If any member, in speaking, or otherwise, transgress the rules of the House, the Speaker shall, or any member may, call to order; in which case the member so called to order shall immediately sit down, unless permitted to explain; and if called to order by a member, such member shall immediately state the point of order. If the point of order be sustained by the Chair, the member shall not be allowed to proceed; but if it be not sustained, then he shall be permitted to go on. No member shall be allowed to speak more than thirty minutes upon any question, except by leave of the House.

Such statement, however, shall not be debatable, and such statement or statements shall not, in any case, occupy more than two minutes.

Concurrent resolutions for adjournment sine die shall in all cases, whether originating in the House or coming from the Senate, be referred to the Committee on Ways and Means. insert.

taken, said vote may be reconsidered on the motion of any member, provided, notice of intention to move such reconsideration shall have been given on the day on which such final vote was taken, by a member voting with the majority; and it shall not be in order for any member to move a reconsideration on the day on which such final vote was taken. Said motion of reconsideration shall have precedence over every other motion, except a motion to adjourn. No notice of reconsideration shall be in order on the day preceding the last day of the session.

Upon a call of the House, the names of the members shall be called over by the Clerk, and the absentees noted, after which the names of the absentees shall again be called over. The door shall then be shut, and those for whom no excuse or insufficient excuses are made, may, by order of those present, be taken into custody, as they appear, or may be sent for and taken into custody by the Sergeant-at-Arms, wherever to be found, or by special messenger, to be appointed for that purpose. In the absence of a quorum, a majority of the members present may order a call of the House, and compel the attendance of absentees in the manner above provided.

68 Suspending and Changing Rules
No standing rule or order of the House shall be rescinded or changed without a vote of two thirds, and one day's notice being given of the motion therefor, provided, that the Committee on Rules and Regulations may at any time, except during a roll call, report a temporary rule providing for the consideration of any bill on the files of the House belonging to either of the following classes:

A motion of a standing committee to increase or diminish a standing committee shall not be adopted until the same has been referred to the Committee on Rules and Regulations.

The Committee on Rules and Regulations may also, at any time, report a temporary rule or regulation for the consideration of the business on the file, having regard to the condition of the business of the House. The motion shall give the title of the bill, and shall be accompanied by the bill. The bill shall thereupon be referred to the Committee on Introduction of Bills.

That committee shall examine bills referred to it with particular reference to the question as to whether there is already any bill in either house of the same character which might be amended to effect the result sought, and generally as to the advisability of introducing the measure.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

Mr. Treadwell moved to take up message from the Governor.

Pending the reading of the message Mr. Anderson of Solano moved that the further reading be dispensed with, and the same be printed in the Journal.

So ordered.

FIRST BIENNIAL MESSAGE OF GOVERNOR HENRY T. GAGE TO THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA.

EXEcutive DEPARTMENT, State of CALIFORNIA, (Sacramento, January 7, 1901.

To the Senate and Assembly of the State of California:

Gentlemen: In presenting to your honorable bodies the suggestions in this first biennial message of my administration, I am most deeply moved by my sense of public duty and public responsibility.

We all have in view the public weal, but as your powers are the highest and most extensive under the Constitution, I confide in your integrity and ability that when public duty demands I may receive from your honorable bodies ready and responsive assistance.

CAREFUL EXAMINATION OF ALL BILLS BY THE LEGISLATORS A PUBLIC DUTY.

The evil of an individual, as a general rule, affects him alone, for his power of injuring the few around him can be summarily restrained; but the wrong of a bad law affects the whole community, and its poison may spread before discovery, and the injury may be irreparable, though afterward annulled by a decision of a court or repealed by an act of a future Legislature.

Hence it becomes your duty not to rely upon the Executive, with his limited assistance, for a remedy by way of veto, but you should carefully scrutinize each measure introduced, both in committee and in the house. Your familiarity with the history of bills and your opportunity of hearing discussions thereon give you an advantage, for this purpose, over the Executive. Nor should you rely exclusively upon the more reports of committees. It often happens that the hard-worked members of committees have little or no opportunity for a thorough examination of an obnoxious measure, and only approve it through courtesy, and the house, in turn, relies upon the mere formal approval of such committee.

THE EVIL OF LEGISLATIVE BARGAINS.

My confidence in the integrity of the representatives selected by the people is such that I have never harbored a fear that any of the splendid representative bodies, of whatever party, who have met at this capital, would consciously tolerate a wrong against the people of the State.

It is, however, a significant fact that where many able and honorable men meet as legislators, having necessarily variant views as to prudence and economy in the expenditure of public money, there compromises and trades are made, resulting in unconscious extravagance through excessive appropriations.

Experience in office since my inauguration has confirmed the view which I then took with respect to legislative trading, and I beg leave to repeat the following words from my Inaugural Address:

"In the heat of legislative business, agreements have been made with fellow legislators having other measures to be passed, by which votes have been exchanged, and thereby excessive appropriations have passed both houses. On account of this system of bartering in votes, and the facility with which large appropriations have been obtained, the officers of these public institutions have become reckless and prodigal in the expenditure of public money."

I again advise against such legislative trading.

THE PEOPLE DEMAND ECONOMY

While you are assembled, among other things, for the purpose of legislating and providing appropriations for the maintenance of the several institutions of the State, the people demand that the law-making power be exercised with circumspection and economy; hence over-legislation is an evil in this regard, as well as direct waste in the expenditure of the State's funds.

Commenting upon the subject of over-legislation, Alexander Hamilton, in one of the numbers of the "Federalist," wrote as follows:

"It poisons the blessing of liberty itself. It will be of little avail to the people that the laws are made by men of their own choice, if the laws be so voluminous that they cannot be read, or so incoherent that they cannot be understood; if they be repealed or revised before they are promulgated, or undergo such incessant changes that no man, who knows what the law is to-day, can guess what it will be to-morrow. Law is defined to be a rule of action, but how can that be a rule, which is little known, and less fixed?"

The wisdom of these observations of that eminent statesman will doubtless meet with your approval. In addition to the policy of avoidance of over-legislation, your constituents are intensely interested in the prudent management of the State's income.

The legislative power to appropriate and expend the public money is a most solemn trust. This power, when prudently exercised, gives vitality to the State, but when that power is so used as to result in extravagance and waste, thereby burdening the people with unnecessarily high taxes, such misuse of the power is the worst form of tyranny.

PRESENT NEED FOR ECONOMY—CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS.

The people at the last general election adopted Assembly Constitutional Amendment No. 6, exempting from taxation all buildings and real property upon which the same are situated used exclusively for religious worship, also Assembly Constitutional Amendment No. 23, exempting from taxation the trusts and estates created for the founding, endowment and maintenance of the Leland Stanford Junior University; and further adopted Assembly Constitutional Amendment No. 14, exempting from taxation all property now or hereafter belonging to "The California School of Mechanical Arts."

The exemption from taxation of so much property will necessarily throw the burden upon the remaining property now subject to taxation; hence the State rate of taxation will necessarily be somewhat higher, unless the strictest economy be exercised.

In order to prevent this increase in the State tax rate, I most urgently appeal to you to exercise such economy as is compatible with the necessities of each case, by preventing the passage of excessive appropriations, and of laws creating unnecessary offices, with their incidental charges against the State.

I would likewise suggest that the number of employees in your honorable bodies be reduced to a useful minimum, so that this Legislature may surpass by its economy and efficiency all previous Legislatures, not only because it is your public duty so to do, but as well for the honor which it will bring to you all as legislators, and for the credit it will afford to the party which has nominated and elected a majority of your members, upon the pledge of an economic and able administration.

APPROPRIATIONS SHOULD NOT BE MADE PAYABLE IMMEDIATELY.

I beg leave to repeat my advice, which my experience in office has confirmed, given in my Inaugural Address, where I used the following language:

"Another mistake on the part of legislators has been to make all appropriations..."
payable immediately out of the General Fund, instead of authorizing such payments to be made, as they should be at least six or ten months thereafter out of future revenue receipts. Such mistaken policy depletes the treasury by adding to the existing demands the amounts of such new appropriations. This is a grave financial wrong. By this improper practice the money in the General Fund, which ought only to be expended for the payment of justly accrued demands, is diverted from its purpose, so that if the income from special funds is required to make up the deficit, it being necessary afterward to reimburse such special funds from the tax receipts of the next fiscal year. This system is not only unwise, but not warranted by good governmental policy. Each fund should remain intact, to be devoted to the special purposes authorized by law. The State, as well as each department of it, should live within its actual means.

The revenues for the year 1901 will not be available until after January 1, 1902; hence all appropriations other than those necessary for the actual conduct of the State government, which are usually embraced in the general appropriation act, should be made payable out of such future revenues.

This plan, as suggested by me and adopted by the Legislature in 1899, enabled the administration to conduct state affairs without adopting the method pursued by many of my predecessors of transferring money from special funds to meet accrued demands against the General Fund.

NECESSITY FOR THE EXCLUSION OF CHINESE AND JAPANESE LABORERS.

The people of California, from their experience in the past, and in view of their prominent seacoast position with respect to the ports of the Orient, have reason to believe that the Japanese laborers on this and Japanese laborers on the Pacific coast are asimu founded and shared in by the American workmen of other States. It is essential, therefore, that American labor shall be protected against competing Mongolian labor. Our tariff laws, while protecting the products of labor, require as a supplement the exclusion of Chinese and Japanese laborers.

The party, both National and State, which has nominated the majority of your honorable bodies, is pledged to the protection of American labor, and I am satisfied that our great President is wholly in sympathy with every measure, and is determined to maintain American labor at its high standard of skill and intelligence, and to assist in the making of all treaties and the approval of laws which will protect that labor from foreign competition.

On May 5, 1882, an Act of Congress, entitled "An Act to prohibit the coming of Chinese persons into the United States," was approved, which Act was, in addition to previous Acts of Congress, intended to more effectually exclude the immigration of Chinese laborers. By the terms of this Act the law is continued in force for the term of ten years from its passage, so that Act will expire in May next year (1892).

A convention concerning the subject of emigration between the United States of America and the empire of China was concluded and signed by the respective plenipotentiaries at the City of Washington, D. C., on March 17, 1884, and ratifications exchanged at the same city on December 7, 1884, by the terms of which convention, among other things, China agreed to the exclusion from the United States of further Chinese laborers and also engaged in direct terms to the enforcement of the provisions of the Act of Congress of May 5, 1882, as amended by an Act approved November 3, 1891.

By Article VI of this convention it is provided as follows: "This convention shall remain in force for a period of ten years, beginning with the date of the exchange of ratifications, and if six months before the expiration of said period of ten years neither government shall have formally given notice of its final termination to the other, it shall continue in full force for a further period of ten years."

It will be perceived from the above language of Article VI that the convention is terminable by either of the nations, provided six months' notice be given before the expiration of ten years, so that in December, 1894, there is a possibility of this convention being terminated by the action of China. But there is another feature of the convention which may require action on the part of the United States before the expiration of the period limited which might require a revision of its terms.

Article I of the said convention reads as follows: "The High Contracting Parties agree that for a period of ten years, beginning with the date of the exchange of ratifications of this convention, the coming, except under the conditions hereinafter specified, of Chinese laborers to the United States shall be absolutely prohibited."

Since December 7, 1894, the date of the exchange of ratifications, we have acquired additional territory, both by annexation and war. Questions of the rights and privileges of subjects of China, while in the Philippines and the other islands acquired from Spain, may arise, and contentions by the Chinese diplomats are possible that inasmuch as the contracting parties had not in view future territory conquered or acquired by the United States of America, but only the United States as then bounded and known, and that when the United States assumed the sovereignty which Spain abdicated in its favor, this republic took that territory subject to the obligations which Spain owed to the Empire of China. Whether this possible plea be specious or not, it at least might pave the way for important discussion. To a discussion of contingencies are necessary to be passed in order to afford protection to American labor, and the convention with China should be so revised as to cover beyond all question every part of the territory of the United States.

The peril from Chinese labor finds a similar danger in the unrestricted importation of Japanese laborers. The cheapness of that labor is likewise a menace to American labor, and a new treaty with Japan for such restriction as well as the passage of laws by Congress is desired for the protection of Americans.

I therefore most earnestly appeal to your honorable bodies for the passage, as a matter of urgency, of appropriate resolutions instructing our Senators and requesting our Representatives in Congress for the immediate institution of all proper measures leading to the revision of the existing treaties with China and Japan, and the passage of all necessary laws and resolutions for the protection of American labor against the immigration of Oriental laborers.

BUBONIC PLAGUE SCARE.

The year 1900 began most prosperously for the people of this State, with the adjustment of the affairs of the different islands won by American valor and diplomacy from the kingdom of Spain. The rains of the preceding winter had allowed our farmers and fruit-growers to garner full crops, and the merchant and manufacturer, owing to the free communication with the Philippines, exhibited business activity, and a most profitable harvest was presaged for the people of the State. At this most favorable juncture for our people a fearful shadow was cast upon our State through the recklessness of certain city officials of San Francisco, assisted by a Federal officer, one Doctor Kinyoun.

The occasions were thrown out in the months of March and April last that the dreadful bubonic plague existed in the Chinese quarter of San Francisco. Secret consultations and alleged investigations were had by said city officials, in conjunction with the said Federal quarantine officer, and the result of such alleged investigations was that the Surgeon-General of the United States Marine Hospital at Washington was informed by some of these ill-advised persons that the terrible plague was epidemic in the city of San Francisco. These cultures containing plague bacilli were imported into the State, and such cultures and slides were carried by certain physicians and others in their pockets while riding in cars and stopping at hotels and other public places.

Efforts were made by the said city officers to remove the Chinese from their quarters in San Francisco to Mission Rock, and the Chinese Consul of San Francisco communicated this attempted violation of the treaty rights to the United States Secretary of State, through the Chinese Minister at Washington.

During the course of these events a few sensational newspaper organs, like cannon, birds, scented the subject, and boldly espoused the cause of the plague creators, publishing daily sensational accounts of suspected cases, and declaring them to be cases of plague. In the latter part of May, and until about the middle of June, I spent some weeks in San Francisco, ably assisted by Hon. Daniel Keane, Secretary of the Board of Examiners, and also by most eminent local physicians and bacteriologists, as well as by distinguished and level-minded citizens, in a careful, fair, and full examination of the matter. After a most impartial examination, in which I sought to be apprised of every fact from reliable sources which would tend to throw light upon the subject, I finally became convinced beyond doubt that the bubonic plague did not exist, and had not existed, notwithstanding the alarming reports to the contrary.

Could it have been possible that some dead body of a Chinaman had innocently or accidentally polluted the population in a populous region by some one possessing the imported plague bacilli, and that honest people were thereby deluded?

On May 31, 1900, while in San Francisco conducting such investigation, I received a dispatch from His Excellency John Hay, Secretary of State at Washington, inquiring if the plague really existed, and requesting me to report at an early opportunity. I replied immediately that I was then investigating the matter, and would report as quickly as possible.

Thereafter, upon the 13th of June, 1900, my labors, occupying weeks, were completed, the different medical views maturely considered, and I was satisfied beyond all reasonable doubt that the bubonic plague had not been in the Chinese quarter of San Francisco nor in any other part of the city, nor in any part of the State.

I thereupon transmitted to His Excellency John Hay the following dispatch, which was signed and concurred in by the distinguished medical authorities and by the prominent citizens whose names appear below, to wit:

San Francisco, June 13, 1900.

"To His Excellency John Hay, Secretary of State, Washington, D. C.

"Sir,—In reply to your telegram of date May 31, I have the honor to report:

"First—that no case in San Francisco or California has been diagnosed as bubonic plague by any attending physician while the victim was alive, nor by the attending physician after death. In some of the suspected cases death has occurred when no regular physician was consulted. There have been in all only eleven suspected cases among a population of 35,000 Chinese (15,000 of whom are quarantined), and no cases among whites and other races. The examinations made after death of the bodies of the suspected cases since the alleged discovery of the disease, more than three months ago, fail to furnish satisfactory proof of plague.

"Second—that the quarantined district contains upward of 15,000 Chinese subjects, 3,500 of whom are unable to support themselves by virtue of the quarantine.

"Third—that full and fair investigation has been denied the physicians of the Chinese by the City Board of Health."
"Fourth—That the Chinese were forced to appeal to the courts, and were then accorded the right of investigation into the cause of death of the dead suspects.

"Fifth—That since the procurement of the order of court, granting privilege to the white physicians of the quarantined Chinese to visit the sick and be present and take part in autopsies had, neither the City Board of Health nor Federal officers have been able to discover any bubonic plague case, dead or alive.

"Sixth—That there has been no epidemic in Chinatown.

"Seventh—that the municipal records show the proportion of deaths in Chinatown has been no greater than that of any other portion of San Francisco since the date of the discovery of the alleged plague in Chinatown.

"Eighth—that I cannot find proof that the plague alleged to be here is either infectious or contagious. Nor do I find any proof that any person has contracted it from another; and I further find that certain individuals who have been repeatedly exposed at autopsies and elsewhere to the alleged plague, and others who have moved about in the houses and rooms where the suspects expired, having done so without taking any precaution whatever against the supposed malady, have neither contracted the same nor spread the disease elsewhere.

"Ninth—that no two persons of the same family have contracted the disease, and that no two cases have occurred within the same house or building, no matter how great the exposure may have been.

"Tenth—that the medical gentlemen and experts of the City Board of Health and the Federal quarantine officers, who have ventured the injurious opinions which have spread broadcast through the world the rumor of the existence of the dread plague in the great and healthful city of San Francisco, have never seen a living case of plague; whereas, some among the physicians, surgeons and scientists with whom I have advised have had personal experience and wide opportunities in observing bubonic plague when it was raging in India and elsewhere, and they all pronounce the suspected cases here not bubonic plague.

"Eleventh—from the best light I have been able to procure, and from a most careful consideration of the whole subject, I am pleased to inform Your Excellency that I firmly believe no case of bubonic plague has at any time existed within the borders of our State.

"Twelfth—that if the cases referred to were genuine plague, even then the quarantine as conducted by the City Board of Health, in conjunction with the Federal quarantine officer, is discriminating against the Chinese, and also unreasonable, according to information derived from the highest authority here obtainable.

"Thirteenth—it is undetermined by the court whether the injunction referred to has been violated.

"Fourteenth—Since the report to Your Excellency involves, among other things, the question whether there is plague in Chinatown, and also vitally touches the commercial and other interests of San Francisco, as well as deeply concerns the welfare of the entire State, I have deemed it my duty to call into consultation distinguished physicians, surgeons and bacteriologists, able financiers and business men and others, as well as my eminent predecessor in office, the most Hon. J. B. Budd, some of whose names are, therefore, in concurrence hereto attached.

"HENRY T. GAGE.

"We concur in the foregoing conclusion that bubonic plague does not exist, and has not existed, within the State of California.

"Physicians of the Regular School: L. C. Lane, President Cooper Medical College, C. N. Ellinwood, M.D., Professor Cooper Medical College; Winslow Anderson, M.D., M.R.C.S. Eng., President College of Physicians and Surgeons of San Francisco.

"Physicians of the Homeopathic School: Edwin S. Breyfogle, M.D.

"Bankers, Merchants, Etc.: Levi Strauss, President of Levi Strauss & Co.; James H. Budd, former Governor of California, Wm. Alford, President of Bank of California; Robert S. Bourn, The Peoples and Loan Society; Adam Grant, of Murphy, Grant & Co.; Lewis Gerstle, President Alaska Commercial Company; Issac W. Hellman, President Nevada National Bank; Henry F. Fortmann, President Alaska Packers Association; A. B. Spreckels.

"Many other eminent bacteriologists and physicians whose names are not attached to said report, have anticipated in this most important investigation, reached similar conclusions, and concurred in the findings of the foregoing telegram. While these events were transpiring, the City Board of Health of San Francisco had already quarantined the Chinese district, but a test case having been heard in the United States Circuit Court before the Hon. W. W. Morrow, Judge thereof, the city quarantine was held illegal by a decision rendered June 15, 1880. In the course of this decision the health officer observed as follows:

"If it were within the province of this Court to decide the point, I should hold that there is not, and never has been, a case of plague in this city."

"Upon the following day the decision of the Circuit Court and the raising of the quarantine about the Chinese district, Dr. J. J. Kinyoun, the Federal quarantine officer (who by a previous article to some of the investigations of those favoring the plague charge) arbitrarily and without proper cause quarantined the entire State. This summary and unjustifiable action appalled our citizens. The fruit and other industries were threatened with ruin. Business was partly paralyzed. Gloom settled over our State, and the promise of a prosperous and happy ending of the year was dispelled. On the night of Saturday, June 10, 1900, the date of the arbitrary quarantine of Dr. Kinyoun, I telegraphed the President, appealing in behalf of the people of the State to release the quarantine, and I referred for the facts to my previous report to the United States Secretary of State. Appeals to the President were also made by the Republican State Central Committee and by its officers, and by many distinguished citizens irrespective of party, while through the medium of the California Republican Delegation to the Republican National Convention personally called upon the President at Washington, making similar appeals.

The President, being sufficiently advised of the true condition of affairs, acted promptly; and on Monday, June 13, 1900, he communicated with the Secretary of the Treasury directing that U.S. Surgeon-General Wyman was directed to order a release of the State quarantine, which was done at once.

Although our great and just President acted almost immediately when the injustice of Dr. Kinyoun and the said certain city officials of San Francisco was submitted to him, still, prior to the establishment of the quarantine, other States in the Union, being misled by the reports from the said officials who fostered the plague scare, quarantined against us, a course which was followed by the Republic of Mexico and a few other foreign States. Even yet, on account of the reports of the said city officials and of Dr. Kinyoun, the State of Texas continues an unjust quarantine against us, checking travel and interfering with the shipment of our commodities.

Assuming that we are fully justified in believing that the false reports of the plague, which were temporarily credited at Washington, in other States and in foreign countries, were innocently circulated, may we not have cause to think that in certain instances, when prosecuting scientific investigations within this State, with all sorts of slides, cultures, etc., for the purposes of discovery and comparison, some investigator innocently caused slides and cultures containing genuine imported bacilli to be accidently mingled with harmless slides and cultures prepared from human suspects, and in that way the medical department in Washington as well as in this State were deceived and induced to foster the false reports?

I personally know, with respect to some of the same subjects, officially reported as plague-stricken, that where lymph was taken from such subjects under my direction and most carefully watched and handled, no such result was obtained as in the microscope or upon animals as those reported by Dr. Kinyoun. When this Federal quarantine officer reported that his inoculated animals died of plague, those inoculated under my direction fatten and thrive.

