PRAYER

Upon invitation of the Chief Clerk, the following prayer was offered by the Reverend R Wilbur Simmons, Chaplain of the Assembly for the 1959 and 1960 Regular Sessions.

Almighty God, What canst Thou make of this new year, this new Assembly, this new opportunity to build a better way of life? Is it yesterday, or tomorrow, which makes today so urgent and strategic? Which has more motive power, the push of the past or the pull of the future? We pray that an unlimited vision of the future may lead this Assembly to a high destiny of service, so that all the people of this State may rise up to call its work good

Guide and sustain, Our Father, legislative leaders and attendants, the Governor of the State and administrative officers, the President of the United States and all who serve with him, and the leaders of all nations that the foundations of a lasting peace may be firmly laid in our time Again we humbly ask Dear God, what canst Thou make of this new year, beginning and continuing Thy holy work in each one of us?—AMEN

Address to the Assembly by Speaker Ralph M. Brown, January 2, 1961

Thank you very much First I want to say that it is very nice to see all of you again and to welcome the new members

I am looking forward to serving as your Speaker again and I sincerely appreciate your continued support

Today we begin what promises to be a very busy and interesting session I believe we are especially well prepared for the job we have to do because of the fine cooperation of the members of the Assembly during the past two years

Your Rules Committee has been working very hard during that time to provide each of you with all of the tools you need to do a good job They are certainly to be congratulated for their businesslike approach and the results they have obtained

I want to thank the chairmen of the various interim committees for their excellent cooperation, particularly in connection with the preparation of their interim committee reports All of the reports will be delivered to the Members of the Assembly on the fifth legislative day as required by House Resolution 326 This is the first time the reports will have been in the hands of the members so early during a session. I know you will find them very useful and again I want to congratulate the chairmen.

I know all of you are interested in committee assignments. Your preferences will be studied very carefully and I hope to have an opportunity to discuss them with you before making any announcements The committees will be organized just as soon as possible

As all of you know, I am very much concerned about the good health of the members It is my plan to avoid night committee hearings again this year as much as possible Our work here in the Assembly is very strenuous and demands that each of you take good care of himself

I want to remind all of you that my door is always open My staff and I are ready and willing to assist you in any way we can We hope you won't hesitate to call on us

Department of Water Resources—Bulletin No. 63 Sea-Water Intrusion in California—Appendixes C, D, and E

DEPARTMENT OF WATER RESOURCES
SACRAMENTO, December 7, 1960

Hon Arthur Ohnimus
Chief Clerk of the Assembly
State Capitol, Sacramento

DEAR MR OHNIMUS: I have the honor to transmit herewith, for the information of the Members of the State Assembly, Appendixes C, D, and E to Bulletin 63 of the State Department of Water Resources, "Sea-water Intrusion in California"

This investigation was authorized by Chapter 1700, Statutes of 1951, which directed that comprehensive studies of the sea-water intrusion problem be conducted, including both laboratory and field experimental work, and that plans be developed for the control and prevention of the intrusion of sea water into California's ground water basins

These appendixes contain the results of detailed experimental and laboratory studies of the basic parameters of sea-water intrusion, an abstract of literature pertaining to sea-water intrusion, a treatise of mathematical formulas relative to the intrusion phenomena, a compatibility-permeability study of injection water at the Manhattan Beach experimental site, and a preliminary study of chemical quality in the Manhattan Beach area These appendixes thus represent a detailed compilation of available technical information and field and laboratory experimental data regarding sea-water intrusion and water injection wells

It has been deemed impractical to publish Appendix A to this report, which was to contain detailed information regarding the ground water basins included in this investigation However, these data are available in the files of the Department of Water Resources

Very truly yours,

HARVEY O BANKS, Director

Above transmitted bulletin referred to the Committee on Water.

UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR
OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY
WASHINGTON, D C, May 4, 1960

Hon Arthur A Ohnimus
Chief Clerk of the Assembly
State Capitol, Sacramento

DEAR MR OHNIMUS: This will acknowledge receipt of your letter of April 13, 1960, enclosing a copy of Assembly Joint Resolution No 2 adopted by the California Legislature during the 1960 First Extraordinary Session We appreciate your courtesy in calling our attention to the joint resolution

Two contracts have been executed by the United States and the State of California covering the repayment of costs of the conservation features of New Hogan Dam on the Calaveras River and Black Butte Dam on Stony Creek, California During the negotiation of these contracts representatives of this department participated in extensive discussions with representatives of the California Department of Water Resources, including counsel for that department The form of the contracts, particularly with respect to repayment assurances by the State of California, is guided in large part by two letters of the Attorney General of California dealing specifically with the two proposed contracts A pertinent statement from one of these letters is: "If . . it is sufficiently provided that there is no contractual obligation on the part of the State to make any performance or payments in addition to the revenues to be received from the project and the money already appropriated, until and unless in the future money for those purposes is appropriated, then the debt limitation will not be violated" Inasmuch as there was no authority for the contracting agency to create a general obligation on the part of the State, the encumbrance of funds already appropriated for this purpose was provided

The situation differs in cases of local organizations such as irrigation districts authorized under California statutes, as these organizations are authorized to undertake a general obligation for the repayment of allocated costs and to undertake to levy the necessary taxes, assessments, and toll charges to meet the repayment obligation Thus, these organizations can provide an enforceable obligation for the future repayment of costs incurred

If at any time an agency of the State of California were authorized to assume on behalf of the State a general obligation of this character, we would certainly have no hesitancy in accepting such an obligation as adequate assurance for the repayment of costs to the United States.

Sincerely yours,

FRED G. AANDAHL
Assistant Secretary of the Interior

For two years State government in California has moved forward. Leadership in legislative matters by the Governor, and by you Senators and Assemblymen, has been the crucial factor Our Governor has provided the vision and courage which have made possible our substantial advances He has not sought cheap popularity by resorting to political expediency. He has led in initiating bold programs which will bring California safely to the destiny that is hers.

PRESENTATION OF THE GOVERNOR

Hon. Glenn M. Anderson, Lieutenant Governor of the State of California, then presented Governor Edmund G. Brown to the Joint Convention

ADDRESS BY THE GOVERNOR

Governor Brown then proceeded to address the Joint Convention as follows·

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Members of the Legislature, and My Fellow Californians:

Two years ago, in this chamber, we resolved to chart a new course for California We pledged ourselves to bring to California a new and progressive program—a program of responsible liberalism

These were not empty resolutions We can take pride that the first two years have made a difference—that California is off dead center and on the move again In the last two years, more pioneering legislation has been enacted than in any comparable period since the first term of Hiram Johnson almost half a century ago

On the water issue, instead of a wasteful stalemate, we have embarked on an historic program to meet the needs of a dynamic, growing California This California water program is the greatest, boldest public project ever undertaken by an American state

In higher education, instead of a drift into chaos and unhealthy competition, we have adopted a Master Plan to guide the essential growth of the State University, the State Colleges, and the Junior Colleges.

In human rights, instead of closing our eyes to discrimination in employment, we have passed a Fair Employment Practices Act to insure equal opportunity for all

In social insurance and social welfare programs, instead of continuing to drop back from California's long-time position of leadership, we have moved to the fore once more California is now again in the vanguard of the states and still moving ahead—a fact of vital importance to hundreds of thousands of our citizens in this period of national economic downturn and rising unemployment

In the field of public health, instead of pretending that air pollution is not a state responsibility, we committed the full resources of the state to the fight against smog Our action in this difficult area is going to make California a healthier, cleaner, better place to live and work.

And, in fiscal matters, instead of one deficit budget after another, we have put California back in the black by adopting a program for new revenues and for economy in government In five of the seven years prior to 1959, the California State government spent far more than it took in Later this month, by contrast, I will send you a third straight soundly balanced budget—balanced despite current adverse economic conditions.

These six major achievements reflect the commitment of this Administration to a program of responsible liberalism There are many other achievements, some equally important, but these six symbolize the difference that this program has made in California In saying this, I want to extend great credit to the Legislature and its Democratic leadership, and I am glad also to acknowledge that these measures would not have been possible without the support of fair-minded Republican legislators

Although we have made a break-through in the last two years, there is no room for self-satisfaction about our accomplishments We must not deceive ourselves that our work is done Good government requires a never-ending search for the best means of serving the people

We fail our trust if we pass major legislation and then ignore it A major statute often does no more than mark the first step The success of any program depends on wise administration, and on timely adjustments to reflect the lessons of experience

To serve the people faithfully, it is also essential that we remain skeptical and open-minded A change in conditions or the passage of time may tarnish even the best legislation New information or progress in science may point a better way And the sad fact is that we may be, on occasion, simply wrong

But we must not allow this foreknowledge of our human fallibility to intimidate us or deter us from acting For act we must if we are to survive and to meet the needs of our great and growing state

Beyond following through on what we have started, and beyond reexamining our existing programs, there lies the major task of seeking solutions to problems which are either completely new or only recently identified Each decade, each year, indeed each day in the history of a state as dynamic and complex as California brings new problems and new needs

Against the background of the first two years, we turn to the subjects which require action at this Session Many of my recommendations are stated in general terms, because I believe that the details should be considered by us together in the course of the legislative process You have helped teach me that prefabricated solutions are not always the best Let us then resolve to combine our knowledge and experience as we consider the urgent and unfinished business of California

First, the field of education. There is no better example than education of an area where we have done well, and yet must do better In the first two years, we provided major increases in state aid to school districts and in state loans for school construction We have also raised salaries of teachers in the university and state colleges by 12½ per cent Throughout the country, our Master Plan for Higher Education which I mentioned earlier, has been hailed as a signal achievement Indeed, we have a remarkable school system—probably the best in the Nation—but we must look forward to improvement rather than backward with complacency.

There is a widespread belief, which I share, that we can improve the quality of education in the primary and secondary schools. As a step in this direction, I urge you to adopt the new requirements for teaching credentials of the kind which have been proposed by the State Board of Education and the State Department of Education This reform would reduce the types of credentials from a bewildering 40 to a basic 5 More significant, it would require that primary and secondary teachers have a major in college in an academic subject Under the new plan, students planning to be teachers will no longer major in so-called method or how-to-teach courses

Within our schools, we should move toward curriculum changes which will emphasize "solid" subjects and minimize the wasteful fringe courses To identify unusually able students and to nourish their talents, we should provide additional aid for special programs for gifted children. Similarly, we should provide new funds to help teachers pierce the barriers to a full education for emotionally handicapped students

To give us a measurement of the effectiveness of our schools, we must now seriously consider a statewide testing program In recommending such tests, the very significant report of the Citizens Advisory Commission emphasized that the tests would enable a local school district to reassure itself that its pupils are not being shortchanged As we develop these tests, we must provide safeguards to insure that they do not result in unhealthy competition among schools or geographic areas Even more important, we must be certain that they do not encourage our teachers to "teach the test" rather than the curriculum

This attention to quality and content should not lead us to neglect the fiscal and organizational problems posed by California's continuing great growth

I recommend that the Legislature act immediately to increase the maximum State Bond Fund allocation for local school construction aid from $10 million to $12 million a month We must make more progress toward elimination of double sessions in California

In the new budget, I will also recommend that $200,000 be appropriated to help speed the school district reorganization process. The resulting efficiencies and economies will repay California taxpayers many fold

I have discussed these recommendations regarding primary and secondary schools with Dr Simpson, the Superintendent of Public Instruction. I am pleased to tell you that we feel a common sense of urgency about these matters We are working together for the improvement of our schools

In higher education, we must act to consolidate the achievements of the Master Plan and make certain that it is operating as we intended We should provide additional aid to the junior colleges as a recognition of their key role in the Master Plan We must also provide funds for a new medical school in San Diego At present, only about one-fifth of our new doctors are coming from California medical schools Unless we establish this new school and begin to reduce our dependence on schools in other states, we invite a critical shortage of medical manpower.

I first made a formal request last spring that the University of California assume responsibility for this new landmark in educational progress in our State. The Board of Regents agreed in December to seek all necessary pre-construction funds this year, and I will ask your approval of this appropriation in the 1961-62 Budget

These advances, important as they are, add still more to the staggering cost of education. In California, we are already spending more than one-half of our general funds for education If we are to justify new programs and new fiscal commitments, we must make certain that the present structure is as economical and as equitable as possible We must prove that education and economy are not natural enemies

To that end, we should enact laws to equalize state aid in relation to the county-wide tax base, rather than on a district-by-district basis Such a proposal, which is advocated by the State Department of Education, would prevent the rich segment of a county escaping from its proper share of the cost of supporting schools throughout the county Only if we take such steps can we afford the progressive measures which I have outlined today

Education is costly, but we make no better investment than in the lives and hopes of our children. The improvement of education is the number one goal of my administration

Second, we turn to the administration of justice At this session, we must focus our efforts on the nightmare of narcotics Last year, after conferences with law enforcement officials, I appointed a five-man special Commission on Narcotics After eight months of work with its able staff, the Commission has now submitted a 22-point program designed to achieve a sharp reduction in the sale and use of narcotics in California. The report provides what was previously lacking—namely, a well-documented foundation for aggressive action against the sinister dope traffic

I am especially impressed with the Commission's case for harsher penalties and longer terms of imprisonment for narcotics offenders. I urge the Legislature to take direct action to guarantee that peddlers will no longer feel that the penalty is worth risking because the crime is so profitable

The Commission has suggested a further bold new approach for helping to clear our streets of known addicts Its report calls for treatment of addiction as a communicable disease and urges quarantining of addicts in detention hospitals until a court approves their release. Such an ambitious program clearly poses serious financial and capital outlay problems which may take more than a single session to resolve

I believe, however, that the Legislature should consider carefully the merit of such approach in order that it may become part of our present and future planning

I also believe the Commission's report offers a realistic and reasonable approach to the constitutional problems involved in providing law enforcement officials with effective weapons of detection and apprehension for use against this deadly traffic The Commission has set forth with clarity the necessity for providing relief from some of the restrictions of the exclusionary rules adopted by our courts, and has suggested several thoughtful means by which this may be achieved

I commend the entire report to your attention I am sure that within its framework you will find a sensible pattern for a program of direct action in this session.

Attorney General Stanley Mosk, the chief law officer of this State, also is developing approaches to this problem which are equally worthy of your attention and consideration

Let us begin—as the Commission urges—by immediately designating 1961 as "Fight Narcotics Year" I hope you will do so by legislative resolution

Last fall the President-elect pledged a White House Conference on Narcotics in a message to Attorney General Mosk In a recent conversation I urged that he convene such a conference just as soon as possible, and I am confident that action will be forthcoming

The vicious drugs used in California all come from outside the State They are smuggled into our ports of entry and across our exposed southern border Every prominent law enforcement official in Southern California told the President's emissaries last March that we urgently need the aid of the Federal Government in erecting effective narcotics barriers at the border and in securing greater co-operation from foreign governments Without this, none of our efforts can succeed

There can be no question but that the new administration in Washington will give us much-needed assistance on this matter—assistance which has been so curiously withheld in recent years

And for my part, I pledge my complete and unreserved efforts to exterminate the plague of narcotics

Another aspect of the administration of justice requiring action now is the Juvenile Court Law which has not been revised for forty-five years There is no quarrel with the basic philosophy of the law which affords youthful offenders protection from unwarranted publicity and gives them a chance of rehabilitation However, a Special Study Commission on Juvenile Justice has recently concluded that the law is now "disorganized, repetitive, and frequently obscure." Ironically, the Commission found that the law now leaves youngsters without many of the protections of due process which are guaranteed to adults

As evidence of the need for reform I ask you to note a recommendation of the Commission which would establish a two-week period as the maximum time between a youngster's arrest and hearing The Commission observed that while waiting for his hearing a youthful offender may spend from several weeks to six months in custody—in an atmosphere where he has evil companions and exposure to ugly habits and patterns of thought There is both wisdom and humanity in cutting this unwholesome period to an absolute minimum

In all, the Commission's report pinpoints six areas in which revision of the Juvenile Court Law is desirable These recommendations follow a three-year study, a series of public hearings, and consultation with nearly all of California's juvenile court judges and chief law enforcement officers Considering this background, this report plainly requires careful study and thoughtful action

Before leaving the subject of the administration of justice, I want to indicate again my continued opposition to capital punishment. Apart from my personal view that it is immoral and uncivilized, I continue to believe that the death penalty has been a gross failure—that it has neither protected the innocent nor deterred the wicked It will not be news that I would welcome a legislative decision to repeal or moderate our death penalty law.

Whatever my personal views, however, I shall continue to apply the law as it is written.

Third, we consider action related to our social welfare programs.

We show respect for our senior citizens by programs which make it possible for them to live in health, in dignity, and in security There are several major steps which should be taken at this session toward that goal

I believe we should now recognize the impact of the rising cost of living on the aged and those others it affects most

I recommend that a cost-of-living escalator be added to our program of old age assistance This principle should also be applied to the lesser number receiving aid to the blind and to the disabled

If these programs are to meet essential needs, benefits must be geared to the rising costs of food and housing.

Let us also recognize the cost-of-living problem for families which help support needy relatives, while attempting to cope with their own budget problems.

I am persuaded that we should modify the relatives responsibility law to a considerable extent

I recommend that a man with a family not be compelled to furnish support until his monthly income exceeds $1,000

There is yet another significant step to be taken to make sure that state assistance to needy senior citizens does not fall short of the minimum needs

I recommend that the maximum limit on benefits to the aged because of special problems—usually related to medical and housing needs—be increased from $115 a month to $165 a month This is not an increase in basic grants, but within this new maximum of $165 a month we can, for the first time, meet essential special needs fully.

The cost of this change can and should be substantially reduced through a careful program of state legislation which takes advantage of recent Federal legislation providing additional funds for medical care for the aged

It is well known that I have supported a drastically different and broader Federal approach to the problem—one based on social security which would have met the needs of far more persons far better.

I hope that the current session of Congress will reconsider the present law in the interests of unmet needs, fairness and state solvency.

In the interim, however, I propose that the State do whatever it can afford in using the present law in the interests of California and its senior citizens.

In the past few months, using Federal funds, we have begun to increase steadily the benefits for persons already on old-age assistance to include such items as eyeglasses, dentures, a wider range of drugs, and rehabilitation treatment

By midyear these medical benefits for the aged who already were receiving state assistance will be almost double the levels of early last year. This is being done under previous legislative authorizations and appropriations.

To extend the benefits of the new Federal medical care program to those not already on our old-age assistance program, but whose incomes are equally low, however, will require new legislative action.

Because the State can afford to provide required matching funds only for the cases of gravest need, I recommend that the initial extension be to chronically-ill aged persons who have incomes of less than $2,000 a year, but who do not now receive old-age assistance from the State. There is no group for whom help is more urgent or more justified.

In carefully re-examining our social welfare programs, we have found another substantial area of distress. The present definition of total disability in California law makes our current program of aid to the disabled one of the most restrictive in the nation. I recommend that the definition be rewritten realistically in this session so that a number of truly disabled and needy persons who are now disqualified will become eligible.

In a different area of concern for the aged, I recommend that the State provide a small appropriation to encourage wider development of community centers and other facilities for senior citizens. This money would be allocated on a matching basis to help finance pioneering projects of this kind

We should also act to end the wasteful trend toward discrimination against our older citizens in matters of employment At present, arbitrary and unreasonable age limitations force some of our useful citizens into unproductive and frustrating retirement. The State of California should firmly declare its opposition to such discrimination and instruct the Department of Employment to carry out this sensible and humane policy.

In further accord with the principle of re-examining existing programs, I recommend that we take a hard, yet sympathetic look at the Aid to Needy Children program It should be a hard look because we plainly must take some new precautions against fraudulent conduct by unscrupulous parents But in reviewing this statute, our dominating concern must be for the children involved I urge that in our priorities, we put the saving of children first, the saving of money second

In addition to taking effective action to eliminate fraud from this program, I recommend that the counties be given much-needed financial assistance to improve the quality of the local administration of this program by welfare departments. In most cases, their personnel are now too burdened with other caseload work to give adequate time and attention to this program and its opportunities for family rehabilitation

Before leaving the subject of social welfare, I would suggest that the time is ripe for a study of the state's approach to all our social welfare programs. I propose that a joint legislative-executive commission be created to study the entire area During these first two years, I have developed increasing respect for the work of special committees or task forces, such as those which have recently reported on education, medical care, juvenile justice, metropolitan problems, narcotics, and other complex subjects Such committees enable us to receive, usually without cost, the expert advice of our most talented and experienced citizens.

It is my goal that every California family should have adequate access to medical care of high quality. As far as feasible, the character of the care should be of their own choosing and should not bring financial hardship in its wake In working toward this goal, I have been greatly aided by a comprehensive and thoughtful report from a distinguished and broadly representative Committee on Medical Aid and Health I have mentioned earlier one recommendation of the Committee, namely the establishment of a new medical school in San Diego

In addition, the Committee's report leaves no doubt that we must bring some order into the current patchwork development of health facilities. One informed estimate is that the State and its local communities could save a billion dollars in the next 15 years by better location of new hospitals and by closer coordination between them to avoid duplication or gaps in services To achieve these savings and to provide better and more balanced health facilities at the same time, I shall recommend legislation for the regional planning of hospitals and other medical facilities Physicians, hospital executives, and the public should all be represented in this planning task

As the Committee urged, we should also act to bring health insurance policies under proper regulation At present, our citizens have no standards by which to evaluate the bewildering provisions of health insurance policies Many people have learned of the limited coverage of their costly policies only after it is too late—only after illness has struck and the medical bills are mounting. The new legislation should consider establishing minimum standards for policies and the possible inclusion of a system of grade labeling so that policies can be purchased more intelligently

The inadequate health care of our migratory workers stands as a matter of shame in our prosperous state A medical task force reported that health conditions were deplorable and shocking in the rural slums which house our transient agricultural workers I am asking for an appropriation of $115,000 to strengthen local community health services for these neglected people

As a matter of conscience as well as of sound public policy, we must continue to apply new concepts to the problems of the mentally ill.

The recent achievements of our State Department of Mental Hygiene have been magnificent Despite the great increases in population, the number of persons in our mental hospitals has been kept level because of the increased tempo of treatment

In this session, I am especially concerned that we provide more facilities and improved treatment for the retarded

I also recommend that we extend the development of day care facilities begun last year, and that we begin the process of upgrading the salaries of psychiatric technicians

These recommendations will be detailed in the budget proposal later this month

Any discussion of public health also must face up to the problem of traffic safety No disease is deadlier than the automobile We took major accident prevention measures in 1959, including the adoption of a new speed law These measures have helped, but they have not come close to doing the job

I am not resigned, however, to the acceptance of our daily highway death toll as a continuing fact of our state and national life

I propose to send you soon a detailed program of recommendations for legislative action in this field I am confident too that legislative committees which have given this problem long study will offer equally useful suggestions

Fifth, I call your attention to a number of important matters regarding elections

This is the year for the decennial reapportionment of Congressional and Assembly districts A decade ago a Republican legislature drew the districts in a way which provided a modern illustration of the old term, "gerrymandering." A good many districts and a great many people still suffer the impact of that unfair and partisan plan I am confident that the current legislature will not repeat that mistake I am persuaded that a fair reapportionment will be not only good policy, but good politics as well

During the recent campaign, I promised to ask for the establishment of a blue ribbon commission to study reapportionment of the State Senate I do so now, convinced that the Commission will consider fairly the need for additional representation in urban areas

I need make no elaborate argument to show the need to improve our voting and vote counting procedure The confusion and delay connected with the California vote in the 1960 election remain fresh in our minds We should adopt a number of proposals ranging from a requirement that absentee ballots be received in time to be counted on election day to provisions for recounts in the many offices, including the Presidency, where none now exist In addition, I intend to appoint promptly an Advisory Committee to explore the whole field of speeding up election returns

As I did in 1959, I urge you to strengthen our laws providing for the disclosure of campaign funds I remain convinced that the gaps in our present law threaten the integrity of our democratic processes

Sixth, we must make progress in the reorganization of our state government

Two groups of experts have recently completed the first thorough and penetrating analyses of the structure of our state government in more than thirty years. During that time, the state has trebled in population, and its governmental structure has developed haphazardly in a piecemeal response to the pressure of this growth We must act now to straighten lines of responsibility and create order from the near chaos of patchwork agencies

There is not time now for a detailed discussion of the reorganization proposals I plan to offer this session of the Legislature This will require a separate and complete message

The most important measure I will suggest, however, is a proposal that the method of reorganization in California follow that used to carry out many of the Hoover Commission recommendations for reorganization of the Federal Government I will ask you to authorize the Governor to proceed with executive reorganization on his own initiative Each reorganization plan, however, would be subject to legislative veto before taking effect

Since there could be no actual reorganization by this method for another year, I will also seek direct authorization of some beginning steps at this session

By executive action, I will also create a temporary small working cabinet of the type envisioned in the over-all reorganization studies I sent you last year This cabinet would function until a full reorganization can be completed

Seventh, we must give attention to the area of legislation involving labor-management relationships and responsibilities

It is my conviction that we should make further significant improvements in the structure of our social insurance programs for unemployment compensation, workmen's compensation and disability benefits

We must recognize that these complex mechanisms need constant readjustment to remain always strong and ready to carry extra burdens in time of economic distress, whether mild or severe

It is essential, for instance, that thoughtful action be taken in this session to replenish the State disability fund—now suffering from substantial depletion

In addition, I urge two innovations in the social insurance field

I urge, first, that persons unemployed because of plant obsolescence or automation be encouraged to undertake occupational retraining immediately Under present law, retraining benefits are payable only during a period of heavy unemployment—and then only to persons who have exhausted virtually all means of personal support These restrictions should be removed so that such persons will be eligible for regular unemployment benefits while pursuing an approved training course

I urge, second, that we develop a comprehensive vocational rehabilitation program for workmen unable to perform their former jobs because of disabilities

In another area, while recognizing some of the complex economic problems involved, I continue nonetheless to believe in a basic minimum wage law to include all workers

Preferably, there should be a federal law which includes agricultural workers and equalizes the economic impact on producers in all the 50 states, and I favor action in the new Congress as comprehensive as possible and as soon as possible

The State's Industrial Welfare Commission also has under consideration the question of minimum wages for working women and children, including those employed in agriculture.

I am deferring any new minimum wage recommendations to the Legislature pending further knowledge of the outcome of these two current efforts to establish an improved minimum wage structure.

This problem is an especially difficult one for the great agricultural areas of our state Here, the eventual solution is to improve lagging farm income so that both the farmer and those he employs can share in the national bounty on terms of equality with the rest of the population.

Perhaps the most troubled labor-management relationship in California today is in agriculture

Yet I call to your attention the fact that despite the occasional work stoppages last summer and fall, very few crops were lost. Few workers and very few farmers were directly affected. Generally, crops were good and wages were up

The conflict is continuing, however, and I believe goverment should be ready to act if necessary to protect the public interest or preserve individual rights.

For that reason, I recommend that we establish a balanced fact-finding committee to deal with this situation It should include legislators, representatives of appropriate executive departments, farmers, farm workers and union leaders

This committee should make periodic factual reports on disputes and the issues involved.

If and when the committee should be convinced that direct government intervention of some kind would be useful to both parties or is necessary in the public interest, it should report its conclusions jointly to the Governor and the Legislature.

The public and the state government would thus be in a much better position to deal intelligently and fairly with both parties in this complex struggle between natural economic forces

We stand at a great divide in the history of the development of California's water resources

Behind us lies more than a decade of difficult, frustrating struggle.

Now, with the support of most of the members of this Legislature, and the approval of a majority of the voters of this State we have reached the point where we are ready to proceed with a water project worthy of our heritage and equal to our destiny.

During the bond issue campaign, I pledged that the Legislature would have one more opportunity to examine the program for possible deficiencies and to suggest clarification or improvements

I specifically noted that the Legislature would be invited to review the differential pricing principle I offered last year as a method of preventing monopolization of project benefits

I hope the Legislature will take some positive policy position on this problem in this session, and I commend the differential pricing principle to you It follows the so-called Federal Washoe principle and is in the pattern of the most recent Federal enactments on water pricing.

I also urge this session of the Legislature to set a firm policy guaranteeing development of recreational facilities and full preservation and enhancement of fish and game resources in connection with this great overall project.

This is a splendid opportunity to add significantly to the State's recreational resources and we must make certain that the opportunity is not lost

In these last two years, we have already made the greatest progress toward sound water development in the history of this or any other state

We must keep our impetus We must forge on without delay.

During the last two years we also have stepped up the development of beaches and parks, with special emphasis on recreation.

A new long-range plan for further beach and park acquisition and development has been prepared and will be submitted to this session of the Legislature for your consideration

As California's population steadily rises, one of state government's most important functions is to insure that the great majority of our residents who settle in urban areas still have easy access to the magnificent beaches, rivers, forests and wilderness areas which make California one of the most scenic and varied leisure centers of the world

We must, and will, do the job.

Another of this State's matchless resources is our agriculture, a producer of variety and volume without peer in the nation.

The water program is of incomparable importance to potential farm service areas, but we must take other positive action too, in order to preserve California's leadership in agriculture

The great problem, of course, is to help improve farm income, to widen the present dangerously narrow gap between the costs of production and the prices received for crops

I recommend that the Legislature approve legislation to strengthen the marketing position of farmers who sell through cooperatives, and that the basic marketing act itself be improved to assist farm producers in a number of other significant ways

Ninth, we must concern ourselves with other myriad problems of growth, change and development in California

We have many such problems that press harder daily as we approach that day in August, 1963, when California will become the Nation's most populous state

Among those deserving priority are

Civil rights—We must move on from the great beginnings of 1958. I recommend that we extend our laws against discrimination in housing I also urge that we write clearly into law, the principle that an established pattern of discrimination is a proper basis for disciplinary action by State licensing agencies

Housing—I recommend that our State Housing Commission be reconstituted and enlarged then assigned to provide a comprehensive plan for financing the State's unmet housing needs Our senior citizens, our agricultural workers, our low and middle-income families, are now all but priced out of the market With expert help, I am confident that this new, broadly representative commission can prepare the way for significant new strides in the complex field of housing and its financing In the meantime, I am hopeful that the new administration in Washington will also take meaningful action in this field

Metropolitan problems—Some 90 per cent of our citizens now live in one of California's nine urban areas The Governor's Commission on Metropolitan Area Problems has just made a remarkable and far-sighted report on one of the gravest urban problem areas—that of governmental structure, special districts, annexation and incorporation

I commend the Commission's proposals to you One of the most noteworthy proposes that cities be given permission to initiate annexation proceedings in adjacent inhabited areas Another suggests that multi-purpose metropolitan service districts be authorized under the so-called "California plan", which properly recognizes the State's traditional principle of home rule

Consumer protection — The first year of operation of the office of Consumer Counsel has fulfilled the expectations which we had in creating it in 1959 The need for legislative action in a number of areas has been spotlighted by the activities of that office. Legislation requiring better labelling of hazardous substances is only one of a number of proposals which will be submitted to you as a result of the Consumer Counsel's work

Property taxpayers—In this period of heavy local property taxes and rising assessments, local taxpayers are entitled to full and timely information on actions which increase their tax bill Several reforms are in order in this field, and I hope remedial action will be taken

Tenth, we must face the stern demands of fiscal responsibility

The figures and details of our fiscal situation are the proper concern of my annual budget message to you later this month

I do want to offer certain economic policy recommendations at this time, however

As you know, the general economic picture is less favorable than was expected when the 1960-61 budget was prepared Revenues are slightly below estimate, and welfare costs are up markedly.

