MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE
SACRAMENTO 14, May 5, 1949

To the Assembly of the State of California
Sacramento, California

GENTLEMEN: I am transmitting to you herewith a copy of a message with reference to

Assembly Bill No. 1967, entitled, "An act to amend Section 6359 of the Revenue and Taxation Code, relating to food products exempt from sales and use taxes."

This bill, with my message relative thereto, I (through my Legislative Secretary) delivered to Arthur A. Ohnimus, Chief Clerk of the Assembly, at 5.40 o'clock p m. on the fourth day of May, 1949, at which time your honorable body had adjourned for the day but not for the session.

Respectfully submitted,

EARL WARREN, Governor

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE
SACRAMENTO, May 4, 1949

To the Honorable Members of the Assembly
State of California, Sacramento California

GREETINGS: I am returning herewith, without my signature,

Assembly Bill No. 1967, entitled: "An act to amend Section 6359 of the Revenue and Taxation Code, relating to food products exempt from sales and use taxes."

My objections to this bill are as follows:

1. I am advised by the Attorney General that it is doubtful if the bill will result in the intended purpose. Representatives of the industry informed me that it is intended by this bill to make it clear that the cost of sausage casings which are removed in the process of preparation and not sold with the finished product, are not subject to sales and use taxes. According to the Attorney General it is doubtful if the bill will accomplish this purpose because it merely includes sausage casings in the definition of food products and does not change the existing wording regarding exemption of food products providing such exemption only for food products for human consumption. The casings involved are not intended for or used for human consumption, and therefore it is immaterial whether they are or are not defined as food products.

2. If this product used in the production of food products for human consumption, although not itself consumed as a food, is exempted from the sales and use taxes, certain other products of a similar character will seek the same exemption, resulting in a constantly whittling away process. There are several other bills to eliminate articles from the sales or use tax in this session of the Legislature, and the signing of this bill would undoubtedly give impetus to the others.

I am advised that many states of the Union are at this time engaged in broadening the base of their sales and use tax. I am of the opinion that in view of the present financial situation in this State the base of our sales and use tax should not be restricted.

Respectfully submitted,

EARL WARREN, Governor

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolution was offered:

By Mr. Sam L. Collins:

House Resolution No. 189

Requesting the Assembly Interim Committee on Governmental Efficiency and Economy to study and investigate the laws and regulations relating to the registration of engineers, and the administration thereof

WHEREAS, From time to time complaints have been received by Members of the Assembly relating to the administration of the laws governing registration of engineers; and

WHEREAS, Many complaints allege that arbitrary discrimination is practiced by the State Board of Registration for Engineers in various matters, and particularly, that graduates of our own state universities and certain colleges and universities are not afforded the same credit for their educational achievements and degrees of engineering as are afforded graduates of other institutions; and

WHEREAS, Further arbitrary exclusion of licensing many engineers whose scholastic standing is as high and whose degrees are at least equal and whose experience exceeds by many years the greatest conceivable requirement of those now in the profession, hampers and handicaps the building and development program of the State; and

WHEREAS, It is necessary that the Assembly be fully informed as to all facts relating to any phase of this subject, in order that it may determine what, if any, legislative action is needed; and

WHEREAS, The ascertainment of such facts and the investigation of such subject falls within the scope of the powers and duties conferred and imposed upon the Assembly Interim Committee on Governmental Efficiency and Economy; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, by the Assembly of the State of California, That the existing Assembly Interim Committee on Governmental Efficiency and Economy, or any committee created at this session with similar powers and duties, is hereby requested to study and investigate all laws and regulations relating to the registration of engineers, the administration thereof by the State Board of Registration for Civil Engineers, and all other matters relating to or in any way bearing upon the recitals of this resolution, and to report thereon to the Assembly, including in its report its recommendations for appropriate legislation.

By Messrs. Rosenthal, McMillan, Geddes, Dunn, and Sam L. Collins:

House Resolution No. 190

Extending felicitous greetings to the Republic of Mexico upon the occasion of its national holiday, Cinco de Mayo

Cinco de Mayo has been a date revered in Mexico since that day in 1862 when Ignacio Zarogoza and his men, greatly outnumbered, defeated the French in the Battle of Guadalupe, near Puebla, to set a valiant example for the people of Mexico through the hard struggle which was to follow, that the flaming love for freedom in the hearts of the people should never dim, nor courage falter, until the spirit that won the Battle of Guadalupe should emerge eternally triumphant in the establishment of national independence and freedom.

As the people of Mexico celebrate the national holiday of Cinco de Mayo, the people of the State of California join in spirit with our good friends and nearest neighbors in homage to the courage and love of freedom of those who fought the battles against foreign domination and whose vigilance and wisdom guarded and guided the infant nation so well that today Mexico shares with the rest of this hemisphere a common heritage of freedom and independence, and speaks with a firm voice in world councils for the maintenance of freedom and peace for all the peoples of the earth; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Members of this Assembly, on behalf of the people of the State of California, extend to the people of Mexico felicitous greetings upon the occasion of the celebration of their great national holiday, Cinco de Mayo, conveying to them expressions of warm friendship and good will; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly send a copy of this resolution to His Excellency Licenciado Don Miguel Alémán, the President of the Republic of Mexico.

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolution was offered:

By Mr. Thomas:

House Resolution No. 191

Relating to memorializing Congress to remove discriminatory freight rate increases

WHEREAS, The prosperity of California industries in particular and the West Coast in general depends to a large extent upon an equitable system of freight rates; and

WHEREAS, Discriminatory and inequitable freight rates have recently confronted the West Coast area on a broad scale; and

WHEREAS, The existence of such inequitable, discriminatory freight rates jeopardizes the economic welfare of all residents in these areas; and

WHEREAS, The manufacturing industries of the West have been seriously threatened by policies adopted by freight carriers and by regulatory bodies during the past three years; and

WHEREAS, These policies have manifested themselves in repeated increases in the level of freight rates, percentagewise, since June, 1946, with still further percentage increases pending before the Interstate Commerce Commission; and

WHEREAS, A flat percentage basis for increasing rates is inherently discriminatory against long-haul shippers; and

WHEREAS, California shippers are almost invariably long-haul, in view of California's dependence upon distant sources for many of its raw materials and semi-finished products; and

WHEREAS, Percentage increases in transportation costs seriously disturb the relationship between the competitive costs incurred by Western industries with similar costs to industries located within other parts of the Country closer to those sources; and

WHEREAS, Products of Western industries are subjected to severe market limitations as a direct consequence of this inequitable disruption of freight rate relationships, forcing many manufacturers within and without California to decentralize their operations or withdraw entirely from such markets; and

WHEREAS, These market limitations must and ought to be removed, at least to the extent of curtailing discriminatory freight rates, if the growing industries of California and the West are to achieve and retain the competitive efficiency necessary to the constructive employment of a constantly expanding population; and

WHEREAS, Percentage increases in long-haul rates eliminate or greatly reduce long-haul traffic, in turn forcing the railroad companies servicing the West to rely upon short-haul traffic, in which traffic railroads experience their severest competition with highway and private carriers; and

WHEREAS, To prevent further isolation of Western industries and to restore accessibility both to distant sources of raw material and distant consumer markets, additional percentage increases in freight rates should be denied; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Congress of the United States is hereby respectfully memorialized and urged to take whatever action it deems appropriate to remove existing discriminatory freight rates, and to prevent the flat percentage increase of freight rates presently contemplated by the Interstate Commerce Commission; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly be hereby directed to transmit copies of this resolution to the President and Vice President of the United States, to the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and to each Senator and Representative from California in the Congress of the United States.

Resolution read, and ordered referred to the Committee on Rules.

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by the Chaplain, Dr. Torrance Phelps:

God of the Skies: Let us celebrate May 6th as the memorable day when the first aeroplane made a successful flight and inaugurated a new era for civilization.

The historical day when Lindbergh made his non-stop flight to Paris and when Umberto Nobile flew over the North Pole in his airship "Italia."

Let us honor today the audacious aviators who were the vanguard of victory in the World War.

Let us behold again this vast army of youth, the flower of America coming from the farm and the city, who with incredible audacity ascended on wings to battle the fiercest foes in the clouds.

Let us behold them sailing through the pathless air, a thousand miles from the home base, with only a compass and a star to guide them, without a thought of self or fear of disaster.

In the name of all who have passed beyond the flaming horizon, may we build a world where youth shall no longer be cannon fodder, and where wings shall be the symbol and instrument of universal peace.—AMEN.

(The days referred to are May 6, 1898, May 21, 1927, and May 24, 1928.)

COMMUNICATIONS

By Speaker Sam L. Collins:

The following communication was received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, DEPARTMENT OF NATURAL RESOURCES
DIVISION OF FISH AND GAME
SAN FRANCISCO 11, CALIFORNIA, May 2, 1949

Hon. Sam L. Collins
Speaker of the Assembly
State Capitol, Sacramento, California

DEAR MR. SPEAKER: Pursuant to Assembly Resolution No. 31, which directed the Fish and Game Commission to ascertain the feasibility of increasing the numbers of spiny lobsters along our coast by means of a program of habitat improvement, the commission respectfully reports to the Assembly, as follows.

Observations of abalone divers indicate that if more shelter were available for young lobsters, the survival would be better, and an increased production of the lobster fishery would follow. According to these observations, lobsters live in holes and crevices among the rocks and venture out to feed at night. The largest individuals usurp the best shelter, and drive out the smaller ones which are thus vulnerable to predators. Some divers and fishermen believe that if artificial shelter in the form of tile pipes were provided, there would be a better chance for survival

The 1946 lobster catch had a value of $220,000, as paid to the fishermen Doubling this figure would be a worthwhile project Hence, assuming that such a plan were feasible, a study of costs was made. Cost of sufficient tile to shelter twice the present number of lobsters was estimated at approximately $43,000 plus $11,000 to transport and place the tile, or a total of $54,000

There is no real evidence to prove that such an undertaking would be successful, or for that matter that it would fail. It would take the young lobsters several years to reach legal size. We can not be sure that the tile would remain in place or that the lobsters would occupy them, nor do we know that predation is really serious.

It appears that an approach on a more modest scale would be logical. The commission has recently negotiated a service agreement with the University of California at Los Angeles under which the university is to conduct a lobster research program commencing this spring The study, to be carried on by instructors and graduate students, will cover such things as breeding habits, ecological conditions, rate of growth, and migrations, all of which will be of value to the fishery.

When the possibilities of the habitat improvement plan were brought to our attention, we made arrangements to enlarge the scope of the university program to include a study of the feasibility of placing tile. The original contract was for $1,000, to which has been added the sum of $1,150, both from the Fish and Game Preservation Fund. The lobster fishermen have assured us that if the project shows promise, they will provide a good part of the funds for a large-scale program

One phase of the study will be carried on at "Marineland of the Pacific," a large aquarium at Hermosa Beach which has made a tank available to us. Here, under simulated conditions, both lobsters and their predators, particularly sheepshead, may be observed.

More important, however, will be a study area in Santa Monica Bay itself Here, under our guidance, and using our boats at times, the university staff will place tiles and conduct a regular series of observations With diving suits, the men will make a first-hand study of how the lobsters react to the artificial shelters, and how the lobster-predator relationship actually functions. The lobster fishermen will also assist by making their boats and equipment available. During the summer of 1949 and winter of 1949-50, enough information should accrue to indicate the possibilities of embarking on a large-scale program.

The questions to be answered are:

1. Will the tile stay in place without breaking?
2. Will the lobsters occupy the tile?
3. Will other animals occupy the tile to the detriment of the lobsters?
4. How serious is predation and is there any other way to control it?
5. Will the benefits justify the cost?

The Interim Committee on Fish and Game is respectfully invited to follow the course of this program during the coming year. Inquiries may be addressed to Dr. F. N. Clark, California State Fisheries Laboratory, Terminal Island, under whose general supervision the work will be conducted; or to Professor Theodore H. Bullock, Department of Zoology, University of California at Los Angeles, and Mr. Robert Lindberg of the university who will be doing the actual field work. Members of the committee will be welcome to accompany the field party, or to examine the records.

Respectfully submitted,

CALIFORNIA FISH AND GAME COMMISSION
By E. L. MACAULAY, Executive Officer

Above communication ordered referred to the Committee on Fish and Game.

CHAPTER 5. STATE INEBRIATE HOSPITALS

7100. The Director of Mental Hygiene, with the approval of the Director of Finance, shall establish and maintain two hospitals for the treatment of incipient, acute, and chronic inebriate cases, which hospitals shall be known as state inebriate hospitals. Such hospitals shall be maintained at suitable locations in or near the metropolitan centers of the northern and southern parts of the State.

7101. The Department of Mental Hygiene shall establish such rules and regulations as are necessary to carry out the provisions of this chapter properly.

7102. The establishment and maintenance of state inebriate hospitals is for the purpose of diagnosis and intensive treatment of incipient, acute, and chronic inebriates, and for research and study of alcoholism.

There shall be conducted and maintained in conjunction with each such hospital an outpatient clinic. The charges for service in the outpatient clinic shall be determined in accordance with schedules for such charges which shall be set forth in the rules and regulations of the department.

7103. As used in this chapter, "chronic inebriate" means any person who is, and for a period of not less than one year has been, so far addicted to the use of alcoholic beverages as to come within one of the following descriptions:

(a) Who is unable or unwilling to continuously abstain from their use.

(b) Who is unable to transact ordinary business with safety to his estate.

(c) Who endangers himself or the person or property of others.

(d) Who so impoverishes himself as to require charitable aid for the support of himself or of others dependent upon him for support.

(e) Who is in danger of becoming or has become a degrading or detrimental influence upon his family or others.

7104. Whenever the state inebriate hospitals have been established pursuant to Section 7100, any superior court may commit to the Department of Mental Hygiene for placement therein a person found by the court to be a chronic inebriate as defined in Section 7103. The commitment shall be for a definite period not to exceed two years.

The proceedings for such commitment shall be in accordance with the provisions of this code relating to the commitment of mentally ill persons, except as otherwise provided in this chapter. Nothing in this chapter limits or affects the power of a county to provide care and treatment of inebriates in its own facilities, nor the power of the superior court to commit persons who are subject to dipsomania or inebriety to state hospitals for the mentally ill or to industrial farms or road camps maintained by a county as provided in Sections 5400 to 5408 inclusive.

7105. Before the court makes an order of commitment, the case shall be referred to the superintendent of the state inebriate hospital designated by the court. The court shall furnish its findings and conclusions, together with such information as may be known concerning the social, personal, and family history of the person, upon forms provided by the department. If the superintendent believes that the person is suitable for admission and that proper and adequate facilities exist for the treatment of the person, the superintendent shall so certify to the court. The court may thereupon commit the person to the Department of Mental Hygiene for placement in the designated state inebriate hospital.

7106. The superintendent of any state inebriate hospital may admit thereto persons who voluntarily request admission and who in his opinion are suitable for treatment of incipient, acute, or chronic inebriate conditions, or who are transferred from another institution under the jurisdiction of the Department of Mental Hygiene, and who in the opinion of the superintendent are suitable for treatment at the state inebriate hospital. Such treatment may be either on an inpatient or outpatient basis as determined by the superintendent.

7107. All admissions to the state inebriate hospital shall be for temporary observation, diagnosis, research, and treatment purposes as determined by the superintendent. In the cases of transfers from another institution the persons so transferred may be returned upon the completion of the study, diagnosis, or treatment to an institution of the type from which they came.

7108. With respect to any person committed or admitted under the provisions of this chapter, the superintendent may at any time after admission do any of the following:

(a) Grant a leave of absence upon such terms and conditions as he deems proper.

(b) Discharge such person.

(c) Transfer such person to another institution under the jurisdiction of the department.

7109. The charges for the care, treatment, or services rendered to all persons admitted or committed to a state inebriate hospital shall be based on the average cost per day as determined by the Director of Mental Hygiene. The liability for the charges so determined shall be governed by the provisions of this code relating to the property and support of mentally ill persons.

7110. The state inebriate hospitals shall be governed in the manner provided by law for the government of state hospitals except as provided in this chapter and except as to the qualifications of the superintendent. In addition to the qualifications required for superintendents of state hospitals under the jurisdiction of the department, the superintendent of a state inebriate hospital shall have demonstrated by past experience his qualifications in the field of psychiatry and neurology. A certificate issued by the American Board of Psychiatry and Neurology to the effect that the holder thereof possesses such qualifications is prima facie evidence that the holder meets the above-mentioned additional requirements. Such superintendent shall also be required by the State Personnel Board to demonstrate that he has had experience in hospital administration and in the organization and successful prosecution of meritorious research projects."

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by the Chaplain, Dr. Torrance Phelps:

O God and Father of Mankind: Under the shadow of Mother's Day we pray for the family, the beginning and the end of civilization, the object of all effort, the idol of art, poetry, and song.

For the family, the community and government exist, men and women love and labor, and religion was born to teach the sacredness of human life.

Let us see that the prosperity and the perpetuity of the State depend upon the family; the nursery of the law abiding citizen; while the broken homes create the lawless who plague society.

We pray that in our homes the children may learn the qualities of loyalty, justice, and consideration for others which hold American society together

So shall the family safeguard the interests of the rising generation of young people and guarantee the survival of the Republic.—AMEN.

(COPY)

ASSEMBLY, CALIFORNIA LEGISLATURE
COMMITTEE ON REVENUE AND TAXATION, April 28, 1949

Mr. T. H. Mugford, Deputy Director
Department of Employment, 1025 P Street
Sacramento, California

DEAR MR. MUGFORD: Last night during the hearing on Assembly Bill No. 2299 before the Senate Social Welfare Commitee, you stated that you had issued an order to the effect that employees working on a farm engaged in breeding and raising of race horses did not come under the Unemployment Insurance Act, it being agricultural labor.

Assembly Bill No. 2299 was continued for one week in order that I might communicate with my constitutents who are interested in the measure.

If you will please furnish me with a letter within the week verifying your statement to the committee, I will be able to table the bill.

With kindest personal regards, I remain,
Sincerely yours,

JONATHAN J. HOLLIBAUGH

STATE OF CALIFORNIA
DEPARTMENT OF EMPLOYMENT
SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, May 2, 1949

*Hon. Jonathan J. Holliba*ugh
State Assembly, State Capitol
Sacramento, California

RE: BREEDING AND RAISING LIVESTOCK—ASSEMBLY BILL NO. 2299

DEAR MR. HOLLIBAUGH: This is in response to your letter of April 28th in which you ask for a confirmation of my recent statement before the Senate Committee on Social Welfare that the breeding and raising of livestock is considered by the department to be agricultural labor and accordingly excluded from the Unemployment Insurance Act.

Following is the pertinent portion of Section 43 of Title 22, California Administrative Code, which is the commission's regulation on agricultural labor:

"Extent of Agricultural Labor Exemption. Agricultural labor exempted from 'employment' by Section 7(a) of the act includes all services performed

"(a) On a farm, in the employ of any person, in connection with cultivating the soil, or in connection with raising or harvesting of any agricultural or horticultural commodity; the raising, feeding, and management of livestock, poultry and bees; which includes among others, the spraying, pruning, fumigating, fertilizing, irrigating and heating which may be necessary and incident thereto. (Amended effective June 1, 1945) * * *

"(e) As used herein, the term 'farm' includes, among others, stock, dairy, poultry, fruit and truck farms; plantations, ranches, ranges, nurseries, orchards and vineyards."

There had been some confusion, we are sorry to say, in respect to raising and breeding race horses. This confusion has been remedied and the following subparagraph (2) of paragraph 6010.06 of the Manual of Tax Liability is the official ruling of the department on this subject:

"Breeding and Raising of Race Horses. Services in connection with the breeding, raising and training of race horses for racing or exhibition purposes performed on a farm in the employ of any person are considered exempt as agricultural labor. In Tax Decision 109 the Appeals Board ruled that employees engaged in training thoroughbred horses for racing and show purposes on a farm were performing services in connection with the raising, feeding and management of livestock as defined in Regulation 43. The fact that the livestock with respect to which the services were performed eventually were used for racing or show purposes does not render such activities commercial rather than agricultural in nature.

