RESOLUTIONS

The following resolutions were offered:

By Messrs. O'Day, Maloney, Wollenberg, Blosser, Berry, Gaffney, George D. Collins, Brady, Cooke, Cramer, Kirkwood, Thompson, and Dickey:

House Resolution No. 103

Relating to the Naval Air Transport Service

WHEREAS, The Naval Air Transport Service under the command of a distinguished officer, Rear Admiral J. W. Reeves, Jr., has established a remarkable record of safety and regularity of operations in this Country and overseas both during the war and in the postwar era, and

WHEREAS, The Naval Air Transport Service, familiarly known as NATS, has its headquarters at Moffett Field, California; and

WHEREAS, NATS, under the able direction of Admiral Reeves, has developed and attained a highly efficient technique of ground controlled approach through the use of radar to insure a safe approach to and landing at an airport under conditions of fog and low visibility, and

WHEREAS, NATS has maintained most of its scheduled arrivals and departures even under adverse weather conditions when many commercial airline operations have been canceled, and

WHEREAS, NATS has continued to improve its overall safety record each year notwithstanding the release of over 4,000 experienced pilots, about two-thirds of its total, and

WHEREAS, The Naval Air Transport Service DC-4 planes alone, exclusive of other types, have achieved the amazing safety record of flying 1,400,000,000 passenger miles in the last four years without a single passenger fatality, and

WHEREAS, Admiral Reeves, by gallant leadership, skill, ability, experience and sound judgment, has inspired the forces under his command and brought glory and public renown to the Naval Air Transport Service, now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Assembly of the State of California does hereby commend Rear Admiral J. W. Reeves, Jr., U.S.N., and gives official recognition to his outstanding achievements in commanding and directing the far-flung domestic and overseas operations of the Naval Air Transport Service, and establishing a superlative record of safety and regularity in its operations, and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk is directed to send copies of this resolution to the President of the United States, the President pro Tempore of the United States Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, the Secretary of the Navy and each of California's Representatives in the Congress of the United States, and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk prepare a suitably engrossed copy of this resolution and forward it to Rear Admiral J. W. Reeves, Jr., with the sincere good wishes of every Member of this Assembly.

Resolution read, and referred to the Committee on Rules.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON INTERSTATE COOPERATION

Sacramento, February 4, 1947

MR. SPEAKER: Pursuant to House Resolution 23, your Committee on Interstate Cooperation submits herewith its Report on the Eighth General Assembly of the States, held in convention at the Edgewater Beach Hotel in Chicago, January 16, 17, and 18, 1947, under the sponsorship of the Council of State Governments, which we were instructed to attend.

In all, 44 states sent delegations to this general assembly. California was represented by the full membership of your committee, and by Senators Brown, Mayo, and McBride, who joined with us, representing a like committee from the California Senate.

Prior to our departure from Sacramento, we were called into conference with His Excellency, Governor Earl Warren, to discuss issues of major importance to California. Governor Warren requested that our committee obtain adoption of certain resolutions relating to veterans' housing, water resources, and hoof-and-mouth disease. The motions proposed, and successfully adopted, will be found at the end of this report. Your committee takes special pride in the fact that all three major questions upon which we were requested to take action by Governor Warren were successfully presented by the California Delegation, and favorably acted upon in the General Assembly.

Your special attention is directed to a resolution relative to memorializing Congress to recognize state ownership of tidelands and submerged lands, which resolution was prepared and successfully carried to adoption by Assemblyman Ralph C. Dills of the California Delegation.

The following is a brief resume of these Chicago meetings:

Opening Session

The Assembly convened on the morning of January 16th, Senator John W. Van Ness of Indiana, Chairman of the Board of Managers of the Council of State Governments, presiding. Following the adoption of rules, the Assembly heard the presidential address of Millard F. Caldwell, Governor of Florida. Governor Caldwell called for the preservation of self-government as the foundation of our democratic society. He declared, "The modern trend toward governmental centralization will, unless checked, result in an atrophy of citizenship responsibility and an ultimate abandonment of democracy. Self-government is the foundation of our system. It is a real and valuable thing which must be preserved. Paternalism is destructive of sound government. The present tendency of the people to slide back into indifference and look to some higher authority for the solution of all of their problems and a way out of all of their difficulties must be reversed. The citizenship must be aroused to a sense of civic responsibility and to the exercise of civic energy and initiative if democracy is to survive. The trend cannot be reversed as long as the state attempts to solve local problems and the Federal Government attempts to solve state problems. Neither can the people be stirred from their apathy under a something-for-nothing policy. As far as is feasible, the unit which spends the money should have the burden of raising it. Federal and state handouts do not make for strong local government or responsible citizenship."

Governor Caldwell added, however, that "a few of our states, like some of the counties in all of the states, are unable to finance the services they must have if they are to remain productive and useful. The sound course lies in the extension of assistance to the weaker elements in such a way as to avoid the extremes of bureaucratic domination on the one side and of free gifts with no safeguarding regulations, on the other. Either extreme would be dangerous, if not disastrous."

Frank Bane then presented the Report of the Executive Director of the Council of State Governments. Retracing the development of cooperative action by the states during the last two decades, he stated that the Council of State Governments has indeed "come of age,"—1946 marked the twenty-first year of operation. But the council has come of age in a more significant sense: "Organized by a few of the states in 1925, this agency—established by the states, supported by the states, and dedicated to the service of the states—now includes all of the states and now is the coordinating and service agency for all associations of state legislators and over-all state administrative officials. It has functioned in prosperity and depression, in war and in peace."

Describing the accomplishments of the states with respect to veterans' affairs, employment security, tax and fiscal policy, aviation and construction of airports, insurance regulation, water resources, public health and welfare, public works, legislative processes and procedures, state-local relations, and federal-state relations, the report concluded with a preview of the problem of cooperative government in the years ahead. "The states face the future with confidence. In many respects they are more important units of government and are in better condition than ever before. They have done and are doing public jobs that have to be done: they are continually perfecting their governmental machinery to do them more effectively; and they have established and operated over a period of years this cooperative agency which has demonstrated that the states can and will work together for the good of the whole."

Following the Report of the Executive Director, Governor Caldwell read a message of greeting from the Governor of Illinois, Dwight H. Green, and announced the appointment of the following committees:

Thursday Afternoon Session

A luncheon meeting opened the afternoon session with Senator Harry F. Hittle of Michigan presiding. Alfred E. Driscoll, Governor-elect of New Jersey, addressed the assembly on the subject of competitive taxation. He declared that "what we need is a master plan of a working federalism which will give expression to the most effective capacities of both the states and the Federal Government. Such a plan could in principle stake out the appropriate areas of policy determination and administration for our various levels of government, and it could define, as a matter of national policy to be accepted by all the states, the fields of taxation and other governmental revenues to be devoted to the use of each level of government." He urged "a new integration between the various state congressional delegations and their respective state administrations" and expressed the hope "that through the formalizing of such an integration we may find the means for an intermediate level of policy coordination between Federal and State Government—a coordination which is now sorely lacking in our federal system."

Following the luncheon meeting, the Assembly turned to an open discussion of legislative processes and procedures. Harold C. Ostertag, Assemblyman from New York, presided, and a panel composed of Floyd

E. Anderson, Senator from New York and Chairman of the Council's Committee on Legislative Processes and Procedures; D. Hale Brake, State Treasurer of Michigan; Vernon M. Cheever, Senator from Colorado, and Bernice T. Van der Vries, Representative from Illinois, opened the discussion. Focus of the discussion was the 12-point series of recommendations for legislative reappraisal submitted by the Council's Committee on Legislative Processes and Procedures, chief among which were compensation and terms of legislators, reorganization of legislative committees, legislative councils and research committees, legislative reference, statutory revision and bill drafting services.

Following widespread participation on the part of the delegates in the consideration of problems of legislative organization and procedure in the several states, a motion was adopted urging the Resolutions Committee of the assembly to include in its report an endorsement of the Report of the Council of State Governments Committee on Legislative Processes and Procedures. A special committee consisting of the members of the panel was appointed by Mr. Ostertag to prepare a draft statement for consideration by the Resolutions Committee.

T. G. Driscoll, Commissioner of Administration from Minnesota, discussed the Administrative Organization of State Government with particular emphasis upon the fiscal "strait jacket" in which the states find themselves as a result of the extensive practice of earmarking state revenue for specific purposes either through constitutional or statutory provisions.

State Dinner

The state dinner of the General Assembly was held at 8 o'clock on Thursday evening with the address by Honorable Warren R. Austin, the United States Representative to the United Nations. Speaking of the role of the states in emerging problems of international organization, Ambassador Austin declared: "When you heard that I was to speak on the subject, 'Our States and the Opportunity for Peace and Security,' you may have wondered whether there was any very close connection between the states of the Union, which are not generally considered as agents in the field of foreign relations, and the problem of securing the peace. I chose this title, however, because the critical questions of international relations cannot be handled in Washington alone, or at the seat of the United Nations in New York, or in our diplomatic missions abroad.

"This Country can play its part in the achievement of international peace and security only if the citizens of our individual states and communities understand and exert the extent of their power of participation in the conduct of American foreign affairs.

"There is another reason. Our own federal Union is history's most convincing demonstration of the benefits of the close collaboration of individual states for their mutual benefit."

Ambassador Austin emphasized the power and influence of the states when acting together and urged their cooperation and assistance in working with the Senate of the United States, in which the states are equally represented, to promote the cause of international organization and world peace.

Friday Morning Session

Franklin H. Lichtenwalter, Speaker of the Pennsylvania House of Representatives, presided at the session dedicated to a discussion of "Our Public Services—How Shall They Be Financed and Administered?"

Harold D. Smith, former Director of the Federal Bureau of the Budget and now Vice President of the International Bank, advocated for an organized approach to the problem of intergovernmental relations. As a substitute for the present haphazard and piecemeal method of dividing federal-state activities and sharing of revenue and tax sources, Mr. Smith urged a comprehensive and consistent program. To develop such a plan he suggested the formation of specially appointed committees in state legislatures dealing with the impact of the Federal Government on states and localities; and he urged machinery for the adjustment of differences between the states collectively and the Federal Government.

Luther Gulick, President of the Institute of Public Administration, declared that public services should be administered and financed through joint planning and cooperation. There is no simple formula, he said, to solve the problems of intergovernmental relations. The major functions of government are cooperative endeavors. Even those governmental functions which affect citizens in their localities most immediately—police, health, sanitation, and education—involve state and federal cooperation. These functions cannot be delegated in their entirety to one level of government, but they can be handled by dividing them into their local, state, and federal aspects. Mr Gulick listed five general principles which make for effective and responsible administration of public affairs: (1) It is highly desirable to get administration as close to "grass roots" as possible even though over-all, long-term public policies may have to be determined to some extent by a more remote body than that which actually administers. (2) In allocating aspects of functions to the different areas of government, the units of government should be reconsidered so that work can be assigned to that unit which can best fulfill the function. (3) The functions of government should be divided among the federal government, the states, and the localities on the basis of those aspects of the functions which each area can best perform. (4) These aspects of functions should be complementary to one another; overlapping or duplication of functions should be avoided. (5) Avoid as far as possible intergovernmental payments. Insofar as possible responsibility for taxing and spending should be vested in the same unit of government and there is need for the states to delegate more taxing power to cities and localities.

Senator Edgar A. Brown of South Carolina said that state budgets for the coming year will call for larger appropriations than had been expended in the past year or two, and added that estimated expenditures on deferred construction and maintenance on capitol facilities will substantially exceed the surpluses and reserves the states now have on hand.

To simpify administration and prevent the overlapping and duplication which results in a waste of public funds, Senator Brown called for a reappraisal of the grant-in-aid system of financing public services.

With regard to payment of taxes or payments in lieu of taxes on certain types of federally-owned property, Senator Brown said, "Many localities and many states have been severely and adversely affected by virtue of the fact that it has been necessary for them to provide services for the Federal Government without adequate compensation. Congress should certainly take prompt action to provide for adequate payments on various types of federal property. All payments should be based on consistent principles, but provision for each type need not wait until agreement has been reached on all." Pointing out the dangers in competition between the states and Federal Government for existing tax resources, Senator Brown called for revision of federal and state tax systems.

Senator C. Petrus Peterson of Nebraska concluded the Friday morning session with emphasis upon the growth of governmental functions as a reflection of the growing public character of many human needs. The growth of the functions of government does not mean that society is performing new tasks but more often that tasks are being transferred from the family and the church to the state. Of course, there are also functions of government which are entirely new—which are products of our technological age. Senator Peterson emphasized the thought that the human values of public services should be considered along with the material costs in determining how our public services can be administered and financed.

Friday Afternoon Session

Governor Fred G. Aandahl of North Dakota presided at the Friday luncheon meeting which was addressed by the Secretary of War, Honorable Robert P. Patterson. He described four great lessons of the recent global conflict: (1) that air power is indispensable to success of war; (2) that scientific research and development can revolutionize warfare; (3) that a coordinated and comprehensive intelligence system must be maintained; and (4) the necessity of unified command of military forces. Declaring himself in favor of disarmament by all nations, the Secretary declared, "The fact remains, however, that nations still talk, and act, in terms of force. So long as that is the case, disarmament by us alone would deprive us of all ability to promote the cause of peace. It would do more; it would expose our people to the greatest peril. The paramount point is that in this day and age, our foreign policy, fair and just as it is, is only as firm as the military forces that sustain it. Maintenance of military forces in strength, in this period of transition from war to peace, is our sure safeguard. That will cost money, but no investment will pay such big dividends."

At the afternoon session, chairmaned by Frank T. Millis, State Treasurer of Indiana, the Assembly heard several addresses on major state problems.

Edward E. Odom, Solicitor, the Veterans Administration, discussed federal-state cooperation in relation to veterans' affairs and described the manner in which the several provisions of the G. I. Bill were being administered.

Carl H. Chatters, Comptroller, the Port of New York Authority discussed "Can Taxes Be Reduced?" and expressed the belief that any substantial tax reduction on the part of cities would be difficult. He suggested, however, that the states can assist municipalities to solve their fiscal problems at least nine different ways: (1) Refraining from granting tax exemptions on real estate without at the same time providing localities with means for meeting the burden imposed by the exemption. (2) Financing expenditures that are of highly variable or extraordinary character such as those resulting from unpredictable disasters. (3) Refraining from imposing the burden of services on cities unless cities are able to bear the cost. (4) Abstaining from fixing the salaries or hours of work of any local employees or groups of employees. (5) Administering financial grants to localities to support a minimum standard of services but not to encourage expenditures. (6) Granting cities home rule charters. (7) A more generous distribution of the gasoline tax should be made by states to cities. (8) Strengthening land use laws to protect developments in the environments of cities. (9) States with numerous urban communities might set up Departments of Municipal Affairs with the authority to engage in research, to draft laws, and to serve as a point of contact between the states and the cities.

Elwood J. Turner, Member of the House of Representatives, Pennsylvania and Chairman of the Council's Committee on Water Resources, described the work of the Council of State Governments in this field and declared that no subject more directly involves the relations between the Federal Government and the states. Our river basins, he said, are among our greatest resources and their future development affects vitally our future political and social life. Not until the early thirties when the TVA was established did the Federal Government set up an all-inclusive federal agency to control the development of a river valley. The United States Supreme Court in the New River and Red River cases reversed century-old precedent to bring almost every stream and rivulet in the Nation under potential federal control. Faced with a loss of all voice in the development of their water ways, the states took collective action in securing in 1944 the O'Mahoney and Milliken Amendments to the Federal Flood Control and Rivers and Harbors Bill of that year. Cooperative state action has insured that the states have an opportunity to express their views and to participate in plans affecting their interests in our water ways system. Cooperative state action has not only brought greater cooperation between and among states but has resulted in the coordination of policies and administrative cooperation among the federal agencies concerned with this matter. The Water Resources Committee and the Council of State Governments have encouraged and assisted the states to establish agencies for the consideration of the state's water policies and to cooperate with other states and with the Federal Government.

Discussing the opportunity and obligation of the states in the field of aviation, William C. Lazarus, Aviation Supervisor of the Florida State Improvement Commission, insisted that federal-state-local cooperation is essential in the administration of the nation-wide air transportation systems of the future. He urged that civilian aviation and air transport were really in their infancy, that great expansion of both facilities and services would occur in the next few years. Pointing out that the effective solution of aviation problems would require participation on the part of all three areas of government through well-equipped, well-financed aviation agencies, he advocated the development of our national airport system on a basis of federal-state cooperation and in accordance with our well-established federal-state operating principles. Only in this way we can insure necessary financing and the effective administration which will be required to keep America in the lead in aviation.

Speaking on the topic, "Taxation of Airlines," Charles F. Conlon, Executive Director of the Federation of Tax Administrators, advocated a formula to prevent multiple taxation of airlines engaged in interstate operations. Mr. Conlon supported a National Association of Tax Administrators recommendation that revenues from airline taxes based on property used or income arising out of interstate operations be allocated among the states involved. This allocation would be achieved through a formula based on three factors: (1) Tonnage received and discharged within the state compared to the total tonnage handled by the airline; (2) Scheduled arrivals and departures within the state compared with arrivals and departures over the whole airline system; and (3) Total revenues from the transportation of passengers and property first received within the state compared to total revenues from the transportation of persons and property over the airline's whole system.

"No elaborate law is required to implement these principles," Mr. Conlon said. "If a tax law now on the books of a state is applicable to airline carriers, substantial compliance with these recommendations will be obtained merely by amending any present allocation formula to conform with those just recited, or if there is none, by adding one."

Saturday Morning

At a session devoted to discussion of the question, "Do We Have to—Boom and Bust?" Kim Sigler, Governor of Michigan, presided. Opening the discussion, Simeon E. Leland, Chairman of the Federal Reserve Board of Chicago, expressed doubt that business cycle swings can be eliminated in the United States in the predictable future. There are means at our disposal to greatly reduce the severity of these swings, he declared, but it is doubtful whether we will have the courage to use or to apply today unpopular policies to the extent necessary to prevent depression tomorrow.

Edward J. Condon, Assistant to the President of Sears, Roebuck and Co., called for cooperation on the part of government, labor, and industry to stabilize economic conditions and forestall another depression. He said, with reference to the nation's integrated economy, "The day is done—if it ever existed—when any class or segment of our population can advance its position at the expense of any other class. We cannot exist for long with a prosperous industry and a prostrate agriculture—or vice versa—any more than we could exist as a political entity half slave and half free. Management cannot enjoy the benefits of production if the worker is denied the wherewithal to enjoy the fruits of what he produces."

Honorable Keen Johnson, Under Secretary of Labor and former Governor of Kentucky, advised the states to limit outlays for public works to high priority projects as a means of restraining inflation. He pointed out that states can do a great deal to eliminate laws and regulations that restrict competition and hinder the efficient operation of industry and agriculture. Such laws, he said, have no place in a full employment economy. "We should avoid thinking of high wages, good profits, and low prices as conflicting claims on our economy. In the past we have seen our great industries built on expanding production at lower costs and lower prices, paying higher wages and handsome profits. Our future progress lies along the same way." He urged that the problem has been, the problem is and will continue to be that of maintaining purchasing power. If we can maintain purchasing power, we can sustain full employment, stabilize our economy, control booms and prevent busts.

John Temple Graves, Associate Editor of the Southern Agriculturist and editorial writer for the Birmingham Post, concluded the discussion by calling for confidence in America's economic future. To the question, "Do We Have to—Boom and Bust?" he answered that we must "boom" and we cannot afford to "bust." We as a Nation have chosen the road of free enterprise, he said, but "free enterprise will work only for a people fit for the freedom and full of the enterprise."

Business Session

The business before the Assembly was the report of the Resolutions Committee which was presented by Senator C. Petrus Peterson of Nebraska, Chairman. Resolutions were adopted concerning the development of a national airport program in accordance with the long established pattern of federal-state cooperation and channeling of funds through the states; uniform statute providing for an equitable method of state taxation of air carriers; the establishment of a procedural system providing participation by the states effected in the formulation and determination of air routes; termination of emergency tax levies; coordination of federal-state death and gift taxes; implementation of state agencies concerned with water resources; memorializing Congress concerning state rights to tide and submerged lands; consideration of proposals in the report "Suggested Legislative Program for 1947"; recommendations for the strengthening of state legislatures; commitments to the states in providing temporary housing for veterans of World War II; memorializing Congress concerning prevention, control, and eradication of hoof-and-mouth disease in this country and Mexico; and appreciation to the officers and Executive Committee of the Council, program participants, the State of Illinois and its Commission on Intergovernmental Cooperation and the management of the Edgewater Beach Hotel. Those resolutions of special interest to California are reproduced in full, as follows:

TEMPORARY HOUSING

WHEREAS, The United States Government since demobilizing of members of the armed forces has assisted the several states in providing temporary housing for veterans of World War II; and

WHEREAS, The United States Government has recently without notice terminated such help and assistance to the states in providing temporary housing for veterans of World War II; and

WHEREAS, Many of the states are in the process of completing a large number of units of these temporary housing facilities for veterans and the termination of federal help has seriously impeded the progress of providing these vital housing facilities for the veterans of World War II; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Eighth General Assembly of the States, That the United States Government be requested to complete its previous commitments to the states in providing temporary housing for veterans of World War II which has been started by the states and various cities and counties.

WATER RESOURCES

WHEREAS, The Acts of Congress under which basin-wide plans are developed for the full utilization of the water resources of river valleys provide for consideration by the states of tentative plans before their final adoption; and

WHEREAS, It is highly desirable that such plans be not only in accord with the Acts of Congress but also in accord with the laws of the states within the valley; and

WHEREAS, This frequently requires changes in the statutory laws of the states; and

WHEREAS, The states have commissions on interstate cooperation which commissions have been established to deal with problems which reach beyond single state boundaries: Now therefore be it

Resolved, The executive staff of the Council of State Governments is authorized to seek further implementation of the agencies of the state governments in their participation in the formulation and consideration of regional plans and, upon request, to arrange for joint meetings of the commissions on interstate cooperation in a region to consider plans for such increased participation.

HOOF-AND-MOUTH DISEASE

WHEREAS, The United States Department of Agriculture has been advised by the United States Embassy in Mexico City, Mexico, that the disastrous livestock disease known as hoof-and-mouth disease has appeared and exists widespread in several states of the Republic of Mexico, and diagnosis of the disease has been confirmed by both Mexican and United States Government veterinarians who have conducted extensive field investigation; and

WHEREAS, The United States Government through action of the Secretary of Agriculture on December 30, 1946, added Mexico to the list of countries in which hoof-and-mouth disease exists and thereby prohibited the importation into the United States from that country of cattle, sheep, or other domestic ruminants, or swine, and the meat thereof; and

WHEREAS, In accordance with the terms of the Mexico-United States Sanitary Treaty, the United States Department of Agriculture will continue to cooperate with the Mexican authorities in dealing with this serious threat to the livestock industries of the two countries, including the production of meat and milk in the United States; and

WHEREAS, There have been outbreaks of hoof-and-mouth disease in the United States in the past, including two in the State of California, and these have been eradicated only after great expenditure of public funds and losses to livestock owners; and

WHEREAS, The method of eradication used in previous outbreaks in the United States has been to destroy or burn or deeply bury all animals in affected herds and those directly exposed thereto, the last outbreak in the United States being in 1929; and

WHEREAS, Any disruption of our food producing processes would be serious to the public welfare, the disruption of commerce and the adverse effect on the economic life of the people would be disastrous, and the difficulties and expenses that would be entailed in effectively eradicating this disease, should it spread to the Western States, would be tremendous; and

WHEREAS, Time is of the essence if this disease is not to be permitted to spread to the United States; and

WHEREAS, It appears that the Government of the Republic of Mexico may need immediately the expert assistance and financial help of the Government of the United States in curtailing this disease; and

WHEREAS, It is to the immediate interest of all the people of the United States that the disease be controlled and eradicated in the Republic of Mexico before it is permitted to spread to the United States; and

WHEREAS, The full administrative and financial assistance required by the United States to deal with the present outbreak in Mexico may not be included in existing laws, involving expenditures in a foreign country in the interest of the people of the United States; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Eighth General Assembly of the States, That the President and the Congress of the United States are hereby respectfully memorialized and requested to take such steps as may be necessary, by legislation or otherwise, to prevent, control, and eradicate hoof-and-mouth disease in this Country; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Council of State Governments is hereby directed, forthwith, to send a copy of this joint resolution by telegram or mail to the President of the United States, the President pro Tempore of the Senate of the United States, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, the Secretary of the Department of Agriculture, the Assistant Secretary of State (for American Republic Affairs), the Chairman of the Committee on Agriculture of the United States Senate, the Chairman of the Committee on Agriculture of the House of Representatives, and to the Members of the Senate and of the House of Representatives in the Congress from the cattle raising and processing states.

MEMORIALIZING CONGRESS RELATIVE TO OWNERSHIP BY STATES OF TIDELANDS AND SUBMERGED LANDS

WHEREAS, On the adoption of the Declaration of Independence, the original states, as successors to the English crown, became the owners of the tide and submerged lands within their respective borders and such ownership was retained by them on the adoption of the Constitution and never has been relinquished; and

WHEREAS, The states were admitted to the Union on a basis of equality with the original states, possessing and enjoying all the attributes of sovereignty residing in the original states, including the ownership of the tide and submerged lands within their borders; and

WHEREAS, Such ownership has long been recognized with the result that the states and their grantees, both public and private, relying thereon, have expended vast sums of money in the development of such lands, including harbor facilities, reclamation and filling in, and the erection of costly structures; and

WHEREAS, Legislation declaring such title to be in the states is necessary to clear any possible cloud on titles; and

WHEREAS, Appropriate legislation has been introduced declaring the states to be the owners of tide and submerged lands within their respective borders; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, By the Eighth General Assembly of the States that the President and the Congress of the United States are respectfully urged and memorialized to consider and approve Senate Joint Resolution No. 14 or House Joint Resolution No. 51, affirming state rights to tide and submerged lands; and be it further

Resolved, That the Eighth General Assembly of the States is directed to transmit copies of this resolution to the President of the United States, to the President pro Tempore of the Senate of the United States, to the Speaker of the House of Representatives and to the members of the Judiciary Committees of the Senate and House of Representatives.

Your committee wishes to emphasize the importance of the work which may be accomplished in this broad field of eliminating state barriers, on retarding the aggression of a centralized Federal Government, and protecting and strengthening states' rights.

It is anticipated that we shall be asked to join with the committee from the Senate and the five executive members of the California delegation, headed by our own Lieutenant Governor Goodwin Knight, in future conferences and in additional regional meetings with the various western states.

Respectfully submitted.

FINAL REPORT OF THE JOINT CENTENNIAL AND WORLD'S FAIR COMMITTEE

To the Members of the Senate and Assembly

GENTLEMEN: Your committee created by Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 19, relative to providing for a full year, state-wide celebration in 1950 commemorating California's admission to the Union, begs leave to report as follows:

Your committee in cooperation with members of an advisory committee as set forth in Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 19 has held several meetings throughout the State in conjunction with a Centennial Committee of the State Chamber of Commerce and has come to the conclusion that a commission to be appointed by the Governor should be created with proper financial assistance and safeguards to plan and prepare for certain centennial events in 1948, 1949 and 1950, as set forth in Senate Bill No. 610, which seeks to create said commission.

Your legislative committee and advisory committee after conferences with the Governor feel that only events commemorating the centennial anniversaries of the discovery of gold, the Gold Rush, the adoption of the first Constitution, and the admission of California to the Union be celebrated. We have therefore designated these certain events that should be definitely commemorated in Senate Bill No. 610.

We believe that the State of California should sponsor these events and recommend the full support of the Members of the Legisalture.

Respectfully submitted,

FRED WEYBRET, Chairman
Joint Centennial and World's Fair Committee
RALPH C. DILLS, Secretary

House Resolution No. 20, as Amended

House Resolution No. 20

Creating the Assembly Legislative Process Committee and defining its powers and duties

WHEREAS, Many of the legislative proposals involve problems within the jurisdiction of more than one standing committee of the Assembly, and the adequate consideration of such measures requires the cooperation of such several committees in order to avoid duplicating the work of one such committee by another, and much delay in the legislative process could be avoided if it were possible to eliminate such duplication of effort and provide a means for expediting the consideration of such measures; and

WHEREAS, There is need for a committee equipped to ascertain facts and secure facts and information upon assigned topics from time to time during the session, a committee acting in aid of and in collaboration with the several standing committees of the Assembly; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, As follows:

1. A special committee designated the "Assembly Legislative Process Committee" is hereby created and authorized and directed to take such steps as may be necessary to coordinate the work of the various standing committees of this session in considering questions before such session in order that there be no duplication of work or effort, and to make such studies as may be necessary, ascertain such facts and information, and secure such statistics for the use of the members and committees of the Assembly as may be of aid to them in considering and acting upon legislative proposals at this session.

2. The committee shall consist of the chairmen of the following Assembly committees: Rules, who shall be chairman of the committee; Ways and Means, Governmental Efficiency and Economy, Industrial Relations, Revenue and Taxation, Public Morals, Education, Transportation and Commerce, and five Members of the Assembly to be appointed by the Speaker thereof.

Vacancies occurring or existing in the membership of the committee shall be filled by the appointing power.

3. The committee is authorized to meet during this session of the Legislature, including any recess, but not after final adjournment.

4. The committee and its members shall have and exercise all of the rights, duties and powers conferred upon investigating committees and their members by the provisions of the Joint Rules of the Senate and Assembly and of the Standing Rules of the Assembly as they are adopted and amended from time to time, which provisions are incorporated herein and made applicable to this committee and its members except that the members of the committee shall serve without compensation and shall not be allowed mileage.

Until the adoption of Joint Rules at this session, the Joint Rules of the last preceding regular session are incorporated herein and made applicable to this committee and its members.

5. The committee has the following additional powers and duties:

(a) To contract with such other agencies, public or private, as it deems necessary for the rendition and affording of such services, facilities, studies and reports to the committee as will best assist it to carry out the purposes for which it is created.

(b) To cooperate with and secure the cooperation of county, city, city and county, and other local law enforcement agencies in investigating any matter within the scope of this resolution and to direct the sheriff of any county to serve subpenas, orders and other process issued by the committee.

(c) To report its findings and recommendations to the Assembly from time to time and at any time.

(d) To do any and all other things necessary or convenient to enable it fully and adequately to exercise its powers, perform its duties, and accomplish the objects and purposes of this resolution.

6. The sum of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000), or so much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby made available from the Contingent Fund of the Assembly for the expenses of the committee and its members and for any charges, expenses or claims it may incur under this resolution, to be paid from the said contingent fund and disbursed, after certification by the chairman of the committee, upon warrants drawn by the State Controller upon the State Treasurer.

Appointment of Assembly Legislative Process Committee

Pursuant to the provisions of House Resolution No. 20, Speaker Collins announced the appointment of Messrs. Doyle, Crichton, Evans, Fletcher, and Maloney as members of said Assembly Legislative Process Committee. Messrs. Dickey, Chairman; Wollenberg, Field, Lyons, Hollibaugh, Thompson, Dunn, and Burns, as Chairmen of the Committees on Rules, Ways and Means, Governmental Efficiency and Economy, Industrial Relations, Revenue and Taxation, Public Morals, Education, and Transportation and Commerce, respectively, are also members of said committee pursuant to the provisions of the resolution.

REPORT OF SELECT COMMITTEE

The Select Committee appointed to wait upon the Governor reported that it had performed its duty.

COMMITTEE FROM THE SENATE

CONSIDERATION OF ASSEMBLY BILL NO. 619

Assembly Bill No. 619—An act relating to insurance, including provisions for the fixing and regulation of rates, and authorizing and regulating rating and other organizations formed to serve insurers.

Bill read second time.

Motion to Amend

Mr. Grunsky moved the adoption of the following amendments:

Amendment No. 1

On page 1 of the printed bill, strike out lines 1 to 6, inclusive, and insert

"SECTION 1. Purpose Of This Act. The purpose of this act is to promote the public welfare by regulating insurance rates as herein provided to the end that they shall not be excessive, inadequate or unfairly discriminatory, by authorizing the existence and operation of qualified rating organizations and advisory organizations, by requiring that the rates and rating manuals of such rating organizations be generally available to all admitted insurers, and by authorizing cooperation between insurers in rate making and other related matters.

It is the express intent of this act to permit and encourage competition between insurers on a sound financial basis."

Amendment No. 2

On page 1, line 15, of the printed bill, after "or", insert "on".

Amendment No. 3

On page 2 of the printed bill, strike out lines 3 and 4, and insert

Amendment No. 17

On page 5 of the printed bill, strike out lines 4 to 17, inclusive, and insert

"(j) Agreements may be made between two or more insurers or between rating organizations and insurers to adhere to rates, rating plans, rating systems, underwriting rules, policy and bond forms for any of the classes of insurance included in this act, provided such agreements are submitted to the commissioner for approval and are found by him to contemplate the use of rates which meet the standards prescribed in this act, and provided the activities and practices contemplated by such agreements are not unfair or unreasonable or otherwise inconsistent with the provisions of this act and do not adversely affect the public interest. Agreements may also be made among insurers with respect to the equitable apportionment among them of insurance which may be afforded applicants who are in good faith entitled to but who are unable to procure such insurance through ordinary methods, and with respect to the use of reasonable rate modifications for such insurance. All agreements referred to in this subdivision shall be submitted in written form to the commissioner for his consideration and approval, together with such information as he may reasonably require to determine whether or not they adversely affect the public interest. At any time after such agreements are in effect the commissioner may review the practices and activities of the adherents to such agreements and if after a hearing he finds that any such practice or activity is unfair or unreasonable or adversely affects the public interest, he may issue a written order to the parties to any such agreement specifying in what respects such activity is unfair or unreasonable or adversely affects the public interest and requiring the discontinuance of such activity or practice. For good cause the commissioner may, after hearing, revoke approval of such agreements."

Amendment No. 18

On page 5 of the printed bill, strike out lines 18 to 23, inclusive, and insert

"(k) Two or more insurers executing cosurety bonds or having a common or affiliated ownership or operating under common management or control are hereby authorized to act in concert between or among themselves with respect to the matters set forth in Section 3 (a) hereof, the same as if such insurers constituted a single insurer.

(l) The fee for filing applications for license for a rating or advisory organization pursuant to the provisions of this act shall be twenty-five dollars ($25)."

Amendment No. 19

On page 5, line 24, of the printed bill, strike out "and Making of Rates".

Amendment No. 20

On page 5, line 25, of the printed bill, after "making", insert "and use".

Amendment No. 21

On page 5 of the printed bill, strike out lines 27 to 40, inclusive, and insert

"(1) Rates shall not be excessive or inadequate, as herein defined, nor shall they be unfairly discriminatory. No rate shall be held to be excessive unless the commissioner shall find after hearing as hereinafter provided that competition does not exist in the area and with respect to the classification covered by such rate, and that such rate is unreasonable for the insurance provided. No rate shall be held to be inadequate unless the commissioner shall find after hearing as hereinafter provided that the continued use thereof presently endangers the solvency of the insurer using the same.

(2) Consideration shall be given by rating organizations and insurers, to the extent applicable, to past and prospective loss experience within and outside this State, to conflagration and catastrophe hazards, to a reasonable margin for underwriting profit and contingencies, to dividends, savings or unabsorbed premium deposits allowed or returned by insurers to their policy holders, member or subscribers, to past and prospective expenses both country-wide and those specially applicable to this State, and to all other factors deemed relevant within and outside this State; and in the case of fire insurance rates, consideration may be given to the experience of the fire insurance business during the most recent five-year period for which such experience is available."

Amendment No. 22

On page 6, line 17, of the printed bill, after "(a)", insert "The administration and enforcement of this act shall be governed solely by the express provisions of this act."

Amendment No. 23

On page 6, line 18, of the printed bill, strike out "years," and insert "years, and may as often as may be reasonable and necessary,".

Amendment No. 24

On page 6 of the printed bill, strike out lines 34 to 51, inclusive; and on page 7, strike out lines 1 to 16, inclusive, and insert

"(b) The commissioner may, at any reasonable time, examine the rates, rating plans or rating systems, which are within the scope of this act and used by any admitted insurer, to ascertain whether the same are in compliance with the provisions of this act. Such examination may be held at any time other than at the time of or in connection with a periodic general examination participated in by representatives of more than one state. The reasonable cost of any such examination shall be paid by the insurer.

(c) If the commissioner, after examination as provided in this act, has good cause to believe that any rate, rating plan or rating system made or used by a rating organization or by an insurer does not meet the standards and provisions of this act expressly applicable to it, or that a rating organization or an advisory organization is not in compliance with the provisions of this act expressly applicable to it, the commissioner shall give notice in writing to such rating organization, insurer or advisory organization stating therein in what manner and to what extent he believes such noncompliance to exist and specifying therein a reasonable time, not less than 10 days thereafter, in which such noncompliance may be corrected. If within the period prescribed by the commissioner the rating organization, insurer or advisory organization does not make such changes as may be necessary to correct the noncompliance specified by the commissioner, or establish to the satisfaction of the commissioner that such specified noncompliance does not exist, then the commissioner may hold a public hearing in connection therewith, providing that within a reasonable period of time, which shall be not less than 10 days before the date of such hearing, he shall mail written notice specifying the matters to be considered at such hearing to such rating organization, insurer or advisory organization. Such notice and hearing shall not include any additional subjects not specified in said original notice. If the commissioner, after such hearing, finds.

1. That such rate, rating plan or rating system is in violation of this act he may issue an order specifying in what respects such violation exists and stating when, within a reasonable period of time, the further use of such rate, rating plan or rating system by a rating organization or insurer which has been the subject of the examination and hearing in contracts of insurance made thereafter shall be prohibited and a copy of such order shall be sent to such rating organization or insurer;

2. That a rating organization, an advisory organization, or any group, association or other organization mentioned in Section 3 (h), is in violation of the provisions of this act applicable to it other than provisions dealing with rates, rating plans or rating systems, he may issue an order to such rating organization, advisory organization or other group, association or organization, which has been the subject of the examination and hearing specifying in what respects such violation exists and requiring compliance within a reasonable time thereafter."

Amendment No. 25

On page 7, lines 17 and 18, of the printed bill, strike out "or in any other law".

Amendment No. 26

On page 7, line 24, of the printed bill, strike out "9", and insert "10".

Amendment No. 27

On page 7 of the printed bill, between lines 27 and 28, insert

"(e) If any rating organization or advisory organization is found after such hearing by the commissioner to have wilfully engaged in fraudulent or dishonest practices, he may in addition to any other penalty provided by this act suspend or revoke the license of such organization."

Amendment No. 28

On page 7 of the printed bill, between lines 27 and 28, insert

"It is hereby declared:

(1) To be the policy of the State of California to permit and encourage competition in the business of insurance on a sound financial basis, and that such competition will be promoted by the regulation prescribed in this act.

(2) That no other or further regulation in the making or use of rates is necessary or required in the public interest."

Amendment No. 29

On page 7 of the printed bill, following line 31, insert

"A plan for the payment of dividends, savings or unabsorbed premium deposits allowed or returned by insurers to their policy holders, members or subscribers shall not be deemed to be a rating plan or system."

Amendment No. 30

On page 7, line 44, of the printed bill, strike out "fix and".

Amendment No. 31

On page 8, line 4, of the printed bill, strike out "11", and insert "12".

Amendment No. 32

On page 8 of the printed bill, between lines 5 and 6, insert

"Nothing contained in this act shall be construed as affecting the operations of insurers or the powers and duties of the commissioner under Chapter 2 and Chapter 3 of Part 3, Division 2, of the Insurance Code."

Amendment No. 33

On page 8 of the printed bill, between lines 10 and 11, insert

"SEC. 13. Provisions of Insurance Code Incorporated Herein. The following sections of the Insurance Code are by this reference incorporated herein and made applicable to the administration, enforcement and interpretation of this act:

Insurance Code Sections 6, 7, 13, 16, 19, 20, 22, 23, 24, 37, 38, 100 to 121, both inclusive, 620, 12919, 12921.5, 12924, 12925, 12928, 12974, 12975, 12975.5, 12976, 12977."

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT THAT ADDRESS BY WILLIAM A. O'BRIEN BE PRINTED IN THE JOURNAL

Mr. Gannon asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent that the following address, delivered by Mr. William A. O'Brien during the recess, be ordered printed in the Journal:

Address by the Hon. William A. O'Brien, of San Francisco

Mr. Speaker, Distinguished Guests, Members of the Legislature of the State of California:

It is no small thing to have set aside as one's very own, an entire day of the calendar. There are only 365 of them, you know. Few men in all history have been so honored. Among our own countrymen there are but two: The Father of Our Country, and the Great Emancipator and Savior of the Union. It is, however, a venerable but ever verdant tradition of the Republic, growing greener with the years, to set aside this day, the seventeenth of March, to honor the patron of the Emerald Isle—St. Patrick—and this is the day we celebrate.

The habit of this House in formally observing the feast day of Ireland's patron Saint is an old American custom. I cite no less an authority than the Father of Our Country. At Valley Forge, 169 years ago today, a dispute arose between the Irish in camp and the New Englanders, over a supposed insult (a situation recognizable by anyone familiar with the political history of Massachusetts). General George Washington settled the argument himself, saying: "I, too, am a lover of St. Patrick's Day and must settle the affair by making all the Army keep the day."

As one of Irish origin, I think I may say that the Irish, a notoriously generous people as a rule, would display a certain selfishness in regard to their Friendly Saint, should they claim him exclusively as their own. As a matter of historical fact, it appears St. Patrick himself was no Irishman at all and in very truth he belongs to all the world.

One night some 1,300 years ago Patrick, a youthful slave of the Irish chief Milcho, tended his sheep in the green hills of Antrim. Still a boy and yet a slave in an alien land, like so many lonely boys before and since, his thoughts turned toward home.

In this strange land, there was no peace, clan warred with clan, chief with chief, and five kings one with another. The people of this green and alien isle had not yet heard of the King of Kings and his strange doctrine that all men are brothers.

Patrick felt not the manacles of the slave that bound his body for his spirit was free and he saw that it was indeed not he but his masters who were slaves. Like another boy who in a distant unborn age, on a continent to remain for centuries still undiscovered who, seeing his fellow man in chains resolved that some day he would hit that thing and hit it hard, Patrick resolved to escape, that some day he might return to free his masters.

The stars that glistened above Bethlehem cave shone down on the green hills of Erin and as the slave Patrick tended the flocks of his master Milcho he heard in his heart the echo of the angelic chorus—

"Peace on earth, good will toward men."

It was many years before the alien slave and shepherd boy returned to the land of his captivity. He returned a man, a spiritual shepherd, a bishop of the Roman Church, educated in the best schools of Christendom, traveled, trained, disciplined, and inspired

On Easter Eve, not long after Patrick's return, the Kings of Ireland were assembled in meeting and solemn religious festival in the royal hall of Tara. In strict obedience to the ancient Druidic law, no fire burned that night in all of ancient Erin and darkness pervaded the entire island. To strike a flame that night meant death, but Patrick encamped below Tara's hill, with a courage matching his faith, struck the Paschal fire of the Christians, and, as the flame glowed in the plain of Slien beneath Tara's royal and holy hill, the Kings of ancient Ireland decreed death to the unknown profaner of the ancient temple and the violator of the royal decree.

But Patrick did not die a martyr's death. History tells us that he marched into the court of the Irish kings with the royal bearing of a free man, armed only with faith and courage and that he bested the wise men of the court in defense of his strange new doctrine of peace and brotherly love.

Patrick's action on that far off night was characteristic and prophetically symbolic of the race with whom his name since has been and ever shall be united. It demonstrated an unshakable faith in God and in the intrinsic worth of the individual man, a courage to fight against overwhelming odds for the freedom of the human spirit; and, may I further observe, a rather unflattering opinion of all royalty and a genius for politics.

It is more than a mere figure of rhetoric when I say that in that night long centuries ago, the Star of Destiny of a goodly number of the members of this very House became fixed in history's heaven.

The flame that Patrick struck that night grew steadily in brightness and multiplied itself a thousandfold until the fire of learning and civilization burned in the towers of countless seats of learning and all the Western World saw it brilliantly glowing in the Irish sky.

It flashed like a beacon from the towers of Ima and a thousand other centers of learning. All Europe saw the gleam and, as scholars flocked from the continent, Ireland became the Isle of Saints and Scholars. When Western Europe lay in ruins before the onslaught of the barbarian hordes and the long night of the Dark Ages threatened to settle upon her forever, the torch of civilization was rekindled from the Irish flame first struck by Patrick on Tara's hill.

In our own day a new flame has been kindled in the Eastern sky, and Western man faces a crisis in history.

Like the ancient Irish kings, we are faced with the alternative of peace or mutual destruction. Believing with Patrick in the intrinsic worth of the individual man, without distinction as to any race, color, or creed, with his faith and his courage let us hasten the day of universal brotherhood for which St. Patrick's Day has become for us here in America, a heartening symbol.

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT THAT SINGER BE THANKED

Mr. Gannon asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent that the Chief Clerk be instructed to write a letter of appreciation, on behalf of the Members of the Assembly to Mr. Michael Patrick Brennan who sang several songs during the Saint Patrick's celebration.

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT THAT REMARKS AND POEM BE PRINTED IN THE JOURNAL

Mr. Doyle asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent that the remarks of His Excellency the Governor, the Hon. Earl Warren, made during recess, be reduced to writing, and be ordered printed in the Journal; and that the Irish poem given by Mr. Maloney during recess be ordered printed in the Journal.

Poem Recited by Assemblyman Thomas A. Maloney of the Twentieth District, Speaker pro Tempore of the Assembly

The prettiest little picture hangs there on the wall
Most anyone can see it, if they've eyes at all, at all.
It's nothing extra special, but it means the world to me,
Cause you see, me mother's Irish, just as Irish as can be.
And in a little corner of that picture tucked away,
I've placed a little shamrock to remind me every day
Of a land of song and sorrow, that's far across the sea,
Of a sad or sweet or smiling face that's Ireland sure to me.

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE
SACRAMENTO, February 17, 1947

To the Honorable Members of the Assembly
State of California, Sacramento, California

GREETINGS: I am returning herewith, without my signature,

Assembly Bill No. 488, entitled "An act to amend Section 105 of the Revenue and Taxation Code, and to add Section 105.1 to said code, relating to property taxes and declaring the urgency thereof, to take effect immediately."

My objections to this bill are as follows:

This bill provides that trade fixtures shall be assessed for the purpose of taxation as personal property. It would reverse the rule recently announced by the Supreme Court of this State that trade fixtures, like other fixtures, are to be assessed as improvements to the realty to which they are attached.

Although it has been represented that approval of this bill would restore an assessing practice which was overturned by the recent court decision, this does not appear to be the case. In 1937 the State Board of Equalization advised all assessors that this class of property should be assessed as indicated by the court. I am informed that a majority of county assessors have been following this procedure. This is further indicated by the fact that although many communications have reached me urging approval of this bill, no assessor is now supporting it. On the other hand, the Northern California Assessors' Association has unanimously adopted a resolution strongly condemning the measure and urging its veto. Joining in this resolution were the assessors of Alpine, Amador, Butte, Colusa, Del Norte, El Dorado, Glenn, Humboldt, Lake, Lassen, Mendocino, Modoc, Mono, Nevada, Placer, Plumas, Sacramento, Shasta, Sierra, Siskiyou, Sutter, Tehama, Trinity, Yolo, and Yuba. Concurring were the assessors of these adjoining counties: Alameda, Calaveras, Contra Costa, Marin, Napa, San Joaquin, San Mateo, Santa Clara, Solano, Sonoma, and Stanislaus.

The Attorney General has recommended a veto. He states that the existing law "is a salutary rule which, if followed by the assessors throughout the State, would result not only in uniformity of taxation, but would tend to more equitably place the burden of taxation upon business and industrial organizations." He also points out that the recent Supreme Court decision is not an innovation, but is based upon long established precedent and long established practice followed by many counties and the Assessment Standards Division of the State Board of Equalization.

The League of California Cities has asked for a veto of this bill because of its effect in removing a substantial amount of property from local tax rolls.

The Secretary of the State Board of Equalization has observed that, although there are two situations pertaining to taxation of a tenant's improvements as to which the law might well be changed, this bill fails to accomplish either revision satisfactorily. He points out that (1), under Section 608 of the Revenue and Taxation Code, a tenant's improvements which include fixtures, may be assessed to the landlord, and that (2), under Section 2188 of that code, the taxes on the tenant's improvements are made a lien on the landlord's realty, even though the improvements are assessed to the tenant.

By classifying trade fixtures as personalty, this bill would avoid the assessment of such property of a tenant to his landlord. It would also prevent the creation of a lien for the taxes on the property against the realty of the landlord. But the measure would not avoid similar situations as to taxes on other improvements belonging to the tenant. Under modern conditions, many improvements not susceptible of classification as trade fixtures are placed upon leased premises by tenants. If it is undesirable that the taxes upon the tenants' trade fixtures shall be assessed to the landlords and made a lien upon the property of the latter, it seems equally undesirable that this result obtain with respect to taxes on other property of the tenants placed upon the landlords' premises.

Sections 601 and 602 of the Revenue and Taxation Code make it possible for the State Board of Equalization and the assessors to take immediate administrative action assuring that there shall be no commingling of the assessment of the property of tenants and landlords on the current tax rolls. By amending the Code (Sections 608, 609, and 2188) when the Legislature reconvenes in March it will be possible to confirm this administrative procedure and to remove any liens that may have been created against the landlords' realty because of taxes on their tenants' improvements. Since this would be merely the removal of a statutory lien and not the forgiveness of the tax itself such legislation should not be vulnerable to attack as violative of the constitutional prohibition against the extinguishment of a public obligation. Local revenue officials would have ample means available otherwise to enforce payment of the taxes on the tenants' improvements.

All of this could be accomplished without exempting from taxes or special assessments property that is now subject to such levies. If this bill should become law, only a part of the taxes on property owned by tenants would be excluded from the lien on the landlord's realty and there would still be substantial hardship to the latter because of the encumbrance of their titles.

What is even worse is that this bill would extend tax exemption to certain classes of taxpayers with no sound reason assigned for doing so. In fact, it is only fair to assume that such a result was not intended by its authors.

Many special assessment districts, including those providing drainage, flood control, sanitation, and fire protection, make their levies only on real property, i.e. land and improvements. Approval of this bill would remove all trade fixtures, now classified as improvements, from any share in the support of these districts whose existence obviously adds to the value of the property to its owners.

Numerous agencies of the Federal Government are authorized by the Congress to pay local taxes on their realty, but none on their personalty. I am informed that in 1945 these agencies paid local governments in California taxes amounting to more than $2,000,000 on property which this bill would term personalty. I am unwilling to share responsibility for such an extensive loss of local revenue as may be anticipated if this bill becomes law.

In addition, banks and insurance companies, taxed under special constitutional provisions, pay local taxes only on their realty. This bill would provide a tax exemption as to all of their trade fixtures by changing the classification thereof from realty to personalty, with substantial resultant loss of local revenue. These exemptions seem clearly unwarranted and have not been requested by the taxpayers affected.

Respectfully submitted.

EARL WARREN, Governor

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE
SACRAMENTO, March 17, 1947

To the Assembly of the State of California
Sacramento, California

GENTLEMEN: I am transmitting to you herewith a copy of a message with reference to

Assembly Bill No. 488, entitled "An act to amend Section 105 of the Revenue and Taxation Code, and to add Section 105.1 to said code, relating to property taxes and declaring the urgency thereof, to take effect immediately."

This bill, with my message relative thereto, I (through my Legislative Secretary) delivered to Arthur A. Ohnimus, Chief Clerk of the Assembly, at 6 o'clock p.m. on the seventeenth day of February, 1947, at which time your honorable body had adjourned for the day but not for the session.

Respectfully submitted.

EARL WARREN, Governor

COMMUNICATIONS

By the Chief Clerk:

A communication from Mrs. Laura Foss of Montebello, relative to a state park, in Placerita Canyon, and the discovery of gold in California, was received, and ordered filed with the Secretary of State.

The following communications were received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

By the Chief Clerk:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, DEPARTMENT OF NATURAL RESOURCES
DIVISION OF FORESTRY, SACRAMENTO 14, February 5, 1947

Arthur A. Ohnimus, Chief Clerk
Assembly, California Legislature
State Capitol, Sacramento 14, California

DEAR MR. OHNIMUS: In the temporary absence of the State Forester I am pleased and proud to acknowledge your letter of January 31st with House Resolution No. 78 enclosed. This resolution, presented by Messrs. O'Day and Burns was indeed a surprise to our organization. I know that the State Forester is very grateful for this expression of confidence in his organization and I am sure that he will give most of the credit to the men in the field where the job is actually done. From my own observation I can assure you that the morale of the Division of Forestry has never been higher. Although we look to a very severe fire season during 1947 we are at least united in our defense. If the occasion arises please give our thanks to Mr. O'Day and to Mr. Burns and please accept my own personal best wishes.

Very truly yours,

STATE FORESTER,
C. R. CLAR, Chief Deputy

CONGRESS OF THE UNITED STATES, HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
WASHINGTON, D. C., February 5, 1947

Mr. Arthur A. Ohnimus, Chief Clerk
Assembly, California Legislature, Sacramento, California

DEAR MR OHNIMUS: This will acknowledge receipt of your letter of February 1st relative to House Resolution No. 49.

The California Delegation anticipates meeting to discuss the subject matter of the resolution and we are in full accord on the desirability of achieving the goal set forth in the resolution.

You may count upon my support in this regard.

Sincerely yours,

DONALD L. JACKSON

By the Chief Clerk:

NAVY DEPARTMENT, BUREAU OF NAVAL PERSONNEL
WASHINGTON 25, D. C., February 6, 1947

Mr. Arthur A. Ohnimus, Chief Clerk
Assembly, California Legislature, Sacramento 14, California

DEAR MR. OHNIMUS: The Secretary of the Navy has referred to me for reply your letter of January 17, 1947, which forwarded a copy of a resolution adopted by the Assembly of the California Legislature on January 15, 1947, regarding the establishment of a United States Naval Postgraduate School on the Monterey Peninsula.

I am indeed pleased to receive this evidence of support for the project of establishing the new United States Naval Postgraduate School at Monterey, California.

The Navy is sponsoring legislation to be introduced to the present Congress to authorize the development of this new school. The choice of the Monterey Bay area was made after an exhaustive survey of possible sites throughout the United States. Monterey Bay was chosen as the area most nearly fulfilling the Navy's desire for a location in which the geographical surroundings, the climate, and other conditions affecting operation of the school would permit the best possible atmosphere for our student naval officers to pursue their postgraduate education.

Sincerely yours,

LOUIS DENFELD, Vice Admiral, U. S. N.
The Chief of Naval Personnel

By the Chief Clerk:

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON, February 10, 1947

Honorable Arthur A. Ohnimus, Chief Clerk of the Assembly
California Legislature, Sacramento, California

MY DEAR MR. OHNIMUS: The President has asked me to acknowledge the telegram of February 6th embodying Assembly Joint Resolution No. 19 which you sent to him by direction of the California Legislature. He wishes me to inform you that he submitted to the Senate on February 7th the nomination of Honorable Joseph K. Carson, Jr., for appointment as a member of the United States Maritime Commission. However, the selection of Mr. Carson was not made until the President had given most careful consideration to all of the recommendations before him.

The President is nonetheless appreciative of having this endorsement of Honorable Thomas F. Keating.

Very sincerely yours,

Mr. Arthur A. Ohnimus, Chief Clerk
California Legislature Assembly
Sacramento 14, California

DEAR MR. OHNIMUS: Your letter of February 1st, addressed to Secretary Anderson has been referred to me for reply. I am much concerned in the building up of the San Joaquin Experimental Range so that it can continue its program of service to the livestock industry as ably pointed out in House Resolution No. 49.

During the war the work at the San Joaquin Experimental Range had to be curtailed, and more recently the conscientious objector camp that was at the San Joaquin has been liquidated. The question of appropriations, however, is a matter on which I can make no comment until Congress considers the President's budget.

I deeply appreciate the fact that the work of the station has elicited so much interest.

Sincerely yours,

DEAR MR. OHNIMUS: Thank you very much for your kind letter of February 19th, and for sending me the copy of Assembly House Resolution No. 77, commemorating the birthday of the late President Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

I would appreciate it very much if you would convey to the Members of the California State Assembly my heartfelt thanks for their thoughtfulness and kindness in honoring the memory of my father in connection with the fight against infantile paralysis. This was a project that was close to his heart and I know that it would mean much to him that the Assemblymen of our great State were, by this commemoration, continuing that fight against this dreaded disease.

Will you also kindly accept my thanks for your courtesy in forwarding this resolution to me

Sincerely yours,

JAMES ROOSEVELT

By the Chief Clerk:

NAVY DEPARTMENT
WASHINGTON, D. C., February 27, 1947

Mr. Arthur A. Ohnimus, Chief Clerk
Assembly, California Legislature
Sacramento 14, California

DEAR MR. OHNIMUS: The Secretary of the Navy has referred to me for reply your letter of February 11, 1947, which enclosed a copy of California Assembly Joint Resolution No. 16 adopted by the Legislature on February 5, 1947. This resolution concerned the procurement of federal surplus property for the Veterans' Home of California.

The Navy is not generally considered a disposal agency and does not determine matters of policy in connection with the disposition of surplus property, and therefore, is not in a position to issue regulations or submit recommendations in connection with the resolution. Inasmuch as a decision to grant the Veterans' Home authority to receive surplus property in a manner similar to that provided the Veterans Administration would require legislation, you have taken the proper action by submitting copies of the resolution to the agencies responsible for the administration of surplus property disposal, and to the California Senators and Representatives in the Congress.

In the event that the Veterans' Home of California is determined by proper authority to be eligible to receive surplus property in a manner similar to that provided the Veterans Administration, you may be assured that the Navy will extend every effort to make available to the Veterans' Home property which may be useful to that organization.

Sincerely yours,

M. L. RING, R. Adm. (SC) USN.

DEAR SIR: Enclosed please find resolution adopted by this council on February 21, 1947, which is self-explanatory.

We would appreciate having you give this matter your immediate attention.

Sincerely yours,

JOHN A. O'CONNELL, Secretary

Resolution

WHEREAS, All labor is interested in maintaining a good employment service; and

WHEREAS, A recent examination held on Employment Series, Booklet A, on February 15, 1947 was irrelevant, immaterial, and manifestly unfair as a selective factor in securing experienced employment service personnel; and

WHEREAS, As a result of this examination, the employees in the employment service have suffered a severe shock to their morale, which is detrimental to the services now so necessary in the present labor market; and

WHEREAS, The very nature of the examination does not comply with H.R. Bill 549, stating that United States Employment Office personnel be given a reasonable opportunity to qualify for State Employment Service jobs; and

WHEREAS, This affects the continuation of an efficiently operated public employment service after June 30, 1947; therefore be it

Resolved, That the San Francisco Central Labor Council demand the examination be declared invalid, unfair and bordering on the illegal; and be it further

Resolved, That we petition the Governor, the Legislature, and the State Personnel Board to take action to secure that an unassembled examination based on qualifications, performance and experience be held at once.

Adopted by the Central Labor Council of San Francisco at the meeting of February 21, 1947.

WAR ASSETS ADMINISTRATION
WASHINGTON 25, D. C., March 1, 1947

Mr. Arthur A. Ohnimus, Chief Clerk
State Capitol, Sacramento 14, California

DEAR MR. OHNIMUS: Your letter of February 11th, regarding Assembly Joint Resolutions of the California Legislature, has been referred to this office by the White House. We also acknowledge your letters of February 11th, addressed to the Surplus Property Board, and to the Administrator of the Board regarding the same subject, which have also been referred to this office for attention.

The accomplishments requested in the resolutions which you have sent us may only be obtained by an Act of Congress. We note that it is the intention of the California Legislature to present their requests through the California delegation. This seems entirely proper.

We thank you for bringing this matter to our attention, and trust the requests will be well received and given every consideration by the present Congress.

Sincerely yours,

U. S. COMMERCIAL COMPANY
WASHINGTON 25, D. C., March 4, 1947

Mr. Arthur A Ohnimus
Chief Clerk, California Legislature
State Capitol, Sacramento 14, California

DEAR MR. OHNIMUS: This will acknowledge receipt of your letter of February 11th enclosing a copy of Joint Resolution No. 25 adopted by the California Legislature on February 4, 1947.

In February 1946, the U. S. Commercial Company entered into an arrangement with the War Department, the Department of State and the Supreme Commander for the Allied Powers in Japan pursuant to which commodities, made available by the Supreme Commander, are delivered to the U. S. Commercial Company for sale. From the proceeds of these sales, the U S. Commercial Company deducts its out-of-pocket expenses and its administrative costs. The balance of the proceeds is made available to the War Department. In this manner dollar balances are in turn made available to the Supreme Commander to help defray the costs of occupation.

In selling the commodities handled by it, the U. S. Commercial Company, of course, complies with all customs regulations as well as other pertinent laws. It is our aim to do everything we can to foster the return of this trade to normal channels as soon as conditions in Japan permit. In the meantime you may be assured that it is our intent to obtain the greatest proceeds possible, consistent with good business practices, and to conduct our operations with all fairness to American business men.

LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA, March 14, 1947

Clerk of the Assembly
State of California
Sacramento, California

GENTLEMEN: It is our information that several bills have been introduced at this session of the Legislature, providing for a lowering of the professional standards for the admission of veterans to the Bar of our State.

As a war veteran myself, I desire to enter vigorous protest against the adoption of any such measure and in particular against Senate Bills 11, 14, 333 and 517 and Assembly Bills 1024 and 2069.

While it is most commendable that a man may have served his Country and suffered severe physical and spiritual injury by reason thereof, yet life still goes on, and the public still expects and deserves competent counsel before courts of justice. It makes a mockery of human affairs to mollycoddle a veteran and to endow him with the powerful privileges of counselorship when he hasn't the training and education to support the burden of being an attorney People whose lives and properties are endangered are entitled to a lawyer who has been trained in accordance with high standards. To hand him, a veteran, however staunch and courageous his record in defense of his Country, this special privilege when he has not the ability to do for the citizen what should be done, is to evade the responsibilities of state sovereignty. The innocent and unsuspecting client who comes to the lawyer's office for help in time of need doesn't know that his lawyer might be untrained and uneducated, but that he is only a lawyer solely because he served in time of war. That is asking too much of the public at large.

Also from the standpoint of the veteran himself, it is unfair to him to ask him to face the responsibility resulting from his ignorance and lack of training and this responsibility is truly a heavy one. If by the ignorance of a veteran an act of malpractice is committed, the veteran stands responsible civilly and morally. To allow him to assume this burden is as unfair as it is unwise.

As a veteran and a citizen, I welcome all beneficial aids to members of the armed forces, but I would seek no aid for them or for myself which would be harmful in the end to all of the people of this State.

Very truly yours,

PETER T. RICE

Mr. Cooke announced that a caucus of the Democratic Delegation will be held in Room 426, tomorrow, Tuesday, March 18th, upon adjournment.

REPORT OF INTERIM COMMITTEE ON MILITARY AFFAIRS
February 28, 1947

Pursuant to the provisions of House Resolution No. 73, your Interim Committee on Military Affairs wishes to report as follows:

After preliminary preparation and listing of the bills referred to our committee, which listings were made according to subject matter, your committee met in the State Capitol on February 28th.

Included in our agenda was a review and the adoption of a planned schedule of meetings for the main Committee on Military Affairs, initiating a new and more efficient system of scheduling the bills referred to us according to subject matter, as follows:

March 10—Organization meeting and informal discussion with the Adjutant General and staff on bills relating to armories, high school cadet corps, the Militia, the National Guard, and the State Guard.

March 17—Formal action on bills reviewed March 10th. Action on bills relating to the State Department of Veteran Affairs—education, farm and home loans, Women's Relief Corps Home residence requirements, Napa State Farm, and Spanish War Veterans.

March 24—All matters relating to civil service employees, including military leave, professional licenses, and retirement rights.

March 31—All housing proposals.

April 7—Memorial resolutions, memorial districts, Merchant Marine definitions, and miscellaneous.

April 14—Appropriations and Senate bills.

HOUSING

Your committee scheduled a review of the expenditure of state funds in connection with veterans' housing, and received formal and detailed exhibits from the Director of Finance and the State Controller.

High light of the inquiry developed the fact that on the temporary housing program, approximately $8,500,000 of the $10,000,000 previously voted by the Legislature has been applied for and allocated to cover the State's portion in the erection of 13,527 dwelling units. In addition to this, it is known that approximately 4,000 more units are under construction throughout the State of California, for which the local authorities have made no application to the State for assistance. A new and clear system of reports and vouchers, to be used by local authorities in obtaining state support under this program, was presented to the committee by the state officials. This was in keeping with a previous request made by your chairman. Assurances were given that all local housing agencies are in successful operation, so far as the procedures at the state level of government are concerned.

At the time of our meeting it was known that the Federal Government had ceased its activities in this field, and statistics were submitted to support the fact that nearly 5,000 temporary veterans' housing units remain incomplete, as a result of the cessation of the federal program. The committee was assured of the legality of the state expenditures on behalf of site preparations and work already undertaken, even though the anticipated housing appears no longer forthcoming through federal sources. A moot situation developed, however, regarding the legality of the State of California assuming the costs of completing the work on the 5,000 units now abandoned. After much discussion it was concluded that some $15,000,000 will be required to complete this work, since our cost must be multiplied by four without federal assistance. Cost factors show that these units cost an approximate over-all $3,200 with $2,600 being borne by the Federal Government, leaving the state and local authorities to supply but $600 on the 90-10 basis. Much discussion revolved around the obligation of the Federal Government, with the state officials expressing themselves on the matter. It was left as a subject to be determined by the Legislature.

RECOMMENDATION

The committee therefore wishes to recommend that a suitable bill be prepared and introduced for reference to the Committee on Military Affairs and the Committee on Ways and Means, setting forth the policy and desire of the State to see this program completed, and the appropriation required.

CONCLUSION

In cooperation with the veteran representatives in attendance at our meeting, your committee decided to defer consideration of the above proposed bill, and all other housing measures, until after the report of the Investigating Committee on Housing, headed by Senator O'Gara, has been received. Thus, the meeting date of March 31st was selected and set aside for this purpose.

Your committee also takes satisfaction in the planning of meeting nights according to topics and bills relating thereto. All present concurred in the anticipated increased efficiency resulting therefrom.

Respectfully submitted.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON ANGEL ISLAND

MR. SPEAKER: Pursuant to the provisions of Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 14, your undersigned committee, appointed to ascertain, study and analyze the feasibility of securing Angel Island in San Francisco Bay as a site for state use, reports as follows:

INSPECTION TRIP

In order to acquaint ourselves with the first hand information and physical properties of Angel Island, your committee arranged to visit the premises in cooperation with the Bay Area Council, who were kind enough to secure the services of the United States Coast Guard for our transportation. Accordingly, an inspection tour of the island was made on February 20th. As provided in Section 5 (B) of our resolution, the following persons participated in our trip and conferences: T. F. Bagshaw, Chairman Bay Area Council Committee of Citizens for the Disposal of Angel Island; Chas. A. Winslow, President California State Marine Parks Association; Fred Cairns, Chairman Bay Area Maritime Committee, and Manager of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce; Frank E. Feliz, Assistant to the General Manager of the Bay Area Council; Frank B. Anderson, Associated Newspapers; H. C. R. Akin, State Reconstruction and Reemployment Commission; Walter H. Sullivan, Jr., Deputy Regional Director Real Property Disposal, War Assets Administration; J. Walter Blair, Director Public Interest and Veterans Division, War Assets Administration; Olin Bryan, Chief of Planning, War Assets Administration; Paul G. Carney, Director of Sales and Promotion, War Assets Administration; A. J. Cathcart, Regional Counsel, War Assets Administration; together with the members of this legislative committee and the officials now stationed on Angel Island.

