upon investigating committees and their members by the provisions of the Joint Rules of the Senate and Assembly and of the Standing

Rules of the Assembly as they are adopted and amended from time to time, which provisions are incorporated herein and made applicable to each committee and its members.

5. Each committee has the following additional powers and duties:

(a) To contract with such other agencies, public or private, as it deems necessary for the rendition and affording of such services, facilities, studies and reports to the committee as will best assist it to carry out the purposes for which it is created.

(b) To cooperate with and secure the cooperation of county, city, city and county, and other local law enforcement agencies in investigating any matter within the scope of this resolution and to direct the sheriff of any county to serve subpenas, orders and other process issued by the committee.

(c) To report its findings and recommendations to the Legislature and to the people from time to time and at any time, not later than herein provided.

(d) To do any and all other things necessary or convenient to enable it fully and adequately to exercise its powers, perform its duties, and accomplish the objects and purposes of this resolution.

(e) To expend such funds as may be made available to it from the Contingent Fund of the Assembly for the expenses of the committee and its members and for any charges, expenses or claims it may incur under this resolution, to be paid from the said contingent fund and disbursed, after certification by the chairman of the committee, upon warrants drawn by the State Controller upon the State Treasurer.

Resolution read, and referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. Wollenberg:

House Resolution No. 63

Relating to meetings of the Ways and Means Committee

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Standing Committee of Ways and Means of the Assembly is hereby authorized to meet during any recess of the Regular Session of the Fifty-seventh Legislature at the State Capitol, or elsewhere in the State, and to perform the duties and to exercise all the powers vested in it by the Standing Rules of the Assembly; and be it further

Resolved, That except as otherwise provided in this resolution the committee shall have the powers granted to investigating committees by the Joint Rules of the Senate and Assembly, as such rules are adopted, as such rules are from time to time amended; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee or chairman thereof may create subcommittees from the membership of the committee, assigning to the subcommittee any study, inquiry, investigation, or hearing which the committee itself has authority to make or hold, and the subcommittee for the purpose of this assignment shall have and exercise all the powers conferred upon the committee, limited only by the resolution of the committee or order of the chairman defining the powers and duties of the subcommittee, which powers may be withdrawn or terminated at any time by the committee or the chairman thereof; and be it further

Resolved, That the sum of ten thousand dollars ($10,000) is hereby made available to the committee from the Contingent Fund of the Assembly for the expenses of the committee and its members in connection with its duties and for any charges, expenses or claims it may incur under this resolution, to be paid from the said contingent fund and disbursed, after certification by the chairman of the committee, upon warrants drawn by the State Controller upon the State Treasurer.

Resolution read, and referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. Weber:

House Resolution No. 64

Relative to the continuance of the Assembly Committee on Conservation and Planning

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, As follows:

1. The Assembly Committee on Conservation and Planning created by House Resolution No. 284 of the Fifty-sixth Regular Session is continued as an Assembly committee at this general session, with the membership and with all the rights, powers and duties possessed by the committee and its members immediately prior to the commencement of this session. Vacancies occurring or existing in the membership of the committee shall be filled by the appointing power.

2. The committee is authorized to act during this session of the Legislature including any recess, but not after March 15, 1947.

3. The provisions of the Joint Rules of the Senate and Assembly and of the Standing Rules of the Assembly, as soon as such rules are adopted at this session or amended from time to time, become applicable to this committee and its members.

4. The sum of one thousand nine hundred eighty-one dollars and seventy cents ($1,981.70) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby made available from the

Contingent Fund of the Assembly for the expenses of the committee and its members and for any charges, expenses or claims it may incur under this resolution, to be paid from the said contingent fund and disbursed, after certification by the chairman of the committee, upon warrants drawn by the State Controller upon the State Treasurer

Resolution read, and referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. Thomas:

House Resolution No. 65

Relating to moneys expended pursuant to Section 1019 of the Fish and Game Code

WHEREAS, There is frequently before this Assembly for consideration, legislation affecting the commercial fishing industries of California; and

WHEREAS, It is necessary that the Members of this Assembly have the most full and complete information possible concerning these industries and action taken by the State of California concerning them; and

WHEREAS, Section 1019 of the Fish and Game Code requires that certain revenues collected by the Fish and Game Commission shall be expended for patrol of packing plants, inspection, and regulation of the industry, and conservation work for the benefit of the commercial fishing industries; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Fish and Game Commission is by this resolution requested to transmit to this Assembly, not later than the reconvening of the Fifty-seventh Legislature of California in March, 1947, following its constitutional recess, a report and an accounting of all sums of money expended, and the purpose for which they were expended, since 1935 by the Fish and Game Commission pursuant to Section 1019 of the Fish and Game Code; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly immediately transmit copies of this resolution to the members of the Fish and Game Commission.

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolution was offered:

By Mr. McCollister:

House Resolution No. 67

Relative to the creation of the Assembly Interim Committee on Military and Veterans' Affairs.

WHEREAS, It is necessary to continue the investigation of military and veteran affairs during this period of reconversion in order to assist the many veterans of the State in rehabilitating themselves in civil life; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, As follows:

1. The Assembly Interim Committee on Military and Veterans' Affairs is hereby created and authorized and directed to ascertain, study and analyze all facts relating to military and veterans' affairs of this State and the social readjustment of veterans in civil life and business, including but not limited to the operation, effect, administration, enforcement and needed revision of any and all laws in any way bearing upon or relating to the subject of this resolution, and to report thereon to the Assembly, including in the reports its recommendations for appropriate legislation.

2. The committee shall consist of five Members of the Assembly appointed by the Speaker thereof. Vacancies occurring or existing in the membership of the committee shall be filled by the appointing power.

3. The committee is authorized to act during this session of the Legislature, including any recess, and after final adjournment until the commencement of the next regular general session, with authority to file its final report not later than the fifteenth legislative day of the next regular general session.

4. The committee and its members shall have and exercise all of the rights, duties and powers conferred upon investigating committees and their members by the provisions of the Joint Rules of the Senate and Assembly and of the Standing Rules of the Assembly as they are adopted and amended from time to time, which provisions are incorporated herein and made applicable to this committee and its members.

5. The committee has the following additional powers and duties:

(a) To select a chairman and a vice chairman from its membership.

(b) To contract with such other agencies, public or private, as it deems necessary for the rendition and affording of such services, facilities, studies and reports to the committee as will best assist it to carry out the purposes for which it is created.

(c) To cooperate with and secure the cooperation of county, city, city and county, and other local law enforcement agencies in investigating any matter within the scope of this resolution and to direct the sheriff of any county to serve subpenas, orders and other process issued by the committee.

(d) To report its findings and recommendations to the Legislature and to the people from time to time and at any time, not later than herein provided.

(e) To do any and all other things necessary or convenient to enable it fully and adequately to exercise its powers, perform its duties, and accomplish the objects and purposes of this resolution.

6. The sum of ten thousand dollars ($10,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby made available from the Contingent Fund of the Assembly for the expenses of the committee and its members and for any charges, expenses or claims it may incur under this resolution, to be paid from the said contingent fund and disbursed, after certification by the chairman of the committee, upon warrants drawn by the State Controller upon the State Treasurer.

Resolution read, and referred to the Committee on Rules.

Explanation of Vote on Assembly Bill No. 603

During the 1945 Session I introduced and had passed the bill controlling the manufacture and sale of inflammable materials. My reason for deliberately not voting on Assembly Bill 603 was that I do not want to be recorded as having provided additional time to burn innocent purchasers of inflammable articles.

CONSIDERATION OF HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 53

House Resolution No. 53

Relative to need for adequate legislative offices in the State Capitol

WHEREAS, The State Capitol was planned to furnish suitable chambers for the holding of the sessions of the Senate and Assembly, adequate meeting places for their committees, and suitable offices, conveniently situate, for the use of their members, officers and legislative aids; and

WHEREAS, Over the years the space requirements for these several purposes have greatly expanded with no corresponding expansion in the size, arrangement, location or suitability of allotment of space, especially in respect to offices for members and officers, particularly including the Speaker and Chief Clerk of the Assembly and the President, President pro Tempore and Secretary of the Senate, and for the safekeeping of the official records of the houses, and suitable working quarters, appropriately located, for the several legislative aids, including the Legislative Counsel, the Legislative Auditor and the Legislative Bill Room; and

WHEREAS, It would appear that this situation is susceptible to substantial improvement by removal of various units of the Executive Branch of the State Government that do not need to be in the State Capitol for their proper and adequate functioning, and reallotment, for legislative use, of the space that would thus be made available, without waiting for the completion of plans and the awarding of contracts for, and the construction of an annex to the State Capitol; and

WHEREAS, The need for immediate action is pressing and urgent if the Legislature is to discharge in full its responsibilities toward the people of the State; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, By the Assembly of the State of California, As follows:

1. The Assembly Committee on Legislative Offices in the State Capitol is hereby created, authorized and directed to ascertain, study and analyze all facts bearing upon any of the subjects mentioned in the recitals of this resolution, and to do all things necessary to effect an immediate improvement in the allocation and arrangement of legislative quarters, bringing these needs forthwith to the attention of the State Director of Finance and collaborating with him and with any similar committee of the Senate in carrying out the objects and purposes of this resolution.

2. The committee consists of the Speaker, the Chairman of the Committee on Rules, and three Members of the Assembly appointed by the Speaker.

3. The committee is authorized to act during this session of the Legislature, including any recess, but not after final adjournment.

4. The committee and its members shall have and exercise all of the rights, duties and powers conferred upon investigating committees and their members by the provisions of the Joint Rules of the Senate and Assembly and of the Standing Rules of the Assembly as they are adopted and amended from time to time, which provisions are incorporated herein and made applicable to this committee and its members.

5. The committee shall report to the Assembly from time to time during this session of the Legislature, including in the reports its recommendations as to needed legislation on this subject.

COMMUNICATIONS

By Speaker Collins:

The following communication and report were received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

January 27, 1947

Honorable Sam L. Collins
Speaker of the Assembly of the State of California
State Capitol, Sacramento, California

DEAR MR COLLINS: There is herewith filed with you a true copy of the report made by the Regents of the University of California and the State Board of Education, jointly, to the Fifty-seventh Session of the Legislature pursuant to Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 12 of the Fifty-sixth Legislature.

For the Regents of the University of California.
ROBERT G. SPROUL
President of the University of California

For the State Board of Education
ROY E. SIMPSON
Secretary and Executive Officer of the State Board of Education

Report of the Regents of the University of California and the State Board of Education and Recommendations Made Pursuant to Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 12 of the First Extraordinary Session of the Fifty-sixth Legislature

To the Honorable, the California State Legislature and the Members thereof:

In conformity with the provisions of Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 12 of the First Extraordinary Session of the Fifty-sixth Legislature, the Regents of the University of California and the State Board of Education have made, with the limitations imposed by the time and funds available, the investigation and study of the adequacy of existing facilities at Sacramento Junior College to serve as an institution for higher learning in the Sacramento Valley, with a view toward determining the need for expansion of such institution's educational opportunities and its conversion to a four-year college or a branch of the State University.

The investigation and study was conducted by the Regents of the University of California and the State Board of Education through the Sacramento Junior College Survey Committee appointed by the President of the University and the Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The committee is composed of two representatives of the University of California (Deans Frank N. Freeman and Edwin A. Lee), two representatives of the State Department of Education (Frank B. Lindsay and Alfred E. Lentz), and a fifth member chosen by them (Dr. A. A. Douglass, Superintendent of Modesto City Schools). The committee has held the following meetings:

October 25, Berkeley. Organization and appointment of Dr. A. A. Douglass as chairman; definition of scope of inquiry and related problems.

November 8, Fresno. Appointment of Dr. C. S. Marsh as research consultant; formulation of plan for written report.

December 6, Sacramento. Initial report by Dr. Marsh, summarizing previous studies of higher education installations in State and data on Sacramento area.

December 30, Los Angeles. Continuation of reports by Dr. Marsh on state-wide trends in post high school education in California; preparation of statement to Liaison Committee.

December 30, Los Angeles. Submission of statement to Liaison Committee and instruction received from that body concerning public hearing in Sacramento.

January 8, Sacramento. Public hearing with Senator Desmond and representatives of Sacramento civic groups.

The committee and the research consultant have outlined the investigation and examined evidence gathered to date. Major divisions of the study are:

Previous legislative proposals of like or similar nature
Extent, population, and educational resources of the Sacramento area
Previous investigations dealing with the state policy in higher education
California students and their home residences
Population trends and industrial development in California
Future college enrollments
Possible solution of the crowded conditions in the colleges and universities

The Regents of the University of California and the State Board of Education having reviewed the findings of the Sacramento Junior College Survey Committee jointly report to the Fifty-seventh Session of the Legislature the results of their investigation and study and their recommendations, as follows

1. The predicted increase in college students in California at both the two-year and four-year levels will demand a large increase in buildings, equipment, and personnel In the case of the university, for which a careful study has been made, the increase beyond the present inflated enrollment is estimated to be over 50 percent by 1960 if present factors remain in operation It is reasonable to suppose that an equal increase will occur in junior colleges and state colleges

2. It is evident that facilities for education at the college level must be sharply enlarged within the next 10 years.

3. To care for the anticipated increase, both the University and the State College System must expand either by enlarging the present institutions or by adding new institutions, or both

4. If the present balance is kept between the enrollment in the university and in the other colleges, the facilities of both must be greatly expanded. If the university should hold back its expansion by increased restriction on enrollment, the other colleges will have to expand still more rapidly than prediction on present circumstances would indicate. In other words, if we assume that the university will continue to emphasize the pre-professional, professional, and graduate education and to serve, both at the undergraduate and graduate levels, students of exceptional academic attainments, it will not be able to absorb an appreciable part of the increase in students attending junior colleges or state colleges.

5. The university will probably have to expand on other campuses besides those at Berkeley and Los Angeles, in order to accommodate its student body, even if the rate of increase is reduced by additional restriction on enrollment, in order that it may continue to perform substantially the functions it is now performing. One method of expanding its present facilities would be to enlarge the campuses at Davis and at Santa Barbara. Another method would be to add new campuses.

6. As the university expands its present campuses or adds new campuses, this expansion is not to be regarded as taking the place of the expansion of State College System, but rather as complementary to it.

7. To provide effectively for the great increase in students attending state colleges, new institutions of the same type should be set up to serve areas and population groups not now within reasonable distance of the present state colleges.

8. To the extent that the study upon which this report is based permits a conclusion, the committee believes that there is a definite need for increased facilities for higher education in the area of which Sacramento is a part, but it is evident before final recommendations can be made as to the nature and scope of the increased facilities needed further study of a year's length must be made in order that a proper balance in public higher education facilities may be assured. The study contemplated must, among other appropriate matters, make such investigation as is necessary to determine the total needs of the State for facilities for higher education and the types of service which should be provided by such facilities to meet the requirements of the people of the State and to determine what type of organization of higher education will best serve the people of the State. To delay decision on the Sacramento issue should insure that Sacramento will be given facilities proportionate to its merits.

9 It is therefore recommended that no new institutions of higher education offering instruction beyond the fourteenth grade be established pending the completion of the study hereinbefore recommended.

10. Though studies of higher education in California have been made previously, none has ever been made under the joint sponsorship of the State Board of Education and the Regents of the University of California. These two bodies now join in recommending to the State Legislature that such a joint study be authorized and that adequate financial support be provided by the Legislature for this purpose, to the end that a specific report be completed prior to January 1, 1948.

The following bill is suggested as an appropriate one to be enacted in the present session of the Legislature:

An act making an appropriation for a comprehensive survey of the System of Public Higher Education in California, including the junior colleges, the state colleges and the University of California.

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. The State Department of Education of California and the University of California are hereby authorized and directed to make a survey of the organization of public higher education in the State. This survey shall analyze the present and future needs of the State for education above the high school, with particular reference to the needs of each area of the State. It shall take account of the need for different types of higher education and the requirements of different types of students. It shall inquire whether these needs are best met by the present organization of colleges and the University or whether some different type of organization would be better. It shall inquire also into the financial support and shall make recommendation concerning such support. The survey shall be completed in time to make recommendations at the 1948 Session of the Legislature.

SEC. 2. The state board and the regents shall conduct the survey in any appropriate manner and shall employ such director and staff as deemed most suitable to conduct the survey.

SEC. 3. There is hereby appropriated out of any money in the State Treasury not otherwise appropriated, the sum of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary during the Ninety-ninth Fiscal Year for the prosecution of the survey described in Sections 1 and 2 of this bill.

Respectfully submitted.

DONALD R. WARREN CO., ENGINEERS
SAN FRANCISCO, January 23, 1947

The Honorable Sam L. Collins, Speaker
Assembly Chamber, State Capitol
Sacramento 14, California

DEAR SIR: In the preparation of the new Highway Bill, the following ideas should be given your consideration.

Fifty percent (50%) of the plans and specifications for new highways should be prepared by engineers in private practice. This will prevent an over-expansion of civil service and its inherent continuance after need. This will utilize the large engineering companies that designed the major war plants and war work at engineering costs which should be compared with those of the present State Highway System.

The standards for this work should be left in the hands of the State Highway Department.

This would permit a direct comparison between free enterprise and government organizations for efficiency, economy and quality of work.

The present state law prohibits this type of competition and comparison.

COMMUNICATIONS

By Mr. Allen:

The following opinion of the Legislative Counsel was received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

Opinion of Legislative Counsel

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL
SACRAMENTO, January 27, 1947

Honorable Don A. Allen,
3867 South Degnan Blvd., Los Angeles 43, Calif.
Indian Suits No. 2145

DEAR MR. ALLEN: We have your request of January 27, 1947, asking whether Assembly Bills Nos. 372 and 374 constitute appropriations for a public purpose, and whether it is competent for the Legislature to provide for the services of the Attorney General in aiding Indians to prosecute claims against the United States before the Indian Claims Commission.

It is our opinion that these bills present the case of a public purpose for which state money may be appropriated.

From the earliest times it has been uniformly recognized that the Indians were wards of the State, requiring special legislation, and efforts to protect their interests from the rapacity of the white man have been repeatedly before both federal and state courts.

In Sunol v. Hepburn (1850) 1 Cal. 254, the Mexican doctrine that Indians were unable to convey land without consent of the government, was upheld. Repeated legislation by both Congress and state legislatures has affirmed this position. Indians are made exempt from certain criminal acts, as in the vagrancy statutes. Special provisions for their education are in force in most states. The sale of liquor to an Indian is generally prohibited.

The guardianship and care of both the Indians and their property has long been the policy of the Nation and State. To appropriate money to be expended by the Attorney General in securing them adequate representation before the Indian Claims Commission appears to be merely further legislation to continue this policy and to be in direct furtherance of a public purpose.

You also ask whether it is competent to provide that the Attorney General act as their counsel in private suits for the recovery of their claims against the United States, and raise the question as to whether the Indians can be required to take him as their counsel.

These suits do not appear to be private actions, but claims based upon allegedly improper treatment of wards of the Nation. For the Attorney General to act as their counsel in such suit is a part of the policy of aiding them as such wards and we believe is in furtherance of the public purpose discussed.

Whether they may be required to accept the Attorney General as their attorney raises a different question, and we doubt whether they could be required to accept him.

That all litigants are entitled to representation and may freely appoint their attorneys is so well established as a precedent in legal procedure that we doubt whether even a ward of the State may be refused this privilege, but certainly the State may restrict its aid to providing its officer as their representative.

Very truly yours,

FRED B. WOOD, Legislative Counsel
JOSEPH L. KNOWLES, Deputy

COMMUNICATIONS

By the Chief Clerk:

The following communication was received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

STATE DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS
DIVISION OF ARCHITECTURE, January 27, 1947

Mr. Arthur A. Ohnimus, Chief Clerk
California State Assembly, State Capitol

Referring to your inquiry as to why the item numbering unit is not in operation, the reason for the delay of completion is caused by our inability to purchase the electrical equipment needed.

In our efforts to complete this work within the time we estimated, we are making several parts by hand and for the remainder, we are converting from their original use to our needs.

We regret that it was impossible to have the unit completed before the start of the present session of the Legislature, but we will have the unit operating by not later than the end of February

Very truly yours,

W. H EPPERSON

cc-MR. FRANK N. KILLAM

CONSIDERATION OF HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 65 (BY UNANIMOUS CONSENT)

House Resolution No. 65

Relating to moneys expended pursuant to Section 1019 of the Fish and Game Code

WHEREAS, There is frequently before this Assembly for consideration, legislation affecting the commercial fishing industries of California; and

WHEREAS, It is necessary that the Members of this Assembly have the most full and complete information possible concerning these industries and action taken by the State of California concerning them; and

WHEREAS, Section 1019 of the Fish and Game Code requires that certain revenues collected by the Fish and Game Commission shall be expended for patrol of packing plants, inspection, and regulation of the industry, and conservation work for the benefit of the commercial fishing industries; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Fish and Game Commission is by this resolution requested to transmit to this Assembly, not later than the reconvening of the Fifty-seventh Legislature of California in March, 1947, following its constitutional recess, a report and an accounting of all sums of money expended, and the purpose for which they were expended, since 1935 by the Fish and Game Commission pursuant to Section 1019 of the Fish and Game Code; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly immediately transmit copies of this resolution to the members of the Fish and Game Commission.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON CRIME AND CORRECTION

The Committee on Crime and Correction of the Assembly of the State of California visited Preston School for Boys and the Maximum Security Institution for Men at Folsom over the weekend.

As there are several new members of the committee this session, it gave them an opportunity to get a close-up observation of the problems of custodial care and the objective of rehabilitation of inmates at both institutions. There are extensive plans in progress at both institutions for more modern and up-to-date buildings and equipment which will much improve the over-all program. When the additional buildings are completed and the equipment installed, much more adequate segregation will be accomplished as to age, type, and temperament. This is very essential, particularly for the boys at Preston, as there is a definite objective on the part of the administration toward a rehabilitation program. As Mr. Chandler stated to us, if it was just a matter of custody, with no thought of rehabilitation of the boys, he would not want to continue on the job.

More extensive farming operations, as well as additional work programs are scheduled for the immediate future. This, obviously, is a saving economically; as well as a work program to keep the boys busy.

The problems of escape at Preston were discussed at length and it was pointed out that the "honor" system of rehabilitation, where additional liberties are extended to the boys creates a larger number of escapes, but by the same token the benefits derived for the entire population of the institution far offset the difficulties of the additional escapes. You hear much about the escapes from the institution, but very little about the many boys that make good as a result of a humane and patient understanding of the boys' problems.

However, more security is being provided by coils of wire on the fence surrounding the institution, and when this work is completed, it will obviously reduce the number of escapes. There seems to be an atmosphere generally of harmony and good team work among personnel at both institutions. However, with the Civil Service System freezing employees into their jobs, it is always difficult to have complete harmony. However, again the benefits of civil service far offset occasional freezing into their jobs some people that are not particularly adapted or not cooperative.

It was the general impression of those on the committee that a conscientious effort was being made at both institutions to handle a difficult job efficiently with the rehabilitation of human beings as their first objective.

It will be the purpose of the committee to visit all of the prisons and correctional institutions during this legislative session, and to become familiar with the problems of the personnel, as well as the inmates. It is the feeling of our committee that we want to be helpful in every way possible in an advisory capacity as a liaison group between the departments and the Legislature, as well as fulfilling our legislative respon sibilities.

R. FRED PRICE,
Chairman, Committee on Crime and Correction

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR

Budget Message

To the Senate and the Assembly of the State Legislature of California:

In accordance with the provisions of the State Constitution I present herewith for your consideration my estimate of the expenditures required by the State Government during the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1947, and ending June 30, 1948.

This is the first State Budget ever prepared on an annual basis. It is the first peacetime budget which it has been my privilege to submit. It is the first budget submitted which reflects broadly the preparations made during the war for catching up with peacetime needs. It is the first budget to reflect in dollars and cents the magnitude of service required by a population in excess of nine million people. It is a budget which reflects the inflated dollar. For these and other reasons which are pointed out herein, it provides for the largest expenditure in any year of California history.

The total of this budget is $641,569,026. It is $153,741,225 greater than the actual and estimated expenditures of the current fiscal year.

The major increases are accounted for as follows:

(1) An $85,018,661 increase in payments to local governments, including a $53,423,000 increase for public schools adopted by the voters as an initiative measure on November 5, 1946.

(2) A $39,588,196 increase in capital outlay expenditures which will bring into use funds earmarked for the postwar construction program for the University of California, state colleges, institutions and prisons.

(3) A $27,863,867 increase in the operating expenses of State Government brought about by higher costs, the resumption of normal peacetime activities, expanded services necessitated by an increased population, and the necessary replacement of worn out equipment which has heretofore been unobtainable.

Budget Dollar Distribution

The largest item of expenditure proposed in this budget is for educational purposes. Over 36 cents of the budget dollar will be for the support of education; 19 cents is for roads, streets, and highways and regulation of vehicles; 11 cents for social welfare and public health; 10 cents for state hospitals, correctional schools and prisons, 7 cents for conservation and development of agriculture, water, and other natural resources; and 17 cents for all remaining state activities.

The major portion of this budget is made up of fixed charges and continuing appropriations required by provisions of the Constitution and existing statutes. These items total $373,138,372, an increase of $57,858,826 or 18 percent over the current year. Among these items will be found the allowances for school support and the payments to the needy blind, the needy aged, and to needy children. In total the fixed and continuing appropriations amount to 58 percent of the entire budget.

In the controllable items we are faced with greater demands upon the State than at any time prior to the war—demands that reflect our rapid growth in population and the war-induced changes in our economy. We are dealing with a bigger and more diversified postwar California, with expansions in almost every field. We are providing for the needs of veterans seeking to regain educational and employment opportunities denied to them during the war. In addition to the direct appropriations made for these purposes, accelerated demands upon State Government are indicated by the growth, expansion, and deferred requirements found in the enrollment figures for our university and state colleges and junior colleges. This budget makes provision for an enrollment of 40,575 at the university. The highest prewar enrollment was 26,162. The minimum war enrollment was 10,211. This budget contemplates an enrollment at our state colleges of 16,040. The highest prewar total was 9,493. During the war it dropped to 3,667. Allowance is made for an average attendance of 58,750 students at our junior colleges, compared with a prewar peak of 43,677 and a wartime low of 23,817.

We have sought in this budget to restore all essential peacetime services expected of State Government, many of which were sharply curtailed of necessity during the war. We have continued to apply the test of administrative efficiency as well as need to each item proposed. Recent legislative authorization for a number of departmental reorganizations is making this easier to accomplish.

Cost Factors

In the preparation of this budget we were confronted with the fact that the cost of goods required by the State Government is dependent upon current price levels. Five years of repeated postponements of needed repair work and replacements have left the State in a position where safety as well as efficiency is a factor which must be considered in many cases regardless of high prices.

In budgeting adequately for its wards and patients, the State is subject to the same cost increases which must be met by the average housekeeper. This budget provides for the necessary housing, feeding, and clothing of 46,580 persons in our veterans' homes; schools for the blind, deaf, and juveniles; mental hospitals, prisons, and other institutions. Not only has the day-to-day cost of such housekeeping increased, but we will have 3,418 more persons to care for than in the current year and 5,338 more than during 1945-46.

It has been necessary on several occasions during recent years to raise the salaries of state employees to keep our state pay-scales on a parity with those of private and other public employment and to meet the increased cost of living. Of the $122,000,000 budgeted for salaries and wages during the next fiscal year $28,550,000 can be traced to the salary increases granted since the beginning of the war period.

A comparison of the minimum present and prewar salaries follows:

	Minimum monthly salary
	Prewar	Present
Junior clerk	$80	$140
Hospital attendant	100	150
Intermediate stenographer clerk	110	170
Senior clerk	140	190
Liquor control officer	170	220
Auditor, Grade 2	190	295
Associate highway engineer	260	365

Capital Outlay Expenditures

The major capital outlay expenditures called for in this budget have already been authorized by the Legislature. Funds for these expenditures come from the earmarked wartime surplus, and the items for which the expenditures are proposed are part of the already approved postwar construction program. Each item of expenditure is recommended only after careful consideration of needs and with a policy in mind that the State should not compete for materials and labor except in matters of urgency. The major items are for building and improvements at the university, state colleges and special schools, and for needed facilities for the Department of Corrections and at our state institutions for the mentally ill. The total recommended for these items is $69,252,180.

Also recommended is the fullest use of all existing funds available for highway maintenance and construction, and of revenue which is derived from state-owned lands and dedicated to beach and park development

It will be noted in this budget that there has occurred a 35 percent increase in total payments to local governments. These amount to $326,672,857. In this total will not only be found the cost of the State's fuller participation in the support of public schools but also a $59,169,300 item for the care of the needy aged, blind and children. The latter item has been increased by $6,109,190 to provide for an increase in the number of persons seeking such assistance. In this total will also be found my recommendation for an increase in the State's subsidies for treatment of tuberculosis and an allowance of additional state funds for use by local governments in matching federal grants for hospital construction.

State government expenditures amount to $314,926,169 of which $161,688,344 represent current operating expenses, $144,089,629 capital outlays, $6,648,196 comprise payments on existing debt, and $2,500,000 constitute reserves for unforeseen contingencies.

Major Budget Increases

In the preparation of this budget particular attention has been given to our programs for education, social welfare, health and protection The increases recommended for these major services of government, including the recommendations for current expenses, capital outlay, and payments to local governments, can be summarized as follows:

Education: To meet greatly enlarged educational requirements; to match increased federal grants for vocational training and rehabilitation; to construct additional classrooms at our university, our state colleges and special schools, and to improve school standards throughout the State.

Revenues and Surplus

The Department of Finance estimates state revenues under existing tax levies will total $581,757,239 during the year beginning July 1, 1947. The sum of $425,424,111 will accrue to the General Fund, $1,481,512 will go to reserve funds, and $154,851,616 will be credited to the various special funds.

The General Fund expenditure requirements of this budget total $386,662,757. This provides a $38,761,354 cushion between estimated General Fund receipts and expenditures in the 1947-48 Fiscal Year. The revenue forecasts are predicated upon a belief that business activity will continue at a high level during 1947 and the early months of 1948. Readjustments are anticipated in some lines but it is believed the period as a whole will compare favorably with 1946. The estimated margin between General Fund receipts and expenditures would allow for an approximate 10 percent decline in volume of revenue due to unforeseen contingencies.

Inasmuch as we are now operating on an annual budget basis, and General Fund finances are in this healthy condition, I have recommended the continuation of the present reduced tax levies first enacted in 1943 and reenacted in 1945. Under this tax reduction program, $296,000,000 has been saved taxpayers during the past four years. Continuation of these tax reductions for another year will mean a saving of an additional $96,650,000.

As a result of war-induced activity, there has developed during each of the last five years a surplus of General Fund receipts over expenditures. Four years ago we inaugurated a policy of ear-marking or appropriating these excess revenues to meet known and contingent future needs The accumulated General Fund surplus will amount to $318,567,265 as of June 30, 1947.

Recommendations

It is my belief that the entire surplus should be used to complete our postwar construction program and to provide a reserve for unforeseen contingencies.

I recommend, therefore, that $128,446,250 of the surplus be immediately appropriated to the Postwar Employment Reserve. Of this total $98,156,000 is needed to offset higher costs involved in the construction program for which appropriations have already been made. Also contained in the recommendation is $22,490,250 for the revision and expansion of projects already approved and for which the original allocations have been found to be insufficient Likewise included is $7,800,000 for National Guard armories and a new Department of Public Health building and laboratory

I further recommend that a bookkeeping transfer of $34,000,000 be made from the General Fund to the Postwar Employment Reserve. This represents appropriations already made as part of the $154,000,000 construction program authorized by the Legislature in 1946.

If these transfers are made to the Postwar Employment Reserve there will remain as surplus in the General Fund the sum of $156,121,015.

It is my recommendation that $75,000,000 of this surplus be immediately ear marked as a revenue deficiency reserve This recommendation is made with the following long term considerations in mind:

(1) A 20 percent decline in business activity would reduce state income by $100,000,000.

(2) Fixed charges against the General Fund which now amount to $231,000,000 are increasing and will continue to increase even in the face of a substantial business recession.

(3) Any substantial reversal in business conditions will almost automatically create the need for a program of unemployment relief

The 10 years of deficit financing in State Government which preceded the war provide a costly illustration of the need for thinking in terms of financial preparedness. I consider it to be only a matter of elementary prudence to create a reserve for the rainy day which will come if history repeats itself.

If the above program is followed we will enter the 1947-1948 Fiscal Year with a surplus of $81,121,015 It is estimated that the difference between General Fund revenues and expenditures during the coming year, under this budget program, will add an additional $38,761,354 to this surplus. This would create a $119,882,369 surplus as of June 30, 1948. Of this sum $29,000,000 must be held in reserve to meet expenditures in the future under appropriations voted by the Fifty-sixth Session of the Legislature and still available.

The free and uncommitted surplus as of June 30, 1948 will therefore amount to $90,882,369.

Analysis of this budget will demonstrate with clarity the influence of inflated prices and population growth upon the cost of government. From this budget are eliminated all special wartime agencies An extremely small part of the total is for new activities in State Government. Emphasis has been placed upon improving the services offered the people of California, bearing in mind the steady increase in population.

During the past two years we have followed the intent of the Legislature and have interpreted your fiscal policies both in letter and in spirit. I submit this budget in this same spirit and with every confidence that if it is adopted we will be able to serve the needs of our people and bring our State to the end of the next fiscal year in the same healthy financial condition which I now report.

Respectfully submitted.

EARL WARREN, Governor

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolutions were offered:

By Messrs. Crichton, Maloney, and Thompson:

House Resolution No. 72

Relative to the continuance of the Assembly Interim Committee on Public Morals created by House Resolution No. 48 of the Fifty-sixth Regular Session

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, As follows:

1. The Assembly Interim Committee on Public Morals created by House Resolution No. 48 of the Fifty-sixth Regular Session is continued as an Assembly committee at this general session, with the membership and with all the rights, powers and duties possessed by the committee and its members immediately prior to the commencement of this session. Vacancies occurring or existing in the membership of the committee shall be filled by the appointing power.

2. The committee is authorized to act during this session of the Legislature including any recess, but not after March 15, 1947.

3. The provisions of the Joint Rules of the Senate and Assembly and of the Standing Rules of the Assembly, as soon as such rules are adopted at this session or amended from time to time, become applicable to this committee and its members.

4. The sum of one thousand dollars ($1,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby made available from the Contingent Fund of the Assembly for the expenses of the committee and its members and for any charges, expenses or claims it may incur under this resolution, to be paid from the said Contingent Fund of the Assembly and disbursed, after certification by the chairman of the committee, upon warrants drawn by the State Controller upon the State Treasurer.

Resolution read, and referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. McCollister:

House Resolution No. 73

Relative to the creation of the Assembly Committee on Military Affairs

WHEREAS, Securing to veterans those rights which will enable them to establish themselves in their proper place in the civilian community is of utmost concern to this Assembly; and

WHEREAS, Many measures have been introduced for this purpose; and

WHEREAS, The advice and counsel of representatives of veterans' organizations and of other persons is sought by this Assembly; and

WHEREAS, The receipt of such advice and counsel, together with the devising of an orderly procedure for considering such legislation after the recess to be taken pursuant to Section 2 of Article IV of the Constitution, can best be accomplished during such recess; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, As follows:

1. The Assembly Committee on Military Affairs is hereby created and authorized and directed to ascertain, study and analyze all facts relating to all measures pertaining to veterans introduced at this session of the Legislature and referred to the Standing Committee on Military Affairs, together with any other matters relating to veterans, including but not limited to the operation, effect, administration, enforcement and needed revision of any and all laws in any way bearing upon or relating to the subject of this resolution, and to report thereon to the Assembly, including in the reports its recommendations for appropriate legislation.

2. The committee shall consist of five Members of the Assembly appointed by the Speaker thereof. Vacancies occurring or existing in the membership of the committee shall be filled by the appointing power.

3. The committee is authorized to act during this session of the Legislature, including any recess, but not after the fifteenth legislative day after the Legislature reconvenes after the constitutional recess.

4. The committee and its members shall have and exercise all of the rights, duties and powers conferred upon investigating committees and their members by the provisions of the Joint Rules of the Senate and Assembly and of the Standing Rules of the Assembly as they are adopted and amended from time to time, which provisions are incorporated herein and made applicable to this committee and its members.

5. The committee has the following additional powers and duties:

(a) To select a chairman and a vice chairman from its membership.

(b) To contract with such other agencies, public or private, as it deems necessary for the rendition and affording of such services, facilities, studies and reports to the committee as will best assist it to carry out the purposes for which it is created.

(c) To cooperate with and secure the cooperation of county, city, city and county and other local law enforcement agencies in investigating any matter within the scope of this resolution and to direct the sheriff of any county to serve subpenas, orders and other process issued by the committee.

(d) To report its findings and recommendations to the Legislature and to the people from time to time and at any time, not later than herein provided.

(e) To do any and all other things necessary or convenient to enable it fully and adequately to exercise its powers, perform its duties, and accomplish the objects and purposes of this resolution.

6. The sum of one thousand five hundred dollars ($1,500) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby made available from the Contingent Fund of the Assembly for the expenses of the committee and its members and for any charges, expenses or claims it may incur under this resolution, to be paid from the said contingent fund and disbursed, after certification by the chairman of the committee, upon warrants drawn by the State Controller upon the State Treasurer.

Resolution read, and referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. Silliman, Loomis, Grant, Price, Thorp, Burke, Stanley, Hollibaugh, and Lester T. Davis:

House Resolution No. 74

Relating to adjournment in respect to the memory of Paul P. Harris, founder and President Emeritus of Rotary International

WHEREAS, The Members of this Assembly have learned with profound regret of the death of Paul P. Harris in Chicago on January 27, 1947; and

WHEREAS, Paul P. Harris, a lifelong resident and an attorney at law in Chicago, Illinois, in 1905 organized the first Rotary Club, and in 1910 founded and became the first President of the National Association of Rotary Clubs, which in 1922 became Rotary International, of which he was also first President, and President Emeritus at the time of his death; and

WHEREAS, Paul P. Harris founded these clubs upon his own ideals of service, high standards in business, professional and community life, which became the guiding principle of Rotary International, and through its 5,638 clubs were carried into active practice in 75 countries of the world by a membership of more than 259,000, making these clubs for all time a living demonstration of the power for good in the world which one man may attain; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That by this resolution the Members of this Assembly express profound regret upon the passing of this great man, who attained an international reputation and reached the venerable age of 78 years still guided by the high ideals of his youth; and be it further

Resolved, That when this Assembly this day adjourns it do so out of respect to the memory of Paul P. Harris; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly transmit a copy of this resolution to Rotary International.

CONSIDERATION OF HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 66

House Resolution No. 66

Relative to Congratulating Radio Station KOCS

WHEREAS, Radio Station KOCS presented its opening broadcast on Sunday evening, January 26, 1947; and

WHEREAS, Radio Station KOCS is the first FM-AM broadcasting station in its area, and is a symbol of the magnificent development which is taking place in the western portion of San Bernardino County, California; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That by this resolution hearty congratulations are extended to Mrs. Jerene Appleby Harnish, publisher of the newspaper Daily Report, which operates Radio Station KOCS, upon her successful pioneer work in establishing this station, an accomplishment which marks another proud step forward in the progress of the southern part of this great State of California; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly transmit suitably prepared copies of this resolution to Mrs. Jerene Appleby Harnish and to Radio Station KOCS.

Resolution read, and adopted.

CONSIDERATION OF HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 65

House Resolution No. 65

Relating to moneys expended pursuant to Section 1019 of the Fish and Game Code

WHEREAS, There is frequently before this Assembly for consideration, legislation affecting the commercial fishing industries of California; and

WHEREAS, It is necessary that the Members of this Assembly have the most full and complete information possible concerning these industries and action taken by the State of California concerning them; and

WHEREAS, Section 1019 of the Fish and Game Code requires that certain revenues collected by the Fish and Game Commission shall be expended for patrol of packing plants, inspection, and regulation of the industry, and conservation work for the benefit of the commercial fishing industries; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Fish and Game Commission is by this resolution requested to transmit to this Assembly, not later than the reconvening of the Fifty-seventh Legislature of California on March 15, 1947, following its constitutional recess, a report and an accounting of all sums of money expended, and the purpose for which they were expended, since 1935 by the Fish and Game Commission pursuant to Section 1019 of the Fish and Game Code; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly immediately transmit copies of this resolution to the members of the Fish and Game Commission.

Resolution read, and adopted.

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT THAT STATEMENT BE PRINTED IN JOURNAL

Mr. Erwin asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent that the following statement be ordered printed in the Journal:

Statement by Assemblyman Thomas M. Erwin

It is my purpose in filing the attached financial statement to call to the attention of the Legislature the current condition of the Fish and Game Preservation Fund.

I believe that an analysis of the facts presented herewith makes it fully apparent that the fund cannot stand any extraordinary large-scale withdrawals if it is to remain solvent.

For a number of years, the impression has prevailed that the fund has contained a huge surplus, and that this condition obtains now.

A statistical report prepared at my request by the Department of Natural Resources indicates, to the contrary, that unless new revenues are provided to augment the fund, it will be in precarious condition and its solvency threatened within three years.

The cost of current operations already is exceeding revenues. If no new revenues are provided, and if the ratio of expenditures to income continues, there will be a deficit in the fund by June 30, 1949.

The unbudgeted surplus on July 1, 1947, is estimated at $3,360,783. Revenues for the 1947-48 fiscal year are forecast at $3,212,294. Against this title of $6,573,077 in prospective revenue, expenditures totaling $5,241,360, including $1,437,825 in capital outlay, are proposed for the 1947-48 fiscal year. This would reduce the preservation fund surplus to $1,331,717 on June 30, 1948.

There appear to be only three alternatives if a deficiency is to be averted in this hitherto self-supporting fund. These would be an increase in hunting and fishing license fees and other existing sources of income; appropriation of additional money from other than present sources of self-support; or a substantial curtailment of operations.

It is generally conceded that any curtailment of propagation, conservation or law enforcement measures would be disastrous in the face of California's increasing population and rapidly growing drains upon our wildlife resources. Rather, a material expansion of the program is vital.

It is my earnest hope that the Legislature will keep these elements thoroughly in mind in dealing with fish and game matters at this session.

RECOMMENDATION OF THE GOVERNOR

In accordance with Article IV, Section 34, of the Constitution, the Governor presented the following communication recommending the passage of Senate Bill No. 29:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE
SACRAMENTO, January 24, 1947

To the Honorable Members of the Assembly
Sacramento, California

GENTLEMEN:

Senate Bill No. 29—"An act making an appropriation to the Department of Finance for cost of advertising Veterans' Bond Act of 1946, to take effect immediately," in my opinion constitutes an emergency bill within the meaning of that term as used in Section 34 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California, the consideration of which should not await the final enactment of the Budget Bill.

I therefore recommend consideration of Senate Bill No. 29 as necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health or safety and as an emergency measure.

Respectfully submitted.

EARL WARREN, Governor

RESOLUTION TO SUSPEND CONSTITUTIONAL PROVISION

The following resolution was offered:

COMMUNICATIONS

By Speaker Collins:

The following communication was received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

REPORT OF JOINT INTERIM COMMITTEE ON PACIFIC RELATIONS

SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, January 29, 1947

Honorable Goodwin J. Knight
President of the Senate of California
State Capitol, Sacramento, California

Honorable Sam L. Collins
Speaker of the Assembly of California
State Capitol, Sacramento, California

The Joint Interim Committee on Pacific Relations created by Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 25, Chapter 131 of the Statutes of the Regular Session of the Fifty-sixth Legislature (1945), submits herewith its first and final report. The membership of the committee consisted of Senators Swing, Shelley, and Biggar; Assemblymen Lyon, Leonard, and Robertson. This joint committee, duly organized during the Fifty-sixth Session of the Legislature, elected the undersigned, Charles W. Lyon, as chairman thereof.

Three meetings were held during the legislative session, and communications were addressed to the following: The Honorable Mayor of the City and County of San Francisco, mayors of the cities located in the San Francisco Bay area, members of boards of supervisors, chambers of commerce, labor organizations, civic clubs, and others then interested in the establishing of a permanent home for the United Nations Conference in that locality. In these communications we offered the cooperation of the committee and its facilities and powers to assist those having charge of the activities.

It was apparently not necessary for your committee to perform any service and although three meetings were held no expenses were incurred. We, therefore, wish to be discharged, and the appropriation of $10,000 authorized by the above numbered chapter may be returned to the proper fund of the State.

Respectfully submitted.

CHARLES W. LYON, Chairman

MOTION TO CONCUR IN ACTION TAKEN IN LETTER

Mr. Maloney moved that the Assembly concur in the action taken by the committee as expressed in the above letter.

Motion carried.

Motion carried.

Remarks by Mr. Hahn

At the turn of the century a young man and his brother founded what is now known as the Western Auto Supply Company. This young man, George Pepperdine, never had the opportunity for a college education.

In 1937, he sold the company and to his foundation, which was already supporting an orphans' home, summer camps, and a home for underprivileged girls, he added by founding the now famous George Pepperdine College. He did this to allow young people of good character to have an education partly paid by his endowment which supports this college. The students are allowed to work off the rest of their expenses on the campus. The college stresses Christian character, the Church of Christ being the main body of faith behind the college. Mr Pepperdine wants to send out good citizens of high character into the community and the State.

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolution was offered:

By Messrs. Debs, Geddes, Clayton A. Dills, and Hinton:

House Resolution No. 76

Relative to meetings of the Assembly Committee on Public Health and Safety

WHEREAS, The Standing Committee of the Assembly on Public Health and Safety at the Fifty-seventh Session of the Legislature is again confronted with a number of bills proposing far reaching changes in existing laws and new functions to be performed by the State in providing for health care for the people of California; and

WHEREAS, During the constitutional recess several of these bills should be carefully studied in order to determine the possible costs of providing health service; and

WHEREAS, Testimony to be valid and of worth to the Legislature should be received from interested parties in an orderly manner and, where required, witnesses should testify under oath; and

WHEREAS, The interim committee of the Assembly created by House Resolution No. 295 at the last session ceased to function last year by the terms of said resolution, and

WHEREAS, It is not expedient to create an interim committee to perform duties which can more properly be conducted by the Standing Committee on Public Health and Safety; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Assembly Standing Committee on Public Health and Safety is hereby authorized to meet during any recess of the Regular Session of the Fifty-seventh Legislature at the State Capitol, or elsewhere in the State, and to ascertain, study and analyze all facts relating to any or all bills referred to it for consideration at this session, and to report thereon to the Assembly not later than April 1, 1947; and be it further

Resolved, That except as otherwise provided in this resolution the committee shall have the powers granted to investigating committees by the Joint Rules of the Senate and Assembly, as such rules are adopted, and as such rules are from time to time amended; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee or chairman thereof may create subcommittees from the membership of the committee, assigning to the subcommittee any study, inquiry, investigation, or hearing which the committee itself has authority to make or hold, and the subcommittee for the purpose of this assignment shall have and exercise all the powers conferred upon the committee, limited only by the resolution of the committee or order of the chairman defining the powers and duties of the subcommittee, which powers may be withdrawn or terminated at any time by the committee or the chairman thereof; and be it further

Resolved, That the sum of ten thousand dollars ($10,000) is hereby made available to the committee from the Contingent Fund of the Assembly for the expenses of the committee and its members in connection with its duties and for any charges, expenses or claims it may incur under this resolution, to be paid from the said contingent fund and disbursed, after certification by the chairman of the committee, upon warrants drawn by the State Controller upon the State Treasurer.

Resolution read, and referred to the Committee on Rules.

INTRODUCTION, FIRST READING, AND REFERENCE OF ASSEMBLY BILLS (RESUMED)

The following bills were introduced, and read the first time:

Assembly Constitutional Amendment No. 20: By Mr. Debs—A resolution to propose to the people of the State of California an amendment to the Constitution of the State by amending Section 1¼ of Article XIII, relating to veterans' exemptions from taxation.

RECOMMENDATION OF THE GOVERNOR

In accordance with Article IV, Section 34, of the Constitution, the Governor presented the following communication recommending the passage of Assembly Bill No. 973:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE
SACRAMENTO, January 28, 1947

To the Honorable Members of the Assembly
Sacramento, California

GENTLEMEN:

Assembly Bill No. 973—"An act making an appropriation in augmentation of the appropriation in Item 79.5 of the Budget Act of 1945, for publishing, purchasing, and shipping free textbooks, Department of Education, to take effect immediately,"

in my opinion constitutes an emergency bill within the meaning of that term as used in Section 34 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California, the consideration of which should not await the final enactment of the Budget Bill.

I therefore recommend consideration of Assembly Bill No. 973 as necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health or safety and as an emergency measure

Respectfully submitted.

EARL WARREN, Governor

CONSIDERATION OF ASSEMBLY BILL NO. 973 (BY UNANIMOUS CONSENT)

Assembly Bill No. 973—An act making an appropriation in augmentation of the appropriation in Item 79.5 of the Budget Act of 1945, for publishing, purchasing, and shipping free textbooks, Department of Education, to take effect immediately.

Bill read second time.

Motion to Amend

Mr. Wollenberg moved the adoption of the following amendment:

Amendment No. 1

On page 1, lines 2 and 3, of the printed bill, strike out "six hundred sixty-two thousand six hundred eighty-four dollars ($662,684)", and insert "one million, sixteen thousand six hundred forty-eight dollars ($1,016,648)".

Amendment read, and adopted.

RECOMMENDATION OF THE GOVERNOR

In accordance with Article IV, Section 34, of the Constitution, the Governor presented the following communication recommending the passage of Assembly Bill No 974:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE
SACRAMENTO, January 28, 1947

To the Honorable Members of the Assembly
Sacramento, California

GENTLEMEN:

Assembly Bill No. 974—"An act to add Section 3090 to the Labor Code, relating to occupational training, making an appropriation in augmentation of the appropriation in Item 138 of the Budget Act of 1945, for support of the Division of Apprenticeship Standards, Department of Industrial Relations, to take effect immediately," in my opinion constitutes an emergency bill within the meaning of that term as used in Section 34 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California, the consideration of which should not await the final enactment of the Budget Bill.

I therefore recommend consideration of Assembly Bill No. 974 as necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health or safety and as an emergency measure.

Respectfully submitted.

EARL WARREN, Governor

CONSIDERATION OF ASSEMBLY BILL NO. 974 (BY UNANIMOUS CONSENT)

COMMUNICATIONS

By Speaker Collins:

The following communication was received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

January 24, 1947

Mr. Rollin L. McNitt
824 Chamber of Commerce Building, 1151 South Broadway
Los Angeles 15, California

DEAR MR. MCNITT: Your communication addressed to the Speaker of the Assembly, Sam L. Collins, regarding state acquisition of the Black Building at Fourth and Hill Streets, Los Angeles, has been referred to the Governmental Efficiency and Economy Committee, of which I am chairman.

We have held a preliminary meeting on this subject at which Mr. James Dean, Director of Finance for the State of California, appeared and testified. It is the opinion of the committee that you have been misinformed. The building was not sold for $350,000, but only the remaining portion of the life of a master lease.

The committee has evidence to prove that the price paid by the State of California in leasing this building was comparable to the rents of other buildings, and in some instances this building is actually being rented at a much cheaper rate per square foot per year.

The unfortunate part of your letter is the fact that you charge the State with leasing a building which had just been purchased for $350,000. Again I want to reiterate, this is not a correct statement of facts. The building was not purchased, but merely the balance of the master lease was acquired. There is no provision in the state law to permit the Director of Finance to purchase a state building without legislative action. The Legislature has authorized the construction of a state building in the Civic Center in Los Angeles, and this will be done as soon as construction is possible.

The committee is of the opinion that nothing was done in connection with the acquiring of this building by the State that was in any way foreign to the best interests of the State of California.

In view of the foregoing facts, the committee feels that there is nothing further that can be done unless you have some concrete evidence to the effect that something irregular transpired in the leasing of the Black Building. If you have such evidence, I assure you the chairman of this committee will be very happy to receive them.

Yours very truly,

C. DON FIELD, Chairman
Governmental Efficiency and Economy Committee

JAMES DEAN, Director of Finance

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolution was offered:

By Messrs. Gaffney, Heisinger, Ralph C. Dills, and Maloney:

House Resolution No. 77

Relative to commemorating the birthday anniversary of Franklin Delano Roosevelt

WHEREAS, January 30, 1947 marks the sixty-fifth anniversary of the birth of Franklin Delano Roosevelt, late great President of the United States, who took the helm of the Ship of State when the Nation was foundering upon the shoals of depression and wisely and courageously set the course through all the stormy war years; and

WHEREAS, His courage as a public leader and militant fighter for his ideals, was matched by an equal courage in the face of personal disaster, exemplified by his refusal to be defeated or daunted when he was stricken in the prime of manhood by the dread and terrible disease commonly called infantile paralysis; and

WHEREAS, His magnificent courage and triumph in the face of this disaster made him an example to bring hope, courage, and faith to others so stricken; and

WHEREAS, This great personality inspired the national tradition of The March of Dimes for the collection of funds to study and combat the ravages of poliomyelitis, through which funds there have been established the National Society for the Prevention of Infantile Paralysis, the Warm Springs Foundation in Georgia, and increased support for many local institutions such as the Shrine Hospital for Crippled Children in San Francisco; and

WHEREAS, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, although the recipient of innumerable honors and paid great homage throughout the world, cherished most deeply the tribute expressed by the tradition of the President's Birthday Ball held in nearly every large city throughout the United States on the anniversary of his birth, as a part of the annual March of Dimes campaign which has done so much to develop a true community spirit of helpfulness throughout the Nation and has brought renewed hope and relief from pain to thousands upon thousands stricken, as he was stricken, by a dread disease which, terrible as it still is, has yet lost some of its terror through the victory scored over it by Franklin Delano Roosevelt; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That when this Assembly this day adjourns it do so in commemoration of the birthday anniversary of Franklin Delano Roosevelt, a great President and a great man; and be it further Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent to Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt of Hyde Park, New York, and to Mr. James Roosevelt of Los Angeles, California.

Request for Unanimous Consent

Mr. Gaffney asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent to take up House Resolution No. 77, at this time, without reference to committee or file.

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolution was offered:

By Messrs. O'Day and Burns:

House Resolution No. 78

Relative to commending the State Division of Forestry upon their fire control work

WHEREAS, The fine forests of the State of California are such valuable assets of the State, both scenically and economically, that enormous damage results when even a small fire occurs in a forested area, which makes prevention of fires a great and important part of any fire control program in this State; and

WHEREAS, During the past year the fire control program of the Division of Forestry was so well carried out that there were 400 less fires than in other years; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Division of Forestry of the State of California is commended upon its excellent fire prevention program and the fine work of its field men which resulted in this splendid record of successful prevention of forest fires; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of this Assembly is requested to send copies of this resolution to the Director of Natural Resources and to the Division of Forestry of California.

Request for Unanimous Consent

Mr. O'Day asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent to take up House Resolution No. 78, at this time, without reference to committee or file.

Resolution read, and adopted.

REPORT OF ASSEMBLYMAN FRANK J. WATERS MEMBER OF JOINT INTERIM COMMITTEE ON AVIATION

CALIFORNIA LEGISLATURE, STATE CAPITOL
SACRAMENTO, January 28, 1947

Honorable Goodwin J. Knight
President of the Senate of California
State Capitol, Sacramento, California

Honorable Sam L. Collins
Speaker of the Assembly of California
State Capitol, Sacramento, California

Pursuant to provisions of Resolution Chapter 62 of the Statutes of the First Extraordinary Session of the Fifty-sixth Legislature (1946), the Joint Interim Committee on Aviation presented on date of January 23, 1947 the majority report to the Legislature.

Chapter 7 of the majority report (page 717, Assembly Daily Journal, January 23, 1947) comments upon a gross receipt tax on "passenger and freight revenues of interstate and interstate business," and "a 1 cent per gallon tax on aviation gasoline." It is to be emphasized that your committee rejected these forms of taxation.

It is to be further noted that the majority committee report cites on page 718 the recommendation of "the representative of the State Aviation Committee of the American Legion advocated on aviation gasoline tax." The record shows this witness did not appear officially on behalf of the American Legion.

If the Legislature determines that a State Aviation Commission is to be established, I have definite convictions on the form it should take in order that the best interests of the public, private flyers, local air transport operators, and interstate air carriers can be protected.

I believe that any state aviation agency developed should be strictly on a promotional and planning basis. Its functions could profitably include the fostering of air markers, aviation education, assistance to its subdivisions on airport development, and the preparation of aviation literature, maps, data, etc.

No need exists for any state regulation of the interstate air carrier's operations. All of their operations, including those wholly within California, are completely supervised and controlled by federal aviation agencies under the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938. State regulation of any part of an interstate airline's activities at best can consist of merely rubber-stamping the federal procedures, but more probably will result in conflict between federal and state regulations which, by burdening the air carriers, will directly affect the public through increased fares or decreased service. Therefore, I would recommend that if any state aviation agency is created, the basic law should definitely prohibit the agency from exercising any economic regulatory powers over federally certificated air carriers.

Concerning financing, I note that generally where state aviation agencies have been established for the promotion of all phases of aviation, funds have been made available by appropriations from the general funds of the states. The states act toward aviation as other forms of business in the state consistent with the fundamental principle that the states have a duty to foster and promote certain activities for the general welfare of their inhabitants. Note comments under I, re ($60,000).

Financing the commission by any method of directly taxing aviation activities is thought unwarranted when the broad benefits to the general public are considered. I can state definitely, that a tax on aviation gasoline, although appearing to be an expedient, easy way to raise the necessary funds, is the most inequitable, burdensome and undesirable method which could be adopted by the State of California for financing the commission. In other ways, such as landing fees, rentals and service charges, private flyers, local operators, and the airlines can and should reimburse the State and its subdivisions for the benefits rendered.

If it is determined that a separate aviation agency is not desired, my only suggestion is that care should be exercised to make sure that aviation is not placed in an existing state agency where its promotion will be subservient to the philosophy of other forms of transportation or modes of travel.

I. TAXATION

While a great deal has been written and said about airline taxation it occurs to me that the evidence discloses the air transport industry is subjected to the same federal, state and local taxes that any other interstate business is subjected to.

There are some who, in furtherance of their own bureaucratic power (at the expense of other administrators), would propose to change administrative powers at this time.

It is not clear to me whether they would also give the new administrator the power to assess other property of an air carrier. (Nonflight equipment.)

It has also been suggested that flight equipment be apportioned to California by an unrealistic formula composed of arrivals and departures, originating and terminating tonnage and originating receipts. It is not clear to me whether the taxes collected are to be state or local revenue.

The committee considered the imposition of an aviation gas tax to finance our share of the cost under the federal airport aid plan.

While I don't recall anyone specifically recommending this formula for franchise and corporation income taxes it is possible someone may have the same in mind.

The following is recommended in regard to these suggestions:

(a) Flight Equipment of Air Carriers

Such airline property (together with all other airline property) is presently taxed by local assessors throughout our State.

No one has submitted any proof to counteract the statements of airline representatives before our committee to the effect that those local assessors treat this property in the same manner that the property of other taxpayers is treated.

I personally feel that diffusion in government is essential to our democratic way of life. I am opposed to centralization of power (taxing or otherwise) in the hands of a few people where it means that power that rightfully has been placed at one level of government would be given to another level of government. (It appears there is no difference between giving state power to the Federal Government or giving local power to the State Government.) We have seen this process at work since 1932 and we should not further encourage it.

It is my recommendation that local assessors not be shorn of their present prerogatives. No one has submitted any proof that they are not capable of assessing airline property or that some other administrator has some supernatural gifts or capabilities not possessed by local assessors. Let us proceed slowly in the process of centralizing the taxing power of this State.

(b) The Apportionment Formula for Property

No matter who assesses flight equipment the question arises as to what method should be used in apportioning a part of the unitary property to California.

This question is raised by the fact that no particular flight equipment is ever continuously in one city, county, state or country. On the other hand it appears that a part of an air carrier's fleet is at all times within the state or one of its political subdivisions.

A long line of cases by the United States Supreme Court has decided that:

(1) Moveable or unitary property of a railroad may be apportioned to the states, counties and cities wherein such company operates:
(2) A steamship fleet is only taxable at the port of registration unless it is proven that any particular ship is continuously in another port.

When a similar flight equipment problem was presented to the United States Supreme Court it seemed to adopt the steamship theory for airline taxation. Northwest Case. However, that may be, the airlines have not opposed the "apportionment" theory as long as no state has adopted the "steamship" theory.

However, in taking advantage of this "waiver" on the part of the airlines we should be constrained to act as though we are fully aware of the fact that it constitutes a "waiver" on their part and therefore not be ungrateful to the extent that we should attempt to tax a portion of the fleet that is at all times "located" outside of California regardless of whether it is located in another state or country or in "no man's land."

It is my belief that flight equipment cannot legally or logically be apportioned to California by a formula composed of arrivals and departures, originating and terminating tonnage and originating receipts. My belief is based upon the following:

Under the Fourteenth Amendment and Section 10 of Article XIII of our Constitution we can only tax property "situated" in California.

There isn't a single factor used in the proposed formula which has any correlation to the "situs" of an airplane (i.e.) arrivals and departures ignore the time that a plane may be on the ground or in the air—the other two factors (tonnage and receipts) are correlated to "value" and absolutely and undeniably are uncorrelated to "situs."

Anyone proposing such a formula presents absolute proof that he is a rank amateur in the field of taxation or that he is not intellectually honest.

To prove beyond peradventure of a doubt how illogical this formula is, allow me to present the following example:

Air Carrier X operates between State A and State B. During a tax year it has:

(a) 50 arrivals and 50 departures in each state.

(b) It has $100 of originating receipts in each state.

(c) It has 100 lbs. of originating and terminating tonnage in each state.

(d) Its planes spend 95 percent of their time in State A and 5 percent of their time in State B.

Under the proposed formula each state would tax 50 percent of X's fleet although the fleet is located 95 percent of the time in State A.

Have you any question but that State B would have little trouble in convincing any court how erroneous this is?

Just try to use such a "phony" formula on other transportation companies and see what happens.

Are we going to embarrass the air transport industry by proposing such a ridiculous formula?

Other transportation companies have their moveable or unitary property apportioned by a mileage formula. Why should we treat the airlines any differently?

Let us be fair about this problem—not favoring or discriminating against any industry. Let us treat them all the same.

No legislation is needed at this time because the assessors are presently taxing flight equipment by a "plane hour" or "mileage" formula.

We must at all times remember that other states are also interested in this problem. They are going to apportion on a mileage or plane hour basis and logic and law is in their favor.

Let us not place this infant industry "in the middle" at this critical period while each state tries to make the biggest "grab."

Specific formulae are not for legislative provisions, they are for administration. The assessors can and are fairly taxing the airlines. I say, let us allow them to continue to so tax by their present allocation methods.

(c) Franchise Taxes and Corporation Income Taxes and the Airlines

The evidence presented to our committee by the Franchise Tax Commissioner's office and the airlines discloses that the airlines are presently paying franchise taxes on their net income which is apportioned by the Massachusetts formula—The formula that is used for ninety-nine percent (99%) of all interstate businesses.

In order to assure uniformity and the prevention of discrimination it is my recommendation that no legislation is needed under these acts. In any event the commissioner has all the power he needs under Section 10 of the Bank and Corporation Franchise Tax Act and a comparable provision of the Income Tax Act.

(d) Aviation Fuel Taxes

At the present time the airline industry pays a three-cent (3¢) motor fuel tax and gets a refund thereof (from the Controller) less sales tax of 2½ percent which was not collected at the time of purchase from a distributor. Actually this is equivalent to the payment of about $60,000 a year or ½-cent per gallon aviation fuel tax (based upon 1947 estimates).

If a 1-cent gasoline tax is imposed upon the industry it should be made clear that this ½-cent tax is to be eliminated by an appropriate amendment to the Sales Tax Act.

However, I believe that California should not impose any further tax on aviation gasoline for the following reasons:

(1) Historically and for the past 25 years it has always been properly recognized that motor fuel taxes are "user" taxes imposed for special benefits given to the highway users, while at the same time "landing fees" are "user" charges for special benefits given to air carriers. These two principles have logically developed together and should not be altered at this time;

(2) Any expenditures under the airport aid plan will give very little "special" benefits to scheduled interstate airlines and they will pay in "landing fees" or rentals, etc., for whatever special benefits they receive therefrom;

(3) Most of the money spent under the airport aid plan will be expended for facilities which scheduled interstate airlines will not and cannot use. The fundamental justification for this "special user's tax" is not applicable to these airlines as it is in the case of motor fuel taxes;

(4) "General" benefits which these airlines may receive from the plan are no different from benefits which "businesses generally" will receive. Airlines and other businesses pay for these "general" benefits by the payment of "general" taxes, i.e. property, franchise, sales, etc., taxes. Other businesses do not pay special "user" taxes for these "general" benefits and neither should the airlines;

(5) Every report that has considered the question of aviation fuel tax has recommended against the imposition of such taxes:

1. C. A. B. report of April, 1945.
2. Tax Magazine (February, 1946).
3. Terminal Airport Financing and Management (Aviation Research Staff of the Harvard Graduate School of Business).
4. XI Duke University Law Review, p. 594.
5. Cornell Law Review.
6. A number of other congressional reports (Senate Document No. 69, Seventy-eighth Congress, First Session, House Document No. 160, Seventy-ninth Congress, First Session).
7. Tax Magazine (December, 1946).

(Even the North American Gasoline Tax Conference was evenly divided on the question (see reports of 1945 and 1946));

(6) A gasoline tax on aviation gasoline is absolutely uncorrelated to any benefit or protection that may or could be given to an airline, i.e, X Airline purchases 4,000 gallons of gasoline at

Mills Field in San Mateo County and uses the same on a trip to Honolulu—50 gallons used in California and 3,950 gallons outside its jurisdiction. Certainly there can be no correlation between this tax and any benefits or protection which California may give to scheduled interstate airlines. Let us be honest and recognize that the reasons justifying an automobile gasoline tax do not exist in the case of aviation use any more than it does in the case of farm use. This has been recognized in the past and no logical reason can be presented at this time for nonrecognition. Every study made on this subject has reached this conclusion;

(7) The Federal Government is now considering an additional 1½-cent gasoline tax to cover the cost of maintenance, etc.; of federal airway facilities and aids (states have participated to a very minute degree in this program up to this time). The imposition of arbitrary gasoline taxes by the states at this time would cripple the air transport industry;

(8) An equitable tax system cannot and will not discriminate against any particular industry. The imposition of "general" taxes and "special user" taxes against an industry which does not receive any "special use" from expenditures of the "special use" tax would constitute rank discrimination.

The question remains as to how California can finance its airport air program without an aviation gasoline tax program. While this presents a difficult problem, it is not insurmountable.

In the first place serious consideration should be given to how much is to be expended for airports and facilities and where it is going to be expended. Many thinking people question the maintenance of every airport that mushroomed in California during the war.

In the second place many of the airports (built during the war) have no justification except as emergency fields for military use. Why shouldn't the Federal Government maintain these fields for the benefit of all the people in the United States?

In the third place airfields properly built, maintained and located will be self-supporting from the landing fees, rentals, and operation of restaurants, concessions, etc.

The many little fields that may be built or maintained under the plan which will not be self-supporting should not be saddled upon the airlines which cannot and will not use the same. This also is true as to many facilities which may be maintained.

If their cost is justified it will be on the basis that it is for everyone in general. Therefore the General Fund of the State should be used for this purpose.

All taxpayers who will receive these "general benefits" will pay for the same in "general taxes" while those who receive "specific" benefits will pay "specific user" charges in the form of "landing fees," rentals, etc.

The $60,000 a year which is withheld from the motor fuel tax refund will be more than sufficient to cover the schedule airlines share of the cost of an aeronautical commission if one is established. Legally this commission can have little jurisdiction, if any, over the scheduled interstate air carriers.

While I haven't mentioned constitutional limitations on the Legislature up to this point there are some who believe that a gasoline tax can only be levied for highway purposes—see Section 1 of Article XXVI and Section 25 (10) of Article IV of the State Constitution. As a lawyer, I find considerable force to this argument but have not relied upon the same because there are so many logical and compelling practical reasons why we shouldn't levy an aviation gasoline tax.