"The services of stablemen, trainers, jockeys and other miscellaneous services in connection with this activity if performed on a farm would be in exempt employment. However, if such services are performed off the farm in and around race tracks they would be in subject employment. If a worker performs both exempt and nonexempt services, then a segregation of time spent by such must be maintained as required by Section 7.1 of the act and Regulation 42. (For segregation requirements see paragraph 6005.02)."

There is no intention on the part of the department to modify any of its rulings so as to hold breeding and raising of race horses or any other livestock to be subject to the act. Moreover I am confident that under the present law no court would uphold any ruling by the department that the raising and breeding of any livestock is subject to the act.

Very truly yours,

T. H. MUGFORD, Deputy Director

The following prayer was offered by the Chaplain, Dr. Torrance Phelps:

Infinite Sympathy: We pray this morning for those who are anxious for the welfare of their loved ones.

For those who want to be of help to some one whom they dearly love within their family or social circle, who is passing through a great crisis.

If it be in harmony with Thy Divine will, may they be near together in the moment of need, and help to furnish the strength the hour of extremity calls for.

Let us believe that now in Spirit we can be near those who depend upon us for endurance, and by way of the Throne of Grace we may be present with the absent

How little we know of the secret anxieties or trials of those with whom we mingel, and who are passing through hours critical for their happiness or success.

May we all be caught up into the glory of a great trust that earth hath no trial that Heaven cannot lighten.—AMEN.

This prayer was offered for a member of the family of one of our Assemblymen.

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by the Chaplain, Dr. Torrance Phelps:

God of the Future: Today may we catch a vision of the ever expanding West from the distant day when the Pioneer sailed out into the unknown sunset, and when Juda stood on the Pacific amazed at the vista stretching before him

Westward the course of Empire has marched, and the tide of history moved onward from the shores of the Atlantic to the prairies and the Rockies and to the Golden Gate.

We look to the East, to the driving of the golden spike which united the shining rails that spanned the Continent, and now we look to the blue Pacific, which unfolds greater wealth than Marco Polo ever dreamed

Now beyond us in days more golden than '49, rises a New Age, a future of expanding commerce, with sea lanes and airways swarming with argosies that can bind East and West in undreamed progress and unity of spirit.

In this climax of history, we pray that every step of material development and expansion may be balanced by an equal growth of righteousness and altruism, lest the scramble for gold hold back the dawn of the Golden Age.—AMEN.

COMMUNICATIONS

By Speaker Sam L. Collins:

The following communication was received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

(COPY)
DISTRICT COURT OF APPEAL, STATE OF CALIFORNIA
SECOND APPELLATE DISTRICT
LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA, May 5, 1949

Hon. Sam Collins, Speaker of the Assembly
California Legislature, Sacramento, California

DEAR MR. SPEAKER: We have pending before this court an appeal of a mother from an order transferring the custody of her son from the juvenile hall to the boy's father who resides in Utah The mother has filed a brief in propria persona and the Attorney General questions whether it is the duty of his office to represent the State or the court or whoever is the appellee in this appeal

This arises from the fact that there is a hiatus in the law. The statutes setting forth the proceedings to declare a child a ward of the court are contained in Section 775 et seq of the Welfare and Institutions Code.

The final section of Article 8 is 786 which guarantees the right of appeal. Nothing else is said concerning that appeal. There should be a new section added to that article numbered 787 or thereabouts making it obligatory upon either the Attorney General or the district attorney or the county counsel to represent the interests of the judge or of the court or of the State, whichever may be the fact.

A similar situation has occurred two or three times before and the question has never been decided by anyone. I presume the Legislature is the institution to prescribe counsel for the State in such appeals

Sincerely,

(Signed) MINOR MOORE

Such schedule shall show the entire charge to the public for each type of title policy regularly issued by the insurer, either by a statement of the particular charge for each type of policy in given amounts of coverage or by a statement of the charge per unit of the amount of coverage, or a combination of the two, and shall include the charge made by any underwritten title company for the title search, title examination, certificate or abstract of title upon the basis of which such title policy is issued. Such schedule may include a statement that additional charges are made when unusual conditions of title are encountered or when special or unusual risks are insured against and that additional charges are made for special services rendered in connection with the issuance of a title policy. Such schedule may provide different fees or charges for title policies covering property in different counties or separate schedules may be adopted for title policies covering property in different counties.

12402. Each person engaged in the business of handling escrows of real property transactions in connection with which title policies are issued by a title insurer, which person, if an artificial person, directly or indirectly, is controlled by, or controls, or is under common control with, a title insurer, or controls or is controlled by or is under common control with an underwritten title company, or, if a natural person, is employed by or controlled by a title insurer, or by an underwritten title company, is herein, for the purposes of this article, called a "controlled escrow company." Each person engaged in the business of preparing title searches, title examinations, certificates or abstracts of title upon the basis of which a title insurer regularly writes title policies is herein called, for the purposes of this article, "an underwritten title company."

12403. The schedules provided for in Section 12401 shall be printed in type not smaller than 10 point, shall be dated to show the dates they became effective, and so long as they are effective shall be kept at all times readily available to the public and prominently displayed in a public place in each of the offices of the title insurer, the controlled escrow company and the underwritten title company in the particular county to which they relate. On request, copies of such schedules shall be furnished to the public All or any part of any schedule may be changed or amended at any time or from time to time. Each change or amendment shall be printed and dated to show the effective date of such change or amendment No change or amendment shall become effective until at least five days after it has been displayed in the offices above mentioned in this section in the same manner as above provided for the display of schedules, and no change or amendment, increasing fees or charges, shall apply to title policies ordered prior to the effective date of such change or amendment. Each title insurer, controlled escrow company and underwritten title company shall keep a complete file of its schedules and of all changes and amendments thereto until at least five years after they shall have ceased to be in effect, and such file shall be available for inspection by the commissioner at any appropriate time

No title insurer, no controlled escrow company and no underwritten title company shall quote any fee or make any charge for a title policy to any person which is less than that currently available to others for the same type of title policy in a like amount covering property in the same county and involving the same factors as set forth in its then currently effective schedule of fees and charges. The amount by which any fee or charge is less than that called for by the then currently effective schedule of fees and charges of the title insurer is an unlawful rebate; provided that nothing contained in this article shall prohibit bulk rates or special rates for customers of prescribed classes if such bulk or special rates are provided for in such schedule.

12406 No title insurer shall issue any title policy in any transaction in connection with which it or any person which is a controlled escrow company or underwritten title company by reason of its relationship with such title insurer has paid or contemplates paying any commission in violation of Section 12404 or in connection with which it or any such controlled escrow company or underwritten title company has made or contemplates making any unlawful rebate in violation of Section 12405.

12407. The commissioner, if he has reason to believe that any controlled escrow company or any underwritten title company has violated or is violating any of the provisions of this article, has the power and it is his duty to forthwith examine its books, records and accounts and in making any such examination he has all the powers set forth in Article 4, Chapter 1 of Part 2 of Division 1 of this code and any company so examined shall pay to the commissioner the cost of such examination on demand. Any moneys collected by the commissioner pursuant to this section shall be deposited by him in accordance with Section 736 of this code Whenever the commissioner examines a title insurer, he shall make such examination of its books, records, and files as may be necessary in his judgment to determine whether or not it has violated or is violating any of the provisions of this article.

Every title insurer and every controlled escrow company and every underwritten title company which pays any commission or which makes any unlawful rebate in violation of this article shall be liable to the people of California for five times the amount of any such commission or unlawful rebate, the amount thereof to be recovered by the commissioner pursuant to Section 12976 of this code in addition to any other penalty imposed by law.

12410. In enforcing any of the provisions of this article, the commissioner shall be entitled to the remedies provided for in Section 12928.6 of this code.

12411. The commissioner may cancel the certificate of authority of any title insurer which, after 10 days' written notice from the commissioner requiring it so to do, fails to print, display and make available to the public its schedule of fees and charges in the manner provided in this article. The commissioner may likewise cancel the certificate of authority of any title insurer which, after 10 days' written notice from the commissioner requiring it to cease and desist, continues to pay any commission or to make any rebate in willful violation of the provisions of this article, or to issue any title policy in willful violation of Section 12406

12412. Nothing in this article prohibits the division of fees or charges between two or more title insurers or between one or more title insurers and one or more underwritten title companies; provided that a title insurer shall specify on any title policy issued by it, in a single amount, the entire charge made to obtain such title policy including the charge made by any underwritten title company for the title search, title examination, certificate or abstract of title upon the basis of which such title policy is issued. Such specification of charge on a title policy shall be deemed to be a compliance with the provisions of Section 381 (f) of this code notwithstanding that only a portion thereof is income to the title insurer.

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by the Chaplain, Dr. Torrance Phelps:

Infinite Wisdom: We pray this morning for all the people of this great State with its many diverse groups and differing points of view;

With their many sectional desires and calls for action, and with the expectation of the immediate fulfillment of their dreams

May the general public have the wisdom to see that it is impossible for every one to get everything that he wants in a finite world.

Intelligence to see that local proposals often conflict with public welfare or with the wisdom of the centuries.

We earnestly pray that our intelligent citizens may constantly beware of the isms and panaceas which would dissipate our resources or threaten our stability.—AMEN

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT THAT COMMUNICATION AND ANALYSIS BE PRINTED IN JOURNAL

LEGISLATIVE BUDGET COMMITTEE, CALIFORNIA LEGISLATURE
STATE CAPITOL, SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, May 11, 1949

Hon. Thomas J. Doyle
Assemblyman, Forty-fifth District
State Capitol, Sacramento, California

Re: Assembly Bill No. 533

MY DEAR ASSEMBLYMAN: We have finally completed your request of March 18, 1949, asking for an estimate of what the yield would be per year under the provisions of Assembly Bill No. 533.

We delayed making a reply to you until we could analyze the Second Progress Report of the Special Crime Study Commission on Organized Crime appointed by the Governor, for we were informed that one section of this report would be devoted to the commission's investigation of the bookmaking racket in California. We were disappointed for this report deals only generally with the subject of bookmaking and indicates that there is a large number of bookmakers and a large volume of betting without presentation of any reliable statistics. In fact, the information they give is general knowledge to any person conversant with public affairs in California

The report presents the inadequacy of the present method of prevention and prosecution of bookmakers, but again fails to indicate the size of a complete job of prosecution or the cost thereof. In short, the report does not furnish any reliable source of data on which to base estimates of possible revenues or administrative costs or the cost of law enforcement.

Failing to secure any help from the Second Progress Report of the Special Crime Study Commission on Organized Crime, we have had to go back to our own estimates Please note that the figures given in our analysis are our best estimates. We have used as a basis for such estimates all information found in the Preliminary Report of the Commission on Organized Crime and information which we have gathered over the past several years We believe it to be reasonably accurate for the purpose of estimating a tax yield.

We call your attention to the fact that the tax yield would also depend upon the efficiency of the enforcement of the law and the elimination of evasion and illegal bookmaking. We suggest, therefore, that in the prosecution of illegal bookmakers a civil penalty be applied which is at least double the tax take on the licensed and legal bookmakers as proposed under your bill

We trust that this information is sufficient at this time.

Sincerely yours,

ROLLAND A VANDEGRIFT, Legislative Auditor

ANALYSIS OF ASSEMBLY BILL NO. 533

Prepared by the Legislative Auditor

Assembly Bill No 533 provides for the licensing of bookmakers and the imposition of a tax on the wagers handled by each bookmaker.

We estimate that the revenue to the State from the licensing of bookmakers will be $714,000 for a full year, and that tax which would accrue to the State if there were complete compliance with the law would be $321,931,250, a total revenue of $322,645,250.

Licenses and Taxes

Assembly Bill No. 533 provides that one license for a bookmaker may be issued for each 15,000 of population or fraction thereof in each county or city and county, or; regardless of population at least two licenses to each county in the State, and; regardless of population at least one license to each city. The above ratio would permit 714 licensees in the State.

A license fee of $1,000 per year is imposed on each licensee. The State would receive $714,000 a year in license fees.

A 5 percent tax of the amounts wagered with each licensee is imposed. We estimate the total revenue from this tax would be $321,931,250.

A bond of $10,000 is required of each licensee.

One license for conduct of a clearing house of horse race information is provided for each 2,000,000 of population in the State. A bond of $10,000 is required of clearing house licensees to guarantee that bets or wagers placed with the clearing house will be accepted only from other licensees.

Cost of Administration

The bill provides that 2 percent of the gross amount collected, or so much thereof as may be necessary, is appropriated to pay the administrative expenses of the act. Two percent of the $388,964,000 is $7,779,280

Administration of the act should not cost any more than the $2,268,000 budgeted for the Liquor Control Division of the Board of Equalization, and probably much less. The function of the Liquor Control Division is roughly comparable to the duties required in administering the "Off Track Wagering License Act" in that it combines a policing and tax collecting function. However, under this act there will be some 719 licensees whereas the Liquor Control Division supervises some 5,800 "On Sale" hard liquor licenses, as well as other types of licenses.

Policing of the provisions of the act would require the cooperation of local police departments and county officials. These local organizations are currently making an attempt to enforce the complete prohibition of bookmaking. Their effectiveness may be judged from the fact that only 125 arrests for bookmaking were made in California in 1947, while there appears to be well over one thousand bookmakers in the State. No increase over the cost of enforcing present laws related to bookmaking by local enforcement officers can be anticipated.

The "Second Progress Report of the Special Crime Study Commission on Organized Crime" deals generally with the subject of bookmaking, indicating a large number of bookmakers, and volume of betting. It also presents the inadequacy of the present methods of preventing and prosecuting bookmakers. The report does not furnish any reliable source of data on which to base estimates of revenues or administrative costs.

Basis for Estimates

We have estimated that there would be 714 "off-track wagering establishments" requiring licenses. This is the maximum number of licenses which could be issued under the formula in the bill At $1,000 per license, fees would total $714,000.

There would be five clearing house licenses issued, at the specified rate of one for each 2,000,000 of population. No license fee is charged for these licenses.

We have estimated the total amount bet through bookmakers at 25 times the amount bet through pari-mutuel machines at California tracks This estimate has been made by persons familiar with the bookmaking business in California Bookmaking is not confined to taking wagers on racing at California tracks, but encompasses all racing in the United States all through the year. The pari-mutuel handle in California is an index of betting activity and is considered to be more reliable than estimates of the amount which individual bookmakers will handle

Pari-mutuel handle at major California tracks is estimated at $257,545,000 for 1949-50. Twenty-five times this amount is $6,438,625,000. The tax on this amount at 5 percent is $321,931,250.

Divine Spirit: May we free our minds today of needless anxieties and realize it is useless to worry.

Today is the day we worried about yesterday and what we feared has not happened.

Let us not worry about our loved ones who are absent, but believe they have sense enough to care for themselves, and remember that we are the ones they are probably anxious about.

Let us not worry about health or what people say or think about us. If we are to get sick, let us recall there is a Doctor for everything.

If any one hates us, Heaven help us to be sorry for their ill disposition.

Let us trust and believe happy days are coming.—AMEN.

The governing board of a school district may require that applicants for admission to kindergarten on the first day of a term and presenting themselves for admission on that day, shall be admitted according to chronological age, the oldest first and the youngest last, and for that purpose may provide for the registration of applicants according to chronological age on and before the first day of the term and prior to the admission of applicants to kindergarten.

This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, and safety within the meaning of Section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution and shall therefore go into immediate effect, to become operative July 1, 1949. A statement of the facts constituting such necessity is as follows:

The existing law requiring that children be admitted to the kindergarten in the order of registration, works an undue hardship on parents, pupils, and the school district in that long waiting lines of parents and children must form very early on the first day of enrollment, since, because of lack of space to accommodate kindergarten pupils, only those who are first registered can be admitted. Re: Opinion 49/68

DEAR SIR: Pursuant to your written request, we have prepared and enclose herewith our opinion 49/68, relative to the following question:

"* * * whether it is necessary for legislation as contained in A.B. 3104 or whether it would be better to rely upon the Constitution, and does the Constitution provide for such beneficial uses as contained in AB. 3104. Will you please also give me your opinion if it would be better for the Legislature to write into the code a bill of similar nature, possibly including industry and hydroelectric power?"

We trust you will find the opinion sufficient for your requirements.

Very truly yours,

FRED N. HOWSER, Attorney General
By E. G. BENARD, Assistant Attorney General

OPINION OF THE ATTORNEY GENERAL

OFFICE OF THE ATTORNEY GENERAL
SACRAMENTO 14, CALIFORNIA
FRED N. HOWSER
ATTORNEY GENERAL

OPINION OF FRED N. HOWSER, Attorney General; RALPH W. SCOTT, Deputy Attorney General } No. 49/68, May 10, 1949

The Member of the Assembly from the Thirty-fifth District, has submitted the following question:

"* * * whether it is necessary for legislation as contained in Assembly Bill No. 3104 or whether it would be better to rely upon the Constitution, and does the Constitution provide for such beneficial uses as contained in Assembly Bill No. 3104. Will you please also give me your opinion if it would be better for the Legislature to write into the code a bill of similar nature, possibly including industry and hydro-electric power?"

The conclusion reached is as follows:

The Constitution provides that state waters shall be put to beneficial use but it does not specify the various uses which are beneficial. The Legislature has declared in Section 106 of the Water Code that domestic use is the highest beneficial use and irrigation the next highest use to which water may be put. Courts have held that the use of public waters for recreation and for fishing are beneficial uses. It would appear to be meet and proper for the Legislature to classify additional beneficial uses of water in the order of the highest and lowest benefits to be derived therefrom.

Analysis

Assembly Bill No. 3104 proposes to amend Section 106 of the Water Code to read as follows:

"106. It is hereby declared to be the established policy of this State that the use of water for domestic purposes is the highest use of water and that the next highest use is for irrigation.

The section shall not be construed to mean that other uses of water, such as uses for fish, wild life and recreational purposes, are not beneficial uses of water." (Italics added.)

The amendment adds the last paragraph (italicized above) relating to the use of water for fish, wild life and recreational purposes.

Section 106 is simply a declaration of state policy with respect to the use of water, domestic purposes being classified as the highest beneficial use, and irrigation the next in order. This section and others of the Water Code were enacted pursuant to an amendment to the Constitution adopted November 6, 1928 (Article XIV, Sections 1, 2, and 3 thereof). Section 3 of that article declares in effect that the general welfare of the State requires that its waters be put to beneficial use to the fullest possible extent, that the waste or unreasonable use or unreasonable method of use of water should be prevented and that the conservation of such water is to be exercised with a view to reasonable and beneficial use. The same section permits the Legislature to enact laws in furtherance of such policy.

Section 107 of the Water Code modifies Section 106 to the extent that the policy so declared in Section 106 is not exclusive, and that other and further declarations of policy in that code are to be accorded full force and effect. Section 1242 of the same code declares that the underground storage of water is a beneficial use, and it may be inferred from Section 1241.5 (no longer effective) that the use of water for mining is beneficial also.

Courts have held that the use of water for fish, wildlife or recreational purposes is a beneficial use. (Cf. City of Elsinore vs. Temescal Water Co., 36 Cal. App. 2d 116, City of Los Angeles vs. Aitken, 10 Cal. App. 2d 460; State, etc. vs. Red River Valley Co., 51 N. Mex. 207, 182 Pac. 2d 421.) Moreover, that the use of water for maintenance of fish life is beneficial may be inferred from Section 525 of the Fish and Game Code which requires the release of water behind dams sufficient in amount to maintain fish life which exists below. That section is based on Section 637 of the Penal Code, originally enacted in 1872. Other sections of the Fish and Game Code also give rise to the inference that the use of water for wildlife is a beneficial use. Thus, under Section 29 of that code the Fish and Game Commission is directed, among other things, to propagate birds, mammals, fish, mollusks and crustaceans. Manifestly, it would be impossible to propagate such animals without water.

To clear the atmosphere of all doubt on the subject it may be fitting and proper for the Legislature to specify additional uses of water which are beneficial and which would not constitute a waste or unreasonable use. In its present form Assembly Bill No. 3104 takes a negative view of the situation with respect to water for fish, wildlife and recreational purposes. Thus, it declares that Section 106 shall not be construed to mean that such uses are not beneficial uses of water. A more direct approach would obtain if the Legislature in amending Section 106 affirmatively declared that the use of water for fish, wildlife and recreational purposes is a beneficial use. In like manner the Legislature may make a similar declaration with respect to the use of water for industry and for the generation of electricity.

