(m) Circumvention of Section. Except as otherwise provided in this section, the giving of, or offering to give, any rebate, free goods, combination deal, premium, allowance, unauthorized discount, floor stocks adjustment, or any other thing or service of value, directly or indirectly, in connection with the sale of wine subject to this section, or, in any other way circumventing this section to effect a sale at a price other than the price shown in the applicable price schedule, shall be a violation of this section; provided, however, that this provision shall not prohibit any cooperative buying group holding a federal wholesaler's basic permit on October 1, 1949, from giving, or its members from receiving, dividends or other adjustments based upon the amount of wine received by the member through the cooperative buying group. In all other respects cooperative buying groups shall be considered as wholesalers selling to retailers.

This section shall not prohibit the furnishing of samples, advertising matter, and other selling aids as may be authorized by this act and rules and regulations issued thereunder.

This section shall not prohibit the return to the seller for exchange for the same items in good condition of any wine which is defective or damaged if written permission to do so is first obtained from the board, or if the return is pursuant to court order, or, without the permission of the board, if the return of individual lots from one licensee during any one month to any one other licensee is less than five gallons.

(n) Penalties. For a violation of any of the provisions of this section or rules and regulations adopted pursuant hereto, the board may suspend or revoke a license as follows:

For a first offense, not exceeding 10 days' suspension;

For a second offense, not exceeding 30 days' suspension;

For a third offense, the board may suspend or revoke a license.

(o) The board may adopt such rules and regulations it may determine to be necessary for the administration of this section.

(p) Definitions. Words and phrases used in this section shall have the meanings given them by this act except as otherwise indicated in this section:

1. "Bottled" wine means wine packaged in individual containers of one gallon or less.

2. "Bulk" wine means wine packaged in individual containers of over one gallon or wine transferred via pipe line or shipped in tank cars or tank trucks.

3. "Class" and "type" of wine shall mean class and type as defined or provided for by regulations of the United States Treasury Department and the California State Department of Public Health.

4. "Consumer" means a person who buys wine for consumption off the premises where sold.

5. "Effective" means a fair trade contract or price schedule, including changes therein filed, published, and in effect.

6. "File" or "post" means to mail or deliver fair trade contracts, price schedules, or changes thereto, to the Sacramento office of the board.

7. "Item" of wine means wine that differs from any and all other wine in its brand name, secondary brand name, form of label, class or type, vintage date, special or gift package, number of bottles in a case, or size of bottles. An item of wine is similar where all the elements listed above are the same except its brand name, or secondary brand name, or form of label.

8. "Licensee" means any person holding a license issued by the board which authorizes the sale of wine.

9. "Person" shall also include any California licensee or any person without the State who sells wine to licensees.

10 "Sell" shall also include advertisements and contracts to sell.

11. Trading Areas: "Northern California" shall consist of all counties lying north of the southern boundaries of San Luis Obispo, Kern, and Inyo Counties which are not included in "Mountain." "Southern California" shall consist of all the counties lying south of said boundaries. "Mountain" shall consist of the Counties of Del Norte, Siskiyou, Modoc, Shasta, Humboldt, Lassen, Tehama, Plumas, Sierra, Nevada, Placer, El Dorado, Amador, Alpine, Tuolumne, Mono, and Inyo.

12. "Wholesaler" means a person licensed by the board to sell wine at wholesale to other wholesalers or retailers but does not include a licensed wine grower, wine rectifier, or rectifier when such licensee is not buying or selling in his capacity as a wholesaler.

SEC. 2. Section 40 of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Act is amended to read:

Sec. 40. Complaints Against Licensees Complaints may be made to the board by any person against any licensee. Complaints must be in writing and must state a violation of Section 38e or one or more grounds which would authorize the board to suspend or revoke the license or licenses of the licensee against whom the complaint is made.

A written report of a member of the board or of an employee of the board engaged in the enforcement of this act, or of a public officer disclosing a violation of Section 38e or one or more grounds for the suspension or revocation of the license or licenses of any licensee shall be deemed a complaint against the licensee within the meaning of this act, even though not in the form of a complaint

The following are the grounds which constitute a basis for the suspension or the revocation of licenses:

1 When the continuance of such license would be contrary to public welfare or morals; but proceedings under Section 40 upon this ground shall be deemed a limitation upon the board's authority to proceed under Article XX, Section 22 of the Constitution of this State.

2. Except as limited by Section s 38e and 55.65 hereof, the violation or the causing or the permitting of a violation by a licensee of (a) this act, (b) any rules and regulations of the board adopted under the provisions of this act, (c) any other penal provisions of law of this State prohibiting or regulating the sale, exposing for sale, use, possession, giving away, adulteration, dilution, misbranding or mislabeling of alcoholic beverages or intoxicating liquors

3. The misrepresentation of a material fact by any applicant in obtaining any license hereunder.

4. The plea, verdict or judgment of guilty to any public offense involving moral turpitude or under any federal law prohibiting or regulating the sale, exposing for sale, use, possession, or giving away of alcoholic beverages or intoxicating liquors or prohibiting the refilling or reuse of distilled spirits containers charged against the licensee.

SEC. 3. Section 55 6 of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Act is amended to read:

Sec. 55 6. Distilled Spirits Fair Trade Contracts and Price Posting. The provisions of Section 55.5 shall apply to the containers, cartons, cases or bottles for alcoholic beverages.

All distilled spirits sold at retail shall be, and any other alcoholic beverage may be, sold pursuant to a contract executed under the provisions of Section 55 5 of this act [.] ; provided that the provisions of Section 55.65 of this act shall govern the sale of wine in all cases where said section is applicable. No licensee shall violate any of the provisions of said contract.

Every distilled spirits manufacturer, brandy manufacturer, rectifier and wholesaler shall file and maintain with the board a price list showing the prices at which distilled spirits are sold to retailers by such licensee. Sales of distilled spirits to retailers by each distilled spirits manufacturer, brandy manufacturer, rectifier and wholesaler shall be made in compliance with the price list of such licensee on file with the board.

The board may adopt such rules and regulations as it may determine to be necessary for the administration of this section."

Mr. Fletcher asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent that he be permitted to take up House Resolution No. 130, at this time.

CONSIDERATION OF HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 130

House Resolution No. 130

Relative to the creation of a committee to investigate the attempts to nullify the use by the people of their constitutional rights through the initiative to make laws and to see such laws when adopted are given a fair opportunity to work

WHEREAS, No sooner had the majority of the people voted on November 2, 1948, old age security and security for the blind into law as the Twenty-fifth Amendment to the State Constitution than those who opposed its enactment immediately commenced a campaign for its repeal; and

WHEREAS, This repeal move is unprecedented in the history of our State and threatens to undermine the confidence of the people in the initiative and in our constitutional form of government; and

WHEREAS, Members of the Legislature are besieged by inquiries from frantic and disturbed needy aged and blind who believe and are being told that their welfare is threatened; and

WHEREAS, Members of the Legislature receiving such pleas for information are not fully aware of all sides of the question and therefore cannot advise their constituents regarding their welfare; and

WHEREAS, Legislation is now before the State Legislature to assist the State Department of Social Welfare, in its compliance with Article XXV and such legislation can best be considered after a thorough and impartial investigation by a competent and informed legislative committee; and

WHEREAS, Legislation is now being proposed and considered that directly or indirectly affects the State Department of Social Welfare and recipients of old age security and security for the blind which measure the legislators may be hesitant to act because of the uncertainty of the future due to said repeal agitation; and now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California

(1) The Committee to Investigate the Attempts to Repeal Article XXV of the Constitution, and to Study the Mechanics of Said Article is hereby created, authorized, appointed, and directed to investigate, ascertain, collate, appraise, study and analyze all facts directly or indirectly relating to the foregoing.

(2) In addition to other duties imposed upon the committee, the committee shall investigate and study the activities of persons, publicists, groups and organizations who have as their object to repeal Article XXV of the State Constitution.

(3) The committee consists of five Members of the Assembly appointed by the Speaker.

(4) The committee is authorized to act during the session of the Legislature, including any recess, and after final adjournment until final adjournment of the next regular session with authority to file its report not later than the last legislative day of the next regular session.

(5) The committee has the following additional powers and duties:

(a) To select a chairman and a vice chairman and to employ and fix the compensation of a secretary and such clerical investigative expert and technical assistants as it may deem necessary.

(b) To create subcommittees from its membership, assigning to the subcommittees any study, inquiry, investigation or hearing which the committee itself has authority to undertake or hold, and the subcommittee for the purpose of this assignment shall have and exercise all of the powers conferred upon the committee limited by the express terms of the resolution or resolutions of the latter defining the powers and duties of the subcommittee which powers may be withdrawn or terminated at any time by the committee.

(c) To adopt and from time to time amend such rules governing its procedure (including and the fixing of its own quorum and the number of votes necessary to take action on any matter) as may to it appear appropriate

(d) To contract with such other agencies public or private as it deems necessary for the rendition and affording of such services, facilities and reports to the committee as will best assist it to carry out the purposes for which it is created.

(e) To meet at the State Capitol or at any other place in this State or within the United States, and to expend funds made available to it by this resolution for charges, expenses, or claims incurred or expended for traveling, living or other expenses within or outside the limits of the State of California.

(f) To summon and subpena witnesses, require the production of papers, books, accounts, reports, documents, and records of every kind and description, to issue subpenas and to take all necessary means to compel the attendance of witnesses and procure testimony.

(g) To cooperate with and secure the cooperation of county, city and county, and other law enforcement agencies, and also civic and private organization in investigating any matter within the scope of this resolution and to direct the sheriff of any county to serve subpenas, orders and other process issued by the committee.

(h) To report its findings and recommendations to the Legislature and to the people from time to time and at any time not later than herein provided

(i) To do any and all other things necessary or convenient to enable it fully and adequately to exercise its powers, perform its duties, and accomplish the object and purposes of this resolution.

(6) The committee, each of its members, and any representatives of the committee thereunto authorized by the committee or by its chairman is authorized and empowered to administer oaths.

(7) Every department, commission, board, agency, officer, and employee of the State Government, including the Legislative Counsel, the Attorney General and their subordinates, and of any political subdivision, county, city, or public district of or in the State shall furnish the committee and any subcommittee upon request any and all such assistance, and information records, and documents as the committee or subcommittee deems proper for the accomplishment of the purposes for which the committee is created.

(8) The sum of ten thousand dollars ($10,000) or as much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby made available from the Contingent Fund of the Assembly for the expenses of the committee and its members and for any charges, expenses or claims it may incur under this resolution, to be paid from said Contingent Fund and disbursed after certification by the chairman of the committee, upon warrants drawn by the State Controller upon the State Treasury.

Resolution read.

Motion to Amend

Mr. Huyck moved the adoption of the following amendment:

Amendment No. 1

Strike out the title and text of the printed measure as printed on pages 1175 and 1176 of the Assembly Journal for March 18, 1949, and insert

"Relative to directing the Assembly Interim Committee on Governmental Efficiency and Economy to investigate the problems arising out of the adoption of Article XXV of the State Constitution

WHEREAS, The adoption of Article XXV of the Constitution, designated therein as the Old Age Security and Security for the Blind Law, at the general election held on November 2, 1948, has effected extensive changes in the state programs for old-age assistance and aid to the needy blind and in the State Department of Social Welfare; and

WHEREAS, The effect of the said Article XXV upon the organization and administrative operations of the State Department of Social Welfare is not fully known to and understood by the Members of the Assembly, but there has been general discussion and debate as to the existence of and relationship, if any, between the State Social Welfare Board appointed by the Governor prior to the adoption of the said Article XXV, and the board or committee which the Director of the State Department of Social Welfare is authorized by Section 4 of Article XXV to appoint, with the consent of the Senate; and

WHEREAS, There have been reports in the public press that certain former officials of the State Department of Social Welfare and others have been offered and have accepted positions on the said board or committee, and subsequent recent reports that those persons have withdrawn their acceptances thereof or have resigned therefrom, but the facts are neither a matter of public record, nor known to the Members of the Assembly; and

WHEREAS, The Members of the Assembly are informed that federal funds for old-age assistance and aid to the needy blind were withheld from the State from January 1, 1949, until a date late in February, 1949, on the ground that the state plans for such assistance and aid, as modified by Article XXV and the rules adopted by the Director of the State Department of Social Welfare, had not been found by the Federal Security Administrator to be in conformity with the Federal Social Security Act, and that such approval has now been secured and such federal funds have now been made available to this State, but the information of Members of the Assembly on these matters is derived from unofficial sources, and neither the specific facts nor the reasons for federal action are known to the Members of the Assembly; and

WHEREAS, It is essential that the Members of the Assembly, in order to exercise their legislative function, should have complete and accurate information as to the nature and scope of the financial obligations of the State under Article XXV of the Constitution in relation to the general problem of state finances; and

WHEREAS, The assumption by the State of the full administration of old-age security and security for the blind will increase the need of the State Department of Social Welfare for competent and experienced employees to perform the functions in relation thereto previously performed by officers and employees of the counties, and at the same time lessen the need of the counties for the services of such officers and employees, and there are bills pending before the Legislature to provide for employment of such county officers and employees by the State Department of Social Welfare and for the protection of the rights of the individuals affected, and

WHEREAS, The Members of the Assembly are not fully cognizant of the nature and scope of the problems arising out of the adoption of Article XXV, the necessity for legislation to implement Article XXV, and the present extent of the power of the Legislature to exercise legislative control over old-age security, security for the blind, and the State Department of Social Welfare; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Assembly Interim Committee on Governmental Efficiency and Economy is hereby authorized and directed to ascertain, study, and analyze all facts relating to Article XXV of the Constitution, the subject matter thereof, and the problems arising therefrom, including but not limited to the matters hereinabove set forth, and to report thereon to the Assembly not later than May 15, 1949; and be it further

Resolved, That the sum of ten thousand dollars ($10,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby made available from the Contingent Fund of the Assembly for the expenses of the Assembly Interim Committee on Governmental Efficiency and Economy and its members and for any charges, expenses, or claims incurred by the committee in the exercise of its functions, to be paid from said Contingent Fund and disbursed, after certification by the chairman of the committee, upon warrants drawn by the State Controller upon the State Treasurer."

Request for Unanimous Consent That Amendment Be Deemed Read

Mr. Kirkwood asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent that, in the interest of time, the amendment offered by Mr. Huyck to House Resolution No. 130 be deemed read, and that Mr. Huyck be permitted to explain his amendment, at this time.

The question being on the adoption of the amendment offered by Mr. Huyck to House Resolution No. 130.

ASSEMBLY CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, March 25, 1949

Hon. Goodwin J. Knight, President of the Senate
Hon. Sam L. Collins, Speaker of the Assembly
State Capitol, Sacramento, California

HONORABLE SIRS: The Joint Interim Committee on Legislative Constitutional Revision, created by Resolutions Chapter 197, 1947 General Session and continued by Resolutions Chapter 51, 1949 General Session, herewith files a report of its investigations, studies, and recommendations.

As the report shows, your committee received the unselfish and invaluable assistance and cooperation of literally hundreds of public spirited citizens who gave generously of their time and efforts, and the capable services of Norris J. Burke, General Counsel for the committee and his staff.

It is a matter of personal regret to the present chairman and the members of the committee, that the Honorable Alfred W. Robertson chose to terminate his legislative career before this report is rendered, and that another must sign as chairman in his place It is but fitting to state that the unflagging enthusiasm and the genius for organization of such a tremendous project displayed by the Honorable Alfred W. Robertson have made the labors of this committee fruitful and have been invaluable to this State.

Respectfully submitted,

RICHARD J. DOLWIG, Chairman

REPORT OF THE JOINT INTERIM COMMITTEE ON LEGISLATIVE CONSTITUTIONAL REVISION

(I)

The Organization

At the initial meeting of this committee at Sacramento on June 24, 1947, Assemblyman Alfred W. Robertson was elected chairman, and Senator George J. Hatfield was elected vice chairman. The chairman was delegated general authority to organize, supervise, and arrange for, the carrying out of the undertaking, work, and functions, of this committee as provided in the resolution.

In August, 1947, the chairman and vice chairman, assisted by Hon Fred B Wood, Legislative Counsel, established a headquarters for this committee in the County Court House in Santa Barbara; and appointed Dr. Norris J. Burke as general counsel and coordinator. At the same time, and immediately following, steps were taken to collect a bibliography and the literature in the field; to inform the public of the project and invite its participation; to appoint an "advisory" committee as provided in the resolution; to establish subcommittees to consider revision of specific subject matter committed to their jurisdictions; and to arrange for a general and public "opening" meeting, with a panel of prominent speakers, followed by a first meeting of each subcommittee.

As a major portion of the organizational work, a large advisory committee was selected and appointed Every known specialist, authority, and expert, in the field of constitutional revision residing in this State was asked to serve, including the presidents of our leading universities, the deans, and prominent faculty members, of our outstanding law schools and departments of political science, and other recognized specialists and leaders in the field including participants in past projects, in particular several ex-governors and the surviving members of the 1929 Constitutional Revision Commission. Practically all of these persons agreed to serve.

[1] The principal records of this committee, including the membership of its advisory committee and of each subcommittee, the program of all general meetings of the interim and its advisory committee, the minutes of each meeting of every committee, and subcommittee, the rules of this committee, the guide for subcommittees, the revision drafts of the general counsel, including the final coordinated draft (Proposal 3) and the separate draft for each subcommittee, the several speeches of the general counsel, copies of "model" constitution, etc., have been contemporaneously filed with the Secretary of State.

Next, a large number of prominent public officers were also appointed. These included judges as well as executive officers, and officials of counties, and of cities, as well as heads of state departments and other state officers, especially those directly affected by the present Constitution.

In addition, and larger in numbers, every association, organization, and group in this State of any substantial size or prominence, and known normally to participate through a representative in legislative or civic affairs, was requested to select a representative for appointment to the advisory committee. Practically all of those requested responded. Thus, all labor, industry, trade, vocational, and professional associations secured representation, together with like representation from what might be termed "cross section" associations, such as auto clubs, state and other public employee associations, taxpayers' groups, church groups, fraternal groups, local government associations and women's organizations.

Suffice it here to say that the interim committee knows of no more able, outstanding, balanced representative, or better advisory committee obtainable in any way or manner, whether the criterion be a balance between recognized expert authorities and persons of experience, or between adherents of "right," "left," and "center," or of one faith, philosophy, psychology, point of view, interest, or party, against another or others.

(B)

The subject matter of our present Constitution was segregated and divided into 10 topics; and a like number of subcommittees was established to consider a revision of the same. To this end, the general counsel prepared a "Guide for Subcommittees," allocating the present provisions among them; and the chairman requested each advisory committeeman to indicate which subcommittee or subcommittees he desired to serve upon, according to his special qualifications, interests, or wishes.

The chairman of the interim committee decided that each of the 10 subcommittees should be headed by a chairman and vice chairman selected from the interim committee Further, one, and in a few cases two, "advisers" were appointed for each subcommittee from the "expert," generally the university faculty, group, in order to encourage and assure their fullest participation and an adequate presentation of their views as a result of their years of study and research in the field.

At the time of the "opening" meeting (October 13, 1947), all 10 subcommittees had been established in the manner indicated. Each subcommittee had between 40 and 80 members throughout its life. To those interested, the final membership of each subcommittee is set forth in the list on file.

(C)

Under the rules of this committee, every meeting of the interim committee, of its advisory committee, and of each of its subcommittees, was open to all interested persons. In other words, every member of the public, not only committeemen, was asked to participate; and anyone could, and a very few did, speak at any meeting upon recognition of the chair. Further, this committee appointed a part time Director of Public Relations, Mr. James F. Dorrance, to publicize the project, and the works, plans, programs, and happenings, relative thereto, and especially publicly to announce in advance, through the press and otherwise, the time and place of all meetings of this committee, its advisory committee, and of each of its subcommittees. Such publicity was given to the fullest extent possible.

The "opening" meeting of the interim committee and of its entire advisory committee at Santa Barbara on October 13-14, 1947, was widely announced in the public press and otherwise; and its proceedings were widely reported. Practically all of the interim committee and advisory committee attended; and fully one thousand other interested persons, many from without the city.

The first evening session was devoted to an address prepared by Governor Earl Warren and to a keynote speech by Hon. Justin Miller, President of the National Association of Broadcasters, and other topics. The succeeding day session was devoted to speeches by two ex-Governors, Chief Justice Gibson of the Supreme Court, the Legislative Counsel, and the head of the Political Science Department of the University of Southern California, followed by an organization meeting of each subcommittee. Each advisory committeeman was furnished with a copy of the guide to subcommittees, of the existing State Constitution, and of the Report of the 1929 California Constitutional Revision Commission.

(II)

The Subcommittee Meetings

Each subcommittee met at least once. Several meetings lasted one day and two ran into a second day. To illustrate the workings of the subcommittees, we cite the following examples:

(1) The Subcommittee on the Executive Department met first. The general counsel presented two revision drafts; a short form one eliminating the present executive officers other than the Governor and the Lieutenant Governor, and a longer one not making such elimination. Most of those present were long experienced in our State Government and upon a section-by-section review proceeded to revise the long form draft. The drafts before this subcommittee underwent considerable change as the general counsel proceeded to develop and complete his model coordinating and harmonizing all parts to such an extent that this subcommittee cannot be said to have considered or approved said model as to its subject matter.

(2) The Subcommittee on Waters, Harbors, and Tidelands met to consider the state boundaries and the sections on public lands, tidelands, fishing and water resources. A topic-by-topic review for one day resulted in no recommendation of any change. Firm convictions appeared against any change in regard to: (a) the seaward boundary of the State, as bearing on the existing state-federal controversy over tidelands; and (b) the section on water resources.

(3) The Subcommittee on Education met in Sacramento. At this meeting, debate centered on two views: (a) major revision with deletion of most of the provisions on education as being statutory in nature subject to their continuance as statutes, and (b) a repeal of the obsolete. Many members felt that a compromise course was possible, and to this end, a smaller section was appointed This section undertook to effect such a compromise. Their efforts failed to satisfy any of the contending views.

(4) The Subcommittee on the Legislative Department at its initial meeting on October 14, 1947, divided its membership into six sections. These were designed to study specific suggestions within the jurisdiction of the entire subcommittee. As a result of these subsection activities, the groups agreed to limit their work to repeal of the obsolete, and considerable time of one of the subsections was devoted to a review and approval of specific items considered obsolete in character. The principal exception to this procedure was approval of certain specific recommendations with respect to the initiative process.

Without burdening this report with further specific reference to subcommittee meetings, it is sufficient to say that the experience in each of the subcommittees was practically identical. The conclusion of each subcommittee investigating the subject matter presented to it was that its recommendation to the main committee should be to limit the report to the Legislature in the main to a repeal of those provisions of the Constitution which were agreed to be obsolete.

(III)

Final General Meeting

The legislative interim committee and members of its advisory committee met in a final general meeting in Santa Barbara on November 18 and 19, 1948.

The chairman of each subcommittee, or in his absence the general counsel, presented a final report of the work of each subcommittee.

During discussion of these recommendations, the advisory committee, after thorough discussion, adopted a motion that it recommend to the legislative interim committee the policy of confining its activities to deleting obsolete material, with such exceptions as otherwise recommended. In support of this recommendation, the advisory committee cited its reasons as follows:

(1) No popular demand for change in the basic principles of the State Constitution.

(2) By the process of amendment, the present Constitution is a modern document.

(3) No generally acceptable reasons have been advanced for changing the substance of the Constitution.

(4) Seeking revision for brevity's sake is no valid argument.

(5) The present Constitution has been thoroughly adjudicated by the courts.

On November 19th, the legislative committee met having before it the above recommendation of the general advisory committee, as well as the report and recommendations of the individual subcommittees. As a result of its deliberations, the legislative interim committee adopted and herewith submits the following recommendations:

(1) Local Governments—Article XI.

The obsolete matters to be deleted relative to this subject are set forth in Exhibit 1. Assembly Constitutional Amendment No. 66 embodies the amendments therein set forth. All were approved by the advisory committee. The volume is rather large and material gain will be effected by these repeals, and we recommend this amendment for passage at this session.

(2) The Executive Department—Article V.

We recommend for passage at this session a repeal of those obsolete matters approved by our advisory committee and as set forth in Exhibit 2, largely because it deletes the misleading salaries specified in superseded Section 19. This recommendation is embodied in Assembly Constitutional Amendment No. 67.

(3) Judicial Department—Article VI.

A repeal of obsolete matters as set forth in Exhibit 3 was approved by our advisory committee, and we recommend the same for passage at this session, largely because it deletes the misleading salaries specified in superseded Section 17. This is embodied in Assembly Constitutional Amendment No. 73.

(4) Revenue and Taxation—Article XIII.

Our advisory committee approved the repeal of the obsolete matters in Article XIII as set forth in Exhibit 4. We recommend the same for passage at this session. This is embodied in Assembly Constitutional Amendment No. 69.

(5) We recommend for passage at this session the consolidation of the two Sections 22 of Article IV, with a deletion of the obsolete matters in the first said section, all as shown in Exhibit 6 and as approved by our advisory committee, as there appears to be a material gain by so doing. This is embodied in Assembly Constitutional Amendment No. 70.

(6) We recommend for passage at this session the repeal of the obsolete matters in Article XXII and of Article XX, Section 19, and a disposition of Article XX, Section 20, all relating to the 1879 Convention and Constitution and incidents germane thereto and all as shown in Exhibit 7 and as approved by our advisory committee, as there appears to be a material gain by so doing. This is embodied in Assembly Constitutional Amendments Nos. 71 and 73.

(7) Our advisory committee recommended for passage at this session a repeal of Article I, Section 26-a (Exhibit 9—Assembly Constitutional Amendment No. 72), Article IV, Section 1-a, as added in 1933, (Exhibit 10, Assembly Constitutional Amendment No. 68), and Article XIX, Section 2, (Exhibit 11), and an amendment of Article IV, Section 18, to delete the Surveyor General (Exhibit 12). In view of the expense and disadvantages of a wordy and lengthy ballot, since in the normal course we may anticipate a dozen measures on the ballot in addition to what we recommend in this report, we would not seriously object to these matters being held over for action at some later session.

(IV)

Initiative

We believe and find that some tightening of the amendment process at this time, if not too drastic, would be salutary. Since all existing amendments have been submitted by both the initiative petition and the Legislature, and it requires a two-thirds vote of the Legislature to propose an amendment by the legislative process, we recommend that the number of signatures on an initiative petition proposing a constitutional amendment be increased from 8 percent to 12 percent of the total votes cast for all candidates for Governor at the last preceding general election.

(V)

Concerning Submission of Revision

Under the Constitution as it now stands, submission of an entire revised document to the people for their adoption or rejection is possible only by a constitutional convention. One of the principal things learned from this project is that a "revision" in any true sense can only be prepared, considered, dealt with and submitted as a whole. A general meeting of the full interim and advisory committee was held on February 23, 1948, to consider a proposed amendment to present Article XVIII of the Constitution to provide that the Legislature by concurrent resolution approved by two-thirds of the members of each house might submit a Constitution to the electors at a special election called for such purposes. This proposed amendment was defeated by a roll call vote of the advisory committee at this meeting, and accordingly was not considered further.

As a part of our study, we had before us the report of the California Constitution Commission made on December 29, 1930. We found the study of this commission of great value. The following quoted portion of the report is one with which we are in complete agreement:

> "So far as the substance of the Constitution is concerned, we find it to be a logical record of the struggle of the people to preserve their rights. We find in it adequate provisions preserving the natural rights of the people to protection in their persons and property. We find in it a general frame of government under which the State has prospered and been efficiently governed. We find that it embodies the principle of home rule in local and municipal affairs, for which the people have so long struggled. We find in it provisions by which the people have reserved to themselves powers by which they are enabled to control legislation, and by which the people have insisted that they themselves should establish the principles upon which they are to be taxed."

In view of the finding of that commission and our present findings, we recommend that the Legislature take no action looking toward the calling of a constitutional convention inasmuch as we are convinced that such action is unwarranted and unnecessary.

However, in order that the results of research in connection with preparation of a proposed final draft of a "model" constitution as developed by the general counsel may not be lost to any possible future considerations given this problem, our committee makes this short draft or "model" a part of this report.

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by the Chaplain, Dr. Torrance Phelps:

God of Love: May we remember this day the members of the families from which we come, who are watching us from unseen balconies.

May we see the faces of the faithful women to whom we are wedded, and who support us with deathless constancy and affection.

Forbid that we should do any act in their absence, that would bring a tear or a shudder to their noble and loving hearts

Let the faces of our children rise before us to inspire our idealism and our efforts to create a better world of opportunity, justice, and peace for all youth.

So shall we feel the invisible and spiritual influence of many loving hearts, like a shield about us.—AMEN.

Consideration of Committee Amendments

The following amendment was proposed by the Committee on Judiciary:

Amendment No. 1

On page 1 of the printed bill, strike out lines 15 to 18, inclusive, and insert

"4027. The board of supervisors of any county may initiate proceedings proposing the creation of a joint district for the purpose of maintaining a joint county jail, to be composed of two or more counties of the State having a combined population of not less than fifty thousand persons, according to the official census next preceding the formation of such district by the adoption of a resolution reciting the following:

(1) That it will be beneficial to the public interest to create a joint district for maintenance of a joint county jail

(2) The names of the counties proposed to be included in the proposed district which will be benefited by the formation thereof

(3) That it is proposed to create a joint district for the establishment and maintenance of a joint county jail composed of the counties so named.

When adopted certified copies of said resolution shall be transmitted to the several clerks of the boards of supervisors in each of the counties named in the said resolution other than that in which the proceedings are initiated.

Upon the adoption of such resolution the board of supervisors of the county adopting the same shall name and appoint a member of said board of supervisors to represent said county upon the board of directors of the joint district proposed to be organized.

4028. Upon receipt of the resolution adopted as provided in Section 4027, the boards of supervisors of the counties affected and to whom the same may be directed shall consider the advisability of creating and organizing a joint district as proposed in said resolution and, upon determining the facts involved therein, shall severally adopt resolutions either rejecting or approving the proposal to create such joint district. Each resolution of approval shall, in addition to the matter otherwise required therein, also name and appoint the member of the board of supervisors of the county adopting such resolution qualified to represent such county upon the board of directors of the proposed joint district. A certified copy of said resolution of approval shall be forthwith transmitted to the clerk of the board of supervisors initiating the proceedings.

4030 The body thus formed shall be called the board of directors of such district. The said delegates from each county are authorized and empowered to enter an agreement with the other counties for and on behalf of the county appointing them, binding said counties to the joint enterprise and apportioning the cost of establishing and maintaining the joint county jail, except as hereinafter provided, such cost to be apportioned on the basis of the population of the respective counties as determined by the official declaration of the State Legislature determining the population of counties next preceding such apportionment.

4031. All sums found due from any county according to the provisions of this act shall be a debt against said county, and may be collected in the manner provided by law by the said board of directors, or, in its behalf, by the board of supervisors of any county in said district by action instituted and tried in any county in said district in which the same may be first filed.

4032 The board of directors shall have power to establish the jails, and to furnish such jails with the necessary personnel and equipment to transport, feed, clothe, shelter and lodge the prisoners who shall be placed therein.

4033. Each county in said group is authorized, empowered and directed to pay from its county general fund its proportionate share to the board of directors of such amount as the said board may designate to constitute a cash revolving fund to carry on the work and expense of maintaining such jail. Each month a statement of the expense of said jail shall be sent to the board of supervisors of each county in said district, together with a claim for its proportionate share of said expenses. Said amount when received shall be paid into said cash revolving fund.

4034. Whenever any person shall be ordered committed to a county jail pursuant to law under a final judgment of imprisonment in any county of such district, he shall forthwith be committed to the joint county jail within the district.

4035. Said board of directors shall have power to make such rules as they deem proper for the government of said jail and the conduct of the prisoners."

OPINION OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL

OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL
SACRAMENTO 2, CALIFORNIA, March 29, 1949

Hon. Lloyd W. Lowrey
Assembly Chamber

Assembly Bill No. 936, re Definition of Angling—No. 5296

DEAR MR. LOWREY: You have asked us if the Fish and Game Commission under its general regulatory powers could make the same requirement that Assembly Bill No. 936, as introduced, proposes. You also ask whether or not the commission can make practically any rule relating to sporting fishing and hunting.

Assembly Bill No. 936 amends Section 2 of the Fish and Game Code to provide that in "angling" not more than one hand line, or pole with line attached, may be used by any person.

The general regulatory powers of the commission appear in Article 1 of Chapter 2 of Division 1 of the Fish and Game Code (Secs. 14 to 196, incl.).

Under the provisions of said article the Fish and Game Commission is given very broad powers to regulate many aspects of sporting fishing and of hunting, but no power is delegated as to any phase of commercial fishing.

Among the powers delegated as to sporting fishing is the power to make orders relating to fish, mollusks, crustaceans, amphibia and reptiles which, as to all or any species or varieties * * *." (d) Prescribe the manner and the means of taking any species or variety." (Sec. 15 4, F. & G C.).

We believe that under this provision the commission may restrict sport fishing to the use of one line or one rod and line per person.

As to the scope of the powers delegated to the commission under the general regulatory powers provisions, the delegation was and is intended to be plenary as to the matters covered. The commission may change seasons, bag limits, territorial limits, and prescribe the means and methods of taking of fish, game, birds, mammals, mollusks, crustaceans, amphibia, and reptiles, and in case of birds and mammals, change restrictions based on sex, maturity or other physical distinctions (Secs. 15 4 and 16 3, F & G. C.).

These matters appear to cover everything that the Legislature might itself do in relation to the actual taking of fish and game. The commission may not fix the general license fees or prescribe penalties. It may, however, regulate the taking of fish and game in such manner as it finds necessary to permit the utilization of the fish and game resources to the fullest extent consistent with the preservation and propagation of the various species

Having turned over to the commission the important functions of setting seasons and bag limits, and prescribing areas and methods of taking, it seems to follow that the Legislature intended the commission's powers to be very broad. Therefore, even if on some minor matter there was room for doubt whether or not the matter was within the scope of the delegated power, it would be more in accord with the evident intent and purpose of the provisions to assume that the commission had been delegated the particular power than to assume that it had not.

However, in the case of your specific question we do not believe that there is any question since the matter appears to be specifically covered.

Very truly yours,

FRED B. WOOD, Legislative Counsel
By JOSEPH W. PAULUCCI, Deputy

Copy to author of A B. No. 936 pursuant to Joint Rule 34.

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT TO TAKE UP ASSEMBLY BILL NO. 149

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by the Chaplain, Dr. Torrance Phelps:

Infinite God: May we realize today that we need to be scared to death by the discovery of atomic energy.

Remind us that scientific minds are appalled at its dangerous possibilities, and only the ignorant and unthinking pay no heed to the most terrifying discovery ever made.

Let us remember that the secret of atomic power will soon be widespread and accessible to every corner of the globe, and that groups we know not now, can employ its stupendous energies for good or ill.

May the people no longer drift in indifference, but labor for an organized world to restrain its lawless misuses, so that our fair land will not become a smouldering cinder.

Heaven help the statesmen of the world to learn how to harness atomic forces for human welfare.—AMEN.

301. As used in this article:

(a) 'Federal inspection' means the meat inspection maintained by the Bureau of Animal Industry of the United States Department of Agriculture.

(b) 'State inspection' means the meat inspection maintained by the department.

(c) 'Municipal inspection' means the meat inspection department of each county or each chartered or incorporated city, whose inspection is performed by persons who have passed a regular civil service meat or market inspector's examination or who have been continuously employed since January 1, 1929, and who hold license from the State to practice veterinary science and whose inspection is performed according to meat inspection regulations equivalent, in health value and protection to the public, to those adopted by the Bureau of Animal Industry of the United States Department of Agriculture.

(d) 'Health authority' means the health officer, the chief of meat inspection, or other official designated by the health officer of any city or county of the State.

(e) 'Establishments' includes all premises where animals are slaughtered or otherwise prepared for food purposes, meat canneries, sausage factories, curing and smoke houses, and similar places.

(f) 'Animals' means cattle, swine, sheep, goats and other large domesticated mammals, but does not include small species such as dogs, cats, and rabbits.

(g) 'Slaughter' means kill and prepare for human consumption.

(h) 'Horse meat' means the meat of, or meat products derived from horses, mules or burros.

"SEC. 2. Section 318.1 is added to said code to read:

318.1. It is unlawful to bring into any establishment subject to inspection under the provisions of this article, or to use in the preparation of any meat or product in such establishment, any preservative, chemical, or other substance not permitted by the California Meat Inspection Regulations, and the director may seize and destroy for food purposes any meat or meat product wherever found to which any such preservative, chemical or other such substance has been added.

SEC. 3. Section 318.2 is added to said code, to read:

318.2. It is unlawful to slaughter horses, mules or burros in establishments coming under the jurisdiction of this article where cattle, calves, sheep, swine or goats are slaughtered for human consumption; or to bring horse meat into establishments where meat or meat food products are prepared for human consumption from the meat of cattle, calves, sheep, swine or goats.

It is unlawful to add horse meat to meat or meat food products prepared from the meat of cattle, calves, sheep, swine or goats for human consumption in establishments coming within the jurisdiction of this article and the director may seize and destroy for food purposes any such meat or product wherever found to which horse meat has been added.

SEC. 4. Section 318.3 is added to said code, to read

318.3. It is unlawful for any person to forge, counterfeit, simulate, or falsely represent, or without proper authority to use or knowingly or wrongfully alter any of the marks, stamps, tags, labels, or other identification devices provided for in this article, or in and as directed by the rules and regulations prescribed hereunder by the director, on any carcasses, parts of carcasses, or the food product, or containers thereof, subject to the provisions of this article, or any certificates in relation thereto, authorized or required by this article or by the said rules and regulations of the director

SEC. 5. Section 318.4 is added to said code, to read:

318.4. Every person who slaughters any horse, mule or burro, or who by purchase or otherwise acquires possession of the meat of any horse, mule or burro, and who sells or otherwise disposes of such meat, shall make and keep for one year a correct record, separate from all other business, of each such transaction, recorded at the time of the transaction, showing the quantity of such meat so acquired or disposed of, the names and addresses of the parties to the transaction, the date, the place to which such meat was shipped or delivered, and the name of the person by whom the shipment or delivery was made

This section shall not apply to retail sales of fresh or processed meat or meat products in quantities of five pounds or less to any one person, nor to canned or prepackaged meat or meat products in packages of five pounds or less when conspicuously labeled to show the percentage by weight of horse, mule or burro meat contained therein

All records required by this section to be kept shall be open at all times during business hours to the inspection of the director, any health officer or sanitation inspector, or any peace officer. Failure to keep records as required by this section, or failure or refusal to permit inspection of such records as authorized by this section, is a misdemeanor."

Sacramento, California

Pursuant to House Resolution No. 37, passed at the Fifty-seventh Regular Session of the California Legislature, the Assembly Interim Committee on State and Local Taxation herewith submits its report covering its findings and recommendations.

In view of the technical and statistical work carried on by the Senate Committee on State and Local Taxation headed by Senator Ben Hulse, the committee felt it advisable to act in the capacity of observer in order that duplication would be avoided.

The committee attended many annual conferences of various governmental agencies and private organizations interested in taxation and is herein publishing the reports and recommendations of the various groups. By adopting this method the Members of the Legislature as well as the general public will have the benefit of their views and suggestions.

Grateful acknowledgment is made of the many state and local officials and private organizations who so generously provided factual information and practical counsel. Without their cooperation the committee would not have been confident in reaching its conclusions which in its brief are designed to safeguard the tax structure of the State and still give recognition to the financial problems of local government.

Respectfully submitted,

JONATHAN J. HOLLIBAUGH, Chairman
HARRY J. JOHNSON, Vice Chairman
GLENN M. ANDERSON
RAYMOND W. BLOSSER
ERNEST R. GEDDES
CLAYTON A. DILLS
JOHN C. LYONS (deceased)

Above mentioned report ordered filed with the Secretary of State

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolution was offered.

By Mr. Kilpatrick:

House Resolution No. 148

Relative to the actual condition of the building program of the State

WHEREAS, There appears to be a lack of definite information and conflicting reports as to the accuracy and completeness of information available to the Legislature respecting the structural building plans and the present status thereof and the contemplated building program of the State for the remainder of the current fiscal year and for the Budget Year 1949-50; and

WHEREAS, There is no official statement available to the Legislature at this time as to the status of this building program, the amount of money committed and the amount of money required to complete the program, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the State Architect be required to furnish the Legislature not later than April 15th the following definite and specific information covering the several phases of the building program of the State as herein indicated

1. A complete list, by projects, of the building plans for which plans have been done and contracts let subsequent to January 1, 1948 up to March 1, 1949.

2. A list of those projects that have been completed which were let subsequent to January 1, 1948, together with a list of the remaining funds available for the several projects which have already been reverted and a list of those available for reversion

3 A list of those projects in the planning stage with an estimate when plans will be completed and the approximate date when bids will be called for and an approximate date when each can be completed.

4. The total amount of money allocated and available for building projects for the Fiscal Year 1948-49 with the amount that will be committed, that is, contracts let by June 30, 1949

5 The total amount required to complete projects contemplated for 1949-50.

6. What authority signs the contract for actual construction work and does this same authority determine subsequent changes in contract and whether or not penalties will be imposed for failure to comply with the terms of the contract.

7. A list of projects completed during the period July 1, 1947 to March 1, 1949, showing those which have been completed within the specified time allowance of the contract. Also show if there is any liability in each instance on the part of the contractor to the State for the delay incurred in the completion of the several contracts, together with an indication of what penalties have been imposed for such delay.

8. An explanation concerning the policy pertaining to the collection of penalties for failure to complete projects within the contracted time and the possible effect on the price bid; be it further

Resolved, That this information be made available to each Member of the Assembly by having the same printed in the Assembly Journal.

Resolution read, and ordered referred to the Committee on Rules

CONSIDERATION OF HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 131

By Messrs. Burkhalter, Evans, Beck, and Elliott

House Resolution No. 131

Relative to requesting the Public Utilities Commission to delay final action on application of Pacific Electric Railway Company to make certain changes in its rail and motor coach service

WHEREAS, The Pacific Electric Railway Company, on February 25, 1949, filed its application No. 30095 with the Public Utilities Commission of the State of California requesting permission for the "abandonment of certain rail lines, discontinuance of passenger service on certain other rail lines, substitution and discontinuance of motor coach service over certain routes, and, in general, to make such changes in its rail and motor coach system" as specifically set forth in said application, and

WHEREAS, The inadequacy of the mass transportation facilities in the Los Angeles metropolitan area is apparent to all, and several proposals are now under consideration attempting to find a proper solution to this great mass transportation problem; and

WHEREAS, There are now pending in this session of the Legislature four bills proposing to authorize the formation of metropolitan rapid transit districts, with power to plan, finance and construct rail rapid transit facilities more adequately to meet the transportation needs of the metropolitan areas of this State; and

WHEREAS, The granting at this time of said Application No. 30095 of the Pacific Electric Railway Company would cause irreparable injury and hardship to the people of the Los Angeles metropolitan area and possibly delay for all time the proper solution of the transportation problem; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, As follows

The Public Utilities Commission of the State of California is hereby requested to postpone action on Application No. 30095 of the Pacific Electric Railway Company, a corporation, or any other application of said company for authority to make changes in its rail and motor coach service, until this Legislature has had time within which to give consideration to Assembly Bills Nos. 147, 2023 and 2454, and Senate Bill No. 194, and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly be and he is hereby directed to certify to the adoption of this resolution and transmit a copy thereof to the Public Utilities Commission of the State of California and to the Pacific Electric Railway Company.

Resolution read.

Consideration of Committee Amendments

The following amendment was proposed by the Committee on Rules:

COMMUNICATIONS

By Speaker Sam L. Collins:

The following communication was received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

DEI MAR INSTITUTE NO. 66, Y. L. I.

To the Members of the California Legislature Child Care Center

WHEREAS, It is our conviction that the present social structure of California will be seriously endangered if any bill is approved, which would make the child care center a permanent part of the state supported school system, and which would provide day care service without evidence of demonstrated need:

WHEREAS, The School System of California should not attempt more than it can do efficiently,

WHEREAS, During the next 10 years with the increase in pupil population it will be difficult to maintain the educational ladder without adding child care center; and

WHEREAS, Local and state school funds moreover should not be diverted to finance an institution which is social rather than educational in nature; and

WHEREAS, The day care center was started in California during wartime and therefore its status as a peacetime institution should be scrutinized periodically; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That this body go on record opposing any bill for permanent child care center, and further, be it

Resolved, To be in favor of a bill on a year to year basis

Respectfully submitted,

ELEANOR DEMPSEY, President
GENEVIEVE BEATTIE, Recording Secretary

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by the Chaplain, Dr. Torrance Phelps:

Eternal Spirit. May we realize how our belief in Thee, O God, inspires integrity and justice.

For Thou art a God who demands righteousness and mercy of all men.

Let history remind us that people who reject these moral beliefs soon succumb to the rule of barbarous instincts

Let us remember the Nazis who rejected Faith, and having no religious restraints perpetuated the blackest crimes; and every bloody battle was the final result of their godless ideology.

May we stand for a Faith as the bulwark against anarchy and the guardian of law and security.—AMEN

RECOMMENDATION OF THE GOVERNOR

In accordance with Article IV, Section 34, of the Constitution, the Governor presented the following communication recommending the passage of Assembly Bill No. 3107.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA
GOVERNOR'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO, March 31, 1949

To the Honorable Members of the Assembly
Sacramento, California

GENTLEMEN:

Assembly Bill No. 3107, "An act authorizing the Director of Finance to acquire real property in the City of Long Beach, declaring the urgency thereof, to take effect immediately," in my opinion constitutes an emergency bill within the meaning of that term as used in Section 34 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California, the consideration of which should not await the final enactment of the Budget Bill.

This bill permits money already appropriated to be expended for a new purpose. It permits the Director of Finance, with the approval of the Adjutant General, to acquire real property in the City of Long Beach for the use of the Adjutant General and the National Guard. It is necessary that this property be acquired at once in order to secure the benefit of a federal contribution for the construction of a stores depot in the City of Long Beach.

I therefore recommend consideration of Assembly Bill No. 3107 as an emergency measure.

Respectfully submitted,

EARL WARREN, Governor

Amendment No. 4

On page 1 of said bill, after line 28, insert

"SEC. 4. Section 4744 of said code is amended to read.

4744. It may sell, or otherwise dispose of, any water, sewage effluent, fertilizer, or other by-product resulting from the operation of a sewerage system, sewage disposal plant, refuse disposal plant or process, or treatment plant, and construct, maintain, and operate such pipe lines and other works as may be necessary for that purpose.

SEC. 5. Section 4748 of said code is amended to read:

4748. The district board shall, by resolution, employ one or more sanitation engineers to make a survey of the problems of the district concerning sanitation and especially with reference to the matter of sewage collection, treatment, and disposal. The resolution shall direct the engineer or engineers to prepare and file with the district board of the district a report setting forth:

(a) A general description of existing facilities for sewage collection, treatment, and disposal [.] , or a general description of existing facilities for refuse collection, treatment and disposal, or both.

(b) A general description of the work proposed to be done to carry out the objects of the district.

(c) A general plan and general specifications of the work.

(d) A general description of the property proposed to be acquired or damaged in carrying out the work.

(e) A map showing the boundaries of the district and in general the location of the work proposed to be done, property taken or damaged, and any other information useful to an understanding of the proposed work.

(f) An estimate of the cost of the proposed work.

