Sec. 2 Illumination within the entire area of said zone of restricted lighting described in Section 1 shall be extinguished or controlled at all times at night from sunset to sunrise, as follows:

(a) Signs, Floodlighting, Display and Interior Lighting. Illuminated signs and ornamental lighting of every description which are located out-of-doors, and floodlighting which illuminates buildings or signs (including but not limited to all exterior advertising signs, billboards, display lighting, theater marquee signs, illuminated poster panels and building outline lighting), and all interior light sources (as hereinafter defined) which emit direct rays above the horizontal out-of-doors, shall be extinguished. The words, "light sources," as used herein are intended and shall be construed to mean and include any light generating elements and the bright portion of any reflector, lens, luminaire, transparency, or other equipment associated herewith for the control or diffusion of light. This Section 2 (a) shall not apply to illumination for industrial or protective purposes except to the extent provided for in Section 2 (b) hereof.

(b) Illumination of Outdoor Areas; Street and Highway Lights. Illumination of outdoor areas and industrial and protective illumination, shall be controlled as follows:

(1) Except as provided in Section 2 (b) (2) hereof, illumination on all outdoor areas (including but not limited to automobile service station yards, outdoor parking areas, recreation areas and outdoor structures and roofs) shall not exceed one foot candle at any point when measured on a horizontal plane at any level of such outdoor areas, and all outdoor light sources shall be shielded so that no direct rays from the light source are emitted above the horizontal. All interior lighting of every description shall be reduced or controlled so that it does not contribute more than one foot candle of illumination upon any outdoor area. All street and highway lights shall also be shielded so that each light source emits no more than 10 per cent of its total lamp lumens at angles above the horizontal. Provided the foregoing requirements are met, any further reduction or extinguishment of street or highway illumination which would unnecessarily aggravate traffic hazards is not required.

(2) Variations from the foregoing requirements shall be permitted in the case of illumination for industrial and protective purposes, and from industrial processes, whether interior or exterior, but not including street or highway lights, only when and to the extent that it is necessary to vary from such requirements in order to achieve and maintain maximum efficiency; but only with the written approval of the Commanding General of the Western Defense Command or an agency designated by such commander to approve such variations, obtained in advance.

(c) Traffic Signs and Signals. Illuminated signs and signals which are authorized or maintained by Governmental authority for the purpose of controlling or directing street or highway traffic shall be shielded so that no direct rays from the light source are emitted above the horizontal in respect to lights mounted 10 feet or more above the ground, or above an angle of more than six degrees above the horizontal in respect to lights mounted less than 10 but more than three feet above the ground, or above an angle of more than 12 degrees above the horizontal in respect to lights mounted less than three feet above the ground. Relative variations in the upward limit of light are permissible to compensate for grades.

(d) Navigation and Railroad Lights. Authorized lights necessary to facilitate air or water navigation, authorized railroad signal lights, and headlights of railroad locomotives when in motion, are hereby excepted from all the provisions of this chapter.

Sec. 3. Definition of "Visible from the Sea." The phrase "visible from the sea," as used herein, is intended and shall be construed to mean and include the following:

Visible at any time from the waters of the Pacific Ocean, or visible from any of those bodies of water located on the shoreline of the State of California generally known and described as follows: Santa Monica Bay, Santa Barbara Channel, San Luis Obispo Bay, Estero Bay, and Monterey Bay; provided, however, that the waters of San Francisco Bay, lying easterly of a line extending from Point Bonita through Mile Rock, is not intended and shall not be construed to be a part of the sea; and solely for the purposes of Section 3 (c) hereof, concerning street and highway traffic, the phrase "areas visible from the sea" is also intended and shall be construed to mean and include that portion of streets or highways which may not in fact be visible from the sea but which is within areas generally visible from the sea.

In addition to the restrictions hereinbefore imposed, illumination within that part of the zone of restricted lighting which is visible from the sea, as herein defined, shall be further diminished or obscured at all times at night from sunset to sunrise, as follows:

(a) Street, Highway and Traffic Lights. Street and highway lights, and illuminated signs (but not signals) which are authorized or maintained by Governmental authority for the purpose of controlling or directing street or highway traffic and which are visible from the sea, shall be so shielded that they are not visible from the sea at night and so that no direct rays from the light source are emitted above the horizontal.

(b) Residential, Commercial and Industrial Windows. No lighting shall be permitted behind windows or glazed doors visible from the sea unless they are covered by drapes or shades.

(c) Street and Highway Traffic. Within areas visible from the sea but subject to the exceptions hereinafter stated, vehicles shall operate at night with no more than two lighted driving lamps, regardless of the direction of travel, and each such lamp shall provide a maximum of not more than 250 beam candlepower. Normal rear lights, license plate lights and clearance lights (where required by law) are permitted. Vehicles which are classified as authorized emergency vehicles under the laws of this State, when displaying an illuminated red spotlight, and when responding to a fire alarm, or when in the immediate pursuit of an actual or suspected violator of the law, or when going to or transporting a person who is in apparent need of immediate emergency medical or surgical care, or when responding to some other emergency involving the protection of life or property, shall be excepted from the foregoing provision.

(d) Industrial and Protective Illumination. Light sources for industrial purposes and light from industrial processes within areas visible from the sea, shall comply with the requirements of Section 2 (b) hereof, and shall also be shielded so that they are not visible from the sea at night; provided, that variations from these requirements may be permitted in case of illumination for industrial and protective purposes, and from industrial processes, whether interior or exterior (but not including street or highway lights), only when and to the extent that it is necessary to vary from such requirements in order to achieve and maintain maximum efficiency; but only with the written approval of the Commanding General of the Western Defense Command or an agency designated by such commander to approve such variations, obtained in advance.

(e) Other Illumination. Except as heremabov provided in this Section 3, all other lights visible from the sea are prohibited at night, including but not limited to light from fires, bonfires, parked cars, flashlights and lanterns.

Sec. 4. Whenever the California State War Council, after such study, investigation or hearing as it may make, direct or conduct, shall find and determine that additional or different provisions restricting lighting or that restrictions on such lighting are required in other areas in order to prevent aiding the operations of the enemy, the said State War Council shall address its findings to the Governor, and if the Governor concurs therein, he shall proclaim such additional or different restrictions and regulations governing illumination which shall thereupon become effective as laws of this State and shall supersede to the extent of any conflict the provisions of this chapter and any other provisions of law governing illumination. The violation of any such regulations shall constitute a misdemeanor and be punishable as a violation of this chapter. In making such investigations and determinations, the State War Council is hereby directed to consider the findings and recommendations of the Commanding General of the Western Defense Command, and in no event shall the Governor proclaim more restrictive regulations than those specified by said Commanding General, it being the intention that insofar as possible the regulations so adopted shall conform exactly to the orders or recommendations of the Commanding General of the Western Defense Command.

CHAPTER 2. AIR RAID PRECAUTIONS

Sec. 5. "Air raid signal" shall mean a public notice or signal requiring compliance with the provisions of this chapter covering precautions against possible enemy attack within a specified area. The form of said public notice or signal shall be an audible signal of approximately two minutes duration, made by siren, whistle, horn or other audible device, consisting of a fluctuating or warbling sound of varying pitch, or a succession of intermittent blasts of approximately five seconds duration separated by a succession of silent periods of approximately three seconds duration. "All clear signal" shall mean a public notice or signal indicating termination of the requirement of compliance with the provisions of this chapter. The form of said notice or signal shall be a continuous audible signal of approximately two minutes duration at a steady pitch, made by a siren, whistle, horn or other audible device. The form of air raid or all clear signals may be varied to meet local conditions when a permit to vary the form of such signals has been granted by the State Director of Civilian Protection.

"Period of Air Raid Alarm" shall mean the interval of time between the giving of the air raid signal and the giving of the next succeeding all clear signal.

"Period of Blackout" shall mean a period of air raid alarm occurring at night between sunset and sunrise.

"Area of Air Raid Alarm" shall mean the district or area in respect to which an air raid signal is given, as such district may have been defined by the State civilian defense authority and the military command.

Sec. 6. None of the signals described in Section 5 hereof shall be given except by or under the authority of the IV Fighter Command, or such other military agency as may be designated by the Secretary of War.

Sec. 7. Immediately upon the commencement of a blackout period, every person in control of lighting within an area of air raid alarm shall extinguish or obscure all lighting which is visible from out-of-doors and shall keep such lighting extinguished or obscured until such blackout period is ended.

Sec. 8. No person in control of lighting shall permit any such lighting visible from out-of-doors to be left unattended at night from sunset to sunrise. Lighting shall be unattended within the meaning hereof unless it is left under the control of a competent person who has undertaken responsibility for such lighting or unless the lighting is controlled by a mechanical device competent to control such lighting. Persons in control of lighting shall be responsible for the timely and proper functioning of any such mechanical device relied upon for the control of lighting.

Sec. 9. At the commencement of a period of air raid alarm (occurring during either the day or night), the operator of any vehicle shall forthwith bring such vehicle as far as possible to the side of the street, road or highway off the main traveled portion thereof, and the operator of such vehicle, and the operator of any street car, shall bring such vehicle or street car to a stop clear of any crossing, intersection, fire house, fire plug, hospital or other emergency depot or area, and during a period of blackout shall extinguish all lights therein or thereon, and said vehicle or street car shall remain so situated during the period of air raid alarm, unless directed or ordered to move by any highway patrolman, peace officer, auxiliary policeman, air raid warden or other authorized person.

Sec. 10. All persons within an area of air raid alarm in an unsheltered place shall immediately go to the nearest shelter and remain therein until the period of air raid alarm is ended except:

(a) Uniformed members of the armed forces of the United States or of the State Guard, and regular firemen, peace officers or highway patrolmen, all when acting under official orders.

(b) Persons lawfully wearing any arm band with insignia prescribed by the Director of the United States Office of Civilian Defense, and persons lawfully wearing arm bands authorized for the Aircraft Warning Service, only when and to the extent that such persons are required to move or remain away from shelter in the performance of their emergency duties.

Sec. 11. The provisions of this chapter shall not include the following:

(a) "Authorized emergency vehicles" when responding to a fire alarm or when going to or transporting a person who is in apparent need of immediate emergency medical care, or when in immediate pursuit of an actual or suspected violator of the law, or when transporting essential personnel to posts of duty in compliance with specific orders, or when responding to some other emergency involving the immediate protection of life or property or when returning to a dispatching station;

(b) "Auxiliary emergency vehicles" in respect to which a valid written vehicle permit has been issued by, and which is displaying insignia or other identifying devices or articles authorized by, the State Director of Civilian Protection in accordance with rules established by the State War Council; provided, however, such vehicles may travel during the period of air raid alarm only when operated by authorized personnel acting on orders from fire, police or civilian defense authorities, and when responding to a fire alarm, or when going to or transporting a person who is in apparent need of immediate emergency medical care, or when responding to some other emergency involving the immediate protection of life or property, or when transporting essential personnel to posts of duty in compliance with specific orders, or when returning to a dispatching station to receive further emergency orders; provided further, that notwithstanding the provisions of Section 3 (c) of this act auxiliary emergency vehicles shall be permitted to travel, as provided in this paragraph, in areas visible from the sea during periods of blackout when operated under the conditions prescribed by this paragraph.

(c) Vehicles under the control of the armed forces of the United States, the operators of which are acting under official orders

(d) Illumination in connection with railroad operations (except passenger and freight stations, offices and warehouses), aeronautical operations, and illumination in connection with water navigation and in and about ports under the jurisdiction of the United States Navy, and all lights operated by military or naval authority.

Sec. 12. The blackout provisions of this chapter shall not include the following:

(a) Incandescent electric lamps lawfully marked "Indoor Blackout—War Department Standard," and complying with the specifications therefor expressed in "War Department Specifications—Blackout of Buildings," may be left burning in commercial and industrial building interiors without the complete obscuration of doors and windows, only if such lamps are installed in accordance with the following specifications:

(1) In any one room, only one lamp shall be permitted for each two hundred (200) square feet of floor area or fraction thereof.

(2) Lamps shall be spaced not less than 10 feet apart in every direction.

(3) In hallways and corridors only one row of lamps shall be permitted, spaced not less than fifteen (15) feet apart, notwithstanding the provisions of paragraph (2) hereof.

(4) Lamps shall be placed at least three (3) feet from any window or other exterior opening in the building which is not completely obscured, and lamps shall not be pointed toward any such window or other exterior opening.

(5) All lamps shall be located or shielded so that they are not directly visible from out-of-doors when viewed from a point above the level of the bottom of the lamp

(b) Red exit lights shall be permitted within buildings which are open to the public; provided, that all such lights are located or shielded so that no direct rays from such lights are emitted out-of-doors; and provided, that such lights shall be restricted to not more than one lamp of not more than fifteen (15) watts at each exit or at each turning point in the route to an exit

(c) Flashlights may be used during periods of blackout in areas of air raid alarm, provided that such flashlights shall not be pointed above the horizontal and provided that the lens, cover glass or lamp of such flashlights shall be completely screened with material which is the equivalent, in density and light reduction properties, of three thicknesses of ordinary newspaper in the case of flashlights operated by two (2) dry cell batteries plus one additional thickness of such paper for each additional dry cell battery used in the operation of such flashlight.

(d) Lanterns may be left unattended and may be left burning during blackout periods in areas of air raid alarm for the purpose of marking excavations or obstructions in areas open to the public if such lanterns are equipped with red globes and if they are shielded so that no direct rays from the light source are emitted upward beyond twelve degrees (12°) above the base of the lantern flame, and if such lanterns are spaced at least ten (10) feet apart.

(e) Light emitted from industrial processes, such as furnaces, foundries and kilns, where the extinguishment of the light would involve serious difficulties in resuming operations after the blackout, shall be permitted during blackout periods in areas of air raid alarm; provided, that the light is shielded, obscured, reduced in intensity and otherwise controlled to as great an extent as may be practicable to reduce to a minimum the amount of light visible out-of-doors; and provided, that such light is specifically permitted in writing in advance by or under the authority of the State Director of Civilian Protection in respect to each individual case, and provided further, that the granting or denial of such permits shall be subject to review by, and rules and regulations of, the State War Council. Steam or smoke shall be reduced to the lowest practicable minimum except where such steam or smoke is used for protective concealment in accordance with plans approved by military authorities.

SEC 13 All persons are forbidden to order, alter, publish, sound or simulate in any manner any air raid or all clear signal unless authorized to do so as provided in this chapter.

Sec. 14 All persons are forbidden to wear, exhibit or use any arm band, pennant, permit, identification card or other identifying article or device unless lawfully authorized to do so.

Sec 15 Whenever the State War Council after such study, investigation or hearing as it may make, direct or conduct, shall find and determine that additional or different air raid precaution regulations are required in order to protect life or property, the State War Council shall address its findings to the Governor and if the Governor concurs therein, he shall proclaim such additional or different air raid precaution regulations which shall thereupon become effective as law of this State. Such regulations shall supersede to the extent of any conflict the provisions of this chapter and also any other provision of law which interferes with the purposes of this chapter. The violation of any such regulations shall constitute a misdemeanor and shall be punishable as a violation of this chapter.

CHAPTER III.

Sec. 16 Any lighting remaining visible out-of-doors contrary to the provisions of this act constitutes a public nuisance, and the same shall be summarily abated by any peace officer or highway patrolman. Such nuisance may be abated by authorized civilian defense personnel if forcible entry or destruction of property is not required.

Sec 17 Any proclamation issued by the Governor pursuant to the provisions of this act shall be in writing and shall take effect immediately upon issuance thereof. As soon thereafter as possible such proclamation shall be filed in the Office of the Secretary of State. The Governor shall cause widespread publicity and notice to be given such proclamation. Within 10 days after the convening of the next session of the Legislature the Governor shall make a report thereto of the provisions of any such proclamation.

Sec. 18. Any person who violates any of the provisions of this act or who refuses or wilfully neglects to obey any lawful rule, regulation or order promulgated or issued as provided in this chapter shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punishable by a fine of not to exceed five hundred dollars ($500) or by imprisonment for not to exceed six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Sec. 19. This act shall remain in effect only until the cessation of hostilities in the present war in which the United States is engaged, as declared by the President or the Congress of the United States, or until such time as the Governor after recommendation made by the Western Defense Command or such other military agency as may be designated by the Secretary of War proclaims the provisions of this act are no longer necessary as a matter of military necessity, or to preserve life and property.

Sec. 20. If any section, subsection, subdivision, sentence, clause or phrase of this act is for any reason held to be not in immediate effect, it is the express legislative intent that such decision shall not affect the immediate operation or validity of the remaining portions of this act.

It is the intent of the Legislature that this entire act shall take effect immediately and that if any portion thereof can not, under the Constitution of this State, so take effect, that all of the remaining provisions hereof shall take effect immediately and that such portion or portions, if any, that can not take effect immediately, shall take effect at the time provided by law. Any portion of this act that may for any reason be held to be not in immediate effect is hereby expressly declared to be severable from the remaining portions of this act.

Further, in the event it is determined that the inclusion of a provision in this act that can not take effect immediately would prevent this act from being construed to be an urgency measure, then any such provision in this act shall be held to be inoperative, and the remaining portions of this act shall take effect immediately.

Sec. 21. If any provision of this act or the application thereof to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the remainder of this act, or the application of such provision to other persons or circumstances, shall not be affected thereby.

Sec. 22. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure within the meaning of Section 1 of Article IV of the State Constitution, necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety. The statement of the facts constituting such necessity is as follows:

The Western Defense Command of the United States Army has found that military necessity requires the restriction of the intensity of lights in certain areas of this State, and has by order prohibited the use of lights of more intensity than that prescribed. While a violation of such order is a crime under the Federal law, there is no adequate available means by which the Federal Government can enforce such order and it is essential to the war effort that the State be enabled at the earliest possible moment to enforce the provisions of such order. The effect of this bill will be to permit such enforcement by the State.

Uniform air raid precautions are urgently needed to minimize the effect of enemy attack upon life and property and military installations within this State and uniformity is necessary so that all persons going from one area of the State into another may know their duties and conform to the law. It is therefore provided that this act shall take effect immediately."

Amendment read and adopted.

Bill ordered reprinted, and to third reading.

Bless the Lord, O my soul; and all that is within me, bless His holy name. As the heaven is high above the earth, so great is Thy mercy toward all who fear Thee. As far as the east is from the west, so far hast Thou removed our transgressions from us. Fill our hearts this day with Thy presence that we may offer sacrifices of thanksgiving and pay our vows unto the Most High.

"I thank Thee just for life,
The chance to live,
To be alive! So great Thy gift,
If Thou dost nothing give Beside, it is enough.
To breathe Thy air,
To walk the mountain sod,
To feel the play of mighty winds,
And call Thee God!"

We ask it in our Saviour's name. AMEN

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by the Chaplain, Rev. Clarence Albert Kircher:

Almighty and eternal Father, Framer of our spirits, we thank Thee for breathing into our lives the liberties which enrich our personalities. May we be accounted good stewards of time, talents, and possessions. Help us to live in the Spirit that we may also walk in the Spirit. Direct us in the Apostle's doctrine that we may do good unto all men, remembering that God is not mocked; for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap.

"The tissue of the Life to be
We weave with colors all our own,
And in the field of Destiny,
We reap as we have sown."

We ask it in our Redeemer's name.

AMEN.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE
WASHINGTON, March 26, 1943

Mr. Arthur A. Ohnimus, Chief Clerk of the Assembly California Legislature, Sacramento, California

DEAR MR. OHNIMUS: This is in reply to your letter of February 17th, enclosing a copy of Assembly Joint Resolution No. 10 adopted by the California Legislature on January 10, 1943.

We are aware of the difficulties being encountered along the West Coast with regard to food supplies. Undoubtedly, the increased requirements created by the influx of war workers have made the situation there even more difficult than in many other parts of the Country. However, it must be recognized that the requirements of our armed forces and our Allies, together with greatly increased consumer demand generally, have created a condition in which supplies of many food commodities are short all over the Country.

In promulgating conservation orders for the dual purpose of making sure that supplies will be available for war purposes and, at the same time, that food available for civilians will be stretched over a long enough period to permit new supplies to be produced, it has been necessary to place limits on sales by distributors. While this has not been done, as far as the major food commodities are concerned, on a basis of quotas arrived at through population statistics, the limitations have undoubtedly been felt more sharply in areas of increased population. We have established machinery for dealing with the more acute shortages through the organization of State and Area Food Industry Committees. The functions of these committees are to receive and investigate complaints of such shortages, and, where the complaints are verified, to arrange for the movement of necessary food to alleviate the condition. The committees also determine the causes of the shortages and recommend steps to prevent their recurrence. The meat and other industries are cooperating with us in this work.

We believe that the recently announced rationing programs, when they are put into effect, will go far toward bringing about the necessary adjustments so that no one area will have to put up with more inconveniences than another. Rationing, of course, is actually an allocation to consumers, and probably the only practicable type of allocation under which equitable distribution can be assured.

We are keenly aware of the growing scarcity of farm labor. The department has recently established an Agricultural Labor Administration to have complete direction and supervision of the department's farm labor program. This program which will be carried out in cooperation with the extension service and other Federal and State agricultural agencies calls for the recruitment of some 3,500,000 additional workers by peak harvest time, the transportation of approximately 350,000 seasonal workers, including foreigners, the mobilization and use of several hundred thousand additional high school students, and the movement of approximately 50,000 workers from submarginal farming areas to areas of farm labor scarcity.

We assure you that the department will put forth every effort to see that the suggestions made in your resolution will be favorably acted upon.

Sincerely yours,

R. L. WEBSTER, Assistant to the Secretary

WESTERN MINING COUNCIL,
AUBURN, CALIFORNIA, March 29, 1943

*Mr. Charles W. Lyon, Speaker
Assembly Chamber, Capitol
Sacramento, California*

DEAR MR. LYON: We are in receipt of a letter from Chief Clerk Arthur A. Ohnimus, stating that your body had turned down our request for the use of the Assembly Chamber on April 15th to accommodate a hearing to be conducted by United States Senator James G. Scrugham, Chairman of the Mining Subcommittee of the United States Senate Committee Appointed to Investigate Small Business.

As you probably know, it is one of Governor Warren's plans to aid after-war conditions by proper encouragement and exploitation of the State's mineral resources. You also should know that this is not being done at this time; and that this condition is the very reason for Senator Scrugham's hearing. If conditions were right in California, Senator Scrugham would not have to leave a heavy program in the National capital.

The whole Legislature should know of these conditions, which is one of the main reasons why our organization has asked for the use of the Assembly Chamber. We want your members to know what's wrong, and then to take steps to correct the situation. We can guarantee you that your body's attendance at the hearing would be part of a liberal education that you, as Legislators, can not afford to miss.

We, therefore, ask your body to reconsider our request, and grant us permission to use the Chamber on the afternoon of April 15th.

Thanking you, I am,

Very truly yours,

J. P. HALL, President, Western Mining Council
C.C. Richard H. Chamberlain, Secretary to the Governor

MOTION TO REPLY TO LETTER

On motion of Mr. Doyle, the following reply to the above letter, written by the Speaker, was approved by the Assembly, and ordered printed in the Journal:

ASSEMBLY, CALIFORNIA LEGISLATURE, March 31, 1943

*Mr. J. P. Hall, President
Western Mining Council, Auburn, California*

DEAR MR. HALL: I regret exceedingly that you do not understand the reason why we have refused your request for the use of the Assembly Chamber on April 15th. The Legislature will be in session on that day, and it has no other place to meet.

If you want to use the Assembly Chamber for an evening meeting, we shall be most happy to grant you permission. Otherwise, there is nothing I can do to help you because the Legislature must convene and attend to its business.

I regret that our sessions interfere with the meeting under the guidance of United States Senator James G. Scrugham, whom we shall be most happy to welcome in Sacramento.

Sincerely yours,

CHARLES W. LYON, Speaker

A copy of such decision shall be furnished to each, every and all the respective parties thereto.

Such decision may include an order refusing, revoking or suspending the license applied for or held by the respondent, or affixing such other conditional or probationary orders as may be proper for the enforcement of this chapter or any of the provisions thereof.

Should the licensee or respondent fail, refuse or neglect to attend such hearing after due and proper notice, and in the absence of a valid excuse, the director is thereupon empowered to hear the complaint, and if the facts warrant, to enter] he shall call a hearing as provided for herein.

The director may refuse to grant any license herein provided, and may, after due hearing, upon his own motion or upon a verified complaint signed and filed with the director by any interested person, refuse, revoke or suspend any such license as the case may require, when he is satisfied that any applicant or licensee has violated any provision of this chapter. Upon the filing of such a verified complaint, the director shall cause a copy thereof, together with a notice of the time and place of hearing of such complaint, to be served personally or by mail upon the person, or persons named as respondent or respondents therein. Such service shall be made at least ten (10) days before said hearing, which shall be held in the city or town in which is situated the principal place of business of the licensee or respondent, or in which the transaction or violation complained of is said to have occurred, or in the county seat of the county in which the transaction or violation complained of is said to have occurred, or in the nearest office of the State Department of Agriculture, at the discretion of the director. At the time and place appointed for such hearing the director or his agents shall hear the parties to said complaint, and shall enter in the office of the director at Sacramento a decision either dismissing such complaint or specifying the facts established on such hearing. Such decision may include an order refusing, revoking or suspending the license applied for or held by the respondent, or affixing such other conditional and probationary orders as may be proper for the enforcement of this chapter. A copy of the decision shall be furnished to the licensee and complainant.

After any decision including any conditional or probationary orders, should respondent fail, refuse or neglect to comply with any of such orders, the director may thereupon and in the premises issue to and serve upon said respondent an order directing said respondent to show cause why the license of said respondent should not be suspended or revoked for the failure to comply with such conditional or probationary orders as above described. A copy of the said order to show cause, together with the notice of the time and place of hearing upon said order, shall be served personally or by mail upon said respondent. Said order shall refer to an attached copy of the conditional or probationary orders in such a way as to advise and inform the respondent of the charge or violation upon which said order is based and pursuant to which it is issued. Such service shall be made at least ten (10) days before said hearing, which shall be held in the city or town in which is situated the principal place of business of the respondent, or in which the transaction or violation complained of is said or charged to have occurred, or in the county seat of the county in which the transaction or violation complained of is said or charged to have occurred, or at the nearest office of the State Department of Agriculture at the discretion of the director.

At the time and place appointed for such hearing the director or his agents shall hear the matter set forth in the order, and the showing of the licensee in the premises, and shall enter in the office of the director at Sacramento an order and decision specifying the facts, dismissing the order to show cause or directing the suspension or revocation of the license or licenses held by the licensee, or making such further conditional or probationary orders as the director may deem proper, upon the evidence presented at such hearing. A copy of said order and decision shall be furnished to the licensee. Previous violation by any applicant or by any person connected with said applicant of any provision of this chapter shall be good and sufficient grounds for denial, revocation or suspension of a license.

Should either party to the hearing request a continuance after due notice as herein provided, the party requesting the continuance must make such request forty-eight (48) hours prior to the time of hearing; provided further, that the party requesting such continuance shall be required to pay the costs attached to such continuance.

Nothing in this section contained may be construed as limiting the power of the director to revoke or suspend a license when he is satisfied of the existence of any of the facts specified in Section 1269 of this chapter.

Sec. 3. Section 1268.1 of said code is amended to read:

1268.1. The director is hereby vested with the administrative authority to investigate any and all transactions between persons required to be licensed under the provisions of this chapter, or between such persons and producers, or between such persons and wholesale customers, and for that purpose the director or his authorized agents shall have access to and may enter at all reasonable hours all places where farm products are being stored, packed, or handled, or where the books, papers, records or documents relating to any and all transactions relating to farm products are kept, and shall have the power to inspect and copy the same in any place within the State.

Upon receiving a verified complaint, as in this chapter provided, the director, upon his own motion, may examine and audit all pertinent books, records, weight tags, receipts, ledgers, papers, contracts, and other documents of the licensee against whom said verified complaint is filed which relate to the matters complained of and upon receipt of verified complaints filed by three or more complainants alleging violation of this act and/or fraud against a licensee during any 12-month period the director, upon his own motion, may have free access to and may examine and audit all books, records, weight tags, receipts, ledgers, papers, contracts, and other documents of said licensee which show or tend to show facts regarding the number and status of accounts of growers doing business with said licensee; should such examination disclose evidence of violation of this chapter, the director may then and thereupon and upon his own motion issue a complaint directed against the licensee, either on his own behalf or on behalf of producers affected by such violation or violations, together with such other process for the enforcement of the provisions of this chapter as is in said chapter provided.

Sec. 4. Section 1268.5 of said code is repealed.

Sec. 5. Section 1269 of said code is amended to read:

1269. (1) The director may refuse to grant a license and may revoke or suspend any license, as the case may require, when after a hearing as herein provided, he is satisfied of the existence of any of the following facts, the existence of which is hereby declared to be a violation of this chapter:

(a) That fraudulent charges or returns have been made by the applicant, or licensee, for the handling, sale or storage of, or for rendering of any service in connection with the handling, sale or storage of any farm products.

(b) That the applicant, or licensee, has failed or refused to render a true account of sales, or to make a settlement thereon, or to pay for farm products received, within the time and in the manner required by this chapter.

(c) That the applicant, or licensee, has made any false statement as to the condition, quality or quantity of farm products received, handled, sold or stored by him

(d) That the applicant, or licensee, directly or indirectly, has purchased for his, or its own account farm products received by him upon consignment without prior authority from consignor together with price fixed by consignor or without promptly notifying the consignor of such purchase. This shall not prevent any commission merchant from taking to account of sales, in order to close the day's business, miscellaneous lots or parcels of farm products remaining unsold, if such commission merchant shall forthwith enter such transaction on his account of sales.

(e) That the applicant, or licensee, has intentionally made any false or misleading statement as to the conditions of the market for any farm products.

(f) That the applicant, or licensee, has made fictitious sales or has been guilty of collusion to defraud the producer.

(g) That a commission merchant to whom any consignment is made has re-consigned such consignment to another commission merchant and has received, collected, or charged by such means more than one commission for making the sale therefor for the consignor, unless by written consent of such consignor.

(h) That the licensee was intentionally guilty of fraud or deception in the procurement of such license.

(i) That the licensee or applicant has failed or refused to file with the director a schedule of his charges for services in connection with produce handled on account of or as an agent of another; that the applicant, or licensee has indulged in any unfair practice.

(j) That the licensee has rejected, without reasonable cause, or has refused to accept, without reasonable cause, any farm product bought or contracted to be bought from a producer by such licensee.

(k) That the licensee has otherwise violated any provision of this chapter.

(1) That the licensee has knowingly employed an agent, as defined in this chapter, without causing said agent to comply with the licensing requirements of this chapter applicable to agents.

(m) That the licensee has violated any provisions of a contract for the handling or purchase of farm products with the producer.

(2) Previous violation by the applicant or by any person connected with him or it of any of the provisions of this chapter shall be good and sufficient ground for denial of a license.

(3) The director, after [a] hearing, or investigation may refuse to grant a license and may revoke or suspend any license as the case may require, when he is satisfied that the licensee has become bankrupt or insolvent, and is thereby unable to pay producer-creditors of the licensee, or producers with whom the licensee has executory or executed contracts for the purchase of farm products [], or for the handling of farm products on consignment.

In such cases, if the director is satisfied that to permit the dealer or commission merchant to continue to purchase or to receive further shipments or deliveries of farm products would be likely to cause serious and irreparable loss to said producer-creditors, or to producers with whom the said dealer or commission merchant has said contracts, then the director within his discretion may thereupon and forthwith shorten the time herein provided for hearing upon an order to show cause why the license of said dealer or commission merchant should not be forthwith suspended or revoked; provided, however, that the time of notice of said hearing shall in no event be less than 24 hours, and shall within that period call a hearing, at which the dealer or commission merchant proceeded against shall be ordered to show cause why his or its license should not be suspended, or revoked, or continued under such conditions and provisions, if any, as the director may consider just and proper and for the protection of the best interests of the producer-creditors involved. Said hearing, in the case of such emergency, may be called upon written notice, said notice to be served personally or by mail on the dealer or commission merchant involved, and may be held at the nearest office of the director or at such place as may be most convenient at the discretion of the director, for the attendance of all parties involved.

SEC. 6. Section 1270 of said code is repealed

SEC 7. Section 1271 of said code is amended to read

(b) The date received.

(c) The condition and quantity upon arrival.

(d) Date of such sale for account of consignor

(e) The price for which sold.

(f) An itemized statement of the charges to be paid by consignor in connection with the sale.

(g) The names and addresses of all purchasers if said commission merchant has any financial interest in the business of said purchasers, or if said purchasers have any financial interest in the business of said commission merchant, directly or indirectly, as holder of the other's corporate stock, as copartner, as lender or borrower of money to or from the other, or otherwise, such interest shall be noted in said records following the name of any such purchaser

(h) A lot number or other identifying mark for each consignment, which number or mark shall appear on all sales tags and/or other essential records needed to show what the produce actually sold for.

(i) Any claim or claims which have been or may be filed by the commission merchant against any person for overcharges or for damages resulting from the injury or deterioration of such farm products by the act, neglect or failure of such person and such records shall be open to the inspection of the director and the consignor of farm products for whom such claim or claims are made.

(2) Every dealer purchasing any farm products from the producer thereof shall promptly make and keep for one year a correct record showing in detail the following:

1273. (1) Any person is guilty of a misdemeanor and is punishable by a fine of not more than one thousand dollars ($1,000), or by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than one year or by both who assumes or attempts to act or acts as a commission merchant, dealer, broker or agent without a license, or who:

(c) Intentionally makes false or misleading statement or statements as to market conditions.

