House Resolution No. 198

Relative to the death of Stan Laurel

WHEREAS, The curtains have drawn to a close upon the life of one of the greatest and best loved comics of the motion picture industry, Stan Laurel, and

WHEREAS, Stan Laurel brought the priceless gift of laughter to untold millions, of every race, color, and creed throughout the world, with his quiet, gentle type of humour, and

WHEREAS, He played the innocent, bungling scamp who unfailingly brought catastrophe to his film partner, the fat, pompous, know-it-all Oliver Hardy, and

WHEREAS, Born in England, in 1890, of theatrical parents, he grew up touring with theatrical companies, and later attended Mames Grammar School, Gamford High School, and Tynemouth College, and

WHEREAS, Laurel made his stage debut playing a newsboy at the age of seven, toured Europe at 15 with a song-and-dance act, and, at 17, joined Fred Arno's London Comedians and spent some time as understudy to the troupe's star, Charlie Chaplin, and

WHEREAS, He made his first silent picture in 1917, but it was in 1926, when he was directing comedy shorts for Hal Roach, that he was asked to replace a sick actor in a skit with an overweight actor, Oliver Hardy; and

WHEREAS, The team of Laurel and Hardy clicked and went on to become the most successfull comedy duo in movie history, and

WHEREAS, They made about 100 shorts and 27 full-length films and, in 1933, won an Academy Award for a short film, "The Music Box", and

WHEREAS, Off-stage, an almost exact opposite of his screen personality, in his final years Stan Laurel was a white haired man with a polka dot bow tie, a quick wit and a loud belly laugh, and

WHEREAS, He leaves his widow, Ida, a daughter by a previous marriage, Mrs A R Brooks of Tarzana, two grandchildren, and a sister in England, and

WHEREAS, The world is a far richer place because he passed this way and, with his matchless talent and efforts, warmed with laughter the lives of so many human beings, now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Members of the Assembly do hereby convey their most sincere and profound condolences upon the passing of Stan Laurel to his bereaved widow and family, and be it further

PRAYER

O Lord our God, In the midst of perplexities which confuse us, doubts which torment us, and rivalries which divide us, give us a faith and compassion which will unite us

We are grateful for our two-party system which focuses new light on our issues May we debate with fervor and knowledge But underneath our differences wilt Thou show us anew that a divided America can never lead to unity and peace

With all our differences, may we still be "one nation, under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."—AMEN.

WHEREAS, A man of quiet persuasiveness, he was responsible, more than any other single individual, for raising the practice of optometry to the status of a profession, a fact of which he was justly proud, and

House Resolution No. 207

Relative to the enactment of legislation concerning the appointment and termination of agents by insurance companies

WHEREAS, Article 9 (commencing with Section 1702) Chapter 5, Part 2, Division 1 of the California Insurance Code presently regulates the procedures for filing notices of appointment and notices of termination of agents by insurance companies licensed to transact business in California, and prescribes certain standards and conditions under which the notices are retained by the Insurance Commissioner as a part of his official records; and

WHEREAS, It is estimated that between approximately 11,000 and 15,000 such notices are currently filed in triplicate with the Insurance Commissioner for processing on a monthly basis; and

WHEREAS, The handling of each notice requires, among other things, a verification of the authority of the person executing it on behalf of the insurance company, a posting of the contents thereof to the history cards maintained by the Department of Insurance for each agent, a mailing of copies of the notice to the insurance company and to the agent, and, together with other related clerical and administrative functions, constitute a substantial charge against the annual operating budget of the Department of Insurance, and

WHEREAS, It has been suggested that operating efficiency and budgetary considerations require only that the appointment of an insurance agent, or the termination of such appointment, by his sponsoring insurance company should be filed as a matter of public record in the Department of Insurance, but that any subsequent or additional appointments or terminations need not be made a matter of record; and

WHEREAS, In opposition to any abandonment or curtailment of the operating procedures currently in use it has been alleged that accurate up-to-date records of such appointments and terminations are necessary and vital to the proper enforcement of the statutes, rules and regulations of the Department of Insurance insofar as they relate to the supervision and investigation of activities of insurance agents, and that the accommodation of the public would be seriously jeopardized by any reduction in recordation; and

WHEREAS, The Assembly deems it to be in the public interest that the operating practices and licensing functions of the Department of Insurance should be economical, yet at the same time should be sufficient in scope so as to afford protection to the insurance buying public in its dealings with insurance agents licensed by the department; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Assembly Committee on Rules is directed to assign to an appropriate interim committee for study, the subject of the records and administrative operations required of the Department of Insurance in connection with the appointment and termination of insurance agents in order to determine how these requirements may be reduced in a manner consistent with protection of the public, and to direct such interim committee to report its findings and recommendations for legislation to the Legislature not later than the fifth legislative day of the 1967 Regular Session

Resolution read, and referred by the Speaker pro Tempore to the Committee on Rules

PRAYER

Upon invitation of Speaker pro Tempore Bee, the following prayer was offered by Assemblyman E Richard Barnes, Member of the Assembly, 78th District, San Diego·

Oh Lord our God, Here we must legislate upon a myriad of subjects, problems, people and complicated conditions. But like the Psalmists of old we pray, teach us that we may learn some of life's deepest truths from Thy handiwork all about us

We struggle to pass laws about Redwoods, yet we know that only God can make a tree. Remind us that these groves were Thy first temples They were no longer young when Abraham set out for a far country They were already old when David was a shepherd boy Some had lived half a lifetime when the Star of Bethlehem led the Wise Men to the infant Savior And now the Redwood stands in beautiful California Our spirits are hushed in His presence, as He speaks to us about building a life worth living—

Admonishing us to be content with small beginnings, for his seed is as tiny as the mustard's;

Counseling us to be patient with slow development for he grows only a little bit each year,

Challenging us to stand straight for only low trees can afford to stoop or crawl;

Reminding us to live socially for he very rarely stands alone,

Inspiring us to grow tall where the sky is high and the visibility is clear and true perspective is attainable,

Exampling us to outlive every hindrance, never being a quitter, for while fungus and fire kill little bushes, he survives!

Leaving us breathless with the realization that forever is a long time And he never stops growing, help us to grow clean and strong Teach us that we are children not only of time but eternity May Thy grace and blessing, Oh Lord, rest upon these Thy servants, their families and their homes —AMEN

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by the Chaplain, Rev. Robert R Ferguson

God our Father, May the conscience of our nation not allow us to stand by when some of our citizens are emasculated, terrorized, and trampled into the dust physically, mentally, and spiritually

Guide our leaders that the hypocrisy in some areas of persecuting the discriminated, may not lead to destroying the foundations upon which our nation has been founded As we see what the myth of racial superiority did to engulf the world in recent holocaust, may we, by Thy grace, not allow the same falsehood to circulate in our land until we are strangled

As Thou art a God of compassion, may we, Thy children, live in love and good will for all peoples.—AMEN.

Tribute to Senator Samuel R Geddes

By Assemblyman Pearce Young

Mr Speaker and Members

Many times I have joined with you in this House to honor the memory of great men and women of our times Only 18 months ago I stood on this floor to speak on the passing of a great woman Lorraine Connor Geddes Today it is to honor the memory of a man whose life touched me more deeply than any other person I have ever known He was both father and brother to me Without his support, help, and guidance, I would not have been a Member of this Legislature

Also, I know that he was a friend to all of you who served with him during his eight years in this Assembly. For Sam loved and respected each and everyone of you and was deeply proud of his associations in this great Legislature.

Indeed, love was Sam's greatest contribution—his love for his fellow man and his deep and abiding conviction that the worth of any person is no greater than his capacity for giving freely of himself to others It was this love that Sam expressed in every aspect of his life —in every gesture—in his smile—in the way he took your hand—in his expressions of kindness and concern for the very young and the very old

And if Sam knew love for his fellow man that love was returned to him by the thousands of people whose lives he touched and who are a little better for having known him No man in the history of Napa, Solano, and Yolo Counties was so deeply admired and respected When Sam would address an audience (as I have heard him do so many times) and say "You're my people," it was as natural and artless as a breath of life itself

Many years ago I wrote an epigram to my grandfather Today, I would like to rededicate that epigram to my dear friend, Sam Geddes

The years I knew you cannot grow
Beyond the structure of the bone
A rule of memory rules disguise
And where the deeper passion lies
Intent has hardened to a stone
Obscuring all that I have known

This cold inscription has not placed
Authority upon the line
The tender laws you hope to save
Like peace are catalogued in time
And earth alone can know your waste

Eighteen months ago I said goodby to Lorraine Today I say "goodby Sam—old friend who I deeply loved as a father and as a brother" May you have swift voyage and safe passage in those unknown waters which will lead you into that greater kingdom of love, understanding and peace

Consideration of House Resolution No. 179

By Asemblymen Rumford, Bee, Mulford, and Petris:

House Resolution No. 179—Relating to preference in the purchase of California-made materials by the state or its subdivisions

Resolution read.

Consideration of Committee Amendments

The following amendments, proposed by the Committee on Rules were read, and adopted.

Amendment No. 1

In line 2 of the relating clause in the heading of the printed measure as printed on pages 722 and 723 of the Assembly Journal for February 18, 1965, strike out "or its subdivisions".

Amendment No. 2

In the fifth and sixth lines of the first Resolved clause, strike out "or offices for the use of any county or city".