In concluding this phase of my recommendation on Airline Legislation I note the following:

(1) Airlines today pay federal income, transportation, gasoline, and excise taxes that are levied on other businesses in general, further, they pay every tax that is levied by the State of California and its counties and cities (i.e.), income, franchise, sale, use, property, etc., on businesses in general and at the same time they pay very substantial "special user" charges for special benefits rendered. In other words they pay every tax that is levied by any level government on businesses in general and in the same manner.

There is no logical reason why any type of legislation should be proposed at this time. To do so would constitute rank discrimination against the air transport industry.

(2) The air transport industry is presently going through its most critical period. While it must share its just share of the tax burden we should not, at this time, go out of our way to discriminate against it. It is too essential to our national defense to be hindered by any ill-advised tax program. We should move very, very, slowly in accepting any tax theories that would place the industry separate and apart from "industry in general." They are treated, at the present time, like every other taxpayer and should be continued to be so treated. No tax legislation is needed at this time to accomplish that purpose. We must bear in mind that the industry will lose between eight (8) and fifteen (15) million dollars this year and apparently prospects are not too good for the immediate future. Such a situation does not call for any radical action on the part of state legislators or administrators;

(3) There have been too many amateurish and unfounded statements bandied about in regard to airline taxation during the past several years. The fact is that airlines pay the same taxes (and in the same manner) that other businesses pay Any change would discriminate in favor of or against them. Let us not be a party to or aid a small group of "theorists and dreamers" who are trying to use us to further their aim of treating the airline industry as a "guinea pig" for some new and startling theories of "national centralization" of state taxing power. The program they are presently urging you to adopt is merely one phase of much broader one to have all interstate businesses subjected to the power of a federal central bureau. I say let us not be so used.

Respectfully submitted.

ASSEMBLYMAN FRANK J. WATERS

Attached hereto and made a part hereof is testimony of Colonel Thomas M Murphy, Chairman, State Governmental Affairs Committee, Air Transport Association (Pan American Airways, American Air Lines System, United Air Lines, Transcontinental & Western Air Inc., and Western Air Lines, Inc. Colonel Murphy testified before the committee on November 8, 1946, in San Francisco, California.

State Regulation of Interstate Air Carriers

"It is the position of the scheduled air transport industry that there is no need for economic regulation by the states of air carriers operating under certificates of public convenience and necessity issued by the Civil Aeronautics Board. The economic regulation imposed by the Federal Government upon the scheduled airlines of the United States is comprehensive and detailed. State economic regulation of airlines at best would be duplicating, and inevitably, in conflict with federal regulation. Moreover, conflict would inevitably develop between the states themselves. Piling such duplicating and conflicting state regulations on top of that prescribed by federal law will not promote, but actually retard, sound economic conditions in the airline industry.

"The limits of this presentation permit only the barest summary of the federal economic regulations to which airlines are subject. Considering the field of federal economic regulation, it is to be noted that before an airline can start an operation it must prove the necessity for the operation to the Civil Aeronautics Board, and convince the board that it is fit, willing and able to conduct it. Thereafter, it is under constant supervision by the board, and its service may be terminated if it does not continue to meet the required standards. Tariffs must be filed, including the rates and regulations applicable to airline service, and these rates and regulations are subject to constant scrutiny by the board and may be investigated and changed by the board upon complaint or upon its own initiative. An air carrier's accounts are prescribed in the utmost of detail by the board, and its books are audited periodically to make sure that the prescribed accounting system is complied with. The carriers are forbidden by the Civil Aeronautics Act to maintain a system of accounts other than that prescribed by the board, without the board's permission. Almost all contracts entered into among carriers must be filed with and approved by the board. Any interlocking directorates in which an airline is involved must be approved by the board, and any consolidations, mergers, or acquisition of control affecting airlines must be likewise approved. The board has power to prevent unfair competitive practices, and generally to inquire into the management of any airline. The board may at any time demand and secure special reports from air carriers, and does require the submission of lengthy monthly and annual financial and operating reports. In addition to these specific requirements, airline operations are generally subject to prescribed economic regulations of the board.

"Federal economic regulations are imposed upon an airline as an entity, and no material differentiation is made between the operations of an airline involving the carriage of interstate and international traffic and those involving intrastate traffic. Any efforts to do this would be most difficult, since both types of traffic are carried in the same equipment, and the intrastate and interstate operations of the airline are completely integrated. Any attempt to disturb this integration would necessarily result in a dislocation of an air carrier's operations, and an impairment of the carrier's service, particularly to intrastate traffic. Thus, state regulation imposed upon interstate air carriers does not actually cover an area now devoid of regulation, but results, at best, in duplicating regulation already imposed.

"In considering any regulation applicable to airlines, a state legislature must bear in mind that it is legislating, not merely for that particular state, but may be setting a pattern for regulation in many other states through which the airlines concerned operate. This being the case, the effect of any regulation must be judged as if it were to be applied individually by the regulative bodies of each state through which the airlines concerned operate. It is self-evident that a particular regulation which might not be burdensome if imposed upon an air carrier by only one state would, if repeated in 18 or 20 other states, soon become a burden which the air carrier would find it difficult to bear.

"It should always be kept in mind that because of the speed and long-range characteristics of airline operations, airlines operate in a great many more states than do surface carriers of corresponding size and strength. For example, statistics indicate that the large earning capacity of the Class I railroads is concentrated in a few states, while the relatively small earning capacity of the airlines is far more widespread. Consequently, any argument for state regulation of airlines based upon the contention that the railroads have been able to survive is not valid, because of the fundamental differences between these forms of transportation. It should be noted also that practically all intrastate traffic moves either by highway or rail; whereas the scheduled airlines are almost completely interstate carriers, state borders being crossed in a matter of minutes. In this connection the airline industry is comparable to the radio industry which is under the exclusive jurisdiction of the Federal Government through the Federal Communications Commission.

"In view of the above, it is the industry's position that the scheduled airlines operating in interstate and foreign commerce are comprehensively and in great detail regulated by the Federal Government; and that state regulation imposed upon such airlines does not cover an area now devoid of regulation, but results in duplicating regulation already imposed, the result of which is not to promote but to retard the development of sound economic conditions, in the scheduled air transport system.

Taxation

"The interstate air carriers recognize that they have obligations to the State of California and its municipalities; first, the obligation to pay fair and reasonable charges for the utilization of facilities provided by the municipalities, and second, the obligation to pay equitable taxes, for the privilege of doing business within the State.

"The State and the municipalities also have responsibilities. The municipality which collects its charges must guard against excessive charges. The State, when it collects its taxes, must make sure that they are equitable and fairly apportioned.

"Let us examine these obligations.

"An airplane operates principally in the air space. That operation, alone, adds nothing in the way of increased capital cost or maintenance to the state or municipal budget. The airways aids required in interstate commerce are provided principally by the Federal Government, in some part by the air carriers. Federal provision of airway aids is justified on the same premise which justifies the provision of maritime aids by the Federal Government; the welfare of those who travel or ship, and the public good which comes from a better system of transportation and communication. In any event, the cost of installing and maintaining the Federal Airways System is not of direct concern to the state or municipal governments.

"It is when the airplane comes in for landing that we make utilization of the facilities provided by the municipality, using at that time the landing field and taxiways for the fulfillment of a part of our responsibility to the public.

"Each user of a municipal airport should make some contribution toward the expense of providing and maintaining that airport. Some will fulfill their obligation by paying established landing fees, some through the profit on the fuel and lubricants sold to them by the municipal operator and others by the payment of taxes on the fuel which they consume in their airplanes. These charges, any and all of them, should be equitable and should conform to the relative use made of the airport.

"In the case of scheduled airlines you are able to measure their utilization of the airport with reasonable accuracy, for landings are made in accordance with predetermined schedules. For that reason, experience has dictated a standard of prorating charges to the air carriers on the landings accomplished each month. This landing fee is a charge for the privilege of using the runways, the taxiways and the loading and unloading areas, a charge designed to be fair and reasonable for the facilities required and the utilization of the buildings on the airport; it is for the use of the landing and loading area alone.

"If this landing charge is for the purpose of providing reasonable fees for the landing area utilization, then there should be no other charges for the same use; there should be no duplication of charges.

"This landing charge may vary from time to time; as the requirements of air transportation change, and thus require substantial changes in the facilities to be provided, it is fair that the parties shall consider changes in the charges to be made. In the case of cities served by the airlines in California there have already been adjustments of landing charges from time to time, and the advent of larger aircraft may well justify reexamination of the charges presently being paid. I am not familiar with the detail of all the charges but if they are not in keeping with the equity of the situation we will participate with the cities in their reexamination.

"We will want to pay our fair share of providing and maintaining the landing fields which we utilize in California. We should not pay more than our fair share and we should not be asked to contribute to the support of air fields which we do not use and have no intention of using. That, as a general policy, is understandable and, I believe, entirely tenable.

"We must remember that a busy airport is utilized by many operators of aircraft; by the Army, Navy, the airlines, by airplanes belonging to other corporations, by airplanes belonging to people who reside in the community and by those who are passing through the community. In the fixing of charges for the use of the airport it is essential that an analysis be made of the airport activity and that the necessary charges be distributed on the basis of relative use.

"With regard to the airport terminal building, it should be appropriate, I believe, that the occupants of this building pay rentals sufficient in amount to amortize the cost of the building over a reasonable period of time. This, of course, on the premise that all occupants of the building will pay rentals for the space which they occupy. It is further premised upon the assumption that the building in question has been sensibly designed for the purpose for which it is to be used and that the cost of construction has not been ill advised or wasteful.

"In the design of terminal buildings due consideration must be given to providing space for all potential revenue producing activities. This should include a good restaurant, sometimes a bar if local statutes will permit, a newspaper and magazine stand, sightseeing concessions and gift and novelty counters. Oftentimes, and especially in the larger cities, these concessions will bring in a substantial proportion of the revenue required for the maintenance and amortization of the building. An unusual opportunity should exist at the airports in California to sell at profit gifts and souvenirs indicative of this attractive section of the Country.

"In the past there has been a definite tendency on the part of the government agencies to exact free office space from the municipalities. In the early days, the Post Office Department was the great user of airport space, still is. It often insisted, and usually with success, that the space it required be provided by the city without charge. If that could not be accomplished, then the air carriers bore the burden of providing the space required for the field post office.

"This arrangement proved neither advantageous nor fair and I believe that the present policy of the Post Office Department is being shaped to seek funds with which to pay reasonable rental on space occupied in the airport building. The Post Office Department has taken the very sensible viewpoint that it does not expect the municipality to provide without charge the quarters at the downtown post office; why should it expect to receive free quarters from the city for the airport post office? This is a tendency in the right direction and I hope that this policy will be followed by other agencies of the government. It is a trend which the municipal authorities might well encourage.

"There may come a time when all of the space in the passenger terminal will be occupied by the air carriers or by concessionaires under their control, or by both. In such cases it may be advisable for the air carriers to erect and maintain their own terminal buildings at the airport.

This is a subject difficult to discuss in generality, for each location will present differences of requirement and differences of potentiality. For that reason, each location should be discussed on the basis of its individual merit and decision made on the basis of the facts in the case.

"Some, who have not accurately analyzed the problem, ask why the airlines should not also construct and operate their own airports. A good analogy is the operation of a coastal harbor and, on that basis, it is reasonable to ask why the harbor at New York is not constructed and operated by the steamship companies. In the first place, like a marine harbor, an airport is utilized by many craft other than those engaged in scheduled service. While it is sensible for the air carriers to pay their just proportion of the total cost of operating an airport, it is not just that they shall be required to operate an airport open to all comers—and what city of vision would want to be without an airport open for the use of all who have reason to utilize it? The operation of the principal airport of a city is vested with public interest, and the airport should be under municipal control. The reason for that is obvious.

"The air carriers have another obligation; that obligation being to pay taxes in each of the states in which they operate. They should pay taxes on the same basis, no more and no less, than comparable business institutions pay in the same state for the comparable privilege of doing business. Taxation, on the broad basis of principle, should be equitable and, further, no taxes should be assessed which result in duplication of charges already levied against the taxpayer in some other form. For instance you should not charge an air carrier a landing fee for the utilization of the landing area and at the same time assess against him taxes on aviation fuel for the same purpose.

The first of the taxes to consider is the ad valorem tax, assessed on the value of the property used within the state. This is usually taken as applying to property with situs in the state and it relates principally to buildings and other property firmly fixed to specific location. There is no difficulty in valuing the ordinary fixed property belonging to an air carrier. But the principal property of an air carrier is the aircraft fleet with which he operates his business and it is sometimes difficult to determine just where an airplane is located. Should the ad valorem tax on an airplane apply in the state in which the home office of the company is located, and only in that state; some still cling to that theory? Or should the airplane be assessed for the purpose of taxation in the state in which it is located on tax rendition day? That, too, would be difficult, for an airplane engaged in scheduled flight might well be in six or eight states during a 24-hour period. Or should the airplane be taxed in the state in which it usually spends the night? A large proportion of airline operation is conducted at night and a specific airplane might be crossing state borders at 300 miles an hour on the night in question.

"What is the most equitable method of assessing the ad valorem tax? The most equitable method, in our opinion, is to share among the states in which we operate the taxable value, and consequently the taxes, premised upon the relative division of our total operation among the different states.

"Under the present system of property taxation in California, the air transport industry is subject to taxation at the local level—by city and county assessors. Fixed property is assessed according to its obvious location. Movable property is allocated to various local jurisdictions in accordance with a plane hour or mileage formula.

"As in the case of every other owner of property in the limits of this State, the airlines annually file statements with local assessors disclosing their property holdings in the State. Local assessors then place their evaluation and in due course a rate is established and the airlines pay a property tax to the various counties and cities wherein they operate.

"Only two problems can arise in connection with the present method of handling airline property taxation: (1) Whether the local governments should continue to assess, and (2) The proper method of apportionment of movable property of the various airlines.

"In regard to No. 1, we do not believe it is the prerogative of the air transport industry to tell anyone at which level of government the authority to administer these taxes should be delegated.

"In regard to No. 2, it may be noted that under the existing law any administrator (at any level of government) can apply any apportionment theory that he cares to apply.

"Another form of taxation in California is the franchise and income tax, for corporations doing business in the State. We pay this tax now.

"The California Bank and Corporation Franchise Tax Act provides for a tax levy on corporations, 'doing local business,' in California for the privilege of exercising corporate franchises in the State measured by net income as defined by the act. Generally speaking, it is equivalent to net income as defined by the Federal Income Tax Law.

"Section 10 of the act provides that all corporations (domestic or foreign) which do business in and out of the State shall pay a tax measured only by the net income derived from California sources. This section delegates to the Franchise Tax Commissioner the responsibility for such determination and gives him a most flexible statute as a guide in allocation of California income. As a matter of administration, the commissioner applies the 'Massachusetts formula' (property, pay roll and gross receipts) to 99.9 percent of all corporations operating in California. (See statement of L. J. Batchelder of the Office of Franchise Tax Commissioners before the Interim Aviation Committee on Friday, July 19, 1946.)

"As a result of the decision of the United States Supreme Court in Northwest Airlines, Inc. v. Minnesota (1944) 322 U. S. 292, a number of investigations and studies have been made concerning the possibility of multiple taxation of airlines in the fields of property, franchise, income, and gross receipts taxes.

"The CAB rendered its report, which has been previously called to the attention of this committee, on April 3, 1945. Thereafter, four national tax associations considered the report: National Tax Association, National Association of Tax Administrators, North American Gasoline Tax Conference, and the National Association of Assessing Officials.

"The air transport industry has, for the past year, been jointly considering this problem with airline tax committees of the NTA and the NATA. These associations have not to this time agreed on any specific program.

"The closest approximation to the formulation of a program has been by the NATA. Their report of August 7, 1946, proposes that the states adopt a model bill. It is our understanding that certain members of the NATA have been assigned the responsibility of drafting a bill for consideration by the states.

"The air transport industry believes that it should be treated in the same manner for franchise tax purposes as any other industry operating within and without California. It does not believe that it should be segregated from other such businesses and subjected to a different and special type of allocation formula for franchise tax purposes. In fact, it is felt that there is no need for any legislation because under the broad, general language of Section 10 of the California Bank and Corporation Franchise Tax Act, the commissioner presently has the power to apply any allocation formula that he desires. This, of course, includes any formula that may have been proposed by any group studying the airline tax problem.

"This industry of air transportation has gone through some trying years, through a long and expensive formative period. During this period many of the air carriers lost a substantial proportion of their capital investment, operating airplanes without profit. Each has been no different from others in this respect; we operated in California for many years without assurance that we would for long have enough money to meet the bills. The trend in air transportation is toward better times, and I say trend advisedly, for the year of 1946 is going to be a skinny one. Even with the increased gross revenue of 1946 our profits will be substantially less than the profits for the year of 1945. But we look forward to better times and I hope that the year of 1947 will prove better than the year of 1946.

"In any event, during the formative years the Federal Government, the states and the municipalities were of great aid to air transportation, affording it the use of facilities at nominal cost, being reasonable about the assessment of taxes in an industry which had no profit and, generally, lending a helping hand to a business which showed promise of being of benefit to the community and worth saving. We hope that your faith in our business has been justified and you will find us ready to bear our fair share of the burdens which we, as citizens of the State, should share with you.

"We should not leave the subject of taxation without referring to aviation fuel taxation, for that is a matter under consideration in California. On the basis that all who utilize the airports should participate in providing funds for their installation and maintenance, there may be appropriate reason, in some instances, for the institution of a fuel tax. We believe, however, that the payment of landing fees for the use of the airport is the most sensible method of fixing airport charges for the scheduled airlines.

"If an airline pays landing fees for the utilization of the landing area, pays reasonable charges for the occupancy of buildings provided by the municipality, pays franchise and income taxes on the value of the property used in its operation, that enterprise has paid all of the charges and taxes levied against the usual business in the State and there is no logical reason or justification for levying a fuel tax on its aviation gasoline in addition thereto. For that reason, if aviation fuel taxes should ever be levied in the State of California, the tax should not apply to the scheduled air carriers.

"There are other serious defects in the taxing of fuel used by the airlines in flying across the country. In the first place the charges which you impose for the use of airports should bear direct relationship to the use made of the airports. There is not necessarily direct relationship when charges for airports are collected through aviation fuel taxes.

"Assume that we have a flight going from Los Angeles to Seattle and stopping at San Francisco for fuel. With aviation fuel taxation that flight might bear an inordinate charge for the single landing and takeoff. Twenty minutes later there might come in another flight, which also started in Los Angeles and was destined for Seattle, but not planning to refuel at San Francisco. The second flight, although making the same identical use of the airport, would bear no charge under the system of obtaining airport revenues from gasoline taxation.

"Again, assuming that you were scheduled to land only once in each of two states, one a long, skinny one and the other of more compact size. Should your tax be greatly increased in the first state, solely for reason of the shape of the state and the direction of your flight? That can easily happen under a system whereby the number of gallons of fuel taken aboard determines the amount of tax you should pay in the state. This is neither a fair nor a scientific method of calculating taxation. We would prefer to be charged, and we think that you would prefer to charge us for the use which we made of the facilities which you provide for our use on a landing fee basis.

"I am grateful for this privilege of discussing our mutual problems with you; they and their solution are of interest to you and to us. This industry which we represent is neither a wealthy one nor presently a prosperous one. The things which we can do are not unlimited but to the extent of our ability we want to be fair and to be helpful. Thank you for your consideration and I hope that we can continue to work together, for the good of aviation and for the good which air transportation can contribute to the welfare of California."

GUESTS EXTENDED PRIVILEGE OF ASSEMBLY FLOOR

On request of Mr. Debs, the privilege of the floor of the Assembly Chamber for this day was unanimously extended to Mrs. George Crosby Murray of Los Angeles.

House Resolution No. 14

Relative to an Assembly Investigating Committee on Fire Hazards

WHEREAS, Fires in hotels, rooming houses and apartments have taken an appalling number of lives in recent months; and

WHEREAS, It is essential, to avoid the recurrence of such disasters, that a study be made and legislation be enacted to provide higher standards of safety and more adequate fire-fighting equipment in hotels, rooming houses, and apartments;

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, As follows:

1. The Assembly Investigating Committee on Fire Hazards is hereby created and authorized and directed to ascertain, study and analyze all facts relating to the prevention and suppression of fires, in hotels, rooming houses, and apartments, and the establishment of adequate safety standards to prevent loss of lives in such fires, including but not limited to the operation, effect, administration, enforcement and needed revision of any and all laws in any way bearing upon or relating to the subject of this resolution, and to report thereon to the Assembly, including in the reports its recommendations for appropriate legislation.

2. The committee shall consist of three Members of the Assembly appointed by the Speaker. Vacancies occurring or existing in the membership of the committee shall be filled by the appointing power.

3. The committee is authorized to act during this session of the Legislature, including any recess, but not after final adjournment, with authority to file its final report not later than the fifteenth day of March, 1947.

4. The committee and its members shall have and exercise all of the rights, duties and powers conferred upon investigating committees and their members by the provisions of the Joint Rules of the Senate and Assembly and of the Standing Rules of the Assembly as they are adopted and amended from time to time, which provisions are incorporated herein and made applicable to this committee and its members.

Until the adoption of Joint Rules at this session, the Joint Rules of the last preceding regular session are incorporated herein and made applicable to this committee and its members.

5. The committee has the following additional powers and duties:

(a) To select a chairman and a vice chairman from its membership.

(b) To contract with such other agencies, public or private, as it deems necessary for the rendition and affording of such services, facilities, studies and reports to the committee as will best assist it to carry out the purposes for which it is created.

(c) To cooperate with and secure the cooperation of county, city, city and county, and other local law enforcement agencies in investigating any matter within the scope of this resolution and to direct the sheriff of any county to serve subpenas, orders and other process issued by the committee.

(d) To report its findings and recommendations to the Legislature and to the people from time to time and at any time, not later than the date of final adjournment.

(e) To do any and all other things necessary or convenient to enable it fully and adequately to exercise its powers, perform its duties, and accomplish the objects and purposes of this resolution.

6. The sum of five hundred dollars ($500) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby made available from the Contingent Fund of the Assembly for the expenses of the committee and its members and for any charges, expenses or claims it may incur under this resolution, to be paid from the said contingent fund and disbursed, after certification by the chairman of the committee, upon warrants drawn by the State Controller upon the State Treasurer.

Resolution read, as amended.

Opinion of Legislative Counsel

OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL
SACRAMENTO, January 28, 1947

Punishment for Second Escape from the California Vocational Institution Under Assembly Bill No 747—No. 2215

Honorable Vincent Thomas
Assembly Chamber

Question

DEAR MR THOMAS: You have asked us, assuming that Assembly Bill No. 747 is enacted as introduced, what the punishment will be for a second escape, or attempted escape, from the California Vocational Institution

Assembly Bill No. 747 adds Section 2042 to the Penal Code, to read:

"2042. Every person confined in the California Vocational Institution who escapes or attempts to escape therefrom is guilty of a felony."

Penal Code Sections 18 and 18a prescribe a punishment of imprisonment in a state prison not exceeding five years and not less than six months, respectively, for offenses declared to be felonies, except in cases where a different punishment, or a different minimum punishment is prescribed by law.

However, subdivision (a) of Section 644 of the Penal Code provides that every person convicted in this State of certain enumerated crimes, including "escape from a state prison by use of force or dangerous or deadly weapons" who has been previously twice convicted upon separate charges of, and has served separate terms "in any state prison and/or federal penal institution" for, certain enumerated crimes, including "escape from a state prison" shall be adjudged an habitual criminal and shall be punished by imprisonment in the state prison for life Subdivision (c) of Pen. C. 644 make similar provision concerning persons three times similarly convicted. Subdivision (d) permits the court, in exceptional cases, not later than 60 days after the commencement of the imprisonment, to provide that the defendant is not an habitual criminal, and in that case the defendant is not subject to the provisions of Section 644.

It should be noted that the penalty of life imprisonment attaches to the third offense of which the person is convicted (i.e., he must have been twice previously convicted of one of the enumerated offenses), and that, with reference to escapes from the California Vocational Institution, the offense enumerated is not only escape from a state prison, but also "by use of force or dangerous or deadly weapons."

The persons confined in the California Vocational Institution are, under Pen. C 2037, persons subject to the custody, control, and discipline of the Director of Corrections or the Youth Authority, and hence, with the exception of juvenile court commitments under subdivision (e) of Welfare and Institutions Code Section 740, they are persons already convicted of crime (see W. & I. C. 1731 5 and Pen. C. 1202a). Assuming that the crime of which such a person was originally convicted was one of the crimes enumerated in Pen C. 644 and that his second escape from the California Vocational Institution was by use of force or dangerous or deadly weapons so as to bring him within the terms of Section 644, whether or not he is punishable under that section depends upon whether or not the California Vocational Institution is "a state prison" within the meaning of that term as used in the three places where it appears in subdivision (a) of Penal Code Section 644

Opinion

If Assembly Bill No 747 is enacted as introduced, we believe that a second escape from the California Vocational Institution by a person transferred thereto by the Adult Authority would be punishable by imprisonment for life under Penal Code Section 644 in a case within the terms of that section, but that a second escape therefrom by a person transferred thereto by the Youth Authority after commitment to the authority by a juvenile court could not be punishable under that section, but would be punishable by not more than five years imprisonment As to persons transferred by the Youth Authority other than those committed to the authority by the juvenile court, the law is uncertain, but we incline to the view that they also would not be punishable under Penal Code Section 644.

Analysis

The California Vocational Institution is established pursuant to Sections 2035 to 2041, inclusive, of the Penal Code, as added thereto by Chapter 1454 of the Statutes of 1945. Although these sections are placed in the portion of the code dealing with prisons and prisoners, the establishment is consistently referred to as an "institution," and the word prison is nowhere applied to it.

Section 2037 provides that whenever by reason of any law governing the commitment of a person to the Youth Authority or to an institution under its jurisdiction the person is deemed not to be a person convicted of crime (see W. & I. C. 736, providing that an order adjudging a person to be a ward of the juvenile court shall not be deemed to be a conviction of crime), the placement of person in the vocational institution shall not affect his status or rights, and shall not be deemed a conviction of crime. On the other hand, Section 2037 expressly provides that Section 644 of the Penal Code shall apply to a person who has served a term in the vocational institution after transfer thereto by the Adult Authority.

Thus it appears to be the legislative intention that as to persons placed in the vocational institution by the Adult Authority, a person who has served a term in the institution is a person who has served a term "in any state prison." When reference is made in that same section to escape from "state prison" the identical words would appear to have the same meaning, and "escape from a state prison" to include escape from the vocational institution.

The fact that the vocational institution is not designated as a "prison" in sections governing it is not determining. In holding that a term served in a federal "reformatory" was a term served in a federal "penitentiary" within the meaning of Penal Code Section 644 (prior to the 1945 amendment) the Supreme Court of California said:

"Rather it is the character of the institution and its inmates together with the nature of the proceedings leading to confinement therein which determine its status in relation to the language of the code section under consideration." (In re Gilliam (1945), 26 C. 2d 860, 863; see also In re Loncaric (1945) 71 C. A. 2d 144, 145).

As to persons transferred to the vocational institution by the Adult Authority from state prisons, by this test the vocational institution seems clearly a prison. However, as to persons transferred thereto by the Youth Authority, to which young persons are committed in lieu of imprisonment in prison or in county jails, by this test the vocational institution is not a prison, but a facility for correction and rehabilitation of youthful offenders, similar in nature to the "educational institutions" "established and maintained in the State as correctional schools for the reception of wards of the juvenile court and other persons committed to the Youth Authority." (See W. & I. C. 1000).

Summary

To summarize: If Assembly Bill No. 747 is enacted, we believe that a second escape from the California Vocational Institution will be punishable by imprisonment for not more than five years, except in the case of persons transferred to the vocational institution by the Adult Authority who (1) were originally convicted of a crime enumerated in subdivision (a) of Penal Code Section 644, (2) escape by use of force or dangerous or deadly weapons, and (3) otherwise come within all the terms of Section 644.

Very truly yours,

FRED B. WOOD, Legislative Counsel

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT TO PRINT STATEMENT IN JOURNAL

Mr. Gaffney asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent that the following statement be ordered printed in the Journal:

Statement by Mr. Gaffney

Mr. Speaker and Members of the Assembly

I hope the few words I would like to say in support of this resolution may not be deemed impertinent in view of the appreciation of the life and reverence for the memory of Franklin Delano Roosevelt we all hold in common.

Franklin Delano Roosevelt was born January 30, 1882, and in the brief span of 63 years he left the impress of his character on the annals of history for all time.

Humanitarian—Warrior—Statesman—
Gentle in his solicitude for children and the poor—
Gallant battler against tyranny and wrong—
Wise captain of our ship of state through calm seas and storms of over 12 years.

May God reward him the company of Washington and Lincoln and may we ever hold him in the same reverence—first in war—first in peace—and first in the hearts of his countrymen.

CONSIDERATION OF HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 46

House Resolution No. 46

Relative to the creation of the Assembly Committee on Migratory Wild Fowl

WHEREAS, The migration of wild ducks and geese in the Pacific flyway is being reduced at an alarming rate; and

WHEREAS, This reduced flight has been caused to a material extent by drainage of swamp and overflow land; and

WHEREAS, The present drainage of Tulare Lake in Kings County and Summit Lake in Kern County and the erecting of Pineflat Dam in Kings River for agricultural purposes will create a serious problem in the preservation of migratory wild fowl; and

WHEREAS, It is essential that migratory wild game should have sufficient watering and resting places in the area now being drained in the southern San Joaquin Valley south of the San Joaquin River, before making their flight across the mountains into Southern California to their winter resting grounds; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, As follows:

1 The Assembly Committee on Migratory Water Fowl is hereby created and authorized and directed to ascertain, study and analyze facts relating to the drainage of Tulare Lake in Kings County and Summit Lake in Kern County, and the erection of the Pineflat Dam in Kings River as they affect migratory wild fowl, and what steps, if any, should be taken to maintain watering and resting places within the southern San Joaquin Valley south of the San Joaquin River for the preservation of migratory wild fowl including but not limited to the operation, effect, administration, enforcement and needed revision of any and all laws in any way bearing upon or relating to the subject of this resolution, and to report thereon to the Assembly, including in the reports its recommendations for appropriate legislation

2. The committee shall consist of three Members of the Assembly appointed by the Speaker thereof. Vacancies occurring or existing in the membership of the committee shall be filled by the appointing power.

3. The committee is authorized to act during this session of the Legislature, including any recess, with authority to file its final report not later than the tenth legislative day after the end of the constitutional recess.

4. The committee and its members shall have and exercise all of the rights, duties and powers conferred upon investigating committees and their members by the provisions of the Joint Rules of the Senate and Assembly and of the Standing Rules of the Assembly as they are adopted and amended from time to time, which provisions are incorporated herein and made applicable to this committee and its members.

5. The committee has the following additional powers and duties:

(a) To select a chairman and a vice chairman from its membership.

(b) To contract with such other agencies, public or private, as it deems necessary for the rendition and affording of such services, facilities, studies and reports to the committee as will best assist it to carry out the purposes for which it is created.

(c) To cooperate with and secure the cooperation of county, city, city and county, and other local law enforcement agencies in investigating any matter within the scope of this resolution and to direct the sheriff of any county to serve subpenas, orders and other process issued by the committee.

(d) To report its findings and recommendations to the Legislature and to the people from time to time and at any time, not later than herein provided.

(e) To do any and all other things necessary or convenient to enable it fully and adequately to exercise its powers, perform its duties, and accomplish the objects and purposes of this resolution.

6. The sum of one thousand dollars ($1,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby made available from the Contingent Fund of the Assembly for the expenses of the committee and its members and for any charges, expenses or claims it may incur under this resolution, to be paid from the said contingent fund and disbursed, after certification by the chairman of the committee, upon warrants drawn by the State Controller upon the State Treasurer.

REPORT OF THE ASSEMBLY INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE ON EXHIBITIONS AND FAIRS

Letter of Transmittal

MR. SPEAKER: Your Committee on Exhibitions and Fairs, appointed pursuant to House Resolution No. 46 at the Fifty-sixth Session of the California State Legislature, herewith makes its report.

We trust that the satisfaction derived by the members of this committee in conducting the investigations reflected in this report will be matched by its value to the Governor, the Legislature, state departments, fair management and the people who are interested in the continued success and service of our fairs and exhibitions.

Respectfully,

JACOB M. LEONARD, Chairman

Members

ERNEST R. GEDDES

DWIGHT H. STEPHENSON

INTRODUCTION

On June 15, 1946, the Assembly adopted House Resolution No. 46 whereby the Assembly Investigating Committee on Exhibitions and Fairs was created and appointed and authorized to make certain investigations and file its report.

During the Fifty-sixth Session of the Legislature, no less than 17 bills were introduced having to do with fairs and exhibitions or allocation of funds derived from horse racing. Of these, 13 were passed by both Senate and the Assembly and 11 became law while four failed of enactment

The Journals of the session show that in most instances these measures were many times amended and subject to considerable debate both in committee and on the floor. As is usual in the history pertaining to most legislation many of the amendments were of a technical nature and introduced to clarify the law while others were the result of efforts to obtain for certain districts benefits in equality with other districts. But the fact was soon apparent to a majority of the membership that the effect of the war effort on the programs of the various agricultural and district fairs of the State as well as on the State Fair had resulted in a curtailment of many fair programs and suspension of others. It was also increasingly evident that the Legislature as of 1945 numbered many members unacquainted with the state policy in regard to our agricultural exhibitions and that we were becoming increasingly nonconversant with the broad and somewhat complicated fair program, its purposes and its problems.

Some who had previous experience with the problem were aware that of the many members of county fair and district agricultural association boards of directors relatively few had any previous experience in fair management. Personnel, whether secretaries and managers or other employees of fair associations, were in the same category and among the few remaining, their experience was in a rapidly receding past. (Only eight fair managers in 1946 had five or more years of experience.)

Another complicating factor was that the grounds and facilities of numerous fairs were occupied by the armed forces. Indeed, as this is written, not all grounds have been turned back by the armed forces.

The attention of the Legislature was suddenly focused on these problems when the victory of the Allied Forces in Europe was announced shortly before the end of the session and we looked forward with reasonable certainty to an early termination of hostilities in the Pacific. This has since come to pass and the problems of our fairs and exhibitions in a postwar era are problems which must now and presently be solved.

Based on a realization of the factors just stated, and in anticipation of the responsibility with which this session of the Legislature is faced, House Resolution No. 46, creating this committee was introduced and adopted. Two thousand dollars was made available and an additional $2,000 in the 1946 Special Session, and with this moderate sum the members of the committee have carried on.

Instead of junkets and out-of-state travel various members of the committee have personally attended such fairs as have operated during 1946 and have surveyed the plants of numerous others. We have also been in close contact with the Director of Finance in whose department the Division of Expositions and Fairs operates and have attended as guests and observers meetings of the Western Fair Association and the State Agricultural Society.

All of these contacts have given the committee a broader conception of the value to our economy of our fairs as well as a better understanding of the many problems involved in their support and operation and an appreciation of the work of the several state agencies charged with various functions in connection with the program.

A desirable end would be accomplished if this report could be made effective as a handbook to fair operation. While this is not possible, especially in view of the fact that we are in a period of transition, it has been our endeavor to set down much that has never before, to our knowledge, been collected and published. We have used sources believed by us to be accurate and the historical matter is presented subject to verification and proof by parties who have valid records which have not heretofore been available to this committee.

The factual and statistical data is from tabulations made by the Department of Finance or other agencies expressly for this committee or submitted as reports or estimates on other occasions. Since these are, of necessity, as of different dates there may be in some instances discrepancies between amounts shown then and those which may obtain as of this date. However, all possible corrections have been made in view of the fact that much of this work has been performed in sequence and no great good is to be obtained by delaying its publication pending a final check to bring all amounts forward to a later date than the one given in each table.

The conclusions and recommendations made by the committee are those of a small group of your fellow legislators who have been assigned an important task and have approached it honestly and open mindedly and made their recommendations after having gained some insight into the problems. It is not our purpose to put any individual or association on the spot. But, where we are of the opinion that certain practices if continued will work harm to the entire fair program, we do not hesitate to call attention to the matter in order that the Legislature may adopt a policy that shall govern in the future.

Referring to H. R. 46, we read, "* * * Some of the more pressing problems, as reflected in proposals for legislation are:

(1) The increase in the number of county and district fairs;
(2) The administration of county and district fairs, and the selection and qualification of directors of district agricultural associations;
(3) The extent to which moneys should be granted to fairs for permanent improvements, and the purposes for which such money should be expended;
(4) The administration of the auditing of fairs, and the distribution of moneys by the Department of Finance."

Also, in a subsequent paragraph of the resolution we are charged to: "Study and analyze all facts relating to the manner and purpose for which license fees from horse racing and wagering on the results thereof are administered and expended and the type of long range program desirable for the administration and expenditures of such moneys in the best interests of the State, * * *."

Closely related to the matter of derivation and expenditure of the money pouring into the State Treasury from license fees from horse racing and wagering on the results thereof are the problems of several of our most important educational projects as agencies dedicated to research and the encouragement of agriculture.

These form a topic for discussion by themselves but are, nevertheless, closely associated in many ways with the broad program which is the basis of most of this report.

EDUCATION, ENCOURAGEMENT OF AGRICULTURE AND THE INCREASE IN THE NUMBER OF CALIFORNIA FAIRS

When, in the general election of 1933, the people ratified the "Horse-Racing Act" legalizing pari-mutuel wagering on the outcome of horse races held in accordance with rules and regulations established by law and administered by the California State Horse Racing Board a great impetus was given the county fairs, district agricultural society fairs, and citrus fairs as well as the educational projects designated by the Legislature to receive support from the Horse Racing Fund.

We shall trace the use of the funds allocated to education and the encouragement of agriculture in a subsequent section of this report but in this section treat of the more closely related subject of the growth in the number of fairs in California from the early days to the present.

In touching upon the subject of this growth it should at once be made clear that Previous to the date of enactment of the revenue producing statute, fairs struggled along as best they might. Some fairs were successful, some failed but all were the result of a great deal of applied energy and enthusiasm at the local level and a good example of the results of individual initiative A few fairs which had grown to some importance, both in size and influence, were able to obtain state aid and encouragement but, since the appropriations, if any, were made from the General Fund, their security existed from one session of the Legislature to another and the amount of funds which they might reasonably expect to receive was largely dependent on the current state of the General Fund and other demands upon it. Perhaps an exception is the California State Fair operated by the California State Agricultural Society which, as an established state agency, was always pretty much in the picture since the year 1854 when the first appropriations were made to it and the year 1880 when the Legislature declared the California State Agricultural Society to be an agency of the State.

With a fund dedicated to the support of fairs, it was natural that a great number of new fairs should come into being and a number of fairs which had previously suspended resume operations.

Therefore, in recent years and notwithstanding the difficulties imposed by the world conflict just ended, there has been a great increase in the number of fairs.

Before proceeding with the discussion, the difference between the various classifications of fairs should be clarified.

District Agricultural Association Fairs

Under the present statutes[1] a district agricultural association is an association formed by 50 or more persons, residents of the county or all of the counties or parts of counties comprising an agricultural district for the purpose of holding fairs, expositions and exhibitions of all the industries and industrial enterprises, resources and products of every kind or nature of the State with a view of improving, exploiting, encouraging, and stimulating the same.

The officers of such an association consist of eight directors, resident citizens of the district, appointed by the Governor. Such directors are state officers and shall yearly elect one of their number president, to hold office for one year or until his successor is elected, and the directors are also required to elect a secretary and treasurer or secretary-treasurer not of their number.

Each district agricultural association is a state institution and as such granted certain powers as well as subjected to certain restrictions and obligations.

The State Agricultural Society[2] is a state institution with a board of directors consisting of 14 members appointed by the Governor. Two of the directors must be members of the boards of directors of county fairs or an agricultural district but both may not be members of the same board. The terms of office for the directors are also for four years. Thus it is seen that the State Agricultural Society is analogous to a district agricultural association on a state-wide basis.

County Fairs

County fairs and district fairs, although differing in their operational set-up, are on the same level as far as apportionment of state funds is concerned. County fairs, however, are under the direct control of the county boards of supervisors, acting generally through nonprofit associations charged with the conduct of the fair.

Citrus Fruit Fairs

Citrus fruit fairs in 1935 were declared by the Legislature to be fairs and associations within the meaning of Article 1 of Chapter 3 of the Agricultural Code. Here we have an example of projects carried on by private enterprise and initiative as nonprofit associations dedicated to the improvement of the citrus industry becoming state instrumentalities on an equal basis with other fairs but, under the present law, no increase in the number of citrus fruit fairs is to be expected since it is declared that a necessary qualification is that such fairs must have been carried on for not less than 20 consecutive years for periods of not less than 10 days nor more than 15 days each year.

Under the part of this report entitled "History of California Fairs" appear such condensed histories, of each presently existing fair as it has been possible to obtain, together with other statistical data pertinent to this report.

Increase in the Number of Fairs

The first action by the Legislature authorizing the formation of agricultural societies to promote and encourage agriculture, mechanics, manufactures and home industry is to be found, as far as this committee is aware, in Chapter 110, Statutes of 1859. However, the participation by the State in the financing of fairs held by such societies did not occur until 1861,[1] when $5,300 was appropriated to eight district and county agricultural and mechanical societies. Indeed, prior to this date, the only action touching on the financial problems involved in the conduct of fairs and expositions was the authorization granted the City of Marysville to hold an election on levying a tax for the benefit of the Agricultural, Horticultural and Mechanical Society of the Northern District of California in the year 1861 and the year previous authority was granted the supervisors of Contra Costa County to appropriate $250 for premiums to the Contra Costa County Agricultural Society.

[1] California Agricultural Code Chapter 3, Article 1, Section 81.
[2] See Agricultural Code, Chap 3, Art 1, Sec 70 and following.

Like action was taken in 1862 whereby the supervisors of San Joaquin County were authorized to appropriate $1,000 for premiums of the San Joaquin Valley Agricultural Society. The next year this society entered on a larger and more ambitious program and we find record of legislation authorizing the supervisors of the county to issue $20,000 of bonds, the society to deed its property in trust as security and also an appropriation of $1,000 a year for two years by the supervisors for premiums.

By 1865, the San Joaquin County Board of Supervisors found it necessary to provide for the obligations of the San Joaquin Valley Agricultural Society and the Legislature authorized an election proposal to levy a tax of from 25 to 30 cents per $100 valuation to pay these obligations.

The General Appropriation Act of 1863 appropriated $2,000 to each of five named district agricultural societies and $500 to each county agricultural society; and in the wording of the statute, there is a differentiation between the district society and the county society.

Chapter 301, Statutes of 1863, authorized the Board of Supervisors of San Joaquin County to appropriate $1,000 a year for two years for premiums of San Joaquin Valley Agricultural Association Fair at Stockton

Sections of the Civil Code, 620, 621, and 622, enacted in 1872, authorized formation of agricultural fair corporations and the Statutes of 1880, Chapter 69, provided for "agricultural districts and associations" and the State was divided into 12 districts. Provisions for directors appointed by the Governor, their terms of office and authorization of districts to hold fairs were quite similar to the present law.

The State's interest in the development and encouragement of fairs was now clearly expressed and an increase in the number of district agricultural associations is to be noted in the various general appropriation acts for the ensuing bienniums.

We have stated above that in 1880 the State was divided into 12 agricultural districts. In 1883, the act was amended to provide 13 such districts. Other changes in the number of districts may be noted from the general appropriation acts from 1883 forward. The growth in the number may be conveniently stated according to the following tabulation:

The increase in the number of county fairs as differentiated from Agricultural District Fairs is not so easy to determine for the years prior to 1921 when, by Chapter 717 of the Statutes for that year, $50,000 was appropriated for premium at county fairs. This money was to be apportioned by the State Board of Control on the basis of premiums paid in preceding years. Only one allotment for a fair in one year might be made and counties could join together for the conduct of a joint fair.

Under like provisions appropriations were made in 1923 and 1925, and, in 1927, the Department of Finance was charged with making allocations while the Statutes of 1929 established the Division of Fairs and Exhibits in the Department of Finance. Under this act[1], the department succeeded to the powers of the State Agricultural Society and district agricultural associations organized under the 1909 act[2]. By virtue of this legislation the old Board of Agriculture became the Directors of the State Agricultural Society and a new Board of Agriculture was created to advise the Director of Agriculture.

The Horse Racing Act, adopted in 1933 left the allocation of funds for fairs in the hands of the Department of Finance but, for the first time, established the complicated formula method for the allocation of money derived from the track operations In this year, $20,000 was first appropriated to the Horse Racing Board; and of the balance, $100,000 went to the State Fair, 5 percent to citrus fairs and 40 percent to county, district or combined county and district fairs.

(NOTE: It was provided that if the 40 percent fell below 60 percent of what it was in 1935 in future years, the basis of the 1933 act was to be used, and also that no fair might receive more than $40,000 maximum for one year.)

[2] Statutes, 1909, Chapter 648, page 979

The Horse Racing Act has since been amended in subsequent years as follows:

In 1935:	Horse Racing Board	$20,000
	California State Fair	125,000
	Los Angeles County Fair	125,000
	6th District Agricultural Association	15,000
	Total fixed appropriations to fairs	$285,000
	Of the first balance remaining	Percent
	To citrus fairs	.05
	To other fairs	40
In 1937:	Horse Racing Board	30,000
	Department of Finance	10,000
	California State Fair	125,000
	Los Angeles County Fair	125,000
	6th District Agricultural Association	15,000
	Total fixed appropriations	$305,000
	Of the first balance remaining:	Percent
	To citrus fairs	.05
	To other fairs	40
	With maximum amount to any one fair limited to $65,000 instead of $40,000

In 1941: The above formula was used except that the 1-A Agricultural District came into the picture for $100,000, of which not less than $55,000 was for premiums. It was provided that this money should come from the appropriation for fairs from the Fair and Exposition Fund for permanent improvements.

The appropriation to the Horse Racing Board was also increased to $75,000 per year, that to the Department of Finance to $30,000 while a maximum as to the amount which citrus fairs might receive was declared to be $100,000 for such fairs held in counties of over 160,000 population and $5,000 for fairs held in counties with a population less than that figure.

In 1945: The 1-A Agricultural District allocation was set at $100,000 and it also became one of the participating fairs with a first claim on the Fair and Exposition Fund along with the previously declared fairs and state agencies.

Each year the picture has grown more complicated and the Department of Finance has been charged with the control and administration of the Horse Racing Fund.

What has been presented immediately preceding relates to the fair and exposition program only; in the tabulations which appear elsewhere in this report will be found other agencies and institutions sharing in the appropriations and allocations.

STATE AID TO FAIRS, AND ADMINISTRATIVE CONTROLS

As has been previously stated the State has consistently assisted the State Fair and the State Agricultural Society. This has not been true as to the local fairs. We have noted the increase in the number of agricultural associations and county fairs since the year 1880 and a survey of fiscal measures during the same period also discloses a constantly increasing amount of money appropriated to such fairs. Governor Budd's vetoes of such appropriations in 1895 and 1897 caused a temporary halt but appropriations of somewhat smaller amounts were made up to 1903.

In 1903 appropriations for district agricultural associations disappeared from the general appropriation acts. Since 1909 the Los Angeles Exposition and the Sixth District Association has been assisted consistently. Appropriations for other districts became rare. After 1921 appropriations for county agricultural fairs became quite usual, and in 1933 the Horse Racing Act was adopted. Since 1933 the counties and districts have received allocations from the money derived from horse racing which is placed in the Fair and Exposition Fund and here it may be noted that although there have been various changes in the amounts from year to year the principle of making allocations on a formula basis has been adhered to. This is in accord with the declared purpose of the act of 1933, ratified by the people, which dedicated the use of such funds to the encouragement of agriculture, relief and education—a matter not to be lost sight of when proposals are made to change the basis of allocations or divert a portion of the funds to other purposes.

Quoting a review of the matter, made for this committee by the Office of the Legislative Counsel by Joseph W. Paulucci, Deputy, we read:

> "This history may indicate that there is an established legislative policy of assisting the State Fair and the Sixth District's Exposition, which is an exhibition of all the resources of all of the State, while the legislative policy in relation to purely local fairs has not been so consistent throughout the years.
> "It may also be noted that the formula of allocating the horse racing money to local fairs has not been drastically changed since the original horse racing act was enacted in 1933. Whether or not the Legislature would have directly appropriated similar amounts to such fairs in the years since 1933 is problematical, especially in view of the State's financial condition in the 1930's. This may indicate that the formula method of allocation from a special fund would, over the years, provide somewhat more assurance of state assistance to the local fairs.
> "On the other hand, when appropriations are made to such fairs on the formula basis the fact that considerable amounts of state money are being expended for such purposes is not brought so directly and forcibly to the attention of each succeeding Legislature as it would be if the appropriations were made directly by each Legislature.
> "This situation is common to all continuing appropriations and is not unique to those for fairs. We do not mean to suggest that there is anything here that needs correction, but simply to point out in such a situation a certain amount of immediate and direct control is lost."

This committee would be blind indeed if it anticipated that in those demands for additional funds, not only from state agencies but from counties and municipalities as well, which confront us today that there would be much time lost by those interested in pointing out the considerable amount of unexpended funds in the Fair and Exposition Fund and the sizeable revenues which may be confidently expected to accrue within the next few years, using the past as a chart. Rather we feel that the issue should be met squarely. If the Legislature does not feel that our fairs and expositions contribute or can contribute enough to our economy then, of course, the Legislature will act rightly in considering to what other uses the money derived from horse racing may be put. But we are hopeful that in these pages we can point out enough of value in our fairs, and that our fellow legislators of their own knowledge and experience gained through personal contact with the fairs in their own districts will agree; that there should be no present curtailment in our fair program and, indeed, that it should be augmented until each fair is ready both in its organization and the development of its physical plant and properties to face the day when state funds are not provided on so generous a scale as at present.

Realistically, of course, we must admit that those fairs which prove themselves unable to give a good accounting of their stewardship shall be eliminated from the list of recipients of the state's generosity and those which demonstrate that they are able to perform a worthwhile service shall be rewarded and continued. No one, we are sure, will quarrel with this statement—yet to put such a plan into operation requires several devices. One of these devices is a unit of measurement which tells the story on each individual enterprise—not primarily by comparison with other fairs, for some have little and others have much with which to work, but on what is accomplished for agriculture and for the people in the district where they are located. Another device is an adequate control by the proper state agency of the methods of operation of our fairs, restraints on the misuse of funds and guarding against practices not calculated to redound to the prestige of the fair or which result in waste of the funds which are, in fact, public money. There has been nothing in the experience of this committee which indicates that the Division of Fairs and Expositions within the Department of Finance is not capable of doing this important piece of work by augmenting the staff and allowing broad general powers subject to legislative review.

Emphatically this does not mean that we are advocating a centralization of the fair and exposition program in this State but, on the contrary, since the fundamental worth and success of a fair is a reflection of the amount of work and interest on the local level everything must be done to preserve the local powers and encourage and recognize successful performance and merely establish safeguards and counsel.

While we may agree on the desirability of such an objective a study of the division's position in regards to the various classifications of fairs and expositions make it clear that we must either put all such enterprises receiving allocations from the fund on the same basis as regards controls by the Department of Finance and the Division of Fairs and Expositions or must find sound reasons why some should be subject to full control and others to little if no control. These considerations will be taken up later while here we endeavor to give a clear picture of the complicated formula by which allocations are now made from the Fair and Exposition Fund which is fed by a major portion of the license fees derived from race meets.

The accompanying chart illustrates in graphic form the revenues accruing to the Fair and Exposition Fund in the past 14 years since the enactment of the Horse Racing Act. The chart is supported by the table which follows; showing not only the revenue derived but the total amount of money wagered by race fans, the various deductions going to other purposes and the amount returned to the public directly at the pari-mutuel windows.

* Red figures.
[a] The 1946 fall meet at Bay Meadows is not included in these figures.

It will be noted in the foregoing that, since the year 1942, the General Fund has received considerable revenue from increased license rates imposed as an additional 1 percent over the 4 percent when the pools at individual tracks exceed the $10,000,000-mark. An additional 1 percent is collected at $20,000,000 and over. Of the license fees thus collected 4 percent goes to the Fair and Exposition Fund and the balance to the General Fund. As this is written, reports from eastern tracks indicate that wagering is falling off by one-tenth from the high figures obtained during the lush days immediately after the war, some reflection of this trend is made elsewhere in making estimates of future revenues. Just what is the future of horse racing in California cannot be forecast with certainty.

It may increase beyond the high level established in the past two years but it is just as reasonable to assume that a general business recession or a tightening of the economic condition of the State may result in a falling away.

If there is to be an increase in the amount of money the people will wager on horse racing for any considerable number of years then almost any program of support might be geared to such revenue as is derived from license of the sport. But, in the opinion of this committee, it is a sounder procedure to regard the future in the light of the past and to forecast what results might obtain if history repeated itself and we had at the disposal of the Legislature only such funds as are equal to those accruing to the Fair and Exposition Fund during the years immediately preceding the onset of the late world conflict.

Therefore we present a measurement of the allocation of the money in the Fair and Exposition Fund at various levels of total revenue in it and using as a formula that which was currently effective for the 97th Fiscal Year. Therefore the allocations are calculated in accordance with the following formula in which we have rounded the figures pertaining to the California Horse Racing Board and the Division of Fairs and Expositions in order to make for greater ease in drawing the charts which follow.

Formula Under Which Distribution of the Revenue Is Now Made

From the total available for allocation (4 percent of pari-mutuel pools) the following fixed annual appropriations are made:

California Horse Racing Board	$69,000
Division of Fairs and Expositions	21,000
State Agricultural Society
Support—California State Fair	125,000
Support—Junior Fair	15,000
Los Angeles County Fair	125,000
1-A District Agricultural Association	100,000
6th District Agricultural Association	15,000
Total fixed annual appropriations	$470,000

After making the above allocations to determine the First Balance the following allocations are made:

5 percent of first balance to citrus fairs but not to exceed a total of ... $105,000

40 percent of first balance to district and county agricultural fairs.

The second balance is the amount remaining after the two preceding allocations are deducted.

Distribution of the Second Balance:
25 percent for California Polytechnic School
33 percent for University of California
42 percent for capital outlay of state, county, district and citrus agricultural fairs.

NOTE: The second balance is increased by such amount as 5 percent of the first balance exceeds the $105,000 limit which may be allocated to citrus fairs by provisions of the statutes

The above formula is complicated enough but, when compared with those of earlier years, it is seen to represent efforts made at various times to provide some equitable method of distribution of the funds among such institutions as the Legislature felt were entitled to benefit. For other exceptions and diversions of the funds the 1945 Statutes should be studied (Chapters 644 and 1248). However, we have omitted these from the illustrations which follow in order not to further complicate the picture.

First, assuming $3,000,000 in the Fair and Exposition Fund let the above formula of distribution be applied.

Application of the Formula

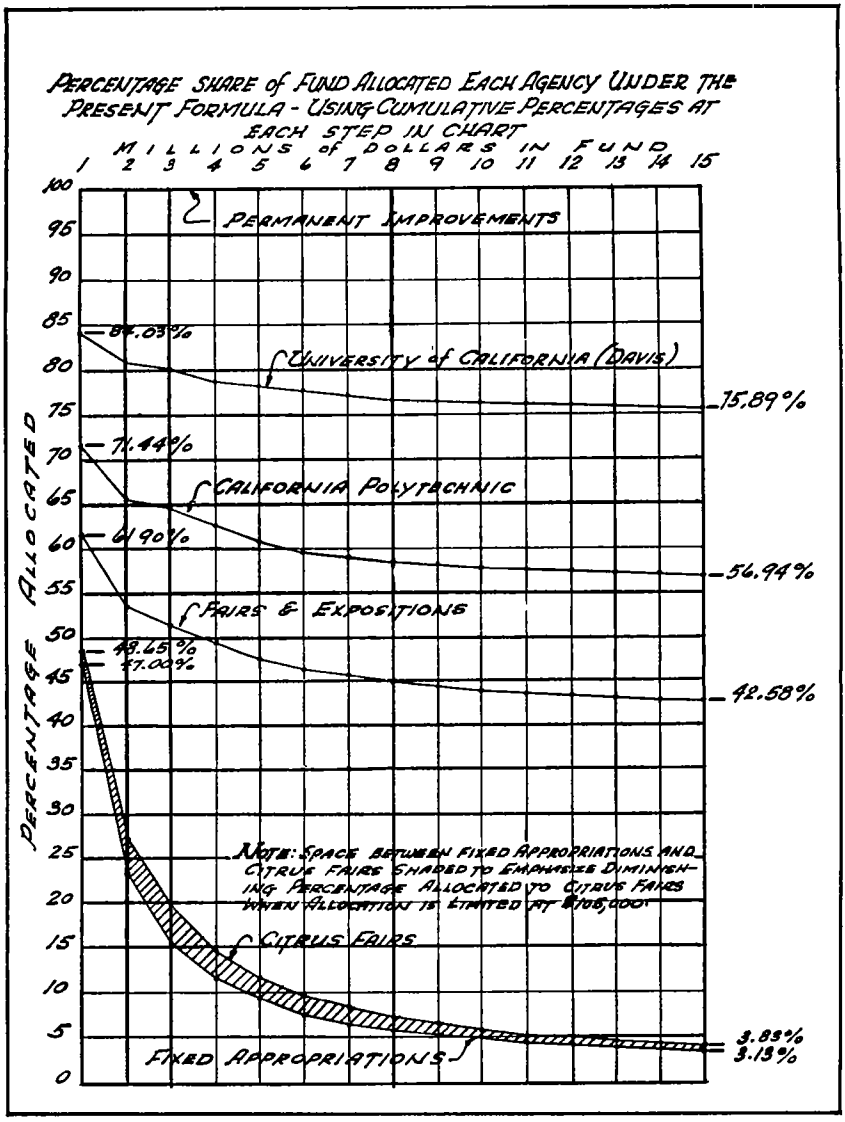
Total available for distribution (assumed to be)			$3,000,000
Less total of fixed annual appropriations (See above)
California Horse Racing Board		$69,000
Division of Fairs and Expositions		21,000
State Agricultural Society
Support—California State Fair		125,000
Support—Junior Agricultural Fair		15,000
Los Angeles County Fair		125,000
1-A District Agricultural Association		100,000
6th District Agricultural Association		15,000
Total fixed annual appropriations			470,000
First Balance			$2,530,000
5 percent to citrus fairs	$126,500
Amount over allowed (1) limit to citrus fairs	21,500
Paid to citrus fairs		105,000
40 percent to district and county agricultural fairs		1,012,000
Total allocations to fairs			1,117,000
Second Balance			$1,313,000
25 percent to California Polytechnic School		328,250
33 percent to University of California		433,290
42 percent for capital outlay of fairs		761,540
Total allocations from second balance			1,313,000
Add for capital outlay for fairs (1) above			21,500

In considering the various fixed annual appropriations it is reasonable to assume that the Legislature recognized that the state agencies charged with the administration of the several acts effective should have their necessary operating expenses defrayed first out of the revenue derived from horse racing. Next we note that those fairs and expositions held to be of primary importance to the State receive fixed annual appropriations; the California State Fair, the Los Angeles County Fair and the 1-A District Agricultural Association receive relatively large amounts, especially when we remember that they would suffer no curtailment unless the revenue dropped to a very low figure.

The amount paid to citrus fairs from the first balance is also generous and, because of the limit which prevents a total of more than $105,000 being allocated such fairs, that amount in all cases where the Fair and Exposition Fund is larger than the amount necessary to provide $105,000 as 5 percent of the first balance takes on the nature of a fixed annual appropriation and, under the provisions cited, we find that $575,000 is first deducted from the total available for distribution before other fairs share on such basis as is provided for those not specifically named to receive the fixed amounts.

Now these amounts paid as fixed annual appropriations do not vary under normal conditions but it is idle to presume that the same interest as assured the institutions receiving them their priority when the formula was devised would not, under less favorable conditions, work to procure for them a major portion of the available funds. Neither is it beyond possibility that efforts may be made to increase the amount and number of fixed annual appropriations from the fund when the fund reaches large proportions.

Being in the position to receive a fixed annual appropriation, however, is not an unmixed blessing when the percentages accruing from the total available for distribution at different levels is considered as the following chart shows.



It will be noted from the foregoing chart that at $1,000,000 as the available amount the fixed annual appropriations receive 47 percent of the total but at $15,000,000 the same fixed annual appropriations would receive less than 3.14 percent of the total. This procedure, of course, provides an ever increasing amount in the second balance from which allocations may be made for capital outlay on the part of the fairs and institutions affected.

But when the needs of California's fairs are met, if horse racing is still producing revenue at anywhere near the present rates, it may be advisable to devise a different formula for the allocation of the funds, but the Legislature should consider carefully the implications involved in adding additional agencies to the list which are to receive fixed annual appropriations. The fixed annual appropriation method is easy, even with complicated formulae, but it does not lead to good legislative control. In line with this reasoning, if a change is to be made at this time, the suggestion has come from the Division of Audits that the present method of making the allocations to the individual fairs be changed.

This suggestion is best presented in the words of the author and is here introduced with the explanatory letter from the Director of Finance to the chairman of this committee, as follows:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, DEPARTMENT OF FINANCE
SACRAMENTO, April 17, 1946

Honorable Jacob M. Leonard, Chairman
Assembly Interim Committee on Fairs and Expositions
Sacramento, California

DEAR MR. LEONARD: Here is a communication from the Division of Audits of the Department of Finance which deals exhaustively with matters concerning district agricultural associations and county fairs. It contains an analysis of demonstrated deficiencies in the methods of allocations of funds, the master premium list, regulations and accounting techniques. In addition, it contains specific recommendations toward improvement. The report and accompanying schedules are transmitted to you for such action as you chose to take in the premises.

Yours very truly

JAMES S. DEAN, Director of Finance

Honorable James S. Dean, Director of Finance
Sacramento, California

DEAR SIR: Experiences in auditing fairs since 1938 and consideration of methods of improving administrative procedures and techniques that would tend to provide better exhibitions within the intent of the statutes have indicated that basic requirements toward removal of deficiencies may be listed under the following

1. Revision of the method of allocation of State funds to provide incentive for better shows and more equitable distribution.
2. Revision of the method of auditing fair operations in order to eliminate inadequacies at the source and with the least disruption of the orderly conduct of operations.
3. Revision of the accounting methods and techniques to provide simplicity and supply more adequate management information.
4. Revision and simplification of the rules and regulations in order that fair managements and exhibitors may have a clear understanding of requirements.
5. Revision of the "Master Premium List" to provide clear understanding as to the classes that may be offered for premiums from state funds, eliminate abuses, and provide flexibility to meet conditions existing in the widely varying sections of the State.

As part of our follow-up policy toward assisting in the provision of remedies for deficiencies disclosed by audit, we have devoted a considerable amount of time and effort to supply recommendations for removal of deficiencies which are within the administrative jurisdiction of the Division of Fairs and Expositions and are submitting herewith a suggested remedy for the inadequacies in the allocation method for state funds:

This report has been divided into sections dealing with each of the above listed deficiencies and the actions that have been taken in the past and the proposed future actions. It is believed that this report should be filed with the Assembly Interim Committee on Fairs and Expositions in order that it may consider the suggestions in the light of our past experience.

In reaching the point at which we are able to offer the suggestions set forth in this report it has been our privilege to have had contact with many legislators, fair executives, educators and exhibitors. Considerable credit is due these gentlemen for their tolerance and patience in imparting some of the knowledge and experience that they have gained over many years. It is impossible to list all of the individuals that have contributed suggestions toward improvement in the fair program. We are particularly indebted to:

The Assembly Interim Committee on Fairs and Expositions:
The Honorable Jacob M. Leonard, Chairman;
The Honorable Dwight H. Stephenson, Member;
The Honorable Ernest R. Geddes, Member.

The Western Fairs Association.
E. G. Vollman, President.

Members of the faculty of the University of California at Davis.

Members of the faculty of the California Polytechnic School at San Luis Obispo;

Suggested Method of Allocation of State Funds

It is suggested that the funds appropriated to district and county fairs from the Fair and Exposition Fund be allocated on a modified point system approximately as follows:

1. Reimburse to each fair the premiums it has paid, for the classes and within the limits set by the master premium list.
2. Distribute the balance of the appropriation on the basis of points allowed for each entry exhibited at each fair. The following point evaluation * has been used in the explanatory tabulations attached to this report:

Poultry, pigeons and rabbits	1
Agriculture, domestic arts, horticulture, floriculture, etc	4
Sheep and swine	7
Cattle	10
Horses	19
Horse show	14
Feature displays (booths)	43

3. Set the maximum that any one fair may receive in any one year on two bases:
   (a) A total dollar value (the present figure is $65,000).
   (b) A total per exhibit point, exclusive of the premium reimbursement.

* Point evaluation subsequently changed to dollar values as being less cumbersome to work with. See memorandum at end of this presentation

In the explanatory tabulations presented with this report we have assumed a limitation of $85,000 total and a maximum of $1.25 per exhibit point.

These explanatory tabulations consist of the following:

Schedule 1. Calculation of bonus apportionment to agricultural fairs under proposed allocation method based on amount appropriated in 1941 and estimated appropriation in 1946.

Schedule 2. Apportionments to fairs under proposed allocation method based on 1941 data and on 1941 appropriation.

Schedule 3. Apportionments to agricultural fairs under proposed allocation method based on 1941 data and estimated appropriation in 1946.

Schedule 4. Statistical data for 1941 and calculation of points under the proposed allocation method.

These tabulations have been based on data reported to the Division of Fairs and Expositions for 1941 by fair managements. It is evident that various inconsistencies and inaccuracies exist in the figures reported. District 1, Oakland, has evidently reported the number of exhibitors instead of the number of entries. A correct report would undoubtedly show several thousand entries resulting in a substantial increase in the allocations. Similar inaccuracies exist in various other reports from fair managements. The tabulations are submitted as examples only, and do not necessarily represent the actual amounts of allocations that would result if all reports were accurate.

Throughout the history of state allocations for the encouragement of agricultural fairs a general policy has been evident that state funds should be used first, for payment of premiums and, second, for providing the facilities for conducting a fair. In fact it was not until 1938 that state funds could be used for any other purpose. Since 1938, use of state allocations for other purposes has required the approval of the Department of Finance and is in the nature of a permissive provision with the evident intent still expressed in the statutes that premiums and permanent improvements should come first.

In devising the suggested method of allocation set forth above, we have attempted to adhere to this general policy and have proposed an allocation method that will reimburse each individual fair for "premiums" out of the first moneys appropriated.

It has been our observation throughout the years of our contact with the fair program that the deficiencies in the present method of allocation can be summarized as follows:

1. It provides an incentive to spendthrift management of premium money. The more a fair pays out in premiums the more it receives from the State.
2. It does not place the money in the spot where it is most needed.
3. It does not give encouragement to efficient management and cooperation with state officials.
4. It does not provide the proper limitations on the amount any one fair may receive, e.g., it is estimated that for 1946 each fair will receive exactly the same amount—$65,000.
5. It provides a bonus based on longevity of existence and does not give consideration to size or quality.

Our suggested method of allocation provides incentives to efficient management of premium and other moneys for cooperation on the part of fair managers with the state officials, and sets a limitation on the amount that any one fair may receive based on actual demonstrated need. The explanations following will cover these solutions more adequately.

We have previously stated that our suggested method provides that premiums shall be reimbursed to each fair from the first moneys appropriated for the fair program in line with the general policy set forth in the statutes. This reimbursement, of course, should be qualified to the extent that the amounts reimbursed will be for only those classes and those premiums that are within the limitations set by the Department of Finance or such other body as the Legislature may decide. It has been considered that this formula may be modified to provide that each fair shall receive only 50 percent of its premium payments, the other 50 percent to come from its own funds. This modification is suggested as a means of stimulating managerial cooperation in obtaining the best displays possible for the least amount of money. It is our thought that fair managements would feel that for every $1 paid out in premiums that were not completely justified they would be losing 50 cents from their operating funds.

The second point in our plan provides for the distribution of so-called "bonus money," that is the money to be distributed beyond the actual premium reimbursement, on the basis of a point system determined by the number of exhibits that are on the grounds of each fair for the prior year. This suggestion is motivated again by the basic policy running through the legislative enactments of using state money for plant and facilities second and for maintenance and operation last. It is our thought that the distribution of the "bonus money" would be on the basis of the facilities actually in use, provided the proper weighting could be established. This thought prompted us to obtain an estimate of the actual cost of providing facilities for the exhibiting of various types of displays and to use this cost as the basis for weighting the different exhibits. In arriving at the unit values we have had to round off the point values to the nearest unit and have used estimates provided by the Division of Architecture on approved types of buildings.

