PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by the Chaplain, Dr. Torrance Phelps:

Infinite God: May we have a clear understanding of the principles upon which rests the American Way of Life, with its ideal form of government and economic abundance.

May we be grateful that it offers every individual the opportunity to develop his powers of body, mind, and spirit, and that it also restrains the ruthless from trespassing upon the equal rights of his fellowmen.

Let us see in other nations of the world the perils of excessive social control that lead to regimentation and develop political tyranny, as well as the dangers of unregulated individualism that allow economic piracy

May we realize how slowly and painfully our Democracy has evolved, and may we have the genius to maintain the necessary balance between individualism and social control.

Let us see that the ultimate success of the American system is the degree to which it creates free and resourceful citizenship, and also preserves our ample inheritance.

To America all the world looks and upon our stability the future of mankind depends.—AMEN.

COMMUNICATIONS

By Speaker Collins:

The following communication and report was received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

REPORT OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL

Letter of Transmittal

STATE OF CALIFORNIA
OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL
SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, January 25, 1949

Hon. Sam L. Collins
Speaker of the Assembly

MR. SPEAKER: I am pleased to submit my Report on Needed Revision of the Statutes, the Better to Express the Legislative Intent, prepared in response to the requirements of Section 10242 of the Government Code, together with legislative bills designed to make the suggested clarifying changes.

In submitting this report, I wish to acknowledge my indebtedness to state officials, attorneys, and others, including members of my staff, who severally brought various statutory defects to my attention, and with whom I conferred during the course of the study which resulted in this report.

Particular acknowledgment is due Mr Clarence H. Langstaff, Chief Deputy Legislative Counsel, who assembled and analyzed the data for the formulation of the recommendations, and supervised the drafting of the legislative bills.

Yours very sincerely,

FRED B. WOOD, Legislative Counsel

Report of Legislative Counsel on Needed Revision of the Statutes, the Better to Express the Legislative Intent

To the Senate and Assembly of the State of California:

In compliance with the requirement that the Legislative Counsel "advise the Legislature from time to time as to needed revision of the statutes" (Government Code, Section 10242), which I interpret as having reference to clarifying amendments the better to express the legislative intent, I suggest for your consideration the possible desirability of making the following changes in the statutory law:

Civil Code: Amend Section 1260, relating to homesteads, to delete an unnecessary comma toward the end of subdivision 1 and to insert "other" between "any" and "person" in subdivision 2.

Corporations Code: Amend Section 3641, relating to readoption or restoration of corporate instruments, to correct an erroneous cross-reference by substituting "3631" for "3632" as the section referred to.

Education Code: Amend Section 19611, relating to employees in child welfare centers, to correct a cross-reference at the end thereof, substituting "Division 7" for "Division 5".

Government Code: Amend Section 19390, relating to military service of state employees, to delete at the end of the section the parenthetical reference to a 1945 amendment of the section.

Government Code: Add Section 500017.5 to repeal Chapter 62 of the Statutes of 1853, page 84, relating to clerks in the Office of the Secretary of State; a statute intended for repeal by Section 500017 of said code, which erroneously cited the 1853 Statute as Chapter 62 of the Statutes of 1852, page 84. (Chapter 62 of the Statutes of 1852 was repealed by Chapter 73 of the Statutes of 1933; the Statute of 1852 which commences on page 84 of the statutes for that year was repealed by Chapter 44 of the Statutes of 1853.)

Health and Safety Code: Amend Section 8802, relating to cemetery corporations, to correct the designation of the last subdivision by substituting "(e)" for "(c)".

Political Code: Amend Section 4300f correctly to broaden the exception in respect to jurors' fees fixed by other provisions of law, by substituting in the first line of the section "by statute" for "in this title", in view of the fact jurors' fees are fixed by the provisions of a number of the county Government Code sections which are now in the Government Code and no longer in said title of the Political Code.

Streets and Highways Code: Amend Section 1331, relating to county road commissioner, to correct an obsolete cross-reference to Section 1029 of that code, substituting therefor a reference to Section 2006 of the code.

During the course of my study a number of other similar defects in the statutory law were discovered. I have refrained from mentioning such other defects in this report for the reason that the several state agencies affected and Members of the Legislature interested, with whom I had conferred, expressed a desire to present legislative measures to you designed to make the necessary corrections.

Dated: Sacramento, California, January 25, 1949.

FRED B. WOOD, Legislative Counsel

SEC. 2. Section 4453 of the Labor Code is amended to read:

4453 In computing average annual earnings, the average weekly earnings shall be taken at not less than [fifteen dollars ($15)] twenty-three dollars and eight cents ($23.08) nor more than [forty-six dollars and sixteen cents ($46.16)] sixty-one dollars and fifty-four cents ($61.54).

(a) Where the employment is for thirty or more hours a week and for five or more working days a week, the average weekly earnings shall be 95 percent of the number of working days a week times the daily earnings at the time of the injury.

(b) Where the employee is working for two or more employers at or about the time of the injury, the average weekly earnings shall be taken as 95 percent of the aggregate of such earnings from all employments computed in terms of one week; but the earnings from employments other than the employment in which the injury occurred shall not be taken at a higher rate than the hourly rate paid at the time of the injury.

(c) If the earnings are at an irregular rate, such as piecework, or on a commission basis, or are specified to be by the week, month, or other period, then the average weekly earnings mentioned in subdivision (a) above shall be taken as 95 percent of the actual weekly earnings averaged for such period of time, not exceeding one year, as may conveniently be taken to determine an average weekly rate of pay.

(d) Where the employment is for less than thirty hours per week, or where for any reason the foregoing methods of arriving at the average weekly earnings cannot reasonably and fairly be applied, the average weekly earnings shall be taken at 95 percent of the sum which reasonably represents the average weekly earning capacity of the injured employee at the time of his injury, due consideration being given to his actual earnings from all sources and employments.

Yet boundless as is Thy Being, by Faith we trust that Thou art our Friend.

Remarks by Mr. Elliott, Relative to House Resolution No. 86

Tomorrow will begin the year 4646 of the Chinese Calendar. On that day, thousands of Chinese Americans will celebrate, in the manner of their ancients, the first day of the New Year. There will be offerings of devotions, expressions of wishes for health and happiness in the New Year, and joyous festivity in exotic Chinese American communities throughout the State of California. The great Chinese settlement of San Francisco will engage in happy celebrations. Among the Chinese people of the City of Los Angeles, and in the picturesque and popular little Chinese cities of that metropolis, gay festivities will take place. Other Chinese American sections of the people will observe this day with pleasant celebrations.

On this felicitous occasion, exhilarating tea and delicious and delicate dishes will be served. There will be exhibitions of Chinese art objects, the burning of incense, the setting off of fireworks, dances, and colorful, and exuberant displays.

Members of the Assembly, this festive activity in celebration of the New Year of the Chinese calendar is a salutary manifestation in the crucible of our great American democracy. It well behooves this Assembly of the State of California to extend on this occasion to the good Chinese American people of California our greetings and best wishes for health, happiness, and success during the New Year. I respectfully request that you join me and the other authors of this resolution in this offering by giving it an "Aye" vote.

WHEREAS, Mrs Mary K. Behrens, a native daughter of California, born in the Town of Shasta, Siskiyou County, of parents who arrived and settled in California during the Gold Rush Days, and up until two years ago was blessed with good health, when she was stricken and became ill, but with courage and determination fought grimly on until the hand of God gently took her to His eternal home at the age of 87 years; and

WHEREAS, Her passing not only leaves grieving hearts in the family household, but sorrow among the citizens of Shasta County, and the many other devoted friends she made and kept in California during her long span of life; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That as we express our sorrow to Mr Earl C Behrens, we also extend to the other members of her family, Mrs Edna B Eaton and Ella G. RESOLUTIONS

The following resolutions were offered:

By Messrs Geddes, Evans, Morris, and Brady:

House Resolution No. 88

WHEREAS, The Sixth Agricultural District of the State of California is a state entity operating within the fair and exposition group; and

WHEREAS, The Sixth District Agricultural Association is the owner of a large tract of land in the heart of the City of Los Angeles, said tract being known as Exposition Park; and

WHEREAS, The administration of this tract of land and its various facilities which include parks and lawns, museums, and sports and playground facilities have been divided by mutual agreements and contracts between State, county and city; and

WHEREAS, Many of said contracts were entered into more than a decade ago, the oldest being dated 1910; and

WHEREAS, The character, use, facilities, and cost of maintenance and operation of the park have changed during the life of these contracts; and

WHEREAS, The increased financial burden of maintenance has been called to the attention of the State of California by the City of Los Angeles, in a communication requesting that the State share this burden, which now falls entirely upon the city; and

WHEREAS, The City of Los Angeles fixes this cost at $115,315 for the current fiscal year, and also has asked the State to share in the cost of $104,000 in new facilities; and

WHEREAS, The Attorney General of California has ruled the State may not legally share such costs under existing contracts, and

WHEREAS, There have been recent discussions of new buildings in the park, including an addition to the Los Angeles County Museum; and

WHEREAS, Many state officials, including the Legislative Auditor, who were parties to these old contracts, agree that a reappraisal of conditions should be made, and in fact was originally intended to be made about once each 10 years; and

WHEREAS, The Sixth District Agricultural Association is in an anomalous position in certain other respects, since said Sixth District operates the only year-around exposition in the so-called fair and exposition group, and further, is the only member of the group not paying premiums to exhibitors; and

WHEREAS, The Sixth District and the exposition thus do not share equally with the county fairs in the funds available for premiums; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Interim Committee on Fairs and Expositions be requested to investigate, and include in its report, the contractual relationships existing between the Sixth District, the County of Los Angeles and the City of Los Angeles, with a view to simplifying these relationships and relieving financial burdens improperly placed upon any agency or subdivision of the Government; and be it further

Resolved, That said investigation shall also include the operations of the State Exposition with a view toward insuring the utmost possible benefit to the entire State from operations of the Sixth District and the California State Exposition.

Resolution read, and ordered referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. Evans:

House Resolution No. 89

WHEREAS, California is the flower basket of the Nation, and its flower seeds, blooms, and decorative plants are prized and in demand throughout the world; and

WHEREAS, The annual product of California's floriculture is in excess of $60,000,000 in value; and

WHEREAS, Flowers are an essential to California living and a distinct attraction to its visitors; and

WHEREAS, Flowers are a universal language, and speak with the eloquence of their color and the quality of their texture the common love of beauty shared by all mankind; and

WHEREAS, It is timely and fitting that California invite its own flower growers, its garden clubs, its nurserymen, and those of other nations to exhibit at a California International Flower Show; and

WHEREAS, The Southern California Horticultural Association, in cooperation with the Southern California Floral Association, both nonprofit organizations dedicated to the advancement of floriculture and horticulture, and with the support of the entire California flower industry have planned and underwritten an Annual International Flower Show; and

WHEREAS, The first California International Flower Show is to be held indoors at Hollywood Park, Inglewood, on March 26 through April 3, 1949, and its exhibits will be of inspirational beauty to its visitors; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Assembly compliment the sponsors and underwriters of this event destined for world fame, encourage the citizens of California to support and attend the show, and invite the nations of the world to exhibit their flowers in California to build world understanding through a language common to all people.

Resolution read, and ordered referred to the Committee on Rules.

COMMUNICATIONS

By Speaker Collins:

The following telegram was received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA, January 28, 1949

Hon. Sam L. Collins, Speaker
California State Assembly, Sacramento

May I respectfully request your reading to the Assembly and have placed in the Journal the contents of this wire concerning so-called and untruthfully designated black list published in the press concerning myself and Members of the Legislature. This designation as black list was made by former Senator Kenny, attorney representing discharged member of staff for taking state car on vacation; said list prepared last year by said member of staff indicating those in Legislature that responded favorably or unfavorably to Attorney General's legislative program. List strictly matter of information, carries no reference to friendship or animus, as upon reading readily designates many of my best friends. Respectfully request Members of Legislature wholly and totally disregard this apparent effort to embroil me with Legislature. Yours for continued cooperation.

FRED N HOWSER
Attorney General of California

STATEMENT BY MR. CONDON

I waived my motion to withdraw House Resolution No. 34, relating to telephone rates, and offer amendments to it for two major reasons:

First, if the resolution, as amended, passes, the committee can investigate after adjournment, thus meeting the objection that an adequate investigation before then is impossible

Secondly, the committee is specifically directed to investigate the Public Utilities Commission, something that, without amendment, is not explicit.

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolutions were offered:

By Mr. Meyers:

House Resolution No. 99

Relative to adjournment in respect to the memory of Frederick L Esola

WHEREAS, San Francisco has lost one of her favorite sons and most devoted of public servants in the death of Frederick L. Esola on January 26, 1949; and

WHEREAS, A native of Sutter Creek, Amador County, Frederick L. Esola grew up in San Francisco, attended her schools, and began in the San Francisco Police Department the career in which he became nationally famous as a law enforcement officer; and

WHEREAS, A member of the San Francisco Police Force during the days of the tong wars, he was active in bringing them under control, and was the youngest man ever to attain the rank of Captain in the department; and

WHEREAS, He again distinguished himself and won national fame as a law enforcement officer in combating the gangs and rum runners of the Prohibition Era, when he was appointed Assistant Chief of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, then Chief of the San Francisco Office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, then United States Marshal for Northern California for the nine years following 1924, serving after that time in an advisory capacity in law enforcement for both the Federal and State Governments. He recommended Alcatraz as the site for a federal prison, and served on the State Board of Prison Terms and Paroles from 1937 to 1941; and

WHEREAS, His long life of service has closed in its eighty-fourth year, taking from San Francisco one of her most distinguished and devoted citizens, and from all who knew Frederick L. Esola, a dear and loyal friend; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That when this Assembly this day adjourns it do so out of respect to the memory of Frederick L. Esola; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly transmit a copy of this resolution to Mrs Genevieve Esola, widow of Frederick L Esola, as an expression of the sympathy and esteem of the Members of the Assembly of California.

Resolution read, and ordered referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. Dunn, Huyck, Maloney, Ralph C. Dills, Geddes, and Dickey:

House Resolution No. 100

Relative to distressed school districts

WHEREAS, The Fifty-seventh Session of the Legislature in 1947 and 1948 appropriated a total of $55,000,000 to aid in the provision of school buildings and other needed facilities for children in districts financially unable to provide such facilities from local tax sources; and

WHEREAS, Authorization was granted by the Legislature for the allocation of the above funds for purchase and improvement of school building sites, construction, reconstruction, repair, alteration of and additions to school buildings and the furnishing and equipment of school buildings; and

WHEREAS, Responsibility for the distribution of the funds appropriated has been vested with the State Allocation Board; and

WHEREAS, In the allocation of funds to distressed school districts the State Allocation Board has included an amount equal to 10 percent of the estimated cost of each project and has earmarked such amounts for contingencies; and

WHEREAS, No allocations have been made for the provision of furnishings and equipment necessary to the occupancy and use of classrooms and other facilities now under construction or authorized; and

WHEREAS, It appears that in many districts the anticipated increase in cost of construction and other contingencies for which the 10 percent was set aside will not materialize and that the contingency funds will not be needed for construction purposes; and

WHEREAS, Many authorized projects are now at or nearing completion but can not be put into use until funds are available for furnishings and equipment; and

WHEREAS, Many districts are still so financially impoverished that they will not be able to provide such furnishings and equipment without outside assistance; and

WHEREAS, Use of the contingency fund balances for purchase of necessary furnishings and equipment would further alleviate the school housing problem in those districts; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That Members of this Assembly express to the State Allocation Board their desire that the above-referred contingency funds be distributed in such manner as to give the greatest and most immediate relief to the distressed school districts, and that the following uses of the contingency funds are recommended. To purchase furnishings and equipment; allocations to districts which may not have received a previous allocation; permission to districts having had an allocation to proceed with further needed construction to the extent of their balance in the contingency fund; and be it further

Resolved, That in making their decision, the Allocation Board take into consideration any increases in the assessed valuation in the district or any new sources of revenue which may have become available to the district.

PRELIMINARY REPORT OF THE ASSEMBLY INTERIM COMMITTEE ON INDUSTRIAL SAFETY

CALIFORNIA LEGISLATURE—1949 REGULAR SESSION

MEMBERS OF THE COMMITTEE

EDWARD M. GAFFNEY—Chairman, San Francisco

CHARLES J. CONRAD, Hollywood

MONTIVEL A. BURKE, Alhambra

Letter of Transmittal

CALIFORNIA LEGISLATURE, STATE CAPITOL
SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, January 28, 1949

Hon Sam L. Collins
Speaker of the Assembly

Pursuant to instructions to investigate and study problems and conditions of industrial safety by terms of House Resolution No. 239, as amended 1947 Session, we respectfully submit following preliminary report.

(SIGNED) EDWARD M. GAFFNEY, Chairman
CHARLES J. CONRAD
MONTIVEL A. BURKE

Preliminary Report of the Assembly Interim Committee on Industrial Safety

The Assembly Interim Committee on Industrial Safety held four public hearings—the first in San Francisco, February 25, 1948, the second in Los Angeles, February 27, 1948, the third in Eureka, October 15, 1948, and the fourth in Los Angeles on November 8, 1948.

The committee received the utmost cooperation from all of the state agencies involved, and particularly from Paul Scharrenberg, Director of Industrial Relations, and A. C Blackman, Chief of the Division of Industrial Safety.

The committee also received valuable assistance from the representatives of organized labor, from the representatives of organized employer groups, from the Safety Department of the United States Veterans Administration and large corporations, as well as privately financed Safety Councils both national and local and professional safety engineers.

Statistics furnished the committee by the Division of Labor Statistics and Research, Department of Industrial Relations, account for 744 deaths due to industrial injuries in 1947.

The statistics for January to October inclusive 1948, show a death toll of 550 Lumber and logging operations accounted for 69 deaths in 1947 and 59 deaths in the first 10 months of 1948.

During 1947, for all manufacturing industries, which include logging sawmills, furniture plants, wood products, as well as other types of manufacturing, the man hours estimated were 1,203,272,000. The total number of disabling injuries reported were 37,543. This means that for the first 10 months of 1947, injuries occurred at the rate of 31 2 disabling injuries per million man hours worked. During the same period of time logging, including sawmills, planing and plywood mills show an estimated man hours of 55,444,000, with 5450 disabling injuries, or a rate of 98 3 disabling injuries per million man hours worked. Furniture and wood products manufacturing for the same period of time show a total estimated man hours of 48,933,000, with 2545 disabling injuries, or a rate of 52 disabling injuries per million man hours worked.

If the logging, sawmill, planing and plywood mills are excluded, and also the furniture and wood products manufacturing are excluded from the over-all grouping of all manufacturing, the figures would be 1,098,895,000 man hours, with 29,548 disabling injuries, or a rate of 26.9 disabling injuries per million man hours worked.

For the same period of time in 1948, namely, the first 10 months, the comparable data is as follows:

	Estimated man hours	Reported injuries	Frequency rate
All manufacturing	1,220,001	33,640	27 6
Lumber, including logging, sawmills, planing and plywood mills	67,163	6,282	93 5
Furniture and wood products	48,524	2,058	42 4
Manufacturing, excluding lumber, furniture and wood products	1,104,314	25,300	22.9

Division Cooperating With Logging and Lumbering Industry—Engineers of the division conferred with members of the California Lumbermens Accident Prevention Association, the Humboldt County Industrial Safety Council, and representatives of sawmills and logging operations in the Sierra and Northwest areas to formulate plans for the reducing of the high accident frequency in the industry. It was generally conceded that this could be better accomplished by strict compliance with the State Safety Orders and by an educational campaign among all operators.

At first one might be inclined upon reading the transcript and reports to conclude that there was a wide diversity of opinion. A careful study and analysis, however, has convinced us that fundamentally those interested in industrial safety are in complete agreement upon the basic needs.

The apparent conflict disappears when we analyze the transcript and reports upon the basis of the general nature of the work.

(a) Manufacturing and construction.

(b) Well financed employers and poorly financed employers.

It is clear that in general it is easier and much less costly to prevent industrial accidents in manufacturing plants than in construction

The record shows that in manufacturing plants—

(A) From the Standpoint of Education—

1. Top Management

(a) For practical business considerations and excluding all humanitarian considerations a safe operation, an absence of industrial injuries, is a more profitable operation and therefore time and effort and money is spent to make all operations as safe as possible.

(1) Safety devices are installed and when necessary machinery and plant setups are redesigned.

(2) Educational programs for supervisors and employees are instituted and actively carried out.

2. The Supervisor (Foreman)

(a) His tenure of employment is in comparison with that of supervisors employed on construction relatively permanent.

(b) He is readily available for instruction.

(c) His opportunities for promotion depend in large measure on his efficiency and accidents are a mark of inefficiency.

(d) He is in a position to acquire a better knowledge of the employees working under him, their abilities and their limitations.

3. The Employee

(a) His tenure of employment is likewise more nearly permanent.

(b) He is readily available for instruction.

(c) His physical surroundings are for all practical purposes the same day after day while those on a construction job may change hour by hour.

(B) From the Standpoint of Enforcement—

(1) The manufacturing plant is a fixed and permanent installation.

(2) It is continuously being improved as experience in its operation and over-all technilogical advances are made.

(3) A dangerous machine or plant setup once found and corrected is normally permanently corrected.

(4) A dangerous practice once found and stopped is normally permanently ended.

(5) Warnings of dangerous equipment or practices requiring the interposition of an enforcement agency are normally given sufficiently far in advance so that there is seldom any necessity for immediate action.

When we consider well financed employers engaged in manufacturing, we normally find that top management

(a) Either has set up its own safety department, or

(b) Is a member of an organization providing safety engineering advice and assistance.

Where these circumstances exist, while conditions are not ideal, the record shows a continuous drop in disabling industrial injuries and death.

However, when we approach the problem of poorly financed employers engaged in manufacturing, the question of education and enforcement take on a different aspect.

(1) Top management either has no understanding of the necessity even from a purely business standpoint of taking the minimum safety precautions, or

(2) Top management refuses to spend the funds necessary to provide a safe place to work or safe machinery with which to work.

In these cases it is absolutely necessary that—

(a) The enforcement arm of the Division of Industrial Safety be strengthened, and

(b) That means be provided to attempt by education to prevail upon such recalcitrant employers to provide a safe place to work as well as safe machinery with which to work.

When we come to a consideration of building and construction, we find the factual situation to be entirely different.

The record shows that in construction—

1. Top Management.

That while it is equally true that a safe operation is a more profitable operation, it appears from the record that in the case of large contractors and contractor associations, Safety Department, Plans, and Organization have not advanced as far as they have in the case of large manufacturers and public utilities.

2. The Supervisor (foreman).

(a) His tenure of employment is of a comparatively short duration.

(b) He is not readily available for instruction.

(c) His opportunities for promotion depend more upon his technical training and ability to get the job done than on any other factor.

(d) Normally, the men working under him do so for such a short period of time that he has no real opportunity to acquire as thorough a knowledge of their abilities and limitations as the foreman in a manufacturing plant.

3. The Employee.

(a) His tenure of employment is of a comparatively short duration.

(b) He is not readily available for instruction.

(c) His physical surroundings are practically never the same and change from hour to hour, day to day, and job to job.

(B) From the Standpoint of Enforcement—

There is nothing fixed or permanent about a construction job. The employer moves from place to place. The individual job moves from nothing to completion. A dangerous situation created.

(a) by faulty supervision,

(b) by dangerous equipment or a lack of proper equipment,

(c) by faulty work practices may exist for a few minutes, a few hours or a few days and then the job moves on to another phase.

2. While there is continuous improvement in equipment, the benefits to be gained by experience are not so apparent. Unlike a manufacturer operating a fixed plant, a dangerous situation experienced by a contractor resulting from the nature of the work, the materials used or worked on, the equipment used may never be experienced by the same contractor again, the variables on a construction job being so numerous.

(3) A dangerous machine or job setup, once found and corrected, is normally only permanently corrected for the duration of the job upon which it is found and corrected and that job may last but a few days. It is not corrected permanently for all jobs or even all jobs by the same contractor.

(4) A dangerous practice once found and stopped is normally permanently ended only on the particular job. It is not stopped on all other jobs or jobs being done by other contractors.

(5) The refusal by a contractor or his supervisor to cease using dangerous equipment or stop an unsafe practice is normally such as to require the immediate interposition of an enforcement agency.

When we consider the well financed employer engaged in construction, we normally find him safety conscious but not to the extent that exists in the manufacturing industry or so it appears from the record.

Your committee noted the more or less complete absence of representatives and safety engineers of contractors and contractor associations engaged in building and construction at the hearing, although the representatives of the Building and Construction Union were present in substantial numbers.

When we consider the poorly financed contractor in the building and construction industry, the record establishes that he has no regard for safety and safety laws and orders if they in any way interfere with the speedy completion of the job and collection of his contract price or fee.

In the case of well financed contractors, it appears to your committee that the Division of Industrial Safety should institute a campaign of education aimed at making such contractors and contractor associations more and more safety conscious.

In the case of the poorly financed and recalcitrant contractors, it appears to your committee that while education may over a long period of years be beneficial, to save lives and health today it is necessary that the enforcement arm of the Division of Industrial Safety in the field of building and construction be substantially strengthened so that it may act promptly and effectively.

