(d) Corridor walls and ceilings shall be of not less than one-hour fire-resistive construction

17355 4 (a) Every stairway shall be not less in width than forty-four inches (44″), with the following exceptions:

1 Stairways serving an occupant load of 50 or less may be thirty-six inches (36″) wide.

2. Stairways serving an occupant load of 10 or less may be thirty inches (30″) wide.

3 Trim and handrails may project three and one-half inches (3½″) into the required width of any stairway.

(b) The rise of every step in a stairway shall not exceed seven and one-half inches (7½″), and the run shall be not less than ten inches (10″).

Except as provided under subdivision (c) of this section, the maximum variations in the height of risers and in the width of treads in any one flight shall be three-sixteenths inch (3/16″).

In stairways serving an occupant load of 50 or less the rise may be eight inches (8″) and the run may be nine inches (9″).

(c) In Group I occupancies and in monumental unrequired stairways, winders may be used if the required width of run is provided at a point not more than twelve inches (12″) from the side of the stairway where the treads are the narrower, but in no case shall any width of run be less than six inches (6″) at any point.

(d) Every intermediate landing shall have a dimension measured in the direction of travel equal to the width of the stairway, but such dimension need not exceed four feet (4′).

(e) Where a basement stairway and a stairway to an upper story terminate in the same vestibule or other space, the basement stairway shall be cut off by a one-hour fire-resistive partition and a self-closing Class "B" fire door

(f) There shall be not more than twelve feet (12′) vertically between landings nor less than two risers.

(g) Stairways shall have handrails on each side, and every stairway, more than eighty-eight inches (88″) in width shall have intermediate handrails dividing the stairway into portions not more than sixty-six inches (66″) in width.

Handrails shall be placed not less than thirty inches (30″) nor more than thirty-four inches (34″) above the nosing of treads, and ends of handrails shall be returned to the wall

Stairways three feet (3′) or less in width may have one handrail

(h) Every opening in the exterior wall of a building served by an exterior stairway used as a required exit shall be protected by an automatically closing Class "E" or "F" fire door or window if the opening is within twenty feet (20′) of the stairway, except that openings above or level with the highest portion of the stairway may be unprotected if not nearer than ten feet (10′) to the stairway.

(i) The underside of interior stairways of wood construction and enclosed usable spaces under all stairways shall be protected with lath and plaster approved for one-hour fire-resistive construction, except in Group I occupancies.

(j) Interior stairways shall be constructed as specified in Articles 12 to 17, inclusive, of this chapter.

(k) Exterior stairs shall be of incombustible material or of wood not less than two inches (2″) in nominal thickness.

(l) In every building more than two stories in height, one stairway shall extend to the roof surface unless the roof has a slope greater than four in 12.

(m) Every required stairway shall have headroom clearance of not less than six feet six inches (6′6″) measured vertically, from the nearest nosing to the nearest soffit.

17355.5. (a) A ramp conforming to the requirements of this section may be used as an exit. Aisles need not conform to this section.

(b) The width of ramps shall be as required for corridors.

(c) The slope of a ramp shall not exceed one in eight.

(d) A ramp with slope exceeding one in 10 shall have handrails as required for stairways.

(e) Ramps shall be constructed as required for stairways.

(f) The surface of ramps shall be roughened or shall be of nonslip material.

17355.6. (a) A horizontal exit is a horizontal passageway or ramp into another building or into another section of the same building through an "Ordinary Occupancy Separation"

(b) If conforming to the provisions of Section 17355.2 and of this section, a horizontal exit may be considered as a required exit.

(c) A horizontal exit shall lead into a floor area having capacity for an occupant load not less than the occupant load served by such exit. The capacity shall be determined by allowing three square feet (3 sq. ft.) of net clear floor area per occupant. The area into which the horizontal exit leads shall be provided with exits as required by Section 17355.1, at least one of which shall lead directly to a public way.

17355.7. (a) Every interior stairway, ramp, or escalator shall be enclosed as specified in this section, with the following exceptions:

1. An enclosure will not be required for a stairway, ramp, or escalator serving only the second floor and not connected with corridors or stairways serving floors above the second floor.

2. Stairs in Group I occupancies need not be enclosed.

(b) Enclosure walls shall be of not less than two-hour fire-resistive construction in buildings more than four stories in height and shall be of not less than one-hour fire-resistive construction elsewhere.

(c) There shall be no openings into exit enclosures except exit doorways and openings in exterior walls. Every exit door in an exit enclosure shall be a self-closing Class "B" fire door. Every opening in an exterior wall forming part of an exit enclosure shall be protected by a Class "E" or "F" fire door or window unless opening into a public way at least sixteen feet (16′) wide.

(d) Stairway enclosures shall include the necessary landings between flights and shall also include any corridors or passageways necessary for continuous exit to the exterior of the building.

17355.8. (a) A smokeproof enclosure shall consist of a continuous stairway enclosed from the highest point to the lowest point by walls of four-hour fire-resistive construction. The supporting structural frame shall be of four-hour fire-resistive construction.

(b) In buildings five stories or more in height, one of the required exits shall be a smokeproof enclosure.

(c) Stairs in smokeproof enclosures shall be of incombustible construction.

(d) There shall be no opening directly into the interior of the building. Access shall be through a vestibule open to the outside having an exit door from the interior of the building and an exit door leading to the smokeproof enclosure. In lieu of a vestibule, access may be by way of an exterior open balcony of incombustible materials.

(e) Exit doors to smokeproof enclosures shall be self-closing Class "B" fire doors.

(f) A smokeproof enclosure shall exit into a public way or into a passageway leading to a public way. The passageway shall be without other openings and shall have walls of four-hour fire resistance and floors and ceilings of two-hour fire resistance.

17355.9. Every exit shall discharge into a public way or exit court.

(b) Every exit court shall be not less in width than the required total width of the tributary exits.

(c) The slope of exit courts shall not exceed one in 10.

(d) Openings between a Group A and B occupancy and an exit court less than sixteen feet (16′) wide shall be protected by Class "E" or "F" fire doors or windows, except that openings more than twenty feet (20′) above the floor of the exit court may be unprotected.

(e) The required width of exit courts shall be unobstructed except for trim and handrails which may project not more than three and one-half inches (3½″) into the required width.

At any point where the width of an exit court is reduced from any cause, the reduction in width shall be effected gradually by a guard rail at least three feet (3′) high. The guard rail shall make an angle of not more than 30 degrees with the axis of the exit court.

Article 23. Doors, Windows and Skylights

17360. Fire doors and windows where required shall be as specified in Section 17390.3

When wire glass is required for skylights the size shall not exceed seven hundred and twenty square inches (720 sq. in.) in area or forty-eight inches (48″) in any dimension in any one panel. All glass in skylights shall be wire glass, except that skylights over vertical shafts extending through two or more stories shall be glazed with plain glass as specified in this section; provided, that wire glass may be used if ventilation equal to not less than one-eighth the cross sectional area of the shaft but never less than four feet (4′) is provided at the top of such shaft.

Any glass not wire glass shall be protected above and below with a screen constructed of wire not smaller than No. 12 B. and S. gauge with a mesh not larger than one inch (1″). The screen shall be substantially supported below the glass.

Article 24. Bays and Balconies

17365. Construction of walls and floors in bay and oriel windows shall conform to the construction allowed for exterior walls and floors of the type of construction of the building to which they are attached. The roof covering of a bay or oriel window shall conform to the requirements for roofing of the main roof of the building.

All exterior balconies attached to or supported by masonry walls shall have brackets or beams constructed of wire, steel, concrete or other incombustible material. All railings for balconies or porches shall be not less than three feet (3′) in height above the floor of such balcony or porch.

Article 25. Penthouses and Roof Structures

17370. No penthouse or other projection above the roof shall exceed twenty-eight feet (28′) in height above the roof when used as an enclosure for tanks or for elevators which run to the roof and in all other cases shall not extend more than twelve feet (12′) in height above the roof. The aggregate area of all penthouses and other roof structures shall not exceed 20 percent of the area of the roof. No penthouse, bulkhead or any other similar projection above the roof shall be used for manufacturing, business, habitation, offices or storage, except that they may be permitted to be used for the making of blue prints, photographic prints, for scientific observation, for summer houses or for Group I occupancies.

Roof structures of Type I buildings shall be constructed with walls, floors and roof as required for the main portion of the building.

Walls of roof structures parallel to and within four feet (4′) of the exterior walls of Type II or III buildings shall be constructed the same as the exterior wall of the story immediately below. Such wall shall project two feet (2′) above the roof and two feet (2′) beyond the sides of such roof structures, except that the side projection shall not be required when the adjoining side walls are of masonry. Walls other than those occurring within four feet (4′) of an exterior wall on Type II or III buildings shall be of not less than one-hour fire-resistive construction. The restrictions of this paragraph shall not prohibit the placing of wood flagpoles or similar structures on the roof of any building.

Article 26. Chimneys, Vents and Fireplaces

17375. Chimneys, fireplaces, flues and vents carrying products of combustion, and their connections, shall conform to the requirements of this chapter.

17375.1. (a) Chimneys shall be reinforced and anchored as required in this chapter and shall be designed to resist the loads specified in Article 18.

(b) Flue linings used in connection with solid or liquid fuel and bricks used in lieu of such flue linings shall have a softening point not lower than 1994 degrees Fahrenheit.

(c) No flue used in connection with solid or liquid fuel shall be smaller in area than the flue connection on the appliance attached thereto, and in no case shall be less than as set forth in the table in subdivision (1) of this section.

(d) Every chimney shall extend to a point at least two feet (2′) above the highest elevation of any portion of the building within ten feet (10′) of the chimney; provided that the building official may approve a chimney of lesser height installed with an approved vent cowl having a spark arrester whose opening shall be not less than six feet (6′) from any portion of the building measured horizontally.

(e) Every inlet to any chimney shall enter the side thereof and shall be of not less than one-eighth-inch (⅛″) thick metal or five-eighths-inch (⅝″) thick refractory material. Every inlet shall be at least six inches (6″) from any combustible material. There shall be only one inlet connection to a flue.

(f) No chimney shall support any load other than its own weight.

(g) Chimneys in wood frame buildings shall be anchored laterally at each floor and ceiling line which is more than six feet (6′) above grade.

(h) Chimneys may be built of other materials than specified in this chapter, provided they meet all the requirements of the N. B. F. U. "Standard Ordinance for Chimney Construction," 1927, or equivalent.

(i) Flue area for solid or liquid fuels.

Type of equipment	Minimum area of flue Lined Round	Lined Rectangle	Unlined
Small stoves and heaters	28 sq. in.	36 sq. in.	64 sq. in.
Ranges and room heaters	40 sq. in.	50 sq. in.	85 sq. in.
Fireplaces	1/12 of opening—minimum 50 sq. in.	1/10 of opening—minimum 64 sq. in.	1/8 of opening—minimum 100 sq. in.
Warm air furnaces or boilers	70 sq. in.	90 sq. in.	135 sq. in.

(b) Walls shall be not less than eight inches (8″) in thickness, except that where flue lining is used, the thickness of brick may be reduced to four inches (4″). Division walls separating flues shall be at least three inches (3″) in thickness including flue lining.

(c) Chimneys shall not be built of hollow clay tile units unless such chimneys are an integral part of a wall of such units. Eight inches (8″) of such wall may serve as the wall of the chimney.

(d) Masonry chimneys shall be supported on foundations designed as required in Article 18 of this chapter.

(e) No combustible material shall be placed within two inches (2″) of masonry chimneys.

17375.3. (a) Terra cotta chimneys erected on the exterior of a building shall be not less than six inches (6″) from all combustible material, except that when encased in an incombustible casing they shall be not less than two inches (2″) from combustible materials, as specified in subsection (d). Such chimneys shall be exposed to view for the full length, and if erected in the interior of a building shall be encased in an incombustible casing so arranged as to provide not less than one inch (1″) air space between the chimney and the casing. Such air space shall have ventilating openings top and bottom.

(b) Terra cotta chimneys shall be anchored each six feet (6′) of their height. Such anchorage shall be designed to withstand a load of not less than 200 pounds applied in any direction.

(c) Exterior terra cotta chimneys shall be supported directly on their own foundation or upon an incombustible support. Interior terra cotta chimneys shall not be supported on brackets but shall be carried on the floor system or directly on their own foundations.

(d) Incombustible casings of terra cotta chimneys required by subsection (a) shall be not less than two inches (2″) from combustible materials. When terra cotta chimneys are enclosed, the enclosures shall have ventilating openings at both top and bottom. The support for such chimneys shall be protected by four inches (4″) of incombustible material in the bottom of the flue.

17375.4. (a) Metal smokestacks shall be constructed of material not less than one-eighth inch (⅛″) in thickness.

(b) Metal smokestacks shall be not less than twenty-four inches (24″) from any combustible materials.

(c) Metal smokestacks shall be supported directly on their own foundation or may be supported upon boilers which are designed to support them.

(d) Interior metal smokestacks extending through any story or roof space shall be enclosed in vertical shaft of two-hour fire-resistive construction. The shaft shall provide at least six inches (6″) of clearance on all sides of stack. Every opening into the shaft, other than openings for inlet thimbles and for ventilation at top and bottom, shall be protected with an incombustible one-hour fire-resistive door. The shaft shall have ventilating openings at top and bottom.

(e) When flue gas temperatures exceed 1,000 degrees F., flue lining shall be used.

17375.5. (a) Smoke pipes are pipes used in connection with solid and liquid fuel connecting fire boxes or combustion chambers with chimneys or smokestacks.

(b) Every smoke pipe connecting a fire box or combustion chamber with a chimney or smokestack shall be of metal.

(c) Combustible material within twelve inches (12″) of any smoke pipe shall be protected by not less than three inches (3″) of fire-resistive material. When within three feet (3′), such combustible material shall be protected by fire-resistive plaster. These distances shall be measured at right angles to the smoke pipe.

17375.6. (a) Fireplace and smoke chamber walls shall be of solid masonry not less than eight inches (8") thick. The face of such walls exposed to fire shall be lined with material meeting the requirements of subdivision (b) of Section 17375.1. Where four inches (4") of firebrick are used for lining, they may be included in the eight-inch (8") minimum thickness.

Approved metal heat circulators may be installed in fireplaces in lieu of the lining required by this subdivision.

(b) Masonry over the fireplace opening shall be supported by an incombustible lintel.

(c) Every fireplace shall be provided with an incombustible hearth slab at least twelve inches (12") wider on each side than the fireplace opening and projecting at least twenty inches (20") therefrom. This slab shall be not less than four inches (4") thick and shall be supported by incombustible material or reinforced to carry its own weight and all imposed loads. Combustible forms and centering shall be removed.

(d) No wood or other combustible materials shall be placed within six inches (6") of the fireplace opening. No such combustible material within twelve inches (12") of the fireplace opening shall project more than one-eighth inch (⅛") for each one-inch (1") clearance from such opening.

(e) The maximum depth of the recess of any imitation fireplace or recess for heating equipment shall be six inches (6") unless such recess meets the requirements for fireplaces. The surface of the recess shall be of fire-resistive plaster or masonry. Location of combustible materials shall be as required for fireplaces in subdivision (d). No flue other than a gas vent shall be installed within the recess opening.

17375.7. (a) Gas vents shall be constructed of unglazed clay tile not less than one-half inch (½") in thickness. The connections of such pipe shall be by sleeves or flanges well cemented. The pipe shall be securely fixed to the building frame at each sleeve or flange, and shall be at least three-fourths inch (¾") away from all combustible material between flanges. Vents of other materials or design may be approved.

(b) Every gas vent shall extend above the roof surface and terminate in an approved hood or cap with a venting capacity not less than that of the vent.

(c) Except as specified in subdivision (d), the area of any flue or vent shall be not less than the area of the largest connection plus 50 percent of the areas of all additional connections with a minimum area of not less than twelve square inches (12 sq. in.) and a minimum dimension of not less than two inches (2").

(d) Any two inlets shall be staggered by not less than the diameter of the larger inlet. All inlets to any one vent shall be within the same story.

(e) The vent connection shall be of an incombustible material not less durable than galvanized or copper-bearing metal pipe exposed to view in a room throughout its entire length. It shall be not less in diameter than the vent outlet on the appliance. Vent connections shall have a rise of not less than one inch (1") per foot. The horizontal projected length shall not exceed the vertical projected length of the vent and vent connection.

(f) Combustible material within twelve inches (12") vertically or six inches (6") horizontally of any vent connection shall be protected by fire-resistive material. These distances shall be measured at right angles to the vent connection.

(g) There shall be installed in the wall or ceiling, approximately over the cooking facilities, a ventilating opening with an area of not less than six inches by eight inches (6" x 8"), connected to a ventilating duct leading to the outside air, such duct for each kitchen to be not less than thirty-six square inches (36 sq. in.) in cross sectional area. An approved system of forced draft ventilation may be substituted for the natural draft ventilating system.

(h) Every gas water heater shall have an entirely separate and independent vent, except that not more than four gas water heaters may be connected to a common vent manifold if constructed and installed in accordance with the following additional requirements:

1. All water heaters that are connected to the common vent shall be located in the same story of the building.

2. If more than three feet (3') of vent connection is required to connect a water heater to the common vent, the water heater shall be connected to a vent manifold.

3. The length of the vent manifold shall not be greater than the height of the vertical vent to which it connects, nor shall the length of the vent manifold exceed fifteen feet (15').

4. Vent manifold and vent connections shall slope upward toward the vent at a rate of not less than one inch (1") per foot of length.

5. The connection between any heater and a vent manifold shall not exceed three feet (3') in length.

Vent connections shall approach and intersect the vent manifold so that the flow of the products of combustion will converge at an angle of not more than 45 degrees.

6. The size of the common vent and the vent manifold shall be not less than the values set forth in the following table:

Vent and Vent Manifold for Gas Water Heaters

Number of gas water heaters	Maximum gas input rating of all gas water heaters	Minimum internal diameter of vent and vent manifold
2 or 3	75,000 B.t u.	5 inches
4	100,000 B.t u.	6 inches
4	200,000 B t u.	7 inches
4	300,000 B t u.	8 inches

17375.8. Combustible construction for heating equipment shall be protected as required in Article 30 of this chapter.

17375.9. Incinerators, whether free standing or within or attached to a building, shall meet the minimum construction requirements of fireplaces. Such incinerators with horizontal areas in excess of fifteen square feet (15 sq. ft.) shall have walls not less than twelve inches (12") thick.

Chimneys for such incinerators shall be constructed as required in this chapter and shall have an approved spark arrester over the top thereof.

Small free-standing incinerators approved by the Building Official need not comply with this section.

Article 27. Fire-Extinguishing Apparatus

17380. Standard automatic sprinklers shall be installed as specified in this article in the cellar of every building.

The above provision shall not apply in the following places:

Automatic sprinklers shall not be required in the cellars of Group H and I occupancies having four or less apartments, nor in the cellars of Group H occupancies when the ceiling of such cellar or basement is three feet (3') or more above grade, nor when such cellars or basements have an area of fifteen hundred square feet (1,500 sq. ft.) or less.

17380.1. Required automatic sprinkler systems shall comply in all respects with the regulations of the N B.F.U. "Installation of Sprinkler Equipment," 1943.

A single water supply equal to the primary supply required by such regulations may be accepted as complying with the requirements of this chapter. In no case where a connection to a city water main constitutes the source of supply shall such connection be less then four inches (4") in diameter.

Sprinklers required in subdivision 6, Section 17380, may be supplied from the domestic water system and need not comply with the provisions of this section except as to pipe sizes and spacing of heads; provided, that where the domestic water supply has a pressure less than 15 pounds per square inch, an approved automatic chemical extinguisher may be used in lieu of the sprinklers.

The alarm valve required for a standard automatic sprinkler system shall not be required in the cellars of Group H occupancies where the area of such cellar is less than three thousand square feet (3,000 sq. ft).

17380.2. Every building three or more stories in height shall be equipped with one or more dry standpipes.

17380.3. (a) Dry standpipes shall be of wrought iron or galvanized steel and together with fittings and connections shall be of sufficient strength to withstand 300 pounds of water pressure to the square inch when ready for service, without leaking at the joints, valves or fittings

Tests shall be conducted by the owner or contractor in the presence of a representative of the fire department whenever deemed necessary and ordered by the building official. The tests shall be applied at the top and bottom connections of such standpipes and the owner or contractor shall be responsible for any damage caused by breakage or faulty installation while such tests are being conducted. After such standpipes have been tested, the owner or contractor shall remove all water therefrom.

(b) Dry standpipes shall be of such a size as to be capable of delivering 250 gallons per minute from each of any three outlets simultaneously under the pressure created by one fire engine or pumper, based on the existing city equipment available. No part of a dry standpipe system other than hose connections shall be less than three inches (3") in diameter.

(c) Every building three or more stories in height where the area of any floor above the second floor is ten thousand square feet (10,000 sq. ft) or less shall be equipped with not less than one dry standpipe and an additional standpipe shall be installed for each additional ten thousand square feet (10,000 sq. ft) or fraction thereof.

(d) Standpipes shall be located within stairway enclosures or as near such stairways as possible or shall be on the outside of, embedded within, or immediately inside of an exterior wall and within one foot (1') of an opening in a stairway enclosure or the balcony or vestibule of a smokeproof tower or an outside exit stairway.

(e) All four inch (4") dry standpipes shall be equipped with a two-way Siamese fire department connection. All five inch (5") dry standpipes shall be equipped with a three-way Siamese fire department connection and all six inch (6") dry standpipes shall be equipped with a four-way Siamese fire department connection. All Siamese inlet connections shall be located on a street front of the building and not less than one foot (1') nor more than four feet (4') above the grade and shall be equipped with clapper-checks and substantial plugs. All Siamese inlet connections shall be recessed in the wall or otherwise substantially protected.

(f) All dry standpipes shall extend from the ground floor to and over the roof and shall be equipped with a two and one-half inch (2½") outlet not more than four feet (4') above the floor level at each story All dry standpipes shall be equipped with a two-way two and one-half inch (2½") outlet above the roof. All outlets shall be equipped with gate-valves with substantial chains.

(g) All hose threads in connection with such standpipe installations shall be uniform with that used by the local fire department.

(h) An iron or bronze sign with raised letters at least one inch (1") high shall be rigidly attached to the building adjacent to all Siamese connections and such sign shall read: "Connection to Dry Standpipe."

17380 4. Every Group H occupancy three or more stories in height shall be equipped with one or more interior wet standpipes extending from the cellar or basement into the topmost story.

17380.5. (a) Interior wet standpipes shall be constructed as required for dry standpipes.

(b) Interior wet standpipes shall have an internal diameter sufficient to deliver 50 gallons of water per minute under 30 pounds per square inch pressure at the hose connection, based on the available water supply. Buildings of Groups A and B occupancies shall have wet standpipe systems capable of delivering the required quantity and pressure from any two outlets simultaneously, for all other occupancies only one outlet need be figured to be open at one time. In no case shall the internal diameter of a wet standpipe be less than two inches (2").

Any approved formula which determines pipe sizes on a pressure drop basis may be used to determine pipe sizes for wet standpipe systems. The building official may require delivery and pressure tests on completed wet standpipe systems before approving such systems

(c) Wet standpipes shall be so located that any portion of the building can be reached therefrom with a hose not exceeding seventy-five feet (75') in length

(d) In Group H occupancies the location of all interior wet standpipes shall be approved by the building official.

(e) All interior wet standpipes shall be equipped with a Siamese fire department inlet connection located on the street front of the building and such connection shall have two inlets for buildings five stories or less in height, three inlets for buildings six to ten stories inclusive in height, and four inlets for buildings more than ten stories inclusive in height.

(f) All interior wet standpipes shall be equipped with a one and one-half inch (1½") straightway composition gate-valve in each story including the basement or cellar of the building and located not less than one foot (1') nor more than five feet (5') above the floor.

(g) All hose threads in connection with the installation of such standpipes, including valves and reducing fittings, shall be uniform with that used by the local fire department.

(h) An iron or bronze sign with raised letters at least one inch (1") high shall be rigidly attached to the building adjacent to all Siamese connections and shall read: "Connection to wet Standpipe"

(i) All interior wet standpipes shall be connected to a street water main of not less than four inches (4") in diameter or when the water pressure is insufficient to maintain 30 pounds pressure at the highest hose outlet such standpipe shall be connected to a pressure tank, gravity tank or fire pump. Such supply shall be sufficient to furnish at least 30 pounds pressure at the topmost standpipe outlet

When more than one interior wet standpipe is required in the building, such standpipes shall be connected at their bases or at their tops by pipes of equal size.

(j) Tanks shall have a capacity sufficient to furnish at least 250 gallons per minute for a period of not less than 10 minutes Such tanks shall be located so as to provide not less than 25 pounds pressure at the topmost hose outlet for its entire supply. Discharge pipes from pressure tanks shall extend two inches (2") into and above the bottom of such tanks. All tanks shall be equipped with a manhole, ladder and platform, drain pipe, water and pressure gauges. Every pressure tank shall be tested in place after installation and proved tight at a hydrostatic pressure 50 percent in excess of the working pressure required. Where such tanks are used for domestic purposes the supply pipe for such purposes shall be located at or above the center line of such tanks. Incombustible supports shall be provided for all such supply tanks and not less than a three foot (3') clearance shall be maintained over the top and under the bottom of all pressure tanks

(k) Fire pumps shall have a capacity of not less than 250 gallons per minute with a pressure of not less than 25 pounds at the topmost hose outlet The source of supply for such pumps shall be a street water main of not less than four inch (4") diameter or a well or cistern containing a one-hour supply. Such pumps shall be supplied with an adequate source of owner and shall be automatic in operation

(1) Each hose outlet of all interior wet standpipes shall be supplied with a hose not less than one and one-half inches (1½") in diameter. Such hose shall be equipped with a suitable brass or bronze nozzle and shall be not over seventy-five feet (75') in length. An approved standard form of wall hose reel or rack shall be provided for the hose and shall be located so as to make the hose readily accessible at all times and shall be recessed in the walls or protected by suitable cabinets.

17380.6. Basement pipe inlets shall be installed in the first floor of every store, warehouse or factory where there are cellars or basements under same, except where in such cellars or basements there is installed an automatic sprinkler system as specified in this chapter, or where the cellars or basements are used for banking purposes, safe deposit vaults or similar uses.

All basement pipe inlets shall be of cast iron, steel, brass or bronze with lids of cast brass or bronze and shall consist of a sleeve not less than eight inches (8") in diameter through the floor extending to and flush with the ceiling below and with a top flange, recessed with an inside shoulder, to receive the lid and flush with the finish floor surface. The lid shall be a solid casting and have a ring lift recessed in the top thereof, so as to be flush. The lid shall have the words "Fire Department Only, Do Not Cover Up," cast in the top thereof. The lid shall be installed in such a manner as to permit its removal readily from the inlet.

The location of such basement pipe inlets shall be approved by the Building Official and shall be kept readily accessible at all times to the fire department.

17380.7. All fire extinguishing apparatus, including automatic sprinklers, wet and dry standpipes, automatic chemical extinguishers, basement pipe inlets and the appurtenances thereto shall meet the approval of the chief of the fire department as to installation and location and shall be subject to such periodic tests as he may require.

Article 28. Fire Resistive Standards—General

17385. Building materials, systems, units and forms of construction as regulated by this chapter shall be classified as "four-hour fire-resistive construction," "three-hour fire-resistive construction," "two-hour fire-resistive construction" and "one-hour fire-resistive construction," for fire-resistive purposes and protection. Materials, systems, units and forms of construction, in order to be classed as four-hour, three-hour, two-hour or one-hour fire-resistive construction shall meet the respective requirements for such rating as specified in the A.S.T.M. "Standard Specifications for Fire Tests of Building Construction and Materials," (C19-41).

Any materials, systems, units or forms of construction which meet the requirements of the aforesaid standard specifications shall be accepted as fire-resistive construction of the degree specified, if and when they shall be shown by an authoritative test conducted in accordance with all of the provisions of such aforesaid specifications, to possess such fire resistance.

Brick
Concrete brick, block or tile
Gypsum block or tile
Gypsum (plain or reinforced)
Gypsum plaster board (or lath) and plaster
Gypsum vermiculite plaster
Metal
Metal and asbestos
Metal lath and plaster
Portland cement concrete (plain or reinforced)
Sand-lime brick

17385.2. Plaster fire protection shall be as specified in Article 29 of this chapter.

All concrete, pneumatically placed concrete, gypsum or similar protection for steel or iron structural members which is cast, poured or similarly applied shall be reinforced at the edges of such members in a manner sufficient to prevent cracking and disintegrating of such protection. All such applied fire protection materials shall be reinforced by metal rods, wire or mesh to provide against cracking and disintegrating of the protecting material.

All plaster fire protection shall consist of gypsum mortar, Portland cement mortar or other equally fire-resistive material. Gypsum plaster only shall be used for plastering on gypsum units. When plaster is used for fire protection purposes it shall be reinforced with a metal mesh or lath when the plaster applied to masonry need not be reinforced and when properly bonded shall be considered a part of the required thickness.

Gypsum lath as specified in Article 29 of this chapter shall be three-eighths inch (⅜") in thickness and shall have perforations not less than three-quarters inch (¾") in diameter, distributed over the face of the lath and comprising not less than 2¾ percent of the area of the lath.

Article 29. Fire-Resistive Standards

17390 (a) The thickness of fire-resistive materials for fire protection of structural parts shall be as set forth in the table in subdivision (b) for the respective degree of fire protection shown. The figures shown shall be the net thickness of the protecting materials and shall not include any hollow space or spaces between the fire-protecting materials and the member protected. The thickness of plaster protection shall be measured from the face of the plaster to the plane of the back surface of the metal or wire lath where such lath is used and shall include two-thirds of the thickness of the gypsum plaster board (or lath) where such board (or lath) is used.

Grade A concrete shall mean concrete with a coarse aggregate of limestone, pumice, calcareous pebbles, trap rock, blast furnace slag, burnt clay, burnt shale or other coarse aggregates containing not more than 65 percent of siliceous material, such as granite, sandstone, chert pebbles, flint, or quartz.

Grade B concrete shall mean concrete with a coarse aggregate other than that allowed in Grade A concrete.

Soffit tile protecting beam and girder flanges shall be tied to the flange with steel or iron ties

If the structural part is of iron or steel the thickness given in the table in subdivision (b) shall be measured outside of the extreme edges of the structural shapes, except that projecting edges of lugs and brackets shall be given a minimum protection of one-inch (1") thickness. For reinforced concrete members, the thickness set forth in the table in subdivision (b) shall be outside of the reinforcement. For purposes of design the protection shall not be considered as carrying load except as permitted for columns.

Plaster protection of over one-inch (1") in thickness shall have, in addition to the required mesh or lath, a layer of metal lath, wire or metal mesh embedded not more than three-fourths inch (¾") from the surface and securely tied into the supporting members

Wire of not less than No 10 B. and S. gauge wound or tied around members at not more than a six-inch (6") pitch, or wire or expanded metal mesh shall be placed and well embedded in all concrete, poured gypsum and pneumatically placed concrete protections.

Wire mesh or other forms of metal ties in concrete protections shall be held away from the structural members and embedded in the protection not less than three-fourth inch (¾") from its outer surface at points of minimum thickness. Hollow tile or gypsum block protections shall have iron or steel ties embedded in each horizontal joint, or have outside iron or steel ties over each unit, the diameter of wire to be 0.18 inch, or of equivalent area in ties of other forms. Wire mesh, where used for tying protections, shall weigh not less than one and one-half pounds per square yard Where metal lath or wire mesh is used as a plaster base or tie it shall weigh not less than two and two-tenths pounds per square yard, and shall have two and one-half or more meshes per inch or equivalent.

(b) Minimum protection of structural parts based on time periods for various incombustible insulating materials.

17390.1. (a) Fire-resistive bearing and non-bearing walls and partitions shall be of not less than the thickness and construction specified in this article, to be classed for the respective degrees of protection indicated.

The tabulated thicknesses given in the table in subdivision (b) of this section are minimum and shall not be broken into; provided that where combustible floor or partition members project into solid masonry or concrete walls or partitions the required effective thickness of wall shall be measured from two inches (2″) back along the member from the end in the wall, to the opposite face of the wall. Where such members project into hollow walls and the space between the members and for not less than four inches (4″) above and below them is filled solid with fire-resistive incombustible materials for the full thickness of the wall, or where such hollow walls are constructed of hollow units laid with cells horizontal (side construction) the required thickness shall be measured as specified for solid masonry walls in this paragraph. Where hollow units are laid with cells vertical (end construction) and the hollow spaces are not thus filled, the required effective thickness of walls shall be measured from the ends of members in walls to the opposite face of the wall.

Plaster, in order that it may be considered as adding to the fire resistance of walls and partitions shall be gypsum or portland cement plaster applied to an average thickness of not less than one-half inch (½″). Plaster over one inch (1″) in thickness, as measured to the plaster base, shall have, in addition to the required mesh or lath, a layer of metal lath, wire or metal mesh embedded not more than three-fourths inch (¾″) from the surface and securely tied into the supporting members.

Required fire-resistive plastering or stucco on the outside of exterior masonry walls may be omitted from inaccessible portions of the wall provided the inside plastering opposite the inaccessible portions is doubled in thickness.

Gypsum lath shall comply with provisions of the A.S T.M. "Standard Specifications for Gypsum Lath," (C37-42).

Metal or wire lath shall weigh not less than two and two-tenths pounds per square yard Metal or wire mesh where used as ties in concrete shall weigh not less than one and one-half pounds per square yard. Where used as ties for plaster it shall weigh not less than two and two-tenths pounds per square yard and have not less than two and one-half meshes per inch, or equivalent.

Wood studs for bearing partitions or walls shall be not less than the two inch by four inch (2" x 4") nominal size and be spaced not more than sixteen inches (16") apart.

17390 2. (a) Fire-resistive floor construction shall be accepted for the following respective degrees of fire-resistive protection when constructed as specified in this section

Four-hour, three-hour and two-hour fire-resistive floors as specified in this section shall be constructed entirely of incombustible materials.

(b) Four-hour fire-resistive floor construction shall consist of concrete, gypsum or solid masonry slabs or arches not less than four inches (4") in thickness or shall consist of hollow masonry slabs or arches not less than four inches (4") in thickness with a top covering of not less than two inches (2") of solid masonry, or shall consist of steel joists or steel floors protected with fire-resistive materials of the kind and thickness set forth in the table in subdivision (e). Except in the case of steel-joisted construction, all reinforcing, tie rods and supporting structural members in such floors shall be protected with not less than four-hour fire-resistive construction.

(c) Three-hour fire-resistive floor construction shall consist of concrete, gypsum, or solid masonry slabs or arches not less than three inches (3") in thickness or shall consist of hollow masonry slabs or arches not less than four inches (4") in thickness with a top covering of solid masonry not less than one and one-half inches (1½") in thickness, or shall consist of steel joists or steel floors protected with fire-resistive materials of the kind and thickness set forth in the table in subdivision (e). Except in the case of steel-joisted construction all reinforcing, tie rods and supporting structural members in such floor construction shall be protected with not less than three-hour fire-resistive construction.

(d) Two-hour fire-resistive floor construction shall consist of concrete, gypsum or solid masonry slabs or arches not less than two and one-half inches (2½") in thickness or shall consist of hollow masonry slabs or arches not less than three inches (3") in thickness with a top covering of not less than one inch (1") of solid masonry, or shall consist of steel joists or steel floors protected with fire-resistive materials of the kind and thickness set forth in the table in subdivision (e) Except in the case of steel-joisted construction all reinforcing, tie rods and supporting structural members in such floor construction shall be protected with not less than two-hour fire-resistive construction.

1. Concrete, gypsum or solid masonry slabs or arches not less than two and one-half inches (2½") in thickness.

2. Hollow masonry slabs or arches not less than three inches (3") in thickness with all joints in such hollow unit construction thoroughly filled with cement or gypsum mortar.

3. Steel joists or steel floors protected with fire-resistive materials as set forth in the table in subdivision (e).

(1) The incombustible floor slab may be omitted where no usable space occurs above the joists.

(2) Plaster ceiling may be omitted below floor joists over unusable space.

4 Wood-joisted construction with a double floor on top [the subfloor not less than three-fourths inch (¾") thick and a total thickness of the two layers of not less than one and one-fourth inch (1¼")] and with a ceiling of three-fourths inch (¾") gypsum or Portland cement plaster on metal or wire lath, or gypsum plaster one-half inch (½") thick on three-eighths inch (⅜") perforated gypsum lath with joints reinforced with three-inch (3") strips of metal lath. The ceiling shall be securely fastened to or suspended from the underside of such joists.

(1) The double flooring on top may be omitted where no usable space occurs above the joists. (2) Plaster ceiling may be omitted below the lowest floor joists over unusable space (3) Five-eighths inch (⅝") approved plywood subfloor may be used in lieu of three-fourths inch (¾") solid wood subfloor.

Except in the case of steel-joisted construction, all reinforcing, tie rods and supporting structural members shall be protected with not less than one-hour fire-resistive construction.

Where a ceiling of lath and plaster as approved for one-hour fire-resistive construction as specified in this article is used below slabs or structural members not otherwise required to be protected by such a ceiling, the required thickness of slab and fireproofing of structural members may be reduced one-half inch (½") but in no case shall the slab thickness be less than two inches (2").

(f) Minimum Protection for Steel Floor Systems

1	2	¾	¾	¾	¾	¾	¾

17390 3. (a) Class "A" fire doors shall be installed when required in Sections 17250 and 17250.2(c).

Class "B" fire doors shall be installed when required in Sections 17250.2(c), 17310.6, 17355.4(c), 17355.7(c), and 17355.8(d).

Class "C" fire doors shall be installed when required in Sections 17250.2(c) and 17290.7.

Class "D," "E," and "F" fire doors shall be installed when required in Sections 17290.2, 17310.6, 17311 2, 17311 4, 17316.2, 17355.4(b), 17355.7(c), and 17356(d).

Fire doors and windows are not required in fire-resistive walls or partitions unless specified elsewhere in this chapter.

(b) Fire doors and windows wherever specified in this chapter shall meet the requirements of this section

(c) Openings requiring fire doors or windows shall be classified as follows:

"Class 'A' openings" are openings in three-hour fire-resistive "Special Occupancy Separation."

"Class 'B' openings" are openings in Ordinary Occupancy Separation and in enclosures to vertical shafts

"Class 'C' openings" are in corridor or room partitions.

"Class 'D,' 'E,' and 'F' openings" are in exterior walls which have severe, moderate, or light fire exposure, respectively

(d) Class "A" openings shall be protected by two automatic Class "A" fire doors, one on each side of the opening and interconnected.

Each Class "A" fire door shall have a fire resistance time period of three hours and shall be without glazed openings.

(e) Class "B" openings shall be protected by one automatic or self-closing Class "B" fire door.

A Class "B" fire door shall have a fire resistance time period of one and one-half hours.

Glass panels in a Class "B" fire door shall be limited to one observation panel not exceeding twelve inches (12") in width or height and one hundred square inches (100 sq. in.) in area. Where doors are hung on each jamb of a Class "B" opening, an observation panel may be installed in each of the two doors.

(f) Class "C" openings shall be protected by one self-closing Class "C" fire door.

A Class "C" fire door shall have a fire resistance time period of one hour, except that doors with glass panels larger than one hundred square inches (100 sq. in.) may have a fire resistance time period of 45 minutes.

Individual glass lights in glazed openings shall be limited in area to twelve hundred ninety-six square inches (1296 sq. in.).

(g) Class "D" openings shall be protected by one automatic closing Class "D" fire door.

Class "D" fire doors shall have a fire resistance time period of one and one-half hours and shall have no glazed openings.

(h) Class "E" and "F" openings shall be protected by a Class "E" or "F" fire door or fire window. Self-closing devices shall not be required.

Class "E" and "F" fire doors and fire windows shall have a time period of fire resistance of 45 minutes.

Individual glass lights shall be limited to fifty-four inches (54") in height, forty-eight inches (48") in width, and seven hundred twenty square inches (720 sq. in.) in area.

Class "E" and "F" fire windows shall be limited in area to eighty-four square feet (84 sq. ft.) with neither width nor height exceeding twelve feet (12').

Double hung fire windows shall be not more than six feet (6') wide nor more than twelve feet (12') high.

(i) Glass used in fire doors or fire windows shall be not less than one-fourth inch (¼") thick and shall be reinforced with wire mesh, 24 gauge or heavier, with openings not larger than one inch (1") square.

Glass shall be held in place by metal glazing angles, except that in casement windows, wire clips may be used.

(j) Automatic fire doors shall be designed to close automatically when the temperature of a heat-actuated device reaches 165 degrees F. or 50 degrees above maximum room temperature under normal conditions. Heat-actuated devices shall be installed, one on each side of the wall at the top of the opening and one on each side of the wall at ceiling height where the ceiling is more than three feet (3') above the opening.

Interconnected doors shall be designed so that both doors will close automatically by the action of any of the heat-actuated devices.

Self-closing doors shall be designed to close by gravity or by the action of a mechanical device. Self-closing doors shall have no attachments capable of preventing the operation of the closing devices.

(k) The fire resistance time rating of every type of required fire protection assembly shall be determined in the manner prescribed by the A. S. T. M. "Standard Methods of Fire Tests of Door Assemblies," (C152-41T). A minimum transmitted temperature end point shall not be required.

(l) (1) Every fire door and fire window shall bear the label or other identification of an approved testing agency showing the classification thereof. The following labels of the Underwriters' Laboratories, Inc., shall be approved labels within the meaning of this section.

Label marked "Fire Door for Opening in Fire Wall" shall be approved for Class "A" fire doors.

Label marked "Fire Door for Opening in Vertical Shaft" shall be approved for Class "B" fire doors.

Label marked "Fire Door for Opening in Corridor or Room Partition" shall be approved for Class "C" fire doors.

Label marked "Fire Door for Opening in Exterior Wall" shall be approved for Class "D," "E," and "F" fire doors.

Label marked "Fire Window Frame for Light Exposures" shall be an approved label for fire windows when glazed with wired glass conforming to subdivision (b).

(2) Unlabeled passenger elevator hoistway doors may be installed if the panels are of equivalent fire resistance.

(m) If constructed as specified in "Standard for Tin-Clad Fire Doors and Shutters," published December, 1941, by the Underwriters' Laboratories, Inc., tin-clad fire doors shall be considered as meeting the requirements of this section; provided, each door bears the label of an approved inspection agency showing the classification thereof.

(n) Fire doors and fire windows shall be installed as specified in the N. B. F. U. "Regulations for the Protection of Openings in Walls and Partitions Against Fire," 1939.

17390.4. Fire-resistive roof coverings shall be as specified in Section 17355.3.

Article 30. Heating Appliances

17395. (a) Warm air heating appliances used for house heating shall conform to the following nationally recognized standards, or shall have the approval of the Building Official.

(b) Solid-fuel-burning warm air furnaces designed to circulate air mechanically shall conform to United States Bureau of Standards Commercial Standard CS109-44, "Solid-Fuel-Burning Forced Air Furnaces."

(c) Oil-burning apparatus using commercial fuel oil, furnace oil, diesel oil, or other flammable liquids shall be constructed and installed in compliance with the regulations of the N.B.F.U. "Installation of Oil-Burning Equipments," 1941

Oil-burning floor furnaces equipped with vaporizing pot-type burners shall comply with United States Bureau of Standards Commercial Standard CS133-44, "Oil-Burning Floor Furnaces Equipped with Vaporizing Pot-Type Burners."

Liquid-fuel-burning warm air furnaces designed to operate with mechanical draft shall also conform to United States Bureau of Standards Commercial Standard CS75-42, "Automatic Mechanical-Draft Oil Burners Designed for Domestic Installations."

(d) Every oil burner and every oil-burning furnace, heater, and boiler regulated by this chapter shall bear a permanent name plate on which shall appear in permanent form:

1. The manufacturer's or distributor's name.
2. The manufacturer's hourly b.t.u. output rating of the burner or appliance.
3. The manufacturer's or distributor's number of the appliance.
4. Instructions for the lighting, operation, care, and shut-down of the burner or appliance
5. Grade or fuel oil approved for use in such burner or appliance. (Commercial Standard Grade Number.)
6. Seal of approval of such burner or appliance by a recognized testing laboratory.

