DEAR ASSEMBLYMAN POTTER: Pursuant to your kind request that we express our views concerning the Youth Correction Authority Act which is receiving consideration by you at this time, it appears proper to state:

1. We approve the principle of the act as being a means of more effectively rehabilitating young offenders and believe that it should be given a further opportunity to develop its program and put it into effect.

2. A full-time three man Authority will doubtless prove an effective way of carrying out the purposes of the act.

3. We believe that Section 1731.5 of the Welfare and Institutions Code should be amended by changing the date, January 1, 1944, so as to read: June 30, 1945. That will make such commitment discretionary until that date. We recommend that further study be given to the question of the mandatory provisions of this act by the Legislature before the session in 1945.

4. We direct attention to the fact that institutional facilities for the care of young persons have not been adequately expanded during the last 20 years and urge that steps be taken to supplement existing facilities for both boys and girls.

5. We greatly appreciate the thoughtful and enlightened consideration which the Legislature is giving to these very important matters.

The undersigned, representing the Conference of California Judges, have been requested to give consideration to this act and are submitting their comments, realizing that suggestions will be received by the Legislature from judges throughout the State.

Respectfully yours,

CLEMENT D. NYE
W. TURNEY FOX
ROBERT H. SCOTT, Chairman

The original act provided that it should be discretionary with the courts of California as to whether or not they would make commitments to the Youth Correction Authority until January 1, 1944. After that date commitments, with certain exceptions set forth in the act, of boys and girls under 23 years of age, would be mandatorily made to the Youth Correction Authority. This would not include boys and girls under the jurisdiction of the juvenile court as the act provides that it shall not in any way interfere with the functions of the juvenile court.

Your committee believes that the Youth Correction Authority should begin in a very modest manner and gradually grow, assuming increasing responsibilities as it grows. The committee, therefore, believes that it would be unwise to place upon the Authority the full case load as of January 1, 1944, and believes that the discretionary period for commitments by the court should be extended to January 1, 1946. Many of the judges of California have already demonstrated their confidence in the principle of the Youth Correction Authority as evidenced by the fact that approximately 100 boys have been committed to the Authority under the discretionary provisions.

Recommendations

Your committee recommends:

1. That the Youth Correction Authority, subject to any changes hereinafter recommended, be retained and its possibilities and potentialities gradually developed to their full effectiveness.

2. That there be appropriated to the Youth Correction Authority for the Ninety-fifth and Ninety-sixth Fiscal Years the sum of $1,000,000; that said sum be expended only after approval of the purposes of the expenditures by the Governor and/or the Director of Finance.

3. That Section 1731.5 of the Welfare and Institutions Code be amended by postponing the date on which commitments by the courts become mandatory to the Youth Correction Authority from January 1, 1944, to January 1, 1946.

4. That Senate Bill No. 160, transferring the correctional schools from the Department of Institutions to the Youth Correction Authority, be enacted.

5. That Senate Bill No. 166, as amended, transferring the State Department of Probation from the Department of Social Welfare to the Youth Correction Authority, be enacted.

6. That the word "Correction" be eliminated from the title of the Youth Correction Authority and that it hereafter be known as the California Youth Authority.

7. That the members of the Authority serve without pay until June 30, 1945, and that the Authority be empowered to select one of its members to serve as executive director at a salary of $10,000 per year.

8. That the executive director should be appointed to serve until the board comes on full time basis with power to act.

9. That the Youth Correction Authority develop a unified Department of Youth Correction and Juvenile Delinquency Prevention for the State of California, centralizing and integrating as far as possible the agencies and departments under their control for this purpose.

10. That the Youth Correction Authority establish a Division of Prevention and Community Assistance for the purpose of aiding communities in their program of delinquent prevention.

11. That the Youth Correction Authority immediately establish forestry camps and farm training centers as a means of providing additional and more flexible facilities for handling boys who are likely to respond to this type of treatment and program.

12. That in view of the critical girl delinquent problem the Youth Correction Authority make immediate plans to relieve the acute shortage of custodial and training facilities by the State for girls determined by the courts to be in need of custodial care, treatment, and training and for which there is not at present adequate State facilities.

13. That as soon as possible the Youth Correction Authority disassociate its Northern California Diagnostic Clinic from Preston School of Industry. That, if because of the war emergency, the clinic can not be removed from Preston, that it be housed in a separate building and until the Youth Correction Authority commits directly to the Preston School of Industry, except in cases of emergency, youths committed to the Youth Correction Authority and confined in the clinic be restricted from intermingling with the inmates of Preston School of Industry or become subjected to its program.

14. That an urgency appropriation of $20,000 be made the Youth Correction Authority so that it can begin its camp program immediately.

15. That an urgency appropriation of $150,000 be made out of the $1,000,000 appropriation to the Youth Correction Authority for the reason that the appropriation, not being a part of the Governor's Budget the Authority would be without funds to operate from July 1, 1943, until the Youth Correction Authority appropriation bill became law.

16. That a reasonable specific amount be contributed by the counties for those committed to the Authority except where the Authority recommits to city and county jails or State penitentiaries.

17. That the Interim Committee continue its work to assist the Authority in the development of its program

The Honorable Speaker, Charles W. Lyon, and Members of the Assembly

Supplementing the report submitted today by the committee appointed to investigate the Youth Correction Authority, we wish to submit the following

After many years of research in the field of crime among juveniles, the American Law Institute drafted a model Youth Correction Authority Act, and after the judges of California and many others interested in this subject thoroughly studied the act fitting it into California laws, the 1941 Legislature passed the first Youth Correction Authority Bill in the United States. Since that time many other States have adopted similar legislation.

One of the principal provisions of the California Youth Correction Act is that it creates a three-man board, whose duty it is to study the life, the background, the family history, the health, the education facilities, qualifications, and delinquent records of the boys and girls who have run afoul of the law, and prescribe methods of correction.

In addition to this, the Authority is making a comprehensive study of the cause of juvenile delinquency.

This comprehensive and worthwhile work can not be accomplished by one man, as recommended by Paragraph 7 of the above-referred-to report. Therefore, we are dissenting from the recommendation of Paragraph 7, and urge the Legislature to retain the three-member board.

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by the Chaplain, Rev. Clarence Albert Kircher:

Almighty and Everlasting God, Who, of Thy tender love towards mankind, hast sent Thy Son, our Saviour, Jesus Christ, to take upon Him our flesh, to suffer death upon the cross, that all mankind should learn of his great humility; mercifully grant that we may both follow the example of His patience, and also be made partners of His resurrection. We remember Thy words of challenge this Good Friday: If any man would come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross and follow me

"When I survey the wondrous cross
On which the Prince of Glory died,
My richest gain I count but loss,
And pour contempt on all my pride.

Were the whole realm of nature mine,
That were a present far too small;
Love so amazing, so divine,
Demands my soul, my life, my all."

AMEN

READING OF THE JOURNAL DISPENSED WITH

EDITORIAL PRINTED IN JOURNAL

The following editorial appearing in the Sacramento Bee of April 21, 1943, was ordered printed in the Journal:

Senate Should Pass Bill For Solons Expense Pay

The assembly has passed AB 1282, by Assemblyman Willis Sargent of Los Angeles County, which would authorize a $10 per day expense allowance, in addition to salary, for members of the legislature.

This measure is in the interest of justice, fair play and equity and should be approved by the senate and signed by Governor Earl Warren.

No one will question the fact that living expenses have increased, especially for those who are compelled to live away from home for any length of time as is the case with the legislators.

And no fair minded person will argue that our lawmakers, most of whom are conscientious Californians trying to do a difficult job to the best of their ability, should be forced to dig into their own pocketbooks to meet legitimate expenses incident to attendance at regular or special sessions of the legislature.

Nor can it be argued soundly that because the people have voted down constitutional amendments to raise the $100 per month salary of the legislators that AB 1282 should be refused passage.

Many Californians voted against the salary increase proposal last November because they are opposed to writing what might be called administrative law into the organic law; in other words, freezing it into the constitution.

The salaries of legislators and all other constitutional officers of the state, as is so with our congressmen and the president and vice president, rightfully should be fixed by statute so adjustments could be made by the legislature to take care of economic emergencies such as the one now facing California due to the war.

Members of the senate should not hesitate to vote "Yes" for AB 1282 and thereby send the bill to the desk of Governor Warren.

And he should sign it gladly.

Due to the shortage of manpower many employers have to cooperate in the employment and sharing of night watchmen. Under the present law these men technically would be required to comply with the laws governing private detectives, run the gauntlet of a complicated license procedure and file a surety bond. By Mr. Ralph C. Dills:

Suits Against Responsible Relatives—No. 9462

QUESTION

DEAR MR. DILLS: You have asked us if our old age security law will be out of conformity with the requirements of the Federal Social Security Act if the relatives contribution scale and the statutory authorization for counties to bring suits against responsible relatives of persons receiving old age aid are repealed.

OPINION

In our opinion, the repeal of the relatives contribution scale and the statutory authorization for counties to sue responsible relatives will not result in our old age security law being out of conformity with the requirements of the Federal Social Security Act.

ANALYSIS

The Federal Social Security Act contains no provision which requires the States and their political subdivisions to sue responsible relatives for the reimbursement of aid granted. The Federal act does require that any reimbursement that may be secured by the States or their political subdivisions shall be shared with the Federal Government (Section 3 (b) (2) (B)).

Sections 2024 and 2223 of the Welfare and Institutions Code provide that a share of any reimbursement that may be secured or given to the State or its political subdivisions shall be paid to the Federal Government.

The cited provisions of the Federal Social Security Act do not require that the State shall undertake positive steps to secure such reimbursement, but only that if reimbursement is secured or granted then that reimbursement must be shared with the Federal Government.

The Federal Social Security Act does require, however, that if, in fact, a responsible relative (or any other person) does assist a needy person, that assistance must be taken into consideration in determining the total amount of the needs of such needy person (Section 2 (a) (7)).

Section 2020 of the Welfare and Institutions Code provides that income and resources received by a needy person from all sources (which includes help given by responsible relatives) shall be considered in determining the total needs of such needy person.

The repeal of the relatives contribution scale and the authorization for the counties to sue responsible relatives would not affect Section 2020 of the Welfare and Institutions Code, nor Section 2 (a) (7) of the Federal Social Security Act. If aid is, in fact, voluntarily granted, it will be taken into consideration.

Accordingly, we are of the opinion that the repeal of the relatives contribution scale and the repeal of the statutory authorization for the counties to sue responsible relatives will not result in the old age security law provisions of the Welfare and Institutions Code of this State being out of conformity with the requirements of the Federal Social Security Act.

Very truly yours,

FRED B. WOOD, Legislative Counsel

Amendment No. 3

On page 1 of the printed bill, strike out all of lines 1 to 27, inclusive, and insert "SECTION 1. Section 281.5 is added to the Agricultural Code, to read:

281.5. Until the ninety-first day after final adjournment of the Fifty-sixth Regular Session of the Legislature, or until the cessation of hostilities in all wars in which the United States is now engaged, whichever first occurs, it shall be lawful, at the option and expense of the owner, notwithstanding any other provisions of this article, for the inspector or for any person when accompanied by the inspector, to transport hives in which disease has been found, together with their contents, to a wax-salvage plant within the county, licensed under the provisions of this section, after first having killed the bees in such hives and sealed the hives to prevent the entrance of live bees.

It is unlawful to remove any honey or wax or to salvage or attempt to salvage any hives or appliances from any colony infected with American foulbrood, except in a wax-salvage plant within the county, licensed and operated under the provisions of this section.

The director shall prepare and furnish to interested parties upon request uniform specifications for the construction of wax-salvage plants, and rules and regulations for the operation of such plants in such manner as to prevent the spread of disease therefrom.

Any person desiring to maintain and operate a plant for the salvaging of wax, hives and appliances from diseased apiaries shall apply for a license therefor to the commissioner of the county in which such wax-salvage plant is located. The commissioner shall make such investigation as he may deem necessary and shall issue the license without fee if he is satisfied that the plant is constructed in accordance with the provisions of this section and the specifications of the director, and that the plant will be operated in accordance with the rules and regulations of the director.

All salvage operations with respect to wax, hives and appliances from diseased colonies shall be performed under the direction and supervision of the inspector in an enclosure tightly double-screened to prevent the entrance of bees. The frames, together with their contents, shall be held not less than thirty minutes in boiling water in a vat drained by direct connection into a sewage disposal system or into a cesspool constructed in accordance with specifications of the director. The frames, after removal from the vat, shall be boiled not less than twenty minutes in a solution of lye water. The hives, bodies, bottom boards, covers, and supers shall either be scorched or shall be boiled not less than twenty minutes in a solution of lye water. Honey shall not be salvaged, but shall be drained off with the refuse water. All solid matter, other than wax, remaining after draining the vat shall be burned in an incinerator constructed in accordance with specifications of the director.

Any license issued under the provisions of this section may be revoked or suspended by the commissioner, after hearing, whenever he finds that a licensee has not complied with all of the provisions of this section and the rules, regulations and specifications issued hereunder.

SEC. 2. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety, within the meaning of Section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California, and as such shall take effect immediately. The following is a statement of the facts constituting such necessity:

There is a serious shortage of beeswax, a product essential for many military purposes. Present law requires, whenever American foulbrood is found in a colony, that the wax, hives and frames, together with the bees and honey, be burned and the ashes buried. Current demand for wax tends to encourage beekeepers to conceal the presence of disease and attempt to salvage the wax without adequate facilities, thus further spreading the disease. Burning as required by law is difficult under wartime conditions because of scarcity of labor and because burning cannot be done at night in certain military zones and cannot be done in the daytime without attracting and destroying bees from neighboring colonies.

Under the precautions provided by this section, much wax can be salvaged, as well as hives and frames, materials for which are scarce, without danger of spreading disease. In order that further waste of this essential war material be prevented, and in order to discourage further spread of disease through unsupervised salvage operations, it is necessary that this act take effect immediately."

Amendment No. 4

On page 2 of the printed bill, strike out all of lines 1 to 21, inclusive.

Amendments read and adopted.

Bill ordered reprinted and engrossed.

Amendment No. 3

On page 1 of said bill, strike out lines 11 to 16, inclusive, and insert

"Any employee who is or claims to be a citizen of any foreign country or is or claims to be a dual citizen of the United States and of any foreign country with which the United States is at war or who has renounced his citizenship or allegiance to the United States or has taken an oath of allegiance or otherwise pledged allegiance to any foreign country with which the United States is at war or who has committed or commits any act of disloyalty to or disrespect towards the United States or its Flag or who does any act or thing when the United States is engaged in war to obstruct the war effort or the defense preparations of the United States shall be deemed a violator of this section and such acts, in addition to any other penalties provided by law therefor, shall be punishable under Section 173 of this act.

SEC. 2. Section 173 of said act is amended to read:

Sec. 173. (a) The tenure of every permanent employee holding a position shall be during good behavior, but any such person may be removed, demoted, suspended, reprimanded, or otherwise disciplined, under a procedure in conformity with the provisions of this act which shall be set up by the board in its rules for any of the following causes: Fraud in securing appointment, incompetency, inefficiency, inexcusable neglect of duty, physical or mental disability, insubordination, dishonesty, drunkenness on duty, intemperance, addiction to the use of narcotics or habit-forming drugs, inexcusable absence without leave, conviction of a felony or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, immorality, discourteous treatment of the public or other employees, improper political activity, wilful disobedience, violation of the provisions of this act or the rules of the board, or for any other failure of good behavior or any other act or acts which are incompatible with or inimical to the public service.

(b) The appointing power, or the board, or any person with the consent of the board, the appointing power or the Attorney General, may file charges against any employee or any person on any employment list for dismissal or other punitive action for any or all of the causes hereinbefore provided. Such charges must be made in writing and clearly state the facts constituting such cause, in such detail as is reasonably necessary to enable the employee to prepare his defense thereto and shall be filed with the board and a copy served upon the employee either by personal service or by mail. The appointing power or any officer or employee authorized by the appointing power so to do may immediately suspend any employee from service without pay pending the filing of charges or the hearing thereon by notifying such employee thereof. Such a suspension shall be valid only in the event charges are filed with the board and served on the employee, within 15 days of the date of the suspension. Such suspension shall be effective until a hearing has been held on the charges and a decision thereon rendered by the board. The charges filed against an employee must also inform him of the time and manner in which, under the rules of the board, he must answer to such charges and ask for a hearing. The employee may within 10 days after service file with the board a written answer to or explanation of the charges, and request a hearing, and a copy of such answer, or explanation, and request shall at once be mailed by the board to the appointing power or other person who has made the charges. Amended or supplemental charges may be filed, and served, with like opportunity to the employee to file an answer or explanation and a request for hearing.

Within a reasonable time after the filing of such answer, and upon written notice to both parties of the time and place of the hearing, the board or its duly authorized representative shall hold a hearing, at which time both parties shall have the right and opportunity to submit all proper and competent evidence against or in support of the charges. Failure on the part of the employee to request a hearing, and to give such written answer or explanation to the board within 10 days of the service upon him of the charges, or to appear at the hearing, shall be deemed an admission of the truth of such charges without further hearing upon the part of the board unless further time should be granted by the board. Either by deposition or at the hearing the employee may be examined under Section 2055 of the Code of Civil Procedure, and the employee may likewise examine, or cause to be examined any person. It shall be the duty of the board to subpoena witnesses for the accused upon his written request and at his cost, which costs the board may require to be prepaid, to consider carefully the evidence submitted in the hearing and to render a decision which in its judgment is just and proper.

The board, in arriving at its decision, may consider any prior suspension of the employee under Section 171, or any prior proceeding under this section. The decision must be rendered within a reasonable time after the completion of the hearing. If adverse to the employee, the decision may provide that the punitive action taken therein shall date from the date of the service of charges upon the employee. The decision shall be entered upon the minutes of the board and upon the official roster of employees. Copies of the decision shall be furnished to the appointing power, the person preferring charges and to the employee. Hearings may be held by the board, any member or any authorized representative or referee but the decision shall be rendered by the board after careful consideration of the evidence submitted in the hearing.

(c) Within 30 days from and after receipt by him of a copy of the decision rendered by the board in a proceeding under this section, the employee or the appointing power may apply for a rehearing by filing with the board a petition in writing therefor. Within 30 days after such filing, the board shall cause notice thereof to be served upon the other parties to the proceedings by mailing to each a copy of the petition for rehearing, in the same manner as in this act prescribed for the giving of notice of a hearing. Within 60 days after the service of such notice of the filing of the petition for rehearing, the board shall either grant, in whole or in part, or deny the petition, and if the petition for rehearing is not acted upon within said period, it shall be deemed denied. If the petition for a rehearing is granted, the matter shall be set down for hearing by the board, either before the board or before its authorized representative, and such hearing shall be conducted as to the matters on which the rehearing is granted in substantially the same manner and under like rules of procedure as an original hearing upon charges filed under and pursuant to the provisions of this section.

(d) The board shall in rendering its decision, authorize payment of salary for the period of suspension if it finds that the charges made were untrue or that the employee was justified in the course of conduct upon which the charges were based[], provided, however, no salary shall be authorized or paid for the period of suspension or any portion thereof that the employee was not ready, able and willing to perform the duties of his position, whether such suspension be valid or not or whether the charges on which it is based state facts sufficient to constitute causes for disciplinary action. In authorizing or paying any accrued salary herein provided for there shall be deducted from the total amount accrued any compensation such employee earned or might reasonably have earned in private or public employment during the period of suspension. There also shall be deducted any money and the reasonable value of any maintenance that may have been furnished or granted to such employee during such suspension as a part of or in connection with any program of the United States formulated in the interests of National security for the removal of persons or classes of persons from designated areas and their relocation, maintenance and supervision.

Sec 3 Section 153 5 of said act is amended to read:

Sec. 153 5. Absence without leave, whether voluntary or involuntary, for 10 consecutive working days shall constitute and be deemed a resignation from State service, and the separation shall be entered in the official roster. Any employee so separated from the service may, within 30 days of the date of his separation, apply to the board for reinstatement. Such reinstatement shall be granted only in the event the employee makes a satisfactory explanation to the board as to the cause of his absence and his failure to obtain leave therefor[.]. and the board makes a finding that the employee is ready, able and willing to resume the discharge of the duties of his position, or if not, that he has obtained the consent of his appointing authority to a leave of absence to commence upon his reinstatement. In no event shall an employee be paid salary for the period of his absence or separation or for any portion thereof.

SEC. 4. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health or safety within the meaning of Section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution and shall therefore go into immediate effect. A statement of the facts constituting such necessity is as follows:

There exists serious uncertainty as to the rights and privileges and the liabilities of the State with respect to many civil service employees who have voluntarily or involuntarily left the State service and are unable to perform the duties of their previous employments. This bill is intended to clarify the situation and make definite such rights and liabilities and to make possible an orderly, fair administration of the State Civil Service Laws, and is necessary to the efficient discharge by the various State departments and agencies of the duties imposed upon them by law."