House Resolution No. 179, as Amended

By Assemblymen Rumford, Bee, Mulford, and Petris·

House Resolution No. 179

Relating to preference in the purchase of California-made materials by the state

WHEREAS, Article 2 (commencing with Section 4330) of Chapter 4 of Division 5 of Title 1 of the Government Code authorizes the state and any county or city in the state in purchasing or authorizing the purchase of supplies for the state or the county or city, to prefer supplies grown, manufactured or produced in California, the price, fitness and quality being otherwise equal; and

WHEREAS, This Article 2 also provides that public officers and bodies charged with letting contracts for public works or with purchasing supplies for public use may let the contracts to those using material manufactured in the state or purchase the material so manufactured if the prices quoted for the materials do not exceed by more than 5 percent the lowest quoted bids by firms manufacturing supplies outside the state, the major portion of the work of manufacturing the supplies is not done outside the state, and, in the opinion of the public officers or bodies, the public good will be served thereby, and

WHEREAS, The granting of the preference is permissive upon application by a bidder for preference, which, however, does not automatically result in granting the request, and

WHEREAS, With respect to state purchases, the Director of General Services is vested with the sole authority to grant the preference when in his judgment "the public good will be served thereby," and by virtue of delegation, the State Purchasing Agent may exercise the director's discretion and award the contract to a California bidder, providing the differential is 10 percent of the allowable 5 percent preference, and does not exceed one hundred dollars ($100); and

WHEREAS, In cases where the differential exceeds 10 percent of the allowable 5 percent, all information is forwarded by the State Purchasing Agent to the Director of General Services, who then evaluates and makes a final decision in the matter, and

WHEREAS, It has been the policy of the Department of General Services to grant the 5 percent preference only when a California bidder can show hardship, in the sense that he would suffer a hardship if the bid were denied, and where otherwise it may be necessary to lay off California workers, and

WHEREAS, In several cases the Department of General Services has failed to award a contract to California bidders whose bids have been below the allowable 5 percent, and this has resulted in material hardship to the California manufacturers themselves, and caused the firms to lay off California workmen, and ultimately result in a potential cost to the state of thousands of dollars in unemployment insurance, and

WHEREAS, Many of these manufacturing firms employ persons of the minority groups with relatively very low skills, and if these persons were to continue to be employed they would contribute to the economy of the state and to the area from which they are employed, and

WHEREAS, The Director of General Services in exercising his discretion should in all cases take into account such factors as the employment of relatively unskilled workers, and that the bids submitted by manufacturers doing business in a depressed area of employment, now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Assembly directs that the Director of General Services shall in all cases award contracts to a bidder meeting all of the qualifications of Article 2 (commencing with Section 4330) of Chapter 4 of Division 5 of Title 1 of the Government Code, bidding on the purchase of supplies or services for the use of the state or any of its institutions, providing the bidder has proven to a reasonable degree that he is doing business within a depressed employment area, that he is employing persons of low skills, and that the denial of the 5 percent preferential would cause him to lay off California workmen, and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly is directed to transmit a copy of this resolution to the Governor, to the Director of General Services, and to the State Purchasing Agent

Resolution, as amended, ordered on file

Assembly Bill No. 520—An act to amend Sections 19153, 19413, 19453, 19454, 19455, 19568, 19629, 19631, 19632, 25607 and 25856 of the Education Code, and to amend Sections 1203 03 and 1375 of the Penal Code, and to amend Sections 163, 703, 912, 1752 1, 5262 6, 5356 2 6666, 7011 and 7109 of the Welfare and Institutions Code, relating to county settlement with state.

House Resolution No. 236

Relative to the protection of civil rights demonstrators in the State of Alabama

WHEREAS, One of the most precious rights of American citizenship is the right to vote, which under the United States Constitution may not be denied to any person on the basis of race or color; and

WHEREAS, Negro citizens of the State of Alabama have long been denied this basic right, and, together with other persons devoted to the cause of freedom, are now engaged in peaceful endeavors to obtain that right; and

WHEREAS, On Sunday, March 7, 1965, at Selma, Alabama, while participating in a peaceful march to protest the action of the public officials of the State of Alabama in arbitrarily denying them the opportunity to register as voters, the Negro citizens of the State of Alabama were fallen upon by heavily armed state troopers and were clubbed, beaten, and subjected to the use of tear gas; and

WHEREAS, The Negro citizens of the State of Alabama, and those who act to aid them, are totally defenseless against the type of brutal treatment afforded them on March 7, since local law enforcement is not only unwilling to protect them, but is actively engaged in persecuting them; and

WHEREAS, The only hope of the Negro citizens of the State of Alabama to peacefully secure their right to vote, without jeopardizing the lives and safety of themselves, their children, and their friends, is federal intervention to protect them in their noble endeavor; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Assembly urges the United States Government to immediately dispatch federal marshals to the State of Alabama to protect the Negro citizens of that state and other civil rights demonstrators in their peaceful attempts to secure the right to vote, and to take whatever other steps may be necessary to achieve that end; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly is directed to transmit copies of this resolution to the Honorable Lyndon B Johnson, President of the United States, the Honorable Nicholas Katzenbach, Attorney General of the United States, and to each Senator and Representative from California in the Congress of the United States.

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT TO PRINT IN JOURNAL

Mr Porter was granted unanimous consent that the following Opinion of Legislative Counsel relative to Assembly Bill No 667 be printed in the Journal

OPINION OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL

Office of Legislative Counsel
Sacramento, February 13, 1965

Hon Carley V Porter
Assembly Chamber

Codification of the Water Conservation Act of 1931—No. 11365

Dear Mr Porter

Question

You have asked whether A B 667 makes any substantive changes in the law.

Opinion and Analysis

A B 667 contains the codification of the Water Conservation Act of 1931 (Ch 1020, Stats 1931) which this office prepared at your request

In preparing such codification, we followed the same principle which served as the guide to the California Code Commission, that is, to attempt to set forth the existing law in code form without substantive change.

Thus, while the provisions of the Water Conservation Act of 1931, are recast in the proposed codification, and in some instances changes to clarify or to better express the apparent intent of the existing provisions are made therein, there was no intent on our part to make any substantive changes in the law, and to the best of our knowledge no substantive changes are made

Very truly yours,

GEORGE H MURPHY, Legislative Counsel
By Ray H Whitaker, Principal Deputy

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolutions were offered

By Assemblyman Warren

House Resolution No. 240

Relative to the use of unmarked police vehicles

WHEREAS, Unmarked vehicles are being used by local law enforcement agencies for patrol and other purposes, and

WHEREAS, Local law enforcement officers use said unmarked vehicles while dressed in mufti; and

WHEREAS, It is difficult for civilians to recognize the official capacity of law enforcement officers so dressed and so conveyed, and

WHEREAS, Only recently in the State of California, a civilian was shot and killed by law enforcement officers dressed and conveyed in this manner; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Committee on Rules is directed to assign to an appropriate interim committee for study the subject of unmarked law enforcement vehicles, including, but not limited to, the use thereof and the problems presented thereby, and the needed revisions, if any, of the laws and administrative procedures in any way bearing upon or relating to this matter, and to direct such interim committee to report thereon to the Assembly not later than the fifth legislative day of the 1967 Regular Session of the Legislature.

House Resolution No. 241

Relative to election returns

WHEREAS, The fact that the polls close so much earlier in the eastern and midwestern states in which Pacific Time is in effect has given rise to a serious question as to the impact of eastern returns on voters casting their ballots in the West; and

WHEREAS, The problem is now compounded by the use of electronic computers by radio and television networks to forecast the result of the election on the basis of eastern returns; and

WHEREAS, While it is impossible to state precisely how many western voters are influenced by the predictions made by the networks or by other information respecting the returns in the East, it appears reasonable to assume that a substantial number of voters are so influenced, and

WHEREAS, In a close election, this may well mean the difference between victory or defeat for the candidates, and

WHEREAS, It is essential that a meeting be held between the representatives of the states involved, so that plans and methods can be devised to solve the problem, now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Assembly takes this means to urge the states of Alaska and Hawaii and those states in which Pacific Time is in effect to designate representatives to meet with representatives of the State of California to discuss the problem described in this resolution and to devise means of solving the problem; and be it further

The following resolutions were offered:

By Assemblyman Pattee

House Resolution No. 246

Relating to brucellosis control

WHEREAS, Calfhood vaccination with a specially prepared vaccine of brucella microorganisms has been found by dairymen and research scientists alike to be the most practical and effective tool in the control and eradication of bovine brucellosis when all other methods have failed; and

WHEREAS, The report is being widely circulated that the United States Department of Agriculture plans to phase out the brucellosis calfhood vaccination program in the coming years; and

WHEREAS, The creation of an effective resistance of the state's dairy herds to bovine brucellosis through vaccination is deemed a more practical goal than achieving 100 percent disease-free herds which can later become infected, thus causing great economic loss and hazard to animal and human health, and

WHEREAS, It is the considered opinion of many scientists in this country and in Europe that the probability of attaining 100 percent brucellosis-free dairy herds without vaccination is nil when other farm animals and various species of wild animals can carry the disease; and

WHEREAS, Many California dairymen have been vaccinating their animals at the older ages on recommendation of their veterinarians in an effort to obtain greater immunity in their herds from brucellosis, which ages were within those designated by regulation of the State Bureau of Animal Health, and

WHEREAS, It is a common experience of dairymen to find that young vaccinated animals, especially those vaccinated at the older ages, show agglutination reactions in the blood titer dilutions beyond the limits presently allowed by regulations of the California Bureau of Animal Health before and immediately following parturition, and

