ADDRESS

Pursuant to the provisions of a motion in the Assembly Journal of Tuesday, May 3rd, the following address was ordered printed in the Journal today:

ADDRESS DELIVERED BY DR. F. C. SCHWARZ OF SYDNEY, AUSTRALIA TO THE ASSEMBLY OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA ON TUESDAY, MAY 3, 1955

The Diagnosis Prognosis and Treatment of the Disease of Communism

Members of The Assembly: I wish to express my deep appreciation of the honor you have bestowed upon me in granting me this privilege of addressing you.

I am by profession a physician and surgeon, presently engaged in the investigation of the diagnosis, the prognosis and the treatment of a malignant killing disease. A disease that has already conquered one-third of the people of the earth and watered the ground with the blood of millions. This disease will, by every scientific prediction, destroy the lives of millions more in the coming generation. I refer to the malignancy of civilization known as Communism.

When the medical profession is confronted with a disease, there are two essential preliminary steps before adequate treatment can be commenced. These two steps are diagnosis and prognosis. The term diagnosis is very generally understood, but the term prognosis is not so commonly used. By prognosis is meant a scientific estimate of the future course the disease will take. The severity of the condition cannot be measured merely by the momentary systems, these may be minor and insignificant and yet they may be within the disease a future catastrophy, limitless in its dimension. An attempt must be made to understand the laws of operation of the condition and to study them and predict the future course. Treatment must be based not only upon what is, but also upon what shall be.

The Prognosis of Communism

How serious is the future peril that Communism presents to the health, well-being, life, and liberty of the citizens of the free world? Upon an answer to this question, the radical nature of treatment methods will depend. The authority by which we measure progress and retrogration of movements is the authority of number, so let us take a look at the figures and honestly assist their verdict.

In 1903, Lenin, established Bolshevism with 17 supporters. In 1917, Lenin conquered Russia with 40,000 supporters. In 1955, the party of Lenin is in iron control of 900 million. It will be noted that this figure of 900 million is not the number of the Communists but the number of those conquered by the Communists. They do not propose the immediate transformation of the people of the world into Communists They propose the conquest of the entire world by the Communists. They have not left us in any doubt concerning this. The foreign languages press of Peking, China published in 1951 a book entitled How to Be a Good Communist. The author is Liu Shao-Chi, the leading theoritician of Communist China, and probably the world's leading theoretical Communist of the present day. The book consists of his lectures, first delivered to the Marxist-Leninist Institute in Yanan in July, 1939. Here are two direct quotations: "What is the most fundamental and common duty of us Communist Party members? As everybody knows, it is to establish Communism, to transform the present world into a Communist world." and "therefore, the cause of Communism has become a powerful, invincible force throughout the world. There is not the slightest doubt that this force will continue to develop and advance and will win final and complete victory. Despite this, however, the strength of the international reactionary forces and of the exploiting classes are still more powerful than ours and for the time being are still predominant in many respects. Consequently, we shall have to go through a long, bitter, circuitous and arduous process of struggle before we defeat them."

The Communists are repeatedly on record that they propose to conquer the world. They are making incredibly rapid progress toward that end, the prognosis is dark and terrible. Nevertheless, an honest acknowledgement of the prognosis is the only possible basis for effective treatment.

Diagnosis of Communism

Sound diagnosis is the essential minimum of sound treatment. There is a medical maxim which states it is better to have the right operation done poorly than the wrong operation done very well. If the trouble is in the appendix, the removal of the gall bladder by the world's most brilliant surgeon may, in itself, constitute a magnificent process but it is not adequate to treat the condition. If the diagnosis is inaccurate the treatment will inevitably be misdirected and ineffective.

I submit that the majority of the treatment directed against Communism rests upon a faulty diagnosis. Communism has been diagnosed as a movement of the working class, originating in poor economic conditions. This suggests a treatment directed to the alleviation of economic conditions. This half truth has proved to be infinitely more dangerous than an obvious lie. Communism never originates in the working class, although this concept is very widespread. It was well expressed to me when in Portland, Oregon, I went to collect my laundry. I mentioned to the laundryman the frightening figures of Communist advance. He became profoundly disturbed, and he replied: "We must do something, we must feed them, no man ever became a Communist on a full stomach." I looked at him quietly for a moment. I said "I could mention one or two, Karl Marx, Frederick Engels, Vladimar Lenin, Joseph Stalin, Molotov, Voroshilov, Bulganin, Mao Tse-Tung, Chou En-lai, Liu, Shoa-Chi, Ho Chi Minh, Alger Hiss, Hal Ware, William Remington, Whittaker Chambers, every major world Communist figure who became a Communist in a non-Communist country did so not as a man of the working class but as a student intellectual, a materialist in philosophy, atheist in faith, and scientific in outlook. Communism emerges from Godless materialism to exploit poverty. The great recruiting ground is the institution of learning."

While we are concentrating upon the treatment of the bodies of the people of the world the Communists are concentrating on their minds, they are inundating the world with a vast literature campaign presenting two central ideas: first, Russia is Heaven and, second, America is Hell. The tragedy is they have convinced a great percentage of the people of the world that these two lies are true.

As a visitor I take the privilege of speaking to you frankly about your great Country. It has written a record in deeds that should make every American citizen proud. Your presence blesses your labors, it does not course across unguarded borders; the citizens of Canada and Mexico live in peace and security, and yet the Communists have convinced multitudes throughout the world that America is evil, imperialist and beastly, threatening the peace of the entire world. Facts do not speak, they must be known before they speak.

Treatment

Recently, in Houston, Texas, a man asked me a pointed question. "What would you do if you were President of the United States?" I replied: "I would re-direct the treatment of Communism from the bodies to the minds of the people of the earth." Our present policy seems to be directed to providing better homes, better food, and better lighting so they can read the Communist literature in greater comfort and learn to hate us more effectively. We need a vast educational program both internally and world wide. Internally it must be directed to a revaluation of the fundamentally evil nature of Communism, based on Godless materialism, degrading man to beastiality, and utterly contemptuous of human compassion and moral values. It must re-affirm the principles of Godliness and human dignity that underly this great Country. It must re-create that pride in the American way of life which is the natural heritage of every American citizen. On the world-wide scale it must tell the truth to the thinking young of the earth, the truth about America, her generous heart, her love of peace, and her desire to befriend all the peoples of the world. This story must be told in books as well printed, as well illustrated, as widely distributed, and as little in cost as those provided by the Communists.

There are two pillars upon which any program to combat Communism must stand. They are an enlightened public opinion and a courageous dedicated people. Without these we are lost. This is the hour of decision in which the citizens of the free world must dedicate themselves to their God, to their Country, and to human liberty with a completeness and passion equal to that shown by the Communists.

May I conclude by quoting from one of your poets:

"Where the Northern ocean darkens,
Where the rolling rivers run,
Past the cold and empty headland,
Towards the slow and westering sun,
There our fathers long before us
Armed with freedom faced the deep.
What they built with love and labor
Let their children watch and keep!

There are dark and dreaming forests
By our clear and shining skies,
By our green and ripening prairies
Where the Western mountains rise.
God who gave our fathers freedom
God who made our fathers brave
What they built with love and anguish
Let their children watch and save!"

Amendment No. 6

Strike out page 2, and insert "higher offer, confirm the sale to such person and fix a reasonable compensation for the services to the estate of the agent, if any, producing the successful bidder, or, in its discretion, order a new sale. If more than one written offer in an amount at least 10 percent more on the first ten thousand dollars ($10,000) bid and 5 percent more on the amount of the bid in excess of ten thousand dollars ($10,000) is made to the court by responsible persons, and if any such increased bid complies with all the provisions of the law, the court shall accept such highest increased bid, confirm the sale to the person making such increased bid, and fix a reasonable compensation for the services to the estate of the agent, if any, producing the successful bidder or, in its discretion, order a new sale. The compensation of the agent producing the successful bidder shall not exceed one-half of the difference between the amount of the bid in the original return and the amount of the successful bid, but such limitation shall not apply to any compensation of the agent holding the contract with the executor or administrator.

For the purposes of this section the amount of a bid shall be determined by the court without regard to any commission on the amount of such bid to which an agent may be entitled by virtue of a contract with the executor or administrator. It shall be determined without regard to any condition of the bid that a certain amount thereof be paid to an agent by the executor or administrator, but notwithstanding that a bid contains such a condition, only such compensation to an agent as is proper under the preceding provisions of this section shall be allowed, and acceptance of the bid by the court binds the bidder though the compensation so allowed is less than the compensation to which the agent would be entitled had the condition been observed.

SEC. 3. This act is an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health or safety within the meaning of Article IV of the Constitution and shall go into immediate effect. The facts constituting such necessity are:

The wording of the sections of the Probate Code amended by this act and a recent district court of appeal decision have resulted in great uncertainty in the minds of real estate agents and brokers as to their right to compensation, and the amount thereof, when producing bids for real property in the estate of a decedent This uncertainty has resulted in a sharp decrease in the number and amount of bids made for such property. Often such property constitutes the bulk of an estate and a substantially increased bid for the property would mean comfortable rather than substandard living conditions for the widow or widower and children of the decedent. This act, by eliminating the uncertainty referred to, will tend to increase the number and amount of bids, to the benefit of such widows, widowers, children, and other devisees, legatees, or heirs of the decedent."

Recommendation of the Governor

In accordance with Article IV, Section 34, of the Constitution, the Governor presented the following communication recommending the consideration of Senate Bill No. 1387:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE
SACRAMENTO, March 25, 1955

To the Honorable Members of the Assembly
Sacramento, California

GENTLEMEN:

Senate Bill No. 1387, "An act to repeal Chapter 9 of Division 2 of the Business and Professions Code; Divisions 15 and 22 of the Health and Safety Code; Chapter 8, Division 8 of the Business and Professions Code, and to add Chapter 9 to Division 2 of the Business and Professions Code, relating to pharmacy," in my opinion constitutes an emergency bill within the meaning of that term as used in Section 34 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California, the consideration of which should not await the final enactment of the Budget Bill.

This bill re-codifies the Pharmacy Law of the State of California. I am advised that it, in fact, makes no new appropriation of money. It is necessary that this bill be passed as early in the session as possible in order that the law in the new form will be on the books and it will then be possible to consider subsequent changes in the Pharmacy Law at the present session of the Legislature.

I therefore recommend consideration of Senate Bill No. 1387 as an emergency measure.

Respectfully submitted.

GOODWIN J. KNIGHT, Governor

The petition shall describe the territory sought to be excluded and shall set forth that such territory is not substantially benefited by being in the district or its continued inclusion therein and shall pray that such territory be excluded and taken from said district. It shall be filed with the secretary and accompanied by a deposit with the secretary of the sum of five hundred dollars ($500), to meet expenses of advertising and costs incident to the proceedings, any unconsumed balance to be returned to the petitioner or petitioners.

Upon the filing of the petition, the secretary shall transmit a copy thereof to the Department of Public Works, Division of Water Resources, which acting by and through the State Engineer shall make an investigation and determine whether the lands proposed to be excluded, or some portion thereof, will not be substantially benefited by their continued inclusion in the district. In making a determination upon any such petition for exclusion of lands the State Engineer shall exercise his own independent judgment as to whether the lands described in the petition for exclusion will be substantially benefited by remaining in the district, and the State Engineer shall not be bound by the findings of the Legislature in this act with respect thereto. Upon completing such investigation, the department shall file its report with the secretary, which shall describe specifically the lands, if any, which will not be so benefited. The cost and expense of such investigation and report shall be a charge against the district and against the deposit made by the petitioners.

Upon the filing of the report, the secretary shall fix a time when the petition and report will be presented to the board, which shall be not less than 25 days nor more than 50 days after the filing of the report, and shall cause a notice of the filing thereof to be published once a week for at least two weeks in one newspaper of general circulation printed and published in each county within which any portion of the district lies. Such notice shall also state the date of the filing of the petition and the date of the filing of the report and the time when he will present them to the board and that they will come on for hearing before the board at such time and shall state the place where the board will meet for the purpose of holding such hearing. Any landowner or taxpayer or other person interested within the district shall have the right to appear at said hearing either in behalf of or in opposition to the granting of said petition. If upon such hearing the board determines that the petition complies with the provisions of this section and determines either that it is for the best interests of the district that the lands mentioned in the petition, or some portion thereof, be excluded from the district or if it determines that such lands, or some portion thereof, will not be substantially benefited by their continued inclusion in the district (and lands which the report of the Department of Public Works states will not be so benefited shall be included as such lands by the board in making its determination), the board shall make an order that such lands, or such portion thereof, be excluded from the district, such order to describe specifically the land so excluded. From the time of making such order, the lands so excluded shall be deemed no longer included in the district, but such order of exclusion shall not invalidate in any manner any taxes or assessments theretofore levied or assessed against the lands so excluded, nor shall it in any way limit the authority of the board to levy taxes for the payment of principal and interest under the terms of any contract approved by the voters or of bonds theretofore voted or issued by the district or any improvement district embracing such lands so excluded. The president and secretary of the board shall certify that such order has been adopted to the Secretary of State and to the county recorder of each county within which any portion of said district is located. Upon receipt of the certificate, the Secretary of State shall, within 10 days, issue his certificate reciting the adoption of such order and the exclusion of the area from the district. A copy of such certificate shall be transmitted to and filed with the county clerk of each county in which any portion of the district is situated."

