Good Morning Members, Let us pray.

Lord, We are gathered today in Your honor, and through Your blessing, we are able to be here, serving the people of this great state.

We all have taken different paths to be here, to serve in Your honor on the Assembly Floor today. Even though at times the work is difficult, we must be thankful for the opportunity to serve our districts, because there is no higher glory than serving our communities.

As a Member of the California Legislative Black Caucus, it is with great honor that I ask that we take a moment to praise the work of those in our communities that make the sacrifice every day to be of service to our constituents.

Real heroism is shown through service to those who are in need. Let us reflect on the meaning of the work of our Unsung Heroes, as servants to their communities and the connection it has to our work here, in the State Capitol.

Let us pray over our Unsung Heroes. Let us pray that they will not tire in their work, and that they will have the energy to continue to do the hard work that is necessary within our communities.

Let us pray that they will be able to continue to bless others through their service. Let us pray that all of our Unsung Heroes continue to gather strength through their faith, and through the belief that we are a community that looks out for one another.

Lastly, let us pray that others who are looking for a reason to serve, can look to these heroes as an example of what it means to be of service to their communities.—AMEN.