REPORT OF THE ASSEMBLY INTERIM COMMITTEE ON FIRE HAZARDS AND PREVENTION

Letter of Transmittal

May 15, 1949

To the Speaker and Members of the Assembly

GENTLEMEN: On behalf of this committee, recreated by House Resolution No. 260 of the 1947 Session, we have the pleasure of submitting our further report.

Respectfully submitted,

(Signed) WILLIAM H. ROSENTHAL, Chairman
R. FRED PRICE, Vice Chairman
BERT LOOMIS, Member

Introduction

This committee was created as a result of numerous apartment and hotel fires throughout the country. It was believed that this would be a good time to make a study of the existing laws concerning fire protection and prevention as they pertained to hotels and apartment houses in the State of California.

Before the committee was created a comprehensive bill, pertaining to fire prevention and protection, Assembly Bill No. 753, was introduced by the chairman of this committee, at the request of the Department of Immigration and Housing, and several very thorough hearings were held in committee and the bill was passed by both houses and sent to the Governor and signed by him, but said bill was made effective only insofar as new and future housing was concerned. The reason for this was the opposition on the part of the existing hotel and apartment owners, who pointed out that any major remodelling and installation of fire prevention equipment would practically bankrupt the owners of the above mentioned properties. None the less the bill is a step in the right direction for any future building in the State of California and, if complied with, will be a definite step toward preventing any serious fires in the State.

It was believed that an interim committee should be created to make a further study of this problem and report back to the Legislature by May 15, 1949. This committee was created and presents this report.

Due to the inability of all the members of this committee to meet together during the course of its study and investigation, there were only two meetings held, one in San Francisco and one in San Diego.

The committee met in San Francisco on November 25, 26, 27 and 28, 1948 and the following persons were present:

HON. WILLIAM H. ROSENTHAL, Chairman
HON. THOMAS MALONEY, San Francisco
HON. FRED PRICE, Ontario
HON. BERNARD BRADY, San Francisco
FRED WOOD, Legislative Counsel
C. H. MCCASLIN, California State Apartment Association
C. H. POTTS, Building Inspector, San Francisco
RAYMOND P. BARRY, State Division of Housing, San Francisco
ED. P. WALSH, Chief of San Francisco Fire Department
FRANK P. KELLY, Fire Department, San Francisco
JOSEPH D. SULLIVAN, Hotel Employers Association

J. C. DE GOLIA, Chairman, California State Hotel Association
WILLARD DAVIS, Hotel Sacramento, Sacramento
CHARLIE H. SALYERS, Chief, Division of Housing

As indicated there were representatives from the State Division of Housing, the San Francisco Fire Department, the Hotel Employers Association and the State Hotel Association.

The Fire Chief of San Francisco stated that the city ordinances of the City of San Francisco, concerning fire prevention equipment were more stringent than the state laws and that there had been satisfactory compliance by the hotel and apartment owners in San Francisco * * * that in those instances where additional fire prevention equipment was necessary, that fact was brought to the attention of the operator or owners of the buildings in question, and invariably some program was worked out that would provide the necessary protection. Chief Walsh indicated the need for more outside fire escapes on existing structures to assist in removing persons from burning buildings. He stated that outside fire escapes precluded the necessity of enclosing stairways in old buildings. He went on to say that in all new structures where they had no outside fire escapes there were enclosed inside stairways and a sufficient number of elevators, in addition to which there was a sprinkler system installed on every floor at the time the building was erected. The chief went on to say that automatic sprinklers are very desirable and an excellent instrument of fighting fires Chief Walsh complained of the removal of fire escapes from old buildings and opposed such removal unless additional fire fighting equipment here above mentioned was installed.

Mr. J. C. De Golia, Chairman of the California State Hotel Association then spoke on behalf of the hotel and apartment house owners and opposed making the existing law retroactive for the reason that to do so would be confiscatory and cause many hotel and apartment house operators to be thrown into bankruptcy. Mr. De Golia was then asked whether he knew of any owners who either refused or failed to comply with a request made by the fire department or the City and County or San Francisco, to install fire prevention equipment as an alternative to equipment required either by state law or by city ordinance and he replied that he knows of no instance where any hotel owner or operator failed to cooperate.

Chief Walsh asked whether he knew of any instances where a hotel owner or operator had refused to install fire equipment and he replied that there was none to his knowledge.

Mr. De Golia and Mr. Willard Davis stated that they had installed in the hotels that they owned or operated, the Reichel safety system or automatic alarm, which was an additional fire prevention utility which was not required by either state law or city ordinance, and had found this system to be very effectual and satisfactory. This system provides for a thermostatic signal which connects with each and every room of the hotel and in case of fire reports such fact upon a master control, so that immediate fire prevention equipment can be directed to the specific room at which a fire was started. One of the essential requirements of fighting fires is the ability to first determine where the fire is located or was started and then the ability to bring fire fighting equipment to that immediate point. The installation of this equipment is expensive but has certainly been effective in fighting fires in hotels and apartment houses

Mr. C. H. McCaslin spoke in behalf of the Apartment House Association of Alameda County and stated that the membership of his organization are unanimously opposed to making the existing law retroactive for the reason that they are unable to obtain the necessary material and equipment and that to compel them to do so would cause many of them to suffer serious financial loss. He further stated that the record of loss of life and injuries resulting from fire in apartment houses is practically nil. Mr. McCaslin added that Fire Marshal Carlson in Oakland posted signs in all the hotel rooms in Oakland, warning the occupants against smoking in bed, stating that it is against the law to do so and that many persons are injured each year as a result of fires caused by smoking in bed, and he believed that this was a deterrent to the careless person who smokes in bed.

All of the above mentioned persons present participated in the open discussion at the close of the meeting and it appeared to be the consensus of opinion that we should rely on more voluntary cooperation between the hotel owners and operators and the fire chiefs rather than demand additional legislation on this subject.

The second meeting was held at San Diego on December 10, 11, and 12, 1948.

SAN DIEGO, CALIFORNIA, SATURDAY, DECEMBER 11, 1948, 10 a.m.

BE IT REMEMBERED, That pursuant to notice duly served on representatives of the San Diego Fire Department, as well as the hotel and apartment owners of San Diego, and on the eleventh day of December, 1948, at 10 o'clock a.m. in the El Cortez Hotel, in the City of San Diego, County of San Diego, State of California, a meeting was held by the Assembly Interim Committee on Fire Hazards and Prevention of the California State Assembly, the persons hereinabove mentioned being present in their respective capacities as indicated, and proceedings were had as hereinafter set forth.

HON. WILLIAM H. ROSENTHAL, of the State Legislature, presided as chairman of the meeting, and HON. R. FRED PRICE, of the State Legislature, acted as Secretary.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: It is with great pleasure that I welcome you all here to this committee meeting, and I feel very much gratified at the splendid turn-out. It is my belief that there is a problem, at least in San Diego, if nowhere else. We did have a nice meeting in San Francisco

a few weeks ago and there was quite a turn-out there, too. I realize that the people are interested in preventing fires and fire hazards. To make a brief explanation of the nature or the purpose of meeting, at the last session of the Legislature I introduced a bill which is entitled "Assembly Bill No. 753," which was a revamping and revision of the Health and Safety Code dealing with a few fire hazards. It was introduced on behalf of the state department and was quite comprehensive and if passed as presented probably would have limited the situation with regard to fire hazards for all time. It was a very strong legislation, and also had in it a retroactive clause, a retroactive feature, which meant that everything in it with regard to fire walls, fire escapes, fire sprinklers and things like that would have to be put in almost every large building of every sort, existing as well as future. Suffice to say that the retroactive feature was taken out when there was a presentation made on behalf of various hotel owners and apartment house owners indicating at that time that it was impossible to do, first because of lack of materials, of the high cost of lumber, and secondly, because they felt that it wasn't the necessary thing to do. The bill was passed, and dealt only with future construction, which I think is also a very good thing because we can be sure if it is followed through, which, of course, it must be, and is properly enforced by the fire marshals throughout the State, that in the future we can be sure that none of us will sleep with fear caused by defects in buildings and defects in fire equipment. But we came here with the express purpose in mind of finding out what you people in this area want or have in mind with regard to any further legislation or whether the legislation we have now on the books is sufficient. I have included, I think, everyone almost in my notices for this meeting. Just to see how many persons are here or who have sent representatives, I shall call them off:

George Courser, Tom Mott, the managers of U. S. Grant and San Diego Hotels, Apartment House Association, Mr. John Cotton, Carleton Lichty, Mr. H. B. Klingensmith, of the El Cortez Hotel here, Maurice Cory, Mr. Luce, of the San Diego Trust & Savings Building.

JUDGE LUCE: Yes, I am in the San Diego Trust & Savings Building, but I don't represent them at this meeting.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: I understand you are a former Senator, Mr. Luce.

JUDGE LUCE: Quite a long time ago, from this district.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: Mr. Knox, the mayor, is not represented. The councilmen were likewise invited. Are there any councilmen here, or representatives? Fire Chiefs of Oceanside, La Mesa, Coronado, Chula Vista and National City were invited. I am nonetheless satisfied with the turn-out.

To my right is Fred Price, the other member of my committee. He is an Assemblyman from Ontario, California, in the County of Los Angeles.

MR. PRICE: No, I am not from Los Angeles County. I am from San Bernardino County.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: The way I conducted the meeting in San Francisco was—we will call upon every person here who wants to say something, that is, everyone who wants to, and tell me what you want to say with regard to either this bill or any new proposed legislation or any problem you may have within the confines of San Diego County or the cities surrounding it. I would like to have you come forward, whoever wishes to speak.

JUDGE LUCE: I think perhaps I should lead off by giving you not only our problem but the course of legislation here with the common council as I had charge of it for a couple of years.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: You go right ahead.

JUDGE LUCE: My name is Edgar A. Luce, and I am attorney for the Hotel Men's Association and had charge of the legislation that went before the Common Council of San Diego, starting about a year and a half or two years ago. I would like to give you first a little idea of the problem that San Diego has, which is a little different from the others. The City of San Diego doubled in population from 1940 up to the present time, most of it during the war. During the war period we added about 200,000 people to our population, and during that period, of course, it was impossible to have any new construction. As a result there was a very distinct housing problem. Rooming houses and hotels, small and large, were crowded beyond their capacities. So that there was a problem in regard to some of the poorer construction, of getting rid of those buildings or getting new construction or replacements, which just could not be done. Likewise, there could not be any material obtained. There was a labor shortage to make any of the ordinary improvements. That is the picture in San Diego. Now, about a year and a half ago the city building inspector prepared what he called a new building code to govern not only the new construction in San Diego, but it also had provisions for protection against fire hazards to become effective immediately upon the present construction. The first thing that we knew about it was this very amendment to the present building code that was prepared and presented. We asked for a hearing, and we had a hearing on it. I confess that at that time we did not know too much about some of the proposed safety measures, such as enclosing stair wells We did not have much information on it, and we could not obtain very much. The principal points in the amendment were that first, they required the fire escapes which, of course, wasn't anything very new. They had some different provisions in it, and it also contained a provision that in all buildings over three stories in height stair wells would have to be enclosed with automatic doors, and it provided for the closing of the air shafts. That of course was a very objectionable feature, and in hotels like this here one, and particularly the U. S. Grant, which is a solid concrete building and has been in existence for a long time, the cost of enclosing these stair wells would have been tremendous, as it would apply to all the buildings in San Diego and it would run up into hundreds of thousands of dollars, and perhaps more than that. We knew at that time that it would be impossible to obtain the material to do that, even if it were advisable, and to get the labor. So we were permitted a hearing and we did present our side of the matter, as I say with not as much knowledge as we had since as to what to do and how to meet that. The building inspector had insisted that the enclosing of the stair wells was a protective feature that was generally accepted or considered as necessary by fire fighting authorities. So we made our presentation and did our best to have some relief from that, particularly from that feature. We weren't so concerned about the fire escapes, although they did increase our costs tremendously, too, in some of the hotels, to install additional fire escapes, but we felt that perhaps that was the thing that would have to come, would be coming, and we would not object too seriously to it if we would know of it But we did object very seriously to the enclosing of the stair wells. So the best we could do at that time was that the city authorities did agree to what we called a flooring or alternative clause which they agreed to put into the ordinance, which permitted the owners or the lessees of those buildings within six months of the adoption of those amendments to present what was called an alternate plan which would produce safety but without having to enclose, to follow the ordinance literally, and if the city inspector approved those plans, they would state a compliance, when felt, with the ordinance. We thought that was a very distinct help to us, because every assurance was given us by the building inspector to try. We could observe that we could accomplish that safety by not enclosing every floor. For instance, it might be that one floor, every other floor, every third, or something of that kind. We were looking for relief from that tremendous expense. So that went through all right. During the six months following that some buildings did present plans, but the great majority of them did not, and the reason that we did not go further with that was that we understood that the Legislature was making an investigation of this problem and that they had this interim committee, and we weren't so sure that if we went ahead and spent all of that money and did all of that that the Legislature might consider that that wasn't satisfactory protection and might have some other alternate, like sprinklers, and if we did build these stair walls and the Legislature required a sprinkling system, we would have all that additional expense instead of perhaps having the sprinkling system in the first instance, and since the Legislature—we didn't know whether they would be in accord with this measure or not, we did not feel that we should go ahead; and, likewise, we found that practically every city in the State was having the same problem and that in their ordinances they weren't requiring the enclosing of the stair wells. I think, I am not too sure of this, that our ordinance is—it was indicated at that time—went further than anyone in the State. While we were still considering that the building inspector suddenly introduced a new building ordinance, the city, a complete new building ordinance, rather re-enacted this ordinance. It didn't make any particular change in so far as the enclosed stair wells were concerned. By that time we had read what we could find on the subject and we came to the conclusion that fire protection authorities weren't altogether agreed upon the advisability of the enclosed stair wells, that that seemed to be still a question of some debate, which made it all the more important for us to go a little easier and not spend fifty or sixty thousand dollars in a hotel for this protection unless it would work. We never could agree with them that the enclosed stair wells with automatic doors was a good protection under the conditions. For instance, we have the problem of earthquakes in Southern California, maybe not so much in Northern California, but we do in Southern California, and in the event of a severe earthquake and people trying to get out of the hotels, it might result in a panic. These automatic doors might not open very easily; and then, again, even in the case of a fire, I confess to not being an expert, but I still don't see how in case of fire you are going to get people out down the stairways if those automatic doors are going to be closed, and if they are going to be opened to people coming down the stairways how are you going to close them against fire? And in the case of earthquakes, with those enclosed stair wells with automatic doors at every floor, do you consider that they are going to be in the interest of safety? To go back to this ordinance, the first notice we had of it was an item in the newspaper. I immediately wrote to the city government and requested a hearing on it, and I was told that we would have it, but I awoke the next morning to find that the common council had passed it without any debate or hearing at the time, so I protested it again, and the mayor assured us they would hear it in spite of the fact it had been passed, and reconsider it. So he did. We got hold of what pamphlets we could and got information prepared by Mr. Justice, who did the work for us, and we went around to the common council again, which was in March, I think, or thereabouts, somewhere along in there, and our main argument to them, I believe, was that of course in the first place while it might be a question of agreement with the ordinance as previously adopted, we told them we had learned a lot more about it and the problem was far more serious than even we at first thought, and we very strongly called to their attention the fact that this interim committee at that time was meeting in various places in the State, was obtaining information on this and we should wait until this interim committee had reported and we knew what the state legislation would be before they required us to go to that heavy expense; it might all be useless by the time the Legislature got through, we might be required to do other things and so pile up this tremendous expense on us. So they were quite sympathetic with us, and they then referred the matter to a committee composed of the city manager and the department heads and ourselves, and we threshed it out quite a bit. We had some differences of opinion. In spite of all we could do they kept reporting matters usually different from our understanding, but finally—we had the utmost cooperation, I will say, from the city counsel and city manager, and finally it was all agreed and they amended it by providing that in so far as the stair wells were concerned that the effective date would be May, 1949, which would give us time to see what the State did, and that we would have six months from May, 1949, in which to accomplish those changes. Our idea was, of course, that it gave us time to find out what the State was going to do. If in May, 1949, the state legislation was completed and it was either contrary or different from our own here, we could still get some further relief on the argument that it should all be uniform and not divided up. Now, in one of those hearings, Mr. Courser is here and can speak for himself, one of the things brought to the attention of the common council was that the fire chief and the building inspector weren't in accord as to the value of the enclosed stair wells. There was a disagreement between them on it, which gave us a little argument, too, as the fire chief expressed what had been in our minds right along, the idea that the enclosed stair wells had not been too well established in the minds of fire prevention people or fire fighting people, that at least it was not at the point where you could say that that was a "must," and I think the fire department felt it might interfere with getting their lines up into the buildings or fighting the fires, and he was not very strong for it. Of course, we all knew that putting in fire sprinkling systems in the hallways and all-ways would probably be better than the stairway when our ordinance gave us the alternative of automatic sprinklers. Of course, when you come to that you have tremendous expense in a big hotel of putting in these sprinkler systems, and when we have so-called fireproof buildings, like the U. S. Grant Hotel, San Diego Hotel and the Pickwick Hotel, and the Maryland to maybe a lesser extent, there is no necessity for compelling us to put in fire escapes or sprinkler systems, and those things, in those fireproof buildings. The expense is tremendous, running up, in the big hotels, the two of them together running up to a hundred thousand dollars perhaps, and you cover that all over the State and it would be tremendous. The apartment houses have the same trouble, of course. There was something like a hundred apartment houses in San Diego that would be affected, more or less, and it is a tremendous expense on them. In many instances it would take away their entire profits and absolutely ruin them, especially the lessee. That brings up, of course, another problem, the retroactive feature of making the already constructed buildings go to this heavy expense. Most of them were under lease, and I think in most leases nothing of this kind was contemplated. They were either silent or uncertain as to whether the lessee or owner would have to make these changes required by the municipal ordinance. To the lessee it was ruinous. You could imagine a lessee in a large building having to pay the, we will say, fifteen to twenty, twenty-five or maybe thirty thousand dollars for this fire escape system, and then have to turn around and pay another fifteen, twenty or thirty thousand dollars for enclosing the stair wells. That would simply ruin him. He could not exist under that. Let me add to this that the fire department in San Diego has been unusually helpful and courteous. We understand their problem, too. What they are trying to do is to make the buildings safe, and we, naturally, are just as anxious as they are to prevent fire which would either create panic or destroy life in any of our buildings. We would suffer not only from the fact that our guests were injured, but from a money standpoint, and we are just as anxious as they are; and I think they have also seen our problem and have been considerate of it, and we are working along pretty well together. And I will say, also, as far as the building inspector is concerned, my experience with him is that he has been fair and understanding and he has done a good job as far as our relations with him are concerned. I think that he has been especially fair in affording us an opportunity to solve our distressing problems, and we still have this saving clause in the ordinance. But even with that, it seems to me that our ordinance might have gone further than they have in their ordinance of the city in so far as present constructed buildings are concerned, and we are anxious to see, somehow, this State, the cities and the State, have a uniform legislation of some kind, at least where there can be an agreement so we can really know what we have to do, and whatever the restrictions are, that they should be such that they can be accepted by everybody as being effective in fire prevention so that we don't have to repeat it for another two or three years with some other new ideas. There are all sorts of different ideas, too, now coming into effect in the way of fighting fires in hotels, so we want to make sure that we have the last word on it and also that all the authorities will consider the problem of the owner and the lessee.