We are therefore fortunate that we had adequate surplus funds to permit us to keep the current budget in balance We will not be so fortunate in the 1961-62 budget year Unless there is a marked change in the economic climate, there will be no carry-over surplus

After surveying the general situation, however, I see no reason to recommend new taxes Continued frugality and economy in government will enable us to meet our commitments without new revenues

I believe, in fact, that we are now in a position to repeal the sales tax on prescription drugs—a tax that weighs most heavily on the aged and the afflicted

The margin of safety will be narrow, however, and the State simply cannot afford loss of any other revenues at this time I recognize the merit in some other tax reduction proposals Indeed, if they could be afforded, all tax reductions would be meritorious, in one degree or another But they simply cannot be afforded now. Their cost would be a return to deficit budgeting and fiscal irresponsibility. That must be prevented.

Except for the salary increases to upgrade the quality of psychiatric technicians in our mental hospitals, I am recommending no general or other special salary increases for State employees at this time That decision is subject to review later this spring, but no general wage increases will be included in the original budget document.

I do feel, however, that the time has come for the State to participate in the cost of adequate health plans for all State employees I urge the Legislature to approve a measure authorizing such participation and I plan to earmark an appropriate amount in the 1961-62 budget for that purpose.

In summary I pledge to send you a soundly balanced budget three weeks hence. In return, I ask your assistance once more in keeping California out of the red Together we have compiled an enviable record of fiscal responsibility I am confident we will add to that record in this session

As I close, I would mark the magnitude of the task before us We must legislate for this most important State in this most important Nation Sixteen million people depend upon our collective wisdom. We confront a range of subjects so wide that none of us can be profound or expert about all of them And if we don't act when we should, or if we blunder, we will have failed our State at a profoundly difficult time not only here, but throughout the world

Yet, as I look around me in this chamber I feel a surge of purpose and confidence There are few men here who are not committed wholeheartedly to what each believes is best for this State and the people he represents The very differences of opinion on important issues, the very differences among the interests of the areas and people you represent are a demonstration of the strength of the democratic ideal Our vigor is plural, flowing from many sources to provide the strength of unity Whether Democrat or Republican, whether from Southern or from Northern California, we are united in a common cause We all want to give California the best that is in us

Thus, it is with no sense of futility or false humility that we acknowledge the vastness of our task; rather, it is with a deep faith that with our best efforts and with the help of God we can succeed Let us pray that we shall have the strength and wisdom to match the greatness which Providence has destined for California

Letter of Transmittal

OFFICE OF STATE BOARD OF PILOT COMMISSIONERS
SAN FRANCISCO, December 30, 1960

Hon Ralph Brown
Speaker of the Assembly
Assembly Chamber, State Capitol, Sacramento

DEAR ASSEMBLYMAN BROWN In compliance with the provisions of Senate Bill No 1201 of the 1959 Session of the Legislature, the Board of Pilot Commissioners for the Bays of San Francisco, San Pablo and Suisun herewith respectfully submits for the consideration of the 1961 Legislature its recommendation for the adoption of legislation concerning the regulation of pilotage rates for the waters under its jurisdiction

In conformance with instructions received from the Legislative Counsel, we are submitting our recommendation to you and to Senator Hugh Burns, as President pro tem of the Senate, at the opening of the 1961 Legislative Session In order that we may comply with proper procedure, we should appreciate being advised of others to whom our recommendation should be distributed

HENRY W SIMONSEN, President

Recommendation by Board of Pilot Commissioners

Hon Ralph Brown
Assembly Chamber, State Capitol Building, Sacramento

DEAR ASSEMBLYMAN BROWN Senate Bill No 1201 of the 1959 Session of the Legislature, authored by Senator Luther E Gibson, amended Section 1170 of the Harbors and Navigation Code to establish a new rate of pilotage fees for the Bays of San Francisco, San Pablo and Suisun, and added a new section as follows

"SEC 2 The Board of Pilot Commissioners shall take such steps as may be necessary to prepare and submit, at the opening of the 1961 Legislature, its recommendation for the adoption of legislation concerning the regulation of pilotage rates similar to that now in force in the State of Oregon"

In accordance with the instructions of this legislative mandate, the board undertook an exhaustive preparatory investigation into pilotage rate regulation procedures

Taking particular note of the directive that the board's proposed method of rate regulation be similar to that presently in force in the State of Oregon, all aspects of the Oregon pilotage laws were thoroughly explored for their practical application to local conditions Not confining its study to Oregon, the board also made a comprehensive survey of the methods employed by other leading ports which, upon critical analysis, showed that there was neither an indicative pattern of pilotage rate regulation throughout the country nor was there one system which could be pronounced more meritorious than another Additionally, prior to concluding its extensive preparatory investigation, the board consulted and met with the pilots and representatives of the shipping industry so that their views in the matter could also be considered by the board in determining its recommendation to the Legislature

In compliance with the provisions of Section 2 above, and after giving thorough consideration to all phases of its proposal, the board herewith submits for the Legislature's consideration, the following comments and recommendations concerning the regulation of pilotage rates for the Bays of San Francisco, San Pablo and Suisun

The statutes of Oregon vest the Oregon Board of Pilot Commissioners with the authority to fix, by the adoption of rules and regulations, reasonable and just pilotage rates for all its pilotage grounds, whereas, under present California laws, the fixing of pilotage rates for the Bays of San Francisco, San Pablo and Suisun, (as set forth in Section 1170 of the Harbors and Navigation Code) is a legislative function The Pilot Commission acts solely as a governing body for the regulation of the pilots appointed by it The board recommends that legislation similar to that of Oregon be enacted to vest the board with the authority to fix, by the adoption of rules and regulations, just and reasonable pilotage rates for the waters under its jurisdiction

This recommendation is submitted in the belief that it is consistent and in accord with the board's present duties of appointing and governing pilots for the Bays of San Francisco, San Pablo and Suisun, and its essential obligation to adequately service and safeguard the public interest, the interest of the pilots themselves, and the interest of the shipping industry

Within this framework we are not unmindful of the necessity that the level of rates be such to attract and maintain the Bar Pilot Roster with the best qualified men in the field

With respect to the present statute and authority of the board, the Legislature, in recognition of the specialized nature of the duties of the board and the essentiality of having in its membership some prior knowledgeability of the functions and duties of the pilots, has made as a prerequisite to appointment the qualification that a member "shall be a competent shipmaster or nautical person"

We feel, therefore, such a board, in addition to its present duties, would be qualified and competent to equitably deal with the subject of pilotage rates Considering the nature of such additional duties and powers the question of experience continuity arises The Legislature, therefore, may wish to consider an amendment whereby the tenure of membership provides for staggered terms similar to that presently under the Oregon law It is clear, in any event, that the obligation of rate determination in this field is a burden which should not be imposed upon a legislative body

Should the Legislature see fit to adopt the aforesaid recommendation, the board's proposed procedure for the regulation of rates, patterned after that presently in effect in the State of Oregon, would be as follows

Upon petition of the parties directly affected for an alteration of established pilotage rates and charges, the board, after first giving due notice thereof, would hold open hearings for the purpose of receiving testimony, evidence, and all data pertinent to the requested rate alteration, provided, however, that such hearings could not be called nor conducted oftener than once a year Hearings for the fixing of rates would be conducted before the board in accordance with the provisions of the California Administrative Procedure Act, with a hearing officer presiding and a record taken of all of the hearing's proceedings The hearing officer would exercise no power or authority over the board At the hearing's conclusion, the board would review and evaluate all the evidence received, together with the transcript of the hearing, and render a decision upon its findings Should the board determine that its findings require an alteration of existing pilotage rates, it would thereupon prescribe and adopt, by regulation, such new rates

The Statutes of Oregon provide for the fixing of a minimum pilotage rate by the Legislature This board recommends achievement of the same objective by establishing a minimum fee level without a specific rate statute This is for the purpose of permitting the board to adjust, if necessary, the basis upon which pilotage is assessed, i.e., draft, tonnage, displacement, etc Shipping trends make it necessary from time to time to change the basis of computing pilotage and the board should be free to make such adjustments without burdening the Legislature In order, therefore, that this phase of our recommendation be comparable and achieve the same purpose as the Oregon law it is proposed that the board be authorized to adopt, by regulation, such new pilotage rate or such new method of computing rates as would be required to assure an equitable basis of assessment, provided, however, that no such new rate or method of rate computation adopted would result in the assessment of a lesser charge per vessel than that assessed under the then existing method of rate calculation

In accordance with the provisions of Section 2 of Section 1170, the board has compiled the foregoing recommendation concerning the regulation of local pilotage rates for submission to the 1961 Legislature However, in formulating its recommendation, the board has given due recognition to the possibility that the Legislature may not choose to delegate its rate-making authority to the board In consideration of this eventuality, the board also submits the following alternative recommendation whereby the final authority to fix pilotage rates would be retained by the Legislature

Prior to the month of August of the year in which the Legislature convenes in general session, and pursuant to the request therefor of interested parties, the board would notice and hold open hearings in accordance with the provisions of the California Administrative Procedure Act for the purpose of investigating into and determining the justice of existing pilotage rates The hearing would be presided over by a hearing officer and a complete record of all the hearing's proceedings would be taken At the conclusion of the hearing, and prior to October 1st, the board would review and evaluate all the evidence received and the record of the hearing and submit a recommendation upon its findings to the Legislature for its final judgment and action. By conducting these pre-legislative hearings into the validity of rate alteration petitions the board would in some degree lessen the fact-finding obligation of the legislative committee to whom such proposals would be assigned.

Whether or not the Legislature elects to delegate the function of rate regulation to the board as recommended, the board's proposed hearings would all be in keeping with sound ratemaking procedures followed by other governing bodies

Attached hereto are drafts of the board's recommendations which may be used as the form or basis for adopting a method of rate regulation similar to that in effect in the State of Oregon

Should the Legislature give favorable consideration to the adoption of either the board's recommendation or its alternative proposal, caution is urged in the repeal and amendment of Section 1170 to ensure that no lapse occurs in the enforced assessment of existing pilotage rates

Respectfully submitted,

BOARD OF PILOT COMMISSIONERS

"GOLDEN PARADISE"
(A Poem of California)
By Herbert Eli Dickson

From the mountains to the sea—
Sing the praises of our state
This is where I want to be,
Here where men are strong and great

On these shores I want to live,
By this land I want to die
Here is where I want to give All to life and ask not why

Let me linger here and learn,
Where the warm and kind winds blow
When to home my feelings turn—
This is where I'd rather go

Courage takes the place of fears—
When the storms of life arise
And I soon forget my tears
When I see the sunny skies

May my heart be always brave
When there's something hard to do
Like the pioneers—I crave
All that's good and all that's new

Let me have my chance to gain
Give me strength to stand each test
I'll not stop because of pain,
And I'll always do my best

Take me not away—I plead,
If it's not too much to ask
I've found here all that I need
Living here's my greatest task

Help me build and take my stand
Far beneath the clear blue sky
Be a friend that's true and grand,
Here I'm proud—I can't deny

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL

ASSEMBLY, CALIFORNIA LEGISLATURE

Hon. Ralph Brown
State Capitol, Sacramento

DEAR MR SPEAKER Pursuant to House Resolution No 326 of the 1959 Regular Legislative Session, the Assembly Interim Committee on Judiciary—Civil submits herewith its Final Report on Court Personnel

This report is the product of a study carried on by the committee from the latter part of 1959 to the present The study included public hearings, which were held on November 18-19, 1959 in Sacramento, and extensive correspondence with many parties interested in the problems related to California court personnel

The basic area of study concerned municipal court attaches and superior court reporters The present state of the law requires that the Legislature prescribe the salary and staffing schedules for these positions Consequently, each time it is proposed that the number of municipal court attaches or superior court reporters be increased, or their salaries raised, the Legislature must enact a separate bill for this purpose It has been suggested that the role of the Legislature in such cases often amounts to that of an expensive rubber stamp, since no legislative committee has time during the general session to inquire into the merits of such bills

Various suggested solutions have been offered These include maintaining the present system of centralized control coupled with a provision allowing for a uniform bill to establish salary and staffing schedules, augmenting the present system by providing an administrative agency to assist the Legislature with its duties in this area, and delegating the present legislative duty to county government

As these solutions are being studied, it is imperative that the Legislature be given some assistance in handling the myriad of salary and staffing bills it is confronted with With this in mind, the committee has recommended that the Judicial Council be authorized and granted an adequate appropriation to study the suggested solutions in this area and to advise the Legislature on salary and staffing bills presented to it

Another area of study concerned a proposal to alter the present system whereby the superior court clerks are part of the county clerk's office This proposal, which received the support of only one group, the Superior Court Clerks of Los Angeles County, would place the superior court clerks under the direct control of the superior court The committee has recommended that no action be taken in this area

The final subject explored by the committee involved the question of whether or not there is a need for research assistants in our superior courts The committee's studies indicate that judges in larger counties generally favor a statutory enactment providing for the appointment of research assistants, while judges in smaller counties do not Accordingly, the committee has recommended that legislation be considered allowing judges in larger counties, with county approval, to employ research assistants if they so desire

Respectfully submitted,

WILLIAM BIDDICK, JR, Chairman
GEORGE A WILLSON, Vice Chairman

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL

ASSEMBLY, CALIFORNIA LEGISLATURE
November 1, 1960

Hon Ralph Brown
Speaker of the Assembly
State Capitol, Sacramento

DEAR MR SPEAKER Pursuant to House Resolution No 326 of the 1959 Regular Legislative Session, the Assembly Interim Committee on Judiciary—Civil submits herewith the Final Report of its Subcommittee on Prepaid Service Contracts of Health and Dance Studios

This report is the product of an extensive study carried on by the subcommittee throughout most of 1960, during which time a statewide investigation was made by the Legislative Analyst's office and two full days of hearings were held on May 19 and 20 in Stockton, California

In addition, the subcommittee received the benefit of an independent study of dance studio contracts conducted by third-year students in the legislation seminar of Stanford Law School We are particularly indebted to Agathon A Aerni, Steve Bridlebough and Carl Weidman, the students who presented this study to the subcommittee, and to their instructor, John H DeMoully

The subcommittee also wishes to thank the 24 witnesses, representing health and dance studios, law enforcement agencies and better business bureaus throughout the State, who attended its May hearings.

In the course of its study the subcommittee has found that a small group of health and dance studios, unrepresentative of the industry as a whole, has been taking unfair advantage of the public Working on the fringe of legality, these studios have high-pressured their customers into long-term contracts for large amounts of money Once signed, contracts or notes are often transferred to collection agencies or finance companies and the customer left without recourse, although the services contracted for may in the meantime diminish or even disappear

The legal remedies available at present to an injured party are clearly inadequate The subcommittee has, therefore, sought to recommend restrictions which, if enacted into law, would ensure the customer a fair contract

In considering possible solutions to this problem, the subcommittee has rejected the complications of licensing and bonding as a needless burden on the legitimate operator Instead, the subcommittee has chosen the middle ground between suggestions made by proponents of extreme governmental control and those made by representatives of large studios, who have argued that the industry can regulate itself Certain limitations on the contracts made by these studios have been proposed to ensure a fair break to their customers, and in so doing, to end the unfavorable publicity given the industry as a whole by the reprehensible practices of a few

Respectfully submitted,

WILLIAM BIDDICK, JR, Chairman

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL

ASSEMBLY, CALIFORNIA LEGISLATURE

Hon Ralph Brown
Speaker of the Assembly
State Capitol, Sacramento

DEAR MR SPEAKER Pursuant to House Resolution No 326 of the 1959 Regular Legislative Session, the Assembly Interim Committee on Judiciary—Civil submits herewith its Final Report on the Uniform Securities Act as proposed for adoption in California

This report is the product of more than a year of study by the full committee Four days of hearings in San Francisco and Los Angeles have been devoted to the Uniform Act, and some 38 witnesses have testified on the act and its probable effect on securities regulation in California

The committee wishes to thank all of the many businessmen, attorneys, state officials and legal scholars who have contributed their time and effort to studying this act. We are particularly indebted to the members of an advisory group which has spent long hours studying the many technical amendments that have been proposed, and has made valuable recommendations to the committee Headed by Graham Sterling, past President of the State Bar and an acknowledged authority on California corporation law, the advisory committee includes Robert Edwards of the Los Angeles Bar, vice chairman and reporter, Commissioner of Corporations John Sobieski, Eric Sutcliffe and John Austin of the San Francisco Bar; James M Irvine and Van Cott Niven of the Los Angeles Bar, William S Hughes of the Investment Bankers Association, Professor Harold Marsh of the School of Law, University of California at Los Angeles, Professor Richard Jennings of the School of Law, University of California at Berkeley; Assistant Attorney General Herbert Wenig, Bauer Kramer of the Oakland Bar, and Joseph M Henderson of the San Jose Bar These gentlemen all gave generously of their time and attention, and the committee is indebted to them for the work they have done in studying this act

It is the considered conclusion of the committee that the final product of this study, the Uniform Securities Act as proposed for adoption in California, will facilitate the efforts of business to raise capital in California without sacrificing any degree of the investor protection that has made our State justly famous It clarifies the law for both business and business counsel, simplifies incorporation for the small business, provides a valuable degree of procedural uniformity for interstate offerings, and brings within the scope of California regulation a field, hitherto exempt, representing 75 percent of the dollar value of all offerings in California

Few acts have received the intensive study which has been given this one by this committee, by its top-level advisory group, by the bar associations of our largest cities, and by the State Bar We respectfully recommend that it receive your favorable consideration

Respectfully submitted,

GENTLEMEN: The Assembly Interim Committee on Water submits herewith its Report on the Delta Pool This report and the hearings which preceded it were authorized by House Resolution No. 13, 1960.

Pursuant to House Resolution No 13, which directed a comprehensive study of the Delta problems, your committee has considered all known factors It has attempted to assess the problems it has found and to recommend the most appropriate action in each instance

As more fully set forth in the body of the report, your committee has concluded that the Delta area should be added to the San Francisco Bay model of the U S Corps of Engineers at Sausalito to permit certain joint studies of the Bay and the Delta by the Department of Water Resources and the U S Corps of Engineers The committee also recommends that a Delta Study Commission, patterned somewhat after recent federal experience in the southeastern states and Texas, be established to develop a comprehensive solution to the problems of the Delta confronting the State in constructing the Delta Water Project as part of the state water facilities

With respect to the Delta Pool Concept, which is an important part of the water sales contracts being negotiated between the State and its customers, your committee concluded that the Delta Pool Concept should be limited to pooling at the Delta to provide an export water supply and to replenish the Delta Pool Further, the committee concluded that the method of computing the price of water at the Delta Pool should be restudied by the department, and the consideration given to making it more responsive to savings in the Delta Pool investment and to minimizing the burden of costs on both the project customers and the General Fund In making these recommendations the committee does not intend to adversely affect the terms of the contract executed on November 4, 1960, by the Department of Water Resources and the Metropolitan Water District of Southern California

Your committee wishes to express its appreciation to the numerous organizations, state agencies and private citizens who have contributed generously of their time and talents The chairman and the committee wish to thank the Legislative Counsel Bureau and the office of the Legislative Analyst who have provided staff services to the committee

GENTLEMEN Attached is the Report of your Subcommittee on Water Project Power of the Assembly Interim Committee on Water This subcommittee was organized pursuant to authority granted by the Assembly Rules Committee on August 17, 1959

In this report your subcommittee reviews the progress during the past two years in saline conversion and also nuclear energy as the latter relates to possible uses in the State's water program The following findings and conclusions are made:

1 Although there has been no breakthrough in nuclear technology which would provide economical pumping energy for the state water facilities, progress is being made and the Department of Water Resources should continue to follow this progress to determine the usefulness of nuclear energy in the state water facilities

2 Present indications are that the conversion of brackish water has more immediate application in California than conversion of sea water Both the Department of Water Resources and the University of California should place more emphasis on brackish water conversion

3 The programs of the Department of Water Resources and the University of California in saline conversion work are similar to the program being carried on by the Office of Saline Water, U S Department of Interior More co-operation is needed with that office The department and the University should review their programs, and where they do not show promise of application in California efforts should be made to enlist the financial support of the office of Saline Water to continue the work The Department of Water Resources needs to clarify the interests of California in saline conversion

4 The electorate of California has approved the $1,750,000,000 water bond issue and the Department of Water Resources and the Metropolitan Water District of Southern California have executed a contract to provide for a new surface water supply in Southern California However, final decisions relating to the economic application of nuclear energy and saline conversion processes in the State's water program still remain to be made and should be made in the light of further analysis of the factors involved in each specific application The bond issue and contract provide a more concrete basis for these decisions

Your subcommittee wishes to express its appreciation to the Department of Water Resources and the University of California for their assistance and to the Legislative Analyst's office for staff services in the preparation of this report

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL—REPORT ON PRADO DAM RECREATIONAL AREA

CALIFORNIA LEGISLATURE

SUBJECT Prado Dam Recreational Area

GENTLEMEN Senate Bill No 58, 1960 First Extraordinary Session was referred to the Assembly Interim Committee on Water for interim study This bill would have added Chapter 6 to Division 2 of the Fish and Game Code to establish the Prado Dam Recreational Area The bill directed the Department of Fish and Game to take such steps as may be necessary to obtain permission of the United States to use the lands involved, which are situated behind Prado Dam in Riverside and San Bernardino Counties, and to manage and operate all hunting and fishing activities within the area The Counties of San Bernardino and Riverside were to be made responsible for the operation of all recreational activities The bill was heard by the Assembly Standing Committee on Water because of the feared adverse effect the recreational use might have on rights to, and uses of water in downstream areas

Your Assembly Interim Committee on Water secured the views in writing of both the Departments of Water Resources and Fish and Game on the proposed recreational development As a result of the information furnished by these two departments it became clear that the problem was largely a local one which involved, (1) title to the lands in the Prado Dam Recreational Area being held by private parties with the United States holding only an easement for flood control, (2) a unique system operated by downstream water users which uses drains and wells in the Prado Reservoir area to collect water for downstream use, and (3) fears of downstream water users that recreational use of the lands would pollute the water originating in the reservoir

Your committee sent letters to the Boards of Supervisors of Riverside, San Bernardino and Orange Counties These letters pointed out that the problems in Senate Bill No 58 are primarily local and, because vested water rights are involved, may not be susceptible of direct solution by the Legislature The committee requested the counties' views upon the bill and the problems involved To date no response has been received from any of the counties

It is the conclusion of your committee that the problems involved in Senate Bill No 58 are of a local nature or involved matters of vested property rights including water rights The courts will protect these vested rights until just payment is made for them It therefore appears that there is no basis for state legislative action to establish a Prado Dam Recreational Area until a plan is developed which will satisfy these vested rights and will be satisfactory to the local interests involved

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL—REPORT ON RELOCATION OF UTILITIES AT OROVILLE

CALIFORNIA LEGISLATURE

Hon Ralph M Brown
Speaker of the Assembly
Members of the Assembly

SUBJECT Relocation of Utilities at Oroville

GENTLEMEN During the 1960 Budget Session, Assemblyman Thomas M Rees, Chairman of the Subcommittee on Capital Outlay of the Ways and Means Committee, requested the Assembly Interim Committee on Water to investigate problems involved in the relocation of various structures at Oroville These structures must be moved by the Department of Water Resources to higher ground or replaced entirely before the Oroville Dam can be built and the reservoir area flooded

The Department of Water Resources began the Oroville relocation in 1957 under authority of Water Code Sections 11590 to 11592 These sections forbid the department to condemn the property of any common carrier railroad, public utility or state agency unless "new facilities of like character and at least equal in usefulness with suitable adjustment for any increase or decrease in the cost of operating and maintenance" are substituted or unless an agreement between the department and the common carrier, utility or state agency has been executed which permits the taking of the property The costs of the relocation are declared to be a cost of the project, and, in the event of a dispute regarding the relocation, the code requires the dispute to be submitted to the Public Utilities Commission, whose decision is final

The requirement of the Water Code that the department substitute "new facilities * * * at least equal in usefulness" means that the department must construct a better facility in place of the existing property Since the Water Code makes no mention of payment by the owners of the relocated facility for any increased value derived by them from the construction of a new facility, some added value would be received It was the committee's objective to determine whether such added value or betterment had occurred at Oroville and to evaluate the nature and extent of any such betterment This approach was adopted on the premise that the courts would probably fix the value of the existing facility at the actual cost of relocating the facility, if the department should be authorized, as an alternative, to condemn the property

Your committee requested the Auditor General to make a partial audit of the expenditures by the Department of Water Resources for relocation work at Oroville It also contracted with International Engineering Company, Incorporated, of San Francisco to determine the fair market value of the existing railroad facility, which is the major property to be relocated by the department, and to identify any capital betterments by comparing the existing railroad facilities with the new facilities being constructed by the department

A hearing was held on December 7, 1960 in the Capitol Building at which the above two reports were presented Exhibit A and Statement 1, prepared by the Auditor General and attached to this letter, show the estimated cost of all relocation work at Oroville to be $106,435,953 of which amount the Western Pacific relocation is estimated to cost $43,672,459 The Auditor General found that, pursuant to law, the State was bearing the full cost of relocating the Western Pacific facilities without any reimbursement for betterments received by the railway The audit also disclosed that incomplete or vague specifications or haste in contracting for the construction of tunnels resulted in construction contract change orders which tended to nullify the benefits normally achieved through the competitive bidding process, that the Department of Water Resources does not plan to audit the records of the Western Pacific Railroad to verify the charges being billed by the railroad to the department, and, finally, that the existing provisions of the Water Code will result in more problems when the relocation of the Big Bend Power Plant and the Feather River Railway are undertaken

The report from International Engineering indicated that the fair market value of the existing Western Pacific facilities being relocated is $14,690,000 based on current costs of reproducing the facility in its present location International Engineering assumed the fair market value of the facility in its new location to be the cost of the new facility, or $47,635,000 (including interest during construction) International Engineering pointed out that the cost of the tunnels and bridges on the new line is $30,500,000 compared to $2,500,000 for the existing line, and that the high cost of the new line is mainly due to the increased trackage in tunnels or on bridges Since the existing alignment is the cheapest to construct, and was originally chosen for that reason, it follows that any new line in more difficult terrain would be more expensive to construct

The report by International Engineering did identify capital betterments in the amount of $888,000 which the Western Pacific Railroad is receiving at no cost pursuant to existing sections of the Water Code Certain intangible benefits were identified which could not readily be given a dollar value and other minor betterments were found In general, International Engineering testified that the Western Pacific Railroad maintains high engineering standards in the construction and maintenance of its own facilities and that the State has matched or exceeded these standards in constructing the new facility

The new facility is four miles shorter, has less curvature and larger radius of curves than the existing line There is room to speculate whether the State could have constructed the new line in a manner which would have been equally as useful to the railroad as its existing line, but which would have cost the State less money, by decreasing the trackage in tunnels and on bridges International Engineering testified that the answer to this question could be obtained only by a major detailed study of the engineering of the new line

No agreement has yet been negotiated between the railroad and the department for maintenance of the expensive, double-deck West Branch Bridge International Engineering indicated that the cost of maintaining the new roadbed may be considerably less than the maintenance costs of the existing roadbed The Department of Water Resources should insist that any savings in roadbed maintenance should be credited against any increases in maintenance, as provided by law, even though these matters are not clearly defined in the basic relocation agreement between the department and the railroad

The testimony presented to the committee clearly indicates that the cost of the new line is greatly in excess of the cost of rebuilding the existing line This increased cost of approximately $30,000,000 represents an investment that the railroad probably cannot realize through either sale of the property or increased earnings The new facility will be a fine engineering achievement but it will be of little additional use to the railroad in moving freight and passengers from Salt Lake City to Oakland It certainly cannot be justified by its earning capacity to the railroad since the testimony from International Engineering indicates that except for maintenance of roadbed the new bridges and other facilities will be more expensive to maintain than the old There is no evidence that the railroad has received added value except for the betterments identified by International Engineering and it is questionable whether the State has benefited in proportion to the very high cost of the Western Pacific relocation

Your committee concluded from the experience to date under the existing sections of the Water Code and the probability of further unsatisfactory experiences if future relocations are made under the existing law, that the law should be amended The committee is working on a draft of a bill which will (1) require the State to relocate facilities by substituting facilities of equal usefulness rather than new facilities of at least equal usefulness, (2) require that credits for betterments and salvage value be received by the State, (3) require the Public Utilities Commission to review all agreements made by the Department of Water Resources with common carriers and utilities for major relocations before they become effective and (4) provide for lump sum payment for existing facilities where relocation is neither necessary nor realistic

Even though the Legislature should amend the law as outlined above, this will not completely solve the problem. The committee received no evidence that wrongful or illegal acts had been committed in any of the relocation undertakings, indeed, the events which have occurred have either been permitted or required by law However, the testimony contained a strong undertone that in the haste to start construction, in the enthusiasm to engineer and build well, and in the reluctance of the control and review agencies of the State to use their authority, the relocation work was undertaken without assurance that it would be completed at the least possible cost Assurance that the most economical engineering plan is adopted and that the State receives full value for its expenditures in the administration of any relocation is not subject to legislation but requires continued vigilance on the part of the Department of Water Resources and the control agencies in state government which are set up to protect the public interest

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL—REPORT ON DAVIS-GRUNSKY ACT

CALIFORNIA LEGISLATURE

SUBJECT DAVIS-GRUNSKY ACT

GENTLEMEN: House Resolution No 62, 1960 Budget Session, directed a study of the "regulations and policies adopted (by the Department of Water Resources) to implement the program of loans and grants to local agencies for water development, storage and distribution projects, with respect to procedures, priorities, and other pertinent matters" This study was assigned to the Assembly Interim Committee on Water

On June 23 and 24, 1960, the Senate Fact Finding Committee on Water held a hearing in Sacramento at which many of the problems related to the administration of the Davis-Grunsky Act were explored Copies of the transcript of that hearing were made available to the members of the Assembly Interim Committee on Water and material from the Senate committee's transcript has been considered in the preparation of this report.

