COMMUNICATIONS

The following communications were presented by the Chief Clerk, and ordered printed in the Journal:

March 1, 2000

*The Honorable Robert Hertzberg, Chair
Joint Rules Committee
State Capitol, Room 319
Sacramento, California*

Dear Mr. Hertzberg: As President pro Tempore, I have appointed Senator Escutia as a member of the Joint Committee on Mental Health Reform to fill an existing vacancy.

Sincerely,

JOHN L. BURTON
President pro Tempore

The following letter of transmittal was presented by the Chief Clerk, and ordered printed in the Journal:

California State Auditor

99124

February 17, 2000

*The Honorable Speaker of the Assembly
The Honorable Members of the Assembly of the Legislature of California
State Capitol, Room 3196
Sacramento, California*

Members of the Assembly: As requested by the Joint Legislative Audit Committee, the Bureau of State Audits presents its audit report concerning our evaluation of the methods employed by the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission (commission) to assure an adequate, long-term, and reliable water supply for its Bay Area customers. This report concludes that the commission has been slow to assess and upgrade its water delivery system to enable it to survive catastrophic events such as earthquakes, fires, or floods. The commission has also been slow to estimate the amount of water it will need to meet demand in the future and to seek additional sources of water. As a result, the nearly 2.4 million customers in the City and County of San Francisco, and in Alameda, San Mateo, and Santa Clara counties who rely on the commission for their drinking water are at greater risk of disruptions and water shortages in the event of a catastrophe or a drought.

The commission's capital improvement plan currently lists about 200 capital projects requiring more than $3 billion to complete. The commission plans to complete most of these projects over the next 15 years. In the past 10 years, however, the commission completed 54 capital projects at a cost of about $270 million. Several factors contributed to the commission's inability to complete capital projects more quickly. For instance, the commission believes that insufficient staffing to manage the projects is a major factor. Other deficiencies that contribute to the slowness are inefficient contracting procedures, outdated project operations manuals, weak project monitoring, and inadequate project management training.

The commission acknowledges that it lacks the tools to streamline project development or to control such a large capital improvement program. Therefore, it has taken several measures to address the deficiencies. However, its ability to ensure a sufficient, long-term and reliable water system remains uncertain since most of these measures are still in development or were recently finalized.

Respectfully submitted,

MARY P. NOBLE
Acting State Auditor

Above report referred to the Committee on Utilities and Commerce.