Article 1. General Principles and Definitions

24451. It is declared that the purpose of this chapter is to encourage the establishment and maintenance of high educational standards by independent schools and to provide a service to the general public by establishing a procedure for the recognition of private schools and educational institutions through accreditation and approval which comply with regulations the State Board of Education is hereby authorized to adopt.

24452. The following terms, whenever used or referred to in this chapter have the following meanings, respectively, unless a different meaning clearly appears from the context:

(a) "Private educational institutions" include all schools or institutions which offer courses of an instructional nature, which admit students for the purpose of providing academic, vocational, cultural, and specialized courses designed to provide instruction either by schools whose programs are consistent in quality, content and length to that offered in the schools maintained by the California Public School System or by schools whose courses are not comparable to those offered in the public school program but are otherwise qualified and fulfill their professed training objectives. Such institutions may either be profit or nonprofit.

(b) "To accredit private educational institutions" means to certify officially and publicly announce that satisfactory evidence has been examined which attests that an educational institution conducts a program of education which shows evidence of achievement of its stated objectives, that it has been accredited or approved by a recognized accrediting agency, or it is otherwise worthy of accreditation as provided in this chapter.

(c) An "accredited private educational institution" is one which has been accredited by an accrediting or approval agency which has been approved by the Superintendent of Public Instruction, in accordance with rules and regulations of the State Board of Education.

(d) A "recognized accrediting or approval agency" is one which has met the criteria for recognition of accrediting and approval agencies as provided in this chapter.

The Superintendent of Public Instruction or his designate shall serve as ex-officio member of this committee.

24457. The members of the advisory committee shall be appointed for a term of four years, except that the first members of the committee shall have their terms fixed by the Superintendent of Public Instruction in such a manner as will provide for the expiration each year of the terms of as nearly as possible one-fourth of the members.

24458. All vacancies shall be filled by appointment by the Superintendent of Public Instruction subject to confirmation by the State Board of Education, and the appointee shall hold office only for the balance of the unexpired term 24461. The committee shall meet at the call of the Superintendent of Public Instruction, provided however that the committee shall meet not less than once each year.

Article 3. Powers and Duties of the Advisory Committee on Accreditation and Approval of Private Educational Institutions 24466. The State Board of Education, with the advice of the Advisory Committee on Accreditation and Approval of Private Educational Institutions, shall adopt standards and regulations which shall include the criteria and objectives for approving private accrediting and approval agencies. The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall from time to time as is necessary, with the advice of the Advisory Committee on Accreditation and Approval, review the standards and criteria used by the recognized accrediting and approval agencies for accreditation and approval of schools.

Article 4. Listing of Private Educational Accrediting and Approval Agencies

24471. At least once each year the Superintendent of Public Instruction shall publish a complete list of all accrediting agencies which have been approved in accordance with the standards and regulations provided in Article 3 of this chapter.

Article 5. Listing of Private Accredited and Approved Educational Institutions

24476. At least once each year the Superintendent of Public Instruction shall publish a list of all educational institutions in this State which have been recognized and approved by the accrediting or approval agencies, meeting the standards and criteria of the State Board of Education as prescribed under Article 3 of this chapter.

24477. Each institution shall be designated in a manner which will indicate the general nature of its objectives, the length of course offerings, the entrance requirements, the grade or educational levels served, the degrees or certificates issued, and such other information as the Superintendent of Public Instruction and the Advisory Committee on Accreditation and Approval of Private Educational Institutions deems necessary.

Article 6. Fees and Charges

24485. The Superintendent of Public Instruction is authorized to fix and collect an application fee from each applicant accrediting agency applying for recognition and such additional fees as are necessary to carry out the provisions of this chapter.

Amendment No. 4

On page 1, strike out lines 1 to 3, inclusive, and insert

"SECTION 1. Section 18173 is added to the Education Code, to read:

18173. Any contract entered into by and between the governing board of any school district and any certified architect or structural engineer pursuant to Section 18199 shall provide that all plans, specifications and estimates prepared pursuant thereto shall be and remain the property of the school district.

SEC. 2. Section 18174 is added to said code, to read:

18174. The governing board of any school district shall, upon completion of any school building let pursuant to Article 3 of this chapter, file with the Division of Architecture of the Department of Public Works an ozalid type duplicate set of architect plans for the school building.

SEC. 3. Section 7713 of said code is amended to read:

7713 Each school district which desires an apportionment for a grade level maintained by it, shall submit through its governing board to the board an application therefor in such form and number of copies as the board shall prescribe. Each copy of the application shall be accompanied by a statement of the estimated cost of the project certified by an architect or structural engineer[, and by layout plans showing the entire construction project for which the district desires an apportionment]. Before the board approves an application for a construction project and makes an apportionment pursuant to this chapter, it shall after consultation with the Division of Architecture determine whether plans and specifications on file with the division can be used for the construction project. If the board determines that plans and specifications on file with the division can be used by the applicant district, it shall order the division to transmit copies of the plans and specifications to the district and no apportionment shall be made by the board to include the cost of the preparation of plans and specifications. If the board determines that no plans and specifications are on file which can be used by the applicant district, the board shall direct the district to submit layout plans showing the entire construction project for which the district desires an apportionment.

The board shall, before it approves an application for a construction project and after consultation with the Division of Architecture, establish standards for all new construction included therein. After such consultation the board shall establish current construction cost standards for such construction. Such standards shall not exceed typical comparable new construction by school districts in the same area not receiving or eligible for apportionment under this chapter, or if there has been no new construction by school districts in the area, the standards shall not exceed the reasonable current cost of similar construction in the area. The board shall determine such typical current costs or such reasonable current costs. In applying such standards the board shall take into account the size and type of the construction proposed and may make such deviations as in their judgment are justified. When a standard has been set by the board to cover any individual apportionment, no apportionment shall be made by the board in excess of such standard, unless the board shall find that in view of a rapid increase in building costs an adjustment is warranted. Immediately upon receipt of an application in the prescribed form accompanied by the required estimate of cost, a copy thereof shall be transmitted by the board to the director and to the Director of Finance.

A school district shall not let any contract for new construction included in an application for a construction project which has been approved by the board if the cost exceeds the construction cost standards fixed by the board under this section for such new construction.

A school district may at any time amend or supplement its application.

Each construction project for which a district applies for an apportionment shall be applied for on a separate application and shall be considered separately by the board. If a district applies for more than one construction project, at the same time or at different times, the priority points of the district shall be recalculated after the approval of each separate construction project and before a subsequent construction project is approved.

The Allocation Board shall require such changes in the plans which an applicant school district submits with its application as the board determines is necessary or desirable to reduce the cost of the project. The board may also by rule provide for the vesting in the director or in the Director of Finance of the responsibility for requiring such changes, according to whether the subject matter of the change is subject to the jurisdiction or approval of the director or the Director of Finance, respectively.

The Director of Finance shall determine the school district's financial ability to meet all or a portion of the cost of the project and the amount which the school district can contribute toward the cost of the project out of its available funds, and shall submit his report thereon to the board.

The director shall as promptly as possible prepare a report and recommendation with respect to the application and refer the application, report, and recommendation to the Director of Finance, who shall, if he finds said documents to be in proper form and otherwise sufficient, refer them to the board. If the Director of Finance finds said documents to be lacking in any respect as to any matter which is subject to the jurisdiction or approval of the director or Department of Education, he shall refer them to the director who shall take such action as may be necessary. The board shall, subject to the provisions of this chapter, approve or reject each application referred to it by the Director of Finance. If the board approves of the application, either in whole or in part, it shall, by a resolution adopted by it, apportion to the district from the State School Building Aid Fund the amount applied for, or such portion thereof as the board may deem appropriate; provided, that it may order that the apportionment or any part thereof shall be paid in progressive installments at such times and under such conditions as it may then prescribe. This shall be known as a conditional apportionment and shall become final only if the vote provided for in Section 7719 is favorable and if bonds are authorized and sold in the amounts prescribed by the board, and the proceeds of the bonds sold earmarked for the project as approved. The conditional apportionment shall remain effective for a period of nine months from the date of said resolution of the board, and if it does not become a final apportionment by that date, it shall become void and the money so apportioned shall become again available for apportionment pursuant to this chapter."

5970. The district board shall have power to fix the amount of compensation per meeting to be paid each member of the board for his services for each meeting attended by him; provided, that said compensation shall not exceed twenty-five dollars ($25) for each meeting of the district board attended by him, together with expenses necessarily incurred by him in traveling between his place of residence and the place of meeting. Funds may be obtained by the regional district to pay the principal and interest on the assumed bonds in the manner as is provided for paying the principal and interest on its own bonds.

Article 7. Annexation

6020. Whenever any territory is annexed to a public agency which, as a separate entity, is a part of the regional district, said territory thereupon becomes a part of the regional district and is subject to all of the liabilities including, but not limited to, bonded indebtedness of the regional district and to all the benefits of the regional district.

6021. Whenever any public agency not included within the regional district desires to be annexed to the regional district, it shall adopt a resolution requesting such inclusion. The resolution shall describe the territory of the public agency sought to be included, which territory need not be contiguous to the regional district.

6022. If, after receipt of a certified copy of the resolution proposing annexation, the district board determines that the annexation of the territory would facilitate the construction, operation, acquisition, or maintenance of a sewage system or otherwise be advantageous to the regional district, it shall determine, by resolution, the terms and conditions upon which such annexation may be made.

6023. Provisions within the terms and conditions may include, but are not limited to:

(a) Payment of taxes within the territory to be annexed in addition to the other taxes provided for in this chapter.

(b) Fixing rates and charges differing from those fixed or existing elsewhere within the regional district.

6025. If the governing board of the public agency proposing the annexation consents to the terms and conditions, the district board shall fix the time and place for a hearing on the question of the annexation and providing for the giving of notice of the public hearing thereon.

6026. Notice fixing the time and place for hearing upon the question of the annexation shall be published once in a newspaper of general circulation printed and published in the regional district. If there is no such newspaper, notice of the hearing shall be given by posting in three public places within the regional district, at least one of which shall be within the territory proposed to be annexed.

6027. The time for the public hearing shall be not less than 30 nor more than 60 days after the publication or first posting of the notice.

6028. At or before the public hearing any owner of property interested may make written objections to the annexation or to the inclusion of his property. The objections shall be filed with the secretary of the district board, and the board shall hear and determine said protest at the public hearing. The district board may adjourn the hearing from time to time without further notice, but an order shall be entered upon the minutes of its meeting fixing the time and place of the continued public hearing.

6030. All or part of a city shall not be annexed to the regional district unless its governing board consents thereto by resolution.

6031. After the date of annexation, the district board may do all acts necessary or convenient to the fulfillment of the terms and conditions of the annexation, and the exercise of powers vested in the regional district and the district board by this chapter.

6032 An annexation pursuant to this chapter shall not dissolve or terminate the legal existence of any public agency which becomes a part of the regional district.

6033. The resolution of annexation by the district board is conclusive evidence of the regularity of all prior proceedings, and any legal proceeding attacking the validity of the resolution of annexation shall be commenced within three months from the date of the resolution of annexation If no such legal proceeding is so commenced, the annexation shall be held to be valid and, in every respect, legal and incontestable.

Article 7. General Obligation Bonds

6050. The regional district organized pursuant to this chapter may incur a bonded indebtedness pursuant to this article, to pay the cost of constructing all or any part of a sewage system.

6051 By a resolution passed by a vote equal to at least two-thirds of the total number of votes of the member agencies represented upon the district board, the district board may determine that the public interest or necessity demands that the regional district construct a sewage system, the cost of which will be too great to be paid out of the ordinary annual income and revenue of the regional district.

6052 The resolution calling the election shall recite:

(a) The objects for which the indebtedness is to be incurred.

(b) The estimated cost of the sewage system to be constructed

(c) The amount of the bonds proposed to be issued, the number of years not to exceed which the whole of the bonds are to run, and the rate of interest or a maximum rate of interest to be paid which rate shall not be more than the rate specified in this article

(d) The date of the election, election precincts, polling places, and election officers.

6053. For the purposes of the bond election, the district board may consolidate into one precinct several precincts established for general election purposes and describe the precinct by reference to the general election precincts.

6054 An election board consisting of one inspector, one judge, and one clerk shall be appointed by the district board for each precinct.

6055 Only voters registered in the regional district are eligible to vote at the bond election.

6056 The resolution calling the election shall be published once a week for three successive weeks in a newspaper having general circulation in the regional district and designated by the district board No other notice of the election need be given.

6057. If two-thirds of the votes cast are in favor of incurring the bonded indebtedness as proposed, bonds of the regional district for the amount stated in the resolution calling the election shall be issued and sold.

6058 The validity of the bonds after their issuance shall not be questioned in any court except upon the ground that the provisions of this chapter authorizing their issuance are unconstitutional

6059 The district board shall prescribe by resolution the form of the bonds, and interest coupons The bonds shall be payable at such times and at a place to be fixed by the board, and designated in the bonds, together with interest on all sums unpaid on that date until the whole of the indebtedness has been paid. The term of bonds issued shall not exceed 40 years.

6060 The bonds shall be issued in such denominations as the district board determines, except that no bonds shall be of a denomination less than one hundred dollars ($100) or greater than one thousand dollars ($1,000). They shall be payable on the date and at the place fixed in the bonds, and with interest at the rate specified in the bonds, which rate shall not be in excess of 6 percent per annum, and shall, after the first year, be payable semiannually.