The committee was particularly interested in—

(a) The Lumber Industry,

(b) Longshore work,

(c) The Motion Picture Industry.

The Lumber Industry

The record clearly establishes that the degree of safety in a given operation can be determined in large measure by the financial responsibility and the permanence of the employers operation.

The well financed companies permanently engaged in the lumber industry are safety conscious and apparently determined to do a job in reducing accidents.

The poorly financed companies, in most cases out to make a quick killing in money, have little or no use for safety and have succeeded in making some quick killings, not only of money, but of people.

The answer is obviously prompt and efficient enforcement of safety laws and orders.

Longshore Work

The problem here is complicated by an employer-employee dispute which is not within the province of this commission.

However, the testimony establishing that the State of Washington through its Division of Safety, Department of Labor and Industries, has solved some of the major problems by adopting "Safety Standards for Longshore, Stevedore, and Waterfront Warehouse Operations."

Your committee recommends that the Division of Industrial Safety give serious consideration to the adoption of safety orders covering such work

In doing so, your committee wants to make it clear that it is expressing no opinion as to the nature or contents of such orders.

The Motion Picture Industry

The record discloses that substantial and effective steps have been taken by the motion picture producers to provide a safe place to work in the studios.

The record discloses that the number of safety problems still unsolved have been substantially reduced and that the industry, both management and labor, are conscious of the problems which remain.

These problems are in most instances of a technical nature, peculiar to the motion picture industry, and should be capable of being solved through the cooperation of labor and management in that industry.

It appears to your committee that the solution of these problems is not one which presently requires legislative action.

Summary

It appears to your committee and your committee recommends

1. That the educational campaign for the purpose of teaching safety and the safety orders of the division, as well as safe practices in general, should be vigorously pushed and the necessary funds for that purpose be appropriated.

2. That the enforcement arm of the Division of Industrial Safety should be strengthened and that particularly in building and construction provision should be made for prompt and effective action. This will require a modification of some of the provisions of the Labor Code and the appropriation of sufficient funds to provide the necessary safety engineers.

3. A serious study should be made by the Division of Industrial Safety of the waterfront workers problems, as well as the studios and the necessary safety orders prepared and adopted for longshore operations.

4. In the case of the lumber industry, necessary additional funds should be provided so that safety engineers may be permanently assigned to the industry which is principally located in well defined areas of the State.

Messrs. Meyers and Dunn asked for, and were granted, unanimous consent that their names be added to the roll call on Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 47, and that they be recorded as voting, "Aye."

Explanations of Vote

I voted "no" on Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 47 for the reason that I am unalterably opposed to persecution of anyone for his ideas or beliefs, even though I do not agree with those ideas or beliefs. I do not believe nor hold that those who follow the tenets of Communism use good sense or good judgment, but under American ideals of free speech and freedom of thought, to persecute men for the ideas they hold only makes martyrs of them and thereby helps to spread their ideas and beliefs.

Furthermore, when you drive ideas underground you also help their spread The best way to combat a false idea is to bring it out into the open and let its falsity be seen. You cannot defeat a false ideology such as Communism by running away from it.

GEORGE D. COLLINS

I voted against Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 47 because I do not believe in a blacklist, particularly when those involved have filed an appeal Moreover, one of those discharged at Washington University apparently is not, and never has been, a Communist.

I question whether the Legislature should intrude into another state when few of us have any knowledge of the facts.

CONSIDERATION OF HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 88

By Messrs. Geddes, Evans, Morris, and Brady:

House Resolution No. 88

WHEREAS, The Sixth Agricultural District of the State of California is a state entity operating within the fair and exposition group; and

WHEREAS, The Sixth District Agricultural Association is the owner of a large tract of land in the heart of the City of Los Angeles, said tract being known as Exposition Park; and

WHEREAS, The administration of this tract of land and its various facilities which include parks and lawns, museums, and sports and playground facilities have been divided by mutual agreements and contracts between State, county and city; and

WHEREAS, Many of said contracts were entered into more than a decade ago, the oldest being dated 1910; and

WHEREAS, The character, use, facilities, and cost of maintenance and operation of the park have changed during the life of these contracts; and

WHEREAS, The increased financial burden of maintenance has been called to the attention of the State of California by the City of Los Angeles, in a communication requesting that the State share this burden, which now falls entirely upon the city; and

WHEREAS, The City of Los Angeles fixes this cost at $115,315 for the current fiscal year, and also has asked the State to share in the cost of $104,000 in new facilities; and

WHEREAS, The Attorney General of California has ruled the State may not legally share such costs under existing contracts; and

WHEREAS, There have been recent discussions of new buildings in the park, including an addition to the Los Angeles County Museum; and

WHEREAS, Many state officers, including the Legislative Auditor, who were parties to these old contracts, agree that a reappraisal of conditions should be made, and in fact was originally intended to be made about once each 10 years; and

WHEREAS, The Sixth District Agricultural Association is in an anomalous position in certain other respects, since said Sixth District operates the only year-around exposition in the so-called fair and exposition group, and further, is the only member of the group not paying premiums to exhibitors; and

WHEREAS, The Sixth District and the exposition thus do not share equally with the county fairs in the funds available for premiums; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Interim Committee on Fairs and Expositions be requested to investigate, and include in its report, the contractural relationships existing between the Sixth District, the County of Los Angeles and the City of Los Angeles, with a view to simplifying these relationships and relieving financial burdens improperly placed upon any agency or subdivision of the Government; and be it further

Resolved, That said investigation shall also include the operations of the State Exposition with a view toward insuring the utmost possible benefit to the entire State from operations of the Sixth District and the California State Exposition.

Resolution read, and adopted.

CIVIL AERONAUTICS BOARD
WASHINGTON 25, March 1, 1949

The Honorable Arthur A. Ohnimus, Chief Clerk
Assembly of the California Legislature
State Capitol, Sacramento 14, California

MY DEAR MR. OHNIMUS: This will acknowledge your letter of January 25, 1949, addressed to the President, which forwarded for his attention House Resolution No. 46, adopted by the California Legislature on January 21, 1949. Your letter has been referred to the Civil Aeronautics Board, the federal agency responsible for promulgating air safety regulations, for consideration and acknowledgement.

Resolution No. 46 recommends the enactment of legislation which would enable the Civil Aeronautics Administration to prohibit the taking off of aircraft from airports during periods when visibility is less than the minimum prescribed in Civil Air Regulations.

The subject matter of your recommendation has been the topic of considerable discussion within recent months. The board in conjunction with the Administrator of Civil Aeronautics has been giving serious consideration to the feasibility of controlling take-offs when weather conditions at a particular airport are below the minimum prescribed. It has been suggested that control tower operators or, alternatively, airport managers, be authorized to refuse to clear aircraft under such circumstances.

The administrator has determined with reference to airport traffic controllers that it would be placing an impossible work load on the controller to expect him, in addition to his duties of clearing airplanes in terms of traffic conditions around the field and on the airways, to act as a safety agent, checking to see that every plane he clears is airworthy and is flying in accordance with its particular operating limitations as to weather. I enclose herewith a mimeographed copy of a statement setting forth the administrator's present policy with regard to this subject, which was issued by the administrator on February 3, 1949, to aviation writers and editors.

I should like to point out that the reaction to the administrator's policy on the part of virtually all of the members of the board's staff and various disinterested outsiders with whom I have talked has been one of agreement. They maintain that control tower operators are simply not qualified to take on this added responsibility and that pilots would gradually come to assume that if they received a clearance, it was feasible to take off. Thus, it is maintained, would have the tendency of subordinating the pilot's judgment to that of the tower operator. On the contrary, it is believed that the pilot in command of an aircraft should be directly responsible for its operation. The current Civil Air Regulations so provide.

The regulations further provide that air carriers shall not take off when weather conditions are below the minimum prescribed, and the administrator has issued instructions to control tower operators that a report shall be made in those instances where air carriers take off in such weather. Should an air carrier be found to violate the regulations in this regard, such violations might be considered grounds for revoking the air carrier's operating certificate. An additional reason why the suggestion to authorize control tower operators to control scheduled air carrier take-offs has not been accepted is that scheduled air carriers have dispatchers of their own and their pilots are considerably less subject to company pressure than in the case of nonscheduled operators. It is not believed, therefore, that it would be necessary to extend a control tower veto to scheduled operators.

No final decision, however, has yet been reached by the board with reference to this proposal. It is intended to fully explore the feasibility of vesting authority in an individual to refuse to clear nonscheduled operations when weather conditions at a particular field are below minimum. It may appear desirable for the board to hold a public hearing or oral argument on the question.

Please be assured that serious consideration is being given to the proposal set forth in Resolution No. 46. If I may be of further service to you or the Members of the California Legislature, please do not hesitate to call upon me.

Sincerely yours,

JOSEPH J. O'CONNELL, JR., Chairman

UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE
CIVIL AERONAUTICS ADMINISTRATION

TO AVIATION WRITERS AND EDITORS: In view of apparent misconceptions regarding the duties and authority of CAA Airport Traffic Controllers, the following statement is issued for your information.

BEN STERN
Assistant Administrator for Aviation Information

Exactly how much authority does the man in the airport traffic control tower have over pilots proposing to take off? Just what is the significance of the "clearance" the controller may give the pilot?

In order to provide authoritative answers to these questions, D. W. Rentzel, Administrator of Civil Aeronautics, today made the following statement:

The traffic controllers of the Civil Aeronautics Administration operate strictly within the bounds prescribed by the Civil Aeronautics Board in Part 60 of the Civil Air Regulations. This part declares that "the pilot in command of the aircraft shall be directly responsible for its operation and shall have final authority as to operation of the aircraft." It goes on to define an air traffic clearance as "Authorization by air traffic control, for the purpose of preventing collision between known aircraft, for an aircraft to proceed under specified traffic conditions within a control zone or control area."

Acting under this regulation, we always have instructed our controllers that they have authority to clear aircraft only with respect to traffic conditions, and that in providing weather information, they are simply furnishing assistance, but have no authority to prevent a plane from taking off because of weather

The ANC handbook on "Procedures for the Control of Air Traffic," jointly issued by the CAA, the Air Force, Navy and Coast Guard on May 1, 1948, makes this very plain It sets forth,

"A clearance issued by an airport traffic control tower * * * is authority for a pilot to proceed only insofar as known air traffic conditions are concerned, and does not constitute authority for a pilot to violate any provision of Air Force, Navy or Civil Air Regulations. * * * The mere fact that the pilot received a traffic clearance for the flight does not relieve the pilot of any responsibility whatsoever in connection with a possible violation of Air Force, Navy, or Civil Air Regulations."

We feel that the airport traffic controller has more than enough to keep him busy in his task of moving a heavy volume of planes in and out of an airport without collision. It would be placing an impossible workload on the controller to expect him also to act as a safety agent, checking to see that every plane he clears is airworthy and is flying in accordance with its particular operating limitations as to weather

It is our sincere desire and prime objective to achieve the highest degree of safety and the controller will continue to furnish all possible information to assist the pilot to fly in compliance with regulations, but it must necessarily remain the pilot's ultimate responsibility to determine whether he should make a particular flight.

Our regular aviation safety agents and their designees will, of course, exercise their usual care in ascertaining that planes are airworthy, crews are competent, and operating practices are sound

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT THAT CORRECTION BE MADE IN JOURNAL

REPORT OF SELECT COMMITTEE

The Select Committee appointed to wait upon the Governor reported that it had performed its duty.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Speaker Sam L. Collins announced that, while it is imperative that every piece of legislation be given a fair and adequate hearing, it is also imperative, for economic reasons, that rapid clearance be accorded bills in committee hearings, and recommended that urgency measures and departmental bills be given first attention; that advance lists of all bills to be considered in committees be printed in the File; that members cooperate in the effort to speed this session of the Legislature by requesting committee chairmen to set their bills for early hearings; that committee chairmen arbitrarily set bills for consideration in numerical order if authors do not cooperate by requesting hearings, and that said bills be placed at the foot of the calendar if no one appears to present them; and that, if this method of procedure is adopted, adjournment can be achieved at a reasonable date in an orderly fashion.

Speaker Sam L. Collins announced that, in the interest of time, the usual procedure will be followed during this session of not introducing guests from the floor unless they are former members of this House; and that names of guests must be brought to the desk of the Minute Clerk, in writing, so that they may be correctly inscribed in the Journal

Speaker Sam L. Collins announced that all committee meetings are to be announced from the floor, and that, in the interest of orderly desk procedure, no amendments to bills should be offered until the beginning of each day's business.

Mr. Stewart announced that, with over 300 bills to be heard by the Committee on Governmental Efficiency and Economy, it will be helpful if authors of bills now pending in this committee will request early hearings.

Mr. Dickey announced that the State Printer has informed him that it will be impossible for the printing plant to complete the printing of the interim committee reports by March 15th, and that he is preparing a resolution for introduction which will continue the time for the filing of interim committee reports.

Speaker Sam L. Collins announced, on behalf of Mr. Stanley, that a breakfast meeting of the Republican Caucus will be held tomorrow, Tuesday, March 8th, at 8 a m., in the Hotel Senator.

Mr. Beck announced that a luncheon meeting of the Democratic Caucus will be held on Wednesday, March 9th.

Mr. Stanley announced that, with the volume of work confronting the Committee on Municipal and County Government, all members are being urged to request that their bills now before this committee be set for early hearings.

Mr. Dickey announced that the set policy on the hearing of bills will be that proposed amendments must be presented in committee meetings; and that unanimous consent to withdraw bills from committee for purpose of amendment on the floor will be withheld.

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by the Chaplain, Dr. Torrance Phelps:

Spirit of Holiness In this Lenten Season, when all Christendom observes the Temptation of the Christ, may we also participate in the practice of self examination and in the amendment of our lives

May we search ourselves and search out our faults and limitations, knowing that little sins may grow into big ones, as "The little foxes may spoil the vineyard"

In public and private life, what disaster and sorrow spring from the evils men commit and cause the problems that engage the servants of the law.

Let us remind ourselves that every one faces temptation as even the Son of God was tempted in all points like as we are.

Day by day may we keep our conscience alert, knowing that the Devil of evil is ever ready to spring upon the careless.

So shall this Sacred Season offer us a rare opportunity to grow in the nobility and power of character which is our chief defense and crowning achievement—AMEN.

COMMUNICATIONS

By the Chief Clerk:

The following communication was received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal

VETERANS ADMINISTRATION
WASHINGTON, D C., March 4, 1949

Mr. Arthur A. Ohnimus, Chief Clerk
California Legislature Assembly
Sacramento 14, California

DEAR MR. OHNIMUS This will acknowledge copy of your letter of January 29, 1949, to the President, with attached resolution concerning the need for a veterans' hospital in San Diego, California, which was referred to my office for reply

The situation has not changed since my letter to you of February 17, 1949. In view of the President's directive eliminating 16,000 beds from the Veterans Administration Hospital Construction Program, including the proposed hospital for San Diego, we could not recommend the reauthorization of any of those projects that were cancelled.

Your continued interest in this matter is very much appreciated.

Very truly yours,

PAUL B. MAGNUSON
Chief Medical Director

By the Chief Clerk:

The following communication and resolution were received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

CONGRESS OF THE UNITED STATES
HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, WASHINGTON, D. C., March 3, 1949

Chief Clerk, California State Assembly
The Capitol, Sacramento, California

DEAR SIR: Pursuant to your Assembly Resolution 73, the California Congressional Delegation has taken the folllowing action:

A. Passed a resolution, a copy of which is enclosed;

B. Transmitted copies of the resolution to the Secretary of Agriculture, Charles Branman, to President Truman, and to the State Legislature of California.

Sincerely yours,

HARRY R. SHEPPARD, M. C.
Chairman of the California Congressional Delegation of the U. S. House of Representatives

California Congressional Delegation Resolution Recommending Immediate Action to Preserve the Giant Sugar Pines and Sequoias of Tuolumne County, California

WHEREAS, The Assembly of the State of California has memorialized the Federal Government to preserve the giant sugar pines and Sequoias of Tuolumne County, California, by taking immediate action under Title 16, Section 494, U. S. Code, which empowers the Secretary of Agriculture to obtain for the United States the complete title to the lands described in this section; and

WHEREAS, Section 494 provides methods whereby the private owners of these lands may be equitably compensated through the transfer of other national forest lands or exchange of national forest timber, and

WHEREAS, Various civic organizations of the State of California have requested the cooperation of the California Congressional Delegation in obtaining these lands, and

WHEREAS, The California Congressional Delegation heartily approves the objective of preserving these magnificent trees for park purposes; and

WHEREAS, The California Congressional Delegation, after careful consideration of the subject and methods whereby the objective can be accomplished, do hereby state that the preservation of these magnificent trees is a desirable objective, now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the California Delegation of the United States House of Representatives urge the Secretary of Agriculture to take immediate action under the authority granted him and using the methods provided for in Title 16, Section 494, U. S. Code, and obtain for the United States the complete title to all or such portion of the following lands in Tuolumne County as he finds adaptable for park purposes

The West Half of Section 28, T 5N, R 16E,
The East Half of Section 29, T 5N, R 16E;
The Southwest Quarter of Section 29, T 5N, R 16E;
The Southeast Quarter of Section 30, T 5N, R 16E,
All of Section 31, T 5N, R 16E;
That portion of Sections 32 and 33, T 5N, R 16E, which is included in the Olmstead Report of 1945;
The Southeast Quarter of Section 36, T 5N, R 15E; and
That portion of Section 6, T 4N, R 16E; which is included in the Olmstead Report of 1945;
(the attached map indicates in red the approximate 2,400 acres involved); and be it further

Resolved, That the California Congressional Delegation recommend that the California Legislature, during its 1949 Session, do enact a law in which the State of California by appropriate language, commits itself to pay to the Counties of Tuolumne, Calaveras, Amador, Alpine, and Mariposa, which are located in the Stanislaus National Forest, an "in lieu" payment or payments equivalent to the total amount which would be paid to the above named counties because of the cutting of commercial timber on the lands withdrawn from the Stanislaus National Forest and used in the proposed exchange (i.e., 25 percent of the stumpage price of said timber); and be it further

Resolved, That the State's commitment of funds be as specific as possible. That such commitment be based on a formula which would provide for fair computation and determination of the sums to which the counties named above would be entitled, if the proposed action recommended by the California Congressional Delegation and provided for by Title 16, Section 494 was not taken

(COPY)

Letter to Be Transmitted to Secretary Brannan on March 7, 1949, by Congressman Chet Holifield

March 4, 1949

The Honorable Charles F. Brannan
Secretary of Agriculture
Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

DEAR MR. SECRETARY: The California Delegation is deeply interested in preserving one of the few remaining stands of sugar pine and giant Sequoia, which are to be found in Unit One, Unit Two, Unit Two-A, Unit Two-B, Unit Three, and Unit Four of Olmstead's Report of 1945. Approximately 2,400 acres are involved. This is part of the portion of land described in Title 16, Section 494, United States Code, which lies within Tuolumne County.

The California Delegation, after careful consideration, strongly recommends that you proceed, under the authority granted in the aforementioned statute, to obtain the previously specified area. We believe that you are empowered to use either or both of the two methods outlined in the 1909 Act to acquire this valuable stand of trees for park purposes.

We understand that it is the policy of your department to consider the effect of timber sales or transfers on local political subdivisions. It has been brought to our attention, that, if such a transfer as suggested above could be effected, there would be a potential revenue loss from stumpage (which is at present undetermined) to the five counties which comprise the Stanislaus National Forest.

In view of the dire need of these counties for this expected revenue, our delegation has forwarded a resolution to the California State Legislature requesting them to determine, as nearly as possible, the amount of revenue loss. We have suggested that they pass a bill making an "in lieu thereof" payment to these counties from State Park Funds, $500,000 of which is now earmarked for the purpose of establishing this park.

In our opinion this would present a practical formula by which this invaluable group of trees could be acquired as a permanent park for the people of California.

The private owners of this land have announced their intention of cutting the tagged trees in Unit One during 1949. Time is therefore of the essence in saving these trees. We therefore request that we receive the full cooperation of your office in attaining these great objectives.

Respectfully yours,

(Signed)

HARRY R. SHEPPARD
Chairman of the California Delegation

By Speaker Sam L. Collins:

The following communication was received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

Second Progress Reports of the Special Crime Study Commissions Letter of Transmittal

THE STATE BOARD OF CORRECTIONS, March 7, 1949

The Honorable Earl Warren
Governor of California
The Honorable Goodwin J. Knight
President of the Senate
The Honorable Sam L. Collins
Speaker of the Assembly

Pursuant to the provisions of Section 6028.3 of the Penal Code, enacted by the Legislature in 1947, I have the honor, in behalf of the Board of Corrections, to transmit the Second Progress Reports of the Special Crime Study Commissions for the study of: Criminal Law and Procedure, Adult Corrections and Release Procedures, Juvenile Justice, Social and Economic Causes of Crime and Delinquency and Organized Crime.

The commissions were established by the Governor on November 1, 1947, and their program was initiated at the "Governor's Conference on Crime and Juvenile Justice," Sacramento, November 17 and 18, 1947.

The members of the Board of Corrections are unanimous in their commendation of the work performed by each commission since its establishment. They have, likewise, been deeply impressed by the generosity and self sacrifice with which each appointee of the Governor to the various commissions has carried out his duties. The time which these responsible and respected fellow citizens of ours have taken from their own considerable personal and professional responsibilities and which they have freely donated to the enhancement of the welfare of this State merits the gratitude of all our people.

The board has studied and considered the Second Progress Report of each of the Special Crime Study Commissions. It is in general agreement with the spirit and intent of the specific proposals submitted by each commission to the Governor and the Legislature. The board as a whole and its individual members, however, reserve the right to withhold judgment with respect to the content and purpose of legislative bills related to these proposals as each is considered by the Legislature

In conformity with the provisions of their respective executive orders final reports of the commissions will be submitted on or before June 30, 1949.

The board suggests to the chairmen and members of the commissions that in the formulation of their final recommendations serious consideration be given to the adoption of proposals in their respective fields which will (a) provide for statements of long range goals to the attainment of which the State and its various agencies and departments should be striving in the next decade; and (b) to the adoption of proposals or recommendations which will make possible the ultimate completion of those important aspects of their work which will be unfinished as of July 1, 1949.

The members of the board unanimously support the recommendation of the administration that the work of the Commission on Organized Crime be continued through the Fiscal Year 1949-1950.

Our consideration of the Second Progress Report of this commission has convinced us that its enquiries have enhanced and augmented the efforts of law enforcement and the administration of justice in this State

We have noted, with satisfaction, in the above connection, that the peace officers of the State of California, at their annual conference held at Santa Monica, California, October 27-30, 1948, by unanimous action adopted the following resolution expressing their endorsement and support of the work of each of the Special Crime Study Commissions:

> "WHEREAS, The Special Crime Study Commissions appointed by the Honorable Earl Warren, Governor of the State of California, have rendered to this convention progress reports and tentative conclusions of their work since their appointment, and
> "WHEREAS, The Peace Officers' Association of the State of California are deeply interested and thoroughly conscious of the benefits that law enforcement will receive from the efforts of these commissions; now, therefore, be it
> "Resolved, That the members of this association do hereby express their entire support to the activities of the Crime Study Commission; be it further
> "Resolved, That this association does hereby commend the Crime Study Commissions for their work and efforts thus far obtained; be it further
> "Resolved, That this association extend to the Honorable Earl Warren, Governor of California, and a long-time member of this association, its commendation for putting into operation the Crime Study Commissions herein referred to and that a copy of this resolution be forwarded by the Secretary of this Association to Governor Warren."

The members of the board are fully convinced that Admiral Standley, his associates and staff, have objectively produced ample evidence that organized criminal elements, within and beyond the confines of this State, have made and are making concerted efforts to entrench themselves in California

It is apparent likewise that the alert and courageous enquiries of the respected membership of this commission, in ferreting out the identity and modus operandi of these enemies of society, will not have been completed at the close of the current fiscal year.

The Board of Corrections, therefore, respectfully urges the Members of our Legislature to express their confidence in and support of the work of the Special Crime Study Commission on Organized Crime by adopting the necessary measures to insure its effective continuance through 1949-1950.

In conclusion, the board wishes to extend its appreciation to the many citizens of California who, in an official or unofficial capacity, have appeared before the various commissions to give them the benefit of their experience and advice.

It is particularly indebted to the organizations and groups herewith named for the constructive cooperation and generous encouragement which, since the establishment of the commissions, they have consistently extended to furthering their objectives.