COMMUNICATIONS

By Mr. Thorp:

The following communication from the Legislative Counsel was received and ordered printed in the Journal:

OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL
SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA. April 16, 1943

*Honorable James E. Thorp Assembly Chamber
State Capitol, Sacramento, California*

ASSEMBLY BILL NO. 933 AS AMENDED IN ASSEMBLY APRIL 1, 1943

DEAR MR. THORP: You have requested our opinion as to what effect this bill, as amended, would have upon the California Milk Control Laws known as the Young Act and the Desmond Act and constituting Chapter 10 of Division 4 of the Agricultural Code.

This bill provides for the establishment of temporary provisions, conditions, standards, or prices when a Federal regulation made under the war power so conflicts with the State regulations that the latter are ineffectual and unenforceable.

In the absence of any such contrary Federal regulation the bill would have no effect upon the Milk Control Law.

When, however, the Federal regulation under the war power fixes prices for milk or cream which are different from those established pursuant to the code a conflict necessarily results.

There is no question but that the war power of the Federal Government can not be limited or restricted in its operation by a State law or regulation.

When the Federal regulation is so inconsistent with that of the State that the two can not stand together the State regulation must give way to the Federal one.

The question then arises as to whether or not the fixing of milk prices by the Federal Government establishes a regulation which conflicts with and supersedes the prices established under the code so that there is nothing left of the code provisions to enforce.

The prices established by the Federal Government and those established pursuant to the code are fundamentally different in two important respects.

The California Law is designed not as a price control measure but as a milk control measure. The declared purpose of the California Law is to insure an adequate and continuous supply of milk and cream and the price fixing features are designed to accomplish that purpose.

The objective of the Federal regulations is somewhat different, it being to control only the price in order to prevent inflation.

In carrying out the purpose of the California Law the prices established are minimum prices. Regardless of the fact that the minimum price tends to be the actual standard price this principle is nevertheless of considerable importance in determining the essential nature of the California Milk Control Law.

The prices established by the Federal Government will either be fixed prices or maximum prices, and in no event will they be minimum prices.

Considering these essential differences between the Federal and State regulations it might well be held that the Federal Government has occupied the field to such an extent that there is no room for regulations of the type made by the State.

The decisions are clear to the effect that when the Federal Government and the State Government have power to regulate the same field of activity and the Federal Government occupies the entire field there is no room for State regulation. (Cloverleaf Butter Co. vs. Patterson, 315 U. S. 148; Hines vs. Davidowitz, 312 U. S. 52.)

If it should be determined that the Federal milk price regulations are so different from those of the State that the State regulations are superseded in their entirety, the provisions of the Young and Desmond Milk Law would be unenforceable by the State.

Assembly Bill No. 933, as amended, is devised to permit the establishment by the State of such regulations as will carry out as much of the purposes of the California Law as the Federal regulations will permit. In other words, instead of permitting State enforcement to lapse entirely during the periods conflicting Federal regulations exist, under the bill new State regulations may be established. These regulations are to be as nearly as possible like the ordinary State regulations and will, of course, be enforceable by State agencies.

We believe that the standards prescribed in the bill and the limitations on the exercise of the powers granted to the Governor and the Director of Agriculture in the bill are sufficient to accomplish the purposes of the bill.

Very truly yours,

FRED B. WOOD, Legislative Counsel
By JOSEPH W. PAULUCCI, Deputy

Section 1711.5 of the Welfare and Institutions Code is amended to read: 1711.5 This section shall remain in effect [only while the United States is at war and not after June 30, 1943] until September 1, 1943, unless earlier repealed. While this section is in effect to the extent that it conflicts with Sections 1711 and 1722, this section controls.

Any superintendent of a State correctional school for boys, also any probation officer of a county, is eligible to accept and hold the office of member of the [Youth Correction] authority and to continue to hold office as such superintendent or as such probation officer (subject, in the latter case, to the consent, permission, or approval of the board of supervisors or other appropriate county authority or authorities), devoting such time to his duties as member as the duties of his other office permit, but during the period of such dual holding he shall receive no salary as member of the authority, though he shall receive his actual necessary traveling expenses as such member and such salary and expenses as may be otherwise provided for the office of superintendent or of probation officer. The rate of pay fixed by the State Personnel Board for the superintendent of a correctional school for boys for full-time employment shall not be diminished because the superintendent is serving as a member of the authority.

SEC. 3. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety within the meaning of Section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution and shall therefore go into immediate effect. A statement of the facts constituting such necessity is as follows:

The United States is at war. It is more than ever necessary that the youth of this Nation be conserved so that they may assume their obligations during the war and during the period of reconstruction thereafter. The appropriation and the amendments made by this act will enable the authority to function effectively pending the determination of the permanent program and thus contribute to the public peace, health and safety of this Nation and this State."

Amendments read and adopted.

Explanation of Vote

It has been stated on the Assembly floor that 20 per cent of the trains carrying war commodities are delayed by the Full Crew Law. In justice to the armed forces, we can not vote to continue this condition. Therefore, we are in favor of suspending this law during the war, subjecting, however, the railroads to regulation by the Railroad Commission, to provide adequate safety rules and regulations.

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolution was offered:

By Messrs. King, Denny, Thompson, and Burns:

House Resolution No. 209

Relating to a recess of this Assembly

WHEREAS, The scent of wild lilac in the air, dogwood in bloom, and a sudden rise in the spirits of men all proclaim that the first day of May approaches; and

WHEREAS, Even among primitive men this was a season of gaiety, festivity, and feasting, while in our Christian era it has served as an inspiration to the pen of poets innumerable and waltz kings immortal, and in this our own beloved State the tradition of May 1st has reached its full glory as the day when the bonds of legal restraint are relaxed and untold thousands of Californians are drawn irresistibly to the great wonderland of California's Sierra region, and the Redwood Empire, to the cool depths of green forests, or where fresh streams play in golden sunlight through meadows flecked with the scarlet, gold, blue, and white of mountain flowers, and where, most entrancing of all, the elusive rainbow, the wary eastern brook, the mighty mackinaw, steelhead, and the vicious German brown wait to test one's skill; and

WHEREAS, At this traditional season of return to nature, of restoring of souls, and renewing of strength, such a longing arises in the human breast for the well loved winding Eel, the turbulent white foam of the mighty Feather, the meandering drowsy waters of the Pit, the famous Klamath, and the pure depths of countless lakes, that even against the strongest will a Member of this Wartime Assembly finds "Whereas," "to wit," "wherefore," "be it resolved," "do pass," or "expunge" blending and merging into "rods," "leaders," "spinners," "dry flies," "wet flies," "salmon eggs," and even the despised "worm," until the only question before the house becomes "Does a rainbow rise better to the delicate multicolored ginger quill or to the practical and effective lowly crowding?"; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California. That the Members of this Assembly recommend to the Rules Committee that this Assembly recess at the close of business on April 30th to reconvene May 3, 1943, so that the Members of this Assembly may join their constituents and fellow citizens in the traditional opening of that annual Golden Age known as "Fishin' Season," and repair to the soul restoring glories of California's vast mountain areas.

Resolution read, and referred to Committee on Rules and House Functions

"SEC. 24. Section 2224 of said code is amended to read:

2224. The board of supervisors shall determine if the applicant or recipient of aid has within the State a spouse or adult child pecuniarily able to contribute to the support of the applicant or recipient of aid. A brief initial form shall be sent to the relative inquiring whether the relative has an income in his or her own right. If the relative has such income, he or she shall file a sworn statement indicating whether he or she is contributing to the support of the applicant or recipient of aid, and if contributing, in what form and amount per month.

Upon the request of the board of supervisors, the spouse or adult child shall file such sworn statement within 10 days if living in the county, or within 30 days if living elsewhere in the State; provided, however, that the granting or continued receipts of aid shall not be contingent upon the filing of such sworn statement by such spouse or adult child.

If the person receiving aid has within the State, a spouse or adult child pecuniarily able to support said person, the board of supervisors shall request the district attorney or other civil legal officer of the county granting such aid to proceed against such kindred in the order of their responsibility to support. Upon such demand the district attorney or other civil legal officer of the county granting aid shall, on behalf of said county, maintain an action, in the superior court of the county granting such aid, against said relative, in the order named, to recover for said county such portion of the aid granted as said relative is able to pay, and to secure an order requiring the payment of any sums which may become due in the future for which the relative may be liable. Any sum so recovered shall be credited by the county to the county, to the State and to the Federal Government in proportion to the contributions of each respectively, or in the manner prescribed by the State Department of Social Welfare.

The granting of or continued receipt of aid shall not be contingent upon such recovery."

SEC 2 Section 1 of said act is amended to read:

Section 1 Any county, city and county, incorporated city or other public or municipal corporation or public district, which now has, or hereafter shall have, any moneys in any sinking fund of or any surplus money in the treasury thereof, not required for the immediate necessities of the said county, city and county, incorporated city or other public or municipal corporation, or public district, is hereby authorized to invest such portion of any such moneys as the governing body of the said county, city and county, incorporated city or other public or municipal corporation or public district, may deem wise or expedient in (1) any bonds already issued or hereafter issued by such county, city and county, incorporated city, or other public or municipal corporation or public district, respectively, and (2) treasury notes or bonds of the United States or those for which the faith and credit of the United States are pledged for the payment of principal and interest, or of this State, or of any county, city and county, city, or other public or municipal corporation or public district respectively within this State, or registered warrants of this State; provided, said notes, bonds or registered warrants are legal investment for savings banks in the State of California. Any such investment may be made by direct purchase of any issue of notes, bonds or registered warrants, or part thereof, at the original sale of such notes, bonds or registered warrants, or by the purchase of such notes, bonds or registered warrants after they have been thus issued. Any notes, bonds or registered warrants thus purchased and held may, from time to time, be sold and the proceeds reinvested in notes, bonds or registered warrants as above provided. Sales of any notes, bonds or registered warrants thus purchased and held shall, from time to time be made in season so that the proceeds may be applied to the purposes for which the money with which the notes, bonds or registered warrants were originally purchased, was placed in the sinking fund or the treasury of the county, city and county, incorporated city, or public or municipal corporation or public district.

Any bonds so purchased, which were issued by the purchaser, may be canceled, either in satisfaction of sinking fund obligations, or otherwise, and when canceled shall no longer be deemed to be outstanding, or in the discretion of the governing body any bonds so purchased may be held uncanceled so long as may be determined upon, and while so held uncanceled may be resold.

SEC 5 This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure within the meaning of Section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety, and as such shall take effect immediately.

The facts constituting such necessity are as follows:

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR

STATE OF CALIFORNIA

GOVERNOR'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO, April 26, 1943

To the Honorable Members of the Assembly
State of California, Sacramento, California

GREETINGS: I am returning herewith, without my signature, Assembly Bill No. 453, entitled: "An act to add Section 2873.1 to the Penal Code, relating to the sale or exchange of animals and fowls raised at the prisons"

My objections to this bill are as follows:

As originally introduced the apparent purpose of Assembly Bill No. 453 was to authorize the State prisons to sell animals and fowls to farmers for breeding purposes, but during its passage through the Legislature, the provisions to that effect were deleted from the bill. The enrolled bill merely empowers the sale or exchange of animals or fowls suitable for breeding purposes to State and county institutions. The Surplus Products Act now provides ample authority for such sale or exchange and also provides a uniform method for the disposition of such products under supervision of the Department of Finance, which is desirable. The author agrees with me that the final enactment of the measure in its present form is therefore unnecessary and inadvisable and at his request I am withholding my approval.

Respectfully submitted.

EARL WARREN, Governor

In line 5 of the title of the printed bill, strike out the period, and insert "," declaring the urgency thereof, to take effect immediately."

Amendment No. 2

On page 1 of the printed bill, after line 8, insert

"SEC. 2. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety within the meaning of Section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California, and as such shall take effect immediately. The following is a statement of the facts constituting such necessity:

The war effort has made heavy demands on the lumber industry. Lumber is required by defense industries and the armed forces. The road referred to in the Burns-Biggar Act is the only road over which lumber products can be shipped to market from sawmills in the vicinity. Shipments of lumber are delayed due to the poor condition of this road. Certain State moneys were made available for expenditure during the Ninety-third and Ninety-fourth Fiscal Years for the improvement and reconstruction of this road. The work can not be completed, due to the lack of manpower, prior to the close of the Ninety-fourth Fiscal Year and unless this act goes into immediate effect work on the road will cease on June 30, 1943.

The cessation of work will delay the completion of the improvement and reconstruction of the road and thus hinder and delay the flow of lumber products to industry and the armed forces."

Amendments read and adopted.

The funds hereby appropriated shall be allocated by the California State War Council to local districts which have established such child care centers for the purpose of supplementing support from the Federal Government, parents of children cared for, and industry where those sources are insufficient to meet the costs of operating the child care centers.

(a) That child care centers are intended as emergency institutions, to be conducted for the period of the war only, and are to be discontinued completely within six months after the cessation of hostilities.

(b) That the Legislature views the problem of caring for children whose parents are employed in essential war industries as essentially a part of the National defense effort, and that the obligation of supporting the child care centers is primarily a Federal responsibility.

(c) That since the parents of the children are employed in industry, they are able to contribute to the cost of their care, and are primarily liable for furnishing the necessities of life for the children.

(d) That participation by the State or locality in payment of the costs of the program should be of supplementary or emergency nature only, until the Federal Government, parents, and industry can maintain its full support.

(e) That limitation of the operation to care for children of day workers only should be encouraged, and industry, parents, and school districts should be encouraged to arrange for employment of mothers in daytime only.

(f) That employment of mothers of more than two children of very tender years appears inadvisable except in extreme cases.

(g) That the Legislature recognizes that the cost of maintenance of the child care centers should not be imposed against local real property, but must be paid for upon a broader tax basis.

SEC. 4. Before allocating the funds appropriated the California State War Council shall make every effort to arrange for support of the child care centers by the Federal Government, parents of the children, and industry. If sufficient funds for the purpose can not be secured from these sources the War Council may allocate to the respective child care centers such sums as it deems necessary for supplemental use only.

SEC. 5. Before making any allocation to any district, the California State War Council shall determine that the district is operating efficiently. In making such allocations the War Council shall not recognize costs based on elaborate organization or standards that are excessively high or extravagant.

SEC. 6. The California State War Council shall make a survey of the respective child care centers petitioning for allocation of funds, and after determining the necessity, costs, and support derived from the Federal Government, parents, and industry, shall allocate such sums to the respective child care centers as it deems necessary to insure their efficient operation.

SEC. 7. This act shall remain in effect until the one hundred eighty-first day after the cessation of hostilities in all wars in which the United States is now engaged, and the powers hereby conferred upon the California State War Council shall thereupon terminate.

SEC. 8. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety within the meaning of Section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution and shall therefore go into immediate effect. A statement of the facts constituting such necessity is as follows:

It is essential to the successful prosecution of the wars in which the United States is now engaged that manpower and womanpower available for industry be utilized to the fullest extent. The care of children of these workers is of the utmost importance, and the cost of maintenance of child care centers for this purpose must be provided. While responsibility of the Federal Government, the parents of such children, and industry for such support is fully recognized, it is essential that the State grant supplemental aid to the districts maintaining these child care centers, varying in amount with the service rendered and the ability of the district to be self-supporting. The California State War Council, having authority throughout the State, must be given immediate authority to carry out this program for the duration of the war only."

STATE OF CALIFORNIA
GOVERNOR'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO, April 27, 1943

*To the Honorable Members of the Assembly
State of California, Sacramento, California*

GREETINGS: I am returning herewith without my signature Assembly Bill No. 1387, entitled: “An act to add Sections 53.55 and 53.65 to the Alcoholic Beverage Control Act, relating to containers, cartons and bottles.”

My objections to this bill are as follows.

(1) It constitutes a trade barrier against sister States of the Union in that it denies to them the right to ship beer into this State in containers which the bill specifically authorizes the brewing industry of California to use for shipment into those States.

(2) It attempts to delegate the power of legislation under the police power of the State to a part of the beer industry.

The bill, said to be for the protection of California workmen engaged in bottling beer, provides in part that beer can not be sold in so-called “single trip bottles” for consumption in California, regardless of where bottled, but specifically reserves to the brewing industry of California the right to bottle beer in such containers here and export it to other States and to the armed forces overseas for consumption there. This clearly constitutes an economic trade barrier between the States, and if valid must be sustained as a police measure for the protection of the bottlers, handlers, or consumers of beer in California. If the bill is for the protection of the bottlers, I can not see how the bottlers of this State can be protected by prohibiting beer bottled by workmen in other States from being sold in California. If it is for the protection of handlers or consumers, I do not see how we can justify the prohibition against “single trip” bottles coming into this State while we sanction the sending of beer similarly bottled into other States and to our armed forces overseas.

Section 2 of the bill provides that the “manufacturers of the major part of the production of beer in California” may repeal the statute by the mere filing of a declaration that the use of “single trip” bottles “are necessary to the continued operation of the brewing industry in this State by reason of the lack of sufficient supply of standard returnable bottles.”

The Attorney General has advised—and I agree with him—that this provision is “a delegation of the whole legislative function to those who are manufacturers of a major part of the production of beer in California, and is void.”

Laws such as this, which prevent the free flow of interstate commerce between the States, have been well characterized as trade barriers, and have been frowned upon by the courts. We, in California, have created the Commission on Interstate Cooperation, composed of Members of the Legislature and other State officials, principally to discourage “trade barriers.” The Attorney General, who is chairman of that commission, advises that "There seems to be no question, therefore, but that Assembly Bill No. 1387 in some respects may be considered as constituting a barrier to inter-state trade."

I would like to see California take the lead in the elimination of trade barriers wherever possible. To that end I have already asked the cooperation of other Governors. On March 16, 1943, at the request of the wine industry of California, I requested the Governor of a sister State to urge in his Legislature the passage of a bill to repeal a wine container law which was discriminatory against California wines. He complied with my request. The law was repealed, and he now very properly advises me that Assembly Bill No. 1387 discriminates against the glass industry of his State in almost identical manner. I have had letters from other Governors, trade associations, labor councils, and unions, stressing the trade barrier character of the bill. I am, therefore, of the opinion that it would be not only unwise as a matter of policy for the State to enact such legislation, but also ineffectual as a matter of law because of the unconstitutional delegation of legislative power contained therein.

After a full discussion of the bill, the representatives of the California State Brewers' Institute have asked me to state that this action is taken with their consent.

Respectfully submitted.

EARL WARREN, Governor

UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE
FOOD DISTRIBUTION ADMINISTRATION, WASHINGTON, D. C., April 22, 1943

*Mr. Arthur A. Ohnimus, Chief Clerk
California Legislative Assembly, Sacramento, California*

DEAR MR OHNIMUS: The White House has referred to this office your letter of April 9th, enclosing a copy of House Resolution No. 167 relative to a program evolved by the American Meat Institute.

This program has been given very serious consideration with the view of adopting as many as possible of the features that are applicable to the program in operation. To assist us in this work, we recently have engaged as consultants two very capable men from the meat packing industry. Through this approach to the problem we hope to develop an integrated program that is both practicable and effective and at the same time acceptable to the industry and the public.

Sincerely yours,

H. E. REED, Chief
Livestock and Meats Branch

PERMISSION TO PRINT IN JOURNAL GRANTED

Upon favorable consideration by the Committee on Rules and House Functions, the following expression of legislative intent concerning Assembly Bill No. 582 was ordered printed in the Journal:

Expression of Legislative Intent in Enacting Assembly Bill No. 582

One. The expense of printing ballots and holding a primary election is an unjustifiable expense and burden to the State for any political party, the registration of which has fallen below one-tenth of 1 per cent of the total State registration.

Two. A group of voters, constituting less than one-tenth of 1 per cent of the total registration is too small a group from which to select candidates for important constitutional offices.

Three. The judgment and selection of a group of voters constituting less than one-tenth of 1 per cent of the total State registration could not be representative of the consensus of the majority of citizens.

Four. It is undesirable to have the supporters of one party vote in the primary election as an advocate of another party, thereby disrupting the harmony of such party.

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolutions were offered:

By Mr. Crichton:

House Resolution No. 221

Relative to the creation of an Assembly Committee on Industrial Loan Companies, defining its powers and duties, and making an appropriation for its expenses.

WHEREAS, Numerous bills are proposed at each session of the Legislature with respect to the regulation of industrial loan companies. The complicated provisions of such bills and probable effect upon the industrial loan companies and the general public can not be definitely determined during the course of the legislative session. It is necessary for the Legislature to study all of the circumstances carefully so that the laws relating to industrial loan companies may be revised and amended in order to permit them to operate economically and efficiently, and properly protect the public. The best means by which this can be done is for the Legislature to create a fact-finding committee; therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California. That there is hereby created an Assembly Committee on Industrial Loan Companies, which committee shall study and investigate, accurately and in detail, the organization, functions and operations of industrial loan companies and the administration of all laws appertaining thereto for the purpose of recommending changes and proposing legislation in order to provide sound and proper legislation fully protective of the borrowing public and fair and equitable regulation of industrial loan companies.