(d) Makes fictitious sales or is guilty of collusion to defraud the producer.

(e) Directly or indirectly purchases for his own account, goods received by him upon consignment without prior authority from the consignor, or fails promptly to notify the consignor of such purchases, if any, on his own account. This clause does not prevent any commission merchant from taking to account of sales, in order to close the day's business, miscellaneous lots or parcels of farm products remaining unsold, if such commission merchant forthwith enters such transaction on his account of sales.

(f) Intentionally makes false statement or statements as to the grade, conditions, markings, quality or quantity of goods shipped or packed in any manner.

(g) Fails to comply in every respect with the provisions of this chapter.

(2) Civil suits and criminal prosecutions arising by virtue of any of the provisions of this chapter may be commenced and tried in either the county where the products were received by the commission merchant, dealer, broker or agent, or within the county in which the principal place of business of such commission merchant, dealer, broker or agent is located, or within the county in which the violation of this chapter occurred.

(3) The director may bring an action to enjoin the violation or the threatened violation of any provision of this chapter or of any order made pursuant to this chapter in the superior court in the county in which such violation occurs or is about to occur. There may be enjoined in one proceeding any number of defendants alleged to be violating the same provisions or orders, although their properties, interests, residences, or places of business may be in several counties and the violations separate and distinct. Any proceeding brought hereunder shall be governed in all other respects by the provisions of Chapter 3, Title 7 of Part 2 of the Code of Civil Procedure.

(4) *Any person who violates any provision of this chapter shall be liable civilly in an amount not to exceed the sum of five hundred dollars ($500) for each and every violation, such sum to be recovered in an action by the director in any court of competent jurisdiction. Article 1A. Temporary Provisions, Conditions, Standards or Prices

35. The Legislature hereby declares that in order to protect the agricultural interests of the people of this State and to conserve the agricultural wealth of the State and protect the health and general welfare of our citizens during the continuance of the wars in which the United States is now engaged, and in order to maintain or enforce State laws, orders or regulations prescribing conditions, standards or prices it is necessary that provision be made for the formulation of conditions, standards, or prices to take the place of those conditions, standards or prices which are rendered ineffectual or unenforceable by reason of any conflict with a Federal law, order or regulation made under the Federal war powers.

Whenever the director shall be notified in writing by the Attorney General of this State that any provision, condition, standard or price established by or under authority of this code is in conflict with a Federal law, order or regulation made under the Federal war powers, and is thereby rendered ineffectual and unenforceable, he shall prepare proposed new provisions, conditions, standards or prices to take the place of such provisions, conditions, standards or prices declared by the Attorney General to be in conflict as aforesaid, and shall as soon as reasonably possible call a public hearing to consider the same at a place within the State that he deems suitable.

Notice of such hearing shall be given at least five days prior thereto by publication in a newspaper of general circulation printed and published in the County of Sacramento and in a similar newspaper printed and published in the county where such hearing is held.

At such hearing the director shall receive and hear the evidence of all interested persons which shall be taken under oath, and all written evidence and exhibits introduced at such hearing shall be preserved and open to inspection by any interested person.

If from the evidence and data produced at such hearing and from such other knowledge and information as the director may have he shall find in writing:

1. That the conflict between the existing provision, condition, standard or price and the Federal law, order or regulation and the consequent unenforceability of such provision, condition, standard or price seriously impairs or prevents the effectuation of the purpose and intent of such provision, condition, standard or price or of the statute of which it is a part;

2. That the effectuation of the purpose and intent of such provision, condition, standard or price or of the statute of which it is a part will be best served by the adoption of such new provision, condition, standard or price as will remove such conflict with the Federal law, order or regulation;

3. That the new provision, condition, standard or price is as similar to the existing provision, condition, standard or price as is reasonably possible without being in conflict with such Federal law, order or regulation;

4. That the new provision, condition, standard or price will protect the agricultural interests of the people of this State and conserve the agricultural wealth of the State and protect the health and general welfare of our citizens during the life of the Federal law, order or regulation in conflict with the existing provision, condition, standard or price;

Then, and upon such findings, the director shall transmit his determination and recommendations thereon to the Governor. The Governor shall review the determination and recommendations so submitted and if he finds that the purposes and objectives of this section are to be attained thereby shall issue an order formulating and making effective such new provision, condition, standard or price.

Such new provisions, conditions, standards or prices so formulated and made effective shall continue in force and effect only during the life of such Federal law, order or regulation in conflict with the original existing provision, condition, standard or price, and while in force and effect shall supersede the original existing provision, condition, standard or price and be administered and enforced by the director in the same manner and to the same extent, and violations thereof shall be subject to the same penalties, as provided in the case of such original existing provisions, conditions, standards or prices.

Upon the termination of this act all provisions, conditions, standards and prices formulated and made effective hereunder shall immediately terminate and cease and be of no further force or effect and any and all original existing provisions, conditions, standards or prices so temporarily superseded shall be and become in full force and effect as though no new provision, condition, standard or price had been formulated and made effective hereunder. The same shall be true at any sooner time upon the expiration of the life of any such conflicting Federal law, order or regulation as to the particular provisions, conditions, standards or prices affected thereby.

As used in this section, "director" means Director of Agriculture, except with reference to Article 1 of Chapter 3 of Division 5 and Article 4 of Chapter 8 of Division 5 of this code; and as to those articles only, "director" means Director of Public Health.

This act shall remain in force until the ninety-first day after final adjournment of the Fifty-sixth Regular Session of the Legislature or until the cessation of hostilities in all wars in which the United States is now engaged, whichever first occurs.

SEC. 2. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety, within the meaning of Section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California, and as such shall take effect immediately. The following is a statement of the facts constituting such necessity:

Regulations promulgated under the war power of the Federal Government during the present war emergency may and do render ineffectual or unenforceable many of the provisions, conditions, standards and prices established by or under authority of the Agricultural Code. In order to provide in such cases a procedure for the immediate formulation of new conditions, standards and prices to take the place of those rendered ineffectual or unenforceable by reason of conflict with such Federal laws, orders and regulations, it is necessary that this act take effect immediately."

Substitute Motion

Mr. Kellems moved, as a substitute motion, that the following remarks by Mr. Maloney be reduced to writing, and printed in the Journal:

Motion carried.

Statement by Assemblyman Thomas A. Maloney

Mr. Speaker and Members of the Assembly

I would be very derelict in my duty as a Member of the Assembly, and as a Member of the Legislature for almost 20 years, if I did not take advantage of this opportunity, on behalf of the Members of this House, to extend to Chairman Albert C. Wollenberg and the following members of the Assembly Committee on Ways and Means: Assemblymen Allen, Burkhalter, Burns, Carey, Crichton, Crowley, Doyle, Field, Gannon, Hastain, Johnson, Knight, T. Fenton; Kraft, O'Day, Potter, Robertson, Sargent, Thurman, Watson, Weber, Weybret, and Sheridan, the sincere thanks and appreciation of all of us for the fair and efficient manner in which the Budget of the State of California for the 1943-1945 Biennium was heard and presented to the Assembly, and passed.

I am sure that the members of long standing will agree that never in the history of California has there been a budget presented and acted upon as speedily as this budget. The main object of the committee from the day Mr. Wollenberg was appointed as chairman was to scrutinize each and every item in the State Budget and to curtail unnecessary expenditures in the interests of economy which will redound to the credit of all of us who were elected to serve our constituents. Mr. Wollenberg began his work in December with the Governor and his committee; he continued working through the entire month of February and during the first week of March, prior to the re-convening of the Legislature on March 8th, he and his committee worked day and night. The Committee on Ways and Means was chosen carefully, and Chairman Wollenberg combined the necessary requisites of tact, fairness, knowledge of finance, and a conscientious attitude of getting the job done well.

The budget with amendments, as presented by Mr. Wollenberg and his committee, received a unanimous vote of the Members of the Assembly, a record that will go down as history in the legislative halls of the State Capitol.

I am very happy to stand on the floor of this Assembly and extend to Assemblyman Wollenberg and his committee our deepest appreciation for the efficient and capable way in which this important bill, the Budget Bill, was presented to us

May I also state that the Legislature is appreciative of the efforts of Mr. Rolland A Vandegrift, Legislative Auditor, who at all times was at the beck and call of the committee, and who proved a valuable asset in the preparation of this budget.

We are also thankful to Miss Vera Fowler, the very efficient and capable secretary of the Committee on Ways and Means, who worked long hours in preparing the data necessary to place the report in the splendid shape in which it was adopted.

THOMAS A. MALONEY

COMMUNICATIONS

By Mr. Maloney:

The following communication was received and ordered printed in the Journal:

INTERNATIONAL UNION OF UNITED BREWERY, FLOUR, CEREAL AND SOFT DRINK WORKERS OF AMERICA
SAN FRANCISCO, CALIF., March 31, 1943

Honorable Thomas Maloney
Capitol, Sacramento, California

DEAR MR. MALONEY: On March 22d the undersigned appeared before the Committee on Public Morals in support of Assembly Bill No. 1387, having for its purpose the restriction of importation of the so-called "one trip bottle." I have since been informed that said committee has acted favorably on an amended form of this bill, and has recommended that it "Do pass," to the Legislature.

The members of this organization have for some time, since the introduction of this bottle on the local markets, suffered unusual injuries, involving in some cases even the loss of their eyes. In fact, the situation became so serious that an application for a hearing to determine safe standards of bottles for the brewing industry was made to the Industrial Accident Commission and is still pending before that body.

The Brewing Industry in California has for many years maintained the use of a standard size weight bottle which has proven its practicability for the market and ample resistance against danger to the life and limb of those required to fill same; consequently, we feel that this standard should prevail and that Assembly Bill No. 1387 should be enacted into the law.

We, therefore, respectfully request that you give this measure your support at such time as it may appear before your body for consideration.

Thanking you for your kind interest in this matter and with best wishes, we are Very truly yours,

BOTTLERS LOCAL UNION NO. 293
WM. H. AHERN, Secretary

To Maintain Highways

The War Manpower Commission has ruled that maintenance and repair of state highways is "essential to the war effort." Charles H. Purcell, state director of public works, welcomes the ruling because it will permit California to maintain a sufficient force of men to keep her roads from deteriorating.

The ruling is doubly welcome because of the pounding which California and other coast state highways are taking from military vehicles. In the opinion of some road engineers this increased traffic more than makes up for the reduction in pleasure driving.

Men who are considered essential for road maintenance work may now obtain deferment from the draft while machinery and parts needed for highway work will be available. The selective service, enlistments and resignations are reported to have cut the prewar force by approximately half and, coupled with the inability to obtain machinery, that meant the highway program could not be kept at anything resembling normal.

It would be folly to permit the state highway system to so deteriorate that it would be unable to carry the present military load.

The WMC has acted wisely to recognize these facts.

REASSEMBLED

At 2 p.m., the Assembly reconvened.

Hon. Charles W. Lyon, Speaker of the Assembly, presiding.

COMMUNICATIONS

By Speaker Lyon:

A resolution from the County Supervisors Association of California, relating to amending the Alien Land Law and passage of legislation to prohibit Japanese language schools in the State, was received, and ordered filed with the Secretary of State.

Also:

The following Senate joint resolution from the Secretary of the Senate of the State of Illinois was received, and ordered printed in the Journal:

63rd G. A. Senate Joint Resolution No. 8 1943

Offered by Senator Searcy, March 9, 1943—referred to Executive Committee.

Adopted by Senate, March 10, 1943.

Concurred in by House, March 17, 1943.

Whereas, Article Five of the Constitution of the United States provides as follows:

"The Congress, whenever two-thirds of both Houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose amendments to this Constitution, or, shall deem it necessary the Legislatures of two-thirds of the several States, shall call a convention for proposing amendments, which in either case, shall be valid to all intents and purposes, as part of this Constitution, when ratified by the Legislature of three-fourths of the several States, or by conventions in three-fourths thereof, as the one or the other mode of ratification may be proposed by the Congress, provided that no amendment which may be made prior to the year one thousand eight hundred and eight shall in any manner effect the first and fourth clauses in the Ninth Section of the First Article; and that no State, without its consent, shall be deprived of its equal suffrage in the Senate.;" and

Whereas, from the foregoing it is obvious that State Legislatures may apply to the Congress of the United States for the calling of a convention to propose amendments to the Constitution of the United States, subject to ratification by the Legislatures or conventions of three-fourths of the States, as provided; and

Whereas, an elective term of office of the President of the United States is limited to four years by the Constitution of the United States, without any present restrictions of provisions as to the number of terms, successive or otherwise, for which a President may be elected; and

Whereas, George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, Abraham Lincoln and other great American statesmen of immortal memory held inviolate the sanctity of American tradition that no President of the United States ought to serve in that high office longer than two terms of four years each; and

Whereas, the office of the Presidency embodies and personifies an immense, growing and encompassing authority, as exercised by the Executive Branch of the national government, and for that reason ought to reflect American opportunity of attainment, without restricting high favor to the few, yet admit of such wholesome modifications of national policy as the American people, in their rightful progress, shall be entitled to, in perpetuity of the American order of life; and

Whereas, in the years to come, the necessity for strong and undissipated American perspectives, traditions and practices, exemplified by such leaders as Washington, Jefferson and Lincoln, will transcend personal and partisan interests, if the Republic of the United States of America is to continue to live and function as a leader of world civilization; and

Whereas, forty-four State Legislatures are in session this year, and eight additional State Legislatures, including those that convene annually, will be in session in 1944; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Senate of the Sixty-Third General Assembly of the State of Illinois, the House of Representatives concurring herein, do and hereby apply to, and petition, the Congress of the United States to call a convention, in pursuance of the provisions of Article Five of the Constitution of the United States, for the purpose of proposing an amendment to the said Constitution, prohibiting any President of the United States from serving more than two terms of four years each; unless, in lieu thereof, the Congress, in its wisdom, shall elect to submit to the several States a proposed amendment to the said Constitution, providing for the said limiting of the tenure of office of any President of the United States to two terms of four years each, subject to ratification by three-fourths of the States, in manner provided; and, be it further

Resolved, that copies hereof be transmitted to the Legislatures of all other States of the Union, inviting those of like mind to pursue the course herein provided, to the end that a determination of this vital issue may be had, and, if consummated, incorporated as the Twenty-second Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, at as early a date as State ratification and constitutional procedure shall make possible.

COMMUNICATIONS

By Speaker Lyon:

The following communication from the Legislative Counsel was received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL

*Honorable Charles W. Lyon, Speaker of the Assembly
State Capitol, Sacramento, California*

VOTE REQUIRED ON APPROPRIATION MEASURES

DEAR MR. SPEAKER: You have asked us what number of votes is necessary to pass appropriation measures now that the Budget Act has been signed by the Governor and chaptered by the Secretary of State.

The answer to this question, insofar as bills making appropriations from the General Fund are concerned, depends upon whether or not the appropriations thus far made this session from the General Fund (inclusive of the Budget Act) exceed by more than 5 per cent the appropriation base for the current biennium.

We have been informed by the Department of Finance that such is the fact. Therefore, all bills making an appropriation from the General Fund will require a vote of two-thirds of the members elected to the Assembly, or the appropriations contained in such bills will have no effect.

The provisions of Section 34a of Article IV of the Constitution which limit the expenditures from the General Fund, unless passed by a two-thirds vote, do not apply to appropriations not made from the General Fund. Therefore, the vote of a majority of the members elected to the Assembly is sufficient to enact measures making appropriations from special funds.

Very truly yours,

FRED B WOOD, Legislative Counsel
By SIDNEY L. WEINSTOCK, Deputy

COMMUNICATIONS

By Mr. Brown:

The following communication was received and ordered printed in the Journal:

GREEK ORTHODOX CHURCH OF THE ANNUNCIATION
SACRAMENTO, April 2, 1943

Members of the Assembly, California State Legislature, Sacramento

FELLOW AMERICANS: I am delighted to receive today a copy of House Resolution No. 150 in which the Assembly of the California Legislature has memorialized the bravery of the Greek peoples and their long struggle for freedom and democratic government.

I know that I may speak for all my people in California in expressing deep gratitude for your thoughtfulness and for the kindly consideration which led Assemblymen Brown and Maloney to present, and the Assembly to pass, this resolution marking the day on which for 122 years our people have offered prayers of thanksgiving for Greece's victory and liberation from Turkey.

Today Greece lies in the hands of conquerors, but Greece is not conquered. Its spirit lives today as vibrantly as in the ancient day of Marathon. The love of freedom, and the hatred of aggression, take many forms of expression under the very hands of the Nazis. The Greek people have never been conquered, and they never shall be.

There are in the United States now over one million of Greek nativity or descent. Nearly every one of us is an American citizen, and we are infinitely proud of America. Yet our lineage is such, and our love for the motherland and its freedom are so strong, that we struggle in this common cause with a burning two-fold goal, defense of our adopted land, and the resurrection of our Motherland.

When in the course of harried, busy days our fellow Americans take time and thought to express, as you have done, their kindly wishes for Greece, we Americans of Hellenic blood feel great pride and a debt of gratitude that is undying. To all of you, then, on behalf of all of California's citizens of Greek descent, our many, many thanks.

Most respectfully yours,

V. REV. GERMANOS PAPAPANAGIOUTOU
Rector, Church of the Annunciation

CITIZENS FOR VICTORY
SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA, April 2, 1943

Members of the California Legislature

Enclosed is a copy of the resolution introduced in the United States Senate March 16th, Senate Resolution No. 114, a bipartisan resolution sponsored by Senators Ball, Hill, Burton, and Hatch, after consultation with many other Members of the Senate. Following the resolution is a statement by the four sponsors, indicating the necessity of adoption of this measure by the Senate now.

Senator John F. Shelley has introduced a resolution in the California Legislature, memorializing Congress to adopt Senate Resolution No. 114.

Citizens for Victory, both the national organization and the California chapters, have endorsed this resolution, and urge the California State Legislature to memorialize Congress favoring the adoption of Senate Resolution No. 114. It is felt that such action by Congress now would reflect the overwhelming attitude of the American people and would assure our Allies in the United Nations that the United States will fully participate in world organization for peace following the successful conclusion of the war.

Sincerely yours,

CHESTER H. ROWELL, Chairman

SENATE RESOLUTION No. 114

Submitted by Senator Ball on behalf of himself and Senators Hill, Burton, and Hatch.

Text of the resolution:

Resolved, That the Senate advises that the United States take the initiative in calling meetings of representatives of the United Nations for the purpose of forming an organization of the United Nations with specific and limited authority:

(1) To assist in coordinating and fully utilizing the military and economic resources of all member nations in the prosecution of the war against the Axis.

(2) To establish temporary administrations for Axis-controlled areas of the world as these are occupied by United Nations forces, until such time as permanent governments can be established.

(3) To administer relief and assistance in economic rehabilitation in territories of member nations needing such aid and in Axis territory occupied by United Nations forces.

(4) To establish procedures and machinery for peaceful settlement of disputes and disagreements between nations.

(5) To provide for the assembly and maintenance of a United Nations military force and to suppress by immediate use of such force any future attempt at military aggression by any nation.

That the Senate further advises that any establishment of such United Nations organization provide machinery for its modification, for the delegation of additional specific and limited functions to such organization, and for admission of other nations to membership, and that member nations should commit themselves to seek no territorial aggrandizement.

COPY OF STATEMENT ISSUED BY SENATORS BALL, BURTON, HATCH,
AND HILL, SATURDAY, MARCH 13, 1943

This is the draft of a proposed Senate resolution seeking to clarify United States postwar foreign policy, on which we have been working for several weeks. We have discussed its subject matter with a number of other Senators and have sought and are still seeking advice and counsel as to both its form and substance. We want it to be in the best form possible before we offer it.

We believe that an organization of the United Nations with the authority and the power to stop any future attempts at military aggression offers the best hope for maintaining world peace and stability after this war and at the same time is the most efficient and the least costly method in lives and wealth for the individual nations to obtain security for themselves.

It is our opinion that the overwhelming majority of the American people favor United States participation in such a United Nations organization, based on the just and democratic principles of the Atlantic Charter, as the most preferable way to maintain our own National security and help maintain world stability and peace. The only way the people can express their desire is through the Congress. Hence this resolution.

It is our deep conviction that the basic foreign policy of the United States should not become an issue of partisan politics, that it should be decided as soon as possible so that postwar planning may be effective, and that our policy should be determined, not on the basis of past debates based on conditions then existing, but on the basis of world conditions as they are today and are likely to develop in the future.

Sec. 7.1.

(a) For the purposes of this act—

(1) Property destroyed or seized on or after December 7, 1941, in the course of military or naval operations by the United States or any other country engaged in the present war shall be deemed to have been destroyed or seized on a date chosen by the taxpayer in the manner provided in paragraph (4), which falls between—

(A) the latest date, as established to the satisfaction of the commissioner, on which such property may be considered as not destroyed or seized; and

(B) the earliest date, as established to the satisfaction of the commissioner, on which such property may be considered as having already been destroyed or seized.

For the purposes of this paragraph property within an area which comes under the control of a country at war with the United States after the date war with such country is declared by the United States shall be deemed to have been destroyed or seized in the course of military or naval operations by such country, and the date specified in subparagraph (A) shall not be later than the latest date determined by the commissioner as the date on which such area was under the control of the United States or a country not at war with the United States, and the date specified in subparagraph (B) shall not be later than the earliest date determined by the commissioner as the date on which such area may be considered under the control of the country which is at war with the United States.

(2) Property within any country at war with the United States, or within an area under the control of any such country on the date war with such country was declared by the United States, shall be deemed to have been destroyed or seized on the date war with such country was declared by the United States.

(3) Any interest in, or with respect to, property described in paragraph (1) or (2) (including any interest represented by a security) which becomes worthless shall be considered to have been destroyed or seized (and the loss therefrom shall be considered a loss from the destruction or seizure) on the date chosen by the taxpayer which falls between the dates specified in paragraph (1), or on the date prescribed in paragraph (2), as the case may be, when the last property (described in the applicable paragraph) to which the interest relates would be deemed destroyed or seized under the applicable paragraph. This paragraph shall apply only if the interest would have become worthless if the property had been destroyed. For the purposes of this paragraph, an interest shall be deemed to have become worthless notwithstanding the fact that such interest has a value if such value is attributable solely to the possibility of recovery of the property, compensation (other than insurance or similar indemnity) on account of its destruction or seizure, or both. Under regulations prescribed by the commissioner, a taxpayer which owns 100 per centum, excluding qualifying shares, of each class of stock of a corporation may elect to determine the worthlessness of its interest, described in this paragraph, in or with respect to the property of the corporation, without regard to the amount of the property of such corporation which would be excluded under subsection (e) (2) (A) in determining the adjusted basis of all the assets of the corporation for the purposes of subsection (e), but such amount shall be treated under subsection (b) (1) as a recovery by the taxpayer in the taxable year with respect to such interest.

(4) The taxpayer's choice of a date under paragraph (1) or (3) shall be effective only if made within such time and in such manner as may be prescribed by regulations prescribed by the commissioner.

(b) In the case of any property or interest in or with respect to property deemed to be destroyed or seized under subsection (a).

(1) The amount of the loss on account of such property or interest shall be determined with regard to any recoveries with respect thereto in the taxable year but without regard to any possibility of recovering such property or interest, or of receiving any compensation (other than insurance or similar indemnity) on account of such property or interest in the taxable year or in any future taxable year.

(2) The taxpayer may choose to decrease the amount of the loss by all obligations or liabilities of the taxpayer with respect to such property or interest discharged or satisfied out of the property or interest upon its destruction or seizure, if the commissioner is satisfied that such obligations or liabilities are so discharged or satisfied in a subsequent taxable year, or that the taxpayer is unable to determine whether or not such obligations or liabilities are in fact discharged or satisfied.

No loss shall be deemed to have been sustained upon the destruction or seizure of such property or interest to the extent that it is compensated for by the discharge or satisfaction of obligations and liabilities of the taxpayer out of such property or interest in the taxable year in which such destruction or seizure is deemed to have occurred. The taxpayer's choice under this subsection shall be effective only if made within such time and in such manner as may be prescribed by regulations prescribed by the commissioner.

(c) (1) Upon the recovery in the taxable year of any money or property in respect of property considered under subsection (a) as destroyed or seized in any prior taxable year, the amount of such recovery shall be included in gross income to the extent provided in paragraph (2).

(2) The amount of the recovery of any money or property in respect of property considered under subsection (a) as destroyed or seized shall be an amount equal to the aggregate of such money and the fair market value of such property, determined as of the date of the recovery. To the extent that such amount plus the aggregate of the amounts of previous such recoveries do not exceed that part of the aggregate of the allowable deductions in prior taxable years on account of the destruction or seizure of property described in subsection (a) which did not result in a reduction of any tax of the taxpayer under this act, such amount shall not be includable in gross income and shall not be deemed gain upon the involuntary conversion of property as a result of its destruction or seizure. To the extent that such amount plus the aggregate of the amounts of previous such recoveries exceed that part of the aggregate of such deductions which did not result in a reduction of any tax of the taxpayer under this act and do not exceed that part of the aggregate of such deductions which did result in a reduction of any tax of the taxpayer under this act, such amount shall be included in gross income but shall not be deemed a gain upon the involuntary conversion of property as a result of its destruction or seizure. To the extent that such amount plus the aggregate of the amounts of previous such recoveries exceed the aggregate of the allowable deductions in prior taxable years on account of the destruction or seizure of property described in subsection (a), such amount shall be considered a gain upon the involuntary conversion of property as a result of its destruction or seizure and shall be recognized or not recognized as provided in Section 11(f). If for any previous taxable year the taxpayer chooses under subsection (b) to treat any obligations and liabilities as discharged or satisfied out of the property or interest described in subsection (a), and if such obligations and liabilities were not so discharged or satisfied, the amount of such obligations and liabilities treated as discharged or satisfied under subsection (b) shall be considered for the purposes of this section as a deduction by reason of this section which did not result in a reduction of any tax of the taxpayer under this act. For the purposes of this paragraph an allowable deduction for any taxable year on account of the destruction or seizure of property described in subsection (a) shall, to the extent not allowed in computing the tax of the taxpayer for such taxable year, be considered an allowable deduction which did not result in a reduction of any tax of the taxpayer under this act.

(3) For the purposes of paragraphs (1) and (2), the restoration in whole or in part of the value of any interest described in subsection (a) (3) by reason of any recovery of money or property in respect of property to which such interest related and which was considered under subsection (1) (a) or (2) as destroyed or seized shall be deemed a recovery of property in respect of property considered under subsection (a) as destroyed or seized.

(d) The unadjusted basis of property recovered in respect of property considered destroyed or seized under subsection (a) shall be determined under this subsection. Such basis shall be an amount equal to the fair market value of such property, determined as of the date of the recovery, reduced by an amount equal to the excess of the aggregate of such fair market value and the amounts of previous recoveries of money or property in respect of property considered under subsection (a) as destroyed or seized over the aggregate of the allowable deductions in prior taxable years on account of the destruction or seizure of property described in subsection (a), and increased by that portion of the amount of the recovery which under subsection (c) is treated as a recognized gain from the involuntary conversion of property. Upon application of the taxpayer, the aggregate of the bases (determined under the preceding sentence) of any properties recovered in respect of properties considered under subsection (a) as destroyed or seized may be allocated among the properties so recovered in such manner as the commissioner may determine under regulations prescribed by him, and the amounts so allocated to any such property so recovered shall be the unadjusted basis of such property in lieu of the unadjusted basis of such property determined under the preceding sentence.

(e) (1) If a taxpayer owns not less than 50 per centum of each class of stock of a corporation, if such corporation has property described in subsection (a) (1) or (2) deemed to be destroyed or seized, the adjusted basis for determining loss of which is at least 75 per centum of the adjusted basis for determining loss of all such corporation's property, and if such corporation completely liquidates (by distributing all the assets which it is able to distribute and all its rights to assets which it is not able to distribute, including the right to the recovery of the property described in subsection (a) (1) and (2) within one year after such property is deemed to be destroyed or seized, or by December 31, 1943, whichever is the later, then that part of the loss by the taxpayer on such liquidation which would be attributable to the destruction or seizure of such property, as established to the satisfaction of the commissioner, shall be treated for the purposes of this act as a loss by the taxpayer upon the destruction or seizure of the part of the stock or other interest of the taxpayer to which such loss is allocable. Such part of the stock or other interest of the taxpayer shall be treated for the purposes of subsections (b), (c), and (d) as property described in subsection (a) (3).

(2) For the purposes of paragraph (1)—

(A) In determining the adjusted basis of all the property of the corporation, there shall be excluded money in the United States, bank deposits, the right to receive money from any person not situated in a country at war with the United States or in a territory under the control of such a country, and obligations issued or guaranteed as to principal or interest by the United States, except that there shall not be excluded any such property which is destroyed or seized as described in subsection (a) within or before the taxable period.

Sec. 8.1. (a) For the purposes of this act—

(1) Property destroyed or seized on or after December 7, 1941, in the course of military or naval operations by the United States or any other country engaged in the present war shall be deemed to have been destroyed or seized on a date chosen by the taxpayer in the manner provided in paragraph (4), which falls between—

(A) The latest date, as established to the satisfaction of the commissioner, on which such property may be considered as not destroyed or seized, and

(B) The earliest date, as established to the satisfaction of the commissioner, on which such property may be considered as having already been destroyed or seized.

For the purposes of this paragraph property within an area which comes under the control of a country at war with the United States after the date war with such country is declared by the United States shall be deemed to have been destroyed or seized in the course of military or naval operations by such country, and the date specified in subparagraph (A) shall not be later than the latest date determined by the commissioner as the date on which such area was under the control of the United States or a country not at war with the United States, and the date specified in subparagraph (B) shall not be later than the earliest date determined by the commissioner as the date on which such area may be considered under the control of the country which is at war with the United States.

(2) Property within any country at war with the United States, or within an area under the control of any such country on the date war with such country was declared by the United States, shall be deemed to have been destroyed or seized on the date war with such country was declared by the United States.

(3) Any interest in, or with respect to, property described in paragraph (1) or (2) (including any interest represented by a security) which becomes worthless shall be considered to have been destroyed or seized (and the loss therefrom shall be considered a loss from the destruction or seizure) on the date chosen by the taxpayer which falls between the dates specified in paragraph (1), or on the date prescribed in paragraph (2), as the case may be, when the last property (described in the applicable paragraph) to which the interest relates would be deemed destroyed or seized under the applicable paragraph. This paragraph shall apply only if the interest would have become worthless if the property had been destroyed. For the purposes of this paragraph, an interest shall be deemed to have become worthless notwithstanding the fact that such interest has a value if such value is attributable solely to the possibility of recovery of the property, compensation (other than insurance or similar indemnity) on account of its destruction or seizure, or both. Under regulations prescribed by the commissioner, a taxpayer which owns 100 per centum (excluding qualifying shares) of each class of stock of a corporation may elect to determine the worthlessness of its interest, described in this paragraph, in or with respect to the property of the corporation, without regard to the amount of the property of such corporation which would be excluded under subsection (e) (2) (A).

in determining the adjusted basis of all the assets of the corporation for the purposes of subsection (e), but such amount shall be treated under subsection (b) (1) as a recovery by the taxpayer in the income year with respect to such interest.

(4) The taxpayer's choice of a date under paragraph (1) or (3) shall be effective only if made within such time and in such manner as may be prescribed by regulations prescribed by the commissioner.

(b) In the case of any property or interest in or with respect to property deemed to be destroyed or seized under subsection (a)—

(1) The amount of the loss on account of such property or interest shall be determined with regard to any recoveries with respect thereto in the income year but without regard to any possibility of recovering such property or interest, or of receiving any compensation (other than insurance or similar indemnity) on account of such property or interest in the income year or in any future income year.

(2) The taxpayer may choose to decrease the amount of the loss by all obligations or liabilities of the taxpayer with respect to such property or interest discharged or satisfied out of the property or interest upon its destruction or seizure, if the commissioner is satisfied that such obligations or liabilities are so discharged or satisfied in a subsequent income year, or that the taxpayer is unable to determine whether or not such obligations or liabilities are in fact discharged or satisfied.

No loss shall be deemed to have been sustained upon the destruction or seizure of such property or interest to the extent that it is compensated for by the discharge or satisfaction of obligations and liabilities of the taxpayer out of such property or interest in the income year in which such destruction or seizure is deemed to have occurred. The taxpayer's choice under this subsection shall be effective only if made within such time and in such manner as may be prescribed by regulations prescribed by the commissioner.

(c) (1) Upon the recovery in the income year of any money or property in respect of property considered under subsection (a) as destroyed or seized in any prior income year, the amount of such recovery shall be included in gross income to the extent provided in paragraph (2).

