REPORTS

The following letter of transmittal was presented by the Chief Clerk and ordered printed in the Journal:

California State Auditor

2004-133
August 11, 2005

*The Honorable Speaker of the Assembly
The Honorable Members of the Assembly of the Legislature of California
State Capitol, Room 3196
Sacramento, California*

Members of the Assembly: As requested by the Joint Legislative Audit Committee, the Bureau of State Audits presents its audit report concerning California's preparedness for responding to an infectious disease emergency.

This report concludes that despite completing several tasks for responding to infectious disease emergencies, California needs to do more to improve its preparedness. We found that California has emergency plans to guide its response during infectious disease emergencies, has participated in emergency exercises, and has completed many critical benchmarks for two federal cooperative agreements, which are designed to help prepare states and local entities for public health threats and emergencies. However, the Emergency Medical Services Authority has not updated two critical plans: the Disaster Medical Response Plan, last issued in 1992, and the Medical Mutual Aid Plan, last issued in 1974. In addition, the Department of Health Services (Health Services) does not have a tracking process for following up on recommendations identified in postexercise evaluations, known as after-action reports. Further, although Health Services has completed 12 of 14 critical benchmarks that one of the cooperative agreements required it to complete by June 2004, we cannot conclude it completed the other two. In addition, Health Services has been slow in spending funds for the other cooperative agreement.

Moreover, based on visits to five local public health departments (local health departments), neither their plans nor other local health department policies included written procedures for following up on after-action reports. Also, none of the five local health departments had fully completed all the critical benchmarks for a federal cooperative agreement by the June 2004 deadline; two counties report they have since completed the benchmarks. Factors that we identified at the five local health departments that serve to increase their overall preparedness for responding to infectious disease emergencies included emergency plans, mutual aid, and exercises and after-action reports.

Respectfully submitted,

ELAINE M. HOWLE
State Auditor

Above report referred to the Committee on Health.