WHEREAS, It is the considered opinion of many dairymen, practicing veterinarians, and research workers that positive reactions resulting from residual titer of previously vaccinated springing heifers and young dairy cows for the first few months following their first calving constitute no threat to herd health or to human health; and

WHEREAS, The regulations of the California Bureau of Animal Health which became effective March 1, 1964, and which permit vaccinated animals to be blood tested below the age of 30 months, are believed to be unrealistic and to be working undue financial hardship on owners of the early maturing dairy breeds because of the high incidence at which vaccinated animals of such breeds react positively to the brucellosis test at ages less than 30 months, especially in the case of animals vaccinated at the previously permissible ages through 12 months; and

WHEREAS, Blood tests occasionally show significant variations from other tests used to detect the presence of brucellosis in dairy herds and repeated blood testing causes much inconvenience and financial loss to dairymen; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Assembly Rules Committee is directed to assign to an appropriate interim committee the study of the problem of control of brucellosis in dairy herds and to report thereon to the Legislature not later than the fifth legislative day of the 1967 Regular Session

By Assemblyman Kennick

WHEREAS, This recognition is being tendered to Mr. Shapell not only for his untiring efforts and devotion to all projects concerning BethAm Temple, but for his willingness to participate generously and personally in many charitable and civic organizations for the betterment of his fellow citizens, especially those projects devoted to the welfare, education and care of children of all races, denominations and creeds; and

WHEREAS, His charitable endeavors know no boundaries, and

WHEREAS, He has lent his active support to such community projects as the Salvation Army, the Boy Scouts of America, the YMCA, the Boys Clubs, the Little League, the Red Cross, the Music Center, and the United Crusade, and

WHEREAS, He is presently serving on the Board of Vista del Mar Child Care Service, and is a member of the Patrons Society of the University of Judaism; and

WHEREAS, He formerly served on the Board of the Cedar-Sinai Hospitals and Project Hope and continues to participate in and support their works, and

WHEREAS, Mr Shapell's reputation in the business, financial and civic community has been marked by the same high caliber of personal integrity and sense of responsibility to others, now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Members commend Mr Nathan Shapell for his many years of outstanding service to his community and to his State, and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly shall transmit a suitably prepared copy of this resolution to Mr Shapell

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR

The following message from the Governor was received and read:

ECONOMIC MESSAGE
by
Governor Edmund G. Brown

I am submitting with this message my second annual Economic Report.

It is, like last year's document and like any objective appraisal of our state or national economy, either today or historically, a mixed report—a report both of great economic strengths and of stubborn weaknesses. It is a report of both successes and shortcomings, of widespread prosperity and pockets of poverty and deprivation.

But economic strength and vitality are the undeniable themes. We cannot ignore the weaknesses and the challenges of change. But neither should we permit them to destroy our confidence in an amazingly buoyant, versatile and successful state economy.

It is also a report of great forces sweeping through our economic life—forces of automation and technological change—which are altering our society in an infinite number of ways. These forces, accelerated perhaps as never before in history, hold enormous promise of progress and at the same time pose serious threats to the patterns of production and employment as we know them.

These powerful forces are a threat if they are ignored, if we permit the swiftness and complexity of change to overwhelm us. But if we seize the opportunities of the new technology, it can be an instrument not only for great prosperity but for social advance on a scale unknown in history. And California, "window of the future," national leader in education, pioneer in the age of science and technology, can lead the way.

On balance, 1964 by any of a number of measures was a bright year.

It was a year of astonishing economic performance—both nationally and in California. It represented a continuation of the longest peacetime period of sustained economic advance in modern history, an advance now in its 49th month and one in which California shared fully.

It was a year of important milestones:

- California achieved undisputed population leadership among the states.
- Already the Nation's number one world trade state, we achieved first place in the value of manufactured exports.
- We approached New York in value added by manufacture and came to the threshold of passing that state in personal income, an event that almost certainly will occur in 1965.

On the debit side, it was also the year that growth in the giant defense-aerospace sector of our economy, which had advanced spectacularly and steadily for a decade and a half, leveled off and even declined somewhat.

A RECORD YEAR

California's economy in 1964 shattered a score of records.

We achieved the highest employment level in history—an average of 6,642,000 or nearly 200,000 more than in 1963. New employment records were set in almost every sector.

Personal income reached an all-time high—$56 billion, an increase of $3.7 billion over 1963—and accounted for more than 11 percent of national personal income.

Per capita income rose nearly 4 percent and disposable income—the amount remaining after taxes—was up 5.2 percent.

Average earnings of factory workers reached a new high of $119 a week. Income from proprietorships set a new record. Corporate income reached a new high. Cash farm receipts broke all records.

Records or near records occurred in nearly every economic activity.

In short, more Californians were employed in 1964 than ever in history. And Californians earned more than ever before—in aggregate and per capita—and had more to spend or save after taxes.

The report which follows analyzes these developments and more in considerable detail. It is an economic analysis of our society. It measures man's labor in California. It dissects his accomplishments. It reveals some of his shortcomings. Above all, it describes some of the dimensions of California's persistent growth.

It is a story told primarily in numbers, and necessarily so. But what is important is that behind the statistics are people—millions of Californians building, buying, investing, saving, contributing to the most dynamic state economy in the Nation.

DEFENSE AND TECHNOLOGICAL CHANGE

Our economic performance in 1964 was brighter than the year before. We created more new jobs than any other state—more even than in 1963. The increase in the number of unemployed was less than in the previous year

But there is little comfort in such improvement Our objective must be the creation of enough jobs and the lifting of enough skills to push unemployment down, to spread our abundance to hundreds of thousands of Californians still denied a share in it.

California's employment and unemployment figures demand more than casual study. Contained in them is a reflection of two important economic developments

One is the reduced level of federal expenditures for defense and space purposes, the mainstay of our employment growth for 15 years The other is the accelerating rate of technological advance, the impact of which is still only dimly understood but which is profoundly affecting our society, our economy and those who labor in it

Employment in 1964 increased in agriculture, wholesale and retail trade, government, construction, transportation, communication, utilities, finance, real estate, insurance and other services In nearly every case, record high levels were achieved.

Three of every four new jobs created were in the service industries, trade or government

Manufacturing, which employs more Californians than any other sector, showed employment increases in every category but one — defense-aerospace. But this one category directly employs 35 of every 100 factory workers The decline there was enough to pull total manufacturing employment below the levels of a year ago. Except for recession periods, it was the first year in nearly a decade in which California manufacturing employment, which accounts for one-fifth of all our employment, failed to increase

The "big four" aerospace industries—electronics, aircraft, missiles and instruments—while still employing nearly half a million Californians, employed 26,300 fewer workers than in 1963

Reduced defense requirements were the main reason for the decline. Technological developments undoubtedly played some part Regardless of the cause, such changes intensify our current employment problems

FUTURE TRENDS

If we are to meet our employment challenges, there must be creative economic policies, both in California and on a national level, cooperation among government, business and labor; and a continuing focus of attention on this situation by all of us in the years ahead

For we can expect a continuation and in some cases an intensification and acceleration of the forces that have brought us to our present position

Our population increase will continue at almost 600,000 a year We have 18,600,000 people today By 1970 we can expect a population of 21,700,000. By 1980 the figure will be approaching 30 million and by the turn of the century our population will reach 40 million

An extraordinarily large portion of today's population—nearly 40 percent—is in the 19 and under age group Most of these young people, their numbers swelled by migration from other states, will be entering the labor force in the years ahead, putting severe pressures on our capacity to create new employment

In simplest terms, our task is to create at least 200,000 new jobs a year or nearly 4,000 every week merely to keep pace with our massive population growth.

We cannot expect the defense and aerospace industries to continue their past rate of expansion With basic weapons systems completed, with today's stockpile of weapons, we can and should expect reduced levels of federal defense spending, although not as precipitous a drop as some would have us believe While defense and space activities will continue to be major forces in our economy, the outlook for 1965 is for another slight decrease in the multibillion dollar volume of California contracts.

In the second important development—technology—we are certain to experience fast-paced expansion in automation, new processes, new products, new production methods and new techniques of measurement, control and computation All will make possible greater productivity, but many will not result in commensurate manpower requirements.

These developments in the years ahead will have profound effects on our society, more profound ultimately perhaps than the impact of the industrial revolution on feudal Europe They will create new opportunities and pose new problems—in employment, in education, in public finance.

Dramatic technological advances have occurred and will continue to occur in nearly every California industry

Agriculture is a prime example of the effect of technological change on employment California produces a greater dollar volume of food and fiber than any other state and many nations of the world The value of agricultural production between 1950 and 1963, adjusted for price changes, increased 40 percent Yet in the same period employment in California agriculture declined by approximately 40,000.

This occurred almost entirely because of technological advances that vastly promoted efficiency—development of new chemical fertilizers, pesticides and a whole range of machines, rumbling across our agricultural landscape, replacing the back, the shoulder and the hands of the farm worker

Technological advances in the past decade have helped double the Nation's manufacturing output But fewer blue collar manufacturing workers have been required

In the food processing industries, surveys show substantial production increases accompanied by a reduction in man-hours

In California between 1960 and 1964, the amount of money spent on private construction rose by nearly 40 percent, while employment in the building trades went up just 15 percent.