(e) Central warm air furnaces designed to burn gaseous fuels shall conform to A.S.A. "Approval Requirements for Central Heating Gas Appliances." (Z21.13-1943). Gas-fired unit heaters shall conform to A.S.A. "Approval Requirements for Gas Unit Heaters," (Z21.16-1940). Gas-fired duct furnaces shall comply with A.S.A. "Approval Requirements for Gas-Fired Duct Furnaces," (Z21.34-1942). Gas floor furnaces shall comply with United States Bureau of Standards Commercial Standard CS99-42, "Gas Floor Furnaces—Gravity Circulating Type."

Permanently installed recessed gas wall heaters shall comply with A.S.A. "Approval Requirements for Gas Space Heaters," (Z21.11-1942)

17395.1. (a) An air supply for combustion shall be provided for every gas burning warm air furnace. Such supply shall be from outside the building into the furnace space through one or more openings The openings shall have a total area of not less than two hundred square inches (200 sq. in.) plus one hundred square inches (100 sq. in.) for each blower-type warm air furnace installed in such room plus two hundred square inches (200 sq. in.) for each gravity-type warm air furnace installed in such room, and in no case shall have a net area of less than one square inch (1 sq. in.) for each 1,000 b.t.u. input rating of all fuel-burning appliances in such room.

No obstruction of any kind shall be placed over the openings except wire netting with openings not less than one-fourth inch (¼") square

(b) Circulating air used for conveying heat and for ventilation may be taken from outside the building, from inside the building, or from both sources. Where such air is taken from inside the building or from both inside and outside the building, it shall be conducted to the furnace in ducts of incombustible material.

No damper shall be placed in any air intake, except that a diverting damper may be placed in a combination fresh-air intake and return air intake so arranged that for all possible positions of the damper the cross-sectional area of the circulating air intake to the furnace is not less than the total cross-sectional area of all hot air outlets.

No circulating air supply inlet for any forced air heating system shall be located closer than ten feet (10') from any fire box or vent opening of any warm air furnace, nor shall such circulating air supply inlet be located where it will pick up any objectionable odors, fumes, or flammable vapors 17395.2 Every warm air furnace burning gas or liquid fuel shall be equipped with an automatic control or controls Such controls shall be arranged to shut off the main fuel supply in the event that the temperature in the warm air pipe exceeds 250 degrees F., within twenty-four inches (24") of the point where the hot air pipe connects to the furnace.

Where a gravity warm air heating system is installed with at least one warm air outlet having an area not less than thirty-five square inches (35 sq. in.) and permanently open and unobstructed, except by an open-faced grill, the automatic control will not be required. Such warm air outlet shall not be subject to control by any manually operated shutter, louver, or damper.

17395.3. (a) Every appliance shall be accessible for inspection, repair, or replacement, and sufficient room shall be available to enable the operator to observe the firebox, burner, and pilot while starting the appliance.

An opening or door not less in size than two feet six inches by six feet three inches (2'6" x 6'3") shall be provided for access to the room or space in which any furnace except a floor or attic furnace is installed.

(b) Every warm air furnace shall be installed in a room or space not less than six feet (6') in width and not less than forty-eight square feet (48 sq. ft.) in area with a ceiling height of not less than seven feet (7'), unless the warm air furnace is designed and approved for installation adjacent to combustible materials and is installed in accordance with the conditions of approval.

17395.4. (a) Every floor of combustible construction under a gas-burning warm air furnace shall be covered with one-fourth inch (¼") of asbestos millboard, or other equivalent fire protective material. The floor protection shall project at least twelve inches (12") beyond all sides of the furnace or to the furnace enclosure The floor covering may be omitted on a wood floor under any gas-burning warm air furnace, if the combustion chamber is not less than twenty-four inches (24") distant from the floor and is separated therefrom by a metal plate or shield.

(b) The top of every warm air gas furnace shall be not less than nine inches (9") from protected combustible material, nor less than eighteen inches (18") from unprotected combustible material. The side walls of such furnace shall be not less than twelve inches (12") from unprotected combustible material, nor less than six inches (6") from protected combustible material. The clearances may be reduced for appliances which are designed and approved for installation adjacent to combustible materials and installed in accordance with the conditions of such approval.

17395.5. Every warm air furnace designed to burn gas for fuel shall be vented into a gas vent as provided for in Section 17375.7, or into a terra cotta chimney as specified in Section 17375.3.

When a chimney with a cross-sectional area over 50 percent larger than the cross-sectional area of the vent connections to the chimney, is used as a vent, the chimney shall contain a gas vent as specified in Section 17375.7 or a terra cotta chimney as specified in Section 17375.3 and such vent or terra cotta chimney shall be used to vent the gas appliance.

No damper shall be installed in any vent, vent connection, or terra cotta chimney to which a gas appliance is vented.

Every unused vent opening shall be securely closed or capped.

(b) The smoke pipe of warm air furnaces designed to burn solid fuel shall be at least eighteen inches (18") from any combustible material, or such combustible material shall be protected by a covering of No 24 U. S. gauge galvanized iron, furred with metal furring not less than one and one-half inches (1½") from such combustible construction, or shall be entirely covered with one-hour fire-resistive construction.

(c) Every such furnace shall be connected to a chimney as specified in Section 17375.1.

The smoke pipe of a heating appliance shall not be connected into the flue of an incinerator which has the rubbish chute identical with the smoke flue.

All unused openings in any chimney, except fireplace openings, shall be closed or capped with noncombustible material.

17395.7. Stoves, furnaces, and other heating or power apparatus in which oil burners are installed, unless specifically regulated by one or more of the national standards listed in Section 17395, shall be constructed and installed as required for similar apparatus using solid fuel.

17395.8. (a) No floor furnace shall be installed in the floor of any aisle or passageway of any room used as a place of public assembly or in any egress from such room

No floor furnace shall be installed where it will extend below the floor into any garage, finished room, or space used for storage of flammable materials or wastes, unless portions of the furnace extending below the floor are entirely encased within a metal enclosure constructed of No. 20 U. S. gauge iron or steel. The enclosure shall be connected with the outside air through metal ducts of sufficient capacity properly to support combustion in such furnace within the enclosure. The metal enclosure shall be made or installed so as to make the furnace accessible for inspection or repair.

(b) The space in which any floor furnace or attic furnace is installed shall be accessible by an opening or trapdoor not less than eighteen by twenty-four inches (18"x24") in any cross-section thereof, and a passageway not less than twenty-four by twenty-four inches (24"x24") in any cross-section thereof. The passageway shall be continuous from the opening or trapdoor to the furnace controls and valves, and the opening to the passageway shall be located not more than twenty feet (20') from the furnace.

17395.9. (a) For gravity systems no leader heat pipes shall be over twenty feet (20′) in length measured horizontally, except where a booster fan is installed when the length shall not exceed forty feet (40′). All heat pipes under first floor joists shall have a uniform rise of at least one inch (1″) per lineal foot of horizontal run.

(b) Warm air pipes and appurtenances serving first floor rooms shall have a minimum cross-sectional area in square inches of not less than the cubic foot capacity of the room or rooms in which registers are located, divided by 40; provided, that no leader pipe shall have a net area of less than fifty square inches (50 sq. in.). Risers and appurtenances serving floors above the first floor shall have a net area of not less than two-thirds that required to serve the first floor.

(c) Ducts shall be of incombustible material equivalent in structural strength and durability to galvanized sheet iron or steel of the thickness set forth in the table herein. Wired glass may be used for inspection windows in ducts.

Thickness of Metal for Air Ducts

Round ducts diameter (in inches)	Rectangular ducts maximum side (in inches)	Minimum thickness U. S. gauge
Up to 18	Up to 12	26
19 to 30	13 to 30	24
31 to 45	31 to 60	22
46 to 60	61 to 90	20
61 and above	91 and above	18

(d) Ducts may be of independent construction or may be formed by parts of the building structure if they conform to the requirements of this section. Duct walls may be of lath and plaster as approved for one-hour fire-resistive construction.

(e) Registers shall be located in or near the wall of the room nearest the furnace. No register shall be located in outside walls unless the weather side is covered with air-cell asbestos paper.

Where double registers are supplied by one leader pipe, each register shall have a capacity of not less than two-thirds the area of the leader pipe.

(f) Ninety-degree bends in round pipe shall be made by not less than four-piece elbows. Sixty-degree bends shall be made by means of not less than three-piece elbows.

All warm air pipes and fittings, cold air or recirculating pipes, ducts, boxes, and fittings shall be made of bright tin or galvanized iron. All such appurtenances, except leader heat pipes under the first floor, shall be covered with two thicknesses of asbestos paper weighing at least eight pounds to one hundred square feet (100 sq ft.) or with air-cell asbestos insulation, or shall be double walled with a one-fourth-inch (¼″) space between the inner and outer walls. Horizontal warm air pipes shall be kept at least three inches (3″) from any combustible material or shall be protected with an asbestos shield and a one-inch (1″) air space. Air-cell asbestos paper not less than one-fourth inch (¼″) in thickness shall be securely cemented around all leader pipes.

(g) All riser pipes shall be held in place by means of metal strips securely fastened to the pipe and shall in no case be held in place by nailing diagonally through the corners of such pipe. No joint shall depend wholly upon solder to make it tight. All leader pipes shall be securely fastened in place by means of wires or metal strips.

(h) In the installation of Y-runs or branch runs, the cross-sectional area of the warm air pipe at the furnace shall equal in square inches the cubic contents of all the rooms served by such warm air pipe divided by 40. Sizes of branch runs shall be determined in the same manner on the basis of the room or rooms served. Branches from trunk lines shall be taken off in a generally horizontal plane at an angle not more than 45 degrees from the line of the pipe. Fifteen-degree Y-branches may be permitted in forced draft systems. Riser pipes shall not be taken off the top of the first floor register boxes.

(i) Where warm air pipes and appurtenances are to be installed in a building, the joists and studs shall be so arranged as to provide not less than fourteen inches (14″) clear space in continuous horizontal runs and vertical risers from the furnace to the register served.

(j) Air filters shall be of a type that will not burn freely or emit large volumes of smoke or other objectionable products of combustion when attacked by flames. Liquid adhesive coatings used on filters shall have a flash point of 350 degrees F., Cleveland open cup tester, or higher.

17396. (a) Combustible partitions or walls within six inches (6") of any ordinary domestic water heater and within three inches (3") of any approved domestic automatic storage water heater shall be protected by one-fourth inch (¼") of asbestos, covered with a No. 26 gauge metal covering, or shall have not less than one-hour fire-resistive protection.

(b) No water heater shall be installed in any room used or designed to be used as a bathroom or closet or for sleeping purposes. Any compartment less than twenty-five square feet (25 sq ft.) in area in which a water heater is to be installed shall have at least one side open and unobstructed.

(c) All gas-fired water heaters shall be connected to a gas vent as provided for in Section 17375.7.

17396.1. (a) Ranges used for commercial cooking, such as in school cafeterias, hotels, restaurants, churches, and other establishments doing large-volume cooking, shall be supported at least six inches (6") above any wood floor and if less than twelve inches (12") above the floor the wood shall be protected by a metal shield. Such ranges shall be separated from wood partitions or other combustible material by not less than six inches (6"), and if nearer than twelve inches (12") the combustible material shall be protected with a metal or asbestos shield. The distance from any such range to a wood ceiling or other combustible material above shall not be less than twelve inches (12"), and if less than three feet (3') the ceiling or combustible material above shall be protected with a double metal shield with one inch (1") air space between or with lath and plaster as approved for one-hour fire-resistive construction.

(b) Ranges used for commercial cooking shall be provided with a ventilating hood and duct to take off smoke, gases, and vapors. The ducts shall be separate from any other ventilating system, provided, however, that a single flue may serve one or more hoods.

Hoods provided for commercial ranges shall be constructed of metal or masonry and if of metal shall be not less than No. 22 gauge thickness galvanized iron, or other equivalent corrosion resistant material.

Every ventilating hood shall be provided with a grease trough extending around the entire inside perimeter of the hood draining to a grease container outside the hood.

(c) Flues or ducts for any ventilating hood shall be constructed of metal or masonry, and if of metal shall have not less than the thickness set forth in the following table:

Duct Thickness

Maximum width or diameter of duct (in inches)	Minimum thickness of metal (U.S. Standard Gauge)
12	24
20	22
30	20
48	18
over 48	16

The face of any square or rectangular metal duct which is more than thirty-six inches (36") in its greatest width shall have a standing seam at every lateral joint and at intervals not exceeding four feet (4').

Every duct shall be so constructed that grease or other material cannot become pocketed in any portion thereof.

A sufficient number of cleanout openings shall be provided in every duct to permit cleaning all portions of the interior of such duct system. All such openings shall be provided with tight-fitting metal doors.

All seams in any hood or duct shall be grease tight. Solder shall not be used for the purpose of making joints or seams grease tight.

Every hood and duct shall be securely attached to the building by means of non-flammable supports.

(d) All combustible materials within eighteen inches (18") of any metal hood or duct shall be covered with a one-fourth inch (¼") thickness of asbestos covered with sheet metal or other equivalent insulation.

All combustible materials within nine inches (9") of any metal hood or duct shall be covered with lath and plaster as approved for one-hour fire-resistive construction or other equivalent insulation.

Every hood or duct shall be at least four inches (4") from any combustible material.

17396.2. (a) All stoves used for heating, cooking, or laundry purposes using solid or liquid fuel shall have all combustible partitions in back of and extending not less than twelve inches (12") beyond each side of such stove protected by not less than one-hour fire-resistive construction. Such stoves shall be securely supported at least twelve inches (12") above any wood floors by metal supports and there shall be a metal and asbestos pad at least three-eighths inch (⅜") thick below such stove extending at least six inches (6") beyond each side and at least twelve inches (12") in front of such stove. Such stoves shall not be placed nearer than six inches (6") to any combustible partition.

Stoves and ranges using solid or liquid fuel shall be separated from unprotected combustible material by not less than three feet (3'); shall be separated from wood lath and plaster by not less than eighteen inches (18"); and shall be separated from incombustible lath and plaster on wood studs by not not less than twelve inches (12"). Such separations may be reduced 50 percent if a sheet-metal shield is used, set out at least one inch (1") from the partition and extending three feet (3') above the top and one foot (1') below the sides of the stove or range.

(b) All such stoves shall be connected by a smoke pipe conforming to the requirements of Section 17375.5 or to a chimney meeting the requirements of Section 17375.1.

17396.3. (a) Steam heating plants, for not more than 15 pounds pressure and water heaters using solid or liquid fuel, shall rest upon masonry or concrete floors and shall be protected on the outside by asbestos. The clearance of wooden partitions, ceilings, and other combustible materials shall be the same as given for warm air furnaces.

(b) An air supply for combustion shall be supplied for all low pressure steam heating plants. The air supply shall be from outside the building into the space in which the boiler is installed through two or more openings. The openings shall have a net area of not less than two hundred square inches (200 sq. in.) plus not less than one hundred square inches (100 sq. in.) for each 100,000 B.t.u. or fraction thereof in excess of 100,000 B.t.u. of the approved fuel input rating for such boiler.

17396.4. (a) Large boilers for power or steam purposes or for generating high pressure steam shall be so located that no wood or other combustible material shall be less than five feet (5') from the top or sides or ten feet (10') from the front of such apparatus and all combustible material less than ten feet (10') from the top or sides or less than twenty feet (20') from the front shall be protected with at least four inches (4") of concrete, brick, or other similar incombustible material. No boiler shall be so located as to cause the temperature of any adjoining combustible portion of any building to exceed 120 degrees F. above the ambient temperature at any time such boiler is in operation at its approved B.t.u. ratings. Steel, cast iron or concrete columns adjacent to such boilers shall not be in direct contact with furnace settings but there shall be an open and unobstructed space at least four inches (4") wide for ventilation.

(b) An air supply for combustion shall be supplied for all large boilers. Such air supply shall meet the requirements specified in Section 17396.3 for air supply for low pressure boilers.

SEC. 8. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure for the immediate preservation of public peace, health and safety within the meaning of Section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution and shall go into effect immediately. A statement of facts constituting such necessity is as follows:

The present State Housing Act has not been materially changed since 1923, and has, therefore, in many important details become obsolete. The present provisions of the act permit construction practices which have contributed to the huge toll in recent fire disasters in other states. Immediate legislation is, therefore, needed to secure the protection considered adequate by modern standards of fire prevention and housing construction. In addition, the present State Housing Act also discourages the erection of new multiple housing units for veterans' use. The incorporation of the modern construction requirements of the Uniform Building Code is a speedy solution of these problems, pending thorough study and recommendations by the Division of Housing."

"SEC. 2. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health or safety within the meaning of Section 1 of Article 4 of the Constitution and shall therefore go into immediate effect. A statement of the facts constituting such necessity is as follows:

Veterans are disqualified from receiving unemployment compensation disability benefits under the present language of Section 57.7. Veterans are entitled to receive readjustment allowances from the Federal Government if they are unemployed, able and available for work at the time of their application for such benefits. However, they are not eligible for benefits if disabled and not available for work upon making application therefor. In order to alleviate the hardship and suffering caused by a denial of such benefits it is necessary that the present law be amended to provide that disability benefits be paid to eligible veterans based upon their wage credits previously accumulated."

Amendment No. 5

On page 1 of the printed bill, strike out lines 3 to 23, both inclusive; and on page 2, strike out lines 1 to 36, both inclusive, and insert

"10340. There shall be a standard provision relative to the time within which payments other than those for loss of time on account of disability shall be made. Such provision shall be in either of the following two forms and may be omitted from any policy providing only indemnity for loss of time on account of disability. The insurer shall insert in the blank space either the word "immediately" or appropriate language to designate such period of time, not more than 60 days, as it desires. Form (A) shall be used in policies which do not provide indemnity for loss of time on account of disability and form (B) in policies which do so provide and in all schedule type policies.

(A) 9. All indemnities provided in this policy will be paid _____ after receipt of due proof.

(B) 9. All indemnities provided in this policy for loss other than that of time on account of disability will be paid _____ after receipt of due proof.

If any such policy provides that payment of indemnity for loss of life shall be deferred or made in instalments, payment, within the meaning of either form (A) or (B), shall be commencement of payment of the instalments or of the accrual of interest.

SEC. 2. Section 10342 of the Insurance Code is amended to read:

10342. There shall be a standard provision relative to indemnity payments which shall be in either of the two following forms. Form (A) shall be used in policies which designate a beneficiary and in all schedule type policies, and form (B) in policies which do not designate any beneficiary other than the insured:

(A) 11. Indemnity for loss of life of the insured is payable to the beneficiary if surviving the insured, and otherwise to the estate of the insured. All other indemnities of this policy are payable to the insured.

(B) 11. All the indemnities of this policy are payable to the insured.

The provisions of this section shall not be deemed to prohibit the inclusion in a policy of disability insurance of a provision for payment of the indemnity, or any part thereof, for loss of life of the insured to successor beneficiaries

(a) in the event any beneficiary should not survive the insured, or

(b) in the event any beneficiary should survive the insured but not live to receive payment of such indemnity.

SEC. 3. Sections 10375 and 10376 are added to the Insurance Code, to read:

10375. Indemnity under a disability policy for loss of life of the insured may be made payable upon such terms and conditions and subject to such restrictions as to revocation by the policyholder and control by beneficiaries as shall have been agreed to in writing by the insurer and the policyholder. If no terms and conditions have been agreed to by the insurer and the policyholder during the insured's lifetime, then upon such terms and conditions and subject to such restrictions as may be agreed to in writing by the insurer and the beneficiaries No such agreement hereafter made shall vest in the insurer discretion as to the conditions, time, amount, manner or method of payment. The relationship between the insurer and the policyholder or beneficiaries under any such agreement shall be that of debtor and creditor and the insurer shall not be required to segregate funds so held but shall hold them as a part of its general corporate assets

10376. Any disability policy providing indemnity for loss of life, or other agreement relating to the holding or payment of such indemnity, may provide that such indemnity or payments thereunder shall not be subject to transfer, anticipation or commutation or encumbrance by any beneficiary, and shall not be subject to the claims of creditors of any beneficiary or any legal process against any beneficiary."

Amendment No. 3

On page 1 of said bill, strike out lines 1 to 22, inclusive; and on page 2, strike out lines 1 to 26, inclusive, and insert

"SECTION 1. Section 3066 is added to the Penal Code, to read:

3066. No creditor of a person who has been granted probation or paroled after conviction of crime, shall, during the time the person remains on probation or parole, communicate with the probationer or parolee at his place of employment or with the employer of said probationer or parolee unless the creditor has first requested and received the written consent of the parole officer or probation officer having supervision over the parolee or probationer so to do. A separate consent is required for each communication

A parole officer or probation officer may refuse his consent if he has reason to believe either of the following:

(a) That communication by the creditor with the parolee or probationer or with the employer of said parolee or probationer would tend to hamper or prevent the parolee or probationer from successfully completing his probation or parole.

(b) That communication by the creditor with the parolee or probationer or with the employer of said parolee or probationer would not materially assist the creditor to recover the money which the creditor has a right to receive from the parolee or probationer

Any creditor whose request for consent of a parole officer or probation officer to communicate with the parolee or probationer or with the employer of said parolee or probationer is refused or not granted for a period of thirty (30) days may petition to the superior court of the county in which the parolee or probationer is living for an order directing the parole officer or probation officer to give his consent to communication by the creditor with the parolee or probationer at his place of employment or with the employer of the parolee or probationer as the case may be

Any creditor of a parolee or probationer knowingly violating this section is guilty of a misdemeanor and subject to a fine of not to exceed one hundred dollars ($100). In addition to the fine of not exceeding one hundred dollars ($100), if any creditor violating any of the provisions of this section is a licensee of the State of California, the department of the State regulating the class of business authorized by the license may, after a hearing in accordance with its rules and regulations, suspend the creditor's license or certificate of authority to do business; provided, however, that in the case of an insurance company creditor violating the provisions of this section any suspension of the insurer's certificate of authority shall be confined to the class of insurance in respect to which the violation occurred."

Consideration of Committee Amendments

The following amendments were proposed by the Committee on Judiciary:

Amendment No. 1

On page 2 of the printed bill, as amended in the Assembly on March 21, 1947, between lines 15 and 16, insert

"SEC. 3.5. This act does not apply to a "joint control transaction."

As used in this section, "joint control transaction" means any transaction in which money or other property is paid to, deposited with, or transferred to a "joint control agent" for disbursal or use in payment of the cost of labor, materials, services, permits, fees or other items of expense incurred in the construction of improvements upon real property."

Amendment No. 2

"An act to add Section 6604 to the Welfare and Institutions Code, relating to and providing for temporary emergency admission and observation of mentally ill or mentally disordered persons in county or state hospitals.

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Section 6604 is added to the Welfare and Institutions Code, to read:

6604. When any person becomes so mentally ill or mentally disordered as to require immediate emergency apprehension, supervision, treatment, care or restraint and when no relative, friend or other person is willing to make and file the petition provided for in Section 5047 of this code, such mentally ill or mentally disordered person may be placed in the county psychopathic hospital or in the receiving ward of any state hospital by any peace officer or health officer of the county. The superintendent of such hospital shall receive such patient for observation and diagnosis and may detain him for a period not to exceed five days.

If within five days after the admission of such patient the superintendent shall be of the opinion

(a) That the patient does not require further observation or detention, the superintendent shall discharge the patient;

(b) That the patient would benefit by further observation in such hospital the superintendent shall certify such opinion to the superior court, and the court may order that such patient may be detained for a further period not to exceed five days;

(c) That the patient requires further care and treatment as a mentally ill or mentally disordered person, the superintendent shall forthwith cause the patient to be removed or to be duly admitted to a proper institution in accordance with the provisions of law pertaining thereto.

The cost necessarily incurred under the provisions of this section shall be paid in accordance with the provisions of Section 5150 and 5151 of this code.

Any public officer, employee or physician who either admits, causes to be admitted, delivers, or assists in delivering, detains, cares for or treats a person pursuant to this section shall not be rendered liable thereby either civilly or criminally."

(a) That unlawful acts have, or a breach of any contract not contrary to public policy has, been threatened or committed and that such acts or breach will be executed or continued unless restrained;

(b) That substantial and irreparable injury to complainant's property will follow unless the relief requested is granted;

(c) That as to each item of relief granted greater injury will be inflicted upon complainant by the denial thereof than will be inflicted upon defendants by the granting thereof;

(d) That complainant has no adequate remedy at law;

(e) That the public officers charged with the duty to protect complainant's property have failed or are unable to furnish adequate protection; and

(f) That no item of relief granted prohibits directly or indirectly any person or persons from doing, whether singly or in concert, any of the acts set forth in sub-sections (a) to (p) inclusive in Section 4 of this act"

Amendment No. 11

On page 4 of said bill, strike out lines 29 to 51, inclusive, and insert

"SEC. 8. The court shall give the trial or hearing of any suits or proceedings arising under this section precedence over all other civil suits. Hearings shall be held only after a verified complaint specifying the time, place and nature of the acts complained of and the names of the persons allegedly committing them, is filed and after due notice has been given to all parties against whom relief is sought and to all parties charged with the duty to protect plaintiff's property. Hearings shall be held in open court with opportunity for cross-examination and no affidavits will be received in support of the allegations of the complaint. If, however, complainant alleges that irreparable injury will result unless a temporary injunction is granted before such hearing, a five day temporary injunction may be granted after 48 hours of service of order to show cause upon party to be restrained, upon sworn testimony sufficient to justify the court in granting such injunction after regular hearing. If hearings commence within the five days, such temporary injunction may be continued until a determination of the issues

The court, upon request of any party to the proceedings and upon his filing the usual bond for costs, must certify to the appropriate appellate court the record of the case for review. Amendment No. 2

On page 1 of the printed bill, strike out lines 1 to 12, inclusive, and insert

"SECTION 1. Section 1011 of the Fish and Game Code is amended to read:

1011. The Commission shall prepare suitable licenses entitling the holder thereof to can, cure, preserve, or pack fish, to manufacture fish meal, fish oil and other products from fish, and to deal in fish, mollusks, [and] or crustaceans [by wholesale], subject to the provisions of this code, or the regulations prescribed thereunder, for a term of one year from July 1st to June 30th, or, if issued after the beginning of such term, for the remainder thereof.

SEC. 2. Section 1013 of said code is amended to read.

1013. Every person operating under a license as provided in this article and every person dealing in fresh fish, mollusks, or crustaceans shall keep a book or books in which shall be entered a full and correct record, in the English language, of all fresh fish, mollusks, or crustaceans purchased or received by him from fishermen or taken by himself, giving the names of the different species, the number of pounds so received or caught of each different species, and the name and address of the person from whom such fish, mollusks, or crustaceans were received. Said books shall be open at all times for inspection by the commission.

SEC. 3. Section 1014 of said code is amended to read:

1014. Every person operating under a license as provided in this article, and every person dealing in fish, mollusks, or crustaceans who receives fish, mollusks, or crustaceans from fishermen, shall issue signed receipts to the fishermen from whom fish, mollusks, or crustaceans are received, stating the date of issuance, the name of the fisherman to whom issued, number of the boat, the weight in pounds of each species of fish, mollusks, or crustaceans received, and the price per pound paid to the fisherman. A duplicate manifold copy of this receipt shall be kept on file by the dealer issuing the same for a period of six months, and shall be available for inspection at any time within six months, upon demand of the commission, and a triplicate copy shall be furnished to the commission.

SEC. 4. Section 1015 of said code is amended to read:

1015. [Except as otherwise provided herein, every] Every person operating under a license as provided in this article shall, in addition to the license fee, pay a privilege tax of two and one-half cents ($0.02½) for each hundred pounds, or fraction thereof, of fish, mollusks, or crustaceans other than salmon, purchased, received or taken by him. Persons who receive salmon from fishermen shall, in addition to any other license fee imposed by this code, pay a privilege tax of one-half cent (½¢) per pound based on the weight of the salmon in the round. [Fish, excepting salmon, and excepting mollusks and crustaceans, so taken or received, which are utilized for human consumption in a fresh state, shall not be subject to a privilege tax. All money received from the privilege tax on receiving salmon shall be used only for salmon hatcheries for the propagation of salmon.]

SEC. 5. Section 1017 of said code is amended to read:

1017. Any person operating under a license as provided in this article shall report monthly to the commission, showing the total amount of fresh fish, mollusks, or crustaceans in pounds, purchased, received or taken by him [for purposes other than human consumption in a fresh state, and of mollusks and crustaceans purchased, received, or taken by him] during the preceding month [, whether they are used fresh or otherwise] .

SEC. 6. Section 1018 of said code is amended to read:

1018. Blanks for the report required by Section 1017 of this code shall be furnished by the commission, and such report shall be rendered to the commission not later than 15 days after the end of each month. Said reports shall be accompanied by an affidavit by the person or on behalf of the firm purchasing, taking or receiving such fish , mollusks, or crustaceans, to the effect that said report is true and correct."

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR

STATE OF CALIFORNIA
GOVERNOR'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO, May 1, 1947

To the Assembly of the State of California
Sacramento, California

GENTLEMEN: I am transmitting to you herewith a copy of a message with reference to Assembly Bill No 781 entitled "An act to amend Sections 14.2, 15, 16, 16.1, 16.2, and 19 6 of the Fish and Game Code, relating to the general regulatory powers of the Fish and Game Commission."

This bill, with my message relative thereto, I (through my Legislative Secretary) delivered to Arthur A. Ohnimus, Chief Clerk of the Assembly, at 6 o'clock p.m., on the thirtieth day of April, 1947, at which time your honorable body had adjourned for the day but not for the session.

Respectfully submitted.

EARL WARREN, Governor

STATE OF CALIFORNIA
GOVERNOR'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO, April 30, 1947

To the Honorable Members of the Assembly
State of California
Sacramento, California

GREETINGS: I am returning herewith, without my signature,

Assembly Bill No. 781, entitled: "An act to amend Sections 14.2, 15, 16, 16.1, 16.2, and 19.6 of the Fish and Game Code, relating to the general regulatory powers of the Fish and Game Commission."

My objections to this bill are as follows:

This bill and Senate Bill No. 679 are identical in all respects. Both bills were before me for consideration at the same time. By agreement with the first author on each bill I have signed Senate Bill No. 679 and am vetoing this bill solely for the purpose of avoiding duplicate statutes.

Respectfully submitted.

EARL WARREN, Governor

GOVERNOR'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO, April 30, 1947

I acknowledge receipt this thirtieth day of April, 1947, at 6 o'clock p.m. of Assembly Bill No. 781 without the Governor's signature, together with a statement of his objections thereto signed by the Governor, delivered to me personally by Beach Vasey, Legislative Secretary to the Governor.

ARTHUR A. OHNIMUS, Chief Clerk of the Assembly

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolution was offered:

House Resolution No. 166

Relative to creating an Assembly Interim Investigating Committee on Crime Prevention and Correction

WHEREAS, The Assembly is aware of the increasing extent of the problems involving crime prevention and control, and the correction, supervision, and treatment of offenders; the acute seriousness of such problems to the welfare of this State; and the necessity that all pertinent facts bearing upon such subjects be found, assembled, and analyzed to the end that the Legislature of California may be enabled to act advisedly and judiciously in the premises for the best interests of California in the consideration and enactment of legislation; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California,

1. The Assembly Committee on Crime Prevention and Correction is hereby created, appointed, authorized and directed to ascertain, study and analyze all facts relating to the problems of juvenile delinquency, crime prevention and control, the rehabilitation, correction, supervision, and treatment of offenders, existing or proposed instrumentalities or facilities therefor, and any and all matters directly or indirectly pertaining to or affected by these problems, and all matters incidental thereto, including but not limited to the operation, effect, administration, enforcement, and needed revision of any and all laws in any way bearing upon or relating to the subject of this resolution, and to report its recommendations for appropriate legislation.

2. The committee shall consist of seven Members of the Assembly appointed by the Speaker thereof The Speaker shall appoint the chairman. Vacancies occurring or existing in the membership of the committee shall be filled by the appointing power.

3. The committee is authorized to act during this session of the Legislature, including any recess, and after final adjournment until the commencement of the next regular session, with authority to file its final report not later than the fifteenth legislative day of the next regular session.

4. The committee and its members shall have and exercise all of the rights, duties and powers conferred upon investigating committees and their members by the provisions of the Joint Rules of the Senate and Assembly and of the Standing Rules of the Assembly as they are adopted and amended from time to time, which provisions are incorporated herein and made applicable to this committee and its members.

5. The committee has the following additional powers and duties:

(a) To select a vice chairman from its membership.

(b) To cooperate with and secure the cooperation of county, city, city and county, and other local law enforcement agencies in investigating any matter within the scope of this resolution and to direct the sheriff of any county to serve subpenas, orders and other process issued by the committee.

(c) To report its findings and recommendations to the Legislature and to the people from time to time and at any time, not later than herein provided.

(d) To do any and all other things necessary or convenient to enable it fully and adequately to exercise its powers, perform its duties, and accomplish the objects and purposes of this resolution.

(e) To meet at the State Capitol or at any other place in this State or within the United States.

6 The sum of ten thousand dollars ($10,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby made available from the Contingent Fund of the Assembly for the expenses of the committee and its members and for any charges, expenses or claims it may incur under this resolution, to be paid from the said Contingent Fund of the Assembly and disbursed, after certification by the chairman of the committee, upon warrants drawn by the State Controller upon the State Treasurer.

Resolution read, and referred to the Committee on Rules.

NOTICE OF MOTION TO RECONSIDER CONTINUED

CONSIDERATION OF SPECIAL ORDER

The hour having arrived, Senate Bill No. 342 was taken up.

Senate Bill No. 342—An act to amend Section 1135 of the Labor Code, relating to hot cargo and secondary boycotts, making the provisions thereof permanent, and declaring state policy in regard thereto.

Bill read third time.

Motion to Amend

Mr. George D. Collins moved the adoption of the following amendments:

Amendment No. 1

In the title of the printed bill, as amended in the Senate on March 17, 1947, strike out "Section 1135", and insert "Sections 1134 and 1135".

Amendment No. 2

On page 1 of said bill, strike out line 14, and insert

"SECTION 1. Sections 1134 and 1135 of the Labor Code are repealed."

Amendments read.

Point of Order

Mr. Clarke arose to the following point of order: That Mr. George D. Collins is not speaking on the amendments.

Ruling by Speaker

Speaker Collins ruled the point of order well taken.

The question being on the adoption of the amendments offered by Mr. George D. Collins.

Motion to Table

Mr. Clarke moved that the amendments offered by Mr. George D. Collins to Senate Bill No. 342 be laid on the table.

Mr. Thurman seconded the motion.

The roll was called, and the motion carried by the following vote:

AYES—Blosser, Boyd, Brown, Burke, Butters, Clarke, Collier, Conrad, Cramer, M. Philip Davis, Dolwig, Erwin, Field, Gannon, Geddes, Grant, Grunsky, Hahn, Hinckley, Hinton, Huyck, James, Johnson, Kirkwood, Knight, Loomis, Luckel, McCollister, Niehouse, Price, Robertson, Sherwin, Silliman, Stanley, Stephenson, Stewart, Thompson, Thorp, Thurman, Waters, Weber, Wollenberg, and Mr. Speaker—43.

Explanation of Vote

I voted "NO" on the previous question on Senate Bill No. 342 because I felt that a measure that was of such importance to the people, and which is of doubtful constitutionality deserved at least as much time for consideration as a previous bill, Assembly Bill No. 615, relative to the taking of grunions.

FRANCIS DUNN, JR.

The question being on the passage of Senate Bill No. 342

The roll was called, and the bill passed by the following vote:

AYES—Beck, Blosser, Boyd, Brown, Burke, Butters, Clarke, Collier, Conrad, Cooke, Cramer, Crichton, M. Philip Davis, Ralph C. Dills, Dolwig, Erwin, Field, Gannon, Geddes, Grant, Grunsky, Hahn, Hinckley, Hinton, Huyck, James, Johnson, Kirkwood, Knight, Loomis, Lowrey, Luckel, McCollister, Niehouse, Price, Robertson, Sherwin, Silliman, Stanley, Stephenson, Stewart, Thompson, Thorp, Thurman, Waters, Weber, Wollenberg, and Mr. Speaker—48.

NOES—Allen, Anderson, Bennett, Berry, Brady, Caldecott, Carey, George D. Collins, Crowley, Dickey, Clayton A. Dills, Doyle, Dunn, Elliott, Evans, Fletcher, Gaffney, Hawkins, Hollibaugh, Kilpatrick, Lyons, Maloney, McMillan, Miller, O'Day, Rosenthal, Sheridan, and Thomas—28.

Bill ordered transmitted to the Senate.

Explanation of Vote on Senate Bill No. 342

I voted "No" because the continuation of this statute definitely abrogates the natural and fundamental right to refrain from work, thereby involving the police powers of the State to enforce involuntary servitude.

The act itself admittedly asked only a suspension of this right in face of national emergency and subsequent war and only for the duration. The people so concurred

I believe the unconstitutionality of the act will be so decreed by the California and United States Supreme Courts.

Signed. EDWARD M. GAFFNEY

MOTION TO PRINT LIST IN JOURNAL

Mr. Fletcher moved that the list, being kept by the Speaker, of the members who wished to speak on the passage of Senate Bill No. 342, but who were prevented from doing so because the demand for the previous question was sustained, be printed in the Journal.

Mr. Rosenthal seconded the motion.

Motion carried.

List of Members Asking to Speak Upon the Passage of Senate Bill No. 342

Messrs. Thurman, Gaffney, Dunn, Gannon, Cramer, Rosenthal, and Fletcher.

RECESS

At 11.30 a.m., on motion of Mr. Dickey, the Assembly recessed until 11.40 a.m.

REASSEMBLED

At 11.40 a.m., the Assembly reconvened.

Hon. Thomas A. Maloney, Speaker pro Tempore of the Assembly, presiding.

Chief Clerk Arthur A. Ohnimus at the desk.

Recommendation of the Governor

In accordance with Article IV, Section 34, of the Constitution, the Governor presented the following communication recommending the passage of Assembly Bill No. 1455:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA
GOVERNOR'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO, April 30, 1947

To the Honorable Members of the Assembly
Sacramento, California

GENTLEMEN:

Assembly Bill No. 1455—"An act to add Section 8.5 to an act entitled 'An act to provide for the acquisition of temporary and emergency housing facilities for veterans and families of servicemen by joint action of the State and local agencies, providing for the operation of such facilities, making an appropriation, and declaring the urgency thereof, to take effect immediately,' approved February 15, 1946, relating to the completion of facilities remaining uncompleted by reason of cessation of work by the Federal Government pursuant to contracts for such work, making an appropriation and providing for the allocation thereof, declaring the urgency of this act, to take effect immediately," in my opinion constitutes an emergency bill within the meaning of that term as used in Section 34 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California, the consideration of which should not await the final enactment of the Budget Bill.

I therefore recommend consideration of Assembly Bill No. 1455 as an emergency measure.

Respectfully submitted.

EARL WARREN, Governor

PREPARED REMARKS OF MR. ROSENTHAL RELATIVE TO SENATE BILL NO. 342

Arguments Re Senate Bill No. 342

Senate Bill 342 (Hatfield)—amended in the Senate, March 17—and Assembly Bill No. 1152 (Clarke) would make permanent the "Hot Cargo" Law.

The "Hot Cargo" is in effect a secondary boycott, and is a legitimate weapon of the trade union movement. The use of the secondary boycott permits one group of workers to come to the aid of their fellow-workers, and enactment of this bill would deny to workers the right to maintain their community of interest.

The right of workers to maintain this community of interest has been upheld by the courts. Chief Justice William Howard Taft, of the United States Supreme Court, and former President of the United States, said: "The strike becomes a lawful and economic struggle, or competition between employer and employees as to the share or division between them of the joint product of capital and labor. To render this combination (a labor union) at all effective, employees must make their combination extend beyond one shop." (American Steel Foundries v. Tri-City Central Trades Council, 257 U. S. 184, 209; 42 S. Ct. 72, 78.)

One of the principal rights of a union—to publicize its dispute with an employer—is involved in this legislation. In actuality, this is the exercise of free speech. The injunctive provision of the "Hot Cargo" Act is a threat to the right of free speech and the right of labor organizations to publicize a dispute.

The Missouri Supreme Court, in 1901, stated: "Wherever the authority of injunction begins, there the right of free speech, free writing, or free publication ends. No half-way house stands on the highway between absolute prevention and absolute freedom. The rights established in Section 14 can neither be impaired by the Legislature nor hampered nor denied by the courts * * *

"If these defendants are not permitted to tell the story of their wrongs, or if you please, their supposed wrongs, by word of mouth or with pen or print, and to endeavor to persuade others to aid them by all peaceable means in securing redress of such wrongs, what becomes of free speech and what of personal liberty? The fact that in exercising that freedom they thereby do plaintiff an actionable injury, such fact does not go a hair toward a dimunition of their right of free speech, etc., for the exercise of which, if resulting in such injury, the Constitution makes them expressly responsible. But such responsibility is utterly incompatible with authority in a court of equity to prevent such responsibility from occurring." (Marx and Hass, Jeans Clothing v. Watson, Missouri Supreme Court, 168 Mo. 133 (1901).)

In Thornhill vs. Alabama, 310 U. S. 88, 103, the United States Supreme Court said: "Free discussion concerning the conditions in industry and the causes of labor disputes appear to us indispensable to the effective and intelligent use of the processes of popular government to shape the destiny of modern industrial society. * * * The freedom of speech and of the press guaranteed by the Constitution embraces at least the liberty to discuss publicly and truthfully all matters of public concern without previous restraint or fear of subsequent punishment.

This right of free speech is imperiled by Section 1132, which states: "Any act, combination or agreement which directly or indirectly causes, induces or compels a violation of any of the provisions of this chapter, or inflicts any loss, injury or damage on anyone because of his refusal to violate any of the provisions of this chapter shall be unlawful."

In the case of the American Federation of Labor vs. Swing, the Supreme Court said: "Such a ban of free communication is inconsistent with the guarantee of freedom of speech. That a state has ample power to regulate the local problems thrown up by modern industry and to preserve the peace is axiomatic. But not even these essential powers are unfettered by the requirements of the Bill of Rights. The scope of the Fourteenth Amendment is not confined by the notion of a particular state regarding the wise limits of an injunction in an industrial dispute, whether those limits be defined by statute or by the judicial organ of the state. A state can not exclude workingmen from peacefully exercising the right of free communication by drawing the circle of economic competition between employers and workers so small as to contain only an employer and those directly employed by him. The interdependence of economic interest of all engaged in the same industry has become a commonplace. American Foundries vs. Tri-City Council, 257 U. S. 184, 209. The right of free communication can not therefore be mutilated by denying it to workers, in a dispute with an employer, even though they are not in his employ. Communication by such employees of the facts of a dispute, deemed by them to be relevant to their interests, can no more be barred because of concern for the economic interests against which they are seeking to enlist public opinion. * * *"

A frequent argument against the use of the secondary boycott is that it always involves an injured third party. In reality, there is no such thing as an injured third party. The Supreme Court of California, in the case of Fortenbury vs. Superior Court (16 Cal. 2d, 405, 409), stated: "Although the respondent argues that a person secondarily boycotted is an innocent third party, caught between the upper and lower millstones of an industrial dispute in which he has no interest, this is clearly not correct. One who sells a product of a merchant or manufacturer who is engaged in a labor dispute with his employees inescapably becomes an ally of the employer. He has a direct unity of interest with the one being struck. By providing an outlet for that product, he enables the employer to maintain the working conditions against which labor is protesting. And unless the union is allowed to follow the product to the place where it is sold and to ask the public by peaceful representation to refrain from purchasing it, the workers have no real opportunity to tell their story to those whose interest or lack of interest will in large measure determine the issues in dispute."

It is inevitable, in the maintenance of the civil liberties of our democracy involved in the economic struggle in the field of industry and commerce, where workers and employers exercise their collective economic power for the attainment of what they consider to be their just rights, that incidental hardship may be suffered by individuals only indirectly involved and which they are powerless to prevent, but fundamental constitutional rights and civil liberties, in defense of which our country fought and won a long and costly war against the enemies of democracy, cannot be set aside in order to avoid those incidental hardships. The way must and undoubtedly will be found in adjustments which will necessarily evolve from the preservation of these rights.