The Davis-Grunsky Act, commencing at Section 12880 of the Water Code, authorizes the Department of Water Resources to provide financial assistance to local projects in the form of grants up to $300,000 for enhancement of fish and wildlife and recreational functions of statewide interest and loans up to $4,000,000 for projects with domestic, municipal, agricultural or industrial purposes. Loans can be made only for that portion of the project cost which the department finds to be beyond the reasonable ability of the local agency to finance from other sources Larger loans and grants may be made only by the Legislature

Section 12880 of the Davis-Grunsky Act defines eligible projects as "any construction or improvement by a public agency for the diversion, storage or distribution of water primarily for domestic, municipal, agricultural, industrial, flood control or power production purposes" This language declares the distribution of water to be a purpose for which a loan may be granted However, the Davis-Grunsky Act was also included in the comprehensive water program financed by the $1,750,000,000 water bond issue authorized by Senate Bill No 1106 and financial assistance to local projects was made one of the features of the state water facilities Originally the funding of the loans and grants was to come from the California Water Fund and an initial appropriation of $15,000,000 was made for that purpose It is now contended by various groups that when the Davis-Grunsky Act became part of the state water facilities and its funding was increased to $130,000,000 allocated from water bond proceeds, the Legislature intended that the money was to be used to aid in the construction of projects in Northern California

After the 1959 General Session, applications for loans and grants began to be received by the Department of Water Resources It soon became apparent that a large portion of the $130,000,000 might be used for distribution system loans for customers of the State's project and that if this happened the effect of the Davis-Grunsky Act would be very different from that contemplated when it was made part of the state water facilities It became clear that when the Legislature acted twice on the Davis-Grunsky Act it permitted an area of uncertainty and conflict of intent to arise The policy on distribution facilities stated in the Davis-Grunsky Act was not in accord with what is contended by various groups to have been the legislative intent when the act was made a part of the state water facilities

In this situation, the Department of Water Resources, which administers the loans and grants and the California Water Commission which must approve the loans and grants, established an administrative policy to guide them They determined that loans would be made for distribution facilities only when included in a project which also provided for storage and diversion works or in hardship cases. This departmental policy was intended to give priority to applications for loans in which the development of new water was involved and resulted in denying loans to local projects which were clearly eligible under the terms of Section 12880 of the Davis-Grunsky Act The question of the eligibility of distribution facilities for loans is the primary problem studied by the committee in the administration of the Davis-Grunsky Act and is exemplified by the application of the Palo Verde Irrigation District

The Palo Verde Irrigation District, located at Blythe, California, applied for a loan for distribution facilities which would permit the district to use its entitlement to Colorado River water on certain mesa lands which are not now being irrigated Their application for $3,500,000 loan was turned down by the Department of Water Resources because it was to be used exclusively for distribution facilities, that is, a pumping plant and canals Other questions such as economic or engineering feasibility were not involved in the department's denial of the application

A subcommittee of the Assembly Interim Committee on Water met in Blythe on October 5, 1960 to receive testimony from the Department of Water Resources and the Palo Verde Irrigation District on the disputed application At the hearing the department reiterated its policy

"that loans for distribution system projects will not be made except in cases which involve extreme hardship We would point out, however, that the policy does permit the inclusion of distribution facilities as a part of an overall water development project A project that develops new basic water supplies would result in an increase in the water supplies of the State that are now available for consumption on a dependable firm yield basis Consequently, such projects would normally include a storage reservoir to conserve and regulate water resources that are not now available for consumption on a dependable and timely basis The department considers hardship to be the burden suffered by the existing population of a community or district due to the present or impending inadequacy of its existing water system, to the extent that it cannot satisfy present water requirements considering quantity, quality, and delivery of water, thereby jeopardizing the public health, safety, or welfare.

"The foregoing policy was adopted with full recognition of the fact that distribution system projects are eligible projects under the Davis-Grunsky Act as it stands The basis for this policy is the apparent possibility that all of the funds available for the program, including the $130 million authorized by the Burns-Porter Act, could be expended on distribution system projects alone, without accomplishing any new development of the State's water resources whatsoever

"The policy in no way denies that real needs exist in many parts of the State for distribution projects It simply means that the California Water Commission and the department consider it unwise to embark on a program of loans for distribution systems of any and all types without further legislative study and statement of policy " (Transcript of October 5, 1960, pp 11-13 )

The committee requested an opinion from the Legislative Counsel to determine whether the department has the authority to adopt such a policy The Legislative Counsel concluded that the

> "adoption of such policy is lawful and permissible under the applicable statutory provisions * * * It might be noted that the policy established by the Legislature for the making of loans and grants under the Davis-Grunsky Act is expressly stated to be 'in furtherance of the development, control and conservation of the water resources of the State' We do not believe that it would be held to be an unreasonable interpretation of this legislative policy that, in view of the limited funds available for loans and grants, preference should be given to projects involving development of new water supplies" (Opinion No 5011)

From testimony developed at the committee's hearing it appears that the basis for deciding whether a project supplies new firm water is somewhat arbitrary In the case of the Palo Verde application, the loan is clearly for a distribution system However, the distribution system would be worthless without water conservation facilities to supply the water for distribution In the case of the Palo Verde application, these water conservation facilities were constructed upstream by the Bureau of Reclamation at the Boulder Dam many years ago and are as important to the Palo Verde distribution system as though they were being financed and constructed by a state loan The separation of conservation and distribution facilities by difference in time of construction, different constructing agencies and different methods of financing does not remove the hydrologic dependence of the distribution facilities upon the upstream conservation facilities. It appears discriminatory to differentiate between distribution facilities upon the basis of factors which are irrelevant to the integrated functioning of the water development and delivery system in its entirety Logically, if certain distribution facilities are not eligible for loans, then there is a question whether all distribution facilities should be ineligible for loans since they all serve identical functions in transporting water No distribution facilities regulate or conserve water to make a new firm yield available

Testimony from the Palo Verde Irrigation District indicated that the district lands now produce alfalfa hay and serve as feeding lots for a large amount of the beef which is shipped to the Southern California market The new lands on the mesa, which would be irrigated if the loan were approved, would provide opportunities for additional expansion of the feed lot operations Experience to date also indicates that this area would be excellent for citrus orchards In economic terms the committee found that the Palo Verde area is prosperous and that a loan made for mesa development could be more easily repaid than would be the case in many other areas of the State The mesa lands cannot finance the distribution facilities themselves because title to most of the lands is still held by the federal government The land cannot be pledged for security on a loan secured through normal financing because title to the lands cannot be secured by the entrymen until water is placed on the lands pursuant to the provisons of the federal Desert Lands Act

From testimony presented at the hearing and later information provided by the Department of Water Resources on the number and types of applications for loans made to date, three factors stand out. One is that it is still too early to be certain about the types and amounts of requests for loans which will be received by the department over the next two decades There is, as a result, no firm basis upon which to project the pattern of requests for loans and to judge accurately the nature and severity of any desirable restrictions or priorities which should be placed upon eligibility for loans The second factor is that a number of applications for distribution system loans in Northern and Central California have been made and, therefore, any restriction on loans to distribution facilities will be restrictive throughout the State The third factor is that a substantial percentage of the money being requested in loan applications is for distribution systems with or without conservation The stimulus from the Davis-Grunsky Act to the construction of dams and reservoirs per se may not be so great as was originally conceived when the legislation was passed

As a result of the committee's hearing in Blythe and its other review of the problems involved in the administration of the Davis-Grunsky Act, your committee concludes that clarification of policy with respect to distribution facilities is needed and that amendment of the law is a better method to make this clarification than administrative policy Your committee is working upon drafts of bills to be introduced in the 1961 General Session which will provide for such clarification

The Assembly Interim Committee on Revenue and Taxation has given consideration to all the bills or subjects referred to it Action has been taken by the committee in each matter on the basis of testimony offered to the committee at its public hearings, reports prepared by the Legislative Analyst at the committee's request, or both the testimony and the reports

The committee organized its program for the interim period at its first meeting on October 8, 1959, at Sacramento Meetings and public hearings were subsequently held as follows

January 13, 1960—Los Angeles
January 20 and 21, 1960—Sacramento
September 20, 1960—Los Angeles
November 28 and 29, 1960—San Francisco

Recommendations on the proposals considered by the committee are arranged in this report by the type of tax in question The proposals first to be discussed are those involving excise and license taxes, principally the cigarette tax and the sales and use taxes The discussion then proceeds to the proposals relating to the property tax and finally to those involving the income taxes

Excise and License Taxes

Cigarette Tax

The principal inquiry made by the committee prior to the 1960 Budget Session of the Legislature was whether the State should continue to collect the cigarette tax through the use of stamps and meter impressions or whether the tax should be collected through a reporting system similar to that employed for the sales tax and the alcoholic beverage taxes.

An extremely comprehensive report entitled "Reporting Versus Stamp Method of Cigarette Tax Administration With Particular Reference to California" prepared by the Legislative Analyst was of great assistance to the committee In addition to this report, the committee had the benefit of testimony offered by many individuals engaged in the business of the wholesale distribution of cigarettes

The Legislative Analyst took the position that a shift from the stamp to the reporting system of tax collection would not result in a loss of tax revenue due to bootlegging of cigarettes but would bring about a reduction of from $1,800,000 to $1,900,000 in the State's cost of administering the cigarette tax His conclusions were summarized in the report as follows:

"California can adopt the reporting method of administering cigarette taxes without a serious loss of tax revenues or legitimate profits to distributors and retailers provided

1 The State maintains an energetic and strict enforcement program, 2 Co-operation is provided by a majority of those in the cigarette industry, and 3 Penalties for violating the law are made sufficiently severe to take the profit out of bootlegging or tax evasion when violators are caught

"The Illinois cigarette tax scandal of 1950-51 demonstrated that no matter what type of enforcement method is used, serious tax evasion can exist if the tax administrator's office becomes inefficient or corrupt If California makes use of the resources that are available, there is no reason why the State cannot have an effective cigarette tax compliance program without the use of stamps California has gained experience and accumulated records in its long history of retail sales tax administration that will be valuable in this new endeavor This sales tax is administered by the reporting method Also, the State has had almost 20 years experience in administering alcoholic beverage taxes under the reporting method Discounts are not granted the taxpayers for collecting either of these taxes In fact, except for the cigarette tax as currently administered, California has maintained a consistent policy of not granting discounts to taxpayers for collecting state taxes

"The State's geography is another asset Less than 7 percent of California's population resides in counties that border other states Even this figure is inflated since most of the population of San Bernardino and Riverside counties, which approximates 5 percent of the State's total, lives a considerable distance from the border Conversely, more than 75 percent of the State's population is located in the coastal metropolitan areas, all of which are far removed from sources of tax-free cigarettes This situation is in direct contrast to that of other states where bootlegging of cigarettes has been discovered

"California's interstate roads are guarded by a variety of law enforcement officials, including agricultural products inspectors, weight inspectors, and the California Highway Patrol, each of whom constitutes an immediate resource for the detection of bootlegging

"Cigarette distributors in California are a closely knit fraternity Their number is small and a few dominate total sales Trade practices are common knowledge and manufacturer's prices are the same to all distributors regardless of the volume of their purchases Ninety-nine percent of the cigarettes sold in California are distributed through 13 public warehouses The wholesale markup is fairly uniform and retail cigarette prices are generally competitive geographically Under these conditions, trade secrets are almost nonexistent From his own operations, the distributor has a keen insight into the operations of his competitors If California can receive the co-operation of a majority of the members of the cigarette industry—manufacturers, distributors and retailers—then significant bootlegging and tax evasion can easily be detected

"The profit potential of a bootlegger is rather modest considering the difficulties in distributing illegal cigarettes, the expense and especially the risks Legitimate distributors rely upon a large and consistent volume to stay in business Attempts by the bootlegger to obtain volume operations increases the chance of detection and results in more people sharing his profits

"If bootlegging is a felony and the law provides for the confiscation of the cigarettes, the State can cripple any bootlegging operation by seizing as little as 10 percent of the illegal shipments. The $3,000 profit on a shipment of 400 cases is not very large if the bootlegger loses his $43,000 investment in the cigarettes (see Table 29), has to pay expensive legal fees in trying to keep his drivers out of jail, and, in addition, is subject to a heavy fine.

"Finally, the increase over the past few years in vending machine sales, with their three to four cent a pack higher price, is a strong indication that customer convenience is more important than price, a factor that works to the obvious disadvantage of prospective bootleggers."

Most of the witnesses associated with wholesale tobacco firms urged retention of the stamp system. They contended that the stamps were essential to the prevention of extensive cigarette bootlegging operations and that stamps, accordingly, would minimize the loss of tax revenues and the loss of business revenues due to untaxed sales of cigarettes.

The witnesses associated with wholesale grocery firms, on the other hand, strongly recommend the elimination of stamps and the use of the reporting system. They did not believe that stamps were necessary for effective enforcement of the tax. It was contended also that the stamps were extremely injurious and discriminatory to small businesses that were compelled to affix the stamps by hand; that the use of the stamp system greatly increased both the administrative costs of the State and the tax compliance costs of cigarette wholesalers.

A majority of the members of the committee concluded that the substitution of the reporting system for the stamp system would not impair the effective administration of the tax, would lessen the discrimination in favor of large wholesalers and against small wholesalers as respects tax compliance costs and would substantially reduce the State's administrative costs. A bill to effect the substitution was adopted by the Assembly at the 1960 Budget Session but failed to receive Senate approval. A majority of the members of the committee remain of the view that this change in the administration of the cigarette tax is desirable.

Sales and Use Taxes

The committee considered Assembly Bill No. 626 of the 1959 Regular Session exempting from the use tax a motor vehicle purchased outside this State by a nonresident if a sales or use tax was paid with respect to the vehicle in another state. The exemption would apply even though the vehicle was purchased for use in this State and its purchaser became a California resident shortly after the date of purchase. In the course of the discussion on the bill it was pointed out that:

(1) complete exemption was granted from the State 3 percent tax and a local 1 percent tax even though only a 1 percent sales or use tax was paid in another state,

(2) exemption was accorded only to motor vehicles although other tangible personal property was subject to the California use tax despite the payment with respect thereto of a sales or use tax in another state, and

(3) the exemption would result in a loss of approximately $750,000 in General Fund revenue during the first year and $1,000,000 a year thereafter and a loss of local revenue of about one-third the state loss

In the light of these considerations, the committee recommends against favorable action on Assembly Bill No 626

Assembly Bill No 2130 of the 1959 Regular Session proposed the exemption from the use tax of a work of art if the purchaser thereof files a certificate with the State Board of Equalization stating that he will make the work of art available for public exhibition for three months of each 12-month period for five years after the work of art is first stored or used in the State and if the purchaser makes the work of art available in conformity with the certificate The committee is of the opinion that the bill does not set forth adequate safeguards limiting the exemption to situations wherein the public exhibition factor is sufficiently assured to warrant a departure as a matter of public policy from the basic principle of taxation of the use of privately-owned property purchased outside California It does not clearly appear from the bill, for example, that actual public exhibition is essential to exemption An unaccepted offer to any qualified gallery may meet the requirement of making the work of art available for public exhibition The committee recommends, accordingly, against favorable action on Assembly Bill No 2130

The committee similarly recommends against favorable action on Assembly Bill No 2333 of the 1959 Regular Session granting a retailer a 3 percent discount on his sales and use taxes if paid within the period required by the tax law The Legislative Analyst advised the committee that, on the basis of the estimate of the Department of Finance that self-assessed sales and use taxes will yield $753 million in 1960-61, the allowance of the 3 percent discount would result in a revenue loss to the State of approximately $22 5 million a year and to cities and counties from local sales of use taxes of about $7 5 million a year It was also pointed out to the committee that discounts have not been granted to those reporting and paying other self-assessed taxes, such as those imposed with respect to alcoholic beverages and motor vehicle fuel The cigarette tax, as to which a discount has been allowed, does not involve a comparable situation inasmuch as there is imposed upon the dealers paying the tax the task of affixing stamps or making meter impressions upon each package of cigarettes sold by them

Assembly Bill No 2681 of the 1959 Regular Session proposed that the State Board of Equalization prepare and issue a mathematically correct sales tax collection schedule showing the amount of tax reimbursement to be collected by a retailer from a consumer at both 3 percent and 4 percent tax rates on sales prices from one cent to one hundred dollars and that retailers be required to use that schedule in computing the amount of tax reimbursement Members of the committee questioned whether the tax reimbursement schedules prescribed by retailers or trade associations and currently used in collecting sales tax reimbursement worked out fairly to the retailers, the purchasers and the State The committee concluded, however, that it did not have before it sufficient information to warrant any action on the merits of the proposal at this time The committee recommends, accordingly, that the 1961 Session of the Legislature, and particularly the Assembly Revenue and Taxation Committee thereof, give further study to the subject matter of Assembly Bill No 2681

Motor Vehicle Fuel Taxes

The Motor Vehicle Fuel License Tax Law exempts from the tax fuel sold to the United States Armed Forces for use in ships or aircraft or for use outside this State Assembly Bill No 2530 of the 1959 Regular Session proposes the removal of the exemption of fuel sold to the Armed Forces for use outside this State and the addition to the refund section of the Law of a provision whereby the Armed Forces could obtain a refund of tax on motor vehicle fuel exported from the State for use in a state wherein an applicable fuel tax would be paid or wherein the fuel would be exempt from tax if purchased there Mr H D Abbott, Highway Tax Administrator of the State Board of Equalization, pointed out that the present exemption provision relieves the fuel from taxation by any state inasmuch as existing federal law does not authorize a tax on the use of the fuel by the Armed Forces in the state of destination He stated that the proposal was recommended by the highway tax administrators of a number of western states as a means of assuring that motor vehicle fuel used on public highways by the Armed Forces is subjected to tax in some state The committee recommends that the subject of Assembly Bill No 2530 receive favorable consideration at the 1961 Session of the Legislature

Assembly Bill No 2577 of the 1959 Regular Session would authorize a county board of supervisors to impose a tax of not to exceed one cent a gallon on the privilege of selling motor vehicle fuel at retail within the county, the tax to be collected by the State Board of Equalization under a contract with the county It was noted by members of the committee that the county tax could not be collected by the board along with the state motor vehicle fuel tax, as in the case of local sales and use taxes, due to differences in the application of the state fuel tax and the proposed county tax Such differences include the imposition of the county tax on retailers of motor vehicle fuel whereas the state tax is collected almost entirely from producers or wholesale distributors of the fuel and the absence from the county tax proposal of the exemption and refund provisions of the state tax law The committee believes, accordingly, that the bill is not practicable in its present form but recommends that the method of this bill, i e , a tax imposed by a county board of supervisors and collected by the State, be employed if the counties seek to impose a one cent motor vehicle fuel tax

Property Tax

Assemblyman Gaffney appeared before the committee to urge favorable consideration of Assembly Constitutional Amendment No 48 of the 1959 Regular Session This amendment would grant a real property tax exemption of not exceeding $1,000 in assessed valuation to blind residents of California who are citizens of the United States and who do not own real property of the assessed value of $5,000 or more Mr Gaffney and Mr. William Peck, Secretary of the California Blind Concessionnaires Association, urged favorable consideration of this measure They stated that property tax exemptions are granted to blind persons in at least 10 other states and cited the disadvantageous situation of the blind person as respects the earning of income and expenses of living or maintenance

The committee recommends that the exemption be allowed only on the real property of a blind person who supports himself, or, if married, his spouse and himself, that the exemption be limited to the real property comprising the residence of the blind person, and that the $5,000 property limitation provision of the amendment be expressed in terms of the total appraised value of both the real and personal property of the blind person and his spouse The committee deferred action on the proposal to afford Mr Gaffney an opportunity to revise the Constitutional Amendment for presentation before the 1961 Session of the Legislature

The committee considered Assembly Bill No 390 of the 1959 Regular Session, exempting from tax household furniture up to the amount of $500, and Assembly Bill No 2537 of that Session providing that "growing crops" which are exempt from property taxation include any tree, shrub, vine, bulb or other growing plant which has not been severed from the soil and which is held for a period of not more than two years, or not more than one year from the date of planting in a container as growing nursery stock for sale and transplanting The committee recommends against favorable action on these exemption bills at this time in view of the current financial problems confronting the local political subdivisions relying on property tax revenues and the fact that each additional tax exemption not only decreases the tax base but leads inevitably to other exemptions

A proposal for the gradual elimination from property taxation of personal property and of improvements to real property, set forth in Assembly Constitutional Amendment No 56 and Assembly Bill No 2866 of the 1959 Regular Session, was presented for the committee's consideration by Assemblyman Kilpatrick Mr Kilpatrick introduced a number of individuals who described the experience of other states and foreign countries which had eliminated from the property tax base all or some portion of personal property and improvements to real property It was the position of these witnesses that the encouragement offered to the production of personal property and improvements through the elimination of a tax burden thereon gave rise to such an increase in business activity as to result in an increase in tax collections from other sources in excess of the revenue loss from the exemption of the personal property and improvements Inasmuch as Mr Kilpatrick desired to make an additional presentation in support of these proposals, the matters were set for further hearing before the Revenue and Taxation Committee on January 10 and 11, 1961

Representatives of the County of Los Angeles appeared before the committee in support of the application of a tax on possessory interests in personal property Representatives of business interests in

Southern California appeared in opposition to the proposal A majority of the committee members present were of the opinion that the application of the tax to the possessory interests would seriously jeopardize the award of governmental defense contracts to California manufacturers and, accordingly, adversely affect the economy of the State A motion that the committee recommend to the 1961 Session of the Legislature that favorable consideration be given to a bill following the general lines of Assembly Bill No 487 of the 1959 Regular Session failed of passage

The committee on two occasions considered Assembly Constitutional Amendment No 52 relating to the use by a county of Tax Appeal Boards in place of the County Board of Supervisors sitting as a County Board of Equalization Assemblyman Wilson and representatives of the Los Angeles County Counsel's office appeared in support of the proposal They contended that the number of protests against assessments filed by property owners in Los Angeles County makes it impossible to allow adequate time to each protestant to present his position within the period provided by law, for the conduct of the equalization function Witnesses appearing in opposition to the proposal urged that the Tax Appeal Boards were unnecessary even in Los Angeles County and that the use of two or more Tax Appeal Boards were unnecessary even in Los Angeles County and that the use of two or more Tax Appeal Boards in a county would result in loss of the uniformity of decision required in the conduct of the equalization function in a county

A subcommittee, composed of Messrs Wilson, chairman, Lanterman and Bradley, was appointed to study the subject The subcommittee reported that it favored the conferring of authority on a county board of supervisors to adopt the tax appeal boards system and offered a revised draft of a proposed constitutional amendment and bill on the matter Mr Wilson agreed to make certain additional revisions deemed advisable by the committee and upon this basis the committee recommends that the 1961 Session of the Legislature adopt the subject matter of Assembly Constitutional Amendment No 52 and enabling legislation

Income Taxes

A public hearing was held by the committee on the question whether a system should be instituted for the current payment of the personal income tax through tax withholding by employers from employees or by installment payments of estimated income tax or by both methods Ralph Currie of the Department of Finance summarized a study of tax withholding procedures recently made by the department He referred to the tax withholding practices of the federal government and several states and stated that it would not be feasible for California to extend withholding to sources of income other than wages and salaries despite the fact that studies indicate that a far greater proportion of dividends and interest escape taxation than in the case of salaries and wages

Mr Currie stated that California's experience is believed to compare very favorably with that of the federal government regarding taxpayer compliance and referred to the arrangement of the Franchise Tax Board with the Internal Revenue Service for access to the information on federal tax returns and federal audits He pointed out that while state revenues would be increased by placing taxpayers on a current basis, additional administrative costs would be incurred by the State and additional compliance costs incurred by employers Although the committee took no position concerning the suggestion that the State institute a plan for quarterly payments of estimated tax, it recommends against the enactment by the 1961 Session of the Legislature of a withholding method of collecting the California personal income tax.

Mr. Currie stated that inasmuch as only about 20 percent of the 1959 California tax returns show tax liabilities of more than $50 but these returns account for 80 percent of the total personal income tax revenue, the advantages of a current payment plan could be largely obtained through the use merely of tax declarations and quarterly payments of estimated tax The use of the estimated tax procedure would involve a considerably lesser number of taxpayers, the expense both to the State and to the taxpayers would be far less, and the revenue effect would be substantially the same as that which would result from a withholding system

Opposition to the withholding of the personal income tax was expressed by Alan Cranston State Controller and Chairman of the Franchise Tax Board Mr Cranston stressed the highly effective enforcement procedures now employed by the board, the heavy compliance costs the plan would impose on employers, the probable necessity of at least some forgiveness to avoid a double collection of taxes in a single year, the withholding of tax from many individuals from whom no tax was due and the necessity of refunding such amounts withheld, and the additional costs to the State of administering the withholding system

The imposition of a withholding system was also opposed by Burt Leiper of the California Taxpayers Association and Ruth Church Gupta of the San Francisco Council of District Merchants Associations

Members of the committee expressed general agreement with the views of the witnesses opposing tax withholding The revenue increase would be due to a windfall of $129,000,000 arising chiefly from the doubling up of tax payments during the transition year, if there were no tax forgiveness, and advance payments of approximately $15,000,000 each year thereafter

PRELIMINARY REPORT TO THE LEGISLATURE ON THE STUDY AND INVESTIGATION OF SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 75 RELATING TO FIRE EXTINGUISHERS, APPLIANCES AND DEVICES.

Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 75—Relative to fire extinguishers and appliances and devices for extinguishing fires

WHEREAS, The effectiveness of fire extinguishers and appliances and devices for extinguishing fires is entirely dependent upon proper servicing and recharging to insure that they will function properly when needed; and

WHEREAS, The ever-increasing types, kinds, and sizes of fire extinguishers and appliances and devices for extinguishing fires make it necessary that their capacity and effectiveness on various types of fires be determined, and information thereon disseminated to the fire service and other interested persons, now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, the Assembly thereof concurring, That the Legislature requests that the State Fire Marshal and the State Fire Advisory Board make a complete study of this problem, and submit to the Legislature, not later than the fifth calendar day of the 1961 Regular Session, a report on their findings, together with proposed legislation to effectively control the sale, distribution, use and the servicing and recharging of fire extinguishers and appliances and devices for extinguishing fires, and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate is hereby directed to transmit a suitable copy of this resolution to the State Fire Marshal and to each member of the State Fire Advisory Board

Introduction

Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 75 brought out that the effectiveness of fire extinguishers, appliances and devices for extinguishing fires is entirely dependent upon proper servicing and recharging to insure that they will function properly when needed. The ever-increasing types, kinds and sizes of fire extinguishers and appliances and devices for extinguishing fires, make it necessary that their capacity and effectiveness on various types of fire be determined.

It should be understood that portable type fire extinguishers are designed to cope with fires in their incipiency and are considered necessary even though the property is equipped with automatic sprinklers or wet stand pipes with hose racks. While the methods of operation for the various types of appliances are generally apparent from their very nature and are indicated prominently on each extinguisher, the process of recharging and servicing the various types of fire extinguishers is directly related to the effectiveness of the extinguisher when it is needed. It is extremely important that the person doing the recharging and servicing of fire equipment possess sufficient integrity as is possible to determine.

Sales-Servicing and Recharging

There are three rather clearly defined types of individuals and concerns which are active in reservicing, charging and distributing fire extinguishers in California:

1. The largest category in the fire extinguisher business is those concerns which sell fire extinguishers. No exact figure on the number of these firms is available, however, a conservative estimate would place the figure at round 1,500 business houses which sell some type of fire extinguisher.
2. The next category would include those persons who do only the recharging and servicing of fire equipment. In this category we find that there are approximately 150 to 200 concerns throughout the State of California. These people go from one occupancy to another and do only the recharging and simple servicing which can be completed on the premises.
3. There are approximately 40 to 50 large dealers in California who operate establishments which can provide all of the necessary functions for recharging, servicing and testing of fire extinguishers. These dealers are equipped to provide hydrostatic testing of fire extinguishers. This operation requires special equipment and the work must be done by persons who are qualified to test, recharge and service pressure vessels as well as other types of units.

Advisory Group

In the planning stages of this study and investigation it was determined that the desired results could best be achieved through meetings with special advisory groups. These groups were composed of representatives from the Fire Extinguisher Appliances and Devices Industry, Fire Departments, and other organized fire groups, from private industry, officials from various governmental agencies and other organizations having official or special interest in the subject. Organizations which were represented are as follows:

1. Fire Protection Association of California, Inc.
2. California Fire Chiefs Association.
3. Southern California Fire Marshal's and Fire Inspector's Association.
4. Northern California Fire Marshal's and Fire Inspector's Association.

5 California Rural Firemen's Association
6 California State Firemen's Association, Inc.
7 State Division of Forestry
8 California Fire Safety Association
9 Fire Advisory Board to the Fire Marshal
10 Private Industry
11 Government

Assistance Groups

Legislative Counsel Ralph N Kleps represented by Mr Stanley Lourimore.
Attorney General's Office
Departmental coordinator George Y Evans, Senior Deputy, State Fire Marshal's Office, Sacramento

Acknowledgments

The successful prosecution of the study and investigation of Senate Concurrent Resolution No 75 and the preparation of the proposed legislation and of this preliminary report was due in no small measure to the efforts of a considerable number of persons, without whose assistance and guidance the study would have been much more difficult and the results less thorough

It is with a high degree of appreciation that the State Fire Marshal thanks all members and persons who participated in this particular study All of the persons involved in this study willingly gave their time Because of their assistance and co-operation the fire extinguisher, appliances, and devices business present and future will benefit by the results accruing from this study.

The gratitude of the Fire Marshal is also expressed to the legislative council and to the Attorney General's office and to the members of their staffs for their co-operation and assistance in this study

Appreciation is also expressed to the fire departments which so willingly gave of their quarters or arranged for public meeting places

How the Study Was Conducted

The study, under the chairmanship of the State Fire Marshal held 8 meetings Three at Sacramento, one each at Los Angeles, San Francisco, Eureka, Redding and Fresno

The subject material for these meetings was obtained through separate research and by special conferences and contracts with individuals and groups representing the Fire Extinguisher and Fire Appliance Concerns

Meetings were open to the public

From this study and investigation it was readily evident that proposed Senate Concurrent Resolution No 75, relating to Fire Extinguishers, Appliances and Devices should be incorporated into a new law

Findings

1 In general, the results of the meetings indicated that there is a necessity for this type of legislation and is actually desired by most of the persons in the fire extinguisher and appliance industry
2 That a licensing and examination program should be established by legislation and regulation
3 It was agreed that a fee should be instituted on a basis which will be determined by the State Fire Marshal, after the study has been completed
4 Liability insurance should be required in the regulations and standards
5 A certificate of fitness should be incorporated into the regulation for the servicing, recharging and sale of fire extinguishers 6 Registration numbers should be assigned to each of the dealers, service men, and salesmen of each Fire Extinguisher, Appliance, and Device concern similar to the system now in use for flame proofing concerns.
7 That a copy of the license should be mailed to the chief in the area in which the dealer, serviceman, or salesman is to operate
8 That the recharging tags should bear the dealer's or serviceman's registration number for immediate identification
9 That all fire extinguishers should be hydrostatically tested in accordance with NRFU Pamphlet No 10, dated July, 1959
10 Violations of any portion of this proposed statute should be a misdemeanor as defined in Section 13112
11 "Approved" means to be approved by the State Fire Marshal
12 One very serious problem in the fire protection industry is the sale and use of surplus fire extinguishing equipment In many instances, the equipment is modified or adapted for some purpose for which it was not originally intended, thus becoming a potential hazard to persons and property The regulations should include the solution to this problem 13 Qualified firemen employed by regularly organized fire departments and fire districts should be licensed on a fee exempt basis unless they are charging for their services.