In arriving at a maximum bonus allocation of $1.25 for each unit, we have been guided primarily by the thought that most fair buildings will last a minimum of 25 years and that approximately 50 percent of "bonus money" would be used for building replacement purposes and the other 50 percent for maintenance and operation. One unit of value in our tabulations represents an original cost of around $15. Therefore, if we assume that 50 percent of the "bonus money" were to be used for replacing the units on which such bonus was earned they could be replaced in 25 years. The other 50 percent of "bonus money" could be used for either maintenance and operation or for providing a source for additional facilities. If such were the case, this money would provide the fair with funds to match with allocations from the "Capital Improvement Fund" under the control of the Director of Finance. Again, throughout the recent history of the fairs it has been the general policy to require local matching with funds allocated from the "Capital Improvement Fund." We believe this reasoning is sound. However, the maximum allowance per unit could well be estimated beyond $1 25 on the assumption that the average fair building does not last for 25 years, or it could be reduced on the assumption that if properly maintained they would last longer than 25 years. This is a matter for determination by the Legislature.

The point valuation could be modified up or down depending on the will of the Legislature without destroying the basic principles on which our suggestions are founded. It should be pointed out at this time that in the tabulations attached hereto we have given full credit in our point evaluations based on the estimated costs for all types of exhibits except the horse show. The credit for the horse show has been reduced to 50 percent of its actual tabulated value for two reasons:

1. Statistics on 1941 shows have established the fact that the average horse show animal is entered in about three different classes as against two different classes for the cattle exhibits.
2. The horse show partakes of the features of both an attraction, and an agricultural exhibit. Generally speaking a substantial charge is made for admission It is felt that this admission charge should, to some extent, support the horse show as against the other agricultural exhibits which do not receive any income from admissions.

The advantages of our plan may be summarized as follows:

1 It follows the general policy expressed in the statutes.
2 It provides an incentive for the individual fair to enlarge the educational angles of its show.
3. It provides an incentive to efficient management of fair finances.
4 It provides a correlation of state aid to demonstrated need for facilities and operations.
5. It provides an incentive to cooperation with the Department of Finance and other state officials.
6. It provides a statistical classification of fairs for administrative purposes.
7. It ties in with the "master premium" plan.

It is believed that this method of allocation will need modification in the future in accordance with statistical data obtained during the operations of various fairs, and in order to eliminate inequities. We believe that a full and frank discussion of this method with various interested organizations and individuals would be of great benefit and lead to progressive improvement.

Revision of Auditing Methods

Our early experience with post audits of agricultural fairs following the lines of our general practice for all other state departments disclosed that complete post audit was impractical for the following reasons:

1. A good many fairs are operated on a part-time basis without any permanent help.
2. Records were very frequently lost and incomplete.
3. A good many employees were temporary and were gone at the time we conducted the audit.
4. Exhibitors could not be contacted.

It was our conclusion that most of the deficiencies disclosed by our audit examinations were caused by unfamiliarity with the rules and regulations and omissions which could have been rectified had they been known at the time they occurred. Our early audits of fairs resulted in many "chargebacks" and deficiencies which were not cleared up until 1945. These deficiencies held up the allocations to the individual fairs, caused confusions and continued from year to year. It was only due to the cessation of the fair activity caused by the war that any order was brought out of the chaotic condition caused by the deficiencies. It became evident that the only solution to the problem of determining proper accountability was to conduct an audit of the premium records at the fair during the time it was running and to follow it with a post audit of funds and finances at some future date. This method of auditing has been carried out at the California State Fair for many years and has proved highly successful.

We were unable to put this method into operation due to the inadequacy of funds provided for fair auditing until cessation of full fair activity due to the war reduced the number of actual operating fairs to the point where we were able to carry on these preaudits followed by a post audit during the years 1944-1945. Our experience in the years 1944-1945 proved highly successful. We were able to clear the majority of questions before he fair was closed. We were able to assist the managers in solving their problems and to explain matters to the exhibitors. This enabled us to get better cooperation both from the fair managers and from the exhibitors.

The last regular session of the Legislature provided $25,000 per annum for auditing of fairs from the Fair and Exposition Fund with the understanding that we were to perform a preaudit of premiums followed by a post audit as set forth above. This appropriation has been proved more than adequate during the year 1945 and a large portion will undoubtedly revert. However, with the proposed enlarged activity during 1946, it is believed that the full appropriation will be expended. It is possible that in future years additional funds will be needed as the fair activity increases to the present possibility of around 81 individual shows.

It is surprising that our actual experience in his method of auditing has proven that it is no more costly than a complete post audit. The saving in time both to the auditors and the fair managers in settling questions "on the grounds" has more than offset the additional travel required.

In the future, we propose to revise our audit reports so as to provide the individual fair managements and the Division of Fairs and Expositions with statistical information that will be of great benefit in management. It is our earnest hope that we will be able to offer constructive suggestions for the improvement of each fair progressively.

Revision of Accounting Methods

Sometime in 1938 the Department of Finance provided an accounting manual for fair operations which proved of considerable benefit to the unification of fair accounting but proved to be too complicated for most managements to observe completely. By 1941, the decision had been reached to simplify and rewrite the manual of accounting for fair purposes. It was not carried out due to the fact that the outbreak of the war and cessation of fair activities eliminated the urgent need. In lieu of a manual, our auditors have assisted the fair managements in simplifying their bookkeeping methods and have tried out various forms and have generally tried to improve the accounting methods by simplification and uniformity. At the present time we have ready for printing a revised manual of fair accounting and some simplified forms. This manual should be completed in the very near future but has been sidetracked in the meantime due to the preparation of a new "master premium list."

Revision of Rules

It becomes evident during the course of our audit examination and experience on the job that the rules and regulations of the Department of Finance for awarding of premiums were in need of simplification for the following reasons:

1. They were too lengthy.
2. In many cases they were not clear.
3. In some cases they were unjust and in other cases did not eliminate loose practices.

Over a period of years, cooperating with the Division of Fairs and Expositions, we have assisted in revising these rules by:

1. Contacts made during course of our audit examinations.
2. By consultations with various bodies and individuals interested in the problems.

There is now available, subject to adoption of the Division of Fairs and Expositions, revised rules and regulations for the awarding of premiums that should eliminate inadequacies experienced in the past. The rules have been cut in half and in some cases have been strengthened and in other cases modified. They represent the concensus of opinion of the numerous bodies that we, in cooperation with the Division of Fairs and Expositions, have contacted over a period of three or four years.

It is believed that further revisions will be necessary and that the compilation of these rules is a continuous process. However, 1946 is an excellent year to try out these new rules in view of the fact that the allocation to any individual fair will not be affected where injustice arises and too much looseness is evident.

Revision of Master Premium List

The revision of the "master premium list" has occupied a great deal of time of the Division of Audits, although it is the most removed from our audit activities. This has been due to the fact that it has been our observation that the root of most accounting troubles in connection with premiums and many of the misunderstandings which arise during the course of a fair stem from the form of the "master premium list" and interpretations of its contents. The Department of Finance is required by law to prescribe the classes and maximums that may be ordered at any fair and should, in compliance with law, file such "master list" with the Secretary of State before it becomes effective.

The problem of preparing a "master premium list" has been very difficult for the following reasons:

1. The form should be simple and understandable.
2. It should provide adequate coverage of the State's agricultural resources and allow flexibility for varying conditions and locations.
3. Adequate statistical information is not completely available.
4. The "master list" should line up with the State Fair and other common fair practices
5. There is little criterion for setting the money values on the different prizes.

Some three years ago a series of conferences was started with numerous groups and individuals interested in the premium list. Mr. Snider, Chief, Division of Fairs and Expositions, held regional meetings throughout the State. Together we have been to the University of California at Davis numerous times, have talked to various individuals in the Department of Agriculture and the California State Fair, and have held meetings with the western fairs representatives, etc. The sifting of the different views and the reconciling of the viewpoints has been difficult, and it is believed that it is still subject to improvement even at this late date. It is our opinion that the "master premium list" should be continually revised in accordance with conditions and viewpoints and adequate statistical data. However, we have ready for distribution at the present time the results of our three to four years' work which should be of considerable help in the administration of the premium procedures and enable the Division of Fairs and Expositions and the Division of Audits to cooperate with the individual fair managements to the fullest.

The year 1946 is a particularly fortunate time to try out this "master premium list" inasmuch as a fair cannot be financially hurt regardless of omissions or inadequacies due to the fact that each fair will receive the maximum allocation of $65,000 in January of 1947, regardless of the amount of premiums they pay.

We will be pleased to furnish any additional information requested by the Legislature or others interested.

Respectfully submitted.

Further study of methods of allocating Fair and Exposition Fund money to the several district and county fairs deriving support under Section 92 of the Agricultural Code indicates that a considerable simplification of the method suggested in our report of April 17, 1946, would be possible by adopting a straight dollar and cents basis of allocation for each entry in the various exhibit classes at each fair. This simplification could be accomplished without materially affecting the basis principle on which our recommendations are based. The proposed method of allocation would be approximately as follows:

1. Reimburse each fair for the premiums it has paid within the classifications and maximums set by the Department of Finance Maximum Premium List.

2. Allocate to each fair amounts calculated for each entry actually exhibited at the fair, based on a schedule approximately as follows:

Cattle	$10 55
Horses	19 45
Sheep, swine, etc.	7 20
Agriculture, floriculture, horticulture, etc.	5 80
Booths and feature displays:
Up to 100 square feet	66 50
Up to 200 square feet	133 00
Up to 300 square feet	199 50
Poultry, chickens, rabbits, etc.	2 05
Horse show	13 85

Preliminary tabulations based on such method as applied to the statistical information available for the 1941 shows indicated that the amounts allocated to the individual fairs would be approximately as set forth on schedule three attached to our report of April 17th. This would indicate that few if any of the fairs would receive in excess of the proposed maximum allowance of $85,000.

In arriving at the dollar value established for the different types of exhibits we have taken the housing estimates prepared by the Division of Architecture and have estimated a 20 year replacement need and approximately an equal amount allowed for maintenance and operations. This would mean that the state apportionment after payment of premiums would replace each facility used for exhibit purposes every 20 years and that an amount equal to the original cost would be available for maintenance and operation of such facilities. Adjustment of the dollar values for the different types of exhibits could be made as indicated by available statistical data at each session of the Legislature without seriously throwing the basic method of allocation out of line.

Under the present statutes any excess of funds in the Fair and Exposition Fund allocated to fairs that could not be distributed under the proposed apportionment method would fall down into the second balance and be available, 58 percent for agricultural education at the University of California and the California Polytechnic School, and 42 percent for permanent improvements at district and county fairs. According to estimates available it will take in excess of 20 million dollars to provide adequate facilities for fair purposes at the various district and counties now proposing to operate and that the total amount available in the Capital Improvement Fund and matching moneys to be furnished by the districts and counties will not exceed $16,000,000 by June 30, 1947. In view of this fact it is suggested that consideration be given to requesting the Legislature that the surplus funds available in the appropriation to the fairs drop down into the Capital Improvement Fund direct until such a time as adequate facilities have been constructed at all fairs in operation. This could be converted into a dollar limitation on the Capital Improvement Fund.

Available statistical data on the 1941 State Fair and 1-A District Agricultural Association indicates that if these shows were placed on an allocation base similar to the above proposed method without any limitation as to the maximum that would be allowed, that the State Fair would receive approximately $205,000, and that District 1-A would receive approximately $80,000. Statistical information on the Los Angeles County Fair has not yet been received.

A MASTER PLAN FOR CONSTRUCTION OF FAIR BUILDINGS AND FACILITIES

Under the present statutes, the Director of Finance approves the allocation of money from the third balance to be used by fairs for capital improvements. On a number of occasions, this committee was afforded the courtesy of being invited to sit in with the director in order to gain a better insight into the manner in which this function of the department is carried on.

It is the policy of the department, with which we are in full accord and which we recommend be continued, that fairs receiving money for such purposes do two things: Match from fair funds in equitable proportions, the money asked for from the State; and, submit a master building plan, prepared with the assistance of the Department of Architecture, whereby the needs of the particular fair may be visualized and the necessary facilities provided for in a logical and progressive manner.

We are interested in the manner in which such master building plans as have been submitted are prepared. First, a survey is made of the existing grounds and facilities. This is followed by the preparation of a contour map on which is plotted the existing walk-ways and driveways and those recommended to provide ample means of communication between the several buildings, parking and recreational areas and amusement zone.

Next in order is the plotting of existing water supply and the layout for such expansion as may be necessary to provide water to all parts of the grounds for fire protection, toilet facilities, irrigation and sprinkling systems, as well as an adequate supply to the various exhibition buildings, barns and stables.

It may readily be understood that the preparation of the contour map in advance of plotting the location of the buildings and water supply insures ample drainage. Too many existing fair grounds are rendered unsightly because of the present location of barns which are surrounded by an evil smelling mud pit in wet weather.

Toilet facilities and sewage disposal are also of primary importance and public conveniences must be adequate and located conveniently on the grounds, whether in the various buildings or in separate structures.

Proper and convenient structures for the preparation and serving of food are also of primary importance and must be supplied, as well as other buildings and the various sections of the grounds, with light and power and, where possible, with gas or fuel for cooking.

Only after these primary needs are met should the project turn to additional buildings and when any major structure is contemplated, the plans should be drawn for a building which can serve not only for the housing of exhibits during fair time but, also, as a recreational center or public meeting place for the community during other times.

It was the early intention of the committee to recommend that, wherever possible, every existing fair should be activated during the year 1947 even if it meant that the shows be conducted in tents. However, a survey of the problem discloses that in certain areas the use of tents is not desirable and a study of the amount paid out for tent rentals during 1946 leads to the conclusion that the use of tents is unsatisfactory and not economical.

With a return to conditions approaching normal, five years should serve to complete most of the projected plans. Under present estimates this should cost upwards of $40,000,000 and is further argument in support of the recommendation that no diversion of Fair and Exposition Fund money to other purposes be contemplated until such time as all the fairs have completed their building program.

The tabulation of the amounts paid out for tent rentals follows immediately; the amount estimated to be required by each fair for its building program is to be found in the tables appearing in the section devoted to histories of the fairs of California.

CONCLUSIONS AND RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE COMMITTEE

Following are conclusions and recommendations of this committee. Elsewhere in this report are tabulations and estimates bearing on various phases of the problems confronting the fairs and agencies deriving part or all of their support from the Fair and Exposition Fund. Some were gathered as routine reports or work sheets by various departments, others were expressly made for the committee at the request of its members.

That such information is now available bespeaks the excellent organization within the Department of Finance of the Division of Fairs and Expositions and the Bureau of Audits. To the Director, the chief and to the various employees grateful acknowledgement is again made as well as to numerous other agencies, state and private, which have cooperated.

First Recommendation

That increase of personnel in the Division of Fairs and Expositions as recommended by the Director of Finance be made and that suitable assistance continue to be rendered the division by the assignment of suitable employees of the Department of Architecture in order to carry to completion the building and construction contemplated in the five-year master building plan.

As part of the information pertaining to each individual fair is a tabulation setting forth its unbudgeted surplus as of the end of 1946. Also there is to be noted the amount estimated to be necessary to complete the master building plan for the fair to bring its physical plant to the highest degree of efficiency and usefulness of the community.

Second Recommendation

All of the details of the master building plan are too many to be set forth here but the committee recommends that no diversion of Fair and Exposition Fund money be made to other uses and purposes until the master building plan is completed.

Third Recommendation

It is also recommended that the Master Building Plan for each fair progressively take the following pattern:

1. Grading and landscaping, including walkways, parking and picnic grounds.
2. Water supply for fire protection, sanitation, sprinkling and irrigation.
3. Sanitation facilities and adequate sewage disposal.
4. Structures for preparation and serving of food.
5. Structures for exhibits, judging and entertainment, such structures to conform to style already established or suitable to the locale of the fair and, when possible and expedient, constructed of materials natural to the region.
6. Recreational facilities.

In all cases it is further recommended that if possible each building be designed to be used for recreational or cultural purposes in addition to those generally associated as strictly for fair or exhibition purposes.

Building up our fairs will enable them to serve the people of the community where located the year around rather than for the few days of the year a fair is held and help them become, in effect, community centers.

Fourth Recommendation

It is recommended that legislation be enacted providing that no district agricultural society shall contract with an outside organization or person for the conduct of its fair, show or exposition.

With reference to county fairs it is recognized that it is necessary that the county boards of supervisors contract with a second party nonprofit association for the conduct of the county fair and it is recommended that legislation be enacted providing that upon the dissolution of any nonprofit association which has conducted fairs for a county receiving money from the Fair and Exposition Fund its assets shall revert to the State.

It is also recommended that all fairs now operating as county fairs shall become agricultural district fairs as may be accomplished by act of the Legislature, providing that in counties having two or more fairs said county may be divided into several agricultural districts.

Fifth Recommendation

This committee recommends to the California Horse Racing Board that permits be granted to agricultural district fairs and county fairs to conduct race meets with pari-mutuel wagering only in those instances when there is reason to believe that they may be conducted profitably and without bringing discredit upon the fair. Further that no license or permit to conduct pari-mutuel racing be granted except under conditions providing for the same rigid controls and supervision as required at the commercial tracks.

NOTE. This is in line with question (c) of the California Horse Racing Board in its 1946 report.

Sixth Recommendation

It is also recommended that in any case where the California Horse Racing Board grants permit to any fair receiving money from the Fair and Exposition to conduct pari-mutuel races the permit or license shall provide that the race meet and the fair shall be conducted concurrently and that all exhibits entered in such fair shall remain and be maintained for the duration of the fair to qualify for allocations of state money for premiums.

NOTE. Again we are in agreement with the board, see (b) page 19 of its 1946 report.

Seventh Recommendation

Legislation is recommended to provide that no fair receiving state money for premiums or allocations from the Fair and Exposition Fund shall contract with any person or association to conduct or manage race meet where pari-mutuel wagering is conducted during a fair when a percentage of any of the admission money or the fair track's percentage of the pool is paid such person or association for such service or management.

The committee makes the three above recommendations because we are of the unanimous opinion, based on several experiences during 1946 of a number of fairs, that pari-mutuel racing conducted by fairs will ultimately discredit the fair and exposition program of California.

Eighth Recommendation

In order that each fair, wherever possible, may utilize its grounds for recreational purposes this committee recommends immediate enactment of legislation amending Sections 89 and 92 of the Agricultural Code and Section 5154 of the Public Resources Code to provide that out of any money received by an agricultural district association other than from sale of its real property the money may be expended in addition to the uses now provided by law for the acquisition, installation, maintenance and operation of recreational facilities on their respective fair grounds.

The urgency of this legislation lies in the fact that many such fairs are now in a position to do what is contemplated but lack the necessary authority and also that fairs are now preparing master building plans and the Department of Architecture is engaged in making surveys and preliminary plans and should have cognizance of these provisions in order that recreational facilities may be included.

Ninth Recommendation

The committee recommends enactment of legislation permitting district agricultural associations to lease or grant licenses for use of their property to nonprofit corporations or associations for the purposes of such corporations or associations by amendment of Sections 86 and 96 of the Agricultural Code.

Such legislation as is suggested is permissive in nature and, in many instances, may make effective wider and more useful and continued use of the grounds of many of our fairs.

Tenth Recommendation
Legislation Designed to Improve Status of Fairs and Their Service to the Community

While the legislation embraced in this recommendation may require several or a series of bills there is such intimate connection between its several parts as to warrant the presentation being made under the one heading.

Based upon the belief that the fairs of this State should be brought to full efficiency, both as regards to their fundamental purpose of encouraging agriculture and building up our agricultural economy, the rehabilitation of their physical plants and the construction of new facilities dedicated to fair purposes and uses as well as to serve as community centers for the people of the area where the fairs are located this committee recommends legislation to accomplish the following:

1. Assure continuation of appropriations and allocations to be used for premiums, construction, up-keep, purchase of land and the acquisition, installation and maintenance of equipment for recreational and cultural purposes until such time as the presently contemplated master building plan can be carried to completion.

2. Eliminate continuing fixed appropriations to other agencies unrelated to fairs and expositions except those appropriations to the California Horse Racing Board, the Department of Finance, and the California Polytechnic School from the first division of the Horse Racing Fund.

3. Provide for appropriations and allocations to the presently designated fairs and expositions out of the second balance of the fund on a sound and equitable basis designed to encourage proper and efficient fair management and provide encouragement to build each participating fair to its proper size according to the area which it serves.

4. Out of the third balance to provide appropriations and allocations for institutions and agencies closely related to agriculture and its problems and education preparing the youth of the State to gain a useful and better knowledge of modern and scientific management of farm, grove, herd or flock, skill in agricultural mechanics and fitting them for positions in industry and government connected with agriculture.

General Recommendations

With the additional duties imposed upon it by the First Extraordinary Session the Fifty-seventh Legislature will probably be well into its second month of the session before it will be in a position to give calm deliberation to some other questions which it, not this committee, should decide.

We have been called upon many times during the months of the existence of the committee to advise upon or determine several questions laid before us. This we have hesitated to do, lacking the necessary authority and, as stated above, believing the entire membership of the Legislature should be consulted.

The first of these matters is that of the State Fair. As we understand the situation the State Fair in its present quarters must either be limited in its scope as an exposition of all the resources in California or it must have more room.

This is a policy which the Legislature must determine. This committee is aware that a survey of some magnitude and made at considerable expense has been presented to the Governor. Since we do not, at this writing, know the contents of the report we are not in a position to offer further comment or recommendation.

The next matter of importance is that of an additional appropriation to the 1-A Agricultural District (Cow Palace).

The present structure is huge, costly but inadequate and, frankly, suited to no other than its intended purpose. An additional appropriation of some magnitude will make of this the finest facility for a livestock show in the United States and because of its importance we urge favorable consideration of proper legislation but feel it should be initiated by others than members of the committee.

In Southern California the 48th District Agricultural Association is now in a position to purchase a large and well situated tract of land upon which, with state aid, a fine plant can be built ideally situated to serve the entire Los Angeles area on a year-round basis but particularly as the Great Western Livestock Show which last year, even in its quarters at the Union Stock Yards, demonstrated what an incentive to the livestock industry such an exposition may become. This again is hardly a matter for committee sponsored legislation but we urge its favorable consideration.

There has been frank discussion in these pages of some of the problems which will continue through 1947 and into 1948 and it is the final recommendation of this committee that the Legislature consider the creation of a new committee to make a continuing study and determine with what further duties it should be charged.

HISTORICAL AND FINANCIAL DATA RELATING TO INDIVIDUAL FAIRS

On the pages immediately following will be found the historical and financial data of most of the fairs of California. We are indebted to the Division of Audits which had brief historical summaries in its files on most of the fairs and the Western Fairs Association which cooperated in copying the existing material for most of what we have been able to gather. While much of the historical data is interesting to only a few persons having an intimate interest in an individual fair it was felt to be advisable to make the present attempt to gather all existing information in one place.

In many cases it has been difficult, if not impossible, to obtain information from reliable sources and what is set forth must be regarded as merely a start toward a task which should be completed in a continuing study of our fairs and expositions if such is made. Members of the present committee, and of any future committee, will, we are sure, gladly receive any corrections or further information.

Most of the following histories were prepared at different times during the past few years as occasion arose in the work of the Division of Audits and consequently not all of them have the same terminal date. Where such details are pertinent we have added any later information available.

Following the historical matter on each fair and exposition will be found a table showing allocations from the Fair and Exposition Fund made during the years 1933 to 1946 (June 30), inclusive, and a statement of the fair's condition as of November 30, 1946, together with the amount determined to be needed to bring the fair's facilities to maximum efficiency and usefulness under the master building plan program. This program is explained in another section of this report.

It will be noted that the tabulations just described are in uniform style. This is because a form was first drawn up upon which to accumulate the information and the figures were intended to be spread in chart form for comparison. We now believe, however, that it will be more convenient for each member of the Legislature to have as much relevant data pertaining to any particular fair all together in one place and the individual tables have been inserted after the historical matter.

The California State Agricultural Society and the State Fair is treated separately elsewhere but the tabulation prepared in uniformity with other fairs appears at the end of this section in order that comparisons may be more easily made if desired.

The following table, together with the letter preceding it, shows the years of existence and operation of all the fairs of our State and is the latest piece of work, prepared at the request of the committee, by the Division of Fairs and Expositions and completed just before this report goes to press.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, DEPARTMENT OF FINANCE
DIVISION OF FAIRS AND EXPOSITIONS
SACRAMENTO, December 23, 1946

Honorable Ernest R. Geddes, Member
Assembly Investigating Committee on Exhibitions and Fairs
Pomona, California

DEAR MR. GEDDES: Enclosed is a schedule of district and county fairs held during the period 1922 to 1946, inclusive. This list contains only those fairs which are considered as active fairs at this time.

The California State Fair has been held each year during the period from 1854 to 1941 except the year 1915 when an exhibit at the World's Fair was substituted for the regular State Fair. The fair was not held during the years 1942 to 1946, inclusive, due to the war.

The National Orange Show has been conducted each year during the period 1911 to 1941, inclusive. The show could not be held during the years 1942 to 1946, inclusive, due to the war.

The Cloverdale Citrus Fair has been held each year during the period 1922 to 1942, inclusive. After being interrupted during the years 1943 to 1945, inclusive, due to the war, the holding of the annual fair was resumed in 1946.

Many miscellaneous fairs were held during the period 1922 to 1933 which were not directly connected with the present day active fairs. These fairs operated from one to five years each during this period. The information available with respect to these fairs is incomplete.

Forty-five district agricultural associations conducted fairs during the period 1880 to 1902. Very little information is available in regard to these early fairs.

Yours very truly,

A. E. SNIDER, Chief, Fairs and Expositions Division

HISTORIES OF CALIFORNIA'S FAIRS

1st District Agricultural Association, Oakland

History

December 31, 1944

The 1st Agricultural District was created by Chapter 69, Statutes of 1880, and included Alameda, Contra Costa, and San Francisco counties. Amendments to the Statutes later divided the above counties into different districts, and designated that Alameda County was to constitute the 1st Agricultural District.

The early history of the 1st District Agricultural Association is incomplete. We were able to determine that fairs were conducted under the name of the Golden Gate Agricultural and Mechanical Fair Association until about 1901, at which time the district became inactive. Operations were resumed in 1929 and continued through 1931. During these years fairs were held under the name of the Pacific Slope Dairy Association and the 1st District Agricultural Association. Insofar as we are able to determine, the association was inactive from 1932 to 1936, inclusive, and resumed operations in 1937 as sponsor of the California Spring Garden Show, under a contract with the California Spring Garden Show, Inc., a nonprofit organization. Fairs have been held annually from 1937 to 1942, inclusive; all under contracts with the California Spring Garden Show, Inc.

No fair was held in 1943. Operations were resumed in 1944, when a fair known as the "Victory Spring Garden Show" was held at the Oakland Civic Auditorium, and was administered by the Oakland Junior Chamber of Commerce, under contract with the 1st District Agricultural Association.

State funds were allocated to the district from the general appropriation act for exhibits of cattle and agricultural products for the years 1929, 1930, and 1931 as follows:

1930	2,079 00
1931	140 19

The association has received allocations from the Fair and Exposition Fund, under Section 92 of the Agricultural Code, since resuming operations in 1937.

The 1937 and 1938 contracts with the California Spring Garden Show, Inc., appear to obligate the district only to the payment of premiums. Contracts for the conduct of the fairs in 1939 and 1940 included a provision for the payment of $5,000 by the association in each year to the California Spring Garden Show, Inc., as reimbursement for expenditures made in expanding exhibit space. The 1939 contract was approved by the Department of Finance, subject to the presentation of evidence that the $5,000 had been spent for capital expenditures. The required evidence of expenditures was submitted in March, 1940, and reimbursement of $5,000 made by the district in April, 1940. The $5,000 reimbursement as provided in the 1940 contract was approved by the Division of Fairs and Expositions as an item of expense in the 1942 budget but applicable to the year 1940.

The 1941 contract between the association and the California Spring Garden Show, Inc., differed from those of 1939 and 1940 in that the provision for the payment of $5,000 as reimbursement was deleted. However, the records disclose that two knock-down greenhouses for $4,980 and motor starting equipment for $94 68, was purchased by the association in 1941.

The 1942 contract, while substantially the same provided that the only monetary obligation of the association would be that of the payment of eligible premiums awards in the maximum amount of $9,663.06. However, the association expended $5,230.50, in 1942, under the classification of Buildings and Grounds.

The contract between the Oakland Junior Chamber of Commerce and the 1st District Agricultural Association for the operation of the 1944 fair, provided that all receipts accruing from the operation of the fair shall belong to and be payable to the association daily. It also provided that "unless additional expenditures were approved by the association and the Department of Finance, a budget not to exceed $14,300 for management and operations was provided."

Contrary to these provisions, no receipts from operations were deposited in any fund administered by the association. In connection with the budget limitation of $14,300 actual expenditures amounted to $24,472.16, an excess of $10,172.16 over the amount stipulated in the contract, without request being made by the association for approval by the Department of Finance. In June approval of the excess expenditures was requested by the association and was granted on June 21, 1945, by the Division of Fairs and Expositions.

Number of fairs held 1921 to 1945, inclusive: 7.

No. 1-A District Agricultural Association, the "Cow Palace"

Following San Francisco's experience with the livestock show at the Pan American Exposition in 1915, a group of public spirited citizens organized to establish there a permanent "National Livestock Show." The 1915 show readily proved itself to be a mecca for all of the great livestock herds of the Nation. It was apparent at that time the industry favored a great livestock show place on the Pacific Coast similar to the great shows of national significance at Chicago and Kansas City.

By 1939 a property containing 54 acres, located in San Mateo County near the San Francisco County line, had been acquired. Based upon well-studied and engineered plans, by 1939 much grading and drainage had been accomplished and the first unit—a huge arena building seating 12,000 people—had been completed. Some monies had been provided from private subscription and some from the Counties of San Mateo and San Francisco. In due course the project was established as "No. 1-A District Agricultural Association" under the provisions of the State Agricultural Code, and comprised San Francisco and San Mateo Counties.

By this time, also, there came to be widespread recognition that upon completion of this huge establishment as planned, it would come to have little, if any, direct significance to San Mateo County, and perhaps somewhat less significance to the City of San Francisco than it would have to the State of California as a whole, and in some respects to the Nation at large.

About this time, with some contributions from the City of San Francisco and the State of California, large sums were appropriated by the Federal Government under the "Works Progress Administration." By the end of 1940, two additional units of buildings had been completed. These were both horse barns and were built abutting the main arena building on the north and the south sides.

Following this step the Legislature had provided that "1-A District Agricultural Association" should receive $100,000 per annum from the "Race Track Fund" along with the State Fair and other fairs in California.

Up to this point in the history of the Cow Palace, the true objectives of this great venture were rather obscure to the general public and to the members of the Legislature. Activities to that date had been surrounded with a somewhat promotional atmosphere and there had been considerable criticism that the development had been so slow and so much delayed in reaching a point of usefulness.

In the summer of 1941 the board of directors started plans to hold the first "Grand National Livestock Exposition" at the "Cow Palace" and dates were set from November 15th to 22d of that year. The Legislature appropriated funds necessary for certain paving, fixtures, etc., and the first show was held over an eight-day period with 11 afternoon and evening arena performances. To characterize this first show as a success in every respect would be an understatement. The show came out $50,000 ahead.

Livestock was brought on short notice from all over the United States. Visitors came from all over the United States and livestock breeders and feeders from every county in the State of California were offered an opportunity to see these animals exhibited, judged, and sold on a scale and in a manner never heretofore seen in the State, or in fact in any of the far Western States.

Public opinion voiced by all of the educational authorities in the State, by all of the leaders in the livestock industry, and from the average farmer has enthusiastically acclaimed the Grand National Exposition as an institution of tremendous permanent value to livestock in all of California as well as the entire West. National recognition as to the importance of this enterprise is attested to by the fact that following just one successful show in 1941, the great beef breed associations have designated San Francisco as one of only five recognized "National Shows" in the United States—the list being limited to Chicago, Kansas City, Dallas, Denver and San Francisco.

Strange as it may seem, national livestock leaders have been frank and emphatic in their expressions that since progress with livestock improvement in America has moved westward constantly and has followed directly in the path of our great livestock shows, we may reasonably expect that a nationally recognized and accepted show located in San Francisco, so centrally placed on the Pacific Coast, will in all probability within a short period of years become the largest, most important and most useful of all the livestock shows in the United States.

From the point of view of California taxpayers and general public, it is important to recognize that more than 50 per cent of agricultural income in California, and in fact in the Eleven Western States, comes either directly from livestock or from those agricultural products which can only be marketed through the use of livestock. Our largest single farm crop in California is hay. The success of the hay business is entirely wrapped up in the success of livestock owners in breeding and feeding the kind of animals that can use more and better hay.

Furthermore, one of the great and vastly significant problems of California's agriculture in the current decades is the business of making better use of our increasing acreage of high-priced irrigated land. Many thousands of these acres of our best irrigated lands have been tried for specialty crops of various kinds and it has often been found difficult to market the production of many of these areas profitably. The situation in the over-production of peaches and the necessity of pulling out hundreds and hundreds of acres of matured trees, is probably an outstanding example. These specialty crops must find their market in the midwestern and eastern territories of dense, industrial population. These crops cannot be sold until after a heavy toll for refrigerated freight transportation is added to their local cost of production. We are constantly increasing our irrigated lands in California. The Central Valley Project has tremendous implications in this regard.

It is equally important to recognize that a substantial part of all of the livestock products used by Californians are subject to a similar added freight cost in bringing them into the State of California. In none of the major livestock fields do we produce in California anything like the total livestock products which we consume. Even before the war, California only produced 75 percent of the beef it ate, 85 percent of the lamb and mutton it ate, and 65 percent of the dairy products it ate, and about 35 percent of the pork it ate. California has since 1940 a 50 percent increase in population with no such commensurate increase in livestock production.

If we are to give recognition to the imperative need for more and cheaper livestock products here in our own State, it is important to recognize that we shall see more of our high-priced irrigated lands used for those farm products which can only be sold through feeding to livestock.

Success in all dairy and meat production is wrapped up in the ability of the producer and the feeder to have the kind of livestock which gives the most meat and milk from the feeds and rations provided. The success in the profitable use of our high-priced California lands will be in direct proportion to the educational job we do in knowing and recognizing and using the better grades of livestock. It is only the better livestock that can pay for the feed prices that will support the use of our high-priced irrigated lands.

No one can deny that over the last few generations the Mountain States and the Midwestern States have done a better job of improving the quality of much of their livestock than California has done. The great livestock authorities recognize the opportunity for improvement in California generally and recognize the need for one great livestock show and sale place on the Pacific Coast as an adjunct to the inevitable forward trend.

The results to be expected from a good livestock show in an area are well characterized by a statement a few years ago by Mr. Eccles, prominent banker and president of the Salt Lake City Livestock Show, who stated that Utah had seen an improvement in the quality of its livestock of several hundred percent since the establishment of the annual livestock show at Salt Lake City.

Any school boy recognizes the historical development of the Midwest in terms of the small family farm on which corn is the characteristic product. It is obvious that the success of that farm is generally tied into the ability of that farmer to obtain high quality hogs or beef and high producing dairy cows to consume much of that corn. With California's increased population and increasing irrigated areas, we shall unquestionably see a long-trend term in this State of the same character. California's success in this regard is directly related to success of the type of "National Livestock Show" which the 1-A District Agricultural Association is operating. Increasingly our farmers, to succeed, must see the best animals from all over our Nation assembled in one convenient place, see them compared and judged and then see them auctioned where they may buy some of the better kinds and take them home.

Recognition must also be given by Californians to the fact that almost 75 percent of all of the usable land in California is suitable only for the raising of livestock. Limitations of rainfall and elevations and slopes create this condition. Successful livestock operations, therefore, are of vital importance to all of the taxpayers of the State quite out of proportion to special needs of our very popular and high-priced specialty crops, such as citrus and deciduous fruits, lettuce, melons, etc.

The directors of the Grand National Livestock Exposition in the "Cow Palace" have directed all efforts to the business of serving the livestock industry first and above all else. In its spectacular arena it has produced fine entertainment of an unusual character; nevertheless those men responsible for 1-A District's present policies regard the entertainment as in a measure a "sideshow." They recognize in particular the position of the everyday California livestock producer and feeder and have provided for "feeder cattle" shows and sales on a large scale—a feature of basic value, but very difficult of accomplishment. Such feeder cattle shows and sales for the ordinary farmer's benefit have been supremely successful in Denver and in other places, both for their educational values and for their opportunities for buying and selling better livestock.

In addition to having established an annual fall show suited to the general needs of the sheep, hog, dairy and beef producers and feeders, 1-A District has now completed final plans, in cooperation with all of the State's educational leaders, in both FFA work and 4-H Club work, so that the "Cow Palace" facilities will be used each spring for a great state-wide junior show during Easter Week. Such a show was operated in San Francisco up to a few years ago and came to be the largest of its kind in the Country. It was sponsored by private capital and had to be discontinued because of the excessive cost. The Directors of 1-A District Agricultural Association will reinaugurate this permanent annual educational junior program in the spring of 1947.

It has been definitely arranged to have certain features of the National Convention of the Farm Bureau Federation in the "Cow Palace" in December of 1946 following the second annual Grand National Livestock Exposition.

Much of the 1946 year has been occupied with rehabilitation following turning over this entire plant to the United States Army between 1941 and 1946. Thereafter it is contemplated that once the property is in first-class working order again that it may be available to state and county horsemen's organizations, to interim shows throughout the year for the various livestock and breed associations in the livestock industry and for the use of all segments of the livestock industry for holding occasional sales of breeding cattle. The policy of the board of directors is to authorize the use of the structure for other purposes from time to time and within the limitations of the statutes provided such operations do not conflict with the requirements of livestock industry.

It is believed that, under the policies as outlined, this huge project may be placed on as near a self-supporting basis as possible without interfering with private industry. This project is designed for and carries out well-defined functions of great value to a major section of California's agriculture. It is in no sense a competitor of the State Fair, the Los Angeles County Fair, or other fairs and shows in California.

The present permanent physical plant improvement includes only the show arena and two horse barns. In 1946 all other livestock—3,000 in number—are being housed in tents or in open corrals. The proven success of this venture will now call for permanent development of livestock barns, a sales pavilion, additional land for parking and a spur track from nearby rail lines.

2d District Agricultural Association, Stockton

History

San Joaquin County has been designated by the Agricultural Code as constituting the 2d Agricultural District.

The 2d District Agricultural Association, formed in May, 1922, has sponsored the San Joaquin County Fair and Night Horse Show since 1936. Prior to that time the history of the San Joaquin County Fair, under other sponsorship, is traceable back to February, 1860, with the sequence of annual fairs broken by periods when there were insufficient funds and when fire destroyed the buildings on September, 1920. In 1942, the sequence of annual fairs was again disrupted when wartime conditions necessitated the discontinuance of normal fair operation. All fairs sponsored by the association have been managed, since the first agreement on May 27, 1936, by the San Joaquin Fair Association under more or less informal agreements.

The 2d District Agricultural Association and its predecessors from 1860 were financed intermittently by appropriations from the General Fund prior to 1933. In August, 1933, Section 92 of the Agricultural Code became effective, which in addition to other provisions, provided for the allocation of moneys from the Fair and Exposition Fund.

The financial transactions prior to 1936 are obscure but we do know that the allocations prior to 1936 and a prior balance totaling $41,057.40 were deposited in the San Joaquin County Fair Association bank account during 1937. The 1937, 1938, and 1939 apportionments were placed in the 2d District Agricultural Association State Premium Account.

The only advance to the State Premium Fund from the San Joaquin County Fair Association was made in August, 1939, in the amount of $5,000. The 2d District Agricultural Association, during 1939 and 1940, advanced $30,459 to finance the San Joaquin County Fair Association. In addition, the San Joaquin County Fair Association was aided financially during these two years by loans from the 2d District Agricultural Association totaling $20,500

The activities of the 2d District Agricultural Association were financed in 1940 by a premium allocation of $59,346.50 and in 1941 by an advance of $36,695.47 from the Fair and Exposition Fund.

The fairs have been held on grounds leased by the 2d District Agricultural Association from the County of San Joaquin, on a 25-year lease, dated January 9, 1939, with the provision for the use of the land for a period not to exceed 30 days in each year, at a rental of $10,000 a year.

In 1940, the 2d District Agricultural Association purchased for $2,805.50 a tract of land consisting of 5 61 acres for a parking area on the northeast corner of the fair grounds. In 1941, this area was augmented by the purchase for $1,505.57 of several adjacent lots. In 1943, two lots were purchased at a cost of $292 50, augmenting the parking area by approximately 1.5 acres. These three purchases have given the association at this time, a parking area of 7 1 acres.

Capital expenditures of nearly $100,000 for construction and improvements to grounds have been made by the 2d District Agricultural Association. In addition to its own resources the association has been granted two executive orders from the Fair and Exposition Fund totaling $49,258, and has received contributions from the County of San Joaquin totaling $15,750. The contribution of an estimated $41,769 in WPA labor has not been included in the aforementioned $100,000.

On March 23, 1942, the United States Army entered into a lease with the County of San Joaquin for the use of the fair grounds for military purposes. This lease stipulated rental payments to the county on the basis of $2,800 per annum. The 2d District Agricultural Association have shared in the rentals on the basis of $1,800 per year in accordance with the terms of the lease.

Number of fairs held 1921 to 1945, inclusive: 21.

3rd District Agricultural Association, Chico

History

The County of Butte is designated by the Agricultural Code as constituting the 3rd Agricultural District.

Under the provisions of Section 81 of the code the 3rd District Agricultural Association was formed on January 15, 1935, and assumed the sponsorship of the Butte County Spring Fair and Fiesta, originally organized and sponsored by the Chico Chamber of Commerce in 1933.

The association held fairs under the aforementioned name until 1939, when the official name was changed to Butte District Fair. From 1936 to 1939, inclusive, fairs which were sponsored by the 3rd District Agricultural Association were managed by the Chico Chamber of Commerce under more or less informal agreement with the board of directors. Beginning with 1940 the directors of the association assumed management of the fair operations and under this arrangement two fairs were conducted, one in 1940 and the other in 1941, when fair operations had to be discontinued due to wartime conditions.

Premium payments in 1937 were financed entirely by the Chico Chamber of Commerce from chamber of commerce funds, and bank loans totaling $1,000. All activities of the association during that year including payment of premiums, were entered on the records of the chamber of commerce. The 1938 premium payments were financed by a bank loan of $1,000, an advance from the Fair and Exposition Fund of an unexpended credit of $1,323.70, and loans from the chamber of commerce. As in 1937, premium payments were made through a chamber of commerce bank account. Beginning with 1939, when the association assumed personal management of the fair operations, premium payments have been financed by advances from the Fair and Exposition Fund or from accumulated surplus. The necessary accounting records have also been maintained by the association since that time.

The fairs conducted by the association prior to 1939 were held at the Veterans' Memorial Park in the City of Chico. In 1938, the City of Chico acquired property on Chico Avenue, at a reputed price of $3,000 which it donated to the 3rd District Agricultural Association on August 21, 1938. Upon the receipt of this donated property the association entered into a building program of capital improvements which included the construction of buildings and improvements to the grounds. By the end of 1941 these capital improvements had a recorded value in excess of $50,000. These capital additions were financed from the state fund, district fund and executive orders. In addition to these funds, the association obtained certain WPA grants from the Federal Government for the pursuit of its building program.

In addition to the 3rd District Agricultural Association holding its own fair on the fair site in 1941, the Butte County Board of Supervisors leased the grounds as a site upon which to hold the 1941 Butte County Fair.

During 1943, Butte County Board of Supervisors expended $14,344.78 for buildings and structures and $130.04 for equipment on the fair grounds of the 3rd District Agricultural Association for needed additions to provide for and house Mexican farm laborers. These expenditures were based on a lease executed June 4, 1943, between the 3rd District and the County of Butte.

4th District Agricultural Association, Petaluma

History

The Counties of Sonoma and Marin have been designated by the Agricultural Code as constituting the 4th Agricultural District.

Although the 4th District Agricultural Association has been in existence for many years we have been unable to find any record of its early history and the present day activities date from April 10, 1936, when a new directorate was appointed.

The plans at that time contemplated a fair large in scope. However, upon a reestablishment of a county fair at Santa Rosa it was decided that the district would limit itself to the encouragement of junior division activities.

The first fair conducted by the revived association was held during the summer of 1936. Fairs have been held annually since that time through 1941 during the month of July or August at Kenilworth Park in Petaluma. Normal fair activities have been discontinued since 1941 due to wartime conditions.

On July 14, 1936, $7,000 was advanced by the five Petaluma business men toward the reestablishment of the fair. As the original plans for the promotion of a large fair did not materialize, the directors, on March 15, 1937, authorized the return of $6,000 to the original sponsors.

Operations for the years 1937, 1938, and 1939 were financed through bank loans. During 1940 and 1941 an advance was obtained from the Fair and Exposition Fund.

The facilities at Kenilworth Park, where the fairs are held, have been leased from the City of Petaluma for a period of 10 years, from July, 1937 at an annual rental of $1, with the option of renewal for an additional 10-year period. Capital improvements constructed by the association on this property include a pavilion, stock sheds, improvements to an administration building and additions to the exhibit building. In addition, the association has improved the grounds by laying of culverts and drains, and the planting of trees. These capital additions and improvements, approximating $15,000 have been financed from the state fund and district fund.

Number of fairs held 1921 to 1945, inclusive: 6.

6th District Agricultural Association, Los Angeles

History

The 6th District Agricultural Association was formed pursuant to Chapter 69, Statutes of 1880, entitled "An act to form agricultural districts, to provide for organization of agricultural associations therein, and for the management and control of the same by the State." This act divided the State into 11 districts, each of which included several counties, but numerous amendments to the act have greatly increased the number of districts, many of which now contain but a single county, and others only a portion of a county. The 6th District, which originally contained several counties, now is composed of only a portion of Los Angeles County. One of the chief functions of the associations provided for in this act is the holding of annual fairs or maintaining permanent exhibitions of agricultural and industrial products of the district.

The 6th District Agricultural Association maintains a permanent exhibit of California products at Exposition Park in Los Angeles. The association, being created and receiving its authority under special provisions of the statutes, is in a different category than all other district agricultural associations. The association does not conduct a fair and pay premiums and it receives no allocations from the Fair and Exposition Fund under Section 92 of the Agricultural Code. Since 1933, support for the activities of the association has been provided by a special appropriation of $15,000 annually. For 1933 and 1934, the appropriations were made from the General Fund. Subsequent to 1934, funds have been provided by appropriations from the Fair and Exposition Fund. In addition, the district received revenue from a contract for rental land upon which Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum is situated, which produces the sum of $30,000 annually.

The early history of the association is extremely obscure. A search of the statutes shows that the association has received appropriations from the General Fund of the State as far back, at least as 1880. It appears from the chain of title of Exposition Park that the association in 1885 made the original acquisitions of land which was eventually to be Exposition Park. The site, at that time, was known as Agricultural Park, and activities there were conducted by an association known as the Southern District Agricultural Association. We are unable to discover if the 6th District Agricultural Association succeeded to the Southern District Agricultural Association in its activities.

Record of activities between the years 1885 and 1909, except those as shown by the chain of title and funds appropriated by statutes, are extremely sketchy. By Chapter 699, Statutes 1909, an appropriation of $250,000 was given to the association for the construction of an exposition building. In 1913 under Chapter 629 an additional appropriation of $60,000 was made for the furnishing of the exposition building. Subsequent to that time the Legislature has appropriated funds each biennium for the support and maintenance of the Los Angeles exhibit. Since 1933, the appropriation has been $15,000 annually.

In 1910 the association entered into two leases: One with the County of Los Angeles, which permitted the erection of a museum building upon the state property. The County of Los Angeles paid a flat sum of $10,000 for this privilege. The other lease was with the City of Los Angeles, which gave the city the privilege of erecting playgrounds, etc. The City of Los Angeles paid $10,000 for this lease which also required the city to keep in order the entire grounds of Agricultural Park. These two leases were to run for 50 years from 1910.

At another time the association entered into an agreement with the Los Angeles Driving Club. This agreement allowed the Driving Club the use of the track and also the right to erect barns on the premises. This agreement was canceled in January, 1915, by the association paying the Los Angeles Driving Club the sum of $3,000. This amount was supposed to reimburse the Driving Club for the value of the barns which they had erected upon state property.

In 1917, the sum of $50,000 was appropriated by the Legislature under Chapter 773, as a revolving fund by the 6th District Agricultural Association for the purpose of creating, installing and maintaining special expositions at Exposition Park, during the "Liberty Fair" which was held December 4 to December 15, 1918, inclusive. Section 4 of the act stated that "The said sum of $50,000 so appropriated, shall be returned to the State Treasurer by said 6th District Agricultural Association on or before the 30th day of June, 1919. The fair suffered a loss of $38,510.32, and returned only the balance of the $50,000 to the State Treasurer.

During the years 1932 to 1935 the association gave considerable financial assistance to the National Orange Show and the Los Angeles County Fair.

During this same period the provisions for the financing of operations of the association changed substantially. For some years prior to August, 1933, the association had been financed wholly by appropriations from the General Fund. On that date, Chapter 634, Statutes of 1933, provided for the establishment of the 6th District Agricultural Association Fund and appropriations therefrom for expenditures by the association took effect. Appropriations from the General Fund continued to be available for expenditure by the association for support until June, 1935, so that expenditures for similar activities were made by the association from both funds.

Chapter 768, Statutes of 1935, became effective on September 15, 1935, which materially improved the association's financial status. This act canceled the association's liability to the General Fund in the amount of $38,510.32, which was the loss sustained on the operations of the "Liberty Fair" held in 1918.

Considerable capital improvements have been made at Exposition Park. As of October 31, 1943, improvements had a recorded value of $434,343.76, and equipment $49,945.22.

7th District Agricultural Association, Monterey

History

The County of Monterey is designated by the Agricultural Code as comprising the 7th Agricultural District.

Under the provisions of Section 81 of the Code the 7th District Agricultural Association was formed on July 7, 1936, under the sponsorship of the Monterey County Fair, Ltd.

The Monterey County Fair, Ltd. had conducted fairs previously in the years 1925, 1926, 1931 and 1932. From 1936 to 1940, inclusive, this organization conducted fairs annually under contract as agent for the 7th District Agricultural Association. In 1931 the Monterey County Fair, Ltd. terminated its activities and the Association conducted the fair direct. Since that time, no fairs have been held due to wartime conditions. During the first half of 1942 the grounds were used by the United States Army as a Japanese concentration center.

In 1937 the association purchased 15 acres of a 21.34-acre tract on the county road to the Monterey Airport. In subsequent years the remainder of this tract was acquired at a total purchase price of $21,340, from funds supplied by the district's premium apportionments. At the time of the original acquisition of the fair site a construction program was inaugurated to install a water system, to improve the grounds, and to construct buildings. These improvements were financed from State fund, Executive Orders, and W.P.A. contributions.

Additional construction, which took place in 1941, consisted of a rest room building and minor improvements to other buildings. In addition, the association acquired, by purchase, miscellaneous equipment amounting to $1,329.22 from the Monterey County Fair, Ltd. on the termination of that organization.

Premium payments for all years prior to 1940 were financed by loans from banks, secured by assignments of premium apportionments from the Fair and Exposition Fund. The funds for 1940 and 1941 premium payments were provided by the State as premium apportionment advances from the Fair and Exposition Fund.

Number of fairs held 1921 to 1945, inclusive: 10.

9th Agricultural Association, Eureka

History

The County of Humboldt was designated by the Agricultural Code as constituting the 9th Agricultural District. Under the provisions of Section 81 of the code, the 9th District Agricultural Association was formed on February 10, 1937, and has conducted fairs annually from 1937 to 1941, inclusive. Since that time, normal operations have been discontinued due to wartime conditions.

The association has conducted its fairs on property consisting of approximately 40 acres located just outside of the City of Eureka. Funds to purchase this property were secured by the district through popular subscription from the citizens of Eureka and surrounding communities. Subscriptions totaling $59,497.35 and bank loans totaling $10,344.63, were secured.

In 1938 the association arranged to sell the property and improvements to the State at a price of $40,000, the subscribers agreeing to accept approximately 50 cents on the dollar in full settlement of any district liability to themselves. An executive order in the amount of $40,000 was made available to the association in 1938 to provide funds with which to purchase this property. Of this amount $29,748.68 was returned to the subscribers, $10,344.63 was applied on the bank loan, $109 was applied on title insurance and $140.06 as interest on the bank loan. The excess of $342.37 was paid from state funds.

During the years 1937 and 1938 various parties undertook to finance construction work on this property without cost to the association. As far as we are able to determine these donations were in excess of $17,000.

In 1937, 1938, and 1939 premium payments were financed by loans from the Bank of America. Premium payments in 1940 and 1941 were financed by advances from the Fair and Exposition Fund.

Number of fairs held 1921 to 1945, inclusive: 5.

10th District Agricultural Association, Yreka

History

The County of Siskiyou is designated by the Agricultural Code as comprising the 10th Agricultural District.

Under the provisions of Section 81 of the Code the 19th District Agricultural Association was revived on October 23, 1937, when new directors were appointed and the decision was made to resume the fair after a lapse of several years. The 10th District Agricultural Association was originally organized on May 23, 1927. Information as to fair activities prior to the reorganization are lacking. Subsequent to 1937, fairs have been held annually through 1941. Since then, normal fair operations have been discontinued due to wartime conditions.

Premium payments for 1938 and 1939 were financed through various bank loans. Year 1940 and 1941 premium payments were financed by advances from the Fair and Exposition Fund.

The fair site, consisting of approximately 99 acres situated two miles south of the business sections of Yreka, is leased from the county of Siskiyou at an annual rental of $1. The lease is for a period of 25 years and terminates in October, 1966.

Two allotments totaling $7,000 were received from the Fair and Exposition Fund for capital expenditures apparently with the understanding the amounts would be matched with funds secured through donations from the county. Although the county donated $7,000 to the district, only $4,423.10 was expended therefrom for capital additions, the balance being used for ordinary district expenditures.

Capital improvements made on this property by the association consist of livestock pens, improvements to exhibit building and grounds and construction of a home for the secretary-manager.

Number of fairs held 1921 to 1945, inclusive: 4.

12th District Agricultural Association, Ukiah

History

The original 12th Agricultural Association comprised the Counties of Lake and Mendocino. Under Chapter 865, Statutes 1937, the district was rezoned to consist of the County of Mendocino only.

The 12th District Agricultural Association was organized in 1936 under Section 81 of the Agricultural Code. The association has held fairs annually from 1937 to 1941, inclusive. Since that time fair operations have been discontinued due to wartime conditions.

The tract of land chosen for the fair ground consisted of approximately 33 acres outside the City of Ukiah. Developments and improvements were made over the entire tract and when final negotiations were closed there was only enough money available to purchase approximately 23 acres of the tract. The purchase price of this tract was $17,500 and was paid in March, 1938. During 1939, an additional 2.6 acres of land, together with improvements thereon, were purchased for $2,600. Two parcels of the land remained unpurchased and on May 10, 1940, the association entered into a 40-year lease agreement with S. W. and Dorothy M. Watson with option to purchase. On June 24, 1940, the association exercised their option and purchased 4.33 acres for the amount of $4,000. In 1941, the remaining tract, consisting of 3.49 acres, was purchased for the amount of $3,260. In 1942, narrow strip of ground on the north side of the fair grounds was purchased for $20. This piece of land had not been included in the original deal for the fair site due to a question of easement, which subsequently was cleared.

The association has financed its operations from funds allocated from the Fair and Exposition Fund under Section 92 of the Agricultural Code and from funds derived from various other sources connected with the operation of the fairs. In addition, the Director of Finance allocated $18,630 from the permanent improvement appropriation to match moneys furnished by the association and others for acquiring and improving the fair ground property.

The association borrowed $29,000 from the bank to cover the financial outlay for the first fair. It was expected that the operating revenue would be sufficient to cover the operating expenditures, except for the payment of premiums, and that the loan for payment of premium awards and the capital outlay would be made under Section 92 of the Agricultural Code at the end of the year.

The apportionment for 1937 fell far below expectations, and the total amount of premiums paid out by all of the fairs approached closely the total amount available for distribution, with the result that little money was available for capital outlay expenditures after the loans for the payment of the 1937 premiums had been paid. In addition, the operating expenditures exceeded the operating revenues by several thousand dollars.

This situation left the association with a large operating deficit for the year. In the first part of 1938 the officers of the association solicited and secured donations amounting to $17,500 which covered that portion of the deficit which resulted from the capital expenditures.

The 1938 and 1939 premium payments were financed by bank loans which were secured by assignment of premium apportionment moneys. Premium payments for 1940 and 1941 were financed by advances from the Fair and Exposition Fund.

13th District Agricultural Association, Marysville

History

The Counties of Sutter and Yuba have been designated by the Agricultural Code as constituting the 13th Agricultural District.

The 13th District Agricultural Association was organized on June 30, 1934. At, or about that time, there was operating within the 13th Agricultural District, three other organizations whose objectives were closely allied to the objectives of the 13th District Agricultural Association. These associations consisted of the Sutter-Yuba Bi-Counties Fair Association, the Yuba-Sutter Fair Association, and the Marysville Rodeo Association. The 13th District Agricultural Association acquired the assets and assumed the liabilities of the other two organizations mentioned above.

We were informed the association held its first fair in the City of Marysville in May, 1936. However, in an examination of newspaper files under date of May 23, 1935, we found reference to a fair held in Marysville and conducted by the 13th District Agricultural Association. At the time the association conducted the 1936 fair, the Marysville Rodeo Association conducted a rodeo at the Flying J Ranch, located some seven miles from the City of Marysville. In February, 1937, the agricultural association took over the activities of the rodeo association and the rodeo was conducted by the agricultural association in the years 1937 and 1938, at the aforementioned Flying J. Ranch.

In all three years, mentioned, the agricultural exhibits were held at the auditorium in Marysville, whereas the livestock exhibits and the horse shows were held at the high school and the Flying J. Ranch. In 1939 the agricultural exhibits were again located at the auditorium but in 1940 were exhibited at the Yuba City Ball Park. In none of the years mentioned had the complete fair been held at the Flying J. Ranch. We understand that this was due to the inadequacy of the equipment at the ranch site and the fact that the ranch is located some seven miles from the City of Marysville.

In 1941 the association conducted the fair on its own fair site, a ten-acre tract, adjacent to the Yuba City Ball Park. Since that time, fair operations have been discontinued due to wartime conditions.

In February, 1937, the 13th District Agricultural Association assumed all liabilities of the rodeo association and acquired all assets of the rodeo association under an agreement mentioned in the minutes of the agricultural association, under date of February 23, 1937. At the time of the agreement several of the directors were also directors of the rodeo association. The liabilities assumed by the agricultural association under this agreement totaled approximately $8,606.86. A complete list of the liabilities incurred by the rodeo association and assumed by the agricultural association could be prepared from available information. The assets of the rodeo association acquired by the agricultural association consisted of certain improvements on the Flying J. Ranch and $537.13 in cash. The improvements represented an investment by the rodeo association of $6,465.08, according to the records of the association. It is to be noted that these improvements consisted of improvements to real property owned at that time by Mr. Edward C. Johnson, who was a director of the agricultural association and also president of the rodeo association. No evidence was found that this property was under lease to the rodeo association. It appeared that, legally, the rodeo association did not have title to the improvements made by it on the Flying J. Ranch. Therefore, at the time the aforementioned deal was consummated, it is questionable if the agricultural association acquired legal title to anything except the cash of $537.13, in exchange for the assumption of the liabilities totaling $8,606.86. However, the 13th District Agricultural Association did acquire title to all improvements on the Flying J Ranch when a final order of condemnation was issued by the Superior Court of the County of Yuba on September 6, 1938, in connection with the purchase of the property from E. C. Johnson, et al. The Marysville Rodeo Association, among others, was named as a party in the final condemnation order.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the fair association held on March 22, 1938, a resolution was adopted to the effect that the association agreed to purchase the property known as the Flying J Ranch, from Edward C. and Estelle Johnson, for the sum of $11,000. Mr. Johnson presented his resignation as a director of the association on March, 1938, and Mr. N. L. Nagler was appointed March 11, 1938, to succeed Mr. Johnson.

Title to the property was acquired by the 13th District Agricultural Association with the issuance of the final order of condemnation on September 6, 1938, and the payment of the $11,000.

The appraisal of the property showed a value of $6,000 for the 40 acres of land and $27,600 for the buildings and improvements, totaling $33,600. The total cost of the property to the association was approximately $28,833.36, consisting of liabilities of the Marysville Rodeo Association assumed by the district, $8,606.86; improvements on the property by the district itself prior to the purchase thereof, $9,763.63; and the payment of $11,000 by the district when the property was purchased, less asset of $537.13 in cash.

The association's records pertaining to capital expenditures were vague and incomplete. Numerous deals for the purchase of land and the cancellation of such deals were undertaken by individual directors without any record on the association's books. In January, 1937, a contract covering the purchase of 15 acres of land, adjacent to the Flying J Ranch, was executed for a total of $2,250. The association made a down payment of $1,000, and on November 30, 1940, there was a total of $1,714.88 due on the contract. The added amount represents interest and taxes paid by the vendor. This land was being purchased from the Farm Land Investment Co.

The association had also contracted to purchase an additional 100 foot strip of land which was being used as a road to the fair grounds and totals approximately 2.03 acres. This contract was executed on May 25, 1937, and the property was deeded to the association on May 23, 1938. Payments totaling $1,100 had been made under this contract with the Farm Land Investment Company.

Records of the association on either of the above transactions are, for all practical purposes, nonexistent. The history of these transactions as we have been able to reconstruct it was obtained from various sources of information, both formal and informal.

In 1941, the association made arrangements with Mr. Chas. Hust to take over the 15-acre tract at the Flying J Ranch property at a value of $2,250, to be applied against amounts presumably due Mr. Hust. The association had decided to abandon and completely dismantle the old fair site at the Flying J Ranch and to use any salvage for construction on a new site adjacent to the Yuba City Ball Park consisting of approximately 10 acres purchased for $1,000.

In 1944, the 40-acre tract was sold to Mr. Hust for $6,500.

We understand that negotiations are in progress for the purchase of an additional 20-acre tract adjacent to the new fair site at a price of $12,000. The $6,500 received from Mr. Hust has been augmented by an executive order in the amount of $5,500 in anticipation of the purchase of this additional property.

Insofar as we are able to ascertain the road property of 2.03 acres is the only portion of the old fair site still owned by the association.

Number of fairs held 1921 to 1945, inclusive: 7.

15th District Agricultural Association, Bakersfield

History

The County of Kern was designated by the Agricultural Code of 1933 as the 15th Agricultural District.

The association was originally formed in 1925 at Bakersfield, the first directors having been appointed February 3, 1925. Additional information as to the early history of the association is meager as records pertaining to its organization and operations prior to November, 1929, could not be located. However, subsequent transactions indicated that operations up to that date had resulted in a deficit of approximately $8,000.

A joint meeting of the directors of the association and of the Kern County Chamber of Commerce was held on November 6, 1929, with the object of resolving the financial difficulties of the association. At this meeting it was decided that then incumbent directors of the association would resign and a recommendation would be made to the Governor that the directors of the Kern County Chamber of Commerce and three members to be selected from among the retiring board be appointed as their successors. The new board members were appointed by the Governor and on December 18, 1929, a joint meeting of the board and creditors of the association was held and an agreement for settlement of the obligations of the association of approximately $13,500 was consummated. This agreement provided for payment to a creditors' committee of $5,174.50. The unpaid balances of these accounts have since become outlawed and we understand it is the contention of the association that the payment of $5,174.50 constituted a full settlement of the accounts.

A fair was held in 1930, after the reorganization of the association, which resulted in a surplus of $5,874.48. During the following years of 1931 to 1936, inclusive the association was inactive. In October, 1937, a junior livestock show was held. It was decided in 1938 to expand the livestock show to include adult as well as junior divisions. Fairs have been held annually since that time under the name of the Kern County Livestock Show. Subsequent to the year 1941, activities while not discontinued, have been considerably curtailed due to the wartime conditions.

Funds for the payment of 1937 premiums were advanced from the district fund In 1938, $2,769.69 was transferred from the district fund and $2,000 borrowed from the Bank of America to cover payment of premiums. Premium payments in subsequent years have been financed from state fund surplus.

Capital expenditures by the association have been made for only a few items of equipment. This is attributable to the use of the fairgrounds and equipment, etc., owned by the County of Kern and the Kern County Chamber of Commerce.

Number of fairs held 1921 to 1945, inclusive: 9.

17th District Agricultural Association, Grass Valley

History

The County of Nevada has been designated by the Agricultural Code as constituting the 17th Agricultural District.

Under the provisions of Section 81 of the code the 17th District Agricultural Association was formed on August 25, 1937.

Fairs were originally conducted on a temporary site at Grass Valley, but in 1940 negotiations were instituted for the acquisition of a permanent site at Watt Park, located in Grass Valley. In the following year, this fair site, together with the improvements thereon, was donated to the association by the Community Service League. The appraised value of the property at the time of conveyance was placed at $10,000 for the land and $1,500 for the improvements. Additional recorded capital expenditures by the association have not exceeded $3,000.

Premium payments in 1938 were financed by a loan from the Bank of America. Premium payments for the years 1939, 1940, and 1941 were financed by advances from the Fair and Exposition Fund.

Since 1941, normal fair operations have been discontinued due to wartime conditions.

19th District Agricultural Association, Santa Barbara

History

The Agricultural Code of 1933 designated "that portion of Santa Barbara County lying east of Gaviota and south of the Santa Ynez Mountains" as the 19th Agricultural District. Under the provisions of the code the 19th District Agricultural Association was formed on December 22, 1937.

The association has conducted fairs annually from 1938 to 1942, inclusive. The 1942 fair was limited to exhibits of fat stock by the 4-H and Future Farmers organizations. No fairs have been held since that time due to wartime conditions.

Premium payments in all years excepting 1942 were financed by temporary advances from district funds. In 1938 it was necessary to obtain a loan of $4,500 from the County National Bank and Trust Company for partial repayment of advances from the district fund. This loan was repaid from the allocation made to the association in January, 1939.

Fairs are conducted on grounds owned by the City of Santa Barbara with utilization of structures on that property owned by the Santa Barbara Horse Show Association, a predecessor organization. In 1931 a group of 29 individuals and firms underwrote the construction of improvements to the amount of $10,950 with the understanding that repayment was to be made from profits accruing from horse show operations. After the formation of the 19th District Agricultural Association in 1937 and its assumption of the conduct of the horse show, it was planned to continue payments to the underwriters by means of an annual rental of $1,100. The rental was paid for the years 1938 and 1939. In 1940 the Department of Finance withheld approval of the rental for the reason that certain persons were directors of both the horse show association and the district agricultural association. The records disclose that a balance of $5,102.50 is still due the underwriters. Since August, 1941, negotiations have been carried on between the association and the Santa Barbara County Polo Association with the view of having the latter transfer title to the State of the Serena Polo Field. No definite action had been reached by the early part of 1945.

Number of fairs held 1921 to 1945, inclusive: 4.

20th District Agricultural Association, Auburn

History

Placer County is designated by the Agricultural Code as constituting the 20th Agricultural District.

Under the provisions of Section 81 of the Code the 20th District Agricultural Association was formed on April 1, 1937.

The association has acquired approximately 20 acres of land for use as its fairgrounds. Under an agreement drawn on January 29, 1938, with the Dorsey Estate, the 20th District Agricultural Association purchased 5.1 acres for $4,500 and leased approximately 14.9 acres with the option to purchase for $5,500. In 1939, the association exercised its rights under the terms of the lease and purchased the entire Dorsey property. A final payment of $3,300 in 1942 completed the transaction.

In 1938, the Director of Finance allotted $48,000 from the permanent improvement appropriation as sponsor's contribution to a Works Progress Administration project for permanent improvements for the fairgrounds.

Capital additions completed by the district include a grandstand, exhibit building and improvements to the fairgrounds. These capital expenditures have been financed as follows:

Executive orders	$62,485 10
W. P. A. contributions	91,955 00
State fund	13,405 78
District fund	4,186 31
	$172,032 19

The association borrowed $1,700 from the bank to finance the initial expenditures and borrowed $24,497.69 to pay the 1937 premium awards. It was expected that the operating revenue would be sufficient to cover the operating expenditures, except the payment of premiums and part of the capital outlay, and that the loan for the payment of the premium awards and the balance of the expenditures for capital outlay would be paid out of the apportionment to be made at the end of the year.

