House Resolution No. 42, as Amended

By Assemblyman Cusanovich:

House Resolution No. 42

Relating to the proposed Simi Valley and Whitnall Freeways in Los Angeles County

WHEREAS, Two basically east-west freeway routes are proposed by the Division of Highways, namely the proposed Simi Valley Freeway (Route 118) and the proposed Whitnall Freeway (Route 64), and

WHEREAS, It is felt that combining a portion of the two routes into one could result in a savings to the taxpayers of approximately $1,000,000 per year or more by removal of only half as many taxable properties from the tax rolls in addition to the savings in the initial expenditures for two freeways, and

WHEREAS, It is felt that the Division of Highways has not considered what savings may result to the taxpayers by combining the said freeways with regard to acquisition and construction costs; and

WHEREAS, It is felt that the one combined freeway could serve the needs of the people of the State of California equally as well as the two proposed freeways, now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Division of Highways of the Department of Public Works is requested to make a study as to the feasibility of combining a portion of the proposed Simi Valley Freeway (Route 118) and the proposed Whitnall Freeway (Route 64) in Los Angeles County, the combined portion to be from approximately Topanga Canyon on the west to approximately the Golden State Freeway on the east, and to report its findings therein to the Legislature not later than June 1, 1965

The scope and detail of such feasibility study shall be as complete as the limited time period involved will allow but should be sufficiently complete as to determine whether or not this proposal should be further studied in depth

Resolved, That the Division of Highways be requested to refrain from acquiring property prior to June 1, 1965 on that portion of Route 118 from the vicinity of De Soto Avenue to Route 210 near Hansen Dam and on that portion of Route 64 involved in the study, except that such property may be acquired during such time in hardship cases and for right-of-way protection purposes. It is understood that this resolution is not intended to delay in any way the completion of the budgeted freeway construction project on Route 118 west of De Soto Avenue through the Santa Susana Pass.

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly is directed to transmit a copy of this resolution to the Director of Public Works

Resolution, as amended, re-referred to the Committee on Ways and Means

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT TO PRINT IN JOURNAL

Mr. Gonsalves was granted unanimous consent that the remarks by Governor Vallejo and excerpts from the address by Hon. Robert Sargent Shriver, Jr., before the Joint Conventions, be ordered printed in the Journal:

Remarks by Governor Gustavo Aubanel Vallejo of Baja California, Mexico, Before the Joint Convention of the Senate and Assembly Held on March 31, 1965, Pursuant to the Provisions of Senate Concurrent Resoluton No. 50.

Members of the California State Senate and Assembly in Joint Convention

It is with deep emotion and gratitude that I acknowledge the privilege bestowed upon me by the Honorable Legislature of California, of addressing this distinguished Assembly

As I enter this place, I am consciously aware that this a shrine that you built to keep alive and glowing, the flaming spirit of the great American democracy

The spirit of democracy, brought to the New World by the pilgrims of the "Mayflower", has been gigantically strengthened by the astonishing progress of this great nation, bulwark of liberty, as has also been universally exulted in the immortal poems of Walt Whitman, a true Apostle of Democracy

I also wish to acknowledge that this friendly event shared today by both Californias, is in line with the cordial relations that prevail between our two countries

This status of international good will and mutual understanding, was greatly enhanced when your late President Franklin D. Roosevelt inaugurated his celebrated good neighbor policy

That visionary policy was confirmed recently, when the Presidents of the United States and Mexico, John F Kennedy and Lic Adolfo López Mateos, reached a friendly solution in the old dispute of "El Chamizal"

Once again, the good neighbor policy has been confirmed, just a few days ago, with the temporary settlement arrived at between President Lyndon B Johnson and President Lic. Gustavo Díaz Ordaz on the problem of the salt water of the Colorado River

These realizations have no doubt, contributed more than their part, to bring a faint ray of light and hope into a world darkened by the fear of war.

Given the friendly feeling which prevail between both the peoples and the governments of the United States and Mexico, it is only natural that a still stronger feeling of friendship should exist between two states which, like both Californias, are bound by so many other common characteristics

Turning our eyes to the past, let us remember that our two territories were christened jointly "California" by the Spanish conquistadors

The conquistadors themselves included the whole area of this geographical region on the world map, under the euphonic and poetical name of California, borrowed from the knight-errantry novel "Las Sergas de Esplandián", by the Spanish writer Ordóñez de Montalvo.

In the same pattern, let us remember that in the Eighteenth Century, there emerged a man who melted his heart to the destinies of both Higher and Lower California Friar Junipero Serra

This Legendary and tireless traveler extended the chain of Missionary Centers which ran from South to North across the Peninsula, till the Missions reached the New California, where he established those of San Diego de Alcalá, San Francisco, San Gabriel, San Juan Capistrano and others

Those old missions, at present turned into modern and prosperous cities, shelter millions of Mexicans, fellow citizens of yours and fellow citizens of ours, who are tough and hopeful workers

The population of Mexican descent which lives in your State is so extensive, that outside of Mexico City, there is no other place in the world where so large a number of Mexican descendants live

Among many other mutual characteristics which bound us together, we find that both the English speaking and the Spanish speaking Californias are bathed by the same Ocean, share common geographical features and are divided only by a border line which thousands upon thousands of residents of both States cross back and forth every day of the year

The study of these features common to the two Californias urged a group of citizens of good will and foresight, to improve the bonds of friendship which already exist between our two States

That is how and why the Commission of the Californias was born, to improve our social, economic and cultural relations, for the betterment of all activities of mutual benefit

As we can see, History and Geography brought us together Still, we are not satisfied We are looking forward to the future of such state of togetherness

I am convinced that we can look confidently ahead, and that the future holds for us still greater opportunities for the advancement and closer brotherhood of our communities

Distinguished members of the Honorable Congress of the State of California I repeat my gratitude for the high honor which you have awarded me, and I pray for the happiness of the citizens of the State of California, and of each one of you gathered here on this memorable occasion, and that the spirit of Democracy which is kept alive in this shrine, may glow and thrive forever through the Centuries

Excerpts From an Address by Hon. Robert Sargent Shriver, Jr., Director of the Peace Corps and Coordinator of the President's Anti-poverty Program, Before the Joint Convention of the Senate and Assembly Held on March 31, 1965, Pursuant to the Provisions of Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 74.

Poverty has become fashionable

—Washington bureaucrats are changing into "Poverty-crats"

—Newspapers now have "poverty beats" covered by day-to-day poverty reporters.

—The Department of Agriculture has organized a special new "rural poverty division

—Congress has a special Ad Hoc Committee on the Poverty War

—Huge corporations like GE, Philco, IBM and Litton Industries have created "poverty divisions" to rival their aerospace and data processing units

And, true to form, the "illiberal liberals" are beginning to worry about "war profiteering" on the age-old theory that anything that's good for business must be bad for the people

Yet—just because poverty has become fashionable we cannot conclude that America as a nation, or we as individuals, have faced up to the reality of poverty—at home or abroad

A few weeks ago, I received a letter from a woman in Skokie, Illinois She wrote "I know you are busy but could your secretary let me know in what country, state, or city most of the poor people live? Thank her, because I'm collecting money for the POOR" The writer of that letter meant well She really did! But for her, the poor still live in another country, in another state, in another city

When President Johnson first established our task force to plan the war against poverty, the Toledo Blade approached us They wanted to take a look at poverty—first hand. They asked if we could arrange a tour to some place like Appalachia. The answer we gave them was "Go to Toledo!" Take a good hard look where you are. That's where poverty is."

I'm not sure that answer pleased them But it was the right one And we gave it because one of our principal objectives is to interrupt the American preoccupation exclusively with poverty in India, China, Africa or Appalachia We want all Americans to take a frank look at themselves, in their own home towns

We all have poverty problems—in California, in my home town, Chicago; in New York, in Georgia, in Hawaii

But we are slowed down in our fight against poverty by the myths, doubts and skepticism, and by misinformation.

I've heard all the arguments. I've heard the skeptics, critics, professional doubters with their arguments such as these:

1) "Most poor people are Negroes or Puerto Ricans or Mexican Americans. Helping them will endanger everybody's jobs"

That's wrong 80% of the poor people in America are white. Another argument against the war on poverty ran like this

2) "This war against poverty is just a device for forcing integration on the south" That's wrong No program of ours can be initiated in any state if the governor says "no". But our programs must conform to the nation's laws That's obvious And, therefore, they have been administered without discrimination on race, color, or creed "All men are created equal" our Declaration of Independence says

And all Americans will be treated as equals in the war vs poverty

The cynics and doubters and skeptics said "you really can't treat everyone as equals That's extremism" But we have And as a result we have ministers and rabbis on the government payroll in the War vs Poverty And last week we made history For the first time in the history of the U S government, a R C Nun has become a full-time government worker in the Washington office of the War vs Poverty

Her name is Sister Francetta—64 years old—retiring, this year, from her job as President of Webster College in Missouri With permission from her order of Nuns, Sister Francetta has given up wearing her costume as a Nun She wore that black habit for 38 years but now she shows up at the office dressed in the latest from Bullock's or Magnin's She's completely under our direction . . doesn't live in a convent—yet she is still a Nun—and in our War vs Poverty Office we treat her as an equal . . . Just as she treats us

When we started the "Peace Corps" the skeptics and cynics also gave us lots of advice. They told us .

(1) You can't send Jewish Americans to Arab countries, etc . "never will be invited" etc The "experts" were wrong.

(2) They told us you can't sent Protestants to Roman Catholic countries in Latin America But we did Once again, the cynics and doubters were wrong

(3) You can't sent girls into the slums of South America full of Communists, etc

(4) In the Job Corps, the "experts" said you can't mix white boys from the rural south with Negroes from northern slums Race riots will take place. Well, once again the "experts" and cynics have been wrong

We have treated all Americans as equals And there have been no race riots in any Job Corps Center or Peace Corps contingent There have been no religious riots—either—among our ministers, rabbis, and nuns

What does this prove? It proves that less trouble develops when you live up to the letter of our American philosophy and principles . to compromise on principle is to fail—in the Peace Corps overseas, in the War vs. Poverty at home.

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT TO PRINT IN JOURNAL

Mr Thomas was granted unanimous consent that the following communication from the Office of the Auditor General be printed in the Journal·

Office of the Auditor General
Sacramento, March 31, 1965

The Honorable President of the Senate
The Honorable Speaker of the Assembly
The Honorable Members of the Senate and the Assembly of the Legislature of California

Sirs We have reviewed the facts relating to state park concession contracts for the 1964 calendar year, as we are required to do by Section 5019 26 of the Public Resources Code.

Sections 5019 10 through 5019 26 were added to the Public Resources Code effective September 20, 1963. These sections specify generally the procedures to be followed by the state in entering into contracts for the operation of concessions in state parks Section 5019 26 requires the Auditor General to study all facts relating to those contracts and related documents and report annually thereon to the Legislature.

Our review for 1964 covered 14 proposed concessions One of these was a contract for a concession on private lands contiguous to state lands at Lake Elsinore State Recreation Area. Since it was on private lands, the contract was negotiated without calling for bids, as authorized by Section 5019 23(e) of the Public Resources Code On the remaining 13 concessions, bids were requested. No bids were received on two of them (Lake Elsinore—state land and Columbia Historic) and all bids were rejected on two others (Folsom Lake and Turlock Lake). Since the bidding procedures failed to produce a responsible bidder on these four concessions, the Department of Parks and Recreation proceeded to negotiate contracts as provided by Section 5019 23(a) of the Public Resources Code, and awarded contracts on all except the one at Columbia State Historic Park where the department has been unable to find a concessioner as yet Nine contracts were awarded to the best responsible bidder as determined by the department Several of these contracts have not yet been approved by the Director of Finance, the Director of General Services, and the Attorney General. It is expected that these approvals will be obtained as soon as these persons complete their reviews of the contracts.

As stated in our report for the year ended December 31, 1963, a contract for the Hearst San Simeon project had not as yet been negotiated due to legal action initiated by local businessmen. In the interim period, a one-year contract was negotiated with a concessioner to provide services to the public through the use of semiportable facilities The overall plan for the operation of the Hearst San Simeon project was redesigned which, it is believed, has overcome the objections of local businessmen; all previous bids as submitted have been rejected When other problems relating to the adequacy of water and sewage disposal facilities are resolved, the department will advertise for bids for the redesigned concession operation.

Our review of procedures relative to proposing, advertising, and negotiating concession contracts indicated that the department is complying with the requirements of the Public Resources Code.

Respectfully submitted,

WILLIAM H. MERRIFIELD, Auditor General

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT TO PRINT IN JOURNAL

Mr Chappie was granted unanimous consent that the following letter be printed in the Journal.

Yosemite All Year Highway 140 Association
Midpines, March 31, 1965

Assemblyman Eugene Chappie
Room 4012, California State Capital Building
Sacramento, California

Dear Mr Chappie Mariposa County, one of the original 27 counties formed in the State of California on February 18, 1850, was at its founding the largest in size, comprising one-fifth of the area of our great state Due to political and economic necessity it was subsequently subdivided and today is comparatively small in area However the County of Mariposa is still large in heart and active in developing its future Where we once flourished as a gold producing area, today, our chief sources of livelihood are the cattle ranches and as a mecca for the world's tourists Yosemite National Park is within our county, and which is in itself our major tourist attraction at this time The unspoiled beauty of Mariposa County is rapidly becoming better known and an increase of persons seeking and purchasing vacation and homesites is adding to our economic welfare in general

In the early part of 1964 the "Yosemite All Year Highway 140 Association" was formed for the purpose of establishing a planned program for the economic development of this area While we are presently concentrating on the establishment of a route from the sea to Nevada via Yosemite, our total purpose is to make our entire county better known to the traveler We do not believe in just a one-time trip through our county, but we wish to establish it as the place to go for a retreat from the urban areas and where families can enjoy nature's beauties in our moderate altitude which generates clear, pure breathing air

The chief purpose of this letter is to inform the Assembly that our "Yosemite All Year Highway 140 Association" is sponsoring a project, under the chairmanship of Mr Roy Radanovich, which will turn Mariposa County into a solid mass of REDBUD each spring One of our residents, Mr William Brady, has developed a temperature cycling process which simulates nature's method of preparing the redbud seed for germination We have on hand 25,000 seeds which will be planted within the next few weeks Cans for planting have been supplied by people from all over the nation in response to our request through our central valley newspapers, and which was picked up and disseminated by the national press services Under the guidance of Mr Brady and Mr Keith Kaylor the seedlings will be cared for in various locations throughout the county Next fall they will be distributed to county residents and will be planted along our roads and highways

This is not to be an overnight miracle Several years will be required before permanent stands of the trees will be lush and bountiful It is our intent to continue the propogation and planting through the length and breadth of our county, and, if possible, from the 'Sea to Nevada via Highway 40 and Yosemite"

It is hoped that our project will aid in President Johnson's and California's beautification programs

We are asking that this letter be read into the House Record, establishing Mariposa County as FIRST, once again, in our state's historical events

Very truly yours,

ROBERT P ROMAINE, President

Letter of Transmittal

Assembly Judiciary Committee, April 6, 1965

Honorable Jesse M. Unruh
Speaker of the Assembly
State Capitol, Sacramento, California

Dear Mr Unruh The Committee on Judiciary, having considered Assembly Bill No 333 and having reported it out "amend and do pass as amended" on April 6, 1965, herewith submits this report concerning Assembly Bill 333.

This report contains comments to reflect the actions taken on this bill by the Committee on Judiciary These comments should prove helpful in determining legislative intent

Respectfully submitted,

GEORGE A WILLSON, Chairman

REPORT OF ASSEMBLY COMMITTEE ON JUDICIARY ON ASSEMBLY BILL NO. 333

In order to indicate more fully its intent with respect to Assembly Bill No 333, the Assembly Committee on Judiciary makes the following report·

Except for the new or revised comments set out below, the comments contained under the various sections of Assembly Bill No 333 as set out in the Recommendation of the California Law Revision Commission Proposing an Evidence Code (January 1965) reflect the intent of the Assembly Committee on Judiciary in approving the various provisions of Assembly Bill No 333

The following new and revised comments to various sections of Assembly Bill No 333 also reflect the intent of the Assembly Committee on Judiciary in approving Assembly Bill No 333

SHORT TITLE

Section 1 (Short Title of 1965 Act)

Comment. The short title will provide a convenient means for referring to this act as distinguished from the Evidence Code (which is enacted by Section 2 of this act).

EVIDENCE CODE PROVISIONS

Section 12

Comment. The delayed operative date provides time for California judges and attorneys to become familiar with the code before it goes into effect

Subdivision (a) makes it clear that the Evidence Code governs all trials commenced after December 31, 1966

Under subdivision (b), a trial that has actually commenced prior to the operative date of the code will continue to be governed by the rules of evidence (except privileges) applicable at the commencement of the trial Thus, if the trial court makes a ruling on the admission of evidence in a trial commenced prior to January 1, 1967, such ruling (even when it is made after January 1, 1967) is not affected by the enactment of the Evidence Code; if an appeal is taken from the ruling, Section 12 requires the appellate court to apply the law applicable at the commencement of the trial On the other hand, any ruling made by the trial court on the admission of evidence in a trial commenced after December 31, 1966, is governed by the Evidence Code, even if a previous trial in the same action was commenced prior to that date

A hearing on a motion or a similar proceeding is to be treated the same as a trial for the purpose of applying the rules stated in subdivision (b) See subdivision (b)(1)

Under subdivision (c), all claims of privilege made after December 31, 1966, are governed by the Evidence Code in order that there might be no delay in providing protection to the important relationships and interests that are protected by the Privileges Division

Comment. The phrases defined in Section 110 and 115 provide a convenient means for distinguishing between the burden of proving a fact and the burden of going forward with the evidence They recognize a distinction that is well established in California WITKIN, CALIFORNIA EVIDENCE §§ 53-60 (1958) The practical effect of the distinction is discussed in the Comments to Division 5 (commencing with Section 500), especially in the Comments to Sections 500 and 550

Section 115

Comment. See the Comment to Section 110

After stating the general definition of "burden of proof," the first paragraph of Section 115 gives examples of specific burdens that may be imposed by statutory or decisional law The list of examples is not exclusive, and in some cases the law may prescribe some other burden of proof For example, under Penal Code Section 872, the prosecution's burden of proof at a preliminary hearing is to establish "sufficient cause"—i e, a "strong suspicion"—of the accused's guilt Garabedian v Superior Court, 59 Cal 2d 124, 28 Cal Rptr 318, 378 P 2d 590 (1963), Rogers v Superior Court, 46 Cal 2d 3, 291 P 2d 929 (1955)

The second paragraph of Section 115 makes it clear that "burden of proof" refers to the burden of proving the fact in question by a preponderance of the evidence unless a heavier or lesser burden of proof is specifically required in a particular case by constitutional, statutory, or decisional law See the definition of "law" in EVIDENCE CODE § 160

Comment. Usually, the phrase "unavailable as a witness" is used in the Evidence Code to state the condition that must be met whenever the admissibility of hearsay evidence is dependent upon the declarant's present unavailability to testify See, e g, EVIDENCE CODE §§ 1230, 1251, 1291, 1292, 1310, 1311, 1323 See also CODE CIV PROC § 2016(d)(3) and PENAL CODE §§ 1345 and 1362, relating to depositions

"Unavailable as a witness" includes, in addition to cases where the declarant is physically unavailable (i e, dead, insane, or beyond the reach of the court's process), situations in which the declarant is legally unavailable (i e, prevented from testifying by a claim of privilege or disqualified from testifying) Of course, if the declaration made out of court is itself privileged, the fact that the declarant is unavailable to testify at the hearing on the ground of privilege does not make the declaration admissible The exceptions to the hearsay rule that are set forth in DIVISION 10 (commencing with Section 1200) of the Evidence Code do not declare that the evidence described is necessarily admissible They merely declare that such evidence is not inadmissible under the hearsay rule If there is some other rule of law—such as privilege—which makes the evidence inadmissible, the court is not authorized to admit the evidence merely because it falls within an exception to the hearsay rule Accordingly, the hearsay exceptions permit the introduction of evidence where the declarant is unavailable because of privilege only if the declaration itself is not privileged or is not inadmissible for some other reason

Subdivision (b) is designed to establish safeguards against sharp practices and, in the words of the Commissioners on Uniform State Laws, to assure "that unavailability is honest and not planned in order to gain an advantage" UNIFORM RULES OF EVIDENCE, Rule 62 Comment Under this subdivision, a party may not arrange a declarant's disappearance in order to use the declarant's out-of-court statement Moreover, if the out-of-court statement is that of the party himself, he may not create "unavailability" under this section by invoking a privilege not to testify

Section 240 substitutes a uniform standard for the varying standards of unavailability provided by the superseded Code of Civil Procedure sections providing hearsay exceptions E g, CODE CIV PROC § 1870 (4), (8) The conditions constituting unavailability under these superseded sections vary from exception to exception without apparent reason Under some of these sections, the evidence is admissible if the declarant is dead, under others, the evidence is admissible if the declarant is dead or insane, under still others, the evidence is admissible if the declarant is absent from the jurisdiction Despite the express language of these superseded sections, Section 240 may, to a considerable extent, restate existing law Compare People v Spriggs, 60 Cal 2d 868, 875, 36 Cal Rptr 841, 845, 389 P 2d 377, 381 (1964) (generally consistent with Section 240), with the older cases, some but not all of which are inconsistent with the Spriggs case and with Section 240 See the cases cited in Tentative Recommendation and a Study Relating to the Uniform Rules of Evidence (Article VIII Hearsay Evidence), 6 CAL LAW REVISION COMM'N, REP, REC & STUDIES Appendix at 411 note 7 (1964)

Section 310

Comment. Subdivision (a) of Section 310 restates the substance of and supersedes the first sentence of Section 2102 of the Code of Civil Procedure Subdivision (b) restates the existing rule that foreign law is not a question of fact but is a question of law to be decided by the court See Gallegos v Union-Tribune Publishing Co, 195 Cal App 2d 791, 16 Cal Rptr 185 (1961)

Section 310 refers specifically to the law of organizations of nations in order to make certain that the law of supranational organizations that have law making authority—such as the European Economic Community—is to be determined as other foreign law is determined This probably does not change the law of California, for it seems likely that the law of a supranational organization would be regarded as the law in the member nations by virtue of the treaty arrangements among them Of course, the Evidence Code does not require California courts to give the force of law to anything that does not have the force of law The Evidence Code merely prescribes the procedure for determining the existing foreign law

The judicial notice provisions of the Evidence Code have no effect on which party has the burden of establishing the applicable foreign law under Probate Code Section 259 (relating to the right of nonresident aliens to inherit) The applicable foreign law is, however, to be determined in accordance with the judicial notice provisions of the Evidence Code Estate of Goyabashvele, 195 Cal App 2d 503, 16 Cal Rptr 77 (1961)

Section 311

Comment. Insofar as it relates to the law of foreign nations, Section 311 restates the substance of and supersedes the last paragraph of Section 1875 of the Code of Civil Procedure With respect to sister-state law, the result reached under existing California case law is probably the same as under Section 311 See, e g, Gognon Co v Nevada Desert Inn, 45 Cal 2d 448, 453–454, 289 P 2d 466, 471 (1955) ("Whether such a judgment is a bar . . . is controlled by Nevada law . We find no Nevada statute or case law covering the case we have here . Under those circumstances we will assume the Nevada law is not out of harmony with ours and thus we look to our law for a solution of the problem ")

The last paragraph of Section 1875, which Section 311 supersedes, applies "if the court is unable to determine" the applicable foreign law Instead, Section 311 comes into operation if the applicable out-of-state law "cannot be determined " This revised language emphasizes that every effort should be made by the court to determine the applicable law before the case is otherwise disposed of under Section 311.

The reason why the court cannot determine the applicable foreign or sister-state law may be that the parties have not provided the court with sufficient information to make such determination In such a case, the court may, of course, grant the parties additional time within which to obtain such information and make it available to the court If they fail to obtain such information and the court is not satisfied that they made a reasonable effort to do so, the court may dismiss the action without prejudice On the other hand, where counsel have made a reasonable effort and when all sources of information as to the applicable foreign or sister-state law are exhausted and the court cannot determine it, the court may either apply California law, within constitutional limits, or dismiss the action without prejudice

Comment. Subdivision (a) of Section 353 codifies the well-settled California rule that a failure to make a timely objection to, or motion to exclude or to strike, madmissible evidence waives the right to complain of the erroneous admission of evidence See WITKIN, CALIFORNIA EVIDENCE §§ 700-702 (1958) Subdivision (a) also codifies the related rule that the objection or motion must specify the ground for objection, a general objection being insufficient WITKIN, CALIFORNIA EVIDENCE §§ 703-709 (1958)

Section 353 does not specify the form in which an objection must be made; hence, the use of a continuing objection to a line of questioning would be proper under Section 353 just as it is under existing law See WITKIN, CALIFORNIA EVIDENCE § 708 (1958).

Subdivision (b) reiterates the requirement of Section 4½ of Article VI of the California Constitution that a judgment may not be reversed, nor may a new trial be granted, because of an error unless the error is prejudicial

Section 353 is, of course, subject to the constitutional requirement that a judgment must be reversed if an error has resulted in a denial of due process of law People v Matteson, 61 Cal 2d 466, 39 Cal. Rptr. 1,393 P 2d 161 (1964)

Section 356

Comment Section 356 restates the substance of and supersedes Section 1854 of the Code of Civil Procedure

The rule stated in Section 356, like the superseded statement of the rule in the Code of Civil Procedure, only makes admissible such parts of an act, declaration, conversation, or writing as are relevant to the part thereof previously given in evidence See, e g, Witt v. Jackson, 57 Cal 2d 57, 67, 17 Cal Rptr. 369, 374, 366 P 2d 641, 646 (1961) (the rule "is necessarily subject to the qualification that the court may exclude those portions of the conversation not relevant to the items thereof which have been introduced") See also EVIDENCE CODE § 350

Section 402

Comment. Under Section 310, the court must decide preliminary questions of fact upon which the admissibility of evidence depends Section 402 prescribes certain procedures that must be observed by the court when making such preliminary determinations

Subdivision (a) Subdivision (a) requires the judge to observe the procedures specified in Article 2 (commencing with Section 400) when he is determining disputed factual questions preliminary to the admission or exclusion of evidence The provisions of Article 2 are designed to distinguish clearly between (1) those situations where the judge must be persuaded of the existence of the preliminary fact upon which admissibility depends and (2) those situations where the judge must admit the proffered evidence merely upon the introduction of evidence sufficient to sustain a finding of the preliminary fact Under the Evidence Code, as under existing law, the judge determines some preliminary fact questions on the basis of all of the evidence presented to him by both parties, resolving any conflicts in that evidence EVIDENCE CODE § 405 See, e g, People v Glab, 13 Cal App 2d 528, 57 P 2d 588 (1936) (judge considered conflicting evidence and decided that a proposed witness was not married to the defendant and, therefore, was competent to testify) See also Fairbank v Hughson, 58 Cal 314 (1881) (error to permit jury to determine whether witness was an expert) On the other hand, the judge does not always resolve conflicts in the evidence submitted on preliminary fact questions, in some cases, the proffered evidence must be admitted if there is evidence sufficient to sustain a finding of the preliminary fact EVIDENCE CODE § 403 See, e g, Reed v Clark, 47 Cal 194, 200 (1873); Verzan v. McGregor, 23 Cal 339 (1863)

Subdivision (b) Subdivision (b) requires the judge, on request, to determine the admissibility of a confession or admission of a criminal defendant out of the presence and hearing of the jury. Under existing law, whether the preliminary hearing is held out of the presence of the jury is left to the judge's discretion People v Gonzales, 24 Cal 2d 870, 151 P 2d 251 (1944), People v Nelson, 90 Cal App 27, 31, 265 Pac 366, 367 (1928) The existing procedure permits the jury to hear evidence that may be extremely prejudicial For example, in People v Black, 73 Cal App 13, 238 Pac 374 (1925), the alleged coercion consisted of threats to send the defendants to New Mexico to be prosecuted for murder Subdivision (b) prevents this kind of prejudice. Nothing in subdivision (b) precludes a defendant from presenting to the jury evidence attacking the credibility of a confession that is admitted (EVIDENCE CODE § 406), and such evidence may include some of the same matters presented to the judge during the preliminary hearing

Subdivision (c) Subdivision (c) codifies existing law Wilcox v Berry, 32 Cal 2d 189, 195 P 2d 414 (1948) (where evidence is properly received, the ground of the court's ruling is immaterial); City & County of San Francisco v Western Air Lines, Inc, 204 Cal App 2d 105, 22 Cal Rptr 216 (1962) (where evidence is excluded, the ruling will be upheld if any ground exists for the exclusion)

Section 403

Comment. As indicated in the Comment to Section 402, the judge does not determine in all instances whether a preliminary fact exists or does not exist At times, the judge must admit the proffered evidence if there is evidence sufficient to sustain a finding of the preliminary fact, and the jury must finally decide whether the preliminary fact exists See, e g, Verzan v McGregor, 23 Cal 339 (1863) Section 403 covers those situations in which the judge is required to admit the proffered evidence upon the introduction of evidence sufficient to sustain a finding of the preliminary fact

Subdivision (a)

Some writers have attempted to distinguish the kinds of questions to be decided under the standard prescribed in Section 403 from the kinds of questions to be decided under the standard described in Section 405 on the ground that the former questions involve the relevancy of the proffered evidence while the latter questions involve the competency of evidence that is relevant Maguire & Epstein, Preliminary Questions of Fact in Determining the Admissibility of Evidence, 40 HARV L REV 392 (1927), Morgan, Functions of Judge and Jury in the Determination of Preliminary Questions of Fact, 43 HARV. L. REV. 165 (1929) It is difficult, however, to distinguish all preliminary fact questions upon this principle And eminent legal authorities sometimes differ over whether a particular preliminary fact question is one of relevancy or competency For example, Wigmore classifies admissions with questions of relevancy (4 WIGMORE, EVIDENCE 1 (3d ed. 1940))

while Morgan classifies admissions with questions of competency to be decided under the standard prescribed in Section 405 (MORGAN, BASIC PROBLEMS OF EVIDENCE 244 (1957))

To eliminate uncertainties of classification, subdivision (a) lists the kinds of preliminary fact questions that are to be determined under the standard prescribed in Section 403 And to eliminate any uncertainties that are not resolved by this listing, various Evidence Code sections state specifically that admissibility depends on "evidence sufficient to sustain a finding" of certain facts See, e g. EVIDENCE CODE §§ 1222, 1223, 1400

The preliminary fact questions listed in subdivision (a), or identified elsewhere as matters to be determined under the Section 403 standard, are not finally decided by the judge because they have been traditionally regarded as jury questions The questions involve the credibility of testimony or the probative value of evidence that is admitted on the ultimate issues It is the jury's function to determine the effect and value of the evidence addressed to it EVIDENCE CODE § 312 Hence, the judge's function on questions of this sort is merely to determine whether there is evidence sufficient to permit a jury to decide the question The "question of admissibility merges imperceptibly into the weight of the evidence, if admitted " Di Carlo v United States, 6 F 2d 364, 367 (2d Cir 1925) If the judge finally determined the existence or nonexistence of the preliminary fact, he would deprive a party of a jury decision on a question that the party has a right to have decided by the jury

For example, if the question of A's title to land is in issue, A may seek to prove his title by a deed from former owner O Section 1401 requires that the deed be authenticated, and the judge, under Section 403, must rule on the question of authentication If A introduces evidence sufficient to sustain a finding of the genuineness of the deed, the judge is required to admit it If the rule were otherwise and the judge, on the basis of the adverse party's evidence, were permitted to decide that the deed was spurious and not admissible, the judge would be resolving the basic factual issue in the case and A would be deprived of a jury finding on the issue, even though he is entitled to a jury decision and even though he has introduced evidence sufficient to warrant a jury finding in his favor

Illustrative of the preliminary fact questions that should be decided under Section 403 are the following·

Section 350—Relevancy Under existing law, as under Section 403, if the relevancy of proffered evidence depends on the existence of some preliminary fact, the evidence is admissible if there is evidence sufficient to warrant a jury finding of the preliminary fact Reed v Clark, 47 Cal 194, 200 (1873) Thus, for example, if P sues D upon an alleged agreement, evidence of negotiations with A is inadmissible because irrelevant unless A is shown to be D's agent, but the evidence of the negotiations with A is admissible if there is evidence sufficient to sustain a finding of the agency Brown v Spencer, 163 Cal 589, 126 Pac. 493 (1912) The same rule is applicable when a person is charged with criminal responsibility for the acts of another because they are conspirators See discussion in People v. Steccone, 36 Cal 2d 234, 238, 223 P 2d 17, 19 (1950).