A thing like that is impossible, coming upon him all of a sudden. The city authorities thought it helped us a lot in this savings clause, by giving us this six months. Well, six months is nothing in this city, either in getting supplies or labor or getting materials or money. They have to raise the money somehow; all of those things, suddenly expect us to do it, where we have gone on, as we have, for 30 or 40 years, maybe, some of those buildings, to suddenly have to put in all that investment is a severe jolt. And, of course, at the end of the war, business naturally has not kept up; it is falling off. The hotels are not as prosperous as they were, and they have to consider the question of expense. The first thing they popped out with was that human life was involved and money could not be given consideration. If you follow that out to the limit you will destroy about half of the buildings in San Diego and start all over again and make them all of solid concrete and all absolutely fireproof, which is physically impossible. We do have to consider the cost as well as the human life angle, and try to reach a happy medium somehow where we can protect human life and yet not impose a terrific strain on the people who have to pay for it; and it seems to me if it is going to apply to the already constructed buildings, it should be spread along at times so it can be done. Now, the building inspector tells us that is exactly what he is going to do, and what he has started in to do.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: You mean the local city building inspector?

MR. LUCE: Yes. What he is going to do is start with the worst ones. He has already issued complaints, and there are already prosecutions pending. He has taken up the worst ones. That is, on fire escapes alone. The enclosed stair wells haven't become effective, but he has begun to prosecute them and he has picked up the worst buildings possible in town. He did this, of course, knowing it is something that has to be done, but it raised this problem; he has no legal authority to pick out John Jones down here and prosecute him and not prosecute Smith over here. And they are already hollering about it. I think he is using good judgment about it, and I think he will proceed as he feels the necessity requires, and he probably will reach our clients last; but we don't want to be in the position of violating the law, but we just haven't got around to it. I will say that most of the buildings and hotels have been complying with the requirement for fire escapes.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: That is what I am interested in, Mr. Luce, if I may interrupt you.

MR. LUCE: Surely. I think I am through.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: What have they done? Adding it up we get 18 months or 6 months or a year delay. Have any of them thought of the necessity of doing anything on their own?

MR. LUCE: Let me put it this way: Our agreement, and I should have said it before, with the city authorities—When we asked them for this delay they said that they would not object too much to a delay on some features of it if we would make a start today to do something to better the situation, so we agreed that we would proceed with the fire escapes, and that is satisfactory, if we would go ahead with the fire escapes they would leave or delay the enforcement of the ordinance with respect to the enclosed stair wells until May, so that is what they have done. The U. S. Grant Hotel has just completed a very expensive outlay for fire escapes, and I have noticed, as I have been around, that some of the office buildings, and, generally speaking, they have been going ahead with the fire escapes, getting those on the buildings, and I think perhaps as rapidly as that can be done, and that is being done without any question, as far as the fire escapes are concerned.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: Fine. What I am interested in is that we have talked much about volunteer controls as opposed to government regulation, and I am sometimes afraid we are using the term as a delayed action, but if those people who are in control of these buildings would use voluntary controls there would be no need for legislation.

MR. LUCE: I want to repeat that all of the authorities, including the fire department, the building department, and all of those, have gone along very well with us in trying to do the best they can, considering their duties, in respect to having proper fire protection.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: Thank you, very much, Mr. Luce, and after we have given everyone a chance to talk we will have comments in which we can go into it more thoroughly.

Would anyone else like to speak next, or shall I take it according to my list here?

John Cotton

MR. JOHN COTTON: I am John Cotton, representing the California State Apartments Conference. I will make only brief remarks today. The position of the California State Apartments Conference is simply that they are opposed strenuously to any retroactive features on existing buildings. Their reasons are that at the moment it will add to the restrictions imposed by law on gross incomes. We have, as you know, federal rent control, and we have in some parts of the State of California local controls on rents, and we have indications from legislative bodies throughout the State and municipalities that may favor future controls on rents, so that we have continually the prospect of control on income and on one government level, and we don't believe it is right or proper to have a retroactive building legislation on another government level, water on both shoulders, at the same time. The matter of retroactive building legislation on existing apartment houses brings us face to face immediately with many things which might be required to be done retroactively which do not increase income or rental value in any way from the tenants' standpoint. You go to the tenant and say, "Would you rather have us spend $4,500 in doing certain things to the building here that would make it a little better from a fire protection standpoint, or would you rather have us spend $4,500 in putting in new toilets, sinks and new bathtubs to modernize the building?", and you will find every time that the tenant wants the modernizations. They are willing to take more chances on the building. They generally feel that they complied with the law at the time it was built, and if not completely obsolete that their fire hazard is such that they would not sacrifice their comfort for fire safety, or for additional fire safety, and I think that is something we should keep in mind. The apartment owners throughout the State feel, also, that the retroactive features of the building law sets a precedent which is apt to drive out future investment capital in rental housing. If a man is considering the building of a rental property here today and he knows that whatever he builds today, complying with existing laws, may very likely not comply with the laws five years from now and he might be required to go through the building and make many changes, he is going to think twice before building rental housing.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: Do I understand that you are opposed to legislation now on the statute books regarding the new construction?

MR. COTTON: No, I am not. Our opposition is only to retroactivity.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: Thank you very much, Mr. Cotton.

MR. MOTT: I wonder if we could hear something from Chief Courser or Captain Roppe regarding the other side of the question in San Diego.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: Very well.

George E. Courser

MR. COURSER: My name is George E. Courser, and I am Chief of the San Diego Fire Department. First, I want to say, as I said to the council and these gentlemen, I have worked for the citizens of San Diego and represent these gentlemen as well as the majority of the citizens. My job, of course, is looking after fire protection and the lives and property of citizens of San Diego. I have all the respect in the world for Judge Luce, and I know he can see his side in representing these men, and I can, too. However, I do know that there are certain things that have to be done in this city to make it possible for people to live in their apartment houses and hotels with safety. I just came back from a trip to the Fire Chiefs Conference in Miami. I was interested, through the South particularly, in the notices on the billboards advertising hotels, that they very emphatically brought forth in their advertising that their hotels are now equipped with fire escapes and sprinkler systems. I haven't forgotten the Winecoff Hotel fire in Atlanta, Georgia, and I think they are very mindful of that time. People will go to motels and tourist camps and won't stop at hotels and apartment houses unless they have sprinkling systems and fire escapes. It is practically prevalent throughout the South. The city council saw fit to send me to Chicago to spend a week making a survey of their department, and while I was there they had several serious fires. In one three-story apartment fire they lost five people. No fire escapes and no sprinkler system. Several people lost their lives in a building very similar to some of the old-style apartment houses here in San Diego. This particular building was built during the World's Fair. In 1897, a stone brick building, looked very fine from the front. There are many buildings of the same type in Chicago today and should fire break out in any of them it is probable that they will have a similar experience with respect to loss of life. Now, in Chicago I made an investigation also of the LaSalle fire. I looked at that building, and you would not think it was possible for anyone to lose their lives. It is a fireproof building, but they had a tremendous loss of life there. They did have fire escapes, but no sprinkler system. I talked to the leaders of the fire department there, and they all agreed that if they had had a sprinkler system in their hallways and in their stairways they would never have had the loss of life that they did. People were literally cooked in the stairways and hallways and the rooms, and the fire progressed from one floor to the other. The details of the fire, of course, you would not be interested in, it is a long story, but it illustrated if the laws—and I believe today probably the hotels will make a great change in Chicago because people are very hesitant about going into that type of hotel where there was such a loss of life. They are hesitant about going in a hotel unless they feel protected. As I say, throughout the South they are having quite a battle between the hotels and the motels on that one thing, the safety feature. I am not so strong for the partitioning off of stairways and hallways. I am very much in favor of the sprinkler system. They cost quite a bit for the initial installation, but over a period of years I think they pay for themselves in giving people a sense of security, and I think that any hotel that has a sprinkler system, plus fire escapes, can very readily advertise that their hotel is a safe hotel to put up in, and I think it is a smart thing to do, and I hate to see anyone try to block it in any way, shape or form, because we have to insist upon safety for the patrons of hotels and apartment houses. If we don't, we are going to have the same thing happen here sometime as happened in the other cities. You can't get away from it. The cycle runs. Every city has a loss sometime or another. We are quite fortunate here. In my position, I must insist we do something to make it possible for the people who come to San Diego and those who live here in our hotels and apartment houses, to be able to come in here and come out alive, and I will be glad to answer any question anyone will care to ask.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: Are you familiar with the city ordinance passed recently here?

CHIEF COURSER: Fairly well. I am not as well acquainted with it as Fire Marshal Roppe, that is, I don't feel that I am as well posted, generally, as he is. I know the ordinance, of course, but I have other duties to perform, and I leave that to him.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: Have you made a survey of the hotels and apartment houses which were lacking in proper fire protection?

CHIEF COURSER: Yes, we have for years had these hotels and apartment houses under observation that haven't fire escapes on, but we weren't able to get them to put them on because the law was not retroactive. However, those particular hotels now have fire escapes.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: Since your investigation?

CHIEF COURSER: Since this law went into effect, and we were very much pleased with their cooperation. I was invited to appear before the Hotel and Apartment House Owners Association at a luncheon, and I was treated much better than I expected to be, with all courtesy, and the cooperation that I received from those gentlemen was really—I appreciated it very much. They agreed that they wanted to do everything possible to make it safe for the patrons. Of course, they have their side. Eveything is going to cost money, but I think that the sprinkler system and the fire escapes and the stand pipes—

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: What is that?

CHIEF COURSER: That is to lift water to different floors, pumping it from the floors. All the hotels except one have that equipment.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: Would you say that since the enactment of the city ordinance there has been a trend towards improving the structures?

CHIEF COURSER: There has been in the matter of fire protection insofar as the fire escapes are concerned. I can write that off. That has been practically taken care of CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: Your next step is to deal with the sprinkler system?

CHIEF COURSER: Stand pipes and sprinkler systems. Of course, they have their change of date within which to install them. I don't think, when it comes down to dollars and cents, over a period of time it is going to cost them too much, and better results will result from the sprinkler system than the partitioning off of the stair wells. Now, if they are interested in going further than this and install a sprinkler system in all of the rooms of the building, it is possible to get a reduction in insurance rates, I have been told by the rate bureau, of about 50 percent. Of course, labor is high now and material is high and that has been an excuse, that they could not get material But they can get the material now. Everything is high now, it costs more, but it is something you can't put to one side and balance it against human life, because there is nothing that leaves a city with a bowed head more than to lose a lot of people in a fire.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: Do you have any record of the number of lives lost and persons injured over a period of time, or an average?

CHIEF COURSER: We know we lost two lives this year in a two-story hotel fire here.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: Do you have any other record of lost lives?

CHIEF COURSER. I haven't a record, but probably Fire Marshal Roppe could tell you. Our loss of life has not been great in San Diego. We have a good fire alarm system I would say I think we have a good department, they are pretty well trained, and we are able to keep up with these fires if we are informed promptly. We have every third night a fire in a hotel or an apartment.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: Every third night?

CHIEF COURSER: Just about every third night. Fires in rooms do not generally give us as much trouble if we are informed. It is those fires that start in basements and hallways and that can sweep up through the building Fires in rooms in a hotel are probably not any different than fires in anyone's house, but where they start in the hallways or basements and spread out up through the hallways, those are dangerous.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: You speak of fires in rooms. Is that type of fire usually started by smokers?

CHIEF COURSER: Yes, most of them.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: I started a bill a few years ago, to that effect, and they almost laughed me out of the room.

CHIEF COURSER: They do make arrests—

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: Do you have a city ordinance against smoking in bed?

CHIEF COURSER: Yes, it is a state law, and we arrest probably two or three a week.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: How do you know they are in bed and how do you know they are smoking?

CHIEF COURSER: That is something hard to find out. I don't tell you all our secrets, but we have been very fortunate and I don't think we have lost a case in court.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: That is very interesting.

CHIEF COURSER: We don't arrest a man for setting fire to his home in that manner, but a place that is occupied by other people—in other words, if you rent a room in somebody's home and they are getting rent for it and your tenant starts a fire, he is jeopardizing your life, and he is arrested. If he is jeopardizing his own life or that of his family, that is a different thing.

MR. PRICE: I was wondering what your reaction was to this theory of stair wells, or enclosed stair wells.

CHIEF COURSER: I have never been against it—I don't deny there is some merit to it, but I think it is a detriment in a way. In other words, say you got three or four stairways with doors opening upon them, and people going down, and they close the fourth floor. You have a fire sweeping up and it is going to mash on the fourth floor unless someone opens the door. Of course, if you keep the doors closed you close off the people, and if you open them the fire sweeps through. But if you have a sprinkler system there is not much chance of the fire going very far.

MR. PRICE: There is a considerable difference of opinion on the proposition of—

CHIEF COURSER: I imagine there is, possibly, but the record will show. I don't believe there has been the loss of life with the sprinkler system in a building.

MR. PRICE: Who are the proponents of that, generally, in the case of stair wells?

CHIEF COURSER: I don't know whether that is in the National Code, or not. I don't know where.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: The National Underwriters proposed it and sponsored it.

CHIEF COURSER: They probably did, in lieu of the sprinkler system, but I think you will find out that they state that the sprinkler system will be more effective.

MR. PRICE: How do the installations compare in cost?

CHIEF COURSER: I don't know, but I think over a period of years the sprinkler system will cost less, although the partitioning off of stairways may cost less in the initial construction. When the sprinkler system is put in it is practically in there for life. The Del Coronado Hotel has a 100 percent sprinkler system for years and years, and every nook and cranny is equipped with sprinklers, and it is all entirely frame construction, and I doubt very much if the building would be there today if it did not have the sprinkler system.

MR. PRICE: It is your opinion that the sprinklers should also have enclosed stairways and fire escapes?

CHIEF COURSER: No. I don't see the stair well enclosures, but I do see the sprinklers. I think this is going too far, possibly, in my opinion. I have been in this game for 35 years and, of course, my experience has been only in this city, but we have been watching things in other cities, and I have a lot of respect for the sprinkler system.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: The new law provides that it is not necessary to have as much fire escape—

CHIEF COURSER: I am not acquainted with the state law, but the city ordinance is that—the fire escape is important, however, in any apartment house or any building.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: Now we will call Chief Roppe. Would you like to come up and present your views on the subject?

Sydney O. Roppe

MR. ROPPE: My name is Sydney O. Roppe. I am Fire Marshal, City of San Diego Fire Department. We are very much pleased with one provision of Assembly Bill No. 753, and that is Section 17830, which makes it a misdemeanor for any person, whether he be the owner or manager, bellhop or occupies a room in the hotel, who has knowledge of a fire or any smouldering combustion which might become a fire, and fails to report it promptly to the fire department. Chief Courser has mentioned that one of the big faults and one of the causes of the spread of fires in many of the hotels throughout the country is the failure to notify the fire department promptly of a fire. We have already made several arrests locally under that provision, and we have had a noticeable decrease in the seriousness of hotel fires. All right, so that when the city ordinance was being amended and when the new building code was being adopted, we had occasion to go back through our records for a five-year period, and we found that the average over that five-year period were 28 percent of all our structural fires were in hotels and apartment houses, and we have had locally during that five-year period from 700 to 930 structure fires a year, which is almost two hotel fires every day. Ordinarily, those have been confined to single rooms for the most part. We have had some where delayed alarms and other factors have caused a fire to spread, and that was our big problem, but it was recognized by the hotel people themselves. We know, of course, that there are still fires occurring in hotel rooms that are not reported to the fire department, and that thought gives us the greatest concern, because we are very much afraid that some person in a room or a night clerk or someone else in the hotel will attempt to extinguish a fire and fail to do so and will then notify the fire department only when the fire has become very serious. With the help of Section 17830 we are cutting that down quite a bit. Now, on Assembly Bill No. 753, that is very good for new buildings, but we have never lost a life on a building that has not been constructed. Our problem has been with our present buildings, and I might, from our side, state that the report that Judge Luce has given was very complete, and there is a complete agreement between the city officials and the hotel and apartment house owners as to the need for protecting life. There has never been a statement made in San Diego that life was not important. How to do it is the question. We are still trying to reach an agreement, and I think we have thus far been very successful in that. There are approximately 524 hotels and apartment houses in San Diego, according to the Health Department records, and I believe that Judge Luce indicated that approximately two hundred fifty, I may be wrong in this figure, but approximately two hundred fifty of those are involved in our present city ordinance. Up to the present time the fire department and the building department have made approximately one hundred fifty contacts, and at the present moment there are 112 hotels and apartment houses working on the changes required by our city ordinance, and in some cases they have already been completed. We have a number of hotels and apartment houses which have gone right through our ordinance and begun everything they have been able to do, and have completed the work, have not waited, in some cases before May 1st. As to the number of fatalities since that has come up, the chief mentioned he thinks that we lost two lives in a two-story hotel and, to the best of my recollection at the moment, that is about the only loss of life we have had over quite a number of years. As in homes and any other places, the usual or the majority of our hotel fires are started by people smoking in bed. We prosecute instantly under the Health and Safety Code, that is Section 13001 which makes it a misdemeanor for any person to place or throw a glowing or lighted object where it can or may start a fire.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: What is that number?

CHIEF ROPPE: 13001 That has been in there for some time

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: It has not been enforced—

CHIEF ROPPE: It has not throughout most of the State. In fact, we are quite amused sometimes. We have been using that particular section since 1941, and there are many departments throughout the State who are not even aware of the existence of that section. We haven't lost a case. We have asked for a dismissal of cases by the court when we felt that it would not be possible to get a conviction. We have ways and means of making sure we are right before we go into court on those cases, and the local municipal courts are 100 percent behind us in our efforts to stop hotel fires The managements of the hotels are behind us. We have had one or two cases where night clerks have thought they were acting in the best interests of the hotel by failing to report a fire. We have had some instances where they have put the fire out, so they thought, and the fire would break out again a few hours later. But we have had very few hotel fires, which brings us back to the point of whether it is because of prompt action on the part of the management in notifying us of the fire and prompt action on the part of the fire department in getting there and extinguishing it. We may have been relying a little bit on our luck, but we can't continue to do it. The experiences of the Chicago, Dubuque, and Winekopf fire in Atlanta, indicates that sooner or later unless we do take positive steps to prevent these fires from occurring and to be sure that the patrons do have a way out in safety, we are going to be faced by the same kind of a disaster.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: Thank you, very much, Mr. Roppe. I think you have given us a very good picture of the condition right here. Has anyone else anything to say?

Mr. DeGolia.

E. D. DeGolia

MR. DEGOLIA: My name is E. D. DeGolia. I am President of the Hotel Sir Francis Drake, of San Francisco, California, and represent the California State Hotel Association.