The apportionment for 1937 fell far below expectations, with the result that little money was available for capital outlay expenditures after the loans for the payment of the 1937 premiums had been paid.

This situation left the association with an operating deficit for the year. In the first months of 1938 the officers of the association solicited and secured donations amounting to $7,310.50 which covered the greater part of the 1937 deficit.

The payment of the 1938 premiums was financed by borrowing $6,600 from the bank and advancing the balance of $581.23 from the district fund.

Premium payments for the years 1939, 1940, and 1941 were financed by advances from the Fair and Exposition Fund in contrast to bank loans for the earlier years.

In May, 1945, the association purchased from Frank and Pansay Northcut additional acreage consisting of 10 lots of land lying adjacent to the present fairgrounds. The Northcuts were paid $2,500. Additional charges paid by the association increased the cost to $2,591.56.

Number of fairs held 1921 to 1945, inclusive: 5.

21st District Agricultural Association, Fresno

History

The Counties of Fresno and Madera were originally designated as constituting the 21st Agricultural District. Amendments to the Statutes in 1937 split the district and after that time the 21st Agricultural District consisted of Fresno County only.

Under the provisions of Section 81 of the Agricultural Code, the 21st District Agricultural Association was formed on August 9, 1934.

The association has held fairs annually from 1935 to 1941, inclusive. Since that time normal fair operations have been discontinued due to the wartime conditions. These fairs were conducted by the Fresno County Junior Farm Bureau as agent of the association.

This agreement, dated August, 1934, for five years, and renewed January 3, 1939, for another five years, between the 21st District Agricultural District and the Junior Farm Bureau of Fresno County, gave the Junior Farm Bureau the exclusive right to hold the fairs of the association, each fair and the management thereof to be agreeable to the association. It was further stipulated in the agreement that all money received by the Junior Farm Bureau in connection with the fairs held, was to be used and held in reserve for use only in the conducting of fairs under the agreement, or renewals thereof, and that a proper accounting was to be made to the association each year after the fair had been held, and that any surplus at the expiration of the agreement or extensions thereof, was to revert to the association.

The fairs were held on land leased on May 18, 1937 by the association from the County of Fresno, for a period of 40 years, and sublet to the Junior Farm Bureau.

In February, 1942, this land was leased to the United States Government by the 21st District Agricultural Association, reserving certain buildings for the use of the district. The land was leased for the purposes of a Japanese reception center and other military purposes. As of May, 1944, the Army was still occupying the fairgrounds.

By May, 1944, capital expenditures for improvements on this leased property was in excess of $150,000; financed from the State Fund and executive orders. These capital additions included buildings and structures, lawns, shrubs, trees, equipment for exhibits and miscellaneous tools for maintenance purposes.

Number of fairs held 1921 to 1945, inclusive: 19.

21-A District Agricultural Association, Madera

History

The Statutes of 1937, amending the Agricultural Code of 1933, designated the County of Madera as the 21-A Agricultural District. Prior to that time the Counties of Fresno and Madera constituted the 21st Agricultural District.

The 21-A District Agricultural Association was formed on August 5, 1937, when the first directors were appointed. A fair has been held during the month of October of each year from 1937 to 1941, inclusive.

Premium payments for the years 1937, 1938, and 1939 were financed by loans from the Bank of America. Due to financial difficulties arising as a result of over expenditure for premium payments, in 1937 it was necessary to finance the association for other expenditures by loans amounting to $11,500 from the First National Bank of Madera until 1940. The association was able to liquidate all bank loans by the end of 1940. Premium payments in 1941 were financed by an advance of $8,784 from the Fair and Exposition Fund.

The association has held fairs on a site composed of the following described land located near the City of Madera:

1. 30 acres leased from the County of Madera on October 22, 1937, for a period of 25 years with option of renewal for an additional 15 years, at rental of $10 per annum.

2. 50 acres leased from Ham & Smith with option to buy at $150 per acre, rentals as follows:
   $1,500 September 15, 1937 to September 15, 1938.
   $1,000 per year for six years.

The rent paid to be applied on the purchase price if the option to buy is exercised.

The lease described above under (2) was rewritten in February, 1941, and provided rental at $1,000 per year from January 1, 1941, to January 1, 1945, with the option to purchase based upon a sum equal to $5,525.25, plus 6 percent interest on deferred payments of the rental, plus taxes or assessments paid by lessor, with credit toward payments of purchase price of rentals paid. J. O. and Agnes M. King are the lessors in the new agreement.

In November, 1942, the district requested the approval of the Director of Finance to purchase this property. His recommendation was that the purchase be deferred at that time due to the war emergency as the district had a lease until January 1, 1945.

During 1943 the district established and maintained an agricultural labor camp for the purpose of providing adequate facilities for imported farm labor. During 1944 this camp was leased to the Madera Growers Cooperative Association at a monthly rental of $75, for the period May 1, 1944, to December 31, 1944.

By the end of 1940, a sum in excess of $35,000 had been expended for capital improvements. These improvements were financed from state funds, district funds, executive orders and appropriations from Madera County. In 1943, approximately $5,000 was expended in the construction of the agricultural labor camp.

Number of fairs held, 1921 to 1945, inclusive: 5.

23d District Agricultural Association, Antioch

History

The County of Contra Costa comprises the 23d Agricultural District. Chapter 69, Statutes of 1880 originally included Contra Costa County within the 1st Agricultural District but amendments to the statutes later divided the counties into different districts and designated that Contra Costa County was to constitute the 23d Agricultural District.

The 23d District Agricultural Association was formed on September 21, 1936, under the provisions of Section 81 of the Agricultural Code.

The association has conducted fairs annually under the name of the "Contra Costa County Fair" from 1937 to 1941, inclusive. Since then, no fairs have been held due to wartime conditions.

The association has financed its operations from funds apportioned from the Fair and Exposition Fund under Section 92 of the Agricultural Code and from funds derived from various other sources connected with the operation of the fairs.

The association borrowed $2,500 from the Bank of America in 1937, and $3,000 in 1938. The 1938 loan was secured by an assignment of the anticipated apportionment from the Fair and Exposition Fund. In addition to these loans, the Antioch Chamber of Commerce, which collaborated with the association in sponsoring the 1937 fair, advanced $1,479.24, of which $832.55 was repaid and again loaned for the 1938 fair. The difference of $646.69, which was the approximate 1937 loss reported by an association committee was considered as a donation. Premiums for 1939 were paid from prior years' surplus, while advances from the Fair and Exposition Fund were used to finance 1940 and 1941 premium payments.

Prior to 1941 the site on which the fairs were held was rented from the Antioch Chamber of Commerce but in 1941 the association purchased the property, consisting of 42 acres, for the sum of $6,413.80. Capital expenditures for structures and improvements to grounds, in excess of $9,500, have been made on this property.

Number of fairs held 1921 to 1945, inclusive: 6.

24th District Agricultural Association, Tulare

History

The Counties of Tulare and Kings are designated by the Agricultural Code as constituting the 24th Agricultural District.

Under the provisions of Section 81 of the code the 24th District Agricultural Association was formed on June 30, 1936, and took over activities previously conducted by private organizations. Since its formation, the association has held fairs annually from 1936 to 1941, inclusive. No fair operations were conducted in 1942 or 1943. The association held a fair in 1944 consisting of a horse show and exhibitors made up of the 4-H and Future Farmers organizations.

A 40-year lease was secured by the association on April 8, 1937, on the fair grounds and improvements owned by the Tulare Chamber of Commerce for a consideration of $1 a year. Fairs for subsequent years have been held by the association on these leased grounds.

Prior to 1939 the association financed its early years operations through bank loans from the Bank of America. Premium payments for the years 1939, 1940, and 1941 were financed by advances from the Fair and Exposition Fund. Premium payments for 1944 were paid out of accumulated surplus.

Expenditures for capital additions and improvements to the fair grounds have been made by the association. These expenditures were financed out of state funds, district funds and executive orders.

Fair held September 27 to 29, 1945, inclusive.

Number of fairs held 1921 to 1945, inclusive, 19.

25th District Agricultural Association, Napa

History

The County of Napa is designated by the Agricultural Code as comprising the 25th Agricultural District.

The early history of the 25th District Agricultural Association is not disclosed by the records except that the original directors were appointed on October 7, 1919, and that an appropriation of funds from the State was received in 1922. A group of eight directors was appointed on March 14, 1934, but apparently no fairs were held until 1936.

The 1936 and 1937 fairs were conducted by the Napa County Farm Bureau, but no copy of an agreement between the association and the farm bureau is available. The fairs held during 1938 and 1939 were conducted by the association through subcommittees, and the 1940 and 1941 fairs were managed for the association by the secretary. Since then, the association has discontinued normal fair operations due to wartime conditions.

The association has conducted its fairs on a 17-acre site leased from the City of Napa. Lease agreements, which will terminate in July, 1962, provide for an annual rental of $301. Each year thus far, the City of Napa has relieved the association of its liability under the lease. We are informed that the lease is soon to be canceled as arrangements are in process to deed the fair tract to the district in return for a Department of Finance agreement to allocate up to $50,000 for permanent improvements on the grounds.

In 1938 and 1940 a total of $11,225 was received by the association through executive orders for capital improvements. These orders were presumably matched by the district through donations from citizens and organizations. At the present time, capital improvements on the fair site are in excess of $55,000.

Premium payments during 1937 were financed from surplus. Bank loans were obtained in 1938 and 1939 and advances from the Fair and Exposition Fund in 1940 and 1941 for the payment of premium awards.

Number of fairs held 1921 to 1945, inclusive: 6.

26th District Agricultural Association, Plymouth

History

The County of Amador is designated by the Agricultural Code as comprising the 26th Agricultural District.

Articles of association of the 26th District Agricultural Association were filed with the Secretary of State on November 15, 1937. The directors met on September 1, 1938, for the purpose of completing the organization and electing officers.

Since its formation, the association has held fairs annually through 1941, when normal fair operations were discontinued due to wartime conditions.

Premium payments in 1938 were financed by bank loans secured by an assignment of premium apportionment money. Year 1939, 1940, and 1941, premium awards were financed by advances from the Fair and Exposition Fund.

The fair site, consisting of 8.06 acres lying within the city limits of Plymouth, was donated to the association by the Detert Estate. An appraised value of $1,250 was given to this property at the time of the gift. In 1943 the association purchased a small parcel of land adjoining the existing fair grounds to provide additional entrance facilities to the grounds. By the end of 1943, the association has expended a sum slightly less than $2,000 for capital improvements on this property.

Number of fairs held 1921 to 1945, inclusive: 4.

27th District Agricultural Association, Anderson

History

The County of Shasta is designated by the Agricultural Code as comprising the 27th Agricultural District.

The 27th District Agricultural Association was formed in 1933 and succeeded to activities previously carried on by a private association. Prior to that year the fair was known as the Shasta Livestock Association, having been first organized in 1921. During the years 1931 to 1934 no fairs were conducted. However, fairs were held during the years 1935 to 1941, inclusive, after which they were discontinued due to wartime conditions.

The first record that we found of premium payments was in 1935, financed by local subscriptions. In 1936 and 1937 premium payments were financed from credit balances remaining in the Fair and Exposition Fund, while 1938 premium payments were made from the proceeds of bank loan. Financing of 1939, 1940, and 1941 premium payments was accomplished by advances out of the Fair and Exposition Fund.

The site upon which the 27th District conducts its fairs comprises 33 acres and is owned in fee, having originally been paid for by public subscription.

No records were available from which definite determination could be made of the value of land and improvements at the time of acquisition by the district in 1933. By the end of 1944 the association had expended funds in excess of $55,000 for capital purposes on this property. In addition the association received a P. W. A. grant of $8,680.53, which is not included in the above figures.

Number of fairs held 1921 to 1945, inclusive: 16.

29th District Agricultural Association, Sonora

History

The County of Tuolumne is designated by the Agricultural Code as comprising the 29th Agricultural District.

Under the provisions of Section 81 of the code the 29th District Agricultural Association was formed on July 13, 1937.

The initial fair of the association was held in September, 1937, on the grounds of the Sonora Union High School. The 1938 fair was held on a site leased from Norwood S. Tronslin. This site containing 15.66 acres in and adjoining the City of Sonora was purchased for $2,500 from N. S. Tronslin in February of 1939. The 1939, 1940 and 1941 fairs were held on this property. Fair operations since 1941 have been discontinued due to wartime conditions.

The association has financed its operations from funds apportioned from the Fair and Exposition Fund under Section 92 of the Agricultural Code, from funds donated by Tuolumne County, and from funds derived from various other sources connected with the operation of the fairs.

The association borrowed funds in 1937, 1938 and 1939 from the Sonora branch of the Bank of America. The 1938 and 1939 loans were secured by an assignment of the anticipated apportionment from the Fair and Exposition Fund. In addition to these loans, Tuolumne County donated $6,000.60 in 1938, and $6,463.53 in 1939. The 1940 and 1941 premium award payments were financed by advances from the Fair and Exposition Fund.

Since the purchase of the fair site in 1939 the association has expended funds in excess of $25,000 for buildings and improvements to grounds. These expenditures were financed by state funds, district funds and executive orders.

Number of fairs held 1921 to 1945, inclusive: 5.

30th District Agricultural Association, Red Bluff

History

The County of Tehama is designated by the Agricultural Code as comprising the 30th District Agricultural Association.

The 30th District Agricultural Association was organized on May 15, 1927, with the appointment of the first directors. Fairs apparently were conducted prior to that date, but no extensive investigation was made of the early history of this fair.

After the formation of the association, fairs were conducted almost every year to 1941. The 1937 fair, like the fairs preceding it, was held as a Future Farmer and 4-H exhibition. In 1938, the fair was primarily for the junior clubs, but a few open class exhibits were incorporated. The 1939 and subsequent fairs were greatly expanded to include almost all classes allowed by the Division of Fairs and Expositions. Fair operations have been discontinued since 1941 due to wartime conditions.

In 1939 the association borrowed $12,500 from the Bank of America to finance premium payments in that year, secured by an assignment of 1939 allocation. In 1940 and 1941, advances were secured from the Fair and Exposition Fund to finance premium payments.

On May 15, 1939, the association entered into a lease agreement with the Tehama County Board of Supervisors providing for a 25-year lease of the fair grounds with an option to extend for 15 more years, at a yearly rental of $10. Prior to this time, the association had been leasing the grounds on an informal year to year basis. This fair site is located approximately two miles south of the city of Red Bluff on Highway 99E. The association has subleased the grounds to the rodeo association for the same consideration for such times as will not interfere with the operation of the fair.

Since the signing of the 25-year lease for the fair grounds, the association has entered into a building program which included construction of building and improvements to grounds. At the present time the association has expended funds in excess of $33,000 on these capital additions. During the harvest season of 1943 the site was used as a Mexican farm labor camp. Capital expenditures in excess of $6,000 were expended by the association for necessary improvements and equipment to house and maintain the Mexican farm laborers quartered at the fairgrounds.

Number of fairs held 1921 to 1945, inclusive: 13.

31st District Agricultural Association, Ventura

History

The County of Ventura is designated by the Agricultural Code as comprising the 31st Agricultural District.

Under the provisions of Section 81 of the Code the 31st District Agricultural Association was formed on December 13, 1937, when the first directors were appointed.

The association has conducted fairs only during the years 1940 and 1941 were financed out of advances from the Fair and Exposition Fund.

The association has conducted its fairs on a site known as Seaside Park, which is leased from the County of Ventura for a period of 25 years at an annual rental of $10. This lease was signed on August 12, 1940.

Capital expenditures by the association for buildings and improvements on this property have not exceeded the sum of $3,000.

33d District Agricultural Association, Hollister

History

The County of San Benito is designated by the Agricultural Code as comprising the 33d Agricultural District.

Under the provisions of Section 81 of the Agricultural Code the 33rd District Agricultural Association was formed and held its first meeting on July 30, 1937.

The association conducted its initial fair from October 8 to 10, 1937, and has held fairs annually through 1941 when normal fair operations were discontinued due to wartime conditions.

The association has financed its operations from donations, loans and premium allocations. San Benito County in 1937 donated $1,000 to the association to meet expenses incurred in the organization and promotion of the first 33d District Fair.

In order to provide funds for the payment of awards during 1937 and 1938, the board of directors found it necessary to negotiate with two banks for loans. These loans were secured by an assignment of the state allocation applicable to each year. The necessity for further borrowing from the banks for payment of premium awards was eliminated when the association negotiated with the State and received premium advances for the years 1939, 1940 and 1941.

The association has conducted its fairs upon property which Mrs. Julia Bolado Davis and her two sons offered to deed to the association in 1938. This site, known as Bolado Park, is located approximately eight miles from the City of Hollister. However, litigation arose concerning the title and a claim of W. I. Hawkins who held a lease on the property until August, 1938. The association has denied Hawkins' alleged interest in the property, which is based on purported improvement investments. Until title is acquired the association is occupying the property in accordance with the offer it accepted from Mrs. Davis.

The San Benito County Fair, known as the Saddle Horse Show, Rodeo and Fair, has also been conducted upon the same property which is used by the 33d District Agricultural Association. Both associations have made capital expenditures for improvements and buildings upon this property, and according to the records these expenditures were apparently on the same buildings. At the present time the 33d District Agricultural Association's capital expenditures for buildings and improvements is approximately $15,000, while the San Benito County Fair records disclose an investment slightly in excess of $1,500.

34th District Agricultural Association, Cedarville

History

The County of Modoc is designated by the Agricultural Code as comprising the 34th Agricultural District.

Under the provisions of Section 81 of the code the 34th District Agricultural Association was organized July 13, 1937, but it was not until February 7, 1938, that the directors held their first meeting and elected officers.

It appears from available records that the first fair in this district was held in 1921 under the management of the Surprise Valley-Modoc County Fair Association. The next fair was held in 1926 and, from that year through 1941, a complete fair was conducted. Due to wartime conditions, operations since 1941 have consisted only of an annual rodeo and small horse show. As late as the end of 1940 the minute records of the association indicated that the Surprise Valley-Modoc County Fair Association was still in existence and acted jointly with the 34th District Agricultural Association in conducting the fairs.

Premium payments in 1938 and 1939 were financed by bank loans. The 1940 and 1941 premium payments were financed by advances from the Fair and Exposition Fund. Years 1942, 1943 and 1944 premium payments were paid out of accumulated surplus.

The fairs have been held at Cedarville on property leased from the County of Modoc. The lease agreement, entered into on April 1, 1940, runs for a period of 25 years with an option of extending said lease for another such period, at a "nominal rental of $1 per year." The lease contains a clause giving the lessee the right to remove improvements at any time prior to termination of the lease. In 1941 a piece of property comprising about four acres was acquired at a purchase price of $250. This property, which contains no improvements, lies immediately north of the fair site and is used for parking purposes.

Capital additions and improvements made by the association on the fairgrounds are valued at approximately $30,000, the major portion consisting of buildings and structures.

35th District Agricultural Association, Merced

History

The statutes of 1939 have designated the County of Merced as comprising the 35th Agricultural District. Originally the district consisted of the Counties of Merced and Mariposa but amendments to the Statutes in 1939 split the district and after that time the 35th Agricultural District consisted of Merced County only. Mariposa County was designated as District 35A.

Under the provisions of Section 81 of the Agricultural Code, Articles of association were originally filed with the Secretary of State on August 14, 1934. The directorate, consisting of eight members, represented the Counties of Merced and Mariposa.

The initial fair of the association was held in 1935. In 1936, the district directors decided against holding a fair. In 1937 the conduct of district fairs was again resumed and have continued through 1941, when due to wartime conditions, normal fair operations were discontinued.

The 1937 and 1938 premium payments were financed by bank loans. Premium payments for the years 1939, 1940 and 1941 were financed by advances from the Fair and Exposition Fund.

The association fairs were held at Merced on property consisting of 51 acres located on J Street between 7th and 11th, and owned in fee by the County of Merced and leased to the association for a 25-year period beginning May 15, 1937, at a total rental of $10.

In 1940 the association purchased for $100 a parcel of land adjoining the present fair site. During 1942 and 1943 two additional parcels of land were purchased situated immediately adjacent to the entrance of the fairgrounds. In 1944 the sum of $3,000 was paid for a parcel of land adjacent to the fairgrounds consisting of one acre and buildings. Based on appraisals received by the association, land was valued at $1,000 and the buildings at $2,000.

A rather extensive building program has been carried out on the fairgrounds. By the end of 1944 capital expenditures for buildings and improvements to the grounds totaled $135,000, in addition to $58,000 in federal funds granted to the district for WPA labor. The association's expenditures for capital improvements were financed out of district funds, state funds, donations and executive orders.

Number of fairs held 1921 to 1945, inclusive: 6.

35-A District Agricultural Association, Mariposa

History

The 35-A Agricultural District was created by amendment of Section 80 of the Agricultural Code by the Statutes of 1939. Prior to the creation of this district, the County of Mariposa was included in the 35th Agricultural District.

Under the provisions of Section 81 of the Code the 35-A District Agricultural Association was formed, the first directors being appointed on September 28, 1939.

The association has held fairs from 1939 to 1942, inclusive; after that time no fairs were held due to wartime conditions.

During the period of organization prior to the first fair, the activities of the association were financed by means of advances received from the acting secretary and from funds donated by the County of Mariposa.

As operations in the first two years of the association's existence resulted in deficits, it was necessary to secure funds by borrowing from the Bank of America. An advance for payment of 1939 premiums of $6,000 was obtained from the Fair and Exposition Fund and $3,000 was borrowed from the bank, secured by an assignment of premiums. Proceeds of the bank loan were expended on capital additions. Year 1940, 1941, and 1942 premium awards were financed by means of advances received from the Fair and Exposition Fund.

The association has held its fairs on a tract of approximately 20 acres which the association leased for a period of six months on October 7, 1939, and subsequently purchased under an option provision of the lease. The total cost of the association was $1,437.50.

In addition to the land purchase the association has made expenditures for construction of buildings and improvements to the fairgrounds which are in excess of $23,000. These expenditures have been financed from state funds, district funds, and executive orders.

Number of fairs held 1921 to 1945, inclusive: 4.

36th District Agricultural Association, Dixon

History

The County of Solano is designated by the Agricultural Code as comprising the 36th Agricultural District.

Under the provisions of Section 82 of the Code the 26th District Agricultural Association was formed on April 10, 1936.

The association held complete fairs each year from 1936 to 1942, inclusive. The 1943 fair was limited to one day and was considerably smaller in scope.

Prior to 1941 the association had financed its operations, to a large extent, by various loans from the First National Bank of Dixon. In addition to the loans from the First National Bank of Dixon, the association borrowed various amounts from the Bank of America. Premium payments in subsequent years have been financed out of accumulated surplus.

Fairs held in 1936, 1937, and 1938 were conducted on grounds owned by the City of Dixon without charge to the association. In 1939, the association acquired a 25-year lease on these same grounds and inaugurated a program of capital additions. In 1941 the association purchased a strip of land south of the fairgrounds for the amount of $1,000. Included in the building program was a grandstand and exhibit building and new horse barns. Improvements were also made to the grounds. To assist in the financing of these capital additions the association received an executive order in the amount of $2,500 from the Fair and Exposition Fund. This was augmented by a PWA allocation of $10,567.77.

October 30, 1945. No fair held in 1944.

Fair held in 1945—May 4th, 5th, and 6th.

37th District Agricultural Association, Santa Maria

History

The Agricultural Code has designated "that portion of Santa Barbara County not included in the 19th District" as comprising the 37th Agricultural District. The 19th District is described as all that portion of Santa Barbara County lying east of Gaviota and south of the Santa Ynez Mountains.

The 37th District Agricultural Association was formed in the latter part of 1928, the first directors being appointed January 5, 1929.

We were informed that a fair was held in 1928 prior to the formation of the association and that fairs were held each year since that time in the City of Santa Maria. The 1941 fair was the last fair to be held. Since that time no fairs have been conducted due to wartime conditions.

Prior to 1937 records are not available for information as to the means used in financing premium payments. Since that time, premium payments in all years were financed by unexpended balances in the Fair and Exposition Fund and by advances therefrom.

Early fairs were held on grounds leased from July 1, 1933, to June 30, 1938. The lease was extended by oral agreement. Early in 1941, the City of Santa Maria purchased grounds for fair purposes and leased them to the association for a period of 25 years. The 1941 fair was the first held at the new location.

Capital improvements on this property total $24,000. Two executive orders received in 1941 amounting to $17,000 was expended for these capital improvements. The balance of the improvements was financed from state funds.

Number of fairs held 1921 to 1945, inclusive: 13.

38th District Agricultural Association, Turlock

History

The County of Stanislaus is designated by the Agricultural Code as comprising the 38th Agricultural District.

Under the provisions of Section 81 of the code the 38th District Agricultural Association was formed on May 27, 1935, and assumed the conduct of fairs in the City of Turlock under the name of the Stanislaus County Fair.

Fairs have been held each year since the formation of the association until 1941. Since 1941 no fairs have been conducted due to wartime conditions. Prior to 1939 all fairs were conducted by a joint committee representing the association and the Rex Ish Post of the American Legion under an agreement which provided in part that any surplus other than that arising from state allocations was to be shared equally.

Premium payments during 1937, 1938, and 1939 were financed, for the most part, through loans from the First National Bank of Turlock. These loans were secured by assignment of future allocations from the Fair and Exposition Fund. Premium payments in 1940 were financed from the association funds together with an advance from the Fair and Exposition Fund. The 1941 premium payments were financed by an advance from the Fair and Exposition Fund.

Fairs have been held on Legion Field in Turlock and adjoining property known as the Perry Ranch The association purchased the Perry Ranch in July, 1937, for $15,000. and at the same time secured an option to purchase Legion Field for $12,500. During 1938, bleachers, flood lights, and other miscellaneous items were purchased from the Rex Ish Post and moved to the association's property. A credit of $1,500 against the purchase price of Legion Field was allowed the association in consideration of these purchases when they completed acquisition of Legion Field in 1939, for $11,000. During 1940 additional land was purchased for $4,000. In 1942, $5,250 was expended for the purchase of additional acreage.

Capital additions on this property include a grandstand constructed in 1938 at a cost of approximately $14,000. Association funds were augmented by an executive order for $7,500 to assist in the construction of this building. In 1940 another executive order of $28,000 was granted to the association from which the construction of an exhibit building was financed. A $30,000 executive order was granted to the association in 1941. These funds were to be expended for improvements to the fairgrounds. At this time the program has been completed only in part and the balance of the work deferred indefinitely because of war conditions.

On March 27, 1942, the grounds were leased to the United States Government for military purposes This lease calls for a rental of $100 per annum.

Number of fairs held 1921 to 1945, inclusive: 7.

39th District Agricultural Association, Angels Camp

History

The County of Cavaleras is designated by the Agricultural Code as comprising the 39th Agricultural District.

Under the provisions of Section 81 of the code the 39th District Agricultural Association was formed on April 22, 1937.

Since its formation the association has held fairs in all years through 1942, when, due to war conditions, fair operations were discontinued.

During its early years the association financed its operations by several loans from the Bank of America. By 1940 it was no longer necessary for the association to finance its operations by loans as its own resources were ample. The 1942 premium payments were financed out of accumulated surplus augmented by a $1,500 advance from the Fair and Exposition Fund.

Fairs conducted by the association have been held in conjunction with the Angels Boosters Club. The agreement between the association and the Angels Boosters Club was to the effect that the association was to receive 10 percent of the gate receipts each year.

These fairs have been held on land located approximately 2 miles south of Angels Camp. From 1937 to 1941, inclusive, this site was leased by the Angels Boosters Club and loaned to the association, but in 1942 the property consisting of 55 acres was acquired by the association, at a cash price of $6,500. In 1938 the association erected an administration building on the leased land at an approximate cost of $600. This building was destroyed by fire in 1939, with no insurance coverage. Another administration building was erected in 1939. In addition the association purchased a water and lighting system on the land. Additional improvements and buildings have been constructed and equipment purchased to facilitate the holding of fairs.

40th District Agricultural Association, Woodland

History

The County of Yolo comprises the 40th Agricultural District.

Under the provisions of Section 81 of the Agricultural Code the 40th District Agricultural Association was formed on April 29, 1936.

The association has held fairs each year through 1941, when, due to wartime conditions, normal fair operations were discontinued.

Fair operations have been financed to a large extent by loans secured from the following sources:

Year	Amount	Source
1936	$1,000 00	Individuals
1937	2,500 00	County of Yolo
1937	1,000 00	Bank of America
1938	5,000 00	County of Yolo
1939	5,000 00	County of Yolo
1940	8,784 60	Advance from Fair and Exposition Fund
1941	9,663 00	Advance from Fair and Exposition Fund

The fairs held in 1936 and 1937 were conducted on property, the use of which was donated. The 1938, 1939, and 1940 fairs were held on property leased from Robert and Pearl Gill under an agreement dated September 27, 1938. The agreement provided that the Association could purchase the property for $4,250 at any time during the period of the lease, which ran from October 1, 1938, to September 30, 1941, rental paid to be applied against the purchase price. The property proved unsuitable for the use of the fair due to its location and county zoning restrictions. In February, 1941, the association purchased a permanent fair site consisting of 20 acres and, in addition, the County of Yolo donated 20 acres valued at $6,000. At the time of the purchase of the permanent fair site the association had expended funds in excess of $5,000 for buildings and structures on the leased grounds. A considerable amount has been expended toward the development of the 40-acre site. By the end of 1941, capital expenditures in excess of $19,900 had been made under the program for development. With the exception of an executive order in amount of $6,000, the association financed the development from its own resources. In 1943, capital additions and improvements to the grounds amounted to $3.906.10 and consisted entirely of improvements for the purpose of making a portion of the fairgrounds suitable for an agricultural labor camp.

41st District Agricultural Association, Crescent City

History

The County of Del Norte comprises the 41st Agricultural District.

The 41st District Agricultural Association was formed on December 20, 1922, under provisions of Section 81 of the Agricultural Code. Since 1923 the association has conducted a fair each year with the exception of the years 1928, 1933, 1934, and 1942.

Funds for payment of premiums in 1937 and 1938 were obtained by bank loans. The notes were secured by a combination of assignments of allocations from the Fair and Exposition Fund, personal endorsements of the directors. and posting a registered Del Norte County warrant as collateral. The association borrowed $15,000 from the Bank of America in 1939, to finance premium payments for that year. This loan was secured by an assignment of 1939 premium allocations from the Fair and Exposition Fund. Year 1940 and 1941 premium payments were financed out of advances from the Fair and Exposition Fund. The 1943 premium payments were financed out of accumulated surplus.

On February 1, 1939, the 41st District Agricultural Association entered into a lease agreement with Del Norte County whereby the association became the lessee of the property upon which all fairs have been held. The lease was written for a period of 25 years at an annual rental of $1. This lease was rewritten as of January 20, 1942, for a period of 99 years, at an annual rental of $1.

Capital expenditures for construction and improvements to the grounds and the purchase of equipment have all been financed out of the association's own resources. Major items of construction include a new grandstand, a poultry building and a horse barn. The association has been able to expend a total of slightly less than $47,000 out of its own funds for these improvements.

Number of fairs held, 1921 to 1945, inclusive: 19.

42d District Agricultural Association, Orland

History

The County of Glenn constitutes the 42d Agricultural District.

Under the provisions of Section 81 of the Agricultural Code the 42d District Agricultural Association was formed in March, 1931.

It is evident that fairs have been held as early as 1921 under the name of the "Glenn County Fair" which title is still commonly used.

The association was appropriated the sum of $5,000 under Chapter 1207, Statutes of 1931, for the payment of premium awards for the years 1931 and 1932. Subsequent to that time the association has received allocations from the Fair and Exposition Fund, in accordance with Section 92 of the Agricultural Code. Premium payments for 1937 and 1938 were financed by loans from the Bank of America, and in 1939, 1940, and 1941, by advances from the Fair and Exposition Fund.

Fairs conducted by the association prior to the purchase of the permanent fair site in May, 1939, were held on property the use of which was donated by the town of Orland.

Plans to purchase a 40 acre tract known as the McDevitt property as a permanent site for the fair were approved by the Department of Finance in May, 1939. On May 31, 1939, the property was purchased for $1,400, with an additional lot purchased from William E. Johnson for $250 August 6, 1940. On September 22, 1941, another small parcel of land adjacent to the fair grounds was purchased from George M. and Mary Ellen Foetz for $250. A building project under WPA approval began in 1940, and under this plan $27,654 was transferred from the State Fund account to the Division of Architecture to finance construction, together with $36,025 from various executive orders granted from the Fair and Exposition Fund.

At present a portion of the fair grounds and buildings is being utilized as a farm labor camp to house and feed agricultural laborers imported from Mexico. In connection with the Mexican farm labor camp, expenditures in excess of $3,000 for improvements and alterations have been made by the association.

Number of fairs held, 1921 to 1945, inclusive: 14.

44th District Agricultural Association, Colusa

History

The County of Colusa is designated by the Agricultural Code as comprising the 44th Agricultural District.

Under the provisions of Section 81 of the Agricultural Code the 44th District Agricultural Association was formed on July 12, 1935.

The initial fair of the association was held in 1936 in the City of Colusa under the name of the Colusa County Harvest Festival. Fairs were held in subsequent years through 1941 when normal fair operations were discontinued due to wartime conditions.

The 1937 premium awards were paid from an advance from the unexpended balance of the 1936 premium apportionment. Premium awards in subsequent years were financed by advances from the Fair and Exposition Fund.

The association in 1936 and 1937 held its fairs on rented property. On September 14, 1937, and May 7, 1938, approximately 57 acres of land were purchased as a fair site upon which fairs have been held beginning in 1938. During 1943 an agricultural labor camp was constructed on the fair site at an aggregate cost of $7,883.68 which was paid from state funds.

Prior to the construction of the labor camp capital expenditures for construction and improvements to the grounds was in excess of $40,000, financed by state funds, district funds, and an executive order.

Number of fairs held 1921 to 1945, inclusive: 7.

45th District Agricultural Association, Imperial

History

The County of Imperial is designated by the Agricultural Code as comprising the 45th Agricultural District.

The 45th District Agricultural Association was formed on October 5, 1921, when the first directors were appointed. We are unable to secure any information as to activities of the association between that date and 1930.

The 45th District Fair, known as the Imperial County Mid-Winter Fair, was held each year at Imperial from 1930 to 1942, inclusive, when due to wartime conditions operations were suspended.

The financial condition of the association has been such that it was not necessary to resort to bank borrowing or advances until 1941 for the payment of premium awards. In 1941 and 1942 the association received advances from the Fair and Exposition Fund for the payment of premiums.

The association leases fair grounds and buildings owned by the County of Imperial at the rental of $5 per year. The lease, dated October 18, 1937, is for a term of 25 years and is renewable at the option of the association on the same terms and conditions. The lease provides that all necessary buildings, structures, and fixtures be constructed at the sole expense of the association; and that at the expiration of the lease, said buildings, structures, and fixtures shall become the property of the county.

The association has constructed buildings and improvements on this leased property in an amount exceeding $240,000. These capital additions have been financed from state funds, district funds, and executive orders.

Number of fairs held 1921 to 1945, inclusive: 16.

46th District Agricultural Association, Hemet

History

The 46th Agricultural District was created by Chapter 425, Statutes of 1927. Under the provisions of the statute the 46th District Agricultural Association was formed in July, 1927.

The early history of the 46th District Agricultural Association is incomplete. It appears that the 46th District Agricultural Association succeeded the Southern Fair Association in the management of the Southern California Fair. We were unable to determine the number or in what years the Southern Fair Association had conducted fairs, but were able to ascertain that the 46th District held fairs in the years, 1927, 1928, 1929, and 1930.

In the past it had been the custom for the county supervisors of Riverside County to appropriate annually the sum of $15,000 for the aid of the Southern California Fair. These donations were continued by the county to the 46th District Agricultural Association until 1930, when the supervisors went on record that they would make no further appropriations for this purpose.

Fairs held for the above mentioned four years and two additional years were financed by the following state support appropriations and donations from the County of Riverside.

	Support appropriations	County donations
Year 1927	$10,000.00	$15,000.00
Year 1928	10,000 00	15,000.00
Year 1929	12,500.00	15,000 00
Year 1930	12,500 00	10,000.00
Year 1931	12,500.00	---
Year 1932	12,500 00	---

The association's records disclosed that on November 30, 1930, the operations of the four fairs had resulted in a deficit of $8,776.70. We were unable to find any record of operations during 1931 and 1932. Property and equipment accounts showed recorded values in excess of $5,500 as of this date.

Insofar as we are able to determine the association was inactive from 1933 to 1936, inclusive, and resumed operations in 1937.

During 1936, a utility turkey show was held in Hemet by Mr. Miles E. Nickles as a private enterprise. The following year Mr. Nickles was appointed secretary of the 46th District Agricultural Association, and the 1937 turkey show was conducted by the association under an agreement with the Hemet Valley Chamber of Commerce as agent. All fairs subsequent to 1937 have been conducted solely as activities of the 46th District Agricultural Association. Due to wartime conditions, no fairs have been held since 1941.

Premium payments for both 1939 and 1940 were financed by loans from the Citizen's Trust and Savings Bank of Riverside secured only by the endorsements of the association's directors. Premium payments for 1941 were financed by an advance from the Fair and Exposition Fund.

In July, 1942, the district purchased two tracts of land totaling 11.35 acres for the sum of $3,011.19. This land was to be used as a permanent fair site and was located three-quarters of a mile west from the center of Hemet. Prior to 1942, the Farrar-Loomis Seed Company had donated the use of its warehouse and the surrounding property as the locale for the fairs.

During 1943 an agricultural labor camp for the purpose of providing adequate facilities for imported farm labor was constructed on the newly purchased property.

Number of fairs held 1921 to 1945, inclusive: 5.

48th District Agricultural Association, Los Angeles

Hon. Ernest R. Geddes, Assemblyman Forty-ninth District, State of California
Pomona, California

Dear Mr. Geddes: I am repeating that portion of a letter which I read to you which gives a brief outline as to our intended uses for our proposed building, and reasons for the selection of the site.

"First, that a building of this type is designed for the purpose of serving many industries other than livestock and dairies, i.e., industrial products, horticultural products, etc. Second, the building is also designed for the holding of conventions, athletic events, school events, dog shows and various other types of exhibitions and expositions. Third, keeping in mind the full utility value of such a building, it must be near as practicable to a large center of population and near many surrounding communities, and must have transportation, major bi-secting highways, hotel accommodations for those out of town people who may use or wish to visit these facilities. Fourth, an agricultural district is not created entirely for the purpose of showing local products, but invites and encourages exhibits from all over the State, as well as other states of the nation."

"The 48th District Agricultural Association made an extensive study, keeping in mind the above, and also that property acquired must be donated to the State, and after several years of negotiation and search, was able to find this location which seemed to fit all requirements. As you know, it is next to the proposed new freeway which will place our building within 10 minutes driving time from the metropolitan center of Los Angeles Atlantic Boulevard in front of it drains Los Angeles County from Long Beach to Pasadena. Washington Boulevard, bordering on the south runs from Venice to Whittier, and the Santa Ana Freeway, bordering it on the north runs from metropolitan Los Angeles to Santa Ana. It is near to, and surrounded by seven small communities. It is near the industrial plants of Los Angeles County, as well as the nurseries of Montebello. Last, but not least, it has sewer facilities, fire hydrants and trackage which are required."

Under separate cover, I am sending you a map which gives the exact location and size of the property.

I enjoyed having the pleasure of meeting with you, and hope that we might meet again. If there is any further information I may furnish you in regards to the business of the 48th District Agricultural Association, please feel free to call me.

Sincerely yours,

H. W. LANE, Secretary-Treasurer

MEMORANDUM OF UNDERSTANDING

At a meeting held in Mr. Gurley's office, Los Angeles, on May 10th, 1946, there were present Mr. William A. Smith, Chairman of the Board of the Los Angeles County Supervisors, Mr. James S Dean, Director of Finance, State of California, Mr. Isaac Shakarian, Vice President, and Mr. William L. Houghton, Director, and Mr. Harold W. Lane, Secretary and Treasurer, of the 48th District Agricultural Association, Mr. F. G. Gurley, President, the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway Company, and Mr. C. J. Doherty, Vice President, Central Manufacturing District, Inc The purpose of the meeting was for discussion of the acquisition of property to provide land for use by the 48th District Agricultural Association and by the County of Los Angeles for playground and recreational use.

It was concluded and mutually agreed between the parties that Central Manufacturing District, Inc., would deed at nominal legal cost of transfer approximately 16 9 acres of land to the 48th District Agricultural Association situated in the northwesterly section of Block 49 of Rancho Laguna and would execute similar deed to Los Angeles County for approximately 12 acres of land, the location to be mutually agreed upon as either a portion of Block 62 or Block 63.

In consideration of the deeds aforementioned, Los Angeles County and/or the 48th District Agricultural Association will agree to the rezoning of the remaining undeeded portions of Blocks 49, 62 and 63 to M-2 from their present zoning of R-1 and R-3 and will likewise arrange for the vacation of Camfield Avenue between Anaheim Telegraph Road and Jillson Street and will arrange for franchise or permits at nominal legal cost of all public streets and alleys between the Santa Fe main line north of 26th Street to reach Blocks 49, 62 and 63.

The 48th District Agricultural Association shall initiate and carry through in conjunction with Los Angeles County the acquisition of the additional area of land between Como Street and Harbor Street, Industrial Avenue and Camfield Avenue.

It was mutually agreed that if Harbor Street between Camfield Avenue and Eastland Avenue shall be opened up the land necessary for this 60 feet or wider shall be dedicated by the abutting property owners.

49th District Agricultural Association, Lakeport

History

The 49th Agricultural District was created by Chapter 865, Statutes of 1947, which became effective Augst 27, 1937.

Under the provisions of Section 81 of the Agricultural Code the 49th District Agricultural Association was organized on September 23, 1937, and held its first meeting of February 10, 1938.

The 49th District Agricultural Association succeeded to the Lake County Water Sports, Rodeo and Fair Association, and the County Fair Association, acquiring by donations the few assets of those organizations when they became inactive.

The association has held fairs each year from 1938 to 1941, inclusive; since then, fairs have not been conducted due to wartime conditions.

The 1938 fair was held on property owned by the City of Lakeport, the use of which was donated. On August 18, 1939, the association leased this property from the City of Lakeport on a 25-year lease at a rental of $1,000 per year.

The 1938 premium payments were financed by a loan of $6,600 from the Bank of America, secured by an assignment of the Fair and Exposition Fund allocation. In 1939, the district secured an advance of $5,834.47 from the Fair and Exposition Fund to finance premium payments. Year 1940 and 1941 premium payments were financed out of advances received from the Fair and Exposition Fund.

Capital expenditures in excess of $13,000 have been made by the association. These disbursements were for construction of an administration building, judging arena, hog barns, sewer, tent equipment, office equipment, tools, and a Chevrolet truck. In 1943 a Mexican labor camp was constructed on the fair site. Improvements in excess of $800 were made for the housing and feeding of the Mexican nationals.

Number of fairs held 1921 to 1945, inclusive: 4.

50th District Agricultural Association, Lancaster

History

The 50th Agricultural District was created by Chapter 231, Statutes of 1941, which became effective September 13, 1941. By this act, Section 80 of the Agricultural Code was amended to provide for this district which consists of "that portion lying north of the south line of Township 5, North, San Bernardino Base" of Los Angeles, County.

Under the provisions of Section 81 of the code the 50th District Agricultural Association was formed on September 13, 1941.

The association is successor to the Antelope Valley Fair Association which promoted the Antelope Valley Fair and previously, the Hay Festival, which was inaugurated approximately 10 years prior to 1941.

The association conducted its first fair from October 30th to November 2, 1941, on a site owned by the Antelope Fair Association and used for previous fairs. Since that time, fair operations have been discontinued due to wartime conditions.

In order to finance premium payments for the year 1941 the association received an advance of $6,000 from the Fair and Exposition Fund.

In February, 1942, a deal was consummated with the Antelope Valley Fair Association whereby the grounds and improvements owned by that organization were acquired by the 50th District Agricultural Association for $4,500 paid for from an allotment made available to the association by an executive order in the amount of $20,000. An appraisal by the Bank of America at Lancaster of the property acquired placed the value of land at $5,000 and the improvements thereon at $13,436.

Subsequent to acquisition of the fair site the sum of $14,584.99 was expended out of the executive order for $20,000 for ground improvements amounting to $2,284 and building improvements in the amount of $12,300.99.

Number of fairs held 1921 to 1945, inclusive: 2

Alameda County Fair, Pleasanton

History

Chapter 717, Statutes of 1921, and subsequent legislation have appropriated funds to be expended for the encouragement of county fairs. The County of Alameda has held fairs at Pleasanton, California, in the years 1939, 1940 and 1941. Since then, no fairs have been held due to wartime conditions. These fairs have been held in connection with a horse show and horse racing on the site of the old Pleasanton race track at Pleasanton. These fairs were conducted by the Alameda County Agricultural Fair Association under a contract with the County of Alameda. Under the terms of the contracts the County of Alameda was liable only to pay premiums approved by the board of supervisors and the State Department of Finance up to the maximum base allowable in each year.

Premium payments in 1939 were made by county warrants from funds advanced by the county and later reimbursed by state funds. Premium payments in 1940 and 1941 financed out of advances from the Fair and Exposition Fund.

The county, on October 8, 1940, completed the purchase of the old Pleasanton race track, consisting of 100 acres, for $40,000, for a permanent fairgrounds. Of this amount, an initial payment of $10,000 was made June 11, 1940. This amount was matched by an executive order from the Fair and Exposition Fund in the amount of $10,000.

The amount of $95,530.69 has been expended for capital improvements on the fairgrounds, and has been paid from the following funds:

State fund	$7,912.13
Executive orders	85,618.56

In addition to these capital expenditures from state funds, it is reputed that county and fair association funds have also been expended for capital improvements on this fair site.

Number of fairs held 1921 to 1945, inclusive: 4.

Butte County Fair, Gridley

History

Chapter 717, Statutes of 1921, appropriated funds to be expended for the encouragement of county fairs.

The first fair to be held by the County of Butte appears to have been in 1938. Fairs were held annually since then through 1941 when wartime conditions made it necessary to discontinue normal fair operations.

The 1938 and 1939 fairs were conducted by the Paradise Fair and Apple Show Association under a contract with the Butte County Board of Supervisors. Under the terms of the contract, the County of Butte was obligated only to pay approved premiums up to the maximum base allowable in each year. Both of these fairs were held at Paradise, California.

The 1940 fair was conducted by the Gridley Junior Chamber of Commerce under a contract with the county board of supervisors. This contract also limited the liability of the county to approved premiums paid. This 1940 fair was conducted at Gridley.

On May 19, 1941, the Butte County Board of Supervisors appointed 12 members as the Butte County Fair Board. The 1941 fair was held on a site leased from the 3d District Agricultural Association at Chico.

Premium payments for the years 1940 and 1941 were financed by advances from the Fair and Exposition Fund.

Prior to 1943 the only capital expenditures made by the county were for equipment. Capital expenditures for 1943 consisted of $14,334.78 for buildings and structures and $130.04 for equipment, all expended on county warrants from the state fund account. These expenditures were made on the fair grounds of the 3d District Agricultural Association at Chico for needed additions to provide for and house Mexican farm laborers. These expenditures were based on a lease between the County of Butte and the 3d District Agricultural Association.

Number of fairs held 1921 to 1945, inclusive: 4.

El Dorado County Fair, Placerville

History

The El Dorado County Fair was first held in 1937. Fairs have been held in subsequent years through 1941 when, due to wartime conditions, normal fair operations were discontinued.

In holding these fairs, the county has entered into contracts with the El Dorado Post No. 119, American Legion. Under these contracts the Legion was to put on and manage the fairs, and the premiums were to be paid by the county out of allocations made available from the Fair and Exposition Fund. The Legion, in turn, delegated the duty of handling the fairs to a committee which operated under the name of the "El Dorado County Fair Association." We understand that the committees have been composed of members of the Legion. In addition, the county board of supervisors appointed two of their members to act for the supervisors in all matters concerning the fair.

In 1937, the fair association borrowed $30,000 from the bank on a note secured by an assignment of the anticipated apportionment executed by the board of supervisors and approved by the Department of Finance. In 1938, the county advanced $5,500 for the payment of premiums on two claims filed by the manager of the fair association. In both these years many irregularities and discrepancies occurred in the payment of premiums. Premium payments for the years 1938, 1940, and 1941 were financed by advances made by El Dorado County.

The first two fairs were held on a site known as the "Bennett Memorial Park" in Placerville. Negotiations were started in 1938 for the acquisition of a permanent fairground site. In 1939, land comprising 17 acres was purchased at a cost of $2,601.50. In 1940, an additional piece of land, comprising 1.63 acres and adjoining the fair site, was purchased from the American Legion at a cost of $200, and an option on 20 acres adjoining was acquired for $100. This additional acreage was purchased in 1941 for $3,500.

In 1940, an executive order in the amount of $21,600 was made available to the county from the Fair and Exposition Fund to match a WPA project in connection with capital improvement on the permanent fair site. In addition, approximately $12,000 more has been expended for capital additions and equipment.

Number of fairs held 1921 to 1945, inclusive: 5.

Humboldt County Fair, Ferndale

History

The Humboldt County Fair is conducted under the control and direction of the Humboldt County Board of Supervisors. They appoint directors who are to manage and conduct the fair under their direction. In the past the supervisors have appointed these men from the membership of the Humboldt County Fair Association, an organization that was organized in 1897 and which has either conducted the Humboldt County Fair or assisted every year through 1941. Since 1941 normal operations have been suspended due to wartime conditions.

Operations of the fair association have been financed by advances from Humboldt County and from the Fair and Exposition Fund. The records disclose that the County of Humboldt have received allocations from the Fair and Exposition Fund under Section 92 of the Agricultural Code since 1934. In 1940 the county received an advance from the Fair and Exposition Fund to finance premium payments for that year. The 1941 premium payments were financed out of surplus.

Capital expenditures for construction and improvements to the fairgrounds are in excess of $108,000, which has been paid from state funds. Funds received from premium allocations have been augmented by executive orders totaling $71,250 which were issued for capital improvements. From these executive orders the sum of $20,000 was expended in 1938 for the purchases of land.

Number of fairs held 1921 to 1945, inclusive: 19.

Lake County Fair, Lakeport

History

On June 15, 1937, the Board of Supervisors of Lake County resolved to hold an agricultural fair at Lakeport during the month of September, 1937. On this same day the board of supervisors entered in an agreement with the Lake County Water Sports, Rodeo and Fair Association, a nonprofit cooperative organization, to represent the county in the management and conduct of the fair.

The County of Lake agreed to appropriate the sum of $4,000 in premiums for agricultural, horticultural, livestock, viticultural, and floricultural exhibits at the fair for the year 1937.

The County of Lake has not sponsored a fair since 1937.

The County of Lake secured only one apportionment from the State on the basis of premiums paid. The excess of apportionment over premium paid amounted to $718.25. This excess was expended as follows:

September, 1939—100 poultry display coops	$288.40
September, 1939—Erection of fence at 49th District Agricultural Fair Grounds	421.00
April, 1940—Nails "to be used for fair purposes"	8.85

Lassen County Fair, Susanville

History

The Lassen County Fair was organized in 1923 and has been held annually since then with the exception of the years 1932 to 1935, inclusive. Fairs have not been conducted subsequent to 1941 because of war conditions. These fairs have been held at Susanville under supervision and management of the county board of supervisors and county officials.

It was not until January, 1937, that the Lassen County Fair received allocations from the Fair and Exposition Fund under Section 92 of the Agricultural Code, based on premium payments for the year 1936. Premium payments for 1937 were financed by an advance from the County of Lassen. In 1938, payment of premiums was made by county warrant and the county reimbursed by a transfer from state funds. Premium payments in 1939 were paid by county warrants and the county reimbursed by an advance from the Fair and Exposition Fund. Year 1940 and 1941 premium payments were financed by advances from the Fair and Exposition Fund.

In 1939 and 1940, $3,062.35 was expended from state funds for the purchase of land. An additional $35,000 has been expended from state funds for buildings and improvements on this fair site. A substantial portion of such capital expenditures was made in connection with a county SRA project. These expenditures have been financed solely out of premium allocation money.

Number of fairs held 1921 to 1945, inclusive: 15.

Mendocino County Fair and Apple Show, Boonville

History

Chapter 717, Statutes of 1921, and subsequent legislation, have appropriated funds to be expended for the encouragement of county fairs.

Mendocino County has held fairs under the name of the Mendocino County Fair and Apple Show from 1937 to 1941, inclusive. Since 1941, fair operations have been discontinued due to wartime conditions.

These fairs have been conducted by a fair association known as the Anderson Valley Apple Show and Fair, a nonprofit cooperative organization, acting by and through its board of directors under written agreements between the county and the association.

In 1937, at the time that the first agreement was entered into, the Anderson Valley Apple Show and Fair leased their holdings, valued at approximately $7,000, to the County of Mendocino for a term of 40 years at the annual rent of $1 per year. This fair site is located at Boonville, a distance of 27 miles southwest of Ukiah.

The Mendocino County Fair and Apple Show has financed its operations by borrowing from Mendocino County, and by obtaining advances on the premium allocations from the Fair and Exposition Fund. In 1937, the county advanced $10.801 for the payment of premiums, being reimbursed at the time that the next allocation was received. The county advanced $11,069.73 in 1938 for premium payments, which was also returned at the time of receipt of the following allocation. The 1940 and 1941 premium payments were financed out of advances from the Fair and Exposition Fund.

The county's investment in capital assests paid out of state funds allocated under Section 92 of the Agricultural Code totals very nearly $49,000. This amount includes the purchase for $2,750 in 1940, of a tract of land comprising approximately 16.53 acres adjacent to the grounds leased from the association.

Number of fairs held 1921 to 1945, inclusive: 11.

Monterey County Fair, King City

History

The Monterey County Fair is known as the Salinas Valley Fair, and was sponsored by the Monterey County Board of Supervisors under an agreement with the Salinas Valley Fair Association, a nonprofit corporation. The agreement, dated March 6, 1941, between the board of supervisors and the association, contained no provision extending its effect beyond the 1941 operations.

The 1941 fair was conducted on a site leased from the City of King by the County of Monterey. This lease was dated February 25, 1941, for 25 years and covered the southerly half of the rodeo grounds at the King City recreation area.

Capital expenditures of the Salinas Valley Fair Association consist of $3,104.40 for construction of buildings and $356.92 for scales and wash racks. The County of Monterey expended $2,500 received from donations by individuals of King City, matching a similar amount of state funds expended under an executive order.

The premium payments for the 1941 fair were financed from an advance of $6,000 from the Fair and Exposition Fund.

Number of fairs held 1921 to 1945, inclusive: 1.

Napa County Fair, Calistoga

History

This fair, originally known as the Silverado Fair and Horse Show, is now known as the Calistoga Fair and Horse Show. The County of Napa first sponsored the fair in 1937 under an agreement with the Calistoga Fair Association, a noncapital stock corporation, incorporated under date of October 8, 1935.

These agreements which were made for the years 1938, 1939, and 1940, provided for payment of premiums by the county, and all other expenses in connection with the conduct of the fair were to be borne by the Calistoga Fair Association. No agreement was signed for the 1941 fair.

Premium payments in 1937, 1938, and 1939 were financed by the Calistoga Fair Association, which received reimbursement from apportionments received from the Fair and Exposition Fund. Premium payments for 1940 and 1941 were financed from advances received from the Fair and Exposition Fund.

In 1938 the county purchased the fair grounds owned by the Calistoga Fair Association at a stated price of $40,000. The fair grounds are located in the western part of the City of Calistoga. Funds for the purchase of this property were to be provided by an executive order in the amount of $20,000, and $20,000 from other sources. It appears that $4,000 of the additional $20,000 was provided by the association as a donation to the county, and the other $16,000 was never actually paid to the association but was deleted from the delivery price. The fact that the money purportedly paid by the county for the purchase of the property was donated by the fair association results in an effective donation of $20,000 of the stated price by the fair association. The files of the Department of Finance disclose several appraisals of the property in excess of $40,000 and a report by a public accountant in January, 1938, showed that the fair association actually expended $38,798.15 on the property. The land was given an appraised value of $9,000.

In addition to the improvements acquired at the time of purchase of the fair site the county's investment in capital assets paid out of state funds allocated under Section 92 of the Agricultural Code is in excess of $17,000.

Number of fairs held 1921 to 1945, inclusive: 5

Orange County Fair, Santa Ana

History

The Orange County Fair held in 1939 was the first fair conducted under the arrangement whereby the county secured apportionments from the State on the basis of premium paid.

These fairs were conducted under the name of the "Orange County Fair and Horse Show" by the Assistance League of Santa Ana, a non-profit, eleemosynary corporation, acting as agent for the county.

Contracts between the county and league provide that receipts from fair operations, other than funds appropriated to the county from the Fair and Exposition Fund, were to be held by the league to meet the costs of conducting the fair. The 1941 contract further provided that should any profit be realized from operations, the first $2,000 was to be retained by the assistance league and any additional profit divided equally between the county and the league. The additional profit from operations in 1941 was the sum of $870.36 which was divided equally between the contracting parties.

Funds for payment of 1939 premiums which were advanced by the County of Orange, were repaid to the county from moneys received from the State. Premium payments for 1940 and 1941 were financed from advances from the County of Orange. The county was subsequently reimbursed by the Fair and Exposition Fund.

No expenditures for grounds have been necessary, as the fairs have been held in the Municipal Bowl in Santa Ana, the use of which has been donated by the City of Santa Ana. Equipment purchases paid from state funds exceed $6,000, which included the cost of the construction of movable stalls, paid by executive order in the amount of $993.13.

Number of fairs held 1921 to 1945, inclusive: 3.

Placer County Fair. Roseville

History

The first Placer County Fair eligible for participation in allocations from the Fair and Exposition Fund was held in October, 1937, and was conducted by the Roseville Businessmen's Association under an agreement with the county board of supervisors. In April, 1938, the fair committee of the Roseville Businessmen's Association incorporated as a nonprofit, nonstock corporation under the name of the Placer County Fair Association. The fair association acquired the assets and assumed the liabilities of the fair committee of the businessmen's association. Fairs held from 1938 to 1941, inclusive, have been conducted by the Placer County Fair Association under agreement with the county board of supervisors.

Funds for payment of 1937 premiums were obtained by a loan from the county of $10,000 and a loan from the Bank of America of $5,000. Both loans were made to the Roseville Businessmen's Association. In 1938 an advance of $6,600 from county funds was made by the board of supervisors. Premiums for 1939, 1940, and 1941 were paid from funds advanced from the Fair and Exposition Fund.

No capital expenditures were made from state funds during 1937 or 1938; however, the fair association expended approximately $16,000 on construction and improvements to leased property upon which the fairs were held. The fair association purchased the land, consisting of 260 lots in the City of Roseville, on May 19, 1939, for $7,134.82. Funds for the purchase of this land was derived from the sale of the state fund of 20 of the lots, together with the improvements thereon consisting of a grandstand, rodeo arena, and other improvements, for the sum of $10,550. The purchase price was allocated as $2,000 for land and the remainder for the improvements. An additional 45 lots were deeded to the county on May 3, 1939. The deed specified a nominal consideration of $10, but no disbursements from state funds were made, and it would appear that the actual consideration was the purchase of the 20 improved lots.

On May 12, 1939, the county leased the remaining 195 lots from the fair association at an annual rental of $1 with an option to purchase any part at not less than $100 per acre.

Approval of the Department of Finance was obtained on March 5, 1940, for payment from state funds of $4,064 for 36 lots, $2,885 for horse barns and $500 for stock pens, the latter items being improvements constructed by the fair association on the 36 lots purchased.

On April 15, 1941, the Department of Finance approved a payment of $6,228.32 from state funds to the Placer County Fair Association for the purchase of 42 lots. In August, 1942, the county purchased with state funds an additional 64 lots of the fair grounds from the fair association for $9,884.05.

Number of fairs held 1921 to 1945, inclusive: 5.

Plumas County Fair, Quincy

History

The 1940 Plumas County Fair was the first fair sponsored by Plumas County eligible for allocations from the Fair and Exposition Fund. In 1941, another fair was held but due to wartime conditions no fairs have been held since that time.

These two fairs were conducted by the Plumas County Fair Association under contracts with the county board of supervisors.

Activities in 1940 chargeable against state funds were financed by two executive orders totaling $8,000; by a premium advance of $6,000; and by $8,000 appropriated by the county to match the $8,000 allocation under the executive orders. The aforementioned $6,000 premium advance and $8,000 donated by the county were held in county funds from which premiums and capital expenditures were made. The $8,000 appropriated under the executive orders was held in the State Treasury against which claims for capital expenditures were filed. The 1941 premium payments were financed out of a $6,600 advance from the Fair and Exposition Fund.

The two fairs were conducted on grounds located at Quincy and leased from the United States Division of Forestry. This lease by the county covers a period of 25 years from 1940 "free of rent."

The county has expended amounts in excess of $22,000 from state funds for improvements on the leased grounds. These improvements include barns, pump house, grandstand, rodeo plant, wells, etc.

Riverside County Fair, Indio

History

The Riverside County Fair has been conducted under the name of the "Riverside County Fair and Coachella Valley Date Fiesta" by the Indio Civic Club, an organization, acting as agent for the County of Riverside. The Indio Civic Club was originally unincorporated but later was incorporated under the date of September 20, 1940.

The agreements between the county and the Indio Civic Club have in general recited that the latter will, under supervision of the county, handle all fair operations except the payment of premiums offered. The agreements further provided that gross receipts should be applied against gross expenditures, allocation of state funds and approved disbursements therefrom excepted. The contracts were silent upon the subject of compensation to be paid to the civic club for its services in conducting the fairs. However, it appears to have been the intention that the excess of revenues over expenditures, if any, was to be divided equally between the county and the Indio Civic Club.

The 1938 fair was the first fair conducted under the arrangement whereby the county secured apportionments from the State on the basis of premiums paid. Fairs have been held annually through 1941. Since then, normal fair operations have been discontinued due to wartime conditions.

Year 1941 premium payments were financed out of an advance from the Fair and Exposition Fund. In prior years funds have been advanced from the general fund of the county for the payment of premiums.

The fairs have been held in the ball park in Indio, which is owned by the City of Indio, and made available for fair purposes without charge.

In August, 1941, the county acquired a new 40-acre site for the fair at Indio. Funds for the purchase of this property were acquired as follows:

From Riverside County Fair Account	$6,507 50
From county (general tax levy)	3,500 00
	$10,007 50

On December 15, 1941, $10,000 was allocated by an executive order out of the Fair and Exposition Fund to the county for permanent improvements at the new site.

Number of fairs held 1921 to 1945, inclusive: 4.

Sacramento County Fair, Galt

History

The 1937 Sacramento County Fair was the first fair sponsored by Sacramento County which was eligible for allocations from the Fair and Exposition Fund. This fair was an outgrowth of former annual livestock exhibitions.

The county has held fairs from 1937 to 1941, inclusive. Due to wartime conditions no fairs were held in 1942 or 1943; the next fair being held in 1944.

Fairs held for the years 1937 through 1940 were conducted by the Galt Chamber of Commerce under agreements with the County of Sacramento. In May, 1941, the county entered into an agreement with the Sacramento County Fair Association, a nonprofit corporation, for the operation of the 1941 fair. While the time specified in the above agreement covered only the 1941 fair, the association continued to exercise more or less supervision over the county fair grounds and the collection of certain revenues accruing from rentals.

In October, 1944, the county board of supervisors passed a resolution naming the "Sacramento County Fair Committee" consisting of six members, exclusive of the fair manager, to supervise the operations of a fair in November, 1944. This committee and the manager functioned as the fair management but the handling of finances was in the hands of representatives from the county auditor's office.

Early records relating to the financial history of the fairs were sketchy and inadequate. The agreement with the Galt Chamber of Commerce contained the provision that the county advance the necessary funds for the payment of premiums for which reimbursement was to be made from allocations received from the Fair and Exposition Fund. It appears that the 1941 premium payments were financed out of an advance from the Fair and Exposition Fund. Premium payments were financed out of accumulated surplus in 1944.

In 1939 the county expended $2,800 from state funds for the acquisition of 61 lots for use as a fairgrounds. In January, 1942, an additional $4,250 was expended for a parcel of land adjacent to the original fair site.

Capital expenditures totaling $108,000 have been expended for construction and improvements to the grounds. These expenditures have been financed from surplus funds resulting from premium allocations, allocations by executive orders of $34,200, and by WPA grants. Sponsorship of WPA projects has resulted in capital contributions of $55,893.72.

Fair held September 1, 2, and 3, 1945. Board of supervisors authorized the "Sacramento County Fair Committee" consisting of 10 members to hold fair. Buildings and improvements for 1945 were $25,036.02.

Number of fairs held 1921 to 1945, inclusive: 7.

San Benito County Fair, Hollister

History

The San Benito County Saddle Horse Association conducted its initial fair as agent of San Benito County in 1937. Prior to that time the association had held eight fairs which were private operations of the association. The first agreement between the county and the association was dated August 17, 1937, and annual agreements have been made for each of the subsequent years in which fairs have been held. Since 1941 normal fair operations have been discontinued due to wartime conditions.

Bolando Park, near Hollister, has been used as the fair site from the time of original organization of the San Benito County Fair in 1937.

This fair site has also been used by the 33d District Agricultural Association for the holding of its fairs. Both San Benito County and the 33d District Association have made capital improvements upon this property, although no lease or purchase has been consummated by either San Benito County or the 33d District Association. The amount of capital improvements financed by the San Benito County are nominal, being slightly in excess of $1,500.

Number of fairs held 1921 to 1945, inclusive: 5.

San Francisco County Fair, San Francisco

History

The first San Francisco County Fair was held in 1939 and fairs have been conducted annually since then. These fairs which are strictly a flower show have been conducted under the terms of annual agreements between the county board of supervisors and the Dahlia Society of California.

These annual agreements, which were approved by the Department of Finance, empowered the Dahlia Society of California with executive management of the show but placed control of receipts and expenditures under the county controller, in that all receipts and expense vouchers incidental to the show were required to have the approval of the controller. It was further specified in the agreements that premium expenditures should not exceed a certain amount and that other charges of a capital or operative nature should not be in excess of a specified amount.

In 1940, capital expenditures totaling $1,223 96 were made. This amount consists of expenditures for architects' fees and installation of drapes and track in the rotunda of the San Francisco City Hall, totaling $269.71, and $957.25 as sponsor's contribution for a WPA project for making the drapes. Additional equipment has been purchased out of state funds to the extent of $1,000.

Number of fairs held 1921 to 1945, inclusive: 7.

San Joaquin County Fair, Lodi

History

The County of San Joaquin has sponsored two fairs which were eligible for apportionment under Section 92 of the Agricultural Code. The first, held in 1936, was conducted as a joint fair with the 2d District Agricultural Association under an agreement between the board of supervisors of San Joaquin County and the directors of the 2d District Agricultural Association. The agreement provided for a payment of $10,500 for premiums for the account of San Joaquin County. The county reimbursed the 2d District Agricultural Association in the above amount of $10,500 and filed claim on this basis for premiums paid with the Division of Fairs and Expositions. The payment of premiums and the apportionment from the Fair and Exposition Fund to the County of San Joaquin in the manner described above is in order, inasmuch as the joint or combined fair was held prior to the effective date of the act prohibiting such fairs.

The second fair was held in 1941 and was conducted under an agreement between the board of supervisors of San Joaquin County and the Lodi Grape and Wine Festival, Inc., a nonprofit corporation. This agreement provided that, with the exception of payments for premiums, the Lodi Grape and Wine Festival, Inc., would save harmless the County of San Joaquin from all damages and expenses. The operations of the fair resulted in a deficit which, in accordance with the agreement, was absorbed by the Lodi Grape and Wine Festival, Inc.

In January, 1937, the County of San Joaquin received an apportionment of $27,287.71, which was based on the claim filed with the Department of Finance. Of this sum, $10,500 was used as reimbursement to the 2d District Agricultural Association; the balance being used for capital improvements made on the fair grounds owned by the county and under lease to the 2d District Agricultural Association.