14 Privately operated industrial and commercial businesses and organizations may service and recharge fire extinguishers, appliances and devices for use in their own immediate plants provided that personnel performing such service are qualified and registered with the State Fire Marshal

15 There are cases on record which indicate that servicemen have not correctly serviced fire extinguishers, thereby creating the extinguisher inoperative or dangerous when needed We list case histories which are typical of this problem

(a) June 14, 1960, violation of improperly serviced fire extinguishers—Covina Masonic Home for Children Extinguishers were filled with an improper solution Municipal Judge imposed fine of $52 50

(b) February 25, 1952, Hornkohl Laboratories, Bakersfield, California Five (5) extinguishers and in each case acid was permitted to deteriorate Gaskets were not changed

(c) March 20, 1957, The People of the State of California vs Claude Allison, Case No 7703 Judgment—execution of sentence suspended Defendant placed on three (3) years probation with three restrictions

(d) Rupturing of water pressure cartridge fire extinguisher cap 4-60 in San Francisco (San Francisco—Charles Neal)

(e) March 1, 1960, Chicago's American Two firemen face extinguisher quiz

(f) March 1, 1960, Chicago's American Fire extinguisher racket flares in Chicago.

Conclusions

1 At the present time there are no legal means to protect the public against unscrupulous and uninformed purveyors of substandard and dangerous fire equipment The general public has been abused by "fly-by-night" operators who will move into a territory and attempt to quickly sell a substandard piece of equipment, then move out of the district, leaving the public with inferior, dangerous or ineffective piece of merchandise

This study indicated that means should be provided for correcting some of the weaknesses of inequities now present in the fire appliance and extinguisher activities in California

2 The consensus of the participants during this study showed that legislation should be enacted to effectively control the distribution, use, servicing and recharging of fire extinguishers and appliances and devices for extinguishing fires

Recommendations

1. It is the principal emphasis and recommendation of this report that the proposed legislation Appendix A be enacted into law

DEAR MR BROWN In response to Senate Concurrent Resolution No 7, relative to the inclusion of Fort Bidwell in the State Park System, I submit the attached report A copy has also been submitted to the President of the State Senate

This report is an analysis of the feasibility of establishing a State Historic Monument at Fort Bidwell, Modoc County, prepared by the Division of Beaches and Parks I concur with the division's recommendation that Fort Bidwell not be considered as a State Historic Monument because of the high cost of reconstruction, the difficulties of acquisition, its remote geographic location, and poor access from popular routes of travel

REPORT ORDERED PRINTED IN JOURNAL

The following letter of transmittal and report were presented by the Speaker, and ordered printed in the Journal·

CALIFORNIA LEGISLATURE
JOINT LEGISLATIVE BUDGET COMMITTEE

Hon Ralph Brown
State Capitol, Sacramento

DEAR ASSEMBLYMAN BROWN· There is transmitted herewith a report requested of the Director of Finance and Legislative Analyst by House Resolution No 16 of the 1960 Session of the California Assembly concerning the preparation of findings and recommendations on facility utilization standards for institutions of higher education

It was agreed by the Director of Finance and the Legislative Analyst that the comprehensive nature of the requested study required supplemental assistance, particularly with respect to the gathering of field information Accordingly, the Director of Finance with funds available to him contracted with Mr. H. R Wyllie for the preparation of an independent survey with recommended standards of utilization

Mr Wyllie's report, since it was made independently, has not been formally concurred in by either the Director of Finance or the Legislative Analyst. The report was rendered too late to serve as the basis for standards incorporated in the 1961 Budget. Additionally, the Legislative Analyst upon review of the outline of data proposed to be included in the study determined that he should on his own initiative secure more detailed supplemental information concerning the utilization of individual rooms in the state colleges and University Here, also, difficulties were encountered in accumulating the necessary data since the University was unable to provide such information and the state colleges, while able to furnish it, could not meet the time schedule set by the resolution

The standards recommended by the Wyllie report, plus such supplemental information as can be secured, will be referred to and used for analytical purposes in the Analysis of the Budget as prepared by the Legislative Analyst and will be reviewed by the Department of Finance in connection with hearings on capital outlay items in the Budget Bill by the Assembly Ways and Means Committee

We believe that these data and the recommended standards will be of great assistance to the Assembly and Senate in the consideration which is given to the capital outlay budget

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN E CARR, Director of Finance
A ALAN POST, Legislative Analyst

Letter of Transmittal

December 31, 1960

Mr John E Carr
Director of Finance
State Capitol, Sacramento

DEAR SIR: I submit, herewith, my report of the study requested of the Director of Finance and the Legislative Analyst by House Resolution No 16 of the 1960 Session of the California Assembly I enclose, also, a supplemental report concerning other factors related to the costs and quality of higher education in California In the interest of brevity and, I hope, clarity, a great mass of supporting detail and testimony has been excluded from this report but may be called for when needed

I have a deep personal interest in the problems involved and in greater efforts to raise the quality of public education I feel that in seeking solutions to fiscal and all other problems we should at all times be cognizant of the end product of the educational system; that is, educated people

During the course of this study I have become disturbed at the generally prevalent attitude that the State has a responsibility to cater to the desires of students and faculty members I have held the concept that the State's responsibility was limited to providing the means; that learning at the college level was largely the result of personal effort on the part of the student; and that luxury and convenience would neither ease the required effort of the student nor increase the quality of the education.

I would be delighted to be of further assistance to you

Sincerely yours,

H. R. WYLLIE

A REPORT WITH RECOMMENDATIONS ON FACILITY UTILIZATION STANDARDS FOR INSTITUTIONS OF HIGHER EDUCATION

Pursuant to the request contained in House Resolution No. 16, adopted unanimously by the California State Assembly on March 28, 1960, this report is respectfully submitted.

In addition to gathering, analyzing, and synthesizing the statistical data necessary to this report, I visited every campus to obtain an overview of the physical facilities and discussed the problems here involved with key administrators at each campus The results of these conferences have affected the judgment applied in the analysis of these statistics and the formulation of the recommendations.

Because of limited time and the tremendous volume of statistical data involved in a complete survey of this problem, this study has been necessarily limited to the more pertinent aspects of facility utilization The study area is limited to instructional facilities that can be described as Non-Lab (including classrooms, seminar rooms, lecture rooms, etc ) and Lab (including teaching labs, activity rooms and laboratories) The study excludes gymnasiums, music practice rooms, theaters, libraries, cafeterias, administration offices, etc The use of the instructional facilities only from 8 a m to 5 p m five days per week is considered, and the time distribution of scheduled classes and student station occupancy is the most pertinent factor in the study Room utilization rates are expressed in this report both as a percentage (scheduled classes -- rooms available) and as scheduled class hours per week of five 9-hour days Student station utilization rates are expressed as a percentage (student stations occupied — student stations available in rooms with scheduled classes only) These methods of expressing utilization are most generally used and need no interpretation when comparing rates, standards or goals of utilization with other studies of these and other institutions The fall semester of 1959 was chosen for the study as the latest period for which accurate figures were readily available

The State Colleges included in this study are Cal Poly (KV), Cal Poly (SLO), Chico, Fresno, Humboldt, Long Beach, Los Angeles, Sacramento, San Diego, San Francisco, and San Jose Alameda and Orange are in the stage of development where their statistics would not be significant The statistics from San Fernando are not available The University campuses included are Berkeley, Davis, U C L A., Riverside, and Santa Barbara. Other University installations and the Los Angeles and San Francisco Medical Schools were not included because their specialized nature would require a more specialized study

The primary objective of this study was to determine a reasonable but efficient standard of utilization of instructional facilities, to determine the actual rate of current utilization, and to determine how a better rate of use may be obtained

Table 1 shows an inventory of Non-Lab and Lab instructional rooms and student stations in the State Colleges and their actual use by hour of the day during the fall semester 1959

Table 3 lists the hours of best and poorest utilization for each campus studied, showing the hour and rate

It is clearly evident that a considerably higher enrollment could be accommodated in the same facilities by a higher use of Non-Lab rooms in the afternoon and a better distribution throughout the day of Lab room use However, given the same enrollment, no better rate of use would be obtained by forcing classes into afternoon schedules as long as rooms are available for use in the apparently more desirable morning hours

The rate of utilization is entirely dependent upon the relation between the number of enrolled students, and the number of rooms and student stations available With a given situation the scheduling of classes between rooms and hours of the day can have no real effect upon the rate of utilization except to juggle the relative use between rooms and student stations There will still be the same number of unused student stations, although they may be in fewer but larger rooms

This situation may be clarified by the following During the 1959 fall semester, the State Colleges had 824,722 enrolled student station hours to be assigned to an inventory of 2,263,410 student station hours (a ratio of 1 to 2 8), and the University had 647,384 enrolled student station hours to be assigned to an inventory of 2,477,520 student station hours (a ratio of 1 to 3 8) A good utilization rate would show a ratio of 1 to 2 0

Comparisons of rates of utilization between institutions, as shown in Table 4, have little significance unless the relation between enrollment and capacity is considered as well as room and class sizes, special equipment, building design, and other factors peculiar to a local situation. They do show, however, what is possible in a given situation. For instance in Table 4, College X shows a much higher rate of use than is recommended in this report A personal investigation of this University revealed that no special system or procedure produced these results; they merely have a high enrollment in relation to their capacity.

As long as we keep adding to the capacity of our educational institutions in anticipation of increased enrollments, our institutions cannot be expected to achieve a standard designed for a mature system whose expected enrollments may be realized in fact

Any realistic standard for current achievement during this period of dynamic growth would necessarily vary from year to year and from one institution to another. The recommended standards contained in this report are for a mature system

Table 5 shows a comparison of utilization standards or goals It is presented with no comment except that California should always have higher standards.

Table 6 shows a comparison of actual utilization rates which indicates that our current utilization rates are only slightly above the average of those shown. Comparisons such as this must be tempered by the fact that survey results may not be exactly comparable unless standard definitions, limitations, and conditions were met in all cases

Table 7 shows the projected enrollments for 1970 by Frisen compared with the actual 1959 enrollments and the possible enrollments in the 1959 facilities if utilization rates were actually attained

The difference between the actual utilization of facilities in the Fall Semester of 1959 and the possible utilization of the same facilities by the realization of standards recommended in this report amounts to 15,000 FTE in the State Colleges and 36,000 FTE in the University The extension of these FTE figures by present building costs per FTE of new facilities ($6,000 per FTE for State Colleges and $11,000 per FTE for the University) produces $90,000,000 for State Colleges and $396,000,000 for the University The capital outlay requirements for these institutions could be reduced by these amounts until the time when 8-5 FTE enrollments exceed 70,000 in the State Colleges and 80,000 in the University However, these figures do not take into consideration the construction of new facilities which actually replace old or temporary facilities

In establishing a standard of utilization or goal to be attained by our colleges and universities the object is to set the standard high enough to produce the greatest value for the tax dollar spent but low enough to be practically and reasonably attainable in the situation it assumes

This report recommends the adoption of the following completely practical standards

The difference between old and new buildings considers the more efficient design of newer classroom structures.

The difference between recommended standards for State Colleges and the University considers a greater proportion of graduate students and smaller classes at that level in the University As the proportion increases, further adjustment may be made.

These recommended standards being somewhat higher than current and other established standards will, when attained, obtain fuller value for the tax dollar

These recommended standards are reasonably attainable in a static growth situation College X, in Table 4, considerably exceeds this standard as mentioned previously The California college enrollment in 1959 did not exceed expectations; in many cases it fell short of expectations Hence there was no student pressure to force high utilization, and yet every single campus met or exceeded these standards for at least one hour of the day If these standards can be met for half a day, they can be met for a full day, provided enough students enroll who want a college education seriously enough to attend classes when they are offered These are the students for whom the State provides educational facilities.

In anticipation of the time when student enrollment will approach the capacity of our institutions and the class schedulers will be faced with the very difficult task of fitting 1, 2, 3, and 4 unit courses into a five-day week without loss of hours, I recommend that a committee of curricula administrators be directed to determine the feasibility of altering all course contents and credit hours to fit a five-day week, and to devise a means of accomplishing such a change

Five 3-unit courses cannot be fitted into a five-day week as efficiently as three 5-unit courses, but the class hours and course content in the same study area could be identical

With a predominance of 5-unit courses offered and with sufficient student pressure, the recommended standards of utilization can be easily exceeded by every institution.

Respectfully submitted,

H. R WYLLIE

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL

ASSEMBLY CHAMBER, STATE CAPITOL

Hon Ralph M Brown
Speaker of the Assembly
Members of the Assembly
Assembly Chamber, Sacramento

GENTLEMEN Pursuant to House Resolution No 326, 1959 Session of the California Legislature, your Assembly Interim Committee on Governmental Efficiency and Economy herewith submits its report covering its studies during the 1959-61 interim

For reasons of economy and greater efficiency this committee requested advance copies of all testimony, and limited hearings primarily to discussion based on such previously submitted testimony In addition to reducing costs, this enabled our committee members to study most of the testimony prior to the meeting and to prepare questions

This report summarizes our findings and recommendations Most exhibits, statements and research material are not reproduced in this report for reasons of economy and readability, but will be found included with the complete transcripts

Respectfully submitted,

LESTER A McMILLAN, Chairman

House Resolution No. 28

Relative to freeway development in the City of Sacramento

WHEREAS, The City of Sacramento was designated the State's capital city in 1854; and

WHEREAS, The City of Sacramento was the portal to the gold fields in the historic Gold Rush of 1849 and became the terminus of the legendary Pony Express and the first transcontinental railroad, and

WHEREAS, The State of California has a native and historic interest in the City of Sacramento as the capital city of the State of California, and

WHEREAS, Assemblymen, as direct representatives of the people of California, have a responsibility to the people to work with all groups, governmental and civic, to protect the California heritage existing in California's capital city, and

WHEREAS, The Governor of the State of California has expressed a most urgent concern in preserving the native integrity and history of Sacramento and its status as capital city; and

WHEREAS, The Assembly, although fully recognizing the autonomy of the City of Sacramento, is urgently concerned that state values involved in capital city planning be sympathetically considered, and

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That all city, county, state, and federal governmental agencies are urged to give freeway routing through the City of Sacramento the most searching analysis in order to preserve the treasured historical landmarks important to the State's history and to protect the architectural harmony of the Capitol group of buildings, and, be it further

Resolved, That all groups, city, county, state and federal, be cognizant of the intrinsic and treasured values, historical and aesthetic that are involved in planning freeways for the capital city and that the capital city deserves separate and individual consideration and planning, lest the capital's integrity be impinged, and, be it further

ADDRESS PRINTED IN JOURNAL

Pursuant to permission granted on another day, the following address by Dr Teller, delivered on January 11, 1961, is printed in the Journal

PRESENTATION OF DR. TELLER BY GOVERNOR EDMUND G. BROWN

Distinguished Members of the Legislature, As Governor of California, I can think of no more important business for us in the years immediately ahead than, first, to make certain that our State and nation are worthy of survival, and by that I mean solving our problems, raising our living standards, educating our children—all the matters that you will so diligently consider in these Legislative Chambers And, secondly, that we make certain that this State and nation do survive in the event of nuclear disaster The new administration in Washington is pledged to work for peace Part of that work is the protection of our men, women, and children in the event that we fail.

While the federal government must eventually assume leadership and financial responsibility for this urgent problem, there are steps that the State of California can take to protect its citizens It is with this strong feeling of state responsibility that I suggested to the new Director of the California Disaster Council that two briefing sessions be held to provide us with the background information necessary to determine California's role in national defense Mr Jonas chose from among the most outstanding scientists our State has produced, two world-famous scientists—Mr Herman Kahn, of the Rand Corporation, who will be here on Thursday, the 26th of January, and Dr Edward Teller, who will give us his message this morning

Dr. Teller, whose portrait, incidentally, graced the cover of last week's Time Magazine, has often been called the "father of the H-bomb" It's a phrase that he abhors, not because he wishes to cast suspicion upon the legitimacy of this extraordinary infant, but rather because he considers his contribution to it was only one of many by many great scientists. Born in Budapest, Hungary, in 1908 and educated in the universities of Germany, he was forced to flee the advancing threat of Nazism In this country, he enjoyed the protective freedom of scientific inquiry while watching his homeland succumb first to Hitler's tyranny and then to the Russians He has always been an outspoken foe of both.

He has made important contributions in the field of chemical physics, nuclear physics and the quantum theory He was a pioneer in studies of nuclear reaction Until July of last year he was director of the Lawrence Radiation Laboratory, University of California, Livermore, and is now Professor of Physics at Large for the University He is a member of the National Academy of Sciences, a fellow of the American Nuclear Society and served with distinction on the General Advisory Committee of the Atomic Energy Commission Knowing the doctor's busy schedule, and let me just say this, when you get through if it pleases the members of this body, he will be happy, for a period of

5 to 10 minutes, to answer any questions As a matter of fact, he would invite it if you have time to listen after he gets through But, speaking from one end of the country—and he has spoken from one end of the country to the other—we feel especially grateful that he found the time to be with us this morning Dr Edward Teller

ADDRESS BY DR. EDWARD TELLER

Thank you very much for your most gracious and wonderful words, Governor Brown Members of the Legislature, guests I have read a book, which some of you may have read, and it is a dreadful book Its title is "On the Beach" by Neville Shute It is a dreadful book, and it is also a wonderful book And it is dreadful because it is wonderful It describes the lives—the last month of a few people in Southern Australia—the lives of people, of wonderful people, who are the last survivors in a worldwide disaster Their atmosphere has been poisoned The book is wonderful because it describes the feelings, the actions, of a remarkable group of people who will have the deepest sympathy of all who read the book

The book is dreadful, not because the predictions about worldwide disaster could become true—this is a gross and unjustified exaggeration. If all-out nuclear war comes, it will be a really terrible thing, and it will be terrible no matter what we do, and we must do our level best in every way, saving our freedom to avoid such a war At the same time, it is not true that the human race can be exterminated We are tougher It is not true, even, that our industrial civilization may come to an end It is well founded But, there is another danger and the book discloses this danger, and I have no better way of describing it to you than to quote "On the Beach "

Here is a group of wonderful people faced with the virtue of certainty, which, as I say, is imaginary, but faced with the certainty in which they believe that the rest of the world has died, and they will, with the spreading of acidity, have to go their way also They take refuge in their moral convictions, in their feeling of dignity They—some of them, at least—take refuge in fantasies, imagining that all this will not really happen, making plans for a future which really is not there None of them, not one of them, tries to put his mind to work How could we escape this disaster? How could we survive anyway? Gentlemen, this is not a realistic description of human beings Our will of survival is strong, and our brains are inventive These people, these imaginary people in Southern Australia find no other solution than to take suicide pills and die when the time comes The book is dreadful because it is defeatist

Let me tell you, from all we know today it is possible to defend ourselves against an all-out nuclear attack, but we have done next to nothing so far in this important defense Of every tax dollar, less than 1 mill, less than one-tenth of a cent, goes into civil defense, which is true defense Because we have spent so little, therefore, we are really wide open to attack, and, if in that dreadful onslaught upon our cities we would lose practically all we have in less than an hour If millions of people, in fact, quite possibly, the majority of our population would be killed by such an attack, I think that in our present undefended and planless state our country would not survive And while mankind would go on and industrial civilization would go on, our ideas of freedom would succumb

There is one thing about nuclear war which is undeniably true—it is sudden. In fast emergencies, we could sit back and prepare only after the war has broken out There is no question that this time there is not going to be any opportunity to do that If we are to prepare we must do it now We have to look ahead I claim and I will try to show you, at least in a little detail, that such preparation can bear fruit and can bear most important fruit in our safety But the real reason why we must prepare is still something else We can prepare ourselves in such a way that we cannot be defeated, and, if we do prepare ourselves in such a manner, then I feel sure that the Russians or others will not dare to attack us I am sure that we, a peace-loving nation, will not be the ones to strike the first dreadful blow We are not going to provoke this disaster But, today, by our lack of preparedness, we invite the other side to destroy us by a sudden and savage attack If we prepare, this disaster will never come

I am sure that we must do our very best in civil defense, because, if we do that, we can insure peace I think that peace is more needed today than ever before If we spend not more than 10 percent of our present military expenditures on civilian defense, within a reasonably short time, we will be in a strong position. When I say this, I am aware of the fact that the problems are many and the problems are difficult. We have barely started to investigate the possibilities of solution, but already we have a great deal of promising prospects The job is up to you You will have to find the way in which by proper regulations, stimulations, government action, the necessary concerted activities will be introduced, because in big questions like this, the individual is not powerful enough unless he receives stimulation, guidance, help from his government

The problems are so difficult because there are many for it And because solving one part of it does not really help if we do not pay proper attention to the other parts, also The first thing we need, and to some extent already have, is a system of early warning Now, early warning is indeed needed in a time when the flight of a rocket from continent to continent, from the enemy country to ours, the potential enemy country to ours, will be something like a quarter of an hour We will be lucky if we have 10 minutes' warning But we are setting up, and our federal government is setting up, effective systems of warning which we here have to supplement with local systems I don't want to take sides, I do not know whether the best local communication will be underground wire or will go by microwave, or whether we need the two, both of them, the one backing up the other These are questions which will be for wiser people and better informed people than myself to decide But early warning is a very important step It is the first link in the chain which is to safeguard us The next link is shelter I think that by and large there will be not enough time for evacuation, particularly not in the cities And I think the safest and best thing to do, if we want to save lives and avoid confusion, is to have a shelter that everybody in the city can reach by walking for not more than 10 minutes I think that in the country, shelters need not be reached quite as soon because, in most of the regions which are not close to defense industries it is less likely that people will be exposed to the most immediate fury of atomic attack But fallout can spread its poison wide over the country, and whereas fallout from nuclear tests is really not dangerous and this danger has been gravely and improperly exaggerated, fallout from in an all-out war will be a very dangerous thing and shelters will be needed in the countryside also, but there it will take longer before the fallout reaches the several locations, and, therefore, a quarter of an hour, half of an hour, even longer time may be allowed before the people need to seek shelter

Now, I think it is important, going into these details, that you realize what kind of dangers we face when we talk about an atomic attack Fallout is the most widespread, but it is not necessarily, in fact it is not, the most dangerous In the cities, there will be a lot of damage by the immediate action of the shock There will be, without any doubt, a lot more damage due to the fire storms When an atomic bomb is exploded, the falling houses, the destruction finds its way of kindling fires, many fires The rising hot air draws in air from the sides, which feeds the flames, and very soon we have a conflagration which is quite technically a fire storm This fire storm is the most immediate and most dangerous phenomenon which we have to cope with in the city. The fallout is the most dangerous in the countryside, and it is the most dangerous aftereffect Therefore, what we need in cities are mass shelters because sufficiently secure shelters for individuals would be too expensive

Mass shelters could be constructed which could take care of, let us say, one thousand people each, more or less. One has to carefully plan these shelters One has to provide them with their own oxygen supply, because in the case of a fire storm for many hours there won't be any oxygen from the outside One has to have good radiation shielding, and one has to have some security against blasts All this can be had if reasonably constructed and if not overdesigned, for a moderate cost. I do not think that people can demand to be 100 percent safe in their shelters, but they can be 99 percent safe, and that will not be too expensive Particularly, it will not be too expensive if we give careful thought for multipurpose construction, for the kind of shelter construction which can be used in peacetime for other purposes

There are a lot of measures by which these things can be stimulated One very ingenious suggestion is that in a selected number of schools for children, high schools, elementary schools, there should be an experimental plan to have certain parts of the school underground and in safe condition, and, if that experiment is successful, we find the best way of construction, then, indeed, we might feel much better if we know that at least our children in school are safe and that in case of disaster the children won't have to flee all over the place but we might go to join them in their safe shelters, at least as one of the several measures Now, out in the countryside we do not need to worry about conflagration, and we need to worry little about blast We may seek shelter places and while mass shelter might be useful in order to save money in this case too, individual shelters for houses, for each house separately, might make a lot of sense, particularly if there is proper food supply and proper communication

Now all of this needs stimulation Government help is needed, for instance, in the distribution of the radiation detection equipment Government help is highly desired and is being proposed as I understand by Assemblyman Hegland in the form of tax relief for those who are willing to construct shelters and are willing to take in, in case of disaster an appropriate number of their fellow citizens More can be done We should subject our building codes to careful scrutiny to see whether they are appropriate for shelters, whether we demand enough of shelters, and conversely whether there are some provisions in our building codes which are too stringent and which, in this present situation which —with the Russian rockets hanging over our heads—is an emergency situation, whether we might feel compelled to raise, at least temporarily some portions of the building code We might give thought to further questions like loans to people, long-term loans, who are constructing shelters And we should give a lot of thought to the construction of public buildings in the future, and in this way utilize for multiple purposes, for government purposes, safe places in which, in case of a disaster, documents can be kept, the government functions can be carried out and where, indeed, perhaps a part of the population, too, can be accommodated

By direct action, by direct help this way, and also by giving example, the government could do a lot by such construction But even all of this is only a part of our problem All right, we survive the immediate attack I believe that, if we construct our shelters well, there is every reason to hope that 90 percent of our population will survive, no matter how suddenly or savagely we are attacked And do not believe that these shelters will become obsolete The shelters that I am recommending now I could have recommended equally well to non-listening ears fifteen years ago Shelters have remained reliable and will remain reliable But when I say that 90 percent of our people will survive, I hope you won't feel for a moment that I am minimizing the danger of an all-out war or minimizing the absolute necessity of avoiding this war if ever possible In fact, our defensive posture is one of the most important instruments by which we can avoid such a dreadful war But you must understand that no matter how well we prepare, some people will be caught outside the shelters. Some shelters will suffer direct hits A lot of people will die, and I think it is likely no matter what we do that millions will die Furthermore, our industrial plan will be wiped out—all of it or most of it, and that we cannot save It will be a dreadful thing, but while all of us will suffer and many of us will die, I claim that as a nation we can survive

In order to show you that in this radioactive surrounding with our industries wiped out and perhaps as many as 20 million people dead we still can survive, let me give you a little interesting figure You know that our national income, the amount earned by all of us in a year, is increasing and will soon reach the five hundred billion dollar level I do not know whether you are equally informed about the sum of all the value of the property that exists in this country If you made a huge shopping list and put on it all the groceries and all the clothes and all the housing and all the factories and all the farms and even the minerals under the ground, everything that can be bought, everything that can be sold in this country, if you add up this list, the total value will amount to approximately a thousand five hundred billion dollars—which is remarkably little This is the production of three years, no more If we survive, if we keep enough, too, to continue to work effectively after we have been hit, if we have a plan, I think we can be back on our feet within a few years Nobody need starve, and the country need not be weak and undefended for a single day. We can and we must remain strong, and it is not true if you are told that an all-out war cannot be won. An all out-war will be dreadful for the victor and for the defeated alike. But an all-out war can be won, and the winner of that all-out war will determine whether the future will belong to the free or whether it will belong to the tyrants

We must prepare How shall we do it? We need cleanup equipment We need equipment by which we can clean up at least part of the radioactive rubble so that in a few days or maybe in a couple of weeks people should begin to come out of the shelters safely Such cleanup equipment has been designed and more should be designed More needs to be done We must look to it that people won't starve in a time when our facilities are destroyed, when our communications are in a poor shape, and where our transportation is in a very poor shape Now we have a national treasure which is considered as a political liability today and which in fact should be one of our most valuable belongings—our agricultural surpluses.

