REPORTS

The following letter of transmittal was presented by the Chief Clerk and ordered printed in the Journal:

California State Auditor

2002-111

February 27, 2003

*The Honorable Speaker of the Assembly
The Honorable Members of the Assembly of the Legislature of California
State Capitol, Room 3196
Sacramento, California*

Members of the Assembly: As requested by the Joint Legislative Audit Committee, the Bureau of State Audits presents its audit report concerning the governance, structure, and mission of the former Department of Information Technology and what reforms are needed to revise the statewide information technology (IT) program so that it can better meet the State's needs.

This report concludes that a variety of IT governance models could be made to work in California, as long as the statewide IT program includes factors our consultant identified as common among other successful programs. Factors that contribute to successful governance include exerting continuous executive leadership support for IT, using a collaborative management approach, showing commitment to IT employees during periods of change, and developing and implementing IT initiatives in modular form.

Whatever IT governance model is ultimately chosen, the resulting organization and staff must address a number of challenges such as deciding on the proper amount of centralization and standardization the statewide IT program should have, the level of IT activity that should be outsourced, and how to mitigate the negative effects on long-term IT priorities and initiatives caused by changes in administrations and the lengthy budget cycle.

Our report also concludes that the success of a new IT governance structure in California depends on the support and cooperation of many stakeholders, including the governor's office, the Legislature, control entities, client entities, and technical entities that will be affected by the

IT program. The selection, adoption, and development of a governance structure should, therefore, be a collaborative effort involving stakeholders at all levels.

Respectfully submitted,

ELAINE M. HOWLE
State Auditor

Above report referred to the Committee on Jobs, Economic Development and the Economy.
