PRAYER

Upon invitation of Speaker pro Tempore Lowenthal, the following prayer was offered by Reverend Bob Oshita:

NASA's first Moon Mission since 1972, Artemis II is on its way back from the moon. An Easter Sunday comment by one crewmember, Captain Victor Glover from Pomona, California, went appropriately viral. He said, ". . . We are so far from Earth and looking back at the beauty of creation . . . up here . . . I can really see Earth as one thing . . . You guys are talking to us because we're in a spaceship really far from Earth. But you're on a spaceship called Earth that was created to give us a place to live in the universe, in the cosmos . . . And I'm trying to tell you, just trust me, you are special. In all of this emptiness . . . (that) we call the universe—you have this oasis, this beautiful place that we get to exist together."

He added, "I think as we go into Easter Sunday thinking about all the cultures all around the world . . . this is an opportunity for us to remember where we are, who we are, and that we are the same thing. And that we got to get through this together."

Frank White, author of the book, Overview Effect, wrote "Astronauts who leave Earth generally come back with, "A greater distaste for war and violence, and a desire to do something to improve life on Earth. Seeing Earth from a distance . . . seeing our home, our people, our lives as one, has the power to change something within us. It's a potent reminder that, for all our uniqueness, we really are one."

William Shatner, who went into space at age 90 in 2021, felt this oneness deeply and said, "Earth and life are so fragile. We hang by a thread. Seeing humanity from that distance put conflicts between humans into perspective. We're entangled with each other." Then added, "We have wars . . . the stupidity of it all, is so obvious."

Let us try to feel the truth of what so many astronauts have felt and shared. In the biggest picture, we are all one. And as Captain Glover shared, "We got to get through this together."

Namo Amida Butsu—Let us try to live with kindness and gratitude beyond words.

Upon request of Speaker pro Tempore Lowenthal, Assembly Member Chen then led the Assembly in the pledge of allegiance to the Flag.