In the glands which were taken during my investigation for experiment and examination, extreme care was taken to guard against tampering, and to prevent them from being mixed with imported slides and cultures.

Under such circumstances would it not be fair and just to assume that by accident some one erred in the selection of slides and cultures. If such results as those reported by Dr. Kinyoun were in truth obtained? But at all events it must be remembered that Dr. Kinyoun, who has been so persistently obdurate in his reports of plague, never had any experience with the disease proper, his experience being derived wholly from books and laboratory work, and not from practice among victims of the plague, as was stated in my report, above set forth, to His Excellency John Hay.

Notwithstanding some official and private reports to the contrary, I am still convinced that up to this time no case of bubonic plague has existed in this State, and although the佈 PLague quarantine order, Federal quarantine orders from foreign countries, none will exist in the State, unless through the criminal negligence or connivance of those who might possess genuine imported bacilli, and who would be interested in planting the dread disease in our midst.

The false reports of the existence of the plague and the unjust quarantine of the State irreparably injured many of our business interests and numerous industries of the State. Travel was stopped to California, and visiting tourists made haste to leave our State. The prices of California fruits and cereals shrank, and in the markets of other States the placard was observable: "No California Fruits for Sale." Our commodities were for sale at a discount in foreign markets, and the reputation of this State as a Mecca for health-seekers has been blackened for years to come.

It is unnecessary to go further into details of our injuries as a people, in view of our widely-known bitter experience.

EXTREME DANGER FROM THE IMPORTATION AND HANDLING OF PLAGUE BACILLI—RECOMMENDATIONS FOR LEGISLATION.

The deadly character of the bubonic plague germs is such that medical authorities are agreed that such bacilli are transmissible, not only by secretions and excretions but also from man to man, from animals, insects, and from objects, as well as from the soil.

The awful nature of this disease, and the necessity for the State taking all precautions against its importation, will be appreciated from the following excerpts from the pamphlet on the bubonic plague written by Dr. Walter Wyman, Surgeon-General of the U.S. Marine Hospital Service (the superintendence of which Dr. Kinyoun had) and published at Washington by the Government Printing Office. Dr. Wyman says:

"In the Christian era it is not until the sixth century that we find bubonic plague in Europe. In 542 it spread over Egypt, and passed to Constantinople, where it carried off 10,000 persons in one day, and in the same century appeared in Italy, and extended also along the northern coast of Africa. It prevailed in England in the seventh century. In the fourteenth century it was introduced from the East and prevailed throughout Armenia, Asia Minor, Egypt, North Africa, and nearly the whole of Europe. Hecker calculates that one-fourth of the population of Europe, or 25,000,000 persons, died in all of the epidemics in the fourteenth century. It was in this century that the first measures were taken to check the spread of the plague. Venice appointing in 1448 three guardians of the public health for this purpose. In the fifteenth century it recurred frequently in nearly all parts of Europe, in one year, 1498, the mortality resulting in one French establishment was founded in this century, namely, at Venice, in 1463, on a small island adjoining the city. The sixteenth century was not more free from plague than the fifteenth. In 1572, 50,000 died at Lyons. In 1576 Venice lost 70,000. In the seventeenth century it still prevailed in Europe, though less widely than in the middle ages. In 1650 one of the most destructive of all recorded epidemics raged at Naples. It is said to have carried off 300,000 in a period of five months. The great plague of London was in 1664 and 1665.

1 The total number of deaths in 1665, according to the bills of mortality, was 65,956 in an estimated population of 460,000, out of whom two-thirds are supposed to have fled to escape contagion. In the eighteenth century it prevailed extensively in Europe, the most notable epidemics being in Marseilles (1720), when from 40,000 to 60,000 persons were carried off. In 1721 it appeared at Toulon and spread over Provence, and out of a population of 250,000 persons 87,659 are said to have died. Sicily was visited in 1748, namely, at Messina, where the mortality was between 40,000 and 50,000. In 1771 it broke out in Moscow, and more than 50,000 persons, nearly one quarter of the population, were carried off.

Again on page 8 of the pamphlet, Dr. Wyman, speaking of the appearance of the plague subsequent to 1833, observes:

"Through the channels as detailed above has resulted an epidemic outbreak, which in Bombay (presidency) alone, has resulted in 220,907 cases, with the enormous mortality of 164,097; 1 Chittagong, 1,400 cases, with 1,541 deaths; 1 Avey, within a limited period, 530 deaths, Calcutta, approximately, 600 deaths, and in Bombay, 2,498 cases, with 1,985 deaths."

That danger may result from the use of plague bacilli in scientific experiments, is evidenced by the comment of Dr. Wyman upon the Austrian cases, where he says:

"Cases in Vienna, resulting from accidental inoculation while studying the disease in one of the laboratories, were controlled, and were limited to the two original victims and a physician and a nurse who ministered to them. The same may be recorded of a case introduced into Trieste, Austria."

The importation and possession of such deadly germs is, therefore, fraught with danger to the people, and should be prohibited by law. Who can tell what an unscrupulous or negligent man, scientific or otherwise, might not do while possessing plague bacilli, and knowing how to use the same? Why should not the people be protected against the importation by scientific men of these dangerous microbes, as well as to be guarded by quarantine regulations against the victims of the disease? Convinced as I am that the actions of those persons who, during the recent plague scare, carried about with them these dead, imported bacilli, were full of recklessness if not bewilderment on criminal lines, I urge that vigorous laws be passed, so as to prevent such actions in the future. I recommend the passage of laws, carefully drawn, relating to this subject, in substance, as follows.

First—that it be made a felony, punishable with an extreme penalty of life imprisonment, for any person for any purpose to import or bring in or cause to be imported or brought into this State, or in his possession within this State, without the written authority of the State Board of Health, approved by the Executive, any plague bacilli, or plague cultures, or plague shreds, and also that attempts to accomplish the same purpose be made punishable as ordinary felonies.

Second—that it be made a felony, punishable with an extreme penalty of life imprisonment, for any person for any purpose, within this State, to develop bubonic plague cultures, or to make cultures or shreds from any plague subject or so-called plague suspect, or to take tissue, glands, or lymph from any plague subject or suspect, or to otherwise operate upon the body of any plague subject or suspect, or to inoculate any animal, bird, or insect with plague bacilli, except under the supervision or with the written permission of the State Board of Health and with the approval of the Executive, and that any attempt by any person to commit any such acts without such direction, supervision, and approval, be made punishable as ordinary felonies.

EXTENSION OF POWERS AND DUTIES OF THE STATE BOARD OF HEALTH—A STATE QUARANTINE OFFICER NECESSARY

The paramount concern of the State of California for the sanitary condition of the people may be observed from the great damage done to the business and industries of the State by accounts of the existence of plague. The merchants, business men, producers, manufacturers, farmers, and fruit-growers throughout the State who suffered extensively on account of the unreliable reports of reckless persons concerning the appearance of plague in the City of San Francisco, will agree that there is much need of an establishment that has the passage of rigid laws and the supervision and direction over all bubonic plague cases or plague suspects. The falsity of the report of the existence of plague in this State having been made manifest to the President, who caused the removal of the quarantine, justifies the State in attributing incompetency to the Federal quarantine officer stationed in this State. Even had the reports of that officer been well founded, which they were not, it still justifies the State in assuming that it was due to that Federal officer's incompetency in failing to properly quarantine the State, that suspected cases of plague were reported.

The time, therefore, has arrived for the State to protect its people, their business and their industries, against reported bubonic plague cases or plague suspects. I recommend, therefore, the extension of the powers and duties of the State Board of Health so that its dignity may be raised in proportion to its importance, and that the most eminent physicians may be proud of occupying a place in the Board, or acting under its supervision and direction. I recommend that in the matter of bubonic plague cases or plague suspects, as well as in all other dangerous, epidemic, contagious and infectious diseases, the State Board of Health have for State purposes full control and supervision of all county, city and county, city, and town Boards of Health, and medical officers, with a right at all times to demand a report from such boards and officers respecting epidemic, contagious, and infectious diseases.

I further recommend that a refusal or neglect by such officers to so report to the State Board of Health be declared a felony, and punishable as such.

In view of the fact that by reason of the powers vested in the City Board of Health by the Charter of San Francisco, the legality of the office of State Quarantine Officer to such city under the Act has been disputed, I recommend that a law be passed repealing such Act, creating the office of State Quarantine Officer at the Port of San Francisco, and conferring upon the State Board of Health powers, and to perform his duties under the supervision of the State Board of Health, such officer to be stationed at the Port of San Francisco. I recommend a moderate appropriation for the payment of such officer's services and expenses. I further recommend that full power be given the State Board of Health for the establishment and enforcement of all reasonable rules and regulations for a quarantine of the State and its waters.

I further recommend the passage of a law preventing the landing at any of the State, city and county, city, or town bulkheads or breakwaters of any vessel arriving from any other State or from a foreign country, at any port, sub-port, or harbor of the State, without a certificate of health first obtained from the said State Quarantine Officer at the Port of San Francisco, or from the State Board of Health, or from an officer duly authorized in writing by the State Board of Health.

It might be well, perhaps, that an Act be passed providing for the establishment of a laboratory for bacteriological and experimental purposes, for the use of the State Board of Health, and that an adequate appropriation be made therefor.

I recommend further, that it be made the duty of every city, county, and State officer, physician, or other person having knowledge of the existence of any case of plague or suspected case of plague, within the State, to report the same at once to the State Board of Health, or to the Sheriff or Coroner of the county, and that it be made the duty of such Sheriff or Coroner to immediately report such information to the State Board of Health. Refusal or neglect to perform such duty should in the case of physicians, city, county, and State officers, be made punishable as ordinary felonies, and, in the case of other persons, such refusal or neglect should be punishable as a misdemeanor.

I recommend that it be made the duty of the State Board of Health, upon receiving such report, to immediately investigate or take charge of such case, or depute or authorize some physician to investigate and take charge of such case, and in the event of death that a member of said State Board of Health or physician delegated by said Board be present at the autopsy.

Upon the verification by the State Board of Health of any case of reported plague, it should be made the duty of such State Board to immediately notify all local Boards of Health in the State, and also notify by telegraph the United States Treasury Department at Washington, and the State Boards of Health of all the States of the Union.

LEGISLATION AGAINST FALSE REPORTS NECESSARY.

I recommend that all appropriate laws to protect the State from this dread disease should be enacted.

It is an extremely regrettable fact that the injury to the business and industries of the State was largely increased through false and sensational pictures and writings of a very few newspaper organs, managed and edited by those who certainly had not at heart the welfare of the State above their own selfish interests. The circulation of such untrustworthy publications disseminated the plague scare broadcast, and wrought much of the injury which the people of the State have sustained.

No State should permit such an outrage to be committed against its citizens by any man, set of men, or corporation. I believe in a free, but not in a licentious press. I believe in just public criticism by the press of public officers, and in proper and just warnings by the press of public and private dangers, whether from disease or otherwise. It would not desire, were it possible under our constitution and laws, for a censorship to be established over the press, notwithstanding some abuses. I am, however, firmly of the opinion that legislation is necessary to protect the people in the conduct of their business and the sale of their products and commodities. Such acts, causing great wrongs to the State by an individual or a corporation, should be declared criminal, and severe punishment should be meted out to such offenders.

The State has four books entitled "An Act to protect stockholders and persons dealing with corporations in this State" (approved March 29, 1876), declaring as a felony the making and publication of false reports respecting the value of stocks sold in the market. Such a wrong, punishable under such Act, only affects a limited number of individuals, while the circulation and publication of false reports respecting the public health tends to the destruction of all the interests of all the people of the State.

The recent false press reports respecting the existence of bubonic plague within this State stopped for a time to travel to this State, and ruined much property of our citizens, and impelled our industries, and immediate legislation is needed to prevent a recurrence of these vicious publications.

I suggest, therefore, that it should be declared a felony for any person or corporation to publish or procure to be published within this State any false report of the presence of bubonic plague within this State, and that it be likewise declared a felony for any person or corporation within this State to publish or procure to be published without this State the existence within this State of bubonic plague.

The reputation for public health is a most valuable right of the State and of its people. That reputation of the State for health should not be destroyed nor the business nor industries of its citizens interrupted nor impaired through the malicious pen of a scribbler writing either for profit or sensation.

Reputation for public health is connected closely with public safety, and with the enjoyment by the citizens of their private property, and the care and maintenance of that public health is within the sovereign powers of the State.

The passage of such laws will not be repressive of the liberty of the press.

Judge Cooley, in his admirable work on Constitutional Limitations, thus defines that liberty: p. 518 (6th ed.).

"The constitutional liberty of speech and of the press, as we understand it, implies a right to freely utter and publish whatever the citizen may please, and to be protected against any responsibility for so doing, except so far as such publications, from their blasphemy, obscenity, or scandalous character, may be a public offense, or as by their falsehood and malice they may injuriously affect the standing, reputation, or pecuniary interests of individuals. Or, to state the same thing in somewhat different words, we understand liberty of speech and of the press to imply not only liberty to publish, but complete immunity from legal censure and punishment for the publication, so long as it is not harmful in its character, when tested by such standards as the law affords. For these standards we must look to the common law rules which were in force when the constitutional guaranties were established, and in reference to which they have been adopted."

Again, the same learned author on pages 516-17 of the same work thus expresses the law:

"It is conceded on all sides that the common law rules that subjected the libeler to responsibility for the private injury, or the public scandal or disorder occasioned by his conduct, are not abolished by the protection extended to the press in our Constitutions."

The common law afforded full protection against malicious and seditious libels and publications, and where the public health and public safety are liable to be assailed by evil and designing persons, laws should be passed for the protection of the people in this regard. The people cannot permit their business and industries to be checked, injured, or destroyed at the mere whim or caprice of a private person or private concern, or a newspaper, which is capable of disseminating far and wide malicious or false reports respecting the condition of the public health of the State.

The passage of laws for the improvement of the San Francisco harbor at the extra session of 1860.

In January, 1900, after very mature consideration of the many reasons then existing for reconvening the Legislature, I called an extraordinary session.

The legislators, actuated by patriotic motives, vowed with each other in rapid, efficient, and economic work.

Among other principal matters for which the Legislature was convened was to pass enabling laws in aid of the State Harbor Commissioners of San Francisco by amending Sections 2524 and 2527 of the Political Code of this State. As Section 2524 previously stood, the length of wharves at San Francisco could not exceed six hundred feet from the bulkhead line, and this limitation was not adapted to the large modern ships arriving in the harbor. The wharfage facilities of San Francisco were insufficient to accommodate the great number of vessels already in port in 1899, and as the year 1900 promised a great increase in shipping, it became a matter of immediate necessity to provide in advance for that emergency.

Many merchants and commercial associations of San Francisco, having the interests of the State, as well as of that city, at heart, viewed with alarm the limited harbor accommodations to meet the constantly increasing demand of the shipping interests of that great and flourishing city, and urged me to call an extra session of the Legislature to afford relief in the premises. Among them, the North Central Improvement Association of San Francisco, composed of active business men of advanced views upon the subject of the commercial needs of the State, addressed me a strong petition signed by numerous energetic and public-spirited citizens, requesting an extraordinary ses-tion, in order to afford the much needed relief, while the State Harbor Commissioners (a majority of whom are Democratic), together with my able and distinguished Democratic predecessor, Mr. James H. Budd, filed a petition on December 13, 1899, for an extraordinary session, stating the immediate necessity of amending said Sections 2524 and 2527 of the Political Code, in order to accommodate the increased tonnage arriving at the port.

The Legislature in the extra session of 1900 passed the principal measures for the relief of the Harbor of San Francisco recommended in my proclamation, so that under the present law, with the approval of the Federal authorities, State wharves and piers may now extend a distance of about eight hundred feet from the bulkhead line, which, when completed, will accommodate the largest ships afloat. The Board of State Harbor Commissioners, after the passage of the law, prepared a contour map for the establishment of a new harbor pierhead line, which was by me forwarded to the United States War Department at Washington, with the request that the new extended pierhead line be established in place of that previously existing. This request was referred to a Board of United States Army Engineers, which board recently met in San Francisco, and after due advertisement, made a favorable report to the War Department.

Upon the 18th day of December, 1900, I received official notice that the Honorable the Secretary of War had approved and confirmed the extension of the pierhead line into the Bay of San Francisco from Van Ness Avenue to Folsom Street.

By the amendment to Section 2527 of the Political Code, also passed at the said extra session, the Board of Harbor Commissioners, instead of being limited for the purpose of improvements to the use of their revenue for one year in advance, as was the case previous to the biennial report was forwarded, and on November 22, 1899, the Board, under the authority conferred by the law as amended at the extra session, awarded contracts for the construction of four (4) new wharves and two (2) car ferry slips.

With these grand harbor improvements and other probable improvements under the same plan, to meet our fast growing commerce, we need not fear, in the future, competition from the ports of Oregon and Washington, nor from the East upon the opening of an isthmian canal.

Since the filing by the State Harbor Commissioners of their biennial report, in which they have set forth the advantages to the harbor of San Francisco from the amendments passed at the extra session, I have received the following supplementary report, from which we may predict that the commercial future of the State is now firmly assured.

I beg leave to include in this message the supplementary report of the Harbor Commissioners, as follows:

"Board of State Harbor Commissioners,"
"Office Union Depot and Ferry House, San Francisco, Cal.
"San Francisco, Cal., December 17, 1900"

SUPPLEMENTARY REPORT.

"Hon. Henry T. Gage, Governor of California, Sacramento, Cal."

"Sir: In the biennial report of this Commission for the two fiscal years ending June 30, 1900, and forwarded to you some time ago, the subject of port facilities in this harbor was referred to at some length. Legislation enacted at the extra session of the Legislature relating to the powers and duties of this Board was taken up therein in detail, and an outline of the increased port accommodations contemplated mapped out.

"Such to which the work was awarded, and on November 22, 1899, the Board, under the authority conferred by the law as amended at the extra session, awarded contracts for the construction of four (4) new wharves and two (2) car ferry slips.

"The aggregate amount of these contracts is $328,847, and the terns of the contracts which have been entered into provide for the payment of twenty per cent of contract price in each of the first two years, and one thousand dollars and fifty cents per month in the third year, and five per cent each. There is also a stipulation that should the Board determine to pay before maturity, then a deduction shall be made at the rate of five per cent per annum. The contracts awarded do not include the furnishing of cement, wharf sheds, and driveways, nor preservation of piles for the car ferry slips to prevent them from the ravages of the elements. With these additions, the structure will cost about $425,000.

"These contracts are the largest ever entered into at any one time for wharf construction by the Board of State Harbor Commissioners, and the improvements embraced therein will add greatly to the port accommodations, and in a very marked degree relieve the shipping congestion experienced during the past year."
These new wharves will be built as permanent as scientific skill will permit, and will have a loading capacity of 500 pounds to the square foot. This, in comparison with the ordinary pile wharves upon our water front, the capacity of which is reckoned at 200 pounds to the square foot, affords convincing proof of their stability. Each of these new wharves will cost as much again as a pile wharf; but, built as they will be, on permanent lines, the cost of maintenance will be reduced, aside from the fact that their capacity will be so much greater.

The inauguration of these improvements was made possible by the enabling legislation of the extra session. No such extensive work could have been projected without it. Extensive as is the work alluded to, the enabling legislation will permit the Board to proceed with the work of corresponding importance to our shipping industry, and in fact make it possible to provide all accommodations the volume of the commerce of this port will require, without issuance of bonds or a tax upon the people of the State.

The next important work to be taken up is:

First—The removal of the floating dry dock to Central Basin, near the Arctic Oil Works, and making additional wharf room at the present location of the dry dock, between Spear and Main streets.

Second—The construction of two repair wharves in Central Basin, adjacent to new dry dock.

As stated in our biennial report, the purpose of building these repair wharves is to enable the Board to assign vessels thereto undergoing repairs, and preclude the necessity of permitting them to occupy berths at wharves that could otherwise be utilized by vessels loading or discharging cargo.

Third—Lengthening such number of wharves as are necessary to accommodate modern vessels of the greatest length, to be done after the Federal Government has established a new pierhead line.

(Note by Governor—Since the writing, this has been granted by the Federal Government.)

Fourth—Rebuilding of some of the old piers on permanent lines.

Fifth—Extending the seawall south from its present terminus near Mission Street.

The enabling legislation of the extra session has made it possible for the Board to anticipate its revenue for a period of five years in advance, and after deducting therefrom the amount estimated for current expenses during said period, enter into contracts to the amount of the difference or any part thereof for harbor improvements, and to stipulate that payments on such contracts shall be made at any time within a period of five years from the completion thereof.

The revenue of the Board for the five fiscal years ending June 30, 1900, has been $3,086,481.02, or an average of $617,296.20 per annum. For the eleven months of the present year the revenue has been $687,922.77, an average of $61,714.79 per month or for twelve months, $734,977.40. There is no doubt but that when the returns for this present month are in, the receipts for the twelve months of this year will reach $750,000, or an increase over the yearly average receipts of the five last fiscal years of $121,900.

With our increase in wharfage facilities, we believe we may safely calculate on a still greater increase in our receipts. For the coming five years the receipts of this Commission in our judgment, will average $750,000 per annum, and on this basis the following will clearly demonstrate the possibilities for harbor improvements under the enabling legislation of the extra session:

Estimated receipts for the coming five years at $750,000 per year... $3,750,000
Estimated of current expenses, including necessary repairs, during... $2,400,000
Gain... $1,350,000
Amount of contracts entered into... $236,947

Estimated surplus for permanent improvements... $883,153

The building of the seawall from its present terminus to Channel Street, a distance of about 6,000 feet, including the inside filling between the wall proper and the shore line, would cost about $30,000.

It is believed that in the near future the Board can under the enabling legislation of the extra session proceed to make further permanent improvements on the waterfront aggregating $883,000.

Thus it will be observed that the accumulated residue in five years, after paying in full for the four new wharves and two car ferry slips already contracted for, will exceed the amount that would be required to extend the seawall to Channel Street, if the immediate prosecution of this work were practicable.

But before work on seawall extension is commenced, wharf additions in the harbor must first be made, so that our shipping will not suffer in any respect in the handling of import and outward cargo. When these necessary additions are first perfected, as is now possible under the existing law, then the seawall can be extended, and the work paid for without any bond issue or tax upon the people.

