PRAYER

Upon invitation of Speaker pro Tempore Mullin, the following prayer was offered by Assembly Chaplain Rev. Bob Oshita:

In honor of Mother's Day this coming Sunday, I'd like to share the wisdom of my sister, Janie, mother of three. When her children were becoming young adults, one night she called me way past 1 a.m. It was just days before her middle child was about to begin her junior year abroad in Paris. Hearing her pensive tone, I immediately asked, "What's wrong, Janie?" I knew that I would never forget that early morning conversation. She quietly said, "I know now what it means to be a Mom." I asked, "What is that?"

She said, "Being a Mom is having to learn to let go." Then, she went on to say, "You carry your baby for nine months, you give birth, and you have to let her go. Soon she's toddling along, holding your finger; then in no time, she's running off, and you have to let her go. The day comes when the training wheels come off of the bike, and you run alongside holding her up. She's shouting, 'Mommy don't let go! Mommy don't let go!' You say, 'I won't. I won't.' But then you have to let her go. Then they get their driver's license, go off to college," and then after a pause she said, "Now, my baby is going to France, and I have to let her go."

I listened to my sister share this with me that early morning. Then I said to her, "You're absolutely right. But as I've been taught, that's not just being a Mom. That is what it means to be a human being, in living life. We're always having to let go. In life, nothing can last forever. So, in living life, we are all constantly having to learn to let go."

Although we know this to be true, I've come to feel, that deep, deep in a loving parent's heart, they will never let go; they will forever be worrying about, caring for, and loving their children; for such is the nature of a parent's immeasurable love. However old we may become, the bonds of love between parent and child will remain; for they are the bonds of life itself.

This Sunday especially, make sure you give your Mom a warm, loving hug. And for those of us who have lost our Moms, let us hold them close to our hearts, for this is still their special day.

—Namo Amida Butsu, with Gratitude beyond words for the Nurturing Kindness of our Loving Mothers.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE TO THE FLAG

Upon request of Speaker pro Tempore Mullin, Assembly Member Rodriguez then led the Assembly in the pledge of allegiance to the Flag.

REPORTS

The following letter of transmittal was presented by the Chief Clerk and ordered printed in the Journal:

California State Auditor

2017-032
May 10, 2018

*The Honorable Speaker of the Assembly
The Honorable Members of the Assembly of the Legislature of California
State Capitol, Room 3196
Sacramento, California*

Members of the Assembly: As required by Section 67382 of the Education Code, the California State Auditor (State Auditor) presents this audit report concerning the accuracy of crime statistics compiled and reported by a selection of California postsecondary educational institutions (institutions). This report describes the results of our examination of these institutions' issuance of annual security reports and disclosures of campus security policies required under the federal Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act (Clery Act).

This report concludes that the six institutions we visited did not fully comply with the Clery Act requirements. Four institutions that reported criminal offenses in their recent annual security reports did not do so accurately. These errors were largely attributable to the institutions not maintaining written procedures that clearly outlined their review processes. The remaining two institutions reported no criminal offenses. However, one of these institutions failed to report two serious crimes due to miscommunication with local law enforcement. In addition, the Clery Act and federal regulations require institutions to have specific security policies in place and, in most instances, disclose these policies in their annual security reports; however, just one of the six institutions we reviewed fully complied with these requirements. If institutions do not make all required disclosures, students and other stakeholders may not have the information necessary to make informed decisions about their personal security.

Since the requirement for the State Auditor to audit compliance with the Clery Act was added by statute in 2002, we have conducted six audits of a selection of California's institutions. Because of the similarity of the issues we have identified, we recommended in our previous report—issued in 2015—that the entities that oversee California's public institutions (systemwide offices) issue guidance to improve their institutions' compliance with the Clery Act. As part of our current audit, we reviewed the systemwide offices' implementation of our previous report's recommendations and found that while the California Community Colleges Chancellor's Office has recently issued sufficient guidance, the California State University's Office of the Chancellor and the University of California's Office of the President need to improve certain aspects of their guidance. Without complete guidance at the state level, California's institutions will continue to report inaccurate crime statistics and fail to adequately disclose policies in their annual security reports—misinforming users of the reports and increasing the institutions' risk of incurring federal financial penalties.

Respectfully submitted,

ELAINE M. HOWLE, CPA
State Auditor

Above report referred to the Committee on Higher Education.