We have in this country supplies on which to live for two years, but it is not in safe places Little of it is in California I understand that the wheat that today is in California will last only for three months, and more of it should be right here so that in case of an emergency we can use it I think, furthermore, that this wheat either should be processed or that safely located processing equipment—possibly underground processing equipment—should be available so that people need not starve next to the filled granary The wheat itself and other agricultural surpluses should be put into safe locations Perhaps you can offer from the end of California to construct these safe storage facilities provided that the federal government will look to it that California is assigned a proper share of this iron reserve for the day of the terrible raid But this, also, is not enough We cannot start rebuilding this country, if disaster should fall, with our bare hands, with our ten fingers We need raw materials, we need tools

We already have in this country a reserve of machine tools, a reserve of raw materials Our agricultural surpluses, machine tools and raw materials even today amount to a treasure valued near 20 billion dollars This treasure should be set into readiness, and it should be expanded, again, by government action and with government co-operation People should be encouraged to put aside those things toward a rainy day which are considered to be obsolete but which may come in wonderfully when the need really arises This, again, will be expensive, but it need not be very expensive if wise management is available. I suggest, for instance, that any of the goods which from the Army are up for sale as surpluses, that any of these goods, and all of them, should be looked over by state authorities, with an eye on the question whether these goods could be made useful for the State of California as the kind of things which we need to maintain our transportation, to re-establish our industrial capacity in case our industrial capacity has been wiped out by a sudden attack California can lead the way and should lead the way in this exceedingly important job of shelters, of cleanup, of survival, of organization for survival, so that everyone should know where to go and what to do, and of reconstruction

The state apparatus itself, if it is educated in the right way, can form the nucleus of this recovery plan I say that California can lead the way for many reasons We are one of the most exposed states since we have here a lot of the most vital industrial facilities within the whole country. And California should lead the way because it has the most wonderful people, and I particularly refer to your Governor, who has taken the initiative of a most serious effort in this direction, which is now spearheaded by another wonderful gentleman, Mr Alan Jonas, whom you all know I think that, if we start this work here in California, the benefits will be great They will be great because I feel certain that in the next few years we will spend something like maybe, we should spend and I hope we will spend, nationwide, something like 4 billion dollars a year for civilian defense This, I think will be necessary and this, I think, will be done, but each part of the country has different needs for civilian defense

We are jealous—and, in my opinion, rightly jealous—of our prerogative of keeping the education of our youngsters in local hands Yet, the education which our youngsters need throughout the country is not so widely different from place to place The needs for civilian defense, depending on the urban and suburban and country populations, depending on the expected attack, depending on the facilities which are already available, will be different from state to state, from county to county This is the individual action of the various parts of the government where the influence of states could be most beneficial and where these huge amounts of money will be best administered if they are administered locally And furthermore, California is the state where such a plan would look perhaps most reasonable because California is one of the states most exposed to attack as a state right on the seaboard where we have the greatest difficulties and, therefore, the greatest obligations in developing the right warning system, where it is easiest for the enemy to attack, where a lot of our industries and defense industries are located, which invite attack, where we can make a model in our growing cities of how to manage the defense and where, most important of all in our rural population we have an iron reserve of people and of facilities which can and should help in the recovery phase and who will help in the recovery phase if we are properly organized

Ladies and gentlemen, I have a last remark to make It is said, and it is said rightly that the Russians are lean and we are fat And I think it has been often considered, again rightly, that this may serve in a country to the advantage of the Russians and may be a handicap to our own by now too comfortable population I claim that in the particular field of civil defense the fact that they are lean and we are fat is to our advantage, in fact, to our great advantage. For us it is easy to set a part of our national wealth which we consider obsolete to set this part aside against the occurrence of that dreadful rainy day The Russians, who are now struggling to establish in the first place a strong industrial community, will have a much harder time to miss even a single screw from their machines to put aside for a similar emergency We have food surpluses They don't It has been often stated that in an all-out war with China, a poor country like China has nothing to lose and we have everything to lose This is not true We have everything to lose if we are not prepared If we are prepared, if we can keep our organization, our hope and proceed with work, we shall stay strong But Russia, and even more China, with their primitive methods of transportation, with their relatively few centers where something can be done in an industrial sense, with the concentrated centers in Russia, for instance, they are in fact much more vulnerable, and this is why I say if we go after civilian defense then any conflict between Russia and ourselves will hurt Russia, will hurt the communist countries infinitely more than it will hurt us They are proud of their industrial apparatus, which they have built with their sweat over the last decades For us this industrial apparatus is very much a matter of costs, which we can put back if the need be in as great a hurry as the Germans did starting from 1948 I claim, ladies and gentlemen, that there is one thing that we lack today—courage to look into the eyes of whatever danger may lie ahead of us If we have this courage, if we have the imagination to prepare for all-out disaster, we can be so prepared that as a nation, as a community of free individuals, nothing can hurt us And if we are so prepared, we shall have peace and prosperity, and we shall be able to lead the world toward a better future I think the United States will just do that, and I hope California will give an example to the United States how to do it

Relative to the death of Mr John Reber

WHEREAS, The Members of the Assembly have learned with deep regret of the passing of Mr John Reber in San Francisco on October 17, 1960, and

WHEREAS, Mr Reber, a distinguished actor, director and playwright, since 1907 when he came to California from his native Ohio studied, planned and conceived the "Reber Plan" for the development of San Francisco Bay, and

WHEREAS, The Reber Plan, which would divide San Francisco Bay into a salt water bay and two fresh water lakes with a series of earthen dams, is designed to save millions of acre-feet of water and thousands of tons of silt and to alleviate many of the Bay Area's transportation problems; and

WHEREAS, Mr Reber in 1935 retired from show business and devoted himself exclusively to the promotion of his plan and to the development of this State's water resources, and

WHEREAS, While his plan has not as yet received the approval of the Federal or State Governments, Mr Reber, through his devoted and untiring efforts, succeeded in engendering extensive studies of both his plan and the general problems his plan is designed to solve, culminating in the construction and current operation by the United States Army Corps of Engineers of a huge model of the San Francisco Bay, upon which is being studied the movement of water and silt in the Bay and the feasibility of the Reber Plan, and

WHEREAS, It is unquestioned that Mr Reber contributed greatly and immeasurably to the welfare of this State and to the development of its water resources, now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Members of the Assembly do hereby pay tribute to the memory of John Reber, and offer their sincere condolences to the members of his family, and be it further

OPINION OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL

OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL

Hon Thomas M Rees
Assembly Chamber

Airline Rates—No. 7095

DEAR MR REES:

Question

You ask whether the California Public Utilities Commission can regulate the rates on intrastate routes of interstate airlines

Opinion

In our opinion the commission can regulate such rate

Your question is answered by decisions of the federal and state courts in which the precise situation was considered The courts have held that the states may impose certain regulations in the economic field as to interstate air carriers, and in particular that the California Public Utilities Commission may control intrastate rates of interstate air common carriers under Sections 20 and 22 of Article XII of the California Constitution (Allegheny Air Lines v Village of Cedarhurst, 238 Fed 812, People v Western Air Lines, 42 Cal 2d 621, 348 U S 859)

Very truly yours,

RALPH N KLEPS, Legislative Counsel

House Resolution No. 32

Relative to Long Beach tideland funds

WHEREAS, A number of proposals have been made to raise the rates for the rental of boat slips at the Long Beach Marina which was built with the use of the city's share of tideland funds, and

WHEREAS, The foremost of these proposals would provide for general rental increases ranging from 6 percent on small craft to 25 percent on large craft, and

WHEREAS, Some of the advocates of the increases have attempted to persuade the City Council to accept the increases by the use of arguments that the State requires the City of Long Beach to make a profit from its use of tideland funds, and

WHEREAS, The premise of these arguments is incorrect in that the State does not so require, and

WHEREAS, To the contrary, as long as the use of the tideland funds falls within the purposes of the trust granting these tidelands to Long Beach the city is not required to impose any particular rates for rentals of boat slips in order to make a profit, now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Members of the Assembly recommend to the City Council of the City of Long Beach that in view of the incorrect arguments which have been presented to it urging such a rate increase the City Council make no such rate increase at the present time and take the matter under submission for at least a period of six months in order to afford adequate time for the council to carefully consider and reflect upon these proposals and the arguments in favor thereof, and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly is hereby directed to transmit copies of this resolution to the Mayor and City Councilmen of the City of Long Beach and to the City Manager of that city

Report by Department of Natural Resources Relative to Inclusion of Colton Hall in State Park System

DEPARTMENT OF NATURAL RESOURCES

Hon Ralph M Brown
Speaker, State Assembly
State Capitol, Sacramento

DEAR MR BROWN In response to Senate Concurrent Resolution No 13, relative to the inclusion of Colton Hall, Monterey, California, in the State Park System, I submit the attached report A copy has also been submitted to the State Senate

The Division of Beaches and Parks prepared this analysis on the feasibility of establishing Colton Hall as a State Historical Monument I concur with the recommendations of the division that Colton Hall, because of its historical significance and importance to California history, would be most desirable and valuable as an addition to the State Park System as a part of our historical monument program in Monterey

Important milestones of our colorful and important history are ever increasingly passing out of existence All action taken to preserve, restore and interpret this history should be considered a legitimate and worthwhile state expenditure

Sincerely,

DEWITT NELSON, Director

Letter of Transmittal

Report by Director of Finance on Surplus State Lands

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, DEPARTMENT OF FINANCE
SACRAMENTO, January 13, 1961

Hon Glenn M Anderson
President of the Senate
Hon Ralph M Brown
Speaker of the Assembly

GENTLEMEN Pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 1573, Statutes of 1951, the Department of Finance submits herewith its annual report to the Legislature on surplus state-owned lands

On Sept 1, 1960, the Department of Finance sent instructions to all land-holding state agencies under the subject "Annual Inventory and Report of Excess State Lands" Those instructions read in part as follows

"Government Code Section 11011 requires all state agencies to submit an annual report of lands that are in excess of foreseeable needs"

"Each agency should make a thorough review of the state land under its jurisdiction and submit a written statement that all lands owned by the agency have been checked The statement should also list those lands that are excess, or should state that there are no excess lands"

In response to the above, seven parcels comprising approximately 679 acres have been submitted by various agencies as being surplus to their foreseeable needs The salable properties have an estimated value of $166,874 and are described in detail in the body of this report It is recommended that legislation to sell, exchange, or otherwise dispose of these parcels be enacted at the 1960 session The Department of Finance has caused a Senate Bill to be introduced for this purpose

Since the beginning of the surplus property program established by Chapter 1573, the Department of Finance has sold approximately 7,411 acres of property under specific legislative authority and the property returned to the tax rolls, with the exception of the parcels that were sold to property tax-exempt agencies, school districts and municipalities The total revenue received by the State as a result of these sales has amounted to $4,307,254 Supplement "A" of this report describes in detail those properties disposed of during the period 1959-60 for a total consideration of $1,972,744

Presently held as surplus by the Department of Finance but not yet sold are properties valued at approximately $7,213,700 The current status of these lands is shown in Supplement "B" of this report

Yours very truly,

JOHN E CARR, Director of Finance

Above transmitted report referred to the Committee on Natural Resources Planning, and Public Works

The following communication was presented by the Speaker, and ordered printed in the Journal

CONSIDERATION OF ASSEMBLY BILL NO. 25

Recommendation of the Governor

In accordance with Article IV, Section 34, of the Constitution, the Governor presented the following communication recommending the consideration of Assembly Bill No 25

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE

To the Honorable Members of the Assembly and Senate

Assembly Bill No. 25, "An act to amend Section 19877 of the Education Code, relating to the construction of school facilities, declaring the urgency thereof, to take effect immediately," in my opinion constitutes an emergency bill within the meaning of that term as used in Section 34 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California, the consideration of which should not await the final enactment of the Budget Bill

I am advised that the California State Allocations Board has a $25,000,000 backlog in requests for construction funds from local California school districts

Under present law, these funds can be released only at the rate of $10,000,000 a month In my Message to the Legislature, I asked that this ceiling be raised to $12,000,000 and legislation has been introduced to carry out that request

In the meantime, however, thousands of California students are on double sessions in school districts which are waiting for funds included in the Allocations Board's backlog

Immediate release of those funds would clear away the backlog and permit the school districts to begin construction at once

Another beneficial effect of such action would be to provide new jobs for many construction workers during the current business slump

As you are aware, unemployment in the United States this month reached its highest levels since before World War II

California's economy, while generally healthy, is feeling the effect of the recession in many areas

Assemblyman Vernon Kilpatrick, with the above-mentioned objectives in mind, has introduced Assembly Bill No 25, which would permit immediate allocation of $30,000,000 of the June, 1960, school bond issue

I, therefore, recommend consideration of Assembly Bill No. 25 as an emergency measure

Respectfully submitted,

Communication From Andrae Nordskog, Ph.D.

Assemblyman, 56th District
State Capitol, Sacramento

DEAR MR WOLFRUM The Los Angeles Times of today, January 17, 1961, reports that the California Assembly voted yesterday in favor of abolishing the Electoral College by a vote of 53 to 16 It is because the writer pioneered in this movement and is happy about the approval of the Assembly that he herewith submits the following history of his work on this matter for the permanent records of the California Legislature Please enter this in the Assembly Daily Journal

To the Members of the California Legislature
General Session of 1961

HONORABLE MEMBERS—GREETINGS On May 29, 1928, the writer, as Chairman of the Presidential Direct-Election League, presided over an overflow meeting in the auditorium of the Franklin High School in Los Angeles which was preceded by a street parade of automobiles a mile in length, the subject of the meeting being "The Abolition of the Electoral College"

The response was electric and meetings were held in many other auditoriums across the nation; 15 such meetings being held in the State of Nebraska with the writer as principal speaker United States Senator George Norris of Nebraska filed a bill and it came within two votes of being adopted by the Senate in 1934

On January 28, 1944, the Honorable Don Allen, Sr., Assemblyman from Los Angeles, presented my letter to the California Assembly regarding the abolition of the Electoral College, published in the Assembly Daily Journal of that date In that letter I pointed out the great need for correcting our national election system and that the Electoral College was outmoded and had not actually been used legally since the year 1820 A D

On June 25, 1952, the writer was the keynote speaker on this subject "The Abolition of the Electoral College System" before the Convention of the National Association of Secretaries of State held in Providence, Rhode Island, arrangements for my appearance having been made by the Honorable Frank M Jordan, Secretary of State for California That association adopted a resolution urging Congress to propose an amendment to the Constitution to correct our outmoded election system and sent a special committee to Washington by airplane to submit that proposal to Congress Although no action was taken by Congress in 1952, the United States Senate Judiciary Committee, Subcommittee on Elections, held hearings on the matter and invited the writer to come to Washington and give his testimony favoring the abolition of the Electoral College; this, he did, on August 1, 1952, with his wife, Gertrude Nordskog giving testimony for the Hollywood Woman's Club whose membership had unanimously endorsed such abolition when the writer lectured on that subject before that club a month previously The testimony referred to by Gertrude Nordskog and the writer was printed in full on pages 116 to 144, inclusive, in the committee report of August 1, 1952

Although my wife, Gertrude and I, had previously arranged for a concert tour of Europe, with airplane tickets already purchased for a round trip, we canceled such a tour in favor of speaking engagements throughout the United States to awaken the citizens of the need for a change in our election system Nationwide publicity was given to these lectures and the awakening was quite general, with organizations being formed nationally to further this cause

Nation-wide Publicity Gained

Allen's Press Clipping Bureau supplied me with articles in newspapers across the nation telling of my lectures on the subject of the "Abolition of the Electoral College" and from the evidence that I have in my newspaper clipping books it appears that practically every city in the United States having daily papers was thus informed on this vital subject On July 1, 1952, the Los Angeles Daily Journal, legal newspaper for advertising for the City of Los Angeles and the County of Los Angeles, published my entire keynote speech given in Providence, Rhode Island, June 25, 1952, giving 120 column-inches of space, with eight-point type, so important did that journal consider the subject matter

And so, with our first meeting in the Franklin High School Auditorium in Los Angeles on the evening of May 29, 1928, which was preceded by the mile-long automobile parade through the Highland Park section of the city, headed by Professor Heald's brass band and with all of the automobiles lighted with colored fireworks flares, a national movement was begun which has now resulted with the action of the California Legislature in approving the Abolition of the Electoral College My prayer to your honorable body is that you send a copy of your resolution to the Legislature of every state in the Union, requesting them to follow your timely example for the benefit of the electors of our great nation And that you petition Congress to propose a constitutional amendment in support of your resolution

Secretary of State Respected

As the one citizen who has pioneered with lectures on this subject supported on his programs with his wife, Gertrude Foy Nordskog, soprano, singing to help entertain the audiences, I will say that much credit is due to our genial Secretary of State, Frank M Jordan, for having presented me to the National Association of Secretaries of State

Respectfully submitted,

ANDRAE NORDSKOG

Letter of Transmittal

Report on Actual and Estimated Expenditures From the California Water Fund and the Investment Fund, July 1, 1959-June 30, 1960

Hon Ralph M Brown
Speaker of the Assembly
State Capitol, Sacramento

DEAR MR BROWN The Burns-Porter Act, Water Code Section 12939, requires the California Water Resources Development Finance Committee and the Department of Water Resources (see Section 12934(a) and (b)) to

> "file with the Legislature detailed reports of all expenditures from the California Water Resources Development Bond Fund and the California Water Fund, setting forth descriptions of the purposes of all such expenditures Such reports shall be filed on or before the fifteenth day of each regular legislative session and shall show schedules of expenditures and the dates on which additional water will be available for sale from principal termini of the State Water Resources Development System and the total amount then available for sale at these termini "

The department has not yet requested that any bonds be issued, and no deposits have yet been made in the California Water Resources Development Bond Fund There is, therefore, no report to be made by the committee and no report of expenditures from the bond fund

Attachment 1 to this letter is a table showing all expenditures from the California Water Fund and the Investment Fund since July 1, 1959, through November 8, 1960 Estimated expenditures for the balance of the fiscal year 1960-61 are also included Our next report will present actual expenditures for the entire 1960-61 fiscal year as well as those extending into the following year

Section 12934 specifies five terminals of the aqueduct system, ie, "a terminal reservoir in Marin County terminal reservoirs in the Counties of Alameda and Santa Clara Counties a terminus in Pacheco Creek of Santa Clara County terminal in the vicinity of Newhall, Los Angeles County, and Perris, Riverside County, [and] a terminal at the Santa Maria River." No water is yet available at any of these terminal points or at any other point of the State Water Facilities Engineering studies indicate that the facilities will make available for sale approximately 4,000 000 acre-feet of water each year

The contract with the Metropolitan Water District of Southern California of November 4, 1960, provides that that district will receive 1,500,000 acre-feet to be delivered at the termini in the vicinities of Newhall and Perris The contract with the San Bernardino Valley Municipal Water District of December 30, 1960, provides that that district will receive 90,000 acre-feet to be delivered to the district in the vicinity of the terminal reservoir near Perris The year of initial delivery to these two districts is now estimated to be 1972

Estimated dates of delivery at the other termini will be estimated as contracts are negotiated and executed

Sincerely yours,

WILLIAM E WARNE, Director

cc Hon Arthur A Ohnimus
Chief Clerk of the Assembly
State Capitol, Sacramento

Above transmitted table of expenditures referred to the Committee on Water

It is the third consecutive soundly balanced budget transmitted to you by this Administration

It shows the lowest percentage of annual increase of any comparable budget since 1943

It meets the drastic demands of California's yawning growth—566,000 more citizens this year again, 209,000 more students in our publicly supported educational institutions. It calls for no new taxes.

It recognizes the honest needs of the aged and the afflicted without resort to philanthropic excess

It submits to the most stringent tests of economy in government without damage to the fundamental concepts of responsible liberalism

This budget was prepared in a time of economic uncertainty, but it is presented with firmness and resolution

Its makers were aware both of the pressing needs of today and the certain demands of tomorrow. Needs were matched against resources, demands against dollars

I submit the result to you with pride and with confidence

Together we have restored California's state government to fiscal responsibility in the last two years. Together we will continue our joint record of achievement and responsibility

Your own task now is to evaluate this budget, reviewing the complex factors and judgments involved in its preparation.

In submitting the 1961-62 Budget for your consideration, I want to make one declaration with absolute clarity

The budget I present today is honestly, but narrowly balanced

The budget I sign will also be balanced. If I must use my power of item veto, I will do so.

That pledge applies not only to items which may be added or altered in the legislative process. It applies with equal force to items I have included in my own budget proposals

I also promise that if, in the months intervening between presentation and passage, conditions make it necessary or possible to reduce the total amount of this budget, I will not hesitate to recognize the change in circumstances

Further, if, in your wisdom as legislators, you find it possible to make still more economies that do not damage essential services or leave honest needs unmet, I will be genuinely appreciative

In this concern for fiscal integrity, we must not deceive ourselves. Some worthy projects are being delayed. Some important objectives remain on the distant horizon. Postponement must not become cancellation, however. The objectives on the horizon must not fade into the unreality of mirage

When we have met this year's priorities, we must press on to the new priorities. We cannot do everything at once, but all necessary things must ultimately be done.

Ours is a joint fiscal responsibility. Let us work together as we meet it.

The 1961-62 Budget proposal was arrived at by a method basically new and different for the state government, although common enough to households everywhere.

An allocations system was devised to help stretch our limited fiscal resources over the whole expanding framework of state government and its services to an exploding population.

Under this system, no agency or department was ever asked how much it would like to spend.

The budget process began instead with an estimate of funds available for the 1961-62 fiscal year.

Tentative allocations were then made on the basis of past experience and known growth requirements in such areas as education, mental hygiene, correctional institutions, social welfare, recreation and public health.

A small contingency reserve was also established to meet hardship problems or to provide for vital new programs. Some augmentations were permitted on direct appeals to me, and they exhausted this small reserve in the great majority of cases. However, departments worked successfully under their allocations, and major savings were achieved without sacrifice of essential services.

You should also know something about the revenue estimates upon which this budget is based.

It has become the fashion among a few partisans unconcerned with the fiscal facts to disregard or disparage Department of Finance estimates, estimates made without political coloration by a group of civil service experts who have served all administrations alike with equal skill and integrity.

Their record over the years matches the best in the nation, private or public.

During the current fiscal year, for example, General Fund income is expected to be about $10 million less than was anticipated during last year's budget session. That is approximately ½ of 1 percent difference in a total of $1.7 billion in General Fund revenue.

That performance speaks for itself, and it argues eloquently that these expert estimates offer far stronger support for fiscal responsibility than the slender reeds of partisan prediction.

In a quite different way, the Administration also approached a fiscal ideal in the current budget year.

The State was able to finance not only current expenditures, but almost all of our long-term capital outlay, without major bond financing in 1960-61. This was true for the first time in many years.

The surpluses which permitted this signal achievement have dwindled rapidly in the current recession, however, and this budget marks a return to bond financing for long-range building needs, particularly on our college and university campuses.

It remains true that whenever feasible, California finances should be on a pay-as-you-go basis.

Very few growing families can afford to buy a larger, new house except on a long-term mortgage, however, and the State is in the same position, especially with respect to educational facilities and institutions.

The necessity of long-term financing carries with it an obligation to be frugal so that interest costs can be kept to an absolute minimum.

This Administration is meeting that obligation.

In 1959-60, $20 million was saved by insistence on economy although the budget had anticipated only $7 million in savings over the year.

Continuing tight regulations this year are expected to produce an additional $13 millions in savings by July 1.

Without such economies and without the new revenue program sponsored by this Administration in 1959, California would be $144 million in the red on July 1, of this year and would now be issuing warrants to carry on its basic activities.

I ask those heedless partisans who disparage the 1959 revenue program to ponder that fact. And, to those who are now advocating massive reductions in state revenue, I make an additional request.

Will you please read this budget carefully? Will you then please tell the people of California what state services should be abolished or reduced? Will you please explain how we can get better education, including better teachers, for less money?

The people of California would be grateful for such information—and so would I.

Before I turn to a general summary and the specific major areas of concern in the budget, I offer one other observation

The nation is in a recession Although California traditionally weathers periods of national economic distress better than most of our sister states, we too are feeling the sharp decline in business and industrial activity

Of most concern are areas where unemployment is reaching new 10-year highs

These islands of distress in a State still generally prosperous deserve our immediate attention, not only for their own sake, but to halt the otherwise inevitable spread of distress to their neighbors.

Unemployment and low income are contagious diseases, and they must be so handled.

This Administration has already begun anti-recession measures Just 10 days ago we moved to free $80 million in state bond money to speed vital local school construction projects. More unemployment benefits are about to enter our economic bloodstream

And we are working out new state construction priorities to give preferences to distressed areas

This is a national recession, and California cannot meet the challenge single-handed Federal assistance fortunately is in sight, and we can properly hope for a turn for the better later this year

We must not gamble, however, for what we do affects not only the 16,000,000 present citizens of this State, but the millions more to come

What follows will tell you what I specifically propose in the 1961-62 Budget

I submit this budget and this message to you with the greatest respect—and with full confidence in the ultimate result.

SUMMARY

The total 1961-62 Budget amounts to $2,592,304,521 This includes the expenditure of $100 million by bond financing of essential state building needs

With state income lagging behind outgo in the current fiscal year, it has been necessary to plan to draw upon the accumulated surplus The total surplus will decline from $129 3 million on June 30, 1960, to $32 5 million by June 30, 1961

Revenues for California government in 1961-62 are estimated at $2,428,324,332. Most of this gain will occur in the General Fund, which is expected to reach $1,694 3 million, or approximately $73 3 million more than is now estimated for the present year

The expenditure program which I recommend for 1961-62 will require a further draft on surplus This will be true despite the fact that I am submitting one of the tightest operating budgets in the State's history and despite the heavier use of bond funds for capital outlay

Under the 1961-62 Budget, the $32 5 million General Fund surplus expected at the close of this fiscal year will be reduced to $468,000 by June 30, 1962

Realizing even this fractional surplus will depend heavily upon an improvement in the business climate during 1961, and improvement which has been anticipated in the tax revenue estimates on which this budget is based

IMPORTANT ASPECTS

These are some of the major areas of concern in the proposed budget for 1961-62

Education

It is the continuing policy of my Administration that California have the best program of public education in the United States

In the 1961-62 Budget, we have devoted $1 04 billion to all levels of education This represents 41 5 percent of the total budget exclusive of bond funds, and 60 percent of the General Fund into which we all pay our taxes

The vital importance of public education in California results from this fact To Americans, democracy has always meant more than equality at the polls More and more, it has come to mean equality of opportunity in every respect

In the American catalogue of equal opportunity, access to education has the highest place This gives us a particular obligation Close to one-quarter of our total state population is now enrolled in the elementary and secondary grades through junior college

You have already approved my recommendation that maximum state bond fund allocations for local school construction aid be increased from $10 million to $12 million a month I have further recommended the allocation of $30 million more in bond funds immediately to pick up the entire backlog of approved allocations for school construction and site acquisition

But the schoolrooms are only the shells They can become monuments to ignorance if they are not occupied by gifted teachers, equipped with excellent tools

We share, with other states, guilt for the major fault of American education—failure to expect of our students all of which they are capable, failure to offer all they are ready to use We should never assume that only a small minority of our youth are capable of high standards of performance, if they are taught with vigor and inspiration by outstanding teachers

Because California must face this challenge with honesty, I have put before you a number of excellent proposals to improve public education in our State These changes will equip our children, and our State, for the future They are critically needed The will also cost further substantial sums

You will note that no budgetary provision has been made for these proposals for improvements which range from state aid for programs for gifted or emotionally handicapped children to state support for junior colleges

The reason is simple There are no more funds available

That does not mean that these proposals cannot be financed, however

In my legislative message, I called for equalization of state aid in relation to the countywide tax base, rather than on a district-by-district basis

This would prevent the rich segment of a county escaping from its proper share of supporting schools throughout the county

It would also free approximately $21 million of state aid for such other purposes as this Legislature may direct This is the only method of financing I can now see for any of the proposals to enrich our school programs which require funds beyond those included in this budget

I also propose that we appropriate $200,000 to speed reorganization of our present school district structure itself Here again, economies could lead to substantial program enrichments

Higher Education

Believing that the Master Plan must move forward as rapidly as possible, I propose a budget of $249,000 for the Co-ordinating Council for Higher Education, and $1,009 000 for the Trustees of the State College System I am asking you to extend the state scholarship program once again, in the amount of $1 8 million, a 44 percent increase over this year

This year, the University will add 4,400 students, the largest annual enrollment increase in a decade We propose to increase the University's General Fund budget from $121 million to $132 million, which is 9 4 percent more than the budget in the current year We have allocated $220,000 for academic and physical planning staffs at the three new university campuses In Orange County, San Diego County and the unselected site now known as South Central Coast I further recommend the sum of $270,000 for initial planning and staffing at the new medical school at San Diego, which is to be developed with the planned University campus

State colleges in 1961-62 will increase enrollment from 69,000 to 77,000 students, an 11 5 percent jump To meet that need, I propose a 13 5 percent budgetary increase, from $69 million in the current year to $78 3 million in 1961-62 We have proposed $134,000 each for academic and physical planning staffs at two new state colleges San Bernardino-Riverside, and South Bay State College in Los Angeles County To further assist the state colleges, the sum of $230 000 is provided for educational television

Water

This document marks the first full commitment to two of the greatest water projects in California history—the State's Oroville Dam on the Feather River, and the joint state-federal San Luis dam and reservoir Of the $18 9 million allocated for construction of the Oroville Dam in the 1961-62 Budget, $9 7 million is earmarked for the dam itself, and related facilities Our plan commits the State to proceed to build the entire high-level project, complete with power production facilities No staging is contemplated We are proceeding too with plans for San Luis. Using current funds, we have almost completed arrangements with the United States Bureau of Reclamation which will make $400,000 of state funds available to the United States for advance planning studies at San Luis. In addition, the new budget allocates $3 6 million to be spent on the project Of this, some $800,000 will be used for departmental engineering and right-of-way expenditures We have also budgeted the balance of $2 8 million for a further advance to the United States Bureau of Reclamation for preliminary design

Social Welfare

Public conscience is the duty of every citizen but it is the particular obligation of those who conceive and shape the laws under which we live Social welfare, taken literally, means the well-being of our fellow citizens. You are as aware as I am that thousands of our fellow Californians are in distress resulting from unemployment, infirmity, or old age I particularly direct your attention to the justified needs of the aging, most of whom have in the past been tax-paying, law-abiding citizens They have made many contributions to all of us in the past Today, we are the richer for their wisdom and experience

I include a number of recommendations which affect them It is primarily for their benefit that I recommend the exemption of prescription drugs from the sales tax in 1961-62

The major upward revisions in the 1961-62 Budget also concern the aged and others in social welfare programs Changes are requested in our programs of old age security and aid to the needy blind, aid to the needy disabled; the foster care of children; the chronically ill aged, administrative assistance for county welfare departments, and grants for county services to older citizens The total increase in General Fund costs for 1961-62 for these new programs is $11 4 million I call to your attention the fact that these figures are in addition to increases called for by growth projections for existing programs Except for the recommended changes affecting administrative assistance for local departments, and grants for county services for older citizens, these programs would not go into operation until January 1, 1962 The figures for the increase in costs thus cover a six months period only

Beaches and Parks

The 1961-62 Budget provides for operating our state beach and park program at a cost of $9 1 million In addition, a capital outlay program is proposed in the amount of $8 1 million Of this, $3 7 million is for acquisition and $4 4 million for development I urge that we devote increasing emphasis to developing our resources in the future, without neglecting our program of acquisition

Corrections

Heartening progress is being made in our program of conservation camps By the end of the 1961-62 fiscal year, we plan to have 2,357 inmates in the camps Construction is proceeding on schedule for activating centers in Lassen and Tuolumne Counties and the North Coast area With the four new camps coming into operation in 1961-62, we will have a total of 34 The proposed operating budget of the Department of Corrections is $45 4 million, an increase of $3 9 million, or 9 5 percent, over the current year This will provide for custody and rehabilitation of an average of 22,100 inmates, an increase of 1,145 over 1960-61 For operating the Youth Authority, $21 4 million, an increase of $3 million, or 16 5 percent, is recommended It will furnish custody and rehabilitation for an average of 4,341 wards, close to 1,000 more than in the current year

Mental Health

Research and treatment are bringing about dramatic changes in rehabilitation of the mentally ill Here is a striking example During the new budget year, there will be 27,100 admissions to state mental hospitals, an increase of 1,100 over the current year. Even with increased admissions, resident population has been remaining approximately constant because of new and enlightened treatment We further recommend $450,000 for the new day treatment center program, which is already working successfully in San Diego Two new centers would be established during 1961-62. Finally, despite our limited funds, we must upgrade the positions of psychiatric technicians, and make them attractive to skilled workers in this sensitive field. I recommend a salary increase in the amount of $2 4 million

Public Health

California's nationally respected program of public health will go forward in 1961-62 under the proposed General Fund budget of $55 million, up $1 million from the current year We propose $9 1 million for support of the department, and $25 9 million for aid to local governments I commend to your attention the need for health services for migrant labor—a long-neglected field in which California should be the pioneer A $110,000 appropriation is proposed to meet this need

Agriculture

The total budget for the Department of Agriculture is up from $17 4 million to $17 8 million in 1961-62, an increase of $400,000 Research in pear decline, one of agriculture's most vexing current problems, is continued with an allocation of $37,000 We further recommend expenditure of $88,000 for closer inspection of weights and packaging of goods The Consumer Counsel is co-operating in this program

Employee Benefits

I urge your approval of a plan for state contribution to a health program for state employees This will be the State's first action in providing this important benefit for its employees The recommendation includes $4 8 million from the General Fund and $1 8 million from special funds Except for the salary increases recommended for psychiatric technicians, no general or other special salary increases for state employees are recommended at this time

Capital Outlay

Expenditures of $422 3 million is proposed for capital outlay covering the programs for state building construction, beach and park acquisition and development, water resources, state highways, fish and game and the district agricultural fairs

A state building construction program will provide for the construction requirements for the 4,400 new students at the University of California, at a capital outlay cost of $48 million The same need will be met for the 8,000 new students at our state colleges, through expenditure of $40 million in capital outlay funds

Additional capacity for the mentally retarded is provided with a budget item of $2 million for the Department of Mental Hygiene For the Youth Authority, $3 2 million is allocated This includes the start of a new 400-bed Northern California Youth Center at Stockton Facilities for the State's forest maintenance and fire prevention programs are provided in the amount of $3 5 million

The use of bonds in the amount of $99,920,000 is proposed Our limited General Fund resources in 1961-62, resulting from the current recession, make the use of bonds essential

Capital outlay for beaches and parks is proposed in the amount of $8 1 million from the General Fund to pay for new acquisitions and further development of existing properties In 1961-62, expenditures of state funds for highways are expected to exceed $250 million A wildlife and fish and game capital outlay program is proposed in the amount of $1 8 million from special funds available in the Fish and Game Preservation Fund and the Wildlife Conservation Fund

In conformity with Section 34, Article IV of the Constitution, I submit to you the budget for the State of California for the fiscal year commencing July 1, 1961, and ending June 30, 1962

Respectfully submitted,

Appeal From Decision of the Speaker

91 Any member may appeal from a decision of the Speaker without waiting for recognition by the Speaker, even though another member has the floor. No appeal is in order when another is pending, or when other business has been transacted by the Assembly prior to the appeal being taken.