SEC. 6. Section 4760 of said code is amended to read:

4760. The district board may, by agreement with any city or other public agency, take possession of or acquire by condemnation or in any other manner any sewerage system, or any sewage or refuse disposal or treatment plant, or any combination of the foregoing necessary or convenient to carry out any of the objects of the district, or may acquire by agreement or in any manner the right to use them, and any city or other public agency may enter into such an agreement with a county sanitation district.

A compliance with this chapter is sufficient to authorize such an agreement by either a county sanitation district, city, or other public agency entering into such a contract with a county sanitation district.

Whenever any sewerage or refuse disposal system, or sewage or refuse disposal or treatment plant so taken possession of or otherwise acquired was built from the proceeds of a bond issue, the district shall assume and pay out of its funds the outstanding bonds according to their terms, and the principal sum remaining unpaid shall be credited to it and deducted from any sum to be paid by it to the city or public agency.

Funds may be obtained by the county sanitation districts to pay the principal and interest on the assumed bonds in the manner as is provided for paying the principal and interest on its own bonds.

SEC. 7. Section 4761 of said code is amended to read:

4761. Any city or public agency in the district may enter into an agreement with the district for the use, or entire possession and operation, by the county sanitation district of any sewerage or refuse disposal system, or sewage or refuse disposal or treatment plant owned or operated by the city or public agency."

"SEC. 5. Section 6460 of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

6460. Form of bond The bond shall be substantially in the following form:

Street Improvement Bond

Series (designating it), in the City (or County) of (naming it).

$_____ No _____

Under and by virtue of the Improvement Act of 1911 (Part 5 of Division 7 of the Streets and Highways Code), I, out of the fund for the above designated street improvement bonds, series _____, will pay to _____ or order, the sum of _____ dollars ($_____) with interest at the rate of _____ percent per annum, all as is hereinafter specified, and at the Office of the Treasurer of the _____ of _____, State of California.

This bond is issued to represent the cost of certain street work upon _____, in the _____ of _____, as the same is more fully described in assessment number _____ issued by the street superintendent of said _____, after the acceptance of said work, and recorded in his office. Its amount is the amount assessed in said assessment against the lot or parcel of land numbered therein, and in the diagram attached thereto, as number _____, and which now remains unpaid, and constitutes a lien upon the property affected thereby, as the same is described herein and in said recorded assessment with its diagram, to wit: The lot or parcel of land in said _____ of _____, County of _____, State of California

This bond is payable exclusively from said fund, and neither the (here insert city or county) nor any officer thereof is to be holden for payment otherwise of its principal or interest. The term of this bond is _____ years from the second day of January next succeeding the next October 15th following its date, and at the expiration of said time the whole sum then unpaid shall be due and payable; but on the second day of January of each year, following the next October 15th after its date, an even annual proportion of its whole amount is due and payable, upon presentation of the coupon therefor, until the whole is paid, with all accrued interest at the rate of _____ percentum per annum.

The interest is payable semiannually, to wit: On the second days of January and of July in each year hereafter, upon presentation of the coupons therefor, hereto attached, the first of which is for the interest [from date] to the next second day of _____, and thereafter the interest coupons are for semiannual interest.

This bond may be redeemed by the owner or any person interested in any lot or parcel of land described herein, in the manner provided in said code, at any time before maturity, and before commencement of proceedings for sale, upon payment to the Treasurer, for the holder of this bond, of the amount then unpaid on the principal sum thereof, with interest thereon calculated up to the due date of the next maturing interest coupon, and all penalties accrued and unpaid.

Should default be made in the annual payment upon the principal, or in any payment of interest from the owner of said lot or parcel of land, or any one in his behalf, the holder of this bond is entitled to declare the whole unpaid amount to be due and payable, and to have said lot or parcel of land advertised and sold forthwith, in the manner provided by law; provided, however, that any bond may be reinstated after such default in the manner provided in said code In case of such default there shall be immediately added to such defaulted amount, 1 percent of the amount thereof, and on the first day of each month following such default there shall be added a further penalty of 1 percent of such defaulted amount. The 1 percent penalty first imposed and all subsequent penalties shall be paid to the holder of the bond along with and as a part of such defaulted payment.

At said _____ of _____, this _____ day of _____, in the year one thousand nine hundred and _____.

Treasurer of the _____ of _____.

SEC. 6. Section 6463 of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

6463. The interest shall be payable semiannually, by coupon, on the second days of January and July, respectively, of each year after their date. The first interest coupon shall be for interest from the date of filing the list of unpaid assessments and the first interest coupon shall become due and payable on the second day of January next succeeding the October 15th or the second day of July next succeeding the April 15th, as the case may be, next following their date The rate of interest shall not exceed 6 percent per annum on all sums unpaid. However, bonds issued in place of bonds issued prior to August 27, 1937, may bear interest at a rate not exceeding 10 percent per annum on all sums unpaid."

A strip of land 25.00 feet in width by 706 feet in average length, lying between lines which are concentric with and distant 12.50 feet on each side of the following described center line:

Beginning at a point in the center line of the most westerly main track of The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway Company, being a point in a line which is parallel with and distant 14.00 feet westerly at right angles from the center line of said railway company's 100 foot wide right of way, as described in deed recorded December 2, 1887, in Book 350, page 99, of Deeds, records of Los Angeles County, distant northerly along said parallel line 645.58 feet from the south line of said northwest quarter of Section 8; thence southerly along the arc of a curve, tangent to said parallel line, concave westerly and having a radius of 942.29 feet, through a central angle of 6 degrees 48 minutes, a distance of 111.83 feet; thence southwesterly, compounding along the arc of a curve, concave northwesterly and having a radius of 573.686 feet, through a central angle of 83 degrees 21 minutes a distance of 834.56 feet to point of ending.

Excepting from the above described strip of land all that portion thereof which lies within the area described in said deed recorded in Book 350, page 99 of Deeds.

Said strip contains a net area of 0.405 of an acre, more or less.

Parcel No. 2:

A strip of land 25 feet in width by approximately 150 feet in average length, being all that portion of the south half of the northwest quarter of said Section 8 which lies between lines that are concentric or parallel with and distant 12.50 feet on each side of the following described center line:

Commencing at a point in the center line of the most westerly main track of said railway company, being a point in a line which is parallel with and distant 14.00 feet westerly at right angles from the center line of said railway company's 100-foot-wide right of way, as described in deed recorded December 2, 1887, in Book 350, page 99 of Deeds, records of Los Angeles County, distant northerly along said parallel line 645.58 feet from the south line of said northwest quarter of Section 8; thence southerly along the arc of a curve, tangent to said parallel line and having a radius of 942.29 feet, through a central angle of 6 degrees 48 minutes a distance of 111.83 feet; thence southwesterly, compounding along the arc of a curve, concave northwesterly and having a radius of 573.686 feet, through an angle of 36 degrees 00 minutes 00 seconds a distance of 360.46 feet to the true point of beginning for the center line to be described; thence southwesterly, compounding along the arc of a curve, concave northwesterly and having a radius of 11459.2 feet, through a central angle of 0 degrees 22 minutes 30 seconds, a distance of 75.00 feet; thence southwesterly tangent to last said curve, a distance of 25.01 feet; thence southwesterly along the arc of a curve, tangent to last course, concave southeasterly and having a radius of 573.686 feet, a distance of 168.5 feet more or less to point of ending in the southerly line of the northwest quarter of said Section 8.

The side lines of said strip being lengthened or shortened along their respective courses to terminate in the southerly line of said northwest quarter of Section 8.

Excepting therefrom, all that portion thereof which lies within the above described Parcel No. 1.

Said strip contains a net area of 0.09 of an acre, more or less.

Reserving unto the State, its successors and assigns, the right of ingress and egress over Parcel No. 2 to and from the adjoining land of the State on each side thereof, provided, however, that the exercise of such right shall not unreasonably interfere with Santa Fe's use of said parcel for railroad purposes."

Amendment No. 2

On page 1, line 14, of the printed bill, strike out "alongside", and insert "adjacent to".

Amendments read, and adopted.

Bill ordered reprinted, engrossed, and to be re-referred to the Committee on Governmental Efficiency and Economy.

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by the Chaplain, Dr. Torrance Phelps:

God of Our Fathers: Let us honor at this time, when the Pony Express began its daring trips, the founders and builders who discovered and settled our State.

Cabrillo and Drake who were the first to explore our coastal regions, and who began our colorful history.

The brave padres and their leader Junipero Serra, who established the missions, venerated land-marks, whose bells called the natives to school and to true religion.

The heroism of the first settlers who faced incredible hazards in canyon and desert, and the prairie schooner a symbol of the indomitable spirit of California

May the names of the early builders, of the numberless unknown, of Sutter and Huntington, of Stanford, Crocker and Judah forever shine, like stars with their dross removed, in the firmament of our history —AMEN.

COMMUNICATIONS

By the Chief Clerk:

The following communication was received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

THE STATE OF WYOMING
SENATE CHAMBER, THIRTIETH STATE LEGISLATURE
POWELL, WYOMING, April 1, 1949

Arthur A. Ohnimus,
Chief Clerk, Sacramento, California

DEAR MR OHNIMUS Reference is made to your letter of March 16th regarding an illuminated copy of House Resolution No 54, which I have just received as I have been away on a visit with my brother in Louisiana

It was a grand surprise to me to receive a tribute of this type from your members. I feel humiliated and any one in my position should be.

I prize it very highly and shall file it among my keep-sakes as the one most treasured.

It is indeed gratifying to learn of the esteem and affection accorded my brother among the Members of your Assembly He has given me a lot of encouragement to carry on in my position I am sure it is a pleasure to work for the interest of your people with a fine group of men as are found in our Legislature.

You might be interested to learn that by virtue of my position as President of the Wyoming Senate that I am being called to serve as Governor of the State beginning April 8th, for an indefinite time during the Governor's absence

Please convey my thanks and best wishes to the Members of your Assembly for the fine tribute to both the brother and myself.

Yours very truly,

GEORGE BURKE

PRINTER'S NOTE—There being no 7-point strikeout type available, the material which should appear in strikeout type in the following amendments is indicated by being enclosed within brackets.

Amendment No. 1

In line 1 of the title of the printed bill, strike out "repeal Part 4 of Division 2", and insert "amend Sections 9603, 9603.5, 9605, 9606, 9606.7, 9653, 9701, 9703, 9754, and 10501".

Amendment No. 2

On page 1 of said bill, strike out line 1, and insert

"SECTION 1. Section 9603 of the Revenue and Taxation Code is amended to read:

9603 "Operator" includes:

(a) Any person engaging in the transportation of persons [or property] for hire or compensation by or upon a motor vehicle upon any public highway in this State, either directly or indirectly.

(b) Any person who furnishes any motor vehicle for the transportation of persons [or property] under a lease or rental agreement when pursuant to the terms thereof the person operates the motor vehicle furnished or exercises any control of, or assumes any responsibility for, or engages either in whole or in part in, the transportation of persons [or property] in the motor vehicle furnished.

"Operator" does not include any of the following:

(a) [Any person transporting his own property in a motor vehicle owned or operated by him unless he makes a specific charge for the transportation. This subdivision does not in any way limit any other exemption granted by this section.

(b)] Any farmer, resident of this State, who occasionally transports [property for other farmers, or who transports his own farm products, or who transports] laborers to and from farm work incidentally in his farming operations.

[(c) Any nonprofit agricultural cooperative association, organized and acting within the scope of its powers under Chapter 4 of Division 6 of the Agricultural Code, to the extent only that it is engaged in the transporting of its own property or the property of its members.

(d)] (b) Any person whose sole transportation of persons [or property] for hire or compensation consists of the transportation of children to or from any public school and whose total compensation from all sources for providing such transportation does not exceed fifty dollars ($50) in any calendar month.

[(e)] (c) Any person engaged in the business of operating a hearse or other vehicle in a procession to a burial ground or place of interment and from the burial ground or place of interment to a garage or place of storage.

[(f)] (d) Any registered owner of a pleasure vehicle who, while operating the vehicle, transports persons to his work or to a place through which he passes on the way to his work, whether for or without compensation, if he is not in the business of furnishing such transportation.

SEC. 2. Section 9603.5 of said code is amended to read:

9603.5. "Occasionally" as used in the second subdivision [(b)] (a) of Section 9603 shall be construed to mean occasionally or for a total annual compensation from all sources for providing such transportation for hire of not more than six hundred dollars ($600), and provided that such transportation shall constitute the sole transportation of persons [or property] for hire or compensation. Any person excluded from the definition of "operator" under that subdivision shall keep available an account of each time he has transported [property or] laborers and the compensation received therefor. If during any month of a calendar year the sum of gross receipts of any farmer derived from transportation operations defined in this section shall exceed six hundred dollars ($600) for the calendar year, the farmer shall not be entitled to the exemption herein provided but shall be an operator as defined in Section 9603 (a) of this part. The entire sum of his gross receipts earned during that year shall be subject to the tax imposed in this part and the amount of the gross receipts earned in prior months of the year shall be added to the gross receipts of the month in which the sum of the gross receipts for the year exceeded six hundred dollars ($600) and shall be deemed to be gross receipts of that month for the purpose of computing the amount of the tax due under this part. The "account" of transportation performed and compensation received therefor, as herein provided, may be by any simple method of record keeping and in cases where record keeping practices are such that reports upon truck operations are reported at the end of the operating season, such end-of-the-season reports shall be deemed adequate for the purposes of this section.

SEC. 3. Section 9605 of said code is amended to read:

9605. "Motor vehicle" includes any automobile, truck, tractor, or other self-propelled vehicle used for the transportation of persons [or property] upon the public highways, otherwise than upon fixed rails or tracks, and any trailer, semitrailer, dolly, or other vehicle drawn thereby, not exempt from registration fees under the laws of this State.

SEC. 4. Section 9606 of said code is amended to read:

9606. "Gross receipts" include all receipts from the operation of motor vehicles entirely within this State and a proportion, based upon the proportion of the mileage within this State to the entire mileage over which such operations extend, of the receipts from the operation of motor vehicles passing through, into, or out of this State, or partly within and partly without this State. "Gross receipts" as applied in connection with operations under lease or rental agreements include such amounts as the board under such rules and regulations as it may prescribe determines to be reasonable compensation for the transportation services rendered by the operator.

["Gross receipts" do not include revenue derived by an express company from the shipment of property over the lines of common carriers, but do include revenue derived by an express company from the transportation of property in motor vehicles operated by it.]

SEC. 5. Section 9606.7 of said code is amended to read:

9606.7. In determining the "gross receipts" of any operator, there shall be deducted from his receipts of operation all amounts which he has paid or has obligated himself to pay for bridge and ferry fares or tolls in connection with the operation of motor vehicles in the transportation of persons [or property] for hire or compensation upon the public highways.

SEC. 6. Section 9653 of said code is amended to read:

9653. This part does not apply to operators of motor vehicles operated exclusively within incorporated cities or between incorporated cities or incorporated cities and private property where no portion of the public highway outside the corporate limits of the cities is traversed in such operation.

The tax does not apply to the gross receipts derived from the transportation of persons [or property] wholly within incorporated cities or between incorporated cities or incorporated cities and private property or wholly on private property where no portion of the public highway outside the corporate limits of the cities or private property is traversed in such operation.

SEC. 7. Section 9701 of said code is amended to read:

9701. Every operator of a motor vehicle within this State who transports or desires to transport for compensation or hire persons [or property] upon any public highway within this State shall apply to the board, on such forms as the board may prescribe, for a license to operate motor vehicles for the transportation of persons [or property] for hire or compensation upon public highways in this State.

SEC. 8. Section 9703 of said code is amended to read:

9703. Upon the receipt of the application, accompanied by the required fee, the board shall issue to the applicant a license to transport for compensation or hire persons [or property] upon any public highway within this State. The board may refuse to issue a license to any person to whom a license was previously issued and subsequently revoked for a violation of this part.

SEC. 9. Section 9754 of said code is amended to read:

9754. The board or its authorized representatives may impound the vehicles of an operator whose license has been revoked and who continues to engage in the transportation of persons [or property] for hire or compensation after having been duly notified by the board of the revocation. The board or its representatives may retain possession of the vehicles until all taxes, interest, and penalties due from the operator and all costs incurred in connection with the impounding or storage of the vehicles have been paid.

SEC. 10. Section 10501 of said code is amended to read:

10501. It is unlawful for any person to do any of the following:

(a) Use any public highway in this State for the transportation of persons [or property] for hire or compensation without first obtaining the license required under this part or without carrying upon each motor vehicle so used the number plates or emblems required under this part.

(b) Fail, neglect, or refuse to make any return required under this part or any report required by the board or make any false return.

(c) Refuse to permit the board or any of its representatives to make any examination which the board may make.

(d) Fail to keep records of gross receipts from operations as the board may prescribe.

(e) Violate any other provision of this part

Any person who violates any provision of this section is guilty of a misdemeanor, unless the act is by any other law of this State declared to be a felony."

Amendment No. 3

On page 1 of said bill, strike out lines 2 to 6, inclusive, and insert

"SEC. 11. All provisions of Part 4 of Division 2 of the Revenue and Taxation Code which relate to persons engaging in the transportation of property for hire or compensation are continued in effect as respects the collection of all amounts due and payable thereunder prior to the day provisions of this act become operative and as respects refunds of amounts erroneously paid thereunder.

SEC. 12. The provisions of this act shall become operative on the day this act takes effect, except that if that day is other than the first day of a calendar month, then the provisions of this act shall become operative on the first day of the calendar month next following the day this act takes effect."

By Mr. Lewis:

House Resolution No. 151

Relative to providing adequate clerical assistance to Members of the Assembly

WHEREAS, The Legislature has under consideration at this Session an unprecedented number of bills, resolutions and constitutional amendments; and

WHEREAS, Each Member of the Assembly must necessarily devote a large amount of time to consideration and study of these measures in order to reach intelligent decisions with reference thereto; and

WHEREAS, The aid of a full-time assistant for each member is necessary to enable the members to read, consider and answer the great quantity of mail received relating to such measures; and

WHEREAS, Each Assembly committee needs a full-time secretary in order adequately to perform its duties; and

WHEREAS, At the present time the number of stenographers, secretaries and other clerical assistance are insufficient to provide each member and committee with such assistance; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the standing Committee on Rules and the chairman of that committee are requested to take such action as may be necessary to provide for additional help so that each Member of the Assembly and each standing committee of the Assembly may have the full-time services of at least one stenographic secretary for the remainder of the duration of this session of the Legislature.

Resolution read, and ordered referred to the Committee on Rules.

COMMUNICATIONS

By Speaker Sam L. Collins:

The following communication was received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

WEST OF SACRAMENTO BOYS, INCORPORATED
BERKELEY, CALIFORNIA, April 4, 1949

State Assembly
Sacramento 14, California

HONORABLE BODY: As a citizen and a representative of an organization, from which I have unanimous support, I am writing you this letter to ask that you use your influence and vote to defeat any further restrictions to be put on the sport, or hook and line fisherman We are informed that there is a bill to be proposed during the current session of our legislative to limit the sport fisherman to 15 pounds per license per day

During the last fishing season there was a limit put on certain popular species of deep sea or rock fish of 10 in the aggregate per license per day. This was bad enough especially when the public and the sport fisherman had no voice in this law being passed.

Now let me paint you a picture of what a limit of 15 pounds per license will mean to the average fellow who goes deep sea fishing. First of all, most of them are working men To start out with he has to pay $3 for a license and then when he manages to put aside a few extra dimes to go deep sea fishing, he has to buy bait which costs an average of $1.50 per person per day. He has his tackle to buy, and most every one who deep sea fishes has a good many miles to travel to reach his port He has bridge fare to pay as a rule, then he pays from $3.25 to $6 per day to get aboard the party boat, for which he has already made a long distance phone call for reservations. He climbs aboard with great anticipation of a day's sport and taking home some food, to partly compensate for the cash outlay he has been compelled to spend to have this day Now if he is fortunate and catches one fish weighing 15 pounds or over he must sit and relax until members of the party annex their 15 pounds in the aggregate.

Personally, I was born and raised here in the West and I sincerely and religiously believe that the right to fish with a pole and line from the bank of the river or from the sea is every citizens' heritage and also believe that commercial fishing and their varied powerful interests are responsible in getting laws passed that will soon compel the average workingman to hang up his pole and forget it.

The organization which I represent in this letter has a membership roll of 1,400 odd members which represents a cross section of all the citizens of West Berkeley,

This membership is wholeheartedly in approval of being against any and all laws that will further restrict the privileges of the hook and line fisherman.

As our representatives, we beg of you to use your influence and your vote at all times to defeat any further bills that may come before your body, relative to restrictions on the sport fishing of the common citizen

Appreciating your reply, I am,

Respectfully yours,

M. O. COONS, Assistant Secretary

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by the Chaplain, Dr. Torrance Phelps:

God of the Dawn. May we rejoice today in the floral beauty of this State with its riot of gorgeous flowers and giant vegetation

The gigantic forests, the colossal sequoia and redwood, the forest monarchs of the world, born before Abraham went out of Ur of Chaldees.

The rare trees of our State, the towering eucalyptus, the madrona with its color, and the pepper tree with its feathery leaf and berries of red

May we be grateful for the flowers that flourish so profusely, the wild poppy, our State Flower, the rich poinsettias that adorn Christmas, and the roses which everywhere mass their glory

Above all, may we prize the far-famed parks, where every beauty of color and fragrance abounds, and preserve their grandeur for coming generations.—AMEN.

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT THAT REMARKS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL HOWSER BE PRINTED IN THE JOURNAL

Mr. Doyle asked for unanimous consent that the remarks of the Attorney General, the Hon. Fred N. Howser, made before the Assembly Committee on Ways and Means, yesterday, be printed in the Journal, in 10-point type.

Mr. Sherwin withheld unanimous consent

Motion to Temporarily Suspend the Rules

Mr. Doyle moved that the Rules be temporarily suspended for the purpose of permitting the remarks of Attorney General Fred N. Howser, made before the Assembly Committee on Ways and Means on yesterday, Monday, April 4th, be printed in the Journal, in 10-point type.

Messrs. Geddes and Cramer seconded the motion

Motion carried, it appearing more than two-thirds of the members voting.

REMARKS BY FRED N. HOWSER, ATTORNEY GENERAL OF CALIFORNIA

To the Assembly Committee:

The Special Crime Study Commission of organized crime came to us for the first time in our state history as a result of executive order November 1, 1947, pursuant to Section 6027 of the Penal Code of California. The scope of the study is described as follows:

"(a) The extent to which persons are organized or are otherwise banded together, both inside and outside of this State, for objects and purposes which violate the laws of the State of California.

"(b) The means and methods used by such persons to further and promote their unlawful objects and purposes in California

"(c) The conditions which make possible the continued existence and activity within the State of California of persons who are organized or otherwise banded together, both inside and outside of this State, for purposes which violate the laws of the State of California.

"(d) The measures considered by the commission to be appropriate for recommendation to the Executive, Legislative, and Judicial Departments of the State with the object of eradicating groups organized for unlawful purposes from this State and providing increased protection for the people of the State against the inroads of organized crime.

"Said commission is authorized to seek and receive cooperation and assistance in making its investigations, studies, and reports from all agencies of the Executive Department of this State.

"Said commission is authorized to make partial and interim reports on such subjects within the general scope of its study and at such times as are deemed appropriate by said commission.

"Said commission shall render its final report and recommendations to the Director of Corrections not later than January 15, 1949, and in the manner provided by Section 6028.3 of the Penal Code."

In Part I of its report we find that the commission has, from November, 1947, to March, 1948, held nine meetings. Two of these were on November 17th and 18th upon the inauguration of all commissions. As to the other seven meetings no mention or record is filed indicating the attendance of the members or whether a quorum was present at all under which business could be transacted. I mention this not to question the legality of any finding, but to call attention to the existence of knowledge of the committee membership which certainly goes to its credibility.

Likewise, whether this commission is to continue is the issue, and the Legislature is entitled to know whether these commissions when appointed attend their meetings and give reasonable attention to their duties. I believe it would be interesting to know how many of these meetings were attended by Mr. Harvey S. Mudd, by Mr. William Jeffers, etc.

Having this knowledge we could then come to some reasonable conclusion as to whether this report is in fact a report of outstanding citizens or a report dictated by the commission's attorney.

We are to note in this connection also that the remaining seven meetings were only of one day's duration. How long they were in session on that day is also important for the Legislature to determine how many hours the commission was actually in session From this information we may determine if the report is a product of long hours of study and investigation of the matter, sound consideration or hasty and the product of snap judgment. Again, I say the Legislature is entitled to know (1) how many days the commission met, (2) how long the meetings were, (3) who was present at the meetings, (4) what facts were presented to the members, (5) who presented these facts, (6) was the presentation through witnesses or (7) reports of investigators, and (8) who wrote the record—the actual drafting.

The first objective of the commission, according to its report, Part I, was to determine whether organized crime does in truth exist in California. It is stated in this report that "its studies leave no doubt as to the answer—organized crime does exist"

If so—what actual proof has the commission presented?

After making this finding of fact, the commission proceeds to state conclusions without supplying evidence acceptable to our courts to substantiate their position This I shall only mention now and will discuss more fully later.

Legitimate, bona fide sources of evidence were not consulted.

As to assistance received from the local public officers little mention is made, and to excuse the commission of its own deficiencies they blame powerful organized gangs who throttle government through their duly elected officials who, in turn, according to the commission, have refused to render them aid.

To the commission it appears inconceivable that any person could have good and legitimate reasons or bona fidely not agree with their approach of the problem On one point all respectable citizens are in agreement—organization for crime must go, but let us do it legitimately through our regular processes of constitutional government and not cast a public distrust upon those officers who have the duty and the power to act, by a committee that, by its own admission, states that it hasn't the duty nor the power to take corrective action.

It is open to question whether lurid and extravagant recitations of supposed criminal conditions—virtually unsupported by evidence which will stand the test of a court of law—contribute to suppression of crime. Such abandoned and misguided statements, since they may tend to discredit established law enforcement agencies and paint a broad picture of unchecked and uncombatted lawlessness, may in effect give aid and comfort to criminals. Long-existent, dependable and honest law enforcement officers may be made to appear ridiculous and ineffective in the face of what the commission claims to have uncovered, but its claims and production are two different things. It claims fact, and has produced fiction. We can't prosecute crime on such a basis. We need facts—not suppositions.

In Part I, at page 3, of the introduction, the commission has candidly stated that it has exceeded its jurisdiction, "when serious prosecution has been undertaken by an appropriate agency against persons playing an important part in the organization of crime in the State, the commission has assisted with its staff with every resource which it commands."

The "assistance" to which the commission here refers is the help it gave in the prosecution at Ukiah, in which the defendants were charged with attempting to organize a payoff racket on existing slot machines. It must be noted that the charges in this case and the "assistance" of the commission in the prosecution are projected upon the basic fact that slot machines were in operation in the county. Despite this fact the commission made no report of the existence of the machines except by inference, and voiced no criticism of their existence. Specifically, despite "assistance" in the Ukiah prosecution the commission did not report (1) existence of the machines, (2) by whom operated, (3) to whom revenue was paid, and (4) whether operation was possible because of local law enforcement laxity.

The commission claimed that by its participation in the Ukiah trial it prevented spread of a protection racket throughout the State. But again it is pertinent to note (1) slot machines must first be in operation before (2) any attempt can be made to organize a protection racket on them.

Nor did the commission report that during the trial of these defendants on charges of attempting to organize a protection racket on slot machines, such machines continued in operation throughout the county—a fact that could have been ascertained (if it were not explicitly known to the commission).

The commission seemingly prides itself on participation in the Ukiah trial (Part I, page 3), but compare this with page 3, Exhibit 1, wherein a portion of a letter by the Attorney General calls attention to a meeting May 26, 1948, with Mr. Olney and Governor Warren, wherein the investigation of an operative for the Crime Commission was discussed. This investigation as discussed disclosed a clear violation of Section 337a of the Penal Code. At this meeting the Attorney General demanded the investigator swear out a complaint, since a felony had been committed in his presence The suggestion was violently opposed by Mr. Olney and the Governor. Reference is also made to this same letter wherein the Attorney General suggested the investigator, Mr. Hanson, and his undercover agents, submit all their evidence to the District Attorney of Riverside County—this suggestion by the Attorney General likewise being rejected.

What distinction separates these two transactions in the minds of the commission? First they state with pride that the commission exceeded its jurisdiction, and next (with bold sham) they excuse their inactivity in the face of facts exclusively within their knowledge of their own agents.

The answer to this puzzle is obvious, as the former reference relates to the prosecution of an ex-member of my staff, and political implications are involved The latter case refers to "just a bookmaker"; and this man frankly admitted he had been engaged in bookmaking for the past 14 years, this fact dating his unlawful business back to the time when Mr. Olney was Assistant Attorney General.

This type of conduct by the commission's agents is now specifically directed to the attention of the Legislature.

The commission's recommendations on the bookmaking racket fall into two classifications, the first pertaining to bringing about through the Federal Communications Commission adoption of a rule similar to that adopted by the California Public Utilities Commission requiring all communication companies to refuse service on notice by a law enforcement agency that the facilities are being used to violate the laws of the states. Secondly, that the California Department of Justice, of which I am the head, investigated the present network of telephone service and abate the same.

Certain observations are to be made:

1. The commission admits its own deficiency and returns to the Legislature for action in its recommendations to get the job done.

2. It again returns to constitutional government to get the job done in asking the Attorney General to use his office to secure the support of such a program through the National Association of Attorneys General.

3. It again returns to constitutional government in asking the Attorney General to sustain any proceedings in the United States Supreme Court.

4. It again returns to constitutional government in asking the State Department of Justice to investigate the telephone service and abate the same.

5. That although the Attorney General did on March 7, 1949, request of the commission that it supply all facts upon which the commission based its recommendations as of this date no such evidence has been forthcoming.

6. That although the Attorney General has requested $10,000 from the Governor to finance this requested investigation of utmost urgency and importance, the Governor after 30 days still has this request under advisement.

In any event, may I endeavor to analyze these recommendations for your determination as to their real worth.

First, we learn from the report that bookmaking is a true lottery. This is presented to you as an astounding announcement or discovery, but any person in practical law enforcement will tell you it has been known and used in practice by police and prosecuting agencies for years.

Secondly, the real necessity to maintain bookmaking or this lottery is the horse race itself. This main necessity is casually and only incidentally mentioned by the commission itself. Whether this has been motivated by the fact three members of the commission and its staff are and have been closely associated in the financing, management, and operation of one of the world's largest racing plants, is a fact with which we need not necessarily here concern ourselves.

Thirdly, we are told the abolition of racing in California would have little effect on the menace of bookmaking; and that Fourthly, the wire service is the "juicy financial plum" (that is the prize for racketeers) and that bookmaking is always accompanied by fixing and corruption of public officials. No evidence is given in this report substantiating this violent statement and its implicit affront to the public officialdom of California, nor is there a single instance where the commission has referred their "evidence" to any proper authority for action.

Let us look at this so-called juicy plum so painstakingly described by the Crime Commission We are told of its evils and we are referred to another report of another Crime Commission in Chicago as authority in this report for its factional existence. Both reports are full of statements, but contain no evidence acceptable by our courts as evidence. It is upon the unsubstantiated representations of the Chicago Crime Report that we are to accept as gospel that Capone and his gang operate here in California; and even if we assumed the Chicago Report were completely true as to events set forth as applicable there, that is the business of Chicago.

I earnestly urge you to interrogate any law enforcement agency in California as to the truth of these statements, and as Members of the Legislature to ask yourselves "Is this a scheme on which you are willing to spend the taxpayers money?" To have reproduced for your consumption the report of a Chicago Crime Commission? What is this authority —the Chicago Crime Commission is not a legislative body nor a duly constituted body created by the Legislature of Illinois, possessed of any police power, but is the creation of the association of commerce. In other words, it is a part of the Chamber of Commerce of the City of Chicago.

Slashing through pages of recitations, we find a bookie wire service was stopped in California, and the report admits it was terminated under order of the Attorney General. The report likewise admits, even though this wire service was so terminated, that bookmaking continued, but it refers to it as a petty thing of only local significance. The report states that the California Public Utilities Commission adopted its order permitting termination of service on notice from any law enforcing agency, but according to the Crime Commission Report, bookmaking still continues, even though the California Public Utilities Commission's order applies with equal force to wire service and telephone service

It appears we go all around the barn when we read page 24 of Part I, and I quote:

> "It is true that removal of the wire still leaves open to bookmakers a number of other sources, such as the offices of scratch sheets and newspapers and radio broadcasts, from which race results, mutuel prices and other gambling information can be secured. If information from these sources is too slow, which is nearly always the case for any considerable volume of business, it is still possible for a California bookmaker to secure speedier transmission of information by means of a long distance telephone call to some bookmaker or 'wire service' center outside the State."

At page 26, Part I, it is stated:

> "A new network is now beginning to appear for the dissemination of bookmaking information."

It is, therefore, noteworthy that passage of rules, whether by State or Federal Communications Commissions does not stop bookmaking, and that little can be gained in following the commission's recommendations of (a), (b), (c) and (d).

If we are to stop bookmaking we must get at the cause—and that is, horse racing. If horse racing is to continue the establishment of legalized bookmaking should be considered. I see no worth in the commission's argument that licensees would be selected by those who control the wire service and not by the State. That is like saying the hen will decide who buys eggs from the farmer. Certainly our State does have the police power to control and regulate such activity affecting its people and as related to its business it regulates and controls such as the tracks in its jurisdiction.

In any event do you need a Crime Commission to tell you these things? If so, what purpose do the interim committees of the Legislature serve?

So far, gentlemen, I do most respectfully submit, I do not see any justification, and if the continuance or creation of this commission isn't political, why is it then we see all this attention attracted to it? Volumes of newspaper clippings upon it and numerous political candidates who are active in California try to attract attention to themselves through this commission. What a spectacle it would have been if former Governor Olson had created a Crime Commission during the incumbency of Earl Warren as Attorney General. It is even reasonably conceivable that the lasting close friendship of Bob Kenny and Earl Warren might have become strained if this commission had been inaugurated and permitted to disport itself during the Kenny term of office.

Let me now turn to Part II of the report and observe the recommendations contained therein. It is notable that none of them are of importance other than the recommendation of the Attorney General of last November 16th (conveyed to a legislative committee last December 8th) making mere possession of slot machines unlawful.

After a preliminary voyage with the commission through the various national associations engaged in this business, we are told of the number of machines reflected by the Federal Internal Revenue Offices. This report makes it clear the Federal Internal Revenue Department is not doing its job, if the report is to be relied upon. Here, again, we have some of the commission's hocus pocus, and there is a fact that should be brought out at this point, to wit: It does not take a Crime Commission to get this information from the federal offices. Any person has an equal opportunity.

The commission admits it has no accurate estimate of the amount of money taken from the public by slot machine operators in California. We have merely a loose statement that there are slot machines. We are not told (as I said before) where they are located, and specifically, who owns and operates them, or what that estimated revenue is. We are merely informed they are around somewhere, and although the commission does not infer that it is the fault of the Attorney General of California that slot machines exist in Chicago, you sort of get the idea that California's Attorney General should be held accountable for the moral condition of every community in this State.

But again the commission goes to the findings of the Chicago Crime Commission for the year of 1939, 10 years ago, and also goes to Colliers' magazine of February, 1949. I am not impressed when the commission estimates California's present situation on the basis of what the Chicago Crime Commission reported existed in Chicago some ten years ago.

The Crime Commission's report at page 8, Part II, states "the reputed head of the racket is Frank Costello of New York" and at page 10, Part II, "the true relationship between these gangsters and the slot machine manufacturers, distributors, operators and the trade association is not known." We are then paraded from New York to Louisiana and what is the basis of proof? Competent evidence admissible by our courts? No—the basis is Life magazine and again the report of the Chicago Crime Commission.

Our State has reached a new low when re-editing of old crime reports, magazine articles, and best sellers can be offered up as justification of an expenditure of $100,000 of the taxpayers money.

We are taken through Santa Cruz, Kern, and Yuba Counties between pages 14 to 30, inclusive, of Part II of this report. Here we have misstatements of fact, and the employment of the device of implication and innuendo, to paint a lurid story seeking to involve the Office of the Attorney General.

It is significant to read page 18, Part II; I quote:

> "The commission's studies have not involved, directly or indirectly, an appraisal, comparative or otherwise, of the performance of local law enforcement agencies."

Yet it cannot be denied that rackets cannot exist without the knowledge, consent, or participation of local law enforcement agencies. This acknowledgment, of itself, is final, complete, and inescapable proof that the Crime Commission Report is a nullity—that the State paid $100,000 for nothing. The statement quoted was made to shield a glaring weakness of the commission in not placing responsibility where it belongs, because it was not political expedience to do so at the time.

As to this phase of the report, what has come of it? For what legitimate purpose was it used? What was done with this "information"? Was it referred to any prosecuting agency?

There is a negative answer to all these questions. No use was made of the supposed "evidence" and it was not referred to any prosecuting agency. The commission's actions in combination with its reports clearly show that it had only one clearly defined objective, and that was to impugn the name of the Attorney General and cast doubts on the efficacy of the State Department of Justice. What civic virtue is to be found in a public group which devotes its major efforts to an assault on the reputation of the chief law enforcement officer of this State, and his department, and seeks to hide its political activities under a smokescreen of fantastic charges that the State is overrun with criminals, and the lives and property of its citizens endangered?

Certainly the commission took action to aid in at least one prosecution, and the only action taken was in Mendocino County because that matter possibly involved one of the former agents of the Attorney General's Office. I think we all can agree that if, as reported in its reports, any evidence of unlawful conduct existed in Santa Cruz, Kern, Yuba, or any other county, the commission would have insisted on a prosecution.

In passing, we see the full resources of the Crime Commission and of the home county of our present Governor thrown into this Mendocino County by the use of the facilities of the Alameda County District

Attorney's Office and Sheriff's Office, even though the Crime Commission states at page 33, Part II of its report, "* * * it was considered that this course was not in excess of the directives in the executive order appointing the commission * * *."

For bulk we are again returned at page 36, Part II, of the report to Chicago, we are told of the terrible things there, of the unlawful experiences up in Idaho, of happenings down in Florida, how crime happens in England, what the gangsters are doing in Oklahoma, the suffering of the people as a result of crime in South Carolina, and Massachusetts, and Minnesota, are thrown in for good results and we come to a stop at page 58.

But what of California? The greatest crime of all was clearly set forth in the commission's report—it was the crime of taking $100,000 from the taxpayers of California, and giving them in return, along with an insult to their intelligence, a false, fictitious, and fearful tale of crime, which as evidence in a court of law and as an effective weapon in the fight against crime, bears no more weight than one of the pages upon which it is written.

Pages 36 to 58 give us 22 pages of bulk—22 pages of stuff you could get compiled for $100 by any informed newspaper reporter in the Country. I think it is high time someone is asking just what has the State received for $100,000 and what can it expect to receive in the future if the commission is continued by this Legislature, and I would like to have the Governor of this State tell the taxpayers just what is proposed.

You men have provided and organized the State Department of Justice. You are financing it together with other duly constituted law enforcement agencies. The laws of this State are being enforced. This commission, not by its creation or by its duly constituted power, but through its extra jurisdictional functions, which it feels it is big enough to get by with, duplicates and interferes with the due administration of justice in this State. In the hands of its present management, it is dangerous and should be voted out of existence.

Mr. Coats moved the adoption of the following amendment:

Amendment No. 1

On page 3, line 47, of the printed bill, as amended in the Assembly on March 25, 1949, after "such", insert "employment, how much he is paid and is to receive, by whom he is paid or is to be paid, how much he is to be paid for expenses, and what expenses are to be included. Each such person so registering shall, between the first and tenth day of each calendar month, so long as his activity continues, file with the clerk and secretary a detailed report under oath of all money received and expended by him during the preceding calendar month in carrying on his work, to whom paid; for what purposes; and the".

Amendment read.

Point of Order

Mr. Dickey arose to the following point of order: That Mr. Coats is trying to place back into the bill portions previously amended out of it, and that his amendment is not in order.

Ruling by Speaker

Speaker Sam L. Collins ruled the point of order well taken.

Appeal From Decision of the Chair

Mr. Coats appealed from the decision of the Chair.

Decision Sustained

The roll was called, and the decision of the Speaker was sustained by the following vote:

AYES—Berry, Brown, Burke, Butters, Clarke, Connolly, Conrad, Cramer, Crichton, Crowley, Dickey, Doyle, Dunn, Evans, Fletcher, Gaffney, Geddes, Grant, Hawkins, Hoffman, Kilpatrick, Levering, Lincoln, Lipscomb, Luckel, Maloney, McCollister, McMillan, Meyers, Morris, Niehouse, Smith, Stanley, Thomas, Tomlinson, Waters, Way, and Weber—38.

The question being on the passage of Assembly Bill No. 3.

Request for Unanimous Consent That, If Necessary, Additional Time Be Allowed for Debate

Mr. Collier asked for unanimous consent that, if necessary, he be permitted to use additional time for his opening remarks.

Mr. Dunn withheld unanimous consent.

Motion That Mr. Collier Be Granted Additional Time for Debate

Mr. Lowrey moved that, if necessary, Mr. Collier be given more than the 10 minutes allowed him for his opening remarks on Assembly Bill No. 3.

Mr. Grunsky seconded the motion.

Motion carried.

The question being on the passage of Assembly Bill No. 3.

Point of Order

Mr. Collier arose to the following point of order: That Mr. Maloney is taking too much latitude in his remarks, and is not in order.

Ruling by Speaker

Speaker Sam L. Collins ruled that, as Mr. Collier had been given great latitude by being allowed 35 minutes for his opening remarks, his point of order is not well taken.

The question being on the passage of Assembly Bill No 3.

Demand for Previous Question

Messrs. Grunsky, Connolly, Kirkwood, Lindsay, and Waters demanded the previous question.

Demand for previous question sustained.

The question being on the passage of Assembly Bill No 3

Request for Unanimous Consent That He Be Permitted to Read Excerpts From Report

Mr. Collier asked for unanimous consent that he be allowed to read excerpts from the Philbrick Report.

Mr. Geddes withheld unanimous consent on the premise that Mr. Collier has long exceeded his time.

Point of Order

Mr. Cramer arose to the following point of order: That Mr Collier has exceeded his time.

Ruling by Speaker

Speaker Sam L. Collins ruled the point of order well taken.

The question being on the passage of Assembly Bill No 3

The roll was called, and the bill passed by the following vote:

AYES—Anderson, Babbage, Beck, Bennett, Berry, Brady, Brown, Burkhalter, Caldecott, Coats, Collier, George D Collins, Condon, Connolly, Conrad, Cooke, Crichton, Davis, Dickey, Clayton A. Chief Clerk Arthur A. Ohnimus at the desk.

RESOLUTIONS

By Mr. Maloney:

House Resolution No. 152

Resolution relative to the Thirtieth Wedding Anniversary of Verne and Ethel Hoffman

WHEREAS, There is a well known slogan entitled "Chickens come home to roost"; and

WHEREAS, That slogan cheerfully and happily fits into the married career of Verne and Ethel Hofman, because 30 years ago today on April 5, 1919, the honeymoon of this lovely couple was spent in the City of Sacramento where there is located the State Capitol of this glorious State of California, and

WHEREAS, From the very first day in the fall of 1916 when Ethel Jack, now Mrs. Hoffman, was a freshman at the University of California, and he a senior, there might have been misconnections; however, love at first glance became a certainty, for in the fall of 1917, while a Cadet at the School of Military Aeronautics, Verne Hoffman became brave enough to pop the question of marriage, which was readily accepted by Ethel, and an engagement followed; and

WHEREAS, Returning from the military, Verne came back to California, learned that the engagement was still on, and on April 5, 1919, the knot was tied A happy marriage took place and during those past 30 years nothing but joy filled their hearts and lives While Ethel assumed her duties as a housewife, Verne worked for the Agricultural Extension Service as a farm advisor. Being obsessed with the idea of progressing, in 1921 they moved to Lodi, and, from the uncultivated soil, developed their own property, where they built their present home on a piece-meal basis. While times were tough, Verne and Ethel went through the depression of 1930 in the same manner as they did in the '20s when times in their household were a little tougher; and

WHEREAS, In 1921 Verne Hoffman Junior was born, and then in 1923 Bob made his appearance, followed in 1928 by the lovely features of a daughter, Marolyn Hoffman; and

WHEREAS, So to carry on in the good old American Way, Verne Hoffman with fortitude and courage, in order to support his family and buy a ranch, taught school for 22 years, and retired from teaching in 1944 Verne Jr., is a graduate of Utah State Agricultural College, and Bob is a graduate from the University of California, and also attending this great institution of learning, is Marolyn

Verne and Ethel Hoffman, celebrating their Thirtieth Wedding Anniversary in Sacramento today, are blessed with a grandson, Gary Bruce Hoffman, who is the apple of the eyes of both of his grandparents; now, therefore be it

Resolved, That the Members of the Assembly extend to Verne and Ethel Hoffman their heartiest congratulations on this their Thirtieth Wedding Anniversary, and hope and trust and pray that their future married life will be just as happy as the last 30 years spent together; and be it further

Resolved, That an engrossed copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Honorable Assemblyman and Mrs Verne Hoffman

Request for Unanimous Consent

Mr. Maloney asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent to take up House Resolution No. 152, at this time, without reference to committee or file.

Resolution read, and adopted unanimously.

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT THAT ASSEMBLY BILL NO. 1670 BE WITHDRAWN FROM FILE, AND BE RE-REFERRED

Mr. Fleury asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent that Assembly Bill No. 1670 be withdrawn from the file, and be re-referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

FURTHER PROCEEDINGS UNDER CALL OF THE ASSEMBLY DISPENSED WITH ON ASSEMBLY BILL NO. 2212

At 12.07 p.m., on motion of Mr. Butters, further proceedings under the call of the Assembly were dispensed with

The names of the absentees were called, and Assembly Bill No. 2212 passed by the following vote:

AYES—Babbage, Brady, Burke, Burkhalter, Butters, Clarke, Collier, Conrad, Cooke, Cramer, Crichton, Dolwig, Doyle, Erwin, Fletcher, Fleury, Gaffney, Grant, Hagen, Heisinger, Hinckley, Hoffman, Kirkwood, Levering, Lincoln, Lindsay, Lipscomb, Luckel, Maloney, McCollister, Meyers, Morris, Moss, Niehouse, Reagan, Sherwin, Smith, Stanley, Stewart, Thomas, Thompson, Waters, Way, Weber, and Mr Speaker—45.

NOES—Anderson, Beck, Bennett, Berry, Caldecott, Coats, George D. Collins, Condon, Connolly, Crowley, Davis, Dickey, Elliott, Evans, Geddes, Grunsky, Hahn, Hawkins, Kilpatrick, Lowrey, McCarthy, McMillan, Rosenthal, and Rumford—24.

Bill ordered transmitted to the Senate.

MEMBERS EXCUSED

At 12.09 p m., Mr. Reagan asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent that Mr. Price be excused, for the balance of the legislative day, because of illness.

COMMUNICATIONS

By Speaker Sam L. Collins:

A telegram from Annie Ellenberger of Hayward, relative to urging the Legislature to discontinue the Crime Commission, was received, and ordered referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

By Speaker Sam L. Collins:

The following communication was received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA
PRINTING DIVISION, SACRAMENTO 14, April 4, 1949

Mr. Randal Dickey, Chairman
Assembly Rules Committee
State Capitol, Sacramento 14, California

DEAR MR. DICKEY: In conformance with your request relative to the possibility of changing present procedure of handling amended bills to a new procedure wherein bills would carry all successive amendments in each progressive printing until passed, we have given the matter considerable thought. There is no doubt that something could be worked out but I would like to call the following matters to your attention:

1. Present procedure has been in practice for a number of years and thoroughly understood by our plant personnel, the legislative amending clerks, the general public, as well as the membership of the Legislature and the staff of the Legislative Counsel Bureau Any new system wherein all successive amendments were carried on the original bill in the progressive handling as well as in the final enrolled bill would greatly increase the possibilities of error.