The committee shall consist of the Speaker of the Assembly and four Members of the Assembly appointed by the Speaker. Vacancies on the committee shall be filled by appointment by the Speaker.

Upon the appointment of its members, the committee may organize, appoint a secretary, and employ such clerical and technical assistants, and adopt such rules as in its discretion it deems necessary and proper to enable it to carry out to full force and effect the powers granted and the duties imposed herein.

The committee is authorized and empowered to summon and subpoena witnesses, require the production of papers, books, accounts, reports, documents, and records, of every kind and description, and to take all necessary means to compel the attendance of witnesses and to procure testimony. The members of the committee may each administer oaths, and all of the provisions of Article 8 of Chapter 2, Title 1, Part 3 of the Political Code, and Sections 9400 to 9412 of the Government Code, relative to the attendance and examination of witnesses before the Legislature and committees thereof, shall apply to the committee appointed under this resolution.

The committee is hereby authorized and empowered to make a complete investigation and study of all matters and subjects heretofore referred to and relating thereto, and to do any and all things necessary or convenient to enable it to exercise the powers and duties granted to and imposed upon it.

The committee may create subcommittees from its membership, assigning to the subcommittee any study, inquiry, investigation or hearing which the committee itself has authority to take or hold, and the subcommittee for the purpose of this assignment shall have and exercise all of the powers conferred upon the committee limited by the express terms of the resolution or resolutions of the latter, defining the powers and duties of the subcommittee, which powers may be withdrawn or terminated at any time by the committee.

The committee may hold public hearings at any place in California, at which hearings the people are to have an opportunity to present their views to the committee. The committee may also meet in executive session. The committee is hereby authorized to act during sessions of the Legislature, including any recess thereof, or after final adjournment, but in no event beyond the convening of the Fifty-sixth Legislature. The committee may report to any session of this Legislature or to the Regular Session of the Fifty-sixth Legislature, on or before March 15, 1945.

Every department, commission, board, agency, officer, and employee of the State Government and of any political subdivision, county, city, or public district of or in this State shall furnish the committee and any subcommittee upon request, any and all assistance and information, records, and documents as the committee or subcommittee deems proper for the accomplishment of the purposes for which the committee is created. The Sergeant-at-Arms of the Assembly, or other officers designated by him are hereby directed to serve any and all subpoenas, orders, and other process issued by the committee, when directed so to do by the chairman or by a majority of the membership of the committee.

The members of the committee shall serve without compensation but shall be allowed mileage at the rate of five and one-half cents ($0.05½) per mile each way incurred in connection with their services upon the committee and other actual and necessary expenses for living accommodations and meals incurred in connection with their services upon the committee, or in lieu thereof an allowance of ten dollars ($10) per day for accommodations and meals.

The sum of two thousand dollars ($2,000) is hereby made available from the Contingent Fund of the Assembly, for expenses of the committee hereby created and its members, and for any other charges, expenses, or claims it may incur under this resolution to be disbursed after certification by the chairman of the committee by warrants of the State Controller drawn upon the State Treasurer.

Resolution read, and referred to Committee on Rules and House Functions.

By Mr. Bashore :

House Resolution No. 222

WHEREAS, The postwar period promises to be characterized by the predominance of the airplane as a carrier of both passengers and freight; and

WHEREAS, The greatest drawback to transportation by air is the waste of time resulting from traveling between the home or office and the place of embarkation which, unless a remedy is found, will become greater with the growth of population; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Department of Public Works is authorized and directed to make a complete investigation and survey as a basis for the plan and construction of an elevated airport for the City of Los Angeles and for other cities in the State which would form part of an international chain of airports; and be it further

Resolved, That the said department shall report its findings and the result of its investigation and survey to the next regular session of the Legislature or to any earlier special session at which it may be feasible to so report.

Resolution read, and referred to Committee on Rules and House Functions

By Mr. Heisinger :

House Resolution No. 223

WHEREAS, The unnecessarily large membership of some of the Assembly committees and the overlapping committee meetings have resulted in the lack of a good working majority at many meetings and in the consequent failure to get prompt and adequate hearing and action on many bills; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That it is the sense of the Assembly that a reduction of the membership of several committees providing that no Assemblyman be a member of more than five committees would result in more speedy and efficient action and would be in the interests of the public service; and be it further

Resolved, That the Committee on Rules and House Functions is requested to consider the suggestions herein made and to submit such amendments to the Rules of this House as will correct the shortcomings of the present organization and facilitate the work of legislation.

Resolution read, and referred to Committee on Rules and House Functions

By Mr. Kraft :

House Resolution No. 224

Relating to Golden Wedding Anniversaries

WHEREAS, The Members of this Assembly have learned that one of their colleagues is celebrating his Golden Wedding Anniversary; and

WHEREAS, It has been suggested that youthful Members of this Assembly who have but short years ago set foot upon the matrimonial path might benefit by a knowledge of how their colleague has attained this golden success; and

WHEREAS, Investigation has revealed some interesting facts and brought forth a number of even more interesting theories; to wit

The fact that this Master of Matrimony, also sometimes known as the Sage of Chula Vista, spent some 31 years traveling for a harvester company led some to suggest that his success was due solely to the fact that his wife had to have him around only half the time;

While some statisticians have even gone so far as to claim that his frequency of absence from the family hearth cuts down his record to only 25 instead of 50 years;

And yet again others point out that this Assembly has been quick to utilize the special knowledge of this traveling man by making him Chairman of its Committee on Roads and Highways, and that therefore he may have had some special escort down this road of matrimonial bliss; and

WHEREAS, All this inconclusive investigation and speculation was brought to an abrupt and proper end and the entire secret disclosed when some discerning person observed the light in Charlie Stream's eye when looking upon his lovely bride of 50 years, the former Florence E. Nordyke; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That on this sixth day of May, 1943, the Members of this Assembly congratulate Assemblyman and Mrs. Charles W. Stream upon the completion of 50 years of married life and wish them joy in the untold years to come, and give them felicitations upon this their Golden

Wedding Anniversary; and be it further

Resolved. That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly be requested to transmit a suitably engrossed copy of this resolution to Assemblyman and Mrs. Stream

Request for Unanimous Consent

Mr. Kraft asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent to take up House Resolution No. 224, at this time, without reference to committee.

Resolution read and adopted unanimously.

California Legislature, Sacramento, California*

DEAR ARTHUR. Express to the Members of the Assembly my sincere appreciation for their splendid thoughts in my behalf. Still going through boot camp. In my barracks of 60 men, all are from the Pacific Coast—10 from Southern California, so we all have something in common in that we make an effort to uphold the virtues of the West against the rest of the U. S. A., and we do a darn good job too. I'm going to school to become a pontoon expert. Can't say much relative to our duties other than it should prove to be both interesting and exciting when we reach islands. Say hello, Arthur, to my many friends who helped make my time spent in Sacramento so pleasant.

So, expressing hope that you and each of them may be successful in that which they most desire,

I am

BILL POOLE, S. F. 1/c

MOTION TO PRINT IN JOURNAL

Mr. Sam L. Collins asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent to have the following report printed in the Journal:

*Honorable Charles W. Lyon, Speaker of the Assembly
California Legislature, State Capitol, Sacramento, California*

DEAR MR. SPEAKER: Pursuant to the adoption of House Resolution No. 271, adopted by the Assembly on June 12, 1941, the Speaker appointed the following Members of the Assembly to serve as members of the Assembly Interim Committee on State-Federal Cooperation in Production, Distribution, Processing, and Use of Petroleum Products: Honorable Fred N. Howser, Honorable Sam L. Collins, Honorable Ralph C. Dills, and Honorable Charles W. Lyon. Subsequent to their appointment, and in keeping with the provisions of the resolution, they met on October 9, 1941, in Los Angeles for the purpose of organizing and of dealing with such matters as might properly come before them. During the meeting, Speaker Gordon H. Garland was elected chairman of the committee, Honorable Fred N. Howser was elected vice chairman, and Honorable Ralph C. Dills was elected secretary.

After a lengthy discussion, it was decided to hold a series of meetings for the purpose of giving the people interested in the oil industry an opportunity to lay their problems before the committee and also for the purpose of acquainting the committee members with the problems of the industry in order that they might act more intelligently upon those problems and make a report to the Legislature for its use and information when dealing with matters pertaining to the oil industry during future sessions.

It will be noted from the date of the adoption of the resolution and also from the date of the subsequent meeting for organization, that the committee was authorized and organized prior to the time of the attack upon Pearl Harbor by Japan and, of course, prior to the time the United States became actively engaged in the present world conflict.

The purposes enumerated in the resolution for a study of the industry were, therefore, purposes or causes that originated during a peacetime economy insofar as the United States was concerned. Many of the problems studied and discussed, however, were problems that had risen from the fact that the United States was participating indirectly in the activity of the war through both the sale and the granting of oil products and commodities to the military authorities of this country and the sale and granting through the Lend-Lease arrangements of the Federal Government to foreign agencies.

Problems which were at that time of paramount interest and importance to the industry were soon to disappear through a solution to these problems which came with the entry of the United States directly and actively into the war against the Axis powers.

At the time this committee began its series of meetings, there was widespread concern and discussion with regard to the rationing or restriction of the development and production of oil and oil by-products in California, in particular, and the United States in general. Also, it was alleged by some people, particularly the Honorable Harold L. Ickes, Secretary of the Interior and Oil Coordinator appointed by President Roosevelt, that there was considerable waste occurring in the oil fields of California and that corrective measures should be taken to curb and, if possible, eliminate the alleged waste. The committee having come into possession of this information concluded at a meeting held on October 29, 1941, to ask Secretary Ickes to appear before the committee and state the facts concerning the allegation he had made of "waste" occurring in the development, production, and processing of oil commodities in California. The chairman wired Secretary Ickes inviting him to attend a hearing of the committee in San Francisco on November 6, 1941, at which time he was present in San Francisco attending a meeting of the American Petroleum Institute. He did not appear, however, and the chairman, acting upon the instructions of the committee, prepared and sent Secretary Ickes the following letter:

November 10, 1941

Honorable Harold L. Ickes
National Petroleum Coordinator
Washington, D. C.

MY DEAR MR ICKES: We regret very much that it was not possible for the committee to have the benefit of your personal advice while you were in San Francisco. Failing in that, however, I am instructed pursuant to a motion adopted by the Assembly Interim Committee on State-Federal Cooperation in Production, Distribution, Processing, and Use of Petroleum Products convened in San Francisco on November 6th, to request that you prepare a statement for the committee setting forth your views concerning the following matters of interest to the committee and the oil industry in the State of California:

1. The committee would like to have your definition of the term "waste" as you have used that term in connection with the industry in California;
2. We should like you to tell the committee where, how, and in your opinion to what extent waste is occurring in the oil industry in California; and,
3. We should like to have your suggestions and advice concerning corrective measures for remedial legislation to correct the alleged waste and all other detrimental practices in the industry.

May I again inform you that it is the desire of the committee to do everything possible to aid and assist in solving the problems of the industry, but, in order to act intelligently and in a helpful manner, it is absolutely necessary and essential that the committee have all information pertaining to the problem. In order that the committee may have the assurance that the information you furnish to the committee meets with your approval, we should like to have the same over your own signature.

Looking forward to hearing from you at your earliest convenience, I am,
Respectfully yours,

GORDON H. GARLAND, Chairman

In reply to the above communication, the committee received the following reply from Secretary Ickes:

*Hon. Gordon H. Garland, Speaker of the Assembly
California Legislature, Sacramento, California*

MY DEAR MR. GARLAND: Thank you for your letter of November 10th, informing me of the desires of the "Assembly Interim Committee on State-Federal Cooperation in Production, Distribution, Processing and Use of Petroleum Products" as expressed in a motion adopted on November 6, 1941, while that committee was convened in San Francisco.

My definition of "waste" in connection with the production of petroleum in California is the same used with reference to "waste" in all other oil areas. It is a generally accepted principle that the oil and gas in a field, prior to extraction, exist within the reservoir in a natural state of balanced energy. The moment the reservoir is tapped and a pressure differential created, the equilibrium of this natural energy is upset. It is the release of this natural energy from within the reservoir to the surface that brings oil and gas to the well and permits us to reduce it to surface possession.

During the gradual dissipation of this original natural energy, the efficiency with which it is harnessed and controlled for useful work determines the percentage of the original oil and gas content of the reservoir which can be produced and recovered. Inefficient use of reservoir energy in the production of petroleum is one form of waste.

The President of the United States, in a letter dated May 28, 1941, made the following statement:

Some of the problems . . . which require immediate action are: The proper development, production, and utilization of those reserves of crude oils and natural gas that are of strategic importance both in quality and location; . . . the most economical use of the raw materials, and efficiency of production and distribution; and the elimination of the drilling of unnecessary wells in proven fields.

Any practice or method of operation that is contrary to the principles set forth by the President is "waste" as I define the word in connection with oil and gas production.

The importance of the matter is twofold. There is to be considered, first, the immediate and urgent necessities of National defense, and secondly, the general welfare of the people of the United States over a long period of years. Oil and gas that is left economically unrecoverable in the reservoir, because of wasteful production methods, is lost to the public as well as to the industry.

In your second question you ask me where, how, and, in my opinion, to what extent waste is occurring in the oil industry in California. This is a matter involving many fields and many practices. In some cases there is little question but that "waste" exists and that it is avoidable "waste." In other cases there is "waste" but some question as to whether all of it is "avoidable waste." In still other cases the situation is not completely clear as yet, but is being studied.

I do not hesitate to state that there is "waste" taking place in California's oil and gas fields because it is true. Nevertheless, I feel that it would be unjust to single out certain fields for public criticism unless at the same time I was in a position to list all fields where waste was taking place. Furthermore, any such public statement, in my opinion, should include the kind and degree of waste taking place in each instance cited. There are very few oil producers in California who would deny that there is "some waste" in "some places." Among themselves, they differ only as to the degree of the waste and as to how much of it is avoidable and how much is unavoidable.

In order to deal justly with this situation and to have each particular situation adjudged by men familiar with California oil fields, their local distinctive characteristics and local operating problems, I have asked the Production Committee of District Five to work on this problem. It is composed of representative California oil men of recognized ability and thoroughly familiar with California oil and gas production problems. The personnel of the committee is as follows: E. E. Pyles, Chairman, L. L. Auber, F. S. Bryant, R. E. Collins, L. A. Cranson, E. F. Davis, W. M. Keck, Jr., A. D. Mitchell, L. P. St. Clair, Lawrence Vander Leek, W. C. Whaley, and Lloyd Williamson.

On September 16, 1941, I asked this committee to formulate a definite plan for the maximum economic recovery of petroleum resources of California. The members of the Production Committee for District Five know that I am not merely interested in blaming someone or publicly stating that some operators in some particular field are guilty of "waste." My objective is to secure a constructive program that will eliminate such "waste" in the future. I trust that this makes my attitude on your second question clear.

The third point of your letter asked for suggestions and advice concerning corrective measures for remedial legislation to correct the alleged waste and all other detrimental practices in the industry. I can best reply to this by quoting from my letter to the Production Committee, the following:

...it would seem that any program proposed should include three major subjects, namely:

1. A statement of the purposes of the plan and the principles upon which it is founded

2. A detailed and definite plan for accomplishing the defined purposes in conformity with the basic principles

3. A scheme of organization which will indicate the function to be performed by such existing or other groups as your committee may deem necessary

In order to approach the realization of the foregoing objectives, it would seem that your committee should formulate and propose some definite plans for:

1. Encouraging and fostering the exploration for and discovery of petroleum and natural gas reserves at a rate not less than that by which known reserves are annually depleted.

2. The further development of all petroleum and natural gas reserves in such orderly and efficient manner as to result in the most effective and economical use of raw materials, supplies and equipment

3. The future development and production of the petroleum and natural gas reserves in such a way as to result in the most efficient and effective use of the natural reservoir energy or of the energy which may be artificially restored or augmented

4. Obtaining the maximum economic recovery of the limited petroleum and natural gas reserves

5. Efficiently supplying reasonable special demands for certain grades or kinds of petroleum at particular places.

6. Accomplishing the foregoing objectives without impairing or jeopardizing the present defense requirements or the defense and civilian needs of the future.

In addition to asking this committee of outstanding California oil men to work on a program aimed at these broad objectives, I also pointed out certain problems involved in the broad objectives, as follows:

You will appreciate, of course, that the formulation of working policies and plans, including the broad topics outlined above, will necessarily include such items as the spacing of wells for maximum economic recovery, and to accomplish the most effective use of materials and supplies that will be available under the priority system; the drilling of wells in such fields and at such a rate that the necessary additional reserves may become available as needed and so that the most effective use may be made of the limited supplies of equipment and material; the allocation of deliveries of crude from producing wells in such a way that unnecessary drilling will not be stimulated, the conservation of the resources of each reservoir reasonably conserved rather than unreasonably spent, the production and gathering of oil and natural gas in such manner and by such means that there may be no inefficient duplication of the equipment and facilities which again will be limited both in amount and availability.

I trust that this information makes my position clear to your committee. My objective is to achieve sound conservation practices and to eliminate avoidable "waste" of our petroleum and gas resources. I have outlined broad objectives of immediate vital importance to National defense and of long range vital importance to the State of California and the United States. These things are either self-evident necessities of the defense program or established scientific principles.

Since I have invited the assistance of a representative group of California oil producers in formulating a plan which will provide for a practical application of these principles, I feel confident that a satisfactory program will be evolved.

Sincerely yours,
(Signed)

HAROLD L. ICKES
Petroleum Coordinator for National Defense

It is felt that for whatever use this definition of "waste" on the part of the Oil Coordinator may be to the present or future sessions of the Legislature when dealing with problems of the oil industry, that the secretary's letter and definition of "waste" should be made a part of the official record of the Legislature.

As pointed out earlier in this report, many of these problems were soon to change and, in many cases, disappear. For example, when our work was begun, many of the small producers and refiners were complaining that they had a tremendous amount of gasoline and other refined products in storage for which they could not find a sale at a price which justified the production and processing of the commodity. They were also faced with the restrictions of materials and supplies for the drilling of wells because of a program that had been laid down by Federal authorities to curtail the production and processing of oil and oil products. In endeavoring to find a solution to the problems presented by the people in the industry, particularly the problem of the small refiners, the committee prepared and sent to the purchasing departments of the Army and the Navy a letter in which it pointed out the desirability and advisability of the military authorities' making purchases of certain materials from the small refiners in order that these small refiners might not be, at that time, forced out of business; that they might be kept solvent for the purpose of aiding and assisting in providing the strategic fuels and commodities so necessary to this Country should it become involved in the then impending world war. The following letter was forwarded on November 10, 1941:

*Purchasing Department
United States Army, Washington, D. C.*

GENTLEMEN: The California Assembly Interim Committee on State-Federal Cooperation in Production, Distribution, Processing and Use of Petroleum Products has held several meetings for the purpose of studying the problems of the oil industry in California. The first problem considered was that of the independent refineries, the status of which is indicated in this communication.

The Honorable Harold L. Ickes, Petroleum Coordinator for National Defense, addressing the American Petroleum Institute at San Francisco, warned that "Unfortunately, we are not even sure we have sufficient capacity for producing all of the ordinary gasoline that we will need. Our refineries of motor fuel are now pretty close to 100 per cent capacity, and the demand continues to rise."

In the face of these warnings we have, today, a critical situation facing a substantial portion of the total independent refining capacity of the Pacific Coast.

At the present time, there are 70 independent refiners in California representing a total daily through-put skimming capacity of 220,000 barrels of crude, or 23.01 per cent of the capacity of this area. The daily cracked gasoline capacity is 19,535 barrels, or 15.78 per cent of the total of that grade of gasoline. The capacity ratings used in this computation are taken from the report published by the United States Bureau of Mines, on January 1, 1941. Translated into maximum total capacity of gasoline production, based on an average yield of 24 per cent from skimming operations, these independent refineries represent a potential production of 91,432,000 gallons of finished gasoline per month. On October 1, 1941, 28 of these independent units were found to be closed down. These nonoperating plants included 36.95 per cent of the total independent skimming capacity.

Many of the independent refineries mentioned have been forced to close since June, 1940. Some of these have continued to operate at a loss month after month in an attempt to preserve the security of their employees, to protect their invested capital which, in the aggregate, represents an impressive total, to fulfill their obligations to their crude suppliers, and particularly, since the National defense effort has become of prime importance, to maintain their plants in condition to permit their maximum contribution to the service of the Nation when needed.

These shutdowns have occurred because the burdens of National defense have fallen and will continue to fall equally on all operating units in the industry, regardless of size, in the form of increased taxes, higher labor and material costs, restrictions on operating and maintenance supplies, and other hampering and expensive regulations. Offsetting economies, such as water terminals, extended pipe line systems, and exchange accounts, are generally not available to independents, resulting in a higher manufacturing cost than that of the integrated company.

