REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT TO PRINT IN JOURNAL

Mr. Chapel asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent that the following opinions of the Legislative Counsel be ordered printed in the Journal:

OPINION OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL

STATE OF CALIFORNIA
OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL
SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, April 29, 1957

Hon. Charles Edward Chapel
Assembly Chamber

Assembly Bills Nos. 456 and 458: Vote Necessary to Enact—No. 12227

DEAR MR. CHAPEL: You have inquired as to the vote necessary for the passage of Assembly Bills Nos. 456 and 458.

Each of these bills now contains an urgency section designed to make it effective immediately as an urgency measure "necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health or safety within the meaning of Article IV of the Constitution."

Section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution reads in part in this regard:

> " * * * No act passed by the Legislature shall go into effect until 90 days after the final adjournment of the session of the Legislature which passed such act, except * * * urgency measures necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health or safety, passed by a two-thirds vote of all the members elected to each house * * *. A statement of the facts constituting such necessity shall be set forth in one section of the act, which section shall be passed only upon a yea and nay vote, upon a separate roll call thereon; * * * Any law so passed by the Legislature and declared to be an urgency measure shall go into immediate effect." (Emphasis added.)

We believe this provision clearly contemplates two votes on "passage"—a separate vote on passage of the section containing the statement of fact constituting the urgency, as well as one on passage of the bill itself, and that the two-thirds vote requirement is equally applicable to both votes.

Prior to 1941 the Joint Rules of the Senate and Assembly contained a provision specifically requiring a two-thirds vote on urgency sections, specifying the manner in which the question should be placed before the house, and providing that no further action should be taken upon the bill if the urgency section did not receive the required vote. This provision has not appeared in the Joint Rules since 1939. It is our opinion, however, that the constitutional provision quoted above requires a two-thirds vote on adoption of the urgency section and that the elimination of the Joint Rule on the point did not affect the change in this respect. So far as we are aware the practice of both houses has been uniformly in accord with this conclusion since the elimination of the Joint Rule.

Very truly yours,

RALPH N. KLEPS, Legislative Counsel

OPINION OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL

STATE OF CALIFORNIA
OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL
SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, April 1, 1957

Hon. Charles Edward Chapel
Assembly Chamber

Voting Requirements—No. 10104

DEAR MR. CHAPEL:

Question

You have asked whether a two-thirds vote of the Legislature is necessary to classify property for taxing purposes, under Section 14 of Article XIII of the Constitution.

Opinion

A two-thirds vote of the Legislature is necessary, where personal property is classified for the purpose of assessment and taxation in a manner and at a rate different from other property subject to taxation, or where personal property is exempted from taxation.

Analysis

The pertinent portion of Section 14 of Article XIII of the Constitution reads:

"The Legislature shall have the power to provide for the assessment, levy and collection of taxes upon all forms of tangible personal property, all notes, debentures, shares of capital stock, bonds, solvent credits, deeds of trust, mortgages, and any legal or equitable interest therein, not exempt from taxation under the provisions of this Constitution, in such manner, and at such rates, as may be provided by law, and in pursuance of the exercise of such power the Legislature, two-thirds of all of the members elected to each of the two houses voting in favor thereof, may classify any and all kinds of personal property for the purposes of assessment and taxation in a manner and at a rate or rates in proportion to value different from any other property in this State subject to taxation and may exempt entirely from taxation any or all forms, types or classes of personal property."

By virtue of this provision, a two-thirds vote of the Legislature is required if personal property is classified for assessment or taxation in a manner or at rates different from any other property, or if personal property is exempted from taxation.

The two-thirds voting requirement does not apply when the bill affects real property.

Very truly yours,

RALPH N. KLEPS, Legislative Counsel

OPINION OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL

STATE OF CALIFORNIA
OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL
SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, April 8, 1957

Hon. Charles Edward Chapel
Assembly Chamber

Question of Passage of Bill by Required Vote—No. 10620

DEAR MR. CHAPEL: You have asked our opinion as to when is the appropriate time to raise a question as to whether a bill has been passed in the Assembly by the required number of votes.

It is our opinion that the proper time to raise this question is immediately after the announcement of the vote and the statement of the result by the presiding officer.

While we found nothing specific on this point we do note in Paragraph 9 of Section 535 of Mason's Legislative Manual a provision that upon the announcement of a vote its accuracy may be immediately questioned by a member. Further, it is a basic rule of parliamentary law that a point of order cannot be raised until the rules (constitutional or otherwise) are violated and also there would be no basis for an appeal until the presiding officer had made his ruling.

It is, of course, entirely in order at any time during the consideration of the bill by the Assembly to inquire what vote the presiding officer considers necessary for its passage.

Very truly yours,

RALPH N. KLEPS, Legislative Counsel

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by the Chaplain, Rev. Robert S. Romeis:

O Lord Jesus Christ, Who didst send forth Thy disciples to shine as lights in the darkness of the world, forgive the feeble witness we have made. How often we have sought the easy way; how quick we have been to compromise; how willing we have been, under the guise of necessity, to forget our principles How often we have used the gift of speech to conceal the truth, rather than reveal it; how quick we have been to point the finger at others that we might not be too closely examined; how willing we have been to take the credit which others have earned. Forgive us, O Lord, our trespasses; cleanse us from selfishness, rid us of pride, free us from vacillation. Make us new from the inside out, that our lives may show forth Thy glory and Thy truth.—AMEN.

MOTION TO PRINT ADDRESS IN JOURNAL

Mr. Conrad seconded the motion.

Motion carried.

ADDRESS BY GOV. G. MENNEN WILLIAMS OF MICHIGAN

It is a real pleasure and privilege to speak to this renowned legislative body. And let me put at ease any of you who might think that a Democratic governor might feel discomfited addressing a Legislature in which one chamber is organized by the other party. I assure you that I don't have it near so good in Michigan. There both houses are organized by the Republicans.

The first time I addressed a Legislature in which at least one house was Democratically controlled was about two weeks ago in Massachusetts. I have delivered nine opening addresses to the Michigan Legislature and, at each one, spoke to Republican majorities in both houses.

When your own Governor Knight addressed our State Legislature last year, party-wise he was more at home than I was. I am afraid I have been too impetuous to wait for a similar situation in California, but I am grateful that you have met me at least part way.

Michigan has always appreciated the hospitality of the great State of California, particularly to our Rose Bowl football teams. But, seriously, I do want to point out many areas of kinship and friendship. I would be sadly remiss in courtesies if I did not pay tribute to your former Governor, now Chief Justice of the Supreme Court Earl Warren. Despite our being on opposite sides politically, he and his charming family took us by the hand and made us feel at home. He has been that kind of a person ever since.

We in Michigan have long known and admired some of the great achievements of the State of California. In some way, we owe you a debt for showing us, along with the rest of the Nation, how to solve successfully state problems.

Your tremendous accomplishments in the field of education here in California are known throughout the Country. We in Michigan are aware of the pace you have set in education. We are trying to live up to it.

You have set national standards for teachers' pay schedules. Your institutions of higher education—universities, colleges and junior colleges—form one of the world's greatest educational complexes.

Successful experiments which you have conducted in this vital field have become models for other states. Particularly, I would like to compliment you on your system of college scholarships.

Like you, we in Michigan are somewhat proud of the progress we have made in recent years. But, like you, we recognize that the main job is still ahead of us if we are to give our children, and their children, the kind of education which will fit the world of today and will fit the world of tomorrow. I hope you will continue to be a beacon to other states.

Let us give each of our states another mark of credit. California and Michigan have earned nationally-famous reputations in the field of mental health

Both of us have espoused the "brains, not bricks" theory of mental care. While we have sought to bring our physical facilities to par, we have also tried to provide the personnel which will make possible rehabilitation which is so important in this field I am glad to see you are also getting into the field of prevention, and that here in the Legislature you seem about to provide local community clinics—a step of tremendous importance and one which I think you will find will relieve the burden on your treasury.

You here in California have set another enviable standard for the Nation in your great system of highways.

We in Michigan have particular reason to applaud your accomplishments in this field since we, as the automobile capital of the Nation, are greatly benefited by modern highways for the automobiles which we sell. Needless to say, we have a particular soft spot in our heart for the State of California which leads the Nation in automobile registration. Indeed, if we had a few more states with such mobile citizens, we could enjoy higher employment and sales of our major product.

In short, I believe that the activities of the State of California in the past have been a vivid demonstration of the inherent powers of the states, if those in control of government but use with vision and courage the powers the people have given them We need have no fear of too much federal growth and control if we have states which act with the vigor and purpose which your great State has.

Our problem, as Adlai Stevenson so aptly pointed out, is not states' rights but states' wrongs. Where the majority of the states have been vigorous in the exercise of their inherent powers, the Federal Government has had no occasion to step in, and has not stepped in.

For example, in the two closely related fields of workmen's compensation and unemployment compensation, we have a different state-federal relationship. In workmen's compensation, we have a strictly state operation. Historically, the states have always been active in this field. But in the case of unemployment compensation, the states failed to follow the pioneering of Wisconsin, and the people, demanding action, went over the heads of the states to Washington. So we have a combined federal-state system.

Probably there is less than complete agreement among all of us as to where the next great challenges lie to the exercise of governmental power in the interest of the people. Undoubtedly, in some fields, only the Federal Government can act. But I am sure that these fields are relatively few. If the states can regulate a business as nationwide, yes international, as the insurance business, if they put their heads and their hearts to the job, there is not much that they can't do.

However, you and I know, and history bears this out, if we states will do the job before us, then Washington will not be walking into our home communities.

Traditionally we believe that government is best that is closest to home—and I don't think this argument can be successfully refuted. But today there is an even more compelling argument, one that goes to the very survival of our way of life. And that is that everyday foreign affairs and the proper conduct of our national prosperity are of such vital importance to the people of the United States, and to the world, and demand so much time for proper consideration that our National Government is going to have to return to the states more and more of the other duties of government, in order to tend to these primary responsibilities.

Naturally, the National Government will move slowly in concentrating on its primary duties, if the states are not vigorous in performing the things they can do best or just as well as the Federal Government.

As a consequence, the states have a real and urgent challenge to extend themselves to meet the everyday problems of their people to their complete satisfaction, and to use their ingenuity to stay ahead of the game.

In meeting this challenge, the State of California has given much inspiration and leadership, and I am sure will continue to do so. We in Michigan will try to do our part.

If, upon any such re-entry into state service, the member's current service pension for service thereafter will be calculated under Section 21252.5, the normal rate of contribution thereafter shall be such as will provide on the average a service retirement annuity at age 60 equal to five-eighths of 1 percent of his final compensation for each year of current service which would be applicable toward the benefit formula set forth in Section 21252 5.

SEC. 4. This act is an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, or safety within the meaning of Article IV of the Constitution and shall go into immediate effect. The facts constituting such necessity are:

Because the rapid growth of the population in California tends to be concentrated in specified cities rather than in uniform dispersal throughout the State, a great demand arises in such cities for qualified, trained local governmental workers who must, in many cases, be recruited from other governmental agencies throughout the State. Upon transfer to a new position, for purposes of retirement system membership, it is frequently necessary to adopt a new age basis for contribution rates for safety members under the present law. This has resulted in certain inequities in contribution rates causing a reluctance on the part of members to accept positions in the rapidly expanding communities. A measure to permit the use, as the age basis, the age of the member upon his original entry into membership, with increased contributions based upon rate calculations alone, is essential to eliminate this immobility on the part of safety members, and will accelerate the recruitment of such persons whose services to cities involved are in dire need of."

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE
SACRAMENTO, May 1, 1957

To the Assembly of the State of California
Sacramento, California

GENTLEMEN: This is to notify you of my return of Assembly Bill No. 2424, entitled: "An act to add Section 5302.6 to the Streets and Highways Code, relating to the payment of assessments for public works and improvements under the Improvement Act of 1911, and declaring the urgency thereof, to take effect immediately," without my signature and approval and with a statement of my objections thereto.

This bill, with my message relative thereto, I (through my Legislative Secretary) delivered to Arthur A. Ohnimus, Chief Clerk of the Assembly, at 3.33 p.m. on the thirtieth day of April, 1957, at which time your honorable body had adjourned for the day but not for the session.

Respectfully submitted,

GOODWIN J. KNIGHT, Governor

Receipt of Veto Message

I acknowledge receipt this thirtieth day of April, 1957, at 3.33 p.m., of Assembly Bill No. 2424 without the Governor's signature, together with a statement of his objections thereto signed by the Governor, delivered to me personally by Paul Mason, Legislative Secretary to the Governor.

ARTHUR A. OHNIMUS, Chief Clerk of the Assembly

Veto Messages From the Governor

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE
SACRAMENTO, April 30, 1957

To the Honorable Members of the Assembly
State of California
Sacramento, California

GREETINGS: I am returning herewith, without my signature,

Assembly Bill No. 2424, entitled: "An act to add Section 5302.6 to the Streets and Highways Code, relating to the payment of assessments for public works and improvements under the Improvement Act of 1911, and declaring the urgency thereof, to take effect immediately."

My objections to this bill are as follows:

The Legislature passed and presented to me this Assembly Bill No. 2424 and Senate Bill No. 899. These bills are identical. In order to avoid unnecessary duplication, only one of them should receive my signature and the other should be returned without my signature. Accordingly, at the request of the author of Assembly Bill No. 2424 I have signed Senate Bill No. 899 and that bill has become a law, and I am returning the Assembly bill to the house in which it originated with this statement of my objections thereto.

Respectfully submitted,

GOODWIN J. KNIGHT, Governor

Governor's veto message read.

Assembly Bill No. 2424 ordered to unfinished business file.

"SECTION 1. Chapter 7 (commencing with Section 60175) is added to Division 1 of Title 6 of the Government Code, to read:

CHAPTER 7. ZONING OF SANITATION AND SEWERAGE DISTRICTS

60175. As used in this chapter, "district" means any garbage disposal district, garbage and refuse disposal district, sewer district, county sanitation district, sewer maintenance district, county sewerage and water district, joint municipal sewage disposal district, regional sewage disposal district, or sanitary district.

60176. As used in this chapter, "board" means the board of directors, board of trustees, board of supervisors, or other governing body of any of the districts enumerated in Section 60175.

60177. As used in this chapter, "project" means any undertaking, system, work of improvement, or facility which any of the districts enumerated in Section 60175 are authorized or permitted to undertake, acquire, construct, operate, or maintain, as the case may be, by the law pursuant to which they are formed or under which they function. "Project" includes maintenance, repair, reconstruction, or operation of existing systems, facilities, or works.

60178. A board may establish zones within the district to undertake any project.

Proceedings for the establishment of a zone may be instituted by the board, by resolution, on its own initiative and shall be instituted by the board upon receipt of a petition requesting the formation of a zone and signed by not less than 25 percent of the owners of real property in the territory proposed to be included within the zone as shown by the last equalized assessment roll of the county. The petition may consist of any number of separate instruments, each of which must comply with all of the requirements of a petition except as to number of signatures.

The procedure for undertaking projects or works of improvement through the creation of zones is an alternate method for undertaking district projects and shall not affect or limit any other provisions of law authorizing or providing for undertaking of projects by the district as a whole.

60179. A petition requesting the formation of a zone for the institution of a project shall:

(a) Request the board to institute proceedings to establish the zone.

(b) Describe the boundaries of the territory which is proposed for inclusion in the zone.

(c) State the specific project for which the zone is to be created.

Before a petition is circulated, the proposed boundaries of the zone shall be submitted to the county boundary commission for recommendation and report as provided in Chapter 3 (commencing with Section 58850), Division 1, Title 6, of the Government Code.

60180. Prior to the hearing on the proposal to establish any zone, the board shall direct the chief engineer of the district to make and file a report with the board which shall show:

(a) A general description of the project for which the zone is to be created

(b) A general description of any lands, rights of way, easements, and property to be taken, acquired, or injured in carrying out such work.

(c) An estimate of the cost of the project, including an estimate of the cost of any lands, rights of way, easements, and property proposed to be taken, acquired, or injured in carrying out said work, and also of all incidental expenses and of all operating, maintenance, and other costs which may be incurred in connection therewith

The report shall be considered by the board which may either accept the report as filed or refer it back to the chief engineer of the district for consideration of such modification or change as the board deems necessary in the best interests of the district.

