Sec. 8. When any person alleged to come within the provisions of any of subdivisions 1 to 13 inclusive of section 1 of this act shall be adjudged by said court or judge to come within the terms of any of said subdivisions, and adjudged to be a ward of the juvenile court, the court may make an order committing said person for such time as the court may deem fit, but not beyond the time during which the court retains jurisdiction as prescribed by the provisions of section 12 hereof, either (a) to the home and care of some reputable person of good moral character, or (b) to the care of some association, society or corporation embracing within its objects the purpose of caring for or obtaining homes for such persons, willing and able to receive and care for said ward, or (c) to the care of the probation officer, to be boarded out or placed in some suitable family home, in case provision is made by voluntary contribution, or otherwise, for the payment of the board of said ward until suitable provision may be made for said ward in a home without such payment, said ward to be subject to the supervision of the probation officer and the further order of the court; or (d) on probation to the care of the probation officer, said ward to remain in the home of said ward, or in any other fit home in which the court may order the probation officer to place said ward, subject to the visitation of the probation officer, said ward to report to the probation officer as often as may be required, and to be subject to be returned to the court for further proceedings whenever such action may appear necessary or desirable; or (e) the court may, if said ward of the juvenile court be a boy, commit him to the Preston School of Industry, or to the Whittier State School, for the period during which the court retains jurisdiction; provided, that no boy under the age of fifteen years shall be committed to the Preston School of Industry, nor any boy over the age of sixteen years to the Whittier State School, or if said ward be a girl; the court may commit her to the California School for Girls, for the period during which the court retains jurisdiction, or (g) may commit such person to any other State or county institution that is now established or may hereafter be established for the purpose of caring for and training persons that come within the provision of this act; provided, however, that before conveying any such person to any such institution it shall be ascertained from the superintendent thereof whether such person can be received; provided, however, that such commitment under this act to either the Preston School of Industry or the Whittier State School shall permit the transfer of any such boy from one institution to the other upon the agreement thereto by the superintendents of such institutions; and provided, further, that any boy committed to the Whittier State School who has passed his fifteenth birthday, and who after due trial and a reasonable opportunity has failed to make a satisfactory response to the training and instruction therein given and who has persistently resisted the discipline of said school; and any boy who has passed his fifteenth birthday and while still under commitment to said school, violates the conditions under which he may have been permitted to leave said school, shall on the recommendation of the superintendent of said Whittier school, approved by the board of trustees thereof, be transferred to and be received by the Preston School of Industry.

When any person alleged to come within the provisions of any of subdivisions one to thirteen inclusive of section one of this act shall be found by said court to come within said provisions, said court may at its discretion admonish said person and dismiss said petition.

No ward who is under the age of eight years and no ward who is suffering from any contagious, infectious, or other disease which would probably endanger the lives or health of the other inmates of said state schools shall be committed thereto. No person under the age of fourteen years at the time of the commission of any offense with which he may be charged shall ever be sent to a state prison unless he has first been committed to the Whittier State School, or the Preston School of Industry, and has there proved to be incorrigible or not amenable to the discipline of said school. No ward shall be committed to said state school unless the judge of said court shall be fully satisfied that the mental and physical condition and qualifications of said ward are such as to render it probable that such ward will be benefited by the reformatory educational discipline of such schools.

Accompanying the commitment papers, the court must send to the superintendent of the state institution to which said person is committed a summary of all the facts in the possession of the court, covering the history of the ward committed, including a statement of the mental and physical condition of said ward.

SEC. 3. Section 11 of said act is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 11. Any order providing for the care and custody of a ward of the juvenile court in such case where it is necessary that provision be made for the expense of support and maintenance of said ward, must direct that the whole expense of such support and maintenance of said ward, up to the amount of twenty dollars per month, shall be paid from the county treasury of the county, and in such case shall state the amount to be so paid from the county treasury of the county, the amount so ordered to be paid not to exceed, in the case of any one ward, the sum of twenty dollars in any one month.