Mr. Chairman, what I have to say will be very brief. To take it in retrospect for the moment, when your bill Number 753 was introduced we did not get the point of it early enough to appreciate what was coming up. When we did we were very much alarmed. We proceeded then to study it first, and then went up to the Legislature, to your committee, and filed our protest and with it our reasons for, which briefly, are, that it was almost impossible for the hotels to comply with anything like the severe provisions of that bill, or particularly with reference to the retrospective or retroactive features of it. You gentlemen were very nice. You saw the force of our arguments on that part of it, and took out the retroactive features of the bill, and we were quite satisfied, and we feel as if it was a good job, it was done well, and the bill as it now stands is working very well. Now, I would like to go into a little bit of the financial and economical questions involved, also. Speaking generally of the hotel business in the country, and I am perhaps speaking largely for the larger ones, the larger hotels, the larger hotels or enterprises, as a whole, has not been a particularly attractive one financially. The history of the hotel business is very erratic When times are good, they make money; when times are poor, they go into bankruptcy, and I think, if you will examine the records and see all of the large hotels of the United States where they have been built on a good sized scale, 95 percent of them have gone into the hands of the receivers, the bond holders have taken them over, they have been run under receivership for quite a while, and then refinanced when things get better, and that is certainly true in San Francisco. There are only one or two hotels there that are in the hands of the original owners today. The original owners, I mean by that, have lost all they put in; others have come along later. Now, the hotel business is one of service. We have to take care of our guests. We have to assure them of their safety, and we are more interested than anyone else is to have them given all the safety and all the protection against loss of their belongings and loss of life. We are very much alive to the fact that we have got to do that. When this present emergency came along during the early days of the war, if you all may remember this territory out here, California, due to the possible invasion by Japan was created into War Zone No. 2, a hundred miles from the Coast and up from border to border General DeWitt came out here with a mandate from the department to protect us, and the government sent out warnings against people from coming to California that was published all around to the large cities, and the hotel business just dropped down heavily. People did not come here. As a result, those that were here were getting their accommodations and their rates at a very low scale. Then came the freezing year of 1942, in April, which established that they could not raise their rates over what they had been charging at that time. Those laws are, to a certain extent, still in effect. So that the hotel industry has not been able to increase its prices and return nearly as much as many other industries, almost all other industries. I think the apartment house owners are in the same position. I don't want to differentiate. Now, then, we feel as if what has been done is good. We feel that the buildings of the future should be built under strict provisions. I am very much of a student of fire protection. I have been in favor of that more or less all my life. I have been in the insurance business all my life. I have been going around for fire insurance companies to inspect properties, and I am very much sold on the idea of the sprinkler equipment. As voiced by this gentleman a little while ago, that is really the best protection of all. Closing in of the stairways is a very expensive matter, particularly in old construction, and is absolutely prohibitive economically for the great mass of our buildings now in place. As an instance of it, there is one that has arisen there in Portland, Oregon, quite similar, I think, to the one you have here in San Diego, in the Multnomah Hotel there. I happen to be interested in it. It cost us $600 a door to close in the stairways on each floor. Every protective doorway that we put in alone cost us $600 for each door. It took up our prospective profits for 10 years. I don't know what to say, Mr. Rosenthal, except to appeal to the people that we certainly want to protect everybody we can; at the same time we want to live. You take some of the smaller houses around the State of California, if they were compelled to comply with Assembly Bill 753 as originally outlined, they would have gone into bankruptcy. They couldn't have done it. They haven't accumulated any money in the past. They haven't built up any reserves at all. They were running under a pretty close margin when the war started. Business wasn't any too good. Then they are faced with that big job of rehabilitation which they did not have any money to do. They could not go to the bank. Many of them had a bank note already. You take the larger hotels around the country who put in a big bond issue when they were built; they still have that bond issue on today, in spite of the good times; they haven't been able to pay it all off. So generally speaking, it is not only one of necessity, but it certainly is of economy, and I think that should be regarded as a factor in this whole matter.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: In San Francisco I wonder if the large hotels will make these improvements voluntarily or whether they need the legislation to do it I am concerned with that.

MR. DEGOLIA: After the last legislation, when we got this matter through, I personally went to our association up there and told them what had happened, and told them that after all it was very necessary to do everything they could, and asked them to survey their own places or else get their underwriters to survey them fully and advise them what they should do, and I am tabulating a lot of improvements that have been good. I will have that ready very shortly. In many of our hotels they have spent a great deal of money, not much inclosing of the stairways, it has been found to be extremely expensive and very difficult to do in many cases. As far as the expense is concerned for the— in the sprinkler equipment, and going into your stairways, to your pipes in particular, with many lobbies to go in, the labor cost is just out of all reason on present day prices. I had an estimate made in the St. Francis Hotel, and it was going to cost us something close to a hundred thousand dollars to sprinkler the house, and it would take probably two years because of the intricacy of putting those pipes in. When you are building a building you can make your plans accordingly and it doesn't cost too much, but when you are putting it in a building already built it is very difficult.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: Then are there fire protection plans there for sprinklers?

MR. DEGOLIA: Yes, they put in an ordinance there in San Francisco which did not have anything retroactive to speak of in it, but it did provide that the Fire Marshal and the fire chiefs, the fire department, should go around and inspect every hotel and apartment house, and if they found anything glaringly wrong to report it and advise the owners to correct it if they could, and a great deal of work has been done on that; how much, I would get for you later on. I did not know this meeting would be called. I think that is the story.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: Thank you, Mr. DeGolia.

Harley L. Bonham

MR. BONHAM: My name is Harley L. Bonham, and I represent the Fire Ordinance Committee for the local Apartment House Association. I just wanted to speak of the problems of the ordinary apartment house owner, the person who comes out here from Iowa and Nebraska and buys a little apartment for himself. The expense of operation has increased tremendously. In 1936 or '7 we were paying five and one-quarter cents for oil a gallon for heating purposes. Now we are paying 15 or 16 cents a gallon. Our taxes have increased fully 50 percent. I will grant we will have had a raise of 15 percent on income, but plumbing bills and electric bills are three times what they were in 1934, 1935, 1936 or even in 1940, rather three times what they were. The sprinkling system is clearly prohibitive for the average three-story building that is built now, and the stair wells, I happen to know, and I could furnish you an affidavit, in that earthquake in Long Beach where the doors were jammed so the people could not get out of the building, and I don't think they are practical.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: The sprinkling systems?

MR. BONHAM: No, the stair wells. But the sprinkling system is prohibitive for the average person who has a three-story apartment, because it is prohibitive, and we feel that the ordinance should not be retroactive. Possibly the fire escapes are all right, but generally speaking, because the owners came out and bought their buildings for income, and there are a lot of them here and that is the only income they have, is what they have from their apartments, and some of those are not paid for, and our problems are quite similar to the hotel men, but they have had some relief in that they have been able to raise their income comparable to their expenses and we haven't had that opportunity at all, and we are faced with higher taxes here all the time, and I think that other things have been well covered, and it will work an extreme hardship on the people here to have to comply with this ordinance by putting in a sprinkling system, and that is all I have to say, but keep it in mind. We have to keep in mind the safety of the people, and nobody knows, only a person who has owned an apartment house or has kept the books, I have one myself, a typical three-story building, and speaking personally, I would be willing to comply with a reasonable ordinance, but I don't think we ought to be made to put in a sprinkler system and enclose the stair wells. I am like Chief Courser, I don't think it is the thing to do, because I can get you an affidavit from these people.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: I wish you would send it on to the committee or to me.

MR. BONHAM: The time is short, and I thank you very much.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: Thank you very much, Mr. Bonham, for your statement here. The next gentleman.

M. J. Hyde

MR. HYDE: My name is M. J. Hyde, president of the local Apartment House Association. I don't believe that any apartment house owner in San Diego objects to the safety of the tenants, but for several years, since January of 1942, we have been frozen in income, and Mr. Bonham has stated our position correctly when he stated that our expenses have risen tremendously. What I want to know from the standpoint of the little fellow is where is the money coming from to do this? I think we are all in accord in that we want to do everything possible for the safety of our guests and tenants. We had a luncheon meeting a short time ago at which the head of our local bureau here, Mr. Karl R. Edmunds, Director of the Office of the U. S. Housing Expediter, was present We asked him if we could expect any relief from our government with regard to our increase in costs, and he said "No." We asked him where we could get the money to do this here. He said, "Well, that is just added capital investment." We are very much interested in where the added capital is coming from. I am having my books audited on a building I own partly—I have a couple of mortgages and tax bills—most of us have, and my books show I made less than 1 percent on my investment last year. If I spend six years of my net income on that property in one year to accomplish this safety work, I want to know that it won't be changed or some retroactive law brought in next year to make us do it all over again. In other words, it is our existence and most of us are small owners. We have confidence in Southern California, we have invested our life's savings and earnings in these properties, and if they are going to be taken away from us, we might just as well walk out today and give them to somebody, the city schools or the Fire Marshal or your committee or the OPA, or something like that. That is just what we are faced with.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: Thank you, very much, Mr. Hyde. That is a new feature that has not been brought forth thus far. This is the first offer I have had of making me a hotel owner.

CHIEF ROPPE: I will accept Mr. Hyde's hotel if he will remain as office manager and see that it shows a profit each year.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: I am sure that in both sides of this argument neither side wants to do away with the other side. I am sure the hotel owners don't want to destroy the work of the fire department, and I am sure that if we can get together we can strike a happy medium if we continue to cooperate as we are doing today, and have done in the past. The thought that Mr. Hyde gave me is a good one, I think. How do they know the laws passed today won't change tomorrow and some have thought that fire escapes are not as good as fire walls, and there is the problem.

M. M. Cory

MR. CORY: My name is M. M. Cory, and I am a member of the Apartment House Association. I am an engineer. I have had quite a bit of property here in the past, and due to the conditions of the OPA and the trend towards placing the owner of property in sort of a financial nut cracker, I have disposed of over 80 percent of what I had. Now, I think that that is a definite illustration of what has happened to the average property owner as they are able to change their investment, and I think it will go further along that line unless there is some relief provided; and it doesn't look as though there is any relief coming to the apartment house owner from the government at the present time.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: You are talking in terms of income at the present time?

MR. CORY: I am talking in terms of frozen rents. It is true that there was an opportunity extended to the apartment house owner to advance his rent 15 percent under certain circumstances and those circumstances were provided he could get the tenants to agree to it along with him, but you can see what a problem that would be, and as a result a few have succeeded but it is not a universal increase, and I don't believe it amounts to very much of a percent if spread over the entire rental area. The installation of sprinkler systems from an engineering and logical standpoint appears to me to be sound, provided additional protection is necessary for these tenants, but I believe if you will look over the average apartment house in California under the present circumstances, provided they complied with our present law, I don't believe there is a lot of danger to the tenants; if there is, we do want to correct them or we want to give them to someone else, as has been suggested, because it will not pay us to install sprinkler systems as has been suggested by different proponents of that idea; that is to say, if you have to install them throughout all of the areas they have spoken of in buildings which are already built, you had better sell and get out and let the building take care of itself or be torn down.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: Are you referring to apartment houses now?

MR. CORY: I am referring now to apartment houses in particular, but I see no reason why that does not apply likewise to hotels which are already under construction Therefore, I am absolutely against this retroactive feature. I have worked as an architect in the past, and I think I know a little bit about construction, and I can assure you it costs a great deal more to install sprinkling systems in buildings already constructed than where there is new construction. The difference in the cost is tremendous.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: Of course, you are in favor of some alternative plan?

MR. CORY: Such as what?

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: Such as fire escapes.

MR. CORY: The fire escapes I think Chief Courser's suggestion for fire escapes and stand pipes, however, is very well founded, and my own have all been either finished or corrected They weren't in bad shape before. I think the ordinance today has cost me, I think when it is all completed will cost me less than $500 on my other properties, and the other places that are being completed now, the fire escapes, have been passed, and we want to do everything we can to protect life, but on the other hand all of us run risks even though we sit on a park bench, and I see no reason to go further than is absolutely necessary. In fact, it would be financial suicide if we did.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: Mr. Cory, in your hotel you have a little different situation in fire prevention and fire sprinklers, and tell us about the fire alarm system.

MR. CORY: It is called the Richel system. It is a fire alarm system.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: Could you give me a brief explanation of it?

MR. CORY: This system is—In each room there is a rheostat installed, and if the temperature rises beyond a certain point it opens up a valve very similar to the valve used in a sprinkler system, and that turns in an alarm down in the main office, and the whole house is given a fire alarm, that there is danger of a fire, and to get out.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: Doesn't that also tell you exactly where the fire is?

MR. CORY: The indicator tells you where the alarm came from, and it also automatically turns in a fire alarm to the city fire department. As I told you also, we tried it once.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL. Is that an expensive type of equipment?

MR. CORY: It is quite expensive for a big hotel Of course, we have 800 rooms.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL. How does it compare with the sprinkler system?

MR. CORY: Oh, nothing like it.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: Is it as expensive?

MR. CORY: No, it is not expensive in comparison to the sprinkler system. I think it cost about $12,000 to put it in. It was put in by the United Hotel Company who had the option on that building about four years before the war started; that would be about 1937 or 1938.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: I might add that Fire Chief Kelley in San Francisco was quite impressed with that CHIEF COURSER: It has a different set-up when you have it connected to a master box, and when the rheostat works an alarm is automatically communicated to the fire department We have just one of those systems here in San Diego. It is not a bad alarm system as far as notifying tenants that there is a fire in the building is concerned, but it does not stop the fire from spreading through the building and catching them as they come out of their rooms. It is just an alarm.

MR. CORY: The whole purpose is to notify us and the department as soon as a fire starts If it gives us warning enough, a small fire is all we have to contend with at the time.

CHIEF COURSER: Then the clerk will telephone the alarm in if he is not in some other part of the building at the time?

MR. CORY: The alarm system has a master box down below and notifies the fire department from there.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: That does away with the sleeping clerk about three o'clock in the morning.

L. T. Mott

MR. MOTT: I am L. T. Mott, Supervisor of Housing, State of California. I have here a running report here issued by the State Housing Bureau on a number of houses, or rather, the number of houses— I find that since 1943 there have been approximately 250 hotel and apartment house fires in California, that is, fires of a major nature, and those fires, hotels and apartment houses, accounted for 130 deaths and about 269 injuries. Our division keeps a running report on the major fires so that we can keep up to date on a state-wide basis. I was glad to hear some of the gentlemen representing the apartment house association say that they were in favor of fire escapes on the older buildings. I think that is a fine thing, but that wasn't indicated in Assembly Bill 753 when it was being drafted on the proposed retroactive basis. All of the retroactive features in Assembly Bill 753 were opposed by the Apartment House and Hotel Associations, and that included this matter of the exterior fire escapes. Now, Assembly Bill 753 is somewhat the same as the local ordinance here in San Diego and I am, my division is firmly convinced that the retroactive features of Assembly Bill 753, they were very carefully gone over by experts, and we believe that they should be enacted into law. They are decidedly minimum, or if that is not acceptable I believe that those retroactive features should certainly be used as a basis for arriving at some satisfactory solution for the protection of human life in hotels and apartment houses. If it is felt that these retroactive features are too severe, then I believe that all interests concerned should get together and arrive at some satisfactory program. I don't think there is anything further I can say, Mr. Chairman.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: Tom, you and I have worked on this thing religiously and tirelessly to enact it into law, and I would like you to state what is the law with regard to local ordinances being more inclusive, including more fire prevention features than the state law.

MR. MOTT: I think that the City of San Diego, I am pretty sure on this, the City of San Diego is about the only city in California that has any retroactive ordinance on hotels and apartment houses; possibly Fresno has, but I think that San Diego is about the only city Now, we believe that, of course we believe in uniformity in things. We have from time to time tried to get state legislation adopted and haven't succeeded. In San Diego, apparently tired of that situation, they went to work and adopted their own ordinance. I think that is a fine departure, but we believe that there should be legislation that is state-wide or would be of a uniform nature or might apply throughout California, so that all of the cities, all of the different communities, would be subject to that uniform regulation, and that these regulations should be considered as a minimum, and then if cities wish to enact more restrictive regulations, why, they can go ahead and do that. On the State Housing Act it is the duty of the cities to enforce the act, it is a legislative mandate, and it is a privilege of the state department to come in if the cities do not function and enforce the law. Did that answer your question?

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: Yes. At the meeting in San Francisco the representative of the department said that there had only been 52 deaths.

MR. MOTT: This report would show that 130 died since 1943.

MR. CORY: May I ask if any tabulation has been made as to the record loss of life in any other type of industry in this State as compared with the hotel industry?

MR. MOTT: I don't know.

MR. CORY: I think that would be interesting, because every business and every enterprise has its risk and probably its loss of life, and I am wondering just what is the relative position of the hotel industry and apartment house industry as compared with other types of endeavor as far as loss of life is concerned in fires.

MR. MOTT: I don't believe there is any great difference

MR. DEGOLIA: I think the National Underwriters would be able to give you that. I think the reason there has been this interest in loss of life with regard to hotels and apartment houses is that people are at night sleeping and they are not able to take care of themselves as if they were awake at the time.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: You can get that from the National Underwriters.

FIRE MARSHAL ROPPE: That information has already been furnished by the National Fire Protection Association, and you can communicate with them and receive it.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: Can you send me a copy of the city ordinance, Mr. Roppe, while you are standing?

FIRE MARSHAL ROPPE: Yes, I will be glad to do that.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: Either you or Chief Courser.

MR. MOTT: This does not go into one-story buildings. I would like to ask about enactment of general provisions of the State. Has the thought ever been given of the unforgotten citizens in the way possibly of setting maximums?

MR. MOTT: As I say, I believe in the enactment of any legislation, I believe there are various sides to it, and I believe that these groups should get together and arrive at a satisfactory solution, but we found during the preparation of and the eventual becoming of Assembly Bill 753 that the hotel and apartment house people were completely opposed to any retroactive features. Isn't that so?

MR. DEGOLIA: To a large extent, yes.

MR. MOTT: And we believe that the cities should get together and arrive at some satisfactory solution that has in mind the protection of life and property as well as recognizing the fellow who pays the bill.

Q. My principal thought was that the universal authority of the State—it doesn't seem that one community should be more strict than another.

A. I think it should be uniform, with all due respect to the City of San Diego, which has done such a fine job of work.

CHIEF COURSER: Isn't it true that San Diego was probably the first city to enact an ordinance?

A. I think so.

Q. Isn't it a fact that most of the cities laid back to see what San Diego was going to do?

MR. MOTT: Many cities were holding back on the adoption of ordinances. Some of them said, "Well, let's wait until we see what the State does." Others said, "Let's wait until we see what some other city does." And you fellows went to work and adopted your ordinance.

CHIEF COURSER: I think that is a credit to our City Council. Isn't it true that because of pressure groups some of those councilmen were afraid to act upon it or could not act on it?

MR. MOTT: I could not speak for any city.

CHIEF COURSER: I am speaking of one city in particular larger than San Diego, and the political pressure got so great there that they dumped it, and I don't believe they have done anything about it yet.

MR. MOTT: Yes, there are many cities in the State. There was Los Angeles, Pasadena, and other cities that I cannot recall now where very worthwhile ordinances were prepared, having to do with retroactive features for hotels and apartment houses, and those ordinances, or those proposed ordinances, are still lying dormant for some reason or another.

MR. COTTON: I was wondering. You have a record there of this 130 people who were killed in fires in hotels and apartment houses. Can you determine whether or not if this law had been in force during that period of time those lives would have been lost?

MR. MOTT: Well, that would be difficult to determine. We have the probable cause of a fire and whether, if they had a sprinkler system or if they had had an enclosed stairway if that would have prevented the loss of life. That I could not say as to that. It would be a difficult thing to do.

MR. COTTON. You don't know if it would have saved any of those lives?

MR MOTT: No, although the report indicates an attempt to gauge the cause of the fire.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: I think I have everything that we expected to cover. Have I heard from everyone?

MR DEGOLIA: I would like to make one comment about what Mr. Mott has said. There is no question about it, Mr. Mott's position is to do the best he can with these things, to get these things brought out and make them perfect. The same situation applies to you fellows connected with the fire department. It is your job to do everything you can to secure protective measures for the saving of life and property, and you are urging everybody to do their part in the best way they can. The other side of it is that if you put laws through that are practically impossible for the owner to comply with you are by legislation depriving those people of their livelihood. You take the State of California. There are forty or forty-five thousand apartment houses or hotels that have been built over a period of the last fifty or sixty years. Most of them, probably all of them at the time they were built, complied with the building restrictions in force at that time They had to, to get their permit to build. They have gone ahead and conducted their operations. The city comes along and enacts laws that are making it impossible for them to comply. They will lose their investment, they will be deprived of their means of livelihood, and I don't think that is fair. It seems to me that is not a good government act. I just wanted to give you that thought.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: I am sure that the temperament of the legislators is such that they will listen to all sides of the question and come to a just solution I can assure you of that.

I would like to call now on those who haven't spoken. I want you to feel free to address us if you want.

JUDGE LUCE: May I say something in reply to what has come up, something which was said, I think, by my friend Chief Courser or Chief Roppe about saving in insurance. We found that insofar as the so-called fireproof buildings are concerned we would save very little in the insurance rates. It might be true in nonfireproof buildings that there would be a distinct saving in insurance, but no change insofar as our modern buildings are concerned.

MR DEGOLIA: You are speaking of what improvements? Putting in a sprinkler system would give you a distinct advantage in your insurance.

JUDGE LUCE: Not too much, not 50 percent.

CHIEF COURSER: You mean speed or pressure? You won't get reduction on pressure. I can assure you of that.

JUDGE LUCE: Pressure is one of the questions we are interested in.

MR. DEGOLIA: That will give you no benefit.

JUDGE LUCE: That is the thing we are talking about. You take this Hotel Grant, a hotel which, I think, hasn't a complete sprinkler system. If you had a complete sprinkler system in every room, of course the cost would go up. It could be done in the hallways and stairways at a less cost but still at a great cost, but that pressure system, while it would help a lot, it would not help us very much in our insurance rates. That statement was made several times and I think that statement was made several times to the council.