60181. Within 30 days after receiving the engineer's report on the proposal to establish a zone, which report is satisfactory to the board, the board shall adopt a resolution of intention to establish a zone, which resolution shall contain the following:

(a) A statement that a zone is proposed to be established under the terms of this chapter and describing the boundaries of the territory proposed for inclusion in the zone.

(b) A statement as to the name proposed for the zone. The name shall include the name of the district and an appropriate designation of the proposed zone.

(c) A description of the project for which the zone is to be created and an estimate of the rate of assessment which must be levied to secure funds for the project and for the maintenance thereof, which will be levied annually upon all taxable real property within the zone.

(d) A statement of the estimated cost of the proposed project.

(e) A statement of the time and place for a public hearing at which the board will consider the establishing of a zone, which hearing shall be not less than 30 days nor more than 60 days after the adoption of the resolution.

60182. The board shall publish a notice of hearing at least once seven days prior to the date of the hearing in a newspaper of general circulation published in the county. Notice of the hearing shall also be posted in not less than three public places in the zone at least two weeks before the date of the hearing. The notice shall contain:

(a) The text of the resolution.

(b) A statement of the time and place of the hearing.

(c) A statement as to the place where the engineer's report may be examined.

(d) A statement that at the hearing all written protests against establishment of the zone will be considered and testimony of all interested persons for or against the establishment of the zone will be heard.

60183. At the hearing the board shall hear testimony of all interested persons for or against the establishment of the zone, the inclusion therein of any lands that would not be benefited or the failure to include any lands which would be benefited, and the undertaking of the project. The board shall also receive any written protests by any interested person concerning the establishment of the zone which are filed with the board on or before the time fixed for the hearing. Written protests may be withdrawn at any time before the hearing. The hearing may be continued from time to time for a period not to exceed 60 days. At the conclusion of the hearing the board shall consider all testimony and protests presented to it concerning the establishment of the zone, and may, if it determines it to be in the best interests of the district, establish the zone. If the board determines to establish the zone, it shall, by resolution, so declare and fix the boundaries and designate the projects to be performed therein. No land which will not be benefited shall be included in any zone. No zone initiated by petition shall be created, (a) for any project not included in the petition or amendment thereof, or (b) which includes lands not within the boundaries proposed in the petition or any amendment thereof.

60184. If at any time before the establishment of a zone there are written protests filed with the board by the owners of real property in excess of 25 percent of the assessed valuation of such property within the zone as shown by the last equalized assessment roll of the county and if the board is not the board of supervisors of the county in which the district is located, the proposed resolution of the board to declare the zone established, to fix its boundaries, and to designate the projects to be undertaken therein, shall be submitted together with all written protests received by the board to the board of supervisors of the county in which the district is located. The board of supervisors shall consider the proposed resolution and the submitted protests, and may, after such notice as the board of supervisors considers necessary, hear testimony of any interested person. Within 60 days after the proposed resolution is submitted to the board of supervisors, that board shall approve the establishment of the zone as proposed, disapprove the establishment of the zone, or modify the proposed boundaries of the zone or the projects to be undertaken therein. If the board of supervisors approves the establishment of the zone the board may, by resolution, declare the zone established. If the board of supervisors disapproves the establishment of the zone all proceedings in connection therewith shall be abandoned and the board shall not, for a period of one year from the date of such disapproval, initiate any proceedings to establish a zone for the same project as that proposed. If the board of supervisors modifies either the boundaries of, or the projects to be undertaken in, the proposed zone, the board may, by resolution, declare the zone established in accordance with the modifications made by the board of supervisors, or may abandon the proceedings and, if the proceedings are abandoned, shall not, for a period of one year from the date of such abandonment, initiate any proceedings to establish a zone for the same project as that proposed.

60185. If at any time before the establishment of a zone there are written protests filed with the board by the owners of real property in excess of 50 percent of the assessed valuation of such property within the zone as shown by the last equalized assessment roll of the county, the proceedings shall be abandoned and the board shall not, for a period of one year from such abandonment, initiate any proceedings to establish a zone for the same project as that proposed.

60187. In any district in which all projects of the district have been undertaken by the establishment of zones therefor, the tax rate for district purposes, exclusive of zone assessments, shall not exceed five cents ($0.05) on each one hundred dollars ($100) of assessed valuation

60188. A board may, upon its own initiative or upon a petition signed by any owner of taxable real property in the district, institute proceedings to adjust boundaries of zones to include within any zone all land served or benefited by the project for which the zone was created or to exclude land no longer served or benefited by the project of the zone within which the land is located. Notice and proceedings for such adjustment shall be the same as provided in this chapter for establishment of a zone insofar as the provisions pertaining to establishment may be applied to boundary adjustment proceedings, except that the determination by the board shall be final and shall not be presented to the board of supervisors. Upon termination of such proceedings, the board, by resolution, may declare the boundaries of the zone adjusted."

Amendments read, and adopted.

Bill ordered reprinted, engrossed, and to be re-referred to the Committee on Municipal and County Government.

SEC 33 Section 7109 21 of said code is amended to read:

7109 21. Notwithstanding any provisions of this article to the contrary, allowances for growth for elementary school districts maintaining only one elementary school with a total average daily attendance during the preceding fiscal year of less than 101, exclusive of pupils attending the seventh and eighth grades of a junior high school, shall be computed pursuant to this section.

The provisions of subdivisions (a), (b), (c), and (d) of Section 7032 for average daily attendance and number of teachers hired shall apply to such districts.

No allowance for growth shall be made for such a district unless the excess units of average daily attendance for the period of the current fiscal year over units of average daily attendance of the corresponding period of the preceding fiscal year is sufficient to place the district within the requirements of a different subdivision of Section 7032, or is sufficient to place the district outside of the requirements of any of the subdivisions of Section 7032.

If the excess is sufficient to place the district within the requirements of a different subdivison of Section 7032 an apportionment for growth shall be made only if there has been employed for the school during the period of the current fiscal year the number of teachers required by the subdivision of Section 7032 which is applicable to the district according to its average daily attendance during the period of the current fiscal year, exclusive of pupils attending the seventh and eighth grades of a junior high school.

The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall allow, for each period for each district which was in existence for all purposes during the preceding fiscal year an amount equal to the difference between the amount of basic state aid and state equalization aid which was apportioned on account of average daily attendance in such district during the preceding fiscal year and the amount of basic state aid and state equalization aid which would have been apportioned had the total average daily attendance in such district during such year been equal to the total average daily attendance during the period of the current year, multiplied for the first period by the ratio of days the regular day schools of the district were maintained during said period of the then current fiscal year to 175, and for the second period by the ratio of the difference between 175 and the days the regular day schools of the district were maintained during the first period of the then current fiscal year to 175.

If the excess is sufficient to place the district outside of the requirements of any of the subdivisions of Section 7032, the Superintendent of Public Instruction shall deem the average daily attendance of the district during the preceding fiscal year to have been 100 and he shall compute an allowance pursuant to Section 7109 2 with respect to the units of average daily attendance during the period of the then current fiscal year which are more than 100

The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall allow to each school district for each unit by which the average daily attendance for each period of the then current fiscal year in the seventh and eighth grades of a junior high school exceeds such average daily attendance for the same period during the preceding fiscal year the following: for the first period, the sum of two hundred [twelve dollars ($212)] twenty-five dollars ($225) multiplied by the ratio of days the regular day schools of the district were maintained during the first period of the then current fiscal year to 175 and, for the second period, the sum of two hundred twelve dollars ($212) multiplied by the ratio of the difference between 175 and the days the regular day schools of the district were maintained during the first period of the then current fiscal year to 175.

SEC 34. Section 7109 22 of said code is amended to read:

7109.22. Notwithstanding any provision of this article to the contrary, allowances for growth for high school districts maintaining only one high school with a total average daily attendance during the preceding fiscal year of less than 281 shall be computed pursuant to this section

The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall allow, for each period for each district which was in existence for all purposes during the preceding fiscal year an amount equal to the difference between the amount of basic state aid and state equalization aid which was apportioned on account of average daily attendance in such district during the preceding fiscal year and the amount of basic state aid and state equalization aid which would have been apportioned had the total average daily attendance in such district during such year been equal to the total average daily attendance during the period of the current year, multiplied for the first period by the ratio of days the regular day schools of the district were maintained during said period of the then current fiscal year to 175, and for the second period by the ratio of the difference between 175 and the days the regular day schools of the district were maintained during the first period of the then current fiscal year to 175.

The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall add the average daily attendance for other than adults as defined in Section 9700.1 of classes for adults and summer school during the preceding year to, and deduct the average daily attendance for adults as defined in Section 9700 1 of regular day school and summer school during the preceding year from, the average daily attendance in the regular day school during the period of the current year in determining the total average daily attendance during the period of the current year required in this section.

SEC. 35. Section 7121.1 of said code is amended to read·

7121.1. The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall withhold from the apportionment made to each district for which a computation was made under Section 7032 or 7034 as follows:

If the district had fewer teachers than prescribed by the subdivision of Section 7032 or 7034 under which the computation was made, the Superintendent of Public Instruction shall withhold an amount determined as the difference between the amount allowed under Articles 7 and 11 and the amount that would have been allowed had the computation for the district under Section 7032 or 7034 been made by multiplying the total average daily attendance by two hundred [twelve dollars ($212)] twenty-five ($225).

SEC. 36. Section 7125.1 of said code is amended to read:

7125.1. The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall withhold from the apportionment to an elementary school district the amount allowed the elementary school district for the average daily attendance in grades 7 and 8 in a junior high school by reason of the operation of subdivision (a) of Section 7000. The amount withheld shall be the larger of the following amounts:

(a) On hundred [twenty dollars ($120)] thirty dollars ($130) per unit of average daily attendance in grades 7 and 8 of the junior high school.

(b) An amount determined by the following process:

(1) Divide the district aid computed under Section 7081 or the amount which would have resulted had the tax used for such computation been [eighty cents ($0.80)] one dollar and thirty-five cents ($1.35), whichever amount was used in computing equalization aid apportioned to the district, by the units of average daily attendance in kindergarten and grades 1 through 8,

(2) Subtract the quotient resulting from the computation in subparagraph (1) from the amount allowed per unit of average daily attendance as a foundation program for units of average daily attendance in grades 7 and 8 in the district;

(3) Multiply the result obtained in subparagraph (2) by the units of average daily attendance in grades 7 and 8 in a junior high school.

The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall add the amount withheld to the apportionment required to be made to the high school district maintaining the junior high school.

SEC. 37. Section 7143 of said code is amended to read

7143. The average daily attendance of pupils attending high school courses maintained by an elementary school district shall be, for the purposes of this division, considered average daily attendance in high school classes maintained by a high school district and apportionments of one hundred [twenty dollars ($120)] thirty dollars ($130) per unit of average daily attendance and no more, on account of such average daily attendance shall be made to the elementary school district.

The governing board of each school district shall pay to each person employed for less than full time in a position requiring certification qualifications and serving under other than an emergency or provisional credential an annual salary of not less than an amount which bears the same ratio to [three] four thousand [four] two hundred dollars [($3,400)] ($4,200) as the time required of the person bears to the time required of a person employed full time

"Full time" means not less than the minimum school day for each day the schools of the district are maintained during the school year.

The provisions of this section shall not be construed as applying to substitute employees of a school district"

Almighty and Most Merciful God, Who from eternity and to eternity art Lord of heaven and king of earth, make us remember that the moving finger of time, as it records its journal day by day, never returns to make changes and erasures, or to gloss over the stained and smudged portions of the story. What is written is written; the life that is lived today cannot tomorrow be corrected, the words we speak today can never be unsaid, the deeds we do today can never be undone. Grant us wisdom, O Lord, and courage, to choose carefully the items which shall make up this day's record, so that as they stand forever they may stand in righteousness, truth, and peace; through Jesus Christ, Thy Son, our Lord—AMEN.

CHAPTER 13 REHABILITATION WORKSHOP LICENSING LAW

Article 1 Preliminary Provisions and Definitions

9950. It is the policy of the State to encourage the development of workshops for the purpose of providing employment and training opportunities for persons who are considered to be severely handicapped by physical or mental conditions that prevent their ready acceptance for employment in industry.

9951. For the purpose of this chapter a workshop means any facility designed to aid those persons with physical or mental disabilities of such a character as to constitute a handicap in securing or retaining employment, where the aid being provided is in the form of work activities and related services including but not limited to the following: sheltered employment, work tryout, work conditioning, employment training, work therapy, work evaluation, and personal adjustment to working conditions.

This definition is not dependent on the source of the work activity which may include collection and processing of salvage goods, subcontracting work from industry, production of products for market, simulated work activity, or any other means of developing such work activities.

The provisions of this chapter shall not be applicable to a workshop conducted by any federal, state, or local governmental body.

Article 2 Rehabilitation Workshop Licensing Board

9955. In order to protect the interest and welfare of those handicapped persons who may require the services of such workshops (and secure public support and recognition of workshops) there is in the Department of Education a Rehabilitation Workshop Licensing Board to be composed of five persons appointed by the Superintendent of Public Instruction, and a single representative from the Department of Mental Hygiene, one from the Department of Social Welfare, one from the Department of Employment, one from the Department of Industrial Relations, and one from the Bureau of Vocational Rehabilitation in the Department of Education, which body shall hereafter be referred to as the board.

9956. One of the members appointed by the Superintendent of Public Instruction shall represent the interest of organized labor, one shall represent the interest of industry, one shall represent interest of established workshops, and two shall represent the public interest. The representatives of the departments shall be appointed at the beginning of each fiscal year by the director or other head of each of the respective departments or bureaus.

9958. Members of the board appointed by the Superintendent of Public Instruction shall serve for terms of three years except that the first members shall be appointed for terms of one, two and three years, in such a manner that no more than two members' terms shall expire in any calendar year thereafter.

9959. Vacancies occurring on the board shall be filled for the unexpired terms by the same appointing authority that appointed the member causing the vacancy.

9960. Each member shall hold office until the appointment and qualification of a successor or until six months shall have elapsed since the expiration of the term for which he was appointed, whichever first occurs. No person shall serve as a member of the board for more than two consecutive terms.

9961. The board shall organize and elect a chairman from among its members for a term of one year at the first meeting of each year. The newly elected chairman shall assume his duties at the conclusion of the meeting at which he was elected. The election to office of chairman during membership is unrestricted.

9962. The board shall meet at least twice during each calendar year. Special meetings may be called at any time by the chairman or by any three members of the board upon notice of the time and place of such meeting in such manner as the board may provide. 250. In the name of the people of the State of California, the department may condemn for state water and dam purposes, under the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure relating to eminent domain, any real property or interest therein which it is authorized to acquire. The department shall not commence any such proceeding in eminent domain unless the director first issues a declaration declaring that public interest and necessity require the acquisition, construction or completion by the State, acting through the department, of the improvement for which the real property or interest therein is required and that the real property or interest therein described in such declaration is necessary for the improvement

251. The declaration of the director shall be conclusive evidence:
(a) Of the public necessity of such proposed public improvement
(b) That such real property or interest therein is necessary therefor.
(c) That such proposed public improvement is planned or located in a manner which will be most compatible with the greatest public good and the least private injury.

252. The real property which the department may acquire by eminent domain, or otherwise, includes any property dedicated to park purposes, however it may have been dedicated, when the director has determined by such declaration that such property is necessary for state water and dam purposes

253. The department may acquire, either in fee or in any lesser estate or interest, any real property which it considers necessary for state water and dam purposes. Real property for such purposes includes, but is not limited to, real property considered necessary for any of the following purposes.

(f) For the culture and support of trees which benefit any state dam or water facility by aiding in the maintenance and preservation of the facility, or which aid in the maintenance of the attractiveness of the scenic beauties of such facility.
(g) For drainage in connection with any state dam or water facility

254. Whenever a part of a parcel of land is to be taken for state dam or water purposes and the remainder is to be left in such shape or condition as to be of little value to its owner, or to give rise to claims or litigation concerning severance or other damage, the department may acquire the whole parcel and may sell the remainder or may exchange the same for other property needed for state dam or water purposes.