The Judicial Council and the Conference of California Judges, the California State Bar, and the local Bar Associations, the Justices and Constables' Association, the Association of District Attorneys, the Peace Officers' Association of the State of California, the Sheriff's Association, the Chicago Crime Commission, the California Probation and Parole Association, the National Probation Association, the Osborne Association, Members of both Houses of the State Legislature and Legislature interim committees, the California Conference of Social Welfare, the California Youth Committee, the Los Angeles County Youth Committee and the Los Angeles County Juvenile Officers' Association, the Northern California Juvenile Officer Association, the League of California Cities and the Supervisors Association of the State of California, the University of California, the University of Southern California, and San Francisco State College, Womens Organizations, Service Clubs and Veterans Organizations and State and local agencies of government

Respectfully submitted,

Above mentioned Second Progress Report of the Special Crime Study Commission on Organized Crime ordered referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Speaker Sam L. Collins:

The following communication was received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

A Resolution of the Council of the City of Glendale Memorializing the Legislature of the State of California to Amend Proposed Rail Rapid Transit District Legislation

WHEREAS, Bills have been introduced in the Legislature of the State of California to provide for the creation of rail rapid transit districts; and

WHEREAS, A large percentage of Glendale residents work in Los Angeles and are in need of rapid transit; and

WHEREAS, The Council of the City of Glendale favors rapid transit but feels very strongly that the legislation presently proposed will result merely in compelling the taxpayers of Glendale to pay for rapid transit facilities in other parts of the county without providing such facilities for Glendale; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Council of the City of Glendale, That the Legislature of the State of California be urged to amend the proposed rail rapid transit district legislation to assure each city included in a rail rapid transit district that it will receive rail rapid transit facilities commensurate with the amount it pays in taxes for such purpose, as by providing that no property in a city shall be taxed to pay interest or principal on bonds of the district until actual construction of a rail rapid transit line, without grade crossings, to or through such city has been commenced in good faith, or by other appropriate provision; be it further

Resolved, That the city clerk send copies of this resolution to the Honorable Jack B. Tenney, Honorable H. Allen Smith, each Member of the Legislature of the State of California, and the legislative bodies of all other cities in the County of Los Angeles.

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by the Chaplain, Dr. Torrance Phelps:

Infinite Presence: In this Lenten season, we listen to the voices of aspiration that arise within us and speak to us of the deeper and greater nature we have not yet realized.

We see that the outward world of existence, of work and pleasure is but the thin surface, below which our real self dwells, and sends up its stifled cries for recognition.

Let us hear "the high yearnings that come welling and surging in," and that come from the Infinite Ocean, whence our being has sprung.

May we be more aware of this mystic part of our nature which is forever incomplete and unsatisfied, and which will be forever restless until it is attuned with the Infinite.

In this flowering time, let us give way to these deeper longings of our hearts for the Eternal, in whom we live and move and have our being.

May we realize that we must fully live when we fulfil these higher aspirations, and let them lead us to the greater life of the Soul —AMEN.

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by the Chaplain, Dr. Torrance Phelps:

Eternal Spirit: In this Sacred Season we enter this mystic realm of silence, wherein we touch a wider Consciousness and feel in tune with the Infinite.

In silence, the outward world recedes, the mind rests from its labor, and every faculty receives a fresh illumination

In holy silence, lofty thoughts buried in the unconscious and sentiments long subdued, rise to speak in reason and conscience

In quietude, our greater selves ascend to dominate, and our latent potencies of mind and spirit flower.

Above all, while we are silent together, and focus our thoughts Godward, a sense of unity fuses us into one mind, seeking the general good

So may we enter each day, the silence and take time for—

"Some little hour, from sordidness and self, a Sanctuary,
Wherein to hold rapt converse with the Infinite;
Swept by the winnowing of unseen wings,
And touched by the white light ineffable."—AMEN.

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolution was offered:

By Mr. Lowrey:

House Resolution No. 117

Relative to the birth of John Rodney Davis

WHEREAS, On February 14, 1949, St Valentine's Day, the bells chimed, the locomotives threw the throttle wide open, and cigars were passed around by Assemblyman Lester T. Davis to the residents of the Town of Portola, Quincy, and Greenville, situated in Plumas County, due to the arrival of a bouncing baby boy, "John Rodney Davis," delivered by the proud mother, Mrs Lester T. Davis, in Sutter Maternity Hospital, Sacramento; and

WHEREAS, This young sprout of a lad, weighing 6 pounds and 14 ounces upon his arrival on schedule, is rapidly gaining weight by his over-indulgence in the necessities of life by always creating the impression he is hungry and always winning his argument on that point; and

WHEREAS, While it was first thought that "John Rodney Davis'" ambition in life would be his craving to follow his father's footsteps as a locomotive engineer, the thought vanished, and it was then decided that he would be brought up to be a statesman, and in the years to come occupy the seat of Dad in the Assembly of the State of California; but in the daily development of his voice, lungs, and the melodies rendered by him, it is agreed he may fit into his proper classification by working as a caller at railroad stations, notifying the traveling public which direction to go;

"His voice is strong"; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Members of the Assembly in regular session on this tenth day of March, 1949, do hereby extend to Assemblyman Lester Davis and his charming wife, Pauline, our heartiest congratulations upon this most auspicious and glorious occasion of this wonderful addition to the "Davis Household"; and be it further Resolved, That a suitably engrossed copy of this resolution be forwarded to Mr and Mrs. Lester T Davis.

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by the Chaplain, Dr. Torrance Phelps:

Eternal God: In this age of doubt and unrest, we affirm the reality of Thy presence in nature, in history, and in human life.

We would trust Thee and believe that the mystical feelings that come from the outside and beyond us assure us of the reality of Thy Divine Being

As we behold the invisible Principle that organizes a world of electrons into solar systems and upholds them in their vast orbits, let us realize that organization on this cosmic scale requires intelligence of an Infinite degree.

In the spectacle of the universal law and order, which governs every cell of life and star in its constellation, may we see the working of a Divine Architect.

Let us behold a Divine activity in the irresistable spiritual urge that has driven the greatest men on earth to struggle for liberty, justice, and truth, even though the price be a cross.

May their unshakeable belief that the Divine sustained them strengthen our own faith.—AMEN.

SPECIAL CRIME STUDY COMMISSION ON JUVENILE JUSTICE
SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA, November 18, 1948

State Office Building No. 1

ATTENTION: Hon. Richard A. McGee, Chairman

GENTLEMEN: In accordance with Section 6028.3 of the Penal Code, there is transmitted herewith the Second Progress Report of the Commission on Juvenile Justice.

This report sets forth in brief form the proposals of the commission calling for legislative and administrative action, a summary of the activities conducted to date and an indication of future proposals.

There are many matters which have already had our attention but not to that full extent which justifies recommendations on the part of the commission. Also, we have had suggestions in many fields which as yet have not been fully investigated. So, recommendations with respect to the same will have to await a subsequent progress report or be included in the final report of the commission.

The commission has sent out many tentative proposals, including those in the Second Progress Report to interested organizations and individuals having particular competence in the respective fields, for their criticism, comments and suggestions. Naturally, when these have been received, they will have the consideration of the commission and this will probably lead to additional recommendations, as well as modifications in some of those herewith submitted.

Respectfully submitted,

THE STATE BOARD OF CORRECTIONS, March 7, 1949

Second Progress Reports of the Special Crime Study Commissions

The Honorable Earl Warren
Governor of California
The Honorable Goodwin J. Knight
President of the Senate
The Honorable Sam L. Collins
Speaker of the Assembly

Pursuant to the provisions of Section 6028.3 of the Penal Code, enacted by the Legislature in 1947, I have the honor, in behalf of the Board of Corrections, to transmit the Second Progress Reports of the Special Crime Study Commissions for the study of: Criminal Law and Procedure, Adult Corrections and Release Procedures, Juvenile Justice, Social and Economic Causes of Crime and Delinquency and Organized Crime.

The commissions were established by the Governor on November 1, 1947, and their program was initiated at the "Governor's Conference on Crime and Juvenile Justice," Sacramento, November 17 and 18, 1947.

The members of the Board of Corrections are unanimous in their commendation of the work performed by each commission since its establishment. They have, likewise, been deeply impressed by the generosity and self-sacrifice with which each appointee of the Governor to the various commissions has carried out his duties. The time which these responsible and respected fellow citizens of ours have taken from their own considerable personal and professional responsibilities and which they have freely donated to the enhancement of the welfare of this State merits the gratitude of all our people.

The board has studied and considered the Second Progress Report of each of the Special Crime Study Commissions. It is in general agreement with the spirit and intent of the specific proposals submitted by each commission to the Governor and the Legislature The board as a whole and its individual members, however, reserve the right to withhold judgment with respect to the content and purpose of legislative bills related to these proposals as each is considered by the Legislature.

In conformity with the provisions of their respective executive orders, final reports of the commissions will be submitted on or before June 30, 1949.

The board suggests to the chairmen and members of the commissions that in the formulation of their final recommendations serious consideration be given to the adoption of proposals in their respective fields which will (a) provide for statements of long-range goals to the attainment of which the State and its various agencies and departments should be striving in the next decade; and (b) to the adoption of proposals or recommendations which will make possible the ultimate completion of those important aspects of their work which will be unfinished as of July 1, 1949.

The members of the board unanimously support the recommendation of the Administration that the work of the Commission on Organized Crime be continued through the Fiscal Year 1949-1950.

Our consideration of the Second Progress Report of this commission has convinced us that its enquiries have enhanced and augmented the efforts of law enforcement and the administration of justice in this State.

We have noted, with satisfaction, in the above connection, that the peace officers of the State of California, at their annual conference held at Santa Monica, California, October 27-30, 1948, by unanimous action adopted the following resolution expressing their endorsement and support of the work of each of the Special Crime Study Commissions:

> WHEREAS, The Special Crime Study Commissions appointed by the Honorable Earl Warren, Governor of the State of California, have rendered to this convention progress reports and tentative conclusions of their work since their appointment; and
> WHEREAS, The Peace Officers' Association of the State of California are deeply interested and thoroughly conscious of the benefits that law enforcement will receive from the efforts of these commissions; now therefore, be it
> Resolved, That the members of this association do hereby express their entire support to the activities of the Crime Study Commissions. Be it further
> Resolved, That this association does hereby commend the Crime Study Commissions for their work and efforts thus far obtained Be it further
> Resolved, That this association extend to the Honorable Earl Warren, Governor of California, and a long-time member of this association, its commendation for putting into operation the Crime Study Commissions herein referred to and that a copy of this resolution be forwarded by the secretary of this association to Governor Warren

The members of the board are fully convinced that Admiral Standley, his associates and staff, have objectively produced ample evidence that organized criminal elements, within and beyond the confines of this State, have made and are making concerted efforts to entrench themselves in California.

It is apparent likewise that the alert and courageous enquiries of the respected membership of this commission, in ferreting out the identity and modus operandi of these enemies of society, will not have been completed at the close of the current fiscal year.

The Board of Corrections, therefore, respectfully urges the Members of our Legislature to express their confidence in and support of the work of the Special Crime Study Commission on Organized Crime by adopting the necessary measure to insure its effective continuance through 1949-1950

In conclusion, the board wishes to extend its appreciation to the many citizens of California who, in an official or unofficial capacity, have appeared before the various commissions to give them the benefit of their experience and advice

It is particularly indebted to the organizations and groups herewith named for the constructive cooperation and generous encouragement which, since the establishment of the commissions, they have consistently extended to furthering their objectives.

The Judicial Council and the Conference of California Judges, the California State Bar, and the Local Bar Associations, the Justices and Constables' Association, the Association of District Attorneys, the Peace Officers' Association of the State of California, the Sheriffs' Association, the Chicago Crime Commission, the California Probation and Parole Association, the National Probation Association, the Osborne Association, Members of both Houses of the State Legislature and Legislature interim committees, the California Conference of Social Welfare, the California Youth Committee, the Los Angeles County Youth Committee and the Los Angeles County Juvenile Officers' Association, the Northern California Juvenile Officers Association, The League of California Cities and Supervisors Association of the State of California, the University of California, the University of Southern California, and San Francisco State College, Women's Organizations, Service Clubs and Veterans Organizations and state and local agencies of government.

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by the Chaplain, Dr. Torrance Phelps:

God of Our Fathers: May we be proud of America today, of her unparalleled history of freedom and democracy, springing from the belief in the importance of rights of the individual.

Let us glory in the truth that we, as Americans, do not measure a man's worth by his wealth, nor grade our deference according to the accident of his heredity

May we exalt the idea of treating all men, rich or poor, with equal courtesy, because every man is possessed of a spark of divine fire.

Let us remember that the decline of ancient nations began with the worship of rank and titles, and with the decay of the spirit of respect for the ordinary man.

Let us survey the past and behold the men who made America great, who defied kings, bowed to no man, and regarded every man as an immortal.

May America ever continue to be a land of equality, where the child of the log cabin and the prairie can attain unto the White House, and where the test of worth is character and public service —AMEN.

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by the Chaplain, Dr. Torrance Phelps:

God of the Individual: In a world where every grain of sand is important in the cosmic scheme, let us believe that the Infinite takes note of each of us, and that the God who calls the stars by name knows every one's name.

May we believe that the Eternal Mind is not too busy with constellations and his Grand Canyon affairs to have an eye on the critical course of human events.

Is it not for us a million stars shine, and the energies of the sun throb from pole to pole and offer us their power for service?

Let us cherish the sublime belief that we are individually known and individually sustained in our struggle for the Good by an Infinite Power

May we see that the greatest source of serenity and consolation is to feel that we are near to the Heart of God, and that His Spirit upholds us

Let us see that this august faith is a tonic for every weakness, and for every mental or emotional ill, and inspires a sense of superiority to the hard experiences of life —AMEN.

Faith to believe that a better world of justice and abundance for all can emerge from the chaotic happenings of this generation, and faith to rid our minds of anxiety and fears of tomorrow.

We pray, too, for power to be calm and courageous in the face of unforeseen dangers that may arise as we are doing our daily duties;

For power to greet with goodwill and magnanimity those who harden their hearts against us, and for power to cheerfully bear suffering, criticism and hard knocks;

For faith to leave in Thy hands the welfare of all our dear ones;
For faith to believe in the ultimate triumph of liberty, goodness and justice over every tyranny, iniquity and darkness—AMEN

STATE OF CALIFORNIA
OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL, SACRAMENTO

ANALYSIS OF ASSEMBLY BILL NO. 21, RELATING TO STATE ASSISTANCE THROUGH THE DEPARTMENT OF VETERANS AFFAIRS IN THE FINANCING OF MASS RESIDENTIAL HOUSING AND OTHER FACILITIES INCIDENTAL OR APPURTENANT THERETO, AND MAKING AN APPROPRIATION THEREFOR. NO. 4776

Defines "borrower" as any corporation formed under the Limited Dividend Housing Corporations Act (Act 3481), the articles of incorporation of which state that it is a corporation which does not contemplate the distribution of gains, profits, or dividends to the members or shareholders thereof

Defines "project" as provision for mass residential housing, including commercial, industrial, public, recreational, and other facilities incidental or appurtenant thereto.

Creates in Department of Veterans Affairs new division to be known as the Division of Construction Amortization, to be administered by the Manager of Construction Amortization.

Authorizes Department of Veterans Affairs to approve construction loans made to borrowers to finance the construction of projects, to an aggregate unpaid amount of $300,000,000 if loans meet requirements of bill, and, after the recording of an agreement between the borrower and the department, to pay all interest on such loans during period of construction and for 90 days thereafter, and all interest over 2 percent per year on the principal thereafter outstanding. Specifies that in event of default on a loan, payment of principal and interest shall not be accelerated without the express permission of the department, but permits department to take possession of and operate project, or to return it to borrower on such condition as department approves.

To qualify for approval, loans must be repayable in not less than 50 years in equal monthly installments, and bear interest not over 4½ percent per year; borrower must own site of project or have lease for term longer than term of loan; plan of construction of project and means of financing it must be economically sound, in opinion of department; borrower must agree to lease units of project in all cases of equal need to veterans, and rent schedule for project must be approved by department. Rentals are to be fixed so as to make project self-supporting and self-liquidating without profit to borrower. Rentals in excess of approved schedule may not be charged without approval of department. No part of principal of loans may be lent or paid out of state moneys received as tax proceeds.

Appropriates from General Fund sum necessary for interest payments, not to exceed $5,075,000 annually, to carry out its provisions. Prohibits use of General Fund appropriations for purposes other than payment of interest on loans, or support of Division of Construction Amortization, and limits such support to $75,000 annually.

Explanations of Vote

My vote for this resolution was solely to express my desire that our membership should become informed concerning all state funds. Almost all the information sought by the resolution is found on page A18 of the Budget Few members have attended Ways and Means Committee hearings on this subject.

MARVIN SHERWIN

My reason for voting "No" on House Resolution No. 112 is that while the proponents claim there is no party policy involved, it appears strange to me that in the Assembly Journal of March 10, 1949, page 987, you will find that the resolution was introduced by the entire Democratic bloc as coauthors, numbering 34; and the charges made will involve Governor Earl Warren, Republican; Thomas Kuchel, Controller, Republican; Gus Johnson, Treasurer, Republican; and James Dean, Director of Finance, Republican.

I cannot honestly see how the argument could be made on a fair basis that this was not a political maneuver. Therefore, my "No" vote.

JOHN W. EVANS

In explanation of my "No" vote on House Resolution No. 112, this day passed, I wish to state that I oppose the language in the first whereas clause inferring that the state officers concerned have not been accurate in the handling of state funds. I believe the necessary information is available without this undesirable inference and without the political implications of this resolution.

JOHN BABBAGE

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. Cramer arose to a question of personal privilege.

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT

Mr. Cramer asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent that the following statement be ordered printed in the Journal:

STATEMENT BY MR. CRAMER

Today I arose to a question of personal privilege because a San Diego newspaper has attacked my integrity on the introduction of Assembly Bill No. 2217, and many copies of this newspaper article have been circulated in an effort to discredit me. This legislative measure was introduced by me at the request of a group of citizens in my district and, as this is still a free country, even the minority is entitled to a voice in it. I would be remiss in my obligations as an elected representative in my district if I were not fair and impartial to all of the people I represent.

HOWARD K. CRAMER

MEMBER EXCUSED

At 2.55 p.m., Mr. Rumford asked for, and was granted unanimous consent that Mr. Lincoln be excused for the balance of the legislative day.

Respectfully submitted.

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by the Chaplain, Dr. Torrance Phelps:

Spirit of Toleration: In this age of confusion, with so many differences of belief and opinion, we pray for the spirit of toleration.

May we respect with the greatest sincerity the people who disagree with us on the issues of today, whether on religious or in political life, and honor men for the courage of their convictions.

Give us the mind to see that liberty means freedom of mind and soul, and where these freedoms are restricted, the initiative which is the genius of progress is stifled

Let us hear the rattling of the chains of tyranny in every effort to muzzle the Basic Freedoms.

God forbid that those who are allowed to differ from our fundamental beliefs should take a selfish advantage, to use the privilege of freedom to destroy the Fountain of our liberties.

May every class and group remember that all the unparalleled blessings of daily comfort, culture and equal opportunity spring from the spirit that respects the conscience of all and seeks to exploit none —AMEN.

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolution was offered:

By Mr. Brown:

House Resolution No. 128

Relative to requesting the state officers who constitute the appointing authority with respect to the Franchise Tax Commissioner to file charges with the Personnel Board against the commissioner

WHEREAS, The Assembly Interim Committee on Governmental Efficiency and Economy has just completed a thorough investigation of the Office of the Franchise Tax Commissioner; and

WHEREAS, That committee found, among other things, that the commissioner's attendance at the office was spotty and sporadic; that he had almost no personal contact with the key officials of his office who were directly responsible to him; that he was not familiar with the functions of the various branch offices maintained by his department; that he used state cars for private purposes and state employees to take him for rides not connected with state business; that in spite of widespread misuse of state equipment, misuse of sick leave, faulty and inefficient record keeping, acceptance of incompatible employment by employees, and bickering and dissension between employees in his office over a period of years, the Franchise Tax Commissioner has taken no action to change these conditions; and

WHEREAS, Under Opinion NS 4188, dated April 6, 1942, the Attorney General ruled that the Controller, Chairman of the State Board of Equalization, and the Director of Finance constitute the "appointing power" with respect to the commissioner within the meaning of the Civil Service Act; and

WHEREAS, Under Section 19574 of the Government Code the appointing power has the authority and the duty to file charges against any employee for punitive action for one or more causes for discipline defined in the Civil Service Act; and

WHEREAS, Among the grounds for such charges listed in such act are incompetency, inefficiency, inexcusable neglect of duty, and any other acts which are incompatible with or inimical to the public service, and

WHEREAS, Said Assembly Interim Committee on Governmental Efficiency and Economy, on the basis of the record before it, justifiably concluded:

> "The over-all fact remains that the public welfare requires the removal of the incumbent Franchise Tax Commissioner, and the responsibility for accomplishing that now rests, has rested, and will continue to rest in the State Controller, the Director of the Department of Finance, and the Chairman of the State Board of Equalization;" and

WHEREAS, Those officials have taken no action in this regard, now, therefore, be it

Resolved, by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Controller, Director of the Department of Finance, and the Chairman of the State Board of Equalization are hereby requested to suspend the Franchise Tax Commission pursuant to Section 19576 of the Government Code and to file charges under the Civil Service Act against the incumbent Franchise Tax Commissioner at the earliest possible date; and be it further

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT THAT SPEECHES BE PRINTED IN THE JOURNAL

Mr. Doyle asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent that the speeches delivered by Mr. John F. Henning, Secretary of the Irish Literary and Historical Society of San Francisco, and by Governor Earl Warren, at the Saint Patrick's Celebration, today, in the Assembly Chamber, be ordered printed in the Journal:

Speech of John F. Henning

Mr Chairman, Your Excellency, Governor Warren; Honored Guests, Members of the Legislature, Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am honored by the privilege of this address. I am honored to be with you. Surely, it is a fine thing that on this St Patrick's Day of 1949 we should meet in honor of a man who survives in American opinion as a gracious symbol of understanding.

It is an issue of striking importance that the name of this man whom we honor today is so sharply impressed upon the American mind, the name of this man who lived and labored among the Irish people 15 centuries ago.

It is, of course, a tribute to the character of his toil that he is so remembered, and, if we would measure that toil, if we would weigh that effort, it is imperative that we consider, however briefly, the beginnings of this remarkable man, the origins of this Patrick, the Christian Apostle of Ireland

I am certain that many of you here this morning are acquainted with the historical doubt that is associated with the territory of his birth. Throughout the centuries, scholars have championed either Scotland or France as his native land.

Those who proclaim that he was a native of Scotland, assert that he was born near Dumbarton, in the then northern Roman province of Celtic Britain, while those who declare that he was a native of France, argue that he was born in Celtic Brittany, of Western France.

But regardless of dispute as to place of birth, it is agreed that it was from Brittany that he was stolen away at the age of 16, taken by Irish sea raiders striking at the continental shores. And so it was that Patrick first came to Ireland in the chains of slavery. He came first in the year 389, and it was as a slave boy that he was sold to an Irish chieftain of Ulster, who set him to work tending sheep on the hills of Antrim in Northeastern Ireland.

And while he suffered for seven years in slavery, it was during this period that he learned to love that strange and pagan land. Following his span of servitude, he returned to Brittany, but the mark of Ireland was upon him forever.

It was only historic justice, then, that long years later, having been ordained a priest and consecrated a bishop, he should come again to Ireland. He came this time in the year 432. He came this time at the behest of Pope Celestine who commissioned him to carry the gospel of Christianity to pagan Ireland.

Patrick was not the first Christian to challenge the Irish destiny. It is now accepted that Christianity existed in some minor degree in Ireland prior to the coming of Patrick.

Indeed, the good man came as a replacement. He came as the successor to Bishop Palladius who had been directed to Ireland in 431 by Pope Celestine. However, Palladius, having failed to impress the Irish mind, sailed away in despair to England that very year.

But whatever the groping scope of that struggling Christianity might have been in Ireland, prior to the advent of Patrick, it was he who brought all the land to the standard of Christ.

He arrived just previous to Easter in 432, and on Easter Eve, he and his party camped on the Hill of Slane, high above the left bank of the River Boyne, across from the Hill of Tara, from Tara, the seat of the free and sovereign government of Ireland for centuries before the coming of Christ.

Now it happened that on that dramatic Easter Eve, the pagan Irish, who were Druids, were in the midst of an annual festival which was coincident with Patrick's celebration of Easter.

In accord with ancient Druid custom, the reigning Ard-Ri, or High King of Ireland, King Leary, forbade that any fire should burn that night in Ireland save the sacred Druid flame which burned on the Hill of Tara.

You can well imagine, then, the Irish indignation of King Leary, when Patrick, in bold defiance, lit his own fire on the Hill of Slane. Legend tells that the wise men of the Druid world, immediately counseled King Leary, that if the fire which burned on the Hill of Slane were not extinguished that night, it would burn forever in Ireland.

But legend or no, the fire of Christianity did remain, and Patrick's astonishing conversion of the Irish people proceeded without the shedding of one drop of martyr's blood, certainly a singular experience in the annals of early Christianity.

The building of churches, monasteries, convents, and schools, followed the trail of Patrick across Ireland, through the four provinces, from the center to the sea.

It was his particular gift to combine spiritual integrity with a human warmth which together captured the Irish soul. And this was the genius of Patrick.

But at last, full of honors and years, he came to the end of his natural life in the County of Down, in the Province of Ulster, sometime between the years 460 and 472, the date of his death, like the place of his birth, being a matter of historical conjecture.

However great the earthly accomplishments of St. Patrick, his legacy has been the greater. Even within the reach of his own lifetime, Ireland, because of his influence, was entering her superb Golden Age. At a time when the virile peoples of Northern Europe were sacking the proud cities of the Roman Empire, Ireland was becoming a western citadel of culture and erudition.