In our biennial report we referred at some length to the large increase of the business conducted of some business by June 30, 1900. Tenants occupying seashore lots have been notified to vacate, so that additional yard room can be secured for railroad purposes. The Board has advertised for bids for the construction of a freight depot for the Santa Fe Railroad System, and these bids will be opened December 27, 1900, and with other changes and alterations under way, this department will have increased and adequate facilities for the expeditious handling of the railroad business regardless of volume.

With the addition of new wharves, work of the two State dredgers has been taxed to the limit. As proper dredging of the slips and channels of the harbor is a matter of the first importance, the Board has determined to build a new dredger of the most modern design and equipment, thereby precluding the possibility of any inconvenience to the shipping of the port.

"Very respectfully,

"Paris Kibbey, President.
"P. J. Harty, Commissioner
"Rudolph Herold, Jun., Commissioner.

"Attest: Wm. D. English, Secretary."

The excellent results attained by the gentlemen constituting the present State Board of Harbor Commissioners under the new law during the brief period which has elapsed since the extra session of 1900, reflect great credit upon their management of the affairs of the harbor of San Francisco.

THE UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA.

Notwithstanding the careful management and control of the affairs of the University of California by the able gentlemen constituting the Board of Regents, and devoted and generous labors without compensation for the welfare of that excellent institution of learning, it has been represented to me that the University is again in need of additional support, in order to meet present contingencies. The condition of the University will doubtless be submitted to you for consideration by some of its officers, and its condition should receive from you close and careful examination.

The University is, independently of donations, maintained by a continual ad valorem tax of two per cent upon the taxable property of the State, and by income received from its investments and from special funds.

By an Act of the State Legislature to provide for the permanent support and improvement of the University, approved February 14, 1887 (Stats. 1887, p. 267 seq.), the people of the State are annually taxed one per cent ad valorem upon each one hundred dollars of value of the taxable property of the State, and the taxes so received are paid into a fund called the "State University Fund," subject to be drawn out by order of the Board of Regents or such officers of the Board as may be duly authorized thereto. The money thus derived is to be applied to the support and permanent improvement of the University. By another Act of the State Legislature, approved February 27, 1897 (Stats. 1897, p. 44), to provide additional support and maintenance for the University, an additional one per cent ad valorem tax is annually levied upon each one hundred dollars of value of the taxable property of the State, the money derived therefrom being likewise paid into the State University Fund, subject to like order of the Regents or such officers duly authorized by them. Under the provisions of this last statute, one half of the revenues raised by this tax during the first ten fiscal years from the approval of the statute is to be devoted to the purpose of acquiring lands, buildings, and other permanent improvements.

About the time of the passage of the last statute of 1897, during the administration of my able predecessor, I have been informed that public assurance was given by the representatives of the University that, as a result of this law, ample funds would be provided for the permanent support of the University, and further calls upon the Legislature for appropriations for support would be unnecessary, and would not be demanded. The people have since the passage of this last Act of 1897, prudently submitted to the two per cent tax for the support of the University, but it must be admitted that the maintenance of the University through standing taxes, in the light of this experience, is, to say the least, very disappointing.

Prior to the passage of the Act of February 14, 1887, providing for a continual tax for the support of the University, it had been the rule for each Legislature to provide sufficient appropriations for its maintenance for two years in advance in the same manner adopted for the support of other public institutions. The condition of the University was therefore exhibited directly to the representatives of the people, and became thereby a subject of public discussion and concern. By this method the people were brought in touch with the management of the institution, and could easily learn through their representatives its actual condition. While the Regents are obliged under the law to report the condition of the University annually, such reports are not read by the people, and generally their representatives, by reason of their many and varied duties have neither time nor opportunity to give such reports careful attention. In consequence, the real condition of the University is withheld from the people.

On the contrary, through their representatives in the Legislature, have never been parsimonious in appropriations for the support of the University, but have, on the contrary, generously assisted it when its condition was shown to require assistance. I venture the opinion, therefore, in the light of the past history of the University, that standing taxes for its support are not as productive of benefit to that splendid crown of the common schools as appropriations passed by each Legislature, according to its increased or diminished necessities.
The people have the highest concern in knowing the condition of the University, as well as that of other public institutions.

No State institution should be above the law, nor removed from public scrutiny.

From a report recently received by me from the Secretary of the Board of Regents, the sum received by the University from the two per cent tax for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1900, amounted to $590,298.28. The sum to be received from the taxes of this year will, in my opinion, slightly exceed this amount. The total income for the said fiscal year, including the two per cent tax, aggregated $568,401.64.

It is said that this large sum is not sufficient to provide for the growing needs of the University, and relief from the present Legislature will be sought by the officers of the University.

THE BENEFACIONS OF MRS. PHEBE HEARST—SOME RECOMMENDATIONS FOR THE RELIEF OF THE UNIVERSITY.

Inasmuch as one half of the revenues derived from the additional tax provided by the Act of February 27, 1897, must under the law be used for permanent improvements, such as the acquisition of lands and buildings, it is my opinion that it is unnecessary that the tax for that purpose be continued, in view of the munificent donations which that most excellent lady and public benefactress, Mrs. Phebe A. Hearst, is about to bestow upon the University for this special purpose.

I beg leave here to quote with approval the language of Governor Budd in his first biennial message, dated January 4, 1897, where, referring to this subject, he pays a well-merited tribute to Mrs. Hearst, as follows:

"Under the Act of the last Legislature, buildings for the affiliated colleges are being constructed in San Francisco, and as soon as a general plan for the construction of buildings at Berkeley can be adopted, the Regents will receive, by the donation of generous people of the State, sufficient money to construct all the buildings the University will need for many years to come. The means by which to procure these plans has already been donated by the public-spirited philanthropist, Mrs. Phebe Hearst, whose aid has heretofore been graciously extended to the University; and as soon as the plans are adopted we are assured by her of an additional benefaction of over half a million dollars, for the erection and maintenance of buildings for the use and extension of the University."

Since Governor Budd delivered that message, Mrs. Hearst has, during the present administration, exceeded all expectations, by the adoption of plans for the University prepared upon a magnificent and almost royal scale, and has paid very high rewards to several competing architects, as well as to the designer of the approved plans. The future of the University regarding permanent improvements is therefore assured by the philanthropy of this most public-spirited lady and Regent of the University; and whatever may be lacking for the carrying out of the grand ideas of Mrs. Hearst will be gladly done at the proper time by the people of the State through their representatives, as occasion demands.

In view of this condition, I recommend for the present relief of the University that the Act of February 27, 1897, be amended so as to permit all of the revenues derived from the one per cent tax to be devoted to the support and maintenance instead of being in part used for permanent improvements.

The report of the Secretary of the University, recently submitted to me, shows that the amount of $560,074.57 derived from this tax for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1900, was under that law devoted to the fund for the permanent improvement of the University.

By the adoption of the amendment now proposed by me the University will receive the benefit of this sum, which would otherwise be used for the erection of buildings and like improvements.

An Act was passed by the Legislature at its last regular session providing for the erection and furnishing of a residence for the Governor, but on account of the sudden rise in materials and for other reasons specified in the report of the State Capitol Commission, which is submitted for your consideration, the erection and furnishing of such residence was not possible; and in view of the immediate needs of the University, and the fact that such residence is not a matter of urgency, I recommend that a law be passed appropriating the balance of that appropriation, which is now in the State Treasury, to wit: the sum of $48,768, for the support and maintenance of the University, and the subject of the erection of a residence for the Governor may be considered at a future session of the Legislature, if deemed advisable.

By the adoption of these two suggestions, a sum approximating $109,000 will be immediately available for the needs of the University without increasing the appropriations to be passed at the present session, or requiring the passage of a law augmenting the taxes which will be payable by the people.

NON-RESIDENT STUDENTS SHOULD PAY TUITION FEES.

Some time ago it was proposed before the Board of Regents that all University students should be subjected to a tax for the support of the University. I took occasion then to vigorously oppose such an unjust plan, among other grounds, because the University, being supported by the people of California as a part of its plan of public education, it would be in violation of the rights of the people who supported this institution. The student tax was defeated. The injustice of the proposed student tax lay in the fact that it was sought to impose a tax upon the children of the taxpayers of the State whose money was already maintaining the University. Since the foundation of the University the people of California have maintained and supported that institution by the payment of taxes. It is manifestly unjust that the people of this State should be taxed to educate the children of non-residents and non-taxpayers of other States and of foreign countries.

If it be a fact that our University is becoming overcrowded, certainly measures should be adopted giving preference to the children of our taxpayers rather than giving place to children of non-residents of other States and foreign countries.

I therefore recommend that Section 1894 of the Political Code should be so amended, or that a law be passed, requiring non-resident students of the University to pay reasonable tuition fees.

In this connection I also recommend that tuition fees be required of all non-resident students attending the State Normal Schools.

In thus submitting my views upon the necessity of amending the laws relative to the maintenance of the University, it must not be supposed that I would desire to have its growth impaired by any parsimonious legislative remedies. On the contrary, I believe firmly in higher education. While my love for the common school is intense, I would also like to see the State University a greater institution of learning than any other in the world. But I do not believe in waste and in idle show. I would like to see the highest scientific and classical ideals attained, but I would also wish to see those ideals anchored in this practical, matter-of-fact world. Education should not be mere ornamentation. The student of the University, whether graduating as Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Science, Bachelor of Philosophy, or otherwise, should be already in touch with the busy world about him, and able to cope from a practical standpoint with the difficulties which ordinarily beset the graduates of our schools and colleges.

I believe in substantial appropriations to assist every wise and practical method of education which may be adopted by the University in its course. I believe, therefore, that the University should be liberally maintained, but not lavishly, so as to become an unnecessary burden upon the taxpayers of the State.

LELAND STANFORD JUNIOR UNIVERSITY.

By the passage, at the last election, of Assembly Constitutional Amendment No. 23, the trusts and estates for the endowment and maintenance of the Leland Stanford Junior University are exempted from taxation, and therefore imposes upon this institution a quasi-public character. In consideration of this exemption it is provided that the University will admit student "residents of California" free from tuition fees. This advantage will doubtless attract to that splendid institution many students who might otherwise avail themselves of the free tuition in the State University, which may in time tend to prevent the overcrowding of the University of California. Legislation will be necessary in connection with this as well as other of the constitutional amendments, to properly carry into effect the intention of the people in exempting this University from taxation.

ADJUSTMENT OF LEGISLATIVE DISTRICTS AND REAPPORTIONMENT.

Under Section 6 of Article XV of the Constitution of this State, your honorable bodies are vested with the power of fixing and reuniting the legislative districts of the State, and of reapportioning the representation, "so as to preserve them as near equal in population as may be." My confidence in your integrity and fairness permit me to predict that this duty will be justly performed, and the matters disposed of upon the basis of abstract right.

ABOLITION OF THE OFFICE OF COMMISSIONERS FOR THE PROMOTION OF UNIFORMITY OF LEGISLATION IN THE UNITED STATES.

I recommend the repeal of the Act approved March 9, 1897 (Stats 1897, p. 74), creating "A commission for the promotion of uniformity of legislation in the United States," as the office serves no useful purpose, and its continued existence is an unnecessary expense to the State.

INVENTORY OF STATE PROPERTY

Previous to the present administration no complete record had been kept at the Capitol of the various classes of State property under the control of State officers, and in the various institutions of the State. The Act requiring State officers to give an inventory of State property was approved February 9, 1897, and is entitled "An Act to require an inventory of State and County property, and directing that a record of the same be kept."

This Act is very loosely drawn, and requires only that a biennial report, under oath, of the inventory of all State property in their keeping, be given by State officers, boards, and commissioners, without attaching any penalty for non-performance.

The present Secretary of the Board of Examiners prepared a notice and demand under the terms of said Act, and caused the same to be served upon all State officers, boards, and commissioners, requesting a prompt return of the inventory. As a result of the urgent demands of the said Secretary, the Board of Examiners have now a more complete record and estimate of the nature and value of all State property than ever before.

I recommend that the said law be so amended, or that a new law be passed, requiring all State boards, commissioners, and officers to furnish the State Board of Examiners with verified inventories of all state property in their keeping or under their control at least once a year, and whenever reasonably demanded by said Board, and that a willful refusal to give such statement be declared a misdemeanor, and that such refusal be likewise punished by forfeiture of office.

PRIMARY LAW.

At the recent election the people adopted by a large vote Senate Constitutional Amendment No. 4, which vests in the Legislature the power to enact primary laws and to embody in such laws valid tests and conditions. In view of the clearly expressed will of the people, it becomes your duty, under the said constitutional amendment, to pass reasonable laws for the conduct of primary elections; but it must be remembered that the State is not absolute, so that care should be taken that such legislation may not contravene any of the provisions of the United States Constitution or of the Federal laws, and such laws providing for primary elections should be the least complex and as inexpensive in character as is consistent with the rights and privileges of electors.

WHITTIER STATE SCHOOL.

The report of the Board of Trustees of the Whittier State School has been printed as required by law, and I beg leave to refer you to a printed copy of said report for the details of the present management.

Since the adjournment of the thirty-third regular session, namely on the 16th day of June, 1900, the refectory building of the Whittier State School was accidentally destroyed by fire. As none of the State institutions, except the University and the State Printing Office, are permitted to carry insurance, and as no part of any money appropriated for the maintenance of the school could under the law be applied for the reconstruction of the burned buildings, great inconvenience has hampered the mangement. It is now necessary that contracts be let for the immediate rebuilding of the dining-room and kitchen, and I recommend that a law be passed appropriating a sum not to exceed $15,000 for that purpose, which said appropriation should be made at once available.

PRESTON SCHOOL OF INDUSTRY.

The former superintendent, Mr. Hirschberg, of this School of Industry, recently tendered his resignation, and on the 7th day of December, 1900, a strong petition having been presented recommending Rev. C. B. Ruddick, of Alameda County, for the vacant place, the Board of Trustees, I am pleased to note, selected this most accomplished and competent gentleman.

In view of the recent report before you of the former management, it is unnecessary at this time to detail the work heretofore done in this important reform school.

STATE INSTITUTIONS GENERALLY.

All State institutions appear to be efficiently and satisfactorily managed, with a few exceptions, where the control and supervision are not vested in this administration.

SCANDALS IN STATE DENTAL AND PHARMACY BOARDS.

The members of these boards (with one exception in the State Dental Board) were appointed prior to my induction into office.

Now it must be remembered, owing to the exceedingly limited powers of the Governor, that neither my own appointees, nor those of my predecessors holding for terms, are subject to removal or change.

In the management of the State Board of Pharmacy and the State Board of Dental Examiners scandals have been bruited, and appeals made to me for redress; but inasmuch as I am deprived of all power in the premises, such appeals are both idle and useless. As a result of these scandals, the said boards are in a lamentable condition, and their efficiency is practically destroyed.

At the extra session of 1900 I asked the Legislature for the power of removal in cases of malversation in office, which my predecessor had likewise requested, in order that such abuses might be rectified; but the Legislature then deemed it unwise to vest in the Executive of this State such power, although much greater power in respect to such matters has been granted to the Mayor of San Francisco and the Mayors of other cities in this State.

In this aspect of the case I quote the following language of Governor Budd in his second biennial message on the very eve of his retirement from office, and submit the same for your careful consideration:

"But, as I said in my message to the Legislature, 'If the Governor is to be held responsible for the conduct of the departments whose incumbents he names, he should be given control of those functionaries,' etc. Such control has not been given. I appealed to the last two Legislatures to pass some law empowering the Governor to control the institution, and pointed out how much I had been embarrassed by the lack of such laws. Both Legislatures refused to pass the requisite bills, and I found myself helpless when occasion arose for severe and determined treatment. If abuses exist, hey are the direct result of such failure to pass the bills recommended. I again recommend that 'for cause and upon a hearing' the Governor be given the power to remove his own appointees."

Again, matters sometimes arise within the State which are the grounds of international questions, and the Executive is requested by the United States Secretary of State to forward a report of the facts of an alleged breach of treaty through the act of some_Title_omitted_or_printed_in_error_officer, while the mere privilege of requesting such report of such officer is afforded the Executive, it is equally a privilege on the part of such officer to either notice or wholly ignore the request of the Executive. In consequence it has happened in some instances that little or no information could be afforded the Department of State at Washington, and that little information was only given this office through the barest official courtesy. I have been compelled many times to call the attention of the Federal authorities to the inability of the Executive, under the laws of this State, of compelling the transmission of proper or much-needed information from our State, County, and Municipal officers. I submit that this defect in the law should be appropriately remedied, especially as you will remember that, outside of the appointees in the Governor's office, there are very few State officers whom the Governor has the power to remove for misconduct. An officer once appointed for a term of years has the power to defy both the people and the Executive, and to conduct his office according to his own pleasure, provided he does not reveal tangible evidences of crime.

The State Constitution provides that the Governor "shall see that the laws are faithfully executed," * * *, and that "he shall communicate by message to the Legislature at every session the condition of the State, and recommend such matters as he shall deem expedient."

How is it possible for him to report the condition of the State in all instances unless he shall be entitled to call upon the various officials throughout the State for such information as may be desired pertaining to their particular departments? And how is this possible when the duty of furnishing is thrown on the shoulders of the officers, State, County, and City, to furnish the Governor, on reasonable demand, such needed information, and unless there be some mode provided by law to punish a dishonorable official for neglecting or refusing compliance therewith?

NATIONAL GUARD OF CALIFORNIA

The present condition of the National Guard, as compared with its condition at the beginning of this administration, reflects credit upon the Adjutant-General and the officers of the National Guard. The Spanish-American War of 1898, as well as the efficiency of the Guard as it existed in point of numbers, has been well represented, thus scattering the State, represented its entire numerical strength. At the present time the Guard numbers over four thousand officers and men, inclusive of the Naval Militia consisting of four hundred and twenty-five men and officers. One of the efficient aids to the present improved condition of the Guard was the passage by the Legislature at its thirty-third session, of the Act entitled "An Act regarding organizations, officers, and members of the National Guard who entered the United States Volunteer Service in the Spanish-American war of 1898," etc., approved March 21, 1899 (Stats. Cal. 1899, p. 155, etc.), which enabled the returned officers and men of the National Guard, California Volunteers who had been mustered into the United States Service, to reenter the National Guard, and report for duty.

The patriotism of our California Volunteers, as well as their loyalty to this State, induced them eagerly to avail themselves of the benefits of the statute, and their active service in camp and field gave as well new vigor to the Guard, as it inspired emulation.

The Adjutant-General's department has been managed with commendable economy, and at the same time sufficient supplies and equipments have been purchased by the State and furnished by the United States Government so that the Guard is now better equipped than ever before in the history of the State.

The following is a list of the Adjutant-General given to me of stores and supplies issued to the Guard:

CALIFORNIA STATE RELIEF COMMITTEE FOR TEXAS SUFFERERS.

On the 7th and 8th days of September, 1900, great storms destroyed the City of Galveston and adjoining towns in the State of Texas, and the people of the United States were appalled by news of the loss of thousands of lives of their fellow beings and of an enormous destruction of property. The electric current of human sympathy sped east and west and north and south. The people of California were quick to respond without the need of an appeal from the people of Texas. When the reports of the destruction reached me I communicated with the Governor of Texas by wire, who responded that the people of Galveston were in need of all possible help. Appreciating the necessity of an organized movement for the distribution of money in aid of the survivors and for the burial of the dead, I appointed as a State Relief Committee for the Texas sufferers the following distinguished citizens of San Francisco, namely: Messrs. C. W. Hellman, Claus Spreckels, William Alvord, F. W. Dobrman, A. A. Watkins, Charles Nelson, Robert J. Tobin, and J. L. Flood. Each of the above-named citizens readily accepted the responsibility, and unselfishly devoted his time and attention to this most humane work. The committee labored unremittingly in the cause of the distressed people of Texas, and on the 20th day of September, 1900, filed with me a preliminary report, and thereafter on the 4th day of December, 1900, filed a final report of their labors. The report is an excellent and business-like document. It shows that the committee received and transmitted to Governor Sayers of Texas for the relief of the sufferers cash contributions amounting to $18,871.42, and that the total contributions to the Texas Relief Fund reported from the State of California aggregated $85,373.36—a splendid testimonial to the generosity of the people of California and to their fraternal love for their fellow-citizens of other States.

Considering the care and labor devoted by the Relief Committee to this charitable object, I beg leave to publicly thank each and all of the members of the committee, and to recommend that a resolution of thanks to all of the members of the Relief Committee be adopted by your honorable bodies.

CLAIMS OF COUNTIES AGAINST THE STATE.

Of the sources of fertile litigation against the State, the claims of counties predominate. Outside speculators yearly employ attorneys to examine the county records and prepare county claims against the State, among which claims are those based upon the alleged care of orphans, half orphans, and abandoned children. After the preparation of such claims, these speculators secure contracts with the County Boards of Supervisors, by which contracts they may lay claim to a large percentage of the county money in the event of recovery. In consequence of the acts of these speculators, county claims, five, ten, and twenty years back, are resurrected, and presented to the Board of Examiners, suits being threatened in the event of disallowance. Many claims of this character, approximating the sum of $200,000, are now pending, all of which arose (if they have any real foundation) long prior to my induction into office. The present administration has not only paid all claims properly arising under it and chargeable against it, but even claims due six months prior to its commencement. What was said by me in my Inaugural Address applicable to a portion of such claims, may be here reiterated:

"The spirit of the county officials which inspires these demands is neither patriotic nor business-like. The officers of the counties should remember that these suits, if successful, will 'return to plague the inventor' in the form of increased taxation. The people of the State will be moreover ultimately compelled to pay through taxation whatever sums expended by the several counties for the compensation of counsel and the payment of the other expenses incident to the litigation; and since the counties form a part of the State, it is clear that they will gain nothing by the litigation, but sustain a loss of whatever sums are paid in their attempts to collect these commissions."

The time for the presentation of claims of every nature by counties and persons against the State should be limited by law. No county claim arising more than six months prior to any new administration should be permitted to be paid by such administration. It is impossible to obtain proof of the validity of such claims where years elapse before presentation. It is proper, therefore, that a stringent law should be passed for the protection of the State against State claims of whatsoever nature.

Débris Commission.

The United States Government appropriated $250,000 in order to carry out, in conjunction with the State and its officers, the purposes of the Act of the Legislature of California, approved March 24, 1893, entitled "An Act to provide for the appointment, duties, and compensation of a Débris Commissioner, and to make an appropriation to be expended under his directions in the discharge of his duties as such Commissioner," and as amended by an Act of the Legislature passed under the administration of Governor Budd, approved March 17, 1897 (Stats. of 1897, p. 171 et seq.).