It is further argued in support of this legislation that secondary boycotts and other similar activities on the part of trade unions are a great economic waste. They point to lost wages on the part of the workers and to business losses on the part of the employer. It may be true that there are economic wastes involved in the use of such practices, but economic wastes are frequently indulged in when greater gains are made possible through such activities. No trade union likes to go on strike, and a strike is an economic waste, but trade unions do go out on strike when forced to because the economic gain far outweighs the economic loss. As a matter of fact, war itself is an economic waste. This Country has just emerged from a war in which billions of dollars were spent for destructive purposes, yet no sane person will regret the money spent for such destruction when the consequences of not indulging in this economic waste are understood. So it is in the case of trade union activity.

The trade union movement in this Country has undergone tremendous expansion since 1933. There have been many strikes during this period, and in the course of the many labor disputes, various practices have been carried on which have resulted in lost wages to workers and other economic wastes. But the workers who have lost wages as a result of these strikes have made far greater economic gains. According to the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics, on January 1, 1932, the average hourly earnings for all manufacturing industries was $0.49 per hour, and the average weekly earnings were $19.60. By November 1946, the average hourly earnings had risen to $1.14 per hour, and average weekly earnings to $45.74 per week. In other words, in this period hourly earnings increased by 130 percent. A large measure of responsibility for this increase in earnings must be placed upon the trade union movement, whose membership more than tripled in this period.

Similarly, in the State of California, according to the figures of the Division of Labor Statistics and Research of the State Department of Industrial Relations, weekly earnings rose from $24.88 in January 1932, to $53.62 in December 1946. Similarly, this increase of over 100 percent in weekly earnings was accompanied by a more than five-fold increase in the number of trade union members in the State. Without the help of the trade union movement and collective bargaining, no such advance could have been made for the working people of the State.

These accomplishments of the trade union movement in increasing wages have added to the economic well-being of the State of California, not only by raising the standard of living of California workers, but by providing increased purchasing power for the workers, making them good customers for California businessmen.

"Article 3. The State Board of Registration for Professional Engineers

6720. The State Board of Registration for Professional Engineers is hereby created whose duty it shall be to administer the provisions of this act. The board shall consist of five professional engineers, one civil, one mechanical, one electrical, one mining and one chemical, who shall be appointed by the Governor from among nominees recommended by the representative engineering societies in the State and shall have the qualifications required by Section 6721. Each member of the board shall be a qualified registered professional engineer in good standing within the respective branch of engineering which he represents. The members of the first board shall be appointed within 90 days after the passage of this act, to serve for the following terms: One member for one year, one member for two years, one member for three years, one member for four years, and one member for five years, from the date of their appointment, or until their successors are duly appointed and qualified. Every member of the board shall receive a certificate of his appointment from the Governor and before beginning his term of office shall file with the Secretary of State his written oath or affirmation for the faithful discharge of his official duty. Each member of the board first appointed hereunder shall receive a certificate or registration under this chapter from said board. On the expiration of the term of any member, the Governor shall in the manner hereinbefore provided appoint for a term of five years a registered professional engineer, having the qualifications required by Section 6721, to take the place of the member whose term on said board is about to expire. Each member shall hold office until the expiration of the term for which such member is appointed or until a successor shall have been duly appointed and shall have qualified.

6721. Each member of the board shall be a citizen of the United States and a resident of this State, and shall have been engaged in the practice of engineering for at least 12 years, and shall have been in responsible charge of important engineering work for at least five years. Responsible charge of engineering teaching may be construed as responsible charge of important engineering work.

6722. Each member of the board shall receive the sum of twenty-five dollars ($25) per diem when actually attending to the work of the board or any of its committees and for the time spent in necessary travel; and, in addition thereto, shall be reimbursed for all actual traveling, incidental, and clerical expenses necessarily incurred in carrying out the provisions of this chapter.

6723. The Governor may remove any member of the board for misconduct, incompetency, neglect of duty, or for any other sufficient cause. Vacancies in the membership of the board shall be filled for the unexpired term by appointment by the Governor as provided in Section 6720.

6724 The board shall hold a meeting within 30 days after its members are first appointed, and thereafter shall hold at least _____ regular meetings each year. Special meetings shall be held at such time as the by-laws of the board may provide. Notice of all meetings shall be given in such manner as the by-laws may provide. The board shall elect or appoint annually the following officers: A chairman, a vice chairman, and a secretary. A quorum of the board shall consist of not less than three members.

6725. The board shall have the power to adopt and amend all by-laws and rules of procedure, not inconsistent with the constitution and laws of this State, which may be reasonably necessary for the proper performance of its duties and the regulations of the proceedings before it. The board shall establish and clearly define the scope of the subdivisions of the branches of professional engineering as listed in Section 6702, which subdivisions shall include all areas contiguous to the branches which in the judgment of the board are necessary for the equitable administration of the purposes of this chapter. The board shall adopt and have an official seal.

In carrying into effect the provisions of this chapter, the board, under the hand of its chairman and the seal of the board, may subpena witnesses and compel their attendance, and also may require the production of books, papers, documents, etc., in a case involving the revocation of registration or practicing or offering to practice without registration. Any member of the board may administer oaths or affirmations to witnesses appearing before the board. If any person shall refuse to obey any subpena so issued, or shall refuse to testify or produce any books, papers, or documents, the board may present its petition to such authority as may have jurisdiction, setting forth the facts, and thereupon such authority shall, in a proper case, issue its subpena to such person, requiring his attendance before such authority and there to testify or to produce such books, papers, and documents, as may be deemed necessary and pertinent by the board. Any person failing or refusing to obey the subpena or order of the said authority may be proceeded against in the same manner as for refusal to obey any other subpena or order of the authority.

6726. The secretary of the board shall receive and account for all moneys derived under the provisions of this chapter, and shall pay the same monthly to the State Treasurer, who shall keep such moneys in a separate fund to be known as the "Professional Engineers' Fund." Such fund shall be kept separate and apart from all other moneys in the treasury, and shall be paid out only by warrant drawn by the State Controller on demands presented by the board. All moneys in the "Professional Engineers' Fund" are hereby specifically appropriated for the use of the board. The secretary of the board shall give a surety bond to the State in such sum as the board may determine. The premium on said bond shall be regarded as a proper and necessary expense of the board, and shall be paid out of the "Professional Engineers' Fund." The secretary of the board shall receive such salary as the board shall determine in addition to the compensation and expenses provided for in Section 6722. The board may employ such clerical or other assistants as are necessary for the proper performance of its work, and may make expenditures of this fund for any purpose which in the opinion of the board is reasonably necessary for the proper performance of its duties under this chapter, including the expenses of the board's delegates to annual conventions of and membership dues to, the National Council of State Boards of Engineering Examiners. Under no circumstances shall the total amount of warrants issued in payment of the expenses and compensation provided for in this chapter exceed the amount of the examination and registration fees collected as herein provided.

6727. The board shall keep a record of its proceedings and a register of all applications for registration, which register shall show (a) the name, age, and residence of each applicant; (b) the date of the application; (c) the place of business of such applicant; (d) his educational and other qualifications; (e) whether or not an examination was required; (f) whether the applicant was rejected; (g) whether a certificate of registration was granted; (h) the date of the action of the board; and (i) such other information as may be deemed necessary by the board.

The records of the board shall be prima facie evidence of the proceedings of the board set forth therein, and a transcript thereof, duly certified by the secretary of the board under seal, shall be admissible in evidence with the same force and effect as if the original were produced.

The board shall submit to the Governor within three months after the close of each fiscal year a report of its transactions of such fiscal year, and shall also transmit to him a complete statement of the receipts and expenditures of the board, attested by affidavits of its chairman and its secretary.

6728. A roster showing the names and places of business of all registered professional engineers shall be published by the secretary of the board during such month of each year as the board may by rule prescribe. Copies of this roster shall be mailed to each person so registered, placed on file with the Secretary of State, and furnished to the public upon request."

NOTICE OF MOTION TO RECONSIDER CONTINUED

By unanimous consent, Mr. Doyle's notice of motion to reconsider Assembly Constitutional Amendment No. 28 was continued until the next legislative day.

CONSIDERATION OF DAILY FILE (RESUMED)

CONSIDERATION OF SENATE AMENDMENTS

Assembly Bill No. 1446—An act to amend Section 11535 of the Business and Professions Code, relating to the regulation of real estate subdivisions, and declaring the urgency thereof, to take effect immediately.

The question being: Shall the Assembly concur in the following Senate amendments to Assembly Bill No. 1446?

Amendment No. 1

In line 2 of the title of the printed bill, after "subdivisions", insert a comma and "and declaring the urgency thereof, to take effect immediately".

Amendment No. 2

On page 1 of said bill, after line 27, insert

"SEC. 2. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health or safety within the meaning of Section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution and shall therefore go into immediate effect. A statement of the facts constituting such necessity is as follows:

Due to the prevailing housing shortage, various schemes for the subdividing of bungalow courts and other similar property are being promoted and offered to the public by individuals and a few real estate operators without the safeguards which the Subdivision Map Act provides. It is essential for the protection of the public that such matters be subjected to regulation and control without delay."

The roll was called.

CONSIDERATION OF DAILY FILE (RESUMED)
THIRD READING OF ASSEMBLY BILLS (RESUMED)

Assembly Bill No. 627—An act to amend Section 4004.5 of the Political Code, relating to loans by counties.

Bill read third time.

Motion to Amend

Mr. Brown moved the adoption of the following amendments:

Amendment No. 1

In line 1 of the title of the printed bill, after "Code", insert "and Section 23010 of the Government Code".

Amendment No. 2

On page 1 of said bill, strike out lines 1 to 13, inclusive, and insert

"SECTION 1. Section 4004.5 of the Political Code is amended to read:

4004.5. Notwithstanding the provisions of Section 4004, any county may lend any of its available funds to any fire protection district or park, recreation and parkway district, mosquito abatement district, or pest abatement district located wholly within the county, whose funds are or will be when available in the custody of the county or any officer of the county, in order to enable the district to perform its functions and meet its obligations. Every such loan may be made only after the adoption of a resolution by the board of supervisors. It shall not exceed 85 percent of the district's anticipated revenue for the fiscal year in which it is made or for the next ensuing fiscal year, and shall be repaid out of such revenue prior to the payment of any other obligation of the district.

SEC. 2. Section 23010 of the Government Code is amended to read:

23010. Pursuant to a resolution adopted by its board of supervisors, a county may lend any of its available funds to any fire protection or park, recreation and parkway district, mosquito abatement district, or pest abatement district located wholly within the county, if its funds are, or when available will be, in the custody of the county or any officer of the county, in order to enable the district to perform its functions and meet its obligations. The loan shall not exceed 85 percent of the district's anticipated revenue for the fiscal year in which it is made or for the next ensuing fiscal year, and shall be repaid out of such revenue prior to the payment of any other obligation of the district.

SEC. 3. Section 2 of this act becomes operative only if Title 3 of the Government Code is enacted by the Legislature at the 1947 Regular Session, and in such case at the same time as said Title 3 takes effect; at which time Section 4004.5 of the Political Code is hereby repealed."

REPORT OF ASSEMBLY COMMITTEE ON A WORLD TRADE FAIR AND WAR MEMORIAL IN THE LOS ANGELES INDUSTRIAL AREA

CREATION OF COMMITTEE

This committee was created by House Resolution No. 92, adopted by the Assembly February 5, 1947. The committee was directed to ascertain, study and analyze all facts relating to a World Trade Fair and War Memorial in Los Angeles County and an annual trade exposition in the Los Angeles area, including but not limited to the operation, effect, administration, enforcement and needed revision of any and all laws in any way bearing upon or relating to the subject of the resolution and to report thereon to the Assembly, including in the report its recommendations for appropriate legislation.

WORK OF COMMITTEE

Pursuant to and in furtherance of the directives of the resolution creating it, your committee held public and private hearings and did intensive investigation work.

WORLD TRADE "FAIR" VS. WORLD TRADE "CENTER"

It appears to be the general view that a World Trade "Fair" in the Los Angeles area, with a limited period of existence, is not desirable at this time. It is believed that the cost and effort entailed would not be justified by the results obtained. The feeling relative to an annual trade exposition or World Trade Center in the Los Angeles area, however, is otherwise. Great enthusiasm for such a project is evidenced from many sides. The only discordant note was sounded by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce which felt that such a project was socialistic in nature and contrary to the American concept of free enterprise. It based its opposition on its interpretation of Senate Bill No. 935 and Assembly Bill No. 1687 which provide for a World Trade Center in San Francisco.

On the contrary the California Manufacturers Association has indicated a keen interest in and approved of the development of a World Trade Center in both San Francisco and Los Angeles on a sound basis with state encouragement.

WORLD TRADE CENTER IN THE LOS ANGELES AND ADJACENT INDUSTRIAL AREA

When speaking of Los Angeles and adjacent industrial area, we include not only those manufacturing zones within Los Angeles County, having the city as center, but also contiguous portions of Riverside, San Bernardino and Orange Counties given over to industry.

(a) History of Local Efforts—

The idea of a permanent World Trade Center for Los Angeles and adjacent area, serving both domestic and foreign business interests, originated in 1934 when manufacturers and merchants in the Los Angeles area contributed $140,000 for a study of the feasibility and opportunity for such a facility and the factors involved in its establishment. The study extended over the period from 1934-39. It resulted in a recommendation that a trade center was not only feasible and opportune but that without it the Los Angeles area could not adequately distribute its industrial products Due to the imminence of war, the development was postponed.

For some time, however, a number of Los Angeles manufacturing interests have had special displays of their products. To the extent made possible by limited facilities, these have proved successful. Where this has been done, space in loft and other buildings has been rented, and public attention, particularly that of prospective buyers, has been attracted by mail, newspaper and other forms of advertising. But these, it is recognized, are detached efforts which merely touch the outer fringe of the problem of bringing buyers and sellers together. A trade center would provide on a large and impressive scale what these scattered displays do on a small scale

(b) What a World Trade Center Would Accomplish—

A trade center will provide Los Angeles and adjacent area with a permanent focal point at which producers in Southern California can present to the business men of the Nation and foreign countries the products of the area available for export. It will also be of great value to the importers of basic raw materials used in many of our manufactured products. Furthermore, it will accommodate those who bring merchandise from a distance to sell it in the Southern California market. It will be for small as well as big business, with opportunity for display open to all on equal and favorable terms Congested business, like congested traffic, piles up losses, the latter in time, the former in trade opportunities missed. Traffic needs freeways and expressways through which to clear readily and with dispatch. Trade needs a clearinghouse to keep the exchange of goods moving unclogged by innumerable failures of sellers and buyers to meet, such as occur in every populous area and to obviate which trade centers are established.

(c) History of Trade Centers in Other Areas—

Trade centers have flourished in Europe for many centuries, the most notable of which are Leipsig, Paris, and Birmingham. In the western hemisphere the center at Toronto, which began as a $20,000 enterprise and is now a $20,000,000 giant, is perhaps the most important New York, Chicago, New Orleans, Houston, and San Francisco plan for the immediate establishment of trade centers.

(d) Location of Trade Center—

The trade center should be located on an easily accessible site, and its location well publicized. It should be adequate in size, probably 20 to 25 acres, with space for display buildings, an administration building, and parking facilities. There should be facilities for the exhibition of the smaller lines of goods as well as for such products as automobiles, heavy machinery, furniture and other larger lines. However, there should be no extravagant beginning but, rather, it should commence small with all additions soundly made according to available finances.

(e) State Interest—

The question of whether the State has an interest in the development of such a project and should support it financially is answered in a measure by the observation that for years the State has supported agricultural fairs with substantial state aid. In principal there is no difference in agricultural and industrial displays insofar as they affect the welfare of the people of the State. Both are entitled to and should receive state financial aid and encouragement. However, at the present time it is indicated that no state aid is to be requested for the establishment of a trade center.

(f) Recommendations—

It is the feeling of those presently sponsoring the project in Los Angeles and adjacent area that a state authority be established with a limited power to condemn and the right to contract with nonprofiit corporations organized for the purpose of participating in the operation of the trade center.

Furthermore, the state authority should have the right to issue revenue bonds in a stipulated amount, probably $2,500,000, which would be repayable out of revenue derived from renting space, etc., in the World Trade Center. The state authority could purchase the site and thereafter rent bare land at a nominal rental to those nonprofit corporations which would, in turn, erect at their own expense most of the necessary and proper buildings for fulfilling the function of the World Trade Center. All such buildings so erected by the nonprofit corporations would be taxed to the owners thereof and would not be tax free.

The Los Angeles idea further embodies the thought that the active management of the World Trade Center should be in the hands of local business men, notably the manufacturers and merchants of the area, and not in the State.

In the above recommendations your committee heartily concurs.

Respectfully submitted.

M. PHILIP DAVIS, Chairman
EARL W. STANLEY
WILLIAM S. GRANT

APPENDIX

GROWTH OF MANUFACTURING IN THE WEST

Manufacturing in western centers has grown far more rapidly than most of those in the Middle West and East. The increase in Los Angeles has been from a base of 100 percent in 1899 to 7,500 in 1939. From the same base taken at the same date other cities have shown growth as follows: San Francisco, 1,100 percent; Detroit, 2,600; Cleveland, 2,900; and Pittsburgh, 400. (See Table III, subjoined, for detail.)

This remarkable showing is explained to a considerable extent by two factors, to wit: (a) growth in population, and (b) available natural resources.

New population supplies additional workers and markets. The population growth can perhaps best be illustrated by the following table:

Population Growth in Selected Cities—Percent by Decade

In the last decade, 1930-1940, the increase in Los Angeles was approximately three times that in San Francisco and in Detroit, while in comparison to other areas it increased at a much more rapid pace.

Whereas in 1940 the labor force available was less than 1,000,000 persons, in 1947 it exceeds 1,600,000. Associated with this increase was a similar increase in manufacturing employment and in the number of manufacturing establishments in the area. Manufacturing employment increased from 152,000, on the average, in 1940 to 248,000 in January of 1947, while the number of establishments engaged in manufacturing operations increased from 5,600 plus (U. S. Census) to 7,725 (L. A. Chamber of Commerce Industrial Department report).

"The production of copper, gold, silver, lead, zinc and mercury in the 15 western states is greater than that of the remainder of the United States by a substantial margin," says Wendell Berge in his recent publication, "Economic Freedom of the West."

The total production of minerals in 11 western states amounted to $1,392,000,000 in 1943, according to the Statistical Abstract for the United States, 1944-45. Giving point to this is a statement by Secretary of the Interior Krug, made before the Town Hall of Los Angeles in November, 1946:

"The greatest single problem facing the nation today is the development and exploitation of our undeveloped natural resources, the overwhelming portion of which are in the western states."

(See Table VI attached hereto.)

The forest resources of the West are tremendous. Over 75 percent of the total United States area under silviculture (being grown) is in the 11 western states. In 1943 the United States production of lumber was 34,289,000,000 board feet, of which 14,892,000,000 were produced in 10 of the western states. The West's production in this area is 43.7 percent of the Nation's production. (Statistical Abstract of the United States for 1943-1944, and 1945.)

In addition to its vast agricultural and mineral resources the West has 65 percent of the potential water power average available. Furthermore, 42 percent of the installed water power capacity of the entire United States is now in operation in the West.

(Source Federal Power Commission Statistical Abstract of U S)

Beginning in 1916, the increased availability of low cost power played an important role in western economic development. This electric power, generated at Boulder Dam, and increasingly at other points in the western states, when combined with petroleum, natural gas and the coke of Utah, provide the West with fuel and power unequaled even in the coal producing states of the East.

The oil and gas produced by the wells of Southern California are substantial. Added to this, available for use, are the large natural gas and oil resources of the Central Valley of California. By the winter of 1947 a natural gas line from Texas to Southern California is expected to be in operation. This will make available to this region the tremendous fuel resources of the Texas gas fields.

Riches of the cultivable lands of the West vie with the yield of its mines and the water power potentials of its rivers to provide the substance of great industrial and trade activities. For example, the total cash receipts for farm marketing in the 11 western states in the years given were:

(Source Security-First National Bank, Los Angeles)

The Los Angeles Municipal Power and Light Bureau reports that there are 35,500 users of electric power for industry in Southern California, including San Diego. The Southern California Edison Company further reports 6,560 industrial users on lines of that utility, which covers the lower San Joaquin Valley and much of the territory south of the Tehachapi, exclusive of Los Angeles, Burbank, Glendale, Pasadena, some points in Riverside and San Bernardino Counties and San Diego, all however, within the Los Angeles trade zone. In addition, 1,117 oil companies use this power for manufacturing petroleum products.

The war period gave Southern California and particularly the Los Angeles area an important increase in manufacturing facilities. Supplies and facilities contracts exceeded $11,000,000,000. (War Production Board.) Wartime and prewar growth in Southern California is illustrated below in "Selected Series, Los Angeles County." The basic forces which created the demand reflected in this report were merely accelerated by the war and will continue, according to several economic studies, notably that of Dr. Philip Neff for the Haynes Foundation.

The economy of Southern California is diversified. In 1940 it ranked first of all centers in the Nation in three industries, aircraft, motion pictures, oil well tools and equipment; second in two, auto assembly and rubber products; third in two, food processing and petroleum refining, and fourth in two, apparel and furniture manufacturing. (Source: Haynes Foundation.)

Major features of the industrial picture of 1939 are given in the Census Bureau's report on manufactures for Los Angeles County, the last completely official report available.

* It will be noted that this was a prewar report on aircraft production A reported Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce survey, 1947, shows a $600,000,000 backlog for the Los Angeles aircraft manufacturing plants as of March 1st

† L A Chamber also reports synthetic rubber manufacturing, all at government plants, at rate of 90 000 tons a year as of March 1, 1947

The Census Bureau report above took no account of small plants employing less than five workers. Also, it did not include an industry with less than a $5,000,000 production.

A condensation of the census survey gives the following:

Number of establishments	5,682
Number of wage earners	147,954
Wages paid annually	$207,713,087
Cost material, fuel supplies, etc	740,016,733
Value products	1,406,202,353
Value added by manufacturing	512,526,749*

* (For analysis of the feature—"Value added by manufacture" see Table III, subjoined)

In addition to the facts relating to income payments, as shown on Table I. we cite a special report, "The Growing Southern California Market," prepared by Standard & Poor for 1946, as follows:

New York	$19,345,000,000
California	12,948,000,000
Pennsylvania	10,830,000,000
Illinois	8,877,000,000
Michigan	7,098,000,000
Texas	6,080,000,000
Southern California	7,510,000,000

Southern California has 57 percent of the state total.

From another source, closely allied, is derived a similar conclusion of great business volume; this is bank debits. These, however, are given only for Los Angeles City, San Francisco and the Twelfth Federal Reserve District, which comprises Washington, Oregon, Idaho, California, Nevada, Utah and part of Arizona. The figures given are from the reports of the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco:

Los Angeles is located on the ocean trade routes to Oceanica, the Orient, west coast of South America, and, via Panama Canal, to the eastern South American, European and African ports.

Los Angeles is one of the continental United States Terminal points for the Pacific area from New Zealand and Australia on the south to the East Indies, Philippines, China, Japan and Siberia to the north. The world trade routes which link Los Angeles both by water and air with the major ports of destination throughout the globe, and through them with interior markets, rank this city high in exports in America and in intercoastal tonnage.

There are especially close bonds between the Pacific Southwest, for which Los Angeles is trade center, and Latin America. In the Southwest are 250,000 persons of Latin-American origin. In population Los Angeles is the largest Latin-American city north of Mexico City. Annually Mexican visitors by the thousands come to Los Angeles. They find here a congenial atmosphere because the history, the many street and place names, their blood brothers seen and their own language heard on every hand remind them that this is a city of Spanish-Mexican origin.

These sympathetic bonds, with Mexico and South America, have an important cultural as well as trade significance. The great region to the south has a large variety of things to sell to American industry, including such items as tin and other metals, woods, agricultural products, chemicals, etc. Los Angeles with a trade center will become an even more important gateway for the reception and use, as well as the transshipment, of Latin-American wealth, than it is today.

Three transcontinental railroads serve Los Angeles—Southern Pacific, Santa Fe and Union Pacific. The daily arrival and departure schedule is 20 regular passenger trains and six streamliners. In addition, the district is served by five transcontinental bus lines, giving direct and cheap transportation to and from the North, East and South. In normal times the vessels of more than 200 steamship lines use the Los Angeles-Long Beach Harbor as a port of call.

Five regular commercial airlines operate out of and into Los Angeles. There are three large and two smaller airports for the central district, and twenty smaller landing fields located within suburban towns within the county.

By air the leading cities of Latin America are closer to Los Angeles than Chicago is by rail. Buenos Aires is 57 flying hours away, Lima, 39; Mexico City, 12; Montevideo, 56; Rio de Janeiro, 58; Santiago, Chile, 51; Havana, 23.

Five tables within the series referred to—VII, VIII, IX, X and XI—relate to the facilities and operations of the Los Angeles-Long Beach Harbor District. Table VIII gives you the war story—no ships of defeated countries arriving since World War II started and the lines of most other countries greatly reduced.

Table VII likewise shows a falling off in vessels in World Trade, Coastwise Service, Intercoastal and Foreign. In tonnage handled, however, a good figure is maintained, the report of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1946, giving a total of 14,694,060. This consisted of bulk petroleum, first by tonnage, general cargo next in order, then bunkers and lumber. Placing values on cargoes was discontinued during the war and has not been resumed.

The normal resumption of trade is predicted by students of the subject with the stabilization of former rich markets in the vast trans-Pacific areas, this applying to both exports and imports. In the meantime the markets of Latin-American countries are looked to to provide largely increased trade.

Quorum present.

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by the Chaplain, Rev. Raymond Renwald:

O Eternal Father, I offer Thee this prayer in union with the sacrifice of Thy Divine Son to acknowledge Thy supreme dominion over us and our absolute dependence upon Thee; to honor Thee as our first beginning and our last end; to thank Thee for Thy countless benefits; to appease Thy justice provoked to anger by our many sins and to offer Thee worthy satisfaction for the same; and finally to implore grace for myself and for all here present that with a new heart we may be able to live in a manner pleasing to Thee—AMEN.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE TO THE FLAG

Upon request of the Speaker, the Assembly gave the pledge of allegiance to the Flag.

READING OF THE JOURNAL DISPENSED WITH

On motion of Mr. Debs, further reading of the Journal of the previous legislative day was dispensed with.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE FOR THE DAY

The following members were granted leaves of absence for the day, because of legislative business elsewhere:

Mr. Stewart, on motion of Mr. Erwin.

Mr. Boyd, on motion of Mr. Grant.

COMMUNICATIONS

By the Chief Clerk:

The following communication was received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

THE SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR
WASHINGTON, D. C., April 29, 1947

Mr. Arthur A. Ohnimus, Chief Clerk,
California Legislature, Assembly
State Capitol, Sacramento 14, California

MY DEAR MR. OHNIMUS: This will acknowledge receipt of the copy of Assembly Joint Resolution No. 26, which was adopted by the California Legislature on April 3, 1947, and forwarded to me on April 10, 1947.

This department is aware of the keen interest that California sportsmen take in the project to which the resolution relates, and I am happy to inform you that the Fish and Wildlife Service and the Bureau of Reclamation of the department have had this joint problem under study for a number of years.

We recognize the importance of the area as a waterfowl breeding and wintering ground, and also realize the close connection between the grasslands area and Reclamation's plans for rehabilitating and increasing the agricultural opportunities of the San Joaquin Valley Basin. Investigations of the Central Valley overall situation is continuing at this time in the hope of finding a practical solution to the grasslands water supply problem.

You may be assured that both Reclamation and Fish and Wildlife Service authorities in California will be apprised of the results of this study at the earliest possible moment.

Sincerely yours,

J. L. KRUG
Secretary of the Interior

Amendment No. 4

On page 5 of said bill, strike out lines 3 to 50, inclusive; and on page 6, strike out lines 1 to 5, inclusive, and insert

"SEC. 9. Section 14551 of said code is amended to read:

14551. Each school district or other employing agency employing one or more members of the system shall contribute semiannually to the Permanent Fund, six dollars ($6) , and to the Retirement Annuity Fund, thirty dollars ($30) for each member employed. During the semiannual period ending December 31, 1947 the amount contributed by a school district or other employing agency to the Retirement Annuity Fund shall be the same proportion of thirty dollars ($30) as the number of months remaining in such semiannual period from and after the effective date of this amendment is of six months.

SEC. 10. Section 14551.1 is added to said code, to read:

14551.1. The maximum rate of tax for any school district fixed by Section 6357 or authorized under Section 6358, is hereby increased by an amount equal to the rate of tax which would be required to produce the sum such school district is required to contribute to the Permanent Fund and to the Retirement Annuity Fund.

SEC. 11. Section 14553 of said code is amended to read:

14553 At the option of the county superintendent of schools, a member employed in more than one district in any county may be counted in each of the districts as a fraction of one determined by dividing one by the number of the districts or may be counted as one in one of the districts and the pro rata portions of six dollars ($6) and of thirty dollars ($30) transferred by the county superintendent of schools to the district from the funds of the other districts Otherwise each of the districts shall contribute six dollars ($6) and thirty dollars ($30).

SEC. 12 Section 14555 of said code is amended to read:

14555. The Retirement Board shall immediately transmit the certificate to the State Controller with a statement of the amount due from each school district to the Permanent Fund and to the Retirement Annuity Fund and the amount due to the [fund] respective funds on account of the county superintendent of schools and his deputies and certificated employees

SEC. 13 Section 14556 of said code is amended to read:

14556 The Controller shall deduct from the apportionment of state funds payable to the county for the school districts therein in installments next following April and November, respectively, a sum equal to [SIX] thirty-six dollars [($6)] ($36) for each of the members as calculated by the Retirement Board for each school district. He shall deduct from the apportionment of the funds payable to the county for the unapportioned county elementary school fund a sum similarly calculated by the Retirement Board for the county superintendent of schools and his deputies and certificated employees No payment of apportioned funds of the county shall be made until the deductions are made.

SEC. 14 Section 14557 of said code is amended to read:

14557 If the apportionment installment to any district or to the [unapportioned county elementary school] county school service fund is less than the contributions required of the district or fund the contributions shall be deducted from the total amount of the apportionment payable to the county, and the county superintendent of schools shall transfer to the county treasurer from the funds of the district and from the unapportioned county elementary school fund such amounts as may be necessary to complete the crediting of the apportionment to the various districts and funds by the county treasurer

SEC. 15. Section 14558 of said code is amended to read:

14558. The amounts deducted as contributions to the Permanent Fund shall be transferred forthwith to the Permanent Fund, and the amounts deducted as contributions to the Retirement Annuity Fund shall be transferred forthwith to the Retirement Annuity Fund, and for accounting purposes shall be included by the county superintendent of schools in his records and reports of the income and disbursements of the school districts or of the [unapportioned county elementary school] county school service fund, as the case may be, in the same manner as if actually received and disbursed by the districts or fund.

SEC. 16. Section 14559 of said code is amended to read:

14559. If the members are employed by any agency of the State, remittances to the Retirement Board of [six] thirty-six dollars [($6)] ($36) for each member shall be made in April and November of each year by the disbursing officer of the agency by which the members are employed. Remittances shall be made out of funds provided for the support of the agency. Amounts due to the Permanent Fund and the Retirement Annuity Fund shall be calculated on the basis of the number of members on the last pay rolls in the current school year, prior to April 15th and November 15th respectively, or, at the end of the respective periods covered by the pay rolls, on leave of absence granted for service included in Section 14449.

SEC. 17. Section 14561 of said code is amended to read:

14561. In establishing this Retirement System, the Legislature recognizes that the California State Teachers' Retirement System superseded by this Retirement System was actuarially unsound, and that the assets of that system (transferred by this chapter to this Retirement System) are insufficient to meet the obligations of that system already accrued or to accrue in the future in respect to service credited to members of that system and rendered prior to the establishment of this Retirement System on July 1, 1944. Therefore, the Legislature declares the following policies in respect to the financing of the State Teachers' Retirement System:

(a) All benefits in respect to service rendered after July 1, 1944, shall be provided approximately equally from members' contributions and public contributions. Public contributions consist of contributions by the State and contributions by school districts and employing agencies.

(b) All benefits in respect to service rendered prior to July 1, 1944, which cannot be met from the assets of the California Teachers' Retirement System shall, except as otherwise provided, be provided from contributions by the State.

(c) The costs of administration of this Retirement System shall be met from contributions by the State.

SEC. 18. This act shall become operative on the first day of the month next succeeding its effective date, unless its effective date is the first day of a month, in which case it shall become operative on its effective date."

Amendments read, and adopted.

Bill ordered reprinted, and engrossed.

Assembly Bill No. 1788—An act to amend Sections 14112, 14122, 14122.5, and 14128, to repeal Section 14135.1 of the Education Code, and to add new Section 14120.1 thereto, relating to school district employees.

Assembly Bill No. 698—An act to amend Section 18261 of the Education Code, relating to the Public School System.

Bill read second time.

Consideration of Committee Amendments

The following amendments were proposed by the Committee on Education:

Amendment No. 1

In line 1 of the title of the printed bill, strike out "amend Section 18261 of", and insert "add Section 7008.2 to".

Amendment No. 2

Strike out line 2 of the title of said bill, and insert "to the apportionment of the State School District Emergency Fund, declaring the urgency thereof, to take effect immediately."

Amendment No. 3

On page 1 of said bill, strike out lines 1 to 6, inclusive, and insert

"SECTION 1. Section 7008.2 is added to the Education Code, to read:

7008.2. Out of any balance remaining in the State School District Emergency Fund after all apportionments hereinbefore provided for have been made, the Superintendent of Public Instruction shall apportion to each school district eligible thereto under this section the amount computed for such district under the provisions of Sections 7004 and 7006.

A district shall be eligible for an apportionment under this section if:

(1) The governing board of the district applies for an apportionment hereunder within fifteen (15) days after this section becomes effective.

(2) The district received funds from, or was allocated funds by, the Federal Government or any agency thereof during the school year 1945-1946 as a result of war created conditions for the general maintenance and operation of schools of the district.

(3) There was levied for the district for the school year 1946-1947 a rate of school district tax which shall be the maximum rate of school district tax fixed for such district by Section 6357 of this code less more than one-half cent ($0.005) and not more than one cent ($0.01).

If the total amount required to be apportioned to all school districts eligible for apportionment under this chapter exceeds the amount available for apportionment to such districts under this section, the amount to the several districts shall be reduced in the ratio that the amount of the deficit bears to the total amount of the moneys otherwise required to be apportioned to such districts.

SEC. 2. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety within the meaning of Section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution and shall therefore go into immediate effect. A statement of the facts constituting such necessity is as follows:

The rates of tax levied during the current year for a number of school districts otherwise eligible to receive apportionments from the State School District Emergency Fund were, because of circumstances beyond the control of the authorities of such school districts, fixed at rates very slightly under the rates required to qualify such school districts for such apportionments. Those school districts, having counted upon receiving such apportionments in adopting the budgets of the districts for the current school year, are without sufficient funds to meet their obligations necessary for the maintenance of their schools for the current school year. In order that the moneys provided by this bill be made available during the current school year to meet the emergency which such school districts face, it is necessary that this act take effect immediately."

The following amendments were proposed by the Committee on Education:

Amendment No. 1

Strike out line 1 of the title of the printed bill, and insert

"An act to repeal Sections 13004.1 and 13004.2 of, and to add Sections 13004.1, 13004.2, 13004.3, 13004.4 and 13004.5 to, the Educa-".

Amendment No. 2

On page 1 of said bill, strike out lines 1 to 24, inclusive; and on page 2, strike out lines 1 to 5, inclusive, and insert

"SECTION 1. Sections 13004.1 and 13004.2 of the Education Code are repealed

SEC. 2. Section 13004.1 is added to said code, to read:

13004.1. Except as otherwise provided in this article, every probationary or permanent employee employed before July 1, 1947, shall be deemed to have been employed on the date upon which he first accepted employment in a probationary position.

In case two or more employees accepted employment on the same date, the governing board of the district shall determine the order of employment by lots drawn by the employees concerned.

SEC. 3. Section 13004.2 is added to said code, to read:

13004.2. Every probationary or permanent employee employed after June 30, 1947, shall be deemed to have been employed on the date upon which he first rendered paid service in a probationary position

In any district in which appointments are made from eligible lists established by examination, if two or more employees rendered their first paid service on the same date, the board shall determine the order of employment of employees so appointed by lot drawn as follows.

First, those who were highest on their respective eligible lists, except as they have waived appointment, shall draw lots for preferred order as among such employees.

Second, those who were next highest on their respective eligible lists shall similarly draw lots for preferred order as among themselves

In like manner, drawings shall continue until the order of employment of all shall have been determined. Employees appointed subject to examination shall draw last of all.

In districts in which employees are not appointed from eligible lists, all who first rendered paid service on the same date shall participate in a single drawing.

SEC. 4. Section 13004.3 is added to said code, to read:

13004.3. The following general provisions shall apply regardless of date of employment:

The order once determined by lot shall be permanent, and shall be entered on the permanent records of the district Records showing date of employment, whether kept by the district or by the county, shall be accessible, on demand, to any certificated employee of the district or to his designated representative.

In the absence of records as to any of the matters referred to in the two preceding sections, the board, in accordance with evidence presented, shall determine the order of employment after giving employees a reasonable opportunity to present such evidence

The governing board of every junior college district shall establish the order of employment of all probationary and permanent employees of the district in the manner prescribed by this article and shall keep a roster of same as a public record.

Whether or not such a roster is kept in other districts, the order of employment in all districts, when required, shall be determined as prescribed by this article.

The board shall have power and it shall be its duty to correct any errors discovered from time to time in its records showing the order of employment.

SEC. 5. Section 13004.4 is added to said code, to read:

13004.4. When any school or part thereof shall have been transferred from one district to another, employment for any employees who transfer with said school or part thereof shall date from the time said employees first accepted employment (if before July 1, 1947) or rendered paid service (if after June 30, 1947) as probationary employees in the district from which the school or part thereof and the said employees were transferred.

SEC. 6. Section 13004.5 is added to said code, to read:

13004.5. When any certificated employee shall have resigned or been dismissed for cause and shall thereafter have been reemployed by the board, his date of employment shall be deemed to be the date on which he first accepted reemployment (if reemployed before July 1, 1947) or rendered paid service (if reemployed after June 30, 1947) after his reemployment.

When an employee's services are terminated for lack of enrollment or discontinuance of service or are otherwise interrupted in a manner declared by law not to constitute a break in service, his original order of employment shall stand."

Education Code, relating to child care centers, and declaring the urgency thereof, to take effect immediately.

Bill read second time.

Consideration of Committee Amendments

The following amendments were proposed by the Committee on Education:

Amendment No. 1

In lines 1 and 2 of the title of the printed bill, strike out "and 19617 of, to add Section 19618", and insert ", 19607 and 19617 of, to add Sections 19601.5, 19601.6 and 19618".

Amendment No. 2

On page 1, line 5, of said bill, strike out "working mothers", and insert "parents".

Amendment No. 3

On page 1, line 15, of said bill, after the period, insert "As used in this chapter "parent" includes any person having legal custody of a child."

Amendment No. 4

On page 1 of said bill, between lines 15 and 16, insert

"SEC. 1.5. Section 19601.5 is added to said code, to read:

19601.5. The need of a parent and child for child care center service shall be determined upon the following conditions:

(a) That there is but one parent in the home who both supports and cares for the child, or

(b) That there are two parents in the home, both of whom are working, or one of whom is physically or mentally unable to either support the family or care for the child, or

(c) That either parent is a veteran of World War II attending school or receiving instruction under the Servicemen's Readjustment Act of 1944 during the years 1947 to 1951, and the other parent, if any, is gainfully employed, or

(d) That the services of the parent having care of the child are necessary as a teacher in a public school or as a registered nurse.

SEC. 1.6. Section 19601.6 is added to said code, to read:

19601.6. Except under the conditions specified in paragraphs (c) and (d) of Section 19601.5, no child shall be admitted to a child care center unless the total monthly income from all sources of the child's immediate family is two hundred twenty-five dollars ($225) or less, or unless the monthly income of the child as determined by dividing the total monthly income of the immediate family from all sources, by the number of persons to be supported therefrom does not exceed sixty dollars ($60).

The maximum "total monthly income" figure may be exceeded in any month or months of the year if in the opinion of the board the total income for the calendar year divided by 12 will not exceed such maximum

SEC. 1.7. Section 19607 of said code is amended to read.

19607. Said governing board shall charge and collect, in advance, from the person having custody of any child admitted to a child care center a weekly fee which, together with all funds received under Section 19613, shall be in such amount as will reimburse the district for the cost of maintaining such child care center including supervision and care and the cost of all food furnished such child. The weekly fees charged need not be uniform.

It is hereby declared to be the policy of the Legislature that child care centers shall be made available first to those who have the greatest financial need and to that end no money appropriated therefor shall be expended for the care or education of any child in a child care center unless a sliding scale of weekly fees shall have been adopted by the Board of the school district in which such child care center is maintained under which a nominal fee shall be charged for children of families having a monthly income of less than one hundred fifty dollars ($150) or of less than forty dollars ($40) per member of the immediate family, and increasingly larger fees shall be charged for children of families having larger incomes. It is further declared to be the policy of the Legislature that so far as possible where an increase in fees is made necessary because of insufficient funds that such increase shall be made first in fees charged to those in the higher income brackets."

Amendment No. 5

On page 1, line 18, of said bill, strike out "the effective date of this section", and insert "February 20, 1946, except such as may be specifically authorized by the Department of Education after it has surveyed the financial needs of the then existing child care centers and finds that the establishment of the new child care center will not financially jeopardize or otherwise curtail the operations of the then existing child care centers.

A child care center which was in operation prior to said date, but which is temporarily not in operation on that date is not an additional child care center within the meaning of this section".

"SEC. 3. Out of any money in the State Treasury not otherwise appropriated, the sum of six million one hundred sixteen thousand eight hundred dollars ($6,116,800) is hereby appropriated, to be allocated by the Department of Finance solely for the purposes and in the manner provided by this act.

Such of the amount hereby appropriated shall be allocated to the several state officers, departments, boards, bureaus, commissions, the Regents of the University of California, and other state agencies in augmentation of their respective appropriations for support for the 1947-48 Fiscal Year beginning July 1, 1947 and ending June 30, 1948 in such amounts as will make sufficient money available during said fiscal year to pay: (a) to each state employee in the state service whose salary or wages, or a portion thereof, is payable from the General Fund the amount due him for overtime worked pursuant to Section 18020 of the Government Code, or (b) the salaries or wages of additional employees made necessary by the reduction of working hours pursuant to said section, or (c) other expenditures made necessary by the reduction in working hours, the payment of overtime or the employing of additional personnel pursuant to said section

In order to make sufficient money available during said fiscal year to pay: (a) each employee in the state service whose salary or wage, or a portion thereof, is payable from special funds, the amount due him for overtime worked pursuant to Section 18020 of the Government Code, or (b) the salaries or wages of additional employees made necessary by the reduction of working hours pursuant to said section, or (c) other expenditures made necessary by the reduction in working hours, the payment of overtime or the employing of additional personnel pursuant to said section, the Governor and Director of Finance shall make funds available from such special funds under the provisions of Section 11006 of the Government Code.

SEC. 4. This act shall become operative on July 1, 1947.

SEC. 5. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health or safety within the meaning of Section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution and shall therefore go into immediate effect. A statement of the facts constituting such necessity is as follows:

It has become standardized practice in private business and public employment to provide for a 40-hour work week for employees or for the payment of overtime work in excess of 40 hours a week. Numerous state employees have been working many hours in excess of this time in various departments and agencies. In order to provide for the payment of these employees on the same basis as employees in private industry and other public employment at the earliest possible moment, to prevent state employees leaving state service for employment where such practice is recognized and established, to encourage recruitment in state service upon an equality with competing business and public employment, and to preserve and protect the continuity of state business, it is necessary that this act take effect immediately."