6061. The bonds shall be signed by the chairman of the district board, and countersigned by the auditor of the regional district, and the seal of the district board shall be affixed. The interest coupons of the bonds shall be numbered consecutively and signed by the auditor of the regional district. All such signatures and countersignatures may be printed, lithographed, engraved, or otherwise mechanically reproduced, except that one of said signatures or countersignatures to said bonds shall be manually affixed.

6062. If any officer whose signature or countersignature appears on the bonds ceases to be an officer before the delivery of the bonds to the purchaser, his signature or countersignature shall be as valid as if he had remained in office until the delivery of the bonds.

6063. The board may issue and sell the bonds of the regional district at not less than par value, and the proceeds shall be placed in the treasury of the county.

All premiums and accrued interest received shall be paid into the fund to be used for the payment of principal and interest on the bonds and the remainder of the proceeds of the sale shall be paid into the construction fund of the regional district, and proper records of the transactions shall be placed upon the books of the treasurer.

6064. The construction fund shall be applied exclusively to the purposes and objects mentioned in the resolution calling the bond election.

Payments from the construction fund shall be made upon demands allowed by the district board, and prepared, presented, and audited in the same manner as demands upon the funds of the county.

6065. When the purposes and objects mentioned in the resolution calling the bond election have been accomplished any moneys remaining in the construction fund shall be transferred to the fund to be used for the payment of principal and interest on the bonds.

6066. If the proposition of issuing bonds submitted at a bond election fails to receive the requisite number of votes, the district board may, at the expiration of six months after that election, call or order another bond election, either for the same objects and purposes, or for any other object or purpose of the regional district.

6067. If the district board, by resolution passed by a vote equal to four-fifths of the total vote represented by the members of the public agencies comprising said regional district, determines that the public interest or necessity of the regional district demands the issuance of additional bonds for carrying out any of the objects of the regional district, the district board may again submit to the voters the question of issuing additional bonds. All of the provisions of this article for the issuance and sale of bonds, and for the expenditure of the proceeds apply to the issuance of additional bonds.

6068. Bonds and the interest thereon shall be paid by revenue derived from an annual tax upon the real property in the regional district, and all the real property in the regional district shall be and remain liable to be taxed for such payments. Said bonds and the interest thereon shall not be taxable in this State.

6069. (a) An issue of bonds is hereby defined to be the aggregate principal amount of all of the bonds authorized to be issued in accordance with a proposal submitted to and approved by the electors of the regional district, but no indebtedness will be deemed to have been contracted until bonds shall have been sold and delivered and then only to the extent of the principal amount of bonds so sold and delivered.

(b) The district board of the regional district issuing any bonds heretofore or hereafter authorized may, in its discretion, divide the aggregate principal amount of such issue into two or more divisions or series and fix different dates for the bonds of each separate division or series. In the event any authorized issue is divided into two or more divisions or series, the bonds of each division or series may be made payable at such time or times as may be fixed by the district board of the regional district separate and distinct from the time or times of payment of bonds of any other division or series of the same issue.

6070. Bonds may be made payable on a date subsequent to the time fixed for the collection of the second installment of general district taxes with which the first levy of taxes for the payment of the principal and interest of said bonds is to be collected. In such event, the first interest coupons shall be for interest from the date of said bonds of such issue or series or division to the maturity date of said coupons.

6071. If the result of any election upon the question of the issuance of bonds is in favor of issuance, the board may, in its discretion, commence in the superior court of the county, a special proceeding to determine its right to issue the bonds and their validity, similar to the proceeding in relation to irrigation bonds, provided for by the Irrigation District Law, and all supplementary acts, and all their provisions apply to and govern the proceedings to be commenced by the board, so far as applicable.

The judgment has the same effect as a judgment in relation to irrigation bonds under the provisions of such Irrigation District Law.

Annually, at least 15 days before the first day of the month in which the board of supervisors of the county in which the regional district is located is required by law to levy the amount of taxes required by law for county purposes, the district board shall furnish to the board of supervisors a written statement of the amount necessary to pay the interest on bonds for that year, and the portion of the principal that is to become due before the time for making the next general tax levy.

6091. The board of supervisors of the county shall annually, at the time and in the manner of levying other county taxes, levy and cause to be collected a tax upon the taxable real property in the regional district, based upon the last equalized assessment roll of the county sufficient to pay the interest on the bonds for that year and such portion of the principal as is to become due before the time for making the next general tax levy.

6092. If the district board fails to furnish to the board of supervisors the written statement of the amount necessary, the board of supervisors of the county shall ascertain the amount necessary to pay the interest on the bonds for that year and the portion of the principal that is to become due before the time for making the next general tax levy, and shall levy and cause to be collected the necessary amount.

6093. The tax shall be collected at the same time and in the same manner as the general tax levy for county purposes, and when collected shall be paid into the treasury of the county to the credit of the regional district, and shall be used for the payment of the principal and interest upon the bonds, and for no other purposes.

6094. The principal and interest on the bonds shall be paid by the treasurer of the county in the manner now or hereafter provided by law for the payment of principal and interest on the bonds of the county.

6095. In any year, at least 15 days before the first day of the month in which the board of supervisors of the county in which the regional district is located, is required by law to levy the amount of taxes required by law for county purposes, the district board may furnish to the board of supervisors a written statement of the amount necessary to maintain, operate, extend, or repair any work or improvements of the regional district, and to defray all other expenses incidental to the exercise of any of the regional district's powers, and the board of supervisors of the county shall at the time and in the manner of levying other county taxes, levy and cause to be collected a tax upon the taxable real property in the regional district, based upon the last equalized assessment roll of the county sufficient to pay the cost of maintaining, operating, extending, or repairing any work or improvements of the regional district and of defraying all other expenses incidental to the exercise of any of the regional district's powers.

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT THAT OPINION BE PRINTED IN JOURNAL

Mr. Chapel asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent that an opinion of the Legislative Counsel relative to Wire Tapping—No. 10673, be ordered printed in the Journal, in 10-point type, as follows:

OPINION OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL

STATE OF CALIFORNIA
OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL
SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, May 1, 1955

Honorable Charles Edward Chapel
Assembly Chamber

Wire Tapping—No. 10673

DEAR MR. CHAPEL:

Question

You have asked us to examine the decisions of the California Supreme Court relating to the admissibility of illegally obtained evidence, which were handed down last week, and advise you as to the effect of these opinions on Assembly Bill No. 612.

Opinion

In our opinion these decisions would not affect the validity of Assembly Bill No. 612.

Analysis

The cases involved are People vs. Cahan, _____ A.C. _____, and People vs. Berger, _____ A. C. _____. The holding of each case was to the effect that evidence obtained in violation of the unreasonable search and seizure provision of the Fourth Amendment to the United States Constitution and the similar provision of Section 19 of Article I of the California Constitution may not be admitted in evidence in any criminal proceeding.

Assembly Bill No. 612 amends Section 640 of the Penal Code and adds Section 640.1 to that code, relating to the detection or interception of telegraphic and telephonic communications. Under existing law, Section 640 of the Penal Code makes it a crime to tap or make an unauthorized connection with any telephone or telegraph wire, line, cable, or instrument under the control of a telephone or telegraph company or to read or attempt to read or learn the contents or meaning of any message, report or communication while the same is in transit or passing over any such wire, line, or cable. The amendment to this section made by Assembly Bill No. 612 would declare that nothing in this section shall prevent the interception and use of telegraphic or telephonic communications pursuant to authority granted in Section 640.1.

Section 640.1 in turn provides for written application by the district attorney to any judge of the superior court in his county for an order for the detection and interception of telegraphic or telephonic communications and sets forth certain requirements which must be made by said written application. The section provides for similar application by the Attorney General to any Justice of the Supreme Court or of a district court of appeal for a similar order. The section further prohibits any person who obtains information by reason of such an order from disclosing such information, before it becomes a public record, in any civil proceeding or for any private purpose or for any other purpose not provided for in the section.

Nothing in the bill purports to authorize an order, in violation of constitutional guarantees, to enter the premises owned or occupied by the person suspected of criminal activities for the purpose of tapping a wire on his premises. Under the Cahan Case, in our opinion any statute which purported to authorize such tapping of a wire or interception of messages would be invalid.

In Olmstead vs. United States (1927), 277 U. S. 438, the court held that wire tapping, where the tapping was made outside the defendant's house or office, did not violate the unreasonable search and seizure provision of the Fourth Amendment to the United States Constitution. This proposition has been followed in numerous state and federal cases (McGuire vs. Amarien (1951), 101 Fed. Supp. 414; U. S. vs. Sullivan (1953), 116 Fed. Supp. 480; U. S. vs. Stephenson (1954), 121 Fed. Supp. 274; Bratfurd vs. State (Md. 1952), 88 Atl. 2d 446; White vs. State (Md. 1954), 104 Atl. 2d 810; State vs. Slater (Wash. 1950), 218 Pac. 2d 329; Commonwealth vs. Chaitt (Pa. 1954), 107 Atl. 2d 214). The Cahan and Berger Cases, which are the subject of your inquiry, do not contradict this proposition and we have found no cases which do. Since wire tapping or the interception of messages can be accomplished by means which do not constitute an unreasonable search or seizure under the State or Federal Constitutions, we think that is all Assembly Bill No. 612 is intended to authorize. So construed, the bill would violate no constitutional safeguards.

Since 1942, the State of New York has permitted wire tapping under court order and this procedure has been sustained. (See People vs. Feld, 113 N.E. 2d 440 (N. Y. 1953); Harlem Check Cashing Corp. vs. Bell, 68 N.E. 2d 854 (N. Y. 1946); People vs. Stemmer, 83 N.E. 2d 141 (N. Y. 1948), affirmed 336 U. S. 963, 93 L. ed. 1115, rehearing denied 337 U. S. 921, 93 L. ed. 1730.) While the United States Supreme Court affirmed the Stemmer decision by a 4 to 4 vote, with one member abstaining, the recent decisions of that court give no indication that a statute authorizing wire tapping would be held invalid, provided the constitutional restrictions against unreasonable searches and seizures are met. (Schwartz vs. Texas (1952), 344 U. S. 199, 97 L. ed. 231.)

The net effect of the Cahan and Berger decisions is to render inadmissible in California courts evidence obtained in violation of the unreasonable search and seizure provisions of the State and Federal Constitutions. To the extent that wire tapping can be accomplished without violating those constitutional provisions, therefore, as in a case where the interceptions occurs off the premises of the suspect, the decisions do not, in our opinion, affect the validity of Assembly Bill No. 612.

Very truly yours,

RALPH N. KLEPS, Legislative Counsel
By A. C. MORRISON, Principal Deputy

By RICHARD F. BARBEAU, Assistant Clerk

APPROVED: L. H. LINCOLN, Speaker of Assembly

MR SPEAKER: As permitted by Assembly Rule No. 26, submitted for your approval are changes to be made in Amendment No. 6 to Assembly Bill No. 3399:

Eternal God, Through whose wisdom the solitary are gathered into families, we thank Thee, as well for every Christian home that brightens our land, as for its ministry through which we are made better and every good intention is strengthened. For hallowed memories of a mother's love, for her sacrifice, forgiving heart and resolute confidence in us, we praise Thee. May the example of Jesus who, while setting the family on a firm foundation and showing to women and children a new respect, ever manifested tender concern for his own dear mother, rise within us that we, too, with the generations may call her blessed. In His name.—AMEN.

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT THAT OPINION BE PRINTED IN JOURNAL

Mr. Levering, on behalf of Mr. Morris, asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent that an opinion of the Legislative Counsel, relative to integration of State Employees Retirement System with O. A. S. I.—No. 10664, be ordered printed in the journal, in 10-point type, as follows:

OPINION OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL

STATE OF CALIFORNIA
OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL
SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, May 4, 1955

Honorable G. Delbert Morris
Assembly Chamber

Integration of State Employees Retirement System With O. A. S. I.—No. 10664

DEAR MR. MORRIS: You have asked for our opinion on the constitutionality of Assembly Bill No. 2371; for an explanation of just what the bill seeks to accomplish, and specifically for our opinion on a series of questions which we will set forth seriatim:

*Summary of Assembly Bill No. 2371

Briefly the bill directs the holding of a referendum of state employees to determine whether they shall be included in an agreement between the State and the Federal Government for coverage under the Old Age and Survivors Insurance System. It is provided that upon such inclusion the State Employees Retirement Law shall be modified by the provisions of the bill, so that the benefits payable under the state law will be decreased by the primary insurance benefit payable under the federal system, and the contribution or tax required of the member and the employer under the federal law will be paid out of the member's and State's current contributions to the state system respectively.

Constitutionality

We do not find any constitutional ground for questioning the validity of the bill.

Questions

Our opinions to your specific questions are set forth following each question as follows:

1. Other than survivor's benefits, will state employees gain any benefits they do not already have under the state system?