Section 702—Requirement of personal knowledge Evidence sufficient to sustain a finding of a witness' personal knowledge seems to be sufficient under the existing California practice See, e g, People v Avery, 35 Cal 2d 487, 492, 218 P 2d 527, 530 (1950) ("Bolton testified that he observed the incident about which he testified His testimony, therefore, was not incompetent under Section 1845 of the Code of Civil Procedure"), People v McCarthy, 14 Cal App 148, 151, 111 Pac 274, 275 (1910) See also Tentative Recommendation and a Study Relating to the Uniform Rules of Evidence (Article IV Witnesses), 6 CAL LAW REVISION COMM'N, REP , REC & STUDIES 701, 711–713 (1964)

Section 788—Conviction of a crime when offered to attack credibility In this situation, the preliminary fact issue to be decided under Section 403 is whether the witness is actually the person who was convicted This involves the relevancy of the evidence (since, obviously, the conviction of another does not affect the witness' credibility) and should be a question to be resolved by the jury. The judge should not be able to decide finally that it was the witness who was convicted and, thus, to prevent a contest on that issue before the jury The existing law is uncertain in this regard, however, it seems likely that any evidence sufficient to identify the witness as the person convicted is sufficient to warrant admission of the conviction See People v Theodore, 121 Cal App 2d 17, 28, 262 P 2d 630, 637 (1953) (relying on presumption of identity of person from identity of name)

Section 800—Requirement that lay opinion be based on personal perception The requirement specified in Section 800 is merely a specific application of the personal knowledge requirement in Section 702 See the discussion of Section 702 in this Comment, supra

Sections 1200–1341—Identity of hearsay declarant For most hearsay evidence, admissibility depends upon two preliminary determinations (1) Did the declarant actually make the statement as claimed by the proponent of the evidence? (2) Does the statement meet certain standards of trustworthiness required by some exception to the hearsay rule?

The first determination involves the relevancy of the evidence For example, if the issue is the state of mind of X, a person's statement as to his state of mind has no tendency to prove X's state of mind unless the declarant was X Relevancy depends on the fact that X made the statement Accordingly, if otherwise competent, a hearsay statement is admitted upon evidence sufficient to sustain a finding that the claimed declarant made the statement

The second determination involves the competency of the evidence Unless the evidence meets the requisite standards of an exception to the hearsay rule, it must be kept from the trier of fact despite its relevancy either because it is too unreliable or because public policy requires its suppression For example, if an admission was in fact made by a defendant to a criminal action, the admission is relevant But public policy requires that the admission be held inadmissible if it was not given voluntarily

The admissibility of some hearsay declarations is dependent solely upon the determination that a particular declarant made the statement

Some of these exceptions to the hearsay rule—such as inconsistent statements of trial witnesses and admissions—are mentioned specifically below Since the only preliminary fact to be determined in regard to these declarations involves the relevancy of the evidence, they should be admitted upon the introduction of evidence sufficient to sustain a finding of the preliminary fact

When the admissibility of hearsay depends both upon a determination that a particular declarant made the statement and upon a determination that the requisite standards of a hearsay exception have been met, the former determination is to be made upon evidence sufficient to sustain a finding of the preliminary fact Paragraph (4) is included in subdivision (a) to make this clear

Section 1220—Admissions of a party The only preliminary fact that is subject to dispute is the identity of the declarant Under Section 403(a)(4), and admission is admissible upon the introduction of evidence sufficient to sustain a finding that the party made the statement Existing law appears to be in accord Eastman v. Means, 75 Cal App 537, 242 Pac 1089 (1925)

An admission is not admissible in a criminal case unless it was given voluntarily The voluntariness of an admission by a criminal defendant is determined under Section 405, not Section 403.

Sections 1221, 1222—Authorized and adoptive admissions Under existing law, both authorized admissions (by an agent of a party) and adoptive admissions are admitted upon the introduction of evidence sufficient to sustain a finding of the foundational fact Sample v Round Mountain Citrus Farm Co, 29 Cal App 547, 156 Pac 983 (1916) (authorized admission), Southers v Savage, 191 Cal. App 2d 100, 12 Cal Rptr 470 (1961) (adoptive admission)

Section 1223—Admission of co-conspirator The admission of a co-conspirator is another form of an authorized admission Hence, the proffered evidence is admissible upon the introduction of evidence sufficient to sustain a finding of the conspiracy Existing law is in accord People v Robinson, 43 Cal 2d 132, 137, 271 P 2d 865, 868 (1954).

Sections 1224–1227—Admission of third person whose liability, breach of duty, or right is in issue The only preliminary fact subject to dispute is the identity of the declarant, and the preliminary showing required in regard to this class of admissions is the same as if the declarant were being sued directly. Any evidence of the making of the statement by the claimed declarant is sufficient to warrant its admission Existing law is in accord See Langley v Zurich General Acc & Liab Ins Co, 219 Cal 101, 25 P 2d 418 (1933) Although Sections 1226 and 1227 are new to California law, the same principles should be applicable

Sections 1235, 1236—Previous statements of witnesses Prior inconsistent statements and prior consistent statements made before bias or other improper motive arose are dealt with in Sections 1235 and 1236 In each case, the evidence is relevant and probative if the witnesses to the statements are credible The credibility of the witnesses testifying to these statements should be decided finally by the jury Moreover, the only preliminary fact subject to dispute insofar as alleged inconsistent statements are concerned is the identity of the declarant Hence, evidence is admitted under these sections upon the introduction of evidence sufficient to sustain a finding of the preliminary fact The existing practice seems to be consistent with Section 403 See Schneider v Market Street Ry, 134 Cal 482, 492, 66 Pac 734, 738 (1901) ("Whether the [prior inconsistent] statements made to Glassman and Hubbell were made by Meley, or by some other man, was a question for the jury Both witnesses testified that they were made by him"), People v Neely, 163 Cal App 2d 289, 312, 329 P 2d 357, 371 (1958) (two prior consistent statements held admissible because the "jury could properly infer . the motive to fabricate did arise after the making of the two statements")

Sections 1400–1402—Authentication of writings Under existing law, an otherwise competent writing is admissible upon the introduction of evidence sufficient to sustain a finding of the authenticity of the writing Verzan v McGregor, 23 Cal 339 (1863) Section 403(a)(3) retains this existing law

Sections 1410–1421—Means of authenticating writings Sections 1410 through 1421 merely state several ways in which the requirements of Sections 1400 through 1402 may be met Hence, to the extent that Sections 1410 through 1421 specify facts that may be shown to authenticate writings, the same principles apply In each case, the judge must decide whether the evidence offered is sufficient to sustain a finding of the authenticity of the proffered writing and admit the writing if there is such evidence Care should be exercised, however, to distinguish those cases where the disputed preliminary fact is the authenticity of an exemplar with which the proffered writing is to be compared (EVIDENCE CODE §§ 1417-1419) or the qualification of a witness to give an opinion concerning the authenticity of a writing (EVIDENCE CODE §§ 1416, 1418), the judge is required to determine such questions under the provisions of Section 405

Subdivision (b)

Subdivision (b) restates the apparent meaning of Section 1834 of the Code of Civil Procedure Under this subdivision, the judge may receive evidence that is conditionally admissible under Section 403, subject to the presentation of evidence of the preliminary fact later in the course of the trial See Brea v McGlashan, 3 Cal App 2d 454, 465, 39 P 2d 877, 882 (1934)

Subdivision (c).

Subdivision (c) relates to the instructions to be given the jury when evidence is admitted whose admissibility depends on the existence of a preliminary fact determined under Section 403 When such evidence is admitted, the jury is required to make the ultimate determination of the existence of the preliminary fact Unless the jury is persuaded that the preliminary fact exists, it is not permitted to consider the evidence

For example, if P offers evidence of his negotiations with A in his contract action against D, the judge must admit the evidence if there is other evidence sufficient to sustain a finding that A was D's agent If the jury is not persuaded that A was in fact D's agent, then it is not permitted to consider the evidence of the negotiations with A in determining D's liability

Frequently, the jury's duty to disregard conditionally admissible evidence when it is not persuaded of the existence of the preliminary fact on which relevancy is conditioned is so clear that an instruction to this effect is unnecessary For example, if the disputed preliminary fact is the authenticity of a deed, it hardly seems necessary to instruct the jury to disregard the deed if it should find that the deed is not genuine No rational jury could find the deed to be spurious and, yet, to be still effective to transfer title from the purported grantor

At times, however, it is not quite so clear that conditionally admissible evidence should be disregarded unless the preliminary fact is found to exist In such cases, the jury should be appropriately instructed For example, the theory upon which agent's and co-conspirator's statements are admissible is that the party is vicariously responsible for the acts and statements of agents and co-conspirators within the scope of the agency or conspiracy. Yet, it is not always clear that statements made by a purported agent or co-conspirator should be disregarded if not made in furtherance of the agency or conspiracy. Hence, the jury should be instructed to disregard such statements unless it is persuaded that the statements were made within the scope of the agency or conspiracy People v Geiger, 49 Cal 643, 649 (1875), People v Talbott, 65 Cal. App 2d 654, 663, 151 P.2d 317, 322 (1944). Subdivision (c), therefore, permits the judge in any case to instruct the jury to disregard conditionally admissible evidence unless it is persuaded of the existence of the preliminary fact, further, subdivision (c) requires the judge to give such an instruction whenever he is requested by a party to do so

Comment. Section 405 requires the judge to determine the existence or nonexistence of disputed preliminary facts except in certain situations covered by Sections 403 and 404 Section 405 deals with evidentiary rules designed to withhold evidence from the jury because it is too unreliable to be evaluated properly or because public policy requires its exclusion

Under Section 405, the judge first indicates to the parties who has the burden of proof and the burden of producing evidence on the disputed issue as implied by the rule of law under which the question arises For example, Section 1200 indicates that the burden of proof is usually on the proponent of the evidence to show that the proffered evidence is within a hearsay exception Thus, if the disputed preliminary fact is whether the proffered statement was spontaneous, as required by Section 1240, the proponent would have the burden of persuading the judge as to the spontaneity of the statement On the other hand, the privilege rules usually place the burden of proof on the objecting party to show that a privilege is applicable Thus, if the disputed preliminary fact is whether a person is married to a party and, hence, whether their confidential communications are privileged under Section 980, the burden of proof is on the party asserting the privilege to persuade the judge of the existence of the marriage.

After the judge has indicated to the parties who has the burden of proof and the burden of producing evidence, the parties submit their evidence on the preliminary issue to the judge. If the judge is persuaded by the party with the burden of proof, he finds in favor of that party in regard to the preliminary fact and either admits or excludes the proffered evidence as required by the rule of law under which the question arises. Otherwise, he finds against that party on the preliminary fact and either admits or excludes the proffered evidence as required by such finding.

Section 405 is generally consistent with existing law. CODE CIV. PROC. § 2102 ("All questions of law, including the admissibility of testimony, [and] the facts preliminary to such admission, . . . are to be decided by the Court") (superseded by EVIDENCE CODE § 310).

Examples of preliminary fact issues to be decided under Section 405.

Illustrative of the preliminary fact questions that should be decided under Section 405 are the following:

Section 701—Disqualification of a witness for lack of mental capacity. Under existing law, as under this code, the party objecting to a proffered witness has the burden of proving the witness' lack of capacity. People v. Craig, 111 Cal. 460, 469, 44 Pac. 186, 188 (1896), People v. Tyree, 21 Cal. App. 701, 706, 132 Pac. 784, 786 (1913) (disapproved on other grounds in People v. McCaughan, 49 Cal.2d 409, 420, 317 P.2d 974, 981 (1957)).

Section 720—Qualifications of an expert witness. Under Section 720, as under existing law, the proponent must persuade the judge that his expert is qualified, and it is error for the judge to submit the qualifications of the expert to the jury. Fairbank v. Hughson, 58 Cal. 314 (1881); Eble v. Peluso, 80 Cal. App.2d 154, 181 P.2d 680 (1947).

Section 788—Conviction of a crime when offered to attack credibility. If the disputed preliminary fact is whether a pardon or some similar relief has been granted to a witness convicted of a crime, the judge's determination is made under Section 405. Cf. Comment to Section 403.

Section 870—Opinion evidence on sanity. Whether a witness is sufficiently acquainted with a person whose sanity is in question to be qualified to express an opinion on the matter involves, in effect, the expertise of the witness on that limited subject. The witness' qualifications to express such an opinion, therefore, are to be determined by the judge under Section 405 just as the qualifications of other experts are decided by the judge. See the discussion of Section 720 in this Comment, supra. Under existing law, too, determination of whether a witness is an "intimate acquaintance" is a question addressed to the court. Estate of Budan, 156 Cal. 230, 104 Pac. 442 (1909).

Sections 900–1073—Privileges. Under this code, as under existing law, the party claiming a privilege has the burden of proof on the preliminary facts. San Diego Professional Ass'n v. Superior Court, 58 Cal.2d 194, 199, 23 Cal. Rptr. 384, 387, 373 P.2d 448, 451 (1962) ("The burden of establishing that a particular matter is privileged is on the party asserting that privilege.''); Chronicle Publishing Co. v. Superior Court, 54 Cal.2d 548, 565, 7 Cal. Rptr. 109, 117, 354 P.2d 637, 645 (1960). The proponent of the proffered evidence, however, has the burden of proof upon any preliminary fact necessary to show that an exception to the privilege is applicable. But see Abbott v. Superior Court, 78 Cal. App.2d 19, 21, 177 P.2d 317, 318 (1947) (suggesting that a prima facie showing by the proponent is sufficient where the issue is whether a communication between attorney and client was made in contemplation of crime).

Sections 1152, 1154—Admissions made during compromise negotiations. With respect to admissions made during compromise negotiations, the disputed preliminary fact to be decided by the judge is whether the admission occurred during compromise negotiations or at some other time. This code places the burden on the objecting party to satisfy the judge that the admission occurred during such negotiations.

Sections 1200–1341—Hearsay evidence. When hearsay evidence is offered, two preliminary fact questions may be raised. The first question relates to the authenticity of the proffered declaration—was the statement actually made by the person alleged to have made it? The second question relates to the existence of those circumstances that make the hearsay sufficiently trustworthy to be received in evidence—e.g., was the declaration spontaneous, the confession voluntary, the business record trustworthy? Under this code, questions relating to the authenticity of the proffered declaration are decided under Section 403. See the Comment to Section 403. But other preliminary fact questions are decided under Section 405.

For example, the court must decide whether a statement offered as a dying declaration was made under a sense of impending death, and the proponent of the evidence has the burden of proof on this issue. People v. Keelin, 136 Cal. App.2d 860, 873, 289 P.2d 520, 528 (1955); People v. Pollock, 31 Cal. App.2d 747, 753-754, 89 P.2d 128, 131 (1939). Under this code, the proponent of a hearsay declaration has the burden of proof on the unavailability of the declarant as a witness under Section 1291 or 1310; but the party objecting to the evidence has the burden of proving that the unavailability of the declarant was procured by the proponent in order to prevent the declarant from testifying. See EVIDENCE CODE § 240.

Section 1416—Opinion evidence on handwriting. Whether a witness is sufficiently acquainted with the handwriting of a person to give an opinion on whether a questioned writing is in that person's handwriting involves, in effect, the expertise of the witness on the limited subject of the supposed writer's handwriting. The witness' qualifications to express such an opinion, therefore, are to be determined by the judge under Section 405 just as the qualifications of other experts are decided by the judge. See the discussion of Section 720 in this Comment, supra.

Sections 1417–1419—Comparison of writing with exemplar. Under Sections 1417 through 1419, as under existing law, the judge must be satisfied that a writing is genuine before he may admit it for comparison with other writings whose authenticity is in dispute People v Creegan, 121 Cal 554, 53 Pac 1082 (1898); Marshall v Hancock, 80 Cal 82, 22 Pac. 61 (1889).

Sections 1500-1510—Best evidence rule Under Section 405, as under existing law, the trial judge is required to determine the preliminary fact necessary to warrant reception of secondary evidence of a writing, and the burden of proof on the issue is on the proponent of the secondary evidence Cotton v. Hudson, 42 Cal App.2d 812, 110 P 2d 70 (1941).

Sections 1550, 1551—Photographic copy of writing Sections 1550 and 1551 are special exceptions to the best evidence rule, hence, Section 405 governs the determination of any disputed preliminary fact under these sections just as it governs the determination of disputed preliminary facts under Sections 1500 through 1510 See the discussion of Sections 1550-1510 in this Comment, supra

Function of court and jury under Section 405

When preliminary fact question is also an issue involved in merits of case. In some cases, a factual issue to be decided by the judge under Section 405 will coincide with an issue involved in the merits of the case For example, in People v MacDonald, 24 Cal App 2d 702, 76 P 2d 121 (1938), the defendant in an incest prosecution objected to the testimony of the prosecutrix on the ground that she was his wife The judge, in ruling on the objection, had to determine whether the prosecutrix was also the defendant's daughter and, hence, whether their marriage was incestuous and void In such a case, it would be prejudicial to the parties for the judge to inform the jury how he had decided the same factual question that it must decide in determining the merits of the case Subdivision (b), therefore, prohibits a judge from informing the jury how he decided a question under Section 405 that the jury must ultimately resolve on the merits

The judge is also prohibited from instructing the jury to disregard evidence that has been admitted if the jury's determination of a fact in deciding the merits differs from the judge's determination of the same fact under Section 405 The rules of admissibility being applied by the judge under Section 405 are designed to withhold evidence from the jury because it is too unreliable to be evaluated properly or because public policy requires its exclusion The policies underlying these rules are served only by the exclusion of the evidence No valid public or evidentiary purpose is served by submitting the admissibility question again to the jury. For example, the interspousal testimonial privilege involved in People v MacDonald, 24 Cal App 2d 702, 76 P 2d 121 (1938), exists to preclude a spouse from being involuntarily compelled to testify against the other spouse The privilege serves its purpose only if the spouse does not testify The harm the privilege is designed to prevent has occurred if the spouse testifies Therefore, subdivision (b) provides for the finality of the judge's rulings on admissibility

under Section 405 even in those cases where the factual questions decided by the judge coincide with the factual questions ultimately to be resolved by the jury.

Of course, Section 405 has no effect on the constitutional right of the judge to comment on the evidence and on the testimony and credibility of witnesses See CAL CONST, Art I, § 13, and Art VI, § 19

Confessions, dying declarations, and spontaneous statements Although Section 405 is generally consistent with existing law, it will, however, substantially change the law relating to confessions, dying declarations, and spontaneous statements Under existing law, the judge considers all of the evidence and decides whether evidence of this sort is admissible, as indicated in Section 405 But if he decides the proffered evidence is admissible, he submits the preliminary question to the jury for a final determination whether the confession was voluntary, whether the dying declaration was made in realization of impending doom, or whether the spontaneous statement was in fact spontaneous; and the jury is instructed to disregard the statement if it does not believe that the condition of admissibility has been satisfied People v Baldwin, 42 Cal 2d 858, 866–867, 270 P 2d 1028, 1033–1034 (1954) (confession—see the court's instruction, id at 866, 270 P 2d at 1033); People v Gonzales, 24 Cal 2d 870, 876–877, 151 P 2d 251, 254 (1944) (confession), People v Singh, 182 Cal 457, 476, 188 Pac 987, 995 (1920) (dying declaration), People v Keelin, 136 Cal App 2d 860 871, 289 P 2d 520, 527 (1955) (spontaneous declaration).

Under Section 405, the judge's rulings on these questions are final, the jury does not have an opportunity to redetermine the issue

Section 405 will have no effect on the admissibility of confessions where the uncontradicted evidence shows that the confession was not voluntary Under existing law, as under the Evidence Code, such a confession may not be admitted for consideration by the jury People v Trout, 54 Cal 2d 576, 6 Cal Rptr 759, 354 P 2d 231 (1960); People v Jones, 24 Cal 2d 601, 150 P 2d 801 (1944) Section 405 will also have no effect on the admissibility of confessions in those instances where, despite a conflict in the evidence, the court is persuaded that the confession was not voluntary, for, under existing law (as under the Evidence Code), "if the court concludes that the confession was not free and voluntary it is in duty bound to withhold it from the jury's consideration" People v Gonzales, 24 Cal 2d 870, 876, 151 P 2d 251, 254 (1944).

Hence, Section 405 changes the law relating to confessions only where there is a substantial conflict in the evidence over voluntariness and the court is not persuaded that the confession was involuntary Under existing law, a court that is in doubt may "pass the buck" concerning such a confession to the jury when there is a difficult factual question to resolve, for "if there is evidence that the confession was free and voluntary, it is within the court's discretion to permit it to be read to the jury, and to submit to the jury for its determination the question whether under all the circumstances the confession was made freely and voluntarily" People v Gonzales, 24 Cal 2d 870, 876, 151 P 2d 251, 254 (1944) Under the Evidence Code, however, the court is required to withhold a confession from the jury unless the court is persuaded that the confession was made freely and voluntarily The court has no "discretion" to avoid difficult decisions by shifting the responsibility to the jury If the court is in doubt, if the prosecution has not persuaded it of the voluntary nature of the confession, Section 405 requires the court to exclude the confession Thus, Section 405 makes the procedure for determining the admissibility of a confession the same as the procedure for determining the admissibility of physical evidence claimed to have been seized in violation of constitutional guarantees See People v Gorg, 45 Cal 2d 776, 291 P 2d 469 (1955). People v Chavez, 208 Cal App 2d 248, 24 Cal Rptr 895 (1962)

The existing law is based on the belief that a jury, in determining the defendant's guilt or innocence, can and will refuse to consider a confession that it has determined was involuntary even though it believes that the confession is true Section 405, on the other hand, proceeds upon the belief that it is unrealistic to expect a jury to perform such a feat Corroborating facts stated in a confession cannot but assist the jury in resolving other conflicts in the evidence The question of voluntariness will inevitably become merged with the question of guilt and the truth of the confession, and, as a result of this merger, the admitted confession will inevitably be considered on the issue of guilt The defendant will receive a greater degree of protection if the court is deprived of the power to shift its fact-determining responsibility to the jury and is required to exclude a confession whenever it is not persuaded that the confession was voluntary

The foregoing discussion has focused on confessions because the case law is well developed there But the "second crack" doctrine is equally unsatisfactory when applied to dying declarations and spontaneous statements Hence, Section 405 requires the court to rule finally on the admissibility of these statements as well

Of course, Section 405 does not prevent the presentation of any evidence to the jury that is relevant to the reliability of the hearsay statement See EVIDENCE CODE § 406. Thus, a party may present evidence of the circumstances under which a confession, dying declaration, or spontaneous statement was made where such evidence is relevant to the credibility of the statement, even though such evidence may duplicate to some degree the evidence presented to the court on the issue of admissibility But the jury's sole concern is the truth or falsity of the facts stated, not the admissibility of the statement

Comment. Judicial notice of the matters specified in Section 451 is mandatory, whether or not the court is requested to notice them Although the court errs if it fails to take judicial notice of the matters specified in this section, such error is not necessarily reversible error Depending upon the circumstances, the appellate court may hold that the error was "invited" (and, hence, is not reversible error) or that points not urged in the trial court may not be advanced on appeal These and similar principles of appellate practices are not abrogated by this section

Section 451 includes matters both of law and of fact The matters specified in subdivisions (a), (b), (c), and (d) are all matters that, broadly speaking, can be considered as a part of the "law" applicable to the particular case The court can reasonably be expected to discover and apply this law even if the parties fail to provide the court with references to the pertinent cases, statutes, regulations, and rules Other matters that also might properly be considered as a part of the law applicable to the case (such as the law of foreign nations and certain regulations and ordinances) are included under Section 452, rather than under Section 451, primarily because of the difficulty of ascertaining such matters Subdivision (c) of Section 451 requires the court to judicially notice "the true signification of all English words and phrases and of all legal expressions" These are facts that must be judicially noticed in order to conduct meaningful proceedings Similarly, subdivision (f) of Section 451 covers "universally known" facts

Listed below are the matters that must be judicially noticed under Section 451

California and federal law The decisional, constitutional, and public statutory law of California and of the United States must be judicially noticed under subdivision (a) This requirement states existing law as found in subdivision 3 of Code of Civil Procedure Section 1875 (superseded by the Evidence Code)

Charter provisions of California cities and counties. Judicial notice must be taken under subdivision (a) of the provisions of charters adopted pursuant to Section 7½ or 8 of Article XI of the California Constitution Notice of these provisions is mandatory under the State Constitution CAL CONST., Art XI, § 7½ (county charter), § 8 (charter of city or city and county)

Regulations of California and federal agencies Judicial notice must be taken under subdivision (b) of the rules, regulations, orders, and standards of general application adopted by California state agencies and filed with the Secretary of State or printed in the California Administrative Code or the California Administrative Register This is existing law as found in Government Code Sections 11383 and 11384. Under subdivision (b), judicial notice must also be taken of the rules of the State Personnel Board This, too, is existing law under Government Code Section 18576

Subdivision (b) also requires California courts to judicially notice documents published in the Federal Register (such as (1) presidential proclamations and executive orders having general applicability and legal effect and (2) orders, regulations, rules, certificates, codes of fair competition, licenses, notices, and similar instruments, having general applicability and legal effect, that are issued, prescribed, or promulgated by federal agencies) There is no clear holding that this is existing California law Although Section 307 of Title 44 of the United States Code provides that the "contents of the Federal Register shall be judicially noticed," it is not clear that this requires notice by state courts See Broadway Fed etc Loan Ass'n v Howard, 133 Cal App 2d 382, 386 note 4, 285 P 2d 61, 64 note 4 (1955) (referring to 44 U S C A §§ 301-314) Compare Note, 59 HARV L REV 1137, 1141 (1946) (doubt expressed that notice is required), with Knowlton, Judicial Notice, 10 RUTGERS L REV 501, 504 (1956) ("it would seem that this provision is binding upon the state courts") Livermore v. Beal, 18 Cal App 2d 535, 542-543, 64 P 2d 987, 992 (1937), suggests that California courts are required to judicially notice pertinent federal official action, and California courts have judicially noticed the contents of various proclamations, orders, and regulations of federal agencies. E g , Pacific Solvents Co v Superior Court, 88 Cal App 2d 953, 955, 199 P 2d 740, 741 (1948) (orders and regulations) , People v Mason, 72 Cal App 2d 699, 706-707, 165 P.2d 481, 485 (1946) (presidential and executive proclamations) (disapproved on other grounds in People v Friend, 50 Cal 2d 570, 578, 327 P 2d 97, 102 (1958)) , Downer v Grizzly Livestock & Land Co , 6 Cal App 2d 39, 42, 43 P.2d 843, 845 (1935) (rules and regulations) Section 451 makes the California law clear.

Rules of court Judicial notice of the California Rules of Court is required under subdivision (c). These rules, adopted by the Judicial Council, are as binding on the parties as procedural statutes Cantillon v Superior Court, 150 Cal App 2d 184, 309 P 2d 890 (1957) See Albermont Petroleum, Ltd v Cunningham, 186 Cal. App 2d 84, 9 Cal. Rptr 405 (1960) Likewise, the rules of pleading, practice, and procedure promulgated by the United States Supreme Court are required to be judicially noticed under subdivision (d)

The rules of the California and federal courts which are required to be judicially noticed under subdivisions (c) and (d) are, or should be, familiar to the court or easily discoverable from materials readily available to the court However, this may not be true to the court rules of sister states or other jurisdictions nor, for example, of the rules of the various United States Courts of Appeals or local rules of a particular superior court See Albermont Petroleum, Ltd v Cunningham, 186 Cal App 2d 84, 9 Cal Rptr 405 (1960) Judicial notice of these rules is permitted under subdivision (e) of Section 452 but is not required unless there is compliance with the provisions of Section 453

State Bar Rules of Professional Conduct. The Rules of Professional Conduct of the State Bar of California are, in effect, rules of the Supreme Court, for they must be approved by that court Barton v State Bar, 209 Cal. 677, 289 Pac 818 (1930) Subdivision (c), therefore, requires the court to take judicial notice of these rules to the same extent that it takes notice of other rules of court

Words, phrases, and legal expressions Subdivision (e) requires the court to take judicial notice of "the true signification of all English words and phrases and of all legal expressions " This restates the same matter covered in subdivision 1 of Code of Civil Procedure Section 1875 Under existing law, however, it is not clear that judicial notice of these matters is mandatory

"Universally known" facts Subdivision (f) requires the court to take judicial notice of indisputable facts and propositions universally known "Universally known" does not mean that every man on the street has knowledge of such facts A fact known among persons of reasonable and average intelligence and knowledge will satisfy the "universally known" requirement Cf People v Tossetti, 107 Cal App 7, 12, 289 Pac 881, 883 (1930)

Subdivision (f) should be contrasted with subdivisions (g) and (h) of Section 452, which provide for judicial notice of indisputable facts and propositions that are matters of common knowledge or are capable of immediate and accurate determination by resort to sources of reasonably indisputable accuracy Subdivisions (g) and (h) permit notice of facts and propositions that are indisputable but are not "universally" known

Judicial notice does not apply to facts merely because they are known to the judge to be indisputable The facts must fulfill the requirements of subdivision (f) of Section 451 or subdivision (g) or (h) of Section 452 If a judge happens to know a fact that is not widely enough known to be subject to judicial notice under this division, he may not "notice" it

It is clear under existing law that the court may judicially notice the matters specified in subdivision (f); it is doubtful, however, that the court must notice them See Varcoe v Lee, 180 Cal 338, 347, 181 Pac 223, 227 (1919) (dictum) Since subdivision (f) covers universally known facts, the parties ordinarily will expect the court to take judicial notice of them, the court should not be permitted to ignore such facts merely because the parties fail to make a formal request for judicial notice

Comment. Section 452 includes matters both of law and of fact The court may take judicial notice of these matters, even when not requested to do so; it is required to notice them if a party requests it and satisfies the requirements of Section 453

The matters of law included under Section 452 may be neither known to the court nor easily discoverable by it because the sources of information are not readily available However, if a party requests it and furnishes the court with "sufficient information" for it to take judicial notice, the court must do so if proper notice has been given to each adverse party See EVIDENCE CODE § 453 Thus, judicial notice of these matters of law is mandatory only if counsel adequately discharges his responsibility for informing the court as to the law applicable to the case The simplified process of judicial notice can then be applied to all of the law applicable to the case, including such law as ordinances and the law of foreign nations.

Although Section 452 extends the process of judicial notice to some matters of law which the courts do not judicially notice under existing law, the wider scope of such notice is balanced by the assurance that the matter need not be judicially noticed unless adequate information to support its truth is furnished to the court Under Section 453, this burden falls upon the party requesting that judicial notice be taken In addition, the parties are entitled under Section 455 to a reasonable opportunity to present information to the court as to the propriety of taking judicial notice and as to the tenor of the matter to be noticed.

Listed below are the matters that may be judicially noticed under Section 452 (and must be noticed if the conditions specified in Section 453 are met)

Law of sister states Subdivision (a) provides for judicial notice of the decisional, constitutional, and statutory law in force in sister states.