RESOLUTIONS

By Messrs. Thompson, Crichton, Stephenson, and Gannon:

House Resolution No. 169

Relating to establishing September 17th as Constitution Day

WHEREAS, The Constitution of the United States was adopted on September 17, 1787; and

WHEREAS, The Constitution, as the basic law of our land, has been the greatest single force in creating and shaping our Nation, bringing into being a new type of citizen, a people distinguishable throughout the world by their complete adherence to the tenets of Democracy and their unique experience in having actually lived the democratic way of life; and

WHEREAS, Our history shows that wherever the American pioneer went: Beyond the borders of his native state, deep into the wilderness, or far beyond the mountains, the Constitution followed him, binding the new settlements to the old, keeping alive the ideals and traditions so gloriously won and proclaimed by our forefathers; and

WHEREAS, The benefits derived to the American people under the Constitution of the United States, the establishment of our democratic principles, the free participation in political office and leadership, the great economic opportunities, our nation-wide system of public schools, the free condition of labor, the rewards of individual enterprise, and the blessings of spiritual freedom and the right to worship according to one's conscience, are all achievements highly to be prized by any people and attained nowhere in the world in such measure as we know them; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the President and the Congress of the United States are hereby memorialized to fix and declare September 17th Constitution Day, that it may be set aside as a day on which to honor the Constitution of the United States of America as the repository and bulwark of our Nation and our liberties, a day on which to tell again the story of the Constitution, the adoption of the Bill of Rights, and to bring to every citizen of this great land a better understanding of this guarantee of liberty and of the duties and responsibilities as well as the rights of citizenship, that we may keep alive the ideals of Democracy, the zeal for liberty for all men, to strengthen our Democracy and preserve our glorious Nation under the American system which rests upon the United States Constitution; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly transmit copies of this resolution to the President of the United States, to the President pro Tempore of the Senate of the United States, to the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and to each Senator and Representative of California in Congress.

Resolution read, and referred to the Committee on Rules.

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolution was offered:

By Messrs. Miller, Geddes, Burke, Clayton A. Dills, and Kirkwood:

House Resolution No. 170

Relating to the Assembly Committee on Unemployment Insurance

WHEREAS, The Assembly Committee on Unemployment Insurance created by House Resolution No. 128 of the 1947 Regular Session has commenced its investigation pursuant to said resolution; and

WHEREAS, The conduct of the committee's investigation to date has disclosed that the complexity of the many problems relating to unemployment insurance requires an extended investigation for the purposes of said resolution; and

WHEREAS, The Legislature by said House Resolution No. 128 has determined that it is imperative that all pertinent facts bearing upon the subject of unemployment insurance be found, assembled and analyzed to the end that the Legislature may be enabled to act advisedly and judiciously in the premises for the best interests of California in the consideration and enactment of legislation; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, As follows:

1. The Assembly Committee on Unemployment Insurance created by House Resolution No. 128 of the 1947 Regular Session is continued as an Assembly interim committee and is authorized to act during this session of the Legislature, including any recess, and after final adjournment until the commencement of the 1949 Regular Session, with authority to file its final report at any time prior to final adjournment of the 1949 Regular Session.

2. Except as herein provided, the committee shall have the membership and all the rights, powers and duties possessed by the committee and its members pursuant to House Resolution No. 128 of the 1947 Regular Session.

3. In addition to any money heretofore made available, the sum of twenty-nine thousand five hundred dollars ($29,500) is hereby made available from the Contingent Fund of the Assembly for the expenses of the committee and its members and for any charges, expenses or claims it may incur under this resolution, to be paid from the said contingent fund and disbursed, after certification by the chairman of the committee, upon warrants drawn by the State Controller upon the State Treasurer.

RESOLUTIONS

House Resolution No. 171

Relative to extending to the Republic of Mexico the friendship and goodwill of the people of California, on the occasion of Mexico's celebration of its national holiday, Cinco de Mayo

On May 5th our friend and neighbor, Mexico, celebrates her revered national holiday, Cinco de Mayo. The people of Mexico will pause and pay homage to Ignacio Zarogoza and his small band of men who, against great odds, defeated the French in the Battle of Guadaloupe, near Puebla, in 1862. The battle did not win freedom for Mexico, but it was a milestone in her march for freedom, and became an inspiring symbol of Mexico's determination to achieve independence from foreign domination. Though that victory was followed by defeat, and Napoleon III succeeded in placing Maximilian on the throne of Mexico, the set-back to freedom was temporary. The spirit that won the Battle of Guadaloupe was not submerged. The people of Mexico continued their fight for freedom, and Maximilian was deposed after a brief, troubled reign.

The flame of independence that burned so brightly on the fields of Guadaloupe on the fifth day of May, 1862, continued to shed its light and courage, until today Mexico shares with the rest of this hemisphere a common heritage of freedom and independence.

It is fitting and proper that we pause on this fifth day of May to honor our neighbor, Mexico, for her courageous fight for freedom, that we extend to the Mexican people our hand of fellowship, that we take this opportunity to reaffirm our faith in our free and independent form of life.

Now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the members of this body extend to the people of Mexico, on the occasion of their celebration of Cinco de Mayo, the warm friendship of the people of the State of California, and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly be and he is hereby directed to send a copy of this resolution to His Excellency Licenciado Don Miguel Aléman, the President of the Republic of Mexico.

Request for Unanimous Consent

Mr. Geddes asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent to take up House Resolution No. 171, at this time, without reference to committee or file.

Resolution read, and adopted unanimously.

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolution was offered:

By Messrs. Price and Hinckley:

House Resolution No. 172

Commending the business men of Fontana for lowering prices

WHEREAS, The President of the United States recently appealed to the manufacturers and merchants of the Nation to cut prices generally in an effort to stem the rising spiral of living costs and to establish the postwar economy of the Nation on a level beneficial to all; and

WHEREAS, In the City of Fontana, California, prices have been cut pursuant to the President's request; and

WHEREAS, This fine spirit of cooperation has been in evidence throughout the war in Fontana, enabling the people to cope with difficult housing and other problems in connection with the establishment and operation of the steel mills and other war industries at Fontana; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Chamber of Commerce and all business interests in the City of Fontana are hereby commended for their splendid cooperation and response in cutting prices as requested by President Truman; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the Assembly to the Chamber of Commerce of Fontana, California.

Resolution read, and referred to the Committee on Rules.

RECOMMENDATION OF THE GOVERNOR

In accordance with Article IV, Section 34, of the Constitution, the Governor presented the following communication recommending the passage of Senate Bill No. 569:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA
GOVERNOR'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO, April 23, 1947

To the Honorable Members of the Assembly
Sacramento, California

GENTLEMEN:

Senate Bill No. 569—"An act to provide for research by the University of California on the origin, prevention, and cure of cancer and to make an appropriation therefor," in my opinion constitutes an emergency bill within the meaning of that term as used in Section 34 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California, the consideration of which should not await the final enactment of the Budget Bill.

I therefore recommend consideration of Senate Bill No. 569 as an emergency measure.

Respectfully submitted.

EARL WARREN, Governor

CONSIDERATION OF HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 169

House Resolution No. 169

Relating to establishing September 17th as Constitution Day

WHEREAS, The Constitution of the United States was adopted on September 17, 1787; and

WHEREAS, The Constitution, as the basic law of our land, has been the greatest single force in creating and shaping our Nation, bringing into being a new type of citizen, a people distinguishable throughout the world by their complete adherence to the tenets of Democracy and their unique experience in having actually lived the democratic way of life; and

WHEREAS, Our history shows that wherever the American pioneer went: Beyond the borders of his native state, deep into the wilderness, or far beyond the mountains, the Constitution followed him, binding the new settlements to the old, keeping alive the ideals and traditions so gloriously won and proclaimed by our forefathers; and

WHEREAS, The benefits derived to the American people under the Constitution of the United States, the establishment of our democratic principles, the free participation in political office and leadership, the great economic opportunities, our nation-wide system of public schools, the free condition of labor, the rewards of individual enterprise, and the blessings of spiritual freedom and the right to worship according to one's conscience, are all achievements highly to be prized by any people and attained nowhere in the world in such measure as we know them; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the President and the Congress of the United States are hereby memorialized to fix and declare September 17th Constitution Day, that it may be set aside as a day on which to honor the Constitution of the United States of America as the repository and bulwark of our Nation and our liberties, a day on which to tell again the story of the Constitution, the adoption of the Bill of Rights, and to bring to every citizen of this great land a better understanding of this guarantee of liberty and of the duties and responsibilities as well as the rights of citizenship, that we may keep alive the ideals of Democracy, the zeal for liberty for all men, to strengthen our Democracy and preserve our glorious Nation under the American system which rests upon the United States Constitution; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly transmit copies of this resolution to the President of the United States, to the President pro Tempore of the Senate of the United States, to the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and to each Senator and Representative of California in Congress.

Resolution read, and adopted.

GOVERNOR'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO, May 6, 1947

To the Honorable Members of the Assembly
State of California, Sacramento, California

GREETINGS: I am returning herewith, without my signature,

Assembly Bill No. 859, entitled: "An act to amend Sections 51 and 52 of the Public Utilities Act, defining the powers of the Public Utilities Commission relating to certain transactions of public utilities."

This bill amends two sections of the Public Utilities Act relating to the actions of persons or corporations furnishing services or selling materials to public utilities, to exempt such persons or corporations from the present provision that encumbrances, leases or sales of assets without commission approval are void.

The language used is susceptible of more than one interpretation. I am told that some firms eminent in this field interpret the language as exempting such corporations from regulation by the Public Utilities Commission in the respects referred to, while others interpret the language as doing nothing more than removing doubt as to the validity of encumbrances, sales or leases of property in those cases where the commission has not assumed jurisdiction and, accordingly, has not approved the transaction.

Legislation on a subject so important should be so clear as to avoid such uncertainty in interpretation.

Because of the fact that the language used is susceptible of two interpretations and because of the fact that one of these interpretations would preclude any review of such transactions by such persons or corporations, I am not approving the bill. My action in this regard is in line with the recommendation of members of the Public Utilities Commission.

Respectfully submitted.

EARL WARREN, Governor

GOVERNOR'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO, May 6, 1947

I acknowledge receipt this seventh day of May, 1947, at 9:05 o'clock a.m. of Assembly Bill No. 859 without the Governor's signature, together with a statement of his objections thereto signed by the Governor, delivered to me personally by Beach Vasey, Legislative Secretary to the Governor.

ARTHUR A. OHNIMUS, Chief Clerk of the Assembly

Assembly Bill No. 859 ordered to unfinished business file.

GOVERNOR'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO, May 6, 1947

To the Honorable Members of the Assembly
State of California, Sacramento, California

GREETINGS. I am returning herewith, without my signature,

Assembly Bill No. 1153, entitled: "An act to add Section 9105 to the Government Code, relating to the State Capitol Building, the management thereof, and the assignment and reassignment of space therein, declaring the urgency hereof, to take effect immediately."

My objections to this bill are as follows:

The Attorney General has advised me that in his opinion this bill is unconstitutional. In discussing this question the Attorney General has said in part,

"The bill appears to be violative of Article III, Section 1 of the State Constitution, which divides the powers of government into the Legislative, Executive, and Judicial Departments, and which prohibits any person charged with the exercise of powers belonging to one department from exercising the functions belonging to another, except as expressly permitted by the Constitution.

* * * * * * *

While there seem to be no reported California decisions dealing directly with the arrogation by the Legislature of executive powers, a dictum in Parker vs. Riley, 18 Cal. (2d) 83, 88, states as follows:

'It must not be assumed, however, that legislative activity may be expanded indefinitely through the creation of separate agencies responsible primarily to the Legislature. This sort of expansion would soon lead to a legislative usurpation of power incompatible with the proper exercise of its law-making function. The Constitution forbids any such assumption of duties by the Legislative Branch of Government, and a statute conferring a nonlegislative office or trust upon Members of the Legislature would be clearly unconstitutional.'

The assignment of office space in a state building such as the Capitol is essentially a function of management, which inheres in the Executive Department of the State Government. It is true that the Legislature may by law regulate the use of state property and may likewise provide for the setting aside of certain accommodations in order that it may have sufficient facilities in which to exercise its functions. Nevertheless, the Legislature may not undertake the active administration and management of state property. (Springer vs. Philippine Islands, supra.) By this bill, the Legislature has done more than set standards or make directions for the government of other agencies; it has sought to take unto itself active managerial functions which reside properly in the executive branch.

The bill is not confined to a temporary period of time, but instead vests the members of the two legislative committees with a set of permanent, continuing administrative powers which are not reasonably incidental to the exercise of the law-making power. (People vs. Tremaine, 252 N.Y. 27, 168 N.E. 817.)

There is no definite line of demarcation separating the divisions of government and no rigid classification which places every activity in one division or another. We believe, however, that the function which is the subject matter of this bill is clearly an executive one. It is our opinion, therefore, that Assembly Bill No. 1153 is unconstitutional, in that it violates the provisions of Article III, Section 1 of the State Constitution."

The bill itself contains an urgency clause, reciting that the Legislature must have immediate possession of additional space in the State Capitol. In addition to the constitutional question and the substantial problems of management which it raises, there is also the question of the reasonableness of this bill at this moment, and the question of the ability of State Government to comply with its provisions. The other constitutional officers object to the bill because there are no other quarters available for them, and I must agree with them because it is an utter impossibility at the present time for the Department of Finance to find quarters for itself or any of these constitutional officers in Sacramento. Such quarters just do not exist.

Furthermore, in a comparatively short time and before any of these offices could be moved to other quarters, the Legislature will have adjourned and in all probability will not be in session until next March, thus leaving the greater part of the Capitol Building practically unoccupied and unused for a period of six months of this year and, with the exception of the time taken for the budgetary session, all of next year.

I realize that the Legislature is working under very trying conditions. However, I am sure that this bill is not necessary to work out a plan of properly housing the Legislature and its committees at the earliest practical date. The Members of the Legislature may be sure that I will do everything possible to cooperate with them under the presently existing conditions.

Respectfully submitted.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA
GOVERNOR'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO 14, May 6, 1947

I acknowledge receipt this seventh day of May, 1947, at 9 05 o'clock a m., of Assembly Bill No. 1153 without the Governor's signature, together with a statement of his objections thereto signed by the Governor, delivered to me personally by Beach Vasey, Legislative Secretary to the Governor.

ARTHUR A. OHNIMUS, Chief Clerk of the Assembly

Assembly Bill No. 1153 ordered to unfinished business file.

CONSIDERATION OF GOVERNOR'S VETO

Assembly Bill No. 1153—An act to add Section 9105 to the Government Code, relating to the State Capitol Building, the management thereof, and the assignment and reassignment of space therein.

Governor's message stating his objections read previously.

The question being: Shall Assembly Bill No. 1153 become a law notwithstanding the objections of the Governor?

AYES—Anderson, Ralph C. Dills, and Elliott—3.

NOES—Bennett, Berry, Blosser, Boyd, Brown, Burke, Burns, Butters, Caldecott, Carey, Clarke, Collier, Conrad, Cooke, Cramer, Crichton, M Philip Davis, Debs, Doyle, Dunn, Erwin, Fletcher, Gaffney, Geddes, Grant, Grunsky, Hahn, Heisinger, Hinton, Hollibaugh, Huyck, James, Johnson, Kilpatrick, Kirkwood, Loomis, Lowrey, Luckel, Lyons, Maloney, McCollister, McMillan, Niehouse, Robertson, Sherwin, Silliman, Stanley, Stewart, Thompson, Thorp, Thurman, Waters, Wollenberg, and Mr. Speaker—54.

COMMUNICATIONS

By Speaker Collins:

The following telegram was received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA, May 6, 1947

Hon. Sam Collins, Speaker of Assembly
State Capitol, Sacramento, California

I have been informed that some Members of the Assembly have misconstrued an impromptu statement I made Monday afternoon upon being advised of the vote on Assembly Bill No. 14. I made no formal statement. A newspaper quotation was the result of a telephone conversation. I had no intention of inferring that any legislators who voted for the bill were Communists or Communist inspired or, with possibly a few exceptions, that they were dominated and controlled by the CIO If any such inference could be read into the published quotation I am glad to offer an apology I did say that much of our trouble at Los Angeles Harbor started through the effort of the CIO to force the appointment of persons of their own choice on the city harbor commission and that the situation has, from time to time, been stirred up by agitators who have not acted in the public interest. My criticism of those who voted for the bill was based wholly upon my feeling that, if passed, this will be bad legislation; and will result in a chaotic condition, great expense, and almost endless litigation over such questions as the continuing liability of owners of all property now within the limits of the city to be subject to tax levy for outstanding bonds and various other questions that I felt were not fully considered and weighed. It is my earnest hope that elected representatives of the people will not place personal feeling because of anything I am purported to have said above public interest.

Mayor of Los Angeles

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolution was offered:

By Messrs. Thomas and Waters:

House Resolution No. 173

Relating to agreements for the consolidation of municipal corporations

WHEREAS, The City Council of the City of Los Angeles by resolution adopted June 8, 1909, did approve and ratify the report, recommendations, and plan of the committee appointed to formulate a plan for the consolidation of the Cities of Los Angeles, San Pedro, and Wilmington, and

WHEREAS, It is specifically provided in said plan as follows:

"Fourth: That a municipally owned and controlled ferry shall be at once established at San Pedro, connecting said portion of the consolidated city with Terminal Island. The same to be for the use and benefit of the people and only such charges shall be made as will pay the cost of operating and maintenance of the same, but in no event shall the fare exceed 2 cents, either going from or returning to San Pedro.

Fifth: That a municipally owned and controlled public fish market and fisherman's wharf be established on the water front for the accommodation of the fishing interests in that portion of the consolidated city, now known as San Pedro. The same to be fitted with all modern conveniences, and only such charges shall be made therefor as will be necessary to maintain the same in a sanitary condition.

* * * * * * *

Eighth: That a branch of the public library be maintained in said portion of the consolidated city, known as San Pedro, and that the same be adequately supplied with the necessary periodicals and books, and properly officered and managed so that first-class library facilities and privileges shall be afforded that portion of the consolidated city.

* * * * * * *

Eleventh: That for the purpose of providing adequate means for police and fire protection, maintaining library and park facilities, the care, repair, maintenance and lighting of streets and other public places, in that portion of the consolidated city, within the present City of San Pedro, the government of the consolidated city shall lay out and expend annually, within the present City of San Pedro, an amount of money that shall be not less than the part of the municipal taxes for such purposes that shall be levied by the consolidated city, upon the property now situated within the said City of San Pedro."; and

WHEREAS, The resolution of the city council adopting and ratifying the plan provided: "Now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the City Council of the City of Los Angeles, As follows:

That the City Council of the City of Los Angeles hereby ratifies the said report and recommendations of the consolidation committee in their entirety and hereby endorses the same as provided setting forth an adequate and comprehensive plan under which the Cities of Los Angeles, San Pedro, and Wilmington can and should be consolidated into one municipal corporation; that this city council hereby declares that it will by every means within its power promote the consolidation of the Cities of Los Angeles, San Pedro, and Wilmington in accordance with the said report and recommendations of the consolidation committee * * *."; and

WHEREAS, There are at the present time no emergency hospital facilities maintained by the City of Los Angeles in the San Pedro area and no local facilities maintained for the booking and detention of women and juvenile residents of the San Pedro area who are placed under arrest, and no services are provided for cleaning the streets in the San Pedro area; and

WHEREAS, It appears that the conditions of the agreement for the consolidation of the Cities of Los Angeles, San Pedro, and Wilmington above referred to have not been satisfactorily performed by the City of Los Angeles; and

WHEREAS, It appears that there has been a failure to provide other necessary municipal services for the residents in the San Pedro area as more specifically set forth above; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Los Angeles city council, harbor commissioner, and the mayor are directed to take immediate action to secure the performance of the provisions of the plan of consolidation and provide other necessary municipal services to the residents of the San Pedro area as more specifically set forth above; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly is directed to transmit copies of this resolution to the individual members of the City Council of the City of Los Angeles, to the harbor commission, and to the Mayor of the City of Los Angeles.

Request for Unanimous Consent

Mr. Waters asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent to take up House Resolution No. 173, at this time, without reference to committee or file.

Resolution read, and adopted unanimously.

Speaker Pro Tempore Presiding

At 10.25 a.m., Hon. Thomas A. Maloney, Speaker pro Tempore of the Assembly, presiding.

REPORTS OF STANDING COMMITTEES

Committee on Ways and Means

ASSEMBLY CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, May 8, 1947

MR. SPEAKER: Your Committee on Ways and Means, to which was referred:

Senate Bill No. 1556

Has had the same under consideration, and reports the same back with the recommendation: Do pass.

WOLLENBERG, Chairman

Above reported bill ordered to second reading.

RECOMMENDATION OF THE GOVERNOR

In accordance with Article IV, Section 34, of the Constitution, the Governor presented the following communication recommending the passage of Senate Bill No. 1556:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA
GOVERNOR'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO, April 24, 1947

To the Honorable Members of the Assembly
Sacramento, California

GENTLEMEN:

Senate Bill No. 1556—"An act to make an appropriation to the Agricultural Research Study Committee, to take effect immediately," in my opinion constitutes an emergency bill within the meaning of that term as used in Section 34 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California, the consideration of which should not await the final enactment of the Budget Bill.

I therefore recommend consideration of Senate Bill No. 1556 as an emergency measure.

Respectfully submitted.

EARL WARREN, Governor

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT

Mr. Clarke asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent to take up Senate Bill No. 1556, at this time, without reference to file.

CONSIDERATION OF SENATE BILL NO. 1556

Senate Bill No. 1556—An act to make an appropriation to the Agricultural Research Study Committee, to take effect immediately.

Bill read second time.

Resolution to Suspend Constitutional Provision

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolution was offered:

By Messrs. Thomas, Fletcher, and Stanley:

House Resolution No. 175

Relative to requesting the War Department to aid in prevention of serious damage to private property on Orange County beaches

WHEREAS, In past years the erosion caused by wave action on the Orange County beaches south of Anaheim Harbor has been repaired by a natural replenishment of sand supply originating from the Los Angeles and San Gabriel Rivers and moved by the littoral draft southward to said beaches, thereby lessening the damaging effects of storms to communities built along the shore line; and

WHEREAS, In the years 1944-1945, Anaheim Harbor was constructed by the United States Navy as a harbor for small naval craft transporting ammunition from the Navy depot established adjacent thereto, to naval craft offshore; and

WHEREAS, This project included the construction of a 2,300 foot extension to the Seal Beach jetty and an East jetty, 3,936 feet in length some distance downcoast from the West jetty extension, in addition to the dredging on an entrance channel and establishment of an inner harbor; and

WHEREAS, The natural replenishment of sand supply to the beaches south of this harbor, already reduced during the past 40 years as a result of flood control and water conservation works and off-shore structures, has now been practically eliminated by the erection of the East and West jetties, which have intercepted and deflected the littoral drift, and caused great changes in the mean high tide line and in the shore line of this area; and

WHEREAS, The elimination of natural sand supply to these beaches has caused not only the recent expenditure of thousands of dollars on the part of property owners in building bulkheads to protect their homes from storms, but also resulted in the inundation of numerous building lots and the threatened destruction of homes in Surf Side Colony in February, 1947; and

WHEREAS, A recurrence of severe storms accompanied by ground swells, such as experienced in past years, would result in incalculable damage to private property in Surf Side Colony and Sunset Beach, as well as serious damage to the section of the Coast Highway from Seal Beach to Huntington Beach, and to other public property, unless immediate steps are taken to replenish the sand supply by artificial means; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Secretary of War of the United States is hereby memorialized and requested, in view of the urgency of the situation, to take immediate steps to follow the recommendations set forth by the Los Angeles Office of the United States Army Engineers, which recommendations were formulated at a meeting held at Seal Beach, California, on February 7, 1947; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly is hereby directed to transmit a copy of this resolution to the Secretary of War of the United States.

Resolution read, and referred to the Committee on Rules.

RESOLUTIONS

By Messrs. Conrad, Huyck, Caldecott, Cooke, Waters, Grunsky, Mrs. Niehouse, Messrs. Cramer, Luckel, Elliott, Kirkwood, Dolwig, Hahn, Collier, James, Hinckley, and Anderson:

House Resolution No. 176

In commemoration of the second anniversary of V-E Day

WHEREAS, On May 8, 1945, the people of the United States received the glorious news of the official ending of World War II in Europe; and

WHEREAS, The news was the occasion for world-wide rejoicing and thankfulness that so much of the horrible task of war was over; that in Europe, at least, the fearful toll of battle had ceased, and that hearts might lift with new hope to the day when the war in the Pacific would also come to an end; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That on this second anniversary of V-E Day the Members of this Assembly ask the people of the State of California, and of this Nation, to join with them in renewed thanksgiving for the end of the struggle and for the young lives spared, in solemn meditation commemorative of those who gave their precious lives for the victory we hail, and in earnest dedication of the best of which we are capable, in thought and deed, to achieve victory in peace also and to bring to this State and Nation the blessings for which so many thousands hoped, worked, fought, and died throughout the war, and without which V-E Day shall have been in vain.

Resolution read, and referred to the Committee on Rules.

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT THAT ENGROSSED COPY OF HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 171 BE MADE

Mr. Geddes asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent that an engrossed copy of House Resolution No. 171 be ordered made.

"An act to provide for the exclusion of a part of the territory of one incorporated city and the annexation thereof to another incorporated city adjacent thereto"

Amendment No. 2

On page 1 of said bill, strike out lines 1 to 16, inclusive, and insert

"SECTION 1. The boundaries of any incorporated city may be altered upon procedure being taken as in this act provided.

SEC. 2. Upon receipt of a petition for the exclusion of a part of the territory of one incorporated city and the annexation thereof to another incorporated city adjacent thereto, containing a description of the territory thus affected and containing the signatures of not less than one-fourth in number of the registered electors residing within the territory proposed to be excluded, the legislative bodies of both incorporated cities may, by a four-fifths vote of the members of each body, approve the proposed alteration.

SEC. 3. If the proposed alteration of territory is approved by the legislative bodies of both cities in accordance with the provisions of Section 2, the legislative body of the city from which the territory is proposed to be excluded shall submit to the electors of such territory the question whether such territory as is proposed by such petition, shall be excluded from such municipal corporation and be annexed to the adjacent municipal corporation specified in the petition.

SEC. 4. Such question shall be submitted at a special election to be held for that purpose, to be conducted, insofar as applicable thereto and not in conflict with this act, in accordance with the provisions of the Annexation Act of 1913, Chapter 317, Statutes 1913.

SEC. 5. The legislative body of the city from which the territory is proposed to be excluded shall give notice thereof by publication in a newspaper printed and published in such city once each week for a period of four weeks prior to such election. Such notice shall distinctly state the proposition to be so submitted, and shall designate specifically the boundaries of the territory so proposed to be altered. The electors shall be instructed thereby to vote for such proposition by placing upon their ballots the words "for exclusion" or "against exclusion" or words equivalent thereto

SEC. 6. If it shall appear from the canvass of the votes cast that a majority of all the votes cast in such territory shall be for exclusion, such legislative body shall, by an order entered upon their minutes, cause their clerk, or other officer performing the duties of clerk, to make and transmit to the Secretary of State a certified abstract of such vote, which abstract shall show the number of electors voting in such territory, the number of votes cast for exclusion, and the number of votes cast against exclusion, and a certificate of the filing of such document in his office shall be transmitted by the Secretary of State forthwith to the clerk or other officer performing the duties of clerk of the legislative body of the municipal corporation from which the territory was excluded and to the legislative body of the municipal corporation to which the territory was annexed, and to the board of supervisors of the county in which said municipal corporations are situated.

SEC. 7. From and after the date of filing such abstract, such alteration of territory shall be deemed complete, and thereafter such territory shall cease to be a part of the municipal corporation from which it was excluded; provided, that nothing contained in this act shall be held to relieve in any manner whatsoever any part of such territory from any liability for any debts contracted by such municipal corporation prior to such exclusion; and provided, further, that such municipal corporation is hereby authorized to levy and collect from any territory so excluded, from time to time, such sums of money as shall be found due from it on account of its just proportion of liability for any payment on the principal and interest of such debts.

SEC. 8. Whenever any municipal corporation to which it is proposed to annex territory under the provisions of this act shall have incurred, or authorized the incurring of, any bonded indebtedness for the acquisition, construction, or completion of any municipal improvement or improvements, the petition presented in accordance with Section 2 of this act may contain a request that the question be submitted to the electors residing in the territory proposed to be excluded as to whether the property therein shall be, after such exclusion, subject to taxation equally with the property within such municipal corporation to which annexation is proposed, and to pay any specified portion of such bonded indebtedness of such municipal corporation outstanding at the date of the filing of such petition. If such a request is contained in the petition for exclusion, the question shall be submitted to the electorate along with the question as to the exclusion and shall be deemed a part of the same question.

SEC. 9. If the vote of the electorate shall be against exclusion, no election for the exclusion of the same territory under the provisions of this act shall be held again within one year from the date of such former election."

Amendments read, and adopted.

"SECTION 1. Chapter 3, comprising Sections 3600 to 3607, inclusive, of Division 3 of the Public Resources Code is hereby repealed.

SEC. 2. A new Chapter 3, comprising Sections 3600 to 3608, inclusive, is added to Division 3 of said code, to read:

CHAPTER 3. SPACING OF WELLS AND COMMUNITY LEASES

3600. Except as otherwise provided in this chapter, any well hereafter drilled for oil or gas, or hereafter drilled and permitted to produce oil or gas, which is located within 100 feet of an outer boundary of the parcel of land on which the well is situated, or within 100 feet of a public street or road or highway dedicated prior to the commencement of drilling of the well, or within 150 feet of either a well being drilled or a well theretofore drilled which is producing oil or gas or a well which has been drilled and is not producing but which is capable of producing oil or gas, is a public nuisance.

3601. Where several contiguous parcels of land in one or different ownerships are operated as a single oil or gas lease or operating unit, the term "outer boundary line" means the outer boundary line of the lands included in the lease or unit. In determining the contiguity of any such parcels of land, no street, road or alley lying within the lease or unit shall be deemed to interrupt such contiguity.

3602. Where a parcel of land contains one acre or more, but is less than 250 feet in width, there may be drilled on the parcel of land not more than one well to each acre of the area if the well is so placed as to be as far from the lateral boundary lines of the parcel of land as the configuration of the surface and the existing improvements thereon will permit.

3603. For the purposes of this chapter, an alley which intersects or lies within any block or other subdivision unit is not a public street or road.

3604. Each day in which the drilling of any well is carried on, or on which it is permitted to produce oil or gas in violation of this chapter is a separate nuisance.

3605. The provisions of this chapter do not apply to any field producing oil or gas on August 14, 1931.

3606. Notwithstanding any other provisions of this chapter, where a parcel of land contains one acre or more and where all or substantially all of the surface of such parcel of land is unavailable for the surface location of oil or gas wells, there may be drilled or produced not more than one well into each acre of such parcel of land, and the surface location of such well may be located upon property which may or may not contain one acre or more of surface area, and the property upon the surface of which the surface location of such well may be located may or may not be contiguous to such parcel of land, provided:

1. No operator shall construct or maintain any derrick within 150 feet of any other derrick, then standing, of such operator.

2. The surface location of such well, as measured from the center of the hole, shall be not less than 25 feet from an outer boundary of the surface of the property upon which such well is located, and shall be not less than 25 feet from any dedicated public street, road or highway which is so dedicated and in such public use at the time of the commencement of drilling of such well.

3. The producing interval of such well shall be not less than 75 feet from an outer boundary of the parcel of land into which such producing interval is drilled, and the producing interval of such well shall be not less than 150 feet, as measured horizontally in the same zone, from the producing interval of any other well which is producing or capable of producing oil or gas.

To enforce the provisions of this section, the supervisor may require, at the time supervisor gives approval of notice of intention to drill, redrill or deepen, that a subsurface directional survey be made for such well, and that a plat of said directional survey be filed with the supervisor within fifteen (15) days of completion, and such plat shall be open to inspection by any other operator in the field in which the well is located.

3607. The prohibition set forth in Section 3600 against drilling within 100 feet of any public street or highway shall not apply in the case of any street or highway which is opened through a field in which drilling was commenced prior to the opening of the street or highway.

3608 Where land aggregating less than one acre is surrounded by other lands, which other lands are subject to an oil and gas lease aggregating one acre or more, and if, under the provisions of Sections 3600 to 3607, inclusive, of the Public Resources Code, the drilling or producing of a well on said land is declared to be a public nuisance, said land shall, for oil and gas development purposes and to prevent waste and to protect the oil and gas rights of landowners, be deemed included in said oil and gas leasehold on said other lands at the time there is filed with the State Oil and Gas Supervisor a notice of intention to drill a well upon the said leasehold covering said other lands.

The owners of the oil and gas mineral rights in said land so deemed included in said oil and gas leasehold on said other lands, as herein provided, shall thereafter receive in money, based upon the production of oil and gas from said leasehold including said land, a pro rata share of the landowners' royalty determined in accordance with the provisions of said oil and gas lease in the proportion that the area of said land bears to the aggregate of the total area covered by said oil and gas lease including the area of said land; provided, further, that said owners of said oil and gas mineral rights in said land shall in no case receive less than their pro rata share determined, as herein provided, of the value of one-eighth part of the oil and gas produced, saved and sold from the operating unit comprising said leasehold on said other lands and said land, computed in accordance with the provisions of said oil, and gas lease with respect to the computation of landowners' royalty; and provided, further, that without the consent of said owners of said land the lessee or operator of said oil and gas leasehold shall have no right to use the surface of said land nor to use the subsurface thereof down to a depth of 200 feet below the surface thereof.

Where said land aggregating less than one acre is surrounded by lands which are not subject to a single oil or gas leasehold but is surrounded by lands which are subject to two or more separate oil or gas leaseholds, one or more of which oil or gas leaseholds aggregates one acre or more, then in such event the said land aggregating less than one acre shall, as herein provided, be included within and be joined to that oil and gas leasehold aggregating one acre or more as to which said parcel of land aggregating less than one acre has the longest common boundary.

In determining the contiguity of any parcels of land for the purposes hereof, no road, street or alley shall be deemed to interrupt such contiguity.

SEC. 3. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety within the meaning of Section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution and as such shall take effect immediately. The facts constituting such necessity are as follows:

A recent decision of the California Supreme Court held that Sections 3600 to 3607 of the Public Resources Code are unconstitutional under the circumstances set forth in that case Unless this act takes effect immediately, wells will be drilled in violation of the policy of this State expressed in those sections for the conservation of natural resources and the observance of safe and orderly oil field operations upon the surface of the land and as a result of such violation large quantities of natural gas would be wasted to the air."

Amendments read, and adopted.

Bill ordered reprinted, and engrossed.

Amendment No. 2

On page 2 of said bill, strike out all of lines 5 to 23, both inclusive, and insert

"SEC. 17. Maximum Rate of Charge. Every licensee hereunder who lends any sum of money not to exceed five thousand dollars ($5,000) in amount may contract for and receive thereon charges at a rate not exceeding two and one-half percentum (2½%) per month on that part of the unpaid principal balance of any loan up to and including but not in excess of one hundred dollars ($100), two percentum (2%) per month on that portion of the unpaid principal balance in excess of one hundred dollars ($100) up to and including but not in excess of one thousand dollars ($1,000), and five-sixths of one percentum (⅚%) per month on any remainder of such unpaid principal balance in excess of one thousand dollars ($1,000). If, however, any property securing any loan made by licensee is insured against loss in favor of the licensee, the latter may only contract for and receive thereon charges at a rate not exceeding two percentum (2%) per month on that portion of the unpaid principal balance up to and including, but not in excess of one thousand dollars ($1,000), and five-sixths of one percentum (⅚%) per month on that portion of the unpaid principal balance in excess of one thousand dollars ($1,000)."

Amendment No. 3

On page 2, line 23, of said bill, after the period, insert "The maximum charges on loans made under this act shall be computed as a percentage per month of the unpaid principal balance on the number of days actually elapsed between the making of the original advance and the first repayment of charges and principal and thereafter since the immediately previous repayment of charges and principal. For the purposes of this computation a month shall be any period of thirty (30) consecutive days. The "unpaid principal balance" shall mean the net amount of money, credit, goods or things in action received by the borrower at the time of entering into the transaction and decreasing the balances thereof after application of each payment made on the application in accordance with the provisions in this section. Each payment made by the borrower shall be applicable, first, to the maximum rate of interest and, second, the balance of each payment shall be applied to the reduction of the unpaid principal balance of the loan.

However, the lender may contract for the payment of interest, brokerage and all other charges in advance, provided, that however the loan is contracted and paid it shall be subject to the formula set forth in paragraph one of this section of this act and subject to the maximum limitation on rates of interest, brokerage and all other charges provided in said first paragraph of this section of this act."

Amendment No. 4

On page 3, line 51, of said bill, strike out the period after "credit", and insert "of the amount or value of five thousand dollars ($5,000) or less."

Amendment No. 5

On page 4, line 6, of said bill, after "loan", and before "for", insert "of the amount or value of five thousand dollars ($5,000) or less,".

Amendment No. 6

On page 4, line 13, of said bill, after "California", and before "under", insert "of the amount or value of five thousand dollars ($5,000) or less,".

Amendment No. 7

On page 4, line 49, of said bill, strike out the comma after "loan", and insert "of five thousand dollars ($5,000) or less,".

Amendment No. 8

On page 5, line 35, of said bill, strike out the comma after "loans", and insert "in the amount of five thousand dollars ($5,000) or less,".

Amendment No. 9

On page 5 of said bill, strike out lines 48 to 52, both inclusive; and on page 6, strike out lines 1 to 13, both inclusive, and insert

"SEC. 17. Maximum Rate of Charge. Every licensee hereunder who lends any sum of money not to exceed five thousand dollars ($5,000) in amount may contract for and receive thereon charges at a rate not exceeding two and one-half percentum (2½%) per month on that part of the unpaid principal balance of any loan up to and including but not in excess of one hundred dollars ($100), two percentum

(2%) per month on that portion of the unpaid principal balance in excess of one hundred dollars ($100) up to and including but not in excess of one thousand dollars ($1,000), and five-sixths of one percentum (5⅚%) per month on any remainder of such unpaid principal balance in excess of one thousand dollars ($1,000). If, however, any property securing any loan made by a licensee is insured against loss in favor of the licensee, the latter may only contract for and receive thereon charges at a rate not exceeding two percentum (2%) per month on that portion of the unpaid principal balance up to and including, but not in excess of one thousand dollars ($1,000), and five-sixths of one percentum (⅚%) per month on that portion of the unpaid principal balance in excess of one thousand dollars ($1,000)."

Amendment No. 10

On page 6 of said bill, strike out lines 32 to 48, both inclusive, and insert

"No charges on loans made under this act shall be paid, deducted, or received in advance, or compounded. The maximum charges on loans made under this act shall be computed as a percentage per month of the unpaid principal balance or portions thereof on the basis of the number of days actually elapsed, for the purpose of which computations a month shall be any period of thirty (30) consecutive days; provided, however, that the loan contract may provide for payment of the aggregate amount contracted to be paid, including charges which would be collectible if agreed installments were paid as scheduled, in substantially equal periodical installments, in which case, charges not exceeding said maximums may, at the option of the licensee, be added to the original principal amount, provided that thereby the rate permitted to be charged in the first paragraph of this section shall not be increased. Whenever charges collected exceed the maximum provided by the first paragraph of this section by reason of repayment of the loan prior to maturity or the payment of installments prior to the due date thereof, such excess shall be refunded to the borrower or credited on any balance owing by the borrower to the licensee at or prior to final payment of the loan. In addition to the charges permitted by this section, no further or other amount whatsoever shall be directly or indirectly charged, contracted for, or received by the personal property broker or the broker, or any other person, and the total charges of the personal property broker and broker, and any other person in the aggregate shall not exceed the maximum rate provided in the first paragraph of this section, computed on the unpaid principal balances of the loan, in computing which all payments made by the borrower shall be applicable, first, to charges within the maximum provided in the first paragraph of this section and, secondly, to reduction of the unpaid principal of the loan advanced to the borrower."

Amendment No. 11

On page 7, line 42, of said bill, strike out the period after "credit", and insert "of the amount or value of five thousand dollars ($5,000) or less"

Amendment No. 12

On page 7, line 49, of said bill, after "loan", and before "for", insert "of the amount or value of five thousand dollars ($5,000) or less,".

Amendment No. 13

On page 8, line 5, of said bill, after "California", and before "under", insert "of the amount or value of five thousand dollars ($5,000) or less,".

Amendment No. 14

On page 8, line 40, of said bill, strike out the comma after "loan", and insert "of five thousand dollars ($5,000) or less,".

CONSIDERATION OF SENATE BILL NO. 746

Hon. Augustus F. Hawkins Presiding

At 11.15 a.m., Hon. Augustus F. Hawkins, Member of the Assembly from the Sixty-second District, presiding.

Resolution to Suspend Constitutional Provision

By Mr. Crowley:

Resolved, That Senate Bill No 746 presents a case of urgency, as that term is used in Article IV, Section 15, of the Constitution, and the provision of that section requiring that the bill be read on three several days in each house is hereby dispensed with, and it is ordered that said bill be read the third time, and placed upon its passage.

Resolution read.

The roll was called, and the resolution adopted by the following vote:

AYES—Anderson, Beck, Bennett, Berry, Blosser, Boyd, Brady, Burke, Burns, Caldecott, Carey, Clarke, Collier, Conrad, Crichton, Crowley, Lester T Davis, M. Philip Davis, Dickey, Clayton A. Consideration of Amendments Nos. 1, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 10, 11, 12, 13, and 14, to Assembly Bill No. 663

Amendment No. 1

On page 1, line 10, of the printed bill, as amended in the Assembly on April 23, 1947, strike out the comma after "loans", and insert "in the amount of five thousand dollars ($5,000) or less,".

Amendment No. 3

On page 2, line 23, of said bill, after the period, insert "The maximum charges on loans made under this act shall be computed as a percentage per month of the unpaid principal balance on the number of days actually elapsed between the making of the original advance and the first repayment of charges and principal and thereafter since the immediately previous repayment of charges and principal. For the purposes of this computation a month shall be any period of thirty (30) consecutive days. The "unpaid principal balance" shall mean the net amount of money, credit, goods or things in action received by the borrower at the time of entering into the transaction and decreasing the balances thereof after application of each payment made on the application in accordance with the provisions in this section. Each payment made by the borrower shall be applicable, first, to the maximum rate of interest and, second, the balance of each payment shall be applied to the reduction of the unpaid principal balance of the loan.

However, the lender may contract for the payment of interest, brokerage and all other charges in advance; provided, that however the loan is contracted and paid it shall be subject to the formula set forth in paragraph one of this section of this act and subject to the maximum limitation on rates of interest, brokerage and all other charges provided in said first paragraph of this section of this act."

Amendment No. 4

On page 3, line 31, of said bill, strike out the period after "credit", and insert "of the amount or value of five thousand dollars ($5,000) or less"

House Resolution No. 177

Relative to Mother's Day

WHEREAS, On Sunday, May 11, 1947, once again, in reverence, the people of America, kneel at the altar of sacred memories, to commemorate Mother's Day; and

WHEREAS, As we recall Mother's tender caresses, her loving embraces, and her sweet lullabies at twilight, and hear once again her soft voice, which once made our infant hearts rejoice, we know there can be no greater privilege than to voice tomorrow paeans of thanksgiving to the Almighty who so planned the universe to give Mothers to men; and

WHEREAS, To the Members of the Assembly of the State of California who still have the honored privilege of having God's most precious gift to man, Mother, still with them, you are blessed, for you are the children that can still have the benediction of her fading eyes, and the caress of her trembling lips; and to the members whose Mothers have reached journey's end, we recall the prayers that she taught us as we knelt at her knees in the dusk, and told us of God and His Mother, forever to pray and to trust; and that, we will continue to do; and

WHEREAS, As we, the members of this law-making body of the State of California, approach Mother's Day, we are delighted and privileged to pay honor and respect to one of our own members, a mother, the Honorable Kathryn Niehouse of the Seventy-ninth District, San Diego, California; and

WHEREAS, Mrs. Niehouse's contribution to her Country in this late war, along with the millions of other American mothers who watched their sons off to war, was for the purpose of seeing children everywhere born in freedom, reared in peace, and matured in homes which should be free; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That we the Members of the Assembly of the State of California, in regular session assembled, do hereby dedicate Mother's Day of 1947 to the mothers of the world, and respectfully request the people of California to join with us to honor "Mother," as we venerate her cherished name, and once again take her to our hearts; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly is hereby directed to present to the Honorable Kathryn Niehouse a suitably prepared copy of this resolution.

Resolution read.

Request for Unanimous Consent That All Members Be Named as Co-Authors on House Resolution No. 177

Motion carried.

Remarks by Speaker Pro Tempore Thomas A. Maloney Re a Tribute to the Mothers of the World

Mr. Speaker and Members of the Assembly

In presenting this "Mother's Day" resolution to you, I know it is not necessary to ask you to vote for its adoption as that is what you will do.