(2) The amount of the recovery of any money or property in respect of property considered under subsection (a) as destroyed or seized shall be an amount equal to the aggregate of such money and the fair market value of such property, determined as of the date of the recovery. To the extent that such amount plus the aggregate of the amounts of previous such recoveries do not exceed that part of the aggregate of the allowable deductions in prior income years on account of the destruction or seizure of property described in subsection (a) which did not result in a reduction of any tax of the taxpayer under this act, such amount shall not be includible in gross income and shall not be deemed gain upon the involuntary conversion of property as a result of its destruction or seizure. To the extent that such amount plus the aggregate of the amounts of previous such recoveries exceed that part of the aggregate of such deductions which did not result in a reduction of any tax of the taxpayer under this act and do not exceed that part of the aggregate of such deductions which did result in a reduction of any tax of the taxpayer under this act, such amount shall be included in gross income but shall not be deemed a gain upon the involuntary conversion of property as a result of its destruction or seizure. To the extent that such amount plus the aggregate of the amounts of previous such recoveries exceed the aggregate of the allowable deductions in prior income years on account of the destruction or seizure of property described in subsection (a), such amount shall be considered a gain upon the involuntary conversion of property as a result of its destruction or seizure and shall be recognized or not recognized as provided in Section 20(f). If for any previous taxable year the taxpayer chooses under subsection (b) to treat any obligations and liabilities as discharged or satisfied out of the property or interest described in subsection (a), and if such obligations and liabilities were not so discharged or satisfied, the amount of such obligations and liabilities treated as discharged or satisfied under subsection (b) shall be considered for the purposes of this section as a deduction by reason of this section which did not result in a reduction of any tax of the taxpayer under this act. For the purposes of this paragraph an allowable deduction for any income year on account of the destruction or seizure of property described in subsection (a), shall, to the extent not allowed in computing the tax of the taxpayer for such income year, be considered an allowable deduction which did not result in a reduction of any tax of the taxpayer under this act.

(3) For the purposes of paragraphs (1) and (2), the restoration in whole or in part of the value of any interest described in subsection (a) (3) by reason of any recovery of money or property in respect of property to which such interest related and which was considered under subsection (a) (1) or (2) as destroyed or seized shall be deemed a recovery of property in respect of property considered under subsection (a) as destroyed or seized.

(d) The unadjusted basis of property recovered in respect of property considered destroyed or seized under subsection (a) shall be determined under this subsection. Such basis shall be an amount equal to the fair market value of such property, determined as of the date of the recovery, reduced by an amount equal to the excess of the aggregate of such fair market value and the amounts of previous recoveries of money or property in respect of property considered under subsection (a) as destroyed or seized over the aggregate of the allowable deductions in prior income years on account of the destruction or seizure of property described in subsection (a), and increased by that portion of the amount of the recovery which under subsection (c) is treated as a recognized gain from the involuntary conversion of property. Upon application of the taxpayer, the aggregate of the bases (determined under the preceding sentence) of any properties recovered in respect of properties considered under subsection (a) as destroyed or seized may be allocated among the properties so recovered in such manner as the commissioner may determine under regulations prescribed by him, and the amounts so allocated to any such property so recovered shall be the unadjusted basis of such property in lieu of the unadjusted basis of such property determined under the preceding sentence.

(e) (1) If a taxpayer owns not less than 50 per centum of each class of stock of a corporation, if such corporation has property described in subsection (a) (1) or (2) deemed to be destroyed or seized, the adjusted basis for determining loss of which is at least 75 per centum of the adjusted basis for determining loss of all such corporation's property, and if such corporation completely liquidates (by distributing all the assets which it is able to distribute and all its rights to assets which it is not able to distribute, including the right to the recovery of the property described in subsection (a) (1) and (2) within one year after such property is deemed to be destroyed or seized, or by December 31, 1943, whichever is the later, then that part of the loss by the taxpayer on such liquidation which would be attributable to the destruction or seizure of such property, as established to the satisfaction of the commissioner, shall be treated for the purposes of this act as a loss by the taxpayer upon the destruction or seizure of the part of the stock or other interest of the taxpayer to which such loss is allocable. Such part of the stock or other interest of the taxpayer shall be treated for the purposes of subsections (b), (c), and (d) as property described in subsection (a) (3).

(2) For the purposes of paragraph (1)—

(A) In determining the adjusted basis of all the property of the corporation, there shall be excluded money in the United States, bank deposits, the right to receive money from any person not situated in a country at war with the United States or in a territory under the control of such a country, and obligations issued or guaranteed as to principal or interest by the United States, except that there shall not be excluded any such property which is destroyed or seized as described in subsection (a) within or before the taxable period.

(B) The adjusted basis of property of such corporation shall be determined as of the date immediately preceding the first date on which any property was destroyed or seized, as described in subsection (1), or as of any later date falling within or before the taxable period on the basis of which such determination will produce a greater amount.

(f) The determination as to whether and to what extent an allowable deduction on account of the destruction or seizure of property described in subsection (a) did or did not result in a reduction of any tax of the taxpayer under this chapter shall be made in accordance with regulations prescribed by the commissioner.

(3) Any interest in, or with respect to, property described in paragraph (1) or (2) (including any interest represented by a security as defined in Section 8(h) (3) or Section 8(f) (3) which becomes worthless shall be considered to have been destroyed or seized (and the loss therefrom shall be considered a loss from the destruction or seizure) on the date chosen by the taxpayer which falls between the dates specified in paragraph (1), or on the date prescribed in paragraph (2), as the case may be, when the last property (described in the applicable paragraph) to which the interest relates would be deemed destroyed or seized under the applicable paragraph. This paragraph shall apply only if the interest would have become worthless if the property had been destroyed. For the purposes of this paragraph, an interest shall be deemed to have become worthless notwithstanding the fact that such interest has a value if such value is attributable solely to the possibility of recovery of the property, compensation (other than insurance or similar indemnity) on account of its destruction or seizure, or both. Section 8(f) (2) and (h) (2) shall not apply to any interest which under this paragraph is considered to have been destroyed or seized. Under regulations prescribed by the commissioner, a taxpayer who owns 100 per centum (excluding qualifying shares) of each class of stock of a corporation may elect to determine the worthlessness of his interest, described in this paragraph, in or with respect to the property of the corporation, without regard to the amount of the property of such corporation which would be excluded under subsection (e) (2) (A) in determining the adjusted basis of all the assets of the corporation for the purposes of subsection (e), but such amount shall be treated under subsection (b) (1) as a recovery by the taxpayer in the taxable year with respect to such interest.

(4) The taxpayer's choice of a date under paragraph (1) or (3) shall be effective only if made within such time and in such manner as may be prescribed by regulations prescribed by the commissioner.

(b) In the case of any property or interest in or with respect to property deemed to be destroyed or seized under subsection (a) —

(1) The amount of the loss on account of such property or interest shall be determined with regard to any recoveries with respect thereto in the taxable year but without regard to any possibility of recovering such property or interest, or of receiving any compensation (other than insurance or similar indemnity) on account of such property or interest in the taxable year or in any future taxable year.

(2) The taxpayer may choose to decrease the amount of the loss by all obligations or liabilities of the taxpayer with respect to such property or interest discharged or satisfied out of the property or interest upon its destruction or seizure, if the commissioner is satisfied that such obligations or liabilities are so discharged or satisfied in a subsequent taxable year, or that the taxpayer is unable to determine whether or not such obligations or liabilities are in fact discharged or satisfied.

No loss shall be deemed to have been sustained upon the destruction or seizure of such property or interest to the extent that it is compensated for by the discharge or satisfaction of obligations and liabilities of the taxpayer out of such property or interest in the taxable year in which such destruction or seizure is deemed to have occurred. The taxpayer's choice under this subsection shall be effective only if made within such time and in such manner as may be prescribed by regulations prescribed by the commissioner.

(c) (1) Upon the recovery in the taxable year of any money or property in respect of property considered under subsection (a) as destroyed or seized in any prior taxable year, the amount of such recovery shall be included in gross income to the extent provided in paragraph (2).

(2) The amount of the recovery of any money or property in respect of property considered under subsection (a) as destroyed or seized shall be an amount equal to the aggregate of such money and the fair market value of such property, determined as of the date of the recovery. To the extent that such amount plus the aggregate of the amounts of previous such recoveries do not exceed that part of the aggregate of the allowable deductions in prior taxable years on account of the destruction or seizure of property described in subsection (a) which did not result in a reduction of any tax of the taxpayer under this act, such amount shall not be includible in gross income and shall not be deemed gain upon the involuntary conversion of property as a result of its destruction or seizure. To the extent that such amount plus the aggregate of the amounts of previous such recoveries exceed that part of the aggregate of such deductions which did not result in a reduction of any tax of the taxpayer under this act and do not exceed that part of the aggregate of such deductions which did result in a reduction of any tax of the taxpayer under this act, such amount shall be included in gross income but shall not be deemed a gain upon the involuntary conversion of property as a result of its destruction or seizure. To the extent that such amount plus the aggregate of the amounts of previous such recoveries exceed the aggregate of the allowable deductions in prior taxable years on account of the destruction or seizure of property described in subsection (a), such amount shall be considered a gain upon the involuntary conversion of property as a result of its destruction or seizure and shall be recognized or not recognized as provided in Section 9.2 (e). If for any previous taxable year the taxpayer chooses under subsection (b) to treat any obligations and liabilities as discharged or satisfied out of the property or interest described in subsection (a), and if such obligations and liabilities were not so discharged or satisfied, the amount of such obligations and liabilities treated as discharged or satisfied under subsection (b) shall be considered for the purposes of this section as a deduction by reason of this section which did not result in a reduction of any tax of the taxpayer under this act. For the purposes of this paragraph an allowable deduction for any taxable year on account of the destruction or seizure of property described in subsection (a) shall, to the extent not allowed in computing the tax of the taxpayer for such taxable year, be considered an allowable deduction which did not result in a reduction of any tax of the taxpayer under this act.

(3) For the purposes of paragraphs (1) and (2), the restoration in whole or in part of the value of any interest described in subsection (a) (3) by reason of any recovery of money or property in respect of property to which such interest related and which was considered under subsection (a) (1) or (2) as destroyed or seized shall be deemed a recovery of property in respect of property considered under subsection (a) as destroyed or seized.

(d) The unadjusted basis of property recovered in respect of property considered destroyed or seized under subsection (a) shall be determined under this subsection. Such basis shall be an amount equal to the fair market value of such property, determined as of the date of the recovery, reduced by an amount equal to the excess of the aggregate of such fair market value and the amounts of previous recoveries of money or property in respect of property considered under subsection (a) as destroyed or seized over the aggregate of the allowable deductions in prior taxable years on account of the destruction or seizure of property described in subsection (a), and increased by that portion of the amount of the recovery which under subsection (c) is treated as a recognized gain from the involuntary conversion of property. Upon application of the taxpayer, the aggregate of the bases (determined under the preceding sentence) of any properties recovered in respect of properties considered under subsection (a) as destroyed or seized may be allocated among the properties so recovered in such manner as the commissioner may determine under regulations prescribed by him, and the amounts so allocated to any such property so recovered shall be the unadjusted basis of such property in lieu of the unadjusted basis of such property determined under the preceding sentence.

(e) (1) If a taxpayer owns not less than 50 per centum of each class of stock of a corporation, if such corporation has property described in subsection (a) (1) or (2) deemed to be destroyed or seized, the adjusted basis for determining loss of which is at least 75 per centum of the adjusted basis for determining loss of all such corporation's property, and if such corporation completely liquidates (by distributing all the assets which it is able to distribute and all its rights to assets which it is not able to distribute, including the right to the recovery of the property described in subsection (a) (1) and (2)) within one year after such property is deemed to be destroyed or seized, or by December 31, 1943, whichever is the later, then that part of the loss by the taxpayer on such liquidation which would be attributable to the destruction or seizure of such property, as established to the satisfaction of the commissioner, shall be treated for the purposes of this act as a loss by the taxpayer upon the destruction or seizure of the part of the stock or other interest of the taxpayer to which such loss is allocable. Such part of the stock or other interest of the taxpayer shall be treated for the purposes of subsections (b), (c), and (d) as property described in subsection (a) (3).

(2) For the purposes of paragraph (1)—

(A) In determining the adjusted basis of all the property of the corporation, there shall be excluded money in the United States, bank deposits, the right to receive money from any person not situated in a country at war with the United States or in a territory under the control of such a country, and obligations issued or guaranteed as to principal or interest by the United States, except that there shall not be excluded any such property which is destroyed or seized as described in subsection (a) within or before the taxable period.

(B) The adjusted basis of property of such corporation shall be determined as of the date immediately preceding the first date on which any property was destroyed or seized, as described in subsection (a), or as of any later date falling within or before the taxable period on the basis of which such determination will produce a greater amount.

(f) The determination as to whether and to what extent an allowable deduction on account of the destruction or seizure of property described in subsection (a) did or did not result in a reduction of any tax of the taxpayer under this chapter shall be made in accordance with regulations prescribed by the commissioner."

(A) property of a kind which would properly be includable in the inventory of the taxpayer if on hand at the close of the taxable year, or

(B) property held by the taxpayer primarily for sale to customers in the ordinary course of his trade or business.

(2) If, during the taxable year, the recognized gains upon sales or exchanges of property used in the trade or business, plus the recognized gains from the compulsory or involuntary conversion (as a result of destruction in whole or in part, theft or seizure, or an exercise of the power of requisition or condemnation or the threat or imminence thereof) of property used in the trade or business and capital assets into other property or money, exceed the recognized losses from such sales, exchanges, and conversions, such gains and losses shall be considered as gains and losses from sales or exchanges of capital asset. If such gains do not exceed such losses, such gains and losses shall not be considered as gains and losses from sales or exchanges of capital assets. For the purposes of this paragraph:

(A) In determining under this paragraph whether gains exceed losses, the gains and losses described therein shall be included only if and to the extent taken into account in computing net income, except that subsections (b) and (d) shall not apply.

On redemption, first installment payment, [or] sale of the property, or cancellation of a lease, the Controller may refund from the Tax Deeded Land Rental Trust Fund to the lessee the unearned portion of any rental paid in advance.

3659. All moneys received by the Controller under this Chapter and Section 3441 after the effective date of this amendment shall be placed by the Controller in the "Tax Deeded Land Rental Trust Fund" in the State treasury, [which fund is continued in existence, and shall not be deducted from the amount necessary to be paid in redemption of the property,] which fund is hereby created and appropriated to carry out the provisions of this section, and shall be remitted to the treasurer of the county in which the moneys were received between the fifteenth and thirtieth days of January and June of each year, which said remittance shall include all moneys in said fund to the credit of said county on the first day of the month preceding such remittance less any sums refunded or held for refund as provided by law. The Treasurer shall upon receipt of such money, report its receipt to the county auditor. The auditor shall mail a copy of the Controller's statement or applicable portion thereof to the secretary or the clerk of the governing board of each taxing agency, levying and collecting taxes or assessments, other than the State and county. (a) For the purposes of this act—

(1) Property destroyed or seized on or after December 7, 1941, in the course of military or naval operations by the United States or any other country engaged in the present war shall be deemed to have been destroyed or seized on a date chosen by the taxpayer in the manner provided in paragraph (4), which falls between—

(A) The latest date, as established to the satisfaction of the commissioner, on which such property may be considered as not destroyed or seized, and

(B) The earliest date, as established to the satisfaction of the commissioner, on which such property may be considered as having already been destroyed or seized.

For the purposes of this paragraph property within an area which comes under the control of a country at war with the United States after the date war with such country is declared by the United States shall be deemed to have been destroyed or seized in the course of military or naval operations by such country, and the date specified in subparagraph (A) shall not be later than the latest date determined by the commissioner as the date on which such area was under the control of the United States or a country not at war with the United States, and the date specified in subparagraph (B) shall not be later than the earliest date determined by the commissioner as the date on which such area may be considered under the control of the country which is at war with the United States.

(2) Property within any country at war with the United States, or within an area under the control of any such country on the date war with such country was declared by the United States, shall be deemed to have been destroyed or seized on the date war with such country was declared by the United States.

(3) Any interest in, or with respect to, property described in paragraph (1) or (2) (including any interest represented by a security) which becomes worthless shall be considered to have been destroyed or seized (and the loss therefrom shall be considered a loss from the destruction or seizure) on the date chosen by the taxpayer which falls between the dates specified in paragraph (1), or on the date prescribed in paragraph (2), as the case may be, when the last property (described in the applicable paragraph) to which the interest relates would be deemed destroyed or seized under the applicable paragraph. This paragraph shall apply only if the interest would have become worthless if the property had been destroyed. For the purposes of this paragraph, an interest shall be deemed to have become worthless notwithstanding the fact that such interest has a value if such value is attributable solely to the possibility of recovery of the property, compensation (other than insurance or similar indemnity) on account of its destruction or seizure, or both. Under regulations prescribed by the commissioner, a taxpayer which owns 100 per centum (excluding qualifying shares) of each class of stock of a corporation may elect to determine the worthlessness of its interest, described in this paragraph, in or with respect to the property of the corporation, without regard to the amount of the property of such corporation which would be excluded under subsection (e) (2) (A) in determining the adjusted basis of all the assets of the corporation for the purposes of subsection (e), but such amount shall be treated under subsection (b) (1) as a recovery by the taxpayer in the income year with respect to such interest.

(4) The taxpayer's choice of a date under paragraph (1) or (3) shall be effective only if made within such time and in such manner as may be prescribed by regulations prescribed by the commissioner.

(b) In the case of any property or interest in or with respect to property deemed to be destroyed or seized under subsection (a)—

(1) The amount of the loss on account of such property or interest shall be determined with regard to any recoveries with respect thereto in the income year but without regard to any possibility of recovering such property or interest, or of receiving any compensation (other than insurance or similar indemnity) on account of such property or interest in the income year or in any future income year.

(2) The taxpayer may choose to decrease the amount of the loss by all obligations or liabilities of the taxpayer with respect to such property or interest discharged or satisfied out of the property or interest upon its destruction or seizure, if the commissioner is satisfied with such obligations or liabilities are so discharged or satisfied in a subsequent income year, or that the taxpayer is unable to determine whether or not such obligations or liabilities are in fact discharged or satisfied.

No loss shall be deemed to have been sustained upon the destruction or seizure of such property or interest to the extent that it is compensated for by the discharge or satisfaction of obligations and liabilities of the taxpayer out of such property or interest in the income year in which such destruction or seizure is deemed to have occurred. The taxpayer's choice under this subsection shall be effective only if made within such time and in such manner as may be prescribed by regulations prescribed by the commissioner.

(c) (1) Upon the recovery in the income year of any money or property in respect of property considered under subsection (a) as destroyed or seized in any prior income year the amount of such recovery shall be included in gross income to the extent provided in paragraph (2).

(2) The amount of the recovery of any money or property in respect of property considered under subsection (a) as destroyed or seized shall be an amount equal to the aggregate of such money and the fair market value of such property, determined as of the date of the recovery. To the extent that such amount plus the aggregate of the amounts of previous such recoveries do not exceed that part of the aggregate of the allowable deductions in prior income years on account of the destruction or seizure of property described in subsection (a) which did not result in a reduction of any tax of the taxpayer under this act, such amount shall not be includable in gross income and shall not be deemed gain upon the involuntary conversion of property as a result of its destruction or seizure. To the extent that such amount plus the aggregate of the amounts of previous such recoveries exceed that part of the aggregate of such deductions which did not result in a reduction of any tax of the taxpayer under this act and do not exceed that part of the aggregate of such deductions which did result in a reduction of any tax of the taxpayer under this act, such amount shall be included in gross income but shall not be deemed a gain upon the involuntary conversion of property as a result of its destruction or seizure. To the extent that such amount plus the aggregate of the amounts of previous such recoveries exceed the aggregate of the allowable deductions in prior income years on account of the destruction or seizure of property described in subsection (a), such amount shall be considered a gain upon the involuntary conversion of property as a result of its destruction or seizure and shall be recognized or not recognized as provided in Section 20 (f). If for any previous taxable year the taxpayer chooses under subsection (b) to treat any obligations and liabilities as discharged or satisfied out of the property or interest described in subsection (a), and if such obligations and liabilities were not so discharged or satisfied, the amount of such obligations and liabilities treated as discharged or satisfied under subsection (b) shall be considered for the purposes of this section as a deduction by reason of this section which did not result in a reduction of any tax of the taxpayer under this act. For the purposes of this paragraph an allowable deduction for any income year on account of the destruction or seizure of property described in subsection (a), shall, to the extent not allowed in computing the tax of the taxpayer for such income year, be considered an allowable deduction which did not result in a reduction of any tax of the taxpayer under this act.

(3) For the purposes of paragraphs (1) and (2), the restoration in whole or in part of the value of any interest described in subsection (a) (3) by reason of any recovery of money or property in respect of property to which such interest related and which was considered under subsection (a) (1) or (2) as destroyed or seized shall be deemed a recovery of property in respect of property considered under subsection (1) as destroyed or seized.

(d) The unadjusted basis of property recovered in respect of property considered destroyed or seized under subsection (a) shall be determined under this subsection. Such basis shall be an amount equal to the fair market value of such property, determined as of the date of the recovery, reduced by an amount equal to the excess of the aggregate of such fair market value and the amounts of previous recoveries of money or property in respect of property considered under subsection (a) as destroyed or seized over the aggregate of the allowable deductions in prior income years on account of the destruction or seizure of property described in subsection (a), and increased by that portion of the amount of the recovery which under subsection (c) is treated as a recognized gain from the involuntary conversion of property. Upon application of the taxpayer, the aggregate of the bases (determined under the preceding sentence) of any properties recovered in respect of properties considered under subsection (a) as destroyed or seized may be allocated among the properties so recovered in such manner as the commissioner may determine under regulations prescribed by him, and the amounts so allocated to any such property so recovered shall be the unadjusted basis of such property in lieu of the unadjusted basis of such property determined under the preceding sentence.

(e) (1) If a taxpayer owns not less than 50 per centum of each class of stock of a corporation, if such corporation has property described in subsection (a) (1) or (2) deemed to be destroyed or seized, the adjusted basis for determining loss of which is at least 75 per centum of the adjusted basis for determining loss of all such corporation's property, and if such corporation completely liquidates (by distributing all the assets which it is able to distribute and all its rights to assets which it is not able to distribute, including the right to the recovery of the property described in subsection (a) (1) and (2) within one year after such property is deemed to be destroyed or seized, or by December 31, 1943, whichever is the later, then that part of the loss by the taxpayer on such liquidation which would be attributable to the destruction or seizure of such property, as established to the satisfaction of the commissioner, shall be treated for the purposes of this act as a loss by the taxpayer upon the destruction or seizure of the part of the stock or other interest of the taxpayer to which such loss is allocable. Such part of the stock or other interest of the taxpayer shall be treated for the purposes of subsections (b), (c), and (d) as property described in subsection (a) (3).

(2) For the purposes of paragraph (a)—

(A) In determining the adjusted basis of all the property of the corporation, there shall be excluded money in the United States, bank deposits, the right to receive money from any person not situated in a country at war with the United States or in a territory under the control of such a country, and obligations issued or guaranteed as to principal or interest by the United States, except that there shall not be excluded any such property which is destroyed or seized as described in subsection (a) within or before the taxable period.

(B) The adjusted basis of property of such corporation shall be determined as of the date immediately preceding the first date on which any property was destroyed or seized, as described in subsection (a), or as of any later date falling within or before the taxable period on the basis of which such determination will produce a greater amount.

(f) The determination as to whether and to what extent an allowable deduction on account of the destruction or seizure of property described in subsection (a) did or did not result in a reduction of any tax of the taxpayer under this chapter shall be made in accordance with regulations prescribed by the commissioner."

Sec. 7.1. (a) For the purposes of this act—

(1) Property destroyed or seized on or after December 7, 1941, in the course of military or naval operations by the United States or any other country engaged in the present war shall be deemed to have been destroyed or seized on a date chosen by the taxpayer in the manner provided in paragraph (4), which falls between—

(A) the latest date, as established to the satisfaction of the commissioner, on which such property may be considered as not destroyed or seized; and

(B) the earliest date, as established to the satisfaction of the commissioner, on which such property may be considered as having already been destroyed or seized.

For the purposes of this paragraph property within an area which comes under the control of a country at war with the United States after the date war with such country is declared by the United States shall be deemed to have been destroyed or seized in the course of military or naval operations by such country, and the date specified in subparagraph (B) shall not be later than the earliest date determined by the commissioner as the date on which such area was under the control of the United States or a country not at war with the United States, and the date specified in subparagraph (B) shall not be later than the earliest date determined by the commissioner as the date on which such area may be considered under the control of the country which is at war with the United States.

(2) Property within any country at war with the United States, or within an area under the control of any such country on the date war with such country was declared by the United States, shall be deemed to have been destroyed or seized on the date war with such country was declared by the United States.

(3) Any interest in, or with respect to, property described in paragraph (1) or (2) (including any interest represented by a security) which becomes worthless shall be considered to have been destroyed or seized (and the loss therefrom shall be considered a loss from the destruction or seizure) on the date chosen by the taxpayer which falls between the dates specified in paragraph (1), or on the date prescribed in paragraph (2), as the case may be, when the last property (described in the applicable paragraph) to which the interest relates would be deemed destroyed or seized under the applicable paragraph. This paragraph shall apply only if the interest would have become worthless if the property had been destroyed. For the purposes of this paragraph, an interest shall be deemed to have become worthless notwithstanding the fact that such interest has a value if such value is attributable solely to the possibility of recovery of the property, compensation (other than insurance or similar indemnity) on account of its destruction or seizure, or both. Under regulations prescribed by the commissioner, a taxpayer which owns 100 per centum, excluding qualifying shares, of each class of stock of a corporation may elect to determine the worthlessness of its interest, described in this paragraph, in or with respect to the property of the corporation, without regard to the amount of the property of such corporation which would be excluded under subsection (e) (2) (A) in determining the adjusted basis of all the assets of the corporation for the purposes of subsection (e), but such amount shall be treated under subsection (b) (1) as a recovery by the taxpayer in the taxable year with respect to such interest.

(4) The taxpayer's choice of a date under paragraph (1) or (3) shall be effective only if made within such time and in such manner as may be prescribed by regulations prescribed by the commissioner.

(b) In the case of any property or interest in or with respect to property deemed to be destroyed or seized under subsection (a).

(1) The amount of the loss on account of such property or interest shall be determined with regard to any recoveries with respect thereto in the taxable year but without regard to any possibility of recovering such property or interest, or of receiving any compensation (other than insurance or similar indemnity) on account of such property or interest in the taxable year or in any future taxable year.

(2) The taxpayer may choose to decrease the amount of the loss by all obligations or liabilities of the taxpayer with respect to such property or interest discharged or satisfied out of the property or interest upon its destruction or seizure, if the commissioner is satisfied that such obligations or liabilities are so discharged or satisfied in a subsequent taxable year, or that the taxpayer is unable to determine whether or not such obligations or liabilities are in fact discharged or satisfied.

No loss shall be deemed to have been sustained upon the destruction or seizure of such property or interest to the extent that it is compensated for by the discharge or satisfaction of obligations and liabilities of the taxpayer out of such property or interest in the taxable year in which such destruction or seizure is deemed to have occurred. The taxpayer's choice under this subsection shall be effective only if made within such time and in such manner as may be prescribed by regulations prescribed by the commissioner.

(c) (1) Upon the recovery in the taxable year of any money or property in respect of property considered under subsection (a) as destroyed or seized in any prior taxable year, the amount of such recovery shall be included in gross income to the extent provided in paragraph (2).

(2) The amount of the recovery of any money or property in respect of property considered under subsection (a) as destroyed or seized shall be an amount equal to the aggregate of such money and the fair market value of such property, determined as of the date of the recovery. To the extent that such amount plus the aggregate of the amounts of previous such recoveries do not exceed that part of the aggregate of the allowable deductions in prior taxable years on account of the destruction or seizure of property described in subsection (a) which did not result in a reduction of any tax of the taxpayer under this act, such amount shall not be includible in gross income and shall not be deemed gain upon the involuntary conversion of property as a result of its destruction or seizure. To the extent that such amount plus the aggregate of the amounts of previous such recoveries exceed that part of the aggregate of such deductions which did not result in a reduction of any tax of the taxpayer under this act and do not exceed that part of the aggregate of such deductions which did result in a reduction of any tax of the taxpayer under this act, such amount shall be included in gross income but shall not be deemed a gain upon the involuntary conversion of property as a result of its destruction or seizure. To the extent that such amount plus the aggregate of the amounts of previous such recoveries exceed the aggregate of the allowable deductions in prior taxable years on account of the destruction or seizure of property described in subsection (a), such amount shall be considered a gain upon the involuntary conversion of property as a result of its destruction or seizure and shall be recognized or not recognized as provided in Section 11 (f). If for any previous taxable year the taxpayer chooses under subsection (b) to treat any obligations and liabilities as discharged or satisfied out of the property or interest described in subsection (a), and if such obligations and liabilities were not so discharged or satisfied, the amount of such obligations and liabilities treated as discharged or satisfied under subsection (b) shall be considered for the purposes of this section as a deduction by reason of this section which did not result in a reduction of any tax of the taxpayer under this act. For the purposes of this paragraph an allowable deduction for any taxable year on account of the destruction or seizure of property described in subsection (a) shall, to the extent not allowed in computing the tax of the taxpayer for such taxable year, be considered an allowable deduction which did not result in a reduction of any tax of the taxpayer under this act.

(3) For the purposes of paragraphs (1) and (2), the restoration in whole or in part of the value of any interest described in subsection (a) (3) by reason of any recovery of money or property in respect of property to which such interest related and which was considered under subsection (a) (1) or (2) as destroyed or seized shall be deemed a recovery of property in respect of property considered under subsection (a) as destroyed or seized.

(d) The unadjusted basis of property recovered in respect of property considered destroyed or seized under subsection (a) shall be determined under this subsection. Such basis shall be an amount equal to the fair market value of such property, determined as of the date of the recovery, reduced by an amount equal to the excess of the aggregate of such fair market value and the amounts of previous recoveries of money or property in respect of property considered under subsection (a) as destroyed or seized over the aggregate of the allowable deductions in prior taxable years on account of the destruction or seizure of property described in subsection (a), and increased by that portion of the amount of the recovery which under subsection (c) is treated as a recognized gain from the involuntary conversion of property. Upon application of the taxpayer, the aggregate of the bases (determined under the preceding sentence) of any properties recovered in respect of properties considered under subsection (a) as destroyed or seized may be allocated among the properties so recovered in such manner as the commissioner may determine under regulations prescribed by him, and the amounts so allocated to any such property so recovered shall be the unadjusted basis of such property in lieu of the unadjusted basis of such property determined under the preceding sentence.

(e) (1) If a taxpayer owns not less than 50 per centum of each class of stock of a corporation, if such corporation has property described in subsection (a) (1) or (2) deemed to be destroyed or seized, the adjusted basis for determining loss of which is at least 75 per centum of the adjusted basis for determining loss of all such corporation's property, and if such corporation completely liquidates (by distributing all the assets which it is able to distribute and all its rights to assets which it is not able to distribute, including the right to the recovery of the property described in subsection (a) (1) and (2) within one year after such property is deemed to be destroyed or seized, or by December 31, 1943, whichever is the later, then that part of the loss by the taxpayer on such liquidation which would be attributable to the destruction or seizure of such property, as established to the satisfaction of the commissioner, shall be treated for the purposes of this act as a loss by the taxpayer upon the destruction or seizure of the part of the stock or other interest of the taxpayer to which such loss is allocable. Such part of the stock or other interest of the taxpayer shall be treated for the purposes of subsections (b), (c), and (d) as property described in subsection (a) (3).

(2) For the purposes of paragraph (1)—

(A) In determining the adjusted basis of all the property of the corporation, there shall be excluded money in the United States, bank deposits, the right to receive money from any person not situated in a country at war with the United States or in a territory under the control of such a country, and obligations issued or guaranteed as to principal or interest by the United States, except that there shall not be excluded any such property which is destroyed or seized as described in subsection (a) within or before the taxable period.

(B) The adjusted basis of property of such corporation shall be determined as of the date immediately preceding the first date on which any property was destroyed or seized, as described in subsection (a), or as of any later date falling within or before the taxable period on the basis of which such determination will produce a greater amount.

(f) The determination as to whether and to what extent an allowable deduction on account of the destruction or seizure of property described in subsection (a) did or did not result in a reduction of any tax of the taxpayer under this act shall be made in accordance with regulations prescribed by the commissioner."

REQUEST TO PRINT REMARKS IN JOURNAL

On request of Mr. Rosenthal, the following remarks of Rev. E. C. Farnham, delivered before the Assembly on March 25th, were ordered printed in the Journal:

Honorable Members of the Assembly

It is indeed a privilege to see you in action in behalf of the public welfare, and an honor to be permitted to address you in the midst of your busy session.

A noted educator has pointed out that wars often indicate the passing of an out-worn idea. As we contemplate this war in which we now find ourselves, we must be persuaded that its purpose is more than simply to dispose of three undesirable rulers, but rather that it must be the hour of travail out of which is to be born a new and larger idea to displace one that has served its time and must be laid aside.

If this be true, it must follow that the work of all men, and particularly yours as lawmakers, must be to help bring that idea to birth. Every word and deed stands or falls in this day as it helps or fails to help in bringing forth that idea—an idea which will mean for all mankind a better order of life, an order in which there will be more of liberty and more of justice. When you and I salute the Flag, we say: " * * * with liberty and justice for all." The task of today, while in the throes of a World War, is to extend the benefits and privileges of our Democracy to all people and to a degree and with assurances never before known.

In this task, the spiritual leaders of our Country count themselves as fellow workmen with you. These spiritual leaders pray for this new idea. They pray and they work that there be liberty and justice for all without distinction of class, or color, or race. They are concerned for the economic order, for the industrial order, for the social order, for the international order. In all these relationships, they see there must be more of liberty, more of justice, more of goodwill, and more cooperation and less of conflict else our Democracy and the postwar world will not stand. They know that nothing is settled until it is settled right. They know that the moral laws of God are written into the very constitution of all nature, and that any laws we may draw will surely fail except they square with the moral laws of the universe. They know that selfishness, greed, hate, and conflict bring penalties that are sure and that are self-defeating. They know that the greatest good comes from serving the greatest number. They know that conflict only costs, and only cooperation pays. They know that not until these principles are truly incorporated into the philosophy and the conduct of mankind can it be said that the New Idea has come to birth.