255. Whenever property which is devoted to or held for some other public use for which the power of eminent domain might be exercised is to be taken for state dam or water purposes, the department may, with the consent of the person or agency in charge of such other public use, condemn, in the name of the people of the State of California, real property to be exchanged with such person or agency for the real property so to be taken for state dam or water purposes This section does not limit the authorization to the department to acquire, other than by condemnation, property for such purposes.

256. The department may condemn real property or any interest therein for reservations in and about and along and leading to any state dam or water facility or other public work or improvement constructed or to be constructed by the department and may, after the establishment, laying out and completion of such improvement, convey out any such real property or interest therein thus acquired and not necessary for such improvement with reservations concerning the future use and occupation of such real property or interest therein, so as to protect such public work and improvement and its environs and to preserve the view, appearance, light, air and usefulness of such public work; provided, that land so condemned under authority of this section shall be limited to parcels lying wholly or in part within a distance of not to exceed 150 feet from the closest boundary of such public work or improvement; provided, that when parcels which lie only partially within such limit of 150 feet are taken, only such portions may be condemned which do not exceed 200 feet from said closest boundary.

257. The director may execute all deeds or conveyances necessary to convey any real property or interest therein to be sold or exchanged under the provisions of this code He may insert in any such deed or conveyance such conditions, covenants, exceptions and reservations as in his opinion are in the public interest or may convey in fee simple absolute. All statutes relating to state lands or to reservations of minerals therein or to reservations of rights to prospect for or mine or remove such minerals are inapplicable to lands heretofore or hereafter acquired by the State or conveyed by the State pursuant to the provisions of this code or pursuant to the provisions of previously existing statutes codified in this code, and no such statute in respect to state lands hereafter enacted shall be applicable thereto unless the Legislature expressly so declares.

It shall be conclusively presumed in favor of any purchaser for value and without notice of any real property or interest therein conveyed pursuant to the provisions of this code that the department acted within its lawful authority in acquiring the property, and that the director acted within his lawful authority in executing any deed or conveyance or lease authorized by this code.

258 The authority conferred by this code to acquire real property for state dam and water purposes includes authority to acquire for future needs. SEC. 32. Section 7098 of said code is hereby repealed.

SEC. 33. Section 7109.21 of said code is amended to read:

7109.21. Notwithstanding any provisions of this article to the contrary, allowances for growth for elementary school districts maintaining only one elementary school with a total average daily attendance during the preceding fiscal year of less than 101, exclusive of pupils attending the seventh and eighth grades of a junior high school, shall be computed pursuant to this section.

The provisions of subdivisions (a), (b), (c), and (d) of Section 7032 for average daily attendance and number of teachers hired shall apply to such districts.

No allowance for growth shall be made for such a district unless the excess units of average daily attendance for the period of the current fiscal year over units of average daily attendance of the corresponding period of the preceding fiscal year is sufficient to place the district within the requirements of a different subdivision of Section 7032, or is sufficient to place the district outside of the requirements of any of the subdivisions of Section 7032.

If the excess is sufficient to place the district within the requirements of a different subdivision of Section 7032 an apportionment for growth shall be made only if there has been employed for the school during the period of the current fiscal year the number of teachers required by the subdivision of Section 7032 which is applicable to the district according to its average daily attendance during the period of the current fiscal year, exclusive of pupils attending the seventh and eighth grades of a junior high school.

The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall allow, for each period for each district which was in existence for all purposes during the preceding fiscal year an amount equal to the difference between the amount of basic state aid and state equalization aid which was apportioned on account of average daily attendance in such district during the preceding fiscal year and the amount of basic state aid and state equalization aid which would have been apportioned had the total average daily attendance in such district during such year been equal to the total average daily attendance during the period of the current year, multiplied for the first period by the ratio of days the regular day schools of the district were maintained during said period of the then current fiscal year to 175, and for the second period by the ratio of the difference between 175 and the days the regular day schools of the district were maintained during the first period of the then current fiscal year to 175.

If the excess is sufficient to place the district outside of the requirements of any of the subdivisions of Section 7032, the Superintendent of Public Instruction shall deem the average daily attendance of the district during the preceding fiscal year to have been 100 and he shall compute an allowance pursuant to Section 7109.2 with respect to the units of average daily attendance during the period of the then current fiscal year which are more than 100.

The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall allow to each school district for each unit by which the average daily attendance for each period of the then current fiscal year in the seventh and eighth grades of a junior high school exceeds such average daily attendance for the same period during the preceding fiscal year the following: for the first period, the sum of two hundred [twelve dollars ($212)] twenty-five dollars ($225) multiplied by the ratio of days the regular day schools of the district were maintained during the first period of the then current fiscal year to 175 and, for the second period, the sum of two hundred twelve dollars ($212) multiplied by the ratio of the difference between 175 and the days the regular day schools of the district were maintained during the first period of the then current fiscal year to 175.

SEC. 34. Section 7109.22 of said code is amended to read:

7109.22. Notwithstanding any provision of this article to the contrary, allowances for growth for high school districts maintaining only one high school with a total average daily attendance during the preceding fiscal year of less than 281 shall be computed pursuant to this section.

The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall allow, for each period for each district which was in existence for all purposes during the preceding fiscal year an amount equal to the difference between the amount of basic state aid and state equalization aid which was apportioned on account of average daily attendance in such district during the preceding fiscal year and the amount of basic state aid and state equalization aid which would have been apportioned had the total average daily attendance in such district during such year been equal to the total average daily attendance during the period of the current year, multiplied for the first period by the ratio of days the regular day schools of the district were maintained during said period of the then current fiscal year to 175, and for the second period by the ratio of the difference between 175 and the days the regular day schools of the district were maintained during the first period of the then current fiscal year to 175.

The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall add the average daily attendance for other than adults as defined in Section 9700.1 of classes for adults and summer school during the preceding year to, and deduct the average daily attendance for adults as defined in Section 9700.1 of regular day school and summer school during the preceding year from, the average daily attendance in the regular day school during the period of the current year in determining the total average daily attendance during the period of the current year required in this section.

SEC. 35. Section 7121.1 of said code is amended to read:

7121.1. The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall withhold from the apportionment made to each district for which a computation was made under Section 7032 or 7034 as follows:

If the district had fewer teachers than prescribed by the subdivision of Section 7032 or 7034 under which the computation was made, the Superintendent of Public Instruction shall withhold an amount determined as the difference between the amount allowed under Articles 7 and 11 and the amount that would have been allowed had the computation for the district under Section 7032 or 7034 been made by multiplying the total average daily attendance by two hundred [twelve dollars ($212)] twenty-five dollars ($225).

SEC. 36. Section 7125.1 of said code is amended to read:

7125.1. The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall withhold from the apportionment to an elementary school district the amount allowed the elementary school district for the average daily attendance in grades 7 and 8 in a junior high school by reason of the operation of subdivision (a) of Section 7000. The amount withheld shall be the larger of the following amounts:

(a) One hundred [twenty dollars ($120)] thirty dollars ($130) per unit of average daily attendance in grades 7 and 8 of the junior high school.

(b) An amount determined by the following process.

(1) Divide the district aid computed under Section 7081 or the amount which would have resulted had the tax used for such computation been [eighty cents ($0.80)] one dollar and thirty-five cents ($1.35), whichever amount was used in computing equalization aid apportioned to the district, by the units of average daily attendance in kindergarten and grades 1 through 8;

(2) Subtract the quotient resulting from the computation in subparagraph (1) from the amount allowed per unit of average daily attendance as a foundation program for units of average daily attendance in grades 7 and 8 in the district;

(3) Multiply the result obtained in subparagraph (2) by the units of average daily attendance in grades 7 and 8 in a junior high school.

The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall add the amount withheld to the apportionment required to be made to the high school district maintaining the junior high school.

SEC. 37. Section 7143 of said code is amended to read:

7143. The average daily attendance of pupils attending high school courses maintained by an elementary school district shall be, for the purposes of this division, considered average daily attendance in high school classes maintained by a high school district and apportionments of one hundred [twenty dollars ($120)] thirty dollars ($130) per unit of average daily attendance and no more, on account of such average daily attendance shall be made to the elementary school district.

SEC. 38. Section 13842 of said code is amended to read:

13842. The governing board of each school district shall pay to each person employed in a day school of the district for full time in a position requiring certification qualifications and serving under other than an emergency or provisional credential an annual salary of not less than [three] four thousand [four] two hundred dollars [($3,400)] ($4,200).

The governing board of each school district shall pay to each person employed for less than full time in a position requiring certification qualifications and serving under other than an emergency or provisional credential an annual salary of not less than an amount which bears the same ratio to [three] four thousand [four] two hundred dollars [($3,400)] ($4,200) as the time required of the person bears to the time required of a person employed full time.

"Full time" means not less than the minimum school day for each day the schools of the district are maintained during the school year.

The provisions of this section shall not be construed as applying to substitute employees of a school district."

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT TO PRINT IN JOURNAL

OPINION OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL

STATE OF CALIFORNIA
OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL
SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, May 3, 1957

Hon. Harold K. Levering
Assembly Chamber

Assembly Bills Nos. 3046 and 3047: Vote Necessary for Passage—No. 12671

DEAR MR. LEVERING: You have inquired as to the vote necessary for the passage of Assembly Bills Nos. 3046 and 3047.

We are of the opinion that the vote required is that of a majority of the elected members.

Assembly Bill No. 3046 would impose a tax on the privilege of distributing cigarettes, and provide for the use of the revenue therefrom for General Fund purposes.

Assembly Bill No. 3047 would increase the current tax on beer, the revenue from which presently goes into the General Fund.

Ordinarily, the vote required for the passage of a bill is that only of a majority of the members elected to each house (see State Const., Art. IV, Sec. 15). There are several exceptions to this rule (e.g., Art. XIII, Secs. 14, 16), but none of which we are aware that is applicable either to Assembly Bill No. 3046 or Assembly Bill No. 3047.

In each bill is a provision that the bill shall take effect immediately as a tax levy. There is also in each a provision that the bill shall not become operative unless the "State School Fund Apportionment Law of 1957" is enacted and becomes law, and in that event, is to become operative at the same time as the latter.

The effect of the tax levy recital is that if each bill receives the vote necessary for its passage (i.e., that of a majority of the elected members), it will then go into effect as soon as it is signed and chaptered, rather than on the ninety-first day after the final adjournment of the Legislature.

To be noted in this regard is the following language in Section 1 of Article IV of the State Constitution:

> "No act passed by the Legislature shall go into effect until 90 days after the final adjournment of the session of the Legislature which passed such act, except acts calling elections, acts providing for tax levies or appropriations for the usual current expenses of the State, and urgency measures necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health or safety, passed by a two-thirds vote of all the members elected to each house.
> "Whenever it is deemed necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health or safety that a law shall go into immediate effect, a statement of the facts constituting such necessity shall be set forth in one section of the act, which section shall be passed only upon a yea and nay vote, upon a separate roll call thereon; provided, however, that no measure creating or abolishing any office or changing the salary, term or duties of any officer, or granting any franchise or special privilege, or creating any vested right or interest, shall be construed to be an urgency measure. Any law so passed by the Legislature and declared to be an urgency measure shall go into immediate effect."

In construing this language in Roth Drug, Inc. v. Johnson (1936), 13 Cal. App. 2d 720, with respect to the Retail Sales Tax Act of 1933 (Stats. 1933, Ch. 1020), our Supreme Court held that that law was a tax levy, and that it had become effective immediately as such in view of an included declaration so stating.

In so holding the court considered a contention that the act could not have become effective immediately without receiving a two-thirds vote, which in fact it did not receive, although the vote in favor of its passage was at least that of a majority of the elected members.

The court, however, was of the opinion that under Section 1 of Article IV only an urgency measure required a two-thirds vote in order to become effective prior to the ninety-first day after final adjournment, and that any of the other types of acts enumerated in the section (i.e., acts calling elections, acts providing for tax levies, and acts making appropriations for the usual current expenses of the State) needed only a majority vote for an earlier effective date.

The foregoing is, of course, premised on the view that Assembly Bills Nos. 3046 and 3047 are acts "providing for tax levies." We are of the opinion that they can be and properly are so described (see 51 Am. Jur. 35).

Very truly yours,
RALPH N. KLEPS, Legislative Counsel
By J. GOULD, Principal Deputy

Two copies to Hon. Ernest R. Geddes pursuant to Joint Rule 34.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. Munnell arose to the following parliamentary inquiry: Has the Speaker prepared a list of persons invited to appear before the Committee of the Whole on Assembly Bill No. 3045?

Reply by Speaker

Suggestion by Majority Floor Leader

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT

Mr. McGee asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent that the following report be ordered printed in the Journal:

BRIEF DESCRIPTION OF PROPOSED WATER RIGHTS CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT SUBMITTED TO GOVERNOR GOODWIN J. KNIGHT BY WATER LAWYERS' COMMITTEE

April 29, 1957

The proposed amendment will establish the policy of the State to assume responsibility for the development of its water resources.

It gives the areas of origin protection in the Constitution, including a water reservation for reasonable ultimate water requirements and a guarantee by the State to replenish their water supplies if they become inadequate or are depleted by future water export projects of the State or its assignees.

The amendment creates a Water Development Fund into which will be deposited all of the $120,00,000 accumulated oil revenues and all of the $75,000,000 "Rainy Day" Fund. Each year there will be added to the Water Development Fund all oil revenues of the State in excess of $10,000,000 per year and also an annual appropriation of $48,000,000 from the State General Fund. Proceeds from water development general obligation bonds will also be deposited in the fund but may be earmarked for the construction of specific water facilities or projects.

The money in the fund must be used for water resources development purposes: 80 percent for major interregional water transfer projects and 20 percent for projects of primarily local benefit and effect. At any regular session the Legislature by a three-fourths vote of both houses may change annual deposits in the fund and the 80-20 ratio of expenditures therefrom during the next 12-month period.

Allocations of project water for major service areas must be made by the Legislature when it authorizes each state water project which will develop additional water supplies.

Provision is made for such state water and power contracts as may be authorized by the Legislature. The water contracts are firm, but must always be subject to vested rights, to the reservations of water for local use in the areas of origin and also to the allocations of project water to the service areas. Water contracts are not subject to recapture.

The provisions of the proposed amendment are contained in six new sections to be added to the "water" portion of the State Constitution, Article XIV. These new sections deal with water development policies, reservations for surplus water areas, Water Development Fund, contracts, general provisions, and the necessary definitions. These provisions are closely interrelated and should be considered together.

It is believed that this amendment presents an equitable and practical approach to the area of origin problem, embodying a framework within which the State may enter upon a long-range development of its water resources for the benefit and advantage of all parts of the State.

Mr. Kennedy is vice chairman of the committee and Mr. Enersen is chairman. The Drafting Committee consists of Mr. Jennings as chairman, Mr. Howland, and Mr. Minasian.

Mr. William R. Gianelli, Principal Hydraulic Engineer of the Department of Water Resources of the State of California, served as consultant to the committee.

Mr. Clarence H. Langstaff, Deputy County Counsel, County of Los Angeles, served as Executive Secretary of the committee, and Mrs. Isabel C. Nessler as recording secretary.

The committee has had 16 all-day meetings on the following dates:

Friday, February 22d	Saturday, April 13th
Wednesday, March 6th	Sunday, April 14th
Wednesday, March 13th	Friday, April 19th
Wednesday, March 20th	Saturday, April 20th
Saturday, March 30th	Friday, April 26th
Sunday, March 31st	Saturday, April 27th
Saturday, April 6th	Sunday, April 28th
Sunday, April 7th	Monday, April 29th.

The meetings on April 26th, 27th, and 28th included lengthy evening sessions. All of the meetings were held in Sacramento except the first, which was held in San Francisco. There was practically full attendance throughout all of the committee sessions.

In addition the Drafting Committee had meetings on April 18th and 19th and has been in session almost continuously since Wednesday, April 24th.

The committee had available to it for its consideration and study the following material bearing directly upon the area of origin question and related problems:

Opinion of Attorney General Edmund G. Brown No. 53/298, dated January 5, 1955, relating to the constitutionality and effect of the county of origin statute (Water Code Section 10505) and the watershed protection statutes (Water Code Sections 11460 and 11463).

Opinion of Attorney General Edmund G. Brown No. 54/159, dated January 5, 1955, relating to applications of the Department of Finance to appropriate water pursuant to Water Code Section 10500 and proceedings involved in assignments of such applications.