Number of fairs held 1921 to 1945, inclusive: 2

San Mateo County Fair, Bay Meadows

History

We were informed that the San Mateo County Fair was first organized in 1929, and has held annual fairs since that date through 1941, with the exception of the years 1932, 1933, and 1934. After 1941 normal fair operations were suspended due to wartime conditions.

Prior to 1938, fairs were conducted by a county fair commission under the supervision of the board of supervisors.

The 1938 and subsequent fairs have been conducted by the San Mateo County Fair Association under contract with the board of supervisors.

The contracts between the County of San Mateo and the fair association provided that all moneys allocated under the provisions of Section 92 of the Agricultural Code were to be expended through the association as the agent for the county and that the county was to be relieved of all claims, demands, damages and expense in connection with the conduct of the fair other than the payment of premiums.

Premium payments in 1937 were paid by county warrant from funds advanced from the Fair and Exposition Fund. Premium payments for 1938 were made by check drawn on the state fund bank account. The association was able to finance 1941 premium payments without assuming outside financial obligations.

In October, 1944, the administration of the state fund was transferred from the association to the county treasurer's office, but as of this date, no method for recordiation of operations effecting this fund has been initiated by county officials.

Capital expenditures consisted entirely of purchases of equipment, inasmuch as the San Mateo County Fair is held at Bay Meadows under agreement with the California Jockey Club.

Number of fairs held 1921 to 1945, inclusive: 10.

Santa Clara County Fair, San Jose

History

The Santa Clara County Fair was held at San Jose by the Santa Clara County Fair Association under an agreement with the county board of supervisors dated March 12, 1941, and approved by the Department of Finance March 31, 1941. The site was purchased from county funds.

Year 1941 was the first and only year during which the Santa Clara County Fair was conducted, normal operations having been discontinued due to wartime conditions.

The following allocation was made available to the fair during the period of this examination:

Shasta County Intermountain Fair, McArthur

History

The Shasta County Intermountain Fair is an outgrowth of the Intermountain Fair and Rodeo originally established in 1917. It appears that the first fair sponsored by Shasta County and eligible for allocation under Section 92 of the Agricultural Code was held in September, 1936. Fairs have been conducted since that time in September of each year to and including 1942. No fair was held in 1943. The 1944 fair was held in the month of October, and like preceding fairs, was conducted under an agreement with the Board of Supervisors of Shasta County.

It appears that premium payments prior to 1941 were financed without advances or borrowings from the Fair and Exposition Fund.

The 1941 premium payments were financed out of $7,000 advance from the Fair and Exposition Fund. Year 1942 and 1944 premium awards were paid from state fund surplus.

The Shasta County fairs have been held on grounds leased from the Fall River Joint Union High School at a rental of $1 per year for 40 years beginning August 1, 1937. Capital expenditures of slightly more than $4,000 have been made out of state funds for improvements and buildings on this property.

A fair was held on October 20 and 21, 1945.

Number of fairs held 1921 to 1945, inclusive: 9.

Sonoma County Fair, Santa Rosa

History

The Sonoma County Fairs have been conducted by the Sonoma County Fair Association, Inc., under agreements with the Sonoma County Board of Supervisors. Fairs have been held under this agreement since 1936, in the City of Santa Rosa. The fairs conducted in the above manner have, in effect, succeeded to the Sebastopol Gravenstein Apple Show, formerly conducted as the Sonoma County Fair in each year since 1931. The directors of the Sonoma County Fair Association, Inc., are appointed each year by the Sonoma County Board of Supervisors Fairs have been held each year from 1936 to 1942, inclusive. Due to wartime conditions normal fair operations were discontinued after 1942.

Premium payments prior to 1940 were financed by advances from the County of Sonoma. In 1940, the County of Sonoma advanced $14,000. In addition to this $14,000 advance the Fair and Exposition Fund advanced a total of $12,861.54 for payment of 1940 premiums. Premium payments for the year 1941 were financed by advances of $14,167.69 from the Fair and Exposition Fund and $9,000 from the County of Sonoma. Premium payments for the year 1942 were financed by advances of $10,115.60 from the Fair and Exposition Fund and $20,000 from the County of Sonoma.

The fairground property formerly under lease from the City of Santa Rosa, consisting of 80.13 acres, was purchased by the county in January, 1938, at a price of $35,000. Funds for the purchase of the property were provided from the Fair and Exposition Fund by executive orders. At the time of purchase, the property was appraised as follows:

Land	$35,000 00
Buildings	42,100 00
Fencing	4,800 00
Improvements to grounds	9,850 00
Equipment	2,000 00
	$93,750 00

In 1937, buildings and structures were placed on the above property from the state funds in the amount of $19,871.50 and evidently is included in the above appraisal.

On October 13, 1938, the county purchased an additional 16 acres adjoining the original tract at a cost of $7,500 from Louise Vasilatos. Funds for this deal were provided by an executive order.

Since purchase of this property, improvements have been placed thereon by county funds, state funds, and WPA projects. Buildings and improvements to grounds financed solely from state funds are in excess of $105,000.

Number of fairs held 1921 to 1945, inclusive: 12.

Stanislaus County Fair, Oakdale

History

The 1940 Stanislaus County Fair, held in September, was the first fair sponsored by Stanislaus County, eligible for an apportionment from the Fair and Exposition Fund. The fair was conducted by the Stanislaus County Fair and Livestock Association under an agreement made on September 7, 1940 with the Board of Supervisors of Stanislaus County.

The fair was held on property owned by the County of Stanislaus located at Oakdale, which has been donated to the County by the City of Oakdale in August, 1940.

The premium payments for the year 1940 were financed by an advance of $6,000 from the Fair and Exposition Fund.

On June 9, 1941, the Board of Supervisors of Stanislaus County was requested by the Stanislaus County Fair and Livestock Association to withdraw its authority for holding a fair. Pursuant to this request, the Board of Supervisors requested permission of the Department of Finance to transfer the balance of state funds of $925.62 to the Stanislaus County Fair and Livestock Association as reimbursement for capital expenditures incurred by that association during the period of the 1940 fair. In support of this transaction the Stanislaus County Fair and Livestock Association presented a receipted invoice of the Oakdale Grange No. 435 showing the purchase of a frame building, canvas, burlap, water pipe and electrical fixtures in the amount of $1,200 on July 17, 1940. We were informed that this equipment was moved to the fair grounds at the City of Oakdale prior to August 19, 1940, the date on which the grounds were deeded to the county by the City of Oakdale. No monetary consideration was given by the county for the transfer. The approval for the transfer of these funds to the association was obtained. In addition, by resolution and order of the county board of supervisors, the real estate and the improvements thereon, which included $2,741.96 for improvements to grounds and $1,263.67 for buildings and structures paid from state funds were reconveyed to the City of Oakdale on January 12, 1942, for a consideration.

Trinity County Fair, Hayfork

History

The Trinity County Fair was first held in 1937, and was held in subsequent years through 1941 when, due to wartime conditions, normal fair operations were discontinued.

These fairs have been held under the direct supervision of the County Board of Supervisors on county property located at Hayfork.

Capital improvements on the fairgrounds consist principally of a large exhibit building which includes a well furnished dining room, and a well developed water supply system. Other improvements consist of tool sheds. The County expended $1,500 on the dining room, matching an Executive Order appropriated from the Fair and Exposition Fund.

Number of fairs held 1921 to 1945, inclusive: 5.

Facts Pertaining to the Los Angeles County Fair Association

The Los Angeles County Fair Association was organized in April, 1922, under the laws of the State of California as a nonprofit sharing corporation by 206 public-spirited citizens of Pomona. The first fair was held in October of that year. In 1941 the fair was reorganized under Title XII, Article 1 of the Civil Code of the State of California as a nonprofit corporation. It is a corporation which does not contemplate pecuniary gain or profit to the members thereof, and upon dissolution the property and all assets reverts to the County of Los Angeles.

The City of Pomona originally purchased 43 acres which was leased to the Los Angeles County Fair for a consideration of $1 per year. The rapid growth of the fair necessitated increased facilities which the association was unable to furnish. The City of Pomona decided to assist this growing institution and sold bonds for $75,000 to increase the grounds and furnish the necessary housing and facilities for the proper operation of the fair. This included the purchase of an additional 62 acres of land to provide for expansion.

The operation of the fair continued under the city ownership to the land and buildings until 1933 when the city agreed to deed all the property to the County of Los Angeles, providing a tri-agreement was entered into between the county, city and the fair association for the conduct of the fair. The fair association assumed the unpaid balance of the city bonds amounting to $45,000.

The following buildings have been constructed by the Los Angeles County Fair Association without cost to the county: Fine arts and crafts, five comfort stations, pari-mutuel and paddock building, food concession and jockeys' quarters, circular cafe, cafeteria, fire hall, hospital, childrens' nursery, fifteen food concessions, three rest arbors, 26 horse barns, racing secretary's office, seven livestock buildings, seven entrance buildings and the food show building.

Buildings constructed by the fair association and WPA: The industrial and junior fair buildings, administration building and stores and supply building.

Buildings constructed by the association, WPA and state funds: Machinery, poultry and domestic arts building.

In the accomplishment report, operations division, as of January 1, 1939, compiled by the WPA it states "Five projects, each a comprehensive plan for the improvement of the fair ground was completed. The aggregate expenditures on these projects amounted to $703,965; $404,558 of which was derived from federal funds, $299,407 contributed by the fair association."

The following improvements to the grounds have been installed by the fair association: Fencing, rock walls, underground electrical system, oil macadam, trees and shrubs, water lines, gas lines, power lines, sewer lines and storm drain lines.

Six reinforced concrete exhibit buildings, each containing 35,000 square feet of floor space, were completed during the construction period and in use for the 1941 fair.

In addition to the building program, 100 acres of parking area and drives have been graded and surfaced. The landscaping involved the construction of lagoons, rustic foot bridges, rock walls, planting of trees and shrubs and the installation of necessary sprinkling and irrigation systems.

In order to maintain the lighting system, the fair association is leasing transformers which have a value of $17,446.

Immediately following the last fair in 1941, the agricultural building, 135 feet wide and 800 feet long, was destroyed by fire. Plans have been completed to replace this building at a cost of over $700,000.

Since the beginning of the fair in 1922, the Los Angeles County Fair Association has expended over a million dollars for buildings and improvements and has under contract to purchase additional land making a total acreage of over 300 acres.

Attendance at the last fair held in 1941 reached a record total of over 800,000. This was exceeded by only one or two state fairs of the country. In this attendance, every state and several foreign countries were represented. It is interesting to note in connection with the growth of the fair that 25,000 constituted the entire attendance of the first County Fair in Pomona back in 1922.

A phase of the fair which receives wide acclaim is the number and variety of the exhibits. At the 1941 fair there were 145 feature displays, occupying 40,300 square feet of space, ranging in size from 10 feet by 10 feet to 30 feet by 30 feet; individual exhibits included 7,681 head of large and small stock; 5,378 exhibits of domestic arts, arts and crafts, fine arts, home demonstration work, etc.; 4,100 exhibits of agricultural, horticultural and floricultural. Exhibits from 11 chartered city school districts and 132 districts under supervision of the Los Angeles County Board of Education are not included in the above figures.

The fair has been truly characterized as the "university of the masses."

In 1941 there were 187,727 cars parked during the 17 days, indicating the popularity of the event as a mecca for the motorist.

No other event gives more substantial publicity to Los Angeles County and to Southern California than does the Los Angeles County Fair as a result of the remarkable amount of space accorded to it in the press of this and other counties. Recognized as one of the largest fairs it would naturally attract wide attention. The nature of the publicity makes it particularly valuable.

As a counterbalance to the pictures of the southland as a place of recreation, relaxation and pleasure, the fair serves as a powerful medium for emphasizing to the Nation its agricultural, industrial and cultural possibilities. In this phase of its endeavor alone, its value cannot be over estimated.

The 1941 exposition brought a total of 235,000 column inches of space in newspapers, magazines and trade journals throughout the United States.

This sketch of the highlights of the publicity attracted by the fair is but a repetition of what has occurred year after year, steadily increasing as the institution has grown. As a beneficial publicity asset it would be difficult to estimate in dollars the promotional value of Los Angeles County Fair to Los Angeles County, as the figures would run into millions.

The Los Angeles County Fair ground is comprised of three hundred acres of land and over forty buildings. The property was developed under a master plan for buildings and landscaping which is valued at over $3,000,000.

The fairgrounds have been constantly used by the Federal Government since December 14, 1941. Restoration damages will no doubt be agreed upon by February 1, 1947, and immediately a reconstruction program will be started for 1947.

CALIFORNIA STATE FAIR

History

From data obtainable it appears that the California State Fair in the 75 years intervening between 1854 and 1929 held fairs each year since in the Budget Act for 1929 among other sums appropriated to the State Agricultural Society we note the item of $25,000 for promoting the 75th fair.

Before 1929 on a number of occasions sizeable sums have been appropriated to the society for the acquisition of land and the construction of buildings and facilities and in the Statutes of 1871[1] we note an appropriation of $50,000 to tear down and move the agricultural pavilion from the Capitol grounds to Agricultural Park.

In 1931 the Budget Act appropriated $17,500 to the Department of Finance for land for the State Agricultural Society and in 1933 a $100,000 revolving fund was established, the forerunner of legislation setting up a closer control of expenditures and a separation of the State Fair's money from the General Fund. The same year Section 694da of the Political Code was enacted and a Contingent Fund for the society set up into which would go all money received by it and from which appropriations be made for its support and in 1935 the first of a series of rather large amounts were appropriated to the society from its Contingent Fund as follows:

1937	720,200 00
1939	864,630 25
1941	966,765 00
1943	86,009 00
1945	168,320 00
and for land	150,000 00

From the above it may be noted that the State Agricultural Society in the past six sessions of the Legislature has grown to be distinctly "Big Business."

In the earlier history of our State Fair it is to be noted that the people of the City of Sacramento and of Sacramento County have some considerable stake in the fair for as early as 1859 the Legislature authorized an election in Sacramento County on the question of appropriating money for grounds and buildings for State Agricultural Society which was followed in 1860 and 1861 by authorization of the board of supervisors of Sacramento County to levy a tax of 15 cents per $100 valuation to pay obligations of the State Agricultural Society for grounds and a pavilion and to close off certain streets. The tax of 1860 was followed by a tax in 1861 of 10 cents and again in 1863 a tax of 15 cents per $100 valuation. The trustees of the City of Sacramento were also authorized in 1863 to levy a 10-cent tax to pay outstanding warrants of the society.

In 1883 the Legislature appropriated $40,000 to erect a State Agricultural and Industrial Exhibition Building on the Capitol Grounds which was required to be matched by the City and County of Sacramento.

[1] For detail see Chronological table of Statutes relating to California State Fair immediately following.

This is a forerunner of the matching fund principle which has been used lately by the Department of Finance in granting allocations from the Fair and Exposition Fund to fairs for construction and capital improvements.

The State Agricultural Society received an appropriation of $45,000 in the year 1901 which was conditioned on the board of directors of the society conveying to the State all of the society's real estate. With this conveyance to the State passed the particular contribution previously made by the people of the City and County of Sacramento.

A summary of the statutes relating to the California State Fair and the State Agricultural Society, and appropriations thereto appears elsewhere in this report and may prove valuable to those who desire to go into the matter at greater length. We are indebted to the office of the Legislative Counsel for its preparation.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS ON THE OPERATION OF THE CALIFORNIA POLYTECHNIC COLLEGE

Prepared September, 1946

Questions by Assemblyman Ernest R Geddes

Answers by Julian McPhee, President, California Polytechnic School

Question: Where is the California Polytechnic College located?

Answer: The main campus and farm of the college is located at San Luis Obispo midway between San Francisco and Los Angeles. Main line of the Southern Pacific railroad runs through the center of the 2083 acre campus and farm. The campus is approximately two miles west of Highway 101 and about 12 miles inland from the Pacific Ocean. Not only is this home campus of the college strategically located for accessibility from all parts of the State, but it is in an area which is excellently suited for teaching agriculture.

Question: You speak of the main campus. Does the college have a branch?

Answer: Yes, we have a citriculture and horticulture branch located at San Dimas in the heart of the citrus-producing area of Southern California. The Voorhis campus is one of the most beautiful in the entire southland. It comprises a campus and farm of about 150 acres located just 45 minutes from Los Angeles by car.

Question: What is the main purpose of the college?

Answer: The purpose of the school was clearly defined in the legislative act of 1901 which created the school. I would like to read you this act, which is found in the Education Code, Chapter 3, Section 20651: "The purpose of the school is to furnish to young people of both sexes mental and manual training in the arts and sciences, including agriculture, mechanics, engineering, business methods, domestic economy, and such other branches as will fit the students for the nonprofessional walks of life." You will note also that the final sentence gives an even broader interpretation of the purpose of the school when it states: "This article shall be liberally construed, to the end that the school may at all times contribute to the industrial welfare of the State."

Question: Has the school maintained this objective continuously since 1901?

Answer: Yes, the main objective of the school has remained unchanged since it was established 45 years ago. Of course, we have no women attending the college now, but that is the result of a legislative act in 1929 which prohibited them from attending. This law was repealed in 1937, but the college cannot again take them until proper dormitories are built.

Question: Has the instruction given by the school always been on a college level?

Answer: No, it began as a state vocational high school, and as such was considerably ahead of its time as far as the educational philosophy of that day was concerned. The idea of this type of vocational training gradually spread to the district high schools and ultimately became a part of the basic federal and state programs of vocational education, beginning in 1917. Because the school had been established to provide education on a state-wide basis, and since no level of instruction was proposed in the legislative act which created the institution, it was found necessary and desirable in 1927 to raise the level of instruction to that of a junior college. This was done mainly because the concept of vocational training on a high school level had spread to the district high schools and many of them were by that time providing vocational instruction on a high school level.

Question: Has the level of instruction been raised since that time?

Answer: Yes, several times. In 1933, when the school was made a direct administrative branch of the State Department of Education and at the same time placed under the guidance of the Chief of the Bureau of Agricultural Education, it was changed from a junior college to a two-year technical college, offering terminal instruction in agriculture and industrial fields. In 1936 a third year was added, and in 1940 the State Board of Education authorized the school to grant the bachelor of science degree. That authorization made the school a full-fledged four-year degree granting college and the first baccalaureate exercises were held in 1942.

Question: Hasn't the raising of the level of instruction changed the objective of the school?

Answer: No. It is true that during the more than four decades of service to the State of California, the school has raised the level of instruction and has expanded the number of occupations for which training has been provided, but the basic philosophy of the institution has not been modified in the slightest degree. The primary function of all instruction at California Polytechnic is to impart to the students those skills and sciences necessary to successfully perform the vocational and technical practices for which they will be employed. Complementing the strictly occupational training are those subjects which help the student understand the world in which he lives, which assist him to express himself, to live harmoniously with other people, and to assume responsibility and community leadership.

Question: How does the college attain this objective of training a student primarily for an occupation?

Answer: This objective is achieved by a thorough integration of the "doing" practices with the underlying theory. The classroom instruction, the formal laboratory exercises, and the actual project experiences on a commercial scale are each used in their proper proportion. The project system consists of self-owned or managerial projects operated by students in such a way as to give knowledge in the commercial production and marketing of agricultural products or in the construction, rebuilding, repair or maintenance of industrial machinery and equipment on an equally commercial scale. This combination of the very practical "learn by doing" and "earn while you learn" philosophies not only enables a student to earn money while doing work directly related to his major academic interest, but also creates an added incentive for the more rapid acquisition of further skills and knowledge to the end that the projects will be more profitable.

Question: Could you explain in more detail how this project system operates?

Answer: First, it should be explained how a student proceeds to get a project. In each major department students are encouraged by their instructors to take part in project activities, either individually or as a group. There is available a $90,000 revolving fund from which students may borrow to get the money for an investment in livestock, ornamental plants, seeds, feed, machinery to be rebuilt, etc. No cosigner is required for a student to borrow from the project fund, and the fund is so operated as to guarantee against individual student financial loss. Most popular agricultural projects are those of fattening livestock, raising foundation beef, sheep, swine or dairy cattle; conducting individual dairy projects or operating the project herd as a group; operating the poultry unit as a project; growing ornamentals or field and truck crops. In the industrial departments the projects are usually group projects rather than individual projects. In aeronautics, for example, the department, which is the 84th government approved repair station in the United States and operates under strict C. A. A. regulations, accepts aircraft or engines damaged beyond feasible commercial repair to be overhauled for their owners or purchased outright and rebuilt by the students.

Question: Is this $90,000 revolving fund state money?

Answer: No, it is a fund which grew out of loan arrangement started in 1924 with the Citizens' State Bank which enabled students to borrow directly from the bank to finance their projects. Faculty members of the school stood behind this arrangement to protect the bank. From the very beginning of this project system the school took a percentage of each student's net profit for the purpose of establishing a revolving fund. Because of the small enrollment during the early years of the project system, the revolving fund was too small to handle the financing of all the projects. Up until 1932 students were still borrowing money through the bank to finance many of the projects. After 1933 the college's rapid growth was instrumental in building the project fund to its present size.

Question: How is this revolving fund administered?

Answer: The State Department of Finance permitted the college to establish a foundation corporation to operate under lease with the State Department of Finance which limits the use to which the funds of the corporation may be used. The accounts are audited by the Department of Finance and at the close of a fiscal year any cash or securities in excess of the given working capital, which has been set at $90,000, is sent to the general fund. The board of directors of this foundation corporation are all faculty members.

Question: Could you give any specific examples of projects operated by students?

Answer: There are many excellent examples, but one which I recall was the dairy cattle project owned by Edward Santos, a dairy production major from Kerman, California. Santos entered the college in the fall of 1939 to take a degree course. He brought two good grade Holstein cows with him from his home farm in January of 1940. He had acquired these animals while operating a Future Farmer project in high school. Using the proceeds from these two cows, he purchased a pure-bred Holstein cow in October of 1940. The following year she produced 707 pounds of butterfat, more than paying for her cost of $165. In November, 1940, he purchased a bull calf sired by Sir Taylaker Ormsby Gettie. By the end of his second year Santos had an inventory of six cows in production, three heifers, one herd sire and three bull calves, valued then at a total of $1,900. He sent his young stock home, and kept the producing cows in his project at the college. By the end of his four-year course, he had paid all debts on his foundation herd, and had earned more than $2,000 in labor income from operating the project. Santos not only earned his way through school with his project and established a fine foundation herd, but he had time to be active in student body affairs, was president of the dairy club and earned a letter in football. Immediately after receiving his degree in June of 1942, Santos went into the Navy and was recently released as a lieutenant commander. He had left his herd intact on his folk's farm at Kerman where his brother-in-law cared for it while he was in the service. There are many such examples of students who have successfully operated projects at the college, paying their way through school, establishing a foundation herd or flock for their own future farm, and at the same time learning by doing and earning while they learned.

Question: On how large a scale can this project system be operated?

Answer: A limiting factor in every department is lack of space for expansion, inadequate facilities, etc. For example, in the Animal Husbandry Department lack of barn space and insufficient grazing land limit the number of animals which can be raised and thereby limits the number of students who can experience project operation. Each year students in this department have purchased and fed out an average of 200 head of beef cattle, 500 hogs and 400 sheep, a total value of approximately $45,000. Most of these animals are handled on a commercial basis and sold on the open market, but some are fitted for and exhibited at major livestock shows in California. California Polytechnic students have made outstanding records in competition in the open-class with breeders from all the western states. During the past two years, student-owned steers have won grand championship of the Great Western Livestock Show twice, with the 1944 grand champion Shorthorn selling for the Pacific Coast record price of $4.25 per pound In recent years, Cal Poly students have won grand championships and championships in steers, hogs and lambs at the California State Fair, the Grand National, the Los Angeles County Fair and the Great Western Livestock Show.

Project operation in other departments are on an equally large scale, but each is limited in expansion by the lack of facilities. The dairy, for example, can care for only about 75 head of project-owned cows in addition to the foundation purebred herd which it operates with student labor as a group project. The foundation herd is producing about 2,000 pounds of milk daily with a gross income of over $30,000 per year and with a fairly good net return. Net returns are used to help maintain the dairy unit and further improve the herd by obtaining higher quality animals.

In the Poultry Department the students work on a cooperative basis and are responsible for the entire care and operation of this commercial poultry plant of more than 5,000 birds. Each student selects a pen or unit or some phase of the operation and carries it as his project. In an average year the department produces 2,500 individually pedigreed chicks, trapnests about 1,000 pullets, has about 2,600 breeding hens producing eggs and supplying some 150,000 chicks to former students and Future Farmers throughout the State. The student-owned project pens won the three-year award for the most outstanding performance at the California National Egg Laying Test at Modesto recently with the student-owned birds averaging $3.94 net income per bird per year, which was the highest for all breeds. The trapnest pullets in the project flock average 240 eggs per bird, and the flock produces for sale about 500,000 eggs per year, and the department has an average total gross income of over $35,000.

All departments have similar project records, but because of the number of the departments, unless you desire I shall not take the time to attempt to summarize project activities in every department.

Question: We may come back to that later. Except for the project system which you have described, does the school differ in any other respect from other agricultural-mechanic type colleges in other states?

Answer: Decidedly. One of the unusual aspects of the instruction at California Polytechnic is the educational plan which is followed to further carry out the objective of training for the maximum employability and earning power of every student. This unique educational plan which was established at California Polytechnic is sometimes described as the "upside down educational plan," but it has advantages over the conventional plan which is leading many educators throughout the country to agree that it really is the "right side up" plan. This plan is characterized by the grouping of as many technical and job-getting courses in the first two years as possible. In the third and fourth year the student takes, in addition to courses in his major, those subjects considered as "background." The net result of this system is that a student who completes the four-year course leading to a degree will have covered substantially the same program as would be covered in a similar major in a typical agricultural-mechanics type college—but in an inverted order.

Question: What are the main advantages of this system?

Answer: The student comes immediately in contact with the field of his major interest and choice and thus doesn't feel thwarted by numerous hurdles which at first seem to him unrelated to his interest. In addition he then realizes a need for some "theory" courses which are taken either concurrently or after his practice. A third important advantage, is that this system enables the student to earn a living, using the skills he has learned, at whatever point he may be forced to leave school because of finances, being needed at home, or other reasons. This educational pattern definitely improves the immediate earning capacity of those students, who, for various reasons, complete their formal education after one or two years of college, as so many of them in all colleges do. Naturally, if the student is able to complete the four-year course his opportunities for success in the more highly paid positions will be greatly increased.

Question: How many students terminate training at the end of the first and second year?

Answer: I do not have any statistics available on that subject, but we would be very glad to prepare a chart to show the drop-out rate if the committee desires.

Question: Perhaps later we might want such a chart, but for now maybe you could give us a general idea of what the drop-out rate is like?

Answer: Because of our "upside down" system our drop-out at the end of the first year is less than the United States average, but our drop-out at the end of the second year is greater than the average. This is due to the fact that in normal times approximately one-third of the students enroll with the definite idea of completing just a two-year vocational course preparing them for a specific occupation.

Question: You mention in "normal times." Is the present situation much different than what you consider "normal?"

Answer: Yes, I would say that it is considerably different than normal. Of our present enrollment of 1,568 students at the San Luis Obispo campus, 1,130 are receiving Federal Government aid from the GI Bill of Rights, 135 are getting aid under the vocational rehabilitation act, called Public Law 16, and six are receiving aid from the State Veterans Welfare Act. Most of these men who are receiving government aid have enrolled in the degree course because the majority of them are eligible for that length of training. If they were paying all their own expenses, it is probable that many of these men would have enrolled in the shorter vocational or technical course. Actually, we have at the San Luis Obispo campus only about 500 students who are not receiving some kind of financial aid from the government for their military service.

Question: In normal times how many students would enroll in the degree course?

Answer: Normally about two-thirds of the students have no intention of taking a degree course when they enter. About one-third will enroll in the two-year vocational course and one-third enroll in the three-year technical course. Because of the "upside down" plan, it is possible to run the vocational and technical courses closely parallel with the degree program. This enables students who enter in the vocational or technical courses to change their program if they desire, and, without too much shifting of courses, complete a final year or two leading to a degree. The longer curricula vary principally from the two shorter programs in that a greater number of courses in social, biological and physical sciences are given, but actual occupational instruction is emphasized in all three levels.

Question: What is the difference in employment opportunities for graduates of these three levels of instruction?

Answer: At the beginning of their employment there may be no difference. In fact, using aeronautical engineering as an example, we have many cases of degree graduates who have taken employment with airlines, aircraft factories, and have discovered that their immediate superiors were former buddies who had graduated earlier from the two or three-year course. But in almost every case the degree itself, if not the extra educational training, opens doors for advancement which are closed to nondegree students. A typical case which is brought to mind concerns a young man who graduated with a technical certificate from the aeronautical department in 1939, prior to California Polytechnic's authorization to grant degrees. This individual was employed immediately by one of the largest international airways as a mechanic. His advancement was rapid and corporation officials took notice of his unusual ability. He was known by them to be a "graduate" of California Polytechnic College. He was selected by them to be transferred to a very high executive position at the main office in New York. In the process of completing arrangements, he was asked something about his "degree." When he explained that he did not have a degree, the officials were forced to tell him that despite his obvious qualifications for the position, the degree was a prerequisite for the job. There is a happy ending to this story, and to many others like it, however. This man took a year's leave of absence, returned to Cal Poly, completed his final year, and now holds a very responsible position with the company which he could not have held without the bachelor of science degree.

Question: Are admission requirements for all three levels of instruction the same?

Answer: Yes, admission is open to the graduate of any standard high school upon the submission of evidence of fitness to profit by college instruction; such fitness to be shown by previous scholastic records, by evidence of good moral character and personal qualifications, and by a satisfactory score on such aptitude tests as are given. It is the opinion of the administrators of this college that admission of a student, and his progress through the school, should be based upon demonstrated and continuing ability and interest, rather than the previous completion or a pattern of courses under a totally different environment. The instruction does not require as a basis for admittance a specified block of instruction to be taken in high school. Experience at the college has shown that many boys who were required to complete a college preparatory course of conventional pattern, often did not receive the best grades in high school, but when confronted with courses involving the science and techniques of agricultural and industrial operations, they did very well. And the opposite was often found to be true, also. Students who did very well on a conventional college prep course in high school, often did unsatisfactory work when it was necessary for them to demonstrate skills in technical courses.

Question: Is high school graduation a necessary prerequisite for admission?

Answer: Usually, yes, but there are two exceptions. Persons over 21 years of age may be admitted as special students, and any veteran of World War II who served 90 days or more in the armed services may enter as a regular student whether he has completed high school or not, according to a ruling by the State Board of Education.

Question: Are there any other special concessions given to veterans?

Answer: Academically no. Married veteran students are given priority in renting on-campus housing in our veterans village of 320 houses and trailers. Other than that, they are just students and our standards of accomplishment are not lowered for them. Entrance aptitude examinations for the purpose of placing students in correct sections, often indicate weakness on the part of students which we attempt to rectify by placing them in special classes which give no college credit. Until students can pass these courses, indicating they have overcome their difficiencies, they are not allowed to take required college credit courses. But this service is not for veterans alone. A veteran without a high school background, may have to take considerable noncredit work before he is eligible to continue with required degree courses. For non-degree work and special courses, beginning courses have no prerequisites. Since the main objective of the college is to produce a graduate from the various curricula with the greatest amount of employability, provisions are made to give full credit to any student who can by examination prove that he has an adequate knowledge of all the material which would be covered in any course which he wishes to challenge. This provision is of particular value to veterans, who may have, through special training programs or through experience, gained adequate knowledge of a subject required in the course of their choice.

Question: What is your present enrollment figure at both campuses?

Answer: Because of lack of facilities, dormitories, classrooms, laboratories, etc., we have been forced to limit our Fall quarter enrollment to 1,783 students. This is more than double our normal enrollment. Our regular facilities were not designed to care for more than 900 students, and even our present emergency provisions for classrooms, laboratories, and housing are already over-taxed. Of this figure 238 are enrolled at the San Dimas branch and 1,568 are on the home campus at San Luis Obispo.

Question: What is the breakdown of your San Luis Obispo enrollment by departments or majors?

Answer: In the Engineering Division a total of 771 students are divided among seven departments as follows: General engineering, 57; architecture, 41; aeronautics, 154; air conditioning and refrigeration, 186; electrical engineering, 160; electronics, 84; and mechanical engineering, 83. The majors of electronics, architecture and general engineering are new this year. General engineering was added to take care of the overflow from specific departments where lack of facilities limited the enrollment. At the end of the year, these students will be given a priority over new students in changing over to the major of their preference. In the Agricultural Division a total of 778 students are divided among eleven departments as follows: General agriculture, 117; agricultural engineering, 32; animal husbandry, 304; agricultural inspection, 26; general crops, 55; truck crops, 25; dairy production, 36; dairy manufacturing, 34; fruit production, 33; ornamental horticulture, 44; poultry, 65. The course in general agriculture was offered for the same reason as general engineering and it will be handled the same way. The courses in agricultural engineering and truck crops are new this year, as is a new Division of Science and Humanities, with nine students. Many of these major courses are used as related subjects for other majors, which accounts for the smaller maximum quota in such courses as crops, poultry, fruit production, etc.

Question: What is the departmental breakdown of your San Dimas branch enrollment?

Answer: Of the 238 students enrolled at the branch school, 58 are taking ornamental horticulture, 84 are taking fruit production, and 96 are taking agricultural inspection.

Question: Is Cal Poly like the other state colleges in that its enrollment comes from the immediate vicinity of the school?

Answer: No, in fact, this college stands out in contrast to the other state colleges in that its enrollment is widespread throughout the State. For example, our enrollment in September of this year came from 50 of the 58 counties in California. A study of the home counties of matriculating freshmen at the University of California in Berkeley from 1935 to 1946 showed 61.6 percent came from the Counties of Alameda, San Francisco and Contra Costa. At the University of California at Los Angeles, 91.78 percent of the freshmen enrolled from Los Angeles County. At Fresno State College, 93.9 percent of the total enrollment for the fall semester of 1938 came from the six counties of the San Joaquin Valley. In contrast California Polytechnic's fall quarter, 1946, enrollment shows a percentage distribution of the counties having the largest representation as follows: Los Angeles County, 26.2 percent; San Luis Obispo County, 11.05 percent; out-of-state, 11.8 percent; San Diego County, 4.5 percent; Fresno County, 4.3 percent; Tulare County, 2.8 percent; Santa Clara County, 2.8 percent; Orange County, 2.6 percent; Alameda County, 2.3 percent; San Francisco County; 2.2 percent; Ventura County, 2.2 percent; Riverside County, 2.1 percent; Santa Barbara County, 2.1 percent; Kern County, 1.9 percent; Santa Cruz County, 1.8 percent; San Bernardino County, 1.8 percent. The remaining 33 counties which are represented in the enrollment study have less than 1 percent each of the total. Students from foreign countries and territories outside the continental limits of the United States total 20, which is 1.3 percent of the total. The following comparative summary of registration shows present distribution as compared to January, 1940, January, 1941, and March, 1946; followed by a chart showing departmental and county breakdown of 1946 enrollment at San Dimas.

Question: To what fact do you attribute this state-wide spread of enrollment?

Answer: The most important reason is the fact that this school is the only one of its kind in the State offering vocational training on a college level. This college, with its training program built upon the student operation of productive projects, is meeting its responsibilities of becoming the State's agricultural and mechanics arts type of college. In this sphere, it is filling a need and rendering a service which no other institution, because of its facilities, location, or educational concept, is able or willing to provide. Naturally the college's excellent placement record in agriculture and industry has become known throughout the State and this fact in itself attracts many students.

Question: Was the authorization to grant the bachelor of science degree the final step in the academic growth of the college?

Answer: No, during the past year the college was accredited by the State Board of Education to give the special secondary credential in vocational agriculture. Since California Polytechnic school is to be, according to Sec. 20655 (Education Code, 1945, Chapter 3), "governed by the laws governing and regulating the state colleges insofar as such laws are applicable to the school," the authorization to grant the credential was a natural step following recent passage of Senate Bill 788.

Question: How did Senate Bill 788 affect the college?

Answer: Prior to passage of this bill the state colleges were not allowed to give more than four years of work. This act amended Sections 20451 and 20452 of the Education Code so that the state college could give courses "of such length as may be necessary to fulfill the requirements for the various credentials approved for the teacher-training program of that college by the State Board of Education." Beginning in 1931 the California Polytechnic school had been giving skills and methods courses for agriculture teacher candidates, but through an arrangement with the University of California the university granted credit for the training taken at California Polytechnic. This credit has been accepted through the University of California by the Commission on Credentials toward meeting the requirements for the special credentials in vocational agriculture. About seven years ago this arrangement was broadened so that credit for work taken at California Polytechnic has been used not only to meet the requirements for the credentials in agriculture, but also to satisfy some of the requirements for the general secondary. Passage of Senate Bill 788 made it possible for the State Board of Education to approve California Polytechnic to do directly what has been done for a number of years past through the University of California.

Question: Doesn't the occupation of agricultural teachers fall into the category of a professional rather than non-professional walk of life?

Answer: Technically speaking it might. But the vocational agriculture teacher, like teachers of industrial vocations, must first master the skills of production; he must have managerial experience and he must apply scientific knowledge to practical situations. Because these skills have primary commercial value, the early training of a vocational agriculture teacher is of a nonprofessional nature.

Question: In addition to training agricultural teachers, does the college have any other connection with agricultural education in the secondary schools?

Answer: There is a close relationship between California Polytechnic and the high school vocational agriculture program in California because the college serves as headquarters for the Bureau of Agricultural Education. From this point, the bureau directly supervises vocational agriculture throughout the State and through the college provides project foundation stock for boys and teaching materials for the 238 instructors in the 176 high schools in California. This service program to high schools includes such activities as: the use of faculty members to visit schools on dairy, meat animals, crops, poultry, farm mechanics and other agricultural problems; writing of articles by faculty members for the State Future Farmer magazine for information and improvement of agriculture in the State; correspondence by heads of departments to advise high schools on problems; judging of Future Farmer livestock, poultry and other products at fairs; furnishing of breeding stock and hatching eggs to improve the herds and flocks of Future Farmers throughout the State; preparation of teaching aids, such as film strips, charts, blue-prints, photographs, etc.; holding of state Future Farmer annual conferences on the campus. In addition to the agricultural cadet-teacher program, California Polytechnic is also the training center for in-service agriculture teachers. During the summer months, various courses are given in agricultural management, in farming skills, and in teaching methods. Both the cadet teacher program and the in-service training program gives California Polytechnic further opportunity to materially assist high schools by better training these men to help them to meet the agricultural problems in their respective communities.

Question: Is the college connected in any way with any other special programs or functions of a state-wide nature?

Answer: California Polytechnic has a peculiar opportunity to assist in the development of a state-wide program for all vocational education because of the fact that the president of the school is also the Director of Vocational Education for the State. Because of this advantageous tie-in California Polytechnic is in a position to lend the benefit of its long experience in vocational education to the end that it may assist the Commission for Vocational Education for California in developing a state-wide plan which will result not only in the secondary schools of the State but likewise in the several state colleges carrying on a progressive vocational education program designed to serve the State as a whole. This coordination will eliminate unnecessary duplication and serve to strengthen phases of vocational education now inadequately provided for. Another special program of service to the State is the Drug and Oil Plant Project which has been operating for the past four years under the direction of the school. Funds for the operation of the research work and demonstration in medicinal drugs were provided by special appropriation, first in 1942 and then again in March of 1946. This project has undertaken the promotion and supervision of domestic production in California of numerous plants of a medicinal or condiment nature whose products are used extensively in this country, yet in the past have been imported because of lack of development in this country.

Another interesting special program is that of the thoroughbred breeding project which is operated cooperatively with the California Breeders Association and the college for the purpose of providing training in handling of light horses to animal husbandry students. The program began in 1940 with an original gift to the college of six breeding mares in foal to some of the outstanding thoroughbred sires owned by California Breeders. Four additional mares have been given to the college and Zuncho, a thoroughbred sire imported from South America, is standing at stud at the thoroughbred breeding unit on the college farm as a permanent loan from Walter T. Wells. A total of 20 yearlings have been sold since the project began and a number of these have already won in races on California tracks. Proceeds from the sale of these yearlings goes toward helping to defray the cost of upkeep of the project, used as an integral part of the animal husbandry course.

Question: How large a campus and farm does the college have to conduct its instructional program?

Answer: The lands of the California Polytechnic college total about 2,233 acres, of which 2083 acres are embraced in the home unit at San Luis Obispo and 150 acres in the Voorhis unit at San Dimas. Because of the type of agricultural instruction given at both the home unit and the branch, the availability of good farm land is a major factor. Additions must be made soon because of increased enrollment, in order to give each student as much opportunity as possible for actual project operation. There are several hundred acres at San Luis Obispo suitable only for range purposes. Other land is devoted to hay, alfalfa and orchard. The major campus and land immediately surrounding various buildings now requires about 100 acres. Additional land must be obtained for truck crops especially. At San Dimas about 30 acres of the land utilized for citrus, avocados and a small deciduous tract, are well adapted to these uses. Considerable land is now in the rough state and is not suitable for expansion.

Question: What does the college have in the way of buildings?

Answer: Unfortunately the college is seriously handicapped by lack of permanent buildings. On the San Luis Obispo campus there are four main dormitory buildings which are classified as permanent structures, but there are only three other buildings in the classification; they are the administration and classroom building, gymnasium and swimming pool, and the engineering building. The remainder of the buildings used for classrooms, shops and laboratories are either obsolete or of a temporary nature. At San Dimas, the Voorhis unit, which was built to care for about 100 boys, is now being used to provide instruction for 238. Although it is a very beautiful campus, and is ideally located for a citriculture and horticulture branch, there is definite lack of facilities.

Not only is there a problem at present because of record enrollment at both units, but the situation will become even more critical as the college will have 2,000 students by the end of the year and 2,500 the following year. Women are demanding admittance to the college on the basis that they cannot get vocational training in the agricultural and industrial fields at any other college. If and when dormitory provisions can be made for women, the enrollment will experience another large increase.

Question: Which of your facilities are most urgently needed?

Answer: The immediate problem and most serious emergency has been lack of housing for students at the San Luis Obispo campus, where 90 percent of the students are from out of town. When the Fall quarter began, we were forced, because of delays in receiving authorization to use Camp San Luis Obispo, to house 150 students temporarily in the gymnasium, 135 in the farm machinery shop, 75 in the dormitory lounges. Permission to use the city's newly acquired USO building was granted for 30 days until a release on the Army camp could be arranged, and 200 students were moved into those quarters. Eventually 300 students will be housed in the Army camp some five miles from the campus.

Because of lack of facilities it was necessary to make some emergency provisions for classrooms and laboratories to take care of our record enrollment. At present construction is nearing completion on forty prefabricated steel buildings, one hangar for the aeronautics department, central feed storage building, and addition to the farm mechanics building, additions to the poultry laboratory, and a dairy shelter barn. These emergency construction projects amounting to $466,732 were approved by the Civilian Production Administration in August. Also included in the authorization are additions to the physical education facilities which are not yet under construction.

Question: Will these additions take care of your normal growth needs?

Answer: No, some of these are temporary emergency provisions, such as the forty prefabricated buildings, the married veterans trailers and movable housing accommodations.

Question: How much of this overload on facilities, teaching staff, etc., is due to the problem of taking care of ex-servicemen, married students, and so forth?

Answer: I would say that we have an overload of about 100 percent now and that although our greatest problems this year came from the sudden influx of ex-servicemen students, particularly the married ones, the condition is apt to persist for some time. For example, few high school graduates are now coming to us directly out of high school but are going into the armed services. There will be a continuous backlog of students for several years.

Question: About how long do you think it will be necessary to use these emergency facilities?

Answer: In the case of the emergency housing for married students the contracts with the Federal Government specify that they are to be used for not longer than two years beyond the termination of the declared emergency, but that the actual period may be extended year to year by specific authorization In other words, no one knows exactly how long this present emergency will exist, but title to the trailers will eventually go back to the Federal Government and in the case of the movable houses the contract specifies that they be torn down into panels at the end of the emergency period.

Question: The Assembly Committee on Expositions and Fairs is concerned with the disposition of moneys derived from horse racing. It is my understanding that California Polytechnic is in the same position as are many of the county fairs and agricultural districts. That is, that it has been impossible to make the necessary and programmed improvements and expansions because of shortages and interruptions occasioned by the war. It is one of the recommendations of this committee that allocations made by the Director of Finance shall follow a certain pattern of priorities. Now while California Polytechnic may or may not be subject to such regulations, it is my understanding that you have a very definite program for expansion and rehabilitation. If I am correct will you please outline this program.

Answer: Yes, we do have a very definite long-time building program. We have 11 construction projects at an estimated cost of $1,796,267 listed in the first over-all priority list submitted by the Director of Finance to the Legislature in January, 1946. In a second priority list, we have an additional list of 16 projects at an estimated cost of $4,511,-800. All money for this building program must come from horse racing funds, as the college is not included in the general budget. For your information I would like to list the projects individually.

In the first group of projects are the following:

Library and Classroom Building	$400,000
Water Supply Tank and Distribution System	14,000
Central Feed Storage Unit	66,667
Utility Building and Distribution System	224,933
Poultry Instruction Plant	100,000
Replace Corral Fences	26,667
Athletic Field and Addition to Gymnasium	133,000
Aeronautics and Industrial Shop	352,000
Agricultural Mechanics Building	202,000
Corporation Yard and Garage	124,000
Science Unit No. 1	153,000
	$1,796,267

In the second group of projects are the following:

Farm Buildings, Propagation House, etc.	$184,533
Addition to Electric Laboratory	20,000
Engineering Building	199,000
Farm Buildings (Farm implement storage, veterinary hospital, swine isolation unit, and livestock judging pavilion)	175,000
Food Processing Building	200,000
Women's Dormitory	124,000
Men's Gymnasium	134,000
Cafeteria and Kitchen	116,000
Infirmary	32,000
Agricultural Classroom Unit	199,000
Addition to Administration Building	100,000
Permanent Roadways and Grounds Improvement	520,000
Auditorium and Music Building	387,000
Residences for Employees	67,000
Extension to Beef Unit	31,000
Extension of Utilities	227,000
	$4,511,800

If the committee is interested in hearing the specific reasons why we think each of the projects mentioned are essential either to take care of existing contingency or necessary to take care of our expected increase in enrollment, or to replace facilities now existing but outmoded, insufficient or dangerous to student health and training, I would be very glad to read the justification for capital improvement needs as presented in the 1941 and 1943 Annual Report to the State Board of Education.

Question: We might take it up in more detail later, but if it is available in the reports mentioned we can append them to this report if it is deemed advisable. Where can we get the reports if we wish them?

Answer: I have one copy of each of the reports here and I will leave them with you.

Question: That will be fine. While we are on the subject of long-time building plans, Mr. McPhee, could you tell us if you have any definite plans whereby the facilities of California Polytechnic College might be expended to render additional or greater service to agriculture and industry in California?

Answer: During all the war years we had a very capable faculty committee working on postwar planning. Their specific committee purpose was to investigate and report on methods of improving our present service to the State and of expanding into new fields where additional service is needed. Some of their recommendations are already in operation, others will be put into operation in the future. In the industrial field we have added communications and electronics to our major offerings, and within a few months we will have a "country printer" course operating as recommended by the California Newspaper Publishers Association. Building trades and highway construction maintenance are two other fields for which we are planning to provide occupational training. There is a great demand for management personnel in the hotel and restaurant trade. Since we are housing over a thousand students on the campus and providing three meals per day for an even larger number, it is a very practical expansion step. Students in this field can receive practical training by working in and helping to manage the operation of dormitories and cafeterias. The same practical application is present in the printing course, in which students work under actual production shop routine in printing a variety of student publications, smaller job shop forms, etc. The building trades and highway construction maintenance courses would integrate into their respective courses the same practical application of "learn by doing" as do all other courses in the college. At the Voorhis unit we intend to add poultry production, crops production, and dairy production to the list of courses now given there. In addition to those courses, we anticipate including courses in rabbit production, which is a very specialized industry in Southern California. When women students are again admitted to the college they will be able to take many of the existing courses in agriculture and industry, with the addition of Airlines Operations and Flight Training and Home Economics. Because of the project operation in every department, there is a natural set-up for courses in Agriculture and Industrial Business.

Question: I notice that you did not mention veterinary medicine. Do you teach that now?

Answer: No, we do not have a major in veterinary medicine.

Question: Is there any college in California where a man can study to become a veterinarian?

Answer: No. A Californian may take a preveterinary course at Cal Poly or at the University of California, but he has to leave the State to get his degree.

Question: After he returns to California is he automatically licensed to practice?

Answer: No. He has to take an examination just as though he were an out-of-state veterinarian coming into California to compete against California trained veterinarians, which of course, there are none.

Question: Why doesn't the University of California have a school of veterinary medicine? They have all the necessary laboratory facilities already, haven't they?

Answer: Yes, I would say that the university is in the best position to start a school of veterinary medicine. I understand that they were to have started such a school sometime ago, but nothing has materialized.

Question: If the university refuses to put in such a school, could the California Polytechnic College set up such a course?

Answer: Yes, it could and it will if no one else will do it. However, it would mean costly research laboratory investments for us, while the university already has that type of facility.

Question: Mr. McPhee, the committee is quite familiar with the act under which California Polytechnic College now derives its support, but how was the college supported prior to the legalizing of pari-mutuel betting?

Answer: Money was appropriated from the General Fund.

Question: During the wartime ban on racing how was the school supported?

Answer: During that period the college received support money from the General Fund partially on a loan basis. The money borrowed has since been repaid from subsequent appropriations from the Fair and Exposition Fund.

Question: What was the college's income from its percentage of the Fair and Exposition Fund for the first eight years after pari-mutuel betting was legalized?

Answer: In the fiscal year 1937-38 the income was $305,141.81; in 1938-39 it was $368,755.68; 1939-40, $344,146.77; 1940-41, $493,061.01; 1941-42, $199,899.44; 1942-43, $90,830.27; 1943-44, $231,577.03; 1944-45, $693,114.48.

Question: What was the college's income last year?

Answer: Our total income for the Ninety-seventh Fiscal Year (1945-46) was $2,215,833.30.

Question: How can you justify the need for such an increase in funds over what you needed in the first year you received money from the Fair and Exposition Fund?

Answer: It wasn't that we didn't need more then, but that was all we received and we had to limit our activities to fit within that budget, even though such curtailment meant we were not able to serve the State in the way it should have been served. Permanent improvements which should have been made many years ago were delayed because of lack of funds. We actually have only three permanent buildings on the campus, the rest being either temporary or obsolete. To construct the necessary facilities as outlined in our long-time building program will take nearly $7,000,000—all of which must come from horse racing. Although the amount received last year was considerably more than the amount received in 1937-38, it is evident that there soon will be a leveling-off in the amount of money bet at California tracks. The amount we receive in the future may decrease, and yet the demand on the educational services of this college will increase steadily. Today we are turning away eligible veterans because we do not have facilities to care for them. Our enrollment next year will be even larger, and we expect a continued increase as long as we can provide adequate facilities—because there is no other educational institution in this State offering comparable instruction of an occupational nature on a college level.

Question: How is the expenditure of the funds received by the school controlled?

Answer: Expenditures are controlled by the State Department of Education and the Department of Finance. The Department of Education exerts its control through approval of budget, encumbrance documents, etc. The Department of Finance exerts complete budgetary control and allocation.

Question: How was your 1945-46 budget expended?

Answer: Our 1945-46 budget is very complicated because of the various Federal Government abatements based on the naval aviation training program which was conducted at the college from January, 1943, until January, 1946. However, our net support budget last year was $280,510.98 after all abatements had been deducted.

For permanent improvements a total of $429,007.97 was set up, and of this amount $400,000 was transferred to the Division of Architecture for a much-needed library-classroom building. The balance of that fund was spent for additions and betterments. A complete breakdown of last year's support budget is as follows:

Administration		$84,715 73
Instruction		178,079 71
Maintenance and operation of plant, SLO		70,456 28
Farm, SLO		29,157 36
Instruction, Voorhis		2,008 25
Maintenance and operation of plant, Voorhis		4,966 56
Farm, Voorhis		4,268 31
		$373,652 20
Less Abatements:
Vocational education	$2,143 26
War production training	420 12
Foundation	11,280 12
Navy	52,912 26
Sale surplus (farm commodities)	15,321 60
Sale surplus (farm commodities, Voorhis unit)	8,843 86
Abatement total	90,921 22
Service deductions	2,220 00
	$93,141 22	$93,141 22
Net total		$280,510 98

Question: What is your 1946-47 budget?

Answer: Our 1946-47 budget totals $740,777, which includes an estimate of what we expect to receive back from the Federal Government and civilian students for student fees.

Question: On the basis of this 1946-47 budget what would say your average cost per student would be?

Answer: Based on our 1946-47 budget the estimated cost per student was $444.64. Of that amount the Federal Government will pay about $135.55 per student which makes a net cost per student of $309.09. This estimate was based on a total of 1,660 students for both the San Luis Obispo and the San Dimas campus. We now know that our enrollment has exceeded that figure by more than 200 students, which will bring additional federal money and will decrease the cost per student.

Question: How does this cost per student compare with other California State colleges?

Answer: It compares favorably. In the State of California Budget Report to the Governor for the biennium 1945-47, the estimated cost per student, based on estimated enrollment for 1946-47, is reported as follows:

College	Estimated enrollment	Estimated cost per equivalent full-time student
San Francisco	1,860	$273 50
San Diego	1,875	278 38
Fresno	1,675	291 71
San Jose	2,340	298 32
Cal. Poly	900*	375 53
Humboldt	395	399 28
Chico	500	504 36
Average		$345 86

Our enrollment figure is more than double the number we based the biennium budget on, and there has been a corresponding increase in enrollment in all the state colleges, lowering the cost per equivalent full-time student for all the colleges.

In comparing our costs with costs of liberal arts types of colleges, one must bear in mind that it is considerably less expensive to have one instructor lecture to several hundred students in a class on English literature, for example, than it is to teach a course in tractor skills to an equal number of students. The necessity of demonstration as a part of vocational training, the importance of having students actually attempting to do the skill involved under supervision of the instructor, and the additional expense of equipment, land, livestock, and so forth, increases the cost of vocational education over the cost of a liberal arts type of training. However, as you can readily see by the comparison of costs at these other colleges, the additional cost is not excessive, and the results are worth the difference.

Question: Is there any difference in the type of teaching staff needed for vocational training than for the liberal arts type?

Answer: Yes, there is. But academically I believe our present faculty stands on an equal with that of the other state colleges despite the necessity of having men with practical experience as instructors of the vocational type courses. On our present faculty we have 10 Ph.D.'s, one doctor of veterinary medicine, 29 instructors with masters degrees, some with considerable work completed for their doctor's degree, and 40 with bachelor degrees. Only seven on a staff of 97 do not have a degree and these men not only have years of experience behind them in the vocational fields in which they are teaching, but hold special certificates from various technical schools, government licensing agencies, and have proved their ability by years of teaching experience. In our related fields, such as plant sciences, physics, chemistry, and so forth, we have successfully sought out and added to our staff men academically tops in their respective fields. In our vocational courses we look first for the man who is considered by the occupational field as being an authority, and then that man must have an addition to his practical experience, a bachelor of science degree as a minimum and a successful background of previous teaching.

EXPLANATION OF SYMBOLS

[1] Funds available for use on July 1st of year following collection of revenue. Distributed as provided by Section 85 of the Agricultural Code. National Orange Show at San Bernardino is the only citrus fair to qualify.

[2] Funds apportioned on December 31st of year following collection of revenue. Distributed as provided by Section 92 of the Agricultural Code.

[3] Prior to July 1, 1935, the balance was carried forward to next succeeding year and was distributed as revenue. Under the provisions of Chapter 515, Statutes of 1935, the balance was transferred to the General Fund and distributed as follows:

One-third to University of California
One-third to California Polytechnic School
One-third to State Relief Administration

All moneys available under this amendment were available for expenditure on July 1st of year following collection of revenue. Under the provisions of Chapter 810, Statutes of 1937, the balance was distributed as follows:

33 percent to University of California
25 percent to California Polytechnic School
42 percent for Capital Outlay at fairs as allotted by executive order of the Director of Finance

CHAPTER 385—STATUTES OF 1861 (p. 407)

An act to appropriate money for the maintenance and support of District and County Agricultural Societies

Approved May 16, 1861

SECTION 1. There is hereby appropriated out of any money in the State Treasury not otherwise appropriated, the sum of five thousand three hundred dollars ($5,300), to the Treasurer of the Northern District Agricultural and Mechanical Society, to the Treasurer of the San Francisco Bay District Agricultural and Mechanical Society, and to the Treasurer of the Sonoma District Agricultural and Mechanical Society, the sum, respectively of one thousand dollars ($1,000) each; to the Treasurer of El Dorado County Agricultural Society, the sum of four hundred dollars ($400); to the Treasurer(s) of Contra Costa, Siskiyou, and Plumas, County's Agricultural Societies the sum respectively of three hundred dollars ($300) each, on requisitions on the Treasurer of this State, signed by the presidents and recording secretaries of said societies respectively; which sum shall be used only for the purpose of paying premiums, and for no other purpose.

COMMUNICATIONS TO THE COMMITTEE

Explanatory

Here are given some of the many communications received by the committee. These are, generally, from various state agencies to which we have turned for information and clarification of some of the problems pertaining to our fairs and expositions and should prove of interest to all interested persons.

DEPARTMENT OF FINANCE, DIVISION OF FAIRS AND EXPOSITIONS

SACRAMENTO, November 27, 1946

Honorable Ernest R. Geddes, State Assembly
Pomona, California

DEAR MR. GEDDES: Enclosed is a copy of the duties and responsibilities of this division which you requested me to prepare for you. The report covers only the high spots and does not attempt to go into any great detail. I trust that it will be of value to you.

If there is anything further you desire and which I may have omitted, please advise me.

The other data the committee requested for the meeting here December 9th and 10th is in the process of preparation, and, while I will not be here for the session, members of my staff will meet with you and give you any data that you may desire concerning the program.

Sincerely,

A. E. SNIDER, Chief, Fairs and Expositions Division

The Division of Fairs and Expositions, created by legislative action, is a division of the Department of Finance and is charged with the administration of district and county fairs receiving apportionments from the Fair and Exposition fund as provided in Sections 92 and 86 of the Agricultural Code.

Section 72 of the Agricultural Code reads as follows: "There shall be a Division of Fairs and Expositions in the Department of Finance. The division shall be in charge of a chief who shall be appointed by the Director of Finance, in accordance with the provisions of the State Civil Service Act."

Until creation of the division in 1939 the supervision of district and county fairs was performed by the Division of Budgets and Accounts and such supervision was principally that of budgetary control of funds apportioned to the various district and county fairs.

With the establishment of a separate division to administer the affairs of district and county fairs, the duties and responsibilities materially increased. As funds available for these fairs continued to increase due to the higher revenues accruing to the State from pari-mutuel wagering and as the number of fairs steadily mounted, the scope of the division's activities has widened to include the administering and supervising of practically all phases of fair operations.

Hampered by a small staff and by the fact that the new agency's duties were quite different and apart from those of long-established divisions of State Government, the Division of Fairs and Expositions has been obliged to promote the fair program largely through trial and error procedure since there was no precedent in governmental set-ups of this or any other state to follow. However, valuable groundwork has been laid during the past few years for a sound structure of fair administration and supervision and with an expected increase to 10 in office personnel in 1947, the division will be able to carry out its functions more effectively.

In considering the Division of Fairs and Expositions in the same category of other state agencies, it should be borne in mind that the division deals with approximately 70 district and county fairs scattered from Del Norte to Imperial and from Modoc to San Diego Counties. Directors of district fairs, which are state agencies, are not paid; much of the labor in connection with staging fairs is volunteer. As a result, there is constant change in personnel and the necessity for closer supervision and a greater degree of service and instruction on the part of the division so that agricultural fairs may be operated on the highest possible plane and to carry out the intent of the Agricultural Code—an educational program designed to improve the quality and methods of production of agricultural and livestock products in the State of California.

Encouragement of all year uses of fairgrounds facilities for the benefit of the public is an important function of the division. Such uses include establishment of recreational facilities on fairgrounds; holding of livestock auctions; public meetings; possible location of state armories, forestry service fire stations and farm advisors headquarters on fairgrounds. Promotion of such a varied program calls for a high degree of cooperation between the division, the fair associations and the agencies involved with the ultimate successful development of this program resting chiefly with the division.

Without considering the great volume of office detail which includes correspondence, office interviews, preparation of various forms used, etc., the duties and responsibilities of the division may be listed as follows:

To supervise and administer all operations and fiscal affairs of district and county fairs.

To examine and approve annual budgets of these fairs. Intelligent consideration of these budgets is based on frequent field trips by staff members who personally inspect the fairgrounds facilities and consult with fair officials and directors in preparation of the budgets.

To compile rules and regulations governing the operations of district and county fairs.

To examine and approve premium lists of all fairs in accordance with the rules, regulations, classifications and maximum amounts payable as defined in the master premium list prepared by the division. Emphasis is placed on localizing the fair; that is, showing the products of the district or county as determined by the annual report on agriculture and livestock production issued by the Department of Agriculture.

To review all contracts, agreements, leases, proposed acquisition of land and equipment, new construction and hiring of personnel and to process the necessary documents through the various state agencies involved.

To recommend to the Director of Finance, after careful study and consideration of need, allocation of funds from the Permanent Improvement Fund for new construction. In arriving at its conclusions, the division's staff takes into account the type of fair, its location, population of the area, principal crops and local interest in the fair.

To maintain close personal contact with the several hundred fair officials, directors and employees. This necessitates a great amount of travel—fully 60 percent of the staff's time is devoted to field work during six months of the year.

To confer frequently with representatives of the agriculture, horticulture and livestock industries; with members of the faculties of the College of Agriculture, the California Polytechnic College, representatives of breeders associations, farm advisors, agricultural commissioners, Grange and Farm Bureau groups concerning premium list changes and methods for improving the standard of fairs.

To coordinate activities of other state agencies insofar as these activities affect district and county fairs—the State Fire Marshal, Department of Public Health, Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Purchases, State Printing Plant, Division of Architecture. The latter agency has assigned three men to the task of preparing master plans for all district fairs, costs of such service being paid from the Fair and Exposition Fund.

In conjunction with the Western Fairs Association to hold schools of instruction for fair managers and directors and for training judges to officiate at fairs.

To gather and compile statistical and general data from fairs in other states for comparative purposes; to gather statistical data on all operations of each fair in California; to recommend to the Department of Finance changes in the Agricultural Code which will tend to improve the entire fair program of the State.

Subject: Survey of Fairgrounds Construction Costs

Accompanying figures, showing estimated costs of completing district and county fairgrounds facilities, are based on a personal survey of the fairgrounds listed. This survey was begun late in 1945 and, to date, covers 34 districts and eight county fairs.

The contemplated construction program is set up for a five year period—or less if funds, materials and labor become available.

Before embarking on a building program of such magnitude, it is essential that master plans be prepared for all district fairs by the Division of Architecture. The division also could serve in an advisory capacity on county fair master plans.

The master plan for fairs contemplates first the grading, leveling, and drainage of the site, using contour maps as a guide; installation of water, sewage, and electric systems; fencing; landscaping; construction of sanitary and eating facilities; exhibit buildings and barns; and grandstands and race track units.

Costs are computed on the amount of space required for the various types of exhibits—livestock, agricultural and horticultural displays, booths, etc., and are broken down into housing costs per exhibit unit.

Allocations from the permanent construction fund have been, and are being, made on a 50-50 matching basis.

Due to shortages in critical building materials, budget provisions for major construction have not been approved for the past few months as a matter of policy. With the recent federal order drastically curtailing building operations, fairs will be unable to do any construction of consequence unless authorization is obtained from the Civilian Production Administration. Copies of this order have been mailed to all fairs.

Such curtailment will prove of benefit in one way as it will provide needed time for long range, practical, and efficient planning of fairgrounds construction. Our survey has shown a deplorable lack of such planning in many instances.

Building requirements of fairs have been based on several factors—the number of exhibits shown at the last fair; careful estimates of future needs; attendance; population of the district served; principal products of the area; interest of the community in the fair; and adaptability for all year use.

The survey does not include nine existing district fairs; one newly formed district, the 51st in Los Angeles County; 10 existing county fairs; one revived county fair (Butte); the State Fair; Los Angeles County Fair; National Orange Show; Cloverdale Citrus Fair, and 6th District Agricultural Association. Also excluded are five county fairs authorized by the last Legislature, two of which, Madera and Merced, are operating this year. Marin and Solano Counties are planning acquisition of fair sites. Santa Cruz has as yet made no move to start a fair.

1-A District, San Francisco Cow Palace:

Propose purchase of 35 acres of adjoining property for future expansion and parking use. Additional livestock unit at rear of present pavilion. Estimated cost approximately $1,800,000.

Subject: Salaries of Fair Managers

Upon request of the Division of Fairs and Expositions, the State Personnel Board, as the result of a recent survey, suggested salary ranges for secretary-managers of district and county fairs based upon information supplied by the division. The suggested salaries are on a full-time basis with maximum salaries reduced in proportion to the amount of time required to handle the work. Full responsibility for managing the fair, supervising the maintenance, operation and improvement of the fairgrounds is vested in the secretary-manager, subject to the control of the governing body of the fair.

Emergency salary adjustments—$25 for salaries of $300 or less; $20 for salaries over $300.

Following are the maximum salary ranges except for addition of the $25-$20 emergency salary adjustment during the period such adjustment is in effect for state employees:

Class 1—$435 (20), $535—Fairs in this class include: District 1-A (Cow Palace); 2nd District, Stockton; 21st District, Fresno; 22nd District, Del Mar; Sonoma County Fair, Santa Rosa.

Class 2—$355 (20), $435—Fairs in this class include: District 1, Oakland; Alameda County Fair, Pleasanton; Santa Clara County Fair, San Jose.

Class 3—$275 (15), $335—Fairs in this class include: District 7, Monterey; District 19, Santa Barbara; District 24, Tulare; District 31, Ventura; District 35, Merced; District 45, Imperial; Humboldt County Fair, Ferndale; San Mateo County Fair, San Mateo.

Class 4—$215 (15), $275—All other fairs not listed above are in Class 4.

SACRAMENTO, December 9, 1946

Honorable Jacob M. Leonard, Chairman
Assembly Investigating Committee on
Exhibitions and Fairs
Hollister, California

DEAR MR. LEONARD: The California State Fair is conducted by the State Agricultural Society which is a state institution within the Department of Finance. The State Agricultural Society consists of a board of directors of 14 members.

The directors are appointed by the Governor. The president of the board of directors is designated by the Governor from among the members of the board. Twelve of the directors are appointed for staggered four-year terms. Two members of the board, who must be members of an agricultural district or county fair board, are appointed for one-year terms.

The board of directors, subject to the approval of the Department of Finance, is charged with the duty of providing for and managing the annual California State Fair at Sacramento, California, and an annual junior agricultural fair at any place within the State.

All moneys received by the State Agricultural Society from operations and the annual appropriations from the Fair and Exposition Fund for support of the California State Fair and the junior agricultural fair are deposited in or transferred to the State Agricultural Contingent Fund in the State Treasury.

The State Agricultural Society operates under a budget, approved by the Department of Finance, of the funds appropriated by the Legislature out of moneys in the State Agricultural Society Contingent Fund, and such other funds as may be provided by law.

The organic law which covers the powers and duties of the State Agricultural Society, is contained in Article 1, Chapter 3, of the Agricultural Code (Section 70 to 77, inclusive).

Yours truly,

A. E. SNIDER, Chief, Fairs and Expositions Division

SACRAMENTO, December 9, 1946

Honorable Jacob M. Leonard, Chairman
Assembly Investigating Committee on
Exhibitions and Fairs
Hollister, California

DEAR MR. LEONARD: At the present time there are two citrus fruit fairs receiving financial aid from the State. These are the National Orange Show held in San Bernardino, California, and the Cloverdale Citrus Fair held in Cloverdale, California.

The National Orange Show is conducted by the National Orange Show, Inc., a nonprofit corporation organized under the laws of this State. The annual apportionment to this fair from the funds appropriated for the encouragement of citrus fruit fairs under the provisions of Section 19624 of the Business and Professions Code and Section 94 of the Agricultural Code, may not exceed $100,000.