However, in drawing up this resolution, I took particular pride in, not only paying a tribute to the mothers of the world, but to also pay a tribute to the living mothers of the Members of this Assembly, a tribute to the departed mothers of the Members of this Assembly and also a tribute to a Member of this Assembly, who is a "Mother" and I refer to Assemblywoman Kathryn Niehouse from the Seventy-ninth District, San Diego, California.

On Sunday, May the eleventh, we will bow our heads to the shrine of Motherhood.

While we have just emerged from a dreadful war, which in all respects, regardless of our overwhelming victory, brought sorrow to every mother who had a son or daughter in the military of our Country, we pause on Mother's Day, to convey to her our love and respect, whether she be with us, or occupying her rightful place in her heavenly home

Do not the chords of memory swell within the heart of each of us as we contemplate all the love, that one lady—your mother and mine—has given to us.

To them we say

"So much you have given to others
To make life seem worthwhile,
So much of true love and friendship
Your helping hand and smile
That every one, I venture
Would join with me and say—
'The best that life or eternity has to offer,
We wish for you on Mother's Day'."

As long as there are mothers, there will exist the divine flame of love that warms the hearts of humanity.

As long as that flame burns, gray haired men and gray haired women will look backward through the mist of years and find their tenderest, sweetest recollections in thought of the ministrations and love of their mother.

If our home be a home of poverty, mother gives it the sanctity of a temple. There in that home, under the watchful eye of a mother, the principles of kindliness are implanted so that they bud and blossom in the heart of the child. There in that home the love of Country and of Flag are really born. There in that home the tender love a mother, beginning before birth, and lasting until after death, that love which spans the ocean of eternity, sends back its influence from beyond the grave to bless and to sanctify the lives of the living.

So in adopting this resolution today with the beautiful sentiments correlative to mother contained in it, let us remember the words of tribute paid by Joaquin Miller when he said:

"The bravest battle ever fought
Shall I tell you where and when?
On the maps of the world you will find it not,
'Twas fought by mothers of men."

And, as I conclude, after searching among plain and lovely words for a meaning of the word "Mother," I find:

"That love, beyond the dream of anyone,
I search for words for her, and there are none."

Remarks by Mrs. Niehouse on House Resolution No. 177

I want to thank the Members of the Assembly in my own behalf and the behalf of the mothers of this State.

This is the first postwar session, and I want to say that the State is proud of the mothers of our State.

This Sunday many mothers' hearts will be broken. With those we sympathize. Others will rejoice because our sons are home with us.

During the war, the mothers who sent their sons, and those young mothers who waited so patiently for their return, worked side by side in their war efforts. Today they are working together for a permanent peace

This resolution is a great tribute to the mother. That you gentlemen stopped in your busy life here in the Legislature to pay tribute to we mothers is a tribute. I thank you.

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolutions were offered:

By Mr. Maloney:

House Resolution No. 180

Relative to the Golden Jubilee of the Salesians of St. John Bosco in California

WHEREAS, The Salesians of St. John Bosco arrived in San Francisco in 1897 to take charge of the Church of SS. Peter and Paul, and for the past 50 years the Salesian Fathers have labored unselfishly in the City and County of San Francisco, and in other communities in the State of California, and have made substantial contributions to the spiritual and moral welfare of the people; and

WHEREAS, These 50 years of endeavor have greatly expanded the work so ably begun by the late Reverend Raffaele Piperni, S. C., the Salesian pioneer in California, and advanced so well by the late Reverend Oreste Trinchieri, S. C., the beloved founder of Salesian Boys' Club, the Salesians of St. John Bosco now having charge of Corpus Christi Church in San Francisco, and having churches also in Oakland, Watsonville, and Los Angeles, carrying on the work of the Salesian Boys' Club of San Francisco, schools at Watsonville, Richmond, and Bellflower, and summer camps and other youth organizations in California; and

WHEREAS, The Salesian Fathers, in carrying on the youth program of St. John Bosco, beloved apostle of youth, in such activities as the Salesian Boys' Club of San Francisco, have given spiritual and moral training to the youth of our State, contributing greatly to the development of outstanding citizens and leaders; and

WHEREAS, The City and County of San Francisco, in which much of this splendid work has been done, will hold a civic celebration in the War Memorial Opera House in San Francisco, on Friday evening, May 23, 1947, honoring the Golden Jubilee of the Salesians of St. John Bosco in California; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Members of this Assembly, on behalf of the people of the State of California, hereby take public recognition of, and heartily commend, the great contributions made by the Salesian Fathers to the spiritual and moral welfare of the people of this State, and by this resolution pay public tribute to the work of the late Reverend Raffaele Piperni, S. C., the Salesian pioneer in California, and of the late Reverend Oreste Trinchieri, S. C., beloved founder of Salesian Boys' Club of San Francisco; and be it further

Resolved, That the Speaker of the Assembly appoint a committee of three from among the San Francisco Delegation to this Assembly, to attend and participate in the civic celebration in honor of the Golden Jubilee of the Salesians of St. John Bosco in California, in the San Francisco War Memorial Opera House on Friday evening, May 23, 1947, and to convey the respects and felicitations of this body to the Salesian Fathers upon the occasion of this Golden Jubilee celebration; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly transmit suitably prepared copies of this resolution to Very Reverend E. M. Tozzi, S. C., Provincial of the Salesian Fathers in the West, Reverend Joseph Costanzo, S C, Pastor of the Church of SS Peter and Paul, and Reverend Thomas DeMatei, Pastor of Corpus Christi Church.

Request for Unanimous Consent

Mr. Maloney asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent to take up House Resolution No. 180, at this time, without reference to committee or file.

Resolution read, and adopted.

By Messrs. Gannon and Burns:

House Resolution No. 181

Relative to Harry K. Orman, former Superintendent of the State Printing Plant

WHEREAS, To many Members of this Assembly, the death of Harry K. Orman on May 7, 1947, in Sacramento, California, means the passing of an old and dear friend, a man who gave many years of able service to the State of California; and

WHEREAS, Harry K. Orman was born in Arcata, Humboldt County, of pioneer parents, attended the elementary schools of that area, and learned his printer's trade in the tradition of the early day newspapers of that area, working on The Arcata Union, then edited by Wiley, known as one of the most forthright and able editors of that day in Northern California; and

WHEREAS, From his early experience Harry K. Orman developed a dependability, honesty, and serious-minded outlook on life, yet possessed the warm human qualities derived from a deep sense of humor which remained with him to the end of his life; and

WHEREAS, As a man of affectionate nature, Harry K Orman was devoted to his late wife, Rose H. Orman, during their married life and to his brothers, Walter Orman of Scotia and Charles Orman of Burlingame, who predeceased him and his son, Harry M. Orman of Sacramento, who survives;

In 1894 he entered the service of this State in the old State Printing Plant, then located at Fifteenth and L Streets in Sacramento. His experience in the printing trade, combined with his outstanding ability to get the job done with a human, friendly respect for the feelings of his co-workers, led him progressively from work as compositor to the office of Superintendent of the State Printing Plant This office he ably conducted from June, 1940, until his retirement on March 1, 1945; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That when this Assembly this day adjourns it do so out of respect to the memory of Harry K. Orman, an able and devoted public servant, a well loved and deeply mourned friend of many Members of this Assembly; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly transmit suitably prepared copies of this resolution to Harry M. Orman of Sacramento, son of Harry K. Orman.

Request for Unanimous Consent

Mr. Gannon asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent to take up House Resolution No. 181, at this time, without reference to committee or file.

Resolution read, and adopted unanimously.

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT

Mr. Conrad asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent to take up House Resolution No. 176, at this time, without reference to file.

House Resolution No. 176

In commemoration of the second anniversary of V-E Day

WHEREAS, On May 8, 1945, the people of the United States received the glorious news of the official ending of World War II in Europe; and

WHEREAS, The news was the occasion for world wide rejoicing and thankfulness that so much of the horrible task of war was over; that in Europe, at least, the fearful toll of battle had ceased, and that hearts might lift with new hope to the day when the war in the Pacific would also come to an end; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That on this second anniversary of V-E Day the Members of this Assembly ask the people of the State of California, and of this Nation, to join with them in renewed thanksgiving for the end of the struggle and for the young lives spared, in solemn meditation commemorative of those who gave their precious lives for the victory we hail, and in earnest dedication of the best of which we are capable, in thought and deed, to achieve victory in peace also and to bring to this State and Nation the blessings for which so many thousands hoped, worked, fought, and died throughout the war, and without which V-E Day shall have been in vain.

Resolution read, and adopted.

STATEMENT

Immediately following the roll call I was called to a meeting of a Committee of the Whole in the Senate to explain Assembly Bill No. 2120, pertaining to the support of the Public School System, and was unable to return until 11.40 a m.

7095. No state equalization aid shall be allowed under this article during the Fiscal Year 1948-1949, or during any subsequent fiscal year unless there shall have been levied, pursuant to Division 3 of this code, for such district during the preceding fiscal year a tax not less than that set forth in Article 9 of this chapter for the district, and no district which has met the requirements of this section and is otherwise entitled to state equalization aid shall be denied such aid."

Amendment No. 26

"7111. If the total amount allowed to all elementary school districts and to all county school service funds under Articles 6 and 10 of this chapter on account of the average daily attendance of pupils in elementary school grades and in schools or classes of elementary school grade maintained by county superintendents of schools, is less than the total amount required to be transferred to the State School Fund on account of such average daily attendance, minus an amount equal to the amounts allowed under Sections 7001 and 7011 on account of such average daily attendance plus three-fourths of the amount allowed under Section 7003, the balance shall be allowed by the Superintendent of Public Instruction to elementary school districts receiving state equalization aid during the then current fiscal year. The amount allowed each such district shall be in the ratio that the amount of the balance bears to the total amount apportioned as equalization aid to all elementary school districts, multiplied by the amount of equalization aid apportioned to the district.

7112. If the total amount allowed to all districts maintaining high school grades and county school service funds under Articles 7 and 10 of this chapter on account of the average daily attendance of pupils in high school grades and in schools or classes of high school grade maintained by county superintendents of schools is less than the total amount required to be transferred to the State School Fund on account of such average daily attendance, minus an amount equal to the amounts allowed under Sections 7001 and 7011 on account of such average daily attendance plus one-fourth of the amount allowed under Section 7003, the balance shall be allowed by the Superintendent of Public Instruction to districts maintaining high school grades receiving state equalization aid during the then current fiscal year. The amount allowed each such district shall be in the ratio that the amount of the balance bears to the total amount apportioned as equalization aid to all such districts, multiplied by the amount of equalization aid apportioned to the district.

7114. If the total amount allowed to all elementary school districts and county school service funds from the State School Fund under Articles 6 and 10 of this chapter on account of the average daily attendance of pupils in elementary school districts and in schools or classes of elementary school grade maintained by county superintendents of schools is larger than the total amounts required to be transferred to the State School Fund on account of such average daily attendance, minus an amount equal to the amounts allowed under Sections 7001 and 7011 on account of such average daily attendance plus three-fourths of the amount provided in Section 7003, the amount allowed each such district as state equalization aid, shall be reduced in the ratio that the amount of the deficit bears to the total amount of equalization aid multiplied by the amount of equalization aid assumed to be apportioned to the district.

7115. If the total amount allowed to all districts maintaining high school grades and county school service funds from the State School Fund under Articles 7 and 10 of this chapter on account of the average daily attendance of pupils in high school districts and in schools or classes of high school grade maintained by county superintendents of schools, is larger than the total amounts required to be transferred to the State School Fund on account of such average daily attendance, minus an amount equal to the amounts allowed under Sections 7001 and 7011, on account of such average daily attendance plus one-fourth of the amount allowed in Section 7003, the amount allowed each such district as equalization aid from the State School Fund, shall be reduced in the ratio that the amount of the deficit bears to the total amount of equalization aid multiplied by the amount of equalization aid assumed to be apportioned to the district.

7116. If the total amount allowed to all districts maintaining junior college grades and county school service funds from the State School Fund under Articles 8 and 10 of this chapter on account of the average daily attendance of pupils in junior college districts and in schools or classes of junior college grade maintained by county superintendents of schools, is larger than the total amounts required to be transferred to the State School Fund on account of such average daily attendance, minus an amount equal to the amount allowed under Section 7001 on account of such average daily attendance, the amount allowed each such district from the State School Fund as equalization aid, shall be reduced in the ratio that the amount of the deficit bears to the total amount of equalization aid multiplied by the amount of equalization aid assumed to be apportioned to the district.

7117. If the total amounts of the computations or allowances to the county school service funds under Section 7002 is less than the total amount allowable to such funds under Section 7001, the balance shall be apportioned to all school districts receiving equalization aid during the then fiscal year. The amount allowed each such district shall be in the ratio that the amount of this balance bears to the total amount apportioned as equalization aid to all districts, multiplied by the amount of equalization aid apportioned to the district."

Amendment No. 27

On page 19 of said bill, strike out lines 31 to 49, inclusive, and insert

"7125. The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall apportion to the county high school tuition fund of each county the amount required to be allowed thereto by Section 7211.

7126. If the total of the amounts allowed school districts under Sections 7012 and 7023 is less than the amount computed under Section 7011, the Superintendent of Public Instruction shall, not later than June 1st of the then current fiscal year, apportion the balance to those districts allowed state equalization aid during said fiscal year pro rata on the average daily attendance during the preceding fiscal years in the elementary districts, high school districts, and junior college districts, exclusive of grades 13 and 14, of such districts."

Amendment No. 28

On page 20, line 30, of said bill, strike out "and", and insert "to".

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolution was offered:

By Messrs. Rosenthal, Maloney, and Stewart:

House Resolution No. 183

Congratulating Assemblyman Julian Beck upon his birthday

WHEREAS, May 13th is the birthday anniversary of our distinguished colleague, Julian Beck, who, as a babe, was nurtured in that very cradle of liberty, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania; and

WHEREAS, Julian Beck has since most wisely decided to make the San Fernando Valley his home, where he and his wife, Maude Marie, live with their two charming little daughters, Julie Anne and Judith Lynne; and

WHEREAS, Julian Beck, representing the Forty-first Assembly District, is now in this third term as a Member of the Assembly of California, where he has added to his reputation as an able lawyer that of an equally able legislator. Temperate and courteous at all times, with an extraordinary grasp of legislative principles and parliamentary procedure, he has contributed greatly to the work of this Assembly by his presence on the floor, and by his membership in the Assembly Standing Committees on Judiciary, Education, Governmental Efficiency and Economy, Social Welfare, and Agriculture Committees; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That Julian Beck is hereby commended and congratulated upon the outstanding service which he has given to the people of the Forty-first Assembly District and to the people of the State of California, and upon his excellent record of service and leadership in this Assembly, and his colleagues hereby extend to him heartiest felicitations upon this his forty-second birthday anniversary; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly transmit a suitably prepared copy of this resolution to Assemblyman Julian Beck as an expression of the esteem and good wishes of his colleagues in this Assembly.

Request for Unanimous Consent

Mr. Maloney asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent to take up House Resolution No. 183, at this time, without reference to committee or file.

Resolution read, and adopted unanimously.

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolution was offered:

By Mr. Doyle:

House Resolution No. 184

Relative to planning and zoning proceedings

WHEREAS, It has come to the attention of this Assembly that in at least one instance variances from a zoning ordinance may be granted without notice and hearing; and

WHEREAS, Assuming that the grant of variances without notice and hearing may be validly accomplished, yet in fairness and in justice to the property owner involved, such variances should only be granted after notice and an opportunity to be heard has been given to all interested property owners; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That it is the sense of this Assembly that all zoning and planning ordinances should contain provision for notice and hearing before any change or variances in zones be granted by the administering authority for such ordinances; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk make suitably prepared copies of this resolution available to Members of the Assembly requesting the same.

Resolution read, and referred to the Committee on Rules.

COMMUNICATIONS

By the Chief Clerk:

The following communication was received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

NAVY DEPARTMENT
BUREAU OF SHIPS, WASHINGTON 25, D. C., May 9, 1947

Hon. Arthur A. Ohnimus, Chief Clerk
Assembly, California Legislature
State Capitol, Sacramento 14, California

DEAR MR. OHNIMUS. Your letter of April 21, 1947, to the President of the United States transmitting California Assembly Joint Resolution No. 3 has been forwarded to this bureau for consideration

The plan proposed by Assembly Joint Resolution No 3 has been suggested by several other groups, communities, and individuals. In fact, the possibility of using vessels of the Navy's Reserve Fleet as hospitals and for housing, has been thoroughly examined by the Navy Department and the National Housing Agency. The proposals to utilize such vessels for the purposes indicated have, in every instance, been abandoned due to the large maintenance and upkeep costs involved. These costs are high principally because of the wages of the maintenance personnel required As maintained by the Navy in a closed and dehumidified condition, however, these costs are extremely small

It should be noted that the total number of hospital ships in the reserve fleet is only four, two on the West Coast and two on the East Coast

Please be assured that the Navy Department is anxious to assist, in every way possible, in improving the present critical housing conditions existing in the Country by making any of its facilities available, where practicable.

Sincerely yours,

C. D. WHEELOCK, Rear Admiral, U. S. N.
Acting Chief of Bureau

House Resolution No. 269

Relative to the creation of the Assembly Committee on Dogs for the Blind

WHEREAS, The Assembly Standing Committee on Social Welfare, confronted with proposals for legislation on the subject of dogs for the blind, and the proper regulation thereof, has found itself unable to recommend legislation without a further study of the facts, and has therefore instructed its chairman to seek the creation of a special interim investigating committee to assist it; now therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, As follows:

1 The Assembly Interim Committee on Dogs for the Blind is hereby created and appointed and authorized and directed to ascertain, study and analyze all facts relating to the methods of training such dogs, the qualifications necessary therefor, the practices employed in soliciting dogs for such training, and in soliciting purchasers for the dogs, the types of advertising used, the warranties implied and expressed, and the extent to which regulation or prohibition of any such, or of any other matter connected therewith, should be imposed and the type of regulation and prohibition best suited therefor, including but not limited to the operating, effect, administration, enforcement and needed revision of any and all laws in any way bearing upon or relating to the subject of this resolution, and to report thereon to the Assembly, including in the reports its recommendations for appropriate legislation.

2. The committee shall consist of five Members of the Assembly appointed by the Speaker thereof. Vacancies occurring or existing in the membership of the committee shall be filled by the appointing power.

3. The committee is authorized to act during this session of the Legislature, including any recess, and after final adjournment to file its final report not later than the last legislative day of the next regular session.

4. The committee and its members shall have and exercise all of the rights, duties and powers conferred upon investigating committees and their members by the provisions of the Joint Rules of the Senate and Assembly and of the Standing Rules of the Assembly as they are adopted and amended from time to time, which provisions are incorporated herein and made applicable to this committee and its members.

5. The committee has the following additional powers and duties:

a. To select a vice chairman from its membership.

b. To cooperate with and secure the cooperation of county, city, city and county, and other local law enforcement agencies in investigating any matter within the scope of this resolution and to direct the sheriff of any county to serve subpenas, orders, and other process issued by the committee.

c To report its findings and recommendations to the Legislature and to the people from time to time, and at any time, not later than herein provided.

d. To do any and all other things necessary or convenient to enable it fully and adequately to exercise its powers, perform its duties, and accomplish the objects and purposes of this resolution.

6. The sum of one thousand dollars ($1,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby made available from the Contingent Fund of the Assembly for the expenses of the committee and its members and for any charges, expenses, or claims it may incur under this resolution, to be disbursed, after certification by the chairman of the committee, upon warrants drawn by the State Controller upon the State Treasurer.

(From the Assembly Journal of June 15, 1945, page 4321)

Membership of Committee

The committee as appointed by Speaker Charles Lyon is: Assemblyman Ralph M. Brown, Chairman; Assemblymen Hawkins, Price and Gaffney, and Assemblywoman Niehouse.

Meetings of Committee

The members of the committee met for the first time in San Francisco at the State Building on September 20, 1946, and later in Los Angeles on November 13, 1946. Assemblyman Edward Gaffney made a special trip to the California Legislative Conference for the Blind at Fresno, California, addressing the group and getting their recommendations upon this subject. The committee investigated the training and the school facilities of the Guide Dogs for the Blind Inc. organization at Los Gatos, California, and Assemblymen Gaffney and Hawkins inspected certain training quarters and schools in Southern California.

The Problem

The Guide Dog problem arose with the introduction of Assembly Bill No. 1876 in the Fifty-sixth Session by the Hon. Albert I. Stewart, Assemblyman from the Forty-seventh District, which proposed that within the State Department of Social Welfare a division be set up to conduct examination and provide qualifications of persons applying for license to train Guide Dogs for the Blind or engaging in the business of doing that, and setting forth certain requirements for trainers.

Witnesses Examined

Marie Walsh: State President of National Association for Advancement of the Blind.

Substance of Evidence Submitted

The committee heard a great deal of evidence by the people above named, as well as by many others on the subject of whether the State should enter into this picture and, if so, should the schools be included as well as the trainers. Many of the witnesses were in favor of some regulation for the trainers but felt that if the schools were brought into the picture that such a proposition before the Legislature would fail, and they seemed to favor a division of regulations between the schools and the regulation of trainers.

There was also a great deal of feeling shown by the witnesses who have such guide dogs that the State would regulate the use of the dog after the blind person receives the dog, as well as some additional fears upon certain phases of state regulation such as social workers making investigations that might result in the taking away of their dogs and attempting to regulate the life of the blind person.

The committee consistently pursued the subject at the first hearings, from an unbiased standpoint, attempting to give no opinion but to ascertain the thoughts of the blind people of the State of California. The various witnesses were not in full agreement as to which organization, if any, should have the supervision of this subject. Some thought that the Department of Social Welfare should be the one, others thought that a new commission should be set up in the Business and Professions Code. Many suggested that we should have a "good" law, without any definite suggestions for the organization to do the regulating.

In general, all agreed that dog trainers should have some regulation; that a blind person should be required to spend at least 30 days in training with the dog and maybe a shorter period for a replacement dog; that a trainer should have perfect eyesight and good hearing; that a trainer should have had apprenticeship training for three to five years; that the student should be trained in all types of traffic.

There was some suggestion that the trainer spend a part of his time being blindfolded for a period of a month and that the trainer should have some educational requirements and be a minimum age of 21 years.

There were many recommendations that people with such guide dogs should not be prohibited from entering into any public building, eating places, or street cars. There was some testimony that hotels and restaurants were refusing admittance to persons with these dogs.

Another suggestion was that state buildings which have within them certain news and candy stands operated by blind persons should be permitted to have their dogs with them.

Evidence as to the cost of dogs to the blind was that some groups required payments of $150 to $500 for dogs. In many cases the dogs are furnished free to the blind person, but the cost of the dog is paid for by various nonprofit organizations now existing in California, who purchase the dogs directly from one of the training schools.

Other organizations make no charge whatsoever for the dog, select the blind persons on basis of both the suitability of the dog to the person because of his or her personality, physical condition, and temperament.

Such organizations receive contributions from the public in general for such work.

There was also some discussion on question of the organization giving the dog and controlling the possession of the dog after its delivery.

Mrs. Heller stated that the only times the problem arose as to repossession of the dog was when the blind person failed to properly take care of the dog and treated it in an inhumane manner, but other than that there was no effort at any time to retake the dog.

It was also generally noted that the use of dogs for blind persons cannot be generally recommended for all of such persons, but that the individual character of all such persons must be carefully studied. In other words, the efforts of the various organizations with which the blind persons are associated have been to make the blind persons as independent as possible and to use guide dogs in those cases where such a dog is necessary for transportation reasons or occupational requirements.

Bills Introduced

The committee introduced five bills in the January session, Assembly Bills Nos. 2390, 2391, 2392, which cover the guide dog problem and Assembly Bill No. 2393 which relates to the entering of guide dogs into public buildings, and Assembly Bill No. 2394, relative to guide dogs in state buildings wherein there are news stands operated by blind persons.

Assembly Bill No. 2391 appears to be generally satisfactory not only at the hearing before the Social Welfare Committee, but by letters and otherwise from those persons who have studied the three proposed bills. The general opinion is now that a separate agency in the Business and Professions Code should be set up rather than to have a commission placed in the California State Welfare Department. This view was likewise concurred in by Mr. Herbage, the Assistant Director of the State Welfare Department.

Recommendations of Committee

1. It is hereby recommended by the committee that we approve Assembly Bill No. 2391, that it be amended to require that two members of the board be composed of people who are familiar with the guide dog problem, that technical amendments be made as to the revocation and issuance of licenses without charge, and that the board have power to promulgate rules with reference to guide dog schools.
2. That Assembly Bills Nos. 2393 and 2394 be approved.
3. It is the further consensus of the committee that the preliminary legislation such as suggested at this session be general in scope rather than too detailed in operation, for the reason that after a period of two years any difficulties appearing could then be ironed out.

Conclusion

The committee has endeavored at all times to approach the subject in a free and impartial manner, and to demonstrate to those persons interested that it is hard to make laws in this case which would be very definite, but that it is wiser to allow a board or commission to have some leeway to handle the problems as they arise in this new field of legislation.

We believe that the committee has shown a spirit of cooperation with all those involved, and appreciate the help given by the various groups and organizations who have given of their time and attention in this matter.

This committee was authorized to spend the sum of $1,000 to conduct this investigation, and wishes to report that the sum of $587.02 was actually spent, returning the difference to the State Treasury.

Respectfully submitted.

Resolution No. 476

Resolved, By the California Council for the Blind in regular convention assembled at Fresno, California, this fifth day of October, 1946, that:

WHEREAS, The incompetence and inexperience of guide-dog trainers and the inefficient management of guide-dog schools are of great concern to all the blind and to the public as well, this council recommends the introduction of a bill at the next session of the Legislature providing for the licensing of guide-dog trainers and for the inspection of guide-dog schools.

The above Resolution No. 476 was unanimously adopted by the California Council for the Blind on October 5, 1946.

2. Recommendations by Guide Dogs for the Blind, Inc.:

GUIDE DOGS FOR THE BLIND, INC.
68 Post Street, San Francisco

Mr. Ralph Brown, Chairman September 20, 1946
Interim Committee on Guide Dogs for the Blind
Modesto, California

To the member of the Interim Committee

We are very much interested in having proper legislation to set up high standards of service to the blind who make application for guide dogs, through the licensing of guide dogs, adequate training course for guide dogs and applicants, in-residence requirements concurring with the institutional code, and complete training and social records on the people we serve.

In order that the interim committee may be informed of the function and operation of our organization, we are attaching copy of our by-laws, our most recent annual report including financial statements, and a circular which we have mailed to our constituency.

Assembly Bill No. 1876 has been reviewed by our board of directors and staff and we therefore make the following recommendations for the basis of further discussion.

No. 3500—No changes.
No. 3501—No changes.
No. 3502—No changes.

No. 3503—Qualifications:

1. Good moral character and personality, ability to get along with people, and good physical stamina and development.

2. Knowledge of the special problems of the blind and how to teach them.

3. Normal eyesight and hearing for a full trainer (not necessary for an assistant).

4. Education—not less than high school and preferably some college courses.

5. Trainer should be required to spend no less than two weeks and preferably four weeks as a member of a class of blinded students, living, dressing, eating and working a dog under complete blind-fold. The dog used should be one which he himself has not trained or assisted in training so that he can realize the problems of the blinded student being given a dog which is new to him.

6. A trainer should be not less than 21 years of age, and have served an apprenticeship of not less than one year.

No. 3504—No changes.

No. 3505—No changes.

Further recommendations

1. Any agency or institution providing guide dogs should have a well defined intake policy, including written application and personal interview before approval for training in order to determine applicant's ability to use a guide dog and value to the individual, giving consideration to his mental and physical ability. Each applicant should be considered on an individual basis.

2. Course of training of man-dog unit:

a. In-residence training minimum of four weeks. Exception only in case of dog replacement with minimum of two weeks. Length of period dependent upon the individual and the discretion of the trainer.

b. Course of training should include—

Minimum of 20 hours per week of personal instruction and lectures over a minimum period of five days per week, preferably six.

c. Completion of course—

To complete course applicant must be able to safely work his dog in residential areas, along country highways, in average business districts and heavy business districts where there is congested pedestrian and automobile traffic, including traffic signal areas.

d. Follow up—

Should include personal call by trainer or member of training staff once a year for first two years person is using dog to determine and assist in problems. Training school should continue responsibility for the successful use of the dog and be prepared to offer services of the organization.

e. Records—

Complete training and social records should be kept and available for inspection by any qualified board both on the dog's performance and the training performance of the man-dog unit.

3. Course of training for dog:

a. Guide dog should be trained to stop at end of each block.

b. Take command of forward if safe to do so.

c. Cross street straight to opposite curb.

d. Stop at curb so man does not stumble over.

e. Turn right and left on commands.

f. Safely clear the person of all obstacles on person's right side.

g. Safely clear the person of all pedestrians on the right.

h. Pause for approaching automobiles so that they may pass, and not take person too close to automobile.

i. Should not be nervous to a point where he falters in his work.

j. Pass another dog, cat or birds without being distracted to the point he does not work safely.

k. Guide dog should be friendly and gentle when approached by strangers.

l. Should not be distracted by noise or traffic to a point of not being safe.

m. Be able to guide a person to a bus, streetcar or elevator and ride with him on same.

n. Stop at the top and bottom of stairways so that person will not fall.

o. Be quiet and well mannered in public places and never create a nuisance.

4. The trainer or institution shall be required to give the Board of Examiners notice that a group of dogs have successfully completed the above training course, giving description of each dog as to size, weight, color, markings and a picture of each dog shall accompany this notice.

The Board of Examiners shall have the power within two weeks' period after receiving notice to examine the performance of the dogs keeping the above requirements in mind and may ask a trainer to work each dog under a blind-fold (supplied by the Examining Board to the trainer) and work dog in heavy traffic are near the trainer.

For further information we are enclosing a copy of our application form, follow-up form, a sampling of letters from former students, and one complaint which has come to our office.

If there is any further information which we can supply your committee we shall be very glad to comply with any request.

Respectfully submitted.

3. Recommendations by San Francisco Center for the Blind:

SAN FRANCISCO CENTER FOR THE BLIND

RECOMMENDATIONS FOR LAW REGULATING LICENSING OF DOG-GUIDE TRAINERS FOR GUIDE DOGS. (THIS TO GOVERN BOTH FOR SCHOOLS FOR FINANCIAL GAIN OR WELFARE WORK.)

Requisites

1. (a) A trainer should have had at least two years (104 weeks) actual training of dogs and handling of dogs with blind people before being allowed to handle classes without supervision.

(b) An apprentice trainer should be started with not less than four or more than eight dogs and train them for at least three months (13 weeks).

(c) This training must be taken under the supervision of a trainer who is properly qualified (for the first two years of this act a qualified trainer shall be one who has qualified under the rules, formulas and training requirements of the "Seeing-Eye, Inc., of Morristown, N. J.").

2. (a) After an apprentice trainer has completed training a string of dogs for three months, he then must join a class of blind students wearing a blindfold constantly for one month and living with the blind students during this period (1 month) and using a dog guide in the same manner as the blind students and qualifying in every particular with the blind students to the satisfaction of the supervising trainer. (The reason for the blindfold test is not to discover the dog's faults but to aid the trainer to understand the training problems from the blind viewpoint and learn how to teach the dog in a proper manner.)

(b) The apprentice trainer must repeat this operation under close supervision, during the two (2) year period—without blindfold.

(c) Then the apprentice is given a class of blind students and their dogs to handle under the supervising trainer.

(d) This process is repeated six (6) times during which the supervising trainer instructs him; supervises his work and the apprentice learns and applies his knowledge to the end that he turns out safe dogs and perfectly coordinated blind students and is held responsible for same.

3. Working under supervision means under the supervision of a qualified trainer; the trainer (apprentice) must meet the requirements of a student trainer, must be able to get along with both dogs and blind men and must be temperamentally fitted to coordinate their activities and efforts.

4. The minimum requirement for a qualified trainer should be one who has successfully met the requirements above mentioned and has a record of turning out at least 16 dog-man units all of whom are coordinated to work in harmony and have proved their safety to the satisfaction of the blind owner.

5. The minimum educational requirement for an apprentice should be completion of a high school. Physical minimum should be capable of meeting the standard requirements; his eyesight should be good and must be emotionally stable.

6. The training of dogs must be over a consecutive period of at least three months with four (4) hours every morning and four (4) every afternoon; this means that the dogs must have frequent periods of night training; an aptitude record of each dog is kept as well as records of performance these must be carefully analyzed before the dog is given to a blind person as certain temperaments of dogs will not get along with certain temperaments of people. A blind student should be able to work his or her dog satisfactorily under heavy traffic conditions before being allowed to leave training school.

7. Before a trainer is allowed to turn a dog over to a blind student or to call a group of students for class he has to work each dog under blindfold under heavy traffic conditions for a final test to judge the dog's safeness. Heavy traffic conditions means through the down town district of a large city where streetcars, busses, automobiles, trucks and heavy pedestrian traffic is met with; a certain amount of this must be in areas where there are traffic signals. It is absolutely essential that the dogs be so trained that they will take full responsibility and they cannot be trained properly otherwise.

8. Blind students should have a minimum of four weeks training before they are left alone with the dogs. In the case of students with second dog application, adjustments may be made accordingly.

DEAR MR. BROWN: On my visit to you in your office a few months ago in regard to the problem of guide dogs for the blind, I said that I would have the Chief of our Blind Division make an investigation on his trip throughout the State on conditions found and that I would let you know the result of his contacts.

Attached you will find his report to me with his recommendations and his feeling in the matter. I personally have no opinion. I think it is a question which needs considerable study. The material is yours to use as you see fit.

If there is anything further I can do to help you or your committee in regard to the blind situation and the guide dog problem do not hesitate to call on me.

STATE DEPARTMENT OF SOCIAL WELFARE

Office Memorandum

To: C. M. Wollenberg

From: Perry Sundquist
Place and Date: Sacramento, September 13, 1946
Subject: Legislation re Guide Dogs for the Blind

In pursuance of your oral request to me of some time ago, I have made a rather careful investigation of the situation with respect to the need for legislation in connection with guide dogs for the blind and have the following information for you:

As you know, the 1945 Legislature created a committee from among its membership to investigate the guide dog situation in California and to report back to the next regular session of the Legislature, to convene in January of 1947. The investigating committee was also given an appropriation with which to carry on its work. I believe the chairman of the committee is Mr. Brown of Modesto. The appointment of the investigating committee was brought about by the agitation in behalf of state regulation of guide dog trainers and the opposition to that proposed legislation.

The essential problem of the need for legislation in this area stems from the feeling on the part of many informed individuals throughout the State, including those interested in the welfare of blind persons with guide dogs, that some protection should be afforded to such blind persons against the use of poorly trained dogs who have been trained by individuals in the State not truly capable of adequately training a guide dog for the purposes of leading a blind person. So long as there are no established standards and legal requirements for qualifications for a trainer of a guide dog for the blind, the blind person in this State has no protection against an inadequately trained animal. This naturally means that the very life of the blind person being guided by a dog may be placed in jeopardy. I think that one blind person has rather eloquently expressed this need in the following words:

> "When I go to a beauty parlor for a manicure, shampoo or any beauty treatment, I know that the person giving the service has passed certain tests and has been licensed by a state board. Even when I call in a person to inspect my home for termites, I know that he has certain qualifications and has been licensed to carry out his work. However, as a blind person, when I go into one of these supposed schools for the training of guide dogs and cannot actually see the situation, there is no requirement that either the operator, the trainer, or the school shall show any requirements before they go into business and distribute a guide dog to protect me in my travel through traffic as a blind person."

Obviously, in order to correct this alleged situation, any legislation which is deemed advisable by the special Assembly committee on the subject should and would probably concern itself solely with prescribing minimum qualifications for those persons who aspire to secure licenses from the State as guide dog trainers, and would not in any way be concerned with the methods of operation or financing or any other details of operation of the guide dog schools themselves. In other words, if a school was required to employ as a trainer a person who possessed a license, and if the requirements for the issuance of a license were sufficiently adequate, this would solve the only real problem involved insofar as the safety and welfare of blind persons, themselves, is concerned.

At the present time there are reported to be about 25 persons in the State who are training guide dogs for the blind and, in the view of many informed blind persons, these trainers, or most of them, are not properly qualified for their work. A qualified trainer will require that the dog be adequately trained to protect the blind person and also that the blind person and the dog are trained to work together as a unit. Certain standards in this area are pretty clearly recognized and generally accepted. They may be enumerated as follows:

1. The trainer should be a responsible individual in every sense of the word and should have a fitness for working with the blind. He should be able to pass a written examination which would test his knowledge of training techniques plus an actual blindfold test to determine his training ability.

2. A trainer should have had three years' experience during an apprenticeship in serving as an assistant under a graduate trainer before embarking on the profession of an experienced guide dog trainer.

3. The minimum age for the beginning of the training of dogs for the purpose of guiding blind persons is fourteen months of age. These dogs are given three months' training and only 10 percent are found trainable. The dog and the blind person are then given a minimum of four weeks' training together. Approximately two weeks of this four weeks' period is for the person to attain confidence in the dog and the balance of the time for the dog and the blind person to learn to work together as a team.

4. The trainer should be a person in good general physical condition and should, particularly, be possessed of acute hearing since this is important as the training should include experience against all types of traffic conditions and hazards, street cars, elevators, and experience of going up and down stairways. It is the view of most of the informed blind persons with whom I have talked that the trainer should also be a person possessed with keen eyesight in order to observe carefully the working of the blind student and the guide dog and point out errors and secure improvement in their relationship.

5. The experienced trainer or rather, a person who is qualified to be an experienced trainer, should be a man of character and integrity; must know dogs, and what and how to select them for guide work; should be able to recognize ailments and know when to call in a veterinarian; must understand people; must know the limitations blindness imposes upon an individual; and must be able to teach upon the basis of his pupils' understanding. He should be sensibly socially-minded. Such an individual is needed to be able to teach other apprentice trainers when the demand requires the enlargement of operations.

At the present time there are estimated to be about 10 to 12 guide dog training schools located in California. In addition, there is a school located in Michigan and another in Illinois. Finally, there is the first established school in this area, "The Seeing Eye" of Morristown, New Jersey.

There are no laws governing guide dogs or the training thereof on the statute books of any commonwealth.

Presumably some proposed legislation on the subject of regulation of trainers of guide dogs will be introduced at the forthcoming session and probably the interim Assembly committee itself will introduce proposed legislation based upon the findings and recommendations of this committee during the course of its study. Normally, any legislation involving regulation and licensing would be placed in the Department of Professional and Vocational Standards rather than in the State Department of Social Welfare. However, the Legislature, if it indeed decides to pass any such legislation at all, may feel that the welfare of blind persons is so intimately related to the regulatory statute that it would desire to have it in a department of government more directly concerned with the welfare of human beings. If the Legislature gives this department and its division for the blind jurisdiction over the administration over any new legislation created in this area, then of course both the department and its division for the blind would do its best to adequately administer any such legislation.

I hope that you find the foregoing material sufficient in connection with any advice or counsel which might be required to be given by this department in connection with the Legislature's consideration of regulatory measures in the area of guide dog trainers for the blind. However if you wish any additional information, I will do my best to secure it between now and the time the Legislature meets. I have purposely omitted from my report to you any material touching upon the manner in which present guide dog schools for the blind in California are being run, since I do not believe that this is the problem at all but rather, as stated elsewhere in this report, whether or not licenses are to be issued to those who aspire to be trainers of guide dogs for the blind and the minimum requirements which should be met in order to secure such licenses.

This resolution was passed unanimously at a regular meeting of the East Bay Club of Blind Women, on December 21, 1946.

WHEREAS, Many blinded adults find it convenient and expedient to use trained dogs to guide them in getting about from place to place, and

WHEREAS, The safety of any individual using a dog to guide him makes it essential that the dog be expertly trained to guide and the individual be expertly trained in the use of the dog; and

WHEREAS, No uniform standard exists in the State of California governing (1) the character and quality of training which should be possessed by an individual acting as a trainer of said dogs; (2) the length of time required to train the individual with the dog; (3) the standards, rules, and regulations of schools purporting to train dogs to guide blind persons; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, By the East Bay Club of Blind Women at a regular meeting of said organization that legislation be enacted in the State of California to the end that standards be set up: (1) For the training of persons to train dogs to guide blind persons; (2) to prescribe regulations for the training of the individuals who use the dogs; (3) to prescribe regulations under which schools purporting to train dogs to guide the blind may exist.

RESOLUTIONS COMMITTEE

Mr. Ralph M. Brown November 15, 1946
Chairman, Interim Committee
1027 Eye Street, Modesto, California

DEAR MR. BROWN: It has come to my attention that the interim committee desires information concerning guide dogs. I am Mr. Anthony Cunha, and live at 7206 Rudsdale Street, Oakland, California. I will be 50 years of age this month and am employed at the Alameda Naval Air Station as a journeyman metalsmith. I have worked there almost four years. No blind person is allowed to work at the Alameda Naval Air Station unless they have a guide dog.

Recommendations Regarding Legislation Covering the Control of Guide Dog Schools in California

The Assembly bills as submitted in the past are adequate.

It is our firm belief that more stringent measures should be taken to insure the safety of our G. I. and civilian blind, in setting up a high requisite for trainers and schools for the training of guide dogs.

So many factors must be considered before a dog can be assigned to a blind individual, such as: Temperament, size, height, weight, and even compatability in personalities. For instance, a large person should have a dog sufficiently strong to stop him at all obstacles; a high strung person should have an easy-going, even-tempered animal, they should be balanced in temperament.

Our recommendations pertinent to the bill are as follows:

1. Schools should be operated on a nonprofit basis to eliminate all possible exploitation of the G. I. and civilian blind.

2. Schools should be administered by a board of directors, made up of both business and professional men.

3. Blind students should receive 30 days training with their dog, or more if necessary.

4. Upon graduating and leaving the school, blind students will be required to, within 30 to 45 days, submit a written report on their progress to the board of examiners, and/or any complaints from working their dog outside the school away from the school environment. Numerous complaints from one particular school will be investigated.

5. Schools should have proper facilities to care for blind students and dogs during the training period, including sleeping quarters, dining rooms and kennels.

6. Dogs will be regularly checked and examined by a competent veterinarian to assure the recipient of a healthy dog, so that the blind student does not have to go through a period of readjustment unnecessarily due to a delicate or unhealthy dog.

7. Dogs should have 60 days primary training during the first 16 months of their lives and 90 days advanced training plus the 30 days training with the student. As the average life of a guide dog's usefulness is from 8 to 10 years, no dog over two years of age should be assigned to a blind person, in this way assuring the maximum span of usefulness with the dog for the individual.

8. There should be a board of examiners made up of three qualified persons. Before classes can be graduated an examination will be made by the board to determine whether or not the dog and the man are qualified to leave the school and work individually in traffic conditions such as may be experienced in cities like San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Recommendations Regarding Assembly Bill No. 1876, First Introduced by Mr. Stewart, January 27, 1945

The mere licensing of trainers should be given serious consideration, because there are many other things involved besides the training of a dog. Any person passing a series of tests in guide dog training would not necessarily be qualified as a trainer. The proper teaching of the blind student to use a dog, and the fitting of the right dog to the individual blind person, as to temperament, size, etc., is of the utmost importance. Unless the blind student and his dog are compatible in personality, etc., the dog's performance will be far below average and even unsafe. It would be like trying to wear eye-glasses prescribed for another person's eyes.

Of more importance in the licensing of guide dog trainers, is the approval of and licensing of the schools operated in this State. There should be standards by which a school would be qualified to train dogs as guides, and to train the blind in their use. In considering any type of legislation the question arises in our minds who will be considered qualified to judge the ability of the trainers before approval in receiving a license. This thought alone brought us to believe that schools needing high standards and qualifications would be in an excellent position to test and license their own trainers in order to uphold their standards and qualifications.

Our recommendations pertaining to this bill are as follows:

I. SCHOOLS

A. Schools should meet with the requirements of the council of social service.

B. Schools should be nonprofit corporations, so that they could not be used by any individual or group, for their own gainful purposes.

C. Schools should be properly administered by a board of directors. (We feel that the persons qualified to make up a board of directors are business men, medical men, legal men, etc., because we feel that this combination of business and professional individuals is best fitted to direct this type of organization).