The plans for the work have been completed by the officers appointed by the Federal Government, and have met with the indorsement and approval of the Débris Commissioner holding this office by appointment of Governor Budd.

These plans, as prepared and completed by the Federal officers, propose a joint expenditure of $800,000 by the United States Government and the State of California in order to fully complete the great work, but the general plan permits the work to be done in sections, some of which sections together will cost $500,000.

When the State passed the Acts of 1893 and of 1897, appropriating said sum of $250,000, it was estimated that the whole work could be done for $500,000, and it was deemed proper, in view of the nature of the work proposed, that both the State and Nation should each pay one half thereof.

Accordingly the State Board of Examiners have approved the said plans, with a proviso that the State shall not be liable in any sum in excess of the $250,000 appropriated as aforesaid.

A part of the contemplated work may, therefore, be constructed and completed without further delay.

The Federal plans propose the construction of dam, etc., for the benefit of the important industries of mining and agriculture.

It would appear to be conceded that the construction of these works will at least tend to the solution of a long-weighed question between the miner and the farmer, and result in great benefit to the mining counties of the mountains, and the agriculturists of the valleys below, as well as to improve the navigability of the rivers.

While it is not usual for the State to join with the Federal Government in appropriations designed to be used for the improvement of rivers and harbors within its boundaries, still it was thought advisable by the Legislature making the aforesaid appropriations to do so in this instance, because these proposed improvements were designed to go beyond the strict scope of river improvements.

You will observe that, in order to finally complete the work undertaken, either the State alone, or the Nation and State, will be required to furnish $300,000.

It is to be hoped that our Senators and Representatives in Congress may induce the United States Government to make up this shortage without further demands upon the State; but should this be found impossible, and should the National Government insist that the original plan obligated the State to pay one half of the expense of the construction, then in view of the great benefit to be derived, rather than see the work fail or remain incomplete after the expenditure of $500,000 thereon, of which sum the State has already appropriated $290,000, it would be well, perhaps, to make an appropriation for the payment of one half of such balance.

Again, the particular mining counties to be also benefited by this improvement, having for many years uncomplainingly paid taxes into the State Treasury, and having so much less direct benefit than the rest of the State incident to public expenditures upon State buildings, etc., for which all of the mountain counties paid their proportions with the rest of the State, it is but just, perhaps, that they should be accorded some extra consideration in this especial instance, as much as our rivers, and valley lands likewise, will be greatly improved by the proposed work.

State Hospitals for the Insane.

So far as it has been possible for the State Lunacy Commission to control and regulate the internal management of the State Hospitals for the Insane, its efforts have been very effective, but it must be remembered that the Managers of the several Hospitals hold for terms, and that the Governor has no power of removal or change of such Managers. This is true of all subordinate State officers holding for fixed terms. At the expiration of fifteen years by recommendation of the Board of Managers the Lunacy Commission approved March 31, 1897, was so amended as to allow the Commission to fix the salaries of all officers and employees of the several State Hospitals for the Insane. This most salutary measure enabled the Commission subsequently to arrange uniform salaries for such officials, and to make reductions amounting to nearly $30,000 annually.

In the hospital branch of the Insane, an accurate number of patients, and because of the previous limited service, which had sometimes permitted escapes from the asylums, to apply much of this saving in the employment of additional subordinate attendants, as well as to secure the services of female physicians. The number of patients in the asylums of this State is 5,311, of which 1,950 are females.

While some abuses remain which require attention at the hands of the Boards of MANAGERS (which it is to be hoped will soon be removed), yet on the whole the State Hospitals for the Insane, so far as it has been possible for the present administration to deal with the questions, are much better managed than ever before.

FEMALE PHYSICIANS APPOINTED.

At the inception of my administration I perceived the necessity of employing female physicians in the State Hospitals for the Insane, on account of the large number of female patients. I laid the matter before the Lunacy Commission, and I am pleased to say that the plan met with the hearty approbation of the members of the Commission, and two female physicians were appointed, after due examination as to their qualifications—one being assigned to Napa, and the other to Stockton, and duty required them to visit the other State asylums.

The appointment of these female physicians was only made possible by the reduction by the Lunacy Commission in the salaries of the officers and employés of the asylums, by reason of the amendment to the law passed pursuant to the proclamation at the extraordinary session of 1900.

PRIVATE ASYLUMS FOR INSANE AND FeeBLE-MINDED PERSONS.

Grievous wrongs have been sometimes reported of the misuse of private asylums for insane and feeble-minded persons. Such private asylums are, when rightly conducted, of great benefit to the relatives of unfortunates, who are enabled to have proper care taken of incompetents, without subjecting the patients to the publicity which accompanies their custody in the State Hospitals; but as forcible detention of the unfortunate is necessary in all cases, it sometimes happens that such asylums are used as engines of great oppression. There may arise cases where certain sane and competent persons may be duped and coerced by designing persons interested in securing their property, or interested in their incarceration for other purposes. Because of the possible danger of such felonious coercion, I recommend that the law be amended so that the State Lunacy Commission may have the power, upon inquiry and investigation, of liberating all competent persons therein confined.

In this connection I suggest that like power be vested in the said Lunacy Commission of liberating all competent found in any of the State Hospitals. As the law now stands, a court proceeding must be first had, in order to determine the question of competency, before liberation, where the superintendent refuses to discharge the inmate.

Human life, liberty, and human reason cannot be too strongly protected.

DEPORTATION OF JAPANESE.

The following is a report to me by the secretary of one of the State Boards of a saving to the State through the action of the State Lunacy Commission in causing the deportation from the State of certain insane Japanese subjects, to wit:

"The cost of maintenance for one year is based on the per capita cost of each hospital for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1898.

"Figuring on recoveries at the rate of 20 per cent will give us 15.2 who probably have been maintained, say twelve years, or average life of insane in hospitals, at an average cost of $140 per year, or $25,536 for the 80 per cent who would have been maintained; deducting from this the cost of deportations ($1,599.95) gives us $23,936.05, net saving to the State."

It will be the endeavor of this administration to induce the various foreign consuls to take care of their insane citizens confined in our insane asylums by deportation to their respective countries.

QUARANTINE AGAINST THE INSANE FROM OTHER STATES AND FROM OTHER COUNTRIES.

The means sometimes adopted of spiritting into our State Hospitals the insane of other States and of foreign countries should not be tolerated.

The State Hospitals are in part maintained by the taxation of our own people in charity to those in our midst who are or may become demented. It is not right, therefore, that residents of other States should, as has been sometimes done, secretly carry their insane into this State, to be supported at the expense of the taxpayers of this State.

I suggest that some measures be passed empowering the State Lunacy Commission to effectually quarantine against the insane of other States and other countries.
PARDONS, REPRIEVES, AND COMMUTATIONS.

The most painful duty which comes within the province of the Executive is to decide upon petitions for pardon, reprieve, and commutation. There are now pending before me about two hundred and forty different applications for pardons. One hundred and seventy-five out of every hundred have some circumstances appealing for clemency. The tendency of the human mind is not to resist, but to yield, to the appeals of unfortunate criminals and their heart-broken relatives.

There is a higher duty which the Executive owes to the people. He must not allow his personal sympathies to be swayed. The law-abiding people of the State need protection. Cases of the weakness of nature or of cruel deliberation, must be punished. To liberate criminals upon the appeal of relatives in all instances where the convicts have repented and have served very long and severe sentences, would be practically to declare that crimes should not be punished. Influence savoring of a political character, which is sometimes attempted, is most objectionable, and should never be the key to Executive clemency. Appeals to me of this nature will result, as in the past, in speedy denials.

In nearly fifty per cent of the cases which have been presented, the applications are accompanied by a petition signed by the judge which convicted the criminal, and by a letter of the trial judge, expressing his opinion that the sentence imposed was perhaps too severe, or that the ends of justice would be subserved by the liberation of the convict.

This means of attempting to shift the responsibility of a severe sentence upon the Executive is not an argument which can have much effect upon me, where the trial has been presumably a fair one, and where the evidence tends to prove the guilt of the accused.

Judges are sworn to do their duty. The trial judge has the case before him, with the living witnesses, whose demeanor and words bear the impress of truth or falsehood. The judge has heard the case, and while the jury may convict, the power of granting a new trial still rests with him.

Under these circumstances, acting upon the presumption that the sworn officers of the law have done their duty, I have steadfastly disregarded such appeals in clear cases. I have patiently examined each case in the light of my duty to the people, and while my heart has many times urged me to sign the paper which would bring joy to the prisoner and to his anxious friends, yet my oath of office and my responsibility to the people to maintain the law, have demanded a different course.

The number of pardons, reprieves, and commutations during the last two years of my administration is, I regret, necessarily small—only one pardon being granted. The following is the list:

First—William Nagel, a butcher by trade, over seventy years of age, in the month of January, 1889, in the Superior Court of Modoc County, pleaded guilty to the crime of furnishing liquor to an Indian, and was sentenced to eight months' imprisonment in the county jail of Modoc County. A petition for his pardon, signed by many leading business and professional men of Modoc County, and by many of the county officials, was duly presented to me. The District Attorney joined in the petition for clemency, and the Judge who tried the cause waived in writing all objection to Executive clemency. A full pardon was granted by me to William Nagel on the second day of June, 1890, for the following reasons: He had satisfactorily appealed to me from the papers and evidence submitted by the Indian to whom the liquor was furnished sustained no tribal relations; that the time of furnishing the liquor by Nagel was on one of the Christmas holidays; that Nagel was so intoxicated at the time as not to know the nature of the act he was committing; and the liquor was furnished, not for profit, but as an act of drunken generosity. It further appeared that Nagel had borne a good reputation, was honest, industrious, law-abiding, and patriotic, and was a veteran of both the Mexican and Civil Wars. It appeared, further, that upon the facts, had he been tried before a jury, he would have been in all probability acquitted. It appeared, also, that longer detention would in all likelihood impair seriously his health, and he had, at the time the pardon was granted, served more than five months of his sentence.

Second—Isabel Molina, a Mexican subject, was convicted in Kern County of the crime of murder in the first degree for the killing of Ameliano Ramos, a Mexican or Indian, at Bakersfield, in December, 1897, and was on December 11, 1899, sentenced by the Judge of the Superior Court to be executed at the prison of San Quentin on January 12, 1900. On the 31st day of December, 1899, I received a telegraphic appeal from the Mexican Ambassador at Washington requesting an examination into the case, and the extension of clemency to the condemned. Upon an examination of the records in the Executive Department, I discovered that certain papers had not been transmitted to me from the Superior Court of Kern County as required by law, and also that it would be necessary, in view of the previous record, that the Superior Court should pass upon the question of the exercise of clemency. Therefore, on January 6, 1900, I reprieved the sentence of the prisoner until April 6, 1900, in order to secure the needed records and to enable a majority of the Justices of the Supreme Court of the State to pass upon the recommendation for clemency. Subsequently, and before the expiration of the reprieve, I submitted all the records transmitted to me bearing upon the case to the Justices of the Supreme Court. On the 3d day of April, 1900, I received from a majority of the Justices of the Supreme Court a recommendation that the sentence of the prisoner be commuted to imprisonment for life as prayed for. None of the other Justices of the Supreme Court indicated an opinion to the contrary. Upon a review of the testimony in the case, I determined that the killing occurred as the consequence of a brawl with the deceased, and that the recommendation of the learned Judges was in conformity with justice. Therefore, agreeably to the recommendation of the Supreme Justices, on the 5th day of April, A. D. 1900, I commuted the sentence of Ysabel Molina to imprisonment for life.

Third—Harry Winters, convicted of murder in the first degree in San Mateo County, was sentenced to be executed on October 27, 1899, at the State Prison at Folsom. Prior to the date of the sentence, to wit: on October 9, 1899, Warden All of the prison died, and the Attorney-General having given his opinion that the sentence could not be carried into effect on October 27, 1899, by reason of the failure of the Prison Directors to elect a new Warden, I therefore on October 26, 1899, reprieved the sentence of said Harry Winters until December 8, 1899, on which day said prisoner was executed according to law—a new Warden having been previously elected.

Fourth—George Putman was convicted of the crime of murder in the first degree for killing a fellow convict in the State Prison at Folsom on September 16, 1900, and was afterward, by an order of the Judge of the Superior Court of a county to which the prisoner was sentenced to be executed at said prison on October 5, 1900. Upon petition by his counsel that he desired to perfect his appeal to the Supreme Court from the judgment of death, and he being by Section 1230 of the Penal Code entitled to sixty days in which to perfect said appeal, and said date of sentence being less than the time allowed defendant by law to perfect his said appeal, on the 3d day of October, 1900, I reprieved the sentence of said prisoner until November 19, 1900, on which day said prisoner was executed according to law.

DEATH PENALTY FOR LIFE CONVICTS FELONIOUSLY ASSAULTING ANY PERSON IN THE STATE PRISONS

The discipline of the State Prisons must be preserved. Prisons are not only intended for the reform of the prisoner but as an example to the lawless element of the community, likewise for punishment of crimes. The greatest vigilance of the prison officers cannot prevent occasional outbreaks of violence where criminals are kept together in such numbers as in this State. It has been a matter of observation that in many cases where desperate convicts have been sentenced to life imprisonment, a spirit of abandon has overcome them. Knowing that they are immune from any higher punishment where crimes less than murder are committed by them within the prison walls, they have sometimes feloniously assaulted the turnkeys, guards, and even their fellow prisoners. The case of Jacob Oppenheimer at San Quentin is more notorious and suggestive of the need of legislation than that of Putman at the Folsom Prison. Oppenheimer, a vicious life prisoner and a ringleader of a few desperate convicts, had made felonious assaults upon guards and fellow prisoners, and on one occasion he attempted to strangle one of the guards. On another occasion he deliberately stabbed one of the guards a number of times, inflicting severe wounds. He seemed not to dread the ordinary punishment of the prison. This and other examples of the criminal deeds of life convicts bid me urge the passage of a law which shall make it a crime punishable with death for any life convict to feloniously make an assault with intent to do great bodily harm upon any person.

I am satisfied that the enactment of such a law would tend to sustain the discipline of our State prisons by holding out the dread alternative of death to such of the abandoned life convicts as devote their spare moments to the hatching of infamous plots.

NUMBER OF STATE PRISONERS.

The number of prisoners confined in the State Prisons is 2,045, of which number 1,293 are confined in San Quentin, and 752 in Folsom. Of these 2,045 State prisoners only nineteen are women—these latter being confined in the State Prison at San Quentin. This exceeding small number of female convicts, unparalleled in any State in the Union, is a splendid testimonial to the character of the women of California.

POWERS OF THE STATE PRISON DIRECTORS IN PAROLING PRISONERS SHOULD BE EXTENDED.

There are frequently appeals made on behalf of State prisoners who are not permitted to be paroled under the provisions of an Act of March 23, 1893, entitled "An Act to establish Board of Parole Commissioners for the parole of and government of paroled prisoners," and yet whose cases are so worthy as to impress the Governor that their behavior would make it a complete reformation. Yet as the conduct of such prisoners would not without a test justify the Executive in granting a full or even a conditional pardon, it would appear just that such prisoners should be tried by a limited parole, with full power on the part of the Executive at any time of terminating the parole granted by the State Board of Prison Directors.

I suggest that the powers of the State Board of Prison Directors under the said Act be extended to the granting of such limited paroles to all worthy reformed prisoners; provided, however, that no such limited parole be granted until such prisoner shall have served at least two calendar years in one of the State Prisons.

CALIFORNIA WAR CLAIMS.

I beg leave here to call your attention to what was said by me in my Inaugural Address on January 4, 1899, respecting the unsettled claims of our State against the National Government arising out of the Civil War, in order that you may, if you deem such course advisable, pass appropriate resolutions instructing our Senators and requesting our Representatives to urge the passage of a law refunding to the State the money advanced for equipping and paying the California Volunteers.

In my inaugural address I expressed my convictions as follows:

"The claims of California against the General Government for furnishing, equipping, and paying volunteers during the Civil War, aggregating over $4,000,000, are still unsettled. Various bills have been from time to time introduced in both the United States Senate and House of Representatives, but they have been either abandoned after introduction or referred to committees without final action taken thereon. On June 9, 1898, the United States Senate adopted a resolution in the matter of H. R. 4936 respecting these claims, and appointed three Senators, viz.: Teller, Pascoe, and Stewart, to confer with the House of Representatives. A provision for the payment to this State of $3,951,915.42, in full settlement of California's claims, has been included in the Senate amendment. California cheerfully furnished to the Federal Government soldiers in defense of the Union, and while the nation had the right to this support, had no right to the money, amounting to over $4,000,000, which the State advanced for the equipment of its volunteers; and this money should now be restored to the State, with interest. Our Senators and Representatives in Congress should be requested to use every lawful effort for the passage of a bill allowing these war claims for at least $3,951,915.42, the amount allowed in the Congressional bill to which reference has just been made. These war claims are both just and equitable, and the State has long and patiently waited for this settlement."

THE PARIS EXPOSITION COMMISSION.

Under the Act of the Legislature approved March 20, 1899, I appointed the three following distinguished citizens of our State as Commissioners to the great Paris Exposition: The Honorable Ben C. Truman, of Los Angeles, M. W. Foote, of San Francisco, and E. W. Runyon, of Red Bluff; all of whom duly qualified according to law, and entered upon the discharge of their duties.

Commissioners Foote and Runyon have recently returned from Paris, but the other Commissioner is still in Europe.

The Commission has not as yet filed with me the report of its proceedings, and in the absence of which I cannot make further official statement.

JUDGMENTS AGAINST THE STATE.

Under the provisions of Section 6 of an Act entitled "An Act to authorize suits against the State, and regulating the procedure therein," approved February 28, 1893 (Stats. 1893, p. 58), it becomes my duty to report to your honorable bodies all judgments rendered against the State and not heretofore reported.

The following is a list of such judgments which has been brought to my knowledge by the Attorney-General.

First—James C. Daly, plaintiff, vs. State of California, defendant. By complaint in Superior Court, City and County of San Francisco, for $10,000, legal services in S. P. Co. vs. Board of Railroad Commissioners. Judgment for plaintiff, September 3, 1893, for $11,050 and interest until paid. Stipulation waiving appeal filed November 4, 1898. Closed.

Second—J. R. Hanifin, plaintiff, vs. State of California, defendant. Justice's Court, City and County of San Francisco. No. 91,512 Complaint filed June 25, 1896, to recover $197.70 damages caused to a lot of shingles dumped into San Francisco Bay by collapse of Fremont Street wharf. Cause tried and submitted December 20, 1898. On February 7, 1899, judgment rendered for plaintiff for $197.70 damages and $63 costs. Records of Court show no satisfaction or assignment of judgment.

Third—The People of the State of California, by Tirey L. Ford, Attorney-General of said State, plaintiff, vs. Pacific Land Improvement Company (a corporation) and Emil Wickman, defendants. Superior Court, Los Angeles County. No. 33,788. Complaint filed October 28, 1899. Action to quiet title to certain lands in the town of Santa Fé Springs, County of Los Angeles, dedicated as a public park. Cause tried. December 5, 1899, and on that judgment rendered for defendants, because of insufficient proof of acceptance by the public.

ECONOMIC REFORM REQUIRED.

My efforts to fulfill my pre-election pledges of giving the people an economic government were sustained by the excellent body of Senators and Assemblymen who sat in the thirty-third legislative session. I am satisfied, however, that the members of the present Legislature, if you will only resolve so to do, can surpass the good work of the preceding Legislature, by urging still further economic reform. The times are auspicious. The people of our State have been just disburdened from years of depression. The recent legislative session has demonstrated how near President McKinley is to the hearts of the people, and how fully his foreign and domestic policy reflects their wishes. The Philippines, a key to Oriental commerce, being now American territory, will enrich and build up the varied industries of this State.
It is right, therefore, that no reactionary depression should be developed by the imposition of a heavy tax rate through excessive appropriations or otherwise. Let the buoyant feeling which inspires alike the laborer and the merchant, the farmer and the banker, continue unchecked, so that business activity may not be marred by the shadow of a too greedy tax-gatherer.

It lies with you, as legislators, to so apportion the State’s money that all proper debts may be paid and the wants of all public institutions be sufficiently, but not extravagantly, supplied.

CONCLUSION.

It is impossible in a message to call attention to all the necessities of the State, and as you are each acquainted with a particular district and with its actual needs, I will be pleased at all times during the session to confer with you as to all such needs, so that the legislative and executive departments may intelligently cooperate in an economic government, by giving the people the lowest rate of taxation in the history of the State.

In view of the number of appropriations necessary to pay the current expenses of government, the maintenance of the several public institutions, and the various just claims against the State. I invoke your honorable bodies to exercise rigid economy in the matter of small as well as large expenditures, for extravagance in the management of the State may grow great by the unnecessary addition and multiplication of what may appear to be small items.

I most respectfully again request that a close examination may be made of each measure, both in the House as well as in the Committee, before it receives your final sanction. Perfection in legislation we cannot expect, but if the lawmakers be earnest and active, and if the laws passed be intrinsically just, their object conformable with the prevalent public spirit, and if they be expedient, then will such measures contribute to the public welfare.

The subordination of self to public obligation is the first duty of the legislator. Good laws are the forceful expressions of the public will. To recognize the equity of the law and to so frame its provisions as to be adapted to the general welfare, the legislator should advise himself of the dominant sense of public right. When the individual conscience of the legislator harmonizes with the public conscience, the unfoldment of law is both easy and reasonable, and the legislation is commensurate with the public good and public demands.

Obeying the dictates of right conscience, and swayed by our sacred official oaths, let us patriotically, zealously, and economically labor together, so as to assist in the highest development of the State.

COMMUNICATION.

To the Members of the Senate and Assembly of the State of California:

GENTLEMEN: The California Miners' Association, through its executive committee, beg to call your attention to the following facts:

1. In 1883 the Legislature of this State appropriated $250,000 to be used in the construction of works for the restraining and impounding of débris resulting from mining operations, natural erosion, and other causes.

2. This appropriation was not to become available until the United States Government should have appropriated at least an equal amount for the same purpose.

3. In 1886 Congress appropriated $250,000 for the above purpose.

4. After a most careful and painstaking examination and study of the matter, the Federal engineers submitted their plans for the contemplated work.

5. These plans involve an expenditure of $850,000 instead of $300,000, leaving a deficiency of $550,000 to be made up by the State and National governments.