Upon the appeal being seconded, the Speaker may give his reasons for the decision, and the member taking the appeal may give his reasons for making his appeal, and the Speaker shall forthwith put this question to the Assembly. "Shall the decision of the Speaker be sustained?"

An appeal cannot be amended and yields only to a motion to recess or adjourn, to lay on the table, or a question of personal privilege If an appeal be laid on the table, such action shall have no effect on the pending question.

An appeal cannot be debated when relating to indecorum, transgression of rules, or priority of business A majority vote of the members present shall decide any appeal

The name of any member moving an adjournment and also the hour at which the motion was made and adjournment taken shall be entered in the Journal. A motion to adjourn must be adopted by a majority vote of the members present.

To Recess to a Time Certain

94 A motion to recess to a time certain shall be treated the same as a motion to adjourn, except that such motion is debatable when no business is before the Assembly, and can be amended as to the time and duration of the recess It yields only to a motion to adjourn.

To Lay on the Table

95. A motion to lay on the table is not debatable and cannot be amended.

A motion to table a bill, constitutional amendment, concurrent or joint resolution requires a majority vote of the entire elected membership

Any motion to lay on the table, if carried by a majority vote of the entire elected membership, carries with it the main question and everything that adheres to it; provided, however, that a motion to lay an amendment on the table, if adopted, does not carry with it a bill, constitutional amendment, concurrent, joint, or House resolution

A motion to lay an amendment on the table may be adopted by a majority vote of the members present

The Previous Question

96 The previous question shall be put only when demanded by five members, and in this form "Shall the question be now put?" and its effect, when sustained by a majority of the members present, shall be to put an end to all debate and bring the House to a vote only on the question then pending; except that the proponent of the matter pending shall be allowed not to exceed five minutes to close the debate.

Motion to Postpone Indefinitely

Motion to Amend

100 A motion to amend may itself be amended, but no "amendment to an amendment" can be amended. A motion to amend is debatable, except where the main question to be amended is not debatable Any motion to amend may be adopted by a majority vote of the members present.

A motion to amend having been decided in the negative, shall not again be in order on the same day, or at the same stage of proceeding. A motion to amend by striking out certain words having been decided in the negative, shall not preclude a motion to amend by adding words, or a motion to amend by striking out and inserting words; but in no case shall a further amendment be substantially the same as the one rejected.

Subject to the above provisions of this rule, a motion to amend is in order during the second or third reading of any bill

A motion to lay an amendment on the table may be adopted by a majority vote of the members present, as provided in Rule 95

Amendment to Be Germane

Motion to Withdraw and Recall Bills

108 A motion to withdraw a bill or resolution from committee, or to re-refer a bill or resolution from one committee to another committee may be made during the regular order of business A motion to re-refer shall only be debatable as to the propriety of such reference, and shall require a recorded vote of a majority of the elected members.

No bill or resolution shall be withdrawn from committee and placed upon the file except upon two days' notice thereof and except by a recorded vote of a majority of the elected members action and expunge the record shall be made twice on the same proposition.

Whenever any action of the Assembly is rescinded and its record ordered expunged, the record of the action expunged shall not appear in any form whatsoever, but the record of the proceedings on the motion to rescind and expunge shall appear in the Assembly Journal as and when printed.

Reconsideration of Vote

112. (a) A motion to reconsider on the next legislative day (1) the vote whereby any bill was passed or refused passage, or (2) the vote whereby any motion, amendment, concurrence, Assembly resolution or proposition other than a bill was passed or refused passage, must be made on the same day the vote to be reconsidered was taken No motion to reconsider shall be in order on the last day, or the day preceding the last day, for consideration of Assembly or Senate bills in the Assembly. No motion to reconsider shall be adopted unless it receives an affirmative recorded vote of 41 members, except that it shall require such a vote of 54 members or 60 members, respectively, to reconsider the vote on any matter originally requiring 54 votes or 60 votes, as the case may be. A motion to reconsider may be voted on without a second.

A motion to reconsider a vote must be made by a member voting on the question, and shall take precedence over all motions, except a motion to adjourn. Upon such motion being made, the matter to be reconsidered shall forthwith be placed upon the unfinished business file, and no further action shall be taken prior to the next legislative day. When a motion to reconsider has once been made, the same shall be considered to be the property of the Assembly. Relative to Long Beach tideland funds

WHEREAS, A number of proposals have been made to raise the rates for the rental of boat slips at the Long Beach Marina which was built with the use of the city's share of tideland funds, and

WHEREAS, The foremost of these proposals would provide for general rental increases ranging from 6 percent on small craft to 28 percent on large craft; and

WHEREAS, Some of the advocates of the increases have attempted to persuade the City Council to accept the increases by the use of arguments that the State requires the City of Long Beach to make a profit from its use of tideland funds, and

WHEREAS, To the contrary, as long as the use of the tideland funds falls within the purposes of the trust granting these tidelands to Long Beach the city is not required to impose any particular rates for rentals of boat slips in order to make a profit, now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Members of the Assembly recommend to the City Council of the City of Long Beach that in view of the incorrect arguments which have been presented to it urging such a rate increase the City Council make no such rate increase at the present time and take the matter under submission in order to afford adequate time for the council to carefully consider and reflect upon these proposals and the arguments in favor thereof, and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly is hereby directed to transmit copies of this resolution to the Mayor and City Councilmen of the City of Long Beach and to the City Manager of that city

California State Legislature
Sacramento, California

DEAR SIRS: In the Los Angeles Times in the column called Day in Sacramento I saw that Lincoln's Birthday, Washington's Birthday, Admission Day, and Veterans' Day are to be abolished I hope my letter is not too late in appealing to you. Please do not pass such a measure. I can think of no greater way to create more bigotry and pressure groups. Are we Americans first and foremost? Have our veterans died in vain? Has being admitted to the Union lost its meaning? Is George Washington to slowly disappear from our American heritage? Is Lincoln to become a nobody? May I remind you of the Lincoln Memorial in Washington and the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier Are we to be a party to turning off that eternal light?

You, sirs, keep our heritage intact and in our jet and rocket age I shall take my five children on a day's round trip tour of so great a tour in our Washington, D C I am sure you will uphold our national holidays Thank you for your consideration in this matter

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT

Mr. Burton was granted unanimous consent that the following article be printed in the Journal

FALLOUT SHELTERS—THE NEXT STEP TOWARD WAR

By MARSHALL WINDMILLER

In a speech to the American Nuclear Society Convention in San Francisco December 14, the so-called father of the H-bomb, Edward Teller, advised the United States, according to the Oakland Tribune, "to go underground—even with its supermarkets" In addition to establishing Teller's claim to be called the father of the underground supermarket, the speech made it clear that the only way people can hope to survive a war in which H-bombs are used is to move their societies underground before the war starts In spelling this out Teller helps to clarify a great deal of confused thinking about civil defense

Fallout shelters are about to become an important issue in California and the nation Civil defense officials and military men have launched a campaign for a massive program of community shelter construction In this, they are being aided by their hired intellectuals in the Rand

Corporation and the Stanford Research Institute, whose task is to make civil defense appear to be intellectually respectable This campaign was responsible for the fallout shelter hearings held in Los Angeles in November by William Byron Rumford's Assembly Interim Committee on Public Health, and the current session of the California Legislature will be asked to consider a greatly expanded state disaster program as well as tax exemptions for people who construct home shelters Similar proposals on a nationwide scale will be made in Washington

In this article I will try to show why liberals should oppose this campaign and work for the elimination of the entire civil defense establishment The argument will consist of the following main points: (1) Many of the advocates of civil defense have practiced distortion and deception to the point where much of what is written and said to support a shelter program cannot be believed or trusted (2) The promotion of fallout shelters and their construction foster militarism, and a war psychology inimical to the orderly settlement of international disputes and dangerous to world peace (3) To provide both urban and rural populations with adequate physical protection against H-bomb, chemical, and biological attack, would require economic expenditures and social regimentation that would destroy those institutions and values which make our society superior to that of our potential enemies

The Deceptive Propaganda of Civil Defense

Most of what is said and written in support of civil defense is deceptive This is most obvious concerning the subject of fallout shelters A good example is the introduction written by the U S Government pamphlet, The Family Fallout Shelter, by Leo A Hoegh, Director of the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization "Everyone," says Hoegh, "even those far from a likely target, would need shelter from fallout " "No matter where you live," the text of the pamphlet adds, "a fallout shelter is necessary insurance "

What Hoegh and most shelter advocates fail to point out is that fallout shelters are of potential value only if they are far from the target.

Within a target area, personnel must be protected from blast and fire, as well as from radiation A 10-megaton bomb, detonated at ground level will produce overpressures of 200 pounds per square inch at distances of up to one mile, 50 p s i at 1 9 miles, and 20 p s i at 2 8 miles—all in excess of what fallout shelters are designed to withstand Civil defense propaganda sloughs over the difference between blast and fallout shelters, and encourages citizens in areas designated as prime targets to build basement shelters that would crush the inhabitants if a 10-megaton bomb fell within three miles of them

Although a gullible press enables civil defense officials to mislead the public on this important question, they are obliged to speak more frankly to legislative bodies from whom they seek funds One of the more enthusiastic advocates of civil defense is Albert W Bellamy, Professor Emeritus of Biophysics at the U C L A School of Medicine and consultant to the AEC "Blast protection," he told the Rumford Committee, "leads me to observe that for all practical purposes, our great cities are essentially on the expendable list " Thus those people in the metropolitan areas who construct fallout shelters and get their pictures in the paper are probably deceiving themselves and certainly misleading the general public

Another great deception is the Conelrad radio broadcasting system. The public is told to tune to 640 or 1240 on the radio dial in case of an alert or an attack Radio stations are regularly required to test the equipment and to make announcements explaining the system to their listeners A government leaflet distributed to explain Conelrad says, "Without it, enemy bombers could tune their direction finders to a station broadcasting in a target city and 'beam' right in to their targets"

What the pamphlet doesn't say is that nobody expects a manned-bomber attack on the United States, and even if bombers were to be used by a potential enemy, there are alternative methods of navigation that are quite adequate This latter conclusion was given status by a study prepared by the Army's Operations Research Office (ORO) and declassified at the insistence of California Congressman John E Moss in November Rather than accept this conclusion, however, OCDM issued a blast at ORO, charging that the report had been prepared by juveniles

Some of the deceptive propaganda about civil defense is the handiwork of the press, and not civil defense officialdom. A good example is the "Last Man on Earth" promotion gimmick of the San Francisco Chronicle This was the famous Bud Boyd fiasco, wherein a Chronicle sports writer and his family set out to determine if they could survive in the mountain wilderness with an axe, a pocketknife, some clothesline, twine, and salt When the paper announced the experiment on June 29, 1960, it linked Boyd's project to the problems of survival after a nuclear attack Boyd's absurd equipment was described as "things a man might throw in his car if he had sufficient warning that the bomb was on its way" "Civil defense officials are watching the test closely," the Chronicle said The spot where the Boyds would go through their ordeal was "known only to civil defense officials and the Chronicle," the paper added, leaving the reader with the impression that these officials were actively involved in the project Apparently the experiment was designed to show that modern man need not fear atomic annihilation if he has a car, axe, knife, clothesline, twine, and salt Fortunately for public opinion, the whole scheme met a fitting end when the Boyds got dysentery and had to come home

But other press stunts are less humorous and more corrupting An example is the way newspapers have reported the experiments conducted by the Naval Radiological Laboratory at Camp Parks These experiments were designed to determine the kinds of fittings and equipment that would be needed in community fallout shelters if the government decided to build them To test a prototype shelter, a group of county jail prisoners remained interned for two weeks, later several family groups occupied the same shelter over a weekend Dr Walmer E Strope, Chief of the Navy Laboratory, told me recently that the sole purpose of the experiments was to test the physical facilities The newspapers, however, reported the events as if they were primarily designed to determine how morale would hold up in shelter life "Psychologists and sociologists will keep all volunteers under constant television surveillance, even while the subject sleeps, Strope explained," ran the Oakland Tribune account The lead of the San Francisco Chronicle story went as follows. "A sweaty life in an atomic fallout shelter where the air is thick, the food monotonous, and the company dull, is amazingly healthy for mind and body You won't get sick, and you won't go stir crazy, and you'll even learn to love your 100 underground companions. This was the final conclusion reported by the Navy here today on its underground experiment. As for psychological problems, they hardly existed at all, Dr. Etter reported. No one wanted out, everyone said they'd volunteer again, and there was only one trivial argument"

The impression left by these press accounts is that life in a fallout shelter can be fun, and therefore thermonuclear war might not be so bad after all No attention is drawn to the fact that the morale situation during the test bore no resemblance to that which would prevail under actual wartime conditions. Convicts promised credit for participation

The difficulty has been outlined to the subcommittee in protests received from residents of Tucson, Ariz, where the Air Force is moving ahead with plans to construct Titan ICBM missile sites at the nearby Davis Monthan Air Force Base The Air Force announcement of the selection of this location was received with enthusiasm by local officials who were quick to recognize the obvious economic value of a multi-million-dollar construction project in the vicinity of the city.

Shortly after this announcement, sober appraisal of the increased hazard of the planned new facilities and information that the missile sites would encircle the city prompted the formation of a citizens group known as the Committee Against Ringing Tucson With Titans (CARTT). The announced purpose of the group was to influence the Air Force to move the missile sites to locations east of the city in order to reduce the fallout hazard to the local population Two significant events then took place in rapid succession Views were expressed that Davis Monthan Air Force Base could hardly be expected to continue in operation if missiles were not located there. The mayor and city council thereupon agreed to express their confidence in whatever siting decision the Air Force might make Various civic organizations fell in line with the mayor and council, and the CARTT campaign collapsed and families of civil defense officials (who comprised the second test group) have motives for getting along with one another that survivors of a nuclear attack might not possess.

The government propaganda campaign in behalf of civil defense is not a small-scale operation More than 15 million copies of "The Family Fallout Shelter" have been distributed by OCDM since it was issued in June, 1959. Although the New York State Legislature turned down Governor Rockefeller's fallout shelter program last year, it did give him $2 million to sell the idea to the public Allan K Jonas, Director of the California Disaster Office, doesn't think that much money will be needed in this State "I've asked in my new budget for the ability to produce two half-hour films on the problem at the cost of only $5,000 each I think, frankly, we could make a lot of inroads for something like $200,000." In 1960, Jonas spent $2,000 to print thousands of copies of an "educational" brochure on fallout Entitled "The Reel [sic] Facts About Fallout," this document consisted of a single sheet of paper 42 inches long and 3 inches wide designed to look like a strip of movie film when unfolded Simulated sprocket holes are printed along the side, and small drawings with captions appear in successive frames. The following is typical. "If you're caught on the road? Your car with windows and ventilators closed is better than no protection. Tune radio to Conelrad (640 or 1240 kc) for instructions If you are in open country, take the best cover you can find—barn, house, shed or other structure "

A new conflict was noted in the nation's capital last week. It was between the building code and the fallout shelter approved and described by the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization.

Washington architect, Detlev Preissler, tried to get a building permit for a shelter in his backyard Zoning officials turned down the idea because only so much of his lot could be occupied by "dwellings."

Then he tried to get a permit for the OCDM shelter in his basement This was turned down, too, because the design of the shelter did not meet requirements for window space or ventilation area, despite the fact that fallout shelters are not supposed to have windows

However, after three months Preissler got his permit and the District of Columbia will classify fallout shelters as nonhabitable rooms

Jonas told the Rumford Committee about other propaganda activities. "We now have a woman's club co-ordinator in our office," he said "Miss Carroline Barrick, who will be traveling statewide to organize this important segment of our population, the women who want to get something done She has had excellent success from PTA's, the Soroptomists and the Federated Women's Clubs They will pass this information on to their members Public education to tell them how to recognize the siren, what the siren sounds like, what an all clear is, what channels to turn to for Conelrad, etc How many know that it is good to have two weeks' supply of food in your home or in your car in case you need it? This is the kind of public information we must have "

Militarism and War Psychology

The militaristic character of the campaign for fallout shelters has become evident in the increasing tendency to describe shelters as a weapon in our deterrent arsenal. One of the first to do this was Herman Kahn of the Rand Corporation "Rather than strike the Russians if they do something provocative," he wrote in 1959, "we might prefer to evacuate our city population to fallout protection . . and then point out to the Russians that we had put ourselves into a much stronger position to initiate hostilities."

This line was echoed in a statement submitted to President Eisenhower on January 12, 1960, by California Congressman Chet Holifield, member of the Congressional Joint Committee on Atomic Energy "Preparations designed to enable the United States to withstand and survive the effects of a possible nuclear attack," said Holifield, "have a direct bearing on our nuclear deterrence policy Such preparations not only improve our defensive posture, but they also tend to reinforce and make more meaningful our offensive power in that the use of such power becomes feasible—or at least not incredible—under defined circumstances " This line of reasoning pervades most of the sophisticated literature on civil defense, and is totally inconsistent with the propaganda that attempts to sell shelters to the public on the grounds that they are purely defensive devices

Anyone who advocates the construction of fallout shelters must base his argument on the assumption that there is a reasonable chance that they will be needed Sometimes in the heat of advocacy, shelter proponents have a tendency to maximize the probability of war It strengthens their case to implant the notion that war is inevitable But there is a danger that this thought will produce only despair and paralysis Hence it must be accompanied with the thought that thermonuclear war is not as bad as popularly believed

—Because the enemy is implacable, deceitful, violent, and bent on our destruction

—We cannot achieve a peaceful settlement with him —Therefore war is likely, and —We must prepare for it, and —It won't be too horrible if we build shelters

All of these themes are links in a chain Reverse any one of them and the argument for shelters is seriously weakened This is why shelter advocates tend to promote them all

One of the slickest and most effective examples of propaganda in behalf of a shelter program was the special issue of the SRI Journal published by the Stanford Research Institute in December 1959 Entitled "Spectrum of Conflict" it carried a series of articles which played cleverly on the above themes On the implacable, violent enemy, William Kintner and Alvin Cottrell wrote "During the next 10 years Communist strategy will be the same mixture as before—only more so There is no reason to believe that any of these factors will undergo a substantial change, assuming no general war As long as present trends in the Free World continue we may assume that Communist power will grow Communist strategy will be aimed at completing the world revolution, i e, establish worldwide Communism The principal techniques of Communist strategy throughout 1960-1970 will still be nuclear blackmail, divisive diplomacy, subversion, propaganda, and increasingly selective economic warfare backed by economic aid, offers of trade, and dumping " Note the implication that the Communists can't be stopped without war Everything they do, the authors argue, is part of a strategy of conquest They are determined and hostile, while we are naive and friendly "Americans like to think of other peoples as friendly neighbors," say Kintner and Cottrell "They find it difficult to grasp the mentality of the Communists for whom conflict is a way of life" William Platt gave further emphasis to this point in the same issue "Their diplomatic tactics permit," he said, "cynically warm and cold overtures, our press and our people run sincerely hot and cold, with a national propensity to be friendly and forgiving" Richard Foster of SRI summarized the argument in a sentence "Militant Communism is ravenous—only control over all mankind will satisfy it" If one accepts all of this, how can one believe that Communism can be stopped short of war?

It remains only to argue that the war won't be too bad This was done by Rogers Cannell in an article in the SRI Journal on "The Active Role of Passive Defense" "The post-attack environment," he said, "with our present state of medical knowledge would be somewhat safer than the one most of us entered at birth History offers further evidence that a civilization can recover from a devastating war Take, for example, the Thirty Years War . . The loss of life due directly to the war has been placed by the lowest estimate at one-third of the entire population of both Germany and Bohemia Other estimates run as high as 80 percent The social effects were catastrophic—entire districts were turned into deserts, wolves ran in the streets of once populated cities, and cannibalism was widespread Yet in roughly 50 years, these areas had recovered in most respects After a nuclear attack short in duration and starting from a much higher base of knowledge, recovery would be far easier for us"

There are times when the shelter argument manifests mild paranoid qualities In a study written for the Rand Corporation in July 1958, Herman Kahn analyzed the consequences of a Soviet commitment to civil defense "If the Soviet Union were to embark on a large-scale nonmilitary defense program," he said, "it could have important implications for United States defense policy Nonmilitary defense might strengthen the resolve of Soviet leaders and make it more difficult to deter them. . . In particular, it could make a Russian first strike appear more attractive" In other words, Kahn is saying that Soviet possession of fallout shelters is likely to make them more prone to initiate preventive war Yet elsewhere Kahn and others have argued that the United States should build shelters in order to appear less provocative—the rationale being that without shelters we are capable only of offensive (first strike) war Obviously the shelter advocates should not be allowed to have it both ways

The Cost of a Shelter Program

Total protection of the population from the lethal effects of thermonuclear war might be possible, but it would be costly If we don't want to regard the people in our big cities as expendable, then we must provide them with blast shelters, much more costly than fallout shelters But where are these structures to be built—at places of work or residence? If the shelters are at home, what is to prevent an enemy from attacking during working hours? If they are built at work sites, mightn't the attack come at night? And what about the thousands of people in vehicles on the streets and freeways? Where are they to go during the 15 minutes' warning the Air Force says we can expect? Consider the problem of a big office building like San Francisco's Russ Building The building cannot be emptied in 15 minutes How then can its occupants get to shelter?

The only answer to these problems is to move our cities underground, so that the people will already be there when the attack comes. Any other approach writes off a large portion of the population But even this does not fully solve the problem, for there is the question of how deep underground it is necessary to go We can calculate the depth necessary for protection against a 10-megaton bomb, but there is no theoretical limit to the size of bombs The deeper we go, the bigger the enemy can make his bombs. He may also reach us with chemical and biological weapons, so provision must be made for a filtered air supply.

Rogers Cannell, the shelter expert of the Stanford Research Institute, has proposed a shelter program which would fall far short of moving our cities underground It would leave 10 percent of the population totally unprotected, and of the rest, apparently many would not be protected against heavy blast The cost would be between $50 and $100 billion a year for 10 years Cannell proposes these expenditures in all seriousness.

Civil defense so far has not involved the astronomical expenditures proposed by the SRI experts, but the money that has been spent is not insignificant Democratic Senator Stephen M. Young of Ohio estimates that "one billion dollars of taxpayers' money has gone down the drain" as civil defense expenditures since 1945 Republican Senator Roman L Hruska of Nebraska, a strong supporter of civil defense, provided some figures in a report he read into the Congressional Record on August 25, 1960. "We have in our emergency stockpile approximately 225 million dollars' worth of medical and engineering supplies, and over 2,000 emergency hospitals . At this time we have over eight billion dollars' worth of materials in our strategic stockpiles to be used in the recovery action In the past two years, $100 million in TV and radio time, and other news media have been provided at a cost to the government of less than $1 million"

The OCDM requested $76,350,000 for fiscal 1961, but Congress cut this amount by about $16 million "Unbelievable as it may seem," Senator Young told the Senate last August, "the 1961 fiscal year request of this boondoggling agency is based on a staff of personnel of which over 40 percent will each receive more than $10,000 a year and render no useful public service for those salaries"

The high salaries of civil defense officials, many of whom are retired military personnel, has been criticized here in California Assemblyman Jesse Unruh, the Democratic Chairman of the Assembly Ways and Means Committee, last year referred to civil defense as a "boondoggle" and called the State Disaster Office a "home for retired generals" As such it isn't a bad home—Rear Admiral A G Cook, San Francisco's civil defense chief, receives a salary of $12,000 a year, presumably in addition to his pension Yet all of these expenditures are nominal compared to what an adequate effort would cost.

Under the influence of a barrage of propaganda, the public might be willing to foot the bill for an underground civilization One indicator is that a lively business of home-shelter construction has already sprung up in California The Los Angeles Office of Civil Defense has a list of 14 contractors who build private fallout shelters for individuals Some of them having waiting lists of clients Los Angeles Civil Defense Director Joseph J. Micciche told the Rumford Committee that about 100 private shelters had been constructed in the Los Angeles area during the middle months of 1960, costing as much as $13,000. He said exact figures on the number of shelters constructed were difficult to obtain, because many of the owners wanted to keep their existence confidential They do this so that when the terrible day arrives, they will not have to share their refuges "Some people," he said, "have planned to stock their shelters with a rifle to ward off intruders"

Civil defense officials hope that as time goes on people will be more willing to admit that they own shelters This is also the view of those contractors who hope shelter construction will become a fad. They are doing their best to promote it, as is apparent from the testimony of William Van Zant of the Survive All Shelter Company before the Rumford Committee "We found out that we had to make it a dual purpose room to appeal to the public No one wants to spend even $1,500 for a thing which they may never use . so we fixed it up as you would a trailer . We sell these . and you finish it yourself . . the bunks the little sofa we have all these in knock-down form You can put them in whenever you find time . and you can have fun doing it . We have about 25 families a day go through our model that is on display. We give them a lot of civil defense literature, give them our story as best we can and send them home Two or three days later, one of our salesmen calls them and asks if he can come out and take them to see a shelter that we have in the ground During the course of the showing of the shelter underground, he is doing the best selling job he can This is the way American industry has arrived to the point where it is We think that is the only way this shelter can be sold"

The sophisticated strategy arguments, the do-it-yourself shelter plans, the absurd evacuation maps, and the palliative statements on radiation all make it hard to disagree with the conclusion of Governor Robert Meyner of New Jersey that the entire program is a "cruel deception."

ADDRESS BY MR. HERMAN KAHN

I would actually like to have the time to discuss two different themes today The first theme which I think preoccupies everybody, shared by many sober people, experts and laymen, is that under current conditions we are living dangerously I am referring to the arms race, fusion nuclear weapons, the possibility of building doomsday machines, the great increase of the techniques of capabilities for destruction And I repeat I can find a very large number of perfectly sober people who will tell you that under current programs we face the serious risk of disaster in 10, 20, 30, or 40 years I often agree with that general position. I can find you an equally large number of sober people, in many cases the same people who tell you that unless we pay more attention to our strictly military problem, in other words run the arms race a little harder, we will, in fact, find ourselves facing the serious possibility of a military disaster in the near future When the near future is one, five, ten or fifteen years, it would be difficult to estimate but these are the possibilities

I want to spend most of my time on the second problem The problem of how to buy time, if you will How to live dangerously, in the dangerous world without increasing the dangers inordinately, if possible. I want to make clear though, that the things I'm talking about are in no sense a solution to the kinds of problems which agitate—the permanent solution to the kind of problems which agitate—many of us today.

I ought to start with some work we did at the Rand Corporation about four years ago, in 1957 We started a study of civil defense. This study was supported by the Rand Corporation's own funds Most of the work we do is under the Air Force sponsorship. It was felt that at that time it might not be perfectly legitimate to spend the Air Force's money on this particular subject, and that in itself is indicative of the regard with which civil defense was held We weren't quite clear at that time that it had anything to do with national defense We really were in some doubt and so we said if you want to look at it, let's spend our own money looking at it. In other words, we addressed ourselves to the question Is it worth bothering—do you really want to spend money, time and energy on serious programs in this field, or do you want to be satisfied with facade To keep people a little comfortable that something is being done without actually really doing anything which would really make a difference We rapidly concluded that the usual reasons for worrying about civil defense, that it supplies and protects men, materials and morale for the fighting services, is no longer relevant

There is a great disagreement of opinion on how long a modern war would be; most people at the Rand Corporation used to study wars lasting from a half hour to eight hours I'm known as a long war man at that place I looked at wars that lasted two to thirty days But they are long Wars lasting much longer than that are very difficult to describe, almost impossible And therefore, given the shortness of the war, the rate at which the events actually occur, it is most unlikely that anything done on the civilian front will make much difference to the outcome of the war At least at first sight

So in any case we concluded, quite rapidly, that civilian defense had very little to do with fighting a war, at least as far as supplying men, materials and morale was concerned These were not important in a modern war We then asked the second question. All right, it isn't the purpose of civilians to defend the military forces, the purpose of the military forces is to defend the civilians So, is civil defense good for civilians? Can you defend people against the effects of a modern war? Our first reaction to this was also most unlikely Modern weapons are fearsome and furthermore when we do these studies we don't match our systems against current problems but against future problems as, what will the enemy do after we put the system in? We must not be negated. And our first reaction was, you really couldn't do much different. Now this reaction was shared by almost everybody, laymen, and experts

I believe when Dr Teller spoke two weeks ago, he referred to the picture, On the Beach. Now, how many people have seen that picture? . . . a goodly number, this is about average, ah, I collected every review I could find of that piece. You may remember what the picture is about. A war occurs in 1963 or 1964, the war is fought in the northern hemisphere, everybody in the northern hemisphere is killed immediately and some nine months later, everybody in the southern hemisphere dies—irrespective of any preparations that they may have made.

I collected, I repeat, almost every review we could find of that movie. With about four exceptions, we found no reviewers in the West who said "This theme is nonsense! This is ridiculous!" Uniformly, with the exceptions I mentioned—and I was responsible for two of the exceptions so you may as well call it two honest exceptions—western reviewers, not Soviet, but western reviewers said, "This is what a war is like," and then they went on to tell about the dramatic impact of the picture.