These plants are vitally necessary to National defense in that they can produce all the commercial, and some of the special, grades of motor fuel required for defense purposes. A market on a cost-plus basis must be provided if these suspensions and abandonments are to be forestalled to preserve this refining capacity for defense output. The Coordinator's office has plainly stated that the competitive status of all units within the industry must be preserved, and that no refiner should be permitted to close.

It must be conceded that the highly decentralized locations of the numerous independent refining units in this area make their preservation necessary from a defense standpoint, their vulnerability being much lower and less susceptible to damage or destruction by sabotage or other forms of attack, than that of the closely grouped larger units operating in certain concentrated refining districts.

Taking one or more of the following steps immediately will preserve these units, which represent a substantial portion of the entire Pacific Coast capacity.

1. The accumulation by the Government of large stock piles of those products which will unquestionably be needed in vast quantities should the military and naval situation become acute. These products to be stored in existing tankage, or isolated inland storage to be constructed for that purpose.

2. Gathering cargoes of gasoline suitable for use in ordinary military or naval equipment not requiring maximum performance fuels.

3. Requiring prime contractors of maximum octane aviation fuels to subcontract with independents for straight run base stocks. Such requirements are reasonable in that public moneys are available for use by majors for construction of 100-octane plants with the probability of assured long-term profitable markets. Size and scope of operations of most independents prevent their sharing in such subsidies.

4. Arranging for participation by independents in Lease-Lend purchases for Russia and Britain, routing a portion of British requirements from Pacific Coast ports, at which independents can obtain terminal facilities.

5. Concede independents the same preference on Army and Navy bids for commercial grades of gasoline as is being granted to higher cost units in other industries, giving recognition to the principle voiced by certain administration officials to the effect that disparity in manufacturing costs should be overlooked in order to enable all industrial units to function normally.

6. Invitations to bid covering deliveries in the Pacific Coast area should be called for in unit quantities of smaller size than now prevails permitting independent participation in this type of business.

The committee would appreciate an expression from your department on the points set forth in this letter.

Respectfully yours,

GORDON H. GARLAND, Chairman,
Committee on State-Federal Cooperation in Production,
Distribution, Processing and Use of Petroleum Products

In reply to the above communication, the following reply was received from Brigadier General Charles Hines of the United States Army.

*Mr. Gordon H. Garland, Chairman,

Distribution, Processing and Use of Petroleum Products,
California Legislature,
Sacramento, California*

DEAR MR. GARLAND: Your letter of November 10, 1941, addressed to the Purchasing Department, United States Army, has been referred to this office for reply.

This is an important matter and is receiving careful consideration by those agencies involved in its solution.

The Director of Refining in the Office of Petroleum Coordinator for National Defense has already had a preliminary survey made of this situation by the Pacific Coast Refining Committee, assisted by the United States Bureau of Mines. He is now sending a special representative to California to make a check of these plants to determine the potential value, mechanical condition, and the position of these plants in the National Defense Program. He has also taken up the subject of production from such plants with the British and Russian Petroleum Missions to determine the possibilities of supplies of materials from such plants. The man going to the Pacific Coast at the present time will summarize these preliminary data with his findings and determine their possibilities in this broad program.

Both this office and the Office of Petroleum Coordinator are cooperating fully to the end that all elements of this important industry will be used to the fullest possible extent at this critical time.

Very truly yours,

(Signed)

CHARLES HINES,
Brigadier General, U S A, Director, Planning Branch

These situations, however, no longer exist, for the committee is now reliably informed that whereas the Federal authorities were, at that time, advising and enforcing production and processing regulations and curtailment programs, they are now recommending and insisting upon maximum production and processing of all oil and oil commodities in order to facilitate the war effort.

During the numerous meetings held by the committee, many other problems peculiar to the oil industry were presented to and discussed by the committee as indicated by the minutes of the meetings which are appended to this report. It was apparent to the committee that a great deal of misunderstanding and lack of understanding concerning problems of the oil industry existed in the Legislature and we are of the opinion that a great deal more study could be most profitably given to the problems of the industry by similar committees of the Legislature in the future.

The committee was very careful in all of its operations to protect all of the legitimate interests of the industry. It was also economical in the conduct of its business as is witnessed from the fact that we return out of the $2,500 appropriated for the use of the committee a balance of $805 13

Respectfully submitted,

GORDON H. GARLAND, Chairman
CHARLES W. LYON

House Resolution No. 226

Relative to the "Spirit of Freedom" Monument as designed by Mr. Amos A. Wyckoff

WHEREAS, The Flag of the United States of America and the Liberty Bell are symbols of the highest American ideals; and

WHEREAS, No monument has been erected to personify the ideals and spirit for which the American Flag and the Liberty Bell are fitting emblems; and

WHEREAS, One Amos A. Wyckoff of Oakland has designed a monument which is known as "Spirit of Freedom," which would be a most fitting, imposing and inspiring memorial to the people of the United States, and which monument is more particularly described as follows:

1. The 13 steps represent the 13 colonies.

2. There are 48 columns, one to represent each State.
3. The gear wheel represents the power of our United States.
4. There are 48 cogs, one for each State in the Union, to represent the power of each State. Inside each cog will be the exhibit room for each State.
5. Between each cog there will be placed a statue of the pioneers who fought their way here to make it possible for our people to live.
6. The building is constructed of four cross-like sections with niches in which to place statues.
7. On top of the building will be the statue of the California bear.
8. Facing the east will be a statue of the first mother of California, holding a child, which represents, as the sun rises the new-born is coming to light.
9. Facing the west will be a statue of the first immigrant scout of California.
10. The Liberty Bell forms the dome. Inside the dome will be the paintings of war scenes. Also a statue of the man who rang the Liberty Bell so hard he cracked it.
11. Then comes the tower rising to a great height of approximately 800 feet. In this tower will be elevators running to the observation room, where visitors will pay a small fee to have a view of beautiful cities and surrounding area, as well as the beautiful blue Pacific Ocean. The income can be used for the upkeep.
12. On top of the tower will be a powerful light for protection and guidance of airplanes.
13. Four large American Eagles, representing the keenness of vision of our United States, will face the north, south, east and west. The eagles to be outlined in neon lights are guarding the American Flag, which is flying high over their heads.
14. On the point of each cog shall be a duplicate of each State Seal; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the Members of this Assembly hereby commend Mr. Amos A. Wyckoff as the originator and designer of the artistic and symbolic "Spirit of Freedom"; and be it further

COMMUNICATIONS

By Mr. Lowrey:

The following communication was received, and ordered printed in the Journal:

(COPY)

TULELAKE, CALIFORNIA, April 20, 1943

Mr. Lloyd Lowrey, California State Assemblyman
Sacramento, California

DEAR MR. LOWREY: I hope this information is not too late for you. This is a very busy season here and I have not had time to get it out sooner.

To start with, the people here do not want the Japs here after the war. It would be the ruination of this basin. Nearly 90 per cent of the farmers here are ex-service men from the last war.

When the camp was first started, the local directors informed the Japs all their work would be voluntary, and I am telling you that is exactly what they are doing. They work when they feel like doing something and go on strike when they do not want to work. It makes no difference to them what kind of work they are doing or how important it is.

They are supposed to work eight hours per day. But several of the foremen told me in order to keep them peaceable they are letting them work two hours per day and giving them credit for eight hours.

They take enough men out to work on a job that they are in one another's way. The first thing they do is to set up a stove and build a fire. The gang stands around the stove while a few do a little work.

Last fall the WRA had to close their high school and put the school children in the fields to get what crops they did have harvested, the older people going on so many strikes they could not get the job done.

When they are working machinery in the fields, it is left wherever they take a notion to quit. I have seen tractors and plows and other pieces of equipment left in the middle of the fields and several miles from camp; left there over night and sometimes for several days.

Seems as though the management tries to spend all the money possible. And they do a good job of it. They get and have several times more of everything than they can use for years to come—hoes, hand rakes, and such things as those. When it comes to farm equipment, it is the same story. They are supposed to be farming 3,300 acres this year.

I called on Mr. Zimmer and Mr. Callum, farm manager and assistant. I know they had no knowledge of me doing any looking around for anyone else. I asked the assistant what they were planting this year and the acreage. He showed a map of their expected plantings for this year which was all right. I then told him it sure must take a lot of machinery to farm so much ground. He then told me the number of tractors they were using and led to me about one-half as I had a very close check at that time.

The WRA purchased 20 Model H International tractors from Floyd A. Boyd Co., Tulelake, last year. During that time and since they have purchased 12 Ford tractors. Two large grain combines were used last year and two new ones set up in a warehouse and have never been out. The new ones set there and are not being used, and it will not be necessary for them to use them. Our farmers here need this equipment badly.

They have 10 International one-row potato diggers which is six more than they need. They have 10 tracklayer tractors from 50's down to 20's. Two of these big tractors would prepare all their ground for planting. There are 6 Ford tractor trailers, 8 five-bottom plows (two is all that is necessary), 40 sections of spike tooth harrow, 10 two-row Iron Age potato planters (three properly used is all that is necessary). Seven of these same planters now setting in a warehouse have never been out, while growers here need this kind of machinery and have a hard time getting any.

With 6,000 acres more potatoes planted here this year than was ever planted before in the Klamath and Tulelake area, it sure burns a farmer up to see such a condition exist.

I was not able to get an exact count on the number of trucks and cars, but there are close to 180 trucks besides the cars. One foreman told me that was not far off. When a truck or car breaks down, it goes on a pile near their garage and parts are robbed from them and put on some other piece of equipment. You should see the so-called boneyard. Farmers here are needing trucks and will need them more than ever this year. Then to have a condition like that, what do you think?

There are farmers here farming considerable more acreage than the WRA and with so much less equipment that it looks like a mere drop in the bucket. They are good operators making money.

After the camp was built and the Japs moved in, they said they wanted to do something to help the war effort so they wanted a tent factory. The WRA built them a large building with concrete floor and on a railroad spur. In storage in this warehouse now there are eight carloads of heavy waterproof canvas, about four carloads of rope, and 300 electric sewing machines. Half of these have never been uncrated and none have ever been used by the Japs. After this was all ready, they voted not to do any of this kind of work and there it sets. Canvas our Army needs being held in storage by the Japs.

When the camp was first started, the Jap quarters were furnished with sheetiron stoves. A few weeks later these were piled in a huge pile outside and left all winter to rust. In their place was put expensive coal heaters of which there are about two carloads still in storage in one of the warehouses.

Coal and wood is shipped in by carloads and trainloads. Most any day one can drive by on the highway and see the Japs unloading coal and enough men on the car to eat it, let alone unload it. They are in each others way, and still pay demurrage. Some months as much as $1,000. There is one spur on a slight grade. A good many cars of coal are run on this spur and dumped, and then pushed out of the way with a bulldozer. Smearing it around and wasting a large amount.

They have had on hand a large amount of antifreeze all winter and since last spring, with all their equipment full. A large percentage of the machinery being idle.

They have a stock of Karo syrup large enough to supply the Klamath Basin. Merchants in Tulelake can not obtain enough to supply the local babies.

Recently, when they were asked to register for the Selective Service they all refused, but a very few.

Army men were sent in here to endeavor to put on a little pressure. They did not have much results. After several weeks they finally got the job done, having much trouble while they were doing it. It was necessary to take a good many to concentration camps. I am not able to tell you the exact number, but it must be close to 300 since the camp was filled. Most of these were taken out while the registering was taking place. About 130 are in a CCC camp close by here.

The Japs talk about being Americans. There might be a few that are O.K., but surely they are a very few. The Federal Government would be much better off financially if these Japs were confined to the camp and did not try to farm, and buy what they needed to eat and put them on ration.

I have a neighbor that has a garbage contract with the WRA. I have looked at this garbage many times and there is so much waste of good food it is pitiful.

We have a war on, and I think these people should be made to produce. They have taken over 3,800 acres of the best land in the world and are playing around with it at a time like this.

We have farmers here who could really produce a great quantity of food from this land if given the chance. They did do it before this land was taken away from them. And another thing, the Klamath Basin, which takes in Tulelake and part of Klamath County will have an estimated potato acreage this year of 23,000 acres. Six thousand more than was ever planted here before with a real labor shortage problem.

This camp is not in our opinion in a dangerous spot or the Army wouldn't have put it here in the first place. So, why not let or rather, put these Japs out to help harvest these crops this fall. Farmers would be willing to pay them a fair wage, and get a war job done. The Government is and has been taking them out of the camp and sending them east to work, and this year we will have to import labor or we will not get our crops harvested. Last fall Japs were being sent out to Idaho and Oregon and Indians were brought in here to harvest beets. Transportation is needed for our armed forces and this does not look right to me.

I hope I have given you some information that will be of some help. I could go on writing a book on this camp I think. One good way to get some real first-hand information would be for one of your committee to come to this camp dressed for work and get a job for a month and that would be all that is necessary.

There has been U. S. investigating men here but they let the management know when they are coming and are taken to camp and showed just what the men in charge want them to see and taken back to the train. Probably given a good meal before leaving as the personnel sure live well. After they have been there they do not know what the score is.

Very truly yours,
(Signed)

C. J. MAIN
Tulelake Growers Assn.

"When the site of an incorporated city or town is included within the exterior boundaries of the property to be partitioned, the court must direct the referees to survey and appraise the entire property to be partitioned by actual lots and subdivisions then existing in the actual possession of the several tenants in common, exclusive of the value of improvements thereon, first setting apart necessary portions of the property for ways, roads and streets, as in Section 704 provided, and to report such survey and separate appraisement on each lot and subdivision to the court.

The court may confirm, change, modify, or set aside the report in whole or in part, and if necessary appoint new referees.

When, after the final confirmation of the report of such survey and appraisement, it appears by evidence to the satisfaction of the court that an equitable partition of the whole property is impracticable, and a sale of the site of such city or town, or any portion thereof, will be for the best interests of the owners of the whole property, it must order a sale thereof, provided, that within 60 days thereafter any tenant in common or tenants in common, having improvements erected on any town or city lot or subdivision included in such order of sale, shall have the prior right to purchase the same at such appraised valuation, and may pay into court the amount so appraised as the value thereof, and upon such payment the title shall vest in such purchaser or purchasers, and the court shall cause to be executed by such referees a deed for such lot or subdivision in fee and in severalty to such purchaser or purchasers, such further proceeding shall then be had as to the remainder of the property, and the money so paid to the court, as by this chapter provided.

If, during the pendency of this section, any of the parties die, or become insane, or otherwise incompetent, the proceedings shall not for that cause be delayed or suspended, but the attorney who has appeared for such party may continue to represent such interest; and in case any such party has not appeared by an attorney, the court must appoint an attorney to represent the interest which was held by such party, until his heirs or legal representatives, or successors in interest, shall have appeared in the action; and an attorney so appointed must be allowed by the court a reasonable compensation for his services, which may be taxed as costs against the share or interest represented by such attorney, and may be adjudged a lien thereon in the discretion of the court."

Pursuant to the provisions of Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 32, upon recommendation of the Speaker, and permission having been granted by a three-quarter vote of the members, the following Assembly bill was considered:

Assembly Bill No. 300—An act to amend Section 1 of an act entitled "An act relating to bids for the construction of public works and improvements," approved July 19, 1941, relating to subcontracts for construction of public works and improvements

Bill read third time.

Motion to Amend

Mr. Johnson moved the adoption of the following amendment:

Amendment No. 1

On page 1 of the printed bill, as amended, strike out lines 4 to 21; and strike out pages 2 and 3, and insert

"Section 1. Any officer, department, board or commission taking bids for the construction of any public work or improvement shall provide in the specifications prepared for the work or improvement or in the general conditions under which bids will be received for the doing of the work incident to the public work or improvement that any person making a bid or offer to perform the work, shall, in his bid or offer, set forth the name and the location of the mill, shop or office of each subcontractor who will perform work or labor or render service to the contractor in or about the construction of the work or improvement and the portion of the work which will be done by each subcontractor.

Any subcontractor desiring to submit an estimate or bid as a subcontractor on a portion of the project must submit his estimate or other bid to the contractor 24 hours prior to the time set for closing of bids on the work or improvement and must deposit with the officer, department, board, commission, or other awarding authority receiving bids for the construction, 24 hours prior to the time set for closing of bids, a duplicate of the estimate or bid so submitted. Such duplicate shall be in a sealed envelope showing on the outside thereof that it contains a duplicate of the subcontractor's estimate furnished to the contractor on the specific project. The sealed envelope shall also contain a certified check in the sum of 10 per cent of the amount of the estimate.

In the event different estimates have been given to different contractors on the same project, separate sealed envelopes, each containing a duplicate of each estimate, with a separate certified check in the amount of 10 per cent of the estimate shall be deposited. If only one estimate to one contractor has been submitted, or different estimates to different contractors, the certified check shall be made payable to the contractor to whom the estimate was furnished. If the same estimate has been furnished to more than one contractor, the certified check shall be made to the awarding authority with instructions to the awarding authority to endorse the check as hereinafter provided. If estimates are given for subcontracts for different portions of the contract, separate sealed envelopes each containing separate certified checks and duplicate estimates shall be deposited for each class of subcontract work.

Each estimate submitted to a contractor, and the duplicate deposited as herein provided, shall set forth the name and the location of each mill, shop or office which will supply materials or services to the subcontractor in or about the construction of the work or improvement and the portion thereof to be so supplied.

Sealed envelopes containing the duplicate estimates and certified checks shall be deposited with the awarding authority, accompanied by a statement open to the awarding authority, which statement shall give the name and address of the contractor to whom an estimate has been furnished. The subcontractor in such statement shall also set forth that the subcontractor depositing the estimate and certified check, if named by the successful bidder as a subcontractor, will enter into the subcontract with the successful bidder in accordance with the terms of the estimate deposited, and that in default thereof on the part of the subcontractor such check shall be forfeited to the successful bidder.

Immediately upon awarding the contract the awarding authority shall return all the sealed envelopes deposited except those deposited by subcontractors named in the bid of the successful bidder.

The awarding authority shall at the time of awarding the bid open the sealed estimates of all subcontractors named in the bid of the successful bidder. Should any subcontractor so named in the bid of the successful bidder fail to qualify as above provided, this act shall have no application to that portion of the work wherein the subcontractor is named in the bid of the successful bidder. If the subcontractor has qualified as herein provided, the awarding authority shall retain the duplicate of the estimate and the certified check until notified by the contractor that the subcontract has been executed. If the subcontractor fails to execute the contract, the certified check deposited with the awarding authority shall be forfeited and shall be paid by the awarding authority to the contractor with such endorsements by the awarding authority as may be necessary. Thereafter, that portion of the contract for which the subcontractor has failed to enter into a subcontract shall be exempt from the operations of this act.

If a contractor fails to specify a subcontractor for any portion of the work to be performed under the contract, he shall be deemed to have agreed to perform such portion himself, and he shall not be permitted to subcontract that portion of the work except under the conditions hereinafter set forth.

No contractor whose bid is accepted shall, without the consent of the awarding authority, either:

(a) Substitute any person as subcontractor in place of the subcontractor designated in the original bid, or

(b) Permit any subcontract to be assigned or transferred or allow it to be performed by anyone other than the original subcontractor, or

(c) Sublet or subcontract any portion of the work as to which his original bid did not designate a subcontractor.

Subletting or subcontracting of any portion of the work as to which no subcontractor was designated in the original bid shall only be permitted in cases of emergency or necessity, and then only after a finding reduced to writing as a public record of the awarding authority setting forth the facts constituting such emergency or necessity.

Should the contractor violate any of the provisions of this act, his so doing will be deemed a violation of that portion of his contract wherein the violation occurs, and he may be penalized by the awarding authority in the amount of the subcontract wherein the violation has occurred.

The failure on the part of a contractor to comply with any provision of this act shall not constitute a defense to such contractor in any action brought against him by a subcontractor.

This act shall not apply to contracts for the construction or improvement or repair of State highways, including bridges, nor to city or county projects financed in whole or in part with motor vehicle fuel funds.

Nothing in this act contained shall be deemed to limit or diminish any rights or remedies, either legal or equitable, which either an original or substituted subcontractor may have against the contractor, his successors or assigns, nor any such rights or remedies (including the right to take over and complete the contract) which the State of California, or any municipal corporation, county, body politic, or public corporation, or public agency may have against the contractor, his successors or assigns."

Amendment read and adopted.

Bill ordered reprinted and re-engrossed.

The graciousness of our hosts, the beauty of the arrangements, the charm of the entertainment have made this dinner a high standard by which to gauge all future gatherings.

We fully realize these are war times. But for the sake of our gallant men and women in the armed forces, we must not forget how to live graciously and normally, as well as patriotically. Because . . . We are Americans.

Sincerely appreciatively,

MOTION TO PRINT ADDRESS IN JOURNAL

Upon motion of Mr. Carlson, the following address, delivered by Col. Arthur Evans, was ordered printed in the Journal:

I am deeply grateful to you, Mr. Speaker, and to the California State Assembly for the compliment which you have paid to me in inviting me to speak to you here in your State Capitol.