From the Fifth to the Eighth Centuries, scholars from Britain and all Europe came to study at the feet of the Irish masters of learning. The brightest sons of the noblest families came there for the progress of the mind. The Irish were not content merely to train those who came within their care, and so Gaelic missionaries and scholars launched an academic invasion of the Continent, spreading the renown of Irish letters through France, Germany, Austria, Switzerland, and Italy.

But the Golden Age was not to endure, for in the closing years of the Eighth Century, the Vikings began their sharp, exploratory raids on the Continent, Britain, and Ireland. The Northmen invaded Ireland in full in the Ninth Century, and, in the understandable manner of the time, they leveled every center of learning and culture upon which they could rest of their hands. Yet they worked good as well as evil. They brought the protective walled city to Irish life. They advanced the cause of Irish ship building. They founded the prominent cities of Dublin, Wexford, and Waterford, to cite but a few.

The Vikings continued in consistent control of Ireland for some two centuries. It remained for Brian Boru, the illustrious and never forgotten Ard-Ri, to break the hold of the Northmen on Ireland when he drove them into the sea at the Battle of Clontarf fought near Dublin in the year 1014, thus ending their authority forever.

The legacy of Patrick served the Irish well during the Viking occupation, for the appreciation he had given them of human dignity made oppression unbearable That legacy was to serve the Irish through ensuing centuries, for in the year 1169, there came for the first time to the beaches of Wexford, to the shores of Erin, the forces of English invasion and establishment. And the aged resistance to that occupation was founded on that same intense love of personal freedom.

Irishmen of every religious persuasion carried that concept to this Nation in the days of the Revolutionary War There are varying estimates as to the number of Irishmen in the Revolutionary Army, but all of them are high

An interesting commentary on this Irish contribution, is the testimony of John Galloway, former Speaker of the House of Assembly in Pennsylvania. Following the war, Galloway was questioned in the House of Commons, in London, as to the nationality of the men who comprised the Revolutionary Army. Galloway replied: "The names and places being taken down, I can answer with precision. Scarcely one-quarter were native American, one-quarter were English and Scotch, one-half were Irish."

But whether the percentage was one-half, or one-quarter, or, as Benjamin Franklin pronounced, two-thirds, the Irish were definitely there in the founding days of the Republic.

It is also significant to recall that the most feared and protesting voice within England during the Revolution, was the voice of Irish Edmund Burke of the Commons, who, in his magnificent Speech on Conciliation, arose, and in the refined language of his literary school, advised the gentlemen of the House, that the day of unbridled empire was done.

Reverting to the American scene, the incomparable Washington time after time commended the Fighting Irish of the Revolutionary effort, and, in tribute to their valor, he joined the Friendly Sons of St Patrick.

From that revolutionary day of Commodore John Barry, Homer Mulligan, and Mad Anthony Wayne, to the day of Colin Kelly, the five Sullivans, and Audie Murphy, the Irish name has appeared large in the military history of the Nation

Throughout the century and a half of our national existence, the children of St Patrick have joined with all the other peoples of the world, in forging our mighty America.

And surely it is the hope of all who would hold an affection for St Patrick as a happy symbol of American tolerance, that the men and women of this Nation, whatever their creed, or race, or color, shall remain before the world, sons and daughters of one national family.

And more, surely it is the prayer of us all today, that we Americans, whatever our distinctions of mind, shall continue to stand before God and history, as the brothers and sisters of one family—brothers and sisters unto the end.

(Note: Above-mentioned speech by Governor Warren will appear in the Journal of a later date)

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT THAT BILLS RETAIN PLACES ON FILE

Mr Dickey asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent that Assembly Bill No. 376, on the third reading file, and Assembly Bill No. 738, on the unfinished business file, retain their places on file on the next legislative day.

Mr. Cooke asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent that Assembly Bill No. 1356, on the third reading file, retain its place on file on the next legislative day.

RECOMMENDATION

Mr. Weber recommended that the Committee on Rules give consideration of a well organized program which will stagger the attendance of school children as observers in the Gallery, in an effort to avoid disappointment of young visitors who cannot be accommodated.

BILL STRICKEN FROM FILE

By unanimous consent, Senate Joint Resolution No 12 was ordered stricken from file.

REPORT TO THE LEGISLATURE ON THE SURVEY OF PRIVATE SCHOOLS BY THE STATE DEPARTMENT OF SOCIAL WELFARE

March 11, 1949

I. INTRODUCTION

Section 1620 of the Welfare and Institutions Code provides that:

"No person, association, or corporation shall, without first having obtained a written license or permit therefor from the State Department of Social Welfare or from an inspection service approved or accredited by the department:

(a) Maintain or conduct any institution, boarding home, day nursery, school other than a school conducted by an established religious organization, or other place for the reception, care, or education of children under 16 years of age, nor engage in the business of receiving or caring for such children, nor receive nor care for any such child in the absence of its parents or guardian, either with or without compensation * * *."

Although the licensing of schools was added to this section of the code by amendment in the Statutes of 1947, no appropriation was made for the additional cost of administration necessary in connection with the inspection and licensing of them.

The Budget Act of 1948 in Section 337.5 made an appropriation "for additional support of the Department of Social Welfare for the purpose of studying and analyzing all matters relating to the requirements for licensing of schools in accordance with Section 1620 of the Welfare and Institutions Code (exempt from Section 124 of the Welfare and Institutions Code)."

An advisory committee was appointed by the Director of the State Department of Social Welfare to guide the study of private schools. This committee consisted of the following persons:

Mr. Roy E. Simpson, Director, Department of Education
Mr. Howard H. Pattee, General Secretary, the California Association of Independent Schools
Mr. Sterling S. Winans, Director, Recreation Commission
Reverend James N. Brown, Superintendent of Schools, Archdiocese of San Francisco
The Most Reverend James T. O'Dowd, Bishop of San Francisco
Mr. Joe R. Yockers, State Fire Marshal
Dr. Wilton L. Halverson, Director, State Department of Public Health
Professor Hiram W. Edwards, University of California
Mr. Paul Scharrenberg, Director, Department of Industrial Relations
Mr. James Vincent, Christian Science Committee on Publications

Two analysts were added to the staff of the State Department of Social Welfare for the purpose of visiting a number of private schools in order to secure a body of knowledge concerning their operation.

II. IDENTIFICATION OF PRIVATE SCHOOLS

For the purpose of this survey a private school has been considered to be a facility (other than a public school) accepting children under 16 years of age and operating primarily for educational purposes, which does not fall solely within the classification of institution or day nursery as established by the State Department of Social Welfare; or within the classification of schools which are under the jurisdiction of the State Department of Public Health or State Department of Mental Hygiene. Also, schools which operate solely for the purpose of teaching music, art or dancing, etc., have not been considered to be within the scope of this survey.

It is not known how many private schools exist in California. An attempt was made through various sources (such as state and local departments of education, existing lists of schools, telephone directories, advertisements, etc.) to secure as complete a list as possible for the purpose of this survey. The number of private schools fluctuates rapidly. New schools are started and others are discontinued. The word "school" may or may not be used in the title thus making identification more difficult A school may change its location or its name and any list made without some provision for a centralized system of reporting by schools would not remain current for any length of time.

A total of 847 private schools throughout the State has been tentatively identified. This includes schools privately owned and operated and those operated by religious organizations. The largest concentration of schools is in Los Angeles County. Three hundred and thirty-nine schools were not included in the number visited since they are conducted by established religious organizations and are thus exempt by law from licensing.

III. METHOD OF CONDUCTING SURVEY

A questionnaire devised by the committee was sent to each of the private schools identified, with a letter of explanation giving the names of the committee members and the reasons for the survey. This questionnaire served the purpose of obtaining information on which a selection of schools to be visited could be based and of preparing the school officials for a possible visit later.

The committee members also prepared a schedule for the collection of selected information from the schools concerning the buildings occupied, fire protection, sanitation, personnel employed, child care, recreational facilities and educational objectives and practices. This schedule was used by the analysts to record the information secured in the visit to the school.

A sample of 70 schools to be visited was set as a representative number. Schools to be visited were selected on a random basis by the survey staff to include a variety which would represent schools carrying day programs only, boarding students only and a combination of day and boarding; large and small schools, schools for boys only, for girls only, and coeducational schools. Also, a selection was made to include schools in 17 counties on a percentage basis similar to that of the known schools in these counties. An appointment for visiting each school was made in advance whenever possible. The information on the schedules was obtained through an interview with the head of the school or a chief assistant and personal observation. Some county school officials were also interviewed.

IV. SUMMARY OF FINDINGS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

A. Summary of Findings

In the 70 schools visited during the survey there were 6,524 pupils enrolled, however, the total number of children enrolled in private schools throughout the State is unknown since there is no complete list of private schools. It is estimated that in Los Angeles alone approximately one-eighth of the school population is attending schools other than the public schools.

The survey showed that in less than one-half of the schools visited were the buildings occupied actually erected for school purposes and that buildings were frequently adapted for school purposes from former residences, hotels, etc. The buildings varied in age from a few of recent construction to buildings at least fifty-four years old. The majority of buildings were over twenty-five years old and many have had or still have unusual and expensive improvements to make. However, fire inspections were reported to have been made by state or local fire officials in all except two of the schools visited, although there was considerable variation in the intervals between such inspections in different localities. In a few of the schools visited there was evidence of overcrowding which might be avoided by more frequent inspections and the official setting of capacity for each school.

So far as could be observed in the schools surveyed, kitchens appeared to be reasonably clean and lighting and ventilation was fair in all schools having resident pupils. There was some indication that improvements were not effected in some instances (such as the installation of garbage disposal units to eliminate rat infestation) until complaints were made or until an order was issued by an inspecting authority. Wash room and toilet facilities were in general within desirable standards.

The committee is of the opinion that the Health and Safety Code and existing local ordinances regarding fire safety and sanitation provide sufficient authority for the protection of children in private schools in these aspects of their welfare and that private schools which are not operating in conformity with the law can be closed. However, unless state or local officials are notified in some way that a private school is in existence, no inspection is likely to be made and it is possible for private schools to exist for some time without coming to the attention of such officials. Thus, there are always some children who are not receiving the protection afforded by existing laws.

A central resource is needed for the gathering of information about total school population and other data and to which inquiries and complaints can be directed. Private schools vary greatly in the quality of the educational programs offered and in their admission policies. Regardless of whether funds for the support of a school are from public or private sources, there needs to be a resource through which clearance can be made and educational objectives accomplished. The sharing of ideas of curriculum development, encouragement of closer relationships in work shop experience and institute sessions would promote between public and private school officials a better understanding of the mutual problems of education. Thus with a central resource to take responsibility better integration of all educational services can be achieved.

The primary purpose of a private school is education. Of the 6,524 pupils enrolled in the 70 schools visited in the survey, the majority were enrolled as day pupils. While the custodial care of a child is by no means unimportant (and it is recognized that the school is often a substitute home) children are primarily sent to private schools to be educated. In considering the other needs of a child such as health, mental hygiene, nutrition and recreation, there is an overlapping of governmental agencies responsible for his welfare. There was indication in the schools visited that the physical needs of the child are being met and that training is given in personal hygiene. In approximately one-half of the schools visited there was some method of checking the health of children on admission to the school either through the requirement of medical certificates or other means. Provisions were generally made for meeting emergencies. However, the health of teachers can also directly affect children and in less than one-fifth of the schools were teachers required to present a medical certificate or undergo a medical examination. School officials reported that other than normal children are not accepted for enrollment. While the food observed and described as being served in the schools visited adhered in general to acceptable standards, the food served can fluctuate both in quality and quantity within a short space of time. Recreational facilities were satisfactory in most of the schools visited and were superior in some. Only a few schools had limited recreational resources. Other information secured such as methods of discipline, etc., indicated that school officials are not always aware of some of the basic principles of child care The extent to which private schools are meeting all of the needs of children for normal developmental growth requires continuing evaluation. All phases of a child's development and of his environment are also concerned with his education so that all are inextricably bound up together. The committee believes that guidance of school officials in improving standards of child care and the enforcement of any regulations concerning private schools, therefore, belongs within the jurisdiction of a public educational authority

B. Recommendations

1. It is recommended that Section 1620 of the Welfare and Institutions Code be amended to exclude schools from licensing provisions under the jurisdiction of the State Department of Social Welfare.

2. It is recommended that private schools accepting children under sixteen years of age be required to register annually with the State Department of Education at the time and in the manner required, giving certain basic identifying information such as name, location, name of responsible official, scope and number of enrollment and the scope of instruction offered. Registration may be effected by the operator of a private school or by the superintendent of an organized school system There should be no exemption from this requirement for any school or for any facility whose purpose is an educational one regardless of whether the word "school" is used in its name. The operator of any private school or the superintendent of an organized school system who does not annually register a school shall be considered to be guilty of a misdemeanor.

3 It is recommended that upon receiving the registration of a private school, the State Department of Education shall forward to the proper state or county officials a notification that such registration has been made in order that inspections be made for fire safety and sanitation.

4 It is recommended that there be established by the State Department of Education a representative committee which, through the use of the information secured through registration and inspection reports, may give continuing study to the subject of private schools.

5. It is recommended that adequate financial provisions be made for the administration of this program.

RESULTS OF STUDY OF 70 SCHOOLS

A. Administration and Enrollment

Of the 70 schools visited, the majority (39) were proprietary, owned and operated by one or more individuals. Five of the schools were organized as corporations, 24 as nonprofit corporations and two were operated as associations.

The oldest of these schools was established in 1853 and the newest in the fall of 1948 Twenty of the schools were over twenty-five years old, 19 were less than ten years old and the remainder or 31 were between ten and twenty-five years old.

Nine of the 70 schools visited accepted boarding pupils only, 33 accepted day pupils only and 28 accepted both boarding and day pupils.

These 70 schools have a total of 6,524 pupils enrolled. The enrollment was divided according to the following tables, among boarding schools, day schools, and schools carrying a combination of boarding and day programs.

Enrollment

	Boys	Girls	Coed	Total
Boarding schools	474	---	72	546
Day schools	---	202	3212	3414
Boarding and day schools	1311	671	582	2564
Total	1785	873	3866	6524

The minimum age at which children were enrolled in the schools visited was 2½ years, the maximum age was 21 and in addition older veterans were accepted in certain schools qualified under the G.I. Bill of Rights. The distribution of age of children enrolled is shown in the following table:

Enrollment by Age

	Number of schools taking children under 4½	Number of schools taking children from 4½ to 12	Number of schools taking children from 12 to 21
Boarding schools		7	7
Day schools	10	25	22
Boarding and day schools	1	24	23

B. Plant and Capacity

The number of buildings occupied by the schools visited varied from one to thirty buildings per school Twenty-four of the schools were housed in one building; 25 schools occupied from two to five buildings per school and 21 schools had from six to thirty buildings per school.

These buildings varied in age from a few of recent construction to buildings at least fifty-four years old. The majority of buildings were over twenty-five years old.

In less than one-half of the schools visited were the buildings actually erected for school purposes. In the majority of schools, the buildings occupied were constructed as residences, hotels, apartment houses, etc, and were altered for school purposes. In one school, all buildings occupied (with the exception of school buildings converted from a ranch house and two barns) were built by the faculty and boys at the school.

Less than one-fourth of the buildings were of masonry construction One school building was a metal quonset hut. Over three-fourths of the buildings were of wood frame or wood frame and stucco construction.

None of the buildings of the schools visited were more than four stories in height. Four schools had buildings four stories in height; five schools had buildings three stories in height and the remainder were one or two stories high. In 21 schools there were sleeping rooms for pupils above the first floor.

The capacity of the schools as reported by the school official interviewed varied from 35 to 500 for day time and from 20 to 235 for night time and was distributed according to the following tables:

Capacity of the Schools

	Day		Night
	Max.	Min.	Min.	Max.
Day schools	500	40	--	--
Boarding schools	200	80	80	200
Boarding and day schools	300	35	20	235

Capacity Reported	Number of Schools Reporting
	Day	Night
Under 49	8	19
50-99	22	10
100-199	22	6
200-299	7	2
300-399	2	--
400-499	1	--
500	1	--

In all of the schools visited taking boarding pupils the minimum requirements of 500 cubic feet of space per person in the children's sleeping rooms appeared to be met. It was also estimated that window space per room comprised at least one-eighth of the floor space in all of the schools visited. Double beds were used in only one of the schools visited. In all of the other schools the beds were either single beds or double-deck bunk beds and were spaced three feet apart in all but two schools. As a rule the sleeping quarters observed appeared clean and fairly comfortable, but there were some exceptions In one school established in September, 1948, with 15 boys and girls between 6 and 13 years of age in attendance, the sleeping quarters were cheerless, the furniture decrepit, mattresses lumpy and the bedcovers unclean. In nine schools there were two children in a sleeping room; in 17 schools there were three to four children in one room; in two schools there were five children in one room and in one school there were seven children in one sleeping room.

Of the 15 schools having dormitories there were as many as 35 children in a dormitory in one school, another school had 20 double-deck bunks in one dormitory. In one school the dormitory had 22 beds arranged with the heads to the wall without three feet between them with one double-deck bunk in each corner of the room and three or four beds lengthwise down the middle of the room. In another school a recitation room was used as a sleeping room at night with five double-deck beds on large casters. These were crowded together with other beds in a dormitory during the day, so that this room could be used for recitation, necessitating the rolling and shifting of beds every night and every morning. There seemed to be little opportunity for rest in the dormitory during the day time hours and the pupils could not get at the drawer space reserved for clothes or the closets. Dormitories in the other schools accommodated from 4 to 20 children. In one school the dormitory building was an exceptionally well furnished and well organized room with sleeping porches adjacent. In two schools, loud speaker systems were installed in the dormitories with reception in the proprietor's room so that a child becoming ill at night or needing other attention would be heard.

The drawer and chest space appeared to be sufficient for the storage of clothing and personal belongings in all of the boarding schools, however, in some of the schools which often served as substitute homes for the children there was a lack of provision for expression of the child's individuality in arrangement of his personal belongings.

Recreation living and study rooms were provided in all of the schools visited. Dining rooms varied in degree of adequacy and in attractiveness. In one school the recitation room was used as a dining room. In another school the dining room was so small that the children had to eat in two shifts In another school the dining room and kitchen were in the same large room.

At the 26 schools having resident staff, the quarters provided were reasonably clean and attractive. As a rule, separate rooms were provided with or without a private bath and in a few schools there was an apartment available for resident staff. In some schools where house-mothers were not employed, teachers were responsible for the children at night and had rooms adjacent to children's dormitories.

School quarters varied from classrooms in which the lighting, ventilation, arrangement of desks and size of equipment were adapted to the needs of children to those with poor equipment and crowded quarters. In two schools new non-glare lamps were recently installed and in another venetian blinds were used to control glare on desk tops. Ventilation of school rooms was by means of open windows in all but four schools in which ventilating systems were installed. In one school ultra-violet health lamps were used in all quarters were pupils congregate and in another school ultra-violet units were used in the classrooms. There was some form of heat in the classrooms of all but two schools, in one of which a few of the classrooms were heated, but the majority were "fresh air rooms" with one or two sides exposed to the weather. In two schools a classroom was heated by a portable kerosene heater with no visible means of ventilation in the room. In one school the classrooms seemed small and crowded and it was questionable whether farsighted pupils could be adequately accommodated, but the director stated that it passed minimum sight-saving standards. In one school, due to overcrowded classrooms, pupils had to travel several blocks to another building for their classes. In another school, alterations in the building occupied made the ceilings of the classrooms undesirably low. Classrooms in two day schools in which the buildings had been converted from residences appeared crowded.

C. Fire Protection

Approximately two-thirds of the schools visited were located in corporate city areas, two were in fire protection districts and the others were located in unincorporated areas. Fire inspections were reported to have been made by the local or state fire officials in all of the schools except two schools. One of these was a boarding and day school with 17 boys from 6 to 13 in attendance. It was founded in 1946 and is located in a fire protection district. The operator stated that no inspection of his school had been made by local or state fire officials, but that he had taken his plans for building to the State Fire Marshal's Office for approval before opening his school. The other school which had had no fire inspection occupies a wood frame building which was formerly a night club and is located on a 320-acre ranch in an unincorporated area. Brush had been cleared well away from the building as a protection against fire. In 22 schools fire inspections were made annually, in nine schools semiannually, in 15 schools at monthly, bimonthly or quarterly periods. In 12 schools inspections were said to be made "frequently" and in two schools they were made "seldom." One school official reported that an annual inspection was made by the local mountain patrol, another school official reported that a rigid inspection was made when the school was started three years ago, but that there had been no inspection since that time. In two schools the last inspection was made in the spring of 1947. The fact that inspection had been made, does not necessarily mean that approval of the inspecting agency has been given or that there has been substantial compliance with minimum standards of fire safety as some of the schools were in the process of meeting fire inspection requirements.

The type of fuel used in 49 schools was gas; a combination of gas and electricity or gas and oil in seven schools; electricity in two schools; and oil in five schools. In one school in which there were 38 day and boarding students an oil heating plant formerly used to heat the main building had been disconnected because it was said to be dangerous. This building, which was the center of activities and which contained sleeping quarters on the second floor, had no heat at the time of the visit although the director said that usually the fireplaces and electric heaters were used for heating.

At least two methods of exit from each floor level were provided in all but one of the schools visited In this school, accepting 15 day and 36 boarding students, there were no fire escapes and the plant was reported to have been approved by the local fire department. In another school formerly accepting resident students and in which 20 day students are now enrolled, the second floor was shut off by barriers, the basement sealed and the discontinuance of four gas furnaces recommended as a result of fire inspection. The director said that she had been told that a resident school could be operated only if two steel stair fire escapes were installed for the dormitories and sheet rock installed for the dormitory walls. The director said that these changes would cost $5,000, which she was unable to afford. In another school the second means of egress from the second floor of a building in which older girls were housed was through a window of one of the sleeping rooms onto a roof of a classroom. The director said that this means of exit had been approved by the local fire department.

D. Sanitation

So far as could be observed, kitchens were reasonably clean and lighting and ventilation fair in all boarding schools. Equipment seemed adequate in all except two schools and was superior in some schools. There was no special dish washing equipment in 16 of the boarding schools visited and in one school, although an electric dish washer was provided, dishes were being washed in an ordinary dishpan at the time of visit. A refrigerator was provided in all boarding schools.

The sewage disposal system was said to have been approved by the health department in all but one of the schools accepting boarding students. In this one school no visit of inspection had ever been made. Four schools reported having cesspools and in seven schools septic tanks were used.

Washroom and toilet facilities in the boarding schools visited were in general within desirable standards There was one toilet for every 10 children or less, in all boarding schools except one in which the ration was 14 children to a toilet. The majority of schools had sufficient toilets to allow a toilet for less than eight children. In one of the day schools there was only one toilet for 35 children. There was one wash basin for every five or less children in 24 of the boarding schools, in eight of the schools there was one wash basin for six to eight children and in one school one wash basin for ten children.

There was one tub or shower bath for every 10 or less children in all of the boarding schools visited.

E. Child Care

There was indication in the schools visited that the physical needs of the child are being met and that training is given in personal hygiene. In all of the boarding schools each pupil was supplied with his own personal toilet articles, (such as comb, brush, tooth brush, towel, etc.) and with adequate clothing Either closets or lockers were provided for the storage of clothing and in some schools both were available.

In five schools of the 12 visited which had 50 or more resident pupils a graduate nurse was employed; in five others a practical nurse was employed and in four schools a graduate nurse was on call A graduate nurse was also employed in one other boarding school with less than 50 resident pupils and was on call in seven boarding schools. A physician was on call in 31 of the resident schools and in 17 of the day schools.

In case of an emergency, it was reported in 11 day schools and in five boarding schools that an attempt would first be made to reach the child's parents before calling a physician or hospital. The telephone number of the physician of parents' choice was filed in an accessible place in all but three of the schools visited. In 17 schools a physician would be called in case of emergency and in nine schools a nearby clinic or hospital would be called A hospital or clinic was located within a half-mile of the school in 16 schools and within the same city or reasonably nearby in the remaining schools Other types of practitioners were not regularly on call by the schools visited, but would be called by six schools if the pupil's parents so specified A dentist was not employed by any of the schools visited, but one was reported to be on call by nine of the schools in case of emergency.

Isolation quarters were provided in all of the schools visited except in 13 schools which were operating a day program only and in one boarding school These latter schools reported that a child would be sent home at the first sign of illness. The quarters provided for isolation were usually adequate although in a few schools they were neither adequate in the facilities provided nor in location In one school isolation consisted of placing the child on a cot bed in the kitchen, and in another school in the library.

The majority of schools had a planned program for the care of accidents All schools except one had one or more first aid kits available and all but three schools reported that one or more members of the staff had formal training in first aid.

In 29 schools a medical certificate is required for each pupil before admission and in 28 schools no certificate is required. In two schools the certificate is not required, but is requested from parents. Three schools make their own health check on the pupils admitted In three schools a health certificate or examination is made only if there is reason to suspect illness In two schools no statement is required prior to the initial investigation, but if a pupil is absent because of illness, medical clearance is required before he is permitted to return to school. Medical and health records are kept on pupils in 43 of the schools visited and in one school weight charts only are kept.

Out of the 24 schools taking boarding pupils and the seven providing lunches to day pupils, a trained dietician was employed in nine schools. In 15 schools meals were planned by a cook or head chef, sometimes in consultation with the principal, a nurse, a housemother, or a physician. In four schools meals were planned by the director or the director and principal or the director's wife In one school a 25 cent lunch was served to pupils by a church society.