In another area, the computer and related developments are coming into ever wider business use Their ultimate potential can scarcely be sensed today

Hundreds of major businesses have adopted automatic data processing techniques for tasks formerly accomplished by armies of accountants and clerical personnel

The employment impact here has been the reverse of what has occurred in agriculture The expansion of business made possible by innovations has swelled employment—but employment of a new kind and requiring new skills

The secret service now uses computers in its job of protecting the President

Engineers tell us that a computer can land an airplane much better than a human pilot

As to the future, some experts predict such developments as the fully automated supermarket and the computerization of commerce as we know it They talk of the day when a shopper's thumbprint inserted in a small machine will carry out a whole set of transactions—accurately and with lightning speed It will identify the purchaser, subtract from his bank account, add to the seller's account and deduct government taxes in an instant.

We read of other almost eerie possibilities on the horizon—brain surgery and psychiatry by computer.

I touch on some of these possibilities not to suggest that they will become realities next year or in the next decade or even in our lifetime Nor do I touch on them to suggest that manpower is about to become obsolete or to incite alarm For automation alarms, under various names, have been sounded since the dawn of history And the worst fears of the alarmists, of completely depersonalized work in a dehumanized world, have not been borne out.

Aristotle wrote of the takeover by machines more than 2,000 years ago

There were those in the 1920's who said the dawning assembly line production techniques would cause mass unemployment There was heavy unemployment a decade later, but it was not caused by the new production methods

Just 17 years ago, Professor Norbert Wiener published a book called Cybernetics, in which he predicted that by 1967 common and unskilled labor would be obsolete, forecasting by implication huge volumes of unemployment

I touch on some of the possibilities of the new technology only to indicate its potential and the fact that its portents and promise are unpredictable at best

We can assess the full impact of future technological advance only imperfectly, but we cannot afford to ignore its implications

THE IMMEDIATE IMPACT

Economists continue to debate the question of whether automation and technological change have the net effect of eliminating employment

There are those who contend that automation nationally destroys as many as 35,000 jobs a week Others point to the jobs automation creates and say these jobs more than balance those lost A vice president of one major firm estimates that the business of building, selling, servicing and using computers, for example, already provides a livelihood for about 1 million people

It is an interesting debate But the simple fact is that automation and technological change do eliminate jobs—if only in the immediate sense

Economic arguments to the contrary are little solace to the farm worker replaced by a mechanical harvester, or an accountant whose place has been taken by a maze of wires and buttons called a computer Nor are the statistics of debate comforting to a missile worker laid off because the project that employed him has been declared obsolete, superseded by a newer and technologically superior missile system

Thus, technological change has an immediate impact It causes dislocations It disrupts lives It forces individuals to move hundreds of miles to find new employment or to undergo training for entirely new skills better suited to the new technology It places a higher premium on education and skill levels The uneducated, the illiterate, the unskilled will be faced with diminishing job opportunities It means that many can no longer confidently prepare for a single career; that a changing society will require two, three or even more careers in a lifetime

Perhaps the heaviest toll is taken among the young, among those entering the work force, for whom job opportunities were once plentiful in industries expanding their manpower, but for whom the conventional prospects are being reduced. Both our conscience and our continued economic vitality demand that we prepare these young people for rewarding jobs so that they are not tomorrow's hard-core unemployed and welfare cases.

These are some of the problems to which we must address ourselves

We appear to be at the dawn of a new technological-industrial era, the potential of which has scarcely been suggested It seems certain that change in the future will come with increasing speed, for technological change feeds upon itself It "snowballs" It spreads rapidly from one system to adjacent systems, gathering momentum, overturning old relationships and institutions

Change can come swiftly The world's first commercial electronic computer, born just a few years ago, is a dramatic example It is now in the Smithsonian Institution's Restoration Center, where it has been relegated in its obsolescence with other curiosities of our history

But let me make it clear that I do not see in these changes a cause for despair, despite their powerful challenge For the new technology can break the shackles that hold many thousands of our people in poverty. It can spur economic growth to undreamed of heights It can enrich our lives and our spirits

It is menacing only as long as it is ignored or misunderstood I believe that with imagination, determination and courage we can harness this great force as an instrument to achieve prosperity and abundance for all

In this spirit I make the following recommendations. I make them not as a legislative program or as a program exclusively for the executive branch or for industry or labor or for our educators, but as a program for all who are concerned with the future of our economy.

DEFENSE AND AEROSPACE

We must retain the reservoir of scientific brainpower and skilled manpower that has made California the leader in the space age

We must expand our efforts to shift our scientific and engineering focus to pressing social and physical problems We must use the new technology in a war not only against poverty, but against illiteracy, crime, disease, ill housing, inadequate transportation, pollution of our physical environment and a host of other ancient, unconquered enemies

Late last year we launched a pioneering program to test the idea that an industry which can orbit man in space and send a rocket to the moon can also suggest solutions to some of the critical problems on earth

We asked California's leading aerospace firms to submit proposals in four specific areas—transportation, waste management, crime and delinquency, and collection of information for better decision making in government and business

I can report that the response exceeded all expectations Nearly every leading aerospace firm in California submitted proposals They believe that space age talent can be transferred to California problems, and they are anxious to make the effort

Contracts for studies in all four areas have now been awarded And we are considering expanding the program to new problem areas and to firms outside the aerospace industry

Let me emphasize, however, that for our minimal investment, we do not expect final answers We do expect reports on how modern technology might be used in finding solutions to our problems The projects also hold great promise of ultimately creating entire new industries in which there is every reason to expect success in transferring manpower from defense and space production to other areas

President Johnson said in his defense message to Congress in January

"If over the next several years, we continue to spend approximately the same amount of dollars annually for our national defense that we are spending today, an everlarger share of our expanding national wealth will be free to meet other vital needs, both public and private"

The program we have begun has the potential of meeting both public and private needs It is now still an experiment and an experiment using just one of a number of possible approaches—the systems analysis approach We are hopeful that we can make use of other approaches where appropriate that we can pass from the experimental to the research project stage and that federal funds will be made available for related national purposes

For none of the problems we are studying or anticipate studying are exclusively California problems They are national in scope, and solutions can be national in application

And solutions are long overdue

The extent to which non-defense technology has lagged is indicated by the fact that our federal budget for non-defense purposes after discounting price increases, does not greatly exceed the budgets of the mid-1930's

With federal assistance and with our technological leadership we hope to make the breakthroughs here in such fields as education, meteorology, medicine, urban redevelopment, housing and resource development These and many other areas have had little or no research and development work financed by the Federal Government during periods of heavy and successful federal spending on defense-oriented R&D

California is the national leader in production and research and development in today's defense economy. We must continue our leadership in an economy shifting away from defense toward peaceful pursuits

The important thing is that we have begun. We have the capabilities to do the job. But federal financial support of our efforts will be required

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

We must make more intensive efforts to attract new industry to California, to increase our volume of world trade and promote tourist spending in our State

We must step up research that will produce new and needed industries and promote industrial diversification And we must do a better job in the difficult task of projecting the skills that will be required in the years ahead.

In developing the information we must use the very automation that has upset the traditional patterns of employment

A year ago I proposed creation by the Legislature of an Office of California Development to intensify and coordinate our economic development efforts

The proposal was not adopted, but I believe California must soon face the fact that competition among the States for new industry, for the tourist's dollar and for foreign markets is increasing and we must take the steps necessary to compete on an equal basis.

I would prefer new legislation, but even without it I believe we can accomplish much by administrative action that will bring about closer coordination among the many state agencies whose activities extend into economic development

I have recommended in the second phase of my budget proposals that we provide funds for the State Office of Tourism and Visitor Services authorized last year

I have also asked the Legislature to create an Office of Science and Technology by expanding the functions of the existing Advisory Council on Atomic Energy and Radiation Protection This will enable us, as I said in my message to the Legislature in January, at no additional cost "to draw upon the most distinguished scientific community available to any state government for advice on ways to put technology to work for our people"

THE WAR ON POVERTY

We must take the necessary steps to permit full participation in President Johnson's war against poverty

The President has said:

"Our history has proved that each time we broaden the base of abundance, giving more people the chance to produce and consume, we create new industry, higher production, increased earnings and better income for all"

The Economic Opportunity Act program, concentrating as it does not on the dole, but on education, training and jobs—on the ways out of poverty—charts a new course of hope for Californians who before faced only hopelessness.

My budget proposals include funds for California's administrative costs in the federal program, and will include the State's 10 percent of program costs as soon as the amounts needed can be determined

EDUCATION

We must enact a program of compensatory education as a first step in breaking the recurring cycle of unemployment and poverty

We must begin a concerted program to combat the alarmingly high dropout rate in our schools.

We must adapt our educational processes to our changing occupational and social structure We must find better ways to harness and manage the knowledge explosion in our society.

We must make much greater efforts in applying research and development to education in all its aspects—to teaching techniques, to curricula, to our educational facilities, to the learning process itself

We must place greater emphasis on vocational education while at the same time maintaining and improving the quality of basic education

We must step up and improve our training and retraining efforts to equip our citizens for the skill requirements of the new technology

The evidence of the strong link between education and employment is mounting This is some of the evidence, based on the latest available figures for the Nation. There is no reason to believe California's situation is much different:

- Ten percent of those who did not complete elementary school are unemployed, compared to 4 8 percent for high school graduates and 1 8 percent for college graduates
- The unemployment rate for high school dropouts is twice as high as that for high school graduates.
- Two-thirds of the breadwinners with fewer than nine years of education have families in poverty.

- Of our young people between 18 and 24 with an eighth grade education or less, 20 percent are unemployed

Despite the fact that we have the finest system of public education in America, we are failing too many young people at a time when our economy demands better education and new skills.