At the time of making any order providing for the support and maintenance of a ward of the juvenile court, said court shall inquire into the earnings, property or estate of said ward, and into the ability of the parent, parents, guardian of said ward, or other person liable for the support and maintenance of said ward, to pay for the expense of support and maintenance of said ward.

If it is found that twenty dollars a month is insufficient to pay the whole expense of support and maintenance of said ward, the court may order and direct that such additional amount as may be necessary shall be paid out of the earnings, property or estate of said ward, or by the parent, parents, guardian of said ward, or other person liable for the support and maintenance of said ward, to said probation officer, who shall in turn pay the same to the person, association or institution that under court order is caring for and maintaining said ward.

Said court shall further order and direct that the county for its expense of support and maintenance of any such ward shall be reimbursed, either in whole or in part, from the earnings, property or estate of said ward, or by the parent, parents, guardian of said ward, or other person liable for the support of said ward, if it is found that there are earnings, property or estate of said ward sufficient therefor, or that said parent, parents, guardian of said ward, or other person liable for the support of said ward, is able to pay, either in whole or in part, for such expense of support and maintenance of said ward, and for the purpose of said reimbursement may order and direct payments to be made to the probation officer from the earnings, property or estate of said ward, or by the parent, parents, guardian of said ward, or other person liable for the support of said ward, the amount of which payments shall be determined by said court and which said payments shall be paid by said probation officer in turn to the county treasurer of said county on account of said reimbursement.

No order for payment shall be made in a sum in excess of the actual cost of supporting and maintaining said ward. No order for the payment from the county treasury of the expense of support and maintenance of a ward of the juvenile court shall be effective for more than six months, and upon all said original and all subsequent hearings the case shall be continued on the calendar, but in no instance to exceed six months; provided, however, that in the case of each person committed to any state school there shall be paid monthly to the State Treasurer the sum of twenty dollars by the county from which such person is committed, for and during each month or part of month such person so committed remains in such State school or in any other State school within this State to which such person may be transferred.

For the purpose of handling the reimbursement and other payments provided for herein said probation officer shall keep suitable books and accounts and shall give and keep suitable receipts and vouchers, and if such funds shall be by said probation officer kept in a bank, said bank shall be designated by the judge of said court. The auditor of said county annually in the month of January shall audit such books and accounts and shall make a report thereon to the judge of said court and to the supervisors of such county prior to the thirty-first day of said month of January.

In all cases the court may determine whether or not the parent, parents, or guardian shall exercise any control of said ward and define the extent thereof.

Any disobedience or interference with any order of the juvenile court or of the judge thereof shall constitute a contempt of court.

It shall be the duty of the probation officer to see that such parent, parents, guardian of said ward, or other person liable therefor, comply with such orders, or upon failure to make any payment directed in such orders, to report such failure to such court. The court may at any time set aside, change or modify any order herein provided for.

Where said juvenile court has ordered payment of money to be made as reimbursement to the county for the expense of support and maintenance of any ward as herein provided for or as additional amount for the expense of support and maintenance of said ward for said person, association or institution that under court order is caring for and maintaining said ward, either from the earnings, property or estate of said ward, or by the parent, parents, guardian of said ward, or other person liable for the support of said ward, execution may issue for such payment or payments upon the order and at the discretion of said court, upon affidavit of said probation officer showing that any payment or payments are due and have not been made.

SEC. 4. Section 12 of said act is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 12. The court shall retain the jurisdiction of any person who is found to be a ward of the juvenile court until such ward attains the age of twenty-one years, unless, if the ward is a girl, she is married with the consent of the court entered upon the minutes of the court, or until said court is satisfied that said ward has fully reformed or that further direction and supervision under the provisions of this act are unnecessary or inadvisable for said ward's reformation; provided, however, that if the ward has attained the age of nineteen years or more at the time of commitment the court shall retain jurisdiction for two years from and after the date of commitment.

SEC. 5. A new section is hereby added to said act, to be numbered 19*x* 45, to read as follows:

Sec. 19*x* 45. In counties of the forty-fifth class there shall be one probation officer whose salary shall be thirty-five dollars per month.