2. The carrying of successive amendments would increase number of pages in many bills, complicate plant storage problem, and increase the cost of printing of the amended and enrolled bills

3 Under normal procedure in the last month of regular sessions, when both houses are giving final passage to a great number of bills, the plant is squeezed hard to get the enrolled bills out promptly along with the legislative publications. If all successive amendments were carried on each bill, practically all of the amended bills would have to be completely reset under such procedure during a period when time is of utmost importance, and would hold up considerably the production and receipt of enrolled bills, and cause great inconvenience and delay to the officials in both houses in leaving after final adjournment, as well as create problems in the Governor's Office during the official bill signing period, unless present Government Code provisions are amended to increase time allowed for bill signing.

4. A summary of bills amended during March, 1949, follows:

Total bills amended			483=100%
Bills amended 1 time	Assembly	270
	Senate	158	428= 89%
Bills amended 2 times	Assembly	25
	Senate	26	51= 10%
Bills amended 3 times	Assembly	2
	Senate	2	4= 1%

It is observed the percentage of bills carrying more than one amendment is small and any advantage to be gained by any change in present procedure must be carefully weighed against all factors mentioned. However, it might not be so difficult mechanically if the Printing Division is able to secure larger quarters in the not too far distant future and additional linotype machines can be installed and manned as the increased facilities would permit us to take care of greater peaks in handling of enrolled bills as well as the production of bills in the original introduction period.

If it is desired to go further into the matter, we shall be pleased to do so, and I would suggest members of the staff of the Legislative Counsel Bureau be present at any future discussion as there may be preparation problems in their office with which we are not familiar, as well as the mechanical problems and production problems which follow in the Printing Division

Yours very truly,

PAUL E. GALLAGHER, State Printer

Quorum present.

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by the Chaplain, Dr. Torrance Phelps:

Spirit of Beauty: Thou hast said, "Behold the Birds of the Air"

May we behold our State as the Paradise of birds of every species and zone—

The plumed valley quail, our State Bird, the yellow oriole and goldfinch, the gay brown wren and the iridescent green humming bird, the blue crested jay and the snow and green herons of the bayous

May we greet the day with the joy of the russet thrush, which at earliest dawn sings with its rich sweet song, and as the green vireo warbling with bell-like melody

Let us covet the persistence of the white headed woodpecker, which merrily attacks the thickest and toughest bark, and the pine grossbeak which revels in swirling clouds of snow

The serenity of the desert song sparrow, which "in rain or shine is the same jolly fellow," and the poise of the lark singing on a weed with a silver tremolo

Let us aspire like the glossy green swallow breaking into song as he rises to the peaks of the Everlasting Hills —AMEN.

SEC. 3. Section 26003 of said code is amended to read:

26003. (a) The fee for filing an original or supplemental application for a permit to issue securities (except applications for permits to issue certificates of deposit, any guarantee of any security, or securities evidencing any change in the rights, preferences, privileges, or restrictions on outstanding securities, the fees for which applications are fixed in Sections 26006, 26007, and [28008] 26008, respectively) is twenty dollars ($20), plus the sum of the following:

(1) Fifteen one-hundredths of 1 percent of the amount of any excess of the aggregate value of the securities sought to be issued over one thousand dollars ($1,000) and not exceeding fifty thousand dollars ($50,000).

(2) Five one-hundredths of 1 percent of such amount in excess of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) and not exceeding one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000).

(3) Three one-hundredths of 1 percent of such amount in excess of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000) and not exceeding five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000).

(4) One one-hundredth of 1 percent of such amount in excess of five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000).

(b) For the purpose of determining the fees fixed in subdivision (a):

(1) The value of the securities shall be their par or face value unless the consideration for the securities is in excess of their par or face value, in which case the value shall be the amount of the consideration so received.

(a) Where the securities have no nominal or par value, the value of the securities shall be the price at which the company proposes to sell or issue the securities, or the value, as alleged in the application, or the actual value, as determined by the commissioner, of the consideration (if other than money) to be received in exchange therefor. However, until a new value has been established, each share of no par value stock shall have a value equal to the value which has been established by previous sales for money or other property of other shares of the same class

(3) Interim or voting trust certificates shall have a value equal to the aggregate value of the securities to be represented by the interim or voting trust certificates.

(4) Rights, warrants, or other certificates evidencing stockholder's rights to purchase additional securities shall have a value equal to the difference between the selling price of the securities represented by the rights, warrants, or other certificates and the market value of the securities so represented at the date of filing of application

(5) Where an application is made to issue securities containing a provision entitling the holders thereof to convert or exchange them for a different class of securities, the value of the securities to be so issued shall be an amount equal to twice the amount of the consideration to be received for the securities containing the conversion or exchange provision."

"SECTION 1. Section 4 of the Public Utilities Act is amended to read:

Sec. 4. The commission shall have power to appoint as attorney to the commission an attorney at law of this State, who shall hold office during the pleasure of the commission. It shall be the right and the duty of the attorney to represent and appear for [the people of the State of California and] the commission in all actions and proceedings involving any question under this act or under any order or act of the commission, and, if directed to do so by the commission, to intervene, if possible, in any action or proceeding in which any such question is involved; to commence, prosecute and expedite the final determination of all actions and proceedings directed or authorized by the commission; to advise the commission and each commissioner, when so requested, in regard to all matters in connection with the powers and duties of the commission and the members thereof; and generally to perform all duties and services as attorney to the commission which the commission may require of him.

SEC. 2. Section 4.5 is added to said act to read:

Sec. 4.5. The Governor shall have power to appoint a People's Counsel for a term of four years, at a salary of eight thousand five hundred dollars ($8,500) per year, to be removable by the Governor for incompetency, inefficiency, or neglect of duty, after hearing had upon written charges Such People's Counsel shall be an attorney at law of this State, and qualified by knowledge and experience to practice in public utility proceedings. He shall be entitled to, and when requested by the commission he shall, appear on behalf of ratepayers, patrons and the public in all proceedings before the commission or any examiner thereof, including all applications, petitions, and complaints filed with the commission, regardless of whether a hearing is granted, all hearings and rehearings before the commission or an examiner thereof, all proceedings for review of orders or decisions of the commission, all actions in any court in which the commission is a party, and all other proceedings before the commission or any court in which the subject matter of the proceeding affects the ratepayers or patrons of any public utility, or the public.

Upon the institution of any proceeding before the commission in which the People's Counsel is authorized to appear, the commission shall immediately notify such People's Counsel thereof and transmit to him a copy of the application, petition or complaint filed therein. The People's Counsel shall have the right, with the consent of the applicants, petitioners or complainants, when said application, petition or complaint is filed on behalf of the ratepayers, patrons or the public, to make such amendments to such application, petition or complaint as he may deem advisable The commission shall not proceed to hear any such application, petition, complaint or proceeding in which said People's Counsel is entitled to appear until he shall have had at least ten days' notice thereof, unless he shall have waived the same. In all proceedings before the commission and in any court in which he shall appear, the People's Counsel shall have charge of the interests of the ratepayers and patrons of the utility and utilities involved and he shall give notice of such hearing to all municipalities, corporations, or organizations, and persons parties to such proceeding, suit or action, other than such utility or utilities. In addition to such notice given by such People's Counsel, the commission shall give the notices otherwise required by law.

Services of all engineers, experts and accountants of the commission may be availed of by such People's Counsel in the performance of his duties as such, and they shall make such appraisals and audits as the People's Counsel, with the approval of the commission, may request, and he shall have access to the records and files of said commission. With the advice and consent of the Governor, such People's Counsel may employ examiners, experts, engineers, assistant counsels, accountants, stenographers and other clerical employees, at such salaries and compensation and for such length of time as the Governor may approve. The salaries of the People's Counsel and said assistants and employees, and their necessary expenses while traveling on public business, shall be paid by the State Treasurer out of the appropriation for the support of the commission, on warrants drawn by the State Controller.

Nothing in this section contained shall be construed to prevent any party interested in such proceeding, suit or action from appearing in person or from being represented by counsel therein.

The first appointment under this section shall be an interim appointment for a term commencing one month after the effective date of this act, and continuing until February 1, 1951 On and after said date, the appointments shall be for 4-year terms commencing February 1st of the year following each gubernatorial election.

Mr. Gaffney asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent that the remarks of Captain Nachman Kaplansky, made during recess, be reduced to writing, and ordered printed in the Journal, as follows:

REMARKS BY CAPTAIN NACHMAN KAPLANSKY

Mr. Collins, Speaker, and Members of the Assembly:

It is a particular honor and privilege for me to be allowed today to address this session of the Assembly of the State of California. It is a particular honor and privilege, because I come here simply as a soldier, a member and delegate of the Army of Israel.

With other soldiers from our ranks, I am one of a group brought to this Country to inform the people of America about the State of Israel.

Coming here as a soldier of our Army, I am essentially on a mission of good will. I bring to the people of the United States, and on this occasion to the people of the Commonwealth of California, the friendship and esteem of our young republic.

Israel, the youngest republic on earth, looks with admiration and fellowship toward your older, established, great Nation. To us, the United States is and has been an inspiration and a guide, as well as a helping friend.

Yet, since I come as a soldier, dressed in the uniform of my country, I feel I must say a few words about the months of war we have just gone through.

Israel is a country dedicated to peace. Peace is the very basis of our life. Our daily greeting to each other, "Shalom," means Peace. Our insignia bears the olive-branch of peace. And still, in the name of peace, we had to make war.

Our new republic was proclaimed with peaceful aims. But we were invaded, and obliged to fight back. We feel that we can say, without lack of modesty, that we have proved we cherish our independence and national integrity. My fallen comrades have shown how we can fight for them

Now, the peace is won. Our country is ours. We are free to dedicate ourselves to the principles on which it was founded.

We can now devote ourselves to building up Israel as a free country—not only for ourselves—not only for those who were born and bred there—but also for those fellow-Jews who can find no homes elsewhere.

We want Israel to become and remain a haven for all those homeless Jews who have been so sorely tried within the past two decades—a haven which will also be open in the future to anyone who may be forced to take refuge there from unbearable conditions in other countries.

Yet, we do not feel this is our struggle alone. All of us, together, fought a victorious war against Hitler. And the salvation of displaced Jews is only the continuation of that fight. For, if they were allowed to perish, Hitler in the end would have achieved his purpose.

So, by opening our country as a refuge, we feel we are carrying to its logical conclusion the victorious enterprise in which we were all associated.

And, as a free country, we aim to make and keep Israel a true democracy. It is and must remain a country where men can have freedom of thought, freedom of speech, freedom of worship—whether they are Jews, Christians, Moslems, or members of other creeds—and a country guaranteeing to all a secret ballot, a system of fair parliamentary representation, and conditions of life as fine as can be provided.

It is to establish these principles that we fought back the invader.

And because we fought for these principles, we like to think—and to think proudly—that our recent War of Liberation can be compared to the War of Independence your own ancestors fought from 1776 to 1783.

Gentlemen, on behalf of the young Army of Israel, which I have had the honor of representing here today, I thank you for having accorded me this opportunity to present to you a statement of our aims, and for having given me your friendly attention.

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT TO TAKE UP RECONSIDERATION OF ASSEMBLY BILL NO. 1022

By Mr. Maloney:

The following communication was received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

COPY
SAN FRANCISCO CHAMBER OF COMMERCE
SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA, April 1, 1949

Hon. Randal F. Dickey, Chairman
Assembly Interim Committee on Water Pollution and Industrial Waste
State Capitol, Sacramento, California

DEAR MR. DICKEY: The Board of Directors of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, upon recommendation of its Special Projects Section, desires to express its appreciation for the excellent manner in which the Assembly Interim Committee on Water Pollution and Industrial Waste has conducted its activities. A review of the bills which your committee has introduced in the January, 1949, Session of the Legislature indicates the general problem of water pollution has been approached from the standpoint of serving and protecting the best interests of the people in the State.

As you know, early in 1946 the Special Projects Section initiated action as a result of which, in 1947, the State Assembly enacted legislation which appropriated funds and established the Assembly Interim Committee on Water Pollution and Industrial Waste. Since that time the section has carefully followed the progress of the interim committee.

The San Francisco Chamber endorses your general program of:

(1) Making a distinction between "Contamination" which involves a disease hazard affecting the public health and "Pollution" which does not impair the use of the waters of the State for beneficial purposes.

(2) Making use of existing local agencies for pollution control, which agencies shall function in cooperation with regional boards established in accordance with the seven watershed areas of the State or appropriate subdivisions thereof.

(3) Establishment of a State Water Pollution Control Board consisting of the chairmen of the individual regional boards with the directors of the State Departments of Public Health, Natural Resources, Agriculture, the State Engineer and the Chairman of the Fish and Game Commission serving in an advisory capacity.

(4) Replacing the present unsatisfactory permit system by offering appeal to court action by violators and the issuance of an injunction to restrain any person from continuing a practice causing pollution.

(5) Giving to the Department of Public Health full jurisdiction over the control of contamination involving health and disease hazards.

The Chamber recognizes that the committee's bills as now presented are in skeleton form and that you are soliciting suggestions for amendments from both governmental and industrial groups. In this connection, we are supporting the program of the California Association of Production Industries and endorse their suggestions for amendment, which we understand have already been presented for your consideration.

The Chamber wishes to thank you for the cooperation your committee has shown all parties concerned, both governmental and industrial, in endeavoring to provide fair and equitable laws for the control of pollution. It is our belief that the passage of your committee's bills, particularly as set forth in Assembly Bill No. 2034 and Assembly Bill No. 2156, will establish beneficial laws for controlling waste disposal, reflecting the best interests of the public health, industry, agriculture, fish and wild life and the other interests which go to make up this great State.

Sincerely,

(Signed) HENRY E. NORTH, President

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolution was offered:

By Messrs. Dunn and Lincoln:

House Resolution No. 153

Relating to printing and distribution of scrolls containing the Great Seal and other emblems of the State of California

WHEREAS, For many years the Secretary of State has distributed, especially to school children, a printed scroll, bearing the State Colors and other official emblems of the State of California, attractively designed and beautifully displayed; and

WHEREAS, These printed scrolls have been received with the greatest pleasure and pridefully treasured by the children who have received them; and

WHEREAS, The greatest distribution of these scrolls has been among the many hundreds of school children visiting sessions of the California Legislature, to whom these scrolls mean a treasured souvenir of their visit, as well as imparting to them a sense of the dignity and prestige of their State; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Secretary of State is requested to cause to be printed as a public document, for distribution without charge as the Secretary of State shall direct, not to exceed 15,000 copies of a scroll containing the Great Seal and other emblems of the State of California as prepared under the direction of the Secretary of State; and be it further

Resolved, That the sum of two thousand two hundred dollars ($2,200) is hereby made available from the Contingent Fund of the Assembly, for payment of the cost of printing and distribution of said scrolls.

Resolution read, and ordered referred to the Committee on Rules.

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by the Chaplain, Dr. Torrance Phelps:

Infinite God: Let us rejoice today in the varied scenic grandeur and natural wonders for which this State is celebrated.

The wild flowers that carpet the desert, the white yucca that lights the slopes, the burning sands of the Valley of Death, hemmed in by mountain walls.

Let us lift up our eyes to the snowy mountains, the highest in our Nation, to Shasta and to Whitney with their glistening summits and their gorges carved by primeval glacial forces.

The crystal lakes, the sun spangled waters of Tahoe and Arrowhead.

May we hear afar off the rumble of the cascades and the majestic roar of Yosemite and the murmur of many mountain streams that drain into the ocean.

God give us men to match our mountains—AMEN.

337. It is the ultimate object of this chapter to provide for state-wide recordation of brands with the entire State as one branding district To conform to this objective, all applications for the recordation of a brand on and after the effective date of this chapter [,] shall be accepted by the chief only when not in conflict with any other recorded brand in this State. On and after January 1, 1959, the right to use any brand which conflicts with any brand having a prior recordation under the provisions of this chapter shall be forfeited, and all recordations thereafter shall be on a state-wide basis.

SEC. 3 Section 348.1 of said code is amended to read.

348.1. No inspection is required in cases where no sale is made and cattle are shipped by the owner for purposes other than marketing or slaughter if the cattle are accompanied by a certificate of ownership and are moved only between points in the same county or to a point in a county the boundary line of which passes through the ranch to or from which the animals are removed by the owner for transportation or if the cattle are moved only between points in a cattle movement zone established by the director pursuant to Section 348 1a except as provided in Section 348 1b

SEC 4. Section 348.1a is added to said code after Section 348.1 to read:

348.1a. As soon as possible after this section becomes effective the director shall by regulation cause the formation of cattle movement zones. In formulating such zones the director shall consult with the Livestock Identification Advisory Board and may consult with interested parties in each proposed zone Such zones may consist of one or more counties or geographical areas

SEC. 5 Section 348.1b is added to said code after Section 348.1a to read:

348 1b The director shall by regulation provide that full point of origin inspection shall be maintained in any county or geographical area to be described within said regulation where 65 percent of the persons who own cattle within the county or geographical area and who are present at a public hearing called by the director for the consideration of such proposed regulation vote in favor of such inspections.

At such hearing and before the cattle owners vote on whether or not they desire full point of origin inspection the director shall inform them of all relevant facts and of the costs of such inspections.

SEC. 6. Section 348.1c is added to said code after Section 348.1b to read:

348.1c. Notwithstanding the provisions of Section 348.1b, the director, under cooperative agreement with individuals, associations, or boards of supervisors, may provide full point of origin inspection in any county or geographical area

SEC. 7. Section 348.6 of said code is amended to read:

348.6. No inspection is required prior to transportation to a point and from an area designated by the chief pursuant to this section as one in which inspection may be made en route or at destination Whenever the chief determines that in any particular area in which there is operating a licensed slaughterhouse, public sales yard or stockyard, or other cattle sales market, the volume of shipments or other factors render it impossible or impractical to have inspection prior to shipment he may, by order, authorize inspection en route or at point of destination : provided, however, that all cattle so shipped shall be accompanied by a certificate of ownership which shall be surrendered to the inspector at the time the brand certificate is issued. The order shall specify the point to which and the area from which such shipments may be made.

SEC 8. Section 349 9 of said code is amended to read:

349 9. Unless the shipment is released pursuant to Section 350 or Section 350 2, no common carrier, or owner or driver of any conveyance [engaged for hire in the business of freighting or transporting cattle, or the carcasses of cattle with hide on or the hides thereof.] shall receive for transportation or transport [such] any cattle, or the hides or the carcases thereof until the same have been inspected, and said carrier, owner or driver, has been furnished with duplicate certificates signed by an inspector, showing the brands, or brands and marks, the names of the shipper and consignee and the origin and destination of the shipment.

SEC. 9. Section 350.2 is added to said code after Section 350.1 to read:

350 2. The chief may release or provide for the release of any number of cattle without the inspection required by Section 349.9 in cases where such cattle are being transported or have been sold, provided, however, that such cattle shall not be moved or transported unless they are accompanied by a bill of sale or a certificate of ownership.

SEC. 10. Section 353.10 is added to said code after Section 353.9, to read 353.10 The fee for the inspection of cattle, other than sucking calves accompanying their mother, shall be twenty cents ($0.20) for each head of cattle in those counties or geographical areas where a full point of origin inspection is maintained pursuant to Section 348.1b.

SEC. 11. There is hereby appropriated the sum of two thousand dollars ($2,000) to the Department of Agriculture in augmentation of Item 44 of the Budget Act of 1949 for support of said department, to be used for payment of the expenses of the members of the Livestock Identification Advisory Board, payable from the Department of Agriculture Fund."

In line 2 of the title of said bill, after "standards", insert ", declaring the urgency of this act, to take effect immediately".

Amendment No. 3

On page 1 of said bill, strike out lines 1 to 14, inclusive, and insert

"SECTION 1. Section 762.2 is added to the Agricultural Code, to read:

762.2. For the purpose of determining better methods of grading and inspection of canning tomatoes as provided in this chapter and to enable processors and growers to establish by contract a system of premium payments for the delivery of tomatoes of a higher grade and quality than the minimum now specified in Section 762 there is established for the seasons of 1949 and 1950 a California Number 1 and a California Number 2 grade of canning tomatoes to read as follows:

STANDARDS

California No. 1 Canning Tomatoes.

Tomatoes of this grade shall be:

(a) Well colored and vine ripened

(b) Free from worm or worm damage, mold or decay, or freezing injury, any of which has penetrated or damaged the flesh of the tomato

(c) Free from shriveling or overripeness to the extent that the entire tomato is sufficiently affected to be unsuitable for canning purposes.

(d) Free from sunburn, sunscald, growth cracks, hail damage, green or yellow butts, insect bites, pest infections, gray wall, green or white core, and other imperfections not specified in this section when more than 10 percent by weight of the individual tomato cannot be used for canning purposes due to this cause.

California No. 2 Canning Tomatoes.

Tomatoes of this grade shall be those which do not meet the California No. 1, but do meet the minimum standards as presently provided in Section 762 of the Canning Tomato Standards of the Agricultural Code

If any canner notifies the director in writing on or before July 15 of 1949 or 1950 that he has contracted all or part of his tomatoes on the basis of California 1 and 2 grades; the certificate shall show, in addition to the other factors specified in Section 762.5, the percentage of California 1 and 2 in each delivery.

SEC. 2. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of public peace, health, safety and general welfare within the meaning of Section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution of this State and shall therefore go into immediate effect. The necessity for such urgency is as follows:

During the past two tomato canning seasons the Division of Truck Crops of the University of California, and the Bureau of Fruit and Vegetable Standardization of the State Department of Agriculture have tested these grades. The industry feels that the grades should be made permissive so that it will be possible for canners and growers to contract tomatoes on this basis and have the inspection certificate show these additional factors during the 1949 canning season.

The chaotic condition of the tomato canning and growing industry requires that a means such as this be established to stabilize the marketing, improve the quality of canning tomatoes and provide an incentive for the delivery and canning of a better product."

Amendments read, and adopted.

Bill ordered reprinted, engrossed, and to be re-referred to Committee on Agriculture.

On page 1 of said bill, strike out lines 7 to 10, inclusive, and insert "thereof as may be necessary to enable the Department of Engineering of the University of California at Berkeley to make a survey and analysis of existing and proposed methods of disposing of garbage and refuse.

SEC. 2. It is the intention of the Legislature in making this appropriation to the Regents of the University of California that the survey and analysis include assembling and studying existing published information on refuse and garbage disposal methods and detailed engineering and economic analyses made on the basis of field investigation of actual operations which shall include a sufficient number of each kind of existing and proposed disposal methods to enable general conclusions to be drawn. Such investigations of actual plants and operations, while according proper emphasis to existing installations within the State of California, should include field investigations of plants and operations elsewhere in the country as may be necessary to obtain practical information concerning all such operation problems and difficulties and the relative efficiency and cost data concerning the different installations. Specific recommendations should also be made concerning needed research and experimentation with respect to any method or methods of disposal. The information secured as a result of this survey shall be made available to all persons within the State affected by or interested therein.

SEC. 3. To the extent deemed appropriate by the Regents, the Department of Engineering shall consult with the Assembly Interim Committee on Water Pollution and representatives of interested and affected public and private agencies.

Explanation of Votes

We voted against Assembly Bill No 2139 solely because it provides for further contribution from a General Fund to a reserve already sufficient for 10 years' need It requires taxation now for future payments, which we do not favor We should tax now for current needs only—for pensions as well as salaries.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS (RESUMED) CONSIDERATION OF SENATE AMENDMENTS

Assembly Joint Resolution No. 22—Relative to reimbursing counties for the loss of revenue caused by federal ownership of lands within the counties.

The question being: Shall the Assembly concur in the following Senate amendment to Assembly Joint Resolution No. 22?

Amendment No. 1

Strike out lines 1 to 20, inclusive, of the printed bill, and insert

"WHEREAS, The Federal Government owns in excess of 46 percent of the total land area of the State of California and in excess of 47 percent of the total land area of the 11 western states, and in excess of 24 percent of the total land area of the United States; and

WHEREAS, These federally-owned lands occupy a substantial part of the total land area of many of the counties of the United States; and

WHEREAS, The counties in the United States wherein federally-owned lands are located furnish many services for such land for which there is no adequate return of revenue for such services; and

WHEREAS, Federal contributions to county government are uncertain, because the Federal Government is not under a duty to create any revenue in which local government can share; and

WHEREAS, Such revenues being unpredictable in time and amount make it difficult to operate within the provisions of state constitutions and statutes regulating fluctuations in the budgets of local governments; and

WHEREAS, There is an increasing demand for a critical re-examination of the federal fiscal responsibility to local governments because of the ownership of federal properties within the boundaries of such local governments; and

WHEREAS, Lands in private ownership in the counties within the boundaries of which federally-owned lands are located are required to assume an extra burden for the cost of services rendered by local government because of the location of such federal lands in such counties; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly and the Senate of the State of California, jointly, That the Legislature of the State of California respectfully memorializes the President and the Congress of the United States to enact legislation to reimburse the counties for the loss of revenue caused by federal ownership of land within such counties; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly be hereby directed to transmit copies of this resolution to the President and Vice President of the United States, to the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and to each Senator and Representative from California in the Congress of the United States."

Quorum present.

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by the Chaplain, Dr. Torrance Phelps:

God of Our Fathers: In this Centennial year may we cherish the romantic beginning of our State, when the Spanish Flag waved over Monterey, the Russian Flag over Fort Ross, and against these great odds, a little band of heroic men won for us this Golden Land.

Let us cherish the Cavalier Age of the ranchero and his hacienda, the gay caballero and his serape, the vaquero and the rodeo, with their example of festive and more leisurely living.

The Age of Gold, with its prospecting and revelry, with its law of the rifle and the rope, and yet with its sense of honor, respect for virtue, and loyalty to a friend.

Let us honor the Frontier Days when Vigilantes risked life and fortune to abolish lawlessness and establish orderly society.

Now let us halo the adventurous spirit of the past, casting off its evils and crudities, and rise to a higher plane because of our greater advantages, and enlightenment.—AMEN.

READING OF THE JOURNAL DISPENSED WITH

CHAPTER IV. BOARD OF SELECTMEN

SEC. 40. A board of selectmen consisting of five members and having the powers and duties hereinafter specified shall be appointed for the district by the board of supervisors from among those residents of the county within which the district is located, nominated by petitions signed by at least 5 percent of the residents residing within the district, or by the assessees of property representing at least 5 percent of the assessed value, according to the last equalized assessment-roll, of all the property within the district. The county treasurer and the county auditor shall be ex officio treasurer and auditor of the district.

SEC. 41. Each selectman shall serve for a term of four years, except that two of the members of the first board of selectmen appointed shall serve for a term of two years, said selectmen serving for two years being those two who express a desire to serve for two years or, if there be only one so desiring, then he shall serve for two years and the other shall be chosen by lot from among the other four selectmen or, if there be three or more desiring to serve for two years, then the choice shall be by lot from among those selectmen desiring to serve for two years.

SEC. 42. Vacancies in the office of selectmen existing during the term thereof shall be filled by appointment by the board of supervisors from among the residents of the county, and such person so appointed shall serve until the expiration of the term of office of his predecessor.

SEC. 43. Each selectman shall serve until his successor is appointed and qualifies and shall not be eligible for reappointment unless renominated for office in the same manner as is hereinabove provided for nomination to such office.

CHAPTER V. POWERS AND DUTIES OF SELECTMEN

SEC. 50. The powers of the district shall be exercised through the board of selectmen.

SEC. 51. The board of selectmen shall hold meetings at least once a month and shall elect from among their number a chairman who shall hold office for one year from the date of his election, or until his successor is elected.

SEC. 52. Three members of the board of selectmen shall constitute a quorum, and not less than three votes shall be required to adopt any resolution or take any action.

SEC. 53. The board of selectmen shall serve as an advisory group to the board of supervisors in connection with policies and programs for the district and with respect to the establishment and performance of county services therein.

SEC. 54. In matters pertaining to zoning, sanitation, roads and streets, parks and recreation, flood control, building and alterations, permits, licenses, vital statistics, health, police and fire protection, education and libraries, and other district matters, the board of selectmen shall advise the board of supervisors as to the needs and desires of the district and, acting under such administrative authority as may be delegated to them by the board of supervisors, shall act as the representatives of the board of supervisors within the district.

SEC. 55. The board of selectmen shall prepare and submit to the board of supervisors by the first of February of each year a budget stating the amount necessary to be levied against all the taxable property within the district to provide for the expenses of the district for the next fiscal year; and it shall be the duty of the board of supervisors to levy a tax to be known as the "(name of the district) urban district tax" against all the taxable property within the district at the time of levying county taxes to raise the amount of the budget. The tax so levied shall be computed by the county auditor and shall be collected at the same time and in the same manner as county taxes and when collected shall be paid to the county treasurer for the use of said district. In the event that such budget is not submitted it shall be the duty of the board of supervisors to require the immediate submission thereof. If the budget exceeds the amount that the board of supervisors feel should reasonably be collected for the purposes of the district, they shall require that the budget be reduced to an amount and in the manner as directed by them.

CHAPTER VI. DISTRICT INVESTIGATION ACT

SEC. 60 Districts formed or proposed to be formed under the provisions of this act are not subject to any provisions of the "Special Assessment Investigation, Limitation and Majority Protest Act of 1931" or the "District Investigation Act of 1933"

CHAPTER VII. CHANGES IN DISTRICT BOUNDARIES

SEC. 70. Any tract of land within the county may be annexed to or excluded from a district in the manner provided by this chapter.

SEC. 71. A petition shall be addressed to and filed with the board of selectmen of the district, signed by at least 10 percent of the residents residing in or by the assessees of property representing at least 10 percent of the assessed value, according to the last equalized assessment-roll, of all the property within, the territory seeking annexation to or exclusion from the district.

SEC. 72. The petition shall state the reasons for annexation or exclusion of the tract of land, describe its boundaries and include the consent of the petitioners to such annexation or exclusion.

SEC. 73 The board of selectmen shall consider the petition for annexation or exclusion and within thirty days after the filing thereof shall send it to the board of supervisors with the recommendation of the board of selectmen with respect thereto.

SEC. 74 Upon the filing of the petition, the board of supervisors shall fix a time and place for the hearing thereof and shall cause a notice of the filing of the petition and of the time and place of the hearing to be published at least once in a newspaper of general circulation published within the boundaries of the district, or if there be none, then in a newspaper of general circulation in the county published nearest thereto; provided, however, that the time of such hearing shall be not less than ninety days nor more than six months after the first publication of the aforesaid notice

SEC. 75. The notice shall state:

(a) The date of filing of the petition;

(b) That the petition is available for inspection at the office of the clerk of the board of supervisors;

(c) The location and boundaries of the land described in the petition;

(d) The prayer of the petition;

(e) The time and place fixed for the hearing thereof;

(f) That petitions stating that the proposed annexation or exclusion is protested may be filed with the board of supervisors by residents of the district or by assessees of property in the district, as the case may be, at any time before the time fixed for the hearing; and

(g) That all persons interested in or affected by such change in the boundaries of the district may appear and show cause why such change should not be made.

SEC 76 At the hearing the board of supervisors shall hear all relevant evidence in support of or in opposition to the petition; provided, however, that if a majority of the residents of the district, if the district was organized by a petition signed by not less than 5 percent of the residents thereof, or if assessees of property representing a majority of the assessed value, according to the last equalized assessment-roll, of all the property within the district, if the district was organized by a petition signed by the assessees of property representing at least 5 percent of the assessed value, according to the last equalized assessment-roll, of all the property within the district, file petitions protesting the annexation or exclusion, as the case may be, of the territory seeking annexation or exclusion, the proceeding shall terminate, and the board of supervisors shall take no further action with respect to such proceeding at said hearing.

SEC 77. If the proceedings are not terminated as provided in Section 76, and if the board of supervisors determines that the territory seeking annexation or exclusion will be benefited by such annexation or exclusion and that it is for the best interest of the district that the boundaries thereof be changed by annexing or excluding such territory or any part thereof, the board of supervisors shall by resolution annex or exclude the tract of land described in the petition or any part thereof and shall describe the altered boundaries of the district as so changed

SEC. 78. A resolution of annexation or exclusion adopted by the board of supervisors as provided for in Section 77, describing the altered boundaries of the district as changed, shall be entered in the minutes of the board of supervisors, and a certified copy of such resolution shall be immediately filed in the office of the county recorder of the county in which the district is situated and thereafter a certified copy of the same shall promptly be filed in the Office of the Secretary of State Upon the filing of the aforesaid copy with the Secretary of State the annexation or exclusion of the territory shall be deemed complete.

CHAPTER VIII. DISSOLUTION OF DISTRICT

SEC 80. An urban district shall be dissolved by resolution of the board of supervisors as the result of a petition requesting such dissolution signed either by a majority of the residents of the district, if the district was organized by a petition signed by not less than 5 percent of the residents thereof, or by the assessees of property representing a majority of the assessed value, according to the last equalized assessment-roll, of all the property within the district, if the district was organized by a petition signed by the assessees of property representing at least 5 percent of the assessed value, according to the last equalized assessment-roll, of all the property within the district, and filed with the board of supervisors.

SEC. 81. Immediately after the adoption of the resolution declaring the district dissolved, the clerk of the board of supervisors shall file a certified copy of such resolution for record in the office of the county recorder and thereafter shall file a certified copy of the same with the Secretary of State. Upon the filing of the aforesaid copy with the Secretary of State the dissolution of the district shall be complete.

SEC. 82. No territory included in any district may be annexed to any city until that territory has been excluded from the district in the manner provided for herein or until the dissolution of the district.

SEC. 83. If any section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase of this act is for any reason held to be unconstitutional, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of the act. The Legislature hereby declares that it would have passed this act, and each section, subsection, sentence, clause and phrase thereof, irrespective of the fact that any one or more other sections, subsections, sentences, clauses or phrases be declared unconstitutional."

The following amendments were proposed by the Committee on Conservation, Planning, and Public Works:

PRINTER'S NOTE—There being no 7-point strikeout type available, the material which should appear in strikeout type in the following amendments is indicated by being enclosed within brackets.

Amendment No. 1

On page 1 of the printed bill, strike out lines 18 to 23, inclusive; and on page 2, strike out lines 1 to 12, inclusive, and insert

"2525. [Upon] A petition signed by one or more claimants to water of any [stream system,] source of water supply may be filed with the department, requesting the determination of the rights of the various claimants to the water [of that stream system,] thereof. Any such petition shall be accompanied by a deposit of such sum as may be required by the department to cover the cost of its preliminary investigation and the public hearing hereinafter provided for. Notice of the filing of such petition and of the time and place when the department will hear and consider the same shall be published by the department for two consecutive weeks prior to said hearing in one or more newspapers of general circulation published in each county in which any part of the source of supply is situated. Any person interested may appear and be heard at such time and place with respect to said petition. In the event the department shall find that a source or sources of water supply in addition to that described in the petition should be included in the determination, it shall again publish notice in the manner hereinabove set forth, describing all sources of water supply to be included in the determination, before proceeding further in the matter. The department may, if necessary, require an additional deposit or deposits from the petitioner or petitioners for the purposes aforesaid. [the] The department shall, if, after such hearing and upon investigation, it finds the facts and conditions are such that the public interest and necessity will be served by a determination of the water rights involved, enter an order granting the petition and make proper arrangements to proceed with the determination, in which event the deposit accompanying the petition shall be returned to the petitioner or petitioners. If the petition be denied, the deposit or deposits shall be used for the purposes aforesaid and the balance only, if any, after paying such costs shall be returned to the petitioner or petitioners.

In the event the source of water supply or any part thereof shall lie within the boundaries of one or more districts created by the Legislature of the State of California with powers to conserve and appropriate water, own water rights, commence, maintain and intervene in litigation for the protection of water or water rights used or useful within such district, before an order granting such petition shall be made, there shall be filed with the department the written consent of at least one such district, and if petitioner or petitioners or any of them produce water in such a district the consent must be by a district in which one such petitioner produces water, unless the producers of 10 percent or more of the water diverted from such source of water supply, as estimated by the department, consent in writing to the granting of such petition. No defect in said notice of the filing of said petition or in the publication thereof shall affect the validity of the proceedings"

Amendment No. 2

On page 2 of said bill, strike out lines 14 to 20, inclusive, and insert

"2526. As soon as practicable after granting the petition the department shall prepare a notice setting forth the facts of the entry of the order and of the pendency of the proceedings, and the date when the department is to begin the examination. The notice shall state the location of the source of water supply and, if it be in whole or in part an underground source of water supply, the boundaries thereof, and that all claimants to rights to the water of the [stream system] source of water supply are required to make proof of their claims."

Amendment No. 3

On page 2 of said bill, strike out lines 34 to 42, inclusive, and insert

"2550. At the time set in the notice of the proceeding, the department shall begin an investigation of the [stream system,] source of water supply, of the conduits, tunnels, wells, or other works diverting water, and the lands [irrigated] served or [irrigable] servable [therefrom] from such source of water supply, the extent, nature and character of the uses made of the water, and shall gather such other data and information as may be essential to the proper determination of the water rights in the [stream system] source of water supply."

Amendment No. 4

On page 2 of said bill, strike out lines 44 to 49, inclusive, and insert

"2553. The surveys and maps shall show with substantial accuracy the [stream system,] source of water supply, the location of each conduit, tunnel, well, or other works diverting water therefrom, the land s and areas [irrigated] served and capable of being [irrigated] served by each [conduit] diversion, the lands to which overlying or riparian rights attach, and the kind of culture upon the irrigated land."

Amendment No. 5

On page 3 of said bill, strike out lines 2 to 6, inclusive, and insert

"2575. Upon the completion of the measurements and maps and the filing of the observations, data, information, and measurements, the department shall prepare a notice describing the source of water supply and setting forth the date prior to which the proofs as to the rights to the water of the [stream system] source of water supply shall be filed."

Amendment No. 6

On page 3 of said bill, strike out lines 27 to 52, inclusive, and insert

"2601. The statement of proof shall include, insofar as claimant is able to ascertain the facts, all of the following:

(a) The name and post-office address of the claimant.

(b) The nature of the right or use on which the claim is based.

(c) The date of the initiation of the right and a description of any works of diversion and distribution.

(d) The date of beginning of construction.

(e) The date when completed.

(f) The dates of beginning and completion of enlargements.

(g) The [dimensions] size and capacity of any [ditch] diversion works as originally constructed and as enlarged.

(h) The date when water was first used for irrigation or other beneficial purposes, and if used for irrigation, the amount of land irrigated the first year, the amount in subsequent years, with dates of irrigation and the area and the location of the lands which are intended to be irrigated [.] , if used for other purposes, the nature and character of the use, the lands or areas served, and the amount, insofar as the information may be available to claimant, of water beneficially used each year.

(i) The character of the soil and the kind of crops cultivated.

(j) Such other facts as the department requires to show the extent and nature of the right and a compliance with the law in acquiring it."

Amendment No. 7

On page 5 of said bill, strike out lines 14 to 22, inclusive, and insert

"2769. The decree shall in every case declare as to the water right adjudged to each party, the priority, amount, extent, nature and character [season of use, purpose of use, point of diversion, and place] of use of the water, [and as to water used for irrigation, the decree shall also declare the specific tracts of land to which it is appurtenant,] together with such other factors as may be necessary to define the right. It may also approve and adopt a physical or practical solution of the water problems involved."

Amendments read, and adopted.

Bill ordered reprinted, engrossed, and to be re-referred to Committee on Conservation, Planning, and Public Works.

Assembly Bill No. 782—An act to amend Section 26301 of the Government Code, and Section 5157 of the Public Resources Code, relating to public recreation areas and facilities, and to the powers and duties of counties and the boards of supervisors thereof in connection therewith, and authorizing the issuance and sale of revenue bonds for public

"SEC. 3. Section 5157.5 is added to the Public Resources Code to read:

5157.5. The Legislature finds that a state purpose exists in the development and use of public beaches, small boat harbors, winter sports areas, picnic grounds, fishermen's camps, and hunters' camps for the recreation of the people of the State, and that the increased use and enjoyment of such facilities will result in a general benefit to the health and welfare of the citizens of the State.

The Department of Natural Resources through the State Park Commission is authorized to contribute from any funds available not to exceed one-half the cost of any project for the acquisition, construction, improvement, and development of public beaches, small boat harbors, winter sports areas, picnic grounds, fishermen's camps, and hunters' camps undertaken by a county.

Before any contributions are made by the department, the county board of supervisors shall first make available for the purpose a sum equal to any contributions to be made by the department. The sum made available by the board of supervisors may be from any county funds or from money obtained by the issuance and sale of revenue bonds pursuant to Chapter 14, Part 2, Division 2, Title 3 of the Government Code.

Contributions to the county may be expended by the board of supervisors for any of the purposes enumerated in this section and title to any property purchased shall be in the county. The State Park Commission shall make such regulations as to the applications for contributions, payment of money to the counties, and expenditure of the funds as it deems necessary to effectuate this section and secure the expenditure of the contributions for the purposes for which made."

RESOLUTIONS

Congratulating George D. Collins, Jr., upon his birthday

WHEREAS, This eighth day of April, 1949 is the anniversary of the natal day of George D. Collins, Jr., who has long and vigorously represented the people of the Twenty-second Assembly District; and

WHEREAS, This Assembly is greatly indebted to George D. Collins, Jr., in that for years, without benefit of judicial robe or wig and relying wholly upon the depth and dignity of his sonorous tones, he has furnished great erudition to this Assembly in his exposition of the British Constitution and parliamentary system; and

WHEREAS, This Assembly is further indebted to him for the note of classic form lent to deliberations, which he has achieved also without benefit of the senatorial toga but purely by his emulation of the great ones of Rome's Republic; and

WHEREAS, In his great devotion to his duties in this Assembly and his indefatigable efforts in behalf of the people of his district and of the State of California, which he had maintained on nearly a 24 hour a day schedule for many years, he recently suffered a break in health; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That all his many friends in this Assembly heartily congratulate George D. Collins, Jr., upon his recovery from his illness, and extend to him warm felicitations and good wishes upon this his birthday anniversary; and be it further Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly transmit a suitably prepared copy of this resolution to George D. Collins, Jr, as an expression of the esteem and good wishes of his colleagues.

Request for Unanimous Consent

Mr. Brady asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent to take up House Resolution No. 156, at this time, without reference to committee or file.

Resolution read, and adopted unanimously.

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolution was offered:

By Mr. Burkhalter, Mrs. Niehouse, Messrs. Cooke, and Rumford:

House Resolution No. 157

Relative to the creation of the Assembly Committee on Public Hospitals and Similar Institutions

WHEREAS, The unprecedented increase in population of this State has placed a strain upon hospitals and similar institutions maintained or operated in whole or part with public funds; and

WHEREAS, From time to time complaints are made to the Legislature and through the public newspapers which, if substantiated, might indicate that the public health, safety and welfare is jeopardized by improper maintenance or operation of such institutions; and

WHEREAS, It is essential that this Assembly have complete information concerning such institutions in order to enable it to ascertain what, if any, legislation is needed on this subject; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, As follows

1. The Assembly Committee on Public Hospitals and Similar Institutions is hereby created and authorized and directed to ascertain, study and analyze all facts relating to state, county and other public hospitals and similar institutions, other than those of a custodial or correctional nature, including, but not limited to hospitals and similar institutions devoted in whole or in part to the care of mentally irresponsible persons, inebriates and psychopaths, and the maintenance, operation, administration and government thereof, including but not limited to the operation, effect, administration, enforcement and needed revision of any and all laws in any way bearing upon or relating to the subject of this resolution, and to report thereon to the Assembly, including in the reports its recommendations for appropriate legislation.

2. The committee shall consist of five Members of the Assembly appointed by the Speaker thereof. The chairman shall be appointed by the Speaker. Vacancies occurring in the membership of the committee shall be filled by the appointing power.

3. The committee is authorized to act during this session of the Legislature, including any recess, and after final adjournment until the commencement of the 1951

Regular Session, with authority to file its final report not later than the fifteenth legislative day of that session.

4. The committee and its members shall have and exercise all of the rights, duties and powers conferred upon investigating committees and their members by the provisions of the Joint Rules of the Senate and Assembly and of the Standing Rules of the Assembly as they are adopted and amended from time to time at this session, which provisions are incorporated herein and made applicable to this committee and its members.

5. The committee has the following additional powers and duties:

(a) To select a vice chairman from its membership.

(b) To contract with such other agencies, public or private, as it deems necessary for the rendition and affording of such services, facilities, studies and reports to the committee as will best assist it to carry out the purposes for which it is created.

(c) To cooperate with and secure the cooperation of county, city, city and county, and other local law enforcement agencies in investigating any matter within the scope of this resolution and to direct the sheriff of any county to serve subpenas, orders and other process issued by the committee.

(d) To report its findings and recommendations to the Legislature and to the people from time to time and at any time, not later than herein provided.

(e) To do any and all other things necessary or convenient to enable it fully and adequately to exercise its powers, perform its duties, and accomplish the objects and purposes of this resolution.

6. The sum of ten thousand dollars ($10,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby made available from the Contingent Fund of the Assembly for the expenses of the committee and its members and for any charges, expenses or claims it may incur under this resolution, to be paid from the said Contingent Fund and disbursed, after certification by the chairman of the committee, upon warrants drawn by the State Controller upon the State Treasurer.

Resolution read, and ordered referred to the Committee on Rules.

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by the Chaplain, Dr. Torrance Phelps:

Almighty God: We begin this week in which two figures, whose names are household words are about to die—Judas upon the suicidal tree, and Jesus upon the Cross.

Judas in remorse hanged himself because greed for worldly fame and riches enticed him to betray His Master.

Jesus persecuted because He would not use His genius to become a King and support the obsolete system of the Pharisees and Temple rites of the Sadducees.

May Easter remind us that "man cannot live by Bread alone" and that only ideals and principles offer us abiding wealth and security.

God grant that we emulate the example of the Man of Galilee, who chose the self-sacrificing career of devotion to truth rather than selfish ease, and who preferred loneliness and a Cross rather than surrender His principles and His Faith.—AMEN.

COMMUNICATIONS

By the Chief Clerk:

A communication from Marie Le Pleux of San Francisco, was received, ordered noted in the Journal, and ordered filed with the Secretary of State.

By the Chief Clerk:

The following communications were received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

THE UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, April 4, 1949

Mr. Arthur A. Ohnimus, Chief Clerk
Assembly, California Legislature
State Capitol
Sacramento 14, California

DEAR MR OHNIMUS: Your letter of March 23d, with enclosed copy of Assembly Concurrent Resolution No 47, came to my desk during the Charter Celebration of the University, and it has taken me some time to get around to its acknowledgment.

This resolution reminds me, of course, of the resolution adopted by the Regents of the University of California on October 11, 1940, a copy of which is enclosed for your information.