I appreciate, of course, that the compliment is paid not to me personally but to the British Parliament—four of whose committees I have the privilege to represent during my present visit to the United States.

I feel sure that all my colleagues in the House of Commons at Westminster would wish me to express to you their warmest thanks and gratitude for this truly thoughtful gesture.

There is no compliment that could appeal more to the heart of any House of Commons man.

Sir, I can not fail to observe that your august Chamber is somewhat less battered than ours. In fact—as a result of enemy action in May of 1941—our Chamber has ceased to exist, but its spirit is undismayed—in spite of the fact that the great Parliamentary figures of the past now gaze down upon us sitting on the red plush benches of the House of Lords instead of on the more democratic “Green” of the House of Commons.

Recently, Mr. Speaker—in the name of my Parliamentary colleagues—I was privileged to ask the President of the United States of America, to accept a relic from the bombed Chamber of the House of Commons. It was a fragment of stone from the fabric of the Chamber and the portcullis crest of the Houses of Parliament which adorns it is worked in lead from the roof.

I hope you will agree, Mr. Speaker, that this souvenir is not without its symbolic significance to the United Nations resisting Nazi tyranny.

The enemy thought to terrorize the British people into submission by the destruction of the cradle of representative Government, but, instead, he was faced with a determination and spirit of defiance that kept him at bay for over a year, and so permitted the other free nations to marshal their resources.

In her long history, Great Britain has never suffered—in defense of the right—as she is suffering today. Since the glorious days of Dunkirk—“Britain’s finest hour”—when Prime Minister Winston Churchill gathered his flock around him—when she had fewer than fifty tanks—only a couple of hundred field guns, some of them brought out of the museum, to defend her island home. Britain has suffered the bombing of her cities—the slaughter of her women and children—and the loss of some of her best sons.

But now, Mr. Speaker, the scene is changing—and changing rapidly—and for the better, and so, today, I am privileged to bring you this message of greeting and good will from your British Parliamentary colleagues at a time when the joint efforts of American-British arms are being blessed with VICTORY in North Africa.

In TUNISIA—yes, sir—where the blood of AMERICANS AND BRITISH is being mingled and shed in defense of those high principles of justice, honor, and freedom, for which the English-speaking peoples of the world have always stood.

In that Army—under the supreme command of General Eisenhower—in which the British Generals Alexander and Montgomery have played their part—many brave Californians have fallen. Californians who are not only serving in the ranks of the United States Army, but in the ranks of the British forces also. Since the early days of September, 1939, we have been honored to welcome to the ranks of the Royal Air Force, brave young men from the Coast and the Golden Gate, many of whom have been decorated for outstanding acts of bravery by His Majesty, the King.

We welcomed their cooperation in war—we will welcome their cooperation in peace.

But peace is not with us yet—and North Africa is not the only theater of war. There is the Far East—there remains Japan. A nation which has once again distinguished itself by further acts of barbarism. They have shocked us—but they have not frightened us—on the contrary, they have strengthened our irrevocable will never to relax the struggle until complete victory has been achieved and the freedom of the peoples of the world ensured. That is why the British people welcomed the prompt pronouncement of Prime Minister Churchill in the House of Commons that the Royal Air Force will take pride and pleasure in joining with their comrades of the American Army Air Force in dealing with the question in a manner suited to the occasion.

Shortly the North African Campaign will be concluded, and the invasion of Europe from many points will be the order of the day. Exactly when or where we do not know, but come it will—and soon—there is no doubt—nor is there any doubt as to its conclusion.

Its conclusion is as certain as the fact that the overwhelming of the enemy in Europe will be followed by the overwhelming of the enemy in the Far East, by the freeing of China from her long years of struggle and by the liberation of all territories in Asia which are now in enemy hands.

This is a global war, and we in Britain hope that the time is not far distant when the total resources and striking strength of the United Nations—and particularly our own, will be freed to turn their eyes to the East and so eradicate an evil force from the world which is looking—with eyes of envy—on this rich and pleasant land of the Golden West.

And when the day of peace finally dawns, and the lights of the world are lit again, it will be our task—Members of State Assemblies, Members of Congress and Members of Parliament—to see to it that the peace—so hardly won—is kept and made safe—NOT ONLY FOR OUR TIME—but for our children's children and those that come after them.

This, I venture to suggest, is a particular responsibility of the English-speaking peoples of the world.

The American and British peoples have today a rendezvous with destiny

Everything that we hold dear today is being ruthlessly attacked. The British people—whose representative salutes you with affectionate regard this morning—are, as we meet here in Sacramento, together with the men of the United States Armies, on watch and ward at the focal point of the whole of the defenses of the United Nations.

We pledge our lives that we will not fail in our duty.

Speaker Presiding

At 11.50 a. m., Hon. Charles W. Lyon, Speaker of the Assembly, presiding.

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolutions were offered:

By Mr. Gaffney:

House Resolution No. 236

Relating to the creation of an Assembly Committee on Safety and Accident Prevention

WHEREAS, The National Safety Council reports that a total of 128,000 persons have been killed in accidents since the start of the war as compared with 12,123 deaths in the armed forces.

The California Industrial Accident Commission states that since the war 1,348 fatalities and 29,660 injuries have been reported to it.

In 1942 there were 36,310 traffic accidents involving death or injury. Deaths totaled 2,671 for the year and injuries totaled 49,481. The 1942 figures show an improvement over 1941; but these traffic casualties of 1942 in California are practically equal to the total war casualties of the entire Nation for the first year since the Pearl Harbor disaster.

This huge waste of manpower on the home front is more important than ever before in view of the fact that the Nation is taking increasingly drastic steps to mobilize every available ounce of manpower to insure victory. It is necessary that every person be extra careful to avoid the loss of time that is hindering production and delaying the delivery of the vital weapons of war to the armed forces. It is necessary for the Legislature to study the circumstances of industrial injuries and fatalities, and injuries and fatalities due to traffic accidents, with a view to revising and amending the laws relating thereto in order that such accidents may be prevented and reduced in number. The Legislature can best function in this respect through a committee as a fact-finding agency; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That there is hereby created an Assembly Committee on Safety and Accident Prevention which committee shall study and investigate accurately and in detail the underlying causes and circumstances surrounding industrial and traffic accidents for the purpose of recommending changes and proposing legislation in order to promote safety and prevent such accidents and preserve manpower for the war effort.

The committee shall consist of three Members of the Assembly appointed by the Speaker of the Assembly. Vacancies on the committee shall be filled by the Speaker of the Assembly.

Upon the appointment of its members the committee may organize, appoint a secretary, and employ such clerical and technical assistants and adopt such rules as in its discretion it deems necessary and proper to enable it to carry out to full force and effect the powers granted and the duties imposed herein.

The committee is authorized and empowered to summon and subpoena witnesses, require the production of papers, books, accounts, reports, documents, and records, of every kind and description, and to take all necessary means to compel the attendance of witnesses and to procure testimony. The members of the committee may each administer oaths, and all of the provisions of Article 8 of Chapter 2, Title 1, Part 3 of the Political Code, and of Sections 9400 to 9412 of the Government Code, relative to the attendance and examination of witnesses before the Legislature and committees thereof, shall apply to the committee appointed under this resolution.

The committee is hereby authorized and empowered to make a complete investigation and study of all matters and subjects hereinbefore referred to and relating thereto, and to do any and all things necessary or convenient to enable it to exercise the powers and duties granted to and imposed upon it.

The committee may create subcommittees from its membership, assigning to the subcommittee any study, inquiry, investigation or hearing which the committee itself has authority to take or hold, and the subcommittee for the purpose of this assignment shall have and exercise all of the powers conferred upon the committee limited by the express terms of the resolution or resolutions of the latter, defining the powers and duties of the subcommittee, which powers may be withdrawn or terminated at any time by the committee.

The committee may hold public hearings at any place in California, at which hearings the people are to have an opportunity to present their views to the committee. The committee may also meet in executive session. The committee is hereby authorized to act during sessions of the Legislature, including any recess thereof, or after final adjournment, but in no event beyond the convening of the Fifty-sixth Legislature. The committee may report to any session of this Legislature or to the Regular Session of the Fifty-sixth Legislature, on or before March 15, 1945.

Every department, commission, board, agency, officer, and employee of the State Government and of any political subdivision, county, city, or public district of or in this State shall furnish the committee and any subcommittee upon request, any and all assistance and information, records, and documents as the committee or subcommittee deems proper for the accomplishment of the purposes for which the committee is created. The Sergeant-at-Arms of the Assembly, or other officers designated by him are hereby directed to serve any and all subpoenas, orders, and other process issued by the committee, when directed so to do by the chairman or by a majority of the membership of the committee.

The members of the committee shall serve without compensation but shall be allowed mileage at the rate of five and one-half cents ($0.05½) per mile each way incurred in connection with their services upon the committee and other actual and necessary expenses for living accommodations and meals incurred in connection with their services upon the committee, or in lieu thereof an allowance of ten dollars ($10) per day for accommodations and meals.

The sum of one thousand five hundred dollars ($1500) is hereby made available from the Contingent Fund of the Assembly, for expenses of the committee hereby created and its members, and for any other charges, expenses or claims it may incur under this resolution to be disbursed after certification by the chairman of the committee by warrants of the State Controller drawn upon the State Treasurer.

Resolution read, and referred to Committee on Rules and House Functions.

By Messrs Middough, McMillan, Massion, Carlson, Maloney, Bashore, Robertson, Weybret, Evans, Brown, Gaffney, Werdel, Leonard, Lyon, Hastain, Dilworth, Beck, Hawkins, Weber, Dills, Ralph C. Stream, Kellem, Fourt, King, Anderson, Johnson, Gannon, Thomas, Desmond, Smith, McCollister, Dickey, Potter, Watson, Armstrong, Kraft, Knight, T. House Resolution No. 237

Commending the efforts of Jim Doyle for operation of the Assembly public address system

WHEREAS, In addresses on the floor of this Assembly the good Legislator must, in order to persuade the passage of the people's wishes, make his words audible and winsome to his colleagues; by curbing his oratory with Hamlet's advice to the players

"For in the very torrent, tempest, and as I may say, the whirlwind of passion, you must acquire and beget a temperance that may give it smoothness"; and

WHEREAS, Few of us possess the robust articulation of a Gannon or the Gallic effluence of a Pelletier; so that we are at the mercy of the microphone and amplifier in our efforts to swell our voices above the noisy bedlam of the Chamber; and

WHEREAS, The efficient functioning of the public address system in use here is, therefore, a matter of concern to every Member of this Assembly; and

WHEREAS, Our smiling friend, Jim Doyle, is responsible for the operation of this public address system; and

WHEREAS, Jim sits in the gallery, early and late, through our long, tedious sessions, quietly manipulating the dials of the system reproducing our voices with exact fidelity, amplifying our speeches "trippingly on the tongue," expanding strongly and fulsomely the dulcet voice of our feminine colleague, while dropping decibels of the detonations of our more leather-lunged masculine Members; and

WHEREAS, The spirit of unity, and dispatch characterizing this Fifty-fifth Legislative Session owes much to the loyal but unsung achievement of Jim Doyle in transmitting the speeches of the Members harmoniously, without blurring or distortion of voice or legislative purpose; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That the careful, efficient, and cheerful manner in which Jim Doyle has performed this difficult task is heartily commended; and be it further

Resolved, That the Members of this Assembly hereby express to Jim Doyle their esteem and friendship; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly transmit a suitably engrossed copy of this resolution to Jim Doyle

Request for Unanimous Consent

Mr. Middough asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent to take up House Resolution No. 237, at this time, without reference to committee.

Resolution read and adopted unanimously.

Explanation of Vote

My vote in opposition to Senate Bill No. 33 was based entirely on the fact that I thought this bill went much farther than needed to clear up the situation that the district attorneys of this State wanted to clear up. While I am in sympathy with the problems of the district attorneys in the various counties, I am inclined to believe that if the wrong district attorney were to carry this act from a persecution standpoint rather than a prosecution standpoint, many of our citizens would be unduly harmed.

JOHN W. EVANS

The following resolution was offered:

By Messrs. Leonard, Lowrey, King, Crichton, Haggerty, Thurman, and Robertson:

House Resolution No. 238

Relative to the creation of an Assembly Interim Committee on the Japanese Problem

WHEREAS, The problems of this State arising out of the presence of great numbers of Japanese, native born and alien, will become even more acute upon the termination of the war than ever before; and

WHEREAS, The Japanese problem is one of great concern to the people of this State but a matter of considerably less consequence to the people of the Nation as a whole; and

WHEREAS, Many of the problems have arisen out of treaties between the United States and Japan in the making of which the desires of the people of this State may not have been fully considered; and

WHEREAS, The existence of the present state of war and the suspension of treaty rights affords an opportunity to settle these problems in such manner as will prove both fair to the individuals affected and at the same time satisfactory to the people of this State; and

WHEREAS, The people of the State look to the Legislature for leadership in this matter and the Legislature requires information based upon an impartial study and investigation of all of the factors involved in order that it may proceed intelligently toward a solution of these problems; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That there is hereby created the Assembly Interim Committee on the Japanese Problem which shall investigate, ascertain, and appraise all facts concerning the solution of the problem of the Japanese in California, including but limited to the constitutional and other legal factors involved, and the possibilities that treaty rights may again be acquired to an extent not desired by the people of this State; and be it further

Resolved, That said committee shall consist of five members appointed by the Speaker of the Assembly; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee hereby created in exercising the powers and performing the functions vested in it by this resolution shall have: (i) All the powers conferred upon legislative committees by Article 8, Chapter 2, Title 1, Part 3 of the Political Code; (ii) and Sections 9400 to 9412, inclusive, of the Government Code, except when inconsistent with this resolution, all the powers conferred upon committees by the Rules of the Assembly as they are enacted and amended from time to time and such rules are hereby incorporated herein and made a part hereof the same as if they were set forth in this resolution in full; (iii) all powers necessary or convenient to accomplish the objects and purposes of this resolution, including but not limited to the following duties and powers:

(1) To select a chairman from its membership and to employ and fix the compensation of a secretary and such clerical, expert and technical assistants as it may deem necessary.

(2) To create subcommittees from its membership, assigning to the subcommittee any study, inquiry, investigation or hearing which the committee itself has authority to undertake or hold, and the subcommittee for the purpose of this assignment shall have and exercise all of the powers conferred upon the committee limited by the express terms of the resolution or resolutions of the latter defining the powers and duties of the subcommittee, which powers may be withdrawn or terminated at any time by the committee;

(3) To adopt and from time to time amend such rules governing its procedure (including the fixing of its own quorum and the number of votes necessary to take action on any matter) as may to it appear appropriate;

(4) To contact with such other agencies, public or private, as it deems necessary for the rendition and affording of such services, facilities, studies and reports to the committee as will best assist it to carry out the purposes for which it is created;

(5) To hold public hearings at any place in California at which hearings the people are to have an opportunity to present their views to the committee;

(6) To make a complete study, survey and investigation of every phase of the subject of this resolution, including but not limited to the operation, effect, administration, enforcement, and needed revision of any and all laws both Federal and State, in anywise bearing upon or relating to the subject of this resolution;

(7) To meet either during sessions of this Legislature or during any recess thereof at any and all places in this State, in public or executive session;

(8) To act during this session of the Legislature including any recess thereof, and until the convening of the Fifty-sixth Legislature;

(9) To file reports with the Assembly during the Fifty-fifth Session thereof or any special extraordinary session thereof, and to file its final report with the Fifty-sixth Legislature;

(10) To summon and subpoena witnesses, require the production of papers, books, accounts, reports, documents, and records of every kind and description, to issue subpoenas and to take all necessary means to compel the attendance of witnesses and procure testimony; and

(11) To cooperate with and secure the cooperation of county, city, city and county and other local law enforcement agencies in investigating any matter within the scope of this resolution, and to direct the sheriff of any county to serve subpoenas, orders, and other process issued by the committee; and

(12) To do any and all other things necessary or convenient to enable it fully and adequately to exercise its powers, perform its duties, and accomplish the objects and purposes of this resolution;

Resolved, That the committee, each of its members, and any representative of the committee thereunto authorized by the committee or by its chairman, is authorized and empowered to administer oaths; and be it further

Resolved, That every department, commission, board, agency, officer and employee of the State Government, including the Legislative Counsel, the Attorney General and their subordinates, and of any political subdivision, county, city, or public district of or in this State shall furnish the committee and any subcommittee, upon request, any and all such assistance, and information, records and documents as the committee or subcommittee deems proper for the accomplishment of the purposes for which the committee is created; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee may make such representations and recommendations to the Federal Government as it may deem advisable, on any subject relating to the subject of its investigation, during such times as the Legislature may not be in session, and such representations and recommendations shall be representations

STATE OF CALIFORNIA
GOVERNOR'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO, May 1, 1943

*To the Honorable Members of the Assembly
State of California, Sacramento, California*

GREETINGS: I am returning herewith without my signature Assembly Bill No. 524, entitled: "An act to amend Section 1458 of the Penal Code, relating to the fixing, acceptance and forfeiture of bail in justices' courts."

My objections to this bill are as follows:

The bill provides that in misdemeanor cases the clerk of a justice's court or police court may, in the absence of the justice or judge, fix and accept bail, issue and sign an order for the defendant's release, set a time and place for the defendant's appearance before the appropriate magistrate, and give the defendant notice of such time and place; the amount of bail is to be fixed in accordance with a schedule in such cases previously approved by the justice or judge, except where a warrant of arrest has already been issued in the case. The bill provides that in such cases "the bail shall be cash or a surety bond."

In my opinion these provisions should not become law. In actual practice they would inure to the benefit of those defendants who had sufficient cash in their possession or subject to their disposition to post cash bail or pay the premiums on surety bonds, and would place at a disadvantage defendants who, although not possessed of cash resources, were of high standing in the community and could obtain property bonds from responsible relatives or friends; by the terms of the bill the latter class of defendants could not obtain their release on bail until the approval of the justice or judge was given. I do not doubt that such a result was not anticipated by the author or sponsors of this measure, but it is clear to me that the bill would have that effect. Such a result would not be just or fair to large numbers of persons who are arrested for misdemeanor and who, under the Constitution and laws of the State, are entitled to a proper release upon their furnishing sufficient bail.

In the second place, the bill provides for what appears to be an unconstitutional delegation of judicial authority to a clerk. The fixing of bail and the approval of bail bonds are functions which existing statutes clearly define and recognize as judicial functions, calling for the exercise of judicial authority; the present law requires that in fixing the amount of bail to be furnished the judge shall consider all of the circumstances of each particular case, including the previous criminal record of the defendant, and requires that no bail bond shall be accepted unless the judge is convinced that no portion of the consideration therefor was feloniously obtained by the accused. Clearly this mandate of the law can not be complied with by fixing bail according to a schedule previously set up; the judge who approves such a schedule has no knowledge of the circumstances of each particular case or of the criminal record of each person arrested. The law does not contemplate that such duties can be properly performed by a clerk.

In addition, although the bill applies only to misdemeanor cases, it might well be that under its provisions a defendant with a long criminal record and with large funds at his disposal—all or part of which had been illegally or feloniously obtained—would obtain his release on insufficient bail and thereafter fail to appear in court at the time set; in such a case it is equally possible that facts subsequently disclosed by the investigating officers would disclose that, instead of having committed a misdemeanor the fugitive should have been charged with a serious felony. The practice which is legalized by this bill is too dangerous to receive official sanction.

The legislative committees of the District Attorneys' Association, the Peace Officers' Association and the Sheriffs' Association of California have considered the measure and have registered their disapproval. I do not believe that the approval of the bill would be in accord with the proper administration of justice in criminal cases.

Respectfully submitted.

EARL WARREN, Governor

May 1, 1943

I acknowledge receipt this day at 6.50 p.m. of Assembly Bill No. 524 without the Governor's signature, together with a statement of objections thereto signed by the Governor, delivered to me personally by Richard H. Chamberlain, Secretary to the Governor.

ALBERT C. WOLLENBERG, Member of Assembly

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON ECONOMIC SECURITY

Upon order of the Speaker, and pursuant to a motion previously made by Mr. Weber, the following report was printed in the Journal:

Report of the Committee on Economic Security

March 14, 1943

*Honorable Charles W. Lyon, Speaker of the Assembly
California Legislature, State Capitol
Sacramento, California*

DEAR Mr. SPEAKER: During the Fifty-fourth Session of the Legislature, a great deal of concern was felt for the economic condition of the State and Nation. You will recall that up to that time, the United States had not yet been drawn into the vortex of the present devastating world-wide conflict. We had as a Nation, however, engaged indirectly in many ways in economic activities rising out of the war. This activity was particularly noticeable in California where, due to the many natural advantages, the manufacture of airplanes and related implements of war, as well as shipbuilding and numerous other industries, were at once swelling the pay rolls of the State and calling into action all available manpower.