6. Through the Emergency River and Harbor Bill of June 6, 1900, Congress made provision for the immediate commencement of the contemplated work and its prosecution to the extent of the then available State and National appropriations, amounting to a total of $800,000. To this provision in the Emergency River and Harbor Bill of 1900 there was added a proviso to the effect that one half of the cost of the contemplated work should be paid by the State of California.

7. The plans of the Federal engineers for the entire work, involving an estimated expenditure of $600,000, have been approved by the State Board of Examiners of this State, and bills looking to the appropriation by the State of California of the further sum of $100,000 as its final contribution to the contemplated work, have already been introduced in the Senate and Assembly. These bills are known as Senate Bill No. 127 and Assembly Bill No. 46, and were introduced, respectively, by Senator Tyrrell of Nevada and Assemblyman Irish of Sierra.

8. It is well understood that further appropriation by Congress is contingent upon the action of your honorable bodies.

We, therefore, most respectfully and earnestly request early and favorable action at your hands upon the measures above noted.

E. C. VOORHEIS,
President California Miners' Association.

Attest: EDWARD A. BENJAMIN, Secretary.

Referred to Committee on Mines and Mining Interests.

GOVERNOR’S MESSAGE.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, STATE OF CALIFORNIA, SACRAMENTO, JANUARY 14, 1901.

To the Assembly of the State of California:

I have the honor to present herewith, for your information, a copy of the official report of “The California Paris Exposition Commission,” received by me since the transmission to your honorable body of my first biennial message.

Section 3 of the Act creating said commission, approved March 20, 1899, reads as follows: “Said commission to return to the Controller vouchers, properly certified, for all money expended by it.”

It will be observed from an examination of the provisions of the said Act creating said commission that neither the Board of Examiners nor the Governor had any power of supervision over the acts of said commission, and the State Controller has informed me that no vouchers have as yet been returned to said officer.

HENRY T. GAGE,
Governor of the State of California.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., JANUARY 5, 1901.

Governor HENRY T. GAGE, SACRAMENTO, CAL.

DEAR GOVERNOR: Herewith enclosed you will find a condensed statement of the operations of the California Paris Exposition Commission, appointed by you in pursuance of an Act approved March 20, 1899.

Of course you will understand this is a mere outline of what we have been doing, and a full report will follow in detail, from the inception of the commission until its work is completed.

Trusting this will be satisfactory to you, we beg to remain,
Most respectfully yours,

W. W. FOOTE.
E. W. RUNYON.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., JANUARY 5, 1901.

Hon. HENRY T. GAGE, Governor of the State of California.

Pursuant to an Act appropriating money to pay the expense of collecting, preparing, forwarding, installing, maintaining, and returning an exhibit of the products of the State of California at the Paris Exposition in 1900, also for preparing and printing literature for distribution at said exposition, and providing a commission, and expense of commission, and attachés, approved March 20, 1899.

Carrying out the provision of said Act, it was your pleasure to name as such commissioners Mr. E. W. Runyon of Red Bluff, Mr. W. W. Foote of Oakland, and Major Ben C. Truman of Los Angeles. Immediately upon receipt of their commissions, these gentlemen proceeded to organize by the election of Mr. E. W. Runyon as president, and elected Mr. Varney W. Gaskill as their secretary.

The exhibits of this State were collected with the utmost care; were duly forwarded and handsomely installed in five different departments and pavilions at the Paris Exposition, namely: Horticulture, Agriculture, Mining, Forestry, and Fishery; these being the five groups in which the California commission principally exerted all their energies.

This State was allotted six jurors, one for each of these departments and one for the Department of Chemistry; the different groups were divided into 10 sections, and the exhibits were divided into 24 of them. This State had an elegant display, consisting of a full line of all varieties of dried, canned, preserved, fresh, and citrus fruits, raisins, nuts, wines, olive oils, cereals, wool, woods, leather, perfumery, soaps, education, social economy, and varied industries.

The following summary of awards speaks for itself: Out of a total of 577 exhibitors from this State, 569 received awards at the hands of the international jury, and thus it will be seen that of all our exhibitors 96% received awards, while only 5% of the world’s exhibitors received any mention. Included in these awards the State of California secured a grand prize for its collective exhibit in each of the five departments above mentioned, and five additional gold medals on separate exhibits in these and other departments. California exhibits were distributed in the different departments and grouped with similar exhibits of the world. Attractive signs were placed conspicuously over California exhibits, directing the visitors to our State display, which had been artistically arranged, and the name of California soon became a household word.

Another feature of the commission’s work, and one which brought great prominence to the State was the headquarters, bureau of information, collective exhibits, and office, maintained at No. 8 Place de l’Opera, the very center of the most populous quarter of Paris, which drew thousands of visitors of all nationalities seeking information of the resources of our State. It can be stated this was the only State in the Union that maintained such headquarters outside of the Exposition.
An efficient corps of assistants, familiar with the resources of our great State and conversant with the French, German, Spanish, and Italian languages, were always on hand at these headquarters to furnish any information required, also, to assist Californians in and about Paris; also, to furnish them with data as to where our exhibits at the Exposition could be found, and give them all information while in Paris.

There was also maintained a Commercial Bureau, whose function it was to distribute throughout Europe albums and maps printed in French, English, and German, illustrative of the resources of this State. It is pleasing to note in this connection that over 300 answers were received from Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce, acknowledging receipt of these maps and albums, and thanking this commission for their courtesy in the matter, and also assuring the commission that the maps would be prominently displayed on their walls.

This commission has fully demonstrated that many products of this State are now in the markets of France, and that by further enterprise of our producers many others can be successfully and profitably sold there.

Of the $130,000 appropriation by our Legislature, which was turned over to the commission, about $116,000 will have been expended when this commission shall have finished their work, thus leaving a balance of about $14,000 to be turned back to the State treasury. This commission will render a full and complete report of all its proceedings, from the organization to the closing of its affairs, so that the people of this State may have a full report of how the money was expended and the affair managed.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

E. W. RUSYN, President.
W. W. FOOTE, Secretary.

Referred to Committee on Commissions and Public Expenditures.

EULOGY BY MR. JOHNSON.

Pending roll call, and when the name of Collins of Butte was called, the Hon. Grove L. Johnson arose and addressed the Assembly as follows:

Mr. Speaker: Our friend and associate has been called upon to answer the roll of the land not made by hands. In that undiscovered bourne from which no traveler returns, he is to-day in the presence of the Great Creator, rendering an account of his deeds on this earth. For twenty-one years I had known Mr. Collins, and in every relation the man proved his worth as a father, as a husband, as a friend, as a citizen. Here in this Assembly we have not had time to understand his worth. We have not been able to appreciate the dignity of his character and his indomitable perseverance. If his life would have been spared he would have taken a place on this floor and in the affairs of state which would have been in keeping with his character and attainments. This position would have been merely a stepping stone; but now by the death of our friend, our associate, our neighbor, the Hon. B. Collins of Butte, I request this Assembly to take appropriate action in respect to his memory.

SPECIAL REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON COMMISSIONS AND PUBLIC EXPENDITURES ON THE GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE REFERRING TO THE PARIS EXPOSITION COMMISSION.

ASSEMBLY CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, January 16, 1901.

Mr. Speaker: Your Committee on Commissions and Public Expenditures on January 13th had, by the recommendation of a special committee, assigned to it the portion of Governor's Message referring to the Paris Exposition Commission. On the 14th of January Governor Gage, in a special message, presented to the Assembly the preliminary report of two Paris Exposition Commissioners (Truman not signing), and he called attention to the fact that no vouchers of such expenditures have yet been filed with the State Controller. This special message and preliminary report were also referred to this committee.

Your committee studied the messages of Governor Gage and the preliminary report of the commissioners. Controller Colgan appeared before the committee, at its request, as did a representative of the Secretary of State's office. Your committee also took cognizance of rumors that are afloat.

Your committee therefore presents the following report:

1. The Legislature of 1899 appropriated $130,000 to collect, prepare, forward, install, and maintain an exhibit of the products of the State of California at the Paris Exposition. This Act, approved March 20, 1899, made it the duty of the Governor to "appoint three commissioners experienced in exposition work, one from the northern, one from the central, and one from the southern portion of the State," who were to have the exclusive charge and control of the expenditures of all moneys appropriated. Each commissioner was required to file a bond in the amount of $10,000 with the Secretary of State. Each commissioner was to have $5,000 for his services as commissioner. The Act made $25,000 available on the passage of the Act, and $105,000 available December 1, 1899. The Act exempted the payment of the moneys from Section 572 of the Political Code, so the State Board of Examiners had nothing to do with it.

2. Under the above Act your committee finds that Governor Gage appointed Hons Ben C. Truman of Los Angeles, W. W. Foote of San Francisco, and E. W. Runyon of Red Bluff, as said Paris Exposition Commissioners. Their bonds are regularly filed with the Secretary of State, and the commissioners duly qualified and proceeded to their work abroad.

3. The only direct knowledge your committee has of the work of the commissioners in Paris is by the partial preliminary report which the Governor communicated to the Assembly on January 14, 1901. Your committee has not had filed with it any communication nor charges regarding the work of this Paris Commission.

4. Until the vouchers are filed with the Controller of California, and until a full official report is made, your committee is unable to present to the Assembly a full report as to when, how, or where the money appropriated was spent. There is no law requiring the Paris Commissioners to return and file final vouchers and reports in a specified time. An examination of the vouchers in the State Controller's office of State expenditures for exposition purposes at Chicago, Guatemala, and Hamburg, show that it is not usual for vouchers to be filed for several months longer after an exposition is closed; in fact, former precedents give from six to eighteen months for commissioners to file final vouchers.

Therefore, Mr Speaker, from the above facts and condition, your Committee on Commissions and Public Expenditures cannot make further report while one of the commissioners has not yet returned to the State, and while the vouchers for expenditures and commission's report are not filed.

Respectfully submitted.

BLISS, Chairman.

In securing estimates of the cost of construction and completion of water works by the city, the Board of Trustees must procure and place on file plans and estimates of the cost of obtaining from all of the several available sources a sufficient and permanent supply of good, pure water for the city, in order that propositions for the acquisition, construction and completion thereof and incurring municipal indebtedness therefor may be submitted to the electors of the city.

Sect. 92. After such plans and estimates shall have been procured and filed, it shall be the duty of the Board of Trustees, within sixty days, to formulate and submit to the electors of the city, at a special election, such proposition. Before submitting such proposition to the electors for the acquisition by original construction or condemnation of public utilities, the Board of Trustees must solicit and consider offers for the sale to the city of existing utilities, in order that the electors shall have the benefit of acquiring the same at the lowest possible cost thereof.

Sect. 93. Immediately after receiving and filing the said plans and estimates or offers to sell existing utilities, as hereinbefore provided, the Board of Trustees shall, by ordinance, call a special election, at which shall be submitted to the electors the proposition of acquiring such public utility and of incurring a debt for the acquisition of the same, as set forth in said ordinance. Sect. 94. The ordinance calling such special election shall recite the objects and purposes for which the indebtedness is proposed to be incurred, the estimated cost of the proposed public utility, the necessity for the acquisition of the same, and that bonds of the city shall issue for the payment of the cost of the same as in such ordinance set forth—if the proposition be accepted by the electors—and shall fix a day on which such special election shall be held, the manner of holding such election, and the manner of voting for or against incurring such indebtedness. Such election shall be held as provided by law for holding elections in the city.

Sect. 95. Such ordinance shall be published daily for at least ten days in the official newspaper. At the expiration of said ten days the Board of Trustees shall cause to be published daily for not less than two weeks in the official newspaper a notice of such special election. Such notice shall specify the purpose for which the indebtedness is to be incurred, the amount of the proposed bonded indebtedness, the number and character of the bonds to be issued, the rate of interest to be paid, the amount of tax levy to be made for the payment thereof, and whether such bonded indebtedness shall be incurred. At least two thirds of the electors voting thereon at such election shall be necessary to secure such acquisition and to warrant the issuance of municipal bonds therefor, as hereinafter set forth.

Sect. 96. No indebtedness shall be incurred for the acquisition of any public utility under the provisions of this article, which, together with the existing bonded indebtedness of the city, shall exceed any one time ten percentum of the assessed value of all real and personal property of the city in accordance with the last assessment roll.

Not less than one forty-eighth part of the whole amount of indebtedness shall be paid each and every year, on a day and at a place to be fixed by the Board of Trustees,

Such bonds, when issued, may be sold by the Board of Trustees from time to time as required, and in such quantities as they may determine, but the same must be sold for cash in lawful money of the United States, as ascertained to the highest bidder, at not less than par, after having been advertised in such newspapers and in such other manner as the board may elect; provided, that such sale of bonds shall be advertised in the official newspaper for at least thirty days. They shall be sold under sealed proposals, and the Board of Trustees shall have the right to reject any or all bids made for the purchase thereof. The proceeds of such sale shall be placed in the treasury to the credit of the proper fund, and shall be applied exclusively to the purposes and objects mentioned in the ordinance authorizing their issue until such objects are fully accomplished, after which, if any surplus remains, such surplus shall be transferred to the general fund.

Sec. 98. Such bonds shall be signed by the Mayor and the Treasurer, and shall be countersigned by the City Clerk. The coupons shall be numbered consecutively and signed by the Treasurer, and the bonds and coupons shall be payable at the office of the Treasurer.

At the time of levying the municipal tax and in the manner provided for such tax levy, the Board of Trustees shall levy and collect annually a tax sufficient to pay the annual interest on such bonds, and also the proper aliquot part of the aggregate amount of such indebtedness so incurred. Such taxes shall be in addition to all other taxes levied for municipal purposes, and shall be collected at the same time and in the same manner as other municipal taxes are collected.

All the provisions of this charter providing for the acquisition of public utilities, so far as the same are applicable, shall apply to the manner of submitting such proposition to the electors, to the limitations of the said bonded indebtedness, to the issuance and character of the same, and to the time when and the kind of money in which said bonded indebtedness shall be payable. ASSEMBLY CONCURRENT RESOLUTION—(OUT OF ORDER).

By Mr. Knight:

ASSEMBLY CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 6.

Relative to tendering thanks to His Excellency William McKinley, President of the United States; His Excellency John Hay, Secretary of State; His Excellency Henry T. Gage, Governor of California, and to our Senators and Representatives for prompt action in regard to the bubonic plague scare of 1900.

WHEREAS, Early in the year A. D. 1900 it was incorrectly reported, either by mistake or through malice, that the dreadful bubonic plague existed in the Chinese quarter of the City of San Francisco, which report was spread broadcast over the world, and resulted in various quarantines, local and State, being established, and in great and irreparable injury to many of the interests of our people;

WHEREAS, His Excellency the Governor personally directed and participated in a prompt and thorough investigation of the condition relative to the alleged existence of the plague as so reported at the request of His Excellency John Hay, Secretary of State at Washington, which investigation established beyond doubt that said reported existence of the bubonic plague was without foundation in fact, and the result of which investigation was immediately reported to the Secretary of State at Washington, and by him laid before the President for consideration and advisement;

WHEREAS, Upon the establishment by one Dr. Kinyoun, Federal Quarantine Officer stationed at San Francisco, of a Federal quarantine against the entire State, our Governor also telegraphed a supplemental appeal direct to the President of the United States for release thereof; and our Senators and Representatives in Congress also promptly and efficiently appealed to the President for relief from said quarantine;

WHEREAS, His Excellency the President, and His Excellency the Secretary of State, at Washington, promptly caused the release of said Federal quarantine upon receipt of said report and appeals; and

WHEREAS, The said action of the President and of his Secretary of State, and of our Governor, Senators, and Representatives in Congress had the effect of almost entirely dispelling the impression which had gone abroad as to the existence of the plague within our State, and of ameliorating the deplorable condition into which the plague scare had thrown the business interests of the people, and of checking further loss of their goods and further shrinking in the values thereof; therefore, be it, and it is

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, the Senate concurring, that the grateful thanks of the entire people of this State are due and hereby tendered to His Excellency William McKinley, President of the United States; to His Excellency John Hay, Secretary of State at Washington, D. C.; to His Excellency Henry T. Gage, Governor of the State of California, and to each of our Senators and Representatives in Congress, for the respective parts taken by them in the matter in this resolution above mentioned; that Hon. Charles F. Curry, Secretary of State for the State of California, be and he is requested to properly engross and certify one copy hereof for, and to forward the same to, each of the persons herein mentioned and tendered the thanks of the people

Sec. 3. The Council shall, within the time fixed by the auditor, make out assessment lists of or equalizing the value of property and of equalizing the same, shall be such as is now or may hereafter be prescribed by the ordinances of the City.

Sec. 4. The Council shall, at the time and in the manner required by the ordinances of the city relative thereto, sit and act as a Board of Equalization, and shall have as regards the equalization of said lists powers similar to those conferred by law upon the Board of Supervisors of Los Angeles County as a Board of Equalization of State and county taxes.

Sec. 5. The meetings of said Board of Equalization shall be public. The said board shall have power to increase or diminish the amount of any assessment on said lists, both in respect thereto as a whole as to any class of property; provided, that before the same shall be increased, due notice shall be given to the owner or owners of the property the assessed value of which shall be increased, and such owner or owners shall have the right to be heard before the board, under oath. When such assessment list or roll has been equalized it shall be returned by the Council to the Auditor.

Sec. 6. On or before the first Monday in August in each year, the Auditor shall prepare and transmit to the Council an estimate of the probable expenditure of the city for the current fiscal year, giving the amount required to meet the interest and sinking funds for any outstanding funded debts together with the amounts needed for salaries and the wants of all the departments of the municipal government in detail, and showing specifically the amount necessary to be appropriated to each fund in the treasury. The estimate shall also show what amount of income and revenue is likely to be collected from fines, licenses, and all other sources of revenue exclusive of taxes upon property; and shall set forth the probable amount that will be levied and raised by tax upon all property in the city to meet the requirements of such fiscal year.

Sec. 7. The Council shall, annually between the fifteenth day of August and the twenty-second day of September, call and hold a meeting therefor, make a budget of the amounts estimated to be required to pay the expenses of conducting the public business of the city for the fiscal year. The budget shall be prepared in such detail as to the aggregate sum and the items thereof allowed to each department, officer or commission as the Council may determine.

Sec. 8. The budget shall, when completed by the Council, be delivered to the Mayor, who may within five days after such delivery to him veto any item in said budget in whole or in part, and it shall require the vote of at least four members of the Council to overrule such veto. After the final estimate is made in accordance herewith, it shall be signed by the Mayor and the City Clerk and the several sums shall then be appropriated for the fiscal year to the several purposes and departments therein named. The estimate shall thereupon be filed in the office of the Auditor.

Sec. 9. The Council must cause to be raised annually according to law and collected by tax the amounts so appropriated less the amounts received from fines, licenses and other sources of revenue.

Sec. 10. The Council may appropriate in the aggregate during each year not to exceed one thousand dollars for necessities not otherwise provided for by law, but no money shall be paid out of this appropriation unless authorized by a vote of at least four members of the Council and approved by the Mayor.

Sec. 11. The Council shall, before fixing the rate of the annual city tax, establish by ordinance the number of the several funded debt accounts and the several departments requiring municipal expenditures, including a general fund, and the percentage of the tax levy shall be named for each fund, and the whole amount of the taxes and revenue of the city apportioned accordingly, and no transfers shall be made, except of balances in excess of requirements or from the general fund to meet deficiencies in any fund, unless otherwise provided in this charter.

Sec. 12. The Council shall, on or before the first Monday in September, in each year, by ordinance, fix the rate of taxes to be levied, and levy the tax upon all property, both real and personal, in the city necessary to raise sufficient revenue to carry on the various departments of the municipal government for the current fiscal year; provided, that the rate of taxes so levied shall not exceed, in any one year, one dollar for each one hundred dollars upon the assessment roll, exclusive of what may be necessary for the payment of the principal and interest of the bonded indebtedness of the city or for school purposes.

Sec. 13. As soon as the Council has fixed the rate of taxes for the year, the Auditor must complete, and enter in a separate column in the assessment book, the respective rates in dollars and cents, rejecting the fractions of a cent, to be paid on the property therein enumerated, and foot up the columns, showing the total amount of taxes, and on or before the fourth Monday in September he must deliver said corrected and completed assessment book to the City Tax Collector, and charge the Collector with the full amount of the taxes levied.

Sec. 14. Every tax so levied shall have the force and effect of a judgment against the person and property taxed, and shall be and constitute a lien upon the real property situated in said city so assessed or owned by the party against whom such assessment is made. Every such assessment and the lien thereof shall have the force and effect of an execution duly levied upon all property owned by the party assessed, or by the unknown owner of the property when assessed to an unknown owner. The judgment shall not be satisfied nor discharged until the tax assessed against the property is paid, or the property sold for the payment thereof.
SEC. 15. The city shall have such other rights, claims and liens for the amount of such municipal taxes as may now or hereafter be given to or exercised by the people of the State by section forty-four of the assessment and collection of county taxes levied in Los Angeles County. The mode and manner of collecting such municipal taxes, and enforcing such tax lien, and the proceedings thereafter, shall substantially be the same as the mode and manner at the time prescribed by law for the collection of State and county taxes in said county; provided, however, that the Council may, by ordinance, regulate the time or times and the method of the collection of said taxes with the consent of the city, and that the officer who prescribes by written authority to such collection and enforcement shall be performed. All such proceedings, sales, certificates and conveyances had, made, and executed by them in pursuance thereof, shall be of like force, effect and validity as if or may hereafter be given by law to like proceedings and acts in the matter of the collections of State and county taxes in said county.

SEC. 16. All sales for delinquent taxes shall be made to the City of Pasadena unless otherwise regulated by ordinance.

SEC. 17. The Council may, by an order entered upon its journal, extend for not exceeding thirty days the time fixed in this article for the performance of any act.

SEC. 18. All fines and forfeitures arising under the revenue and taxation laws as applied to the city, may, in civil cases, be recovered in the name of the city, and, together with all other moneys collected or received by any officer of the city, under said laws, shall be for the use of the city. When real estate is offered for sale for city taxes due thereon, the same shall be struck off and sold to the city in like case and in like manner, and with like effect as it may be struck off or sold to the State when offered for sale for State taxes, and the moneys received for the sale shall be paid into the treasury, and the duties in relation to such property as are given by law to the State Board of Equalization in case of a sale to the State, but no certificate or receipt need be delivered to the State Controller.