Now, on the legal phase of this, just where the jurisdiction of the territory of the State stops and city begins on this kind of legislation. I think your act provides that nothing therein contained shall prevent a municipality from making other and further and more restrictive legislation. I think the rule is that if the State covers the field, I take it this is the same rule which applies in other things, if the State covers the field the cities cannot enact legislation that differs from it. If the State does not cover the field the cities can go on to anything that is within reason. The city ordinance, of course, cannot always be decided on the rule of whether or not it is a reasonable enactment and the state measures cannot, but there is nothing to prevent cities from putting in more restrictive legislation, and of course that is the thing that we worried about. From one standpoint, Mr. Mott stressed that we have done a big job here in enacting this legislation. I felt a little bit badly hearing him say that, because we tried to urge the common council here that they should not make us a guinea pig in San Diego and put upon us this heavy burden of expense when other cities throughout the State were not doing it. It seems to me that the proper thing would be state legislation, because of its general enforcement throughout the State, and we would assume that the Legislature has more time to consider these things. Our common council did not give this thing careful consideration. They spend a few minutes down there, refer it to a small committee, and outside of the fire chief there were no experts there; and the State can, by the committee that it has and its contacts and its facilities in getting the opinions of real experts should be able to enact what would be a statewide fair and proper legislation in regard to fire hazards, and if that were done it might get the cities to enforce them without new legislation and thus bring every city up to the same level. In spite of our cooperation we are facing a rather unfair situation because of these extra restrictions that seem to have been put upon us that have not been elsewhere done.

MR. COTTON: Mr. Roppe, that fire in San Diego in which two lives were lost in a hotel, that was a two-story building, was it not?

MR. ROPPE: Yes.

MR. COTTON: Do you think that that building would have had to have any changes made in it, had the law been passed last year with retroactive clauses in it?

MR. ROPPE: No, that building was not covered by the law.

CHIEF COURSER: I just want to bring up one point, and it seems to be a small saving, and that is in the cost of the sprinkler system. The Sanford Hotel, over here on Fifth Avenue, is one of the first hotels to put in the sprinkler system as required by law, and I think the price was around $11,000 for that building. The sprinkler system is not an elaborate job. It is just a matter of a stand pipe taking water to each floor, the same as the sprinkler system you have in your lawn, with pipes running out and branching off. It seems to me that if the apartment house owners would get together and ask for a price for so many buildings, take in probably 50 or 75 buildings, and ask one of these sprinkler companies to come in on that job, they might get it done at a much lower rate than the Sanford Hotel. I think their job ran around $11,000. They sprinkled the hallways, stairways and light wells. They are now sitting in a good position. The fire escapes and sprinkler systems, and I think they have very little fear of loss of life. They went ahead and completed the job, and their worries are over. There were some bids asked and they were high and away out of reason. Whether these men did that maliciously or didn't want the job, I don't know, but they were away out of line in comparison with the figures on this particular job, but I do believe if the thing was done as a whole through their association that one of the big sprinkler companies would be willing to come in and they would find that the cost would be very nominal compared to what they have in mind, not out of reason. One gentleman here said he sold 80 percent of his holdings. It stands to reason that the people who bought those buildings, bought them to make some money. They certainly investigated before buying those places. It seems to me if he were able to sell them it still must be a good business. As I said, it is true that many of the hotels throughout the country are putting in sprinklers. They see it coming.

And as I said of the South, they are advertising that they have sprinklers in their buildings. If you ride through the South you will find some of the billboards advertising, "Our hotel is sprinklering." They haven't forgot the Winekopf fire and the other fires.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: I hope we never will forget those two fires. They were terrible catastrophes.

CHIEF COURSER: We all have children, mothers, fathers, that are going to travel and go into hotels. We know that the fellow who owns the hotel, if he had a loss of life in his hotel because of a matter of dollars and cents, that is something you will remember for the rest of your life.

CHAIRMAN ROSENTHAL: I might say I am very much impressed by what San Diego has done. I am happy over the progress you have made, whether because of the legislation recently enacted or because of an efficient fire chief and assistant. I will give them both credit. I am happy to say of conditions here, from what I have heard in this meeting, are very good and very fine, and you are making progress. I have heard many stories while I was in Los Angeles of conditions in the south, San Diego particularly being bad, and many people being worried here. I think we are getting results. You are all working on the problem, improvements are being made in the buildings, in the prevention of fire hazards. Although I have heard no complaints in San Francisco, I think likewise they have made some progress I commend you, Chief Courser, for your work and your cooperation. When we arrive in Sacramento if we feel that some legislation is necessary, and some happy medium is arrived at, I am sure it will be the result of what you have given us today. If in the meantime, any of the people here, would like to submit any other statement or any other proposed changes, I would be very happy to receive it. I will consider it as fairly as I can and as honestly as possible.

Thank you for coming here. Thank you for letting us confer with you in this matter.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA }
COUNTY OF SAN DIEGO } ss.

I certify the above and foregoing to be a full, true and correct transcript of the proceedings had at the hearing held on the date and at the place hereinabove first mentioned.

San Diego, California, December 23, 1948.

CHARLES C. OTIS, Shorthand Reporter

Conclusion

The committee as a result of the hearings above indicated, believe that there is no need at the present time for any remedial or retroactive legislation. That there are many alternative methods which will be just as effective in the fighting and prevention of fires in hotels and apartments which will prove satisfactory.

It is further believed that an interim committee for the continued study of fire hazards and prevention shall continue to study the problem heretofore referred to.

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE
SACRAMENTO, May 16, 1949

To the Assembly of the State of California
Sacramento, California

GENTLEMEN: I am transmitting to you herewith a copy of a message with reference to

Assembly Bill No. 346, entitled, "An act to add Section 5003.1 to the Public Resources Code, relating to maintenance and operation of establishments or facilities for the sale of merchandise or services to the public."

This bill, with my message relative thereto, I (through my Legislative Secretary) delivered to Arthur A. Ohnimus, Chief Clerk of the Assembly, at 3.30 o'clock p.m. on the thirteenth day of May, 1949, at which time your honorable body had adjourned for the day but not for the session.

Respectfully submitted,

EARL WARREN, Governor

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE
SACRAMENTO, May 12, 1949

To the Honorable Members of the Assembly
State of California, Sacramento, California

GREETINGS: I am returning herewith, without my signature,

Assembly Bill No. 346, entitled: "An act to add Section 5003.1 to the Public Resources Code, relating to maintenance and operation of establishments or facilities for the sale of merchandise or services to the public"

My objections to this bill are as follows:

I am returning this bill on the recommendation of the Director of Finance and the Director of Natural Resources because of their statements that the bill will disrupt procedures essential to the operation of some of the beaches and parks, and because it would result in throwing the division budget out of balance under present methods of budgeting. The bill conforms in general to the present policy of the State Park Commission, which does not favor the state operation of restaurants, hotels, stores and curio shops, except through concessionnaires. Neither does the commission favor the maintenance and operation of dwelling accommodations where adequate accommodations are available to the public in the vicinity. In certain areas, however, the commission does sell fire wood to campers when none is reasonably available, and charges a minimum fee for service to campers and picnickers as a measure for regulating the use of the parks and beaches. In some minor exceptions where the parks are too remote to attract a concessionnaire some slight deviations have been made from these policies.

The bill would prohibit "any other establishment or facility for the sale of * * * service to the public" The Attorney General points out that the State Park Commission would under this section be prohibited from maintaining and operating any facility for rendering service to the public. He states that in many state parks the public is charged a nominal fee for such services as auto parks, maintenance of picnic areas, etc. The effect of the bill would be to prohibit the continuance of this practice. He points out, also, that many of the state parks are leased to cities and counties under leases which provide that the lessee shall at all times maintain the park in accordance with state laws applicable to state beaches and parks This bill would prohibit cities and counties acting as lessees from maintaining services to the public for which a charge is made.

I call your attention to an instance of how this bill could hamper the commission in the administration of the beaches and parks. In the Columbia State Park, when the State purchased the Town of Columbia as a state park, it was necessary for fire protection and sanitary reasons to purchase the water works, which the State now operates and through which it sells water service to the lessees of the buildings. Under the bill in all probability the State could not continue this operation

I believe that the bill would have bad results not contemplated by its sponsor. The present budget is based on the receipt of $45,000 for these services during the next fiscal year, which source of revenue would of necessity be ended by this bill, and which would have to be made up from other sources.

Respectfully submitted,

EARL WARREN, Governor

To the Assembly of the State of California

GENTLEMEN: I am transmitting to you herewith a copy of a message with reference to

Assembly Bill No. 904, entitled: "An act to add Section 1045 to the Agricultural Code, relating to fertilizing materials."

This bill, with my message relative thereto, I (through my Legislative Secretary) delivered to Arthur A. Ohnimus, Chief Clerk of the Assembly, at 3.30 o'clock p.m. on the thirteenth day of May, 1949, at which time your honorable body had adjourned for the day but not for the session.

Respectfully submitted,

EARL WARREN, Governor

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE
SACRAMENTO, May 13, 1949

To the Honorable Members of the Assembly
State of California, Sacramento, California

GREETINGS: I am returning herewith, without my signature,

Assembly Bill No. 904, entitled: "An act to add Section 1045 to the Agricultural Code, relating to fertilizing materials."

My objections to this bill are as follows:

This bill would add a section to the Agricultural Code relating to the seizure and quarantine by the Director of Agriculture, of adulterated or misbranded fertilizer material. The authority given follows that given in an existing section of the code with respect to economic poisons.

The Attorney General in discussing this measure points out that there is a very real distinction between economic poisons which are inherently dangerous in and of themselves, and fertilizing material which is misbranded or adulterated and which is not necessarily, therefore, inherently dangerous As to such material the courts require a higher degree of certainty in the statute and a more definite fixing of standards to guide the administrator to comply with the constitutional requirements of due process.

It is pointed out by the Attorney General that the section sought to be added by this bill is too vague to support the penalties involved as applied to materials which are not necessarily inherently dangerous. The standards upon which the Director of Agriculture is authorized to seize and hold material are not sufficiently set out. He is authorized to take such action, among other things, when the material is "detrimental to agriculture" Just what is and what is not "detrimental to agriculture" may be arguable, and no standards have been set up by the Legislature to advise the director in this regard.

He also points out that the section is extremely vague as to the action to be taken by the director, who is authorized to "seize and quarantine" the described material. It is not indicated what the director should do when he takes possession of the material, and in authorizing the director to release the material no standards are set up for his guidance. The broad and ambiguous powers given the director in this section make it possible for him to apply the seizure and quarantine power in a manner that may be challenged on constitutional grounds.

I have no objection to the purpose of this bill and believe that the purposes should be accomplished by a bill properly drawn to meet the legal objections raised by the Attorney General. This can be done in some subsequent bill with the suggestion that a bill more carefully circumscribing the power given the director may be enacted and presented to me for approval.

Respectfully submitted,

EARL WARREN, Governor

Assembly Bill No. 904 ordered to unfinished business file.

Let us measure a man not by outward things, but by the common lights of intellect, conscience, and love.

May we covet that grandeur of character as the most glorious prize of humanity, the image of the Infinite and the sustaining wealth of the Nation.

Let us look for the superior soul and for the most heroic deed, not in some conspicuous spotlight, but in the silent places, and among the multitudes unknown and unsung.—AMEN.

Amendment No. 3

On page 1, line 6, of said bill, strike out the colon; strike out lines 7 to 20 on said page; strike out page 2; and on page 3, strike out lines 1 to 47, inclusive, and insert ", words and terms shall have the meaning ascribed to them in the Revenue and Taxation Code, unless the context indicates otherwise 5042. The State Board of Equalization shall make a survey annually in each county to determine the relationship between the total value of land, improvements and tangible personal property, exclusive of money, entered upon the roll by the assessor, and the total market value thereof. As a basis for this determination, the board shall consider sales data tested and supplemented by appraisal data compiled by appraisers competent to determine accurately the market value of the property.

These data shall relate to representative samples of property subject to local assessment in each county sufficient in number and dispersion to assure an adequate cross-section of the taxable wealth within the county, both as to the classes of property enumerated and as to the location thereof. Utilizing these data, the board shall determine also the average relationship between the assessed value of such property and the market value thereof for the State as a whole. This determination of average relationship shall not thereafter be revised regardless of whatever revisions may be made subsequently in the determination of the relationships between assessed and market values for individual counties.

5043. The board shall complete this survey by the first Monday in July of each year, commencing in 1950. On or before the second Monday in July, copies of the survey, together with a notice of the determination of the relationship between assessed values and market values for the county and for the State as a whole, shall be delivered to the county assessor and to the clerk of the board of supervisors of each county.

5044. If the county, through its assessor or board of supervisors, desires to be heard with respect to the survey, opportunity for such hearing shall be afforded by the board between the third Monday in July and the third Monday in August, upon application therefor in writing filed not later than the first Monday in August. The application shall specify in what respects the county believes that the determination of the relation between the assessed value and the market value of the property within the county is in error.

5045. Upon hearing, the board shall consider all pertinent evidence offered as to the accuracy of the determination based upon its survey and, if, in the judgment of the board, such evidence warrants a different determination, it shall so find and alter the determination accordingly. Otherwise, the determination shall remain unchanged, unless the board, in pursuance of its authority to equalize assessments between counties, takes action as prescribed by Article 1, Chapter 2, Part 3, Division 1, of the Revenue and Taxation Code, to change the values of the property as fixed by the county assessor and equalized by the county board of equalization.

5046. Upon completion of proceedings had under this chapter or under the Revenue and Taxation Code with respect to intercounty equalization, the board shall certify to the State Department of Finance and the State Department of Education, not later than the first day of September following, its final determination of the relationship between the total value of land, improvements and tangible personal property, exclusive of money, entered upon the roll by the assessor of each county and the market value thereof. The board shall also certify to these departments its determination of the ratio between assessed and market value of all such property for the State as a whole.

5047. If the percentage of assessed to market value in any county, as certified by the board under Section 5046, differs from the state-wide average of assessed to market value as likewise certified by the board by more than 10 percent of that state-wide average, whenever any state department, board or agency allocates funds to the county or any district lying wholly or partly therein upon the basis of the assessed valuation of property, the value of all land, improvements and tangible personal property, exclusive of money, as assessed by the county assessor and as finally appearing upon the assessment roll of the county after equalization, shall be adjusted for the purposes of such allocation to eliminate the difference between the county percentage and the state-wide average.

5048. In school districts which are situated partly in one county and partly in one or more other counties, the adjustment for which provision is made in Section 5047 shall be made separately for each part of the district in a different county.

5049. The maximum tax rate for a school district, as provided in Section 6357, shall be subject to adjustment upward or downward in the fiscal year in which an adjustment is made in the assessed valuation of the property in the district for the purposes of allocation of funds, pursuant to Section 5047, by that percentage that the adjustment in the assessed valuation bears to the assessed valuation prior to adjustment."

Amendment No. 4

On page 3, line 48, of said bill, after "sum of", insert "two hundred thousand"; and after "$", insert "200,000".

Amendment No. 5

On page 3, line 50, of said bill, strike out "1948-1949", and insert "1949-1950".

Amendments read, and adopted.

Explanation of Vote

I would have voted for Assembly Bill No. 1175, had I not been called out of the Assembly Chamber at the moment the vote was taken I believe legislation for disabled persons is necessary, though this bill may not be the answer completely—at least it is a start.

Relative to the birthday of Assemblyman John B Cooke

WHEREAS, It is with a great deal of pleasure and gratification that the Members of the Assembly of the State of California join with the family of Assemblyman John B. Cooke of the Thirty-eighth District to celebrate his sixty-fourth birthday; and

WHEREAS, The Honorable John B. Cooke, born in Fort Smith, Arkansas on May 17, 1885, received his education in the schools of Fort Smith, came to California in 1904, where he toured this grand and glorious State, working in positions of various classifications; and

WHEREAS, Arriving in San Francisco, a city which he has always held close to his heart, he enlisted as an Apprentice Seaman in the United States Navy in 1905, serving in all types of ships and submarines for many years during World War I, having under his command such personages as Frank "Lefty" O'Doul, twice the leading hitter in the National League, and other men who have made a real success in civic and professional life; and

WHEREAS, In the year 1917 he received his commission as a Lieutenant Commander, and in 1933 retired as Lieutenant Commander by reason of physical disability incurred in line of duty, then settling on a ranch in Ventura County, and was honored by the people of that county by being selected to serve as a school trustee; and

H., on June 13, 1941, and was at Pearl Harbor on the day that base was attacked by the Japanese, and on said occasion rendered yeoman service in the sorrowful hours when real service was needed for those who were unfortunately victims of that tragedy; and also served on the staff of the Commanding General of the Third Marines in the Marianas Campaign, with a total of 42 months overseas during World War II; and

WHEREAS, Forever in the minds of the members who served with him in 1941 will be recalled the momentous occasion when he gave his farewell speech on the floor of the Assembly, and in true military fashion a deck gun was discharged in the Assembly Chambers, and in true officer-like and naval fashion Commander Cooke shouted "Cease Firing!"; now, therefore, be it

THE FACTOR OF LOCAL FISCAL CAPACITY IN THE CALIFORNIA FORMULA FOR DISTRIBUTION OF EQUALIZATION AID FOR PUBLIC EDUCATION

By S. J. Barrick

A Report Prepared for the Assembly Ways and Means Committee, California Legislature—May, 1949

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL

ASSEMBLY, CALIFORNIA LEGISLATURE
COMMITTEE ON WAYS AND MEANS, May 17, 1949

Honorable Sam L. Collins
Speaker of the Assembly
State Capitol

DEAR MR. COLLINS: I am handing you herewith as a supplemental report of the Assembly Interim Committee on Ways and Means, a report prepared for the committee on the subject of the Factor of Local Fiscal Capacity in the California Formula for Distribution of Equalization Aid for Public Education.

Very truly yours,

MARVIN SHERWIN, Chairman
Ways and Means Committee

SUMMARY AND RECOMMENDATIONS

Summary

1. The basic principle against which to measure state equalization aid to school districts, and test its validity, is that equalization grants should be inversely related to the extent of the ability of the school districts to pay for the service.

2. The conclusion resulting from this analysis is that the existing formula for the apportionment of equalization aid is defective in that the resulting equalization grants do not meet the test of inverse relationship to local ability.

3. The use of actual assessed valuation in the allocation formula is the principal reason for the lack of inverse correlation of local ability and amounts of equalization grants received.

4. Equalization of assessed valuations by means of county ratios of assessed to market value would remove gross inequities of the existing measure.

5. Equalization of assessments is a difficult and technical procedure and the use of equalization ratios is opposed by the assessing officials.

6. An alternative for equalized valuations is the use of adjusted valuations for purposes of equalization grants only without the requirement that county ratios be used in connection with the assessment process.

7. The use of computational tax rates places undue emphasis upon the importance of assessed valuation as a measure of local fiscal ability when the important factor is the dollar amount of the local contribution to the foundation program.

8. The total amount of the required local contribution can be apportioned according to ability without reference to assessed valuation.

Recommendations

Inasmuch as inequalities and wide variations in assessed valuations as a factor in the formula for distribution of equalization grants tend to nullify equalization objectives and destroy the effect of equalization aid, it is recommended that:

1. Legislation be enacted to require equalization or adjustment of assessed valuations for purposes of state equalization grants for either current expense or capital outlay when such equalization grants are based on assessed valuation.

2. Consideration should be given to methods of distribution of equalization funds such as those used by the Federal Government and some of the states which do not require the use of assessed valuation as a measure of local fiscal capacity.

PART I

RELATIONSHIP OF THE PRINCIPLE OF EQUALIZATION TO STATE SCHOOL FUND APPORTIONMENT

The use of equalization as a principle for allocation of state subventions for public schools is somewhat new to California since the first use of this principle occurred in 1945 when the Legislature enacted Chapter 678, Statutes of California, 1945. This law established a foundation program to be financed by state and local funds with school districts contributing to the costs of the foundation program in direct proportion to assessable wealth.