With kindest personal regards,

Yours sincerely,

ROBERT G SPROUL

COPY

The regents, on October 11, 1940, made public the following statement of policy toward members of the Communist Party

The regents believe that the Communist Party gives its first loyalty to a foreign political movement and, perhaps, to a foreign government, that by taking advantage of the idealism and inexperience of youth and by exploiting the distress of underprivileged groups, it breeds suspicion and discord, and thus divides the democratic forces upon which the welfare of our Country depends They believe, therefore, that membership in the Communist Party is incompatible with membership in the faculty of a state university Tolerance must not mean indifference to practices which contradict the spirit and the purposes of the way of life to which the University of California as an instrument of democracy is committed

By the Chief Clerk:

The following communication was received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

Inter-departmental Communication

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, SACRAMENTO, April 8, 1949

To Hon Arthur A. Ohnimus
Chief Clerk, Assembly

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Mrs. Niehouse announced that she has requested the office of the Legislative Counsel to prepare an urgency clause for Assembly Bill No. 1687, which was passed a few days ago. This is the "Septic Tank" Bill and Mrs. Niehouse announced that, had this bill had an urgency clause in it in January, perhaps the tragic San Marino accident, of recent date, might have been averted.

107. (a) Subject to the State Civil Service Act, the director shall appoint such assistants and other employees as are necessary for the administration of the affairs of the department, shall prescribe their duties, and fix their salaries subject to the approval of the Department of Finance, and shall require them to execute to the State such official bonds as may be required.

(b) In connection with the assumption pursuant to Article XXV of the Constitution of functions heretofore performed by the counties relating to the administration of old age security and blind security and in connection with the assumption of any other welfare functions theretofore performed by the counties and involving persons whose employment falls within the class described in subsection (10) of subdivision (a) of Section 4 of Article XXIV of the Constitution, pursuant to any law now in effect or hereafter enacted, the director, pursuant to the constitutional provision last mentioned, but subject to the approval of and in accordance with rules adopted by the State Personnel Board, shall employ, in such number as may be required, the personnel with probationary or permanent county civil service or departmental merit system status, as certified to the State Personnel Board by the county civil service commissions and the departmental merit system, respectively, who were engaged in performing such functions immediately prior to the assumption of direct administration thereof by the department in the county.

SEC. 2. Section 18598 is added to the Government Code, to read:

18598. In connection with the assumption by the State Department of Social Welfare pursuant to Article XXV of the Constitution of functions heretofore performed by the counties relating to old age security and blind security or in connection with the assumption by that department of any other functions theretofore performed by the counties in relation to other welfare activities involving persons whose employment falls within the class described in subsection (10) of subdivision (a) of Section 4 of Article XXIV of the Constitution, the State Personnel Board, in addition to any other powers or duties, shall:

(a) Investigate, determine, and certify to the State Department of Social Welfare the name, classification, and employment status of each employee of any county who, immediately prior to the assumption by the department of direct administration of such function in a county, was employed by the county under county civil service or under the departmental merit system in a classification utilized in the performance of such function

(b) Adopt and administer, with respect to the county employees so certified, merit system rules which shall (1) provide for such employees reasonable assurance of opportunity, equal with employees of the Department of Social Welfare having civil service status, to accept employment with the Department of Social Welfare and preserve in the service of the department the rights and status acquired by such employees as probationary or permanent employees under county civil service or under the departmental merit system; (2) conform with present federal requirements; and (3) contain provisions the same as the State Civil Service Act and rules thereunder as far as practicable.

(c) Determine the rights of each county employee so certified to seniority credits and, upon his employment by the State Department of Social Welfare, to accumulated sick leave and vacation credits, as determined by the employment record of such employee while employed by the county in county civil service or departmental merit system status; but in no event shall such credits exceed the credits to which the employee would be entitled if he had rendered like service to the State.

SEC. 3. Section 18599 is added to the Government Code, to read:

18599. The state civil service shall include state officers and employees, formerly employed by the counties under county civil service or under the departmental merit system of the State Department of Social Welfare, who have been employed by the State Department of Social Welfare pursuant to subdivision (b) of Section 107 of the Welfare and Institutions Code and Section 18598 of the Government Code and have continued in such employment for six months.

SEC. 4. Section 31700.5 is added to the Government Code, to read:

31700.5. Any member, whether over or under the minimum age of voluntary service retirement, and irrespective of the amount of county service with which he is entitled to be credited, who leaves county service as the result of the assumption by the State of a governmental function theretofore exercised by the county may elect in writing to leave his accumulated contributions in the retirement fund and be granted a deferred retirement allowance to become effective, upon the option of the member, at any time after he attains the minimum age of voluntary service retirement. The effective date of such deferred retirement allowance shall not be later than the first of the month following that in which he attains age 70."

20024 "Final compensation" means the highest average annual compensation earnable by a member during [the five years immediately preceding his retirement] any period of five consecutive years during his membership in the system. For the purposes of this section, periods of service separated by breaks in service may be aggregated to constitute a period of five consecutive years, if the periods of service are consecutive except for such breaks. If a break in service did not exceed six months in duration, time included in the break and compensation earnable during such time shall be included in computation of final compensation. If a break in service exceeded six months in duration, the first six months thereof and the compensation earnable during those six months shall be included in computation of final compensation, but time included in the break which is in excess of six months and the compensation earnable during such excess time shall be excluded in computation of final compensation.

SEC. 3. Section 20920 of the Government Code is amended to read:

20920. As used in this article, "federal service" means (a) Civilian service rendered as an employee or officer of an agency of the Government of the United States which performed [employment service] functions the same as or substantially similar to those performed by this State prior to January 1, 1942, and (b) Military service in any branch of the armed forces of the United States performed by an individual on military leave of absence from a position in "federal service" as defined in subdivision (a) of this section.

[(c)] For the purposes of this part a person shall be considered as being in the "federal service" only while he is receiving compensation from the Government of the United States.

As used in this article, "federal service" does not include service as defined in subdivisions (a) or (b) of this section with respect to which an employee became a member of any other retirement or pension system supported wholly or in part by funds of the United States Government, any state government, or political subdivision thereof and with respect to which he continues to receive credit in such other system for such service after the date of his return to state service

SEC. 4. Section 20921 of the Government Code is amended to read:

20921. Upon compliance [of] with the provisions of Section 20922, a member shall be credited with state service in the amount of time during which he was in federal service, and for the purposes of this part federal service so credited shall be considered state service, if the member comes within all of the following descriptions

(a) Prior to performing the federal service, he was employed by the State. [in an agency performing employment service functions financed in whole or in part by federal funds made available for the performance of such functions]

(b) He was laid off from state service or would have been so laid off if he had not been absent in military service, because of the transfer of [such] functions by the State to an agency of the United States Government.

(c) Subsequent to his layoff from state service he was employed by the United States Government in an agency performing [employment service] functions the same as or substantially similar to those of the state agency from which he was laid off

(d) Within 30 days after his separation from federal service, he was [reemployed] employed by [the] a state agency [from which he was formerly laid off]

SEC. 5 Section 20922 of the Government Code is amended to read:

20922. Any member eligible to be credited with state service for time during which he was in federal service, as provided in Section 20921, may, prior to [January 1, 1948] July 1, 1950, file with the board such information relative to his federal service as the board may require, and may contribute to the Retirement Fund, at times and in a manner fixed by the board, amounts equal to (1) the contributions which he would have made to the fund during the time he was in federal service, excluding the time he was absent in military service, [if] assuming he had then been in state service, on the basis of his compensation earnable at the time he was laid off from state service, and (2) an amount equal to the additional interest that would have been credited to his account under such assumption, and (3) in the case of members who make payment by other than lump-sum payment, interest on the unpaid balance of the amount payable into the Retirement Fund pursuant to this section, beginning on the date of his reemployment by the State, at the rate of interest currently being used from time to time under the system When any such contributions have been made, the State shall thereupon contribute an amount equal to that which it would have contributed under Chapter 6 of this part if the contributions had been deducted from compensation to the member from state funds [, and for] For the purposes of Chapter 6 the compensation on which the member's contributions were based shall be deemed to have been paid from the support fund of the state agency from which he was laid off, if the member, within thirty days after his separation from federal service, was reemployed by the state agency from which he was formerly laid off; and in all other cases, the State's contribution shall be paid from the General Fund The State shall contribute as for other members under Section 20894.5, on account of that portion of federal service during which the member was absent in military service ; and in such case, the fund from which the State's contribution is payable shall be determined in the manner provided in this section.

SEC. 6. Section 21253 of the Government Code is amended to read:

21253. The prior service pension for a state miscellaneous member [retiring at or over age 60], or for a local miscellaneous member who is an employee of a contracting agency which is subject to the provision of this section, is an annual pension derived from the contributions of the State, or of the contracting agency, equal to the sum of the following:

(a) The fraction of one-sixtieth of [the average annual compensation earnable by him during the three years ending December 31, 1931, in other than Highway Patrol service or warden service, multiplied by the number of years of prior service, other than Highway Patrol service or warden sevice, credited to him] his final compensation set forth opposite his age at retirement, taken to the preceding completed quarter

The fractions herein set forth at ages other than age 60 are based on the interest rate and mortality tables used under the State Employees' Retirement System with respect to state miscellaneous members on January 1, 1947, and shall be adjusted by the board in accordance with such interest and mortality tables as the board may adopt with respect to such members.

(b) In respect to prior service consisting of Highway Patrol service [or], warden service, or forestry service, the pension computed pursuant to subdivision (b) of Section 21256, [and Section] Section 21256.1, or Section 21256.2, respectively.

This section shall not apply to any contracting agency nor to the employees of any contracting agency unless and until the agency elects to be subject to the provisions of this section by amendment to its contract made in the manner prescribed for approval of contracts, except that an election among the employees is not required, or, in the case of contracts made after the date this section takes effect, by express provision in such contract making the contracting agency subject to the provisions of this section.

SEC. 7. Section 21362 of the Government Code is amended to read:

21362. (a) A member [or his beneficiary, after death of the member,] may elect by a writing filed with the board to have the basic death benefit paid in [monthly installments, fixed in number or amount, subject to such rules as the board may adopt. Regular interest shall be credited on the unpaid balance of such benefit.] accordance with either of the following subsections:

(1) In monthly installments, fixed in number or amount and not involving life contingency, subject to such rules as the board may adopt. Regular interest shall be credited on the unpaid balance of benefits payable.

(2) In equal monthly installments for the life of the beneficiary, with 120 installments certain.

(b) If a member dies without having made an election under subdivision (a) of this section, his beneficiary, after the death of the member and prior to the payment to him of the basic death benefit or any part thereof, may elect by a writing filed with the board to have the basic death benefit paid to him in the manner provided in subsection (1) of subdivision (a) of this section.

(c) When an election has been made to have the basic death benefit paid in accordance with subsection (1) or subsection (2) of subdivision (a) of this section, the first of such installments shall be paid on the first day of the month next following the date when the basic death benefit would otherwise be payable, and one of such installments shall be paid on the first day of each month thereafter. Such monthly installments shall be the actuarial equivalent of the basic death benefit on the date that such basic death benefit would otherwise be payable.

No installments shall be commuted and paid in one sum unless the death of the beneficiary occurs during the period certain for which payments of the monthly installments are guaranteed; and in that event only payments due monthly during the remainder of the period certain shall be commuted, and such commutation shall be based on the rate of interest then being used under the Retirement System, and the commuted value shall be paid to the estate of the beneficiary.

The board may provide that any election by a member or by a beneficiary under the provisions of this section is void if the amount of the monthly installment is less than the minimum amount fixed by the board.

SEC. 8. Section 21255 of the Government Code is hereby repealed.

SEC. 9. Section 20334.1 is added to the Government Code, to read:

20334.1. The provisions of Section 20334 do not apply, and shall be deemed not to have applied at any time prior to the effective date of this section, to any person:

(a) Who is eligible to elect, or who, prior to the effective date of this section, has elected, to become a member of this system under the provisions of Sections 20360 or 20361 of this code; and

(b) Who renders state service for which the established rate of compensation, without regard to the basis on which such compensation is payable, is equivalent to not less than seventy-five dollars ($75) per month.

Notwithstanding any other provisions of this section, any such person shall not be credited with state service under this system, pursuant to an election under the provisions of Sections 21360 and 21361, for any period of time during which he rendered state service for which the established rate of compensation, without regard to the basis on which such compensation was payable, was less than the minimum rate set forth in subdivision (b) of this section, at the time the service was rendered.

This section shall not apply to any contracting agency nor to the employees of any contracting agency unless and until the agency elects to be subject to the provisions of this section by amendment to its contract made in the manner prescribed for approval of contracts, except that an election among the employees is not required, or, in the case of contracts made after the date this section takes effect, by express provision in such contract making the contracting agency subject to the provisions of this section.

SEC. 10. Section 20654.6 is added to the Government Code, to read:

20654.6. Notwithstanding any other provisions of this article, every person who is a member on the effective date of this section and who, at any time prior to said date has withdrawn his accumulated normal contributions, and who, upon his subsequent return to state service, has not elected to redeposit such contributions, shall have the right, not later than ninety days after the date upon which notice of said right is mailed by the system to the member's latest address on file in the office of the system, to elect, by written notice filed in the office of the board, to pay into the Retirement Fund by lump-sum payment or by pay roll deductions, (1) the amount of all of such previously withdrawn accumulated normal contributions, and (2) an amount equal to the additional interest that would have been credited to his account had such contributions not been withdrawn, and (3) in the case of members electing to make repayment by other than lump-sum payment, interest on the unpaid balance of the amount payable into the Retirement Fund pursuant to such election, beginning on the effective date of such election, at the rate of interest currently being used from time to time under the system.

SEC. 11. Section 20654.7 is added to the Government Code, to read:

20654.7. Notwithstanding any other provisions of this article, every person who becomes a member of the system prior to January 1, 1953, and who at any time prior to the effective date of this section has withdrawn his accumulated normal contributions, shall have the same right, pursuant to the provisions of Section 20654.6, as he would have had, had he been in state service on the said effective date.

SEC. 12. Section 20654.8 is added to the Government Code, to read:

20654.8. Any pay roll deductions made pursuant to an election made under the provisions of Section 20654.6 shall be equal in amount, and no such deduction shall be less than ten dollars ($10) per month or 5 percent of the member's gross monthly compensation earnable, whichever is higher.

SEC. 13. Section 20654.9 is added to the Government Code, to read:

20654.9 If a member makes the election as provided in Section 20654.6, his normal rate of contribution for future years shall be based on an age determined by adding the number of completed years of his absence from membership in the system after the earliest termination of his membership included in such election and payment to the age upon which his normal rate of contribution, as it was prior to such termination, was based.

SEC. 14. Section 20654.95 is added to the Government Code, to read:

20654.95 The provisions of Sections 20654.6 to 20654.9, inclusive, shall not affect the right of any member to elect to make a redeposit of contributions under the provisions of any other sections of this code with the same effect as if Sections 20654.6 to 20654.9, inclusive, had not been enacted.

SEC. 15 Section 21251.3 is added to the Government Code, to read:

21251.3. Every current service pension, prior service pension, and disability retirement pension payable for time commencing on the effective date of this section to any member who was retired prior to said effective date is hereby increased to the amount it would be if the provisions of this part, as they exist on said effective date, had been in effect on the date of the actual retirement of the member; but this section does not authorize any decrease in any such pension, nor does this section give any such retired member, or his successors in interest, any claim against the State for any increase in any pension paid or payable for time prior to its effective date. Calculation of pensions under this section shall be made on the basis of current interest rate and mortality tables.

This section shall not apply to any contracting agency with respect to its employees who have retired under this system prior to the effective date of this section unless and until the agency elects to be subject to the provisions of this section, with respect to such employees, by amendment to its contract made in the manner prescribed for approval of contracts; except that an election among the employees is not required.

SEC 16. Nothing in this act shall affect the validity of any election to make contributions pursuant to Section 20922 of the Government Code filed prior to the effective date of this act, or the amount of contributions payable pursuant to any such election.

SEC. 17. This act shall become effective on the first day of the first month next succeeding the ninetieth day after the final adjournment of the 1949 Regular Session of the Legislature."

Amendments read, and adopted.

"SECTION 1. Section 4902.5 is added to the Education Code, to read 4902.5. The county committee may propose plans and recommendations which include either one or both of the following provisions: (a) Plans for the use of the school property of the component districts as provided in Sections 4902.6, 4963, 4963.1, 4963.2, and 4963.3 of this code; (b) Plans for dividing the school property of a single existing elementary school district, high school district, junior college district, or unified district as provided in Sections 4902.7, 4902.8, and 4963.3.

SEC. 2. Section 4902.6 is added to said code, to read:

4902.6. When the county committee includes in its plans and recommendations proposals for the use of the school property of the component districts as provided in Sections 4902.5 and 4963 of this code, such proposal shall be deemed to be an integral part of the plans and recommendations, and a favorable vote on the question of reorganization, as provided in Article 5, Chapter 16 of this code, shall be deemed to be a favorable vote upon the plans and recommendations as a whole.

SEC. 3. Section 4902.7 is added to said code, to read:

4902.7. In the formulation of plans of the county committee providing for the division of the school property of a single existing elementary school district, high school district, or junior college district among two or more unified or otherwise reorganized school districts, the county committee shall consider the equalized assessed valuation of each portion of the existing district, the number of children of school age residing in each portion of such district, the value and location of the school property of such district, and such other matters as the members of the county committee deem important and pertinent.

SEC. 4. Section 4902.8 is added to said code, to read:

4902.8. When the county committee includes in its plans and recommendations proposals for the division of the school property of an existing district under Sections 4902.5 and 4902.7, such proposal shall be deemed to be an integral part of the plans and recommendations and a favorable vote by a majority of the voters on the question of reorganization, as provided in Article 5, Chapter 16 of this code, shall be deemed to be a favorable vote upon the plans and recommendations as a whole, provided, however, that if the plans and recommendations require the incurring of a bonded indebtedness in any district or portion of a district remaining upon the unification or other reorganization in order to provide funds to equalize the division of the school property among the newly organized districts, then the proposition for the incurring of such bonded indebtedness shall be submitted as a separate proposition to the electors of the district or portion thereof which is to incur such indebtedness at the same election at which the proposition of approving the plans and recommendations is submitted to vote of the electors of the proposed unified or otherwise reorganized districts.

The plans and recommendations shall not be deemed to have been approved unless the proposition of incurring such indebtedness is approved by two-thirds (⅔) vote of the voters of the district or portion thereof which is to incur such indebtedness voting on such proposition at said election. The proceedings for the issuance and sale of said bonds shall be taken in substantial conformity with the provisions of Division 3, Chapter 17 of this code except that said bond election shall be called and canvassed by the county superintendent of schools and the proposition submitted thereat shall be

"Shall _____ district incur a bonded indebtedness in the aggregate principal amount of $_____ for the purpose of paying its share of the equitable adjustment resulting from the reorganization of said school district?"

The county superintendent of schools shall certify to the board of supervisors of the county whose superintendent of schools has jurisdiction over the district, all proceedings had in the premises and said board of supervisors shall cause said bonds to be issued and sold as provided in Division 3, Chapter 17 of this code except that the proceeds of sale of said bonds shall be deposited to the credit of the reorganized district entitled to such proceeds pursuant to said plans and recommendations.

SEC. 5. Section 4902.9 is added to said code, to read

4902.9. When the county committee includes in its plans and recommendations proposals for the division of the school property of an existing district under Sections 4902.5, 4902.7, and 4902.8, the total amount of bonds required may be in excess of the limitation provided in Sections 7431 and 7431.1 of this code.

SEC. 6. Section 4962 of said code is amended to read.

4962. [All] Except as provided in Section 4963 of this code all property, funds, and obligations of a component district included in whole in a unified school district, other than the bonded indebtedness thereof as provided in this article, and other than funds derived from the sale of bonds issued by the component district, shall become the property, funds, and obligations of the unified school district Any funds derived from such bonds issued by the component district shall be expended by the governing board of the unified district either for the retirement of said bonds or for the acquisition of school property only in the area comprising said component district

SEC. 7 Section 4963 of said code is amended to read:

4963. [When the whole or a portion of the territory of any district is made a part of a unified school district, all real property of the district located in such portion shall become the real property of the unified school district in which the property is located, and the unified school district shall pay to the district for such property an amount equal to such portion of the bonded indebtedness of the district as was incurred for on account of such real property]

Any unified or otherwise reorganized district which includes at the time of unification or other reorganization any component district or districts having any outstanding bonded indebtedness, shall pay, in accord with proposals made under Sections 4902.5 and 4902.6 of this code, for the use of the school property of such district acquired or constructed from the proceeds of its own bonds, an annual charge to the account of such component district or districts, to be administered as a trust fund by or under the direction of the county superintendent of schools. The annual charge shall be equal to the annual amount required for the interest and redemption of such bonds. The county superintendent of schools is authorized to apply the annual charge to the interest and bond redemption of the component district, or to use it for any other lawful purpose for the use and benefit of the area comprising the component district. Any unified or otherwise reorganized district acquiring the use of school property under the provisions of this section shall fully maintain and keep in repair such property during the period of the use thereof by the unified district and the cost of such maintenance shall be a lawful charge against the funds of the unified district. Any school property acquired or constructed by any component district as a result of the sale of its own bonds shall remain the property of such component district until such time as the bonds are retired.

SEC. 8. Section 4963.1 is added to said code to read:

4963.1. The governing board of any unified school district shall include in its annual budget an amount equal to the annual charge provided in Section 4963; provided, however, that if the governing board of the district fails to include such annual charge in its budget, it shall be the duty of the county superintendent of schools to add it to the budget submitted by the governing board.

SEC. 9. Section 4963.2 is added to said code to read:

4963.2 The board of supervisors of any county shall include in the annual tax to be levied upon the assessed valuation of any unified district a tax sufficient to provide for any annual charge required under Section 4963. Such tax may be at a rate over and above the maximum rate provided in Section 6357 of this code; provided that during the period that such annual charge is in effect, the board of supervisors need not levy a tax on the assessed valuation of the component district for interest and bond redemption of such component district, so long as the amount of the annual charge upon the unified district is sufficient for and is actually used for such interest and bond redemption of such component district.

SEC. 10 Section 4963.3 is added to said code to read:

4963.3. The annual charge provided in Section 4963 shall continue for the entire period during which any bonded indebtedness is outstanding against any component district or districts; provided, that upon the retirement of the entire bonded indebtedness of such component district or districts such charge shall cease to accrue, and the school property of such component district or districts shall become the property of the unified district.

SEC. 11. Section 7431.1 is added to said code to read.

7431.1. In computing the limitation of indebtedness of any union, joint union, or unified school district of any kind or class heretofore or hereafter formed or organized, the outstanding indebtedness of any previously existing district forming a component part of such union, joint union, or unified school district shall be excluded and shall not be deemed, for the purposes of computing the limitation of indebtedness under this section or of Section 4714 of this code, to constitute outstanding indebtedness of such union, joint union, or unified school district, except only when such outstanding indebtedness of any component district has been expressly assumed by such union, joint union, or unified school district by vote of not less than two-thirds of the electors of such union, joint union, or unified school district voting at an election at which the proposition of assuming such indebtedness of such component district is voted upon. Nothing herein contained shall operate to release any property from liability for taxes to pay the principal and interest of indebtedness incurred by any component district in which such taxable property is located at the time of the incurring of such indebtedness. It is the intent of the Legislature to provide in this section a special method of computing the limitation of indebtedness of union, joint union, or unified school districts irrespective of liability of the area embraced within such union, joint union, or unified school district for the payment of any bonded indebtedness."

By the Chief Clerk:

The following communication and opinion of the Legislative Counsel were received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL
SACRAMENTO 2, CALIFORNIA, April 11, 1949

Hon. Arthur A. Ohnimus
Chief Clerk of the Assembly
State Capitol, Sacramento, California

DEAR MR. OHNIMUS: I have prepared and transmit herewith my opinion in response to the question propounded by you on behalf of the Assembly whether or not a legislative bill after passage by the Senate and Assembly may be presented to the Governor after final adjournment of the session

Yours very sincerely,

FRED B. WOOD,
Legislative Counsel

OPINION OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL

OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL
SAN FRANCISCO 3, CALIFORNIA, April 11, 1949

THE TIME WITHIN WHICH A LEGISLATIVE BILL, AFTER PASSAGE BY THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY, MAY BE PRESENTED TO THE GOVERNOR—No. 4654

The question propounded is whether or not a legislative bill, after passage by the Senate and Assembly, may be presented to the Governor after final adjournment.

The controlling provisions of the State Constitution appear in Section 16 of Article IV:

> "Every bill which may have passed the Legislature shall, before it becomes a law, be presented to the Governor.
> If he approves it, he shall sign it; but if not, he shall return it, with his objections, to the house in which it originated, which shall enter such objections upon the Journal and proceed to reconsider it. * * *
> If any bill shall not be returned within 10 days after it shall have been presented to him (Sundays excepted), the same shall become a law in like manner as if he had signed it, > unless the Legislature, by adjournment, prevents such return,
> in which case it shall not become a law, unless the Governor, within 30 days after such adjournment (Sundays excepted), shall sign and deposit the same in the Office of the Secretary of State, in which case it shall become a law in like manner as if it had been signed by him before adjournment."

"Adjournment" as here used means final adjournment of the session, not an adjournment for a recess during a session (Harpending vs. Haight (1870), 39 Cal. 189).

The words quoted seem to require that each bill be presented to the Governor while the Legislature is in session. He may sign it, veto it, or let it become a law without his signature. He has but 10 days (Sundays excepted) after presentation, within which to sign it or return it, unless final adjournment cuts that period short, in which case he has 30 days (Sundays excepted) after adjournment (not after presentation of the bill to him) within which to sign it or let it die.

There does not seem to be any room here for presentation after adjournment. The only adjournment that brings the 30-day period into play is one that "prevents" the "return" of a bill to the house of origin within the prescribed 10-day period. How can adjournment prevent the return of something the Governor has not yet received?

If we attempt to read into these words an implied power upon the part of the Legislature to present a bill to the Governor after final adjournment, we are at once confronted with the questions (1) how long after adjournment may a bill be presented to him, and (2) within what period of time must he act upon a bill presented to him after adjournment?

We find nothing in Section 16 of Article IV expressly to guide us. If we infer that the bill must be presented and the Governor must act upon the bill within 30 days after adjournment, Sundays excepted, then the result is that he will have less time (possibly but a single day or part of a day) for consideration of a bill presented after adjournment than with respect to a bill presented prior to adjournment and at any time less than ten days prior to adjournment. We have an alternative of inferring a bill may be presented to him within 30 days (Sundays excepted) after adjournment and that he will have 10 days after such presentation within which to act upon the bill. We have the further alternative that there is no time limit within which a bill may be presented to the Governor, save perhaps, the dates fixed by the Constitution for the commencement of the next regular session. We find ourselves in the realm of pure speculation. It is hardly reasonable to infer that the framers of the Constitution, when they so meticulously prescribed the time element in respect to presentation of a bill while the Legislature is in session, intended to authorize presentation after the session without prescribing any time limit in respect thereto. The only reasonable inference seems to be that they intended to authorize presentation of a bill to the Governor only during the session, that is prior to final adjournment.

This is the interpretation entertained for many years by the legislative officers and by the Governor as lawmaker, probably ever since the decision in Fowler vs. Peirce (1852), 2 Cal. 165. Our search, fairly extensive though not exhaustive, does not indicate a single enrolled bill on file in the Office of the Secretary of State which bears evidence of presentation to the Governor after final adjournment. This interpretation of the provisions of Section 16 of Article IV of the Constitution, by the officials charged with the observance and administration of those provisions, is indeed persuasive and would be accorded great weight by the courts.

The history of these provisions lends support to this view. They are derived from Section 17 of Article IV of our Constitution of 1849, substantially the same as Section 17, down to the words "in which case it shall not become a law, unless * * *," Section 17 having ended with the words "unless the Legislature, by adjournment, prevents such return." In 1852 our Supreme Court held that the Governor had no authority to sign a bill after final adjournment. Said the court:

> "In fact, there is really no limit to the time within which the executive must approve an act, conceding that it may be done after the adjournment of the Legislature; so that it might be approved one day or one month afterwards. The executive is, by the Constitution, a component part of the law-making power. In approving a law, he is not supposed to act in the capacity of the executive magistrate of the State, whose duty it is to see that the laws are properly executed, but as a part of the legislative branch of the government. This power is a unit, though distributed; and the parts can only act in unison. Whenever a part ceases to act, the whole becomes inoperative. The executive act owes its vitality to the existence of the legislative body. Upon the adjournment of that body, the power ceases, and all acts of a legislative nature are void." (Fowler vs. Peirce (1852), 2 Cal. 165, 172)

It would seem implicit from that holding that presentation could not occur after final adjournment.

The only significant change which occurred when the text of Section 17 was carried over into Section 16 of Article IV of the Constitution of 1879 was simply the addition of the following words:

> "in which case it shall not become a law, unless the Governor, within 10 days after such adjournment (Sundays excepted), shall sign and deposit the same in the Office of the Secretary of State, in which case it shall become a law in like manner as if it had been signed by him before adjournment."

The reasonable intendment of that addition was to permit the Governor to act upon a bill after adjournment, that is, a bill which had been presented to him prior to adjournment and less than ten days prior to adjournment.

The only significant subsequent change in Section 16 was the extension of the postsession bill signing period from 10 to 30 days, effected by an amendment made in 1908. That would not seem to change the requirement as to the time for presentation of a bill to the Governor.

We have not found anything in the judicial decisions of other jurisdictions that seems persuasive of a different view.

In the Florida case of Amos vs. Gunn (1922), 94 So. 615, three of the justices held that a bill must be presented to the Governor prior to adjournment; two, that the Governor might receive a bill after adjournment, by waiving a part of the time allowed him, under a constitutional provision which required the Governor to return a bill within five days unless prevented by adjournment, in which case it would become law unless within 10 days after adjournment he filed the bill, with his objections, in the Office of the Secretary of State.

Maryland, by taking a different view, has arrived at an odd result. The Constitution of that state declares that if a bill is not returned by the Governor within six days (Sundays excepted) after presentation to him, it shall be a law in like manner as if he signed it unless the Legislature by adjournment prevented its return in "which case it shall not be a law."

In 1890 it was held, as to a bill the Governor did sign and file with the Secretary of State, that presentation could be made after final adjournment, the Governor having implied power to sign and file within six days after such presentation (Lankford vs. County Commissioners, 20 Atl. 1017). In a dissenting opinion attention was directed to the fact that this Maryland constitutional provision was in 1867 taken verbatim from the Federal Constitution, that the federal practice since 1790 had been that a bill must be presented and signed before adjournment, and that such practice had obtained in Maryland until 1880 (22 Atl. 412). The majority ruling was followed in Johnson vs. Luers (Md. 1916), 99 Atl. 710.

In 1942 the Maryland court held it permissible for the legislative officers to present and the Governor to sign a bill 56 days after final adjournment (Robey vs. Broersma, 26 Atl. 2d. 820). Upon rehearing (29 Atl. 2d 827) the court observed that it had been generally supposed at the State Constitutional Convention and until 1880 that the Constitution required both presentation and signing before adjournment, but that after 50 years under a different interpretation the validity of thousands of laws would be disturbed by a change of decision, concluding:

> "There is, therefore, no constitutional or statutory limit to the time, after passage, within which a bill must be presented to the Governor. It is a practical question, depending for its answer in each case on the circumstances of that particular case." (p. 830)

Illinois seems to have arrived at about the same result as Maryland under a constitutional provision substantially the same as that of Maryland. Presentation 11 days after adjournment was upheld in People vs. Rose (1897), 47 N. E. 547; followed in People vs. Hughes (1939), 25 N. E. 2d 75, holding effective the veto of two bills, one of which was presented 20 days and the other 26 days after adjournment, each having been vetoed within 10 days of presentation to the Governor.

The Arkansas Constitution provides that a bill not returned by the Governor within five days of presentation shall be a law unless the Legislature by adjournment prevents its return, in which case it shall become a law unless he shall file it with his objections in the Office of the Secretary of State within 20 days after adjournment. In 1887 the court of that state held that a bill might be presented to the Governor either before or after adjournment (Dow vs. Beidleman, 5 S. W. 297); followed in Monroe vs. Green (1903), 76 S. W. 199, holding that presentation later than 20 days after adjournment was ineffective. In the latter case the Chief Justice made the following significant observation:

> "In my opinion (if it were a new question), no bill that has not been presented to the Governor for his examination before the final adjournment of the General Assembly can ever become a law, under the Constitution of this state." (p. 204)
> "But I am reminded that since the rendition of that decision in 1887 every legislature has taken this court at its word * * * and so has every Governor, down to this good day, and adopted a custom or contracted a habit of passing bills and leaving them to be presented * * * to the Governor, for his action after the adjournment * * *; that, if the validity of this custom is now to be broken in upon * * * many bills passed within the last sixteen years would be called in question * * * the greatest injustice would prevail." (p. 206)

In 1925 the Arkansas court upheld the validity of a statute which provided for a committee of the Legislature charged with the duty of enrolling bills and presenting them to the Governor after final adjournment (Russell vs. Cone, 272 S. W. 678).

Vermont under a constitutional provision requiring the Governor to sign or return a bill within five days unless adjournment within three days after presentation prevents its return, "in which case it shall not become a law," held valid certain bills that were presented one day after final adjournment, one signed the same day and the other, four days later (Hartness vs. Black (1921), 114 Atl. 44). The court relied in part upon the Maryland case of Lankford vs. County Commissioners, 20 Atl. 1017.

The Constitution of the United States contains a clause in respect to the presentation and signing of bills which is substantially the same as was Section 17 of Article IV of the California Constitution of 1849. The Supreme Court of the United States holds (contrary to the holding of our court in Fowler vs. Peirce, 2 Cal. 165) that the President may effectively approve and sign a bill after final adjournment of Congress if he does so within the prescribed 10 days after its presentation to him (Edwards vs. United States (1932), 286 U. S. 482). It appeared in that case that there had been no long, continued practical construction of the Constitution which could be accepted as controlling. The state of the precedents appeared to be such that the question was an open one, to be resolved by a consideration of the constitutional provision nor was there any suggestion, expressed or implied, that it would be competent for the Congress to present a bill to the President after final adjournment.

The conclusion would seem inescapable, both upon reason and upon precedent, that the provisions of Section 16 of Article IV of our Constitution require that a bill which has passed both houses be presented to the Governor prior to final adjournment. If at a particular session, as the adjournment date draws near, it appears impossible or impracticable to present all of the bills prior to that date, it would seem quite competent for the Senate and Assembly to consider and adopt a new adjournment resolution fixing a suitable later date for final adjournment.

ODE TO KATHY AT SAN MARINO

By Howard Thomas Mitchell

O Master, on high, see Thy child below
Entombed, helpless in this grasping hold;
Holy Christians, toiling at life's release
The love of fellow-men, shall now increase.
O California, hail thy heroes' souls
More precious than your stately mountains' gold;
Promote not wealth or earthly vanity
Ever hold high this loving humanity.
O America, to valiant hearts in faith
On Palm Sunday, grant thine own kindly grace;
O Savior, Thy servants emulate well
To merit life eternal, with Thee dwell.
O World, turn thy eyes to San Marino
See this devotion mankind here bestows;
Now shines like stars and beaming Sun above
Glows for God and Kathy in Divine Love.

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolutions were offered:

House Resolution No. 160

Relative to adjournment on Good Friday, April 15, 1949

WHEREAS, It is the custom among Christians throughout the world to devote three hours on the afternoon of Good Friday to commemorative services and meditation upon the passion and death of our Saviour; and

WHEREAS, All Members of this Assembly desiring to participate in these religious observances should be free to do so; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That an adjournment be taken from 12 noon on Friday, April 15, 1949, until Monday, April 18, 1949, at 10 a.m., in respect to observance of Holy Week.

Request for Unanimous Consent

Mr. Maloney asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent to take up House Resolution No. 160, at this time, without reference to committee or file.

Resolution read, and adopted.

By Messrs. Hawkins, Elliott, and Anderson:

House Resolution No. 161

Relative to memorializing the Senate of the United States to curb the practice of filibustering in order to prevent the undermining of democratic processes and the neglect of state needs

WHEREAS, The present Senate Rules have led to an abuse of free speech by those who have engaged in long speeches known as "filibusters" for the sole purpose of blocking action on vital legislation; and

WHEREAS, This practice is an anti-parliamentary device which nullifies democratic processes and violates the principle of majority rule and is a procedure unknown to the Constitution; and

WHEREAS, This device has been used from time to time to block the passage of legislation desired by an overwhelming majority of the people and has on occasion resulted in endangering national security; and

WHEREAS, There are at present the guarantees of free speech and adequate debate in that every bill is fully discussed in committee and on the floor of both houses of Congress; and even after cloture is invoked, each of the 96 Senators is allowed an additional hour of debate which ordinarily would consume four to six weeks of debate; and

WHEREAS, The filibuster has become a serious national problem and a matter of vital concern to the respective states of the Union and important to relationships and legislation affecting their interests; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Assembly respectfully memorializes the Senate of the United States to change its rules in order to prevent this practice of filibustering by allowing cloture to be invoked by a simple majority of the elected members; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly is hereby directed to transmit copies of this resolution to the Vice President of the United States and to each Senator from California in the Congress of the United States.

Resolution read, and ordered referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. McCarthy, Ralph C. Dills, Anderson, Babbage, Beck, Bennett, Berry, Brady, Brown, Burke, Burkhalter, Butters, Caldecott, Clarke, Coats, Collier, George D. Collins, Sam L. Collins, Condon, Connolly, Conrad, Cooke, Cramer, Crichton, Crowley, Davis, Dickey, Clayton A. Dills, Dolwig, Doyle, Dunn, Elliott, Erwin, Evans, Fletcher, Fleury, Gaffney, Geddes, Grant, Grunsky, Hagen, Hahn, Hawkins, Heisinger, Hinckley, Hoffman, Hollibaugh, Huyck, Kilpatrick, Kirkwood, Levering, Lewis, Lincoln, Lindsay, Lipscomb, Lowrey, Luckel, Maloney, McCollister, McMillan, Meyers, Morris, Moss, Mrs. Niehouse, Messrs, Reagan, Rosenthal, Rumford, Sherwin, Silliman, Smith, Stanley, Stewart, Thomas, Thompson, Tomlinson, Waters, Way, and Weber:

House Resolution No. 162

Relative to adjournment in respect to the anniversary of the death of Franklin Delano Roosevelt

Four years ago today, a great American died. The sense of shock which stunned the Nation at that time is gone; in its place is profound regret that the man was deprived of his hour of triumph, that he died on the eve of victory; and that the Nation, and the world, were deprived of a statesman whose leadership was an inspiration to all.

Today we affirm the fact that the name of Franklin Delano Roosevelt lives in the hearts of all freedom-loving men; and, therefore, be it most solemnly

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That when we this day adjourn, we shall do so in respect to the memory of Franklin Delano Roosevelt, thirty-first President of the United States.

Request for Unanimous Consent That Members Present Be Co-authors of House Resolution No. 162

Mr. McCarthy asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent that the names of all members present be placed on House Resolution No. 162, as co-authors.

Quorum present.

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by the Chaplain, Dr. Torrance Phelps:

Eternal God: May we recall that upon this Wednesday long ago, the Christ was at a feast in the home of Simon, when Mary broke the alabaster box over His feet.

As an expression of last devotion, she offered a costly gift, the perfume filled the room, and the fragrance of the deed still touches human hearts.

May this story of gratitude remind us that young and old should express their appreciation to the members of their family and to their friends, while they are alive and hear them.

Let us not wait to break our alabaster boxes over their stiff cold bodies.

May we remember that "they would rather have a tribute while they are alive to hear, than have the costliest flowers laid on their silent bier."

May we today "say it with flowers."—AMEN.

"SECTION 1. Section 6 of the Personal Property Brokers Act as revised by Chapter 1044 of the Statutes of 1939 is amended to read:

Sec. 6. Application and Fee. Applications for such license shall be in writing, under oath, and in the form prescribed by the commissioner, and shall contain the name, [and] the address (both of the residence and place of business) and the fingerprints of the applicant, and if the applicant is a copartnership or association, of every member thereof, and if a corporation, of each officer and director thereof, and of persons who are to make loans and persons who are to be in charge of the place of business of applicant; also the county and municipality with street and number, if any, where the business is to be conducted and such further information as the commissioner may require. Such applicant at the time of making such application shall pay to the commissioner the sum of one hundred dollars ($100) as a fee for investigating the application and the additional sum of two hundred dollars ($200) as an annual license fee for a period terminating on the last day of the current calendar year; provided, that if the application is filed after June 30th in any year such additional sum shall be only one hundred dollars ($100). In addition to the said annual license fee, every licensee hereunder shall pay to the commissioner the actual costs of each examination as provided for in Section 14 of this act.

The fingerprints required by this section shall be taken by the commissioner or as otherwise prescribed by him.

SEC. 2. Section 14 of the Personal Property Brokers Act, as revised by Chapter 1044 of the Statutes of 1939, is amended to read:

Sec. 14. Examinations. For the purpose of discovering violations of this act or securing information lawfully required by him hereunder, the commissioner may at any time, either personally or by a person or persons duly designated by him, investigate the loans and business and examine the books, accounts, records and files used therein, of every licensee and of every person who shall be engaged in the business of a personal property broker or broker, whether such person shall act or claim to act as principal or agent, or under or without the authority of this act. For that purpose the commissioner and his duly designated representatives shall have free access to the offices and places of business, books, accounts, papers, records, files, safes and vaults of all such persons In making any such examination or investigation the commissioner may, for a reasonable time, not exceeding thirty days, take possession of the books, records, accounts and other papers pertaining to the business and place a keeper in exclusive charge and custody of the same in the office or place where the same are usually kept. During such possession it shall be unlawful for any person to remove or attempt to remove any of said books, accounts, papers, records, files, safes and vaults, or any part thereof, except in compliance with a court order or written consent of the commissioner; provided, however, that the officers, employees, partners, directors and stockholders shall have the right to inspect and examine the same and that employees shall be permitted to make entries therein reflecting current operations or transactions Such power shall not be terminated by the surrender, expiration, suspension or revocation of any license issued by him. Whenever, in the opinion of the commissioner it is deemed necessary for the general welfare of the public, the commissioner shall have continuous authority to exercise the powers as set forth in this act regardless of whether any application for a license has been filed with the commissioner, any license has been issued, or if issued, has been suspended or revoked, or has expired The commissioner shall have authority to require the attendance of witnesses and to examine under oath all persons whomsoever whose testimony he may require relative to such loans or such business or to the subject matter of any examination, investigation, or hearing

Annual Examination. The commissioner shall make such an examination of the affairs, business, office and records of each licensee at least once each year The actual cost of every examination shall be paid to the commissioner by every licensee so examined, and the commissioner may maintain an action for the recovery of such costs in any court of competent jurisdiction.

Whenever, after an examination, investigation or hearing under this act, the commissioner deems it of public interest or advantage, he may certify a record to the proper prosecuting official of the county, city and county, or city in which the act or acts complained of, examined or investigated, occurred."

Sec. 15. Books and Records. The licensee shall keep and use in his business such books, accounts, and records as will enable the commissioner to determine whether such licensee is complying with the provisions of this act and with the rules and regulations lawfully made by the commissioner hereunder. Every licensee shall preserve such books, accounts, and records, including cards used in the card system, if any, for at least two years after making the final entry on any loan recorded therein.

Each licensee shall annually on or before the fifteenth day of March file a report with the commissioner giving such relevant information as the commissioner reasonably may require concerning the business and operations during the preceding calendar year of each licensed place of business conducted by such licensee within the State. The commissioner shall require that the information pertaining to loans of less than five thousand dollars ($5,000) shall be stated separately from the information pertaining to any other business conducted by the licensee including the business of making loans of five thousand dollars ($5,000) or more Such report shall be made under oath and shall be in the form prescribed by the commissioner, who shall annually make and file with the Division of Corporations as a public record a composite of such reports and any comments thereon that he may deem to be in the public interest.

The commissioner may require the production for examination in the State of California of all books, records and supporting data used by the licensee in the preparation of reports to the commissioner. Such books, records and supporting data shall be made available for examination by the commissioner in the State of California within ten days after written demand therefor."

COMMUNICATIONS

By Speaker Sam L. Collins:

The following opinion of the Legislative Counsel was received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

OPINION OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL

Hon. Sam L. Collins
Assembly Chamber

Horse Racing Local Option—No. 5816

DEAR MR. COLLINS:

Question

You have asked us whether Assembly Constitutional Amendment No. 35, as amended March 25, 1949, has the effect of requiring local action before horse racing and wagering thereon will be permitted in counties or whether it would allow such to be conducted unless local action is taken to prohibit it.

Opinion

It is our opinion that this amendment proposes to allow horse racing and wagering on horse races to be conducted throughout the State as at present unless a particular county takes action to prohibit it within its boundaries.

Analysis

The measure in question, as amended March 25, 1949, would add Section 25b to Article IV of the Constitution. It is to be noted that the terms of the amendment as introduced would have instituted basic changes in Section 25a of Article IV which at present provides the constitutional authorization whereby horse racing and wagering may be conducted in this State. Had the amendment as introduced become part of the Constitution, the Legislature would have no power to permit wagering on horse races and all laws in effect on the subject would stand repealed.

With the amendment of March 25th, however, an entirely different approach is seen with an entirely different effect. Section 25a would be left in the Constitution in precisely the same form as it now stands. The position of Section 25b, coexistent as it would be with Section 25a, is merely that of an exception to Section 25a and legislation enacted pursuant to it. As is the case with all exceptions, the main principle retains its force except in those circumstances specified in the exception. To come into effect at all, the terms of the exceptions must be met.

Applied to this problem, the circumstances specified under which the provisions of law enacted pursuant to Section 25a would become inapplicable are where the governing body of a county by ordinance or the people of that county by the initiative process act to prohibit horse racing and wagering. Until that time, however, it would seem very clear that Section 25a and statutes enacted in accordance with it remain in effect.

We are therefore of the opinion that the power which would be granted to subdivisions of the State with respect to horse racing and wagering by Assembly Constitutional Amendment No. 35 is no more than an option to prohibit. If no action is taken to prohibit, horse racing and wagering on the results thereof could be conducted as provided by the present law.

Very truly yours,

FRED B. WOOD, Legislative Counsel
By PHILIP J. O'DONNELL, Deputy

NOTICE OF MOTION TO RECONSIDER CONTINUED

By unanimous consent, the consideration of notice of motion to reconsider votes on the following bill was continued until the next legislative day:

Assembly Bill No. 588, on request of Mr. Burkhalter.

PARTIAL REPORT OF THE ASSEMBLY INTERIM COMMITTEE ON JUDICIAL PROCESS

To the Honorable Sam L. Collins, Speaker, and the Members of the Assembly:

The Interim Committee on Judicial Process was created by House Resolution No. 226 to study into all questions affecting judicial process and the need for any changes in the various laws of the State of California.

One of the problems brought to the attention of the committee by its members and reports of the press, was the question of gambling in California, and whether there is need for any changes in the present law.

Our funds have been limited. We have not hired any full time investigators, but have relied on the activities of the members to personally examine into the present situation about which there has been so much discussion.

Our committee has not gone into the fields of organized crime for various obvious reasons, one of which being our lack of funds, and another because this commission has been more than active in this field.

However, we have given everyone desiring to appear before our committee an opportunity to advise us as to the needed changes in present gambling laws as well as present situations now existing.

Bookmaking

Bookmaking is a popular subject. Everyone talks about it like the weather, but no one does anything about it.

We believe that the public is confused about bookmaking, that it cannot understand how it is illegal to bet on horses outside of a legal fence drawn around certain race tracks in California, but perfectly legal to bet on the same horse within this legal fiction. This does have a moral aspect.