SEC. 6. The provisions of section 5 of this act, so far as they are substantially the same as existing statutes governing counties of this class, must be construed as continuations thereof and not as new enactments; and nothing in this act contained shall be deemed to shorten or extend the term of office or employment of any person holding office or employment under the provisions of such statutes.

PRESENTATION OF PETITION.

The following petition was presented, and ordered printed in the Journal:

By Mr. Christian:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA

OFFICE OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, April 27, 1921.

DEAR SIR: Heretofore you addressed this office in the matter of Assembly Bill No. 1187, as follows:

"In re Assembly Bill No. 1187 will you be kind enough to render an immediate opinion in regard to whether or not the appropriation carried in the within enclosed bill is constitutional.

"The title to the property upon which the San Diego Mission stands is vested in the Catholic Church."

On the twenty-second instant, in reply to your letter, we advised you in effect that this bill on its face was valid and free from constitutional objection. Under date of the twenty-third instant you addressed this office as follows:

"Your favor of April 22 is scarcely responsive to the question asked. I did not desire to discover a technical method to defeat any principle of the constitution, but rather to determine under all the circumstances if the Assembly was conforming to the constitutional oath of its members in passing Assembly Bill No. 1187 (see Stevenson vs. Colgan, 91 Cal. 652).

"What I desire to know is can the Legislature lawfully make an appropriation to repair the property of a religious corporation? This is the point involved in Assembly Bill No. 1187. It is admitted that the title to the property involved is held by the Catholic Church. There is no question on this point. The facts being known, will an observance of the constitution permit the appropriation?"

In reply, there seems no occasion for this office to go into matters not appearing upon the face of the measure and which would not be competent for a court's consideration should such measure reach the courts. Hence it still appears that our letter to you covered all the facts necessary by us to be considered.

Your first letter states, and your second letter repeats, that the property upon which the San Diego Mission stands is owned by the Catholic Church and you seem to desire an expression of the view of this office whether such fact would render the measure in question unconstitutional. Your letters indicate that you question the constitutionality of this measure though you point out no provision of the constitution which in your judgment is violated thereby. You may have in view section 30 of article IV of the constitution which provides that the Legislature shall not "make an appropriation, or pay from any public fund whatever, or grant anything to or in aid of any religious sect, church, creed, or sectarian purpose, or help to support or sustain any school, college, university, hospital, or other institution controlled by any religious creed, church, or sectarian denomination whatever," etc.

Nothing on the face of this bill indicates a violation of any provision of this section of the constitution, nor does the fact stated by you that the San Diego Mission is owned by the Catholic Church indicate such violation. It is quite the common practice for federal and state governments to appropriate public funds for the preservation of buildings or other objects of historic interest, the preservation of which will, in the judgment of the legislative body, be of historic or other advantage to the government or the people of the government making such appropriation, and when such is the purpose of the appropriation it is not material where the title to the building or other object to be preserved rests.

It does not appear that the appropriation here sought to be made is intended to be "in aid of any religious sect, church, creed," or that it is intended for any "sectarian purpose," or that it is intended "to support or sustain any school, college, university, hospital, or other institution." On the contrary, the purpose as expressed in the bill is to "restore the mission of San Diego."

Therefore, neither the facts stated in your letter nor those appearing in the bill indicate a violation of any of the provisions of the constitution referred to. For like reasons it is not apparent on the face of the bill or from the facts stated by you that this measure falls under the prohibition of section 31 or of section 22 of article IV of the constitution.

Very truly yours. U. S. WEBB, Attorney General.

MOTION.

Mr. Anderson moved that the Journal of Thursday, April 28, 1921, be approved as corrected by the Minute Clerk.

Motion carried.

SENATE CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT No. 4.