Opinion

No, the survivor's benefits which exceed those provided for under the State Employees Retirement System (herein referred to as the state system) would appear to be the only direct benefits to state employees. The provisions of Assembly Bill No. 2371 provide for the receipt of allowances as now provided for under the state system less that portion of the member's primary insurance benefit payable under the federal law which is attributable to his state service. Thus no change in total benefits under the state system is provided for. Under the Federal Old Age and Survivors Insurance System, eligible claimants become entitled to a primary insurance benefit payable at age 65, and certain other benefits become payable to the survivors of a fully insured person upon his death.[1] Since the primary insurance benefit will be deducted from the allowance payable under the state system, the receipt of such benefit will not increase the total benefit to the state employee. The benefits payable to survivors under the federal system however are not deducted from benefits payable under the state system and the state employee will therefore receive such benefits in addition to those now provided under the state system.

Question

2. As to survivors benefits, will a state employee gain anything he does not already have, who:

(a) has worked in private employment covered by social security sufficiently to establish eligibility; or

(b) is married to a man employed in private employment covered by social security; or

(c) is single.

(a) Where a state employee has worked in employment subject to social security sufficiently to establish eligibility for ald age and survivors insurance, he will not gain any new or additional benefits by the integration of such federal system with the State Employees Retirement System. It would deprive the worker of his existing retirement benefits under the federal system, but may increase the monthly survivors insurance payments payable to survivors who are eligible for such benefits under the federal law, if any.

Where a worker has established eligibility to old age and survivors insurance under the federal system, by having worked for the requisite number of quarters in covered employment, he thereafter remains eligible for all such benefits.[2] There are of course two categories of benefits under the federal system, that is, the retirement allowance paid to a worker at age 65, and the benefits paid to those who qualify as a survivor under the federal law. Under the situation described, the state employee who has established eligibility for federal benefits, would not gain any new or additional benefits by integration, as he would already be entitled to such benefits.

The worker, in such a situation would in fact lose the federal retirement allowance payable at age 65, which he had previously been entitled to receive. This would result from the "offset formula" which would deduct from the state retirement allowance the amount of a worker's federal retirement benefit. Thus the worker under integration gets his state retirement less his federal retirement allowance, whereas without integration the worker in such situation would receive his state retirement in full, plus his federal retirement allowance.

It is possible of course that integration in such a case would result in an increase in the survivors insurance payments, due to the fact that such benefits are computed on the basis of a percentage of the insured person's primary insurance amount One of the factors in determining that amount is the person's average monthly wage,[3] and the periods of employment in non-covered work would tend to reduce the average monthly wage under the federal system, and hence tend to reduce the insurance payments to survivors if there are any who would so qualify under the federal law, upon the death of the insured worker.

[1] Sec 202, Social Security Act (42 U S C. A. Sec. 402)

While such reduction would affect the amount of the retirement allowance payable to the worker at age 65, also, it would not represent a loss to the worker since he would lose the entire federal benefit, whatever the amount upon integration. Therefore the amount of federal benefits he would receive without integration, though reduced, would be in addition to his undiminished state retirement allowance.

(b) Where the state employee is married to a person employed in private employment covered by social security, no added benefit would accrue by reason of integration. This is obvious, since the federal retirement allowance is offset against the state retirement, no benefit accrues in this respect. Also since the survivors of each person would normally be same as the survivors who would be extended protection by reason of the spouse's insured status, no added benefit rights would be gained.

(c) Where the state employee is single there would be a possibility of securing survivors protection for the worker's parents if they would meet the qualifications, i e. age 65; receiving one-half of support from child, not remarried since child's death; and not eligible for old-age insurance benefits.

Question

3. Under existing federal law the contribution rate has been increased to a maximum of 4 percent. Could Congress again increase this rate to 8 percent of total wages?

Opinion

The tax rate is subject to congressional action, as are all other provisions of the Federal Social Security Act, and may be increased or decreased by Congress at any time. It may be noted that Congress has changed the tax rate several times in the past The last change occurred in 1954, when the maximum rate of 3¼ percent payable after December 31, 1969 was increased to 3½ percent payable during 1970 to 1974, inclusive, and 4 percent thereafter.[4]

Question

4. Assuming the increase mentioned in Question 3 is made, and assuming that the average contribution rate to the state system is now 8 percent, what, if any, money would go into the State Retirement Fund under Assembly Bill No. 2371?

Opinion

Under such circumstances the state fund would receive nothing.

Assembly Bill No. 2371 provides that it is the intent of the Legislature to authorize members of the state system to participate in the federal system without jeopardizing the continued maintenance of their state system "by offsetting the costs of participation in the federal system against current costs under the state system." (Section 21600). The bill requires each member to contribute to the Retirement Fund at his normal rate of contributions, less the deduction required of such member under the federal system (Sec. 21650). Therefore, if this federal system imposed a tax of 8 percent on a worker's total wages, which would be deducted from his state contribution of 8 percent, the balance would be zero, and nothing would go into the state fund. Where the member's normal contribution is in excess of 8 percent, the excess would go into the state fund, and where the member's normal rate of contributions is less than 8 percent, his monthly salary deductions would be increased to meet the federal tax.

[3] Sec 215, Social Security Act (42 U S C A Sec 415)
[4] Sec 3101, Internal Revenue Code, as amended by the Social Security Act Amendment of 1954, Sec 208(b) P L 761

Question

5. State employees on separation from service are now able to withdraw all their accumulated contributions. If the bill is enacted and the eventually mentioned in questions 3 and 4 occurs, would:

(a) State benefits be reduced at once or would they continue to be paid until all funds in the Retirement Fund are gone?

(b) If they continue to be paid would the employees lose the right they now have to get their contribution on separation?

(c) If all funds in the Retirement Fund were paid out, would it be necessary for the Legislature to appropriate additional funds?

Opinion

(a) In our opinion benefit payments would continue until action was taken by the State Legislature.

There is no provision in the State Employees Retirement Law for discontinuing the payment of the benefits provided for therein. Authority is given to the Board of Administration to modify benefits for service and disability, subject to the provisions of the law and its rules (Gov. C. 20123). This provision would probably not authorize the board to discontinue the payment of benefits or to modify or reduce all benefit payments because of impairment of the fund. Since there is a requirement in the law that the board make an actuarial evaluation of the system every four years (Gov. C. 20127), the ability of the fund to meet future benefit payments would normally be determined in advance through such an evaluation and necessary legislative action to reduce or modify benefits or to increase contribution rates could be secured based upon such actuarial findings.

(b) To the extent that the balance in the fund would be insufficient to meet such demands, such right would be lost.

(c) The Legislature would not be required to appropriate additional funds, but could take any action within constitutional limits which it might deem to be appropriate. We express no opinion, however, on the extent of any contractual rights or obligations that may exist between recipients of a retirement allowance under the state system and the State.

Very truly yours,

RALPH N. KLEPS, Legislative Counsel

Explanations of Vote

When the vote on Assembly Bill No. 3109 was taken, I was presenting a bill before the Senate Transportation Committee. If I had been present, I would have voted "Aye".

JOHN J. McFALL

I voted "Aye" on Assembly Bill No. 3109 (despite my continued advocacy of the requirement of a loyalty oath of all public officials and employees) because I believe the denial of tax exemption to an established church is an abridgement of the freedom of worship as guaranteed in the First Amendment to the U. S. Constitution. I believe we can take for granted the sterling American patriotism of the clergy of all denominations in our State.

O Lord Our God, In whom the high things human nature has sought are truly found, give us understanding of Thy commandments, and let Thy merciful kindness be our comfort. May we praise the Lord for His goodness and declare the wonders that He doeth for the children of men. Let Thy spirit and blessing rest upon our legislators that, as they are jealously proud of our State and Country, so these, Thy servants, may be quick to perceive, clear of judgment, wise in counsel, and always helpers of the helpless. With courage unfailing, may we move forward in service and sacrifice. In Jesus' name.—AMEN.

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolutions were offered:

By Mr. Chapel:

House Resolution No. 154

Relative to water resources

WHEREAS, The growth of Southern California, if continued at its present rate, will necessitate the acquisition within the foreseeable future, of a water supply to supplement that available from existing sources; and

WHEREAS, A project to develop and conserve the waters of the Feather River, adopted and authorized by the Legislature in 1951, contemplates the transportation of such a water supply to Southern California over the Tehachapi Mountains via the so-called "High Line Route" which would require the lifting of the water over 3,000 feet; and

WHEREAS, While construction of the Feather River Project at the earliest possible date is necessary to provide the water now needed in the San Joaquin Valley, provision must be made to protect the rights of Southern California to water to meet future need; and

WHEREAS, Since the cost of transporting water over the proposed "High Line Route" will be great, not only financially, but in the sense that it would require the utilization of great quantities of the products of our natural resources which could otherwise be devoted to the public welfare; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, As follows:

1. That the Legislature appropriate, at its 1955 Regular Session, funds to purchase the Feather River Dam Site and the San Luis Reservoir Site.

2. That the State Engineer be directed to undertake, without delay, studies of routes for transporting water over the Tehachapi Mountains for the purpose of finding a route closer to sea level than the proposed "High Line Route."

3. That provision be made for the Governor to appoint without delay, a Board of Engineers to examine all proposals for transporting water over the Tehachapi Mountains, composed of nationally recognized engineers who are neither proponents or opponents of any existing proposed route.

4. That the Governor is requested to call the Legislature in extraordinary session in September or October of 1955 for the sole purpose of considering water problems.

5. That the Legislature consider at the extraordinary session, a proposal to amend the Constitution to make it possible to guarantee to Southern California the water that it is to receive in the future from water development projects.

Resolution read, and ordered referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. McMillan:

Relative to the creation of the Assembly Interim Committee on Capital Punishment

WHEREAS, In recent years, there has been widespread controversy about the merits of capital punishment; and

WHEREAS, It is of the utmost importance that the Legislature act on such proposals on the basis of facts, rather than conjecture; now, therefore, be it

1. The Assembly Interim Committee on Capital Punishment is hereby created and authorized and directed to ascertain, study and analyze all facts relating to capital punishment, including but not limited to the question whether the provisions for such punishment have a deterrent effect on potential perpetrators of crimes now capital and what other effects such provisions have, the desirability or undesirability of retaining such provisions, the conditions under which a court may sentence a defendant to such punishment, and the manner in which such punishment, if retained, should be imposed, including but not limited to the operation, effect, administration, enforcement and needed revision of any and all laws in any way bearing upon or relating to the subject of this resolution, and to report thereon to the Legislature, including in the reports its recommendations for appropriate legislation.

2. The committee shall consist of five Members of the Assembly appointed by the Speaker thereof. Vacancies occurring in the membership of the committee shall be filled by the appointing power. The chairman shall be appointed by the Speaker.

3. The committee is authorized to act during this session of the Legislature, including any recess, and after final adjournment until the commencement of the 1957 Regular Session, with authority to file its final report not later than the last legislative day of that session.

5. The committee has the following additional powers and duties:

(a) To select a vice chairman from its membership.

(b) To contract with such other agencies, public or private, as it deems necessary for the rendition and affording of such services, facilities, studies and reports to the committee as will best assist it to carry out the purposes for which it is created.

(c) To cooperate with and secure the cooperation of county, city, city and county, and other local law enforcement agencies in investigating any matter within the scope of this resolution and to direct the sheriff of any county to serve subpenas, orders and other process issued by the committee.

(e) To do any and all other things necessary or convenient to enable it fully and adequately to exercise its powers, perform its duties, and accomplish the objects and purposes of this resolution.

6. The sum of ten thousand dollars ($10,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby made available from the Contingent Fund of the Assembly for the expenses of the committee and its members and for any charges, expenses or claims it may incur under this resolution, to be paid from the said Contingent Fund and disbursed, after certification by the chairman of the committee, upon warrants drawn by the State Controller upon the State Treasurer.

Amendment No. 18

On page 6, strike out lines 4 through 49, inclusive, and insert

"SEC. 10. The Legislature finds the necessity for the enactment of the legislation contained in this act to be as follows: In many parts of the State, citizens of small means who are in need of borrowing money through loans secured by liens on real estate, especially, but not entirely, on deeds of trust, representing equities on their home property, are being required and induced to pay exorbitant and excessive fees and charges to persons negotiating said loans in the form of brokerage commissions and costs and expenses in great disproportion to the amount of money actually received. Such brokerage and charges are secured through the writing of loans for periods of one and two years, with final payments beyond the ability of the borrower to pay. This large final payment requires the borrower to renew or refinance the loan and thereby to pay another brokerage fee, and to incur additional costs and expenses. The total amount of the charges, costs and expenses, and interest become in the aggregate so high that such necessitous persons are faced with the loss of their security, or are finding themselves continuing in debt far beyond the normal amortization period of the loan. There is also evidence that the charges and costs and expenses are indirect means by which money-lenders may secure rates of interest beyond those authorized. Inasmuch as this legislation will require a change in the business methods of those persons affected thereby, it is desirable that the legislation become effective on the first day of a calendar month. Inasmuch as the restrictions imposed by this legislation involve a new field of lending practices it is desirable that the legislation be in effect for a stated term in order that the Legislature may review the problems involved more thoroughly before determining the provisions of permanent legislation.

It is also desirable to make clear what transactions involving the public offering of promissory notes secured by liens on real estate are within the jurisdiction of the Real Estate Commissioner."