Angel Island

CONFERENCE

In addition to our actual inspection of the island, your chairman was invited to attend a meeting held in the San Francisco office of the War Assets Administration on March 5th, relative to developing Angel Island into a master airport. Leading the discussion in this conference were Messrs. Paul G. Carney of the War Assets Administration; S. C. Farrington, Deputy Director of the Non-Industrial Division of the War Assets Administration; and Col. Frank D. Gore, Airport Consultant from the staff of Kaiser Engineers.

BACKGROUND

As a brief history of Angel Island your committee wishes to relate that on August 5, 1775, Commander Juan Manuel Ayalo of the Spanish Ship "San Carlos" anchored at the island and named it "Nuestra Senora de Los Angeles" (Our Lady of the Angels). Since then it has been called "Angel Island." In 1839 the island was deeded by the Mexican Government to one Antonio Osio. In 1859, after California had been admitted to the Union, a superior court decision decreed that the Mexican Government, "under the circumstances, had no authority to make this grant to Osio and that, therefore, the grant is void." In 1863 the island was taken by our own federal troops and by 1865 there had been installed three batteries, mounting 19 guns, and this installation commanded the approach to and constituted our defense of the Golden Gate.

In 1867 a general depot for the receiving and distributing of military recruits was established on the island. In 1888 a permit was granted to the United States Marine Hospital Service for the use of a portion of the island as a national quarantine station. This station is located at Hospital Cove on the north side of the island. By 1909 an additional area of the island was transferred to the jurisdiction of the Secretary of Commerce and Labor for the construction of an immigration station which has been used on the island until its transfer to the War Department in 1941. During the war the entire island and its facilities were used as a prisoner of war camp.

At the termination of the last war, in October, 1946, the island was declared surplus by the United States Army and custody of the entire premises is now being transferred to the War Assets Administration, with whom your committee has been in consultation.

FACILITIES

Angel Island consists of 640.2 acres of government-owned land. It is situated in San Francisco Bay, seven miles northeast of San Francisco, but only 4,500 feet southwest of the Marin County shores of Tiburon.

All facilities are government-owned, improvements consisting of an assemblage of buildings served by an adequate pier on the east side of the island, known as Fort McDowell; the United States Marine Hospital group of buildings at Hospital Cove; and the other buildings known as the North Garrison and West Garrison. All of the newer permanent and temporary buildings erected since 1940 are in very good condition.

Roads: The main roads are hard surfaced with bituminous prime and seal coats with cover aggregate except for roads on the south side of the island which are unsurfaced. The roads in general are in good condition.

Electrical Lines: High voltage line is brought to the island substation by a P. G. & E. marine cable from Tiburon. Lines on the island are government-owned and in good condition.

Telephone: Telephone service is furnished to the island by Pacific Telephone and Telegraph marine cables from San Francisco and Fort Baker. Lines on the island are government-owned and in good condition.

Potable Water: The three wells are insufficient to supply the demand and water is brought to the island by barge. The water is obtained from the mains at Fort Mason and delivered to the East Garrison where it is pumped into distribution reservoirs. Lines are in fair condition.

Fuel Oil: Fuel oil is shipped into the East Garrison where it is pumped into tanks. Lines in fair condition.

Fire Water Lines, Sewer and Steam: Lines in fair condition.

Lighthouses: Not included or available for transfer and state consideration are the existing United States Coast Guard installations consisting of the Point Knox Lighthouse and keeper's quarters; the Point Blunt Lighthouse; the Point Stuart Lighthouse; and the North Garrison Wharf Light.

WATER AND TRANSPORTATION

Since the property under consideration is strictly an island, there remain two acknowledged problems which your committee recognizes as requiring engineering attention and study:

Water: There are at present three wells drilled on Angel Island, though their capacity is insufficient. There has been as many as 4,000 people quartered on Angel Island (during World War II) but the water supply from the existing wells does not serve more than 20 people. During your committee's conferences with the officials listed above, it was noted that some doubt exists over the engineering question and advisability of drilling a new deep well, with some persons feeling this would be a proper solution—and still others feeling that no new well could be developed. A pipe line from the Marin shores crossing the 4,500 foot channel was discussed at length, since ample water is at hand through the services of the Marin Municipal Water District. Your committee recognizes, however, that this suggestion also needs the advice and study of adequate engineers, since it is known that the channel bottom is not covered with silt and is, rather, hard rock in surface and subjected to swift currents.

Transportation: In considering the patronage that this island might receive under public uses, your committee does not look with favor upon the operation of a ferry boat service to and from the mainland. The expense of such a service is of course considerable and would in time amount to the over-all cost of constructing a permanent bridge. The island is well graded with adequate and paved roads for automobile travel, and your committee wishes to recommend that consideration be given to the suggestion of the construction of a high level bridge from Tiburon to the island, across which bridge might also be aligned water and other utility services. In addition to the suggested bridge to the Marin County shore, a bridge to Treasure Island has been suggested in order to join the East Bay Bridge at a central point in the flow of Bay area traffic. This point of transportation connection is highly desirable in the event the island becomes a master airport. Engineering advice has not been obtained in detail, but it is believed that a bridge joining Angel Island and Treasure Island will be easier to construct by reason of the known water depths and footings, whereas the bridge from the Marin shore must necessarily be a high level suspension type structure.

POSITION OF THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT

Your committee ascertained that the War Assets Administration is not yet in actual possession of Angel Island, custody resting still with the United States Army Engineers. Actual transfer is anticipated in the immediate future, however. Further, no actual appraisal of the island has as yet been made by which a cash value might enter our considerations. It is expected that within the next 60 days a complete appraisal will be at hand. There is a system of priorities under which the State of California may come second in line for the purchase of the island. It is known that the Federal Government and/or its agencies are to have first choice, but through an informal canvass it has developed that no agency of the Federal Government has asked for Angel Island. Next would come the State of California, if sufficient institutional or recreational use is decided upon, and thirdly, the island may be offered for public sale.

It was brought out that previous instances of the disposal of surplus properties through the War Assets Administration had been accomplished to other governmental agencies under sales embodying a large discount. Your committee understands that if sufficient, due, and proper public service facilities are undertaken by the State of California we may receive a discount as high as 85 percent of the appraised value. It was also learned that a great bulk of the island, if desired for use as a master airport, may be classified as potential airport land, having a direct bearing upon airport and security developments of benefit to the entire Pacific Coast, under which classification the land may be given over without cost to the agency making the desirable improvements.

Mr. Walter H. Sullivan, Jr., Deputy Regional Director for the Disposal of Real Property, War Assets Administration, has remarked "Our preliminary work indicates that the State of California, if it is interested in purchase of the island, might obtain it for a state park or other recreational use. Of course, any federal agency could decide to exercise its top priority to obtain the island, but so far there has been no indication that this will occur. The War Assets Administration Office of Real Property will be happy to cooperate with the State if it decides to exercise its priority and seek Angel Island, and we will try to expedite transfer in every way we can."

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

Your committee wishes to make note of the fact that since Angel Island has been continuously owned by the government, it has never been on the tax rolls. The property falls within the boundary of Marin County, save and except one tiny portion falling in the County of San Francisco. Any further public use or purchase of the island, therefore, cannot be subjected to the usual argument that property is being taken from our tax bases. Also, we wish to direct attention to the acknowledged problems of potable water and transportation, which will, in all probability, mitigate against private or commercial development.

It appears that Angel Island can be had by the State for a fraction of its value and that it is large enough to accommodate several or a variety of uses.

POSSIBLE USES

Institution: The group of buildings known as Fort McDowell on the east side of the island comprise a permanent administration building, permanent barracks, warehouses, officers' quarters, chapel, and a 350-bed hospital, together with paved roads, gardens, landing pier and utilities. The total installation would cost many millions of dollars to construct. This property is in excellent condition and should, obviously, be used, and is ideal for a public institution. Your committee recommends that it be looked upon in this light, either for a hospital, an infirmary for the mentally deranged, a prison, headquarters for the State or National Guard, or some other such institutional purpose.

Park: The group of buildings at Hospital Cove on the north side of the island are permanent in form and in excellent condition, but they are small in number and are beautifully situated facing a magnificent sheltered cove. There is also a large pier and a boat house, together with gardens, rock walls, pathways and lawns. This installation would be ideal for a marine park, for boating, as a yacht harbor, or like recreational use; and your committee recommends that it be considered for such purposes.

Airport: At the March 5th conference considerable time was devoted to analyzing the expected growth of air transportation, the size of new airplanes, and the known size of landing fields which may be required to facilitate air traffic through San Francisco in the immediate future. The proposal was made that Angel Island would be a natural location for this purpose, and that the top of the island be levelled down to a 250-foot elevation, thus providing two 7,000 foot runways. In connection with this plan wharfage facilities could be constructed around the entire island, thereby adding to the port facilities of the Bay area. In this connection it must be noted that California stands to receive $18,000,000 over the period of the next seven years from the Federal Government for the express purpose of airport development.

Combination: It appears entirely possible that a combination of the above three potential developments of Angel Island may be undertaken.

ENDORSEMENTS

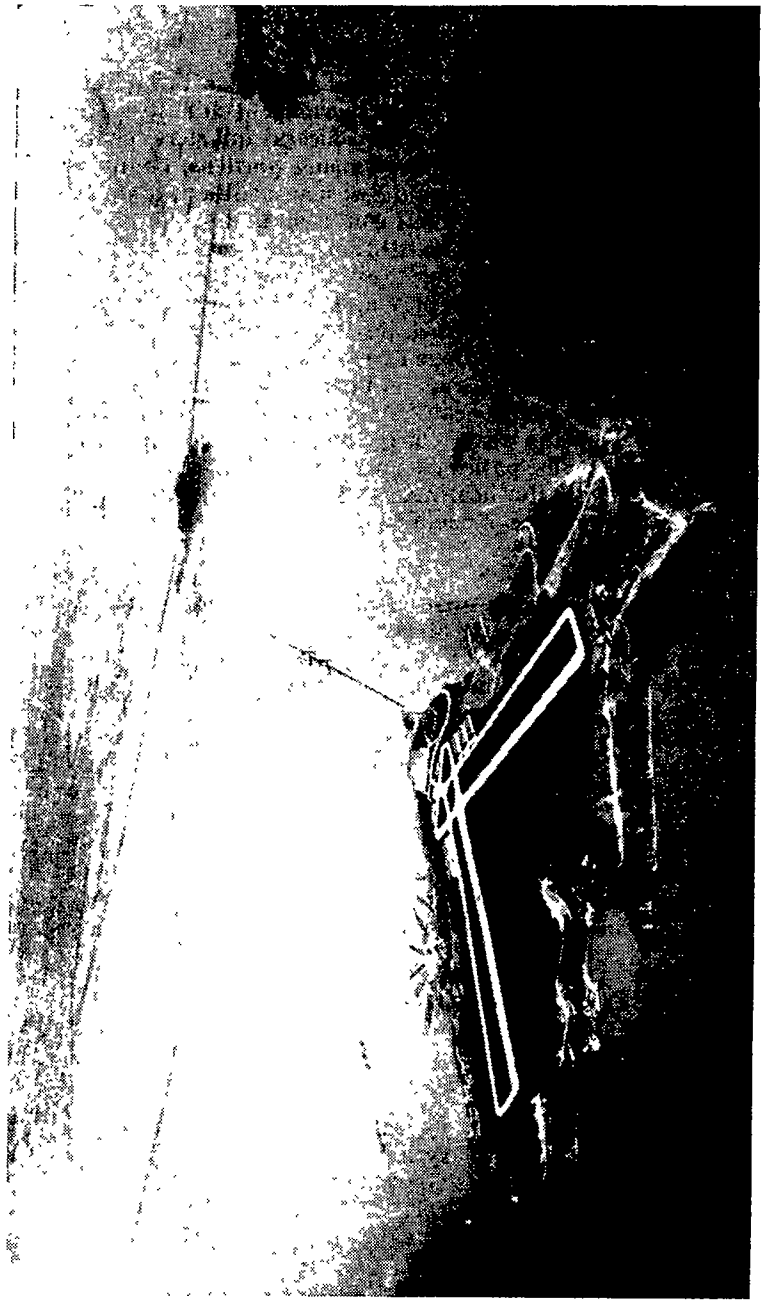
At this date it is already known that all Marin County chambers of commerce, the Marin County Supervisors, the Bay Area Maritime Committee, and the Redwood Empire Association have endorsed the proposition of making state use of Angel Island.

RECOMMENDATIONS

To conclude our preliminary investigation of the subject so assigned to us, your committee submits the following recommendations:

1. That the State of California, faced with an immediate opportunity to acquire this property, exhaust all possibilities of public use which can be made of the property.

2. That because of the size of the undertaking, this committee be instructed to arrange for another inspection tour of the island on April 5th.



Projected Master Airport Proposed for Angel Island

3. That on such tour the following officials be requested to participate:

His Excellency the Governor
The Lieutenant Governor
Director of the Department of Corrections (Prisons)
Director of the Department of Natural Resources (Parks and Recreation)
Director of the Department of Mental Hygiene (Hospitals, etc.)
Director of the Department of Public Works (Engineering)
Director of the Department of Finance (Maintenance)
Director of the Department of Real Estate (Values)
The Adjutant General (Military)
Additional Members of the Legislature
Officials of the War Assets Administration
Officials of the Civil Aeronautics Association
Members of the Citizens' Committee
Others interested.

4. That all state officials as above listed be requested to report in writing concerning their opinions and recommendations, said reports being submitted to this committee within 10 days after inspection of the premises.

5. That this committee again report to the full Legislature, following, and bearing upon the findings of the state officials' reports to the committee, said committee report to be filed prior to final adjournment, so that further action thereupon may be taken if necessary.

6. That a new resolution giving force and directives to the recommendations listed herein be immediately presented to the Legislature.

Respectfully submitted.

REPORT OF JOINT LEGISLATIVE INTERIM COMMITTEE ON PRE-SCHOOL TRAINING

The Joint Legislative Interim Committee on Pre-School Training hereby makes the following recommendations relative to child care centers:

1. That child care centers, as provided under and designed to fill a wartime need should be discontinued; and

2. That a child care service should be continued under peacetime needs with state aid to meet the requirements of needy parents and their children; and

3. That the parents' and children's need of the service be determined under the following conditions:

(a) That there is but one parent in the home who both supports and cares for the child, or

(b) That there are two parents in the home, one of whom is physically or mentally unable to either support the family or care for the child, or

(c) That either parent is a veteran of World War II attending school or receiving instruction under the GI Bill of Rights during the years of 1947 to 1951, and the other parent, if any, is gainfully employed, or

(d) That the services of the parent having care of the child are necessary as a teacher in a public school or as a nurse in a hospital.

4. That except under the conditions set forth in 3 (c) and (d) above no child shall be admitted to a child care center unless the total monthly income from all sources of the child's immediate family is less than two hundred dollars ($200) or unless the monthly income per person in the family as determined by dividing the total monthly income of the immediate family from all sources by the number of persons to be supported therefrom does not exceed fifty-five dollars ($55).

5. That a part of the cost of such child care service be borne by the parent by the payment of a reasonable fee set in proportion to the total family income and size of the family.

6. That such child care services wherever possible be maintained in the buildings and with the equipment and facilities now in use and available.

7. That such child care services be administered by the regular public school administrative staffs.

8. That wherever the word parent is used herein it shall be deemed to include anyone having the actual legal care and custody of the child.

REMARKS BY MR. DUNN

March 17, 1947

The Report of the Joint Committee on Pre-school Training created by Assembly Bill No. 5, Fifty-sixth (First Extraordinary) Session and continued by Assembly Bill No. 11, Fifty-seventh Regular Session recommends that child care centers be continued under certain limited conditions.

I am in accord with the committee on the need for continuance; I agree that limitations as to the eligibility should be prescribed. Because of this I have signed the report and recommendations.

I would be remiss in my duty as a member of the committee if I failed to point out certain inadequacies in the recommendation.

First, the recommendations apparently exclude the possibility of making child care centers available to a child, both of whose parents are working, without regard to the amount of family income. Possibly

Section (c) makes a limited exception to veterans employed under a vocational training program. Second, no consideration is given to family expenses. Parents purchasing household goods, making rent or mortgage payments out of proportion to income should be given consideration. Third, the original Child Care Center Act was adopted as a means of making additional manpower available. This policy was eliminated in the 1946 act, except as regards people employed in "the harvesting or processing of crops" (Sec. 19617 (b) Chapter 34, Fifty-sixth First Extraordinary Session).

The committee now recognizes this manpower need as regards teachers and nurses, but rejected by motion to include the provisions of the aforesaid section in their recommendations.

The committee likewise rejected a motion to permit use of child care centers to children of veterans who are self-employed, where the mother is assisting in the operation of the enterprise.

I believe that the Legislature should consider the foregoing deficiencies in the report, and in the enactment of legislation to implement the recommendations of the committee definite provisions should be made for the inclusion of the foregoing suggestions.

I further suggest that provision for a counseling service be given most serious consideration.

Respectfully submitted,

FRANCIS DUNN, JR.

MINORITY REPORT BY MR. DEBS

March 17, 1947

I disagree with the Majority Report of the Joint Legislative Interim Committee on Pre-school Training relative to the continuation of child care centers.

The majority recommended that the centers be continued only on the basis of serving needy parents and their children by limiting the amount of income to $200 in any one family, or a monthly income per person in the family to $55. This will exclude from the program more than 50 percent of the children now using the centers.

I believe that child care centers as presently constituted are rendering a service not only to parents who must work, but to children who otherwise would be neglected. This neglect will tend to increase juvenile delinquency, and the ultimate cost to the taxpayers will far exceed any present monetary saving in the long run.

The moral responsibility especially of developing children with healthy bodies and minds of course should not be overlooked, for it is on this basis that I believe child care centers render their best service.

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolutions were offered:

By Mr. Hawkins:

House Resolution No. 115

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That all heads of departments and other officers in charge of divisions and agencies of the State Government, upon request of any veteran employee eligible for educational benefits under the Servicemen's Readjustment Act of 1944, and whenever possible, are hereby requested to rearrange the working hours of such veteran employee so as to enable him to take advantage of the educational benefits of said act.

Resolution read, and referred to Committee on Rules.

By Mr. Burke:

House Resolution No. 116

Relative to Richard J. Keller

WHEREAS, The death of Richard J. Keller on March 16, 1947, brought profound grief and shock to the entire community of San Gabriel Valley, where he had served as Police Judge for Monterey Park, and since 1942 as Justice of the Peace for San Gabriel Township; and

WHEREAS, In addition to the duties of his court Judge Keller carried on a busy law practice and was well known throughout the San Gabriel Valley where he was a member of the Alhambra Coordinating Council, the Kiwanis Club, Alhambra Eagles, and Elks Lodge, had been a member of the Monterey Park Ration Board, and served as legal counsel for the Veterans' Service Bureau; and

WHEREAS, Richard J. Keller, born in Spokane, Washington, had lived in the San Gabriel Valley since the age of three years, had attended the local schools, and was graduated from Stanford University in 1932, taking his law degree from Hastings Law School of the University of California in 1937; and

WHEREAS, Richard J. Keller had begun his law career auspiciously by becoming Police Judge of Monterey Park at an earlier age than any lawyer who had ever held such an office in California, and was also the youngest man to occupy the office of justice of the peace in California when elected to that office in 1942; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Members of this Assembly hereby express profound regret that the sudden death of Judge Keller at the early age of 36 years has taken from the State of California the able and sincere public service which this young man was already performing for the people of San Gabriel Valley, and kept him from that larger service to the people of the State of California which undoubtedly would have been his had but a few more years of life been his; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly transmit suitably prepared copies of this resolution to the family of Judge Keller: To his widow, Mrs. Gladys B. Keller, and his daughter, Karalee Pam, and to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Keller of San Marino.

Request for Unanimous Consent

Mr. Burke asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent to take up House Resolution No. 116, at this time, without reference to committee or file.

Resolution read, and adopted unanimously.

Speaker Presiding

At 10.53 a.m., Hon. Sam L. Collins, Speaker of the Assembly, presiding.

Mr. Ralph C. Dills moved that remarks made by him, and newspaper excerpts from the Sacramento Union be ordered printed in the Journal in 10-point type.

Mr. Dunn seconded the motion.

Motion carried.

Remarks by Mr. Ralph C. Dills

The subject of the teaching of patriotism in our public schools is one which is receiving a great deal of attention at this time.

There has recently appeared in the local press a discussion of this subject containing an expression by an officer of the Legislature.

We desire that the following questions and answers on this important topic be read and printed in the Journal of this day:

Excerpt From the Sacramento Union, March 1, 1947

What Shall I Teach?

EDITOR OF THE UNION: With so many experts, each with feet of clay, posing as authorities on what should and should not be taught in the public schools, certainly one ought to be able to answer my questions. I am a teacher in the elementary schools, and my children have learned to respect me and trust me, and to believe the things I say are true.

When they ask me what Democracy is, what shall I tell them? How shall I answer them?

Shall I say it means they all have an equal chance, when I fear that the gentle little Negro in the back row will have a lifelong struggle for any chance she has?

Shall I tell them that they may choose whomever they wish to make their rules when I know that the Artie Samishes and other lobbyists, and political machines and unions are robbing men of that freedom, and that the great men of the Nation are avoiding the field of statemanship because of what happens to Lilienthal and others who are proposed for important office?

What shall I tell them about our lawmakers who daily make spectacles of themselves in Sacramento, and who go about the State on silly junkets between sessions and put on Roman holidays such as the one that was staged in Chico one day this week?

Shall I tell these trusting youngsters what a great world power we have in America, when signs of internal decay—drunkenness, lewdness, boisterousness, immorality—are everywhere apparent?

Even if I tell these fine youngsters these things, what will they find when they take their places as units of society? Will they find that Democracy is a sham and liberty only a word? Will they find that all I told them was false, and so lose faith in me and in what I stand for? Or will they find what I told them was true, and will they continue thus to respect me and the Nation I represent? What are we going to do about these things?

TEACHER

Excerpt From the Sacramento Union, March 3, 1947

Answer to "What Shall I Teach?"

DEAR MR. EDITOR: Your issue of March 1 carries a letter in which "Teacher" inquires what he shall teach about public affairs, and asks if Democracy is only a "sham and liberty only a word."

If teacher will review his history, cast his eyes about him, and overcome his discouraged, perhaps cynical, attitude he may decide to try the following:

Teach the fundamentals of our form of government and reveal the fact that it has allowed more freedom and presented a greater opportunity for the pursuit of happiness than any system ever devised by man.

Teach that while Democracy has its weaknesses and sometimes functions awkwardly, such imperfections are a small price to pay for the advantages we enjoy under that system which is the only living alternative to dictatorship.

Develop our adherence to the proposition of the greatest good to the greatest number with the result that the average American lives the life of a king compared to the average German under Nazism; the average Italian under Fascism; or the average Russian under Communism, for under any of these forms of despotism, with all their efficiency and all their glittering promises, the individual is nothing but a slave to the state.

Teacher may well emphasize the fact that eternal vigilance is the price of good government. He will not teach his pupils that the lobbyists and the labor unions are, as he says, running our Legislature and robbing us of our freedom. The lobbyists are not running the Legislature. Legislators, generally, listen to them with the mental attitude of a judge listening to a lawyer representing a client. Labor unions were not created to deprive men of freedom but to secure just treatment for victims of injustice. When they started depriving people of freedom our government set about circumscribing their power. The fact of their existence is evidence of the freedom we enjoy under Democracy, as, also, is the fact that by lawful means they can be deprived of the power to interfere with anyone's freedom.

Teach the dignity of labor, pride of craftsmanship, and the truth that the finest reward a man gets out of life, be he preacher, pedagogue, or pugilist, is the respect of his contemporaries and the esteem of those who know him best.

Teach that fine Biblical admonition, it is more blessed to give than to receive, and that life is service and success measured in terms of the degree of service.

Teach temperance in all things including denunciation of men in public office, that students may not be guilty of such unjust accusations as teacher's statement that "our law-makers daily make spectacles of themselves." Our legislators are perhaps no better but certainly no worse than those who elect them. Most of them are serious minded individuals who do nothing more spectacular than study the measures before them and try to render service to their constituencies.

Teach the virtue of common decency and the axiom that "self denial is the price of all the excellencies" in order that our young people may avoid the "drunkenness, lewdness, boisterousness and immorality" which teacher deplores.

Admit that race problems are as old as humanity but that the cure lies not in awakening race consciousness but in the application of such homely expedients as common sense, tolerance and Christian charity.

There are so many things worth teaching that teacher is to be envied his opportunity. Between the lines of his letter there are the signs of a fine crusading spirit but, alas, Mr. Editor, I also detect the traces of a perfectionist—one who expects things to be perfect. Nothing ever is. Legislative government is not perfect but, for the common man, it is the best system yet devised.

REPORT OF POSTWAR REHABILITATION INTERIM COMMITTEE

Recommendation—Report—Conclusions

FOREWORD

When, under authority of House Resolution No. 190, the Postwar Rehabilitation Committee was authorized, it was the purpose of this Assembly, inclusive of the membership of the interim committee, to study existing industrial, community, and social conditions, and thereby ascertain the extent to which the State Government could render most effective assistance in easing the strains and uncertainties of the postwar reconversion period.

Initial studies revealed that a "depression expectancy" attitude existed among the majority of witnesses examined; i.e., that they expected the immediate postwar period to be one of widespread unemployment and economic dislocation. Continuing studies and subsequent events proved these original beliefs to have been misconceived, and that problems, for the most part, were not of an unusually serious nature, either as applied to unemployment or to reconversion.

Based on these facts, and on the fact that existing committees of the Assembly are qualified to explore each field of interest and importance specifically, this committee has foregone any unnecessary expenditure of state funds and is returning to the Assembly the greater portion of its $7,500 appropriation unexpended.

RECOMMENDATIONS

1. That the report and findings of the Postwar Rehabilitation Committee be studied by other committees for the purpose of securing therefrom such information as may be helpful to them in continuing their activities and investigations.

2. That the Postwar Rehabilitation Interim Committee be dissolved and discontinued, there being no practical reason for its continuing function in the light of changed and existing conditions.

REPORT

The undersigned, members of the Postwar Rehabilitation Interim Committee, do herewith file this Committee's Report, Findings, and Conclusions.

For purposes of identification, this report has been subdivided into categories, the intention being to generally outline planned rehabilitation activities in various fields of community, industrial and social endeavor.

Since it is the purpose of the Assembly to view this report objectively, and not to consider it as applying to any specific city, township, county, business or social organization, analyses of local and individual needs have not been made. Rather, it may be accepted as a presentation outlining the general attitude of segments of the State of California's economy as a whole, and it is in this spirit that this report is presented.

City Anticipated Needs

It has been ascertained by this committee that there is an unprecedented backlog of genuinely essential public works projects, municipal in nature, in virtually every municipality in this State. These projects have been made necessary by a four-year wartime postponement of all local construction; by an early postwar limitation as to the use of certain construction materials; and by wartime and continuing shortages of many types of skilled and experienced construction labor.

Sanitary facilities, sewage disposal and incinerating in nature, appear to be at or near the head of the list for construction in most communities. Water supplies, storm drains and fire protection are generally viewed as projects needed to best serve the public convenience and necessity.

Some attention is being given in all areas to the desirability of extending the existing recreational facilities, the prevailing attitude being that such facilities contribute substantially in their program of curbing juvenile delinquency. Cultural projects such as libraries and museums are either completed as to plans or are still in planning process. However, the general attitude toward cultural and recreational developments is that such projects can be best utilized to absorb any surplus of labor that might be brought about because of industrial recession or a delayed reconversion process.

Generally regarded as of the utmost importance is public works development viewed in the light of street improvement needs. Almost without exception, city streets and boulevards have been subjected to a maximum of usage during the war years while repairs and resurfacing have been held to an absolute minimum. New streets, bridges and major in-city artery improvements are being called for in the light of expanding population areas. It has been pointed out that new housing developments are reaching beyond the heretofore existing limits of metropolitan living areas with an attendant increase in the required public services, including streets, lighting, water service and sewage disposal.

Cities—Financing

Property taxes, special fees and business license taxes based on gross receipts are generally considered to be the principal sources of local revenue. The collection of fees or special taxes from specific sources such as garbage collection fees and sewage rental charges, is being seriously considered by many cities. However, many other areas are attempting to maintain low tax levels, and are therefore unable to anticipate revenues that will begin to approximate full or near-full financing of their anticipated projects.

Harbor development in California can be expected to be reasonably self-supporting, both because of harbor revenues and because of local diversion of special revenues to this purpose. However, street and highway improvements, as well as bridge reconstruction and new bridges, are expected to be given substantial state aid in financing.

The general reaction of cities as a group is that ample funds exist for a state building program, that this sum exists even after appropriations for beach and park acquisitions, state bond redemptions, county road matching funds, and others. The prevailing attitude is that such additional and existing funds can well be utilized for the repair, enlargement and construction of facilities such as sewage treatment and disposal, which, it is averred, were adequate for a prewar population, but now prove to be wholly inadequate to meet present requirements.

Generally, the attitude of all cities appears to indicate their willingness to become self-financing as far as possible. Existing needs and future requirements have already received substantial state financial assistance through appropriations made by the State Legislature during the Special Session of January, 1946.

Industry

During the early part of this committee's investigations, it was readily apparent that most industries anticipated a recession of greater or lesser degree, depending upon its ability to reconvert and to market products and services. As the postwar period extended, this attitude showed a marked change, with the general feeling of industry being one of independence, neither willing nor asking any state financial aid.

Equally apparent was the change from an attitude which regarded widespread unemployment as inevitable to one which eyed the existing labor market as low in skilled workers. Generally, and for some time to come, industry expects that employment will continue at a high level, brought about by a generally unsatisfied consumer demand for goods and services of most kinds produced within the confines of this State.

Principals of manufacturing associations now recommend that the Legislature consider reducing the costs of operating the State Government; withhold additional social legislation; effect a more stringent administration of the state unemployment compensation funds; to reduce state corporation income taxes; and generally scrutinize all public works projects in which the State may have a financial interest with an eye to eliminating those that may be unnecessary at a time when they (the industries) are in need of manpower.

Housing

Prior to VJ-Day, it was generally believed that there would be a mass exodus from California, particularly of war workers who had established themselves in this area during periods of war employment in aircraft, parts, and shipyard industries. Subsequent events proved this to be another misconception, and while there was some exodus from the State, it by no means was sufficient in volume to offset the immigration that took place following the lifting of travel restrictions. Additionally, there have been thousands of war veterans, never previously residents of this area, who have come to California, taking advantage of government educational and employment subsidies to do so.

The net result of in-migration, plus four years wherein normal construction was retarded, has been to create a severe housing shortage. Local building groups, construction labor organizations, and county and city governments backed in many instances by state effort, have made rapid strides in their programs to overcome this shortage. However, there is much that must still be done.

The building industry as a whole has more demand than it can meet at this time, principally due to the fact that all existing construction labor and available materials are being utilized to their fullest degree, yet neither being sufficient in quantity to meet existing needs.

We are assured that there is sufficient private capital available and willing to finance all of the residential construction for a long time to come, inclusive of rental projects. It is generally believed by the industry that any approach of the State in the field of public or clearance housing at this time will seriously deter the entire housing program, and that such state action is unnecessary because ample private funds exist that will fully utilize all construction labor and material for several years to come.

Veterans, building contractors and realty associations are agreed that many changes must be made in zoning ordinances now in force in most urban areas. The claim by these groups is that such ordinances are "restrictive," and that they do not permit the full utilization of expensive land for building. Should such ordinances be changed, they claim, a greater number of rental units will be permitted per plot of land, thus lowering over-all cost and reducing rents of newly constructed dwellings as much as $18 per month.

Realty groups, as well as builders, appear to be convinced that suburban areas will require continuing development in order to permit a free expansion of new residential construction. This, it has been pointed out, is necessary because of continuing high land costs within the cities proper. The general attitude is that such developments will require parallel development of freeways and access highways, as well as street development and bridges.

Shipping

Since the State of California has within its confines the important seaports of San Francisco, Los Angeles, Long Beach and San Diego, and since these ports to a great extent are supported by taxpayers of these communities, this committee has investigated the present condition of waterborne shipping for the purpose of determining what economic trends, if any, exist.

Coastwise and intercoastal shipping have played an important role in the development of California. Industrial facilities, particularly those that came into existence during the war production period, regard economic transportation of raw materials and finished products as of major importance. Without such transportation, it is claimed that California-produced goods cannot successfully compete with other goods on Eastern markets, thereby limiting production to a level of supply for adjacent areas and seriously curtailing their power to maintain high levels of employment for California's war-developed population growth.

Shipping officials are inclined to regard the present position of coastal and intercoastal water commerce as poor compared with pre-war years. Increased labor costs and inadequate rate structures are claimed to be the reasons why this industry has been reduced from a profitable to a nonprofitable operation.

According to the Pacific American Steamship Association, representing the majority of American lines on the Pacific Coast, estimates are that 69.7 percent of all cargo handled in California ports in the next few years will be in foreign trade, as distinguished from intercoastal, coastwise, and territorial shipping.

The effect of this is that the estimated 20,000 maritime jobs in California steamship lines and allied industries, as well as California's extensive harbor facilities, will depend on foreign trade for 70 percent of all pay roll and revenue. Shipping officials claim this to be a reversal of pre-war years when domestic shipping comprised approximately two-thirds of the total shipping volume.

It is the opinion of the waterborne shipping industry that the legislative bodies of this State should carefully examine laws and regulations relating to coastwise, intercoastal, territorial and foreign trade, with a view to determine whether or not such regulations are in the best interests of industrial security and continuing expansion and development. While chambers of commerce and other similar institutions and organizations are engaged in ascertaining ways and means of promoting foreign trade, it is felt that the state legislative bodies can lend much assistance and encouragement to California industry and agriculture as well as the shipping industry by making a study for the purpose of determining methods whereby the State of California can encourage expansion of foreign trade and security of coastal and intercoastal water commerce.

Labor

Labor representatives appearing before this committee call for some sort of retirement or pension plan for older workers, although no specific plan is set forth. Generally, labor appears to be opposed to any complete worker registration with the California Employment Bureau, basing such opposition on the grounds that all labor contracts have agreements between the contracting parties setting forth that first contact for labor supply shall be the Union. However, it must also be remembered that such contracts cover only organized workers and do not encompass the needs of nonunion workers.

Labor also expresses interest in extension of existing unemployment insurance to other fields of endeavor, as well as developing programs for sickness and general disability benefits

Summary

Set forth in the foreword of this report is the statement that much of this committee's earlier investigations revealed an attitude of "depression expectancy," and that since such attitudes have logically alternated with the stabilizing of employment, economic, and industrial conditions, this report must of necessity be regarded in that light.

T. Fenton Knight, Chairman of this Postwar Rehabilitation Committee, is also a member of both the Property Acquisition Board and State Public Works Board. These boards have the responsibility of acquiring sites and allocating the $154,000,000 appropriated for the public works program at the Special Legislative Session in January, 1946. He has conveyed such material in this report as has been pertinent to the proper conduct of the affairs of the Property Acquisition Board and the State Public Works Board, and thus maintained a close cooperation between these executive and legislative agencies dealing with a common problem. Since much, if not most, of the State's rehabilitation effort must be made in the direction of projects which may be identified all inclusively as "Public Works," it appears that further investigations by the Postwar Rehabilitation Committee can only result in a duplication of effort and objective.

It must be regarded that this Postwar Rehabilitation Interim Committee has performed an important function, ready, as it has been during the early and critical days of the postwar period, to meet any emergency that might occur. Constant contact has been maintained with the Reconstruction and Reemployment Commission of the Governor and the Senate Interim Committee on Public Works. Had a crisis or series of crises developed during the earlier postwar period, it would have been the obligation of this committee to cope with such emergent problems, doing its utmost to minimize stresses of unemployment. This primary obligation has been met and this committee, during the period of its existence, has kept constantly informed as to trends and has been fully prepared to meet any emergency.

Conclusions

Based on its investigations and analyses of testimony, this committee concludes as follows:

1. That it is the responsibility of other existing committees, specifically charged with the task of researching every individual field covered in this general report, to make necessary findings and legislative recommendations.

2. That the principal function of this committee has been to study conditions generally and remain available for general public and legislative assistance in the event of an emergency.

3. That the committee has fully discharged its duties and is therefore prepared for dissolution.

4. That any continuing assignment of this committee will only result in overlapping the activities and jurisdictions of other committees now and hereafter engaged in covering each field of public and general state interest specifically.

REPORT OF SUBCOMMITTEE ON GOVERNMENTAL EFFICIENCY AND ECONOMY

March 18, 1947

Mr. Speaker and Members of the Assembly

Our attention has been called to a statement made by Chairman Woollomes of the Kern County Board of Supervisors to the effect that the county administration had not been permitted to defend itself in the hearing of the legislative committee's investigation of the administration of the Kern General Hospital. The following is submitted as a Preliminary Report of the Subcommittee and in answer to the statement made by Mr. Woollomes.

Section 9410 of the Government Code provides that any person sworn and examined before a legislative committee cannot be held to answer criminally or be subject to any penalty or forfeiture for any act or fact touching which he is required to testify.

Abundant evidence was adduced at the committee hearing which, in the opinion of the committee, warranted:

1. Prosecution of Dr. Rhoden for practicing medicine without a license in California;

2. Prosecution of Dr. Rhoden for using the letters "Dr." and "M.D." in violation of the Medical Practice Act of the State of California;

3. Prosecution of Dr. Rhoden for obtaining the blood of Mrs. Moats, Mrs. Wolford, and Mrs. Beacham by false pretenses or by trick and device;

4. Prosecution of Dr. Rhoden for appropriating to his own use the blood belonging to the Kern General Hospital;

5. Prosecution of Dr. Rilcoff for aiding and abetting Dr. Rhoden in the latter's practicing medicine without a license in California;

6. Prosecution of Dr. Rilcoff for aiding and abetting Dr. Rhoden in violating the Medical Practice Act by using the letters "Dr." and "M.D.";

7. Prosecution of Dr. Rilcoff for aiding and abetting approximately 10 or more persons to practice medicine at the Kern General Hospital without those persons having a license in California.

From the evidence presented to the committee, it was obvious that both the District Attorney of Kern County, and the members of the board of supervisors had in their possession, or could have obtained by proper investigation, evidence which would have supported those charges. The record shows, however, that, up to the time of the hearing, both Dr. Rhoden and Dr. Rilcoff were still on the pay roll of the Kern General Hospital.

Both the district attorney, and the board of supervisors, are responsible to the people for their official acts and omissions, and if they be derelict in their duty, they are answerable under the law.

The committee is of the opinion that neither the district attorney, nor the members of the board of supervisors (with the exception of Supervisor Salzar), properly performed the duties imposed upon them by law in the investigation of this matter.

Under the provisions of the Government Code above mentioned, if Dr. Rhoden and Dr. Rilcoff had been examined by the committee as to the charges made against them, each would have been immune from prosecution on those charges. Likewise, if the members of the board of supervisors had been examined as witnesses before the committee as to the administration of the hospital and their connection with the Rhoden matter, no action looking toward their removal from office for dereliction of duty could ever be brought against them, should the evidence warrant such action.

Because this matter is so vital to the people of the State of California, and to the lives and health and welfare of the residents of Kern County, the committee felt that it should not take the responsibility of granting immunity to these persons, under the circumstances disclosed by this investigation.

However, it might be mentioned in passing that, insofar as any "defense" by the board of supervisors is concerned, the committee did hear the testimony of Norman Main, the assistant district attorney, who defended not only the inaction of the district attorney in this matter, but also the inaction of the board of supervisors; and the committee did hear also the testimony of the board's legal representative Norbert Baumgarten, County Counsel for Kern County, who was fully questioned concerning the board's connection with the Rhoden matter, and who was a member of the committee of the board of supervisors appointed to investigate the charges against Dr. Rhoden and the administration of the Kern General Hospital, and who prepared the report of the committee "whitewashing" Dr. Rhoden and Dr. Rilcoff and the board of supervisors.

Mr. Speaker and Members of the Assembly, the other members of the subcommittee join in the above statement.

Respectfully submitted.

COMMUNICATIONS

By Speaker Collins:

The following communication was received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal in 10-point type:

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS, COUNTY OF KERN
BAKERSFIELD, CALIFORNIA, March 13, 1947

Mr. W. E. James,
Member of the State Assembly, Sacramento, California

DEAR MR. JAMES: We are enclosing certified copy of resolution in re Assembly hospital investigation, which was adopted by the Board of Supervisors of Kern County, on March 10th.

Yours very truly,
R. J. VEON, County Clerk and Clerk of the Board

BEFORE THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE COUNTY OF KERN, STATE OF CALIFORNIA

IN RE: ASSEMBLY HOSPITAL INVESTIGATION

RESOLUTION

March 10, 1947

On motion of Supervisor Harty, seconded by Supervisor Noon, the following resolution was adopted by the Board of Supervisors of the County of Kern this tenth day of March, 1947:

WHEREAS, Supervisor W. R. Woollomes of this county presented the following statement to the board of supervisors on the third day of March, 1947, which statement has been filed in the records of this board:

"Let the records of our board show that for two days following the twenty-fifth day of February, 1947, I sat through an investigation of certain activities of the Kern General Hospital by a Subcommittee of the Assembly Committee on Governmental Efficiency and Economy. The proceeding was peculiar in that, while it called for a legal determination of whether a wrong had been committed, no one trained in law was a member of the investigating body, and that while the proceedings involved the interpretation of a contract of employment, no one was called who had first-hand knowledge of the contract, although at least four such witnesses were subpenaed and were constantly present.

"At the conclusion of the hearing, a most 'astounding and startling' thing occurred. Instantly following the last person heard, the chairman pronounced what was tantamount to a legal pronouncement and proceeded with a denunciation of the superintendent of our hospital, and three members of this board and a former member of this board. The astounding and startling thing was this, not one of these officials and former official was called to testify or otherwise explain the conditions for which they were so bitterly criticized, and when one of them rose in indignation and asked to be heard, he was bluntly told by the chairman that the hearing was over. Mr. Chairman, I protest such unfair, and arbitrary action and the attack on the integrity of this board and of the hospital committee that investigated the same conditions. I ask that an immediate investigation be made to determine those responsible for this so-called investigation by this outside committee, and that the Assemblyman and Senator from this county, and the supervisors' association make a formal protest to our State Assembly and Senate for the summary manner in which this investigation was conducted, and the arbitrary action of the committee, and hereby offer such a resolution."

Now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Board of Supervisors of the County of Kern, As follows:

1. That this board of supervisors concurs in the sentiments expressed by the said statement of Supervisor Woollomes.

2. That this board protests against unfair and arbitrary manner of the conduct of the hearing by the Subcommittee on Hospital Management of the Assembly Committee on Governmental Efficiency and Economy held in Bakersfield February 25th to February 27th, inclusive, under the chairmanship of Assemblyman C. Don Field.

3. That this board voice this protest to the Legislature of this State and ask that an investigation be made by the said Legislature to determine who is responsible for this investigation, whether any lawful purpose prompted it and why it was conducted without giving those attacked by its findings an opportunity to be heard.

4. That the Legislature be further asked to make such necessary changes in its rules to prevent the recurrence of the violation of fundamental constitutional principles by the holding of committee hearings in such an injudicial manner.

5. That copies of this resolution be sent to Assemblyman W. E. James and Senator J. R. Dorsey from this county with request for the aid of each of said gentlemen.

6. That copies of this resolution be sent to the Governor and to the Attorney General of this State.

7. That a copy be sent to the State Supervisors Association requesting its help in voicing the protest of this board to the Legislature of this State.

The foregoing resolution was passed and adopted by the following vote, to wit:

Ayes: Woollomes, Harty, Barnes, Noon.

Noes: Salzer.

Absent: None.

I, R. J. VEON, County Clerk and ex Officio Clerk of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Kern, State of California, do hereby certify that the foregoing resolution was passed by said board at its regular meeting on the tenth day of March, 1947, and adopted by the vote referred to therein.

Amendment No. 1

In the title of the printed bill, insert "declaring the urgency thereof, to take effect immediately."

Amendment No. 2

On page 1 of the printed bill, following line 11, insert

"SEC. 2. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health or safety within the meaning of Section 1 of Article 4 of the Constitution and shall therefore go into immediate effect. A statement of the facts constituting such necessity is as follows:

Veterans are entitled to the benefits of the Servicemen's Readjustment Act of 1944, including the loan guarantee provisions, regardless of age, but under California law those veterans who are minors cannot take advantage of said loan provisions for purchase or construction of a home because they are prohibited from entering into a legal contract. This brings about the incongruous situation of a veteran being old enough to fight for his Country but too young to take advantage of the benefits granted him by that Country. Many veterans will be deprived of homes which they already have arranged to purchase, in the belief that they were eligible to do so, unless they are immediately granted the right to enter into the required contractual agreements for such purchases."

Amendments read, and adopted.

Bill ordered reprinted, and engrossed.

Assembly Bill No. 895—An act to repeal Sections 212 and 213 of the Military and Veterans Code, relating to the inactive National Guard and honorary members in the National Guard and to amend Sections 16, 127, 142, 173, 183, 210, 224, 228, 256, 365, 394, 398, 417, 439, 470, and 644 of the Military and Veterans Code, relating to the administration of military oaths, assignment of military command, the employment of the military forces in the performance of necessary military duties, the publications of military material, the issuance of military property, the inactive National Guard, the priority of rank of military officers, the retirement of military officers and enlisted men, the temporary direction of the military forces by civil officers, discrimination against military personnel, the creation of an offense for trespass upon military grounds, armories or military places, the transportation of military personnel and material, county aid for the National Guard, the delivery of military personnel to civil authorities and the issuance of service medals.

COMMUNICATIONS

The following telegrams were received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

By Speaker pro Tempore Maloney:

SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA, March 19, 1947

Thomas A. Maloney
Assemblyman, Assembly Chamber
State Capitol, Sacramento, California

San Francisco Veterans Housing Committee requests you call for session of California State Assembly for 30 minutes Monday, March 24th, between 11 a.m. and 12 noon, to give representatives of all major veteran organizations in California an opportunity to present their program for veterans housing.

HENRY A. HARRIS
Northern California Regional Coordinator
Veteran Housing Motorcade

By Speaker Collins:

SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA, March 19, 1947

Speaker of the Assembly
Sacramento, California

Department of California Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States repudiate allegation they are sponsors of so-called housing caravan marching on Sacramento. Officially we know nothing of this activity.

CHAS. P. ASH, Department Commander
California Veterans of Foreign Wars

By Speaker Collins:

SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA, March 19, 1947

Speaker of the Assembly
State Capitol, Sacramento, California

The American Legion Department of California hereby give notice that the reported project of the housing march on the State Capitol scheduled for March 23d is in no way authorized, sponsored, or approved by the American Legion. Our organization is vitally interested in the improvement of veteran's housing conditions, but we feel the proposed method is ill advised. Furthermore the American Legion will at all times speak for itself, and it should be understood that our organization never has and does not now affiliate itself with any policy-making body. The use of the name the American Legion in the proposed march is unauthorized.

DON CLARKE, Adjutant Department of California
ED J. SHARKEY, National Vice Commander, the American Legion

MOTION TO SET SPECIAL ORDER

Mr. McCollister moved that the matter relating to the San Francisco Veterans Housing Committee be made a special order of business for Monday, March 24, 1947, at 11.45 a.m.; and that at that time a recess be declared for 10 minutes for the purpose of holding a hearing thereon.

Mr. Maloney seconded the motion.

Substitute Motion

Mr. Stewart moved that the matter relating to the San Francisco Veterans Housing Committee be referred to the Committee on Military Affairs.

Mr. Knight seconded the motion.

Demand for Previous Question

Messrs. Robertson, Lowrey, Hahn, Doyle, and Grunsky demanded the previous question.

Demand for previous question sustained.

The question being on the motion by Mr. Stewart to refer the matter relating to the San Francisco Veterans Housing Committee to the Committee on Military Affairs.

The roll was called, and the motion lost by the following vote:

AYES—Butters, Cramer, Grant, Knight, Sherwin, Stewart, and Mr. Speaker—7.

NOES—Allen, Anderson, Beck, Bennett, Berry, Blosser, Brady, Brown, Burns, Caldecott, Clarke, Collier, George D. Collins, Conrad, Cooke, Crowley, Lester T. Davis, Debs, Clayton A. Dills, Ralph C. Dills, Dolwig, Doyle, Dunn, Erwin, Evans, Fletcher, Gaffney, Gannon, Geddes, Grunsky, Hahn, Hawkins, Heisinger, Hinckley, Huyck, James, Johnson, Kilpatrick, Kirkwood, Loomis, Lowrey, Luckel, Maloney, McCollister, McMillan, Miller, Niehouse, Price, Robertson, Rosenthal, Silliman, Stanley, Stephenson, Thomas, Thompson, Thorp, Thurman, Waters, and Wollenberg—59.

Demand for Previous Question

Messrs. Robertson, Lowrey, Hahn, Caldecott, and Lester T. Davis demanded the previous question.

Demand for previous question sustained.

The question being on the motion by Mr. McCollister to set the matter relating to the San Francisco Veterans Housing Committee as a special order of business for Monday, March 24th.

The roll was called, and the motion carried by the following vote:

AYES—Allen, Anderson, Beck, Bennett, Berry, Blosser, Brady, Brown, Caldecott, Clarke, Collier, George D. Collins, Conrad, Cooke, Crichton, Crowley, Lester T. Davis, Debs, Dickey, Clayton A. Dills, Ralph C. Dills, Dolwig, Doyle, Dunn, Erwin, Evans, Field, Fletcher, Gaffney, Gannon, Grunsky, Hahn, Hawkins, Heisinger, Hinckley, Huyck, James, Johnson, Kilpatrick, Kirkwood, Loomis, Lowrey, Luckel, Maloney, McCollister, McMillan, Miller, Niehouse, Price, Robertson, Rosenthal, Silliman, Stanley, Stephenson, Thomas, Thompson, Thorp, Thurman, Waters, and Wollenberg—60.

NOES—Butters, Cramer, Geddes, Grant, Knight, and Mr. Speaker—6.

Explanation of Vote

The vote opposing the above motion is in no way a denial of the constitutional right of the people to peacefully assemble and petition the Legislature—but only on the propriety of using the Assembly Chamber for such purpose, a practice which if extended can interfere seriously with our labors.

ERNEST R. GEDDES
GEO. R. BUTTERS
T. FENTON KNIGHT
HOWARD K. CRAMER
SAM L. COLLINS

Explanation of Vote

I voted "No" on the motion to allow the veterans to be heard in the Assembly March 24th, because I did not believe that they would have had ample time to properly present their problem.

I have never been in favor of denying any one the right to be properly heard.

COMMUNICATIONS

By Speaker Collins:

The following telegrams were received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA, March 19, 1947

Speaker of the State Assembly
Sacramento, California

May we take this method of informing you and the State Legislature that the American Legion San Francisco County Council has not sponsored any proposed march to the State Capitol relative to the veterans housing situation. We have not sponsored this proposed trip, rather, to the contrary, we are opposed to the procedure. Any use of the name San Francisco County Council American Legion by any individual or groups in connection with this particular trip is wholly unauthorized.

FRED COULMAN, Commander.

SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA, March 19, 1947

Speaker, State Assembly of California
Sacramento, California

This will call to your attention that apparently certain groups are purporting to be veterans organizations have proposed a motorcade or other means of going to the State Capitol of California for the purpose of contacting the Governor or Members of the State Legislature relative to veterans housing conditions. Please be advised that while the Jewish war veterans are for remedying conditions for veterans, nevertheless we do not sponsor this type of action; and, therefore, desire to inform you that we, as an organization, are in no manner whatsoever a part of this proposed caravan, nor do we sponsor in any other manner nor have any connection with it.

Consideration of Committee Amendments

The following amendments were proposed by the Committee on Social Welfare:

Amendment No. 1

In line 3 of the title of the printed bill, strike out the period, and insert ", and declaring the urgency thereof, to take effect immediately."

Amendment No. 2

On page 1 of said bill, strike out line 22, and insert

"SEC. 2. It is and always has been the intent of the Legislature that the United States Government shall receive its proportionate share of moneys refunded by or on behalf of recipients of aid to the aged.

SEC. 3. Section 2186 of said code is amended to read:".

Amendment No. 3

On page 2, line 27, of said bill, strike out "SEC. 3.", and insert "SEC. 4."

Amendment No. 4

On page 2 of said bill, after line 30, insert

"SEC. 5. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health or safety within the meaning of Section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution and shall therefore go into immediate effect. A statement of the facts constituting such necessity is as follows:

Amendments to the Federal Social Security Act, effective October 1, 1946, have increased federal participation in certain grants of aid to the aged to an amount in excess of one-half of the amount of the grant to the recipient, thereby changing the formula upon which the provisions of the Welfare and Institutions Code amended by this act were based.

The rules of the Federal Social Security Administration require that a proportionate share of refunds collected be returned to the Federal Treasury. Inability of this State to comply with this requirement will jeopardize the receipt of federal grants-in-aid for old age security aid, and the discontinuance of such grants would disrupt the entire program for aid to the aged, reduce the amount of many grants, and render many recipients ineligible to continue to receive aid. To prevent the resultant hardship and confusion, it is necessary that this act take effect immediately."

Amendments read, and adopted.

Bill ordered reprinted, and engrossed.

Assembly Bill No. 721—An act to amend Section 3051 of, and to add Section 3052 to, the Welfare and Institutions Code, relating to the prevention and cure of blindness, and to the powers and duties of the Department of Social Welfare in connection therewith.

COMMUNICATIONS

By Mr. Anderson:

The following opinion of the Legislative Counsel was received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

Opinion of Legislative Counsel

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL
SACRAMENTO, March 19, 1947

Designation of Legislative Sessions—No. 3240

Honorable Glenn M. Anderson
Assembly Chamber

DEAR MR. ANDERSON: You have asked us to advise you how legislative sessions should be designated in order that they may be properly identified in view of the adoption of the amendment to Section 2 of Article IV of the Constitution to provide for annual sessions. This section of the Constitution now provides in part that:

"All regular sessions in odd numbered years shall be known as general sessions.

"All regular sessions in even numbered years shall be known as budget sessions * * *"

It will be observed that each annual session is a "regular" session regardless of whether it is a general session or a budget session.

It therefore appears that the session to be held in 1948 will be the Fifty-eighth Regular Session of the Legislature and the session in 1949 will be the Fifty-ninth Regular Session. (The 1948 session could, however, be designated the "Regular Budget Session of the Fifty-seventh Legislature," and the 1949 session the "Regular General Session of the Fifty-eighth Legislature," but this form of designation has been used only occasionally.)

An examination of the statutes indicates that sessions have most commonly been designated by the number of the session. However, they are sometimes also designated the "Regular Session of the_____Legislature." The reason for this style appears to be that special sessions have become more frequent and are commonly bound in the same volume with the statutes of a regular session. Thus, the fly leaf of the Statutes of 1945 refers to the laws passed at the Third and Fourth Extraordinary Sessions of the Fifty-fifth Legislature, 1944, and the Regular Session of the Fifty-sixth Legislature, 1945. However, the heading on the page where the statutes of the 1945 regular session commences reads "Statutes of California Passed at the Fifty-sixth Session of the Legislature."

It so happens that the number of regular sessions and the number of legislatures has been the same to date. During the early years of the history of the State when annual sessions were held, the Members of the Assembly were elected for one-year terms and the Senate for two-year terms. When the Constitution was changed to provide for biennial sessions the terms of the members were changed to two and four years respectively. Hereafter, however, there will be two regular sessions of the Legislature during which the membership will be the same.

Generally speaking, the manner in which the sessions are designated is a question of style and is important only insofar as uniformity is desirable in the records of the houses of the Legislature to avoid confusion. There are, however, occasional references to sessions in the statutes, such as in duration clauses, providing that a statute remains in force only until a given time after a designated session. Any such provision should be carefully checked to ascertain whether it is ambiguous or whether it may terminate sooner than anticipated.

There is no constitutional or statutory requirement as to the manner in which sessions of the Legislature are designated. If the Legislature should so desire it can refer to the "1948 Regular Session," or the "1948 Budget Session," or the "1948 Regular Budget Session," and similarly to the 1949 Session, without designating them as the Fifty-eighth or Fifty-ninth Sessions or as the Budget Session of the Fifty-seventh Legislature or General Session of the Fifty-eighth Legislature. One obvious advantage in doing so is that such a designation conveys a great deal more information to all persons except those closely connected with the Legislature.

In order to insure uniformity and to serve as a guide to the members and officers of the Legislature and others interested, it would be appropriate to include the subject of manner of designating legislative sessions in the Joint Rules of the Legislature.

Very truly yours,

FRED B. WOOD, Legislative Counsel
By LAWRENCE G. ALLYN, Deputy

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolution was offered:

By Mr. Thomas:

House Resolution No. 118

Relating to expenditure of moneys derived from the license fee on fish

WHEREAS, On January 28, 1947, this Assembly adopted House Resolution No. 65 requesting the Fish and Game Commission to transmit to this Assembly not later than the reconvening of the Fifty-seventh Session following the constitutional recess a report and an accounting of all sums of money expended and the purpose for which they were expended since 1935 by the Fish and Game Commission pursuant to Section 1019 of the Fish and Game Code; and

WHEREAS, A report pursuant to such House resolution has been received and is set forth in the Assembly Journal for March 18, 1947; and

WHEREAS, The information contained in such report does not give to the Members of this Assembly the most full and complete information possible concerning the fishing industries and action taken by the State of California concerning them insofar as expenditures pursuant to Section 1019 of the Fish and Game Code are involved; and

WHEREAS, Section 1019 of the Fish and Game Code provides for the expenditure of moneys from the license fee for certain fish within the districts from which the revenues are derived and subdivision (d) of Section 2 of the Fish and Game Code defines a district for the purposes of that code as a fish and game district; and

WHEREAS, The Report of the Fish and Game Commission indicates that the expenditure of moneys pursuant to Section 1019 indicates that it was expended in Northern California, Monterey, and Southern California, which indefinite areas of the State are not fish and game districts under the law of this State; and

WHEREAS, The Report of the Fish and Game Commission indicates that the Legislature should be advised of the accounting methods followed by the Fish and Game Commission in order to comply with Section 1019 and other provisions of the Fish and Game Code and of the financial practices related thereto; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Fish and Game Commission is requested to transmit to this Assembly at the earliest possible date all of the following information:

(a) An itemized accounting of all moneys expended pursuant to Section 1019 of the Fish and Game Code since July 1, 1935, classified as to the object of such expenditure in accordance with the objects indicated in Section 1019 and further classified to show the amount of money expended for each such object in each fish and game district established as such pursuant to law;

(b) An itemized accounting of all moneys expended pursuant to the last sentence of Section 1015 and Section 1016.5 of the Fish and Game Code giving as complete itemization thereof as is possible;

(c) A complete explanation of the deficit shown to exist on June 30, 1935, and on June 30, 1946, by the report hereinbefore referred to, indicating how such deficit was created, the law pursuant to which it was created, the reason for the estimated increase in such deficit, and the means by which it is proposed eventually to meet such deficit;

(d) A full statement of the accounting procedures followed by the Fish and Game Commission in connection with the expenditure of moneys pursuant to Article 2 of Chapter 5 of Part 2 of Division 4 of the Fish and Game Code; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly immediately transmit copies of this resolution to the members of the Fish and Game Commission, and to Mr. Emil J. N. Ott, Jr., Executive Secretary of said commission.

ASSEMBLY CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, March 21, 1947

MR. SPEAKER: Your Committee on Legislative Procedure has examined:
Assembly Bill No. 2273

And reports the same correctly engrossed.

WEBER, Chairman

Above reported bill ordered to third reading.

RECOMMENDATION OF THE GOVERNOR

In accordance with Article IV, Section 34, of the Constitution, the Governor presented the following communication recommending the passage of Assembly Bill No. 2273:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE
SACRAMENTO, March 17, 1947

To the Honorable Members of the Assembly
Sacramento, California

GENTLEMEN:

Assembly Bill No. 2273—"An act to provide for a comprehensive survey of the System of Publicly Supported Higher Education in California, including the junior colleges, the state colleges and the University of California and making an appropriation therefor, declaring the urgency thereof, to take effect immediately,"

in my opinion constitutes an emergency bill within the meaning of that term as used in Section 34, of Article IV, of the Constitution of the State of California, the consideration of which should not await the final enactment of the Budget Bill.

I therefore recommend consideration of Assembly Bill No. 2273 as an emergency measure.

Respectfully submitted.

EARL WARREN, Governor

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolution was offered:

By Messrs. Gannon and Stephenson:

Assembly Resolution No. 120

Relative to George E. Zoller

WHEREAS, The news of the sudden death on March 20, 1947, of George E. Zoller has been received with profound regret and shock by the Members of this Assembly, among whom he had many close personal friends; and

WHEREAS, A native of Sacramento and descended of a pioneer family which settled here early in the eighteen fifties, George E. Zoller was at the time of his death 53 years of age and had long been a leader in the social, political, and civic life of Sacramento where his loss will be keenly felt and his death sincerely mourned by all who knew him; and

WHEREAS, At the time of his death George E. Zoller was President of the Capital National Bank, where he began his banking career 37 years ago and succeeded the founder of the bank as president in 1944, was a member of the Board of Directors of the California-Western States Life Insurance Company, and held also a number of offices in other financial enterprises in several California communities; and

WHEREAS, As a member of the committees on legislation and taxation and commodity loans of the California Bankers Association, he was well known in banking circles throughout the United States; and

WHEREAS, A veteran of World War I, George E. Zoller was a charter member of Sacramento Post No. 1 of the American Legion, and also belonged to the Sacramento Lodge of Elks and to the Sutter Club, to the Shrine, the Sciots, and to the Native Sons of the Golden West, and was active in Republican Party activities; and

WHEREAS, George E. Zoller was an enthusiastic sportsman, being a boxing fan and a hunter as well as a handball enthusiast, in which game he was participating at the time of his death; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Members of this Assembly express their sorrow in the loss of a friend, and regret that such a fine man and leader has been lost to Sacramento and to the State of California; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly send suitably prepared copies of this resolution as an expression of the deep sympathy the Members of this Assembly extend to the widow of George E. Zoller, Mrs. Esther Zoller, and to his sister, Mrs. Zelma Lauppe; and be it further Resolved, That when this Assembly this day adjourns it do so out of respect to the memory of George E. Zoller.

Request for Unanimous Consent

Mr. Gannon asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent to take up House Resolution No. 120, at this time, without reference to committee or file.

Resolution read, and adopted unanimously.

COMMUNICATIONS

By Mr. Thomas:

The following telegram was received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA, March 20, 1947

Vincent Thomas
Assembly Chamber, Sacramento, California

Wire services are carrying the story today that you authored resolution calling on Fish and Game Commission for a full accounting of expenditures of license fees since 1935. Surely after four terms in the Legislature you are aware that the commission does not have its own accounting department and accounting is done by the Departmental Accounting Office in the Department of Natural Resources under the supervision of Dan Blood. Under these circumstances it would seem to me that your resolution is improperly directed and should have been directed to the Director of Natural Resources, General Warren T. Hannum

LEE F. PAYNE

RECESS

At 11.30 a.m., on motion of Mr. Dickey, the Assembly recessed until 2 p.m.

REASSEMBLED

At 2 p.m., the Assembly reconvened.
Hon. Sam L. Collins, Speaker of the Assembly, presiding.
Chief Clerk Arthur A. Ohnimus at the desk.

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT THAT ASSEMBLY BILL NO. 1091 BE TAKEN UP, OUT OF ORDER

Mr. Beck asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent that Assembly Bill No. 1091 be taken up, out of order, at this time, for purpose of amendment.

CONSIDERATION OF ASSEMBLY BILL NO. 1091

Assembly Bill No. 1091—An act to add Section 4156d to the Political Code, relating to district attorneys.

Bill read third time.

Motion to Amend

Mr. Beck moved the adoption of the following amendments:

Amendment No. 1

In line 1 of the title of the printed bill, after "Code", insert "and Section 26542 to the Government Code".

Amendment No. 2

On page 1 of said bill, after line 10, insert

"SEC. 2. Section 26542 is added to the Government Code, to read:

26542. If the office of district attorney is vacant the duties of the office may be temporarily discharged by a chief deputy district attorney, assistant or deputy district attorney, as the case may be, next in authority to the district attorney, in office at the time the vacancy occurs, with like authority and subject to the same obligations and penalties as the district attorney, until the vacancy in the office is filled in the manner provided by law.

SEC. 3. Section 2 of this act becomes operative only if Title 3 of the Government Code is enacted by the Legislature at its Fifty-seventh Regular General Session, and in such case at the same time as said Title 3 takes effect; at which time Section 4156d of the Political Code, added by this act, is hereby repealed."

Amendments read, and adopted.

Bill ordered reprinted, and re-engrossed.

Request for Unanimous Consent That Assembly Bill No. 1091 Hold Its Place on File

Mr. Beck asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent that Assembly Bill No. 1091 hold its place on file, on the next legislative day.

PRINTER'S NOTE—There being no 7-point strikeout type available, the material which should appear in strikeout type in the following amendments is indicated by being enclosed within brackets.

Amendment No. 1

On page 5 of the printed bill, strike out lines 29 to 50, inclusive, and insert

"225. Suspending or Revoking Certificate or Special Plates. (a) The department after notice and hearing may suspend [or], revoke or refuse to renew a certificate or the special plates issued to a manufacturer, transporter, or dealer upon determining that any said person is not lawfully entitled thereto [or], has made or knowingly or negligently permitted any illegal use of such plates [or], has committed fraud in the registration of vehicles [or], has failed to give notices of transfers when and as required by this code [or], has failed to deliver to a transferee lawfully entitled thereto a properly endorsed certificate of ownership[ ], or has used duplicate dealers reports of sale contrary to the provisions of Section 237 (b). The department after notice and hearing may also suspend [or], revoke or refuse to renew the certificate and special plates issued to a dealer when such dealer has received as transferee a properly endorsed certificate of ownership and the registration card of a vehicle which he holds for resale if such dealer operates or moves the same on the highway without displaying thereon his special plates or without complying with Section 177.

(b) The department may pending a hearing, temporarily suspend or refuse to renew the certificates or special plates issued to a manufacturer, transporter, or dealer, for a period not to exceed 30 days, if the director finds that such action is required in the public interest. In any such case a hearing shall be held and a decision thereon issued within 30 days after notice of the temporary suspension.

(c) Every hearing as provided for in the section shall be pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 5, Part 1, Division 3, Title 2 of the Government Code."

Amendment No. 2

On page 6 of the printed bill, strike out lines 38 to 41, inclusive, and insert

"(b) The department may authorize dealers certificated under Section 206 to issue a duplicate copy of the dealers report of sale form distributed by the department for display on the windshield of a vehicle sold by such dealer. The department shall promulgate and publish rules and regulations relating to the use of said duplicate copy of dealers reports of sale. When used pursuant to such rules and regulations the vehicle upon which the duplicate copy of the report of sale is displayed may be operated for a period not to exceed 10 days without the card permit or plates provided for herein. The dealer shall, as a penalty to the State, forfeit three dollars ($3) for each such duplicate report of sale used by him contrary to the provisions of this section or affixed by him to a vehicle other than that for which issued."

Amendment No. 3

To the bill add the following:

"SEC. 21. Section 225.1 is added to the Vehicle Code, to read:

225.1. Procedure Upon Refusal to Issue Certificates or Special Plates to Manufacturers, Transporters or Dealers—Hearings.