While the voters legalized pari-mutuel betting within the confines of certain tracks, nevertheless, the same bettor no doubt, feels that, if he loses a dollar within the tracks, he has lost it just the same as if he had bet through a bookie.

Because of this belief, we find that the bookies exist to take care of the public's demands.

The committee finds that many newspapers, including Racing Form, in the State are helpful in furnishing information to the potential bettor. These papers—some of which, by the way, are generally fighting the bookies on the front page—print the entries for tracks all over the United States, and not just the California tracks. Selections and tips are furnished by the papers' own sport writers, plus advertisements by concerns who guarantee to furnish winners. The results of the races for the day before are likewise printed, and if the newspaper is published in the afternoon, the results of the latest races are printed on the front page of that paper.

One question arises: Do the newspapers actually expect that the readers of the sports page are either going to visit the tracks in the East on the day the entries are printed, or to make a bet with some bookie? The answer is obvious. In other words, the Southern California papers, running entries of Northern California tracks know that no reader will visit any tracks, but must furnish the information to bettors for the bookies.

Now, the committee realizes that quick results of races are important to the bettor. Those bettors in the horse parlors naturally want the results immediately. These persons bet on whatever horse they believe may be a winner without much previous knowledge, and want the results of the race as soon as possible so that they can rebet their winnings, if any, on the next race. This is, in effect, a lottery.

While the existence of such parlors is important to certain groups of bettors, yet the number of bookies arrested in the various cities for making books on the street and in the bars is very much greater than the arrest of the operators of the so-called parlors or central clearing offices. In other words, in most towns the bets are placed by bettors over the phone or on the street, based on information they have picked up elsewhere than in a parlor. This information must either come from tips or from the newspapers or racing forms, because the bookie on the street certainly is no fountainhead of information as to the various track entries for that day.

Bookies are being arrested in great numbers. In Los Angeles our committee discussed this problem, after it was brought to our attention by the statement of Judge T. L. Ambrose that bookies were being released too rapidly by writ of habeas corpus.

In testimony before the committee it was apparent that the Los Angeles Police Force was extremely busy in arresting men for making book on the streets. However, as fast as these bookies were arrested and taken to jail, they were released on writ of habeas corpus on the grounds that there would be no complaint filed by the district attorney.

There then appeared a situation with the police arresting the bookie, the district attorney refusing to file a complaint because of lack of evidence, and the judge releasing the bookie

We found that a certain few attorneys and bail bond brokers were appearing for the bookie, furnishing the writ of habeas corpus and the bail bond, receiving anywhere from $25 to $50 per case, and handling from 10 to 20 cases per day.

We quote from the testimony of Judge Ambrose:

CHAIRMAN: Are they (bookies) held for a period of time?

JUDGE AMBROSE: Not if they can get away with it. The writ is filed in the police station before the defendant is brought in. Develops into a competitive contest, once they had two writs on the same man, the same defendant.

Another thing, attorneys petition for writs who are not attorneys for the defendant at all, but for some bail bond company. They file petition and we have granted them where petition shows on face the man was not in custody.

CHAIRMAN: Do they (attorneys) use a preprint writ?

AMBROSE: Yes, these attorneys carry them partially filled out in brief cases_____. Either license bookmaking or make it a misdemeanor.

CHAIRMAN: That would bring some revenue into the State.

AMBROSE: Certainly, I understand that race tracks oppose making it a misdemeanor. I don't know why.

GEORGE COLLINS: In San Francisco they prosecute them under a felony.

AMBROSE: How many do they actually prosecute?

COLLINS: The real bookies just don't come in. It is just foolishness to say the police don't know where they are.

AMBROSE: My suggestion would be that the police department and judges follow the law and not make any arrangement until it is proven that the person is in custody.

Concerning the active campaign of the Los Angeles Police Force in arresting bookies, the problem appearing is the inability to obtain sufficient evidence to warrant the district attorney in issuing a complaint. In many instances, the plain clothes officers would make a bet with the bookie, and arrest him while he would be writing down the information. In other cases, the arrest would be made while the bookie would be taking a bet from a bettor. In no cases did we find any effort to arrest any bettors.

We quote from testimony on this phase:

CHIEF OF POLICE HORRELL OF LOS ANGELES: The whole thing hinges on Penal Code Section 337a, states that it is a felony. Majority of the people are in the same corner that Volstead Act was during prohibition. We have a lot of curbstone bookies. It is extremely difficult to get evidence that is required for a complaint. The officer sees money change hands. There is no question in his mind what it is. Is he going to pass it up? The police officer knows that a felony has been committed.

ASSEMBLYMAN SHERIDAN: But he doesn't have enough evidence at the time. He prejudges the case.

ASSEMBLYMAN ROSENTHAL: Why not arrest man who places bet and not only the bookmaker if you are ever going to break this up.

This system used in Los Angeles is to continually arrest these men, more or less on a nuisance basis. However, it does little good with the activities of attorneys and bail bond brokers who are always ready to file a writ and issue a bail bond, even before the arrested bookie gets to the police station; the use of alias names in the arrests by the bookies; the immediate release because of lack of evidence, puts these bookies back in circulation again. Those who are unfortunate to get a jail term, if convicted, are quickly replaced by others on the streets and in the bars to receive the bets again. No noticeable effort seems to be made to cut off telephones and to reduce local bookmaking above the bookie class.

Other Forms of Gambling

As long as the Constitution and laws of California make gambling illegal, excluding the pari-mutuel race tracks, then it is just as illegal for an organized group to violate the law as for an unorganized group to do so. The picture in the State appears to be that the law enforcement agencies want to wink at what their friends want to do, but put in jail anybody else from outside their own territory.

It is poor policy to say that the local group can do it but no one else. The person who likes to gamble loses the same money to either group. Of course, there is bound to be political corruption if an outside group is permitted certain favors, but this differs little with the situation which allows the home-towners certain rights merely because they are local. The principle is the same, only the payoff is different. It would be similar to electing a gambler sheriff. He just wouldn't enforce the anti-gambling laws regardless of payoffs.

Every member of the committee, as well as the Members of the Legislature, has been aware of the lotteries being operated throughout the State by various charitable and unofficial governmental groups who sell tickets on homes, automobiles, blankets, and other objects. These are lotteries under the law, even if the price of the ticket is supposed to be a donation.

We have found slot machines throughout the State. We have not been in every county in the State, but have been in sufficient numbers to see the one armed bandits either pay off in cash or over the counter with the free play machines.

The public apparently wants slot machines. Many private clubs use them to pay off the debts of the organization and for other purposes.

The public's desire can be debated from a moral standpoint as to whether a majority wants such machines or not. If such are not desired, the opponents usually make little to-do about it, as indicated by the failure of law agencies to do much in enforcing present laws.

We do not know who owns the slot machines in California, but we know that the United States Internal Revenue Department has a list of the locations of all machines which pay a federal tax. These lists have been available for years to the enforcement agencies. No local groups seem to avail themselves of this information.

Penal Code Section 335 sets forth the law as to the duties of local officials as follows:

> Every district attorney, sheriff, constable or police officer must inform against and diligently prosecute persons whom they have reasonable cause to believe offenders against the provisions of this chapter and every such officer refusing or neglecting so to do is guilty of a misdemeanor.

The existence of slot machines, bookies, and other forms of known gambling is within the province of every law enforcement officer in the State. No one need worry about any other problem than to enforce the law in his own area, to rid the various counties of gambling problems or any other law violation.

There are many clean counties in the State. In many counties the district attorneys absolutely keep out slot machines by enforcing the present law, regardless of court interpretations that mere possession is not illegal, but only illegal where the machines actually pay off when operated.

District Attorney John Quincy Brown of Sacramento County appeared before our committee to discuss the operation of the county's slot machines ordinance, which makes possession illegal. This law has been adopted in several other counties.

The difficulty with such an ordinance is that it does not affect the operation of slot machines within incorporated areas in the county. The result is that slot machines exist within those cities, and the district attorney and sheriff get blamed for not enforcing the laws. The committee has observed slot machines being played within the shadow of the Capitol dome.

Our committee has heard a great deal about pay-offs to public officials. Whether such exists or not is hard to say. We do say, however, that if there is any question of a single pay-off to any official, that matter should be brought out in the open. The public is entitled to know of such facts. But we may conclude that much protection money is collected, although it may never reach any public official's hands.

Confidence in public officials is the most valued asset of our government. Any actual or implied pay-offs have a bad effect on the citizen, as well as on the person who is making what he thinks is a pay-off.

While the general public has a tendency to believe that all public officials, including the Members of the Legislature, are corrupt, we feel that the only way to offset this attitude is to have strict enforcement of all laws, repeal of those laws that the public does not want, and the passage of the necessary laws to give the law enforcement officials the tools with which to work. Then these men, the officials, should either resign or enforce the law.

There are several counties in the State wherein all forms of gambling exist, just like Nevada. There is no pretense to hide the roulette, dice, blackjack, and slot machines by entrances to secret rooms or private clubs. One county is very popular with tourists, and even Members of the Legislature and lobbyists.

In this county in particular, the condition has existed long before any thought was given to organized crime. This situation is one within the entire province of local officials and the local public, who seem to want it.

In cases of this nature, efforts of outsiders to go in to prevent such activity results in little success.

To quote from testimony on this phase:

ASSEMBLYMAN SHERIDAN: I think that if you attempt to have a prosecution you will find out that all of the local boys go scot free and the boys from out of town will be convicted, irrespective of the merits of the case.

ASSEMBLYMAN COLLINS: In _____ County, I went up there one Sunday morning and the children and everybody else were playing the slot machines right in the open. In fact there are slot machines right now in San Francisco. It has been a violation of the law and as I say, I saw a Sheriff's deputy in _____ watching a crap game up there in uniform.

In one county, two members of the committee found that there was an agreement between the operators of the gambling houses within the city and those outside, to keep slot machines out of the city. This would give the houses on the edge of town the advantage from a competitive standpoint.

Conclusions

The committee does hereby recommend to the Assembly that it adopt a bill making it a misdemeanor to have a slot machine in a person's possession. Such legislation would clear up the court's decision on this subject that mere possession is not illegal, but only when the machine makes a payoff, or there is a payoff by someone.

The committee has introduced two bills on this subject. Assembly Bill No. 437 amends Penal Code Section 330a by making mere possession of a slot machine illegal. Assembly Bill No. 2556 has also been introduced to likewise make possession a crime, and is based on the county ordinance now in effect in Sacramento County.

As far as bookmaking is concerned, we feel that the law should not be changed or reduced from a felony to a misdemeanor. Though some counties charge the bookies with a misdemeanor, other counties have success with a charge of felony. We feel that the retention of the crime as a felony is good, and is a serious detriment to this racket where the prosecution attempts to stop bookmaking.

The laws of the State on gambling should be enforced and none repealed. There has been discussion of the repeal of the lottery laws, which would make gambling legal, but our committee feels that such is not wise.

Better prosecution of present laws against bookmaking, including the arrest and prosecution of the bettor, would likewise slow down the betting process. We have noted that the bettor is hardly ever charged with any offense, or if so, only a minor fine is levied against him. The bettor and the bookie are forming a conspiracy, which is punishable under the present conspiracy law.

The gambling, legally allowed within certain areas, is not available to the average citizen, and the arbitrary demarcation point as to what is legal horserace betting, and what is not, is demoralizing to the enforcement of present gambling laws.

The fact that some counties have slot machines and others do not, some allow raffles on new homes, cars, blankets, and other articles, while the same is illegal in the next county, causes a mistrust of our government and its officials.

The hypocrisy of some gambling being legal while other forms are not, can be the potential ruination of good government.

Our citizens must not be taught to evade the laws that the Legislature passes. The public generally leaves the enforcement problems to its proper agencies, who usually are short in funds. We feel that these public officials should be given more moral support and paid adequate salaries.

The grand juries should tackle these responsibilities, the district attorneys, sheriffs, and police officers should strictly enforce all laws, although this is not the popular way. This enforcement will take care of the present problems now before the counties in the State of California.

We commend the public officials who are taking their work seriously, and find that many counties are in excellent shape.

Respectfully submitted,

Creation of the Commission

The California Commission on Interstate Cooperation was established in 1939 (Cal. Stats. 1939, Chap. 376). This act makes this State a participating member of the Council of State Governments, and is substantially identical to the uniform act under which similar commissions have been established in 47 other states. The present statutory authority of the commission is found in Title 2, Division 1 of the Government Code (Secs. 8000-8011).

Field of Activity of the Commission

The primary function of the California Commission on Interstate Cooperation is to furnish a means whereby California can join with the 47 other states now having like commissions in dealing with interstate problems not coming within the purview of federal jurisdiction, and which are so broad in scope as to not lend themselves to as effectual solutions if dealt with by the states individually. These involve: Interstate compacts contemplated by Article I, Section 10 of the Constitution of the United States, the adoption of uniform and model legislation by the various states and the promotion of regional programs beneficial to the states within the area or the development of reciprocal administrative acts or agreements, some of the objectives of which in many instances find no other specific statutory means or procedures for being accomplished except through the media of such commissions. Participation in, and acting upon, such matters are among the goals which this commission seeks to accomplish in order to develop interstate unity among the states. In addition, this commission has aided in promoting a clearer understanding of many federal-state problems.

Chronological Record of Interstate Conferences

The commission, in addition to its five regular meetings within California, participated in 15 interstate conferences during the past year. Some idea of the importance and variety of interstate problems considered is indicated by the group of conferences.

Activities of the California Commission on Interstate Cooperation

During the past year the California Commission on Interstate Cooperation has actively participated in numerous interstate activities of prime importance to California and all of the western states.

Western Industrial Development

At its meeting in Sacramento, California, April 1948, the Western Governors' Conference, by resolution, requested the Commission on Interstate Cooperation of the Eleven Western States, "To jointly determine upon a program for advancing the industrial expansion of the West, to be presented to the next meeting of the Conference of Western Governors."

In accordance with this request the California Commission on Interstate Cooperation considered the field to be discussed at its June 11, 1948, meeting in Los Angeles. The matter was further considered at the commission's meeting on September 7, 1948, and the commission approved a report prepared by its Executive Secretary, Mr. W. C. Jacobsen, outlining the views of the State of California with regard to a program of industrial development in the West.

The commission directed its executive secretary to serve on the Interstate Committee which would prepare a final draft of the report for submission to the Western Governors' Conference. Meetings of this Interstate Committee were subsequently held in Seattle on September 18th, and in San Francisco on October 18th. In its final report the committee suggested that the Western Governors' Conference give consideration to a three-point program:

(1) "That each of the states in the area consider the advisability of stimulating a program of basic research to discover the economic strengths, weaknesses, needs, potentialities, and prospects of each state; and that the Western Governors' Conference give consideration to the need for a clearing house and central library for basic information and industrial research. The economies of the several western states are closely intertwined. A project designed to utilize the resources of any one of the states will involve related activities in several or all of the others then. Funds for the establishment of such a clearing house and central library should be provided on a pro rata basis.

(2) "That the states consider the appointment of a research advisory council in each state, representative of important segments of the economic structure of the state such as manufacturers, labor, chambers of commerce, universities, industrial development agencies, agriculture, mining, fisheries, lumbering, etc. Such a council should act as a sifting committee or clearing house at a state level on all proposals—particularly in regard to industrial research—and make recommendations on all matters which should be called to the attention of the Western Governors' Conference. Such a committee would also be in a position to bring to the attention of the Governor and the State Legislature matters deserving of consideration, and to refer back to local agencies those items of a particularly local nature. It would be in a position to recommend research work, industrial surveys, or investigations.

(3) "That each state carefully review the need for a state development agency. It is suggested that such agencies be engaged primarily in promotional activities, including the collection, analysis and dissemination of basic information about the state. It is also suggested that, in the operation of such an agency, provision be made for the closest cooperation with all existing agencies, both public and private."

The complete report of the committee to the Western Governors' Conference is found at the end of this report. (Appendix-Exhibit A)

Western Institutional Care

The Western Interstate Committee on Institutional Care was established at the direction of the Western Regional Conference of the Council of State Governments in Salt Lake City, Utah, 1946. It is composed of one official appointed by the chairman of each State Commission on Interstate Cooperation of the Eleven Western States. California has been represented on this commission by Assemblyman Ralph C. Dills.

Over the period of the committee's existence the states have been able to help each other in connection with the education, care, and treatment of children afflicted with cerebral palsy. The committee has also been instrumental in the promotion of sight-saving books, and the promotion of their use in public schools. The committee is currently engaged in promoting a vocational school for the deaf at the high-school level.

The Subcommittee on Institutions for Women Criminals surveyed the several state penitentiaries in the area. It was found that states in the western region had, at the time of the survey, approximately the following population of women criminals:

Arizona	22
California	224
Colorado	29
Idaho	4
Montana	8
Nevada	3
New Mexico	13
Oregon	24
Utah	5	(Incarcerated in Colorado)
Washington	35
Wyoming	2	(Incarcerated in Colorado)

In practically every case, these populations have markedly increased since that time.

Inasmuch as it was found that California—presently the only state in the western area which maintains a separate institution for women—has made plans for abandonment of its present Institution for Women at Tehachapi, accordingly, the committee conceived an interstate compact leading to the use, in cooperation with California, of the new structure essentially as Western Institution for Women.

Following the consideration of the compact by the committee, the Department of Corrections of the State of California suggested the possibility of effecting the desired result through simpler means. It was proposed by the Department of Corrections that California enact a statute admitting women prisoners from outside the State on a "tuition" basis, and that the other states in the area enact statutes permitting them to send their women prisoners outside their states for incarceration. The adoption of such parallel statutes would obviate the necessity for the more cumbersome machinery involved in the interstate compact.

A suggested amendment to accomplish this purpose has been submitted to the 1949 Regular Session of the California Legislature. (See Assembly Bill No. 1796; Ralph C. Dills, Thomas, Thompson, Crichton, and McCollister.)

Each of the Members of the Legislature of California has been furnished with a printed copy of the report of the Western Interstate Committee on Institutional Care * for the years 1946-1948. In it is fully reported the work of the committee in regard to the deaf, the blind, the cerebral palsied, juvenile delinquents, and the mentally deficient.

Pacific Coast Fisheries

The commission calls attention to the continuing cooperative work with regard to the important Pacific marine fisheries among the States of California, Oregon, and Washington, working through the Pacific Marine Fisheries Commission. This agency was sponsored by the Commissions on Interstate Cooperation of the three states, leading to the formation of a compact for the purpose of joint operation. A representative of the Fisheries Commission presented a complete report to the Seattle meeting of the western commissions last September. Coordination with the fisheries work of Alaska and British Columbia is well under way.

Among the studies and recommendations which have been made by the Pacific Commission in the past year, are those concerning: Salmon fisheries, otter trawl fisheries, the soupfin shark, tuna, crab, anchovies, sardines, shad, striped bass, and oysters.

The First Annual Report of the Pacific Marine Fisheries Commission has been distributed to the Congress of the United States and to the Governors and legislators of the States of Washington, Oregon, and California.

The California statute embracing the Pacific Marine Fisheries Compact is being amended to remove the limitation on this State's membership. (See Senate Bill No 269 (Mayo) and Assembly Bill No. 866 (Thomas).)

Lake Tahoe Problems

Upon suggestion of the Governor of Nevada, the California Commission on Interstate Cooperation is undertaking, at the request of Governor Warren, a study of certain problems with relation to sanitation suppression of diseases transmissible to humans from wild rodents, adequacy of good water supplies, real estate subdivision practices, and pollution of the waters of Lake Tahoe and the Truckee River, in cooperation with the Nevada Committee on Interstate Cooperation. At its meeting on January 25, 1949, the nature of the problems involved were presented and at its March 25, 1949, meeting the commission instructed its executive secretary to set a date for a conference with the Nevada committee to discuss ways and means of coordinating activities by compact or agreement.

* Issued by Western Regional Office, Council of State Governments, San Francisco, California.

Agriculture

At the Regional Meeting of the Council of State Governments held in San Francisco on September 9-10, 1947, the eleven western Commissions on Interstate Cooperation recommended the establishment of a Western Interstate Committee on Agriculture, to be composed of the Director or Commissioner of Agriculture and a member of the Commission on Interstate Cooperation of each of the Eleven Western States. Accordingly, Mr. A. A. Brock and Assemblyman John F. Thompson (succeeding Assemblyman James E. Thorp) represent the State of California on this committee.

Meetings of the committee were held in 1948 on January 3d in Salt Lake City, Utah; February 16th in Denver, Colorado; and September 18th in Seattle, Washington. Among the matters helpful to the welfare of the agricultural industry of the western states, which received consideration by the committee were: The prosecution of a vigorous cooperative program for the eradication of foot-and-mouth disease by the Federal Government in Mexico; the establishment of proper inspection of airplanes arriving from outside the continental United States to prevent the importation of foreign agricultural pests; the Oriental fruit fly and other destructive fruit flies which have caused damage in Hawaii and other areas; basic functions and organization of state agencies doing agricultural regulatory work; migratory agricultural labor; status of cooperation with federal authorities; the most desirable relationships between the state departments or commissions of agriculture and state legislators; the promotion of a vigorous weed control program in the western area, particularly with reference to publicly owned or controlled areas; common problems in marketing agricultural products; transportation rates and excise taxes on transportation charges which placed the long hauls from the western area at a distinct disadvantage in costs of getting products to market.

Ninth General Assembly of the States

Officials from 45 states met at the Ninth General Assembly of the Council of State Governments in Detroit, Michigan, on December 2-4, 1948. California was represented by Senator Jesse M. Mayo, Senator James J. McBride, Assemblyman James G. Crichton, Assemblyman Ralph C. Dills, Assemblyman Richard McCollister, Assemblyman Vincent Thomas, and Assemblyman John F. Thompson. Among the resolutions adopted were:

Legislative Processes and Procedures

Two years ago, the Eighth General Assembly of the States, at its meeting in Chicago, Illinois, approved and endorsed the Report of the Committee on Legislative Processes and Procedures of the Council of State Governments and urged the legislatures of the several states to consider the specific recommendations contained in the report.

The Committee on Legislative Processes and Procedures was directed to, and has, continued its work in order to keep abreast of developments in this field and to stimulate consideration of the recommendations by all the states.

During the past two years there have been significant developments in many states leading to improved and strengthened legislative bodies and methods of operation. The committee has reviewed these developments; has brought up to date its earlier report and again has recommended desirable and feasible methods for improving the organization, processes, and procedures of state legislatures.

Therefore, the Ninth General Assembly of the States heartily commends the Committee on Legislative Processes and Procedures for its excellent work and endorses and approves the revised and amended committee report. The several states are urged to give careful consideration to and make every use of the specific recommendations contained in the report.

Airport Construction

The states have recommended consistently that the development and construction of a national airport system should follow the long established and demonstratedly effective pattern of federal-state cooperation. The Federal Airport Act, in operation now for more than two years, has clearly illustrated the impracticability of a federal agency attempting to deal with thousands of political subdivisions without reference to the states.

More than half of the states have taken action to insure that their political subdivisions will deal with and through appropriate state aviation agencies in applying for federal airport grants. The Council of State Governments' program of suggested state legislation for 1949 provides model legislation to achieve this purpose.

Therefore, the Ninth General Assembly of the States strongly urges all states, which have not taken previous action, to adopt the model State Channeling of Federal Airports Funds Act at the 1949 sessions of their legislatures.

The Ninth General Assembly of the States also urges that the Congress take action to amend the Federal Airport Act to provide that all airport plans and programs affecting the several states be developed in cooperation with the states, that plans and programs within the several states be approved by the states, and that funds allocated for airports be channeled to and through state governments. It is further recommended that a proper proportion of available funds be allocated for the advance planning of airport projects.

Interstate Activities

Many governmental problems which transcend state lines require common solutions by the states working together within regions and throughout the Country. Failure to do so can result only in the transfer to the Federal Government of powers, duties, and functions which always have been the responsibilities of the states. This does violence to the principle that to every extent possible and feasible governmental services should be provided and administered by those levels of government which are closest to the people.

The states increasingly are establishing joint cooperative programs for institutional care, educational facilities, water resources, pollution control, crime control, conservation of coastal fisheries, and forest fire protection. By such action the states are demonstrating that they can, on their own initiative, effectively administer activities which concern large areas of the nation.

The Ninth General Assembly of the States strongly approves recent developments in the field of interstate cooperative activities, and recommends that this method of handling common problems be used by the states even more extensively in the future. The Council of State Governments is hereby requested to promote and foster compacts and joint agreements among the states in fields where such action is necessary.

Highway Safety

The President's Highway Safety Conference and the several states have undertaken nation-wide campaigns to reduce the appalling loss of life and the enormous economic waste caused annually by motor vehicle accidents. The regulation and control of motor vehicles on our highways lies peculiarly within the province of the states, and there is an immediate challenge to the states to develop and maintain uniform laws, regulations, and requirements governing registration, highway markings, speed, traffic signals, and rules of the road.

For many years groups interested in highway safety have promoted a uniform vehicle code. Highway and motor vehicle officials in a number of states have developed to a high degree the method and techniques involved in making careful and detailed comparisons of their laws with the uniform vehicle code. Much progress has been made, but by no means enough, and here is an opportunity for the individual states and states working together to demonstrate that they can and will solve this problem efficiently and expeditiously. Therefore, be it

Resolved by the Ninth General Assembly of the States, That the several states be urged to carry forward this vital program by utilizing methods and techniques that have proven to be sound and successful. Be it further

Resolved, That the Council of State Governments be requested to review the progress made by the states in developing uniform vehicle laws; to study the need for further uniformity among the states; and to work with all the states, through the auspices of the drafting committee of state officials and otherwise in promoting the adoption of uniform vehicle codes, and in promoting safety education in the schools of the states.

Crime Control

The Interstate Compact for the Supervision of Parolees and Probationers, now ratified by 44 states, has provided a most effective instrument for the control of crime and the rehabilitation of offenders.

The supervision of parolees has readily adapted itself to adequate interstate control and regulation primarily because this function is one with respect to which state governments have immediate responsibility; however, the interstate control and supervision of probationers has not generally been as adequate because of decentralized probation supervision. Therefore, be it

Resolved by the Ninth General Assembly of the States, That the administrator of the compact for each of the states be urged to become the central agent for channeling probationers as well as parolees. Be it further

Resolved, That the Governors and Legislatures of the States of Georgia, Nevada, North Carolina, and Texas be requested to enact the necessary enabling legislation to ratify this interstate compact, thereby effecting a completely unanimous operating agreement among all of the states.

Civilian Defense

The establishment and effective operation of an adequate civilian defense program is an all important part of the first line of security for the Nation and the states. The exigencies of the world today make such a program vitally necessary.

Experience during the last war emphasized the need for adequate civil defense measures, as contrasted with operations and activities which fall under the military establishment. It has also been demonstrated that a properly conceived civilian defense program must follow administrative channels which operate from the Federal Government to and through the state governments, and from the states to their political subdivisions.

The Ninth General Assembly of the States recommends that careful consideration be given to the model State Civilian Defense Act as carried in the Council of State Governments' program of suggested state legislation for 1949, and urges that all the states enact legislation which will implement an adequate civilian defense program.

Employment Security Administration

The existing system of financing the entire cost of administering state employment security programs through federal appropriations is inadequate and results in federal interference in state practices, procedures and policies.

In spite of the fact that more than sufficient funds for administration are now being collected by the Federal Government under the unemployment tax act, this system has failed to supply the states with the moneys needed for efficient administration and progressive planning, thus endangering state trust funds set aside for unemployment benefits.

Therefore, the Ninth General Assembly of the States hereby urges the Congress to take such action as may be necessary to amend the federal social security laws for the purpose of providing a more satisfactory method of financing the administration of employment security.

Water Pollution

The maintenance of reasonable standards of purity in streams, rivers, lakes, and other water resources is vital to the public interest. Effective control of water pollution is essential to public health and welfare, conservation, and industrial development. Primary responsibility for the prevention and abatement of stream pollution rests with the states, and this principle is recognized in the Federal Water Pollution Control Act of 1948. Important aspects of interstate cooperation are involved in any comprehensive approach to this problem.

Therefore, the Ninth General Assembly of the States recommends:

1. That all the states review the laws, regulations, and standards applicable to the prevention, treatment, and abatement of water pollution within their borders and that they develop adequate state-wide programs for maintaining the purity of their waters;

2. That each state give careful consideration to the proposals carried in the Council of State Governments' program of suggested state legislation for 1949 which deal with federal-state cooperation in pollution control and the construction and financing of sewerage facilities; and

3. That groups of states develop compacts or other interstate agreements designed to control and abate pollution of waters common to more than one state.

Tax and Fiscal Policy

During 1947 and 1948, a number of conferences were held in Chicago and Washington at which representatives of the Congress and the Governors' Conference met jointly to develop a federal-state cooperative approach to tax and fiscal policies. These conferences have evidenced a new spirit and a new method for solving joint problems in this field.

A number of objectives, both specific and general, have been agreed upon by the conferences, the purpose being to develop ways and means of strengthening state and local governments in their efforts to provide our citizens with necessary services. Consideration was given to (1) tax fields which can best be used by state and local governments, (2) federal taxes which may be reduced for the purpose of providing more adequate tax sources for state and local governments, (3) readjustments necessary in the federal grant-in-aid structure, and (4) other tax and fiscal policies which would serve to strengthen all levels of government.

The Council of State Governments is now completing a comprehensive study of federal grants-in-aid. A factual report and policy recommendations are expected to be made available in the near future. This report is designed to suggest ways in which a more rational federal-aid system can be developed in the future.

The Ninth General Assembly of the States heartily commends these developments leading to improved federal-state cooperation in the field of tax and fiscal policy and grants-in-aid. The Congress and the Governors' Conference are urged to continue their joint activities and to develop specific proposals for coordinating intergovernmental fiscal policies. It is recommended that the Federal Government take immediate steps to reduce certain excise taxes most suitable for state and local use. State and federal officials, legislators and administrators are urged to give careful consideration to the report and findings of the Council of State Governments' Committee to Study Grants-in-Aid.

Regional Highway and Motor Vehicle Conferences

For a number of years the Council of State Governments, in conjunction with Commissions on Interstate Cooperation, has sponsored conferences on highway and motor vehicle problems. There have developed from these conferences suggested legislation and administrative principles which have been most useful and helpful to the states participating in such conferences. The development of similar conferences in additional regions would be of benefit to the states of those regions, as well as to all of the states. Therefore, be it

Resolved by the Ninth General Assembly of the States, That the Council of State Governments be requested: (1) To assist in the establishment and development of regional highway and motor vehicle conferences of states in the several regions of the country; (2) to distribute the findings, recommendations, reports, and resolutions of recent regional conferences to all Commissions on Interstate Cooperation and other appropriate state officials in all the states; and (3) to review and summarize the actions and accomplishments of the several regional conferences for the purpose of correlating and coordinating the efforts of the states in this field.

Municipal Finance

Our national government, our states, and particularly our local units are finding it increasingly difficult to secure the tax resources necessary to meet the growing demands upon government. This year, the Governors' Conference at Portsmouth, New Hampshire, recommended the extension of local powers of taxation in order to strengthen the capacity of local government to meet the needs and requirements of its people.

The Ninth General Assembly of the States urged that all the states give careful consideration to legislation providing more freedom for localities in levying taxes which will enable them to secure additional revenue to meet local demands for new and expanded services.

Title to Lands Beneath Navigable Waters

WHEREAS, The United States of America has recognized that all of the separate states have, since July 4, 1776, or since their formation and admission to the Union, exercised full powers of ownership of all lands beneath navigable waters within their boundaries and of all natural resources within these lands and waters; and

WHEREAS, The separate states have maintained full control of these natural resources, with the full acquiescence and approval of the United States and in accordance with many decisions of the Supreme Court and of the Executive Departmnets of the Federal Government that these lands and resources were vested in the respective states as an incident to state sovereignty, and that the exercise of these powers of ownership and control did not nor will not impair nor interfere with the exercise by the Federal Government of its constitutional powers in relation to the lands and navigable waters and to the control and regulation of commerce, navigation, national defense, and international relations; and

WHEREAS, The several states, their subdivisions and persons lawfully acting pursuant to state authority have expended large sums of money on improving and reclaiming lands and in developing the natural resources in lands and waters in full reliance upon the recognized rule of state ownership; and

WHEREAS, A recent decision of the Supreme Court of the United States held that the Federal Government has certain paramount powers in respect to a portion of these lands and natural resources without reaffirming or settling the ultimate question of their ownership and control; and

WHEREAS, This recent decision of the Supreme Court recognizes that the question of the ownership and control of these lands and natural resources is within the "Congressional area of national power" and that Congress will not execute its powers in such way as to bring about injustices to the states, their subdivisions or persons acting pursuant to their permission. Now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Ninth General Assembly of the States:

1. That it is in the public interest that title and ownership of the lands beneath navigable waters within the boundaries of the states be confirmed in these states by the Congress of the United States;

2. That the Congress of the United States recognize, confirm, and establish title to these lands in the states so concerned;

3. That the Congress of the United States release and relinquish to these states all right, title, and interest of the United States which it has in these lands; and

4. That the Executive Director of the Council of State Governments transmit a copy of this resolution to the President, the Vice President, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the United States.

Foot-and-Mouth Disease

The Eighth General Assembly of the States in 1947 urged that steps be taken to prevent, control, and eradicate foot-and-mouth disease in the United States and in Mexico. Much has been done since that time to institute measures necessary for the accomplishment of this purpose, but the problem still requires close attention and prompt action to control further outbreaks of the disease.

Therefore, the Ninth General Assembly of the States hereby expresses its whole-hearted approval of steps already taken, and respectfully memorializes and requests the President and the Congress of the United States to take such action as may be necessary; and, with the cooperation of the Mexican Government, by legislation or otherwise, to prevent, control, and eradicate foot-and-mouth disease in the United States and in the Republic of Mexico.

Participation in Study on the Organization and Operation of the Federal Government

At the March 30, 1948, meeting of the commission at Sacramento, California, Mr. Frank Bane, Executive Director, Council of State Governments, Chicago, Illinois, commented on the topic "Federal-State Relations Study." He advised that the Seventy-ninth Congress had authorized a study on the organization and operation of the Federal Government; that a Commission of Twelve had been appointed to make this study, four to be appointed by the President pro Tempore of the Senate; four by the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and four by the President. Former President Herbert Hoover had been selected to serve as chairman of this commission and he in turn had requested the Council of State Governments to take over one phase of the problem representing about one-fourth of the job. This phase involved one of the four main subjects, namely, Federal-State Relations. The fact that the Board of Governors of the Council had approved the undertaking of this study was one of the factors making necessary an increase in the contributions of the states to the support of the Council.

In commenting upon the problem of Federal-State Relations, Mr. Bane advised that prior to 1900 the setup of governmental levels was relatively simple and the problems of each the local, state, and federal governments were fairly well established. The Federal Government had a fairly definite policy and program and paid for it out of a budget based upon normal federal revenues.

During 1913 and 1914 appreciable change in precedent was brought about when grants-in-aid or subventions were first made and a policy established which has since grown appreciably with increasing amounts of federal aid to the states each succeeding Congress.

There is an increasing feeling on the part of the states that this feature is going too far and, as a result of the financial participation in the costs of operation of state and local governments, the Federal Government is usurping more and more control of governmental functions formerly administered strictly on a state or local basis. This leads to the invasion of fields of taxation and overlapping of taxing by the federal and state governments, hence, to an important question—Which fields of taxation shall be reserved to (a) the federal and (b) the state governments?

One solution suggested is that a complete study be made to determine where the dividing line shall be in the occupation and utilization of areas of taxing source. If the Federal Government stops taxing in certain fields so that the state can again resume its place in such taxing fields, which of the functions now supported and supervised by the Federal Government shall be dropped?

One line of thinking has been that the Federal Government, in exercising its power of taxation, not make specific grants to the states for old age, for highways, for hospitals, etc., but rather let the Federal Government collect the entire amounts within the specific taxable field; for example, tobacco taxes, liquor taxes, etc., and without any strings make an over-all allocation to the states for the use of the General Fund of that state, then let the state budget its expenditures out of the allocations thus made in the fields and categories considered equitable.

In this connection a question has arisen as to whether or not the states would be willing to put into the hands of the Federal Government by agreement some form of allocation of funds without a rather definite formula. Unless there were some definite basis for the allocation, it has been argued that the Federal Government might be enabled to curtail the activity of an entire state setup unless a specific basis for allocation were established. The other alternative, of course, is continuing the grants-in-aid program as now.

Another main question that has been propounded is: Do the states want more or less of the grants-in-aid program? If we want less, from which of the fields can the Federal Government withdraw? In spite of the increasing trend toward curtailment, there were three more grants-in-aid programs adopted by the Eightieth Congress. Two of these were large ones involving airports and hospitals. The third is a smaller one with reference to the school lunch program.

There had developed at the Governors' Conference a suggestion that the states go along with the general feature that the moneys allocated through grants-in-aid be expended in accordance with the standards established by the states in the state law authorizing the acceptance of grants-in-aid. Further, that standards be specified by law and not be left to confusing administrative determination.

In the last analysis, two basic questions remain—suggested by Mr. Bane:

(a) Shall the grants-in-aid program of the Federal Government be increased or decreased?

(b) In the event there is a continuation or expansion of grants-in-aid programs, shall it be on a matching basis with federal allocations being made on an over-all allocation basis to the state and the state budgeting same as it does its own funds after allocation has been made?

Angel Island

The progress and early history of the Angel Island Project, referred to the commission by the 1947 Regular Session of the Legislature, was reported by the Assembly Committee on Interstate Cooperation in the Assembly Journal of March 8, 1948. Assembly Joint Resolution No. 2 of the 1948 Session referred same to further study and action by the State Park Commission. On January 27, 1949, the commission's special subcommittee (Assemblyman McCollister, Chairman) asked to be relieved of further duty in connection with the project. Legislation had been prepared to protect the interests of the State and its political subdivisions (Assembly Bill No. 349; Assembly Bill No. 350, McCollister). If the island were to serve a public use, the cost should be half of the original appraised value of $700,000.

The War Assets Administration had put the area up for auction. San Francisco and Marin County now have manifested an interest in purchasing same under conditions available to public agencies, since the State Park Commission gave up any idea of making it part of the Beaches and Parks System of the State. San Francisco and Marin County have views on the possibility of the island serving ultimately as a recreational area and have asked for same to be considered in the category of an historical monument. In this latter instance it is possible that same may be acquired for a much smaller token payment than the appraised price above stated.

The work of the commission had been completed through the activities of Mr. McCollister's committee and it was now thoroughly possible that either San Francisco or Marin County would have an opportunity to negotiate for final acquisition of the island on the "historical monument basis." Certain areas will probably be reserved for federal use. Since the War Assets Administration appears to be going out of business the end of February, the negotiations in the future will have to be conducted with the United States Department of the Interior.

Foreign Trade Zones

It will be recalled that largely due to the especial activity of the Commission's Committee on Federal Relations, the No. 3 Foreign Trade Zone license in the United States was granted to the Port of San Francisco after same had been pending for 10 years. (No. 1 is at New York; No. 2 at New Orleans.) The preliminary detail on this service is found in the Assembly Journal, March 8, 1948.

The commission, at its meeting September 11, 1948, at Los Angeles, California, asked its Committee on Federal Relations to continue its exploration of the development of foreign trade zones and to inspect the possibility of same for Los Angeles and Long Beach and to assist those communities on such matters.

Assemblyman Vincent Thomas made a comprehensive report on the advantages of foreign trade zones to the Pacific Coast area at Seattle, Washington, to the regional meeting of Commissions on Interstate Cooperation in September at the request of the California commission. There the California commission was complimented because of having pressed through to obtain the zone for San Francisco.

The committee has continued to participate in fostering the application for Los Angeles and expects in time that a permit would be granted. The Assembly Interstate Cooperation Committee and Senator McBride appeared at a hearing before the Federal Foreign Trade Zone Board in behalf of the Los Angeles application, pointing out the value to San Francisco and the need for a similar area in Los Angeles as a benefit for the back country in the southern part of the State.

The executive secretary had obtained further information on the volume of business going through Foreign Trade Zone No. 3 at San Francisco and reported that the variety of materials was far in excess of anticipation with a total value approaching one million dollars from June 10, 1948, to December 31, 1948, as follows:

Cooperation With California State Commission on Uniform State Laws

While it has been the practice for the commission to meet periodically with the State Uniform State Laws Commission, since 1940 there has been no formal arrangement, although it has been the practice to invite Mr. Fred B. Wood, Legislative Counsel and member of the latter commission, to attend all of our meetings. In other states more direct association between these two agencies of state governments has been negotiated in a variety of ways. At the suggestion of Governor Warren, an improved liaison was recommended. This came within the realm of actuality when Dean William L. Prosser of the University of California Law School and Mr. Fred B. Wood, both members of the Commission on Uniform State Laws, met with the Commission on Interstate Cooperation on January 27, 1949. Specific action was taken to have a member of the former body to become an ex officio member of the latter organization whenever such member has been appointed by the Governor to so serve. (See Assembly Bill No. 2414, Ralph C. Dills, McCollister, Thompson, Thomas, and Crichton.)

The long-term research and basic legal analysis work of the State Commission on Uniform State Laws is not to be confused with the work of the Council of State Governments through its Drafting Committee (Ralph C. Dills, California representative) in recommending "Suggested Legislation" of a more current character. The latter is characterized by two measures introduced into the 1949 Session by the Assembly members of the commission, to wit:

Assembly Bill No. 1797 (Ralph C. Dills et al.) "The Small Business Commission Act" developed by the Council's Drafting Committee in cooperation with the United States Departments of Agriculture and Commerce, the Federal Trade Commission, and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. Assembly Bill No. 1798 (Ralph C. Dills et al.) "The State Civil Defense Agency Act" prepared by the Drafting Committee of the Council of State Governments in cooperation with the Office of Civil Defense Planning under the United States Secretary of Defense.

Interstate Trade Barriers

When the commission was first established, one of the most pressing problems was to gain the elimination of interstate trade barriers, involving discriminatory statutes and those affecting movement of automotive equipment and agricultural products. Important among the supplies moving for export out of California were winery products. The barriers affecting these were thoroughly reviewed in 1942, and some steps were taken about that time to negotiate with the Commissions on Interstate Cooperation and Legislatures of other states for their modification or removal. Changes of administration in the several states brought these negotiations to a close temporarily.

The 1949 Legislature of the State of Washington enacted a law placing further limitations of the sales of wines, produced outside that state, in taverns and other licensed places. The chairman and members of the California Commission on Interstate Cooperation learned of the enactment having reached the Governor of Washington for his final consideration and requested that he not approve same in the interest of preventing a further interstate trade barrier. As this report is being prepared, word has been received that Governor Arthur B. Langlie has vetoed the measure purely on the grounds that an unwarranted trade barrier would be established should he have approved the limiting bill.

Contracts for Services

The commission has continued its contribution under contract with the Council of State Governments for the many valuable services rendered both by its Chicago headquarters and regional office at San Francisco, managed by Mr. Stewart Wilson. This association of the states continues to be the most effective and forceful agency to aid the states in maintaining their intended autonomy in the areas reserved to the states by the National Constitution. Most of the budget for the commission is represented by the amount of this contribution to the council and is in keeping with the amounts contributed by many other states.

Similarly, the commission receives fiscal and clerical services under contract ($300) with the State Department of Agriculture, in addition to housing the files and office of the executive secretary.

Western Industrial Expansion
A Suggested Long-term Program

Submitted to the Western Governors' Conference at Its Request by a Committee Established for That Purpose by the Commissions on Interstate Cooperation of the Western States

Prepared by: Western Regional Office, The Council of State Governments, October, 1948

Sacramento, California, April 23, 1948

WHEREAS, The industrial expansion of the West is essential to the economic prosperity of the Nation, and

WHEREAS, The Commissions on Interstate Cooperation of the Eleven Western States are functioning organizations, representing both the legislative and executive departments of those states; be it hereby

RESOLVED by the Conference of Western Governors assembled in Sacramento, California, on the 23d day of April, 1948, That the State Commissions on Interstate Cooperation of the Eleven Western States be requested to jointly determine upon a program for advancing the industrial expansion of the West, to be presented to the next meeting of the Conference of Western Governors; and be it further

RESOLVED, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to Mr. Frank Bane, Executive Director of the Council of State Governments, to each member of the Commission on Interstate Cooperation from each of the 11 western states, and to each of the governors of said states.

Following the meeting of the Western Governors' Conference in Sacramento, California, on April 23-24, 1948, the several State Commissions on Interstate Cooperation in the Western States held meetings, to which representatives of the various economic interests of each state were invited, and at which the problems involved were discussed.

At the Regional Conference of the Council of State Governments in Seattle, Washington, on September 17-18, 1948, the several State Commissions on Interstate Cooperation presented their separate suggestions for a long-term industrial development program. The Western Regional Conference directed that each State Commission on Interstate Cooperation designate one individual to serve as a member of a committee to synthesize the several state recommendations, and to formulate a specific program.

The following is the report of that committee.

A Suggested Long-term Program

The problem of perfecting a long-term program for western industrial expansion would appear to be primarily one of organization directed to finding the fundamental and basic needs, developing the basic and pertinent facts and exploring fully the ways and means to gainfully utilize the potential manpower which comes with rapidly increasing population. There has already been a more rapid industrial expansion in the western area, with a higher rate of productivity attained and continued, than could be foreseen. With this development and the persons seeking residence in the western area have come state and local problems too manifold and detailed to be discussed here.

Each of the several states has an agency, or there are organizations, public and private, which have at their disposal detailed information on many features for those interested in new industrial ventures, or in establishing branches of their plants and facilities, or desiring further expansions in locations already chosen.

Our primary concern is not to duplicate those features, but to coordinate on a rational regional basis the basic and fundamental problems of the western region so that a representative regional group—whether it be the Western Governors' Conference itself, or a particular council, congress, or committee which may be ultimately suggested by them—can give expression to a western viewpoint in a formidable and telling manner whether it be directed to the Congress of the United States or to operators of industrial enterprises or to the holders of investment capital.

There are certain outstanding needs to be met before the western region will find itself in a position to fulfill the promises and guarantees expected from a large segment of those planning to participate in and become a part of the industrial expansion of this great western region.

Generally speaking, there is little disagreement with the idea that the following factors are paramount:

(1) Water
(2) Power
(3) Transportation
(4) Availability of Natural Resources

(5) Information and Publicity
(6) Housing

(1) Water. It is well established that there is an enormous supply of water in our western area, but has there been a regionally coordinated viewpoint or expression directed towards its conservation and development for the entire West? Are we as fully prepared as we should be to answer such questions as: "Are the waters now available for use?" "To what extent are the western water resources in the process of development for use?" "How soon can they be developed so that they can be used?" "Are there any legal limitations on the allocation of such waters for use?" Many manufacturing industries require greater volumes of water than any of our rapidly growing areas have contemplated and conversion of residential use to manufacturing use frequently multiplies the demand many times. We recommend the handling of this problem on a river basin basis by the interstate compact method.

(2) Power. Whether power be developed from hydro-electric sources or from other natural resources, such as oil, coal or gas, for how long can a consistent supply be guaranteed? Our anticipated developments are many, but we have had severe warnings directed to us by those who are specialists in the field to indicate that, sometimes when most needed, it just is not there.

Although the power producing capacity of the western area has increased tremendously since 1925, exceedingly difficult questions in this regard have arisen within the last year, and continue to threaten.