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT THAT OPINION BE PRINTED IN JOURNAL

Mr. Stanley asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent that an opinion from the Legislative Counsel, relative to Chartered Cities—No. 10658, be ordered printed in the Journal, in 10-point type, as follows:

OPINION OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL

STATE OF CALIFORNIA
OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL
SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, May 6, 1955

Honorable Earl W. Stanley
Assembly Chamber

Chartered Cities—No. 10658

DEAR MR. STANLEY:

Questions

1. With respect to Assembly Bill No. 2257, as amended April 14, 1955:

a. Is the bill unconstitutional as violating the "municipal affairs" powers of chartered cities?

b. Is the bill unconstitutional as impairing the property rights of a chartered city in the water and land affected?

2. With respect to Assembly Bill No. 2257, as amended April 28, 1955:

a. What is the effect of the amendments?

b. Do the amendments cure any invalidity arising under 1a above?

Opinion

1. In our opinion, the bill, as amended April 14, 1955, is not applicable with respect to municipal reservoirs of a chartered city, which reservoirs do not constitute public waters * of the State, since to that extent it would constitute an interference with the municipal affairs of a chartered city and would impair the property rights of a chartered city in property held in a proprietary capacity.

2. In our opinion, the provision of the bill, as amended April 28, 1955, requiring the city to submit the question of permitting city reservoirs to be used for fishing and the surrounding areas to be used for other recreational uses would also be inapplicable to chartered cities, to the extent discussed with respect to Question No. 1, since this would constitute an interference with the municipal affairs of a chartered city.

Analysis

1. Assembly Bill No. 2257, as amended in Assembly April 14, 1955, would add Sections 4462 to 4465, inclusive, to the Health and Safety Code, relating to fishing in publicly owned water supplies and recreational uses in the surrounding area.

The bill, as so amended, would permit the board of supervisors of any county wherein is located "a publicly owned body of water used to supply water for human consumption" to request the State Department of Public Health to determine whether such body of water could be safely opened to public fishing and whether the surrounding area could be safely opened for other recreational uses. If the State Department of Public Health, after an investigation, determines that public fishing in such body of water or other recreational uses in the surrounding area would not endanger the purity of such water supply for use, the governmental agency owning the body of water would be required to permit public fishing in such body of water and other recreational uses in the surrounding area in compliance with the findings and conditions fixed by the department.

Thus, if applied to a chartered city, the effect of the bill would be to require a chartered city to permit public fishing in any body of water owned by it and to permit the surrounding area to be used for recreational purposes, upon certain findings being made by a state agency.

If the bill is applied to a chartered city, a question is raised as to whether the bill constitutes an interference by the State with the municipal affairs of a chartered city.

Pursuant to Sections 6 and 8 of Article XI of the State Constitution, a chartered city has exclusive control of its own municipal affairs unaffected by general laws on the same subject matters (West Coast Advertising Co. vs. City and County of San Francisco (1939), 14 Cal. 2d 516).

It is well settled in this State that the subject matter of municipal water systems is a municipal affair within the meaning of these constitutional provisions (City of Pasadena vs. Charleville (1932), 215 Cal. 384, 389; South Pasadena vs. Pasadena Land and Water Co. (1908), 152 Cal. 579, 594). Construction of a reservoir by a city is also held to be a municipal affair (Williams vs. City of Vallejo (1918), 36 Cal. App. 133, 139).

In City of Pasadena vs. Charleville, supra, it was held that the subject matter of a contract to construct a wire fence around a reservoir, which was part of the city's municipal water system, was a municipal affair:

* As pointed out under our Analysis "public waters" are to be distinguished from publicly owned waters.

"It must also be concluded that the improvement contemplated by the contract in question is a municipal affair. The sole purpose of the contract is the construction of a wire fence around a reservoir which is a part of the city's municipal water system. The supplying of water by a city to its inhabitants is a municipal affair. (South Pasadena vs. Pasadena Land etc. Co., 152 Cal. 579 [93 Pac. 490].) The building of a dam to be used for impounding water for a municipal water system is a municipal affair. (Heilbron vs. Sumner, 186 Cal. 648 [200 Pac. 409].) The construction of a reservoir as a part of a municipal water system is a municipal affair. (Williams vs. City of Vallejo, 36 Cal. App. 133 [171 Pac. 834].)"

The court held that "The Public Wage Rate Act of 1931" (Ch. 397, 1931 Stats.) requiring general prevailing wage to be paid in connection with construction of public works was not controlling as to the improvement. The court did hold that the "Public Works Alien Employment Act of 1931" (Ch. 398, 1931 Stats.), prohibiting employment of aliens on public works, was controlling on the grounds that the act dealt with a subject matter of general state concern.

Thus, even though municipal water systems, including the city-owned reservoirs used in connection therewith, as a general rule, are a municipal affair as to which the general law is not applicable, it would appear that a state law may affect municipal water systems if the subject matter of the state law constitutes a matter of general state concern as the employment of aliens on public works projects was held to be in the Charleville Case.

The effect of the bill as applied to chartered cities would be to require a chartered city to permit city-owned bodies of water which are part of a municipal water system, to be used for public fishing and the surrounding area to be used for recreational purposes.

As a general proposition it would seem clear that the subject of regulation of the incidental uses to be made of such city-owned bodies of water constitutes a municipal affair unless the particular use constitutes a subject of general state interest so as to control even as applied to chartered city.

Section 25 of Article I of the State Constitution provides that the people shall have the right to fish upon and from the public lands of the State and in the waters thereof. Section 25½ of Article IV authorizes the Legislature to delegate to the Fish and Game Commission such powers relating to the protection, propagation, and preservation of fish and game as the Legislature sees fit.

The constitutional provisions have been held to vest in the Legislature exclusively the power to regulate the taking of such fish and game and to divest local governmental agencies of their power in relation to fish and game (In re Makings (1927), 200 Cal. 474; In re Cencinino (1916), 31 Cal. App. 238).

The State's power over fishing is not coterminous with navigable or publicly owned waters. It extends to all waters within the State, publicly or privately owned, where fish are habited or accustomed to resort for spawning or other purposes and through which they have freedom of passage to and from the public fishing grounds of the State. To the extent that waters are the common passageway for fish, although flowing over lands entirely subject to private ownership, they are deemed for such purposes public waters, and subject to the State's power over fishing. (People vs. Truckee Lumber Co. (1897), 116 Cal. 397; 15 A.L.R. 2d 754.)

Thus, to the extent that a body of water is not a common passageway for fish it does not fall within the scope of the State's regulatory power over fishing, at least where the body of water is privately owned. In our opinion, the same principles would apply with respect to a body of water owned by a chartered city. To the extent that such a body of water does not constitute "public waters" in the sense that the term is used above, whether or not public fishing would be permitted is a municipal affair and, therefore, a subject over which the chartered city has exclusive control. Applying this conclusion to Assembly Bill No. 2257, as amended April 14, 1955, it is our opinion that the State may not require that public fishing be permitted in a body of water owned by a chartered city if such body of water does not constitute "public waters."

If applied to chartered cities, the bill would also require such a city to permit the area surrounding the city-owned body of water to be used for recreational purposes if the State Department of Public Health makes certain findings. In our opinion, this would clearly constitute an interference with the municipal affairs of a chartered city since there is no specific constitutional provision applicable as in the case of fishing.

You have also asked us to consider whether the bill would be unconstitutional as impairing the property rights of a chartered city in the water and land affected.

As a general rule a regulation of the use of property must rest upon a reasonable exercise of the police power, and legislatures may not, under the guise of the police power, impose restrictions that are unnecessary and unreasonable upon the use of private property. Where the exercise of the police power results in consequences which are oppressive and unreasonable, the courts will protect the rights of the property owner against the unlawful interference with his property (Skalko vs. City of Sunnyvale (1939), 14 Cal. 2d 213).

It would appear to be clear that if legislation were to be enacted which would require a privately owned reservoir, which is also private in the sense that it is not connected with other streams or bodies of water as previously discussed, to be open for public fishing, and which would require that the privately owned land surrounding such reservoir be opened for public recreational uses, this would be held to be an unreasonable interference with the owner's property in violation of the state and federal due process constitutional provisions.

However, the question that is presented is whether the same principle is applicable with respect to the property of a chartered city which is held in a proprietary capacity. It has been held that a city in administering a water system does not act in its governmental capacity but rather in a proprietary capacity (South Pasadena vs. Pasadena Land and Water Co. (1908), 152 Cal. 579, 593). Therefore, it would appear that a municipal corporation holds property devoted to such a use in a proprietary capacity.

The general rule as to the State's control over the property of a municipal corporation has been stated as follows:

"At the present time, so far as legislative control over municipal property is concerned, the courts generally recognize a distinction between property owned by a municipal corporation in its public and governmental capacity and that owned by it in its private or proprietary capacity, and the power of the State over the property of municipal corporations is often made to depend on whether the property is owned by the municipality in its public and governmental capacity or in its private capacity. Property is said to be public, i. e., governmental, where it is for the use and benefit of the general public, and property is private, i. e., municipal, where it is acquired or held for the special benefit of the inhabitants of the municipality as distinguished from the general public * * * .

"If property is held and used for the benefit of the public in general, so as to be said to be public, i. e., governmental, it is generally held to be subject to the control of the Legislature unless such control is restricted by special constitutional provision * * * .

"In regard to property of a municipal corporation which is distinctly private in character, it is generally held not subject to appropriation or complete control by the State, except by the exercise of eminent domain with payment of full compensation, and is fully protected by the constitutional provisions protecting private property of the individual or the private corporation, the control, if any, being limited to police regulation as distinguished from appropriation. The right of the State as to the private property of the municipal corporation is a right of regulation to be exercised in harmony with the general policy of the State, and though broader than exists in the case of individuals or private corporations is not a right of appropriation. (2 Municipal Corporations, McQuillen, 191.)" *

The United States Supreme Court in the case of City of Trenton vs. New Jersey (1923), 262 U.S. 182, 67 L. Ed. 937, 29 A.L.R. 1471, has cast some doubt on the validity of this distinction between property held by a municipality in its governmental capacity and property held in its proprietary or private capacity, as it affects a state's control over the property of its municipalities. The court stated that although such a distinction is often made, in none of the cases in that court has any power, right, or property of a municipality been held to be protected by the contract clause or the Fourteenth Amendment to the Federal Constitution, and has specifically held that they do not apply as against the State in favor of its own municipalities.

However, this distinction between property held by a municipality in its governmental capacity and property held in its private or proprietary capacity does seem to have been followed in California.

In the early case of Grogan vs. San Francisco (1861), 18 Cal. 590, the facts were that the State had granted to the city certain property known as the "city slip property." The property was not embraced within the original pueblo lands and apparently did not constitute tide or submerged lands. After the grant, the Legislature undertook to control the disposition of it without the consent of the city. The court denied the power of the State to do this, and stated:

"A legislative grant is an executed contract, and as such is within the clause of the Constitution of the United States which prohibits the states from passing any law impairing the obligation of contracts * * *. It cannot therefore be destroyed, and the estate be divested by any subsequent legislative enactment. And though a municipal corporation is the creature of the Legislature, yet when the State enters into a contract with it, the subordinate relation ceases, and that equality arises which exists between all contracting parties." (18 Cal. at p. 613.)

The decision of the United States Supreme Court in City of Trenton vs. New Jersey, supra, would appear to raise a doubt as to whether the rule announced in the Grogan Case is still valid. Subsequent cases in California have limited the holding of the case to property held by a municipality in its private or proprietary capacity.

In San Francisco vs. Canavan (1872), 42 Cal. 541, the court considered the validity of a statute which provided for the erection of a city hall in the City of San Francisco on its pueblo lands The court pointed out that the city does not hold such lands in its proprietary capacity but holds them in trust for certain municipal purposes. The court states:

"* * * the tenure by which these lands are held is wholly different from that by which lands acquired by a municipality by gift or purchase are ordinarily held; and whatever may be the extent of the legislative power over the latter class of lands, there can be no doubt, I think, that in respect to pueblo lands it is competent for the Legislature to control and direct how they shall be managed and controlled, or disposed of by the municipal corporation." (42 Cal. at p. 557.)

(To the same effect, see City of Monterey vs. Jacks (1903), 139 Cal. 542.)

In the case of Reclamation District vs. Superior Court (1916), 171 Cal. 672, the court held that the rule announced in the Grogan Case did not apply to property held by a county in its governmental capacity for public purposes, and that "* * * in the absence of constitutional restrictions, the Legislature has full control of the property held by the counties as agencies of the State and may dispose of that property without the consent of the county or without compensating it." (171 Cal. at p. 679.)

We now come to the recent decision of the California Supreme Court in Mallon vs. City of Long Beach (1955), 44 A.C. 225. In this case the California Supreme Court considered the effect of Chapter 915 of the 1951 Statutes, which declared a portion of the oil and gas revenues from the tide and submerged lands conveyed in trust to the City of Long Beach to be free of the public trust for navigation, commerce, and fisheries, and of the uses, conditions, and restrictions of the granting acts. The court held that this act effected a partial revocation of the public trust as to a portion of the income derived from the extraction of minerals imbedded in the lands subject to the trust, which partial revocation resulted in a reversion to the State of the moneys released from the trust, and that as so construed the act was valid.

It was contended in this case that under the conveyance from the State to this city, the city acquired property or contractual rights that were beyond the power of the Legislature to alter.