While the information given about meals and the observation of the survey staff indicated that the food served was generally satisfactory, the contact with the school was too limited to determine whether the food provided was in the proper amounts and balance to maintain normal growth, good health and abundant energy for each child.

The dining rooms observed were clean and reasonably satisfactory in all but three schools visited. The number of pupils per table varied from 4 to 19, with more than eight pupils seated at a table in 14 schools. In one school the dining tables were in a classroom.

In all of the schools visited, the drinking water was said to be from a source inspected and approved. All schools were not provided with fountains or coolers. In general, paper cups were used for drinking although in some schools glasses or a combination of glasses and paper cups were used.

In 28 of the 70 schools visited no food was served and in four schools no information was secured regarding the milk supply. Of the remaining 38 schools, the milk was pasteurized and secured from local dairies in all except one school which served raw milk The milk was not always served in the original container.

While a few schools reported that the need for punishment had been rarely encountered or that unruly conduct would result in dismissal from school the majority of school directors reported that some means of punishment is necessary In nine schools corporal punishment is used on occasions. The methods of punishment reported as most commonly used were deprivation of privileges or separation from the group. Other methods described were extra work assignments, standing at attention, paying a fine, detention, putting a child to bed at 4 30 p.m. for five nights consecutively or being deprived of candy or made to eat with younger children. A merit and demerit system is used in some schools or a student control system is used There was indication in a few schools that motivation of the behavior would be examined or that the child would be trained in self-discipline as a means of decreasing the need for punishment

All but one of the schools visited reported that no hazing of pupils is permitted. In the one school where hazing is permitted it was reported to be "controlled."

F. Recreational Facilities

One or more trained recreation workers were employed in over one-half of the schools visited.

Recreational facilities varied from a small play yard of a day school so crowded with children at noon and recess periods as to be actually hazardous, to a 300-acre campus of another school with excellent facilities. Some provision was made for recreation in all schools, although in nine schools the facilities were limited.

One school in which both boys and girls were enrolled had recreation facilities for the boys, but none for the girls. In the majority of schools there was provision for some outdoor sports, such as tennis, basketball, football, volleyball or baseball for older students and well-equipped playgrounds for younger pupils. In addition in some schools there were provisions for horseback riding, folk dancing, hobbies such as handcrafts, puppet shows, photography and frequently television and other recreation programs were available. In one school with an unusually fine playground and assortment of apparatus to interest children, the play area was carefully planned and adapted to the size of the children. One school included a merry-go-round for its younger children and another school gave a yearly pageant in which all of the pupils take part. In the larger schools there are usually teams for competitive sports with other schools.

Nineteen schools had gymnasiums, of which 12 were boys' schools, two were girls', and five were coeducational. There was a swimming pool on the campus in 16 schools and in some other schools there was access to a swimming pool nearby. All but one of the swimming pools were reported to be checked at daily or weekly intervals by the local health departments. In the one school in which no inspection had been made by a health official, the pool was located in a sunny area and a filter plant was installed, with a complete change of water every 12 hours. No chlorination tests were made and the operator considered that the sun provided sufficient means of purification. Children were expected to take a shower bath before going into the pool. The majority of pools were out-door unheated pools used only in warm weather. In one school accepting 250 older boys for both day and boarding care, the pool had a new canvas wind breaker recently installed and ample dressing rooms. In another school accepting 238 boys between 4½ and 15, for both day and boarding care, the pool was shallow and especially built for younger boys so that all could learn to swim. In another school which accepted 60 younger girls and boys for day care, in connection with an out-door heated pool there were electrically heated dressing rooms and hair driers.

G. Personnel

In evaluating the qualifications of administrators and teachers, the information secured was limited to data regarding educational background, length of experience, and number of years in the present position. No attempt was made to determine whether the members of the staff were familiar with the principles of child care or the extent to which they were temperamentally adapted to working with children. There was some indication that teachers and administrative staff do not take advantage of refresher courses or keep abreast of current educational methods as often as desirable.

In the schools visited in which information regarding qualifications could be obtained, the headmaster or director of the school was qualified by more than 25 years of experience in 23 schools; by 15 to 25 years of experience in 19 schools; by 5 to 15 years of experience in eight schools and by less than five years of experience in two schools. While the experience was usually in the educational field, in some instances it was experience in business, in nursing, in art or music or as an ordained minister.

In seven schools the head of the school had been in this position over 25 years (in one school 38 years; in two schools 37 years; in two schools 35 years; in one school 30 years; and in one school 25 years), in 16 schools the head of the school had been in the position between 15 and

25 years; in 13 schools between 5 and 15 years; and in 16 schools less than five years

The head of the school had one or more college degrees in 45 schools; had the equivalent of a degree or education in a foreign country in four schools; had some college training or education beyond high school in 13 schools and had not gone beyond graduation from high school in three schools. One school was operated by a committee of three.

In some schools the head of the school was the business manager and in some schools the responsibility of business management was turned over to a chief assistant. In 27 schools the chief assistant had one or more degrees; in 21 schools the chief assistant had had college or education beyond high school; in one school the chief assistant had no education beyond high school; in three military schools the chief assistant was a military officer; in 18 schools there was no chief assistant or his educational qualifications were unknown.

In nine schools the chief assistant had had over 25 years of experience (one had 44 years, one had 38 years, two had 35 years and one had 30 years); in 12 schools the chief assistant had between 15 and 25 years of experience; in 18 schools between 5 and 15 years of experience and in five schools the chief assistant had had less than five years of experience.

In some schools the head of the school or the chief assistant were also teachers. Of the total of 667 teachers reported to be employed in the schools visited, 572 were hired on a full-time basis and 101 on a part-time basis Information regarding educational qualifications and the length of time on the job was not available on all the teachers, but in the schools in which this information was given it was reported that 430 had A.B. degrees, 67 had A.M. degrees, 9 had Ph.D. degrees and 82 had no degrees. A total of 206 teachers had California teaching credentials, some had credentials from other states and in a number of schools the director did not know how many of his teachers had state credentials. Of those teachers whose length of experience in the school was known, 115 had taught in the school two years or less, 131 had taught in the school approximately three years, 153 had been there for approximately five years and 77 for approximately 10 years or over.

In only 12 of the schools visited are staff members given a medical examination or required to present a medical certificate before employment and in three of these schools an annual examination is required. In two other schools tuberculosis tests and X-rays only are routinely required if the employee does not appear to be well. Medical and health records are kept for staff members in only six of the schools visited.

The salaries paid to teachers in the 70 schools visited are in varying amounts and ranges and in some schools cover lunch only or all meals or meals, housing and laundry for one or more persons. The minimum salary paid in the schools visited was $100 a month without any extras. The minimum salary paid with extras was $50 a month plus maintenance. There were 26 schools in which the minimum salary for teachers was less than $200 a month and in nine schools where maintenance was added the minimum salary was less than $150 a month. The maximum salary paid was $444 with maintenance (except for one large boys' school in which the headmaster received $10,000 a year). In two schools there was no salary schedule and teachers were paid according to the number of pupils enrolled.

H. Education

The objectives toward which their educational programs were directed were not defined in 10 of the schools visited. In 17 schools, of which eight were boys' schools, one was a girls' school and eight were coeducational, the program was primarily one of preparation for college. In eight schools, the objective was to provide a personalized service to children and their parents by giving individual attention to children. In one of these eight schools taking children from 3 to 15, the purpose of the school was to take children who did not fit into public schools or who had acquired bad study habits and to effect improvement by placing them in different grades for different subjects Another coeducational school taking junior high and high school students selected its applicants for admission to avoid "problems." The emphasis in this school (and in another school taking boys from 8 to 14 years old) was on high scholastic standards. In some schools the objective was to train the child for "useful citizenship," or "for adult life" or to provide a "foundation for living" or to give the pupil "a well balanced and fully developed personality." Two schools defined their programs as designed to build "leaders." The emphasis in two other schools was on developing the potentialities of the students under a system of carefully selected admissions. The aim of one school was to provide a sound basis for fundamentals for the purpose of developing a child physically, mentally and socially.

One school, operating a coeducational program for children from three and one-half to eight, provided a center for the study of Hebrew and the purpose stated was "integration of Hebrew and English education."

In seven coeducational schools visited the objective was defined as education based on religious principles either sectarian or nonsectarian. In three schools the objective was to develop sound working habits or to stress the value of work in connection with the development of character.

In some of the girls' schools visited, emphasis was placed on preparing pupils for homemaking, together with a balanced cultural life. In one coeducational school, taking children from 5 to 10, the purpose was to prepare the children "to become happy citizens." The teaching of "dancing, drama, French and the minimum essentials" was defined as the objective in one coeducational school and in another, the objective was to prepare the child for a professional life giving special attention to holding children in school who might otherwise quit early. In one school taking boys from 5 to 18 the objective was to train the pupils in satisfactory deportment and personal habits In other schools the objective was to provide a well-rounded education for the pupils Regardless of the terms in which the objective was stated, there was recognition in most of the schools of the desirability of developing the pupil individually as a member of society.

Children other than normal are not accepted in any of the 70 schools visited according to the information given although one director reported that she would accept a child with a speech defect.

Pupils were enrolled in kindergarten and elementary grades in 20 schools visited; in kindergarten, elementary grades and high school in five schools; in the elementary grades only in 13 schools; in elementary grades and high school in 30 schools; and high school only in two schools. In 43 schools pupils are enrolled by grades and in three schools pupils are not formally graded, but are taught on an individual basis. In all of the remaining 24 schools there were some combinations of grades, either a combination of two grades or as many as seven grades. This was particularly true in the smaller schools, although not entirely so.

A register of students was kept in all of the schools visited. The field of instruction was reported to be academic only in all schools except one which included an occupational field also.

The grading system used in the majority of schools was A, B, C, D, and F, with some slight modification in a few schools. Reports are sent to parents at varying intervals in all but one school in which a verbal report is made to the parent on the progress of the child.

The school calendar dates were reported to be in accordance with or closely approximating the public school calendar in all but three schools, in two of which operations were on a 12-month basis. In addition, four schools operated a summer session distinct from the school calendar dates. The number of days of instruction per year was approximately 180 days in nearly all schools.

In 12 of the schools it was reported that a psychologist or psychiatrist was employed on the staff or was on call. In one school referrel is made to a child guidance clinic when necessary.

Pupils are given standardized achievement, subject matter or aptitude tests in 63 of the schools visited. In 15 schools these tests are given before enrollment; in 36 schools they are given after enrollment and in 10 schools tests are given both before and after enrollment, as needed.

The majority of schools reported that they were meeting the state legal requirements in instruction in regard to the Constitution and American history, health, morals and manners, public safety and accident prevention and instruction in the English language. In 10 schools the director reported that no instruction is given in conformity with Section 8254 of the Education Code on alcohol and narcotics and in some schools there was a lack of understanding of the provisions of Section 8155 of the code regarding Constitution Day. One school official did not know whether any of the above requirements were being met.

A library was provided for the students in 51 schools, consisting of from 200 to 6,000 volumes. The quality and currency of books varied in different schools and in some schools, exceptionally fine facilities were noted. In some schools books were distributed throughout living areas to encourage reading In 17 schools the library was also used as a study hall. Nearby public libraries and county libraries were used by some of the schools which had no facilities of their own.

I. Labor

In two schools visited the minimum wages paid were reported to be $100 a month for 40 hours of work per week. In one school a maid, who had been obtained from Sonoma State Home, was employed for room and board; there was a financial arrangement with the home. In another school one employee was being paid $15 a week for three hours work daily In another school taking only day pupils, it was reported that an elderly couple had quarters in the attic and that the 80-year-old husband was given $30 a month plus his heat, light, and housing to act as caretaker at night; his wife was employed nearby. All other schools reported that the minimum wages paid to employees were within the state legal limit.

The maximum number of hours of work for any employee was reported as 48 hours per week. One director said that she had "no idea" how many hours her employees worked. All but two schools reported that they kept a record of time of employment. Housing was furnished to one or more employees in 15 of the schools.

In 12 schools some degree of work was done by students for the school. In one boarding school taking boys from 6 to 20, all took turns at waiting on tables, in addition some were employed regularly, two or three hours per day at nonhazardous work for which they received tuition reductions. In two boarding schools taking girls from 5 to 18, the pupils cared for their own rooms and were responsible for answering the door bell and telephone. They were not paid for this work which was considered as training for them In another girls' boarding school the girls were employed for two hours per day at nonhazardous work for which they were paid 50 cents per hour. In one coeducational school, one student was employed one and one-half hours regularly or eight hours a week in "custodial work" receiving tuition reduction in return. In another coeducational school it was reported that some of the girls helped the cook get breakfast and they took hourly duties at answering the telephone, that all students made their own beds on Saturdays, took turns on playground duty, washed the supper dishes on Sunday night and set the tables. For these duties they received tuition reductions in varying amounts. Also in this school there were arrangements for employment of students during summer months, but the director said she did not know the details of their assignments or the wages paid. In one coeducational school both boys and girls received tuition reductions for duties which were described as consisting of "washing blackboards and sweeping the school rooms," the director estimating that one hour a day or five hours a week were spent in this occupation. In one coeducational school with an enrollment of 190 pupils from 5 to 18 an assignment of five hours of work per week was expected of each boy or girl for which payment was made. In one large school taking boys between 8 and 18, tuition reductions were received by 24 pupils who served as waiters two hours daily. In another coeducational school seven pupils received tuition reductions in return for one hour of work a day. In one school, enrolling boys between 12 and 19, work was part of the school plan. The buildings housing the school were constructed by the boys and teachers and one hour of work daily was required without pay. In addition the boys in this school were permitted to saw wood for members of the faculty to earn incidental money.

One military school reported that three older students had part-time employment in a market, that placement was not made by the school and that no inspection was made of the place of employment These students were paid directly by the market and not through the school. Work permits are issued by this school if the parents approve. In another school it was reported that a few students had Saturday jobs and that vacation work permits were issued by the school. In one military school taking children from 4½ to 15, the president stated that work permits were secured if requested for vacation or moving-picture work. In two schools for girls, work permits were secured for vacation or weekends for such work as clerking, teaching dancing, etc. In one boys' school permits were secured for practical training in jobs related to their training at school, in nonhazardous work. Students were placed by the school and places of employment were inspected.

J. Tuition

The lowest tuition paid by resident pupils was $55 a month and the highest $220 a month. Of the schools taking resident pupils the majority charged over $100 a month.

The lowest tuition for day pupils was $5 a month and the highest tuition paid by day students was $130 a month. In the majority of the schools the tuition for day pupils was less than $50 a month.

In some schools tuition was charged on a sliding rate, according to the grade or the number of subjects taken, etc. In some schools there was a charge for "extras." While the tuition charged usually covered a school term of nine months, in a few schools the amount also included all or part of a summer session.

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by the Chaplain, Dr. Torrance Phelps:

Spirit of Service: May we stand in awe before the universal law of Service, which pervades all life from an atom of dust in the garden to the distant star in the cosmic scheme.

Let Nature remind us that

"Not a worm is cloven in twain, and not a moth with vain desire, is shriveled in the fruitless fire, but each subserves another's gain."

May we see that the strength of the deer is the herd, and of the wolf is the pack, and that even the Cross means that service for the general good is the inescapable condition of survival.

Let us remember that he gains most who serves widely and wisely without selfish thought, as seed cast upon the soil returns to the sower.

"There is a law that makes us brothers—no man goes his way alone;
All that we put into the life of others, comes back into our own."

May we be glad to stand with the great Servants of Humanity, whose names are enshrined forever in poetry and monument, and in the Bibles of religion.—AMEN.

The children living in these districts are being denied their birthright of a good education. In order to give these children, our future citizens, every opportunity to become useful and happy people, it is essential that this measure take effect at the earliest possible time. The present law is impractical in its application to many school districts situated on the state border In some border districts, it is impossible to furnish necessary transportation to and from school for the pupils of the district without crossing the state border as the roads used in transporting pupils to and from school do not run solely within the California Boundary In other school districts, although the roads ordinarily used by the school busses are within the State, heavy snowfall or rain necessitates the use of circuitous routes which run outside the state line during the winter months.

Furthermore, pupils of school districts bordering on other states should not be denied the experience of taking field trips, as a part of their curricula, in neighboring states and in participating in other school activities which take place close to the district but across the state line.

In order that the borderline school districts shall be authorized to carry out their necessary activities and furnish pupils with the best possible service it is necessary that this measure take effect immediately."

The amount of money allowed to school districts furnishing individual instruction to physically handicapped adults should be placed on an equal basis with the amount for furnishing such instruction to physically handicapped minors. The present law provides that each clock hour of teaching time devoted to the individual instruction of such minors counts as one day of attendance No such provision is made for the equally important individual instruction furnished to physically handicapped adults with the result that as little as one fourth as much money is available per pupil for the instruction of the adults as is available for the minors

In order that school districts furnishing individual instruction to physically handicapped adults confined in hospitals may provide more adequate instruction for the school year commencing in the fall of this year it is necessary for this bill to take effect immediately since contracts between the school districts and teachers are entered in May and it is often impossible to hire teachers later in the year"

COMMUNICATIONS

By Mr. Dickey:

The following communication was received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

A. W. HERRON COMPANY
SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, March 18, 1949

Hon. Randal F. Dickey, Chairman, Committee on Rules
California State Assembly, Sacramento, California

DEAR MR. DICKEY: It has been brought to my attention that you were informed that three keys were made for each file cabinet furnished the Assemblymen by our company. This is true. Only two keys, however, were delivered with each cabinet.

At your request, we keyed these locks especially because of valuable contents stored therein. It is our policy, when this special key is requested, to make an additional key and keep on hand in case of loss. This is good, standard business practice.

This letter is written to tell you that we hope our honest mistake will not embarrass you or the good work you are doing. The third key will be returned by me, personally, to every individual Assemblyman—if they lose them, then please call a locksmith.

Yours very sincerely,

A. W. HERRON COMPANY
C. I. MOGLE, Sales Manager

cc—Honorable Sam Collins, Speaker of the Assembly.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Mr. Dickey announced that, as rapidly as the steel file cabinets are delivered, they are being given to the members; and that it is expected that every member will have his cabinet within a few days.

MOTION THAT CHIEF CLERK BE INSTRUCTED RELATIVE TO THIRD KEY

Mr. Lowrey moved that the Chief Clerk be instructed to hold the third key to every member's steel file cabinet.

Motion died for lack of a second.

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT THAT CHIEF CLERK SEND COPIES OF ASSEMBLY CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 1

Mr. Fletcher asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent that the Chief Clerk be instructed to order one dozen illuminated copies of Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 1, and to send them to Mrs. John C. Lyons, widow, and Miss Virginia Lyons, daughter, of the late former Member of the Assembly from the Sixty-fourth District, the Honorable John C. Lyons.

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolutions were offered:

By Messrs. Huyck, Grant, Berry, Morris, Smith, Hinckley, Meyers, Rosenthal, Geddes, Tomlinson, Stanley, Hagen, Rumford, Babbage, Lipscomb, Reagan, Levering, Conrad, Grunsky, Connolly, Silliman, Fleury, Moss, Lindsay, Caldecott, Lincoln, Kirkwood, Waters, Stewart, Cramer, Erwin, Clarke, Butters, Hoffman, and Sherwin:

House Resolution No. 129

Relative to directing the Assembly Standing Committee on Governmental Efficiency and Economy to investigate the problems arising out of the adoption of Article XXV of the State Constitution

WHEREAS, The adoption of Article XXV of the Constitution, designated therein as the Old Age Security and Security for the Blind Law, at the general election held on November 2, 1948, has effected extensive changes in the State Programs for Old-age Assistance and Aid to the Needy Blind and in the State Department of Social Welfare; and

WHEREAS, The effect of the said Article XXV upon the organization and administrative operations of the State Department of Social Welfare is not fully known to and understood by the Members of the Assembly, but there has been general discussion and debate as to the existence of and relationship, if any, between the State Social Welfare Board appointed by the Governor prior to the adoption of the said Article XXV, and the board or committee which the Director of the State Department of Social Welfare is authorized by Section 4 of Article XXV to appoint, with the consent of the Senate; and

WHEREAS, There have been reports in the public press that certain former officials of the State Department of Social Welfare and others have been offered and have accepted positions on the said board or committee, and subsequent recent reports that those persons have withdrawn their acceptances thereof or have resigned therefrom, but the facts are neither a matter of public record, nor known to the Members of the Assembly; and

WHEREAS, The Members of the Assembly are informed that federal funds for old-age assistance and aid to the needy blind were withheld from the State from January 1, 1949, until a date late in February, 1949, on the ground that the state plans for such assistance and aid, as modified by Article XXV and the rules adopted by the Director of the State Department of Social Welfare, had not been found by the Federal Security Administrator to be in conformity with the Federal Social Security Act, and that such approval has now been secured and such federal funds have now been made available to this State, but the information of Members of the Assembly on these matters is derived from unofficial sources, and neither the specific facts nor the reasons for federal action are known to the Members of the Assembly; and

WHEREAS, It is essential that the Members of the Assembly, in order to exercise their legislative function, should have complete and accurate information as to the nature and scope of the financial obligations of the State under Article XXV of the Constitution in relation to the general problem of state finances; and

WHEREAS, The assumption by the State of the full administration of old-age security and security for the blind will increase the need of the State Department of Social Welfare for competent and experienced employees to perform the functions in relation thereto previously performed by officers and employees of the counties, and at the same time lessen the need of the counties for the services of such officers and employees, and there are bills pending before the Legislature to provide for employment of such county officers and employees by the State Department of Social Welfare and for the protection of the rights of the individuals affected; and

WHEREAS, The Members of the Assembly are not fully cognizant of the nature and scope of the problems arising out of the adoption of Article XXV, the necessity for legislation to implement Article XXV, and the present extent of the power of the Legislature to exercise legislative control over old-age security, security for the blind, and the State Department of Social Welfare; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Assembly Standing Committee on Governmental Efficiency and Economy is hereby authorized and directed to ascertain, study, and analyze all facts relating to Article XXV of the Constitution, the subject matter thereof, and the problems arising therefrom, including but not limited to the matters hereinabove set forth, and to report thereon to the Assembly not later than May 15, 1949; and be it further

Resolved, That the sum of _____ dollars ($_____) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby made available from the Contingent Fund of the Assembly for the expenses of the Assembly Standing Committee on Governmental Efficiency and Economy and its members and for any charges, expenses, or claims incurred by the committee in the exercise of its functions, to be paid from said Contingent Fund and disbursed, after certification by the chairman of the committee, upon warrants drawn by the State Controller upon the State Treasurer.

Resolution read, and ordered referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. Fletcher, Evans, and Brady:

House Resolution No. 130

Assembly resolution relative to the creation of a committee to investigate the attempts to nullify the use by the people of their constitutional rights through the initiative to make laws and to see such laws when adopted are given a fair opportunity to work

WHEREAS, No sooner had the majority of the people voted on November 2, 1948, old age security and security for the blind into law as the Twenty-fifth Amendment to the State Constitution than those who opposed its enactment immediately commenced a campaign for its repeal; and

WHEREAS, This repeal move is unprecedented in the history of our State and threatens to undermine the confidence of the people in the initiative and in our constitutional form of government; and

WHEREAS, Members of the Legislature are besieged by inquiries from frantic and disturbed needy aged and blind who believe and are being told that their welfare is threatened; and

WHEREAS, Members of the Legislature receiving such pleas for information are not fully aware of all sides of the question and therefore cannot advise their constituents regarding their welfare; and

WHEREAS, Legislation is now before the State Legislature to assist the State Department of Social Welfare, in its compliance with Article XXV and such legislation can best be considered after a thorough and impartial investigation by a competent and informed legislative committee; and

The following prayer was offered by the Chaplain, Dr. Torrance Phelps:

God of Mankind: Before our minds this day, let the vision rise of people of all lands and centuries lifting up their thoughts to Thee.

We look back to the dawn of history, and behold the temples of the Nile and the Acropolis, and the multitudes who kindled their altar fires to Thee.

When we survey the first inhabitants of the forest primeval of our own continent, we behold them acknowledging with reverence the Great Spirit of the Universe.

We look over to the teeming millions of the Orient, and behold the kindred aspirations and devotion to some higher power that the common heart of man reveres.

Wherever civilization rises and culture flowers, we see the cities starred with spires and hear the bells calling the human heart to Thy Universal Spirit.

So now may this vision of the unity of mankind, of our oneness in faith in the Highest, inspire us to dwell and work together in Goodwill.—AMEN.

In the operation of the act it was found that it was impossible to secure verification of insurance within the time limits imposed by the law in a very substantial number of cases, and that therefore it became necessary, in compliance with those time limits, to suspend licenses of numerous drivers who actually had protected themselves and other drivers by the purchase of insurance, but through the operation of technical provisions of the law could not meet the time requirements in the act. This defect has already resulted in the suspensions of thousands of drivers licenses which need not have been suspended It is therefore necessary to change the procedure for determining whether insurance was in effect at the time of the accident in order to prevent the law from continuing to work a serious injustice upon thousands of drivers"

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT THAT OPINIONS OF THE LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL BE PRINTED IN JOURNAL

Mr. Hahn asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent that the following opinions of the Legislative Counsel be ordered printed in the Journal:

Opinion of Legislative Counsel

STATE OF CALIFORNIA
OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL
SACRAMENTO 2, CALIFORNIA, March 19, 1949

Hon. Gordon R. Hahn
Assembly Chamber

A.B. 748—INSPECTION BY LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEES No 5100

Question

DEAR MR HAHN. We have your request of March 18, 1949, asking whether legislative committees now have the power to inspect prisons and other custodial facilities at reasonable hours and without prior notice

Opinion

It appears to us, from the research we have been able to make in the limited time available, that it is doubtful whether such power exists.