Report of the Subcommittee on Areas of Origin of the State-wide Water Resources Committee of the California State Chamber of Commerce, dated November 30, 1956.

Report of the Attorney General's Committee of Water Lawyers on County of Origin Problems, dated January 3, 1957.

Report of the State Department of Water Resources to the Counties of Origin Subcommittee of the Joint Committee of the Legislature on Water Problems, dated January 4, 1957.

Report by Legislative Counsel Ralph N. Kleps, dated January 13, 1957, containing a comparative analysis of the proposals submitted by the Committee of the State Chamber of Commerce, the Attorney General's Committee and the Water Resources Department for the solution of the so-called area of origin problem.

Preliminary Report of Counties of Origin Subcommittee of the Joint Committee on Water Problems, dated January 17, 1957.

Final Report of Counties of Origin Subcommittee of the Joint Committee on Water Problems, dated March 7, 1957.

All of the foregoing material is gathered together in the Ninth Partial Report of the Joint Committee on Water Problems submitted to the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the Assembly and the Members of the Senate and the Assembly on March 11, 1957.

The background and nature of the "area of origin" problem have been fully and carefully analyzed in many of the reports which have previously been made upon this subject.* It would unduly extend the length of this report to repeat this material here.

The committee has had before it the several proposals for constitutional amendments which have been introduced in the Senate and the Assembly during the current session of the Legislature. These are:

Senate Constitutional Amendment No. 1 (Regan et al.) 1957 Session, introduced January 8, 1957.

Assembly Constitutional Amendment No. 4 (Lindsay), introduced January 8, 1957.

Assembly Constitutional Amendment No. 38 (McGee et al.), introduced January 22, 1957.

Senate Constitutional Amendment No. 27 (Williams et al.), introduced January 23, 1957.

Assembly Constitutional Amendment No. 55 (Porter and Levering), introduced January 25, 1957, as amended.

Assembly Constitutional Amendment No. 68 (Allen et al.), introduced March 27, 1957, as amended.

Assembly Constitutional Amendment No. 75 (Masterson et al.), introduced April 25, 1957.

The meetings of your committee have been devoted entirely to a continuous and determined effort to prepare the text of an amendment of the Constitution of California which, if adopted, would provide a permanent solution of the area of origin problem and the numerous other water problems which are so closely related as to require concurrent treatment. The work of the committee has proceeded in an atmosphere of cooperation, and all of the members of the committee have held and retained cordial respect for each other's opinions and objectives. However, the membership of the committee is drawn from all parts of the State and includes representatives of divergent views. Differences of opinion have been inevitable and compromises have been essential.

The product of our joint effort is attached to this report in the form of a proposed text of a constitutional amendment.

The text of the proposed amendment is offered and recommended for your consideration. We believe that it presents an equitable and practical approach to the area of origin problem and that it embodies a framework within which the State of California may undertake a long-range program for the development and utilization of the water resources of the State for the ultimate benefit of all parts of the State.

* For example, see Opinion No. 53/298 of Attorney General Brown which is set forth in convenient form at pages 76 to 99 of the Ninth Partial Report of the Joint Committee on Water Problems, and Section 1 of the Report of the Subcommittee of the State Chamber of Commerce appearing at pages 157 to 164 of the same volume.

Many of the provisions in this proposed amendment are innovations of substance or procedure. These provisions should receive, as doubtless they will, most careful and critical analysis, particularly as to their effect upon established operations and procedures, before being incorporated in a constitutional amendment for submission to the people.

The text is longer than we would wish, but we have been unable to express the essential principles in any shorter form. Each item in the proposal has been inserted for a specific purpose, but the result is an integrated composition which should be considered as a whole.

We cannot represent that all of the members of the committee would individually endorse all principles and policies nor endorse all paragraphs, sentences and phrases of the proposed amendment. It necessarily represents a combination and compromise of widely varying individual views, and like any compromise it cannot coincide precisely with all of the views or objectives of anyone. Also, like the result of any compromise, it cannot be substantially changed without impairing the balancing of considerations upon which this text is based.

Individually and collectively we thank you for the opportunity of participating in this important endeavor. We also thank those who have assisted us in our deliberations, Mr. Gianelli, Mr. Langstaff and Mrs. Nessler, and we also express appreciation to others who have given us factual data and other assistance, particularly Mr. Allan Post, Legislative Auditor, Mr. Rene L. Rothschild, Investment Advisor of the Department of Finance, and Mr. Harvey O. Banks, the Director of the Department of Water Resources.

Though somewhat arduous, our work has been enjoyable and we hope it will contribute to a solution of the problem.

Respectfully submitted,

Statement of Harold W. Kennedy, Los Angeles County Counsel and Vice Chairman of the Governor's Water Lawyer's Committee Respecting the Water Rights Constitutional Amendment

I have signed the report on the basis of the qualifications set forth in our letter of transmittal to the Governor. On the important issues the compromise draft represents, in my judgment, an acceptable solution. Through the replenishment guarantee and the very generous financing recommended for the Water Development Fund the ability of the State to protect the areas of origin would be assured. Because of the extreme complexities of the whole problem and the fundamental issues involved, including some innovations in our water law, there may not be sufficient time for the Members of the Legislature to properly consider it and safely vote its adoption, before adjournment at this session. It should be most carefully and critically analyzed from the standpoint of its workability and ultimate effect upon the water law of California, before being submitted to the people for adoption in November of 1958 and included in the Constitution.

Los Angeles County Counsel and Vice Chairman, Governor's Water
Lawyer's Committee

† The services of this committee have been of great value. However, I cannot accept the text of the proposed amendment.

BRUCE F. ALLEN

‡ As noted in the foregoing report, the text of the proposed amendment submitted herewith contains many provisions which will require thorough study as to the principles embodied therein and the precise expressions employed. The provisions of Section 7 relating to the Water Development Fund will require especial consideration before finally designating the exact sources and amounts of revenues to be deposited therein and before allocating such moneys for expenditure for major inter-regional projects and primarily local projects, respectively.

Statement of Wallace Howland, Assistant Attorney General

I regret my inability to subscribe to the proposed constitutional amendment which the committee has so strenuously labored to produce. It fails to achieve one of its two primary objectives. These objectives were: First, to provide a firm basis for the permanent delivery of water from state-owned projects which would not be subject to recapture and, secondly, to provide for reservations of water to the areas of origin, both objectives to be achieved by means of constitutional sanction which would be beyond reach of legislative recall.

The committee's proposal achieves the first objective but not the second. The proposal provides reservations for the areas of origin to be made effective only through the medium of applications to appropriate water which are filed by the State.

Applications already filed by the State cover more than 30,000,000 acre-feet of annual flow, which represents almost all of the unappropriated water which is still available at places and in quantities which are practicable sources of supply for export purposes. There is nothing in the committee's proposal which limits or controls the present plenary powers of the Legislature to, in effect, cancel any or all of these pending applications. It is obvious that any water reservation which is dependent upon the continued validity and existence of a state filing which can be cancelled by a majority vote of both houses of the Legislature falls far short of a constitutional guarantee of such a reservation.

Further, under the committee's proposal water reservations for the areas of origin would be binding only upon the State and assignees of state filings. If water is exported from an area of origin which is essential to the future needs of that area it makes no difference to the area of origin by whom such excessive exportation is made. The result, in any case, is the deprivation of that area of water needed for its reasonable ultimate requirements.

There are many features of the committee's proposals which, in my opinion, would greatly facilitate the progressive and continuing development of its water resources which the State so badly needs. Because I have been in some measure instrumental in formulating and securing approval of these features of the committee's proposal, I sincerely regret my inability to compromise the matter of water right reservations which I regard as fundamental.

Proposed Water Rights Constitutional Amendment
(New Sections 5 to 10, Article XIV)
(WATER DEVELOPMENT POLICIES)

SEC. 5. It is hereby declared that because of conditions prevailing in this State it is necessary for the State to assume a continuing responsibility for assuring the timely and economical development of the water resources of the State. In discharging this responsibility the State shall coordinate its activities with those of private enterprise, public agencies, and the federal government and may cooperate with them to that end.

(RESERVATIONS FOR SURPLUS WATER AREAS)

SEC. 6. (a) Each area of the State wherein water not subject to existing rights originates in quantities exceeding the reasonable ultimate requirements of such area and constituting a practicable source of water for use in other portions of the State shall be deemed for the purposes of Sections 5 to 10, inclusive, of this Article XIV to be a "surplus water area".

(b) Prior to authorization of the construction or acquisition of any facility by the State, a purpose of which is the exportation of water from a surplus water area, or before any assignment or relinquishment by the State to an assignee for such purpose shall become effective, the Board shall determine the boundaries of each surplus water area affected thereby and shall reserve for use within each such surplus water area, from the water originating therein and not subject to existing rights, the quantities of water reasonably required for ultimate beneficial use therein. Each such reservation shall be in terms of finite quantities of water and specific sources thereof.

(c) All such determinations and reservations shall be made after investigation and consideration of relevant factors, including the long-range planning of the State for the development, conservation, and utilization of the water resources of such area, and after giving reasonable notice and opportunity to be heard in conformity with such procedure as the Legislature may prescribe.

(d) All such determinations and reservations shall be subject to judicial review by such court or courts in such manner as the Legislature may prescribe.

(e) Each reservation so made for any surplus water area shall be binding upon the State and its assignees.

(f) The board on its own motion or on petition of any interested person, may re-examine and revise, either by increasing or decreasing, any reservation made pursuant hereto at any time it appears that it is no longer reasonable, provided that any such revision shall not impair any right to water or to the use of water which may have theretofore arisen out of contract with the State, as hereinafter provided, or which otherwise may have been acquired by any person, nor shall any such revision impair the right of the State under any application held by the State to appropriate water for the development and use of which a project has been theretofore authorized for construction or acquisition by the State pursuant to Sections 5 to 10, inclusive of this Article XIV, nor shall any such revision impair the rights of any assignee of the State whose rights are already subject to a reservation made in accordance with Section 6(b) of this article.

(g) The board shall notify the Governor and both houses of the Legislature whenever the amount of water available under the reservation made for a surplus water area has become inadequate to meet the reasonable requirements for beneficial use of water in such area. Thereupon, the State shall guarantee the prompt replenishment of the water supply of such area to the extent that the deficiency in the supply is caused by the exportation, through facilities constructed by the State or its assignees after the effective date of the original reservation, of water originating in the area. To meet this guarantee, the water required shall have first priority in deliveries from the next facility or project to be constructed by the State from which it can be delivered by practical and feasible methods, either by substitution for the water committed for use outside such area or by direct delivery within such area. Any additional expense involved in such replenishment of the water supply in excess of that which would be involved if there were no such exportation shall be borne by the State. The Legislature shall take such further action as may be necessary to fulfill this guarantee.

(FUNDS)

SEC. 7. (a) The Water Development Fund is created as a special fund in the State Treasury, the money, securities and increment of which shall be expended solely as provided in this section.

(b) There shall be deposited in the Water Development Fund:

(1) All revenues received by the State from the extraction of oil and gas from tide and submerged lands and State public lands in excess of ten million dollars ($10,000,000) in each fiscal year, over and above the cost of administration of all such lands and any refunds authorized by law;

(2) Four million dollars ($4,000,000) each month from the first revenues received in the General Fund after setting apart the moneys required to be applied by the State to the support of the Public School System and State University;

(3) All money in the Revenue Deficiency Reserve Fund;

(4) All money in the Investment Fund;

(5) All revenues over and above the cost of operation, maintenance, and the amounts required for the payment of principal and interest on any bonds issued to secure funds for the construction of the project producing the revenues, received by the State from the sale or furnishing of water, water power, and electric energy from any State water development project, or in the case of a joint project, the portion of such revenues to which the State is entitled;

(6) The proceeds of the sale of any state bonds issued to provide funds for water resource development; provided, however, that if the bonds are authorized for the purpose of providing funds for the cost of designated facilities, the proceeds of the sale thereof, when deposited in the Water Development Fund, shall be used for that purpose and no other; and

(7) Any other funds made available to the Water Development Fund by appropriation, gift, grant, or any other means;

(8) Provided, however, that at any regular session the Legislature, by a vote of three-fourths of the members elected to each house, may reduce the amount of the revenues specified in sub-paragraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph (b) to be deposited in the Water Development Fund during the next succeeding 12 months.

(c) Any money in the Water Development Fund may be appropriated by two-thirds vote of the members elected to each house of the Legislature for: (1) Construction or acquisition by the State, either alone or in conjunction with any person, of facilities authorized by the Legislature, or for the service of any indebtedness incurred in such construction or acquisition which is authorized by law; or (2) loans, on such terms, which may include the waiver of any interest charges, as may be prescribed by the Legislature to public agencies for the construction of facilities.

No appropriation from the fund shall be made for the construction or acquisition of any facility which is in substantial conflict with any general or coordinated plan approved by the Legislature for the development, conservation and utilization of the water resources of the State. The initial appropriation for any facility to be constructed or acquired by the State shall not be made until the department has certified to the Legislature that in its judgment the capital costs of the project of which such facility is a part will be repaid from the revenues from the project within such period of time as the Legislature may prescribe, except to the extent that the Legislature determines such costs to be nonreimbursable expenditures benefiting the State.

(d) Eighty percent (80%) of all money deposited in the Water Development Fund shall be used solely for the construction or acquisition of major inter-regional water transfer projects, and twenty percent (20%) shall be used solely for the construction or acquisition of projects of primarily local benefit and effect. By a three-fourths vote of the members elected to each house, the Legislature at any regular session may revise such percentages with respect to the money to be deposited in the Water Development Fund during the next succeeding 12 months.

(e) Subject to all the provisions of this Section 7, priority in the appropriation and expenditure of moneys in the Water Development Fund shall be given to completing at a reasonable rate of progress the authorized facilities and projects for which an initial appropriation has been made to the extent necessary to supply water when required under any contract executed by the State as hereinafter provided.

(f) Whenever the Legislature authorizes the construction or acquisition by the State of any water storage reservoir that will develop water for use outside the watershed in which it originates and in which such water storage reservoir is located, the Legislature shall also authorize such additional upstream water storage reservoirs and other facilities, except distribution systems, as may then be determined by the Legislature to have engineering feasibility and to be necessary and practical to satisfy the reasonable ultimate requirements of the area dependent upon such upstream development; and shall provide for the financing and construction by the State of each such upstream reservoir and other facility when it is needed.

(g) Whenever the Legislature authorizes the construction or acquisition by the State of any facility which will develop additional quantities of water for beneficial use, the department shall recommend, and the Legislature shall designate, the major area or areas to be served and the quantities of water to be allocated to each such area from such new development. Such allocations shall be in conformity with all applicable reservations of water made pursuant to Section 6 of this article and with applications heretofore filed by the State for water for the use of which a project was authorized prior to the effective date of this section. In making such allocations the Legislature shall give consideration to the reasonable ultimate requirements of the surplus water area for which such reservations were made and shall make allocations for that portion of the surplus water area which the Legislature determines should be served by the new development. Contracts executed by the State for the sale or delivery of such water shall conform to the designations and allocations so made. The Legislature may from time to time by the vote of two-thirds of the members elected to each house revise such allocations, but no such revision shall impair the obligation of any contract previously executed by the State.

(CONTRACTS)

SEC. 8. (a) Subject to existing rights and to reservations made pursuant to Section 6 and to allocations made pursuant to Section 7, the Legislature shall authorize the department to execute on behalf of the State, contracts for the sale or delivery of water to be made available by facilities or projects authorized for construction or acquisition by the State. Provision shall be made for contracts for permanent service, term contracts, and interim contracts to be effective only during periods when delivery is not required under permanent or term contracts. No right to water or to the use of water so contracted to be sold or delivered by the State adverse to the right of the person contracting therefor shall be acquired by any other person.

(b) Each such contract shall provide: (1) for the substitution of water in equal quantity and of substantially equal quality from an alternate source or sources of supply without increase in the contract price, (2) for periodic adjustment of the contract price to reflect any changes in costs of operation and maintenance, and (3) that the right to require delivery of water under such contract shall be limited to such water as shall be reasonably required for the beneficial use to be served.

(c) The price to be charged for water for irrigation at any point of delivery shall not exceed the cost of supplying such water at that point.