This war-induced activity has so completely taken up the slack in unemployment that it was possible for the Legislature of California to discontinue appropriating huge sums of money for the relief of hardship and destitution due to and caused by unemployment. The Legislature also insisted upon the disbanding of the machinery which had been provided, largely through the so-called State Relief Administration, to administer the above mentioned relief.

The legislators were cognizant of the ill effects and the devastating results of the depression through which this State and the Nation had so recently passed and from which it was suddenly emerging.

Being conscious of the maladjustments in both the economic and social structures of our Country which preceded and prevailed through the depression, and fearing the evil consequences of another depression which seemed destined to follow the new era of prosperity occasioned by the aforementioned war activity, Members of the Legislature both severally and collectively naturally turned their thoughts and studies toward ways and means of providing sustained employment and sound economic stability, together with a much improved social standard, after the present world-wide conflict should have been terminated; also to avoid the chaos and degradation which had characterized the period of depression so fresh in the minds of everyone.

This trend of thought was crystallized and expressed through the preparation and adoption of House Resolution No. 186, a copy of which is set forth herewith and made a part hereof:

Relative to the creation of a Legislative Committee, to be assisted by leaders in labor, agriculture, business and industry, to make a thorough study of economic conditions in the State of California, and to formulate a legislative program designed to protect this State from the economic and social effect of those depressions which ordinarily follow a period of artificial prosperity created by defense spending and the participation of other nations in war.

WHEREAS, This State and the Nation as a whole are now experiencing a period of rapidly expanding business activity with corresponding increases in employment due to the National Defense Program and the purchase in this County of the materials of war by belligerent nations; and

WHEREAS, The maladjustment of economic conditions and the severe business depression with its consequent unemployment which followed the cessation of hostilities in the last World War provides a grim reminder of the necessity for the formulation of long-range plans which will cushion the economic shock of the termination of the present war and the spending of billions of dollars for National defense, and

WHEREAS, History has demonstrated that it is the laborer and his family and the farmer and his family who first feel the effects of business recession, and if employment and business activity are to be maintained at the highest possible level after the defense program ends, plans must be made to:

(a) Absorb defense industry workers in peacetime enterprises and to that end the development of new industries and new uses for agricultural products must be stimulated and encouraged; and

(b) Develop new markets for the products of California industries and farms; and

(c) Provide adequate vocational training for the youth of today in peacetime pursuits; and

(d) Provide housing and educational facilities to accommodate the population shifts caused by the migration of workers to those industrial centers where defense industries are located; and

(e) Provide for a constructive program of industrial and agricultural development which will assure the gainful employment of all able-bodied persons; and

(f) Provide an economical and efficient, yet adequate program for the care of all needy persons including the physically handicapped; and

(g) Make adequate provision for the aged in order that workers may be assured of security for themselves and their families in old age; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That a committee, designated "The Legislative Committee on Economic Security," consisting of 15 members of the Assembly appointed by the Speaker of the Assembly, is hereby created, which committee shall, and it is hereby authorized to, gather, assemble, study and analyze all facts relating to any and every phase of the matters specified in this resolution and of the economic and social conditions in the State of California, both as those conditions exist during periods of intense activity in agriculture, business and industry and as those conditions exist in periods of severe business depressions, all with a view to formulating a plan and preparing and submitting such legislative measures as will enable the State to bring about and assure the least possible maladjustment of economic and social conditions following the cessation of defense activities after the present European War, to which end the committee shall, except when inconsistent with this resolution, have and exercise all the powers, duties, and privileges conferred upon committees by Rule 35 of the Joint Rules of the Senate and Assembly for the Fifty-fourth Session (and the provisions of said Rule 35 as they exist on the adoption of this resolution are, to the extent not inconsistent with this resolution, hereby incorporated herein and made a part hereof as though set forth in full in this resolution), and shall also have and exercise the duty and power:

(1) To create subcommittees from its membership, assigning to the subcommittee any study, inquiry, investigation or hearing which the committee itself has authority to undertake or hold, and the subcommittee for the purpose of this assignment shall have and exercise all of the powers conferred upon the committee limited by the express terms of the resolution or resolutions of the latter defining the powers and duties of the subcommittee, which powers may be withdrawn or terminated at any time by the committee;

(2) To contract with such other agencies, public or private, as it deems necessary for the rendition and affording of such services, facilities, studies and reports to the committee as will best assist it to carry out the purposes for which it is created;

(3) To make a complete study, survey and investigation of every phase of the subject of this resolution, including but not limited to the operation, effect, administration, and enforcement of any and all laws in anywise bearing upon or relating to the subject of this resolution;

(4) To act during this session of the Legislature, including any recess hereof, and after final adjournment hereof, and to report its findings and recommendations to the Assembly and to the people from time to time and at any time and to make its final report to the Assembly at the Fifty-fifth Session of the Legislature on or before March 15, 1943; and be it further

Resolved, That every department, commission, board, agency, officer and employee of the State Government and of any political subdivision, county, city, or public district of or in this State shall furnish the committee and any subcommittee, upon request, any and all such assistance, and information, records and documents as the committee or subcommittee deems proper for the accomplishment of the purposes for which the committee is created; and be it further

Resolved, That the members of the committee shall serve without compensation but shall be allowed mileage at the rate of five and one-half cents ($.05½) per mile each way incurred in connection with their services upon the committee and other actual and necessary expenses for living accommodations and meals, incurred in connection with their services upon the committee, or in lieu of such expenses for accommodations and meals an allowance of eight dollars ($8) per day; and be it further

Resolved, That the sum of fifteen thousand dollars ($15,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby made available from the Contingent Fund of the Assembly for the expenses of the committee and its members and for any charges, expenses or claims it may incur under this resolution, to be paid from the Contingent Fund of the Assembly and disbursed, after certification by the chairman of the committee, upon warrants drawn by the State Controller upon the State Treasurer; and be it further

Resolved, That an Advisory Committee to the Legislative Committee is hereby created, to consist of nonlegislator members, appointed by the Speaker of the Assembly, the appointees to include industrial, military, naval, aeronautical, transportation, employment, vocational training and scientific experts, and representatives of labor and of agriculture to advise, aid, and counsel the Legislative Committee in the studies conducted by the latter in carrying out the purposes of this resolution, the Advisory Committee to have and exercise such powers and duties as shall be defined from time to time by the Legislative Committee, within the scope of the powers and duties committed to the latter by this resolution.

Evidence of the unanimity of opinion and the grave concern with which the problem was approached is found in the fact that the resolution was adopted by the Assembly with the overwhelming vote of 65 Ayes and 1 Nay.

It will be noted from the context of the resolution and excerpts set forth here-with of supporting arguments offered while the resolution was under discussion that it was the hope and wish of the Legislature that the United States might be spared the terrible experience of becoming actually involved as a warring nation. I wish to make a part of this report the following eloquent remarks of Assemblyman John B. Pelletier on the floor of the Assembly relative to House Resolution No 186

MR SPEAKER, MEMBERS OF THE ASSEMBLY The world is passing through a titanic struggle for existence. A war of destruction goes on all about us today. Sooner or later every country of the world, including the United States, will be involved. What the end will be, no one can say.

We, as Members of this Legislature, can do but very little to govern the destiny of mankind and prevent this destruction of life and property. We, on the Pacific Coast, can do very little to organize a new social order and guide the destiny of this great Nation without the help of all of America and all Americans. But we can do much to reorganize the social structure of the State of California, not only industrially, but socially and politically, and thereby maintain, in California, at least, a democratic and normal social order which is so important and vital in these times of stress and war overseas.

Now is the time and California is the place in which to program a workable plan of economy at the conclusion of the present war. We must be brought to realize, and at once, the financial condition in which we have become involved, and the condition in which we inevitably will find ourselves, our economic condition, when the war in Europe comes to an end.

We now are spending over two billions of dollars for National Defense in California alone. What are we going to do when this nation-wide spending stops? Forty-seven other States likewise are participating in the great American orgy of spending good American dollars that are not yet even earned. What will be the outcome? What will be the condition of the National book-keeping? What are we going to do when the National Defense contracts are canceled, when the National Defense Program is no longer necessary?

What are we going to do when our soldiers and sailors come home to take their rightful places in civilian life?

These questions, and many others, must be answered now, and there must be no waiting, no procrastination on our part—America must find the answers and find them now.

These problems must be solved before the conclusion of the present war in Europe if we are to escape the experience which was Spain's for 33 months—the destruction of life and property that would put our Country back hundreds of years in progress, in prosperity, in health and population, and in the general welfare which the people of America have every right to expect as Americans.

We in California are very fortunate to be living in the richest State in the world. We have more diversified resources than has any other State in the Union, or any other country in the world. God has not only blessed the great Commonwealth of California with beautiful scenery, but He also has blessed us with brains and intelligence to develop the resources at hand that they may be applied to the best human needs in order that we may produce a beautiful land and a powerful people to inhabit that land. Let us live not only for the present, but for the future—a future to which our sailors and soldiers are to return—a future they are fighting now to insure and protect.

If Speaker Gordon Garland does nothing else during this Fifty-fourth Session of the Legislature than to start this program of postwar preparedness, a plan for economy and common sense at the conclusion of the present war, he will have won the respect and confidence of every man, woman and child in the State of California, as well as in the Nation.

Mr. Speaker, the members of the committee you are to appoint to serve in an effort to carry on a program of preparedness and prosperity following the war should be men who have a broad view of the problems of agriculture, of industry, and of labor. Only by appointing such men, capable and far-visioned, is such a program possible if it is to be a success.

Agriculture must be taken into consideration in this plan-for-economy program, for industry can not be divorced from agriculture. The progress of industrial centers depends on the success of their agricultural districts. Agriculture and industry can not be separated from labor and its problems, for in the last analysis the success of agriculture and industry depends in a large measure on labor. Labor is the large consuming power of the products of both, industry and agriculture, therefore, the higher the wage scale of labor the greater labor's power to buy back its own products. This is a theory that has been greatly misunderstood by both agriculturists and industrialists, but it is the only theory that will maintain our social structure if we are to survive during the critical postwar era that inevitably faces us as Americans whether or not we become embroiled in the European war or not.

In conclusion, let me say that the appropriation requested in this resolution is the best investment the Legislature of the State of California can make at this time. We are the only body of people in the State empowered to make an impartial investigation of conditions and to formulate an economical plan that will be of benefit not only to agriculture, to industry, and to labor, but to the entire State of California.

This work can not be accomplished without expenditure of money. This committee of loyal citizens may function willingly and gladly without compensation, but they must receive their expenses if this work is to be done, and this work must be done if we are to avoid economic catastrophe at the conclusion of this war.

Hence, the premise upon which the resolution was adopted was that, as recited before, it was desirable, advisable, and economically sound, for the Legislature to attempt through every means possible to find ways to avoid or avert the fear of catastrophe which was to follow the war by attempting to devise ways and means of turning a wartime economy into an economy of peacetime, without seriously dislocating and dislodging the more important component parts of a smooth-functioning governmental structure.

Subsequent to the time the resolution was adopted, and pursuant to the provisions thereof, the members designated by the Speaker to serve on the committee were called into session on March 10th in Los Angeles for the purpose of properly organizing themselves to execute the directive of the Assembly in carrying out the purposes of the act. Even at the time the committee met to organize, world conditions had become much more difficult and intolerable and the war clouds which had enveloped most of the other nations of the world were hovering closer to our shores. The inevitability of our entrance into the world conflict had become apparent to every rational thinking person in the United States and it was in the most somber attitude that the members of the committee entered upon their work.

Subcommittees were appointed to deal with many specific phases of the all-inclusive problem. One of these subcommittees consisting of Charles M. Weber, chairman, Charles W. Lyon, and Gordon H. Garland, was charged with the specific duty of carrying on a study through which they were to seek the best means of providing economic security for California during the postwar period. Another subcommittee, the personnel of which was Lee T. Bashore, chairman, John W. Evans, and John B. Pelletier, was charged with the special duty of investigating the waste in commodities, both food and clothing, being warehoused and distributed by the State Department of Social Welfare. Separate reports dealing with the activities of these subcommittees and outlining their accomplishments is attached hereto and made a part hereof. Both of these reports set forth glaring examples of maladministration in the past and the need for constructive and coordinated thought and planning for the future.

After the committee as a whole and the subcommittees thereof were well under way with their respective duties, the collective trend of thought was considerably changed and revised by the attack which was made by Japan on possessions of the United States and the subsequent entry of the United States into the world conflict through open declaration of war against Japan and later on against the Axis powers.

The entry of the United States into the war naturally changed the perspective of the committee for, through our entry into the war, we were confronted with an entirely different and much more serious and difficult problem. After our entry into the war, our paramount thought and consideration was no longer for postwar planning for a nonwarring nation but rather our thoughts and concern turned immediately to ways and means by which we might aid the State and Nation in protecting ourselves as a people against the vicious attacks and practices of the totalitarian powers and to how we might best maintain for ourselves and perpetuate for future generations a free and democratic form of government.

With a radically changed perspective in our field of endeavor, and after long and deliberate consideration, it was the considered, collective opinion of the members of the committee that the purposes set forth in the resolution would be best served through the establishment of a nonpolitical, nonprofit organization or foundation which would carry on in perpetuity with a broad and comprehensive study of the social and economic problems which then were and had in the past been so sorely vexing to the legislative minds of our State. Appreciable progress has been made in that direction and there is just cause to believe that with the proper cooperation upon the part of the future sessions of the Legislature with the leading scholastic minds of our higher institutions of learning, together with the collaboration of leaders in industry in all of its phases and labor in all of its ramifications, that a foundation financed by endowment or appropriation, or both, can, in the near future, be established. If this hope can be brought to full reality, I am persuaded that the work of the committee will not only have been justified, but that it will have developed a new field of thought in social and economic research and planning which in the future will be considered one of the major developments of this era in the betterments of our democratic form of government.

In conclusion, it is hoped that the present and future sessions of the Legislature will not only cooperate with the efforts of this committee, but will carry on with and develop the same to more lasting and beneficial proportions in order that it will never again be said of California or the United States of America that thousands of her citizens were obliged to suffer hardship and privation during the same time that producers were obliged to allow tremendous quantities of foodstuffs and raw materials to spoil and be destroyed because of maladministration of governmental affairs and because of the lack of understanding and management of economic processes.

Assembly Bills Nos. 1411, 1863, 1883, and 1901 have been introduced as a result of the findings of this committee. A balance of $7,634.92 remains of the funds allotted the committee.

Respectfully submitted,

Committee on Economic Security

The Report of the Subcommittee on Postwar Planning

December 30, 1942

Honorable Gordon H. Garland
Chairman, Committee on Economic Security
State Capitol, Sacramento, California

DEAR CHAIRMAN: The Committee on Postwar Planning met in Los Angeles on March 11, 1942, the day following the meeting of the main committee on Economic Security.

Discussions by Messrs. Garland, Lyon, and Weber covered first the tremendous scope of the organization and work as proposed in House Resolution No. 186. Second, the correct type of organization to consider the broad economic and social problems, to collect facts, and to bring them to the Legislative process. Under this heading, the following questions were discussed: Should the character of the organization be governmental, private, or both public and private; and, likewise, should the sources of support of the organization be public, private, or both public and private; and, likewise, should the work undertaken by the organization be directed by public, private, or public and private agencies?

The members of the committee, through long association with Legislative problems, and through their knowledge of planning, felt qualified, after the discussion, to make tentative recommendations in order that the work might proceed definitely toward the objectives prescribed by House Resolution No. 186.

The committee agreed: (a) That a privately endowed nonpolitical foundation for research be formed for the purpose of gathering facts, studying the problems, and making recommendations in the broad field of political economy which might lead to the adoption of governmental plans and policies in order to better meet the conditions which will arise in the immediate future; (b) That the committee would hold several public hearings in various parts of the State to sound public opinion with regard to postwar planning and to familiarize the people with the immediate program of the Committee on Economic Security; (c) That members of the committee would interview people representative of all important levels of activity with a view to ascertaining the best way of organizing such a foundation and to discover what immediate financial support could be expected for the foundation.

Three conferences were held in Sacramento in preparation for the public hearings which were to follow. On July 22, 1942, the first public hearing was held in Fresno. At this hearing, members of agricultural, mercantile and manufacturing industries, and representatives of labor were present. The discussions revolved around two separate questions. One relating to the present maladjustments due to war conditions, which had previously come before the Senate Committee on Economic Planning; and the other concerning the problems of postwar planning.

The records of this hearing are in the files of the committee. A transcript was made of most of the proceedings, and a summary of the discussions is appended to this report. In order to direct the discussion into pertinent channels, questions set forth in the report of the State Planning Board on postwar problems were given to the witnesses in advance of the hearing. The response to the questions, and the discussions on the part of the witnesses, indicated a very great appreciation of the necessity for planning.

The following witnesses were present at the hearing: Marcel P. Lohse, secretary, Chamber of Commerce; H. H. Courtwright, Valley Electric Power Company; Frank J. Palomares, Mexican Labor Council; William T. O'Rear, labor representative; George M. Hume, merchants and manufacturers' representative; Norman Rudy, city council representative; Monsignor James G. Dowling, Catholic Churches' representative; Dr. L. R. Nelson, business and professions' representative; James R. Fauber, Visalia Chamber of Commerce.

The subcommittee, in anticipation of increasing interest in the subject, decided at future meetings to confine the discussions to postwar problems and that a digest of the State Planning Board Report would be placed in the hands of the witnesses. It was further decided to make vocal recordings of the discussions at the hearings. These records would then remain in the files and could be used by the foundation, after it was created, as pertinent to their work. This inexpensive procedure proved very satisfactory at the Stockton hearing which was held at the Hotel Stockton on August 18, 1942. The recordings of the meeting are in the files of the committee, and a digest of the same attached hereto.

Among those present who discussed the problem were: Howard Gibson, Stockton Labor Council; Clair Wilbur, Pacific Gas and Electric Company; Sid Bierley, Chamber of Commerce; Judge Riordan, attorney; Walter Hogan, city manager; Paul Keller, Fibreboard Products; A. J. Zitlau, manager, Bank of America; Ray M. Dunn, district attorney; John R. Williams, superintendent of schools; Charles Stewart, superintendent of county welfare; Howard Bissel, city planning commissioner.

As a result of the hearing in Stockton, the subcommittee came to the conclusion that there was sufficient widespread intelligent interest in postwar planning to warrant the committee to proceed to interview individual citizens concerning the establishment of the foundation for research.

The committee met in Los Angeles on September 1, 1942, and for nine days thereafter interviews were obtained with many citizens. Among those interviewed were: Mr. Richard Dillon, attorney-at-law; Mr. Ernest Duque, president of the California Portland Cement Company; Mr. Harry Bauer, president of the Southern California Edison Company; Dr. Robert Millikan, chairman of the executive council of the California School of Technology; Dr. William D. Munro of the same institution; President Von Klein Smid of the University of Southern California; Mr. Asa Call, attorney for the Pacific Mutual Insurance Company; Mr. Standish Mitchell, president of the California Automobile Association; the Reverend Rabbi Magnin, Rt. Reverend Archbishop Cantwell, and Miss Marmouth of the Haynes Foundation.

Representatives of labor and business were also informed of the work of the committee. It is regrettable that the thoughts, ideas, and discussions which occurred in these interviews can not be made part of the record. However, it is sufficient for the record to state that the committee was urged to continue its work immediately in establishing a foundation, and that the liberty and security of the people would be determined in the future by the course which government would take.

Dr. Millikan, during a two-hour interview, stated that our liberty was tied to the question of decentralization of administration in government, and that the work which the foundation should undertake should be prescribed by the limitations of our Constitution, and the principles of our representative democratic form of government. Dr. Millikan also stated that the appropriation of public funds to support such a foundation could be considered as proper.

Dr. Munro directed the committee to certain research authorities at the University of California, and urged that steps be immediately taken to establish the foundation.

As a result of these interviews, the committee came to the conclusion that it should proceed without delay to the work of establishing the foundation, and that other phases of the committee's work might well be undertaken at a later date by the foundation itself.

It was felt, however, that a public hearing should be held in San Francisco, in order to inform the people of the work and proposals of the committee. This meeting was held in the State Building on September 22, 1942. Recordings were made of the hearing which are available in the files of the committee.

The following witnesses appeared before the committee: Mr. Dwight L. Merryman, San Francisco Chamber of Commerce; Mr. Lewis of the mayor's office, City of San Francisco; Mr. Mark Jorgensen, Director of Public Planning; Mrs. Paul Eliel, Dr. Murray R. Benedict of the Giannini Foundation of the University of California; Mr. W. H. Ohman, Bureau of Engineering, San Francisco; Mr. John E. Pickett, the Pacific Rural Press, San Francisco; Mr. Sylvester J. McPhee, the Downtown Club, San Francisco; Mr. Carroll Newberg, president of the Council of Civic Clubs.