What you do in these Legislative Halls will be in keeping with these principles, or it will not. What you do helps to determine whether men shall live better or live worse. The spiritual leaders of your State share with you this responsibility. They are interested. They pray for you that in your tasks in these crucial days you may have the grace and the wisdom to act according to the highest Light.

Almighty God, Sovereign of the Universe, we come before Thee this morning to renew our pledges of allegiance and devotion. We thank Thee for our Flag, which we shall never see dishonored as it stands for liberty, justice, and freedom. May its blood-red stripes remind us of patriots' sacrifice, its white call forth purity and devotion. May its field of blue each day renew a prayer from every state and nation. Bless and guide our President, our Governor, those in places of leadership, the men and women who serve at home and abroad to defend this Flag.

"O watch, and fight, and pray;
The battle ne'er give o'er;
Renew it boldly every day,
And help divine implore."

In our Redeemer's name,

AMEN

Consideration of Committee Amendments

Amendment No. 1

In line 1 of the title of the printed bill, strike out "Section 101.5", and insert "Sections 153.1, 153.2, and 153.3".

Amendment No. 2

In the title of the printed bill, strike out all of the second and third lines, and insert "ing to eradication of Oriental fruit moth and indemnification for host plants removed and destroyed in connection therewith, making an appropriation therefor, and declaring the urgency thereof, to take effect immediately."

Amendment No. 3

On page 1, line 1, of the printed bill, strike out "101.5", and insert "153.1".

Amendment No. 4

On page 1 of the printed bill, strike out all of lines 3 to 27, inclusive, and insert "153.1. It is hereby declared that the eradication of Oriental fruit moth is essential to the public welfare and the protection of the deciduous fruit industry of the State; that in order to accomplish such eradication it is found necessary to remove and destroy certain host plants and crops, including commercially profitable fruit trees, in areas where Oriental fruit moth is known to exist; that the removal and destruction of such host plants and crops from relatively small areas is in the public interest and for the public benefit, and is for the purpose of protecting the large and important deciduous fruit industry throughout the State from the great losses which would occur if the Oriental fruit moth should be permitted to spread; and that it is the intent of the Legislature that the owners of commercially profitable host plants so removed and destroyed shall be at least partially compensated for the loss which they are to sustain by reason of the removal and destruction thereof.

SEC. 2. Section 153.2 is added to said code, to read:

153.2. To provide for the eradication of the Oriental fruit moth, the director may declare any portion of the State where Oriental fruit moth is known or found to exist to be an Oriental fruit moth eradication district by prescribing the boundaries thereof in a proclamation setting forth said facts and such boundaries and having a copy thereof printed in one or more papers of general circulation in said district.

All known host plants of the Oriental fruit moth within an Oriental fruit moth eradication district are hereby declared to be a public nuisance.

The director or his authorized agents may cause the destruction and removal in a summary manner of any such host plant in its entirety or any part thereof, including the fruit.

SEC. 3. Section 153.3 is added to said code, to read:

153.3. At any time within 60 days after the destruction of any host plant removed and destroyed under the provisions of Section 153.2, the owner may present his claim to the director in an amount not to exceed two-thirds of the appraised value, as determined hereunder, of the host plants so destroyed. The director shall approve the claim, if he finds the claimant entitled to the amount claimed, and the claim so approved shall be presented to the State Controller and shall be paid out of any funds made available therefor.

For the purpose of appraising the value, the Director of the University of California Agricultural Experiment Station shall prepare a table or tables of normal values of host plants for the area or areas included in any Oriental fruit moth eradication district. The Director of the University of California Agricultural Experiment Station, the Director of Agriculture, and the Director of Finance, shall constitute an appraisal board, and may adopt a schedule of normal values, based upon such tables, or upon such other facts and data as they deem necessary to determine fairly and equitably the normal appraised values for all such plants by age, size, and species or variety, which shall apply to all such plants removed and destroyed within the district, without regard to physical condition or productivity.

An appeal board is hereby created, consisting of the Director of Agriculture, or his appointed agent; the county agricultural commissioner, or his appointed agent, in the county in which the property is located; and a third member to be selected by them, who must be a resident of said county who is not the owner of host plants of a kind subject to destruction and indemnification under the eradication program. The appeal board, on its own motion, or on appeal by the owner in writing within 30 days after the removal and destruction of said host plants, if it finds the physical condition or productivity of the host plants, or both, to have been sufficiently abnormal to justify, in its opinion, an appraised value different than that set forth in the schedule of normal values adopted by the appraisal board, may make such adjustments in value as it deems proper, and such adjusted value shall be the appraised value as to those host plants so reappraised.

Sec. 4. There is hereby appropriated to the State Department of Agriculture, out of any moneys in the State Treasury not otherwise appropriated, the sum of _____dollars ($_____) for the removal and destruction of Oriental fruit moth host plants, of which amount not to exceed _____dollars ($_____) may be used for the payment of indemnities to the owners of host plants removed and destroyed.

Sec. 5. If any section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase of this act is for any reason held to be unconstitutional, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of the act. The Legislature hereby declares it would have passed this act, and each section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase thereof, irrespective of the fact that any one or more of the sections, subsections, sentences, clauses or phrases be declared unconstitutional.

Sec. 6. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety, within the meaning of Section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California, and as such shall go into immediate effect.

The following is a statement of the facts constituting such necessity:

The Oriental fruit moth is a new pest to California, and is seriously destructive to deciduous fruits in other parts of the United States where it has occurred for some time. It has been found in a small area in the southern part of this State. Its eradication is essential to the welfare of the large deciduous fruit industry of this State. Its further spread within the State would seriously interfere with the production of deciduous fruits so vitally needed and would result in an annual fixed charge on such industry for all time in the future.

The pest is now active, and any delay in instituting eradication measures would permit further spread of the pest and increase the ultimate cost of eradication and might prevent its successful eradication."

COMMUNICATIONS

By Mr. Thomas:

The following communication was received and ordered printed in the Journal:

OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL

STATE CAPITOL, SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, March 29, 1943

*Honorable Vincent Thomas, Assembly Chamber

ASSEMBLY BILL NO. 635, AS INTRODUCED NO. 8501

DEAR MR. THOMAS: You have requested our opinion as to the constitutionality of the provision in this bill that the premiums on the bonds of cold storage plants and cold storage locker plants storing game birds or mammals are to be paid out of the Fish and Game Preservation Fund.

Section 453.5 as proposed to be added to the Fish and Game Code provides that such plants "shall be bonded in an amount to be determined by the commission."

The bill is silent as to the conditions of such a bond. Therefore, it is impossible to determine whether there is a sufficient public purpose involved to warrant the expenditure of public money.

Apparently, the activities of the plants mentioned in the bill are of an unofficial nature and consist in storing the game birds and mammals for the owners thereof. If these bonds are to be in favor of the persons storing the birds and mammals, it is difficult to perceive any theory upon which the costs of the bonds may be paid from public funds.

On the other hand, if the bonds are intended to secure the performance of the official duties of the operators of the plants, it is difficult to perceive just what official duties are to be performed by the operators of such plants.

Unless the bill is amended to clarify the situation, we believe that the provisions relating to the bonds would be totally inoperative on the grounds of uncertainty.

Very truly yours,

FRED B. WOOD, Legislative Counsel
By JOSEPH W. PAULUCCI, Deputy

cc/Honorable Thomas J. Doyle, pursuant to Joint Rule No. 37.

We claim Thy blessed promise: "Commit thy way unto the Lord; trust also in Him; and He shall bring it to pass."

"And all is well, tho' faith and form
Be sundered in the night of fear;
Well roars the storm to those that hear
A deeper Voice across the storm."

In like manner the normal rate of contribution established for age 21 shall be the rate for any member who enters said retirement system at a lesser age.

(c) The rate of contribution of members shall apply to so much of the salary actually paid to them, plus the monetary value as determined by the board of retirement of board, lodging, fuel, laundry and other advantages of any nature furnished to him made in payment for his services as does not exceed three hundred dollars ($300) per month, and shall be deducted by the county auditor or other officer charged with the duty of drawing salary or wage warrants from the first salary or wage warrant drawn in each month in favor of each member of said retirement system which shall be paid by such auditor or other officer to the county treasurer and placed to the credit of each individual member's account. Payment of salaries and wages less such contribution shall be full and complete discharge and acquittance of all claims and demands whatsoever for service rendered by such members during the period covered by such payment except their claims to the benefits to which they may be entitled as members of such retirement system.

(d) Upon election by any said qualified person to come within the provisions of this act said person shall automatically be excluded from any other retirement system established under the laws of this State or any city, county or city and county therein, and any sums due such person under such other system shall be paid to him as in the case of separation from the service, it being the intention that the retirement system provided by this act shall be exclusive and that the persons entitled thereto shall not participate in any other system now or hereafter provided by law for county and/or county fire protection district officers or employees; provided, however, that where said person elects to come within the provisions of this act and elects to secure credit for prior service as a forester, fire warden or fireman under this act, and where such person has to his credit in any other pension system a sum exceeding that necessary to entitle said person to credit for said prior service as a forester, fire warden or fireman, there shall be refunded to said person so electing to come within this system only such sum due said person under said other pension system as exceeds the amount necessary to entitle said person to credit claimed for prior service as a forester, fire warden or fireman, said sum to be determined on a 2 per cent basis applied to the aggregate salary and/or wage paid during the period of prior service claimed as a forester, fire warden or fireman; provided, however, where said person electing to secure credit for prior service as a forester, fire warden or fireman under this act has to his credit in any other pension system a sum less than that necessary to entitle him to credit for said prior service as a forester, fire warden or fireman, there shall be deposited in the retirement fund by said person so electing to come within this system a sum equal to the amount necessary to entitle said person to credit claimed for prior service as a forester, fire warden or fireman, and said amount said person has to his credit in any other pension system shall be transferred from such other system to the retirement fund of this system, to the credit of said person electing to secure credit for prior service as a forester, fire warden or fireman, said sum to be determined on a 2 per cent basis applied to the aggregate salary and/or wage paid during the period of prior service claimed as a forester, fire warden or fireman; and provided, also, where said person electing to secure credit for prior service as a forester, fire warden or fireman under this act, may further elect not to claim full credit for said prior service as a forester, fire warden or fireman, but only a fractional part of said prior service, in the event of such election to claim but a fractional part of said prior service as a forester, fire warden or fireman, said person will receive a refund or make deposit based on the amount to his credit in any other pension system as against the fractional part of said prior service claimed, said sum to be determined on a 2 per cent basis applied to the aggregate salary and/or wage paid during the period of prior service claimed as a forester, fire warden or fireman.

(e) An amount to be determined and appropriated each year by the board of supervisors. Said amount to be sufficient, together with the contribution of county forester, fire wardens and county fire protection district firemen to meet all of the current demands, including interest, against said pension fund. The board shall monthly deposit all contributions received in the county treasury to the credit of said fund.

From and after the date any system created by this act becomes operative, the board of supervisors shall in the preparation and adoption of the county or county fire protection districts budget, add to the appropriation for salaries and wages and include therein an appropriation equal in amount to the contributions to be made by the members of said retirement system during the period for which said budget is being prepared.

The county auditor shall certify to said board of supervisors at the end of each month the total amount of contributions paid by members to said retirement fund, and said board of supervisors shall thereupon transfer a like amount for such appropriation to said retirement fund.

(f) All contributions and deposits shall bear simple interest at a rate to be fixed by said board of retirement with the approval of said board of supervisors but said rate shall in no event be greater than 4 per cent per annum.

Interest shall be credited semiannually on June 30th and December 31st to all contributions in said retirement fund to the credit of each member which have been on deposit for six months immediately prior to such date.

(g) In any case where a member of said system shall have separated from the service of the county before retirement, and such separation is for any cause other than for permanent disability, there shall be paid to him, or, in case of his death while in the service, but before retirement, for any cause other than an injury received during the performance of his duty, or sickness caused by the discharge of such duty, there shall be paid to his legal representative, all the money paid in by him as his contribution to said fund, together with interest which shall have been credited to his account as provided for herein.

(h) Any member may redeposit in the retirement fund, within one year after his reentrance into the service, an amount equal to that which he withdrew therefrom at the last termination of his membership, plus a sum equal to that he would have deposited had his service been unbroken by such last termination, to be based on the salary received at the time of such last termination. Said redeposit shall constitute reinstatement in full in the foresters, fire wardens and fire protection district firemen's retirement system and said person making said redeposit shall thereupon be entitled to all of the privileges and benefits of said system.

Sec. 5. The title to all property acquired under the provisions of this act shall be taken in the name of the county. The title to any moneys which may become due to any forester, fire warden or fireman shall not pass from the county or county fire protection districts to such forester, fire warden or fireman until such forester, fire warden or fireman is entitled thereto under the provisions of this act. That portion of the wage of any forester, fire warden or fireman deducted or to be deducted under this act, the right of a forester, fire warden or fireman or other person to an annuity or pension and all of their rights in the fund herein provided, shall be exempt from taxation and from the operation of any law relating to bankruptcy or insolvency, and shall not be attached or taken upon execution or other process of any court. No assignment of any right in or to said funds, nor in or to any pension or annuity shall be valid.

Sec. 6. The board shall have charge and control of and shall safely keep the funds of the system and shall invest and reinvest the same, and may from time to time sell any securities held by them and invest and reinvest the proceeds therefrom, and any and all unappropriated income of said funds; provided, however, that all funds received by them not required for current disbursements shall be invested in those securities only which shall be legal for savings bank investments or deposited at interest in any State or National bank doing business with the county in accordance with the provisions of law authorizing and controlling the deposit of public funds in banks; provided, that the credit of the county shall not be given or lent in aid of, or to, any person, association or corporation, whether municipal or otherwise, nor shall it be pledged in any manner whatever for the payment of the liabilities of any individual, association, municipal or other corporation whatever. Whenever securities belonging to or held for said retirement system are sold, the county treasurer shall deliver the securities so sold upon receiving the proceeds thereof, and may execute any and all documents necessary to transfer title thereto. The duties herein imposed upon the county treasurer shall be deemed a part of his official duties, for the faithful performance of which he shall be liable on his official bond.

SEC. 7. A trust fund account to be known as "County foresters, fire wardens and firemen's retirement fund" is hereby created to be opened upon the books of the auditor and treasurer of the counties adopting a retirement system under the provisions of this act. All transfers or payments to the retirement fund and all withdrawals and other cash transactions, shall be accounted upon the books of the auditor and treasurer in and out of this fund account, in the manner they would be accounted if they were county transactions.

SEC. 8. All warrants drawn on the county foresters, fire wardens and fire protection district firemen's retirement fund shall be signed by the treasurer and at least one other member of the board of retirement, who shall be designated by such board, but no warrant so drawn shall be valid until it has been countersigned and numbered by the county auditor and a record made of it by him. Payments provided for in this act shall be made monthly upon proper vouchers.

SEC. 9. As used in this act, the term "county foresters, fire wardens and firemen" shall mean all county foresters, county fire wardens, deputy or assistant county foresters, deputy or assistant county fire wardens, heads and assistant heads of all divisions of any county forester's or county fire warden's department, together with all fire apparatus engineers, fire prevention inspectors, forest firemen, fire patrolmen, fire observers and foremen assigned to fire suppression crews and all other personnel not specifically mentioned herein, and not specifically excluded, who are assigned to fire prevention and suppression in any county forester's or county fire warden's department, together with officers, engineers and firemen of any county fire protection district and all other personnel not specifically mentioned herein and not specifically excluded, who are assigned to fire prevention and suppression in any county fire protection district, but shall not include clerks, bookkeepers, stenographers, cooks, laborers, county fire protection district volunteer employees or persons who are not employed for full-time duty, or other employees not performing the duties of any of the persons enumerated and shall not include any honorary deputy county fire warden or honorary deputy county forester, or voluntary fire warden holding appointment as such but receiving no compensation therefor and not regularly performing particular official duties. "Terminal salary" shall mean the average salary earnable by any member during the last three years or the last five years prior to the date of his retirement, whichever average salary is the greater.

SEC. 10. Except as otherwise provided herein, all foresters, fire wardens and firemen eligible for participation under the system provided by this act, shall be included in and shall be subject to the provisions of said act 30 days after said act becomes operative in any county, or 30 days after their entrance into the service; provided however, that any forester, fire warden or fireman may elect to be excluded from the provisions of this act at any time within 30 days after said act becomes operative in any county or within 30 days after their entrance into the service, upon his written election to be so excluded, and no employee who has so elected to be excluded, may thereafter be included in or participate in the system herein provided.

In the event that any member shall enter the armed forces of the United States during war or national emergency proclaimed by the President or act of Congress providing for peacetime induction or conscription and thereafter shall have returned to active service as a forester, fire warden or fireman within 90 days after the termination of such service during such war or emergency, he shall be deemed to have been in continuous service as a forester, fire warden or fireman during the time he was in such armed forces of the United States; provided, that he shall have during the period of his absence from active duty, or shall have within six months after his return from active duty paid into said retirement fund an amount equal to the amount of contributions which he would have made had he remained on active duty.

SEC. 11. Any member shall be retired for disability regardless of age or amount of service, if incapacitated for the performance of duty as the result of an injury or disease occurring in and arising out of the course of his employment. Incapacity for performance of duty shall be determined by the board. Any member incapacitated for the performance of duty by reason of a cause not included in the immediately preceding sentence, shall be retired regardless of age but only after 10 years of service for which contribution provided for in this act has been made as a forester, fire warden or fireman as defined under Section 9 of this act.

Upon retirement of a member for service-connected disability, such member shall receive an annual pension, payable in equal monthly installments, equal to one-half of his terminal salary; provided, that such pension shall in no case be more than one hundred fifty dollars ($150) per month.

Whenever any member shall be killed, or die, as a result of any injury received during the performance of his duty, or from sickness caused by the discharge of such duty, or after retirement for service-connected disability, an annual pension shall be paid in equal monthly installments to his widow, or child, or children, in an amount equal to one-half of such member's terminal salary; provided, that such pension shall in no case be more than one hundred fifty dollars ($150) per month. Said pension shall be paid to the widow, during her lifetime or until she remarries, and thereafter such pension shall be paid to the legally appointed guardian of the child or children of such deceased member until such child or children shall have attained the age of 18 years, or, should there be no widow, or widow qualified to receive such pension, then to such guardian of his child or children, until such child or children shall have attained the age of 18 years; provided, however, that no widow of a pensioner shall be entitled to a pension unless she shall have been married to such deceased pensioner at least five years prior to the date of his retirement; and provided further, that if such widow, child or children shall marry, then the pension paid to the person so marrying shall cease.

Upon retirement of a member for nonservice-connected disability such member shall receive an annual pension, payable in monthly installments, as follows, dependent upon the aggregate length of his service:

After 10 years but less than 12 years of service, the sum of fifty dollars ($50) per month;

After 12 years but less than 14 years of service, the sum of fifty-five dollars ($55) per month;

After 14 years but less than 16 years of service, the sum of sixty dollars ($60) per month;

After 16 years but less than 18 years of service, the sum of sixty-five dollars ($65) per month;

After 18 years but less than 20 years of service, the sum of seventy dollars ($70) per month;

After 20 years of service, the sum of seventy-five dollars ($75) per month; provided, that in no case shall any pension for nonservice-connected disability exceed an amount equal to one-half of the terminal salary of such member.

The board of retirement may, within its discretion, require any member retired for disability, under the age of 50 years, to undergo medical examination. The examination shall be made by a physician or physicians, appointed by said board, at the place of residence of said retired member or other place mutually agreed upon. Upon the basis of such examination said board shall determine whether such retired member is still incapacitated, physically or mentally, for service in the position held by him at the time of his retirement. If said board determines that such retired member is not so incapacitated, his pension shall be canceled forthwith, and subject to rules and regulations which may have been adopted by the county for the reinstatement or reemployment of personnel, he shall be eligible for reinstatement to a position in the class in which he was employed at time of retirement.

Should the pension of any such retired member be canceled, there shall be paid to him immediately out of said fund, an amount equal to his accumulated contributions, as of the date of his retirement, together with all interest which shall have been credited to his account as provided for herein, less an amount equal to one-half of the pension payments made to him during the period of his retirement.

Should such retired member reenter county service and be eligible for membership in said retirement system, his rate of contribution for future years shall be that established for his age at the time of such reentry. He shall also receive credit for all service rendered by him prior to the time of his disability retirement; provided, that he shall have deposited into said fund within six months after his reinstatement or reemployment an amount equal to the amount paid to him upon cancellation of his pension.

At any time before the first payment on account of any pension is made, a member or beneficiary may elect to receive the actuarial equivalent at that time of his pension in a lesser pension payable throughout his life and that of his widow, if she survives him, in accordance with one or the other of the following options:

Option 1: Upon his death, such lesser pension shall be continued throughout the life of and paid to his widow.

Option 2: Upon his death one-half of such lesser pension shall be continued throughout the life of and paid to his widow.

SEC. 12. Whenever any person at the time this act becomes effective or thereafter shall have been duly appointed, selected, or elected and qualified and shall have served for 20 years or more in the aggregate, as a forester, fire warden or fireman, and who shall have reached the age of 60 years, said board shall upon its own motion, or upon the application of such person, order and direct that such person be retired and such person shall thereafter receive a pension payable in equal monthly installments during his lifetime, equal to one-half of his terminal salary; provided, however, that the amount of such pension shall in no case be more than one hundred fifty dollars ($150) per month.

SEC. 13. No employee who accepts any of the benefits under the provisions of this act shall engage in any public employment, where as a result of such employment the aggregate compensation paid to such pensioner would exceed the compensation paid to him in the position from which he was retired, and any violation of the provisions of this section shall result in the immediate termination of any and all such benefits.

SEC. 14. No county forester, fire warden or county fire protection district fireman who receives compensation from the county for disability under any workmen's compensation act or by virtue of any judgment obtained against the county for disability, shall receive any of the benefits provided by this act, nor in the event of his death, shall any such benefits inure to his dependents as here provided; provided, however, that where such person is retired under the provisions of this act, and would be entitled to a pension thereunder, such person may receive such portion of the pension authorized as is represented by the difference between workmen's compensation and the full amount of the pension to which he might otherwise be entitled, it being the intention that the pension allowed for injury incurred in line of duty, shall not be cumulative with the benefits under workmen's compensation which may be awarded for the same injury or disability.

SEC. 15. The boards of supervisors, in their respective counties, shall have jurisdiction and power, under such limitations and restrictions as are prescribed by law, to levy a special tax to be used for the payment of pensions and annuities to county and county fire protection district employees under such pension, retirement and benefit systems or associations as may have been established by law for county and county fire protection district employees.

SEC. 16. The purpose of this act is to recognize a public obligation to employees in the public service whose duties expose them to more than ordinary risks and at the same time provide a means whereby such public employees who may be incapacitated in the performance of their duties, or by age, may be replaced by more capable employees to the betterment of the public service and without prejudice and without inflicting a hardship upon the employees removed, and the retirement pension and benefits herein provided are granted as an additional element of compensation for future services.

This act, therefore, shall be given a liberal interpretation with a view of carrying out such purpose and it shall not be construed as a local measure or one intended as a benefit to particular persons or places.

SEC. 17. In case any section, or sections, or part of any section, of this act, shall be found to be unconstitutional or invalid for any reason, the remainder of the act shall not thereby be invalidated but shall remain in full force and effect."

Amendments read and adopted.

Motion carried.

Explanation of Vote

We have voted against Assembly Bill No. 283 for the reasons stated in the following editorial appearing in The Sacramento Bee.

RALPH C. DILLS
JOHN W. EVANS
VERNON KILPATRICK
LLOYD W. LOWREY

Every Legislature sees an effort on the part of some well intentioned people to break down the barriers which the citizens of California many years ago wisely erected against sectarian invasion of the public schools.

This session is no exception.

Already the Assembly Committee on Public Morals has approved by a vote of 13 to 7 A. B. 283 authorizing school children to be excused from their classes one hour each week to attend classes in religious instruction.

The quarrel of opponents of the bill is not with the need of such instruction. But they can not see any reason or excuse for taking one hour of the already short school day to devote it to a purpose so foreign to the school curriculum.

Moreover, religious training is a matter of parental interest and concern, not that of the schools or their teachers.

The school classes generally are dismissed at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, and there is no school on Saturdays or Sundays.

If one hour of religious education is necessary, ample time exists to give it without invading and upsetting the schedules of the public schools.

Whole classes would be disorganized completely if half of the children were dismissed, while the rest remained.

However, it is more than the one hour which is involved.

If that concession can be wrested from the Legislature by the sectarians, it will be just the beginning of additional encroachments on the public schools.

The time to say hands off is now and to say it so emphatically that an end will be made of all such unsound proposals.

CONSIDERATION OF SENATE BILL NO. 291 (OUT OF ORDER)

Senate Bill No. 291—An act to provide for suspending the enforcement of certain obligations against the operators of gold and silver mines who have been forced to cease operations because of the war, declaring the urgency thereof, to take effect immediately.

Bill read third time.

Motion to Amend

Mr. Dickey moved the adoption of the following amendments:

Amendment No. 1

On page 1 of the printed bill, as amended, strike out lines 9 and 10, and insert "until causes of said distress have been removed by cessation of the war"

This act shall, therefore, be effective until six months after the termination of hostilities between the United States and all nations with which the United States is at war as determined by an act of Congress or proclamation of the President of the United States, or until October 1, 1945, whichever first occurs."

Amendment No. 1a

On page 1, line 19, of said bill, as amended, strike out "both," and insert "minimum royalties, or (3) holds the property subject to a mortgage or trust deed or (4) holds gold or silver mining machinery or equipment under contract of sale or subject to chattel mortgage,"

Amendment No. 2

On page 3 of said bill, as amended, between lines 4 and 5, insert

"Sec. 5 Subject to the limitations as to time provided in Section 1 hereof, any operator of gold or silver mining property who has ceased operating pursuant to the restrictions imposed on gold or silver mining by the United States, and who is in danger of forfeiture under any of the instruments named in Section 2 hereof, may file a petition in the superior court of the county in which such gold or silver mining property or machinery or equipment or the major portion thereof is situated, praying for an order postponing the sale of such property or machinery and equipment, or prevention of forfeiture under the instruments set forth in Section 2 hereof

Sec. 6. A copy of such petition shall be served upon the trustee and the beneficiary under such deed of trust, upon the mortgagee under such mortgage upon the lessor in a lease providing for payment of minimum royalties and upon the holder of the contract of sale or chattel mortgage on machinery and equipment or the obligee in any contract mentioned in Section 2 hereof, as the case may be, in the manner provided by law for the service of summonses in a civil action.

A notice of pendency of such petition shall immediately be recorded in each county in which any of such property is situated, and on the day of such recordation a copy thereof shall be mailed, postage prepaid, from a post office within this State, addressed to such trustee and beneficiary, such mortgagee, or the holder of the contract of sale or chattel mortgage on machinery and equipment, or upon the lessor in a lease providing for payment of minimum royalties or the obligee in any contract mentioned in Section 2 hereof, as the case may be, at their respective places of residence, if known to petitioner, if not, then at the county seat of the county, or at the city and county, where the proceeding is pending.

Such notice of pendency shall state the name of the petitioner, the nature of the petition, and the book and page of the records of the county recorder in which the mortgage or deed of trust or other instrument is recorded.

Sec. 7. Upon application of the petitioner, after service of such petition, or upon application of any other interested party after the filing of the petition, a hearing shall be had thereon within 20 days after such application, upon such notice as the court shall reasonably prescribe; provided, however, that the court if it finds equitable grounds therefor, may postpone such hearing for not to exceed 30 days.

After the filing of such petition and the recording and mailing of the notice of the pendency thereof as provided in Sections 5 and 6 of this act, no sale under the power of sale conferred by such deed of trust or such mortgage or other instrument shall be held nor shall any forfeiture be effected under any of the instruments set forth in Section 2 hereof until the court makes its order in the matter, but nothing herein contained shall prevent such sale or forfeiture at any time after October 1, 1945, or six months after termination of the war, whichever shall first occur.

Sec. 8. Upon such hearing the court may make its order, if it finds equitable grounds for relief, and finds that the security will not be unreasonably jeopardized thereby, ordering that such sale shall not be held or forfeiture declared until after such date as the court considers just and equitable, but in no event shall such date be beyond October 1, 1945, or six months after termination of the war, whichever first occurs, or may make its order dismissing such proceedings.

If the court orders the sale or forfeiture postponed it shall determine the reasonable value of the income from such property, or if the property has no income, then the reasonable rental value of such property, or if the property is unimproved, a reasonable sum to be paid by the trustor or mortgagor, or holder under other instrument set forth in Section 2 hereof, as determined by the court, and by such order shall require the trustor or mortgagor to pay all or at least a reasonable part of such income, rental value, or sum so determined by the court, in or toward the payment of taxes, insurance, interest, or principal of the indebtedness at such times and in such manner as are determined to be just and equitable under the circumstances.

Sec. 9. The court must include in such order provisions requiring maintenance and repair by the trustor or mortgagor, or holder under other instrument set forth in Section 2 hereof, regulating the disposition of any income from the property and such other provisions as it deems just and equitable for the protection of the security, but in no event shall the court order the payment by the trustor or mortgagor or holder under other instrument set forth in Section 2 hereof of a lesser sum than necessary to pay (a) current taxes, (b) all delinquent taxes, except that such taxes may be paid in installments as may be provided by law, and (c) any insurance premiums required to be paid by the petitioner under the contract between the parties.

Sec. 10. When any mortgage or deed of trust upon property, or upon machinery and equipment attached to or used in operating gold or silver mining property or other instrument, has been foreclosed, and the property covered thereby has been sold in whole or in part under decree of foreclosure, and the period of redemption has not yet expired, the mortgagor or trustor thereof, or holder under other instrument set forth in Section 2 hereof, having the right of redemption, may at any time not later than October 1, 1945, or six months after termination of the war, whichever first occurs, file a petition in the superior court of the county in which the property so sold or the major portion thereof is situated, praying for an order extending such period of redemption.

Sec. 11. A copy of such petition shall be served upon the purchaser of such property at the foreclosure sale, or, if there has been a redemption, upon the last redemptioner, in the manner provided by law for the service of summonses in a civil action.

A notice of pendency of such petition shall immediately be recorded in each county in which any of such property is situated, and, on the day of such recordation, a copy thereof shall be mailed, postage prepaid, from a post office within this State, addressed to such purchaser or last redemptioner, as the case may be, at his place of residence, if known to petitioner, if not, then at the county seat of the county, or at the city and county, where the proceeding is pending.

Such notice of pendency shall state the name of the petitioner, the nature of the petition, and the book and page of the records of the county recorder in which the mortgage or deed of trust or other instrument is recorded.

Sec. 12. Upon application of the petitioner after service of such petition, or upon application of any other interested party, after the filing of the petition, a hearing shall be had thereon within 20 days after such application, upon such notice as the court shall reasonably prescribe; provided, however, that the court, if it finds equitable grounds therefor, may postpone such hearing for not to exceed 10 days.

Upon the filing of such petition and the recording and mailing of the notice of pendency thereof as provided in Sections 10 and 11 of this act, the period of redemption, if such period would sooner terminate, shall be extended until 10 days after the court makes its order in the matter, but in no event beyond October 1, 1945, or six months after termination of the war, whichever first occurs.

Sec. 13. Upon such hearing the court may make its order, if it finds equitable grounds for relief and finds that the security will not be unreasonably jeopardized thereby, extending such period of redemption for such additional time as the court considers just and equitable, but in no event beyond October 1, 1945, or six months after termination of the war, whichever first occurs, or may make its order dismissing such proceeding.

If the court by its order extends the period of redemption, it shall determine the reasonable value of the income from such property, or if the property has no income, then the reasonable rental value of such property, or if the property is unimproved, a reasonable sum to be paid by the operator as determined by the court.

The court shall require the operator to pay all or at least a reasonable part of such income, rental value, or sum so determined by the court, in or toward the payment of taxes upon such property, the cost of insurance and the sums to which the purchaser of such property at such foreclosure sale, or the last redemption, as the case may be, is entitled under the provisions of Section 707 of the Code of Civil Procedure, at such times and in such manner determined to be just and equitable under the circumstances.

Sec. 14. The court may include in such order provisions requiring maintenance and repair by the operator, regulating the disposition of any income from the property, and such other provisions as it deems just and equitable for the protection of the interest and security of the purchaser or last redemption, as the case may be.

In no event shall the court order the payment by the operator of a lesser sum than the greater of (1) the amount of such reasonable value of the income, or such reasonable rental value, or such reasonable sum so determined by the court, or (2) a sum sufficient to pay (a) current taxes, (b) all delinquent taxes, except that such taxes may be paid in installment as provided by law, and (c) a sum reasonably necessary for fire and other insurance upon any improvement upon such property.

Sec. 15. Any sums paid to a purchaser or redemptioner pursuant to Sections 13 or 14 of this act shall be a credit upon the redemption money to be paid as provided in Section 707 of the Code of Civil Procedure; but in the event no redemption is made, the same shall belong to such purchaser or redemptioner.

Sec. 16. Nothing in this act shall be construed as abridging or limiting the statutory right of redemption provided in Sections 701, 702, 703, 704, 705, 706 and 707 of the Code of Civil Procedure, or as shortening the period of redemption as therein provided, or as altering the mode or procedure for redemption as therein provided.