Now it is important to realize that this cataclysmic view was not a layman's view. It was shared, by and large, by the experts. In 1957, a Congressional committee held extensive hearings on the effects of peacetime testing fallout and there was a great deal of testimony heard to the effect that it is quite possible that testing jeopardized the future of humanity When these same scientists were asked what about a war, they would always answer, "We haven't bothered to calculate that because we don't have to The human race, germ plasm, the human body simply could not take the effects " We have found however, after looking closely at this subject, that cataclysmic as a war is, it is most unlikely that it would be the end of history, and it is even more unlikely that it would be mutual annihilation We have also found the utmost resistance on the part of most people, both technical and laymen, to not only accepting these arguments of ours We are not saying, however, that our findings are necessarily correct What we are saying is that we have examined all the usual reasons for believing that a war is the end of history and have found these to be wrong as far as we can tell Some of them we found almost rigorously to be wrong, some of them we have to use a certain amount of judgment And that therefore, if a war in fact is a total cataclysm it is so for reasons that we have not been able to discover, and furthermore, this is not a field in which we are completely inexperienced We have already tested around the world, in the American Pacific, the Soviet Arctic, the American Nevada the Nevada testing the proving test . . . the proving grounds, some 200 megatons of weapons, which is to put it mildly, a rather appreciable amount. So we think we know something about this subject

To go back to my previous remark, we have found the utmost resistance on the part of our technical people inside and outside the corporation, inside and outside the government, and laymen to accepting this notion that a war is not necessarily a mutual annihilation In trying to find out why this resistance, we have traced it to a number of causes I think the most important of which is that the theory of mutual annihilation is a comforting one You remember when Vice President Nixon visited Russia, he said, "We must live together and die together" Well, to see why that remark is comforting, let me contrast that with another remark which he could have made· "We must live together or one of us will die." It has a quite different sound to it Slightly menacing And both remarks are inaccurate An accurate remark of course, would be kind of dull He would say, "We must live together or there will be a great cataclysm. One side would be greatly damaged, the other side much less, to what degree is hard to state, but this is a reasonable estimate" Then you would go into 25 pages But accuracy has that unfortunate failing It's lengthy But if I had to summarize the situation quite briefly, I think I would say, that the second remark, "We must live together or one of us must die," is a much more accurate description than the first one That in itself is an extremely menacing statement

Now why is it that people felt such—from the technical point of view—such grave doubt about the ability of the country to survive Well, first and foremost of course, there was the direct damage, blast, fire, heat, direct radiation It is quite clear that in a modern war you can get unprecedented levels of casualties for these wars which are waged between semi-civilized people You can kill half a country within a few minutes It's just not difficult to do this if a country is not prepared, and unready

In addition though, and much more frightening, are the lingering effects of a war Ah, Governor Brown mentioned I worked on the _____ Committee, that report is classified But Washington published a summary of it The Times also published a summary Such facts are available They indicated that there were extensive recommendations for massive shelter programs, 20, 30 billion dollars I was engaged in many of the discussions, and I feel free to report to you, that the major objection people had to these reports was so you can save people's lives for two weeks So who cares? The survivors will envy the dead In other words, unless you feel that a post-war society with reasonable standards can be established, who wants to save anyone's life for a week or two? I'd rather be at ground zero—the last statement made generally with a great deal of pride

Well, at that time we weren't as sure as we are right now We now feel that with very modest preparations, for wars fought in the early 60's, and possibly the mid-60's, the survivors will not envy the dead You will re-establish society It may take you five years, it may take you twenty, but it's more likely to be five than twenty And that five or twenty-year period will not be as hard to live under than, say, your grandfather's lived under, or even your fathers in many cases, depending upon the circumstances It will be rougher than your current life

We have looked at genetic effects, bone cancer, Strontium 90, _____137, radioactive iodine, phosphorus—all the effects that we could identify—and we will repeat the remark that while it is certainly true that a modern war has unprecedented effects, in a sense that for 10,000 years after the war is over the environment could be more hostile to human life. More people will be born defective, will get sick.

More tragedy will be around, and more numerically this tragedy and suffering will be very great Percentage-wise it's not enough, so that the average man—certainly if he is not a hypochondriac, at least—will not have his expectations affected very sharply

Having made this investigation, we then asked another question. All right, if some form of civil defense is feasible, if the preparations of the government can make a difference in how the war affects the nation, how does this affect our strategic planning? What is the role of civil defense in the national strategy? Here we found that you had to distinguish very carefully the various objectives in the national strategy Let me roughly summarize these under three kinds of deterrents All are called type 1 deterrence—it is the ability of a country like the United States to deter the Soviet Union from striking us And it has been widely supposed that one of the best ways to do this is to threaten them with an awful punishment so that they will feel it is irrational to strike us This defends you then against a rational responsible decision maker It may, of course, have no effect if you get a man sufficiently irrational or irresponsible, or if there is an accident I would like to speak rather of a type 2 deterrence as a deterrence of extreme provocations, that is, he strikes your friend, say with a nuclear weapon You remember Khrushchev recently made the speech when he said that ____novsky had orders to shoot weapons, rockets, at any nation which allowed the U S to fly U-2's What if he dropped a few bombs on Turkey? What would you do about it? This is the kind of thing we are talking about A large scale invasion of Europe It is often believed that if you can threaten him with an awful punishment for that, that that is a sufficient deterrent But as I tried to make clear, this is not so Because it is not the ability to punish that counts here—it is the will And the will may, in fact, be lacking for the best of reasons

I want to refer to something I call type 3 deterrence This is sometimes called tit for tat. It's a notion that you don't have to cut off a child's head to punish it, you can slap it If it's not a 2½ year old, it works That is, if the child is of the age of reason This is the notion that the limited war, the diplomatic negotiation, the blockade, the insults, all the things that nations do to each other in a give-and-take way

Now let us go through these three kinds of deterrents in turn and ask ourselves what role civil defense might play Let me stop at type 1 deterrence and let me first make the point that type 1 deterrence can fail This is widely not believed to be true If you go to senior executives in Washington, in England, in France, they will tell you that no nation today will deliberately press the button, because even if it thought it could win the war, it couldn't be sure—the risks are too great, the uncertainty is too large, too chilling, so that nobody goes to war deliberately any more—that only a facade of a deterrent ——— will work In some ways I am friendly to this school. The decision to go to war is certainly a chilling one, but I think people have made it too strong, particularly some people have such great faith in the facade that they don't worry about the objective capability that is "can you really retaliate?"

Let me discuss for a moment the so-called "missile gap" to illustrate the kind of trouble a nation might get into if it was careless. I am not, however, going to say that we are in that trouble—that it is widely believed in Washington and elsewhere that there is no real missile gap Let us imagine, for the moment, that the Soviets, say, had about 300 missiles This would be a small number if you believe that they went into production in 1957 It is, I repeat, believed in Washington on presumably very good evidence, that the Soviets do not have these missiles, so I am simply giving you a hypothetical example. We will _____ have them in numbers like that in a year or two so it is not a ridiculous number, you understand Many people say, "Who worries about the Soviets having 300 missiles. If they have 300 missiles, we have 2,000 bombers, and our 2,000 bombers can do a great deal more damage than any 300 missiles (like this, which is true) Our 2,000 bombers can come pretty close to obliterating the Soviet Union if they take off and get their bombs dropped, and if 300 missiles could not obliterate the United States—though they could damage us very severely—therefore, why should we worry if they have a force which is less capable of inflicting destruction than the force we have? Who wants to match them missible for missile?

This comparison ignores one of the central facts of modern war—the enormous difference between what is called first and second strike Your 2,000 bombers sit on about 50 SAC bases around the country A certain proportion of them are on 15-minute alert If they get 5 or 10 minutes' warning, they start taking off But there is no reliable method, at least none that has been announced in the New York Times or the Washington Post, for getting warning Therefore, if they have 300 missiles they could, in theory, assign six missiles per SAC base

If these missiles were halfway between zero and worthless, that is, if they had probably half a complete count-down, say within five minutes of the assigned firing time, then there would be only one chance in 64 that all six would misfire. Under these circumstances, if you make a few elementary calculations, you can see that there is better than an even chance that all your bombers on the ground would be destroyed, and that would be the end of those bombers—one chance in three that one base would survive _____ 5 alert B52s, 15 alert B47s, and a very small chance that two bases would survive Now I don't know if the Soviets would have the nerve, under these circumstances, to press the button, and I am not even sure they would want to. They would prefer winning peacefully if they can, and they might only press the button if they felt under serious pressure. But I, for one, would feel incredibly uncomfortable if that situation existed

What role would civil defense have in such a situation? At first sight, absolutely none In other words, there are the SAC bases, there are the missiles—what has civil defense got to do with this? I think, in the first few minutes of the war, in fact, nothing to do with it. The war could be won and lost irrespective of what civil defense you have. This, I think, is literally true. On the other hand, the state of civil defense could make a great deal of difference to the outcome of the war to the United States; and secondly, and I think more important, it may in fact make a difference to how well the other side can win or lose it. Let me couple this particular tactic with another tactic, which we refer to at Rand as post-attack blackmail, post-attack coercion, intra-war deterrent—the notion that you can make threats after the war has started as well as before the war If the Soviets happen to shoot these missiles at us, if their yield was reasonably small, if they air-burst the missiles and it cost them nothing in efficiency to air-burst, then they would kill very few Americans, rather surprisingly Our estimates run between 2,000,000 and 5,000,000—more likely 2 than 5 That is a lot of people killed, but as calculations go today, it is very little. It would have done, in other words, very little damage. Under these circumstances, they could present the United States with some fearful threats Now it turns out that we have a lot of planes which are in the air, some of them are armed and ready to go, but most of them are not We have planes on the pipeline. For every plane that is on alert, there are two that are not alert, and it turns out that maybe 5, 10, 20 hours after the war has started, we could launch against the Soviets a rather large strike of many hundreds of planes unless they interfered with this operation Now they would, of course, try to interfere with the operation, but they might not have the capability They might have used all that they had in their very first strike Under these circumstances, whether they could or could not interfere, they could, I repeat, try a blackmail tactic that might run as follows: They could, say—they could write Jack Kennedy a letter.

Dear Jack Congratulations (I might make the point in this kind of a blackmail it is very important to be a little sarcastic because it carries a great impact—it makes you understand if something is different) Dear Jack As you may have noticed, we have struck you. If you haven't noticed, refer to Appendix 1 in the back of the document and it will show you a description of the attack According to our calculations we have killed less than 2,000,000 Americans. We have no real war aims, we simply did this to stop the arms race, which is getting ferocious We will leave you alone (This will be a lie but of course ———— ) Now we understand in the first few minutes of the war you sent a few planes against our cities We think that is deplorable—you shouldn't do that, but if they get through we will not be angry at you We will be angry at ————(name) who is in charge of our air defense system We give him about $5,000,000 a year and if he can't stop a handful of planes, he's got some explaining to do to the Revenue and Taxation Committee—he's been wasting that money On the other hand, we also understand that you may send some hundreds of planes against our cities in a few hours If any of these get through we will take a most awful revenge We will in fact destroy, say, five American cities for every Soviet city that you destroy.

Now if Khrushchev makes a remark like this he makes it very dramatically because he wants you to remember it He says, for example, there are two types of people in England, the pessimists and the optimist The pessimists believe it takes two bombs to destroy England, the optimists think it takes five You remember, then, that it is only five bombs at most, you see When he says that in a war Germany will be destroyed he mentions the cities on which these bombs will be dropped—five of them, Dusseldorf, _____, etc., so that you have an image—you can feel the bombs dropping. I would guess he would do the same here He would say, if you destroy Moscow, I will destroy New York, Washington, Chicago, Philadelphia and Los Angeles If you destroy Leningrad, I will destroy San Francisco, Detroit, Pittsburgh, New Orleans, Miami—give you a complete list—then he can finish. (He says) You know better than I do what kind of a country you want to have after the war You tell me what cities you want destroyed, and I will do it for free You don't have to work at it. In other words, you just name the cities and I will go ahead and destroy them. If you want to do it the hard way, you can do it the hard way. I do want to observe that you can only hurt me, while I now have the capability to totally destroy you. (That's a very frightening threat, you understand, and would be very hard for even a tough President to ignore, to put it mildly).

Let me go on for a moment to what I call a Type 2 deterrence situation, because I think as far as the military problems of the 60s are concerned, this is more likely to be our problem than the one I have just mentioned We are doing things to fix the holes in our military system, as far as type 1 deterrence is concerned, the government is probably right that the Soviets don't have the missiles and before they have them we will have done the things necessary to correct the system So let us ask ourselves the second problem

Assume there is a balance of terror Assume for the moment that a war really means mutual annihilation, that it is really true that only an insane man goes to war—that war cannot be a continuation of policy by other means Assume that the bone cancer problems really are as bad as sometimes believed or discussed I might mention, these are not impossible things. If I change the chemistry of Strontium 90 by just a slight amount I could make most of the United States uninhabitable within a few moments Or doomsday machines can be built. It is technologically feasible today to build devices which will kill unprotected human life These could be done.

All right Let's assume we have a balance of terror Now, I happen to have a rather dramatic illustration of what this could mean—about two years ago, in January 1959, at Princeton University and though my time is limited, I would like to go over this problem in some detail because, I repeat, it may be the most important problem we face in the next 10 years Princeton was holding a conference on NATO problems We had a number of distinguished Europeans there, a number of civilians, military, a number of Americans—civilian and military, official and nonofficial One of these Europeans, a Britisher, raised the question of whether the United States would be willing to go to war if the Soviet Union attacked Europe In other words, if we had a credible first strike ability, with the emphasis on the word credible And he gave it as his considered opinion that in the case of a Russian attack on Europe, that the United States would choose the path of Munich to the path of living up to its obligations whatever they might be His statement aroused some tremendous furor. It would not today, by the way. This is today a widely believed position And, there was some quick discussion, and one of the Americans got up—a general officer who was very angry It is quite clear that he took this as an attack on his personal integrity and he then said that he believed the United States would live up to its obligations, he then picked up a pamphlet and read from Article 5 of the NATO Treaty which states that an attack on one is an attack on all. He read it very slowly. He was a very impressive man and he just had a tremendous impact on an audience which is normally not easily influenced by gestures He sat down. The Britisher then said, "Would you kindly read the very next sentence?" which says, "And each nation will decide for itself what it will do." You notice that it does not have the same round sound as the first sentence? It is the kind of a statement that your lawyer will allow you to sign I mean, its not really an obligation

The Britisher then pointed out that when that Treaty was ratified by the United States Congress, Dean Acheson had made a big point of the second sentence and maybe he had a reason—maybe he was being a little cautious The American could not deny the second sentence that was there. He had never actually read it and he was kind of surprised, but he said since then the American Presidents had made a series of declarations which wiped out the second sentence_____did not leave it completely correct, but the fact that in only four more months you could have heard Secretary Herter on the occasion of the confirmation of his nomination state that he could not imagine any American President initiating an all-out war unless we had been struck or were sorely in danger of being struck_____the thought that all of Europe was not dependent on the United States

Let me_____I have had occasion to talk to the Americans present, both at the conference and private I used a series of debating tricks to get them to understand more clearly the nature of the problem. I would like to use the same debating tricks here this morning because, I repeat, I think this problem must be understood if we are to understand one of the important roles that civil defense in the protection of people and property does play in national strategy and foreign policy I said, imagine a hypothetical situation in which the Soviets dropped thermonuclear bombs or they do something very drastic (_____how drastic I can't imagine it) drop thermonuclear bombs on London, Berlin, Paris, Rome, Bonn, and they do it as far as you can see, just to show they can get away with it, that they will be unpunished after they do this and therefore people better worry about it Imagine also for a few moments that the United States President is restrained by a device which I can describe to you—there are tricky ways to do this—from reacting for 24 hours He has to think about what he will do and will call a meeting, of his National Security Council and ask what shall we do? And you can guarantee that 95 percent of those present will say, you have to draw a line someplace, wherever that line is, the Soviets have clearly crossed it and now it is time to unleash the SAC war plan and destroy the Soviet Union

Let us also imagine that one of those present brings up a very important point. that if we strike the Soviet Union we will kill every Russian, allright, every Russian civilian, all 220,000,000 of them, but we won't get the Soviet strategic force and in their retaliatory blow the Soviet strategic force will kill every American, all 181,000,000 of us, and that furthermore, in launching this blow we don't rebuild the Europe which was destroyed, we simply guarantee the destruction of much of the rest of Europe, and if the Europeans are asked to vote they would prefer some other action.

Now there are many things you will do, you won't stand idly by—you will declare war allright, you will mobilize, you will do many things, but there is one thing which I don't believe you will do—and that is launch an all-out attack on the Soviet Union which would inevitably mean the retaliation that would result in the destruction of 181,000,000 Americans

We have just passed through a campaign—Jack Kennedy won it. What his character was, I think, showed during the campaign, he is a very tough man, he's courageous, he's cool. I have asked many people in the United States whether they thought that Jack Kennedy would in fact press the button under these circumstances, whether there was any chance at all I don't know what your opinion is but these people are uniformly saying no Now many of these people are military audiences who themselves put a great regard on honor, courage and integrity, who are perfectly willing to give up their lives and the lives of their friends for their country, for honor and integrity and they sometimes say a little scornfully, no, that civilian wouldn't do it I then ask the next and rather important question Would you press the button if you were President of the United States and had these awful responsibilities? There is generally a dead silence, everybody looks at the senior officer present and he then says, "That's a hypothetical question" and I say, "Yes, I just wanted to find out what kind of a person you are; whether you have a price Later on I'll haggle over the price, but I want to get your price " Well, he has to choose between being a fool and a coward He thinks about it awhile and invariably turns out to be a coward—he would not press the button I then ask if anybody else in the audience would press the button Once in a great while a young officer stands up and says rather defiantly, "I would press the button " We then ask him to leave the room He is a fine unit commander, the kind of thing we want but this is not a briefing for unit commanders, no, it is for senior officers who are looking and planning

What I am saying here is that there is some level of casualties at which the Soviets could feel almost confident that they would not be retaliated against They couldn't be absolutely sure, by the way. In other words, the Soviets would worry that there is a small probability that they would be struck But let me make an important point A small probability is not necessarily deterring. It is not as if there is a zero chance of war when all of a sudden you brought in one in a thousand. Every year there is a chance of war—I don't know what it is, but it would be very hard to persuade me that it was less than, say, one in a hundred I happen to think it is higher and if you change one in a hundred to .015 that would not be deterring, particularly if it resulted in greater opportunities, greater strength and maybe lesser chance of war in the future as far as the Soviet Union was concerned.

I have tried to establish the principle that 180,000,000 dead is too much How many, then, is acceptable? This is the hardest and most unpleasant question I know of. I am asking to quantify the unquantifiable How many lives are you willing to give up for what degree of honor, future security, future strength? I have checked with many Americans I find their numbers run between, after some thought, 10,000,000 and 60,000,000 dead, clustering around 60,000,000. In other words, most senior Americans have a very high regard for their own strength, for their own resolve—tenacious strength, tenacious resolve. The way they get 60,000,000 is kind of interesting, by the way. They take a third of the population, just less than half In other words, no American I have spoken to is willing, after some 10 or 15 minutes' thought, to argue that the United States should initiate any action which would inevitably result in the death of more than half the Americans, and the Russians can pretty much rely on this I have checked this with many Europeans too, and their numbers run between 2,000,000 and 20,000,000, clustering around 2,000,000, some actually arguing zero.

The London Times gave a full page review to the Rand Civil Defense Studies—a very friendly review, but the final paragraph said . . . This study attempts to buy two things one, insurance in case war occurs; this we think the study proved can be done In other words you can buy a system of alleviating limiting damage, facilitating recuperation, saving lives The second thing the study tries to buy—greater freedom with the foreign policy—we do not believe it can be done No American President will distinguish between five million and 50 million dead, and we mean by that not that 50 is like five, but five is like 50, and therefore, irrespective of civil defense preparations, the Americans would be deterred

Let me ask a question at this point (Retort one: this is not a good place to get answers) but which is relative to the kind of tense situation of the type I imagine, but one where the Russians have given an ultimatum or where there was a tense crisis in which neither side wanted to back down Imagine a situation which is just this tense Not that everybody was saying neither side wants war, so the other side has to back down— which is the usual remark you hear—but each side is saying, "Unless you back down, I will strike you." In other words, the kind of ultimatum the British gave to Hitler in September 1939 "Unless you withdraw from Poland, we will go to war" Or the same kind of ultimatum the British gave to the Germans in 1914 "Unless you cease from the invasion of Berlin, I mean, of Belgium, we will go to war" See, you are trying to convince the other side you will go to war. I then ask my audience which is often composed of reasonably senior people, people who might have to draft that note or send it, "How would you make this thought convincing to the other side? At this time you were not kidding, you were not bluffing, you were deadly serious that unless the other side backed down, you were going to live up to your obligations as you saw them and were going to go to war. In other words, put yourself in the feet. for the moment. of President Kennedy or Premier Khrushchev, and ask how could you make this convincing. Now, you can't say I'll hit you at 12 noon because the other side will hit you at 11 a m —that's too dangerous, you want to raise apprehension not quite that much Now, in fact Khrushchev in his May 5th speech on the U2, made the point very clearly He said, "We could have sent the Americans a note, but who reads notes?" (I think this is clear—nobody reads notes) Therefore, we had to do something and they shot down the U2 In other words, you've got to do something which is dangerous—that's the only way the challenge is resolved, and you want to do something which changes the balance of power, if you can. What kinds of things could you do?" Now, I have asked this question of many senior audiences—I sometimes give a two-day talk on this subject I have found that until quite recently nobody was able to answer that question satisfactorily in my audiences

Now, there are many things you can do I'll discuss only one of them in a few moments When I give this two-day lecture we generally give a party that evening and I make two points One, when I ask that same question of the people's wives, that half of the wives present will come up with the right answer within a matter of 30 seconds Secondly, that my audience was really a very peculiar _____. It used to be the test of a sovereign nation that it could go to war, but these people not only were not able to threaten to go to war but did not know they were not able, so that they did not realize themselves that they were deterred Well, if you ask the average wife what should you do, her first reaction would be something like this "Let's get the children out of town and then go talk to him" In other words, evacuation, improvised protection What I am saying here is that no great nation can threaten another nation no matter what the other nation does, unless it is irrationally blind with anger or it removes the 50 million to 100 million hostages you have in your cities I am not saying, by the way, that evacuation is an adequate civil defense program It is not The actual program which Rand recommends, which runs less than a billion dollars, which is an initial program which would carry you through the early sixties we feel, is a program of identifying existing construction, utilizing existing construction, and later on we talk about the possibility of building shelters both in town and out of town

The only point I am trying to make now is that there are important tactical situations where an ability to put your people in a place of safety on 48 hours' notice, 72 hours' notice, 96 hours' notice can be of great value both from the viewpoint of deterring extreme provocations and if deterrents fail, implementing the program that must be followed subsequently The reason I mention this is that today "evacuation" is a bad word because people rightly recognize that you cannot outrun the 15-minute missile They also believe, correctly, that it is unlikely that any President would evacuate cities on the basis of intelligence information

I repeat the point, that in foreign policy which civil defense could contribute to, the ability to put your people in a place of safety on 48-, 72-, 96-hour notice is of tremendous importance It also happens to be a very cheap program It is a program which could be implemented at the state level actually, and this is the kind of thing which we are trying to impress the California Disaster Office today

I would like to finish my talk this morning with some remarks on type 3 deterrence. I am running a little overtime so I will cut it a little short.

Type 3 deterrence is the tit for tat—the limited war Korea, Indo-China, things of that sort Now it is important to realize that when you talk about type 3 deterrence, the day-to-day relations between two great states, you are talking the overall balance of power. It would have been perfectly possible for the United States to have lost in Korea and still claim Korea as a victory. Actually, we tied it, and that I think may be even more of a victory The reason for that is as follows In June 1950, there was a great national debate as to whether the defense budget should be 14, 15, or 16 billion dollars. Louie Johnson had the impression that he had a good chance for President if it got down to 14. Others thought that military responsibility required at least 16 There was testimony by senior Americans that 16 was a good thing, but 18 would be bankruptcy. In that same month, North Korea marched into South Korea and that year Congress authorized 60 billion dollars for national defense It took about two or three years to spend the money and the actual spending never reached more than 53, but that authorization represented the greatest possible defeat for the communist bloc. Before that authorization they faced a housekeeping organization.

I have no idea what our situation would be today if the Congress had not marched into South Korea, but my guess is that it would be disastrous But they marched, they cut off a partial mobilization and without even half trying we re-armed to the point where with all the weaknesses we may or may not have we are a truly fearsome military power It is this ability to rapidly spend money which I think acts as the greatest single restraint on communist behavior They know that in any crisis, Berlin or Cuba or Congo, if they push us too far they give us a humiliating defeat, one which we cannot gloss over with some face-saving excuses. we will be forced to do something to demonstrate both the resolve and the capability that that defeat will not occur in the future, and here again, it turns out that the easiest thing for us to do is to mobilize, tighten the lines, and spend money The weakness is, of course, that we cannot spend money rapidly, because today our military installations are not equipped to accept the money. They are built in a certain way and in many cases you have to junk them and start over again if you wish to increase the power or efficiency of the force Or in other cases, I think civil defense unfortunately is one of them, we are not prepared to spend money because we don't really know how to spend it We have broad guidelines, we understand in general the things we would do, but not in detail, and you can't spend money unless you know details

I know no economists in the United States, professional economists, who argue that currently the United States couldn't spend 100, 200 billion a year if necessary for national security for periods of four or five years without any appreciable hardships. If it was 200 billion a year, it would be like World War II where you had phonograph records available but no phonographs In other words, it would mean a tremendous change in all your peacetime programs, but people would not be hungry, starving, penniless There would be a financial legacy of inflation, taxes, disorganization, but none of these would be considered serious if it was a question of national survival. This ability is, I think, the largest single ability the United States has for its normal day-to-day negotiations with the Soviet Union We should have explicit plans to implement it, to strengthen it, to make it more effective and, in addition, if deterrence fails, to make it actually an objective capability

For of these two things, the ability to utilize—these three things, the ability to use existing protection, to improvise—that is, the ability to put your people in a place of safety in 48, 72, 96 hours' notice, in the ability to have plans, to accept money, I think states can show a leadership which the federal government has unfortunately failed to show. I wouldn't actually be speaking here if the federal government had done its job I don't think they have I hope to see a change in the current administration This is not due to _____ -- Democrats perhaps, but simply a change means a re-evaluation But states here can be very helpful, if for no other reason than civil defense, like all other national security programs, turns out to have to be tailored to the individual areas Civil defense program for California is different from one for New York City which is different from Alabama which is different from Montana, and unless people take an interest in their own local problems you will not get together the kinds of programs that are needed, you don't get the stimulation and you really, in some sense, are not fulfilling the duties that can be done, that is, every man in the United States has a responsibility to do that which he can do and this goes for the individuality, the municipality, the state and the federal government I am not trying to say that this program can be handled by the State by itself I do not believe it can I think, however, actions of the State can make an enormous difference and this is the reason why I haven't given you any details—I haven't got time to do that today—but I have tried to paint the general picture of why it makes sense to do things in this field. I hope at least some of you will agree with me.

Thank you very much

DEAR MR. The report was prepared to show Members of the Legislature the extent of the public's participation in the freeway route determinations made by the California Highway Commission during 1960. It includes details of the five public hearings held by the commission and the 48 public meetings held by the Division of Highways.

Letter of Transmittal
Report of Golden Gate Transportation Commission

GOLDEN GATE AUTHORITY COMMISSION

Hon. Members of the Legislature of the State of California

As charged by Chapter 1714, Statutes of 1959, this commission submits its final report on the advisability of operating bridge, harbor, airport, and other transportation facilities in the San Francisco Bay area under a unitary agency.

In pursuing its study the commission held public hearings throughout the Bay area; received comprehensive recommendations from its regional Advisory Council; and carried out extensive financial and organizational analyses of the region's transportation facilities through technical consultants.

Advisory Council recommendations and summaries of all hearings are set forth herein Also included is the letter of transmittal in which Ernst & Ernst, the commission's consultants, summarize their findings and recommendations

Because of their volume, the consultants' detailed findings have been published in a separate document appended to this report

In adopting its own findings, this commission concluded unanimously that the expansion and economic potential of the San Francisco Bay area requires establishment of a central agency to co-ordinate and develop the transportation facilities needed by the region

Commission recommendations for creation of a Golden Gate Transportation Commission are documented in this report We are hopeful they prove of value to the Legislature in deliberating how best to assist the metropolitan Bay area in developing an efficient, balanced transportation complex to serve its population and support its prodigious growth

Respectfully,

THOMAS M CARLSON, Chairman

Above transmitted report referred to the Committee on Public Utilities and Corporations.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION

Hon Ralph M Brown
State Capitol, Sacramento

DEAR MR SPEAKER: The State Board of Education has reviewed the recommendations contained in the enclosed report entitled, "Recommendations on Public School Support," at meetings of the board on December 1, 1960, and January 6 and 13, 1961 At its meetings on January 6 and 13, it authorized the transmission of the report to the Members of the Legislature. This report has been prepared by the State Department of Education pursuant to the provisions of Section 134 of Chapter 1251, Statutes of 1959

In authorizing transmission of the report, the State Board of Education went on record in support of all of the recommendations with fiscal implications, except the following the proposal for the increase in the foundation program level for junior colleges, appearing in Chapter V

The board indicated that while it is withholding its recommendations on the proposals relating to the support of the junior colleges, it believes a substantial amount of increased state support for the junior colleges is both needed and desirable However, at this time, there was not a majority of the board who supported the amount recommended The board will give further study to the subject of junior college support and transmit its view thereon to the Legislature at an early future date.

In recommending the increase in the per pupil allowance for behind-the-wheel driver training, the board urges that the costs of this program be met from income to the General Fund equal to the costs thereof The board also recommends that this training be given during a time which is not competitive with the regular school day.

In approving the recommended increases in the foundation program of $10 per unit of average daily attendance at the elementary and high school level to be supported by additional state aid, the board members desired to bring to the attention of the Legislature their belief that federal assistance is urgently needed to meet the steadily rising costs of education Therefore, the board strongly recommends to the Legislature that it forthwith memorialize the 87th Congress to enact legislation at this session of the Congress which will provide a substantial measure of federal aid for education to the respective states

Sincerely yours,

ROY E SIMPSON, Executive Officer

POLICY STATEMENT ON HOUSE RESOLUTIONS

Policy Statement on House Resolutions

The author of every House resolution expressing sympathy or commendation or taking note of any event, appearing before the Rules Committee, will be asked to agree to have re-referred to the committee the resolution, if substantial opposition to the same is expressed on the floor of the Assembly What constitutes "substantial opposition" is to be decided by the Rules Committee

The policy will be implemented by public announcement in the Assembly and a statement to be given each author of a House resolution appearing before the committee (See statement below)

AUGUSTUS F HAWKINS, Chairman

Policy Agreement Covering Assembly House Resolutions

As a sponsor of what I believe to be a noncontroversial House resolution before the Assembly Rules Committee, I am in accord with the policy of the committee in attempting to both expedite the hearings on such resolutions and to provide the fullest exposure to scrutiny by the membership

In consideration, therefore, of the courtesy extended me, I agree to co-operate with the committee in having re-referred to the committee this resolution, if before or during its consideration in the Assembly, substantial opposition by one or more members is expressed or filed with the Rules Committee The question of what constitutes "substantial opposition" is to be decided by the Rules Committee

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolutions were offered

By Mr Hanna.