We spend large sums on education, but as many as 50 percent and more of the children in some of our slum area schools are failing to acquire even a rudimentary education. Our educational techniques simply do not reach the culturally disadvantaged child in our society. We continue to play a kind of hopeless Russian roulette with him. Research indicates that without the benefit of special preschool orientation, he has only one chance in a thousand of acquiring effective learning habits. He becomes a mental dropout early. Later he becomes an actual dropout and is caught up in the tragic cycle from dropout to unemployment, to poverty, to welfare. The odds are overwhelming that his children will repeat the cycle.

As a tool to help break it, I have proposed an expansion of aid for special school programs for children from homes and neighborhoods which handicap them culturally and educationally. It is a part of the second phase of my budget proposals, and I urge that it be given high legislative priority.

This program by itself will not end the dropout problem. We need to know more about why students leave school. More than half of those who fail to finish high school are reported to have average or higher intelligence. The causes are complex, but they include lack of motivation, inadequate counseling and financial hardship.

It is within our power to do something about all of these causes. I suggest that the Board of Education in 1965 inaugurate a comprehensive program to combat our high dropout rate beginning with an examination of our curricula, our counseling system, our counselor to student ratios and the possibilities of scholarship aid at the high school and junior college levels.

Our statewide high school dropout rate is estimated at an intolerably high 25 percent. If we could reduce it, if we could raise the average age at which students now leave school by just one year, we would reduce our unemployment rate by close to one-half.

I believe California is doing better in its programs of vocational education, training and retraining, both public and private, than any other state. But too many of our programs are locked to the employment structure of the past. Too many trainees are being trained for jobs that are in diminishing supply. Too many are being prepared for a hobby instead of a vocation.

Part of the problem has been in the complexity of forecasting skill needs in a dynamic economy. It is a real and challenging problem, and I will continue to seek the help of technically qualified experts, both public and private, in doing something about it.

We must adapt methods and curricula developed in a simpler, more stable time to an era of change and increased complexity. This will require a much more intensive and better organized effort in educational research and development.

Enormous progress is being made in this field now.

- The "new math," which seeks to guide elementary school pupils toward "discovery" of basic mathematical concepts, is gaining widespread acceptance.
- Two-year-old children have been taught to read—and read well—in experimental programs.
- Grade school pupils have been taught college level economics.
- Important new breakthroughs are being made in the teaching of languages, science and other subjects.

In short, educational research is virtually revolutionizing many of our concepts of education and the processes of learning.

But California's record in educational research, which should be the best in the Nation, is unsatisfactory, and the barriers in the way of change in education are formidable. Our research efforts are fragmented. They suffer from lack of funds for development and testing and lack of adequate machinery to disseminate new techniques that should be adopted in our schools.

President Johnson's education proposals to Congress are designed to begin an attack on a number of fronts—compensatory education, educational research and the strengthening of state educational agencies so that they can better identify needs in education and design programs to meet those needs.

I support the proposals fully. But they fall short of what ultimately will be required.

Education is California's biggest public industry. We spend 46 cents of every budget dollar for its support.

The total annual national expenditure for public and private education is $34 billion. Yet nationally we spend just one-fifth of one percent of our total education outlays for research and development, while many private firms invest as much as ten percent for this purpose, and the Federal Government allocates $8 billion a year for defense R&D alone.

We must step up the financial support of educational research and strengthen our administration and techniques of disseminating proven new methods to local districts

The new technology demands that we do so to better equip our people to survive, both on the job and off, in a technologically complex society

THE STATE ROLE

Despite our deficiencies in educational research, I believe public education in California is unmatched anywhere in the Nation But the demands of today on our schools are greater than they have ever been Our challenging task is to extend our leadership in education, in research and development, in scientific-technological capability

We must now seek ways to direct part of this capability from preparation for warfare to the improvement of our welfare, from defense against our foreign enemies to an offensive against our domestic problems

We are pioneering in testing the proposition that aerospace industry talents can be applied to problems here on earth We must bring other elements of our society into this effort to manage technology for man's benefit—the educator, the scientist, the businessman, the labor leader, the social scientist, the researcher

Government must lead the way

- We are doing so in our aerospace systems analysis contracts
- We are doing so at both the state and federal levels in education, training and retraining
- We can do so also in application of new techniques to government operations

After a one-year study, this Administration this year adopted a set of policies on State Government use of automatic data processing equipment to streamline operations, promote efficiency, cut costs and aid in management decision-making

State Government is a vast business enterprise with an annual budget of some $4 billion and employing directly more than 140,000 people Its political, economic and social impact on California development is immeasurable Its agencies, departments, installations and institutions affect the lives of all our 18,000,000 people

If we are to serve Californians wisely and efficiently, we must harness and utilize the new technology or it will overwhelm us Our task is to put the new technology to work for us and to prepare our people for a place in a changing economy

Beyond this, we must shape our environment to new and changing requirements

One implication of increased production with lower manpower needs is increased available leisure time for the worker Education must give him the tools to use this time wisely And his surroundings must lend themselves to changed patterns of work and leisure The $150 million parks and recreation bond issue approved last November recognizes these emerging patterns and the need to provide increasing recreational facilities for a growing population

In the years ahead we must also provide for increased leisure time by improving library facilities, extending adult education, developing wilderness area protection programs and instituting a wide range of other educational, cultural and recreational measures

THE FEDERAL ROLE

I believe, as I have indicated, that we can make our greatest contributions toward solving our employment-unemployment problems in the broad areas of education and economic development

But let it be clear that we cannot solve them alone.

Increasing federal assistance in education must be made available to the states and funds diverted from defense must be allocated for a whole range of peaceful purposes, including the fight against poverty, crime and disease, and the rebuilding of our cities and suburbs

The dynamics of the new technology are placing great new stresses on state and local finance. Rapid technological advance means that what we begin today may be obsolescent before completed, whether it be a rapid transit system, an airport, a freeway, a sewage system or a textbook

Further, California alone cannot achieve full employment because our economic fortunes are intimately linked with the national economy

The Federal Government has at its disposal powerful weapons to stimulate the economy in its fiscal and monetary policies California does not

And California's pattern of in-migration makes the achievement of full employment here at a time where there is unemployment elsewhere in the Nation, a practical impossibility.

Ironically, our very successes compound our problem.

We have developed in California the finest system of public education in America

We are moving rapidly ahead on the California Water Project to ensure that the economy of all areas of the State can expand and flourish

We have built the Nation's finest and most extensive system of toll-free highways to speed the flow of our people and their commerce

We are preserving and developing our recreation areas for our enjoyment and the enjoyment of future generations

We have enacted, in advance of the Federal Government and most other states, important human rights measures to knock down racial barriers to equal opportunities in employment

All of these achievements have been a spur to our economic expansion, but they have also insured a continuing and amazing rate of in-migration. We are joined every year by some 350,000 new Californians from other states, or nearly 1,000 a day.

If our economic expansion were to bring California's unemployment level substantially below the national rate of 5 percent, we could expect an even greater wave of heavy in-migration

Thus the greater our economic success, the greater our success in making California a good place to live and to do business, the greater will be the pressures—on education, on the taxpayer and on employment

This does not mean that our efforts are self-defeating. It means only that we cannot ignore the strong link with the economy of the Nation. Its gains will be ours. And so will be its reverses

It means that many of the fundamental problems in our society must be met not only here but everywhere in this country so long as we have a highly mobile population

The impact of deprivation in Appalachia, segregation in Mississippi, a farm bankruptcy in Arkansas or a slum in Chicago is felt in California

President Johnson has made a magnificent start in new programs toward the Great Society. We must and we will make our contributions.

THE OUTLOOK

We have important assets for the tasks ahead of putting the new technology to work for us and contributing to the national goal of full employment

Foremost among these assets are our high level of education and our large reservoir of scientific and engineering talent. It is estimated that half of all the engineers and scientists trained in space research and development live and work in California

The "knowledge industry" itself, spurred by technological change, will be a great source of growth and employment in future years. A writer for Fortune Magazine recently called knowledge "the biggest growth industry of them all."

"One of the most undercomprehended facts about our age," he wrote, "is its huge and growing demand for knowledge. Just as the production and distribution of food is the major occupation of primitive and 'emerging' societies, the production and distribution of knowledge is a major occupation of technically advanced nations, and may approach half the total U.S. output by 1985. The American economy can no longer be understood without appreciating the ever expanding role of 'the knowledge industry.'"

Some estimates put the Nation's total output of knowledge in all its aspects in 1963 at nearly $195 billion, an increase of 43 percent in five years. They put employment in the industry at 24 million, 36 percent of national nonfarm employment.

California's contribution was unquestionably greater than that of any other state and should continue to be.

We can expect great growth in the "leisure industry" and other entirely new industries now emerging in a changing technology, a changing economy, a changing society.

We can be encouraged also by the fact that projected technological trends would seem to favor California with its continuing population growth and the expansion of service industries.

California's historic role has been that of pioneer and pace-setter. We have led the way for the rest of the Nation in education, human rights, transportation, resource development, recreation and other fields.

We are pioneering today in efforts to manage the new technology to solve many ancient and still unsolved social and economic problems. We must continue this leadership.

The employment challenges of our fast changing technology are great. But solving its riddles can unlock abundance and richer lives for us all.

And what are the alternatives? Resist the changes? Smash the new machines as the English Luddites did in the Industrial Revolution? Insist on featherbedding clauses in our labor-management contracts? Keep the old jobs and the old skills when there is no way to utilize them? Of course not.