The court, in answer to this contention, stated:

"This contention is based on the assumption that, pursuant to a conveyance to it from the State of lands subject to a public trust, the city acquires property or contractual rights that are beyond the power of the Legislature to alter. Even if a conveyance, such as the one to the City of Long Beach in the present case, from the State to a municipal corporation is considered as a contract between the city and the State or as creating property interests in the city, the State acting through the Legislature has the power to alter contractual or property rights acquired by the municipal corporation from the State for governmental purposes * * *. A municipal corporation has no privileges or immunities under the United States Constitution that it can invoke against the will of the State, and under the California Constitution a freeholder city, such as the City of Long Beach, is exempt from legislative control only as to 'municipal affairs.' * * * It is clear in the present case that any interest of the City of Long Beach in the tidelands was acquired not as a 'municipal affair,' but subject to a public trust to develop its harbor and navigation facilities for the benefit of the entire State, and was therefore subject to the control of the Legislature." (44 A.C. at pages 234 and 235; citations omitted.)

These statements of the court should be read in the light of the court's actual holding. The case involved property conveyed by the State to a city in trust for governmental purposes. As to such a conveyance, the court did hold that the State acting through the Legislature has power to alter any contractual or property rights acquired thereby by the city.

Since we have concluded that a city owns its municipal water system in a proprietary capacity, and that the subject of municipal water systems is a municipal affair, the actual holding of the Mallon Case is not applicable here.

Therefore, it is our opinion that the rule in this State as to legislative control over the property of a municipal corporation held in a proprietary capacity, is probably as stated in the quotation from McQuillen on Municipal Corporations, to the effect that such property is protected by the constitutional provisions protecting private property of the individual, the control being limited to police regulation. Therefore, to the extent that the provisions in the bill as applied to chartered cities would be outside the scope of the State's power with respect to fish in public waters, it is our opinion that the provisions would be inapplicable to a chartered city.

2. The amendments to the bill, as adopted in the Assembly April 28, 1955, make several changes in the effect of the bill. The board of supervisors is required to make its request to open the body of water to public fishing and other recreational uses to the agency owning the body of water rather than to the State Department of Public Health. The agency then must request the Department of Public Health to make the determination as to whether the body of water could be safely opened up to public fishing and the surrounding area for other recreational use. If the department determines that such uses would not endanger the purity of the water supply, the agency may, but is not required to, permit the body of water to be so used. However, if the agency does not allow such use it must within one year submit the question to the voters and if a majority votes in favor thereof, the agency must allow public fishing in the body of water and other recreational uses in the surrounding area.

You have asked whether these amendments cure any invalidity in the bill as applied to chartered cities, stemming from the "municipal affairs" provisions of the State Constitution.

In our opinion, the provisions requiring the agency to submit the question to a vote of the people if the agency does not permit the other uses, would, as applied to chartered cities, constitute an interference with the municipal affairs of a chartered city to the extent previously discussed.

In effect, the provision of the bill, if applied to chartered cities, would require the city to submit the matter to its citizens for a vote and the result of that vote would be binding upon the city, even though the charter does not require such a matter to be submitted to the voters.

To the extent that the matter constitutes a municipal affair, the charter provisions are supreme and unaffected by general laws (West Coast Advertising Co. vs. City and County of San Francisco (1939), 14 Cal. 2d 516). Therefore, the charter governs the question as to whether or not a matter involving a municipal affair must be submitted to the city electors.

REMARKS RELATIVE TO THE PASSING OF SENATOR CLARENCE C. WARD—SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 76

Remarks by Mr. Holmes

Mr. Speaker and Members of the Assembly:

It grieves me very much to rise on this occasion to speak about my friend, Clarence Ward. I have known him since 1937. I have lost one of my best friends. Senator Ward had the respect and admiration of all that knew him. In my entire knowledge of Senator Ward, I have never heard him say a disparaging word against any man, and to me that is one of the greatest attributes that any man could have said about him. Senator Ward lived a wonderful life and I think that I could give his philosophy of life by giving you the last verse of Thanatopsis, and here it is:

"So live that when thy summons comes to join that innumerable caravan which moves to that mysterious realm where each shall take his chamber in the silent halls of death, thou go not like the quarry-slave at night, scourged to his dungeon, but sustained and soothed by an unfaltering trust, approach thy grave like one who wraps the drapery of his couch about him, and lies down to pleasant dreams."

Remarks by Speaker pro Tempore Maloney

Most grievous of all occasions in life is that of bidding farewell to one whom we have known and loved so long. Truly, it is not easy for me, today, to face the need or to give expression to how you and I most deeply feel. But into the home of one of our dearest friends has come a sorrow, and if by brief and simple tribute we can make it known to them that this sorrow is not only theirs but mine and yours as well, I do it gladly.

It was Oscar Wilde, I believe, who wrote: "If a friend of mine should give a feast and not invite me to it, I should not mind it a bit. But if a friend of mine had a sorrow and refused to let me share it, I should feel it keenly." And so you and I with common purpose have on this occasion met to signify our respect, our sympathy, and our love, and to indicate that if sorrow is capable of division, we tenderly assume our part.

Senator Clarence Ward was a great American. He was a Christian man, a loyal husband, a staunch and devoted friend. In all the time that I have known him I have never heard him speak ill or disparagingly of anyone.

It seems to me that his peculiar mission was to demonstrate the beauty and sincerity of true friendship, that good fortune which makes life worth so much, and without which one is poor indeed. To know him was to love him, and to lose him is to plumb the depth of loneliness.

The eyes of Senator Ward, our departed and lovable colleague, which have seen so much, are forever closed. His gentle mouth which spoke but kindly things will speak no more. His hands which knew toil and gentle ministrations are forever folded in sweet submission to his Maker. Another heart has ceased to beat. The river of another life has reached the sea.

APPOINTMENT OF SELECT COMMITTEE

Speaker Lincoln announced the appointment of Messrs. Lincoln, Holmes, Marsh, Munnell, Pattee, Brady, and Cunningham as a Select Committee to represent the Assembly at the funeral of the late Senator Clarence C. Ward, President pro Tempore of the Senate, at 2 p.m., tomorrow, May 12th, in Santa Barbara.

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT THAT OPINION BE PRINTED IN JOURNAL

Mr. Thomas J. Doyle asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent that an opinion by the Legislative Counsel relative to a Motion to Withdraw Bill—No. 11457, be ordered printed in the Journal, in 10-point type, as follows:

OPINION OF THE LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL

STATE OF CALIFORNIA
OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL
SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, May 11, 1955

Honorable Thomas J. Doyle
Assembly Chamber

Motion to Withdraw Bill—No. 11457

DEAR MR. DOYLE: You ask whether a motion to withdraw a bill from committee opens the subject matter of the bill to debate.

In our opinion the answer is no.

Mason's Manual of Legislative Procedure (1953 Edition) which is specified by Assembly Rule No. 7 to be the authority in all cases not covered by the Assembly Rules, declares (Sec. 491):

> "It is not in order to discuss the merits of a bill upon a motion to discharge a committee or withdraw the bill from committee. Debate in such cases must be confined strictly to the purpose of the motion, for if this were not true, the merits of any question could be forced under discussion merely by such a motion."

Similarly, the same authority declares (Sec. 83):

"The motion to discharge a committee or to withdraw a measure from committee is debatable as to the advisability of that action, but the measure is not open to debate."

Rule No. 101 of the Standing Rules of the Assembly declares a motion to re-refer a bill or resolution from one committee to another is debatable only as to the propriety of such reference, but does not literally cover the point on withdrawal. However, in the absence of a rule specifically covering the point the provisions of Mason's Manual, mentioned above, are applicable.

Very truly yours,

RALPH N. KLEPS, Legislative Counsel
By A. C. MORRISON, Principal Deputy

The county from which such inmate came to such home shall, for the purposes of this section, be considered the residence of such inmate to grant such aid.

SEC. 7. Section 2160.7 of said code is repealed.

RECOMMENDATION OF THE GOVERNOR

In accordance with Article IV, Section 34, of the Constitution, the Governor presented the following communication recommending the consideration of Senate Bill No. 766:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE
SACRAMENTO, April 26, 1955

To the Honorable Members of the Assembly
Sacramento, California

GENTLEMEN:

Senate Bill No. 766, "An act making an appropriation for construction and equipment of state public works, declaring the urgency thereof, to take effect immediately," in my opinion constitutes an emergency bill within the meaning of that term as used in Section 34 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California, the consideration of which should not await the final enactment of the Budget Bill.

This bill appropriates additional funds in augmentation of Item 393 of the Budget Act of 1953 for the construction of a medical science addition to the University of California in San Francisco. This item is necessary because the cost of construction is greater than was anticipated and in order to proceed with the building the additional appropriation must be made at this time.

I therefore recommend consideration of Senate Bill No. 766 as an emergency measure.

Respectfully submitted.

MOTION TO TEMPORARILY SUSPEND THE RULES

Mr. Caldecott moved that Rule No. 70 be temporarily suspended for the purpose of reading Senate Bill No. 766 for the third time, and considering the bill because it is an urgency measure.

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT THAT REPORT BE READ AND ORDERED PRINTED IN THE JOURNAL

Mr. Dolwig asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent that a Progress Report of the Joint Committee on Federal Highway Aid be ordered read, at this time, and printed in the Journal in 10-point type, as follows:

PROGRESS REPORT OF THE JOINT COMMITTEE ON FEDERAL HIGHWAY AID

The Joint Committee on Federal Highway Aid herewith submits a Progress Report:

The National Congress is currently considering legislation that would increase national highway expenditures by as much as $25,000,000,000 over a 10 year period. After a number of exploratory meetings by State Legislators during which pending federal highway legislation was carefully reviewed, possible amendments were considered and a statement of general principles was drafted, it was decided to ask the Legislature to create a Joint Committee on Federal Highway Aid (Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 57) and to enact a resolution (Senate Joint Resolution No. 28) expressing California's interest in the proposed national highway legislation and stating principles that would guide in evaluating alternative programs.

The full committee, which was created, accompanied by Frank B. Durkee, Director of Public Works; J. W. Vickrey, Assistant State Highway Engineer; Robert E. Reed, Chief Counsel, Division of Contracts and Rights of Way; and Harmer E. Davis, Director, Institute of Transportation and Traffic Engineering, University of California; met in Washington, D. C., on April 25 and 26, 1955.

The committee conferred with officials of the Automotive Safety Foundation of Washington, D. C., a nonprofit highway research agency, which has closely studied highway problems throughout the Nation, has been in close touch with the federal legislation currently being considered and is thoroughly familiar with California's highway problems from an engineering standpoint, having conducted two highway needs studies for the California Legislature.

The committee next met with the California Delegation to the House of Representatives, apprising them of the California Legislature's interests in pending federal highway legislation, and explaining the committee's objectives and the principles embodied in Senate Joint Resolution No. 28. Members of the committee and its advisers later met with our Congressman Baldwin who is a member of the House Committee on Public Works which is considering pending highway legislation and discussed California's problems in greater detail.

The committee talked with Senator Knowland about California's interest in pending highway legislation. Senator Knowland indicated that the President is extremely desirous of having his highway program go forward at this session of the Congress. Members of the committee and its advisers also visited with Senator Kuchel who asked to have a representative of the Department of Public Works continue to advise him as to California's interest in pending highway legislation. Both Senator Knowland and Senator Kuchel believed the California action was most constructive and suggested that other states be advised of the action of the California Legislature.

The chairman of the committee proceeded from Washington to New York where he met with General Lucius D. Clay, Chairman of the President's Advisory Committee on a National Highway Program. The nature and purposes of Senate Joint Resolution No. 28 and Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 57 were explained to General Clay. He enthusiastically endorsed the objectives of the committee. While in New York, the chairman also met with an adviser to S. Sloan Colt, a member of the President's Advisory Committee, and discussed, among other problems, the matter of granting credits for past highway efforts under an expanded federal program as proposed in pending legislation. It was agreed that the credit feature was debatable, but not an essential part of the program.

The chairman discussed the aims and objectives of the California committee with New York Assemblyman MacKenzie of Belmont and Commissioner Dwight R. G. Palmer of the New Jersey State Highway Department, both of whom gave assurances that they were in sympathy with the California objectives and that they would endeavor to have their respective states cooperate with California in every possible way to promote sound federal highway legislation.

The committee decided on the following course of action:

1. To send copies of Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 57 and Senate Joint Resolution No. 28 to each of the 24 state legislatures now in session, suggesting that they might wish to take similar action. (This has been done.)

2. To request a meeting of the Western Interstate Committee on Highway Policy Problems to bring together legislators and administrators of the 11 Western States to discuss mutual problems with regard to pending federal highway legislation and attempt to work out a common policy statement. (This meeting is now arranged to be held in San Francisco, May 16th).

3. To have representatives appear before the House Committee on Public Works to present California's viewpoint as to pending legislation. (The House committee has already alloted time to the committee on May 23d at 10 a.m.)

4. To arrange a meeting in Chicago shortly after May 23d of highway administrators and state legislators of states whose interests in pending federal highway legislation appear to be generally similar to those of California's to the end that a mutual understanding of problems can be developed and a common policy evolved.

The committee believes that substantial progress has been made in presenting California's interest in highway legislation to national officials. The committee was pleased to find an enthusiastic response to its program. It was pleased also to find that California is looked upon throughout the Nation as one of the states that has done most to meet its highway problems. However, our very progress makes it necessary for us to be alert lest others think that our highway problems have all been solved.

California has a big stake in pending federal legislation. In all probability, California will be called upon to bear a larger share of the cost of any federal highway program than any other state.