Sec. 17. In any decree rendered, prior to October 1, 1945, foreclosing a mortgage or deed of trust upon real property, the court may provide that the sale of the property shall not be held until on or after such date as the court considers just and equitable, but in no event later than October 1, 1945. If the court provides in such decree that the sale shall not be held until on or after such date as it shall fix, it shall determine the reasonable value of the income from such property, or if the property has no income, then the reasonable rental value of such property, or if the property is unimproved, a reasonable sum to be paid by the trustor or mortgagor or holder under other instrument set forth in Section 2 hereof, as determined by the court, and shall require the trustor or mortgagor or holder under other instrument set forth in Section 2 hereof to pay all or at least a reasonable part of such income, rental value, or sum so determined by the court, in or toward the payment of taxes, insurance, interest, or principal of the indebtedness at such times and in such manner determined to be just and equitable under the circumstances. The court may include in such order provisions requiring maintenance and repair regulating the disposition of any income from the property, and such other provisions as it deems just and equitable for the protection of the security.

After such hearing the court, if it shall determine that it is equitable and just so to do and that the security will not be unreasonably jeopardized thereby, may make its order postponing to a date not later than October 1, 1945, or six months after termination of the war, whichever shall first occur, the foreclosure, termination or forfeiture of the petitioners' interest under such contract of purchase on substantially the same terms and conditions as those prescribed in Sections 5, 6, 7, 8 and 9 of this act, or the court may make its order dismissing such proceeding.

Sec. 18. If the trustor, mortgagor or purchaser under a contract of purchase commits waste or defaults in any payment or act required by order or decree of court, the court, unless good excuse therefor is shown, shall order that the sale, foreclosure, termination or forfeiture postponed by its order or decree proceed as provided by law, or that the period of redemption extended by its order or decree shall expire on the making of its order or within the time provided by law, whichever shall last occur, and that the moneys to be paid on redemption, if theretofore reduced, be increased to the extent of such previous reduction, if it finds after hearing upon such notice to the original petitioner or his attorney as it prescribes, that there has been such waste or such default, unless good excuse therefor is shown, amounting to a material breach of the order or decree of postponement or extension.

Sec. 19. No suit or action shall be commenced against the guarantor of any note secured by a mortgage or deed of trust upon gold or silver mining properties property, or upon chattels attached to or used in connection with gold or silver mining property, in any case while, pursuant to the provisions of this act, no sale may be made under any power of sale contained in such mortgage or deed of trust or while no sale may be made under the final decree of foreclosure rendered in an action to foreclose such mortgage.

Sec. 20. No sale shall be made under any decree of foreclosure, of, or under any power of sale contained in, any chattel mortgage upon any personal property located in and used in connection with the operation of any building located upon gold or silver mining property, until on or after such date as a sale of such gold or silver mining property is lawfully held under such mortgage, deed of trust, or contract of purchase, when such chattel mortgage was given as additional security for an obligation also secured by a deed of trust, mortgage, or contract of purchase, on such real property or other instrument mentioned in Section 2 hereof.

Sec. 21. Whenever the time within which an action may be commenced upon any obligation founded upon a written instrument secured by chattel mortgage, mortgage, deed of trust or contract of purchase, or founded upon any guarantee of such obligation or any contract of suretyship therefor or any endorsement of such instrument, would expire by virtue of Section 337 of the Code of Civil Procedure, or any other provision of law, during the period commencing with the effective date of this act and ending on the date upon which this act shall cease to be in effect, with respect to any property or chattel relating to which a petition has been filed under this act, such time is hereby extended so as not to expire until December 31, 1945, or nine months after cessation of the war, whichever shall first occur.

Sec. 22. Nothing contained in this act shall apply to or be deemed to affect:

(a) Any mortgage, deed of trust, lease agreement, operating agreement or contract of sale upon gold or silver mining property, or upon chattels attached to real property, executed after the effective date of this act.

(b) Any mortgage or deed of trust while held and owned by the original lender securing any loan made by the United States Government or any agency thereof or any loan insured by the United States Government or any agency thereof; and any judgment entered in favor of, or any sheriff's or commissioner's certificate of sale issued to the United States Government or any agency thereof in an action to foreclose any such mortgage or deed of trust;

(c) Any mortgage or deed of trust securing an obligation in default at the time the owner or owners acquired title by purchase subsequent to the effective date of this act.

Sec. 23. As used in this act:

(a) The terms "mortgagor," "mortgagee," "trustor," "trustee," "purchaser," "vendor," "lessee," and "guarantor" shall include their personal representatives, assigns or successors in interest, and the singular shall include the plural.

(b) The term "trustee" shall also include the beneficiary of a deed of trust.

(c) As used in this act, the term "chattels attached to mining property," or similar designation, includes anything which is deemed affixed or attached to land, or as forming part of the land.

(d) The term "mining" means gold or silver mining.

(e) The term "real property" means gold or silver mining property.

(f) The term "operator" includes all persons, firms or corporations engaged in gold or silver mining operations.

(g) "Machinery" and "equipment" shall mean "gold or silver mining machinery" and "equipment."

Sec. 24. Nothing contained in this act shall preclude any trustor under a deed of trust or any mortgagor of chattels or any mortgagor under a mortgage or any purchaser under a contract for the purchase of real property, or chattels attached to real property, from executing and delivering at any time a deed to his beneficiary, mortgagee or vendor, or the purchaser at any foreclosure sale or a redemptioner, as the case may be, and the execution and delivery of any such deed by any such trustor, mortgagor or purchaser shall constitute a waiver of the benefit of all the provisions of this act. The failure on the part of any trustor, mortgagor or purchaser or operator to file a petition within the times specified in this act, shall be deemed a waiver of the benefit of the provisions of this act.

Sec. 25. Any sale of property under a chattel mortgage, or of real property, or of chattels attached to real property, under a deed of trust, mortgage, or chattel mortgage, and any forfeiture made in violation of this act shall be voidable, except as against a bona fide purchaser or encumbrancer for value, at the instance of the record owner of such real or personal property at the time of such sale, or the operator at the time of such forfeiture; provided, that any action to avoid such sale or any deed executed pursuant thereto must be brought within one year of the date of such sale.

Sec. 26. There shall be no filing fees for the filing of any document with the county clerk under the provisions of this act.

Sec. 27. Until October 1 1945, or six months after termination of the war, whichever shall first occur, no receiver shall be appointed at the instance of the mortgagee of any mortgage or the trustee or beneficiary of any deed of trust, with respect to real property or chattels attached to real property subject to mortgage or deed of trust, except in a suit or action for the foreclosure of such mortgage or deed of trust or for the enforcement of the covenants, or any thereof, contained in such mortgage or deed of trust, or in a proceeding ancillary to any such suit or action, or until after recording notice of default.

Sec. 28. If any section, clause or part of this act, or the application thereof to any person or circumstance, is finally determined by the courts to be unconstitutional, such section, clause or part shall no longer be effective or such application shall no longer control, but all other sections, clauses or parts or the application thereof to other persons and circumstances shall continue in full force and effect; it being the intent of the Legislature to make this act as effective as possible to relieve operators in the manner herein provided.

Sec. 29. Whenever any petition under this act is to be or is being heard by the court, the interested parties may submit to the court, in writing, a composition of the indebtedness involved in the proceeding, or a compromise settlement of the proceeding, and the court shall have jurisdiction and may "be" its order confirm and approve such composition or settlement.

Sec. 30. Nothing contained herein shall be construed as affecting any rights which have accrued under Chapter 1, Statutes of the Extra Session of 1934, or shorten the time within which any action may be commenced.

Sec. 31. Nothing contained herein shall be construed as affecting any rights which have accrued under Chapter 7, Statutes of 1935, Chapter 348, Statutes of 1935, Chapter 5 or Chapter 167, Statutes of 1937, Chapter 86, Statutes of 1939, or Chapter 208, Statutes of 1941, or shorten the time within which any action may be commenced, or affect any proceedings taken thereunder."

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolutions were offered:

By Messrs. Watson and Armstrong:

House Resolution No. 165

Relating to the birthday of the Honorable Thomas M. Erwin

WHEREAS, Today marks the birthday of a Member of this Assembly who in the short space of a portion of a session has won a place of his own in the affections of the members of this body; and

WHEREAS, The boyhood ambition of this member seems to have been to own a cow, and this ambition has been realized to such full extent that he now owns some four hundred of them; and

WHEREAS, Until his last birthday, this member went about among his contented cows, embellished with the contented grin of bachelorhood; and

WHEREAS, Since his last birthday he has lost his status as a bachelor, but such loss of his contented grin as may have occurred is probably connected more with his assumption of the responsibilities of his position as a member of this body than with the assumption of his matrimonial status; and

WHEREAS, All such matters aside, this Assembly has been pleased to know and to have said member as one of this body; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Assembly extends its felicitations to said Thomas M. Erwin and wishes for him many more happy birthdays to come.

WHEREAS, The services performed by members of those departments are of vital importance to the peace, health and safety of the State and can not be performed by persons who are not so qualified by age and physical and mental fitness; and

WHEREAS, The United States Selective Service System has made serious inroads in the personnel of the various police and fire departments and sheriffs' offices throughout the State, and in the California Highway Patrol, to the extent that the peace, health and safety of the State is in grave danger; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That Congress is hereby respectfully memorialized to enact legislation to defer members of police and fire departments and the various sheriffs' offices throughout the State and members of the California Highway Patrol under Selective Service Laws; and be it further

By the Chief Clerk:

The following communication was received and ordered printed in the Journal:

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE
WASHINGTON, D. C., March 31, 1943

*Mr. Arthur A. Ohnimus, Chief Clerk, California Legislature
Sacramento, California*

DEAR MR. OHNIMUS: This is in reply to your letter of February 3, 1943, addressed to Secretary Wickard, enclosing a copy of California Assembly Joint Resolution No. 27 with reference to retaining the administration of California fishery production in the Department of Agriculture.

On February 8, 1943, certain of our fisheries functions were transferred from the Department of Agriculture to the Department of the Interior as outlined in Food Directive No. 2, a copy of which is enclosed. This was done for the purpose of utilizing the Fish and Wildlife Service facilities.

Food Directive No. 2, referred to above, accomplishes, in part at least, the results contemplated in Assembly Joint Resolution No. 27 while retaining the identity of the Fish Products Division in the Department of Agriculture and the Division of Fishery Industries in the Department of the Interior.

The confidence evidenced by those who have wanted all commercial fishery problems handled by our department is appreciated very much.

Sincerely,

EMERY E. JACOBS, Assistant to the Secretary

Enclosure

Food Directive No. 2 ordered referred to Mr. Call.

A communication from Jane Mead, relative to request to print article in the Journal, was received, and ordered referred to the Committee on Rules and House Functions.

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR

STATE OF CALIFORNIA
GOVERNOR'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO, April 6, 1943

Hon. Charles Lyon, Speaker of the Assembly Assembly Chambers, State Capitol, Sacramento, California

MY DEAR MR. SPEAKER: The California War Powers Act creating the War Council, adopted by the First Extraordinary Session of the Legislature, will become effective on May 1st. Because of the extreme importance of the functions to be exercised by the Council under the terms of the act, I believe it is desirable that the appointive members be selected and a meeting be held as soon as possible for the purpose of formulating plans, discussing budgetary matters, and selecting the man whom they desire to have serve as the State Director of Civilian Defense.

I am, today, announcing that I propose to appoint, as soon as the act becomes effective, Eugene W. Biscailuz, Sheriff of Los Angeles County, and Leshe Cleary, District Attorney of Stanislaus County, as the two representatives of the county governments of the State; and Mr. Walter W. Cooper, City Manager of San Diego, and Mr. Richard Graves, Executive Secretary of the League of California Cities, as the two representatives of the city governments of the State.

If convenient, I should appreciate it if you, as Speaker, will select the two Members of the Assembly whom you propose to appoint, and give me their names, in order that I may call an informal meeting of the War Council on Monday, April 12, at 2 p.m. in my office.

Sincerely,

EARL WARREN, Governor

Appointment of Representatives on California War Council

In compliance with the request made by the Governor in the foregoing message, the Speaker announced the appointment of Messrs. Weybret and Allen to represent the Assembly on the California War Council, and instructed the Chief Clerk to so notify the Governor of the appointments.

COMMUNICATIONS

By the Chief Clerk:

The following communication was received, and ordered printed in the Journal:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA
BUREAU OF PRINTING, SACRAMENTO, April 2, 1943

*Hon. Arthur A. Ohnimus, Chief Clerk
Fifty-fifth California Assembly
State Capitol, Sacramento, California*

DEAR MR. OHNIMUS: Our Check No. 6 in the sum of $13,623.18 has been deposited to the credit of the Legislative Printing Fund. This covers total collections on the sale of legislative printed matter for the period of January 4th, to March 24th, less the sum of $13.94 which covers $13.89 received as collections of sales tax and $0.05 overpayment. Our total collections for this period were $13,637.12. Statement of Sales Distribution and Operating Statement for this period are attached for your information.

You will note in our Operating Statement that the percentage of our operating expenses for this period was 16½ per cent.

Referring to a report of the Supervisor of Documents in the Assembly Journal of 1941, pages 1549 and 1550, it will be of interest to note that the total amount reimbursed by that office for the two-year period from July 1, 1938, through June 30, 1940, on gross sales totaling $30,601.17, after deducting overhead and administrative expenses, etc., of $19,378.50, was $11,222.67. The percentage of his cost of operation for that period, based on his report, is 48 7/10 per cent compared to 16½ per cent for the Legislative Bill Room's expense chargeable against legislative bill services.

It is of particular interest to the Legislature to know that in the three-month period that the Bill Room has been operating as a sales agent for the Senate and Assembly, that no other documents have been sold, the entire income of $13,637.12 being derived from the sale of printed matter emanating out of the Legislature, and not including statutes and codes for 1943.

Respectfully submitted.

"Be still, my soul; the Lord is on thy side;
Bear patiently the cross of grief or pain;
Leave to thy God to order or provide;
In every change He faithful will remain.
Be still my soul; thy best, thy heavenly Friend
Thro thorny ways leads to a joyful end."

In Jesus name.

AMEN

SEC. 34. Section 5737 of said code is amended to read as follows:

5737. Upon the day of an election, immediately upon the arrival of the hour when the polls are required by law to be closed, the county clerk in each county shall openly, [in his main office,] in the presence of as many persons as may there assemble to observe his act, proceed to destroy every unused ballot which remains in his control, and forthwith make and file his affidavit, in writing, as to the number of ballots so destroyed.

If upon receipt of an application for an absent voter's ballot the clerk does not have the original affidavit of registration, he may make the comparison required by Section 5902 of this code at any time prior to the canvass of absent voter ballots. If after delivering or mailing any ballot the clerk shall determine upon making the comparison required that the applicant was not entitled to a ballot, he shall make a notation of such fact upon the identification envelope if and when the same is received, which shall call the attention of the election board and make possible the interposing of a challenge.

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolution was offered:

By Messrs. Bashore, Heisinger, Erwin, Lowrey, Denny, Burns, Guthrie, Weybret, Hastain, Leonard, Clarke, and Thorp:

House Resolution No. 168

Relating to foot and mouth disease in imported cattle

WHEREAS, A joint committee of this Legislature has in hearings relating to the shortage of meat in California received expert testimony that if Argentine cattle were to be imported into the United States, such importation would be practically certain to result in outbreaks of the foot and mouth disease among California and other American cattle; and

WHEREAS, Such importation, instead of increasing the meat supply in the United States would, by destruction of the American cattle supply, decrease the total amount available and subject the people of this Country to the possible harmful effects of eating diseased meat; and

WHEREAS, The Bureau of Animal Industry of the United States Department of Agriculture through Dr. S. C. Fladness undertook an investigation of the situation in Argentina with respect to the prevalence of the foot and mouth disease about a year ago, and has apparently made a report on the situation to the Department of Agriculture; and

WHEREAS, The officers of this State charged with the administration of laws designed to protect the people and animals of this State against the foot and mouth disease have made appropriate efforts to obtain that report or the results thereof and despite the legitimate interest of the people of this Country in the results of this report it has thus far been unavailable; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That in order to protect the livestock of this Country, its food supply and its general economy, the Members of the Congress of the United States from California be and they are hereby requested to demand a copy of this report so that there shall be no secrecy upon a matter that is so vital to the well-being of every man, woman and child in this Country, and if such demand fails to make the report available that the Congress of the United States by and through its appropriate committees subpoena Dr. S. C. Fladness to testify as to the results of his investigation of the foot and mouth disease situation in Argentina, and any other country from which the Federal Administration proposed to import cattle; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to each Senator and Member of the House of Representatives from California in the Congress of the United States.

Resolution read, and referred to Committee on Rules and House Functions.

319.2. The labels for horse meat or horse meat food products thereof shall be printed on light green paper, and shall bear the words "Horse Meat" or "Horse Meat Product."

Sec. 4. Section 319.3 is added to the Agricultural Code, to read:

319.3. All horse meat or horse meat products sold at retail must be sold from a separate compartment, which shall contain a sign, with letters not less than two inches high, conspicuously placed, marked "Horse Meat."

Any restaurant, hotel, or other place where prepared food is served for consumption on the premises, which serves or sells horse meat or any product thereof, shall state on the menu, or by such other means as is practiced for advising customers of foods available, that horse meat is served there, and no horse meat or horse meat food product shall be served to any customer who is not advised that it is horse meat.

Sec. 5. Section 319.4 is added to the Agricultural Code, to read.

319.4. Any retail butcher or other person who sells any horse meat contrary to the provisions hereof is guilty of a misdemeanor, and for a second conviction for a violation of the provisions is punishable by a fine of not less than three hundred dollars ($300) or more than one thousand dollars ($1,000), or by imprisonment in the county jail for not less than 90 days or more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

SEC. 6. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health or safety within the meaning of Section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution and shall therefore go into immediate effect. A statement of the facts constituting such necessity is as follows:

Due to the shortage of cattle the sale of horse meat will become commonplace. There are many people who feel strongly against the use of horse meat as a food product, and it is important that these people be not defrauded or misled into purchases not of their choice. There is the further opportunity on the part of dishonest merchants to sell horse meat as a different kind of food product. These evils must be corrected at their inception. Therefore it is imperative that the act go into effect immediately."

Amendments read and adopted.

Bill ordered reprinted and re-engrossed.

THIRD READING OF SENATE BILLS (OUT OF ORDER)

Bill read third time.

Motion to Amend

Mr. Dickey moved the adoption of the following amendments:

Amendment No. 1

In line 1 of the title of the printed bill, as amended, after "act", strike out "to provide for suspending the enforcement of certain"; strike out all of lines 2 and 3; and in line 4, strike out "war", and insert "relating to the relief of gold and silver mining operators, permitting postponement of sales under certain chattel mortgages, mortgages, deeds of trust or contracts of purchase on gold and silver mines and gold and silver mining machinery and equipment, or postponement of forfeitures and terminations under gold and silver mining contracts and leases, regulating appointment of receivers in certain cases, extending the time in which the purchase price may be paid and extending the statute of limitations."

Amendment No. 1a

On page 1 of the printed bill, as amended, strike out lines 9 and 10, and insert "until causes of said distress have been removed by cessation of the war.

This act shall, therefore, be effective until six months after the termination of hostilities between the United States and all nations with which the United States is at war as determined by an act of Congress or proclamation of the President of the United States, or until October 1, 1945, whichever first occurs."

Amendment No. 2

On page 1, line 22, of said bill, as amended, strike out "both," and insert "minimum royalties, or (3) holds the property subject to a mortgage or trust deed or (4) holds gold or silver mining machinery or equipment under contract of sale or subject to chattel mortgage."

Amendment No. 3

On page 3 of said bill, as amended, between lines 8 and 9, insert

"SEC. 5. Subject to the limitations as to time provided in Section 1 hereof, any operator of gold or silver mining property who has ceased operating pursuant to the restrictions imposed on gold or silver mining by the United States, and who is in danger of forfeiture under any of the instruments named in Section 2 hereof, may file a petition in the superior court of the county in which such gold or silver mining property or machinery or equipment or the major portion thereof is situated, praying for an order postponing the sale of such property or machinery and equipment, or prevention of forfeiture under the instruments set forth in Section 2 hereof.

SEC. 6. A copy of such petition shall be served upon the trustee and the beneficiary under such deed of trust, upon the mortgagee under such mortgage upon the lessor in a lease providing for payment of minimum royalties and upon the holder of the contract of sale or chattel mortgage on machinery and equipment or the obligee in any contract mentioned in Section 2 hereof, as the case may be, in the manner provided by law for the service of summons in a civil action.

A notice of pendency of such petition shall immediately be recorded in each county in which any of such property is situated, and on the day of such recordation a copy thereof shall be mailed, postage prepaid, from a post office within this State, addressed to such trustee and beneficiary, such mortgagee, or the holder of the contract of sale or chattel mortgage on machinery and equipment, or upon the lessor in a lease providing for payment of minimum royalties or the obligee in any contract mentioned in Section 2 hereof, as the case may be, at their respective places of residence, if known to petitioner, if not, then at the county seat of the county, or at the city and county, where the proceeding is pending.

Such notice of pendency shall state the name of the petitioner, the nature of the petition, and the book and page of the records of the county recorder in which the mortgage or deed of trust or other instrument is recorded.

SEC. 7. Upon application of the petitioner, after service of such petition, or upon application of any other interested party after the filing of the petition, a hearing shall be had thereon within 20 days after such application, upon such notice as the court shall reasonably prescribe; provided, however, that the court if it finds equitable grounds therefor, may postpone such hearing for not to exceed 10 days.

After the filing of such petition and the recording and mailing of the notice of the pendency thereof as provided in Sections 5 and 6 of this act, no sale under the power of sale conferred by such deed of trust or such mortgage or other instrument shall be held nor shall any forfeiture be effected under any of the instruments set forth in Section 2 hereof until the court makes its order in the matter, but nothing herein contained shall prevent such sale or forfeiture at any time after October 1, 1945, or six months after termination of the war, whichever shall first occur.

SEC. 8. Upon such hearing the court may make its order, if it finds equitable grounds for relief, and finds that the security will not be unreasonably jeopardized thereby, ordering that such sale shall not be held or forfeiture declared until after such date as the court considers just and equitable, but in no event shall such date be beyond October 1, 1945, or six months after termination of the war, whichever first occurs, or may make its order dismissing such proceedings.

If the court orders the sale or forfeiture postponed it shall determine the reasonable value of the income from such property, or if the property has no income, then the reasonable rental value of such property, or if the property is unimproved, a reasonable sum to be paid by the trustor or mortgagor, or holder under other instrument set forth in Section 2 hereof, as determined by the court, and by such order shall require the trustor or mortgagor to pay all or at least a reasonable part of such income, rental value, or sum so determined by the court, in or toward the payment of taxes, insurance, interest, or principal of the indebtedness at such times and in such manner as are determined to be just and equitable under the circumstances.

SEC. 9. The court must include in such order provisions requiring maintenance and repair by the trustor or mortgagor, or holder under other instrument set forth in Section 2 hereof, regulating the disposition of any income from the property and such other provisions as it deems just and equitable for the protection of the security, but in no event shall the court order the payment by the trustor or mortgagor or holder under other instrument set forth in Section 2 hereof of a lesser sum than necessary to pay (a) current taxes, (b) all delinquent taxes, except that such taxes may be paid in installments as may be provided by law, and (c) any insurance premiums required to be paid by the petitioner under the contract between the parties.

SEC. 10. When any mortgage or deed of trust upon property, or upon machinery and equipment attached to or used in operating gold or silver mining property or other instrument, has been foreclosed, and the property covered thereby has been sold in whole or in part under decree of foreclosure, and the period of redemption has not yet expired, the mortgagor or trustor thereof, or holder under other instrument set forth in Section 2 hereof, having the right of redemption, may at any time not later than October 1, 1945, or six months after termination of the war, whichever first occurs, file a petition in the superior court of the county in which the property so sold or the major portion thereof is situated, praying for an order extending such period of redemption.

SEC. 11. A copy of such petition shall be served upon the purchaser of such property at the foreclosure sale, or, if there has been a redemption, upon the last redemptioner, in the manner provided by law for the service of summons in a civil action.

A notice of pendency of such petition shall immediately be recorded in each county in which any of such property is situated, and, on the day of such recordation, a copy thereof shall be mailed, postage prepaid, from a post office within this State, addressed to such purchaser or last redemptioner, as the case may be, at his place of residence, if known to petitioner, if not, then at the county seat of the county, or at the city and county, where the proceeding is pending.

Such notice of pendency shall state the name of the petitioner, the nature of the petition, and the book and page of the records of the county recorder in which the mortgage or deed of trust or other instrument is recorded.

SEC. 12. Upon application of the petitioner after service of such petition, or upon application of any other interested party, after the filing of the petition, a hearing shall be had thereon within 20 days after such application, upon such notice as the court shall reasonably prescribe; provided, however that the court, if it finds equitable grounds therefor, may postpone such hearing for not to exceed 10 days.

Upon the filing of such petition and the recording and mailing of the notice of pendency thereof as provided in Sections 10 and 11 of this act, the period of redemption, if such period would sooner terminate, shall be extended until 10 days after the court makes its order in the matter, but in no event beyond October 1, 1945, or six months after termination of the war, whichever first occurs.

SEC. 13. Upon such hearing the court may make its order, if it finds equitable grounds for relief and finds that the security will not be unreasonably jeopardized thereby, extending such period of redemption for such additional time as the court considers just and equitable, but in no event beyond October 1, 1945, or six months after termination of the war, whichever first occurs, or may make its order dismissing such proceeding.

If the court by its order extends the period of redemption, it shall determine the reasonable value of the income from such property, or if the property has no income, then the reasonable rental value of such property, or if the property is unimproved, a reasonable sum to be paid by the operator as determined by the court.

The court shall require the operator to pay all or at least a reasonable part of such income, rental value, or sum so determined by the court, in or toward the payment of taxes upon such property, the cost of insurance and the sums to which the purchaser of such property at such foreclosure sale, or the last redemptioner, as the case may be, is entitled under the provisions of Section 707 of the Code of Civil Procedure, at such times and in such manner determined to be just and equitable under the circumstances.

SEC. 14. The court may include in such order provisions requiring maintenance and repair by the operator, regulating the disposition of any income from the property, and such other provisions as it deems just and equitable for the protection of the interest and security of the purchaser or last redemptioner, as the case may be.

In no event shall the court order the payment by the operator of a lesser sum than the greater of (1) the amount of such reasonable value of the income, or such reasonable rental value, or such reasonable sum so determined by the court, or (2) a sum sufficient to pay (a) current taxes, (b) all delinquent taxes, except that such taxes may be paid in installment as provided by law, and (c) a sum reasonably necessary for fire and other insurance upon any improvement upon such property.

SEC. 15. Any sums paid to a purchaser or redemptioner pursuant to Sections 13 or 14 of this act shall be a credit upon the redemption money to be paid as provided in Section 707 of the Code of Civil Procedure; but in the event no redemption is made, the same shall belong to such purchaser or redemptioner.

SEC. 16. Nothing in this act shall be construed as abridging or limiting the statutory right of redemption provided in Sections 701, 702, 703, 704, 705, 706 and 707 of the Code of Civil Procedure, or as shortening the period of redemption as therein provided, or as altering the mode or procedure for redemption as therein provided.

SEC. 17. In any decree rendered prior to October 1, 1945, foreclosing a mortgage or deed of trust upon real property, the court may provide that the sale of the property shall not be held until on or after such date as the court considers just and equitable, but in no event later than October 1, 1945. If the court provides in such decree that the sale shall not be held until on or after such date as it shall fix, it shall determine the reasonable value of the income from such property, or if the property has no income, then the reasonable rental value of such property, or if the property is unimproved, a reasonable sum to be paid by the trustor or mortgagor or holder under other instrument set forth in Section 2 hereof, as determined by the court, and shall require the trustor or mortgagor or holder under other instrument set forth in Section 2 hereof to pay all or at least a reasonable part of such income, rental value, or sum so determined by the court, in or toward the payment of taxes, insurance, interest, or principal of the indebtedness at such times and in such manner determined to be just and equitable under the circumstances. The court may include in such order provisions requiring maintenance and repair regulating the disposition of any income from the property, and such other provisions as it deems just and equitable for the protection of the security.

After such hearing the court, if it shall determine that it is equitable and just so to do and that the security will not be unreasonably jeopardized thereby, may make its order postponing to a date not later than October 1, 1945, or six months after termination of the war, whichever shall first occur, the foreclosure, termination or forfeiture of the petitioners' interest under such contract of purchase on substantially the same terms and conditions as those prescribed in Sections 5, 6, 7, 8 and 9 of this act, or the court may make its order dismissing such proceeding.

SEC. 18. If the trustor, mortgagor or purchaser under a contract of purchase commits waste or defaults in any payment or act required by order or decree of court, the court, unless good excuse therefor is shown, shall order that the sale, foreclosure, termination or forfeiture postponed by its order or decree proceed as provided by law, or that the period of redemption extended by its order or decree shall expire on the making of its order or within the time provided by law, whichever shall last occur, and that the moneys to be paid on redemption, if theretofore reduced, be increased to the extent of such previous reduction, if it finds after hearing upon such notice to the original petitioner or his attorney as it prescribes, that there has been such waste or such default, unless good excuse therefor is shown, amounting to a material breach of the order or decree of postponement or extension.

Sec. 19. No suit or action shall be commenced against the guarantor of any note secured by a mortgage or deed of trust upon gold or silver mining properties property, or upon chattels attached to or used in connection with gold or silver mining property, in any case while, pursuant to the provisions of this act, no sale may be made under any power of sale contained in such mortgage or deed of trust or while no sale may be made under the final decree of foreclosure rendered in an action to foreclose such mortgage.

Sec. 20. No sale shall be made under any decree of foreclosure, of, or under any power of sale contained in, any chattel mortgage upon any personal property located in and used in connection with the operation of any building located upon gold or silver mining property, until on or after such date as a sale of such gold or silver mining property is lawfully held under such mortgage, deed of trust, or contract of purchase, when such chattel mortgage was given as additional security for an obligation also secured by a deed of trust, mortgage, or contract of purchase, on such real property or other instrument mentioned in Section 2 hereof.

Sec. 21. Whenever the time within which an action may be commenced upon any obligation founded upon a written instrument secured by chattel mortgage, mortgage, deed of trust or contract of purchase, or founded upon any guarantee of such obligation or any contract of suretyship therefor or any endorsement of such instrument, would expire by virtue of Section 337 of the Code of Civil Procedure, or any other provision of law, during the period commencing with the effective date of this act and ending on the date upon which this act shall cease to be in effect, with respect to any property or chattel relating to which a petition has been filed under this act, such time is hereby extended so as not to expire until December 31, 1945, or nine months after cessation of the war, whichever shall first occur.

Sec. 22. Nothing contained in this act shall apply to or be deemed to affect:

(a) Any mortgage, deed of trust, lease agreement, operating agreement or contract of sale upon gold or silver mining property, or upon chattels attached to real property, executed after the effective date of this act.

(b) Any mortgage or deed of trust while held and owned by the original lender securing any loan made by the United States Government or any agency thereof on any loan insured by the United States Government or any agency thereof; and any judgment entered in favor of, or any sheriff's or commissioner's certificate of sale issued to the United States Government or any agency thereof in an action to foreclose any such mortgage or deed or trust;

(c) Any mortgage or deed of trust securing an obligation in default at the time the owner or owners acquired title by purchase subsequent to the effective date of this act.

Sec. 23. As used in this act:

(a) The terms "mortgagor," "mortgagee," "trustor," "trustee," "purchaser," "vendor," "lessee," and "guarantor" shall include their personal representatives, assigns or successors in interest, and the singular shall include the plural.

(b) The term "trustee" shall also include the beneficiary of a deed of trust.

(c) As used in this act, the term "chattels attached to mining property," or similar designation, includes anything which is deemed affixed or attached to land, or as forming part of the land.

(d) The term "mining" means gold or silver mining.

(e) The term "real property" means gold or silver mining property.

(f) The term "operator" includes all persons, firms or corporations engaged in gold or silver mining operations.

(g) "Machinery" and "equipment" shall mean "gold or silver mining machinery" and "equipment."

Sec. 24. Nothing contained in this act shall preclude any trustor under a deed of trust or any mortgagor of chattels or any mortgagor under a mortgage or any purchaser under a contract for the purchase of real property, or chattels attached to real property, from executing and delivering at any time a deed to his beneficiary, mortgagee or vendor, or the purchaser at any foreclosure sale or a redemption, as the case may be, and the execution and delivery of any such deed by any such trustor, mortgagor or purchaser shall constitute a waiver of the benefit of all the provisions of this act. The failure on the part of any trustor, mortgagor or purchaser or operator to file a petition within the times specified in this act, shall be deemed a waiver of the benefit of the provisions of this act.

Sec. 25. Any sale of property under a chattel mortgage, or of real property, or of chattels attached to real property, under a deed of trust, mortgage, or chattel mortgage, and any forfeiture made in violation of this act shall be voidable, except as against a bona fide purchaser or encumbrancer for value, at the instance of the record owner of such real or personal property at the time of such sale, or the operator at the time of such forfeiture; provided, that any action to avoid such sale or any deed executed pursuant thereto must be brought within one year of the date of such sale.

Sec. 26. There shall be no filing fees for the filing of any document with the county clerk under the provisions of this act.