I believe that the promise of the new technology is greater than its peril. And I believe it is within our power to realize the promise

If we can create the new technology, then we can harness it We can become its beneficiaries instead of its victims

Respectfully presented,

EDMUND G BROWN, Governor

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolutions were offered:

By Assemblymen Quimby and Burgener

House Resolution No. 248

Relating to an interim study of persons preparing income tax returns, including a proposed survey by the Franchise Tax Board

WHEREAS, House Resolution No 228 of the 1963 Regular Session of the Legislature directed that an appropriate interim committee be assigned to study the problem of persons holding themselves out to the public as experts in the preparation of income tax returns, even though such persons in some instances have no particular qualifications to engage in such occupation; and

WHEREAS, The resolution pointed out that some of these persons have no permanent place of business and that taxpayers subsequently found liable for tax deficiencies often had no effective remedy against the persons who had prepared their returns, and

WHEREAS, The interim study pursuant to House Resolution No 228 has been made and findings and recommendations have been reported to the Assembly, and

WHEREAS, It now appears that there is further need to study the feasibility of enacting a statute requiring persons who prepare income tax returns for compensation to sign such returns, to maintain a correct mailing address with the Franchise Tax Board, and to maintain a current registration with a suitable state agency for a period of time following the filing of tax returns, and

WHEREAS, Further study is also needed to determine the desirability of a stricter enforcement or revision of laws prohibiting misleading advertising, as such laws relate to persons who prepare income tax returns for compensation, and to determine whether a public information program should be developed to better inform taxpayers on methods of choosing a tax adviser, and

WHEREAS, A survey by the Franchise Tax Board would be helpful in determining the professional background of persons preparing income tax returns for profit, and the board could study the factors involved in sending a questionnaire to taxpayers to solicit the following information from persons preparing income tax returns for compensation: name, business address, length of time in business at such address, occupation, and a question to determine whether or not the person also prepares federal income tax returns for compensation; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Assembly Rules Committee is directed to assign to an appropriate interim committee the subject matter of this resolution for study of the problems referred to herein, and that such committee report its findings to the Assembly by not later than the fifth legislative day of the 1967 Regular Session, including in the report its recommendations for appropriate legislation, and be it further

Resolved, That the Franchise Tax Board is requested to determine the feasibility of the survey hereinbefore mentioned and to conduct such survey, if possible, reporting its findings in either event from time to time to the interim committee assigned to study the problems set forth above, as the committee may require; and be it further

Resolved That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly is directed to transmit a copy of this resolution to the Franchise Tax Board.

Resolution read, and referred by the Speaker pro Tempore to the Committee on Rules.

By Assemblyman Waldie:

WHEREAS, With his death California has lost one of its most illustrious native sons, and the final chapter has been written in a long and colorful career, and

WHEREAS, Arthur, who was a member of the California State Bar, began his legislative service as an attache of the Assembly in 1915 and in 1921 was elected Minute Clerk, and

WHEREAS, He was first elected the Chief Clerk of the Assembly in 1923 and, except for a brief period between 1937 and 1940 when he did not seek the office, he was continuously re-elected until his recent retirement; and

WHEREAS, It is a matter of common knowledge that Arthur accorded each member of the Legislature, whether novice or veteran, whether Republican or Democrat, whether liberal or conservative, with the same fairness, helpfulness and spirit of cooperation and as a consequence was deeply respected and admired by those whom he served; and

WHEREAS, He was equally esteemed by those, who like himself, have assisted the Legislature in its deliberations and by those untold hundreds who have used and enjoyed his publication "The Legislature of California", and

WHEREAS, Arthur Ohnimus possessed a rare combination of dignity, courtesy, warmth, and honesty; and

WHEREAS, The death of this great Californian is an occasion of mourning for his many friends and an occasion of incalculable loss to all of the people of the State of California, who were the beneficiaries of his boundless energies and talents, now, therefore, be it

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT TO PRINT IN JOURNAL

Mr. Waldie was granted unanimous consent that the following letter be printed in the Journal

March 12, 1965

To Mr and Mrs John Ryan
71 Dawn Drive
Pleasant Hill, Calif

Dear Mom and Dad. This is going to be one of the hardest letters I have ever had to write. I have written for and received an application for summer volunteer work in Mississippi Of course, I couldn't work for the whole summer, only the last two weeks of August and the first week or so in September Or possibly the first two weeks of June and then I'd work at Transamerican for the rest of the summer As for the money, it would cost me $114 00 round-trip by the train And about $30 while I'm there, if only for two weeks that is I'm getting back $94 00 on my income tax return and you know I kept $20 out of my paychecks, so money would be no problem In order to make up for the time I miss I would bank all of my paychecks and that way it would be almost the same as if I stayed home

You probably realize why I want to go, but in case you don't: I think I could be of some value down there They need people to organize registration and I have experience there. They also need people who can type, so I could help there too Finally, they need people that can pay their own way. Also I'm going to see about starting a SNCC club up here So I think I can be of some value; whether they think so time will tell.

It is like a war in a way down there It is a fight against the past and for the future It must be won but it can't be if everyone sits at home Sure, they can get kids down there, kids whose only qualification is that they have picketed some place I'm 18 now and if I was a boy and a war was on I'd be drafted But in that case I don't think I'd wait to be drafted; I would join up This is what I'm doing now It will never be a real war and I'll never be drafted but that doesn't make any difference I feel that I must at least try to join

Our country is a great one but the South is like a dead weight. You probably realize that in many parts of the South they fly the Confederate flag above the American Their schools are horrible, for both Negroes and whites Then's is a stagnant society Worse than that, it is an oppressive one It tends to kill any creative or exceptional talents in its white people The Negroes are never given a chance, they are doomed at birth If our country is ever to grow to capacity the Southern society must be changed Sure, this sounds terribly idealistic and impractical It is to a point I know that SNCC nor any other organization nor any amount of kids from the North is going to change the South But they do serve as an alarm clock They wake a few people up Already many of the people that are working down there are native white Southern SNCC was first organized in Georgia by white kids It is spreading and maybe in four or five generations most of the hate will be washed away, maybe not but there is a possibility That is what I must work for and I think you can see why

I know that the reason you would object to my going down there would not be because of money or out of prejudice but because you would be afraid I would be hurt There is a distinct chance that that would happen. But I can't live my life in constant fear of being hurt. I drive a car and many more people are hurt in cars than in Mississippi Of course, that is a poor analogy What I'm trying to say is that some things are more important than our feelings This must be done and it isn't right to let others carry all the burden I know it will be perhaps harder for you than for me But I still think and you must too that this is too important, too necessary, to let our personal feelings stand in the way I feel that I must go, if I'm accepted There is a distinct possibility that I won't be though They are only taking a few kids this year and this is another reason why I must try to go They will want the best possible help and if I can do the job, all the better But if I can't at least I will have had the satisfaction of volunteering

All I can say is that this is extremely important to me I know this letter will come as a shock and your first response will probably be no But please reconsider and think about it Wait until I get home to tell me I can only think of what President Kennedy said, "Ask not what your country can do for you; but what you can do for your country"

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolution was offered:

By Assemblyman Stevens

House Resolution No. 279

Relative to congratulating the U C L A basketball team

WHEREAS, The Assembly of the State of California takes great pleasure in, hereby, extending to the U C L A. basketball team its heartiest congratulations upon having won, for the second consecutive year, the National Collegiate Athletic Association Basketball Championship, and

WHEREAS, U C L A., which was rated the No 2 team in the Nation during most of the regular basketball season, achieved the championship by convincingly defeating Michigan, the team adjudged to be the best team in the Nation at the close of the regular season, by a score of 91 to 80, and

WHEREAS, Led by their All-American guard Gail Goodrich, who scored 42 points to break his own school scoring record, and the clutch play of their "sixth man," Kenny Washington, the Bruins erased an early 20 to 13 Michigan lead with their finesse, then cunning, and particularly their stamina, and

WHEREAS, The victory was as usual a team victory with centers Doug McIntosh and Mike Lynn putting the clamp on Bill Buntin, the Michigan pivot man, restricting him to 14 points, Edgar Lacey, Mike Lynn, and Kenny Washington doing a great job of controlling the backboards; Freddie Goss hitting some vital baskets; and Keith Erickson, who was playing with a pulled leg muscle, ably aiding the Bruins in maintaining ball control during the final ten minutes of the game, and

WHEREAS, A magnificient climax to a splendid season, in which the Bruins posted a 28-2 mark, the Championship added additional luster to the already enviable coaching record of Coach John Wooden, whose teams have now won 58 of 60 games over a two-year span; and

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Assembly, on behalf of all of the people of the State of California, congratulates the victorious U C L A Basketball Team upon the honor it has earned, not only for each of the fine young men who are members of the team, their coaches, trainer, athletic director, and the University of California at Los Angeles, but also for every Californian, by again winning the National Collegiate Athletic Association Basketball Championship; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly is directed to transmit suitably prepared copies of this resolution to each of the members of the U C L A National Championship Basketball Team, and to Head Coach John Wooden, Assistant Coach Jerry Norman, Trainer Elvin "Ducky" Drake, and U.C.L.A Athletic Director J D Morgan.