California courts now take judicial notice of the law of sister states under subdivision 3 of Section 1875 of the Code of Civil Procedure However, Section 1875 seems to pr lude notice of sister-state law as interpreted by the intermediate-app late courts of sister states, whereas Section 452 permits notice of relev nt decisions of all sister-state courts If this be an extension of existing law, it is a desirable one, for the courts of sister states generally can be considered as responsive to the need for properly determining the law as are equivalent courts in California The existing law also is not clear as to whether a request for judicial notice of sister-state law is required and whether judicial notice is mandatory On the necessity for a request for judicial notice, see Comment, 24 CAL L REV 311, 316 (1936) On whether judicial notice is mandatory, see In re Bartges, 44 Cal 2d 241, 282 P 2d 47 (1955), and the opinion of the Supreme Court in denying a hearing in Estate of Moore, 7 Cal App 2d 722, 726, 48 P 2d 28, 29 (1935)

Law of territories and possessions of the United States Subdivision (a) also provides for judicial notice of the decisional, constitutional, and statutory law in force in the territories and possessions of the United States See the broad definition of "state" in EVIDENCE CODE § 220 It is not clear under existing California law whether this law is treated as sister-state law or foreign law See WITKIN, CALIFORNIA EVIDENCE § 45 (1958)

Resolutions and private acts Subdivision (a) provides for judicial notice of resolutions and private acts of the Congress of the United States and of the legislature of any state, territory, or possession of the United States See the broad definition of "state" in EVIDENCE CODE § 220

The California law on this matter is not clear Our courts are authorized by subdivision 3 of Code of Civil Procedure Section 1875 to take judicial notice of private statutes of this State and the United States, and they probably would take judicial notice of resolutions of this State and the United States under the same subdivision It is not clear whether such notice is compulsory It may be that judicial notice of a private act pleaded in a criminal action pursuant to Penal Code Section 963 is mandatory, whereas judicial notice of the same private act may be discretionary when pleaded in a civil action pursuant to Section 459 of the Code of Civil Procedure

Although no case in point has been found, California courts probably would not take judicial notice of a resolution or private act of a sister state or territory or possession of the United States Although Section 1875 is not the exclusive list of the matters that will be judicially noticed, the courts did not take judicial notice of a private statute prior to the enactment of Section 1875 Ellis v Eastman, 32 Cal 447 (1867).

Regulations, ordinances, and similar legislative enactments Subdivision (b) provides for judicial notice of regulations and legislative enactments adopted by or under the authority of the United States or of any state, territory, or possession of the United States, including public entities therein See the broad definition of "public entity" in

EVIDENCE CODE § 200 The words "regulations and legislative enactments" include such matters as "ordinances" and other similar legislative enactments Not all public entities legislate by ordinance

This subdivision changes existing law Under existing law, municipal courts take judicial notice of ordinances in force within their jurisdiction People v Cowles, 142 Cal App 2d Supp 865, 867, 298 P 2d 732, 733-734 (1956), People v Crittenden, 93 Cal App 2d Supp 871, 877, 209 P 2d 161, 165 (1949) In addition, an ordinance pleaded in a criminal action pursuant to Penal Code Section 963 must be judicially noticed On the other hand, neither the superior court nor a district court of appeal will take judicial notice in a civil action of municipal or county ordinances Thompson v Guyer-Hays, 207 Cal App 2d 366, 24 Cal Rptr 461 (1962), County of Los Angeles v Bartlett, 203 Cal App 2d 523, 21 Cal Rptr 776 (1962), Becerra v Hochberg, 193 Cal App 2d 431, 14 Cal Rptr 101 (1961) It seems safe to assume that ordinances of sister states and of territories and possessions of the United States would not be judicially noticed under existing law

Judicial notice of certain regulations of California and federal agencies is mandatory under subdivision (b) of Section 451 Subdivision (b) of Section 452 provides for judicial notice of California and federal regulations that are not included under subdivision (b) of Section 451 and, also, for judicial notice of regulations of other states and territories and possessions of the United States

Both California and federal regulations have been judicially noticed under subdivision 3 of Code of Civil Procedure Section 1875 18 CAL JUR 2d Evidence § 24 Although no case in point has been found, it is unlikely that regulations of other states or territories or possessions of the United States would be judicially noticed under existing law

Official acts of the legislative, executive, and judicial departments Subdivision (c) provides for judicial notice of the official acts of the legislative, executive, and judicial departments of the United States and any state, territory, or possession of the United States See the broad definition of "state" in EVIDENCE CODE § 220 Subdivision (c) states existing law as found in subdivision 3 of Code of Civil Procedure Section 1875 Under this provision, the California courts have taken judicial notice of a wide variety of administrative and executive acts, such as proceedings and reports of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, records of the State Board of Education, and records of a county planning commission See WITKIN, CALIFORNIA EVIDENCE § 49 (1958), and 1963 Supplement thereto

Court records and rules of court Subdivisions (d) and (e) provide for judicial notice of the court records and rules of court of (1) any court of this State or (2) any court of record of the United States or of any state, territory, or possession of the United States See the broad definition of "state" in EVIDENCE CODE § 220 So far as court records are concerned, subdivision (d) states existing law Flores v Arroyo, 56 Cal 2d 492, 15 Cal Rptr 87, 364 P 2d 263 (1961) While the provisions of subdivision (c) of Section 452 are broad enough to include court records, specific mention of these records in subdivision (d) is desirable in order to eliminate any uncertainty in the law on this point See the Flores case, supra

Subdivision (e) may change existing law so far as judicial notice of rules of court is concerned, but the provision is consistent with the modern philosophy of judicial notice as indicated by the holding in Flores v Arroyo, supra To the extent that subdivision (e) overlaps with subdivisions (c) and (d) of Section 451, notice is, of course, mandatory under Section 451

Foreign law Subdivision (f) provides for judicial notice of the law of organizations of nations, foreign nations, and public entities in foreign nations See the broad definition of "public entity" in EVIDENCE CODE § 200 Subdivision (f) should be read in connection with Sections 310, 311, 453, and 454 These provisions retain the substance of the existing law which was enacted in 1957 upon recommendation of the California Law Revision Commission CODE CIV PROC § 1875 See 1 CAL LAW REVISION COMM'N, REP REC & STUDIES, Recommendation and Study Relating to Judicial Notice of the Law of Foreign Countries at I-1 (1957).

Subdivision (f) refers to "the law" of organizations of nations, foreign nations, and public entities in foreign nations This makes all law, in whatever form, subject to judicial notice

Matters of "common knowledge" and verifiable facts Subdivision (g) provides for judicial notice of matters of common knowledge within the court's territorial jurisdiction that are not subject to dispute "Territorial jurisdiction," in this context, refers to the county in which a superior court is located or the judicial district in which a municipal or justice court is located The fact of which notice is taken need not be something physically located within the court's territorial jurisdiction, but common knowledge of the fact must exist within the court's territorial jurisdiction Subdivision (g) reflects existing case law Varcoe v Lee, 180 Cal 338, 181 Pac 223 (1919), 18 CAL JUR 2d Evidence § 19 at 439–440 The California courts have taken judicial notice of a wide variety of matters of common knowledge WITKIN, CALIFORNIA EVIDENCE §§ 50–52 (1958)

Subdivision (h) provides for judicial notice of indisputable facts immediately ascertainable by reference to sources of reasonably indisputable accuracy In other words, the facts need not be actually known if they are readily ascertainable and indisputable Sources of "reasonably indisputable accuracy" include not only treatises, encyclopedias, almanacs, and the like, but also persons learned in the subject matter This would not mean that reference works would be received in evidence or sent to the jury room Their use would be limited to consultation by the judge and the parties for the purposes of determining whether or not to take judicial notice and determining the tenor of the matter to be noticed

Subdivisions (g) and (h) include, for example, facts which are accepted as established by experts and specialists in the natural, physical, and social sciences, if those facts are of such wide acceptance that to submit them to the jury would be to risk irrational findings These subdivisions include such matters listed in Code of Civil Procedure Section 1875 as the "geographical divisions and political history of the world." To the extent that subdivisions (g) and (h) overlap subdivision (f) of Section 451, notice is, of course, mandatory under Section 451

The matters covered by subdivisions (g) and (h) are included in Section 452, rather than Section 451, because it seems reasonable to put the burden on the parties to bring adequate information before the court if judicial notice of these matters is to be mandatory See EVIDENCE CODE § 453 and the Comment thereto

Under existing law, courts take judicial notice of the matters that are included under subdivisions (g) and (h), either pursuant to Section 1875 of the Code of Civil Procedure or because such matters are matters of common knowledge which are certain and indisputable WITKIN, CALIFORNIA EVIDENCE §§ 50-52 (1958) Notice of these matters probably is not compulsory under existing law

Comment. Since one of the purposes of judicial notice is to simplify the process of proofmaking, the judge should be given considerable latitude in deciding what sources are trustworthy This section permits the court to use any source of pertinent information, including the advice of persons learned in the subject matter It probably restates existing law as found in Section 1875 of the Code of Civil Procedure See Estate of McNamara, 181 Cal 82, 89-91, 183 Pac 552, 555 (1919), Rogers v Cady, 104 Cal 288, 290, 38 Pac 81 (1894) (dictum), Tentative Recommendation and a Study Relating to the Uniform Rules of Evidence (Article II Judicial Notice), 6 CAL LAW REVISION COMM'N, REP., REC & STUDIES 801, 850-851 (1964)

Subdivision (b) preserves a limitation, now appearing in the next to the last paragraph of Code of Civil Procedure Section 1875, on the form in which expert advice on foreign law may be received

Section 460

Comment. Section 460 makes it clear that a court may appoint experts on matters that are subject to judicial notice when the advice of such persons is required in order to enable the court to take such notice Such persons are to be appointed and compensated in the same manner as expert witnesses are appointed and compensated under the provisions of Evidence Code Sections 730–733 In the normal case, the parties may be expected to produce the advice of experts if it is needed Section 460, however, enables the court to appoint experts in those cases where the advice of an expert not identified with a party seems desirable

Section 600

Comment. The definition of a presumption in Section 600 is substantially the same as that contained in Code of Civil Procedure Section 1959 "A presumption is a deduction which the law expressly directs to be made from particular facts" Section 600 was derived from Rule 13 of the Uniform Rules of Evidence and supersedes Code of Civil Procedure Section 1959

The second sentence of subdivision (a) may be unnecessary in light of the definition of "evidence" in Section 140—"testimony, writings, material objects, or other things presented to the senses that are offered to prove the existence or nonexistence of a fact" Presumptions, then, are not "evidence" but are conclusions that the law requires to be drawn (in the absence of a sufficient contrary showing) when some other fact is proved or otherwise established in the action

Nonetheless, the second sentence has been added here to repudiate specifically the rule of Smellie v Southern Pac Co, 212 Cal 540, 299 Pac 529 (1931). That case held that a presumption is evidence that must be weighed against conflicting evidence, and in Scott v Burke, 39 Cal.2d 388, 247 P.2d 313 (1952), the Supreme Court held that conflicting presumptions must be weighed against each other These decisions require the jury to perform an intellectually impossible task The jury is required to weigh the testimony of witnesses and other evidence as to the circumstances of a particular event against the fact that the law requires an opposing conclusion in the absence of contrary evidence and to determine which "evidence" is of greater probative force Or else, the jury is required to accept the fact that the law requires two opposing conclusions and to determine which required conclusion is of greater probative force

Moreover, the doctrine that a presumption is evidence imposes upon the party with the burden of proof a much higher burden of proof than is warranted For example, if a party with the burden of proof has a presumption invoked against him and if the presumption remains in the case as evidence even though the jury believes that he has produced a preponderance of the evidence, the effect is that he must produce some additional but unascertainable quantum of proof in order to dispel the effect of the presumption See Scott v Burke, 39 Cal 2d 388, 405-406, 247 P 2d 313, 323-324 (1952) (dissenting opinion) The doctrine that a presumption is evidence gives no guidance to the jury or to the parties as to the amount of this additional proof The most that should be expected of a party in a civil case is that he prove his case by a preponderance of the evidence (unless some specific presumption or rule of law requires proof of a particular issue by clear and convincing evidence) The most that should be expected of the prosecution in a criminal case is that it establish the defendant's guilt beyond a reasonable doubt To require some additional quantum of proof, unspecified and uncertain in amount, to dispel a presumption which persists as evidence in the case unfairly weights the scales of justice against the party with the burden of proof

To avoid the confusion engendered by the doctrine that a presumption is evidence, this code describes "evidence" as the matters presented in judicial proceedings and uses presumptions solely as devices to aid in determining the facts from the evidence presented

The definition of "inference" in subdivision (b) restates in substance the definition contained in Code of Civil Procedure Sections 1958 and 1960 Under the Evidence Code an inference is not itself evidence, it is the result of reasoning from evidence

In the sections that follow, the Evidence Code classifies presumptions and lists a number of specific presumptions Some presumptions that have been listed in the Code of Civil Procedure have not been listed as presumptions in the Evidence Code But the fact that a statutory presumption has been repealed will not preclude the drawing of any appropriate inferences from the facts that would have given rise to the presumption And, in appropriate cases, the court may instruct the jury on the propriety of drawing particular inferences.

Comment. Section 604 describes the manner in which a presumption affecting the burden of producing evidence operates Such a presumption is merely a preliminary assumption in the absence of contrary evidence, i.e., evidence sufficient to sustain a finding of the nonexistence of the presumed fact If contrary evidence is introduced, the trier of fact must weigh the inferences arising from the facts that gave rise to the presumption against the contrary evidence and resolve the conflict. For example, if a party proves that a letter was mailed, the trier of fact is required to find that the letter was received in the absence of any believable contrary evidence However, if the adverse party denies receipt, the presumption is gone from the case The trier of fact must then weigh the denial of receipt against the inference of receipt arising from proof of mailing and decide whether or not the letter was received

If a presumption affecting the burden of producing evidence is relied on, the judge must determine whether there is evidence sufficient to sustain a finding of the nonexistence of the presumed fact If there is such evidence, the presumption disappears and the judge need say nothing about it in his instructions If there is not evidence sufficient to sustain a finding of the nonexistence of the presumed fact, the judge should instruct the jury concerning the presumption If the basic fact from which the presumption arises is established (by the pleadings, by stipulation, by judicial notice, etc.) so that the existence of the basic fact is not a question of fact for the jury, the jury should be instructed that the presumed fact is also established If the basic fact is a question of fact for the jury, the judge should charge the jury that, if it finds the basic fact, the jury must also find the presumed fact MORGAN, BASIC PROBLEMS OF EVIDENCE 36-38 (1957)

Of course, in a criminal case, the jury has the power to disregard the judge's instructions and find a defendant guilty of a lesser crime than that shown by the evidence or acquit a defendant despite the facts established by the undisputed evidence Cf People v Powell, 34 Cal 2d 196, 208 P 2d 974 (1949); Pike, What Is Second Degree Murder in California?, 9 So CAL L REV 112, 128–132 (1936) Nonetheless, the jury should be instructed on the rules of law applicable, including those rules of law called presumptions The fact that the jury may choose to disregard the applicable rules of law should not affect the nature of the instructions given See People v Lem You, 97 Cal 224, 32 Pac 11 (1893); People v Macken, 32 Cal App 2d 31, 89 P 2d 173 (1939).

Comment. Section 606 describes the manner in which a presumption affecting the burden of proof operates In the ordinary case, the party against whom it is invoked will have the burden of proving the nonexistence of the presumed fact by a preponderance of the evidence Certain presumptions affecting the burden of proof may be overcome only by clear and convincing proof When such a presumption is relied on, the party against whom the presumption operates will have a heavier burden of proof and will be required to persuade the trier of fact of the nonexistence of the presumed fact by proof " 'sufficiently strong to command the unhesitating assent of every reasonable mind' " Sheehan v Sullivan, 126 Cal 189, 193, 58 Pac 543, 544 (1899)

If the party against whom the presumption operates already has the same burden of proof as to the nonexistence of the presumed fact that is assigned by the presumption, the presumption can have no effect on the case and no instruction in regard to the presumption should be given See Speck v Sarver, 20 Cal 2d 585, 590, 128 P 2d 16, 19 (1942) (dissenting opinion by Traynor, J), Morgan, Instructing the Jury Upon Presumptions and Burden of Proof, 47 HARV. L REV 59, 69 (1933) If the evidence is not sufficient to sustain a finding of the nonexistence of the presumed fact, the judge's instructions will be the same as if the presumption were merely a presumption affecting the burden of producing evidence See the Comment to Section 604 If there is evidence of the nonexistence of the presumed fact, the judge should instruct the jury on the manner in which the presumption affects the factfinding process If the basic fact from which the presumption arises is so established that the existence of the basic fact is not a question of fact for the jury (as, for example, by the pleadings, by judicial notice, or by stipulation of the parties), the judge should instruct the jury that the existence of the presumed fact is to be assumed until the jury is persuaded to the contrary by the requisite degree of proof (proof by a preponderance of the evidence, clear and convincing proof, etc) See MCCORMICK, EVIDENCE § 317 at 672 (1954) If the basic fact is a question of fact for the jury, the judge should instruct the jury that, if it finds the basic fact, it must also find the presumed fact unless persuaded of the nonexistence of the presumed fact by the requisite degree of proof MORGAN, BASIC PROBLEMS OF EVIDENCE 38 (1957)

In a criminal case, a presumption affecting the burden of proof may be relied upon by the prosecution to establish an element of the crime with which the defendant is charged The effect of the presumption on the factfinding process and the nature of the instructions in such a case are described in Section 607 and the Comment thereto On other issues, a presumption affecting the burden of proof will have the same effect in a criminal case as it does in a civil case, and the instructions will be the same

Comment. If a presumption affecting the burden of proof is relied upon by the prosecution in a criminal case to establish a fact essential to the defendant's guilt, the defendant will not be required to overcome the presumption by clear and convincing evidence or even by a preponderance of the evidence; the defendant will be required merely to raise a reasonable doubt as to the existence of the presumed fact This is the effect of a presumption in a criminal case under existing law People v Hardy, 33 Cal 2d 52, 198 P 2d 865 (1948), People v Scott, 24 Cal 2d 774, 151 P 2d 517 (1944); People v Agnew, 16 Cal 2d 655, 107 P 2d 601 (1940)

Instructions in criminal cases on presumptions affecting the burden of proof will be similar to the instructions given on presumptions and on issues where the defendant has the burden of proof under existing law. Where no evidence has been introduced to show the nonexistence of the presumed fact, the court should instruct the jury that, if it finds beyond a reasonable doubt the facts giving rise to the presumption, it should also find the presumed fact Where some evidence of the nonexistence of the presumed fact has been introduced, the court should instruct the jury that, if it finds beyond a reasonable doubt the facts giving rise to the presumption, it should also find the presumed fact unless the contrary evidence has raised a reasonable doubt as to the existence of the presumed fact Cf People v Hardy, 33 Cal 2d 52, 63–64, 198 P 2d 865, 871–872 (1948), People v Agnew, 16 Cal 2d 655, 661–667, 107 P 2d 601, 603–607 (1940), People v Martina, 140 Cal App 2d 17, 25, 294 P 2d 1015, 1019 (1956) The judge must be careful to specify that a presumption is rebutted by any evidence that raises a reasonable doubt as to the presumed fact In the absence of this qualification, the jury may be led to believe that the defendant has the burden of disproof of the presumed fact by a preponderance of the evidence and the instruction will be erroneous People v Agnew, 16 Cal 2d 655, 107 P 2d 601 (1940) Cf People v Hardy, 33 Cal 2d 52, 198 P 2d 865 (1948).

Of course, in a criminal case, the jury may choose to disregard the instructions relating to presumptions But this should not affect the duty of the court to instruct the jury on the rules of law, including presumptions, applicable to the case See the Comment to Section 604.

Section 607 does not apply to the "presumption" of sanity Under the Evidence Code, the burden of proof on the issue of sanity is allocated by Section 522, and there is no "presumption" of sanity See EVIDENCE CODE § 522 and the Comment thereto Hence, notwithstanding the provisions of Section 607, a defendant who pleads insanity has the burden of proving by a preponderance of the evidence that he was insane See the Comment to Section 501

Comment. The first sentence of Section 664 restates and supersedes subdivision 15 of Code of Civil Procedure Section 1963

Under existing law, there is a common law presumption that an arrest made without a warrant is unlawful People v Agnew, 16 Cal 2d 655, 107 P 2d 601 (1940) Under this common law presumption, if a person arrests another without the color of legality provided by a warrant, the person making the arrest must prove the circumstances that justified the arrest without a warrant Badillo v Superior Court, 46 Cal 2d 269, 294 P 2d 23 (1956); Dragna v White, 45 Cal 2d 469, 471, 289 P 2d 428, 430 (1955) ("Upon proof of [arrest without process] the burden is on the defendants to prove justification for the arrest ") The second sentence of Section 664 makes it clear that the presumption of regular performance of official duty is mappli cable whenever facts have been established that give rise to the common law presumption regarding the illegality of an arrest made without a warrant

Section 665

Comment. Section 665 restates and supersedes the presumption in subdivision 3 of Code of Civil Procedure Section 1963 The second sentence in this section also appears in Section 668 (restating the presumption in subdivision 2 of Code of Civil Procedure Section 1963). These sentences reflect the fact that it is error to rely on these presumptions when specific intent is in issue in a criminal case See People v. Snyder, 15 Cal 2d 706, 104 P 2d 639 (1940); People v. Maciel, 71 Cal. App. 213, 234 Pac 877 (1925)

Section 666

Comment. Section 666 restates and supersedes the presumption in subdivision 16 of Code of Civil Procedure Section 1963 Under existing law, the presumption applies only to courts of general jurisdiction; the presumption has been held inapplicable to a superior court in California when acting in a special or limited jurisdiction Estate of Sharon, 179 Cal. 447, 177 Pac 283 (1918) The presumption also has been held inapplicable to courts of inferior jurisdiction Santos v Dondero, 11 Cal App 2d 720, 54 P 2d 764 (1936) There is no reason to perpetuate this distinction insofar as the courts of California and of the United States are concerned California's municipal and justice courts are served by able and conscientious judges and are no more likely to act beyond their jurisdiction than are the superior courts Moreover, there is no reason to suppose that a superior court or a federal court is less respectful of its jurisdiction when acting in a limited capacity (for example, as a juvenile court) than it is when acting in any other capacity Section 666, therefore, applies to any court or judge of any court of California or of the United States So far as other states are concerned, the distinction is still applicable, and the presumption applies only to courts of general jurisdiction

Under Section 666, as under existing law, the presumption applies only when the act of the court or judge is under collateral attack See City of Los Angeles v Glassell, 203 Cal 44, 262 Pac 1084 (1928)

Section 668

Comment. Section 668 restates and supersedes the presumption in subdivision 2 of Code of Civil Procedure Section 1963 See the Comment to Section 665

Section 703

Comment. Under existing law, a judge may be called as a witness even if a party objects, but the judge in his discretion may order the trial to be postponed or suspended and to take place before another judge CODE CIV PROC § 1883 (superseded by EVIDENCE CODE §§ 703 and 704) But see People v Connors, 77 Cal App 438, 450-457, 246 Pac 1072, 1076-1079 (1926) (dictum) (abuse of discretion for the presiding judge to testify to important and necessary facts)

Section 703, however, precludes the judge from testifying if a party objects Before the judge may be called to testify in a civil or criminal action, he must disclose to the parties out of the presence and hearing of the jury the information he has concerning the case After such disclosure, if no party objects, the judge is permitted—but not required—to testify.

Section 703 is based on the fact that examination and cross-examination of a judge-witness may be embarrassing and prejudical to a party. By testifying as a witness for one party, a judge appears in a partisan attitude before the jury Objections to questions and to his testimony must be ruled on by the witness himself The extent of cross-examination and the introduction of impeaching and rebuttal evidence may be limited by the fear of appearing to attack the judge personally For these and other reasons, Section 703 is preferable to Code of Civil Procedure Section 1883

Subdivision (c) is designed to prevent a plea of double jeopardy by a defendant who either calls or objects to the calling of the judge to testify Under subdivision (c), the defendant will, in effect, have consented to the mistrial and thus waived any objection to a retrial See WITKIN, CALIFORNIA CRIMES § 193 (1963)

Comment. Under existing law, a juror may be called as a witness even if a party objects, but the judge in his discretion may order the trial to be postponed or suspended and to take place before another jury CODE CIV PROC § 1883 (superseded by EVIDENCE CODE §§ 703 and 704) Section 704, on the other hand, prevents a juror from testifying before the jury if any party objects

A juror-witness is in an anomalous position He manifestly cannot weigh his own testimony impartially A party affected adversely by the juror's testimony is placed in an embarrassing position He cannot freely cross-examine or impeach the juror for fear of antagonizing the juror—and perhaps his fellow jurors as well And, if he does not attack the juror's testimony, the other jurors may give his testimony undue weight For these and other reasons, Section 704 forbids jurors to testify over the objection of any party

Before a juror may be called to testify before the jury in a civil or criminal action, he is required to disclose to the parties out of the presence and hearing of the remaining jurors the information he has concerning the case After such disclosure, if no party objects, the juror is required to testify. If a party objects, the objection is deemed a motion for mistrial and the judge is required to declare a mistrial and order the action assigned for trial before another jury

Section 704 is concerned only with the problem of a juror who is called to testify before the jury Section 704 does not deal with voir dire examinations of jurors, with testimony of jurors in post-verdict proceedings (such as on motions for new trial), or with the testimony of jurors on any other matter that is to be decided by the court. Cf. EVIDENCE CODE § 1150 and the Comment thereto

Subdivision (c) is designed to prevent a plea of double jeopardy by a defendant who either calls or objects to the calling of the juror to testify. Under subdivision (c), the defendant will, in effect, have consented to the mistrial and thus waived any objection to a retrial See WITKIN, CALIFORNIA CRIMES § 193 (1963)

Section 767

Comment. Subdivision (a) restates the substance of and supersedes the last sentence of Section 2046 of the Code of Civil Procedure Subdivision (b) is based on and supersedes a phrase that appears in Code of Civil Procedure Section 2048

The exception stated at the beginning of the section continues the present law that permits leading questions on direct examination where there is little danger of improper suggestion or where such questions are necessary to obtain relevant evidence This would permit leading questions on direct examination for preliminary matters, refreshing recollection, and examining handicapped witnesses, expert witnesses, and hostile witnesses See WITKIN, CALIFORNIA EVIDENCE §§ 591, 592 (1958), 3

WIGMORE, EVIDENCE § 769 et seq. (3d ed 1940) The court may also forbid the asking of leading questions on cross-examination where the witness is biased in favor of the cross-examiner and would be unduly susceptible to the influence of questions that suggested the desired answer See 3 WIGMORE, EVIDENCE § 773 (3d ed 1940).

Section 768

Comment. Existing law apparently does not require that a writing (other than one containing prior inconsistent statements used for impeachment purposes) be shown to a witness before he can be examined concerning it Section 2054 of the Code of Civil Procedure, which seems to so require, actually requires only that the adverse party be given an opportunity to inspect any writing that is actually shown to a witness before the witness can be examined concerning the writing See People v. Briggs, 58 Cal 2d 385, 413, 24 Cal Rptr 417, 435, 374 P 2d 257, 275 (1962); People v Keyes, 103 Cal App 624, 284 Pac 1096 (1930) (hearing denied); People v De Angelis, 34 Cal App 716, 168 Pac 699 (1917) Section 768 clarifies whatever doubt may exist in this regard by declaring that such a writing need not be shown to the witness before he can be examined concerning it Of course, the best evidence rule may in some cases preclude eliciting testimony concerning the content of a writing See EVIDENCE CODE § 1500 and the Comment thereto.

Insofar as Section 768 relates to prior inconsistent statements that are in writing, see the Comment to Section 769

Subdivision (b) of Section 768 preserves the right of the adverse party to inspect a writing that is actually shown to a witness before the witness can be examined concerning it As indicated above, this preserves the existing requirement declared in Code of Civil Procedure Section 2054. However, the right of inspection has been extended to all parties to the action.

Section 769

Comment. Section 769 is consistent with the existing California law regarding the examination of a witness concerning prior inconsistent oral statements Under existing law, a party need not disclose to a witness any information concerning a prior inconsistent oral statement of the witness before asking him questions about the statement People v Kidd, 56 Cal 2d 759, 765, 16 Cal Rptr 793, 796-797, 366 P 2d 49, 52-53 (1961); People v Campos, 10 Cal App 2d 310, 317, 52 P 2d 251, 254 (1935) However, if a witness' prior inconsistent statements are in writing or, as in the case of former oral testimony, have been reduced to writing, "they must be shown to the witness before any question is put to him concerning them" CODE CIV PROC. § 2052 (superseded by EVIDENCE CODE § 768), Umemoto v McDonald, 6 Cal 2d 587, 592, 58 P 2d 1274, 1276 (1936)

Section 769 eliminates the distinction made in existing law between oral and written statements and permits a witness to be asked questions concerning a prior inconsistent statement, whether written or oral, even though no disclosure is made to him concerning the prior statement (Whether a foundational showing is required before other evidence of the prior statement may be admitted is not covered in Section 769; the prerequisites for the admission of such evidence are set forth in Section 770) The disclosure of inconsistent written statements that is required under existing law limits the effectiveness of cross-examination by removing the element of surprise. The forewarning gives the dishonest witness the opportunity to reshape his testimony in conformity with the prior statement The existing rule is based on an English common law rule that has been abandoned in England for 100 years See MCCORMICK, EVIDENCE § 28 at 53 (1954)

Comment Section 771 grants to an adverse party the right to inspect any writing used to refresh a witness' recollection, whether the writing is used by the witness while testifying or prior thereto The right of inspection granted by Section 771 may be broader than the similar right of inspection granted by Section 2047 of the Code of Civil Procedure, for Section 2047 has been interpreted by the courts to grant a right of inspection of only those writings used by the witness while he is testifying People v. Gallardo, 41 Cal 2d 57, 257 P 2d 29 (1953), People v Grayson, 172 Cal App 2d 372, 341 P 2d 820 (1959), Smith v Smith, 135 Cal App 2d 100, 286 P 2d 1009 (1955) In a criminal case, however, the defendant can compel the prosecution to produce any written statement of a prosecution witness relating to matters covered in the witness' testimony People v Estrada, 54 Cal 2d 713, 7 Cal Rptr 897, 355 P 2d 641 (1960) The extent to which the public policy reflected in criminal discovery practice overrides the restrictive interpretation of Code of Civil Procedure Section 2047 is not clear See WITKIN, CALIFORNIA EVIDENCE § 602 (Supp 1963) In any event, Section 771 follows the lead of the criminal cases, such as People v Silberstein, 159 Cal App 2d Supp 848, 323 P 2d 591 (1958) (defendant entitled to inspect police report used by police officer to refresh his recollection before testifying), and grants a right of inspection without regard to when the writing is used to refresh recollection If a witness' testimony depends upon the use of a writing to refresh his recollection, the adverse party's right to inspect the writing should not be made to depend upon the happenstance of when the writing is used

Subdivision (b) gives an adverse party the right to introduce the refreshing memorandum into evidence An adverse party has a similar right under Code of Civil Procedure Section 2047, which is superseded by this section This right is not unlimited, however Only those parts of the refreshing memorandum that are pertinent to the testimony given by the witness are admissible under this rule Cf People v Silberstein, 159 Cal. App 2d Supp 848, 851–852, 323 P 2d 591, 593 (1958) ("the right to inspect [a refreshing writing] cannot be denied although its admission in evidence may be refused if its contents are immaterial"), Dragash v Western Pac R R, 161 Cal App 2d 233, 326 P 2d 649 (1958). See also EVIDENCE CODE § 356 and the Comment thereto

Subdivision (c) excuses the nonproduction of the memory-refreshing writing where the writing cannot be produced through no fault of the witness or the party eliciting his testimony concerning the matter The rule is analogous to the rule announced in People v Parham, 60 Cal 2d 378, 33 Cal. Rptr. 497, 384 P 2d 1001 (1963), which affirmed an order denying defendant's motion to strike certain witnesses' testimony where the witness' prior statements were withheld by the Federal Bureau of Investigation

It should be noted that there is no restriction in the Evidence Code on the means that may be used to refresh recollection Thus, the limitations on the types of writings that may be used as recorded memory under Section 1237 do not limit the types of writings that may be used to refresh recollection under Section 771

Comment. Subdivision (a) codifies existing but nonstatutory California law See WITKIN, CALIFORNIA EVIDENCE § 576 at 631 (1958)

Subdivision (b) is based on and supersedes the second sentence of Section 2045 of the Code of Civil Procedure The language of the existing section has been expanded, however, to require completion of each phase of examination of the witness, not merely the direct examination

Under subdivision (c), as under existing law, a party examining a witness under cross-examination, redirect examination, or recross-examination may go beyond the scope of the initial direct examination if the court permits See CODE CIV PROC §§ 2048 (last clause), 2050, WITKIN, CALIFORNIA EVIDENCE §§ 627, 697 (1958) Under the definition in Section 760, such an extended examination is direct examination Cf CODE CIV PROC § 2048 ("such examination is to be subject to the same rules as a direct examination") Such direct examination may, however, be subject to the rules applicable to a cross-examination by virtue of the provisions of Section 776, 804, or 1203

Subdivision (d) states an exception for the defendant-witness in a criminal action that reflects existing law See WITKIN, CALIFORNIA EVIDENCE § 629 at 676 (1958)

Section 775

Comment. The power of the judge to call expert witnesses is well recognized by statutory and case law in California CODE CIV PROC § 1871 (recodified as Section 723 and Article 2 (commencing with Section 730) of Chapter 3), PENAL CODE § 1027; Citizens State Bank v Castro, 105 Cal App 284, 287 Pac 559 (1930) See also CODE CIV. PROC §§ 1884 and 1885 (interpreters), continued in substance by Chapter 4 (commencing with Section 750)

The power of the judge to call other witnesses is also recognized by case law Travis v Southern Pac Co, 210 Cal App 2d 410, 425, 26 Cal Rptr 700, 707-708 (1962) ("[W]e have been cited to no case, nor has our independent research disclosed any case, dealing with a civil action in which a witness has been called to the stand by the court, over objection of a party However, we can see no difference in this respect between a civil and a criminal case In both, the endeavor of the court and the parties should be to get at the truth of the matter in contest Fundamentally, there is no reason why the court in the interests of justice should not call to the stand anyone who appears to have relevant, competent and material information")

Of course, the judge would be guilty of misconduct were he to show partiality or bias in calling and interrogating witnesses See 2 WITKIN, CALIFORNIA PROCEDURE, Trial §§ 14-17 (1954).

