REPORTS

The following letters of transmittal were presented by the Chief Clerk and ordered printed in the Journal:

California State Auditor

2010-101
June 22, 2010

The Honorable Speaker of the Assembly
The Honorable Members of the Assembly
of the Legislature of California
State Capitol, Room 3196
Sacramento, California

Members of the Assembly: As requested by the Joint Legislative Audit Committee, the State Auditor's Office presents this audit report concerning the Department of Resources Recycling and Recovery's (department) management of the Beverage Container Recycling Program (beverage program) and the financial status of the Beverage Container Recycling Fund (beverage fund).

This report concludes that because of forecasting deficiencies, the department was not always able to reliably project the revenues and expenditures in the beverage fund. Moreover, ineffective supervision and errors hindered the department's forecasting reliability and more recently resulted in a $158.1 million overstatement of the projected beverage fund balance in the 2009–10 Governor's Budget. Further, we found that the department could do more to effectively manage the beverage program. For example, the department has not followed its plan to audit the top 100 beverage distributors that provided 90 percent of the revenues to the beverage fund, and when audits were conducted, a significant lag existed between the audit's completion and billing for identified underpayments, which increased its risk for failing to collect underpayments before the two-year statute of limitations. In fact, we noted three instances where the department exceeded the statute of limitations and lost the opportunity to collect up to $755,000. Further, the department could improve its efforts to prevent fraud by better tracking fraud leads and having a systematic method for analyzing recycling data for potential fraud. In addition, the department is currently conducting enhanced efforts to prevent fraud before it occurs, but has not yet set specific goals to evaluate the success of these efforts. Our review also revealed that the department did not consistently oversee recycling grants and for six grants we reviewed—it did not ensure that grantees met their commitments, which ultimately cost the State nearly $2.2 million. Finally, although the department has a strategic plan, we believe it should consider establishing benchmarks or metrics that would allow it to more clearly measure the success of the beverage program.

Respectfully submitted,

ELAINE M. HOWLE, CPA
State Auditor

*The Honorable Speaker of the Assembly
The Honorable Members of the Assembly
of the Legislature of California
State Capitol, Room 3196
Sacramento, California*

Members of the Assembly: As requested by the Joint Legislative Audit Committee, the California State Auditor presents this audit report concerning the Department of Public Health's (Public Health) administration of the Every Woman Counts (EWC) program.

This report concludes that Public Health could do more to maximize the funding available to pay for breast and cervical cancer screening services, which is—in our opinion—the primary focus of the program. Although total tobacco tax revenues supporting the EWC program are declining and costs to administer the program are rising, state law requires that Public Health provide services at the level of funding appropriated by the Legislature. When it requested $13.8 million in additional funding from the Legislature in June 2009, Public Health claimed that redirecting funds from other areas of the EWC program—such as efforts aimed at providing health education to women and technical assistance to medical providers—to pay for additional screening services would not be possible given federal requirements and would jeopardize federal funding. However, our review of federal requirements and discussions with the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention indicate that Public Health has the flexibility to redirect funding to screening activities without risking the loss of federal funds. Unfortunately, Public Health's ability to identify and redirect funds toward paying for clinical aspects of the EWC program is hampered by the fact that it does not know how much its contractors are spending on specific activities. As a result, in an environment of scarce fiscal resources, Public Health lacks a basis to know whether paying for certain contract activities are a better use of funds than paying for additional mammograms or other screening procedures.

Finally, our audit found that Public Health should do more to improve the public transparency and accountability with which it administers the EWC program. For example, state law requires Public Health to develop regulations to implement the EWC program in a manner that considers the public's input. However, nearly 16 years after the program began, such regulations still have not been developed. Public Health cited staff and funding limitations as the cause for the delay. State law also requires Public Health to report on the activities and effectiveness of the EWC program and submit an annual report to the Legislature. Although Public Health has provided information on an ad hoc basis, including during the State's budgetary process, it has provided only one formal report to the Legislature—in August 1996. This lack of information on the effectiveness of the EWC program limits Public Health's ability to effectively advocate for appropriate funding and hampers the Legislature's and the public's ability to exercise effective oversight.

Sincerely,

ELAINE M. HOWLE, CPA
State Auditor

*The Honorable Speaker of the Assembly
The Honorable Members of the Assembly
of the Legislature of California
State Capitol, Room 3196
Sacramento, California*

Members of the Assembly: As requested by the Joint Legislative Audit Committee, the California State Auditor presents this audit report concerning the Department of Public Health's (Public Health) management of the State and Federal Health Facilities Citation Penalties Accounts (state and federal accounts) and the effectiveness of its collection of Civil Money Penalties (monetary penalties) imposed on long-term health care facilities (facilities). The report concludes that Public Health and the former California Department of Health Services have overstated the fund balances for the federal account on the fund condition statements since at least fiscal year 2004–05. Of particular note is that Public Health's budget section overstated the federal account's ending fund balance by $9.9 million for fiscal year 2008–09. Errors made in the fund condition statements have masked the fact that the federal fund is now nearly insolvent and this condition may adversely affect services provided by the Department of Aging's Long-Term Care Ombudsman Program designed to help protect residents of facilities from abuse and neglect.