SEC. 19. No officer shall be required to send or transmit any statement or report to any State officer or board.

SEC. 20. All papers and instruments required to be filed or recorded with or by the County Recorder by the revenue or taxation laws of this State, shall, under said laws as applied to the city, be in like manner and with like effect, filed with and recorded by the County Recorder of Los Angeles County.

SEC. 21. Whenever the Council shall determine that the public interest requires the construction, or acquisition, or completion of any permanent municipal building, school building, high-school building, sewer, property, water right, bridge, or other public improvement, or utility, the cost of which, in addition to the other expenditures of the city, will exceed the income and revenue provided for in any one year, they may, by ordinance, submit a proposition to incur a debt for such purpose, and proceed therein as provided in section eighteen of article eleven of the Constitution of this State and general law or laws thereof; provided, that such indebtedness shall not bear more than five per cent interest per annum, and that no bond issue therefor shall be sold for less than par value and to the highest bidder, after advertising for sealed proposals therefor.

SEC. 22. It shall be the duty of the Assessor to collect the taxes on all personal property, when the owner of said property is not seized of real estate in said city sufficient to afford ample security for the collection of said taxes. In all such cases he shall be governed in fixing the amount of the tax by the rate of the tax levy for the preceding year.

SEC. 23. Immediately after fixing the assessment of such property he shall serve on its owner or owners a notice in writing, which shall certify the assessed valuation of the property, the rate of taxation, and the amount of tax payable, and contain a demand for the payment of said tax within three days after the service of said notice. Said notice shall be served personally, or by leaving a copy of the same at the last known place of residence of the person whose property is so assessed. Upon the expiration of said three days after such service, if the tax demanded still remains unpaid, or payment thereof be not secured to the satisfaction of the City Attorney and City Assessor, the Assessor shall forthwith proceed to collect the same by seizure of any personal property owned by the delinquent.

SEC. 24. The said sale shall be made by him in the manner provided in sections thirty-seven hundred and ninety-one, thirty-seven hundred and ninety-two, thirty-seven hundred and ninety-three, thirty-seven hundred and ninety-four, thirty-seven hundred and ninety-five, and thirty-seven hundred and ninety-six of the Political Code of the State of California; provided, that the newspaper referred to in said section thirty-seven hundred and ninety-two shall be published in the City of Pasadena.

SEC. 25. Whenever a city tax is fixed for the year in which such collection is made, if it be found that a sum in excess of said rate has been collected, the excess must be repaid in the same manner as other demands against the city are paid, to the person from whom the collection was made, or his assigns. And if a sum less than the rate fixed has been collected, the deficiency must be collected as other taxes on personal property are collected.

SEC. 26. Should the Board of Equalization reduce the valuation for the same year of the property so assessed, the sum collected in excess of said reduced valuation must be repaid in like manner, to the person from whom the collection was made, or to his assigns. And if the valuation of said property should be increased by said board, then the deficiency must be collected as other taxes on personal property are collected.
Sec. 27. The Assessor shall carefully note upon his assessment list, and also in a book to be kept by him for the purpose, all collections made by him under this section, and shall turn over to the City Treasurer all money received immediately upon its receipt.

Sec. 28. In case the Assessor shall fail to demand, and through his fault to collect, any and all taxes which by this section he is directed to collect, he shall be and become personally liable to the city for the amount of said delinquent taxes, with interest from the date of their assessment; and the Council is authorized and directed to cause proper action or actions at law to be brought against said Assessor and the sureties on his official bond to recover the same.

If, however, the City Council shall determine that the public necessity or the public interest requires the granting of the franchise, then the said sum of three hundred dollars shall be retained by the city in full for all costs of advertising and other preliminary expenses connected with the offering for sale of such franchise and the granting of the same.

WHEREAS, It has been charged that the Police Department of said city and county has for some time declared its inability to suppress said gambling games; and

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, STATE OF CALIFORNIA.

SACRAMENTO, JANUARY 31, 1901.

To the Assembly of the State of California.

I have the honor to represent to your honorable body that upon Sunday, the twenty-seventh day of this month, I received information that the United States Treasury Department had sent to this State a commission of experts to make an ex parte investigation into the condition of the public health of our State, and that some of the distinguished members of said commission were already in the City of San Francisco.

Realizing the gravity of an investigation conducted in secret, without any opportunity on the part of the State authorities to examine into the work as it is intended to be conducted by the said commission appointed by the United States Treasury Department, I deemed it of the most immediate importance to inquire of the President the reasons and purpose of this secret commission, and on the twenty-eighth instant I transmitted the following telegram to the President of the United States:

"EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,

"SACRAMENTO, CAL., JANUARY 28, 1901.

"The President, Executive Mansion, Washington, D. C.

"I have been informed that Treasury Department has sent a commission of experts to this State to examine the pretended plague cases heretofore reported, as well as present health conditions, which commission is now about to commence investigations, ignoring the State authorities in the matter, and proceeding in line with reports here-tofore made by Dr. J. J. Kinyoun to Surgeon-General of Marine Hospital Service.

"I hope that in this matter of vital interest to the people of California there is no intentional discourtesy on the part of officer directed by the Treasury Department to supervise this investigation.

"In this matter, which concerns deeply the welfare of this State, I respectfully request that cooperation with the State authorities by such experts be advised, in order that the State may select eminent home bacteriologists and physicians as well as, if deemed necessary, bacteriologists and physicians from other States and countries, to examine the same suspected cases, so as to arrive at a correct and impartial conclusion.

"I dislike much now to call your attention to this matter, but the irreparable injury heretofore done to this State by unfair and ex parte examinations warrants this appeal.

"Your most obedient, humble servant,

"HENRY T. GAGE, Governor of California."
Yesterday afternoon I received from the Honorable the Secretary of the Treasury the following telegraphic reply:

"WASHINGTON, D. C., January 30, 1901.

"Hon. Henry T. Gage, Governor, Sacramento, Cal."

"Replying to your telegram of January 29th, addressed to the President, the commission appointed by this department embraces experts who by reason of technical knowledge and personal experience with the disease make it the highest possible authority. They are from great institutions of learning entirely disconnected with any department of the Government, and are chosen from different sections of the country, wholly on account of their attainments, and have been directed to call upon you for the purpose of having their respects and acquaint you with their work. In no sense therefore is any discourtesy intended, and the Department desires the commission to make these investigations in its own way, unhampered by detailed instructions from the Marine Hospital Service or any other influence. It is expected to ascertain the facts, and the Department does not feel it should hamper the commission in its method of investigating and getting at the facts. It will be independent of Doctor Kinyoun or any previous reports. Its conclusions are to be based on its own observations, and will be made known to this Department alone, and promptly forwarded to you by the Department.

"L. J. Gage, Secretary."

From this answer of the Honorable the Secretary of the Treasury it is apparent that State cooperation is refused, and that the investigation of the commission will be conducted wholly on such lines as will exclude any possible opportunity on the part of the State to either verify or refute any position which may now or hereafter be taken by the said commission or the United States Marine Hospital Service.

Under these circumstances the State is now forced to rely upon an investigation pursued by a commission which it has neither invited to its territory nor in the selection of whose personnel it has had any voice.

The previous inaccurate reports respecting the existence of bubonic plague in this State, which have resulted in the injury to the reputation for health of this State, as well as in injury to its citizens, industries, and commerce, have been the consequence of a system of \textit{ex parte} investigation, without opportunity of State examination or superintendence.

The repetition of such investigations upon secret lines, without public scrutiny under State authority, as have been heretofore pursued, will imperil the welfare of every citizen and inhabitant of the State, and will bring distress to the farmer, orchardist, horticulturist, manufacturer, tradesman, merchant, as well as to all our marine and land transportation companies.

The meager criminal, under the Constitution of the United States, cannot be denied the right of being confronted by his accusers, listening to their testimony, and subjecting them to cross-examination; and shall it be contended that the great State of California shall be unjustly denied a similar privilege in the opportunity of facing those who, impugning the public health, as the result of a secret and one-sided examination, might choose to cast an inremovable blemish upon the State's sanitary condition, on which the personal rights and property of her citizens in a large measure depend?

The State being denied a hearing, I conscientiously believe, therefore, that legislation is immediately and urgently needed by which our State may assume that general and unrestrained control over the subject of the public health within its borders which so vitally concerns her, and which is her inalienable right by virtue of her sovereignty.

Impelled by the sense of public duty, in view of this exceedingly grave situation, I rely upon the discretion of your honorable body to take such appropriate action in the premises as may be deemed advisable.

HENRY T. GAGE,
Governor of the State of California.

Ordered printed in the Journal.

FRANKLIN, Chairman.

ON FEDERAL RELATIONS.

Assembly Chamber, Sacramento, February 5, 1901.

Mr. Speaker: Your Committee on Federal Relations, to whom was referred Assembly Joint Resolution No. 8—Relative to asking Representatives to urge investigation of acts of Judge Noyes, Cape Nome.

Also: Assembly Joint Resolution No. 12—Relative to the restraint of interstate traffic in convict-made goods

Also: Senate Joint Resolution No. 2—Relative to requesting the President of the United States to direct that Dr. J. J. Kinvoun, United States Quarantine Officer for San Francisco, be relieved from further service on the Pacific Coast

Also: Senate Joint Resolution No. 10—Relative to the establishment of a boarding-school for Pit River Indians in Modoc County, California

Have had the same under consideration, and respectfully report the same back, and recommend as follows:

First—That Assembly Joint Resolution No. 8 be re-referred to the Committee on Judiciary.

Second—That Assembly Joint Resolution No. 12 be adopted.
Third—That Senate Joint Resolution No. 2, as amended in the Senate and sent to the Assembly, be adopted; this by the majority, a minority dissenting.

Fourth—That Senate Joint Resolution No. 10 be adopted.

This report is accompanied by a report signed by the dissenting minority as to the action taken on Senate Joint Resolution No. 2.

KNIGHT, Chairman.

ON FEDERAL RELATIONS—(MINORITY REPORT).

Inasmuch as only three members of the Committee on Federal Relations were present during the consideration of this resolution, and inasmuch as this said resolution appears to be untimely, therefore, the minority of said committee hereby recommends that the further consideration or passage of Senate Joint Resolution No. 2 asking for the removal of Dr. J. J. Kinyoun, be indefinitely postponed for the following reasons:

First—The President of the United States being cognizant of the conditions of this coast, and mindful of the health of the people, has sent a commission of scientific experts to investigate, independently of the United States Quarantine Officer, into the existence or non-existence of bubonic plague in San Francisco, and until this commission of experts shall report, this Legislature is not in possession of the facts to a certainty.

Second—Neither Dr. J. J. Kinyoun nor the United States Quarantine Department have filed, or had presented, with this Legislature any data as to their side of the controversy.

Third—Until this Legislature is in possession of definite data to disprove the assertions of the United States Quarantine Department, it should not be the duty of this Legislature to do a possible injustice to a Federal officer who is here by the deliberate action of the highest authority in the nation.

Fourth—The resolution asks President McKinley to relieve Dr. J. J. Kinyoun from further service on the Pacific Coast, whereas, this Legislature can only speak for California, and we have no evidence as to how the balance of the coast may feel on this proposition.

Fifth—If high authority should absolutely demonstrate the existence of bubonic plague in this State, the passage of this resolution would discredit the standing of this State government outside of the State in thus demanding the removal of a Federal officer who had fearlessly held to the truth.

Sixth—Public health, not private commercialism, should be the basis of judgment for legislative actions of this kind.

Respectfully submitted

W. S. MELICK

EXPLANATION OF VOTE.

Mr. Sutro made the following explanation:

MR. SPEAKER: On Saturday, February 2, 1901, I voted for Assembly Bill No. 560. On February 4, 1901, I voted against the motion to lay the reconsideration of said bill upon the table because large commercial interests in the State requested to be heard before final passage of the bill, and because I believe the Assembly should discuss their opposition to the measure as set forth in the following resolutions:

WHEREAS, Certain bills purporting to be in the interests of the health of the State were introduced in both Houses of the State Legislature at Sacramento on January 30, 1901, and apparently supplementing a bill, Assembly Bill No. 294, which provides for a State Quarantine Officer; and

WHEREAS, Said bills so introduced have, as we believe, for their ultimate end the same motive as said Assembly Bill No. 294, with an additional lavishness of State money, and at the same time the said bills tend to greatly and uselessly magnify in the public mind a danger which is seldom present and which the people of this State are amply protected against by and at the expense of the Federal authorities; and

WHEREAS, One of said bills appropriates $100,000 of public money to be expended at the pleasure of the Governor of this State, without restriction; and

WHEREAS, Said bills so introduced on January 30, 1901, were rushed through the State Assembly and passed second reading by said body with unseemly haste, and apparently without due, or any, consideration on February 1, 1901; and

WHEREAS, Said bills were passed with unseemly haste on the plea that an emergency existed which justified such action; and

WHEREAS, There exists no emergency in the health conditions of this State; and

WHEREAS, A quaside orderly investigation by the Federal authorities of the health condition of this port, said to be now in progress, does not justify a voluntary conflict with said authorities, nor create an emergency; and

WHEREAS, There exists no good reason why such legislation should not be considered with due deliberation and be submitted to the usual and proper criticism of the people of the State before being enacted into a law; and

WHEREAS, The Federal authorities provide, at the expense of the United States Government, a complete quarantine inspection service at this port, with a station furnishing ample accommodations and care for all infected vessels and persons; and

WHEREAS, The one criticism heard regarding the said Federal Quarantine Service is a universal unpopularity of the chief officer thereof; and

WHEREAS, Although said unpopularity of said quarantine officer appears to be well founded, the same is improperly being used as an argument in favor of establishing an additional quarantine service at the expense of this State; and

WHEREAS, We believe that the appointment of a State Quarantine Officer would only result in conflict of authority, as heretofore, and not in any benefit to the State, or in the removal or displacing of the Federal service and inspection; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That we earnestly protest against the adoption of the aforesaid bills, and petition the honorable members of the State Senate and Assembly that they do work and vote in accordance herewith; and be it Further resolved, That copies of these resolutions be forwarded to the members of the California State Legislature forthwith.

CERTIFICATE—We, the undersigned, hereby certify that the above preamble and resolutions were duly adopted at said meeting, and that the same have the unqualified sanction and approval of our several organized bodies:

Chamber of Commerce—By W. E. Mighell, Second Vice-President; Shipowners' Association of the Pacific Coast—By A. M. Simpson, President; Board of Trade of San Francisco—By A. A. Watkins (per W. R. W.), President; Merchants' Association of San Francisco—By F. W. Dohrmann, President; Manufacturers and Producers' Association—By A. Sbarboro, President; Produce Exchange—By G. W. McNear, President; San Francisco Committee on Commerce—By Wm. R. Wheefer, Chairman.

"2. Such person must have been duly and regularly admitted to practice law in the highest court of a sister state, or of a foreign country, where the Common Law of England constitutes the basis of jurisprudence, must produce his or her license or certificate of admission and satisfactory evidence of good moral character as above provided, and must also produce and file, with his or her written application for admission, the affidavit or certificate of a judge or judges of the court or courts of record of such state or country, under the seal of such court or courts, affirming or certifying that the applicant for a term of at least two years next preceding the day of application for admission to practice in the courts of this state, has actually been engaged in the practice of the law as an attorney and counselor in all the courts of such state or country, giving the dates and the place or places of practice, and that his license is in full and unrevoked; such applicant must, also, if required, satisfactorily pass the required examination. Every citizen admitted upon motion under the provisions of this subdivision shall pay a fee of twenty-five dollars, which shall, or may, be used under the direction of the Supreme Court, in the payment of the expenses of holding and conducting examinations and the compensation of the Board of Examiners, as in this chapter provided with reference to other fees.

"Sec. 3. Section 277 of said Code of Civil Procedure is hereby amended as follows:

"Section 277. A State Board of Examiners is hereby created to consist of three members, one of whom shall be the Dean of the Hastings College of Law, and the other two shall be attorneys and counselors of the Supreme Court of this state, learned in the law, and of at least five years' standing at the bar of this state, one of whom shall be a resident of the Los Angeles District, and the other a resident of the Sacramento District, as said districts are now established, and both of whom shall be appointed by and hold office at the pleasure of the Supreme Court. If the Dean of the Hastings College shall fail to act, the Supreme Court shall appoint another attorney and counsel of the Supreme Court who is a resident of the San Francisco District, as above provided, to act in his place.

The compensation of said Board of Examiners shall be fixed by the Supreme Court for each examination, and shall be paid upon the order of the Chief Justice of said court, from the fees of applicants hereinafter provided for, but the aggregate amount of such compensation and the expenses of holding and conducting each examination shall not exceed the total of such fees. Every applicant for examination shall pay a fee of fifteen dollars. The payment of one examination fee shall entitle the applicant to the privilege of three examinations.

The Board of Examiners shall hold one examination in the City of San Francisco, one in the City of Sacramento, and one in the City of Los Angeles, in each year after the taking effect of this Act, and at such time during such year as the Supreme Court shall determine. No other examinations shall be held. To entitle any applicant to take the examination in any district, it must be made to satisfactorily appear to the members of the Board of Examiners that, for six months next preceding the day of the examination, he was a bona fide resident of such district. Any fraudulent act or representation by the applicant in connection with his application for admission shall be sufficient cause for the revocation of his or her license by the Supreme Court.

"It shall be the duty of the Board of Examiners personally to conduct and hold the written and oral examination of applicants for admission; to make all needful rules and regulations to govern the same; to prepare and have printed written questions for the written examinations, and to propound the oral questions upon the oral examinations hereinafter provided for; and to require every applicant to furnish satisfactory proof of his or her good moral character.

"Sec. 4. Section 278 of said Code of Civil Procedure is hereby amended to read as follows:

"The Board of Examiners may enlargethe subjects of examination, or substitute books by other authors on the same subjects, upon giving reasonable notice thereof.
"All examinations shall be publicly held and conducted, and shall be based upon both written and oral questions. The written questions shall cover all of the general subjects in the prescribed course of study, and be sufficient in number upon each subject to furnish a strict test of the applicant's attainments in the law. The Board of Examiners shall carefully examine all of the answers of each applicant to the written questions, and shall carefully note the answers of each applicant to the oral questions, and shall make and file, with the Clerk of the Supreme Court, a written report thereon, giving the standing of each applicant, both upon the written and upon the oral examination, and therewith shall make their written recommendation to the Supreme Court as to which of the applicants are entitled to be admitted to practice and as to which of them are not, and file the same with the Clerk of the Supreme Court. The written answers of each applicant shall also be filed with the Clerk of the Supreme Court.

"Sec 5. Section 279 of said Code of Civil Procedure is hereby amended to read as follows:

"Section 279. At any time after the examination and upon or after the filing of the written report and answers and recommendation as provided in Section 278, and upon or after the filing of the application for admission and the certificate and testimonials, as provided in subdivision two of Section 276, the Supreme Court may, upon motion, in open court, based upon such examination, report, and recommendation, or upon such application, certificates, and testimonials, admit such applicant as an attorney and counselor-at-law in all the courts of this State, provided he or she is entitled to be admitted under the provisions of this chapter, and, if admitted, shall direct an order to be entered to that effect upon its records, and that a certificate of such record be given to the applicant by the Clerk of the Supreme Court, which certificate shall be his or her license.

"Sec 6. Section 280 of said Code of Civil Procedure is hereby amended to read as follows:

"Section 280. Every person on his admission must take an oath to support the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of the State of California, and to discharge faithfully the duties of an attorney and counselor-at-law to the best of his knowledge and ability. A certificate of such oath must be indorsed upon the license.

"The Clerk of the Supreme Court shall keep a roll of attorneys and counselors admitted to practice by the court of which he is clerk, which roll shall be signed by the person admitted before he shall be entitled to receive his or her license.

"Sec 7. Section 281 of said Code of Civil Procedure is hereby amended to read as follows:

"Section 281. If any person shall practice law in any court of this State, except a Justice's or a Police Court, or shall advertise or hold himself out as practicing, or entitled to practice law, without being entitled so to practice law under the provisions of this chapter, he shall be guilty of a contempt of the court in which he shall so practice, or respecting which he shall advertise or hold himself out as practicing, or entitled to practice, and may be prosecuted for such contempt by such court as in other cases.

"Sec 8. All those provisions of this Act with reference to the admission of applicants upon examination by the Board of Examiners, shall take effect on the 1st day of July, 1901, and all the other provisions of this Act shall take effect immediately; provided, however, that any citizen and resident of this State who, prior to the 16th day of March, 1895, was regularly admitted to practice in any Superior Court of this State, pursuant to the law, and who, since his admission, as aforesaid, has been continuously engaged in the practice of the law in this State, and whose license is in full force and unrevoked, of good moral character, may, upon making proof of such facts by affidavits and testimonials, be admitted, by the Supreme Court, to practice in all the courts of this State, upon examination by the Supreme Court, or by a department thereof, or upon motion if, in the judgment of the members of that court, such examination be unnecessary."

"Section 314. Subdivision 1.—If, upon the hearing of any petition of remonstrance, filed by a party feeling aggrieved, as provided in Section 3 of this Act, it shall appear that the contemplated work and improvement is of more than local or ordinary public benefit, as to any part of the property to be assessed therefor, or that such property or any portion thereof would, under the proposed assessment (if an assessment district had not been declared in intention as provided in subdivision 3 of this section) be assessed for a sum larger than the amount of the benefits local thereto which would be conferred upon said portion of said property by the completion of the contemplated work and improvement, then, unless the City Council shall abandon the proceedings for said contemplated work and improvement, said City Council shall order that the assessment upon said portion of said property for such contemplated work and improvement be reduced to the amount which said City Council shall determine to be the amount of the local or ordinary public benefit to be conferred upon such portion of said property by the completion of such contemplated work and improvement, and the balance of the amount for which said property would have been assessed, if no petition of remonstrance had been filed as aforesaid, shall be paid out of the municipal treasury, or may provide for and direct the payment of the same to be made when due, in any manner or method within its power and authority.