Sec. 27. Until October 1, 1945, or six months after termination of the war, whichever shall first occur, no receiver shall be appointed at the instance of the mortgagee of any mortgage or the trustee or beneficiary of any deed of trust, with respect to real property or chattels attached to real property subject to mortgage or deed of trust, except in a suit or action for the foreclosure of such mortgage or deed of trust or for the enforcement of the covenants, or any thereof, contained in such mortgage or deed of trust, or in a proceeding ancillary to any such suit or action, or until after recording notice of default.

Sec. 28. If any section, clause or part of this act, or the application thereof to any person or circumstance, is finally determined by the courts to be unconstitutional such section, clause or part shall no longer be effective or such application shall no longer control, but all other sections, clauses or parts or the application thereof to other persons and circumstances shall continue in full force and effect; it being the intent of the Legislature to make this act as effective as possible to relieve operators in the manner herein provided.

Sec. 29. Whenever any petition under this act is to be or is being heard by the court, the interested parties may submit to the court, in writing, a composition of the indebtedness involved in the proceeding, or a compromise settlement of the proceeding, and the court shall have jurisdiction and may by its order confirm and approve such composition or settlement.

Sec. 30. Nothing contained herein shall be construed as affecting any rights which have accrued under Chapter 1, Statutes of the Extra Session of 1934, or shorten the time within which any action may be commenced.

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR

GOVERNOR'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO, April 7, 1943

*To the Honorable Members of the Assembly
State of California, Sacramento, California*

GREETINGS: I am returning herewith, without my signature, Assembly Bill No. 455, entitled, "An act to amend Section 3024 of the Penal Code, relating to minimum sentences of imprisonment."

My objections to this bill are as follows:

This bill provides that the minimum terms of sentence and imprisonment for a person armed with a deadly weapon shall not apply to persons convicted of violating Section 245 of the Penal Code; that section makes it a felony for any person to commit an assault with a deadly weapon or by means of force likely to produce great bodily injury. In my opinion, this is no time to lend any encouragement whatsoever to those who would arm themselves for the purpose of committing crime. At the present time there is an upsurge in crimes of violence in many parts of the State, and this upsurge is properly causing a great deal of concern in view of the necessity for protecting our many war industries from sabotage and the workers in those industries from injury.

Furthermore, the ranks of police departments and sheriffs' offices have been decimated by the demands made by Selective Service, through enlistment in the armed forces, and through acceptance of employment in war industry plant protection systems. These departments and offices are struggling to keep people and property safe in their communities and in my opinion this measure would make their task infinitely more difficult.

In addition, it is manifestly inequitable to relieve a man who armed himself with, and used a deadly weapon, from the penalty of serving a minimum sentence, while a person who committed a crime not involving violence but armed with a deadly weapon which he did not use, is required to serve a minimum sentence. The person who arms himself with a deadly weapon and commits an assault with that weapon is not deserving of the leniency extended by this bill.

The author has assured me that he did not intend by the measure to accomplish any such result as that to which I have above referred and has requested me to withhold my approval of the bill.

Respectfully submitted.

EARL WARREN, Governor

GOVERNOR'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO, April 7, 1943

*To the Honorable Members of the Assembly
State of California, Sacramento, California*

GREETINGS: I am returning herewith, without my signature, Assembly Bill No. 706, entitled, "An act to amend Section 1066 of, and to add Section 1066 5 to, the Agricultural Code, relative to economic poisons and thallium salts."

My objections to this bill are as follows:

The purpose of the bill is to allow the possession of thallium salts, a poison, by research and chemical laboratories and to permit the sale of the poison by registered manufacturers and dealers for use in any poisons containing limited quantities of thallium. However, the language of the bill is susceptible of the construction that manufacturers and dealers are entitled to possess, use, and sell thallium salts without restriction or limitation as to quantity or purpose. In my opinion, it would be dangerous to have the law in such uncertainty.

The foregoing objection has been brought to the attention of the author of the bill, who states that he has another bill by which the purpose of this measure may be accomplished.

Respectfully submitted.

EARL WARREN, Governor of California

GOVERNOR'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO, April 5, 1943

*To the Honorable Members of the Assembly
State of California, Sacramento, California*

GREETINGS: I am returning herewith, without my signature, Assembly Bill No. 464, entitled "An act to amend Section 2920 of the Penal Code, relating to credits and terms of imprisonment."

My objections to this bill are as follows:

The bill provides that time credits allowed to a prisoner in a State prison shall be deducted from the end of his term rather than from each year of his sentence. The bill also deletes the present definition of "term of confinement" which provides that, as to a prisoner serving time for a crime committed while under sentence, time credits must be computed on the separate term imposed for such subsequent conviction, and substitutes a provision (the last sentence in the measure) that "term of imprisonment" shall include the entire period from the prisoner's arrival at the prison to his final discharge "on any and all sentences for which he is undergoing imprisonment."

The application of this measure in practice would result in the following anomalous situation: One prisoner, with no previous criminal record, is received at prison and his sentence is fixed at five years. Under both the existing law and this bill he would earn time credits aggregating 17 months, completing his term after having actually served 43 months. Another prisoner, having been released on parole after serving four years and having been convicted of a second felony, committed while on parole, is received at the same time, at the same prison, and his sentence is also fixed at five years, to run concurrently with the previously imposed sentence. Under this bill, because he would be entering the fifth year of his "term of imprisonment," he would earn time credits at the rate of five months per year from the date of his return to the prison, such credits would aggregate 25 months during his sentence, and he would complete his term in only 35 months, being released eight months earlier than the first offender. In my opinion this would be an unconscionable thing to do.

It seems to me both unwise from the viewpoint of society, and unfair from the standpoint of the prisoner, that the provisions of this bill should become the law of the State.

The author has assured me that he did not intend by the measure to accomplish any such result as that to which I have above referred and has requested me to withhold my approval of the bill.

Respectfully submitted.

EARL WARREN, Governor

By Speaker Lyon:

The following communication was received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

GOVERNOR'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO, April 7, 1943

*Hon. Frederick F. Houser, Acting Governor of California
State Capitol, Sacramento, California*

DEAR GOVERNOR HOUSER: Only absence from the State prevents my joining with you in the privilege of extending official greetings to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sullivan and daughter Genevieve. If opportunity affords itself, I would appreciate your expressing these few thoughts in my behalf.

All America is drawing from the story of service and sacrifice of the Sullivan family that solemn inspiration which rises in all free men when the depths of their sympathy have been stirred.

From the example which this wonderful family has afforded we draw both strength and confidence—strength from the understanding and fortitude of a mother and father who have laid the costly sacrifice of five sons on the altar of freedom—confidence that such understanding of the worthiness of the cause for which we fight can lead to naught but eventual victory over the evil forces which have exacted such a toll.

California is proud to have these few moments to honor you and those whom you have loved and lost. It cherishes with you the memory of those five brave boys who gave their all in our struggle to preserve man's freedom. It is proud that its workers have been privileged to build and launch a ship which will honor and keep alive in battles to come the name and memory of each of those boys. And, it is doubly proud of this opportunity to honor the mother whose simple admonition to all is "my boys told me to keep my chin up." Our Nation leans heavily upon such fortitude, Mrs. Sullivan, and it is grateful for your example.

Sincerely,

EARL WARREN, Governor

OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL

STATE CAPITOL, SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, April 8, 1943

Honorable Charles W. Lyon, Speaker of the Assembly Assembly Chamber, State Capitol, Sacramento, California

DEAR MR. SPEAKER: This is in response to a request for an opinion whether Assembly Standing Rule No. 79 applies to the following facts:

A certain committee met and transacted certain of its business with a quorum present and continued for a time without a quorum.

At its next meeting, this committee had no quorum present.

It is proposed to sign out one of the measures previously referred to this committee.

In the absence of an official interpretation by way of a ruling by the presiding officer or by the House (we have found no such ruling) we interpret Rule No. 79 as inapplicable to these facts, and as not authorizing the signing out of a bill under the circumstances indicated.

The question whether, at either meeting, the bill proposed to be signed out was heard or scheduled for hearing, or not, seems quite immaterial. If, at either meeting, there was a quorum, the question how long the quorum lasted seems immaterial under Rule 79.

In the situation indicated, some other rule, such as Rule 58 or Rule 91, not 79, seems applicable.

Very truly yours,

FRED B. WOOD, Legislative Counsel

“White Captain of my soul, lead on;
I follow Thee, come dark or dawn,
Only vouchsafe three things I crave;
Where terror stalks, help me be brave!
Where righteous ones can scarce endure
The siren call, help me be pure!
Where vows grow dim, and men dare do
What once they scorned, help me be true!”

However, the foregoing limitation shall not deny the right of the industrial loan company to contract for charge and receive in addition thereto all moneys expended by it for necessary notary fees, publication charges, statutory fees to any public officer, for witnessing, acknowledging, publishing, filing, recording or releasing any instrument executed in connection with any loan transaction; the cost of insurance to protect the interest of either the borrower or lender or both, on any real or personal property offered as security for said loan; provided, such insurance is sold at standard rates through a duly licensed insurance agent; court costs and reasonable attorneys' fees where legal action is brought against a defaulting debtor; and the bona fide expenses actually incurred and paid by the industrial loan company, not exceeding 10 per cent of the unpaid principal balance of the loan where no action at law is brought, in the enforcing and collecting of a delinquent loan.

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR

GOVERNOR'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO, April 7, 1943

*To the Honorable Members of the Assembly
State of California, Sacramento, California*

GREETINGS: I am returning herewith, without my signature, Assembly Bill No. 473, entitled: "An act to amend Sections 2708, 2709 and 2877 of the Penal Code, relating to the sale of prison-made goods".

My objections to this bill are as follows:

The result of the bill would be to legalize the purchase by officers and employees of State institutions of articles of handwork produced by prisoners at State prisons. The bill would not only open the way to the victimizing of prisoners by those in whose custody they are, but it is also subversive of good discipline. There can be no sound reason why prison employees and prisoners should have any personal transactions between them, and any authorization for them to have such transactions would inevitably result in the destruction of morale of prisoners who are not on an equal footing with the prison employees. While we expect the latter to be humane and considerate of the welfare of the prisoners who are in their custody, they should at all times remain at arm's length and not indulge in any relationship that might bring about friction, misunderstanding or familiarity. Because of the status of the respective parties it is impossible for the prisoner and the guard to deal at arm's length, and there is no good reason why prison officials should be permitted to deal with the inmate personnel in any business transaction involving sale or barter of goods made by the latter. There is every good reason why they should not be permitted to do so.

The author has assured me that he did not intend by the measure to accomplish any such result as that to which I have above referred and has requested me to withhold my approval of the bill.

Respectfully submitted.

EARL WARREN, Governor

GOVERNOR'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO, April 7, 1943

To the Members of the Assembly

GREETINGS: I am transmitting, herewith, copies of the reports received by me from members of the Citizens Committee on Old Age Pensions which I appointed on February 17th to study and report on the pension problem as it now confronts California.

This committee, comprised of 17 men selected by organizations with a known interest in the pension problem, has filed a majority and a minority report. In addition, several members have submitted additional reports in regard to certain aspects of the problem.

All of these I am transmitting with the hope that they will prove helpful in your deliberations. The substantial majority of the committee has agreed that the amount of the pension should be increased to fifty dollars ($50) per month. This recommendation was made after mature consideration, and it is my belief that it is a recommendation worthy of full consideration by the Legislature.

It was not my expectation in the naming of a committee so pronouncedly representative of the cross-section of the pension viewpoint in the State that they should be unanimous in their agreement on all aspects of the problem. I believe you will be encouraged however to learn the number of points in which there was almost unanimous agreement, and it is my hope that all such nearly unanimous recommendations will be given your careful consideration.

In transmitting these recommendations to you, I do so with the knowledge that they do not contain a final solution of the problem, for the issue of old age security will never be finally solved until there is a National old age pension which disregards State boundaries. It is my hope, however, that from out of your analysis of the recommendations of this committee will come action which will constitute an improvement in the situation which now prevails.

Respectfully,

SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, MARCH 31, 1943

*The Honorable Earl Warren, Governor of California
Sacramento, California*

DEAR GOVERNOR WARREN: Your Committee on Old Age Pensions, which you appointed in late February, begs leave to submit herewith its report.

Sessions of the committee were held in Sacramento on February 25th; in San Francisco on March 2d and 3d; in Los Angeles on March 11th and 12th; and in Sacramento on March 17 and 18, 1943. A concluding meeting was held in Sacramento on March 30, 1943, to review the findings of the committee and to approve its report.

The data employed by the committee were derived from six principal sources:

First, public hearings were arranged in each one of the cities where our sessions were held. The equivalent of three days' time was devoted to those who wished to present their oral views to the committee.

Second, many scores of letters and pension programs were reviewed by the committee. These were referred to a subcommittee for study in order that the subcommittee might give the benefit of its analysis and conclusions to the parent committee.

Third, the various State departments were of real assistance. The Department of Finance, the Attorney General's Office, and the Department of Social Welfare all made themselves available to your committee and answered innumerable questions at every session.

Fourth, the welfare directors of several of the principal counties of the State attended our meetings and answered inquiries of the committee out of their wide personal experience.

Fifth, the Federal Social Security Board was represented at a number of our meetings to interpret the status of the Federal Act and its relation to the California Old Age Security Law.

Sixth, the research staffs of the California Taxpayers' Association and the State Chamber of Commerce, as well as of the Department of Social Welfare, provided the committee with much indispensable statistical and factual material.

In addition to those State departments and organizations already mentioned, invitations to attend our sessions were extended to such bodies as the California Real Estate Association, State Supervisors Association, Property Owners Association of California, Bureau of Public Administration of University of California, the general managers of our larger Chambers of Commerce, and others.

The personnel of our committee represents widely divergent viewpoints. Many of them have devoted a great deal of time to the general problem of old age assistance and in some instances they represent particular programs of old age pensions. Others of the committee come from the ranks of agriculture, labor, business and the professions. Still another group comes from both houses of our own State Legislature. As a result there is some divergence of views both as to the philosophy behind the idea of old age assistance and as to the best and most practical methods of meeting those needs of our aged citizens. However our committee is unanimous in recognizing the need.

The factual data presented to the committee were comprehensive and were considered to be adequate to arrive at recommendations.

The committee did not consider the study of revenue of the State to be in its purview.

The committee adopted in its parliamentary procedure a rule that a majority of the committee voting at any meeting would be necessary in order to make a recommendation effective with the further proviso that not less than nine members of the committee shall have indicated their concurrence in the final report. A minority report, dissenting as to certain items, is included.

Recommendations approved by a majority of the committee follow.

We trust that this report may prove to be of use to you as Governor and to the Legislature as they seek to solve this most persistent and perplexing problem.

Faithfully yours,

RALPH T. FISHER

I—INTRODUCTION

A—Creation of Committee and Scope of Work

The Governor indicated the scope of the committee when he publicly announced the appointment of the committee on February 17, 1943. The statement is as follows:

Every thinking person must realize that old age security is our most fundamental social problem and that an industrial system which arbitrarily rules out productive employment because of age and irrespective of fitness must provide an honorable means of livelihood in lieu thereof.

This principle cuts across local and state lines and recognizes that the problem can only be finally and satisfactorily solved on a national basis and then not on the basis of charity but as a matter of right.

Here in the progressive State of California, which has always been first in such matters, we must remain ever zealous in our search for betterments which point toward ultimate solution. We must permit no circumstances to arise which mar the benefits now afforded. We must realize that with the increased cost of living, people cannot maintain themselves on $40 per month. Whatever the amount fixed by the Legislature, we must see that it is distributed to those entitled thereto in a manner free from needless red tape and humiliating delay. It must be distributed in a manner reflecting the cheerful willingness and concern of a warm-hearted State.

The committee now being appointed, constituting as it does a cross-section of the pension thought of the State, should be able to eliminate those political considerations which have so often confused discussions of pension matters and not only initiate immediate reforms within our present abilities but also bring us nearer the day of final solution of the problem. It is with hope and expectation that I have called into service the committee which is now launching its study.

The chairman of the committee subsequently received the following letter from the Governor which further commented on the scope of the committee:

FEBRUARY 25, 1943

Mr. Ralph T. Fisher, Chairman, Citizens Committee on Old Age Pensions Sacramento, California

DEAR MR. FISHER: I desire to thank you for your gracious acceptance of the chairmanship of my Citizens Committee on Old Age Pensions. It is both an important and a difficult assignment but I know that your experience and ability to approach involved problems in a fair and judicial manner will make it possible for you to lead the committee in formulating a sound pension program for our State.

It is not necessary, I presume, for me to say to you that the committee, as constituted, represents a wide divergence of opinion concerning both the present needs and the ultimate solution of the old age security question. However I believe that the members, selected as they were by groups interested in the problem, will make an earnest effort to reconcile these differences, at least to a degree that will bring forth a sound program based upon present conditions, including our relationship with the Federal Government. They will do this, I trust, in a sincere effort to improve the present condition of our senior citizens and to pave the way for the ultimate solution of the problem.

It seems to me that there are at least four fields for exploration by the committee.

First: The sufficiency of the present pension

Second: The reasonableness of administrative practices for the present system.

Third: The basic question of qualification for pension.

Fourth: Forward looking legislation expressing California's objectives and committing the State to immediate action if and when the Federal Government will authorize it under its Social Security legislation.

In the consideration of these subjects, it seems to me that, although California has gone as far as any of the States up to the present time, we must give full consideration to the continuing advance in the cost of living and to the fact that people can not now live on $40 a month.

It also seems to me that, whatever the pension amount may be, in this day when manpower is so badly needed, no one should be opposed to its being augmented with such earnings as might be derived through part-time employment.

There is another opinion which I am prompted to express as a result of my observations and that is that to deny a pension to a thrifty senior citizen who has accumulated a home and a modest amount of other property (insufficient to maintain himself) is not only doing an injustice to that individual but is, generally speaking, putting a penalty on thrift and a premium on improvidence.

I also believe that the ultimate solution of our problem is a National pension system that will cut across state lines and be uniform in its application throughout the country.

Improvement can undoubtedly be made in present administrative practices involving as they do any excessive amount of time in the granting of a pension in the first instance and in re-establishing the right after temporary surrender, as well as bureaucratic practices humiliating to the recipient. These practices call for a reexamination looking forward to corrections. I realize that some of these defects can not be remedied by the State of California alone but, where such is the case, it would seem to be reasonable that the State should declare its policy and encourage the Federal Government to do likewise. We should, I believe, through legislation, declare our readiness to act if and when the Federal Government, through Act of Congress, authorizes similar action throughout the Nation.

I have expressed my views for the purpose of indicating to you what I had in mind in creating the committee. I do not intend thereby to limit the scope of your inquiry and trust that you will take any further action that, in your opinion, will tend toward a solution of our old age problem, which, in my opinion, is the greatest social problem of the day.

Inasmuch as there are conditions calling for immediate remedy, I trust that the committee will be able to report at a sufficiently early date to assist the present Legislature in the formulation of necessary legislation.

Again assuring you and the members of the committee of my appreciation of the valued public service which I am sure you will all render, I am, with best wishes,

Sincerely,

EARL WARREN, Governor

B—Present Status of Aged Assistance

In its briefest form the present system of old age assistance in California is as follows:

Any qualified citizen 65 years of age with five years' out of nine years' residence in the State, whose personal property does not exceed $500 in value and whose real property is not assessed at over $3,000, may receive up to $40 per month on what is known as the flat-payment plan; or may receive under the so-called "budget plan," income from other sources up to the amount of his actual needs. Under the latter plan the public contribution is limited to a maximum of $40 per month as in plan number one, but income from other sources may be enjoyed without penalty of deduction up to the amount of the individual budget. Plan one has been in operation for several years past; plan two was made available beginning only last October (1942). Of the amount allowed in each case, the Federal Government contributes 50 per cent up to a maximum of $20, plus certain administrative expenses. The State and county contribute the balance, share and share alike.

II—SUMMARY OF RECOMMENDATIONS

1. A need exists for an increase in amount of assistance, and it is recommended that the amount of grant should be increased from $40 to $50 per month, to take effect as soon as possible, the State to assume the additional cost of this $10 increase.
2. Outside income should be allowed without deduction up to an amount which, added to the public assistance, does not exceed $75 per month, and up to this amount budgetary statements should not be required. However, since this recommendation was voted, the Federal Social Security Board through its executive director, Oscar M. Powell, has declared the recommendation to be inconsistent with the Federal Social Security Act.
3. Property eligibility should be amended to allow possession of real property in which the assessed value of the property does not exceed $3,500 (in place of the present limit of $3,000), in cases where a man and wife live together. Also, the code should be amended at this point to make allowances for those occasional cases where property is assessed at over $3,000 (or $3,500 for man and wife), but where encumbrances on such property operate to reduce the owner's actual equity therein to less than $3,000 (or $3,500 for man and wife). Upon the death of either husband or wife where they have jointly possessed real property assessed at between $3,000 and $3,500, the survivor should be allowed a period of one year to make the necessary adjustment to conform to the limit permitted for a single recipient of aged assistance. Personal property limit should be increased from $500 to $600 per person.
4. A duplicate warrant for a grant should be issued expeditiously when the original has been lost or destroyed.
5. In case of dispute, the confidential file of a person applying for or receiving aid should be open for inspection by either himself or an authorized agent.
6. Responsibility of relatives should be continued with a modification of the scale of contribution to allow for the contributors' increased cost of living and Federal taxes.
7. The present county administration under State supervision should be continued.
8. The statutes should be revised and rules and procedures should be simplified so that applicants for and recipients of aid will not be harassed or humiliated.

9. Medical, dental, and clinical care should be continued as a county expense as provided under existing law.
10. Attorney fees and court costs in case of court decision in favor of a recipient of aid should be borne by the State.
11. No advisory county welfare board should pass upon any application for aid, but it must be passed upon directly by the board of supervisors. Provision should be made to give 30 days' notice to an applicant or recipient to appear and show cause why the board's action is unsatisfactory. The right to appeal to the State Social Welfare Board shall not be impaired.
12. The committee reports the necessity for revision of the Federal Social Security Act as follows: (1) Contributions by the Federal Government to the State, to be on a matching ratio of two to one; (2) Age requirement to be reduced to 60 years; (3) Outside income to be allowed up to $15 per month without deduction; and recommends that Congress be memorialized to that effect.

III—REPORT ON RECOMMENDATIONS

In one of its early meetings the committee adopted a program of items for consideration in subsequent meetings. All members were privileged to and did participate in the adoption of this agenda. The recommendations which are submitted are in conformity with this adopted program.

1. Need for Increase in Amount of Assistance

The committee considered the increase in cost of living as it related to the amount of assistance. It was pointed out that the cost of living has increased from an index of 102.3 in 1940 to 123.9 in January 1943 (Los Angeles Area). It was unanimously agreed that the amount of assistance should be increased above the present $40 flat amount. Consideration of the amount of increase included a range in payment from $45 to $75.

Many members of the committee were committed by previous actions of the groups which they represented to $60 per month.

A large amount of data relating to taxes and the taxpayer's ability to pay for increased governmental expenses was placed before the committee. However, the method of financing an increase in the amount of aid was considered, by the majority of its members, to be outside the purview of the committee.

If all other conditions remain the same, so that the case load would continue at approximately the same level, costs for varying amounts of grants would be as follows:

Biennial Cost of Assistance—State Department of Welfare Estimate
(From Appendix 3)

Amount of total Grant	Cost	Age 65 and Over
		Federal	Distribution State and County
$40	$129,900,000	$61,900,000	$65,000,000
45	150,800,000	67,600,000	83,200,000
50	168,400,000	69,800,000	98,600,000
60	203,600,000	70,200,000	133,400,000

It was noted that the cost of a $50 grant without any increase in case load would be $168,400,000. In view of the fact that the Federal Government now contributes on the basis of its limit of one-half of $40, the increased cost would be placed entirely on the State or the State and counties. The Federal cost would amount to $69,800,000 as compared with a cost to the State and counties of $98,600,000. Since the committee recommends that the additional cost be assumed by the State, the counties cost would continue at $32,500,000 and the State cost would amount to $66,100 00 or an increase of $33,600,000 for the biennium.

Opinion was expressed in the committee that the case load for aged assistance is now declining. All statistical evidence indicated, however, that the present reduction is due to increased employment of persons in the aged group who might otherwise apply for assistance. Also many responsible relatives are now receiving greater earnings so that they are in a position to provide for their parents.

Statistical evidence presented to the committee indicates that the number on assistance may increase substantially after the war and thus increase the cost materially.

A majority voted to increase the grant from $40 to $50

2. Outside Income (Earnings)

Prior to July, 1941, the law provided that recipients of aged assistance could earn and retain income of several types in the amount of not to exceed $15 per month. The Legislature repealed this provision in 1941 at the instance of the Federal Social Security Board.

In September, 1942, the State Social Welfare Board with the consent of the Federal Social Security Board issued a directive which permitted persons on aged assistance to earn and retain certain sums of money provided that a need was demonstrated for the additional amounts. It was required that a budget be developed to show the need in each individual case and a supporting affidavit was required to be signed by the recipient. The Federal Social Security Board has given approval to this procedure on an experimental basis.

It may be of interest to state that in the relatively brief period since October, 1942, some 16,500 individuals or about 9 per cent of the total have elected to adopt the budget procedure.

The committee considered that an extensive use of the budget and affidavit procedure was not without its drawbacks because of the necessity of investigation into the individual's living conditions; and agreed that it would be better to allow persons to earn and retain income which together with the public grant would not exceed $65. It was felt that this latter alternative would encourage industry and thrift on the part of those receiving assistance, would relieve the draft on public funds and would contribute additional manpower in the present emergency. It would likewise improve the living standards of the recipients.

To determine whether such practice would be within the provisions of the Federal Social Security Act, a hypothetical amendment to the California Welfare and Institutions Code was approved by the committee and telegraphed to the Federal Social Security Board in order to get their reaction to the principle involved. The proposed amendment was as follows:

2020. The minimum income per month on the basis of need for the support of any aged person in this State is hereby determined and declared to be sixty-five dollars ($65) per month

The amount of aid to which any applicant shall be entitled shall be that sum, not to exceed forty dollars ($40) per month, which when added to the income (including the value of currently used resources, but excepting casual income and inconsequential resources) of the applicant from all other sources, equals sixty-five dollars ($65) per month. If, however, in any case it is found the actual need of an applicant exceeds sixty-five dollars ($65) per month, such applicant shall be entitled to receive aid in an amount, not to exceed forty dollars ($40) per month, which when added to his income (including the value of currently used resources, but excepting casual income and inconsequential resources) from all other sources, shall equal his actual need.

On March 19th the committee received notice of disapproval from the executive director of the Federal Social Security Board. The telegram is as follows:

MARCH 19, 1943

*Ralph T. Fisher, Chairman
Governor Warren's Committee on Old Age Pensions
306 State Capitol, Sacramento, California*

Proposed amendment of Section 2020 of California Welfare and Institutions Code as quoted your telegram of March 17, 1943, in effect provides for flat assistance payment of $40 per month without regard to individual's income or resources, unless individual's income and resources are in excess of $25 per month. This is because amendment assumes existence of a universal minimum need of $65 per month, which is $25 or approximately 60 per cent higher than maximum grant payable under the law. Any plan developed pursuant to this amendment that would give effect to a universal minimum of need, thus excluding from consideration income and resources up to a specific amount, could not be found by the Social Security Board to be consistent with the act of Congress which requires that all other income and resources of the individual claiming old age assistance be considered in determining his need.

OSCAR M. POWELL

It is assumed that the State can continue (on an experimental basis) the present practice of allowing earnings to be retained when a need is demonstrated. However, the Federal Social Security Board presumably must ultimately approve the procedure or reject it.

The committee went on record as believing the basis of need should be established at $75. However, in view of the decision of the Federal Social Security Board above quoted, no ceiling of "determined need" can become effective under the present Federal law.

3. Property Eligibility

The Welfare and Institutions Code provides that the ownership of real property shall be limited to $3,000 of assessed value. This limitation applies both to a single person (Sec. 2164) and to the combined real property of husband and wife (Sec. 2165). It appears to the committee that the $3,000 limitation for husband and wife may be too stringent and that the limitation might be increased to $3,500 in such cases.

In some instances applicants are denied aid because the assessed value of their property exceeds $3,000 although their equity in such property may be less than $3,000 by reason of the fact that money is owing against it. The committee does not believe that this is the intent of the act.

The Committee Recommends:

(3) The provisions of the code relating to property eligibility should be amended to allow possession of real property in which the assessed value of the property does not exceed $3,500 (in place of the present limit of $3,000), in cases where a man and wife live together. Also, the code should be amended at this point to make allowances for those occasional cases where property is assessed at over $3,000 (or $3,500 for man and wife), but where encumbrances on such property operate to reduce the owner's actual equity therein to less than $3,000 (or $3,500 for man and wife). Upon the death of either husband or wife where they have jointly possessed real property assessed at between $3,000 and $3,500, the survivor should be allowed a period of one year to make the necessary adjustment to conform to the limit permitted for a single recipient of aged assistance. Personal property limit should be increased from $500 to $600 per person. The latter recommendation was transmitted by the Governor and originated with Colonel Archibald Young, Chairman of the State Welfare Board.

4. Issuance of Duplicate Warrants

It has been brought to the attention of the committee that county warrants which are issued for aged assistance are lost occasionally and that statutes regulating counties in the issuance of warrants have provisions which prevent expeditious issuance of duplicate warrants. A long delay in the receipt of assistance in such cases will, of course, work hardship on individuals.

The Committee Recommends:

(4) That the Welfare and Institutions Code be amended to provide an expeditious procedure for the issuance of duplicate warrants by the county auditor.

5. Inspection of Confidential File by Applicant

It was brought to the attention of the committee that the case or confidential file of the applicant or recipient of aid is not always available for his inspection and is not open to the authorized agent of the applicant. The origin of this practice is found in the Federal Social Security Act requiring that all records be kept confidential. The committee believes that it may be essential at times that the individual or his authorized agent examine the files.

The Committee Therefore Recommends:

(5) That the Welfare and Institutions Code be amended to provide that applicant or recipient of aid or his authorized agent be permitted in case of dispute to inspect his case or confidential file.

6. Responsibility of Relatives

The committee inquired into the cost of and social factors relating to full or partial support of aged persons by responsible relatives. The cost of collections from responsible relatives was also analyzed.

At the present time there are about 25,000 cases for which contributions are made by relatives. The contributions to this group average over $9 per case per month and total $5,500,000 per biennium or $2,750,000 per year.

It was developed by the committee that if relatives' responsibility were eliminated many persons not now on assistance could legally apply for and receive aid. Estimates from independent sources indicate that the cost of providing aged assistance to this group would increase the cost by over 15 per cent or $12,000,000 per annum for new cases at the present rate of $40. The total increase would thus be $15,000,000 per year for present and new cases due to the abandonment of relatives' responsibility.

The total cost of administering aged assistance (both State and county) is around $3,000,000 per year. The committee was unable to ascertain what part of this amount was due to the cost of making collections from responsible relatives, but it was agreed by welfare administrators that it was only a fractional part of $3,000,000. The committee concluded that the cost of collections is insignificant in comparison with the increased cost of relieving relatives from responsibility.

The committee inquired into social factors relating to relatives' responsibility but makes no report thereon.

The committee reviewed the relatives' responsibility scale in the Welfare and Institutions Code in the light of increased cost of living and Federal taxes as affecting the contributing relative.

The Committee Recommends:

(6) That the responsibility of relatives be continued, but that the relatives' responsibility scale be modified according to the following schedule. It is believed this will in considerable measure answer present complaints arising from this provision and remove some of the asserted hardships connected with it.

Relatives' Contribution Scale

A. Monthly income of responsible relatives in one family	B. Number of persons dependent upon income
	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10 and over

7. Present Type of Administration to be Continued

The committee examined into the present form of administration of aged assistance wherein the counties are responsible for the administration of aid and the State supervises the counties. Taking everything into account, representatives of the State Social Welfare Board state that the combination of county administration and State supervision is the best procedure.

No factional material was presented which would warrant the committee recommending a change in the form of administration. It appeared that State law and State Department of Welfare rulings were in some part responsible for criticism of county administration. (See 8 following.)

The Committee Recommends:

(7) That the present county administration of assistance under State supervision of counties be continued, but with some relaxation in administrative requirements.

8. Revision of Statutes, Rules, and Regulations

It was related to the committee that the enforcement of the Welfare and Institutions Code together with rules and regulations of the State Social Welfare Board and the counties sometimes exposes applicants or recipients of aid to humiliation and embarrassment. The committee has no sworn testimony on this matter or knowledge of the number of such instances which may have occurred. However, it was apparent that both the law and rules and regulations should be amended so as to decrease the number of points of friction between social workers and recipients of aid.

The Committee Recommends:

(8) That the Welfare and Institutions Code and rules and regulations of both the State Social Welfare Board and the counties be modified.

A subcommittee was appointed to look into and recommend to the committee as a whole on these matters. While the limitations of time prevented the committee as a whole from discussing them to the point of recommending specific action, nevertheless, the committee recognizes that there are many of these items which are entitled to earnest consideration and with that in view a copy of the subcommittee's report is appended in full to this report.

9. Medical, Dental, and Clinical Aid

Analysis of medical assistance to recipients of aged assistance showed that the statutes now provide and the counties give medical assistance, including hospitalization and clinical service. The Welfare and Institutions Code permits individuals to stay in a county hospital two months without deduction from their monthly aid.