(d) The Legislature may also authorize the execution on behalf of the State of contracts for the sale or delivery of electric energy made available by any such facility or project.

(e) The provisions of Article I, Section 16 of this Constitution prohibiting the impairment of the obligation of contracts shall apply to all contracts made by the State pursuant to this Section 8, including contracts with public agencies. Any act of the Legislature dissolving any public agency which has so contracted with the State shall provide for continuity of adequate service in the distribution to ultimate consumers and users of the water so contracted for.

(f) The State may sue and be sued by any party to a contract made pursuant to this Section 8 in any court of competent jurisdiction on any cause of action arising out of such contract.

(GENERAL PROVISIONS)

SEC. 9. (a) No money shall be expended from the Water Development Fund for the construction or acquisition of any facility authorized prior to the effective date of this section for the purpose of exporting water from any surplus water area wherein it originates for use elsewhere in the State without first complying with the provisions of Section 6 of this article.

(b) In addition to the applications filed on behalf of the State for the appropriation of water before the effective date of this section, the Department shall make and file such applications for the appropriation of unappropriated water as in its judgment are or may be required in the development and completion of the whole or any part of a general or coordinated plan, approved by the Legislature, looking toward the development, utilization, or conservation of the water resources of the State. No such application heretofore or hereafter filed shall be subject to any requirement of diligence on the part of the State without the vote of three-fourths of the members elected to each house of the Legislature Any such applications may be assigned or a release of priority thereunder granted to any person for a purpose of development not in conflict with any such plan

(c) Rights to water or to the use of water, whether adjudicated or not, existing on the date this Section becomes effective shall be in no way impaired by the provisions of Sections 5 to 10 inclusive of this Article XIV or by any action taken pursuant thereto; nor shall such provisions or actions pursuant thereto alter the legal effect of any application theretofore filed to appropriate water or of any action theretofore taken which, when taken, was in any way material to the creation of a water right or to the establishment of the nature or extent thereof except that any application so filed by the State shall be subject to the provisions of paragraphs (a) to (e), inclusive, of Section 6 of this Article.

(d) No water development facility constructed by the State shall be used by any person other than the State for the transportation of water hereafter acquired by such person through the exercise of the power of eminent domain.

(DEFINITIONS)

SEC. 10. For the purposes of Sections 5 to 10, inclusive, of this Article, the following terms shall have the following meanings:

(a) "Facility" means any single physical structure or device used in the development, conservation or utilization of water resources.

(b) "Project" means any combination or grouping of any number of such facilities.

Analysis of Assembly Constitutional Amendments Nos. 38, 55, and 68
Prepared by Legislative Auditor—April 17, 1957

Cost: No appropriation

Analysis:

The problem of a constitutional amendment related to the areas of origin water problem has received extensive study during recent months. Most attention has been given to the legal problems involved. These legal discussions and reports have recognized that financing plans, which will provide for construction of needed projects, are necessary to solve the water rights problem. The current situation may be briefly described as follows: The areas of origin are asking for state construction of local projects in watersheds of origin at the same time that export projects are being constructed, as expressed in a basin-wide development concept. The present statutory rights of areas of origin thus appear to be bargaining advantages for state construction of projects in the watershed of origin. At the same time, the areas of deficiency promise to withhold financial support for state construction of any projects until firm and positive commitments of water are made for export projects. The problem is not over the 584,700 acre-feet reserved for the Upper Feather River areas in the State's report of February, 1955 on the Feather River Project which is the crux of the water rights issue pertaining to reservation or recapture of water. Instead, state construction of projects and state assumption of a part of the project costs appear to be the real issue. Thus, the issue of the amounts of water to be reserved for areas of origin involved in the Feather River Project has not been fully joined, because the financing issue has taken precedence.

It is not surprising, therefore, that solution to the areas of origin problem keeps coming back to financing water resources development. A financing plan also solves any serious legal problems of the areas of origin question, since the best way to guarantee adequate supplies of water is to guarantee the construction of projects which will develop new water supplies to replace water which might be recaptured by an area of origin. This places the State in a utility responsibility to supply water and is not the same as providing a firm, positive and unequivocable title to water.

The problem of preparing financial provisions to accompany a constitutional amendment is the heart of the areas of origin problem Its solution can be handled several ways. It is considered expedient at this time that a constitutional amendment be adopted to cover the more explicit legal problems of water rights, but this has meaning and is supportable only when coupled with financing provisions. In recognition of the fact that the success of a constitutional amendment is dependent upon the financing associated with such amendment, it has frequently been proposed that the constitutional amendment provide for funding of water resources development. This is not financially necessary and there are hazards involved in writing into the constitution a concept of state development of water resources when such a concept has not been fully studied and analyzed at this time. Some of the problems which are involved and require solution may be noted:

1. There is a question of the amount of financing detail to be placed in a constitutional amendment or whether some of this detail should be in a bill.

2. Either way, it is necessary to make a decision on the type of financing to be utilized; that is, on a pay-as-you-go basis, a general obligation bond issue, or a combination of these. There is considerable misunderstanding of pay-as-you-go financing as it pertains to eliminating interest payments. Under the economic theory of interest, and in actual fact, there is no significant difference in total cost to the State and its citizens over the pay-out period of a project between the pay-as-you-go financing method and the use of general obligation bond financing. The difference is in the incidence of interest costs, which are paid by the general public through various equivalent economic costs under the pay-as-you-go method of financing, while the project beneficiaries pay the interest costs under a general obligation bond issue. For this reason, among others, we have previously suggested consideration of the use of available cash resources to pay for the non-reimbursable costs of state projects, while general obligation bonds are reserved to pay for the reimbursable project features. This provides a source of revenue for general obligation bond issues and could be expected, therefore, to minimize the interest rates required by the bond market because non-reimbursable capital costs have already been paid for. There is the further problem that the State has no policy to determine what costs are reimbursable or non-reimbursable and there has yet been no cost allocation prepared for the Feather River Project. As a result, no exact determination of reimbursable and non-reimbursable costs is available. In general, power, municipal and industrial water supplies, and irrigation features are considered reimbursable, while recreation, fish and wildlife, flood control, and navigation are considered non-reimbursable. However, if the State is to construct projects to further a recreational industry, consideration is appropriate for some reimbursement from the recreational industry.

3. A revolving fund has frequently been proposed for use by the State of California, which would be similar to the reclamation revolving fund of the Federal Government. A revolving fund is an accounting device. Its principal feature in this case is that repayments of principal from the fund, plus interest on such funds, and any surplus project revenues are returned to the fund for future investment in other projects. A revolving fund appears at first glance to have more merit as a method of securing funds for project construction than it actually has. It must be remembered that such a fund will revolve completely in no less than 50 years, which includes a 40-year project pay-out period plus a construction and development period of ten years. Federal experience with the Reclamation Fund shows that the fund could not finance the federal construction program. For example the President's Budget for Fiscal Year 1957 shows appropriations for the Bureau of Reclamation from the following sources:

General Fund	$90,206,300
Reclamation Fund	94,967,700
Other sources	2,615,000
Total Appropriation	$187,789,000

The Reclamation Fund could finance only about 50 percent of Bureau of Reclamation costs after more than 50 years of existence and approximately $3,000,000,000 in project investment. While these figures may not be exactly comparable, they illustrate the limitations involved. Surplus project revenues have also been proposed as a source of funds for future project construction However, the Feather River Project develops a General Fund requirement rather than any surplus revenues during its pay-out period as shown by the Bechtel Corporation report, and there are no foreseeable surplus Feather River Project revenues to go into a revolving fund. Another source of revenue proposed for a revolving fund is tidelands oil revenues. Based upon existing state law and rather conservative estimates of the State Lands Commission, during the next 10 years an average of less than 10 million dollars per year is expected to be available for water resources development from tidelands oil revenues. It is apparent that, for the present, the source of any significant funds for water resources development will be transfers from present funds into a water resources revolving fund. A revolving fund, therefore, will not of itself engender money for the construction of water resources projects.

4. No decision has yet been made on the purposes which might be served by the establishment of a revolving fund. It is generally recognized that the fund would be used to construct water resources projects, but no determination has been made of which projects and what portions of projects. The following considerations are involved:

a. As noted under (2) above, there is as yet no decision by the State whether or not certain project features will be considered reimbursable, non-reimbursable, or partially reimbursable. A revolving fund could be used for both reimbursable and nonreimbursable features either with or without separate accounting.

b. A revolving fund may be used to provide money to finance the additional costs of local projects which are constructed by local agencies, to permit construction of local projects to the full standards and requirements of the California Water Plan. This is a most important decision, which will involve careful definition of eligible projects and the project features which may receive state assistance. The administration of funds for this purpose and the development of agreements or formulas for allocating costs or prorating portions of allocated costs between the State and local agencies will be very difficult.

c. A revolving fund may be used to assure that locally constructed projects utilize the multiple-purpose potential of a project site. Thus, the State might pay certain costs, or all costs, allocated to flood control, navigation, recreation, fish and wildlife, and so forth. The determination of the State's interest in such cases is difficult and will require precise definition.

d. It has frequently been proposed that the State build upstream projects at the same time it constructs a major project to export water from a watershed. If such upstream projects are constructed, the nature and extent of the State's interest and the local interest will require definition.

In general, the main question involved in the determination of purposes for which the fund might be used is the State's interest. This interest has not been defined by the State. It has been proposed by the Department of Water Resources and others that the State's interest be determined on a project by project basis rather than on the basis of general policy. Such a practice would, in effect, mean that the State has no definite policy or definition of State's interest and that the purposes for which a fund might be used cannot be precisely stated.

5. There is considerable public misunderstanding concerning such factors as sources of revenue for a revolving fund, the cost allocation of a project, the repayment requirements for allocated costs of a project, and project revenues. While a constitutional amendment or a bill detailing financing provisions for water resources development need not define these terms, it is important, nevertheless, that all concerned understand them in order to facilitate consideration of the financing problem and to determine what subject matter should or should not be placed in a constitutional amendment.

6. Very little data is available to determine the actual dollar requirements which a constitutional amendment or a financing bill should provide. Assuming a cost of $1,500,000,000 for the Feather River Project, from which may be deducted federal contributions of approximately $75,000,000 for flood control benefits at Oroville Dam and $225,000,000 for the San Luis Project, this leaves a total of $1,200,000,000 in costs remaining for the State to bear. In addition, the State is presently committed to a further expenditure of $6,000,000 for five projects in the Upper Feather River Service Area and $27,000,000 is being proposed as the cost for state construction of the North Bay Aqueduct. Many other projects are being proposed for state planning and construction. The minimum continuing construction cost for the Feather River Project will be from $75,000,000 to $100,000,000 per year. The ultimate construction costs which the State might assume if the features of the California Aqueduct System of the California Water Plan are authorized for state construction are approximately $8,576,000,000 (including the Feather River Project). Whether or not the proposed constitutional amendment and any general obligation bond issue which might accompany it would include the Feather River Project, those projects now authorized or in the process of being authorized for state construction, those projects in the California Water Plan which would require state construction, or some additional local projects as mentioned under (4) above, is not determined.

7. Procedures are established in the Water Code for revenue bond issues, but no law exists for general obligation bond issues with respect to who markets the bonds, how, at what times, and under what limitations and protection to the State's credit. Considerable detailed law would be needed.

Analysis of Assembly Constitutional Amendments Nos. 38, 55, and 68
Supplemental Report on Pay-as-you-go Financing
Prepared by Legislative Auditor—April 26, 1957

The hearings before the Assembly Ways and Means Committee on April 18, 1957, drew sharp lines between the two principal concepts now being considered for financing the Feather River Project and state water resources development in general. One plan proposed was for a general obligation bond issue, each issue to be limited to one project. Another plan presented a pay-as-you-go approach. The Director of Finance pointed out that General Fund revenues are not expected to be sufficient in the immediate future to permit diversion of existing General Fund revenues to a water resources revolving fund. As a result of the hearing, the issues between the two points of view on financing are more clearly drawn. Our own approach suggests a combination pay-as-you-go and general obligation bond issue.

After reviewing the presentation made in behalf of a pay-as-you-go approach, it is possible to comment more specifically on the concept. It is obvious that the pay-as-you-go concept has merit, and that it is an acceptable and workable approach to the problem. However, there are serious drawbacks to such an approach and it would seem desirable that these drawbacks should be made clear in order that the Legislature may be fully informed in making any policy decision. The following points may be raised as generally applying, although their exact effect cannot be evaluated in detail at this time:

1. The concept of pay-as-you-go arises because of the high cost of developing water supplies. This high cost is reflected both in the original investment cost and in the large annual interest payments which accumulate over a pay-out period of 40 to 50 years to an amount equaling the principal. The declaration of certain project features as being non-reimbursable reduces the amount of capital investment which water users or other project beneficiaries must repay.

The other method of securing cheaper water is to eliminate interest rates. There is considerable appeal in the pay-as-you-go approach because it does have the appearance of eliminating the interest payment on the project investment. The elimination of interest payments by project beneficiaries does not reduce the over-all cost of the project to the State and its citizens during the project repayment period Considered broadly, in terms of all state expenditure programs, the actual effect is to shift the interest burden from project beneficiaries to the general taxpayers of the State. This results because the diversion of present financial resources to pay for future benefits must be compensated for either by curtailment of other current state expenditures, borrowing for other state expenditures, or increasing taxes. In any of these events, the net effect is that the taxpayers either pay interest for money borrowed for other programs, are deprived of interest accruing in the Rainy Day Fund, the Investment Fund, or other cash resources of the State, or finally, are deprived of the productive capacity or enjoyment of their own funds which are collected by the State before otherwise needed. This is the operation of the economic principle of interest which basically equates present and future values. It is not true, therefore, that the federal water resources development programs or any state programs which are financed on a pay-as-you-go basis result in any over-all saving to the economy of the Nation or the State. It is true that the construction of such projects will stimulate and enhance the economy, but this is true irrespective of the type of financing. In the end, pay-as-you-go financing merely shifts a part of the burden of project repayment from project beneficiaries to the taxpayers of the State as a whole.

2. The pay-as-you-go method of financing is intended, as noted above, to provide low cost water to the project beneficiaries This is also an objective of federal projects, and therefore, state projects must provide services at a rate which is technically competitive with federal financing and construction In this respect, acreage limitations and other so-called disadvantages of federal construction are contained in reclamation law because of the large subsidy involved in providing low cost water. Desirably, the State's program of water resources development should be roughly equivalent to federal practice in the end economic result. If it is not, one of two events can occur—either there is no support for state projects from water users willing to sign repayment contracts for project services, or there is no support for federal projects. The danger of pay-as-you-go financing is that it is possible for the State to offer contracts to project beneficiaries for very low rates. To the extent that these rates are lower than comparable federal development, there will be no support for federal project construction and whether intentional or not, federal construction will be eliminated from California.

3. Pay-as-you-go financing is generally coupled with a revolving fund so that surplus project revenues and repayment of principal will be returned to the revolving fund to finance further project construction. Herein lies a serious difficulty. To the extent that pay-as-you-go financing eliminates the need for project beneficiaries to repay actual project costs, there is no firm basis upon which to develop fees charged project beneficiaries. Since a primary objective of pay-as-you-go financing is to reduce water costs to the minimum, there will be great pressures from water users for nominal or minimum fees for project services. These pressures will be difficult for the State to withstand. To the extent they are not withstood, the charging of nominal fees for project services will eliminate the source of repayment funds flowing back into the revolving fund for use in constructing additional projects in the future. Thus, in the long run, the pay-as-you-go approach can be considered as tending to take all available cash resources of the State and placing them in one project to be constructed for the benefit of present water users without providing adequately for the problems and needs of future generations. A water resources revolving fund from which substantial payments must be made to cover non-reimbursable project costs, when coupled with service fees based primarily on operation and maintenance costs will not provide adequate capital for the construction of future projects.

4. Any revolving fund, and particularly one based upon a pay-as-you-go concept, is vulnerable to the difficulties now besetting the beaches and parks program. In that program, as yet unearned revenues are already earmarked for future beaches and parks. As a result, the number of beaches and parks already authorized exceeds the revenues now allocated for the future acquisition of such facilities. There are already substantial similar pressures building up for state construction of numerous water resources projects. These projects are subject to the same difficulties already experienced in beaches and parks, with two fundamental differences: (a) the State will have committed all reserve funds if it establishes a water resources development revolving fund, and (b) the cost of each water project is many times greater than the cost of each beaches and parks project.

