California State Auditor

2000-118
June 27, 2001

*The Honorable Speaker of the Assembly
The Honorable Members of the Assembly of the Legislature of California
State Capitol, Room 3196
Sacramento, California*

Members of the Assembly: As requested by the Joint Legislative Audit Committee, the Bureau of State Audits presents its audit report concerning the State's management of information technology (IT). This report concludes that the Department of Information Technology (DOIT), which is responsible for overseeing the State's efforts to plan, develop, and manage IT, needs to provide stronger leadership and guidance to departments as they develop new IT projects. Additionally, DOIT has not sufficiently addressed other responsibilities such as completing a statewide inventory of projects to assist in the coordination of similar IT efforts and to enhance its oversight, releasing technical standards that establish common rules for IT projects, and consistently using state-mandated advisory councils to provide input on its operations. Although DOIT is implementing a new strategic vision for overseeing departments' IT efforts, it is too early to assess the value that its new processes will add.

While DOIT is responsible for overseeing the State's IT efforts, departments are primarily responsible for planning, developing, and ensuring the quality of their respective IT projects. However, our review of four major projects revealed that departments are not always using best practices to manage such projects. The four IT projects we reviewed experienced varying degrees of cost overruns and delays;