Section 788

Comment. Under Section 787, evidence of specific instances of a witness' conduct is inadmissible for the purpose of attacking or supporting his credibility Section 788 states an exception to this general rule where the evidence of the witness' misconduct consists of his conviction of a felony A judgment of conviction that is offered to prove that the person adjudged guilty committed the crime is hearsay See EVIDENCE CODE §§ 1200 and 1300 and the Comments thereto But the hearsay objection to the evidence specified in Section 788 is overcome by the declaration in the section that such evidence "may be shown" for the purpose of attacking a witness' credibility.

Section 788 is based on Section 2051 of the Code of Civil Procedure Under Section 788, as under Section 2051, only the testimony of the witness himself or the record of the judgment of conviction may be used to prove the fact of conviction As Section 788 is, in substance, a recodification of the existing law, it will have no effect on the case-developed rules limiting the circumstances under which a witness may be asked whether he was convicted of a felony See People v. Perez, 58 Cal 2d 229, 23 Cal Rptr 569, 373 P 2d 617 (1962), People v Darnold, 219 Cal App 2d 561, 33 Cal Rptr 369 (1963).

Subdivision (b) recodifies the provision of Section 2051 that prohibits the use of a conviction to attack credibility if a pardon has been granted upon the basis of a certificate of rehabilitation See also CODE CIV PROC. § 2065 Section 2051 is too limited, however, because it does not exclude convictions in analogous situations

Insofar as other convictions and pardons are concerned, the conviction is admissible to attack credibility, and the pardon—even though it may be based on the innocence of the defendant and his wrongful conviction for the crime—is admissible merely to mitigate the effect of the conviction People v Hardwick, 204 Cal. 582, 269 Pac 427 (1928) Moreover, the certificate of rehabilitation referred to in Section 2051 is available only to felons who have been confined in a state prison or penal institution; it is not available to persons granted probation. PENAL CODE § 4852 01 Section 1203 4 of the Penal Code provides a procedure for setting aside the convictions of rehabilitated probationers Yet, under Section 2051 of the Code of Civil Procedure, a conviction that has been set aside under Penal Code Section 1203.4 may be shown to attack the credibility of the defendant in a subsequent criminal prosecution People v James, 40 Cal App 2d 740, 105 P 2d 947 (1940)

Section 788 eliminates these anachronisms by prohibiting the use of a conviction to attack credibility if the person convicted has been determined to be either innocent or rehabilitated and a pardon has been granted or the conviction has been set aside by court order pursuant to the cited provisions of the Penal Code or he has been relieved of the penalties and disabilities of the conviction pursuant to a similar procedure provided by the laws of another jurisdiction.

Comment. Section 913 prohibits any comment on the exercise of a privilege and provides that the trier of fact may not draw any inference therefrom Except as noted below, this probably states existing law. See People v Wilkes, 44 Cal 2d 679, 284 P 2d 481 (1955) In addition, the court is required, upon request of a party who may be adversely affected, to instruct the jury that no presumption arises and that no inference is to be drawn from the exercise of a privilege If comment could be made on the exercise of a privilege and adverse inferences drawn therefrom, a litigant would be under great pressure to forego his claim of privilege and the protection sought to be afforded by the privilege would be largely negated Moreover, the inferences which might be drawn would, in many instances, be quite unwarranted

It should be noted that Section 913 deals only with comment upon, and the drawing of adverse inferences from, the exercise of a privilege Section 913 does not purport to deal with the inferences that may be drawn from, or the comment that may be made upon, the evidence in the case

Section 13 of Article I of the California Constitution provides that, in a criminal case, the failure of the defendant to explain or to deny by his testimony the evidence in the case against him may be commented upon The courts, in reliance on this provision, have held that the failure of a party in either a civil or criminal case to explain or to deny the evidence against him may be considered in determining what inferences should be drawn from that evidence People v Adamson, 27 Cal 2d 478, 165 P 2d 3 (1946), Fross v Wotton, 3 Cal 2d 384, 44 P 2d 350 (1935) However, the cases have emphasized that this right of comment and consideration does not extend in criminal cases to the drawing of inferences from the claim of privilege itself Inferences may be drawn only from the evidence in the case and the defendant's failure to explain or deny such evidence People v Ashley, 42 Cal 2d 246, 267 P 2d 271 (1954), People v Adamson, supra, 27 Cal 2d 478, 165 P 2d 3 (1946) Section 413 of the Evidence Code expresses the principle underlying this constitutional provision, nothing in Section 913 affects the application of Section 413 in either criminal or civil cases See the Comment to EVIDENCE CODE § 413 Thus, for example, it is perfectly proper under the Evidence Code for counsel to point out that the evidence against the other party is uncontradicted

Section 913 may modify existing California law as it applies in civil cases In Nelson v Southern Pacific Co., 8 Cal 2d 648, 67 P 2d 682 (1937), the Supreme Court held that evidence of a person's exercise of the privilege against self-incrimination in a prior proceeding may be shown for impeachment purposes if he testifies in a self-exculpatory manner in a subsequent proceeding The Supreme Court within recent years has overruled statements in certain criminal cases declaring a similar rule. People v Snyder, 50 Cal 2d 190, 197, 324 P 2d 1, 6 (1958) (overruling or disapproving several cases there cited) See also People v Sharer, 61 Cal 2d 869, 40 Cal Rptr 851, 395 P 2d 899 (1964) Section 913 will, in effect, overrule the holding in the Nelson case, for it declares that no inference may be drawn from an exercise of a privilege either on the issue of credibility or on any other issue, whether the privilege was exercised in the instant proceeding or on a prior occasion The status of the rule in the Nelson case has been in doubt because of the recent holdings in criminal cases, Section 913 eliminates any remaining basis for applying a different rule in civil cases

There is some language in Fross v. Wotton, 3 Cal 2d 384, 44 P 2d 350 (1935), that indicates that unfavorable inferences may be drawn in a civil case from a party's claim of the privilege against self-incrimination during the case itself Such language was unnecessary to that decision, but, if it does indicate California law, that law is changed by Evidence Code Sections 413 and 913 Under these sections, it is clear that, in civil cases as well as criminal cases, inferences may be drawn only from the evidence in the case, not from the claim of privilege

Comment. Subdivision (a) makes the general provisions concerning preliminary determinations on admissibility of evidence (Sections 400-406) applicable when a presiding officer who is not a judge is called upon to determine whether or not a privilege exists Subdivision (a) is necessary because Sections 400-406, by their terms, apply only to determinations by a court

Subdivision (b) is needed to protect persons claiming privileges in nonjudicial proceedings Because such proceedings are often conducted by persons untrained in law, it is desirable to have a judicial determination of whether a person is required to disclose information claimed to be privileged before he can be held in contempt for failing to disclose such information What is contemplated is that, if a claim of privilege is made in a nonjudicial proceeding and is overruled, application must be made to a court for an order compelling the witness to answer Only if such order is made and is disobeyed may a witness be held in contempt That the determination of privilege in a judicial proceeding is a question for the judge is well-established California law See, e.g., Holm v. Superior Court, 42 Cal 2d 500, 507, 267 P 2d 1025, 1029 (1954)

Subdivision (b), of course, does not apply to any body—such as the Public Utilities Commission—that has constitutional power to impose punishment for contempt See e.g., CAL CONST., Art XII, § 22 Nor does this subdivision apply to witnesses before the State Legislature or its committees See GOVT CODE §§ 9400-9414 Likewise, subdivision (b) does not apply to hearings and investigations of the State Industrial Accident Commission

Comment. Section 916 is needed to protect the holder of a privilege when he is not available to protect his own interest For example, a third party—perhaps the lawyer's secretary—may have been present when a confidential communication to a lawyer was made In the absence of both the holder himself and the lawyer, the secretary could be compelled to testify concerning the communication if there were no provision such as Section 916 which requires the presiding officer to recognize the privilege

Section 916 is designed to protect only privileged information that the holder of the privilege could protect by claiming the privilege at the hearing It is not designed to protect unprivileged information For example, if the statement offered in evidence is a declaration against the penal interest of the declarant, Section 916 does not authorize the presiding officer to exclude the evidence on the ground of the declar-

ant's privilege against self-incrimination If the declarant were present, his self-incrimination privilege would merely preclude his giving self-incriminating testimony at the hearing, it could not be asserted to prevent the disclosure of previously made self-incriminating statements

The erroneous exclusion of information pursuant to Section 916 on the ground that it is privileged might amount to prejudicial error On the other hand, the erroneous failure to exclude information pursuant to Section 916 could not amount to prejudicial error See EVIDENCE CODE § 918

Section 916 may be declarative of the existing law No case in point has been found, but see the language in People v Atkinson, 40 Cal 284, 285 (1870) (attorney-client privilege).

Section 917

Comment. A number of sections provide privileges for communications made "in confidence" in the course of certain relationships Although there appear to have been no cases involving the question in California, the general rule elsewhere is that a communication made in the course of such a relationship is presumed to be confidential and the party objecting to the claim of privilege has the burden of showing that it was not See generally, with respect to the marital communication privilege, 8 WIGMORE, EVIDENCE § 2336 (McNaughton rev 1961) See also Blau v United States, 340 U S 332, 333-335 (1951) (holding that marital communications are presumed to be confidential) In adopting by statute a revised version of the privileges article of the Uniform Rules of Evidence, New Jersey included such a provision in its statement of the lawyer-client privilege N J REV STAT § 2A 84A-20(3), added by N J Laws 1960, Ch. 52, p 452

If the privilege claimant were required to show that the communication was made in confidence, he would be compelled, in many cases, to reveal the subject matter of the communication in order to establish his right to the privilege Hence, Section 917 is included to establish a presumption of confidentiality, if this is not already the existing law in California See Sharon v Sharon, 79 Cal 633, 678, 22 Pac 26, 40 (1889) (attorney-client privilege); Hager v Shindler, 29 Cal 47, 63 (1865) ("Prima facie, all communications made by a client to his attorney or counsel [in the course of that relationship] must be regarded as confidential ")

To overcome the presumption, the proponent of the evidence must persuade the presiding officer that the communication was not made in confidence Of course, if the facts show that the communication was not intended to be kept in confidence, the communication is not privileged See Solon v Lichtenstein, 39 Cal 2d 75, 244 P 2d 907 (1952) And the fact that the communication was made under circumstances where others could easily overhear is a strong indication that the communication was not intended to be confidential and is, therefore unprivileged See Sharon v Sharon, 79 Cal 633, 677, 22 Pac 26, 39 (1889); People v. Castel, 153 Cal App 2d 653, 315 P 2d 79 (1957)

Section 973

Comment. Section 973 contains special waiver provisions for the privileges provided by this article

Subdivision (a) Under subdivision (a), a married person who testifies in a proceeding to which his spouse is a party waives both privileges provided for in this article Thus, for example, a married person cannot call his spouse as a witness to give favorable testimony and have that spouse invoke the privilege provided in Section 970 to keep from testifying on cross-examination to unfavorable matters, nor can a married person testify for an adverse party as to particular matters and then invoke the privilege not to testify against his spouse as to other matters

In any proceeding where a married person's spouse is not a party, the privilege not to be called as a witness is not available, and a married person may testify like any other witness without waiving the privilege provided under Section 970 so long as he does not testify against his spouse However, under subdivision (a), the privilege not to testify against his spouse in that proceeding is waived as to all matters if he testifies against his spouse as to any matter

The word "proceeding" is defined in Section 901 to include any action, civil or criminal Hence, the privilege is waived for all purposes in an action if the spouse entitled to claim the privilege testifies at any time during the action For example, if a civil action involves issues being separately tried, a wife whose husband is a party to the litigation may not testify for her husband at one trial and invoke the privilege in order to avoid testifying against him at a separate trial of a different issue Nor may a wife testify against her husband at a preliminary hearing of a criminal action and refuse to testify against him at the trial

Subdivision (b) This subdivision precludes married persons from taking unfair advantage of their marital status to escape their duty to give testimony under Section 776, which supersedes Code of Civil Procedure Section 2055 It recognizes a doctrine of waiver that has been developed in the California cases Thus, for example, when suit is brought to set aside a conveyance from husband to wife allegedly in fraud of the husband's creditors, both spouses being named as defendants, it has been held that setting up the conveyance in the answer as a defense waives the privilege Tobias v Adams, 201 Cal 689, 258 Pac 588 (1927), Schwartz v. Brandon, 97 Cal App 30, 275 Pac 448 (1929) But cf Marple v Jackson, 184 Cal 411, 193 Pac 940 (1920) Also, when husband and wife are joined as defendants in a quiet title action and assert a claim to the property, they have been held to have waived the privilege Hagen v Silva, 139 Cal App 2d 199, 293 P 2d 143 (1956) And when both spouses joined as plaintiffs in an action to recover damages to one of them, each was held to have waived the privilege as to the testimony of the other In re Strand, 123 Cal App 170, 11 P 2d 89 (1932) (It should be noted that, with respect to damages for personal injuries, Civil Code Section 163 5 (added by Cal. Stats 1957, Ch 2334, § 1, p. 4066) provides that all damages awarded to a married person in a civil action for personal injuries are the separate property of such married person) This principle of waiver has seemingly been developed by the case law to prevent a spouse from refusing to testify as to matters which affect his own interest on the ground that such testimony would also be "against" his spouse It has been held, however, that a spouse does not waive the privilege by making the other spouse his agent, even as to transactions involving the agency Ayres v Wright, 103 Cal App 610, 284 Pac 1077 (1930)

Comment. This section generally restates existing law, except that it is uncertain whether a doctor's statement to a patient giving his diagnosis is presently covered by the privilege See CODE CIV PROC § 1881(4) (superseded by the Evidence Code) See also the Comment to EVIDENCE CODE § 952

The definition here is sufficiently broad to include matters that are not ordinarily thought of as "communications" It is the communications that are defined here, however, to which reference is made throughout the remainder of the article Under Section 994, the privilege applies to the communications defined here And the exceptions in Sections 996–1007 that relate to particular communications also apply to the communications defined here Thus, there is no information protected by the privilege in Section 994 to which the exceptions cannot be applied in an appropriate case

Comment. The physician-patient privilege is not now applicable in a criminal proceeding CODE CIV PROC § 1881(4) (superseded by the Evidence Code) See also People v Griffith, 146 Cal 339, 80 Pac 68 (1905).

Section 1007

Comment. Section 998 provides that the physician-patient privilege does not apply in criminal proceedings Section 1007 provides that the physician-patient privilege may not be claimed in those administrative proceedings that are comparable to criminal proceedings, i.e., proceedings brought for the purpose of imposing discipline of some sort Under existing law, the physician-patient privilege is available in all administrative proceedings conducted under the Administrative Procedure Act because it has been incorporated by reference in Government Code Section 11513(c), but it is not specifically made available in administrative proceedings not conducted under the Administrative Procedure Act because the statute granting the privilege in terms applies only to civil actions The Evidence Code sweeps away this distinction, which has no basis in reason, and conditions the availability of the privilege in administrative proceedings on the nature of the proceeding in which the privilege is invoked

Section 1011

Comment. See the Comment to Section 991 Section 1011 is comparable to Section 991 (physician-patient privilege) except that the definition of "patient" in Section 1011 includes not only persons seeking diagnosis or treatment of a mental or emotional condition but also persons who submit to examination for purposes of psychiatric or psychological research See the Comment to Section 1014

Section 1014

Comment. This article creates a psychotherapist-patient privilege that provides much broader protection than the physician-patient privilege

Psychiatrists now have only the physician-patient privilege which is enjoyed by physicians generally On the other hand, persons who consult certified psychologists have a much broader privilege under Business and Professions Code Section 2904 (superseded by the Evidence Code) There is no rational basis for this distinction

A broad privilege should apply to both psychiatrists and certified psychologists Psychoanalysis and psychotherapy are dependent upon the fullest revelation of the most intimate and embarrassing details of the patient's life Research on mental or emotional problems requires similar disclosure Unless a patient or research subject is assured that such information can and will be held in utmost confidence, he will be reluctant to make the full disclosure upon which diagnosis and treatment or complete and accurate research depends

The Law Revision Commission has received several reliable reports that persons in need of treatment sometimes refuse such treatment from psychiatrists because the confidentiality of their communications cannot be assured under existing law Many of these persons are seriously disturbed and constitute threats to other persons in the community Accordingly, this article establishes a new privilege that grants to patients of psychiatrists a privilege much broader in scope than the ordinary physician-patient privilege Although it is recognized that the granting of the privilege may operate in particular cases to withhold relevant information, the interests of society will be better served if psychiatrists are able to assure patients that their confidences will be protected

The Commission has also been informed that adequate research cannot be carried on in this field unless persons examined in connection therewith can be guaranteed that their disclosures will be kept confidential

The privilege also applies to psychologists and supersedes the psychologist-patient privilege provided in Section 2904 of the Business and Professions Code The new privilege is one for psychotherapists generally

Generally, the privilege provided by this article follows the physician-patient privilege, and the Comments to Sections 990 through 1007 are pertinent The following differences, however, should be noted:

(1) The psychotherapist-patient privilege applies in all proceedings The physician-patient privilege does not apply in criminal proceedings This difference in the scope of the two privileges is based on the fact that the Law Revision Commission has been advised that proper psychotherapy often is denied a patient solely because he will not talk freely to a psychotherapist for fear that the latter may be compelled in a criminal proceeding to reveal what he has been told The Commission has also been advised that research in this field will be unduly hampered unless the privilege is available in criminal proceedings

Although the psychotherapist-patient privilege applies in a criminal proceeding, the privilege is not available to a defendant who puts his mental or emotional condition in issue, as, for example, by a plea of insanity or a claim of diminished responsibility See EVIDENCE CODE §§ 1016 and 1023 In such a proceeding, the trier of fact should have available to it all information that can be obtained in regard to the defendant's mental or emotional condition That evidence can often be furnished by the psychotherapist who examined or treated the patient-defendant

(2) There is an exception in the physician-patient privilege for commitment or guardianship proceedings for the patient. EVIDENCE CODE § 1004 Section 1024 provides a considerably narrower exception in the psychotherapist-patient privilege

(3) The physician-patient privilege does not apply in civil actions for damages arising out of the patient's criminal conduct EVIDENCE CODE § 999 Nor does it apply in certain administrative proceedings. EVIDENCE CODE § 1007. No similar exceptions are provided in the psychotherapist-patient privilege These exceptions appear in the physician-patient privilege because that privilege does not apply in criminal proceedings See EVIDENCE CODE § 998. Therefore, an exception is also created for comparable civil and administrative cases The psychotherapist-patient privilege, however, does apply in criminal cases; hence, there is no similar exception in administrative proceedings or civil actions involving the patient's criminal conduct.

Section 1040

Comment. Under existing law, official information is protected either by subdivision 5 of Code of Civil Procedure Section 1881 (which, like Section 1040, prohibits disclosure when the interest of the public would suffer thereby) or by specific statutes such as the provisions of the Revenue and Taxation Code prohibiting disclosure of information reported in tax returns See, e.g., REV & TAX CODE §§ 19281-19289 Section 1881 is superseded by the Evidence Code, but the specific statutes protecting official information remain in effect EVIDENCE CODE § 1040(b)(1)

Section 1040 permits the official information privilege to be invoked by the public entity or its authorized representative. Since the privilege is granted to enable the government to protect its secrets, no reason exists for permitting the privilege to be exercised by persons who are not concerned with the public interest It should be noted, however, that another statute may provide a person with a privilege not to disclose a report he made to the government, the Evidence Code has no effect on that privilege See the Comment to EVIDENCE CODE § 920. Where the government has received a report from an informant, the official information privilege may apply to that report. It does not apply, however, to the knowledge of the informant The government does not acquire a privilege to prevent an informant from revealing his knowledge merely because that knowledge has been communicated to the government

The official information privilege provided in Section 1040 does not extend to the identity of an informer Section 1041 provides special rules for determining when the government has a privilege to keep secret the identity of an informer

The privilege may be asserted to prevent testimony by anyone who has official information This provides the public entity with more protection than existing law See the Comment to EVIDENCE CODE § 954 (attorney-client privilege)

Official information is absolutely privileged if its disclosure is forbidden by either a federal or state statute Other official information is subject to a conditional privilege The judge must determine in each instance the consequences to the public of disclosure and the consequences to the litigant of nondisclosure and then decide which outweighs the other He should, of course, be aware that the public has an interest in seeing that justice is done in the particular cause as well as an interest in the secrecy of the information

Comment. Section 1042 provides special rules regarding the consequences of invocation of the privileges provided in this article by the prosecution in a criminal proceeding

Subdivision (a) This subdivision recognizes the existing California rule in a criminal case As was stated by the United States Supreme Court in United States v Reynolds, 345 U S 1, 12 (1953), "since the Government which prosecutes an accused also has the duty to see that justice is done, it is unconscionable to allow it to undertake prosecution and then invoke its governmental privileges to deprive the accused of anything which might be material to his defense " This policy applies if either the official information privilege (Section 1040) or the informer privilege (Section 1041) is exercised in a criminal proceeding

In some cases, the privileged information will be material to the issue of the defendant's guilt or innocence, in such cases, the law requires that the court dismiss the case if the public entity does not reveal the information People v McShann, 50 Cal 2d 802, 330 P 2d 33 (1958) In other cases, the privileged information will relate to narrower issues, such as the legality of a search without a warrant, in those cases, the law requires that the court strike the testimony of a particular witness or make some other order appropriate under the circumstances if the public entity insists upon its privilege Priestly v. Superior Court, 50 Cal 2d 812, 330 P 2d 39 (1958)

In cases where the legality of an arrest is in issue, Section 1042 does not require disclosure of the privileged information if there was reasonable cause for the arrest aside from the privileged information, for in such a case the identity of the informer is immaterial Cf People v Hunt, 216 Cal App 2d 753, 756-757, 31 Cal Rptr 221, 223 (1963) ("The rule requiring disclosure of an informer's identity has no application in situations where reasonable cause for arrest and search exists aside from the informer's communication ")

Subdivision (a) applies only if the privilege is asserted by the State of California or a public entity in the State of California Subdivision (a) does not require the imposition of its sanction if the privilege is invoked in an action prosecuted by the State and the information is withheld by the federal government or another state Nor may the sanction be imposed where disclosure is forbidden by federal statute In these respects, subdivision (a) states existing California law. People

v. Parham, 60 Cal.2d 378, 33 Cal Rptr. 497, 384 P 2d 1001 (1963) (prior statements of prosecution witnesses withheld by the Federal Bureau of Investigation; denial of motion to strike witnesses' testimony affirmed).

Subdivision (b). This subdivision codifies the rule declared in People v Keener, 55 Cal.2d 714, 723, 12 Cal. Rptr. 859, 864, 361 P 2d 587, 592 (1961), in which the court held that "where a search is made pursuant to a warrant valid on its face, the prosecution is not required to reveal the identity of the informer in order to establish the legality of the search and the admissibility of the evidence obtained as a result of it" Subdivision (b), however, applies to all official information, not merely to the identity of an informer

Subdivision (b) does not affect the rule that a defendant is entitled to know the identity of an informer in a case where the informer is a material witness with respect to facts directly relating to the defendant's guilt

Section 1070

Comment. Section 1070 continues without change the provisions of subdivision 6 of Code of Civil Procedure Section 1881

It should be noted that Section 1070, like the existing law, provides an immunity from being adjudged in contempt; it does not create a privilege Thus, the section will not prevent the use of other sanctions for refusal of a newsman to make discovery when he is a party to a civil proceeding See CODE CIV PROC § 2034; Bramson v Wilkerson, Civil No 760973 (L A Super Ct, January 4, 1962), as reported in 3 Cal Disc Proc 72 (Metropolitan News Review Section, January 30, 1962) (memorandum opinion by Judge Philbrick McCoy)

Section 1150

Comment. Section 1150 codifies existing law which permits evidence of misconduct by a trial juror to be received but forbids the reception of evidence as to the effect of such misconduct on the minds of the jurors People v Stokes, 103 Cal. 193, 196-197, 37 Pac. 207, 208-209 (1894).

Section 1150 makes no change in the rules concerning when testimony or affidavits of jurors may be received to impeach or support a verdict. Under existing law, a juror is incompetent to give evidence as to matters that might impeach his verdict People v. Gray, 61 Cal 164, 183 (1882) See also Siemsen v Oakland, S L, & H Elec Ry, 134 Cal. 494, 66 Pac 672 (1901) He is competent, however, to give evidence that no misconduct was committed by the jury after independent evidence has been given that there was misconduct People v Deegan, 88 Cal 602, 26 Pac 500 (1891) By statute, a juror may give evidence by affidavit that a verdict was determined by chance CODE CIV PROC § 657(2). And the courts have held that affidavits of jurors may be used to prove that a juror concealed bias or other disqualification by false answers on voir dire or was mentally incompetent to serve as a juror E g. Williams v Bridges, 140 Cal App 537, 35 P 2d 407 (1934) (false answer on voir dire); Noll v Lee, 221 Cal App 2d 81, 34 Cal Rptr 223 (1963) (hearing denied) (false answer on voir dire); Church v Capital Freight Lines, 141 Cal App 2d 246, 296 P 2d 563 (1956) (mental competence of juror)

Section 1150 also makes no change in the existing law concerning the grounds upon which a verdict may be set aside, i e, what constitutes jury misconduct See CODE CIV PROC § 657 (civil case); PENAL CODE § 1181 (criminal case)

Section 1156

Comment. Section 1156 supersedes Code of Civil Procedure Section 1936 1 (added by Cal Stats. 1963, Ch 1558, § 1, p 3142) Except as noted below, Section 1156 restates the substance of the superseded section.

The phrase "Sections 2016 to 2036, inclusive," has been inserted in Section 1156 in place of the phrase "Sections 2016 and 2036," which appears in Section 1936 1, to correct an apparent inadvertence This substitution permits use of all kinds of discovery procedures, instead of depositions only, to discover material of the type described in Section 1156 E g, CODE CIV PROC §§ 2030 (written interrogatories), 2031 (motion for order for production of documents).

Section 1156 also makes it clear that the names of patients may not be disclosed without the consent of the patient This limitation is necessary to preserve the physician-patient and psychotherapist-patient privileges

Section 1200

Comment. Section 1200 states the hearsay rule It defines hearsay evidence and provides that such evidence is inadmissible unless it meets the conditions of an exception established by law Chapter 2 (commencing with Section 1220) of this division contains a series of exceptions to the hearsay rule Other exceptions may be found in other statutes or in decisional law But the fact that certain evidence meets the requirements of an exception to the hearsay rule does not necessarily make such evidence admissible The exception merely provides that such evidence it not inadmissible under the hearsay rule If there is some other rule of law—such as privilege or the best evidence rule—that makes the evidence inadmissible, the court is not authorized to admit the evidence merely because it falls within an exception to the hearsay rule See also EVIDENCE CODE § 352

Although the California courts have excluded hearsay evidence since the earliest days of the State (see, e g, People v Bob, 29 Cal 2d 321, 175 P 2d 12 (1946), Kilburn v Ritchie, 2 Cal 145 (1852)), the hearsay rule has never been clearly stated in statutory form Code of Civil Procedure Section 1845 (superseded by Evidence Code Section 702) has at times been considered to be the statutory basis for the hearsay rule People v Spriggs, 60 Cal 2d 868, 872, 36 Cal Rptr 841, 844, 389 P 2d 377, 380 (1964) Analytically, however, Section 1845 does not deal with hearsay at all, it deals only with the requirement of personal knowledge It is true that the section provides that there is an exception to the personal knowledge requirement "in those few express cases in which . the declarations of others, are admissible", but "this section is inaccurate, so far as it refers to [this] exception In such case the witness testifies merely to the making of the declaration, which he must have heard in order to be a competent witness to testify to it, and hence, the fact to which he testifies is a fact within his own knowledge, derived from his own perceptions" Sneed v. Marysville Gas etc Co., 149 Cal. 704, 708, 87 Pac. 376, 378 (1906).

"Hearsay evidence" is defined in Section 1200 as "evidence of a statement that was made other than by a witness while testifying at the hearing and that is offered to prove the truth of the matter stated" Under this definition, as under existing case law, a statement that is offered for some purpose other than to prove the fact stated therein is not hearsay. Smith v. Whittier, 95 Cal. 279, 30 Pac. 529 (1892) See WITKIN, CALIFORNIA EVIDENCE §§ 215-218 (1958).

The word "statement" used in the definition of "hearsay evidence" is defined in Section 225 as "oral or written verbal expression" or "nonverbal conduct . . . intended . . . as a substitute for oral or written verbal expression." Hence, evidence of a person's conduct out of court is not inadmissible under the hearsay rule expressed in Section 1200 unless that conduct is clearly assertive in character Nonassertive conduct is not hearsay.

Some California cases have regarded evidence of nonassertive conduct as hearsay evidence if it is offered to prove the actor's belief in a particular fact as a basis for an inference that the fact believed is true See, e g., Estate of De Laveaga, 165 Cal. 607, 624, 133 Pac 307, 314 (1913) ("the manner in which a person whose sanity is in question was treated by his family is not, taken alone, competent substantive evidence tending to prove insanity, for it is a mere extra-judicial expression of opinion on the part of the family"), People v Mendez, 193 Cal 39, 52, 223 Pac. 65, 70 (1924) ("circumstances of flight [of other persons from the scene of a crime] are in the nature of confessions . . . and are, therefore, in the nature of hearsay evidence") (overruled on other grounds in People v. McCaughan, 49 Cal 2d 409, 420, 317 P 2d 974, 981 (1957)).

Other California cases, however, have held that evidence of nonassertive conduct is not hearsay even though offered to prove that the belief giving rise to the conduct was based on fact See, e g , People v Reifenstuhl, 37 Cal. App 2d 402, 99 P.2d 564 (1940) (hearing denied) (incoming telephone calls made for the purpose of placing bets admissible over hearsay objection to prove that place of reception was bookmaking establishment).

Under the Evidence Code, nonassertive conduct is not regarded as hearsay for two reasons. First, one of the principal reasons for the hearsay rule—to exclude declarations where the veracity of the declarant cannot be tested by cross-examination—does not apply because such conduct, being nonassertive, does not involve the veracity of the declarant Second, there is frequently a guarantee of the trustworthiness of the inference to be drawn from such nonassertive conduct because the actor has based his actions on the correctness of his belief, i e, his actions speak louder than words

Of course, if the probative value of evidence of nonassertive conduct is outweighed by the probability that such evidence will be unduly prejudicial, confuse the issues, mislead the jury, or consume too much time, the judge may exclude the evidence under Section 352

Under Section 1200, exceptions to the hearsay rule may be found either in statutes or in decisional law Under existing law, too, the courts have recognized exceptions to the exclusionary rule in addition to those exceptions expressed in the statutes See People v Spriggs, 60 Cal 2d 868, 874, 36 Cal Rptr 841, 844, 389 P 2d 377, 380 (1964).