As a result of all of the preceding discussions, the committee concluded that it must directly approach the problem of forming the foundation. With this in view, on October 8, 1942, the chairman of the subcommittee went to the University of California and met with Dr. Robert Gordon Sproul, president; Dr. Pomeroy, and Dr. Baldwin Woods, and placed before them the problem of organizing such a foundation. The proposition was enthusiastically accepted, and after thorough discussion, Dr. Sproul agreed to discuss the problems with members of the faculty, particularly those familiar with the field of research.

Dr. Sproul called a meeting for a round-table discussion with the committee which was held at the Faculty Club of the University of California. The following persons were present and were called upon by Dr. Sproul to make their ideas known to the committee: Dr. Robert Gordon Sproul, president of the University of California; Dr. John B. Condliffe, Department of Economics; Dr. Frank N. Freeman, Department of Education; Dr. Ewald T. Grether, Department of Economics; Dr. Charles B. Lippman, Dean of the Graduate School; Frank L. Kidner, executive secretary, Bureau of Business and Economic Research; L. Deming Tilton, planning director, City of San Francisco; Dr. Samuel C. May, chairman of the State Planning Board, and Fred B. Wood, Legislative Counsel, acting secretary to the committee. Recordings were successfully made of some of the proceedings, but unfortunately, the major portion of the discussions were not recorded, due to faulty operation of the mechanism.

As a result of this hearing, with its splendid discussions, the chairman directed Dr. Sproul to appoint a committee to consider the proper organization of the foundation and a means of financing it. Dr. Charles Lippman, dean of the graduate school, was made chairman of Dr. Sproul's committee. On December 7, 1942, the chairman of the subcommittee met with Dr. Lippman, who reported that the findings of the committee were in Dr. Sproul's hands, and that the committee was prepared to proceed, upon further direction, with the organization of the foundation. A copy of the report and recommendations to Dr. Sproul are submitted herewith, together with remarks by Dr. Lippman in support of the project. These came into the hands of the chairman on January 18, 1943, upon the return of Dr. Sproul from Washington, D. C.

Report of the President of the University of California and His Committee to the Subcommittee on Postwar Planning

December 30, 1942

The committee recommends that steps be initiated by the university to establish a research foundation to be known as the California Foundation. This foundation shall be an independent corporation.

Purpose—The purpose and scope of the California Foundation shall be the selection and financial support of investigations which look toward the economic, social, educational, and cultural development of the State of California in an orderly and appropriate manner.

Material Support—It is suggested that for the material support of such a foundation funds be sought from citizens of California who are interested in the welfare of the State and who have the means to contribute. A nucleus of large gifts should first be secured. Thereafter through publicity and other persuasion it is suggested that we interest as many citizens as possible to contribute as their means may permit. Other sources of income may be considered, public as well as private, provided such contributions are made to the foundation without restriction for its purposes.

Governing Body—It is suggested that a board of trustees of 21 persons with substantial terms not running concurrently be entrusted with the government and management of the California Foundation. It is further suggested that on such a board there be representation of all the great research agencies in the State. The initial members of the board shall be appointed by a committee consisting of the president of the University of California, the president of Stanford University, the chairman of the executive council of the California Institute of Technology, and the president of the University of Southern California. The board of trustees shall determine upon its own officers and committees and upon the method of its perpetuation.

Committee on Projects—The selection and approval of proposals submitted to the foundation for investigation, as well as the initiation of new research projects, shall be vested in a Committee on Projects appointed each year by the board of trustees. This committee shall consist of seven qualified persons.

Findings of the Subcommittee

The committee, as the result of the hearings, interviews, and investigations made throughout the State finds: (1) That there are already grave dislocations in the economic and social structure of the State; and, moreover, there are dark clouds appearing on the horizon which portend coming events, somber in aspect, which will require comprehensively planned policies in government, and the utmost cooperation of the people, in order that our representative government may survive; (2) That there is a deep solicitude on the part of the people in anticipation of the difficulties ahead which makes them look to the Government, through the procedure of planning, to avoid the pitfalls of the past, and to make secure our liberty and form of government; (3) That public opinion in the State of California will support the creation of a Foundation for Research.

Therefore, the Subcommittee on Postwar Planning makes the following recommendations:

1. That the broad work prescribed by House Resolution No. 186 (page 3109, Assembly Journal, May 15, 1941) be carried on by a permanent joint committee of both houses of the Legislature created by statute to insure a more permanent legal existence.

2. That pending the creating of such joint committee, the work of promoting the California Foundation for Research be carried on by a committee of the Assembly, properly authorized to so do.

3. That such Assembly committee introduce the necessary legislation to bring about a rational procedure of planning in State government to fulfill the requirements embodied in House Resolution No. 186.

Respectfully submitted.

Report of the Subcommittee on the Distribution of Surplus Commodities

December 15, 1942

Honorable Gordon H. Garland

*Chairman, Committee on Economic Security
State Capitol, Sacramento, California*

DEAR CHAIRMAN: Pursuant to the appointment of Assemblymen John Pelletier, John Evans, and myself as chairman of a subcommittee to investigate the matter of distribution of surplus commodities under the jurisdiction of the Social Welfare Department, we beg to report the following.

Four months of time was spent by your subcommittee in the careful investigation both as to the quantity of merchandise on hand, the amount distributed, the method of distribution, and the amounts permitted to become spoiled.

Our investigation revealed that the State Department of Social Welfare, Distribution Division, is operating 17 warehouses in the State of California. They have approximately 300 civil service employeess and approximately a like number of WPA employeess.

The investigation showed that as of July 24, 1942, they had on hand in their one base warehouse in Los Angeles, 857,000 items of clothing. We further determined that much of this clothing was fabricated by the WPA as early as 1940 and still remains in its original boxes—not having been distributed.

Testimony also produced that during the years 1941 and 1942, over 800 tons of foodstuffs were permitted to become contaminated by weevils, worms, and deterioration, and it was necessary to utilize these foodstuffs for hog feed rather than for human consumption.

Testimony further produced the fact that there has been a laxity upon the part of the State Department of Social Welfare to see that these foodstuffs were properly distributed to the various schools to assist in the school lunch program.

Testimony also produced the fact that in instances foodstuffs were delivered to schools not equipped with cooking facilities.

Further testimony produced the fact that at the end of the school term, in many instances, the same amount of commodities were returned from those schools as delivered to them during the school year, none having been used. Because of the length of time that these commodities were held on hand, they also deteriorated and when returned to the base warehouse it was found they were no longer good for human consumption. Subsequent to that, they were destroyed by the process of delivering to the incinerator.

All of these food products are delivered to the State Department of Social Welfare by the Federal Agricultural Marketing Administration operating under the Lend-Lease Act. Testimony showed that neither the State Social Welfare Department nor the local AMA officials had anything to do whatsoever with the ordering or purchasing of these commodities, the entire matter being handled out of Washington, D. C., and the local AMA officials are notified from time to time by Washington as to what commodities have been purchased and are available for distribution in California. The local AMA officials then in turn notify the State Department of Social Welfare of the availability of these products.

Inasmuch as our economic picture has changed so greatly during the past two years, it is the conviction of the committee that there is no longer a need for this type of distribution by the State Department of Social Welfare. It is our belief that if the Federal Government decides to continue the purchasing of commodities thereby bidding against our citizens for the purchase of these same commodities, that the Federal Government should then be notified by the State that we no longer care to act as an agency in the distribution of these commodities, and that if the Federal Government feels that these school lunch programs are of necessity that they, the Federal Government, should work directly with the county and city superintendents of schools.

Your committee also received information, subsequent to the hearings, that the State Department of Social Welfare has in its warehouses over 3,000,000 items of clothing ready for wear. Further information shows that in addition to these 3,000,000 items they have a great amount of material on hand supposedly for the purpose of having the WPA sewing projects fabricate this material into clothing. This latter item, when fabrication is completed, would approximate 1,500,000 items of clothing, making a total of approximately 4,500,000 articles of clothing available for our State institutions. Again, because of our changing economic conditions, we find that the average citizen is able to find employment and there is no longer a need for this activity. It is the committee's contention that our so-called WPA sewing projects would render a greater service to humanity if the State sewing projects were abandoned and that the WPA employees would sew for the Army and the Navy.

The subcommittee recommends that there be established in our State Government a Liquidation Department, separate and apart from the Department of Finance, for the purpose of completing the liquidation of the SRA and also for the liquidation of the Commodities Division of the State Department of Social Welfare. This department should investigate as to the number of articles of clothing that could be reasonably used during the period of the next few years by our State institutions. We also feel that all of the surplus commodities on hand in our 17 warehouses should be distributed to our State institutions for consumption, thereby reducing greatly the proposed budget to support our institutions for the next biennium. We do not feel that the Surplus Division of the Department of Social Welfare should be permitted to continue after February, 1943. This will eliminate approximately 300 employees who would be permitted to become actively engaged in our war effort.

The subcommittee would also like to call to your attention the fact that in the past several years, and at the present time, the Federal Government holds out as bait to the State of California propositions in which the Federal Government during the first year contributes the entire cost of these various propositions and then after the first year they gradually withdraw their support until we find the State Government contributing the entire amount to some new form of philosophy in social welfare. It is our feeling and our contention that the State of California should again assert itself, informing the Federal Government that we are amply able to conduct our own affairs of state and to handle our social welfare problems without the dictation from some bureaucratic branch in Washington.

Lack of funds prevented this committee from investigating the other 16 warehouses throughout the State, but the committee feels that we have such information on the maladministration of the base warehouse in Los Angeles to justify our recommendation for the abolishment of the entire program.

Respectfully submitted.

Your committee transmits the attached report with its recommendations.

Respectfully submitted.

The Procedure of Planning in Government

The objectives of the procedure of planning in government are briefly defined as follows: To create and effectuate comprehensive and rational plans and policies in government, in order to provide for the present and future welfare of the people. These plans and policies may be placed in two categories:

(a) Those relating to the physical requirements of the people upon the land as exemplified by lines establishing those rights of way for water, power, transportation, housing, and all other things requisite to the public convenience, health, and general welfare. This may be termed Land Use Planning

(b) Those relating to the economic and social requirements of the people, which may be named Economic Planning.

Land Use Planning

Physical requirements on the land can be ascertained reasonably and comprehensively for present and future needs by the art of land use planning. The objectives are then to set aside, for present and future use, the rights of way which conform to the plans, by implanting the lines which contain them on the land through the extension of the police powers by local and State Government; and to establish policies whereby the necessary structures prescribed by the plans are constructed.

This procedure in government has been authorized by the State Planning Act (Statutes 1929, Ch. 838. Amended by Statutes 1937, Ch. 665) which establishes State coordinated regional planning. This act makes it mandatory that the cities and counties shall adopt and establish master plans looking broadly into the future, and pre-ordained official plans based thereon, to be constructed in the near future; that regional planning districts, consisting of one or more counties, or parts thereof, shall be defined and established by the State Planning Board in a manner prescribed in the law; and regional plans be established and coordinated with city and county plans for adoption by the local legislative authorities, and that the State plans as created by the several State departments, shall be implanted on the several regional plans. All plans shall be coordinated under the supervision of the State Planning Board, but the adoption of the plans for demarcation on the land shall be through the extension of the police powers by the local legislative authority. The act thereby establishes State coordinated regional planning through the democratic procedure of decentralization of administration by the local government, and plans are made from the bottom level of government up, and from the top level down.

Supplementing the Planning Act, so as to establish land subdivision control, is the Subdivision Map Act (Statutes 1937, Ch. 670), which grants limited powers to cities and counties in order to cause land subdivisions to conform to the lines established by the master plans, and to further protect the public health and safety, as related to land used for subdivisions.

The State Planning Board was established (Statutes 1935, Ch. 331) for the purpose of correlating State planning by agencies of State Government, and participating in interstate and National planning efforts, and to cooperate with any persons or organizations interested, for devising means to develop the natural and economic resources of the State.

The State Planning Board, as created, is a division of the Department of Finance. Most of the efforts of the board have been directed toward cooperation with the Federal Government on various planning projects, the fruits of which have been a series of reports. The board made attempts at forming two regional planning districts; one in Southern California, in the metropolitan areas surrounding Los Angeles, and one containing the counties in the San Francisco Bay area, but no action, under the mandatory provisions of the act was taken by either the Governor or the board.

It is a fact that the procedure of planning for the physical requisites of civilization in California is authorized by law, but up to the present time it is far from being established by either local or State Government.

Economic Planning

Economic planning has to cope with the problems arising out of the changing currents in human affairs, and the shifting demands and requirements of the people due to progress and regress in their economic pursuits. Our industrial civilization is complex indeed, and, likewise, are the problems which arise therefrom. The movements and demands of people are sudden, and their effect is almost explosive in its nature.

Economic planning is connected with land use planning when it becomes necessary to make provisions on the land for the solution of a problem. Land use planning should be considered as being subject to less change and, in its nature, more dependable. It is a procedure which government must direct. The engineer may determine with a great deal of precision the amount of water available in a stream, the present and future demands for its use, and the means of transporting it to the place where it will be used; but in contrast, how difficult is the problem confronting the economic planner when he must meet the conditions brought about by the entrance into industrial employment of hundreds of thousands of women?

There is no effective organization in government in California to provide for social and economic planning. However, the State Planning Board does have certain broad powers authorized under the planning act to consider such problems.

Economic planning requires organized effort in research to gather facts, and to correlate them in order that they may make possible a more rational solution of the problems. Throughout America today there are many foundations for research, spending great sums of money in such work. If the State of California is to enter the field of economic planning, the legislative and executive branches of government must have available correlated research material pertinent to the problems which confront government. It would be necessary, therefore, to establish some such agency for research which would be responsible with providing such source material as is necessary for the government to make laws and determine policies.

Findings

In view of the foregoing facts, and those contained in the Report of the Subcommittee on Postwar Planning, the committee finds:

- (a) That there is no organized procedure in government to provide for both land use planning and economic planning.
- (b) That there is a well designed democratic procedure, under the Planning Act, to provide for land use planning.
- (c) That local and State Government have not acted under the mandatory features of the Planning Act to provide for State coordinated regional planning.
- (d) That planning is necessary for the orderly development of the State, and the preservation of the liberties of the people.

The Committee on Legislative Organization therefore recommends that a rational organization be set up to coordinate the procedure of economic planning with the executive and legislative branches of government, the State Planning Board, the several departments of State, and local, city and county governments.

Therefore, the committee further recommends:

(1) The establishment of a research foundation, privately endowed, but widely supported, which looks toward the economic, social, educational, and cultural development of the State of California in an orderly and appropriate manner; and as set forth in the report of the president of the University of California and his committee to the Subcommittee on Postwar Planning, for the biennium ending 1942.

(2) The creation by statute of a joint legislative committee supported by a small legislative research bureau which would form the liaison between both Houses of the Legislature and the Foundation for Research.

(3) The creation by statute of an economic council composed of members each expert in particular matters pertaining to the development of the natural resources of the State and the industries related thereto, of transportation, and of economics and social welfare, and of other things related to the general field of planning. This council would act as the liaison between the foundation, the Governor, and executive branch of government, and could submit programs and policies to the State Planning Board for approval, and also to the Governor and the Legislature.

(4) The State Planning Board should be reorganized by statutory amendment so as to set up a board of five members composed of persons who, by their broad experience in life, and by professional and business experience and because of freedom from financial dependence are qualified, when supported by a limited staff of experts, to fulfill the duties prescribed for them by law. The board should be set up as an independent agency, and removed from the Department of Finance. It should have a director, and a staff whose principal duties are to promote the procedure of planning in local and State Government, and to coordinate all plans made by cities, counties, regions, and the departments of State Government. The ex-officio members of the present board, namely, the Director of Finance, the Director of Public Works, and the Director of Natural Resources would be left off the board, as reestablished.

(5) That the Planning Act be amended, if necessary so as to include the coordination of planning in the larger field, and correlating these plans and policies to all branches of government, and that the mandatory features of the Planning Act be retained.

A new section might be added to the Planning Act—

"In order to provide State Coordinated Regional Administration, the Governor may from time to time, submit recommendations for adoption by the State Planning Board, the several City and County Planning Commissions, and the local legislative authority, in order to promote and effectuate the orderly development of the State and to expedite the adoption of coordinated policies by local legislative authorities acting upon their own discretion."

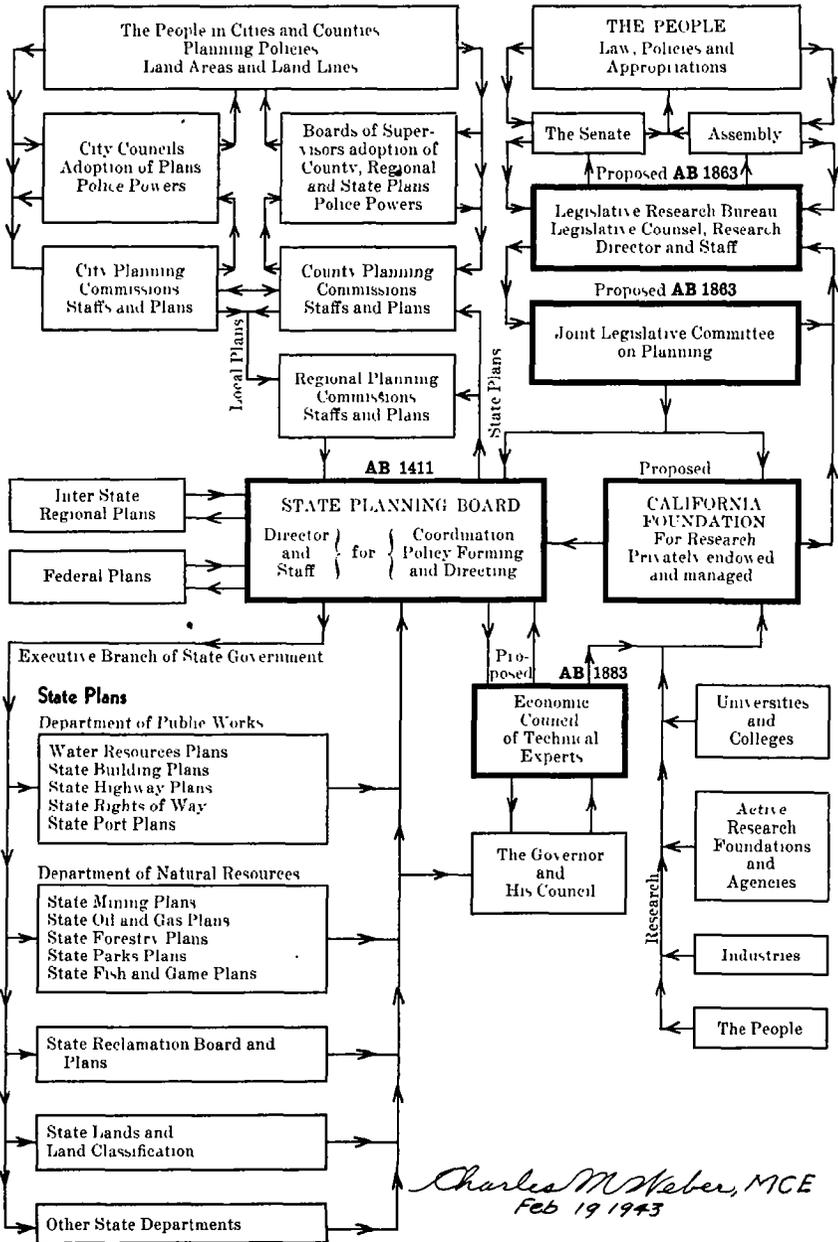

Accompanying this report is a diagram which visualizes the rational organization of the procedure of planning in State Government. Legislation has been introduced which will cover the recommended changes and which will serve as a basis for discussion and possible improvement of the program herein set forth.

It should be noted that the only two changes recommended for government are the establishment of the Joint Committee of the Legislature and the creating of the Economic Council to the Executive Branch of the Government. The establishment of the Foundation is to be a creative act of the people.

The California Foundation

MY DEAR DOCTOR SPROUL: The work of the Subcommittee on Postwar Planning, of the 1941-42 Assembly Committee on Economic Security, was recently transferred to the Assembly Committee on Legislative Organization, with directions to the latter to follow the recommendation of the former in regard to the organization of a Research Foundation (Assembly Journal for January 30, 1943, page 640, House Resolution No. 78)

On the same day, your report that the committee appointed by you recommended that steps be initiated by the University of California to establish a research foundation to be known as the California Foundation was brought to the attention of the Assembly and ordered printed in the Journal (Assembly Journal for January 30, 1943, page 660).

On February 19, 1943, the Committee on Legislative Organization rendered a report to the Speaker of the Assembly in which the committee recommended, among other things, the following:

The establishment of a research foundation, privately endowed, but widely supported, which looks toward the economic, social, educational, and cultural development of the State of California in an orderly and appropriate manner, and as set forth in the report of the president of the University of California and his committee to the Subcommittee on Postwar Planning, for the biennium ending 1942. (Page 5 of the Report.)

A copy of the report of February 19, 1943, is enclosed.