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolutions were offered:

By Assemblyman Petris:

House Resolution No. 280

Relating to a study of earthquake dangers on land fill in San Francisco Bay

WHEREAS, Geologists expect another earthquake in the San Francisco Bay area as strong or stronger than the earthquake of 1906, although it is impossible to predict when it will come, and

WHEREAS, The ultimate effect of any earthquake in a particular area depends on many variables, and it is a fact that earthquake shaking on bay mud or other watersoaked soil is of greater magnitude than on any other kind of ground, and

WHEREAS, The ever increasing development of earth fill areas in the bay presents a serious problem of great significance, particularly in view of the damage caused to many modernly constructed structures in Anchorage, Alaska by the earthquake of last year and by the quakes in Mexico City in 1957, and

WHEREAS, It is seemingly possible to minimize, if not prevent, earthquake damage by design and construction factors of buildings and by careful preparation of the soil on which buildings are located, but in doing so the additional cost involved may make the final costs of buildings uneconomical, particularly if in competition with buildings without such safety features, now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Assembly Rules Committee is directed to assign to an appropriate interim committee the study of the problem of earthquake dangers to buildings built on land fill in the San Francisco Bay area

Resolution read, and referred by the Speaker pro Tempore to the Committee on Rules.

By Assemblyman Gonsalves:

House Resolution No. 281

Relative to commending the Valley Christian High School Crusaders on winning the C I F. Southern Section "A" Division Basketball Championship

WHEREAS, Through team effort, drive and spirited play the 1965 basketball team of Valley Christian High School, composed of Roger Bandsma, Dean Duistermars, Dennis Herrema, Brian Hibma, Ken Kline, Tony Smits, Don Suwyn, Tim Tiemens, Loren Van Woudenberg and Randy Verhoeven, earned a berth in the C I F Southern Section "A" Division Basketball Championship playoff after becoming the Champion of the Olympic League, and

WHEREAS, Under the masterful direction of Head Coach Jack Walvoord and Assistant Coach Dave Vanderhill, the 1965 Valley Christian High School Basketball Team, with three players scoring in double figures, defeated Hemet High School by the impressive score of 68 to 50 for the C I F Southern Section "A" Division Basketball Championship, and

WHEREAS, The team's leading scorer, Dean Duistermars, was elected to the All-Tournament Team and the All-C I F "A" Division Team; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Members send their heartiest congratulations for a job well done to the players and coaches of the 1965 Valley Christian High School Crusaders' Basketball Team, to the school Principal, Mr Stuart Ellens, and to the school Superintendent, Mr Harold Tiemens; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly shall transmit suitably prepared copies of this resolution to the members of the 1965 Valley Christian High School Basketball Team and their coaches

Resolution read, and referred by the Speaker pro Tempore to the Committee on Rules

By Assemblymen Porter, Lanterman, Britschgi, Conrad, Mills, Thelin, and Winton

House Resolution No. 282

Relative to a study of construction design errors

WHEREAS, The Subcommittee on State Purchasing of the Interim Committee on Ways and Means has made a thorough study of change orders and other modifications of state construction contracts, and

WHEREAS, The committee found that many changes in contracts are the result of design errors, and

WHEREAS, Representatives of some of the state departments involved in construction informed the committee that design is often done hastily, increasing the likelihood of errors, now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Department of Water Resources, the Department of Public Works, and the Department of General Services are directed to conduct a review of their respective procedures on construction design and to take appropriate steps to raise the quality of such design to the level of quality specified in the State Contract Act, which requires "full, complete, and accurate plans and specifications and estimates of cost ..." (Sec. 14270, Gov. C.), and to report thereon to the Legislature not later than the fifth legislative day of the 1967 Regular Session, and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly is directed to transmit copies of this resolution to the Director of Water Resources, the Director of Public Works and the Director of General Services

Resolution read, and referred by the Speaker pro Tempore to the Committee on Rules

By Assemblymen Porter, Lanterman, Britschgi, Conrad, Mills, Thelin, and Winton:

House Resolution No. 283

Relative to a study of joint construction planning

WHEREAS, The Subcommittee on State Purchasing of the Interim Committee on Ways and Means has made a thorough study of change orders and other modifications of state construction contracts; and

WHEREAS, The committee has found that many changes in contracts are the result of unanticipated requirements of other public agencies which have an interest in the construction project, and

WHEREAS, The committee has concluded that most of these changes could be avoided through efficient joint planning in advance of a project; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Department of Water Resources the Department of Public Works, and the Department of General Services are directed to conduct a review of their respective methods of and procedures for consultation, cooperation and joint planning with other public agencies which have an interest in construction projects in advance of construction and to take appropriate steps to improve this process in terms of decreasing substantially the number of changes due to this cause and to report thereon to the Legislature not later than the fifth legislative day of the 1967 Regular Session; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly is directed to transmit copies of this resolution to the Director of Water Resources, the Director of Public Works and the Director of General Services

Future Looks Bright

RESIDENT RECOUNTS HAYWARD'S GROWTH

Mrs. Marie E. Moore, 619 Greely Court, Hayward, hasn't attended a Hayward City Council meeting since last August.

And as a result, the council meetings haven't been quite the same as they were when she attended each week, sometimes interrupting discussions to express her own ideas, sometimes admonishing the council and always advocating what she thought was best for her adopted city.

But although illness has kept the elderly Mrs Moore from the meetings, it hasn't kept her from expressing her opinions She put them down on paper last week in a letter to city councilmen.

This is what she wrote.

"As I can no longer appear before you to express my opinions, desires and aims on various matters so vital (I feel) towards the welfare of our community, may I share with you my feelings for my adopted city

The Letter

"Twenty-one years ago this spring I used to take the street car from East Oakland and, accompanied by my young son, browse around the sleepy little village of Hayward, enjoying the trees in bloom and the quaintness of the town but always glad to go home leaving it blinking sleepily in the warm spring sun.

"Five years later we bought south of Hayward and shortly afterward moved out here followed in time by each of our married children Hayward was still a sleepy little cowtown that I would hurry through on my way home from work.

"Suddenly I found myself feeling very sorry for this poor little farm-boy town. He never seemed to be able to walk a road without an accident His arms always seemed to protrude too far out of his coat sleeves and the pants leg never seemed to get below the shoetop He would stumble and fall, tearing his pants leg or the elbow of his coat.

"How rebellious he looked and acted as many of us tried to help him up as we tried to brush the dirt and grass from his clothing How often we looked away so as not to see the terrible frustrated look in his eyes

"Why I seemed to feel such a duty and love towards this young-man town I will never know. But no task seemed too long, hard or arduous to perform to help toward the goal he was trying to attain I became used to calls at all hours, day or night, for help

"Suddenly one day I realized it had been some time since the cry of 'help me' had been heard I looked around for the stumbling, bumbling farm boy and could find no trace of him What I found instead was a stalwart young man striding along shoulders squared, head held high toward the clouds, eyes fearless and sparkling

"As I watched, a pang shot through my heart for I knew this gallant young man no longer had need of supporting arms Instead he knew well his direction and path

"Looking around I saw our Art Phillips with a wishful, yet proud, look on his face as he also watched our gallant young Hayward Also here was our Fred Cox, Herbert Way, Robert Wright, Carlos Bee, George Oakes, John Purchio, Vernon Blichfeldt, John Pappas and many, many others, some gone, some still with us who also helped our young Hayward reach his goal

"I shall always feel a debt of gratitude toward those who allowed me to participate in a very small way toward the growth of this, my adopted city The courtesy and friendship I have been accorded in each and every department of our city when I have had business there is one of the things that caused our young man to grow so straight and tall

"I feel I have been greatly honored for privileges granted in being allowed a part of a great undertaking In this I have my reward"

INTRODUCTION OF GUESTS

Speaker pro Tempore Bee introduced Pietro DiCarlo, of San Pedro, father-in-law of Assemblyman Vincent Thomas of San Pedro, whereupon the Members of the Assembly joined in welcoming him on his visit to the Assembly Chamber

No 'Free Ride' for Indolent

CITRUS GROWERS KILL MINIMUM WAGE PLAN

Higher incentive pay for the industrious worker, but no "free ride" for the indolent has been pledged by California and Arizona citrus growers.

The growers rebelled at a minimum wage of $1 40 an hour beginning April 1 recommended by Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz Compliance with the minimum would have qualified the growers to hire foreign workers if, and when, they are permitted to enter the United States for employment

Instead, the growers will raise incentive rates to where the "average" worker can earn $1 75 an hour.

There will be enough domestic workers to harvest the navel orange crop in the East San Bernardino Valley area, said Lloyd Yount, manager of the Redlands-Highland Fruit Exchange, but a shortage of workers may develop by the time Valencia orange and grapefruit crops come in this summer

Many farm workers prefer to work in other crops, such as walnut, tomato or peach, which also mature in the summer, he said.