5. It has been noted that the schedule of the Department of Water Resources, dated April 2, 1957, shows a cash requirement of $280,000,000 during Fiscal Year 1959-60 for the Feather River Project. This requirement of cash availability under the State Contracts Act cannot be met within presently foreseeable funds available for the Feather River Project.

Transfer from Investment Fund	$101,000,000
Rainy Day Fund	75,000,000
Investment Fund Income, for Fiscal Years 1957-58 and 1958-59	35,000,000
	$211,000,000
Deduct Fiscal Year 1958-59 Appropriation	21,000,000
Available in Fiscal Year 1959-60	$190,000,000

NOTE: The State Contracts Act requires that more than $280,000,000 be available in cash in Fiscal Year 1959-60 whether secured from general obligation bonds or other sources If the State must secure this amount from the bond market, then the interest cost on $280,000,000 minus the normal amount of construction progress payments, minus any interest from short-term investments of the cash on hand will represent an additional and unnecessary Feather River Project cost of several million dollars for interest payments. It is suggested that the Contracts Act be amended to permit continuing contracts as used by federal construction agencies.

Assembly Bill No. 2770, as amended in Assembly April 27, 1957
(Taxation: Exemption Therefrom)—No. 12529

DEAR MR. CHAPEL: You have inquired as to the number of votes necessary for the passage of Assembly Bill No. 2770, as amended in Assembly on April 27, 1957.

The bill would exempt from taxation any personal property shipped into California from outside the State or manufactured, processed or otherwise produced here which is held in storage in this State in a public warehouse or certified place of storage on the first Monday in March and for not longer than 90 days thereafter for shipment outside the State in the same form in which it was in on that date.

Such being the scope of the bill, a favorable vote of two-thirds of the elected members of each of the two houses will be necessary for its passage.

Governing the matter is the following language in Section 14 of Article XIII of the State Constitution:

"* * * the Legislature, two-thirds of all of the members elected to each of the two houses voting in favor thereof * * * may exempt entirely from taxation any or all forms, types or classes of personal property."

Hon. Vernon Kilpatrick
Assembly Chamber

Water—No. 10752

DEAR MR KILPATRICK: You have asked several questions with respect to water law which we shall set forth and answer separately below.

Question No. 1

Under present law to what extent is domestic use of water superior to other uses?

Opinion and Analysis No. 1

Section 106 of the Water Code provides:

"It is hereby declared to be the established policy of this State that the use of water for domestic purposes is the highest use of water and that the next highest use is for irrigation."

Section 1254 of said code provides:

"In acting upon applications to appropriate water the department [now the State Water Rights Board] shall be guided by the policy that domestic use is the highest use and irrigation is the next highest use of water."

Question No. 2

Could the courts require redistribution of water to meet the domestic needs? If not, could this be changed by constitutional amendment?

Opinion and Analysis No. 2

We are unable to answer these questions categorically in the absence of any particular factual situation. Domestic uses might be involved in any number of water rights of varying priority.

It has been held, however, that what constitutes a reasonable beneficial use depends upon the facts and circumstances of each case, and what may be such where water is present in excess of all needs would not be so in an area of great scarcity and need and what is beneficial use at one time may, because of changed conditions, become a waste of water at a later time (Tulare Irrigation District v. Lindsay-Strathmore Irrigation District (1935), 3 Cal. 2d 489, 567). Conceivably, therefore, the decision of a court might, under certain circumstances, result in a redistribution of water.

By the same token, it is impossible to categorically state whether a constitutional amendment could require redistribution of water to meet domestic needs. In the final analysis, however, the answer would depend on whether the courts would consider such a measure is a necessary and proper exercise of the police power (see Gin S. Chow v. Santa Barbara (1933), 217 Cal. 673).

Question No. 3

What are the rights of overlying landowners to foreign water introduced into an underground basin?

Opinion No. 3

Assuming that the water has been introduced into the underground basin for storage, the overlying landowners would have no rights to such water other than any rights they might be able to claim through or under the appropriator of such water.

Analysis No. 3

Under Section 1242 of the Water Code, the storage of water underground, including the diversion of streams and the flowing of water on lands necessary to the accomplishment of such storage, constitutes a beneficial use of water if the water so stored is thereafter applied to the beneficial purposes for which the appropriation for storage was made. We assume that the water in question has been introduced into the underground basin for storage as permitted under law.

If such is the case, the appropriative rights of the person or entity introducing such water is a property right entitled to the protection of the courts at law or equity (Peabody v. City of Vallejo (1935), 2 Cal. 2d 351). It would follow that any rights the overlying landowners might have to such water they would have to claim through or under the appropriator thereof.

Question No. 4

Does the landowner have the right to continue to pump water where his cost is less than that paid by those introducing water in the basin for water so introduced?

Opinion and Analysis No. 4

Assuming that the owner has a right to use any of the foreign water introduced into the underground basin, such right would be under some agreement or arrangement with the person or entity introducing the water, and the compensation to be paid by the landowner for such water would be fixed by the terms of such agreement or arrangement.

If he is pumping water to which he has a right and without interference with the rights of the person or entity introducing the foreign water to the underground basin, in absence of other considerations he may continue so pumping the water to which he has a right regardless of the relationship of his costs to the costs of the person or entity introducing the foreign water

Section 1. The sum of one million dollars ($1,000,000) is hereby appropriated out of the Flood Control Fund of 1946 to the Department of Water Resources to be expended only for flood control projects. Notwithstanding any other provisions of this act the allocation made by this act shall be available until June 30, 1958. The appropriation made by this act is made pursuant to the State Water Resources Law of 1945 and is to the extent of such appropriation in fulfillment of the policy set forth in that act that the State will pay for such cost of cooperation as provided in that act as necessary for the construction of flood control projects as required by acts of Congress. [None of the money appropriated by this act may be recommended or approved for expenditure while the Legislature is in session, except that where construction money for a project authorized by the Legislature is first made available by Congress when the Legislature is not in session, and expenditures of funds in aid of such project pursuant to this act are commenced prior to the session of the Legislature next succeeding such congressional appropriation, the department may continue to expend funds in aid of such project pursuant to this chapter until the beginning of the next succeeding fiscal year.] The intent of the Legislature in making this appropriation is to provide funds for projects authorized for state cooperation pursuant to the State Water Resources Law of 1945 when construction funds are made available by Congress [when the Legislature is not in session,] and it is necessary to commence acquisition of lands, easements, and rights of way in order that construction may proceed [, and to continue to provide funds for such purpose until the beginning of the next succeeding fiscal year, by which time the Legislature will have had the opportunity to make a specific appropriation in aid of any such project] Expenditures of funds appropriated by this act shall be made only upon order of the Department of Water Resources and approval by the Department of Finance.

Sec. 2. This act is an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health or safety within the meaning of Article IV of the Constitution and shall go into immediate effect. The facts constituting such necessity are:

In order for the State to commence the acquisition of lands, easements, and rights of way required under federal flood control laws as local cooperation in connection with small federal flood control projects immediately upon federal funds becoming available, even though such funds become available during a legislative session, so that urgently needed flood control projects can be constructed without any delay, it is necessary that this act, which would make state funds available for such purpose, take effect immediately."

Gracious God and Mighty Creator, Who art owner and ruler of the earth and all its treasures; grant us the wisdom to appreciate the value of money—the time, the talent, and the energy it represents. But also, help us to recognize the impotence of money—it cannot buy happiness, justice, peace, or love. Make us mindful that budgets and balances, funds and finances, are only of real worth when they are established and administered by men of real worth. Grant, O Lord, that the resources of this great Commonwealth may so be employed that they truly become the common wealth of all the people and for all the people; through Christ, our Lord.—AMEN.

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolution was offered:

By Mr. Grant:

House Resolution No. 181

WHEREAS, Although provisions to regulate operations of water treatment works and sewage treatment plants are found in the Health and Safety Code of the State of California, there are no provisions made in state law for the regulation of those persons entrusted with the operation of either water or sewage treatment works or plants; and

WHEREAS, The only qualifications and standards imposed on such operators are those required by local governmental units and these standards are not uniform from locality to locality; and

WHEREAS, The American Water Works Association and various health officers throughout the State advocate and have proposed that the State enact a compulsory licensing program for water treatment works operators (defined as those persons in charge of a system where water treatment facilities or devices are operated for the purpose of disinfecting or of altering the quality of water distributed to the public) and the California Sewage and Industrial Wastes Association and various health officers and interested agencies throughout the State have proposed a similar compulsory licensing program for sewage treatment plant operators; and

WHEREAS, The Assembly Interim Committee on Public Health has, as a result of a two-year interim study, found that there may well be a need for additional regulatory provisions over and above those now provided for the protection of the public health and recognizes that such regulation might be effected by requiring licensure of operators of water treatment works and sewage treatment plants; and

WHEREAS, Although voluntary programs of operator training and certification have been conducted for their own groups by the California Section, American Water Works Association since 1937 and by the California Sewage and Industrial Wastes Association since 1935, and courses have been given at various times and places in high schools and junior colleges throughout the State, and in-service training courses have also been given by several of the larger water and sewage systems, there is no state-wide education or training program for either of the groups; and

WHEREAS, The availability of adequate education and training facilities is one of the major problems connected with the establishment of a new licensure program; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the State Department of Education be hereby requested to study the cost and feasibility of establishing training programs for both water treatment works operators and sewage treatment plant operators in the public school system and report its findings to the Assembly; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly be hereby directed to transmit copies of this resolution to the Director of Education.

Resolution read, and ordered referred to the Committee on Rules.

in my opinion constitutes an emergency bill within the meaning of that term as used in Section 34 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California, the consideration of which should not await the final enactment of the Budget Bill.

This bill is a codification and revision of a number of sections of the Water Code and other provisions of the law relating to water resources. It further appears that among its provisions there is an appropriation, but that no additional funds are made available for expenditure. In these circumstances, prompt consideration of this bill is desirable and no purpose would be served by withholding action upon it until after final passage of the Budget Bill.

I therefore recommend consideration of Assembly Bill No. 1969 as an emergency measure.

Respectfully submitted,

GOODWIN J. KNIGHT, Governor

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolution was offered:

By Mr. Conrad:

House Resolution No. 182

Relative to the passing of Grant Mitchell

WHEREAS, The Members of the Assembly of the State of California have, with profound sorrow and deepest regret, learned of the passing of the distinguished actor, Grant Mitchell; and

WHEREAS, His contributions to the American theater, both as a thespian and as a leader in the movement to secure recognition of the basic rights and interests of performers, caused him to become one of the most beloved figures in the entertainment world and earned him the profound respect of his associates and all who came to know him in his long and distinguished career; and

WHEREAS, He was born in Columbus, Ohio, on June 17, 1874; was educated at Yale University; studied law at Harvard Law School and practiced law prior to his entry into the theater; and

WHEREAS, He made his stage debut on Broadway in 1902 in "Julius Caesar" and thereafter spent more than 25 years on the American stage; and

WHEREAS, He will be long remembered by his fellow entertainers for his activities in their behalf during the period of the organization and early struggles of Actors' Equity Association; he devoted a great deal of his time and efforts, not only as an actor, but also calling on his legal knowledge to advise and assist Actor's Equity Association in its attempts to secure recognition of fundamental rights of actors by producers and managers; he was a courageous leader in these attempts and never hesitated to jeopardize his career as an actor by insisting upon rights and privileges of performers which have since come to be universally accorded them; and

WHEREAS, In 1933 he began his career as a motion picture actor and continued making pictures and performing in numerous television productions until his recent death; he was a life member of the Actor's Equity Association and a charter member of the Screen Actors Guild; and

WHEREAS, Grant Mitchell's life, like the portrayals in the plays in which he so capably performed, might be characterized as being in the finest American tradition of success achieved by courage, initiative, and talent; his passing has bereaved his associates in the theater and his many friends throughout the Country; his talent as a performer and his guiding hand in the leadership of performers' organizations will be sorely missed; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Members of the Legislature hereby record their deepest regret at the loss of a distinguished actor and leader in the American theater and adopt this resolution as a memorial to his memory and as a means of extending condolences to his remaining relatives; and, be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly be hereby directed to transmit suitably prepared copies of this resolution to the Actors' Equity Association, and to the Screen Actors' Guild.

Resolution read, and ordered referred to the Committee on Rules.

On page 1, strike out lines 1 and 2, and insert

"SECTION 1. Article 2 is added to Chapter 1a of Division 8 of the Business and Professions Code, to read:

Article 2. Trading in Motor Vehicles on Sunday

18500. The Legislature finds that unusually competitive conditions exist among those who deal in the sale of automobiles and that certain motor vehicle dealers concentrate on making a major portion of their sales on Sundays in order to take advantage of the fact that their competitors are closed on that day. The Legislature also finds that such conduct has forced all motor vehicle dealers to remain open unreasonably long hours including Sundays or to forego a large portion of their sales. The Legislature further finds that the location of a substantial number of motor vehicle dealers on heavily traveled highways and thoroughfares constitutes the Sunday sales of motor vehicles a traffic hazard. In view of the above considerations the Legislature, therefore, declares that in its considered judgment the public health and safety require the enactment of this article

18501. Any person who shall carry on or engage in the business of buying, selling, exchanging, dealing or trading in new or used motor vehicles; or who shall open any place of business or lot wherein he attempts to or does engage in the business of buying, selling, exchanging, dealing or trading in new or used motor vehicles; or who does buy, sell, exchange, deal or trade in new or used motor vehicles as a business on Sunday is guilty of a misdemeanor. Such a person upon conviction for the first offense shall pay a fine not to exceed one hundred dollars ($100) or be imprisoned for a period of not more than ten (10) days or both; and for the second offense shall pay a fine not to exceed five hundred dollars ($500) or be imprisoned for a period of not more than thirty (30) days or both; and for the third or each subsequent offense shall pay a fine of seven hundred fifty dollars ($750) or be imprisoned for a period of six (6) months or both.

18502. The following definitions shall apply for the words or terms used in this article unless other meaning is clearly apparent from the language or context:

"Motor vehicle" means and includes all vehicles propelled otherwise than by muscular power, excepting such vehicles as run only upon rails or tracks

"New motor vehicle" means only newly manufactured motor vehicles and includes but is not limited to motorcycles, trailers, trucks, passenger cars and tractors.

"Used motor vehicle" means every motor vehicle, title to, or possession of, which has been transferred from the person who first acquired it from the manufacturer or dealer and has been so used as to become or is commonly known as secondhand within the ordinary meaning thereof, and includes every motor vehicle other than a new motor vehicle including but not limited to motorcycles, trailers, tractors, trucks and passenger cars.

"Person" includes natural persons, firms, partnerships, corporation, associations or other artificial bodies, trustees, receiver and officers, employees, agents, and others acting for or on behalf of any person.

18503. No person engaged in the business of buying, selling, exchanging, dealing or trading in new or used vehicles shall discriminate against an employee who refuses to work on Saturday because of his religious convictions."

VETO MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

STATE OF CALIFORNIA
GOVERNOR'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO, May 7, 1957

To the Honorable Members of the Assembly
State of California
Sacramento, California

GREETINGS—I am returning herewith, without my signature,

Assembly Bill No. 1467, entitled: "An act to amend Section 24878 of, and to add Section 25503.1 to the Business and Professions Code, relating to alcoholic beverages."

My objections to this bill are as follows:

This bill, in my judgment, goes too far in its exemptions from the "tied-house" and other restrictions of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Act of certain services and things which a wine grower or wine wholesaler may furnish to a retailer The permission extended by this bill to the wine grower or wholesaler "to stock and restock shelves or other fixtures" of the retail establishment "and to service such wine on or in the shelves, fixtures and display pieces in such premises," would tend to break down the purposes, and make more difficult the enforcement, of said "tied-house" and other restrictions. This provision is also discriminatory and inequitable as against and between persons similarly situated. A deletion of the quoted words on page 2, lines 7 to 10, inclusive, of the bill as amended in the Assembly March 28, 1957, would remove the principal objections which have been made to this bill, and my reason for withholding approval of it The remaining permitted services are of a class analogous to those now permitted under the wine fair trade contracts restrictions (see Section 24878, Business and Professions Code). There would still seem to be time to pass a modified bill at this session.