The state's financial support for public schools was increased in 1947 following the adoption by the electorate of Proposition Number 3 on November 5, 1946 which provided for state funds of $120 per pupil in average daily attendance. This legislation guaranteed a minimum apportionment of $90 per A.D.A. with $30 per A.D.A which could be used for equalization purposes. The equalization funds thus established were apportioned under the provisions of Chapter 401, Statutes of California, 1947, which continued the use of assessed valuation as the measure of school district fiscal capacity as a basis for participating in the equalization program.

This recent experience in the use of equalization apportionments has presented a sufficiently large number of problems to warrant an evaluation of the use of this principle of apportionment of state funds The purpose of this report, therefore is to analyze some of these problems and the factors involved in the equalization process. The most important problems are (1) the use of assessed valuation as the measure of fiscal ability and (2) the application of the ability factor.

Equalization Objectives

State subventions to local governments are similar in purpose to federal grants to states and local governments. These purposes have been recently summarized by a study of the Bureau of Research and Statistics of the Social Security Administration.[1] Using this statement of the purposes of federal grants as a guide, the purposes of state grants, with particular reference to grants for public education, are compared with those of the Federal Government as follows:

Federal Grants	State Grants
1. To encourage or stimulate the states to develop or expand certain services.	1. To encourage or stimulate local governments to develop or expand certain services. The original state grants to school districts exemplified this purpose.
2. To assist the states to finance some kind of "national minimum" in certain public services.	2. To assist the local governments to finance some kind of "minimum" in certain public services. The establishment of a "foundation program" of educational costs as a minimum basis for state and local financing of public schools makes this a paramount purpose of California's grants to school districts
3. To secure for the Federal Government a measure of leadership with respect to certain state and locally administered functions of national interest.	3 To secure for the State Government a measure of leadership with respect to certain state and locally administered functions of state interest. The State's interest in and responsibility for public education is expressly stated in the State Constitution. The initiative measure enacted in 1947 measures this interest as a responsibility of the State for aid in the amount of $120 per pupil in average daily attendance.
4. To combine within a federal system the virtues of local control over administration of many functions with the superior money-raising powers of Federal Government.	4. To combine the virtues of local control over administration of many functions with the superior money-raising powers of the State State aid to school districts is an excellent example of this purpose.
5. To equalize, to a greater or lesser extent, service levels and relative tax burdens among the states and among persons in different income classes and different local jurisdictions, thus in effect, also to reduce disparities in incomes, among persons and among areas	5 To equalize service levels and relative tax burdens among the different local jurisdictions This is the purpose of the equalization grants to school districts thus enabling all districts to operate schools at a uniform minimum despite disparities in local fiscal ability.
6. To improve the over-all Federal-State-Local Tax System so that it becomes more progressive and more uniform, by placing more of the cost of government on federal and state income taxes, less on local property taxes.	6. To improve the over-all State and Local Tax System so that it becomes more uniform by placing more of the cost on state taxes, less on local property taxes The use of state funds to maintain a designated level of public school services provides relief for the property tax to some extent.[2]
7. To aid in approaching full employment, or to counter the business cycle.	7. This federal purpose has little counterpart in state grants to local governments although state public assistance grants may be cited as examples of this purpose. To some extent, state funds for education may also be said to be useful in strengthening certain segments of the internal economy of the State.

[1] Byron L. Johnson, The Principle of Equalization Applied to the Allocation of Grants in Aid, Bureau Memorandum No. 66, Bureau of Research and Statistics, Social Security Administration, Federal Security Agency, September 1947, pp. 20-22

[2] The increasing needs of school districts have resulted in increased taxes for school purposes even though state aid has increased tremendously The property tax, however, is relieved of some of this burden to the extent that higher taxes might be levied if some of these costs were not paid from state funds.

All of these purposes accomplish "equalization" in one form or another. The many concepts of equalization are easily confused particularly with respect to equalization of opportunity, equalization of service levels, and equalization of costs. The first two are related to need and the other, equalization of costs, is related to ability. This purpose, outlined as the fifth purpose discussed above, is the concept used in this analysis. It should be noted, however, that any state aid related to need also equalizes costs to the extent that such costs are minimized by state aid.

The method of apportioning state aid to school districts solely on the basis of average daily attendance prior to 1945 may thus be said to be equalization of costs since the costs of the local districts were reduced by the amount of the state aid received. The equalization accomplished by this method was that of reduction of local costs by reason of the assumption by the State of part of the costs of maintaining the public schools.

The new method of allocating state funds to school districts beginning in 1945, however, includes the principle of equalization according to local fiscal ability as well as apportionments based on need. This is accomplished by a formula established by law for basic state aid of $90 per A.D.A. (the amount of the constitutional guarantee) and equalization aid proportionate to the ability of the local districts.[3]

The statutory formula establishes a "foundation program" for each level, elementary high school, and junior college. According to the State Department of Education, "a 'foundation program' is intended to be a minimum acceptable level of school support."[4] The current foundation program for the elementary level is $145 per unit of A.D.A.; high school, $175 per unit of A D.A.; and junior college, $200 per unit of A.D.A.

The formula for computing equalization aid is as follows:

District aid is the computed amount of local support provided by the application of a stipulated rate on 90 percent of each $100 of the assessed valuation of each school district. The current computation rates are: Elementary school, $0.45; high school, $0.32; and junior college, $0.20. To be eligible to receive equalization aid for the 1948-1949 and subsequent school years, the school districts must have levied a minimum tax at the above rates.[5]

Validity of the Equalization Formula

The recent analysis of the principle of equalization applied to the allocation of grants in aid made by the Bureau of Research and Statistics of the Social Security Administration establishes the following basic test for central government grants.

[3] The methods of apportionment of the California State School Fund are explained in an annual bulletin of the State Department of Education For current methods and amounts, see California State Department of Education, Apportionment of the California State School Fund for the Fiscal Year Ending June 30, 1949.

[4] Ibid p vi

[5] Section 7095 of the Education Code

"The basic principle against which to measure the allocation of aid, and test its validity, is that grants from the central government should be directly related to the extent of the need of the receiving units for the government service to be aided, and inversely related to the extent of their ability to pay for the service."[6]

Since this analysis is primarily concerned with equalization factors, the application of this basic test to the apportionment of the California State School Fund for 1948-1949 is confined to the relationship of the equalization grants to local ability. The results of this test applied to the grants for elementary school equalization for 1948-1949 are shown in Table 1.

Table 1 shows the amount of income payments per unit of elementary A.D.A. for 1947, the per pupil amount of equalization grants for 1948-1949 and the county rankings for these two factors. The county rankings of ability as measured by income payments give a rank of one to the county with the greatest amount of income payments per unit of A.D.A. and an inverse rank of one for the lowest amount of equalization grants per pupil. Thus, San Francisco County has a rank of one for both series since it has the greatest ability and no equalization grants.

[1] Income payments data from California State Chamber of Commerce, Research Department, Personal Income of Civilian Residents of California by Counties—1947 (Preliminary) Economic Survey Series 1947-1948, Report No. 41, A. D. A. (1947-1948) from California State Department of Education, Apportionment of the California State School Fund for the Fiscal Year Ending June 30, 1949.

[2] Computed from total amounts of equalization aid as shown by California State Department of Education, Apportionment of the California State School Fund for the Fiscal Year Ending June 30, 1949.

These data show very poor correlation in these rankings of ability and equalization payments as demonstrated by the measure of correlation of .306, whereas the measure of perfect correlation would be 1.000. Approximately 40 percent of the counties show varying degrees of close correlation of these two factors, with three counties having perfect correlation. The other 60 percent, however, show little or no inverse correlation between equalization grants and ability.

An important factor in this analysis is that the amounts of equalization grants shown in Table 1 are the amounts computed according to the provisions of Sections 7091, 7095, and 7121 of the Education Code and not the amounts actually apportioned under the provisions of Sections 7111-7114 of the Education Code. The difference is that the latter sections provide for an adjustment of the computed amounts according to the amount available for equalization purposes. Since the elementary and high school equalization funds had surpluses for the 1948-1949 apportionment, a correction factor of 1.1740134 was applied to the elementary equalization allotments and 1.5746241 was applied to the high school equalization allotments.

The conclusion resulting from this analysis is that the existing formula for the apportionment of equalization aid is defective in that the resulting equalization grants do not meet the test of inverse relationship to local ability. This suggests the need for further analysis and evaluation of the measure of ability used in the equalization formula. Such analysis is included in Part II of this report.

PART II

THE USE OF ASSESSED VALUATION AS A MEASURE OF LOCAL FISCAL ABILITY

When equalization grants were included in the formula for the apportionment of state aid to school districts in 1945, the legislation enacted (A. B. 957) computed the districts contribution to the foundation programs at a specified local tax rate for each educational level applied to the assessed valuation of the district. The 1947 legislation (A. B. 2120) increased the foundation program amounts and the computational tax rates and continued the provisions for application of these rates to the assessed valuation.

Actual assessed valuation was established as the measure of the district's fiscal ability on the strength of an unpublished report of the California Taxpayer's Association which concluded in part that "it is fair to state that assessment methods, and the general control exercised by the State Board of Equalization, are such that a reasonably uniform relationship between true and assessed value exists throughout California. Therefore, it does not seem necessary to weigh or modify any equalization formula for state support of school finance; such variations as exist are minor and are gradually being eliminated to a point where they are insignificant." [7]

[7] Harry M. Howell, Assessment Practices in California Counties and Their Relationship to Measuring Local Ability in Making Contributions to a Foundation Program of Education, Report to The California Cooperative Committee on School Finance, November, 1948, p 1.

Variations in County Assessments

The Howell Report to the California Cooperative Committee on School Finance questions the validity of the above cited conclusion and lists the result of a sample survey of ratios of assessed values to sales values which show decided variations in assessment practices in the several counties in the State. The Howell Report concludes on the basis of this survey and other evidence that property within each school district should be equalized at a designated percentage of true value to avoid the inequities and variations of underassessment in the apportionment of the equalization fund.[8]

Variations in assessment practices of the counties are illustrated by the data in Table 2 showing the percentage changes in the various types of tangible property assessed by the counties from 1941 to 1948. Total net values after exclusion of the value of exempt property increased 70 percent during this period with a range of increase in the individual counties from 8 percent to 124 percent.

Similar variations occur in the changes in assessed values of the various classes of property—land, improvements, and personal property. The average increase in land values for the state as assessed by the counties was 48.8 percent from 1941 to 1948. Five counties, however, showed decreases in land values from 2.8 percent to 15 8 percent and the increases in the other counties from 1.3 to 111.8 percent. The average increase in the assessed value of improvements was 82.5 percent with a county range from 2.1 to 338.5 percent. Personal property values increased from 11.6 to 264.6 percent with an average increase of 121 percent.

Variations in assessed valuations exist within counties as well as between counties as illustrated by the variations which exist in the values established by the county assessor and the city assessor in those instances where city assessments for city tax purposes are independent of the county assessments. These variations were summarized by the State Board of Equalization in its 1947-1948 Annual Report as follows:

> "Approximately one-fourth of the cities doing their own assessing listed property at values 50 percent or more above the county values of the same property; another quarter assessed at between 25 and 50 percent over the county values; a third quarter assessed at somewhere between the county level and 25 percent above it; and the fourth quarter assessed at or below the county level."[9]

The variations in assessment practices are related to the equalization principle in two important respects. The first is the effect of variation in ratios of assessed value to true or market value. Since school district levies are subject to tax limitations a 25 percent ratio in one district will yield half as much revenue as a 50 percent ratio in another district with the same assessed valuation and same maximum tax rate. The ratio of assessed to true value also has important connotations in the amount of state equalization funds required to guarantee the "minimum" or foundation program amounts.

A tendency to nullify the principle of equalization also exists when similar property is valued at varying amounts regardless of the desirable or existing over-all ratio of assessed to true value. As discussed below, the determination of the ratio of assessed to true value in the several counties is an extremely difficult and technical process. It is not difficult, however, to determine the extent of the variations in existing assessment practices The method used for making this determination is to compute the percentage of the assessed valuation of each county to the state total and relate this ratio to the acceptable measure of economic ability such as individual income payments by establishing an index for each county using the percentage of income payments in each county as 100. This is the method used for the comparison shown by the data in Table 3.

The percentage of income payments of each county to the state total is compared with the percentage of county assessments and the total assessed value of all property including public utility values assessed by the State and apportioned to the counties as shown in Table 3. The index of county assessments shows the extent of variation in county assessment practices and the index of total assessed values shows the variations in the total tax base These indices are the same in some counties and vary in other counties depending on the amount of public values apportioned to each county.[10]

In evaluating the data shown in Table 3, it should be noted that these variations are variations in existing ratios of assessed to true value only and do not indicate what the respective ratio might be. In terms of economic ability, an index of less than one hundred indicates underassessment and an index of more than one hundred indicates overassessment in relation to total values and existing assessment practices. These variations, however, do not mean that property is either over or under assessed in relation to true or market value.

Equalization Ratios

The existence of such a wide range of assessment practices as indicated by the data in Table 3 is an important factor in the lack of correlation between local ability and equalization grants as shown in Table 1 and discussed in Part I of this report. The use of actual assessed valuation as a measure of local fiscal ability, therefore, operates against the principle of equalization.

It is often contended that the assessed valuations should be equalized or adjusted for allocation purposes so as to minimize the inequalities of wide variations in assessment practices. The Howell Report, for example, recommends that:

> "Legislation be proposed whereby some state agency (under civil service) be created with an adequate staff to equalize assessments among counties and districts to be used for computation purposes when apportioning equalization aid. If this recommendation should

[10] The same test could be applied to other classes of assessed values of land, improvements, personal property, both inside and outside municipalities become law, the equity of all taxpayers would be served in that the assessed value of all property would be equalized for school support." [11]

Assembly Bill No. 2027 was introduced to accomplish this purpose. This bill provided that the State Board of Equalization would determine the market value of taxable property in each county and that apportionments for school purposes based on assessed value would be adjusted according to the ratios thus established. Many states have established such ratios for the purpose of equalizing the levy of a state property tax and other states that have abandoned the property tax for state purposes use such ratios for apportioning state assessed utility values to the counties for local tax purposes. A third reason for using such ratios is that of computing state aid. New York, for example, has used such ratios for this purpose for a number of years.

States that provide for equalization ratios have found them very useful as one step in their efforts to improve and maintain sound assessment practices as well as for the three principal uses discussed above. Any proposal to establish such ratios in a state not accustomed to their use, however, meets strong opposition from the assessment officials, both state and county. In California, for example, the State Board of Equalization and the county assessors expressed very strong opposition to Assembly Bill No. 2027 in its original form The reason for this opposition is found in the manner in which the State Board of Equalization performs the equalization functions required by the State Constitution and the need for such equalization.

Equalization of assessed values by the State is not new to California but its present need is of recent date. Historically, the equalization function of the State Board of Equalization dates back to 1869.[12] The principle of separation of sources of revenue for the state and local governments adopted in 1911 eliminated state tax levies and state assessment of tangible property and greatly reduced the State's interest in and need for equalization. This need reappeared when the State resumed the function of assessing the tangible property of public utilities in 1935. Attempts to equalize county assessments caused considerable confusion and led to a change in the board's equalization policy resulting in the establishment of the Division of Assessment Standards in 1938 to work with the local assessors in improving assessment standards and practices. This change in policy is explained by the Board of Equalization as follows:

"The constitutional provision for state equalization, as interpreted by the courts, restricts the board's authority to the ordering of horizontal percentage changes in all tangible property assessments. Although it can easily be demonstrated that such orders, if based on proper evidence of average assessment levels, produces greater equity than no orders at all, they magnify, and hence appear to increase *intra*county disparities. For example, if one class of property is assessed at 50 percent of its value, another at 35 percent, and the weighted average assessment level is 40 percent, the equalization order required to lift the average to 50 percent will raise the first class of property to 62.5 percent and the second to [11] Harry M Howell, op. cit. p. 15.

[12] California State Board of Equalization, Biennial Report 1945-1946, pp. 4-6.

43.75 percent, thus increasing the spread from 15 percentage points to 18.75 percentage points. Where individual properties or even some class averages are raised above full value, as often happens, the illusion of unjustice is especially strong. Thus equalization is often blamed for some of the ills which rightly should be attributed to faulty original assessment

It is the board's belief, however, that substantial improvement in the distribution of property taxes can only be achieved by securing better original assessments and that its equalization powers, however diligently exercised, will have no appreciable influence upon such assessments. Moreover, there is the danger that equalization orders will create so much ill will among local officials and taxpayers that they will nullify the board's efforts to improve original assessments under its other statutory directives." [13]

The above quotation substantiates the opposition of the assessors and supervising officials to Assembly Bill No 2027 even though there has been ample demonstration of the need for equalization ratios for use in connection with equalization grants and their contention that the equalization functions of the State Board of Equalization are adequately performed through the activities of the Division of Assessment Standards. This contention, however, is not shared by all concerned as illustrated by the recommendation of the Legislative Auditor that the Division of Assessment Standards should be abolished and that its functions transferred to the Valuation Division inasmuch as its equalizations are not effective.[14]

The Assembly Committee on Education amended Assembly Bill No. 2027 to eliminate the requirements that the market value be determined by the State Board of Equalization and substituted the provision that this determination should be made by the Department of Finance on the basis of information required to be submitted by the Board of Equalization. This is similar to provisions enacted by other states whereby equalization ratios are used for the purpose of computing equalization grants and are not necessarily a part of the assessment process.

PART III

ALTERNATIVE MEASURES OF FISCAL CAPACITY

The difficulties of obtaining equalized assessed valuations have prompted some states to discard the traditional property measure of ability and adopt other measures of fiscal capacity as a basis for computing equalization grants. An additional reason for adopting some other measure of fiscal capacity is that tangible property is no longer an adequate measure of the potential resources available for the support of necessary functions of government.

The method adopted for use of the ability factor is just as important as the selection of the factor. The use of the computational tax to determine the amount of district aid described in Part I of this report places undue emphasis on assessed valuation whereas the dollar amount of the local contribution to the foundation program is the important factor. In other words, if the districts were required to raise a given amount as the local share, a tax rate would be applied which would yield the specified amount and the assessment ratio would be unimportant.

Alabama, for example, determines the total amount of money to be raised as the local contribution to the minimum program with the balance to be supplied by the state. Each county's share of the total local funds is then determined by an independent index of economic ability.

The independent index of economic ability used by Alabama and other states is composed of such factors as population, retail sales, motor vehicle registrations, production, number of individual income tax returns, and other factors particularly related to the economy of the state. This is an adaptation of the index developed by Francis G. Cornell, a leading specialist in school finance.[15]

The Cornell Index was first developed to predict equalized assessed value, and according to Mort and Reusser, proved to be more closely related to equalized valuations than are the actual assessments.[16] An index of economic ability of this type can be and is used either as an independent measure of fiscal capacity or as a device for adjusting assessed values for equalization purposes.

Income Payments to Individuals

A more recent development of decided promise is that of measuring fiscal ability by use of income payments and per capita incomes as estimated and developed by the Department of Commerce. This series has been used for many years to measure comparative fiscal abilities among the states.[17] Official acceptance of the state income series as a fair measure of economic ability and thus of potential fiscal ability is evidenced by the requirements of laws and regulations for the use of this measure in federal grants for hospital construction, public health, school lunch program, and Children's Bureau aid.[18] The Federal Education Aid Bill uses variable grants measured by income payments as the basis for the distribution of the $300,000,000 proposed aid for this purpose.

The acceptability of this series as a measure of relative fiscal capacity of the states and its wide use in recent federal legislation and regulation suggests the possibility and desirability of this measure for equalization grants by the state to the local units. Bureau Memorandum No. 66 of the Bureau of Research and Statistics, Social Security Administration states that "with continuing improvements in techniques and statistics for measuring income payments to individuals in each state, more and more workers in this area of fiscal ability have come to endorse the use of income payments as a measure of fiscal ability."