On February 25 and March 4, 1943, conferences were held with Dr. Charles Lipman to consider what steps next might be taken.

We think it would be in order for you to bring the matter to the attention of the heads of the other educational institutions concerned, for the purpose of adopting a plan, selecting a board of trustees, incorporating the foundation, and inaugurating the work. A draft of a suggested form of constitution, prepared by Dr. Lipman, is enclosed.

If you concur in this view, we will appreciate it very much if you will kindly proceed with the undertaking. We will be pleased to cooperate in any way that you may indicate.

Yours very truly,

CHARLES M. WEBER, Chairman
Assembly Committee on Legislative Organization

COMMITTEE ON LEGISLATIVE ORGANIZATION

STATE CAPITOL, SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA

April 6, 1943

Honorable Earl Warren
Governor of the State of California
Sacramento, California

YOUR EXCELLENCY: For a number of years committees of the State Legislature have been making studies pertaining to the organization of planning in government, and as a result have formulated policies relating thereto, for enactment into law or for adoption by the Executive Branch of Government.

The more recent movement towards postwar planning on the part of the public was anticipated at the last session of the Legislature, by both the Senate and the Assembly, and committees were organized for the purpose of formulating a program which might aid in the solution of the tremendous problems which will face the people and their government in the postwar period.

The Assembly Interim Committee on Economic Security held public hearings and interviewed people from all levels of society, so that any legislative program recommended would be practical and receive public support. In the present session of the Legislature, the Committee on Legislative Organization was directed to carry on this work in the Assembly. The recommendations of the committee were that the procedure of planning in State Government should be established or modified so that it would be effective as a permanent organization for all planning and more particularly for postwar planning.

Bills were introduced to cover these proposals. There are altogether about 15 bills relating to postwar planning, and finance introduced in both houses. Some of the bills proposed to appropriate or earmark sums of money as large as fifty million dollars.

A survey of the position of the bills recommended by the Committee on Legislative Organization and those proposing appropriations by the several members, shows that there is little opportunity in the present session for these bills to be properly considered or even started through the legislative process.

It would indeed be improper for this Legislature or for the Administration to deny the people the procedure in government necessary to prepare for the postwar period. The committee, therefore, recommends to your Excellency that you call a Special Session of the Legislature to consider matters pertaining to planning.

It would be well to divide into two categories the activities of such a Special Session.

(1) Those pertaining to the establishment of the procedure of planning in government, together with those appropriations necessary to make this possible; such as the formulating of surveys—the drafting of plans, and the making of research studies.

(2) Those relating to the appropriation of monies for the construction of works and systems of financing, such works to take place at the cessation of the war.

These latter activities might be considered at another Special Session to be called upon the cessation of hostilities. Meanwhile recommendations arising from the present session and the proposed Special Session could be studied and a comprehensive program adopted at the termination of the war.

The committee, therefore, recommends that you call a Special Session before the termination of the present session, and before the occurrence of the legislative jam, which always precedes the final days of the session.

Respectfully.

CHARLES M. WEBER, Chairman

COMMUNICATIONS

By Speaker Lyon:

A communication from Marie LePleux, relative to suggested legislation, was received, and ordered referred to the Committee on Rules and House Functions:

By the Chief Clerk:

The following communication was received, and ordered printed in the Journal:

WAR PRODUCTION BOARD, WASHINGTON, D. C., April 28, 1943

*Mr. Arthur A. Ohnimus, Chief Clerk
California Legislature, Sacramento, California*

DEAR SIR: This will acknowledge receipt of your letter of March 29th enclosing a copy of House Resolution No. 148 relating to restrictions on horse racing in California.

Although the control of horse racing is not a matter within the responsibility of the War Production Board the resolution asked for a statement of policy from various Federal officials and I am able to give you the following information. The President on March 10, 1942, made a public statement on sports and recreation which has been the basis of Federal policy in this matter for all the agencies whose transportation controls affected sporting and recreational events. The Office of Defense Transportation has taken the position that "recreation as usual" is just as bad as "business as usual" when it involves unnecessary use of the transportation equipment of railroads which is being utilized for special war purposes. The operation of chartered busses to sporting events has been prohibited and efforts have been made to restrict taxicabs which would travel to and from horse racing meets. While much improvement has been shown in the rubber program I am informed it will be some time before the Rubber Director will feel that it is safe to permit unrestricted use of their cars by civilian owners.

The policy toward horse racing, therefore, is one which would depend upon the extent to which transportation equipment would be necessary and whether there is a shortage of that equipment for essential military and war production purposes.

In the event that no unusual wear and tear on these overburdened services are involved these meets should be continued. For example, a track which has adequate service by electric street cars or interurban trains does not need the extensive use of other services in which there is a shortage at this time. On the other hand to operate tracks that require the running of special trams, special busses or the extensive use of privately owned automobiles and taxicabs would not be within the policy outlined by the President and followed by the various Federal agencies.

Sincerely,

DONALD M. NELSON

By Speaker Lyon :

SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, May 2, 1943

State Capitol, Sacramento, California*

ASSEMBLY BILL No. 876

DEAR MR BASHORE: At your request we have reviewed Assembly Bill No. 876, as amended in Senate April 27, 1943, in respect to the effect it will have upon the requirements that personal income tax returns be filed.

The bill would, among other things, increase the present exemptions from the tax for taxable years beginning in the calendar years 1943 and 1944.

It amends both the existing law and the codification in the Revenue and Taxation Code which will be effective July 1, 1945, if enacted.

Sections 3 and 4 of the Personal Income Tax Act set forth the present requirements for filing returns. Section 3 relates to persons taxable generally and Section 4 relates to returns by fiduciaries.

Section 5 fixes the rates of tax and Section 10 specifies the exemptions from the tax.

The bill amends Sections 5 and 10 directly, making changes that are immaterial to the present problems and also adds to the act a new Section 29.5, the effect of which is limited to taxable years beginning in the calendar years 1943 and 1944.

Section 29.5 is divided into four subdivisions each of which covers all or a portion of Sections 3, 4, 5, and 10 as follows:

Subject	Present Act	Temporary Section
Returns (Generally)	Sec. 3	Sec. 29.5 (a)
Returns (Fiduciary)	Sec. 4	Sec. 29.5 (b)
Rates	Sec. 5	Sec. 29.5 (c)
Exemptions	Sec. 10	Sec. 29.5 (d)

Subdivision (c) of new Section 29.5 covers fully the ground covered by present Section 5 (rates), but the other subdivisions are not complete substitutes for the present law. The fundamental question is how far the temporary provisions of Section 29.5 supersede the existing law.

It is our opinion that such temporary provisions supersede the existing law insofar as they are inconsistent therewith, but that where the temporary section is silent, the existing law will control and this is so even though there be omitted from a comparable temporary subdivision a provision that is found in the existing law.

Put differently, our view is that the failure to include in subdivisions (a) and (b) all of the provisions of Sections 3 and 4 of the present law does not indicate an intention that the omitted provisions shall not be applicable for the taxable years covered by Section 29.5.

We think that the principles governing the construction of general and special statutes are especially applicable here, where we have general and special provisions in the same statute, that insofar as Section 29.5 speaks, it is to be regarded as creating exceptions to the provisions of the act that would otherwise be applicable to the taxable years covered by Section 29.5, and that where Section 29.5 is silent, such existing provisions control (Marshall vs. Williams (1927) 85 Cal. App 507, 259 Pac. 570).

For convenience of discussion there follows a composite of subdivision (a) of Section 29.5 and Section 3 of the present law.

(a) With respect to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1942, and before January 1, 1945:

[(a)] (1) Every person taxable under this act shall make a return to the commissioner, stating specifically the items of his gross income and the deductions and credits allowed by this act, if having a net income for the taxable year of—

[(1) One] (i) Two thousand dollars [($1,000)] ($2,000) or over, if single, or if married and not living with husband or wife;

[(2) Two] (ii) Three thousand five hundred dollars [($2,500)] ($3,500) or over, if married and living with husband or wife; or

[(3)] (iii) If having a gross income of five thousand dollars ($5,000) or over, regardless of the amount of the net income.

[(b)] (2) If a husband and wife living together have an aggregate net income for the taxable year of [two] three thousand five hundred dollars [($2,500)] ($3,500) or over, or an aggregate gross income for such year of five thousand dollars ($5,000) or over—

[(1)] (i) Each shall make such a return, or

[(2)] (ii) The income of each shall be included in a single joint return, in which case the tax shall be computed on the aggregate income

Subdivision (a) of Section 29.5 does not include nor contain provisions comparable to subdivisions (c) and (d) of Section 3 which read as follows.

(c) If the taxpayer is unable to make his own return, the return shall be made by a duly authorized agent or by the guardian or other person charged with the care of the person or property of such taxpayer.

(d) Every resident or nonresident who is taxable upon income of an estate or trust shall include such income in his gross income

Upon reading the underlined material together with the material in ordinary type we have the present text of subdivision (a) of Section 29.5. By reading the ordinary type together with the material shown in strikeout we have the present text of Section 3, with the exceptions of subdivisions (c) and (d).

It is at once apparent that with the exception of the failure to repeat subdivisions (c) and (d) of existing Section 3 the only changes that subdivision (a) of Section 29.5 makes with respect to the taxable years covered is in increasing the amount of net income that a person must have before he is required to file a return.

The first question is if an individual has a net income in between those figures $1,000-$2,000, or $2,500-$3,500, whichever is applicable, must he file a return?

It is our opinion that during the taxable years covered the provisions of subdivision (a) of Section 29.5, insofar as they are inconsistent with Section 3 control and that a single person, for example, having a net income of more than $1,000, but less than $2,000, would not be required to file a return.

Any other conclusion would lead to an absurdity for unless the Legislature intends to dispense with the filing of a return in such a case, there is no point in enacting the section for the present requirement that a return be filed by a single person having a net income of $1,000 or over would certainly cover a single person having a net income of any greater amount.

This reasoning finds additional support in the fact that for the same taxable years the personal exemptions are increased to the same amounts $2,000 and $3,500. While there is some reason for requiring the filing of a return on a taxable income of $1,000 or over, although the personal exemption is $1,000 and probably no tax is due, in order to check the computation, the same reasoning would not apply where the income is $1,000 and the exemption $2,000.

The second question is whether subdivisions (c) and (d) remain applicable or whether the failure to include them in subdivision (a) of Section 29.5 impliedly repealed those subdivisions for the taxable years covered by Section 29.5.

It is our opinion that the latter is not the case and that subdivisions (c) and (d) are applicable to persons who are required to make returns by subdivision (a) of Section 29.5.

Our conclusion is based upon the application of the well established principle of construction that repeals by implication are not favored, and by the additional factor that there is nothing in Section 29.5 that is in any manner inconsistent with subdivisions (c) and (d) of Section 3.

Obviously the requirement that if a taxpayer is unable to make his own return it shall be made by his duly authorized agent, guardian, or other person charged with his care or the care of his property, is equally applicable whether the income be $1,000, $2,000, or any other sum. The important consideration is whether or not a return is required at all, and insofar as this depends upon the amount of net income and there is an inconsistency between subdivision (a) of Section 29.5 and Section 3, the former would control.

Without setting out the differences between Section 4 of the existing law and subdivision (b) of Section 29.5 it is sufficient to illustrate the question to indicate that the same changes are made in Section 4 as are made in Section 3, except that there are omitted from subdivision (b), subparagraphs 5, 6, and 7 of Section 4(a), and subdivisions (b) and (c) of Section 4 are omitted entirely.

The opening clause of Section 4 and the omitted matters read as follows:

(a) Every fiduciary (except a receiver appointed by authority of law in possession of part only of the property of an individual) shall make a return for any of the following individuals, estates, or trusts, taxable hereunder, for which he acts, stating specifically the items of gross income thereof and the deductions and credits allowed under this act:

(5) Every trust the net income of which for the taxable year is one hundred dollars ($100) or over;

(6) Every estate or trust the gross income of which for the taxable year is five thousand dollars ($5,000) or over, regardless of the amount of the net income;

(7) Every decedent, for the year in which death occurred, and for prior years, if returns for such years should have been filed but have not been filed by the decedent, under such rules and regulations as the commissioner may prescribe.

(b) Under such rules and regulations as the commissioner may prescribe, a return filed by one of two or more joint fiduciaries, shall be sufficient compliance with the above requirement. Such fiduciary shall state under oath (1) that he has sufficient knowledge of the affairs of the individual, estate, or trust, for which the return is made, to enable him to make the return, and (2) that the return is, to the best of his knowledge and belief, true and correct.

(c) Any fiduciary required to make a return under this act shall be subject to all the provisions of this act which apply to individuals.

The third question then is whether a fiduciary is required to make a return for the taxable years covered by subdivision (b) of Section 29.5 with respect to:

(a) A trust, the net income of which for the taxable year is $100 or over;

(b) An estate or trust, the gross income of which for the taxable year is $5,000 or over;

and whether subdivisions (b) and (c) above quoted are applicable to returns by fiduciaries.

It is our opinion that the failure to include subdivisions (5) and (6) does not absolve a fiduciary of the obligation of filing returns in the cases indicated in subparagraphs (a) and (b) above. Again, there is nothing in Section 29.5, subdivision (b) that is inconsistent with these subdivisions, and there is no indication that the Legislature intends to absolve the fiduciary of the obligation to file a return in such cases. This is fortified further by the fact that there has been no change in the exemption from the net income that is permitted to a trust. In other words, all income over $100 is taxable, and it would require in our opinion something more than mere implication to lead a court to declare that although the income is taxable the fiduciary is not required to file a return.

Similarly, the changes in the exemptions for individuals do not in any manner affect subparagraph 7 which requires the filing of a return with respect to the estate of a decedent for the year in which death occurred. Of course, if the income of the estate during a taxable year covered by Section 29.5 were less than the increased exemptions and income requirements a return would not be required for the measure of the obligation of the fiduciary is by Subdivision 7 the same as the obligation of the decedent.

There appears to be little question that subdivisions (b) and (c) of Section 4 remain applicable for again the amount of income involved can have nothing to do with rules and regulations for the making of returns of one of two or more joint fiduciaries, and can not affect the statement that a fiduciary who is required to make a return is subject to all of the provisions which are applicable to individuals.

The construction we have placed upon the bill gives effect to every provision of the existing law which is not replaced for the taxable years involved by a comparable provision in Section 29.5. In this we follow a cardinal rule of construction.

Summarized, our conclusions are that where Section 29.5 speaks in a manner inconsistent with the existing law such inconsistent portion supersedes the existing law; where it is not inconsistent, or where it is silent, the existing law remains in full force.

Additionally, it is noted that the structure of the bill and this interpretation of it are in harmony with the general intent of the Legislature as expressed in the urgency clause, that the "rates be reduced and that the . . . exemptions be increased." (Section 5 of the bill.)

Very truly yours,

FRED B. WOOD, Legislative Counsel

In applying the above schedule to determine the tax of a taxpayer with one or more dependents, there shall be subtracted from his gross income four hundred dollars ($400) for each such dependent.

(b) For the purpose of this section—

(1) [The term "married] Married person" means a married person living with husband or wife on July 1[st] of the taxable year.

(2) [The word "dependent] Dependent" means a person who is, on July 1[st] of the taxable year, a dependent under Section 10 (b).

(3) An individual not a head of a family and not living with husband or wife on July 1[st] of the taxable year shall be treated as a single person.

(c) This section shall not apply to [a nonresident alien individual,] an estate or trust, an individual filing a return for a period of less than 12 months or for any taxable year other than a calendar year, or to a married individual, married and living with husband or wife at any time during the taxable year, whose spouse files a return and computes the tax without regard to this section.

SEC. 1.7. Section 10 of said act is amended to read:

Sec. 10. There shall be allowed for the purposes of the tax herein imposed:

(a) In the case of a single person, a personal exemption of one thousand dollars ($1,000); or in the case of the head of a family or a married person living with husband or wife, a personal exemption of two thousand five hundred dollars ($2,500). A husband and wife living together shall receive but one personal exemption. The amount of such personal exemption shall be two thousand five hundred dollars ($2,500). If such husband and wife make separate returns, the personal exemption may be taken by either or divided between them;

(b) Four hundred dollars ($400) for each person (other than husband or wife living with the taxpayer) dependent upon and receiving his chief support from the taxpayer if such dependent person is under 18 years of age or is incapable of self-support because mentally or physically defective [, and for each former or present spouse to whose support the taxpayer is contributing by order of a court of competent jurisdiction;]. A payment to a wife which must be included in the gross income of the wife under 7(k) or Section 12(1) shall not be considered a payment by her husband for the support of any dependent. If the taxpayer would not occupy the status of head of a family except by reason of there being one or more dependents for whom he would be entitled to credit under this section, the credit shall be disallowed with respect to one of the dependents;

(c) In the case of an estate an exemption of one thousand dollars ($1,000); in the case of a trust an exemption of one hundred dollars ($100);

(d) If the status of the taxpayer, insofar as it affects the personal exemption or credit for dependents changes during the taxable year, the personal exemption or credit for dependents changes during the taxable year, the personal exemption and credit shall be apportioned, under such rules and regulations as are prescribed by the commissioner, in accordance with the number of months before and after such change. For the purpose of such apportionment a fractional part of a month shall be disregarded unless it amounts to more than half a month, in which case it shall be considered as a month."

O God, who art good to all, we give Thee thanks for all Thy loving kindness. We are grateful for the ties which bind us to our fellowmen; for the opportunities of serving Thee in the framing of laws that direct human destiny and lift the levels of mankind; for our joint inheritance as citizens of a Christian Nation; for the faith of our fathers, the sacrifices of our mothers, and the love of our homes; for the glimpses of nobility in human life that remind us of our Creator; for the miracle of our conscious life by which we see the miracle of the universe.

"I heard God speak today—
I heard Him speak majestically;
From out the redwood's height,
In grand high tones,
He spoke!
The world grew hushed,
We stood alone,
Then did I hear Him
Speak the psalmist's lay;
'Be still, for I am God' This did He say!"

AMEN

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolution was offered:

By Mrs. Niehouse:

House Resolution No. 244

WHEREAS, Sunday, May 9th, is Mother's Day, a day more important to mankind than any other day, and

WHEREAS, The mothers of all the world are sacrificing more today than at any other time in our history to preserve life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness for us, and generations yet unborn, by the giving of their sons to the armed forces of the United States, many of whom are fighting on foreign soil, and many of whom will make the supreme sacrifice for their country, finding rest and peace in foreign graves, and

WHEREAS, All the millions in our armed forces will be thinking of Mother on this day, and with loving hearts send to them grateful thanks for a heritage of strong minds and bodies, tender care, and loving attention through all the years, and

WHEREAS, This Mother's Day assumes a greater significance and a greater meaning in these days of total war, Mother still signifies and represents to us those finer virtues of charity, justice, humanity and peace, which we strive to exemplify as characteristic of our American way of life—that our boys are fighting all over the world to preserve; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California. That this Assembly express its gratitude, appreciation, love, and thanks to all of the mothers of California, and to the mothers of the sons and daughters of America's armed forces in particular, and wish to and for them the speedy conclusion of hostilities, and the safe return of their sons; and be it further

Resolved. That when this Assembly adjourns sine die on May 5th, it adjourn in honor of the War Mothers of the United States of America

Request for Unanimous Consent

Mrs. Niehouse asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent to take up House Resolution No. 244, at this time, without reference to committee.

Resolution read and adopted unanimously.

MOTION TO PRINT REMARKS IN JOURNAL

Upon motion of Mr. Miller, the following remarks by Mrs. Niehouse during consideration of House Resolution No. 244 were ordered printed in the Journal:

Mr. Speaker and Members of the Assembly

I am presenting this resolution as a mother of a stalwart son, now fighting with the armed forces on foreign soil. I know the anxiety and the heartaches of every mother in California whose sons are fighting to preserve for you and me the American way of life.

We, as mothers, are proud that we have been able to bring into the world sons, and that we have brought them to maturity physically fit and morally strong—unafraid when duty calls.

Let us here this day rededicate our lives to those spiritual principles learned at our mother's knee, for as long as mothers are free and sons are strong, Democracy shall live.

Said department shall set up an account for each convict which shall be credited monthly with an amount computed by multiplying the daily rate by the number of days such convict actually performed labor during the month. Such account shall be debited monthly with such convict's expenses for transportation; his drawings from the commissary, such as clothing and toilet articles; and his proportionate share of all expenses for the proper maintenance of the road camp, including the expenses for food, medicine, medical attendance, clerical help, and the pro rata cost of reward for capturing escapes from the road camp, which award is hereby fixed at the sum of one hundred fifty dollars ($150) for the capture of each escaped prisoner, payable to any individual or peace officer. The net credits to each convict's account shall not be permitted to exceed an average of seventy-five cents ($.75) per day for each day of actual work performed in the road camp.

The Department of Public Works, in computing the debits to be made to the convict's accounts, may add not to exceed 10 per cent on all items except transportation and awards for escapes.