Analysis

The power of the Legislature to create investigating committees to act during sessions or after final adjournment is conferred by Article IV, Section 37, of the Constitution, which section reads in part:

> "Any such committee shall have such powers and perform such duties as may be provided by the resolution creating it and in addition shall have such powers and perform such duties as may be provided by law or by the rules of the Legislature or either house thereof."

Independently of the constitutional provision, it has long been held that there is reposed in the Legislative Branch of the government the inherent and auxiliary power to conduct investigations in aid of prospective legislation (In re Battelle (1929) 207 Cal. 227, 241) This power includes the right to examine witnesses, compel their attendance, compel the production of evidence, and punish for contempt

However, some rule of procedure for effectuating these purposes appears to be required In the case of courts of law, many statutes deal with the service of subpenas, examination of witnesses, issuance of subpenas duces tecum, punishment for contempt, and similar matters We know of no inherent power of the courts which would supply a deficiency in this respect

In the Battelle case, the Supreme Court had under consideration the punishment for contempt of certain witnesses for disobedience of a committee subpena to produce certain evidence and failure to answer certain questions The court held that a showing of compliance with the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure re contempt proceedings was required before punishment could be imposed

Numerous statutory provisions now place in the wardens and other custodians the care and safekeeping of the persons committed to them Broad powers to regulate the admission of persons into the state institutions are entrusted to them. For a legislative committee as a matter of right to be able to gain admission to the institution and examine the persons confined in it would appear to conflict with the custodial powers imposed by law.

Whether the inherent powers of the Legislature are sufficient to override the powers conferred by law upon the wardens and custodians presents a serious question Certainly the legislative committee must act in accordance with law to compel production of evidence Likewise, Sections 2621 and 2622 of the Penal Code provide methods by which the courts can secure the presence of prisoners as defendants and witnesses.

Even though legislative committees undoubtedly have an inherent power to investigate state institutions and examine their inmates, the method of such investigation and examination would appear to be a proper subject for legislation. In the absence of a method prescribed by law, it seems doubtful whether the committee may itself determine the method by which the investigation can be conducted and compel obedience to that method.

Very truly yours,

FRED B WOOD, Legislative Counsel

Hon. Gordon R. Hahn
Assembly Chamber

INVESTIGATION OF PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS—No 5100

DEAR MR. HAHN: Pursuant to your request of March 18, 1949, we enclose two sets of amendments to Assembly Bill No. 748.

One set of amendments includes all state institutions within the scope of the bill. The other provides for admission to the institution upon written authorization by the committee chairman We were not certain whether you wished the second amendment, so prepared it in this manner in order that you may use it or not as you desire.

It does not appear to us that the adoption of the proposed amendments would in any way imply that any public authority which now has the right to enter or investigate a state prison or other institution would in any way be deprived of that right by granting a similar right to a legislative committee

The law under which the other authority may enter or investigate remains in force unless it is clearly indicated by the later enactment that it is superseded. We see nothing in your proposal indicating such an intention.

Very truly yours,

FRED B. WOOD, Legislative Counsel

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT THAT OPINION OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL BE PRINTED IN THE JOURNAL

Mr. Sherwin asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent that the following opinion of the Legislative Counsel be ordered printed in the Journal:

Opinion of Legislative Counsel

SACRAMENTO 2, CALIFORNIA, March 11, 1949

Hon. Marvin Sherwin
Assembly Chamber

SPECIAL FUND APPROPRIATIONS IN BUDGET ACT NO 4731

DEAR MR. SHERWIN: You have asked us one general question and three specific ones which we will discuss in series.

1. Will you please advise me if it is possible by means of amendments written into the several items of the Budget Bill to appropriate money in support of particular items from special funds which are now disbursed in some instances in accordance with statutes previously enacted by the Legislature and in others also by items in the Budget Bill.

In considering this question it must be borne in mind that there are two types of special funds. One type consists of money derived from regulatory license fees, inspection fees, and the like under police power acts. The other type consists of money derived under taxing power acts.

The distinction is that the revenue derived under police power acts must bear some relation to the enforcement or administration of the particular act while revenue derived under tax power acts may be used for any state purpose.

In Daugherty vs Riley (1934) 1 Cal. (2d) 298, two appropriations from the Corporation Commission Fund were involved That fund consisted of fees and other money collected by the Corporation Commissioner and all of the fund was appropriated by a continuing appropriation for support of his office.

The 1929 Act involved (1929:805:1683) made an appropriation of $330,000 out of the Corporation Commission for an addition to the State Building in San Francisco for housing the Offices of the Corporation Commissioner. Provision was made for renting by the Director of Finance of space not needed for the Corporation Commissioner, the rentals to be deposited in the Corporation Commission Fund.

The 1931 Act (1931:57:51) appropriated $210,000 from the money in the Corporation Fund not otherwise appropriated "to meet a deficiency in the appropriation for the construction and completion, equipment and furnishing of an addition to the State Office Building at San Francisco." No mention was made of use by the Corporation Commissioner or of rental of space not needed by him.

The court held that the 1929 Act was, on its face, not unconstitutional but that the 1931 Act was ineffectual as an appropriation The latter decision was based upon two grounds. (a) because it was an outright diversion of a special or trust fund raised for regulatory purposes to a capital expenditure or general tax purpose with no provision for its return, or for safeguarding it as an investment on behalf of the special fund; or (b) because by its terms it was postponed to the continuing appropriation for the Division of Corporations.

The court ordered the retransfer to the Corporation Commission Fund of all of the money expended under the purported authority of the 1931 Act.

While the court based its decision on two grounds the principal stress was laid upon the first. The court said "To hold that the Legislature could provide fees for regulatory purposes under the police power and then devote the money so received to capital expenditures for a foreign purpose would be to declare that the Legislature could thus raise money by a special tax in contravention of Section 25 of Article IV of the Constitution" (1 Cal. 2d at 310).

In Urban vs Riley (1942) 21 Cal. (2d) 232 the court confronted a different situation. The Real Estate Commissioner's Fund contained fees received by the Real Estate Commissioner. Petitioners sought to have $637,851.78 which had been transferred from that fund to the General Fund from 1919 to 1929 retransferred to the Real Estate Commissioner's Fund. During this period the Real Estate Act provided for the periodic transfer of the unexpended balance in the special fund to the General Fund.

The court refused to order the retransfer. It distinguished, but did not question the correctness of, the Daugherty case discussed above. In the Urban case the statute itself provided for transfers to the General Fund. The court pointed out that license fees may be fixed at a sum sufficient to cover all expenses that may reasonably be anticipated and are not limited to the exact amount of the expense, and that the mere fact that an enactment providing for regulatory fees may incidentally produce revenue does not render the enactment unconstitutional.

The result of these cases seems to be that while the Legislature has considerable leeway in fixing regulatory fees and some of the revenue therefrom may be transferred to the General Fund and become available for General Fund purposes, the deliberate diversion of such revenues to a purpose foreign to that for which they were collected would be improper.

In the Daugherty case the court likened this type of special fund to the Special Deposit Fund (Secs. 16370-16375, Gov. C). This fund contains trust funds, unclaimed money, and money collected for specific purposes for which no other fund is available to which to credit it. Unclaimed money or money for which no claimant can be found goes into the General Fund after three years Otherwise this fund is a trust fund and the money in it can not be used for other purposes.

The other type of special fund presents no element of trust. Such funds are established largely for administrative convenience, particularly when appropriations are made on a formula basis. The Alcohol Beverage Control Fund (Sec. 37 of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Act, D. A. 3796), and the Fair and Exposition Fund (Sec. 19620, B. & P. C.) are examples of such funds. The money in such funds consists primarily of revenue derived under the taxing power and may be used for any General Fund purpose. The Fair and Exposition Fund will be dealt with more specifically below.

Certain state revenues are set aside for specific purposes by constitutional provisions. Fish and game revenues (Sec. 25§, Art. IV), boxing and wrestling revenue (Sec. 25¾, Art. IV), motor vehicle and gas tax revenue (Art. XXVI), and school land revenue (Sec. 4, Art. IX) are in this category. This money may not, of course, be used for purposes other than those for which it is earmarked.

Certain funds have been set up in the State Treasury and earmarked for certain purposes by statute. The Postwar Employment Reserve (1943 :572 :2141), the Postwar Unemployment and Construction Fund (1945 647 :1301), and the Revenue Deficiency Reserve Fund (1947 :958 :2228) are examples of this type. The money in these funds originated in transfers from the General Fund. To the extent that money is available in these funds it may be appropriated for any General Fund purpose.

The Flood Control Fund of 1946 (Stats. 1947, p. 180) is slightly different. Some of the money in that fund was appropriated for certain projects and the remainder for allocation by subsequent allocations by the Legislature Any unallocated money in that fund would be available for reappropriation for any General Fund purpose

In connection with budget appropriations of special funds already appropriated by continuing appropriations for the same purpose it should be pointed out that the budget appropriation operates as a limitation on the continuing appropriation.

This was the situation in Board of Fish and Game Commissioners vs. Riley (1924) 194 Cal. 37. The Fish and Game Preservation Fund was all appropriated to the commission. The Budget Act appropriated less than all of the money in the fund. The court held that this operated to limit the availability of the money appropriated by the continuing appropriation and that in such a situation a deficiency could be created under what is now Section 11006 of the Government Code

To recapitulate: The answer to the general question seems to be that.

a. The money in special funds derived from regulatory fees may not be diverted to a purpose foreign to that for which the fees are collected.

b. The money in special funds consisting of revenue earmarked for specific purposes by the Constitution may not be diverted to other purposes.

c. Money in special funds derived from taxes or from transfers from the General Fund may be diverted to any public purpose to the extent that it is revenue not earmarked by constitutional provision.

2. You point out that Item 46 of the Budget Bill appropriates money to the Poultry Testing Project Fund from the money available in the Fairs and Exposition Fund for allocation for improvements for fair purposes

You ask if money could be appropriated from the same source for (a) support of the State Soil Conservation Commission and (b) to the Department of Agriculture for pest eradication and animal disease control

We believe the answer is "Yes" as to both instances.

The Fair and Exposition Fund (Sec. 19620, B. & P. C.) consists of money received by the California Horse Racing Board. A small portion of this comes from license fees of jockeys, trainers, etc. ($19,000 estimated for current fiscal year, Executive Budget, p. 622) The bulk of the money comes from license fees of track operators which consists of money deducted from the pari-mutuel pools. This is essentially a tax, and not a regulatory, measure. While called a license fee of track operators the tax is actually collected from the money contributed to the wagering pools.

The fact that the original Horse Racing Act (1933 : 769 : 2046) was confirmed, ratified, and declared effective by Section 25a of Article IV of the Constitution did not freeze the appropriations of the revenue because the constitutional provision also provided that the act could be amended or repealed by the Legislature at any time. The disposal of the revenue has been changed, as a matter of fact, a number of times. While the same general pattern of distribution of the fund has been maintained there is no reason by the Legislature could not vary it.

While the original act contained an incidental statement that its purpose was to encourage agriculture and the breeding of horses in California (Sec. 4, 1933 Act, now Sec. 19562, B. & P. C.) the power of the Legislature to amend the act was not restricted.

There is no legal reason why this revenue could not be placed in the General Fund and appropriated for any state purpose. There would be certain practical differences from the present situation. The original act appropriated the revenue for a number of different purposes by a formula. This formula has been changed at times by changing several of the various appropriations or allocations in a single bill. If the money were in the General Fund it could be appropriated for more than one of the purposes only by the Budget Bill or by a series of separate bills.

The Budget Bill items suggested by you would not, however, necessitate any change in the present set up. The money available for allocation for improvement of fair property is available from the residue after all other appropriations and allocations are made Therefore, diverting this money to another purpose would not interfere with the remainder of the formula.

3. May the Legislature provide that the appropriation made by Item 55 of the Budget Bill for payment for subsequent injuries under the Workmen's Compensation Law shall be made from the Unemployment Compensation Disability Fund created by Section 300 of the Unemployment Insurance Act, Deering Act 8780d?

The Disability Fund consists of money received from employees under the disability features of the Unemployment Insurance Act. The entire fund is now appropriated for disability payments and administration.

In Gillum vs. Johnson (1936) 7 Cal (2d) 744 the funds involved in the unemployment insurance features of the act were under consideration While there was no question as to the diversion of these funds to another purpose the court said:

> "It must be conceded that the moneys so contributed under the act are not public moneys in the sense that they are subject to appropriation otherwise than as provided in the act. The funds thus raised are in their nature a continuing appropriation for a specific purpose (See Daugherty vs. Riley, 1 Cal. (2d) 298 [34 Pac. (2d) 1005]). The balances therein do not revert to the General Fund at the end of the fiscal year and under both the state and federal acts constitute trust funds to be administered by the state commission and subject to its call at all times" (7 Cal. (2d) p. 758)

The subsequent injuries payments are not made pursuant to the Unemployment Insurance Act but under the workmen's compensation provisions of the Labor Code These payments arise as follows: If a workman is injured while in one employment and is subsequently injured in another employment the second employer is liable only as to the second injury considered alone and not as to the cumulative effect of both injuries. For example, a worker may lose one eye in one employment and the other eye in the second employment. The second employer is liable only for the loss of one eye, rather than for total blindness The State makes up the difference.

We do not believe that the money in the Disability Fund can be diverted in the Budget Bill for these payments. It might be possible to amend the Unemployment Insurance Act to provide for setting aside a certain amount of the receipts under that act for such purpose While the coverage under the Workmen's Compensation System and the Disability Insurance System is not identical the same general class-wage earners—is involved in each act. It is not necessary that the contributors and the beneficiaries under the Unemployment Insurance Act be identical. Thus, it has been held that contributions must be made for wages paid newsboys although the amount paid was so small that the newsboys would not be entitled to unemployment insurance payments (California Employment Commission vs. Shopping News Corporation, (1944) 24 Cal. (2d) 421).

Both the unemployment insurance provisions and the subsequent injuries provisions have the same general social objectives—the promotion of the welfare of employees.

Even though such an amendment to the disability provisions of the Unemployment Insurance Act might be possible it does not follow that the money in the Disability Fund could be diverted for subsequent injuries payments by a budget appropriation. The Budget Act can not effect substantive changes in other provisions of the law.

Therefore, we are inclined to believe that the courts would adhere to the positions taken in the Daugherty and Gillum cases discussed above and hold that the diversion of the money in the Disability Fund to a purpose beyond the scope of the act under which the money was derived would be improper.

4. Could the Legislature amend Item 248 of the Budget Bill to provide that the appropriation made therein should be made from the Highway Fund with the same terms, interest, and repayment provisions fund in Item 248?

Item 248 provides for an appropriation of $893,049 for surveys, plans, etc., for an additional toll bridge from Alameda County to San Francisco. It provides for the return of the appropriation with 1½ percent interest from the sale of the revenue bonds issued for such crossing under the Toll Bridge Authority Act and if the second crossing is not built from the revenues of the existing Oakland-San Francisco Bridge after all outstanding bonds and other obligations have been paid.

We believe that this can be done.

The money in the Highway Fund is derived from revenues earmarked for street and highway purposes by Article XXVI of the Constitution. While bridges are not specifically mentioned there is nothing in the article to exclude them. Bridges may undoubtedly be built from such revenue when they are part of the State Highway System and we can perceive no constitutional difference between bridging a river and bridging San Francisco Bay.

The fact that the State has adopted its present policy in relation to the San Francisco Bay Bridges does not necessarily mean it could not build a free bridge if it chose—assuming, of course, appropriate protection of the holders of bonds for the present structures.

Furthermore, Article XXVI expressly provides that the motor vehicle and gas tax revenues may be temporarily loaned to the General Fund upon condition that it be repaid. Even assuming that the item in question involves what is strictly a General Fund purpose a diversion to that purpose with provision for repayment amounts to practically the same thing as borrowing the money and using it for that purpose. Assuming that the security for repayment is sufficient, as it appears to us to be, the end results would be identical.

Very truly yours,

FRED B. WOOD, Legislative Counsel

Our Father in Heaven, at the beginning of another legislative day we bow before Thee for guidance and perspective Help us to realize that just as water is no better than the reservoir from which it comes, so laws can be no better than the men who make them.

For Members of this Assembly we pray for depth in religious principle, breadth in responsibility and outlook, and a perspective that partakes of the Divine in its recognition of what is of main importance

Strengthen us to withstand the pressure of selfish lobbyists, the narrow prejudice of constituents.

Help us to place righteousness before re-election, and the public good before sectional advantage.

May debate and action be on a high level this day because our hope is that Thy will might be done on earth in this Assembly, as it is in Heaven

In the Name of the Master, we pray.—AMEN.

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by the Chaplain, Dr. Torrance Phelps:

O God of Hope: In these momentous days, when many look with anxious eyes at countries in ruins and cities in ashes, let us behold the immense recuperative forces which ever work secretly and silently in communities and nations.

Let us remember that Europe has been ravaged a thousand times by the devastating forces of war, and yet has always risen like the Phoenix from the ashes to a more civilized age.

Let us behold how Italy and France rose out of the Dark Ages to the glories of the Renaissance, and how England rose out of the devastating Wars of the Roses to the Golden Age of Shakespeare, and how all Europe rose from the wreckage of the Napoleonic Era to modern times.

Let us recall how our own Nation sprang out of the chaos and devastation of our Revolutionary and Civil Wars to the greatest summits of progress the world has ever known, and that in a world of despair, America is the universal symbol of hope.

May we cherish the resourceful mind which has set many heroic people, crippled in fortune, on their feet, and cultivate the creative spirit which can make a Golden Age out of any desolation, and make any desert flourish as a garden.—AMEN.

PART 2. CONSTRUCTION AMORTIZATION

Sec. 25. As used in this part, "borrower" means any corporation formed under this act when the articles of incorporation thereof state that it is a corporation which does not contemplate the distribution of gains, profits, or dividends to the members or shareholders thereof. When such a statement is made in the articles of incorporation, any corporation formed to qualify as a borrower within the meaning of this section shall be exempt from the provisions of subdivision (b) of Section 4 and any other provisions of Part 1 which are inconsistent with this part.

Sec. 29. The commission may approve construction loans meeting the requirements of this part.

Sec. 30. The total amount of loans approved pursuant to this part and remaining unpaid shall not at any time exceed three hundred million dollars ($300,000,000). No part of the principal amount of such loans shall be lent or repaid out of money received by the State of California as the proceeds of taxes levied by it.

Sec. 31. Each construction loan shall be made in order to finance the construction of a project.

Sec. 32. Each loan shall be payable as to principal in six hundred or more equal installments payable monthly commencing 90 days after the completion of construction.

Sec. 33. Interest on each construction loan shall not exceed 4½ percent per year on the amount of the loan outstanding, payable monthly.

Sec. 34. The provisions of each construction loan contract between the borrower and the lender shall provide that in event of default of 60 days or more by the borrower, the commission may take possession of the project and related property pursuant to Section 45.

Sec. 35. The borrower receiving the construction loan must either own the land on which the project is to be constructed or be the lessee thereof for a term longer than the term of the loan applied for.

Sec. 39. Before approving a construction loan, the commission shall approve a rent schedule for the housing to be constructed, and rent shall not be charged in excess of that approved except with the approval of the commission. Such rentals shall be fixed so as to make the project self-supporting and self-liquidating without profit to the borrower.

Sec. 40. Before approving a construction loan, the commission shall impose such other requirements as it believes are necessary in order to effectuate the purposes of this part.

Sec. 41. If approval is requested for more loans than the maximum amount which may be approved, the commission may restrict its approvals to those loans providing for housing which will serve the greatest need.

Sec. 42. No obligation is assumed on the part of the State in connection with any construction loan until there has been recorded in the office of the county recorder of the county in which is situated the project for which the loan was approved an agreement between the borrower and the commission setting forth their respective obligations pursuant to this part, which agreement shall also provide that the project, including the property on which it is situated, or any interest therein, cannot be thereafter in any manner conveyed or encumbered without the consent of the commission.

Sec. 43. The commission shall pay all interest on loans during the period of construction and for 90 days thereafter and all interest in excess of 2 percent per year on the principal of the loan thereafter outstanding. Such interest shall continue to be paid pursuant to this section during such time as the commission may be in possession of a project, but this shall not prevent the payment of interest that may be otherwise payable.

Sec. 44. In the event of default on the loan, the payment of the principal and interest on the loan shall not be accelerated without the express permission of the commission.

Sec. 45. In the event of default of 60 days or more in the payment of principal and interest on any approved loan, the commission may forthwith demand and take possession of the project for which the loan was made and all property, including money, obligations, and credits, and books, records, and papers of the borrower appertaining to such project. Upon taking such possession, the commission shall collect all moneys due to the borrower in connection with the project and give full receipt therefor and do such other acts as are necessary or expedient to collect, conserve, or protect the business, property, and assets of the project. With the consent of the commission, the project, books, records, and papers may be returned to the borrower upon such conditions as the commission approves. All money received by the commission pursuant to this section shall be deposited in the Construction Amortization Fund, which fund is hereby created in the State Treasury. The money so deposited in connection with each project shall be used to carry out this section with respect to such project, and the balance thereof shall be paid to the borrower when the project is returned to it.

Sec. 46. There is appropriated from the General Fund an amount equal to seventy-five thousand dollars ($75,000) plus the sum of the interest payments to be made pursuant to Section 43 but in no event more than five million seventy-five thousand dollars ($5,075,000) annually, together with all money at any time in the Construction Amortization Fund, to be used in carrying out the purposes of this part. Money from the General Fund may be used only for the payment of interest pursuant to Section 43 or for the support of the Office of Construction Amortization exclusive of any expenditures to carry out Section 45. Not more than seventy-five thousand dollars ($75,000) of the money appropriated annually from the General Fund, if expended, may be expended for support of the Office of Construction Amortization.

No money received in connection with one project shall be used in connection with another project."

STATEMENT BY MR. CONDON

I waived my notice of intention to reconsider Assembly Bill No. 372 because its author agreed to insert certain amendments before the Senate which would require the cards to be carried in padlocked boxes between the polling place and the central counting place, with the keys to the locks to be kept at the central counting place. These amendments would help prevent tampering with the ballot cards. Even with my amendments, however, I oppose Assembly Bill No 372, and do not wish my waiver to be construed as approval of the bill.

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by the Chaplain, Dr. Torrance Phelps:

God of the Searching: May we think this morning of the restless hearts of men forever seeking Shangri-la, the enchanted place where all their desires and wants are fulfilled

In the long ago, we see men seeking the Golden Fleece and the isles of the blessed, and in our own clime—Eldorado and the Pot of Gold at the end of the rainbow

We see the multitude pursuing the glamor, the pomp and the show of life, glorying in the outward and external, and coming at last to find that the golden things they coveted turned to dust and ashes in the crucible of experience

Now may we discover that our Shangri-la lies not in the golden distance, but within our own selves, and our most precious treasures are found in the riches of knowledge and in grace of character.

Let us find our Shangri-la in the mood of trust in the Infinite Love that creates peace within us, and in a career of devotion to human betterment.

And when we come to the end of a busy life, and look back over the years, the happiest memories will be the deeds of kindness and helpfulness that lightened the lives of our fellowmen —AMEN.

Explanations of Vote

When Assembly Joint Resolution No. 26 was voted upon today, I was in the office of the State Director of Finance on business for the San Diego Fair Association. Had I voted, I would have voted "Aye."

KATHRYN T. NIEHOUSE

FRANK LUCKEL

Statement of Vote

March 24, 1949

This is to certify that, due to taking up Assembly Joint Resolution No. 26 on the floor of the Assembly out of order while Assemblymen Niehouse and Luckel were attending a meeting of the San Diego State Fair, they missed voting. It was not their fault, as they would have voted for Assembly Joint Resolution No. 26 if they had been here. They were 100 percent for it.

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT THAT COMMUNICATION BE PRINTED IN THE JOURNAL

Mr. Dickey asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent that the following communication be ordered printed in the Journal:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, DEPARTMENT OF NATURAL RESOURCES
DIVISION OF FISH AND GAME
SAN FRANCISCO 11, CALIFORNIA, March 9, 1949

Hon Sam L. Collins
Speaker of the Assembly
State Capitol, Sacramento, California

DEAR MR. SPEAKER. The Fish and Game Commission is pleased to transmit herewith its report on the feasibility of transporting male soupfin sharks from the waters of Northern California to Southern California, for the purpose of assisting nature in the breeding of the species, in accordance with House Resolution No. 32.

The commission finds that the plan is not feasible for the following reasons.