The advantages of the income payment index as a measure of fiscal ability as stated by the above Memorandum are that it is readily understandable and that most people now recognize the merit of the argument that all taxes tend to come out of income so that income payments to individuals represent a reasonable index of ability to support the cost of governmental services. Income payments, therefore, is perhaps a more adequate taxpaying ability for such counties as those adjacent to the Bay area than is assessable property for such counties. Bureau Memorandum No. 66 states that the income payments index "is free from the subjectivity associated with many of the earlier alternatives. This objectivity becomes increasingly true as more complete and reliable data (often of a census type) on income and wages are made available in the normal course of operation of various governmental programs such as social insurance. These developments increase the reliability of the income-payments series, which in turn increases its acceptability among all types of users, including legislators, economists, statisticians, government officials, and the public generally." [19]

The question arises as to whether the state total of income payments can be determined for the counties with the same validity as the national total is determined for the states? The answer is that a county index is already used in California as a measure of the economic ability of the counties The 1946 California Blue Book uses this index as one of the measures of such ability. An annual series has been developed by the State Chamber of Commerce for this purpose. The State Board of Equalization also lists this index as one of the principal measures of economic ability. A recent board study of assessment practices lists this series next to population and ahead of assessed valuations.[20]

A considerable amount of work has been done in this field to test the accuracy of such county estimates and it has been established that the estimated incomes will have not more than a few percentage points variation from the actual amounts provided that the correct statistical procedures are employed.[21] The experience of the National Income Unit of the Department of Commerce shows that actual use of this series brings continuous refinement of methods. The California Index has been used in this analysis as the basis for the data in Tables 1 and 3.

In summary, it may be concluded that sufficient and adequate data are available for use of income payments to individuals as an index of county fiscal ability and that this index would be more equitable than the existing measure of assessed valuation.

The following prayer was offered by the Chaplain, Dr. Torrance Phelps:

God of Eternity: May we have a new vision of time not measured by clock or calendar, but by youthfulness of spirit.

The soul within us is ageless and never grows old and though winter may whiten our brow Eternal Spring can dwell within.

May we see that the signs of old age which all people dread are the pessimist's sneer, the coward's fear and the fretful moods that ruffle our serenity.

Let us cherish the youthful mind, which begins each day with eagerness, eyes with wonder this dazzling universe and hungers to explore the unknown

May we find the Fountain of Everlasting Youth in the ardent love for the ideals which are eternally young and live on that higher plane of faith and lovingkindness which never loses its bloom —AMEN.

Point of Order

Mr. Conrad arose to the following point of order: That the vote has been announced, and Mr. Burke is not in order.

Ruling by Speaker

Speaker Sam L. Collins ruled the point of order well taken.

Request for Unanimous Consent That Vote Be Changed

Messrs. Waters and Burke asked for, and were granted, unanimous consent that Mr. Burke be permitted to change his vote on Assembly Bill No. 533 from, "Aye" to "No" and that he be recorded as voting "No."

Mr. Doyle gave notice that on the next legislative day he would move to reconsider the vote whereby Assembly Bill No. 533 was this day refused passage.

Explanations of Vote

I voted "Aye" on Assembly Bill No. 533 because I believe that if it be right to bet on horses inside a race track the same privilege should be granted to bet on the same horses outside the track.

J. B. COOKE

Betting on horse racing at the race tracks in California is made legal by law. I see no difference in betting, whether it be at the side of the race track or elsewhere; therefore I am voting for Assembly Bill No. 533

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by the Chaplain, Dr. Torrance Phelps:

Infinite God: May we pause this morning to sharpen our moral sense, realizing that Thy first commandments are for right doing.

Give us the vision to see the point where principles of right must ever prevail over self interest and personal advantages.

The crises when we are tempted to forget the welfare of the country and posterity and to think of what do we get.

The courage to see that there will be occasions when the public interest and personal advantages conflict and when patriotism may call for sacrifice for the honor of the State.

May we see that in the long run patriotism and personal profit are one, and that expediency is a fatal policy.

May we follow the course conscience and patriotism command—AMEN.

Amendment No. 2

On page 1 of said bill, after line 9, insert

"SEC. 2. Section 3065a of said code is amended to read

3065a The lien created by the last preceding section shall continue in force for a period of 30 days from the time the person claiming such lien shall have ceased to do or perform the work or render the service for which said lien is claimed, while such logs, lumber or other manufactured timber products are in the county in which such labor was performed or service rendered, and said lien shall cease at the expiration of the said 30 days unless the claimant thereof, or his assignee or successor in interest, brings suit to foreclose the same, in which case the lien continues in force until the said lien foreclosure suit is finally determined and closed, and in case such proceeding be not prosecuted to trial within two years after the commencement thereof, the court may in its discretion dismiss the same for want of prosecution If any part of the property on which the lien existed is removed from the said county, the lien continues on the balance remaining in the county to the full extent of the claim.

The plaintiff in any such lien foreclosure suit, at the time of issuing the summons or at any time afterwards, may have the logs, lumber and other manufactured timber products upon which such lien subsists attached, as provided in this code and the Code of Civil Procedure, except that no undertaking shall be required of the plaintiff in any such foreclosure suit, upon delivering to the clerk an affidavit, by or on behalf of the plaintiff, showing that, (1) the plaintiff, or his assignor or predecessor in interest, performed labor or used his livestock, machinery or appliances [,] or both in felling, preparing or transporting the said logs or in manufacturing the said lumber or other timber products or both; (2) that such labor or use of livestock, machinery or appliances has not been paid for; (3) that the sum for which the attachment is asked does not exceed the reasonable value of the services rendered or the reasonable value of the use of the livestock, machinery or appliances, as the case may be, and (4) that the attachment is not sought and the action is not brought to hinder, delay or defraud any creditor or creditors of any defendant.

Any number of persons claiming liens under this and the next preceding section may join in the same action and when separate actions are commenced, the court may consolidate them. Whenever upon the sale of the property subject to the liens provided for in this and the next preceding section, under the judgment or decree of foreclosure of such lien or liens, there is a deficiency of proceeds, the proceeds shall be divided pro rata among the lien claimants whose liens are established, regardless of the order in which the liens were created or the order in which the suits to foreclose same were commenced, and judgment for the deficiency may be docketed against the party personally liable therefor and his sureties, in like manner and with like effect as in actions for the foreclosure of mortgages

Nothing contained in this or the next preceding section shall be construed to impair or affect the right of any person to whom any debt may be due for work done, or for the use of livestock, machinery or appliances, to maintain a personal action to recover said debt against the person liable therefor, or his sureties, either in connection with the lien suit or in a separate action, and the person bringing such personal action may take out a separate attachment therefor, notwithstanding his lien, and in his affidavit to procure an attachment need not state that his demand is not secured by a lien, and the judgment, if any, obtained by the plaintiff in such personal action shall not be construed to impair or merge any lien held by said plaintiff under this or the next preceding section; provided, only, that any money collected on said judgment shall be credited on the amount of such lien in any action brought to enforce the same, in accordance with the provisions of this section."

By Mr. Sam L. Collins:

House Resolution No. 189

Requesting the Assembly Interim Committee on Governmental Efficiency and Economy to study and investigate the laws and regulations relating to the registration of engineers, and the administration thereof

WHEREAS, From time to time complaints have been received by Members of the Assembly relating to the administration of the laws governing registration of engineers; and

WHEREAS, Many complaints allege that arbitrary discrimination is practiced by the State Board of Registration for Engineers in various matters, and particularly, that graduates of our own state universities and certain colleges and universities are not afforded the same credit for their educational achievements and degrees of engineering as are afforded graduates of other institutions; and

WHEREAS, Further arbitrary exclusion of licensing many engineers whose scholastic standing is as high and whose degrees are at least equal and whose experience exceeds by many years the greatest conceivable requirement of those now in the profession hampers and handicaps the building and development program of the State; and

WHEREAS, It is necessary that the Assembly be fully informed as to all facts relating to any phase of this subject, in order that it may determine what, if any, legislative action is needed; and

WHEREAS, The ascertainment of such facts and the investigation of such subject falls within the scope of the powers and duties conferred and imposed upon the Assembly Interim Committee on Governmental Efficiency and Economy; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, by the Assembly of the State of California, That the existing Assembly Interim Committee on Governmental Efficiency and Economy, or any committee created at this session with similar powers and duties, is hereby requested to study and investigate all laws and regulations relating to the registration of engineers, the administration thereof by the State Board of Registration for Civil Engineers, and all other matters relating to or in any way bearing upon the recitals of this resolution, and to report thereon to the Assembly, including in its report its recommendations for appropriate legislation.

Infinite Justice: We pray this morning that the great State of California may appreciate the services rendered by the Members of this Assembly.

As some of the most important work done in these trying times, the work that determines the welfare of millions, young and old.

May the people of the State realize the sacrifices of time and means their representatives make, and realize as Scripture says, "The laborer is worthy of his hire."

May the people see that their representatives should receive support corresponding to their immense responsibility, and the State should not expect them to look about for lobbies and special interests for material support.

May the citizens of this fabulous State not expect their representatives, who must be experts in civic affairs, to work for nothing and live merely on the honor of being an Assemblyman.—AMEN.

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE
SACRAMENTO, May 19, 1949

To the Honorable Members of the Assembly
State of California, Sacramento, California

GREETINGS: I am returning herewith, without my signature,

Assembly Bill No. 2898, entitled "An act validating the formation and existence of county water works districts and all proceedings for the issuance of bonds and all bonds heretofore issued or sold and all proceedings for the issuance of bonds heretofore had and taken by such districts, and providing for the payment of such bonds."

My objection to this bill is as follows:

This is a validating act for county water works districts. There are pending several general validating acts for public agencies, including this type of district. Inasmuch as nothing would be accomplished by this act that would not be accomplished by the general validating act, approval of this bill would not add anything to the general acts to follow. This matter has been discussed with the author, and he is agreeable to the bill being returned without my approval.

Respectfully submitted,

EARL WARREN, Governor

Assembly Bill No. 2898 ordered to unfinished business file.

DEAR ERNEST: From representations made to the Area Water Committee the matters in controversy over admission of additional areas to the Metropolitan Water District show definite promise of being settled to the satisfaction of all concerned.

House Resolution No. 205

Relative to immediate provision for the continuation of child care centers

WHEREAS, Under the present law all child care centers must be closed on or before June 30, 1949, and the moneys made available by the Budget Act of 1948 for their administration and support will cease to be available on that date; and

WHEREAS, There are pending in the Legislature bills to permit the continuance of child care centers after June 30, 1949, and to provide funds for their support until June 30, 1950, namely Assembly Bill No. 707, now in the Senate Committee on Finance, and Assembly Bill No. 1138, now in the Assembly Committee on Ways and Means, after having received from the Assembly Committee on Education the recommendation "Do pass and re-refer to Committee on Ways and Means"; and

WHEREAS, Unless provisions for the continuation of child care centers and provision for funds for their administration and support are made at once the parents of the children cared for in such centers will be notified of their immediate closing, and preparations will be made therefor; and to alleviate the fears and mental anguish of such parents and prevent the disruption of the child care center program through loss of personnel and otherwise it is necessary that such legislative action be taken at once; and

WHEREAS, The passage of Assembly Bill No. 707, providing for the continuation of child care centers without the passage of Assembly Bill No. 1138, making the necessary funds available, would not allay the apprehensions of the parents nor assure the continued operation of the child care centers; and

WHEREAS, Section 34a of Article IV of the Constitution provides that until the Budget Bill has been finally enacted, neither house shall place upon final passage any other appropriation bill, except emergency bills recommended by the Governor or appropriations for the salaries, mileage, and expenses of the Senate and Assembly; and, therefore, Assembly Bills No. 1138 and No. 707 cannot be placed upon final passage in the Assembly or Senate without such recommendation from the Governor; now, therefore, be it

Mr. Berry asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent that the remarks by Mr. Meyers, relative to House Resolution No. 206, be reduced to writing, and ordered printed in the Journal.

REMARKS BY MR. MEYERS RELATIVE TO HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 206

Mr. Speaker and Members of the Assembly and Honorable Tom Maloney: I should like to add my very best wishes and a few remarks to those which have been stated by my colleagues. Tom, as you know, is 60 years of age, but he is as active as a man of 30. He was born in San Francisco in the section known as South of Market, and commonly referred to by the old timers as "South of the Slot." Tom's family and my dad's family lived and were reared within a few blocks of each other.

This morning I had to contact my dad, and in the course of the conversation I informed him that it was Tom's birthday, and that before adjourning the fellows had a resolution drawn up, which they were going to read. I then asked him if he could inform me of some activities of Senator Maloney in his younger days. I know the following information will prove of interest to all present:

Tom was a typical young, Irish San Franciscan, he was one of the gang who pulled the Chinamen's pigtails and then ran, he also took an active part in removing laundry from their little carts, in addition using the sling shot on the Chinamen's windows. One of Tom's main activities was swimming in the old mail dock, at the confluence of the SEA and the SEWER (with apologies to Mr. Randal Dickey).

It was a common occurrence if you were present at the Maloney house on Saturday night to receive your bath in the round family wash tub. This, of course, applied to the younger members of the family. You can imagine the crowded condition when 18 members of the family started that Saturday night bath.

After mentioning these few boyhood activities of Tom I should like to touch on just a few of his many accomplishments. Tom, with his brother Pete, started the Annual Mothers' Day Celebration in San Francisco. This event has proved to be one of the most important yearly affairs in the City of St. Francis. To these breakfasts Tom and Pete would make arrangements to bring large numbers of mothers who were confined to various homes, and who would have been completely forgotten on this day had it not been for the considerate and thoughtful Tom Maloney. This yearly event is looked forward to with a great deal of pleasure by these elderly mothers. There is one duty for which he is best fitted, and that is when he visits the various homes to extend the invitation to the elderly mothers to be present at the breakfast. Words cannot express the happiness that is reflected in their eyes.

At Christmas time Tom again is moving about bringing good cheer to the sick and the poor. Christmas after Christmas I have known him to organize groups to help distribute on that day baskets containing a full Christmas dinner.

There was another very important association and movement which Tom was instrumental in founding and that association is known as the SHUT INS The purpose of this group is to make arrangements to take crippled persons confined to their homes on special outings and affairs It was nothing for Tom to organize a caravan of cars and to have a hundred shut ins at the opening of the baseball, basketball, or racing season

One of the largest tasks the Shuts Ins Association undertook was when Tom organized and transported over four hundred shut ins to the Worlds Fair in San Francisco on Treasure Island in 1939.

These accomplishments are just a few of the many fine things that Tom has done and stands for in the civic life of San Francisco

A few weeks ago Tom received an honor of which I know he was very proud. The State Teachers' College of San Francisco, which is in the process of being built, had the dedication of its new athletic stadium. The stadium was named and dedicated MALONEY STADIUM. This in itself is significant of the regard in which Tom Maloney is held.

The younger people could find no better friend than Tom; he can be best described as a man's man; he started as a longshoreman on the waterfront in San Francisco and raised himself to one of the highest positions in the Government of our State; he is a friend of labor and equally friendly to business. Tom is always at home on the waterfront, at an executive meeting, or at a formal dinner Tom is an exemplary father and representative of the typical American family. Tom is loved and revered by all members who have served with him in the San Francisco Delegation After being elected many of our mutual friends commended him on his outstanding achievements as a legislator. Such former colleagues as Raymond Williamson, Pat McMurray, Gerald Haggerty, Bill Hornblower, Joe Gilmore, Mel Cronin, Albert Wollenberg, Edward O'Day, and Raymond Blosser join with me in wishing Tom a very happy birthday.

In conclusion, I should like to say that Tom has the respect and gratitude of all the newcomers of the Assembly for the ever helping hand and sincere advice he has always extended to us. I might say, to 'Tom it has made no difference whether you are a Republican or a Democrat Tom Maloney is always there willing and able to do whatever he can to assist I, myself, am ever grateful and appreciative of the assistance and guidance that Tom Maloney has given me in my first few months in the Legislature. He has known me since I was a baby, and although there was no direct relationship, I consider him as an uncle; and here, Tom, is a little gift, and with it go the very best of wishes for a happy birthday and many more to follow.

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by the Chaplain, Dr. Torrance Phelps:

O God of Glory: Let us today look with new eyes upon the American Flag, whose glamorous beauty thrills us, and whose stars and stripes are the symbols of our history and ideals.

The red stripes that represent the sanguinary sacrifices of the heroes who fought and died for our Republic from Bunker Hill and Valley Forge to Gettysburg and Chateau Thierry, and from Normandy to Attu and the South Seas.

The white representing the ideals of character, the white light of purity and of intelligence, and the bright light that streams from liberty, justice, and equality of opportunity.

The blue symbolizing the spirit of fidelity which Nathan Hale exemplified, and which died on Guam rather than surrender, the fidelity which scoffed at the ring of steel at Bastogne, and the fidelity which today subordinates our interests to the general good.

May the stars in their field of blue remind us of the many states in the Union, and that North and South, and East and West must all be one and one for all.

God grant that this glorious banner, to which we pledge allegiance, may forever wave over a land of free men, who prize their blood-bought liberties, and who will ever strive for its unsullied glory.—AMEN.

GENTLEMEN:

Assembly Bill No. 1363, "An act making an appropriation in augmentation of the appropriation in Item 244 of the Budget Act of 1948, for support of the Department of Motor Vehicles, to take effect immediately," in my opinion constitutes an emergency bill within the meaning of that term as used in Section 34 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California, the consideration of which should not await the final enactment of the Budget Bill.

The appropriation provided in this bill is necessary to meet payrolls in the department during the balance of this fiscal year.

I therefore recommend consideration of Assembly Bill No. 1363 as an emergency measure.

Respectfully submitted,

EARL WARREN, Governor

By Mr. Morris:

House Resolution No. 213

Relating to the packaging of ice cream

WHEREAS, There have been numerous reports of short measure in the sale of ice cream to consumers either through void spaces left in hand-packed containers during filling or due to slack fill in machine-filled containers due to air release in product having high air content at time of packaging; and

WHEREAS, Great difficulty is encountered by weights and measures enforcement officials in successfully presenting cases of short measure or slack fill of ice cream containers due to the nature of the product not retaining its more solid consistency during the period same must be held for use as evidence; and

WHEREAS, Recent statements in the press indicate that University of California research scientists have discovered methods which stabilize the contents of prepackaged ice cream against shrinkage during handling; and

WHEREAS, Ice cream manufacturers' representatives have suggested that better standards and techniques in the preparation of ice cream can be developed to prevent the great variance in current non-uniform over-run percentages and that with improvement in manufacturing practices and standards there can be greater uniformity in the measure or weight of the product without sacrifice of quality or food value; and

WHEREAS, The California Association of Weights and Measures Officials has expressed the belief and presented evidence to show that there will be less short measure to consumers if ice creams were to be sold by weight; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Dairy Products Research Branch of the University of California and the California Sealers Association each be requested to submit a report to the 1951 Legislature upon the feasibility of modernizing practices so that ice cream and ice cream products may be sold by weight and that the ice cream manufacturing industry be requested to report on its efforts to standardize its products against variation in air content and over-run percentages; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly be instructed to bring this resolution to the attention of all official agencies and industry representatives who may have an interest in the subject matter of this resolution.

Resolution read, and ordered referred to the Committee on Rules.

Its guarantee of the inalienable rights of the individual, freedom of worship and of speech, freedom of assembly and freedom from arbitrary government regulation.

Honor it for its personal rights of privacy in our homes, its insurance of justice through habeas corpus and trial by jury, and for the right to choose our own work and to own and control our property, the source of incentive

God help us in this troubled world to stand by the Constitution whose blessings have made this Country surpass the dreams of the ages, the model and hope of mankind —AMEN

WHEREAS, In almost no phase of modern life can human activity be entirely separated from the influence of motor vehicles; and

WHEREAS, This influence has made itself particularly noticeable in California where the high standard of living and the great distances to be traversed have caused immense numbers of motor vehicles to appear and remain in every part of the State; and

WHEREAS, Due to the constantly increasing numbers of motor vehicles, the evolution of the motor vehicle into a higher type capable of greater speeds and greater use and the adaptation and specialization of motor vehicles to meet new and increasing needs, this Legislature is confronted with problems constantly increasing in number and complexity which necessitate continuous investigation, study, and ascertainment of facts in order that appropriate legislation may be enacted for enhancing the control, enjoyment, and efficiency of motor vehicles and reducing the hazard of their use; now, therefore, be it