Comment. Hearsay evidence is generally excluded because the declarant was not in court and not subject to cross-examination before the trier of fact when he made the statement People v Bob, 29 Cal 2d 321, 325, 175 P 2d 12, 15 (1946)

In some situations, hearsay evidence is admitted because there is either some exceptional need for the evidence or some circumstantial probability of its trustworthiness, or both People v Brust, 47 Cal 2d 776, 785, 306 P 2d 480, 484 (1957), Turney v Sousa, 146 Cal. App 2d 787, 791, 304 P 2d 1025, 1027-1028 (1956) Even though it may be necessary or desirable to permit certain hearsay evidence to be admitted despite the fact that the adverse party had no opportunity to cross-examine the declarant when the hearsay statement was made, there seems to be no reason to prohibit the adverse party from cross-examining the declarant concerning the statement The policy in favor of cross-examination that underlies the hearsay rule, therefore, indicates that the adverse party should be accorded the right to call the declarant of a statement received in evidence and to cross-examine him concerning his statement.

Section 1203, therefore, reverses (insofar as a hearsay declarant is concerned) the traditional rule that a witness called by a party is a witness for that party and may not be cross-examined by him Because a hearsay declarant is in practical effect a witness against the party against whom his hearsay statement is admitted, Section 1203 gives that party the right to call and cross-examine the hearsay declarant concerning the subject matter of the hearsay statement just as he has the right to cross-examine the witnesses who appear personally and testify against him at the trial

Subdivisions (b) and (c) make Section 1203 inapplicable in certain situations where it would be inappropriate to permit a party to examine a hearsay declarant as if under cross-examination Thus, for example, subdivision (b) does not permit counsel for a party to examine his own client as if under cross-examination merely because a hearsay statement of his client has been admitted; and, because a party should not have the right to cross-examine his own witness merely because the adverse party has introduced a hearsay statement of the witness, witnesses who have testified in the action concerning the subject matter of the statement are not subject to examination under Section 1203

Subdivision (d) makes it clear that the unavailability of a hearsay declarant for examination under Section 1203 has no effect on the admissibility of his hearsay statements The subdivision forestalls any argument that availability of the declarant for examination under Section 1203 is an additional condition of admissibility for hearsay evidence

Comment. Section 1204 is a statutory recognition that hearsay evidence that fits within an exception to the hearsay rule may nonetheless be inadmissible under the Constitution of the United States or the Constitution of California Thus, Section 1220, which creates an exception for the statements of a party, is subject to the constitutional rule excluding evidence of involuntary confessions against a criminal defendant.

In People v Underwood, 61 Cal 2d 113, 37 Cal Rptr 313, 389 P 2d 937 (1964), the California Supreme Court held that a prior inconsistent statement of a witness could not be introduced to impeach him in a criminal action when the statement would have been inadmissible as an involuntary confession if the witness had been the defendant To the extent that the Underwood decision is based on constitutional principles, its effect is continued by Section 1204 and its principle is made applicable to all hearsay statements

Insofar as the Constitution of the United States is concerned, Section 1204 refers only to those rules required to be observed in state proceedings. It is not intended to make applicable in proceedings in California courts those rules the United States Constitution requires to be observed only in federal proceedings

Comment. Except for the requirement that the declarant be shown to be unavailable as a witness, Section 1230 codifies the hearsay exception for declarations against interest as that exception has been developed by the California courts (People v Spriggs, 60 Cal 2d 868, 36 Cal Rptr 841, 389 P 2d 377 (1964)) and possibly expands the exception It is not clear whether the existing exception for declarations against interest applies to statements that make the declarant an object of hatred, ridicule, or social disgrace in the community

Under existing law, a declaration against interest is admissible regardless of the availability of the declarant to testify as a witness. People v Spriggs, 60 Cal 2d 868, 36 Cal Rptr 841, 389 P.2d 377 (1964). Section 1230, however, conditions admissibility upon the unavailability of the declarant in order to require the proponent of the evidence to use the in-court testimony of the declarant if it is possible to do so If the declarant disappoints the proponent and testifies inconsistently, the proponent may then show the prior inconsistent statement as substantive evidence of the facts stated See EVIDENCE CODE § 1235 and the Comment thereto

Section 1230 supersedes the partial and inaccurate statements of the exception for declarations against interest found in Code of Civil Procedure Sections 1853, 1870(4), and 1946(1) See People v Spriggs, 60 Cal 2d 868, 871-872, 36 Cal. Rptr. 841, 844-845, 389 P 2d 377, 380-381 (1964) The requirement that the declarant have "sufficient knowledge of the subject" continues the similar common law requirement stated in Code of Civil Procedure Section 1853 that the declarant must have had some peculiar means—such as personal observation—for obtaining accurate knowledge of the matter stated See 5 WIGMORE, EVIDENCE § 1471 (3d ed 1940)

Comment. Section 1237 provides a hearsay exception for what is usually referred to as "past recollection recorded." Although the provisions of Section 1237 are taken largely from the provisions of Section 2047 of the Code of Civil Procedure, there are some substantive differences between Section 1237 and existing law.

The existing law requires that a foundation be laid for the admission of such evidence by showing (1) that the writing recording the statement was made by the witness or under his direction, (2) that the writing was made at the time when the fact recorded in the writing actually occurred or at another time when the fact was fresh in the witness' memory, and (3) that the witness "knew that the same was correctly stated in the writing." Under Section 1237, however, the writing may be made not only by the witness himself or under his direction but also by some other person for the purpose of recording the witness' statement at the time it was made. In addition, Section 1237 permits testimony of the person who recorded the statement to be used to establish that the writing is a correct record of the statement. Sufficient assurance of the trustworthiness of the statement is provided if the declarant is available to testify that he made a true statement and if the person who recorded the statement is available to testify that he accurately recorded the statement.

Under subdivision (b), as under existing law, the statement is read into evidence but may not itself be introduced in evidence by its proponent. See Anderson v. Souza, 38 Cal. 2d 825, 243 P. 2d 497 (1952). The adverse party, however, may introduce the writing as evidence. Cf. Horowitz v. Fitch, 216 Cal. App. 2d 303, 30 Cal. Rptr. 882 (1963) (dictum).

Section 1241

Comment. Under existing law, where a person's conduct or act is relevant but is equivocal or ambiguous, the statements accompanying it may be admitted to explain and make the conduct or act understandable. CODE CIV. PROC. § 1850 (superseded by EVIDENCE CODE § 1241); WITKIN, CALIFORNIA EVIDENCE § 216 (1958). Some writers do not regard evidence of this sort as hearsay evidence, but the definition in Section 1200 seems applicable to many of the statements received under this exception. Cf. 6 WIGMORE, EVIDENCE § 1772 et seq. (1940). Section 1241 removes any doubt that might otherwise exist concerning the admissibility of such evidence under the hearsay rule.

Comment. Section 1250 provides an exception to the hearsay rule for statements of the declarant's then existing mental or physical state. Under Section 1250, as under existing law, a statement of the declarant's state of mind at the time of the statement is admissible when the then existing state of mind is itself an issue in the case. Adkins v. Brett, 184 Cal. 252, 193 Pac. 251 (1920). A statement of the declarant's then existing state of mind is also admissible when relevant to show the declarant's state of mind at a time prior or subsequent to the statement. Watenpaugh v. State Teachers' Retirement System, 51 Cal. 2d 675, 336 P. 2d 165 (1959); Whitlow v. Durst, 20 Cal. 2d 523, 127 P. 2d 530 (1942); Estate of Anderson, 185 Cal. 700, 198 Pac. 407 (1921);

Williams v Kidd, 170 Cal 631, 151 Pac 1 (1915) Section 1250 also makes a statement of then existing state of mind admissible to "prove or explain acts or conduct of the declarant" Thus, a statement of the declarant's intent to do certain acts is admissible to prove that he did those acts People v Alcalde, 24 Cal 2d 177, 148 P 2d 627 (1944), Benjamin v District Grand Lodge No 4, 171 Cal 260, 152 Pac 731 (1915). Statements of then existing pain or other bodily condition also are admissible to prove the existence of such condition Bloomberg v Laventhal, 179 Cal 616, 178 Pac 496 (1919), People v Wright, 167 Cal 1, 138 Pac 349 (1914).

A statement is not admissible under Section 1250 if the statement was made under circumstances indicating that the statement is not trustworthy See EVIDENCE CODE § 1252 and the Comment thereto

In light of the definition of "hearsay evidence" in Section 1200, a distinction should be noted between the use of a declarant's statements of his then existing mental state to prove such mental state and the use of a declarant's statements of other facts as circumstantial evidence of his mental state Under the Evidence Code, no hearsay problem is involved if the declarant's statements are not being used to prove the truth of their contents but are being used as circumstantial evidence of the declarant's mental state See the Comment to Section 1200

Section 1250(b) does not permit a statement of memory or belief to be used to prove the fact remembered or believed This limitation is necessary to preserve the hearsay rule Any statement of a past event is, of course, a statement of the declarant's then existing state of mind —his memory or belief—concerning the past event If the evidence of that state of mind—the statement of memory—were admissible to show that the fact remembered or believed actually occurred, any statement narrating a past event would be, by a process of circuitous reasoning, admissible to prove that the event occurred

The limitation in Section 1250(b) is generally in accord with the law developed in the California cases Thus, in Estate of Anderson, 185 Cal 700, 198 Pac 407 (1921), a testatrix, after the execution of a will, declared, in effect, that the will had been made at an aunt's request, this statement was held to be inadmissible hearsay "because it was merely a declaration as to a past event and was not indicative of the condition of mind of the testatrix at the time she made it" 185 Cal. at 720, 198 Pac at 415 (1921)

A major exception to the principle expressed in Section 1250(b) was created in People v Merkouris, 52 Cal 2d 672, 344 P 2d 1 (1959) That case held that certain murder victims' statements relating threats by the defendant were admissible to show the victims' mental state—their fear of the defendant Their fear was not itself an issue in the case, but the court held that the fear was relevant to show that the defendant had engaged in conduct engendering the fear, i e, that the defendant had in fact threatened them That the defendant had threatened them was, of course, relevant to show that the threats were carried out in the homicide Thus, in effect, the court permitted the statements to be used to prove the truth of the matters stated in them In People v Purvis, 56 Cal 2d 93, 13 Cal Rptr 801, 362 P 2d 713 (1961), the doctrine of the Merkouris case was limited to cases where identity is an issue; however, at least one subsequent decision has applied the doctrine where identity was not in issue See People v Cooley, 211 Cal App 2d 173, 27 Cal Rptr 543 (1962)

The doctrine of the Merkouris case is repudiated in Section 1250(b) because that doctrine undermines the hearsay rule itself Other exceptions to the hearsay rule are based on some indicia of reliability peculiar to the evidence involved People v Brust, 47 Cal 2d 776, 785, 306 P 2d 480, 484 (1957). The exception created by Merkouris is not based on any probability of reliability, it is based on a rationale that destroys the very foundation of the hearsay rule

To be distinguished from the Merkouris decision, however, are certain other cases in which the statements of a murder victim were used to prove or explain subsequent acts of the decedent, and not as a basis for inferring that the defendant did the acts charged in the statements See, e g, People v Atchley, 53 Cal 2d 160, 172, 346 P 2d 764, 770 (1959), People v Finch, 213 Cal. App.2d 752, 765, 29 Cal Rptr. 420, 427 (1963) Statements of a decedent's then existing fear—i e, his state of mind—may be offered under Section 1250, as under existing law, either to prove that fear when it is itself in issue or to prove or explain the decedent's subsequent conduct Statements of a decedent narrating threats or brutal conduct by some other person may also be used as circumstantial evidence of the decedent's fear—his state of mind—when that fear is itself in issue or when it is relevant to prove or explain the decedent's subsequent conduct, and, for that purpose, the evidence is not subject to a hearsay objection because it is not offered to prove the truth of the matter stated See the Comment to Section 1200 See also the Comment to Section 1252 But when such evidence is used as a basis for inferring that the alleged threatener must have made threats, the evidence falls within the language of Section 1250(b) and is inadmissible hearsay evidence

Comment. Just as the existence and content of a public record may be proved under Section 1530 by a copy accompanied by the attestation or certificate of the custodian reciting that it is a copy, the absence of such a record from a particular public office may be proved under Section 1284 by a writing made by the custodian of the records in that office stating that no such record was found after a diligent search The writing must, of course, be properly authenticated. See EVIDENCE CODE §§ 1401, 1453 See also CODE CIV PROC. § 1893 (public official, on demand, must furnish certificate or its equivalent that he did not find a designated writing after a diligent search) The exception is justified by the likelihood that such a statement made by the custodian of the records is accurate and by the necessity for providing a simple and inexpensive method of proving the absence of a public record

Section 1291

Comment. Section 1291 provides a hearsay exception for former testimony offered against a person who was a party to the proceeding in which the former testimony was given For example, if a series of cases arises involving several plaintiffs and but one defendant, Section 1291 permits testimony given in the first trial to be used against the defendant in a later trial if the conditions of admissibility stated in the section are met

Former testimony is admissible under Section 1291 only if the declarant is unavailable as a witness

Paragraph (1) of subdivision (a) of Section 1291 provides for the admission of former testimony if it is offered against the party who offered it in the previous proceeding Since the witness is no longer available to testify, the party's previous direct and redirect examination should be considered an adequate substitute for his present right to cross-examine the declarant

Paragraph (2) of subdivision (a) of Section 1291 provides for the admissibility of former testimony where the party against whom it is now offered had the right and opportunity in the former proceeding to cross-examine the declarant with an interest and motive similar to that which he now has Since the party has had his opportunity to cross-examine, the primary objection to hearsay evidence—lack of opportunity to cross-examine the declarant—is not applicable On the other hand, paragraph (2) does not make the former testimony admissible where the party against whom it is offered did not have a similar interest and motive to cross-examine the declarant The determination of similarity of interest and motive in cross-examination should be based on practical considerations and not merely on the similarity of the party's position in the two cases For example, testimony contained in a deposition that was taken, but not offered in evidence at the trial, in a different action should be excluded if the judge determines that the deposition was taken for discovery purposes and that the party did not subject the witness to a thorough cross-examination because he sought to avoid a premature revelation of the weakness in the testimony of the witness or in the adverse party's case In such a situation, the party's interest and motive for cross-examination on the previous occasion would have been substantially different from his present interest and motive

Section 1291 supersedes Code of Civil Procedure Section 1870(8) which permits former testimony to be admitted in a civil case only if the former proceeding was an action between the same parties or their predecessors in interest, relating to the same matter, or was a former trial of the action in which the testimony is offered Section 1291 will also permit a broader range of hearsay to be introduced against the defendant in a criminal action than has been permitted under Penal Code Section 686 Under that section, former testimony has been admissible against the defendant in a criminal action only if the former testimony was given in the same action—at the preliminary examination, in a deposition, or in a prior trial of the action Likewise, Section 1291 will permit a broader range of hearsay to be introduced against the prosecution in a criminal action since the people of the State of California are a party to all criminal actions See PENAL CODE § 684

Subdivision (b) of Section 1291 makes it clear that objections based on the competence of the declarant or on privilege are to be determined by reference to the time the former testimony was given Existing California law is not clear on this point; some California decisions indicate that competency and privilege are to be determined as of the time the former testimony was given, but others indicate that these matters are to be determined as of the time the former testimony is offered in evidence See Tentative Recommendation and a Study Relating to the Uniform Rules of Evidence (Article VIII Hearsay Evidence), 6 CAL LAW REVISION COMM'N, REP. REC & STUDIES Appendix at 581-585 (1964)

Subdivision (b) also provides that objections to the form of the question may not be used to exclude the former testimony Where the former testimony is offered under paragraph (1) of subdivision (a), the party against whom the former testimony is now offered phrased the question himself, and where the former testimony is admitted under paragraph (2) of subdivision (a), the party against whom the testimony is now offered had the opportunity to object to the form of the question when it was asked on the former occasion Hence, the party is not permitted to raise this technical objection when the former testimony is offered against him

Comment. Section 1292 provides a hearsay exception for former testimony given at the former proceeding by a person who is now unavailable as a witness when such former testimony is offered against a person who was not a party to the former proceeding but whose motive for cross-examination is similar to that of a person who had the right and opportunity to cross-examine the declarant when the former testimony was given For example, if one occurrence gives rise to a series of cases involving one defendant and several plaintiffs, Section 1292 permits testimony given against the plaintiff in the first action to be used against a different plaintiff in a subsequent action if the conditions of admissibility stated in the section are met

Code of Civil Procedure Section 1870(8) (which is superseded by this article) authorizes the admission of former testimony only if it was given in another action between the same parties and involving the same matter Section 1292 substitutes for these restrictive requirements what is, in effect, a more flexible "trustworthiness" approach characteristic of other hearsay exceptions The trustworthiness of the former testimony is sufficiently guaranteed because the former adverse party had the right and opportunity to cross-examine the declarant with an interest and motive similar to that of the present adverse party. Although the party against whom the former testimony is offered did not himself have an opportunity to cross-examine the witness on the former occasion, it can be generally assumed that most prior cross-examination is adequate if the same stakes are involved. If the same stakes are not involved, the difference in interest or motivation would justify exclusion Even where the prior cross-examination was inadequate, there is better reason here for providing a hearsay exception than there is for many of the presently recognized exceptions to the hearsay rule As Professor McCormick states

> I suggest that if the witness is unavailable, then the need for the sworn, transcribed former testimony in the ascertainment of truth is so great, and its reliability so far superior to most, if not all the other types of oral hearsay coming in under the other exceptions, that the requirements of identity of parties and issues be dispensed with This dispenses with the opportunity for cross-examination, that great characteristic weapon of our adversary system.

But the other types of admissible oral hearsay, admissions, declarations against interest, statements about bodily symptoms, likewise dispense with cross-examination, for declarations having far less trustworthiness than the sworn testimony in open court, and with a far greater hazard of fabrication or mistake in the reporting of the declaration by the witness [MCCORMICK, EVIDENCE § 238 at 501 (1954)]

Section 1292 does not make former testimony admissible in a criminal case This limitation preserves the right of a person accused of crime to confront and cross-examine the witnesses against him When a person's life or liberty is at stake—as it is in a criminal action—the defendant should not be compelled to rely on the fact that another person has had an opportunity to cross-examine the witness

Subdivision (b) of Section 1292 makes it clear that objections based on competency or privilege are to be determined by reference to the time when the former testimony was given Existing California law is not clear on this point, some California decisions indicate that competency and privilege are to be determined as of the time the former testimony was given, but others indicate that these matters are to be determined as of the time the former testimony is offered in evidence. See Tentative Recommendation and a Study Relating to the Uniform Rules of Evidence (Article VIII Hearsay Evidence), 6 CAL LAW REVISION COMM'N, REP., REC & STUDIES Appendix at 581-585 (1964)

Comment. The requirement of authentication stated in subdivision (a) reflects existing law Ten Winkel v Anglo California Sec Co, 11 Cal 2d 707, 81 P 2d 958 (1938) However, the requirement has never been stated in the California statutes

Some cases have indicated that authentication is not necessary under certain circumstances, as, for example, when the execution of the writing is not in issue See People v Adamson, 118 Cal App 2d 714, 258 P 2d 1020 (1953) This is true, however, only if "authentication" is construed narrowly to refer only to proof of due execution The Evidence Code defines the term more broadly and requires all writings to be authenticated The writing involved in the Adamson case was a letter that a witness claimed he had received and acted upon Under the Evidence Code, the requirement of authentication would require a showing that the letter offered in evidence was in fact the one received and acted upon; and this is the preliminary showing that was found sufficient in the Adamson case

The "writing" referred to in subdivision (a) is any writing offered in evidence, although it may be either an original or a copy, it must be authenticated before it may be received in evidence

Authentication of a writing does not in and of itself authorize the writing to be admitted in evidence The writing, of course, must be relevant and not be made inadmissible by any exclusionary rule—e g, the hearsay rule, the best evidence rule, or the rule excluding a coerced confession Thus, Section 1401 merely requires that an otherwise admissible writing be authenticated before it may be received in evidence.

Subdivision (b) of Section 1401 requires that a writing be authenticated even when it is not offered in evidence but is sought to be proved by a copy or by testimony as to its content under the circumstances permitted by Sections 1500–1510 (the best evidence rule). This is declarative of existing California law Spottiswood v. Weir, 80 Cal 448, 22 Pac. 289 (1889), Smith v Brannan, 13 Cal 107, 115 (1859), Forman v Goldberg, 42 Cal App 2d 308, 316-317, 108 P 2d 983, 988 (1941) Under Section 1401, therefore, if a person offers in evidence a copy of a writing, he must make a sufficient preliminary showing of the authenticity of both the copy and the original (i.e., the writing sought to be proved by the copy)

In some instances, however, authentication of a copy will provide the necessary evidence to authenticate the original writing at the same time For example If a copy of a recorded deed is offered in evidence, Section 1401 requires that the copy be authenticated—proved to be a copy of the official record It also requires that the official record be authenticated—proved to be the official record—because the official record is a writing of which secondary evidence of its content is being offered Finally, Section 1401 requires the original deed itself to be authenticated—proved to have been executed by its purported maker —for it, too, is a writing of which secondary evidence of its content is being offered The copy offered in evidence may be authenticated by the attestation or certification of the official custodian of the record as provided by Section 1530 Under Section 1530, the authenticated copy is prima facie evidence of the existence and content of the official record itself Thus, the authenticated copy supplies the necessary authenticating evidence for the official record Under Section 1600, the official record is prima facie evidence of the existence and content of the original deed and of its execution by its purported maker; hence, the official record is the requisite authenticating evidence for the original deed Thus, the duly attested or certified copy of the record meets the requirement of authentication for the copy itself, for the official record, and for the original deed

Comment. Section 1413 restates and supersedes the provisions of subdivisions 1 and 3 of Code of Civil Procedure Section 1940

Section 1413 refers to writings that were "made" as well as "executed" in order to include all kinds of writings, not merely those bearing a signature See EVIDENCE CODE § 250, defining "writing"

Section 1562

Comment. Section 1562 supersedes the provisions of Code of Civil Procedure Section 1998 2 Under Section 1998 2, the presumption provided in this section could be overcome only by a preponderance of the evidence Section 1562, however, classifies the presumption as one affecting the burden of producing evidence only See EVIDENCE CODE §§ 603 and 604 and the Comments thereto Section 1562 makes it clear, too, that the presumption relates only to the truthfulness of the matters required by Section 1561 to be stated in the affidavit

AMENDMENTS, ADDITIONS, AND REPEALS

Section 11 (Civil Code Section 3545)

Comment. Sections 3545–3548 are new sections added to the Civil Code. They recast the presumptions declared by subdivisions 19, 28, 32, and 33 of Code of Civil Procedure Section 1963 as maxims of jurisprudence and supersede those subdivisions

These superseded subdivisions of Section 1963 of the Code of Civil Procedure are not continued in the Evidence Code as presumptions for a variety of reasons Some do not fit the definition of a presumption contained in Evidence Code Section 600 in that they do not arise upon the proof of a preliminary fact Others seem to be little more than truisms They are cited most frequently in the appellate cases to uphold lower court decisions that could be sustained anyway either on the ground that the party with the burden of proof failed to persuade the trier of fact or on the ground that the evidence would support the inference drawn by the trier of fact

Accordingly, these propositions are continued as maxims of jurisprudence, not as presumptions As maxims, they are not intended to qualify any substantive provisions of law but merely to aid in their just application CIVIL CODE § 3509

Section 12 (Civil Code Section 3546)

Comment. See the Comment to Civil Code Section 3545.

Section 13 (Civil Code Section 3547)

Comment. See the Comment to Civil Code Section 3545

Section 14 (Civil Code Section 3548)

Comment. See the Comment to Civil Code Section 3545

Section 68 (Code of Civil Procedure Section 1893)

Comment. The language deleted from Section 1893 is unnecessary in view of Evidence Code Sections 1506 and 1530

The added language is designed to implement the provisions of Evidence Code Section 1284 by providing a procedure for obtaining an authenticated writing complying with the requirements of Section 1284

Section 110 (Code of Civil Procedure Section 1963)

Comment. Many of the presumptions listed in Section 1963 are classified and restated in the Evidence Code A few have been recodified as maxims of jurisprudence in Part 4 of Division 4 of the Civil Code Others are not continued at all The disposition of each subdivision of Section 1963 is given in the table below Following the table are comments indicating the reasons for repealing those provisions of Section 1963 that are not continued in California law

40	Civil Code Section 1645 (added in this act)

Subdivisions 5 and 6 are not continued because, despite Section 1963, there is no presumption of the sort stated The "presumptions" merely indicate that a party's evidence should be viewed with distrust if he could produce better evidence and that unfavorable inferences should be drawn from the evidence offered against him if he fails to deny or explain it A party's failure to produce evidence cannot be turned into evidence against him by reliance on these presumptions Hampton v. Rose, 8 Cal App 2d 447, 56 P 2d 1243 (1935), Girvetz v Boys' Market, Inc, 91 Cal App 2d 827, 830, 206 P 2d 6, 8-9 (1949). The substantive effect of these "presumptions" is stated more accurately in Evidence Code Sections 412 and 413

Subdivision 14 The presumption stated in subdivision 14 is not continued because it is unnecessary, inaccurate, and misleading This presumption has been used most frequently to sustain the validity of the official acts of a person acting in a public office when there has been no evidence to show that such person had the legal right to hold office See, e g, City of Monterey v Jacks, 139 Cal 542, 73 Pac 436 (1903), Delphi School Dist v Murray, 53 Cal 29 (1878) The presumption is unnecessary for this purpose, for it is well settled that the " 'acts of an officer de facto, so far as the rights of third persons are concerned, are, if done within the scope and by the apparent authority of office, as valid and binding as if he were the officer legally elected and qualified for the office and in full possession of it.' " In re Redevelopment Plan for Bunker Hill, 61 Cal 2d 21, 42, 37 Cal Rptr 74, 88, 389 P 2d 538, 552

(1964); Oakland Paving Co v Donovan, 19 Cal App 488, 494, 126 Pac 388, 390 (1912) Under the de facto doctrine, the validity of the official acts taken is conclusively established Town of Susanville v Long, 144 Cal 362, 77 Pac 987 (1904); People v Hecht, 105 Cal 621, 38 Pac. 941 (1895) Thus, most of the cases applying subdivision 14 are erroneous in indicating that the official acts of a person acting in a public office may be attacked by evidence sufficient to overcome the presumption of a valid appointment These cases can be explained only on the ground that they have overlooked the de facto doctrine Compare People v. Ah Lee Doon, 97 Cal 171, 31 Pac 933 (1893) (using presumption to sustain authority of judge who presided at murder trial), with People v. Sassovich, 29 Cal 480 (1866) (using de facto doctrine to sustain authority of judge who presided at murder trial)

In a few cases, subdivision 14 has been cited to support the authority of an officer to certify a copy of an official document. People v Beal, 108 Cal. App 2d 200, 239 P 2d 84 (1951); People v Howard, 72 Cal App 561, 237 Pac 780 (1925) Evidence Code Sections 1452 and 1453 make the presumption unnecessary for this purpose

In cases where the presumption might have some significance—cases where the party occupying the office is asserting some right of the office-holder—the presumption has been held inapplicable Burke v Edgar, 67 Cal 182, 7 Pac 488 (1885)

Subdivision 18 No case has been found where subdivision 18 has had any effect The doctrine of res judicata determines the issues concluded between the parties without regard to this presumption Parnell v. Hahn, 61 Cal 131, 132 (1882) ("the judgment as rendered . . . is conclusive upon all questions involved in the action and upon which it depends, or upon matters which, under the issues, might have been litigated and decided in the case") On appeal, the fact that it is the appellant's burden to establish that the lower court erred supplies whatever force this subdivision might have in appellate cases. See Vaughn v Jonas, 31 Cal 2d 586, 191 P 2d 432 (1948)

Subdivision 20 The cases have used this "presumption" merely as a justification for holding that evidence of a business custom will sustain a finding that the custom was followed on a particular occasion E g., Robinson v Puls, 28 Cal 2d 664, 171 P 2d 430 (1946), American Can Co v Agricultural Ins Co, 27 Cal App 647, 150 Pac 996 (1915). Evidence Code Section 1105 provides for the admissibility of business custom evidence to prove that the custom was followed on a particular occasion There is no reason to compel the trier of fact to find that the custom was followed by applying a presumption The evidence of the custom may be strong or weak, and the trier of fact should be free to decide whether the custom was followed or not No case has been found giving a presumptive effect to evidence of a business custom under subdivision 20

Subdivision 22 The purpose of subdivision 22 appears to have been to compel an accommodation endorser to prove that he endorsed in accommodation of a subsequent party to the instrument and not in accommodation of the maker See, e g, Pacific Portland Cement Co v. Reinecke, 30 Cal App 501, 158 Pac 1041 (1916) The liability of accommodation endorsers is now fully covered by the Commercial Code.

Accommodation is a defense which must be established by the defendant COM CODE §§ 3307, 3415(5). Hence, subdivision 22 is no longer necessary.

Subdivision 25 Despite subdivision 25, the California courts have refused to apply the presumption of identity of person from identity of name when the name is common E g, People v Wong Sang Lung, 3 Cal App 221, 224, 84 Pac 843, 845 (1906) The matter should be left to inference, for the strength of the inference will depend in particular cases on whether the name is common or unusual.

Subdivision 27 has been rarely cited in the reported cases since it was enacted in 1872 It has been applied to situations where a statement has been made in the presence of a person who has failed to protest to the representations in the statement. The apparent acquiescence in the statement has been held to be proof of belief in the truth of the statement Estate of Flood, 217 Cal 763, 21 P 2d 579 (1933); Estate of Clark, 13 Cal. App 786, 110 Pac 828 (1910).

Although it may be appropriate under some circumstances to infer from the lack of protest that a person believes in the truth of a statement made in his presence, it is undesirable to require such a conclusion. The surrounding circumstances may vary greatly from case to case, and the trier of fact should be free to decide whether acquiescence resulted from belief or from some other cause Cf. Matt. 27 13-14 (Revised Standard Version) ("Then Pilate said to him, 'Do you not hear how many things they testify against you?' But he gave him no answer, not even to a single charge . . .")

Subdivision 29 has been cited in but one appellate decision in its 92-year history. It is unnecessary in light of the doctrine of ostensible authority See 1 WITKIN, SUMMARY OF CALIFORNIA LAW, Agency and Employment §§ 49-51 (7th ed 1960).

Subdivision 30, in effect, declares that a marriage will be presumed from proof of cohabitation and repute Pulos v. Pulos, 140 Cal App.2d 913, 295 P 2d 907 (1956). Because reputation evidence may sometimes strongly indicate the existence of a marriage and at other times fail to do so, requiring a finding of a marriage from proof of such reputation is unwarranted The cases have sometimes refused to apply the presumption because of the weakness of the reputation evidence relied on Estate of Baldwin, 162 Cal 471, 123 Pac 267 (1912); Cacioppo v. Triangle Co, 120 Cal App 2d 281, 260 P 2d 985 (1953) Discontinuance of the presumption will not affect the rule that the existence of a marriage may be inferred from proof of reputation White v. White, 82 Cal 427, 430, 23 Pac 276, 277 (1890) (" 'cohabitation and repute do not make marriage; they are merely items of evidence from which it may be inferred that a marriage had been entered into' ") (italics in original) See also EVIDENCE CODE § 1314

Subdivision 33 has not been applied in any reported case in its 92-year history The substantive law relating to implied dedication and dedication by prescription makes the presumption unnecessary. See 2 WITKIN, SUMMARY OF CALIFORNIA LAW, Real Property §§ 27-29 (7th ed 1960).