Subdivision 2—All property liable to be assessed, or affected by the assessment, to pay for the contemplated work and improvement, shall be presumed to be locally benefited by the said work and improvement to an amount equal to the amount for which, under the said proceedings, it is liable to be assessed to pay therefor. The City Council shall adopt and shall be presumed to have adopted that mode or method or manner of assessment which shall most justly and equitably distribute the assessment to be made upon the various properties to be assessed according to and in proportion to, and in an amount not exceeding, the benefits conferred upon such property by said contemplated work and improvement, and the aforesaid order shall include in the proposed plan or scheme and district of assessment adopted by it for the contemplated work and improvement all and only such property as will be specially benefited thereby to an extent warranting any special assessment therefor. If in the opinion of the City Council at the time it adopts, for any work of only local or ordinary public benefit, the notice of intention of such contemplated work and improvement, the district and plan of assessment on property abutting upon the contemplated work and improvement and upon property abutting or facing upon adjoining or adjacent streets, alleys, lanes, places, or courts, as provided in Section 7 of this Act, where no assessment district has been declared and described by boundaries in the notice of intention of such contemplated work and improvement, the City Council shall, in its notice of intention, declare an assessment district, and shall proceed as provided in Section 3 of this Act, whenever the contemplated work and improvement in the opinion of the said City Council is of more than local or ordinary public benefit. All persons not filing a petition of remonstrance as provided in Section 3 hereof, complaining of the manner or method or mode of apportionment of the proposed assessment, or the property to be included shall be deemed to have acquiesced in the manner or method thereof and in the property to be included therein; and the amount of such proposed assessment (where no assessment district has been declared in the notice of intention as provided in this section or Section 3 of this Act) shall be deemed to be acquiesced in by all persons not filing such a petition of remonstrance complaining of such amount.

Subdivision 3—Nothing in this section shall be construed to prevent or interfere with any right of the said City Council to abandon any proceedings for such work and improvement, or with any right of said City Council after such abandonment to start new proceedings therefor, nor prevent or interfere with the right of said City Council to amend, set aside, alter, modify or correct the assessment or any part of it in such manner as shall seem to said City Council just, or with any right provided in Section 11 of this Act, nor to prevent or interfere with the right of the City Council, which right is also hereby given to it, at any time, whether before or after the completion of said work and improvement, in its discretion, to order that the whole or any portion of the cost and expenses of the work or of any part thereof be paid out of the municipal treasury, nor to prevent, or interfere with the duty of the Superintendent of Streets to levy the assessment in conformity to the direction and decision of the City Council, as provided in Section 8 of this Act, nor to prevent or interfere with the duty and right of the Superintendent of Streets (which duty is hereby also imposed upon, and which right is also hereby given to him) to deduct from the assessment for the whole work or any part thereof, of which a portion or the whole of the cost the City Council may have ordered not to be declared in the notice of intention of the assessment, and the cost thereof of which the City Council may have ordered to be paid from the municipal treasury an amount equal to that portion of the cost thereof which the City Council may have ordered to be paid out of the treasury of the municipality. Nothing in this section shall be construed to enable or entitle any new assessment to be issued for or in lieu of any assessment issued under the provisions of this Act, before declared invalid or void, in whole or in part, by any final decree of a court of competent jurisdiction, and no such new assessment shall be declared such invalid or void assessment so heretofore declared invalid or void, in whole or in part, excepting as provided in this Act previous to the adding of this section thereto.

Subdivision 4.—In case said City Council shall order any amounts to be paid from the municipal treasury, as hereinbefore provided, the assessment when issued, if issued subsequent to said order, shall state the same, and the same shall be due and payable.
by the City Treasurer in the same manner as the balance of the assessment and the said City Treasurer shall so pay the same; for any amounts paid from the municipal treasury as in this Act provided, the said City Council may, at the time of the next, or the next regular meeting of said City Council, or at any time there after, order the Street Superintendent to levy and issue, a new assessment, warrant, and diagram to the City Treasurer, which shall otherwise, as far as possible, be in the form in this Act provided for original assessments to contractors, and which shall be recorded and be a lien, as in the case of such original assessments, for the period of two years from the date of the record thereof and be enforceable by the said City Treasurer in the same manner as this Act provided for the enforcement of said original assessments, and said City Council may apportion and levy or order the Street Superintendent to apportion and levy said new assessment upon all the property benefited by the said work and improvement to the amount and in such proportion as said City Council shall, after thirty (30) days' notice by publication once a week in a newspaper published in said city, declare the said property to have been benefited by the said work and improvement, or the said City Council may order that the said municipal treasury be reimbursed for any amounts paid therefrom as above provided in any other manner or by any other method within its power and authority. In no case shall the total of all taxes which may be assessed against any part of such property to pay for said work and improvement exceed such amount as said City Council shall decide to have been the amount of the special benefits conferred on said property by said work and improvement.

"Subdivision 5.—In case the whole or any part of any assessment or of any warrant or bond or evidence thereof issued to represent the same, whether or not the same be an original assessment or warrant or bond or evidence issued under the provisions of this Act, may hereafter be declared in whole or in part invalid or void for any cause, whether jurisdictional or otherwise, by any final decision of any court of competent jurisdiction, the Superintendent of Streets or the City Council shall proceed to levy and issue, or the said City Council shall order the said Superintendent of Streets to levy and issue a new assessment warrant and diagram, including accrued interest, as provided in Section 3 of this Act, on application made as in said Section 3 stated, to the contractor, or his assigns, or successors, or the owner of such assessment or any part thereof, or of any warrant or bond or other evidence issued to represent the same. Every new assessment, warrant, and diagram issued under the provisions of this section or Section 3 shall be payable in the manner and at the time and places as shall be provided for original assessments to contractors, and shall conform to the orders of the Council, if the Council make any orders relating thereto, and shall be recorded and be a lien, as in the case of such original assessments, for the period of two years from the date of the record thereof, and may be enforced in the same manner as in this Act provided for the enforcement of such original assessments. The said City Council is hereby given power and authority to levy and issue or order the Superintendent of Streets to levy and issue such new entire or partial assessment, warrant, and diagram for such part of the former assessment or warrant or bond or other evidence issued to represent the same, so declared void or invalid, for the amount thereof, including accrued interest, either on the same basis and method and manner of apportionment and upon the same property as in the said assessment, or part thereof, or warrant, or bond, or any other evidence of the same, so declared invalid and void as aforesaid, or upon any other, or altered, or changed, or different, or modified, or augmented basis, method, or manner, and upon any and all other property benefited by the said work and improvement as shall be necessary to carry out the law or the decision of the court, or as shall be provided by the City Council just and best calculated to properly and equitably distribute, and assess, and apportion, the amount to be assessed for the cost of said work and improvement upon the various portions of the said property in proportion to the amount of the benefits received by such portions of said property from the said work and improvement, and in conformity to law. From any new assessment levied under the provisions of this Act an appeal to the City Council may be taken as provided in Section 12 of this Act and by the same persons, and in the same manner, and upon the same grounds as therein stated, excepting the ground that the work has not been performed in a good and substantial manner, where such work has once been finally accepted, but including the ground that the said property, or any portion thereof, is assessed for the said work and improvement to an amount or to a proportion larger than the amount of the benefits accruing to such portion of said property therefrom. The powers and authorities of the City Council upon such appeal shall be as stated in Section 12 of this Act, excepting the powers and authority to require the work to be completed according to the direction of the said City Council, where said work has once been finally accepted. increased shall have sixty (60) days from the levying of such new assessment instead of thirty (30) days to appeal as provided in subdivision five of this section and in Section 11 of this Act, but in no case shall any appeal be taken on the ground that the work has not been performed in a good and substantial manner, excepting within thirty (30) days after the levying and issuance of the first assessment therefor by the Superintendent of Streets, and in every case unless such appeal taken on such ground within said thirty (30) days be sustained by the City Council the acceptance of said work shall be final.

"Subdivision 7.—In no case where any assessment once levied and made upon any property for any work or improvement or part thereof has been finally and properly settled and paid in accordance therewith and as provided by law, shall an increased or additional levy be made thereon for the same work and improvement or for the same part thereof, and should the said City Council or the said Superintendent of Streets in levying a new assessment, decide that an additional or increased assessment ought to be levied and paid upon any such property, upon which one such assessment has been so settled and paid, in proportion to the benefits received by it from the said work and improvement, then the said city may in its discretion provide for such additional or increased assessment and the said City Council may provide for the payment thereof as provided in subdivision one of this section, and may order the municipal treasury to be reimbursed as provided in subdivision four of this section. The new assessment roll shall show that such former assessment on such property for the same work and improvement or part thereof has been paid, and in no such case shall a new or additional assessment or lien be collected or enforced therefor on said property.

SENATE SPECIAL FILE—(RESUMED).

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 10

Relative to the establishment of a boarding-school for Pit River Indians in Modoc County, California.

WHEREAS, The Pit River Indians, with the assistance of the white citizens of Modoc County, California, have forwarded to the Congress of the United States a petition asking for the establishment of an Indian boarding-school at or near Alturas, California; and

WHEREAS, The Pit River Indians entered into a solemn covenant with General George Crook, about the year eighteen hundred and sixty-five, to remain peaceful, and by said agreement were required to remain within certain territory, namely, Hot Spring and South Fork valleys, and being unfriendly with the tribe known as the Plutes, whose territory was and is east of the Warner range of mountains, were by this treaty to refrain from crossing said range and coming in contact with the Plutes, who were a more powerful and warlike tribe; and

WHEREAS, The Government has established at Fort Bidwell, in the said county, a boarding-school for Indians within the limits occupied by the Plutes, and it being distasteful to the Pit River Indians, for the reason of jealousies existing and the domineering spirit of the Plutes, but few will attend while there is an existing friction between the children of the two tribes; and

WHEREAS, It is impossible for the Pit River Indians to journey back and forth to the school so situated, during the winter months, on account of heavy snows in the mountains and passes, and it being some fifty to seventy-five miles distant from their territory; and

WHEREAS, The Pit River Indians have faithfully kept their pledge and have at all times remained friendly to the white settlers, and during the Modoc war of eighteen hundred and seventy-two and eighteen hundred and seventy-three they rendered such excellent service as guides, friends, and protectors of the whites; and

WHEREAS, The Chief of the Pit River Indians has felt that in consequence of the treaty spoken of and the friendship so truly preserved and assistance rendered the Government as stated, and they now having become farmers, laborers, and stock raisers of this section, they ask that the Government, to which they have been so loyal, now grant them the advantage of education by establishing a school as requested, so that they may educate their children, now numbering somewhere between one hundred and fifty, at such a school as they may desire—said school to be a boarding-school such as is customary for the Government to establish for this purpose; therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, the Assembly concurring, That our Senators be instructed and our Representatives in Congress be requested to use their best endeavors to secure such legislation and appropriations as will establish the school petitioned for; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate be instructed to transmit by mail a copy of these resolutions to the Hon. George C. Perkins, Senator, and Hon. J. A. Barhami, GOVERNOR’S MESSAGES.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, STATE OF CALIFORNIA, | SACRAMENTO, FEBRUARY 8, 1901.

To the Assembly of the State of California

I have the honor to inform your honorable body that I have approved Assembly Bill No. 656, entitled “An Act making an appropriation to pay the contingent expenses of the Assembly, thirty-fourth session.”

HENRY T. GAGE,
Governor of the State of California.

Also:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, STATE OF CALIFORNIA, | SACRAMENTO, FEBRUARY 8, 1901.

To the Assembly of the State of California

I herewith return to your honorable body, without my approval, with my objections thereto, Assembly Bill No. 88, entitled “An Act authorizing the State Prison Directors of the State of California to employ prisoners in the construction and repair of roads to the State Prison at San Quentin.”

The bill authorizes the State Board of Prison Directors during the four years next succeeding the passage of the Act to employ prisoners daily in the construction and repair of such public roads as have been, or shall hereafter be, laid out or opened by the Board of Supervisors of Marin County, and which extend from the State Prison and grounds of San Quentin “to Point Tiburon or any railroad station in Marin County within four miles of said State Prison.”

By the terms of this bill the prisoners are to be employed in work to be done upon the county roads of Marin County, and such work is therefore intended for the benefit of the County of Marin, as well as for such incidental benefit as might flow to the State.

This Act, in my opinion, clearly violates subdivision 7 of Section 25 of Article IV of the State Constitution, which, among other things, prohibits the Legislature from passing local or special laws, “authorizing the laying out, opening, altering, maintaining, or vacating roads, highways, streets, alleys, town plats, parks, cemeteries, graveyards, or public grounds not owned by the State.”

This bill is likewise contrary to the spirit of Section 3 of Article X of the Constitution, which reads as follows:

"After the first day of January, 1882, the labor of convicts shall not be let out by contract to any person, co-partnership, company, or corporation, and the Legislature shall by law provide for the working of convicts for the benefit of the State."

I therefore disapprove of this measure for the additional reason that it is opposed to said Section 3 of Article X of the Constitution, which requires that the work of convicts should be for the benefit of the State only, and because said bill is against the policy of said section of the Constitution, which was designed to prevent the degradation of honest labor by bringing it in competition with the work of the convicts of the State.

HENRY T. GAGE.
Governor of the State of California.

REPORT OF INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE.

ASSEMBLY CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, February 14, 1891.

Mr. Speaker: Your committee heretofore appointed to investigate certain charges against the Police Department of the City and County of San Francisco have performed their duty, and beg leave to submit a partial report as follows:

That at a regular session of said committee held in the City and County of San Francisco on the 12th day of February, 1891, the following proceedings were had:

Thereupon Charles S. Cram was called as a witness, and, after being duly sworn, testified as follows:

The Witness—Mr. Chairman, do I have to answer any questions that I don’t like?

Chairman—You have to answer any questions that we want you to answer.

Witness—Then I would like to see an attorney about my rights, before I go on the stand.

Chairman—Have you come here voluntarily to offer your testimony?

Witness—Captain Wittman and Sergeant — asked me last night; he met me and brought me down here, and served the subpoena on me to come here.

Chairman—Did he serve you a subpoena on you last night?

Witness—Yes.

Chairman—Who was it served that subpoena last night?

Witness—Capt. Wittman and a detective.

Captain Wittman—I did not serve a subpoena on you.

Witness—I think it was the detective.

Chairman—I would like to see that subpoena. I did not issue any for you.

Witness—He read it to me, and said I was to appear here this morning.

Captain Wittman—I believe Wren served the subpoena on him.

Chairman—Did the subpoena say to appear before this committee?

Witness—Yes, sir.

Chairman—Have you the subpoena here?

Witness—He didn’t serve it—he just read it.

Joseph Coffey (speaking)—I would like to make an explanation of that. I was served with a subpoena to be here as a witness in connection with this investigation, and I was present when the man stated his statement last night; and after he had made this statement there was some inquiry made by Officer Wren, who was present, as to whether or not this man would return without being subpoenaed, and I informed him that I would return as a witness here, and the subpoena had been delivered to me for service—that is, my name inserted. I stated, out of an abundance of caution, I thought it would be a good thing to insert the name of this witness, and serve the subpoena on him.

The Chairman—I wish to state that this is an action you had no right to take. No one has the right to take a subpoena issued to you and change the name. It is very reprehensible for a man to do anything of that kind.

Mr. Coffey—The Chair may disagree with me as to the policy of these things, but I thought, out of an abundance of caution, rather than allow this witness to go without being subpoenaed, as is done in court subpoenas, the same precaution should be taken in this matter as is done in regard to subpoenas issued out of court, which are issued in blank, and solely to take the precaution that the witness would be present here, I advised the officer to take that course, and he did it.

Mr. Schilling—Did you advise that procedure, Captain Wittman?

Captain Wittman—I said nothing about it.

Mr. Schilling—Were you present?

Captain Wittman—I was present, and saw it done.

Mr. Schilling—You knew he took the name off?

Captain Wittman—No, not take it off. He said: “Leave his name on, and add his name on, also.” The name was inserted—no name erased at all.

Thereupon the examination of Charles S. Cram was resumed.

Q (By Mr. Schilling)—Where is your place of residence, Mr. Cram? A.—122 Golden Gate Avenue.

Q.—How long have you lived in that city? A.—About twenty-five years.

Q.—Born here, were you? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—What is your occupation? A.—Contractor.

Q.—Are you a contractor? A.—Yes; painter, general contractor, you know.

Q.—What do you contract for? A.—Well, I have been doing some painting upon a whole lot of machines, whitewashing, carpenter work, and one thing or another.

Q.—You stated before you wished to be sworn that you wanted an attorney. A.—I have been waiting for Mr. Boyle, to see him, and I went out to the office to see him, and could not find him.

Q.—I want to know why you wanted an attorney just now? A.—Will you allow me to explain?

Q.—Yes. A.—Last night the chief came down, Captain Wittman, Captain Wren, and Mr. Coffey, and they saw me down there, at the corner of Commercial and Kearny, and they said they would be there the next night. I went in there alone, and I knew the fact that I was Mr. Boyle’s witness, I should be here; and they wanted me to make a statement, and I didn’t know what statement to make. I said to myself, “They can wait until I get ready.”
Q.—Did you give any statement? A.—I did not want to tell my evidence to them, so I told them what I felt I wanted to. That is the reason I wanted an attorney.

Q.—Did they swear you there? A.—No, sir.

Q.—What did they say to you when they got you down the street there? A.—Asked me to go along to the hall, and I came over.

Q.—Then they commenced to question you, did they? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—What else did they say to you? A.—They kept telling me about saying nothing but the truth—that nothing but the truth, and what I was going to do. The way they talked I soon knew what they wanted, and I gave it the way they wanted.

Q.—Were you just giving them a fill? A.—I did not give them the evidence according to the truth, because I was in no position to do it.

Q.—You mean to say—? A.—(interrupting)—Well, gentlemen, if you can realize—

Q.—(interrupting)—I understand your position. They had you in what is called a sweatbox? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—Started to pump you? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—Did you tell them you wished to see this committee last night? A.—No, I did not, because they did not come to me till 11:30.

Q.—Did they put you in the tanks over night? A.—No, they did not; that is what I was afraid of. I was going to see Mr. Boyle, and I got afraid, and I did not know what to do. They kept me down stairs to day.

Q.—Did they have a detective following you, do you know? A.—I don’t know; I tried to find out.

Q.—Did you come to the City Hall? A.—This morning I met Captain Wren at ten o’clock on the corner of Kearny and Commercial.

Q.—Did you understand that the statement that you made to the Chief last night is not true? A.—Yes, sir, you do.

Q.—Mr. Cran, then we understand that the statement made to the police last night was made so as to save time, was it, that is— A.—(interrupting)—It was made because I wanted to get out of there. I did not know what to do. I was in a position then that I did not care what I said.

Q.—Why didn’t you refuse to give your testimony? A.—I did not know what to do there; and what is a man to do? Joe Coffey said to me on the street, “I will prove that you offered to receive money from Mr. Boyle,” so I did not know what to do; so I went and told them.

Q.—Mr. Coffey was present during the whole interview, was he? A.—Mr. Coffey was present during the whole interview.

Q.—Was he acting as the adviser of the detectives and the police? A.—I don’t know; he was present there last evening.

Mr. Speaker—This being the time set for the hearing of the matter of Joseph Coffey, in contempt, the Sergeant-at-Arms will bring Mr. Coffey before the bar of the House.

[Whereupon Sergeant-at-Arms Banks appears with defendant Coffey.]

Mr. Speaker—Are you the person named in this resolution?

Mr. Coffey—Yes, sir.

Mr. Speaker—You are entitled to counsel, if you desire it.

Mr. Coffey—I do not.

Mr. Schleisenger—I move that Mr. Coffey be allowed ten minutes in which to prepare his defense.

Mr. Speaker—If there is no objection it is so ordered.

Mr. Coffey—Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the Assembly. It is true that I advised somewhat in reference to this proceeding that occurred in the office of the Chief of Police at San Francisco, as related by the report of the committee. I had but one object. I was requested by the Chief of Police to take down a statement which was made by the witness on that evening. Of course, I have no desire at this time, nor do I think it necessary, to enter into any controversy as to the witness’ statement—whether it was true or false. If it was true, I realized that it was of the highest importance as throwing light on the subject under investigation. I was there at the request of the Chief of Police, wrote his statement down as he stated it, and thought it to be silenced at about ten o’clock at night, when I was brought into the office. After taking the statement, I read it over to him carefully and asked him if it was freely and voluntarily made, and if it was true he said it was, and subsequently signed it. He was then requested, or asked, if he would attend the meeting of the committee on the following day. He said he would. There was some suggestion made as to whether, under the circumstances, his general character, who he was, and what he was, and the statement that he was an inhabitant of Chinatown, as to whether he would voluntarily come before the committee. I think it was Detective Wren that suggested that a subpoena should be obtained from some of the courts in a case in which he was the arresting officer, to hold him. It was doubted that the witness would respond to that request: "Gentlemen, I have been subpoenaed as a witness before this committee. At the time I was subpoenaed a copy of that subpoena was delivered to me, and I have it now in my possession, with my name on it." I had considered the lateness of the hour and the impossibility of getting a subpoena in proper form from the committee, and that it would be advisable to impress upon this witness the necessity of appearing before this committee. The value of the statement upon my mind, if true, was important, and should be investigated. I said, "Gentlemen, I suggest that this copy, which is mine (and I took it out of my pocket), be read to him." I said: "Read it to him, and insert the name of the witness." Detective Wren did this, and alongside of my name was written the name of this witness—Cram. It was then read to him in the usual language of the subpoena, directing him to appear before the committee. After that the witness was allowed to go wherever he chose, and I believe he appeared before the committee on the following day. The statement made by the committee is substantially correct. The chairman insisted that he had not issued a subpoena, which is true. I had no intention of interfering or overriding the functions of the committee. My only motive in doing so was out of an abundance of caution that that man would be there to make a statement before the committee. The circumstances are as related in the report of the proceedings of the committee on that day. My only motive was simply to bring him before the committee, and throw the light on the subject-matter being investigated by the committee. If I have erred, it was an error of judgment rather than intent to violate any law. This is my statement concerning the matter, and it becomes your duty to do with me as you think proper. As I have said before, it was done out of abundance of caution. I had no intention of offending this committee, or any member of it, or the Assembly. I leave this matter for you to discuss, under the circumstances.

Mr. Speaker—You have heard the statement of Mr. Coffey. What is your pleasure?

Mr. Schlesinger moved that Mr. Coffey be discharged.

Pending consideration, Mr. Johnson moved that further proceedings be postponed until two o’clock P.M.

So ordered.

RECESS.

At twelve o’clock and thirty minutes P.M., the Assembly took a recess until two o’clock P.M.

REASSEMBLED.

At two o’clock P.M., the Assembly reconvened.

Speaker Pendleton in the chair.

Quorum present.

The Speaker announced the business before the Assembly—Mr. Schlesinger’s motion to discharge Joseph F. Coffey.