Relative to the framing and ratifying of municipal charters

Resolved by the Senate, the Assembly concurring, That the Legislature of the State of California at its forty-fourth regular session, beginning on the third day of January, 1921, two-thirds of all the members elected to each of the houses voting in favor thereof, propose to the people of the State that section 8 of article XI of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

Sec. 8. Any city or city and county containing a population of more than three thousand five hundred inhabitants, as ascertained by the last preceding census taken under the authority of the Congress of the United States or of the Legislature of California, may frame a charter for its own government, consistent with and subject to this constitution; and any city, or city and county having adopted a charter may adopt a new one. Any such charter shall be framed by a board of fifteen freeholders chosen by the electors of such city at any general or special election, but no person shall be eligible as a candidate for such board unless he shall have been, for the five years next preceding, an elector of said city. An election for choosing freeholders may be called by a two-thirds vote of the legislative body of such city, and, on presentation of a petition signed by not less than fifteen per cent of the registered electors of such city, the legislative body shall call such election at any time not less than thirty nor more than sixty days from date of the filing of the petition. Any such petition shall be verified by the authority having charge of the registration records of such city or city and county and the expenses of such verification shall be provided by the legislative body thereof. Candidates for the office of freeholders shall be nominated either in such manner as may be provided for the nomination of officers of the municipal government or by petition, substantially in the same manner as may be provided by general laws for the nomination by petition of electors of candidates for public offices to be voted for at general elections. The board of freeholders shall, within one hundred twenty days after the result of the election is declared, prepare and propose a charter for the government of such city; but the said period of one hundred twenty days may with the consent of the legislative body of such city be extended by such board not exceeding a total of sixty days. The charter so prepared shall be signed by a majority of the board of freeholders and filed in the office of the clerk of the legislative body of said city. The legislative body of said city shall within fifteen days after such filing cause such charter to be published once in the official paper of said city; (or in case there be no such paper, in a paper of general circulation); and shall cause copies of such charter to be printed in convenient pamphlet form, and shall, until the date fixed for the election upon such charter, advertise in one or more papers of general circulation published in said city a notice that such copies may be had upon application therefor. Such charter shall be submitted to the electors of such city at a date to be fixed by the board of freeholders, before such filing and designated on such charter, either at a special election held not less than sixty days from the completion of the publication of such charter as above provided, or at the general election next following the expiration of said sixty days. If a majority of the qualified voters voting thereon at such general or special election shall vote in favor of such proposed charter, it shall be deemed to be ratified, and shall be submitted to the Legislature, if then in session, or at the next regular or special session of the Legislature. The Legislature shall by concurrent resolution approve or reject such charter as a whole, without power of alteration or amendment, and if approved by a majority of the members elected to each house it shall become the organic law of such city or city and county, and supersede any existing charter and all laws inconsistent therewith. One copy of the charter so ratified and approved shall be filed with the Secretary of State, one with the recorder of the county in which such city is located, and one in the archives of the city; and thereafter the courts shall take judicial notice of the provisions of such charter. The charter of any city or city and county may be amended by proposals therefor submitted by the legislative body of the city on its own motion or on petition signed by fifteen per cent of the registered electors, or both. Such proposals shall be submitted to the electors only during the six months next preceding a regular session of the Legislature or thereafter and before the final adjournment of that session and at either a special election called for that purpose or at any general or special election. Petitions for the submission of any amendment shall be filed with the legislative body of the city or city and county not less than sixty days prior to the general election next preceding a regular session of the Legislature. The signatures on such petition shall be verified by the authority having charge of the registration records of such city or city and county, and the expenses of such verification shall be provided by the legislative body thereof. If such petitions have a sufficient number of signatures the legislative body of the city or city and county shall so submit the amendment or amendments so proposed to the electors. Amendments proposed by the legislative body and amendments proposed by petition of the electors may be submitted at the same election. The amendments so submitted shall be advertised in the same manner as herein provided for the advertisement of a proposed charter, and the election thereon held at a date to be fixed by the legislative body of such city, not less than forty and not more than sixty days after the completion of the advertising in the official paper. If a majority of the qualified voters voting on any such amendment vote in favor thereof it shall be deemed ratified, and shall be submitted to the Legislature at the regular session next following such election; and approved or rejected without power of alteration in the same manner as herein provided for the approval or rejection of a charter. In submitting any such charter or amendment separate propositions, whether alternative or conflicting, or one included within the other, may be submitted at the same time to be voted on by the electors separately, and, as between those so related, if more than one receive a majority of the votes, the proposition receiving the larger number of votes shall control as to all matters in conflict. It shall be competent in any charter framed under the authority of this section to provide that the municipality governed thereunder may make and enforce all laws and regulations in respect to municipal affairs subject only to the restrictions and limitations provided in their several charters and in respect to other matters they shall be subject to general laws. It shall be competent in any such charter, or amendment thereof, to provide for the creation of boroughs in all or any part of the territory of the city or city and county governed thereby, and to provide that each such borough may exercise such general or special municipal powers, and to be administered in such manner, as may be prescribed for each such borough in such charter; provided, however, that after the creation of any such borough, the powers thereof shall not be modified, amended or abridged in any manner, without the consent of a majority of the qualified electors of such borough voting at a regular or special election.