D. Schools should have proper facilities to care for the blind students and for the dogs.

E. Blind students should have a training period of not less than one month—and more time if necessary.

F. Dogs should have a training period of not less than three (3) months—not including the month of training with the blind student.

G. It should be the policy of the schools not to use dogs over two years of age, so that the blind student will have a maximum of years of use of the dog.

H. The person responsible to the school, as director or head of the training department for dogs, blind students, and student trainers, should have not less than three (3) years actual and proven experience in the training of the dogs and the blind students. They should have a record of not less than twenty-two (22) dog and man units successfully trained and graduated and working in safety. (We feel that the number of dog-man units graduated and working in safety is very important because a well-trained dog is only one-third of the complete picture. The fitting of the blind student and dog, and the correct training of the blind student is of equal importance and should compose the other two-thirds of a successful dog-man unit. This director, or head of the training department for the dogs, blind students, and student trainers, and held directly responsible to the school, should assume over-all responsibility for the blind students, dogs, and student trainers.

I. No dog and man unit should be considered to be completely trained until it can work safely under the heaviest traffic conditions in cities such as Los Angeles or San Francisco.

II. LICENSING OF TRAINERS

We feel that trainers should be licensed by the schools, after they have met the training requirements approved of by the State. This would make the schools responsible for the proper education of the trainer, and he would, of necessity, receive his instructions under qualified personnel.

A. Present trainers could be licensed if they have had not less than three (3) years' experience in the actual and complete training of dogs and blind students, and have a record of not less than twenty-two (22) dog and man units successfully trained, graduated, and working in safety.

B. Student trainers working for a license, must study and train under the supervision of a licensed and qualified trainer, for a period of not less than three (3) years, and meet the requirements approved of by the State. In this three (3) year period he must completely train and graduate not less than twenty-two (22) dog-man units under the supervision of the licensed trainer.

Assembly Bills Nos. 2090-2094 incl.

SIR: The writer has studied the above bills and has the following suggestions for improvement before adoption:

Assembly Bill No. 2090 Section 3503, line 7

We suggest that the words "and will" be inserted after the word "equipped" to insure that the blind student will be guaranteed a minimum of four weeks' training which is absolutely necessary before they should be expected to work properly with a guide dog. There has been too much laxity in the amount of training which has resulted in the student and dog being retired from active service.

We also suggest that something like the following amendment be made to the same bill:

"Any blind person who shall have completed the prescribed four weeks' course with licensed trainer, will, upon application, receive an identification card issued by the Board of Examiners which will entitle him and his dog to enter into any place open to the public." (Assembly Bill No. 2393)

For your information we are starting a new class of young lady students this coming month. They, as have all previous Tailwagger students, will receive a full four weeks' course and their dogs and training will be granted them without cost.

Sincerely,
(Signed) P. G. LINDSAY

Hon. Ralph M. Brown March 3, 1947
Assembly Box 200, State Capitol
Sacramento 14, California

DEAR SIR: Thank you for your letter from February 24, 1947 in which you ask for suggestions concerning certain Assembly bills.

* * * * * * *

I would like to see the following incorporated in Assembly Bill No. 2391 Section 7200; line 14: Of which at least one (maybe two) members shall be men who have proven in the past through their occupation in training and handling of dogs the ability to judge other individuals for this profession. (Such men not necessarily have to be guide dog trainers.) Such men can be of valuable assistance to the state board.

Amendment No. 1

On page 1 of the printed bill, strike out lines 3 to 14, inclusive, and insert

"10115. (a) Except as provided in subdivision (d) hereof, whenever the premium for a policy of life insurance other than group life insurance is paid to an insurer or its agent at the time the written application for such policy is made to such insurer or its agent, the insurer or its agent shall issue and deliver to the applicant a binding receipt on a form prepared by the insurer.

The failure or neglect on the part of an agent to comply with the requirements of this subdivision shall constitute grounds, under subdivision (e) of Section 1731, for the suspension or revocation of his license

(b) A binding receipt, as the term is used in subdivision (a) hereof, is a written acknowledgment by the insurer of receipt by it of the application and the premium and an agreement by it that the insurance applied for shall be deemed to be in force and effect from the date the application is so made or, where a medical examination is required, from the date of the medical examination, whichever date is later, and for such a period of time as the premium paid would purchase such insurance at the insurer's then current premium rates, under the following conditions and whether or not a policy is issued and delivered and notwithstanding the date of any such issuance and delivery:

(1) The application is approved by the insurer, or qualifies for approval by the insurer under its then current underwriting standards, for the issuance by it of a policy of life insurance under the plan, for the premium and for the amount of insurance specified in the application

(2) The person on whose life the insurance is applied for dies on or after the date the application is so made or, where a medical examination is required, the date of the medical examination, whichever date is later, but before the issuance and delivery of a policy.

(c) If an insurer or its agent fails or neglects to issue and deliver a binding receipt as required by subdivision (a) the insurance applied for shall be deemed to be in force and effect from the same date, for the same period of time and to the same extent as if a binding receipt had been issued as required by subdivision (a).

(d) This section does not apply where an applicant specifies in the application a particular date (day, month and year) on which he desires the insurance applied for to become effective

(3) Any waiver of the provisions of this section is void."

Amendment read, and adopted.

Bill ordered reprinted, and engrossed.

Assembly Bill No. 2496—An act to amend Sections 10340 and 10342 of the Insurance Code and to add Section 10375 and 10376 to the Insurance Code, relating to the payment of proceeds of disability insurance policies.

Amendment No. 1

On page 1, line 9, of the printed bill, as amended in the Assembly on May 7, 1947, after "admitted", insert "after December 31, 1947".

Amendment No. 2

On page 1, line 16, of said bill, strike out "not admitted to transact either", and insert "neither admitted to transact or seeking admission to transact".

Amendment No. 3

On page 2, line 36, of said bill, strike out ", or", and insert ". Where an insurer has, with the approval of the commissioner, reinsured and assumed all insurance liabilities of another insurer which has retired from business as an insurer, the length of time the latter has transacted insurance shall be added to the length of time the former has transacted insurance in applying the provisions of this section to the former."

Amendment No. 4

On page 2 of said bill, between lines 42 and 43, insert

"As used in this section, surplus means the excess of admitted assets over the sum of (1) liabilities for losses reported, expenses, taxes and all other indebtedness and reinsurance of outstanding risks as provided by law, and (2) paid in capital, in the case of an insurer issuing or having outstanding shares of capital stock, or (3) the minimum paid-in capital required for all classes of insurance sought to be transacted in this State, in the case of any other insurer."

Amendments read, and adopted.

Bill ordered reprinted, and engrossed.

Assembly Bill No. 2009—An act to amend Section 11111 of the Insurance Code, relating to fraternal benefit societies.

Bill read second time.

Consideration of Committee Amendments

The following amendments were proposed by the Committee on Finance and Insurance:

Amendment No. 1

In line 1 of the title of the printed bill, strike out "Section 11111", and insert "Sections 11110, 11111, and 11117".

PRINTER'S NOTE—There being no 7-point strikeout type available, the material which should appear in strikeout type in the following amendments is indicated by being enclosed within brackets.

Amendment No. 2

On page 1 of said bill, before line 1, insert

"SECTION 1. Section 11110 of the Insurance Code is amended to read:

11110. Any person not less than 16 [nor more than 60] years of age may be admitted to beneficial, general or social membership in any fraternal benefit society in such manner and upon such showing of eligibility as the laws of the society provide. With respect to persons admitted to beneficial membership who are more than 60 years of age, provision shall be made for the accumulation and maintenance of assets required for the payment of benefits. For this purpose such benefits shall be valued upon an interest basis not exceeding 3 per cent per annum and with mortality standards within the limitations of this code relating to life or life and disability insurers issuing nonassessable policies on the reserve basis."

Amendment No. 3

On page 1, line 1, of said bill, strike out "SECTION 1", and insert "SEC. 2".

Amendment No. 4

On page 1, line 12, of said bill, strike out "any other person"; and strike out line 13, and insert "his estate."

Amendment No. 5

On page 1 of said bill, after line 13, insert

"SEC. 3. Section 11117 of the Insurance Code is amended to read:

11117. Any fraternal benefit society may enter into life or disability insurance contracts in such other forms and granting such benefits as its laws authorize, including the right to issue family group certificates without regard to age or the requirements as to medical examination for amounts not exceeding five hundred dollars ($500), for each insured, if it provides for the accumulation and maintenance of assets to be required for the payment of such benefits. For this purpose such benefits shall be valued upon an interest basis not exceeding [four] three per cent per annum and with mortality standards [adopted by it] within [the limitations of this code relating to fraternal benefit societies, or, at the option of the society,] the limitations of this code relating to life or life and disability insurers issuing nonassessable policies on the reserve basis. For the purpose of this section a family group certificate is that form of fraternal life insurance contract issued to the head of a family insuring one or more persons dependent, in whole or in part, upon him and may include insurance on his own life or on the life of his spouse whether or not dependent upon him. Nothing contained in this section shall be construed to affect the requirements of Article 8 of this chapter except that children of any age may be included in the family group certificate."

Amendments read, and adopted.

Bill ordered reprinted, and engrossed.

Mr. Grunsky moved that the amendments be withdrawn.

Motion carried.

Motion to Amend

Mr. Grunsky moved the adoption of the following amendments:

Amendment No. 1

In line 1 of the title of the printed bill, as amended in the Assembly on April 23, 1947, after "17," insert "18,".

Amendment No. 2

In line 3 of the title of said bill, after "17," insert "18,".

Amendment No. 3

On page 1, line 10, of said bill, strike out the comma after "loans", and insert "in the amount of five thousand dollars ($5,000) or less,".

Amendment No. 4

On page 2 of said bill, strike out lines 5 to 23, inclusive, and insert

"Sec. 17. Maximum Rate of Charge. Every licensee hereunder who lends any sum of money not to exceed five thousand dollars ($5,000) in amount may contract for and receive thereon charges at a rate not exceeding two and one-half per centum (2½%) per month on that part of the unpaid principal balance of any loan up to and including but not in excess of one hundred dollars ($100), two percentum (2%) per month on that portion of the unpaid principal balance in excess of one hundred dollars ($100) up to and including but not in excess of seven hundred fifty dollars ($750), and five-sixths of one percentum (⅚%) per month on any remainder of such unpaid principal balance in excess of seven hundred fifty dollars ($750). If, however, any property securing any loan made by a licensee is insured against loss in favor of the licensee, the latter may only contract for and receive thereon charges at a rate not exceeding two percentum (2%) per month on that portion of the unpaid principal balance up to and including, but not in excess of seven hundred fifty dollars ($750), and five sixths of one percentum (⅚%) per month on that portion of the unpaid principal balance in excess of seven hundred fifty dollars ($750). The maximum charges on loans made under this act shall be computed as a percentage per month of the unpaid principal balance on the basis of the number of days actually elapsed between the making of the original advance and the first repayment of charges and principal and thereafter since the immediately previous repayment of charges and principal. For the purpose of this computation a month shall be any period of thirty (30) consecutive days. The "unpaid principal balance" shall mean the net amount of money, credit, goods or things in action received by the borrower at the time of entering into the transaction and decreasing balances thereof after application of each payment made on the obligation in accordance with the provisions in this paragraph Each payment made by the borrower shall be applicable, first, to the maximum rates of interest, brokerage and all other charges herein provided and, second, the balance of each payment shall be applied to the reduction of the unpaid principal balance of the loan.

However, the lender may contract for the payment of interest, brokerage and all other charges in advance; provided, that however the loan is contracted and paid it shall be subject to the formula set forth in paragraph first of this section of this act and subject to the maximum limitation on rates of interest, brokerage and all other charges provided in said first paragraph of this section of this act."

Amendment No. 5

On page 2 of said bill, strike out lines 42 to 50, inclusive, and insert

"No charges on loans made under this act shall be compounded. The loan contract may provide for pay-"

PRINTER'S NOTE—There being no 7-point strikeout type available, the material which should appear in strikeout type in the following amendments is indicated by being enclosed within brackets.

Amendment No. 6

On page 3 of said bill, between lines 23 and 24, insert

"SEC 3.1. Section 18 of the Personal Property Brokers' Act, as revised by Chapter 952 of the Statutes of 1939, is amended to read:

Sec. 18. Duties of Licensees. (a) Every personal property broker licensed hereunder shall:

(1) Deliver or cause to be delivered to the borrower, or any one thereof, at the time the loan is made, a statement in the English language showing in clear and distinct terms the name, address and license number of such personal property broker and the broker, if any; the date, amount and maturity of the loan contract, how and when repayable, the nature of the security, if any, for the loan, and the agreed rate of charge;

(2) Obtain from the borrower a signed statement as to whether any person has performed any act as a broker in connection with the making of the loan, and if such statement discloses a broker or other person has participated, then a full statement of all sums paid or payable to the broker or other person shall be obtained and kept by the licensee for a period of two years from and after the date the loan has been paid in full or has matured according to the terms thereof or has been charged off;

(3) Permit payment to be made in advance in any amount on any contract of loan at any time, but the licensee may apply such payment first to all charges due at the agreed rate up to the date of such payment, not to exceed the maximum rate herein permitted;

(4) Deliver or cause to be delivered to the person making any payment, at the time each such payment is made on account of any loan, a [plain and complete] receipt showing the total amount received and identifying the loan contract upon which such payment is applied [; and stating the unpaid principal balance, if any, of such loan].

(5) Upon repayment of any loan in full, release all security therefor, endorse and return any certificate of ownership, cancel or plainly mark "paid" and return to the borrower or person making final payment, any note, chattel mortgage, assignment or order signed by the borrower, except such as are a part of the court record in any action, or such as have been delivered to a third person for the purpose of carrying out the terms thereof.

(b) Every broker licensed hereunder shall:

(1) Deliver to the borrower, or any one thereof, at the time the final negotiation or arrangement is made a statement in the English language showing in clear and distinct terms the name and address and license number of such broker and the personal property broker, the date, amount and terms of the agreement with such broker, and all amounts paid or to be paid to such broker and to any person other than the personal property broker;

(2) Deliver to the personal property broker making the loan a copy of the statement referred to and described in the preceding subsection hereof;

(3) Deliver to the person making any payment to such broker to be retained by him, a plain and complete receipt for each payment made, at the time it is made, showing the total amount received and identifying the brokerage agreement and the loan contract upon which such payment is applied, and showing the application thereof; and if the payment is made by a person other than the personal property broker, a copy of such receipt shall be delivered to the personal property broker;

(4) When the borrower pays the loan in full, see to it that the personal property broker fully complies with subdivision (5) of subsection (a) of this section.

(c) Every licensee shall display prominently in each licensed place of business a full and accurate schedule, to be approved by the commissioner, of the charges to be made and the method of computing the same."

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT THAT SPEAKER'S NAME BE ADDED TO HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 175 AS CO-AUTHOR

Mr. Thomas asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent that the name of Speaker Sam L. Collins be added to House Resolution No. 175 as a co-author.

CONSIDERATION OF HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 175 (BY UNANIMOUS CONSENT)

By Messrs. Thomas, Fletcher, Stanley, and Sam L. Collins:

House Resolution No. 175

Relative to requesting the War Department to aid in prevention of serious damage to private property on Orange County beaches

WHEREAS, In past years the erosion caused by wave action on the Orange County beaches south of Anaheim Harbor has been repaired by a natural replenishment of sand supply originating from the Los Angeles and San Gabriel Rivers and moved by the littoral drift southward to said beaches, thereby lessening the damaging effects of storms to communities built along the shore line; and

WHEREAS, In the years 1944-1945, Anaheim Harbor was constructed by the United States Navy as a harbor for small naval craft transporting ammunition from the Navy depot established adjacent thereto, to naval craft offshore; and

WHEREAS, This project included the construction of a 2,300 foot extension to the Seal Beach jetty and an East jetty, 3,936 feet in length some distance downcoast from the West jetty extension, in addition to the dredging on an entrance channel and establishment of an inner harbor; and

WHEREAS, The natural replenishment of sand supply to the beaches south of this harbor, already reduced during the past 40 years as a result of flood control and water conservation works and off-shore structures, has now been practically eliminated by the erection of the East and West jetties, which have intercepted and deflected the littoral drift, and caused great changes in the mean high tide line and in the shore line of this area; and

WHEREAS, The elimination of natural sand supply to these beaches has caused not only the recent expenditure of thousands of dollars on the part of property owners in building bulkheads to protect their homes from storms, but also resulted in the inundation of numerous building lots and the threatened destruction of homes in Surf Side Colony in February, 1947; and

WHEREAS, A recurrence of severe storms accompanied by ground swells, such as experienced in past years, would result in incalculable damage to private property in Surf Side Colony and Sunset Beach, as well as serious damage to the section of the Coast Highway from Seal Beach to Huntington Beach, and to other public property, unless immediate steps are taken to replenish the sand supply by artificial means; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Secretary of War of the United States is hereby memorialized and requested, in view of the urgency of the situation, to take immediate steps to follow the recommendations set forth by the Los Angeles Office of the United States Army Engineers, which recommendations were formulated at a meeting held at Seal Beach, California, on February 7, 1947; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly is hereby directed to transmit a copy of this resolution to the Secretary of War of the United States.

Resolution read, and adopted unanimously.

542a. The lien of the attachment on real property attaches and becomes effective upon the recording of a copy of the writ, together with a description of the property attached, and a notice that it is attached with the county recorder of the county wherein said real property is situated; provided, however, that in the event that the sheriff, constable, or marshal does not complete the execution of said writ in the manner prescribed in Section 542 of this code within a period of 15 days next following said recording in the recorder's office then said lien shall cease at the expiration of said period of 15 days.

The attachment whether heretofore levied or hereafter to be levied shall be a lien upon all real property attached for a period of three years after the date of levy unless sooner released or discharged either as provided in this chapter, or by dismissal of the action, or by the [filing] recording with the recorder of an abstract of the judgment in the action. At the expiration of three years the lien shall cease and any proceeding or proceedings against the property under the attachment shall be barred; provided, that upon motion of a party to the action, made not less than five nor more than 60 days before the expiration of said period of three years, the court in which the action is pending may extend the time of said lien for a period not exceeding two years from the date on which the original lien would expire, and the lien shall be extended for the period specified in the order upon the recording before the expiration of the existing lien, of a certified copy of the order with the recorder of the county in which the real property attached is situated The lien may be extended from time to time in the manner herein prescribed.

SEC. 3. Section 559 of said code is amended to read:

559 The sheriff, constable, or marshal must return the writ of attachment with the summons, if issued at the same time; otherwise, within 20 days after its receipt, with a certificate of his proceedings endorsed thereon or attached thereto; and whenever an order has been made discharging or releasing an attachment upon real property, a certified copy of such order may be [filed] recorded in the offices of the county recorders in which the notices of attachment have been [filed] recorded, and be indexed in like manner."

The roll was called, and the Assembly concurred in Senate amendments to Assembly Bill No. 593 by the following vote:

AYES—Beck, Bennett, Berry, Blosser, Boyd, Brown, Butters, Caldecott, Clarke, Conrad, Cooke, Cramer, Lester T. Davis, Dolwig, Elliott, Erwin, Fletcher, Grant, Grunsky, Heisinger, Hinton, Huyck, Johnson, Kilpatrick, Kirkwood, Loomis, Lowrey, Luckel, McCollister, McMillan, Nicholson, Price, Robertson, Sherwin, Stanley, Stephenson, Thomas, Thorp, Thurman, Waters, Wollenberg, and Mr. Speaker—42.

NOES—None

Assembly Bill No. 593 ordered enrolled.

Assembly Bill No. 2143—An act to repeal Section 7 of "An act to provide for the organization, incorporation, and government of municipal corporations," approved March 13, 1883, to amend Section 1c of the Annexation Act of 1913, and to amend Section 1 of the Annexation of Uninhabited Territory Act of 1939, relating to annexation, and declaring the urgency thereof, to take effect immediately.

The question being: Shall the Assembly concur in the following Senate amendments to Assembly Bill No. 2143?

Amendment No. 1

In line 3 of the title of the printed bill, strike out "and".

PRINTER'S NOTE—There being no 7-point strikeout type available, the material which should appear in strikeout type in the following amendment is indicated by being enclosed within brackets.

Amendment No. 4

On page 1 of said bill, after line 25, insert

"SEC. 3. Section 1 of the Annexation of Uninhabited Territory Act of 1939 is amended to read:

Section 1. The boundaries of any incorporated town or city may be altered and uninhabited territory annexed thereto, incorporated and included therein, upon proceedings being taken as in this act provided. For the purpose of this act, any territory wherein less than [3] 12 registered voters reside shall be deemed to be uninhabited territory. Any such territory so uninhabited at the time of the filing of the petition for annexation or of the institution of proceedings under this act by the legislative body of a municipality on its own motion, as the case may be, shall be deemed uninhabited for all purposes of this act.

SEC. 4. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health or safety within the meaning of Section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution and shall therefore go into immediate effect. A statement of the facts constituting such necessity is as follows:

The extreme shortage of housing in the State of California and the lack of a sufficient number of vacant lots within cities on which to build such housing has made it necessary to build outside of cities and in the fringe areas adjacent thereto. In order to provide such housing with the necessary sewage, sanitation and utility services, it is essential that such areas be permitted to annex to contiguous cities which would be able to extend existing municipal services to the annexed areas. The immediate adoption of this act will enable cities and areas adjacent thereto which desire to annex to such cities to provide police, fire protection, sewage and sanitation services to such housing as soon as constructed. It is therefore necessary that this act take effect immediately."

The roll was called.

Call of the Assembly

Pending the announcement of the vote, Mr. Boyd moved a call of the Assembly.

RE-REFERENCE OF BILLS

By order of the Speaker, the following bills were withdrawn from the file, and re-referred as follows:

Assembly Bills Nos. 33, 653, and 2009 re-referred to Committee on Finance and Insurance.

INTRODUCTION, FIRST READING, AND REFERENCE OF ASSEMBLY BILLS (RESUMED)

The following resolution was offered:

Assembly Joint Resolution No. 46: By Messrs. Hahn, Hinton, Waters, Cooke, Fletcher, and Thomas—Relative to memorializing Congress to enact Senate Bill No. 637, amending the Civil Service Retirement Act of May 29, 1930.

Referred to Committee on Rules.

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT TO TAKE UP SENATE BILL NO. 19, OUT OF ORDER

Mr. Stanley asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent to take up Senate Bill No. 19, out of order, at this time, for purpose of amendment.

CONSIDERATION OF SENATE BILL NO. 19

Senate Bill No. 19—An act to amend Sections 10150, 10151, 10200, 10201, 10208, 10211, 10212, 10213, 10216, 10221, 10275, 10276, 10320, 10328, 10331, 10332, 10333, 10340, 10375, 10376, 10420, 10427, 10430, 10431, 10432, 10439, 10515, 10516, 10580, 10588, 10591, 10592, 10593, and 10600 of the Business and Professions Code, to add Sections 10156.2, 10208.5, 10208.7, 10213.5, 10213.7, 10279.2, 10321.5, 10328.5, 10328.7, 10333.5, 10333.7, 10379.5, 10420 5, 10427.5, 10427.7, 10432.5, 10432.7, 10519.5, 10581.5, 10588.5, 10488.7, 10593.5, and 10593.7 thereto, and to repeal Sections 10101, 10102, 10209, 10214, 10329, 10334, 10428, 10433, 10589, and 10594 thereof, relating to fees and licenses of the State Division of Real Estate of the Department of Investment, declaring the urgency thereof, to take effect immediately.

Bill read third time.

Motion to Amend

Mr. Stanley moved the adoption of the following amendments:

Amendment No. 1

On page 3, line 4, of the printed bill, as amended in the Assembly on May 9, 1947, strike out "No other fee for the additional"; and strike out line 5, and insert "This fee is in addition to any original real estate broker's fee previously paid, and no other fee either for the examination or for any original license issued to the applicant on successfully passing the examination shall be required."

Amendment No. 2

On page 5, line 23, of said bill, strike out "No other fee for the"; and strike out line 24, and insert "This fee is in addition to any original business opportunity broker's fee previously paid, and no other fee either for the examination or for any original license issued to the applicant on successfully passing the examination shall be required."

Amendment No. 3

On page 7, line 43, of said bill, strike out "No other fee for the additional"; and strike out line 44, and insert "This fee is in addition to any original cemetery broker's fee previously paid, and no other fee either for the examination or for any original license issued to the applicant on successfully passing the examination shall be required."

Amendments read, and adopted.

Bill ordered reprinted, and to third reading.

NOTICE OF MOTION TO WITHDRAW ASSEMBLY BILLS NOS. 2604 AND 2606 FROM INACTIVE FILE

Mr. Kirkwood gave notice that on the next legislative day he would move to withdraw Assembly Bills Nos. 2604 and 2606 from the inactive file, and have them placed upon the third reading file.

NOTICE OF MOTION TO WITHDRAW ASSEMBLY BILL NO. 1573 FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. Beck gave notice that on the next legislative day he would move to withdraw Assembly Bill No. 1573 from the inactive file, and have it placed upon the third reading file.

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT TO TAKE UP ASSEMBLY BILL NO. 1512, OUT OF ORDER

Mr. Huyck asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent to take up Assembly Bill No. 1512, out of order, at this time, for purpose of amendment.

CONSIDERATION OF ASSEMBLY BILL NO. 1512

Assembly Bill No. 1512—An act to amend Sections 209 and 224 of the Labor Code, relating to unpaid wages of striking employees.

Bill read third time.

Motion to Amend

Mr. Huyck moved the adoption of the following amendment:

Amendment No. 1

On page 1, line 18, of the printed bill, as amended in the Assembly on May 12, 1947, strike out "actively", and insert "activity".

Amendment read, and adopted.

Bill ordered reprinted, and re-engrossed.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF COMMITTEE MEETINGS

It was announced that the following committees would hold meetings:

At 2 p.m., today—

Ways and Means.

At 3 p.m., today—

Transportation and Commerce.

At 8 p.m., tonight—

Industrial Relations.

Revenue and Taxation.

It was announced that there would be no meeting today of the Committee on Civil Service and State Personnel.

COMMUNICATIONS

By Speaker Collins:

The following report was received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal in 10-point type:

REPORT FROM THE REGENTS OF THE UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA AND THE STATE BOARD OF EDUCATION

May 7, 1947

To the Legislature of the State of California:

In accordance with the instructions in Chapter 57, Statutes of 1947, reading as follows:

> "SECTION 1. The State Department of Education of California and the Regents of the University of California are hereby authorized and directed to make a joint survey of the organization of publicly supported higher education in the State and need for additional publicly supported higher education facilities in the State. * * * As a part of the survey the State Department of Education and the Regents of the University of California shall investigate the emergency needs of the State for higher education, including such as may exist in Los Angeles County, and in Sacramento County, and report on such emergency needs, with recommendations, to the Legislature not later than May 15, 1947. * * *" the State Board of Education and the Regents of the University of California submit the following report to the Legislature of the State of California, Fifty-seventh (General) Session:

The question of the establishment of four-year colleges at Los Angeles and Sacramento was referred by the two boards to their Liaison Committee, consisting of members of each board: Regents Chester H. Rowell, Maurice E. Harrison, A. J. McFadden, and President Robert G. Sproul, representing the Regents of the University of California; Messrs. Fred W. Smith, Joseph P. Loeb, and William L. Blair, representing the State Board of Education; and Regent James K. Moffitt and State Superintendent of Public Instruction Roy E. Simpson, ex officio members. This committee, in turn, set up a Survey Committee to make a study of the situation, consisting of Messrs. Frank N. Freeman, Edwin A. Lee, Frank B. Lindsay, William G. Paden, and Aubrey A. Douglass.

The Survey Committee, although hampered by inadequate time to complete its studies, submitted a statement and conclusions, which are attached to this report as an appendix, and which were considered by the Liaison Committee for three hours on May 7, 1947.* The Liaison Committee voted unanimously to make the following recommendation to a joint meeting of the State Board of Education and the Regents of the University of California to be held that afternoon:

(a) That no state colleges (colleges offering instruction beyond the fourteenth year) be established at this time, but that the University of California and/or the state colleges, through extension, be authorized and instructed to offer at Sacramento College and Los Angeles City

* Senators Desmond and Burns having sat with the Liaison Committee during its deliberation wished to go on record as being opposed to this recommendation College such instruction as may be necessary to meet any needs that exist; and

(b) That the report of the Survey Committee be approved in all other respects.

The State Board of Education and the Regents of the University of California, meeting in joint session, considered the report of the Liaison Committee, and votes were taken by the two boards separately on the recommendation. The regents voted, 9 to 1, to adopt the recommendation. The vote of the State Board of Education was 3 to 3.

The following motion was then introduced by Mr. Joseph Loeb of the State Board of Education, and separate votes taken by the two boards:

> That the report of the Survey Committee be approved, with the exception of the last paragraph of the "Conclusions" thereof, which paragraph should be amended to read as follows:
> "The immediate situation may be met through legislation providing for the location of four-year educational institutions in the Sacramento and Los Angeles areas. If such legislation is passed, permission to begin operations should be withheld and the kind of institution not decided upon until the extensive survey of the State, provided for in Assembly Bill 2273, is completed. This will permit decision concerning higher educational institutions which California needs, and the form of financial support and administrative control which will best minister to those needs."

The State Board of Education approved this motion by a vote of 6 to 0. The Regents of the University of California rejected it by a vote of 7 to 3.

The two boards voted unanimously to approve the following motions by Mr. Collins and Mr. Ehrman, respectively:

> Resolved, That if, when the report provided for in Assembly Bill No. 2273 is completed, it contains a recommendation for the establishment of a four-year college in Sacramento, Los Angeles, or any other place, the Regents of the University of California and the California State Board of Education shall recommend to the Governor that he include in the call for the 1948 Session of the Legislature consideration of the subject matter of said report.

> That the report of the Survey Committee be approved, with the exception of the last paragraph of the "Conclusions" thereof, which paragraph should be amended to read as follows:
> "If not inconsistent with the report to be made by the Survey Committee, as provided for by Assembly Bill 2273, the Regents of the University of California and the California State Board of Education would in no wise be opposed to the establishment of a four-year college at Sacramento."

The State Board of Education and the Regents of the University of California regret that it has not been possible to reach agreement on all the matters referred to them, and that it is necessary, therefore, to present to you what is, in a sense, a majority and minority report. They hope, nevertheless, that the findings herein presented and the actions taken by the two boards, separately and jointly, may be helpful to you in making your decision on the very important questions of educational development now before you.

Respectfully submitted.

EMERGENCY NEEDS OF CALIFORNIA FOR HIGHER EDUCATION

A Report by the Subcommittee Appointed by the Liaison Committee

SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, May 7, 1947

The Liaison Committee of the California State Board of Education, and the Board of Regents of the University of California

GENTLEMEN: Herewith is the report of the subcommittee appointed to investigate the emergency needs of California for higher education, including such as may exist in Los Angeles County and Sacramento County.

Respectfully submitted.

Authorization of Investigation

In 1945-46, the California Legislature directed the State Board of Education and Regents of the University of California to investigate the need of the City of Sacramento, and the immediate area, for a four-year collegiate institution and report the results of the investigation to the Legislature in January, 1947. The Board of Education and Regents appointed a Liaison Committee, consisting of the Superintendent of Public Instruction and members of the State Board of Education, and the president of the university and members of the regents. The Liaison Committee appointed a subcommittee of five members who investigated conditions and reported to the Liaison Committee. A recommendation was made to the Legislature that no additional four-year colleges be established until a survey of the needs of the entire State could be canvassed. Assembly Bill No. 2273 was introduced authorizing and directing the State Department of Education of California and the Regents of the University of California to make a joint survey of the "organization of publicly supported higher education in the State and need for additional publicly supported higher education facilities in the State."

The bill further provided that "As a part of the survey the State Department of Education and the Regents of the University of California shall investigate the emergency needs of the State for higher education, including such as may exist in Los Angeles County and in Sacramento County, and report on such emergency needs, with recommendations, to the Legislature not later than May 15, 1947." The sum of $50,000 was appropriated to carry out the purposes of the act. Assembly Bill No. 2273 has become law.

The subcommittee of five, appointed by the Liaison Committee to investigate conditions in Sacramento, was directed to study the emergency needs of the State. This report contains the findings of the investigation.

Ability of Junior Colleges and Colleges to Accommodate Freshmen

One of the first steps in the investigation of emergency conditions was to determine whether or not students who desire to enter the first year of college are being prevented, or will be prevented, from doing so by crowded conditions in the junior colleges, state colleges, and other four-year colleges and universities. Inquiries were, therefore, made of the higher education institutions of the State, including the junior colleges, to ascertain if they will be able to admit all students who apply for freshman standing for September, 1947.

No publicly supported junior college has made, or expects to make, limitation on enrollment for the next school year. Moreover, several new junior colleges will be opened next fall thus enlarging the possibilities of freshman and sophomore enrollment. Most of the new junior colleges will be located in the southern part of the State where there is a dense and growing population. From the statements of administrative officers in charge of California's junior colleges comes the statement that opportunities for freshman and sophomore college work will be plentiful. The location of the junior colleges, especially when consideration is given to schools that have recently been established or will begin operation in September, will make junior college facilities more accessible than they have been in former years.

The California Polytechnic College will not be able to admit all students who wish to enter the freshman or the sophomore year because of lack of classroom and laboratory facilities. The San Francisco State College expects to impose limitations on enrollments because of lack of space in the college plant. Other state colleges will make no limitations on enrollments. Chico and Humboldt hope that their freshman classes will be much larger in September, 1947, than they were in September, 1946.

The California Institute of Technology, Occidental, Pomona College, and Santa Clara University have closed enrollments for the coming school year. Other privately supported liberal arts colleges have not reached their quotas although it is probable that some will have all of the applications they can take before the opening of the next school term.

The University of Southern California has places open in practically all departments although the institution will not be able to increase its enrollment beyond 13,500. It is expected that sufficient applications will be received to guarantee this enrollment before the opening of the fall term.

Stanford University still has places in practically all departments although it is anticipated that enrollments will be closed by June 1st. These conditions do not differ greatly from those which have prevailed in the past.

The University of California will limit enrollments only in that area of professional training in which facilities are insufficient. Limitation will be placed on enrollment in engineering. Freshmen and sophomores from outside the State will not be accepted.

Conditions revealed to the inquiry of the subcommittee are similar to those reported by the Division of Readjustment Education of the State Department for the first semester of the current school year. Educational institutions were polled during last summer and fall to determine their capacity to accommodate veterans. The schools were classified into various categories, depending upon source of support, and types and length of training.

As of December 31, 1946, the University of California had vacancies and could have accommodated, on the Berkeley campus, students in all departments except engineering, chemistry, and business administration. In the state colleges, Fresno and San Jose reported no vacancies, while the remaining colleges were able to take more students in practically all departments. The total number of vacancies reported by the state colleges totaled more than 1,500. In the university and in the state colleges, admission requirements must be met by all students. This is not a limitation based upon inability to care for students, but an imposition of scholarship standards, a practice that is everywhere common. It does not prevail in California junior colleges, because the law requires that all high school graduates be admitted to junior college. Junior college principals may admit students who are not high school graduates provided they can, in the judgment of the principal, profit from instruction in the junior college.

Compton, Chaffey, Pasadena, Placer, Stockton, Sacramento, and San Luis Obispo Junior Colleges closed enrollments on December 31, 1946. On the other hand, other publicly supported junior colleges reported a long list of vacancies in their courses. Some placed no limitation whatever upon enrollments.

It is the consensus of opinion among junior college administrators that the number of students enrolling last September was smaller than the number expected. The opportunities for employment and the call to military service were apparently among the factors that dissuaded high school graduates from continuing their education. Many veterans signifying their intention to go to school either changed their minds, or they applied for admission to several schools, thus making it appear that many more would attend the junior colleges than actually was the case.

The question of housing the students was always present. In the summer of 1946, despite the efforts of the FHA, few housing units for veterans had been completed. Junior colleges, colleges, and universities were unable to announce the numbers of students that could live in federal housing units. Had a school been able to state that it had housing facilities, there is little question that that school would have been filled to capacity. This situation has been changed during the intervening months. Housing projects have been completed and occupied. Schools are able to speak, positively, about the number of available rooms and apartments. The FWA is at present moving temporary classroom buildings to the campuses of the junior colleges and colleges, thus enlarging the capacity of these institutions in classrooms and laboratories. Privately supported collegiate institutions enrolling veterans have also been eligible to secure housing accommodations as well as buildings which provide classrooms and laboratories. While housing facilities remain an important factor in enrollments, colleges can speak much more positively than formerly about the numbers of students that can be accommodated.

Publicly supported schools for adults, meaning evening high schools, and junior colleges, had on December 31st, room to spare for enrollees. No school had reached capacity. These schools offer a wide variety of courses, which are usually patronized upon a part-time basis by persons employed either full time or part time. Special day and evening classes can be organized at any time, and during the war were operated upon a 24-hour basis. Since these schools frequently use the rooms and equipment of the day schools, their classes usually meet in the late afternoon or evening. Although they fulfill an important educational function, evening schools can hardly be regarded as institutions to which veterans may go to complete more than a short course of training.

Among the large private institutions, the University of Southern California reported 400 vacancies in commerce, 500 in engineering, and 600 in letters and sciences. Stanford had vacancies in all divisions and departments, although the number was not large. The University of San Francisco had room for 525 in the arts, science, business administration and law, and Loyola had 50 vacancies in engineering California Polytechnic School had a few vacancies. The California Institute of Technology, Pomona, Scripps, Occidental, Whittier, and Santa Clara had no vacancies.

Among the private business schools many vacancies were found. Similarly the private professional schools, including dramatics, law, nursing, music and radio, could have accommodated more students. Private trade schools also had many vacancies.

Important in the plan for training veterans is the apprentice program. This consists of learning by working on the job with part-time supplementary classes.

Exhibit A-I presents figures of enrollments for veterans for last September and for last February. It will be observed that private trade schools, correspondence schools and business schools, and on-the-job training have accounted for more than half of all veteran enrollments.

Reported enrollments of veterans in junior colleges made by the Division of Readjustment are not in accord with figures submitted by the junior colleges. The disparity can be accounted for in part by the fact that the Division of Readjustment reported only those veterans who are securing benefits under Public Law 346, while the junior colleges reported all veterans. Many veterans are postponing benefits so that they may have them for later training.

Ability of Four-Year Colleges and Universities to Receive Upper Division Students

It is evident from the foregoing section that junior colleges, state colleges, and other four-year colleges and universities will be able to accommodate all students who wish to enter upon the freshman year of college in September, 1947. It is important to know what the capacity of four-year institutions will be to admit upper division students, particularly those who will wish to transfer from the junior colleges.

Exhibit B-I shows the number and distribution of students attending publicly supported California junior colleges in March, 1947. With all but one small institution reporting, the total number of day students is 52,367, the majority of which are veterans. The important aspect of enrollment is the large number found in the first year. In the past, enrollment in the first year of junior college has been approximately twice that contained in the second year. Due to abnormal conditions, the number of first year students is much higher than one might expect. Only 5,704 of the total number enrolled will complete the course at the end of the current school year. Of these, 3,166 expect to transfer to four-year institutions. This number gives at least a reasonable estimate of the accommodations that must be made by the four-year institutions to receive additional upper division students. In Los Angeles City College 534 will seek to transfer, while in Sacramento the number is 350.

Of the number of students who seek to transfer, 1,396 are asking for admission to colleges of liberal arts, 637 to schools of business administration, 625 to schools of engineering, and 205 to pre-legal courses. Pre-medicine, chemistry, teaching, and agriculture, in order, show other fields to which the most students desire to go.

A total of 17,991 students, a majority of whom are veterans, are enrolled in the seven state colleges. Of these, nearly 9,000 are found in the freshman year and only 1,804 in the senior year. In the state colleges, as well as in the junior colleges, enrollment is concentrated in the first year. Details of enrollment in the state colleges are shown in Exhibit B-II.

In the state colleges many upper division classes are small. This means that these schools can, without increasing facilities, enroll more upper division students. Many places are available in the liberal arts, engineering subjects, and business. Exhibit B-III summarizes conditions in the several state colleges.

At the University of Southern California no limit will be set for native lower division students who wish to transfer to upper division except in the Schools of Dentistry, Law, and Medicine. In these professional schools, native students must undergo the same screening process as applicants from other institutions. The general policy will prevail of giving preference to native students but, if there are vacancies, qualified applicants will be accepted in the order in which their applications are processed except in those divisions where special selection procedures have been announced. No preference will be given veterans. As of April 2d, enrollment for September had not been closed.

At Stanford preference will be given native students in filling the quota for the upper division. Applications for admission to the upper division closed on May 1st. It was planned to fill available places by a process of competitive selection.

At the University of California all qualified students completing the lower division will be admitted to upper division with the exception of engineering at Berkeley and Los Angeles, and optometry, pharmacy, dentistry, medicine, and law at Berkeley. Limitation of enrollment in business administration is anticipated at the Berkeley campus and possibly at the Los Angeles campus. No preference will be given to students now enrolled in the lower division of the University of California. In fields for which selection must be made on a competitive basis, preference will be given to the best qualified.

In other fields, no quotas have been set up and registration is open for September, 1947. It is expected that applications will not exceed capacity except in the professional fields enumerated above, where admission will be on a competitive basis.

Student Demand for Upper Division Work in Sacramento and Los Angeles

Students in Sacramento College and Los Angeles City College were asked if they would continue their education through the upper division provided opportunity were afforded. In Sacramento College several hundred students stated they would do so. Administrative officers estimate that 350 of the present number of students would continue in third year work next September and that 150 from outside the district will enter. Figures were also presented to show that the Sacramento College now attracts students from a wide area and the inference was drawn that many students from some of the more distant areas will attend a four-year course.

In Los Angeles City College, a poll of the students indicated that of the 9,247 who answered queries, 5,492 desire four years of training and 3,755, two years. Tables and figures were presented to show that the Los Angeles City College has grown since its establishment in 1930 from 1,700 students to more than 9,000. The population of the city and the county has also mounted very rapidly. A table was presented to indicate that the percent of college students to the total population is smaller in Los Angeles than it is in six of the largest cities in he United States. Only 1 32 percent of the total population in Los Angeles is comprised of college students, while 2.63 percent is the proportion in Pittsburgh. The inference from this table was that Los Angeles would have more college students if additional facilities were available.

Important in the consideration of state colleges for Sacramento and Los Angeles is the fact that investigations of existing colleges and universities indicate that they draw a majority of their students from a radius of 50 to 100 miles Data available through the State Department of Education show that California state colleges secure about 75 percent of their students from distances no greater than 40 miles. In Los Angeles such a radius described from the center of the city defines a thickly populated area with an enormous number of prospective college students. The area lying within approximately 50 miles of Sacramento contains upward of a half million population. This should be more than enough to produce a large number of students for a four-year college.

Appraisal of Plans and Facilities for Offering Upper Division Work at Los Angeles City College and Sacramento College

Investigations have been completed of the ability of the Los Angeles City College and of Sacramento College to institute upper division training, and more specifically third-year training, in September, 1947. Both institutions submitted statements in which specific areas of training were proposed. They also indicated physical facilities, including classrooms, laboratories, equipment, library, and faculty, which may be employed to institute the several lines of training.

Visitation committees were organized to appraise the resources of the colleges. The committees were comprised of persons of recognized leadership in the areas of training which the colleges proposed to offer. The members of the committee for Los Angeles City College assembled in the office of the president at 10 o'clock Friday morning, April 18th. The Sacramento committee appeared at the office of the president at 10 o'clock Monday morning, April 21st. Names of the members of the committees appear in the appendix as Exhibits D-I and D-II. The task was explained to the visitors in the presence of the administrative officers of the institutions.

Provisions of Assembly Bill No. 2273 were summarized and attention was called to the fact that as a part of the survey of the State Department of Education and the Regents of the University of California, an investigation of the emergency needs of the State for higher education is required, with special attention given to Los Angeles and Sacramento Counties. The members of the committees were advised that their function did not include a decision on whether or not four-year colleges should be established in Sacramento and Los Angeles but that they should examine the plans, material, resources, and qualifications of faculties to institute upper division work and particularly to begin the third-year of such work in September, 1947. Specifically, it was pointed out to the members of the committees that they should consider the area of training represented by their own professional work and study, that they should examine the definiteness with which plans for upper division work had been made, including organization of courses, and that they should investigate classrooms, laboratories, apparatus, library, and faculty personnel to determine their adequacy for upper division college work.