As to what policy should be promulgated in integrating the development of power resources for the western region, we leave to those who well recognize the procedures necessary in order to bring about and finance a maximum development in the shortest possible time. Notwithstanding the importance of hydro-electric power in the industrial development of the West, the following factors must be considered: Irrigation, flood control, pollution, drainage, salinity control, fish and wildlife, and navigation. In our opinion, federal policy should be established taking all these factors into consideration.

(3) Availability of Natural Resources. There is an immense amount of information and source data available on the tangible supplies of minerals and metals, building materials, fuel deposits, fisheries, agricultural products, etc. Attempts have been made to catalog their volume by governmental agencies, chambers of commerce, research institutes, and industrial development groups. To date unavailable are pertinent and coordinated summaries which would be of great value, if only as an index to the more complete data which is ready for use and being constantly compiled.

(4) Transportation. The older means of transportation, by rail, sea, and land have generally taken expansion in stride where definite need and demand have appeared.

From the point of view of the states, the desirability of integrating through interstate highway systems, and approaching uniformity in the regulation and taxation of motor vehicles, has come to the attention of our Commissions on Interstate Cooperation on several occasions. These are well recognized problems.

It is generally conceded that there are sufficient cargo-carrying bottoms available to adjust sea transportation as demand arises. The western area must better recognize the potentiality of maritime traffic expansion for the entire Pacific Basin.

Rail carriers have committed themselves to expansion programs for many years, and their ability during wartime to meet excessive demand indicates to us their ability to meet any necessary expansion as the need arises. The rate problem, however, has an important bearing upon industrial expansion. The present federal excise tax on public utility charges should either be abolished or applied on a basis which is not discriminatory to the West. Because of the great distances involved, application on a percentage basis penalizes the West.

In terms of cargo transport, the problem is primarily one of equitable load distribution in both directions traversed. In the case of air transport more feeder lines may be needed to equalize the slack haul eastward so far as our continental problem is concerned. Regionally, therefore, consideration should be directed to a fundamental analysis of feeder line development and reasonable regulation.

(5) Information and Publicity. In many fields information and publicity must continue to be of a local or state character. Nevertheless, there are important factors of general concern and interest in the western area which can intelligently be exploited without interference in the localized region or area programs.

We do not elaborate on the problem of integrated research on the needs for industrial expansion. Much of this has been done and is being done within each of the several states. However, there is a desirability that the entire western region gain some advantage from that data which is of basic consequence to the entire region, and steps should be taken to make the information available to all the states.

(6) Housing. Housing is a most important element in any industrial expansion. Local and state efforts to expedite housing can well be directed toward modernizing building codes and related regulations and eliminating made-work practices.

A question of importance in housing is the decentralization of some of the industrial development into less congested areas—even into more rural locations—where those who must be employed can reach their work with dispatch in the light of modern traffic congestion, availability of public conveyance, and for security reasons This policy would lend stability to the economic fabric of the less populated areas and the entire west.

In considering the necessary industrial expansion, it is important to insure the proper integration of these needs with the phases vital to agriculture. The western region still must rate agriculture as its primary industry. There is already a Western Interstate Committee on Agriculture associated with the Council of State Governments through the Western Commissions on Interstate Cooperation, which is ready at all times to cooperate on problems of mutual interest.

A highly important consideration, at least for the future, in connection with a program for industrial development in the west is some assurance for the gainful utilization of surplus in manpower. The distribution and service fields for employment will expand with population increase, but greater industrialization must provide other fields of employment to take care of the skilled and unskilled increasing in number with the expanding population trend.

New frontiers of enticement to tourists are opening with modern transportation urging them to visit new recreation and vacation grounds. Unless we develop more diversity in employment opportunities by greater industrialization, sooner or later public funds may be needed in order to care for those employables who would appear in increasing numbers should any recession in business development occur.

The basic problems need to be dealt with intelligently and concertedly on a coordinated western area basis if the progress being made is to be retained for the regional and national welfare.

Having considered these and the many other large problems involved, this committee respectfully suggests to the Western Governors' Conference the consideration of a three-point program:

(1) It is suggested that each of the states in the area consider the advisability of stimulating a program of basic research to discover the economic strengths, weaknesses, needs, potentialities, and prospects of each state.

It is suggested that the Western Governors' Conference give consideration to the need for a clearing house and central library for basic information and industrial research. The economies of the several western states are closely intertwined. A project designed to utilize the resources of any one of the states will involve related activities in several or all of the others then. Funds for the establishment of such a clearing house and central library should be provided on a pro rata basis.

(2) It is suggested that the states consider the appointment of a research advisory council in each state, representative of important segments of the economic structure of the state such as manufacturers, labor, chambers of commerce, universities, industrial development agencies, agriculture, mining, fisheries, lumbering, etc. Such a council should act as a sifting committee or clearing house at a state level on all proposals—particularly in regard to industrial research—and make recommendations on all matters which should be called to the attention of the Western Governors' Conference. Such a committee would also be in a position to bring to the attention of the governor and the state legislature matters deserving of consideration, and to refer back to local agencies those items of a particularly local nature. It would be in a position to recommend research work, industrial surveys, or investigations.

(3) It is suggested that each state carefully review the need for a state development agency. It is suggested that such agencies be engaged primarily in promotional activities, including the collection, analysis and dissemination of basic information about the state. It is also suggested that, in the operation of such an agency, provision be made for the closest cooperation with all existing agencies, both public and private.

Because of the fact that regional development programs are generally new and somewhat experimental in nature, many techniques must be tried, revised, and discarded before effective methods and techniques are finally discovered. A regional central library and clearing house will provide for the interchange of techniques and methods, and should prove most helpful.

It is suggested that any necessary organization or coordination among the state developmental agencies or research advisory councils might well be effected through the offices of the Council of State Governments.

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by the Chaplain, Dr. Torrance Phelps:

God of Youth: The eyes of youth look up today with awe to the majestic dome that over-arches us, and to the historic mementos about us.

May the famous scenes in the stately halls, and the resplendent figures who have made our history remind them of our debt to the heroic past.

Let the venerable past inspire them with great ambition to follow in the steps of our illustrious great and maintain this State as the paradise of opportunity.

May they realize that the tasks of future years in the Atomic Age will require more wisdom and devotion than even the pioneers displayed.

God grant they may have strength equal to their day and give to it the glory past has given us.—AMEN.

Amendment No. 19

"SEC. 18. Section 28016 is added to said code, to read:

28016. This act is an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health or safety within the meaning of Article IV of the Constitution and shall go into immediate effect. The facts constituting such necessity are:

The amount of uninspected horse meat that has been sold in recent weeks in this State for beef and other edible meats has reached prodigious proportions This horse meat has been sold to public eating places and markets and resold to the unsuspecting public as beef. The sale of such uninspected horse meat not only constitutes a fraud, but such horse meat may be and often is secured from diseased animals, and the consumption thereof constitutes a real danger to the public health. The present law pertaining to the sale of horse meat is entirely inadequate, the violation is not defined as a misdemeanor nor is there any penalty stated which could be applied in case of a conviction. Therefore it is necessary in the public interest that this act take immediate effect."

Request for Unanimous Consent That Amendments Be Corrected

Mr. Dickey asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent that the amendments to Assembly Bill No. 2080 which have just been placed across the desk, be corrected, at this time, so that errors in printing may be avoided.

"SEC. 3. Section 4781 of the Health and Safety Code is amended to read:

4781. The resolution shall state all of the following:

(a) The general objects and purposes for which it is proposed to incur an indebtedness.

(b) A reference to the report filed with the district board for particulars.

(c) The amount of the bonds proposed to be issued.

(d) [The part of the principal to be paid each year, which part shall not be less than the part specified in this chapter.] The number of years not to exceed which the whole of the bonds are to run.

(e) The rate of interest or a maximum rate of interest to be paid, which rate shall not be more than the rate specified in this chapter, payable at the time specified in this chapter.

(f) The date of the election

(g) The election precincts, polling places, and election officers.

SEC. 4 Section 4788 of the Health and Safety Code is amended to read:

4788. The district board shall prescribe by resolution the form of the bonds, and interest coupons. The bonds shall be payable [substantially in the following manner: A part to be determined by the district board, which shall not be less than one-fortieth part of the whole amount of the indebtedness shall be payable each and every year on a day and date,] at such times and at a place to be fixed by the board, and designated in the bonds, together with interest on all sums unpaid on that date until the whole of the indebtedness has been paid. The term of bonds issued shall not exceed forty years.

SEC. 5. Section 4801 is added to the Health and Safety Code, to read:

4801 (1) An issue of bonds is hereby defined to be the aggregate principal amount of all of the bonds authorized to be issued in accordance with a proposal submitted to and approved by the electors of the district, but no indebtedness will be deemed to have been contracted until bonds shall have been sold and delivered and then only to the extent of the principal amount of bonds so sold and delivered.

(2) The board of directors of any district issuing any bonds heretofore or hereafter authorized may, in its discretion, divide the aggregate principal amount of such issue into two or more divisions or series and fix different dates for the bonds of each separate division or series. In the event any authorized issue is divided into two or more divisions or series, the bonds of each division or series may be made payable at such time or times as may be fixed by the legislative body of the district separate and distinct from the time or times of payment of bonds of any other division or series of the same issue.

SEC. 6. Section 4843 is added to the Health and Safety Code, to read:

4843. The district may contract with the Federal Government of the United States or any branch thereof, or with any county, city and county, municipal corporation, district or other public corporation or with any person, firm or corporation, for the joint acquisition or construction or use of any sewer or sewers or other works or facilities for the handling, treatment or disposal of sewage from the district and such other area as may be designated in said contract, when in the judgment of the legislative body of said district it is for the best interests of the district so to do. Any such contract may provide for the construction and maintenance of such sewer or sewers, or such other works or facilities, and for the payment by or for the parties thereto of such proportionate part of the cost of the acquisition, construction or maintenance of such sewer or sewers or other works or facilities as may be stated in said contract, the payments to be made at such times and in such amounts as may be provided by said contract Any such contract may provide for the joint use of any sewer or sewers, works or facilities for the handling, treatment or disposal of sewage upon such terms and conditions as may be agreed upon by the parties thereto, and for the flowage, treatment or disposal of sewage from such area for each of the parties thereto as may be described in the contract.

Any district which has acquired or constructed or which proposes to acquire or construct, any sewer or sewers, or works or other facilities for the handling, treatment or disposal of sewage, may contract with the Federal Government of the United States or any branch thereof, or with any county, city and county, municipal corporation, district or other public corporation or with any person, firm or corporation for the use of any such sewer or sewers, works or facilities by any such county, city and county, municipal corporation, district or other public corporation, or for the flowage, treatment or disposal of sewage from any area designated by such person, firm or corporation so contracting, upon such terms and conditions as may be provided in said contract.

SEC. 7. Sections 4797 and 4798 of the Health and Safety Code are repealed."

Amendment No. 5

On page 2 of said bill, strike out lines 6 to 31, inclusive.

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolution was offered:

By Messrs. Geddes, Rosenthal, Burke, Ralph C. Dills, and Dunn:

House Resolution No. 165

Relating to adjournment in honor of Dr. Ralph W. Rice

WHEREAS, It has come to our attention that in September of 1948, Dr. Ralph W. Rice, esteemed and prominent member of the osteopathic profession, passed suddenly from this life; and

WHEREAS, The passing of this nationally known osteopath brings to our minds some of the details of the life which he devoted to the service of mankind.

Born in Magnolia, Iowa, he came early to California where he distinguished himself in elementary school in Hanford, became Student Body President and Valedictorian at Hanford High School, and maintained a high level of scholastic achievement at Pomona College and in the American School of Osteopathy.

The professional career of Dr. Rice was especially noteworthy for the many positions of trust and responsibility which his admiring fellow osteopaths conferred upon him. He occupied successively the offices of Trustee, Vice President, and President of the California Osteopathic Association and served on the executive committee of that body. His recognition was not limited to the State of California for he was made a Trustee in the American Osteopathic Association, in the Academy of Applied Osteopathy, and in the College of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons at various times in his illustrious practice.

Dr. Rice was also a valued member of many social and honorary groups. His friends and associates honored him for his devotion to the osteopathic science, his sincerity, and his unflagging energy. His death came, to the sorrow of all, on September 13, 1948; therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That when we adjourn today, we shall do so in honor of the memory of Dr. Ralph W. Rice; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk is directed to send a copy of this resolution to the bereaved family of Dr. Ralph W. Rice, The American Osteopathic Society, The California Osteopathic Society and The Los Angeles College of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons.

Resolution read, and ordered referred to the Committee on Rules.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Speaker pro Tempore Maloney announced that it may be necessary for one or more of the interim committee reports ordered printed in today's Assembly Journal, to be printed in the Journal of next Monday, April 18th, because of the mechanical impossibility of printing such a volume of work over the Easter week-end.

REPORT OF THE ASSEMBLY INTERIM COMMITTEE ON PUBLIC MORALS

Pursuant to Provisions of House Resolution No. 213,

1947 Regular Session

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL

Hon. Sam L. Collins
Speaker of the Assembly, California State Legislature
Sacramento, California

DEAR MR. SPEAKER: The chairman and members of this committee point with pride to the attached report, and believe that it is an excellent example of the benefits that may be derived from interim committee work.

In order for the committee to procure the facts that are the basis for the findings and recommendations contained in the report, it was necessary for each member to take considerable time from his own business or profession at a great financial loss to himself and his family. It should be remembered by the readers of this report that the per diem recompense allowed a legislator for serving on such a committee is much less than he would ordinarily earn at his own business. It should also be remembered that often the committee meetings are called at a time quite inconvenient to individual members of the committee and in various parts of the State far from his home or place of business. The time is dictated by the circumstances of the occasion rather than the convenience of the members.

Each member of this committee not only gave unselfishly and liberally of his time, but contributed his ingenuity, experience and intelligence, without which this report would have been impossible of accomplishment.

The chairman and committee members are pleased that their efforts have been rewarded and the money appropriated to this committee has been justified by their opportunity to:

(a) Make a considerable number of concrete recommendations to the California Athletic Commission;

Present several pieces of legislation to the Legislature for its consideration;

Recommend several phases of this study to future Public Morals Committees for their further study and consideration.

All of this should result in an improvement in the boxing sport and help prevent future injuries and deaths to boxing contest participants, which, in the final analysis, was the purpose of the committee's hearings on this subject.

(b) Study various aspects of horse racing resulting in several recommendations for increasing the revenue to the State and to help eliminate conditions that might lend themselves to criminal situations.

(c) Study various aspects of the alcoholic beverage industry;

Make recommendations to various county boards of supervisors looking to the eradication of certain unsavory circumstances surrounding the consumption of alcoholic beverages in taverns and night clubs, especially in the Los Angeles area;

Cooperate with the State Board of Equalization and local law elimination of certain vice-breeding establishments through revocation of licenses.

For the foregoing reasons, aside from the personal pleasure derived from serving with such outstanding men, the chairman wishes to compliment each member of the committee and thank the Speaker for his wisdom in their selection.

The Assembly Interim Committee on Public Morals created pursuant to House Resolution No. 213 during the 1947 Regular Session has concluded its labors and attaches hereto a copy of its findings pursuant to that resolution.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN F. THOMPSON, Chairman

Members of the Committee

INTRODUCTION

On October 10, 1947, the Assembly Interim Committee on Public Morals met in San Francisco for the purpose of organizing its committees.

Those present were the Chairman, John F. Thompson, Carl Fletcher, Lester A. McMillan, Thomas A. Maloney, and James Thorpe.

Assemblyman Lester A. McMillan was elected vice chairman, and Assemblyman James G. Crichton was elected secretary.

The chairman was empowered to appoint such subcommittees as seemed necessary from time to time, and Assemblymen McMillan and Fletcher were appointed as a subcommittee of the State to determine the order in which the work of the committee might be undertaken.

According to its instructions, the committee has concluded extensive investigations and hearings in the following fields important to the moral well-being of the people of the State of California:

A. Boxing
B. Horse racing
C. Alcoholic beverage industry

A. BOXING

The investigation into boxing in California was primarily caused by the untimely deaths of five boxers in the California rings within a period of 12 months—a total far exceeding deaths within the past 10 years.

In general, the committee felt that the scope of its investigation was to determine whether:

1. The cause of these deaths could have been avoided with the stricter adherence to the present laws and regulations:

2. Additional regulations by the Athletic Commission are needed; or

3. Additional legislation by the California Legislature is needed to assist the commission in preventing the further occurrence of deaths in the California rings.

The committee members were properly cognizant that this study concerned itself with many and varied complicated legal and human problems, not the least of which were:

1. The flow of boxers across state lines into and away from California.
2. A wide scale of earnings among the boxers.
3. Student, amateur, and professional boxers.
4. The wide range of ages of boxers.
5. Regulations and laws in other states.
6. The nature of the boxing audience.
7. The theory under which boxing is legal in California.
8. Many other incidental and vexing problems.

In order to reduce to the minimum the possibility of error in its findings and recommendations, the committee summoned to appear before it witnesses in every phase and level of the boxing profession, as well as those offices called upon to render a public service in case of a death. In this connection, qualified coaches, promoters, managers, trainers, doctors, timekeepers, referees, matchmakers, members of the Athletic Commission, supervisors, inspectors and members of the staff of the State Athletic Commission were extensively queried in their respective fields and in light of the foregoing problems.

A list of the names and titles of the persons appearing before the committee will be found in the addendum of this report.

Committee meetings for the purpose of studying boxing were held as follows:

1. March 2, 1948, at Los Angeles
2. March 4, 1948, at Los Angeles
3. March 10, 1948, at Sacramento
4. May 3, 1948, at Los Angeles
5. May 4, 1948, at Los Angeles
6. May 15, 1948, at Los Angeles
7. July 13, 1948, at Stockton

A summary of the findings and recommendations of this section of the report will be divided into three parts:

1. Recommendations to the commission
2. Recommended legislation
3. Recommendations for further study

1. Recommendations to the Commission

1. Although the committee feels the evidence points to the need for extensive improvement in the conduct of the duties of the commission, the committee is unanimous in its opinion that the California Athletic Commission was not negligent in the administration of its duties insofar as the deaths of any of the deceased boxers is concerned.

2. The committee wishes to make the following recommendations to the Athletic Commission, as it believes that the observance of these recommendations will help to improve the sport of boxing, tend to reduce accidents, injuries, and deaths to the participants, and eliminate criticism of the commission, Governor, and Legislature.

NOTE: The three figure section numbers refer to Title 4 of the Business Regulations of the Department of Professional and Vocational Standards revised as of August 21, 1948. The five figure section numbers refer to Deering's Business and Professions Code.

School for Referees and Judges

The committee feels that the boxing profession would profit materially from the establishment and continuance of a school for referees and judges similar to those maintained by other sports. Referees and judges would be required to attend this school for a definite period once each year. Among other things, the school might incorporate a course on first aid, dangerous symptoms to be observed in boxers while participating in a fight, uniform methods of scoring, etc.

a. Section 262 provides that: "All applicants for a referee's license must first take and successfully pass a written examination given by the commission * * *." "All referees must take an annual physical examination similar to that given to all applicants for boxers' and wrestlers' licenses and they shall be examined before officiating in any contest by the club physician before entering the ring * * *."

There does not appear to be anything in either the law or the rulings of the commission to indicate the nature of the written examination that must be passed by all applicants for a referee's license. A further recommendation of the committee is that the essence of this examination be put in writing and be contained in the rules under Section 262.

A well-qualified witness who testified before the committee pointed out that there is nothing in the present referee's examination to indicate what that applicant would do when he got in the ring as the referee, and that there is no way of knowing how the individual referee assesses the points on which he bases his decision. No member of the commission nor any of its employees have any idea how the decision is arrived at. For this reason, it is difficult for the commission or anyone else to rate the ability of a referee.

This witness further recommended that the commission: "get a couple of very good boys and have them in a contest. Have four cameras by the ring and let them go into a series of rounds and then competent people can take those films afterwards and judge them round by round from each side of the ring in slow motion and score every point. Then later that can be shown for referees and the referees will be asked to fill in their card round by round."

This same witness also testified concerning a particular bout in which he said: "We had a referee and two judges give a unanimous decision and the press went unanimous the other way."

Semi-annual Inspection of the Premises

The committee recommends that the chief inspector make a semi-annual inspection of the premises used or to be used for boxing or sparring contests to see that the premises are maintained in accordance with the foregoing, and that the commission hold the chief inspector responsible at all times for cleanliness and sanitary conditions of the dressing rooms which this committee believes are presently inadequate in size and are very often poorly maintained and in a very unsanitary condition.

Section 18732 provides that: "All buildings or structures used or intended to be used for holding or giving boxing contests * * * shall be properly ventilated and provided with fire exits and fire escapes and shall in all manner conform to the laws, ordinances and regulations pertaining to buildings in the city or town where the building or structure is situated."

Section 18731 provides: "All boxing contests, sparring matches or exhibitions may be held in any building for which the commission in its discretion may issue a license. Where the contest, exhibition or match is authorized to be held in a state- or city-owned armory the provisions of the military law in respect thereto must be complied with."

Section 547 provides that: "All clubs are directed to set aside a room on their club premises to be known as the 'Emergency Room,' the same to be kept comfortably warm, containing among other things the following articles: One set blankets, one stretcher, a rubber pillow, an electric pad, bottle of smelling salts, bandages, surgeon's tape, bottle of collodium, bottle of adrenalin, splints, artery forceps, pair of scissors, Johnson's special aid kit."

Dr. Kidder testified as follows: "In a majority of the arenas the physician does not have a suitable room. (Pursuant to Section 459.) I mean suitable in this sense—many people are admitted to the room while the doctor makes his examination and considerable noise and confusion results from same. There are no means of sterilization. In some dressing rooms there is no water or place to sterilize water. There is no suitable couch or bed in some of the dressing rooms to place an injured contestant on." This violates Section 547. While the doctor later testified that following these deaths conditions have improved somewhat, the evidence points to the fact that the commission has been negligent in its enforcement of the foregoing rules and proves the necessity of including on the inspector's report a notation as to the condition of the conditions heretofore mentioned.

Evidence before the commission indicates that while the foregoing conditions have not contributed to the death of any boxing participant, they should be cleaned up and that the commission has not been as careful in its inspection and enforcement thereof as it might have been. Such conditions could result in serious public criticism and bring the Governor, Legislature, and the commission considerable embarrassment.

Towel Throwing

The following rules against "towel throwing" were written several years ago when there was no bribery statute, and the regulations governing seconds and managers were much less stringent. The committee feels that perhaps the manager or trainer knows the condition of his boxer better than anyone else, and that the rule on "towel throwing" is obsolete and should be abrogated.

The fact that the chief second may ask the referee to have his boy examined by the club physician is of slight benefit because there is no indication in the rules or statutes that such a person has or is required to have any special training to qualify him in this type of matter.

Section 18745 provides that: "The referee shall stop the contest or match when either of the contestants shows a marked superiority or is apparently outclassed." Section 18763 deals with the same subject for amateur boxing contests.

Section 421 provides: "Managers and seconds are forbidden to toss a towel into the ring in token of defeat of their principal or in any other way to acknowledge that he is beaten. The chief second may ask the referee to request that the club physician examine his boxer if the second feels that he is hurt or taking too much punishment to continue. The referee shall stop the bout if the physician so recommends. Should either the manager or second enter the ring during the progress of a around he or they shall be ejected and his or their license may be revoked and the referee may order the bout to continue."

Mr. Genshlea, Secretary to the Commission, testified in response to a question by Assemblyman McMillan that: "We have an automatic rule (276) that when a boy receives a serious or fatal injury in the ring we automatically suspend the referee until a hearing is held in the matter."

It will be observed from the above that the referee has almost the sole burden of deciding when, if at all, the bout should be stopped. While there was testimony to the effect that many referees have either been boxers or have been intimately connected with boxing for a number of years, there is no indication in the commission rulings or statutes that the referee is acquainted with medical signs that would put him on notice. In other words, his qualifications for his license are not commensurate with his responsibilities.

Stopping the Bout

The committee recommends that it shall be the duty of the ringside physician to recommend to the referee that the bout be stopped whenever the physician feels that by continuing the bout a contestant might suffer serious and unreasonable injury.

Section 421 provides: "* * * the chief second may ask the referee to request that the club physician examine his boxer if the second feels that he is hurt or is taking too much punishment to continue. The referee shall stop the bout if the physician so recommends * * *."

Section 18742 provides in part: "* * * Every club shall have * * * in attendance at every boxing contest * * * a licensed physician who has had not less than three years' medical practice, who shall observe the physical condition of the boxers * * * and advice the referee with regard thereto."

It is apparent that while the physician may advise the referee with regard to the physical condition of the boxers, it is not mandatory that he do so even though he might notice some harmful condition.

Extra Bout

The committee has evidence to indicate that some clubs are not adhering to the following rule and recommends that an extra bout should be advertised as a part of the card, and that the commission should take strict steps to assure itself that the foregoing rule is complied with.

Section 549 provides: "Licensed clubs shall not schedule less than 26 rounds nor more than 40 rounds of boxing for any one program. An emergency bout must be provided in case the arranged card breaks down and if it is necessary to put on another bout. The emergency bout should not be paid for unless used, but the boxers must then be given a preliminary bout at the following boxing show held by the club, or shall be reimbursed by the club for training expenses and transportation."

Inspection of Ring Padding

The committee recommends that the commission adopt a uniform padding for the ring. By "uniform" is meant some one type of substance. It also recommends that it be the duty of the inspector to inspect the ring padding prior to each program, and include a comment thereon in his report.

Section 232 provides: "* * * the ring floor shall be padded with felt, corrugated paper, matting or other soft material to a thickness of not less than two inches * * *." "Material that tends to gather in lumps or ridges must not be used."

The committee fails to find any specific evidence that anyone under the control of the commission makes it his duty to inspect the padding before every fight. Reports on ring injuries and fatalities point to the preponderance of head injuries. While most injuries to the head do not originate with the contact with the ring floor, all evidence points to the seriousness of such an injury—especially following another heavy blow.

The committee feels that in view of the seriousness of head injuries and the constant fear of the boxer that he will be knocked down and injure his head of the ring floor, this is a very important recommendation. It is observed that on January 31, 1949, in Florida, an opponent of Joe Louis was out for more than 10 minutes as the result of hitting his head on an unpadded floor.

Inspection of Dressing Rooms

The committee recommends that the inspector include a report on the following conditions with his other reports submitted the night of the fight or exhibition. The chief inspector must assume the ultimate responsibility for correcting this situation.

Evidence submitted to the committee indicates that many of the club dressing rooms, training quarters, etc., are in a deplorable condition, both from the lack of adequate sanitary facilities such as showers, toilets, space, etc., and from lack of proper maintenance. Many were found to be filthy. This type of criticism as well as the existence of the conditions could have a very serious effect on the morale of the participants as well as bring the sport into public disrepute.

Shaving of Boxers

The committee recommends that the inspectors be instructed to not permit a boxer to weigh in unless and until that boxer has a clean-shaven face.

Section 334 provides: "Contestants must be clean and present a tidy appearance and be cleanly shaved."

Testimony before the committee as well as individual investigation by the members reveals that in many of the smaller clubs the inspectors have been negligent on this point.

Knockdowns

The committee recommends that the eight-count knockdown rule be applied to main events as well as to preliminary bouts, and that the referee be instructed to resolve all doubt in favor of the knocked-down contestant.

Section 274 provides: "When a contestant is knocked down the referee shall order the opponent to retire to the farthest corner of the ring, pointing to the corner, and immediately begin the count over the boxer who is down. * * * should the opponent fail to stay in the farthest corner the referee shall cease counting until he has returned to it, and then go on with the count * * *."

"If the boxer who is down arises during the count the referee may if he deems it advisable, step between the contestants long enough to assure himself that the boxer just arisen is in fit condition to continue * * *."

"Except in main events any contestant who is knocked down shall not be allowed to resume boxing until after the referee has finished counting to eight. The contestant may take this count either on the floor or standing if he has not been struck hard enough to keep him down."

Dr. Abraham Waxman, a licensed examining physician for the commission who testified before the committee, was asked by Assemblyman McMillan whether he had any specific recommendations to make concerning avoiding serious injuries or deaths. Dr. Waxman replied that of the eight deaths occurring during the last 10 years (five within the last year) five were due to head injuries (cerebral damage).

From the foregoing it would appear that the referee should record and call for the advice of the physician in cases of repeated knockdowns or severe knockdowns requiring a genuine count of eight or more, but less than a knockout or a series of knockdowns in one fight.

Knockouts

The committee recommends:

1. In those cases where the boxer has been knocked down and saved by the bell, the referee must call the physician for the purpose of examining the boxer. The doctor shall determine whether or not the boxer shall be permitted to continue the bout.

2. In all cases of knockouts, the boxer shall be suspended from further participation in any boxing contest or sparring match for a period of not less than thirty days and may thereafter participate in a boxing contest only after he has been satisfactorily examined by a commission physician and has successfully passed an examination by electroacephalogram, electrocardiogram and by a neuro-specialist as well as the usual and customary examination.

Section 278 provides: "All referees must fully and explicitly describe the circumstances in which any bout is stopped on account of a technical knockout. The referee's report must contain the exact reason for his actions in awarding the decision to the winner as a result of a technical knockout" Section 362 provides that: "Boxers who have been knocked out shall be kept in a prone position until they shall have recovered." Section 371 provides: "* * * nor shall a boxer's license be issued to any boxer who has suffered cerebral hemorrhage or any other serious head injury."

Section 717 provides: "Except in regularly sanctioned tournaments requiring more than two days to complete, no novice, amateur boxer shall be permitted to participate in boxing contests oftener than once every 10 days * * * no senior or open amateur boxers shall be allowed to compete in any boxing contest oftener than twice in every seven days and in such cases at least sixty-eight hours must elapse between contests."

Section 336 provides: "A boxer competing in a bout of four rounds or less cannot box again until after three days have elapsed; in a six-round bout after four days have elapsed; in an eight-round bout after five days have elapsed; in a 10-round bout after seven days have elapsed."

The physicians who testified before the committee were in agreement that a boxer should be suspended for not less than thirty days immediately following a knockout and be reinstated only after a thorough physical examination, including an electroacephalogram, the only known means for determining the effects of brain concussions similar to those suffered by boxers.

In response to questions by Assemblymen McMillan and Fletcher, Dr. Lloyd R. Mace, an examining physician for the Athletic Commission, testified that: "When there is a knockout and the boy has been out for several seconds and is in a wobbly condition when he leaves the ring, he should be immediately put under observation. The club physician should recommend that on the report he makes out on the night of the show * * *."

Dr. Mace also testified that: "After the show I go over and see the boys in the dressing room. I go over and see how they feel, especially when they have been knocked out."

In response to questions by Assemblyman McMillan, Dr. Kidder testified as follows: "I think it should be divided into three classes. In the first place, the doctors should see the knockout. He can't decide by just hearing about it. If a man was fighting a good fight and he happened to be hit on the chin and was knocked out and he got up immediately after 10 was counted, it seems to me that a week's layoff would be sufficient for him. Secondly, if he was beaten around the head, possibly he should be laid off a longer time. Thirdly, if he was put in a state of unconsciousness which lasted several hours, I think he should be laid off for at least six months, and then he should be examined again thoroughly by a board of physicians before he is allowed to go in the ring."

Assemblyman Doyle asked the doctor whether he thought the doctor should examine a boxer between rounds who has been knocked down and saved from a knockout by the bell. The doctor said "Yes, he should be, that it was not now the practice." As a matter of fact, the doctor would not be permitted to examine the men unless he were called upon to do so by the referee at the request of the chief second pursuant to Section 421.

As a matter of fact, Assemblyman McMillan pointed out that even if the doctor noticed that one of the boxers was obviously incapacitated and it would be dangerous for him to proceed with the fight, the doctor would still have no authority under the present rules to stop the bout.

In response to questions by Assemblyman Fletcher, Mr. Genshlea testified that there is a place on the referee's report for the referee to note whether a boxer's license should be picked up, or whether he should be suspended for taking too much punishment.

Dr. Abraham Waxman testified that there have been eight deaths in the California rings in the past 10 years of which five have occurred within the last year. Of the eight deaths, five were professionals, and three were amateurs. Five deaths were due to cerebral hemorrhages, two from the heart, and one undetermined. Under examination by Assemblyman Thompson, the doctor testified: "When a boy gets knocked out in the ring, it means there is a concussion ordinarily * * * repeated blows in the head are bound to cause some cerebral damage, minute hemorrhages or some other trauma."

Assemblyman Fletcher asked the doctor: "How long in your opinion after a boy is knocked unconscious in the ring should he be barred from participating?" The doctor replied: "Give the boy at least 30 days, during which time he should be thoroughly checked neurologically (nervous system). There should be an X-ray of the skull and an electroachephalogram should be made. This electroachephalogram is similar to the cardiogram of the heart. It shows the vibrations, etc. We do know that neurologically you will not find a darn thing. There are no possible findings, yet the boy has symptoms of amnesia, we will say, headaches, dizziness and the acephalogram will show the abnormal findings. Those things are positive and the boy should be barred until they are negative. The trouble is getting the boys to tell the truth about the symptoms. They are 'wised up' before coming to the doctor."

Assemblyman McMillan asked Dr. Abraham Waxman if he could definitely recommend that in the case of a knockout that a boy be laid off for 30 days. The doctor answered: "Automatically, without even an examination, during which time he should be examined by these methods I have suggested."

Assemblyman McMillan asked: "Are they laid off at all now if they are knocked out?" The doctor replied: "If they don't complain, no."

Assemblyman McMillan asked: "If a boy is knocked out in the ring tonight, in 48 hours he can be back in the ring?" The answer to the Assemblyman's question is that an amateur cannot fight more than twice in every seven days, nor more often than 48 hours apart. There is no special regulation for professionals who, it seems, may fight every night in the week if the commission would approve it.

Assemblyman McCollister asked Willie Ritchie, former Lightweight Champion of the World and now Chief Inspector of the Southern District for the Athletic Commission, what he thought about regulations with regard to layoffs following a knockout. Mr. Ritchie replied: "Any boxer failing to regain consciousness within 10 minutes after being knocked out in the ring contest should be retired. Boxers recovering normally after a knockout should be forced to rest for not less than thirty days."

Dr. E. I Robinson testified under questioning by Chairman John F. Thompson that: "After an individual in the prize fighting ring has been knocked out and has become unconscious over a period of 10 or 15 minutes before he regains consciousness that individual should be barred forever." He testified further that: "If the period of time is shorter, say for five or more minutes, and he regains consciousness, the same type of examination that he got his license on should be given, plus an X-ray picture of the head and then to have a brain specialist to be the one to read and interpret the findings of the X-ray picture." He further stated: "I think that the length of time that is elapsed between professional fights is too short. There could be more time because it is an awful strain on a physical being to condition themselves to be in a proper fit form."

Every witness who testified on this subject was in substantial agreement that there should be a compulsory layoff period after a knockout.

The committee notices that there is no requirement concerning the type of examination nor any provision requiring that a given time elapse between bouts in which a fighter has been knocked out. Testimony was also given by several doctors that there was often no examination the hour before the fighter went into the ring.

Doctors Fee Schedule

The committee recommends that the commission make a careful and detailed study with regard to increasing the compensation for doctors making the examination for a boxer applying for his license. The doctors were unanimous in their conclusion that the present fee schedule was definitely unfair and might in some instances work to the detriment of the boxers undergoing the examination.

Mr. Genshlea testified: "There is nothing in the rules that says the doctor should get $3, but it was an agreed price at the time the annual examinations were instituted * * * the boy ordinarily pays $7 a year for this medical examination—$3 for the physical examination, $1 for the Wasserman and $3 more for the eye examination. Some of the doctors around the State—some of the eye men—charge $5, that is around San Francisco and Oakland."

The law requires that each boxer be examined an hour before ring time, and that a physician be present during the bouts. These physicians are paid by the club and, in response to questions by Assemblyman McMillan, Dr. Mace testified that the amount paid the physician "varies with different clubs." The doctor further stated that: "I think there should be a standard price for the physician, per man, per examination." It now appears that the doctor is asked to examine the full card of 10 to 14 men for as little as $10 or any other amount the club can induce the physician to accept. This fee also includes any post-bout examination the doctor cares to make.

While the committee is satisfied that the small amount of money actually paid the physician for work at the club during the night of the fight does not impair the quality of the examination or the interest of the physician in his work, a man is worthy of his hire and the physician should receive a standard compensation in excess of the present amount usually received.

Number of Doctors Required at Ring

The committee recommends that beginning at the earliest possible moment the commission should require the presence of two doctors at each fight.

Section 18742 provides: "Every club holding a license to conduct boxing contests * * * shall have at its own expense in attendance at every boxing contest * * * a licensed physician who has had not less than three years medical practice who shall observe the physical condition of the boxers and wrestlers and advise the referee with regard thereto." Section 458 provides: "Club physicians shall sit at the immediate ringside at all boxing and wrestling bouts. No bout shall be allowed to proceed unless the physician is in his seat. The physician shall not leave until after the decision in the final bout * * *."

Dr. Mace testified: "The doctor should be at the ringside at all times, especially in boxing because in a second—a 'split second'—the referee may stop the bout and call for the physician * * *." He further testified under examination by Assemblyman McMillan that: "Another thing I don't approve is that the club physician is called upon to take care of various people in the audience. They may faint and there are drunks very often. While I am away from the ringside, anything can happen."

Assemblyman Fletcher testified that while he and his colleagues were attending a bout in Sacramento on a subcommittee investigating call that: "The doctor was called away. I imagine he was gone five or seven minutes. Like you say, anything could happen in that length of time."

The testimony of the witnesses before the committee was complete with examples of the necessity for the doctor to leave the ring contrary to law. The doctors were excused on the grounds that their own professional ethics provide that they treat a sick person, and all who testified on the point were unanimously of the opinion that the club should have a second physician whose sole duty it would be to take care of those cases that would ordinarily require the ringside physician to leave his position. The witnesses were unanimous in their opinion that the fee for this second physician could quite certainly be made very reasonable to the club.

Glove Inspection

The committee recommends that the commission require the referee to inspect the gloves of the boxers several times during the course of each bout to be sure that there has been no tampering with the gloves.

Section 237 provides: "Gloves shall be examined by the inspector and the referee. If padding is found to be misplaced or lumpy or if gloves are found to be imperfect they shall be changed before the contest starts."

Section 238: "No breaking, roughing or twisting of gloves shall be permitted."

While there is no proof, it was indicated that in a certain instance a small bolt was inserted in the padding of the grip in the glove. In another case, an examination by the referee disclosed that a glove used in one of the fights at the Hollywood Legion Stadium had had the padding in the glove removed. The boy who was questioned concerning the same said that he preferred to fight without padding in the glove. There was no positive evidence that any foreign object had been inserted in the place occupied by the padding.

The committee recommends that the commission make a thorough investigation and report back to this committee with regard to the desirability of eliminating or changing the present regulations for wrapping the hands prior to the bout. The present regulation is contained within Section 243.

Dr. Waxman testified: "I think another factor which would eliminate certain injuries—some of the boys have been telling me this and I have not had experience with it myself * * * would be the elimination of the use of tape on their hands (we presume he also meant to include bandages). They don't seem to like it. As a matter of fact, of all of the injuries I have taken care of with broken hands, I do not believe I have seen any broken hands as the result of an accident in training. It always happens in the ring during the fight. They tell me in the gym they use elastic bandages. There seems to be something to it. Tape is like putting plaster on your hands. There is no give or elasticity."

Boxer Availability List

The committee recommends that the commission investigate the possibility of establishing a boxer availability list that would be available to matchmakers who want to know which boxers are in training and are available.

William H. Ryan testified in response to questions from Assemblyman McMillan that: "Take for example the possibility of somebody not turning up and the promoter is on the spot. He has to try to get a substitute. He will phone down to a gymnasium and make a lot of contacts. He might be lucky if he gets them. He doesn't know. He has no list or no way of knowing whether those boys have the necessary training to go in. There is no reason why some sort of supervision couldn't be had over boys in training, so they will know at a short notice the boys who are well enough to go in. They ought to have a man go around and visit the gymnasiums and make a list of the boys who are training and are well, and he should have that sent to the promoters. Then if they are short, they will have a list of boys who are well. It gives the promoter or matchmaker something to go on. As it is, he is in the dark. He has to look around and see if he sees somebody and make a quick contact. Half the time he can't find them. He has no phone number. But if he had a list of boys in condition and it was made available to these promoters, he could see that list when making his card up and it would be a guide for him."

Other Recommendations to the Commission

The committee is of the definite opinion that the commission has been very remiss in its enforcement of the various laws and rules, and the committee is extremely critical of the poor personnel relations within the staff of the commission that has resulted in dissension and a general breakdown of employee morale.

The committee believes that the commission should make a detailed report to this committee or the Standing Committee on Public Morals before the end of the 1949 Session of the Legislature. This report should show what the commission has done or intends to do to remove the cause of criticism indicated in this report.

1. The committee recommends that the reports required to be filed by the inspector, referee, club physician, etc., be completed and filed at the proper time, instead of being prematurely completed and delayed as is now often the case. Testimony indicates that there is a definite need for closer supervision in this respect.

2. The committee recommends that the inspectors be given their annual vacation with pay and that the commission notify the inspectors of its intentions at the earliest possible moment.

3. The committee recommends that the salary of the inspectors be commensurate with their duties, and that the commission recognize the experience and high degree of skill and knowledge required of a well-qualified inspector.

4. The committee recommends that the commission pay its inspectors mileage in those cases where the distance from the inspector's home or place of origin is in excess of ten miles one way.

5. The committee recommends that an organization chart and enumeration of duties be prepared showing the line of authority and the duties required of each employee of the commission.

The evidence given to this committee is a sad commentary on the commission's efficiency. We have taken the trouble to provide quotations from several of the witnesses who appeared before the committee. In this connection, the committee expresses its hope that no discriminatory or retaliatory action be taken by the commission or its employees against any of the witnesses who were sufficiently interested in the welfare of boxing to provide this committee with testimony.

The evidence points to the lack of cooperation and coordination in the office of the commission in Southern California. Mr. Ritchie repeatedly testified that the Assistant Secretary, Mr. Frye, had consistently failed to notify Mr. Ritchie of meetings of the regular inspectors, who were responsible to him as their immediate superior—Chief Inspector. The situation has become so badly fouled up that Mr. Ritchie took the opportunity of this committee meeting to ask that his responsibilities and duties under Mr. Frye be clarified. It would appear that office politics has played a major part in disrupting the smooth functioning of the commission's program.

In a letter to Mr. Genshlea, dated March 7, 1948, Mr. Ritchie wrote as follows: "Will greatly appreciate written notice exactly what my status is since Frye arrived at our office. Do not wish to be held responsible for anything over which I do not have full control under the law and rules as written in rule book and/or law. As I have had during past 11 years starting February 15, 1937 to date when Frye came into office last year. Believe this should be cleared up at once. Please look into it. I will gladly work with anyone sent to office but should know exact status to prevent mishandling by either of us of our duties. Smith, Assistant Chief, should also know his status under Frye. He has not told me of any change as far as he knows to date. Winston told me he was told at a local commission meeting * * * that Frye was in charge of office. Smith stated yesterday he does not know what it is all about. I know Frye attempted to direct Winston months ago about his amateur status and handling of this branch of our office work and Winston took it up with Chairman Haughton. Winston told me Haughton told Frye to let Winston alone, to allow him to continue his work as supervisor amateur boxing in Southern District. Winston formerly contacted me on all matters of policy in his work, but not since as learned above noted that Frye is in charge of office."

Up to the date of this hearing, May 14, 1948, Mr. Ritchie had not had a response to his letter clarifying his status and responsibilities. As a matter of fact, Assemblyman McMillan asked Mr. Ritchie: "Are you still in the dark as to your duties and responsibilities in office?", to which Mr. Ritchie replied: "Definitely and absolutely so. There is a meeting of referees and inspectors I believe in this room. I learned about it in the office. I was not invited to attend." Assemblyman McMillan then said: "Well, in my opinion, it signifies something as there is dissension within the office and people in important position, such as chief inspectors for the southern district are unable to get a clear definition of their duties and responsibilities and to know where they stand."

It appears that, under the law and rules, the chief inspector has such supervisory powers over his district subject to the approval of the commission, but they have been seriously impaired due to this dissension and poor organization.

Mr. Ritchie testified further that he had drafted instructions to his inspectors, and asked that they be approved by Mr. Frye and mailed to the inspectors. Some time later Mr. Ritchie found that the letter had not been mailed, nor had he been contacted by Mr. Frye or anyone else with regard to the reasons for not mailing. It also appears that a Mrs. Kurtz, either acting on her own or on instruction, had failed, if not refused, to cooperate with Mr. Ritchie.

Mr. Genshlea testified: "I have no objection at all if funds were available to put people in both offices. It is a triplicate of effort. There will be boxers' records kept in three different places."

6. The committee recommends that the commission make an immediate and thorough study of its requirements for providing personnel adequate to bring and keep the boxers' records up to date (both amateur and professional). In this connection, the committee recommends that the commission, if necessary, retain outside engineering talent for the purpose of establishing a quick and positive method of accomplishing this objective.

Section 18630 provides: "The commission may also appoint necessary clerical employees."

In order to enforce the provisions with regard to the elapsed time between bouts for any one fighter, and the provisions with regard to physical condition, etc., it is necessary that either each principal office, such as Los Angeles, San Francisco and Sacramento, keep records of the performance of all amateur and professional boxers, or that a central system be established and the records be easily and quickly available. The indications are that at the present time such records are not easily and quickly available to those whose duties and responsibilities require them. The testimony before the committee indicates that the records are not only not quickly and easily available, due to understaffing and poor organization, but that there is a considerable lack of cooperation between various personnel. Some of the testimony by employees of the staff of the commission is as follows:

"Professional records have been kept for several years past, but shortage of help in the office makes it impossible to keep the same up to a reasonable date."

"When the professional records are not up to date—a few months behind, a boy could lose five or six times or more in three months," without the knowledge of the person responsible for approving the matches.

"Insofar as the office help and records are concerned, we are dealing with the very lives of boys Five have been killed within the last 12 months from 1947 to 1948 and one prior to that in 11 years * * *. I might say the secretary of the commission has tried to get that help but the budget wouldn't allow for it."

"We had a part-time stenographer-clerk in the office who helped clean the records up but they have never been brought up to date. We have a large volume of work in our southern office here."

The record with regard to the death of Joe Nunis indicates that this fighter had violated the rule providing a layoff of 48 hours between bouts. While in this particular case there was no negilgence on the part of the commission, nor was the system particularly to blame, conditions point to the need to overhaul the present system in order to prevent the recurrence of such a situation. Perhaps it would be advisable for the inspector who witnesses a bout to make it his duty to have a report in to each commission office the morning following the bout.

Due to the fact that there are many more amateur bouts than professional, the indications are that the records for the amateurs, who need more protection than the professionals, are even further behind.

Mr. Ritchie testified that: "The reason is nothing else but the lack of one office stenographer-clerk, not a temporary one either, but a full-time position." The commission, through its representatives, has been frequently notified of this condition, but the situation has not been corrected as of the date of this report.

2. Recommended Legislation

Ring Size

The committee recommends that, in order to live within the spirit of the present law permitting boxing contests, the ring size be increased to a minimum of twenty feet square within the ropes.

Section 232 provides that the ring "be not less than sixteen feet square nor more than twenty-four feet square within the ropes." Assemblyman Fletcher asked Mr. Genshlea whether or not the "size of the ring has been changed? Was the minimum of sixteen feet changed in a recent ruling of the commission?" Mr. Genshlea replied that it had not been changed. Assemblyman Fletcher asked him: "Do you think that minimum should be raised a little?" Mr. Genshlea replied: "I am kind of from the old school. I like to watch boxers. The bigger ring you have the better boxers you have." Assemblyman Fletcher stated: "My opinion is that 16 feet is at least four feet too small."