(a) Upon refusal of the department to issue a certificate or special plates to a manufacturer, transporter or dealer the applicant shall be entitled to demand in writing a hearing before the director or his representative within 60 days after notice of refusal.

(b) The hearing shall be conducted pursuant to Chapter 5, Part 1, Division 3, Title 2 of the Government Code."

245.5. Suspending, [or] Revoking or Refusing to Renew Certificate, License or Special Plates Issued to Automobile Wrecker. (a) The department may suspend, [or] revoke or refuse to renew a certificate or license, or the special plates issued to an automobile wrecker, upon determining that any such automobile wrecker is not lawfully entitled thereto or has made, or knowingly or negligently permitted, any illegal use of such plates, license or certificate, or has committed fraud in the registration of vehicles, or failed to give notices of transfers when and as required of him by this code, or has failed to surrender to the department license plates or certificates for vehicles wrecked or dismantled.

(b) The department may pending a hearing, temporarily suspend or refuse to renew the certificate, license or special plates issued to an automobile wrecker for a period not to exceed 30 days, if the director finds that such action is required in the public interest. In any such case a hearing shall be held and a decision thereon issued within 30 days after notice of the temporary suspension.

(c) Every hearing as provided for in this section shall be pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 5, Part 1, Division 3, Title 2 of the Government Code."

Amendment No. 5

To the bill add the following:

"SEC. 23. Section 245.6 is added to the Vehicle Code, to read:

245.6. Procedure upon Refusal to Issue Certificates, License or Special Plates to Automobile Wreckers—Hearings.

(a) Upon refusal of the department to issue a certificate, license or special plate to an automobile wrecker the applicant shall be entitled to demand in writing a hearing before the director or his representative within 60 days after notice of refusal.

(b) The hearing shall be conducted pursuant to Chapter 5, Part 1, Division 3, Title 2 of the Government Code."

Amendment No. 6

On page 2 of the printed bill, strike out lines 13 to 17, inclusive, and insert

"If the application for a transfer is made in the manner provided in this code the department shall not be required to withhold the transfer of any right, title or interest in or to a vehicle if the application on its face appears to be genuine and regular and the department has not received from any law enforcement agency a request that action on the application be deferred unless an order of a competent court restraining such transfer has been filed with the department".

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolution was offered:

House Resolution No. 121

Relative to traveling expenses of state employees

WHEREAS, The increase in the cost of living, aggravated by the removal of price controls on many items and services, has been recognized by the Legislature in providing for the continued efficient operation of the State Government; and

WHEREAS, It is desirable that full recognition be given to such facts in prescribing maximum amounts for which reimbursement may be claimed by state employees for expenditures made by them in traveling on official state business, since it is contrary to the public policy and detrimental to efficient public service, to require a public employee to expend personal funds in the performance of his official duties for which he is not reimbursed in full; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Board of Control be, and it is hereby directed to make a thorough survey of the rising costs of state employees' traveling expenses, including but not limited to the costs of hotel accommodations, meals and the costs of operating private automobiles, and report thereon to the Legislature within the next 60 days, including in said report a detailed explanation of the compensating adjustments made to meet such increased costs

Resolution read, and referred to the Committee on Rules.

MOTION TO RELAX THE STANDING RULES AND PERMIT VISITORS TO STAND IN REAR OF THE ASSEMBLY CHAMBER

Mr. Dickey moved that the Standing Rules of the Assembly be relaxed, at this time, so that visitors, representing the San Francisco Veterans Committee on Housing, be permitted to stand in the rear of the Assembly Chamber, and that the motion, previously carried, to declare a 10-minute recess be augmented by five minutes.

Motion carried.

APPOINTMENT OF SELECT COMMITTEES

Speaker pro Tempore Maloney announced the appointment of Mr. McCollister as a Select Committee to escort to the rostrum the Hon. Goodwin J. Knight, Lieutenant Governor of the State of California.

Speaker pro Tempore Maloney announced the appointment of Messrs. Grunsky, Allen, Cooke, and Thompson, as a Select Committee to escort to the rostrum Mr. Harper W. Poulson, Chairman of the Association of Veteran Home Buyers.

RECESS

At 11.43 a.m., on motion of Mr. Dickey, the Assembly recessed until 11.58 a.m.

REASSEMBLED

At 11.58 a.m., the Assembly reconvened.

Hon. Thomas A. Maloney, Speaker pro Tempore of the Assembly, presiding.

Chief Clerk Arthur A. Ohnimus at the desk.

MOTION THAT REMARKS BY MR. HARPER W. POULSON BE PRINTED IN THE JOURNAL

Mr. Rosenthal moved that the remarks by Mr. Harper W. Poulson, made during the recess, be ordered printed in the Journal.

Mr. McCollister seconded the motion.

Motion carried.

Remarks Made by Harper W. Poulson, President of the Committee of 1,000 Veteran Home Buyers, Before the Assembly

Mr. Speaker, Mr. President, Members of the Assembly, Members of the Senate, If There Are Senators Present, and I Believe There Are

We have come from all over California representing many groups to place before you a single, simple program of action on housing. At a large rally at the State Fair Grounds last night we elected a committee of six spokesmen and they in turn have chosen me as spokesman for them. I should like the privilege of introducing the other members of this committee who are standing at the rear. They are:

Mr. Alvin M. Joseph, Jr., of Santa Monica, State Vice Chairman, American Veterans Committee,

Mr. William Belton of Los Angeles, Veteran's Committee of Los Angeles C. I. O. Council,

Mr. Jack Reynolds, Business Agent, A. F. of L. Building Trades,

Mr. P. Hendricks of the Howard C. Sperry Post No. 3570, V. F. W., and Mr. J. Stern, Secretary of the State C. I. O. Veteran's Committee.

We are a group of many groups. Every single veterans' organization in California, every single labor organization and practically every community organization of note, has taken a stand unqualifiedly in support of the four-point program which we of the housing caravan bring to Sacramento today.

That program is: 1. The enactment of the law appropriating $100,000,000 for the provision by the State of low rental housing units which veterans and others in desperate need of homes can afford. 2. A further emergency appropriation of $35,000,000 for the provision of immediate temporary emergency housing for some of the 250,000 families in California who are today without a place to live. 3. The enactment of a State Rent Control Act to take the place of faltering federal controls. Rents to be controlled at present ceilings. 4. The enactment of a law outlawing restrictive covenants.

Ladies and gentlemen—it has been said by some leaders in some veterans' organizations that a caravan is not the best method to bring this program before the Legislature of the State. This is a matter of opinion but there is a more important matter and that is that each one of these leaders, in making such a statement, went on to add that his organization was wholeheartedly and solidly behind the four points of the housing caravan program which I have presented to you.

I understand that in 1944 this body found it useful and necessary to pass emergency appropriation of $100,000,000 for beautifying projects, projects that were also useful. I understand that again in 1946 a similar emergency appropriation of nearly $100,000,000 was again found useful and necessary by this body. If there has at any time been an emergency, we have today the emergency that stops them all. The emergency that arises when veterans and nonveterans, their wives and their children have no roof for their heads, no home properly their own. Today 250,000 families in California are the victims of a corrosive situation in which they cannot lead normal lives, raise their children, make their contribution as citizens because they have no home as a basis of operations. It has been said by some people that the housing situation is not as desperate as it has been painted. Gentlemen, in my own group of 1,000 veteran families alone, more than 150 have received eviction notices within the last three months and have no home to which to go. We have veterans living in garages without utilities. Two of our families are living in tents in vacant lots.

Gentlemen, veterans and their wives and children would not leave badly needed jobs, would not make the arduous drive from Los Angeles, Bakersfield and other cities to Sacramento for two days, would not stand up as they are not accustomed to do to speak before their Legislature unless they are confronted with an emergency such as they have not known before. I would ask you to measure the emergency in terms of the men, the women and children who today stand as visitors in this hall, in terms of the sacrifices they have made to come here. It would be easy to say that this is a complex program, that there is some doubt as to what is really wanted by the veterans in other groups. This would be true if we brought you an advance program, a radical program. The program we have outlined is, on the contrary, a program agreed upon in advance by every veteran and other organization in the State. It represents the absolute minimum that is asked, it is only, if you like, the crumbs of the housing program that we desperately need. We are extremely grateful for the opportunity we have had to speak to you today. We hope that you legislators for the people of California will arise and say: "We will not be found wanting," and that you will, in fact, we ask you to recognize that there is an emergency and enact speedily into law this program as the beginning of the answer urgently needed by the homeless hundreds of thousands in this State.

At this point a question was asked by Rep. Thomas of the speaker as to whether reports that members of the housing caravan were a group of Communists were true. The Speaker pro Tempore, Mr. Maloney, ruled that the question was out of order inasmuch as the time voted for the recess had expired, adding that he was convinced there was no need for anyone to ask this question, that it was completely obvious that the charge was without foundation.

Mr. Poulson thanked the body for its attention, and said that he concurred with the Speaker that the matter raised by Mr. Thomas could well be allowed to rest.

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT THAT REMARKS BE PRINTED IN THE JOURNAL

Mr. Thompson asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent that the following remarks be ordered printed in the Journal:

Remarks by Mr. Thompson

Harper Poulson was a member of the famous Ninety-first Infantry Division, Fifth Army, which was at Anzio. Poulson fought at Anzio, across the Arno, up Highway 65, through the German Gothic line, and finally in the break through to the Po Valley which ended the war in Italy. Three battle stars

RECESS

At 12.15 p.m., on motion of Mr. Dickey, the Assembly recessed until 2 p.m.

REASSEMBLED

At 2 p.m., the Assembly reconvened.

Hon. Sam L. Collins, Speaker of the Assembly, presiding.

Chief Clerk Arthur A. Ohnimus at the desk.

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT THAT ASSEMBLY BILL NO. 1999 BE WITHDRAWN FROM THE COMMITTEE ON JUDICIARY, AND BE RE-REFERRED

Mr. Lyons asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent that Assembly Bill No. 1999 be withdrawn from the Committee on Judiciary, and be re-referred to the Committee on Industrial Relations.

Recommendation of the Governor

In accordance with Article IV, Section 34, of the Constitution, the Governor presented the following communication recommending the passage of Assembly Bill No. 432:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE,
SACRAMENTO, March 21, 1947

To the Honorable Members of the Assembly
Sacramento, California

GENTLEMEN:

Assembly Bill No. 432—"An act making an appropriation in augmentation of the appropriation in Item 187 of the Budget Act of 1945, payable from the Motor Vehicle Fund, for support of the Department of Motor Vehicles, to take effect immediately,"

in my opinion constitutes an emergency bill within the meaning of that term as used in Section 34 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California, the consideration of which should not await the final enactment of the Budget Bill.

I therefore recommend consideration of Assembly Bill No. 432 as an emergency measure.

Respectfully submitted.

REPORT OF THE JOINT FACT-FINDING COMMITTEE ON UN-AMERICAN ACTIVITIES IN CALIFORNIA

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, and Members of the 1947 Legislature

The Joint Fact-Finding Committee on Un-American Activities in California of the Fifty-sixth Session of the Legislature was created by Senate Concurrent Resolution 66, adopted in the Senate June 13, 1945, in the Assembly June 15, 1945, and filed with the Secretary of State June 16, 1945.

The committee was granted the sum of $20,000 by the Senate and the Assembly in order to carry on its work. As of January 1, 1947, the committee had a balance left in its appropriation of $771.60.

The resolution creating the committee is as follows:

WHEREAS, These are yet times of public danger. Subversive persons and groups are endangering our domestic unity so as to leave us unprepared to resist attack from without and within. Under color of the protection afforded by the Bill of Rights these persons and groups seek to destroy our freedom by force, violence, threats, undermining and sabotage, and to subject us to the domination of foreign powers and ideologies; and

WHEREAS, There is danger that the ordeal through which the country has suffered to keep the pursuit of its ideals free may be in vain; and

WHEREAS, Persons and groups, motivated by hatred of American ideals, our republican form of government and democratic processes, some bound together by allegiance to foreign powers, are even now seeking to achieve by subversion what we have so valiantly fought to sustain from force; and

WHEREAS, California, as one of the laboratories of this great Nation, may profitably study the problem within its boundaries, and enact pertinent legislation therein, if facts are available therefor; and

WHEREAS, State legislation to meet the problem and to assist law enforcement officers can best be based on a thorough and impartial investigation by a competent and active legislative committee, now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, the Assembly thereof concurring, as follows:

1. The Joint Fact-Finding Committee on Un-American Activities is hereby created, authorized, appointed and directed to investigate, ascertain, collate, appraise, study and analyze all facts directly or indirectly relating to the foregoing, including any facts causing or constituting interference with the National defense program or the war effort in California or rendering the people of the State, as a part of the Nation, less fit physically, mentally, morally, economically or socially.

2. In addition to other duties imposed upon the committee, the committee shall investigate and study the activities of groups and organizations whose membership include persons who are members of organ-

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolution was offered:

By Messrs. Sam L. Collins, Dickey, and Wollenberg:

House Resolution No. 123

Inviting the President of Mexico to Visit California

WHEREAS, His Excellency Licenciado Don Miguel Alémán, the President of the Republic of Mexico, has announced his intention of paying a visit to the United States in the very near future; and

WHEREAS, The people of the State of California and their neighbors in the great republic on the south have been living in harmonious and friendly relationship for many years, and during that time have developed widespread interests in common, culturally, socially, and commercially; and

WHEREAS, An exchange of calls between the heads of the two nations and between the Governors of the various states thereof, tends to encourage more frequent visits by the peoples of the respective countries, thereby cementing more closely the bonds of friendship already existing between them; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That this Assembly heartily joins with His Excellency Earl Warren, the Governor of the State of California, in extending to the President of the Republic of Mexico a cordial invitation to include a visit to California in his itinerary; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly be and he is hereby authorized and directed to transmit a suitably prepared copy of this resolution to His Excellency Licenciado Don Miguel Alémán, the President of the Republic of Mexico.

Resolution read, and referred to the Committee on Rules.

WHEREAS, The people of the State of California and their neighbors in the great republic on the south have been living in harmonious and friendly relationship for many years, and during that time have developed widespread interests in common, culturally, socially, and commercially; and

WHEREAS, An exchange of calls between the heads of the two nations and between the Governors of the various states thereof, tends to encourage more frequent visits by the peoples of the respective countries, thereby cementing more closely the bonds of friendship already existing between them; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That this Assembly heartily joins with His Excellency Earl Warren, the Governor of the State of California, in extending to the President of the Republic of Mexico a cordial invitation to include a visit to California in his itinerary; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly be and he is hereby authorized and directed to transmit a suitably prepared copy of this resolution to His Excellency Licenciado Don Miguel Alémán, the President of the Republic of Mexico.

Resolution read, and adopted.

REPORT TO THE ASSEMBLY PURSUANT TO HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 46

Your Committee Investigating Game Refuges has made personal exhaustive surveys of proposed game refuges and public hunting grounds within the San Joaquin Valley. We have traveled many miles by automobile, motor boat, and airplane, and have viewed some of the finest migratory fowl country in California. Numerous meetings have been held with sportsmen throughout the valley, and they emphasize the necessity of favorable action now.

The survey has covered territory as far north as Newman and as far south as Bakersfield. Those portions lying north of Firebaugh are in critical need of a permanent supply of water for wild fowl; those portions of the territory south of Mendota need legislative attention immediately if resting places for wild fowl are not to be destroyed by cultivation of the land for agricultural purposes which is continuously increasing in the San Joaquin Valley.

Several thousand acres adjoining the Mendota Pool are now under water and, of course, have riparian rights to the waters of not only the San Joaquin River but also of the Kings River. The Mendota Pool, a portion of the Central Valley Project, is a navigable stream several miles in length and is never without water, and will continue so throughout the life of the Central Valley Project.

The land adjoining the pool is not in cultivation, except possibly a small acreage, and this small acreage is not considered very valuable for cultivation, but would be valuable as a game refuge and public shooting ground and in the opinion of this committee should be acquired at the earliest possible moment.

About 40 or 50 miles southeast of the Mendota Pool is what is known as the Summit Lake, which is the dividing point where the Kings River water separates when portions of it empty into Tulare Lake and other portions flow north into the Mendota Pool and San Joaquin River.

The proposed Summit Lake Game Refuge and public hunting ground comprises approximately 6,000 acres with riparian water rights and with some water throughout the year. This proposed refuge is strongly supported by the sportsmen of Tulare and Kings Counties as being the logical place and in direct flight of the water fowl game population as it migrates from the North to South and back again toward its nesting places in the Far North. Most of this area is in the wild state of swamps of tule and wild grasses and would form a link of resting places for migratory fowl in their flight from North to South and back again.

About 40 or 50 miles southeast of Summit Lake is what is known as the Goose Lake territory situated between Tulare Lake and Buena Vista Lake in Kern County. Goose Lake is riparian to the Kern River and has some water at all times and, of course, is in the flight of the game from North to South and then returning again to their nesting places in the Far North. The land is largely in the wild state composed of tule growth and wild grasses and is what is known as cheap land.

All these lands mentioned are practically in the raw state, but adjacent lands are being put into cultivation, and in the opinion of this committee, it will be necessary to acquire these lands immediately or possibly lose them forever as an asset to the wild life service of California.

The committee wishes to impress upon the minds of the legislators the importance of the wild life, which is one of the large assets of California, being estimated by the State Chamber of Commerce as worth many, many millions of dollars annually to the people of the State.

The committee analyzes the whole problem of game conservation as being tied up with three cardinal problems—namely, procuring the land before it gets too high, providing for a permanent water supply, and being properly financed by immediate state appropriations to cover the cost of the lands, and for the enactment of law now to provide for a permanent water supply.

The sportsmen of the State are willing to continue paying for the water they use on their hunting clubs and their only fear is that their water may be taken away to be used for other purposes and thereby make worthless their investments while at the same time destroy the usefulness of the Pacific Flyway.

In the cases of game refuges and public shooting grounds the State would be required to acquire the small amount of water needed for these limited acreages but would be remunerated from the fees charged for shooting privileges by the unattached hunters.

This work should have been done years ago, and the longer it is delayed, the more it will cost the State to accomplish the purposes, besides taking the chance of losing out altogether. To the mind of the committee, it is inconceivable that California should delay action now and thereby fritter away one of its large natural resources by failing to act at this session of the Legislature. The people of California have too many millions of dollars invested in fish and game enterprises to give up now. The State has too much at stake in its income from these sources to allow them to perish by lack of action at this time.

Bills are now pending in the Legislature which would assure a water supply for these game refuges and for all shooting grounds and fishing streams, and in the opinion of the committee, the Legislature should not allow this session to end without enacting water legislation which would provide for a permanent supply of water for these and other such purposes.

The financial part of the program would be the lesser of the tasks because the State now has the money to finance such projects, and it might be called to your attention that throughout the years the sportsmen and fishermen of the State have contributed millions of dollars in sales taxes and other taxes to support general government expenses, while at the same time they have practically borne all the expense of maintenance of fish and game in the State. Therefore, the committee feels justified in requesting the Legislature to provide funds for these purposes, which, in our opinion, would only be returning to this natural resource some of the moneys which the State has received from it, and which are available because of the activities of the sportsmen and fishermen of the State of California.

It is assumed by many people that ducks nest exclusively in the Far North, but this committee desires to assure you that thousands of ducks have been observed wintering in the San Joaquin Valley where there is water, and many will be mating and laying at the proper time, and thousands plus thousands of young ducks will be produced within the San Joaquin Valley if given the proper conditions which this committee recommends in this report.

Before we close this report we wish to incorporate a letter which the chairman has just received from the Western Cooperative Dairymen's Union with headquarters in Fresno, which reads as follows:

"March 14, 1947

Hon. S. L. Heisinger
State Capitol, Sacramento, California

DEAR ASSEMBLYMAN: About 75 years ago when the Miller and Lux Corporation placed irrigation water from the San Joaquin River on the grasslands which lie in the Counties of Fresno, Madera and Merced, these grasslands, together with other adjacent lands which also received, at the same time, appropriated water from the river, became a well settled country composed of farms and prosperous towns.

All these lands continued to receive such irrigation water as was needed to produce pasture and other crops adapted to the soil and climate.

When the Central Valley Project was started, without notice to us, we learned that Miller and Lux Corporation, or successors, had sold to the Federal Government, the water covering the grasslands to be transported to another water shed.

Since then we can only buy water from the Federal Government from year to year without assurance of a permanent supply.

We feel that we should have a permanent contract which would provide water from the Friant Dam until the Delta Mendota Canal is completed, which after that time, should furnish us water.

Thousands of dairy farmers operate in this territory and largely supply dairy products to the metropolitan districts of California.

These 100,000 acres of grasslands graze thousands of our calves, heifers and dry cows, which makes it possible to have such a successful dairy country.

About an acre-foot annually to each acre of these grasslands is sufficient for good results.

In addition to stock feed, these lands furnish water and feed for migratory water fowl and in turn the sportsmen pay for shooting privileges which help to pay costs and so we find that this water serves to preserve two of the State's large natural resources.

This association respectfully requests you to do everything in your power to procure for us a permanent water supply so that this splendid territory may not go back to the desert from whence it came.

Respectfully,

WESTERN COOPERATIVE DAIRYMEN'S UNION

JOE BRANCO, President

JOSEPH E. MATTOS, JR., Secretary"

We also wish to call to your attention a letter written in 1945 by Ira Gabrielson who was then at the head of the Wildlife Service of the United States, which letter reads as follows:

"UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR
FISH AND WILDLIFE SERVICE
Chicago, Illinois (54)

June 5, 1945

Memorandum for Commissioner Harry W. Bashore,
Bureau of Reclamation, Washington, D. C.

From our previous discussions you will recall the San Joaquin Grasslands water problem and our mutual efforts to solve this difficult situation which is national in significance as it involves a resource common to all the West Coast states.

The delivery of 83,545 acre-feet of nondemand water by your bureau in the period May-December of 1944 to the Emergency Cattlemen's Association for use on the grassland area lying west of the San Joaquin River and north and south of Los Banos, California, not only provided emergency pasture lands to support some 60,000 head of dairy and beef cattle, but also continued in use for another year one of the greatest migratory waterfowl resting, feeding, and nesting areas in the Pacific Flyway.

These 100,000 acres of grassland are of silty clay soil and have always been classified as nonagricultural. It is hereditary wintering ground of thousands of waterfowl. Dr. H. C. Bryant, formerly of the California Fish and Game Commission, in May 1914 made a careful survey of the Los Banos Duck Club area and reported, 'Here we were in the heart of the best duck country and found conditions favorable to our work. For many years this region has been known as the best of the duck-breeding grounds in the State, as well as the best loafing ground for waterfowl during the winter.' Dr. Bryant found nesting here in 1914, mallard, pintail, gadwall, cinnamon teal, ruddy duck, fulvous tree duck, redhead, shoveller, coot, and blackneck stilts.

The growth of agriculture has eliminated thousands of acres of natural waterfowl wintering grounds. Now, to insure storage in the Friant Dam, your bureau has purchased the rights of Miller & Lux to water including the grassland water rights formerly used on the so-called grasslands north and south of Los Banos. This area without water threatens to become semidesert, further reducing the already limited waterfowl habitat of the Pacific Flyway. It would be a serious blow to the waterfowl management program which is now being undertaken by this service and the State Fish and Game Department in California if your bureau, in constructing the great Central Valley Project, should eliminate marshes that would need to be replaced, at great cost to the taxpayers, if indeed, it would be possible to replace them at all.

The owners of the lands to which you furnished water in 1944 have organized the Grass Lands Water Association, Inc., a nonprofit mutual water company to serve the dairy interests, duck breeding lands, and wildlife refuges and are now in a position to make delivery of any allotted water. To preserve the grasslands area as natural waterfowl habitat, we consider it necessary and the association has requested that 100,000 acre-feet of nondemand water annually be allotted to this area by the Bureau of Reclamation. This water need not be of the quality necessary for agricultural crops and should be dedicated exclusively for pasture and wild life use. Reasonable pasturing does not conflict with wild life use here.

Recently legislation has been introduced in Congress proposing that water for wild life purposes be included in your projects as a nonreimbursable item. The suggested allotment of water to the grasslands, in our opinion, falls within this category. This project would be nonreimbursable for capital investment only.

In order to benefit the resident population of nesting waterfowl, it would be desirable that the allotment of 100,000 acre-feet of water to this area include July and August delivery of not less than 7,500 acre-feet of water for the maintenance of 4,000 acres of permanent waterfowl ponds scattered throughout the area. This would preserve the natural waterfowl foods and decrease the depredation of agricultural crops adjacent to the area.

The grasslands area must be preserved or the migratory waterfowl of the Pacific Flyway, a national resource, will suffer seriously. I cannot emphasize too highly the importance of preserving the grasslands as a unit for an area of indispensable wintering grounds for the thousands of waterfowl which are dependent almost wholly upon this residual bit of the original San Joaquin Valley marshlands for survival. From the economic standpoint I do not believe I have to stress to you the dollar and cents value of these birds to local merchants, filling station operators, hotels, and many other businesses which are seasonably dependent upon the sportsmen for their income. Likewise the cattle and dairy products originating on this area are important in rounding out the commercial life of an irrigated farm community.

In conclusion, I urge that every possible means at your command be thoroughly explored for a satisfactory solution to the water supply necessary to preserve the San Joaquin grasslands as now organized and awaiting favorable action by the Bureau of Reclamation.

I. N. GABRIELSON, Director"

Through the ages Tulare Lake and Buena Vista Lake were the natural watering and resting places of the migratory fowl, but these are now privately owned and are being dried for agricultural purposes and can no longer be available for wild life.

In summing up this report, the committee wishes to inform you that between Los Banos and Southern California there are now no permanent resting places for wild fowl, which fact brings about a bottleneck. It is difficult for the migratory birds to overcome this distance of several hundred miles without a permanent supply of water for resting and feeding grounds.

It should also be called to your attention that should the three resting and watering places recommended in this report be established, they will furnish much feed for the birds, thereby lessening damage upon growing crops of farmers in the neighboring territories while at the same time will go far to keep for California one of its greatest natural resources.

Respectfully,

S. L. HEISINGER, Chairman

Amendment No. 5

On page 1 of the printed bill, after line 13, insert

"SEC. 2 Section 4 of the California Small Loan Act, Chapter 953 of the Statutes of 1939, is amended to read:

Sec. 4. License No person shall engage in the business of making or negotiating, for himself or another, loans of money, credit, goods, or things in action, [in the amount or of the value of three hundred dollars ($300) or less,] without first obtaining a license from the Commissioner of Corporations.

SEC. 3. Section 16 of the California Small Loan Act, Chapter 953 of the Statutes of 1939, is amended to read:

Sec. 16. Maximum Rate of Charge. No licensee hereunder shall make any loan [of three hundred dollars ($300) or less,] and contract or receive thereon interest at a rate exceeding ten percentum (10%) per annum, computed on the unpaid balance of the loan, which said interest shall not be paid, deducted or received in advance, nor compounded.

Nor shall any such licensee hereunder contract for or receive any service or expense charges beyond the actual outlay; provided, however, that such charges for actual outlay, when added to interest computed at the rate herein provided, shall not exceed an aggregate amount of two and one-half percentum (2½%) per month on that portion of the unpaid principal balance of any loan up to, including but not in excess of one hundred dollars ($100) [and], two percentum (2%) per month on that portion of the unpaid principal balance in excess of one hundred dollars ($100) up to, including but not in excess of three hundred dollars ($300) and ten percentum (10%) per annum on any remainder of such unpaid principal balance. If, however, any property securing a loan made by a licensee is insured against loss in favor of the licensee, service or expense charges for actual outlay, when added to interest computed at the rate specified by this section, shall in no event exceed an aggregate amount of two percentum (2%) per month on the unpaid principal balance of the loan up to, including but not in excess of three hundred dollars ($300) and ten percentum (10%) per annum on any remainder of such unpaid principal balance.

Split Loans Prohibited. No licensee or any other person, shall induce or permit any [borrower] person, or husband and wife jointly or severally, to split up or divide any loan[.] or [No licensee shall induce or permit any person, nor any husband and wife jointly or severally,] to become obligated, directly or contingently or both, under more than one contract of loan at the same time, for the purpose or with the result of obtaining a higher rate of charge than would otherwise be permitted by this section or to enter into a contract of loan with more than one licensee or other person engaged in the business of lending money with the result of obtaining a higher rate of charge than would be permitted by this act if there were only one borrower obligated on a single contract of loan.

No charges or interest on louns made under this act shall be paid, deducted, or received in advance, or compounded.

All charges and interest on loans made under this act (a) shall be computed and paid only as a percentage per month of the unpaid principal balance or portions thereof, and (b) shall be so expressed in every obligation signed by the borrower, and (c) shall be computed on the basis of the number of days actually elapsed, for the purpose of which computations a month shall be any period of thirty (30) consecutive days.

The loan contract may provide for payment of the aggregate amount contracted to be paid in substantially equal periodical installments

In addition to the charges including interest herein permitted, no amount whatsoever shall be directly or indirectly charged, contracted for, or received, by the lender or the broker or any other person, and the total charges including interest, of the lender, the broker and any other person, in the aggregate, shall not exceed said amount on any one loan for the negotiating, making, collecting and enforcing of said loan.

Nothing in this section denies to any licensee under this act the right to contract for, collect or receive at the time of making a loan or at any time thereafter, the statutory fee paid by him to any public officer for acknowledging, filing, recording, or releasing in any public office any instruments securing the loan or executed in connection therewith.

Nothing in this section shall deny to any licensee under this act the right, in addition to all other charges herein provided, in the enforcing and collecting of a delinquent loan of an unpaid principal balance in excess of five hundred dollars ($500) to collect and receive the court costs and reasonable attorney's fees allowed by a court in a judgment against a defaulting debtor.

If any amount in excess of the interest and charges permitted by this act is charged, contracted for, or received, the contract of loan shall be void as to any agreement therein to pay principal, interest or charges and neither the licensee nor any other person shall have any right to collect or receive any principal, interest or charges whatsoever.

SEC. 4. Section 18.5 of the California Small Loan Act, Chapter 953 of the Statutes of 1939, is amended to read:

Sec. 18.5. Wage-buying Limited. The payment [of three hundred dollars or less] by a lender or broker in money, credit, goods or things in action as consideration for any sale or assignment of, or order for, the payment of wages, salary, commissions, or other compensation for services, whether earned or to be earned, shall, for the purposes of regulation under this act, be deemed a loan secured by such assignment, and the amount by which such assigned compensation exceeds the amount of such consideration actually paid shall, for the purposes of regulation under this act, be deemed interest and charges upon or for such loan from the date of such payment to the date such compensation is payable. Such transaction shall be governed by and subject to the provisions of this act. Nothing contained in this section shall be construed as modifying or affecting existing statutes governing wage assignments in the State of California, or as authorizing such assignments.

SEC. 5. Section 19 of the California Small Loan Act, Chapter 953 of the Statutes of 1939, is amended to read:

Sec. 19. Prohibition. No person by any device, subterfuge, or pretense whatsoever shall charge, contract for, or receive greater interest, consideration, or charges than is authorized by this act for any such loan, use, or forbearance of money, goods, or things in action or for any such loan, use, or sale of credit.

No loan [of the amount or value of three hundred dollars ($300) or less,] for which a greater rate of interest, consideration, brokerage, and charges than is permitted by this act has been charged, contracted for, or received, made within the State of California, shall be enforced in this State, and every person in anywise participating therein in this State shall be subject to the provisions of this act.

A loan lawfully made outside the State of California [of the amount or value of three hundred dollars ($300) or less,] may be enforced in this State as to the unpaid principal balance of said loan together with the interest, consideration, brokerage and all other charges, to the extent of but not to exceed said unpaid principal balance and the aggregate amount of interest, consideration, brokerage and all other charges permitted by this act in connection with a loan of the same amount made within this State. Any person who in anywise collects or attempts to collect in this State the unpaid principal balance of a loan made outside the State of California, and a greater aggregate amount of interest, consideration, brokerage and all other charges in connection with such loan than is permitted by this act in connection with a loan of the same amount made within this State, shall be subject to the provisions of this act. Any person who contracts for or negotiates in this State a loan to be made outside the State of California for the purpose of evading or avoiding this act, shall be subject to the provisions of this act

No licensee or any other person in connection with or incidental to the making of any loan shall require the borrower to contract for, purchase, or agree to purchase, any other thing in connection with the loan, nor to enter into any collateral sales agreements or contracts

At the time of the making of the loan, the licensee shall deliver to the borrower, to be retained by the borrower, an amount equal to the face value of the loan and note evidencing the same

Any profit or advantage of any kind whatsoever that any lender or broker may contract for, collect, receive or in anywise obtain by a collateral sale, purchase, or agreement, in connection with the negotiating, arranging, making or otherwise in connection with any loan [of three hundred dollars ($300) or less], except commissions received as a licensed insurance agent or broker on insurance written as hereinafter permitted, shall be deemed to be charges for the purposes of regulation under this act. Such transactions shall be governed by and subject to the provisions of this act However, security consisting of tangible personal property offered as security may be reasonably insured against loss for a reasonable term, considering the circumstances of the loan, and such insurance shall not be deemed such collateral sale, purchase, or agreement when the policy is payable to the borrower or any member of his family, even though the customary mortgage clause is attached or the licensee is a coassured; provided, that such insurance is sold at standard rates through duly licensed insurance agents.

No licensee shall enter into a contract for a loan for a longer period than 24 months after the making of the loan

SEC. 6 Section 24 of the California Small Loan Act, Chapter 958 of the Statutes of 1939, is amended to read:

Sec. 24. Decisions Affect Adjudicated Sections Only. If any clause, sentence, paragraph, section, provision, or part of this act shall be adjudged to be unconstitutional or invalid for any reason by any court of competent jurisdiction, such judgment shall not impair, affect, or invalidate the remainder of this act, which shall remain in full force and effect thereafter. The Legislature hereby declares that it would have passed this act, and each clause, sentence, paragraph, section, provision, or part thereof irrespective of the fact that any one or more other clauses, sentences, paragraphs, sections, provisions or parts be declared unconstitutional."

"SEC. 8. Section 4 of the California Small Loan Act, Chapter 1045 of the Statutes of 1939, is amended to read:

Sec. 4. License. No person shall engage in the business of making or negotiating, for himself, or another, loans of money, credit, goods, or things in action, [in the amount or of the value of three hundred dollars ($300) or less,] without first obtaining a license from the Commissioner of Corporations.

SEC. 9. Section 16 of the California Small Loan Act, Chapter 1045 of the Statutes of 1939, is amended to read:

Sec. 16. Maximum Rate of Charge. No licensee hereunder shall make any loan [of three hundred dollars, or less], and contract or receive thereon interest at a rate exceeding 10 percent per annum, computed on the unpaid balance of the loan, which said interest shall not be paid, deducted or received in advance, nor compounded.

Nor shall any such licensee hereunder contract for or receive any service or expense charges beyond the actual outlay; provided, however, that such charges for actual outlay, when added to interest computed at the rate herein provided, shall not exceed an aggregate amount of 2½ percentum per month on that portion of the unpaid principal balance of any loan up to, including but not in excess of one hundred dollars, [and] 2 percentum per month on that portion of the unpaid principal balance in excess of one hundred dollars ($100) up to, including but not in excess of three hundred ($800) and 10 percentum per annum on any remainder of such unpaid principal balance. If, however, any property securing a loan made by a licensee is insured against loss in favor of the licensee, service or expense charges for actual outlay, when added to interest computed at the rate specified by this section, shall in no event exceed an aggregate amount of 2 percentum per month on the unpaid principal balance of the loan up to, including but not in excess of three hundred dollars ($300) and 10 percentum (10%) per annum on any remainder of such unpaid principal balance.

No licensee or any other person shall induce or permit any [borrower] person, or husband and wife jointly or severally, to split up or divide any loan [,] or [No licensee shall induce or permit any person, nor any husband and wife jointly or severally,] to become obligated, directly or contingently or both, under more than one contract of loan at the same time, for the purpose or with the result of obtaining a higher rate of charge than would otherwise be permitted by this section or to enter into a contract of loan with more than one licensee or other person engaged in the business of lending money with the result of obtaining a higher rate of charge than would be permitted by this act if there were only one borrower obligated on a single contract of loan.

No charges or interest on loans made under this act shall be paid, deducted, or received in advance, or compounded.

All charges and interest on loans made under this act (a) shall be computed and paid only as a percentage per month of the unpaid principal balance or portions thereof, and (b) shall be so expressed in every obligation signed by the borrower, and (c) shall be computed on the basis of the number of days actually elapsed, for the purpose of which computations a month shall be any period of thirty consecutive days. The loan contract may provide for payment of the aggregate amount contracted to be paid in substantially equal periodical installments.

In addition to the charges including interest herein permitted, no further or other amount whatsoever shall be directly or indirectly charged, contracted for, or received, by the lender or the broker or any other person, and the total charges including interest, of the lender, the broker and any other person, in the aggregate, shall not exceed said amount on any one loan for the negotiating, making, collecting and enforcing of said loan.

Nothing in this section denies to any licensee under this act the right to contract for, collect or receive at the time of making a loan or at any time thereafter, the statutory fee paid by him to any public officer for acknowledging, filing, recording, or releasing in any public office any instruments securing the loan or executed in connection therewith.

Nothing in this section shall deny to any licensee under this act the right, in addition to all other charges herein provided, in the enforcing and collecting of a delinquent loan of an unpaid principal balance in excess of five hundred dollars ($500) to collect and receive the court costs and reasonable attorney's fees allowed by a court in a judgment against a defaulting debtor.

If any amount other than or in excess of the interest and charges permitted by this act is charged, contracted for, or received, the contract of loan shall be void as to principal, interest and charges, and neither the licensee nor any other person shall have any right to collect or receive any principal, interest or charges whatsoever.

SEC. 10 Section 18 5 of the California Small Loan Act, Chapter 1045 of the Statutes of 1939, is amended to read:

Sec 18 5 Wage-buying Limited. The payment [of three hundred dollars or less] by a lender or broker in money, credit, goods or things in action as consideration for any sale or assignment of, or order for, the payment of wages, salary, commissions, or other compensation for services, whether earned or to be earned, shall, for the purposes of regulation under this act, be deemed a loan secured by such assignment, and the amount by which such assigned compensation exceeds the amount of such consideration actually paid shall, for the purposes of regulation under this act, be deemed interest and charges upon or for such loan from the date of such payment to the date such compensation is payable. Such transaction shall be governed by and subject to the provisions of this act Nothing contained in this section shall be construed as modifying or affecting existing statutes governing wage assignments in the State of California, or as authorizing such assignments.

SEC. 11 Section 19 of the California Small Loan Act, Chapter 1045 of the Statutes of 1939, is amended to read:

Sec. 19 Prohibition. No person by any device, subterfuge, or pretense whatsoever shall charge, contract for, or receive greater interest, consideration, or charges than is authorized by this act for any such loan, use, or forbearance of money, goods, or things in action or for any such loan, use, or sale of credit

No loan [of the amount or value of three hundred dollars ($300) or less,] for which a greater rate of interest, consideration, brokerage, and charges than is permitted by this act has been charged contracted for, or received, made within the State of California, shall be enforced in this State, and every person in anywise participating therein in this State shall be subject to the provisions of this act.

A loan lawfully made outside the State of California [of the amount or value of three hundred dollars ($300) or less,] may be enforced in this State as to the unpaid principal balance of said loan together with the interest, consideration, brokerage and all other charges, to the extent of but not to exceed said unpaid principal balance and the aggregate amount of interest, consideration, brokerage and all other charges permitted by this act in connection with a loan of the same amount made within this State. Any person who in anywise collects or attempts to collect in this State the unpaid principal balance of a loan made outside the State of California, and a greater aggregate amount of interest, consideration, brokerage and all other charges in connection with such loan than is permitted by this act in connection with a loan of the same amount made within this State, shall be subject to the provisions of this act. Any person who contracts for or negotiates in this State a loan to be made outside the State of California for the purpose of evading or avoiding this act, shall be subject to the provisions of this act.

No licensee or any other person in connection with or incidental to the making of any loan shall require the borrower to contract for, purchase, or agree to purchase, any other thing in connection with the loan, nor to enter into any collateral sales agreements or contracts.

At the time of the making of the loan, the licensee shall deliver to the borrower, to be retained by the borrower, an amount equal to the face value of the loan and note evidencing the same.

Any profit or advantage of any kind whatsoever that any lender or broker may contract for, collect, receive or in anywise obtain by a collateral sale, purchase, or agreement, in connection with the negotiating, arranging, making or otherwise in connection with any loan [of three hundred dollars ($300) or less], except commissions received as a licensed insurance agent or broker on insurance written as hereinafter permitted, shall be deemed to be charges for the purposes of regulation under this act. Such transactions shall be governed by and subject to the provisions of this act. However, security consisting of tangible personal property offered as security may be reasonably insured against loss for a reasonable term, considering the circumstances of the loan, and such insurance shall not be deemed such collateral sale, purchase, or agreement when the policy is payable to the borrower or any member of his family, even though the customary mortgagee clause is attached or the licensee is a coassured; provided, that such insurance is sold at standard rates through duly licensed insurance agents.

No licensee shall enter into a contract for a loan for a longer period than 24 months after the making of the loan.

SEC. 12. Section 24 of the California Small Loan Act, Chapter 1045 of the Statutes of 1939, is amended to read:

Sec. 24. Decisions Affect Adjudicated Sections Only. If any clause, sentence, paragraph, section, provision, or part of this act shall be adjudged to be unconstitutional or invalid for any reason by any court of competent jurisdiction, such judgment shall not impair, affect, or invalidate the remainder of this act, which shall remain in full force and effect thereafter. The Legislature hereby declares that it would have passed this act, and each clause, sentence, paragraph, section, provision, or part thereof irrespective of the fact that any one or more other clauses, sentences, paragraphs, sections, provisions, or parts be declared unconstitutional"

Amendment No. 10

On page 1 of the printed bill, after line 22, insert

"SEC. 2. Section 17 of the Personal Property Brokers Act, as revised by Chapter 952 of the Statutes of 1939, is amended to read:

Sec. 17. Maximum Rate of Charge. Every licensee hereunder who lends any sum of money [not to exceed three hundred dollars ($300) in amount] may contract for and receive thereon charges at a rate not exceeding two and one-half percentum (2½%) per month on that part of the unpaid principal balance of any loan up to, including but not in excess of one hundred dollars ($100) [and], two percentum (2%) per month on that portion of the unpaid principal balance in excess of one hundred dollars ($100) up to, including but not in excess of three hundred dollars ($300), and ten percentum (10%) per annum on any remainder of such unpaid principal balance in excess of three hundred dollars ($300). If, however, any property securing a loan made by a licensee is insured against loss in favor of the licensee the latter may only contract for and receive thereon charges at a rate not exceeding two percentum (2%) per month on that portion of the unpaid principal balance up to, including but not in excess of three hundred dollars ($300) and ten percentum (10%) per annum on that portion of the unpaid principal balance in excess of three hundred dollars ($300).

Split Loans Prohibited. No licensee or any other person, shall induce or permit any [borrower] person, or husband and wife jointly or severally, to split up or divide any loan[.] or [No licensee shall induce or permit any person, nor any husband and wife jointly or severally,] to become obligated, directly or contingently or both, under more than one contract of loan at the same time, with the result of obtaining a higher rate of charge than would otherwise be permitted by this section or to enter into a contract or contracts of loan with more than one licensee or other person engaged in the business of lending money with the result of obtaining a higher rate of charge than would be permitted by this act if there were only one borrower obligated on a single contract of loan.

No charges on loans made under this act shall be paid, deducted, or received in advance, or compounded. All charges on loans made under this act (a) shall be computed and paid only as a percentage per month of the unpaid principal balance or portions thereof, and (b) shall be so expressed in every obligation signed by the borrower, and (c) shall be computed on the basis of the number of days actually elapsed, for the purpose of which computations a month shall be any period of thirty (30) consecutive days. The loan contract may provide for payment of the aggregate amount contracted to be paid in substantially equal periodical installments In addition to the charges herein permitted no amount whatsoever shall be directly or indirectly charged, contracted for, or received, by either the personal property broker or the broker, or any other person, and the total charges of the personal property broker and broker and any other person in the aggregate shall not exceed the maximum rate herein provided.

Nothing in this section denies to any licensee under this act the right to contract for, collect or receive at the time of making a loan, or at any time thereafter, the statutory fee paid by him to any public officer for acknowledging, filing, recording, or releasing in any public office any instrument securing the loan or executed in connection therewith.

Nothing in this section shall deny to any licensee under this act the right, in addition to all other charges herein provided, in the enforcing and collecting of a delinquent loan of an unpaid principal balance in excess of five hundred dollars ($500) to collect and receive the court costs and reasonable attorney's fees allowed by a court in a judgment against a defaulting debtor.

If any amount in excess of the charges permitted by this act is charged, contracted for, or received, the contract of loan shall be void, and neither the licensee nor any other person shall have any right to collect or receive any principal, charges, or recompense whatsoever.

SEC. 3. Section 19.5 of the Personal Property Brokers Act, as revised by Chapter 952 of the Statutes of 1939, is amended to read:

Sec. 19.5. Wage-buying limited. The payment [of three hundred dollars or less] by a personal property broker or broker in money, credit, goods or things in action as consideration for any sale or assignment of, or order for, the payment of wages, salary, commissions, or other compensation for services, whether earned or to be earned, shall, for the purposes of regulation under this act, be deemed a loan secured by such assignment, and the amount by which such assigned compensation exceeds the amount of such consideration actually paid shall, for the purposes of regulation under this act, be deemed interest and charges upon or for such loan from the date of such payment to the date such compensation is payable. Such transaction shall be governed by and subject to the provisions of this act. Nothing contained in this section shall be construed as modifying or affecting existing statutes governing wage assignments in the State of California, or as authorizing such assignments.

SEC. 4. Section 20 of the Personal Property Brokers Act, as revised by Chapter 952 of the Statutes of 1939, is amended to read:

Sec. 20. Prohibition. No person, except as authorized by this act, shall directly or indirectly charge, contract for, or receive any interest, discount, or consideration greater than the lender would be permitted by law to charge if he were not a licensee hereunder upon the loan, use, or forbearance of money, goods, or things in action, or upon the loan, use, or sale of credit [of the amount or value of three hundred dollars ($300) or less].

The foregoing prohibition shall apply to any person, who by any device, subterfuge, or pretense whatsoever shall charge, contract for, or receive greater interest, consideration, or charges than is authorized by this act for any such loan, use, or sale of credit.

No loan [of the amount or value of three hundred dollars ($300) or less], for which a greater rate of interest, consideration, brokerage, and charges than is permitted by this act has been charged, contracted for, or received, made within the State of California, shall be enforced in this State, and every person in anywise participating therein in this State shall be subject to the provisions of this act.

A loan lawfully made outside the State of California [of the amount or value of three hundred dollars ($300) or less], may be enforced in this State as to the unpaid principal balance of said loan together with the interest, consideration, brokerage and all other charges, to the extent of but not to exceed said unpaid principal balance and the aggregate amount of interest, consideration, brokerage and all other charges permitted by this act in connection with a loan of the same amount made within this State. Any person who in anywise collects or attempts to collect in this State the unpaid principal balance of a loan made outside the State of California, and a greater aggregate amount of interest, consideration, brokerage and all other charges in connection with such loan than is permitted by this act in connection with a loan of the same amount made within this State, shall be subject to the provisions of this act. Any person who contracts for or negotiates in this State a loan to be made outside the State of California for the purpose of evading or avoiding this act, shall be subject to the provisions of this act.

No licensee or any other person in connection with or incidental to the making of any loan, may require the borrower to contract for, purchase, or agree to purchase any other thing in connection with the loan; and no licensee or any other person in connection with or incidental to the making of such loan shall require the borrower to enter into any collateral sales agreements or contracts, other than the contract of pledge, assignment or mortgage of personal property by the borrower to the lender as security for the repayment of the loan and charges thereon. The licensee shall deliver to the borrower at the time of making the loan an amount to be retained by the borrower equal to the face value of the loan and note evidencing same.

Any profit or advantage of any kind whatsoever that any personal property broker or broker may contract for, collect, receive or in anywise obtain by a collateral sale, purchase, or agreement, in connection with the negotiating, arranging, making or otherwise in connection with any loan [of three hundred dollars ($300) or less], except commissions received as a licensed insurance agent or broker on insurance written as hereinafter permitted, shall be deemed to be charges for the purposes of regulation under this act. Such transactions shall be governed by and subject to the provisions of this act. However, security consisting of tangible personal property offered as security may be reasonably insured against loss for a reasonable term, considering the circumstances of the loan, and such insurance shall not be deemed such collateral sale, purchase, or agreement when the policy is payable to the borrower or any member of his family, even though the customary mortgagee clause is attached or the licensee is a coassured; provided, that such insurance is sold at standard rates through duly licensed insurance agents.

No licensee shall enter into any contract for a loan for a period of longer than 24 months after making the loan.

SEC. 5. Section 23 of the Personal Property Brokers Act, as revised by Chapter 952 of the Statutes of 1939, is amended to read:

Sec. 23. Constitutionality. If any clause, sentence, section, paragraph, provision, or part of this act is adjudged to be unconstitutional or invalid for any reason by any court of competent jurisdiction, such judgment shall not impair, affect or invalidate the remainder of this act, which shall remain in full force and effect thereafter. The Legislature hereby declares that it would have passed this act, and every clause, sentence, section, paragraph, provision or part thereof irrespective of the fact that any one or more other clauses, sentences, sections, paragraphs, provisions or parts be declared unconstitutional."

"SEC. 7. Section 17 of the Personal Property Brokers Act, as revised by Chapter 1044 of the Statutes of 1939, is amended to read:

Sec. 17. Maximum Rate of Charge. Every licensee hereunder who lends any sum of money [not to exceed three hundred dollars in amount] may contract for and receive thereon charges at a rate not exceeding 2½ percentum per month on that part of the unpaid principal balance of any loan up to, including but not in excess of one hundred dollars ($100), [and] 2 percentum per month on that portion of the unpaid principal balance in excess of one hundred dollars ($100) up to, including but not in excess of three hundred dollars ($300), and 10 percentum per annum on any remainder of such unpaid principal balance in excess of three hundred dollars ($300). If, however, any property securing a loan made by a licensee is insured against loss in favor of the licensee the latter may only contract for and receive thereon charges at a rate not exceeding 2 percentum per month on that portion of the unpaid principal balance of the loan up to, including but not in excess of three hundred dollars ($300) and 10 percentum per annum on that portion of the unpaid principal balance in excess of three hundred dollars ($300) [of the loan].

No licensee or any other person, shall induce or permit any [borrower] person, or husband and wife jointly or severally, to split up or divide any loan[.] or[No licensee shall induce or permit any person, nor any husband and wife jointly or severally,] to become obligated, directly or contingently or both, under more than one contract of loan at the same time, with the result of obtaining a higher rate of charge than would otherwise be permitted by this section or to enter into a contract or contracts of loan with more than one licensee or other person engaged in the business of lending money with the result of obtaining a higher rate of charge than would be permitted by this act if there were only one borrower obligated on a single contract of loan.

No charges on loans made under this act shall be paid, deducted, or received in advance, or compounded. All charges on loans made under this act (a) shall be computed and paid only as a percentage per month of the unpaid principal balance or portions thereof, and (b) shall be so expressed in every obligation signed by the borrower, and (c) shall be computed on the basis of the number of days actually elapsed, for the purpose of which computations a month shall be any period of 30 consecutive days. The loan contract may provide for payment of the aggregate amount contracted to be paid in substantially equal periodical installments. In addition to the charges herein permitted, no further or other amount whatsoever shall be directly or indirectly charged, contracted for, or received by the personal property broker or the broker, or any other person, and the total charges of the personal property broker and broker and any other person in the aggregate shall not exceed the maximum rate herein provided.

Nothing in this section denies to any licensee under this act the right to contract for, collect or receive at the time of making a loan, or at any time thereafter, the statutory fee paid by him to any public officer for acknowledging, filing, recording, or releasing in any public office any instrument securing the loan or executed in connection therewith.

Nothing in this section shall deny to any licensee under this act the right, in addition to all other charges herein provided, in the enforcing and collecting of a delinquent loan of an unpaid principal balance in excess of five hundred dollars ($500) to collect and receive the court costs and reasonable attorney's fees allowed by a court in a judgment against a defaulting debtor.

If any amount other than or in excess of the charges permitted by this act is charged, contracted for, or received, the contract of loan shall be void, and neither the licensee nor any other person shall have any right to collect or receive any principal, charges or recompense whatsoever.

SEC. 8. Section 19.5 of the Personal Property Brokers Act as revised by Chapter 1044 of the Statutes of 1939, is amended to read:

Sec. 19.5. Wage-Buying Limited. The payment [of three hundred dollars or less] by a personal property broker or broker in money, credit, goods or things in action as consideration for any sale or assignment of, or order for, the payment of wages, salary, commissions, or other compensation for services, whether earned or to be earned, shall, for the purposes of regulation under this act, be deemed a loan secured by such assignment, and the amount by which such assigned compensation exceeds the amount of such consideration actually paid shall, for the purposes of regulation under this act, be deemed interest and charges upon or for such loan from the date of such payment to the date such compensation is payable. Such transaction shall be governed by and subject to the provisions of this act. Nothing contained in this section shall be construed as modifying or affecting existing statutes governing wage assignments in the State of California, or as authorizing such assignments.

SEC 9 Section 20 of the Personal Property Brokers Act, as revised by Chapter 1044 of the Statutes of 1939, is amended to read:

Sec. 20. Prohibition. No person, except as authorized by this act, shall directly or indirectly charge, contract for, or receive any interest, discount, or consideration greater than the lender would be permitted by law to charge if he were not a licensee hereunder upon the loan, use, or forbearance of money, goods, or things in action, or upon the loan, use, or sale of credit [of the amount or value of three hundred dollars ($300) or less].

The foregoing prohibition shall apply to any person, who by any device, subterfuge, or pretense whatsoever shall charge, contract for, or receive greater interest, consideration, or charges than is authorized by this act for any such loan, use, or forbearance of money, goods, or things in action or for any such loan, use, or sale of credit.

No loan [of the amount or value of three hundred dollars ($300) or less,] for which a greater rate of interest, consideration, brokerage, and charges than is permitted by this act has been charged, contracted for, or received, made within the State of California, shall be enforced in this State, and every person in anywise participating therein in this State shall be subject to the provisions of this act.

A loan lawfully made outside the State of California [of the amount or value of three hundred dollars ($300) or less,] may be enforced in this State as to the unpaid principal balance of said loan together with the interest, consideration, brokerage and all other charges, to the extent of but not to exceed said unpaid principal balance and the aggregate amount of interest, consideration, brokerage and all other charges permitted by this act in connection with a loan of the same amount made within this State. Any person who in anywise collects or attempts to collect in this State the unpaid principal balance of a loan made ouside the State of California, and a greater aggregate amount of interest, consideration, brokerage and all other charges in connection with such loan than is permitted by this act in connection with a loan of the same amount made within this State, shall be subject to the provisions of this act. Any person who contracts for or negotiates in this State a loan to be made outside the State of California for the purpose of evading or avoiding this act, shall be subject to the provisions of this act.

No licensee or any other person in connection with or incidental to the making of any loan, may require the borrower to contract for, purchase, or agree to purchase any other thing in connection with the loan; and no licensee or any other person in connection with or incidental to the making of such loan shall require the borrower to enter into any collateral sales agreements or contracts, other than the contract of pledge, assignment or mortgage of personal property by the borrower to the lender as security for the repayment of the loan and charges thereon. The licensee shall deliver to the borrower at the time of making the loan an amount to be retained by the borrower equal to the face value of the loan and note evidencing same.

Any profit or advantage of any kind whatsoever that any personal property broker or broker may contract for, collect, receive or in anywise obtain by a collateral sale, purchase, or agreement, in connection with the negotiating, arranging, making or otherwise in connection with any loan [of three hundred dollars ($300) or less], except commissions received as a licensed insurance agent or broker on insurance written as hereinafter permitted, shall be deemed to be charges for the purposes of regulation under this act. Such transactions shall be governed by and subject to the provisions of this act. However, security consisting of tangible personal property offered as security may be reasonably insured against loss for a reasonable term, considering the circumstances of the loan, and such insurance shall not be deemed such collateral sale, purchase, or agreement when the policy is payable to the borrower or any member of his family, even though the customary mortgagee clause is attached or the licensee is a coassured; provided, that such insurance is sold at standard rates through duly licensed insurance agents.

No licensee shall enter into any contract for a loan for a period of longer than 24 months after making the loan.

SEC. 10. Section 24 of the Personal Property Brokers Act, as revised by Chapter 1044 of the Statutes of 1939, is amended to read:

Sec. 24. Constitutionality. If any clause, sentence, section, paragraph, provision, or part of this act is adjudged to be unconstitutional or invalid for any reason by any court of competent jurisdiction, such judgment shall not impair, affect or invalidate the remainder of this act, which shall remain in full force and effect thereafter. The Legislature hereby declares that it would have passed this act, and each clause, sentence, section, paragraph, provision, or part thereof irrespective of the fact that any one or more other clauses, sentences, sections, paragraphs, provisions, or parts be declared unconstitutional."

(1) No judge of any superior, municipal, justice or other inferior court of the State of California shall hear or try any action or proceeding when it shall be established as hereinafter provided that such judge is prejudiced against any party or attorney or the interest of any party or attorney appearing in such action or proceeding.

(2) Any party to or any attorney appearing in any action or proceeding in any superior, municipal, justice or other inferior court of this State may establish such prejudice by an oral or written motion without notice supported by affidavit that the judge before whom the action or proceeding is pending or to whom it is assigned is prejudiced against any such party or attorney so that such party or attorney cannot or believes that he cannot have a fair and impartial trial before such judge. Such motion shall be presented orally or if in writing filed prior to the making of an opening statement by counsel for plaintiff or if no such statement is made then prior to swearing in the first witness or to the giving of any evidence. If such motion is duly presented, the court shall, upon request of counsel, continue the matter for not less than 24 hours in order to permit the party or his attorney making the motion to prepare and file the affidavit in support of such motion.

(3) If such motion is duly presented and such affidavit is duly filed pursuant to the provisions hereof, thereupon and without any further act or proof, the presiding judge in those counties where there is a presiding judge who assigns causes for hearing or trial, or the chairman of the judicial council in other counties, shall assign some other judge to try the cause or hear the pending matter, and such cause shall be continued on the calendar until the judge so secured or assigned may try the cause or hear the matter. If it is necessary to secure or assign a judge from another county, the chairman of the judicial council shall so assign such judge unless a judge theretofore assigned to the court by the judicial council is available for that purpose. No party or attorney shall be permitted to make more than one such motion in any one cause or proceeding pursuant to this section; and in cases where there may be more than one plaintiff or more than one defendant appearing in the action or proceeding, only one motion for each side may be made in any one action or proceeding.

(4) Nothing in this section contained shall affect or limit the provisions of Section 170 and Title 4, Part 2, of this code, and the provisions of this section shall be construed as cumulative thereto."

The patient shall submit to the interview and examination and shall not in any manner hinder or impede it.

The physician employed by the state division to conduct the interview and examination shall report the results of the examination and interview to the state division.

The physician so employed may testify in any action brought under this division or in any hearing before the State Board of Medical Examiners and his testimony is not privileged.

Every person who violates any provision of this section is guilty of a misdemeanor."

Amendment No. 5

On page 1, line 8, of said bill, strike out "2", and insert "4".

Amendment No. 6

On page 1 of said bill, between lines 18 and 19, insert

"SEC. 5. Section 11163.5 is added to the Health and Safety Code, to read:

11163.5. Any physician, who by court order or order of the State Medical Board or any other state or governmental agency, or who voluntarily, in lieu of prosecution, surrenders his narcotic privileges, shall not possess, administer, or prescribe a narcotic unless and until he has been reinstated and obtained a current registration with the United States Collector of Internal Revenue as provided by law.

SEC. 6. Section 11166.02 is added to the Health and Safety Code, to read:

11166.02. No person shall fill, compound, or dispense a prescription unless it is wholly written in handwriting, signed and dated by the prescriber, and contains the name and address of the person for whom prescribed, and states the name and quantity of the narcotic prescribed.

SEC. 7. Section 11166.12 of the Health and Safety Code is amended to read:

11166.12. The provisions of this code with reference to the writing of narcotic prescriptions on official triplicate blanks and the filling thereof do not apply to any preparations containing codeine or to preparations containing not more than two grains of opium to the fluid or avoirdupois ounce, without additional narcotics when compounded with other medicinal ingredients or to codeine, when prescribed in combination with any of the narcotic drugs or preparations mentioned in this section, or to preparations containing apomorphine hydrochloride, or ethylmorphine hydrochloride (dionin), prescribed in writing in good faith for medicinal purposes only. Such preparations, however, shall be prescribed on a form other than the official triplicate blanks.

When codeine, or tincture opii camphorata (paregoric) is not compounded with other ingredients, it shall be prescribed on the official blanks.

SEC. 8. Section 11170 of the Health and Safety Code is amended to read:

11170. (1) No person shall obtain or attempt to obtain narcotics, or procure or attempt to procure the administration of or prescription for narcotics, (a) by fraud, deceit, misrepresentation, or subterfuge; or (b) by the concealment of a material fact [; or (c) by the use of a false name or the giving of a false address.].

(2) No person shall make a false statement in any prescription, order, report, or record, required by this division.

(3) No person shall, for the purpose of obtaining narcotics, falsely assume the title of, or represent himself to be, a manufacturer, wholesaler, pharmacist, physician, dentist, veterinarian, or other authorized person.

(4) No person shall affix any false or forged label to a package or receptacle containing narcotics

SEC. 9. Section 11170.5 is added to the Health and Safety Code, to read:

11170.5. No person shall, in connection with the prescribing, furnishing, administering, or dispensing of a narcotic, give a false name or false address.

SEC. 10. Section 11178 is added to the Health and Safety Code, to read:

11178. Every person who fills, compounds, or dispenses a prescription for a narcotic shall keep a record that, as to the transaction, shows all of the following:

(a) The name and address of the patient.

(b) The date.

(c) The character and quantity of narcotics involved.

SEC. 11. Section 11179 is added to the Health and Safety Code, to read:

11179. No person shall fill or compound a prescription for a narcotic unless such person is a registered pharmacist under the laws of the State of California.

SEC. 12. Section 11331.5 of the Health and Safety Code is amended to read:

11331.5. In order to provide a supply of narcotics as may be necessary to handle emergency cases, any hospital which does not employ a resident pharmacist

[and which is under the supervision of a licensed physician,] may purchase narcotics on federal order forms for said institution, under the name of said [licensed physician] hospital, said supply to be made available to a registered nurse for administration to patients in emergency cases, upon direction of a licensed physician.

A report showing the kind and amount of narcotics purchased on the federal order form shall be forwarded, by registered mail, to the Division of Narcotic Enforcement, at the time such narcotics are purchased.

SEC. 13. Section 11390.5 is added to the Health and Safety Code, to read:

11390.5. No physician or other person shall order, permit or direct any person other than a registered nurse, or other physician, to administer a narcotic to a person being treated for addiction.

SEC. 14. Section 11392 of the Health and Safety Code is amended to read:

11392. A physician treating an addict for addiction shall not prescribe for or furnish the addict more than any one of the following amounts of narcotics during each of the first 15 days of such treatment:

(a) Eight grains of opium.
(b) Four grains of morphine.
(c) Six grains of Pantopon.
(d) One grain of Dilaudid.
(e) Four hundred milligrams of Isonipecaine (Demerol).

SEC. 15. Section 11393 of the Health and Safety Code is amended to read:

11393. After 15 days of treatment the physician shall not prescribe for or furnish to the addict more than any one of the following amounts of narcotics during each day of such treatment:

(a) Four grains of opium.
(b) Two grains of morphine.
(c) Three grains of Pantopon.
(d) One-half grain Dilaudid.
(e) Two hundred milligrams of Isonipecaine (Demerol).

SEC. 16. Section 11475 of the Health and Safety Code is amended to read:

11475. [No person shall sell, vend, give away, or furnish, either directly or indirectly, to any person other than a physician, dentist, veterinarian, pharmacist, or osteopath, a hypodermic syringe, or a hypodermic needle, without a written, signed order from a physician, dentist, osteopath, or veterinarian. The order shall contain the name and address of the party for whom ordered.] No hypodermic needle or hypodermic syringe shall be sold for human use except upon the prescription of a physician and surgeon, dentist or chiropodist. The foregoing provisions shall not apply to sales of hypodermic needles or hypodermic syringes for human use for the purpose of administering adrenalin or insulin to persons suffering from diabetes or asthma.

SEC. 17. Section 11476 of the Health and Safety Code is amended to read:

11476. [No person other than a physician, dentist, osteopath, chiropodist, registered nurse, veterinarian or pharmacist, shall have in his possession a hypodermic syringe or a hypodermic needle, or any instrument or contrivance used for the same purpose, unless it was purchased by the person with a written order signed by a physician, dentist, chiropodist, veterinarian, or osteopath.] The possession by any person of a hypodermic needle or hypodermic syringe which has been obtained by false or fraudulent representation or design or by forged or fictitious name, or contrary to or in violation of any of the provisions of this chapter, shall constitute a misdemeanor. Any person convicted thereof shall be punished as provided by this chapter.

Consideration of Committee Amendments

The following amendments were proposed by the Committee on Judiciary:

Amendment No. 1

In line 2 of the title of the printed bill, after "market", insert ", declaring the urgency thereof, to take effect immediately".

Amendment No. 2

On page 1 of said bill, after line 10, insert

"SEC. 2. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health or safety within the meaning of Section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution and shall therefore go into immediate effect. A statement of the facts constituting such necessity is as follows:

The problem of making available adequate quantities of food to the communities of the State which have experienced a great increase in population during the war years has become critical. Experience has shown that municipal or free markets alleviate this problem by encouraging additional marketing of foodstuffs at reasonable prices. It is necessary that this act take effect immediately to enable establishment of free markets immediately which will increase available food supplies and prevent wasting of the urgently needed food supply of the State."

Amendments read, and adopted.

Bill ordered reprinted, and engrossed.

(a) Appoint and supervise and direct all officers, agents, and employees necessary to carry out the provisions of this act.

(b) Investigate and report to the commission upon the facilities and services which are needed or which exist in the public recreational areas within the State and by consultation with the authorities in charge, assist in the coordination and development of recreational programs, provided that surveys of the recreational facilities and programs of local agencies shall be made only upon their request.

(c) Advise and cooperate with and encourage community recreation agencies interested in the use of or the development of recreational facilities and programs for public benefit.

(d) Advise the administrative officers of all state agencies, authorized by law to perform recreational services, of regular meetings of the commission and of such special meetings as may consider matters relating to their specific responsibilities, and invite such officers to attend and participate in deliberations of the commission without the authority to vote.

8701. The Director of Recreation may encourage and render assistance in the promotion of training programs for volunteer and professional recreation leaders in cooperation with other agencies, organizations and institutions, and may encourage the establishment of standards for recreation personnel.

8702. The Director of Recreation may assist every department, commission, board, agency, and officer of the State in rendering recreational services in conformity with their respective authorized powers and duties and encourage and assist in the coordination of federal, state and local recreational activities.

8703. The Director of Recreation shall perform such other duties as may be prescribed by law, and such other administrative and executive duties as have been by other provisions of law imposed upon the Recreation Commission.

SEC. 2. The sum of seventy-nine thousand dollars ($79,000) is hereby appropriated out of any money in the State Treasury not otherwise appropriated for expenditure by the Recreation Commission and the Director of Recreation pursuant to this act."