1. The investigative research program of the commission's Bureau of Marine Fisheries is intimately tied up with the schedules of its two research vessels. The M T Yellowfin will not be converted for use until late summer or early fall, after which its time is filled The schedule for the M T N. B Scofield is completely filled for the year. The working time for these vessels is allotted on the basis of several considerations The prevailing weather in the regions where the research work for the various programs is to be conducted is of major consideration. The season of the year during which the various programs can be conducted is a limiting condition. The importance and need for the various investigations are weighed, and all these factors contribute to the final scheduling of the vessel at the first of the year. Inasmuch as the schedules for both vessels were completed in January to include the work of the expanded sardine program and that of the other investigations, disruption of the schedule would work a serious hardship on the various research activities of this bureau. Furthermore, the relative size of the soupfin fishery, not over 150 fishermen out of a total of 13,000 commercial fishermen in the State, does not warrant the expense and time even if the program had any chance of success.

2. The high price of soupfin shark makes it economically unfeasible to have commercial fishermen catch them for us Each pound of male soupfin shark liver is worth from $10 to $15, depending upon the potency of the liver. An average male shark will contain about five pounds of liver Thus, the minimum price we would be required to pay for any soupfin shark would be not less than $50 each, and would probably average more than $60 per fish.

3 Soupfin shark are present in various localities during certain seasons of the year, with most of the females concentrated in Southern California during much of the year, and the males inhabiting waters to the north The sexes rendezvous annually for breeding purposes Local chronological appearance is sporadic and erratic The present catches of soupfin shark made by fishing vessels along the Pacific Coast are not large Only a small number of boats, out of the total fleet which occasionally numbers as many as 30 to 40 vessels, are successful in capturing soupfin shark in sufficient quantity to make the venture economically feasible. If anything, our operations would be even less successful, as the fish do not maintain themselves well in captivity, and our experience in catching sharks is limited

4. The fish are large. A soupfin shark averages better than five feet in length and about 50 pounds in weight. The numbers of fish that could be transported, even in a large tank, would be very limited, as a considerable volume of water would have to be maintained for each shark The very large size precludes the feasibility of transporting them. Even if the transportation and catching problems were practical, which they are not, few individuals could be hauled each trip The time alone involved in transporting would amount to six days round trip without any time allowed for capturing the individuals.

With the assistance of Drs. Chapman and Kask of the Stemhart Aquarium, the Bureau of Marine Fisheries conducted some experiments in transporting small soupfin to the Aquarium in San Francisco from Santa Barbara Even with small shark, the task proved fruitless. The fish did not survive the transportation, and removal from their original environment; and all had died when they reached the Aquarium In this respect experience has shown that soupfin shark are much more delicate to handle alive than many other species

5 The fishing gear required for taking soupfin sharks is very expensive A set of bottom diver nets of the type now in use by the fishery would cost $6,000 to $7,000 As bottom nets do not last for much over one season, the replacement cost for gear would be very high Drift nets are even more expensive, and the 1,400 fathoms of drift net would cost about $8,000 This gear, too, is subject to rapid deterioration under normal use. Hook and line gear would be inexpensive; however, soupfin sharks are so scarce that the lines would be practically useless for capturing sharks for transportation.

6 Although sharks are taken commercially in nets, both drift and bottom types these nets would not be practical for taking them alive. When sharks strike a net, they attempt to roll and turn to escape capture In so doing, they roll themselves up into a tightly-bound mass of shark and net. This almost immediately kills them by drowning, and almost all mature sharks taken commercially are dead when they are brought aboard the vessel Therefore, to accumulate any numbers of live sharks would require great numbers of soupfin to be taken to have the small percentage survive for the transportation experiment

One of the most successful boats in Northern California waters this year caught approximately 400 sharks during the whole season As only a small percentage survive, even a lucky strike such as this would not produce enough soupfin to make the experiment feasible

7. Soupfin shark migrate freely along the coast in response to certain biological factors Of these factors, sexual maturity, food, temperature, prevailing currents, and oceanographic conditions all play their part Sudden removal of a number of male sharks from ecological conditions to which they are adjusted and attuned, and placing them in an entirely chronologically different environment would not follow the sharks' normal habits It is conceivable that the removal and subsequent transplanting would completely upset their metabolism and destroy or inhibit the production of vitamin

8 There is no reason to believe that the soupfin shark would react favorably to forced connubiality, the purpose for their transportation back to Southern California where females are present At the time of the year male soupfin sharks are available in Northern California the sexually mature females in Southern California are practically all pregnant As the male segment of the population has completed its conjugal duties, it should be free to maintain its voluntarily misogynous existence without the machination of man. Any program predicated upon the forced breeding of female sharks already pregnant would of necessity be in error. The regimentation and transportation of males by the State would be of no benefit so far as the reproductive potentials of the soupfin stock are concerned. The male sharks pursue other interests until the urge to reproduce is felt When this occurs, they make a countermigration down the coast and conjugate with the females under conditions satisfactorily evolved in the past history of the race. The commercial fishery is the only barrier that operates to prevent the free movements of shark up and down the coast As previously indicated, nearly all mature females, that is, better than 98 percent, in Southern California waters are pregnant. This alone indicates that there is no necessity for further fertilization If there were any need for supplementary male breeding stock, the fact would make it so known by a change in the sexual condition of the females This possibility is highly improbable as the soupfin shark has been able to breed for many millions of years without the dubious benefit of man's interference in its sexual habits.

Inasmuch as no benefit or use would be derived from the expensive and time-consuming transportation of male sharks from Northern California to Southern California for the avowed purposes of breeding, even if such action were physically practical, it is recommended that such transportation not be attempted

Respectfully submitted,

CALIFORNIA FISH AND GAME COMMISSION
By E L MACAULAY, Executive Officer

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by the Chaplain, Dr. Torrance Phelps:

Infinite God: We pause to manifest our respect for the sacred, and by our reverential attitude show that we are of eternity, and not like the dumb animals with no mind above their appetites

Let us be silent together because our respect for this moment of prayer reveals that we have a real Faith, and that we are not like the cynic who flouts the sacred.

May we be reverent together, because reverence for the most precious things—reverence for personality, for beauty and music, and common decency—spring from the religious spirit.

Let us be silent together, because we see that the spirit of irreverence is destructive, the source of anarchy and lawlessness.

Above all may we have a little altar in the margin of our minds, where day by day we enkindle that respect for the sacred which is the light of life.—AMEN.

Statement by Mr. Geddes to Follow Action Amending Assembly Bill No. 1766

The bill, as amended March 23, 1949, contained the words "and virgule or" as the result of the sponsor of the legislation in dictating a previous amendment using the name of the sign "virgule" for the sign "/" This explanation is given since this amendment will drop out previous strike out type and cause italics to be printed in regular type, and it may be difficult for Members of the Assembly to determine what is the nature of the amendment when the corrected bill is before us.

PARTIAL REPORT OF THE STUDY OF THE PERSONNEL BOARD AND ITS OPERATION

By

ASSEMBLY INTERIM COMMITTEE ON GOVERNMENTAL EFFICIENCY AND ECONOMY

House Resolution No. 216, 1947

A. I STEWART, Chairman

To the Honorable Sam L Collins, Speaker, and to the Members of the Assembly:

Your committee desires to make the following report of its investigation of the State Personnel Board and its operation:

At the 1947 Session of the Legislature this Assembly by House Resolution No. 216 authorized an Interim Committee on Governmental Efficiency and Economy "for the purpose of recommending changes and proposing legislation in order to promote efficiency, to reduce and eliminate costs, to provide for the consolidation of functions and removal of duplication, and to do all other things necessary and proper to increase the efficiency and effectiveness of state and local governments * * *."

In determining the scope of its work the committee took into account the report to the Assembly in 1947 of the Ways and Means Committee, which leveled certain criticisms at the State Personnel Board and recommended "that an interim committee of the Legislature make a complete investigation of the Personnel Board."

In addition, members of the committee, like many other legislators, have heard reports and received complaints bearing on the administration of the Civil Service Law, and in particular concerning the nature of the examinations Even discounting many of these complaints as the natural reactions of unsuccessful candidates, there seemed to be enough cause for inquiry to justify careful study

Finally, the committee was impressed by the important place which personnel management has in the State Government. We have enacted laws which puts the State into many fields of activity We have created many agencies to perform those functions We have approved budgets which provide for the employment of 40,000 civil servants. The laws and policies which we adopt in behalf of the people are only as effective as they are made to be by this small army of public employees. If state employees are carefully selected, if the conditions of their employment are just and equitable, and if the unfit are weeded out while the competent employees are given reasonable assurance of security, we can expect the kind of State Government which the public has a right to demand

Whether or not we have those conditions depends in large measure on the Civil Service Laws of the State, and upon the agency—the State Personnel Board—which is responsible for administering them. An inquiry into personnel policies and practices is not therefore an inquiry into personnel problems alone. It relates to the efficiency and economy of the entire state service

Being mindful of all these things, your committee decided upon a detailed investigation of the State Personnel Board. Believing that a systematic, expert appraisal of the operations of the board would be the most productive of results, we retained the consulting firm of Louis J. Kroeger and Associates to make the study Mr. Kroeger is a former Executive Officer of the Personnel Board, and is qualified by other experience as well to make a thorough and impartial survey of personnel policies and practices

This investigation extended over a period of six months During the course of it, the committee met monthly with Mr Kroeger to receive progress reports and to discuss his findings and recommendations He has now concluded his work with a detailed report to the committee, accompanied by drafts of legislation which in his judgment are necessary to improve the operations of the Personnel Board, and thereby serve the ends of greater efficiency and economy in the State Government generally

The members of the committee are of course not in a position to vouch for all of the staff findings, nor do we necessarily all agree with all of the conclusions or recommendations for change The committee is agreed, however, that the staff report is a significant public document, which should be published and distributed to the Members of the Legislature, to the Personnel Board, and to interested civic groups. We ask, therefore, for authority to have 300 copies printed for that purpose.

Members of the committee have sponsored legislation to give effect to many of the proposals resulting from this study, and in some cases one or more members of the committee may sponsor other such measures.

It is particularly significant that the staff report points out many ways to strengthen and improve the administration of the Civil Service Laws and to provide additional services, yet proposes a net reduction in the budget of the board amounting to $202,474. We in the Legislature are quite familiar with the spectacle of administrative officials seeking to solve their problems by hiring larger staffs The results of this study suggest that perhaps the answer lies in eliminating useless operations and in simplifying those which must remain. If the same philosophy and approach can be applied to all the other functions of State Government, and if savings can be shown in the same proportion, millions of dollars can be saved for the expenditure for this kind of study

Chapter XXV of the staff report shows in detail the manner in which these savings can be made Over $150,000 of the savings is through the reduction of staff. This is not because the board is overstaffed to do its present work—because in fact it is understaffed for what it is now trying to do. The savings come instead through cutting out work that should either be done elsewhere or not done at all

We hesitate to try to summarize the more detailed report, because it covers a wide range of subjects in considerable detail. It contains nearly two hundred specific recommendations for changes in law and practice. They are summarized in Chapter 111 of the staff report

From this detailed report and from the observations of the members of the committee during the progress of the inquiry, we offer the following general conclusions:

1 Within the limitations of the present law the Personnel Board has on the whole done a good job. The membership of the board and its key staff is of high quality. We do not question their competence nor their integrity.

2. Some personnel practices need improvement, and the law ought to be changed in many respects to enable the board to do a better job

3. On the specific question of responsibility for creating new positions, which was a particular concern of the Ways and Means Committee at the last session, we find that the responsibility rests with the department heads and with the Department of Finance through its budgetary controls The board only classifies the jobs when they are created The classification of a job does not imply any authority to pass on the need for the job. Nor do we think that the Board should have such authority. If anything is needed at all to clarify the existing situation, it is a simple amendment to the law to confirm the present practice

4. The other specific concern of the Ways and Means Committee had to do with the manner of classifying position There are over 2,100 classes in the classified service We believe that two-thirds as many would be enough. Our staff report suggests ways in which the classification plan can be simplified; and the members of this committee will sponsor a House resolution calling on the board to take action in this respect.

5. We are not satisfied with the examinations being given by the board. Many of their defects probably result from a very heavy work load resulting from war-time and postwar manpower shortages The result of too little time to develop examinations carefully has been that the questions propounded are not always germane to the kind of positions to be filled. The staff report suggests many ways in which the work load can be reduced, and examinations techniques can be improved

6. There appears to be a good deal of buck-passing between the departments and the board. The claim is made by the department heads, for example, that it is difficult to dismiss an incompetent employee. Yet the record shows that in a four year period only 75 cases seeking dismissal were brought to the board for hearing. In all but five of these cases the employee is now out of the service. The discouraging aspect of these figures is not the record of the board on dismissals; it is the appalling neglect of the department heads in failing to bring to hearing the many cases in which they seem to feel that disciplinary action is required.

7 The attitude of the department heads is also revealed by their marking of reports of performance. About 95 percent of all employees are marked "Standard" or better. A department head who marks an employee "Standard" and then seeks his dismissal can hardly expect to escape inquiry into what prompts his action. Or, viewed from another angle, if as few as 1 percent of all the employees were properly marked below the level of "Standard," there ought to be 400 cases immediately before the board, instead of 75 in four years.

8. The promotional policies of the State come near to making the state service a closed shop except at the lowest levels. We endorse the idea of a career system to encourage better service and a sense of security; but we also believe that a career in the state service should be earned by meeting competition from time to time. The policy of the State should be to promote from within when superior talent is available within; but there should be more effort to see what is available outside the service as well.

9 Every Member of the Legislature has heard complaints from constituents who were denied admission to state civil service examinations because they could not meet arbitrary standards of education and experience set up as a condition to being admitted to the examination. We believe that every job should be filled by a qualified appointee, but good examinations and not arbitrary standards must be the measure by which qualifications are measured We recommend broader standards of admission to examinations, and better tests to measure ability

10 There has been much emphasis on security under civil service. As protection against political abuse, that security is sound. But security without incentives to better service is deadening. As incentives to better service we urge that the report of performance system be made more realistic; that there be more competition with the outside in filling top jobs; that the top steps in the salary scales be reserved for the better employees; and that a suggestion system be created to reward helpful suggestions for the improvement of the service which an employee may offer above and beyond the requirements of his job

11 We find that too many state employees, whether supervisors or rank and file, do not know exactly what is expected of them, or what to do about it This requires on the one hand that the board and the departments give more attention to setting up standards of conduct and performance, and it means on the other hand that far more attention should be given to training employees—and particularly supervisors—in what they have to do. Abuses of state cars, abuses of the sick leave privilege, and other examples of laxity in departmental operations which have come to the attention of all of us are more often the fault of poor supervision than they are the result of wilfulness

12 On the many details of organization and procedure on which our staff report dwells, and on many points of personnel techniques, the members of the committee frankly do not feel qualified to comment. We have relied on an expert review of the situation, and as to these matters of operating detail we are content to accept an expert viewpoint. We are impressed with the many improvements that seem possible in organization and procedure, and we are confident that the adoption by the board of many of the recommendations will simplify and speed their work and will lighten their burdens Since many of the complaints we hear seem to reflect nothing more than the sheer burden of time-consuming personnel paperwork, we are sure that reform in that direction will produce greater satisfaction with the work of the board.

Respectfully submitted.

Sec. 12. (1) The net income shall be computed upon the basis of the taxpayer's annual accounting period, fiscal year or calendar year as the case may be, in accordance with the method of accounting regularly employed in keeping the books of such taxpayer; but if no such method of accounting has been so employed, or if the method employed does not clearly reflect the income, the computation shall be made in accordance with such method as in the opinion of said commissioner does clearly reflect the income. If the taxpayer's annual accounting period is other than a fiscal year, or if the taxpayer has no annual accounting period or does not keep books, the net income shall be computed on the basis of the callendar year.

(2) If, in the case of a taxpayer owning any noninterest-bearing obligation issued at a discount and redeemable for fixed amounts increasing at stated intervals, the increase in the redemption price of such obligation occurring in the income year does not (under the method of accounting used in computing its net income) constitute income to taxpayer in such year, such taxpayer may, at its election made in its return for any income year beginning after December 31, 1942, treat such increase as income received in such income year. If any such election is made with respect to any such obligation, it shall apply also to all such obligations owned by the taxpayer at the beginning of the first income year to which it applies and to all such obligations thereafter acquired by taxpayer and shall be binding for all subsequent income years, unless upon application by the taxpayer the commissioner permits taxpayer, subject to such conditions as the commissioner deems necessary, to change to a different method. In the case of any such obligations owned by the taxpayer at the beginning of the first income year to which its election applies, the increase in the redemption price of such obligations occurring between the date of acquisition and the first day of such income year shall also be treated as income received in such income year.

(3) If the taxpayer changes [his] its accounting period from fiscal year to calendar year, from calendar year to fiscal year, or from one fiscal year to another, the net income shall, with the approval of the commissioner, be computed on the basis of such new accounting period subject to the [following] provisions of paragraphs (a), (b) and (c) following:

(a) If a taxpayer, with the approval of the commissioner, changes the basis of computing net income from fiscal year to calendar year, a separate return shall be made for the period between the close of the last fiscal year for which return was made and the following December 31st. If the change is from calendar year to fiscal year, a separate return shall be made for the period between the close of the last calendar year for which return was made and the date designated as the beginning of the fiscal year. If the change is from one fiscal year to another fiscal year a separate return shall be made for the period between the close of the former fiscal year and the date designated as the beginning of the new fiscal year

(b) Where a separate return is made under paragraph (a) on account of a change in the accounting period then the income shall be computed on the basis of the period for which separate return is made. The due date of the separate return for such period is the fifteenth day of the third month following the close of that period.

(c) (1) If a separate return is made under paragraph (a) on account of a change in the accounting period, the net income, computed on the basis of the period for which separate return is made (referred to in this subsection as "the short period"), shall be placed on an annual basis by multiplying the amount thereof by 12, and dividing by the number of months in the short period. The commissioner shall compute the amount of a tax on the income placed on such annual basis, and shall allow the offset provided for in Sections 4 and 26 from such tax. The tax due under this section (which shall not be subject to offset) shall be such part of the tax (less the offset allowed) computed on such annual basis as the number of months in the short period is of 12 months.

(2) If the taxpayer establishes the amount of its net income for the period of 12 months beginning with the first day of the short period, computed as if such 12-month period were an income year, under the law applicable to such year, then the tax for the short period shall be reduced to an amount which is such part of the tax computed on the net income for such 12-month period as the net income computed on the basis of the short period is of the net income for the 12-month period. The taxpayer (other than a taxpayer to which the next sentence applies) shall compute the tax and file his return without the application of this paragraph. If the taxpayer has disposed of substantially all its assets prior to the end of such 12-month period, then in lieu of the net income for such 12-month period there shall be used for the purposes of this paragraph the net income for the 12-month period ending with the last day of the short period. The tax computed under this paragraph shall in no case be less than the tax computed on the net income for the short period without placing such net income on an annual basis. The benefits of this paragraph shall not be allowed unless the taxpayer, at such time as regulations prescribed hereunder require (but not after the time prescribed for the filing of the return for the first income year which ends on or after 12 months after the beginning of the short period), makes application therefor in accordance with such regulations. Such application, in case the return was filed without regard to this paragraph, shall be considered a claim for credit or refund with respect to the amount by which the tax is reduced under this paragraph. The commissioner shall prescribe such regulations as he may deem necessary for the application of this paragraph.

(d) The tax on any bank or corporation for a period beginning in one calendar year (hereinafter in this section called "first calendar year") and ending in the following calendar year (hereinafter in this section called "second calendar year") where the law applicable to the computation of taxes for calendar year banks or corporations for the second calendar year is different from the law applicable to computation of taxes for calendar year banks or corporations for the first calendar year, shall (except as otherwise provided) be the sum of: (1) The same proportion of a tax for the entire period, determined under the law applicable to the first calendar year and at the rates for such year, which the portion of such period falling within the first year is of the entire period; and (2) the same proportion of a tax for the entire period, determined under the law applicable to the second calendar year and at the rates for such year, which the portion of such period falling within the second calendar year is of the entire period.

Any tax that has been paid under the law applicable to the first calendar year if in excess of the tax imposed by this section shall be refunded or credited to the bank or corporation as provided in Section 27. Any tax in addition to that paid under the law applicable to the first calendar year made necessary by this section shall be immediately due and payable upon notice and demand from the commissioner.

(e) Where a corporation is engaged in the performance of a contract in this State which will require more than a year to complete, the commissioner may require that the income from the contract be reported on the basis of percentage of completion unless the corporation furnishes bond or other security guaranteeing the payment of a tax measured by the income received on the completion of the contract, even though the corporation is not doing business in this State in the year subsequent to the year of completion."

Amendment No. 17

On page 22 of the printed bill, between lines 30 and 47, insert

"Interest upon the amount determined as a deficiency shall be assessed and paid at the same time as the deficiency at the rate of 6 percentum per year from the date prescribed for the payment of the tax (or, if the tax is paid in installments, from the date prescribed for the payment of the first installment) to the date the deficiency is assessed; provided, however, if any portion of the deficiency is paid prior to the date it is assessed, interest shall accrue on such portion only to the date paid.

Where a deficiency, or any interest or additional amounts assessed in connection therewith, or any addition to the tax in case of delinquency provided for in subsection (a) of this section, is not paid in full within 10 days from the date of notice and demand from the commissioner, there shall be collected as a part of the tax, interest upon the unpaid amount at the rate of 6 percentum a year from the date of such notice and demand until it is paid."

If, for any reason, the receipt of such bank or corporation shall not be available, the commissioner shall deposit such excess moneys with the State Treasurer, as trustee for such owner, subject to the order of such bank or corporation or its successor through reorganization, merger, or consolidation, or its stockholders upon dissolution

"SEC. 3.5. Section 15 of the Corporation Income Tax Act is amended to read:

Sec. 15. (1) The net income shall be computed upon the basis of the taxpayer's annual accounting period, fiscal year or calendar year as the case may be, in accordance with the method of accounting regularly employed in keeping the books of such taxpayer; but if no such method of accounting has been so employed, or if the method employed does not clearly reflect the income, the computation shall be made in accordance with such method as in the opinion of said commissioner does clearly reflect the income. If the taxpayer's annual accounting period is other than a fiscal year, or if the taxpayer has no annual accounting period or does not keep books, the net income shall be computed on the basis of the calendar year.

(2) If, in the case of a taxpayer owning any noninterest-bearing obligation issued at a discount and redeemable for fixed amounts increasing at stated intervals, the increase in the redemption price of such obligation occurring in the taxable year

does not (under the method of accounting used in computing its net income) constitute income to taxpayer in such year, such taxpayer may, at its election made in its return for any taxable year beginning after December 31, 1942, treat such increase as income received in such taxable year. If any such election is made with respect to any such obligation, it shall apply also to all such obligations owned by the taxpayer at the beginning of the first taxable year to which it applies and to all such obligations thereafter acquired by taxpayer and shall be binding for all subsequent taxable years, unless upon application by taxpayer the commissioner permits taxpayer, subject to such conditions as the commissioner deems necessary, to change to a different method. In the case of any such obligations owned by the taxpayer at the beginning of the first taxable year to which its election applies, the increase in the redemption price of such obligations occurring between the date of acquisition and the first day of such taxable year shall also be treated as income received in such taxable year

(3) If the taxpayer changes its accounting period from fiscal year to calendar year, from calendar year to fiscal year, or from one fiscal year to another, the net income shall, with the approval of the commissioner, be computed on the basis of such new accounting period subject to the [following] provisions of paragraphs (a) and (b) following:

(a) If a taxpayer, with the approval of the commissioner, changes the basis of computing net income from fiscal year to calendar year, a separate return shall be made for the period between the close of the last fiscal year for which return was made and the following December 31st. If the change is from calendar year to fiscal year, a separate return shall be made for the period between the close of the last calendar year for which return was made and the date designated as the beginning of the fiscal year. If the change is from one fiscal year to another fiscal year a separate return shall be made for the period between the close of the former fiscal year and the date designated as the beginning of the new fiscal year.

(b) Where a separate return is made under paragraph (a) on account of a change in the accounting period then the income shall be computed on the basis of the period for which separate return is made. The due date of the separate return for such period is the fifteenth day of the third month following the close of that period

(c) The tax for any period beginning in one calendar year (hereinafter in this section called "first calendar year") and ending in the following calendar year (hereinafter in this section called "second calendar year") where the law applicable to the computation of taxes for the taxpayers reporting on a calendar year basis differs for the second calendar year from the law applicable to the first calendar year, shall (except as otherwise provided) be the sum of (1) the same proportion of a tax for the entire period, determined under the law applicable to the first calendar year and at the rates for such year, which the portion of such period falling within the first calendar year is of the entire period; and (2) the same proportion of a tax for the entire period, determined under the law applicable to the second calendar year and at the rates for such year, which the portion of such period falling within the second calendar year is of the entire period.

Any tax that has been paid under the law applicable to the first calendar year if in excess of the tax imposed by this section shall be refunded or credited to the taxpayer as provided in Section 20. Any tax in addition to that paid under the law applicable to the first calendar year made necessary by this section shall be immediately due and payable upon notice and demand from the commissioner."

The provisions of this section and other provisions of this act respecting the collection of such taxes shall apply to the collection of such taxes from such bank, corporation or person to the same extent and with the same force and effect as though such bank, corporation or person were the taxpayer.