Accordingly, I am returning this bill to the house in which it originated without my signature and with this statement of my objections thereto.

Respectfully submitted,

GOODWIN J. KNIGHT, Governor

Assembly Bill No. 1467 ordered to unfinished business file.

Acknowledgment of Receipt of Assembly Bill No. 1467

May 7, 1957

I acknowledge receipt this seventh day of May, 1957, at 5 o'clock 10 minutes p.m. of Assembly Bill No. 1467 without the Governor's signature, together with a statement of his objections thereto signed by the Governor, delivered to me personally by Paul Mason, Legislative Secretary to the Governor.

ARTHUR A. OHNIMUS, Chief Clerk of the Assembly

VETO MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

STATE OF CALIFORNIA
GOVERNOR'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO, May 7, 1957

To the Honorable Members of the Assembly
State of California
Sacramento, California

GREETINGS: I am returning herewith without my signature,

Assembly Bill No. 2156, entitled: "An act to amend Section 202 of the Revenue and Taxation Code, relating to the exemption from taxation of property under Section 1 of Article XIII of the Constitution."

My objections to this bill are as follows:

This bill extends the exemption from taxation of "property used exclusively for public schools" to property used exclusively for cooperative stores, cafeterias, student housing facilities, and for any purpose, at or near a state college, whether by the college itself or an auxiliary nonprofit corporation or student body organization This would include property owned and used by such corporations and organizations for their purposes at places off the campus of the state college. The Attorney General states that this bill is susceptible of application to private noneducational activities and to that extent would violate Section 1, Article XIII of the State Constitution. Similarly, the State Board of Equalization states that this bill would extend the school exemption to off campus facilities of such corporations and organizations, and thus would raise serious constitutional questions. With these views I agree If the bill were limited to those activities operated by the college, or located on the campus, and which are incidental to the operation of the college, no objection would appear. There would seem to be time to pass such a modified bill at this session.

My decision is acceptable to the author, and he is undertaking to secure the passage of legislation at this session removing the constitutional objection to the present bill.

Accordingly, I am returning this bill to the House in which it originated without my signature and with this statement of my objections thereto.

Respectfully submitted,

GOODWIN J. KNIGHT, Governor

Assembly Bill No. 2156 ordered to unfinished business file.

Enclosure

STATE OF CALIFORNIA
DEPARTMENT OF WATER RESOURCES
STATE WATER BOARD, May 6, 1957

To the Members of the California State Legislature

Subject: Statement of the State Water Board in Regard to Present Problems Relating to Water

GENTLEMEN: Up until this time the State Water Board has refrained from making any recommendations with regard to a constitutional amendment designed to alleviate the problem of water distribution in the areas of surplus and in the areas of deficiency. However, because there are a number of such proposed constitutional amendments, all aimed at the same objectives, it is believed that a recommendation from this board may be of assistance to the Legislature.

The State Water Resources Board was created in 1945. Last year it became the State Water Board. By legislative direction the original State Water Plan of 1931 has been brought up to date. This new plan, called the California Water Plan, will be before the Legislature in the next 30 days in the final form and outlines the physical works to conserve and develop the State's water resources for present needs, and plan as far as humanly possible into the future. The board has been assured by the engineers of the Department of Water Resources that this plan is a blueprint for development of our water resources sufficient to take care of the water needs of all areas of the State.

Some $18,000,000 of state funds have been appropriated over the past 10 years to develop this plan. In the meantime the State of California has had an unparalleled growth in its agricultural, industrial, and urban areas The Legislature is well aware of the many problems which this growth has caused. We have spent billions on highways, schools, and other state facilities, but the development of our water resource facilities has in nowise kept apace with increasing demands.

In the California Water Plan we now have the outline for solving our water problems. There remains, however, a major roadblock.

Primarily this roadblock is the lack of a clear, concise, and equitable legislative policy setting forth the water rights of the areas of surplus, and provisions by which areas of deficiency may obtain firm contract rights to the water which will be exported to them under the California Water Plan.

There are before the Legislature a number of proposed constitutional amendments, each of which has merit. In addition, the Lawyers' Committee, appointed by Governor Knight, has just submitted a new draft of a proposed constitutional amendment which substantially covers all of the points at issue. These proposals all have a common purpose Our board believes that a solution of this problem is possible and is absolutely essential at this session of the Legislature if we are to move out of the present water stalemate.

Much of the problem, so far as the areas of origin are concerned, can be resolved within the framework of the state filing procedure, now set forth in the Water Code; provided, it is given a firm constitutional basis; and provided further, that the reservations which are to be made for the areas of origin are to be good as against all parties, not alone against the assignees of state filings.

We want to again emphasize that the construction of water control and development projects are the only final answer. A continuing program of headwater storage construction in the Sacramento Valley and of storage development in the North Coastal area for local use and import to the Sacramento Valley is the only means by which there can be assurance of a continuing supply available for export from the Delta to the San Francisco Bay area, to the Central Coastal area, to the San Joaquin Valley, and to Southern California.

Such a program, too, is the only means, in our opinion, by which the exporters can acquire the rights they must have without ultimately impairing the water supply for the Sacramento Valley. Already objections have been raised by Sacramento Valley and Delta interests to further diversions of unregulated flow from the Delta by the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation.

It is significant that the East Bay Municipal Utility District has been stopped, at least temporarily, in its plans for further development of the Mokelumne River by court action brought by the Counties of Amador and Calaveras—the areas of origin. It can be anticipated that there will be other actions like this until areas of origin can be assured of adequate reservations and that when projects for their needs are necessary they can be built.

We cannot emphasize too strongly that unless a solution to this basic problem is formulated and adopted by the Legisltaure at this session, and a continuing progressive program of water development adopted and implemented, we have reached the point of stagnation of water development in California by any agency, federal, state or local.

We therefore recommend:

(a) That the Legislature agree upon a constitutional amendment to be submitted to the voters, and upon statutes where necessary, that will remove the indefiniteness and uncertainties in the present water law and assure fairness to both areas of origin and areas of deficiency.

(b) That the Legislature take steps to create a Water Development Fund along the lines recommended by the Governor and his committee of lawyers

(c) That the Legislature make a policy declaration that the State has a continuing responsibility, to be exercised in cooperation with other water developing agencies, to assure that the water needs of all areas of the State will be met when and where they occur and as projects to satisfy them are found feasible.

The State shall discharge this responsibility in coordination with activities of private enterprise, local public agencies and the Federal Government and may cooperate with those entities to that end.

It is declared that, in the future development of the water resources of the State by any entity, no area shall be deprived, by reason of such development, of any quantity of water needed to satisfy the reasonable ultimate requirements of such area. Only water in excess of reservations determined by the Legislature to be necessary to effectuate this policy shall be made available from a state water project for permanent use in any other area of the State. The provisions of this paragraph shall be given effect solely by the making of adequate reservations of water by the Legislature with respect to state water projects and by the agency established by law for administering water rights in granting any permits and licenses to any other entity to appropriate water; and no such reservations, permits or licenses shall provide for recapture of water which is subject to a valid contract with the State for the delivery of water from a state project for permanent beneficial use elsewhere or which has been put to permanent beneficial use under such permit, license or state project unless an equivalent water supply is substituted therefor. In the event that the quantity of water so reserved with respect to a state project proves inadequate to satisfy the reasonable ultimate requirements of the area for which the water was so reserved, the Legislature shall make provision for the development of water from other sources for substitution to the contractors for the water exported from such area, and such provision shall be made from the next state project from which water can be economically so substituted. If as a result of development of water by a state project, the water heretofore put to beneficial use in any area is reduced in quality to the extent that it is unsuitable for such use, and equivalent substitute water supply shall be made available to such area without additional cost to the water users affected.

No authorization of a state water project shall be valid unless it contains reservations required by this section. Water so reserved shall be available exclusively for appropriation in accordance with law for beneficial uses in the area for which reserved. Reservations so made by the Legislature may be revised by it from time to time, and reservations made by the agency established by law for administering water rights may be revised by it from time to time; provided, that in neither case shall vested rights be impaired by such revision.

It shall be a continuing responsibility of the State to provide facilities for the development, conservation and utilization of the water resources necessary to make water available to meet the reasonable beneficial needs in all areas of this State.

The Legislature shall provide for the execution of contracts to deliver water from state projects. Such contracts may be term contracts for interim deliveries of water which confer no right to the permanent delivery of the water or permanent contracts for delivery of water. Permanent contracts shall provide for initial delivery of water within 20 years after the execution of the contract. Such contracts shall be subject to apportionment of all water made available by the project in times of water shortage and revision to permit the substitution of an equivalent water supply from other sources. Such contracts shall also be subject to adjustment to reflect any changes in the cost of making deliveries. The right to the use of water under such contracts shall be limited to reasonable beneficial uses. Any contract may by law be declared void as to any of the water contracted to be delivered thereunder which at any time after initial delivery of water under the contract is for a continuous period of 20 years not applied to beneficial use.

All permanent contracts to deliver water from state projects shall include a uniform rate for the water and, in addition thereto, an amount sufficient to defray the costs of operation and maintenance of the portion of the project attributable to the delivery. Any income derived from power developed along a distribution aqueduct shall be applied so as to reduce the costs of operation and maintenance.

Water subject to reservations or contracts contemplated by this section shall not be subject to the requirements of Section 3 of this article except as specifically otherwise provided. The provisions of Section 3 of this article and the provisions of any statute requiring diligence in putting water to use shall not be applicable to applications filed by the State as required in the development or completion of the whole or any part of a general or coordinated plan looking toward the development, utilization or conservation of water resources of the State.

No contract with the State for the sale or delivery of water made available by any state project shall be impaired by act of the Legislature, and the State may sue and be sued with respect to any such contract.

This section is not intended to, and shall not affect any vested water rights.

The California Water Fund is created as a special fund in the State Treasury, the moneys, securities, and increment of which shall be held in trust by the State Treasurer for expenditure as provided in this section when appropriated by law with two-thirds of all members elected to each house of the Legislature voting in favor thereof

There shall be deposited in the California Water Fund:

(a) All revenues received by the State from the extraction of oil and gas from tide and submerged lands and state public lands in excess of fifteen million dollars ($15,000,000) in each calendar year, over and above the cost of administration of all such lands and any refunds authorized by law;

(b) The total revenues over the cost of operation and maintenance and service of any indebtedness of any state water development project, or in the case of a joint project, the portion of such revenues to which the State is entitled;

(c) Two million five hundred thousand dollars ($2,500,000) each month from the first revenues received in the General Fund after the setting apart of the moneys required to be applied by the State to the support of the Public School System and State University;

(d) All money in the Revenue Deficiency Reserve Fund;

(e) All money in the Investment Fund;

(f) Any other funds made available solely for the purpose of the California Water Fund by appropriation, gift, or any other means.

At any time after 1980, the Legislature may by statute revise the amounts required to be deposited in the California Water Fund under subdivisions (a) and (c) above.

Any money in the California Water Fund may be expended solely for construction, operation, and maintenance of water resources development projects; except that amounts required to be deposited in the fund under subdivisions (a) or (c) above may be appropriated by the Legislature, by a vote of three-fourths of the members elected to each house, for other state purposes. Such appropriations shall not be for more than one year, and any money so appropriated which is not expended or encumbered within the one-year period for which appropriated shall revert to the California Water Fund

The money in the California Water Fund may be invested and reinvested as may be provided by the Legislature, and any interest accruing or other increment derived from investments shall be deposited in the fund and shall be available for expenditure as provided in this section.

This section shall be self-executing, and the Legislature may also enact laws in furtherance of the policies contained in this section."

OPINION OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL

STATE OF CALIFORNIA
OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL
SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, May 8, 1957

Hon. Walter I. Dahl
Assembly Chamber

Introduction of Guests in Assembly—No. 12975

DEAR MR. DAHL: With reference to House Resolution No. 167, you asked whether the resolution, if adopted, would prohibit all mention of guests or whether it would permit the Speaker to recognize the presence of a guest from the rostrum. The resolution as amended provides:

"(1) For the remainder of this session no member of the Assembly shall introduce any guest, but in all cases may have their guests' presence noted in the Journal.

"(2) In no case shall any guest be introduced from the Speaker's rostrum nor shall any recess be taken for that purpose."

We believe that the resolution applies to the Speaker as much as to any other Member of the Assembly and that it would preclude him from introducing any person as his guest, whether he did so from the rostrum or otherwise.

Further, the recitals of the resolution indicate that its intent is to prevent interruption of legislative business. Consequently, we believe that the resolution is intended to prevent the Speaker from indirectly violating its provisions by announcing the presence of someone in the Assembly Chamber inasmuch as that action is in fact an introduction of a guest even though the term is not used.

Very truly yours,

RALPH N. KLEPS, Legislative Counsel
By LAWRENCE G. ALLYN, Deputy

Upon receipt of such application, duly approved, the Superintendent of Public Instruction may grant the district exemption, to the extent deemed necessary by him, from such requirements for the fiscal year on account of which the application is made.

If any portion of the money is not expended as required by this section and is not exempted by the Superintendent of Public Instruction, the county superintendent of schools having jurisdiction over the district shall add such portion to the amount required to be expended for salaries or tuition for the next succeeding fiscal year or he may transfer 80 percent of such amount to the county school service fund pursuant to Section 7203.

Should the amount of federal funds as defined in Section 7000.3 actually received by a school district for any fiscal year be more or less than that reported for such district by the United States Commissioner of Education to the Superintendent of Public Instruction, the Superintendent of Public Instruction shall during the fiscal year next succeeding that in which the district has received all of the federal funds actually paid the district for the first mentioned fiscal year withhold from or add to the apportionment made to the district from the State School Fund the corresponding amount of the excess or deficiency, as the case may be, in the apportionment of state equalization aid from the State School Fund for the preceding year, if the amount of the excess or deficiency in such apportionment was one hundred dollars ($100) or more.

SEC. 33. Section 7109.21 of said code is amended to read:

7109.21. Notwithstanding any provisions of this article to the contrary, allowances for growth for elementary school districts maintaining only one elementary school with a total average daily attendance during the preceding fiscal year of less than 101, exclusive of pupils attending the seventh and eighth grades of a junior high school, shall be computed pursuant to this section.

The provisions of subdivisions (a), (b), (c), and (d) of Section 7032 for average daily attendance and number of teachers hired shall apply to such districts.

No allowance for growth shall be made for such a district unless the excess units of average daily attendance for the period of the current fiscal year over units of average daily attendance of the corresponding period of the preceding fiscal year is sufficient to place the district within the requirements of a different subdivision of Section 7032, or is sufficient to place the district outside of the requirements of any of the subdivisions of Section 7032.

If the excess is sufficient to place the district within the requirements of a different subdivision of Section 7032 an apportionment for growth shall be made only if there has been employed for the school during the period of the current fiscal year the number of teachers required by the subdivision of Section 7032 which is applicable to the district according to its average daily attendance during the period of the current fiscal year, exclusive of pupils attending the seventh and eighth grades of a junior high school.

The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall allow, for each period for each district which was in existence for all purposes during the preceding fiscal year an amount equal to the difference between the amount of basic state aid and state equalization aid which was apportioned on account of average daily attendance in such district during the preceding fiscal year and the amount of basic state aid and state equalization aid which would have been apportioned had the total average daily attendance in such district during such year been equal to the total average daily attendance during the period of the current year, multiplied for the first period by the ratio of days the regular day schools of the district were maintained during said period of the then current fiscal year to 175, and for the second period by the ratio of the difference between 175 and the days the regular day schools of the district were maintained during the first period of the then current fiscal year to 175.

If the excess is sufficient to place the district outside of the requirements of any of the subdivisions of Section 7032, the Superintendent of Public Instruction shall deem the average daily attendance of the district during the preceding fiscal year to have been 100 and he shall compute an allowance pursuant to Section 7109.2 with respect to the units of average daily attendance during the period of the then current fiscal year which are more than 100.