Opinion of Legislative Counsel

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL
SACRAMENTO, March 24, 1947

Number of Copies of Amendments to Bills—No. 3421

Hon. Philip L. Boyd
Assembly Chamber

DEAR MR. BOYD: You have asked us for our opinion as to whether the Standing Rules of the Assembly require four copies of amendments to bills or whether the requirement of four copies applies only to amendments submitted from the floor of the Assembly and not to committee amendments. This question involves consideration of Assembly Standing Rules 51 and 52 which read as follows:

"51. Committee amendments reported with bills shall be considered upon their second reading and such amendments may be adopted by a majority vote of the members present. Assembly bills so amended shall be ordered reprinted and engrossed, and Senate bills so amended shall be ordered reprinted and to third reading.

"52. Any member may move to amend a bill during its second or third reading and such motion to amend may be adopted by a majority vote of the members present.

"Before debate an extra copy of the proposed amendment must be delivered to the Clerk's desk and made available to the author of the bill. Bills so amended on second reading shall be treated the same as committee amendments. Any bill so amended upon second or third reading shall be reprinted and re-engrossed. The Chief Clerk shall order printed not to exceed 1,000 copies of all amended bills."

The apparent ambiguity as to whether the sentence in Rule 52 that we have underlined applies also to amendments submitted by a committee under Rule 51 arises by reason of the fact that the customary practice is to adopt committee amendments on the second reading without debate. However, this is not always the situation and such amendments may be fully considered and debated on second reading.

These two rules are substantially the same as Rules 62 and 63 of the 1945 session with the exception that the underlined sentence has been added. We believe that a comparison of the phraseology of these rules with that of the similar rules of the previous session clarifies any ambiguity and that they should be interpreted as meaning that the extra copy (the fourth copy) of a proposed amendment must be delivered to the Clerk's desk and made available to the author of the bill only when the amendment is offered from the floor, and that this extra copy is not required as to amendments reported out of committee.

We call your attention to that portion of the second sentence of Rule 51 reading "Assembly bills so amended shall be ordered reprinted and engrossed * * *", which sentence refers to committee amendments; also to the second and third sentences of Rule 52 and particularly the latter which reads: "Any bill so amended upon second or third reading shall be reprinted and re-engrossed", which sentences refer to amendments offered from the floor. In our opinion, the phrase "so amended" in the third and fourth sentences of Rule 52 means bills amended as provided in the first and second sentences of that rule and hence limit the requirement of submitting an extra copy of amendments to amendments submitted from the floor.

If it is the desire of the Assembly that an extra copy of amendments be submitted in all cases, it would seem advisable to amend Rule 51 to insert therein a sentence to that effect similar to the one in Rule 52, so that all persons concerned in drafting amendments will be forewarned as to the number of copies. So far as this office is concerned, we have made a practice of delivering four copies in every case as it is impractical and almost impossible to determine whether they will be used in committee or on the floor.

Very truly yours,

FRED B. WOOD, Legislative Counsel
By LAWRENCE G. ALLYN, Deputy

Recommendation of the Governor

In accordance with Article IV, Section 34, of the Constitution, the Governor presented the following communication recommending the passage of Assembly Bill No. 2599:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE
SACRAMENTO, March 25, 1947

To the Honorable Members of the Assembly
Sacramento, California

GENTLEMEN:

Assembly Bill No. 2599—"An act making an appropriation in augmentation of Item 26 of the Budget Act of 1945, for support of the Governor and the Governor's Office, to take effect immediately,"

in my opinion constitutes an emergency bill within the meaning of that term as used in Section 34 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California, the consideration of which should not await the final enactment of the Budget Bill.

I therefore recommend consideration of Assembly Bill No. 2599 as an emergency measure.

Respectfully submitted.

EARL WARREN, Governor

Assembly Bill No. 2599—An act making an appropriation in augmentation of Item 26 of the Budget Act of 1945, for support of the Governor and the Governor's Office, to take effect immediately.

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolutions were offered:

By Mr. Doyle:

House Resolution No. 127

Relating to the construction of the Governor's Mansion

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Standing Committee on Rules, in its capacity as an interim investigating committee as provided by House Resolution No 62, is hereby directed to consider the feasibility of constructing the Governor's Mansion at the east end of Capitol Park in Sacramento, and the chairman of said committee is directed to appoint a subcommittee of three for the purpose of undertaking such consideration.

Resolution read, and referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. Miller:

House Resolution No. 128

Relative to the creation of the Assembly Committee on Unemployment Insurance

WHEREAS, It has been reported that the practice of distributing unemployment compensation checks through local offices of the Department of Employment instead of paying such compensation by mail from Sacramento has resulted in the loss of checks totaling thousands of dollars through burglaries at the Vallejo, San Jose and San Francisco local offices; and

WHEREAS, Said practice has been reported to have cost the State approximately one million two hundred thousand dollars ($1,200,000) more than the distribution of checks by mail from Sacramento would have cost; and

WHEREAS, It has been reported that in some local offices of the Department of Employment undelivered checks two years old are on file, endangering state funds because the checks may be lost or stolen; and

WHEREAS, It has been reported that virtually all local offices of the Department of Employment are from three to four months in arrears in the payment of charges for telephone, gas and light service, payment for which is made through a central office; and

WHEREAS, It has been reported that in the case of some local offices of said department in Sacramento the landlord has complained that the department fails to pay its rent; and

WHEREAS, It has been reported that money has been paid to claimants illegally as a result of the failure of local office personnel of the Department of Employment to check the eligibility of claimants when they certify to unemployment; and

WHEREAS, It has been reported that the administrative accounting section of the Department of Employment is approximately four months behind in paying expense vouchers of employees; and

WHEREAS, It has been reported that there has developed in the Department of Employment a patronage system which has resulted in junior interviewers, clerks, etc., being appointed to high paying positions while field supervisors who were on old lists were passed by when the Employment Service was returned to the State; and

WHEREAS, It is reported that an employee of the Department of Employment was ousted from service at the request of the Social Security Board when he publicly stated that he was unable to fill employers' requests for workers because claimants refused to work and preferred to collect unemployment compensation; and

WHEREAS, The Department of Employment does not publish statistics concerning persons referred to or placed in jobs in its weekly reports so that comparison can be made with the number of persons drawing unemployment compensation; and

WHEREAS, It is estimated that the Department of Employment is not referring to jobs as many as 10 percent of the persons drawing unemployment compensation; and

WHEREAS, It is imperative that all pertinent facts bearing upon the subject of unemployment insurance be found, assembled and analyzed to the end that the Legislature of California may be enabled to act advisedly and judiciously in the premises for the best interests of California in the consideration and enactment of legislation; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, As follows:

1. The Assembly Committee on Unemployment Insurance is hereby created and authorized and directed to ascertain, study and analyze all facts relating to (i) employment and unemployment conditions in California, (ii) the administration, application, operation and effects of the Unemployment Insurance Act, (iii) activities and operations of the Department of Employment, including the State Employment Service, (iv) the relationships between the Department of Employment and the Federal Security Agency, including the Social Security Board and the Bureau of Employment Security, (v) the collection and disposal of revenues collected in California under the Federal Unemployment Tax Act, and (vi) the requirements and conditions imposed upon the governmental agencies of this State by the agencies of the Federal Government under the Federal Social Security Act and the Federal Unemployment Tax Act with respect to unemployment insurance, including but not limited to the operation, effect, administration, enforcement and needed revision of any and all laws in any way bearing upon or relating to the subject of this resolution, and to report thereon to the Legislature, including in the reports its recommendations for appropriate legislation.

2. The committee shall consist of five Members of the Assembly appointed by the Speaker thereof. Vacancies occurring or existing in the membership of the committee shall be filled by the appointing power.

3. The committee is authorized to act during this session of the Legislature, including any recess, and after final adjournment until the commencement of the next regular general session, with authority to file its final report not later than the thirtieth legislative day of the next regular general session.

4. The committee and its members shall have and exercise all of the rights, duties and powers conferred upon investigating committees and their members by the provisions of the Joint Rules of the Senate and Assembly and of the Standing Rules of the Assembly as they are adopted and amended from time to time, which provisions are incorporated herein and made applicable to this committee and its members.

5. The committee has the following additional powers and duties:

(a) To select a chairman and a vice chairman from its membership.

(b) To contract with such other agencies, public or private, as it deems necessary for the rendition and affording of such services, facilities, studies and reports to the committee as will best assist it to carry out the purposes for which it is created.

(c) To cooperate with and secure the cooperation of county, city, city and county, and other local law enforcement agencies in investigating any matter within the scope of this resolution and to direct the sheriff of any county to serve subpenas, orders and other process issued by the committee.

(d) To report its findings and recommendations to the Legislature and to the people from time to time and at any time, not later than herein provided.

(e) To do any and all other things necessary or convenient to enable it fully and adequately to exercise its powers, perform its duties, and accomplish the objects and purposes of this resolution.

6. The sum of five hundred dollars ($500) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby made available from the Contingent Fund of the Assembly for the expenses of the committee and its members and for any charges, expenses or claims it may incur under this resolution, to be paid from the said contingent fund and disbursed, after certification by the chairman of the committee, upon warrants drawn by the State Controller upon the State Treasurer.

Resolution read, and referred to the Committee on Rules.

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolution was offered:

By Mr. Hollibaugh:

House Resolution No. 129

Relative to copies of legislative measures for distribution by the Secretary of State

WHEREAS, The Secretary of State, through the Keeper of the Archives, has maintained a supply of all the legislative measures that have been introduced at each recent session of the Legislature for the use of Members of the Legislature, public officials, and other interested persons and organizations; and

WHEREAS, It is essential, particularly in the preparation of legislative bills, that copies of such measures and chapters of previous sessions be made available to all who need them; and

WHEREAS, The joint rule regarding distribution of legislative publications has apparently been interpreted as preventing the delivery of an adequate supply of legislative measures for this purpose to the Secretary of State; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, As follows:

1. The State Printer is hereby directed to deliver to the Keeper of the Archives in the Office of the Secretary of State 50 copies of all legislative measures and amendments thereof heretofore or hereafter introduced at this regular session and at any special session of this Legislature, that the Secretary of State may make them available in accordance with the established practices of his office.

2. Prior to the convening of the 1949 Regular Session, the Legislative Bill Room shall deliver all surplus copies of legislative measures to the Keeper of the Archives, who shall retain such portion thereof for distribution as may be deemed advisable.

3. This resolution supersedes House Resolution No. 18, on the same subject, adopted January 8, 1947.

4. The Chief Clerk is directed to transmit copies of this resolution to the Secretary of State, the Director of Finance, and the State Printer.

Resolution read, and referred to the Committee on Rules.

COMMUNICATIONS

By Mr. Bennett:

The following communication was received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

Opinion of Legislative Counsel

STATE OF CALIFORNIA
OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL
SACRAMENTO 2, CALIFORNIA, March 31, 1947

Assignment of Liens—No. 3515

Hon. Elwyn S. Bennett
Assembly Chamber

DEAR MR. BENNETT: You have asked whether Assembly Bill No. 149, providing for assignment by the lienor of his lien for wages and material expended on a motor vehicle will permit the legal owner of the vehicle to hold the lienor for damages, wrongful use, or misappropriation by the assignee.

It is our opinion that the assignor of the lien would be liable to the owner of the vehicle.

Although we have found no California authorities to support our opinion, cases in other jurisdictions where a similar question has arisen tend to support our view, that the legal owner of the vehicle may hold the lienor for damages, wrongful use or misappropriation by the assignee of the lien. Davis vs. Bigler 62 Pa 242; Nash vs. Mosher 19 Wend (N. Y.) 431; Tripple Action Spring Co. vs. Gayena 156 N. Y. S. 1064.

Very truly yours,

FRED B. WOOD, Legislative Counsel

ANNOUNCEMENT OF COMMITTEE MEETINGS

It was announced that the following committee would hold a meeting:

Upon adjournment—

Public Utilities and Corporations.

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT THAT REPORT RELATIVE TO THE INTERNAL REVENUE CODE BE PRINTED IN THE JOURNAL

Mr. Thomas asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent that the following report, relative to the Internal Revenue Code, be ordered printed in the Journal:

INCOME TAX—PART I

A. INTERNAL REVENUE CODE

Section 23(a)-2: Traveling expenses. 1947-5-12497
(Also Section 24, Section 29.24-1.) I.T. 3842

INTERNAL REVENUE CODE

Deductions for traveling expenses by members of state legislatures. I.T. 3368 (C.B. 1940-1, 29) amplified.

Advice is requested concerning the deductibility for federal income tax purposes of traveling expenses, including the cost of meals and lodging, incurred by members of state legislatures.

Section 23(a)(1)(A) of the Internal Revenue Code provides in part that in computing net income there shall be allowed as deductions "traveling expenses (including the entire amount expended for meals and lodging) while away from home in the pursuit of a trade or business." Section 24(a)(1) of the code provides that no deduction shall in any case be allowed in respect to "Personal, living, or family expenses, except extraordinary medical expenses deductible under Section 23(x)" of the code.

Upon careful consideration of the general question of whether members of state legislatures may deduct, under Section 23(a)(1)(A) of the Internal Revenue Code, expenditures for their meals and lodging while attending legislative sessions at the state capital, and for transportation between the state capital and the place where a member maintains his permanent residence, the position of the bureau as expressed in I.T. 3368 (C.B. 1940-1, 29) is amplified as set forth below.

Reimbursements and allowances for expenses incurred by a state legislator should be included in gross income. (See Section 29.23(a) -2

(b) and (c), Regulations 111.) The deductibility of such expenses is not, however, affected by state law. (See Maurice Victor Barnhill et al. vs. Commissioner, 148 Fed. (2d), 913, Ct. D. 1646, C.B. 1945, 96.) A state legislator, like any other taxpayer, is entitled to deduct traveling expenses, including the entire amount expended for meals and lodging, only when on business trips which require him to be away from home and his principal place of business.

Where a state legislator's principal place of business and his home are located at a distance from the state capital, he is entitled to deduct the cost of his meals and lodging while attending sessions of the legislature. (See Walter F. Brown vs. Commissioner, 13 B.T.A., 832, and Joseph W. Powell vs. Commissioner, 34 B.T.A., 655.) Where the legislator's principal place of business is at the state capital, he may not deduct his expenses for meals and lodging while there, even though he is, during sessions of the legislature, away from his minor place of business and his permanent place of abode. (See S. M. R. O'Hara vs. Commissioner, 6 T.C., 841.) Obviously, where an individual's duties as a state legislator constitute his only business, no deductions for meals and lodging while attending the legislative sessions may be allowed. These principles governing the deductibility of expenses for meals and lodging are equally applicable to regular and special sessions of the legislature.

In this connection, it might be noted that although the time element is generally one of the more important factors in determining whether a particular location constitutes an individual's principal or minor place of business, it should not of itself be regarded as controlling. (See Commissioner vs. J. N. Flowers, 326 U.S., 465, Ct. D. 1659, C.B. 1946-1, 57.) Thus, the mere fact that a state legislator in an unusual year has to spend more than six months at the state capital does not automatically convert what is normally his minor place of business into his principal place of business for that particular year. Where a taxpayer has two or more business locations, a temporary shift of emphasis from the principal to a minor place of business should be regarded as similar in nature to the temporary departure of a taxpayer having only one business location from the place where he customarily carries on business during the taxable year. (See Charles D. Coburn vs. Commissioner, 138 Fed. (2d), 763, and Harry F. Schurer vs. Commissioner, 3 T. C., 544.)

Where an individual's duties as a state legislator constitute his only business, he may deduct transportation expenses for only those trips from the state capital which are actually undertaken for the purpose of discharging state business. In addition thereto, if a state legislator is engaged in some other trade or business, he may also deduct such expenditures incurred in going from and returning to the state capital for the purpose of attending to matters relating to the pursuit of such other trade or business. However, even though a legislator's permanent place of abode is located in the vicinity of such other business, any expenses incurred for the purpose of being with his family are personal and nondeductible. (See George F. Thompson vs. Commissioner, 6 T. C., 285.)

A state legislator may deduct the cost of nonreimbursed daily travel between his principal place of business and the state capital (his minor place of business), provided such daily trips are necessary for the purpose of discharging his business at both locations.

REPORT OF SUBCOMMITTEE ON ADMINISTRATION OF PUBLIC HOSPITALS OF THE ASSEMBLY COMMITTEE ON GOVERNMENTAL EFFICIENCY AND ECONOMY

To the Honorable Speaker and Members of the Assembly:

The Subcommittee on Administration of Public Hospitals of the Assembly Committee on Governmental Efficiency and Economy files herewith its report on its investigation of the administration of the Kern General Hospital located in Bakersfield, California, and of the activities of public officers and bodies connected therewith.

BASIS OF THE INVESTIGATION

In the early part of January, 1947, the attention of the Assembly Committee on Governmental Efficiency and Economy (which Committee was created by House Resolution No. 225, Fifty-sixth (1945) Legislative Session and continued by House Resolution No. 44, Fifty-seventh (1947) Legislative Session (General)) was called to certain conditions existing at the Kern General Hospital at Bakersfield, California. It was reported that persons not licensed in this State had been, and were still, practicing medicine at that hospital; that the pathologist at the hospital was not licensed to practice medicine in this State and that he had appropriated property belonging to Kern County to his own use and that he had obtained quantities of rare blood from a number of women residents of Kern County upon the false representations that it was to be used for charitable purposes and had sold this blood to commercial laboratories, receiving therefor thousands of dollars which he had retained for himself; that these conditions existed with the knowledge of the board of supervisors, which body had approved the appointment of the pathologist to his position with the said hospital. It was reported, also, that efforts had been made to have the District Attorney of Kern County and the Kern County grand jury take action to correct these conditions, but those public officers had refused to act; likewise, the board of supervisors had not only failed to take any action looking toward a correction of this situation, but had filed a report justifying the activities of the pathologist and the hiring of unlicensed persons to practice medicine in the Kern General Hospital.

If these reports were true, it was at once manifest that the health and welfare of the citizens of Kern County were in danger; that the affairs of the Kern General Hospital were not being properly administered; that the law was being violated; and that those in charge of law-enforcement in Kern County and those in charge of the Kern General Hospital were not properly performing the duties imposed upon them by law. Because of the source whence these reports emanated, there was reasonable ground to believe that the charges were well-founded, and the committee felt that an investigation should be made for the purpose of determining if the alleged conditions actually existed, and, if so, whether or not any changes in, or additions to, the law might be necessary to correct such conditions and prevent further recurrence.

CREATION OF SUBCOMMITTEE ON ADMINISTRATION OF PUBLIC HOSPITALS

Thereupon, and on the twentieth day of February, 1947, the Chairman of the Assembly Committee on Governmental Efficiency and Economy, pursuant to the powers granted him, created the Subcommittee on Administration of Public Hospitals.

The subcommittee was empowered to consider matters pertaining to the organization, functions and administration of public hospitals, including county hospitals, and the exercise of the powers and duties of public officers and bodies in connection therewith.

HEARINGS HELD

The first meeting of the Subcommittee on Administration of Public Hospitals was called for Tuesday, February 25, 1947, at 2 o'clock p.m. at the American Legion Hall, 1301 17th Street, Bakersfield, California. Hearings commenced on that day and were continued on Wednesday, February 26th and Thursday, February 27, 1947, and until 1.30 o'clock a.m. on February 28, 1947. At these hearings the subcommittee received the testimony of approximately 60 witnesses including the Assistant District Attorney of Kern County, and the County Counsel of Kern County, relating to the administration of the Kern General Hospital and the charges hereinabove mentioned; and the subcommittee also received in evidence 121 exhibits.

In the conduct of said hearings the subcommittee carefully avoided swearing and examining any persons whom the evidence indicated might have been responsible for the conditions complained of, and who might be subject to a penalty or forfeiture for any act or fact touching which he might testify, and who, by so testifying, would gain immunity under the provisions of Section 9410 of the Government Code of California.

KERN GENERAL HOSPITAL

The Kern General Hospital is located in the City of Bakersfield, in Kern County. It is owned by Kern County and its governing body is the Board of Supervisors of Kern County. It has facilities for the care of 600 patients, and those eligible to admission and treatment at the hospital include all persons required or permitted admittance by the laws of the State, county employees, and all persons afflicted by accident or sudden illness, and victims of public disaster. The medical functions of the hospital are supervised and directed by the medical and public health director, who must be licensed as a physician and surgeon in California, and who is appointed by and responsible to the board of supervisors. The medical director has the power of appointing, subject to the approval of the board of supervisors, all medical, surgical, nursing, and professional assistants. There is also an assistant to the medical director. The hospital has a medical staff consisting of physicians specializing in the different branches of medicine and surgery, all of whom are under the jurisdiction of the medical director. A number of other physicians are assigned to assist the members of the medical staff in their respective departments. The business and financial division of the hospital is under the direction of the manager of medical institutions, who is directly responsible to the board of supervisors. At the time of the subcommittee's hearings, Dr. Nicolai Rilcoff was the medical director; Dr. W. C. Buss was the Kern County health officer, and one, Alfred E. Rhoden was the pathologist in charge of the laboratory.

THE CASE OF ALFRED E. RHODEN, PATHOLOGIST AT KERN GENERAL HOSPITAL

It appears from the evidence that Alfred E. Rhoden claimed to have been born in Vienna, Austria; that he entered the United States in 1937 under the name of Alfredum Rosenbaum; that between 1937 and 1938 he dropped the name of Rosenbaum and took the name of Rhoden. Rhoden claimed to have been graduated from the University of Vienna in 1936, under the name of Alfredum Rosenbaum. He practiced as a resident physician at Beth-el Hospital in Brooklyn, New York, during 1937, and at the Jewish Sanitarium in the same city in January, 1938 to 1940. He had not had an interneship at any hospital, and the Jewish Sanitarium is not approved for interneship. In January, 1938, he was licensed to practice in the State of New York. On October 25, 1940, he was issued a National Board certificate, although he had not complied with the interneship requirements of the National Board. On January 22, 1945, he obtained reciprocity with Missouri, based upon his National Board certificate, but never practiced in that state.

Before coming to California Rhoden had practiced in Indiana, Arkansas, and Texas. However, he was never licensed in any of those states In 1944 Rhoden obtained an appointment as pathologist at St. John's Infirmary in Houston, Texas, at a salary of $1,000 per month. He was declared essential and not subject to the draft. He engaged in private practice in addition to his work at the hospital and his essential classification was then cancelled. It was suggested that he apply for a commission or be drafted. He thereupon closed his office, quit the hospital, and was not heard of thereafter by the hospital authorities at Houston.

Rhoden was appointed to the position of pathologist at the Kern General Hospital on May 7, 1945. His application was filed with Dr. Rilcoff and his appointment was approved by the board of supervisors The terms of his employment—according to statements later made by certain members of the board—provided that Rhoden would receive a monthly salary of $550; that he would be provided housing accommodations at the hospital and the use of a county car; that he would perform the autopsies for the county coroner for additional compensation; and in order to further supplement his income, that he would be permitted to conduct a private practice, and in connection with his private practice could use without charge, the personnel and the facilities of the hospital. Though the position of pathologist in the hospital is one of the most important posts, and one upon which the proper functioning of the hospital is greatly dependent, the evidence disclosed that no written contract was entered into between Rhoden and the board of supervisors covering his employment in that position; and though the contract alleged to have been entered into contained provisions by which county property was used for private purposes and gave Rhoden the right to conduct a private practice (which provisions are not ordinarily found in contracts between the county and its employees) nowhere was there to be found any written record of this contract, either in the minutes of the board of supervisors, or elsewhere. The Government Code requires that the board of supervisors keep a minute book in which shall be recorded an accurate account of the proceedings before the board. The clerk of the board testified that the minutes of the board of supervisors of the County of Kern did not reflect anything whatsoever with reference to the Rhoden transaction; though matters of much less import in connection with the hospital's business, such as changes of classification of certain doctors, etc., were duly recorded.

In addition to his $550 monthly salary, Rhoden received an additional sum of approximately $500 monthly from the county for performing autopsies for the county coroner and for appearing as a witness for the district attorney. He was employed also as part-time pathologist at the Bakersfield Hospital and at the Mercy Hospital; at the former his salary was $300 per month, and at the latter $600 per month His total income from all of these sources was approximately $1,950 per month, or $23,400 per year. In addition, the evidence indicates that during the year 1946 this income was augmented by the sale of serum, for which Rhoden received approximately $6,300 cash, plus $5,200 uncollected. The board of supervisors stated that a full-time pathologist would cost the county $15,000 yearly, and that by the arrangement with Rhoden they were saving $10,000 annually. However, two of the leading pathologists in Los Angeles County and the President of the Los Angeles County Medical Association expressed the opinion that a properly certified pathologist could be obtained within a salary range of $9,000 to $10,000 per year, and that numerous applicants could be had within the salary range of $12,000 yearly; and these salaries would be for full-time work. It appears from the evidence that all of Rhoden's work for the Mercy and Bakersfield hospitals and for other doctors and patients is done at the Kern General Hospital laboratory, where county-owned equipment and supplies are used for that purpose, as well as the services of the hospital personnel, who are county employees. We doubt whether the county can legally make a contract by which its property can, without limitation, be turned over to an individual for his private use, even though such use be purportedly as part compensation for that person's services. In May, 1946, a survey of the hospital was made by Dr. Thomas R. Ponton at the request of the board of supervisors. In this report, which was made September 2, 1946, he recommended that the contract with the pathologist "should be more clearly stated" and further recommended that all income from private practice should not accrue to the pathologist, but at least 25 percent of these fees should be paid to the hospital to compensate for use of the hospital facilities and personnel. In the year 1946, if such an arrangement had been made the taxpayers of Kern County could have been saved the sum of approximately $4,500, exclusive of a percentage of Rhoden's fees for work done for other doctors, a record of which was not available. The evidence does not disclose, however, that the board of supervisors made any effort to make such arrangements for the benefit of the hospital and the taxpayers, though at the time of the hearing six months had elapsed since this recommendation was made.

RHODEN'S PRACTICE OF MEDICINE WITHOUT HAVING A CALIFORNIA LICENSE THEREFOR

Aside from the fact that Rhoden was the beneficiary of an arrangement so advantageous to him and so financially disadvantageous to the taxpayers of Kern County, it appears from the evidence adduced before the subcommittee that in his work for the county and in his private practice, Rhoden was practicing medicine without having a California certificate to so practice, in violation of the provisions of the Business and Professions Code of the State.

Rhoden started work at the hospital in May, 1945, and was still in its employ at the time of the subcommittee's hearings in the latter part of February, 1947. During this period Rhoden was practicing in Kern County without a California license, with the knowledge of Dr. Rilcoff, the medical director of the hospital, the board of supervisors, and the district attorney.

It appears from the evidence that Rhoden directed the clinical and pathological laboratory at the hospital and supervised the operation of the blood bank. The duties of the pathologist include the examination of tissue of the body for the purpose of ascertaining its condition with relation to disease. The pathological diagnosis consists of two parts; first, the examination of what is called the gross specimen, that is, the whole tissue involved, before it is removed, if possible; and, second the microscopic examination of a piece of the tissue. The taking of a piece of tissue from the person is called a biopsy. From both of these examinations the diagnosis of the condition of the tissue is made, and this is called the pathological diagnosis, which is the basis for the treatment of the disease, if any, which is indicated.

The evidence discloses that what was termed a tumor clinic was held once a week at the hospital. This clinic was presided over by Rhoden and was attended by the hospital staff and by private physicians. At this clinic hospital patients would be examined by all of the doctors, who would make and express their diagnoses. If it was the consensus of the group that a biopsy be taken, that was done. That tissue would then be taken to the laboratory for examination and report by Rhoden and the next week Rhoden would report the result of his examination. When the doctors had expressed their respective diagnoses at these meetings, a final diagnosis was agreed upon and dictated for the report.

Many witnesses who appeared before the subcommittee testified that at the tumor clinic Rhoden made physical examinations of the patients, touching and feeling the affected parts with his hands; that he joined with the other doctors in making the diagnoses; that the examination of the tissue under the microscope and the report thereon were made by Rhoden and that that diagnosis was the one usually accepted by the clinic. One witness testified that he was present when Rhoden would dictate the results of the gross examination of the tissue, and also the result of his microscopic examination, and then give his final diagnosis. This was then typed and thereafter signed either in Rhoden's own handwriting or by the use of a rubber stamp facsimile of his signature. A number of such reports were introduced in evidence before the subcommittee. Similar reports for Rhoden's work for the Bakersfield and Mercy Hospitals were also received in evidence. These indicated that for the Mercy Hospital some 1,000 of such reports were made, and for the Bakersfield

Hospital approximately 400. On some of these reports not only was the diagnosis made by Rhoden, but the type of treatment was also suggested by him. We quote from one of these reports, made over the signature of Rhoden:

"Differential Diagnosis:

Infectious mononucleosis cannot be considered. An overwhelming infection may conceivably be considered, especially if accompanied by endocarditis. However, there is nothing to suggest this possibility from a clinical point of view, and the fact that the patient has not benefited from penicillin is in keeping with this concept. We are left with the diagnosis of acute leukemia and we consider this a typical case.

Treatment: X-ray contra-indicated; supportive; transfusions if indicated; sedations."

Other witnesses testified that Rhoden examined patients in the hospital wards, diagnosed their condition, and prescribed treatment for them. In addition to his work as pathologist for the Kern General Hospital, the Bakersfield Hospital, and the Mercy Hospital, and his private practice, Rhoden performed autopsies for the coroner's office in Kern County, and he was compensated for this work by Kern County. As a part of the autopsy work, Rhoden made reports of his post-mortem examinations, and these reports contained diagnoses made by him of the persons' physical condition and the ailment which caused death.

From the evidence adduced at the subcommittee's hearings, it is manifest that Rhoden's activities as pathologist, as hereinabove outlined, constituted the practice of medicine within the meaning of the Business and Professions Code of this State governing such practice. Section 2141 of that code provides that "Any person, * * * who diagnoses, treats, operates for, or prescribes for any ailment, blemish, deformity, disease, disfigurement, disorder, injury, or other mental or physical condition of any person, without having at the time of so doing a valid, unrevoked certificate as provided in this chapter, is guilty of a misdemeanor." The evidence is clear that Rhoden not only "diagnosed" but also "prescribed for" "disease" and "other * * * physical condition" of persons, and it is not denied that he has been and still is without the necessary certificate which would permit him to perform any of those acts in this State. Our Supreme Court, in the case of People vs Jordan, 172 Cal. 391, has held that "diagnosis, is as much a part of the practice of medicine as is the administration of remedies, and it is a vastly more important branch thereof because, generally speaking, the treatment of disease is governed by the practitioner's theory regarding its cause," and that in pathology "diagnosis" means "the recognition of a disease from its symptoms." The court also holds that "it is impossible to dissociate diagnosis from the practice of the art of healing by any physical, medical, mechanical, hygienic, or surgical means." In thus construing the provisions governing the issuance of certificates for the treatment of the sick or afflicted, the court concludes that it is competent for the Legislature to permit only those persons who are proficient and who have been found to be educated up to certain standards to "diagnose" ailments. Even if there were no evidence of Rhoden's having prescribed for patients (on which subject ample evidence was received) yet, there can be no question that Rhoden's acts hereinabove discussed constituted "diagnosing" as that term is used in the code and as interpreted by our Supreme Court, and were in violation of law.

RHODEN'S UNAUTHORIZED USE OF THE PREFIX "DR." AND THE LETTERS "M.D." IN CONNECTION WITH HIS NAME

Witnesses testified that on a sign above the door of Rhoden's office in the hospital there appears the prefix "Dr." before Rhoden's name, and there was received in evidence a photograph of that sign.

Section 2142 of the Business and Professions Code makes it a misdemeanor for any person to use such prefix in any sign, unless he have at the time an unrevoked certificate as designated by that code. As hereinabove mentioned, Rhoden had no such certificate, and the evidence plainly indicates a violation by him of that section of the code.

The evidence also shows that in the pathological diagnoses and in other documents, Rhoden used the letters "M.D." in connection with his signature.

Section 2395 of the Business and Professions Code prohibits the use of those letters, unless the person using them is licensed by this State to treat the sick or afflicted; and Rhoden, not being so licensed, was guilty of a violation of that statute when he affixed those letters to his name.

RHODEN'S SALE OF Rh SERUM FOR COMMERCIAL PURPOSES

It appears from the evidence that in recent years in the field of medicine a new type of blood known as "Rh" was discovered. Experiments indicated that in about 85 percent of the people the blood contained this Rh factor. In investigating the causes of jaundice among newborn babies, the scientists discovered that 92 percent of the mothers of such babies whom they examined were what is known as Rh negative, indicating a lack of the Rh factor in their red cells. Further investigation developed the fact that when the father was Rh positive and the mother Rh negative, the child would probably be Rh positive. In such cases, there are produced in the mother during pregnancy what are known as "antibodies" and these antibodies operate upon the faetus and as a result the mother suffers a miscarriage or the child is born dead or deformed, or suffering from jaundice, or what is termed "erythroblastosis." Where the woman's titre (the number of antibodies in the blood) is high, there is more chance that these results will occur. So far as is known, no preventive for this condition has been found. However, early induction of labor has in some instances brought about normal birth and saved the baby. Also, where the baby is suffering from erythroblastosis blood transfusion has been resorted to with some success. In order to determine whether or not a person is Rh negative it is necessary that tests be made with Rh serum. This serum is obtained by drawing the blood of a person known to be Rh negative, processing that blood and separating the serum therefrom. Owing to the scarcity of serum, and its importance in medical science, it is very much in demand and commands a high price on the commercial market.

The evidence discloses that while Rhoden was at the hospital he was constantly seeking persons who had Rh negative blood and from whom this rare serum could be obtained. The hospital, too, was desirous of obtaining this serum so that it could make tests of its patients. Dr.

Lucille May, one of the local doctors in Bakersfield, and who had formerly been in charge of the obstetrical department at the Kern General Hospital for a period of five years, had referred several of her patients to Rhoden for Rh testing. Among these patients were Mrs. Charlene Moats, Mrs. Flossie Beacham and Mrs. Florine Walford.

In the case of Mrs. Moats, she had been tested by Rhoden and found to be Rh negative when her first baby was born. The baby was a erythroblastotic baby, but after transfusions, the baby lived. At all times Dr. May was her attending physician. In January, 1946, after learning from Dr. May that Mrs. Moats was again pregnant, Rhoden wrote Mrs. Moats and asked her to call, which she did. He tested her again, told her that her blood was highly sensitized; that by "washing the cells" there would be a possibility that the baby would live. He said he would draw a pint of blood a week, "wash the cells," and return the blood to her the following week, and that she would probably have to do that during the entire pregnancy. He stated that if she didn't give the blood she would probably have a miscarriage. He told her he would take the blood from her "for nothing." Thereafter, 22 pints of blood were drawn from this patient by Rhoden. Rhoden was not always present on these occasions, but his laboratory assistant, Mr. Van Zandt, a county employee, took the blood under directions from Rhoden. Van Zandt testified that Rhoden told Mrs. Moats that if she came in every week for this treatment he could promise a chance of the baby's being born; that if this were not done, she was almost certain to lose the baby. One pint of blood was taken each week, the serum drawn off and the cells returned to the patient the next week. A pint of blood contains about 500 cc. and from this amount about 250 cc. of serum is obtainable. Mrs. Moats was under the impression that her blood was being "washed" and returned to her. In July, 1946, Dr. May first learned that Rhoden had been drawing a pint of blood from Mrs. Moats every week. She called Rhoden and asked for a report on Mrs. Moats, and he said that while her anti-bodies had been low, they had taken a sudden jump in the previous week. Because of Mrs. Moats' condition, Dr. May found it necessary to perform a Caesarian immediately in an effort to save the baby. The baby was alive when born but it died two days later. It was erythroblastotic. Subsequently, Mrs. Moats received a letter from Rhoden asking her to get in touch with him again, and later she received a second letter in which, among other things, Rhoden wrote:

> "No one needs to tell you what the Rh factor may mean in the life of a mother. And so, we are taking here more and more mothers for the Rh factor. In order to test them, we need the serum of highly sensitized people like yourself. There is nothing else that will take its place. We need the help of people like you in this matter. You have a chance to render a real service to many a mother, to many a patient who needs transfusions. We need some of your serum badly for testing * * *
> "To reimburse you for the inconvenience, we would be glad to pay you $20—each time we draw blood—something to start a little bank account for your child with * * *"

Mrs. Moats testified that she did not know the blood had any commercial value; that she was under the impression that it was being used in the community.

In the case of Mrs. Beacham, who had also been tested and found to be Rh negative, Rhoden told her if he took her blood and washed it and put it back, it would lower her titre and the baby might live. He drew blood from Mrs. Beacham eight times in one month, one pint on each occasion. Later, he took blood from her again, ten times in one month, and on two other occasions. Mrs. Beacham testified that she had severe reactions from the drawing of the blood; that at times she would "black-out," would run a temperature, and have the "shakes"; and that when she told Rhoden about it, he said it was her imagination. She testified further that on one occasion she had a fainting spell and the nurse had to use the hot water bottle and put blankets on her. Mrs. Beacham states that Rhoden told her that if she would let him draw her blood, it might help them help other women of the same blood who had babies; and that was why she let him have it. Some of the county equipment used by Rhoden when he took this blood from Mrs. Beacham is still at her home.

Mrs. Walford met Rhoden in June, 1946. He tested her and found her to be Rh negative. He told her that in his experience he had rarely found a titre so high; that there was great need for highly sensitized blood in the blood bank; that sensitized blood from women such as hers was of great benefit in testing other women in the community, and he asked her to consent to give a pint of blood in order that the serum might be used in testing other women. She was hesitant at first and refused, but he insisted and told her that it was not often a person had a chance to be of great service to his community. She agreed to give one pint of blood, which she did. Later another pint was taken without her permission, when she thought the red cells were being returned. He again asked her for more blood and said there was a great need for the blood in the blood bank for testing purposes, and it would be a generous thing to do if she gave the blood again. Upon this representation she consented and thereupon eight more pints in addition to the first two were taken.

The blood of these three women was processed by Mr. Van Zandt, a county employee, with the use of county facilities and material. In the processing, Van Zandt, under instructions from Rhoden, used as a diluent, blood plasma from the hospital blood bank. This blood plasma had been donated to the county for use of the patients at the hospital. Seven parts of the blood plasma were mixed with one part of the Rh serum. This material was then placed in containers and labeled "Kern County Blood Bank." It appears, also, that additional amounts of this Rh serum had been obtained by Rhoden from other women.

E. A. Cutter, Jr., vice president of Cutter Laboratories of Berkeley, California, testified that his firm had some transactions with Rhoden in 1946 in connection with the sale and purchase of this Rh serum. It appears from the correspondence between Rhoden and the Cutter Laboratories and from the testimony of the witnesses, that Rhoden contacted the Cutter Laboratories and offered to supply them with Rh serum at $1 50 per cc. A price of 90 cents per cc., or about $450 per pint was finally agreed upon, and the company purchased from Rhoden three shipments of this serum for $900, $5,400, and $2,700, respectively. The company was under the impression that Rhoden had complete title to this plasma. They paid him for the $900 and the $5,400 shipments, but before the $2,700 transaction was concluded, a civil action based upon the taking of blood from the three women was filed against Rhoden and thereupon the Cutter Laboratories voluntarily agreed to withhold payment of the $2,700.

In one of Rhoden's letters to the Cutter Laboratories he stated that he had on hand excess plasma for sale. The laboratory asked him to let them know if that was the property of the Kern General Hospital, but they never received a reply to that inquiry. The plasma referred to was the ordinary plasma stored in the Kern General Hospital Blood Bank.

In another letter to the Cutter Laboratories, Rhoden stated that he had just obtained from one woman "serum sufficient for about one-half million tests." And this was at a time when, according to his own statements to Dr. May, they did not have enough Rh serum in the hospital with which to test their patients. In this same letter Rhoden stated that he was familiar with a means of artificial "sensitization of human donors of this Rh serum which could be resorted to if the regular source should prove insufficient." This means that the number of antibodies (the substance which causes the difficulties during pregnancy) would be increased.

Though Rhoden agreed that the Cutter Laboratories should have exclusive distribution of this serum, it appears that during the same period Rhoden was making sales of this product to the Hyland Laboratories in Los Angeles. John E. Blaine, Jr., general sales manager for that company testified that Rhoden quoted them a price of $1.50 per cc., but they finally agreed upon a figure of 50 cents per cc., and they purchased from Rhoden 5500 cc. at a total price of $2,500. Payment was not made because of the action which had been filed against Rhoden. This shipment consisted of the four containers prepared by Van Zandt and labeled "Kern County Blood Bank." Mr. Blaine testified further that in a conversation with Rhoden the latter stated that he had done rather well financially in Bakersfield, that he "hated to see it dwindle away," and he wanted to know if the company could pay him on the basis of his rendering services to them as a consultant. Blaine refused to do that and told Rhoden that they could not "jimmy" their books to suit him.

The bills sent by Rhoden to the laboratories called for payment to him personally, and the checks were made in that manner. Neither of the companies knew of the manner in which Rhoden had obtained this plasma. The witnesses testified that they did not know that Rhoden had obtained this blood from donors who thought they were contributing it to the Kern General Hospital Blood Bank, and that if they had known those circumstances they would not have purchased it. And they did not know at the time of the transactions that Rhoden was not licensed to practice medicine in California.

Mrs. Moats, Mrs. Beacham and Mrs. Walford testified that they did not know that Rhoden was planning to sell their blood, and they would not have given it had they been advised of that fact. And none of these women knew until after they had given their blood that Rhoden did not have a certificate permitting him to practice medicine in California.

If payment had not been stopped on two of these blood sales. Rhoden's total income from these transactions would have been $11,500.

The evidence received by the subcommittee on this subject indicates that in his dealing with these women Rhoden indulged in false and fraudulent representations for the purpose of accomplishing his object; that in thus obtaining this Rh blood from his victim Rhoden was violating the law and was subject to prosecution for obtaining property by false pretenses or for larceny by trick and device. In his letter to Mrs. Moats, Rhoden stated that they were taking "here" more and more mothers for the Rh factor, and that in order to test them "we need the serum of highly sensitized people like yourself." And again "we need some of your serum badly for testing." The use of the word "we" and the letter written on Kern General Hospital stationery by the pathologist of that institution, could not help but convey the idea that it was the hospital and the patients therein for whom the serum was needed. With Mrs. Walford the representation was plain that the blood was to be used in the blood bank for testing purposes. At no time did he suggest or intimate that he was going to sell their blood at $450 a pint and pocket the money for himself. However, we do find that, with a generosity and altruism characteristic of his actions when he was inducing these three women to contribute their blood "for the good of the community," Rhoden did offer to pay Mrs. Moats $20 every time he drew her blood—"something to start a little bank account for your child with." That figure is less than one-half of 1 percent of what he was obtaining for each pint of her blood, and it will be observed that this offer was not made until after he had already obtained approximately $5,000 for her blood, and of which sum she had received nothing. It also appears that the blood plasma which was used as a diluent with the Rh serum was plasma which was in the blood bank for use by hospital patients; it did not belong to Rhoden and he had no title to or interest therein; and the facilities, equipment, and personnel of the hospital all were used by Rhoden in these transactions for his personal benefit and to his personal profit. Assuming the propriety and legality of a contract the terms of which permit the use, without charge, of county property, facilities and employees, by an individual, we venture to suggest that even such a contract could not be interpreted so as to bring within its provisions the acts and conduct of Rhoden in connection with the sale of this blood for commercial purposes.

THE EMPLOYMENT AND USE OF UNLICENSED PERSONS IN THE PRACTICE OF MEDICINE AT THE KERN GENERAL HOSPITAL

The evidence discloses that in addition to Rhoden there were at least nine or ten other persons who had been employed by and were practicing medicine in the Kern General Hospital while they did not hold certificates permitting them to practice in the State of California. Most of these persons had been employed during Dr. Rilcoff's regime, and he had personal knowledge of the fact that they did not have California licenses; and while the remainder had been employed prior to Dr. Rilcoff's having been appointed medical director of the hospital, the evidence indicates that these persons were permitted to continue the practice of medicine at the hospital with the full knowledge and approval of Dr. Rilcoff.

Those persons were permitted to practice at the hospital for varying periods of time, some for a period of over a year. These unlicensed persons were permitted to practice medicine in the same manner as the licensed practitioners; they examined patients, diagnosed their ailments, prescribed, entered findings and orders on patients' charts, and performed both minor and major operations. In one instance, one of these men, working in surgery, took over the chief resident surgeon's duties for a period of two months and performed all the duties that the chief resident would have performed had he been there.

It appears, also, that the chief resident surgeon himself was not licensed to practice medicine in the State of California during the period from January 1, 1945, to March, 1946. He had two or three men working under him in that capacity over whom he exercised control and supervision in the performance of their duties, which included both minor and major operations upon hospital patients. This person had been appointed to his post by Dr. Rilcoff, who had knowledge of the fact that he was unlicensed in this State.

In the case of Rhoden, it appears that the fact that he did not have a California certificate to practice medicine was known to Dr. Rilcoff at the time of Rhoden's appointment. Thereafter, and from May, 1945, the date of Rhoden's employment, down to date, Rhoden practiced his profession under Dr. Rilcoff's supervision at the hospital and with Dr. Rilcoff's knowledge that during all of that time Rhoden was without the proper license to practice medicine in this State.

DR. RILCOFF'S KNOWLEDGE OF RHODEN'S ACTIVITIES AND OF THE VIOLATION OF LAW OCCURRING AT THE HOSPITAL

As pointed out above, Dr. Rilcoff, as medical director of the hospital, was at all times cognizant of the fact that Rhoden did not have a license to practice medicine in this State. In his capacity as medical director, Rilcoff knew, or was charged with knowing, just what duties Rhoden was performing at the hospital, and the evidence shows that he did have actual knowledge of Rhoden's work. Rilcoff knew too, or should have known, that Rhoden's activities in examining, diagnosing, and recommending treatment of patients seen by him at the hospital were in violation of law. Rilcoff is charged also with the knowledge that the use of the prefix "Dr." and the letters "M.D." by Rhoden in connection with the latter's name was prohibited by law. Furthermore, as head of the hospital and bearing in mind the elasticity and breadth of the purported contract between Rhoden and the board of supervisors, Rilcoff should have been diligent in seeing that the rights of the taxpayers of Kern County were not impaired by Rhoden in his use of the facilities, equipment, material and personnel of the hospital in the carrying out of his private work.

In October, 1946, Rilcoff wrote a letter to a committee appointed by the board of supervisors to investigate the activities of Rhoden, and in that letter he stated that the blood taken by Rhoden from the three women "was of no value to the Kern General Hospital." But it was this blood, from which the Rh serum was made by Rhoden and for which Rhoden received thousands of dollars personally, a portion of which, under proper hospital administration would have accrued to the benefit of the hospital. Rilcoff further states that "through Rhoden's generosity" approximately one thousand dollars worth of Rh serum had been made available to the hospital without charge In this connection it might be observed that the hospital patients were available to Rhoden for the obtaining of this serum, and if it were obtained by him from them, his act in letting the hospital have it could scarcely be called "generosity," except by some one seeking to "whitewash" his obviously irregular activities.

While Rilcoff in that letter does not mention the sale of blood by Rhoden and the profit he made therefrom, nor the fact that it was obtained by Rhoden by false and fraudulent representations, these facts were either known to him at that time or had been called to his attention later. This conduct of Rhoden's in this connection must have met with the full approval of Rilcoff, since we find that at no time since the transaction occurred has Rilcoff taken any steps toward the censuring, disciplining, suspending, or dismissing of Rhoden; in fact, up to the present time, Rhoden is actively engaged, as heretofore, in his activities at the hospital.

We have hereinabove discussed the employment and use of other unlicensed persons at the hospital. This, too, as has been indicated, was with the knowledge of Rilcoff. This is not a case where the medical director was imposed upon by designing persons who deceived him into believing that they were licensed; here, there is positive evidence that at the time of employment Rilcoff knew that these persons did not have the proper certificate permitting them to practice in this State.

It appears from the evidence, also, that in the hospital pharmacy prescriptions were not kept after the end of a month, though the law requires that all prescriptions be kept for two years, and prescriptions for dangerous drugs and narcotics for at least three years. It appears that when the patient was discharged from the hospital, the prescriptions were destroyed. The pharmacist stated, according to one of the witnesses, that he was not familiar with this state law requiring the prescriptions to be kept on file for certain periods. Dr. Rilcoff, as medical director of the hospital, is charged with the duty of seeing that his assistants and the heads of departments, at least comply with the state law in the performance of their duties.

The law requires that certificates of death be signed by the attending physician. The evidence discloses that Dr. Rilcoff in many instances signed these death certificates when he had had no connection whatsoever with the case as attending physician. Section 10675 of the Health and Safety Code makes such conduct a misdemeanor. Insofar as Dr. Rilcoff's activities are concerned, the evidence indicates that he was guilty of the following criminal offenses:

(1) Aiding and abetting Rhoden in the latter's practicing medicine at the county hospital when he did not have the proper certificate entitling him to so practice in this State;

(2) Signing death certificates as the attending physician of the deceased when he had no legal right so to do; and that he was also guilty of misconduct which should have warranted his dismissal by the board of supervisors for failing to take steps looking toward the dismissal of Rhoden for the latter's misconduct and violation of law in connection with the drawing of the blood from women patients, and the subsequent commercial sale thereof.

THE GRAND JURY'S INVESTIGATION AND REPORT ON THE KERN GENERAL HOSPITAL

It appears from the testimony of W. C. Willis, a member of the 1946 Kern County grand jury that on November 6, 1946, the grand jury called before it Supervisor Salzer. Mr. Salzer gave them the information he had with reference to the hospital and to the activities of Rhoden. This was the same information which he had theretofore transmitted to the board of supervisors. He told the grand jury that Rhoden was using the facilities, equipment and personnel of the hospital in connection with his private work; that Rhoden's contract with the board provided for the payment of $550 per month and the right to engage in private practice; and he told them the details of Rhoden's transactions with the laboratories for the sale of the blood of Mrs. Moats, Mrs. Beacham, and Mrs. Walford, and the representations that had been made to those women by Rhoden in order to induce them to give their blood. After Salzer had testified, the grand jury asked Tom Scott, the district attorney, for advice; he told them that in view of the kind of agreement the board had with Rhoden, there was no case for criminal action. It appears that the grand jury asked both the district attorney and Norman Main, the assistant district attorney, for the statement made by Van Zandt, the laboratory technician who assisted Rhoden in the drawing of blood, but it was never delivered to them.

On December 6th, the grand jury visited the hospital; they were there about four hours. According to the testimony, they met and talked with both Rilcoff and Rhoden. Rilcoff explained the benefits of having hired Rhoden during wartime, but none of the jurors interrogated either Rilcoff or Rhoden about any of Salzer's charges. No one asked whether Rhoden was licensed; nothing was asked as to why Rhoden was permitted to sell blood belonging to the county; no one inquired concerning the drawing of blood from the three women mentioned, nor about the sale of the serum to the laboratories for Rhoden's personal financial benefit; and no one asked Rhoden or Rilcoff with reference to the former's use of county facilities, personnel, and material in connection with his private practice.

Though the trip to the hospital was supposed to be for the purpose of investigating the administration thereof, and to find out if there was any basis for Salzer's charges, no effort seems to have been made by anyone, either the jurors, or those who had them in tow, to see that the jurors were enlightened on the all-important subjects upon which they were seeking information.

The grand jury's report on this investigation is a model of brevity, if not thoroughness and correctness. It states:

"There have been rumors about the hospital administration, but we found no grounds for these reports. We feel that if there are any such conditions existing, our supervisors will correct them."

That is all. And Mr. Willis testified that the basis of that report was the visit of the grand jury to the hospital, plus what information they obtained from Rilcoff and Rhoden.

The grand jury said the report was "very good" and voted to accept it.

The following testimony of this witness with reference to the report is particularly interesting, and somewhat indicative of the attitude assumed by most of the law-enforcement officers and other public officials of Kern County in connection with this matter:

Q. (By Mr. Beirne) Was there any discussion had at all about it?

A. No, there was some discussion. I don't remember just what it was; that that was the easiest way out of a bad condition.

Q. In other words, you recognized that there was a bad condition and you felt that this was the easiest way out of it?

A. Well, that is the way I felt about it personally.

Q. And was it the sense of the grand jury that, for example, this phrase here—and that is what I am directing your attention to particularly; we want to get the basis for this—"There have been rumors about the hospital administration, but we found no grounds for these reports."

A. That is right.

Q. Was that the sense of the grand jury at that time?

A. Yes.

Q. That is what you are referring to when you say it was a bad situation and this was the easiest way out of it?

A. That is right.

Q. Of course, you knew and the grand jurors knew at that time that there was some ground for these reports; either that or Mr. Salzer was falsifying his testimony before the grand jury on the occasion on which he testified.

A. That is right.

THE FAILURE OF THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY TO TAKE ACTION IN CONNECTION WITH THE KERN GENERAL HOSPITAL INVESTIGATION AND THE ACTIVITIES OF RHODEN

Norman Main, the Assistant District Attorney of Kern County, was interrogated by the subcommittee with reference to the connection of the district attorney's office with the Kern General Hospital investigation and the investigation of the activities of Rhoden.

The subcommittee found Mr. Main a hostile and reluctant witness, prone to evade and equivocate and disposed to make it difficult for the subcommittee to obtain direct answers to its questions propounded to him. One of the witnesses testified that when the facts concerning Rhoden's activities had been presented to him, he, Main, stated that he thought the situation at the hospital was a fight between the County Medical Society and the county hospital, and that he was reluctant to issue complaints because he thought that was the basis of the investigation. Mr. Main's attitude on the witness stand gave the impression that he was not inclined to give proper weight to the evidence which had been presented to him, and that he held an animus toward the persons who were desirous of having the matter investigated. In this connection, he stated that he would not consider Mr. Williams as a complainant in the event prosecutions were had. Mr. Williams is the chief special agent for the Board of Medical Examiners of the State of California, and is charged with the duty of investigating cases where unlicensed persons are practicing medicine in this State, and cases of unprofessional conduct upon the part of licensed doctors. We gather from the evidence that Mr. Williams incurred the displeasure of the assistant district attorney by insisting upon a criminal complaint being issued against Rhoden.

It appears from the evidence that as early as May, 1946, Mr. Main was informed that Rhoden did not have a license to practice in California; and that at that time he made an arrangement with Rhoden that when he used Rhoden as an expert witness in the trial of a criminal case, Rhoden was to simply say that he was a pathologist when he was asked what his occupation was.

In the latter part of September, Mr. Salzer presented to Mr. Main the evidence which he had obtained concerning Rhoden's sale of blood, and he was advised also that witnesses were available who would testify as to Rhoden's practicing without a license. The district attorney's investigators contacted both the Cutter Laboratories and the Hyland Laboratories and corroborated the statements made by Salzer as to those transactions. However, at an informal meeting between Main and three of the supervisors, those supervisors informed Main that they thought Rhoden's activities might come within the terms of the board's verbal contract with him, and later, according to Main, they confirmed that original impression. Main testified that it was the opinion of those supervisors—Woollomes, Harty and Noon, that the taking of county blood by Rhoden for use as a diluent in the making of the Rh serum for sale by him for commercial purposes, was within the terms of Rhoden's contract with the board. Mr. Main, therefore, came to the conclusion that insofar as any charge against Rhoden based upon his appropriations of county property for his own purposes, was concerned, Rhoden would be protected by Section 511 of the Penal Code which provides that in a charge of embezzlement, if it appears that the property was taken by the defendant under a claim of right, openly and avowedly, that constitutes a defense to the charge.

Additionally, Mr. Main suggested that he had been unable to ascertain who actually owned the blood, whether the county or some other organization, and that this was an added reason for not considering a charge against Rhoden upon those facts. It appears, however, that Rhoden did not have title to the property, regardless of who was the owner, and Mr. Main should have known that under the law Rhoden could have been prosecuted as a bailee of that property, regardless of where the title lay.

We have adverted above to the fact that as early as May, 1946, Mr. Main was apprised of the fact that Rhoden was without a license to practice medicine in California.

Later, early in November, 1946, Mr. Main was given the same information by Mr. Williams. Then, again, in the early part of December, 1946, Mr. Williams advised Mr. Main by letter that he had gathered considerable evidence relative to Rhoden's diagnosing in his work as a pathologist and also as to Rhoden's practicing medicine in the tumor clinic at the hospital. In this letter Williams asked Main to advise him his then attitude on the issuance of a complaint against Rhoden on charges of practicing medicine without a license. Main testified that he wrote a letter in reply, which Williams states he never received, and if he had, he would have come to Bakersfield immediately. But be that as it may, Main had enough evidence in his hands at that time to have warranted a thorough investigation of that subject. However, as disclosed by his further testimony, Main had no intention of doing anything whatsoever with reference to a prosecution against Rhoden. Williams had provided him with citations of our Supreme Court decisions interpreting the word "diagnosis" as used in Section 2141 of the Business and Professions Code. These citations included that of People vs.

Jordan, hereinabove referred to, and they clearly hold that a person who "diagnoses" without having a California license to treat the sick is guilty of a misdemeanor. However, Mr. Main was of the opinion that all Rhoden was doing was "diagnosing" and that that was not prohibited by the statute unless it was followed by treatment. None of the decided cases makes any such distinction, and our quotation from People vs. Jordan, supra, directly refutes Mr. Main's position. But Mr. Main's reasoning in this connection is interesting; because he could find no case in which the precise question of whether diagnosing without treatment constituted a violation of the statute had been before the court and a decision rendered on that particular point, he concluded that such conduct was not intended to be prohibited, despite the clear definition of "diagnosing" as given by our Supreme Court in the cases cited. And from the witness stand he stated that he "did not have the specific evidence necessary to prove a particular count of practicing medicine." We might observe here in passing that not only did the evidence in Mr. Main's possession (he had the pathological reports from the Mercy Hospital as early as September 21st and a routine investigation would have produced others) show that Rhoden was "diagnosing" but that he was also recommending treatment of the patients.

The following testimony given by this witness is illuminating:

Q. (By Mr. Beirne) And is it your present attitude that you intend to do nothing further insofar as action against Rhoden for a violation of Section 2141, particularly, is concerned?

A. I have no intentions at the moment on that subject, Mr. Beirne. It would be governed by whatever evidence comes in.

Q. And at the present time you have no evidence?

A. Well, almost none.

Q. Almost none?

A. We have these three statements that I spoke of.

Q. Yes.

A. Now, I am not going to say that there isn't some question or answer there that might amount to evidence—that might not amount to evidence.

Q. Tonight, I take it, you were here, Mr. Main, when Dr. Baker testified?

A. Yes.

Q. As to the activities of Dr. Rhoden?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you think evidence of Dr. Baker and evidence of similar character by other doctors would influence you in making further investigation of this matter?

A. It quite possibly would. I didn't hear any particular occasion on when this happened. Dr. Baker's testimony referred to a whole series of occasions, what he testified to generally. You can't prove a criminal count that way.

Q. Was his evidence sufficient to warrant an investigation by you to determine whether or not you could get definite detailed evidence from him?

A. Possibly.

Q. You are a little doubtful about proceeding any further with this investigation, are you, Mr. Main?

A. I told you that I have no intentions whatever with regard to this at the moment. We will listen to whatever evidence we get. I am not particular with what I am going to do. I am going to see what is presented to me.

Q. Would you be interested in reviewing the testimony which has been adduced here before this committee with a view of determining whether or not criminal action will lie?

A. I will review it if you wish to present it.

Q. Would you review it whether we present it to you or not?

A. I don't know whether I will have access to a copy of the transcript.

Q. I think that the board of supervisors has made arrangements for the transcript.

A. That is fine.

MR. BEIRNE: I think Mr. Petrini has made arrangements for that."

The Dr. Baker referred to in this testimony was one of the doctors who had worked at the hospital. He had just testified that Rhoden had not only examined patients in the tumor clinic at the hospital and had diagnosed their ailments, but had also made examinations and diagnoses of patients in the wards.

From the evidence adduced at the hearings, it is the opinion of the subcommittee that Mr. Main could have taken steps to see that a prosecution was instituted against Rhoden for practicing medicine without a license. The evidence was amply sufficient, in our judgment, to have warranted actions being taken; but, even if it were not, there was sufficient to indicate the need for further investigation on that subject. The district attorney had an investigating staff, and the necessary evidence could have been obtained through their efforts, if any had been made. Furthermore, Mr. Main knew that one of the state agencies—the Board of Medical Examiners—was interested in this matter, and, regardless of his personal animus toward Mr. Williams, if Mr. Main had been sincere in his professed desire to properly perform his duties as a law enforcement officer, he should have made further efforts to contact the medical board to ascertain what evidence was in their hands.

With reference to the unlicensed persons other than Rhoden who were practicing at the hospital, the subcommittee was able to elicit from Main—after considerable effort—the fact that he knew that doctors unlicensed by the State of California had been practicing at the hospital and that they did not make any investigation of that matter because "we have crimes of violence to prosecute here." It will be recalled that at least 10 unlicensed persons had been practicing at the hospital, examining, prescribing, and treating patients and performing both minor and major operations. As illustrative of this witness' evasion and equivocation in his testimony before the subcommittee, we quote the following on this subject:

Q. (By Mr. Beirne): All right. Now, did it come to your attention during this investigation, Mr. Main, that there were other unlicensed doctors practicing at the Kern General Hospital, other than Dr. Rhoden?

A. Well, I can't say that I never heard such a thing suggested; but certainly nothing very definite was ever brought to me, and no one made any complaint on that score.

Q. Did Mr. Williams advise you that there were at least 10 doctors practicing at the Kern General Hospital who were not licensed to practice in the State of California?

A. I don't recall it.

Q. You heard something about that during this investigation, did you?

A. I heard there were people out there who were not licensed, but I didn't know in what capacity they were serving.

Q. Did you send out an investigator from your office to find out, follow up that lead?

A. No, we didn't follow up on that, Mr. Beirne, because it was not seriously suggested by any person that any offense was being committed.

Q. You did find out that there were unlicensed doctors out there?

A. I heard people say so today.

Q. I understood your testimony, that you heard that unlicensed doctors were there, but that you didn't know what they were doing?

A. Not true.

Q. You mean you didn't make that statement?

A. I don't think I did. I didn't mean to, certainly.

CHAIRMAN FIELD: Read it back. You said you didn't know in what capacity? You didn't know what they were doing?

A. I don't know what they were doing out there. They might have been orderlies.

Q. (By Mr. Beirne) But you heard that there were unlicensed doctors at the hospital; is that correct?

A. Sometime in the last couple of months I probably did. Unlicensed doctors? No, don't slip that one in on me. I meant unlicensed persons.

Q. What do you mean, unlicensed persons?

A. Well, there are men employed out there. They wear white gowns. I don't know what they do. They might look through a microscope.

Q. Do other persons have to be licensed, other than doctors.

A. Yes.

Q. What I am trying to find out, Mr. Main, the direct question: Whether you knew that doctors unlicensed by the State of California were practicing at the Kern General Hospital.

A. I didn't. Well, that question is quite general as to time, but up until just recently I did not.

Q. When did you first learn of it?

A. Oh, probably sometime in January.

Q. And did you take any steps then?

A. I did not.

Q. Did you make any investigation of that matter?

A. It was a hearsay rumor. It came up in somebody's conversation.

Q. And you didn't follow it up?

A. No, we have crimes of violence to prosecute here, Mr. Beirne. We are pretty busy with that.

Q. And you have been investigating the Rhoden matter for months and the Kern General Hospital?

A. No, we dropped it a long time ago.

The use of the prefix "Dr." and the letters "M.D." by Rhoden in connection with his name, in violation of law, was another matter which did not seem to be important enough to engage Mr. Main's attention in his official capacity as law enforcement officer for Kern County. He was advised that Rhoden was using the title of "Doctor" and he had seen the pathological reports with the letters "M.D." after Rhoden's name; and he knew as early as May, 1946, that Rhoden was unlicensed in California. No steps, however, were taken by him or his office to investigate that matter. Mr. Main's testimony on that subject affords another example of his lack of forthrightness on matters connected with the Rhoden investigation.

We quote therefrom:

Q. (By Mr. Beirne) Now, did it come to your attention that Dr. Rhoden was using the term or the word "Doctor" before his name and the word "M.D." after his name?

A. Yes. I asked Van Zandt whether he was called "doctor" out at the hospital. He said he was, universally.

Q. And there were presented to you, were there not, documents with Dr. Rhoden's name on them, where the word "Doctor" preceded the name "Rhoden" or the letters "M.D." followed his name?

A. It seems to me that that letter he wrote to Mrs. Moats was signed "Dr. Rhoden." The reports of laboratory examinations that he had made, I believe, had "M.D." after his name.

Q. Yes. Now, there is a code section, is there not, in the Medical Practice Act, which makes that a misdemeanor?

A. I think if you read it carefully, you will find the use of "Doctor" refers to sign or advertisement.

Q. Was it called to your attention that there was a sign over his door in the hospital in which the word "Rhoden" was preceded by the word "Doctor"?

A. I was not aware of that, no.

Q. You were aware, as early as June, 1946, that Dr. Rhoden was not licensed to practice in the State of California?

CHAIRMAN FIELD: April; somtime in April.

MR. BEIRNE: No, he changed that to about June.

Q. (By Mr. Beirne:) Somewhere in May or June?

A. If you so state it.

Q. You learned that he was not licensed to practice in the State of California?

A. That is right.

Q. You learned sometime during that investigation that he was a doctor at the general hospital?

A. I knew he was employed there as a pathologist, and I was only interested in his ability to make autopsies and testify regarding them.

Q. Well, that was your only interest, insofar as your office work was concerned? I am speaking of the investigation.

A. Well, then, would you mind repeating the question with regard to the investigation?

Q. You learned in May that he was unlicensed in the State of California?

A. That is right.

Q. About May, 1946. Now, during this investigation you learned, did you not, that he had been employed by the general hospital as a pathologist?

A. Yes.

Q. In the hospital?

A. Yes.

Q. And from your testimony here, you learned that he had been using the letters "Dr." before his name and "M. D." after his name in the documents which you said you saw?

A. As far as a doctor is concerned, that is a pretty convenient handle. I notice almost everybody in this room is using it.

Q. Maybe we are aiding and abetting a violation of the code. But at any rate, did you take any steps and make any investigation to find out if there was a violation of Section 2142, which provides, as you suggest, that "any person who uses in any sign or advertisement the word or prefix 'doctor,' the words 'M. D.' or any other letters indicating or implying that he is a physician, surgeon, practitioner, under this or the terms of any other law, or is entitled to practice hereunder or any other law, without having at the time of so doing a valid, unrevoked certificate, as provided in this chapter, is guilty of a misdemeanor?"

A. I didn't go out and see if he had a sign out, no.

Q. Did you send any investigator out to find out that?

A. No As far as the "M D." is concerned, I understood he is a doctor of medicine. He graduated from school, so far as I am informed. I didn't see it.

Q. That wouldn't make any difference, so far as Section 2142 of the Medical Practice Act.

A. Well, I don't know whether the Medical Practice Act can take the degree away from him or not.

Q. Not taking the degree away. It is just that he can't use it here. Am I correct on Section 2142?

A. I think it is a different section under "M.D."

Q. I just read Section 2142 to you.

A. That is the one about the sign and advertisement?

Q. Yes, the one with "Doctor" and "M.D." on it.

A. I don't recall."

The cases of Mrs. Moats, Mrs. Walford, and Mrs. Beacham had been brought to Mr. Main's attention by Mr. Salzer, and the district attorney's investigators had taken the women's statements. Main also was in possession of the facts concerning the sale of this blood by Rhoden to the different laboratories for a consideration paid to Rhoden personally. When he was interrogated by the subcommittee as to whether or not he had considered a prosecution of Rhoden for obtaining this blood by false pretenses, his reply was that the women never asked for such prosecution, that "they were the injured parties, if anyone," and again, that "their attorney, I am aware, was not interested in such a prosecution."