Weight of Gloves

The committee recommends that the following section be written into law.

The present Section 18737 provides that: "During every boxing contest or sparring match other than amateur boxing contest or sparring match each contestant shall wear gloves weighing not less than five ounces if such contestant weighs in ring attire 147 pounds or less and six ounces if such contestant weighs more than 147 pounds."

Section 241 provides: "Each contestant shall wear gloves weighing not less than six ounces if such contestant weighs 147 pounds or less and not less than eight ounces if each such contestant weighs more than 147 pounds.

Section 241 is a new regulation adopted by the commission for the purpose of reducing injury, both to the fighter's hands and to his opponent's body. The question arises as to whether or not this additional padding will result in greater damage, due to the soaking up of perspiration of the fighter's hands.

Corrupt Practices Act

The committee recommends that a new act be written into the law to provide:

1. The commission shall not license for any purpose any person who has been convicted of a felony involving moral turpitude.

2. No employee or licensee of the commission or other state employee shall receive any compensation of any kind whatsoever, gift or other emolument from any club, association, or person with whom said employee must conduct commission business in the course of his official duties.

The evidence points to the common practice that inspectors are currently being paid their mileage by the various clubs. This provision also anticipates that those sections of the law now referring to doctors as club doctors will be amended to provide that the physicians who conduct examinations as commission doctors, and who are required by the commission to be at ringside, will be paid and retained by the State as employees of the commission.

Dressing Room Requirements

The committee recommends that a new section shall be added to the law providing that the dressing rooms for boxers and wrestlers shall include adequate shower and toilet facilities for the exclusive use of the athletes participating in the show, and that said showers have both hot and cold water available.

Physicians Employed by Commission

The committee recommends that a new section be written into the law to provide that all physicians licensed to examine boxers and wrestlers be paid by and as employees of the commission when their services are required for the purpose of making any examination or serving at the ringside, other than that required by the athlete in obtaining his original or annual license or the validation of his license after a suspension.

All witnesses were in accord with the idea as expressed above, that is, that the physician should be the employee of the commission.

The committee wishes to make itself clear that neither it nor anyone else has been critical of the standard of service rendered by the physicians. The purpose of this proposed legislation is to clarify the status of the physicians under specified conditions.

Boxer Performance Card

The committee recommends that this license card be used for and designed as a "Performance Card" to show the date, place and outcome of each fight in which the licensee has participated. This information is to be endorsed upon the card by the inspector after the licensee has completed his bout for that particular time. This card must be in the possession of the licensee and shown to the inspector before the licensee is permitted to appear as a contestant for that particular program.

All of the witnesses who appeared before the committee were unanimous in endorsing this idea. As a matter of fact, Mr. Genshlea testified that such a card was being given consideration at this time. The committee, however, believes that this item is of sufficient importance to be written into the law of the State of California. If such a law had been in force and effect during 1948 it may have saved the life of Mr. Nunis, who, as indicated previously in the report, fought two nights running, and died as the result of his second fight.

Under the present rulings of the commission, each boxer who is licensed to participate in the sport is provided with an identification card bearing his photograph and license number.

Amateur Boxing Age

The committee recommends that the present law be changed to permit the licensing of applicants to box at the age of 17 as amateurs, but that said licensee shall not box professionally until he has reached the age of 18.

Under the present law, the minimum age requirement for both amateurs and professionals is 18 years.

It is interesting to note that Commissioner Entenza was the only witness to be opposed to this change in the law. He was opposed to reducing the age to 16 years. George Tolson, boxing coach, testified in response to a question from Assemblyman Fletcher: "Since the age for both amateur and professionals is 18, it may be that some boys leave amateur boxing and go into professional boxing a little too soon. It if were 16, a boy would still be required to go in and spend a couple of years before he could fight professionally. When a boy is 18, he knows he can get a professional license."

The theory behind this proposed change is in substance that, by permitting an athlete to box one year as an amateur, he will gain some of the experience that is necessary to protect himself as a professional when he has reached the age of 18. This again is a protective measure to help eliminate unfortunate circumstances in the boxing profession of California.

Physical Examinations for Licensees to Box

The committee recommends that there be a new section in the law entitled "Physical Examination for Applicants to Box" and intend that said examination shall apply to the annual examination as well as the original examination.

This new section shall also require an electrocardiogram and an electroacephalogram. The form for this examination is as follows:

All the witnesses were unanimous in their recommendation that the foregoing examination be required of all licensees to box in the State of California.

3. Recommendations for Further Study

The committee recommends that the following subjects be studied further by subsequent Interim Committees on Public Morals.

1. Revision of the Athletic Commission. In view of the importance of athletics in California and the testimony presented before this committee, there is a possibility that the present time and salary arrangement for the Athletic Commissioner is insufficient and in need of revision. Under the present arrangement the commissioners now receives no pay except usual hotel, meals, and actual travel expense. An engineering study by both the committee and an outside firm specializing in procedural engineering might be used to determine whether or not there was justification for a full-time commission on a full-time salary basis.

2. Licensing Schedules. It is also recommended that the committee make a further study of the licensing schedules and examinations therefor. By this it is meant all licenses issued by the commission, whether they be for boxers, managers, promoters, etc. From a further study would come recommendations for an apparently much needed improvement and codification.

3. Enforcement of Sanitary and Safety Measures. The committee feels that there has been a considerable laxness in the enforcement of certain safety laws, rules and regulations and that further rules and regulations in connection with sanitary conditions will be necessary. Further investigation by another committee on this subject would have a very salutary effect.

4. General Committee Functions. It is recommended that the committee pursue the recommendations made to the commission to determine the extent to which the commission is complying therewith and the extent to which the recommendations are in need of modification or amendment.

The committee wishes to make particular commendation of Mr. J. M. Genshlea, Secretary of the State Athletic Commission, for his cooperation with the committee in pursuing its investigations.

The committee feels that Mr. Genshlea has ably performed the duties of his office as efficiently as is possible under the direction of the State Athletic Commission members. His ability to do a far better job was handicapped by the lack of sufficient funds to employ adequate personnel to perform various functions for the stricter enforcement of various commission regulations for the betterment of the boxing profession in California.

In connection with the foregoing, we cite the following named persons who appeared and testified before this committee:

Harry Atwood, referee
Dr. Alexander Barron
Marin Cano, matchmaker
Walter Champreux, Deputy Coroner, Stockton
Archie M. Closson, Chairman of the State Athletic Commission
Juanita Decatur, wife of deceased
A. P. Entenza, Commissioner
Harry Fine, manager
Arthur Garrett, attorney
J. M. Genshlea, Secretary to the Commission
Michael A. Grealis, citizen
John Griffin, matchmaker
Roy Higa, boxer
John Horan, Inspector, Athletic Commission
William Hunefeld, promoter
Dr. Caryl E. Kidder
Tom Lenahan, Inspector for Athletic Commission
Dr. Lloyd R. Mace
Billy McGowan, physio-therapy technician
Dr. H. R. Nesburn
W. Lee Reveau, timekeeper
Joseph Rhodes, manager and trainer of Mr. Decatur, deceased boxer
Willie Ritchie, Chief Inspector, Southern District of the Athletic Commission
Dr. E. I. Robinson
William H. Ryan, retired manager, promoter, referee, and trainer
Dr. Harry J. Schneider
Donn Shields, Chief Inspector, Northern District, State Athletic Commission
George Tolson, coach
Dr. Abraham Waxman
Victor L. Wallace, Chief Deputy Coroner, Los Angeles
Mr. Winston, Supervisor of Amateur Boxing, Southern District Athletic Commission

B. HORSE RACING

The committee held meetings on this subject on the following dates and places to consider such important problems as charity days and recipients thereunder, licensing "book making," race track concessions, ownership of California tracks, policing of the tracks, entry of horses, penalties for horses not ridden to win, and power of cities to tax races. The dates are December 19 and 20, 1947, and January 9 and 10, 1948.

The following persons testified before the committee:

Alfred B. Fiske, Secretary, California Horse Racing Board
Mr. Haney, Hollywood Turf Club
Kenneth Lynch, Deputy Attorney General
Dwight Murphy, Member, Horse Racing Commission
Nion R. Tucker, Member, Horse Racing Commission
Lloyd Wright, Chairman, Horse Racing Commission

Charity Days

At the present time, the commission sets the number of days and dates to be known as "charity days" The charity requesting to benefit from the charity day proceeds submits its request to the track running the charity day from which they would like to benefit. The track in turn refers the request to the commission for its approval or disapproval. Should the commission approve, the money is actually paid to the recipient by a foundation, such as the Santa Anita Foundation (each track has its own). Only those applicants are considered who are approved by the Department of Internal Revenue.

Assemblyman Stewart pointed out that the tracks use the donations to these charities for public relations purposes.

Assemblymen Thompson, Fletcher, McMillan, Stewart, Collins, Maloney, and Dickey were of the opinion that the charities receiving donations were for the most part already receiving money from the Community Chest, etc., and that it might be better to eliminate the charity day and turn the proceeds over to the State of California for general purposes of financing the State.

Mr. Fiske testified that there would be a total contribution to charities of about two and one-half million dollars a year.

Mr. Wright testified that there is a movement on foot now to provide a program for the disbursing of charities that will be the same in the 23 states allowing horse racing. As it is at the present time, some states provide that the charity fund shall be turned over to the Governor to be disbursed at his pleasure Up to the date of the writing of this report, no information is available regarding the result of the meeting mentioned by Mr. Wright.

Licensing "Book Making"

It was anticipated by members of the committee that additional taxes would be requested for the purpose of financing the State of California during the year of 1949. It was suggested that the committee further investigate the possibility of recommending a constitutional amendment for the purpose of licensing "book making," the revenue from which would go into the General Fund for the purpose of financing the State.

Race Track Concessions

The committee investigated the disposition of funds received by the track from parking and other concessions. It was informed by Mr. Fiske that the State did not receive any direct profits from the parking concession, nor from the liquor concession, other than through the Board of Equalization through the liquor concession The committee felt that further investigation should be made with regard to the race track concessions with the view in mind of recommending additional sources of taxable income to the Revenue and Taxation Committee of the Legislature.

In this connection, the committee took cognizance of reports that Dr. Charles H. Strub and others had taken over the parking concession at Santa Anita, and that income from this source was not being paid to the State.

Lake Arrowhead

Assemblyman Dickey developed the fact that Santa Anita Track owns the hotel and shore line. He expressed concern that the State was not informed of the amount or conditions of the investment. He asserted that, if the track makes considerable money, it would be natural to go out and invest it in property which, at the present time, might not be the property which would pay, so that, as a result, they could take certain deductions and later dispose of the property to replenish the coffers. If the State had knowledge of such investments, it might be possible to have participated in one way or another.

Ownership of California Tracks

Assemblyman Sam L. Collins expressed the opinion that if it were possible to do so, legislation should be passed to provide that the stock ownership for California tracks be entirely in the hands of residents of California. After some investigation, it was decided by the committee that such legislation might prove unconstitutional.

Policing of Tracks

The commission employs five or six detectives for the purpose of policing the tracks and preventing a successful invasion of gangsters and other undesirables. The committee was in accord with this program of the commission on the ground that the individual tracks could not effectively carry on this policing without subjecting itself to possible lawsuits nor with nearly such good effect.

Entry of Horses

Assemblyman Dickey inquired into the procedure for the entry of horses at the track, and was advised that the matter of approving the entry of a horse at a track was determined by the track and usually by the steward. From the nature of the testimony, it appears that considerable discretion is used by the steward in approving horses, in order that the public be protected from unproven or unreliable horses. It also appears that there are not sufficient quarters available to house the horses that would like to race in California.

Penalties for Horses Not Ridden to Win

Assemblymen Maloney and Thompson were of the opinion that legislation should be introduced to make it a felony to fail to ride a horse to win. It was agreed that violation of such legislation would be difficult to prove, but that it might have a good effect on the riders and owners of horses, who would be fearful that proof could be obtained.

Power of Cities to Tax Races

The law now provides that no cities or municipalities shall tax a race track in excess of $100. Evidence adduced before the committee indicates that most of the tracks are being taxed in excess of this sum by the cities, and are paying the tax without protest.

The committee is of the opinion that the voters of California did not legalize horse racing in order that one individual would be enabled to command an income of approximately $1,000,000 a year. Horse racing was legalized for the development of horse breeding and to provide certain revenues to the State of California, and not for the aggrandizement of personal fortunes of race track operators.

C. ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGE INDUSTRY

A committee meeting was held in San Francisco on February 16, 1948, at which a subcommittee, consisting of Assemblymen Fletcher and McMillan, was appointed to investigate certain moral aspects of "on-sale" liquor establishments.

As a result of this committee's work, several of such establishments in the Los Angeles area were closed and their licenses revoked for permitting indecent and unmoral entertainment, as well as for permitting the regular attendance of unmoral customers.

As a further result of this committee's work, it was recommended to the boards of supervisors of the State of California that "on-sale" liquor licensees providing entertainment for their customers be under the direction of the county welfare commission, or other county body performing that type of function.

In addition to the foregoing, this committee investigated the possibility of recommending prohibition for California and in its report, a copy of which is attached hereto, recommended against such a program. It was determined that the benefits derived by the State and its people from the manufacture and sale of spiritous liquors far exceed the possible harmful effects thereof.

It should be noted that voters of California overwhelmingly defeated the proposed initiative constitutional amendment (Proposition No. 12 on the ballot at the November 1948 General Election) which would have prohibited alcoholic beverages in this State. No other issue in California history ever attracted more public attention. Results of the election clearly indicate that the voters of the State desired no change in the laws relating to alcoholic beverages.

REPORT OF THE SUBCOMMITTEE

Your subcommittee on Public Morals for Southern California has conducted extensive inquiries and held numerous hearings relative to morality in Southern California. We have directed our investigation into conditions surrounding the sale and consumption of alcoholic beverages in various taverns, night clubs, and other establishments where alcoholic beverages are dispensed and consumed.

Among those who were subpenaed and who gave testimony were numerous licensees, members of the clergy, representatives of chambers of commerce, service clubs, city councils, police officers, sheriff's office, and members of the Social Welfare Commission of Los Angeles County.

Because of reports in the daily press that conditions surrounding the sale and consumption of alcoholic beverages have been unwholesome, and not in accordance with public morals and welfare, there has been sentiment that the sale and consumption of alcoholic beverages should be prohibited.

Your committee felt that prohibition would result in the loss of tremendous revenue to the Federal Government, the State of California, and to the various county and city governments.

Such prohibition would throw out of employment upwards of 830,000 persons who depend on this industry for the livelihood of themselves and their families.

Such prohibition would bring virtual ruin to California agriculture. California vineyards would be uprooted. Our hop growers would be forced to destroy their hop vines. Our grain growers would find a diminishing market for their crops. California now ranks as the greatest agricultural state in the Union and this pre-eminence would be destroyed. California would be the loser of hundreds of millions of dollars in farm crop values.

Such prohibition would devaluate real estate holdings and peril the investments of hundreds of thousands of citizens.

Your subcommittee felt that it should do all in its power to ascertain if moral conditions were such as to justify the drastic loss of revenue to federal, state, and local governments; to justify widespread unemployment; to justify the economic chaos from depressed property values; to justify the bringing about of an economic depression of major proportions, which would affect the continued prosperity and growth of California and bring poverty and hardship to many hundreds of thousands of California citizens; to justify the destruction of California agriculture.

We are loath to believe that the mere sale and consumption of alcoholic beverages, in itself, was immoral, or that the consumption of spirits in well-conducted premises did result in the breakdown of the morals of our citizens.

At the outset, let us make it very clear, and stress emphatically, that our investigations and hearings developed no instances of licensees serving drinks to minors, serving drinks to already intoxicated persons, illegal sales after hours, or other violations of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Act.

Your subcommittee did find that there were instances in which tavern management was responsible for a disregard of public welfare and morals and types of entertainment which did not come under the direct jurisdiction of liquor enforcement agencies of the State Board of Equalization. And here we want to stress that where such conditions existed it was because either local police authorities did not exercise their police powers to correct them, or there was a lack of local legislation which permitted such conditions to exist.

We have in mind certain establishments, particularly in the Hollywood area, commonly known as "the strip", which were staging indecent, lewd and lascivious entertainment, and in which tavern managements were permitting their premises to be used as the gathering place for perverts and other immoral persons.

We have in mind, also, certain establishments where it was virtually impossible to ascertain the individual responsible for the management.

Your subcommittee commends without reservation the honesty, integrity, and conscientiousness of the various individuals of the enforcement division of the State Board of Equalization. Your subcommittee deplores, however, the fact that funds of the Liquor Division of the Board of Equalization are not sufficient to provide an adequate force of investigators to report on, and control, instances of unmoral conditions in connection with the consumption of alcoholic beverages.

Your subcommittee cites the provision of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Act, Section 66.5, which makes it the duty of every peace officer and every district attorney in the State to enforce provisions of the act. Your subcommittee also cites the fact that counties and cities are reimbursed with the entire amount paid by alcoholic licensees in the community. These funds can be, and should be, used by local communities to enforce and supervise conditions which do or might tend to create a violation of public morals.

Your subcommittee heartily commends the action of Los Angeles County District Attorney William Simpson in bringing abatement proceedings against certain establishments for violation of public morals and welfare. We urge that he move to abate similar establishments whenever in his judgment such action is deemed desirable.

It is recommended by your subcommittee that local police exercise greater control in issuing entertainment permits, and that such permits be immediately revoked when licensees allow their premises to become obnoxious to good morals.

Your subcommittee recommends that, in the case of establishments in county territory of Los Angeles County, the Board of Supervisors of Los Angeles County immediately empower the County Social Welfare Commission to issue and exercise control over permits for entertainment. We recommend that other boards of supervisors throughout the State take similar action.

Your subcommittee recommends that city councils and boards of supervisors adopt ordinances providing for adequate lighting of all places where alcoholic beverages are sold at retail.

Your subcommittee was completely unable to ascertain the individual or individuals responsible for the management of the Flamingo Club, 1027 North LaBrea Street. The license for these premises has been issued in the name of a corporation (John-nie's Cafe, Inc.) but neither the president of the corporation nor the secretary-treasurer or other officers would assume responsibility for the proper conduct of the premises. Your subcommittee found, through public hearing and a thorough investigation, that these premises were frequented by unescorted women and moral perverts, and that the entertainment provided there was lewd and lascivious, and a flagrant violation of good morals. Your subcommittee recommends that the Board of Equalization immediately and forthwith revoke this license.

Your subcommittee recommends legislation be enacted at the next regular session of the Legislature to clearly define exactly what will be required in the way of proper food, equipment for preparing food, and facilities for serving food which will apply to every place where alcoholic beverages are sold for consumption on the premises. This in accordance with Section 22 of Article XX of the California State Constitution.

Your subcommittee recommends legislation be enacted which will forbid the serving of alcoholic beverages to unescorted women in any tavern, and to clearly define exactly what is meant by an unescorted woman.

Your subcommittee recommends legislation be enacted providing that local authorities must issue entertainment permits for every tavern which provides music or entertainment of any nature in connection with the sale and consumption of alcoholic beverages.

Your subcommittee recommends legislation be enacted to provide that all corporations, associations, companies, and partnerships holding an alcoholic beverage license issued by the State Board of Equalization must file notarized affidavits at least three times a year (every four months) setting forth the exact ownership and the name of the individual and/or individuals responsible for the conduct of the business.

Your subcommittee recommends that the compensation of all members of the State Board of Equalization, the Secretary of the Board, the California State Liquor Administrator, and the State Sales Tax Administrator be increased to sums comparable to those paid similar officials in other states. It is felt that the payment of such increased salaries will tend to relieve these state officers of political influence, and induce them to devote their thoughts and energies to a more complete interest in their careers.

Your subcommittee recommends the enactment of legislation providing for the employment of additional liquor enforcement officers to make a career of their employment and give them assurance of economic security for themselves and their families.

Because production and marketing of California wines are of such great importance to the economy of the State and the welfare of those engaged in viticulture and the wine industry, your subcommittee made a study of various aspects of this industry.

We found that disorderly marketing of California wines were having a deleterious effect upon the grape-growing segment of our agricultural industry.

We also found that vintners and growers were cooperating in the solution of these programs and we recommend that the Legislature give favorable consideration to the various measures designed to correct and ameliorate existing conditions.

We understand that the industry is endeavoring to correct disorderly marketing conditions through a "Wine Marketing Order." We recommend that the Director of Agriculture issue the order in accordance with industry recommendations, and that the wine industry of the State give its complete assent to the order.

We earnestly urge the enactment of legislation designed to place a premium on California bottled wines by placing a special state-approved seal upon such bottled wines so that they may be readily identified by wine consumers throughout the world.

We also urge the enactment of legislation which will permit aged wines to carry a state-approved stamp which will set forth the year the wine has been produced.

We believe that these measures will serve to identify our fine California wines and create real confidence in the wine-consuming public that our wines are the finest in the world—which they are.

It is hereby recommended that this committee be continued to consider the subjects outlined above; also a thorough investigation into the inception of the Los Angeles Turf Club (Santa Anita Race Track) with reference to the original ownership of the stockholders, their names, addresses, etc. To be included also, the present broadened stock structure, including the number of shares each stockholder now owns in the present company or other subsidiary companies. The committee should also investigate all contracts entered into by the Los Angeles Turf Club and/or its subsidiary companies with individuals, corporations or partnerships, and to report its findings back to this Legislature.

REPORT OF ASSEMBLY INTERIM COMMITTEE ON FISH AND GAME

Pursuant to House Resolution No. 204 California Legislature, 57th Session

ASSEMBLY CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA

Mr. Speaker and Members of the Assembly:

Pursuant to House Resolution No. 204, adopted by the California State Legislature on June 20, 1947, and continued by House Resolution No. 16, adopted on January 6, 1949, your Interim Committee on Fish and Game submits herewith its report.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS M. ERWIN, Chairman
GEORGE R. BUTTERS
LESTER T. DAVIS

House Resolution No. 204

Relative to the Creation of the Assembly Interim Committee on Fish and Game

WHEREAS, It is important that the pertinent facts bearing upon the fish and game problems of the State of California be ascertained, assembled, and analyzed to the end that the Assembly shall have the facts and information to enable it to act advisedly upon legislation to meet and solve said problems, and

WHEREAS, Said facts can best and most expeditiously be ascertained and analyzed for the Assembly by a committee of the Assembly charged with the study of every phase of the subject of fish and game; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, As follows:

1. The Assembly Interim Committee on Fish and Game is hereby created and authorized and directed to ascertain, study and analyze all facts relating to fish and game, including specifically: Game farms, game and management areas, game refuges, fish hatcheries, the opening and closing of waters around Catalina Island, netting in the inland waters of the State, the utilization of the public domain for the propagation of fish and wild life, and all other matters dealing with, relating to or otherwise pertaining to fish and game including but not limited to the operation, effect, administration, enforcement and needed revision of any and all laws in any way bearing upon or relating to the subject of this resolution, and to report thereon to the Assembly, including in the reports its recommendations for appropriate legislation.

2. The committee shall consist of five Members of the Assembly appointed by the Speaker hereof. The chairman shall be appointed by the Speaker. Vacancies occurring in the membership of the committee shall be filled by the appointing power.

3. The committee is authorized to act during this session of the Legislature, including any recess, and after final adjournment until the commencement of the 1949 Regular Session, with authority to file its final report not later than March 15, 1949.

4. The committee and its members shall have and exercise all of the rights, duties and powers conferred upon investigating committees and their members by the provisions of the Joint Rules of the Senate and Assembly and of the Standing Rules of the Assembly as they are adopted and amended from time to time, which provisions are incorporated herein and made applicable to this committee and its members.

5. The committee has the following additional powers and duties:

(a) To select a vice chairman from its membership.

(b) To contract with such other agencies, public or private, as it deems necessary for the rendition and affording of such services, facilities, studies and reports to the committee as will best assist it to carry out the purposes for which it is created.

(c) To cooperate with and secure the cooperation of county, city, city and county, and other local law enforcement agencies in investigating any matter within the scope of this resolution and to direct the sheriff of any county to serve subpenas, orders and other process issued by the committee.

(d) To report its findings and recommendations to the Legislature and to the people from time to time and at any time, not later than herein provided.

(e) To do any and all other things necessary or convenient to enable to fully and adequately to exercise its powers, perform its duties, and accomplish the objects and purposes of this resolution.

6. The sum of ten thousand dollars ($10,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby made available from the Contingent Fund of the Assembly for the expenses of the committee and its members and for any charges, expenses or claims it may incur under this resolution, to be paid from the said contingent fund and disbursed, after certification by the chairman of the committee, upon warrants drawn by the State Controller upon the State Treasurer.

The Interim Committee on Fish and Game has investigated the activities of the Division of Fish and Game and this report will deal with the several bureaus of the division in the order set forth as follows:

I. Bureau of Fish Conservation
II. Bureau of Game Conservation
III. Bureau of Marine Fisheries
IV. Bureau of Patrol
V. Bureau of Licenses

I. BUREAU OF FISH CONSERVATION

A. Hatcheries and Rearing Ponds

The Bureau of Fish Conservation has presently some 27 rearing ponds and fish hatcheries, some of which are complete and operating and some of which are in the process of building. Circumstances were such that the committee was able to visit only approximately twelve or fifteen of the hatcheries. The following list covers all the hatcheries and the estimated output of each according to the Division of Fish and Game,

Bureau of Fish Conservation, together with recommendations in some cases.

1. Fall Creek Hatcheries, Siskiyou County

The output of this station is estimated to be approximately six thousand pounds of trout. The committee recommends that this hatchery be continued in operation and modernized.

2. Shasta Hatcheries, Siskiyou County

This station is one of the largest hatcheries in the State and probably the oldest. The output is estimated to be approximately twenty-seven thousand pounds. The committee recommends that the hatchery be completely remodeled and modernized and that the ponds be enlarged and brought up to date. It is felt that this can be done at a reasonable cost to either the Fish and Game Preservation Fund of the Wildlife Restoration Fund, if state equipment is used. The ponds should be constructed along similar lines as those in the Black Rock Hatchery.

3. Parie Creek Hatchery, Humboldt County

The bureau estimated that the output of this hatchery was approximately three thousand five hundred pounds.

4. Burney Hatchery, Shasta County

The output of this station is estimated at about four thousand five hundred pounds. The committee recommends that this hatchery be abandoned since it is old and in a serious state of disrepair.

5. Crystal Lake Hatchery, Shasta County

This station is new and when completed is estimated to cost about five hundred thousand dollars. To date about ninety thousand dollars has been spent and the committee recommends that no further expenditures be made on completion and expansion until the disease which has killed several million trout during the last year is cleared up. It is further recommended that in the future small inexpensive experiments be run for a period of one or two years to determine whether trout will grow and develop free from disease in the water of a proposed new area before large sums of money are needlessly expended.

6. Darrah Spring Hatchery, Shasta County

The committee recommends that an attempt be made to lease the property for a period of one or two years during which time experiments can be continued to determine whether trout will grow and develop in this water. The lease should contain an option to extend the lease for as long a period as possible in the event that experimentation proves the site to be suitable.

7. Cedar Creek Hatchery, Mendocino County

The committee investigated this site and has concluded that it is suitable for a hatchery. Therefore, the committee recommends that this station be bought and put into service as soon as possible to serve the northern rivers emptying into the Pacific.

8. Almanor Hatchery, Lassen County

The bureau has estimated the output of this station at approximately eight thousand pounds. Heretofore, only fingerlings have been planted. It is recommended that experiments be continued to determine the possibility of planting trout larger than fingerlings, for the benefit of the lakes in this great recreational area in Lassen County.

9. Feather River Hatchery, Plumas County

The bureau has estimated the output of this hatchery at approximately two thousand seven hundred pounds consisting entirely of fingerlings.

10. Yuba River Hatchery, Sierra County

The output of this station is estimated to be only about nine hundred pounds consisting entirely of fingerlings. In the opinion of the committee this station is not suitable for further development and it is recommended that it be abandoned.

11. Tahoe Hatchery, Placer County

The output of this station is estimated to approximate two thousand eight hundred pounds consisting entirely of fingerlings. It is the opinion of the committee that the water temperature is too low and that a new source of water should be developed possibly by pumping from a point a few feet under the surface of the lake where water of a uniform temperature throughout the year might be available. The committee is of the opinion that larger trout could be planted in Lake Tahoe and the surrounding area.

12. Tallac Hatchery, El Dorado County

The output of this station is estimated to approximate six thousand pounds consisting entirely of fingerlings. This hatchery is located near Lake Tahoe and the committee recommends that the rearing ponds be enlarged and that some arrangement be made to procure different source of water, possibly from the lake, in the same manner as suggested for the Tahoe Hatchery. It is also recommended that the Tahoe and Tallac Hatcheries could be combined into one, resulting in a saving of considerable amount of money for the State.

13. Alpine Hatchery, Alpine County

This station was established in 1932 and no record is available of the trout raised here. The committee is of the opinion that this site should be abandoned.

14. Central Valley Hatchery, Sacramento County

This station comprises about forty acres of state-owned land and is devoted to the production of spiny ray fish. The bureau has estimated that this site produces, annually, approximately one hundred fifty thousand small-mouth black bass. The facilities comprises 19 rearing ponds and 19 daphne tanks. The committee recommends that more effort be expended in rescue work on spiny ray fish and that they be put into the rearing ponds at this hatchery for subsequent planting.

15. Basin Creek Hatchery, Tuolumne County

The output of this station is estimated to be about two thousand seven hundred pounds consisting entirely of fingerlings.

16. Brookdale Hatchery, Santa Cruz County

The output of this station is estimated to be approximately seven thousand pounds of steelhead. The committee recommends that this hatchery be continued. Steelhead fingerlings, after they are planted, can migrate to the sea where food for them is available in abundance.

17. Yosemite Hatchery, Mariposa County

The output of this station is estimated to be approximately two thousand pounds, annually, and consist entirely of fingerlings. The committee is of the opinion that this hatchery is being operated at a substantial loss each year and that very little good is being accomplished. However, it appears that a lease has been agreed to between the United States National Park Service and the California Division of Fish and Game under the terms of which the division is required to plant trout in the park In the past the park service has asked for the planting of fingerlings.

18. Madera Hatchery, Madera County

This station is operated on a seasonal basis for the rearing of fingerlings and very few trout are produced.

19. Hot Creek Hatchery, Mono County

This station is one of the bureau's warm water hatcheries, with an average water temperature of 59 degrees. Last year about one hundred nineteen, eight hundred eighty-seven pounds were produced at this site. The committee recommends that this station be expanded to the fullest possible capacity.

20. Huntington Lake Hatchery, Fresno County

The output of this station is estimated at about five hundred pounds on the basis of a seasonal operation. This is a very small site.

21. Kings River Hatchery, Fresno County

The output of this station is estimated to be about two thousand five hundred pounds. It is the opinion of this committee that this site is not suitable for further enlargement and that if warm water cannot be found in sufficient quantities, it is recommended that it be abandoned.

22. Sequoia Hatchery, Tulare County

The output of this station is estimated to be about six thousand five hundred pounds. In the opinion of this committee the water available at this site is ideal and if a large tower for water aeration is built, this hatchery could be expanded to produce many times the volume that it now produces.

23. Kawahe Hatchery, Tulare County

No estimate of the quantity produced at this station is available. However, only fingerlings are produced.

24. Morehouse Springs Hatchery, Tulare County

This station is one of those that the committee had the opportunity to investigate. It was found to be under the close supervision of the Porterville Sportsmen Association which has done a great deal of work in developing it. The trout grow about an inch per month and with a very small expenditure of money this station has been able to produce about eight to twelve tons of fish annually.

25. Black Rock Hatchery, Inyo County

The output of this station is estimated to be about eighty thousand pounds. In the opinion of this committee this site has the best rearing ponds in the State. They were found to be free from disease and were built at a very nominal cost to the State, estimated about six thousand dollars. The ponds were recommended by former commissioner, Nate Milnor. It is recommended that these ponds be enlarged to the fullest possible capacity.

26. Mount Whitney Hatchery, Inyo County

This station produces approximately nine thousand pounds of fingerlings and is the second largest hatchery in the State. Many loch leaven fingerlings are raised here and planted in the lakes and streams, in addition to rainbow fingerlings, which are hatched here and planted in the Black Rock rearing ponds. This committee recommends that the station be continued.

27. Kern River Hatchery, Kern County

The output of this station is estimated to be about twenty-seven thousand five hundred pounds. The committee recommends that this site be entirely modernized and expanded to the fullest possible capacity to serve the 1,000 miles of fishable streams in this area.

28. Fillmore Hatchery, Ventura County

The output of this station is estimated at about ninety thousand pounds. This site is one of the very good hatcheries in this State. The water temperature averages close to 60 degrees throughout the year and trout thrive and grow rapidly in this water. The main problem at this station has been the shortage of water, but the committee is of the opinion that this has been overcome by the drilling of a new well. An unfortunate accident occurred here several years ago when one of the pumps failed and over 100,000 trout died as a result. A dependable water supply is of paramount importance. It is recommended that this station be maintained at its present level.

29. Mohave Hatchery, San Bernardino County

This station has already had about twenty-three thousand dollars spent in its development. At the time the committee made its investigation, it was found that between forty thousand and fifty thousand trout ranging in size from six to eight to the pound were in a very overcrowded condition. The committee recommended that the trout be placed as quickly as possible and was informed that they were going to be planted in Lake Arrowhead. The committee further recommended that a portion of the trout be planted immediately in the Bishop area. This recommendation was not carried out and about four nights later, the power failed and all the trout, with the exception of about one thousand, died. The committee is of the opinion that in the future more care must be taken of available facilities to prevent reoccurrences of this nature. The committee is also of the opinion that the experimental stage at this site has been passed and recommends that the hatchery be expanded to produce at least one hundred tons of fish.

30. Whittier Hatchery, Los Angeles County

This station has had about eight thousand dollars expended on it to date and last year approximately eight to twelve tons of trout were produced. In the opinion of this committee, the water is ideal and very little disease is encountered. This station is definitely past the experimental stage. When the Whittier Narrows Dam is completed, the committee recommends that another site can be located immediately below it on Whittier city-owned property and that the hatchery can then be completed as soon as possible so that at least one hundred tons of trout can be produced annually There are several commercial hatcheries producing large quantities of trout immediately north of this station

The committee recommends also that the Fish and Game Commission investigate the advisability of purchasing size trout from some of the commercial hatcheries in the State on a contract basis. The Director of Finance and the Legislative Auditor both are in accord with the committee on this recommendation Attached, is a letter from the Valley Trout Hatchery quoting prices of size trout, etc. There is attached, also, a map showing the locations of the fish hatcheries and rearing ponds in the State.

DEAR SIR: Please be advised that the Valley Trout Hatchery has available for sale rainbow trout ranging in size from five to fourteen inches. In the event the Fish and Game Commission of the State of California is interested in purchasing trout to stock streams, we would be glad to furnish its requirements.

Our present price is at the rate of $1.05 per pound f.o.b. hatchery. We invite your inspection.

Very truly yours,

B. Fish Screen and Rescue Activities

The committee investigated a considerable number of irrigation ditches leading out of rivers and streams. One of these is the Shasta, which empties into the Klamath and is one of the most important steelhead spawning streams in the State.

It was found that when the young steelhead started migrating down the Shasta to the Klamath, that great numbers would follow the creeks into the irrigation ditches and subsequently into the fields where the farmers were irrigating, causing the destruction of millions of these young fish. In the past, the Division of Fish and Game has placed screens in some of the irrigation ditches at a point about one hundred fifty feet from where they branch off from the main stream. This caused the young steelhead to follow the current in the ditch to the screen and since they do not turn back against the current, they beat themselves against the screen until they are destroyed. In one instance, it was found that in one night as many as five thousand small steelhead had congregated in back of one of these fish screens which had been placed downstream in the ditch as described above, where they subsequently were destroyed.

In the opinion of this committee, legislation is necessary in order to insure that a small percentage of the water can be by-passed in front of the screen and back into the river. Legislation for this purpose has been introduced but it is anticipated that it will meet with violent opposition from ranchers, cattle and sheep men and all people interested in irrigation in connection with agriculture. Therefore, the committee recommends that a new kind of screen be devised which can be placed close to the point at which the water leaves the river to enter the irrigation ditches, and thus the young fish will be prevented from entering the ditches and instead will continue on their journey downstream. The committee investigated types of electric screens which are being used, apparently with great success, in other states and in some of the commercial hatcheries in this State.

The committee in its investigation also found a similar problem with respect to the salmon, which go up our inland rivers and streams to spawn and often follow the irrigation ditches into the fields where they eventually are lost by the thousands before they spawn. The correct kind of screens, either electric or otherwise, properly placed, could save a great number of these fish, not only salmon, but steelhead, striped bass or other spiny ray fish. The committee also investigated some of the new screens being manufactured by the Division of Fish and Game but, in its opinion, these screens will be useless if placed, as in the past, 100 or 150 feet down the irrigation ditches from the point where it branches into the river or stream. Unfortunately, migratory fish, which are bound towards the ocean, will not go back upstream and losses will continue as long as present practices are maintained.

The committee noted another practice which is contributing to the loss of fish. This is the uneven flow of water released from dams, such as one on Klamath River. During the large flow, the young steelhead often migrate downstream along the edges, where they are left stranded when the flow is reduced. Subsequently, thousands of these stranded fish die either from lack of water or by falling victim to many kinds of predators. It is recommended that some arrangement be made whereby an even flow of water could be released from the dams which would result in the saving of millions of young steelhead that would comprise a valuable addition to an important natural resource and would be available for fishing by the sportsmen of the State. This same condition is true of many of the rivers and streams in the Central Valley of California.

In connection with the stranding of many fish either by fluctuating flows in the rivers and streams or by the drying up of some streams and ponds during the summer months, this committee recommends that one or two rescue groups be established within the correctional schools of the Youth Authority. These rescue groups should be in the form of mobile units which could salvage many of the bass and spiny ray fish when they become stranded as described above. This activity would not only provide very helpful recreational employment for many of the boys in the correctional schools but could result in the saving of a great many fish which would be to the benefit of the sport fishermen of the State.

II. BUREAU OF GAME CONSERVATION

The activities of the Bureau of Game Conservation are treated in this report in three sections as follows: A. Game Farms; B. Migratory Water Fowl Problems; C. Game Management Areas and Game Depredations.

A. Game Farms

The Bureau of Game Conservation is currently operating approximately sixteen game farm units. The committee was unfortunately not able to visit all of these units, however, following is a list covering every one of them together with pertinent information as to their size and facilities and in the case of those units visited by the committee recommendations and comments.

1. Bakersfield Game Farm, Kern County

This unit has 16 batteries, 20 brooders and 87 pens.

2. Porterville Game Farm, Tulare County

This unit has 24 brooders and 100 pens with 96 pens under construction. The committee was able to visit this farm and is pleased to report that it is being operated with a high degree of efficiency, and that the birds found here are among the finest and healthiest of any in the State. Much credit is due the Porterville Sportsmens' Association for the excellence of the work performed at this farm. The association has displayed a commendable cooperative spirit in assisting the caretaker in his work and generally keeping a watchful eye on the activities of the project.

3. Los Serranos Game Farm, Chino, Riverside County

This unit is one of the older game farms in this State and is located on the Los Serranos Country Club property on the northwest corner. Its facilities consist of nine incubators, with 40 batteries, 90 brooders and 272 pens. Birds from this unit are planted throughout Southern California and some are furnished to the pens in Brawley and the Palos Verdes Valley. This committee is of the opinion that this game farm can be increased to produce at least twenty thousand birds. This opinion is based on the experience of a very small game farm operated by one of the farm game management areas which brooded and raised over ten thousand pheasants to maturity.

4. Los Banos Game Farm, Merced County

This station has under construction 24 brooders and 150 pens and is being very carefully watched by the Los Banos sportsmen's organizations. The committee is of the opinion that this unit should be able to produce enough birds to service this great area of very fine pheasant territory in the grasslands.

5. Fresno Game Farm, Fresno County

This station has four incubators, 24 batteries and 48 brooders and was one of those visited by the committee. In the opinion of the committee this farm is doing a fairly good job but that nevertheless it could greatly expand its production of birds.

6. Brawley Game Farm, Imperial County

This site has two incubators, 24 brooders and is increasing its pens to 150 by the construction of 40 additional at a new site. The Bureau of Game Conservation estimates that this farm will produce about five thousand birds. However, the committee is of the opinion that at least ten thousand birds can be raised here and recommends that the necessary steps be taken to increase production to the larger amount.

7. Castaic Game Farm, Los Angeles County

This station has 36 brooders, 96 pens and 18 separate pens. The Bureau of Game Conservation has estimated that some five thousand six hundred birds will be raised at this farm.

8. Valley Center Game Farm, Escondido, San Diego County

The facilities at this station consist of 24 brooders and 48 pens. The bureau estimates that 2,600 birds can be raised for liberation in this area. It is the recommendation of this committee that this farm remain at its present level of capacity.

9. Yountville Game Farm, Napa County

This unit is one of the older game farms in the State and is also one of the largest. The Bureau of Game Conservation has estimated that 20,000 birds can be raised at this point. The committee is of the opinion that the size of the farm and its equipment are such that the bureau could easily raise 30,000 birds on it, and it is recommended that the necessary steps be taken to assure the raising of that many birds.

10. Marysville Game Farm, Yuba County

This station has 24 brooders and 150 pens under construction and is located in the center of some of the best pheasant hunting lands in the State. The committee recommends that at least ten thousand birds be reared in the pens annually and that such enlagement of the pens as is necessary to insure the raising of this number of birds should be undertaken.

11. Redding Game Farm, Shasta County

The facilities of this station consist of 24 brooders, 97 pens and some 55 separate pens The bureau has estimated that approximately five thousand birds are being raised here annually.

12. Chico Game Farm, Butte County

The facilities of this unit consist of three incubators, 16 batteries, 24 brooders and 200 pens. The bureau has estimated that approximately five thousand birds are reared here annually. The committee is of the opinion that this could easily be increased to ten thousand and recommends that the necessary steps be taken to insure the raising of the larger amount.

13. Willows Game Farm, Glenn County

This station has 16 batteries, 24 brooders, 96 pens and 80 separate pens. The bureau has estimated that some seven thousand birds are raised here annually. This farm is also located in one of the finest pheasant hunting areas in the State and it is the recommendation of the committee that its production be increased to the fullest possible capacity in order to properly take care of the large number of hunters in the area.

14. Stockton Game Farm, San Joaquin County

This unit is used for holding purposes and its 48 pens usually contain approximately two thousand birds.

15. Ukiah Game Farm, Mendocino County

This unit is also used for holding purposes and its 48 pens generally have about one thousand two hundred birds per year.

16. Sacramento Game Farm, Sacramento County

The facilities at this site consist of 40 brooders, 104 pens and 96 separate pens. The estimate of the bureau is that seven thousand birds are being raised here annually. In the opinion of the committee, production of this unit should be increased to at least ten thousand birds, as the farm is also located in an area which is considered to provide some of the best shooting in the State.

In addition to the game farms listed above there are between twenty and thirty holding pens throughout the State, among which are the following: Merced holding pens, Contra Costa County holding pens, Bishop holding pens, San Francisco holding pens, Elmira holding pens, Tulare holding pens, Pomona holding pens, Blythe holding pens, Oroville holding pens, Santa Paula holding pens, Red Bluff holding pens, Fall River Mills holding pens, Susanville holding pens. This committee is of the opinion that many additional holding pens could be established throughout the State under the supervision of the Bureau of Game Conservation, Division of Fish and Game. Many sportsmen's organizations have expressed the willingness and ability to assist in the care and rearing of the birds in those additional holding pens which might be established by the bureau.

In the course of its investigation the committee has ascertained that approximately eighty-seven thousand birds were liberated last year by the Bureau of Game Conservation. The estimated cost of the birds was $2.35 each in accordance with the figures submitted to the committee by the Legislative Auditor, Mr. Rolland A Vandegrift. Mr. Ben Gladding of the Bureau of Game Conservation has stated to the committee that only between 5 and 20 percent of the birds liberated actually reached the sportsman's bag. The committee is of the opinion that the majority of the unrecovered birds became victims of predators with possibly a very small percentage of hens remaining as brood stock for the following year. It might be noted here that the cost of the birds actually recovered amounts to some ten dollars each based on the assumption that the cost of each bird liberated is approximately two dollars and that only one of five so liberated is actually recovered.

The committee is of the opinion that it would be a much better practice on the part of the Bureau of Game Conservation to liberate mature birds about a week before the opening of the pheasant season. This would permit a much larger percentage of the birds to be harvested by the sportsmen of the State, and a correspondingly lesser percentage would fall prey to predators. The committee recommends to the bureau that the foregoing practice be undertaken.

The committee was fortunate in having the opportunity to inspect some of the farm game management areas of the State where the private citizens handle the management area and provide food, shelter and water for the birds and control predators. It is the opinion of the committee that the farm game management area system should be continued until a better method of producing birds is found by the Bureau of Game Conservation. This can only be accomplished by the bureau's liberating birds after the farmers crops have been harvested, and by providing food, water and shelter on public shooting grounds.

B. Migratory Waterfowl Problems

The problem of our migratory waterfowl is now quite serious and this committee has made several inspection trips together with a considerable amount of intensive investigation with the view to ascertaining the extent of damage caused by waterfowl to rice and vegetable fields in Northern California and to the lettuce fields in Imperial Valley. In addition its investigations have led the committee to the conclusion that a more careful management of our waterfowl should be followed and in support of that conclusion there follows a detailed analysis as to the refuges and their location in the State, the location of gun clubs, the harvest of migratory waterfowl, in cooperation with the Bureau of Fish and Wildlife, together with specific recommendations concerning the securing of additional lands for game management areas, where the unattached hunters may harvest some of the surplus crop of waterfowl.

The "grasslands" of the San Joaquin Valley, California, as defined by the Bureau of Reclamation, comprises approximately one hundred forty-five thousand acres along both sides of the San Joaquin River, some forty-five thousand of these acres are located east of the San Joaquin River. However, for the purposes of this report, the "grasslands" consist only of the area west of the river which was involved in the Federal Government's 1939 purchase of grasslands water rights. This area comprises 98,234 acres which is the figure used as the basis for evaluation. It extends northerly a distance of approximately thirty-five miles beginning a few miles south of the town of Dos Palos to the border of Newman and lies in Merced, Fresno and Stanislaus Counties. The area varies in width from less than a mile to about ten miles, and lies within the secondary flood plain of the San Joaquin River which embodies a series of ponds and shallow drain channels surrounded by native grass areas.

Provision to store these waters was made by construction of the Friant Dam on the upper reaches of the San Joaquin River. The various land owners in the "grasslands", both livestock men and duck hunters, realized that their water supply would soon be cut off and several livestock and duck hunter organizations were started. All these associations were merged into the Grasslands Water Association on August 2, 1944 and incorporated under the state laws as a nonprofit mutual water company.

Upon completion of the initial features of the Central Valley Project, all available water stored by Friant Dam will be delivered to lands served by the Friant-Kern and Madera Canals and any surplus will be used on the lands to be served by the Delta-Mendota Canal under the terms of the socalled "exchange contract".

Soils and Vegetation

Generally, the lands which contain a high concentration of salts are classified as nontillable crop lands.