WHEREAS, Within the last 10 years the population increase, growth and development of the San Fernando Valley has surpassed all projections made by various governmental bodies and private enterprise, and

WHEREAS, The eastern portion of this valley is becoming the metropolitan area of the valley; and

WHEREAS, The proposals for a rapid transit system provide that a system go through the east valley area diagonally northwest from Cahuenga Pass, through North Hollywood; and

WHEREAS, The tremendous growth rate of the San Fernando Valley has not yet reached a saturation point; and

WHEREAS, For years, many of the hillside areas of this valley have remained undeveloped; however, the City of Los Angeles may be required to utilize the vast undeveloped hillside areas to meet its housing needs, since most of the level land in the valley has been improved; and

WHEREAS, In order to meet this housing demand, the Los Angeles City Planning Department after a four-year study of the Santa Monica Mountain area has developed new concepts for hillside development including cluster-type housing and condominiums; and the Los Angeles City Council has enacted enabling ordinances to permit utilization of such new concepts, to permit higher densities in less rugged areas, and to provide for open space green areas, and

WHEREAS, In view of the existing population of 877,500 in the San Fernando Valley and the total population of 1,122,019 in the valley and the neighboring cities east of the valley, the one existing State College in the valley could never adequately meet the needs of all these people, and

WHEREAS, A report No. 1014 entitled "California's Needs for Additional Centers of Public Higher Education" which was published in December 1964 by the Coordinating Council for Higher Education, includes the following statement, which refers to the Los Angeles-Glendale area, as well as to others (at page 36): "Any one of the five areas, according to these projections, could support a new State College meeting minimum enrollments in Table 1"; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Assembly request the Coordinating Council for Higher Education to investigate and re-evaluate the need for a State College in the Los Angeles-Burbank-Glendale area, and to report its findings to the Legislature not later than the fifth legislative day of the 1966 Regular Session.

WHEREAS, Karen was chosen as Oakland Junior Miss by the Oakland Chamber of Commerce, which last year chose as Miss Oakland, Miss Sherri Raap, who is presently the reigning Miss California, and

WHEREAS, She is the daughter of Mr and Mrs Fenton Frank and she plans to attend a university in California next fall, and thereafter contemplates a career with the United States Foreign Service; and

WHEREAS, It is altogether proper that the Members take note of a young lady whose recent achievement as the winner of the California Junior Miss Contest and whose perseverance, talent, and warm personality mark her as a person who represents the finest ideals that we all seek to meet, now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That Miss Karen Louise Frank be commended upon her many achievements, past and present, and be congratulated upon her selection as California Junior Miss; and be it further

Mr. Chappie was granted unanimous consent that the following communications be printed in the Journal·

Lincoln Union Elementary School District
Lincoln, April 2, 1965

Mr Eugene A. Chappie
Assemblyman, 6th District
State Capitol, Sacramento, California

Dear Mr Chappie Our eighth grade class recently made their annual field trip to the State Capitol They came home visibly impressed by what they had observed there

I am writing this letter to express our appreciation for the assistance you gave in making their trip a worthwhile educational experience.

Recently the Federated Womens Clubs of this area sponsored an essay contest The title of the essay was "Why I am Proud To Be A Citizen of the United States" One of our students was the winner of the contest which included an area of most of northern California I am including a copy of this essay because it shows the impression that was made on this student on her trip to the Capitol.

Sincerely,

ROBERT ELKUS, Principal

Why I Am Proud to Be a Citizen of the United States

I am a citizen of the United States—this I am wonderfully proud of

Our government is a democracy I feel democracy is the best type of government, but it is also expensive Although it is expensive, it is worth every penny we use to maintain it Our government is priceless I am very proud to be governed by such a government

Recently our class took a trip to the Capitol in Sacramento to study our government As I stepped into the Capitol I felt as though our democracy was flowing all around me The rooms were very large and it gave me the feeling of freedom The offices were quiet and the rugs plush This gave me the feeling of peace and comfort

The manner the people at the Capitol treated us gave me a feeling of importance We had come from a school in a small city, but we were recognized—in the Assembly, the Speaker had our group to stand up and be recognized This went into the Daily Journal of the Assembly—each of our names This proved to me that each and every one of us had some importance to our country

Our great nation is the best in the whole world We are a very prosperous nation There seem to be many people in other countries who envy us, the citizens of the United States, and long to live here too It is a pity that they all cannot be here But I cannot know how badly they feel for I have never experienced their longing to be here and being a citizen of the United States—and I hope I never will

Within all of this greatness and prosperity of our nation, we, the citizens, are all important individuals.

God, our Father, The weight of problems, personal, local, and national, present burdens which must be borne Life's mystery is deep, and our insight often shallow. We are grateful for Thy benefits which can lift and strengthen us; for families and children, who take us out of our self-centeredness and give us deep insights into life and love; for friends who inspire and give us strength.

As we receive meaning for living from Thee and our loved ones, may we endeavor not to be forever receivers, but may we give in return and even in fuller measure than we receive May we walk down the paths of righteousness together, and enjoy the fullness of life In our Lord's Name—AMEN

House Resolution No. 342

Relative to a study on the need to control the rapid increase in the number of helistops, helipads, and heliports

WHEREAS, Civilian helicopters were introduced in 1946, and since that time the commercial operations of them have expanded rapidly, and

WHEREAS, In recent years, there has been a notable increase in the number of helicopters which are being flown for private use and as private business aircraft, by January of 1964 nearly 800 permanent heliports in the United States were listed in industry publications, and, in addition, there are hundreds of temporary or occasional landing sites being used, and

WHEREAS, In the selection of landing sites for helicopters it must be borne in mind that the function served by the helicopter is not like that of other aircraft, but is more akin to that of a taxicab or delivery truck in that it is capable of going where passengers or shippers require, and this means that heliports and helistops are sometimes located in congested and highly developed areas of a community; and

WHEREAS, The establishment of landing sites in such areas, as well as in residential areas, has on many occasions invoked the wrath of a community because of the dangers and noise nuisance that necessarily accompanies a landing site, and

WHEREAS, There is a confusing overlapping of controls, regulations, policies, and interests at the various levels of government, not only in the selection of landing sites for helicopters, but also in their overall operation for commercial, governmental, and private use; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the subject matter of the need for legislation to adequately control the rapid increase in the number of helistops, helipads, and heliports, including the matters referred to in this resolution and any other matters pertaining thereto, is assigned to the Committee on Rules for reassignment by it to an appropriate interim committee for study, which committee shall report thereon to the Assembly not later than the fifth legislative day of the 1967 Regular Session of the Legislature

Resolution read, and referred by the Acting Speaker to the Committee on Rules

House Resolution No. 343

Relative to an interim study of the depletion of the fish resources of California caused by red water

WHEREAS, The past year has witnessed one of the worst red water conditions in recent history which has resulted in the destruction of over 56,000,000 fish in California waters, and

WHEREAS, Red water is caused by the widespread blooming and dying of countless tiny marine organisms which generally occurs when water temperatures are high, circulation is poor and nutrients are abundant, thus depleting the oxygen supply in the water, and

WHEREAS, The fish which die from lack of oxygen, in turn use up oxygen in the process of bacterial decomposition, and the vicious circle continues until there is a change in temperatures and weather conditions, now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Assembly Committee on Rules is directed to assign to an appropriate interim committee for study, the causes of this depletion of California's fish resources and to seek to find a method to alleviate this problem, and to report its findings and recommendations for legislation to the Legislature not later than the fifth legislative day of the 1967 Regular Session

Relating to the Artesia-Riverside Freeway

WHEREAS, The route for the Artesia-Riverside Freeway has been adopted for approximately 10 years, and

WHEREAS, A tremendous population explosion has been, and is, occurring in the greater Los Angeles area; and

WHEREAS, The addition of a freeway as planned along the proposed route for the Artesia-Riverside Freeway would greatly relieve the increasing congested condition of highways in the area of Santa Ana and Riverside; and

WHEREAS, The cost of freeways is constantly increasing, and immediate development of the proposed freeway would mean substantial savings to the taxpayers of this state, and

WHEREAS, The deterioration of property purchased by the state affects the value of properties in close proximity and results in an economic blight of the whole area, now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Department of Public Works is urged to give highest priority to the completion of the Artesia-Riverside Freeway; and be it further

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR

The following message from the Governor was received and read.

Statement and Recommendations of Governor Edmund G. Brown on Property Tax Reform

To the Senate and Assembly of the Legislature of California

On January 25th I submitted a proposed 1965-66 Budget to you with an accompanying message setting forth my recommendations on revenue measures to balance the proposed expenditures

At that time I also informed you of my concern that we take appropriate action to reform and adjust inequitable and burdensome local property taxes

I not only pledged a later special message on the subject, but actually proposed a first step I suggested that in enacting a cigarette tax increase of 5 cents per package (from 3 cents to 8 cents), we arrange to remit 1¼ cents to local government on a per capita basis This, by itself, would produce 31 million new dollars which could be used to ease property tax burdens at the local level

Since that first message, we have had a substantial and serious public discussion of the problems posed by various aspects of real and personal property taxes, and it is my judgment that the people of California are ready to proceed with major reforms.

Perhaps the most extensive set of specific proposals ever offered to the Legislature in this field has been worked out by the staff and consultants to the Assembly Revenue and Tax Committee under the direction of the committee chairman, Assemblyman Nicholas Petris Joining as co-authors are 13 other members of the Legislature, including Assembly Speaker Jesse Unruh

Concurrently a group of tax specialists in the executive branch of the government working under the direction of the Director of Finance has been developing another set of specific measures, many of which are in substantial agreement with the Petris-Unruh proposals.

This message is not intended to compare the two approaches, however, or to comment on the numerous suggestions being made by members of both the Assembly and Senate It is designed solely to put the various property tax problems in perspective and to set forth a series of proposed solutions.

As necessary background, let me first outline some of the more important facts about the property tax and its role as the mainstay of local government in California.

To begin, revenue from this source far exceeds the amounts derived from any other single tax, except the federal income tax The amount of money to be collected under local levies this year—approximately $3 05 billion—will equal the state government's receipts from all tax sources and will be equivalent to one-third of all federal tax collections in this state.

In the aggregate, property tax levies have risen every year for the last two decades The current total is nearly 10 times the 1944—45 volume and more than 50 percent above the comparable figure of five years ago

We must not, however, permit these figures to exaggerate what has actually happened At the same time, there has been a change in the value of the dollar Property values have risen, and there has been a tremendous expansion in the tax base in response to California's great population growth. From an assessed value of $18 2 billion in 1954, tangible property subject to taxation doubled to reach a total of $36 7 billion last year.

Consequently, tax rates have not risen nearly as rapidly as the levies would seem to indicate From $6 15 per $100 of assessed value in 1954–55, the average rate on tangible property has risen to $8 20 this year, an increase of 35 percent And in terms of personal income, the burden of property tax levies has been even less This year's levies are the equivalent of $5 45 per $100 of income, compared with $4 09 10 years ago—a rise of 33 percent

We are not alone in this trend toward heavier property taxes, but the growth has been more pronounced here than elsewhere in the United States During the 10 years 1953–63, property taxes in California (which are levied entirely by local governments) rose 181 2 percent, the increase in aggregate property taxes elsewhere was 108 5 percent In terms of property tax burden, our one-third increase compares with 31 percent elsewhere

Among the vital facts demonstrated in any appraisal of the property tax is its importance in school support Roughly half of the revenue from this source accrues to school districts It provides more than half of the money required to operate our public school system In fact, the rising cost of school support has been the major factor in the growth of property tax levies

Revenue from the property tax pays essentially the entire cost of police and fire protection provided by local governments, and it supports at least half of all activities in the fields of public health and hospital operation

It would be thought that a levy of this importance to our entire social structure would have been carefully devised not only so as to distribute the cost of government equitably, but to serve us equally well in matters of convenience of payment, efficiency of administration and the other tests of an acceptable tax levy The truth is that for many years the property tax has had many important limitations and inequities. These have been magnified by the present level of collections

The fiscal importance of the property tax is so great and its role in our price structure is so large that reforms become imperative These reforms and revisions will require careful consideration, however The tax cannot be radically revised without conferring windfall gains upon some sectors of the economy and loading new burdens upon others

A program of property tax reform must therefore have multiple objectives, but it must also observe careful limitations in scope and procedures It must seek to correct the deficiencies and inequities in this levy, but at the same time must not lose sight of the economic consequences of the proposed changes

Perhaps most important of all, a reform program must improve the integrity of this levy as the source of support for the most essential activities of local governments

The minimum reforms essential to preservation of the property tax include

1 Exemption of household furnishings and personal effects This type of property can be assessed and taxed equitably only at a prohibitive administrative expense

2 Elimination of the tax on solvent credits and money. This will correct the inequities inherent in applying the tax to one form of property, but exempting similar property in other forms
3 Reduction in the burden of this tax upon senior citizens living on extremely limited incomes
4 Revision of assessment practices in the case of business inventories
5 Correction of defects which have arisen through excessive leniency in the interpretation of the welfare exemption and its application to some of the entities now granted this tax exemption
6 Revision of statutes governing administration of this levy—especially the assessment date and the rights of a taxpayer in an action to correct an inequitable assessment

If these reforms are effected, the property tax will continue to serve its important roll in the state and local tax structure; if they are not, opposition to the tax will certainly undermine the usefulness of this levy as a means of local government support

These essential reforms will result in a revenue loss for local governments—counties, cities, schools and many special districts. This money must be replaced either through supplementary local taxes or through sharing of state revenue.

After outlining in more detail my property tax recommendations, I will indicate later in this message the sources of replacement funds which will assure local governments at least as much money as they receive now—and a somewhat expanded base of support in the future.

Household furnishings. Assessment of household furnishings and personal effects presents one of the most difficult problems and one of the most irritating features of the property tax. Standards of value are either nonexistent or uneven; equitable enforcement is virtually impossible, and evasion is easy.

Assessors concede that even valuable paintings, art objects, coin collections and the like are difficult to find for purposes of assessment and frequently even more difficult to assess equitably. As a result, most assessors resort to rules-of-thumb which relate assessed values of furnishings to assessed values of residential improvements. Some officials establish minimum values below which no assessment is made, others omit this type of property entirely. The aggregate revenue involved is estimated at $45 million a year, or approximately 1.5 percent of all property tax collections. Integrity of the property tax would be best served by elimination of this part of the tax base.

Recommendation:

Exempt all household furnishings and personal effects in the home from local property tax. Estimated local revenue loss $45 million.

It will be necessary to define the exempt items with care, since the line between household furnishings and personal effects and such legitimately taxable items as boats, other recreational and business properties must be clearly established.

Solvent credits. A similar situation exists in the taxation of solvent credits and money, except that in this instance an item in one form may be taxable and in a slightly different form may be exempt. By definition, solvent credits include accounts receivable but exclude notes. Thus, an account receivable is taxable—at an extremely low rate, to be sure—but a note receivable which may have been taken in payment of an account is tax exempt. Similarly, money in the cash register on the first Monday in March is taxable; money in the bank is exempt. The amount of tax revenue involved is relatively small—roughly $6 million—and the inequities in this situation would be removed by foregoing those receipts.

Recommendation:

Exempt solvent credits and money from the property tax. Estimated local revenue loss $6 million a year.

Senior citizens. Property tax reform must take into consideration the plight of many of our senior citizens. Many thousands of these people have retired on relatively fixed incomes of modest proportions. They have been confronted by an increase in the tax bills on their homes due to rising assessed values, higher tax rates or both. Where income is extremely limited, this tax places almost insurmountable pressure on individual and family budgets.

Census data show that the property tax burden of elderly people with limited incomes is more than three times that of the average homeowner in California. On the average, property tax payments amount to more than 10 percent of the annual incomes of senior citizens with incomes of $4,000 or less. Property tax payments of other homeowners are equal to 3 percent of annual incomes.

Moreover, the burden of the property taxes increases sharply as income declines. Senior citizens with incomes between $3,000 and $4,000 a year pay out an average of 6.0 percent in property taxes—twice the statewide average. Those with incomes between $2,000 and $3,000 have a tax burden equal to 8.0 percent, those with incomes between $1,000 and $2,000 pay out 12.0 percent; while in the bracket below

$1,000 property taxes take almost one-fourth of the average annual income of senior citizens

A plan for property tax assistance to senior citizens must alleviate so far as possible this inverse relationship between tax burden and income It must provide greater relief to those in the lowest bracket and decrease the amount of aid as incomes rise until the assistance payment vanishes at a reasonably adequate income level

In addition, equity requires that renters be compensated for the property tax element in their monthly rental payments This tax component can be recognized as 25 percent of the rent amount, excluding utilities and special service charges Because there is no property tax element in the rentals paid by the occupants of tax exempt homes for the elderly, it will not be necessary to provide assistance in such instances Nor will it be necessary to give this assistance in cases where the state is already providing amounts for the payment of property taxes or monthly rents as is now done in many instances under the Old Age Security Program

State administration of the property tax relief program for senior citizens will compensate for the wide differences among counties in the relative number of older people Census data for 1960 show that in Lake County, for example, almost 20 percent of the population was in the 65 and over age group Tax relief in this circumstance would place an unsupportable burden upon other taxpayers in the county At the other extreme, Contra Costa County, with only 5 5 percent of its population in the 65 and over group would be able to finance a tax relief program with relative ease

It is estimated that approximately 8 7 percent of our population is in the 65 and over age group Thus, a statewide program to relieve the property tax load of elderly citizens of limited means can be financed without hardship and without the wide differences in financial impact that would be experienced under a plan of county exemptions or tax aid

Recommendation:

Provide for a graduated offset of local property taxes paid by California residents over 65 years of age whose total household income is less than $4,000 a year The payment to diminish as the income rises to the stated maximum Include a similar provision for renters, treating 25 percent of the annual rental as a property tax equivalent Make one year of residence in California a requisite for eligibility

Place administration of the program in the Franchise Tax Board, where facilities are available to check income statements

The estimated cost of this proposal is $40 million a year Administrative expense would amount to approximately $250,000 a year

One of the most important benefits of this plan for tax aid to senior citizens is that it will help to make possible a better program of housing for the elderly To date, one of the limiting factors in any housing plan for this group has been the gap between what the elderly person could afford to pay and the rental price necessary for sound financing

It may be observed, that the plan recommended above is patterned after the assistance program now in operation in Wisconsin A similar plan is now being considered in Minnesota

Business inventories Application of the property tax to business inventories has resulted in several problems demanding attention in any coordinated program of property tax reform. Foremost among these are the wide variations in assessment ratios among the various counties and the differing concepts of value

Ratios of assessed to full value of inventories range from a high of 50 percent in one county to a low of 23 percent in another Forty-two counties assess at 25 percent of full value Assuming the use of standard values—an assumption which may not be wholly tenable—inventories of identical full value are assessed nearly 50 percent higher in the six high-ratio counties than in the 44 low-ratio counties This is, of course, a discriminatory practice which not only penalizes some taxpayers but tends to handicap the economic development of the high tax areas Steps should be taken to reduce the range of these ratios and ultimately to standardize assessment practices in this field of property tax administration

Another problem relates to the use of a single lien date—the first Monday in March of each year This results in efforts by business establishments to minimize inventory values by deferring receipt of merchandise and other materials until the assessment date is past In addition, the date established is unnecessarily removed from the close of the fiscal period of companies operating on a calendar year basis and the January 31 closing date of many firms in the retail field

The chief objections to the single lien date can be removed by changing it to a point earlier in the year—January 1 or February 1, whichever is most desirable to a majority of firms in the manufacturing and trade fields—and by allowing the taxpayer to select for purposes of the inventory tax either the value of goods held on the specified lien date or the average value of inventories in possession throughout the year using quarterly or monthly amounts depending upon the preference of the taxpayer

Recommendations:

1. Require that business inventories in any county shall be assessed at the ratio to full value determined to have existed for all property in that county in the previous year Estimated tax reduction $40 5 million per year
2. Establish criteria of value to be applied in inventory assessment, recognizing that values are different at different levels of activity—producer, processor, wholesaler, retailer
3. Allow the taxpayer to select for property tax purposes either the value of merchandise held on a specified date or the average value of inventories held during the preceding year This selection shall be made on a statewide basis, shall apply to all affiliated companies, and shall be changed only after filing with the State Board of Equalization a notice of intent to change a year in advance of adopting the new reporting method Estimated tax reduction $4 5 million per year

Proposals have been advanced for the complete exemption of business inventories from the property tax It is my considered belief that this proposal fails to recognize some of the principles of sound tax policy Many factors have influenced my judgment

First, business inventories are a form of business property They are characteristic of certain activities just as high priced machinery and equipment are characteristic of other activities, or as extensive holdings of land are essential to operations in other economic sectors

When a businessman invests in a thousand dollars' worth of inventories, he expects to get return on his investment at least as great as he would get from a like investment in other kinds of property Moreover, a thousand dollars invested in property with a low turnover, must allow as great return as a thousand dollars invested in high turnover merchandise, or competition for investment opportunities will soon correct the disparity

Second, the owners of business inventories are the recipients of important and costly government services, fire protection, police protection, access to courts, and other benefits are provided and should be paid in part by a tax measured by the property served, namely business inventories

Third, inventories are no more difficult to assess than any other type of property In fact, they are more easily assessed since up-to-date measures of value are immediately at hand in the owner's accounting records

Fourth, the tax on business inventories is a cost of doing business and like other costs is passed on to the consumer

However, price structures are sticky and do not immediately reflect changes in cost Removal of the tax on business inventories—estimated at approximately $225 million annually in the state as a whole—would result in windfall gains for the firms involved until such time as competition forced a restructuring of prices This restructuring would differ in degree and would require different time periods in different industries In the meantime many business firms would enjoy a decrease in selling expenses without a change in selling prices—a windfall totaling many millions of dollars

Fifth, it is alleged that the existence of a tax on business inventories, applicable to goods in hand on a specific day, results in disruption of commerce

No doubt there is a tendency to hold inventories as low as possible on the assessment date With high value, highly mobile, readily replaceable merchandise, tax avoidance is possible But ordinarily this would not be the case On goods costing $100 at wholesale, the average tax this year would be approximately $2 30 It would pay to avoid the property tax by special management of inventories only if the extra handling costs, warehouse charges, insurance, customer displeasure and profit loss due to the absence of desired merchandise were less than 2 3 percent of the cost of the merchandise involved

Sixth, it is further alleged that the elimination of the inventory tax will improve business climate The fact is that business taxes are only one aspect of business climate and inventory taxes are only a minor part of business taxes Much more important factors in determining business climate are growth potential material costs, shipping charges, labor expense, labor productivity and the opportunities for profit

California levies a tax on business inventories, New York does not During the last decade the annual growth rate of California's population has been twice that of New York, in the last four years it has been 2½ times that of New York Employment in manufacturing industries, where inventories are an important consideration, increased 6 percent in California between 1959 and 1964 Factory employment fell 5 percent in New York Employment in trade, also an industry concerned with inventories, grew 18 percent in California but only 3 percent in New York

Obviously, such statistics are not a complete answer to the business climate argument, but the fact that this state has consistently outstripped the rest of the country in growth of population, employment and business profits strongly suggests the weakness of this contention

It must be recognized, too, that the exemption of inventories would shift huge tax payments either to other industries or to individuals As indicated above, the tax involved approximates $225 million a year This is equivalent to a 50 percent increase in the present state tax on corporate profits, or 50 percent of the present tax on personal incomes It is equal to the revenue from more than one-half cent added to the sales tax

According to national figures, more than one-half of all inventories are held by manufacturers and more than one-third by trade establishments. These are economic sectors which would benefit most by elimination of the inventory tax In addition, the shift would particularly benefit a relatively few large enterprises Data for one major industrial county indicate that 60 percent of the tax benefit resulting from an exemption of inventories would accrue to 10 taxpayers, 69 percent would go to the 20 largest corporations In the case of the second large county able to provide this information, 24 percent of the tax reduction would go to the 10 largest taxpayers and 29 percent to the 25 leading firms

Administration The two major administrative problems relating to the property tax involve the time schedule required in assessment and collection and recourse available to taxpayers in the correction of inequities.

Under present law, the tax roll must be completed by the county assessor and delivered to the Board of Supervisors by the first Monday in July Except in Los Angeles County, the supervisors have only a few days in which to equalize assessments, since by the 23rd of August, the State Board of Equalization must act on matters of intercounty equalization and by the first of September local tax rates must be fixed

At least a month of additional time could be obtained by advancing the lien date to February 1 and dividing the extra days between the tasks of (1) preparing the tax rolls and (2) holding local hearings for the purpose of considering taxpayer protests and adjusting inequitable assessments Two extra months could be had by moving the lien date to January 1

As indicated above, this change would have the added advantage of bringing the lien date to the close of the fiscal year for many firms, thus easing the task of computing taxable inventory values

Recommendation:

Change the property tax lien date from the first Monday in March to January 1 or February 1, and increase the time allowed for completion of the local assessment roll and for equalization of assessments

To accommodate this change, Section 8 of Article XIII of the State Constitution should be amended to change the date on which property owners must submit a statement of property owned Preferably, this provision should be repealed altogether, since it does not deal with a matter of such basic importance as to be an appropriate part of the State Constitution This amendment is not essential to a change in the lien date, however

Equalization hearings Equitable assessment is one of the most fundamental requirements of a property tax The present law provides that a property owner shall have an opportunity to protest the assessed value placed upon his property. However, under present law the taxpayer must, in effect, establish both the full market value of his property and the assessment ratio used in his county.

The obligation to establish market value is valid and equitable, the obligation to establish the ratio used by the county assessor is impossible of fulfillment, and is inequitable It is determined by the State Board of Equalization, but is not available in time for the local equalization hearings

In this situation the taxpayer should have the right to use the prior-year ratio as evidence of the current relationship thus affording him a greater measure of protection against an inequitable assessment

Recommendation:

Make findings of the State Board of Equalization as to the assessment ratio in each county during the previous year acceptable evidence of the probable ratio in the current year in connection with local equalization hearings Establish a presumption that the current ratio does not exceed the prior-year ratio by more than 10 percent

A further point of administrative improvement is the elimination of duplicate assessment procedures by some cities which still do their own assessing despite the excellence of county offices in this work and the duplicate rolls prepared by most of California's irrigation districts and a few other special districts The practice of separate assessments is decreasing, but efficient government operation demands that it be eliminated This reform can be effected for general-law cities and districts by legislative action; action by the councils—or in some cases the electorate—would be required in home-rule cities

The Assembly Committee recommendation on this point is limited to general-law cities While I would agree the duplication can be most easily eliminated in such instances, I feel the reform should extend to charter cities and special districts now engaged in duplicate assessments

Let me make it clear that in these points and in the matter of restricting certain property tax exemptions where abuses have developed in recent years, I fully support the recommendations of the Assembly Committee in its efforts to improve property tax administration and to tighten existing laws

Property Transfer Tax

As I have stated previously, adoption of this property tax reform program will result in revenue losses for local governments which must be replaced It will also add to state expenditures, especially in the grant of property tax aid to senior citizens, for which new revenues must be provided This can be done through the enactment of a property transfer tax similar in character to those now levied in 14 other states

In this connection, I am urging repeal of the federal tax on transfers of real property as part of the tax reduction program now being considered in Washington, D C , and I have every hope of success in this matter

In levying the state tax on property transfers, provision can be made to prevent a burden upon residences through a specific exemption of $15,000 for each dwelling All transfers of commercial, industrial and agricultural properties, acreage and vacant lots should be subject to the full tax It should apply to sales of real property to governmental agencies, just as the sales tax applies to the sales of tangible personal property to units of government The tax rate can be relatively modest, 1 percent on gross values up to $25,000 ; 1 5 percent on values between $25,000 and $100,000 , and 2 0 percent on amounts over $100,000 The estimated revenue return would be $110 million a year, and the levy should be effective January 1, 1966, in order to have money available to finance the senior citizens' tax aid program and to allocate to local governments in 1967

Recommendation:

Enact a state real estate transfer tax along the lines outlined above, part of the revenue to be used in providing property tax benefits for senior citizens living on limited incomes and part to be distributed among units of local governments to replace revenue lost as a result of property tax reform Estimated revenue $110 million annually

Administration should be placed in the State Board of Equalization, which should have adequate enforcement powers and should formulate the rules and regulations for operations of this levy It will be necessary to operate through local offices, making payment of the tax prerequisite to the recording of deeds or other instruments of transfer A proposed legislative measure to be submitted for your consideration in the next few days will contain further details

The foregoing recommendations will correct the most glaring abuses and inequities in the present property tax and will, at the same time, preserve this important levy for its essential role in the support of local government It will not result in major windfall gains to any single industry group, nor will it shift heavy tax burdens from one segment of our society to another. It is an equitable program, without extremes in either tax benefits or tax disadvantages It preserves the framework of our present tax structure, building on its virtues and correcting its faults.

OTHER REFORMS

Three other property tax questions warrant serious consideration by the Legislature at this time Major among these is the Petris-Unruh proposal to add one cent to the state sales tax as a means of providing an additional $360 million in state assistance to permit an average reduction of 25 percent in school property tax While the average reduction will be 25 percent, the proposal now distributes this reduction in proportion to the burden of school taxes It would range from 5 percent in districts with great fiscal capacity to 85 percent in districts with lowest taxable wealth

This would involve a substantial change in the pattern of school support in California For this reason details of the proposal must be given careful study. It has been impossible in the few weeks since this plan has evolved into its current form to make a judgment on a change which by its size and character is so far-reaching. But I shall continue to work with the Legislature in hope that we can reduce property tax levels substantially in the most distressed school districts and at the same time improve the fiscal capacity of our public school system to provide an adequate education for the 4 5 million people being served

The other two matters of compelling interest in the area of property tax reform are the veterans' exemption and the real estate tax offset allowed insurance companies in computing and paying the state gross premiums tax

Veterans' exemption For many years, California has allowed a limited property tax exemption to veterans meeting certain tests of property ownership. Briefly, the benefit amounts to an exemption of not more than $1,000 in the assessed value of property owned by an individual (or his widow in the case of a married male) who served in the armed forces during time of war and other designated actions, and whose separate property holding, and that of his wife if the male veteran is married, are each less than $5,000 in value—$10,000 in the case of community property of a couple and in the case of a widow Hazy definitions of property ownership have led to varying practices in the administration of the exemption among different counties, and abuses have grown up which only recently have been seriously attacked

Under a constitutional amendment adopted last year, future exemptions are limited to veterans who were California residents prior to their enlistment, or were residents of this state on November 3, 1964 Administrative actions of the State Board of Equalization and local officials are also contributing to a substantial drop in both the volume of exemptions and the tax involved The number of exemptions dropped from 1,111,000 in 1962 to 846,000 in 1964, and the tax benefit declined from approximately $75 million in 1962 to $65 million last year

Nevertheless, this exemption should be further limited and ultimately eliminated except in case of financial need.

Recommendation:

Enactment of a constitutional amendment which in 1967 would eliminate the veteran's exemption for most recipients after 10 years of benefits. Most veterans who in that year had received the exemption for 10 years would no longer qualify, others would be eliminated as the maximum period is reached.