It is the opinion of the subcommittee that the evidence of those three women, and that of the laboratory officials with reference to the purchase of the blood from Rhoden is so clear and convincing that there should have been no legitimate reason why steps should not have been taken looking toward the prosecution of Rhoden for obtaining property by false pretenses or for larceny by trick and device. The fact that these women had not asked for such prosecution and that they were the injured parties, is no excuse, as the district attorney well knows, for his not performing the duties imposed upon him by law. Nor does the fact that the attorneys for the victims were not interested in such prosecution warrant the district attorney's neglecting his obligation to the people of the State of California. Criminal prosecutions are not instituted simply because of the personal wishes or desires of individuals or their attorneys; nor should they be abated, delayed, or withheld because of the personal feelings of those persons. A prosecution is not commenced for the benefit of an individual; the people of the State of California as a whole are the ones interested in, and for whose benefit the prosecution is had; and if the evidence here indicated that there was reasonable ground to believe that Rhoden was guilty of the offense mentioned (and we are of the opinion that the evidence was even stronger than that) then it was the duty of the district attorney to prosecute.

Insofar as a prosecution against Dr. Rilcoff was concerned, Mr. Main testified that Dr. Wynia might have suggested that to him on the night this matter was first called to his attention, September 21, 1946, but that he, Main, didn't come to any conclusion as to whether or not such prosecution would be had, that he "didn't give the matter any attention."

We believe that the following excerpt from Mr. Main's testimony gives a pretty clear picture of his attitude toward the Rhoden investigation:

Q. (By Mr. Beirne): Well, regardless of—you seem to be interested in the excitement of somebody else about it. Your office is there to prosecute—

A. And we are busy prosecuting all the time, Mr. Beirne, without going out and trying to make up cases, see how many cases we can make.

Q. Is that the situation with reference to the Rhoden investigation, that somebody was trying to make up a case?

A. I don't know.

Q. Is that the feeling that you have about it?

A. My feelings are not relevant here.

Q. You just mentioned or suggested persons making up a case. Now, did you feel that somebody was trying to make up a case here against Rhoden?

A. I was merely pointing out, Mr. Beirne, that there probably are thousands of cases that, if we went out and applied ourselves to them, we could make into a case; but we are not equipped to do that.

Q. Don't you think that this matter was of sufficient importance to the residents of Kern County to have warranted a full and complete investigation of all the information that you had on hand, wherever it came from?

A. You are speaking now of Dr. Rilcoff or Dr. Rhoden?

Q. No, I am speaking of the Rhoden investigation.

A. Well, we gave it quite a lot of time, I believe, Mr. Beirne; I believe a great deal of time.

Q. Do you think you gave it the time and effort and thoroughness of investigation that was warranted in a case of this kind in which the whole county, all the residents of Kern County, were vitally interested?

A. Well, if you will leave the argumentative part out of your question, I think I gave it more consideration than it deserves.

Q. You think the district attorney's office—I am not speaking of you personally, I am speaking of the district attorney's office—you think the district attorney's office gave the Rhoden case more consideration than it deserved?

A. Well—

Q. Do you want to go on record with that now?

A. Of course, I can't speak for the office. My chief should do that. But that is my feeling about it, if that is what you want.

Q. It isn't what I want.

A. Well, that is just a personal opinion."

If the Rhoden investigation, involving as it did the health and welfare of the citizens of Kern County, the theft of human blood by a county employee, and numbers of unlicensed persons practicing medicine at the county's hospital, was given "more consideration than it deserved" by the district attorney's office, from our review of the evidence here, we are inclined to wonder how much attention, if any, is given to the investigation of a simple criminal case in Kern County.

THE ACTS AND CONDUCT OF THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF KERN COUNTY IN RESPECT OF THE KERN GENERAL HOSPITAL AND RHODEN'S INVESTIGATION

Mr. Norbert Baumgarten, County Counsel of Kern County and legal advisor to the board of supervisors, testified as to the latter's connection with the hospital investigation and the hiring of Rhoden.

It appears that after Supervisor Salzer had called the matter of Rhoden's activities to the board, a special committee was appointed to make an investigation. Mr. Baumgarten was a member of this supervisor's committee. They had been informed of all of Rhoden's activities at that time. Their investigation consisted of talking with Dr. Rilcoff about the matter and making a report which consisted of a written statement by Rilcoff to the committee, and they stated that "nothing has been presented to the committee, nor has the committee any knowledge of any evidence contrary to the contents of said letter." Rilcoff's letter outlined the agreement made with Rhoden by the board of supervisors and stated that it was in accord with the policy suggested by Dr. Ponton in his survey. However, as pointed out above, Dr. Ponton's suggestion was that the hospital be given at least 25 percent of the pathologist's fees from outside sources.

Rilcoff suggested also that $550 per month was wholly inadequate to attract a full time pathologist. He failed to mention, however, that Rhoden was being paid an additional sum of approximately $500 a month by the county for autopsy work.

Nothing is said in this letter about Rhoden's practicing without a license.

According to the evidence, this supervisor's committee knew at the time that Rhoden had obtained the blood of the three women and had sold it at a profit to himself; they knew of the representations alleged to have been made by Rhoden in that connection; they knew of Dr. Ponton's report, since it had been authorized by and filed with the board; and they knew that Rhoden was obtaining an additional sum of approximately $500 per month from the county over and above his salary; and they knew that Rhoden was unlicensed to practice medicine in the State of California. And yet, in the face of that knowledge, they make the bald statement that they had no knowledge of any evidence contrary to the contents of Rilcoff's letter.

Subsequently, and in December of 1946, this supervisor's committee made another report in connection with its investigation at the hospital. This report was based upon conversations with Rhoden, Rilcoff and Mr. Main, the assistant district attorney. Interrogated concerning this report, Mr. Baumgarten testified he was of the opinion that, as stated in the report, "the present attack" was wholly unfounded and there was some ulterior motive in bringing it, and that Rhoden was not guilty of any malfeasance. This report attempts to justify the actions of Rhoden and the board of supervisors in hiring and retaining him, and insinuates that some group is endeavoring to obtain control of the hospital and that the charges against the hospital administration have been made for that purpose and not because there was any basis for them. In this connection, it will be recalled that the State Medical Board, a state agency, was interested in investigating this matter, and there is no evidence that that body was under the control of any person or group in Kern County. Further, a review of the evidence, adduced before the legislative subcommittee and which was in the hands of the law-enforcement officers and the Board of Supervisors of Kern County, refutes completely any suggestion that the charges were unfounded. This supervisor's committee report is nothing more nor less than a "whitewash" of Rhoden, Rilcoff, and the board of supervisors—an attempt to justify conduct that was palpably irregular and illegal. The board of supervisors had made a contract which, in the judgment of this legislative subcommittee should never have been saddled upon the taxpayers—one which resulted in a financial loss to the county. Its terms were so indefinite that Rhoden could have done practically anything with the county property used in his work, and he would have been within his rights, according to the board. As will be recalled, the board reached the conclusion that Rhoden even had the right to use and sell the blood from the county blood bank in connection with his private work. And this contract, it will be observed, was not handled in the regular manner—no official entry thereof was made in the minutes of the board.

When the suggestion of prosecuting Rhoden was made to the district attorney, it was the members of the board who informed the district attorney that they thought Rhoden's activities were legal. In this respect, they state they did not believe Rhoden had done anything improper in connection with the drawing and selling of the blood, as hereinabove outlined. At the time of making this statement, they had in their possession all of the details of those transactions, and it seems to this legislative subcommittee that that information would have warranted a thorough investigation and hearing by the board for the purpose of determining whether or not an employee of the county, in an important post at the county hospital, was or was not guilty of misconduct warranting his dismissal.

This legislative subcommittee cannot refrain from commenting on the fact that the Board of Supervisors of Kern County has employed to represent them in this investigation the same attorney whom two county employees who are under fire have retained in matters relating to this same inquiry. The facts are that Rhoden and Rilcoff were represented by Mr. Petrini before the State Board of Medical Examiners, one in the capacity of principal and the other in the capacity of a witness. In addition, it appears also that Petrini represents Rhoden in the civil action brought by Mrs. Moats, Mrs. Beacham and Mrs. Walford against Rhoden for damages arising out of the blood transaction. Petrini testified before the legislative subcommittee that he had been employed by the board of supervisors to represent that body in the subcommittee's investigation; that he was associated with the county counsel for that purpose; and the minutes of the board reflect that employment, but with a similar indefiniteness as to compensation as that which featured the board's contract with Rhoden. In fact, Petrini testified that no arrangement had been made for fees, although "I was appointed by the board of supervisors with the same breadth of authority that the board of supervisors has."

The action of the board in retaining Petrini is particularly obnoxious in view of the fact that the board has at its command the county counsel of Kern County whose duty it is to represent the supervisors in all legal proceedings. Instead of allowing the people's counsel—the county counsel—to represent them in this matter in a neutral position and without any entanglements with the two members whose conduct and activities have been under investigation, the board not only seeks additional private counsel, but goes out of its way to secure the services of the very attorney who is defending the accused county employees. A mere recital of the facts shows the conflict of interests between the board as representatives of the people and these two county employees against whom serious charges have been made.

This action of the board of supervisors in retaining the same counsel as the accused employees emphasizes again the dereliction of duty upon the part of the board in failing to have maintained the neutral attitude required of representatives of the people as a whole, and of the taxpayers of Kern County in particular in a matter of this nature. They knew when they employed Petrini to represent them that they were thus making common cause as it were with Rhoden and Rilcoff and with the attorney of this pair; by that action they knew that they would be assured of the benefit of any sympathetic or favorable move that Rilcoff or Rhoden might make through their counsel. In the opinion of this subcommittee, the action of the board of supervisors in this connection constituted a most flagrant violation of their duties to the taxpayers of Kern County.

We find that the board of supervisors, like the district attorney, did not make the effort it should have made in this matter to protect the interests of the taxpayers of Kern County; but, on the contrary, used its official position in an endeavor to prevent a full disclosure of the true facts and thus preclude a necessary correction of the irregularities in the administration of the hospital.

CONCLUSIONS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

It is incredible and amazing that a situation such as disclosed by the evidence at the subcommittee's hearings could have existed in Kern

County; that a score of unlicensed doctors would be hired as county employees, with the knowledge of the board of supervisors, and of the medical director of the county hospital, and be permitted to practice medicine in flagrant violation of our law; that the board of supervisors would approve the appointment of, and enter into, a contract with another unlicensed person to act as head of the pathological department at the county hospital and practice medicine therein in violation of the law, and permit him the privilege also of engaging in private practice and of using the facilities, equipment, material and personnel of the county hospital, without charge, in his private practice; that this same unlicensed person would be permitted, in violation of law and with the knowledge of the board of supervisors and of the medical director of the hospital, to hold himself out as a doctor licensed to practice in this State and to use the prefix "Dr." and the letters "M.D." in connection with his name; that this unlicensed person would obtain the blood of pregnant women upon the false and fraudulent representation that it would be used for the benefit of the community and for testing purposes locally, and would then sell the serum obtained from that blood and receive thousands of dollars therefor, retaining the money for his own benefit; that the board of supervisors would see nothing irregular or illegal in such acts and conduct on the part of that person; and that both the board of supervisors and the district attorney would treat these matters and the protection of the taxpayers of Kern County and the patients at the Kern General Hospital with cynical contempt and indifference by refusing to take steps to prosecute for the offenses, the clear evidence of which had been brought to their attention not once, but on numerous occasions. Yet, incredible as it seems, such were the conditions which the subcommittee found existing in Kern County, as disclosed by the evidence received at the subcommittee hearings. From this evidence we draw the following conclusions:

1. That the contract of Rhoden with the board of supervisors which gave him the right to use, without charge, the facilities, personnel, equipment and material of the county was to that extent illegal;

2. That even if said contract were legal, it did not contemplate Rhoden's appropriating blood from the county blood bank and using it for his private purposes and personal profit;

3. That Rhoden was guilty of practicing medicine without a license;

4. That Rhoden used the prefix "Dr." and the letters "M.D." in connection with his name, in violation of law;

5. That Rhoden obtained the blood of Mrs. Moats, Mrs. Walford and Mrs. Beacham by false and fraudulent representations, and sold it and received and retained the proceeds of said sale.

6. That unlicensed persons were employed and worked as county employees at the hospital, and practiced medicine therein.

7. That Dr. Rilcoff knew that Rhoden and the other unlicensed persons practicing medicine at the hospital did not have the certificates entitling them to practice in this State.

8. That the board of supervisors (with the exception of Supervisor Salzer) was derelict in its official duties, and in its obligations to the taxpayers of Kern County, in the following particulars:

A. In making a contract with Rhoden by the terms of which Rhoden was permitted to use the personnel, facilities, material and equipment of the Kern General Hospital in his private practice, and without charge, and in failing to make an official record of that contract, or otherwise make public its terms;

B. In violating the laws of this State by employing Rhoden and permitting him to practice medicine at the county hospital, when the board well knew that Rhoden did not have a license to practice medicine in this State;

C. In permitting Rhoden to appropriate the blood from the county blood bank and use this blood in his private practice and for his own personal benefit and profit;

D. In failing to take action looking toward the disciplining, suspension, or dismissal of Rhoden for his actions and conduct in connection with the fraudulent obtaining of blood from Mrs. Moats, Mrs. Beacham and Mrs. Walford and the subsequent sale of the blood serum by Rhoden for his own personal benefit and profit;

E. In violating the laws of this State by knowingly permitting Rhoden to illegally use the prefix "Dr." and the letters "M.D." in connection with his name at the hospital;

F. In violating the laws of this State by permitting unlicensed persons to practice medicine at the hospital, when the board knew that such practice constituted a criminal offense;

G. In failing to take steps to have both Rhoden and Dr. Rilcoff prosecuted for the offenses disclosed by the evidence to have been committed by them.

9. That the District Attorney was derelict in his official duties in the following particulars:

(a) In not making the proper investigation to determine if certain offenses had been committed by the parties involved in the hospital and Rhoden investigation, and in not taking steps to institute criminal prosecutions against those persons when he had sufficient evidence in his possession indicating that there was reasonable ground to believe that offenses had been committed by these persons.

It is the opinion of the subcommittee that the District Attorney, had he been at all desirous of performing the duty resting upon him as the law enforcement officer of Kern County in connection with this matter, could have and should have taken the necessary steps looking toward prosecutions based upon the following charges:

(1) Prosecution of Rhoden for practicing medicine without a license in California;

(2) Prosecution of Rhoden for using the letters "Dr." and "M.D." in violation of the Medical Practice Act of the State of California;

(3) Prosecution of Rhoden for obtaining the blood of Mrs. Moats, Mrs. Walford and Mrs. Beacham by false pretenses or by trick and device;

(4) Prosecution of Rhoden for appropriating to his own use the blood belonging to the Kern County Blood Bank;

(5) Prosecution of Dr. Rilcoff for aiding and abetting Rhoden in the latter's practicing medicine without a license in California;

(6) Prosecution of Dr. Rilcoff for aiding and abetting Rhoden in violating the Medical Practice Act by using the letters "Dr." and "M.D.";

(7) Prosecution of Dr. Rilcoff for aiding and abetting approximately 10 or more persons to practice medicine at the Kern General Hospital without those persons having a license in California.

10. That the conditions hereinabove outlined and existing at the Kern General Hospital are inconsistent with proper and efficient hospital administration.

Based upon the evidence adduced at the hearings and upon the conclusions hereinabove stated, the subcommittee makes the following recommendations:

a. That the Legislature enact a law providing that public hospitals, such as those operated by counties, obtain operating licenses from the State Department of Health. A number of bills have been introduced at this session of the Legislature covering this subject.

b. That those sections of the Business and Professions Code governing the issuance of licenses to those persons treating the sick and afflicted, be amended so as to prohibit the performing of autopsies or post-mortems by persons other than physicians and surgeons licensed to practice in this State.

c. That Section 2141 of the Business and Professions Code be amended so as to include a specific definition of the word "diagnosis" as that word is used in said section.

d. We feel that insofar as the contract between the Board of Supervisors of Kern County and Rhoden is concerned, the evidence does not disclose a need for any change in or addition to the laws governing the powers of boards of supervisors to contract. While we are convinced that this contract, if it contained, as claimed, the provisions with reference to the use of county property and personnel by Rhoden, without charge, is invalid, its invalidity arises not because of any defect or inadequacy in the law, but solely because of a violation of that law by the board of supervisors.

e. That each county hospital must be under the supervision of a chief administrator who shall be of good moral character, and shall have been found qualified by the State Board of Public Health.

It may be noted here that Supervisor Salzer was the only member of the board of supervisors who showed a sufficient interest in the proper administration of the county hospital and in the welfare of the taxpayers of Kern County to insist upon a correction of the conditions at the hospital and upon the dismissal of Rhoden from the county service, and were it not for Mr. Salzer's efforts it is doubtful whether or not the unwholesome conditions at the county hospital and the violations of law committed by the county employees therein, would have been brought to the attention of the residents of Kern County.

Since the preparation of this report, it has come to the attention of the subcommittee that the State Board of Medical Examiners has suspended Dr. Rilcoff's license to practice medicine in this State for the period of one year, and has placed him on probation for a period of five years. This action was taken subsequently to the close of the subcommittee's hearings.

Also, the subcommittee has been informed that subsequently to the medical board's action, Mr. Main, the Assistant District Attorney of Kern County finally agreed to take steps to prosecute Rhoden and that a complaint, in four counts, charging Rhoden with the offense of practicing medicine without a license has been filed in Kern County.

Since this hearing was concluded, and even while the subcommittee was in the process of compiling its report, it came to the attention of the subcommittee that following the medical board's order suspending him from the practice of medicine, Dr. Rilcoff was employed by the board of supervisors as lay administrator of the Kern General Hospital. This position will carry the same salary, we are informed, as he received as medical director of the hospital. The subcommittee must point out that again the supervisors have demonstrated an almost uncanny penchant for flying in the face of what the subcommittee would consider sound practice in administering public affairs. The conduct of Rilcoff in permitting men under him to practice upon the patients in the hospital when he knew these men were not licensed to practice medicine in California, indicates a very low concept of moral standards. It is bad enough when the layman falls into loose practices, but with a professional man in the position of Dr. Rilcoff, we look for higher concepts due to his training in professional conduct and standards. The deplorable attitude of the board of supervisors as far as professional standards are concerned in condoning these practices might be mitigated upon the grounds of ignorance, but it is also disclosed that the supervisors were warned by Dr. Ponton, the efficiency expert whom they employed over a year ago to investigate and report upon the administration of the hospital. In that report the matter of the choice of an administrator for the hospital was considered for the express purpose of making recommendations to the board on the qualifications to be expected of the person chosen to fill that position. In the course of his investigation, Dr Ponton considered the possibility of the position's being filled by Dr. Rilcoff. This man was found to be not acceptable for the post of administrator in the opinion of the efficiency expert. We quote from his report on that point as follows:

> "Administrators having a wide experience required to administer so large an institution are not abundant, and should one be found who appears to have the necessary qualifications, special care must be exercised to be certain that he has the knowledge and the ability to deal with the very serious medical staff problems with which he will be faced. * * *

"He (Dr. Rilcoff) states that he had no experience in administration, and shows a marked inflexibility in his attempt to attain his ideals. Being young and inexperienced in the difficulties encountered by the practicing physician, he does not have a sympathetic understanding of the problems of the members of the attending staff. He would not make a successful superintendent, * * *" (Emphasis ours.)

Under the circumstances disclosed by the evidence, it is the opinion of this subcommittee that the board of supervisors should immediately discharge Dr. Rilcoff from his new post as lay administrator at the hospital, and that he be not employed in any capacity as an employee of Kern County.

The board of supervisors in employing Rilcoff as a lay administrator flagrantly disregarded the conclusions and action of the Board of Medical Examiners in respect of Rilcoff's conduct and moral character, and showed themselves to be cynically indifferent to the opinions and recommendations of the efficiency expert, whom they had employed at the expense of the taxpayers to make recommendations for the improvement of the administration of the hospital It is difficult to understand how men holding the high position of supervisor in one of the leading counties of this State could be so contemptuous of the public trust as these men have demonstrated themselves to be.

A copy of this report will be forwarded to the Attorney General of the State of California for proper action.

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolution was offered:

By Mr. Cooke:

House Resolution No. 130

Relative to creating an Assembly Fact-Finding Committee on Housing Regulation Violations

WHEREAS, This Legislature is vitally interested in alleviating an acute housing shortage throughout the State and has repeatedly memorialized the President and Congress of the United States to make available the essential materials immediately necessary to a construction program; and

WHEREAS, This body has before it legislation to aid and assist war veterans in obtaining temporary and permanent housing facilities, and to encourage and insure a construction program which will provide adequate housing in sufficient quantity and at the earliest possible date to relieve a serious situation; and

WHEREAS, The press has recently given wide publicity to an open and flagrant violation of federal law by the Tanforan Race Track which pursued a construction program which has no immediate need and serves no useful purpose, and which was undertaken and completed in defiance of court orders and administrative process; and

WHEREAS, This reported flagrant violation has become a matter of national concern; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, As follows:

1. The Assembly Fact-Finding Committee on Housing Regulations is hereby created and authorized and directed to study, investigate and report upon the reported violation of federal regulations by the Tanforan Race Track, and inquire, investigate, ascertain and determine and report upon what basis a racing permit was granted to the said race track operators, and why the said permit was not canceled or revoked by the California Horse Racing Commission in view of the known conditions and circumstances attending this matter; and to study the needed revision of any and all laws in any way bearing upon or relating to the subject of this resolution, and to report thereon to the Assembly, including in the reports its recommendations for appropriate legislation to prevent a recurrence of such violation.

2. The committee shall consist of three Members of the Assembly appointed by the Speaker thereof. Vacancies occurring or existing in the membership of the committee shall be filled by the appointing power.

3. The committee is authorized to act during this session of the Legislature, including any recess, but not after final adjournment

4. The committee and its members shall have and exercise all of the rights, duties and powers conferred upon investigating committees and their members by the provisions of the Joint Rules of the Senate and Assembly and of the Standing Rules of the Assembly as they are adopted and amended from time to time, which provisions are incorporated herein and made applicable to this committee and its members.

5. The committee has the following additional powers and duties:

(a) To select a chairman and a vice chairman from its membership.

(b) To contract with such other agencies, public or private, as it deems necessary for the rendition and affording of such services, facilities, studies and reports to the committee as will best assist it to carry out the purposes for which it is created

(c) To cooperate with and secure the cooperation of county, city, city and county, and other local law enforcement agencies in investigating any matter within the scope of this resolution and to direct the sheriff of any county to serve subpenas, orders and other process issued by the committee.

(d) To report its findings and recommendations to the Legislature and to the people from time to time and at any time, not later than herein provided

(e) To do any and all other things necessary or convenient to enable it fully and adequately to exercise its powers, perform its duties, and accomplish the objects and purposes of this resolution.

6. The sum of five hundred dollars ($500) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby made available from the Contingent Fund of the Assembly for the expenses of the committee and its members and for any charges, expenses or claims it may incur under this resolution, to be disbursed after certification by the chairman of the committee, upon warrants drawn by the State Controller upon the State Treasurer

Resolution read, and referred to the Committee on Rules.

House Resolution No. 131

Relative to Mrs. Josephine Mahé of San Francisco

WHEREAS, Mrs. Josephine Lande Mahé passed away in her ninety-third year in her beloved City of San Francisco; and

WHEREAS, Mrs. Mahé was the eldest native daughter of California, born to her pioneer parents, Raphael and Maria Lande, at the old Montgomery Block near Portsmouth Square on August 5th in 1853; and

WHEREAS, As the wife of the late Dr. Gustave Mahé she began a long lifetime of interest and active participation in the religious, civic, fraternal and cultural growth of San Francisco and California; and

WHEREAS, As an officer and member of Buena Vista Parlor, Native Daughters of the Golden West, and of the Association of Pioneer Women of California, she advanced the interests of her native city and State; and

WHEREAS, By her exemplary services as teacher in the old Lincoln School she helped endow the attainments of many prominent Californians in contemporary walks of life; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Members of this Assembly regret the passing of this gentle and great eldest native daughter and commend her to her eternal reward; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk be instructed to forward copies of this resolution to the following: Buena Vista Parlor, N. D. G. Assembly Constitutional Amendment No. 9

A resolution to propose to the people of the State of California an amendment to the Constitution of California by amending Section 14, Article I, thereof, relating to immediate possession in eminent domain proceedings

Resolved by the Assembly, the Senate concurring, That the Legislature of the State of California, at its Fifty-seventh Regular Session commencing on the sixth day of January, 1947, two-thirds of all members of each of the two houses voting in favor thereof, hereby propose that Section 14, Article I, of said Constitution be amended to read as follows:

SEC. 14. Private property shall not be taken or damaged for public use without just compensation having first been made to, or paid into court for, the owner, and no right of way or lands to be used for reservoir purposes or beaches to be used for recreational purposes or sites to be used for public buildings or sites to be used for civic centers shall be appropriated to the use of any corporation, except a municipal corporation or a county or the state or metropolitan water district, municipal utility district, municipal water district, drainage, irrigation, levee, reclamation or water conservation district, or similar public corporation until full compensation therefor be first made in money or ascertained and paid into court for the owner, irrespective of any benefits from any improvement proposed by such corporation, which compensation shall be ascertained by a jury, unless a jury be waived, as in other civil cases in a court of record, as shall be prescribed by law; provided, that in any proceeding in eminent domain brought by the State, or a county, or a municipal corporation, or metropolitan water district, municipal utility district, municipal water district, drainage, irrigation, levee, reclamation or water conservation district, or similar public corporation, the aforesaid State or municipality or county or public corporation or district aforesaid may take immediate possession and use of any right of way or lands to be used for reservoir purposes or beaches to be used for recreational purposes or sites to be used for public buildings or sites to be used for civic centers required for a public use whether the fee thereof or an easement therefor be sought upon first commencing eminent domain proceedings according to law in a court of competent jurisdiction and thereupon giving such security in the way of money deposited as the court in which such proceedings are pending may direct, and in such amounts as the court may determine to be reasonably adequate to secure to the owner of the property sought to be taken immediate payment of just compensation for such taking and any damage incident thereto, including damages sustained by reason of an adjudication that there is no necessity for taking the property, as soon as the same can be ascertained according to law. The court may, upon motion of any party to said eminent domain proceedings, after such notice to the other parties as the court may prescribe, alter the amount of such security so required in such proceedings. The taking of private property for a railroad run by steam or electric power for logging or lumbering purposes shall be deemed a taking for a public use, and any person, firm, company or corporation taking private property under the law of eminent domain for such purposes shall thereupon and thereby become a common carrier.

The measure under discussion by the committee became Assembly Bill No. 700, introduced by Mr. Weber, January 27, 1947, California Legislature, Fifty-seventh (General) Session. It is entitled:

An act to provide for the organization, government and management of oil and gas drilling districts, public bodies corporate and politic, to prescribe and define their powers, duties, purposes and responsibilities, to provide for the acquisition, construction, maintenance and operation of works and other property for the purposes of such districts, and for the dissolution of such districts.

Concerning Assembly Bill No. 700, which was referred to the Committee on Manufacturing, Oil, and Mining Industry, Assemblyman Weber made the following statement:

"The bill offers a solution to the very complex physical and legal problems of drilling for gas in urban and suburban areas.

"During the last two decades such problems have found their way into the courts for solution, but in most cases, the solution was one of compromise based upon judicial reasoning rather than upon the equitable distribution of the wealth resulting from the actual production of oil or gas to the owner or lessors of the land. These experiences in the court have indicated that a cooperative organization in the form of a quasi-public district covering the lands of the lessors, or lessees, would be highly desirable. It is felt by the author that the existence of such a permissive law in the statutes, even though it would not be used immediately, would prove to be far-sighted legislation and would anticipate in a timely manner the future requirements of the oil industry."

Tidelands Hearings

Two of the members of this committee—Chairman Dills and Assemblyman Sam L. Collins—were chosen as members of a Joint Legislative Committee to appear before the United States Senate Judiciary Committee in Washington, February 7, 1946, at which time they submitted the following report:

BEFORE THE JUDICIARY COMMITTEE OF THE SENATE OF THE UNITED STATES

February 7, 1946

Statement of the Representatives of the Legislature of the State of California

The State of California has claimed and exercised ownership, dominion and jurisdiction over the lands under the ocean seaward for a distance of three miles and the lands under all tidal and navigable waters within its boundaries ever since its admittance as a state in the year 1850. The State most forcefully now asserts these claims. This ownership has been recognized, established and respected by everybody, including the United States of America and all agencies thereof, until about 1937 when the so-called Nye Resolution was introduced in the United States Senate. The Nye Resolution and others of similar purport which were introduced in the House of Representatives were very properly defeated; however, since that occasion the Federal Government by and through its respective officers, agencies and departments has made claims to the tidal submerged lands and thereby cast a cloud upon the title of the State of California to all of the lands beneath tidal and navigable streams and to filled lands.

The matter has been brought forcibly to the attention of the Legislature of the State of California by virtue of the filing of the case, United States of America vs. State of California, by United States Attorney General Tom C. Clark in the Supreme Court of the United States as an original proceeding. Likewise Mr. Harold Ickes as the Secretary of the Department of the Interior has indicated that he intends to pursue a course of conduct which will in effect assert a claim of title in and to the lands in question. The raising of these claims after nearly a century of uninterrupted peaceful possession has cast an unjustifiable and wholly unwarranted cloud upon the title of the people of the State of California, in and to the properties in question. Fortunately there is now under consideration, the matter of Senate Joint Resolution No. 48 which is similar in nature to House Joint Resolution No. 225 which passed the House of Representatives on or about September 20, 1945, by an overwhelming majority. Such a serious threat to the sovereignty of the State of California cannot go unchallenged by the Legislature of the State of California, though our rights and interests be ever so ably guarded by our Attorney General Robert W. Kenny. To the end that the views of the Legislature of the State of California might be expressed in this matter, a resolution providing for a committee of six members, three from the Senate and three from the Assembly, was adopted unanimously by the Legislature of California.

As we understand it the purport or essence of these resolutions S.J. No. 48 and H.J. 225, is that, if adopted, the United States of America would thereby release, remise and quitclaim all right, title, interest, claim, or demand of the United States of America in and to all lands beneath tidewaters and all lands beneath navigable waters within the boundaries of each of the respective states, to each of such states and to the respective grantees or successors in interest thereof, and to the respective present owners of such lands of which title has been confirmed by official action of the United States of America; excepting of course, such lands as might have been acquired by the United States of America from any state, its grantees or successors in interest, by cession, grant, quitclaim or condemnation; and of course, that the United States of America would continue with its present powers of regulation and control for the purposes of commerce, navigation and the national defense. We are of the opinion that the adoption of the resolution will permanently and satisfactorily quiet the titles of the respective states, their grantees or successors in interest in and to the tidal and submerged lands and thereby dispose of many complex and perplexing problems, all to the end that we can proceed with reconversion and new developments involving the expenditure of millions of dollars.

It is appropriate for the Congress to act upon this subject at this time. Repeatedly, legislative bodies of the respective states and the Congress have continued to function even though suits may be brought or be pending in reference to the subject matter under consideration. There surely is no rule of law or common practice or general understanding to the effect that upon the filing of an action in court the legislative processes must be stilled until the courts finally dispose of the issues involved in any such action. If this were true, any legislative body could for all practical purposes be put into a legislative "straight jacket" at the whim of any person for almost any reason. Numerous citations of authority commencing with the Supreme Court of the United States in United States vs. Schooner Peggy, 5 U.S. 103, sustain the point of view herein indicated.

The State of California and its successors and grantees have on many, many occasions granted to the Federal Government certain parcels of the tidal and submerged lands. It has been assumed by the Federal Government and all of its departments and agencies until very recently that there was absolutely no question about where the titles to these tidal and submerged lands was located, i.e. in the State of California. We have no doubt that equity and fairness would dictate that the Federal Government is now estopped to make any claim or demand upon these lands.

It is the opinion of the Legislature of the State of California that the State of California should no longer be confronted with the uncertain conditions and vexatious proceedings and statements which have come into being in recent years with reference to its tidal and submerged lands.

We are confident in the belief that the adoption of these resolutions is the only means of stopping for all time the assault upon our well established titles.

The Supreme Court of the United States of America has repeatedly held that the State of California has the title to the lands in question. We feel that it is the duty and the responsibility of Congress to once and for all, quiet the titles in the states.

We feel that the legislation is needed to remove the clouds which have been cast upon the titles of the State of California, its successors and grantees.

We respectfully urge and request that the Senate Judiciary Committee take favorable action upon the resolution heretofore referred to and further that the United States Senate take similar action, if and when the matter is before said United States Senate for consideration.

Meeting at State Building, Los Angeles, February 26, 1947

Present

ASSEMBLYMAN RALPH C. DILLS, Chairman
ASSEMBLYMAN LAUGHLIN WATERS
ASSEMBLYMAN EARL STANLEY
ASSEMBLYMAN JAMES CRICHTON
ASSEMBLYMAN SAM L. COLLINS

Upon convening this hearing, Chairman Dills made the following statement:

"The Assembly Committee on State-Federal Cooperation in the Discovery, Production, Transportation, Refining and Use of Petroleum Oil and its Products was reconstituted by House Resolution No. 85 passed on February 4, 1947. At that time, the powers of the Assembly committee were amended and I shall read to you the pertinent amendments with respect to the additional powers given to the committee: The committee is authorized and directed as set forth to ascertain, study, and analyze all facts relating to Paragraph A. 'The subject within the scope of legislative control and attaining maximum efficiency and minimum waste at all the various phases of the discovery, production, transportation, refining and the use of oil, gas, and other hydro-carbon substances'; and now the new matter; 'including production thereof from lands owned by the State, public agencies, and political subdivisions cooperating therein to the fullest extent in every way with federal agencies.'

"That is the new matter. And, in addition, this committee has this duty and also, Paragraph B: 'The title of the State of California and its grantees in and to the tide, submerged and reclaimed lands lying within its borders and adjacent to its seacoast, any attacks by federal officials relating thereto, litigation with reference thereto, and legislation pending in Congress affecting such title, and any and all matters relating thereto, or connected therewith.'

"I should like to call the attention of those present and members of the committee to Section 6872 of Chapter 3 of Article 4 of the Public Resources Code. I am quoting now verbatim Section 6872: The title is 'Circumstances Authorizing Leases.' Whenever it appears to the commission that oil or gas deposits are known or believed to be contained in any such lands and may be or are being drained by means of wells upon adjacent lands, the commission—may I parenthetically point out that is the State Lands Commission—'shall thereupon be authorized and empowered to lease any such lands either as a tract or in parcels of such size and shape as the commission shall determine for the production of oil and gas therefrom.'

"Section 6829 of the Public Resources Code, entitled 'Terms, Conditions and Provisions to be Included' establishes a requirement that the State Lands Commission shall set up certain conditions, and I shall read that section or a portion of that Section 6829 for you for your information. I am quoting directly now: 'Every oil or gas lease executed under this chapter shall include the following: A. Such terms, conditions, and provisions as will protect the interests of the State with reference to securing the payment to the State of the proper amount or value of production. B. Such terms, conditions and provisions as will protect the interests of the State with reference to the spacing of wells for the purpose of properly offsetting the drainage of oil and gas from state lands by wells drilled and operated on and within privately owned lands. Diligence on the part of the lessee will be used in drilling wells to the oil beds and will also be used to follow the requirements as to depth of such wells for the purpose of reaching the oil sands and producing oil and gas therefrom in commercial quantities.'

"From the reading of these two sections of our Public Resources Code, then we find the authority for the State Lands Commission to enter into leases with private companies for drilling purposes on state lands. That is to say, it is known or believed that the state lands are being drained by adjacent sites or adjacent leaseholders. Then, we are required —then the other provisions of the codes which I quoted, established conditions under which the Legislature feels these leases may be let providing for drilling and so on, that we may recoup for the State the greater amount of money and resources under this code."

Chairman Dills announced that he had requested the presence at the hearing of J. Stuart Watson, the Executive Officer of the State Lands Commission and that he had asked Mr. Watson to come prepared to answer questions concerning the following:

1. Lease P. R. C. (Public Resources Code) No. 132 between the State of California and Gilco, Incorporated.

2. Lease P. R. C. No. 186 between the State of California and Marine Exploration Company.

3. How many other leases of state lands for oil or gas drilling purposes has the State Lands Commission let since 1943?

4. What is the customary or usual requirements respecting continuous drilling in these leases?

5. Has the State Lands Commission formally excused the requirement for continuous drilling? If so, when and for what leases? (Give P. R. C. lease number.)

6. Has the Executive Officer of the State Lands Commission granted permission to any lessee to suspend or discontinue drilling? If so, when and for what leases?

7. Under what authority has the Executive Officer of the State Lands Commission the right to suspend or discontinue drilling operations?

8. What lessees have not conformed to the terms of their leases respecting the requirement for continuous drilling? (List by P. R. C. lease number.)

Mr. Watson stated that he had been Acting Executive Officer of the State Lands Commission since April, 1946, or approximately 11 months. He succeeded Carlyle F. Lynton.

Mr. Watson stated the P. R. C. (Public Resources Code) No. 132 was one of a series of leases and documents representing a separate transaction and that this one (132) is located in Orange County, seaward of the ordinary highwater mark, right at the Orange-Los Angeles County border. He stated that P. R. C. 186 goes farther seaward and a little farther east than No. 132. Both are off Seal Beach. The witness stated that the State Lands Commission entered into a lease with Gilco, Incorporated, on January 27, 1944, this lease being known as P. R. C. 132.

This lease, specifically paragraph 5, requires as follows:

"That within 45 days from and after the date of this lease, the lessee shall commence operations for the drilling of a well and shall continue diligently thereafter with such drilling until such well has reached a vertical depth below sea level of at least 7,000 feet, unless by written mutual consent of the parties hereto, it shall be determined that said well should be drilled to a lesser depth."

Also Section 7 specifies: "Within 30 days from and after the date of completion of the first well or the cessation of drilling or testing operations therein, the lessee shall commence operations for the drilling of the next well and operations for the drilling of each succeeding well thereafter shall be commenced within 30 days from and after the date of completion or cessation of drilling of the preceding well so that there shall be drilled to each commercially productive oil and/or gas zone, if it is mechanically practicable to do so by slant drilling, at least one well for the production of oil for each 10 acres of the area contained in the demised premises and at least one well for the production of gas for each 40 acres of the area contained in the demised premises."

Mr. F. J. Hortig, Acting Assistant Executive Officer for the State Lands Commission, testified that Gilco, Incorporated, never reached a "vertical depth below sea level of at least 7,000 feet" but, in fact, had reached a depth of only 4,327.57 feet. The witness agreed with Chairman Dills that "at no time, with respect to the first well, did Gilco, Incorporated, ever comply with the terms of the lease with respect to vertical drilling."

(The record shows that "first well" means P. R. C. 132; that Gilco, Incorporated, in drilling the first well, stated they found it impossible to reach the structure so they asked the State Lands Commission to advertise an additional area. This was done and resulted in the issuance of P. R. C. 186.)

At the request of Chairman Dills, the Attorney General's Office was requested to examine into the legal entity of the lessees under P. R. C. lease No. 132 and No. 186 and, in a communication dated March 1, 1947, the Attorney General informed the committee that the following facts were disclosed:

"P. R. C. Lease 132 is dated January 27, 1944, and is between the State of California, acting by and through the State Lands Commission, as Lessor and Gilco, Inc., as Lessee.

"The Lessee signs as Gilco, Inc. By A. T. Jergins, President, and by Lowell Stanley, Secretary, and bears the corporate seal indicating that said corporation is a California corporation.

"P. R. C. 186 is dated September 24, 1945, between the State of California, acting by and through the State Lands Commission, as Lessor, and Marine Exploration Company, a California corporation, as Lessee. It is signed on behalf of the Lessee as "Marine Exploration Company, Jas. T. Wood, Jr., Vice President, Lowell Stanley, Secretary," and bears the corporate seal as a California corporation 'Incorporated March 19, 1934.' "

The Attorney General made the following conclusion:

"It therefore appears that the State Lands Commission has entered into two separate leases with the same corporation under its name of Gilco, Inc., and the latter lease P. R. C. No. 186 with the same corporation under its present name of Marine Exploration Company."

With respect to P. R. C. 132 and P. R. C. 186 the testimony before the committee was to the effect that Gilco, Inc., now known as Marine Exploration Company, did not attempt to drill to the 7,000 vertical feet as required by the lease nor did it begin a new well. Instead, Marine Exploration Company used the same derrick and drill site formerly used by Gilco, Inc., and drilled only to a vertical depth of 3,407 feet and discontinued drilling on February 23, 1946.

In connection with the question of compliance with the requirements contained in the lease, the transcript of the hearing contains the following:

CHAIRMAN DILLS: Now this lease with the Marine Exploration Company, Lease No. 186, entered into September 24, 1945; they reached a vertical depth of 3,407 feet as stated by Mr. Hortig. Mr. Hortig, did you give us the date at which time that has been reached?

MR. HORTIG: No, sir, it is approximately January, 1946. However, as I say, as soon as the daily record comes down, we will have the exact date and the verification of the depth.

Q. Approximately January, 1946?

MR. HORTIG: Yes.

Q. Now, does this record disclose that on February 27, 1946, a letter was addressed to the Marine Exploration Company, attention of Mr. Lyle Stanley, by Carlyle Lynton—have you found that letter?

A. Letter of February 27, 1946, to Marine Exploration, attention Lyle Stanley, "In re: Lease P. R. C. 186. This is in reply to your letter of February 21, 1946, in which your request of approval of extension of operations under lease P. R C. 186, and the drilling of well State One until the delivery of a new string of two and three-quarter inch drill pipe, which you have ordered heretofore, is approved hereby, subject to confirmation by the State Lands Commission."

Q. And that was February 27, 1946?

A. '46.

Q. Do the records disclose that the State Lands Commission did, in fact, confirm the suspension of operations in accordance with the letter written by Carlyle Lynton?

A. No, they do not.

Q. For a period then of from February 27, 1946, until to date and by authority of a letter received from the executive officer of the State Lands Commission, but not confirmed by the State Lands Commission in duly assembled convention, the Marine Exploration Company was authorized to discontinue the drilling of their first well?

A. Well, Mr. Dills, I don't think the executive officer of the State Lands Commission can commit the State. It has to be confirmed by the commission and it has not been done in this case, if I understand your point.

Q. Has the Marine Exploration Company discontinued operations as of that date?

A. Yes.

Q. There has not been any further activity?

A. No.

Q. Since February 27, 1946?

A. Or until some date approximately that, I wouldn't like to state.

Q. Has the State Lands Commission, as constituted, at any time after that, they did not grant them permission to do so?

A. That's right.

Q. And in the action taken on December, 1946, at which Mr. Dean and Lieutenant Governor—or not Lieutenant Governor, but State Controller Riley were present, this authority was not granted for 186?

A. It just said—they ordered me not to serve notice for a period of 60 days on default.

Q. Then, the committee is justified in believing that the Marine Exploration Company is not complying with the terms of its lease, is it, with respect to continuous drilling?

A. That is correct. These leases and others too. That was the point in bringing this matter to the commission, that there are other leases in the same category.

ASSEMBLYMAN DILLS: Any questions?

ASSEMBLYMAN WATERS: Yes.

CHAIRMAN DILLS: Assemblyman Waters.

EXAMINATION BY ASSEMBLYMAN WATERS: Q. Was this extension that was suggested by Mr. Lynton disaffirmed by the State Lands Commission?

A. No, it was not.

Q. Mr. Lynton left before that time, I presume?

A. Yes, Mr. Lynton left about that time. I presume that I was supposed to pick up the things he hadn't completed, but it was not done.

Q. Do you know whether or not the drill pipe which they were expecting has been delivered?

A. To my attention, and my knowledge, it has not.

Q. In other words, insofar as they are concerned, then, they have had no disaffirmation on the part of the commission and they are functioning, or waiting for the delivery of the drill pipe?

A. I think that is a reasonable conclusion.

CHAIRMAN DILLS: That is a conclusion based upon the fact that they are assuming that the executive officer has the authority to grant the extension which the state law clearly does not permit.

A. No, I don't think the executive officer can do those things.

In connection with the question as to how many leases of state lands for oil or gas drilling purposes has the State Lands Commission granted since 1943 the testimony showed that, since May 21, 1943, there had been eight leases issued pursuant to advertising and bid, namely: P.R.C. 91; 129; 132; 144; 145; 163; 186 and 208.

The record of the hearing shows the following list of leases where deferment had been granted:

Lease 129, April 7, 1944, minutes page 503: "Approved 30-day delay in drilling of the first well." That lease is at Elwood. "Lease 132, P.R.C., Gilco, Seal Beach, April 7, 1944, minutes page 503, approved 30-day delay in drilling first well. Lease 129, P.R.C., Signal, at Elwood, minutes of May 5, 1944; "Approved 15-day additional delay in drilling first well." Lease 392, old series, Southwest Exploration Company, minutes of May 5, 1944; "Approved 30-day delay in continuous drilling." Lease 129, Signal, at Elwood, minutes of August 3, 1944; "Approved additional 15-day delay in drilling first well." Lease 132, P.R.C., Gilco, Seal Beach, minutes of August 3, 1944; "Approved reasonable extension of time for subsequent delay in drilling." Lease 144, Bell Oil, et al., now operated by Fullerton, Rendont Field, Ventura County, minutes of September 6, 1944, "Approved 30-day delay in drilling first well." Lease P.R.C., 145, Bell Oil, et al., now known as the Rendont Field, Ventura County, minutes of September 6, 1944, "Approved 30-day delay in drilling first well." Lease 145, P.R.C., Bell Oil, et al., now known as Fullerton, Rendont Field, minutes of November 15, 1944; "Approved additional 30-day delay in drilling first well." Lease 129 P.R.C., Signal, at Elwood, minutes of November 15, 1944; "Approved 30-day delay in drilling the second well." Lease 163, P.R.C., Signal, at Huntington Beach, minutes of January 12, 1945; "Approved 30-day delay in drilling first well." Lease 163, P.R.C., Signal, Huntington Beach, minutes of February 20, 1945; "Approved modification in location and drilling of deepness." Lease 91, P.R.C., H. R. Hamilton, et al., Huntington Beach, minutes of October 24, 1945; "Deferred until further notice by commission, of further drilling in Johnson, pending drilling into the main zone." Lease 91, P.R.C., H. R. Hamilton, et al., Huntington Beach, minutes of February 15, 1946; "Deferred drilling of main zone well until February 15, 1946." P.R.C. 91, H. R. Hamilton, et al., Huntington Beach, August 22, 1946, defer drilling of the second main zone well until October 1, 1946."

Conclusions

It would appear to the committee that the State Lands Commission, which consists of the Director of the Department of Finance, Chairman; the Lieutenant Governor, member; and the State Controller, member, should seriously consider the advisability of requiring all lessees to comply with the terms of their leases with respect to continuous drilling. If such is not done, we see no way in which the State's interests in the oil and gas deposits on state lands can be adequately protected.

The committee assumes that the State Lands Commission was correct in entering into the leases in the first instance based upon possible drainage from state lands. We, therefore, are obliged to conclude that, unless lessees present reasonable grounds for not complying, they must be made to do so.

The committee recommends that the State Lands Commission undertake to require proof that lessees are exercising due diligence and reasonable efforts to secure men and material necessary to commence operations suspended because of shortage. Specifically, where a lessee requests an extension of time for continuing drilling because of a shortage of men and/or material, such lessee should be required to supply evidence of reasonable effort to remedy such shortage.

In view of the testimony that, except for one lease, there have always been bidders when the State advertises for drilling upon state lands, the committee recommends that the State Lands Commission consider the advisability of declaring a forfeiture of some of the existing leases where there are reasonable grounds to believe that state lands are being drained. These areas could then be opened up to bidders who would be required to comply with the terms of the lease with respect to continuous drilling and the protection of the State's interests in its oil and gas deposits.

Where state tidelands have been leased by the Lands Commission on the assumption that they have been subject to drainage from adjacent property and subsequent developments have shown that such drainage does not exist, it would seem that such lease should be cancelled and the tidelands not reopened to bidding because the original premise of possible drainage has been disproved.

The committee concludes that the alleged excuse of oil companies that they are not complying with the terms of the lease respecting continuous drilling because of the current challenge by the Federal Government as to the ownership of tidelands is not a valid argument upon which the State Lands Commission should decline to take appropriate action. Arguments have been completed on this issue before the United States Supreme Court and Attorney General Tom Clark has stated that it will not be the purpose of the Federal Government, should they be successful in the current litigation, to lay claims to any revenues previously derived from oil or gas bearing tidelands.

The committee further recommends that an interim committee be established to protect the State's interests as represented in S.J. No. 48 and S.J. No. 225, now pending in the Congress, and with respect to carrying out the recommendations contained in this report.

Respectfully submitted.

REPORT OF THE ASSEMBLY INTERIM COMMITTEE ON PUBLIC HEALTH, H.R. 76

March 31, 1947

Hon. Sam Collins, Speaker of the Assembly
State Capitol, Sacramento, California

MR. SPEAKER: Your committee, as provided in H.R. 76, 1947, herewith makes its report.

We have acted during the constitutional recess as provided and since returning to Sacramento for the reconvening of the First Extraordinary and the Regular Sessions of 1947. Manifestly there has been little time in which the members could meet for discussion, hold hearings, or engage in independent research.

However, several of the members, each in his own way, have contacted various hospitals.

It was deemed advisable and pertinent to ascertain if valid experience, obtained since that appearing in other documents furnished the Legislature, materially changed previously determined expectations, and by unanimous action of the committee we secured the services of Mr. Virgil M. Griffin, Actuary.

Mr. Griffin was asked to include in his report an evaluation of the costs which might be expected to obtain under the provisions set forth in Assembly Bill No. 1500 in its present form. His report appears herein.

It is the unanimous opinion of this committee that hearings on any bills touching on the subject of health insurance which are brought before the Legislature may now be studied objectively. We now have before us as useful aids in making a determination the present report, the report of the Senate Interim Committee, and the report of the Assembly Health Care Investigating Interim Committee, and it is;

Recommended that this Legislature carefully consider the cost factors involved in any plan to be undertaken by the State.

The committee finds also that the presently existing shortage of hospital beds in California is not to be disregarded, whether or not any plans for providing prepaid medical care are adopted. Today there simply are not enough beds in the hospitals of this State to adequately care for the needs of the population. Health insurance, compulsory or otherwise, is not going to build hospitals.

This report then brings in no recommendations for or against any proposed legislation but is, as nearly as it is possible to make it, a factual document bearing on an important subject.

Respectfully submitted.

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL

SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, March 31, 1947

Hon. Ernest E. Debs, Chairman
Assembly Interim Committee on Public Health

DEAR ASSEMBLYMAN DEBS: Herewith is the report prepared by myself at the instance of, and as authorized by, your committee.

The report deals with the hospitalization experience during the year 1946 or fiscal year ending in 1946 of three representative insurance carriers.

In accordance with the request of Assemblyman Geddes, chairman of your subcommittee the material was gathered mainly with reference to the incidence and use of hospitalization, but some cost trends have been added to supplement previously obtained statistics.

Also, at the request of your committee, I have made an evaluation of the costs of the benefits proposed under Assembly Bill No. 1500 in the printed form as of January 30, 1947.

Very truly yours,
(Signed)

VIRGIL M. GRIFFIN

Report Submitted by Virgil M. Griffin, Actuary

This report contains the most recent available experience with reference to hospitalization of: (1) The Occidental Life Insurance Company, (2) Blue Cross Hospital Plan, (3) The Health Service System of San Francisco.

OCCIDENTAL LIFE INSURANCE CO.

Through the cooperation of the Occidental Life Insurance Company which opened its books to us at its home office in Los Angeles, a complete examination was made of its claim register. This examination supplemented by runs on the company's tabulating equipment was sufficient to provide the number of hospital claims and the number of members exposed to risk in the State of California.

Five groups were excluded in making our computations because either the complete claim information or the membership rolls were not currently available.

The record of groups and memberships therein for the year 1946 were as follows:

	January 1st	May 1st	September 1st	December 1st
Number of groups	105	111	122	120
Number of persons	23,113	24,475	28,431	32,172

The averages for the year were 114½ groups with 27,048 members.

Table 1, which follows, sets forth the claims experience during the calendar year 1946.

Table 1

Group Hospitalization Experience—Occidental Life Insurance Company

(a)	Life years exposure		27,048.
(b)	Hospitalized cases
	* Surgical cases	1,532

(c)	Hospital days		18,286.
(d)	Cases per member (b ÷ a)		.08
(e)	Day per case (c ÷ b)		8.44
(f)	Hospital days per member per year (d × e)		.675

Of the 2,166 cases hospitalized, there were 27 where the number of days extended beyond the limits provided in the contracts under which the beneficiaries were insured. Some of the contracts in force provided for hospitalization up to 31 days and others up to 70 days. Under the 31-day contracts, there were 13 claims in which hospitalization extended beyond the limit; while under the 70-day contracts, there were 14.

Membership in the groups was preponderantly adults, male and female employees.

BLUE CROSS HOSPITAL PLAN

The experience of the Blue Cross Hospital Plan was taken from its nation-wide statistical studies which were made available to us through the courtesy of the officers of the state organization.

These studies yield the pertinent data shown in the table which follows and covers a six-year experience for the years 1940 to 1945, inclusive.

HEALTH SERVICE SYSTEM OF SAN FRANCISCO

The Health Service System of San Francisco is a health service system for the municipal employees and the employees of the Board of Education of San Francisco. The plan under which such employees are insured provides medical, surgical and hospitalization benefits for them and for their dependents, and for retired members.

Membership on the part of employees is compulsory while membership of dependents is elective and selective in that physical examination is required. Since physical examination on the part of employees is required as a condition of employment, the whole membership may be considered as select. Certain benefits are excluded, such as tonsillectomies and adenoidectomies for minor dependents. "No adult dependent or independent beneficiary is entitled to obstetrical service or service for complications of pregnancy," nor are employed members entitled to hospitalization for the same.

We were furnished the material used to compile the table shown below by the office of the Health Service System of San Francisco. A separate table appearing on the next page shows the costs attending the hospitalization of members for the 12 months ending September 12, 1946.

Cost Trends

Our study thus far has been directed toward securing data reflecting current experience as to the incidence and duration of hospitalization. It will be seen, with reference to previous studies, that there is little variation from year to year in the incidence and the duration of hospitalization. Unit costs of hospitalization, however, have shown a steady upward trend.

The following determinations are not introduced here to establish hospital costs but to illustrate factually the current trend.

Evaluation of the Costs of Providing Benefits Under A.B. No. 1500

Reference is made to Assembly Bill No. 1500 as introduced and printed January 30, 1947. Article 3 of the bill, Sections 50 and 51, provides the following services:

1. Up to 100 days hospitalization for each continuous period of disability.
2. Medical services by a physician or surgeon rendered in a hospital or following hospitalization.
3. Certain treatment by dentists when performed in a hospital.

Hospital services as detailed in Section 52 (a), (b), (c) and (d) include:

(a) Bed and board in a ward or semi-private room. Services of a dietician, general nursing care, use of operating room, anaesthetics and surgical supplies. Use of cystoscopic rooms.

(b) Drugs, Biologies, bandages, dressings, oxygen, blood and plasma, as required during period of hospitalization.

(c) Care of new born infants during such period as mother remains in the hospital.

(d) Laboratory services, including chemical, bacteriological, physical, diagnostic and therapeutic X-ray, and such other laboratory or related services, as are ordinarily provided by a hospital.

Section 53 provides that the above laboratory services may be rendered to persons outside of the hospital in standard approved laboratories approved by the authority when necessary and prescribed by the physician as required by the nature of the case.

In Section 54 it is provided that the authority may require in cases other than surgery or obstetrics that the beneficiary pay for the first two days of hospitalization or a portion of the laboratory fees, not to exceed $10.

Sections 55 and 56 provide for extension of services but cannot be evaluated here since they are contingent on the condition of the fund.

In Article 7, Section 158, it is provided that not more than 6 percent of the money deposited in the fund may be expended for all expenses by the authority and departments of government incident to carrying out the provisions of the act.

Those eligible to receive benefits under the act are employees and each of their dependents.

The subjoined table exhibits an estimate of the costs of the above listed benefits under the following conditions:

(a) Medical services at 1945 cost levels.

(b) Laboratory and X-ray services at 1945 cost levels.

(c) Hospitalization at 1947 cost levels.

(d) Incidence and demand for service comparable to that experienced by prepaid medical care plans operating in California.

(e) A membership consisting of equal numbers of men between the ages of 18 and 65, women between 18 and 65, and children under age 18.

(f) No expansion or reduction of the above benefits by action of the authority.

The table has been prepared to show the cost individually for an adult male, an adult female and a child; the total column shows the cost for a group consisting of three people: An adult male, an adult female and a child. The three people do not, necessarily, represent a family although it is estimated that among the civilian population of California, the average family consists of 3.1 persons.

Table of Comparative Costs of Nonhospitalized Laboratory and X-ray Service

Plan	Year	Cost per member per year
C. P. S.	1940–1941	$4.20
C. P. S.	1944	3.89
H. S. S. of S. F.	1944	1.57 (limited)
Ross-Loos	1939	5.02
Ross-Loos	1944	5.11
Permanente	1944	8.25

The membership of C. P. S. was predominantly female in a ratio of about 1.5 to 1; of Ross-Loos predominantly male in a ratio of about 3.5 to 1; of Permanente, not known.

Considerable variation in cost is noted. To obtain a usable cost figure, an average cost under the unlimited coverage contracts can be taken, and there being insufficient data on which to base a relative cost estimate as between male and female subscribers, the figure can be assumed to apply to each. The average thus determined is $5.29 per member per year.

The determining factors in the amount of use required may be contrasted with those of "Doctor's Calls." The amount of demand for "Doctor's Calls" resides largely in the opinion of the member concerning his own state of health, while the extent of use of laboratory, X-ray, and other special equipment depends to a greater degree upon the professional methods of the attending physician or surgeon, and upon the availability of facilities.

There is no experience available from which the cost of these services for children might have been determined. Since the cost of other physician's services per child appears to be about half that of an adult, the cost of laboratory and X-ray can be assumed to follow the same relation. On that basis the cost per child per year would be about $2.65.

By Messrs. Dickey, Doyle, Burns, Crichton, Dunn, Evans, Field, Fletcher, Hollibaugh, Lyons, Maloney, Thompson, and Wollenberg:

House Resolution No. 132

Relative to salary range and compensation of legislative copy editor

WHEREAS, Eleanor K Donoghue, for the past 15 years has been employed in the State Printing Office as legislative copy editor; and

WHEREAS, During all of these years she has not only performed the duties of her position but has without reservation given of her own time without regard to hours or personal inconvenience and without adequate compensation for the overtime work she has performed for this Assembly; and

WHEREAS, Eleanor K. Donoghue has been of great assistance to each and every Member of this Assembly, not only during this session but in past sessions, in assisting them in the proper preparation and editing of legislative copy, and of being of the greatest help to the clerical force of this Assembly in keeping the records of this body in a correct and concise form; and

WHEREAS, It has come to our attention that the compensation paid to Eleanor K. Donoghue is entirely inadequate and one which does not compare with work of the character she performs; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the State Printer be and he is hereby directed and instructed to do everything within his power to increase the compensation of Eleanor K. Donoghue comparable with the duties she performs; and be it further

Resolved, That this Assembly earnestly requests the State Personnel Board to readjust her salary range so that she may receive compensation in keeping with the work she performs; and be it further

Resolved, That the Rules Committee of the Assembly be instructed to present copies of this resolution to the State Printer and to the members of the State Personnel Board; and be it further

Resolved, That the State Printer and the members of the State Personnel Board are hereby requested to acknowledge receipt of this resolution with whatever recommendations they may make in keeping with carrying out the provisions of this resolution.

Resolution read, and referred to the Committee on Rules.

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT THAT ASSEMBLY BILLS NOS. 1627, 1629, 1630, 1631, AND 1632 BE WITHDRAWN FROM THE COMMITTEE ON GOVERNMENTAL EFFICIENCY AND ECONOMY, AND BE RE-REFERRED

Mr. O'Day asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent that Assembly Bills Nos. 1627, 1629, 1630, 1631, and 1632 be withdrawn from the Committee on Governmental Efficiency and Economy, and be re-referred to the Committee on Conservation, Planning, and Public Works.

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR

STATE OF CALIFORNIA
GOVERNOR'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO, April 2, 1947

To the Honorable Members of the Assembly
Sacramento, California

GENTLEMEN: I have the honor to transmit herewith a true copy of a resolution of the Congress of the United States entitled "Joint Resolution Proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States relating to the terms of office of the President," passed during the first session of the Eightieth Congress of the United States.

As requested by the Secretary of State of the United States, I am submitting this joint resolution to the Legislature for such action as it may take.

Respectfully,

EARL WARREN, Governor

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
DEPARTMENT OF STATE

To whom these presents shall come, Greeting:

I Certify That the copy hereto attached is a true copy of a resolution of Congress entitled "JOINT RESOLUTION Proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States relating to the terms of office of the President", the original of which is on file in this Department.

In testimony whereof, I, Dean Acheson, Acting Secretary of State, have hereunto caused the seal of the Department of State to be affixed and my name subscribed by the Authentication Officer of the said Department, at the City of Washington, in the District of Columbia, this twenty-fifth day of March, 1947.

DEAN ACHESON
Acting Secretary of State
By M. P. CHAUVIN
Authentication Officer, Department of State

EIGHTIETH CONGRESS OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
At the First Session
Begun and held at the City of Washington on Friday, the third day of January, one thousand nine hundred and forty-seven

---

JOINT RESOLUTION
Proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States relating to the terms of office of the President

---

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled (two-thirds of each House concurring therein), That the following article is hereby proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, which shall be valid to all intents and purposes as part of the Constitution when ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several States:

"ARTICLE —

"SECTION 1. No person shall be elected to the office of the President more than twice, and no person who has held the office of President, or acted as President, for more than two years of a term to which some other person was elected President shall be elected to the office of the President more than once. But this Article shall not apply to any person holding the office of President when this Article was proposed by the Congress, and shall not prevent any person who may be holding the office of President, or acting as President, during the term within which this Article becomes operative from holding the office of President or acting as President during the remainder of such term.

"SEC. 2. This article shall be inoperative unless it shall have been ratified as an amendment to the Constitution by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several States within seven years from the date of its submission to the States by the Congress."

JOSEPH W. MARTIN, JR.
Speaker of the House of Representatives
WILLIAM F. KNOWLAND
Acting President of the Senate pro tempore

Resolution read, and referred to the Committee on Rules.

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolution was offered:

By Messrs. Dunn and Brady:

House Resolution No. 133

Sending birthday greetings to Clayton A. Dills and Effie Dills

AMONG all the other happy and welcome signs of Spring, there is a particular reason for rejoicing in this Assembly this second day of April, 1947, for it is the birthday anniversary of our distinguished colleague, Clayton A. Dills and of Effie Dills, wife of his brother, another distinguished colleague, Ralph C. Dills; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Members of this Assembly extend felicitations to Clayton A. Dills and to Effie Dills upon this joyful occasion and extend to them good wishes and the hope that they may celebrate many more such happy birthday anniversaries in the familiar confines of this Assembly Chamber amid the good wishes of their friends and colleagues; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly transmit suitably prepared copies of this resolution to Clayton A. Dills and to Effie Dills.

Request for Unanimous Consent

Mr. Brady asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent to take up House Resolution No. 133, at this time, without reference to committee or file.

Resolution read, and adopted unanimously.

Amendment No. 2

On page 1 of said bill, strike out lines 1 to 24, inclusive, and insert

"SECTION 1. Sections 1435, 1435.1, 1435.2, 1435.3, 1435.4, 1435.5, 1435.6, 1435.7, 1435.8, 1435.9, and 1435.10 of the Probate Code are hereby repealed but no action or proceeding commenced under said sections is affected by such repeal, and any such action or proceeding may be continued and completed as though such repeal had not taken place.

SEC. 2. Chapter IIA, comprising Sections 1435.1 to 1435.39, inclusive, is added to Division 4 of the Probate Code, to read:

1435.1. Where real property or any interest therein is owned or where real property of any interest therein is owned by husband and wife as community or separate property and is subject to a homestead and one or both of the spouses is incompetent, it may be sold and conveyed or encumbered, transferred, or exchanged or otherwise disposed of in the manner provided in this chapter, notwithstanding the provisions of Sections 1242 and 1243 of the Civil Code.

1435.2. As used in this chapter the word incompetent shall be construed to include insanity as well as incompetency arising by reason of old age, disease, weakness of mind, or other cause rendering a person unable, unassisted, properly to manage and take care of himself or his property, and by reason thereof likely to be deceived or imposed upon by artful or designing persons.

1435.3. The spouse not incompetent, or if both spouses are incompetent, the guardian of the estate of the incompetent husband, as such guardian, may petition for an order permitting the petitioner to sell and convey, exchange, mortgage, lease (including a lease for the exploration and production of oil, gas, or other substance) or execute a deed of trust upon the community or homestead property or any portion thereof or interest therein.

1435.4. The spouse not incompetent, or, if both spouses are incompetent, the guardian of the estate of the incompetent husband, as such guardian, may petition the court for an order permitting the petitioner to transfer the community or homestead property or any portion thereof or interest therein in compromise, composition or settlement of any indebtedness, claim, demand, action, or proceeding to which such property may be subject.

1435.5. The petition shall be filed in the superior court of the county in which such real property or some part thereof is situated.

1435.6. The petition shall set forth the name and age of both spouses and, if one or both of the spouses has been adjudged incompetent, the fact of such adjudication.

1435.7. If a guardian of the estate of a spouse adjudged incompetent has been appointed and is then qualified and acting, the petition shall set forth the name of said guardian and the county in which the guardianship proceeding is pending.

1435.8. The petition shall set forth the name and address of the nearest adult relative of the incompetent person resident in this State, other than a spouse, if such name and address is known to the petitioner.

1435.9. The petition shall contain an allegation that the real property, or interest therein, describing it, is the homestead of the spouses, or their community property as the case may be, and allege the value thereof.

1435.10. The petition shall be verified and shall show such facts, in addition to the incompetency of the spouse or spouses, as may be relied upon to show that the order sought is for the advantage, benefit, or best interests of the spouses or their estates; or for the care and support of either of them, or of their minor child or children, or of such members of their families as either of them may be legally obligated to support; or to pay taxes, interest or other encumbrances and charges for the protection and preservation of the homestead or the community property.

1435.11. The terms and conditions of the proposed transaction shall be set forth in the petition and if a sale and conveyance of the property is sought, the petition shall show the names of the proposed purchaser or purchasers.

1435.12. Upon the filing of the petition the clerk shall set the same for hearing by the court and shall issue a citation directed to the spouse or spouses not petitioning, setting forth the time, and place of such hearing and notice of the hearing shall be given as hereinafter provided.

1435.13. The citation and a copy of the petition shall be personally served on an alleged incompetent spouse, whether within or without the State, at least 21 days before the time of hearing.

1435.14. Notice of the hearing of the petition shall give the name or names of the incompetent persons, the name of the petitioner and the purpose for which the order is sought, referring to the petition for further particulars, and notifying all interested persons to appear at the time and place mentioned in the notice and show cause, if any they have, why the order should not be made.