After discussion and questions to clarify their work of the day, members of the committee went to the various departments to confer with faculty members and to examine facilities. In the process every courtesy was extended by the superintendent, the principal, and the administrative staff of the two institutions.

After several hours the members of the committee returned for conference and comparison of ideas. Discussions took place with only the committee members present. Written reports were submitted. The committee was advised that the report was confidential in nature, as the findings were to be placed before designated members of the State Department of Education, the Regents of the University of California, and the legislative interim committee.

Sacramento College

Examinations of proposals for upper division work at Sacramento College revealed a lack of definiteness in planning. The courses which the institution expected to offer are shown in the appendix under Exhibit D-III. Reference to this document will show that areas of training are specified and topics in a field are listed. No inventory had been made of existing facilities, such as classrooms, laboratories and equipment, nor had outlines of courses been prepared. A vagueness surrounded most of the proposals although the members of the faculty in certain fields had been much more specific in developing advanced programs.

Due to lack of planning rather than fundamental disagreement, inconsistencies were found in what the administrative officers of the institution proposed to do and the developments which faculty members had in mind. For example, in the preliminary conference with the visitation committee and administrative staff it was definitely stated that a standard four-year course in engineering was in prospect. Conferences with the members of the faculty in charge of aeronautics, electronics, and engineering showed that they planned three-year terminal courses. In the field of teacher training, home economics is not shown in the prospectus as an area in which young women would be prepared for teaching positions in the public schools. On the other hand, members of the department of home economics were definitely looking forward to training public school teachers.

In the proposed training of teachers for the elementary schools and for special secondary credentials in industrial arts, there was almost a complete absence of plans. As will be shown later, it was the opinion of those who inspected facilities in these areas that plans must be developed from the beginning. Shop courses can be provided for third-year work, but shops are not available for courses needed in the fourth year. Practice teaching can be arranged in the local schools.

The library is inadequate not only for upper division work but for the purposes it currently serves, namely, the junior college. During the last several years the principal has recommended an expenditure of $5 per year per student for library books. Actually $1,000 per year, or 40 cents per student, has been permitted with additional expenditures for periodicals. The library has not gained the acquisitions needed for junior college classes. In only a very few fields are there sufficient books to make a beginning in upper division work. The present condition of the library is one which cannot be remedied quickly even though funds were suddenly made available, as time is necessary to select and secure books. It was the opinion of the committee that the condition of the library will be a handicap to the junior college, and especially to upper division work.

Needs of students in engineering subjects had not been carefully analyzed. When specific types of training desired by the students were listed it was found that some areas interested few persons. Enrollments would be so small as to make instruction exceedingly expensive.

In all areas, except business, the visitation committee stressed the need of supplying, for upper division courses, faculty members with more extensive training than that shown by a majority of the present junior college staff. It was the opinion of the visitation committee some staff members are capable of doing upper division work. This statement applied especially to the field of business training. It should be pointed out that judgment of ability of faculty members was based extensively upon years of training and degrees held. This may not always be an adequate measure of fitness.

Great stress has been placed on the need of upper division work as shown by the number of students in the junior colleges, by the number who will remain if upper division work is available, and by the number of applications from outside the district for advanced work. The institution has been concentrating upon securing such evidence and similar evidence to show the need of expansion rather than upon development of plans and an inventory of resources. Such emphasis is understood if the view is held that one must know first of all if upper division work is permitted. On the other hand, those engaged in the process of education so generally agree that new lines of training require detailed preparation that the failure of faculty and administrative officers to make plans is inconsistent with educational practice. Certainly the period of time from

May 15th to September 15th is entirely too short to allow an administrative staff to make effective plans for the beginning of upper division work.

Reports of the several members of the visitation committee are summarized as follows:

Liberal Arts: Additional members of the teaching staff will be needed, as well as a reorganization of teaching schedules. The library is apparently adequate in reference materials in English History, European History, and Earth Sciences. Additional periodical source material is needed. More facilities will be needed which include electrical equipment, chemistry laboratory space, music listening rooms, art classrooms, etc.

Elementary Education: Little planning has been done for this field of training. A suggested plan was developed with interested faculty members. Two staff members will be necessary. Arrangements for practice teaching should offer no difficulty.

Industrial Arts: Third-year work can be given in existing shops, but a general woodworking shop, a general metal shop, and a general electrical shop must be supplied to complete training in the teaching field. Professional courses are lacking.

Home Economics: The department is modern and up to date. With an additional staff member, additional courses needed to meet the requirements for the credential in home economics can be offered. Expansion is needed to provide for a child development laboratory and a home management house. Facilities are not available for institutional management. With additional staff, courses can be offered for a major in home economics. Professional courses for the credential are lacking.

Business Administration: The present staff is of high calibre and training. Although more teachers, additional courses, and better library facilities will be needed, the third and fourth years of business administration can be offered.

Aeronautics: Expansion to the third year is possible by adding adequate staff.

Electronics: Expansion to third or fourth year work will require substantial increases in space and equipment. Demand for third year work is indicated by a maximum of eight students.

Engineering: Space and equipment must be secured, and staff expanded. It is extremely doubtful that equipment can be secured and installed by September, 1947.

Physical Science and Mathematics: It is proposed that courses be offered which do not require additional laboratory space.

Physical Education: The institution will be able, with additional staff, to provide physical education needed by a four-year college. Facilities are not available for a major, which is not proposed.

Police Training: The FBI is not interested in training programs in colleges; the FBI gives its own training. Facilities are not available to give police training.

Los Angeles City College

Like Sacramento, Los Angeles City College had not planned with definiteness the work of the proposed upper division. At the request of its president, a meeting was arranged on April 10th with the Los Angeles City Board of Education at which were present the members of the Los Angeles City Board of Education, the Superintendent of Schools, the President of the City College, the Chief Assistant Superintendent, the Administrative Supervisor, the Assistant Superintendent in charge of Educational and Vocational Education, and the members of the subcommittee of the Liaison Committee.

Representatives of the Los Angeles school system were asked to specify the specific areas in which training is proposed. The President of the City College preferred not to name the areas on the ground that the program is still in the process of development, that changes will and should occur, and that a definition of functions at present would be premature. When asked how many students should be accommodated in third year upper division work, the reply was that a small beginning should be made and that probably 400 students can be accommodated in third year work. It was indicated that the City College should offer training in business administration, nursing, "junior" engineering, and sanitary engineering. Later these comments were revised to provide for approximately 1,000 students in the third year. The proposal to train students in sanitary engineering was withdrawn and other fields were added. The fields in which training is proposed are shown in Exhibit D-IV. This indicates the lack of definite planning that has accompanied the proposals for upper division work.

Apparently lack of understanding, or lack of agreement, has prevailed between the administrative staff of the Los Angeles city schools on the one hand, and the faculty of the City College on the other. In discussing proposed curriculums at the meeting on April 10th, the attitude was strongly taken that the primary and controlling purpose of the curriculum should be to train students for occupations. General or liberal subjects should serve the vocational end. Discussions with certain faculty members, on the other hand, indicated that they were thinking in terms of the typical general or liberal arts curriculum in a four-year college.

The preliminary discussion of the work to be accomplished by the Los Angeles City College indicated the existence of a strong conviction that the curriculum should be planned on a cooperative basis with close relationship with business and industry. Much practical knowledge and experience will thus be secured by an apprentice or a part-time employment procedure The discussion did not show, nor did the subsequent visit to the City College indicate, that detailed plans for cooperative instruction had been accomplished. A number of business and industrial concerns in the city had been contacted and representatives of those concerns indicated interest in the proposal and willingness to cooperate. There were, however, no lists of firms nor enumeration of places for part-time employment, and there was no indication of the way courses on the campus will supplement field training. It may have been considered unnecessary to arrive at such details because cooperative education has been successfully carried on in certain areas in the United States for more than 20 years. On the other hand, the inauguration of a training program will demand precisely such specific analyses and arrangements.

Documents emanating from the Los Angeles City College have stressed the need of upper division work, first, because of the great number of students on the ground who wish to complete courses leading to the bachelor degree; and second, because training is demanded by employers that is midway between that offered by the junior college curriculum and the professional courses of the University of California. A brochure, prepared by the President of the City College, and a document from the superintendent's office entitled "A Statement of Need for a Four-Year Degree-Granting Educational Program at the Los Angeles City College beginning September, 1947" describe the historical background of the institution, curriculums now offered, and physical plant and facilities. The number of instructors is given with the percentages holding various academic degrees, figures are presented on the enrollment in the junior college since its establishment in 1930, population increase in city and county is exhibited; and numbers who have indicated their desire to attend a four-year curriculum at the junior college are listed. Great stress is placed upon the emergency situation with the statement that private and public four-year colleges and universities will not be able to accommodate students who wish to attend them in September, 1947. Other sections of this report present data to show present enrollment in junior colleges and state colleges, the number of freshman students that can be accommodated in publicly supported higher institutions, including junior colleges; and the number that wish to transfer to upper division work as well as the capacity of institutions to accommodate students with advanced standing. The data show that, with the exception of a few privately supported colleges, no limitation will be placed upon the enrollment of freshmen, and that existing four-year colleges can take all students wishing to transfer to upper division except in a few fields.

The Los Angeles City College enrolled, on March 28, 1947, a total of 8,599 students. Of these 6,005 are enrolled in one or more classes scheduled after 5 p.m. Discussions with faculty members, as well as general observation, indicated that the present plant is badly crowded. Administrative officers propose to provide for 1,000 additional students by further extending enrollments in the late afternoon and evening, and by moving into several temporary classroom buildings which should be erected and ready for use in September. An entire block of land adjacent to the campus has been purchased and will be used as a site for future buildings as well as for general campus purposes. It was the consensus of opinion of the visitation committee that even with these provisions the plant will be seriously crowded.

As will be surmised, the Los Angeles City College has been equipped for lower division work. This includes laboratories and library as well as faculty. It may also properly be assumed that the institution has not been overstaffed and should not be overstaffed. The addition of a third year of work with 1,000 students will of necessity bring demands for increased facilities. The assumption, if not the direct statement made by those urging the establishment of a four-year college, is that the institution could easily be organized in connection with the City College. Preceding remarks have indicated the crowded condition under which work is conducted at present. Practically all members of the visitation committee agreed that the organization of upper division work will necessitate additional apparatus and especially additional faculty members of a higher level of training and ability than shown by the average member of the present City College staff. While there are members of the present faculty who are capable of work on a higher level, the visitation committee does not agree that facilities and faculty are immediately available for upper division work. The committee does agree that it is possible to begin certain third year courses in September, 1947, if additions to staff and equipment are made by that time.

The visitation committee was not able to preview the proposed curriculum in art or in pre-osteopathy, except as biology and science courses enter into the organization of the latter. Summary statements of the findings of the several groups and individuals who interviewed faculty members and inspected the departments in which upper divisions are proposed appear below:

Engineering: A third year course in engineering for more than 40 students is impractical. This number is too small to warrant opening courses in this field. Present personnel and facilities are not adequate to the present load. A clearer statement of objectives than is available must be made for the three types of engineering proposed. A four-year program means the addition of faculty members with advanced degrees and industrial experience.

Mathematics and Physical Science: In mathematics facilities are adequate for present and immediate future needs. In physics and chemistry, personnel and laboratory facilities are adequate, but there is need of a departmental library, including scientific periodicals.

Nursing: The teaching load and class size should be modified, and library and laboratory facilities expanded. Third-year work may begin in September, 1947.

Elementary Education: Granted that adequate upper division work is provided in the liberal arts, and that persons qualified in elementary education will be added to the staff, third-year work may begin. The department of psychology is adequate to new demands that may be placed upon it by a program of elementary teacher training.

Physical Education and Recreation: Third-year work should be started only if appropriate faculty is secured to offer professional courses, and if present instructors are relieved of lower division loads both as to teaching and number of students. Plans for four-year program are well developed.

Biology: More instructors with advanced preparation should be added to care for present enrollment. Number and sequence of courses are sufficient for lower division work, but 15 to 20 hours of upper division work should be added. Third-year work can be arranged for September, 1947.

English: Instructors regarded their department as a service department to those preparing students for vocations. The department can, with minor additions to the staff and library, be expanded sufficiently to care for third and fourth year work.

History and Social Sciences: The staff is already overloaded. Library facilities and instructors must be provided. The present faculty is thinking in terms of the typical four-year liberal arts organization; not in terms of service to vocational programs.

Business Administration: Third and fourth year work is feasible, provided the work is definitely planned, provided additional, well qualified faculty members are secured, and provided the cooperative plan of instruction is definitely provided for. Library facilities must be expanded.

Financial Support and Administrative Control

Publicly supported education in California consists of the state university which operates under its own charter and is supported largely by appropriations made by the Legislature; the state colleges controlled by the State Board of Education through the State Department of Education and supported by appropriations from the State Treasury; and the junior colleges which derive their revenues from local taxes and state apportionments and are controlled by local boards of education. This organization has, in the main, proved satisfactory and has been capable of meeting the educational needs of the State. Before new patterns of financial support and administrative control are set up, consideration should be given to the advantages and disadvantages gained under the present organization and certainly to the advantages and disadvantages which may result from new methods of financial support and administrative control.

In Los Angeles it is proposed that an upper division be established on the campus of the City College and that it be financed by state funds, but with administrative control lodged with the Los Angeles Board of Education. This is contained in a resolution shown in Exhibit E-I. It is readily apparent that this is a new pattern of organization and that a beginning of state subsidies to higher education will be made under conditions which relieve or prohibit the State from administering the schools. It should be pointed out that the Los Angeles Board of Education and its administrative officers realize this. They propose that the ramifications of the plan be thoroughly explored through a series of conferences, since the intent is to develop school facilities that will be consistent with a pattern of support and control which will best serve the State.

In exploring their proposals, Los Angeles authorities refer to the feasibility of extending present methods of state apportionment in the junior colleges to upper division work. This would extend work now located in state colleges to the junior college, with local control. It has also been asked if it would be possible to operate, temporarily, the third year of work on this basis. A final question is the possibility of allowing a taxing unit to set up and support third year work from either of these arrangements.

In Sacramento it is expected that an upper division will be located on the state college campus and that it will be financed by the State. A plan of administration has not been stated, although the assertion has been made, positively, that a four-year institution is desired.

In both Los Angeles and Sacramento the Board of Education and administrative authorities have been positive in their assertion that the junior college should be maintained with present methods of financial support and administrative control. The values of the junior college as an institution are recognized and it is believed that those values should be preserved.

Either the Los Angeles or the Sacramento proposal will mean that agreements must be reached with the State for the use of facilities now owned by local school districts. Apparently it is expected in both places that new facilities needed for upper division work will be provided by the State. These proposed procedures should be thoroughly explored before a decision is reached.

In carrying out the survey of the emergency needs for higher education in California the subcommittee found no one who believed that the junior college should be discontinued even though a four-year institution were developed within the community in which the junior college operates. On the contrary, there is general agreement that the junior college, as an educational institution, should be preserved and protected. Its values are the emphasis upon good teaching and systematic guidance practices for which the junior colleges stand, and the educational programs which they offer. These schools make lower division college, or university, training available to the students of the community. So close has been the relationship that students may complete the first two years of a four-year college course while living at home and transfer to the university and state colleges, as well as to the privately supported institutions, without loss. Judged by numbers of students, the transfer program has been the most important one of the junior college. Educationally it is perhaps surpassed by the opportunities provided for vocational training. Semiprofessional courses in wide variety are found. Many schools provide curriculums of approximately a year in length. So flexible is the junior college that it can and does offer training suitable to the needs of almost any group of students.

Added to the transfer, and the semiprofessional courses, is the curriculum in general education designed for students who will leave the junior college at the end of two years and who seek during that time what may be termed a broad general education. It is for the reasons briefly described in these paragraphs that the general view prevails that the junior college as an institution must be preserved.

It seems evident that the enlargement of the junior college program, to include the upper division, will influence the work of the junior college. The tradition of the four-year school is bound to prevail. So ingrained is the tradition, not only among the general populace but among the faculty members of a junior college, that plans and thinking for the new institution will occur in terms of the four-year course. The four-year major will threaten the peculiar functions of the lower division as they are organized in the junior college. If the values of the junior college are to be preserved, the state college and the junior college should be completely separated.

From the standpoint of logic, a state college consisting of only the upper division and such graduate work as may be appropriate has much in its favor. California has a junior college system the development of which has increasingly made available to the people of the State an institution based on community needs. Everyone expects the time to come when the network of junior colleges will be sufficiently complete to provide schools located in such a way as to serve the population of the State. The proposal that publicly supported four-year collegiate institutions drop their lower divisions and concentrate upon the more professional work of the upper division has been before the educational public for years. The proposal is consistent with the principles advanced in support of the six-four-four plan, a form of organization for the public schools which has received all but unanimous endorsement by students of school administration and national educational bodies.

The people of California, and those engaged in school work including college faculties and administrators, are apparently not ready for this form of organization. Thinking is in terms of the four-year institution. The University of California expects to retain its lower division, although the number of students will likely be reduced. Only occasionally does a representative of the state colleges speak of relinquishing the lower division. To the general public the proposal is practically unknown; the four-year organization dominates the popular mind so completely that the proposal to enlarge a junior into a four-year school receives instant acceptance.

In the past, junior colleges have been established in existing state colleges. This organization is found in Fresno and San Jose and until September, 1946, in San Diego. The junior college is supported as any other junior college. A contract is drawn between local school authorities and the administrative officers of the state college who operate the junior college.

The best example of the plan is found at San Jose. The following excerpts, taken from the current catalog, explain the organization.

"The San Jose State College is actually a combination of two colleges under the name and organization of a four-year college, but with the addition of a complete and separately supported junior college. By contract with the San Jose Junior College District, the college is able to offer regular junior college curricula in addition to the usual offerings of a four-year state college. This arrangement has proved particularly advantageous as it permits the two colleges to combine their resources in certain areas of more or less mutual function and thereby greatly enhance the possible offering of either college separately.

"All curricula in the college are grouped under the following categories: Trial, technical, liberal arts, and teacher training, as indicated on the next page For purposes of administration, however, the students are classified in five groups: Trial, technical, lower division liberal arts, lower division teacher training, and upper division.

I. Trial. This group includes students who do not meet scholastic requirements for admission to other college curricula. Registration is entirely in the junior college where no tuition or fee is charged.

II. Technical. This group consists of students in two-year semi-professional or vocational curricula. Registration is entirely in the junior college where no tuition or fee is charged.

"Lower division liberal arts students register in state college or junior college according to admission status as outlined on page 35. Junior college students are transferred to state college in June of each year after not less than three quarters of satisfactory progress."

High school graduates who do not meet college entrance requirements may enter the junior college and enroll in the "General trial curriculum." They are limited to a series of elementary courses. If they demonstrate their ability to do college work they may transfer to the regular college curriculum. The junior college also maintains two-year semiprofessional curriculums which give practical preparation for vocationals. The two-year semiprofessional curriculums are:

Accounting
Aeronautics
Commercial Art and Illustration
Costume Design and Construction
Design and Handicraft Drafting
General business
Home making
I. B. M. accounting
Journalism Merchandising
Music
Photography
Police
Printing technics
Radio
Secretarial
Speech-drama
Watchmaking

Much criticism has been leveled at the San Jose Junior College, especially by junior college administrators and county superintendents. Criticism is based both upon methods of finance, and upon the methods of operation. The junior college receives state apportionments, and it levies out-of-district tuition rates on counties for students residing outside a junior college district. The amount of local taxes needed to complete the budget is small. The county superintendents object to approving tuition charges; they assert that the students could have entered the state college anyway with the expense of their instruction borne by the State. Reference to the above extracts from the catalog of the college show that this is not the case except for those students who meet the entrance requirements and enroll in the two-year curriculums. These curriculums would not be available, according to the college authorities, were it not for the junior college.

A second criticism arises from the fact that the junior college students are not separated from the college students. Apparently, students participate in athletics and other student activities whether their affiliation is with the state college or the junior college. Although certain classes are set up as junior college classes, they are attended by such state college students as wish; on the other hand, classes listed in the state college may be attended by junior college students. Such practices cause school administrators to assert that the school is not a bona fide junior college. They also ask how it is possible, accurately, to determine junior college attendance and hence state income on such a basis. Rebuttal is to the effect that the junior college is rendering a real service to the community, and students from other communities at much less cost than would be possible with a separately organized junior college.

At San Diego the junior college was separated from the state college largely because of location. Students had too far to go. Facilities in or near the down-town area give better service to junior college students.

In Fresno the number of junior college students is small. At present a plan is under way to abandon the present campus and build a new one. If this is done, the president of the college will favor the separation of the junior college and the state college.

Conclusions

Junior colleges, state colleges, and other four-year colleges and universities will be able to accommodate all California high school graduates who wish to continue their education in September, 1947. New junior colleges, which will begin operation with the next school year, will place facilities within short distances of many. Restrictions on freshman enrollment have been made, or will be made, by several of the smaller, privately supported colleges, by the University of Southern California, and by Stanford University. The University of California does not expect to limit freshman enrollment except in engineering.

Certain of the small, privately supported colleges have closed, or will close, enrollments in the upper division. The University of Southern California and Stanford University will not be able to accommodate all students who apply for admission to the upper division. The University of California will limit enrollment in the upper division only in the fields of engineering, possibly in business administration at Berkeley but probably not in Los Angeles; and in optometry, pharmacy, dentistry, medicine, and at Hastings College of Law. With the exception of San Francisco State College where the campus is very crowded, and San Luis Obispo where capacity will prohibit some students from enrolling, the state colleges expect to admit all upper division students who apply. Many places are available in the liberal arts, engineering subjects, and business administration.

In the junior colleges and the state colleges, students are concentrated in the freshman year. Of a total of 52,367 junior college students, only 3,166 are reported as expecting to transfer to upper division. The fields to which they wish to go in greatest number are, in order: Liberal arts, business administration, engineering, pre-law, pre-medicine, chemistry, teaching, agriculture, dentistry, and nursing.

In Los Angeles City College 534 are arranging to transfer, while in Sacramento College the number is 350.

Information gained from the junior colleges, state colleges, and other four-year colleges and universities on enrollments, their policies on limiting admissions, and numbers of students ready to transfer from the junior colleges, does not support the statement that an emergency exists in higher education. Collegiate institutions are able to offer training to those who seek it, except in a few professional fields.

The housing situation, while improved, is such as to make it difficult, if not impossible, for many students to find living quarters on or near college campuses.

Sacramento and vicinity now contain sufficient population to support a four-year collegiate institution. The Los Angeles area contains sufficient population to support one or more four-year colleges.

Plans for the development of upper division work in the Los Angeles City College and the Sacramento College are surprisingly indefinite. Except in a few departments, more specific planning must precede the establishment of upper division work.

Practically all departments in which it is proposed to extend the curriculum, both in Sacramento College and City College, must be strengthened by the addition of highly trained faculty and personnel, laboratory and shop equipment, and library facilities. It should be possible to make such preparation as is necessary to begin a limited amount of third-year work in September, 1947.

At Los Angeles City College facilities are badly crowded. Temporary classroom buildings should be ready in September, although the problem of sufficient space will probably not be solved. At Sacramento College space can be provided by carefully developed class schedules.

Before new four-year colleges are established, their financial support and administrative control must be decided. Possible forms of support and control are: (1) Operation of a state-supported upper division on the same campus with the junior college, with arrangements made for the State to lease school district facilities or to supply facilities, of both. Administrative control may be exercised over the upper division (a) by the State; (b) by the local board of education, or (c) through an agreement reached by the local board of education and by the State. (2) Extension to the upper division of present methods of financing junior colleges with control lodged with the local board of education. (3) Granting cities of a certain population and wealth the privilege of levying local taxes to support the upper division and assigning control to the local board of education. (4) Organizing a junior college in connection with an existing state college, with the support and control of the college remaining with the State. This entails the support of the junior college on the usual basis, and the control of the junior college arranged on a cooperative basis between college administrative officers and the local board of education. (6) A complete separation of the junior college and four-year state college, employing existing methods of support and control for both. (7) The complete separation of the state college and the junior college, with the state college limited to the upper division and such graduate work as it may be authorized to conduct.

Of the possible methods of organization, the one which completely separates the junior college and the four-year state college is the best. It will permit the junior college to maintain its identity and to fulfill its function; it will permit the four-year school to accomplish the purpose for which it is established, namely, to offer curriculums leading in various lines of training to the degree of competence marked by the bachelor's degree. Complete separation will help to prevent what might easily become a movement in higher education, if a beginning were made of making junior colleges into four-year schools by the process of adding two years for which state support is given. If such an organization is once set up, pressure can be expected for legislation in any community maintaining a relatively large junior college.

It does not seem advisable for either the Los Angeles City College or the Sacramento College to begin upper division courses in September, 1947. The adoption of a long range policy of providing additional facilities for the State, with a four-year college located in the Sacramento area and one or more in the Los Angeles area, is consistent with the results of this and the preceding investigation by the subcommittee.

Of the greatest importance to higher education in California is a decision with respect to the financial support and administrative control of such new institutions as may soon be established. Separation of junior colleges and state colleges will perpetuate a type of support and control that has proved satisfactory; placing a junior college and a state college on the same campus may reduce and even destroy the usefulness of the junior college; it may easily initiate a form of institution that will prove to be inferior to existing schools.

If it is not feasible or practical to delay legislation authorizing state colleges in Los Angeles and Sacramento, the immediate situation may be met through legislation locating state colleges in those cities. If such legislation is passed, permission to begin operations should be withheld until the extensive survey of the State is completed. This will permit decision concerning the higher educational institutions which California needs, and the form of financial support and administrative control which will best minister to those needs.

Exhibit B-III
Admission to State Colleges

San Francisco State College

There will be no limitation other than scholastic on the admission of freshmen. All lower division students who qualify will be admitted to upper division. Preference will be given to native lower division students for admission to the upper division, although admissions have not been completed for September. It will be necessary to close enrollments when the quota is reached because of lack of space. Upper division students from junior colleges will be admitted in business courses.

Fresno State College

There will be no limitation on college enrollments except that caused by housing conditions. All lower division students qualified for the upper division will be admitted. There are approximately 300 places for students in upper division business administration and engineering.

Chico State College

There will be no limitation on freshman students as places can be found for 600. All qualified lower division students will be admitted to upper division and, while preference will be given to native students, it is not anticipated that enrollments will be closed to junior college transfers. Upper division students can be accommodated in business and engineering subjects.

San Diego State College

No limitation will be placed upon enrollment of freshman students. All lower division students who apply will be admitted. Upper division students can be accommodated in general engineering subjects and in business administration.

Humboldt State College

No limitation has been placed on the admission of freshmen. It is hoped that 300 will apply for September. Lack of facilities in natural science, journalism, secretarial work, and social science will force a limitation in the enrollment of upper division students in these fields. Preference will be given to native students in considering applications for upper division work. Places are open at present in business administration.

San Jose State College

No limitation, other than scholastic, has been placed on enrollment. It is expected that all students transferring to the upper division will be admitted provided they are able to secure housing. No preference will be given to native lower division students.

California Polytechnic School

Limitations will be placed on the admission of freshmen because of insufficient facilities. All native lower division students who qualify will be admitted to upper division work and additional students from the junior colleges can be accommodated in most fields of instruction. Admissions are still open although it is anticipated that a quota will be reached before September. Places are still open in the field of engineering.

Proposed Upper Division Curriculums for September, 1947

Los Angeles City College

The Los Angeles City College is prepared to offer, as of September, 1947, the third year of a four-year degree program in the below listed courses. (Note: No additional equipment or investment will be needed to place most of these courses into the curriculum.)

1. Pre-professional
   - Four-year pre-medical
   - Third-year pre-osteopathy
2. Semi-professional
   - Four-year nursing
   - Four-year art
3. Business
   - Four-year accounting
   - Four-year banking and finance
   - Four-year business management
   - Four-year merchandising
4. Industry. (Equipment and laboratory space will be needed)
   - Third-year of mechanical engineering
   - Third-year of electrical engineering
   - Third-year of civil engineering

* It is proposed that, beginning in September, 1947, the third year only shall be offered in the upper division, and that such year's work shall be provided to accommodate not more than 500 students The actual third-year courses and curricula offered in 1947-48 shall be only those approved by the official appraisal committee

5. Education

Four-year men's recreational leadership
Four-year men's physical education
Four-year women's recreational leadership
Four-year women's physical education
Four-year elementary education

6. Cultural

Students with general education interests are not to be overlooked. Appropriate cultural courses will be offered. The emphasis in these courses will not be to earn a living, but rather to teach the art of living as good American citizens. Los Angeles, along with its industrial expansion, is fast becoming a leading cultural center. Intense interest is developing in the offering of courses in creative art, the fine arts, craft arts, music and written expression. Courses in sociology, history, civilization, literature, composition, and philosophy, paralleling these, will be developed to meet the non-vocational needs of students.

Exhibit E-1

President Elliott stated that the board instructed the president at its meeting on Thursday, January 16th, to confer with the superintendent and Dr. Jacobsen, President of Los Angeles City College, concerning a four-year college program, and as a result of such conference the board had before it a resolution with respect to the matter, which was in the hands of the Law and Rules Committee.

Mr. Larrabee, Chairman of the Law and Rules Committee, thereupon presented the following resolution prepared in accordance with instructions of the board at its last meeting, to wit:

RESOLUTION OF INTENTION CONCERNING FOUR-YEAR BASIS AT CITY COLLEGE

WHEREAS, The 1946 enrollment at the Los Angeles City College has increased to approximately eight thousand students, about one-half of whom are veterans of World War II; and it is apparent that most of these veterans who desire and are eligible for a four-year college course will fail to attain this objective because of overcrowded conditions in the institutions of higher learning in the State of California; and

WHEREAS, The same overcrowded conditions are preventing the greater part of high school graduates enrolled at City College or otherwise desiring a four-year college course, from securing such education; and

WHEREAS, The metropolitan area of Los Angeles has become an industrial and commercial center of California, and a survey has indicated the need and demand for a specialized four-year college course to prepare students and employees for positions of an administrative and managerial character in industry, commerce and in other vocational fields; and it appears that the greater part of the veterans in this area, by reason of the delay in their educational program because of the war, desire and require such specialized courses of instruction in these fields; and

WHEREAS, It is urgent that such a four-year educational program be made available as soon as possible, and the use of the facilities and faculty at Los Angeles City College would make available such a four-year college course without the serious delay of building a college plant or organizing a complete new faculty; and

WHEREAS, It appears that the need for such a four-year college is permanent in its nature and will particularly serve the future needs of the Los Angeles metropolitan area in the manner above indicated; and

WHEREAS, In California public education of an advanced college grade is financed as a state function; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Los Angeles City Board of Education affirms by this resolution the existence of a need for a four-year college program in this area which will serve special fields of industrial, commercial and vocational education on a permanent basis; be it further

Resolved, That it is urgent that the educational needs of a large number of veterans now enrolled in the Los Angeles City College for advanced instruction which the Federal Government makes possible under the GI Bill of Rights be immediately met; be it further

Resolved, That in recognition of this need, this board offers to this area, and to the State of California, the State Board of Education and the Legislature, its cooperation in making the facilities and faculty of Los Angeles City College and the facilities of this board available for such a four-year college program; under a plan of mutual cooperation between the State of California and this school district to be mutually satisfactory, and contemplating the financing of the upper two years with state funds, reimbursable to the extent provided by the GI Bill of Rights. This board offers to assume the responsibility of direction and administration of such facilities, subject to cooperative assistance and counsel by the State; be it further

Resolved, That the Board of Education of the Los Angeles City Junior College District requests the California Legislature to enact legislation to authorize work above the junior college level in conjunction with Los Angeles City College and to provide state funds therefor.

Mr. Larrabee moved that the above resolution be adopted. Said motion was seconded by Mr. Becker, and on roll call was carried unanimously. Six ayes.

On page 1 of said bill, strike out lines 1 to 5, inclusive, and insert

"SECTION 1. Chapter 3.5 is added to Part 1 of Division 2 of Title 2 of the Government Code, to read:

CHAPTER 3.5. RETIREMENT OF LEGISLATORS

Article 1. Definitions and General Provisions

9350. This chapter may be cited as the Legislators' Retirement Law.

9350.2. "Retirement system" or "this system" means the Legislators' Retirement System established by this chapter.

9350.3. "Board of Administration" or "board" means the Board of Administration of the State Employees' Retirement System.

9350.4. "Retirement Fund" or "Fund" means the Legislators' Retirement Fund established by this chapter.

9350.5. "Member" means any person who is a member of this system.

9350.6. "Compensation" means the remuneration paid in cash out of funds controlled by the State, excluding mileage, reimbursement for expenses incurred in the performance of official duties, and any per diem allowance paid in lieu of such expenses.

9350.7. "Regular interest" means interest at the annual rate fixed by the board, compounded annually, plus such additional interest as the board may credit from year to year.

9350.8. "Contributions" means contributions made by a member at the rate of contribution prescribed in this chapter.

9350.9. "Accumulated contributions" means the sum of all contributions standing to the credit of a member's account, and interest thereon.

9351. "Service" means the period of time, computed in years and fractions thereof, a member has held office as a Member of the Senate or of the Assembly.

9351.1. "Retirement" means withdrawal from membership in this system with a retirement allowance granted under this chapter.

9351.3. "Legislator" means a Member of the Assembly or a Member of the Senate.

Article 2. Administration

9353. This system shall be administered by the Board of Administration of the State Employees' Retirement System.

9353.1. The board may make such rules as it deems necessary and proper for the administration of this system.

9353.2. The board shall determine who are members of this system and is the sole judge of the conditions under which persons may be admitted to and continue to receive benefits under this system.

9353.3. From time to time the board shall determine the rate of interest being earned on the Legislators' Retirement Fund, and shall credit all contributions of members and retired members with interest at the current rate, compounded at each June 30th.

9353.4. At the end of each fiscal year the board may credit to all contributions held in the fund at June 30th of the then current fiscal year, such interest in excess of the current rate as it deems proper in the light of the earnings on the fund during that fiscal year, but not more than the difference between such earnings and the interest credited at the current rate to contributions during that year.

9353.5. Each member of this system shall file with the board such information affecting his status as a member as the board may require.

9353.6. The Chief Clerk of the Assembly shall give the board immediate written notice of the change in status of any Member of the Assembly resulting from induction into office, resignation, expulsion, death, or any other circumstance terminating his office as Member of the Assembly, and the Secretary of the Senate shall give the board immediate written notice of any such change in status of any Member of the Senate.

9353.7. If it is impracticable for the board to determine from the records the length of service, compensation, or age of any member of this system, or if any member refuses or fails to give the board a statement of his state service, compensation, or age, the board may estimate such length of service, compensation, or age.

9353.8. If more or less than the correct amount of contribution required of members or the State is paid, proper adjustment shall be made in connection with subsequent payments, or such adjustments may be made by direct cash payments between the member or the State and the board. Adjustments to correct any other errors in payments to or by the board may be made in the same manner.

9354. The Legislators' Retirement Fund in the State Treasury is hereby established.

9354.1. The board has the exclusive control of the administration and investment of the fund, with the same powers and duties, and subject to the same limitations and restrictions, that are applicable to the administration and investment of the State Employees' Retirement Fund. All of the provisions of the State Employees' Retirement Law applicable to the administration, investment, and custody of the State Employees' Retirement Fund are hereby made applicable to the Legislators' Retirement Fund, to the same extent and with the same effect as if the Legislators' Retirement Fund were expressly mentioned therein.

9354.2 In addition to other records and accounts, the board shall keep such records and accounts as may be necessary to show at any time:

(a) The total accumulated contributions of members.

(b) The accumulated contributions of the State, which shall include the amounts available to meet the obligation of the State on account of benefits granted to retired members.

9354.3 As soon as practicable after the close of each fiscal year the board shall file with the Governor a report of its work for such fiscal year. Within 20 days after the commencement of each regular session of the Legislature, the board shall transmit a copy of such report to each house of the Legislature.

Article 3. Membership

9355. Every legislator who, within 90 days after this chapter becomes operative, or within 90 days after the commencement of the first term of office as legislator for which he is elected, whichever is later, files with the board an election in writing to become a member of this system, becomes a member of this system on the first day of the month following the filing of such election.

9355.1. A person ceases to be a member of this system:

(a) Upon retirement pursuant to this chapter.

(b) Upon death.

(c) Except as provided in Section 9355.2, upon his ceasing to be a legislator.

(d) Upon resignation from membership in this system.

9355.2. Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter, if the service of a member is discontinued by any means other than death or retirement pursuant to this chapter, he shall have the right to elect within 90 days thereafter, and without right of revocation, whether to allow his accumulated contributions to remain in the fund. Failure to make such election shall be deemed an irrevocable election to resign from this system and withdraw his accumulated contributions. A member whose membership continues under this section is subject to the same age requirements as apply to other members for retirement, and upon qualification for retirement by age, he shall, upon his application therefor to the board, be retired, and receive a retirement allowance based upon the service with which he is credited, in the same manner as other members of this system.

9355.3 Any member may resign from this system at any time prior to retirement, by written resignation filed with the Board of Administration.

Article 4. Service

9356. Each member of this system shall receive credit for service for time during which he holds office as a legislator after becoming a member of this system.

9356.1 Each member who rendered service prior to the date this chapter becomes operative shall receive credit therefor if he makes contributions therefor to the Legislators' Retirement Fund, as provided in Section 9357.2. No member shall receive credit for any service for which he has not contributed as required by this chapter.

Article 5. Contributions

9357. For each year of service rendered after the date this chapter becomes operative each legislator who is a member of this system shall contribute four percent (4%) of his compensation as legislator. Such contributions shall be paid as provided in Section 9357.1.

9357.1 Immediately upon receipt of the written election of a legislator to become a member of this system, the Board of Administration shall certify to the State Controller the name of such member. The Controller shall deduct four percent (4%) from each warrant drawn in payment of compensation to the member, and shall remit such amount to the Board of Administration, to be deposited in the Legislators' Retirement Fund

9357.2 Any member who rendered service prior to the date this chapter becomes operative may elect, at any time prior to retirement, to contribute to the Legislators' Retirement Fund for each year or fraction thereof for which he desires to receive credit for service, four percent (4%) of the compensation received by him in respect to such service.

9357.3. If the membership of a member is terminated, except by death or retirement pursuant to this chapter, he shall be paid forthwith all of his accumulated contributions.

9357.4. A member may redeposit in the Legislators' Retirement Fund, in one sum or in not to exceed 12 monthly or 24 semimonthly payments, an amount equal to any accumulated contributions that have been repaid to him pursuant to Section 9357 3, subject to minimum payments fixed by the board, and if he makes such redeposit, he shall receive credit for all service with which he was entitled to be credited at the time of such repayment.

9357 5. Upon reentering this system after a termination of his membership, if a member does not elect to make, or having so elected, does not make, such redeposit, he reenters as a new member, without credit for any service.

9358 The State shall contribute annually to the Legislators' Retirement Fund, an amount, as estimated by the Board of Administration, equal to so much of the benefits to be paid from the fund during that year as is not provided by the accumulated contributions of the members receiving such benefits.

9358.1 The provisions of Section 9358 do not constitute an appropriation of money from the State Treasury The sum required for state contributions shall be appropriated in each State Budget Act, or otherwise.

If the amount of the state contribution for any prior year, as estimated by the Board of Administration and appropriated by the Legislature, is found to have been greater or less than it should have been, the state contribution for any year shall be reduced or increased, as the case may be, by the sum by which the state contribution for the prior year was greater or less than it should have been, except to the extent that such sum has been applied to reduce or increase the state contribution for any prior year.

Article 6 Benefits

9359. Upon his written application therefor to the Board of Administration, any member of this system who has attained age 63 and who is entitled to be credited with one or more years of service shall be retired, and thereafter shall receive for life the retirement allowance provided in this chapter.

9359 1. The retirement allowance is an annual amount equal to five percent (5%) of the compensation payable to Members of the Legislature at the time payments of the allowance fall due, multiplied by the number of years of service with which the member is entitled to be credited at the time of his retirement, not to exceed fifteen (15) years In no event shall any retirement allowance payable under this chapter exceed seventy-five percent (75%) of the compensation payable to Members of the Legislature at the time the payment of the allowance is made 9359.1. Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter, no retirement allowance or optional settlement in lieu thereof under this chapter shall be paid to or in respect to any person for time during which he holds office as a legislator. If a retired legislator reenters this system after his retirement, his retirement allowance or optional settlement in lieu thereof shall be discontinued, and his individual account shall be credited with the amount of his accumulated contributions at the time of his retirement, and he shall be entitled to receive credit for service prior to his retirement in the same manner as if he had never been retired.

9359 2. A retirement allowance granted by this chapter is payable in equal monthly installments but a smaller pro rata amount may be paid for part of a month when the period of payment begins after the first or ends before the last day of the month.

9359 3 The right of a person to any benefit or other right under this chapter and the money in the Legislators' Retirement Fund are not subject to execution, garnishment, attachment, or any other process whatsoever, and are unassignable except as specifically provided in this chapter.

9359.4. A member may at any time designate a beneficiary to receive such benefits as may be payable to his beneficiary or estate under this chapter, by a writing filed with the board To be eligible to be so designated a person shall have an insurable interest in the life of the member.

9359 5. The designation of a beneficiary under this system, other than designations under optional settlements two, three and four, may be revoked at the pleasure of the person who made it and a different beneficiary designated by a writing filed with the board

9359.6. The designation of a beneficiary by a member is not affected by termination of nor a break in his membership.

9359 7. If any person entitled to a benefit of not more than five hundred dollars ($500) from this system is a minor who has no guardian of his estate, the board may pay it to the person entitled to the custody of the minor to hold for the minor, if the person files with the board his acknowledged and verified statement that the total estate of the minor does not exceed one thousand dollars ($1,000) in value. Payment so made is a full discharge of the board and this system. The person shall account to the minor for the money when the minor reaches the age of majority.

9359 8 Upon the death of any member before retirement, his accumulated contributions shall be paid to his beneficiary, if he has designated one, and if not, to his estate.

Article 7. Optional Settlements

9361. In lieu of the retirement allowance for his life alone, a member or retired member may elect, or revoke or change a previous election prior to the approval of the previous election, to have the actuarial equivalent of his retirement allowance as of the date of retirement applied to a lesser retirement allowance, in accordance with one of the optional settlements specified in this article.

9361.1. Such election, revocation, or change of election shall be made prior to the making of the first payment on account of any retirement allowance. If the member dies after retirement and within 30 days from the date upon which his election or changed election is received at the office of this system in Sacramento, his election is of no effect, and his death shall be considered as that of a member before retirement unless the board, upon its determination that the election would have been received at the office of this system in Sacramento more than 30 days prior to the death but for circumstances not within the control of the member and not based upon any consideration of health, family relationship, or other consideration personal to the member, accepts the election.

9361.5. Optional settlement four consists of such other benefits as are the actuarial equivalent of his retirement allowance, that he may select subject to the approval of the board."

"SEC. 10. (a) For the purposes of this section, the following definitions shall apply to the terms used therein; the term "city" shall mean and include any municipal corporation or municipality of the State of California, whether organized under a freeholder's charter or under the provisions of general law of the type and class of cities and incorporated towns; the term "water district" shall mean and include any municipal water district, municipal utility district, public utility district, county water district, irrigation district or any other public corporation or agency of the State of California of similar character.

(b) Territory may be annexed to any county water authority organized hereunder by one of the following methods:

(1) By annexation to, or consolidation with, the area of any city, the area of which, as a separate unit, shall have become a part of any county water authority organized hereunder, such annexation or consolidation to occur upon compliance with the provisions of law governing such annexation to, or consolidation with, the area of such city. Upon completion of such annexation to, or consolidation with, such city in compliance with the provisions of law applicable thereto, such territory shall become, and be, a part of such county water authority, and the taxable property therein shall be subject to taxation thereafter for the purposes of said county water authority, including the payment of bonds and other obligations of such authority at the time authorized or outstanding.

