REPORTS

The following letter of transmittal was presented by the Chief Clerk and ordered printed in the Journal:

California State Auditor

2023-105
March 7, 2024

*The Honorable Speaker of the Assembly
The Honorable Members of the Assembly of the Legislature of California
State Capitol, Room 319
Sacramento, California*

Members of the Assembly: As directed by the Joint Legislative Audit Committee, my office conducted an audit of Middle Class Tax Refund (MCTR) payments. Our assessment focused on the Franchise Tax Board's (FTB) administration of MCTR payments, and the following report details the audit's findings and conclusions. In response to high inflation rates and energy prices in 2022, the Legislature and Governor authorized FTB to issue MCTR payments to qualifying recipients. Although FTB planned to make some payments through direct deposit, it also planned to make many payments through prepaid debit cards (debit cards). To facilitate these payments, FTB entered into an agreement with Money Network Financial, LLC (Money Network) that required Money Network to produce and distribute debit cards, provide customer service, and prevent fraud. In general, we determined that the State could improve its approach to issuing future financial relief payments by addressing the weaknesses we identified in the MCTR program.

Although FTB issued MCTR payments relatively quickly compared to similar payment programs in California and other states, FTB's agreement with Money Network created difficulties related to the administration of the payments. For example, FTB did not ensure that Money Network provided the required level of customer service, because FTB's agreement with Money Network had no accountability measures for contractor underperformance, short of terminating the agreement. Additionally, the agreement does not define fraud, and Money Network has not tracked fraud in the program adequately enough for the State to know the true rate of fraud.

In an effort to distribute financial assistance as quickly as possible, the State selected its vendor and negotiated the agreement with Money Network at a greatly accelerated pace. However, the speed of the procurement likely contributed to the problems we found with the agreement. To avoid similar difficulties when providing financial relief payments in the future, the State should prepare now by establishing master agreements with debit card vendors that include provisions to address the weaknesses in the MCTR agreement. The State should also consider how it could increase its capacity to deliver financial relief payments through using multiple payment methods, including checks and debit cards that already exist for other benefit programs.

Respectfully submitted,

GRANT PARKS
California State Auditor

Above report referred to the Committee on Revenue and Taxation.