The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall allow to each school district for each unit by which the average daily attendance for each period of the then current fiscal year in the seventh and eighth grades of a junior high school exceeds such average daily attendance for the same period during the preceding fiscal year the following: for the first period, the sum of two hundred [twelve dollars ($212)] twenty-five dollars ($225) multiplied by the ratio of days the regular day schools of the district were maintained during the first period of the then current fiscal year to 175 and, for the second period, the sum of two hundred twelve dollars ($212) multiplied by the ratio of the difference between 175 and the days the regular day schools of the district were maintained during the first period of the then current fiscal year to 175.

SEC. 34. Section 7109.22 of said code is amended to read:

7109.22. Notwithstanding any provision of this article to the contrary, allowances for growth for high school districts maintaining only one high school with a total average daily attendance during the preceding fiscal year of less than 281 shall be computed pursuant to this section.

The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall allow, for each period for each district which was in existence for all purposes during the preceding fiscal year an amount equal to the difference between the amount of basic state aid and state equalization aid which was apportioned on account of average daily attendance in such district during the preceding fiscal year and the amount of basic state aid and state equalization aid which would have been apportioned had the total average daily attendance in such district during such year been equal to the total average daily attendance during the period of the current year, multiplied for the first period by the ratio of days the regular day schools of the district were maintained during said period of the then current fiscal year to 175, and for the second period by the ratio of the difference between 175 and the days the regular day schools of the district were maintained during the first period of the then current fiscal year to 175.

The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall add the average daily attendance for other than adults as defined in Section 9700.1 of classes for adults and summer school during the preceding year to, and deduct the average daily attendance for adults as defined in Section 9700.1 of regular day school and summer school during the preceding year from, the average daily attendance in the regular day school during the period of the current year in determining the total average daily attendance during the period of the current year required in this section.

SEC. 35. Section 7121.1 of said code is amended to read:

7121.1. The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall withhold from the apportionment made to each district for which a computation was made under Section 7032 or 7034 as follows:

If the district had fewer teachers than prescribed by the subdivision of Section 7032 or 7034 under which the computation was made, the Superintendent of Public Instruction shall withhold an amount determined as the difference between the amount allowed under Articles 7 and 11 and the amount that would have been allowed had the computation for the district under Section 7032 or 7034 been made by multiplying the total average daily attendance by two hundred [twelve dollars ($212)] twenty-five dollars ($225)

SEC. 36. Section 7125.1 of said code is amended to read:

7125.1. The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall withhold from the apportionment to an elementary school district the amount allowed the elementary school district for the average daily attendance in grades 7 and 8 in a junior high school by reason of the operation of subdivision (a) of Section 7000 The amount withheld shall be the larger of the following amounts:

(a) One hundred [twenty dollars ($120)] thirty dollars ($130) per unit of average daily attendance in grades 7 and 8 of the junior high school

(b) An amount determined by the following process:

(1) Divide the district aid computed under Section 7081 or the amount which would have resulted had the tax used for such computation been [eighty cents ($0.80)] one dollar and thirty-five cents ($1.35), whichever amount was used in computing equalization aid apportioned to the district, by the units of average daily attendance in kindergarten and grades 1 through 8;

(2) Subtract the quotient resulting from the computation in subparagraph (1) from the amount allowed per unit of average daily attendance as a foundation program for units of average daily attendance in grades 7 and 8 in the district;

(3) Multiply the result obtained in subparagraph (2) by the units of average daily attendance in grades 7 and 8 in a junior high school

The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall add the amount withheld to the apportionment required to be made to the high school district maintaining the junior high school.

SEC. 37. Section 7143 of said code is amended to read:

7143 The average daily attendance of pupils attending high school courses maintained by an elementary school district shall be, for the purposes of this division, considered average daily attendance in high school classes maintained by a high school district and apportionments of one hundred [twenty dollars ($120)] thirty dollars ($130) per unit of average daily attendance and no more, on account of such average daily attendance shall be made to the elementary school district.

SEC. 38. Section 13842 of said code is amended to read:

13842 The governing board of each school district shall pay to each person employed in a day school of the district for full time in a position requiring certification qualifications and serving under other than an emergency or provisional credential an annual salary of not less than [three] four thousand [four] two hundred dollars [($3,400)] ($4,200).

The governing board of each school district shall pay to each person employed for less than full time in a position requiring certification qualifications and serving under other than an emergency or provisional credential an annual salary of not less than an amount which bears the same ratio to [three] four thousand [four] two hundred dollars [($3,400)] ($4,200) as the time required of the person bears to the time required of a person employed full time.

"Full time" means not less than the minimum school day for each day the schools of the district are maintained during the school year

The provisions of this section shall not be construed as applying to substitute employees of a school district."

GREETINGS: I am returning herewith, without my signature,

Assembly Bill No. 3575, entitled "An act to add Section 468 to the Penal Code, relating to switch-blade knives."

My objections to this bill are as follows:

I have before me two bills prohibiting sale and possession of so-called spring blade knives, and it therefore becomes necessary that I choose between the two bills. Assembly Bill No. 3575 prohibits the sale or possession of all spring blade knives Assembly Bill No. 202 permits the sale or possession of spring blade knives which have a blade length of not exceeding two inches. Small knives of this type are not, in any sense, weapons, and I think it would therefore be the best policy not to prohibit the possession or sale of such knives. I am, therefore, vetoing Assembly Bill No. 3575 and signing Assembly Bill No. 202.

Respectfully submitted,

GOODWIN J. KNIGHT, Governor

Assembly Bill No. 3575 ordered to unfinished business.

17750. This chapter shall be known as "The Trading Stamp Act of 1957."

17751. The Legislature hereby declares that the issuance, gift, use, sale or other disposition of trading stamps is affected with the public interest; that the purposes of this chapter are to regulate the issuance, gift, use, sale or other disposition of trading stamps, to protect the public against fraud and deception and against default in the redemption of trading stamps, to foster and encourage fair and open competition and to prevent the realization of excessive profits at the expense of the public by those who are engaged in or responsible for the original issue, gift, use, sale or other disposition of trading stamps which results from the fact that many trading stamps are never produced and surrendered for redemption. This chapter shall be liberally construed so that its beneficial purposes will be achieved.

17752. As used in this chapter:

(a) "Person" includes firm or corporation.

(b) The masculine gender includes the feminine and neuter genders.

(c) "Goods" means and includes any form of tangible personal property.

(d) "Trading stamps" means and includes any form of stamp, cash discount stamp, coupon, ticket, certificate, card, receipt or any similar device or devices, which is, either directly or indirectly, issued, sold, given or otherwise furnished or delivered by any person to any other person in connection with or as a part of the sale and purchase of any goods or services or which is designed or intended to be used for such purpose and which entitles the purchaser receiving the same with such sale and purchase of goods or services, or the holder thereof, to procure or otherwise receive from any person money, goods or anything of value, free of or without charge, or for less than the face value of such money, or for less than the actual or stated retail market price or value of such goods or thing of value, as the case may be, upon the production or presentation of any number or a stated number of said stamps, cash discount stamps, coupons, tickets, certificates, cards, receipts or other similar devices; but an offer made or endorsed by a manufacturer upon, as a part of or within the original wrapper or container in which goods are sold, of a premium or a reward for the return to the manufacturer of such goods or any dealer in such goods of all or any part of that wrapper or container or any coupon placed in or attached to such wrapper or container is not a trading stamp.

Article 2. Regulations

17755. No person shall issue, give, use, sell or otherwise distribute or furnish, or offer to issue, give, use, sell or otherwise distribute or furnish trading stamps, unless said trading stamps shall have legibly printed or written upon the faces thereof the redeemable value thereof, expressed in cents or fractions of cents, as the case may be. The redeemable value so printed or written upon the face of each trading stamp shall not be less than the actual value of such stamp, as determined by the issuer, for premium redemption purposes. Such printed or written value shall be regarded as the stated value of such stamp for the purposes of this chapter

17756. Any person who issues, gives, sells or otherwise distributes or furnishes any trading stamp to any merchant or dealer in goods or any supplier of services, shall, upon production thereof, redeem the same either in tangible personal property, or in cash in good and lawful money of the United States of America, at the option of the holder thereof, and any number of such trading stamps shall be so redeemed at the value in cents or fractions of cents printed upon the faces thereof, and it shall not be necessary for the holder thereof to have or present for redemption any stipulated number of such trading stamps before demand for redemption may be made, if the aggregate stated value of said stamps is not less than one cent.

17757. Any person engaged in any trade, business or calling who gives, distributes, delivers or furnishes to any person dealing with him, in consideration of or in connection with the sale of any tangible personal property, service or output of a service trade, any trading stamp shall, upon the refusal or failure of the person responsible for the original issuance or sale of the same to redeem the same as provided in Section 17756, be liable to the holder thereof for the stated value thereof, and shall, upon presentation, redeem the same either in tangible personal property, or in cash in good and lawful money of the United States of America, at the option of the holder thereof, and in such case any number of such trading stamps shall be so redeemed at the value in cents or fractions of cents printed upon the faces thereof, and it shall not be necessary for the holder thereof to have or present for redemption any stipulated number of such trading stamps before demand for redemption may be made, if the aggregate stated value of said stamps is not less than one cent.

17758. Each person operating a store, office or other place of business at or from which trading stamps are issued, given, used, sold or otherwise disposed of in connection with the sale of tangible personal property, services or the output of a service trade, shall place and maintain, in a conspicuous position in such store or place of business, a clear and legible sign bearing the words "Trading Stamps Not Good If Not Redeemed Within One Year From Printed Date of Issue" All books and other devices furnished for the collection of trading stamps by holders thereof shall also bear or contain a similar statement which shall appear in bold type in a conspicuous place on each such book or other device.

17759. From and after the effective date of this chapter, each trading stamp thereafter issued, given, used, sold or otherwise disposed of within this State which is not presented for redemption and redeemed within one year after its date of issue shall thereupon become unclaimed property and all rights of the holder of such stamp shall revert and belong to the State and the holder of such stamp shall no longer possess or have any rights under or by reason of any such stamp. In order to carry out and enforce the foregoing reversion and escheat provisions, each trading stamp issued, given, used, sold or otherwise disposed of after the effective date of this chapter shall have printed legibly on its face the date of issue (which date shall not be later than the date on which it is issued, given, used, sold or otherwise distributed in, with or for the sale of any goods or services) and the name of this State; and each person who makes or is responsible for the original issue, gift, sale, use or other disposition of trading stamps shall make and maintain records of (a) the trading stamps so issued, given, used, sold or otherwise distributed; (b) the date or dates of their issue; and (c) the trading stamps redeemed by or for them within one year after their date or dates of issue, so that such records will disclose accurately the total number of trading stamps so issued, given, used, sold or otherwise distributed within this State which are not presented for redemption and redeemed within one year after their date or dates of issue

17760. Each person who makes or is responsible for the original issue, gift, sale, use or other disposition of trading stamps shall file with the State Treasurer, on or before March 15, 1959, a sworn report, in such form as shall be prescribed by the State Treasurer, stating (a) the total number of trading stamps so issued, given, used, sold or otherwise distributed by such person within this State between the effective date of this chapter and December 31, 1958; (b) the total number of trading stamps referred to in clause (a) above which were not presented for redemption and redeemed within one year after their date or dates of issue; (c) the stated value or values of said trading stamps, as imprinted on their faces; and (d) such other information as the State Treasurer may reasonably require for the purpose of determining the number and value of the stamps subject to the reversion and escheat provisions contained in this chapter. Sworn reports in similar form shall be filed by each such person with the State Treasurer annually on or before the fifteenth day of March of each succeeding year for each preceding calendar year; provided, that in those cases in which any person or his predecessor in interest, has filed one or more of the reports provided for in this section, each report after the initial report shall account for and include the total number of trading stamps originally issued, given, used, sold or otherwise distributed by such person or his predecessor in interest within the period covered by the last preceding report which were not presented for redemption and redeemed within one year after their date or dates of issue.

17761. At the time of filing the report provided for in Section 17760, the person making such report shall pay to the State Treasurer a sum of money equal to the aggregate stated value of all trading stamps originally issued, given, sold, used or otherwise distributed by such person or his predecessor in interest within or before (but not before the effective date of this chapter) the period for which such report is made, which were not presented for redemption and redeemed within one year after their date or dates of issue, to the extent that liability for the payment to the State Treasurer of the stated value of said unredeemed trading stamps has not already been satisfied. The State Treasurer shall enforce the collection and recovery of all amounts payable under the provisions of this section by instituting such legal actions and using such process as are prescribed or available for the collection and recovery of any obligation owing or payable to this State. All payments received by the State Treasurer pursuant to this section shall be credited to the General Fund.

17762. Each person required to file the report provided for in Section 17760 shall also file with the State Treasurer, on or before the fifteenth day of each month, a sworn report, in such form as shall be prescribed by the State Treasurer, stating the total value, as imprinted on their faces, of all trading stamps issued, given, used, sold, or distributed by such person in the preceding calendar month. At the time of filing this report, such person shall pay to the State Treasurer a sum of money equal to five percent (5%) of the total value shown in the report. Payments received by the State Treasurer pursuant to this section shall be held by the State Treasurer until the fifteenth of March of the year following the year in which such payments are received. At that time, or as soon thereafter as the liability under Section 17761 of such person for the year in which such payments are received can be determined, such payments shall be credited to the General Fund in satisfaction, or partial satisfaction, of that liability. Any excess of such payments over that liability shall be returned to such person, or may, at the option of such person, be retained to offset such liability for future years. The first report required by this section shall be filed on or before the fifteenth day of the month following the first full calendar month after the effective date of this chapter and shall cover the entire period from the effective date of this chapter until the end of the first full calendar month following that date.

Each separate violation shall be a separate offense and each day of the continuance of such violation shall be deemed a separate offense.

17771. The Attorney General may maintain an action to enjoin a continuance of any act or acts in violation of any provision of this chapter and shall be entitled to recover in such action from the defendant the cost of suit. Upon the third conviction for the violation of any of the provisions of this chapter by any corporation, it shall be the duty of the Attorney General to institute proper suits or quo warranto proceedings in any court of competent jurisdiction for the forfeiture of its charter, rights, franchises or privileges and powers exercised by such corporation and to permanently enjoin it from transacting business in this State. If, in such action, the court finds such corporation has been convicted of not less than three violations of any of the provisions of this chapter, it shall enjoin said corporation from doing business in this State permanently or for such time as the court shall order, or it shall annul the charter or revoke the franchise of such corporation.

Article 4. Constitutionality

17780. If any section, sentence, clause or phrase of this chapter is for any reason held to be unconstitutional, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portion of this chapter. The Legislature hereby declares that it would have passed this chapter, and each section, sentence, clause or phrase thereof, irrespective of the fact that any one or more sections, sentences, clauses or phrases thereof be declared unconstitutional."

EXPLANATIONS OF VOTES

James L. Holmes and Alan G. Pattee would have voted "yes" on Assembly Bill No. 3045. Due to legislative business elsewhere, we were out of the Chamber at time of the roll call. However, we are opposed to any increase of taxes, as we do not believe they are necessary since there is so much in surplus funds available.

ALAN G. PATTEE

The Members of the Assembly whose names are signed below hereby give notice that their affirmative votes on Assembly Bill No. 3045 by Ernest R. Geddes are not to be interpreted as any intention to vote affirmatively for the increase of existing taxes or the imposition of new taxes.

CHARLES EDWARD CHAPEL
BUD COLLIER
L. A. McMILLAN

I voted for this bill with full understanding that the bill requires taxes to make it operative. However, I reserve the right to decide what (if any) taxes should be voted.

L. M. BACKSTRAND

I have consistently supported all amendments to "unwire" tax increases indicated in the Weinberger Amendment to Assembly Bill No. 3045. I am publicly on record against any tax increase this year, believing there are sufficient funds to accommodate this measure for two years. Failing in "unwiring" this amendment and believing the necessity of the bill, I have voted "aye" with the understanding that I shall oppose any new tax increase bills this session.

WILLIAM F. MARSH

EXPLANATION OF VOTE ON ASSEMBLY BILL NO. 3045

May 10, 1957

Yesterday I was one of four Assemblymen voting against Assembly Bill No. 3045, aid to local school districts.

My vote was a vote against the "wiring" of this much-needed local school aid to a compulsory tax increase. I feel very strongly that this is poor fiscal policy and precommits the Legislature to tax increases which I do not feel are necessary.

I wish to reaffirm my support of Assembly Bill No. 3045 when I voted for it in the Education Committee. This was the "unwired" version.