A veteran with qualifying service and with annual income of less than $3,000 if single and $6,000 if married would receive the exemption in the following tax year

This change would provide substantial amounts of additional property tax revenue for local governments The tax base would thus be broadened gradually as the 10 years of benefits were exhausted At the same time, no veteran would be denied the treatment afforded others and no veteran would be foreclosed this special tax benefit when in actual financial need

This revision would require an amendment to the State Constitution, and the new provision should be couched in terms of an enabling act which would allow the Legislature to shift the financial cost of the veteran's program to the state, if in the future this change should be deemed desirable

Principal office deduction One of the outstanding inequities in California's tax system is the constitutional provision which allows insurance companies to offset property tax payments on certain commercial ventures against the state gross premium tax This feature results in benefits aggregating $5 million a year for approximately one out of eight insurance companies operating in California and denies the state General Fund the receipt of this money

Under present state tax law, an insurance company has the right to deduct from its premium tax the amount of local property taxes it paid on its principal office in California This deduction is a remnant of a constitutional provision which prior to 1942 allowed an insurer to deduct all of its real property taxes It is an expensive anachronism today

In some instances the principal office is a large office building in which the insurer occupies only a relatively small part of the space and leases the remainder to other occupants The property tax on the entire building is offset against the insurer's premium tax, and the premium tax is in lieu of all other levies—state, county and city—except the property tax and motor vehicle fees The insurer thus has achieved both an advantage over other commercial building operators and a tax-free source of income

Of the 545 insurance companies operating in California last year, only 103 were able to take advantage of the offset feature The tax credit amounted to $4,979,740, an increase of $213,000 over the previous year and $1 6 million above the amount of four years earlier More than half of the $5 million tax credit accrued to 12 insurance companies, and most of these were operators of multistory commercial structures in which most of the noninsurance company use takes place

Recommendation:

Delete the principal office deduction from the State Constitution Provide by statute that no new tax offset shall be allowed and that the present tax offset shall be limited to the property tax paid on space occupied by the insurer for the conduct of its insurance business Estimated General Fund revenue increase $2 5 million annually

We are all agreed that one of the major problems confronting the Legislature today is the rehabilitation of the property tax Fortunately, a background of facts and proposals has been provided by the interim committees which have studied this problem since the 1963 Session

We undoubtedly will have differences of opinion at many points We must make every effort to reconcile these differences, to reach agreement on solutions, and to preserve this levy as one of the bulwarks in our state-local tax system, without tremendous shifts of burden among the sectors of our economy and without windfall gains to any particular business groups

Let me conclude by extending this message briefly beyond the immediate question of property tax reform

It is easy to lose our way among the myriad arguments and interests involved in a tax program, especially when, as in this case, we are simultaneously confronted by three major tax needs—the need for new taxes to meet long-standing commitments, the need for other new or increased taxes to meet the ever-pressing requirements of exploding population and technology, and by the need to reform as basic a part of our state-local revenue structure as the property tax

But we must not lose our way Nor should we shirk one or another of our three tasks simply because each is arduous. At stake is the high quality of government in California—the quality of services in education, health, police and fire protection At stake also is the confidence of each citizen that the cost of these services is being fairly and equitably distributed.

There are not one or ten or a hundred decisions involved in solving the three interrelated revenue problems before us—there are thousands, each of which may affect millions of Californians There is room for differences of opinion on each of the thousands of decisions, but there is no room for disagreement on the two most fundamental of the decisions—to continue to support California's government on a quality basis and to make the best effort we can to assure every taxpayer fair and equal treatment

PART 3. MEDICAL ASSISTANCE

CHAPTER 1. BASIC MEDICAL CARE

Article 1. General Provisions

4500. The purpose of this chapter is to provide basic health care and related remedial or preventive services to recipients of public assistance and to medically indigent aged and other persons.

The intent of the Legislature is to provide, to the extent practicable, through the provisions of this chapter, for health care coverage for those aged and other persons, including family groups, who lack sufficient annual income to meet the costs of health care, and whose other assets are so limited that their application toward the costs of such care would jeopardize the person or family's future minimum self-maintenance and security. It is intended that whenever possible and feasible:

(a) After June 30, 1966, such care shall be provided through a system of prepaid health care benefits.

(b) The means employed shall be such as to allow eligible persons to secure health care protection in the same manner employed by the public generally, and without discrimination or segregation based purely on their economic disability.

(c) The benefits available under this chapter shall not duplicate those provided under other federal or state laws or under other contractual or legal entitlements of the person or persons receiving them.

4501 As used in this chapter:
(a) "Public assistance" means aid to families with dependent children, aid to the aged, aid to the blind, and aid to the disabled as provided for in Chapter 1 (commencing with Section 1500) of Part 2 of Division 2, Chapter 1 (commencing with Section 2000) of Division 3, Chapters 1 (commencing with Section 3000) and 3 (commencing with Section 3400) of Part 1 of Division 5, and Chapter 1 (commencing with Section 4000) of Part 2 of Division 5 respectively of this code
(b) "Recipient" means any person receiving public assistance
(c) "Medically indigent person" means an aged or other person who is not currently receiving public assistance, but whose income and resources as defined by regulations are not sufficient to meet the cost of maintenance and health care or coverage.
(d) "Basic health care" means health care and related remedial or preventive services exclusive of hospital care of more than 60 days' duration, nursing home care of more than 30 days' duration, or care in a rehabilitation center of more than 30 days (or any equivalent combination thereof, as determined by regulations of the State Department of Social Welfare)
(e) "Health care and related remedial or preventive service" means:
1 Care in and by a medical institution or facility operated by, or licensed by, the United States, one of the several states, a political subdivision of a state, the State Department of Public Health, or exempt from such licensure pursuant to subdivision (c) of Section 1415 of the Health and Safety Code,

3 Services of physicians and other licensed practitioners of the healing arts;
4 Home health care services;
5 Private duty nursing services,
6 Dental services,
7 Prescribed drugs, dentures, and prosthetic devices, and eyeglasses prescribed by a physician skilled in diseases of the eye or by an optometrist, whichever the individual may select,
8 Clinic services,
9 Physical therapy and related services,
10. Other diagnostic, screening, preventive, and rehabilitative services, or remedial care provided by medical or paramedical personnel, as determined by the director with the advice and recommendation of the Medical Advisory Committee
(f) "Family person" means an eligible member of a family group consisting of one or more children under the age of 21, the parent, parents, or other adult relative with whom such children are living in the absence of a responsible parent or parents
(g) "Adult person" means an eligible person other than a family person
4503 Nothing in this chapter shall be construed as repealing any act or part of an act providing for the support of the poor insofar as inconsistent therewith
4504 All service or care granted under the provisions of this chapter is held subject to the provisions of any law hereafter enacted, amending, repealing, or supplementing in whole or in part the provisions of this chapter, and subject to the rules and regulations of the director No person receiving service or care under this chapter shall have any claim for compensation or otherwise because his benefits are affected in any way by any such amending, repealing, or supplemental act, or by any such rule or regulation or by any addition, amendment, or repeal of such rules or regulations
4505 The Governor may enter into and execute in behalf of the state all necessary agreements in connection with this chapter as may be required by the United States government

Article 2 Administration

4550 The administration of this chapter shall be carried out by the State Department of Social Welfare, to be conducted through offices established by the director in the various communities of the state as may be necessary The department may except, after further investigation, the certification of any county welfare director that any person or family is a recipient of public assistance, and such certification shall constitute an adequate basis for providing such health care as may be required The director may, by contract with any county, arrange for the services of the county welfare department in receiving applications, determining eligibility and certifying medically indigent persons
4552. The total expenditures authorized in any fiscal year by this chapter shall not exceed the following sums
(a) _____ Dollars ($_____) multiplied by the sum of the 12 monthly numbers of (1) recipents under Chapter 1 (commencing with Section 1500) of Part 2 of Division 2 of this code and (2) medically indigent family persons

4554 In order to provide the maximum services possible within the funds available the State Department of Social Welfare may contract with one or more public or private agencies, or nonprofit membership corporations lawfully operating under Section 9200 or 9201 of the Corporations Code, or with medical societies or other medical groups, or with vendors of medical supplies, or private insurance companies holding valid outstanding certificates of authority from the Insurance Commissioner of this state or with nonprofit hospital service plans qualifying under Chapter 11A of Part 2 of Division 2 of the Insurance Code, under subdivision (a) or subdivision (b) of this section, or both

(b) Notwithstanding subdivision (a) of this section, the department may contract for one or more indemnity or service-type partial or full prepayment or group payment programs to provide medical care or any aspect thereof, with any agency or organization qualified under the first paragraph of this section

The department shall establish criteria which must be met by any organization, group or company seeking to provide services under contracts as provided in this section and shall establish a plan and means by which performance under any such contracts entered into shall be periodically evaluated

Insofar as practical, consistent with the efficient and economical administration of this chapter, the department shall afford recipients of public assistance free choice of arrangements under which eligible persons shall receive health care, and insofar as practical, consistent with the efficient and economical administration of this chapter, at least one arrangement available to all such persons shall afford free choice among physicians willing to provide services under the terms of a contract entered into pursuant to this section

4555 The director shall prescribe the policies to be followed in the administration and scope of the services to be provided under this chapter and shall adopt such rules and regulations as are necessary for carrying out the provisions of this chapter and not inconsistent therewith

4557 The director shall appoint an advisory committee consisting of not more than nine persons, to serve in a consulting capacity Members of the committee shall be representative of organizations and groups which have had a wide range of experience in providing health care The members of the committee shall receive no compensation for their services but shall be allowed their actual traveling expenses incurred in the discharge of their duties The committee shall make recommendations and give advice to the department as to the needs of recipients and medically indigent persons

(c) A family person in a family having an average monthly family income during the last 12 months, and likely to be received during the next 12 months, which does not exceed by more than _____ percent the average income of families of comparable size receiving Aid to Families with Dependent Children, and who lack other resources sufficient to provide such care; provided, however, that health care and related services may not be provided to persons described in paragraphs (b) and (c) above until after June 30, 1966.

4576 No prescribed period of residence in this state shall be required as a condition of eligibility

4577 No relative, other than the parent of a child under 21 or parents or a spouse, shall be held to be financially responsible for the cost of medical care or related services needed by a person otherwise eligible for benefits under this chapter

4578. The provisions of Section 1042 of this code shall be applied in determining the liability of any person to repay the cost of medical services received by him during any period of time he was ineligible therefor

4579 In the event that the amount of state funds required to meet the need of eligible persons applying for such care and related services under the provisions of Section 4575 is less than the amount spent from state funds for medical care of public assistance recipients during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1965, the director is empowered to increase the levels of income specified in Section 4575 as a condition for eligibility to such level as may be estimated to permit coverage, within the total of state funds equal to the expenditures during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1965, plus the amount of federal funds to which the state is thereby entitled, for medical needs of additional medically indigent persons However, such action may not be taken without the publication of a Statement of Findings made by the director, concurred in by the Governor and filed with the Joint Interim Legislative Committee on Finance, at least 60 days prior to the effective date of such action

4601 Each applicant who is a recipient of public assistance shall be required to file an affirmation setting forth such facts about his annual income and other resources and qualifications for eligibility as may be required by the department Such statements shall be on forms prescribed by the department and may be accepted as evidence of the facts stated but shall not be interpreted to preclude a full and complete investigation by the county department whenever, in its judgment, such investigation is indicated

4602 Reaffirmation shall be filed annually and may be required at other times in accordance with general standard established by the department

4603 The department shall establish a system for investigation of a sufficient sample of applications and affirmations as shall be deemed necessary to assure the validity of such applications

4604 Any person receiving medical care or related service for which he was not eligible or on the basis of false declarations as to his eligibility shall be liable for repayment and shall be guilty of a misdemeanor or felony depending on the amount paid in his behalf for which he was not eligible

Identification cards shall be renewable on July 1 and January 1 of each year and, unless canceled for cause, shall entitle individuals to care and related service as indicated. Cause for cancellation shall exist when the person dies, loses state residence, or is found to be ineligible for continued coverage

4607. All necessary expenses incurred by the county in carrying out the provisions of this chapter shall be paid by the county in the same manner as other expenses of the county are paid

4608 Funds shall be advanced to the respective counties for costs of care under the provisions of this chapter and for administration in the manner prescribed in Sections 433, 434, 435, 436, and 437 of this code, provided, however, that the costs attendant upon receiving investigation applications and certifying persons who are not recipients of public assistance shall be borne by the state from funds appropriated by the Legislature for that purpose, and shall not be a charge against county tax revenues

4609 All sections of this act shall become operative on January 1, 1966, and shall remain in operation during such times as grants-in-aid are provided or made available to the state on the basis of a state plan approved by the federal government as medical care pursuant to provisions of the Federal Social Security Act

CHAPTER 2 EXTENDED HEALTH SERVICES

Article 1 General Provisions

4700 The object and purpose of this chapter is to establish a program of extended health care services for recipients and medically indigent persons requiring such care for periods longer than provided or at excessive costs not adequately covered under plans provided in Chapter 1 of this part

4701. As used in this chapter.

(a) "Public assistance," "recipient," "medically indigent person," "family person," and "adult person" have the meaning prescribed to these terms in Section 4501

(b) "Extended Health Services" means inpatient care, including hospital care of more than 60 days' duration, nursing home care of more than 30 days' duration, or care in a rehabilitation center of more than ___ days (or any equivalent combination thereof)

(c) Medical institution means a facility operated by, or licensed by, the United States, one of the several states, a political subdivision of a state, the State Department of Public Health, or exempt from such licensure pursuant to subdivision (c) of Section 1415 of the Health and Safety Code

(d) "Contract hospital" means a nonprofit medical facility licensed pursuant to Section 1401 of the Health and Safety Code, with which the board of supervisors of a county which does not maintain a county hospital has executed a contract, currently in effect, to care for medically indigent individuals

4701 1 Whenever the term "hospital" or "nursing home" is used in this chapter it shall be construed as referring to a medical institution as defined for the purposes of securing federal approval of plans for medical assistance

4702 Nothing in this chapter shall be construed as repealing any act or part of an act providing for the medical care or hospitalization of aged persons

4703 All service or care granted under the provisions of this chapter is held subject to the provisions of any law hereafter enacted, amended, repealing, or supplementing in whole or in part the provisions of this chapter, and subject to the rules and regulations of the department No recipient of service or care under this chapter shall have any claim for compensation or otherwise because his benefits are affected in any way by any such amending, repealing, or supplemental act, or by any such rule or regulation or by any addition, amendment, or repeal of such rules or regulations

4704 The Governor may enter into and execute in behalf of the state all necessary agreements in connection with this chapter as may be required by the United States government

4705 The provisions of this chapter shall only become operative and remain in operation during such times as grants-in-aid are provided or made available to the state on the basis of a state plan approved by the federal government for medical assistance

4706 Whenever a person, by virtue of other federal or state statutes or by virtue of an enforceable contract, is entitled to medical care or payment for medical care, benefits payable under this chapter shall be reduced by the amount of his entitlement Such reduction shall not preclude the use of benefits under this chapter to supplement his entitlement to the point where his medical needs are met

4721 The department may contract or may authorize a county to contract with one or more nonprofit membership corporations lawfully operating under Section 9200 or 9201 of the Corporations Code, or with medical societies or other medical groups, or with private insurance companies holding valid outstanding certificates of authority from the Insurance Commissioner of this state or with nonprofit hospital service plans qualifying under Chapter 11A (commencing with Section 11491) of Part 2 of Division 2 of the Insurance Code, under subdivision (a) or subdivision (b) of this section, or both

Insofar as practical, consistent with the efficient and economical administration of this chapter, the State Department of Social Welfare shall afford aged and other persons free choice of arrangements under which they shall receive medical assistance, and insofar as practical, consistent with the efficient and economical administration of this chapter, at least one arrangement available to all recipients of medical assistance shall afford free choice among physicians willing to provide services under the terms of a contract entered into pursuant to this section.

The director may establish, and revise as necessary, uniform monthly rates which may be paid under a contract pursuant to this section as partial or full prepayment for services to be rendered in behalf of persons under this chapter

(a) The department may enter into nonexclusive contracts providing arrangements under which funds available for medical assistance under this chapter shall be administered and disbursed to providers of medical care in consideration for services rendered and supplies furnished by them in accordance with the provisions of the applicable contract and any schedule of charges or formula for determining payment established pursuant to such contract No contract entered into pursuant to this subdivision shall deny to aged and other persons free choice of physicians willing to provide services under the terms of such contract

(b) Notwithstanding subdivision (a) of this section, the department may contract for one or more indemnity or service-type partial or full prepayment or group payment programs to provide medical care or any aspect thereof, with any agency or organization qualified under the first paragraph of this section

4722 The director shall establish the maximum allowances for services to be provided and shall prescribe the policies, standards, and scope of services to be provided by this chapter and shall adopt such rules and regulations as are necessary for carrying out every provision of this chapter and not inconsistent therewith.

In establishing the scope and limitations of medical assistance to be provided pursuant to this chapter, the department shall be limited to providing extended health services as defined in Section 4701 Extended health services include medical care provided in a medical institution as defined in Section 4501 in paragraph (c).

A transfer from one facility to another shall not be considered as an interruption in the continuity of care

In adopting the schedule of maximum allowances as required by this section the director shall not adopt a schedule which offers local public medical facilities a lesser rate of return in comparison to actual costs than is offered to nonpublic facilities To the extent that rate schedules established for nonpublic facilities include a factor for plant depreciation or replacement, the same consideration shall be extended in determining rates for public facilities

4722 2 To the extent that federal sharing is available for the cost of care for the patient involved, medical care as defined and paid for under this chapter shall also include medical assistance provided in a medical institution licensed by the State Department of Mental Hygiene under Section 5700 of this code Whenever the term "nursing home" is used in this chapter, it shall be construed to include facilities described in this section

4724 The advisory committee appointed pursuant to Section 4557 of this code shall also be authorized to act in an advisory capacity to the department in relation to the medical care content of the services to be provided by this chapter

4725 Nothing in this chapter shall be construed as imposing any control over the management of any medical care facility except that such facility shall be required to comply with reasonable standards of service in order to participate in the program provided by this chapter.

4726 The department may provide, by regulation, for the care and treatment, or both, of a recipient, pursuant to the provisions of Part 3 (commencing with Section 4500) or this part, by or in facilities in another state in those cases where out-of-state care or treatment is rendered on an emergency basis or is otherwise in the best interests of the recipient under the circumstances

Article 3 Persons Eligible for Service

4730 Extended health services shall be provided under this chapter to any person who meets the requirements set forth in Section 4575 and who has been certified as eligible by the agency designated to administer this program

4731 Unless otherwise specified by any contract executed in accordance with Section 4721 of this code a certificate of eligibility issued to a person shall remain in effect for a period of six months from the date of issuance unless the person dies or his circumstances change in such a manner as to render him ineligible for further assistance under this chapter

4731 5 Notwithstanding the provisions of Section 4731, a certificate of eligibility issued to a person shall be authorization for payment of any services rendered under this chapter in behalf of the person, for the three months immediately prior to the month in which the application for assistance was made, and not payable under other provisions of the code

4732 A person who receives extended health services shall be required to apply his regular income to defray part of the cost of his care, provided, however, that he may retain income as provided by regulations for the following purposes

(a) Personal and incidental need while a patient

(b) The upkeep and maintenance of his home

(c) The support and care of his spouse, minor dependents and any disabled relative for whose support he has contributed regularly

The director shall also issue by regulations general standards and criteria to be used to measure the ability of aged persons to pay part of the cost of outpatient medical assistance provided under this chapter

4733 The agency responsible for administration shall immediately and without delay determine the eligibility of an applicant for benefits provided by this chapter The investigation of eligibility shall be conducted in accordance with standards and procedures prescribed by regulations

4735 No relative other than the parent of a child under 21 or a spouse shall be held legally liable to support or to contribute to the support of any applicant for or person receiving medical care under this chapter

Notwithstanding the provisions of Section 206 of the Civil Code, or Section 270c of the Penal Code, or any other provision of this code no demand shall be made upon any relative to support or contribute toward the support of any person cited under this chapter No county or officer or employee thereof shall threaten any such relative with any legal action against him, by or in behalf of the county or with any penalty whatsoever

4736 Extended health services provided pursuant to this chapter shall not constitute a lien upon the property of the person

4737 Any recipient of extended health services under this chapter who is discharged from a hospital or nursing home, meets the eligibility requirements for public assistance as defined in Section 485, and otherwise has insufficient income to maintain himself until assistance is granted to him, shall be provided with sufficient funds, for the cost of his maintenance as determined by the standards set forth for such public assistance programs

Any person receiving extended health services under this chapter who is discharged from a hospital or nursing home and who was a recipient of public assistance shall be entitled to have his aid grant increased or restored immediately upon his discharge from the hospital or nursing home, and no new application shall be required

Article 4 Procedure

4740 Application for certification of eligibility for extended health services as provided by this chapter shall be made to the agency designated to administer the program.

4741 The agency shall determine the eligibility of any person to receive medical care as provided by this chapter and the rules and regulations promulgated thereunder Any person eligible to receive medical care under this chapter shall be certified as eligible by the agency, to the public or private agency, nonprofit membership corporation, medical society, medical group, or private vendor designated to provide the required medical assistance.

4742 Itemized bills for service under this chapter shall be submitted not more than six months after the month in which the service is rendered.

4743 All necessary expenses incurred by the county in carrying out the provisions of this chapter shall be paid by the county in the same manner as other expenses of the county are paid.

Article 5 Finances

4750 The total expenditures authorized in any fiscal year by this chapter shall not exceed:

Three hundred eighty dollars ($380) multiplied by the sum of the 12 monthly numbers of recipients of extended health services.

The sums appropriated pursuant to this section shall not be construed as limiting the amount of service or the period over which such service may be granted with respect to any person found to be eligible under this chapter

There is hereby appropriated, out of any money in the State Treasury otherwise not appropriated, the money necessary to pay for expenditures incurred in accordance with the provisions of this chapter; after payment of any sums available from the federal government for the purposes of this chapter the sum shall be determined as the balance after payment of the amount required by Section 4753 and 4753.1

4751 Any federal funds received by this state pursuant to Title ___ of the Federal Social Security Act as reimbursement for expenditures under this chapter shall be deposited in the Welfare Advance Fund

4752 Funds shall be advanced to the respective counties for costs of care under the provisions of this chapter and for administration in the manner prescribed in Sections 433, 434, 435, 436, and 437 of this code, provided, however, that the costs attendant upon receiving investigation applications and certifying aged and other persons who are not recipients of public assistance shall be borne by the state from funds appropriated by the Legislature for that purpose and shall not be a charge against county tax revenues.

In accordance with Article IV, Section 34, of the Constitution, the Governor presented the following communication recommending the consideration of Senate Bill No. 882 ·

Governor's Office
Sacramento, March 31, 1965

WHEREAS, Cited by the California Mothers Committee as "a real mother and inspiration to many children who have passed through her home and school", Mrs. Bruce's own daughters attended college and each graduated with honors; and

By Assemblyman Gonsalves:

House Resolution No. 346

Relating to a study of trial procedures for traffic violators between the ages of 18 and 21 years of age

WHEREAS, The automobile has proven itself to be when misused a deadly machine capable of causing death and serious bodily injury to innocent victims of circumstance; and

WHEREAS, Because of the danger involved in undertaking even the most routine operations involved in driving a motor vehicle, every driver on the highways must be required to be a mature and responsible person, always capable of exercising good judgment in the operation of his vehicle; and

WHEREAS, The high frequency of accidents caused by drivers who fall within the age group of licensed drivers under 21 years of age indicates that persons of this age are less likely to have acquired the maturity and good sense necessary to safely operate a motor vehicle; and

WHEREAS, Notwithstanding the fact that the laws of this state treat minor drivers as on a par with adult drivers when granting the driving privilege, these very same laws do not hold minor drivers to the same standard of responsibility that adults are required to measure up to, and

WHEREAS, The fact that minor drivers are permitted to enjoy equal privileges of the road with adults, but are not required to assume the responsibilities that should accompany these privileges, may very well be a cause of the fact that such minor drivers have not assumed these responsibilities; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Assembly Rules Committee is directed to assign to an appropriate interim committee for study the subject of trial procedures for traffic violators of the ages of 18 to 21 years to determine the feasibility of granting to adult courts the responsibility of adjudicating cases involving traffic accidents committed by such minor drivers, rather than having, in some cases, juvenile courts exercise jurisdiction in these matters, and to direct such interim committee to report thereon to the Assembly not later than the fifth legislative day of the 1967 Regular Session.

Resolution read, and referred by the Speaker pro Tempore to the Committee on Rules

WHEREAS, The lack of this information frequently works a serious disadvantage to such parties; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Assembly Rules Committee assign to an appropriate interim committee for study and investigation the subject of the conduct of city council meetings and the desirability of making available materials prepared by officials and members of the staff of the council and city departments to aid councilmen in making decisions on matters before a city council to parties having an interest in the specific matter before the city council, and be it further

Mr. Rumford was granted unanimous consent that the following Opinion of Legislative Counsel be printed in the Journal

Opinion of Legislative Counsel

Office of Legislative Counsel
Sacramento, April 14, 1965

Honorable William B. Rumford
Assembly Chamber

Housing— #17857

Dear Mr. Rumford: You have asked us several questions which are separately stated and considered below regarding the State Housing Law (Pt. 1.5 (commencing with Sec. 17910), Div. 13, H. & S. C.[1]) and Assembly Bill No. 972, as amended in Assembly April 7, 1965.

QUESTION NO. 1

Is the State Housing Law applicable to any buildings other than apartment houses, hotels, and dwellings?

OPINION AND ANALYSIS NO. 1

The State Housing Law, generally speaking, requires the Department of Industrial Relations acting through the Division of Housing to:

". . . adopt, amend, repeal, and, except as hereinafter provided, enforce rules and regulations for the protection of the public health, safety, and general welfare of the occupant and the public governing the erection, construction, enlargement, conversion, alteration, repair, moving, removal, demolition, occupancy, use, height, court, area, sanitation, ventilation and maintenance of all hotels, apartment houses, and dwellings " (Sec 17921) (Emphasis added)

[1] All section references, unless otherwise indicated, are to sections of the Health and Safety Code.

We find no indication of any intent in the language of the State Housing Law to make such law applicable to any buildings other than apartment houses, hotels, and dwellings An intent that finds no expression in the words of a statute cannot be found to exist (see Woodmansee v Lowery (1959), 167 Cal App 2d 645, 652)

Thus, we conclude that the State Housing Law is not applicable to any buildings other than apartment houses, hotels, and dwellings. We would, however, point out that a building which is subject to regulation under other statutory provisions may also be an apartment house, hotel, or dwelling which is subject to regulation under the State Housing Law. We note in this connection that the Attorney General has ruled that structures which are used to house employees which are subject to regulation as labor camps (see Sec 2410, et seq , Lab C) may also be apartment houses, hotels, or dwellings which are subject to regulation under the State Housing Law (see 45 Ops Cal Atty Gen 134)

QUESTION NO 2

Can local jurisdictions adopt and enforce requirements which are more restrictive than those which are imposed upon apartment houses, hotels, and dwellings by the State Housing Law and the rules and regulations which are adopted pursuant to it?

OPINION AND ANALYSIS NO. 2

The State Housing Law expressly provides that:

"The governing body of any city or county may enact ordinances or regulations imposing restrictions equal to or greater than those imposed by this part [State Housing Law] and rules and regulations promulgated pursuant thereto .. ." (Sec 17951) (Emphasis added)

We think that it is clear from these provisions that a city or county may adopt and enforce requirements which are more restrictive than those which are imposed upon apartment houses, hotels, and dwellings by the State Housing Law and the rules and regulations which are adopted pursuant to it

What effect would Assembly Bill No. 972, as amended in Assembly April 7, 1965, have if it is enacted?

OPINION AND ANALYSIS NO. 3

The State Housing Law now requires that the rules and regulations adopted by the Depatment of Industrial Relations, relating to apartment houses, hotels, and dwellings impose requirements equal to or more restrictive than those contained in prescribed editions of various uniform codes and prescribed minimum federal standards

Assembly Bill No. 972 would require, instead, that the rules and regulations adopted by the Department of Industrial Relations, relating to apartment houses, hotels, and dwellings, impose requirements reasonably consistent with recognized and accepted standards contained in prescribed editions of various uniform codes and prescribed minimum federal standards. The bill would also change from the 1961 to the 1964 editions, the editions of the Uniform Housing Code, Uniform Building Code, and the Uniform Plumbing Code which are prescribed.

QUESTION NO. 4

Would Assembly Bill No. 972 permit the Department of Industrial Relations to adopt rules and regulations imposing requirements for apartment houses, hotels, and dwellings which are less restrictive than those which are contained in the prescribed uniform codes or minimum federal standards?

OPINION AND ANALYSIS NO 4

As we have indicated in our opinion and analysis of your third question, Assembly Bill No. 972 would require that the rules and regulations adopted by the Department of Industrial Relations relating to apartment houses, hotels, and dwellings, impose requirements reasonably consistent with recognized and accepted standards, rather than equal to or more restrictive than those contained in prescribed editions of various uniform codes and prescribed minimum federal standards

The term "consistent" means "Accordant, harmonious, congruous, or compatible" (see 15 C.J.S., Consistent, at p. 990) Among the many shades of mean of the adverb "reasonably" are ". . . fairly, in a moderate degree; measurably; moderately; tolerable; not . . . fully" (see 75 C.J.S., Reasonably, at p. 638).

Viewed in the light of these definitions and the change which Assembly Bill No. 972 would make in the law, we think that the term "reasonably consistent" as used in the bill would be construed by the courts to mean "fairly compatible" or "not fully in accord."

Requirements which are less restrictive than those contained in the prescribed uniform codes and minimum federal standards could, we think, be "fairly compatible" but "not fully in accord" with the requirements contained in such uniform codes or minimum federal standards.

Thus, in our opinion Assembly Bill No. 972 would permit the Department of Industrial Relations to adopt rules and regulations imposing requirements for apartment houses, hotels, and dwellings which are less restrictive than, but still reasonably consistent with, those which are contained in the prescribed uniform codes or minimum federal standards.

QUESTION NO. 5

If Assembly Bill No. 972 is enacted, could the Department of Industrial Relations still adopt rules and regulations imposing requirements for apartment houses, hotels, and dwellings which are more restrictive than those which are contained in the prescribed uniform codes or minimum federal standards?

OPINION AND ANALYSIS NO 5

For the reasons which we expressed in our opinion and analysis of your fourth question, we think that Assembly Bill No. 972 would permit the Department of Industrial Relations to adopt rules and regulations prescribing requirements for apartment houses, hotels, and dwellings which are "fairly compatible" but "not fully in accord" with the requirements contained in the prescribed uniform codes or the minimum federal standards

Requirements which are more restrictive than those contained in the prescribed uniform codes and minimum federal standards could, we think, be "fairly compatible" but "not fully in accord" with the requirements which are contained in such uniform codes or minimum federal standards We would, however, note that other requirements could be so much more restrictive than those contained in the prescribed uniform codes or minimum federal standards as to no longer be even "fairly compatible" with those which are contained in such uniform codes or minimum federal standards The matter is one of degree

Thus, in our opinion, if Assembly Bill No 972 is enacted, the Department of Industrial Relations could still adopt rules and regulations imposing requirements for apartment houses, hotels, and dwellings which are more restrictive than those which are contained in the prescribed uniform codes or minimum federal regulations so long as such more restrictive requirements are still "reasonably consistent" with the requirements contained in the prescribed uniform codes or minimum federal standards

Very truly yours,

Legislative Counsel

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT TO PRINT IN JOURNAL

Mr Allen was granted unanimous consent that the following communication be printed in the Journal.

County of San Diego
Registrar of Voters
San Diego, April 12, 1965

Assemblyman Don A Allen, Sr
Chairman, Assembly Committee on Elections and Reapportionment
California Legislature, State Capitol, Room 4126
Sacramento, California 95814

Dear Don I am very sorry that I had to leave the committee meeting in Sacramento without getting to talk to you further about Assembly Bill 1050 County Clerks and Registrars, in the main, can probably adjust to a 45-day closing insofar as most of the provisions of the bill are concerned There are some noticeable exceptions and problems which I should bring to your attention, though I am certain that most of them are already known to you

No 1 No County Clerk, to the best of my knowledge, will be able to meet the requirements of Section 6460 and 6461 These sections require a report on the number of voters at the close of registration on the 19th day prior to the transmission of such statement to be furnished to the Secretary of State on the 35th day before each state-wide election

No 2 Section 455, California Elections Code, requires the delivery of indexes to State and County Central Committees 25 days prior to the election Our best estimate is that we could start printing indexes 26 days prior to the election and there would be no possibility of making the date Indexes would be available in all of the County of San Diego probably two and one-half weeks to three weeks before the election This is the time required to print, collate, and assemble and organize for delivery

No. 3 Section 10009 provides that sample ballots must be mailed at least five days prior to the primary election. This is one date that we would probably be able to make We presently mail all sample ballots about 15 days before elections and this, of course, is not early enough to satisfy many people I would also bring to your attention that in mailing five days prior to the election, these days would include a Saturday, a Sunday, and, as like as not, Memorial Day The guarantee that people would receive their sample ballots and polling place notices prior to the election simply cannot be made Section 3573 requires mailing of sample ballots (pamphlet) 10 days before a general election This date cannot be met The section requires amendment.