(2) By annexation to, or consolidation with, any city which, as a separate unit, shall have become a part of any water district the area of which water district, as a separate unit, shall have become a part of any county water authority organized hereunder, in instances where, under the applicable provisions of law governing the change of boundaries of such water district, such annexation or consolidation automatically will result in the enlargement of the area of such water district, such annexation or consolidation to occur upon compliance with the provisions of law governing such annexation to, or consolidation with, the area of such city. Upon completion of such annexation to, or consolidation with, such city in compliance with the provisions of law applicable thereto, such territory shall become, and be a part of such water district, and of such county water authority, and the taxable property therein shall be subject to taxation thereafter for the purposes of said water district and of said county water authority, including the payment of bonds and other obligations of such water district and of such county water authority at the time authorized or outstanding. If any such territory shall have been so annexed to, or consolidated with, any such city prior to the effective date of this subparagraph (2), under conditions which would have resulted in the enlargement of the area of such county water authority had the foregoing provisions of this subparagraph (2) then been in effect, upon compliance with the following provisions of this subparagraph (2), such territory shall be annexed to, and shall become and be a part of, such county water authority, and shall be a part of such water district for all purposes, the last-mentioned provisions being as follows:

(aa) The governing body of such city, at any time after the effective date of this subparagraph (2), may adopt an ordinance which, after reciting that such territory has been annexed to, or consolidated with, such city by proceedings theretofore taken under statutory authority, and after referring to the applicable statutes and to the date and place of filing of the certificate or certificates evidencing such annexation or consolidation, shall describe such territory and shall determine and declare that the said territory shall be, and thereby is, annexed to such county water authority, and said ordinance shall further determine and declare that the said territory shall become and be, and thereby is, a part of such county water authority, and shall be, and thereby is, a part of such water district for all purposes.

(bb) The governing body, or clerk thereof, of such city shall file a certified copy of such ordinance with the Secretary of State of the State of California. Upon the filing of said certified copy of such ordinance in the office of the Secretary of State, such territory shall become, and be, a part of such county water authority, and shall be a part of such water district for all purposes, and the taxable property therein shall be subject to taxation thereafter for the purposes of said county water authority and of said water district, including the payment of bonds and other obligations of such county water authority at the time authorized or outstanding.

(cc) Upon the filing in his office of the aforesaid certified copy of such ordinance, the Secretary of State shall, within ten days, issue his certificate, describing such territory, reciting the filing of said certified copy of such ordinance in his office and the annexation of said territory to such county water authority, and declaring that the said territory is a part of said county water authority and of such water district. The Secretary of State shall transmit the original of his said certificate to the secretary of such county water authority and a duplicate original of his said certificate to the clerk of the governing body of such water district, and shall forward a certified copy of his said certificate to the county clerk of the county in which such county water authority is situated.

(3) Upon terms and conditions fixed by the board of directors of such county water authority and in the manner provided in paragraph (c) hereof, by direct annexation, as a separate unit, of the corporate area of any water district or city.

(4) Upon terms and conditions fixed by the board of directors of such county water authority and in the manner provided in paragraph (d) hereof, by annexation to, or consolidated with, any water district, the area of which, in whole or in part, is included within such county water authority as a separate unit; provided, that unless such territory shall be so annexed to such county water authority with the consent of such board of directors, the annexation of such territory to, or the consolidation of such territory with, any such water district shall not authorize or entitle such water district or such territory to demand or receive any water from such county water authority for use in such territory; and provided further, that, except where automatic annexation results under the conditions mentioned in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph (b), nothing in this act shall prevent the annexation of territory to, or the consolidation of territory with, any such water district for its local purposes only and without annexing such territory to such county water authority, and such local annexation or consolidation may occur without requesting or obtaining the consent thereto of the board of directors of such county water authority.

(c) The governing body of any water district or city may apply to the board of directors of such county water authority for consent to annex the corporate area of such water district or city to the county water authority. The board of directors may grant or deny such application and in granting the same may fix the terms and conditions upon which the corporate area of such water district or city may be annexed to and become a part of the county water authority. Such terms and conditions may provide, among other things, for the levy by such county water authority of special taxes upon taxable property within such water district or city, in addition to the taxes elsewhere in this act authorized to be levied by such county water authority, and in case such terms and conditions shall provide for the levy of such special taxes, the board of directors in fixing such terms and conditions shall specify the aggregate amount to be so raised and the number of years prescribed for raising such aggregate sum, and that substantially equal annual levies will be made for the purpose of raising such sum over the period so prescribed. The action of the board of directors evidenced by resolution shall be promptly transmitted to the governing body of such applying water district or city, which governing body may thereupon submit to the qualified electors of such water district or city at any general or special election held therein, the proposition of such annexation subject to the terms and conditions fixed as herein provided. Notice of such election shall be given by posting or publication; when given by posting such notice shall be posted at least ten (10) days and in three public places in the water district or city; when given by publication such notice shall be published once at least ten (10) days before the date fixed for the election in a newspaper of general circulation published in the water district or city. Such notice shall contain the substance of the terms and conditions fixed by the board of directors, as herein provided. Such election shall be conducted and the returns thereof canvassed in the manner provided by law for elections in such water district or city. If such proposition shall receive the affirmative vote of a majority of electors of such water district or city voting thereon at such election, the governing body of such water district or city shall certify the result of such election on said proposition to the board of directors of said authority, together with a legal description of the boundaries of the corporate area of such water district or city, accompanied by a map or plat indicating such boundaries. A certificate of proceedings hereunder shall be made by the secretary of the authority and filed with the Secretary of State. Upon the filing thereof in the office of the Secretary of State, the corporate area of such water district or city shall become, and be, an integral part of such county water authority, and the taxable property therein shall be subject to taxation thereafter for the purposes of said county water authority, including the payment of bonds and other obligations of such authority at the time authorized or outstanding, and the board of directors of such county water authority shall be empowered to do all things necessary to enforce and make effective the terms and conditions of annexation fixed as hereinabove authorized. Upon the filing in his office of the aforesaid certificate of proceedings the Secretary of State shall, within ten (10) days, issue his certificate, reciting the filing of said papers in his office and the annexation of the corporate area of such water district or city to such county water authority. The Secretary of State shall transmit the original of his said certificate to the secretary of such county water authority and shall forward a certified copy thereof to the county clerk of the county in which such county water authority is situated.

(1) In the event that a water district shall apply to a county water authority for consent to annex its corporate area, as a separate unit, which water district shall include as a part of its corporate area one or more cities, the corporate areas of which cities are already included within such county water authority as separate units, then that fact shall be taken into consideration by the board of directors of such county water authority in fixing the terms and conditions upon which said water district may be annexed to such county water authority, to the end that the areas within said cities which are already a part of such county water authority, shall not be required to assume any greater financial burden or obligation to such county water authority than they would have had if they had remained a part of such county water authority as separate units.

That concurrently with any election called by a water district to submit to the qualified electors of such water district, the question of whether the terms and conditions fixed by the board of directors of such county water authority for annexation shall be approved, the governing bodies of said cities may call and hold elections within their respective corporate limits to determine whether or not such cities shall withdraw from such county water authority as separate units, and said proposed withdrawal may be made and submitted conditioned upon and effective when the said water district shall have finally been annexed to such county water authority.

The effect of such concurrent elections, if a majority of the electors of the said water district voting thereat vote in favor of annexation, and a majority of the electors of said cities voting thereat vote in favor of withdrawing, shall be that the said water district thereafter shall be authorized to exercise the privileges and to discharge the duties prescribed in this act for public agencies the areas of which, as separate units, are included within the said authority, in place of and instead of said cities so withdrawing. That notwithstanding anything to the contrary in Section 11 of this act, the areas within said cities shall remain a part of such county water authority and shall not be excluded therefrom notwithstanding the fact that said cities, as corporate entities, have withdrawn from said authority.

In the event that said water district does annex to such county water authority, then the directors representing said cities on the board of directors of such county water authority, shall continue to act until their successors have been chosen and designated by the appropriate officers of said water district and have qualified as members of the board of directors of such county water authority, after which time the said directors representing said cities, shall no longer be entitled to sit or vote on said board.

(d) The governing body of any water district, the area of which, in whole or in part, is included within such county water authority as a separate unit, may apply to the board of directors of such county water authority for consent to annex to such county water authority territory which it is sought to annex to, or consolidate with, such water district, or territory which, without making the same a part of such county water authority, already has been annexed to, or consolidated with, such water district. The board of directors may grant or deny such application and in granting the same may fix the terms and conditions upon which such territory may be annexed to, and become a part of, the county water authority. Such terms and conditions may provide, among other things, for the levy by such county water authority of special taxes upon taxable property within such territory in addition to the taxes elsewhere in this act authorized to be levied by such county water authority, and in case such terms and conditions shall provide for the levy of such special taxes, the board of directors in fixing such terms and conditions shall specify the aggregate amount to be so raised and the number of years prescribed for raising such aggregate sum, and that substantially equal annual levies will be made for the purpose of raising such sum over the period so prescribed. The action of the board of directors evidenced by resolution shall be promptly transmitted to the governing body of such applying water district, and if such action shall grant consent to such annexation, such territory may be annexed to such county water authority as provided in subdivisions (1) or (2) thereof

(1) If such territory has not theretofore been annexed to or consolidated with such water district, upon completion of such annexation to, or consolidation with, such water district in compliance with the provisions of law applicable thereto, including this Section 10, such territory shall become and be a part of such county water authority and the taxable property therein shall be subject to taxation thereafter for the purposes of said county water authority, including the payment of bonds and other obligations of such authority at the time authorized or outstanding, and the board of directors of such county water authority shall be empowered to do all things necessary to enforce and make effective the terms and conditions of annexation fixed as hereinabove authorized; provided, that if the applicable provisions of law governing such annexation to, or consolidation with, such water district shall require any notice of any election called for the purpose of determining whether such proposed annexation or consolidation shall occur, or shall require any notice of hearing or other notice to be given to the residents or electors of, or owners of property in, such territory, such notice shall contain the substance of the terms and conditions of annexation to such county water authority fixed by the board of directors of such authority as herein provided; and provided further, that the governing body of such water district or other officer thereof having the duty of certifying the proceedings resulting in such annexation to, or consolidation with, such water district, pursuant to the provisions of law applicable thereto, shall include in such certification a record of the proceedings by which such territory has been annexed to such county water authority in accordance with the provisions hereof, and shall file a duplicate of such certificate with the board of directors of such county water authority.

(2) If the territory sought to be annexed to such county water authority theretofore has been annexed to, or consolidated with, such water district, the governing body of such water district, upon being advised of the action of the board of directors of such county water authority, as above provided, and if such action shall grant consent to such annexation, may submit to the qualified electors of such territory, at any general or special election held therein, the proposition of such annexation to such county water authority subject to the terms and conditions fixed by the board of directors of such county water authority, as herein provided. Notice of such election shall be given by posting or publication; when given by posting such notice shall be posted at least ten (10) days and in three public places in such territory; when given by publication such notice shall be published once at least ten (10) days before the date fixed for the election in a newspaper of general circulation published in such water district. Such notice shall contain the substance of the terms and conditions fixed by the board of directors, as herein provided. Such election shall be conducted and the returns thereof canvassed by the governing body of such water district in the manner provided by law for elections in such water district. If such proposition shall receive the affirmative vote of a majority of electors of such territory voting thereon at such election, the governing body of such water district shall certify the result of such election on said proposition to the board of directors of said authority. A certificate of proceedings hereunder shall be made by the secretary of the authority and filed with the Secretary of State. Upon the filing thereof in the office of the Secretary of State, such territory shall become, and be, a part of such county water authority, and the taxable property therein shall be subject to taxation thereafrer for the purposes of said county water authority, including the payment of bonds and other obligations of such authority at the time authorized or outstanding, and the board of directors of such county water authority shall be empowered to do all things necessary to enforce and make effective the terms and conditions of annexation of such territory to such county water authority fixed by said board of directors as hereinabove authorized. Upon the filing in his office of the aforesaid certificate of proceedings the Secretary of State shall, within ten (10) days, issue his certificate, reciting the filing of said papers in his office and the annexation of such territory to such county water authority. The Secretary of State shall transmit the original of his said certificate to the secretary of such county water authority and shall forward a certified copy thereof to the county clerk of the county in which such county water authority is situated.

(e) The validity of any proceedings for the annexation to any authority organized hereunder, of the corporate area of a water district or city as a separate unit, or of territory annexed to, or consolidated with, a water district or city which, as a unit, shall have been included within such authority, shall not be contested in any action unless such action shall have been brought within three months after the completion of such annexation, or, in case such annexation is completed prior to the time that this paragraph takes effect, then within three months after this paragraph shall have become effective.

(f) Whenever territory is annexed to or consolidated with any water district, the corporate area of which, as a unit, shall have become a part of any county water authority organized hereunder, irrespective of whether such territory is annexed to or becomes a part of such county water authority, or whenever territory is annexed to any city under the conditions mentioned in subparagraph (1) or subparagraph (2) of paragraph (b) of this section, or whenever territory previously annexed to any city is annexed to such county water authority under the conditions mentioned in said subparagraph (2) of paragraph (b) of this section, the governing or legislative body, or clerk thereof, of such water district or city, shall file with the board of directors of such county water authority a statement of the change of boundaries of such water district or city, setting forth the legal description of the boundaries of such water district or city, as so changed, and of the part thereof within such county water authority, which statement shall be accompanied by a map or plat indicating such boundaries.

(g) The inclusion in a county water authority of the corporate area, in whole or in part, of any municipal water district, municipal utility district, public utility district, county water district, irrigation district, or other public corporation or agency of the State of California of similar character, referred to in Section 2 of this act, shall not destroy the identity or legal existence or impair the powers of any such municipal water district, municipal utility district, public utility district, county water district, irrigation district, or other public corporation or agency of the State of California of similar character, notwithstanding the identity of purpose or substantial identity of purpose of such county water authority.

SEC. 2. If any section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase of this act, or of the act or acts of which this act is amendatory or supplemental, is for any reason held to be unconstitutional, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this act. The Legislature hereby declares that it would have passed this act, and each section, subsection, sentence, clause and phrase thereof, irrespective of the fact that any one or more sections, subsections, sentences, clauses or phrases of this act, or that any one or more sections, subsections, sentences, clauses or phrases of the act or acts of which this act is amendatory or supplemental, be declared unconstitutional. If any section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase of this act for any reason be held to be unconstitutional and such unconstitutional provision shall have purported to repeal or amend any provision of the act or acts of which this act is amendatory or supplemental, the provision existing and in force at the time of the enactment of this act shall remain and be in full force and effect notwithstanding such purported repeal or amendment."

Motion to Amend

Mr. Lowrey moved the adoption of the following amendments:

Amendment No. 1

On page 2 of the printed bill, as amended in the Assembly on March 21, 1947, strike out lines 4 to 6, inclusive, and insert "istration of this chapter. There shall first be allocated from said appropriation such amount as the Director of Finance shall determine, but in no event in excess of one-half of 1 percent of the total appropriation herein made,".

Amendment No. 2

On page 2, line 8, of said bill, after "chapter", insert "and for the support of the Department of Education in the performance of duties required or authorized by the board under this chapter".

Amendment No. 3

On page 2, line 29, of said bill, strike out "board", and insert "State Allocation Board, herein called the "board"."

Amendment No. 4

On page 3, line 29, of said bill, after "Code", insert "unless, in the event a lesser rate of district tax was levied, the board finds that the levy of the lesser rate was the result of an error not made by an officer or employee of the district".

Amendment No. 5

On page 3, line 32, of said bill, after "issue", insert ", unless, in the event the total amount of bonds issued by the district is a lesser amount, (a) the board finds that the cost to the district of issuing bonds in such amount as would be necessary to make the district eligible for an apportionment under this article would be disproportionate to the par value of such bonds or (b) the board finds that the amount of bonds issued plus the amount in the special accumulative building fund or funds of the district from the proceeds of taxes levied for the district in excess of the maximum rate of district tax fixed by Section 6357 plus such amounts as may be due the Board of Public Building Reconstruction equals 95 percent of the total amount of bonds the district is authorized by law to issue, or the unused bonding capacity, in the opinion of the State Allocation Board, is of such limited amount as to make the further issuance of bonds impracticable".

Amendment No. 6

On page 3 of said bill, between lines 36 and 37, insert

"5026.1. No district shall become ineligible for an apportionment under this chapter by reason of any lessening in the amount of bonds issued by the district caused by any increase in the assessed valuation of the district occurring after an application by the district has been approved by the board.

5026.2. Prior to the actual apportionment of any funds to a district by the board under this chapter, the board may tentatively apportion funds to the district, with the actual apportionment of funds remaining subject to the district complying with all lawful requirements established by or under this chapter. In no case, however, shall the board make any apportionment to a school district for the purchase or improvement of sites or for the construction, reconstruction, repair, alteration of, and additions to, school buildings which are not approved by the Department of Education."

Amendment No. 7

On page 3, line 37, of said bill, strike out "State School Building Commission", and insert "State Allocation Board".

CONSIDERATION OF HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 184

House Resolution No. 184

Relative to planning and zoning proceedings

WHEREAS, It has come to the attention of this Assembly that in at least one instance variances from a zoning ordinance may be granted without notice and hearing; and

WHEREAS, Assuming that the grant of variances without notice and hearing may be validly accomplished, yet in fairness and in justice to the property owners involved, such variances should only be granted after notice and an opportunity to be heard has been given to all interested property owners; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That it is the sense of this Assembly that all zoning and planning ordinances should contain provision for notice and hearing before any change of variances in zones be granted by the administering authority for such ordinances; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk make suitably prepared copies of this resolution available to Members of the Assembly requesting the same.

Resolution read, and adopted.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE
SACRAMENTO, May 15, 1947

To the Honorable Members of the Assembly
State of California
Sacramento, California

GREETINGS: I am returning herewith, without my signature,

Assembly Bill No. 1532, entitled: "An act to amend Sections 8, 9, and 13 of, and to add Sections 13.1, 13.2, and 18 to, Chapter 339 of the Statutes of 1923, relating to the possession, sale, and use of pistols, revolvers, and other firearms capable of being concealed upon the person, the registering of sales of such firearms, the granting of licenses or permits to carry the same concealed upon the person and to entitle said chapter 'The Dangerous Weapons' Control Law.'"

My objections to this bill are as follows:

This bill had as its purpose a comprehensive revision of the general act relating to the possession and use of firearms. It was sponsored by the Attorney General, who advises me that inadvertently a substantial portion of Section 9 of the existing law was omitted in the preparation of this bill. In view of the omission, that officer asks that this bill should not be approved.

In this request he is joined by the author of the bill, who has asked that this bill should be vetoed in order that the substance of it, without any inadvertent omission of existing language, may be incorporated in another bill.

Accordingly, I am returning the bill without my approval.

Respectfully submitted.

EARL WARREN, Governor

Assembly Bill No. 1532 ordered to unfinished business file.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE
SACRAMENTO, May 15, 1947

To the Honorable Members of the Assembly
State of California, Sacramento, California

GREETINGS: I am returning herewith, without my signature,

Assembly Bill No. 1725, entitled: "An act to add Section 17007 to the Government Code, relating to the designation by codes of funds, appropriations, revenues and accounts on the records of the Controller and Treasurer."

My objections to this bill are as follows:

This bill was sponsored by the State Controller to authorize that officer to prescribe a system for the designation of funds by the use of codes and to require all state departments and agencies to use the system in all reports furnished by them to the Controller.

The Director of Finance has pointed out that this authority is not consistent with the duties cast upon the Department of Finance by Section 13290 of the Government Code. That section directs the Department of Finance to devise, install and supervise a modern and complete accounting system for each agency of the State to the end that all revenues, expenditures, receipts, disbursements, resources, obligations and property of the State be properly, accurately and systematically accounted for and that there may be obtained accurate and comparable records, reports and statements of all the financial affairs of the State The designation of accounts and accounting classifications to be used by state agencies is a function which is essential to the proper exercise of the duties of the Department of Finance under this section

Approval of this bill would result in conflicting jurisdiction over the nomenclature to be used in accounting matters. The authority to prescribe nomenclature for accounts is vital to the proper installation of an accounting system, an obligation which the law vests in the Department of Finance. Until a thorough and comprehensive study of the over-all fiscal plan of the State Government has been made, piece-meal reallocation of functions, as proposed by this bill, is unwise.

The Legislative Auditor joins with the Department of Finance in recommending disapproval of this bill.

Because of the confusion which would result from imposing conflicting duties on the Controller and the Department of Finance, I am returning this bill without my approval.

Respectfully submitted.

EARL WARREN, Governor

Assembly Bill No. 1725 ordered to unfinished business file.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE
SACRAMENTO, May 15, 1947

To the Honorable Members of the Assembly
State of California, Sacramento, California

GREETINGS: I am returning herewith, without my signature,

Assembly Bill No. 1726, entitled: "An act to amend Sections 17030, 17031, and 17032 and repeal Sections 17033 and 17034 of the Government Code, relating to issuance of warrants."

My objections to this bill are as follows:

This bill amends three sections and repeals two sections of the Government Code, relating to the issuance of warrants It deletes the provision for the issuance of a single warrant by the Controller to the disbursing officer of a state agency for payment of salaries or obligations incurred by the agency, and for the payment of such salaries and claims by the disbursing officer.

Since this bill has been approved by the Legislature, it has been determined that it contains technical defects not noted at the time of its presentation which make it desirable that it should not become law.

It is pointed out by the Attorney General that this bill would cast considerable doubt on the propriety of existing procedure whereby state pay rolls are met from payments from a revolving fund, with the revolving fund being reimbursed by a single Controller's warrant representing the combined payments made from the revolving fund. That officer also points out that this bill would preclude the State from following its present practice of paying judgments in condemnation proceedings by a Controller's warrant payable to the county clerk.

The State Controller, who sponsored this bill originally, has asked that it be vetoed because it has been determined that the bill would possibly make it improper to reimburse all departmental revolving funds for any type of expenditure made therefrom. It is the proposal of that officer to incorporate the provisions of the bill in correct form in some other legislation, eliminating the objectionable features now found in the bill.

Concurring in the suggestion of the Attorney General and the State Controller that this bill should not receive approval are the Director of Finance, the Director of Public Works, the Director of Motor Vehicles and the Legislative Auditor

Because of the requests of these officers, and in view of the fact that it has been discovered that the language of this bill will interfere with existing fiscal practice, which the bill was not intended to affect in any way, I am returning it without my approval.

Respectfully submitted.

EARL WARREN, Governor

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolution was offered:

By Mr. Wollenberg:

House Resolution No. 187

Relative to Randall M Dorton

WHEREAS, On January 9, 1947, this Legislature approved a new charter for the City of Santa Monica, California, which authorized the establishment of a new form of self-government based on the city manager plan of operation for this progressive and growing community; and

WHEREAS, Randall M. Dorton has been selected by the newly elected Council of the City of Santa Monica for the very important and high position of the first city manager; and

WHEREAS, For the last three years, Randall M. Dorton has capably and with great satisfaction to this Legislature served as Deputy Director of Finance, has endeared himself to all those with whom he has come in contact, and is continuing a career dedicated to the public service by virtue of more than 20 years of successful service in the capacity of City Manager of the Cities of Pittsburg, Monterey, and Long Beach, all in the State of California; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Assembly of California hereby expresses regret at the loss of the services of Randall M. Dorton to the State of California, congratulates him upon the recognition of the high place he has attained in his profession, and extends to him and to the City Council best wishes for a highly successful service to the people of the City of Santa Monica; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly transmit suitably prepared copies of this resolution to Randall M. Dorton and to the City Council of the City of Santa Monica.

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by the Chaplain, Rev. Raymond Renwald:

Come now, O Most Divine Spirit, the Comforter of afflicted souls, the joy of hearts, and our rest in tribulations. Come, O Sanctifier of Sinners, Teacher of the Humble, Compassionate Father of Orphans, Strength of the Weak and Refuge of the Poor. Penetrate the depth of my spirit by the strength of Thy grace, sustain my weakness by Thy mighty arm, inflame my tepidity by Thy holy fire, that I may ever fulfill Thy command to love Thee above all things, and my neighbor as myself for the love of Thee—AMEN.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE TO THE FLAG

Upon request of the Speaker, the Assembly gave the pledge of allegiance to the Flag.

HEADQUARTERS U. S. MARINE CORPS
WASHINGTON 25, D. C., May 14, 1947

Mr. Arthur A. Ohnimus, Chief Clerk
California Legislature, Assembly
Sacramento 14, California

MY DEAR MR. OHNIMUS: Your letter of April 28, 1947, with enclosure and addressed to the President of the United States, has come to my attention.

On behalf of all the members of the United States Marine Corps, I would like to take this opportunity to thank the California Legislature Assembly for the confidence it has expressed in our corps.

It is gratifying indeed that the Assembly considered the future of the Marine Corps to be of such importance as to merit the time and attention it must have required to secure the passage of Assembly Joint Resolution No. 32.

Our continuing effort will be to merit the confidence placed in us by the Members of the Assembly.

Sincerely yours,

A. A. VANDERGRIFT, General, U. S. M. C.
Commandant of the Marine Corps

"(a) For the purposes of this act the assessed value of vehicles shall be determined by the department upon the basis of the California delivered prices as established by the manufacturers or distributors in their selling agreements with authorized dealers as of the time the particular make and year model is first offered for sale in California, subject to the exceptions, procedures and classifications as set forth in this act.

(b) In the event the California delivered price of a commercial vehicle has reference only to such vehicle without a body or other essential part, the department shall determine the value for assessment purposes of the body or such other essential part of the vehicle on the basis of the cost price to the purchaser as evidenced by a certificate of cost, but not including California sales or use tax or any local sales or other local tax.

(c) In the event the department is unable to ascertain the California delivered price as defined above in respect to any vehicle or class of vehicles by reason of the same being a specially constructed vehicle, or for any other reason, the department shall determine the value for assessment purposes upon the basis of the cost price to the purchaser of the vehicle as evidenced by a certificate of cost, but not including California sales or use tax or any local sales or other local tax.

(d) In the event any vehicle is modified or additions are made to the chassis or body at a cost of $200 or more, but not including any change of engine or any cost of repairs to a vehicle, the owner of such vehicle shall report any said modification or additions to the department and the department shall classify or reclassify the vehicle in its proper class as provided in Section 10753.2, taking into consideration the increase in the value of the vehicle due to such modifications or additions, and any reclassification resulting in increase in value shall be based on the cost to the consumer of such modifications or additions In the event any vehicle is modified or altered resulting in a decrease in the value thereof of $200 or more as reported to and determined by the department, the department shall classify or reclassify the vehicle in its proper class as provided in Section 10753 2.

The foregoing provisions of this subdivision shall not apply in the event the cost of any modification or additions to the chassis or body of a vehicle is less than two hundred dollars ($200).

SEC. 3. Section 10753 2 is added to said code, to read:

10753.2. (a) After determining the California delivered price as defined above of a vehicle or its cost price to the purchaser, as hereinbefore provided, the department shall classify every vehicle in its proper class according to the classification plan as set forth in this section.

(b) For the purposes of this act a classification plan is established consisting of the following classes: A class from $0 to and including $49.99; a class from $50 to and including $199 99; a class from $200 to and including $399 99; and thereafter a series of classes covering the range from $400 to and including $3,999 99, successively set up in brackets having a spread of $200; and thereafter a series covering the range from $4,000 to and including $6,999.99, successively set up in brackets having a spread of $500; and thereafter a series covering the range from $7,000 to and including $9,999 99, set up in brackets having a spread of $1,000; and thereafter a series commencing with $10,000, successively set up in brackets having a spread of $2,000, consisting of such number of classes as will permit classification of all vehicles having a California delivered price in excess of $10,000.

(c) The assessed value of a vehicle for each calendar year of its life, starting with the year first sold to a consumer as a new vehicle, shall be as follows: For the first year, 75 percent of a sum equal to the middle point between the extremes of its class as established in subdivision (b) of this section; for the second year, 60 percent of such sum; for the third year, 45 percent of such sum; for the fourth year, 30 percent of such sum; for the fifth year, 20 percent of such sum; for the sixth year, 15 percent of such sum; for the seventh year, 10 percent of such sum; and for the eighth and each succeeding year, 5 percent of such sum; provided, that the minimum tax shall be the sum of $1.

SEC. 4. Sections 10753.5 and 10754 of said code are hereby repealed.

SEC. 5 This act shall become effective on the ninety-first day following the adjournment of this Session of the Legislature, but shall not become completely operative until January 1, 1949, it being the intention of the Legislature that the changes in determining the assessed value of vehicles for the purposes of this act shall take effect as of that date, but that the administrative work necessary to enable such changes to be effected in an orderly manner on said date be performed prior thereto."

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR

GOVERNOR'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO, May 15, 1947

To the Honorable Members of the Assembly
State of California, Sacramento, California

GREETINGS: I am returning herewith, without my signature,

Assembly Bill No. 10, entitled: "An act to amend Section 5437 of the Public Resources Code, relating to qualifications of voters of county recreation districts."

My objections to this bill are as follows:

This bill amends Section 5437 of the Public Resources Code relating to the qualifications of voters voting on the question of the formation of county recreation districts. Under the present law, each registered voter in the proposed district is entitled to cast one vote. Under this bill, only persons owning land in the proposed district would be entitled to vote, and each landowner would be entitled to cast one vote for each $100 of assessed valuation of his land in the district.

I believe it is essentially undemocratic to make this change in qualifications for voting. It should be pointed out that this bill does not affect existing districts in any way, inasmuch as it affects only the qualification of electors participating in an election having to do with the formation of a district. The trustees of such districts are appointed by the supervisors, and although bonds can be issued only upon a vote in the district, this bill does not change the qualification for voters at bond elections.

The code now provides ample protection against ill-advised formation of such districts in that it requires a petition to the board of supervisors, with a hearing before that body, at which protests may be heard, and it is only after affirmative action by the board of supervisors that the question of formation of such a district may be submitted to the voters of the district.

The present law was established in 1943 by Senate Bill No 289, now Chapter 232, Statutes, 1943, which bill was passed by unanimous vote of both houses of the Legislature.

Satisfaction with the present law and objection to this proposed change have been made known to me by the Director of the Youth Authority and by representatives of the recreational directors of the State and by representatives of the Parent-Teachers Association.

In view of these circumstances, I am returning the bill without my approval.

Respectfully submitted.

EARL WARREN, Governor

STATE OF CALIFORNIA
GOVERNOR'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO, May 19, 1947

To the Assembly of the State of California
Sacramento, California

GENTLEMEN: I am transmitting to you herewith a copy of a message with reference to Assembly Bill No. 10 entitled, "An act to amend Section 5437 of the Public Resources Code, relating to qualifications of voters of county recreation districts."

This bill, with my message relative thereto, I (through my Legislative Secretary) delivered to Arthur A. Ohnimus, Chief Clerk of the Assembly, at 5.50 o'clock p.m. on the sixteenth day of May, 1947, at which time your honorable body had adjourned for the day but not for the session.

Respectfully submitted.

EARL WARREN, Governor

CONSIDERATION OF GOVERNOR'S VETO (BY UNANIMOUS CONSENT)

Assembly Bill No. 10—An act to amend Section 5437 of the Public Resources Code, relating to qualifications of voters of county recreation districts.

Governor's message stating his objections read previously.

The question being: Shall Assembly Bill No. 10 become a law notwithstanding the objections of the Governor?

AYES—None.

Knight, Loomis, Luckel, Lyons, Maloney, McMillan, Miller, Niehouse, Robertson, Rosenthal, Sherwin, Silliman, Stanley, Stephenson, Stewart, Thomas, Thompson, Thorp, Waters, and Wollenberg—55.

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT THAT SENATE BILL NO. 1097 BE RECALLED FROM THE SENATE

Mr. Geddes asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent that the Chief Clerk be instructed to request the return of Senate Bill No. 1097 from the Senate, for the purpose of taking further action.

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT THAT THE RECORD BE EXPUNGED, AND THE ACTION RESCINDED ON SENATE BILL NO. 1097

Mr. Geddes asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent that the record be expunged, and the action rescinded, whereby the Assembly, on May 16, 1947, passed Senate Bill No. 1097.

CONSIDERATION OF DAILY FILE (RESUMED)

NOTICE OF MOTION TO RECONSIDER ASSEMBLY CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT NO. 28 WAIVED

COMMUNICATIONS

The following communications were received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

By the Chief Clerk:

EXECUTIVE OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT
BUREAU OF THE BUDGET, WASHINGTON 25, D. C., May 13, 1947

Mr. Arthur A. Ohnimus, Chief Clerk
Assembly, California Legislature
Sacramento 14, California

DEAR MR. OHNIMUS: Receipt is acknowledged of your letter of April 28, 1947, addressed to Director Webb, enclosing copy of Assembly Joint Resolution No. 9, which was adopted by the California Legislature on April 25, 1947.

Your interest in this matter is appreciated, and I wish to assure you that the estimate presented by the Department of Agriculture for federal forestry activities for the Fiscal Year 1948 has received our earnest consideration in accordance with the existing executive policy governing the preparation of budgets for the coming fiscal year.

Very truly yours,

DONALD B. MacPHAIL
Office of the Director

By the Chief Clerk:

POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT
THIRD ASSISTANT POSTMASTER GENERAL
Washington, D.C., May 13, 1947

Mr. Arthur A. Ohnimus
State Capitol, Sacramento, California

DEAR MR. OHNIMUS: The Postmaster General has requested me to acknowledge your letter of April 28th, enclosing a copy of Assembly Joint Resolution No. 41, adopted by the California Legislature on April 23, 1947, calling for the provision of a commemorative stamp to mark the 100th anniversary of the discovery of gold, which occurs next year.

This subject is to be accorded every possible consideration in arranging a program of new issues for the ensuing year. I am unable to offer additional encouragement with respect to favorable action in the matter because it may not be possible to dispose of prior commemorative commitments until some time after the first of January, in which case the anniversary date of January 24th, may offer an insurmountable problem.

Sincerely yours,

JOSEPH J. LAWLER
Third Assistant Postmaster General

By the Chief Clerk:

The following communication was received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

OFFICE OF DEFENSE TRANSPORTATION
WASHINGTON, D. C., May 14, 1947

Mr. Arthur A. Ohnimus, Chief Clerk
California Legislature, Assembly
Sacramento 14, California

DEAR MR. OHNIMUS: The President has referred to this office your letter of April 28th, to which was attached a copy of Assembly Joint Resolution No. 43 adopted April 24, 1947, by the California Legislature, Assembly, which deals particularly with car shortage in the West.

If we may adopt as a premise the fact that a man's judgment is no better than his information and if his information is in error his judgment must be faulty, I would like then to examine the information on which the joint resolution above referred to is based. The primary premise is there exists today in western states a serious shortage of railroad freight cars, a condition which has existed since the close of hostilities of World War II, and which is creating a disastrous industrial situation and imperiling western postwar economy. This premise is in error to the extent that it limits the car shortage to western territory because the car shortage is Country-wide and just as severe in the East as it is in the West, in fact, percentagewise it is more severe.

This statement is in error in saying that this condition has existed since the close of World War II. It has not. Just one year ago today we had a surplus of equipment in all areas of the Country and all demands were being met. As far as creating a disastrous industrial situation in the West, I would like to point out that in the geographical grouping, including California, for the week ended April 26th, the week in which the resolution was adopted, the railroads in this district loaded 131,011 freight cars which is 109.7 percent of the average loading for a similar week for the past five years. This does not suggest a disastrous situation when you are 9.7 percent ahead of the five-year average, nor is it necessary to go back five years to get the figures to show this increase for 1947 was 17.5 percent above 1946.

I cannot agree with your statement that there no longer exists any legitimate argument or circumstance for a shortage of freight cars. It has been my endeavor to present to the Country this situation in some detail which I have done by correspondence and by appearances before congressional investigating committees in which I have submitted in extensive detail what the shortage is, what it means to the Country, and what the cure is. The last statement that I made on this before a congressional committee was before a subcommittee of the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce Senator Reed presided and as a matter of information, I am enclosing a copy of that presentation. There is nothing that a new congressional investigation would uncover that is not fully uncovered in this report, and I am quite sure if you find the time to read it you will find it edifying and informative.

Cordially,

J. M. JOHNSON, Director

Above communication ordered referred to the Committee on Public Utilities and Corporations.

RECOMMENDATION OF THE GOVERNOR

STATE OF CALIFORNIA
GOVERNOR'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO, April 23, 1947

To the Honorable Members of the Assembly
Sacramento, California

GENTLEMEN:

Senate Bill No. 835—"An act to add Sections 203, 204, 205, and 206 to the Education Code, all relating to the California State Educational Agency for Surplus Property, declaring the urgency thereof, to take effect immediately," in my opinion constitutes an emergency bill within the meaning of that term as used in Section 34 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California, the consideration of which should not await the final enactment of the Budget Bill.

I therefore recommend consideration of Senate Bill No. 835 as an emergency measure.

Respectfully submitted.

EARL WARREN, Governor

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT TO TAKE UP SENATE BILL NO. 835, OUT OF ORDER

By the Chief Clerk:

The following communication was received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, U. S
COMMITTEE ON THE JUDICIARY
WASHINGTON, D. C., May 15, 1947

Hon. Arthur A. Ohnimus
Chief Clerk, California Legislature
State Capitol, Sacramento 14, California

DEAR MR. OHNIMUS: In reply to your letter of May 8, 1947, conveying the resolution of the California Assembly relating to Constitution Day, which was referred to this committee for consideration, please be advised that this committee recently tabled H. J. Resolution 60 which was introduced to proclaim Constitution Day. I understand, however, that the Senate Judiciary Committee recently reported favorably on a similar bill.

Very sincerely yours,

EARL C. MICHENER, Chairman

EXPLANATION OF ABSENCE

MR. SPEAKER: I desire the records of both the regular and extraordinary sessions show that I was absent from the Chamber because of official business in the Governor's Office.

DON A. ALLEN
Assemblyman Sixty-third District

RECOMMENDATION OF THE GOVERNOR

In accordance with Article IV, Section 34, of the Constitution, the Governor presented the following communication recommending the passage of Senate Bill No. 1562:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA
GOVERNOR'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO, April 30, 1947

To the Honorable Members of the Assembly
Sacramento, California

GENTLEMEN:

Senate Bill No. 1562—"An act making an appropriation to provide for participation by the State of California in public celebrations and exhibits to be held throughout the State during 1948, 1949, and 1950 commemorating significant events in the history of the State, declaring the urgency thereof and providing that this act shall take effect immediately," in my opinion constitutes an emergency bill within the meaning of that term as used in Section 34 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California, the consideration of which should not await the final enactment of the Budget Bill.

I therefore recommend consideration of Senate Bill No. 1562 as an emergency measure.

Respectfully submitted.

EARL WARREN, Governor

COMMUNICATIONS

By Speaker Collins:

The following communication was received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

HOME BUILDERS COUNCIL OF CALIFORNIA
SAN FRANCISCO, May 15, 1947

Hon. Sam L. Collins, Speaker
California State Assembly
Sacramento, California

MR. SPEAKER: Following World War II, the home building industry was called upon to do the biggest postwar job—the job of properly housing American families In accepting the responsibilities of this tremendous undertaking the industry faced many problems.

You are reminded that the building industry also went to war—constructing barracks, defense housing for war workers, industrial plants, airports and shipyards After four years of war construction we had to adjust our industry from a wartime to a peacetime economy.

Regulated under strict government controls, faced with a critical shortage of materials and skilled manpower, as well as government competition for these items, we built better than half a million dwelling units during 1946. We are proud of the fact that 105,000 of these units were built in California alone. Had our industry been disorganized—had our leadership been weak—we would have thrown in the sponge.

In our opinion, the critical need for housing that existed in 1946 has been eased considerably and the housing shortage of today is over-emphasized. It would be just as unwise for the economy of this State and Nation to overbuild as it would be to underbuild. Greater panic could result from wholesale foreclosures, bankruptcies and unemployment than ever could result from a lack of housing.

The industry believes in doing first things first. During 1945 and 1946 we built homes for sale and rent to veterans in need of housing. We shall continue with or without government regulation to give the veteran in need of housing first consideration and preference. We are confident that the end of 1947 will find every veteran in need of housing adequately and comfortably housed without the necessity of public housing. Those who want new housing do not constitute an emergency. They will be taken care of at a later date.

During the session, you will be asked to consider measures that would place the great State of California in the real estate and building business at a cost to our taxpayers of hundreds of millions of dollars. In effect, you will be asked to refute the old established and successful American free enterprise system of doing things and to replace that system with a socialized method sponsored, supported and controlled by the State. Public housing will not relieve the veterans' housing problem. State-owned public housing would result in the influx of thousands of low-income families, increasing our housing and welfare problems instead of solving them.

There is only one answer to the housing problem—PRODUCTION. Stimulate production, create competition and stabilize costs and the result will be a home market for all income groups. We have studied every Senate and Assembly bill affecting housing and we fail to find one single bill that will stimulate production, create competition or stabilize costs. We would be derelict in our duty as Americans, Californians and home builders if we merely opposed these housing measures.

We therefore welcome this opportunity of submitting for your favorable consideration what we believe to be constructive suggestions and recommendations designed to correct and solve the housing problems of this great State.

We are attaching hereto a copy of our suggestions and recommendations.

Respectfully yours,

MILTON W. MORRIS, Secretary

SAN FRANCISCO

Recommendations

1. An amendment to the Military and Veterans Code, relating to farm and home purchases of veterans, by increasing the home purchase loan from $7,500 to $10,000 and by extending the amortization period of the mortgage from 20 to 30 years. A flat interest rate of 3 percent is recommended. This should result in home ownership by the veteran at a monthly payment of from $35 to $50 including principal, interest, taxes and insurance—the exact monthly payment dependent upon the loan and local tax rate.

2. A committee be appointed from both houses to study the practicability of establishing a state housing agency, similar to the Federal Housing Administration, for the purpose of insuring the mortgage loans of lending institutions on residential construction.

The successful mortgage insurance experience of FHA is public knowledge. This method of stimulating home building and providing home ownership opportunities for millions of American families on a reasonable monthly payment basis is universally acknowledged. The loss ratio of FHA is a fraction of 1 percent and the agency pays its own expense of administration without cost to the government.

A state housing agency, formed along these lines, with a maximum interest rate of 4 percent and an amortization period of 35 years, would permit families of moderate and low incomes to own their own homes on a monthly payment basis of less than rent for houses of comparable size. It is the monthly payment, not the purchase price, that governs home ownership. These families would then take their positions as tax-paying citizens in the community with a genuine interest in civic affairs.

3. We also submit for your consideration the use of state funds for the purpose of establishing a state agency similar to the RFC which would grant direct loans to builders and home purchasers, particularly veterans, at reasonable interest rate and for an amortization period of not less than 35 years. This type of state financing to be available to deserving cases where private lending institutions refuse the risk.

By stabilizing the interest rate to insure a fair return to the investor and by extending the amortization period, you make available the purchase of a home on monthly terms within the reach of moderate and low income families. In so doing, you eliminate the necessity of emphasizing the construction of rental properties and encourage private industry to build in accordance with good judgment based on local demand.

4. The State Legislature to use its authority and persuasive powers in obtaining for the home purchaser equitable assessments. It is very noticeable that local assessors have placed assessments on new homes equal to twice that of a prewar house of the same size and design. The natural result of this inequity is a higher monthly payment. This payment should be reduced by a fair, equitable and uniform method of assessment.

5. The purchase of real property by the State be confined to its minimum requirements, particularly in metropolitan areas where available residential properties are scarce, land values are high, housing is short and real property taxes are abnormal.

6. Real property now owned by the State and no longer necessary for government use be reconveyed to the counties and municipalities for redevelopment and return to local tax rolls.

7. The State Legislature memorialize Congress to the effect:

(a) That National Housing Act be amended by Congress to permit the Federal Housing Administration to insure mortgages on one and two-family dwellings for a period of 35 years.

(b) That a mortgage limitation of $9,500 and $16,150 on one and two-family dwellings respectively to be established on FHA 35-year loans.

(c) That an interest rate not to exceed 4 percent be established on FHA 35-year loans.

(d) That the Veterans Administration amend the G-I Bill of Rights to conform with the terms and conditions contained in the suggested amendments to the National Housing Act.

(e) That a down payment of 5 percent of the purchase price be established on 35-year loans.

(f) That persons who avail themselves of the provisions of the G-I Bill of Rights in the purchase of a home shall be exempt from the down payment requirement.

(g) That the above recommendations, if enacted into law, would result in the completion of thousands of well-constructed one and two-family dwellings with all conveniences and facilities to conform with neighborhood and community standards of construction and design at monthly payments of $35 to $50 principal, interest, insurance and taxes included.

(h) That the above recommendations would greatly relieve the critical housing shortage, discontinue government subsidies and tax money expenditures, eliminate the need for public housing and would offer a worthy substitute bill for the Taft-Ellender-Wagner Bill and State housing measures.