We realize that highway problems are critical throughout the Nation, and that California must expect to contribute to their solution. On the other hand, our own problems should not be overlooked. Despite the progress we have made, the recent Report of the Bureau of Public Roads indicates that California has about 10 percent of the Nation's total needs on the designated Interstate Highway System. California's total highway, road, and street needs are currently reported to exceed the second state's by more than 25 percent.

This State depends more heavily on highway transportation than any other, has more motor vehicles, more passenger and heavy commercial vehicle traffic, and pays more to the National Government in motor vehicle fuel taxes. With good reason, responsible California officials must subject any proposal to enlarge national highway activities to searching appraisal. Certainly, we must be on guard that California not be penalized for having moved forward while others have lagged.

COMMUNICATIONS

The following communication was presented by the Chief Clerk:

UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR
BUREAU OF RECLAMATION, WASHINGTON 25, D. C., May 4, 1955

Hon. Thomas A. Maloney, Speaker pro Tempore
Member of the Assembly
State Capitol, Sacramento, California

MY DEAR MR. MALONEY: I appreciated very much the opportunity to present the Bureau of Reclamation's proposals for the Trinity and San Luis additions to the Central Valley Project before the Assembly. I hope that Mr. Spencer and I were able to contribute toward a full understanding of the bureau's proposals and its position regarding water development in California.

We are hopeful that no action might be taken by California in its official comments on the Trinity River Project or on the San Luis Unit when they are officially presented which might delay start of these projects to bring additional water to the water-deficient areas.

It is my feeling that provisions in a bill before the Congress to authorize a project which contained changes in the basic Reclamation Laws would require considerable study by the Federal Congress and most probably would result in serious delay in passing the authorizing legislation.

I want to thank you and Members of the Assembly and staff for the opportunity to discuss the water problems and for your thoughtful consideration.

Sincerely yours,

W. A. DEXHEIMER, Commissioner

A communication was presented by Mr Speaker from:

John S. Moore, General Chairman of Fiesta Del Oro of Sacramento, inviting the Members of the Assembly to attend the Fiesta being given by the Folk Dance Federation of California at the Sacramento Memorial Auditorium on Friday evening, May 27th, at 8 p.m.; and on through Monday afternoon, May 30th from 1.30 p.m., to 5 30 p.m. Ordered filed with the Secretary of State.

Irene R. Frank of Elsinore, relative to aid to the needy aged. Ordered referred to the Committee on Social Welfare.

"SECTION 1. Sections 33275, 33701, and 33703 of the Health and Safety Code are repealed.

SEC. 2. Section 33275 is added to the Health and Safety Code, to read:

33275. Without the consent of an owner an agency shall not acquire any real property on which an existing building is to be continued on its present site and in its present form and use unless such building requires structural alteration, improvement, modernization or rehabilitation, or the site or lot on which the building is situated requires modification in size, shape or use or it is necessary to impose upon such property any of the standards, restrictions and controls of the plan and the owner fails or refuses to agree to participate in the redevelopment plan pursuant to Sections 33701 and 33745.

SEC. 3. Section 33701 is added to the Health and Safety Code, to read:

33701. A redevelopment plan may, if the agency deems it feasible, provide for the participation in the redevelopment of property in the project area by the owners of any property which, under the plan, is found by the agency to be susceptible to use or reuse by such owners if the owners agree to use such property in accordance with the redevelopment plan and to appropriately subject any such property to the use or reuse required by the redevelopment plan. In such cases the redevelopment plan shall specify the terms and conditions under which owners may participate in the redevelopment of any such project area.

A redevelopment plan may, if the agency deems it feasible, provide that an owner whose property is acquired by the agency shall be afforded an opportunity to obtain by purchase, lease, exchange, or otherwise, property to be disposed of by the agency for use in accordance with the redevelopment plan, but such disposition shall be concluded only after a public hearing by the agency pursuant to the provisions of this part for the disposition of property by an agency.

SEC. 4. Section 33703 is added to said code, to read:

33703. A redevelopment plan for a project area shall conform to the master or general community plan insofar as the latter applies to the project area. The agency shall consult with the planning commission of the community in formulating redevelopment plans. A redevelopment plan for a project area shall be based upon the approved tentative plan, but any amendments to a redevelopment plan pursuant to Section 33747 need not be based on the approved tentative plan.

SEC. 5. Section 33747 is added to said code, to read:

33747. If at any time after the adoption of a tentative or redevelopment plan for a project area by the legislative body, it becomes necessary or desirable to amend or modify such plan, the legislative body may amend such plan upon the recommendation of the agency.

Before recommending amendment of the plan the agency shall hold a public hearing on the proposed amendments. Notice of such hearing shall be published once a week for three successive weeks prior to the date of hearing in a newspaper of general circulation, printed and published in the community, or if there is none, in a newspaper selected by the agency. The notice of hearing shall include a legal description of the boundaries of the area designated in the plan to be amended and a general statement of the purpose of the amendment. Copies of the notices shall be mailed to the last known assessees of each parcel of land within such boundaries, at his last known address as shown by the records of the assessor for the community, and to persons, firms, or corporations which have acquired property within such boundaries from the agency, at his last known address as shown by the records of the agency. If after the public hearings the agency recommends substantial changes in the plan which affect the master or community plan adopted by the planning commission or the legislative body, such changes shall be submitted to the planning commission for its report and recommendation to the legislative body within 30 days after such submission.

After receiving the recommendation of the agency concerning such changes in the plan, and not sooner than 30 days after the submission of changes to the planning commission, the legislative body shall hold a public hearing on the proposed amendment, notice of which hearing shall be published in a newspaper in the manner and at the times designated above for notice of hearing by the agency. If after such hearing the legislative body determines that the amendments in the plan, proposed by the agency, are necessary or desirable, the legislative body shall adopt an ordinance amending the ordinance adopting the plan thus amended.

SEC. 6. This act is an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health or safety within the meaning of Article IV of the Constitution and shall go into immediate effect. The facts constituting such necessity are:

At the present time the law provides no method for amending a tentative redevelopment plan after it has been officially adopted. In many communities of the State in which such plans have been adopted there is an urgent need for an amendment to a portion of such plan in order to more adequately meet the needs of the community. Furthermore, the provisions of the existing law for owner participation in redevelopment projects has been found to be inadequate and in order to encourage desirable owner participation and adequate redevelopment it is necessary to allow owners of small parcels of land to purchase additional parcels or exchange such parcels for larger sites within a redevelopment project area. In order to expedite the orderly redevelopment of blighted areas necessary for the public health, safety and welfare of this State, it is necessary that this act take effect immediately."

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT THAT OPINION BE PRINTED IN THE JOURNAL

Mr. McGee asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent that an opinion of the Legislative Counsel, relative to Withdrawal or Modification of Constitutional Amendments—No. 11563, be ordered printed in the Journal, in 10-point type, as follows:

OPINION OF THE LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL

STATE OF CALIFORNIA
OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL
SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, May 12, 1955

Honorable Patrick D. McGee
Assemby Chamber

Withdrawal or Modification of Constitutional Amendments—No. 11563

DEAR MR. MCGEE:

Question No. 1

You have asked whether, if the Legislature submits a constitutional amendment to the voters at the 1955 Regular Session, it can withdraw or modify the proposal at a special session accompanying the 1956 Budget Session.

Opinion No. 1

We think it is very doubtful that the Legislature has any power to follow the procedure suggested.

When the Legislature submits constitutional amendments it acts under the power conferred upon it by Section 1 of Article XVIII of the State Constitution That section provides that an amendment may be proposed in the Senate or Assembly and if two-thirds of the members elected to each of the two houses vote in favor thereof the amendment is entered on their Journals. The section then provides that it is the duty of the Legislature to submit the proposed amendment to the people in such manner, and at such time, and after such publication as may be deemed expedient.

There is no provision for amending or withdrawing a constitutional amendment after it has been adopted by the two houses. It does not necessarily follow from the premise that what the Legislature may do at one session it may undo at a subsequent session, that the Legislature may at a 1956 Session amend or withdraw a constitutional amendment proposed at a 1955 Session. The power of the Legislature to enact statutes and the power to propose constitutional amendments stand on somewhat different footings.

In Livermore vs. Waite (1894) 102 Cal. 113, the court said:

"In submitting propositions for amendment of the constitution, the Legislature is not in the exercise of its legislative powers, or of any sovereignty of the people that has been entrusted to it, but is merely acting under a limited power conferred upon it by the people, and which might with equal propriety have been conferred upon either house, or the Governor, or upon a special commission, or upon any other body or tribunal. The extent of this power is limited to the object for which it was given, and is measured by the terms in which it has been conferred, and can not be extended by the Legislature to any other object, or enlarged beyond these terms." (p. 118, 102 Cal.)

While the force of this dictum was somewhat lessened by the subsequent holding, in People vs. Curry (1900), 130 Cal. 82, that the proposing of a constitutional amendment was "to legislate" within the meaning of Section 9 of Article V of the Constitution, which prohibits legislation at special sessions on subjects not specified in the proclamation convening the session, the distinction still appears to be valid.

The general legislative power is vested in the Legislature by Section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution. This does not include the power to propose constitutional amendments which exists solely by virtue of Section 1 of Article XVIII, without which the Legislature would have no power at all to submit constitutional amendments. Since Section 1 of Article XVIII is the source of the Legislature's power it seems to follow that it has only such power in this regard as that section specifically confers and that, since it is silent as to modification or withdrawal at subsequent sessions, the Legislature is without power in those respects.

We know of no precedent for the amendment at one session of the Legislature of a constitutional amendment proposed at a previous session. There is at least one legislative precedent for rescinding such an amendment and proposing a substitute. This happened in 1910.

At the 1909 Regular Session a certain constitutional amendment was proposed (S.C.A. 1, Res Ch. 33) relating to the separation of state and local taxation. At the special session commencing October 3, 1910, a new constitutional amendment was proposed relating to the same subject (Res. Ch. 1, Stats. 1911, p. 15) and an Assembly Concurrent Resolution (A.C.R. 4, Res. Ch. 2, Stats. 1911, p. 18) was adopted rescinding and annulling the 1909 constitutional amendment and directing the Secretary of State not to certify the proposed amendment to the county clerks.

So far as we know no litigation arose out of this. The 1909 amendment was not voted on and the 1910 amendment was adopted by the voters at the 1910 general election. From the Governor's Proclamation convening the October, 1910, Special Session it appears that the 1909 amendment contained what were considered quite serious defects and the special session was called to get rid of it and propose a new one in its place.

We are not sure, even if the courts were to sustain the Legislature's power where serious errors and defects are involved, that they would sustain the power to rescind in all cases. To sustain the Legislature's action in the avoidance of presumably serious errors and defects might be quite different from sustaining its action where a change of mind is involved. Therefore we cannot predict with any assurance that the courts would hold that the Legislature has the power in 1956 to rescind or amend a constitutional amendment proposed at the 1955 Regular Session, and in view of the reasoning outlined above there is a considerable likelihood that they would hold the other way.

Question No. 2

You have also asked whether, assuming that the matter is within the scope of a special session accompanying the 1956 Budget Session, a constitutional amendment could be proposed which could be voted upon at the primary election in June, 1956.

Opinion No. 2

It can, provided an act is passed providing for such a procedure.

Analysis No. 2

No legal problem exists as to the power of the Legislature to call a special election to coincide with the primary election in June, 1956, at which time a constitutional amendment may be submitted to the voters (Const., Art. XVIII, Sec. 1). Upon several occasions in the past the Legislature has used this procedure (see Stats. 1949 (1st Ex. Sess.), Ch. 7; Stats. 1950 (1st Ex. Sess.), Ch. 1).

Yours truly,

RALPH N. KLEPS, Legislative Counsel
By CHAS. W. JOHNSON, Chief Deputy

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT THAT OPINION BE PRINTED IN JOURNAL

Speaker pro Tempore Maloney asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent that an opinion of the Legislative Counsel, relative to Bills Passed at 1955 Regular Session—No. 11568, be ordered printed in the Journal, in 10-point type, as follows:

OPINION OF THE LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL

STATE OF CALIFORNIA
OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL
SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, May 13, 1955

Bills Passed at 1955 Regular Session—No. 11568

DEAR MR. MALONEY:

You have asked what is the first day on which bills presented to the Governor may be pocket vetoed, assuming the Legislature remains in session for the full 120 days permitted by the Constitution.

It is our opinion that any bill passed by the Legislature and presented to the Governor on or after May 28, 1955, may be pocket vetoed.

Bills presented to the Governor on May 27th or prior thereto must be signed by him or returned to the Legislature with his objections.

Section 16 of Article IV of the Constitution provides that if any bill shall not be returned by the Governor to the House in which it originated within 10 days after it has been presented to him (Sundays excepted) it shall become law in like manner as if he had signed it unless the Legislature by adjournment prevents such return, in which case it shall not become law unless the Governor within 30 days after such adjournment (Sundays excepted) shall sign and deposit it in the office of the Secretary of State. In determining the 10-day period the day on which the bill is presented to the Governor is excluded. Price vs. Whitman, 8 Cal. 412.

The Legislature is required to adjourn at midnight on June 8th. The Governor will have 10 days, Sundays excluded, to consider bills presented to him prior to midnight of May 27th. The adjournment will prevent return of bills within the specified period as to any bill presented to him on or after May 28, 1955.