The Cloverdale Citrus Fair is conducted by the Cloverdale Chamber of Commerce, a nonprofit corporation organized under the laws of this State. The annual apportionment to this fair from funds appropriated for the encouragement of citrus fruit fairs under the provisions of Section 19624 of the Business and Professions Code, may not exceed $5,000.

The expenditures from the funds apportioned and paid to the two citrus fairs are not subject to budgetary or supervisory control by the Department of Finance, but such expenditures are subject to post audit by said department.

Very truly yours,

A. E. SNIDER, Chief, Fairs and Expositions Division

DEPARTMENT OF FINANCE, DIVISION OF FAIRS AND EXPOSITIONS
SACRAMENTO, December 9, 1946

Honorable Jacob M. Leonard, Chairman
Assembly Investigating Committee on
Exhibitions and Fairs
Hollister, California

DEAR MR. LEONARD: Most of the county fairs receiving financial aid from the State are conducted by nonprofit fair associations acting as agents of the respective counties under annual contracts. A few of the fairs are conducted directly by the counties.

The four principal sources of funds available for the operation of county fairs are:

1. Funds apportioned to the counties under Section 92 of the Agricultural Code on the basis of premiums paid.
2. Funds allocated to the counties by the Director of Finance under the provisions of Section 19626 of the Business and Professions Code, for capital outlay for fair purposes.
3. Funds received from the operation of the fairs.
4. Other county funds appropriated by the supervisors for the support of the fair.

The funds apportioned to the county fairs under Section 92 of the Agricultural Code are paid to the county treasurers and must be deposited in special bank accounts authorized by the Director of Finance. The expenditure of these funds is subject to the budgetary control of the Department of Finance and such laws as apply to the expenditure of county funds.

The funds allocated to counties by the Director of Finance for capital outlay for fair purposes are allocated for specific capital outlay programs. The expenditures under these allotments are reviewed by the Department of Finance before the claims for payment are presented to the State Controller for the issuance of warrants.

The funds received from the operation of the fairs and county funds appropriated for the support of the fairs are expended under such arrangements as may be made between the boards of supervisors and the respective contracting agents or county officials, subject to the laws under which the counties operate. The Department of Finance is not authorized to exercise budgetary or supervisory control over these expenditures.

The Los Angeles County Fair receives a fixed annual appropriation under the provisions of Section 19622 of the Business and Professions Code. The funds so appropriated remain in the State Treasury subject to claims filed by the county. The Department of Finance is authorized to exercise limited control over the purposes for which these funds may be expended.

The Department of Finance is charged by law with the duty of making post audits of the expenditures made by counties from funds allocated or appropriated to the counties from the Fair and Exposition Fund.

The powers and duties of the Department of Finance with respect to county fairs, as referred to herein, are vested in the Director of Finance. The Fairs and Expositions Division of the Department of Finance exercises such administrative authority in this regard as is delegated to said division by the director of the department.

Yours very truly,

SACRAMENTO 2, December 11, 1946

Statutory Provisions Relating to County Fairs—No. 270

Section 4041 5, Political Code (Ch. 1116, Stats. 1945), authorizes boards of supervisors to levy special tax of 4 cents per $100 valuation, to be used (among other purposes) for exhibiting agricultural, etc., resources, for making plans and arrangements for world fair, trade fair, or other fair at which such resources may be exhibited, and for doing this in cooperation with or by contract with other agencies, associations or corporations. This tax is in addition to that levied under Section 4056b, Political Code.

Section 4041.18, Political Code, authorizes boards of supervisors to construct, lease, and furnish exposition buildings for exhibiting and advertising farming, etc., resources.

Section 4041h, Political Code, authorizes boards of supervisors to join and participate in affairs of associations for interchanging information relating to agricultural fairs.

Section 4041i, Political Code (Ch. 1247, Stats. 1945), provides that if county sells property purchased in whole or in part from funds allocated by the State for fair purposes, the State's proportion of the cost, less an amount allowed for depreciation by the Department of Finance, is to be paid into the Fair and Exposition Fund. The amount so paid is available for expenditure by the county for capital outlay for fair purposes, subject to approval by the Department of Finance. If not expended within three years, the money becomes part of the fund subject to allocation under Section 19626, Business and Professions Code, for permanent improvements or other capital outlay of State and local fairs for fair purposes.

Section 4041j, Political Code, authorizes boards of supervisors to erect and maintain county fair buildings on land owned by the county or any municipal corporation or body politic.

Section 4056b, Political Code, authorizes boards of supervisors, by two-thirds vote, to levy special tax of 4 cents per $100 valuation for exhibition of products and industries of county at any domestic or foreign exposition; for contribution to the support of any local fair or exhibition maintained by public agency, county agricultural association, county fair association, or chamber of commerce in the county, or if none, in any group of counties of which the county is one, such contributions to be used for the general conduct of the fair, including the giving of premiums.

Section 89.6, Agricultural Code, provides that counties may use fair property for agricultural labor camps, and may expend money on the camps. This section is effective through the calendar year 1947.

Section 96, Agricultural Code (Ch. 411, Stats. 1945), authorizes boards of supervisors to lease, let, or grant licenses to use parks or fair property for specified purposes.

Section 5154, Public Resources Code (Ch. 599, Stats. 1945), authorizes boards of supervisors to grant the use of park or fair property to non-profit associations for the purpose of operating, as agent of the county, any fair or exposition in aid of which the granting of public money is authorized by the Constitution or laws of this State. County may allocate money to such corporation for planning and preparing for fair. Funds received by the corporation, with certain exceptions, go into county fair fund to be used for fair purposes.

Section 92, Agricultural Code (Ch. 1341, Stats. 1945), provides for allocation of a portion of the Fair and Exposition Fund to county and district fairs. County fairs must file a sworn statement of premiums paid, must place money received from the State in a separate bank account approved by the Director of Finance. The money may be expended only pursuant to a budget approved by the Director of Finance. The Department of Finance makes rules and regulations for judging exhibits, and the maximum amount of premiums for all classes of exhibits and no fair is to receive an apportionment unless it complies with these rules and regulations. The department may examine the books and records to determine the correctness of any statement or report filed with the department.

Sections 620, 621, and 622, Civil Code, provide that agricultural fair corporations may purchase and hold not to exceed 160 acres of land for fair purposes. Such a corporation may not contract any debt in excess of the money in its treasury except to purchase real property and for that purpose may create debt not exceeding $5,000, secured by a mortgage on the property. These corporations are nonprofit, have no capital stock, nor income greater than necessary to discharge debts for property and improvements and defray current expenses of fairs.

These sections have stood unchanged since their enactment in 1872. Inasmuch as the nonprofit corporation law appears to contain ample, and less restrictive, provisions under which a fair association could be organized it may be that these sections have become obsolete and should be repealed.

SACRAMENTO 14, July 10, 1946

Jacob Leonard, Chairman
Interim Committee on Fairs and Expositions
Hollister, California

DEAR MR. LEONARD: I learned just recently that the Division of Fairs and Expositions was requesting a statement for each fair as to the sums paid by each fair to the Western Fairs Association during 1945 and 1946. I am enclosing a financial statement of not only the dues paid by each fair but the amount remaining unpaid.

I am sending you this information in anticipation of the fact that all of the fairs will have not replied prior to our meeting on the eighteenth of this month.

Yours truly,

LOUIS S. MERRILL, General Manager

ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION AND BY-LAWS, WESTERN FAIRS ASSOCIATION, INCORPORATED

Article 1. Name

The name of this organization shall be the Western Fairs Association, Incorporated.

Article 2. Purposes

Section I. To encourage and foster a spirit of cooperation among the membership.

Section II. To exchange ideas on publicity and details of management, as well as problems local to each activity, or event, but which might become problems of general interest to the membership.

Section III. To coordinate efforts in setting dates of the various activities, or events, so there may be a minimum of conflicts.

Section IV. To serve as a public relation medium to the effect that the general public shall be kept informed as to the economic and social value of our present system of California Fairs and their relation to the allocation of pari-mutuel funds.

Article 3. Membership: Active, Associate, Honorary

Section I. The active membership shall consist only of agricultural associations, societies, citrus fairs, and county fairs formed and operated in conformance with the provisions governing the Agricultural Code or other codes of the State of California.

Section II. The associate membership shall consist of such other activities, out of state fairs, or events, as may be held regularly in the various communities: Rodeos, horse shows, pageants, fiestas, community events, expositions, and agricultural, horticultural, livestock and poultry associations whose purposes include the furthering of the development of agriculture, horticulture, livestock, and poultry, through agricultural fairs.

Section III. Honorary memberships without dues shall be accorded certain persons upon being approved by the board of directors and voted upon by the entire active membership.

Section IV. Termination of Membership. Any member may voluntarily resign or withdraw from membership in this association at any time upon giving 30-day notice in writing to the secretary. Upon such withdrawal, he shall cease to be a member of any committee. A resigning member shall not only forfeit its dues for the current year, but may not voluntarily withdraw if any indebtedness is still owing to the association.

Section V. Suspension or Expulsion. It shall be within the power of the board of directors to summon before it any member whose conduct shall appear to the board of directors to be prejudicial to the character or welfare of this association, or contrary to or in violation of its articles and rules. Secretary shall notify such member of such hearing at which he shall be accorded all rights to defend himself of the charges. At such hearing the member may be censured, suspended or expelled by a majority vote of the board of directors present at the meeting.

Section VI. All memberships shall be recorded in the name of the association (event), corporation, partnership, firm or individual. That is: not "John Jones, Secretary, 23d Agricultural Association," but "223d Agricultural Association."

Article 4. Meetings

Section I. The annual meeting of this association shall be held at a time designated by the board of directors.

Article 5. Dues

Section I. Annual dues shall be established as provided in the by-laws.

Article 6. Officers and Directors

Section I. The governing body of this association shall be a board of directors, to be constituted as the by-laws of the association may provide.

Section II. The board of directors shall have authority to pass upon all matters not in contravention to the actions taken by the membership at its annual or special meetings.

Section III. The officers of the association shall be a president, vice president, and secretary-treasurer, to be selected as the by-laws of the association may provide.

Section IV. (a) President: The president shall preside at all meetings of the association and of the meetings of the board of directors and shall, with the secretary, sign all certificates of membership and obligations of the association and shall perform other duties as may be assigned to him by the board of directors and the usual duties pertaining to his office.

(b) Vice President: In the absence of the president, the vice president shall perform such duties as are usually appertaining to the office.

(c) Secretary-Treasurer: The secretary shall give notice of all meetings of the members and of the directors and shall take the minutes of such meetings and shall keep the correspondence and all records of the members and perform such other duties as the directors may from time to time asign to him. As treasurer he shall collect all monies due the association, shall have the care and custody of and be responsible for the funds of the association which shall be deposited in the name of the association in such bank or places of deposit as the board of directors shall designate, and shall have the custody of all the securities of the association. He shall keep proper books of account showing disposition of all funds that may pass through his hands. He shall make a full report in writing covering the financial conditions of the association at each annual meeting of the association and at other times as requested by the board of directors.

Article 7. Amendments

Section I. These articles and the by-laws may be amended as provided by the by-laws.

BY-LAWS

Article 1. Election of Directors and Officers

Section I. At the annual meeting of the association a board of directors shall be chosen by vote of the active and associated membership.

Section II. This board shall consist of 12 members, nine to be chosen from the active membership, and three to be chosen from the associate membership, at least two of whom shall be from without the State of California.

Section III. The term of office of directors shall be three years, four members to be elected each year, excepting that at the election for the term starting December, 1941, four members shall be elected for a period of three years, one member shall be elected for a period of two years, and one member shall be elected for a period of one year.

Section IV. The president and vice president shall be elected annually by majority vote of the members of the board of directors. The board of directors shall elect the secretary-treasurer for the term of one year.

Section V. The president and vice president shall be members of the board of directors. The retiring president shall continue to serve for the following year as an ex-officio member of the board of directors.

Article 2. Special Meetings

Section I. Special meetings of the association may be called by order of the board of directors upon five days' notice to the membership.

Article 3. Dues

Section I. The annual dues of this association shall be established as follows: Active membership dues shall be divided into two divisions and 12 subdivisions as follows:

Division I:

A. California State Fair	$1,250
B. Los Angeles County Fair	1,250
C. National Orange Show	1,000
D. District 1-A Agricultural Association	1,000
E. Sixth District Agricultural Association	150

Division II:

Fairs receiving an annual appropriation from the "Fair and Exposition Fund" in accordance with Sections 92 and 92.1 of the Agricultural Code, State of California, shall be:

A. Over $60,000 to $65,000	$650
B. Over $50,000 to $60,000	600
C. Over $40,000 to $50,000	500
D. Over $30,000 to $40,000	400
E. Over $20,000 to $30,000	300
F. Over $10,000 to $20,000	200
G. $6,000 to $10,000	100

Associate membership dues shall be $20.

Section II. The board of directors shall be empowered to classify in what division the active membership shall be placed.

Article 4. Voting Privileges

Section I. Each of the activities, or events, under the heads of active and associate memberships shall be entitled to vote on any proposition properly presented to the association for that purpose, except that that power shall be vested in only one representative from that activity. In other words, each activity, or event, shall be entitled to but one vote. Only active and associate members shall have the right to vote upon any amendments.

Section II. No members shall be entitled to vote unless satisfactory arrangements have been made for the payment of all current dues and other obligations.

Article 5. Amendments

Section I. The articles of incorporation and these by-laws may be amended at any annual meeting provided the proposed amendment has been mailed to every voting member at least 30 days previous to the annual meeting or has been presented in writing and read to a session of the annual meeting at least one day preceding the day upon which it is to be acted upon. After a proposal for amendment has been made, however, the same may be amended before being acted upon.

Article 6. Quorum

Section I. At any association meeting the presence in person of a majority of the active and associate members shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business.

Section II. At any meeting of the board of directors or any of the committees, the presence in person of a majority of the members shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business, provided also that if reasonable notice of the meeting has been given, five members of the board of directors may transact any business.

Article 7. Vacancies

Section I. Vacancies on the board of directors shall be filled by a majority vote of the remaining directors.

Section II. Vacancies on any committees shall be filled by appointments made by the president.

Article 8. Depository

Section I. The funds of the association shall be deposited in a bank to be selected by the treasurer and approved by the board of directors.

Article 9. Bond

Section I. A bond for faithful performance of duty shall be required from the secretary-treasurer of this association. Premium on the bond shall be paid by the association.

Article 10. Nominations

Section I. On each election date (annual meeting) the nominating committee shall propose a list of nominees for the vacancies, and shall present this list to the entire voting membership for their consideration. However, this list may be supplemented at the pleasure of individual voting members by nominations from the floor.

Article 11. Committees

Section I. The president shall appoint the following committees: Standing: Public relations, membership. Temporary: Dates, resolutions, nominating, auditing, credentials.

Article 12. Books and Papers

Section I. All books, correspondence, and papers of the association shall be in the custody of the president or secretary-treasurer, excepting those records accumulated by the various committees, and all records shall be turned over to the successors of the above offices and committeemen at the termination of such office.

Article 13. Status of Members

Section I. In differentiating between the status of active and associate members it is understood that because of the State Racing Fund directly and materially benefiting legally formed and established agricultural associations conducting fairs or citrus shows, the dues of the former class may be of greater amount than those of the latter class.

Article 14. Finances

Section I. The funds of the association shall be withdrawn upon signatures of the president, countersigned by the treasurer

Section II. No check shall be drawn upon the funds of the association except upon a voucher approved by at least one director.

Section III. The treasurer shall annually present a financial statement which shall first be passed upon by the board of directors who may in their discretion appoint an auditing committee.

PROPOSED PERMANENT STANDING RULES OF THE ASSEMBLY FOR THE FIFTY-SEVENTH SESSION, 1947-1948

As Submitted by the Permanent Committee on Legislative Organization, 1945

SECTION 1

LEGISLATIVE ORGANIZATION

Assignment of Desks to Members

1. Members shall be assigned to desks by the Chief of the Bureau of Buildings and Grounds, subject to change by the Committee on Rules, and, as far as possible, he shall conform to the requests of members, giving due consideration to their seniority in point of service in the Assembly.

Hours of Meeting

2. The session of Assembly, prior to the constitutional recess, shall be daily, beginning at 10 o'clock a.m. (Sundays excepted), unless otherwise ordered by a majority vote of the members present.

Following the constitutional recess, the Assembly shall meet promptly at 9.30 o'clock a.m., daily (Sundays excepted), unless otherwise ordered by a majority vote of the members present.

RULES

Adoption of Standing Rules

3. The adoption of the Standing Rules shall require an affirmative recorded vote of a majority of the entire elected membership. When once adopted, such Standing Rules shall remain in effect, unless suspended or amended as provided in these Rules.

Suspension of Rules

4. Any standing rule of the Assembly may be suspended temporarily by a vote of two-thirds of the members present; provided, that such temporary suspension shall apply only to the matter under immediate consideration, and in no case shall it extend beyond an adjournment.

Amending Standing Rules

5. No standing rule of the Assembly shall be amended except by an affirmative recorded vote of a majority of the entire elected membership of the Assembly, and one day's notice must be given on the motion thereof.

Temporary Rules

6. The Committee on Rules may at any time report a temporary rule. Upon adoption by an affirmative recorded vote of two-thirds of the entire elected membership of the Assembly, such temporary rule shall have the effect, for the time being, of a standing rule. If such temporary rule shall be in conflict with a standing rule, it shall supersede such standing rule only for the time being.

Parliamentary Rules

7. In all cases not provided for by the Constitution, by the Assembly Rules, or by the Joint Rules of the Senate and Assembly, the authority shall be Mason's Manual of Legislative Procedure.

Standing Committees

Standing Committees

8. For their convenient functioning and in furtherance of the thorough consideration of all bills on a given subject, the several standing committees of the Assembly are respectively grouped into the following categories:

A. LEGISLATURE:

Three committees to consider legislative organization, functions and procedure:

Committee on Rules

There is a Committee on Rules, No. 1, which shall act as an executive committee of the House having the following powers:

To recommend the appointment of all attaches and employees of the Assembly not otherwise provided for by statute. It shall have authority to suspend, with or without pay, any such attache or employee for incompetency or dereliction of duty, pending final action by the Assembly.

The Committee on Rules shall for the purpose of Joint Rule No. 2 be deemed to be the Rules Committee of the Assembly.

Committee on Legislative Procedure

There is a Committee on Legislative Procedure, No. 2, which shall have and exercise the following powers:

To be the Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment within the meaning of the Joint Rules. It shall be the duty of the Committee on Legislative Procedure to compare all bills, ordered or considered engrossed by the Assembly, with the engrossed copies thereof; and, before they pass out of the possession of the Assembly, see that the engrossed bill is a true copy of the original, with such amendments as may have been made thereto; and said committee shall see that all engrossed bills are reported back in the order in which they were ordered engrossed. The report of the Committee on Legislative Procedure shall be in order at any time.

To consider and report on bills introduced after the constitutional recess.

To assist the Speaker, upon his request, in recommending the reference of bills to the appropriate standing committees.

To assist the chairmen of the several committees in formulating consolidated bills as substitutes for several bills relating to the same subject, following the reference of bills to the appropriate standing committees.

To bring about greater efficiency in the consideration of bills and to form a liaison with the Legislative Counsel Bureau and receive the aid of the bureau in such matters.

B. GOVERNMENT:

Fifteen committees to consider legislative measures affecting Government and Governmental Organization: Two on Conservation and Planning, Nos. 3 and 4; three on Fiscal Matters, Nos. 5, 6, and 7; one on Education, No. 8; four on Social Welfare, Nos. 9, 10, 11, and 12; one on Civil Service and State Personnel, No. 13; one on Military and Police, No. 14; two on Political Subdivisions, Nos. 15 and 16; and two on Judiciary and Laws, Nos. 17 and 18.

C. INDUSTRY:

Six committees to consider legislative measures affecting Industry and the Means of Production of Wealth; two on Agriculture, Nos. 19 and 20; two on Organization and Operation, Nos. 21 and 22; one on Industrial Relations, No. 23; one on Capital, No. 24; and one on the Means of Distribution of Wealth, No. 25.

It is the policy of the Assembly that the several committees in each of the groups indicated above shall cooperate to the fullest possible extent and upon every convenient occasion meet together upon bills of common interest to the committees in the group, no matter to which committee they have been assigned.

Twenty-five standing committees of the Assembly are hereby created, upon the several subjects, and numbered respectively, as follows:

1. Rules.
2. Legislative Procedure.
3. Conservation, Planning and Public Works.
4. Fish and Game.
5. Governmental Efficiency and Economy.
6. Revenue and Taxation.
7. Ways and Means.
8. Education.
9. Crime and Correction.
10. Public Morals.
11. Public Health.
12. Social Welfare.
13. Civil Service and State Personnel.
14. Military Affairs.
15. Municipal and County Government.
16. Elections and Reapportionment.
17. Judiciary.
18. Constitutional Amendments.
19. Agriculture.
20. Livestock and Dairies.
21. Public Utilities and Corporations.
22. Manufacturing, Oil, and Mining Industry.
23. Industrial Relations.
24. Finance and Insurance.
25. Transportation and Commerce.

Prior to the assignment of members to serve on the several standing committees, the Speaker shall consider the preferences of the members with regard to committee assignments, while keeping in view the practical necessity of making assignments so that members will not serve on more than one committee which meets at the same time, and the Speaker thereafter shall determine the number and members to serve on each standing committee. Upon publication in the Journal of the number of members on each standing committee, no further change in the number of members of the committee shall be made otherwise than by a majority vote of the elected membership of the Assembly.

No Member of the Assemlby shall be a member of more than three standing committees except that upon appointment by the Speaker or the approval of the House a member may serve on four committees.

There shall be published weekly in the Assembly Weekly History during each session of the Legislature a chart showing the Rational Organization of the Standing Committees of the Assembly and showing Chairman and Vice Chairman, Number of Members, Time of Meeting, Room Number, Total Number of Measures, "referred" and "action pending," and a meeting schedule for each day of the week.

Motions to Change Membership or Meetings of Standing Committees

9. A motion proposing to increase or diminish the membership of a standing committee or the number of standing committees, shall not be considered until the same shall have been referred to and approved by the Committee on Rules.

SECTION 2

HOUSE FUNCTIONS

Duties of Assembly Officers

Duties of the Speaker

10. The Speaker shall possess the powers and perform the duties prescribed:

(a) To preserve order and decorum; he may speak to points of order in preference to the other members, rising from his chair for that purpose.

(b) To decide all questions of order subject to appeal to the Assembly by any member. On every appeal, he shall have the right to assign his reason for his decision.

(c) To have general direction over the Assembly Chamber and rooms set aside for the use of the Assembly, including the rooms for use by members as private offices.

(d) To name any member to perform the duties of the Speaker, but such substitutions shall not extend beyond adjournment.

(e) To appoint the membership of all standing and special committees, and their respective chairmen and vice chairmen.

(f) To propose a schedule of meetings of standing committees.

(g) To have general control and direction over the Journals, papers, and bills of the Assembly.

(h) To act as Chairman of the Committee of the Whole.

(i) To order the Lobby and Gallery cleared whenever he shall deem it necessary.

(j) To assign desks to properly accredited newspaper representatives.

(k) To authenticate by his signature, when necessary, or when required by law, all bills, memorials, resolutions, orders, proceedings, writs, warrants, and subpenas issued by order of the Assembly.

(l) The Speaker shall be ex officio member of all Assembly, joint, and interim committees with all of the rights and privileges of such membership, except the right to vote. In counting a quorum of any such committees, the Speaker shall not be counted as a member.

Duties of the Speaker Pro Tempore

11. The Speaker pro Tempore shall have the powers and perform the duties of the Speaker during his absence.

Duties of the Chief Clerk

12. The duties of the Chief Clerk shall be as follows:

(a) To have charge of and supervise all clerical business and printing of the Assembly.

(b) To see that the Journals, other publications, and records of the Assembly are properly kept.

(c) To refuse to permit any records or papers to be taken from the desk or out of his custody, except upon duly signed receipts from persons authorized.

(d) To read or allow his assistants to read from the desk only such matters as the Speaker of the Assembly shall direct.

(e) To have general supervision over all clerks, attaches and employees, and to be responsible for their official acts and their performance of and regular attendance upon their duties.

(f) To suspend temporarily any clerk, attache, or employee for incompetency or dereliction of duty, pending action by the Committee on Rules.

(g) To perform all other duties pertaining to his office as prescribed by law or Assembly rule.

(h) Before the commencement of any regular session of the Legislature the Chief Clerk of the Assembly may mail to each member a blank form on which the member may indicate his committee preferences. Accompanying such blank shall be mailed a stamped envelope addressed to the Chief Clerk of the Assembly for returning such form. After their receipt, all such communications shall be delivered to the Chairman of the Committee on Legislative Organization, who shall deliver them to the Speaker immediately upon the organization of the Assembly.

(i) To certify to the Controller, pay rolls of members and attaches.

(j) To certify all requisitions upon the Controller for the payment of bills incurred by the Assembly.

(k) To order and sign for all documents and printing, subject to approval by the Speaker or the Chairman of the Committee on Rules.

Duties of the Sergeant-at-Arms

13. The duties of the Sergeant-at-Arms shall be as follows:

(a) To attend the Assembly during its session, preserve order, announce all official messengers, and serve all processes issued by authority of the Assembly and directed by the Speaker; he shall receive his actual expenses for himself or for an assistant when executing any such process.

(b) To see that no person is admitted to the Assembly Chamber except in accordance with the provisions of these Rules.

(c) To have general supervision over the Assistant Sergeants-at-Arms and be responsible for their official acts and their performance of and regular attendance upon their duties.

(d) To suspend temporarily any Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms for incompetency or dereliction of duty, pending action by the Committee on Rules.

(e) To execute all commands of the Speaker.

(f) To perform all other duties pertaining to his office as prescribed by law or Assembly rule.

Printing

Authority for Printing

14. The State Printer shall not charge any printing or other work to the Assembly other than provided by law or Assembly rule, except upon a written order signed by the Chief Clerk of the Assembly and countersigned by the Chairman of the Committee on Rules or by the Speaker, and delivered to him prior to beginning such printing or work. All invoices for printing furnished the Assembly shall be itemized and rendered by the State Printer within 30 days after completion of said printing. When necessary, the Chief Clerk may order certain printed matter completed in advance of its regular order by the issuance of a rush order.

Printing Style, Form and Amount to Be Printed

15. Unless otherwise restricted by law or by Assembly rule, the style and form of all printing, the quality of paper to be used, the number of copies to be printed of each order, and the number of copies to be delivered to each member shall be decided by the Chief Clerk and approved by the Speaker or the Chairman of the Committee on Rules. All requests by members for additional copies of bills, documents, or other printed matter shall be referred to the Committee on Rules.

Printing Assembly History

16. The Chief Clerk shall cause to be compiled and printed during the constitutional recess a Legislative Handbook and a Semi-Final

Assembly History, together with an index, setting forth a complete history showing all actions on bills, constitutional amendments, concurrent, joint, and House resolutions prior to the constitutional recess.

During the remainder of the session, the Chief Clerk shall cause to be printed and placed upon each member's desk prior to convening on Monday of each week, a complete History showing all actions taken upon each measure up to and including the legislative day preceding its issuance. For each legislative day intervening between the issuance of such Weekly History, there shall be printed a Daily Supplemental History showing only actions taken upon any measure since the issuance of the preceding Weekly History.

Printing of Maps

17. Maps or charts accompanying documents other than bills shall not be printed without special authority from the Assembly by a majority vote of its entire elected membership.

Miscellaneous

Admission to Assembly Chamber

18. Persons admitted to the Assembly Chamber, other than members and attaches, shall not be permitted to stand in the Lobby in the rear of the Assembly Chamber while the Assembly is in session, but shall be required to occupy the seats provided for them.

Use of Assembly Chamber

19. The Assembly Chamber shall not be used for any public or private business other than legislative matters during the sessions of the Legislature, except by consent of a majority of the entire elected membership of the Assembly.

Persons Admitted to Floor of the Assembly

20. No person other than members, officers, attaches, employees of the Legislature, former Members of the Legislature, and accredited members of the press shall be admitted to the floor of the Assembly during any session of the Assembly; provided, that a guest of any member shall be admitted upon presentation of a guest card of said member countersigned by the Speaker, such guest card being valid only on the legislative day for which it was issued.

All guests shall be seated only in the chairs in back of the rail in the rear of the Assembly Chamber and shall not be permitted to sit at the desks of the members while the Assembly is in session. No person other than an accredited newspaper representative shall be permitted to sit at the press desks. A special section in the balcony shall be reserved for those holding guest cards.

Lobbying in the Assembly Chamber

21. All persons appearing or being, or desiring to appear or be, at or in the Assembly Chamber, or at or in any committee room of the Assembly for the purpose of advocating the adoption or defeat of any bill, measure, or resolution introduced in, pending before, or being considered by the Assembly or by any committee thereof, or for the purpose of soliciting the vote of any Member of the Assembly upon any such bill, measure, or resolution, shall register with the Sergeant-at-Arms his name and address, together with a statement of the person or persons, corporation or corporations, or interest represented by or intended to be represented by him, and shall file with the Sergeant-at-Arms his written authority to represent such person, corporation, or interest; and thereupon the Sergeant-at-Arms shall issue to such person a certificate that he has so registered in conformity with this rule, which certificate shall be exhibited to the chairman of a committee upon request. A complete record of all persons so registered, together with their respective addresses and the persons, corporations, or interest represented by them, shall be kept and preserved by the Sergeant-at-Arms, and shall be open at all times to public inspection.

This rule shall not apply to members of either house of the Legislature, to elected state officers, or to individuals of the State of California appearing in their own interest or behalf who are not representing any group, organization, or corporation.

No person shall appear at or enter the Assembly Chamber, or any committee room of the Assembly, for the purpose of advocating the adoption or defeat of any bill, measure, or resolution, without first having registered and secured the certificate, as herein provided.

No person engaged in presenting to the Assembly or its committees any business, or claim, or legislation, shall be permitted to engage in such business in the Assembly Chamber, or be permitted on the floor of the Assembly at any time while the Assembly is in session except those enumerated above; and any person transgressing this rule shall be removed from the floor of the Assembly and be debarred from the privilege of the floor during the remainder of the entire session. The Speaker is charged with the enforcement of this rule. This rule cannot be suspended except by a two-thirds vote of the entire elected membership of the Assembly.

Smoking in Assembly Chamber

22. Smoking may be prohibited temporarily during any session of Assembly by a majority vote of the members present.

Fees for Witnesses

23. Each witness summoned to appear before the Assembly or any of its committees shall receive the sum of ten dollars ($10) for each day such witness shall be required to appear, and the sum of five and one-half cents ($0.05½) for each mile he shall travel in coming to and going from the place of examination.

Press Privileges

24. Newspaper correspondents desiring Assembly press cards and privileges shall make written application to the Speaker. The Assembly by a majority vote of the members present may revoke any press card.

The Speaker shall assign the Assembly press desks to accredited newspaper representatives authenticated by the standing committee of the Capitol Correspondents' Association; also the necessary rooms for the exclusive use of such accredited press representatives.

No Dictation at Member's Desk

25. While the Assembly is in session, no member shall dictate any correspondence at his desk.

SECTION 3

LEGISLATIVE PROCEDURE

Speaker to Call Assembly to Order

26. The Speaker, or in his absence the Speaker pro Tempore, shall at the hour appointed for meeting, call the Assembly to order. In the absence of both the Speaker and the Speaker pro Tempore, the Chief Clerk, or his assistant, shall call the Assembly to order, whereupon a temporary chairman shall be elected from among the members to preside.

The functions of the temporary chairman shall terminate upon return of the Speaker or Speaker pro Tempore.

Roll Call and Quorum

27. Before proceeding with the business of the Assembly, the roll of the members shall be called, and the names of those present shall be entered in the Journal. A majority of all the members elected to the Assembly shall constitute a quorum.

Order of Business

28. The order of business of the Assembly shall be as follows:

1. Roll Call
2. Prayer by the Chaplain
3. Reading of the Previous Day's Journal
4. Presentation of Petitions
5. Introduction and Reference of Bills
6. Reports of Committees
7. Second Reading of Bills
8. Messages from the Governor
9. Messages from the Senate
10. Motions and Resolutions
11. Business on the Daily File
12. Announcements
13. Adjournment

29. On each Monday morning during the session, following the prayer by the Chaplain, the Members of the Assembly and its officers, attaches, and employees present in the Assembly Chamber shall pledge their allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America.

Reading, Correcting and Approving Journal

30. a. The reading of the Journal of the previous day may be dispensed with on motion by a majority of the members present.

b. All Journals of the Assembly shall be corrected by the Minute Clerk and delivered by him to the Chief Clerk within seven calendar days from the date of such Journal. Such corrected Journals may thereafter be approved by a majority vote of the members present.

c. A motion to correct any day's Journal shall be in order prior to the approval by the Assembly of such day's Journal. The approval of the Journal shall require a majority vote of the members present.

Presentation of Petitions

31. Whenever petitions, memorials, or other papers are presented by a member, a brief statement of the contents thereof may be made verbally by the introducer. Petitions are not debatable and shall be filed, or be referred to a committee as the Speaker shall determine. Mention of receipt of such presentation and its disposition shall be entered on the Journal.

Upon receipt of a petition for the impeachment of any person subject to impeachment by the Legislature, the Speaker shall, without comment or debate, forthwith refer such petition to committee.

Messages From the Governor

32. Messages from the Governor shall be delivered to the Chief Clerk or an assistant, and shall be read and ordered printed on the Journal unless otherwise ordered by the Speaker or by a majority vote of the members present.

Messages From the Senate

33. Messages from the Senate shall be delivered to the Chief Clerk or an assistant, and shall be read and ordered printed on the Journal. The Speaker shall forthwith refer to the proper committee all Senate bills accompanying such messages, which reference shall be entered in the Journal. Assembly bills which have been passed without amendment by the Senate shall be ordered to enrollment.

Assembly bills amended by the Senate shall be ordered placed upon the unfinished business file.

Bills

Bills Defined

34. Whenever the word "bill" is used in these Rules, it shall include constitutional amendments, concurrent and joint resolutions, except as otherwise specifically provided.

Introduction and Reference of Bills

35. Each bill shall be signed by the member, or each of the members, who is an author of the bill before it is introduced. If any bill is introduced which does not contain the signature of such author or co-author, the same, on motion of the member whose name appears thereon without such signature, shall be stricken from the file by a recorded vote of a majority of the elected membership. In each legislative session, on the first day when bills are introduced under "Introduction and Reference of Bills," the roll shall be called from A to Z and then back from Z to A, and as each member's name is called, he may introduce one bill, constitutional amendment, concurrent or joint resolution.

After these two roll calls, any member desiring to introduce bills, constitutional amendments, concurrent and joint resolutions may at any time during a session send the same to the Clerk's desk.

All bills, constitutional amendments, concurrent and joint resolutions introduced before the standing committees of the Assembly are appointed, shall be referred to committees, references to take effect when the committees shall be appointed.

Reference of Bills to Committee

36. Immediately following its first reading, the Speaker shall refer each bill to a committee, unless upon a motion the Assembly, by a majority vote of its entire elected membership, shall refer it to some other committee. Such motion to refer a bill shall not be debatable. Should several different committees be proposed, preference shall be given as follows:

1. Committee of the Whole.
2. Standing Committee.
3. Special Committee.

Examining of Bills by Legislative Counsel Bureau

37. After introduction, all bills shall be delivered to the Legislative Counsel for the purpose of determining if the bill is in the proper form as prescribed by law or Assembly rule.

If, in the opinion of the Legislative Counsel, any correction made by him under the authority of this rule should in any manner be construed to be a change in the bill other than a change in form, he shall obtain the consent of the author of the bill before making such change.

Immediately upon the completion of the check of the bills referred to the Legislative Counsel in accordance with the provisions of this rule, he shall deliver the bills to the State Printer. Under no circumstances shall the Legislative Counsel retain in his possession any bills referred to him under the provisions of this rule for any period longer than two legislative days.

Introduction of Bills After Constitutional Recess

38. Any member requesting permission to introduce a bill, except a resolution or constitutional amendment, after the constitutional recess shall send such request together with the bill to the Clerk's desk, and it shall be referred by the Speaker to the Committee on Legislative Procedure. The committee shall ascertain if the granting of such request will exceed the limitations as set forth in Section 2 of Article IV of the Constitution, and if it will not, shall report back on the same legislative day each bill so referred to it. The adoption of the report of the committee granting permission to introduce any bill shall require an affirmative recorded vote of three-fourths of all members elected to the Assembly.

Standing Committee Functions

Standing Committee Rules

39. The Rules of the Assembly shall govern the conduct of all committee meetings. Each committee may adopt, by a majority vote of its entire membership, such additional rules as it may deem necessary for the conduct of any business referred to such committee.

A majority of the committee members present may order a call of the committee.

Meetings of Standing Committees

40. All standing committees shall meet at the hour and the place provided by schedule, unless otherwise ordered by the Assembly. No committee shall meet during any session of the Assembly without first obtaining permission from the Assembly.

Every scheduled committee meeting shall be open to the public, unless the committee, by a majority vote of its entire membership, shall order an executive session.

Committee Quorum

41. A majority of the membership of any standing committee shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of its business. At least a majority of all members constituting such committee shall be required to report a bill out of committee.

Bills Reported Back to Assembly

42. All committees shall act upon bills referred to them as soon as practicable, and when acted upon each bill shall be reported back to the Assembly forthwith, and the chairman of each committee is charged with the observance of this rule.

Reports of Committees

43. Reports of standing and special committees shall be delivered to the Chief Clerk or an assistant, and shall be read and ordered printed in the Journal unless otherwise ordered by the Speaker or a majority vote of the members present.

Signing Bills Out of Committee

44. No bill shall be signed out of committee unless the committee has failed to hold a meeting on two consecutive scheduled dates, or having so met, has failed to have a quorum present for the transaction of business.

Committee of the Whole

45. The Assembly may resolve itself into a Committee of the Whole at any time by a majority vote of the members present. While sitting as such committee, persons other than members may address the committee. The Speaker of the Assembly, or any member named by the Speaker, shall preside as Chairman of the Committee of the Whole.

A motion that the Committee of the Whole "do now rise and report back to the Assembly," shall always be in order, and shall be decided without debate. All actions of the Committee of the Whole shall be reported to the Assembly by the chairman, but shall not be entered in the Journal except upon motion and a majority vote of the members present.

Committee on Ways and Means

46. The Committee on Ways and Means shall consider all bills to appropriate money other than contingent expenses of the Assembly. Any bill which requires the expenditure of state moneys or affects the appropriation or the disbursement of same in any manner must be considered by the Committee on Ways and Means previous to its passage.

Committee Expenditures

47. No member or committee shall be permitted to incur any expense without first receiving the consent of the Assembly, except that the Chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means shall be allowed his actual expenses for the performance of any duties of his office during the constitutional recess.

Reports of Interim Committees

48. All interim committees, unless otherwise authorized, shall report to the next succeeding Legislature on or before the fortieth day after the convening thereof.

Passage of Bills

Daily File

49. There shall be printed an Assembly Daily File for each legislative day following the constitutional recess, or at any time prior thereto when ordered by the Speaker. The Committee on Rules shall have charge of the Daily File of the Assembly. The following listing shall constitute the order of the Daily File.

1. Special Orders of the Day
2. Second Reading, Assembly Bills
3. Second Reading, Senate Bills
4. Unfinished Business
5. Third Reading, Assembly Bills
6. Third Reading, Senate Bills

All bills on the Daily File shall be called for consideration in the order of their listing, unless otherwise ordered by unanimous consent or an affirmative vote of two-thirds of the members present.

Record of Bills

50. The Chief Clerk shall cause to be kept a permanent record of every action taken by the Assembly on every bill, and the date of such action. Every such action and the date thereof shall also be endorsed upon such bill.

Second Reading of Bills

51. All bills shall be read the second time in the order of their appearance upon the second reading file. Upon second reading, Assembly bills reported without amendments shall be ordered engrossed, and Senate bills reported without amendments shall be ordered to third reading.

Committee Amendments

52. Committee amendments reported with bills shall be considered upon their second reading and such amendments may be adopted by a majority vote of the members present. Assembly bills so amended shall be ordered reprinted and engrossed, and Senate bills so amended shall be ordered reprinted and to third reading.

Amendments From the Floor

53. Any member may move to amend a bill during its second or third reading and such motion to amend may be adopted by a majority vote of the members present. Bills so amended on second reading shall be treated the same as committee amendments. Any bill so amended upon second or third reading shall be reprinted and re-engrossed. The Chief Clerk shall order printed not to exceed 1,000 copies of all amended bills.

Consideration of Constitutional Amendments, Concurrent and Joint Resolutions

54. Constitutional amendments, concurrent and joint resolutions may be amended by a majority of the members present and shall be treated the same as bills, except that they shall be read but once. The ayes and noes shall not be called upon the adoption of concurrent resolutions, except those presenting charter amendments or authorizing expenditures of money, unless regularly demanded or required by statute or by the Constitution.

Bills Transmitted to the Senate

55. Upon the final passage of any bill if no notice of motion to reconsider such bill be given, the Speaker shall order the bill transmitted to the Senate under signature of the Chief Clerk. Senate bills refused passage shall forthwith be returned to the Senate under similar signature.

Bills Considered During Last Seven Days

56. No Assembly bill shall be passed by the Assembly within seven calendar days previous to the time set for adjournment sine die of the Legislature, except upon recommendation of the Speaker and permission to consider and vote on such bill being granted by a recorded vote of three-fourths of the entire elected membership of the Assembly.

Substitute Committee Bills

57. A committee may amend into one bill related provisions germane to the subject and embraced within the title; and with the consent of the author the committee may constitute such bill a committee bill by striking out of the heading of the bill the line "Introduced by" and the name of the author and substituting therefor "Substitute Committee Bill of the Committee on" and the name of the committee.

Concurrence in Senate Amendments

58. It shall require the same affirmative recorded vote to concur in any Senate amendment to an Assembly bill as the vote required by the Constitution for the passage of such bill. It shall require an affirmative recorded vote of two-thirds of the entire elected membership of the Assembly to concur in any Senate amendment to an Assembly bill which contains an item or items of appropriation subject to reduction or elimination under the provisions of Section 34a of Article IV of the Constitution. The vote on concurrence shall be deemed the vote upon final passage of such bill When Senate amendments to an Assembly bill are concurred in, the bill shall be forthwith ordered enrolled, and the Chief Clerk shall notify the Senate of such concurrence.

Nonconcurrence in Senate Amendments

59. If the Assembly refuse to concur in Senate amendments to an Assembly bill, and when notified that the Senate has refused to concur in Assembly amendments to a Senate bill, the Speaker shall appoint a committee of three (3) on conference, and the Chief Clerk shall immediately notify the Senate of the action taken by the Assembly and request the appointment of a like committee

Committee on Conference

60. The Speaker, in appointing a committee on conference, shall select two members from those voting with the majority on the point about which the difference has arisen, and the other member from the minority, in the event there is a minority vote.

61. The Chairman of the Senate committee on conference for the same bill shall arrange the time and place of meeting of such committee. It shall require an affirmative vote of not less than four of the members constituting the committee on conference to agree upon a report, and the report shall be submitted to both the Senate and the Assembly. Such report is not subject to amendment, and if either house refuses to adopt such report, the conferees shall be discharged and other conferees appointed. No member who has served on a committee on conference shall be appointed a member of another committee on conference on the same bill. The presentation and consideration of any report of a committee on conference shall always be in order, except during a roll call or when a member has the floor. It shall require the same affirmative recorded vote to adopt any conference report as required by the Constitution upon the final passage of the bill affected by such report. It shall require an affirmative recorded vote of two-thirds of the entire elected membership of the Assembly to adopt any conference report affecting any Assembly bill which contains an item or items of appropriation which are subject to reduction or elimination under the provisions of Section 34a of Article IV of the Constitution.

The vote on concurrence or upon the adoption of such conference report by the Assembly shall be deemed the vote upon final passage of such bill.

Engrossing and Enrolling Bills

62. The Engrossing and Enrolling Clerk shall engross and enroll all bills which shall come to his hands for such purposes, in compliance with the provisions of Section 9503 of the Government Code, and in the order of time in which the same shall be acted upon by the Assembly.

Enrollment

63. After final passage by both houses, any Assembly bill not amended by the Senate shall be forthwith ordered by the Speaker to be enrolled, as provided in Sections 9508 and 9509 of the Government Code. The Committee on Legislative Procedure shall report both the day and the hour each enrolled bill is presented to the Governor, which report shall be entered in the Journal.

SECTION 4

PARLIAMENTARY PROCEDURE

Motions and Questions

Precedence of Motions During Debate

64. When a question is under debate or before the Assembly, no motions shall be received but the following, which shall take precedence in the order named:

First—To adjourn;
Second—To recess to a time certain;
Third—To lay on the table;
Fourth—For the previous question;
Fifth—To set as a special order;
Sixth—To postpone indefinitely;
Seventh—To refer or re-refer;
Eighth—To amend.

Questions of Order Decided Without Debate

65. All incidental questions of order, arising after a motion is made for any of the questions named in Rule 38 and pending such motion, shall be decided by the Speaker without debate, whether on appeal or otherwise.

Appeal From Decision of the Speaker

66. Any member may appeal from a decision of the Speaker without waiting for recognition by the Speaker, even though another member has the floor. No appeal is in order when another is pending, or when other business has been transacted by the Assembly prior to the appeal being taken.

Upon the appeal being seconded, the Speaker may give his reasons for the decision, and shall forthwith put this question to the Assembly: "Shall the decision of the Speaker be sustained?"

An appeal cannot be amended and yields only to a motion to recess or adjourn, to lay on the table, or a question of personal privilege. If an appeal be laid on the table, such action shall have no effect on the pending question.

An appeal cannot be debated when relating to indecorum, transgression of Rules, or priority of business. A majority vote of the members present shall decide any appeal.

Speaker Explains Order of Business

67. The Speaker may, on his own motion or upon the motion of any Member of the Assembly, explain the order of business when the motion pending before the Assembly is not debatable. Such explanation is not to consume more than two minutes.

To Adjourn

68. A motion to adjourn is not debatable and cannot be amended, and is always in order, except (a) when another member has the floor; (b) when the Assembly is voting; (c) during a call of the Assembly. The name of any member moving an adjournment and also the hour at which the motion was made and adjournment taken shall be entered in the Journal. A motion to adjourn must be adopted by a majority vote of the members present.

When a motion to adjourn is made and seconded, it shall be in order for the Speaker, before putting the question, to permit any member to state to the Assembly any fact relating to the condition of the business of the Assembly which would seem to render it improper or inadvisable to adjourn. A statement shall not occupy more than two minutes and shall not be debatable.

To Recess to a Time Certain

69. A motion to recess to a time certain shall be treated the same as a motion to adjourn, except that such motion is debatable when no business is before the Assembly, and can be amended as to the time and duration of the recess. It yields only to a motion to adjourn.

To Lay on the Table

70. A motion to lay on the table is not debatable and cannot be amended.

A motion to table a bill, constitutional amendment, concurrent or joint resolution requires a majority vote of the entire elected membership.

Any motion to lay on the table, if carried by a majority vote of the entire elected membership, carries with it the main question and everything that adheres to it; provided, however, that a motion to lay an amendment on the table, if adopted, does not carry with it a bill, constitutional amendment, concurrent, joint, or House resolution.

A motion to lay an amendment on the table may be adopted by a majority vote of the members present.

The Previous Question

71. The previous question shall be put only when demanded by five members, and in this form: "Shall the question be now put?" And its effect, when sustained by a majority of the members present, shall be to put an end to all debate and bring the House to a vote only on the question then pending; except that the proponent of the matter pending shall be allowed not to exceed five minutes to close the debate.

Motion to Set Special Order

72. A motion to set any matter before the Assembly as a special order of business must be adopted by a two-thirds vote of the members elected. It is debatable only as to the propriety of setting the main question as a special order of business, and may be amended only as to the time.

Motion to Postpone to a Time Certain

73. A motion to postpone to a time certain shall be deemed and treated as a motion to set as a special order.

Motion to Postpone Indefinitely

74. When a motion is made to postpone indefinitely any bill, motion, or amendment, it opens the main question to debate. Should the motion to postpone indefinitely prevail by a majority vote of the entire elected membership, the main question shall not be acted upon again during the session.

Motion to Amend

75. A motion to amend may itself be amended, but no "amendment to an amendment" can be amended. A motion to amend is debatable, except where the main question to be amended is not debatable. Any motion to amend may be adopted by a majority vote of the members present.

A motion to amend having been decided in the negative, shall not again be in order on the same day, or at the same stage of proceeding. A motion to amend by striking out certain words having been decided in the negative, shall not preclude a motion to amend by adding words, or a motion to amend by striking out and inserting words; but in no case shall a further amendment be substantially the same as the one rejected.

Subject to the above provisions of this rule, a motion to amend is in order during the second or third reading of any bill.

A motion to lay an amendment on the table may be adopted by a majority vote of the members present, as provided in Rule 75.

Amendment to Be Germane

76. No amendment to any bill, whether reported by a committee or offered by a member, shall be in order when such amendment relates to a different subject, or is intended to accomplish a different purpose, or requires a title essentially different from the original title of any bill.

No amendment shall be in order which adds or deletes the name of a member as an author or co-author, or which changes the original number of any bill.

Substitute Motion

77. A motion to substitute shall be deemed and treated as a motion to amend.

Motions in Writing

78. Upon request of the Speaker all motions shall be reduced to writing and shall be read by the Speaker before the same are acted upon.

Constitution of Motions

79. No motion, whether oral or written, shall be adopted until the same shall be seconded and distinctly stated to the Assembly by the Speaker.

Division of Questions

80. Any member may call for a division of the question, and the Speaker shall order the question divided if it comprehend propositions in substance so distinct that, one being taken away, a substantive proposition shall remain for the decision of the Assembly.

Withdrawal of Motions

81. After a motion is stated by the Speaker, or a bill, resolution, or petition read by the Clerk, it shall be deemed to be in the possession of the Assembly.

Motion to Be Germane

82. No motion or proposition on a subject different from that under consideration shall be admitted as an amendment.

Motion to Withdraw and Recall Bills

83. A motion to withdraw a bill or resolution from committee, or to re-refer a bill or resolution from one committee to another committee may be made during the regular order of business. A motion to re-refer shall only be debatable as to the propriety of such reference, and shall require a recorded vote of a majority of the elected members.

No bill or resolution shall be withdrawn from committee and placed upon the file except upon two days' notice thereof and except by a recorded vote of a majority of the elected members.

Bills Stricken From File

84. A motion to strike from the file any bill or House resolution requires a majority vote of the entire elected membership. Such bill shall not be acted upon again during the session.

Motion to Rescind Action and Expunge Record

85. Previous to the approval of the Journal by the Assembly, any action may be rescinded and its record ordered expunged by an affirmative recorded vote sufficient to take such action originally; except that no action shall be rescinded and the record expunged by a vote less than a majority of the entire elected membership. No motion to rescind the action and expunge the record shall be made twice on the same proposition.

Reconsideration of Vote

86. Notice of a motion to reconsider on the next legislative day, the vote whereby any bill, constitutional amendment, concurrent or joint resolution was passed or refused passage, must be given on the same day such vote to be so reconsidered was taken.

A notice of motion to reconsider a vote must be given by a member voting on the bill, constitutional amendment, concurrent or joint resolution, and shall take precedence over all motions, except a motion to adjourn. Upon such notice of motion being given, the bill, constitutional amendment, concurrent or joint resolution shall forthwith be placed upon the unfinished business file, and no further action shall be taken prior to the next legislative day. When a notice of a motion to reconsider has once been made, the same shall be considered to be the property of the Assembly.

Any member voting on any motion, amendment, concurrence, Assembly resolution or proposition other than a bill, constitutional amendment, concurrent or joint resolution, may give notice of reconsideration of the vote whereby the same was passed or refused passage on the same day such vote to be reconsidered was taken, which notice shall suspend all further consideration until the next legislative day; provided, however, that a motion to reconsider on the same day the notice was given shall take precedence over and above such notice and upon demand of any member must be put to an immediate vote. A motion to reconsider any proposition other than a bill, constitutional amendment, concurrent or joint resolution shall require an affirmative recorded vote of a majority of the entire elected membership.

No notice of motion for reconsideration shall be in order on the day preceding the last day for consideration of Assembly or Senate bills in the Assembly. No motion to reconsider shall be adopted except upon an affirmative recorded vote of a majority of the entire elected membership, except that it shall require a two-thirds vote of the entire elected membership to reconsider the vote on any matter originally requiring a two-thirds vote for its passage or adoption.

When reconsideration is granted, the bill shall resume its exact position before the Assembly previous to its being voted upon.

Call of Assembly

87. After the roll has been called, and prior to the announcement of the vote, any member may move a call of the Assembly. A majority of the members present may order a call of the Assembly, and the Speaker shall immediately order the Sergeant-at-Arms to lock all doors and shall direct the Clerk to prepare a list of absentees as disclosed by the last roll call, which list of absentees shall be furnished to the Sergeant-at-Arms and printed in the Journal. Thereupon no members shall be permitted to leave the Assembly Chamber except by written permission of the Speaker, and no person shall be permitted to enter except such member as is taken into custody as herein provided, or Senators, officers, attaches, or employees of the Legislature in the official performance of their duties.

Those members who are found to be absent, and for whom no leaves of absence have been granted, shall be forthwith taken into custody wherever found by the Sergeant-at-Arms or his assistants and brought to the Assembly Chamber. No recess or adjournment shall be taken during a call of the Assembly. During such call, the Assembly may consider and transact any matter of business by unanimous consent. No call of the Assembly shall be ordered on any matter while the Assembly is already under call. A call of the Assembly may be dispensed with at any time upon a majority vote of the members present, at which time the completion of the roll call pending when the call of the Assembly was ordered shall become the immediate order of business before the Assembly.

Resolutions

88. The adoption of any resolution authorizing the expenditure of money shall require an affirmative recorded vote of a majority of all members elected to the Assembly. All House resolutions shall be numbered and shall be referred to the appropriate committee by the Speaker.

Motions and Resolutions

89. Any motion or resolution not otherwise provided for under the Rules shall be placed before the Assembly only under this order of business. Unless otherwise provided by law or Assembly rule, any motion or resolution may be adopted by a majority vote of the members present.

Adjournment

90. Adjournment for the constitutional recess or adjournment sine die shall be ordered by concurrent resolution. The resolution for adjournment sine die shall be adopted by the Assembly not less than seven days before the date set therein for such adjournment.

Members' Decorum and Privileges

Order in Speaking to Questions

91. When a member desires to address the Assembly, he shall rise from his seat and respectfully address himself to "Mr. Speaker." Upon being recognized, he may speak, confining himself to the question under consideration. When two or more members rise at the same time, the Speaker shall designate the member who is entitled to the floor.

No member shall speak more than once during the consideration of any one question on the same day and at the same stage of proceeding, except that the author of a bill or resolution or the mover of a question shall have the right to open and close the debate thereon. No member shall be allowed to speak more than 10 minutes to open and five minutes to close the debate thereon, and no member other than the author or the mover of the question shall be allowed to speak more than five minutes thereon. No member shall yield to any other member the time for which he is entitled to speak on any matter.

Leave of Absence

92. No member shall absent himself from attendance at any session of the Assembly without leave of the Assembly, and no member shall obtain such leave of absence or be excused for nonattendance, except by a two-thirds vote of all members elected to the Assembly, or by unanimous consent.

Personal Privilege

93. Any member may rise to explain a matter personal to himself and shall forthwith be recognized by the Speaker, but shall not discuss a question in such explanation. Such matters of personal privilege yield only to a motion to recess or adjournment.

Objection to Reading of Any Paper

94. Any member upon recognition by the Speaker may object to the reading of any paper before the Assembly. After such objection, the question of reading shall be determined without debate by a majority vote of the members present, upon a brief statement of its substance by the Speaker.

Members Called to Order for Transgressing Rules

95. a. If any member transgresses the Rules of the Assembly, the Speaker shall, or any member may, call the offending member to order. The member so called to order shall immediately take his seat, until the Speaker without debate, shall have determined whether he is in order or not. Such decision by the Speaker shall be subject to an appeal to the Assembly.

b. If any member be called to order for offensive words spoken in debate, the person calling him to order shall state to the Assembly the words to which exception is taken. No member shall be held to answer, or be subject to censure by the Assembly, for language used in debate, if other business shall have been transacted by the Assembly prior to exception being taken to the words spoken.

Members Voting

96. Every member in the Assembly Chamber when a roll call is required shall record his vote openly and without debate, unless the Assembly shall, by a majority vote of the members present, excuse him.

The name of any member who refuses to vote as required by this rule, after being requested by the Speaker to do so, shall be entered in the Journal of the Assembly, together with a statement that he was present and did so refuse to vote. Any member who refuses so to vote may, if he so desires, and immediately after the announcement of the vote, submit a written explanation of his failure to vote and have such explanation printed in the Journal, provided no such explanation shall exceed 50 words in length.

In addition to the entry of his name in the Journal, any member who refuses so to vote when required, and who has not been excused from doing so, may, immediately after the announcement of the vote, in the discretion of the Speaker or upon demand of any member, be summoned to appear before the bar of the Assembly for public censure by the Speaker or by any member designated by the Speaker. Censure of a member as provided by this rule shall not constitute a bar to proceedings for his expulsion from the Assembly pursuant to Section 9 of Article IV of the Constitution.

A member may submit a written explanation of his vote on any bill or House resolution, and have such explanation printed in the Journal immediately following such vote, provided no such explanation shall exceed 50 words in length.

Ayes and Noes

97. The ayes and noes shall be recorded by the electrical voting system on the final passage of all bills, or by viva voce when demanded by three members or when ordered by the Speaker, and on any other question when called for by three members or ordered by the Speaker, the names of which members shall be entered in the Journal.

Voting Not to Be Interrupted

98. When once begun, voting shall not be interrupted, except that before the vote is announced any member may have the total pending vote flashed on the visible vote recorder. Prior to the announcement of the vote the Speaker shall inquire if all members have voted. Any member may move a call of the Assembly after the completion of the roll and prior to the final recording, but no member shall be allowed to change his vote, or have his vote recorded after the vote is announced.

Members at Clerk's Desk

99. No member or other person shall be allowed at the Clerk's desk while the ayes and noes are being recorded or the votes counted.

Tie Vote

100. In case of an equal division, or tie vote, the question shall be lost.

"Two-thirds of the Entire Elected Membership" Defined

101. Wherever the words or figures, "two-thirds of the entire elected membership" appear in any rule, it shall mean 54 votes.

COMMUNICATIONS

By Mr. Brown:

The following communication was received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA, January 28, 1947

To Honorable Goodwin J. Knight, Lieutenant Governor and President of the Senate:

To Honorable Sam Collins, Speaker of the Assembly:

Assembly Bill 1400 (Chap. 1527) as passed by the Senate and the Assembly in the 1945 Session of the Legislature and signed by Governor Earl Warren contained an appropriation to pay for the California State Bell in the National Carillon at Valley Forge, Pennsylvania.

Acting under approval given by Governor Earl Warren, the California-Nevada District delegation of Kiwanis International, en route to its International Convention in Atlantic City, on June 9, 1946, stopped at Valley Forge and in formal ceremonies in the Washington Memorial Chapel at Valley Forge, presented and dedicated the California State Bell.

Believing that the Members of the Legislature would be interested in a report on the presentation and dedication of this bell, I am, for that purpose, furnishing you herewith a copy of my report as Past President of the California State Society, Sons of the American Revolution, and as Chairman of the Dedication Committee of the California-Nevada District of Kiwanis International, I especially call your attention to the inspiring dedication address of Benjamin H. Pratt, District Governor of the California-Nevada District of Kiwanis:

"The Bells of our Valley peal
Forth sweet and clear,
Reminding all people of truths
We hold dear;
'For God, Home and Country'
Together they ring,
Proclaiming the Freedom to which We still cling."

In the presence of over ten thousand American patriots gathered at Valley Forge in commemoration of 150 years of American independence, the Star Spangled Banner National Peace Chime was dedicated July 4, 1926. Thirteen state bells, representing the original colonies, made up this first carillon.

Great as it was, the Star Spangled Banner National Peace Chime was inadequate for Valley Forge, where our Nation began and where the American people must be fully represented. It was intended only as the first step in a great musical tribute to the Nation and to those who at Valley Forge froze, starved, and suffered illness but kept faith and prepared for the victorious battle making possible this Nation. Back of the original chime was the ideal of a great national carillon of 49 bells, one for each state, and a national birthday bell. Forty-three of these bells have now been secured.

The state bells, outside of those for the 13 original colonies, were assigned in the order of the population of the state. To members of our Kiwanis delegation en route to the international convention in June, Governor Earl Warren gave the signal honor of making the formal presentation and dedication of the bell on behalf of California.

On Sunday, June 9th, 267 Kiwanians and ladies from the California-Nevada District visited the historic shrine at Valley Forge, site of the winter encampment of General George Washington and his Continental Army between December 19, 1777, and June 19, 1778.

In the beautiful Washington Memorial Chapel, which President Wilson named the "Shrine of the American People," filled with memorials of our first great leader, special services were held for the Kiwanis delegation, followed by Governor Pratt's dedication of the California bell:

"Through the harmonious and beautiful music of this carillon, we are able to see more clearly back through the intervening ages, to appreciate vividly the suffering, the privations, the frustrations and the mistreatment by government of those few thousand intrepid resourceful Continental soldiers, who here in the terrible winter at Valley Forge, either persisted with steadfast purpose or gave up their lives to secure the freedom of men in this Nation and all over the world.

"But we must understand that this spiritual power of Valley Forge comes not primarily from the record of the suffering of those Continental soldiers. That tremendous spiritual power comes almost exclusively from the magnificent personality who here held those intrepid, highly individualistic, ill-disciplined Continental soldiers true to their high purpose. For Washington was able to lead those soldiers effectively, spiritually, through disappointment, defeat and disaster, till, expanding into our victorious armies, those soldiers and Washington together secured victory in our desperate Revolutionary War.

"And Washington continued to lead his people, the armies and civil population alike, until almost single-handed he had devised, set into operation and firmly established through successful accomplishment, that unique government under which we and generations of our forefathers have enjoyed a greater degree of individual freedom in enterprise and opportunity than has been accorded under government to any other people.

"Then the essential integrity of Washington, the common honesty that determined his actions and his purpose, publicly as well as privately, compelled him to relinquish completely to worthy successors his personal control of that government, at just the proper time to make it forever a government of written instrument and not a government of popular personality. * * *

"So here and now we do formally dedicate this California bell to its high purpose, firm in the belief, confident in the conviction, that true to this bell's example, our State will always work zealously with all her sister states to secure the social advancement and the political freedom of all men. We so dedicate this bell under the spell of Washington pervading this atmosphere of Valley Forge. Yet we are all fully conscious of the wisdom of Lincoln's glorification of Washington more than a century ago: 'This is the one hundred and tenth anniversary of the birthday of Washington. We are met to celebrate this day. Washington is the mightiest name of earth; long since mightiest in the cause of civil liberty On this name no eulogy is expected It could not be. To add brightness to the sun or glory to the name of Washington is alike impossible. Let none attempt it. In solemn awe pronounce the name and in its naked, deathless splendor leave it shining on.' "

Housed for the past 20 years in a temporary wooden structure behind the Chapel, the Washington Memorial National Carillon, the first made in America by American bell-makers, fills the air of Valley Forge with the music of religion and patriotism. Familiar hymns and patriotic airs are played every hour from 10 in the morning until five in the evening, and at sunset the National Anthem fills hill and dale with its stirring strains.

October 1, 1941, the foundation of the long proposed Bell Tower for the carillon was laid, and work will proceed on the tower as soon as building restrictions are lifted. The tower will be dedicated to "Revolutionary patriots who established the American way of life and to the men and women of World Wars I and II who have preserved that precious heritage."

In the tower there will be a memorial roll of honor—a wainscoting of three series of metal plates on which names may be inscribed. The first series will record the Revolutionary patriots, the second series will contain names of men and women of World Wars I and II whose ancestors were Revolutionary soldiers; and the third series will give names of those serving in the two World Wars whose families came to this Country more recently. * * *

Valley Forge is an immortal symbol of the spirit which won independence for America and to infuse and perpetuate those principles for which the War of Independence was fought, no better example may be offered than the inspiring record of courage written in blood-stained snow amid icy winds on the hills of Valley Forge. That record will not soon lose its inspiration for those of our Kiwanis group assembled at Valley Forge in June.

"The Bells of our Valley must Never be stilled
While the hearts of her children
With courage are filled.
Our prayer to high Heaven
Forever shall be,
'Protect, oh Our Father,
This "Land of the Free" ' "

On behalf of those who have been interested in this worthy project, I express sincere thanks and appreciation to the California Legislature for its important and essential action which made the dedication of the bell possible.

Yours very truly,

ARTHUR L. SCOTT

Letter of Transmittal

STATE RECONSTRUCTION AND REEMPLOYMENT COMMISSION
SACRAMENTO 14, January 30, 1947

Honorable Earl Warren, Governor of California
Honorable Goodwin J. Knight, President of the Senate
Honorable Sam L. Collins, Speaker of the Assembly

This is the third Report of the State Reconstruction and Reemployment Commission to the Governor and the Legislature.

The accomplishments which the commission is able to document here are due in great measure to the efforts of hundreds of Californians who unstintingly gave their time and wise judgment so that the commission's work might go forward. The commission and its small staff could not have met the responsibilities entrusted to them by the Legislature without the help of the members of the Commission's Citizens' Advisory and Project Committees. These public-spirited men and women received no compensation other than the knowledge that their time, their talents and their efforts have immeasurably aided their fellow citizens.

Respectfully submitted.

STATE RECONSTRUCTION AND REEMPLOYMENT COMMISSION
C. H. PURCELL, Chairman

A. EARL WASHBURN
Director of Reconstruction and Reemployment

Above mentioned report, compiled for the Governor and the Legislature, is available upon request. Report ordered filed with the Secretary of State.

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT THAT CHIEF CLERK BE INSTRUCTED TO ISSUE ADDITIONAL COPIES OF BLUE BOOK

Mr. Doyle asked for unanimous consent that the Chief Clerk be instructed to issue, upon request, 10 additional copies of the 1946 California Blue Book to each Member of the Fifty-sixth Session who has not returned to the Assembly.

Request referred to the Committee on Rules.

House Resolution No. 82

Relative to congratulating Howard K. Cramer upon award of the Presidential Unit Citation

WHEREAS, This Legislature is honored with the presence of many veterans of World War II, and takes pride in their contribution, both to the State and the Nation, in serving honorably and with distinction in the service of our Country; and

WHEREAS, There is among us a veteran whom the citizens of the Eightieth District have chosen to represent them in this Assembly, and to whom the Navy Department recently transmitted a facsimile and ribbon bar with star of the Presidential Unit Citation awarded the U. S. S. San Jacinto for heroism displayed by her crew in action against enemy Japanese in the Pacific; and

WHEREAS, The Members of this Assembly are pleased to learn that Howard K. Cramer, former Aviation Chief Radioman, United States Navy, was a member of the crew of the U. S. S. San Jacinto, and took part in the heroic achievements which won the admiration of the Nation and the following citation from the Commander-in-Chief:

"For extraordinary heroism in action against enemy Japanese forces in the air, ashore and afloat in the Pacific War Area from May 19, 1944, to August 15, 1945. Operating continuously in the most forward areas, the U. S. S. San Jacinto and her air groups struck crushing blows toward annihilating Japanese fighting power; they provided air cover for our amphibious forces; they fiercely countered the enemy's aerial attacks and destroyed his planes; and they inflicted terrific losses on the Japanese in fleet and merchant marine units sunk or damaged. Daring and dependable in combat, the San Jacinto with her gallant officers and men rendered loyal service in achieving the ultimate defeat of the Japanese Empire," now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Members of this Assembly extend to Assemblyman Howard K. Cramer hearty congratulations upon receipt of the facsimile of the Presidential Unit Citation; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly is directed to transmit a suitably prepared copy of this resolution to Assemblyman Cramer as an expression of the felicitations and congratulations of the Members of this Assembly.

Motion carried.

Remarks by Mr. Cramer

MR. SPEAKER AND MEMBERS OF THE ASSEMBLY: In accepting this honor I would like to say that I am not a hero—the real heroes of the actions in which I took part are those who gave their lives that we may continue to live in a free land. We owe a debt to them which we shall never be able to repay, and we should be ever mindful of this in our daily lives here in this Legislature.