House Resolution No. 77

Relating to a system of accounting for junior college costs

WHEREAS, Investigation has shown that the amount of income and expenditures of a unified school district or a high school district attributable to a junior college maintained by the district is not readily ascertainable, and

WHEREAS, Information concerning the amounts of such income and expenditures are necessary in planning and providing, at the state level, for the present and future financial needs of junior colleges, now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the State Board of Education be hereby directed to devise immediately an accurate system of accounting for the exact cost of operations and the exact amounts of revenue which are attributable to a junior college maintained by a unified district or a high school district so that when the system is devised such district will be able to report such costs and revenue annually to the State Board of Education and to the Legislative Analyst, and be it further

Resolved, That the State Board of Education report on the system devised to the Legislature and to the Legislative Analyst on or before January 1, 1962, and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly transmit a copy of this resolution to each Member of the State Board of Education

Relating to mentally retarded children

WHEREAS, The program for the education of severely mentally retarded children is currently a responsibility and function of the public school system pursuant to Section 6903 of the Education Code, and

WHEREAS, The welfare of the child, as well as the interests of the State in the sound administration of the program, require that his program be conducted in the most efficient and effective manner possible, now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Committee on Rules is requested to assign to the appropriate interim committee for study and a thorough evaluation the education program provided for mentally retarded children pursuant to Section 6903 of the Education Code, and the question of whether the program is an appropriate function of the public schools or whether it might not more properly be conducted by some other state or local agency

Resolution read, and referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. Hanna:

Relating to the state college extension system

WHEREAS, Many costs of the state college extension services are absorbed in the budgets of the colleges rather than being accounted for separately, and adequate and uniform statewide accounting procedures to accurately reflect the true cost of the system do not exist, and

WHEREAS, Under a decentralized administrative structure each state college has been responsible for offering and evaluating its own program with the result that the quality and quantity of extension services varies with each individual state college, and

WHEREAS, Many students enrolled in state college extended day classes are not pursuing degree or certificate objectives, now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Trustees of the State College System are requested to (1) establish and put into operation a system of accounting which will accurately reflect the true cost of the state college extension system, (2) investigate immediately the quantity and quality of the extended day programs of the state colleges, and (3) develop immediately policies which will result in the transfer of students in the extended day program who are not pursuing regular degree objectives into the state college extension system

Resolution read, and referred to the Committee on Rules

By Mr Hanna:

House Resolution No. 80

Relating to adult education

WHEREAS, Accounting procedures to determine the actual costs of adult education classes are currently inadequate, inaccurate or nonexistent, and no uniform statewide accounting figures are used to compute the costs of adult average daily attendance; and

WHEREAS, Funds derived from registration or student body fees charged adults enrolling in many high school adult education programs are not used to defray the cost of instruction, but rather are often used to purchase or rent property and equipment, operate book stores, and pay for speakers, dances, picnics, and graduation exercises, and

WHEREAS, It is essential to the sound evaluation of the adult education programs that accounting procedures and methods be developed to accurately reflect the costs of adult education, now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the State Board of Education is requested to undertake a study to develop an accounting system to accurately compute the cost of adult education and the cost per unit of adult average daily attendance on a statewide basis, which accounting system shall include standard methods of prorating special items such as insurance, building maintenance, construction costs, and administrative costs to adult education, and be it further

Resolved, That the State Board of Education shall report its findings to the Assembly by not later than January 1, 1962

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT TO PRINT IN JOURNAL

Mr. Holmes was granted unanimous consent that the following closing speech by the Governor of the Model Youth Legislature be ordered printed in the Journal:

SPEECH DELIVERED BY HON. TERRY WADE, YOUTH GOVERNOR TO JOINT CONVENTION OF 13TH ANNUAL YMCA MODEL LEGISLATURE

February 5, 1961

Lt. Gov. Blum, Speaker Teri Levitin,
and Members of the Model Legislature:

For 10 years, our fathers fought a battle against overwhelming odds motivated only by an intense belief in freedom and a profound dedication to a government of the people, by the people, and for the people—democracy Even today, the principles of democracy are still being challenged If we are to uphold these principles, we must fulfill our responsibilities of citizenship.

What we have accomplished in the past three days takes in a much broader scope than merely deciding the fate of certain legislation. We have experienced a unique perspective of democracy in action. We have seen its faults as well as its merits

Only a few of us have triumphed in our personal aspirations for success Many of us are disappointed, and justifiably so, for if we were able to continue with this session we would probably accomplish much more Democracy is slow and it does not satisfy everyone We must realize that in democracy, the interests of the majority reign above the interests of the individual Democracy depends upon discussion and compromise for common interests

By actually participating in the debate of some of the most controversial and complex problems confronting our State—education, crime, civil rights—we have come to the realization that democracy is successful only if the people are educated, informed, and interested One of the greatest weaknesses of this day stems from the lack of participation and interest in public affairs by such a large percentage of the people Many people concentrate solely on personal gain with the thought in mind that someday they will participate in the responsibilities of citizenship Too often they delay too long and the parade goes by leaving them without knowledge of, or influence in, the great institutions in which they live Only a fraction of the world population is blessed with the God-given right of self-government We must not take this right for granted

Although we have worked hard, we have not yet completed our task It is just beginning We, as youth, have yet to take on the complex responsibilities of upholding the righteousness of the principles and processes of democracy before all the world This is our test We can go forward now with vivid memories of what we have learned here and can take on our task with confidence Of this experience, we have only to be thankful

CHANGE IN REFERENCE OF ASSEMBLY BILL NO. 1315

Speaker Brown was granted unanimous consent that Assembly Bill No 1315 be referred to the Committee on Public Health, instead of to the Committee on Governmental Efficiency and Economy

ADDRESS BY MR. GARRIGUS

In observance of Lincoln's Birthday, Mr Garrigus addressed the Assembly.

Address Ordered Printed in Journal

By unanimous consent, Speaker Brown ordered that the address delivered by Mr Garrigus be printed in the Journal

GARRIGUS FOR SANDBURG ON LINCOLN

The Abraham Lincoln born in Kentucky one hundred and fifty years ago looms colossal in American history and in world annals Mystery attaches to him, all that may lurk in "Democracy" or "The American Dream." Many believe this mystery is there in him more than in any other one man of the past Other leaders had it greatly but somehow or other Lincoln is closer to the people and always he's close to storm His cadences at Gettysburg so clearly sang the ancient song that where there is freedom men have fought and sacrificed for it, and that freedom is worth men's dying for His humility was absolute Lincoln foreshadowed something The people took him as a new figure of hope for them This hope ranged around wider freedom, political and economic, for the common man It might be long in coming. But Lincoln held the lights and the high torch for it.

Lincoln—yes—he stands for decency, honest dealing, plain talk, and funny stories Look where he came from—doesn't he know all us strugglers and wasn't he a kind of a tough struggler himself—all his life right up to the finish?

Something like that you can hear in any nearby neighborhood and overseas Millions of plain folk take Lincoln as a personal treasure He had something they would like to see spread everywhere over the world. Democracy? We can't exactly say what it is, but we know he had it. In his blood and bones he carried it In the breath of his speeches and writings it is there

The great American poet Walt Whitman saw Lincoln as "the grandest figure on the crowded canvas of the drama of the nineteenth century" The Kansas Congressman Homer Hoch spoke in the House of Representatives February 12, 1923 "To mountain and sea and star men turn forever in unwearied homage And thus, with Lincoln, for he was mountain in grandeur of spirit, he was sea in undervoice of mystic loneliness, he was star in steadfast purity of purpose and of service And he, too, abides."

Lincoln took the word "liberty" as precious, saying in 1858. "Our reliance is in the love of liberty which God has planted in our bosoms. Our defense is in the preservation of the spirit which prizes liberty as the heritage of all men, in all lands, everywhere"

It was Edward Stanton, as a prominent lawyer meeting Lincoln for the first time in Cleveland, Ohio, as an associate on a case, who said "I will not be associated with that baboon"

It was Edward Stanton, as Lincoln's Secretary of War during the Civil War, who said in a moment of frustrated wrath, "The President is a damn fool!"

But it was Edward Stanton also who turned away from the last gasp of the martyred emancipator in the crowded room across from Ford's Theatre and said with tears coursing his cheeks,

"Now—now he belongs to the ages!"

The cycle is complete when we, today, dedicate ourselves to so live before the world "that government of the people, by the people, and for the people shall not perish from the earth."

ADDRESS MY MR. CHAPEL

Mr. Chapel then addressed the Assembly on the life and policies of Abraham Lincoln.

RESOLUTIONS

By Mr Beaver

House Resolution No. 97

Relative to public education

WHEREAS, While the Legislature and people of this State have traditionally encouraged and supported a broad system of public education, their attention has recently been more sharply focused on the quality of public education in this State, and

WHEREAS, Because of a combination of circumstances arising from many factors including the merging of the "atomic age" with the "space age" and the unsettled, and at times menacing, state of world affairs, an emphasis has been placed upon the fields of science and mathematics and the quality of American public education in these fields; and

WHEREAS, Research by the Gallup Poll in the schools of England, France, Norway, West Germany, and the United States show that while the pupils of schools of this Country did not place highest in all categories of subjects taught in five countries, their achievement was by no means the lowest and that in the field of science information pupils in this Country placed second, and that the differences in pupils' achievement in the field of mathematics were slight, and

WHEREAS, It is, however, apparent from almost any comparison of the schools of this Country with those of European or other countries, that children in other countries are given the opportunity for far greater achievement in the field of communication, particularly the opportunity to learn foreign languages, and

WHEREAS, Recent events in Cuba have focused attention of our Country upon the imminence of danger to the continuation of our traditional friendships with our neighboring Latin American republics, and

WHEREAS, The United States is experiencing intense and keen competition in acquiring and retaining foreign markets which require representatives with a working knowledge of the languages of the countries involved, and

WHEREAS, Soviet diplomats and consuls are well versed in the languages of the countries in which they are stationed and the United States has a present shortage of diplomatic personnel experienced in foreign languages, and

WHEREAS, The cause of world peace can be advanced only by a greater communication between the residents of nations and not only through their leaders, and

WHEREAS, The ability to master a foreign language with ease is far greater in very young children, and this has been demonstrated in the few elementary schools throughout the State which have very recently started teaching foreign languages to elementary school pupils, and

WHEREAS, The governing boards of many districts are uncertain of their authority to provide foreign language courses in elementary schools, and

WHEREAS, The Legislature is considering legislation to authorize, in express terms, the governing boards to provide foreign language courses in the elementary schools, now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the public schools of this State merit recognition for the good general quality of the education provided in such schools, and be it further

OPINION OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL

OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL
SACRAMENTO, February 12, 1961

Hon Ronald Brooks Cameron

A.B 1, 9, 271, S.B. 83, 1961 Reg. Sess —Penalties for Narcotics Offenses—No. 9454

DEAR MR CAMERON. You have presented to us a series of questions relating to Assembly Bills No. 1, 9, and 271, and Senate Bill No 83, each as introduced, 1961 Regular Session We will discuss these questions separately We have endeavored to set forth the penalties prescribed by existing law and by each of the bills in the appendix to this opinion

Question No 1

To what extent do these bills reduce or eliminate the discretion of judges

First, each of the bills would eliminate the authority of a judge to impose a sentence of imprisonment in the county jail as an alternative to a sentence of imprisonment in the state prison Under existing law, a sentence of imprisonment in the county jail is a permissible alternative for offenses under Sections 11500, 11501, 11530 and 11531, Health and Safety Code,* i e, the offenses covered by these bills not involving minors

Second, each of the bills would eliminate the authority of a judge to grant probation for violation of Sections 11502 or 11532 (offenses involving minors). At present the judge has that authority where the defendant has no prior narcotic conviction other than for using, being under the influence of, or being addicted to narcotics (Secs. 11715 6, 11721). Assembly Bill No 1 would, in addition eliminate the authority

a judge now has to grant probation for a violation of Section 11501 or Section 11531 (sale, furnishing, etc., of a narcotic, including marijuana) in the same circumstances

Question No 2

To what extent do these bills reduce or eliminate the discretion of the Adult Authority?

The bills would reduce the discretion of the Adult Authority generally by increasing the net minimum time that must be served before the prisoner can be released, on completion of his term or on parole, and, particularly, by making an exception to the general rule permitting parole after one-third of a minimum term exceeding one year is served (See 3049, Pen C; see Note 4 in Appendix).

The appendix to this opinion indicates the actual time that must be served before release is permitted For example, in the case of a person imprisoned for possession of a narcotic other than marijuana who has one prior narcotic conviction, release or parole is permitted under the present law (so far as the statutes are concerned) after eight months Under each of the bills, release or parole would be permitted only after five years

In those cases in these four bills in which an offender is required to serve a minimum term of imprisonment, are these minimum terms of imprisonment the same for an addict with no record of conviction for nonnarcotic offenses as for a nonaddict who has a long record of convictions of nonnarcotic offenses?

Yes

The presence or absence of a record for nonnarcotic offenses does not affect such minimum terms of imprisonment under these bills Neither does the fact that the offender is or is not an addict

Question No 4

You point out that under these bills, greatly increased penalties apply if the offender has a prior conviction under Division 10 of the Health and Safety Code You also point out that under Section 11502, it is an offense to induce or encourage a minor with the intent that the minor violate any provision of Division 10. You ask that we list some of these offenses In this regard you note that it is your understanding that offenses under Division 10 include such acts as harvesting peyote, forging a narcotics prescription, or knowingly being in a room where narcotics are being used

Division 10 makes a great many acts criminal In addition to the offenses described by the sections amended by the bills (Secs 11500, 11501, 11502, 11530, 11531, and 11532) it does in fact punish harvesting peyote (See 11540), forging a prescription (See 11715), and being in a room where narcotics are being unlawfully used, with knowledge that such activity is occurring (Sec. 11556) It also covers, for example, possession of an opium pipe (Sec 11555), offering to sell narcotics but actually delivering something that is not a narcotic (Sec. 11503), and writing a prescription in other than ink or indelible pencil (Secs 11166, 11716).

Question No 5

(a) Does Division 10 relate to dispensing of medically used narcotics as well as to nonmedical use of narcotics?

(b) If reference is made in Division 10 to "narcotic" to what does the term refer?

Opinion and Analysis No 5

Division 10 relates to dispensing of medically used narcotics as well as to nonmedical use of narcotics It covers, for example, the manner in which physicians are to write prescriptions for narcotics and the forms to be used (Secs. 11166, 11166 05, 11166 08).

If a reference is made in Division 10 to a "narcotic," without further qualification, the reference is to any substance listed in Section 11001 or within the scope of Section 11002 or any substance declared by rule of the Division of Narcotic Enforcement to be a narcotic pursuant to Section 11002 1

Section 11001 lists some substances by their familiar names, e.g., "cocaine" or "opium " It identifies other substances which are deemed narcotics by their technical names, e g ,

> "(u) N I H -2953 'N I H -2953' shall mean any substance identified chemically as 6-dimethylamino-4, 4-diphenyl-3-acetoxyheptane "

Other substances are narcotics by virtue of falling within the scope of these general classes in Section 11001·

> "(kk) Any compound, manufacture, salt, derivative, or preparation of opium, isonipecaine, coca leaves, or opiate
> "(ll) Any substance (and any compound, manufacture, salt, derivative, or preparation thereof) which is chemically identical with any of the substances referred to in the foregoing subdivisions" or within the general class described by Section 11002:

> " 'Narcotics,' as used in this division, also means any of the salts, derivatives, or compounds of a narcotic or any preparation or compound containing a narcotic or its salts, derivatives, or compounds."

Further, under Section 11002 1, the Chief of the Division of Narcotic Enforcement may, by rule, add new narcotics to the statutory list, but such rules are effective only until the ninety-first day after the next general session of the Legislature

A, an adult, has had codeine lawfully prescribed for him A is not a physician or other person who can lawfully administer narcotics His adult friend, B, complains of severe pain and A gives him a codeine tablet

What crimes have been committed under Assembly Bills Nos 1, 9, and 271, and Senate Bill No 83? What are the penalties? How would permissible disposition of the offender (if a crime has been committed) differ under existing law?

Opinion and Analysis No. 6

A is guilty of giving away a narcotic in violation of Section 11501, in each of the bills. B is guilty of the crime of possession, in violation of Section 11500 in each of the bills Under Assembly Bill No 9 and Senate Bill No 83, the penalty for A's offense (assuming no prior narcotics offense) is imprisonment in the state prison for five years to life, with parole permitted after three years. Probation is permitted. Under Assembly Bill No. 1, the penalties are the same, but probation is not permitted. Under Assembly Bill No 271, the penalty is imprisonment in the state prison for 10 years, with parole permitted after 10 years Probation is permitted Under the existing law, the penalty is imprisonment in the county jail for up to one year or in the state prison for five years to life, with parole permitted after twenty months Probation is permitted.

The penalty for B's offense, under all four bills, is imprisonment in the state prison for two to 10 years Parole is permitted after two years. Probation is permitted.

In explanation of these conclusions we note that codeine is a narcotic (Sec 11001, subdiv. (d)) A is not a person who may lawfully furnish a narcotic to another (see Secs 11163, 11164) B, in the example given, did not lawfully acquire the codeine tablet (see Sec 11171, 11500).

Question No. 7

A, an adult, has had codeine lawfully prescribed for him. A is not a physician or other person who can lawfully administer narcotics. A's minor child complains of severe pain and A gives the child a codeine tablet A has no record of narcotics convictions B is an adult person attempting to recruit addicts, to whom he can thereafter sell narcotics. He injects heroin into the veins of a minor, causing the minor to become addicted. B has no record of narcotics convictions.

What crimes have been committed by A and B under Assembly Bills Nos 1, 9, and 271, and Senate Bill No 83? What are the penalties? How would the permissible dispositions be different under the present law?

A and B are guilty of the same offense under these bills (violation of Sec 11502) and the penalties are the same for both Under Assembly Bills Nos 1 and 9 and Senate Bill No. 83, the penalty is imprisonment in the state prison for 10 years to life, with parole permitted after five years Probation is prohibited Under Assembly Bill No 271 the penalty is imprisonment in the state prison for 15 years to life, with parole permitted after 15 years. Probation is prohibited

Under the present law, probation would be permitted; the term of imprisonment in the state prison would be five years to life, and parole would be permitted after 20 months

Very truly yours,

RALPH N KLEPS, Legislative Counsel

APPENDIX

A.B. 1, 9, 271, S.B. 83, 1961 Reg. Sess.—Penalties for Narcotics Offenses—No. 9454

NOTE 1: "Prior conviction" for purposes of determining the penalty under the present law and under each of the bills means a conviction of any offense under DIVISION 10 (commencing with Sec 11000) of the Health and Safety Code or under a similar law of another state or the United States However, in those cases where probation is prohibited only if defendant has a prior narcotics conviction, a conviction under Sec 11721, Health and Safety Code, relating to use of, being under the influence of, or being addicted to, narcotics, or conviction of a like offense in another jurisdiction, does not count as a prior conviction (Sec 11715 6, H. & S C.). The chart below is prepared with the assumption that any prior conviction is a conviction for a violation other than a violation of Sec. 11721 or like law of another jurisdiction In the case of Secs 11502 and 11532, H. & S C, in each of the bills, and Secs 11501 and 11531 in A B 1, probation is not allowed in any case

NOTE 2 In each of the bills the court is authorized to impose a fine of up to $20,000 in addition to imprisonment for each of the offenses to which the bill relates (proposed Sec 11715 8, H & S C). At present the court may impose a fine up to $5,000 for felonies

NOTE 3 In some cases, pursuant to rule of the Adult Authority, a prisoner does not appear initially before that body until a date after the minimum term or time of eligibility for parole as provided by statute, set forth below (see Minimum and Maximum Terms on the Most Frequent Offenses and Initial Adult Authority Appearance, published by the Adult Authority).

NOTE 4 Eligibility for parole under present law, as set forth below, is computed by reference to Sec 3049, Penal Code, which provides, in part

> ". . . no prisoner may be paroled until he has served the minimum term of imprisonment provided by law for the offense of which he was convicted, except that in cases where the prisoner was serving a sentence on December 31, 1947, and in which the minimum term of imprisonment is more than one year, he may be paroled at any time after the expiration of one-half of the minimum term, with benefit of credits, but in no case shall he be paroled until he has served one calendar year, provided, that any prisoner, received on or after January 1, 1948, at any state prison or institution under the jurisdiction of the Director of Corrections, whose minimum term of imprisonment is more than one year, may be paroled at any time after the expiration of one-third of the minimum term In all other cases he may be paroled at any time after he has served the minimum term prescribed by law"

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE
SACRAMENTO, February 13, 1961

To the Honorable Members of the Assembly:

I have the honor to transmit to you herewith my recommendations for reorganization of sections of the Executive Branch of the State Government of California I invite your thoughtful consideration both of the recommendations and of the constructive ends I am confident they will achieve

Respectfully

STATEMENT OF GOVERNOR EDMUND G. BROWN ON REORGANIZATION OF STATE GOVERNMENT

I believe the proper time has arrived to make a substantial beginning on a reorganization of the government of the State of California.

Expert studies and reports agree that one is greatly needed Public administrators and business leaders tell me that it is long overdue

Almost three decades have passed since the last important reorganization, 30 years in which the population has soared from 5,877,251 to 15,717,204; 30 years in which the state budget has grown from $125,000,000 to $2,492,400,000

The present government is a jerry-built, often haphazard structure It is uneconomic, in some respects, inefficient in many, and sometimes unresponsive to public needs and desires It offers a host of obstacles to the greatest need of modern government, clear-cut lines of policy formulation, execution and responsibility

As Attorney General for eight years, I found grave and growing problems posed by the lack of logic and cohesion in the structure of state government During the 1958 campaign for Governor, I pledged to work out a plan for reorganization and to present it during my term of office

In preparation for the proposals I am making in this message, I had two major expert studies made of this problem. Both were forwarded to the Legislature a year ago for interim study, and as a preliminary to the submission of a specific plan of action in this session

Those two studies provided the fundamental ideas on which my reorganization proposals are based. A number of variations have been introduced, however, most of them after consultation with department heads, legislators and others with first-hand experience of the practical problems involved

Another major force in the shaping of these proposals has been my own experience in two years as Governor, two years in which I have become increasingly convinced that the present structure is often an enemy to economy, efficiency and good central direction of a huge and complicated piece of public machinery. It impedes effective action and encourages duplication, delay and waste

As our population continues to surge upward at an ever accelerated pace, the deficiencies of our present governmental organization will become ever greater and more apparent

It is therefore imperative that we not only mend past mistakes, but that we provide wisely and prudently for the future This is as true of the actual structure of our government as it is of our need to maintain fiscal integrity, to meet our educational needs, to develop our water resources, and to carry out the multifold other duties of thoughtful, responsible modern government We cannot afford complacency We cannot assume that, because we are somehow managing to make do for the present, we can continue to do so indefinitely In my judgment, the strains and stresses of growth threaten to weaken the stability and integrity of the whole misshapen structure.

Today, our state government consists of approximately 360 boards, commissions, and agencies Haphazardly arranged and with little interconnection, even when they deal with very similar subject matter, each is supposed to report directly to the Governor

Even if the Governor had time to deal with each of them, which he does not, neither he nor his office staff can possibly have the time, the detailed technical knowledge or the operational manpower to handle the tasks of co-ordination

No modern corporation would put up with the present system of the State of California for an instant

As just one example of the problems involved, consider the vital question of maintaining the quality of California's water supply The responsibility is now divided among the Departments of Water Resources, Fish and Game, and Public Health, nine regional water pollution control boards, a State Water Pollution Control Board, the State Water Rights Board, and the California Water Commission

Even so minor, although important, function as the licensing and policing of boarding or nursing homes for our older citizens is divided between the Departments of Public Health, Social Welfare and Mental Hygiene There are hundreds of other examples, but these pose typical problems

The central effort of the reorganization plan which I now ask you to begin to turn into reality is to simplify all this by creating eight agency groups, each responsible for its own internal co-ordination, each under one head who could report directly to the Governor

There is no intention of upsetting the internal structures of the departments in these initial steps It may well be that such changes should come in some departments, boards or commissions but only after the new agency groupings have been tested by experience.

Our first task is to modernize and streamline administration so as to define lines of responsibility more clearly and to obtain better executive control over segments of the executive branch of government which now receive little direction

We can then proceed to better employment of the modern tools of administration such as performance and program budgeting, work standards, the optimum employment of electronic data processing equipment, and more effective, more efficient record keeping

History teaches that proper reorganization can best be accomplished over a period of several years Too drastic an upheaval can thus be avoided, and the benefits of experience in the early stages can be applied as further steps are taken

I, therefore, submit to you, as the first major steps in this vital process, the following specific proposals

First. That the chief executive be authorized by statute, which is to be ratified by a Constitutional Amendment, to propose to the Legislature plans for the reorganization of the executive branch of government, such plans to become effective unless rejected by the Legislature By such legislation, the Governor would be given the clear duty of periodically re-examining the structure of our government, and recommending necessary changes, consolidations and, it is firmly hoped, eliminations There is no lessening of the authority of the Legislature, for it would retain the power to initiate any reorganization that it deemed appropriate It also would retain the power to reject any proposal submitted by the Governor The referendum, reserved to the people by our Constitution, would apply to any proposal by the Governor

This plan is now in effect in six of the states, and has been in effect in the federal government since 1932 While there is little experience with it in state government, the chief executives of the United States have submitted to Congress 57 reorganization proposals of which 44 are now in effect It is commended by leading students of public administration, and is recommended by its success in the federal government

If adopted in California, the plan must be so worded as to retain the full power of the Legislature over the organization of the executive branch, and it must also conserve our fundamental division of government into three co equal branches by denying to the chief executive any authority to reorganize either our judicial system or to affect our Legislature, and its staff agencies

Second. That the Youth and Adult Corrections Agency be created as recommended in the Agency Plan This will co-ordinate the activities of the present Department of Corrections and the Youth Authority

Third That a Health and Welfare Agency be created consisting of those departments primarily concerned with the welfare of our citizens, namely the Departments of Public Health, Social Welfare, and Mental Hygiene I believe that the Department of Military and Veterans Affairs should not now be made a part of this agency as originally proposed

Fourth. That an Agriculture and Resources Agency be created to bring together those state departments which are concerned with the use of our land and the development and utilization of our resources This agency would include our present Departments of Agriculture, Fish and Game, Water Resources, and Natural Resources I propose that the Reclamation Board which is now independent of the Department of Water Resources be made a part of that department so that its work, which is closely related, can be closely co-ordinated The Colorado River Board, which has been concerned primarily with litigation between California and Arizona over water rights on the Colorado River, should be abolished effective June 30, 1962, and its remaining duties, if any, transferred to the Department of Water Resources Similarly the Poultry Improvement Commission, which is now wholly autonomous, should be abolished and its functions transferred to the Department of Agriculture

Population pressure exerts its greatest force on resource utilization Recreation for our citizens is of prime concern and will grow in importance as more leisure time is available. The state departments concerned with recreation are many, and the need for co-ordinating their activities is urgent The Department of Fish and Game should be continued as a department, but within the Agriculture and Resources Agency I suggest that we also create a new Park and Recreation Department within this agency, which would consist of our present Division of Beaches and Parks, Division of Small Craft Harbors, and Division of Recreation The remaining divisions of our present Department of Natural Resources should form a separate Department of Conservation

Fifth The establishment of a Transportation Agency has been studied by your interim committees, and I now recommend such an agency although this involves an important change in the original reorganization design set forth by the Governor's Committee

This agency would include the Department of Public Works, the Department of Motor Vehicles and the California Highway Patrol

Transportation is vital to our economy Mass transportation is now a major problem, and is becoming an increasingly difficult one We should take steps now to begin to co-ordinate state activities in transportation and to thus prepare to meet the great needs ahead.

(NOTE. I thus am recommending the creation of a total of four agency groupings, half of the eight proposed by the study committee and task force I want to emphasize here and now, however, that there is no intention of beginning with this proposal the creation of a vast new superstructure of government.

I propose that we now provide only for an administrator and a small staff, consisting of one deputy and clerical assistance His function would be to act as the means of communication to and from the Governor, and to co-ordinate the activities of the departments, commissions and committees as we now know them From this experience, I am confident we will develop new concepts of operation which will eliminate both waste and duplication

I believe the agencies proposed above provide the most logical first step in this complex process Although some favor a revenue agency now, I believe that the central fiscal operations of state government are the most critical, and I prefer that pioneering be done in less sensitive areas Similarly, although I favor reorganization of the office of Governor itself, I believe such changes should come after we have had some experience with the decentralization of some of the present functions of the Governor's office into the new agencies )

Sixth I also recommend that two secondary fiscal functions of government be transferred to the State Treasurer and to the Controller The duty of supervising the investment of state money is now awkwardly divided between the Department of Finance and the State Treasurer and should be transferred to the State Treasurer For the same reason, the Division of Audits of the Department of Finance should be transferred to the Controller, thereby centralizing the auditing of state operations and recognizing the Controller as an independent auditor, elected by and responsible to the people These two transfers will simplify the structure and will centralize responsibility for two functions of government which are now badly diffused in our structure

Seventh I have already recommended the abolition of the Colorado River Board and of the Poultry Improvement Commission There are other boards which we can now abolish, and I therefore recommend that we abolish the following boards Committee on State Purchases from the California Industries for the Blind, State Forest Purchase Committee; Board of Public Building Reconstruction, Board of Review Correction and Equalization, United Spanish War Veterans' Commission, Board of Port Wardens Board of Managers, Criminal Identification and Investigation, Public Outdoor Recreation Commission, and the California Olympic Commission The membership of the Board of Corrections, now 21, is too large for effective operation, and I suggest that its membership be reduced to eight

These recommendations are a logical element in the reorganization of the executive branch of state government Some financial savings, and definitely improved services, can be anticipated But the real merit of this proposal lies in its promise of greater efficiency and economy over the years ahead I urge your earnest attention to and support of these recommendations

Eighth I also propose certain reforms and internal reorganization within the Department of Professional and Vocational Standards The need for these has become obvious during the past year California licenses business and professions for the protection of the public, not for the creation of monopoly This is abundantly demonstrated when we review the history of our licensing statutes And, although this is true, a conflict of interest is, by statute, built into each of our licensing boards because we now require that the members of these boards be licensed members of the business or profession which, by law, they are required to regulate, and over the members of which they are given disciplinary powers Proposed legislation is pending before you which would add to each of these licensing boards a lay member who would serve as a representative of the public I recommend this step to you and urge its enactment It will furnish the people a much-needed voice on each of these boards

California was in the vanguard of states in providing for the reform of administrative procedure In 1945, the Division of Administrative Procedure was created for the purpose of providing an orderly procedure before licensing boards that would afford each person who came before the board, the full protection of his rights and due process of law Independent hearing officers were provided as the means of accomplishing this, and have proved eminently successful While they do not now have the authority to make findings of fact and decisions, their proposed decisions are adopted without change in 95 percent of the cases I believe that we should now extend their powers and also have a careful study made to determine what other reforms are needed I therefore recommend to you these specific proposals:

First That the independent hearing officers of the Division of Administrative Procedure be given the authority to make findings of facts and decide matters before them, subject to the power of the licensing boards to review the transcript of evidence and enter a different decision or to rehear the cases

Second That the right of certain state agencies to employ departmental hearing officers be terminated and that these agencies be required to use the independent hearing officers of the Division of Administrative Procedure This should not apply to the Public Utilities Commission or the Industrial Accident Commission which now exercise judicial power, nor to the Department of Employment

Third Since the Division of Administrative Procedure will be serving boards and commissions outside the Department of Professional and Vocational Standards, the division should be transferred to the Department of Finance, with the expectation that under future reorganization, the Department of Finance will evolve into a general services agency

Finally, I ask the Judicial Council to make a careful review of the procedures now in effect and report its findings to the Legislature and to the Governor before the 1963 Session of the Legislature

Our statutes providing for the licensing of business and professions contain many standards which must be met by applicants for licenses In some instances these appear unduly restrictive, and ill adapted to the needs of an exploding population such as California The standards for recognition of licensees from other states vary from one business and profession to another, and it is obvious that in some instances fully qualified persons are denied the right to practice the business or profession of their choice in California Careful investigation of the facts is essential, and a study of the standards for admission to a licensed business or profession must be made before concrete proposals can be made I recommend that the Legislature, through its properly constituted interim committees, conduct this review of the standards for licensing

I have made a number of specific proposals in this message I believe that each is in the public interest and will place our state government in a position where it can better serve the needs of our expanding population I recommend each to your careful scrutiny, and I urge you to enact legislation which will put each into effect