The Committee Recommends:

(9) That medical, dental, and clinical assistance should be continued at county expense.

10. Attorney's and Filing Fees

The committee examined into filing fees and attorney costs when a court decision favored the recipient of aid. Testimony indicated that court cases are rare.

The Committee Recommends:

(10) That the law be changed with respect to court costs or attorney's fees in litigation with respect to aged assistance, so that the State pays the costs when the decision is in favor of the recipient.

11. Board of Supervisors' Responsibility for Approval of Aid

It was brought to the attention of the committee that several counties have welfare boards which are established by charter, and that these welfare boards, instead of the board of supervisors, approve or reject applications for aged assistance. However, in the case of rejections, the applicant is informed that the board of supervisors has rejected the application.

The committee concluded that advisory welfare boards do not provide uniform procedure in the administration of aged assistance, and further concluded that it is properly a responsibility of the board of supervisors to pass on applications for aged assistance.

It was also brought to the attention of the committee that in some counties, especially large ones, the board of supervisors passed on recommendations in a perfunctory manner. The committee concluded that a procedure should be established which permits applicants for aged assistance to carry an appeal on decisions directly to the board of supervisors.

The Committee Recommends:

(11) That no advisory county welfare board should pass upon any application for aid, but it must be passed upon directly by the board of supervisors. Provision should be made to give 30 days' notice to an applicant or recipient to appear and show cause why the board's action is unsatisfactory. The right to appeal to the State Social Welfare Board shall not be impaired.

12. Revision of the Federal Social Security Act

The committee gave careful consideration to the Federal Social Security Act. Considerable material was presented on Title II, relating to old age and survivors insurance, and Title I, relating to assistance to the needy aged.

It was pointed out that some 55 per cent of workers in California were under old age and survivors insurance prior to war activity and that in large part those who are under the act will not receive benefits which the committee believes are adequate for a reasonable standard of living. The committee has concluded that Title II, which gives a pension to a person as a right, does not provide an adequate long-term program.

In view of the fact that Title II (Old Age and Survivors Insurance) does not provide an adequate solution for the support of the aged in California, the committee has concluded that Federal participation under Title I (Aid to the Needy Aged) should be liberalized.

The Committee Reports the Necessity For:

Revision of Title I of the Federal Social Security Act as follows: (1) Contributions by the Federal Government to the State to be on a matching ratio of two to one; (2) Age requirement to be reduced to 60 years; and (3) Outside income to be allowed up to $15 per month without deduction; and recommends that Congress be memorialized to that effect.

Other Points Considered by Committee

A number of other items were discussed extensively. These included lowering of age eligibility, allowances for funeral expenses, and also self-liquidating stabilization credit and gross-transactions tax as a means of pension financing.

Respectfully submitted.

Report of Subcommittee on Improvement of Administrative Practices

MARCH 30, 1943

*Mr. Ralph T. Fisher, Chairman
Governor's Old Age Pension Committee
State Capitol, Sacramento, California*

DEAR MR. FISHER: Your Subcommittee on Improvement of Administrative Practices would suggest points of correction in the law that the administration of the so-called old age pension in California might be more dignified and humane. In order to accomplish the task we have been given, we have gone into minute detail and considered section by section the Social Welfare Code.

- (1) Inasmuch as the State Social Welfare Board administers a very large department, it is our opinion it should be a full-time board.
- (2) The members of the board should be compensated on a full-time basis and their terms should be staggered so that no one Governor could control the board.
- (3) Much severe criticism was presented to the general committee regarding the activities of social workers and it is our opinion that there is room for much reform in this department in administering old age assistance.
- (4) Every applicant shall be given an itemized report setting forth the amount of deductions, if any, made from his grant.
- (5) Any new rules and regulations shall be filed with the Secretary of State 30 days prior to effective date, and copies shall be available to people upon request.
- (6) The State department should be given authority to try social workers accused of maladministration or order the case to be tried before the State Personnel Board, and if found guilty the State shall have the power to suspend the social worker for a reasonable period of time, and after two such suspensions the employee may be dismissed.
- (7) The unnecessary language in Section 2180 of the Welfare and Institutions Code should be stricken out and the section should be made to read as follows:
 "Application for aid under this chapter shall be made to the board of supervisors of the county in which the applicant resides. An applicant may apply in person or the application may be made by another in his behalf. This application may be made in writing or reduced to writing upon the standard form prescribed by the State Department of Social Welfare, and a copy of his application shall be furnished to each applicant at the time of application. The form shall contain questions, the answers to which will provide the information necessary to establish eligibility for aid under this chapter. All statements in the application shall be verified, under oath, by the applicant."
- (8) The clause pertaining to insurance policies shall be so worded that no insurance policy may be valued at more than its present cash value to the recipient, and premiums on insurance policies may not be deducted from the recipient's award—no matter by whom paid.
- (9) Personal effects include clothing, furniture, household equipment, food-stuffs and fuel, and shall not be considered as personal property, and the assessed value shall be considered in both real and personal property and then only net values after deductions of all encumbrances.
- (10) Trust deeds should be considered as mortgages, and not as personal property, in the matter of determining eligibility bearing on personal property.
- (11) Applicant's affidavit shall be deemed prima facie evidence, and the county given 30 days' time in which to investigate and to affirm or deny the application.
- (12) Payments shall begin as of the first day of the month following date of application.
- (13) The county board of supervisors may reconsider previous denials eliminating necessity in those cases of appeal to the State Board, and must upon written request of the applicant hold a public hearing to determine the sufficiency of the application.
- (14) A transcript of the hearing shall be made and the cost borne by the department.
- (15) The present provision of the law should be amended to provide that the applicant may reapply when the condition which resulted in his application being rejected has been eliminated.

- (16) Add language to Section 2003 to read: "In case of doubt the applicant shall be given the benefit of the doubt."
- (17) In Section 2005 after the words, "other suitable home", add the words: "of his own choosing."
- (18) In Section 2008 add this language: "Any applicant or recipient of aid under this chapter, and any person connected with the administration of such aid, or other person, who knowingly violates any provision of this chapter for which no penalty is specifically provided, is guilty of a misdemeanor."
- (19) In Section 2009 provide "that the public designation of any building or place used for aid under this chapter may not make any reference to charity or indigency."
- (20) Require that the State or County Welfare Department shall mail a copy of any bulletin, policy rule or the law itself to any recipient upon demand.
- (21) In Section 2160 provide under ('F') "that free board and lodging supplied to an applicant, because of his necessity, by a friend or relative who is not responsible for his support, shall not be grounds for refusing aid."
- (22) Any place of abode of recipient or applicant, whether it be a house, boat, trailer, or other habitation, shall be deemed to be real estate for the purposes of this act.
- (23) All means of determining eligibility filed by applicant on affidavit before a judge of the superior court, shall be deemed to be sufficient evidence, in the absence of other factual data.
- (24) Add "that no person connected with the administration shall dictate how the recipient shall spend the aid granted to him."
- (25) Provide that all offices used for administration shall easily be accessible to the aged or maimed, and shall be either on the ground floor or served with an elevator and operator.
- (26) Provide that absence from the State, not in excess of 90 days of any calendar year, shall not be considered evidence to establish residence elsewhere, nor to interrupt receipt of aid.
- (27) Estates shall not be considered until they are available to the client for occupation or use, or until an income is available therefrom to the client.
- (28) Provide an urgency clause for immediate passage of enactment.
- (29) Provision should be made for the simplification of the responsible relatives affidavit form; for instance, a very brief initial form could be sent to the relative for the purpose of determining whether that relative has an income in his or her own right. This relates to the married daughter, primarily. Unless the married daughter has a separate income she shall not be required to make relatives' contributions. If the answer indicates a separate income, then a more elaborate form could follow.
- (30) The committee should recommend that the state department review all present requirements of the State and counties governing the complete operation of the application and renewal process, and that anything of an unnecessary nature be eliminated.

Respectfully submitted.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA
 DEPARTMENT OF SOCIAL WELFARE
 Miss Martha A. Chickering, Director

SACRAMENTO, NOVEMBER 25, 1942

DEPARTMENT BULLETIN No. 143—Revised, D
 To: COUNTY BOARDS OF SUPERVISORS
 COUNTY WELFARE DEPARTMENTS
 COUNTY AUDITORS

SUBJECT: Old Age Security—Budgetary Method of Determining Need
 Food Allowance

On the basis of recent pricing, the Social Welfare Board on November 19, 1942, adopted $15.97 as the food requirement for an individual living alone. This figure should be substituted for $12.85 in the budget schedule appearing in Department Bulletin No. 143—Revised, B, page 3. When all meals are purchased in restaurants, $27.95 is allowed rather than $22.49 as stated in the budget schedule.

When new applicants or those requesting restoration of aid elect to have need determined on a budget basis, the revised food item shall become effective immediately. Any necessary adjustment in the grant of those currently receiving aid shall be made as soon as administratively possible following the request of the recipient. If no request is made, any necessary change shall then be made when there is occasion to adjust the grant for other reason, but in no event shall the adjustment in the grant be made later than the anniversary month for reinvestigation of eligibility.

Very sincerely yours,

MARTHA A. CHICKERING,
 Director, Department of Social Welfare

SACRAMENTO, SEPTEMBER 26, 1942

DEPARTMENT BULLETIN No. 143—Revised, B
 To: COUNTY BOARDS OF SUPERVISORS

SUBJECT: Old Age Security—Budgetary Method of Determining Need

I. Statement of Policy

The Social Welfare Board on September 15, 1942, adopted the following policy:

California wishes to provide, on an actual individual measurement of requirements, a type of public assistance to its aged citizens commensurate with the maintenance of the continued well-being of the recipient as well as the provision for the necessities of life.

In order to adjust California's methods of computing aged aid to the general rise in cost of living since July 1, 1941, and provide under the law for facility in computing excess need occasioned by increased cost of items required for the standard of living in California, a schedule will be set up as a guide by which recipients having income or desiring to earn additional income in agriculture or otherwise and desiring further to be of service to their country in the emergency may receive such assistance as is necessary which, together with such income, will meet their needs as determined under such guides.

The object is to secure grants of aged aid in an amount which, when added to their income, will meet the entire need of the recipient of aged aid so determined.

The range of items in the guide shall be adjusted to the quantity and quality required by each individual recipient in determining his continuing need. Consideration of income and resources will be made in the light of the total need so established.

The guide will, of course, be indicative only and will be modified as the operating experience of the agency dictates such modification.

II. Nature of New Rulings

Rulings to implement the above stated policy were adopted on September 23, 1942, and become effective October 1, 1942. The new rulings established under the excess need provision of Section 2020, provide that income (except casual income and inconsequential resources) received may be applied toward total need as measured by a budget which takes into consideration the general rise in the cost of living since July 1, 1941. The difference between total need, as measured by the budgetary method, and the income, represents the amount of aid to which the recipient is entitled except that in no case may the grant of aid exceed $40 a month, and in no case may the grant of aid plus income be less than $40.

Bulletins 143 Revised, 143 Revised A, and 170 remain in effect, and the policies and procedures as set forth herein are to be followed in addition to those appearing in the above-mentioned bulletins.

III. Recipients to Be Notified

It is important that each recipient be informed of the new policy and that an explanation be given of the possible advantages accruing to him should he elect to have his total income applied to his total needs as determined by a budget guide. Therefore, a statement shall be mailed to each recipient of aid not later than November 1, 1942, as follows:

Old Age Security Notice to Recipient of Aid

The Social Welfare Board, in view of the increase in the cost of living since July 1, 1941, adopted on September 15, 1942, a policy with the object of securing grants to recipients of old age security in the amount which, when added to their income, will meet their entire needs.

The policy recognizes that under the California Old Age Security statute, all income (except casual income and inconsequential resources) must be considered in determining the grant of aid, and it is necessary that you continue to notify the county welfare department promptly of any changes in your income.

The grant of aid to which you may be entitled has not heretofore been determined on the basis of a budget. With the exception of those recipients having need in excess of $40 a month, the aid paid has been the difference between the income received and $40 a month. In accord with the above policy adopted by the Social Welfare Board, if you have income from any source and wish to have the grant of old age security computed on the basis of your total need as determined by a budget, it is your privilege to request the county welfare department to determine your grant of aid in that manner. If you decide to have your old age security so computed, it will be necessary for you to give detailed information to the county welfare department in regard to your expenditures and living plan as otherwise it will not be possible for the county to prepare a budget to establish the amount of your individual needs.

The largest amount of aid that may be granted remains at $40. Therefore, if your grant of aid is now $40 for the reason that you have no income, and if you are not in a position to earn additional income in agriculture or otherwise, there could be no advantage to you in requesting that your need be determined on a budgetary basis, and you will wish that no change be made.

If you have income from any source, and are uncertain which is the better method to choose, the county welfare department will tell you the effect, if any, a change to the budget basis will make in your grant of old age security.

IV. Recipients Who May Benefit by New Rulings

Under the provisions of Section 2020 of the Welfare and Institutions Code, the excess need provision of the section is of benefit only to those applicants or recipients who are in receipt of income other than casual income or that resulting from the use of an inconsequential resource. Thus the determination of the grant on a budgetary basis will probably be of immediate benefit only to those recipients who are in receipt of income which is ordinarily considered in determining the grant of aid. However, should recipients at present without income and therefore receiving a $40 grant, secure employment, or begin to receive income from another source, they may elect to have their grant computed in accord with the budgetary method which takes into account excess need resulting from the general rise in the cost of living.

When a recipient elects to have his total need computed by means of the budgetary method, any necessary adjustment in the grant shall become effective as soon as administratively possible.

V. Measurement of total need by use of budget schedule.

A. Budget Schedule

The following schedule has been set up as a guide for measuring the requirements of an individual living alone.

Food -----	$12 85	($22.49, if all meals are purchased in restaurants)
Housing—as paid, for example -----	20 00
Utilities—as paid with following minima
Electricity -----	1 72
Gas -----	2 10
Water -----	1 50
Other, for example, heat -----	2 00
Household operations -----	3 31
Clothing -----	4 57
Incidentals and personal needs -----	10 00
Transportation -----	3 00
Other needs -----

$61 05

B. Explanation of Items of Need in Budget Schedule.

1. Food.

If the recipient prepares his meals at home or eats with a household group, the figure $12.85 is used. If he takes all his meals out, use $22.49. If he boards or pays room and board, the amount as paid is used.

2. Housing.

(a) If the recipient pays rent, the amount paid is used. If two or more persons share the same quarters, the recipient's prorated share of the total rental is used.

(b) If the recipient receives free rent, the estimated value of such free housing as determined by the county represents the amount of housing need. While due regard may be given to the actual value of such housing, the evaluation shall take into consideration the worth of the housing to one who has only limited funds available for his needs.

(c) If the recipient lives in a home which he owns or in which he has an interest, the item of "Housing" is the sum of the costs of ownership and the net value of occupancy, if any, as determined under Bulletin No. 143 Revised. The expenses of ownership include taxes, insurance, assessments, required encumbrance payments, and in addition, the average cost of minor repair and upkeep, which shall be allowed at the rate of $2 a month. (The expense of occasional repair which is not met through the normal upkeep allowance and which is necessary to provide safe, healthful housing or to minimize deterioration, should be included as a separate item of need.)

When the recipient has an interest in the home with other persons, his prorated share of the expenses of ownership shall be added to the value of occupancy, if any, in determining the item of housing, i.e., home owned jointly with wife, one-half of expenses of ownership plus occupancy value, if any; if owned jointly by three persons, one-third of the expenses of ownership plus occupancy value, if any.

3. Utilities.

Those utilities or services actually used by the individual represent his need. The amounts given in the budget schedule are the minima for a person living alone. If there is need for wood, coal, oil, garbage service, etc., the items are specified in the amount of the average cost as reported by the recipient.

When there are two or more members of the household, the recipient's prorated share may be less than the minimum established for those living alone. If he reports that he pays only such prorated share, the amount as paid by him is the item of need. Should he pay in full the utility bills because others in the household, such as an ineligible spouse, are unable to meet their share, the recipient may be allowed the amount as shown in the budget schedule since this amount represents the extent of his need which would have to be met were he living alone.

4. Household Operations.

This includes cleaning supplies, replacement of ordinary household supplies and equipment, etc., and is the minimum for the individual recipient.

5. Clothing.

This covers minimum need for purchase of new clothing and for clothing renovation.

6. Incidentals—Personal Needs.

This item includes a wide variety of expenditures, as determined by the individual's personal habits and needs; for instance, haircuts, toothbrushes and tooth powder, home medicine cabinet supplies, insurance, recreation, newspaper, community activities, etc.

7. Transportation.

This is for ordinary transportation needs. There may be recipients who, because of their physical condition, have little use for transportation as such, but in lieu thereof require extra messenger and delivery service. In the rare case in which there is no need for transportation, this item will be omitted.

8. Other Needs.

In addition to the items specifically set forth in the budget schedule, there may be other requirements in the individual case such as those indicated in Bulletin No. 143 Revised A, under "Excess Need," as medical care, dentures, etc.

C. Examples of Determination of Grant by Means of Budget Schedule.

1. A single recipient lives in his own unencumbered home, assessed value $300. Taxes average $3 per month, and payments on a street assessment average $1.05 per month. Upkeep is $2 per month. His son contributes $10 per month.

The son pays his share of household expenses, but does not make a contribution. Taxes average $5.50 per month. The recipient has O. A. S. I. benefits of $20. VI. Recording in the County Case Record

A. Budget Work Sheet (Form Ag M518) Required

In all cases in which the amount of the grant is determined on the basis of total need as established by the budgetary method, the case record shall include Form Ag M518, Budget Work Sheet, on which shall be recorded the full detail of the budget, the source and amount of income to be applied toward total need, and the verifications. Casual income or the value of the use of an inconsequential resource is not considered in determining the grant of aid and shall not be entered on Form Ag M518.

B. Instructions for Use of Budget Work Sheet, Form Ag M518

The Budget Work Sheet, Form Ag M518, a copy of which is appended, will ordinarily be completed in longhand and shall be retained in the county record. Complete the identifying data in the upper right hand corner, and indicate if the recipient is living as a member of a household group. If so, enter the number of individuals in the household.

Need

1. Food (Leave blank if board and room is paid)

Enter the amount for food in accord with the recipient's living plan, i.e., $12.85 if living alone or as a member of a household group, and $22.49 if he eats all meals in restaurants. No verification of the amount is required and no entry is necessary in the "How verified" column.

If the recipient takes his meals on a board basis, enter the amount paid for board. Verification shall be made, either through receipts in the recipient's possession, by his personal affidavit, or otherwise, and the method used is indicated in the "How verified" column.

If the recipient pays board and room, leave the "Food" item blank, and also leave blank all other items above Item 5, "Board and room." (See instructions for Item 5)

2. Housing (Leave blank if board and room is paid)

If the recipient lives in other than his own property, enter the rental paid or his prorated share if two or more persons share the same quarters. If free rent is contributed by another, enter the estimated value as determined by the county.

When rent is paid, the amount shall be verified, either through receipts or the recipient's personal affidavit or otherwise, and the method of verification entered in the "How verified" column. In the case of free rent contributed by another, enter "worker's evaluation" or some other appropriate statement in this column.

If the recipient lives in his own home, complete the appropriate items for costs of ownership, including a $2 allowance for upkeep. If there is a net value of occupancy under the provisions of Bulletin 143-Revised, enter this amount also. If there is no net value of occupancy, enter "none" for this item. Record the total expenses of ownership and net occupancy value, if any. (See page 4 (c) regarding expenses of ownership when the recipient owns an interest in the property with one or more persons.)

In the "How verified" column, indicate the method by which taxes, encumbrances, etc. were verified, i.e., tax receipts, mortgage book, etc.

3. Utilities (Leave blank if board and room is paid)

Enter the average cost for the particular utility in the appropriate space. When there is no need for the particular utility enter "none." If an amount is allowed for a utility or service other than as listed, specify opposite "other." (See page 4, Item 3)

4 Household Operations (Leave blank if board and room is paid).

Enter the amount shown in the budget schedule. No entry is required in the "How verified" column. (When household furniture or equipment is inadequate or substandard to a point where the expense of securing necessary items is in excess of the cost of ordinary household operations, the cost of necessary replacement or of augmenting the present supply should be included under item 9 of Form Ag M518. Refer to Bulletin 143 Revised A, page 2, Item 6.)

5. Board and Room

Enter the amount as paid. Verification is necessary, either through receipts in possession of the recipient or by his personal affidavit, or otherwise. In the "How verified" column state how the amount was verified.

(Items of need above Item 5 do not apply to persons living on a board and room basis)

6. Clothing

Enter the amount shown in the budget schedule. No entry is required in the "How verified" column. (See Bulletin 143 Revised A, page 2, Item 6, if additional need for clothing exists, and enter under Item 9 of Form Ag M518)

7. Incidentals

Enter the amount shown in the budget schedule. No statement is required in the "How verified" column.

8. Transportation

Enter the amount as shown in the budget schedule unless the facts definitely establish that the recipient has no need for transportation and does not have other expenses in lieu of it, such as expense for delivery or messenger service, etc. No entry is necessary in the "How verified" column unless the transportation item is omitted, in which case give the reason either in that column or under "Remarks."

9. Other Needs

Specify the particular need and show the amount for each need. In this space is entered only those needs which are in addition to the need items specifically set forth in the budget schedule. Verification must be made in accord with the provisions of Bulletin 143 Revised A for the particular item of need, and be recorded in the "How verified" column, together with a statement of the probable period over which the need will continue.

10. Total Need

Enter the sum of the individual items of need.

Income

Include only that income which is other than casual income or results from the use of an inconsequential resource. (The necessary detail regarding casual income and inconsequential resources must, however, be recorded elsewhere in the case record. See Bulletin 143 Revised A, page 10, item 4.)

Specify each source from which income is received, including the net value of occupancy, if any, and the amount received from each source, together with the method of verification. Record the total amount of income received from all sources.

Summary

Total Need. Enter the total need which is the amount recorded opposite Item 10 in the "Need" section of the form.

Total Income. Enter the total income received from all sources as recorded in the section immediately above the "Summary" section of the form.

Difference between Need and Income. Enter that amount which is the result of subtracting the total income from the total need. If the difference between total need and total income is in odd cents, the grant may be computed in that figure which represents the next highest whole dollar.

Amount of Aid Recommended. Enter the amount of aid recommended.

Budget Computed By. The signature of the work computing the budget, and the date, are to be shown here.

Affidavit of Recipient

When the amount of need for board and/or board and room, rent, or utilities, is verified by the recipient's statement of his expenditures for one or more of these items, his affidavit is required and may be secured in this space (This space is otherwise left blank.)

C. Recording of Grant Adjustment Under Budgetary Method

A copy of the notice of change (Form Ag 232) making any necessary adjustment in the grant records the adjustment amount and date on which the adjustment became effective.

VII. Reporting to State Department of Social Welfare

A. Current Cases

When a recipient elects to have his grant determined by the budgetary method and adjustment in the grant is necessary that fact shall be reported in the usual manner by submission of a Notice of Change, Form Ag 232, to the SDSW. The amount of total need is entered in Column 6 and in Column 7 the notation "Form Ag M518 on file" is made.

It is no longer necessary to report on the Notice of Change the particular items of need which resulted in total need exceeding $40 or the method of verification which established the need to be in excess of $40. The verification of those items of need for which verification is required shall be included in the case record, usually on Form Ag M518, Budget Work Sheet.

B. Applications

When the grant of aid is computed by applying income to total need of an applicant as determined by the budgetary method, that fact shall be reported on the Certificate of Eligibility, Form Ag 201, under "Conditions of Eligibility." Complete Item 11 of Form Ag 201 by entering the amount of total need in the "yes" space. Under "How verified" enter "Form Ag M518 in file."

The verification of those items of need for which verification is required shall be included in the case record, usually on Form Ag M518, but the method of verification of any particular item of need shall no longer be reported to the State Department of Social Welfare.

C. Restorations

When the grant of aid is computed by applying income to total need as determined by the budgetary method, that fact shall be reported on the Notice of Change, Form Ag 232, by inserting on that form in Column 6 the amount of total need. In Column 7 of Form Ag 232 insert "Form Ag M518 in file."

It is no longer necessary to report on the Notice of Change the particular items of need which resulted in total need exceeding $40, nor the method of verification which established the need to be in excess of $40. The verification of those items of need for which verification is required shall be included in the case record, usually on Form Ag M518, Budget Work Sheet.

A supply of the Budget Work Sheet, Form Ag M518 is forwarded to each County Welfare Department under separate cover. Additional forms may be obtained upon request to the Department of Social Welfare, 616 K Street, Sacramento. A supply of the Notice to Recipient of Old Age Security is also forwarded to each county welfare department.

ASSEMBLY JOURNAL

Summary of Governor's Budget

The Budget was employed by the committee in its deliberations and is made a part of the appendix to this report, but is transmitted herewith under its separate cover as a matter of convenience.

APPENDIX 6

Excerpt from Assembly Journal of January 8, 1943, pages 174-176

COMMUNICATIONS

The following communication was received, and on motion of Mr. Kilpatrick, ordered printed in the Journal:

DEPARTMENT OF SOCIAL WELFARE
SACRAMENTO, January 6, 1943

*Mr. Vernon Kilpatrick, Member of the Assembly
State Capitol, Sacramento, California*

MY DEAR MR. KILPATRICK: The following information is being sent to you in response to your verbal request of December 28, 1942. I am writing to Mrs. Buhler of the Office of Legislative Counsel, as per your instructions, to say that we are sending the information directly to you.

Present Basis

If the law remains unchanged, we estimate that the total cost of Old Age Security for the 1943-1945 Biennium would approximate $130,000,000 shared as follows:

Federal	$65,000,000
State	32,600,000
County	32,400,000

This estimate is based upon the assumptions of an average case load of 147,000, and an average monthly grant of $36.75. It may be that the case load will run somewhat lower, and that the average grant may run somewhat higher, but this is our "best guess" at this time.

$60 at Age 60

The total cost for Old Age Security for the 1943-1945 Biennium, if the maximum grant were increased to $60 and the minimum age decreased to 60 years, is estimated at $233,000,000 shared as follows:

Federal	$70,400,000
State	81,800,000
County	81,100,000

Here we have assumed an average grant of $56.75 and have assumed that approximately 36,900 persons aged 60-64 years would be added to the case load over a period of 18 months beginning July 1, 1943. If this group were on aid for the entire biennium, the total cost would be more than $250,000,000. Under peace time conditions the number aged 60-64 would probably exceed 48,000 persons. Assuming that many additional recipients aged 60-64 were on aid for an entire biennium, the total cost of the program would exceed $265,000,000.

As you are aware, of course, the Federal Government does not participate in aid to aged persons under 65 years.

The above estimates are based upon our case load estimate for recipients aged 65 and over, shown under "Present Basis" above.

We have no tangible evidence upon which to estimate the probable increase in case load which might result from the increase of the maximum grant to $60. It is very likely that intake would increase substantially, and that discontinuances would decline somewhat under these circumstances.

$60 at Age 65

If the maximum grant were increased to $60 without changing the minimum age, we estimate the total cost of Old Age Security for the 1943-1945 Biennium at approximately $200,700,000 shared as follows:

Federal	$70,400,000
State	65,400,000
County	64,900,000

The case load and average grant assumptions are the same as above. Here again we are unable to predict the effects of such a change upon the size of the case load.

$50 at Age 65

If the maximum grant were increased to $50 without changing the minimum age, the total cost of Old Age Security for the 1943-1945 Biennium would probably approximate $165,300,000 shared as follows:

Federal -----	$69,000,000
State -----	48,300,000
County -----	48,000,000

If the county share were limited to $10 per case, the Federal share would be unchanged, the State share would approximate $60,900,000 and the county share $35,400,000. If the county share were set at one-third of the total grant, less the Federal share, the State share would approximate $64,200,000 and the county share $32,100,000.

It is likely that such an increase in maximum grant likewise would have the effect of increasing intake and decreasing discontinuances, just how much we are unable to say.

$50 at Age 60

If the maximum grant were increased to $50 and the minimum age decreased to 60, the total cost of Old Age Security for the 1943-1945 Biennium would approximate $192,000,000 shared as follows:

Federal -----	$69,000,000
State -----	61,700,000
County -----	61,300,000

This estimate assumes an average grant of $46.75, and approximately 36,900 persons aged 60-64 added to the case load in 18 months beginning July 1, 1943. If this group were on aid for the entire biennium, the total cost would approximate $206,000,000. Moreover, if one assumes that 48,000 persons aged 60-64 (our estimate of the probable addition under peacetime conditions) were on aid for the entire biennium, the total cost of old age security would approximate $230,000,000. As you know the amount of the Federal share would not be affected by the addition of persons under age 65, hence, the increased cost due to such an addition would have to be met by the State and counties.

Support from Responsible Relatives

You asked what would be the probable cost of changing the minimum income, below which no support from responsible relatives is required under the Relatives Contribution Scale (Section 218I of the Welfare and Institutions Code) from $95 to $195. The only information we can give you on this question is as follows:

Such a change might very well result in discontinuance of relatives' contributions to 90 per cent or more of old age security recipients now receiving such contributions. We estimate the total value of such contributions would approximate $5,400,000 per biennium. (We expect to have a revised estimate based upon more recent information some time during the next three or four weeks.)

How many persons now fully supported by responsible relatives would cease to receive such support and successfully apply for old age security if the proposed change were made effective is anybody's guess. The number might be very substantial, but we have no tangible basis for an estimate.

State Support and Administration of General Relief

In November, 1942, there were approximately 31,300 persons who received a total of $411,411 in aid payments. General relief at this rate would cost approximately $9,900,000 per biennium. At $20 per person the cost would approximate $14,800,000 per biennium.

It is probably not very realistic, however, to assume the present wartime situation as typical. During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1940, the average monthly case load for county indigent aid included approximately 72,000. Such a case load at $20 per person would cost approximately $34,600,000 per biennium.

The administrative cost for county indigent aid as reported to this department for September, 1942, (latest month available) amounted to $128,315. (This includes $11,700 reported as the administrative cost of "other welfare programs.") If the administrative cost continued at this level for a biennium, the total biennial administrative cost would approximate $3,100,000.

In addition to the above questions which you discussed with me personally, the letter from Mrs. Buhler raises this question:

What is the estimated increase of cost under the present law which the department believes will be incurred due to the liberalization in granting aged aid which the department has recently put into effect?

It is practically impossible for us to give any sort of definitive reply to this question at the moment. According to the best evidence at hand, there were, at the end of December, approximately 8,500 old age security recipients receiving aid on the budget basis. The average grant in October, 1942, was $36.52. This increased to $36.75 in November, and we tentatively estimate a further increase to about $36.92 for December. This would amount to an increase in the average grant of 40 cents since October. The average grant had remained relatively static at about $36.50 since October, 1941.

We expect to have more information on this subject very soon and will communicate with you when it becomes available.

You will appreciate that the above estimates are "best guesses" from the information at hand, and that the dynamic character of economic developments might make them "bad guesses" six months hence. Should more recent information relevant to these problems become available to us, we will call any major revisions in the estimates to your attention.

We hope this information will be helpful to you, and we shall be glad to give you any further information we can.

. Very sincerely yours,

MARTHA A. CHICKERING, Director

Notes for Governor's Pension Committee

California Taxpayers' Association has been working in the field of governmental finance since 1926. Its staff works constantly with public officials and civic groups to furnish information on expenditures, revenues, tax burdens, and governmental efficiency. It is the purpose of the association to assist State and local officials to keep tax burdens at a minimum consistent with adequate public service. We are submitting for your consideration these notes on taxes and expenditures, with especial reference to public assistance. We hope they will be helpful to you in your study and recommendations, regarding the establishment of an amount of assistance which is within the taxpayers' ability to pay.

Population

The population of California and its distribution in age groups is of primary importance in considering the cost of aged assistance. The population for the State has grown consistently. The census for each decade is as follows:

California Population
1900	-----	1,485,053 census
1910	-----	2,377,549 census
1920	-----	3,426,861 census
1930	-----	5,677,251 census
1940	-----	6,907,387 census
1943	-----	7,660,000 estimated

California Taxpayers' Association's estimate of population for California for January, 1943, is 7,660,000. The distribution of this estimated population by counties is shown in Appendix Table 1 (January, 1943, Tax Digest).

The growth of the total population, however, does not show the growth by age groups. The aged portion of California's population is increasing constantly both in number and in relation to total population, as shown in the following table:

Persons in California Over 60 and 65

1920 Census	321,819	200,301
1930 Census	573,687	366,125
1940 Census	854,966	555,247
1943 Estimate	930,000	610,000

1950 Estimate	1,120,000	730,000
1960 Estimate	1,390,000	910,000

The influx of war workers in the State is composed mainly of younger persons. The estimates included in the above distribution are for aged persons, based on a projection which is independent from the total population. This has been agreed by statistical authorities to be a reasonable procedure in forecasting for the purpose of estimating old age assistance.

It is evident from the increase in the aged group that it is not safe to make estimates of cost at the present level. The trend in the aged group of 65 and over has been so definite for 30 years that an estimate can reliably be made for 1945 and perhaps for 1950. The estimate for 1960, being based on a past trend which may be upset, may not be fully accurate but is of sufficient value to be indicative.

California Governmental Expenditures

Public expenditures for all governmental purposes by all jurisdictions in California, including Federal payments for welfare, have increased from $497,725,000 in 1931-32 to $765,391,000 in 1941-42. ("Income and Expenditures of Government in California," Table 6, page 60.) This is an increase of $267,666,000, or 54 per cent.