The percentages of the registered electors herein required for the election of freeholders or the submission of amendments to charters shall be calculated upon the total vote cast in the city or city and county at the last preceding general state election; and the qualified electors shall be those whose names appear upon the registration records of the same or preceding year. The election laws of such city or city and county shall, so far as applicable, govern all elections held under the authority of this section.

In the event that the above named revenues are at any time deemed insufficient to meet the annual expenditures of the State, including the above named expenditures for educational purposes, there may be levied in the manner to be provided by law a tax, for State purposes, on all the property in the State including the classes of property enumerated in this section, sufficient to meet the deficiency. All property enumerated in subdivisions (a), (b), (c), and (e) of this section shall be subject to taxation, in the manner provided by law, to pay the principal and interest of any bonded indebtedness created and outstanding by any city, city and county, county, town, township, or district, on the eighth day of November, 1910. The taxes so paid for principal and interest on such bonded indebtedness shall be deducted from the total amount paid in taxes for state purposes.

The rates of taxation fixed in this section shall remain in force until changed by the Legislature, two-thirds of all the members elected to each of the two houses voting in favor thereof. The taxes herein provided for shall become a lien on the first Monday in March of each year after the adoption of this section and shall become due and payable on the first Monday in July thereafter. The gross receipts and gross premiums herein mentioned shall be computed for the year ending the thirty-first day of December prior to the levy of such taxes and the value of any property mentioned herein shall be fixed as of the first Monday in March. Nothing herein contained shall affect any tax levied or assessed prior to the adoption of this section; and all laws in relation to such taxes in force at the time of the adoption of this section shall remain in force until changed by the Legislature. The Legislature shall provide for reimbursement from the general funds of any county to districts therein where loss is occasioned in such districts by the withdrawal from local taxation of property taxed for state purposes only.

(h) The Legislature, two-thirds of all the members elected to each of the two houses voting in favor thereof, in fixing the rates of taxation pursuant to the provisions of this section may classify and reclassify, divide and subdivide the several groups of utilities or companies mentioned therein, and fix such rates as it may determine for the respective classes, subclasses, divisions or subdivisions so established by it from time to time.

(i) No injunction shall ever issue in any suit, action or proceedings in any court against this State or against any officer thereof to prevent or enjoin the collection of any tax levied under the provisions of this section; but after payment action may be maintained to recover any tax illegally collected in such a manner and at such time as may now or hereafter be provided by law.