Speaker Presiding

At 11.30 a.m., Hon. Sam L. Collins, Speaker of the Assembly, presiding.

CONSIDERATION OF PROPOSED PERMANENT STANDING RULES

Consideration of Assembly Rule No. 53

Amendments From the Floor

53. Any member may move to amend a bill during its second or third reading and such motion to amend may be adopted by a majority vote of the members present. Bills so amended on second reading shall be treated the same as committee amendments. Any bill so amended upon second or third reading shall be reprinted and re-engrossed. The Chief Clerk shall order printed not to exceed 1,000 copies of all amended bills.

Rule read.

Motion to Amend

Mr. Boyd moved the adoption of the following amendment:

Amendment to Assembly Rule 53

Following the word "present", at the end of the first sentence in Rule 53, insert a new sentence "Before debate an extra copy of the proposed amendment must be delivered to the Clerk's desk and made available for the author of the bill".

Amendment read, and adopted.

Further Consideration of Proposed Permanent Standing Rules

Motion to Amend

Mr. George D. Collins moved the adoption of the following amendment:

Amendment No. 1

At the end of Rule 21, as printed on pages 265 and 266 of Assembly Journal for January 31, 1947, add the following:

"(1) After final adjournment of each session, the Chief Clerk shall cause to be prepared a brief digest of all bills passed by the Assembly during the session (using the digests which have been theretofore prepared by the Legislative Counsel, so far as feasible) and shall set forth after each digest the names of the Members of the Assembly who voted for and against the bill and who failed to vote thereon. The Chief Clerk shall have a suitable number of copies of the compiled digests printed for distribution to the Members of the Assembly."

Amendment read.

Consideration of Further Amendments to the Proposed Permanent Standing Rules

Motion to Amend

Mr. George D. Collins moved the adoption of the following amendment:

Amendment No. 1

After Rule 102, add the following:

Regulation of Lobbying

103. (1) When used in this rule:

(a) The term "contribution" includes a gift, subscription, loan, advance, or deposit of money or anything of value and includes a contract, promise, or agreement, whether or not legally enforceable, to make a contribution.

(b) The term "expenditure" includes a payment, distribution, loan, advance, deposit, or gift of money or anything of value, and includes a contract, promise, or agreement, whether or not legally enforceable, to make an expenditure.

(c) The term "person" includes an individual, partnership, committee, association, corporation, and any other organization or group of persons.

(d) The term "secretary" means the Secretary of State of California.

(e) The term "legislation" means bills, resolutions, amendments, nominations, and other matters pending or proposed in either house of the Legislature, and includes any other matter which may be the subject of action by either house.

(2) (a) It shall be the duty of every person who shall in any manner solicit or receive a contribution to any organization or fund for the purposes hereinafter designated to keep a detailed and exact account of:

All contributions of any amount or of any value whatsoever;

The name and address of every person making any such contribution of $200 or more and the date thereof;

All expenditures made by or on behalf of such organization or funds; and

The name and address of every person to whom any such expenditure is made and the date thereof.

(b) It shall be the duty of such person to obtain and keep a receipted bill, stating the particulars, for every expenditure of such funds exceeding $10 in amount, and to preserve all receipted bills and accounts required to be kept by this section for a period of at least two years from the date of the filing of the statement containing such items.

(3) Every individual who receives a contribution of $200 or more for any of the purposes hereinafter designated shall within five days after receipt thereof render to the person or organization for which such contribution was received a detailed account thereof, including the name and address of the person making such contribution and the date on which received

(4) (a) Every person receiving any contributions or expending any money for the purposes designated in subparagraph (a) or (b) of paragraph (6) shall file with the Secretary between the first and tenth day of each calendar month, a statement containing complete as of the day next preceding the date of filing:

The name and address of each person who has made a contribution of $200 or more not mentioned in the preceding report; except that the first report filed pursuant to this title shall contain the name and address of each person who has made any contribution of $200 or more to such person since the effective date of this title;

The total sum of the contributions made to or for such person during the calendar year and not stated under the preceding paragraph;

The total sum of all contributions made to or for such person during the calendar year;

The name and address of each person to whom an expenditure in one or more items of the aggregate amount or value, within the calendar year, of $10 or more has been made by or on behalf of such person, and the amount, date, and purpose of such expenditure;

The total sum of all expenditures made by or on behalf of such person during the calendar year and not stated under the preceding paragraph;

The total sum of expenditures made by or on behalf of such person during the calendar year.

(b) The statements required to be filed by subparagraph (a) shall be cumulative during the calendar year to which they relate, but where there has been no change in an item reported in a previous statement only the amount need be carried forward.

(5) A statement required by this rule to be filed with the secretary:

(a) Shall be deemed properly filed when deposited in an established post office within the prescribed time, duly stamped, registered, and directed to the Secretary of State, State Capitol, Sacramento, California, but in the event it is not received, a duplicate of such statement shall be promptly filed upon notice by the secretary of its nonreceipt;

(b) Shall be preserved by the secretary for a period of two years from the date of filing, shall constitute part of the public records of his office, and shall be open to public inspection.

(6) The provisions of this rule shall apply to any person (except duly organized state or local committees of a political party), who by himself, or through any agent or employee or other persons in any manner whatsoever, directly or indirectly, solicits, collects, or receives money or any other thing of value to be used principally to aid, or the principal purpose of which person is to aid, in the accomplishment of any of the following purposes:

(a) The passage or defeat of any legislation by the Legislature of the State of California.

(b) To influence, directly or indirectly, the passage or defeat of any legislation by the Legislature of the State of California.

(7) (a) Any person who shall engage himself for pay or for any consideration for the purpose of attempting to influence the passage or defeat of any legislation by the Legislature of the State of California shall, before doing anything in furtherance of such object, register with the Secretary of State and shall give to that officer in writing and under oath, his name and business address, the name and address of the person by whom he is employed, and in whose interest he appears or is to receive, by whom he is paid or is to be paid, how much he is to be paid for expenses, and what expenses are to be included. Each such person so registering shall, between the first and tenth day of each calendar month, so long as his activity continues, file with the secretary a detailed report under oath of all money received and expended by him during the preceding calendar quarter in carrying on his work; to whom paid; for what purposes, and the names of any papers, periodicals, magazines, or other publications in which he has caused to be published any articles or editorials; and the proposed legislation he is employed to support or oppose. The provisions of this section shall not apply to any person who merely appears before a committee of the Senate or Assembly in support of or opposition to legislation; nor to any public official acting in his official capacity; nor in the case of any newspaper or other regularly published periodical (including any individual who owns, publishes, or is employed by any such newspaper or periodical) which in the ordinary course of business publishes news items, editorials, or other comments, or paid advertisements, which directly or indirectly urge the passage or defeat of legislation, if such newspaper, periodical, or individual, engages in no further or other activities in connection with the passage or defeat of such legislation, other than to appear before a committee of the Senate or Assembly in support of or in opposition to such legislation.

(b) All information required to be filed under the provisions of this section with the secretary shall be compiled by said secretary, as soon as practicable after the close of the calendar month with respect to which such information is filed and shall be printed in the Assembly Journal.

(8) All reports and statements required under this title shall be made under oath, before an officer authorized by law to administer oaths.

(9) The Assembly Committee on Rules, on complaint by any member of the Assembly, or on its own motion, shall investigate any alleged violation of this rule. If, after hearing, the committee determines that any person has violated this rule, such person shall be prohibited, for a period of one year from the date of such determination, from attempting to influence, directly or indirectly, the passage or defeat of any proposed legislation or from appearing before a committee of the Assembly in support of or opposition to proposed legislation."

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolutions were offered:

By Mr. Gaffney:

House Resolution No. 84

WHEREAS, An acute shortage of building material and a limited number of skilled mechanics in certain trades have seriously retarded construction of urgently needed homes for veterans and citizens generally; and

WHEREAS, Because of this serious situation, the State of California has made arrangements to furnish material for veteran's housing and necessary public works; and

WHEREAS, Investigation discloses that thousands of building and construction workmen have been laid off because of inclement weather conditions which interfere with outdoor construction work; and

WHEREAS, Further investigation discloses that thousands of persons are following the custom of normal times and are waiting for the arrival of spring before proceeding with interior remodeling, repair and maintenance work; and

WHEREAS, It is manifest that when the tremendous program of constructing new homes for veterans and necessary public works is started, workmen who are now available to do interior remodeling, repair and maintenance work, will not be available because they will be steadily employed upon new housing and construction work; therefore be it

Resolved, By the State Assembly, that we respectfully urge citizens, who plan interior remodeling, repair and maintenance work, to have such work done now while workmen are available so that these property owners will not be compelled to await the services of workmen now available but who will later be employed exclusively upon the construction of veteran's homes and urgently needed public works.

Request for Unanimous Consent

Mr. Gaffney asked for unanimous consent to take up House Resolution No. 84, at this time, without reference to committee or file.

Mr. Silliman withheld unanimous consent.

Resolution ordered referred to Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. Ralph C. Dills and Robertson:

House Resolution No. 85

Relative to the continuance of the Assembly Committee on State-Federal Cooperation in the Discovery, Production, Transportation, Refining, and Use of Petroleum

WHEREAS, An Assembly Interim Committee on the subject to this resolution was first created in 1943, and a committee thereon was also created by the Assembly in 1945; and

WHEREAS, There is a continuing need for legislative investigation, study and fact-finding in this field; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, As follows:

1. The Assembly Committee on State-Federal Cooperation in the Discovery, Production, Transportation, Refining, and Use of Petroleum Oil and Its Products, continued by House Resolution No 28 of the Fifty-sixth Regular Session, is continued as an Assembly committee at this general session, with the membership and with all the rights, powers and duties possessed by the committee and its members immediately prior to the commencement of this session. Vacancies occurring or existing in the membership of the committee shall be filled by the appointing power.

2. The committee is authorized to act during this session of the Legislature including any recess, but not after final adjournment, with authority to file a report on March 15, 1947.

3. The provisions of the Joint Rules of the Senate and Assembly and of the Standing Rules of the Assembly as soon as such rules are adopted at this session or amended from time to time, become applicable to this committee and its members.

4. The committee is authorized and directed to ascertain, study and analyze all facts relating to

(a) The subject (within the scope of legislative regulation and control) of attaining maximum efficiency and minimum waste at all the various phases of the discovery, production, transportation, refining, and use of oil, gas, and other hydrocarbon substances, including production thereof from lands owned by the State, public agencies, and political subdivisions, cooperating therein to the fullest extent in every way with federal agencies; and

(b) The title of the State of California and its grantees in and to the tide, submerged and reclaimed lands lying within its borders and adjacent to its seacoast, any attacks by federal officials relating thereto, litigation with reference thereto, and legislation pending in Congress affecting such title, and any and all matters relating thereto or connected therewith; including but not limited to the operation, effect, administration, enforcement and needed revision of any and all laws in any way bearing upon or relating to the subject of this resolution, and to report thereon to the Assembly, including in the reports its recommendations for appropriate legislation.

5. The sum of _____ dollars ($_____) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby made available from the Contingent Fund of the Assembly for the expenses of the committee and its members and for any charges, expenses or claims it may incur under this resolution, to be paid from the said contingent fund and disbursed, after certification by the chairman of the committee, upon warrants drawn by the State Controller upon the State Treasurer.

Resolution read, and referred to the Committee on Rules.

CONSIDERATION OF DAILY FILE (RESUMED)

CONSIDERATION OF HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 57

House Resolution No. 57

Relative to the creation of an Assembly Fact-Finding Committee on Working Hours of State Employees

WHEREAS, The Legislature, in a resolution adopted at the Fifty-sixth (Second Extraordinary) Session, recognized the probability of being called upon to consider the problem of uniform working hours and conditions in the state service, during this regular general session of the Legislature; and

WHEREAS, It appears that private industry and many other public jurisdictions are rapidly adopting a standard 40-hour work week and many provide for additional compensation for overtime and night work; and

WHEREAS, There are many specific examples where persons in the state service work longer hours than persons in private industry and other public jurisdictions doing comparable work and receiving only the same pay as those who work shorter hours; and

WHEREAS, There are many examples in the state service where employees doing identical work receive the same rate of pay, but some of them have to work longer hours because they are in different departments; and

WHEREAS, Many of the hours of work for state employees are determined under a statute enacted to meet the manpower shortage problem caused by the war and the readjustment of working hours to normal conditions is a large problem needing immediate legislative attention and action; and

WHEREAS, These conditions are having and will continue to have a serious adverse effect on the morale of a large number of state employees and also cause unsurmountable administrative problems to state departments; and

WHEREAS, The State will suffer seriously in obtaining and retaining necessary employees unless it can compete in the labor market on approximately the same basis as to hours and working conditions as other employers; and

WHEREAS, If this session of the Legislature does not take action on this problem it will be two years before it can again consider it, during which time the problem will get progressively worse; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, As follows:

1. The Assembly Fact-Finding Committee on Working Hours of State Employees is hereby created and authorized and directed to ascertain, study and analyze all facts relating to the working hours of all state employees, including but not limited to the operation, effect, administration, enforcement, and needed revision of any and all laws in any way bearing upon or relating to the subject of this resolution, and to report thereon to the Assembly, including in the reports its recommendations for appropriate legislation.

2. The committee shall consist of five Members of the Assembly appointed by the Speaker thereof. Vacancies occurring or existing in the membership of the committee shall be filled by the appointing power.

3. The committee is authorized to act during this session of the Legislature, including any recess, but not after final adjournment.

4. The committee and its members shall have and exercise all of the rights, duties and powers conferred upon investigating committees and their members by the provisions of the Joint Rules of the Senate and Assembly and of the Standing Rules of the Assembly as they are adopted and amended from time to time, which provisions are incorporated herein and made applicable to this committee and its members.

5. The committee has the following additional powers and duties.

(a) To select a chairman and a vice chairman from its membership.

(b) To contract with such other agencies, public or private, as it deems necessary for the rendition and affording of such services, facilities, studies and reports to the committee as will best assist it to carry out the purposes for which it is created.

(c) To cooperate with and secure the cooperation of county, city, city and county, and other local law enforcement agencies in investigating any matter within the scope of this resolution and to direct the sheriff of any county to serve subpenas, orders and other process issued by the committee.

(d) To report its findings and recommendations to the Legislature and to the people from time to time and at any time, not later than herein provided.

(e) To do any and all other things necessary or convenient to enable it fully and adequately to exercise its powers, perform its duties, and accomplish the objects and purposes of this resolution.

6. The sum of five hundred dollars ($500) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby made available from the Contingent Fund of the Assembly for the expenses of the committee and its members and for any charges, expenses or claims it may incur under this resolution, to be disbursed after certification by the chairman of the committee, upon warrants drawn by the State Controller upon the State Treasurer.

Resolution read.

The roll was called.

Call of the Assembly

Pending the announcement of the vote, Mr. Lowrey moved a call of the Assembly.

Motion carried. Time 4.35 p.m.

The Speaker directed the Sergeant-at-Arms to close the doors, and to bring in the absent members.

PROCEEDINGS UNDER CALL OF THE ASSEMBLY BY UNANIMOUS CONSENT

TEMPORARY SUSPENSION OF ASSEMBLY RULE NO. 33

Mr. Lowrey asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent that Assembly Rule No. 33 be temporarily suspended for the purpose of placing a call of the Assembly on any matter on file.

FURTHER PROCEEDINGS UNDER CALL OF THE ASSEMBLY DISPENSED WITH ON HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 57

At 4.50 p.m., on motion of Mr. Lowrey, further proceedings under the call of the Assembly were dispensed with.

The names of the absentees were called, and House Resolution No. 57 adopted by the following vote:

AYES—Allen, Anderson, Berry, Blosser, Brady, Brown, Burke, Burns, Butters, Caldecott, Carey, Clarke, Collier, Conrad, Cooke, Cramer, Lester T. Davis, M. Philip Davis, Debs, Clayton A Dills, Ralph C. Dills, Dolwig, Dunn, Erwin, Evans, Gaffney, Gannon, Geddes, Grant, Hahn, Hawkins, Heisinger, Huyck, James, Johnson, Kilpatrick, Kirkwood, Loomis, Lowrey, Luckel, McCollister, McMillan, Miller, Niehouse, Price, Silliman, Stanley, Stephenson, Stewart, Thomas, Thompson, Thorp, Waters, and Mr. Speaker—54.

NOES—None.

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT THAT ASSEMBLY CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 37 HOLD PLACE ON FILE

Mr. Lowrey asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent that Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 37 hold its place on file, on the next legislative day.

STATEMENT OF ASSEMBLYMAN DON A. ALLEN

During the 1940 Special Session, I was appointed Chairman of an Interim Investigation Committee on Governmental Efficiency and Economy and while we made recommendations concerning the actual savings, of approximately $70,000,000, we ran into another intriguing problem which I am convinced vitally affected governmental efficiency and was of grave concern to the public at large, a problem which has held my attention since and to which I have devoted considerable study.

It is apparent to me above all the matters of dollars and cents (while being of considerable importance) it is foreshadowed with a crying need for a standard of decency which the administrative agencies need in their dealings with the public. That is—fair practice in administration, efficiency in government, and freedom for the individual citizen.

In the creation of these various boards, bureaus, and commissions we the Legislature should demand that the boards, bureaus, and commissions make only such specific rules as are necessary to carry out the declared intent of the Legislature. Hold hearings, and give every affected party a chance to be heard before they decide on the rules.

In positive language; we their creators should emphatically state—"Let your rules be reviewed at fair hearings, before independent and impartial officials, conducted by trained hearing officers. Your decisions be subject to review by the court and the Legislature to insure protection of the citizen against impairment of his rights."

At all times provide for publicity of your administrative rules and regulations, and follow the same "open book" policy which the Legislature and judicial branches follow now and always have followed. Then the individual citizen can tell where he stands, and what to look for in government.

Place a limit on the administrative agencies flood of investigations and questionnaires. Then the individual citizen can get relief from fishing expeditions into his private affairs.

Require legislative authority for penalties and regulations. Then the individual citizen can be protected from the multiplication of new and novel penalties. Forbid severe penalties for acts arising from delays in rulings or sudden changes in the rules. Then the individual citizen can be secure from being punished as one of the governed for the sins of the governing.

Restate the basis rules on the availability and the scope of the judicial reviews. Then the individual citizen can tell readily the nature and the extent of his American day in court, what it covers and what it doesn't. Separate the functions of prosecutor and judge. So that the individual citizen will not have to have his guilt weighed and decided by his accuser.

Give the people a larger voice in the making of rules and regulations affecting their welfare and livelihood. Thus, the individual citizen will come closer to his ideal of self government—of government by consent of the governed.

We the Legislature in thundering voice must restate the principle which the administrative agencies have conveniently forgotten, that a man is deemed innocent until he has been proven guilty; compel agencies to give him due notice of action, force them to allow him full opportunities to be heard in his own behalf before he is judged. Then the individual citizen will be safe against star chamber proceedings. Compel agencies to base their decisions upon evidence, not upon surmise, and to issue their decisions only after an unbiased appraisal of all evidence. By all means permit judicial review of administrative action.

It was as a result of these early and subsequent personal studies on the part of myself that brought about the creation of this present committee under House Resolution 278. A run-down of the recitation in this resolution will give you some of the basis of the thinking that has developed since my first contact with this problem.

There is not conflict or overlapping between the work of this committee and the work recently completed by the Judicial Council. The latter focused its attention upon the development of an administrative procedure for the exercise of quasi-judicial functions as distinguished from the quasi-legislative function. A procedure designed to govern the issuance, renewal, suspension, and revocations of licenses and permits.

In the light of the number of, and the variety of the fields in which quasi-legislative function is thus being exercised and have grown until administrative regulations encompass or touch upon nearly every human activity in this State.

With the grumbling about the loss of liberty and the moaning about the future of free enterprise it would seem that people of this State and of the United States have been waiting a long time for a brake on excesses of administrative agencies of the Federal and State Governments.

Such excesses have been a continual challenge to American freedom and simple justice. Many believe that the waiting is about over. Whether collective legislation is passed under the scope of such legislation, will depend largely upon the amount of support volunteered by the people who are to be safeguarded. (At this point let me say parenthetically that in the recent survey made by this committee of over 10,000 business enterprises, as well as state agencies, there were a staggering number of individuals who refrained from answering our questionnaires in writing but expressing their opinions orally because of fear of retaliation.) Our files contain such statements as "you members of the Legislature come and go but the bureaucrats remain on forever, etc."

That type of investigation has taken much time and has been many times quite disheartening. Some of the measures are identical in text, some vary. All have the same objective.

The safeguards which are now proposed offer a minimum of perfection in standard and decency and fairness Certainly we make no claim to a guarantee of perfection in administration. But it is a beginning at holding administrative discretion within reasonable bounds; at restricting helter-skelter procedures which the individual citizen cannot predict; at preventing free and easy decisions upon which he cannot reply; and spelling out administrative power and procedure.

They aim at government of laws, not of men. This is free government.

REPORT OF THE ASSEMBLY INTERIM COMMITTEE ON ADMINISTRATIVE REGULATION

House Resolution No. 278
February 3, 1947

Committee Members
DON A. ALLEN, Chairman
M. PHILIP DAVIS

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL

CALIFORNIA LEGISLATURE, STATE CAPITOL
SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, February 3, 1947

Honorable Sam L. Collins
Speaker of the Assembly of California
State Capitol, Sacramento, California

MR. SPEAKER: Your committee, created by House Resolution No. 278 of the Fifty-sixth Regular Session, and charged with the duties of studying and reporting on the exercise of quasi-legislative functions by administrative agencies, herewith submits its report.

This report and the recommendations contained therein are presented with the endorsement of all members of the committee including Mr. Harrison W. Call, who until January 1st of this year actively participated in the work of the committee.

The committee also desires to record its appreciation to all of the individuals who gave so generously of their time in appearing before the committee and cooperating with it.

Respectfully submitted.

DON A. ALLEN, Chairman
M. PHILIP DAVIS

PART 1. REVIEW OF COMMITTEE'S WORK

At the outset the committee realized that if it were to accomplish its purpose in such a very broad field, it would be necessary to carefully plan and outline essential lines of inquiry and to rigidly restrict itself to such organized plan. Accordingly, the committee called upon the Legislative Counsel to assist it by making a careful examination of each existing statutory provision which confers a quasi-legislative function upon a state agency, prescribes a procedure for the performance of the function, or provides for administrative or judicial review of orders made or regulations issued. Such a study, it was felt, would serve to disclose the present legislative policy, or lack of policy, and the existing adequacy or inadequacy of statutory standards, definitions and procedures. A very comprehensive compilation summarizing all such statutory provisions was completed by the Legislative Counsel and submitted to the committee. This compilation, entitled a "Summary of California Statutory Provisions Conferring Quasi-legislative Functions upon State Administrative Agencies," was embodied by the committee in its progress report submitted to the Assembly on July 20, 1946.

The second major line of inquiry adopted by the committee consisted of the consideration of the various practical considerations involved in the exercise of the quasi-legislative functions and the objectives to be attained. In following this line of inquiry the committee circularized letters to all state agencies, departments, bureaus and commissions and to businessmen, private citizens, and trade associations. Over ten thousand letters were mailed by the committee, from which the committee received many helpful responses as well as many disheartening expressions by business concerns of the fear of retaliation by governmental agencies should they express their grievances to a legislative committee.

From a consideration of the summary prepared by the Legislative Counsel and the many responses received from the committee's circularized letter, it became apparent that there were two phases of the entire problem which merited immediate legislative action. These were:

(1) The need for a uniform code of minimum statutory requirements for the adoption, amendment, and repeal of administrative rules and regulations and for their judicial review, in addition to the present filing and publication requirements, and some revision of the latter in certain respects.

(2) The need for more adequate statutory definitions of the nature and scope of the function delegated to the administrative agency or officer and for more certain standards which would serve as a guide to the administrator in exercising the quasi-legislative function, which would inform the public of the requirements which must be complied with, and which would serve to guide the courts in reviewing the acts of the administrators.

The committee focused its attention on these two major problems in order that specific recommendations in the form of proposed legislation could be submitted to the Legislature.

The Federal Administrative Procedure Act [1] which represents the culmination of 10 years of painstaking and detailed study and drafting, in which both the legislative and executive branches of the government as well as private interests of every kind participated; the model Administrative Act prepared and approved by the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws after a most exhaustive study dating back to 1937; and the administrative procedure acts of the States of Ohio [2], North Dakota [3], Wisconsin [4], and Virginia [5] and the experiences gained under the operation of such acts proved to be an invaluable aid to the committee in preparing a practical, workable solution to the problem in this State. By utilizing the best features of each of these acts and adapting them to conditions peculiar to this State and with the able assistance of state administrative officers, educators in the field of public administration and members of the California State Bar, the committee has been able to offer for your consideration two bills which, although not a complete solution to the entire problem, will meet the most urgent problems and will provide a means for the long range solution of the entire problem.

Briefly these bills will accomplish the following purposes:

Assembly Bill No. 35—

(1) Establishes uniform procedural requirements for the exercise of quasi-legislative functions.

(2) Requires public notice to be given prior to the adoption, amendment or repeal of any regulation except an emergency regulation.

(3) Requires a public hearing to be held at which any interested person may appear and be heard prior to the adoption of any regulation.

(4) Permits interested persons to petition an agency for the adoption, amendment or repeal of any regulation.

(5) Provides for the judicial review of quasi-legislative administrative action.

(6) Insures the availability of administrative changes in rules and regulations to the public by providing for the filing of such regulations with the county clerk and by amending the existing provisions for the publication and filing of regulations to facilitate their publication in the California Administrative Code and Register.

Assembly Bill No. 36—Creates a joint legislative committee on administrative regulations which, with the assistance of the Legislative Counsel, will make a continuing study of the exercise of quasi-legislative functions by state administrative agencies with particular reference to the adequacy of the expression of statutory standards and of the definition and scope of the function designated by the Legislature, and to report from time to time to the Legislature with recommendations as to needed revisions in the law.

A. Regulation of Conditional Sales

In the course of its work in the field of quasi-legislative functions and administrative regulations, the attention of the committee was focused on the grossly excessive charges made by a certain automobile sales firm known as the Vaughn Auto Dealers in the City of Inglewood. Your committee found that a considerable number of overcharges had been made on the sales of used cars and the principal victims were veterans and members of the armed forces. A classic example is the case of one Thomas Gorman, Jr., who was in the death march of Mindanao and was a prisoner in Cabanatuan and Bilibid for several years until released. He testified as follows:

> "I bought a 1938 Chevrolet coupe, and the price of the car was $740 by the time they tacked on insurance. That's another thing they hooked me on. It came to $861. I paid $361 down and that left me $500. Being told that the papers I signed were routine O.P.A. papers, when mailed to me a few days later I discovered that I had 15 equal payments at $58.28 a month to repay to them, making a carrying charge of $325."

A similar case, one of the several hundred brought to the attention of your committee by these ex-servicemen, was the case of George Esser, an ex-prisoner of war, who had been in the Air Corps and shot down over Germany. Mr. Esser turned in a 1940 Nash and was allowed $936 as credit on a 1941 Chevrolet that had a selling price of $1,225. He, too, was told that the papers he signed were merely routine O.P.A. papers, only to discover that he had signed a conditional sales contract in blank which was later filled in to require payments of $68.47 per month for a period of 15 months, resulting in a total purchase price of $1,963.05, or an overcharge of $738.05 for the automobile.

At the suggestion of M. Philip Davis, a member of the committee, the entire matter was sent to the district attorney's office and after considerable discussion between this committee with Mr. Davis assisting, several members of this firm were brought to trial and it was only recently that three of them were sentenced to long terms in the state penitentiary on a conspiracy charge.

The district attorney stated that a section of the law passed at the last session of the Legislature known as the Thomas Bill should have provided criminal punishment, as the conspiracy charge had been most difficult for them to prove. The committee has introduced such remedial legislation.

B. Veterans Taxicab Regulation

One other additional task was assigned to this committee by a resolution introduced by Mr. Vincent Thomas of San Pedro, in regard to veterans' taxicabs. A caravan of independent taxicabs owned by veterans were driven to Sacramento protesting the so-called "monopoly bill," a city ordinance adopted in the City of Los Angeles and a similar ordinance in the City of Long Beach which prevented the veterans from engaging in the taxicab business.

Your committee called all of the interested parties to a meeting in the Sixth Agricultural Building. The City of Los Angeles has repealed its so-called "monopoly bill" and the Veterans Taxicab Company is now operating in the City of Los Angeles in full compliance with the law. The committee was assured that a similar condition would exist in Long Beach, and on the last advice that this committee has, such plans are going forward.

PART 2. PUBLIC RESPONSE TO COMMITTEE INQUIRIES

The work of your committee in the field of quasi-legislative regulation compels us to present a sad commentary on our fundamental principle of government by the people through their chosen legislative representatives. The meteoric growth of administrative agencies in the last decade caused by the expansion of industry and the necessity of increased governmental regulation for the protection of the public, the growth of social legislation, and the entry of the State into the income and excise tax field has resulted in government by regulation adopted by administrators in the exercise of their delegated quasi-legislative power.

As early as 1937, the growth and intensification of administrative regulation of private enterprise and other phases of American life had moved President Roosevelt to appoint a committee to study administrative methods, functioning, and organization. At that time he took occasion to remark that the practice of creating administrative agencies to perform administrative work in addition to judicial work, threatened to develop a "fourth branch" of the government for which there is no sanction in the Constitution.

The contemporary movement toward statutory reform of administrative procedure throughout the United States is certainly no coincidence. These movements spring from a profound apprehension over the rapid growth of more or less uncontrolled administrative powers, and a realization of legislative responsibility for such development.

The full impact of the random procedures by which quasi-legislative action is exercised was brought forcibly to the attention of the committee by the responses received from their circularized questionnaires. Many individuals stated that they were reluctant to call the committee's attention to any specific act for fear of retaliation by the agency affected. Many others by phone and letter requested committee members to call in persons and receive verbally their comment in an "off the record" discussion. Members of the committee interviewed as many as 35 different persons in one day at their request. Typical of the comments received at such interviews is the following: "You Members of the Legislature come and go but the bureaucrats remain."

Significant also are the following comments taken from several of the large volume of letters received by the committee:

"On August 10, 1946, I wrote to Mr. _____ to obtain a copy of the book known in their department as the precedent manual. At the same time I asked for a copy of their local office procedure manual. I was pretty sure they would refuse to let me have copies of these esoteric documents and I am now in receipt of a letter from Mr. _____ and another letter from Mr. _____, each of them refusing to supply copies of these books.

This is a flagrant example of how the department of _____ makes its set of rules upon which its decisions are based, then proceeds to conceal the rules from the public. By this means the public is effectually denied the right to know in advance the laws by which it is being governed but instead must be content to have trick rules pulled out of a bottom drawer to fit any special occasion or set of circumstances."

* * * * * *

"So far as expressing our ideas as to this particular act (House Resolution 278) we believe it would take a legal mind to thoroughly digest the meaning of this act. However, one thing very definitely was impressed upon the mind of the writer in that there is altogether too much delegation of authority to committees, bureaus and that these committees and bureaus use their powers in a dictatorial manner.

We have a very good example of this by the many acts passed by our Congress of the United States and the delegation of its powers to the President and the countless number of bureaus and committees. In electing members to Congress or to the Legislature of the State of California we, as ordinary voters, expect them to express the wishes of the voters.

However, they sidestep this obligation by passing authority on to bureaus and committees. As a consequence our government 'of the people, by the people, and for the people' is in name only. If this House Resolution 278 is designed to curb the power of bureaus and committees we are for it. If it extends their powers we are certainly against it."

* * * * * *

"This situation of unlimited discretion in the matter of making rulings or reaching conclusions leads only to a great interruption and unnecessary expense in conducting business.

It cost us a very large sum to get a final determination in this matter following their repudiation, which seems very unfair to business operations. Can see where many smaller concerns would have had to submit without obtaining any apparent just decision.

These commissions if they have to be should certainly be much more rigidly circumscribed by law itself. A decision should be subject to court rule on some reasonably quick simple form of procedure and not dragged out for a period of over five years as in our own unfortunate circumstance.

The great fundamental weakness of government by commission seems to be the human element, by which men want to thrive on power and power begets power and rulings beget rulings.

No doubt some commissions may be desirable but they should be surrounded by some limited safeguards as to their duties."

* * * * * *

"The danger I think of is that danger which has stalked among us for so many years—bureaucracy. If regulations can be put in a statutory form to prevent the delegation of legislative, executive and judicial functions to individuals and committees who have never been elected by the people of the State, then I am for it. I think all of us have felt the sting of self-imposed authority as well as authority actually conveyed by the executive part of our government to individuals and committees and we have felt it to such an extent that we regard it as an evil."

* * * * * *

"The writer is definitely antagonistic to any proposal which would in any way increase the powers of administrative boards in the matter of enacting rules or in making determinations of a judicial or quasi-judicial nature. He is of the opinion that the growth of administrative agencies by the Legislature in granting wide rule making power and by the court in giving finality to their determinations have become the Frankenstein of democratic government and are essentially destroying the basic concept of separation of powers to the executive, judicial and legislative branches. As a matter of comment the writer is of the view that as a whole the Legislature has not trespassed upon executive or judicial function. Likewise the judicial has not trespassed upon the executive or legislative function. But the executive through the development of administrative procedures, practice, regulation, and rule making powers has trespassed seriously upon both.

"The extent of the encroachment by administrative agencies has reached the point where the judicial business of these agencies exceeds the judicial business by the courts both in volume and importance. Further their legislative enactments are of equal weight with those of the Legislature itself. The statement may be entirely too generous, but the writer is of the view that both the judicial and legislative branches of government are rapidly becoming adjunct to the executive branch of government.

"Quite obviously with such positive views the writer does not look with favor upon any legislation designed to add either judicial or legislative authority or functions to the executive branch of government. The writer is further of the view that some of the judicial decisions which approve the exercise of so-called quasi-judicial authority by administrative agencies constitute acts of judicial abdication. Under such circumstances proposed legislation which has for its object the curtailment of the exercise of judicial or legislative authority by administrative boards through enactment designed to clarify or supposedly restrict their function through procedural methods become to the writer a valid recognition and legitimation of usurpation of the functions of the other two departments of government.

"The writer concedes, however, that he is rowing against the tide as the present policy of law writers, judges and legislators seems to be that many judicial and legislative functions of the past be handled by administrative agencies through the liberal grant of authority to hold and conduct hearings and make determinations and enact rules. It seems unfortunate, however, that the system does not provide as a basic guarantee insofar as the adoption of any rule is concerned that it should have legislative approval by resolution (the matter of annual sessions would make it convenient) by the whole Legislature or at least standing legislative committees that would act during the interim between sessions and also the approval by at least a superior court judge of any determination by a judicial agency that affects private rights of an individual or of properties."

* * * * * * *

The bewildering uncertainty of the private citizen whose life and property is affected daily by administrative action of one kind or another becomes more readily apparent when we stop to consider that this State alone has over one hundred separate agencies with all possible variations in the powers both quasi-legislative and quasi-judicial vested by statute in each, and with no uniformity of procedure prescribed for the exercise of such powers in the few instances where any procedure is prescribed at all.

PART 3. PREVIOUS LEGISLATIVE ACTION

It cannot be said, however, that the Legislature has been unmindful of the serious problems inherent in the growth of administrative procedure and the need for a program of reform to alleviate the existing conditions.

In 1939 the Legislature proposed a constitutional amendment [6] to permit the Legislature to provide for the judicial review of administrative action. This measure, however, was defeated at the polls.

In 1941 legislation was enacted which provided for the creation of a codification board and for the compilation and publication by this board of all administrative rules and regulations in a publication to be known as the California Administrative Code, and with periodical supplements to be known as the California Administrative Register.[7] As funds for this work were not made available until 1943 actual publication of the code did not start until 1944.

Also in 1941 a statute was enacted directing the Judicial Council of California to undertake a study of administrative procedure with particular emphasis on the problem of judicial review.[8] The failure to provide for a special appropriation for this work made it impossible for the Judicial Council to undertake the work at that time.

In 1943 an appropriation was made to the codification board [9] which enabled it to begin the compilation and publication of the rules and regulations, and the direction to the Judicial Council to study the procedure of administrative agencies was repeated.[10] As a result of the extensive work done by the Judicial Council in the investigation of the adjudicative proceedings of state licensing agencies, legislation was introduced in 1945, and enacted, which embodied the council's recommendation as to minimum standards of fair administrative procedure in the field of administrative licensing and disciplining.[11] In its report on the administrative agencies survey the Judicial Council made this comment:

> "Because of the primarily judicial interest of the council it was thought that its most valuable contribution could be made in the field of administrative adjudication rather than in the field of quasi-legislative action. For that reason no attempt has been made in this report to include the agencies which are primarily rule-making in nature." (Tenth biennial report of Judicial Council of California, December 31, 1944, page 10.)

Thus, although great strides have been taken by the Legislature to guarantee administrative justice through legislative control of quasi-judicial actions, there is still the broad field of quasi-legislative action which encompasses or touches upon nearly every human activity in this State to be similarly considered.

PART 4. FINDINGS

The study made by the committee of the statutes delegating quasi-legislative function indicates that a good many statutes while satisfying minimum constitutional requirements may fall considerably short of furnishing a sure and certain guide to administrative officials and the courts.

The constitutional requirements are well expressed by our Supreme Court in Miller vs. Municipal Court (1943) 22 Cal. (2d) 818 as follows:

> "Congress must state, insofar as is reasonably practicable, considering the nature of the subject matter and the regulation sought, the purpose which it seeks to accomplish and the standard by which that purpose is to be effectuated.

It may then constitutionally delegate to an administrative agency the power to determine the details essential to carry out the legislative purpose . . .

The exercise of judgment by an administrative agency will be upheld where it is within the prescribed limits and where the procedure which is directed to follow and the record of its action 'are such that Congress, the court and the public can ascertain whether the agency has conformed to the standards which Congress has prescribed.' " (page 832)

The legal principles are the same in the state as in the federal legislative field. However, minimum compliance with these principles gives no assurance of clear expression of legislative will nor does it necessarily furnish the administrative officer adequate guidance in the exercise of the delegated power, nor the courts a definite or certain test in ascertaining the validity of administrative action.

It takes very little to satisfy the constitutional requirements. If standards can be derived from any portion of the statute or from the act as a whole or from the statement of its purposes that frequently will suffice.

Such expressions as "equalization of cost of production," "public convenience, interest or necessity," "purity, quality and fitness for consumption," "just and reasonable" commissions, "in the public interest," and "unreasonable obstruction to navigation," have been severally held adequate, legal statements of legislative standards. Whether or not they may be adequate to the efficient carrying out of the legislative will is quite another question, one which would seem to merit thoughtful consideration.

Then, too, there is the clause commonly used which confers the rule-making power in vague general terms expressed as a power to "adopt rules necessary for the administration of this act" or "for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this chapter," or "necessary or expedient for the carrying out of this chapter," or "necessary to carry into effect the provisions of this act," or "for the administration and enforcement of the provisions hereof," and so on. A check of the statutes compiled in the summary shows some 400 statutory delegations of rule-making power expressed in the above or similar vague, general terms. Certainly such provisions offer little by way of a standard for the guidance of an administrative officer in the exercise of the delegated power nor to a court in ascertaining the validity of administrative action, and no procedure whatever is prescribed for the exercise of such delegated power for the protection or benefit of the public.

One does not know, had the Legislature's particular attention been called to such a clause at the time of enactment, whether it would have been left in, taken out, narrowed down, or amplified. As it stands, it authorizes any kind of rule within the scope of the subject of the statute and not inconsistent with the statute, whether it be a rule which merely pertains to the agency's internal management, or one which interprets the statute, or fills in substantive details.

A review of the recent opinions of the Attorney General indicates that that office is often called upon to clarify the scope of an agency's quasi-legislative empowerment.

It was not possible for the committee, within the time available, to undertake the restatement of all such indefinite statutory standards that were found to be susceptible to improvement. It was possible, however, to appraise the need for improvement and to formulate a plan by which the Legislature may review such enactments and where necessary provide a clear expression of the legislative will.

The studies made by your committee also indicate that no consistent policy has been adopted or observed by the Legislature in prescribing statutory procedures governing the exercise of the quasi-legislative function.

In the greater number of cases the statute is entirely silent as to notice, hearing or other element of procedure. Normally the procedure, if any, is submitted either expressly or by implication to the administrative agency to prescribe. It is not to be inferred that in the absence of a statutory requirement, every administrative agency proceeds without notice to interested persons. The committee found that several state agencies do, in fact, give notice of the time when and the place at which they will consider specific proposed changes in their rules although there appears to be no statute requiring them to do so.

The relatively few statutes which do set forth procedural requirements are quite diverse in their provisions and for that reason furnish a considerable variety of features which make it difficult if not impossible for the public to be apprised of pending action by an administrative agency.

The lack of definite standards in the statutory empowerment and the absence of procedural requirements in the exercise of the quasi-legislative power results in a haphazard system where two or more agencies may be granted overlapping jurisdiction in a particular field. A striking example of such a condition is found in the field of building regulations.

The Director of Agriculture is authorized to establish rules and regulations and provide plans and specifications for construction of buildings used in production of market milk.[12]

The Department of Education is authorized to establish standards for school buildings and formulate a schedule for charges for services in connection with the review of plans.[13]

The State Fire Marshal, with advice of the State Fire Advisory Board, is directed to prepare and adopt rules and regulations establishing minimum standards for prevention of fire and for protection of life and property against fire and panic, and to adopt rules and regulations not inconsistent with existing law relating to fire protection in the design, construction, means and adequacy of egress and equipment of state institutions.[14]

The Fire Marshal may also prescribe rules and regulations governing construction, improvement and operation of establishments necessary for protection of life and property against fire and for promotion of occupational security of operators in clothes cleaning establishments[15].

The Division of Industrial Safety may declare and prescribe safety devices or methods of protection adopted to keep places of employment safe as required by law or orders, and to fix and order reasonable standards for construction and maintenance of places of employment necessary to make them safe[16]. The Industrial Safety Board may also adopt general safety orders pertaining to the operation of construction elevators[17], and may make and enforce safety orders to supplement and carry into effect the provisions of the Labor Code prescribing safety requirements for scaffolding used in construction[18].

The Division of Industrial Safety may also make and enforce safety orders and rules necessary and proper to carry into effect the purpose of the provisions of the Labor Code for safeguarding window cleaners[19]. Prior to the installation of fastenings for safety devices, the division must first approve them for design, durability, and safety, and shall by rule and order designate the manner in which safety devices are to be installed and used[20].

The Department of Public Works is granted supervision over all dam construction and alterations[21].

The Division of Architecture supervises construction of school buildings and major reconstruction and alteration; plans must be submitted to it for approval as to safety of design and construction. The division may make rules and regulations it deems necessary, proper, or suitable, effectually to carry out the provisions of the Education Code governing approval of school building plans and supervision of construction[22].

The Railroad Commission by general or special orders, rules or regulations, or otherwise, has power to require public utilities to construct and maintain plant and equipment in a manner to promote and safeguard health and safety of employees, customers and the public, and may prescribe maintenance of safety equipment, may establish standards of construction and equipment and may require performance of any other act demanded by health or safety of the employees, customers or the public[23].

These seven state agencies each have been granted broad general powers to adopt building regulations without the benefit of any prescribed procedure by which any one agency might know what action was being taken by any of the other six agencies in a particular field. It was because of this particular situation, no doubt, that the Chairman of the Municipal and County Government Section of Town Hall wrote to your committee as follows:

> "We have been holding a series of meetings relative to the internal coordination of the regulation of building within the City of Los Angeles.
> "During the course of the discussion there was growing complaint that state legislation was invading the field of building regulation and that state agencies were issuing regulations conflicting with and unknown to the local authorities."

In sharp contrast to the haphazard delegations of quasi-legislative power set forth above are those contained in Sections 6800 and 6801 of the Labor Code. In Section 6800 the Division of Industrial Safety is given jurisdiction over the safety of employees of steam railroads employed in shops devoted to the construction or repair of railroad equipment and over the safety of employees of electric, interurban or street railroads employed in the generation, transmission or distribution of electrical energy or in shops devoted to the repair of railroad equipment or in any nonpublic utility operation of such railroads, and over the safety of employees of all other public utilities as defined in the Public Utilities Act. The precise scope of this jurisdiction is narrowed down and limited in Section 6801, however, by the following language: "The jurisdiction vested in the division shall in no instance, except those affecting exclusively the safety of employees, impair, diminish, or in any way affect the jurisdiction of the Railroad Commission over the construction, reconstruction, replacement, maintenance, or operation of the properties of public utilities or over any matter affecting the relationship between public utilities and their customers or the general public."

PART 5. CONCLUSION

There is an urgent need for reform in the field of the exercise of quasi-legislative functions and the procedures by which such functions are exercised. It has been said that where law ends arbitrary power begins. If, through broad delegations of quasi-legislative power, the laws may be bent to the preferences of any official agent or tribunal they cease to be laws and become merely advisory declarations of the Legislature. If, therefore, we would preserve our form of government, the Legislature, since it cannot itself perform all functions made necessary by our complex economy, must guarantee administrative justice to the individual citizen. Your committee recognizes that the ultimate goal of prescribing precise statutory standards of quasi-legislative empowerment, the scope of such empowerment, and the procedures through which such powers are exercised, can only be achieved by a careful and thorough analysis of each separate delegation of rule making power.

Many suggestions were received by the committee urging them to recommend the establishment of a legislative committee similar to that recently created in the State of Virginia[24] which would exercise complete control over the exercise of the rule making powers. This method, adopted in Virginia, requires the prior approval of the legislative committee, after a public hearing, before any administrative rule or regulation can become effective. The committee was also urged to recommend the establishment of such a committee which could exercise a veto power over all regulations adopted by administrative agencies. The committee, recognizing the tremendous task with which the administrative agencies are charged and the need for legislative assistance by way of guidance in the performance of their duties, rather than hampering their efficient operation, while at the same time recognizing the responsibility of the Legislature in the field of legislative action, quasi-legislative or otherwise, and that if we are to have law in this field we must have legislation, have sought a means of accomplishing both objectives.

Our committee recommends the creation of a joint legislative committee which, with the assistance of the Legislative Counsel, will analyze and study each quasi-legislative administrative action in the adoption, amendment, or repeal of regulations and at that time review the statutory empowerment and the scope of the quasi-legislative functions vested in the particular agency.

[24] See Appendix for Statute Citations

This method would provide adequate opportunity to give the consideration to each statute that it merits, and thus enable the committee to report back to the Legislature any needed revisions in the law. Through this means the Legislature will not only keep abreast of the current developments and trends in the exercise of the quasi-legislative functions delegated by them to the administrative agencies but in addition specific recommendations can be made which will bring a semblance of order and definiteness out of the present loose, random and incomplete standards now found in such statutes.

Of more immediate need, however, is that of guaranteeing to the individual citizen a standard of fair practice in administration. Certainly the basic safeguards established by the Constitution for the adoption of laws by the Legislature should be applied to the adoption of regulations by administrative agencies, necessarily so when such regulations have the force and effect of a law enacted by the Legislature. The administrative agencies should make only such specific rules as are necessary to carry out the declared intent of the Legislature. A public hearing should be held and every interested person given an opportunity to be heard before any rule or regulation is adopted. Every administrative action should be subject to review by the courts to protect the citizen against impairment of his rights. Adequate publicity and distribution should be provided for rules and regulations adopted by administrative agencies in order that the individual citizen may be advised of his rights, liabilities and obligations.

These safeguards, proposed by your committee and embodied in Assembly Bill No. 35 and Assembly Bill No. 36, offer only a basic minimum in attaining administrative justice. They offer, however, a beginning at holding administrative discretion within reasonable bounds; at restricting random procedures which the individual citizen cannot predict; at preventing free and easy decisions upon which he cannot rely; and at achieving definiteness in administrative power and procedures. They aim at government of laws, not of men.

Respectfully submitted,

DON A. ALLEN, Chairman
M. PHILIP DAVIS

RECOMMENDATION OF THE GOVERNOR

In accordance with Article IV, Section 34, of the Constitution, the Governor presented the following communication recommending the passage of Senate Bill No. 99:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE
SACRAMENTO, January 31, 1947

To the Honorable Members of the Assembly
Sacramento, California

GENTLEMEN:

Senate Bill No. 99—"An act reappropriating to the Department of Public Works for expenditure exclusively for surveying projects for the control, conservation and utilization of water resources for any beneficial purpose required for mountainous areas of this State, the unexpended and unencumbered balance of funds appropriated by the Flood Control Fund Act of 1946, approved March 12, 1946, and allocated to the Department of Public Works by Section 15 of said act; repealing said Section 15 of said act; declaring the urgency of this act, to take effect immediately."

in my opinion constitutes an emergency bill within the meaning of that term as used in Section 34 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California, the consideration of which should not await the final enactment of the Budget Bill.

I therefore recommend consideration of Senate Bill No. 99 as an emergency measure.

Respectfully submitted.

EARL WARREN, Governor

CONSIDERATION OF SENATE BILL NO. 99 (BY UNANIMOUS CONSENT)

Senate Bill No. 99—An act reappropriating to the Department of Public Works for expenditure exclusively for surveying projects for the control, conservation and utilization of water resources for any beneficial purpose required for mountainous areas of this State, the unexpended and unencumbered balance of funds appropriated by the Flood Control

Fund Act of 1946, approved March 12, 1946, and allocated to the Department of Public Works by Section 15 of said act; repealing said Section 15 of said act; declaring the urgency of this act, to take effect immediately.

Bill read second time.

Resolution to Suspend Constitutional Provision

The following resolution was offered:

By Mr. Thurman:

Resolved, That Senate Bill No. 99 presents a case of urgency, as that term is used in Article IV, Section 15, of the Constitution, and the provision of that section requiring that the bill be read on three several days in each house is hereby dispensed with, and it is ordered that said bill be read the third time, and placed upon its passage.

Resolution read.

The roll was called, and the resolution adopted by the following vote:

AYES—Allen, Anderson, Berry, Blosser, Boyd, Brown, Burke, Burns, Butters, Caldecott, Carey, Clarke, Collier, Conrad, Cooke, Cramer, Crichton, Crowley, Lester T Davis, Debs, Dickey, Ralph C Dills, Dolwig, Doyle, Dunn, Erwin, Evans, Field, Fletcher, Gaffney, Geddes, Grant, Hahn, Hawkins, Heisinger, Hinckley, Hollibaugh, Huyck, James, Johnson, Kilpatrick, Kirkwood, Loomis, Lowrey, Luckel, Maloney, McCollister, McMillan, Niehouse, Sherwin, Sillman, Stanley, Stephenson, Stewart, Thomas, Thompson, Thurman, Waters, Wollenberg, and Mr. Speaker—60

NOES—None.

Article IV, Section 15, of the Constitution was declared suspended.

Senate Bill No. 99—An act reappropriating to the Department of Public Works for expenditure exclusively for surveying projects for the control, conservation and utilization of water resources for any beneficial purpose required for mountainous areas of this State, the unexpended and unencumbered balance of funds appropriated by the Flood Control Fund Act of 1946, approved March 12, 1946, and allocated to the Department of Public Works by Section 15 of said act; repealing said Section 15 of said act; declaring the urgency of this act, to take effect immediately.

Bill read third time.

Urgency Clause

Urgency clause read, and adopted by the following vote:

By Mr McMillan:

House Resolution No. 86

Relative to the creation of the Assembly Committee on Public Accountants

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, As follows:

1. The Assembly Committee on Public Accountants is hereby created and authorized and directed to ascertain, study and analyze all facts relating to public accountants, the law relating thereto, and the administration thereof including but not limited to the operation, effect, administration, enforcement and needed revision of any and all laws in any way bearing upon or relating to the subject of this resolution, and to report thereon to the Assembly, including in the reports its recommendations for appropriate legislation.

2. The committee shall consist of three Members of the Assembly appointed by the Speaker thereof. Vacancies occurring or existing in the membership of the committee shall be filled by the appointing power.

3 The committee is authorized to act during this session of the Legislature, including any recess, but not after final adjournment, with authority to file a report on or before March 15, 1947.

4 The committee and its members shall have and exercise all of the rights, duties and powers conferred upon investigating committees and their members by the provisions of the Joint Rules of the Senate and Assembly and of the Standing Rules of the Assembly as they are adopted and amended from time to time, which provisions are incorporated herein and made applicable to this committee and its members.

5. The committee has the following additional powers and duties:

(a) To select a chairman and a vice chairman from its membership.

(b) To contract with such other agencies, public or private, as it deems necessary for the rendition and affording of such services, facilities, studies and reports to the committee as will best assist it to carry out the purposes for which it is created.

(c) To cooperate with and secure the cooperation of county, city, city and county, and other local law enforcement agencies in investigating any matter within the scope of this resolution and to direct the sheriff of any county to serve subpenas, orders and other process issued by the committee.

(d) To report its findings and recommendations to the Legislature and to the people from time to time and at any time, not later than herein provided.

(e) To do any and all other things necessary or convenient to enable it fully and adequately to exercise its powers, perform its duties, and accomplish the objects and purposes of this resolution

6 The sum of seven hundred fifty dollars ($750) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby made available from the Contingent Fund of the Assembly for the expenses of the committee and its members and for any charges, expenses or claims it may incur under this resolution, to be paid from the said contingent fund and disbursed, after certification by the chairman of the committee, upon warrants drawn by the State Controller upon the State Treasurer.

REPORTS OF STANDING COMMITTEES

Committee on Rules

ASSEMBLY CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, February 4, 1947

MR. SPEAKER: Your Committee on Rules, to which was referred:

House Resolution No 84

Has had the same under consideration, and reports the same back with the recommendation: Be adopted.

DICKEY, Chairman

CONSIDERATION OF HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 84 (BY UNANIMOUS CONSENT)

House Resolution No. 84

WHEREAS, An acute shortage of building material and a limited number of skilled mechanics in certain trades have seriously retarded construction of urgently needed homes for veterans and citizens generally, and

WHEREAS, Because of this serious situation, the State of California has made arrangements to furnish material for veteran's housing and necessary public works; and

WHEREAS, Investigation discloses that thousands of building and construction workmen have been laid off because of inclement weather conditions which interfere with outdoor construction work; and

WHEREAS, Further investigation discloses that thousands of persons are following the custom of normal times and are waiting for the arrival of spring before proceeding with interior remodeling, repair and maintenance work; and

WHEREAS, It is manifest that when the tremendous program of constructing new homes for veterans and necessary public works is started, workmen who are now available to do interior remodeling, repair and maintenance work, will not be available because they will be steadily employed upon new housing and construction work; therefore be it

Resolved by the State Assembly, That we respectfully urge citizens, who plan interior remodeling, repair and maintenance work, to have such work done now while workmen are available so that these property owners will not be compelled to await the services of workmen now available but who will later be employed exclusively upon the construction of veteran's homes and urgently needed public works.

Resolution read. and adopted.

COMMUNICATIONS

By Speaker Collins:

The following communication and report were received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL

SACRAMENTO, February 3, 1947

Report on Needed Changes in the Statutory Law, the Better to Express the Legislative Intent

Honorable Sam L. Collins
Speaker of the Assembly of California

MR. SPEAKER: There is transmitted to you herewith my report prepared pursuant to House Resolution 260 of 1945, together with legislative bills to carry the recommendations into effect. These bills I am delivering to you for such disposition as you may choose to make of them.

In submitting this report, I wish to acknowledge my indebtedness to the administrators, attorneys, and others, including members of my staff, who severally brought various statutory defects to my attention

Particular acknowledgment is due Mr. Lawrence G. Allyn, Deputy Legislative Counsel, who assembled and analyzed the data for the formulation of the recommendations, and supervised drafting of the legislative bills

Yours very sincerely,

FRED B. WOOD, Legislative Counsel

Report of Legislative Counsel on Needed Changes in the Statutory Law, the Better to Express the Legislative Intent

To the Assembly of the State of California:

This report is submitted in response to House Resolution No 260 (Assembly Journal for 1945, p. 3961), which directed that I bring to your attention ambiguities that should be resolved, general laws and isolated provisions that should go into the codes, obsolete statutes that should be repealed, and other similar defects in the statutes that should be corrected.

In the course of this work thus far we have assembled a considerable amount of data that doubtless will lead to a more extended list of needed amendments and repeals. I assume it is your desire that I make of this a continuous study, and report at each general session of the Legislature.

1. The following amendments would seem desirable for the purpose of clarification:

Agricultural Prorate Act (Deering Act 143a), Section 23, relative to termination of a marketing program, to clarify the statement concerning the sign-up required.

Renumber as 28. Education Code, Section 26, which relates to city superintendent of schools, there now being two Sections 26

Renumber as 2 5, that Article of Chapter 1 of Division 10 of the Education Code which is now erroneously numbered 1 5, relating to transfer of moneys from State Treasury to the Regents of the University of California, consisting of Section 20041.

Amend Government Code Section 9020, convening date of regular sessions of the Legislature, to conform to the recent budget session constitutional amendment

Amend Government Code Section 12465 and add a new section, to avoid having extraneous provisions in a single section, local government reports to the Controller and the Controller's monthly reports to the Department of Finance.

Amend Government Code Section 18025, to correct an obsolete cross reference, "Section 73 of this act," which should read "this article."

Amend Government Code Section 18051, to make permissive instead of mandatory the authority of the State Personnel Board to provide for vacations for civil servants who have been employed for less than one year, accurately to express the legislative intent.

2 It would appear desirable to transfer the provisions of the following statutes to their appropriate places in the codes severally indicated:

Political Code Section 352.5, reimbursement of a state employee for moving expenses when the appointing power changes his headquarters; transfer to the Government Code as Section 18006.

Political Code Section 363s, relating to historical markers, to the Public Resources Code as Section 502

Political Code Section 673, relating to notice to Department of Finance of proposed sale of local government bonds, to the Government Code as Section 13452.

Political Code Sections 4149b and 4149d, relating to county fish and game wardens, to Fish and Game Code as Sections 41 and 42.

Political Code Section 4226, relating to matrons of county jails, to Penal Code as Sections 4020 4-4020.8.

The act of June 13, 1913, Chapter 363, page 775 (Deering Act 539), relating to the sterilization of mentally deficient persons, to Welfare and Institutions Code as Section 6625.

3 Each of the following seems suitable for repeal, for the reasons stated below:

Political Code Section 344, relating to the designation "Fish and Game Commission;" obsolete, and adequately covered by the provisions of the Fish and Game Code.

Political Code Sections 361b and 361c, relating to Department of Agriculture; became obsolete when other sections of this group were incorporated in the Agricultural Code.

Political Code Section 376a, relating to Department of Justice; obsolete, its provisions having been reenacted as Section 15001 of the Government Code.

Revenue and Taxation Code Section 3521, time within which one may sue to set aside a tax deed; obsolete, superseded by Section 175 as added by Chapter 1017 of Statutes of 1945.

Revenue and Taxation Code Sections 3964 and 3965 as added in 1943, relating to tax-deeded property; to avoid the duplication caused by addition of the same section numbers, containing the same provisions, in 1945.

The Farm Finance Act of 1939 (Deering Act 147a), unless the administering agency, the Farm Debt Adjustment Commission, whose existence terminated September 15, 1945 (Deering Act 146a, Sec. 4), is to be revived.

Dated: Sacramento, California, January 29, 1947.

INTRODUCTION, FIRST READING, AND REFERENCE OF ASSEMBLY BILLS (RESUMED)

The following bill was introduced, and read the first time:

Assembly Bill No. 2284: By Mr. Dickey—An act to add Sections 750.1 and 750.2 to the Insurance Code and to amend Section 12400 of the Insurance Code, relating to the payment of rebates and commissions by title insurers.

Referred to Committee on Judiciary.

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT THAT STATEMENT BE PRINTED IN JOURNAL

Mrs. Niehouse and Mr. Allen asked for, and were granted, unanimous consent that the following joint statement be ordered printed in the Journal:

Statement by Mr. Allen and Mrs. Niehouse

MR. SPEAKER: On December 23, 1946, an article appeared in the local press of Southern California to the effect that "Several thousand of Rose Bowl tickets were held for public officials," especially Members of the Assembly. Persons having waited in line all night to purchase these tickets were turned away and were highly indignant over these statements.

The result was that Members of the Assembly and the Senate were bombarded with calls seeking these tickets. Mrs. Niehouse, Senior Assemblyman from San Diego County, was also the target for many calls for these tickets in that area. Such statements were so embarrassing and misleading to the press, public and Legislature that we issued joint statements to the effect:

1. The statement by the university was not correct.
2. That we would call for an investigation of the statements

We have accordingly requested such information and received the following reply from the University of California:

Your attention is called to the fact that no Member of the Legislature was given complimentary tickets, but, "100 tickets were purchased by Members of the Legislature and other officials."

Memorandum From University of California

At the request of Members of the Legislature, representatives of the University of California have investigated the allocation of tickets to the Rose Bowl on January 1st of 1947. Earlier statements in the press indicated that large blocks of tickets were made available to legislators and other state officials, but examination of the facts indicate that the statement was incorrect. An actual check of the ticket allocation indicates that slightly more than 100 tickets were purchased by the Members of the State Legislature and other officials from the tickets handled by the University of California.

It was indicated that the allocation of tickets to students and alumni, Tournament of Roses Association, University of Illinois and the press were distributed in a manner similar to the system followed by other institutions playing in the Rose Bowl game From the information available it would appear that no special privileges had been granted to any group or individuals and that a fair distribution of the tickets had been made, giving preference to the students and alumni of the institutions. As great a public sale was arranged in accordance with demands by specific groups.

It is understood that considerations are to be given in the future in stating in advance the allocation of tickets to all Rose Bowl games by the institution in charge in order to avoid misunderstandings as to the distribution of the tickets.

CONSIDERATION OF HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 48 (BY UNANIMOUS CONSENT)

House Resolution No. 48

Relative to appropriations for the United States Forest Service

WHEREAS, Reports are now current that the present Congress of the United States intends to reduce greatly the amount of appropriations to be made for the United States Forest Service; and

WHEREAS, Such a reduction of appropriation would seriously impair the work of the United States Forest Service in its work of fire suppression, camp ground maintenance, and trail and road maintenance throughout the mountain areas of California; and

WHEREAS, Such impairment of services would result in an increase of fire hazards which might bring about destruction of vast areas of forests by fire, and certainly will greatly reduce the enjoyments to be had from vacation and pleasure trips through these mountains; and

WHEREAS, Such destruction of forest lands and impairment of camping and travel facilities will not only greatly diminish the pleasure and enjoyment which the people of the State of California derive from visiting these mountains, but will result in great economic loss to the State in devastation of rich forest areas and a discouragement of tourist travel in this State; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Assembly of California hereby memorializes the President and Congress of the United States to continue to provide adequate appropriations for the United States Forest Service to enable that agency to carry on with the greatest effectiveness its work of forest fire prevention and suppression, and the proper maintenance of camp and road facilities throughout the mountain areas of California; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly be hereby directed to transmit copies of this resolution to the President of the United States, to the President pro Tempore of the Senate, to the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and to each Senator and Representative from California in the Congress of the United States.

Resolution read, and adopted.

House Resolution No. 86

Has had the same under consideration, and reports the same back with the recommendation: Be adopted.

DICKEY, Chairman

Assembly Joint Resolution No. 20 ordered engrossed.

Above reported House resolutions ordered on file for adoption.

CONSIDERATION OF HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 76 (BY UNANIMOUS CONSENT)

House Resolution No. 76

Relative to meetings of the Assembly Committee on Public Health and Safety

WHEREAS, The Standing Committee of the Assembly on Public Health and Safety at the Fifty-seventh Session of the Legislature is again confronted with a number of bills proposing far reaching changes in existing laws and new functions to be performed by the State in providing for health care for the people of California; and

WHEREAS, During the constitutional recess several of these bills should be carefully studied in order to determine the possible costs of providing health service; and

WHEREAS, Testimony to be valid and of worth to the Legislature should be received from interested parties in an orderly manner and, where required, witnesses should testify under oath; and

WHEREAS, The interim committee of the Assembly created by House Resolution 295 at the last session ceased to function last year by the terms of said resolution; and

WHEREAS, It is not expedient to create an interim committee to perform duties which can more properly be conducted by the Standing Committee on Public Health and Safety; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Assembly Standing Committee on Public Health and Safety is hereby authorized to meet during any recess of the Regular Session of the Fifty-seventh Legislature at the State Capitol, or elsewhere in the State, and to ascertain, study and analyze all facts relating to any or all bills referred to it for consideration at this session, and to report thereon to the Assembly not later than April 1, 1947; and be it further

Resolved, That except as otherwise provided in this resolution the committee shall have the powers granted to investigating committees by the Joint Rules of the Senate and Assembly, as such rules are adopted, and as such rules are from time to time amended; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee or chairman thereof may create subcommittees from the membership of the committee, assigning to the subcommittee any study, inquiry, investigation, or hearing which the committee itself has authority to make or hold, and the subcommittee for the purpose of this assignment shall have and exercise all the powers conferred upon the committee, limited only by the resolution of the committee or order of the chairman defining the powers and duties of the subcommittee, which powers may be withdrawn or terminated at any time by the committee or the chairman thereof; and be it further

Resolved, That the sum of ten thousand dollars ($10,000) is hereby made available to the committee from the Contingent Fund of the Assembly for the expenses of the committee and its members in connection with its duties and for any charges, expenses or claims it may incur under this resolution, to be paid from the said contingent fund and disbursed, after certification by the chairman of the committee, upon warrants drawn by the State Controller upon the State Treasurer.

Resolution read.

CONSIDERATION OF HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 86 (BY UNANIMOUS CONSENT)

House Resolution No. 86

Relative to the creation of the Assembly Committee on Public Accountants

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, As follows:

1. The Assembly Committee on Public Accountants is hereby created and authorized and directed to ascertain, study and analyze all facts relating to public accountants, the law relating thereto, and the administration thereof including but not limited to the operation, effect, administration, enforcement and needed revision of any and all laws in any way bearing upon or relating to the subject of this resolution, and to report thereon to the Assembly, including in the reports its recommendations for appropriate legislation.

2. The committee shall consist of three Members of the Assembly appointed by the Speaker thereof. Vacancies occurring or existing in the membership of the committee shall be filled by the appointing power.

3. The committee is authorized to act during this session of the Legislature, including any recess, but not after final adjournment, with authority to file a report on or before March 15, 1947.

4. The committee and its members shall have and exercise all of the rights, duties and powers conferred upon investigating committees and their members by the provisions of the Joint Rules of the Senate and Assembly and of the Standing Rules of the Assembly as they are adopted and amended from time to time, which provisions are incorporated herein and made applicable to this committee and its members.

5. The committee has the following additional powers and duties:

(a) To select a chairman and a vice chairman from its membership.

(b) To contract with such other agencies, public or private, as it deems necessary for the rendition and affording of such services, facilities, studies and reports to the committee as will best assist it to carry out the purposes for which it is created

(c) To cooperate with and secure the cooperation of county, city, city and county, and other local law enforcement agencies in investigating any matter within the scope of this resolution and to direct the sheriff of any county to serve subpenas, orders and other process issued by the committee.

(d) To report its findings and recommendations to the Legislature and to the people from time to time and at any time, not later than herein provided

(e) To do any and all other things necessary or convenient to enable it fully and adequately to exercise its powers, perform its duties, and accomplish the objects and purposes of this resolution.

6. The sum of seven hundred fifty dollars ($750) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby made available from the Contingent Fund of the Assembly for the expenses of the committee and its members and for any charges, expenses or claims it may incur under this resolution, to be paid from the said contingent fund and disbursed, after certification by the chairman of the committee, upon warrants drawn by the State Controller upon the State Treasurer.

Resolution read.

By Mr. Kilpatrick:

The following communication was received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

OFFICE OF THE SHERIFF, COUNTY OF ALAMEDA
OAKLAND, February 4, 1947

Honorable Vernon Kilpatrick
Assemblyman, Fifty-fifth District
State Capitol, Sacramento, California

DEAR VERNON: May I take this means of expressing my appreciation and thanks for the very nice mention you gave our Alameda County Jail System, and also for your courtesy in furnishing me with a copy of the report.

I assure you that we will try to live up to the high standards that you mention in your report.

Sometime, at your convenience, I would like to invite you to visit our new county jail layout, which we call the Santa Rita Branch, and which formerly was the Shoemaker Disciplinary Barracks located on Highway 50 at the Santa Rita Road in Alameda County. I believe this eventually will be the finest institution of its kind in the United States.