(k) The amounts of the following liabilities shall, except as hereinafter provided in this subsection and subsection (l), be assessed, collected, and paid in the same manner and subject to the same provisions and limitations as in the case of a deficiency in a tax imposed by this act (including the provisions in the case of a delinquency in

(3) In the case of the liability of a fiduciary, not later than one year after the liability arises or not later than the expiration of the period for collection of the tax in respect of which such liability arises, whichever is the later;

(4) Where before the expiration of the time prescribed in paragraph (1), (2), or (3) for the assessment of the liability both the commissioner and the transferee or fiduciary have consented in writing to its assessment after such time, the liability may be assessed at any time prior to the expiration of the period agreed upon. The period so agreed upon may be extended by subsequent agreements in writing made before the expiration of the period previously agreed upon.

SEC. 6.5. Section 24 of the Corporation Income Tax Act is amended to read:

Sec. 24. (a) At any time within three years after the determination of liability for any tax, penalties, and interest, or any installment thereof, the commissioner may bring an action in a court of competent jurisdiction in the County of Sacramento in the name of the people of the State of California to collect the amount delinquent, together with penalties, and interest, and such action shall be tried in the County of Sacramento unless the court, with the consent of the Attorney General or the counsel for the commissioner, orders a change of place of trial. The Attorney General or the counsel for the commissioner must prosecute such action, and the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure, relating to service of summons, pleadings, proofs, trials, and appeals are applicable to the proceedings, herein provided for. In such action a writ of attachment may be issued, and no bond or affidavit previous to the issuing of said attachment is required. In such action a certificate by the commissioner showing the delinquency shall be prima facie evidence of the levy of the tax, penalties, and interest, of the delinquency and of compliance by the commissioner and the State Board of Equalization with all the provisions of this act in relation to the computation and levy of the tax.

[The period of limitation for assessment of any such liability of a transferee or fiduciary shall be as follows.

[(1) In the case of the liability of an initial transferee of the property of the taxpayer, within one year after the expiration of the period of limitation for assessment against the taxpayer;

[(2) In the case of the liability of a transferee of a transferee of the property of the taxpayer, within one year after the expiration of the period of limitation for assessment against the preceding transferee, but only if within three years after the expiration of the period of limitation for assessment against the taxpayer; except that if before the expiration of the period of limitation for the assessment of the liability of the transferee, a court proceeding for the collection of the tax or liability in respect thereof has been begun against the taxpayers or last preceding transferee, respectively, then the period of limitation for assessment of the liability of the transferee shall expire one year after the return of execution in the court proceeding.

[(3) In the case of the liability of a fiduciary, not later than one year after the liability arises or not later than the expiration of the period for collection of the tax in respect of which such liability arises, whichever is the later;

[(4) Where before the expiration of the time prescribed in paragraph (1), (2), or (3) for the assessment of the liability, both the commissioner and the transferee or fiduciary have consented in writing to its assessment after such time, the liability may be assessed at any time prior to the expiration of the period agreed upon. The period so agreed upon may be extended by subsequent agreements in writing made before the expiration of the period previously agreed upon.]

(b) At any time within which an action can be brought to collect any delinquent amounts as provided in the preceding paragraph, the commissioner may collect the tax, together with penalties and interest, in the following manner: The commissioner shall seize any personal property, owned by the corporation against whom the tax is assessed, and thereafter sell at public auction such property so seized, or a sufficient portion thereof, to pay the tax due hereunder, together with any interest, and any penalty or penalties imposed hereby for such delinquency, and any and all costs that may have been incurred on account of such seizure and sale. Notice of such intended sale and the time and place thereof, shall be given to such delinquent corporation and to all persons appearing of record to have an interest in such property, in writing at least ten days before the date set for such sale by inclosing such notice in an envelope addressed to said corporation at its last known place of business in this State if any, and, in the case of any person appearing of record to have an interest in such property, addressed to such person at the last known place of residence, if any, and depositing the same in the United States mail, postage prepaid, and by publication for at least ten days before the date set for such sale in a newspaper of general circulation published in the county or city and county in which the property seized is to be sold; provided, however, that if there be no newspaper of general circulation in such county or city and county, then by the posting of such notice in three public places in such county or city and county for said 10-day period. The said notice shall contain a description of the property to be sold, together with a statement of the amount of taxes, interest, penalties and costs, the name of the corporation, and the further statement that, unless such taxes, interest, penalties and cost are paid on or before the time fixed in said notice for such sale, said property, or so much thereof as may be necessary, will be sold in accordance with law and said notice.

At any such sale, the property shall be sold by said commissioner or his duly authorized agent in accordance with law and said notice, and the commissioner shall deliver to the purchaser a bill of sale for the property so sold and such bill of sale shall vest title in the purchaser. The unsold portion of any property so seized may be left at the place of sale at the risk of said corporation. If, upon any such sale, the moneys so received shall exceed the amount of all taxes, interest, penalties and costs due the State from such corporation, any such excess shall be returned to the corporation and a receipt therefor obtained; provided, however, that if any person having an interest in or lien upon the property has filed with the commissioner prior to any such sale notice of such interest or lien the commissioner shall withhold any such excess pending a determination of the rights of the respective parties thereto by a court of competent jurisdiction.

If, for any reason, the receipt of such corporation shall not be available, the commissioner shall deposit such excess moneys with the State Treasurer, as trustee for such owner, subject to the order of such corporation or its successor through reorganization, merger, or consolidation, or its stockholders upon dissolution.

(c) The commissioner may bring an appropriate action (whether in the form of a common law action of debt or indebitatus assumpsit, or a code or other action), in any court of competent jurisdiction in the United States or in a foreign country, in the name of the people of the State of California, to recover the amount of any taxes and interest due under this act. The Attorney General or the counsel for the commissioner of this State must prosecute such action.

(d) It is expressly provided that the foregoing remedies of the State shall be cumulative and that no action taken by the commissioner shall be or be construed to be an election on the part of the State or any of its officers to pursue any remedy hereunder to the exclusion of any other remedy for which provision is made in this act.

(e) If any tax, or any portion thereof, together with penalties, and interest thereon, which is due and payable either at the time the return is required to be filed or on or before the fifteenth day of the ninth month following the close of the income year, is not paid on or before 6 o'clock p.m. on the last day of the twelfth month after the close of the income year or if any tax due and payable upon notice and demand from the commissioner, together with penalties and interest thereon, is not paid on or before 6 o'clock p.m. on the last day of the eleventh month following the due date of such tax, except in the case of jeopardy or fraud assessments, in which case, if such tax, interest and penalties are not paid within forty days from the date such tax, penalties and interest are due and payable (unless the bond required by this act is filed to stay the collection of such tax, penalties and interest and such tax, interest and penalties are paid within sixty days after notice by the commissioner on taxpayer's petition for reassessment), the corporate powers, rights and privileges of the delinquent taxpayer shall be suspended and shall be incapable of being exercised in any manner which it is within the power of this State to prohibit; provided, that in any action or suit at law or in equity in which such suspended taxpayer shall seek to prosecute or shall be named as defendant, if such taxpayer has not been notified by the commissioner of its liability for tax, such action shall be continued on motion of the suspended taxpayer for a period of 90 days, or until such time as the tax determined by the commissioner to be due shall be paid, whichever expires or occurs the earlier. The certificate of the commissioner setting forth that the suspended taxpayer has been notified of its liability for tax under this act and that such tax has not been paid, shall constitute prima facie evidence of such facts. The suspension shall be terminated on payment of the tax, and the certificate of the commissioner that the tax has been paid shall be evidence of the termination of the suspension.

[(f) The taxes imposed by this act upon any taxpayer for which any bank, corporation or person other than the taxpayer is liable, at law or in equity, may be assessed against such bank, corporation or person in the same manner as is provided in Section 19 of the assessment of deficiencies and may be assessed at any time within which deficiency assessments may be made against the taxpayer. The provisions of this section and other provisions of this act respecting the collection of such taxes shall apply to the collection of such taxes from such bank, corporation or person to the same extent and with the same force and effect as though such bank, corporation or person were the taxpayer.]"

30202. The amount of the determination, exclusive of penalties, shall bear interest at the rate of one-half of 1 percent per month, or fraction thereof, from the fifteenth day after the close of the month for which the amount of the tax, or any portion thereof, should have been reported until the date of payment.

30222. In making a determination the board may offset overpayments for a month or months against underpayments for another month or months and against interest and penalties on the underpayments

30223 The amount of the determination, exclusive of penalties, shall bear interest at the rate of one-half of 1 percent per month, or fraction thereof, from the fifteenth day after the close of the month for which the amount, or any portion thereof, should have been reported until the date of payment.

30224. If the failure of a distributor to file a report is due to fraud or an intent to evade the tax, a penalty of 25 percent of the amount required to be paid by the distributor, exclusive of penalties, shall be added thereto in addition to the 10 percent penalty provided in Section 30221.

30225. Promptly after making its determination the board shall give to the distributor written notice of its estimate and determination, and penalty, the notice to be served personally or by mail in the manner prescribed for service of notice of a deficiency determination.

Article 4. Jeopardy Determinations

30242 If the amount of the tax, interest, and penalty specified in the jeopardy determination is not paid within 10 days after service upon the distributor of notice of the determination, the determination becomes final, unless a petition for redetermination is filed within the 10 days, and the delinquency penalty and interest provided in Article 6 of this chapter shall attach to the amount specified.

30243. The distributor against whom a jeopardy determination is made may petition for the redetermination thereof pursuant to Article 5 of this chapter. He shall, however, file the petition for redetermination with the board within 10 days after the service upon him of notice of the determination The distributor shall at the time of filing the petition for redetermination deposit with the board such security as it may deem necessary to insure compliance with this part. The security may be sold by the board in the manner prescribed by Section 30151.

Article 5. Redeterminations

30261 Any distributor against whom a determination is made under Article 2 or 3 of this chapter may petition for a redetermination within 15 days after service upon the distributor of notice thereof. If a petition for redetermination is not filed within the 15-day period, the determination becomes final at the expiration of the period.

30262 If a petition for redetermination is filed within the 15-day period, the board shall reconsider the determination and, if the distributor has so requested in his petition, shall grant him an oral hearing and shall give him at least 10 days' notice of the time and place of the hearing. The board may continue the hearing from time to time as may be necessary.

30263 The order or decision of the board upon a petition for redetermination becomes final 15 days after mailing of notice thereof

30264. All determinations made by the board under Article 2 or 3 of this chapter are due and payable at the time they become final. If they are not paid when due and payable, a penalty of 10 percent of the amount of the determination, exclusive of interest and penalties, shall be added thereto.

30265. Any notice required by this article shall be served personally or by mail in the manner prescribed for service of notice of a deficiency determination

Article 6. Interest and Penalties

Article 1. Suit for Tax

30301. At any time within three years after any amount of tax becomes due and payable and at any time within three years after the last recording of a certificate under Section 30322, the board may transmit notice of the delinquency to the Attorney General who shall at once proceed by appropriate legal action to collect all sums due the State.

30302. In the action a writ of attachment may issue, and no bond or affidavit previous to the issuing of the attachment is required.

30303. In the action a certificate by the board showing the delinquency shall be prima facie evidence of the levy of the tax, of the delinquency of the amount of tax, interest, and penalty set forth, and of compliance by the board with all provisions of this part in relation to the computation and levy of the tax.

Article 2. Priority and Lien of Tax

30321. The amounts required to be paid by any person under this part together with interest and penalties shall be satisfied first in any of the following cases:

(a) Whenever the person is insolvent.

(b) Whenever the person makes a voluntary assignment of his assets.

(c) Whenever the estate of the person in the hands of executors, administrators, or heirs is insufficient to pay all the debts due from the deceased.

(d) Whenever the estate and effects of an absconding, concealed, or absent person required to pay any amount under this part are levied upon by process of law.

This section does not give the State a preference over any recorded lien which attached prior to the date when the amounts required to be paid became a lien

The preference given to the State by this section shall be subordinate to the preferences given to claims for personal services by Sections 1204 and 1206 of the Code of Civil Procedure

30322. If any amount required to be paid to the State under this part is not paid when due, the board may within three years after the amount is due file for record in the office of any county recorder a certificate specifying the amount, interest, and penalty due, the name and address as it appears on the records of the board of the person liable for the same, and the fact that the board has complied with all provisions of this part in the determination of the amount required to be paid. From the time of the filing for record, the amount required to be paid together with interest and penalty constitutes a lien upon all real property in the county owned by the person or afterwards and before the lien expires acquired by him The lien has the force, effect, and priority of a judgment lien and shall continue for five years from the time of the filing of the certificate unless sooner released or otherwise discharged. The lien may, within five years from the date of the filing of the certificate or within five years from the date of the last extension of the lien in the manner herein provided, be extended by filing for record a new certificate in the office of the county recorder of any county and from the time of such filing the lien shall be extended to the real property and such county for five years unless sooner released or otherwise discharged.

30323. The board may at any time release all or any portion of the property subject to any lien provided for in this part from the lien or subordinate the lien to other liens and encumbrances if it determines that the amount, interest, and penalties are sufficiently secured by a lien on other property or that the release or subordination of the lien will not jeopardize the collection of the amount, interest, and penalties.

30324. A certificate by the board to the effect that any property has been released from the lien or that the lien has been subordinated to other liens and encumbrances shall be conclusive evidence that the property has been released or that the lien has been subordinated as provided in the certificate.

Article 3. Warrant for Collection of Tax

30341. At any time within three years after any person is delinquent in the payment of any amount herein required to be paid, or within three years after the last recording of a certificate under Section 30322, the board or its authorized representative may issue a warrant for the enforcement of any liens and for the collection of any amount required to be paid to the State under this part. The warrant shall be directed to any sheriff, marshal or constable and shall have the same effect as a writ of execution. The warrant shall be levied and sale made pursuant to it in the same manner and with the same effect as a levy of and a sale pursuant to a writ of execution.

30342 The board shall pay the sheriff, marshal or constable, upon the completion of his services pursuant to a warrant, the same fees, commissions, and expenses for his services as are provided by law for similar services pursuant to a writ of execution. The board, and not the court, shall approve the fees for publication in a newspaper.

30343. The fees, commissions, and expenses are the obligation of the person required to pay any amount under this part and may be collected from him by virtue of the warrant or in any other manner provided in this part for the collection of the tax.

Article 4. Miscellaneous Provisions

30351. The remedies of the State provided for in this chapter are cumulative, and no action taken by the board or Attorney General constitutes an election by the State to pursue any remedy to the exclusion of any other remedy for which provision is made in this part.

30352. In all proceedings under this chapter the board may act on behalf of the people of the State of California.

CHAPTER 6. OVERPAYMENTS AND REFUNDS

Article 1. Claim for Refund

30361. If the board determines that any amount not required to be paid under this part has been paid by any person, the board shall set forth in its records and certify to the State Board of Control the amount paid in excess of the amount legally due and the person by whom the excess was paid to the board. If the State Board of Control approves, the excess shall be credited on any amounts then due and payable from the person under this part, and the balance shall be refunded to the person, or his successors, administrators, executors, or assigns.

30362 No credit or refunds shall be allowed after three years from the date of overpayment unless a claim therefor is filed with the board within three years from the date of overpayment.

30363. The claim shall be in writing and shall state the specific grounds upon which it is founded.

30364. In the case, however, of a determination by the board that an amount not exceeding twenty-five dollars ($25) was not required to be paid under this part, the board without obtaining approval of the State Board of Control, may credit the amount on any amounts then due and payable under this part from the person by whom the amount was paid and may refund the balance to the person or his successors, administrators, or executors.

Article 2. Recovery of Erroneous Refunds

30381. The board may recover any refund or part thereof which is erroneously made and any credit or part thereof which is erroneously allowed in an action brought in a court of competent jurisdiction in the County of Sacramento in the name of the people of the State of California.

30382 The action shall be tried in the County of Sacramento unless the court with the consent of the Attorney General orders a change of place of trial.

30383. The Attorney General shall prosecute the action, and the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure relating to service of summons, pleadings, proofs, trials, and appeals are applicable to the proceedings.

Article 3. Suit for Refund

30401. No injunction or writ of mandate or other legal or equitable process shall issue in any suit, action, or proceeding in any court against this State or against any officer of the State to prevent or enjoin the collection under this part of any amount of tax or to prevent or enjoin the revocation of any license issued under this part or any other action whereby it is sought to enforce the payment of any amounts required to be paid.

30402. After payment of any amount, the person making the payment may bring an action against the board in a court of competent jurisdiction in the County of Sacramento for the recovery of the amount paid.

30403. No action may be instituted more than ninety days after the payment of the amount sought to be recovered. Failure to bring suit within ninety days constitutes a waiver of any demand against the State on account of alleged overpayments

30404. If judgment is rendered for the plaintiff, the amount of the judgment shall first be credited on any amounts due from the plaintiff under this part, and the balance of the judgment shall be refunded to the plaintiff. In any judgment, interest shall be allowed at the rate of 6 percent per annum upon the amount found to have been illegally collected from the date of payment of the amount to the date of allowance of credit on account of the judgment or to a date preceding the date of the refund warrant by not more than thirty days, the date to be determined by the board

30405 A judgment shall not be rendered in favor of the plaintiff in any action brought against the board to recover any amount paid when the action is brought by or in the name of an assignee of the person making the payment or by any person other than the person making the payment

Article 4. Cancellations

30421. If any amount has been illegally determined, the board shall set forth in its records and certify to the State Board of Control the amount determined in excess of the amount legally due and the person against whom the determination was made. If the State Board of Control approves, it shall authorize the cancellation of the amount upon the records of the board.

CHAPTER 7. ADMINISTRATION

30454 The board or its authorized representative may examine the books, papers, records, and equipment of any person dealing in, transporting, or storing cigarettes and may investigate the character of the disposition which the person makes of the cigarettes in order to ascertain whether all taxes due under this part are being properly reported and paid.

30455. It is unlawful for the board or any person having an administrative duty under this part to make known in any manner whatever the business affairs, operations, or information obtained by an investigation of records and equipment of any person visited or examined in the discharge of official duty, or the amount or source of income, profits, losses, expenditures, or any particular thereof, set forth or disclosed in any report, or to permit any report or copy thereof or any book containing any abstract or particulars thereof to be seen or examined by any person However, the Governor may, by general or special order, authorize examination of the reports by other state officers, by tax officers of another state, by the Federal Government, if a reciprocal arrangement exists, or by any other person.

God of Liberty: May we hear today the universal demand for a free world issuing from the lips of all the oppressed and irrepressible within our own hearts.

Let us demand a world where men are free to express their opinions without the threat of intimidation.

A world where the agencies of publicity, the press and the radio, are never controlled by merely selfish interests, and a world where the masses of the people can learn the ungarbled facts.

Let us be warned by the police states which suppress freedom and stifle their own genius and progress.

May the Goddess of Liberty ever stand before us without a padlock on her lips—AMEN.

Sec. 55.65. (b) Exemptions. This section shall not apply to the following transactions.

1. Sales of bulk wine, except where bulk wine is sold and bottled by the seller for the purchaser, in which case posting shall be required as herein provided for bottled wine.

2. Sales to a buyer without the State when one of the terms and conditions of the sale is the shipment of the wine out of the State

3. Sales between corporations where one corporation owns all or substantially all of the issued capital stock of the other, or between corporations which are controlled by one other corporation, directly or indirectly, through ownership of issued capital stock or between corporations when all or substantially all of the capital stock of both corporations is owned by the same persons.

4. Sales to wine growers, wine rectifiers, rectifiers, or to consumers for consumption on the premises.

5. Sales by wholesalers to other wholesalers where the selling wholesaler does not own or control the brand of wine.

(c) Trading Areas. For the purpose of providing different selling or resale prices, the State may be divided into trading areas as hereinafter defined. For the Southern California and the Northern California trading areas the selling and resale prices shall be specified prices; for the mountain trading area the selling prices to wholesalers shall be specified prices but the selling and resale prices to retailers and consumers may be minimum prices provided that the minimum prices shall not be less than the specified prices for the Northern California trading area.

(d) Who Shall Make Fair Trade Contracts and Post Price Schedules. 1. Each wine grower, each wine rectifier, and each rectifier shall.

Post a "Schedule of Selling Prices" if he sells wine to wholesalers, retailers, or consumers for which his resale price is not governed by a fair trade contract made by the person who owns or controls the brand.

Make and file a fair trade contract and file a "Schedule of Resale Prices" if he owns or controls a brand of wine resold to retailers or consumers.

2. Each wine wholesaler shall:

Post a "Schedule of Selling Prices" if he sells wine to other wholesalers for which he owns or controls the brand, or if he sells wine to retailers or consumers for which his resale price is not governed by a fair trade contract made by the person who owns or controls the brand.

Make and file a fair trade contract and file a "Schedule of Resale Prices" if he owns or controls a brand of wine resold to retailers or consumers.

5. Each off-sale retailer who owns or controls a brand of wine sold to consumers shall post a "Schedule of Selling Prices" for such brand.

(f) Prices. Basic posted price and basic resale price shall include customs duties, if any, federal and California excise taxes, California Marketing Order assessment, if applicable, plus any other legal charge not required to be shown in the price schedule except California sales tax. Selling price and resale price shall be the basic selling price or the basic resale price, respectively, less discounts, plus broken case charges contained in the applicable price schedule or fair trade contract.

Quantity discounts to retailers shall not exceed the following:

Post-dated checks or checks returned for nonpayment shall not be deemed the equivalent of cash. Prompt payment discounts to retailers shall not exceed 1 percent for payment in cash within ten days after date of delivery.

Permitted discounts shall not be taken in merchandise.

(h) Filing, Effective Dates, and Changes. Fair trade contracts and price schedules for wine available for sale on November 1, 1949, shall be made and filed on or before October 15, 1949. Fair trade contracts in effect on the effective date of this rule shall continue to be effective through October 31, 1949. Fair trade contracts and price schedules for wine available for sale for the first time after November 1, 1949, shall be made and filed on or before the tenth of any month.

Adding an item to, removing an item from, or changing any charge, discount, or price contained in, any price schedule or fair trade contract shall constitute a change. Monthly changes shall be filed on or before the tenth of any month. Changes to lower an effective price to meet a competitive selling or resale price for the same or similar item of wine shall be filed on or before the twentieth of any month and shall be accompanied by the name and address of the competitor whose price is being met, with a complete identification of the competing item, including the price. A change of price to meet a competitor's price may be a reduction by any amount desired, but in no event shall the reduction be to an amount below the competing price.

If a change occurs in the body of a fair trade contract a copy of the changed fair trade contract shall be filed at the same time that the changed price schedule affected thereby is filed.

Price schedules, fair trade contracts, or changes therein shall become effective on the first day of the month following the month of filing.

(i) Public Inspection. The board shall make price schedules or monthly changes therein, or a composite thereof, available for public inspection by the fifteenth of every month.

(j) Publication or Mailing. Except for wine growers selling only to consumers at their licensed premises, every person filing a price schedule or change therein, shall, at least once on or before the twenty-fifth of the month in which filed, publish the price schedule or change in a trade journal or industry price book, printed and published in this State and of general circulation among licensees in this State. In case of industry price books which are of general circulation among licensees in only some of the trading areas, the publication shall be in one industry price book of general circulation in each trading area.

Instead of publishing, the licensee may mail his price schedule or any changes therein to all licensees affected thereby. Schedules of changes shall be deposited in the United States Post Office on or before the date required for publication, and the mailing shall be deemed completed at the time of such deposit. Within five days after the mailing, the licensee shall file with the board a list of names and addresses of the licensees to whom such price schedules or changes are mailed, together with an affidavit of the person who deposited the schedules in envelopes addressed to the licensees whose names and addresses are set forth in such list. Such affidavit shall be prima facie evidence of the facts stated therein.

Wine growers selling only to consumers at their licensed premises need not publish or mail their price schedules as herein provided, but shall post said schedules in that portion of their premises where sales are made where they can be readily inspected by consumers.

(k) "Close-outs" and Damaged Wine. No licensee shall make any "close-out" sale under the implied condition provided for by Section 55.5 (b) (1), or any sale under the implied condition provided for by Section 55.5 (b) (2), of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Act except after receiving permission from the board, which shall determine whether the proposed sale is bona fide.

Permission to sell under the provisions of Section 55.5 (b) (1) shall be granted only if it appears that the stock of wine sought to be closed out has been on the market in this State for a period of not less than six months and was not brought into this State for the purpose of offering it, or any part of it, at a close-out sale.

Permission to sell under the provisions of Section 55.5 (b) (2) shall be granted only if it shall appear that the facts of the case warrant the sale of the wine affected as damaged or deteriorated.

A "close-out" sale under this rule shall be construed to mean a bona fide close-out of a particular item of wine in the California market. Label changes which do not pertain to the class or type of wine, the vintage date, or the special or gift package, shall not be deemed to be "close-outs" within the meaning of this paragraph (k).

Petitions for permission to make close-out sales, or sales of damaged or deteriorated wine shall state a full and complete description of the wine involved, in such detail as to distinguish such wines from all others, and shall include the federal serial numbers, if any, of the cases involved. The number of cases or bottles involved shall also be stated. The petitioner shall agree not to sell or handle the item closed out for at least six months after the close-out.

(l) Sales Below Cost and Price Discriminations. The sale of any wine by a licensee in violation of Part 2, Division 7, Chapter 4 of the California Business and Professions Code, entitled "Unfair Trade Practices," is prohibited and shall be a violation of this section.