1435.15 A copy of the notice shall be published, in a newspaper of general circulation in the county in which the property or some part thereof is situated, if there is a newspaper published therein, once each week for four successive weeks prior to the hearing, or if there is no such newspaper, then, in lieu of publication, three written or printed notices of the hearing shall be posted at three of the most public places in the county, at least 10 days before the hearing.

1435 16. If there is a qualified guardian of the estate or person of a spouse who is then acting under the provisions of this code, and if such guardian is not the petitioner, a copy of the notice shall be personally served upon such guardian at least 21 days before the time of said hearing.

1435.17. A copy of such notice must also be personally served upon the nearest adult relative or upon one of the nearest adult relatives of the incompetent person resident in this State, other than a spouse, at least three weeks prior to such hearing.

1435.18. If there is no such relative known to the petitioner and no guardian of the person or estate of an incompetent spouse known to the petitioner upon whom notice can be served as hereinbefore provided, a copy of such notice must be served upon the public administrator of the county in which the petition is filed, at least 21 days prior to the hearing and it shall be the duty of such public administrator to appear and represent the interests of such incompetent spouse.

1435.19. For all such services rendered by the public administrator he may be allowed a reasonable fee, to be fixed by the court, which shall be taxed as costs against the spouse not incompetent, or if both spouses are incompetent, the court may order such fee to be paid out of the proceeds of the transaction authorized, or if there are no cash proceeds or the cash proceeds are insufficient, then out of the assets of the estate of the husband.

1435.20. If a spouse alleged in the petition to be incompetent has not been adjudicated to be incompetent in proceedings under Division 4 of this code, or, after such adjudication, has been restored to capacity as in this code provided, such spouse, if able to attend, must be produced at the hearing.

1435.21. If such spouse is not able to attend by reason of physical inability, the affidavit and certificate of a duly licensed physician or surgeon or other medical practitioner, or the certificate of the medical superintendent or acting medical superintendent of a state hospital in this State in which such spouse is a patient, shall be prima facie evidence of the facts therein stated as to the physical inability of the spouse to attend.

1435.22. If it appears to the court that said property is the homestead or community property of the spouses, and if it also appears that a spouse is or the spouses are then incompetent or has or have been adjudged incompetent under Division 4 of this code and has not or have not been restored to capacity, it shall so adjudge.

1435.23. If it further appears to the court that the petition should be granted it may then make an order authorizing and permitting the petitioner to sell and convey, lease, encumber, transfer, exchange, or otherwise dispose of the property as prayed, or upon such other terms and conditions as it deems just.

1435.24. The court may, in its discretion, order the property to be appraised, but nothing contained in this code shall prevent the court from authorizing any sale of such property for an amount less than ninety percentum (90%) of such appraised value.

1435.25. If at the time of the hearing of a petition to sell and convey a written offer of 10 percent more in amount than that named in the petition is made to the court by a responsible person, and the bid complies with all provisions of the law, it shall be in the discretion of the court to accept such offer and order a sale and conveyance to such person or deny the petition without prejudice to another petition.

1435.26. If a petition for sale and conveyance is granted as prayed the court shall have jurisdiction to order such sale and conveyance to be made to a grantee who shall be the purchaser named in the petition or his assignee or nominee.

1435.27. The court shall determine the net cash proceeds to be received by the petitioner from the consummation of the transaction before executing any conveyance, lease, transfer, mortgage, or deed of trust, and shall require the petitioner to give a bond, to be approved by the judge of the court, conditioned to account for the entire net proceeds of the transaction and to apply such proceeds only as the court may direct. Any note or notes taken by the petitioner for the amount of unpaid purchase money due upon a sale, shall be deemed to be net cash proceeds within the meaning of this section.

1435.28. If the bond is to be given by individual persons the penalty must be in an amount not less than twice the amount of the net cash proceeds to be received by the petitioner as determined by the court.

1435.29. If the bond is to be given by an authorized surety company the penalty must be in an amount equal to the amount of the net cash proceeds to be received by the petitioner as determined by the court

1435.30. The provisions of Sections 1483, 1483.1, 1483.2, and 1483.3 of this code relating to guardians and the bonds thereof, are hereby made applicable to petitioners and the bonds thereof under the provisions of this chapter.

1435.31. The petitioner shall, upon receipt of the consideration therefor, execute, acknowledge, and deliver the conveyance, transfer, mortgage, lease, or deed of trust as directed, setting forth therein that it is made by authority of the order, and a certified copy of the order must be recorded in the office of the recorder of the county, of each county in which the land or any portion thereof lies.

1435.32. Any sale, conveyance, transfer, mortgage, lease, or deed of trust and any instrument made in pursuance of such order is as valid and effectual as if the property affected thereby was the sole and absolute property of the person making such sale or executing such instrument.

1435.33. Any note or notes, mortgages, leases or deeds of trust so executed by a petitioning guardian as such, shall create no personal liability against the guardian so signing, unless said guardian is one of the spouses and then only to the extent that such personal liability would have resulted had both spouses been competent and joined in such execution.

1435.34. If a sale is made upon a credit in pursuance of the order, the petitioner must take the note or notes of the person to whom the sale is made for the amount of the unpaid balance of the purchase money, with a mortgage or deed of trust on the property so sold, to secure the payment of said unpaid balance. Such note or notes shall be made payable to the petitioner or if his petition was made as guardian, then made payable to him as such guardian.

1435.35 If, after the authorization of a sale under this chapter, the person to whom the sale was ordered to be made neglects or refuses to comply with the terms of the sale, the court, on motion of the petitioner, and after notice to the person to whom the sale was ordered, or to the guardian, executor or administrator of the estate of such person, given in the manner directed by the court, may vacate the order of sale.

1435.36. Any property received in an exchange shall be taken in the same manner and the same tenancy as the property given in exchange was held, except that such property shall be free of any homestead unless otherwise ordered by the court.

1435.37. Any person who has been adjudicated incompetent in proceedings under this chapter, or any relative or friend, may at any time file a verified petition in the same proceeding to have the fact of his restoration to capacity judicially determined. Such petition shall allege that such person is then sane or competent. The court, in proceedings under this chapter, shall retain jurisdiction to hear and determine any such petition.

1435.38. The proceedings upon such petition shall be as prescribed by Sections 1471 and 1472 of this code.

1435.39. Any adjudication of restoration to capacity shall not prejudice or affect anything theretofore lawfully done pursuant to and in accordance with any prior order made under the provisions of this chapter."

Consideration of Committee Amendments

The following amendments were proposed by the Committee on Judiciary:

Amendment No. 1

On page 1 of the printed bill, strike out line 8, and insert

"24900. It is the purpose of this chapter (1) to prohibit the use of living dogs and cats for vivisection and in experiments, except subject to restrictions imposed by this chapter, (2) to prohibit the use of dogs and cats in experiments in connection with the radioactivity, nuclear, atomic energy, or fissionable sciences, (3) to prohibit the use of dogs and cats for the purpose of attaining or maintaining manual skill, and (4) to prohibit the allocation to medical or scientific institutions of dogs or cats impounded under Chapter 190, Statutes of 1921, as amended, or under any local ordinance, or the allocation of unclaimed dogs and cats to research laboratories by municipal or private animal shelters maintained for the purpose of harboring stray dogs or cats.

24901. Unless the context otherwise requires, the definitions hereinafter set forth govern the construction of this chapter.

24903. "Society" means any society or corporation formed and existing for the purpose of preventing cruelty to animals, antivivisection societies, veterinarians' organizations or clubs or associations of dog or cat fanciers or owners.

24904. "Licensed kennels" means the premises on which a supplier is authorized by his license to raise animals.

24905. "License authority" means the officer or employee of a city or county whose official duty it is to issue dog licenses.

24906. "License" means a license issued under this chapter.

24907. This chapter does not apply to experiments by a veterinarian holding a valid and unrevoked license issued by the Board of Examiners in Veterinary Medicine of the State of California, where such experiments are conducted for the purpose of curing or relieving disability or disease of a dog or cat or improving its health.

Article 2. Experiments

24940. A person shall not perform any experiment on a living dog or cat unless he possesses an unrevoked experimenter's license, and the experiment is performed in accordance with this chapter.

24941. A person shall not perform any such experiment on any living dog or cat unless the animal is procured from a licensed supplier pursuant to this chapter. If a licensed experimenter breeds dogs or cats for the purpose of performing such experiments on them, he shall procure a license to act as supplier and is also subject to the provisions of this chapter applicable to suppliers.

24942. At least ten (10) and not more than thirty (30) days before a licensed experimenter performs any such experiment or series of experiments on any living dog or cat, he shall file with the license authority that issued his license a notice showing: (a) The nature and purpose of the proposed experiment and the experimenter's reasons for believing that it is permitted by this chapter, (b) the place at which it is to be performed, (c) the quantity of dogs and cats to be used and the name of the licensed supplier from whom they have been or are to be obtained, (d) the anaesthetic proposed to be used, if any, and (e) the date and hour at which the experiment is to begin and its probable duration

He shall file a separate notice for each experiment, but one notice shall be sufficient for not more than six connected and consecutive experiments.

24943. At the time a licensed experimenter procures a dog or cat from a supplier for the purpose of performing any experiment, he shall deliver to the supplier a copy of the notice of intention to conduct the experiment or series of experiments which he filed with the license authority. The supplier shall enter upon the copy a description of the dogs and cats supplied and retain it for his files.

If the licensed experimenter is also a licensed supplier and the dogs or cats to be used were not obtained by him from another licensed supplier, he shall immediately make the same entries.

24944. A licensed experimenter shall perform experiments only with a view to the advancement by new discovery of (a) physiological knowledge, or (b) knowledge that will be useful for saving or prolonging life or alleviating suffering, and where the object sought is specific.

24945. During the whole of the experiment, the animal shall be under the influence of an anaesthetic of sufficient power to prevent the animal feeling pain.

24946. If pain is likely to continue after the effect of the anaesthetic has ceased, or if any serious injury is inflicted on the animal by or during the experiment, the animal shall be killed before it recovers from the influence of the anaesthetic.

24947. Experiments of any kind shall not be performed for the purpose of attaining or maintaining manual skill.

24948. Experiments shall not be performed as an illustration of lectures or to demonstrate that which is already scientifically or medically known.

24949. The substance known as urari or curare or any substance that produces physical immobility in any part of the body of a living animal without producing unconsciousness to pain shall not be used or administered for the purpose of or during the experiment.

24950. Experiments may be performed without anaesthesia if:

(a) The object of the experiment will be necessarily frustrated unless it is performed on an animal similar in constitution and habits to a cat or a dog and no such other animal is reasonably available.

(b) Insensibility cannot be produced without necessarily frustrating the object of the experiment.

(c) Authorized representatives of a licensed society, whether or not accompanied by representatives of the press, and any other law enforcement officer have free access to the places at which the experiments are conducted, during the whole course of the experiments.

24951. Experiments may be performed without killing the animal before it recovers from the influence of the anaesthesia if.

(a) The killing of the animal would necessarily frustrate the object of the experiment.

(b) If the animal is killed as soon as the object is attained.

(c) Authorized representatives of a licensed society, whether or not accompanied by representatives of the press, and any other law enforcement officer have free access to the places at which the experiments are conducted, during the whole course of the experiments and during the observation periods following the experiments.

24952. Every licensed experimenter is responsible for the actions of all who participate in or assist him with any experiment or who attend to the dogs and cats used therein prior to or after the experiment, or during observation under post-operative care.

24953. Within five (5) days after the commencement of any such experiment, the experimenter shall file a report with the license authority showing: (a) the number of dogs and cats used in the experiment or series of experiments, (b) the results attained to date of the report, (c) the disposition of the dogs and cats, and if they were not killed, their condition and whether they are to be held under continued observation and for what period of time, and in any event, what disposition is to be made of them.

Article 3. Suppliers

24970. A supplier shall raise dogs or cats for use in experiments only in the kennels specified in his application and license, and shall not at any location whatsoever engage in the business of boarding or caring for the dogs or cats of others or breeding or raising dogs or cats for other purposes or uses. This section does not prevent a supplier from keeping one or more dogs or cats as pets at his home and not in his licensed kennels, if they are licensed as are other pets under any applicable law.

24971. Only dogs and cats that have been whelped or littered in the licensed kennels of a licensed supplier may be supplied by a licensed supplier for any experiment. If the holder of an experimenter's license is also the holder of a supplier's license, only dogs and cats that have been whelped or littered in the kennels licensed to him as a supplier or which have been obtained from other licensed suppliers may be used by him for any experiment.

24974. The licensed kennels and the records required to be kept by a licensed supplier shall be open to inspection by the authorized representatives of any licensed society, whether or not accompanied by representatives of the press, or any law enforcement officer during usual business hours and at any time that a caretaker is on the premises.

24976. A supplier's license only authorizes the supplier to deliver dogs and cats to licensed experimenters at locations within the State of California.

Article 4. Licenses

24990. Every person desiring to perform an experiment on any living dog or cat shall apply for an experimenter's license to the license authority of the city in which he resides, or if he does not reside in a city, to the license authority of the county in which he resides, and if there be no such license authority, to the license authority of the nearest city to his place of residence. The application shall be on the form prescribed by the license authority and shall contain such information as it deems necessary to enable it to determine whether the applicant meets the requirements of this chapter.

24991. An experimenter's license shall be issued only to a person:

(a) Who possesses a postgraduate medical, surgical, or chemistry degree conferred by a school approved by the Board of Medical Examiners of the State of California under Article 4, Chapter 5, Division 2 of the Business and Professions Code, or a valid and unrevoked license issued by the Board of Examiners in Veterinary Medicine of the State of California;

(b) Whose application specifies as the place at which all such experiments shall be conducted, an educational institution of collegiate grade within the State of California; and

(c) Whose application is accompanied by a certification issued by the president or by or under authority of the governing body of such institution that the applicant has the scientific training necessary to qualify him to perform such experiments, and possesses the postgraduate degree or license required by subdivision (a), and that the institution will permit the applicant, if licensed, to perform such experiments on the premises and under the general supervision of the institution.

24992. If an application shows that the applicant meets the requirements of this chapter, the license authority shall issue an experimenter's license to the applicant. The license shall specify the institution at which all experiments shall be conducted.

24993. Any person desiring to procure a license to act as a supplier of animals for such experiments shall file an application therefor with the license authority of or nearest to the location of his kennels, as prescribed by Section 24990. The application shall show:

(a) The name under which applicant intends to conduct its business as a supplier;

(b) The location of the kennels to be used.

24994. If the application shows that the applicant meets the requirements of this chapter, the license authority shall issue a supplier's license to the applicant. The license shall specify the location of the kennels in which the supplier shall conduct his business as a supplier.

24995. Any society may apply to any license authority for a license authorizing its designated representatives to inspect the kennels of any licensed supplier and the premises on which any experiment is to be, is being, or has been performed, and to be present during the performance of any such experiment and at any time during the time a dog or cat is kept under observation in connection with an experiment or series of experiments.

If the license authority finds that the applicant constitutes a society within the meaning of Section 24903, it shall issue a license to the society authorizing it and its representatives to exercise the powers conferred upon such societies and their representatives by this chapter.

24996. Every such license shall expire at the same time as dog licenses issued by the license authority expire, and may be renewed upon application filed therefor at least ten (10) days before date of expiration. The license authority shall not renew any experimenter's or supplier's license while the applicant is in default in filing any of the notices or making any of the reports required by this chapter. It shall not issue a license to or renew the license of any applicant who, by a final judgment, has been convicted of violating any provision of this chapter or any license issued to the applicant.

24997. The records of every license authority pertaining to its duties under this chapter, including all applications, licenses, notices and reports shall be open to public inspection. Any person desiring to receive copies of applications, licenses, notices and reports filed under this chapter, may obtain them from the license authority upon payment of ten cents ($0.10) a folio for each copy requested.

Article 5. Fees

25010. The fee for filing an application for an experimenter's, supplier's or society's license is fifty dollars ($50). The fee for filing application for renewal of any such license is fifty dollars ($50).

25011. All fees received by the license authority shall be first used to defray the expenses incurred by it under this chapter. Any amount remaining at the end of any fiscal year and unnecessary for the administration of such duties, shall be disposed of as provided by law for the disposition of dog license revenues.

Article 6. Penalties

25020. Every person who violates any provision of this chapter for the violation of which another punishment is not herein prescribed, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

25021. Every person who knowingly supplies a dog or cat for the purpose of any experiment upon such animal without holding at the time an unrevoked license to act as a supplier, is guilty of a felony.

25022. Every public poundmaster or keeper of a municipal or private kennel or animal shelter and any of his employees having the custody or care of any animals who knowingly supply a dog or cat for the purpose of any experiment upon such animal is guilty of a felony.

25023. Every person who performs an experiment upon any living dog or cat, without holding at the time an unrevoked license to act as an experimenter is guilty of a felony.

25024. Every holder of an experimenter's license who conducts any experiment upon any dog or cat at other than the place specified in his license is guilty of a felony.

25025. Except as otherwise provided, every holder of an experimenter's or supplier's license who fails to perform any duty enjoined upon him by or violates any provision of this chapter is guilty of a misdemeanor.

25026. Every person who uses any dog or cat in connection with experiments for the purpose of research in the fields of the radio-activity, nuclear, atomic energy, or fissionable sciences, is guilty of a felony."

Amendment No. 3

On page 1 of said bill, strike out lines 1 to 15, inclusive, and insert

"SECTION 1. Section 1274bb of the Code of Civil Procedure is amended to read:

1274bb. All money or other property which [shall have been, or shall hereafter be, paid into or deposited in the custody of, or be under the control of, any court of the United States in and for any district within the State, or shall have been or hereafter shall be in the custody of any depository, registry, clerk, or other officer of such court,] has remained in, or has been deposited in the custody of, or under the control of, any officer, department or agency of the United States for eight or more consecutive years, which money or other property has its situs or source in this State, and which shall have been or shall hereafter be paid into, or deposited in the custody of, or under the control of any officer, department, agency or court of the United States in and for any district within the State, or shall have been or hereafter shall be in the custody of any registry, clerk, officer, department or agency of the United States, and the rightful owner or owners [thereof] of which either (a) shall have been or shall be unknown for a period of [10] eight consecutive years; or (b) shall have died or shall die without having disposed thereof, and without having left or without leaving a will disposing thereof, and without having left or without leaving heirs, devisees, or legatees; or (c) shall have abandoned or shall abandon such funds or property, are declared to have escheated or to escheat, together with all interest accrued thereon, to and to have become or to become the property of the State. This section is not limited in its application by the naming of any particular agency. This section shall include all funds held by the Controller of Currency as unclaimed deposits and safe deposit box contents held in custody after liquidation by national banks, all funds and deposits held by the Veterans Administration, United States Treasury, Department of Internal Revenue, federal courts, Registry of Federal Courts, such evidences of indebtedness as old unclaimed debts which have matured, together with unclaimed interest thereon, postal savings bonds, postal savings deposits, liberty bonds, victory notes, Treasury bonds, Treasury notes, certificates of indebtedness, Treasurer's savings certificates, bonuses and adjusted compensation, allotments and unclaimed national bank accounts, safe deposit box contents, unclaimed tax refunds, and all unclaimed refunds or rebates of whatever kind or nature.

In any proceeding authorized by this section if it shall appear from the records of [the court] any officer, clerk, registry, department or agency of the United States that the rightful owner or owners of money or property which has been or shall hereafter be deposited in the custody of or [be] under the control of, [such] any court, [or in the custody of its depository, registry, clerk, or other] officer, department, or agency of the United States, have not made claim [thereto] therefor for a period of [10] eight successive years, it shall be presumed for all purposes of this section that such rightful owner or owners are, and during such period have been, unknown, and that they have died without having disposed thereof, and without having left a will, and without having left any heirs, next-of-kin, or distributees, and that such property has been abandoned. In a case where the rightful owners of such money or property was a corporation it shall also be presumed for purposes of this section that the corporation is dissolved and no longer in existence, and its charter forfeited, and all the foregoing presumptions set forth in this section shall be made with respect to the rightful owners or claimants to the assets of such corporation, including its stockholders and creditors. Any or all of the foregoing several presumptions may be rebutted by competent evidence to the contrary.

Whenever it shall appear that there exists or may exist escheated property under this section, the Attorney General may at any time commence proceedings under Section 1268 of this code to have it established that such property has escheated to the State. In such proceeding a copy of the petition and order shall be served upon the clerk, registry, or other officer, or person in charge of the court, department, or agency into which or into whose registry or treasury the fund or property has been paid or deposited or which has control or custody thereof, or which has jurisdiction to make orders for the payment of such money to the rightful owners thereof, together with a notice that no personal claim is made against [him] such officer, registry, or other person in charge of the agency or department having control or possession of the funds or property sought, and also upon the United States attorney for the district in which such court is located. This section does not authorize a judgment to require such courts, officers, agents, depositories, registries, or clerks to pay or surrender funds or property to this State.

Whenever appropriate and proper, the Attorney General shall take appropriate action, by obtaining an order of the court of the United States, or otherwise, to collect and receive such funds or property.

SEC. 2 Section 1274d is added to said code, to read:

1274d. (a) All money received by any person, bank or trust company from the sale of any bonds, warrants, notes, securities, interest coupons, or other evidence of indebtedness of the State of California, which money shall have remained in the possession of any person, bank or trust company for a period of more than eight years after its receipt by said person, bank or trust company is declared abandoned and to have escheated or to escheat, together with all interest accrued thereon, to and to have become or to become the property of the State.

(b) All money received by any person, bank or trust company or other business organization from the sale of any bonds or other evidence of indebtedness of any improvement district or other entity organized under the laws of this State for and on behalf of such improvement district or other entity which shall have remained in the possession of any person, bank, trust company or other business organization or the fiscal agent or officers thereof, for a period of more than eight years after its receipt by such person, bank, trust company or other business organization is declared abandoned and to have escheated or to escheat, together with all interest thereon, to and to have become or to become the property of the State.

SEC. 3. Section 19598 of the Business and Professions Code is amended to read:

19598. From and after the effective date of this section, any person claiming to be entitled to any part of a redistribution from a pari-mutuel pool operated by a licensee under this chapter, who fails to claim the money due him prior to the completion of the racing meet at which such pool was formed, may, within 60 days after the close of such meet file with the board a verified claim in such form as the board shall prescribe setting forth in detail the claim of such person and such other information as may be necessary to identify the particular pool and the amount claimed therefrom. The board shall hear such claim and proof offered in support thereof. Unless the claimant satisfactorily establishes his right to participate in such pool, such claim shall be rejected. If the claim be allowed, the licensee shall upon order of the board pay the same to the claimant. Ninety days after the close of any racing meet hereafter conducted any moneys subjected to this section not theretofore successfully claimed [,] are declared abandoned and shall escheat to the State and shall be paid to the board and the board shall immediately pay such money into the State Treasury to the credit of the [special deposit] Abandoned Property Fund, to be held therein and disposed of in the manner provided by law for other deposits in the fund."

Amendments read, and adopted.

Bill ordered reprinted, and engrossed.

Assembly Bill No. 1348—An act to define and regulate the business of selling or cashing checks, drafts or money orders; to provide for the issuance of licenses and the making of examinations and investigations by the Commissioner of Corporations; to limit the amount of fees to be charged; to provide for the suspension, surrender and revocation of licenses; to provide for the adoption of rules and regulations and to prescribe penalties for violations of this act.

Bill read second time.

Amendment No. 3

On page 1 of said bill, strike out lines 1, 2, 3, and 4, and insert

"SECTION 1. Section 736 of the Fish and Game Code is amended, to read:

Sec. 736. No yellow-fin tuna or blue-fin tuna weighing less than seven and one-half pounds may be sold. On and after June 30, [1947] 1949, no yellow-fin tuna or blue-fin tuna weighing less than seven and one-half pounds or more than 150 pounds may be sold.

SEC. 2. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety within the meaning of Section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution and shall therefore go into immediate effect. A statement of the facts constituting such necessity is as follows:

One of the most important sources of our food supply is the fishing industry. Fresh and canned tuna for many years had been among the largest contributors to this source. Recently there has been a serious shortage in the tuna available, and the limitation of weight which will become effective June 30, 1947, unless the existing exemption is extended as provided in this bill, will increase the existing shortage and further diminish a valuable food supply of the people of this State."

Amendment No. 2

On page 1 of said bill, strike out line 1, and insert

"SECTION 1. Section 150 of the Agricultural Code is amended to read:

150. The commissioner shall prescribe and enforce rules for the qualification of any person who engages for hire in the business of eradicating or controlling pests within his county, and issue an agricultural pest control operator's [certificate] license to any person whom he shall find by examination or otherwise to be qualified for such work.

It shall be unlawful for any person, [firm or corporation] to engage for hire in such business who has not first secured such a license. [a certificate in the manner herein provided. The director shall have authority to make rules and regulations governing the conduct of, and application of methods of control or eradication used in, the business of eradicating or controlling pests for hire within the State. The commissioner shall enforce such rules and regulations. Any certificate issued under the provisions of this section may be revoked or suspended, after hearing by the officer issuing same for violation by the holder thereof of any of the rules and regulations authorized by this section.

All persons engaged in operating airplanes used in eradicating or controlling pests shall be classified as airplane pest control operators.]

SEC. 2. Section 150.1 is added to said code, to read:

150.1. Every person desiring to engage for hire in the business of eradicating or controlling pests in any county shall make application to the commissioner of the county for an agricultural pest control operator's license. The application shall be upon forms provided by the commissioner. In the application the applicant shall state his name and address, his principal place of business, a complete and itemized description of the machinery and apparatus to be used in the application of insecticide, a description of the type and character of the insecticide to be used and an itemized list of all the substances and ingredients contained therein.

SEC. 3. Section 150.2 is added to said code, to read:

150.2. If the commissioner finds the applicant to be qualified and properly equipped to operate he shall issue an agricultural pest control operator's license to him upon his filing a bond on behalf of the county with the commissioner in the sum of five thousand dollars ($5,000), conditioned upon compliance with the provisions of Sections 150 to 150.6, inclusive, and for the protection of persons and property from damage or injury as a result of the application of insecticides.

SEC. 4. Section 150.3 is added to said code, to read:

150.3. Before applying any insecticide, the licensee shall also file with the commissioner a statement showing the location of all fields where the insecticide is to be applied, the nature and character of the crops being grown thereon, and the name and address of the person for whom the work is to be done. The commissioner shall thereupon issue a permit which shall authorize the licensee to apply the insecticide to the fields and in the manner set forth in the application. The permit shall also specify the hours between which the insecticide may be applied.

SEC. 5. Section 150.4 is added to said code, to read:

150.4. Every licensee shall comply with all of the following regulations:

(a) He shall keep all equipment, when in use, in a state of good repair and shall use only equipment capable of performing all of the functions necessary to insure proper application of material.

(b) He shall keep informed as to the proper climatic conditions and recognized stage of development of the pest and of the crop being treated, and shall not operate when climatic, crop or pest conditions are not proper.

(c) He shall exercise every precaution, when using materials known to be lethal to bees, or injurious to livestock or other property, to protect such property from damage, and shall use only such methods of application, and under such climatic conditions, as shall confine the material applied to the premises of intended application.

SEC. 6. Section 150.5 is added to said code, to read:

150.5. Every licensee engaged in spraying or dusting agricultural crops with insecticide shall comply with all of the following regulations:

(a) All equipment when in use shall be kept in a state of good repair.

(b) Work shall not be carried on when climatic conditions interfere with the proper application of materials

(c) When a fluid dilutant is used, the contents of a tank shall be thoroughly agitated, before, at starting, and after each stop before application. The agitator shall be kept going where combination sprays are used, while filling and until the tank is empty.

(d) Each spray tank shall be visibly marked with the number of gallons capacity actually delivered under field practice, with the owner's name and serial number of the tank in bold faced letters and figures not less than two inches high.

(e) Each licensee shall notify the commissioner immediately before the start of operation on each property and on the first day of each month shall also submit to the commissioner a report showing for each piece of work performed: the date of operation, the name of the grower, the location of planting or orchard, the number and kind of trees or acres of other crops, the kind and strength of material, and the amount of undiluted material used.

(f) A daily record showing the temperature, time of application of each tank or load, strength and kind of material used, name of the grower and location of planting shall be made and kept on file for one year. A copy of this record shall be furnished the commissioner upon request.

SEC. 7. Section 150.6 is added to said code, to read:

150.6. The director shall by rule and regulation prescribe the methods of operation and types equipment to be used by licensees for eradicating and controlling pests, which rules and regulations shall be so designed as to secure the maximum attainable control and eradication consistent with the safeguarding of bees, livestock, and other property from injury or contamination. As used in Sections 150 to 150.6 inclusive, "licensee" means a holder of an agricultural pest control operator's license, and the violation of any of the provisions of those sections by a licensee shall be ground for revoking his license.

SEC. 8. Section 150.7 is added to said code, to read:

150.7. It shall be unlawful for any person to apply by mechanical device or otherwise insecticide to any field between the hours determined and published by the commissioner of each county.

SEC. 9. Section 150.8 is added to said code, to read:

150.8. It shall be unlawful for any person to negligently or carelessly apply insecticide by such means or under such conditions as to cause a poisonous substance to be deposited on premises other than those of intended application in quantities injurious to honey bees, livestock or other property, or upon any land where livestock are being pastured or where feed for livestock is being produced or stored."

Amendment No. 3

On page 1 of said bill, strike out lines 2 to 24, inclusive; and strike out all of page 2.

RECOMMENDATION OF THE GOVERNOR

STATE OF CALIFORNIA
GOVERNOR'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO, March 29, 1947

In accordance with Article IV, Section 34, of the Constitution, the Governor presented the following communication recommending the passage of Assembly Bill No. 1402:

To the Honorable Members of the Assembly
Sacramento, California

GENTLEMEN:

Senate Bill No. 1402—"An act making an appropriation for the support of the Legislative Counsel Bureau, to take effect immediately,"

in my opinion constitutes an emergency bill within the meaning of that term as used in Section 34 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California, and consideration of which should not await the final enactment of the Budget Bill.

I therefore recommend consideration of Senate Bill No 1402 as an emergency measure.

Respectfully submitted.

EARL WARREN, Governor

RESOLUTION TO SUSPEND CONSTITUTIONAL PROVISION

The following resolution was offered:

By Mr. Dickey:

Resolved, That Senate Bill No. 1402 presents a case of urgency, as that term is used in Article IV, Section 15, of the Constitution, and the provision of that section requiring that the bill be read on three several days in each house is hereby dispensed with, and it is ordered that said bill be read the third time, and placed upon its passage.

Resolution read.

Amendment No. 2

On page 1 of said bill, strike out lines 1 to 8, inclusive, and insert

"SECTION 1. Section 5 of the act cited in the title hereof is amended to read:

Sec. 5. When, under the provisions of the preceding sections, the boundaries of the proposed district are defined and established, said board shall make an order dividing said district into three or five or seven divisions, as requested in the petition. Such divisions shall be as nearly equal in area as practicable and shall be numbered consecutively, and one director [, who shall be an elector of the division.] shall be elected from each division by vote of the electors of the division [in which such director resides No person may be elected a director who shall] . A director need not be a qualified elector of the district, [and who] but shall [not] be a resident of the county, or of one of the counties in which the district is situated.

SEC. 2 Section 14.5 is added to said act, to read:

Sec. 14.5. If on the twentieth day prior to the day fixed for the biennial district election it appears that one person, but not more than one, has been nominated for each of the positions of director, which are to be filled at that election and a petition, signed by five percent (5%) of the qualified electors in the district, requesting that the biennial district election in the district be held has not been presented to the board of directors of the district, an election shall not be held, but the board of supervisors of the county in which the district, or the greater portion thereof, is situated at a regular or special meeting held prior to the day fixed for said election shall appoint to the said positions those persons who have been nominated for such positions. The said persons shall qualify and take office and serve exactly as if elected at a biennial district election. In such instances the publication provided for in Section 14 of this act shall instead of calling an election state that no election is to be held, but that the board of supervisors will appoint those nominated for the said positions of director."

Amendments read, and adopted.

Recommendation of the Governor

In accordance with Article IV, Section 34, of the Constitution, the Governor presented the following communication recommending the passage of Assembly Bill No. 2570:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA
GOVERNOR'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO, April 3, 1947

To the Honorable Members of the Assembly
Sacramento, California

GENTLEMEN:

Assembly Bill No. 2570—"An act to amend Section 8 of an act entitled 'An act to provide for the acquisition of temporary and emergency housing facilities for veterans and families of servicemen by joint action of the State and local agencies, providing for the operation of such facilities, making an appropriation, and declaring the urgency thereof, to take effect immediately,' approved February 15, 1946, relating to the availability of the appropriation made thereby, declaring the urgency thereof and declaring that this act shall take effect immediately,"

in my opinion constitutes an emergency bill within the meaning of that term as used in Section 34 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California, the consideration of which should not await the final enactment of the Budget Bill.

I therefore recommend consideration of Assembly Bill No. 2570 as an emergency measure.

Respectfully submitted.

EARL WARREN, Governor

Assembly Bill No. 2570—An act to amend Section 8 of an act entitled "An act to provide for the acquisition of temporary and emergency housing facilities for veterans and families of servicemen by joint action of the State and local agencies, providing for the operation of such facilities, making an appropriation, and declaring the urgency thereof, to take effect immediately," approved February 15, 1946, relating to the availability of the appropriation made thereby, declaring the urgency thereof and declaring that this act shall take effect immediately.

Bill read third time.

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolution was offered:

By Mr. Brady:

House Resolution No. 136

Relative to "Highway Users'" federal excise taxes distribution, the inequity of such distribution, and the failure of California to receive her full share thereof for highway construction

WHEREAS, Eight hundred six million one hundred eighty-four thousand four hundred eighty-one dollars was derived by the Federal Government in 1946 from "Highway Users" according to the Bureau of Internal Revenue's recently released report of the total collections for the year 1946; and

WHEREAS, The "Highway Users" in the United States have paid $806,184,481 by paying excise tax added to the purchase price of gasoline, lubricating oil, automobile, motorcycle, truck parts, tires, tubes and motor vehicle accessories; and

WHEREAS, The "Highway Users" of California embrace more than 10 percent of the total registration of automotive equipment in the 48 states; and

WHEREAS, The "Highway Users" of California are increased annually by the addition of literally tens of thousands of tourists from others of the 48 states; and

WHEREAS, Over 10 percent or $80,618,448, therefore, should be returned as our just percentage for our highway construction and maintenance; and

WHEREAS, In this year 1947-1948 we are receiving but $23,000,000 for highway construction; and

WHEREAS, This inequitable distribution of "Highway Users" taxes for highway construction should be corrected; and

WHEREAS, Our State of California grows daily, and has now arrived at the position of the second largest State in the United States; and

WHEREAS, This fact presumes that in the future we should be entitled to even more of the $806,184,481 than the $23,000,000 which we shall receive in the next fiscal year for highway construction; and

WHEREAS, The Chief Executive of our State of California, Governor Earl Warren, and we of the Legislature of the State of California, realize from our intimacy with the highway construction program that our representatives in the National Congress must be made as acutely aware of our problem as we locally are; and

WHEREAS, Our Governor and we of the State Legislature contemplate a long-range highway construction program, and our National Congress has not taken any action on future allotments to our State of California beyond the next fiscal year of $23,000,000; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That our United States Senators and our Representatives in the Congress strongly maintain that this inequitable distribution be corrected in the future and that a just percentage of the $806,000,000 be returned to us; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly be hereby directed to transmit copies of this resolution to Honorable Sheridan Downey and Honorable William F. Knowland, Members of the Senate of the United States, and to the California Members of the Congress of the United States.

Resolution read, and referred to the Committee on Rules.

CONSIDERATION OF DAILY FILE (RESUMED)

EARL WARREN, Governor

COMMUNICATIONS

By the Chief Clerk:

The following communication and statement were received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

THE ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF THE NAVY
WASHINGTON, March 31, 1947

Mr. Arthur A. Ohnimus, Chief Clerk of the Assembly
California Legislature, State Capitol
Sacramento 14, California

DEAR MR. OHNIMUS: The copies of the California Assembly Joint Resolution No. 1 which were forwarded to the President and to the Secretary of the Navy have been referred to me.

I regret that this resolution was passed by the California Assembly without having the facts before it which would have prevented the inaccurate statements which were made.

I am enclosing a copy of my statement before Subcommittee No. 6 of the House Armed Services Committee on March 13, 1947. I believe a careful study of this statement will show that the action taken was in the best interest of the Navy and will clarify the misunderstandings which are indicated by the wording of the joint resolution.

Sincerely yours.

W. JOHN KENNEY

STATEMENT OF THE HONORABLE W. JOHN KENNEY, ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF THE NAVY, BEFORE THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES SUBCOMMITTEE NO. 6 (PROCUREMENT AND SUPPLY) OF THE COMMITTEE OF THE ARMED SERVICES

March 13, 1947

I am very glad of this opportunity to appear before your committee to explain the action that has been taken by the Secretary of the Navy with respect to ships' service stores. Initially I want to describe to the committee the conditions found in those stores and to describe the steps taken to improve conditions. I am not advocating the adoption of any particular system, nor am I claiming infallibility in the steps that have been taken to cure a situation, which I believe all of you will admit when you hear the facts, required positive action. There is much that remains to be done but the steps that have been taken do, in my opinion, represent an improvement.

At the outset, I want to point out that ships' service stores are operated with nonappropriated funds, differing from commissary stores and ship's stores. Generally, ships' service stores are located on shore at places where satisfactory commercial facilities are not available, while ship's stores are small units located on board ship. The purpose of the ships' service stores are twofold; first, to supply the needs of the men at the lowest possible price and second, to furnish a source of funds for recreational and welfare purposes for the enlisted men.

In the past, ships' service stores were operated as independent, individual units. Rules and procedures governing their operation were issued by the Bureau of Naval Personnel in the form of regulations. These regulations covered in general, procedures to prevent fraud, to further the health and welfare of Naval personnel and laid out very general rules covering operations. Monthly financial statements were required together with periodical local audits by members of the staff of the reporting activity or local commercial auditors. These audits, together with the usual Naval inspections, were correct as far as they went but there was no procedure in effect which covered in detail the proper evaluation of stock levels, turnover, operational percentages, personnel expenditures and allied problems. There was no standard pattern for departments in those stores. While it was true that each large store had the usual retail store, snack bar, cobbler shop, barber shop and other types of services, there was no mandatory type of breakdown into departments within the retail store itself. There was practically no limit on the types of service departments. Oyster beds, rug cleaning plants, children's cafeterias to name a few, were some of the unusual types of operations to be found. While there may have been every reason for the operation of such activities, there was no control exercised over the operation of such projects outside of periodical reports of operations. It was entirely up to the local commanding officer of the activity involved to supervise these projects.

In addition, there were no formal markdown procedures or set standards of profit requirements. None of the monthly operating statements carried an entry to show what markdowns, if any, were taken during the current month. By the same token it was therefore impossible for operating statements to show what influence monthly markdowns had on the month's operation. Not only did this make for poor financial and merchandising control, but store managers were extremely reluctant to take any markdowns due to the fact that such action would reflect to the disadvantage of the store. Thus monthly profits were often fictitious and the amount of funds made available to the commanding officer of the activity were equally imaginary. Due to lack of age inventory, stocks of dead merchandise were built up and were, of course, carried on the monthly operating statement as assets. In many cases a large portion of such stocks were assets in name only and if properly evaluated would have been completely charged off the books. The stores were often operated at a loss. The following are typical examples:

Store "A"—This store had cash operating funds on hand amounting to $6,177.13 as of September 30, 1946, and current liabilities amounted to $22,534.80. Some of the accounts payable went back as far as July. On a stock of $46,970.87 at the end of the month, it did a volume of $12,586.56 or a monthly turnover of 26 percent which is considered a poor turnover for this type of operation. It had merchandise on order amounting to $17,248.54. This store was bankrupt and in need of drastic action to prevent large markdowns and excessive losses. Notwithstanding this unhealthy condition, the commercial audit for a three months' period showed a fictitious net profit on sales of $5,195.13.

Store "B"—This store had cash operating funds on hand August 31, 1946, amounting to $8,997.55 The current liabilities amounted to $147,733.30. Even if the capital reserve funds of $59,600 (cash in special bank account and government bonds) were to be considered as liquid operating capital, this store was in the red to the extent of $79,136. Accounts payable amounted to $144,340.35 On an end of month stock of $408,115.91 the monthly volume of the store was $87,770.10 and the store had on order $231,465.17 worth of merchandise.

Store "C"—This store had cash operating funds on hand as of July 31, 1946, amounting to $2,136.73 with accounts payable of $11,176.61. Even considering its total capital reserve fund of $5,702.77 as liquid operating funds, this store would still be in the red to the extent of $3,337.11 if only accounts payable are considered On a stock at retail of $27,810.14 at end of month, this store did a volume of $17,794.75 and had a net loss of $281.14 for the month In the case of this store $22,840.14 worth of merchandise remained on order at the end of the month.

Store "D"—This store had cash operating funds amounting to $34,454.94 on hand as of August 31, 1946. Current liabilities amounted to $42,474.02 which again consisted mostly of accounts payable ($39,818.45). On an end of month stock of $96,747.19 it did a volume of $57,427.80 Merchandise on order amounted to $79,611.45. This store showed the same precarious cash position as the other stores cited but in addition it showed losses in its service departments which were very substantial. This particular store showed a profit of only $3,406 06 in its retail store while it showed the following detailed profits and losses:

	Volume	Profit	Loss
Retail store	$57,427 80	$3,406 06	$ ------
Restaurant	22,989 02	------	2,117 58
Laundry	5,621 61	------	1,449 15
Barber shop	600 10	------	29 44
Cobbler	536 80	230 53	------
Gasoline station	1,771 37	------	58 50
Beauty shop	147 95	------	67 31
Tailor shop	684 85	193 53	------
Beverage venders	2,201 49	61 21	------
CPO club	2,692 80	620 82	------
	$94,673 79	$4,512 15	$3,721 98
Net profit		$790 17

While a profit of $790.17 is shown, actually a net loss of $2,765.70 was accrued when direct administrative expenses were considered.

Such conditions were not uncommon due to the fact that it was the accepted practice for local commanding officers to establish the custom of having each particular service activity make or lose money as he saw fit. If he felt that free hair cuts would be appropriate, then the losses incurred in the barber shop had to be absorbed by some other activity (usually the retail store) which did make money.

No uniform stock or inventory control system was in effect. As an illustration, no central evaluation was made in connection with correcting this type of situation: This store had an inventory of $15,125.86 worth of toilet articles at the end of the month. Sales in this department amounted to $5,374.71 or a turnover of approximately 33 percent for the month. Even in the face of this poor turnover, merchandise on order amounted to $7,636.44. This merchandise which should be practically the fastest moving in the store is also the type which can be procured in the shortest length of time.

Salary expenses alone amounted to 17.7 percent of sales and the total gross markup for the entire operation amounted to only 19.4 percent. Markdowns on store merchandise were indicated as $259.36 against sales of $57,427.80—a ridiculously low figure.

The steps which have been taken to reorganize the stores are as follows:

1. Standard Procedures. The first step taken was the establishment of the central office. Following closely on this step was the promulgation of "Manual of Standard Procedures," which was issued to all field activities on August 1, 1946. This manual covered all procedures in connection with basic operations under the new organization, accounting and financial matters, and the use of standard forms.

2. Central Procurement. The most basic change in the new operation in comparison with the old was the institution of central procurement. The procurement of uniform stocks to be carried in all stores was essential before inventory control could be efficiently practiced. It was highly impractical to attempt to institute any system of inventory control if local stores were permitted to purchase all of the various standard and nonstandard lines of merchandise which had previously been made available to them. Through the medium of purchase agreement bulletins a large portion of procurement was centralized and standardized for all stores. Merchandise is made available to the stores through the medium of Price Agreement Bulletins which are issued from time to time by the central office. These Price Agreement Bulletins listing competitive merchandise such as small leather goods, costume jewelry, novelties, are issued after bids are received and a Merchandise Committee has evaluated all items submitted for consideration. The widest possible competition is therefore assured and all products submitted from any section of the Country are evaluated upon their individual merits and comparative value in accordance with standard commercial merchandising practices. Stores are not necessarily restricted to the procurement of merchandise listed on Price Agreement Bulletins but may, with the approval of the central office, purchase other items or products which may have a local demand such as beer, candy and similar items, or where items can be purchased locally upon more economical terms. All requirements for perishable items are handled locally. A sampling of some purchases indicates that 64 percent of purchases previously made from local sources continues to be so made.

3. Central Disbursing. All disbursing, with the exception of certain bills for local services is done by the central office. A single check issued by the central office pays all of the bills rendered by any one supplier to many of the individual stores. Thus, no one store can endanger the credit of the entire organization by being tardy with its payments.

4. Central Audit. A central audit is in effect not only to prevent fraud, but also to check monthly operating statements in order to alleviate or eliminate the merchandising and management conditions which were illustrated by the examples previously cited.

5. Central Stock Control. The Manual of Operating Procedures outlines complete information towards the setting up of stock records and the installation of inventory procedures. Based upon the facts outlined on these records and the monthly operational statements, stock replenishments as well as the balancing of stocks on hand, can be accomplished. With inventory control, stocks can be reduced and excess stocks can be transferred from store to store.

6. Comprehensive Operating Statements. While previously operational statements were received monthly from all stores, these statements have been completely revised and carry much more detail in order to accomplish detailed monthly analyses of all phases of store operations. These are broken down into operational and inventory figures covering all departments within the retail stores as well as the service departments. These statements show operating percentage figures as well as turnover data in addition to the usual financial position figures.

7. Field Organization and Supervision. In order to obtain a more efficient operation of the stores in the field, two types of stores have been created. These are "Main" and "Branch" stores. A main store may have many, and sometimes isolated, branch stores included in its operation. In this manner more balanced stocks may be maintained in smaller units due to the fact that only the main stores need to carry the bulk stocks. All of the branch stores are under the supervision of the main store and do all of their reporting and operating through them.

8. Basic Stock Allowances. The basis of all stock control and financial analysis rests upon the establishment of basic stocks from which all inventory control percentages are derived. Due to the almost complete absence of records covering this phase of the former operation and the rapid demobilization of the Naval establishment, all that can be done in this respect is to estimate what future volume figures will be in each particular area or activity, and from these figures establish basic inventory allowances.

9. Plans. An "Operating Manual" is in preparation and covers the phases connected with the operation of service departments. Manuals of displays, fixture usage, store layout, etc. are actively being worked upon and will be issued to the field in the near future. In addition to all of the activities mentioned, every prospective Ship's Service Officer is put through a complete training course before he is sent to the field.

I should now like to point out to the committee some of the savings that have resulted from this centralized operation. With the exception of the salaries of four supervisory officers, the entire operation of the central office is financed with nonappropriated moneys. With the reduction in Naval personnel it was considered imperative to relieve officers of the line from primary duties as Ship's Service Officers and return them to the duties for which they were trained, i.e. military duties. In addition, it was considered equally important to reduce in every way possible the number of Naval personnel being used to operate those stores. Where formerly each ship's service store was managed by one, two or more line officers, depending upon the size of the operation, a relatively few Supply Corps Officers are now on duty in a supervisory capacity in the various stores. Civilian managers are employed in the stores and are paid out of nonappropriated funds.

The following reduction in personnel has taken place in ship's service stores:

Districts One Through Nine and River Commands

Present number employed		Previous number	Saving
Officers	67	185	118
Enlisted	600	1,255	655
Civilian	5,536	6,323	787

Due to the recent take-over of the Eleventh, Twelfth, Thirteenth and Fourteenth Districts, comparative figures are not available. However, based upon the experience record of the districts upon which figures are available, it is estimated that the following additional savings will be effected there:

Officers, 49 Enlisted, 501 Civilians, 258

These figures cover the operational savings in connection with ship's service stores only, and represent an approximate annual pay roll saving of $3,531,200 based upon average annual salary rates. The total Central Ship's Store Office annual pay roll from nonappropriated funds is estimated to be $722,880.

A portion of the foregoing personnel savings is gained through the performance of all accounting functions for all stores by the central office. This office handles the accounting for both merchandise and store equipment. This central accounting, through the use of standard forms and utilizing business machines to great advantage, greatly reduces the personnel who were engaged in accounting and bookkeeping at each store. All disbursements for ships' service stores merchandise are made by the central office.

In addition to the considerable savings realized through the establishment of centralized accounting procedures, no less important were the savings to be gained through a central audit covering all ships' service stores operations. In the year preceding the reorganization the stores which are now being continued in operation spent a total of $192,023.10 for auditing. These audits were conducted on the basis of individual stores and no overall contract for the auditing of all stores was placed. Experienced auditors who are familiar with similar types of operations, have estimated they would make a similar audit of the complete system as centralized for $15,000 plus $175 for each individual store to be audited in detail. As a detailed field audit of 20 percent of the stores is considered adequate, this would make a total annual auditing charge of $22,000 or an estimated annual saving of $170,023.10.

In considering all of the factors which constitute operating overhead the matter of insurance coverage must be considered. In this particular field a complete survey was made and disclosed that local purchase of insurance had not only been very costly, but also in many instances proper protection from normal hazards had not been obtained. In some cases it was found that there was duplication of coverage and coverage of hazards by a more expensive form of insurance than was necessary. The central control of insurance permits among other things flexibility of policies furnishing automatic coverage of new acquisitions of individual stores, the elimination of border line cases of public liability, and the convenience of settling all claims through one point.

The following figures illustrate the annual savings:

Present Cost	Previous Cost	Savings
$112,075.00	$286,558.00 *	$174,483.00

Up to this point the primary emphasis has been placed upon the delineation of administrative and managerial savings derived through centralized control. Actually, the most important savings may be realized through centralized procurement of merchandise and the exercising of control over inventory of store stocks, and merchandising methods.

The absence in the past, of a central office to receive all bids, has handicapped the stores in obtaining the best values and has virtually restricted them to the habit of purchasing highly competitive and seasonal merchandise from a comparatively small group of suppliers without the benefit of comparison with other potential sources. All ships' service stores, and particularly small stores, do not have the facilities to shop in markets for the best values and therefore must rely upon the representations of the supplier, who as a party in interest cannot give the objective advice of a trained buyer. The fundamental basis of certain of the criticisms of centralized control is that this business will no longer be confined to a small group but will now be thrown open to the public for all to compete.

Procurement of supplies of general merchandise for all ships' service stores is handled in one of the following ways:

(a) Quotations are invited for the supply of standard branded merchandise for all stores. Awards are made to the supplier offering the best terms and conditions of sale. Shipment orders are placed only by the individual stores and quantities ordered are determined solely by the customer acceptance of the product. The type of contract used for branded merchandise is known as an "open end" contract because of the indefinite quantities which may be ordered out by the stores under the contract. This type of procurement procedure is applicable to approximately 80 percent of all merchandise procured. Deliveries are effected in accordance with normal business practice—shipments being made either directly from the supplier or through local distributors.

(b) Quotations are invited for the supply of nonbranded merchandise, such as small leather goods or items of jewelry, the demand for which is based upon quality and price rather than upon a specific brand name. Quotations and samples are reviewed by an experienced Merchandise Committee and "open end" contracts are awarded to the concerns offering the best values. Orders are placed by stores and stocks are replenished as customer demand warrants. Deliveries are accomplished as previously described.

(c) Quotations are invited for the supply of specific quantities of certain types of merchandise, such as textiles and clothing, which are in short supply or on which substantial savings can be effected by consolidated procurement. Definite quantities are determined by a tabulation of actual store requirements. Quotations and samples are reviewed and a firm order is placed with one or more suppliers offering the best values. The Navy Ship's Store Office does not warehouse such materials but relies upon regular commercial distribution methods.

Specifications, federal or otherwise, covering resale items of merchandise rarely exist, nor is it practical or necessary to develop such specifications. All requirements therefore, are indicated by type, general description or brand name. If the item is in recurring demand all suppliers whether large or small, whether manufacturer, distributor or wholesaler from any section of the country may compete on the merits of the products submitted.

The widest possible competition between all types of suppliers is an absolute necessity if the Navy Ship's Store Office is to accomplish its mission of providing the most acceptable merchandise at the lowest possible prices.

Through a survey of the procurement savings percentages outlined above, it is estimated that the following annual procurement savings should result in Ships' Service Stores:

Retail dept.	Net annual sales	Estimated savings
Confections	$5,000,000	$100,000	2%
Tobacco	15,000,000	75,000	½%

Linens and textiles	1,000,000	200,000	20%
Totals	$48,000,000	$3,220,000	Av. 6.7

Centralized control is expected to produce the following aggregate savings for the calendar year 1947:

$3,220,000	Merchandise procurement
174,483	Insurance
170,023	Audit
108,000	Consolidation of laundry facilities
3,531,200	Personnel reduction
Total $7,203,706
Less 1,200,000	Central Office expense
Net Total $6,003,706

In summary, the direction of the Secretary of the Navy for the establishment of the Navy Ship's Store Office was made after a most exhaustive study, and after careful consideration. It has already accomplished much towards promoting morale in the naval service by making available better values. It has contributed substantially to the reduction in expenditures of appropriated moneys and has instituted many safeguards to conserve the expenditure of nonappropriated funds.

It is not the intention of the Navy to deviate from established business methods and procedures of management and merchandising in the operation of these stores. Every effort is being extended to operate these stores in accordance with the traditionally American business practice of encouraging the widest possible competition. It is the policy of the Navy to afford the opportunity to compete without discrimination to every segment of American business, whether large or small. In fact, the largest number of suppliers are small business concerns. Every type of supplier capable of furnishing appropriate lines of merchandise for Navy stores can participate in this business. Agreements will be made with the supplier offering the highest quality merchandise at the lowest price and having the desired distribution. It is of no importance what commercial business classification the supplier might hold. Quality, price and adequate distribution are the deciding factors. The previous procedures had created a virtual monopoly and subsidization to a small segment of business which was inimical to the best interests of the men and was contrary to accepted American business practices

It is believed that the Navy Department would have been derelict in the discharge of its responsibilities to the enlisted men if every step possible had not been taken to improve the operation of Ships' Service Stores in the manner outlined.

Consideration of Committee Amendments

The following amendments were proposed by the Committee on Transportation and Commerce:

Amendment No. 1

In line 2 of the title of the printed bill, after "468", insert "476".

PRINTER'S NOTE—There being no 7-point strikeout type available, the material which should appear in strikeout type in the following amendments is indicated by being enclosed within brackets.

Amendment No. 2

On page 2 of the printed bill, after line 49, insert

"SEC. 3. Section 476 of the Vehicle Code is amended to read:

476. Official Traffic Signals. Whenever traffic is controlled by official traffic control signals exhibiting the words "Go," "Caution," or "Stop," or exhibiting different colored lights successively, one at a time, or with arrows, the following colors only shall be used, and said terms and lights shall indicate and apply to drivers of vehicles and pedestrians as follows:

(a) Green alone or "Go."

1. Vehicular traffic facing the signal shall proceed straight through or may turn right or left or make a semicircular or U turn unless a sign at such place prohibits any such turn. But vehicular traffic, including vehicles turning right or left, shall yield the right of way to other vehicles and to pedestrians lawfully within the intersection or an adjacent crosswalk at the time such signal is exhibited.

2. Pedestrians facing the signal may proceed across the roadway within any marked or unmarked crosswalk.

(b) Yellow or "Caution" when shown following the green or "Go" signals.

1. Vehicular traffic facing the signal is thereby warned that the red or stop signal will be exhibited immediately thereafter and vehicular traffic shall not enter the intersection when the red or stop signal is exhibited.

2. No pedestrian shall enter the roadway or cross any part of a roadway or from or to a safety zone against a yellow or "Caution" signal.

(c) Red alone or "Stop."

1. Vehicular traffic facing the signal shall stop before entering the crosswalk on the near side of the intersection or, if none, then before entering the intersection and shall remain standing until green or "Go" is shown alone, except as provided in the next succeeding paragraph.

2. [Local authorities may designate any intersection by erecting appropriate signs thereat where] The driver of a vehicle which is stopped as close as practicable at the entrance to the crosswalk on the near side of the intersection or, if none, then at the entrance to the intersection in obedience to a red or "Stop" signal, may make a right turn but shall yield the right of way to pedestrians and other traffic proceeding as directed by the signal at said intersection, except that local authorities may by ordinance prohibit any such right turn against a red or "Stop" signal at any intersection within a central traffic district as defined by ordinance, or within any business district or at any intersection outside of a central traffic district or business district when a sign is erected at such intersection prohibiting any such right turn against a red or "Stop" signal.

3. No pedestrian shall enter the roadway or cross any part of the roadway or from or to a safety zone against a red or "Stop" signal.

(d) Red with green arrow. Vehicular traffic facing such signal may cautiously enter the intersection only to make the movement indicated by such arrow but shall yield the right of way to pedestrians lawfully within a crosswalk and to other traffic lawfully using the intersection

(e) The motorman of any street car shall obey all official traffic signals as applicable to vehicles except that the motorman of a street car shall not make a right or left turn when facing a red alone or stop signal.

(f) No person shall disobey the directions of this section except when it is necessary for the purpose of avoiding a collision or in case of other emergency or when otherwise directed by a police or traffic officer, or as permitted under Section 454."

134.5. Association of Motor Vehicle Officials. The department may join associations of motor vehicle officials of other states and others having as their purpose the interchanging or supplying of information relating to the technique of motor vehicle administration law.

SEC. 3. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health or safety within the meaning of Section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution and shall therefore go into immediate effect. A statement of the facts constituting such necessity is as follows:

Recent robberies have shown the seriousness of the absence of any provision permitting the insurance of property in the possession and control of the Department of Motor Vehicles against loss by burglary, theft or robbery and this legislation is urgently needed to insure the State from further losses. The mounting toll of traffic deaths and property damage as a result of motor vehicle operation in this State necessitates better techniques of motor vehicle law administration. The union of the California Department of Motor Vehicles with associations of motor vehicle officials of other states is urgently needed for the interchange of ideas and information which will assist in the reduction of automobile accidents"

The California State Lottery Board is hereby created which shall consist of the Director of Finance, who shall be chairman, and four members appointed by and serving at the pleasure of the Governor. The appointed members of the board shall receive no compensation for their services but shall be allowed their necessary traveling and other expenses incurred in the performance of their duties.

SEC. 2. As soon as practicable after its appointment the board shall meet and organize and shall devise a system for the conducting of lotteries by the State upon the basis of or in relation to horse races authorized by law, for the purpose of raising revenue. Such lotteries shall be conducted and managed by the Department of Finance pursuant to rules and regulations therefor adopted by the board consistent with the provisions of this act. Such rules and regulations shall include provision for setting aside for distribution as prizes of not less than 50 percent of the proceeds of the sale of any series of state lottery tickets.

SEC. 3. Lottery tickets sold within the State shall be sold either by employees of the department or pursuant to contract with independent agencies. Lottery tickets sold outside of the State may be sold in such manner as the board may prescribe. No commission or other consideration in excess of 10 percent of the value of the tickets sold shall be paid for the sale thereof.

SEC. 4. The board may authorize the Director of Finance to expend funds for advertising in newspapers, magazines, and other periodicals and for other forms of publicity designed to assure the successful sale of state lottery tickets.

SEC. 5. All tickets, instructions, and other printed matter necessary for the distribution of lottery tickets shall be printed in the State Printing Plant.

SEC. 6. No person, firm, or corporation shall print or otherwise manufacture, sell or offer for sale, buy or have in his possession any lottery ticket of any kind not printed in the State Printing Plant as provided in this act. Violation of this section is a felony punishable by imprisonment in the State Prison for not exceeding five years or by a fine of not exceeding five thousand dollars ($5,000), or by both such fine and imprisonment.

SEC. 7. Any person, firm, or corporation who forges or counterfeits any ticket made for the purpose of a lottery under this act, or who alters any numbers thereof, or who offers for sale or sells any forged or counterfeited ticket or any ticket the number of which is altered, knowing it to be so altered, or who presents any such forged, counterfeited or altered ticket to the State or its agencies with intent to defraud the State, is guilty of a felony punishable by imprisonment in the state prison for not exceeding five years or by a fine not exceeding five thousand dollars ($5,000), or by both such fine and imprisonment.

SEC. 8. All money received by the department under this act shall be paid into the "California Lottery Fund" in the State Treasury which fund is hereby created. All prizes shall be paid from the California Lottery Fund by the State Treasurer upon warrants drawn thereon by the State Controller. There is hereby annually appropriated from such fund for expenditure by the California Lottery Board and the Department of Finance such amounts as are necessary for the administration of the provisions of this act, as determined by the State Board of Control, not to exceed 10 percent of the total amount annually deposited in that fund.

SEC. 9. The balance of the money in the California Lottery Fund shall be transferred by the Controller to the State Highway Fund for construction and maintenance of highways upon order of the California Lottery Board."

Amendment No. 5

On page 2 of said printed bill, between line 27 and line 28, insert "This act shall be applicable to reciprocal and interinsurance exchanges, as well as to other insurers. Casualty insurance as used herein shall be deemed to include all forms of insurance to which the provisions of this act are applicable and which are included within Sections 105, 107, 108, 110, 112, 115, and, when written by insurers not admitted to transact fire or marine insurance in this State, Sections 111, 114, 116, and 120 of the Insurance Code."

Amendment No. 6

On page 2, line 41, of said printed bill, strike out "subject to the provisions of this act", and insert "upon compliance with the provisions of this act applicable thereto."

Amendment No. 7

On page 4, line 44, of said printed bill, after "may be served.", insert "Upon compliance with the provisions of this act applicable thereto any such advisory organization may carry on its activities in this State."

Amendment No. 8

On page 5, line 15, of said printed bill, after "may be served.", insert "Upon compliance with the provisions of this act any such group, association or organization may carry on its activities in this State."

Amendment No. 9

On page 5 of said printed bill, strike out lines 37 to 52, inclusive; and on page 6, strike out lines 1 to 14, inclusive, and insert "(i) Except with regard to types of insurance to which the provisions of Section 11620 of the Insurance Code apply, agreements may be made among admitted insurers with respect to the equitable apportionment among them of insurance which may be afforded applicants who are in good faith entitled to but who are unable to procure such insurance through ordinary methods, and with respect to the use of reasonable rate modifications for such insurance, such agreements to be subject to the approval of the commissioner.

All such agreements shall be submitted in writing to the commissioner for his consideration and approval, together with such information as he may reasonably require. The commissioner shall approve only such agreements as are found by him to contemplate (a) the use of rates which meet the standards prescribed by this act and (b) activities and practices that are not unfair, unreasonable or otherwise inconsistent with the provisions of this act.

At any time after such agreements are in effect the commissioner may review the practices and activities of the adherents to such agreements and if after a hearing upon not less than 10 days notice to such adherents he finds that any such practice or activity is unfair or unreasonable, or is otherwise inconsistent with the provisions of this act, he may issue a written order to the parties to any such agreement specifying in what respects such practice or activity is unfair or unreasonable or otherwise inconsistent with the provisions of this act and requiring the discontinuance of such activity or practice. For good cause, and after hearing upon not less than 10 days notice to the adherents thereto, the commissioner may revoke approval of any such agreement."

Amendment No. 10

On page 6 of said printed bill, strike out lines 21 to 26, inclusive, and insert "(j) With respect to any matters pertaining to the making of rates or rating systems, the preparation or making of insurance policy or bond forms, underwriting rules, surveys, inspections and investigations, the furnishing of loss or expense statistics or other information and data, or carrying on of research, two or more admitted insurers having a common ownership or operating in this State under common management or control, are hereby authorized to act in concert between or among themselves the same as if they constituted a single insurer, and to the extent that such matters relate to co-surety bonds, two or more admitted insurers executing such bonds are hereby authorized to act in concert between or among themselves the same as if they constituted a single insurer."

Amendment No. 11

On page 6, line 27, of said printed bill, strike out the numeral "(1)", and insert the alphabetic script letter "(k)".

No rate shall be held to be inadequate unless (a) such rate is unreasonably low for the insurance provided and (b) the continued use of such rate presently endangers the solvency of the insurer using the same."

Amendment No. 14

On page 7 of said printed bill, strike out lines 37 to 40, inclusive, and insert

"SEC. 5. Use of Rates. Rates, rating plans and rating systems, and any modifications and amendments thereof, made or adopted by a rating organization licensed hereunder may be used, subject to the provisions of this act, by any admitted insurer. Except as provided in Sections 3(g), 3(i) and 3(j) of this act, insurers shall not agree with each other or with rating organizations or others to adhere to rates, rating systems, underwriting rules or policy or bond forms relating to insurance on risks or operations in this State. The fact, however, that two or more admitted insurers use, either consistently or intermittently, the rates or rating systems made or adopted by a rating organization, or the underwriting rules or policy or bond forms prepared by a rating or advisory organization, shall not be sufficient to support a finding that an agreement to so adhere exists and any agreement to adhere must be established by direct evidence of such agreement."

Amendment No. 15

On page 7, lines 44 and 45, of said printed bill, strike out the balance of this section after "by insurers", and insert "in relation to any class of insurance, including classes of insurance excluded from the other provisions of this act by Section 2 hereof, and such payments are expressly authorized when otherwise lawful under the Insurance Code."

The officers, managers, agents and employees of any such rating organization, advisory organization, group, association or other organization of insurers may be examined at any time under oath and shall exhibit all books, records, accounts, documents or agreements governing its method of operation, together with all data, statistics and information of every kind and character collected or considered by the organization in the conduct of its operations."

Amendment No. 18

On page 8 of said printed bill, strike out lines 11 to 13, inclusive, and insert "In examining any organization, group or association pursuant to this section the commissioner shall ascertain whether such organization, group or association, and, in the case of a rating organization, any rate or rating systems made or used by it, complies with the requirements and standards of this act applicable to it."

Amendment No. 19

On page 8 of said printed bill, strike out lines 19 to 27, inclusive, and insert "(b) The commissioner may, at any reasonable time, make or cause to be made an examination of every admitted insurer transacting any class of insurance to which the provisions of this act are applicable to ascertain whether such insurer and every rate and rating system used by it for every such class of insurance complies with the requirements and standards of this act applicable thereto. Such examination shall not be a part of a periodic general examination participated in by representatives of more than one state. The reasonable cost of any such examination shall be paid in advance by the insurer examined. The officers, managers, agents and employees of such insurer may be examined at any time under oath and shall exhibit all books, records, accounts, documents or agreements governing its method of operation, together with all data, statistics and information of every kind and character collected or considered by the insurer in the conduct of the operations to which such examination relates."

Bill read third time.

Motion to Amend

Mr. Stanley moved the adoption of the following amendments:

Amendment No. 1

In line 1 of the title of the printed bill, as amended, strike out "Section 1.5", and insert "Sections 1.5 and 1.6".

Amendment No. 2

On page 2 of said bill, strike out lines 14 to 26, inclusive, and insert "be for exclusion, such legislative body may, by ordinance, approve such exclusion, or, in the case of failure to so approve, by ordinance, such exclusion, shall then submit to the electors of such municipal corporation the question of whether such territory shall be excluded from such municipal corporation. Such question may be so submitted at the next general municipal election to be held in such municipal corporation, or it may be so submitted prior to such general election, either at a special election called therein for that purpose, or at any other special municipal election therein. Whenever such question is submitted at any election in such municipal corporation, such question shall be stated in the notice of such election and on the ballots to be used at such election, and the electors shall vote thereon, in the same manner as hereinbefore provided in the case of the election in the territory proposed to be excluded. Whenever such question is submitted at any such municipal election, general or special, as above provided, it shall be submitted and voted upon as other questions are required by law to be submitted and voted upon at such elections, except in particulars otherwise in this act set forth; and the laws applicable to and governing the time and manner of giving notice, conducting, holding, canvassing the returns, and declaring the result of any such election shall apply to and govern the submission of such question to the electors of such municipal corporation at any such election.