No 4 It also would appear that the provision of a 45-day closing would make deadlines established by Section 224 relating to the postcard change of address completely unrealistic This section should also be changed

No 5 The printing of absent voter ballots can be accomplished by estimating requirements, however, with a 45-day closing, our master file, the duplicate affidavit file against which absent voter applications must be processed, will still be in a state of processing This could mean illegal issuance of absent voter ballots for the first two or three days of the period which is set up by Section 14621 of the Elections Code.

No 6 It also appears that the provisions of an amended Section 203 to close registration 45 days prior to an election would be in conflict with Article II, Section 1, of the Constitution, and Section 321 of the California Elections Code relating to the form of the affidavit of registration In both the constitutional and code provisions presently existing, the 54 days is spelled out quite clearly and it would cause considerable confusion, partly insofar as the constitutional provision relates to " . an elector in one precinct and removing therefrom to another precinct in the same county within 54 days . ." The amendment of the Elections Code in 1948 to extend the time for the close of registration to 54 days also provided for the amendment of the Constitution, Article II, Section 1, from 40 to 54 days in both places where this time was mentioned in the Constitution

No 7: San Diego County for the past several major elections has provided to both parties and candidates about 30 days before each election our original punched card file of registered voters for reproduction Through this device the major political parties and candidates have had the capacity to prepare gummed labels, walking lists, or whatever other political tools they saw fit to generate from the use of this file With the processing deadlines imposed upon us by this proposed amendment, this will simply not be possible. The original file will be required in this office continuously until possibly as close as one week before the election

These items are being brought to your attention so that you may understand the consequences of the proposed bill

Very truly yours,

CHARLES J SEXTON, Registrar of Voters

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT TO PRINT IN JOURNAL

Mr Dymally was granted unanimous consent that the following Opinion of Legislative Counsel be printed in the Journal

Opinion of Legislative Counsel

Office of Legislative Counsel
Sacramento, April 15, 1965

Honorable Robert T Monagan
Assembly Chamber

Poverty—#17838

Dear Mr Monagan You ask whether A B 1165, as amended in the Assembly on April 12, 1965, would permit state agencies to enter any contracts without legislative approval with respect to the programs established under the Economic Opportunity Act

A B. 1165, as amended, would add Chapter 2 (commencing with Section 15950) to Part 12 of Division 3 of Title 2 of the Government Code The chapter is comprised of only one section, Section 15950, which reads as follows

> "15950 The Legislature recognizes the importance of the problem of poverty in California and is mindful of the great waste of human resources, as well as the undesirable social consequences that poverty produces The Legislature expresses its approval of the participation of state agencies in the programs established under the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964 (Public Law 88-452, 78 Stat 508) "

It appears to us that this provision is merely an expression of policy on the part of the Legislature, indicating its approval of state agency participation in programs established under the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964 We do not think it confers any new or additional authority on any state agency

Section 15950 is phrased as an expression of approval, rather than a direction or authorization It denotes an assumption on the part of the Legislature that the state agencies to which it refers have the authority under other provisions of law to participate in the programs, and that the Legislature believes that they should participate If a state agency does not have such power under present law, or is not given such power under other and more specific legislation now pending, the bill would not change the situation

Very truly yours,

GEORGE H MURPHY,
Legislative Counsel
By Edward K Purcell,
Deputy Legislative Counsel

Two copies to Honorable Mervyn M Dymally, pursuant to Joint Rule 34

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT TO PRINT IN JOURNAL

Mr. Dymally was granted unanimous consent that the following statement be printed in the journal:

Testimony of Dr. Paul F. O'Rourke, Special Assistant for Anti-poverty Planning, Governor's Office, before the House of Representatives Ad Hoc Subcommittee on Poverty on Monday, March 29, 1965, in Room 2401 Federal Building in Sacramento, California

Congressman Hawkins and Members of the Committee My name is Paul F O'Rourke and I am Governor Brown's Special Assistant for Anti-Poverty Planning It is a pleasure to appear here and be able to tell you how enthusiastic we in California are about the potential offered in the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964 The concept of self-improvement and participation by the poor is a most promising and welcome new approach to the problems of poverty

As you know, prior to the passage of the bill, California had displayed leadership in many of the fields related to this new program Examples include our compensatory education program, the community work and training program and our pilot job corps camp at Oak Glen

Last summer when it appeared that the Economic Opportunity Act would become a reality, Governor Brown took immediate action to acquaint the key executive staff of the state departments and many leaders in public and private agencies with the potential this new act might offer He appointed an interdepartmental task force of top administrative experts to explore the participation of California in the program

This early involvement of key members of the state executive staff has contributed greatly to the rapid development of the program throughout the state The state received an early technical assistance grant to operate a State Office of Economic Opportunity and to provide state staff to give technical assistance and advice to local communities This helped us meet the tremendous demand for information that developed before the ink was dry on the bill

The tremendous level of interest and requests for information on the program have literally swamped the limited staff of our office In the past five months, our small staff has made over 400 appearances throughout the state to interpret the act to concerned community groups During the same period we have received 4,000 pieces of mail

Communities in both urban and rural areas throughout the state have sought advice and guidance from our office The enthusiastic local response has resulted in grants exceeding $27 million in California

Before I go farther, I should tell you that much of what we have been able to accomplish would not have been possible without the magnificent cooperation of Sargent Shriver and his staff in providing us information, advice and assistance I believe he has done a remarkable job in what is obviously a tremendously complex undertaking.

This program offers unlimited potential for imagination and innovation What we are describing today reflects only the beginning of a program that has elements of the most comprehensive solutions to the problems of poverty. As this is more fully recognized, we can anticipate many more excellent programs As other states recognize this potiential, I am sure requests will go far beyond funds presently available With this prospect a near certainty, I strongly urge that the program be expanded to meet what I predict will be an enormous demand for the ammunition to fight a war that we can and must win

Having talked in rather general terms thus far, let me give you more specific information

First, when the $437,000 federal grant was received for state technical assistance staff Governor Brown immediately established a State Office of Economic Opportunity within his office This unit, established on a temporary basis pending legislative approval, is now employing staff and becoming equipped through training and experience to meet the needs for technical assistance and consultation with local communities

The office consists of a Director, Deputy Director, Administrative Assistant and a regional field staff of five Community Action Representatives. This regional field staff provides assistance to local communities in developing community action plans, securing cooperation from state agencies at the local level, and in submitting project applications In addition, one Community Action Representative and one Legal Counsel will assist local communities in designing programs for home economics, money management and legal assistance to poor families A staff of five clerical personnel is also budgeted

A program assistance team consisting of about 8 5 man-years of state agency personnel on a full or part-time assignment provides appropriate program expertise to the headquarters and field staff plus necessary intradepartmental coordination These team members will remain on the staff of their agencies but will be available to the Office of Economic Opportunity on a reimbursed time basis

It is our intention to keep the staff small, but highly skilled and mobile To supplement this limited staff we intend to contract with professionals in the field of community organization and development to meet special needs for intensive service In this way, the technical assistance budget will be used to attain grass roots organization among unorganized communities of the poor, to enable them to participate in community action organizations and develop community projects The pattern may vary from community to community Also we expect to add staff as we get new program responsibility An example is the State Migrant Master Plan which provides for three professional and two clerical positions

We have developed a plan for a rather comprehensive set of responsibilities related to integration and coordination of federal, state and local programs I prepared this plan in draft form and have given it to your staff this morning

Governor Brown has already sponsored a number of legislative measures in addition to creating the State Office of Economic Opportunity This legislation is being advocated to assure communities the fullest possible participation in Economic Opportunity Act programs State law will be clarified to insure the participation of state and local agencies

CALIFORNIA PROGRAMS

Forty-three counties representing approximately 90% of the state population have established community action organizations Nine have received program development and action grants totalling $4,550,000 Seventeen more have applications pending in the Office of Economic Opportunity We anticipate that grants will be made to these at an early date

I realize your major concern lies in Titles II and III-B at this time, but I think programs such as the Neighborhood Youth Corps and Work Study are so closely related that you would be interested to know about our progress in this area Five Neighborhood Youth Corps projects in four counties have been approved to date for a total of approximately $7 million They will provide approximately 12,000 part-time jobs for youths from low income families ages 16-21 Approximately half of these are for in-school youths, and half for drop-outs or unemployed who need work experience At least ten additional projects are pending, and we expect these will be approved in the near future

More than 50 of our junior colleges, colleges and universities have received work study grants totalling $1 5 million and additional applications are pending

An allocation of $1 06 million has been made to the state under Title II-B for Adult Basic Education The Department of Education reports that 28 applications have been received from local school districts for projects that will be available through this source of funding

I think you would also like to know that 7 counties have received grants totalling $3 8 million for work experience programs under Title V, and 12 additional projects are in various stages of processing for approval

The most significant recent development and one I am sure you are vitally interested in is the grant for assistance to migrants under Title III-B in the amount of $3 4 million

To overcome the cycle of social problems attendant upon the migrancy of farm workers, the California Office of Economic Opportunity has developed a comprehensive migrant master plan The plan proposes to establish a network of service centers in those areas that have been identified as having the greatest need. These facilities will be operated by a concerned local agency as the migrant component of the Community Action Plan Each of the centers will include housing, day care, education, health and sanitation services These will be connected through a set of five roadside rest stops which will refer migrants to areas where services are available

The bulk of the $3 4 grant, $2 million, will go toward the construction and maintenance of short-term housing facilities in eight areas for the use of 1,000 migrant families

Each migrant center will include 100 units of demountable temporary shelters with water, electricity, and sanitation Each installation will also have a health clinic, an education unit and a day care program The education unit will be supervised by qualified teachers who will direct tutorial, adult literacy and preschool education programs The day care program will include supervised play and infant care for children whose mothers are working in the fields

Twelve existing farm labor supply centers which currently provide housing for seasonal and migrant farm workers and their families will be augmented with education, health, and day care programs

Supporting this program, we already have four VISTA volunteers working with migrants in California and 10 additional promised in the near future Another 10 VISTA volunteers will soon be working with Hope for Retarded Children, a private non-profit organization providing services to retarded children from low-income families in San Francisco

Although not a direct operating responsibility of the State, another major area of program activity in California is the Job Corps under Title I-A Seven rural camps, one urban center for boys and one urban center for girls, have already been approved These facilities will provide a coordinated program of basic education, skill training, and construction work experience for over 3,500 youth It is estimated that this represents a financial commitment in California of approximately $9 million for the first full year of operation

I think you can see from these statistics that throughout California there is recognition of the importance of the Economic Opportunity Act But I cannot overemphasize, that in our view, this can only be considered a beginning.

You have asked me to comment on my observations regarding the overhead costs of this program I think it is too early to make any valid judgements in this area. Good program requires good planning, and if this is to be achieved, early expenditures will reflect the cost of this planning Also, in many of the programs, one-time start-up costs are required These are essential to get the program moving but they will not appear in next year's budget.

You have also asked me to comment about my observations concerning the extent to which the poor are being involved in program planning and the decision-making process In California this has not been a significant problem, although you may hear other testimony, because our office and Sargent Shriver's office have insisted on the participation of the poor in planning, policy-making and staffing.

Regarding the need for legislative revision, I think we are premature in considering changes at this time There may be some areas where experience will suggest that revision is necessary However, it is my strong recommendation that we retain the law in its present form until we have had substantially more experience than exists to date The problem of gaining understanding of the present law is difficult enough To change it before it is well understood would, in our view, create confusion and vastly complicate our job

Mr Rumford was granted unanimous consent that the following opinion of the Attorney General be printed in the Journal

Opinion of Stanley Mosk, Attorney General
Herschel T. Elkins, Deputy Attorney General

No 63/193 January 15, 1964

ERNEST B WEBB, DIRECTOR OF THE DEPARTMENT OF INDUSTRIAL RELATIONS, has requested an opinion on the following questions:

1. What criteria shall be used in determining whether rules and regulations adopted, amended or repealed by the Division of Housing for buildings used for human habitation are equal to or more restrictive than the provisions contained in the uniform housing, building, plumbing and electrical codes as specified in Health and Safety Code section 17922?

2 What criteria shall be used in determining whether restrictions imposed by ordinances enacted by a city or county for buildings used for human habitation are equal to or greater than those imposed by Division 13, part 1 of the Health and Safety Code?

3 May the Building Standards Commission in order to avoid duplication, conflict or overlapping between the regulations of the Division of Housing and of the State Fire Marshal require the Division of Housing to adopt rules and regulations less restrictive than the requirements of the uniform housing, building, plumbing and electrical codes as set forth in Health and Safety Code section 17922?

4 May the Building Standards Commission pursuant to Health and Safety Code section 18905 1 interpret or reconsider state housing law rules and regulations except in cases of duplication, conflict or overlapping of building regulations?

The conclusions are·

1. A rule or regulation is equal to or more restrictive than a provision of the uniform housing, building, plumbing or electrical code when it provides equal or greater health and safety protection However, the specification of approved alternatives does not disturb the application of this conclusion.

2 A city or county ordinance imposes restrictions equal to or greater than those imposed by Division 13, part 1 of the Health and Safety Code when it provides equal or greater health and safety protection Again, the specification of approved alternatives does not disturb the application of this conclusion

3 In order to avoid duplication, conflict or overlapping between the regulations of the Division of Housing and of the State Fire Marshal, rules and regulations of the division may be promulgated which are less restrictive than the requirements of the uniform codes in the absolute sense, when such rules and regulations give equal protection to the public.

4 The Building and Standards Commission has only those powers granted to it in part 2 5 of Division 13 of the Health and Safety Code and may not interpret or reconsider state housing law rules and regulations except in cases of duplication, conflict or overlapping of building regulations.

ANALYSIS

1. Equal or More Restrictive Division Regulations

The Legislature has provided that the rules and regulations adopted, amended or repealed by the Division of Housing,[1]

> " . . shall include provisions imposing requirements equal to or more restrictive than those contained in the Uniform Housing Code, 1961 edition, the Uniform Building Code, 1961 edition, as adopted by the International Conference of Building Officials, the

[1] "Division of Housing" or "division" as used in this opinion means the Department of Industrial Relations acting through the Division of Housing

Uniform Plumbing Code, 1961 edition, as adopted by the Western Plumbing Officials Association, the minimum painting standards for home construction loans adopted by the Federal Housing Administration and the Department of Veterans Affairs, and the National Electrical Code, 1962 edition, as adopted by the National Fire Protection Association The department shall adopt such other rules and regulations as it deems necessary to carry out the provisions of this part " Health and Safety Code section 17922 [2]

The Legislature did not require the division to adopt the uniform codes as such nor did it require the division to adopt each provision of each code The purpose of the legislation is to provide the people of the State of California with housing which has health and safety protection equal to or greater than that provided in the various uniform codes As a starting point, the Division of Housing should look to these uniform codes as guides and should consider the promulgation of the regulations which are at least as restrictive as the provisions of these codes However, the Legislature has given the division other criteria to follow.

A Geographic, Topographic and Climatic Conditions

Under section 17922 the division, "shall also consider, among other things, geographic, topographic and climatic conditions " Because of geographic, topographic or climatic conditions in California, the division may not find it necessary to include certain provisions found in the uniform codes.

B. Alternates.

In section 17923(a) the Legislature has stated that:

"The provisions of Section 17922 are not intended to prevent the use of any material, appliance, installation, device, arrangement, or method of construction not specifically prescribed by this part and the rules and regulations promulgated pursuant thereto, providing such alternate has been approved The department may approve any such alternate if it finds that the proposed design is satisfactory and the material, appliance, installation, device, arrangement, method, or work offered is, for the purpose intended, at least the equivalent of that prescribed in this part and the rules and regulations promulgated pursuant thereto in quality, strength, effectiveness, fire resistance, durability, safety, and for the protection of life and health "

If the division determines that a material, appliance, installation, device, arrangement or method of construction which is not permitted under the uniform codes is as safe as that permitted under the codes, the division may allow such material, appliance, installation, device, arrangement or method of construction

C Performance Standards

Section 18905 2 provides in part that:

"All building regulations shall be written, administered, and interpreted on a performance basis consistent with state and nationally recognized standards for building construction as set forth by the [State Building Standards] commission, in view of the use and occupancy of each structure, and the qualities and quantities of available materials, and methods of construction, to best preserve and protect the public health and safety "

[2] In this opinion, all section numbers refer to Health and Safety Code sections.

Under Title 24, section 217(a) of the California Administrative Code a performance standard means any standard approved by the State Building Standards Commission which is based on national, state or other recognized performance tests By basing regulations on recognized performance tests approved by the commission the division can consider advanced developments which have not been as yet recognized by the uniform codes.

The Legislature has thus established the uniform codes as guidelines to be used in promulgating rules and regulations which have as their purpose the protection of the public health and safety As long as that health and safety are equally protected, the division by use of alternates or performance tests or because of geographic, topographic or climatic conditions may vary, reduce or omit provisions that are in the uniform codes. As long as the health and safety are thus protected, the division may promulgate new rules and regulations which will enable the construction industry and the public in California to benefit from technological advancements and architectural and engineering research and which will allow the public lower cost housing without a reduction in health or safety factors

2. Equal or Greater Local Ordinances

Section 17951 provides in part that

"(a) The governing body of any city or county may enact ordinances or regulations imposing restrictions equal to or greater than those imposed by this part and rules and regulations promulgated pursuant thereto or prescribing fees for permits, certificates, or other forms or documents required or authorized by this part or rules and regulations promulgated pursuant thereto

"(b) The provisions of this part are not intended to prevent the use of any material, appliance, installation, device, arrangement, or method of construction not specifically prescribed by this part, provided any such alternate has been approved "

Just as the uniform codes are a guide to the Division of Housing regulations so too are the Division of Housing regulations a guide to the city and county ordinances If a city or county chooses to enact an ordinance or ordinances which it determines imposes restrictions equal to or greater than the restrictions imposed by the Division of Housing, said ordinance (or ordinances) is the effective one in that city or county The state law does not apply in any city or county having and enforcing a local ordinance prescribing minimum standards equal to or greater than the state law (§ 19825)

In order for a city or county's ordinances to be equal or greater than the division's regulations, each of the restrictions imposed by the division's regulation should be equalled or excelled by a provision of the city or county ordinance. However, whether or not the city or county enacts its own housing ordinances, it may approve the use of any material, appliance, installation, device, arrangement or method of construction not specifically prescribed by the Health and Safety Code if such alternate has been approved by the building department of said city or county The city or county building department determines whether this alternate is for the purpose intended at least the equivalent of that prescribed in the Health and Safety Code in quality, strength, effectiveness, fire resistance, durability, safety and for the protection of safety and health. Thus, a city or county may lessen a state requirement if it determines that the health and safety factors are not lessened or if the city or county has compensating requirements. Thus, the city's (or county's) structural requirements for certain types of buildings, for example, might be quite different from those of the state and yet have equal strength, quality, fire resistance, etc. The city or county by use of alternates may thus more easily meet its local problems

In addition, local use zone requirements, local fire zones, building set-backs, side and rear yard requirements and property line requirements are entirely reserved to the local jurisdictions (§ 17922)

There may be state regulations which should not apply in a particular area because of local conditions or factors A local appeals board (a board created by a city or county pursuant to § 17920 5) after a hearing may so determine and thus render said regulations inoperative in that area [3]

A city or county has much the same authority to vary the state regulations as the state has to vary the provisions of the uniform codes The paramount consideration is not uniformity of regulation but certainty of protection

3 Less Restrictive Regulations by the Division of Housing.

The regulations of the State Fire Marshal, California Administrative Code, Title 19, may overlap, duplicate or conflict with the regulations of the Division of Housing, California Administrative Code Title 8 The State Fire Marshal may promulgate regulations which provide for the health and safety of the public but which are not equal to or more restrictive than the uniform codes The State Building Standards Commission may approve such regulations. (§ 18903) Thereafter the Division of Housing may promulgate regulations which are equal to the restrictions imposed by the uniform codes and which are more restrictive than and conflict with the regulations of the Fire Marshal If the State Building Standards Commission pursuant to section 18905 2 determines that the Fire Marshal's regulations were written on a performance basis that by experience and by test and, "in view of the use and occupancy of each structure, and the qualities and quantities of available materials, and methods of construction, to best preserve and protect the public health and safety" said commission may request the Division of Housing to rewrite its conflicting regulations and the division may do so even though the resulting regulations are less restrictive

[3] See 39 Ops Cal Atty Gen 324 (1962) for a discussion of the kinds of local conditions and factors which would call for proper utilization of this exemption process.

than the provisions of the uniform codes While such rewritten regulations may be less restrictive than the provisions of the uniform codes in the absolute sense, such regulations, owing to technological advances not present at the time the codes were issued, will afford an equal or greater measure of health and safety protection. This is apparently the legislative intent as the division could accomplish the same result under section 17923 by approving the use of alternate materials, appliances, installations, devices, arrangements or methods of construction.

4. The Interpretations of the State Building Standards Commission.

Under section 18905 1, anyone affected by a regulation of any state agency because of duplication, conflict or overlapping of building regulations may ask the commission for interpretation or reconsideration of such regulation This procedure is applicable only when there is a duplication, conflict or overlapping of regulations as said regulations are written or interpreted by the agencies.

Section 18905 2 provides in part that, "All building regulations shall be written, administered, and interpreted on a performance basis consistent with state and nationally recognized standards for building construction as set forth by the commission . " (Emphasis added) The commission may, pursuant to this section, set forth and list state and nationally recognized standards for building construction so that the agencies may benefit from technological advances The state agencies may then write, administer and interpret their building regulations taking into consideration these technological advances. This section does not empower the commission to interpret the regulations based upon the commission-recognized standards, nor has the commission attempted to perform such function The commission's interpretation function is limited to duplication, conflict or overlap of regulations as specified in section 18905.1. As was said in section 18903,

> "It is the purpose of this part to provide the means for eliminating duplication, conflict and overlapping in state building regulations and not to substitute the commission for the responsibilities now vested by law in various state agencies To that end each state agency concerned shall continue to prepare such building regulations as it is authorized and finds necessary, but such regulations shall not be effective until approved by the commission."

1. Real property, standing upon the records of the county in the name of the defendant, must be attached, by recording with the recorder of the county a copy of the writ, together with a description of the property attached, and a notice that it is attached, and by serving an occupant of the property, if there is one upon the property at the time service is attempted, with a similar copy of the writ, description and notice, or if there is no occupant then on the property, then, by posting the same in a conspicuous place on the property attached Service upon the occupant may be made by leaving said copy of the writ, description and notice with the occupant personally, or, in his absence, with any person, of suitable age and discretion, found upon the property at the time service thereof is attempted and who is either an employee or agent of such occupant or a member of his family or household. Where the property described in the notice consists of more than one distinct lot, parcel or governmental subdivision and any of such lots, parcels, or governmental subdivisions lie with relation to any of the others so as to form one or more continuous, unbroken tracts, one service or posting need be made as to each such continuous, unbroken tract

Whenever growing crops have been attached under the provisions of this subdivision, which will greatly deteriorate in value, unless properly cultivated, cared for, harvested, packed or sold, the court issuing such writ, upon application of the person in whose favor the writ runs, and after due notice to the owner of said property, may direct the sheriff to take possession of said property and to cultivate, care for and preserve the same and, when necessary, harvest, pack and sell such property. Any sale of such property shall be made in the same manner that property is sold on execution and the proceeds must be retained by the sheriff to be applied to the satisfaction of any judgment which may be recovered in the action in which said writ is issued The court shall order said applicant to pay such expenses in advance if the court may deem it proper, or may direct that the whole or any part of such expenses be paid from the proceeds of any sale of such property.

2a. Growing crops (which, until severance, shall be deemed personal property not capable of manual delivery), or any interest therein, belonging to the defendant, and growing upon real property held by any other person or standing upon the records of the county in the name of any other person, must be attached in the same manner as growing crops growing upon real property standing upon the records of the county in the name of the defendant are attached by the provisions of subdivision 1a of this section, and the notice of attachment shall state that the crops therein described or any interest of the defendant therein, held by, or standing upon the records of the county in the name of, such other person (naming him), are attached in pursuance of the writ In addition, a similar copy of the writ, description and notice shall be delivered to such other person, or his agent, if known and within the county, or left at the residence of either, if known and within the county The recorder must index such attachment when recorded, in the names of both the defendant and of the person by whom the real property is held, or in whose name it stands on the record

4 In cases where the sheriff, constable, or marshal is instructed to take into possession personal property capable of manual delivery, whether the same is to be placed in a warehouse or in custody of a keeper, the sheriff, constable or marshal shall require, as a prerequisite to the taking of such property, that in addition to written instructions the plaintiff or his attorney of record deposit with the sheriff, constable or marshal, a sum of money sufficient to pay the expenses of taking and keeping safely said property for a period not to exceed 15 days In the event that a further detention of said property is required, the sheriff, constable or marshal must, from time to time, make written demand upon the plaintiff or his attorney for further deposits to cover estimated expenses for periods not to exceed five days each Such demand must be served as provided in Section 1011 of this code, or by depositing such notice in the post office in a sealed envelope, as first-class registered mail, postage prepaid, addressed to the person on whom it is served at his last known office or place of residence In the event that the money so demanded is not paid, the sheriff, constable or marshal shall release the property to the person or persons from whom the same was taken There shall be no liability upon the part of the sheriff, constable or marshal to take or hold personal property unless the provisions of this section shall have been fully complied with There shall be no liability upon the part of the sheriff, constable or marshal, either to the plaintiff or the defendant for loss by fire, theft, injury or damage of any kind to personal property capable of manual delivery while in the possession of the sheriff, constable or marshal either in a warehouse or in the custody of a keeper or en route to or from a warehouse unless the sheriff, constable or marshal shall be negligent in his care or handling of the property

Statement by Assemblyman Lester A. McMillan
April 19, 1965

Mr Speaker and Members of the Assembly:

In view of the events and publicity of the past week I would like to ask unanimous consent to make a statement on the floor of this Assembly.

I have been accused of a very serious offense

While I appeared in the Superior Court of Los Angeles last Thursday to arrange for bail to this charge I was released without bail In the confusion of the television cameras, flashbulbs, and the crossfire of questions from the reporters it was impossible to make a coherent statement so I merely stated that I was not guilty and no further comment

Today, however, I feel that I should make a statement in the quiet atmosphere of this chamber where I have served for 22 years, not only to the Members of the Assembly but to my family and to my neighbors and to my constituents who have elected me twice since this alleged incident occurred over 30 months ago.

I say to you Members of the Assembly and I swear before my God that I am innocent of this charge I am not asking for your sympathy I would not be an object of pity but I appeal to your sense of justice and fairness to withhold any judgment upon me until I have had my day in court.

Opinion of Legislative Counsel

Office of Legislative Counsel
Sacramento, April 19, 1965

Honorable Richard J. Donovan
Assembly Chamber

San Diego Municipal Courts—No. 18257

Dear Mr Donovan: You have stated that Assembly Bill No 904, as amended on March 30, 1965, would not result in the creation of a new municipal court judgeship under the consolidation of courts for which it provides You ask whether, if this is the case, the bill would result in any additional cost to the state, requiring referral of the bill to the Assembly Committee on Ways and Means

On its face, Section 74343 3 of the Government Code, as it would be added by the bill, appears to create a new judgeship in the San Diego Municipal Court. However, if that section would not create a new judgeship, we find no other provision in the bill which would result in any additional cost to the state and which would require referral of the bill to the Committee on Ways and Means.

Very truly yours,

GEORGE H. MURPHY
Legislative Counsel
By John R. Pierce
Deputy Legislative Counsel

Mr Winton was granted unanimous consent that Assembly Bill No 393, Item No 39 on this day's Daily File, be passed on file, and that the bill retain its place on file

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT TO PRINT IN JOURNAL

Mr Mulford was granted unanimous consent that the following letter be printed in the Journal

County of Alameda
Oakland, April 16, 1965

Hon. Don Allen Assemblyman, 63rd District
State Capital, Sacramento, California

Dear Mr Allen In checking with our Data Processing Center we have arrived at the following estimated time schedules based on the close of registration April 23, 45 days prior to the Primary Election pursuant to A.B. 1050

Processing time for Affidavits of Registration, etc	14 days
Up date 100,000 records on magnetic tape	1 day
Print and burst Alpha listing, sort alphabetical for precinct listing; precinct party count	7 days
Total days	22 days

(At this point of time, May 15, 1966, we are now 5 days late for processing Absent Voters ballots, May 11, 1966)

Printing of Index Master by Computer	4 days
Printing of 40 copies of index required by law	5 days
Total days	31 days

At this point of time (May 24, 1966) there would be approximately 13-14 days left prior to the election day In this period we would still have to print 500,000 insert notices on the computer After printing the notices we would have to insert notices, sample ballots, pamphlets, etc for delivery to Post Office

In prior elections, it has taken 8-10 days, 12 hours per day to insert sample ballots, etc, which was completed 10 days prior to major elections, giving the Post Office all sample ballots 10 days prior to election as required by law However, even though we have complied with the law, thousands and thousands of sample ballots are not delivered until just a few days prior to election, the tremendous task of delivering 500,000 sample ballots being the problem

It was my understanding the author was to amend various sections of the code, so that Clerks and Registrars could attempt to meet their deadlines under the 45 day law, all of us agreeing we could not meet present deadlines within the 45 day close

The 45 day close could very well mean that in many counties, sample ballots will not be received by voters until a few days prior to election or even a day or two after the election is held, that on the day for Absent Voting, requests may be denied because all affidavits had not been processed, that candidates will not receive indexes in time for them to properly campaign

The above time schedules are based on an optimistic time element and cannot be construed to mean we can meet this schedule should problems arise

Sincerely,

JACK G BLUE, County Clerk

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolutions were offered:

By Assemblyman Foran:

House Resolution No. 358

Relative to Dante Alighieri

WHEREAS, Americans gratefully honor the memory of persons whose lives and accomplishments have enriched our own; and

WHEREAS, The year 1965 will mark the 700th anniversary of the birth of the great Italian man of letters, Dante Alighieri; and

WHEREAS, Dante Alighieri, through his treatise entitled De Monarchia was the first powerful voice to advocate a federation of nations as the only sure means of bringing about an enduring peace on this earth, thus anticipating what has become a reality in our United States and Nations; and

WHEREAS, Dante's Divine Comedy, acknowledged as one of the greatest literary works of all time, has, through numerous translations into English become a genuine part of our American culture, tradition; and

WHEREAS, Dante Alighieri, by virtue of his supreme genius as a poet and thinker, has enriched not only Italy but all of western civilization; and

WHEREAS, A Dante commemorative stamp has been authorized by the United States Post Office Department, and will be issued in San Francisco in July of 1965; and

WHEREAS, The words of Congressman Robert N. Giaimo of Connecticut eloquently summarizes the cultural legacy of Dante for 20th Century man as follows:

"Dante was a man of his age—a man of action, involved in the affairs of Florence and the papacy, a man of intellect, deeply learned in the philosophy and religion of his time; and a man of eminence, acquainted with the great men in politics and literature, both of Italy and of the rest of Europe. He is truly representative of his time and place, yet his stature far transcends that time and place —his eloquent vitality exerts its powerful influence on contemporary thought as well. It is therefore most fitting that the United States of America, in the 20th century, separated from Dante by 4,000 miles and seven centuries, should recognize that his poetic magnificence, his mastery of language, his human tenderness and moral grandeur, make him a man worthy of the praise and emulation of all men"

now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the Legislature of California, That the Members call on all Californians to join in commemorating the 700th anniversary of the birth of Dante Alighieri, and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk be directed to transmit a suitably prepared copy of this resolution to Mr. Lawrence S. Mana, President of the Dante Centenary Committee of the San Francisco Bay Area, San Francisco, California

WHEREAS, In particular, Montessori approaches to education, having achieved remarkable results with children whether retarded, slum-afflicted, or "normal" in several parts of the world including recently in the United States, promise important academic, emotional, and economic advantages for our children and society, and

WHEREAS, A number of investigators regard Montessori education as the "model" for preschools, especially for educationally disadvantaged children needing compensatory education, now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That it be the express intent of the State of California that Montessori approaches to education be duly evaluated as relates to the public interest and the needs of all our children, and be it further