Revenue for the state and federal accounts is derived from citations imposing monetary penalties that Public Health's Licensing and Certification Division (division) or the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services issue depending on whether the violation cited is with state or federal requirements. Although the division generally collects payments for all of the citations it issues for which the facilities choose not to appeal that are collectable, the amounts it ultimately collects are less than those originally imposed mainly because state law permits a 35 percent reduction to the monetary penalty if it is paid within a specified time frame. Specifically, during the nearly seven-year period we reviewed, the division imposed $8.4 million in monetary penalties but collected only $5.6 million. Furthermore, a significant amount of monetary penalties imposed by the division are stalled in the appeals process. From fiscal year 2003–04 through March 15, 2010, facilities appealed citations totaling $15.7 million in monetary penalties. Of this amount, citations comprising nearly $9 million were still under appeal and some of these citations were contested roughly eight years ago. The large number of citations stalled in the appeals process is likely due to incentives the appeals process offers facilities, including the delay of payment until the appeal is resolved and the potential that the monetary penalty will be significantly reduced. In fact, 71 percent of the citations issued, appealed, and resolved in the time period we reviewed received reductions to the original amount imposed. In particular, of the $5.3 million imposed by citations that were appealed and ultimately reduced, facilities were required to pay only $2.1 million.

Finally, we identified several opportunities for Public Health to increase revenue for both the state and federal accounts by seeking changes to state law and by ensuring the division adheres to current law. For instance, Public Health should seek the authority to revise the monetary penalties specified in state law—some were last revised in 2001 and others in 1985. We estimate that had the monetary penalties for citations been revised at the rate of inflation, Public Health could have collected nearly $3.3 million more in revenue for the state account.

*The Honorable Speaker of the Assembly
The Honorable Members of the Assembly
of the Legislature of California
State Capitol, Room 3196
Sacramento, California*

Members of the Assembly: As requested by the Joint Legislative Audit Committee, the State Auditor's Office presents this audit report concerning the Department of Health Care Services' (Health Care Services) administration of the California Medical Assistance Program (Medi-Cal) treatment authorization request (TAR) process.

This report concludes that Health Care Services is missing opportunities to streamline the provision of Medi-Cal services and improve its level of service. Specifically, Health Care Services manually adjudicates all medical TARs even though it only denied a relatively small portion of these TARs in almost half of the instances in fiscal years 2007–08 and 2008–09. Health Care Services' data indicates that the TAR process as a whole saves substantially more money in claims it avoids having to pay to Medi-Cal providers than it costs to administer. However, despite compelling reasons for Health Care Services to perform a cost-benefit analysis of the segment of its TAR process associated with service categories with low denial rates, low service costs, or high administrative costs it has not done so. We believe a cost-benefit analysis of such TARs would identify opportunities for Health Care Services to streamline the TAR process and improve its overall response times.

Currently, Health Care Services is not processing drug TARs within legal time limits for prescriptions requiring prior approval. Specifically, it took longer than 24 hours to respond to 84 percent and 58 percent of manually adjudicated drug TARs in fiscal years 2007–08 and 2008–09, respectively. Finally, Health Care Services does not specifically monitor its processing times for prior-authorization medical TARs despite its acknowledgement that state law requires that TARs submitted for medical services not yet rendered must be processed within an average of five working days.

*The Honorable Speaker of the Assembly
The Honorable Members of the Assembly
of the Legislature of California
State Capitol, Room 3196
Sacramento, California*

Members of the Assembly: As requested by the Joint Legislative Audit Committee, the California State Auditor presents this audit report concerning San Dieguito Union High School District's (school district) use of Community Facilities District 94-2 (facilities district 94-2) funds and its responsiveness to requests for information under the California Public Records Act.

This report concludes that from 1998 through 2009, the school district spent funds from facilities district 94-2 almost entirely on appropriate facilities and services. Our test of 60 expenditure items valued at $16.4 million charged to facilities district 94-2 revealed $451,000 in inappropriate expenditures; otherwise, the funds went to school facilities and bond-related activities allowed in the resolution of formation that created the facilities district. Therefore, these expenditures were appropriate.

The school district did not make clear in its school board agendas and minutes the financial problems that it encountered in early 2008, its plans for dealing with these problems, or the eventual cost of resolving them. Specifically, the school district did not adequately reveal to the public in 2008 that it faced substantial problems with community facilities district bonds and risked running out of funds for making bond payments within a year. Furthermore, it did not disclose that its community facilities districts would have to pay a significant amount, eventually totaling $8.1 million, to resolve the problems with the bonds.

In addition, the school district did not make all required disclosures related to these bonds in its fiscal year 2006–07 financial statements.

Finally, although we found that the school district generally met the legally required deadlines for responding to requests for information, deficiencies in the school district's records often prevented us from determining whether the information provided by the school district responded adequately to requests.