SEC. 1.6. Immediately upon the completion of the canvass of the returns of any election in any municipal corporation at which the question of exclusion of territory therefrom was submitted, as in this act provided, the legislative body of such municipal corporation shall cause a record to be made, and entered upon its minutes, showing the total number of votes cast in such municipal corporation upon such question at such election, the number thereof cast in favor of exclusion, and the number thereof cast against exclusion.

If it shall appear from the canvass of the returns of such election, that a majority of the qualified electors of such municipal corporation voting on the question of such exclusion are in favor thereof, the clerk or other officer performing the duties of clerk of the legislative body of such municipal corporation shall make and certify, under the seal thereof, and transmit to the Secretary of State, a copy of the record of the canvass of the returns of the election in such territory to be excluded, and of the election in such municipal corporation at which the question of the exclusion of the said territory was submitted and entered upon its minutes as aforesaid, together with a statement showing the dates of such elections in said territory and in said municipal corporation, and the time and the result of the canvass of the returns of such elections, and containing a description of such territory. If such exclusion has been approved by ordinance of such legislative body, as herein authorized, a certified copy of such ordinance, giving the date of its passage, shall be substituted in said document in place of the copy of the record of the canvass of the returns of the election in such municipal corporation provided for in case such exclusion was not approved by ordinance. Said document, in either case, shall be filed by the Secretary of State immediately upon the receipt thereof, and a certificate of the filing of such document in his office shall be by the Secretary of State transmitted forthwith to the clerk, or other officer performing the duties of clerk of the legislative body of such municipal corporation, and to the board of supervisors of the county in which such municipal corporation is situated.

From and after the date of the filing of such document in the office of the Secretary of State, the exclusion of such territory so proposed to be excluded and described therein, shall be deemed to be and shall be".

Amendments read.

COMMUNICATIONS

By Mrs. Niehouse:

The following opinion of the Legislative Counsel was received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

Opinion of Legislative Counsel

OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL
SACRAMENTO 2, CALIFORNIA, April 7, 1947

Assembly Bill No. 124 re Aged Aid and Liability of Responsible Relatives

Hon. Kathryn T. Niehouse
Assembly Chamber

DEAR MRS. NIEHOUSE: You have asked us whether the above bill is required to be referred to the Assembly Committee on Ways and Means pursuant to that portion of Standing Rule 45 which reads:

> "Any bill which requires the expenditure of state moneys or affects the appropriation or the disbursement of same in any manner must be considered by the Committee on Ways and Means previous to its passage."

It is our opinion that this provision of Rule 45 requires the reference of Assembly Bill No. 124 to the Committee on Ways and Means.

The effect of the bill is to abolish any liability imposed under the Old Age Security Law upon the relatives of a person receiving aid thereunder to contribute to the support of such person or to reimburse the county, State, and United States for aid granted to an eligible recipient. The bill further deletes statutory provisions rendering ineligible for aid a person who is receiving adequate support from a child able and responsible for such support.

It therefore appears that the bill comes within the provisions of the portion of Rule 45 quoted above.

Very truly yours,

FRED B. WOOD, Legislative Counsel
By LAWRENCE G. ALLYN, Deputy

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolutions were offered:

By Messrs. Allen and Debs:

House Resolution No. 139

Relative to appointment of a Subcommittee of the Assembly Committee on Military Affairs to investigate veterans' housing operations of construction companies

WHEREAS, It has been reported to the Legislature of the State of California by the Association of Veteran Home Buyers:

(1) That between January and October, 1946, approximately 1,000 veterans and their families signed contracts with the Myers Bros. Construction Co. and Culver City Housing Corp. for the construction of houses on their own lots scattered through West Los Angeles, Culver City, Venice, and Santa Monica, and arranged for financing of said construction by bank loans to be guaranteed by the Veterans Administration under the GI Bill of Rights;

(2) That said veterans were promised that their houses would be completed in five months, and the contracts required completion within eight months of authorization by the lending bank for construction;

(3) That after more than a year, less than 50 of said houses have been completed;

(4) That completions do not exceed 20 houses per month, with nearly 1,000 yet to be completed, and at the present rate of operations it will require from two to three years to complete the houses;

(5) That the houses which have been completed are far short of the contract plans and specifications, and the veterans are unable to secure adequate help to get the builders to fulfill their contracts; and

WHEREAS, It is imperative that the Legislature obtain complete information on these matters to the end that legislation protecting veterans' rights may be enacted; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Assembly Committee on Military Affairs created by House Resolution No. 73 of the Fifty-seventh Regular General Session is hereby directed to appoint a subcommittee, consisting of three members of the committee to be appointed by the chairman thereof, to make immediately a complete investigation of the operations of Myers Bros. Construction Co. and the Culver City Housing Corp., and other complaints of similar nature with respect to veterans' housing and to make a separate report thereon to the Legislature.

Resolution read, and referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. Maloney:

House Resolution No. 140

Relative to welcoming Sylvan I. Stroock to California

WHEREAS, Among those presently visiting California is Mr. Sylvan I. Stroock of Newburgh, New York; and

WHEREAS, Mr. Stroock is nationally known as a leader in the woolen industry, an authority on woolen mills and the manufacture of wearing apparel, recognized by manufacturers, fashion editors, and the retail trade for his tremendous contributions to the industry; and

WHEREAS, Mr. Sylvan I. Stroock is also a great American and a patriot having served as a dollar-a-year man throughout World War I, and having responded generously to the calls of various government committees in World War II, giving freely of his time and experience to promote the national welfare; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the people of the State of California heartily welcome their distinguished guest, Mr. Sylvan I. Stroock, to this State and wish him every enjoyment during his visit here; and be it further Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly transmit a suitably prepared copy of this resolution to Mr. Sylvan I. Stroock as an expression of esteem by the Members of this Assembly.

Resolution read, and referred to the Committee on Rules.

CONSIDERATION OF HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 128

House Resolution No. 128

Relative to the creation of the Assembly Committee on Unemployment Insurance

WHEREAS, It has been reported that the practice of distributing unemployment compensation checks through local offices of the Department of Employment instead of paying such compensation by mail from Sacramento has resulted in the loss of checks totaling thousands of dollars through burglaries at the Vallejo, San Jose and San Francisco local offices; and

WHEREAS, Said practice has been reported to have cost the State approximately one million two hundred thousand dollars ($1,200,000) more than the distribution of checks by mail from Sacramento would have cost; and

WHEREAS, It has been reported that in some local offices of the Department of Employment undelivered checks two years old are on file, endangering state funds because the checks may be lost or stolen; and

WHEREAS, It has been reported that virtually all local offices of the Department of Employment are from three to four months in arrears in the payment of charges for telephone, gas and light service, payment for which is made through a central office; and

WHEREAS, It has been reported that in the case of some local offices of said department in Sacramento the landlord has complained that the department fails to pay its rent; and

WHEREAS, It has been reported that money has been paid to claimants illegally as a result of the failure of local office personnel of the Department of Employment to check the eligibility of claimants when they certify to unemployment; and

WHEREAS, It has been reported that the administrative accounting section of the Department of Employment is approximately four months behind in paying expense vouchers of employees; and

WHEREAS, It has been reported that there has developed in the Department of Employment a patronage system which has resulted in junior interviewers, clerks, etc., being appointed to high paying positions while field supervisors who were on old lists were passed by when the Employment Service was returned to the State; and

WHEREAS, It is reported that an employee of the Department of Employment was ousted from service at the request of the Social Security Board when he publicly stated that he was unable to fill employers' requests for workers because claimants refused to work and preferred to collect unemployment compensation; and

WHEREAS, The Department of Employment does not publish statistics concerning persons referred to or placed in jobs in its weekly reports so that comparison can be made with the number of persons drawing unemployment compensation; and

WHEREAS, It is estimated that the Department of Employment is not referring to jobs as many as 10 percent of the persons drawing unemployment compensation; and

WHEREAS, It is imperative that all pertinent facts bearing upon the subject of unemployment insurance be found, assembled and analyzed to the end that the Legislature of California may be enabled to act advisedly and judiciously in the premises for the best interests of California in the consideration and enactment of legislation; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, As follows:

1. The Assembly Committee on Unemployment Insurance is hereby created and authorized and directed to ascertain, study and analyze all facts relating to (i) employment and unemployment conditions in California, (ii) the administration, application, operation and effects of the Unemployment Insurance Act, (iii) activities and operations of the Department of Employment, including the State Employment Service, (iv) the relationships between the Department of Employment and the Federal Security Agency, including the Social Security Board and the Bureau of Employment Security, (v) the collection and disposal of revenues collected in California under the Federal Unemployment Tax Act, and (vi) the requirements and conditions imposed upon the governmental agencies of this State by the agencies of the Federal Government under the Federal Social Security Act and the Federal Unemployment Tax Act with respect to unemployment insurance, including but not limited to the operation, effect, administration, enforcement and needed revision of any and all laws in any way bearing upon or relating to the subject of this resolution, and to report thereon to the Legislature, including in the reports its recommendations for appropriate legislation.

2. The committee shall consist of five Members of the Assembly appointed by the Speaker thereof. Vacancies occurring or existing in the membership of the committee shall be filled by the appointing power.

3. The committee is authorized to act during this session of the Legislature, including any recess, and after final adjournment until the commencement of the next regular general session, with authority to file its final report not later than the thirtieth legislative day of the next regular general session.

4. The committee and its members shall have and exercise all of the rights, duties and powers conferred upon investigating committees and their members by the provisions of the Joint Rules of the Senate and Assembly and of the Standing Rules of the Assembly as they are adopted and amended from time to time, which provisions are incorporated herein and made applicable to this committee and its members.

5. The committee has the following additional powers and duties:

(a) To select a chairman and a vice chairman from its membership.

(b) To contract with such other agencies, public or private, as it deems necessary for the rendition and affording of such services, facilities, studies and reports to the committee as will best assist it to carry out the purposes for which it is created.

(c) To cooperate with and secure the cooperation of county, city, city and county, and other local law enforcement agencies in investigating any matter within the scope of this resolution and to direct the sheriff of any county to serve subpenas, orders and other process issued by the committee.

(d) To report its findings and recommendations to the Legislature and to the people from time to time and at any time, not later than herein provided.

(e) To do any and all other things necessary or convenient to enable it fully and adequately to exercise its powers, perform its duties, and accomplish the objects and purposes of this resolution.

6. The sum of five hundred dollars ($500) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby made available from the Contingent Fund of the Assembly for the expenses of the committee and its members and for any charges, expenses or claims it may incur under this resolution, to be paid from the said contingent fund and disbursed, after certification by the chairman of the committee, upon warrants drawn by the State Controller upon the State Treasurer.

Resolution read.

Motion to Amend

Mr. Miller moved the adoption of the following amendment:

Amendment No. 1

In House Resolution No. 128, as printed on pages 3 and 4 of the Assembly Journal for March 31, 1947, strike out the paragraph numbered 3 on page 4 of said Journal, and insert

"3. The committee is authorized to act during this session of the Legislature, including any recess, with authority to file its final report not later than June 1, 1947."

Amendment read, and adopted.

Consideration of House Resolution No. 128, as Amended

House Resolution No. 128

Relative to the creation of the Assembly Committee on Unemployment Insurance

WHEREAS, It has been reported that the practice of distributing unemployment compensation checks through local offices of the Department of Employment instead of paying such compensation by mail from Sacramento has resulted in the loss of checks totaling thousands of dollars through burglaries at the Vallejo, San Jose and San Francisco local offices; and

WHEREAS, Said practice has been reported to have cost the State approximately one million two hundred thousand dollars ($1,200,000) more than the distribution of checks by mail from Sacramento would have cost; and

WHEREAS, It has been reported that in some local offices of the Department of Employment undelivered checks two years old are on file, endangering state funds because the checks may be lost or stolen; and

WHEREAS, It has been reported that virtually all local offices of the Department of Employment are from three to four months in arrears in the payment of charges for telephone, gas and light service, payment for which is made through a central office; and

WHEREAS, It has been reported that in the case of some local offices of said department in Sacramento the landlord has complained that the department fails to pay its rent; and

WHEREAS, It has been reported that money has been paid to claimants illegally as a result of the failure of local office personnel of the Department of Employment to check the eligibility of claimants when they certify to unemployment; and

WHEREAS, It has been reported that the administrative accounting section of the Department of Employment is approximately four months behind in paying expense vouchers of employees; and

WHEREAS, It has been reported that there has developed in the Department of Employment a patronage system which has resulted in junior interviewers, clerks, etc., being appointed to high paying positions while field supervisors who were on old lists were passed by when the employment service was returned to the State; and

WHEREAS, It is reported that an employee of the Department of Employment was ousted from service at the request of the Social Security Board when he publicly stated that he was unable to fill employers' requests for workers because claimants refused to work and preferred to collect unemployment compensation; and

WHEREAS, The Department of Employment does not publish statistics concerning persons referred to or placed in jobs in its weekly reports so that comparison can be made with the number of persons drawing unemployment compensation; and

WHEREAS, It is estimated that the Department of Employment is not referring to jobs as many as 10 percent of the persons drawing unemployment compensation; and

WHEREAS, It is imperative that all pertinent facts bearing upon the subject of unemployment insurance be found, assembled and analyzed to the end that the Legislature of California may be enabled to act advisedly and judiciously in the premises for the best interests of California in the consideration and enactment of legislation; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, As follows:

1. The Assembly Committee on Unemployment Insurance is hereby created and authorized and directed to ascertain, study and analyze all facts relating to (i) employment and unemployment conditions in California, (ii) the administration, application, operation and effects of the Unemployment Insurance Act, (iii) activities and operations of the Department of Employment, including the State Employment Service, (iv) the relationships between the Department of Employment and the Federal Security Agency, including the Social Security Board and the Bureau of Employment Security, (v) the collection and disposal of revenues collected in California under the Federal Unemployment Tax Act, and (vi) the requirements and conditions imposed upon the governmental agencies of this State by the agencies of the Federal Government under the Federal Social Security Act and the Federal Unemployment Tax Act with respect to unemployment insurance, including but not limited to the operation, effect, administration, enforcement and needed revision of any and all laws in any way bearing upon or relating to the subject of this resolution, and to report thereon to the Legislature, including in the reports its recommendations for appropriate legislation.

2. The committee shall consist of five Members of the Assembly appointed by the Speaker thereof. Vacancies occurring or existing in the membership of the committee shall be filled by the appointing power.

3. The committee is authorized to act during this session of the Legislature, including any recess, with authority to file its final report not later than June 1, 1947.

4. The committee and its members shall have and exercise all of the rights, duties and powers conferred upon investigating committees and their members by the provisions of the Joint Rules of the Senate and Assembly and of the Standing Rules of the Assembly as they are adopted and amended from time to time, which provisions are incorporated herein and made applicable to this committee and its members.

5. The committee has the following additional powers and duties:

(a) To select a chairman and a vice chairman from its membership.

(b) To contract with such other agencies, public or private, as it deems necessary for the rendition and affording of such services, facilities, studies and reports to the committee as will best assist it to carry out the purposes for which it is created.

(c) To cooperate with and secure the cooperation of county, city, city and county, and other local law enforcement agencies in investigating any matter within the scope of this resolution and to direct the sheriff of any county to serve subpenas, orders and other process issued by the committee.

(d) To report its findings and recommendations to the Legislature and to the people from time to time and at any time, not later than herein provided.

(e) To do any and all other things necessary or convenient to enable it fully and adequately to exercise its powers, perform its duties, and accomplish the objects and purposes of this resolution.

6. The sum of five hundred dollars ($500) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby made available from the Contingent Fund of the Assembly for the expenses of the committee and its members and for any charges, expenses or claims it may incur under this resolution, to be paid from the said contingent fund and disbursed, after certification by the chairman of the committee, upon warrants drawn by the State Controller upon the State Treasurer.

RECOMMENDATION OF THE GOVERNOR

In accordance with Article IV, Section 34, of the Constitution, the Governor presented the following communication recommending the passage of Assembly Bill No. 2120:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA
GOVERNOR'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO, April 2, 1947

To the Honorable Members of the Assembly
Sacramento, California

GENTLEMEN:

Assembly Bill No. 2120—"An act to repeal Chapters 2, 3, 4, 12, 13, 13.5, 13.6, 14, 15, 15.5, 16, and 16.5 of the Education Code; to add Chapters 2, 12, 13, 14, 15, and 16 to said code; to amend Section 8761 of said code; and to add Section 8704 to said code, all relating to the Public School System, declaring the urgency thereof, to take effect immediately,"

in my opinion constitutes an emergency bill within the meaning of that term as used in Section 34 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California, the consideration of which should not await the final enactment of the Budget Bill.

I therefore recommend consideration of Assembly Bill No. 2120 as an emergency measure.

Respectfully submitted.

EARL WARREN, Governor

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT THAT ASSEMBLY BILL NO. 2120 BE WITHDRAWN FROM THE COMMITTEE ON WAYS AND MEANS, AND BE PLACED UPON THE THIRD READING FILE

Mr. Dunn asked for unanimous consent that Assembly Bill No. 2120 be withdrawn from the Committee on Ways and Means, and be placed upon the third reading file.

Mr. Wollenberg withheld unanimous consent.

Motion to Temporarily Suspend the Rules

Mr. Dunn moved that Rules 43 and 45 be temporarily suspended for the purpose of moving to withdraw Assembly Bill No. 2120 from the Committee on Ways and Means, and that it be placed upon the third reading file, at this time.

Announcement

It was announced by Mr. Wollenberg that a meeting of the Committee on Ways and Means will be held at 9 a.m. on Thursday, April 10, 1947, for the purpose of considering Assembly Bill No. 2120.

Motion Withdrawn

Mr. Dunn withdrew his motion to temporarily suspend Rules 43 and 45.

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR

STATE OF CALIFORNIA
GOVERNOR'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO, April 7, 1947

To the Honorable Members of the Assembly
Sacramento, California

GENTLEMEN: I have the honor to transmit to you a translation of a telegram which I have received from the President of Mexico in response to the invitation to visit this State extended him in your House Resolution 123 adopted March 25. President Aleman's telegram reads as follows:

"Sr. Earl Warren
Governador Estado De California, Sacramento, California

I appreciate the gracious invitation which you sent me in your message of March 25th, in the name of the people of California, as well as the formal concurrence of both legislative houses of your State, with the purpose of inviting me to include California in the itinerary of my coming trip. I regret greatly that the time limitation to which my itinerary is of necessity subject prevents me from visiting California on that occasion. In return for their courteous gesture I beg that you present to the two honorable houses in common my heartiest thanks.

PRESIDENTE REPUBLICA MIGUEL ALEMAN."

Sincerely,

EARL WARREN, Governor

REPORT OF ASSEMBLY COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE THE STATE BOARD OF ACCOUNTANCY, HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 86

Members

HON. LESTER A. MCMILLAN, Chairman
HON. JOHN L. E. COLLIER
HON. ERNEST R. GEDDES

INTRODUCTION

Mr. Speaker and Members of the Assembly

Your Committee to Investigate the State Board of Accountancy submits the following report:

This committee was set up by the Fifty-seventh Session of the Legislature under Assembly Resolution No. 86 to investigate the State Board of Accountancy and inquire into the practical application and operation of the law passed in the Fifty-sixth Session of the Legislature known as the Public Accountancy Act.

This act repealed all existing accountancy regulation, substituted a new Board of Accountancy of seven members in place of the former five-man board and gave the new board new powers and duties.

Principal work of the former board was certification and regulation of certified public accountants (commonly called CPA's). Under the new 1945 Act provision was made for a second class of persons not previously subject to state registration, i.e., public accountants. Thus two occupational classifications in the field presumably were recognized by the State—CPA's and PA's.

The act under investigation carried provision, however, that issuance of permits to PA's would close on March 15, 1946, which in effect set a deadline on the existence of the second, or PA, classification. After that date, no persons would be recognized in the accountancy field by the State but the top class of CPA.

Because Members of the Legislature have received numerous complaints that the accountancy act was unjustifiably monopolistic in ultimate effect and was being inadequately and improperly administered, particularly in Southern California, the committee held hearings and conducted investigations of rejected applicants and the method used in processing applications. At these hearings numerous witnesses testified both for and against the existing legislation. They included members of the State Board of Accountancy, members of the administrative committees appointed by the board, and persons who have had dealings with the board and the committees.

RECOMMENDATIONS

Your committee has carefully weighed the testimony presented at its hearings and suggests the following recommendations:

1. The entire Public Accountancy Act enacted in 1945 should be amended with new legislation assuring the continuation on a permanent basis of two classes of accountants, i.e., public accountants as well as certified public accountants.

Furthermore, your committee feels there are inherent weaknesses in the structure of the present Accountancy Act that make it administratively undesirable, and that inequities will occur from time to time which will require continued study by this committee. Therefore, it is our recommendation that this committee be permitted to continue this study through the legislative interim.

SHORTCOMINGS SUMMARIZED

In brief, the testimony indicated the following objections exist under the present legislation. Following presentation of these summarized objections, the committee wishes to present in digest form, some of the specific testimony supporting these objections.

1. Ultimate effect of the act will be extermination of the designation, "Public Accountant." There seems to be ample room for both certified public accountants, the aristocracy, so to speak of the accountancy field, and public accountants. Prior to the act, the lower classification was not recognized by the State; it seems desirable that public accountants be recognized and that recognition, through a system of permits issued by the State, be continued on more than a temporary basis.

2. Recognition of the PA classification and at the same time setting a registration deadline after which they may not register has the restrictive effect of "one class" legislation—eventually restricting persons permitted in the accountancy field to CPA's. Numerous witnesses cited the limited registration period as monopolistic and unfair. Why not regulation by state regulatory bodies, with appropriate examinations required, for each of the two classifications?

3. Under terms of the act, the Board of Accountancy appoints administrative committees, one in Northern and one in Southern California, to whom is delegated complete responsibility for passing on qualifications of public accountants. The board, appointed by the Governor, has no power to control or influence the decisions of the committees. Thus the paradoxical situation is created of a board appointed by the Governor being relegated to the mere execution of legislative detail, while committees which it has created hold all the real power.

4. Commonest complaint by witnesses as appearing before the committee was that administration of the terms of the act, i.e., granting of registration to persons seeking the status of public accountants, was unreasonably—indeed, shockingly—slow and inefficient, and that decisions indicated arrogant and dictatorial attitudes by the administrative committees—particularly, the southern committee. A member of the southern committee, who recently refused to accept reappointment, said he did not think a majority of the committee gave adequate consideration to the human rights of PA applicants to earn their livings at the type of work they had been engaged in for years.

EXCERPTS FROM TESTIMONY

T. G. Douglas, Member of the State Board of Accountancy, explained that whereas members of the State Board are CPA's, members of the administrative committees are public accountants, and the latter have "complete authority and final action with respect to the registration of individuals as public accountants."

He explained that the closing of registration for public accountants as of March 15, 1946, as provided by the Accountancy Act, prohibits any one not registering by that deadline from practicing public accountancy as a principal unless he is a CPA. It does not forbid an accountant not a CPA to work otherwise than as a principal, he declared. But other witnesses pointed out that a great many accountants would be deprived of their livelihood if not allowed to engage in business as principals. They operate their own businesses, and their only alternative would be attempting to find a position with a CPA.

An extremely common complaint cited to members of the investigating committee was as follows:

Applicants in Southern California have sent as many as six and eight registered letters and telephoned time and again to the office of the administrative committee trying to find out whether their applications have been approved or denied. (After sending in their applications with a $10 fee, the only response they have received is a form letter, unsigned, from the committee, saying that unless "additional information" is submitted within 15 days the application cannot be approved.) They are at a loss as to what additional information is desired. Many of them are fearful, during the many months of silence from the committee, that if they continue their practice of accountancy they may be in violation of the act and perhaps subject to a fine of as much as $500.

Commenting on this criticism, Douglas said approximately 14,400 applications had been received and that delay in handling them could in many instances be attributed to lack of staff and office facilities. At the same time, he said the majority if not all the members of the board believed the administrative committee had been "unduly meticulous" in its consideration of the applications. Testimony of members of the administrative committee indicated it followed the procedure of considering rather closely each application that came before it, granting registration where the applicant clearly met the qualifications but delaying action on all those upon whom a committee majority was not in agreement.

Said Douglas: "I think I am justified in saying that a majority, if not all, of the board members believe that it would have been better if such committees had waived all technicalities under the act and approved every application where there was a showing of equitable right to registration. This belief is held in part because of the desirability of completing the monumental task of registration at the earliest possible date and in part because the act confers on the board the right, after permits have been granted, to investigate alleged violations of the Accountancy Act and to revoke permits for stipulated causes, one of which is the practice of fraud or deceit in the obtaining of a permit. In short, the general feeling of the board has been that it would be better to grant permits to many persons who might not be legally entitled to them than to deny a permit to one person who was entitled to it. The procedures the board would like to have seen followed would have disposed much earlier of the overwhelming majority of the applications as bona fide and would have permitted concentration on the ones concerning which there was doubt * * *."

In response to questions, Mr. Douglas agreed also that there might be injustice in the administrative committee's arbitrary notifying of applicants that they must submit "additional information" regarding their qualifications whenever the committees weren't entirely satisfied with the application.

His answer, repeatedly, was that the board had no control or authority over the committees—which it appointed. This seemed to your investigating committee to be an underlying weakness of the act as it now stands. Mr. Douglas, while admitting that the board disagreed with the administrative committee's method of operation, said the same members of the committees were reappointed because changing memberships might slow down the already slow process of handling the applications.

Douglas estimated that of the more than 14,000 applications filed, approximately 8,500 had been approved by the administrative committees at the time of the Los Angeles hearing and perhaps 1,400 denied. No denials had been formally issued, however.

Ira N. Frisby, member of the State Board of Accountancy likewise thought that the administrative committees should not function completely devoid of executive control by the Accountancy Board, but with the act so drawn, he said, there was nothing the board could do about it except find the best possible persons for membership on the administrative committees. He, too, said he was not in agreement with all the actions of the committees, but he explained willingness to continue the committees despite disagreement because they had the task of passing on applications under way and "the question was, when a year had passed, should we change horses?" He thought not.

Thomas A. Brandy, member of southern administrative committee brought another fundamental flaw in the act to light: Lack of clear definition of the qualifications of a "Public Accountant." Members of the investigating committee brought up the following borderline cases of persons who make their livings in accounting, bookkeeping, etc.:

A man who handles the accounts for half a dozen stores, gas stations and a grocery store or two. He has a small office and employs two or three persons.

A comptroller in a corporation thoroughly familiar with corporation accounting who wants to go into business for himself.

Mr. Brandy's opinion was the first man would not qualify as a public accountant. He gave no clear-cut opinion regarding the second. In the course of the testimony, however, it was revealed that no definite set of qualifications have been set up by the administrative committees. It was further revealed that once an application is denied, the applicant's only recourse is to the courts. Mr. Douglas, in earlier testimony, agreed that court review is "a long, drawn out affair."

Harry T. King, member of the southern administrative committee called the Public Accountancy Act "a law that seems, from my point of view, none too clear." He added that "I think it has been difficult to administer." Defending the denial of some applications which the investigating committee deemed borderline, Mr. King argued that:

"We have made the attempt not to injure anyone by taking away his livelihood. There is a note in the law to the effect that anyone who knows public bookkeeping would not be injured by this law. He could continue on * * * I think that most of the people who have been denied should be, and all of them could carry on without injury."

Mr. King did not take cognizance of a point previously brought out by members of the investigating committee, i.e., that the hypothetical person handling a small number of accounts in the borderline area between bookkeeping and accounting might be denied the right to call himself a public accountant and thereby lose his principal claim or certificate of competency.

However, he suggested that inequities might easily result from the deadline provision of the act, and that a possible solution might be extension of the deadline for three or four years, giving borderline persons in the field time to prepare for a public accountants' examination "a reasonable examination could be given, I don't mean a CPA examination but a one-day exam to prove basic qualifications."

H. E. Alford, chairman, southern administrative committee, explained complaints about the functioning of the southern committee's office in the following excerpts from the transcript:

Question by investigating committee: A lot of persons have come to us who have applied for registration as public accountant. They have received a rejection slip which simply says that unless further information is received within 15 days the application cannot be approved. They don't know what information to submit. They send in what they think is wanted, and never get a reply, not even to as many as six letters. Perhaps you haven't the help.

Answer: That is true. A lot of them don't receive replies to those letters.

Q. Well, it seems unjust.

A. It probably works inequity on the men. But it is a matter of not having help.

Q. In case a person gets a rejection slip and asks for a personal interview, don't you think you could have some mimeographed card to send the applicant, telling him you have received his letter and will get around to him as soon as possible.

A. That is exactly what should be done. There is no question about it.

Mr. Alford blamed delay in processing applications and failure to answer correspondence from applicants on both lack of office space and lack of employees. No employees have been requisitioned this year because of lack of space. He said that out of 8,562 applications submitted to the southern office, 5,355 have been granted and 2,536 have been rejected but not yet formally denied.

Lynn Peterson, commander of the legislative division of the American Legion, sharply criticized the act for its lack of consideration of the rights of veterans. He said: "I have had numerous complaints about it from Oregon to the Mexican border. This bill is, as all legislators know, what is referred to as a 'grandfather's bill.' It was designed for putting out of business the public accountants in due time * * * There is no provision for anybody becoming a public accountant ever again after the deadline. They are just waiting for those who do exist to die. Then you have only CPA's. To become a CPA, veterans would have to work for somebody for a certain length of time in a CPA office. They might not get a living wage.

J. G. Tillman, former member of the administrative committee who refused reappointment, commented on the committee's use of form letters requesting more information from applicants:

"In many of the letters sent out and in interviews the committee insisted that the applicant give more background of education. If they failed to get the information the man was considered not approved. That was the principal thing that I found fault with. I thought that these applicants were human beings and good citizens. Under the law, they were fully qualified. We had many controversies on that, contrary to the testimony this morning, and I am proud to say that oftentimes I held out."

Answering a query from the investigating committee as to whether there should be two classifications in the accounting field—CPA and PA —Tillman said:

"I do. The answer is usually that we have only one class of doctors. We do have two, however. We have one class of lawyers, but perhaps we should have two. Sometimes the small-time police court lawyer is not qualified to act in a higher sense. It does remain that we do have two classes of accounting work. The small merchant and small businessman can't pay $25 to $40 a day and the small-time bookkeeper or accountant is the only answer. If he is a public accountant, I think he should be allowed to practice. Nineteen hundred CPA's and only half of them practicing can't take care of the accounting work."

He concluded: "I have just one other thought, about committee members speaking sneeringly of the public bookkeeper. In the case of three of the members of the committee on which I served for a year, the major portion of their income is from keeping books for clients. One went so far as to say 90 percent. It might be interesting to know that public bookkeeping is the largest part of the public accountant's work."

Other witnesses, including a number of accountants who have vainly and repeatedly tried to get response to the communications to the southern administrative committee, testified that the act as it is being administered is discriminatory against the private accountant who wants to get into the public field.

Among them was Paul S. Farr, treasurer's staff assistant, Douglas Aircraft Co., who declared:

"With the growth of industry in this State, the profession of accountancy should improve and grow also, but industrial accountants should not be shackled. The free movement between public and private accountancy should be on a two-way highway and not limited to a narrow one-way street as is now a part of the Accountancy Act. The act permits registered public accountants to go into private or governmental accounting replacing a qualified private or governmental accountant, but a qualified private or governmental accountant is prohibited from entering the public field unless he has been previously registered, his registration being judged by an apparently biased group desirous of keeping the number of registered accountants at a minimum. This seems to me to establish a 'closed shop agreement' by legislative enactment, and as such is against public policy."

Testimony at both northern and southern hearings strongly indicated that a far more liberal attitude in passing on applications exists in the north than in the south.

At the northern hearing, Mr. John F. Forbes, member of the State Board of Accountancy, again stressed the lack of complaints in the northern area by testifying that no complaints had been filed there to his knowledge.

He also commented on the curious administrative setup of the act, whereby the Board of Accountancy has no responsibility in the administrative field beyond appointing the members of the administrative committees, making it a system whereunder the board is not responsible to the Governor or the Legislature.

One of the most significant of the witnesses at the northern hearing was Mr. Lewis Lilly, former member of the northern committee who was not reappointed.

He said he was out of sympathy with legislation such as the Accountancy Act, that a broad enough specific definition of public accountancy could be worked out. Legislation such as the act is unnecessary, in his opinion, because the practice automatically gravitates to those who are competent to do the work.

Also significant was the testimony of Mr. J. C. Bowden, chairman of the northern administrative committee, who said his committee had received 5,969 applications, granted 3,755 and tentatively rejected 1,128. He agreed there were conflicting provisions in the act, that it was not explicit and that the original intent of the act was to obviate many of the difficulties which are included in it.

Consideration of Committee Amendments

The following amendments were proposed by the Committee on Judiciary:

Amendment No. 1

On page 1 of the printed bill, strike out lines 3 to 19, inclusive, and insert

"SEC. 6b. Official reporters in every municipal court in a city or city and county of the first class, appointed as provided in Sections 274c and 274d of the Code of Civil Procedure shall be attaches of such court, and in lieu of any other compensation provided by law for their services in reporting testimony and proceedings in such court, shall receive a salary of four hundred dollars ($400) per month, which shall be a charge against the general fund of the said city or city and county.

In conformity with the provisions of Section 274c of the Code of Civil Procedure, the judges of such court may appoint as many additional reporters as the business of the court may require, who shall be known as official reporters pro tempore, and who shall serve without salary but shall receive the fees provided by Section 274 of the Code of Civil Procedure, except that in lieu of the per diem fees provided in said section for reporting testimony and proceedings, said official reporters pro tempore shall in all cases receive twenty dollars ($20) per day, which shall upon order of the court be a charge against the general fund of the said city or city and county.

All per diem fees otherwise payable by law by the parties to proceedings in said court to official reporters or official reporters pro tempore shall be paid to the clerk of the court. All said fees shall be deposited in the treasury of the said city or city and county to the credit of the general fund.

Fees for transcription of testimony and proceedings in such court shall be paid by the litigants to official reporters and official reporters pro tempore as otherwise provided by law. In all cases where by law, the court may direct the payment of transcription fees out of the city or city and county treasury, such fees shall, upon order of the court, be paid from the general fund including fees for transcription of testimony and proceedings in criminal cases as provided in Section 274 of the Code of Civil Procedure which shall be paid from the city or city and county treasury.

Official reporters of such court shall be members of any retirement system maintained by any city or city and county of the first class in which they are employed. For the purpose of such retirement system the salary herein provided for such reporters shall be deemed their entire compensation.

The provisions of Section 274c of the Code of Civil Procedure with reference to the appointment, tenure of office and removal of phonographic reporters shall not apply to phonographic reporters of the criminal division of the municipal court of a city or city and county of the first class who were acting in that capacity on the effective date of this section and who were certified by the civil service commission of a city or city and county of the first class, or were appointed to the court superseded by said municipal court. All such reporters shall be deemed the duly appointed, qualified and acting phonographic reporters of the criminal division of the municipal court of a city or city and county of the first class and shall be entitled to all the benefits of the civil service and retirement provisions of the charter of a city or city and county of this class and of the rules of the civil service commission having jurisdiction respecting suspensions and dismissals of employees.

Each official phonographic reporter appointed pursuant to the provisions of Sections 274c and 274d of the Code of Civil Procedure shall retain his appointment and status as such phonographic reporter pursuant to the provisions of Section 274c and Section 274d of the Code of Civil Procedure, subject to the compulsory age of retirement under said retirement system."

Amendment No. 2

Strike out lines 2 and 3 of the title of the printed bill, and insert "Act, relating to unemployment compensation disability insurance."

PRINTER'S NOTE—There being no 7-point strikeout type available, the material which should appear in strikeout type in the following amendments is indicated by being enclosed within brackets.

Amendment No. 3

On page 1, line 1, of the printed bill, strike out "Section 54 of the Unemployment Insurance"; strike out lines 2 to 25, inclusive; and on page 2, strike out lines 1 to 10, inclusive, and insert "309 is hereby added to the Unemployment Insurance Act, to read:

Sec. 309. The commission shall maintain in the Disability Fund a separate account, to be known as the extended liability account, to which shall be credited the amounts hereinafter provided. Such extended liability account shall be charged with all disability benefit payments made on or after January 1, 1948 in respect to uninterrupted periods of disability which commenced after termination of employment.

The commission shall determine the sum of the amount of worker contributions collected under this act during the calendar years 1944 and 1945, plus the amount of worker contributions collected under Part 5 of this article prior to December 1, 1946. At the end of each calendar year, commencing with the calendar year 1946, an amount equal to such sum multiplied by the average rate of interest or other earnings received on all investments of the Disability Fund, including the part, if any, of the contributions collected during 1944 and 1945 deposited or invested in the obligations of the Unemployment Trust Fund, shall be determined by the commission and credited to the extended liability account.

If the extended liability account shall show an accumulated deficit at the end of any calendar year after interest and other earnings have been credited as provided in this section, the commission shall determine the ratio of such deficit to the total of all wages paid in employment during that year. At the end of each calendar year when the extended liability account shows such a deficit, the commission shall thereupon make an assessment against each employer with employees covered under an approved voluntary plan during that year in an amount equal to the amount of wages exempt under Section 455 of this act for that year, multiplied by such ratio, but in no event shall any such assessment exceed two-one-hundredths of 1 percent (.02%) of such wages. The provisions of Article 4 of this act with respect to the assessment and collection of contributions shall apply to the assessments provided by this section, except that interest shall not accrue until 30 days after notice of assessment. The amounts of such assessments collected by the commission shall be deposited in the Disability Fund to the credit of the extended liability account.

At the end of each calendar year when the extended liability account shows such a deficit, the extended liability account shall be credited with an amount equal to the total of all wages not exempt under Section 455 of this act during that year, multiplied by the aforementioned ratio, but in no event shall such credit exceed two-one-hundredths of 1 percent (.02%) of such wages.

SEC. 2. Section 403 of the Unemployment Insurance Act is amended to read:

Sec. 403. Unemployment compensation disability benefits shall become payable under this article one year after the effective date of this amendatory act, to eligible individuals with respect to compensable weeks of disability occurring subsequent, thereto; provided, however, that if it is determined by the Social Security Board or other higher authority that the worker contributions collected under this act during the calendar years 1944 and 1945, and heretofore deposited or invested in the obligations of the Unemployment Trust Fund of the United States of America, established by Subchapter C of Chapter 9 of the United States Internal Revenue Code, may be withdrawn and expended for the purposes of this article without conflicting with any provisions or conditions of the Federal Unemployment Tax Act or Title 3 of the Social Security Act, in order that employers of this State, subject to the taxes imposed by the Federal Unemployment Tax Act, shall continue to receive the credits and additional credits provided in Sections 1609 and 1602 thereof; then, and in that event such amounts as determined by the commission and not in excess of such worker contributions and the interest or other earnings thereon shall be requisitioned from the Unemployment Trust Fund and deposited in the Disability Fund and benefits shall become payable on and after 90 days from such determination; provided further, in the event funds are so requisitioned from the Unemployment Trust Fund subsequent to July 1, 1947, such funds shall augment the contributions on deposit in the Disability Fund and shall be available for expenditure for the same purposes, except that no portion thereof shall be expended for the purposes of administering this article. In no event shall the total amount requisitioned from the Unemployment Trust Fund for the purposes of this article, including interest or other earnings, be in excess of the amount of worker contributions collected under this act and deposited or invested in the obligations of the Unemployment Trust Fund.

SEC. 3. Section 451 of the Unemployment Insurance Act is amended to read:

Sec. 451. The commission shall approve any voluntary plan as to which it finds that all of the following exist:

(a) The rights afforded to the covered employees are greater than those provided for in Part 2 of this article.

(b) The plan has been made available to all of the employees of the employer employed in this State except that if the employer maintains more than one distinct separate establishment in this State the plan has been made available to all employees of any such establishment and except that such authorized regulations as may be necessary shall be prescribed applicable to individuals in partial or other forms of short time employment and to employees not in employment.

(c) A majority of the employees of the employer employed in this State have consented to the plan, except that if the employer maintains more than one distinct, separate establishment in this State a majority of the employees employed at any such establishment have consented to the plan.

(d) If the plan provides for insurance the form of the insurance policies to be issued have been approved by the Insurance Commissioner and are to be issued by an admitted disability insurer.

(e) The employer has consented to the plan and has agreed to make the pay roll deductions required, if any, and transmit the proceeds to the plan insurer, if any.

(f) The plan provides for the inclusion of future employees.

(g) The plan is to be in effect for a period of not less than [two years] one year and thereafter continuously unless the commission finds that the employer or a majority of his employees employed in this State covered by such plan have given notice of the termination of such plan. Such notice shall be filed in writing with the commission and, upon such filing, shall be effective at the date indicated therein, but in any event not less than 60 days from the time of the filing of such notice.

(h) The approval of the plan or plans will not result in a substantial selection of risks adverse to the Disability Fund.

SEC. 4. Section 455 of the Unemployment Insurance Act is amended to read:

Sec. 455. From and after the effective date on which disability benefits become payable under Section 403 of this act, neither an employee [covered by an approved voluntary plan] nor his employer [is] shall be liable for the contributions required by Sections 44, 44.2, or 400 of this act with respect to wages paid by the employer [for employment] while the employee is covered by an approved voluntary plan, and such an employee [is not] shall not be entitled to benefits from the Disability Fund, except as provided in this section, for a disability which commenced while he is covered by the voluntary plan and except that such authorized regulations as may be necessary shall be prescribed applicable to individuals simultaneously covered by one or more approved voluntary plans and the Disability Fund.

An employee who has ceased to be covered by an approved voluntary plan shall, if otherwise eligible, thereupon immediately become entitled to benefits from the Disability Fund to the same extent as though there had been no exemption from contributions as provided in this section, except that in computing the amount of benefits to which such an employee may be entitled from the Disability Fund during the remainder of a benefit year during a portion of which he received benefits under a voluntary plan, the amount of all benefits, at a weekly rate not exceeding the employee's weekly benefit rate pursuant to Section 203 of this act, paid or to be paid to the employee under all approved voluntary plans during that benefit year, whether before or after cessation of coverage, shall be deducted from the benefits payable from the Disability Fund during that benefit year.

SEC. 5. Section 455.7 is hereby added to the Unemployment Insurance Act to read:

Sec. 455.7. Benefits paid from the Disability Fund pursuant to Section 455 of this act for a disability which commenced while an employee was covered under an approved voluntary plan shall be assessed against the employer responsible for benefits under such plan. The provisions of Article 4 of this act with respect to the assessment and collection of contributions shall apply to assessments provided by this section, except that interest shall not accrue until 30 days after notice of assessment. The amounts of such assessments collected by the commission under this section shall be deposited in the Disability Fund.

SEC. 6. Section 460 of the Unemployment Insurance Act is amended to read:

Sec. 460. The commission shall in accordance with authorized regulations, determine each fiscal year the total amount expended for added administrative work arising out of voluntary plans. The total amount so determined shall be prorated among the approved voluntary plans in effect during that year on the basis of the amount of wages paid in employment by employers to individuals participating in such plans. The commission shall make assessments of amounts so prorated against the employers responsible for benefits under such approved plans. The amount assessed shall not exceed two-one-hundredths of 1 percent (.02%) of the amount of wages paid in employment by employers to individuals participating in such plans. The provisions of Article 4 of this act with respect to the assessment and collection of contributions shall apply to the assessments provided by this section , except that interest shall not accrue until 30 days after notice of assessment. The amounts collected by the commission under this section shall be added to amounts otherwise made available for administration of this article."

Amendments read, and adopted.

Request for Unanimous Consent

Mr. Lyons asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent to take up further amendments to Assembly Bill No. 115, at this time, without reference to reprint or file.

Consideration of Further Amendments to Assembly Bill No. 115

Motion to Amend

Mr. Lyons moved the adoption of the following amendments:

Amendment No. 1

In line 1 of the title of the printed bill, after "An act to", insert "repeal and add Sections 205 and 206, to".

Amendment No. 2

On page 2 of the printed bill, after line 10, insert

"SEC. 7. Sections 205 and 206 of said act are repealed.

SEC. 8. Section 205 is added to said act, to read:

Sec. 205. A disabled individual shall be eligible to receive unemployment compensation disability benefits with respect to any week in which he is unemployed due to a disability and only if the commission finds that:

(a) He has made a claim for unemployment compensation disability benefits as required by authorized regulations; and

(b) He has been continuously unemployed and disabled for a waiting period of seven consecutive days during each uninterrupted period of disability; and

(c) He has during his base period been paid wages in employment for employers, equal to not less than the minimum amount otherwise prescribed to be paid during his base period as a condition of eligibility for unemployment compensation benefits; and

(d) Except as provided in Section 252, he has submitted to a reasonable examination or examinations, if so required by the commission, for the purpose of the commission determining his mental or physical disability.

(e) He has filed a certificate as required by the provisions of Section 252 of this act.

SEC. 9. Section 206 is added to said act to read:

Sec. 206. An individual who has been continuously unemployed and disabled for a waiting period of seven consecutive days shall be eligible to receive one-seventh (1/7) of his weekly benefit amount for each day immediately following such waiting period if he is unemployed and disabled."

Amendment No. 3

On page 3 of the printed bill, after line 35, insert

SEC. 2. Section 41 of the Unemployment Insurance Act is amended to read:

Sec. 41. The commission shall maintain a separate account for each employer, and shall credit his account with all the contributions paid on his own behalf. But nothing in this act shall be construed to grant any employer or individuals in his service prior claims or rights to the amounts paid by him into the fund whether on his own behalf or on behalf of such individuals. Benefits paid to an unemployed individual during any benefit year shall be charged against the account of his employer during his base period; provided, that if such individual performed services in employment for more than one employer during his base period; benefits [earned by] paid to such individual shall be charged against the respective accounts of such employers in the proportion that the total wages [earned by] paid to such individual in employment for each such employer bears to the total wages paid to such individual in employment for all such employers during the base period. The maximum amount of benefits [payable under this act and] chargeable against such employer's accounts shall not be in excess of four hundred sixty-eight dollars ($468) for any one individual in any one benefit year.

SEC. 3. Section 53 of the Unemployment Insurance Act is hereby amended to read:

Sec. 53. The maximum [total] amount of benefits payable to an individual during any one benefit year shall be [determined by the total wages paid to the individual in employment for employers during his base period, and shall be the amount appearing or shall be computed in the manner set forth in Column B in the table in this section, opposite the line on which in Column A of such table there appears the wage bracket containing such wages paid to such individual. For the purpose of this section and Section 54, wages due to an individual but unpaid within the time limit set forth in Sections 201, 202, and 204 of the Labor Code of the State of California, shall be deemed wages paid to such individual.

Or 16 times weekly benefit amount, whichever is the lesser.

SEC. 4. Section 57 of the Unemployment Insurance Act is amended to read:

Sec. 57. An unemployed individual shall be eligible to receive benefits with respect to any week only if the commission finds that:

(a) A claim for benefits with respect to such week has been made in accordance with such regulations as the commission may prescribe.

(b) He has registered for work, and thereafter continued to report, at a public employment office or such other place as the commission may approve, except that either or both of the requirements of this subdivision may be waived or altered by authorized regulation as to partially employed individuals attached to regular jobs.

(c) He was able to work and available for work for such week.

(d) He has been unemployed for a waiting period of one week. No week shall be counted as a week of unemployment for the purposes of this subsection:

(1) Unless it occurs within the benefit year which includes the week with respect to which he claims payment of benefits, provided that this requirement shall not interrupt the payment of benefits for consecutive weeks of unemployment, and provided further that the week immediately preceding a benefit year, if part of one uninterrupted period of unemployment which continues into such benefit year shall be deemed (for the purposes of this subsection only) to be within such benefit year as well as within the preceding benefit year.

(2) If benefits have been paid with respect thereto.

(3) Unless the individual was eligible for benefits with respect thereto in all respects, except for the requirements of this subsection (d) and Section 53.

(e) He has during his base year been paid wages for employment by employers of not less than three hundred dollars ($300) ; provided, however, that if more than 75 percent of his base-period wages were paid during a single calendar quarter, he shall not be eligible for benefits unless his total wages during the base period are not less than 30 times his weekly benefit amount.

SEC. 5. Section 54 of the Unemployment Insurance Act is amended to read:

Sec. 54. An individual's "weekly benefit amount" shall be the amount appearing in Column B in the table set forth in this section on the line of which in Column A of such table there appears the wage bracket containing the amount of wages paid to such individual for employment by employers during the quarter of his base period in which such wages were the highest.

281. It is unlawful for any person owning or controlling bees, hives or appliances within the State, which are infected with disease to move or transport the same except under permit from the commissioner or an authorized inspector for the purpose of eradication only, as prescribed in Section 276, and then no farther than necessary to avoid the danger of fire or other natural hazards. The inspector may in a summary manner destroy any and all infected bees unlawfully moved within the State wherever they may be found. It is unlawful to sell diseased bees, hives or appliances. It is unlawful to abandon any diseased apiary.

SEC. 6 Section 281.6 is added to the Agricultural Code, to read:

281.6. It shall be lawful, at the option and expense of the owner, notwithstanding any other provisions of this article, for the inspector or for any person having a permit from the inspector, to transport hives in which disease has been found, together with their contents, to a wax-salvage plant, licensed under the provisions of this section, after first having killed the bees in such hives and sealed the hives to prevent the entrance of live bees.

It is unlawful to remove any honey or wax or to salvage or attempt to salvage any hives or appliances from any colony infected with American foulbrood, except in a wax-salvage plant licensed and operated under the provisions of this section.

The director shall prepare and furnish to interested parties upon request uniform specifications for the construction of wax-salvage plants, and rules and regulations for the operation of such plants in such manner as to prevent the spread of disease therefrom.

Any person desiring to maintain and operate a plant for the salvaging of wax, hives and appliances from diseased apiaries shall apply for an annual license therefor to the commissioner of the county in which such wax-salvage plant is located. The commissioner shall make such investigation as he may deem necessary and shall issue the license without fee if he is satisfied that the plant is constructed in accordance with the provisions of this section and the specifications of the director, and that the plant will be operated in accordance with the rules and regulations of the director. All licenses shall be good for the calendar year within which same are issued and shall expire on December 31st thereof.

All salvage operations with respect to wax, hives and appliances from diseased colonies shall be performed under the direction and supervision of the inspector in an enclosure tightly double-screened to prevent the entrance of bees, with screens not less than three inches apart. Entrance to the enclosure shall be through a vestibule not less than six feet in length, double-screened in the same manner as the enclosure, with tight-fitting doors at each end. No such wax, hives or appliances shall be removed from such enclosure except under permit from the inspector after treatment in the manner herein provided. The frames, together with their contents, shall be held not less than 30 minutes in boiling water in a vat drained by direct connection into a sewage disposal system or into a cesspool constructed in accordance with specifications of the director. The frames, after removal from the vat, shall be boiled not less than 20 minutes in a solution of lye water The hives, bodies, bottom boards, covers and supers shall either be scorched or shall be boiled not less than 20 minutes in a solution of lye water. Honey shall not be salvaged, but shall be drained off with the refuse water. All solid matter, other than wax, remaining after draining the vat shall be burned in an incinerator constructed in accordance with specifications of the director.

Any license issued under the provisions of this section may be revoked or suspended or renewal of such license may be refused by the commissioner, after hearing, whenever he finds that a licensee has not complied with all of the provisions of this section and the rules, regulations and specifications issued hereunder."

"SECTION 1 Section 404 of the Vehicle Code is amended to read:

404. Service of Process on Nonresident. (a) The acceptance by a nonresident of the rights and privileges conferred upon him by this code or any use of the highways of this State as evidenced by the operation by himself or agent of a motor vehicle upon the highways of this State or in the event such nonresident is the owner of a motor vehicle then by the operation of such vehicle upon the highways of this State by any person with his express or implied permission, is equivalent to an appointment by such nonresident of the director of his successor in office to be his true and lawful attorney upon whom may be served all lawful processes in any action or proceeding against said nonresident operator or nonresident owner growing out of any accident or collision resulting from the operation of any motor vehicle upon the highways of this State by himself or agent

(b) The acceptance of such rights and privileges or use of said highways shall be a signification of the agreement of said nonresident that any such process against him which is served in the manner herein provided shall be of the same legal force and validity as if served on said nonresident personally in this State.

(c) Service of such process shall be made by leaving a copy of the summons and complaint with a fee of two dollars ($2) for each nonresident to be so served in the hands of the director or in his office at Sacramento and such service shall be [a sufficient service on said nonresident subject to] complete upon compliance with subdivision (d) hereof

(d) A notice of such service and a copy of the summons and complaint shall be forthwith sent by registered mail by the plaintiff or his attorney to said defendant. Personal service of such notice and a copy of the summons and complaint upon said defendant wherever found outside this State shall be the equivalent of said mailing

(e) Proof of compliance with subsection (d) hereof shall be made in the event of service by mail by affidavit of the plaintiff or his attorney showing said mailing, together with the return receipt of the United States Post Office bearing the signature of said defendant Such affidavit and receipt shall be appended to the original summons which shall be filed with the court from out of which such summons issued within 30 days or such time as the court may allow for the return of such summons. In the event of personal service outside this State such compliance may be proved by the return of any duly constituted public officer, qualified to serve like process of and in the State or jurisdiction where the defendant is found, showing such service to have been made. Such return shall be appended to the original summons which shall be filed as aforesaid

(f) The court in which the action is pending may order such continuances as may be necessary to afford the defendant reasonable opportunity to defend the action.

(g) The director shall keep a record of all process so served upon him which record shall show the day and hour of service

(h) As used in this section "nonresident" means a person who is not a resident of this State at the time the accident or collision occurs"

1557. When the Governor of this State, in the exercise of the authority conferred by Section 2, Article IV, of the Constitution of the United States, or by the laws of this State, demands from the executive authority of any state of the United States, or of any foreign government, the surrender to the authorities of this State of a fugitive from justice, who has been found and arrested in such state or foreign government, the accounts of the person employed to bring back such fugitive, including any money paid by such person to the authorities of a sister state for subsistence of the fugitive while detained by such sister state and without payment of which, the authorities of such state refuse to surrender such fugitive, must be audited by the [Board of Control] State Controller and paid out of the State Treasury; provided, however, that the State shall not pay the expenses of any such person so employed where the fugitive so returned is not so arraigned or placed on trial, that such expenses shall be a charge upon the county asking the requisition; provided further, that when a warrant has been issued by any magistrate after the filing of a complaint or the finding of an indictment and its presentation to the court and filing by the clerk, and the person named therein as defendant is a fugitive from justice, who has been found and arrested in any state of the United States or in any foreign government, the county auditor shall draw his warrant and the county treasurer shall pay to the person designated to return the fugitive, the amount of expenses estimated by the district attorney to be incurred in the return of such fugitive; provided further, the person designated to return the fugitive shall make no disbursements from any such fund so advanced without a receipt being obtained therefor showing the amount, the purpose for which said sum is expended, place, date, and to whom paid.

Such receipts must be filed by such person with the county auditor or State [Board of Control] Controller, as the case may be, together with an affidavit by such person that the expenditures represented by said receipts were necessarily made in the performance of duty, and when such advance has been made by the county treasurer to the person designated to return the fugitive, and has thereafter been audited by the State [Board of Control] Controller, the payment thereof shall be made by the State Treasurer to the county treasury, which has advanced the said funds; provided further, that when no advance has been made to the person designated to return the fugitive, the sums expended by him, when audited by the [Board of Control] State Controller, shall be paid by the State Treasury to the said person so designated. In every case where the expenses of such person so employed to bring back such fugitive as herein provided, are less than the amount advanced on the recommendation of the district attorney, such persons so employed to bring back such fugitive shall return to the county treasurer the difference in amount between the aggregate amount of receipts so filed by him, as herein employed, and the amount advanced to such person upon the recommendation of the district attorney.

Consideration of Committee Amendments

The following amendments were proposed by the Committee on Agriculture:

Amendment No. 1

In line 1 of the title of the printed bill, strike out "Section", and insert "Sections 1 and".

PRINTER'S NOTE—There being no 7-point strikeout type available, the material which should appear in strikeout type in the following amendment is indicated by being enclosed within brackets.

Amendment No. 2

On page 1 of said bill, strike out line 1, and insert

"SECTION 1. Section 1 of the act cited in the title is amended to read:

Section 1. The Agricultural Research Study Committee, herein called the committee, is hereby created. It shall consist of nine members, to be appointed by and serve at the pleasure of the Governor. Three members shall be representative of the public at large; the other members shall have practical knowledge and experience in the production, processing or distribution of agricultural, horticultural, viticultural, livestock, and dairy or poultry products.

The Director of Agriculture and the Dean of the College of Agriculture of the University of California are ex officio members of the committee. [One] Two member s of the Senate appointed by the Senate Committee on Rules, and [one] two member s of the Assembly appointed by the Speaker, shall meet with and participate in the work of the committee as ex officio members to the extent that such participation is not incompatible with their respective positions as Members of the Legislature. The Members of the Legislature so appointed are hereby constituted a legislative interim committee on the subject of this act, with all the powers and duties imposed upon such committees by the Joint Rules of the Legislature.

SEC. 2. Section 6 of said act is amended".

The committee has made inquiry into the housing problem throughout the State with particular reference to veterans' housing as directed in the resolution and submits herewith its report thereon.

The committee gratefully acknowledges the assistance in its inquiries of the many citizens and public officers who have appeared before it as witnesses.

Respectfully submitted,

SENATOR GERALD J. O'GARA, Chairman
ASSEMBLYMAN RALPH C. DILLS, Vice Chairman

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

The committee wishes to take this means to gratefully acknowledge the fine cooperation and assistance extended to this committee by the many federal, state and local agencies as well as veterans' and citizens' groups concerned with the housing problem in its many and diverse aspects.

The committee is particularly appreciative of the loyal and untiring efforts of the members of its staff. Special credit for whatever value this report may have is due to Warren Olney III, committee counsel. Assisting him with unremitting enthusiasm and vigor were Neill C. Toohy, Administrative Assistant, Gregory S. Stout, Assistant Counsel and Mary Ann Fissori, secretary. For more than two months under the heavy pressure of a short time limit, they have labored at a difficult, complicated task without regard to hours or personal convenience.

INTRODUCTION

This committee was created by Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 13 adopted by the Senate, January 14, 1947, and by the Assembly, January 17, 1947. The committee was directed to ascertain, study and analyze all facts relating to the housing situation in California with particular reference to veterans' housing, including the operation, effect, administration, enforcement, and needed revision of any and all laws in any way bearing upon or relating to the subject of housing, and to report thereon to the Legislature, including in its report recommendations for appropriate legislation.

Originally the committee was required to render its report not later than March 15, 1947, but later action of the Legislature extended the time to April 10, 1947.

Pursuant to and in furtherance of the directives of the resolution creating it, your committee has made as intensive and comprehensive an investigation of the subject of the housing problem in California as the limited time at the committee's disposal would permit.

The following public hearings were held to which interested parties and the general public were invited and given an opportunity to express their views to the committee:

Civic Auditorium, San Francisco, February 13, 14, and 17, 1947

Appearances

A. EARL WASHBURN, Director, State Reconstruction and Reemployment Commission.

CHARLES W. LYON, Legislative Representative, Southern California Chapter, Associated General Contractors.

This committee did not endeavor to conduct an inquisition or primarily place blame for the shortage of housing. Instead, it strove to determine and state the causes of the shortage wherever the responsibility might fall.

It is apparent that there is an acute shortage of housing in the State. In 1940 the State did not have housing sufficient to accommodate the population of that date. In the intervening years war conditions kept home construction work at the irreducible minimum. Today the State has the population in excess of 2,000,000 persons over the 1940 population.

This huge population increase, shortages of materials and labor, high prices and other factors described in the body of the report have all combined to cause our present and prospective shortage.

Obviously there is no single or simple cause for this problem—and certainly no single or simple solution.

The committee has experienced great difficulty in its effort to obtain an accurate and comprehensive picture of the housing problem in California. This difficulty is not due to any reticence or lack of cooperation on the part of witnesses heard by the committee. It results from the fact that there is no organization in California, either public or private, which is engaged in the continuous gathering of information, compilation of data, and study necessary to a complete and adequate understanding of the manifold aspects of the housing problem.

The need is plain for some agency to perform this service for the benefit of private industry and the people of the State generally, as well as for the use of local and state government. The extent to which the Legislature is handicapped for lack of information on a state level concerning housing is illustrated by one of the witnesses appearing before your committee who remarked that it was the sixth time in the space of a very few years that he had appeared as a witness before some legislative committee seeking information on one aspect or another of the housing problem. Of the other witnesses, most of them had appeared previously before at least one other interim committee.

Some explanation is required concerning the body of this report and particularly concerning that portion which attempts to outline California's present housing needs. The committee heard much testimony upon this subject, and, as might be expected, the witnesses did not always agree. All statistics and statements in the body of the report are, of course, supported by the testimony of witnesses considered by the committee to be reliable. In many instances, however, there have been divergencies among the most reliable witnesses concerning such things as estimates of the need, the probable results of construction programs, anticipated changes in prices, etc. In such instances, it is invariably the more conservative statement of the matter which has been included in the body of the report. It is a fact that the report has been written with the definite thought in mind of avoiding exaggeration of the extent and acuteness of the housing problem.

From the foregoing it will be seen that this report does not and cannot claim to be an entirely accurate picture of the housing problem. But its faults and deficiencies are on the side of minimizing the need. It may well be that in a conscientious effort to avoid exaggeration the report understates the necessities of the situation to a very considerable degree. The resulting picture, however, portrays a problem so large and so serious that it seems safe to say that whatever distortions there may be are due to understatement, and are of little practical consequence in demonstrating the need for attention and action.

In this connection, your committee has endeavored to make this report as brief as possible. However, transcripts and written statements of witnesses are available for inspection by all members of the Legislature as well as supporting data for all statements in this report.

SUMMARY OF THE COMMITTEE FINDINGS

1. The minimum number of dwelling units needed to provide California's urban families in 1947 with housing of minimum standards of safety, sanitation and decency is 743,568. This total includes 195,750 units for veteran families and 111,818 units for nonveteran families.

2. Two-thirds of these needed dwellings, or 495,712, should be rental units and the remaining one-third, or 247,856 units, should be for purchase.

3. The average maximum gross rental which California families can afford to pay, whether veteran or nonveteran, is $47 per month.

4. The average purchase price which veteran families can afford to pay for a home is $7,200, with monthly payments not to exceed $53.

5. Not included in the 743,568 units required to meet the minimum housing needs of California are additional units required in rural areas to house migratory farm workers and families desiring to build permanent residences on their own farms.

6. Student veteran housing needs include the construction of shelter for 770 single students and an additional 1665 units to house veteran families.

7. A condition of loose occupancy of existing dwelling units appears to exist, due to rent controls or other causes, which if corrected might make available for use as many as 86,278 additional dwelling units.

8. As against a normal vacancy factor of about 5 percent, the present vacancy factor in California cities averages about 1.3 percent. In this situation rent control is holding down the rentals paid by Californians. Elimination of rent control would result in substantially increased rentals.

9. Most critical shortages of building materials, which prevented the completion of about one-third of the dwelling units commenced in 1946, are expected to be alleviated by June 30th of this year, provided federal regulations channeling building materials into home construction are continued in effect.

10. The number of building trades mechanics working in California on on-site residential construction rose from 155,000 in February, 1946, to 190,000 in September, 1946. The number of apprentices rose similarly to a present total of 15,623. In spite of these gains a shortage of on-site labor will continue to impede residential construction to a degree during 1947.

11. With the rise in prices the proportions of the housing dollar have changed approximately as follows:

	1945 percent	1947 percent
Cost of materials	58	53
On site labor	29.5	33
Cost of unimproved land	7	9.5
Cost of land improvements	5.5	4.5
	100%	100%

12. The cost of a new dwelling unit has risen from a base figure of 100 in January, 1939, to 186 in San Francisco and 228 in Los Angeles in February, 1947.

13. There is no prospect of a reduction of construction costs during 1947. As long as construction costs remain as high as they now are it will continue to be a practical impossibility for private investors to build rental units and to make an adequate return on their investments without charging a rental greatly in excess of the $47 monthly rental the average citizen and average renter can afford to pay.

14. Of the priorities issued for new construction during the period January 15 to December 23, 1946, 25 percent were for the construction of rental units, of which only 40 percent thereof were to rent for $50 a month or below.

15. Of the total priorities issued for new construction during the same period, 75 percent thereof were for units to be sold, of which 50 percent were for units to sell in excess of $8,500 and 50 percent were to sell for less than $8,500.

16. Between December 24, 1946, when Section 608 of the Federal Housing Act was broadened and January 15, 1947, only 11 percent of the priorities issued were for the construction of rental units, 30 percent thereof being units which would rent for below $50 per month for shelter rent.

17. Of the 155,806 priorities issued during 1946, only 105,000 dwellings were actually completed, from which it can be estimated that only 26,000 rental units were completed.

18. 140,000 veteran families are awaiting completion of 1,679 units of veterans emergency housing which remain unfinished because the estimated $3,500,000 needed to complete them is not available to the Federal Public Housing Authority.

19. Projected for construction at the present time are 1,379 units of permanent public housing which cannot be built because the cost of construction has risen above the federal statutory limitation of $5,000 per unit to a cost of not less than $7,500 per unit

20. Private industry has set its state goal at about 200,000 new homes to be begun in 1947, but because of continuing over-all scarcity of building materials in California, actual completions may run considerably lower.

21. Minor progress is being made in meeting California's housing need. It is probable that the housing deficit may be reduced slightly during the year 1947. If the maximum construction promised by private industry is actually accomplished, it will result in no more than a net gain of 111,000 units to be applied to a backlog of 677,568 units needed when the year began.

22. Insufficient experience of the industry in the field of prefabrication precludes a reliable determination as to whether substantial reduction of construction costs can be achieved by prefabrication methods.

23. Greater uniformity in building codes governing home construction will permit more standardization and efficiency and a substantial decrease in building costs.

24. At the present time there is no state agency with complete responsibility or authority for all of the State's activities in the housing field. There are now at least 12 separate agencies in the State Government with overlapping duties relating to housing. At present there is no single agency with the responsibility or authority to coordinate activities relating to veterans' housing, housing for persons of low income, housing for migratory and other forms of labor, etc. Neither is there any agency able to gather information and statistics and to make necessary studies of the state housing problem as a whole, or to make plans or furnish advice to the Governor and the Legislature concerning housing needs.

25. Other states, notably New York and Massachusetts have inaugurated large scale housing programs publicly financed and designed to provide public housing for persons of low income and to stimulate and assist private industry in building rental housing for persons of low and moderate income.

26. At least two out of three veterans wish to rent, not buy, their dwellings. Because of this fact the California Veterans Farm and Home Purchase Act has been of limited assistance to the average veteran. Furthermore at this time the usefulness of this act for veterans who wish to buy homes and farms is seriously impaired as indicated by the following facts:

a. To date only 6,085 veterans have secured these loans, totaling $32,899,000. This is only 16.5 percent of the total fund available for loans.

b. The program is lagging and purchases have been steadily decreasing with a new low of 174 applications in the month of December, 1946, as compared with 254 purchases during the preceding month.

c. A policy of greater stringency in making appraisals precludes many veterans who attempt to buy or build homes at today's prices.

27. The current housing deficiency has created many acute hardship factors. Foremost among these is the fact that 27 percent of the married veteran population is living "doubled-up," living with friends or relatives, with no quarters of its own.