The Redlands-Highland Fruit Exchange is part of the giant Sunkist organization
Recently W P Hasty, manager of the Upland Lemon Growers Association, criticized the State Department of Employment offices for sending "undesirable" type workers for the lemon harvest

Hasty also said there weren't enough qualified workers who remained on the job to harvest the lemon crop in the county's West End area

At the Citrus Institute, held recently during the 50th National Orange Show, Dick Daniels, manager of Farmers Harvest Association of Los Angeles, the group that does the actual recruiting for Miller's Agricultural Producers Labor Committee, said it "is not possible" to continue paying the U S Department of Labor-ordered minimum wages At that time he discussed a proposal he said was made to Labor Secretary Wirtz providing no minimum wage but setting piece-rate wages that "would allow efficient workers to earn average wages well over the current minimum"

Coachella Valley date growers agreed to pay a $1 50 hourly minimum decreed by the Department of Labor By meeting this minimum wage, the date growers qualified for foreign workers if they were found to be needed

Previously the date growers balked at meeting the minimum wage requirements Until they changed their minds and agreed to pay the $1 50 minimum, the date growers weren't entitled to foreign workers even if the need was approved by the Department of Labor

The extra pay for date growers—$1 50 an hour minimum as compared with $1 25 hourly for other farm workers—was said to be justified on the basis that the work, in tree tops, was more difficult

But citrus growers balked at paying a minimum rate

J J Miller, manager of the Agricultural Producers Labor Committee, spoke for its 11,000 grower-members yesterday

"Ever since the end of the bracero program nearly three months ago," he said, "citrus growers have suffered mounting financial losses as the result of a series of rules and regulations issued by the U S Department of Labor

"These rules forced the growers to hire thousands of incompetent and poorly prepared workers," he told the Associated Press

Although California growers would soon have to pay $1 40 an hour to comply with Wirtz' requests, Miller said, Texas and Florida growers need only to meet a minimum of $1 25

The $1 25 minimum now in existence, Miller said, "merely serves to encourage indolent workers to take a free ride at the expense of growers"

In Sacramento, state Assembly Speaker Jesse M Unruh said yesterday the incentive pay proposal shows the "kind of imaginative approach that we all hoped would be adopted"

But Miller said Wirtz had told him by telephone he found the new plan unacceptable

Wirtz has agreed to meet with him while on tour of California farm areas this week, Miller said

Plans by the Farmers Harvest Association to recruit workers in Kansas, Missouri and Louisiana have been abandoned because of the Wirtz wage directive, Miller said

Relative to mentally gifted minors

WHEREAS, The State of California several years ago authorized a state-financed special program for mentally gifted minors in the Public School System, and

WHEREAS, State support for this activity through the State School Fund exceeds $3,000,000 each year, and

WHEREAS, No statewide curricula or minimum program standards have been developed for such programs for mentally gifted children, other than the requirement that the numbers of such children shall not exceed 2 percent of the statewide enrollment in the public schools; and

WHEREAS, Costs of these programs are accounted for, and claims by school districts are submitted, in the same way as claims are submitted for costs incurred for programs of special education, and

WHEREAS, The Assembly Interim Committee on Education, in its deliberations concerning programs of special education in 1963–65, determined that this method of cost accounting does not indicate fully what goods and services are being provided with the state reimbursement, and

WHEREAS, Requests have been made in past years and are likely to be made in 1965 that the Legislature increase state support of these programs, now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Committee on Rules is directed to assign the subject of a study of state-financed programs for mentally gifted minors to an appropriate interim committee, with such committee to report its findings and recommendations to the Assembly no later than the fifth legislative day of the 1967 Regular Session of the Legislature

Resolution read, and referred by the Speaker pro Tempore to the Committee on Rules.

By Assemblymen Fenton and Danielson:

House Resolution No. 293

Relative to an interim study of the small claims courts

WHEREAS, The system of small claims courts in this state was originally conceived to aid persons who could not afford legal counsel in order to obtain judicial enforcement of claims having small monetary value; and

WHEREAS, As the system has developed in recent years, it is no longer primarily the servant of the people it was established to serve; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Assembly Committee on Rules is directed to assign to an appropriate interim committee for study, the subject of the system of small claims courts in this state in order to determine what steps are necessary to restore such courts to their role of providing judicial enforcement of small claims for people who cannot otherwise afford to pursue their claims, and to direct such interim committee to report its findings and recommendations for legislation to the Legislature not later than the fifth legislative day of the 1967 Regular Session

Resolution read, and referred by the Speaker pro Tempore to the Committee on Rules.

By Assemblyman Casey:

House Resolution No. 294

Relative to a study of eligibility for medical care for children

WHEREAS, The Governor's Committee on Medical Aid and Health took note of the lack of uniformity of eligibility standards for public medical care, and

WHEREAS, The Governor's Advisory Committee on Children and Youth noted in its report to the White House Conference on Children and Youth varying eligibility practices among programs providing medical services for children and the detrimental effect of such practices upon adequate services; and

WHEREAS, Adequate prompt medical care for children is necessary to prevent disability and dependency, and

WHEREAS, The California State Legislature has by the passage of medical aid for the aged and other legislation established state-wide eligibility standards for the aged; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Committee on Rules is directed to assign to an appropriate interim committee for study, the subject of eligibility practice in all public medical care programs which provide medical services for children and youth to determine whether all children in the State who need medical services are eligible to receive these services in all areas of the State and to require the interim committee to report its findings and recommendations for legislation not later than the fifth legislative day of the 1967 Regular Session

Resolution read, and referred by the Speaker pro Tempore to the Committee on Rules

Recommendation of the Governor

In accordance with Article IV, Section 34, of the Constitution, the Governor presented the following communication recommending the consideration of Senate Bill No. 268:

State of California, Governor's Office
Sacramento, March 1, 1965

To the Honorable Members of the Senate and Assembly

Senate Bill No 268, as amended March 1, 1965, "An act to add Sections 186 9, 186 95, and 186 96 to the Streets and Highways Code, and to amend Sections 7351, 7351 5, 7653, and 8651 of, and to add Sections 7351 6 and 8651 to, the Revenue and Taxation Code, to provide for the financial support of state highways, county roads and city streets and for the repair, restoration and replacement thereof when damaged or destroyed by storm or flood or other disaster conditions, making an appropriation therefor, and declaring an urgency thereof, to take effect immediately," in my opinion constitutes an emergency bill within the meaning of the term as used in Section 34 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California, the consideration of which should not await final enactment of the Budget Bill The facts constituting such a necessity are The recent storms and floods occurring in various areas of the state have caused severe damage and destruction to essential highways, roads, and bridges These highways, roads, and bridges in many cases, constitute the sole means of transportation in these areas In order that the economy of the areas be maintained, it is necessary that funds be made available at once for the restoration of such highways, roads and bridges It is, therefore, essential that this act go into effect immediately

I, therefore, recommend consideration of Senate Bill No 268, as amended March 1, 1965, as an emergency measure

Respectfully submitted,

EDMUND G BROWN, Governor

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by the Chaplain, Rev. Robert R Ferguson:

God, our loving Father, While we are thinking of bills, and means to achieve a better economy, may we never overlook the most insignificant person who is of infinite worth, because each of us is made in Thy image Dispel from us the pride which would lead some to think outward color leads to superiority, or inferiority, when Thou hast said, "out of the heart are the issues of life" Thou hast taught us that pride is the basic sin, so those who feel superior are more to be pitied than those whom they oppress May we ever be mindful that Thou hast made of one blood all people who dwell upon the face of the earth, that because You equally love each of us, so should we equally love one another May Your peace dispel our alien and misguided thoughts. In our Lord's Name—AMEN

House Resolution No. 274, as Amended

By Assemblymen Deukmejian, Danielson, and Moretti

House Resolution No. 274

Relative to Armenian Martyrs' Day

WHEREAS, Armenians are one of the few ancient peoples whose history stretches back over 3000 years, beginning in their historic homeland, at the heart of which stands the Biblical Mount Ararat; and

WHEREAS, During their long history, the Armenians have been torchbearers of the democratic way of life and Western Culture in the midst of hostile surroundings, especially since their adoption in 301 A.D. of Christianity as their national religion, and they have continuously been called upon to rise to arms in defense of not only their homeland, but also that of the Christian West, as the key bulwark in the East against the efforts of Asian paganism in its efforts to reach and dominate Europe, and

WHEREAS, Few nations have had to make as many sacrifices to maintain the ideals of a democratic way of life and their right to their beliefs and national existence as have the Armenians Defeated many times on the battlefield, persecuted and massacred, yet they have tenaciously held on, never giving up their beliefs in man's right to live in freedom and dignity, and

WHEREAS, Fifty years ago, on April 24, 1915, the Government of the Turkish Empire, as an ally of the Central Powers, commenced a systematic plan of massacre of the Armenian nation, and

WHEREAS, During the Turkish holocaust of 1915–1918 one-half of all known living Armenians were marched away from their homes and families without prior notice, into the Syrian Deserts and slaughtered or maimed amidst indescribable horrors, and

WHEREAS, Despite this terrible blood bath which was designed to destroy their nation, the Armenian people made important contributions to the allied war effort of 1915–1918, and in 1917 an Armenian Army, in a series of brilliant campaigns, prevented the Turks from capturing the vast oil reserves at Baku for use by the German war machine, and thus forced Turkey to recognize the newly formed independent Armenian state, and

WHEREAS, Although, philosophically, the Armenians who were massacred did not die in vain, having given their lives in the service of virtuous government, freedom, and human rights, yet in terms of the aspirations of their nation their sacrifice unfortunately led to the further domination of this valiant people by hostile foreign powers, and

WHEREAS, There has been no event in the annals of mankind which so thoroughly in its day captured the sympathy of the peoples of the world, but which was so soon forgotten, as the Turkish genocide of the Armenians, and

WHEREAS, Many of those who were able to survive, through the generosity and warm hand of welcome stretched to them by the United States Government, came to America to become a part of our great nation. Americans of Armenian ancestry presently number about 400,000 of whom nearly 140,000 are residents of the State of California, and

WHEREAS, During these years, as loyal citizens and through their ability and industriousness, they have contributed their significant share to the enrichment of our nation and state in the fields of economy, science, education, literature, arts and government, and

WHEREAS, Official Armenian Martyrs' Day for the two million martyrs of the 1915-1918 massacres has been set by Armenians as April 24; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Members wish to pay homage to these innocent, brave people who lost their lives in the service of the highest traditions of mankind during the Turkish genocide of the Armenian Nation, a short five decades ago