At such specified time, if it shall appear from the report furnished by the probation officer, or otherwise, and from the circumstances, of any person over the age of eighteen years so having pleaded guilty, or having been convicted of crime that there are circumstances in mitigation of the punishment, or that the ends of justice shall be subserved thereby, the court shall have power, in its discretion, to place the defendant upon probation in the manner following:

(a) The court, judge or justice thereof, may suspend the imposing, or the execution of sentence and may direct that such suspension may continue for such period of time not exceeding the maximum possible term of such sentence, except as hereinafter set forth, and upon such terms and conditions as it shall determine, which terms and conditions may include, in the discretion of the court, the requirements of bonds for the appearance of the person released upon probation before the court, at any time that the court may require such appearance in the investigation of any alleged violation of said terms and conditions of probation and such bonds may be at any time by the court exonerated without affecting any of the other terms or conditions of such probation; and in case of such suspension of imposition or execution of sentence, the court shall place such person on probation and under the charge and supervision of the probation officer of said court, during such suspension; provided, however, that where the maximum possible term of such sentence is less than two years, then such period of suspension of imposition or execution of sentence may, in the discretion of the court, continue for not over two years. Where the offense consists of a violation of section 270 or 270*a* of the Penal Code of the State of California, such suspension of imposition or execution of sentence may, in the discretion of the court, continue for not over five years.

(b) If the judgment is to pay a fine, and the defendant be imprisoned until it be paid, the court, judge or justice, upon imposing sentence, may direct that the execution of the sentence of imprisonment be suspended for such period of time, not exceeding the maximum possible term of such sentence and on such terms as it shall determine, and shall place the defendant on probation, under the charge and supervision of the probation officer during such suspension, to the end that he may be given the opportunity to pay the fine; provided, however, that upon the payment of the fine being made, judgment shall be satisfied and the probation cease.

(c) At any time during the probationary term of the person released on probation, in accordance with the provisions of this section, any probation officer may, without warrant, or other process, at any time until the final disposition of the case, rearrest any person so placed in his care and bring him before the court, or the court may, in its discretion, issue a warrant for the rearrest of any such person and may thereupon revoke and terminate such probation, if the interest of justice so requires and if the court, in its judgment, shall have reason to believe from the report of the probation officer, or otherwise, that the person so placed upon probation is violating the conditions of his probation, or engaging in criminal practices, or has become abandoned to improper associates, or a vicious life. Upon such revocation and termination, the court may, if the sentence has been suspended, pronounce judgment after the said suspension of the sentence for any time within the longest period for which the defendant might have been sentenced, but if the judgment has been pronounced and the execution thereof has been suspended, the court may revoke such suspension, whereupon the judgment shall be in full force and effect, and the person shall be delivered over to the proper officer to serve his sentence.

(d) The court shall have power at any time during the term of probation to revoke or modify its order of suspension, of imposition or execution of sentence. It may, at any time, when the ends of justice will be subserved thereby, and when the good conduct and reform of the person so held on probation shall warrant it, terminate the period of probation and discharge the person so held, but no such order shall be made without written notice first given by the court or the clerk thereof to the proper probation officer of the intention to revoke or modify its order, and in all cases, if the court has not seen fit to revoke the order of probation and impose sentence or pronounce judgment, the defendant shall, at the end of the term of probation, be by the court discharged.

(e) Every defendant who has fulfilled the conditions of his probation for the entire period thereof, or who shall have been discharged from probation prior to the termination of the period thereof, shall at any time prior to the expiration of the maximum period of punishment for the offense of which he has been convicted, dating from said discharge from probation or said termination of said period of probation, be permitted by the court to withdraw his plea of guilty and enter a plea of not guilty, or if he has been convicted after a plea of not guilty, the court shall set aside the verdict of guilty; and in either case the court shall thereupon dismiss the accusation or information against such defendant, who shall thereafter be released from all penalties and disabilities resulting from the offense or crime of which he has been convicted.

When the signal required by this section is given by the use of the hand and arm the intention to turn such vehicle toward the right or the left shall be indicated by extending the hand and arm horizontally from and beyond the side of the vehicle toward which the turn is to be made or by extending the hand and arm vertically with the hand pointing upward from the side opposite the direction toward which the turn is to be made, when the signal to be given is to indicate the intention to stop a vehicle or to abruptly or suddenly check its speed, such signal if given with the hand and arm shall be given by extending the hand and arm out from and beyond either side of the vehicle and pointed in a downward direction.