Ownership

The Grasslands Water Association in 1947 consisted of 53,747 acres distributed among 139 duck clubs and livestock companies together with 54 tracts comprising some 7,623 acres for grazing use only. Many of the duck clubs lease lands to local dairymen or cattlemen, who in turn rent hunting rights to sportsmen for waterfowl shooting on their property. Most of the lands not within the control of the association are dry although some of the owners have developed an independent water supply through wells or pumping of return flow. The entire grasslands area would probably be divided into over two hundred holdings, although the number varies from year to year.

Average size—318 acres.

Present Land Uses

The lands are presently being used as resting and feeding grounds for waterfowl, the hunting of waterfowl, the production of range beef cattle and in the replacement of dairy stock. The areas are being used on a multiple purpose basis with probably less than 10 percent of the lands being farmed, principally for forage.

Increase in Land Values

Several tracts were sold for from fifty dollars to fifty-five dollars per acre in 1946. The following year grazing lands located adjacent to the dairy farms and with no improvements were selling for an average of seventy-five dollars per acre. In the years between 1920 and 1936, Miller and Lux sold some forty-four thousand two hundred acres without water rights for an average price of $23.61 per acre. Adjustment on this price was made on the basis of value of Miller and Lux bonds accepted as part payment in many of these transactions, which brought the value down to about fifteen dollars per acre or about thirty dollars per acre with a water supply.

Water Distribution

Records indicate that the grasslands received an annual average of 113,411 acre feet of water during the 39-year period between 1909 and 1947. Since the time when Miller and Lux sold the water rights on the grasslands together with some riparian water rights to the Government in 1939, a nine-year average has been 78,181 acre feet.

The Miller and Lux water records indicate that in 1948 the "grasslands" received 41,453 acre feet by September 30th and will have been given an additional 53,650 acre feet by December 31st, or a total of 95,103 acre feet.

Water Areas

Data made available from 108 duck clubs indicate that 15,944 acres were flooded at the end of the first half of the 1947-48 hunting season, making an average of 148 acres per club. Extending this figure to the remaining 31 duck clubs within the 61,370-acre area of the Grasslands Water Association, on which data were not obtainable, the maximum water surface area at that time of the year would approximate 20,500 acres. In November and December of 1947, the Bureau of Reclamation provided 8,000 additional acre feet of water which made the total water surface about twenty-eight thousand acres during the late November and December period when heavy waterfowl concentrations occurred.

Grasslands Duck Clubs

In addition to the 139 clubs of the Grasslands Water Association which hunt within the 61,370 acres controlled by the association, there were about eleven small private hunting clubs to be found on the remaining 36,864 acres of the total area. The area also contained seven commercial clubs with a capacity for 638 shooters.

Hunter Take

Records of waterfowl harvest are based on the nine-year average from 1939-40 season through the 1947-48 season, and indicate an average of 21 shooting days per season.

The total average annual take for all hunters in this area is 231,000 ducks and 5,800 geese for the nine-year period. Records of the Division of Fish and Game for the 1940 and 1941 season which might be considered about average years, indicate a state-wide average annual take of 1,549,929 ducks and 139,554 geese. Consequently, "the grasslands" take would then represent 14 percent of the ducks and 4 percent of the geese harvested in the entire State. The average hunter bagged 3.8 ducks per hunter day or a total of 42.43 waterfowl for the season.

Survey of Hunters' Expenditures

The groups personally interviewed indicated a unit expenditure of approximately $7.61 per waterfowl as against a unit expenditure of $8.16 for the groups which mailed in returns. Together this made an average of $7 85 for ducks and geese taken in the grasslands. Approximately $606,000 was spent during the 1947-48 season by hunters in the grasslands with an average of 10.59 days spent in hunting.

Physical Changes in Areas

Records for January and February of the year 1892 indicate that market hunters shipped some 475 sacks of ducks and geese weighing 29,550 pounds, or nearly fifteen tons from the Los Banos area. This figure would indicate a very large population of waterfowl during the hunting seasons of those years.

The 1940 census indicated that of 2,667,194 acres of land in California drainage enterprises, drains had been installed on 1,509,832 acres. For the same year records show that drains had been installed on 1,213,686 acres in the Sacramento-San Joaquin area which means that 80 percent of the lands in the State in which drains have been installed lie in the central valley. Thus it can be seen that lands which were historically highly valuable wintering areas for waterfowl have now been drained and made useless for this purpose

This reduction in natural wintering areas for waterfowl has led to considerable depredations to rice and other crops, and in 1941, '42 and '43 the value of crops so damaged in California amounted to over $2,200,000. Consequently adequate provision must be made for suitable and sufficient habitat if California and the Pacific flyway are to continue having substantial flights of waterfowl and if we are to reduce the depredation losses encountered every year The resource of migratory waterfowl and the part played by the grasslands region actually have national and even international significance. Reclaiming of marsh lands at the mouth of the Colorado River has further reduced waterfowl habitat along the Pacific flyway and increased depredation problems.

Waterfowl population records show an eight-year average peak of 1,380,000 ducks and 172,300 geese in the Sacramento wildlife refuge and a twelve-year average peak of 2,030,000 ducks and 20,000 geese in the Gray Lodge state refuge.

Conclusions and Recommendations

In the opinion of this committee and in the opinion of those who are interested in conservation there seems to be no question regarding the need for various types of duck areas in the San Joaquin Valley. "Grasslands" studies indicate a necessity for 35,000 water surface acres during the period of heaviest use in November, December, January and early February. This represents about 35 percent of the 98,234 acres comprising the grasslands study area. Presently there is only one 3,000-acre state refuge in that area.

The Bureau of Game Conservation has indicated that it will recommend an area of 15,000 acres. In this they are apparently quite inconsistent since all other units, either State or federal, located in areas similar to San Joaquin Valley do not exceed three thousand acres with the possible exception of the Sacramento Wildlife refuge which contains 10,776 acres.

It is the recommendation of this committee that three areas of 5,000 acres each be established instead of one single unit of 15,000 acres. In support of this recommendation, it might be pointed out that some of these refuges and resting places for migratory waterfowl are needed immediately, and to undertake the establishment of one 15,000 acre area which would depend upon getting water from reclamation in sufficient quantity might possibly delay action on this project for many years. In the meantime, the duck flight is being lost and depredations are increasing.

The committee recommends that one area could be placed in the San Luis Island area, one in the Best Lake-Crane Ranch area, one near the Mendota Pool, and one near Buena Vista Lake. The latter area could be used principally for a resting place for ducks on their migration south. Dependency on San Luis Island alone might possibly be a bad mistake. Best Lake can immediately supply water, part of Mendota Pool could supply some water, and possibly water could be supplied in sufficient quantity at Buena Vista Lake. At least one more area should be put in immediately in the northern part of the valley and another one in the extreme southern part. The balance of the developments could be established later.

C. Game Management Areas and Game Depredations

In order to investigate reports of deer damage and over-grazing, the committee made one trip through some of the state game refuges.

Complaints had been coming in that state game refuges were overgrazed and that as a consequence deer were coming down out of the mountains onto ranch property and destroying deciduous fruit trees, ornamental shrubs and other types of crops. At the conclusion of its investigation, the committee is of the opinion that it is unable to agree with the reports made. It is true that in some areas the refuges were somewhat over-grazed, but many were not. In the opinion of the committee some form of controlled burning could be practiced in certain areas which would result in new growth on shrubbery and which would certainly offer additional browsing for the deer. Since 90 percent of deer food consists of browse, this should materially assist in keeping the deer herds off the farmers' properties.

Of the many complaints being made to the Fish and Game Commissioners and to the Committee on Fish and Game relative to damage done by deer, the committee found that certain of these were considerably exaggerated and it is recommended that no damages be paid. In any case, it would be almost impossible to come to an agreement as to the extent of the damage, and should this practice ever be started, the Fish and Game Preservation Fund would be depleted almost overnight.

This interim committee was requested by members of the Standing Committee on Fish and Game to investigate the problem of entrance to public domain. Investigation discloses that legislation introduced along this line would meet with the serious objections of cattlemen, sheepmen and other interests, and it would be virtually impossible to secure the necessary number of votes to enact legislation of this sort. This committee realizes that it is one of the problems that must be faced by the Fish and Game Commission and all other parties interested in fish and game in all its phases.

The commissioners are worthy of high commendation for the fine work that they are doing in administering fish and game regulations and in arriving at their equitable opening and closing seasons along conservation lines. Many of the monthly meetings of the commissioners were attended by this committee to its great benefit and pleasure.

The activities of the state trappers were studied and investigated quite thoroughly, and it is the opinion of this committee that it would be wise for the Division of Fish and Game to make a thorough study of the advisability of, and to formulate a plan for moving the trappers from place to place as predator concentrations follow the congregation of game birds and animals in order to rectify the unbalanced ratio now prevailing between game and predators.

In one instance a trapper went into the Santa Barbara forest to trap coyotes which were preying upon the deer herds about three or four years ago. At that time the trapper counted six does and one fawn. Some two years later after trapping about one hundred sixty coyotes, six does and 11 fawns were counted. Testimonies and reports given to this committee by interested sportsmen and hunters indicate that the coyotes are following the deer herds as they migrate from range to range and from the mountains into the valleys and back again with changes in season. The testimony also indicates that a very large portion of unharvested birds fall prey to coyotes and in one instance one coyote was killed which was found to contain 38 pheasant bands in its stomach.

The evidence is such that the committee must conclude that more vigorous and intelligent action should be taken with regard to controlling predators together with an improved system of liberating birds in order to insure a greater harvest for the sportsman and a smaller harvest for the predator.

III. BUREAU OF MARINE FISHERIES

The commercial fishing industry of California is one of the larger extractive industries of the State and by reason of dollar value and number of physical units of fish processed for the domestic and foreign markets, it is one of the largest fishing industries in the United States.

This division of the report is divided into three major sections covering (A) The California Sardine and Mackerel, (B) Abalone, and (C) Inland fisheries (Salmon).

A. Sardine and Mackerel

One of the most important fishery products of the State is the California Sardine, which, in the past three years, has developed a serious crisis because of the great reduction in the number of available fish, almost to the point of extinction. There seems to be no agreement among either the sections of the industry itself or among the various fishery biologists as to the exact cause of the loss of availability of this important fish. It is the opinion of this committee that definite conclusions on the subject should be held in abeyance pending further progress of the research work on the subject, authorized by the 1947 Session of the Legislature, which is being carried on by the Bureau of Marine Fisheries, the Scripps Institute of Oceanography of the University of California and the Federal Fish and Wildlife Service. The research is being coordinated with the work of the various fish and wildlife services of the states of Oregon and Washington.

Measures of an ill-advised or hasty nature formulated in the hope of solving the serious sardine problem should be avoided. Various sections of the industry have made recommendations and suggestions on methods of alleviating the shortage and it is the recommendation of this committee that the Legislature follow the suggestions of the majority of the industry in enacting such legislation as may appear necessary.

The commercial industry is facing a number of difficult problems among which is the steadily increasing foreign competition, particularly in the last few months. Frozen tuna and albacore, in increasing volume, is being brought in from Japan together with other canned fishery products which are being dumped on the American market, thus placing the California product at a serious competitive disadvantage.

The problem is further complicated by the imposition of additional taxes on fishing vessels by the countries of Central America and Mexico, making it more difficult for the fisherman to continue operations in those waters. It is quite likely that those countries are beginning to develop processing facilities within their own borders which will result in a serious curtailment of the livelihood of thousands of Southern California fishermen and cannery workers

The unfortunate antagonism which has been created against the commercial fisherman is due entirely to a misunderstanding by the people of the State and of the Legislature of the problems facing the industry. Unlike other industries which have received a sympathetic approach and aid in their development, the fishing industry has been somewhat of a "step-child."

This committee has held a number of meetings at San Pedro, Santa Barbara, Monterey and San Francisco for the purpose of studying the opinions, comments and proposals of the various interested groups in the fishing industry. These hearings were approached with the idea in mind that assistance should be granted the industry in the solution of its various problems and with a view to offering corrective legislative measures. The committee found that the industry was extremely cooperative and willing to discuss its problems with such frankness as to give the committee a definite and valuable insight into the numerous problems facing the industry. Presented, herewith, are a number of recommendations and proposals submitted to this committee by the various sections of the industry and the Bureau of Marine Fisheries of the California Division of Fish and Game.

A. Recommendations of Bureau of Marine Fisheries, California Division of Fish and Game.

The Bureau of Marine Fisheries, California Division of Fish and Game, recommends that the Legislature delegate certain regulatory powers to the State's conservation agency, the Fish and Game Commission, in order to rehabilitate the fisheries for sardines and Pacific mackerel, as well as to maintain the other fisheries of California. To manage any fishery in a satisfactory manner, it is desirable for the management agency to have broad regulatory powers. Although the members of the Fish and Game Commission may not be anxious to assume regulatory powers over commercial fishing activities, and although the staff does not welcome the added burden and responsibility so entailed, no really flexible program of management can be effective until such a move is made. Under this system it is possible to amend regulations to meet changing conditions, which often change so rapidly as to be emergencies. Not only can restrictions be imposed, but they can be lifted when conditions so warrant.

Any such system of regulatory powers would have to be surrounded with statutory checks and balances so that the Legislature can be sure that abuses would not occur. Not only must outrageously severe restrictions be prevented, but ridiculously impotent regulations must be avoided. At the start there should be a two-year limitation, so that the regulatory powers could be withdrawn if they have resulted in abuses. There should be some statutory limitations beyond which the commission could not go. And there should also be a statutory advisory committe with wide representation to consult with the commission.

Legislation to delegate regulatory powers would not be complicated. Section 14 of the Fish and Game Code could be amended to delete the sentences which limit the regulations to sport fishing and hunting Sections 14.2, 15, 15.1, 15.2, and 15.3 could be amended to include provisions for annual and special meetings of the commission to establish or amend regulations for commercial fishing and to provide for the advisory committee which would be consulted prior to the adoption of any regulations.

The advisory committee, insofar as sardines and mackerel are concerned, should consist of five members as follows: One representative each of labor (fishermen and cannery workers), boat owners, management (plant owners), organized sportsmen, and a member of one of the legislative committees on fish and game. Provisions should also be made for similar advisory committees for other fisheries because the people most conversant with sardine and mackerel problems might not be as well qualified to advise on such diverse fisheries as salmon and tuna.

If these regulatory powers were granted to the Fish and Game Commission, the Bureau of Marine Fisheries would recommend the following program to the commission. In the case of sardines and mackerel, all that is necessary is to set seasonal catch limits or quotas based on our knowledge of the fishery. The limits would be set to afford maximum utilization of the fish without endangering the supply. When the amount that can be taken safely has been caught, fishing stops and the fishermen and plants can turn to another fishery without dragging the season on and on with everyone operating at a loss. Furthermore, there is no need for a troublesome size limit to harass the fishermen. The method of control by seasonal quotas has been successful in other fisheries and is the only practical way of regulating the fishery so it will recover.

To safeguard the industry from fears that the Fish and Game Commission would set an unreasonable limit or method of allocation, it is important that there be a statutory advisory committee to offer guidance.

There should also be statutory minimum seasonal limits below which the commission could not cut the allotments. To rehabilitate the sardine fishery quickly, initial limits should be no higher than fifty thousand tons. However, this figure would be so low as to hamstring the industry. To set everyone's mind at rest on this point we recommend that the law specify that the California sardine processing industry not be cut below one hundred thousand tons per year. This may result in a delay in recuperation but would be less harsh on the fishery. For Pacific mackerel the minimum figure above which the commission could set limits would be 15,000 tons (this compares with a state-wide catch in 1947-48 of a little less than twenty thousand tons). A minimum figure for jack mackerel is not as easily set. We know very little about this species. Last year's record catch was 71,000 tons; previously landings were but a fraction of that figure.

The opening date for all three species should be identical and should also be uniform through the State to avoid confusion. Unless the industry wishes a definite date of determination to plan for closing their operations, there need be no end date. Fishing would continue until the quota for any one species is reached, and would then cease as far as that species is concerned. In order to avoid interference with fishing for the species for which limits had not been attained, it would be necessary to make allowances for mixed loads. It should be provided that mixed loads containing less than 15 percent by weight of any species for which the limit has been reached may be taken.

There are several ways to allot quotas under a seasonal limit system:

(a) A state-wide industry-wide quota with all boats and plants starting simultaneously on a first-come, first-served basis. This sort of plan has been satisfactory in the halibut fishery.

(b) Regional allotments, with each area receiving its own quota.

(d.) Each vessel given a specific seasonal quota, under permit, based on size of boat.

As far as we are concerned, the details of allotments can be worked out with the proposed advisory committee, and should offer no serious obstacle once the principle of regulation by seasonal limit is adopted.

To be entirely successful, a seasonal catch limit should be coastwide, including allotments to California, Oregon, Washington, Canada, and Mexico. However, inasmuch as California accounts for nearly 90 percent of the coastwide catch, California should take the lead in adopting a wise management program. If California initiates a system of seasonal limits, it is quite likely that Washington and Oregon, as fellow members of the Pacific Marine Fisheries Commission, will follow suit, and probably Canada and Mexico could be induced to enter into such a program. Even if California pursues a lone course, the maximum benefit of its conservation program would inure to the California industry.

The total bag limit system can be expected to aid the recovery of the sardine and mackerel fisheries with a minimum of dislocation to the industry. Other methods of control which have been recommended to your committee by various persons will not do so. Some are not truly remedies, they are panaceas. Our recommendations on these follow:

Closed Seasons

As far as conservation of a pelagic migratory fish is concerned, a closed season offers little protection. The principal protection needed by such fish when faced with overfishing is a reduction in the fishing intensity. To effect this, a closed season would have to be so long that little time would be allowed for fishing. If the open season were cut down enough to help the sardine or mackerel, it would have to be so short that adverse weather could conceivably prevent any fishing in some years. Only a seasonal limit system can insure a season both short enough to protect the fish and long enough to permit a maximum safe catch.

In these days of trucking fish from region to region it is necessary to have the season open on the same date throughout the State.

Prohibition of "Summer Pack"

If a closed season were the principal type of control, it would be necessary to have a complete closure except during the short open season. This would mean there could be no so-called "summer" or "specialty" pack.

With a seasonal catch limit allotted to individual plants, those processors who wished to provide year-around employment for their fishermen and cannery workers could save some of their plant allotment and utilize it during the off season.

Closed Areas

Closing areas to protect pelagic migratory fish is not an effective control measure. The principal help is to protect nursery grounds where the young fish gather. However, there are other reasons for maintaining some closed areas.

We recommend retaining the closed area at Santa Catalina Island. This is an important and historical sport fishing reserve. Because bluefin tuna cannot be taken on hook and line in any area where they are harassed by nets, this is the one and only place that sportfishermen can catch these fine fish. Furthermore, Catalina is a very important nursery ground for young Pacific mackerel which would be subjected to undue fishing pressure if the area were opened.

We also recommend that Santa Monica Bay be retained as a closed area. This is a very important sport fishing district, close to large population centers and subjected to heavy party-boat fishing. It also constitutes a resting area for sardines and mackerel. The law should be revised, however, to make the closure complete and eliminate the use of bait nets for everything except live bait. The law should provide that no fish, except live bait, may be taken or possessed on any boat carrying a net. This would correct present abuses whereby asserted bait is diverted to canning, which means that so-called bait boats fish in the bay while purse seine boats must stay outside.

We recommend that District 118A along the coasts of San Luis Obispo and Santa Barbara Counties be abolished. This closed area serves no useful purpose whatsoever, either as a conservation measure or as a sport fishing reserve.

Size Limits

During the present season the size limit, imposed as an emergency measure, has afforded some protection to small sardines in Monterey Bay. However, the size limit caused hardship and ill feeling, and it was obvious that there was little desire on the part of a large segment of the industry to cooperate in making the measure effective. It is a difficult regulation to observe on the part of the fishermen, and is practically impossible to enforce.

A size limit on such fish as sardines and mackerel attempts to serve two purposes. Its principal objective is to provide larger fish for the processor. The small fish require more labor to pack, produce a lower case pack, yield less oil, and result in a product of poor appearance and quality. In this connection, conservation is not involved. To meet this objective, all that is necessary is for the processors to refuse to accept small fish. There is no reason why the state's conservation agency should have to insure that the canners receive the kind of fish they prefer.

The other purpose is to protect the young fish until they are mature and until they are large enough so that a given number of individual fish will produce the maximum tonnage. When no other type of control is available, it is necessary to resort to a size limit, such as during the present season, even though it is all but unworkable.

The same results would be obtained under a seasonal limit system. No processor having a definite allotment would accept small fish because it would result in a lower total case pack at increased cost.

A size limit will work only if all members of the industry are in wholehearted support of the measure. More than any other type of regulation, a size limit requires complete cooperation of all concerned.

Increased Case Pack Requirement

The present statutory requirement that a canner must pack 13½ cases per ton of sardines is inadequate in that it permits him to place more than half of every ton in the reduction pit. In effect, a canner can be a reductionist without a reduction permit. An increase in the requirement to at least sixteen cases per ton is recommended. In actual practice most canners pack twenty or more cases to the ton. A higher requirement would mean that processors would not accept over-loads of mushy fish or loads containing too many small fish. In the long run this would mean better utilization of the resource. However, as long as canneries have reduction permits they can credit as much fish to their permits as they wish and thus ostensibly meet their pack requirement. Unless reduction permits are divorced entirely from cannery operations there is not much point in increasing the pack requirement.

Prohibition of Fish Trucking

We recommend that there be no prohibition of transportating sardines and mackerel from one region to another. There is no valid reason, from a conservation standpoint, for prohibiting this practice as long as spoilage and waste do not result. Other fish such as albacore, salmon, sole, crabs, and lobsters are shipped back and forth the length and breadth of California to promote their better utilization.

However, there should be uniform state-wide open seasons to obviate the difficulties and confusion arising from hauling fish to and from open area.

Exclusion of Out-of-state Boats

The West Coast purse seine fleet is over-built as far as the sardine and mackerel fisheries are concerned. When vessels from Oregon, Washington, and Alaska move into the Southern California fishery it means that there are more boats operating than the reduced supply of fish warrants. From some standpoints it may be desirable to limit the total number of boats fishing, perhaps by issuing annual permits.

However, the United States Constitution guarantees equal rights to all citizens and residents of the Nation regardless of the state of residence. It is doubtful if California could exclude out-of-state fishermen even if it were desirable, and permits would have to be issued to residents and nonresidents on an equal basis. Furthermore, what constitutes an out-of-state boat—port of registry, state of crew's residence, or state of owner's residence, especially if a local cannery owns a share of the vessel?

If the seasonal quota system to be adopted includes individual boat limits, then tonnages caught in Oregon or Washington would apply against the northern boats and would not be available in California. Such a system of boat-by-boat allocation would be difficult to administer and would be subject to all sorts of abuses, however.

A Separate Fisheries Commission

We understand that your committee has under consideration the establishment of a separate fisheries commission. The Bureau of Marine Fisheries has no recommendations one way or the other in this connection, but wishes to call several points to your attention.

Any separate commission should have jurisdiction over both commercial and sport fisheries of marine and anadromous fish. It is impossible to differentiate between barracuda taken by sportsmen or by market fishermen, or between anchovies taken for bait or for canning. Any agency would be unable to function if its research, management or enforcement were limited to only part of any fishery. If sport and commercial fisheries commissions are independently regulated two parts of the fishery for the same fish, conflicts will inevitably result.

The membership of a marine fisheries commission should be composed of men who have no financial interest in the fishing industry. Otherwise there would be everlasting bickering over appointments and policies by all segments of the industry which were not given representation. The outstanding fisheries commission is the Oregon Fish Commission. Much of its success is due to the fact that its members are sympathetic to but not part of the fishing industry.

A separate fisheries commission would be neither more nor less successful than a combined fish and game commission unless it were given broad regulatory powers. Only with some degree of discretion could it serve the fisheries' best interests. Again we refer to the Oregon Fish Commission which has considerable plenary authority and which has operated consistently in such manner as to beneft the fisheries.

B. Recommendations of Committees Representing Monterey Fish Processors Association, Monterey Purse Seine Association, Monterey A.F.L. Fishermen and Cannery Workers, and San Pedro Fishermen and Cannery Workers

Amend 1065 to provide as follows:

(a) Sardine season in Northern California to start August 1st and terminate December 15th.

(b) Sardine season in Southern California to start September 1st and terminate January 15th.

(c) There shall be no fishing on Saturday and Sunday nights.

(d) No fishing during full moon two days before and two days after full moon.

Provide further for a summer season which shall:

(a) In Northern California begin May 15th and end July 15th.

(b) In Southern California begin May 15th and end July 15th.

(c) In Northern California between December 16th and May 15th and between July 16th and July 31st there shall be no fishing for sardines for any purpose, and in Southern California between January 16th and May 15th and between July 16th and August 31st there shall be no fishing for sardines for any purpose.

Provide further that during the closed sardine seasons when fishing for species not prohibited, a load of mixed fish containing 25 percent or less by weight of sardines shall be considered a legal load.

All of the above legislation to terminate on July 31, 1951, and present 106's to go back into effect.

Repeal any code section which provides for the catching of sardines for bait, unless caught during the legal sardine season or summer sardine season.

Repeal Section 1063.

Repeal Section 741.

C. Recommendations of the California Fish Canners Association, Inc.

1. The Legislature appropriated $300,000 to the University of California to be expended through the Scripps Institute on Fishery Research. This money is being expended carefully by the Scripps Institute in cooperation with the Bureau of Marine Fisheries and the Fish and Wildlife Service to obtain the greatest possible result from the use of this money. The program which has been developed must continue for several years in order to produce a verified conclusion. We, therefore, recommend an additional appropriation of $300,000 for the next biennium to the University of California for use through the Scripps Institute in the same manner as the appropriation made by the last Legislature.

2. The last Legislature created by law, a research committee, appointed by the Governor, to expend a fund to be accumulated by an added 50 cents per ton tax on sardines. This committee is working with the Scripps Institute, the Fish and Wildlife Service and the Bureau of Marine Fisheries so that all of the research work can be properly coordinated. We recommend the continuance of the tax and the committee, although we understand the recommendation will be made by the Bureau of Marine Fisheries for a slight change in the law assessing the tax so that it will conform in language to the section assessing another 50 cents per ton for the support of the Fish and Game Commission.

3. The sardine season in California, historically, has been different in the various districts. At present, the season opens in Monterey and San Francisco on August 1st, and closes January 15th. The season in Southern California opens October 1st, and closes February 15th. We recommend a uniform season for the whole of the State and believe it should open September 1st, and should end February 15th.

4. Section No. 1065 of the Fish and Game Code, permits the packing of sardines in quarter square cans at any time during the year, restricting the use of sardines for any other purpose except during the season set by law. We believe there should be no differentiation between the type of can and that the section referred to should be amended so that there shall be no canning or other use of sardines except during the season set by the Legislature.

5. There have been continuous controversies in the Legislature and between various interested people in the matter of closing areas to net fishing. We believe this whole problem should be carefully considered either by your committee or by some subcommittee especially appointed for the purpose of making the study so that a general policy may be adopted with respect to this matter. It is the considered opinion of those who know, that closed areas to net or other types of fishing does not promote conservation and is bad fishery management, but there are other factors to be considered in this problem besides conservation.

6. We believe the program recommended to the Fish and Game Commission by the Sardine Advisory Committee, appointed by it from industry for the current year has been extremely beneficial to the fishery and should be continued. This program includes the following:

a. A Fishery Advisory Committee appointed by the Fish and Game Commission from industry. We believe this committee should be given some legislative sanction so that it has more official standing.

b. A regulation on the size of sardines which may be taken from the ocean. Legislation should be adopted to make the power of the commission greater in the matter of fixing size limits on fish.

c. A two-day rest period in each week of the season so that fishing is carried on only during five nights of each week, which, of course, reduces the total number of days fishing during the legal season. This practice should be continued; the right to the commission to increase or decrease the number of days fishing permitted in each calendar week, depending upon the circumstances then existing.

d. The commission reduced the tonnage permitted for reduction to less than one thousand tons per permit. This practice is being followed and the tonnage kept within the limits which will make certain that no more than a reasonable tonnage of fish be taken from the ocean each year.

D. Recommendations of the Fishermen's Co-operative Association and the Federated Boat Owners' Association.

1. That the Fish and Game Commission should not be given plenary powers.

2. That size limit should not be established by law.

3. That there should be a uniform sardine season throughout the State—to begin September 1st, and end January 15th—however the closing date should be left open.

4. No summer pack.

5. There should be no bag limit established by law.

6. There should be a separate commercial Fish and Game Commission.

7. There should be no closed areas because closed areas contribute nothing to conservation.

8. A resolution should be adopted banning the lobbyist for the Fish and Game Commission.

E. The recommendations of the International Fishermen and Allied Workers of America, Local 33:

The IFAWA feels that a comprehensive program for the conservation of the sardine and mackerel industries is indicated. The union is anxious to cooperate with the regulatory agency and the rest of the industry on such a program. In the absence of an agreement on what a comprehensive program should consist of, the union makes the following recommendations which are in the form of a two-year trial program.

At the conclusion of the two years, if there is no improvement in the sardine and mackerel fisheries, the union believes the entire program should be reviewed and additional measures taken

1. In order to reduce the amount of the fishing effort, the union proposes shortening of the season and making the season uniform throughout the State. The season should be from September 1st to December 31st.

Such shortening of the season and making it uniform will assure equal distribution of fishing boats throughout the entire fishery. The elimination of the concentration of vessels in an area will tend to reduce the total fishing effort.

2. Elimination of the so-called summer pack.

3. Granting of authority to the Fish and Game Commission to regulate the case pack in order to assure best utilization of the sardine resource.

4. No size limit. The union believes that if a further reduction of the fishing effort is indicated, a better way of accomplishing it would be through the imposition of total tonnage limitation rather than a size limit.

5. Establishment of the commercial fisheries commission in order to:

a. Regulate the commercial fisheries in California; and

b. Promote the development of the commercial fisheries.

In case the Legislature fails to establish a commercial fisheries commission, as a minimum the union believes that an advisory committee on the sardine and mackerel fisheries should be established, with authority to review the work of the Fish and Game Commission in that field and make recommendations for effective utilization of those fisheries.

6. In order to assure accurate determination of the amount of fish landed by commercial fishermen, the Fish and Game Commission should employ weighmasters to be assigned on a rotation basis to the various buyers of fish. The cost of such weighmasters should be assessed on the industry on the basis of a tax per ton of fish delivered.

7. In order to stabilize the economic condition of the California fishing industry, the price support program similar to the one granted agriculture should be enacted by Congress. In that connection, the union recommends that the Legislature memorialize Congress to that effect.

B. Abalones

The Fish and Game Commission has apparently shown very little interest in the conservation of the California abalones. In the opinion of this committee, the situation is such that within several years there will be a marked depletion of this important resource unless a sound and intelligent program is adopted by the State Legislature for the conservation of the abalone in the waters of this State. Attention is directed to Section 802 of the Fish and Game Code which reads as follows:

> "Abalones may not be taken for commercial purposes except under a revocable permit issued by the commission, and under such rules and regulations as the commission may prescribe. Diving apparatus may be used to take abalones in water not less than 20 feet in depth in those portions of Districts 18, 19, 20, and 20A as may be designated by the commission, and in District 10 only in water lying south of Point Lobos. It is unlawful to take abalones for commercial purposes, the shell of which, measured in the greatest diameter, is less than the following specifications: Red abalone, eight inches; green abalone, seven and one-quarter inches; pink abalone, six inches; black abalone, six inches."

The authority contained in this section is such that the Fish and Game Commission can establish pack limits and prescribe minimum sizes greater than those indicated in the above section. Since the California State Legislature has delegated this authority to the commission, it is the opinion and recommendation of this committee that the commission immediately undertake a survey on this subject in California and act accordingly.

C. Inland Fisheries (Salmon)

The committee presents the following excerpts from a report by the Northern California fishing industry on inland fisheries covering arguments and significant evidence against closure to commercial fishing of the Sacramento and San Joaquin Rivers, San Francisco Bay, and various tributaries to commercial fishing.

a. Economic Effects

Significance of Closing this Fishery to Commercial Fishing

Closing of these waters to commercial fishing would wipe out an important section of one of California's most important industries. California supplies one-third of all fish caught in the United States. The Sacramento and San Joaquin river fishery supplies between 35 and 50 percent of the California salmon catch, one of the most important catches in the California fishery. New legislation which would deny the use of any part of this vital resource to all of the people of the state must be regarded with alarm particularly since the benefits alleged for such legislation in the form of "conservation" are declared by impartial fishery scientists to be utterly without basis in fact. In this connection, it would be well to remember that the people of California, who normally vote "Yes" on legislation for constructive conservation, defeated this measure by a margin of nearly two to one.

Effect on the Economy

It would be an error to consider closure of these waters to commercial fishing as affecting only the areas in question. The operations of the fishing industry are highly interdependent. Closure of these waters would ostensibly affect the 80 miles of river and bay now open to commercial fishing. Actually, many other state-wide operations of the fishing industry are dependent on the catch within these waters for their margin of profit.

Just as important is the fact that closure of these waters under political pressure from sportsmen's groups would set a precedent for closure of other important water areas under similar circumstances. This would result in a type of "ballot box biology" management of California's fishery resources through political rather than scientific methods.

The Sacramento-San Joaquin River,
San Francisco Bay Area-Salmon Center

The greatest importance of this area is its leadership in the production of salmon. Salmon is one of the most important food fishes in the world and the area under discussion produces between 35 and 50 percent of the entire California salmon catch varying from year to year. This catch would be entirely eliminated by closure of the area to commercial fishing.

It has been argued that the river and bay fishing fleet could go outside the rivers and pay for their catch—into the open ocean. The fact that the river and bay fishing boats, their equipment, the methods used by river and bay fishermen, and the physical circumstances of the catch are entirely unsuited to ocean fishing. Closure of the area to commercial fishing would mean scrapping of the river and bay fishing fleet and the total elimination of its important salmon catch.

Not only would the fleet itself be scrapped, but so also would be the jobs of the fishermen, and the profits and sales of many industries dependent on the fishing industry. Among these are boat builders, net makers, gasoline and oil suppliers and others who directly or indirectly service the fishing fleet, together with the employees of the wholesale and retail fish dealers, the transportation concerns which haul the fish and the retailers who sell to the workers in the fishing industry.

Pittsburg—A Typical Sacramento River Fishing Town

All along the shores of the Sacramento and San Joaquin Rivers, within the area open to commercial fishing, are towns whose principal industry is fishing or whose economy is dependent in large part on fishing.

One of the more important of such towns is the thriving City of Pittsburg. While not a one-industry town, Pittsburg's prosperity depends to a very great extent on its highly important fishing industry. Pittsburg's fishing industry is one of the oldest on the Pacific Coast. The first commercial fishing done was to supply the gold miners in the days of the '49ers.

Many Pittsburg families have fished on the river for generations. They are steeped in the special skills and lores of fishermen. Their way of life is based on the industry.

Pittsburg is one of the river towns which would be seriously damaged by closure of these waters to commercial fishing. An investment of approximately five million dollars in the industry would be wiped out.

An annual income of approximately two millions dollars from the industry and allied industries would be eliminated. Many retail stores and business establishments in the City of Pittsburg would have to close their doors.

More than one hundred eighty fishing boats, which with their gear represent an investment of between five thousand and fifteen thousand dollars apiece, would be laid up in boat graveyards. More than five hundred Pittsburg residents, employed in the industry, would be thrown out of the occupations they learned from their fathers and from their father's fathers. The danger to the community during the campaigning against Proposition 6 was considered so grave that the mayor, the city council and the heads of every organization in the city made a special appeal to the voters of the State to vote "No" on the measure.

The story of Pittsburg would be the story of every other river and bay fishing community if these waters were closed to commercial fishing.

Effect of Closure on the Total Fishery in the Waters Affected

While salmon would be the principal catch affected, there are other important species which would be similarly affected.

1. Effect on landings in the San Francisco region:

By far the most important catch of the Sacramento-San Joaquin River, San Francisco Bay area is salmon. This catch would be entirely eliminated. In addition, the entire catch of San Francisco Bay shrimp, most of the anchovies, herring, smelt and whitebait and all carp landings would be eliminated, since these species are caught wholly or largely in the waters which would be affected.

2. Effect on landings in the Sacramento region:

Closure would have a drastic effect on landings in the Sacramento region, eliminating almost all landings, exclusive of sardines.

3. Combined effect for both Sacramento and San Francisco regions:

The following table will graphically show the effect of closure of these waters on the catch landings in both the San Francisco and Sacramento regions.

Effect of Proposed Law on Salmon Catch

As indicated, salmon is by far the most important catch in the San Francisco and Sacramento regions. The entire Central Valley salmon catch, amounting to 75 percent and 69 percent respectively, of the 1946 and 1947 salmon catch for these two regions, would be eliminated by closure of these water areas.

Even on the basis of the total state catch of salmon (including the substantial Eureka catch and a small Monterey catch) the effect would be substantial, amounting to 47.5 percent of the poundage and 38.8 percent of the value on the basis of the 1946 California catch. In other words, almost half the 1946 salmon catch would have been eliminated had closure been in effect at that time.

However, the effect of such closure would be even more far-reaching than the figures indicate, since the anticonservation aspects of closure would also probably cut down the future ocean catch of salmon attributable to the Sacramento and San Joaquin Rivers.

A very large portion of the ocean catch of salmon represents salmon originating and spawning in the two rivers. The closure of the rivers to commercial fishing may, paradoxically, result in an adverse effect on the size of the population in these rivers because of overcrowding of the spawning areas. This in turn would ultimately reduce the size of the ocean catch of salmon originating in these rivers.

The following will indicate the importance of these rivers in the California salmon supply:

"In 1946, the total commercial salmon catch in California exceeded all previous years of record amounting to 13,649 pounds. The Sacramento-San Joaquin River gillnet fishery landed 6,462,050 pounds and 7,187,623 pounds were landed from the ocean troll fishery. Results of analysis of the offshore tagging experiments demonstrate that approximately 92 percent of the troll catches south of Point Arena and 55 percent north of that point are chinook salmon attributable to Sacramento and San Joaquin Rivers. Applying these percentages to the total troll fishery landings, it is found that 4,928,534 pounds of chinook salmon of Sacramento-San Joaquin River origin were taken. The total catch attributable to these stream systems is then 11,390,584 pounds."

b. Protection of the Fishery

In February, 1948, marine fishery biologists of the three Pacific Coast States met in San Francisco, at the request of the Pacific Marine Fisheries Commission to consider the development of plans for management of the fisheries of the Pacific Coast.

As a result of these sessions, a joint report has been prepared by the biologists and submitted to the Pacific Marine Fisheries Commission in April of this year.

Basic Requirements of Conservation

In the introduction to their report, here is what the biologists have said:

"It should be understood that the problems regulating the harvest of any fishery must be based on certain fundamental knowledge. It is necessary, when a coordinated conservation program for widely separate areas is considered, to not only thoroughly understand the inter-relationships of the separate and contiguous fisheries but to obtain basic knowledge necessary throughout the range of the fishery to properly regulate the yield. Before any fishery can be properly managed to obtain constantly the maximum yearly harvest, a number of fundamental concepts must be evaluated:

1. The life history of the fish including the knowledge of the growth, age and maturity;
2. The habits of the fish, including the range of migration;
3. The effects of the existing fishery on the populations, which includes the loss due to fishing;
4. The losses due to natural causes throughout the life of the fish.

Conservation Must Be Based on Facts

"Woven into this pattern must be a knowledge of the young and effects of environmental conditions such as ocean currents, foods, and temperatures on the migrations and availability of the fish. Many times levels of abundance most suitable from a scientific standpoint are not in harmony with the economic levels of harvest. Then adjustments must be made to allow the most economic utilization of the resource by diverting the catch into channels yielding the greatest benefit. Thus it can be seen that for adequate control and fisheries conservation, considerable effort must be expended to base regulations on facts."

In other words, a sound program of conservation must be based on facts and not on the opinions of amateur biologists or other self-styled conservation experts.

Salmon Conservation

In regard to salmon conservation the following pertinent statements appear in the Tri-State report:

> "The inside fisheries have borne the brunt of conservation measures for the salmon runs. Some of the regulations on these fisheries and chiefly those concerning river fisheries have been formulated with very little consideration of the basic principles of fisheries management."

Overpopulation of Spawning Beds

> "A few experiments on some species of salmon indicate that there is an optimum number of spawners that each stream can accommodate. More than that number overpopulates the spawning beds and the resultant production of young fish is reduced. Less than this number results in an underutilization of the spawning areas, producing also a reduced number of young fish."

Recreational Fishing in the Bay and Rivers Is Already Protected

In proposing a recreational area for the bay and rivers, the promoters of Proposition No. 6 actually posed a false issue. By law, 1,120 miles of the rivers affected are already set aside for sport fishing only. Only 80 miles of river are now fished commercially and that fishing is under stringent regulation as to size of net, species which can be caught, closed seasons, and days of the week in which no commercial fishing can be done. For example, salmon and shad nets are allowed to operate only from Sunday night to Saturday morning and only in certain sections of the river areas so that sports fishing will be interfered with as little as possible.

Striped Bass Prohibited to Commercial Fishing

Striped bass, a popular sports fish, is already set aside for recreational purposes only. It is prohibited to commercial fishing. It should be noted that approximately one hundred thirty-five striped bass were transplanted into the Sacramento River from the Hudson River around 1879 at which time salmon nets were in operation. Today there are millions of pounds of striped bass on the river. It is hardly logical to say that netting has reduced the number of striped bass available to sportsmen. What is really remarkable is that in spite of a tremendous increase in angling licenses and striped bass anglers, the striped bass population is still increasing.

Sportsmen Resisted Bag Limit on Striped Bass

Moreover, it should be noted that when an amendment was introduced at the January 9th and 10th, 1948, meeting of the Fish and Game Commission to reduce the bag limit on striped bass, it was vigorously opposed by sportsmen's representatives, who state that there is no shortage of striped bass.

Fish Expert Discounts Connection Between Netting and Striped Bass

Dr. Richard Van Cleve, acting director of the University of Washington School of Fisheries, former chief of the Bureau of Marine Fisheries, California State Division of Fish and Game, writes:

"It is difficult for me to see the connection between the net fishery and food for striped bass unless the proponents of this theory are contemplating using young salmon and shad for the food. In either case, this looks like expensive food to me and very uneconomical, to say the least, even if it has been proved that salmon and shad form a major part of the striped bass diet."

Danger to Striped Bass Population From Removal of Netting

Dr. Van Cleve goes on to say:

"Has anyone considered carefully from the viewpoint of competition between populations, what might happen if the fishing pressure is lifted from the shad? Common sense would dictate that the possible consequences on salmon as well as striped bass of this factor alone should be considered before any action is taken. The prohibition of net fishing in the bay would turn the shad loose and whether this would be a benefit to the two principal sport species is still unknown. Certainly the striped bass would receive little more protection than they do right now. In fact, the sports fishing pressure might be increased. The shad would not be taken at all and would be free to increase. They have shown already that in other words, protection of the shad will probably provide no more feed for other species (since the food of those other species has not been found to include large numbers of shad), but it might even result harmfully to the bass."

Netting is an Efficient Way to Harvest Salmon

The scientific evidence points to the conclusion that actually netting in the bay and river is a major contributing factor to sound conservation and sensible use of the salmon supply. For example, Dr. Van Cleve writes:

"* * * Loss of the net fishery would probably mean a net loss in the annual harvest and also a net loss to conservation, principally through a reduced control of escapement. In my opinion the sports fishery is not capable of taking the optimum salmon harvest from the river at least by legal means."

Tremendous Increase in Sport Fishing Licenses

A factor ignored by the promoters of closure are the much greater numbers of Californians turning to sports fishing as recreation and the effect of this increase on the amounts of sport fish available to anglers.

The records of the Fish and Game Commission show the following increases:

1945	560,330
1946	776,750
1947	950,000

Even with this tremendous increase in anglers, the sport catch in the 1948 fishing season on the river, in the bay and in the ocean off the mouth of the bay was very good.

Fishing Industry Recognizes Joint Interest of Industry and Sportsmen

The dealers and the unions of employees within the industry have long recognized the joint interest of sportsmen and commercial fishermen in maintaining and increasing the supply of all varieties of fish. The very important problems of water pollution, fish ladders, etc., are the true conservation problems in the area affected by the proposed legislation. The dealers and the unions within the industry have a record of initiating conferences and action to meet these problems.

Fishermen's Union and Dealers Ahead in Conservation

For years the Fishermen's Union and the dealers have recognized that the pollution of the rivers and the dams on the river streams are extremely destructive to the salmon fishery.

In 1945, when the U. S. Corps of Engineers planned to construct the Table Mountain Dam the active campaign and expose of the ill-conceived plans of the engineers, which the dealers and the union conducted, brought about the shelving of the Table Mountain Dam project (see Table Mountain Dam report of the Salmon Conservation League of California).

Furthermore, the commercial fish dealers and the unions of employees in the industry have done more than any sportsmen's groups to encourage scientific management of the fisheries.

1. The commercial fishing industry has paid a 50 cents per ton tax since 1917 for fish research and patrol. The Twenty-fifth Biennial Report of the State Fish and Game Commission (1916-1918) notes: "This bill became law in 1917, and its passage by the Legislature was in large part due to the approval and support of the majority of the persons who were to be taxed."

2. The commercial fishing industry has thus paid more than five million dollars to help support the Fish and Game Commission which serves the interests of all fishermen, commercial and sportsmen.

3. In 1947 the fishing industry caused the State Assembly to add another tax of 50 cents per ton to help provide additional funds for fish research.

The fish dealers and the unions of employees of that industry have to be interested in conservation of fish. If the fish supply disappears or grows substantially smaller, they lose their investments and their jobs.

The fishing industry recognizes that the purpose of conservation is to increase the value of the fisheries for the general benefit of the entire population. The industry seeks to increase the fish population and consequent harvest of fish for all groups.

IV. BUREAU OF PATROL AND ENFORCEMENT

The Bureau of Patrol is one of the bureaus in the Division of Fish and Game to which little criticism has been directed in the past, and the committee is of the opinion that a splendid job is being performed by all concerned. The wardens in the field appear to be men of high integrity and apparently must have an unusually great liking for their work to continue their employment at their present low rate of pay.

The committee recommends that dwelling places be constructed on our refuges and game farms wherever possible in order to house as many of the wardens and other Fish and Game employees as is practicable. It is further recommended that a considerable amount of money should be allocated for this purpose from the Fish and Wildlife Preservation Fund. In the opinion of the committee the homes should be constructed in a uniform manner so that household furnishings can be readily moved from one location to another without difficulty when wardens and other employees are transferred from one part of the State to another.

Investigation leads the committee to conclude that additional jeeps should be furnished to the wardens who are on patrol in rugged and inaccessible terrain. This type of conveyance is virtually the only one which can be operated economically in very rough country in contrast to regular automobiles which in many instances are severely damaged leading to unusually high maintenance and repair costs. The committee further recommends that one or two additional airplanes be secured to augment the facilities available to the Bureau of Patrol in its work. The planes now in use have definitely proven their value many times over in dollars and cents.

V. BUREAU OF LICENSES

The committee's report on the activities of this bureau is brief as it is felt that a very fine and efficient job is also being done here. There are no indications that this bureau is in any way overstaffed, and in fact, they are to be commended on the manner in which the staff has been held to a minimum.

The committee has made certain recommendations with regard to the Bureau of Licenses in the form of legislation which is now in the process of being considered at this session of the Legislature.