The largest increase in expenditures is for welfare which increased from $28,127,000 in 1931-32 to $122,876,000 in 1941-42 (Appendix Table 6) ; this is an increase of $94,749,000. This increase was for all forms of public assistance. However, the largest increase was in aged assistance which cost $2,991,000 in 1931-32, and had increased to $69,182,000 in 1941-42.

Tax Burden Increase

The tax burden for State and local government increased from $43.83 per capita in 1920 to $78.74 in 1930, $91.86 in 1940, and $100.51 in 1942. ("Income and Expenditures of Government in California," Table 3, page 54.)

The Federal tax burden in California has also increased markedly. In 1931-32, Federal tax collections were $19.82 per capita ; this was a decrease from the range of $30.44 to $33.42 from 1925 through 1929. In 1941 the burden increased to $73.13 and the 1943-44 Federal Budget calls for taxes which will average $310 per capita in California, without additional taxes which apparently will be imposed.

The combined Federal, State and local tax burden in California was $117.13 in 1930 and dropped to $81.76 in 1933. The 1944 burden is estimated to be at least $410 per capita.

State General Fund Income

Any increased expenditure for aged assistance by the State of California would have to be paid from State General Fund revenues, as other fund revenues are earmarked for specific purposes. The tax structure of the State of California was greatly changed in 1933. The biennial revenues for the General Fund since that time are as follows :

General Fund Revenues

1933-35 -----	$192,100,000
1935-37 -----	287,497,000
1937-39 -----	347,071,000
1939-41 -----	378,093,000
1941-43 Estimate -----	497,473,000
1943-45 Estimate -----	468,044,000

It is evident from these figures that the revenues for the General Fund, prior to the war expenditures in California, were considerably less than $400,000,000 per biennium. The present large revenues due to war expenditures cannot be expected to continue in the postwar period. Revenues in the postwar period will probably fall well under $400,000,000 per biennium. The sources of revenue for the General Fund are numerous but the major portion of the income is received from a few taxes, as shown in the following tabulation estimating General Fund revenues for 1943-45 and taken from the Governor's Budget

General Fund Expenditures and Deficits

During the 1930 decade, expenditures of the General Fund generally exceeded the revenues, indicating that expenditures were too great for the revenue structure to support, thus causing a deficit. The General Fund deficit for the decade is as follows.

General Fund Deficit
1931-33	$42,413,000 Deficit
1933-35	26,108,000 Deficit
1935-37	745,000 Surplus
1937-39	23,652,000 Deficit
1939-41	8,127,000 Deficit

In addition to this deficit, the State of California went into long-term debt by issuing bonds for $44,000,000 for unemployment relief, and redemption requirements are being paid over a period of years. One of the bond issues was for $20,000,000, and this is being paid by the counties in the form of deductions from gas tax subventions.

Most of the more important State taxes are definitely related to business activity. When the volume of business increases, the tax yields increase. An extreme accentuation of this condition is being experienced as a result of wartime expenditures in California. In the postwar period and in later periods of economic depression, the present State taxes will probably decrease very substantially in yield and deficits will probably occur unless expenditures are reduced.

The present basic tax structure was developed, as previously stated, after 1933 and did not experience the full impact of the depression. What the yields of the several taxes would be in the event of a depression as serious as the last is difficult to estimate, but the several indexes, which are useful in forecasting, indicate that the loss of revenue would be quite serious. Therefore, the State would either have to levy new taxes, increase tax rates, or reduce present forms of expenditures drastically. The setting up of new expenditures or new expenditure levels must, therefore, be seriously studied.

An inspection of the General Fund revenues as shown above indicates that increases in rates of taxes, other than retail sales and income, would not produce large returns in revenues.

California has utilized practically all forms of taxation. The few remaining types would be unlikely to yield large amounts of revenue. Other forms of taxes would be borne by approximately the same taxpayers.

Property Taxes

Ad valorem taxes on property have been used exclusively to meet local expenditures since 1911, when the State discontinued this tax for general purposes. Property taxes have proved in the past to be the most stable type of revenue producer. During the depression, however, tax delinquency was very serious and many local governments experienced difficulty in obtaining enough revenue to meet expenditures. It was necessary to curtail expenditures as much as possible. Salaries were reduced in some instances and capital outlay was greatly curtailed. Some jurisdictions issued long-term bonds to meet relief costs (in addition to the State's issues).

Property taxes are believed by many to be so burdensome at the present time that many plans have been proposed to decrease them.

Taxpayer Ability to Pay

In considering tax burdens, it is necessary, of course, to consider Federal taxation. All Federal tax rates are now very large; corporation and personal income taxes take up to 80 per cent of net income. Federal taxes will very likely be increased further before the war is over and must bear more heavily on the smaller income groups. While burdensome taxes have been imposed to pay a substantial part of war expenditures out of current income, it is inevitable that heavy taxes will be required in the postwar period to pay war obligations.

The Federal income tax exemptions at the present time are $500 for a single person, $1,200 for married persons or heads of households, and $350 per dependent. The exemption for a family without dependent children is $1,200, which is well above the subsistence level, but the single person and children exemptions may be considered to be near subsistence. From the table of income distribution in California (page 6), it is evident that a large part of the burden of increased taxes will have to be borne by persons making between $500 and $1,800 per year. Any additional taxes which are imposed on this group will reduce the standard of living of individuals correspondingly, and in the lower range will bring additional persons closer to subsistence levels. This will, in turn, engender new social problems. Whether these taxes are direct, indirect, or multiplying (such as a transactions tax), makes little difference in the purchasing power of the individual.

Old-Age and Survivors Insurance

Congress passed a Social Security Act in 1935, which includes a plan for annuities (Title II) in which the employer and the employee match in contributions into a fund. This plan gives to each person included under the act a pension as a right.

The plan is intended to eliminate public assistance to aged persons. It also provides insurance to the dependents of persons in the system. The act, however, does not include all workers. In 1940 (prior to war expansion of industry) it was estimated that there were two and one half million workers in California. Of this number, an average of 1,384,000, or 55 per cent, were under old-age and survivors insurance and were making contributions into the system. (Average income $1,620 per year.) Domestic and agricultural employees are not included in the system, employees in agricultural packing or processing plants are, however. Many governmental employees in California are under an actuarial pension system, adding 4 per cent to the 55 per cent under old-age and survivors insurance.

Average individual contributions into, and benefits from, the system will differ between States, as the average income in the several States is extremely varied, and the contribution is based on a percentage of earnings. Correspondingly, the annuity which employees will receive in lower income States will be substantially less than that in the higher income States. California had one of the highest average individual incomes in the United States in 1939; this information, secured in the 1940 census, does not show the effect of war expenditures. States with over $900 of average income were as follows:

States With Median Income Over $900—1939

Nevada -----	$1,061	Ohio -----	$964
Michigan -----	1,058	New York -----	962
California -----	1,020	Washington -----	959
New Jersey -----	998	Illinois -----	954
Connecticut -----	975	Massachusetts -----	937
Utah -----	969

Only three States had a median which exceeded $1,000, and eight States ranged between $900 and $1,000. The number of States arranged in $100 brackets is as follows:

Median Income of States, Arranged in $100 Brackets

Income Range	Number of States	Income Range	Number of States
$372 to $400 -----	2	$700 to $799 -----	5
400 to 499 -----	5	800 to 899 -----	11
500 to 599 -----	6	900 to 999 -----	8
600 to 699 -----	8	1,000 to 1,061 -----	3

Old-Age and Survivors Insurance Benefits

Persons under old-age and survivors insurance contribute 1 per cent of their earnings into the system up to $3,000 per year; the employer matches the contribution, making a total of 2 per cent.

According to the United States census, the income in the various income brackets in California for the 1939 period was as follows:

Income Distribution in California—1939

	Per cent distribution		Per cent distribution
Less than None -----	6.3	Less than $1,600 -----	73.8
100 -----	8.3	1,800 -----	78.3
200 -----	11.8	2,000 -----	84.1
400 -----	20.9	2,500 -----	92.1
600 -----	29.6	3,000 -----	94.8
800 -----	39.0	4,000 -----	97.1
1,000 -----	48.7	5,000 -----	97.8
1,200 -----	56.8	5,000 and over ---	98.8
1,400 -----	66.1	Not reporting income -----	1.2

It is evident that slightly over one-half of the persons in California earned less than $1,200 per year, or $100 per month during 1939. A person in the Federal Social Security Insurance System, after working 40 years at an average salary of $100 per month, would receive a benefit of $35 per month if he were living alone, and $52.50 per month if he had a wife (over 65) or one dependent. Additional dependents would result in larger annuities.

Contributions into and benefits from old-age and survivors insurance are limited to an income of $3,000 per year. According to the above income distribution only 4 per cent of the people in California earned more than $3,000 a year in 1939. In peace time, it is unlikely that there would be many persons who would earn at least $3,000 a year at age 25 and thereafter for 40 years so as to produce a maximum benefit which would amount to $56 monthly for an individual, and for an individual with a wife and one dependent $84.

Under the Federal Social Security System, the combined contributions of the employee and employer are placed in a trust fund where they accumulate, together with interest earnings, to meet the annuity payments. The old-age and survivors insurance is not on a full actuarial basis; the system was established that way at the beginning but it appeared that the fund would become so huge that contributions were modified. It will be necessary, as the benefits paid out become greater, to increase the amount of tax on the employee and employer.

The important consideration is that the payments into the fund at the present time by the employee and employer are actuarially insufficient to meet future payments from the fund. In order to build up actuarial benefits which would afford anything more than subsistence living, it would be necessary to require average contributions amounting to about 8 per cent of an individual's pay. These would be met by the employee and the employer, and should be considered as a part of salaries and wages.

Benefits for persons who are in income brackets materially less than $100 a month, under any acceptable system, will be small and it is likely that they will be near subsistence levels.

Governmental Employee Pensions

Federal, State, and local government employees are not included under old-age and survivors insurance. Several governmental jurisdictions in California (including the State) have retirement systems wherein the employee and the unit of government match contributions paid into actuarially sound systems. Pensions to governmental employees are considered to be deferred compensation; thus they are a part of the salary plan. For governmental employees, as for example the State of California, the average contribution is around 4 per cent for the State and 4 per cent for the employee. The contribution is dependent upon the age at which the employee entered the system. If an employee were to enter at age 45, the percentage of contribution would necessarily be higher in order to build an annuity than if he entered at age 21.

An employee in the service of the City of Los Angeles, for example, for 40 years at an average pay of $100 per month, would receive somewhat less than $60 per month benefit, as compared with $35 for the single person under old-age and survivors insurance and $52.50 if he has a wife or one dependent.

History of Amount of Aged Aid

Needy aged assistance was approved by the electorate of California in a constitutional amendment which was ratified in 1928. The Legislature established this form of assistance by statute in 1929 and authorized assistance up to $1 per day; the amounts of assistance were based on budgetary needs. In 1935 the Legislature amended the act to provide aid of $35 per month to needy persons not living with relatives or in a private home. When the Federal Government began to participate in aged aid, the maximum participation was one-half of $30 per month. When the Federal amount was increased to half of $40, the Legislature passed the $5 difference to the recipients of aid and not to the taxpayer. The amount of aged aid in California, as shown above, has been established by arbitrary procedures.

Prior to the time the Federal Government entered the aged aid program, the eligible age in California was 70 and the residence requirement was 15 years immediately preceding the application, or 40 years with five years immediately before application. With the entry of the Federal Government into the program, the State was required to decrease its residence requirement from 15 years to five years and its age requirement from 70 to 65 years.

Aged Aid in Other States

Colorado is the only State which has authorized aid in excess of $40 per month. While $45 has been authorized, the State has generally been unable to pay the amount; the average aid in December, 1942, was $41.06.

There are only 13 States which allow as much as $40 per month. The maximum amounts of assistance permitted by law in each State are shown in Appendix Table 5. The average monthly amount of assistance paid is shown in Appendix Table 2.

The number of persons receiving aged assistance varies among the 48 States; some States have a larger percentage of population over 65 than others. The number per 1,000 persons over 65 receiving aged aid and the percentage of population 65 years and over (according to the 1940 U. S. census) are shown in Appendix Table 3.

Ability to Bear Increased Welfare Costs

As previously stated, there is considerable doubt that the revenue structure of California in peace time could bear increased governmental expenditures other than those which have already been established. This is also evidenced by the fact that, whenever a cost becomes burdensome and difficult to pay, attempts are made to transfer it to some other government where the effect is less visible. For example, it is commonly believed that property cannot bear so much of the aged aid cost as is now being levied upon it and there are many persons who believe that all or part of the burden should be transferred to the State. If the amount of aid were to be increased to some very large amount, let us say $60, it would become evident to many people that the State could not bear the burden, and an attempt would be made to transfer the burden to the Federal Government. In the whole process, it is forgotten that a taxpayer is a taxpayer no matter to which layer of government he is paying taxes. During the 1930 decade the State had to go deeply into debt to finance its welfare costs. The increased cost of welfare and other expenditures of the Federal Government during the 1930 decade (expenditures so great that Federal taxes to pay them were politically inexpedient) showed up in the Federal debt which on June 30, 1941, totaled $48,961,000,000.

When property taxes are deemed too high to continue carrying or to meet a burden of expenditures in a community, it should be considered an indication of lack of ability to pay; and so, instead of attempting to transfer the cost to invisible sources, it may be better to investigate the public expenditure program to determine where curtailments can be made.

Postwar Effect on Employment

Analysis of acceptances and severances from the old age rolls indicates that the rolls are declining mainly because there have been fewer applications and, therefore, fewer additions. This is, in large part, due to the increased war activity and demand for manpower. In December, 1940, 27.5 per cent of the persons aged 65 and over in California were receiving aged aid; in January, 1943, the percentage had dropped to 25 per cent.

The elderly person is generally in the marginal group so far as employment is concerned. It may be presumed that in the postwar period many such persons will be released from war industry and other employment, and will apply for aged assistance. It is conceivable that 35 per cent of the persons 65 and over will be eligible for and receive aid without any relaxation in the present laws.

California's Economic Future

In order to pay taxes, it is necessary to have pay rolls, and payrolls come from agriculture, industry, and commerce. If the tax burden in California becomes excessive in comparison with other States, it will have the inevitable effect of strangling agriculture and driving industry out and thereby decreasing pay rolls. Taxes are a part of business overhead and must be met in the price structure.

Migration to California Because of Increased Benefits

It is the belief of many persons that there has been migration of aged persons to California, not only due to the climate but also because the amount of aged assistance is larger than that of most States. It may be considered that the amount of benefit paid in California is already so out of line with that of the Nation (see Appendix Table 2) that additional amounts will be further inducement to migration to this State. The tax burden in California is already great and it is doubtful that the California tax system could care for the aged from other States.

Cost of Living in Relation to Recipients of Aged Assistance

The cost of living for an individual is dependent to a large extent on whether a person is living alone or with his family, whether he owns his own home or rents, whether he lives in a metropolitan or rural area, his health condition, and other factors.

Complete statistics are not available as to the number of recipients of aged assistance who are living alone. In 1940-41 they numbered 31 per cent of acceptances. In 1940-41, 24 per cent of acceptances were home owners.

The cost of living index as reported by the United States Bureau of Labor is based on the average of persons renting their homes. The 24 per cent of persons on aged assistance who own their own homes are not affected by the increased cost of rentals, as reported by the United States Bureau of Labor for the two metropolitan areas in California. It may be presumed that the fixed charges which they may have in carrying the debt on the home would remain the same.

The rents which are reported in the United States index are for the two metropolitan areas: Los Angeles and San Francisco. There are many places in the State where rents have not increased at all. Also there are areas where rent ceilings have been fixed. These considerations, together with the fact that nearly 24 per cent of aged aid acceptances in 1940-41 owned their own homes, indicate that the United States cost of living index, as relating to rents, is not valid either for general usage or in the problem this committee is considering in California.

The cost of living index includes many items. Among them is the operation of automobiles, which has been distinctly curtailed by gas rationing. Many items of merchandise which are included can no longer be purchased. The items which are needed by all individuals are clothing and food. Food is being rationed and it will be necessary for every person in the United States to adjust himself to restricted menus. While the price of meat is very high at the present time, in many areas it is impossible to purchase it. In future rationing, it has been announced that each person will receive 1½ pounds of meat per week.

The cost of food index, as developed by the United States Bureau of Labor, is based on a peacetime condition and has not been corrected for a wartime economy wherein shortages have developed and rationing is in effect. While the cost of food has unquestionably risen, the extent will not be known until the effect of rationing is known. The index, as reported by the United States Bureau of Labor, is not valid under present conditions and should not be used to evaluate current living problems.

Many persons on old age assistance are living in households wherein other members of the family are receiving public assistance. The report for 1940-41 shows that out of a total of 28,300 acceptances, 8,391 lived in households with other forms of public assistance; this is close to 30 per cent.

Estimates of Cost

The number of persons who are receiving old age assistance in California reached a maximum of 158,723 in December, 1941. Since that time the roll has decreased and, in December, 1942, numbered 153,896. The number receiving assistance is approximately 25 per cent of the total number of people in California who are 65 and over.

The saturation point in aid to the aged has been discussed and attempts to determine it have been frequently made. Some persons may believe that, in view of the fact that old age assistance has leveled off at approximately 25 per cent of the number 65 and over, the saturation point has been reached. There appears to be no saturation point with respect to aged assistance. The number who apply for and receive aid is dependent on the generosity of the people as expressed in statutory eligibility requirements. A liberalization of any feature of eligibility in the past has brought a greater number on the roll.

If the present legal provision for the responsibility of relatives for support of needy members of their families is eliminated and assistance is regarded as a right, rather than based on need, the cost will become huge. It is estimated that to give $60 per month per person over 60 years as a right would cost nearly $700,000,000 per year in California in 1943 and would increase. The cost under similar conditions for persons over 65 would be over $400,000,000. The total expenditures for all forms of government in California, exclusive of direct Federal expenditures, totaled $765,000,000 in 1941-42. Thus a liberalized program of aid to the aged could nearly double expenditures.

If relative responsibility were eliminated in determining eligibility, the costs of aged assistance would increase. There are around 25,000 cases at the present time in which relatives contribute $5,750,000 each biennium, or $2,875,000 per year. This cost would be transferred from the relatives to the public.

Statements have been made that the cost of administering relative responsibility is greater than the amount offset. The entire cost of administering old age assistance is around $3,300,000 per year; so it is obvious that, aside from other factors, the return of $5,750,000 would warrant the expense.

Eliminating relative responsibility would result in additional persons applying for aid and qualifying for it. It is not unlikely that a number would thus qualify which would be more than equal to the number on the roll with relatives at the present time, thus causing an increase in cost of at least $12,000,000 per year which, together with the $2,875,000, would amount to $14,875,000. If all persons were to shift the responsibility of relatives to the public, the cost would be very much more.

The cost can increase substantially even though assistance is given as a matter of need instead of right. Calculating on a need basis, the following estimates of cost have been made for varying amounts of assistance in the postwar period:

Estimated Annual Cost at Age 65

Full rate	Amount of Aid		Per cent to receive assistance —Total 65 and over = 6½,000	Annual cost
	because of deductions	Average
$40		$38	35	$102,000,000
50		46	45	159,000,000
60		54	55	228,000,000

Annual Cost Distribution

Federal	State and County	Total
$51,000,000	$51,000,000	$102,000,000
69,000,000	90,000,000	159,000,000
84,000,000	144,000,000	228,000,000

When it is considered that earnings in California have been less than $100 per month for half the population, it can readily be conceived that the number qualifying for large amounts of assistance would become large and would approach the number who are 65 and over. In estimating costs, it may be well to remember this and consider every bar in eligibility that is let down brings the number closer to the entire group over the age limitation.

The continuity of reporting as between these several agencies is limited; the data will therefore be affected by accrual periods. The SRA expenditure for 1934-35 is in most part from the $24,000,000 bond issue. Data designated with (*) is partly estimated. State Department of Social Welfare also administers probation. Data designated with () includes surplus commodity and WPA cooperation administrative expense.

APPENDIX 7(a)

Notes for Governor's Tax Committee

California Taxpayers' Association has been working in the field of governmental expenditures and revenues since 1926. Its staff works constantly with governmental officials and civic groups to furnish information on expenditures, revenues and tax burdens. It is the purpose of the Association to keep tax burdens at a minimum consistent with adequate public service. The work includes State and local governments.

In local government the amount of expenditure determines the property tax levy, as, in most part, expenditures are paid from this form of revenue. In local government, tax levies are determined each year and tax rates are fixed accordingly.

In State government the expenditure budget is adopted biennially, but State taxes are fixed only periodically by the Legislature and are not systematically regulated with the adoption of each budget. The result has been that at times tax yields have been inadequate to pay for expenditures and the State has incurred a deficit, and at other times taxes are in excess of expenditure needs and a surplus has accumulated.

California Taxpayers' Association, in its work with reference to State taxes, would not take a stand on the reduction of any particular State tax. Its Board of Directors, however, has resolved that the association recommend that the Legislature reduce the flow of revenue into the State General Fund during the 1943-45 biennium, so that the General Fund shall be more nearly in balance by June 30, 1945.

We are submitting for your consideration, in an appendix, tables relating to both taxes and expenditures. In part, these tables are published regularly as an integral part of our work. Other tables are being supplied which have been especially prepared for your committee.

The association has periodically published a series of data called "Income and Expenditures of Government in California." This series is now complete from 1900 through 1942. In 1940 the material was published as a supplement to the January number of the Tax Digest and includes a description of California taxes and expenditures. In the official reports of State and local governments, expenditures relating to subventions are generally duplicated; we have eliminated such duplications and show the expenditures in the final agency. The data are brought up to date in the February, 1943, Tax Digest, but the descriptive matter has not been repeated.

Included in the February issue are also other data relating to the work of your committee. The expenditures of State government are included in summary, and in departmental detail, for the period 1937-38 through 1941-42. Also included are tax levies by the counties, schools, and special districts for each of the 58 counties for the period 1939 through 1943.

A summary of population estimates with percentage of change since 1940 is shown in Table 18, page 81. The counties are segregated into significant groups, which include the bay area, southern California, Sacramento area, counties which are gaining, and those which are static or losing. Of the total estimated increase for the State since the last census amounting to 752,000, 330,000 is shown in the bay area and 366,000 in southern California.

California Taxpayers' Association has estimated population by counties since the 1930 census. These population estimates have been used in deriving per capita expenditures and revenues and are also used in dealing with administrative problems in government.

Income in California

In the period prior to the tremendous war expenditure in California, nearly half of the wage or salary workers received from salaries, wages, and income from other sources less than $1,000 per year; and nearly three-quarters received less than $1,600 per year. According to the United States census, the income in various income brackets was as follows:

Income Distribution—1939

	Per cent distribution		Per cent distribution
None -----	6.3	Less than 1,800 -----	78.3
Less than $100 -----	8.3	Less than 2,000 -----	84.1
Less than 200 -----	11.8	Less than 2,500 -----	92.1
Less than 400 -----	20.9	Less than 3,000 -----	94.8
Less than 600 -----	29.6	Less than 4,000 -----	97.1
Less than 800 -----	39.0	Less than 5,000 -----	97.8
Less than 1,000 -----	48.7	Less than 5,000 and over --	1.0
Less than 1,200 -----	56.8	Not reporting income -----	1.2
Less than 1,400 -----	66.1
Less than 1,600 -----	73.8	Total -----	100.0

These data show income far less than those which are commonly supposed. It has been observed that there is a tendency on the part of the public to believe that the earnings of most individuals are materially larger than actual.

The census income data, being prewar, do not show the effect of war expenditures. In 1939 California had one of the highest average individual incomes in the United States. In that year the median income for California salaries, wages, and other sources was $1,020, which was exceeded only by Nevada with $1,061 and Michigan with $1,058. States over $900 are as follows:

States With Median Income Over $900—1939

Nevada -----	$1,061	Ohio -----	$ 964
Michigan -----	1,058	New York -----	962
California -----	1,020	Washington -----	959
New Jersey -----	998	Illinois -----	954
Connecticut -----	975	Massachusetts -----	937
Utah -----	969

Only three States had a median which exceeded $1,000, and eight States ranged between $900 and $1,000. The States are arranged in $100 brackets as follows.

Income Range	No. of States	Income Range	No. of States
$ 372 to $ 400 -----	2	$ 700 to $ 799 -----	5
400 to 499 -----	5	800 to 899 -----	11
500 to 599 -----	6	900 to 999 -----	8
600 to 699 -----	8	1,000 to 1,061 -----	3

The National income of the United States was estimated by the United States Department of Commerce to be $70,674,000,000 in 1939. Current estimates of the National income for 1943 vary from $110,000,000,000 to $125,000,000,000. This tremendous increase in the National income is caused by war activity; it has been reported that California is receiving 10 per cent of war contracts. The effect of this, together with increased agricultural activity, will be increased individual incomes in California.

Manpower

The manpower problem as it relates to the war effort has two effects on government in California—in the first place, government has in some instances been required to increase some services because of the increased population around the war industry centers and Army camps; in other instances, the need for governmental service has decreased. In the second place, government has a manpower problem of its own. Many employees have felt it their patriotic duty to become more closely allied with the war effort by going to the armed forces or war industries; many have been inducted into the Army.

Some governmental jurisdictions have attempted to maintain the same amount of service as previously rendered, in spite of the fact that most civilian services have seriously declined. In most instances, governmental employees are working a short week and certain jurisdictions are attempting to recruit new employees in a war labor market. Many jurisdictions have tried to retain their employees through increased salaries and raises, which has caused a substantial increase in governmental expenditures. There are few instances where increased working hours have been required to offset increased pay.

The recent order of War Manpower Commission requiring a 48-hour week for both essential and nonessential workers includes State and local governmental employees according to statements publicized on February 11. The order is now effective in limited areas, but must be extended to cover most of California in order to be fully useful.

Government Should Show Decreased Expenditures

With the exception of the Federal Government in its relation to the war effort, all units of government should show both decreased spending and tax requirements. Capital outlays in the form of equipment and buildings are no longer purchasable because of priorities. Materials and supplies containing critical materials are closely rationed. This reduction should more than offset the increase in commodity prices of other items. Personnel has decreased and will continue to do so, as nonessentials are curtailed by the War Manpower Commission. As previously stated, decreases in employment have been offset by increased salaries and wages.

Governmental Units in California Counties

Governmental units in California are shown by counties for 1940-41 in Table 10, page 82, of the appendix. The total is 4,287 and the distribution between the several units is as follows:

Incorporated cities	284*	Junior college districts.....	14
Elementary school districts.....	2,533	County special districts.....	1,094
High school districts.....	266	Number of counties.....	58*
Unified school districts.....	39
		Total	4,287

* San Francisco City and County included

Each one of these units has the power to levy a tax. In the case of school districts, the board of supervisors fixes the tax rate, but has no authority to reduce the tax requirement established by a school district, so long as statutory limits are not exceeded.

State and Local Expenditures

During the first three years of the 1930 decade, expenditures for the State, counties, cities, schools and districts totaled close to $500,000,000, as shown in Table 6, page 60, which gives the amount for each type of government and the total. With an increasing population, the per capita expenditure decreased from $87.16 in 1930 to $83.71 in 1932 (Table 7, page 61). In 1934 the expenditure turned upward, but the per capita was still decreasing.

In 1942 expenditures swelled to $765,391,000, an increase of $302,733,000 in a decade. The per capita jumped from $83.71 to $103.08, an increase of $19.37 or 23 per cent. Of the $19.37, the State increased $10.43 and the counties $8.75. The State increase does not include aid to the needy aged, blind, and dependent children which is shown in county costs, nor does it include State apportionments for public schools, shown as a part of public school costs under the school heading. State expenditure increases are discussed later.

Expenditures for cities have fluctuated, dropping from $21.01 in 1932 to $18.41 in 1934, they climbed to a peak of $24.85 in 1939, and in 1942 dropped to $23.13. Per capita expenditures for schools followed a somewhat similar fluctuation; they were $25.89 in 1932 and $26.86 in 1942 for each man, woman, and child in the population.

State and Local Income

Income for State and local governments totaled $520,728,000 or $91.72 per capita in 1930 (Table 2, page 53). In 1933 per capita income dropped to $71.49 and in 1942 it increased to $118.29, with a total income of $878,237,000. State revenue is in part diverted to local governments.

Subventions to Local Government

The major purpose in giving subventions to local governments is to transfer a part of the burden from property taxes to other forms of taxation. In the State of California this process has occurred repeatedly.

In several of these subventions to local governments, larger subsidies proportionately are given to smaller units of government than to the larger ones: For example, each county receives $30,000 of gasoline tax subventions from the one-cent gasoline tax receipts allocated to counties, and the balance is divided in proportion to motor vehicle registrations. Smaller elementary, high school, and junior college districts, because of the formula of apportionment, receive proportionately more State aid than do the larger districts. The effect of these larger subventions to the smaller units is shown in Table 37, page 124, which shows a larger per capita subvention to such counties and school districts.

As local expenditures and property tax levies get larger because of increased governmental activities, pressure develops to shift the burden from the property tax base by transferring it to State taxes. This form of diversion of State revenue has been accomplished by two methods: (1) Part of the tax receipts are apportioned to local governments; and (2) the State assumes an expenditure from its treasury and taxes for such purpose.

The taxes which the State collects and shares locally are: gasoline, motor vehicle "in lieu," motor vehicle and liquor licenses, and horse racing fees and licenses. In apportioning these moneys to the counties, the State has imposed rather rigid restrictions on their expenditure. The local expenditures which the State shares and pays for from State taxes deposited in the General Fund are: needy aged, dependent children, and needy blind assistance; apportionments to elementary, high and junior college districts, vocational education, contributions to the teachers' retirement benefits, free textbooks, aid to tubercular patients in county institutions, and salaries of superior court judges.

The taxes which the State levies and apportions directly to local government are shown in Table 20, pages 83 and 84, for the period 1933 through 1942. In 1942 the amounts totaled $94,212,000, of which the State retained $46,359,000, the counties received $29,642,000, the cities $16,147,000, and the agricultural districts $2,064,000. The taxes levied by the State and apportioned from its treasury in 1942 for local expenditures totaled $231,215,000, of which the State retained $127,819,000; $24,896,000 was apportioned to counties and $78,500,000 for ADA apportionments to school districts.

The totals of these two categories are as follows:

State	$174,178,000	Schools	$78,500,000
Counties	54,538,000	Other districts	2,064,000
Cities	16,147,000
		Total	$325,427,000

The total State and local tax collections in California and the amount of taxes collected by these governments per capita are shown in Table 3, page 54. Starting in 1900, the per capita tax burden was $19.42. By 1929-30 the amount had increased to $78.74. In 1933-34, with the change in taxation and depression-forced economies, the per capita burden dropped $59.80. The amount collected has increased each year since that time, and in 1941-42 amounted to $100.51 per capita.

State Tax Revenues

A history of tax collections for the State government since 1900 is contained in Table 5, pages 57 to 59. The period covered is from the fiscal year 1899-1900 through 1941-42, and the fundamental changes in the State tax structure are clearly evident. Through 1911 the property tax was the main source of revenue for the State; it yielded $7,891,000 in that year out of a total tax revenue of $11,651,000. It was succeeded in the following year by the utility gross receipts tax, which brought in substantial revenues through 1935 and was discontinued with the return of utility property to local rolls for taxation. The utility gross receipts tax increased from $6,617,000 in 1912 to $27,913,000 in 1935. This then was a minor revenue compared with tax revenue amounting to $154,177,000. With the repeal of the utility gross receipts tax, the corporation tax was modified to include utilities with other corporations.

The retail sales tax came into effect in 1933-34 with a yield of $33,244,000; in 1941-42 the receipts had swelled to $132,576,000.

The personal income tax became effective in 1935-36 and brought in $6,526,000; in 1941-42 the yield was $29,039,000.

The unemployment insurance tax was started in 1936-37 and jumped from $63,502,000 for the fiscal 1938, the first full year of collections, to $102,676,000 in 1941-42. These tax receipts are held in trust in the Federal Treasury for the specific purpose of providing benefits for unemployment, and they are not available for general State expenditures. It is, however, a tax upon all persons affected by the act and must be considered in determining the individual's total tax burden.

The General Fund of the State of California is dependent at present on a few taxes for its major income. These, for the biennium 1943-45, unless taxes are reduced by the Legislature, are estimated in the State Budget to be as follows:

	Amount	Per cent
Retail sales and use tax.....	$201,000,000	42.9
Bank and corporation franchise taxes.....	103,000,000	22.0
Personal income tax.....	71,400,000	15.3
Alcoholic beverage taxes and licenses.....	25,300,000	5.4
Insurance tax	19,350,000	4.1
Inheritance tax	15,000,000	3.2
All other income.....	32,994,000	7.1
Total.....	$468,044,000	100.0

The General Fund receives revenue other than taxes: the amount, however, is relatively small in relation to the total. The period 1932-33 through 1939-40 is shown in Table 21, pages 85 to 90. Similar data for 1940-41 and 1941-42 are shown in Table 22, pages 91 and 92.

State Expenditures

Expenditures for State purposes have increased markedly in a decade, as previously indicated in citing the rise from $14.63 in 1932 to $25.06 in 1942. Expenditures are shown in summary for the five-year period 1937-38 through 1941-42 on page 43, and by department and function on page 44. Similar data for the decade 1929-30 to 1939-40 are shown in Table 23, pages 93 to 98. Significant trends in State expenditure will be discussed in the section relating to the State Budget.

State Postwar I Expenditures