Again, with many thanks, I am

Cordially yours,

H. P. GLEASON, Sheriff

The following communication was received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS

SACRAMENTO, January 31, 1947

Mr. Arthur A. Ohnimus, Chief Clerk of the Assembly
State Capitol, Sacramento, California

DEAR SIR: Herewith is a Report on Feasibility of a Proposed Joint Use Tehachapi Tunnel, which report has been prepared in accordance with House Resolution No. 67, adopted February 6, 1946.

Very truly yours,

C. H. PURCELL, Director

Above mentioned report ordered filed with the Secretary of State.

MOTION THAT TIME BE EXTENDED ON PRESENTATION OF REPORTS

Mr. Ralph C. Dills moved that all Assembly committees be permitted to present their reports by April 1st instead of March 15th.

Mr. Dickey seconded the motion.

Motion carried.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF APPOINTMENTS

Pursuant to the provisions of Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 14, which provides for a Joint Committee on the Survey of Angel Island, Speaker Collins announced the appointment of Messrs. McCollister, Chairman; Carey, and O'Day as members of said committee.

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolutions were offered:

By Messrs. Price, Geddes, Erwin, and Burke:

House Resolution No. 90

Relating to the memory of John R. Todd

WHEREAS, John R. Todd of Pomona, who in his daily life exemplified the finest attributes of one who is called citizen, neighbor, friend, husband and father, has been taken from those who knew and loved him suddenly and tragically; and

WHEREAS, John R. Todd was a business associate of our fellow member, R. Fred Price, and was a close personal friend of Assemblymen Ernest R. Geddes, Thomas M. Erwin, and Montivel A. Burke; and

WHEREAS, The kindly thoughtfulness of John R. Todd, his generosity, his deep interest and participation in civic affairs widened the circle of his friends far beyond the limits of his community; and

WHEREAS, John R. Todd is recognized on the rolls of many fraternal organizations and was a Past Master of Pomona Lodge No. 246, Free and Accepted Masons, Past Exalted Ruler of Pomona Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, Past Commander of Charles P. Rowe Post of the American Legion, Past President of Pomona Rotary Club, and a member and leader in the Methodist Church; and

WHEREAS, To Grace, the wife of John R. Todd, his sons, Richard and John, and his daughters, Peggy and Marion, we offer our heartfelt sympathy and ask for them the comfort that comes from our Heavenly Father; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That when the Assembly adjourns this day it do so out of respect for the memory for John R. Todd; and be it further Resolved, That a suitably engrossed copy of this resolution be prepared and transmitted to the family of John R. Todd.

Request for Unanimous Consent

Mr. Geddes asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent to take up House Resolution No. 90, at this time, without reference to committee or file.

Resolution read, and adopted unanimously.

By Messrs Grunsky, Silliman, Maloney, Allen, Anderson, Berry, Blosser, Boyd, Brady, Brown, Burke, Burns, Butters, Caldecott, Carey, Clarke, Collier, Sam L. Collins, George D. Collins, Conrad, Cooke, Cramer, Crichton, Crowley, Lester T. Davis, M. Philip Davis, Debs, Dickey, Clayton A. Dills, Ralph C. Dills, Dolwig, Doyle, Dunn, Erwin, Evans, Field, Fletcher, Gaffney, Gannon, Geddes, Grant, Hahn, Hawkins, Heisinger, Hinckley, Hollibaugh, Huyck, James, Johnson, Kilpatrick, Kirkwood, Loomis, Lowrey, Luckel, McCollister, McMillan, Miller, Mrs. Niehouse, Messrs. O'Day, Price, Robertson, Sheridan, Sherwin, Stanley, Stephenson, Stewart, Thomas, Thompson, Thorp, Thurman, Waters, Weber, and Wollenberg:

House Resolution No. 91

Relative to adjournment in respect to the memory of James B. Holohan

WHEREAS, In the death of James B. Holohan a great and colorful figure has passed from public life in California; and

WHEREAS, James B. Holohan was in all respects a true native son of California, displaying a typical love of orderly life in his successful agricultural endeavors, at the same time endowed with a readiness for action, violent action when the situation demanded, which made many experiences of his life read like a saga of the Old West; and

WHEREAS, Many of these incidents arose from his office in public life, as Sheriff of Santa Cruz County, or as United States Marshal for the Northern District of California, an appointment he held for 10 years, during which there occurred the famous trial in which enraged Hindus suddenly began to fight it out among themselves, turning the crowded courtroom momentarily into a turbulent scene of blazing guns and terror, until quelled by his own cool and unerring marksmanship; and

WHEREAS, James B. Holohan had a lifelong interest in public education and did much to improve the public schools of his community; and

WHEREAS, When James B. Holohan became Warden of San Quentin Prison he instituted an effective system of education for the prisoners, and sponsored other humane and enlightened methods of administration; and

WHEREAS, James B. Holohan was twice elected to the Senate of California, in 1908 from the Twenty-ninth District, and in 1936 for the Twenty-third District; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Members of the Assembly on behalf of the people of the State of California hereby give fitting recognition to the long and distinguished public service of James B. Holohan, and express profound regret upon the loss occasioned to the State of California by his death; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly transmit suitably prepared copies of this resolution, as an expression of the deep sympathy of the Members of this Assembly to the family of James B. Holohan: To his widow, Mrs. Helen Quilty Holohan, to his daughter, Josephine, and to his sister, Mrs. Edward E. Kelly; and be it further

Resolved, That when this Assembly this day adjourns it do so in respect to the memory of James B. Holohan

Request for Unanimous Consent That All Names Be Placed Upon House Resolution No. 91 as Co-Authors

Mr. Doyle asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent that the names of all members present be placed upon House Resolution No. 91 as co-authors.

Request for Unanimous Consent

Mr. Silliman asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent to take up House Resolution No. 91, at this time, without reference to committee or file.

Resolution read, and adopted unanimously by a rising vote.

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolution was offered:

By Messrs. M. Philip Davis, Huyck, and Waters:

House Resolution No. 92

Relative to the creation of the Assembly Committee on a World Trade Fair and War Memorial

WHEREAS, Proposals have been made for the establishment of a Permanent Annual Trade Exposition, including space therein for display by merchants, manufacturers and traders of the products of all countries interested in trade with our Country, and particularly the countries of Latin America and Asia, and with further provision for auditoriums and other facilities for commercial, educational and cultural use; and

WHEREAS, It appears that the establishment of such an Annual Trade Exposition in the Los Angeles area would appeal particularly to the Latin American nations and to all nations of the Pacific; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, As follows

1. The Assembly Committee on a World Trade Fair and War Memorial is hereby created and authorized and directed to ascertain, study and analyze all facts relating to a World Trade Fair and War Memorial in Los Angeles County and an Annual Trade Exposition in the Los Angeles area, including but not limited to the operation, effect, administration, enforcement and needed revision of any and all laws in any way bearing upon or relating to the subject of this resolution, and to report thereon to the Assembly, including in the reports its recommendations for appropriate legislation.

2. The committee shall consist of three Members of the Assembly appointed by the Speaker thereof. Vacancies occurring or existing in the membership of the committee shall be filled by the appointing power.

3. The committee is authorized to act during this session of the Legislature, including any recess, but not after the fifth legislative day following the constitutional recess.

4. The committee and its members shall have and exercise all of the rights, duties and powers conferred upon investigating committees and their members by the provisions of the Joint Rules of the Senate and Assembly and of the Standing Rules of the Assembly as they are adopted and amended from time to time, which provisions are incorporated herein and made applicable to this committee and its members.

5. The committee has the following additional powers and duties:

(a) To select a chairman and a vice chairman from its membership.

(b) To contract with such other agencies, public or private, as it deems necessary for the rendition and affording of such services, facilities, studies and reports to the committee as will best assist it to carry out the purposes for which it is created.

(c) To cooperate with and secure the cooperation of county, city, city and county, and other local law enforcement agencies in investigating any matter within the scope of this resolution and to direct the sheriff of any county to serve subpenas, orders and other process issued by the committee.

(d) To report its findings and recommendations to the Legislature and to the people from time to time and at any time, not later than herein provided.

(e) To do any and all other things necessary or convenient to enable it fully and adequately to exercise its powers, perform its duties, and accomplish the objects and purposes of this resolution.

6. The sum of five thousands dollars ($5.000) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby made available from the Contingent Fund of the Assembly for the expenses of the committee and its members and for any charges, expenses or claims it may incur under this resolution, to be paid from the said contingent fund and disbursed, after certification by the chairman of the committee, upon warrants drawn by the State Controller upon the State Treasurer.

Resolution read, and referred to the Committee on Rules.

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolution was offered:

By Messrs. Maloney, Dunn, and Gaffney:

House Resolution No. 93

Relative to the Building Trades Industries plan for industrial peace

WHEREAS, There has recently been concluded between the Building Construction Trades Department of the American Federation of Labor and the Associated General Contractors of America an agreement on a no strike and no lockout plan for settlement of all employer-labor differences arising in the Building Trades Industries; and

WHEREAS, The successful conclusion of these negotiations and the agreement reached represent efforts of a statesmanlike character on the part of all representatives participating, and stand as a symbol of industrial peace and of democracy in action; and

WHEREAS, These agreements mean uninterrupted work and production in these critical industries at a time when it is most needed, and the plan demonstrates that labor and management through collective bargaining can settle their differences and carry on their business in a manner best suited to serve the public interest; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That this Assembly, on behalf of the people of the State of California, hereby congratulates and commends the representatives of the Associated General Contractors of America and of the Building and Construction Trades Department of the American Federation of Labor, representing 19 unions, upon the successful negotiation of this agreement which will be a guide and an inspiration to both labor and management in other fields of industry to arrive at similar workable plans for the settlement of differences, obviating industrial strife and bringing production to the high level of efficiency and workmanship which has made the United States the industrial leader of the world; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly transmit copies of this resolution to those who signed the agreement on behalf of both labor and management: Herbert E. Foreman, Managing Director, and James D. Marshall, Assistant Managing Director of the Contractors' Association, and Richard Gray, President, and Herbert Rivers, Secretary-Treasurer, for the American Federation of Labor Building and Construction Trades Department.

CONSIDERATION OF FURTHER AMENDMENTS TO THE PROPOSED PERMANENT STANDING RULES (BY UNANIMOUS CONSENT)

Motion to Amend

Mr. George D. Collins moved the adoption of the following amendments:

Amendment No. 1

After Rule 102, insert:

Regulation of Lobbying

103. (1) When used in this rule:

(a) The term "contribution" includes a gift, subscription, loan, advance, or deposit of money or anything of value and includes a contract, promise, or agreement, whether or not legally enforceable, to make a contribution.

(b) The term "expenditure" includes a payment, distribution, loan, advance, deposit, or gift of money or anything of value, and includes a contract, promise, or agreement, whether or not legally enforceable, to make an expenditure.

(c) The term "person" includes an individual, partnership, committee, association, corporation, and any other organization or group of persons.

(d) The term "Secretary" means the Secretary of State of California.

(e) The term "legislation" means bills, resolutions, amendments, nominations, and other matters pending or proposed in either house of the Legislature, and includes any other matter which may be the subject of action by either house.

(2) (a) It shall be the duty of every person who shall in any manner solicit or receive a contribution to any organization or fund for the purposes hereinafter designated to keep a detailed and exact account of:

All contributions of any amount or of any value whatsoever;

The name and address of every person making any such contribution of $200 or more and the date thereof;

All expenditures made by or on behalf of such organization or fund; and

The name and address of every person to whom any such expenditure is made and the date thereof.

(b) It shall be the duty of such person to obtain and keep a receipted bill, stating the particulars, for every expenditure of such funds exceeding $10 in amount, and to preserve all receipted bills and accounts required to be kept by this section for a period of at least two years from the date of the filing of the statement containing such items.

(3) Every individual who receives a contribution of $200 or more for any of the purposes hereinafter designated shall within five days after receipt thereof render to the person or organization for which such contribution was received a detailed account thereof, including the name and address of the person making such contribution and the date on which received.

(4) (a) Every person receiving any contributions or expending any money for the purposes designated in subparagraph (a) or (b) of paragraph (6) shall file with the secretary between the first and tenth day of each calendar month, a statement containing complete as of the day next preceding the date of filing:

The name and address of each person who has made a contribution of two hundred dollars ($200) or more not mentioned in the preceding report; except that the first report filed pursuant to this title shall contain the name and address of each person who has made any contribution of two hundred dollars ($200) or more to such person since the effective date of this title;

The total sum of the contributions made to or for such person during the calendar year and not stated under the preceding paragraph;

The total sum of all contributions made to or for such person during the calendar year;

The name and address of each person to whom an expenditure in one or more items of the aggregate amount or value, within the calendar year, of ten dollars ($10) or more has been made by or on behalf of such person, and the amount, date, and purpose of such expenditure;

The total sum of all expenditures made by or on behalf of such person during the calendar year and not stated under the preceding paragraph;

The total sum of expenditures made by or on behalf of such person during the calendar year.

(b) The statements required to be filed by subparagraph (a) shall be cumulative during the calendar year to which they relate, but where there has been no change in an item reported in a previous statement only the amount need be carried forward.

(5) A statement required by this rule to be filed with the secretary:

(a) Shall be deemed properly filed when deposited in an established post office within the prescribed time, duly stamped, registered, and directed to the Secretary of State, State Capitol, Sacramento, California, but in the event it is not received, a duplicate of such statement shall be promptly filed upon notice by the secretary of its nonreceipt;

(b) Shall be preserved by the secretary for a period of two years from the date of filing, shall constitute part of the public records of his office, and shall be open to public inspection

(6) The provisions of this rule shall apply to any person (except a duly organized state or local committees of a political party), who by himself, or through any agent or employee or other persons in any manner whatsoever, directly or indirectly, solicits, collects, or receives money or any other thing of value to be used principally to aid, or the principal purpose of which person is to aid, in the accomplishment of any of the following purposes:

(a) The passage or defeat of any legislation by the Legislature of the State of California.

(b) To influence, directly or indirectly, the passage or defeat of any legislation by the Legislature of the State of California

(7) (a) Any person who shall engage himself for pay or for any consideration for the purpose of attempting to influence the passage or defeat of any legislation by the Legislature of the State of California shall, before doing anything in furtherance of such object, register with the Secretary of State and shall give to that officer in writing and under oath, his name and business address, the name and address of the person by whom he is employed, and in whose interest he appears or is to receive, by whom he is paid or is to be paid, how much he is to be paid for expenses, and what expenses are to be included Each such person so registering shall, between the first and tenth day of each calendar month, so long as his activity continues, file with the secretary a detailed report under oath of all money received and expended by him during the preceding calendar quarter in carrying on his work; to whom paid; for what purposes; and the names of any papers, periodicals, magazines, or other publications in which he has caused to be published any articles or editorials; and the proposed legislation he is employed to support or oppose. The provisions of this section shall not apply to any person who merely appears before a committee of the Senate or Assembly in support of or opposition to legislation; nor to any public official acting in his official capacity; nor in the case of any newspaper or other regularly published periodical (including any individual who owns, publishes, or is employed by any such newspaper or periodical) which in the ordinary course of business publishes news items, editorials, or other comments, or paid advertisements, which directly or indirectly urge the passage or defeat of legislation, if such newspaper, periodical, or individual, engages in no further or other activities in connection with the passage or defeat of such legislation, other than to appear before a committee of the Senate or Assembly in support of or in opposition to such legislation.

(b) All information required to be filed under the provisions of this section with the secretary shall be compiled by said secretary, as soon as practicable after the close of the calendar month with respect to which such information is filed and shall be printed in the Assembly Journal

(8) All reports and statements required under this title shall be made under oath, before an officer authorized by law to administer oaths.

(9) The Assembly Committee on Rules, on complaint by any Member of the Assembly, or on its own motion, shall investigate any alleged violation of this rule. If, after hearing, the committee determines that any person has violated this rule, such person shall be prohibited, for a period of_____from the date of such determination, from attempting to influence, directly or indirectly, the passage or defeat of any proposed legislation or from appearing before a committee of the Assembly in support of or opposition to proposed legislation"

House Resolution No. 92

Relative to the creation of the Assembly Committee on a World Trade Fair and War Memorial

WHEREAS, Proposals have been made for the establishment of a permanent annual trade exposition, including space therein for display by merchants, manufacturers and traders of the products of all countries interested in trade with our Country, and particularly the countries of Latin America and Asia, and with further provision for auditoriums and other facilities for commercial, educational and cultural use; and

WHEREAS, It appears that the establishment of such an annual trade exposition in the Los Angeles area would appeal particularly to the Latin American nations and to all nations of the Pacific; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, As follows:

1. The Assembly Committee on a World Trade Fair and War Memorial is hereby created and authorized and directed to ascertain, study and analyze all facts relating to a World Trade Fair and War Memorial in Los Angeles County and an annual trade exposition in the Los Angeles area, including but not limited to the operation, effect, administration, enforcement and needed revision of any and all laws in any way bearing upon or relating to the subject of this resolution, and to report thereon to the Assembly, including in the reports its recommendations for appropriate legislation.

2. The committee shall consist of three Members of the Assembly appointed by the Speaker thereof. Vacancies occurring or existing in the membership of the committee shall be filled by the appointing power.

3. The committee is authorized to act during this session of the Legislature, including any recess, but not after the fifth legislative day following the constitutional recess.

4. The committee and its members shall have and exercise all of the rights, duties and powers conferred upon investigating committees and their members by the provisions of the Joint Rules of the Senate and Assembly and of the Standing Rules of the Assembly as they are adopted and amended from time to time, which provisions are incorporated herein and made applicable to this committee and its members.

5. The committee has the following additional powers and duties:

(a) To select a chairman and vice chairman from its membership.

(b) To contract with such other agencies, public or private, as it deems necessary for the rendition and affording of such services, facilities, studies and reports to the committee as will best assist it to carry out the purposes for which it is created,

(c) To cooperate with and secure the cooperation of county, city, city and county, and other local law enforcement agencies in investigating any matter within the scope of this resolution and to direct the sheriff of any county to serve subpenas, orders and other process issued by the committee

(d) To report its findings and recommendations to the Legislature and to the people from time to time and at any time, not later than herein provided.

(e) To do any and all other things necessary or convenient to enable it fully and adequately to exercise its powers, perform its duties, and accomplish the objects and purposes of this resolution.

6 The sum of one thousand five hundred dollars ($1,500) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby made available from the Contingent Fund of the Assembly for the expenses of the committee and its members and for any charges, expenses or claims it may incur under this resolution, to be paid from the said contingent fund and disbursed, after certification by the chairman of the committee, upon warrants drawn by the State Controller upon the State Treasurer.

Resolution read.

PERMANENT STANDING RULES OF THE ASSEMBLY FOR THE FIFTY-SEVENTH SESSION, 1947-1948

SECTION 1

LEGISLATIVE ORGANIZATION

Assignment of Desks to Members

1. Members shall be assigned to desks by the Chief of the Bureau of Buildings and Grounds, subject to change by the Committee on Rules, and, as far as possible, he shall conform to the requests of members, giving due consideration to their seniority in point of service in the Assembly.

Hours of Meeting

2. The session of Assembly, prior to the constitutional recess, shall be daily, beginning at 10 o'clock a.m. (Sundays excepted), unless otherwise ordered by a majority vote of the members present.

Following the constitutional recess, the Assembly shall meet promptly at 9.30 o'clock a.m., daily (Sundays excepted), unless otherwise ordered by a majority vote of the members present.

RULES

Adoption of Standing Rules

3. The adoption of the Standing Rules shall require an affirmative recorded vote of a majority of the entire elected membership. When once adopted, such Standing Rules shall remain in effect, unless suspended or amended as provided in these Rules.

Suspension of Rules

4. Any standing rule of the Assembly may be suspended temporarily by a vote of two-thirds of the members present; provided, that such temporary suspension shall apply only to the matter under immediate consideration, and in no case shall it extend beyond an adjournment.

Amending Standing Rules

5. No standing rule of the Assembly shall be amended except by an affirmative recorded vote of a majority of the entire elected membership of the Assembly, and one day's notice must be given on the motion thereof.

Temporary Rules

6. The Committee on Rules may at any time report a temporary rule. Upon adoption by an affirmative recorded vote of two-thirds of the entire elected membership of the Assembly, such temporary rule shall have the effect, for the time being, of a standing rule. If such temporary rule shall be in conflict with a standing rule, it shall supersede such standing rule only for the time being.

Parliamentary Rules

7. In all cases not provided for by the Constitution, by the Assembly Rules, or by the Joint Rules of the Senate and Assembly, the authority shall be Mason's Manual of Legislative Procedure.

Standing Committees

Standing Committees

8. For their convenient functioning and in furtherance of the thorough consideration of all bills on a given subject, the several standing committees of the Assembly are respectively grouped into the following categories:

A. LEGISLATURE:

Two committees to consider legislative organization, functions and procedure:

Committee on Rules

There is a Committee on Rules, No. 1, which shall act as an executive committee of the House having the following powers:

To recommend the appointment of all attaches and employees of the Assembly not otherwise provided for by statute. It shall have authority to suspend, with or without pay, any such attache or employee for incompetency or dereliction of duty, pending final action by the Assembly.

The Committee on Rules shall for the purpose of Joint Rule No. 2 be deemed to be the Rules Committee of the Assembly.

Committee on Legislative Procedure

There is a Committee on Legislative Procedure, No. 2, which shall have and exercise the following powers:

To be the Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment within the meaning of the Joint Rules. It shall be the duty of the Committee on Legislative Procedure to compare all bills, ordered or considered engrossed by the Assembly, with the engrossed copies thereof; and, before they pass out of the possession of the Assembly, see that the engrossed bill is a true copy of the original, with such amendments as may have been made thereto; and said committee shall see that all engrossed bills are reported back in the order in which they were ordered engrossed. The report of the Committee on Legislative Procedure shall be in order at any time.

To consider and report on bills introduced after the constitutional recess.

To assist the Speaker, upon his request, in recommending the reference of bills to the appropriate standing committees.

Twenty-five standing committees of the Assembly are hereby created, upon the several subjects, and numbered respectively, as follows:

1. Rules.
2. Legislative Procedure.
3. Conservation, Planning and Public Works.
4. Fish and Game.
5. Governmental Efficiency and Economy.
6. Revenue and Taxation.
7. Ways and Means.
8. Education.
9. Crime and Correction.
10. Public Morals.
11. Public Health.
12. Social Welfare.
13. Civil Service and State Personnel.
14. Military Affairs.
15. Municipal and County Government.
16. Elections and Reapportionment.
17. Judiciary.
18. Constitutional Amendments.
19. Agriculture.
20. Livestock and Dairies.
21. Public Utilities and Corporations.
22. Manufacturing, Oil, and Mining Industry.
23. Industrial Relations.
24. Finance and Insurance.
25. Transportation and Commerce.

Prior to the assignment of members to serve on the several standing committees, the Speaker shall consider the preferences of the members with regard to committee assignments, while keeping in view the practical necessity of making assignments so that members will not serve on more than one committee which meets at the same time, and the Speaker thereafter shall determine the number and members to serve on each standing committee. Upon publication in the Journal of the number of members on each standing committee, no further change in the number of members of the committee shall be made otherwise than by a majority vote of the elected membership of the Assembly.

No Member of the Assembly shall be a member of more than three standing committees except that upon appointment by the Speaker or the approval of the House a member may serve on four committees.

There shall be published weekly in the Assembly Weekly History during each session of the Legislature a chart showing the Rational Organization of the Standing Committees of the Assembly and showing Chairman and Vice Chairman, Number of Members, Time of Meeting, Room Number, Total Number of Measures, "referred" and "action pending," and a meeting schedule for each day of the week.

Motions to Change Membership or Numbers of Standing Committees

9. A motion proposing to increase or diminish the membership of a standing committee or the number of standing committees, shall not be considered until the same shall have been referred to and approved by the Committee on Rules.

SECTION 2

HOUSE FUNCTIONS

Duties of Assembly Officers

Duties of the Speaker

10. The Speaker shall possess the powers and perform the duties prescribed:

(a) To preserve order and decorum; he may speak to points of order in preference to the other members, rising from his chair for that purpose.

(b) To decide all questions of order subject to appeal to the Assembly by any member. On every appeal, he shall have the right to assign his reason for his decision.

(c) To have general direction over the Assembly Chamber and rooms set aside for the use of the Assembly, including the rooms for use by members as private offices.

(d) To name any member to perform the duties of the Speaker, but such substitutions shall not extend beyond adjournment.

(e) To appoint the membership of all standing and special committees, and their respective chairmen and vice chairmen.

(f) To propose a schedule of meetings of standing committees.

(g) To have general control and direction over the Journals, papers, and bills of the Assembly.

(h) To act as Chairman of the Committee of the Whole.

(i) To order the Lobby and Gallery cleared whenever he shall deem it necessary.

(j) To assign desks to properly accredited newspaper representatives.

(k) To authenticate by his signature, when necessary, or when required by law, all bills, memorials, resolutions, orders, proceedings, writs, warrants, and subpenas issued by order of the Assembly.

(l) The Speaker shall be ex officio member of all Assembly, joint, and interim committees with all of the rights and privileges of such membership, except the right to vote. In counting a quorum of any such committees, the Speaker shall not be counted as a member.

Duties of the Speaker Pro Tempore

11. The Speaker pro Tempore shall have the powers and perform the duties of the Speaker during his absence.

Duties of the Chief Clerk

12. The duties of the Chief Clerk shall be as follows:

(a) To have charge of and supervise all clerical business and printing of the Assembly.

(b) To see that the Journals, other publications, and records of the Assembly are properly kept.

(c) To refuse to permit any records or papers to be taken from the desk or out of his custody, except upon duly signed receipts from persons authorized.

(d) To read or allow his assistants to read from the desk only such matters as the Speaker of the Assembly shall direct.

(e) To have general supervision over all clerks, attaches and employees, and to be responsible for their official acts and their performance of and regular attendance upon their duties.

(f) To suspend temporarily any clerk, attache, or employee for incompetency or dereliction of duty, pending action by the Committee on Rules.

(g) To perform all other duties pertaining to his office as prescribed by law or Assembly rule.

(h) Before the commencement of any regular session of the Legislature the Chief Clerk of the Assembly may mail to each member a blank form on which the member may indicate his committee preferences. Accompanying such blank shall be mailed a stamped envelope addressed to the Chief Clerk of the Assembly for returning such form. After their receipt, all such communications shall be delivered to the Chairman of the Interim Committee on Legislative Organization, if such a committee has been created, who shall deliver them to the Speaker immediately upon the organization of the Assembly.

(i) To certify to the Controller, pay rolls of members and attaches.

(j) To certify all requisitions upon the Controller for the payment of bills incurred by the Assembly.

(k) To order and sign for all documents and printing, subject to approval by the Speaker or the Chairman of the Committee on Rules.

Duties of the Sergeant-at-Arms

13. The duties of the Sergeant-at-Arms shall be as follows:

(a) To attend the Assembly during its session, preserve order, announce all official messengers, and serve all processes issued by authority of the Assembly and directed by the Speaker; he shall receive his actual expenses for himself or for an assistant when executing any such process.

(b) To see that no person is admitted to the Assembly Chamber except in accordance with the provisions of these rules.

(c) To have general supervision over the Assistant Sergeants-at-Arms and be responsible for their official acts and their performance of and regular attendance upon their duties.

(d) To suspend temporarily any Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms for incompetency or dereliction of duty, pending action by the Committee on Rules.

(e) To execute all commands of the Speaker.

(f) To perform all other duties pertaining to his office as prescribed by law or Assembly rule.

Printing

Authority for Printing

14. The State Printer shall not charge any printing or other work to the Assembly other than provided by law or Assembly rule, except upon a written order signed by the Chief Clerk of the Assembly and countersigned by the Chairman of the Committee on Rules or by the Speaker, and delivered to him prior to beginning such printing or work. All invoices for printing furnished the Assembly shall be itemized and rendered by the State Printer within 30 days after completion of said printing. When necessary, the Chief Clerk may order certain printed matter completed in advance of its regular order by the issuance of a rush order.

Printing Style, Form and Amount to Be Printed

15. Unless otherwise restricted by law or by Assembly rule, the style and form of all printing, the quality of paper to be used, the number of copies to be printed of each order, and the number of copies to be delivered to each member shall be decided by the Chief Clerk and approved by the Speaker or the Chairman of the Committee on Rules. All requests by members for additional copies of bills, documents, or other printed matter shall be referred to the Committee on Rules.

Printing Assembly History

16. The Chief Clerk shall cause to be compiled and printed during the constitutional recess a Legislative Handbook and a Semi-Final Assembly History, together with an index, setting forth a complete History showing all actions on bills, constitutional amendments, concurrent, joint, and House resolutions prior to the constitutional recess.

During the remainder of the session, the Chief Clerk shall cause to be printed and placed upon each member's desk prior to convening on Monday of each week, a complete history showing all actions taken upon each measure up to and including the legislative day preceding its issuance. For each legislative day intervening between the issuance of such Weekly History, there shall be printed a Daily Supplemental History showing only actions taken upon any measure since the issuance of the preceding Weekly History.

Printing of Maps

17. Maps or charts accompanying documents other than bills shall not be printed without special authority from the Assembly by a majority vote of its entire elected membership.

Miscellaneous

Admission to Assembly Chamber

18. Persons admitted to the Assembly Chamber, other than members and attaches, shall not be permitted to stand in the lobby in the rear of the Assembly Chamber while the Assembly is in session, but shall be required to occupy the seats provided for them.

Use of Assembly Chamber

19. The Assembly Chamber shall not be used for any public or private business other than legislative matters during the sessions of the Legislature, except by consent of a majority of the entire elected membership of the Assembly.

Persons Admitted to Floor of the Assembly

20. No person other than members, officers, attaches, employees of the Legislature, former Members of the Legislature, and accredited members of the press shall be admitted to the floor of the Assembly during any session of the Assembly; provided, that a guest of any member shall be admitted upon presentation of a guest card of said member countersigned by the Speaker, such guest card being valid only on the legislative day for which it was issued.

All guests shall be seated only in the chairs in back of the rail in the rear of the Assembly Chamber and shall not be permitted to sit at the desks of the members while the Assembly is in session. No person other than an accredited newspaper representative shall be permitted to sit at the press desks. A special section in the balcony shall be reserved for those holding guest cards.

Lobbying in the Assembly Chamber

21. All persons appearing or being, or desiring to appear or be, at or in the Assembly Chamber, or at or in any committee room of the Assembly for the purpose of advocating the adoption or defeat of any bill, measure, or resolution introduced in, pending before, or being considered by the Assembly or by any committee thereof, or for the purpose of soliciting the vote of any Member of the Assembly upon any such bill, measure, or resolution, shall register with the Sergeant-at-Arms his name and address, together with a statement of the person or persons, corporation or corporations, or interest represented by or intended to be represented by him, and shall file with the Sergeant-at-Arms his written authority to represent such person, corporation, or interest; and thereupon the Sergeant-at-Arms shall issue to such person a certificate that he has so registered in conformity with this rule, which certificate shall be exhibited to the chairman of a committee upon request. A complete record of all persons so registered, together with their respective addresses and the persons, corporations, or interest represented by them, shall be kept and preserved by the Sergeant-at-Arms, and shall be open at all times to public inspection.

This rule shall not apply to members of either house of the Legislature, to elected state officers, or to individuals of the State of California appearing in their own interest or behalf who are not representing any group, organization, or corporation.

No person shall appear at or enter the Assembly Chamber, or any committee room of the Assembly, for the purpose of advocating the adoption or defeat of any bill, measure, or resolution, without first having registered and secured the certificate, as herein provided.

No person engaged in presenting to the Assembly or its committees any business, or claim, or legislation, shall be permitted to engage in such business in the Assembly Chamber, or be permitted on the floor of the Assembly at any time while the Assembly is in session except those enumerated above; and any person transgressing this rule shall be removed from the floor of the Assembly and be debarred from the privilege of the floor during the remainder of the entire session. The Speaker is charged with the enforcement of this rule. This rule cannot be suspended except by a two-thirds vote of the entire elected membership of the Assembly.

Smoking in Assembly Chamber

22. Smoking may be prohibited temporarily during any session of Assembly by a majority vote of the members present.

Fees for Witnesses

23. Each witness summoned to appear before the Assembly or any of its committees shall receive the sum of ten dollars ($10) for each day such witness shall be required to appear, and the sum of five and one-half cents ($0.05½) for each mile he shall travel in coming to and going from the place of examination.

Press Privileges

24. Newspaper correspondents desiring Assembly press cards and privileges shall make written application to the Speaker. The Assembly by a majority vote of the members present may revoke any press card.

The Speaker shall assign the Assembly press desks to accredited newspaper representatives authenticated by the standing committee of the Capitol Correspondents' Association; also the necessary rooms for the exclusive use of such accredited press representatives.

SECTION 3

LEGISLATIVE PROCEDURE

Speaker to Call Assembly to Order

25. The Speaker, or in his absence the Speaker pro Tempore, shall, at the hour appointed for meeting, call the Assembly to order. In the absence of both the Speaker and the Speaker pro Tempore, the Chief Clerk, or his assistant, shall call the Assembly to order, whereupon a temporary chairman shall be elected from among the members to preside.

The functions of the temporary chairman shall terminate upon return of the Speaker or Speaker pro Tempore.

Roll Call and Quorum

26. Before proceeding with the business of the Assembly, the roll of the members shall be called, and the names of those present shall be entered in the Journal. A majority of all the members elected to the Assembly shall constitute a quorum.

Order of Business

27. The order of business of the Assembly shall be as follows:

1. Roll Call
2. Prayer by the Chaplain
3. Reading of the Previous Day's Journal
4. Presentation of Petitions
5. Introduction and Reference of Bills
6. Reports of Committees
7. Second Reading of Bills
8. Messages from the Governor
9. Messages from the Senate
10. Motions and Resolutions
11. Business on the Daily File
12. Announcements
13. Adjournment

28. On each Monday morning during the session, following the prayer by the Chaplain, the Members of the Assembly and its officers, attaches, and employees present in the Assembly Chamber shall pledge their allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America.

Reading, Correcting and Approving Journal

29. a. The reading of the Journal of the previous day may be dispensed with on motion by a majority of the members present.

b. All Journals of the Assembly shall be corrected by the Minute Clerk and delivered by him to the Chief Clerk within seven calendar days from the date of such Journal. Such corrected Journals may thereafter be approved by a majority vote of the members present.

c. A motion to correct any day's Journal shall be in order prior to the approval by the Assembly of such day's Journal. The approval of the Journal shall require a majority vote of the members present.

Presentation of Petitions

30. Whenever petitions, memorials, or other papers are presented by a member, a brief statement of the contents thereof may be made verbally by the introducer. Petitions are not debatable and shall be filed, or be referred to a committee as the Speaker shall determine. Mention of receipt of such presentation and its disposition shall be entered on the Journal.

Upon receipt of a petition for the impeachment of any person subject to impeachment by the Legislature, the Speaker shall, without comment or debate, forthwith refer such petition to committee.

Messages From the Governor

31. Messages from the Governor shall be delivered to the Chief Clerk or an assistant, and shall be read and ordered printed on the Journal unless otherwise ordered by the Speaker or by a majority vote of the members present.

Messages From the Senate

32. Messages from the Senate shall be delivered to the Chief Clerk or an assistant, and shall be read and ordered printed on the Journal. The Speaker shall forthwith refer to the proper committee all Senate bills accompanying such messages, which reference shall be entered in the Journal. Assembly bills which have been passed without amendment by the Senate shall be ordered to enrollment.

Assembly bills amended by the Senate shall be ordered placed upon the unfinished business file.

Bills

Bills Defined

33. Whenever the word "bill" is used in these Rules, it shall include constitutional amendments, concurrent and joint resolutions, except as otherwise specifically provided.

Introduction and Reference of Bills

34. Each bill shall be signed by the member, or each of the members, who is an author of the bill before it is introduced. If any bill is introduced which does not contain the signature of such author or co-author, the same, on motion of the member whose name appears thereon without such signature, shall be stricken from the file by a recorded vote of a majority of the elected membership. In each legislative session, on the first day when bills are introduced under "Introduction and Reference of Bills," the roll shall be called from A to Z and then back from Z to A, and as each member's name is called, he may introduce one bill, constitutional amendment, concurrent or joint resolution.

After these two roll calls, any member desiring to introduce bills, constitutional amendments, concurrent and joint resolutions may at any time during a session send the same to the Clerk's desk.

When received at the Clerk's desk it shall, under the proper order of business, be numbered, read the first time, referred to a standing committee, be printed, and a copy placed upon the desk of each member.

All bills, constitutional amendments, concurrent and joint resolutions introduced before the standing committees of the Assembly are appointed, shall be referred to committees, references to take effect when the committees shall be appointed.

Reference of Bills to Committee

35. Immediately following its first reading, the Speaker shall refer each bill to a committee, unless upon a motion the Assembly, by a majority vote of its entire elected membership, shall refer it to some other committee. Such motion to refer a bill shall not be debatable.

Should several different committees be proposed, preference shall be given as follows:

1. Committee of the Whole.
2. Standing Committee.
3. Special Committee.

Examining of Bills by Legislative Counsel Bureau

36. After introduction, all bills shall be delivered to the Legislative Counsel for the purpose of determining if the bill is in the proper form as prescribed by law or Assembly rule.

If, in the opinion of the Legislative Counsel, any correction made by him under the authority of this rule should in any manner be construed to be a change in the bill other than a change in form, he shall obtain the consent of the author of the bill before making such change.

Immediately upon the completion of the check of the bills referred to the Legislative Counsel in accordance with the provisions of this rule, he shall deliver the bills to the State Printer. Under no circumstances shall the Legislative Counsel retain in his possession any bills referred to him under the provisions of this rule for any period longer than two legislative days.

Introduction of Bills After Constitutional Recess

37. Any member requesting permission to introduce a bill, except a resolution or constitutional amendment, after the constitutional recess shall send such request together with the bill to the Clerk's desk, and it shall be referred by the Speaker to the Committee on Legislative Procedure. The committee shall ascertain if the granting of such request will exceed the limitations as set forth in Section 2 of Article IV of the Constitution, and if it will not, shall report back on the same legislative day each bill so referred to it. The adoption of the report of the committee granting permission to introduce any bill shall require an affirmative recorded vote of three-fourths of all members elected to the Assembly.

Standing Committee Functions

Standing Committee Rules

38. The Rules of the Assembly shall govern the conduct of all committee meetings. Each committee may adopt, by a majority vote of its entire membership, such additional rules as it may deem necessary for the conduct of any business referred to such committee.

A majority of the committee members present may order a call of the committee.

Meetings of Standing Committees

39. All standing committees shall meet at the hour and the place provided by schedule, unless otherwise ordered by the Assembly. No committee shall meet during any session of the Assembly without first obtaining permission from the Assembly.

Every scheduled committee meeting shall be open to the public, unless the committee, by a majority vote of its entire membership, shall order an executive session.

Committee Quorum

40. A majority of the membership of any standing committee shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of its business, including the adoption of any amendments to any bill. At least a majority of all members constituting such committee shall be required to report a bill out of committee.

Bills Reported Back to Assembly

41. All committees shall act upon bills referred to them as soon as practicable, and when acted upon each bill shall be reported back to the Assembly forthwith, and the chairman of each committee is charged with the observance of this rule.

Reports of Committees

42. Reports of standing and special committees shall be delivered to the Chief Clerk or an assistant, and shall be read and ordered printed in the Journal unless otherwise ordered by the Speaker or a majority vote of the members present.

Signing Bills Out of Committee

43. No bill shall be signed out of committee unless the committee has failed to hold a meeting on two consecutive scheduled dates, or having so met, has failed to have a quorum present for the transaction of business.

Committee of the Whole

44. The Assembly may resolve itself into a Committee of the Whole at any time by a majority vote of the members present. While sitting as such committee, persons other than members may address the committee. The Speaker of the Assembly, or any member named by the Speaker, shall preside as Chairman of the Committee of the Whole.

A motion that the Committee of the Whole "do now rise and report back to the Assembly," shall always be in order, and shall be decided without debate. All actions of the Committee of the Whole shall be reported to the Assembly by the chairman, but shall not be entered in the Journal except upon motion and a majority vote of the members present.

Committee on Ways and Means

45. The Committee on Ways and Means shall consider all bills to appropriate money other than contingent expenses of the Assembly. Any bill which requires the expenditure of state moneys or affects the appropriation or the disbursement of same in any manner must be considered by the Committee on Ways and Means previous to its passage.

Committee Expenditures

46. No member or committee shall be permitted to incur any expense without first receiving the consent of the Assembly, except that the Chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means shall be allowed his actual expenses for the performance of any duties of his office during the constitutional recess.

Reports of Interim Committees

47. All interim committees, unless otherwise authorized, shall report to the next succeeding Legislature on or before the fortieth day after the convening thereof.

Passage of Bills

Daily File

48. There shall be printed an Assembly Daily File for each legislative day following the constitutional recess, or at any time prior thereto when ordered by the Speaker. The Committee on Rules shall have charge of the Daily File of the Assembly. The following listing shall constitute the order of the Daily File.

1. Special Orders of the Day
2. Second Reading, Assembly Bills
3. Second Reading, Senate Bills
4. Unfinished Business
5. Third Reading, Assembly Bills
6. Third Reading, Senate Bills

All bills on the Daily File shall be called for consideration in the order of their listing, unless otherwise ordered by unanimous consent or an affirmative vote of two-thirds of the members present.

Record of Bills

49. The Chief Clerk shall cause to be kept a permanent record of every action taken by the Assembly on every bill, and the date of such action. Every such action and the date thereof shall also be endorsed upon such bill.

Second Reading of Bills

50. All bills shall be read the second time in the order of their appearance upon the second reading file. Upon second reading, Assembly bills reported without amendments shall be ordered engrossed, and Senate bills reported without amendments shall be ordered to third reading.

Committee Amendments

51. Committee amendments reported with bills shall be considered upon their second reading and such amendments may be adopted by a majority vote of the members present. Assembly bills so amended shall be ordered reprinted and engrossed, and Senate bills so amended shall be ordered reprinted and to third reading.

Amendments From the Floor

52. Any member may move to amend a bill during its second or third reading and such motion to amend may be adopted by a majority vote of the members present.

Before debate an extra copy of the proposed amendment must be delivered to the Clerk's desk and made available to the author of the bill. Bills so amended on second reading shall be treated the same as committee amendments. Any bill so amended upon second or third reading shall be reprinted and re-engrossed. The Chief Clerk shall order printed not to exceed 1,000 copies of all amended bills.

Consideration of Constitutional Amendments, Concurrent and Joint Resolutions

53. Constitutional amendments, concurrent and joint resolutions may be amended by a majority of the members present and shall be treated the same as bills, except that they shall be read but once. The ayes and noes shall not be called upon the adoption of concurrent resolutions, except those presenting charter amendments or authorizing expenditures of money, unless regularly demanded or required by statute or by the Constitution.

Bills Transmitted to the Senate

54. Upon the final passage of any bill if no notice of motion to reconsider such bill be given, the Speaker shall order the bill transmitted to the Senate under signature of the Chief Clerk. Senate bills refused passage shall forthwith be returned to the Senate under similar signature.

Bills Considered During Last Seven Days

55. No Assembly bill shall be passed by the Assembly within seven calendar days previous to the time set for adjournment sine die of the Legislature, except upon recommendation of the Speaker and permission to consider and vote on such bill being granted by a recorded vote of three-fourths of the entire elected membership of the Assembly.

Concurrence in Senate Amendments

56. It shall require the same affirmative recorded vote to concur in any Senate amendment to an Assembly bill as the vote required by the Constitution for the passage of such bill. It shall require an affirmative recorded vote of two-thirds of the entire elected membership of the Assembly to concur in any Senate amendment to an Assembly bill which contains an item or items of appropriation subject to reduction or elimination under the provisions of Section 34a of Article IV of the Constitution. The vote on concurrence shall be deemed the vote upon final passage of such bill. When Senate amendments to an Assembly bill are concurred in, the bill shall be forthwith ordered enrolled, and the Chief Clerk shall notify the Senate of such concurrence.

Nonconcurrence in Senate Amendments

57. If the Assembly refuse to concur in Senate amendments to an Assembly bill, and when notified that the Senate has refused to concur in Assembly amendments to a Senate bill, the Speaker shall appoint a committee of three (3) on conference, and the Chief Clerk shall immediately notify the Senate of the action taken by the Assembly and request the appointment of a like committee.

Committee on Conference

58. The Speaker, in appointing a committee on conference, shall select two members from those voting with the majority on the point about which the difference has arisen, and the other member from the minority, in the event there is a minority vote.

59. The Chairman of the Senate committee on conference for the same bill shall arrange the time and place of meeting of such committee. It shall require an affirmative vote of not less than four of the members constituting the committee on conference to agree upon a report, and the report shall be submitted to both the Senate and the Assembly. Such report is not subject to amendment, and if either house refuses to adopt such report, the conferees shall be discharged and other conferees appointed. No member who has served on a committee on conference shall be appointed a member of another committee on conference on the same bill. The presentation and consideration of any report of a committee on conference shall always be in order, except during a roll call or when a member has the floor. It shall require the same affirmative recorded vote to adopt any conference report as required by the Constitution upon the final passage of the bill affected by such report. It shall require an affirmative recorded vote of two-thirds of the entire elected membership of the Assembly to adopt any conference report affecting any Assembly bill which contains an item or items of appropriation which are subject to reduction or elimination under the provisions of Section 34a of Article IV of the Constitution.

The vote on concurrence or upon the adoption of such conference report by the Assembly shall be deemed the vote upon final passage of such bill.

Engrossing and Enrolling Bills

60. The Engrossing and Enrolling Clerk shall engross and enroll all bills which shall come to his hands for such purposes, in compliance with the provisions of Section 9503 of the Government Code, and in the order of time in which the same shall be acted upon by the Assembly.

Enrollment

61. After final passage by both houses, any Assembly bill not amended by the Senate shall be forthwith ordered by the Speaker to be enrolled, as provided in Sections 9508 and 9509 of the Government Code. The Committee on Legislative Procedure shall report both the day and the hour each enrolled bill is presented to the Governor, which report shall be entered in the Journal.

SECTION 4

PARLIAMENTARY PROCEDURE

Motions and Questions

Precedence of Motions During Debate

62. When a question is under debate or before the Assembly, no motions shall be received but the following, which shall take precedence in the order named:

First—To adjourn;
Second—To recess to a time certain;
Third—To lay on the table;
Fourth—For the previous question;
Fifth—To set as a special order;
Sixth—To postpone indefinitely;
Seventh—To refer or re-refer;
Eighth—To amend.

Questions of Order Decided Without Debate

63. All incidental questions of order, arising after a motion is made for any of the questions named in Rule 38 and pending such motion, shall be decided by the Speaker without debate, whether on appeal or otherwise.

Appeal From Decision of the Speaker

64. Any member may appeal from a decision of the Speaker without waiting for recognition by the Speaker, even though another member has the floor. No appeal is in order when another is pending, or when other business has been transacted by the Assembly prior to the appeal being taken.

Upon the appeal being seconded, the Speaker may give his reasons for the decision, and the member taking the appeal may give his reasons for making his appeal, and the Speaker shall forthwith put this question to the Assembly: "Shall the decision of the Speaker be sustained?"

An appeal can not be amended and yields only to a motion to recess or adjourn, to lay on the table, or a question of personal privilege. If an appeal be laid on the table, such action shall have no effect on the pending question.

An appeal can not be debated when relating to indecorum, transgression of Rules, or priority of business. A majority vote of the members present shall decide any appeal.

Speaker Explains Order of Business

65. The Speaker may, on his own motion or upon the motion of any Member of the Assembly, explain the order of business when the motion pending before the Assembly is not debatable. Such explanation is not to consume more than two minutes.

To Adjourn

66. A motion to adjourn is not debatable and can not be amended, and is always in order, except (a) when another member has the floor; (b) when the Assembly is voting; (c) during a call of the Assembly. The name of any member moving an adjournment and also the hour at which the motion was made and adjournment taken shall be entered in the Journal. A motion to adjourn must be adopted by a majority vote of the members present.

When a motion to adjourn is made and seconded, it shall be in order for the Speaker, before putting the question, to permit any member to state to the Assembly any fact relating to the condition of the business of the Assembly which would seem to render it improper or inadvisable to adjourn. A statement shall not occupy more than two minutes and shall not be debatable.

To Recess to a Time Certain

67. A motion to recess to a time certain shall be treated the same as a motion to adjourn, except that such motion is debatable when no business is before the Assembly, and can be amended as to the time and duration of the recess. It yields only to a motion to adjourn.

To Lay on the Table

68. A motion to lay on the table is not debatable and cannot be amended.

A motion to table a bill, constitutional amendment, concurrent or joint resolution requires a majority vote of the entire elected membership.

Any motion to lay on the table, if carried by a majority vote of the entire elected membership, carries with it the main question and everything that adheres to it; provided, however, that a motion to lay an amendment on the table, if adopted, does not carry with it a bill, constitutional amendment, concurrent, joint, or House resolution.

A motion to lay an amendment on the table may be adopted by a majority vote of the members present.

The Previous Question

69. The previous question shall be put only when demanded by five members, and in this form: "Shall the question be now put?" And its effect, when sustained by a majority of the members present, shall be to put an end to all debate and bring the House to a vote only on the question then pending; except that the proponent of the matter pending shall be allowed not to exceed five minutes to close the debate.

Motion to Set Special Order

70. A motion to set any matter before the Assembly as a special order of business must be adopted by a two-thirds vote of the members elected. It is debatable only as to the propriety of setting the main question as a special order of business, and may be amended only as to the time.

Motion to Postpone to a Time Certain

71. A motion to postpone to a time certain shall be deemed and treated as a motion to set as a special order.

Motion to Postpone Indefinitely

72. When a motion is made to postpone indefinitely any bill, motion, or amendment, it opens the main question to debate. Should the motion to postpone indefinitely prevail by a majority vote of the entire elected membership, the main question shall not be acted upon again during the session.

Motion to Amend

73. A motion to amend may itself be amended, but no "amendment to an amendment" can be amended. A motion to amend is debatable, except where the main question to be amended is not debatable. Any motion to amend may be adopted by a majority vote of the members present.

A motion to amend having been decided in the negative, shall not again be in order on the same day, or at the same stage of proceeding. A motion to amend by striking out certain words having been decided in the negative, shall not preclude a motion to amend by adding words, or a motion to amend by striking out and inserting words; but in no case shall a further amendment be substantially the same as the one rejected.

Subject to the above provisions of this rule, a motion to amend is in order during the second or third reading of any bill.

A motion to lay an amendment on the table may be adopted by a majority vote of the members present, as provided in Rule 68.

Amendment to Be Germane

74. No amendment to any bill, whether reported by a committee or offered by a member, shall be in order when such amendment relates to a different subject, or is intended to accomplish a different purpose, or requires a title essentially different from the original title of any bill.

No amendment shall be in order which adds or deletes the name of a member as an author or co-author, or which changes the original number of any bill.

Substitute Motion

75. A motion to substitute shall be deemed and treated as a motion to amend.

Motions in Writing

76. Upon request of the Speaker all motions shall be reduced to writing and shall be read by the Speaker before the same are acted upon.

Constitution of Motions

77. No motion, whether oral or written, shall be adopted until the same shall be seconded and distinctly stated to the Assembly by the Speaker.

Division of Questions

78. Any member may call for a division of the question, and the Speaker shall order the question divided if it comprehend propositions in substance so distinct that, one being taken away, a substantive proposition shall remain for the decision of the Assembly.

Withdrawal of Motions

79. After a motion is stated by the Speaker, or a bill, resolution, or petition read by the Clerk, it shall be deemed to be in the possession of the Assembly.

Motion to Be Germane

80. No motion or proposition on a subject different from that under consideration shall be admitted as an amendment.

Motion to Withdraw and Recall Bills

81. A motion to withdraw a bill or resolution from committee, or to re-refer a bill or resolution from one committee to another committee may be made during the regular order of business. A motion to re-refer shall only be debatable as to the propriety of such reference, and shall require a recorded vote of a majority of the elected members.

No bill or resolution shall be withdrawn from committee and placed upon the file except upon two days' notice thereof and except by a recorded vote of a majority of the elected members.

Bills Stricken From File

82. A motion to strike from the file any bill or House resolution requires a majority vote of the entire elected membership. Such bill shall not be acted upon again during the session.

Motion to Rescind Action and Expunge Record

83. Previous to the approval of the Journal by the Assembly, any action may be rescinded and its record ordered expunged by an affirmative recorded vote sufficient to take such action originally; except that no action shall be rescinded and the record expunged by a vote less than a majority of the entire elected membership. No motion to rescind the action and expunge the record shall be made twice on the same proposition.

Reconsideration of Vote

84. Notice of a motion to reconsider on the next legislative day, the vote whereby any bill, constitutional amendment, concurrent or joint resolution was passed or refused passage, must be given on the same day such vote to be so reconsidered was taken.

A notice of motion to reconsider a vote must be given by a member voting on the bill, constitutional amendment, concurrent or joint resolution, and shall take precedence over all motions, except a motion to adjourn. Upon such notice of motion being given, the bill, constitutional amendment, concurrent or joint resolution shall forthwith be placed upon the unfinished business file, and no further action shall be taken prior to the next legislative day. When a notice of a motion to reconsider has once been made, the same shall be considered to be the property of the Assembly.

Any member voting on any motion, amendment, concurrence, Assembly resolution or proposition other than a bill, constitutional amendment, concurrent or joint resolution, may give notice of reconsideration of the vote whereby the same was passed or refused passage on the same day such vote to be reconsidered was taken, which notice shall suspend all further consideration until the next legislative day; provided, however, that a motion to reconsider on the same day the notice was given shall take precedence over and above such notice and upon demand of any member must be put to an immediate vote. A motion to reconsider any proposition other than a bill, constitutional amendment, concurrent or joint resolution shall require an affirmative recorded vote of a majority of the entire elected membership.

No notice of motion for reconsideration shall be in order on the day preceding the last day for consideration of Assembly or Senate bills in the Assembly. No motion to reconsider shall be adopted except upon an affirmative recorded vote of a majority of the entire elected membership, except that it shall require a two-thirds vote of the entire elected membership to reconsider the vote on any matter originally requiring a two-thirds vote for its passage or adoption.

When reconsideration is granted, the bill shall resume its exact position before the Assembly previous to its being voted upon.

Call of Assembly

85. After the roll has been called, and prior to the announcement of the vote, any member may move a call of the Assembly. A majority of the members present may order a call of the Assembly, and the Speaker shall immediately order the Sergeant-at-Arms to lock all doors and shall direct the Clerk to prepare a list of absentees as disclosed by the last roll call, which list of absentees shall be furnished to the Sergeant-at-Arms and printed in the Journal. Thereupon no members shall be permitted to leave the Assembly Chamber except by written permission of the Speaker, and no person shall be permitted to enter except such member as is taken into custody as herein provided, or Senators, officers, attaches, or employees of the Legislature in the official performance of their duties.

Those members who are found to be absent, and for whom no leaves of absence have been granted, shall be forthwith taken into custody wherever found by the Sergeant-at-Arms or his assistants and brought to the Assembly Chamber. No recess or adjournment shall be taken during a call of the Assembly. During such call, the Assembly may consider and transact any matter of business by unanimous consent. No call of the Assembly shall be ordered on any matter while the Assembly is already under call. A call of the Assembly may be dispensed with at any time upon a majority vote of the members present, at which time the completion of the roll call pending when the call of the Assembly was ordered shall become the immediate order of business before the Assembly.

Resolutions

86. The adoption of any resolution authorizing the expenditure of money shall require an affirmative recorded vote of a majority of all members elected to the Assembly. All House resolutions shall be numbered and shall be referred to the appropriate committee by the Speaker.

Motions and Resolutions

87. Any motion or resolution not otherwise provided for under the Rules shall be placed before the Assembly only under this order of business. Unless otherwise provided by law or Assembly rule, any motion or resolution may be adopted by a majority vote of the members present.

Adjournment

88. Adjournment for the constitutional recess or adjournment sine die shall be ordered by concurrent resolution. The resolution for adjournment sine die shall be adopted by the Assembly not less than seven days before the date set therein for such adjournment.

Members' Decorum and Privileges

Order in Speaking to Questions

89. When a member desires to address the Assembly, he shall rise from his seat and respectfully address himself to "Mr. Speaker." Upon being recognized, he may speak, confining himself to the question under consideration. When two or more members rise at the same time, the Speaker shall designate the member who is entitled to the floor.

No member shall speak more than once during the consideration of any one question on the same day and at the same stage of proceeding, except that the author of a bill or resolution or the mover of a question shall have the right to open and close the debate thereon. No member shall be allowed to speak more than 10 minutes to open and five minutes to close the debate thereon, and no member other than the author or the mover of the question shall be allowed to speak more than five minutes thereon. No member shall yield to any other member the time for which he is entitled to speak on any matter.

Leave of Absence

90. No member shall absent himself from attendance at any session of the Assembly without leave of the Assembly, and no member shall obtain such leave of absence or be excused for nonattendance, except by a two-thirds vote of all members elected to the Assembly, or by unanimous consent.

Personal Privilege

91. Any member may rise to explain a matter personal to himself and shall forthwith be recognized by the Speaker, but shall not discuss a question in such explanation. Such matters of personal privilege yield only to a motion to recess or adjournment.

Objection to Reading of Any Paper

92. Any member upon recognition by the Speaker may object to the reading of any paper before the Assembly. After such objection, the question of reading shall be determined without debate by a majority vote of the members present, upon a brief statement of its substance by the Speaker.

Members Called to Order for Transgressing Rules

93. a. If any member transgresses the Rules of the Assembly, the Speaker shall, or any member may, call the offending member to order. The member so called to order shall immediately take his seat, until the Speaker without debate, shall have determined whether he is in order or not. Such decision by the Speaker shall be subject to an appeal to the Assembly.

b. If any member be called to order for offensive words spoken in debate, the person calling him to order shall state to the Assembly the words to which exception is taken. No member shall be held to answer, or be subject to censure by the Assembly, for language used in debate, if other business shall have been transacted by the Assembly prior to exception being taken to the words spoken.

Members Voting

94. Every member in the Assembly Chamber when a roll call is required shall record his vote openly and without debate, unless the Assembly shall, by a majority vote of the members present, excuse him.

The name of any member who refuses to vote as required by this rule, after being requested by the Speaker to do so, shall be entered in the Journal of the Assembly, together with a statement that he was present and did so refuse to vote. Any member who refuses so to vote may, if he so desires, and immediately after the announcement of the vote, submit a written explanation of his failure to vote and have such explanation printed in the Journal, provided no such explanation shall exceed 50 words in length.

In addition to the entry of his name in the Journal, any member who refuses so to vote when required, and who has not been excused from doing so, may, immediately after the announcement of the vote, in the discretion of the Speaker or upon demand of any member, be summoned to appear before the bar of the Assembly for public censure by the Speaker or by any member designated by the Speaker. Censure of a member as provided by this rule shall not constitute a bar to proceedings for his expulsion from the Assembly pursuant to Section 9 of Article IV of the Constitution.

A member may submit a written explanation of his vote on any bill or House resolution, and have such explanation printed in the Journal immediately following such vote, provided no such explanation shall exceed 50 words in length.

Ayes and Noes

95. The ayes and noes shall be recorded by the electrical voting system on the final passage of all bills, or by viva voce when demanded by three members or when ordered by the Speaker, and on any other question when called for by three members or ordered by the Speaker, the names of which members shall be entered in the Journal.

Voting Not to Be Interrupted

96. When once begun, voting shall not be interrupted, except that before the vote is announced any member may have the total pending vote flashed on the visible vote recorder. Prior to the announcement of the vote the Speaker shall inquire if all members have voted. Any member may move a call of the Assembly after the completion of the roll and prior to the final recording, but no member shall be allowed to change his vote, or have his vote recorded after the vote is announced.

Members at Clerk's Desk

97. No member or other person shall be allowed at the Clerk's desk while the ayes and noes are being recorded or the votes counted.

Tie Vote

98. In case of an equal division, or tie vote, the question shall be lost.

"Two-thirds of the Entire Elected Membership" Defined

99. Wherever the words or figures, "two-thirds of the entire elected membership" appear in any rule, it shall mean 54 votes.

House Resolution No. 97

Relative to thanking C. William Queale

WHEREAS, C. William Queale, who has formerly served this Assembly through three regular sessions and many special sessions as Minute Clerk and is thoroughly familiar with the work of this Assembly is now employed by the California Dairy Industry Advisory Board where his fulltime services are required; and

WHEREAS, Upon learning that not enough experienced people were available to serve this Assembly efficiently at the beginning of its present session, C. William Queale, better known to the members as Bill Queale, in a fine spirit of friendliness and cooperation offered his services to the Assembly to assist in the work at the desk during the January session; and

WHEREAS, The services of C. William Queale have been invaluable to this Assembly; and

WHEREAS, The California Dairy Industry Advisory Board so graciously permitted C. William Queale to assist in this work at the desk; now therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That each and every Member of this Assembly extends his sincere appreciation to C. William Queale for the service he has performed, and for his outstanding ability which has materially assisted in expediting the work of this January session; and, be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly is hereby requested to have a suitably prepared copy of this resolution presented to C. William Queale; and be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to Mr. Richard J. Werner, Manager of the California Dairy Industry Advisory Board, in appreciation for permitting C. William Queale to assist the Assembly during this time.

MESSAGES FROM THE SENATE

SENATE CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, February 5, 1947

MR. SPEAKER: I am directed to inform your honorable body that the Senate appointed Senators Jespersen, Tenney, and DeLap as a Committee on Conference concerning:

Assembly Bill No. 973—An act making an appropriation in augmentation of the appropriation in Item 79.5 of the Budget Act of 1945, for publishing, purchasing, and shipping free textbooks, to take effect immediately.

J. A. BEEK, Secretary of the Senate
By C. V. TAYLOR, Assistant Secretary

CONSIDERATION OF HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 62

House Resolution No. 62

Relative to the creation of Assembly investigating committees, and establishing the permanent standing committees of the Assembly as interim committees

WHEREAS, Many of the proposed subjects of Legislation presented at this session require further study and the development of additional information in order that proper consideration may be given thereto; and

WHEREAS, Such study and investigation can best be undertaken by interim committees composed of Members of the Assembly who have served on standing committees that have considered measures relating to such proposed subjects during this session of the Legislature; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, As follows:

1. Twenty-five Assembly investigating committees are hereby created, consisting of the permanent standing committees of the Assembly listed in Rule 8 of the Permanent Standing Rules of the Assembly for this general session of the Legislature, and having the same membership and chairmen, and vice chairmen, respectively, as have such standing committees. Vacancies occurring or existing in the membership of such investigating committees shall be filled by the Speaker of the Assembly. Each such investigating committee shall be known as "The Assembly Interim Committee on (the name of the corresponding standing committee)."

2. Each investigating committee is authorized and directed to ascertain, study and analyze all facts relating to any subject of legislation it may be authorized and directed to consider pursuant to any resolution adopted by the Assembly, including but not limited to the operation, effect, administration, enforcement and needed revision of any and all laws in any way bearing upon or relating to such subject and to report thereon to the Assembly, including in the reports its recommendations for appropriate legislation.

3. Each committee is authorized to act during this session of the Legislature, including any recess, and after final adjournment until the commencement of the next regular general session, with authority to file its final report not later than the thirtieth legislative day of the next regular general session.

4. Each committee and its members shall have and exercise all of the rights, duties and powers conferred upon investigating committees and their members by the provisions of the Joint Rules of the Senate and Assembly and of the Standing Rules of the Assembly as they are adopted and amended from time to time, which provisions are incorporated herein and made applicable to each committee and its members.

5. Each committee has the following additional powers and duties:

(a) To contract with such other agencies, public or private, as it deems necessary for the rendition and affording of such services, facilities, studies and reports to the committee as will best assist it to carry out the purposes for which it is created.

(b) To cooperate with and secure the cooperation of county, city, city and county, and other local law enforcement agencies in investigating any matter within the scope of this resolution and to direct the sheriff of any county to serve subpenas, orders and other process issued by the committee.

(c) To report its findings and recommendations to the Legislature and to the people from time to time and at any time, not later than herein provided.

(d) To do any and all other things necessary or convenient to enable it fully and adequately to exercise its powers, perform its duties, and accomplish the objects and purposes of this resolution.

(e) To expend such funds as may be made available to it from the Contingent Fund of the Assembly for the expenses of the committee and its members and for any charges, expenses or claims it may incur under this resolution, to be paid from the said contingent fund and disbursed, after certification by the chairman of the committee, upon warrants drawn by the State Controller upon the State Treasurer.

Resolution read.

The roll was called, and the resolution adopted by the following vote:

AYES—Allen, Berry, Blosser, Boyd, Brady, Brown, Burns, Butters, Caldecott, Carey, Clarke, Collier, George D. Collins, Conrad, Cooke, Cramer, Crichton, Crowley, Debs, Dickey, Ralph C. MESSAGES FROM THE SENATE

SENATE CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, February 5, 1947

MR. SPEAKER: I am directed to inform your honorable body that the Senate appointed Senators Deuel, Gordon, and Carter as a Committee on Conference concerning:

Assembly Bill No. 747—An act to add Section 2042 to the Penal Code, relating to escapes from the California Vocational Institution, and declaring the urgency thereof, to take effect immediately.

J. A. BEEK, Secretary of the Senate
By C. V. TAYLOR, Assistant Secretary

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolution was offered:

By Mr. Carey:

House Resolution No. 101

Relative to training and providing dogs to trace and locate missing persons

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Department of Justice is instructed to study, and to report to the Legislature prior to adjournment of the Fifty-seventh Regular Session as to the feasibility and need for making provision for the training and making available to peace officers whenever and wherever needed throughout the State of dogs to trace and locate missing persons.

Resolution read, and referred to the Committee on Rules.

ANNOUNCEMENTS OF COMMITTEE APPOINTMENTS

Pursuant to the provisions of House Resolution No. 57, which creates a Fact-Finding Committee on Working Hours of State Employees, Speaker Collins announced the appointment of Messrs. Stephenson, Chairman; Geddes, Doyle, Cooke, and Thompson as members of said committee.

CONSIDERATION OF HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 40

House Resolution No. 40

Relative to more stringent enforcement by the California Highway Patrol of Sections 621 and 621.5 of the Vehicle Code, relating to rear lamps and reflectors required of motor vehicles engaged in highway travel

WHEREAS, There has been a serious increase in the number of automobile accidents during the past 12 months in this State, with resultant mounting toll of death, injury and property damage; and

WHEREAS, A contributing factor to this heavy accident toll has been the failure of drivers of motor vehicles to maintain in working order adequate rear lamps and reflectors as provided in Sections 621 and 621.5 of the Vehicle Code, which factor is aggravated during the months when visibility is greatly reduced due to fog, rain and other atmospheric conditions; and

WHEREAS, It is imperative that action be taken immediately to alleviate the deplorable accident situation which exists in this State; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, As follows:

That the California Highway Patrol is directed to strictly enforce the Sections 621 and 621.5 of the Vehicle Code, relating to the display of rear lamps and reflectors of motor vehicles on the highways; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly is authorized and directed to transmit copies of this resolution to the Director of Motor Vehicles and to the Chief of the California Highway Patrol.

Resolution read.

Consideration of House Resolution No. 40, as Amended

House Resolution No. 40

Relative to more stringent enforcement by the California Highway Patrol of Sections 621 and 621.5 of the Vehicle Code, relating to head lamps and reflectors and rear lamps and reflectors required of motor vehicles engaged in highway travel.

WHEREAS, There has been a serious increase in the number of automobile accidents during the past 12 months in this State, with resultant mounting toll of death, injury and property damage; and

WHEREAS, A contributing factor to this heavy accident toll has been the failure of drivers of motor vehicles to maintain in working order adequate head lamps and reflectors and rear lamps and reflectors as provided by existing law, which factors are aggravated during the months when visibility is greatly reduced due to fog, rain and other atmospheric conditions; and

WHEREAS, It is imperative that action be taken immediately to alleviate the deplorable accident situation which exists in this State; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, As follows:

That the California Highway Patrol is directed to strictly enforce Vehicle Code, relating to the display of head lamps and reflectors and rear lamps and reflectors of motor vehicles on the highways; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly is authorized and directed to transmit copies of this resolution to the Director of Motor Vehicles and to the Chief of the California Highway Patrol.

Resolution read, as amended, and adopted.