28. Inadequacy of housing has a direct bearing on juvenile delinquency, public health, welfare, and morals. Experience in the densely overcrowded areas shows that per capita tax revenues decrease, while the cost of public services, such as police, hospitalization, social welfare, etc., advances sharply.

SECTION I

MINIMUM URBAN HOUSING NEEDS OF CALIFORNIA FAMILIES IN 1947

The minimum number of dwelling units needed to provide California's urban families in 1947 with housing of minimum standards of safety, sanitation, and decency may be summarized as follows:

195,750 units for veteran families without housing of such minimum standards.
111,818 units for nonveteran families without housing of such minimum standards.
370,000 substandard units requiring replacement.
36,000 units for new families from 1947 marriages.
30,000 units for new families from 1947 immigration.

Although the foregoing summary is based upon data compiled by the United States Bureau of Census and by the California State Reconstruction and Reemployment Commission, and in the opinion of the Committee constitutes as close a statement of California's housing needs as it is possible to make at the present time, it must be conceded that the summary is only an approximation at best, and a rough one at that. The facts which are necessary to give real precision and clarity to our housing needs have never been compiled either officially or privately. In their absence, a reasonable estimate of the need, based upon such data as is available, is the most that can be claimed or expected.

The most reliable figures the committee has obtained on the number of families in California and the number of dwelling units to house them have come from the United States Bureau of Census and the California State Reconstruction and Reemployment Commission. In 1940 the Census Bureau actually counted the number of families in California as 2,146,809 families, and the number of urban dwelling units as 2,147,759 units, showing an excess of 950 urban dwelling units over the number of families. In January, 1947, the State Reconstruction and Reemployment Commission estimated the total number of families in the State as 2,987,000, and the number of urban dwelling units as 2,679,432, showing 307,568 fewer urban dwelling units than families.

The objection to accepting this figure of 307,568 as the number of families now without housing of their own lies in the fact that the total of families for both 1940 and 1947 includes all the families in the State, those living on farms as well as those in cities, while the number of dwelling units given in each year are urban units only and do not include farms. Unfortunately there is no way of determining the proportion of the State's families in urban as against rural areas in either year.

There are, however, other facts to assist in reaching a conclusion. The great influx of population in California between 1940 and 1947 has certainly not been characterized by any rush to the farm. Without doubt during these years the greatest growth, both in actual numbers and proportionately, has been in the urban and not in the rural areas. It seems entirely safe to conclude that the great excess of families in California over the total of urban dwelling units in the State has not been absorbed on the farm. These families are, with little question, doubled up and jammed in, in one way or another, in the urban areas and with a quite inadequate number of dwelling units to house them all.

Starting from the fact that in 1940 the number of families and the number of urban dwelling units in the State were about equal, and taking into consideration the fact that the heavy increase in population during subsequent years has been in the cities and not the country, it seems reasonable, in the absence of better evidence, to take the present excess of families over urban dwelling units (307,568) as fairly indicative of the number of families in our cities who are doubled up and who require housing to relieve an almost unbearable overcrowding.

Accepting the number of 307,568 families as the approximate number who lack housing, the number of veterans' families in that total can also be estimated. According to the Veterans' Administration and the Director of the Reconstruction and Reemployment Commission there is a total of 1,200,000 veterans of World War II in California. In June, 1946, the Bureau of Census made a survey of 500,000 such veterans which shows 58 percent married and of the married veterans, 27 percent without minimum standard housing for themselves and families. An application of the percentages established by this survey to the total of veterans shows 195,750 veteran families without minimum standard housing. Subtraction of the number of veterans' families without housing from the total of 307,568 houseless families leaves 111,818 as the approximate number of nonveteran families without minimum housing.

In any determination of California's housing needs consideration must be given to the number of substandard units requiring replacement. When the census of 1940 was taken, 370,000 dwelling units were found to be below the minimum standards of health, safety, and decency. There has been no substantial replacement or improvement in these substandard units since that time. Today we have no less a number and probably a considerably greater one, due to units that have deteriorated and become obsolete during the last seven years. To adopt, as is done in this report, the same figure for 1947 as for 1940 of 370,000 substandard units requiring replacement is conservative to the point of understatement.

Additional present housing needs which cannot be ignored are for 36,000 dwelling units to house new families resulting from California marriages in 1947 and 30,000 units to house new families who may be expected with reasonable certainty to immigrate to California in 1947.

Quite imminent in many instances, and not to be overlooked, is the additional necessity to replace 75,000 units of temporary war emergency housing. These units were never intended for permanent housing, and demolition within two years after the formal termination of the war is required as a rule by the law under which they were built. The useful life of these units is definitely limited and if allowed to remain they will become slums. Their gradual replacement as they become overaged, must necessarily be considered as part of the state's housing requirements.

To summarize again, in order to provide housing for our doubled up and overcrowded families, to replace our substandard units, and to make room for the new families of the year 1947 will require not less than 743,568 dwelling units in California. This is a minimum figure for the strictly present need.

The committee's investigations at the local level in San Francisco, Oakland, Los Angeles, San Diego, San Jose and Fresno tend strongly to confirm that the state-wide housing need is at least as great as the foregoing estimates. Recent surveys in the City of San Francisco indicate there are approximately 70,000 veterans in the city of whom 48,000 are long time residents and 22,000 are newcomers. Forty thousand of the city's veterans are married and of the newcomers, 15,000 are married.

According to Mayor Roger D. Lapham, 1,200 or 3 percent of the city's married veterans are living in trailers, auto camps, hotels, etc., and 7,600 or 19 percent are doubled up with no separate accommodations of their own.

In Oakland, a study was made by the Oakland Community Chest of the records of the U. S. Census, Oakland City Planning Commission, and Oakland Housing Authority, which study was supplied to the committee by the League of Women Voters. This study shows that in 1940 Oakland had 99,395 families and 103,709 dwelling units with a resultant occupancy factor of 95.8 percent. In 1945 the number of families in the city had increased to 131,886 families while the number of dwelling units had risen to only 117,437 units, giving an occupancy factor of 112.3 percent. As of January 1, 1946, Oakland's housing needs are listed in this study as:

14,455 units existing shortage
5,680 units to provide a normal 5 percent vacancy factor
2,898 units to replace war emergency construction about to become obsolete
29,800 units to replace substandard units

52,833 Total units needed

Although the Oakland study was for 1945 the total figure for Oakland's needs is at least as great today because the construction industry in the city has not been able to exceed the increase in family population during the same period.

In Los Angeles, data of the United States Census Bureau, the City Planning Commission and the National Housing Agency was supplied to the committee by Mayor Fletcher Bowron. This shows that from 1940 to 1947 the population in Los Angeles County increased by 962,319, while the number of dwelling units including all temporary war housing, trailers and motels in the county, as well as all permanent structures, increased during the same period by only 235,857 units.

A survey made by the National Housing Agency in Los Angeles early in 1946 reports 162,000 families in the city living in critically overcrowded conditions or transient facilities. In the intervening period, according to evidence furnished to the Mayor by the National Housing Agency and the Residential Research Committee of the Security-First National Bank, new construction has been adequate only to hold the line. Therefore the figure of 162,000 is valid today.

A special survey of the Bureau of Census made in Los Angeles County in November, 1946, shows 350,000 veterans of World War II in the area, of which 66,000 veteran families were in immediate need of housing According to the survey, three in 10 married World War II veterans in the county were "doubled-up" or living in rented rooms.

The tremendous demand among veterans in Los Angeles for temporary emergency housing further confirms the great extent and acuteness of the housing need. In December, 1946, the backlog of applications in Los Angeles for veterans' emergency housing had risen to 15,500 at which time the lists were closed because of inability to meet the need. A survey of 1,000 of such applications disclosed that 59 percent of the applicants had incomes less than $40 per week. It showed further that 14.5 percent were disabled, 5.9 percent were receiving on-the-job training, 7.8 percent were attending a school under the provisions of the GI Bill of Rights, 1.3 percent were disabled and receiving vocational rehabilitation training. It also disclosed and 29.5 percent of the families were in the very low income group.

Another fact disclosed by this survey, not without significance, is that 67 percent had been in the State of California less than one year; 18 percent had been in California more than one year but less than two years, and 15 percent had been in California more than two years but less than three years.

Conditions in San Diego are similar. Evidence supplied by the Mayor's Emergency Housing Committee, through Mayor Harley E. Knox, shows a backlog of 6,000 unmet applications for veterans' emergency housing as of January 30, 1947. Of the total backlog of applications, 83 5 percent are veterans with families, and an additional 15.2 percent are service personnel, 57.8 percent of the applicants are residents of the State of California while 42 2 percent are immigrants.

During January, 1947, 303 applicants for temporary emergency housing, representing 860 persons, were received, and analysis of these applications indicates 50.75 percent of the applicants were living in transient rooms or temporary Navy quarters, 16.5 percent were living in hotels or motels with rentals in excess of the applicants' ability to pay, and 4 percent had no shelter of any kind.

Information from the Mayor's Emergency Housing Committee of the City of San Jose concerning applications for veterans' emergency housing indicates that 34 percent of the applicants were living doubled-up, 38 percent were living in substandard accommodations, and 17 percent were in process of being evicted.

A recent survey in the City of Fresno conducted by the Fresno Bee disclosed 3,000 veteran families doubled-up and an additional 5,000 living in "submarginal" dwellings in that community.

At the committee hearings, apprehension was expressed concerning possible hardships growing out of relocations resulting from construction of freeways in the Los Angeles and San Francisco areas. Moving present residents out of rights of way, throws an additional burden on the already overtaxed housing facilities of both cities, except in instances where the person's home is moved to a new site.

The evidence submitted to the committee leaves no doubt that the estimate of 743,568 as the number of additional dwelling units required to provide California's 1947 urban population with housing of minimum standard of health, safety and decency, is the extreme conservative estimate. It appears probable that the minimum critical need is considerably greater.

UNITS NEEDED FOR RENTAL AND FOR PURCHASE

According to the United States Census Bureau, the proportion of renters to home owners now prevailing among city dwellers throughout the United States is roughly, 66 percent renters and 33 percent home owners. These proportions have been generally applicable to California's cities. The needs of California's veterans appear to be no exception. In 1946 at the request of the National Housing Agency, a survey was made of veterans housing needs among half a million veterans of World War II residing in the urban areas of Los Angeles County, San Francisco Bay Area, San Diego Bay Area, Sacramento Area, and Fresno Area.

The survey showed 58 percent of the 500,000 veterans interviewed, to be married, and 42 percent single. Of the married veterans, 24 percent were then living in their own homes and 76 percent were paying rent. All of the veterans were questioned as to whether under favorable conditions they would buy or build a home or would rent. The response indicated that under such conditions only 32 percent would buy or build and the remaining 68 percent would continue to pay rent.

It is clear, therefore, that to adequately meet California's need of 743,568 dwelling units, 495,712 or two-thirds should be rental units, and 247,856 or one-third should be units for home purchase.

THE AVERAGE GROSS RENTAL PAYABLE AND THE AVERAGE PURCHASE PRICE PAYABLE WITH AVERAGE MONTHLY PAYMENTS

To meet California's need for rental units, it appears from the 1946 survey of the Census Bureau previously mentioned, that for the veteran families, as well as for the non-veteran families, the average gross rental, including heating, lighting, and cooking-fuel costs, cannot exceed $47 per month without being beyond the average ability to pay. This figure was arrived at from a specific question on the point in the survey, and that it is accurate is apparent from the additional fact that the average weekly income of the veterans planning to rent ranged between $50 and $52 in the five California city areas surveyed.

As might be expected, among the applicants for veterans emergency housing, the average income and ability to pay rent is considerably lower. An analysis of 1,000 applications for veterans' emergency housing in Los Angeles disclosed incomes as follows:

Amount of income per annum	Number of veterans in a group of 1,000
$4,500-$4,800	7
3,600- 4,400	28
3,000- 3,500	49
2,500- 2,900	84
2,000- 2,400	238
1,080- 1,900	427
900- 1,075	167

Therefore, 77 percent of the applicants had monthly incomes of $200 or less.

The testimony with respect to veteran applicants for emergency housing in San Francisco and San Diego showed a parallel heavy proportion of applicants in the low income group.

The same 1946 survey previously mentioned shows the average monthly income of those persons planning to buy or build their own homes to be $242. This limited income necessarily means that their average payments cannot exceed $53 per month. Further, under present financing practice, it means that the price of a home for which they can pay cannot exceed $7,200.

SECTION II

RURAL HOUSING NEEDS

Not included in the 743,568 units required to meet the minimum housing needs of California are additional units required in rural areas to house migratory farm workers and families desiring to build permanent residences on their own farms. Although no testimony as to the number of units needed to house farmers and their families or to shelter migratory workers was given, the representatives of farm organizations were emphatic in declaring the need for additional housing. They also stressed the greater adaptability of surplus military housing to rural as contrasted with city use. They strongly advocated that some agency of the State should continue the program which has been carried on by the Farm Production Council.

The Farm Production Council, since 1945, has purchased 4,395 surplus buildings from the War Assets Administration. Funds for their purchase were provided by the appropriation of a million dollar fund by the State Legislature. No more than $400,000 was ever utilized at one time for these purchases. The buildings were secured at a cost of approximately $1,433,000. They have been resold to farmers for conversion into approximately 8,693 units valued in excess of $10,000,000 of family housing utilizable for transient farm labor during the harvest season.

Senate Bill 1416 provides for the transfer of the revolving fund used by the Farm Production Council to the General Fund on June 30, 1947, when the work of the council is terminated. No provision is made for any other agency of the State to continue the council's rural housing program.

SECTION III

STUDENT HOUSING NEEDS

On the campuses of the universities and colleges supported by the people of the State of California, there are 770 single veteran students and 1665 veteran families who lack adequate shelter. At the request of the committee, the University of California has compiled statistical information relating to the housing problem of students and faculty on the campuses of the University at Berkeley, Los Angeles, Davis and Santa Barbara. Surveys were also conducted by the various state colleges in February of this year to provide factual information regarding student housing needs to your committee.

In general, all surveys indicate a most pressing need for housing accommodations caused by the influx of veteran students and their families who seek to take advantage of the "GI Bill of Rights."

The University of California at Berkeley is at present utilizing dormitory units and family units assigned to it in the Richmond Public Housing Project. For students living in these accommodations, two hours per day is required to commute to and from the campus. 1,000 units are available there for single veteran students. At the present time only about 514 are being utilized. A most acute need for women students and nonveteran male students arises, neither group being eligible to be housed in the buildings of the Public Housing Authority. 366 nonveteran male students and 133 women students applied for housing in excess of the number of accommodations available. So far as veteran students with families are concerned, there were 284 more applications than accommodations.

The actual total deficit of housing at the University of California at Berkeley is approximately 650 units.

At the University of California at Los Angeles there are no figures obtainable as to the quarters for male students, whether veteran or nonveteran. 171 women student applicants, however, could not find available housing, nor could 502 married couples.

Total deficit of housing accommodations on the Westwood campus is approximately 673 units.

At the University Agricultural College at Davis a most acute housing problem was revealed. There are 156 male veteran students and 73 male nonveteran students living in quarters converted from basements of university buildings. Thirty-seven women students and 160 married couples are also living in converted quarters of a similar nature.

From the statement made by the Business Manager of the University there appears to be no deficit of housing on the campus at Santa Barbara. As a matter of fact, there is a surplus of 246 accommodations.

The survey among 5,644 students at San Jose State College conducted by the office of the president of that institution at the request of this committee indicated that of the 508 married veteran couples surveyed, 239 or 47 percent are living doubled-up with parents, relatives, and friends, or are living in garages, attics, basements, trailers, etc. One hundred five of the 1,542 single veteran students polled or 6.5 percent are living in trailers, garages, attics, basements, motels, etc.

At Chico State College all students were polled. It was found that approximately 36 percent are married. 34.5 percent are living in homes mostly with other families and 9.6 percent are living in converted garages or commercial buildings of some other type.

At Humboldt State College, Arcata, the entire veteran student group was questioned. The survey disclosed approximately 35 percent are married. The Dean of Students stated that students unable to find housing could not continue their education. He estimated the need at 10 additional units for married couples and a dormitory for single male students which could house approximately 70 persons.

In San Diego State Teachers College, questionnaires were sent to approximately 600 veteran students. 29.3 percent are married. The Dean of Student Personnel estimated that approximately 12.3 percent of the students surveyed are living either doubled-up or in converted garages or other commercial buildings.

At San Francisco State College the survey conducted by the president of the college reveals that approximately 470 student veterans, both single and married, are living doubled-up with other families or in garages or other commercial buildings which have been converted into living quarters. Since the group surveyed contained approximately 27 percent married students, applying this percentage to the total units required would indicate that 127 dwelling units are required for married couples and 343 units are required for the single students.

Because of the lack of housing accommodations many potential students are unable to resume their education. It is impossible to calculate how many are so affected or how many of the students now actually attending state universities and colleges and living either doubled-up or in substandard quarters will abandon efforts to complete their education because of housing difficulties.

SECTION IV

RENT CONTROLS

The majority of witnesses appearing before your committee were strongly of the belief that the passage of a standby rent control act was necessary to prevent economic dislocation and hardship among a vast number of veterans as well as nonveterans and low income groups.

Some cities advocated such legislation on the local level wherein local citizens' committees familiar with all facts and conditions could determine rates and prevent hardship.

Foremost among those advocating that the ceilings be administered on the local level were Mayor Roger D. Lapham of San Francisco, A. Earl Washburn, Director of the State Reconstruction and Reemployment Commission, and Dr. Wilfred H. Robinson as spokesman for apartment owners groups.

On the other hand, Mayor Fletcher Bowron of Los Angeles testified that in the event rent control legislation were enacted in the State it should be done on a state level or at least on the county level. He declared that rent control on the local community level would cause chaos in the densely populated communities of Southern California.

Abandonment of rent controls was advocated by witnesses representing the real estate interests and apartment house owners and operators who cited the loose occupancy factor prevailing under rent controls. These witnesses declared that the loose occupancy conditions whereby an individual or couple now can occupy at a low rental a large dwelling capable of accommodating several persons or even families is a major contributing factor to the housing shortage.

Some of the witnesses advocated that the State memorialize the Federal Government urging revision of regulations to permit a graduated rental scale based upon the actual number of occupants and predicated in the main upon the system used by hotels. The rent for the space would rise according to the increase in occupants. This change from present OPA regulations was offered as a practical device to increase the occupancy of existing rental units. Foremost among witnesses speaking on this phase of the proposal was Henry G. Beaumont ,member, Board of Directors of the Apartment House Association of Los Angeles.

A survey made by the California State Apartment House Association of 132,351 furnished apartment units in Los Angeles County, would seem to indicate that existing premises are not being occupied to the limit of their rated capacity. These units are designed to accommodate 354,947 persons. At the present time there are 228,428 occupants. There are 90,233 single occupant units with a rated capacity of 180,000 persons now occupied by approximately 138,000 persons. Of the 36,000 double apartments containing one bedroom, having a potential capacity of 144,000, there are but 77,000 occupants. There are some 5,494 large, multiple units containing two or more bedrooms having a potential occupancy of 30,000 that are presently being occupied by about 12,000 persons. The conclusion is therefore drawn that more than 126,000 persons or about 40,000 families, assuming that there are 3 1 persons per family, are being deprived of shelter in the Los Angeles area alone.

Since there are 1,197,398 dwelling units in Los Angeles County, the units thus withdrawn from the market represent 3.34 percent of the total It is estimated that there are about 2,583,432 dwelling units in the State of California at the present time. Applying this percentage, a possible 86,278 dwelling units are being kept from the present housing market.

It is claimed that the reason for this is the fact that families are paying for rental only about 17 percent of their income instead of 25 percent which was the general figure before World War II. Also that landlords who are restricted to a low rental by present ceilings would prefer to rent to as few occupants as possible because of less wear and tear on the premises.

In comparison with an existing need of 743,568 dwelling units, the placing of an additional 86,000 units upon the market, while useful as a means of taking some of the edge off of the market, nevertheless, is no major solution to the need, considering the reshuffling involved and the opposition which would no doubt come from tenants able to pay a high price for the privilege of spacious living quarters.

No information was presented to show what proportion of these loosely occupied units are in the under $50 monthly rental bracket.

Another suggestion relating to rent control was that ceilings be removed as far as new rental construction is concerned. As against this, FHA officials asserted that recently liberalized FHA regulations allow an adequate rental return on new rental construction.

SECTION V

MATERIAL AND LABOR SHORTAGES IN 1946 AND 1947

In 1946 critical shortages of finished wiring including fixtures, finished plumbing including fixtures, hardwood flooring, soil pipe and other ceramics, and gypsum board lath delayed the completion of a substantial number of dwelling units commenced in that year. It is estimated that on the basis of present production of these critical materials, there will be no shortage of supply after June 30, 1947.

A survey, entitled "Operation Housing" conducted by the Emergency Housing Committee of the Honorable Fletcher Bowron, Mayor of the City of Los Angeles, indicates what shortages of building materials are responsible for failure to complete dwelling units for which building permits have been issued.

REPORT ON "OPERATION HOUSING"
(Extract from Testimony of Mayor Bowron)

"On January 4, 5, and 6, 1947, the veterans organizations of Los Angeles County cooperated with the Mayor's Emergency Housing Committee in an area-wide survey of uncompleted dwellings. Reports on 5,867 dwelling units have been returned to the committee thus far for analysis and tabulation. It is estimated that these cover one-third of all dwelling units under construction.

"The survey reveals that 83 percent of the units under construction were started within the last eight months, or after June 1, 1946.

"Following is the building status on these 5,867 dwelling units:

	Percent
1. Foundation completed	86
2. Studding raised	81
3. Roofs completed	70
4. Rough wiring completed	68
5. Finished wiring completed (including fixtures)	22
6. Rough plumbing completed	65
7. Finished Plumbing completed (including fixtures)	17
8. Walls completed (including windows and doors)	35
9. Interior walls completed	28
10. Finish flooring completed	22
11. Interior painted	18

"Analysis of buildings status percentages indicates that factors holding up completion of many units were as follows:

Finished wiring
Finished plumbing
Finished flooring
Interior paint work

"The above was due primarily to shortages of:

Gypsum lath
Plasterers

"The greatest labor shortages were found in the following categories:

1. Plasterers
2. Finish plumbers
3. Electricians
4. Skilled finish carpenters

"Only 20 percent of the dwelling units displayed FHA Veterans Housing Permit."

MATERIALS

The testimony by the Executive Vice President of the California Manufacturers Association, the Regional Housing Expediter and building constructors indicate that by June 30, 1947, they are hopeful that there will be no critical shortages of building materials in California, with the exception noted in the next paragraph, assuming that current Federal Government regulations (Patman Act) channeling critical materials into the housing industry are maintained in full force and effect.

Critical shortages in plumbing fixtures will continue during 1947. Other materials such as lumber, hardwood flooring, cement, common and face brick, structural clay tile, etc., have already or are expected to reach satisfactory or even surplus proportions within the next six months.

LABOR

In January, 1946, it was estimated that there were in California 155,000 mechanics working on onsite residential construction. This figure rose to a peak of 190,000 in September from which there has been a decline due to seasonal factors. Between April and December, 1946, the number of apprentices in the United States rose from 25,000 to 86,000. Roughly one-sixth of them or about 15,000 are in California.

These figures were obtained from the Regional Housing Expediter and were confirmed by the Director of Industrial Relations of the State of California.

Labor through the various representatives of the building trades councils in Northern and Southern California and the State Federation of Labor has voiced the opinion that the utilization of the existing labor forces is being hampered by lack of a steady flow of construction materials to the various building sites. This view is agreed to by representatives of the Associated General Contractors and such prominent builders as the president of Kaiser-Burns Community Homes, James A. Whiteside and others.

Work stoppages caused by disputes between labor and management have never been a factor in the building trades industry in California due to regional agreements.

SECTION VI

WHERE THE HOUSING DOLLAR GOES AND THE RISE IN CONSTRUCTION COSTS

The State Reconstruction and Reemployment Commission in 1945 estimated that 45.7 percent of the cost of a new dwelling unit represents the cost of materials, 29.5 percent represents the cost of on-the-site labor; 12.3 percent represents contractors' and subcontractors' overhead and profit; 7 percent is the cost of the bare land and 5.5 percent land improvements.

1. Cost of materials at site	Cost of manufacture	Cost of distribution	Cost of transportation	Combined profits	Delivered price

6. Cost of land improvements (including profit on improvements)					5.50
7. Capital Cost					100.00%

The office of the State Architect has recently received bids from various private contractors calling for the erection of some 58 identical homes. The analysis which they made of the bids submitted has been furnished to show that there has been a substantial shift so far as percentages are concerned in where the housing dollar goes as of February, 1947 compared to June, 1945. The cost of materials and contractors' commissions today is approximately 53 percent of the total cost for the building, whereas in 1945 it was 57 percent. Labor costs have increased so that instead of being 29.5 percent as in 1945, they are now about 32 percent of normal construction costs.

The three homes which have been analyzed by the State Architect are for all intents and purposes identical. They only vary so far as exterior finishing is concerned.

Analysis (C) indicates that substantial savings, especially in labor costs, will accrue if prefabrication methods are utilized. The prefabricated home will cost $8,848 compared with $10,500 and $11,843 for standard construction.

THE RISE IN CONSTRUCTION COSTS

It was considered outside the primary scope of the committee's inquiry to analyze all factors which have resulted in increases in the cost of production of homes. However, testimony from witnesses actually in the business of constructing homes showed what increases have occurred in the period from 1945 to 1947.

An experienced Northern California builder testified that a two-bedroom home containing approximately 960 square feet built in 1945 cost between $6,000 and $6,750. The same home on the basis of today's prices will cost between $7,750 and $8,250. The cost per square foot rose from $7.03 in 1945 to $8.59 in 1947, an increase of $1.56 per square foot. This represents an approximate increase in cost to the ultimate consumer of about 22.1 percent.

The various factors of production that go into the making of a home are costs of (1) labor; (2) materials; (3) land and (4) financing. A comparison of some of the costs of these factors of production between 1945 and 1947 is illuminating. For example, the price of concrete in 1945 varied between $1.80 and $1.90 per barrel. The same price per barrel in 1947 is about $2.20. This represents an increase of between thirty and forty cents per barrel or approximately 22 percent.

Brick was selling in 1945 between $16 and $20 per thousand. The price in 1947 is between $32 and $38 per thousand. This represents between 80 or 100 percent increase in price in less than two years. Copper pipe in this same period is up approximately 30 percent of 1945 prices. Nails are up approximately 30 percent. Millwork is up about 20 percent.

The testimony presented by the Secretary of the Los Angeles Building and Construction Trades Council indicates that for the 12 Southern California counties, where collective bargaining agreements are in effect between the building trade unions and the various contractors associations, there have been negotiated wage increases between 1941 and 1947 of 36.8 percent. The cost of labor in a completed house may be considerably higher than this increase indicates. It is a fact that building trade mechanics may be paid for a full day's work when possibly only a fraction of a day's work has been done. This condition was agreed to by labor and management witnesses alike. It has been caused by a lack of a steady flow of building materials to the job, the fact that constructors desire to retain skilled mechanics who have been working for them for a considerable period and not let them go when there is a greater need at the moment on some other job.

There were no figures presented to the committee showing that increase in the value of land was a major factor in increasing home construction costs.

Another indication of the extent to which the cost of construction has risen is found in the following figures compiled by the National Housing Agency and furnished to the committee by the State Reconstruction and Reemployment Commission showing cost factors adjusted to a base of 100 for 1939 and subsequent years. These figures represent cost factors in Los Angeles and San Francisco.

	Los Angeles	San Francisco
Year end 1939	100	101
Year end 1940	101	103
Year end 1941	104	107
Year end 1942	119	127
Year end 1943	135	131
Year end 1944	138	132
Year end 1945	182	139
Year end 1946	232	183
February 1947	228	186

There is no reason to believe that there will be a substantial decrease in the cost of a new dwelling unit in 1947. On the contrary, qualified experts believe costs will go up. Henry J. Kaiser and Fritz B. Burns, large-scale builders, and James A. Whiteside, a small-scale builder of wide experience, are all of the opinion that prices of materials and labor in 1947 will continue to go up over 1946 levels. This opinion was concurred in by the Regional Housing Expediter.

SECTION VII

THE RECORD OF CONSTRUCTION IN CALIFORNIA DURING 1946

COMPLETIONS BY PRIVATE INDUSTRY

A review of the progress made to meet California's housing need as accomplished in 1946 is appropriate.

The Wyatt Housing Program of 1946, recognizing a national need for construction in that year of 1,200,000 units, allocated 200,000 units to California for construction by private industry. By December 31, 1946, private industry had completed only 105,000 units in California and only 670,000 units in the whole United States. While it cannot be determined with exactness how many of the units completed in California were rentals, the number can be estimated at one-quarter of the total completed or, roughly, 26,000 units. This estimate is based on the housing priorities granted in California from January 15 to December 23, 1946, totaling 155,806 units, of which 39,671 or roughly, one-quarter were for rental units.

During the period January 15 to December 23, 1946, 155,806 priorities for new construction were issued. 125,285 or 75 percent of the total were issued for the construction of units to be sold. Fifty percent or 62,643 sale priorities were for units which would sell for $8,500 per unit and up; 44.3 percent or 57,642 were designed to sell between $5,000 and $8,500 and 5.7 percent or less than 5,000 units were designed to sell below $5,000.

These sale prices contrast rather unfavorably with the $7,200 average purchase price which a veteran's family can afford to pay.

The priorities issued for the construction of rental housing during the period January 15 to December 23, 1946, were 39,671 units. These represented 25 percent of the total priorities issued in California. 16.9 percent of 39,671 units, or 6,704 units, were designed to rent at a figure less than $40 per month. 23.6 percent of 39,671, or 9,362 units, were to rent from $40 to $50 per month; 28.7 percent of the total, or 11,386 units, were to rent from $50 to $60 per month and 30.8 percent of the total, or 12,219 units, were to rent over $60.

No breakdown of the 1946 figures is available which indicates the trend during the year for or against rental construction. However, a trend against rental construction is indicated from applications for construction permits made in California for the period of December 26, 1946, to February 14, 1947. During this period applications were approved for 29,537 dwelling units, of which 3,166 or only 11 percent were for rentals. This decreasing percent of rentals appears in the face of the new program of the Federal Government announced on December 24th, which was intended to secure a larger proportion of rental construction by authorizing more favorable terms for FHA loans for rental construction.

It seems highly significant that of the 3,166 rental units applied for between December 24, 1946, and January 15, 1947, only 950 or 30 percent are to rent for less than $50 per month shelter rent, while 1,488, or 47 percent, are to rent from $50 to $70 per month shelter rent, and 728, or 23 percent, are to rent at a figure in excess of $70 per month for shelter rent.

FHA applications and priorities tell the same story. The man who has money to invest in construction of housing can as a rule make much more money building homes for sale than dwellings for rent.

At present prices and under present conditions, low-rental construction is particularly unattractive to the investor who wants the maximum return possible. Indeed, if a rental unit costs $7,500—which is a good average figure for multiple dwellings—it is difficult if not impossible for a landlord to rent at $47 a month—the price the average veteran and nonveteran can pay—and earn a fair return on his investment.

That is the situation today and it promises to be the situation as long as construction costs remain where they are—at least through 1947.

COMPLETIONS OF PUBLIC HOUSING

California contains 9,394 units of permanent public housing constructed during the years 1939 to 1942 financed by 90 percent federal funds and 10 percent local funds. These units, which are continuously occupied, accommodate an average of four persons each. Plans and specifications have been drawn and funds allocated for additional 1,379 units of public housing in California. However, this construction is authorized under the National Housing Act of 1937, which contains a limitation that the cost of construction shall not exceed $5,000 per unit, or $1,000 per room. The witnesses appearing before the committee have made it clear that at present prices such construction cannot be completed for less than $7,500 per unit, or $1,500 to $2,000 per room.

As an example of the extent to which the cost of public construction has risen, Mayor Lapham of San Francisco stated that just prior to the war, the City of San Francisco received a bid of $40,000 for a certain remodeling and reconstruction job on one of the public buildings. In 1942 on the identical specifications the city received a bid of $60,000, and in the latter part of 1946, again for the identical job, the lowest bid had risen to $125,000.

Mayor Lapham also testified that there were six public housing projects planned in San Francisco for which land had been purchased and for the construction of which the city has on hand some twelve to fourteen million dollars. But the San Francisco Housing Authority is unable to go ahead with the construction because of its inability to bring the cost within the $5,000 limitation provided in the National Housing Act of 1937.

It was the opinion of witnesses connected either with the Federal Government or with local housing authorities that the Legislature should request Congress to amend the National Housing Act in order that projected construction may proceed as planned.

The witnesses appearing before the committee have been almost unanimous in testifying that in general the time for the construction of temporary emergency housing has passed. It was pointed out repeatedly that the cost of temporary emergency housing is usually nearly as great as that of permanent construction, that the use of materials for temporary construction only diverts them from better use in permanent buildings and contributes to material shortages and high prices.

In addition, temporary units by their very nature will become substandard in the near future and become and tend to encourage slums.

The witnesses were equally unanimous, however, that certain temporary emergency housing units should be completed. These are the emergency housing units whose construction was commenced in 1946 by means of federal, state and local funds but which were left unfinished by the December, 1946, stop order of the Federal Public Housing Authority. This program in California called for the completion of 14,229 family units. 12,550 have either been completed or will be within the immediate future. 1,679 units still remain partly built with no immediate prospect of completion. The Director of the Reconstruction and Reemployment Commission estimates that between $3,500,000 and $4,500,000 will be required to complete these units. It is interesting to note that there are approximately 140,000 veteran families with applications now on file who are awaiting the completion of the 1,679 veterans' emergency housing units.

The work on the projected temporary units above-mentioned was stopped by the Federal Public Housing Authority because of lack of federal funds. Strenuous efforts have been and are being made by the California delegation in Congress and by the Governor and State Administration to induce Congress to appropriate the necessary money without delay. Appropriate resolutions urging this course upon Congress have been sent to the California delegation by the Legislature and by this committee. Notwithstanding these efforts, the witnesses appearing before this committee, a number of whom had only recently returned from Washington, D. C., were strongly of the opinion that the federal appropriation necessary to complete these units could not be expected for several months. Many of these witnesses, particularly Mayor Bowron of Los Angeles, in whose city the majority of the unfinished units are located, urged strongly that the Legislature appropriate funds sufficient to finish the job without delay but with all possible precautions to secure eventual repayment by the Federal Government.

SECTION VIII

CONSTRUCTION PLANNED IN CALIFORNIA IN 1947

Numerous builders and representatives of the home construction industry appeared as witnesses before the committee and gave their own estimates of what could reasonably be expected in accomplishment from the home building industry in California during 1947. From these witnesses, and particularly from the representatives of the Home Builders Institute and the Associated Home Builders, it was learned that the private building industry has set for itself a goal in 1947 of home completions running from 1,000,000 to 1,200,000 dwelling units for the United States. It is estimated that a maximum of 200,000 of these units are to be built in California. What proportion of these dwellings will be rental units is not known, but there is no reason to believe that the proportion will exceed 25 percent, the proportion for last year.

In the field of public housing the maximum which can be expected under the most favorable circumstances is the completion of 1,379 new units in California in 1947. This is the total number of units, according to the Regional Housing Expediter, which are planned by local housing authorities in California. None of these units will be commenced without amendment of the federal law because of the provision that their cost can not exceed $5,000 per unit.

It seems probable also that the 1,679 temporarily abandoned units of emergency construction of the Federal Public Housing Authority will be completed in 1947, in one way or another—if not by federal then by state or local government—and consequently completion of these units also may be considered as an accomplishment to be anticipated for 1947, even though they are of temporary nature.

It is, therefore, evident that the maximum amount of housing the completion of which can be expected in California during 1947, will under the most favorable conditions not exceed a combined total of 203,058 units of private construction, public housing, and temporary veterans' emergency housing, as against a present minimum need for 743,568 units.

SECTION IX

IS THE HOUSING DEFICIT DECREASING?

As mentioned above, the maximum hope of private industry is the construction of 200,000 dwelling units in California in 1947. An interesting sidelight on the probability of the accomplishment of this goal is the previous maximum high for any one year of 105,000 units completed in 1946, and the next previous high of 85,000 units completed in an earlier year.

The priority records of the Federal Housing Administration for 1946 show only one out of three dwellings completed of priorities granted. In view of this record of noncompletions, it appears difficult, if not impossible, to estimate with any accuracy the percentage of completions to be expected for 1947.

There is, therefore, on the asset side of the ledger the maximum hope of private industry for 200,000 units.

On the debit side of the ledger, as is shown in the next paragraph, the items for the year 1947 total at least 92,794 units without any consideration being given to our present backlog of need of 677,568 units. These debit items consist of the units necessary to take care of obsolescence for 1947 and a rough estimate of units needed to house new families to be acquired by the State this year.

The debit figures are computed as follows: The total number of urban dwellings in the State in 1947, as estimated by the Reconstruction and Reemployment Commission, is 2,679,432, of which 1 percent or 26,794 units will become obsolete in 1947. As mentioned above, the Reconstruction and Reemployment Commission estimates that 30,000 new families will migrate to California in 1947. This is an extremely conservative estimate because during the period 1940 through 1946 the number of families in California increased by 840,000 or an average of 140,000 per year. This high average figure, however, should probably be regarded as abnormal and is due to the great influx of war workers during the period of hostilities and the subsequent additional flood of discharged veterans in the years 1945 and 1946.

As part of the housing debit for 1947 there should of course be added to the 26,794 obsolete units, the 36,000 units needed to house the new families created by 1947 marriages and the 30,000 units for immigrant families during the year, making a total of 92,794 units required to meet the new housing needs of the year.

Thus it will be seen that if the maximum hope of private industry is achieved and 200,000 dwelling units are actually completed in California in 1947, nearly half of the units gained must be applied just in meeting the new needs created during the year. It is optimistic probably to assume that private industry will achieve its goal of 200,000 units in view of its completion of only 105,000 units in 1946 and the continuation of material and labor shortages well into 1947. Indeed, certain officials estimate private industry can complete only 125,000 units in 1947. It appears therefore that the year will end with a net gain (considering all private and public construction) of between 36,000 and 111,000 units.

SECTION X

PREFABRICATION

The office of the National Housing Expediter undertook to guarantee the market in the United States for five producers of prefabricated homes. A total output of 51,400 homes in 1946 and 1947 was scheduled for completion by these manufacturers, of which 22,500 are covered by market guarantees. A total of about 37,000 such homes were completed and sold in 1946. Of these approximately 9,000 or 25 percent originated in California.

The Regional Housing Expediter stated that, in his opinion, there is very little difference in cost between the prefabricated home and the conventional home. The largest producer of prefabricated (package) units in the State of California was of the same opinion so far as the price of a fully-erected habitable dwelling to the consumer is concerned. This was concurred in by Frank C. MacDonald of the California State Building and Construction Trades Council.

The State Architect, however, has introduced figures which show a substantial savings especially in labor costs which result from using such technique. These figures are set forth in Section VI and indicate a saving to the purchaser of between $1,500 and $3,000 on a five-room home.

SECTION XI

CONFLICT AND CONFUSION IN BUILDING CODES

Many of the witnesses appearing before the committee, particularly builders and construction men and representatives of the prefabrication industry, described the difficulties and consequent increases in construction costs due to the conflicting requirements of the building codes of our various municipalities and counties. The variations in requirements are, according to these witnesses, one of the principal obstacles to standardization and efficiency in home construction. Although many municipalities have already adopted the so-called "Uniform Building Code," the conflicts which still remain are a formidable obstacle to efficiency and the reduction of construction costs.

It was strongly recommended by these witnesses, by the Director of the State Reconstruction and Reemployment Commission, and by many other public officers who appeared before the committee, that some state agency be given the authority and sufficient funds to make a careful study of this subject. It is expected that such studies will result in the recommendation and eventual adoption of building standards for dwelling construction which will resolve the confusion and conflicts now prevailing and make possible standardization of materials and technique in the home construction industry. Such a development, it is confidently asserted, will substantially reduce the costs of construction.

The problem has become particularly confusing in urban areas where cities are adjacent to each other with only imaginary boundary lines through the center of a street. There have been instances cited where the same contractor was endeavoring to build two homes on opposite sides of the same street, and was required to use different materials and different construction in each because of differences in the building codes of the two cities.

The requirements of both codes were reasonable enough, considered separately, but the fact that their requirements were conflicting, prevented standardization and resulted in an increased cost and an increase in the price of each house.

SECTION XII

NEED FOR CONTINUOUS STUDY OF HOUSING PROBLEM AND COORDINATION OF EFFORT ON STATE LEVEL

There has developed a need for a centralized agency to coordinate all problems relating to housing. The agency should operate on the state level, as is done in New York, Illinois, Massachusetts and Connecticut.

Such was the crux of the testimony of many witnesses appearing before the hearings of your committee throughout the State, including representatives of cities and counties, building, veterans, and labor organizations.

The functions of this agency, as envisioned by witnesses, would include:

1. Eliminate overlapping of functions and duplication of effort, as well as cost, of the many state and local, public and quasi-public agencies, each of which deal with one phase of the problem.

2. Conduct research throughout the State, so that the current needs of the State for housing and housing legislation would be available at all times for members of the Legislature.

3. Conduct studies on uniform standards for construction for all units of Government, and encourage the adoption of such standards by their public agencies.

4. Conduct research activities and studies on the question of uniform building codes for dwellings, based on standards of safety, health, and decency, effect uniformity in the construction industry, eliminate

"cinch" provisions in local building codes which create monopolies or favoritism for the benefit of persons regulated by the codes.

5. Serve as an information center by channeling all information gathered in the fact-finding activities to the proper public and quasi-public agencies, both on State and local levels.

6. Administer such funds and responsiblities as the Legislature might delegate to it.

Witnesses pointed out that an over-all coordinating agency would eliminate considerable confusion as well as a great deal of useless expense and duplication of effort.

One witness testified that in recent years he had been summoned to testify before six legislative committees. He pointed out that such an agency would eliminate the necessity for such committee inquiries by having all pertinent facts available for legislative bodies at all times.

SECTION XIII

PRESENT STATE HOUSING LAWS

From 1933 to 1945 a number of statutes have been passed by the Legislature dealing with the housing problem. The first to be enacted is the so-called "Limited Dividend Corporations Act" passed in 1933 to secure for California its share of funds to be allocated by the Federal Public Works Act of 1933. The act provides for the creation of such corporations to clear urban slum areas.

It is an enabling statute and has never been utilized. Its nonutilization is due largely to the fact that no single agency of State Government speaks for the State with reference to the administration of the act. Similar acts were passed in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, etc. The so-called "Rochester Plan" devised by public-spirited citizens of the City of Rochester, New York, to meet the needs of that city has for its basis the formation of a so-called "Limited Dividend Corporation."

The Community Land Chest Act was also enacted in 1933. This, too, is an enabling act providing for the organization of nonprofit corporations to provide housing in rural and suburban areas for families of low income. It has not been utilized although funds for such development are made available by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

The Housing Authorities Law enacted by the Legislature in the extra session of 1938 and amended in 1939 provides for the creation of public housing authorities to undertake slum clearance and to provide dwellings for low-income groups in congested urban areas. There is no over-all authority of the State Government which can coordinate the local city or county housing authorities created thereunder.

The Housing Cooperation Law enacted by the Legislature in extra session of 1938 authorized cities, counties or other government bodies to aid in the establishment of housing projects by the dedication, sale, or other conveyance of their property to a local housing authority or to the Federal Government to be used to establish parks, playgrounds, streets, and other improvements and facilities in areas where public housing projects are being established.

An act to exempt housing authority property and bonds from taxation was enacted by the Legislature in the extra session of 1938. The act provides exemption from ad valorem direct taxes levied by the State, city, county, or other political divisions of the State. In lieu thereof, the housing authorities must pay for services, improvements and facilities furnished by the local government for the benefit of the project. Income from bonds issued by public housing authorities are exempted from all forms of income taxation.

The Community Redevelopment Act was enacted by the Legislature in 1945. It was designed to permit the clearance of "blighted areas" to be rebuilt either into residential areas or business districts. Cities make surveys of their "blighted areas" and adopt a master plan for the redevelopment thereof. Having once established such master plan, a typical "blighted area" is then chosen and proceedings for its clearance begun.

In spite of the many useful provisions of the act it has never been utilized. One reason for its nonutilization was stated by the director of the Los Angeles Planning Commission (and one of the sponsors of the act). It was contemplated by the sponsors that the funds for urban redevelopment would be provided by the Federal Government through such mechanisms as the Wagner-Ellender-Taft bill. However, this bill after passage by the Senate was killed in house committee at the last session of Congress. Although there is hope for action at this session, it is not known whether funds will be forthcoming from the Federal Government. No state funds were made available.

If the State Government would loan substantial sums at low interest rates, the proceeds to be utilized in financing urban redevelopment, it is likely that the act would be utilized by the various communities.

Two additional provisions hamper utilization. Section 68 thereof provides that if the plan adopted for redevelopment causes the displacement of occupants of dwelling units in the projected areas adequate permanent housing facilities must be provided at rents comparable to those which the displaced occupants are paying at the time of their displacement. With the existing dearth of housing facilities, it is practically impossible under present circumstances to find permanent houses with comparable rents.

The other difficulty encountered arises from the provisions of Section 45.7 of the act, limiting the amount of the write-off of the cost of acquiring the site to only 10 percent. Practical experience has shown that it is impossible to acquire the land of a blighted area, to clear it, and then resell it with a loss of only 10 percent. The witnesses on this subject recommended amendment of Section 45.7 so as to increase the permissible write-off.

The Veterans Farm and Home Purchase Act has been a very useful law to those persons in a position to take advantage of the assistance offered. But the statute is not and was never intended to be a solution of the housing shortage. It helps veterans to buy homes but at least two out of three veterans must rent and not buy.

Under this act, $130,000,000 has been made available to veterans of World War II, but by February 1947, only $32,899,000 or 16.5 percent had been used for a total of 6,085 farms and homes. Since May of 1946, the trend of purchase volume under the act has been generally downward, reaching a low in December of 1946 of only 174 purchases at a cost of $939,600.

In his testimony before the committee the State Director of the Department of Veterans' Affairs emphasized that the state purchase program was never intended as a means of providing immediate shelter, that the department felt that "the best service we can render the veteran is not to go along with him in the purchase of a house with an inflated price which will constitute a burden on him in the future, or which does not contain adequate living space for him and his family, or which is substandard or has depreciated to such an extent that it will have no appreciable resale value in a buyer's market.

"The board believes that the solution to the critical shortage of homes for veterans is in the development of low cost rental housing rather than in forcing the veteran to buy a house which he can ill afford."

SECTION XIV

PENDING FEDERAL HOUSING LEGISLATION

Senate Bill 886, popularly known as the Wagner-Ellender-Taft Bill is a modified form of the same bill which was introduced at the last session, Seventy-ninth Congress. At that session it was passed by the Senate but failed to pass in the House of Representatives. In its present form it is designed to meet the objections raised at the time of the earlier hearings. The bill states a national housing objective, namely the securing of a decent home and a suitable living environment for every American family. Mechanisms are set up in the bill for the attainment of the objective.

Representative Helen Gahagan Douglas has introduced a housing bill which calls for the appropriation of $1,000,000,000 to be used to secure adequate housing for the people of the United States, especially veterans. Little is known of its progress. When information was last received concerning it, it had been read for the first time and referred to committee.

The committee is unable even to speculate as to the nature of the legislation on housing which may eventually emerge from the present session of Congress.

SECTION XV

HOUSING LEGISLATION AND PROGRESS IN OTHER STATES AND CITIES

The State of New York has since 1938 enacted constitutional amendments and legislation pursuant thereto calculated to (1) aid in the development of low rental housing for low income groups both through public agencies and private organizations, and (2) assist building for the moderate income, medium rental groups. Loans by the state to local government and housing authorities, guarantee of yield to persons constructing multiple unit dwellings with low rental rates, use of the power of eminent domain, use of the state's credit to guarantee principal and interest of indebtedness contracted to build such low rental units are examples.

A total of $300,000,000 in bonds has been authorized for the above purposes since 1939. In addition, enabling legislation has been passed permitting cities to make loans to limited dividend housing corporations. Grants of tax exemption are also provided to such organizations.

Notwithstanding all these financing aids, since the program became effective in 1939, the total amount of subsidy funds paid by the state is less than $700,000. The State of New York has entered into many loan and subsidy contracts in connection with housing projects. What will have to be paid in the future on the basis of these subsidies cannot be foretold, as the war prevented maximum utilization of authorized bond issues. The total subsidies paid must not exceed the legal maximum of largest one-year interest payment on the loan plus 1 percent of the project cost. In all cases, local communities must match the state subsidy at least 100 percent.

New York's Legislature has just voted to submit to vote of the people next November a new additional $135,000,000 bond issue for low rental housing. Of this sum $120,000,000 is earmarked for New York City.

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts has seen fit to embark on a program of subsidization similar to the State of New York. The factual situation which necessitated action is much the same as is now found in California. Four thousand veterans emergency dwelling units were constructed through a combination of 90 percent FPHA and 10 percent local community funds.

Upon exhaustion of the federal appropriation for such housing, many cities and towns have begun to construct permanent housing units for veterans. Enabling legislation is recommended for passage at this time which will permit remodeling by cities and towns of existing dwellings so that they may be utilized as dwelling units to be rented to veterans at reasonable rates.

All this work is being carried out under the guidance of the Emergency Housing Commission, which is an agency of the State Government.

The problem of local building codes has resulted in a recommendation by the chairman of the State Board of Housing, asking that the Legislature enact a uniform building code which would be effective throughout the commonwealth, setting forth "minimum standards of fitness for human habitation of dwellings of all types." Such recommendation is necessitated by the fact that local codes prevent the use of prefabrication and other more efficient techniques.

Amendments to the urban redevelopment law are also advocated by the chairman of the State Board of Housing to permit a long range housing development.

SECTION XVI

SOCIAL IMPORT OF THE HOUSING PROBLEM

Some of the witnesses appearing before the committee described the conditions under which many of the 307,568 families without minimum housing of their own are now living. These people are living with their relatives or they have found places in basements or garages or in other units converted from commercial types. In addition, a large number are living in trailer camps, motels and other types of transient quarters.

A survey was recently made of the families with children attending the Prescott School in Oakland. This school is in one of the older and poorer sections of Oakland. The results of this survey show under what conditions low income families live in the absence of housing which will provide them with minimum standards of health and decency.

1. Kindergarten Class—51 children from families of 281 persons lived in 216 rooms.
2. Kindergarten Class and two other classes—111 children from families totaling 642 persons lived in 454 rooms.
3. 18 children from the most crowded homes;
   a. 5 families from homes of one room each—
      2 families of six persons; 2 of 5 persons;
      1 of 3 persons.
   b. 6 families from homes of 2 rooms each—
      1 family of 8 persons, 1 of 7 persons, 1 of 6 persons, 2 of 5 persons, and 1 of 4 persons.
   c. 5 families from homes of 3 rooms each—
      1 family of 11 persons, 1 of 9 persons, 2 of 8 persons, 1 of 7 persons.
   d. 1 family of 11 persons in 4 rooms.
   e. 1 family of 13 persons in 5 rooms.

It has been demonstrated that juvenile delinquency increases sharply in proportion to overcrowding. Likewise, there is a definite and undeniable relationship between tax revenue and tax outlay—revenue goes down and outlay goes up—in the badly overcrowded and blighted areas as compared to the nonblighted areas.

In San Francisco, at least one family every day is wholly or partly broken up because of chaotic housing conditions. Children are either offered for adoption or they are placed in private or public institutions. This condition exists among families of low income who have despaired of their ability to find adequate housing.

In 1940 a comparison was made between two areas in the City of Los Angeles. The "blighted" Boyle Heights District contains 48,949 persons. It covers an area of about three square miles with a population density of about 26.8 persons per acre. The "nonblighted" West Adams Area which covers 2.2 square miles, has a total population of 33,000 persons or 20.6 persons per acre. The two districts are otherwise fairly comparable.

A comparison of expenditure for direct services, on a per capita cost basis, in these two areas follows:

Direct service	Good area	Blighted area	City
Police	1 88	$3 51	$4 10
Fire	1 27	2 14	2 66
Health	0 28	0 63	0 47
Library	0 98	1 17	0 67
Parks	0 24	0 72	0 67
Playground	1 63	1 70	0 56
Subtotal	$6 28	$9 87	$9 13
Percent of city average	69.0	108.0	100%
Indirect services
Executive and administrative departments, public works Tax collection, etc.	$7 35	$7 35	$7 35
Total	$13 63	$17 22	$16 48
Percent of city average	83.0%	104.0%	100%

The final cost figures indicate that "blighted-areas" are subsidized by the rest of the city, yet they do not give the whole picture even of municipal costs. Juvenile delinquency is seven times as prevalent in the blighted areas, and the need for tuberculosis protection is eight times as frequent in these areas as compared to "good" areas.

Health and police departments of Los Angeles state that they would spend not twice, but four or five times as much in the "blighted-areas" as the "good areas," if they were not restricted by budget limitations.

Conditions found prevalent in the "blighted" areas breed crime and disease, and the additional cost to the taxpayer will rapidly increase as the blight spreads.

A report of the Oakland City Health Department states:

"Diseases that directly reflect the overcrowding in our community have begun to climb. Tuberculosis is increasing slowly, insidiously. It is definitely related to the overcrowded housing conditions that we are experiencing. Venereal diseases have rocketed upward. One factor causing this increase is again over-crowding. Overcrowding in its relationship to disease is our lesson from 1946 and our problem for 1947."

CONCLUSIONS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 13 directs the committee to include in its report to the Legislature not only its findings of fact but also its recommendations. Pursuant to this direction, the committee endeavored to arrive at conclusions acceptable to all its members. This proved impossible. Accordingly, this section of our report is divided into two parts (a) unanimous recommendations (b) additional recommendations approved by various members of the committee.

In making recommendations, all members of the committee endeavored as far as possible consistent with their duty, to pass upon principles, rather than upon specific bills which are pending before the Legislature and which the committee feels should be judged by the Legislature itself after full hearings and usual procedure.

UNANIMOUS RECOMMENDATIONS

The following recommendations were adopted unanimously by the committee:

1. The committee recommends that the Legislature enact at the present session, a statute authorizing rent control on residential property and providing for an appropriate and effective administration, such statute to take effect if and when federal rent controls are terminated. The committee is convinced of the necessity for the continuation of rent control in California until such time as there has been at least some alleviation of the housing shortage in this State and makes the foregoing recommendation because of the possibility that federal rent controls may be terminated in June, 1947.

Although the committee is unanimous in its recommendation that some form of stand-by rent control be adopted by the Legislature, there are differences of opinion among the committee members as to whether the administrative controls should be on a state or local level. All of the members are of the view that there should be provision for hearing complaints and other matters requiring adjustment before local boards, but some of the members are of the view that such boards should be largely advisory while others are of the opinion that they should have broader administrative powers.

2. The committee recommends that all of the functions of the State relating to housing, both those now being exercised and those which may hereafter extend into this field, be consolidated for administration by a single agency of the State. The committee makes no recommendation as to whether such agency should be separate or a part of an existing department of the State Government, but does recommend that such agency be given authority and adequate budget to enable it to gather information and make studies and recommendations to the Governor and Legislature on all aspects of the housing problem and the home building industry.

3. The committee recommends that the Legislature authorize the state agency for housing to make an intensive study of the standards for home construction throughout the State with a view to recommending a uniform building code to supersede the present confusion of conflicting local building codes. The adoption of such a uniform code will permit increased standardization and efficiency, with resultant lowering of cost, in the construction industry.

4. The committee recommends that an appropriate state agency, preferably the state housing agency if and when created, continue the activities of the present Farm Production Council in securing surplus military housing from the Federal Government for resale to farmers.

5. The committee recommends that the Legislature immediately appropriate the amount of money necessary (estimated to be $3,500,000) to complete the 1,679 units of veterans' temporary emergency housing now left incomplete because of the failure of federal funds; with the proviso that all possible steps should be taken to secure prompt repayment to the State by the Federal Government of all moneys thus advanced to meet federal commitments.

6. The committee recommends generally against the commencement of any more housing units of temporary or substandard nature, for the reason that in most cases the money, material and labor can be used to better purpose in the construction of permanent housing. The committee recognizes, however, the necessity for exceptions to such a policy when the materials are not being diverted from permanent construction or where other exceptional conditions exist.

7. The committee recommends that the Legislature, by resolution, request the Congress to raise the limitation on the permitted per unit cost of public housing construction from the sum of $5,000 per unit to such higher rate per unit as will make possible the construction at present costs of at least 1,379 units of public housing now planned and ready to build.

8. The committee considers that the present housing situation in California is primarily and essentially the result of the national emergency caused by the war and its aftermaths. One of the most important factors in creating California's housing crisis was the influx of workers who came to this State to man its war industries, and particularly since the end of the war the influx of veterans who passed through California while in the service and upon release from the service returned here to live. California cannot and should not attempt to escape its responsibility for meeting its own housing obligations, but it can and should ask the assistance of the Federal Government in meeting housing needs which are in no sense of its own creation but are the result of national factors entirely beyond its control and are neither equaled nor approached in any other state.

For these reasons the committee recommends that Congress enact suitable legislation to financially assist this State during the emergency in providing housing for veterans and persons from other states who have come to California during and after the war.

9. The committee recommends legislation authorizing local communities to give or lease at nominal rates lands now in public ownership to veterans' housing projects organized as public corporations, insofar as may be constitutionally possible.

10. The committee affirms its approval of the principles of the Community Redevelopment Act of 1945 and recommends that the Legislature appropriate state funds in a suitable amount to be used as a grant in aid to local communities for the purpose of financing the planning which is required as a preliminary to the use of the act, provided however, that any such grant in aid should be matched with local funds. The committee recommends all possible and reasonable progress under the act but opposes proceedings during the present housing shortage in those cases where a substantial number of dwelling units must be razed and no other housing is available for the occupants.

11. The committee recommends that the Department of Highways and the Division of Public Works be required during the duration of the present critical housing shortage to refrain from razing existing dwelling units and from evicting the tenants in order to construct freeways or other public works, except where other suitable habitations are made available to such tenants.

12. The committee is of the view that the present federal controls channeling building materials into home construction by means of restrictions upon commercial construction are beneficial and desirable during the present housing shortage. However, the committee is also convinced that the channeling of building materials, many of which originate outside of this State, is impossible at the state level and that if federal controls are removed, an attempt by the State to restrict commercial construction and direct materials into home building will result in driving such building materials out of the State for use in more profitable commercial construction elsewhere. For these reasons the committee recommends disapproval of proposals for the State to attempt to channel materials into home building by restricting commercial construction.

The committee recommends that the State of California exercise the greatest care with respect to its own construction projects so that it will not unnecessarily divert building materials from home construction. Construction projects which are desirable but not essential, should be postponed—unless postponement will cause unreasonable and substantial unemployment—until such time as the labor and materials used in such projects are not critically needed for residential and rental construction.

13. The committee recommends disapproval of proposals for the State to engage directly in the production of building materials, or in the construction of housing, upon the ground, principally, that the possible increase in the supply of building materials and the possible increase in the amount of home construction resulting from the adoption of such measures does not warrant state entry into this proper field of private industry.

14. The committee recommends that the Legislature give careful consideration and study to the proposal advanced by Mr. A. Earl Washburn, Director of California State Reconstruction and Reemployment Commission, to provide private industry with incentives to engage in the construction of low rent dwellings by means of changes in the tax laws. Mr. Washburn's proposal involves a combination of three changes in taxes now applicable to concerns that might invest in the construction of rental units. These modifications are:

(a) Exemption from local tax through the enactment by the Legislature of measures directing local taxing agencies to tax new rental dwelling units upon the land only, and to disregard for a five-year period the value of improvements. In order that the local community will not have to bear the full loss from non-inclusion of such new dwellings on the local tax rolls it is proposed that the State make a direct contribution to the local community in lieu of taxes of one-half, or other agreed proportion of the amount. (The Legislative Counsel questions the constitutionality of this proposal at present.)

(b) Income tax relief through amendment of state law to permit, for state income tax purposes, on new dwelling construction, in addition to normal amortization, an additional amortization over a five-year period of one-third of the cost of construction, providing the owner certifies that the property has been rented and that the rental received does not exceed 1 percent per month of two-thirds of the total investment in improvements.

(c) Removal of the sales tax on building materials if used in residential construction.

The committee has not had enough time to give adequate study to these proposals which were not received by the committee until March 31, 1947. The committee recommends that the proposals be given the serious study necessary to determine whether either separately or in combination they constitute adequate inducement to the construction by private industry of rental units to rent at $50 a month and below.

Respectfully submitted.

RECOMMENDATIONS OF SENATOR O'GARA, AND ASSEMBLYMEN DILLS AND CRICHTON

Governor Warren in his message to the Legislature declared that housing is the most critical problem facing California. The undersigned members of this committee not only agree with Governor Warren but furthermore believe that the State's most critical problem merits a solution which is as fundamental, effective and immediate as possible.

For that reason, we submitted certain proposed recommendations at various meetings of the committee. These recommendations failed to receive a majority vote of the committee. However, we still believe they merit consideration by the Legislature and therefore submit them in this supplement to the unanimous recommendations of the committee.

We do not believe that California's housing problem will solve itself. Local communities cannot, unaided, solve it. The Federal Government may or may not furnish a partial solution. This presents a crucial question of policy. Does the State of California intend to take bold and vigorous action to meet its housing crisis or is it statisfied to tell its people, particularly veterans and low-income groups who most critically need housing, that the problem will work itself out in time and that in the meantime there is really not a great deal the State can do?

It is quite true that the best effort the State can make to solve its housing problem will be little and late. But that effort, if it is made now, will not be too little or too late. While the housing shortage is the result of many complicated factors, the basic facts are these:

1. Private enterprise always has been and must continue to be the main source of housing. This is particularly true in the medium and higher-income brackets. The State of California, through a well organized overall housing agency, such as is unanimously proposed by the committee can do much to assist private enterprise to fill this need. Although legislative fiat alone cannot be a major factor, by all means the Legislature should encourage, stimulate and assist to the limit of its ability. It can rely on private enterprise to do its wholehearted best in this field because the two factors of competition and prospective profits act as the best possible stimulants to maximum efforts.

2. In the field of low-rental housing, the situation is altogether different. In this area, there is the greatest need on the part of veterans and nonveterans alike and the least activity on the part of private enterprise to fill that need. This is true because under present conditions private industry generally speaking cannot build such housing and make a profit. Money, not labor or materials, is the main stumbling-block.

The average veteran and nonveteran wants to rent and can afford to pay no more than $50 a month (more exactly $47 a month).

Private industry cannot ordinarily build such units even on a multiple scale at a cost low enough to permit profitable rental at an average of $50 a month. On the contrary, such units would cost in the neighborhood of $7,500 and would have to rent for an average of $75 a month if the private investor is to find the investment attractive and profitable. If it were possible to build such units for $5,000 a unit, private capital could rent them for an average of $50 a month and make money, and private industry would pour a great deal of money into such construction.

Actually, 75 percent of home construction capital is going into homes for sale instead of to rent. This is for the very simple reason that private capital can make much more money building homes for sale than for rent. There is nothing in the situation today which warrants the hope that during the next two years private capital generally will find it possible to build multiple-rental units for much less than $7,500 a unit or good business to rent such units for an average of $50 a month.

This presents the most specific question upon which the whole problem hinges: Since private capital generally cannot and will not under existing and prospective conditions build low-rental units for veterans and low-income families, is the State of California willing to assist financially?

If the State is to do anything to relieve this situation, it must be prepared to make money available for the purpose. There is no mystery about the exigencies of the housing situation and there is no magic by which it can be cured without money.

This does not mean the State can or should donate large sums of money for the purpose. It does mean that by a combination of long-term, low-interest loans and limited subsidies it can prime the pump for immediate construction of low-rental housing for thousands of veterans and low-income families.

Under our present Constitution, much of this financial assistance must be allocated to public housing agencies. As soon as constitutionally possible, however, private enterprise should be given suitable incentives so that as quickly as may be it can assume the main burden of construction of low-rental housing, as it should under normal conditions.

In this connection, we have no objection to tax incentives such as those suggested by Mr. A. Earl Washburn and discussed in the unanimous report provided they are constitutional and are acceptable to private enterprise and local communities. In fact, we will be most happy if such incentives prove a major solution to our housing problem. We do question, however, the constitutionality of several aspects of the proposal and we oppose any measure which will deprive local communities of property tax revenue without their consent.

If the Legislature receives immediate and clear evidence that tax incentives proposed are constitutional and have the full, enthusiastic and firm acceptance of private enterprise and local communities, a large-scale program along that line should be immediately adopted by the Legislature as an urgency measure.

In any case, subject to such modification as the Legislature may consider proper, we recommend the following concrete program, to receive priority consideration and action:

1. Since housing is the most critical problem facing the State, we recommend that a special session on housing be called immediately so that the Legislature may give it preferred consideration.

2. Make available immediately at least $25,000,000 to (a) be loaned or granted on a matching basis or otherwise, on such terms as the Legislature may determine, to communities and local public housing authorities in California and (b) be devoted to incentives as far as constitutionally possible, to private agencies which will construct and operate low-rental housing. This sum can be raised by direct appropriation or by issuance of revenue bonds or by a combination of such methods of financing. It would make available at least 3,000 units—in all probability at least twice that number, if local communities and private industry participated—of low-rental housing and would give first-aid to the most appalling cases of veterans and low income families now living under distressed housing conditions. In no event could this outlay possibly interfere with or overlap housing construction stimulated by tax incentives, since the need for low-rent housing is so great.

   It should be emphasized again that this money should be used so far as constitutionally possible, to assist private enterprise.

   It could also perhaps be utilized for loan-subsidies to public agencies which would contract to build and operate low rental housing for the period of the housing emergency and dispose of such housing at the end of the emergency.

3. Create the State Housing Agency unanimously recommended by the committee. This agency can be operating 90 days after the special session adjourns and in all probability by September of this year.

4. Hold a special election as soon as possible so that the people of California may determine this state's housing policy with particular reference to veterans and low-income families.

5. At that election submit a bond issue of at least $50,000,000 to the people. At the discretion of the Legislature, this bond issue can be drafted along the lines of the Veterans' Farm and Home Purchase Act already approved by the people. In general, loans would be for a 40-year term or longer, would be made to public agencies and as far as constitutionally possible, would be used for incentives to private agencies for construction of low-cost rental housing. If approved by the people, this money would be immediately available for construction purpose and would make possible building of at least 8,000 permanent rental units for veterans and low-income families. This would be essentially a loan fund, not a fund for grants in aid.

6. At the same election submit to the people a constitutional amendment which would permit the Legislature to:

   (a) Issue additional general obligation bonds of the State not exceeding in the aggregate $50,000,000 without submission to the people, the money so acquired to be used exclusively for housing purposes and community redevelopment and to be repaid over a period not to exceed 50 years. This also would be chiefly a loan fund.

(b) Subsidize to a limited amount low-cost housing for veterans and low-income families by capital, periodic and yield insurance subsidies from the general fund.

(c) Grant or authorize loans, tax exemptions and power of eminent domain to limited dividend housing corporations.

(d) Authorize communities to issue bonds in a limited amount in aid of housing and community redevelopment plans.

7. If the people approve the constitutional amendment, the State Housing Authority should within the following three months be able to put before the Governor and Legislature its recommendations as to:

(a) The amount of general obligation bonds the Legislature should issue;

(b) The purposes for which the money is to be spent;

(c) The manner in which the money is to be loaned or granted.