You also ask what will be the effective date of bills enacted at the 1955 Session that do not have an express effective date, assuming that the Legislature uses its full 120 days.

The effective date of bills not otherwise specified will be September 7, 1955.

Except as to bills that take effect immediately Section 1 of Article 4 of the Constitution provides that no act passed by the Legislature shall go into effect until 90 days after the final adjournment of the session which passed the act. If the Legislature remains in session for the full 120 days it must adjourn at midnight of June 8th. A 90-day period must elapse until bills take effect and the ninety-first day will be September 7, 1955.

Very truly yours,

RALPH N. KLEPS, Legislative Counsel
By LAWRENCE G. ALLYN, Deputy

OPINION OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL

STATE OF CALIFORNIA
OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL
SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, May 12, 1955

Honorable Harold K. Levering
Assembly Chamber

Assembly Bill No. 1215, as Amended May 7, 1955 (Property Tax Exemptions: Subversives)—No. 11309

DEAR MR. LEVERING: You have asked several questions regarding Assembly Bill No. 1215 as amended on May 7, 1955.

The bill would add Section 33 to the Revenue and Taxation Code to prohibit the allowance of any tax exemption in the case of any property, the owner or lessee or other person legally in possession of which, knowingly and wilfully, permits its use by any individual or organization for the commission of certain prohibited acts. The acts prohibited are those intended to further any program or movement the purpose of which is to effect the overthrow of the Government of the United States or of this State by force or violence or other unlawful means or to win support for a foreign government in the event of hostilities, where such intention is known to the owner or lessee or other person legally in possession.

The section would further provide that any tax exemption that has been allowed in respect to any property so permitted to be used shall be cancelled.

Also in the section is a provision that would make the list of subversive organizations which the Attorney General of the United States has prepared in connection with the Federal employees' loyalty or security program prima facie evidence that any organization listed is of a kind above described and would require the inclusion of the list in the affidavit or other form prescribed for claiming a tax exemption

In addition, the bill would make the section inapplicable to the "Church Exemption."

Question No. 1

Is the bill, as amended on May 7, 1955, constitutional?

Opinion

We believe that the bill is constitutional.

Analysis

Section 19 of Article XX of the State Constitution provides in part that notwithstanding any other provision therein, "no person or organization which advocates the overthrow of the Government of the United States or the State by force or violence or other unlawful means or who advocates the support of a foreign government against the United States in the event of hostilities" shall receive "any exemption from any tax imposed by this State or any county, city or county, city, district, political subdivision, authority, board, bureau, commission, or other public agency of this State." It provides, further, that the Legislature "shall enact such laws as may be necessary to enforce the provisions of this section."

We believe that legislation of a kind contemplated by Assembly Bill No. 1215 may be enacted pursuant to this direction. While Section 19 is concerned primarily with a disloyal taxpayer, it seems to us that, where necessary, in order to accomplish the general objective of the section, implementing legislation may be enacted to deny an exemption in the case of an owner of property who, although himself not disloyal, knowingly permits its use by one who is Such knowledge of the owner would, it seems to us, place him in almost the same position as an owner who is disloyal. As to either, the denial of an exemption would appear to be consistent with the purpose of Section 19, which, as we conceive it, is to discourage disloyalty through the denial of tax benefits.

A point might be raised to the effect that Section 19 relates only to a person who "advocates," whereas Assembly Bill No. 1215 speaks of the "commission" of specified acts To advocate, however, is also in the general category of the latter, involving as it does an act of pleading or supporting (see Webster's New International Dictionary, 2d Ed. p. 39; and see Gitlow vs. New York, 248 U S. 652. 69 L Ed. 1138).

A question might be raised as to the retroactive application of the last sentence of the first paragraph of Section 33 of the Revenue and Taxation Code that would be added by Assembly Bill No. 1215, the sentence providing that any "exemption which has been allowed for any year in respect to any such property so permitted to be used shall be cancelled." It is our belief that there would be no constitutional bar to the application retroactively of this provision (see Welch v. Henry (1938) 305 U. S. 134, 83 L. Ed. 87; 51 Am. Jur. 161-163, 623-624).

We are aware of the fact that several superior court judges throughout the State have had occasion to pass upon the validity of the 1953 legislation enacted by the Legislature to implement the provision of Section 19 of Article XX (Stats. 1953, Ch. 1503). These judges have reached different conclusions on this subject, however, and until an appellate court rules upon the scope of the Legislature's power in this regard, we see no reason to modify our view that the Constitution vests a broad responsibility in the Legislature to implement Section 19 of Article XX and that the courts would sustain its power to enact legislation of the kind here involved.

Question No. 2

Of what facts would the Attorney General's list be prima facie evidence?

Opinion

The list would be prima facie evidence that any organization shown commits acts intended to carry out a subversive objective.

OPINION OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL

STATE OF CALIFORNIA
OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL
SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, May 13, 1955

Honorable Harold K. Levering
Assembly Chamber

Assembly Bill No. 1215, as Amended May 7, 1955 (Property Tax Exemptions: Subversives)—No. 11639

DEAR MR. LEVERING: You have asked that we supplement our opinion of May 12, 1955, under our Request No. 11309, regarding the constitutionality of Assembly Bill No. 1215, as amended May 7, 1955, with an opinion as to whether or not the bill would prohibit the allowance of any tax exemption in the case of any property the owner or lessee or other person legally in possession of which permits it to be used for any purpose other than one mentioned in the bill.

It is our opinion that the bill very clearly is limited to the denial of a tax exemption only where property is permitted to be used for one of the purposes specifically mentioned in the bill. It would not, for example, result in the denial of an exemption of property owned by a veteran's post which the post permits to be used for a meeting of the board of directors of a "Little League" baseball organization, notwithstanding that one of the members of the board may be a member of the Communist Party. Nor would it result in the denial of an exemption in respect to church property which, during the holding of a church bazaar, may be entered upon by a Communist for the purpose of purchasing some refreshments.

Very truly yours,

RALPH N. KLEPS, Legislative Counsel
By J. GOULD, Deputy

The legislative body shall not modify the boundaries except after notice of its intention given in the same manner as publication of the ordinance of intention to call the bond election, describing the proposed modification, and specifying a time for hearing objections to such modification, which time shall be at least 10 days after the publication of the notice, and the objections shall be heard and determined as are objections to the proposed improvement or work.

5357. If the legislative body has denied all protests, it may call an election to be held within the district described in the ordinance or resolution calling the election, which description shall conform with any changes in boundaries that may have been made under Section 5356, and provide for the submission of the proposition of incurring a debt by the issuance of bonds of the district for the purposes set forth in the ordinance of intention. The ordinance or resolution calling such election, shall also recite the objects and purposes for which the proposed indebtedness is to be incurred, the nature of the improvement or work, the estimated cost, the estimated cost of the incidental expense, the amount of the principal of the indebtedness to be incurred and the rate of interest to be paid on such indebtedness; provided, however, that in its discretion the legislative body may recite in the ordinance or resolution a maximum rate of interest to be paid on such indebtedness not to exceed 7 per-centum per annum, which rate when so recited shall not be exceeded in the issuance of bonds for such indebtedness; and said ordinance or resolution shall fix the date on which the election shall be held, the manner of holding the election and the manner of voting for or against the proposition.

5358. For the purposes of the bond election the legislative body shall establish in the ordinance, or resolution, one or more precincts within the boundaries of the district, designate a polling place and appoint one inspector, one judge and one clerk for each precinct. In all particulars not recited in such ordinance, or resolution, the election shall be held as provided by law for the holding of general municipal elections in such city. The ordinance, or resolution, ordering the holding of the election shall be published in the same manner as was the resolution of intention.

5359. If at such election two-thirds of all the voters voting, vote in favor of incurring the bonded indebtedness, then the legislative body shall thereupon be authorized and empowered to issue the bonds of the district for the amount provided for in the ordinance or resolution calling the election.

5360. The legislative body shall, subject to the provisions of this article, prescribe the form of the bonds, and of the interest coupons.

5361. The bonds shall be payable in the following manner: a part, to be determined by the legislative body, and which shall not be less than one-fortieth part of the whole amount of such indebtedness, shall be payable every year, on a date and at a place to be fixed by the legislative body and designated in the bonds, together with the interest on all sums unpaid on such date, interest to be paid semiannually, until the whole of the indebtedness shall have been paid; provided, however, that the legislative body may in its discretion determine and fix a date for the earliest maturity of the principal of the bonds, not more than ten (10) years from the date of the issue of the bonds, but in this event the whole amount of such indebtedness must be made payable in equal annual parts in not to exceed 40 years from the time of contracting the same. The principal and interest on the bonds shall be paid by the city treasurer in the manner provided by law for the payment of bonds of the city.

5362. The bonds shall be issued in such denomination as the legislative body may determine, except that no bonds shall be of a less denomination than one hundred dollars ($100), nor of a greater denomination than one thousand dollars ($1,000), and shall be signed by the chief executive of the municipality, or by such other officer thereof as the legislative body of the municipality shall, by resolution adopted by a two-thirds vote of all its members, authorize and designate for that purpose, and also signed by the treasurer thereof, and shall be countersigned by the clerk. The interest coupons on said bonds shall be numbered consecutively and signed by the treasurer of such municipality by his engraved or lithographed signature. In case any such officers whose signatures or countersignatures appear on the bonds or coupons shall cease to be such officer before the delivery of such bonds to the purchaser, the signature or countersignature shall nevertheless be valid and sufficient for all purposes, the same as if such officer had remained in office until the delivery of the bonds.

5363. The legislative body may issue and sell the bonds at not less than par value, and the proceeds of the sale of the bonds shall be placed in the treasury of the municipality to the credit of the proper district funds and shall be applied exclusively to the purposes and objects mentioned in the ordinance or resolution ordering the holding of the bond election and to the incidental expense in connection therewith.

5364. The legislative body of the city shall, at the time of fixing the general tax levy, and in the manner for the general tax levy, levy and collect a tax each year upon the taxable land in the district sufficient to pay the interest on the bonds for that year, and such portion of the principal as is to become due before the time for making the next general tax levy; provided, however, that if the maturity of the indebtedness created by the issue of such bonds be made to begin more than one year after the date of issue, such tax shall be levied and collected, each year sufficient to pay the interest on the indebtedness as it falls due, and also to constitute a sinking fund for the payment of the principal on or before maturity. The tax shall be in addition to all other taxes levied for municipal purposes and when collected shall be paid into the treasury of the city and be used for the payment of the principal and interst on such bonds and for no other purpose.

5365. All contracts for the construction or completion of any work or improvement, or for furnishing labor, materials or supplies shall be let to the lowest responsible bidder. The legislative body shall advertise for two or more days in a newspaper of general circulation printed and published in the city, inviting sealed proposals for furnishing labor, materials and supplies for the proposed improvement before any contract shall be made; provided, however, that if chartered the city shall follow its charter as to making of contracts wherever the charter conflicts with this section. The legislative body shall have the right to require such bonds as it may deem best from the successful bidder to insure the faithful performance of the contract, and shall also have the right to reject any and all bids.

5366. Nothing in this article shall be construed as prohibiting the municipality itself from constructing or completing such works or improvements and employing the labor necessary, without a contractor.

5367. The municipality shall have full power and authority to expend the proceeds acquired from the sale of bonds for the acquisition or construction of the improvement or work set forth in the ordinance calling the election, and shall also have full power and authority to acquire or construct the improvements or works, and the improvements or works so acquired or constructed shall be the property of the municipality.

5368. Whenever the legislative body of any municipality in which a municipal park improvement district has been formed declares that it is no longer necessary to expend the money raised by the sale of bonds of such municipal park improvement district for the purpose for which the bonds were voted, by reason of the fact that such purpose has been accomplished by other means, the legislative body may call a special election within the district to obtain the consent of the qualified voters to use the money for some other specified purpose for which bonds of the district could lawfully be issued or to place the money into a sinking fund for the purpose of paying off the principal of the bonds at any time the same may be presented for payment by the holders thereof.

5369. The ordinance calling such special election shall recite the new object and purpose for which the money is proposed to be expended, and shall fix the date on which the special election will be held, the manner of holding the election and the manner of voting for or against the expenditure of the money for the purpose proposed, and shall establish one or more precincts within the boundaries of the district, designate a polling place and appoint one inspector, one judge and one clerk for each precinct, and in all particulars not recited in the ordinance, the election shall be held as provided by law for the holding of general municipal elections in the municipality. The ordinance shall be published in the same manner as the ordinance or resolution calling the original bond election. It shall require the votes of two-thirds of all the voters at such special election to authorize the expenditure of the money for the purpose mentioned in the ordinance calling the special election.

5370. Any district formed under the provisions of this article shall be known as Municipal Park Improvement District No. _____ (insert number) of the City of _____ (inserting the name of the municipality in which the district is located).

5371. This article shall not affect any other act or acts relating to the same, or a similar subject, but it is intended to provide an alternative method of procedure governing the subject to which it relates. When proceeding under the provisions of this act, its provisions and none other shall apply.

5372. The provisions of this act shall be liberally construed to effect the purpose thereof and no provision shall be deemed or construed to prohibit the inclusion within the boundaries of any district formed under the provisions of this act, or any other act, of any territory which has or which may be included within any other district formed under the provisions of this act, or any other act."