Mr. Johnson moved the following as a substitute, which was accepted by Mr. Schlesinger:

REPORT AND RESOLUTION ADOPTED.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON COMMISSIONS AND PUBLIC EXPENDITURES.

Mr. Bliss, chairman of the Committee on Commissions and Public Expenditures, submitted the following report:

ASSEMBLY CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, FEBRUARY 15, 1901.

MR. SPEAKER: Your Committee on Commissions and Public Expenditures, which was directed under the resolution of Assemblyman Johnson, adopted by the Assembly on January 22, 1901, to fully and thoroughly investigate the transactions of the California Commission to the Paris Exposition, including all expenditures made by them, and the matters of awards of medals to California exhibitors, and report to the Assembly the testimony taken, and their conclusions and recommendations in regard thereto, begs leave to report as follows:

That, pursuant to said resolution, said committee commenced said investigation on the 29th day of January, 1901, and concluded the same on the 6th day of February, 1901.

The testimony of these witnesses may be found in the full stenographic report of 772 pages which accompanies this report.

That, from the testimony taken and from the documentary evidence introduced, your committee finds:

I. Creation and Organization of Commission

That the Commission to the Paris Exposition was created by an Act of the Legislature of the State of California, approved March 20, 1899, which appropriated $130,000 for the purpose of collecting, preparing, forwarding, installing, and maintaining an exhibit of the products of the State of California, and otherwise properly representing California at the Paris Exposition, which was held at Paris, France, in the year 1899.

This Act provided for the appointment by the Governer of the State of three commissioners experienced in exposition work, who were to have exclusive charge and control of the money appropriated, and to install the exhibit.

The commissioners appointed were E. W. Runyon of Red Bluff, W. W. Foote of Oakland, and Ben C. Truman of Los Angeles.

It appears from the testimony that of the commissioners appointed, Commissioner Truman had been, previously to his appointment, officially connected with several other expositions, and that Commissioners Foote and Runyon had visited and observed several other previous expositions, but had no other previous exposition experience.

The Commission organized May 29, 1899, and elected E. W. Runyon as president and Varney W. Gaskill as secretary of the Commission.

Headquarters were opened at the Occidental Hotel at San Francisco, and were kept open until about December 1, 1899.

Between May 29 and December 1, 1899, the State was traversed for exhibits which were collected and sent to Paris.

The exhibits which were put in competition for awards were sent to Washington or New York, turned over to the United States Government, which transported and installed them on the exposition grounds.

The commissioners, under the Act, were to each receive $5,000 for their services, and, in addition thereto, "their actual traveling expenses."

The salary of the secretary was fixed by the Commission at $250 per month, and afterwards increased in Paris to $300 per month, and he was also allowed $150 per month for his living expenses.

II. Parisian Headquarters.

Headquarters of the California Commission were opened in Paris at No. 8 Place de l'Opéra, in the most frequented and fashionable part of Paris. These headquarters were about two miles from the exposition grounds, and the rental paid for the same during the entire time of the exposition, which was about six months, was over $8,000.

The rooms were liberally decorated, finely furnished, and contained many exhibits.

Visitors were entertained in lavish style. An abundance of California wines and other liquors were kept on hand for entertaining purposes. The register of visitors was not produced, but from the estimates of witnesses about thirty persons visited the headquarters daily.

The preponderance of evidence is that these elegant headquarters were quiet and properly conducted, and the published reports of drunkenness, fighting, and improper conduct therein have been proved to be grossly exaggerated.
It is doubtful, under the provisions of the Act, whether or not the opening of these headquarters was warranted or proper, as the Act required the exhibit at the Paris Exposition, which was held about two miles from the headquarters.

III.—The Exhibit.

The exhibit at the exposition grounds was not a collective or cumulative exhibit of the resources of California, such as was had at the World's Fair at Chicago and at Hamburg, but was a disc. In other words, that is to say, the exhibit—that is to say, the different sections of the State were scattered and merged with the various classified exhibits of the world. To illustrate: In the Agricultural Building of the World, the United States had a certain amount of space, and California had a certain part of this space for its agricultural display.

The reason given for not having a collective California exhibit was that under the rules of the French Government, a State which had a collective exhibit could not enter into competition for awards.

From the evidence, we conclude that a collective exhibit would have been more beneficial to the State, and that, from the money expended, a much more effective exhibit could have been made and the commercial interests of the State thus promoted. Only the mineral exhibit had a regular attendant on hand to explain and advertise the same to the visitors.

IV.—Expenditures.

It appears that the entire sum of $130,000 was drawn out of the State Treasury by the Commission and that about $112,000 was expended. The commissioners testified that about $15,000 will be returned to the State Treasury after all expenses have been paid. Vouchers for the disbursement of the entire amount of $112,000 have been presented to the comptroller for his inspection, which will be hereafter paid and filed with the State Controller by the commissioners, as the Act provides. An itemized list of these vouchers is contained in the stenographic report accompanying this report.

Many of these vouchers are indefinite, and do not explicitly state what the expenditures were for, being grouped under a simple word such as "incidental," "merchandise," "office expenses," etc. We think such vouchers should be made definite and more clear before they are accepted by the State Controller.

Other vouchers are of a general nature, reciting lump sums for "salary" and "traveling expenses" it appears from the minutes that in addition to their salaries of $5,000 each, the commissioners voted themselves additional amounts, to wit: Messrs. Truman and Footh an additional $5,000 each, and Commissioner Penny an additional $4,000, which were reported under general vouchers as "traveling expenses from San Francisco to Paris and return," without specifically stating the different items of expenditure. A portion of this $14,000 was expended for the living expenses of the commissioners while in Paris. There is nothing in the Act allowing them any amount besides their salaries and actual traveling expenses, but the Attorney-General of this State, at the request of the committee, has given the committee his written opinion that the commissioners were entitled to their living expenses while in Paris, in the discharge of their duties as such commissioners, under an interpretation of the words "actual traveling expenses."

We think that those vouchers, and others of a like nature, should show what the various items of expenditure were and for what the money was expended, before being accepted by the State Controller. It appears from the evidence that, of the $130,000 appropriated, the following expenditures were made:

- Collecting and installing exhibits: $34,246.34
- Album: 2,920.60
- Commercial representative: 4,769.28
- California Commissioners (salaries and traveling expenses): 32,021.00
- U.S. Commissioners: 6,470.87
- Entertainment: 2,711.69
- Office expenses, San Francisco and Paris: 23,576.66
- Maps of California: 6,834.10
- Photographic: 935.25
- Relief Map: 409.70
- Social Economy: 416.70

V.—Awards and Medals.

Regarding the awards and medals for California exhibitors your committee could not get full and satisfactory testimony.

The commissioners' preliminary report to the Governor declares that California won 568 awards out of 577 exhibits made, or 88 per cent. But on examination it appears that the commissioners could not give a full and authoritative list of awards until the French official list arrived. From the testimony and submitted preliminary list, it appears that about 140 California exhibitors won awards by reason of the superiority of their exhibits in open competition with the products of the whole world by an international jury which gave the awards upon the merits of these goods. These 140 California exhibitors are each and all entitled to official diplomas and medals from the Government of France. That 140 exhibitors could enter into competition with the whole world at an exposition 6,000 miles away and carry off such laurels is high praise.
indeed for the marvelous resources and splendid products of this favored State upon the Pacific Coast.

Besides these 140 exhibitors, to whom awards were made as above stated, about 428 exhibitors were said to be entitled to certificates of awards because they participated in State collective exhibits which won grand prizes. These certificates, however, were not issued upon the individual merits of the exhibits, but by reason of the fact that they formed part of a collective exhibit which was awarded a grand prize.

VI—Sale of Medals.

On October 5, 1900, Secretary Varney W. Gaskill sent to the California exhibitors who were awarded medals letters stating that he would get such exhibitors gold medals for $25 each, silver medals for $20 each, or bronze medals for $15 each. The letters fully justified exhibitors who sent money in believing that they would receive the official medals, and that if the exhibitors did not send the money quickly they would have to wait a long time for the medals, as the letters stated that “$2,000 have to be struck off at 300 per day.” In these letters Gaskill requested the exhibitors to make exchange payable to himself.

According to the testimony, the commissioners left this matter of procuring medals in the hands of Secretary Gaskill, to whom about forty-eight exhibitors sent drafts, in accordance with the letters amounting to about $1,400. Gaskill claims to have indorsed these drafts over to L. A. Emlay, Superintendent of California Exhibits, and Emlay in turn claims to have cashed the drafts and gone to one M. Lathoud Ame and bought of him medals at the prices quoted in the letters. These medals he has brought home and distributed to those who sent Gaskill the money. None of these medals (the cost of which is uncertain) have the inscription of the successful exhibitors upon them, as is usual at all expositions.

These medals were not made by the French Government, but by the said M. Lathoud Ame, who claims to have been granted the privilege of making them by the engraver. There is probably not now a real official medal in the possession of any California exhibitor; but an exhibit at the Paris Exposition. Such exhibitors, however, to whom awards were made can yet get the official medal from the French authorities by writing Alfred Picard, Paris, France, through J. H. Gore, U. S. Juror-in-Chief, Columbia University, Washington, D. C., and accompanying such request with the fee which the French Government is charging for such medals. This is $145 for the best gold medal, but the bronze medals are furnished gratuitously by the exposition administration. U. S. Juror-in-Chief J. H. Gore writes that the French Mint is now ready to strike off such medals when the requests are received. Fortunately, the juggling in medals in nowise impairs the value of the prizes or awards won at the exposition.

The testimony indicates that the grossest fraud has been committed upon the exhibitors, and it is incumbent upon the Commission to see that each exhibitor so defrauded by these non-official medals should be gotten regular official medals from the French authorities, or the money sent to Gaskill by exhibitors returned, as the individual exhibitors may elect. The commissioners are morally and by their bonds legally bound to make good to exhibitors in full for the frauds of employees.

We think that this entire medal transaction is a matter for some judicial tribunal to take cognizance of.

VII—Other Questionable Methods

It also appears from the evidence that Superintendent Emlay, by misrepresentations, secured thirteen contracts to work for exhibitors. He used his position as an employee of the Commission to force these contracts, and his testimony before your committee was as crooked as his transactions. However, these contracts were not consummated, so far as your committee was able to learn, because Commissioner Footh refused to allow Emlay to proceed, when the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce called attention to the proposed "graft."

The turning over of all the goods at the close of the exposition by Secretary Gaskill to L. A. Emlay, and his report that he sold them all for $400, also has a suspicious look. The friction between Commissioners Footh and Truman cropped out all along the investigation. Although Truman had sent back many letters regarding the conduct of the Commission in Paris, the committee was not able to get his testimony, for the reason that he has not returned to America. He not being present to answer reflections that were made as to his conduct, your committee makes no report in regard thereto except to which attention to a letter sent by Commissioner Truman to U. S. Judge Erskine M. Ross of Los Angeles, in which said Truman offers to use about $400 of the State's money to pay the salary of Mr Robert Ross as an attaché of the Commission for four months, during which he performed no services by reason of, as he claims, an unjustifiable discharge. The testimony of Mr. Robert Ross shows that Commissioner Truman made the offer, but it was refused.

Conclusion

The Act gave the Commissioners unlimited powers and full control of the money for the purposes for which it was appropriated, and neither the Board of Examiners nor the Governor had anything to do with the money. It is hoped that the loose wording of the Act will be a standing warning to all future Legislatures to exercise more care and caution in the preparation of Acts appropriating public money.
In conclusion, your committee reminds this body of lawmakers that, although the horse is gone, yet the barn door should be locked by carefully worded laws in future appropriations.

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, STATE OF CALIFORNIA, 1
SACRAMENTO, FEBRUARY 15, 1901.

To the Assembly of the State of California

I herewith return to your honorable body without my approval, with my objections thereto, Assembly Bill No. 14, entitled "An Act to prevent tampering with animals, and to prevent the giving or administering of poison or drugs to horses, cattle, and other livestock, dogs, and animals except for medicinal purposes, making the same a felony, and providing for the punishment thereof."

Notwithstanding the laudable effort of the framers of this measure to punish the drugging of animals, and of fraudulently tampering with animals entered in races and competitions for prizes, the bill uses such extensive language as to make criminal the most innocent and even necessary acts.

Section 1 of the bill declares that "it shall be unlawful for any person or persons, except for medicinal purposes, to administer any poison, drug, medicine or any other thing of any kind, character, or description," to any "horse, stud, mule," etc., "or other livestock entered, or about to be entered, in any race upon any race-course in the State of California," etc., "or entered or about to be entered at or with any agricultural park * * * or other exhibition," etc.

In view of this ambiguous language, it may be doubtful what the owner or possessor of an animal would be permitted to administer, and whether healthy and necessary food and drink might not be included in the prohibition, unless the rule of legal interpretation be invoked that the presumption is against absurd consequences of legislation, and that these very general words must be restricted by the antecedent particular words. At all events the character of the offenses desired to be prevented are not clearly enough defined.

Section 2 of the bill declares that "it shall be unlawful for any person or persons to cause to be taken by or placed upon or in the body of any horse, stud, mule, ass, mare, horned cattle," etc., "entered, or about to be entered, in any race upon any race-course," etc., "or with any agricultural park," etc., "any sponge, wood, or foreign substance of any kind, character, or description, with intent to impede or affect the speed, endurance, sense, health, physical condition, or other character or quality of such horse," etc.

It is again doubtful what offenses are designed to be prohibited by the general language of Section 2 inasmuch as foreign substances enter into the manufacture of harness, halters, saddles, sulkies, and wagons which will impede or affect the speed, endurance, and other qualities of horses, and even by invoking the legal rule against the intention in legislation of absurd consequences, it is still doubtful what offenses are designed to be punished.

Section 3 declares that a violation of any of the provisions of the bill shall be punishable in the "State's penitentary [the word "prison" no doubt being intended] for a period of not less than one year nor more than five years."

While some of the offenses are of such a serious character as to demand penal legislation, yet I do not think that the general class of felonies should be thus unnecessarily enlarged, for even now under some of our extremely severe penal laws our State prisons are receiving many persons whose crimes should only be designated as misdemeanors. It would seem to me in the present case that the offenses intended to be prohibited should be classed as misdemeanors, and not felonies.

If a proper bill be passed and presented to me defining clearly the offenses, and reducing their grade to misdemeanors, it will not meet with my disapproval.

HENRY T. GAGE,
Governor of the State of California.

Also:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, STATE OF CALIFORNIA, 1
SACRAMENTO, FEBRUARY 15, 1901.

To the Assembly of the State of California:

I herewith return to your honorable body without my approval, with my objections thereto, Assembly Bill No. 81, entitled "An Act authorizing the Attorney-General to appoint a clerk in addition to the number now allowed by law, and providing for the payment of his salary for the remainder of the fifty-second fiscal year."

Without expressing any opinion upon the advisability of increasing the present number of clerks in the office of the Attorney-General, I respectfully call your attention to the fact that the proposed Act is in the form of a general law, but it relates to and should form part of Section 475 of the Political Code of the State, which section provides for the number of clerks in the office of the Attorney-General; and therefore, according to Sections 249 and 250 of said Political Code, a duty devolved upon the Judiciary Committee of your honorable body of codifying such subject, and reporting a substitute bill therefor.

The importance of having uniformity in the laws appears to me to require in this case compliance with said Sections 249 and 250 of the Political Code.

HENRY T. GAGE,
Governor of the State of California.

Also:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, STATE OF CALIFORNIA; SACRAMENTO, February 15, 1901.

To the Assembly of the State of California:

I have the honor to inform your honorable body that I have approved Assembly Bill No. 56, entitled “An Act making an appropriation to pay the deficiency in the appropriation for postage, expressage, and contingent expenses of the Attorney-General for the fiftieth fiscal year.”

HENRY T. GAGE,
Governor of the State of California.

Mr. Johnson moved that Governor’s messages be made special order for Monday, February 18, 1901.

So ordered.

ON REVISION AND REFORM OF LAWS.

ASSEMBLY CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, February 15, 1901.

MR. SPEAKER: Your Committee on Revision and Reform of Laws, to which was referred Assembly Bill No. 120—An Act to revise the Penal Code of the State of California by amending certain sections, repealing others, and adding certain new sections—have had the same under consideration, and report the same back, and respectfully recommend that the bill accompanying this report be introduced as a substitute, and that such substitute do pass.

Your committee further reports that said Assembly Bill No. 120 embodies the suggestions made by the Commission for the Revision and Reform of the Law, as to the revision of the Penal Code, and embodied in their report heretofore filed with the Secretary of State.

That in considering said bill, your committee met in joint sessions with a like committee of the Senate.

That said substitute bill accompanying this report is substantially the same as Assembly Bill No. 120, and is introduced in the form of a substitute, for the reason that several of the provisions of the bill heretofore introduced were not adopted, and it was necessary to renumber the sections of the bill, which could not well be done in separate amendments.

Respectfully submitted.

ON STATE PRISONS AND REFORMATORY INSTITUTIONS.

ASSEMBLY CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, February 18, 1901.

Mr. Speaker: Your Committee on State Prisons and Reformatory Institutions, to whom was granted leave of absence for the purpose of visiting the various penal and reformatory institutions of the State, have visited said places, and beg leave to submit the following report:

Your committee found the prison at San Quentin in excellent condition. Order, harmony, discipline, and cleanliness were everywhere apparent. The jute-mills and wash shops presented a picture of energy and thrift. The laundry, kitchen, and bakeries are clean, and the food wholesome and abundant.

We examined, as far as the limited time at our disposal would permit, the books and papers relating to the recent bag frauds, and questioned the officers to some extent regarding the same, and it is the unanimous opinion of all the members of your committee that the Warden and officers under him were not in the slightest degree implicated in said fraudulent transactions, and that the prison authorities are capable, and will take necessary and proper steps to protect the State from future imposition without legislative intervention. The same good words regarding the conditions of the prison, industries, discipline, and cleanliness at San Quentin will also apply in equal good grace to Folsom prison, and your committee are of the opinion that both institutions are in good hands.

The Reformatory School at Whittier was found in splendid shape, so far as management is concerned, and too much cannot be said of the tender hearts and loving hands caring for the wayward boys and girls at that place. A good feeling, akin to love, appeared to exist among the officers, teachers, and children, resembling one great, harmonious family. We feel it our duty, however, to call your attention to the fact that, although those children do their own cooking, make their own clothing, including shoes, each child is costing the State $27 per month, a figure entirely too high, in the opinion of your committee.

We therefore recommend a reduction of the usual appropriation from $200,000 to $175,000 and believe the latter sum abundant for all current expenses.

Your committee very much regret to note that we are unable to apply the same words regarding the management of the Whittier School to that of the Preston School.
of Industry, but such is the case. A cloud of sorrow was apparent on the faces of the children at the latter place. The buildings were in good condition, and everything was clean; food and clothing are abundant, but the children are not happy, and your committee is of the opinion that severe rules, rough treatment at the hands of the guards, and the flogging is the cause.

We therefore recommend the passage of a law prohibiting flogging of any description in all reformatory institutions in this State.

The same condition as to cost that prevails at Whittier we discovered at the Preston School of Industry, except that the cost is higher at the latter place, and notwithstanding the fact that there are only 102 inmates and 32 employees, the management declare they cannot spare three night watchmen for the dormitories, and ask an additional appropriation for current expenses.

We recommend, however, that the usual appropriation of $90,000 be reduced to $80,000 instead, claiming said last-named sum sufficient.

Respectfully submitted.

PETITION.

Mr. Feliz presented the following petition, and asked that it be printed in the Journal:

PROTEST FROM MONTEREY.

To the Hon. F. P. Feliz, Assemblyman representing Assembly District No. 61

Dear Sir: A bill was presented in the Legislature at Sacramento by Senator Nelson of San Francisco, on or about January 29, 1901, in relation to the collection of a license tax on the business of selling liquors. The provisions of this bill are such (especially Sections 3 and 4) that if passed by the Legislature each city and county in the State will be handed over into the power of one man in each of these communities, viz.: the tax collector. To pass such a measure, irrespective of the sentiments of these several communities on the question of license or no license, would be, we consider, both un-American and unjust. We, your constituents, therefore request that you vote against this bill, to the end that it may not become a law.

Read, and ordered printed in the Journal.

Assembly Constitutional Amendment No. 9.

To propose to the people of the State of California amending the Constitution of the State of California by amending Sections 1, 2, 3, 4, 10, 12, 14, 16, 17, 18, 21, 23, and 24 of Article VI thereof, relating to the judiciary, and establishing Courts of Appeal.

Whereas, The State has grown in population and wealth since the creation of the present Supreme Court, and the appeals in suits at law cannot any longer be decided by that court as rapidly as they arise, and such fact is causing a delay of justice, and in many cases a denial of justice, and consequent injury to public and private interests; Now, therefore, The Legislature of the State of California, at its regular session commencing on the seventh day of January, nineteen hundred and one, two thirds of all the members elected to each of the houses of said Legislature voting in favor thereof, hereby proposes that sections one, two, three, four, ten, twelve, fourteen, sixteen, seventeen, eighteen, twenty-one, twenty-three, and twenty-four of article six of the Constitution of said State be amended so as to read as follows:

ARTICLE VI.

The judicial power of the State shall be vested in the Senate, sitting as a court of impeachment, in a Supreme Court, District Courts of Appeal, Superior Courts, Justices of the Peace, and such inferior courts as the Legislature may establish in any incorporated city or town, or city and county.

Sec. 2. The Supreme Court shall consist of a Chief Justice and Associate Justices; provided, that the Chief Justice and Associate Justices in office at the time of the adoption of this amendment shall continue in office and constitute the court until the expiration of their respective terms of office; and provided further, that at the expiration of the term of office of the two Justices whose terms expire first after the first Monday after the first day of January, 1903, their offices shall be abolished. The presence of a majority of the Justices shall be necessary for the trans-action of business (except such as may be done at chambers), and the concurrence of a majority of the Justices shall be necessary to pronounce a judgment. The Supreme Court shall hold all of its sessions in San Francisco. There shall be three regular sessions each year, beginning on the second Monday in January, May, and September. Special sessions may be held at any time on the order of the Chief Justice or of three Associate Justices. The Chief Justice and the Justices of the Supreme Court shall be elected by the qualified electors of the State at large at the general State elections at the times and places at which State officers are elected, and the term of office shall be twelve years from and after the first Monday after the first day of January next succeeding their election.

The Supreme Court shall have appellate jurisdiction direct from the Superior Courts in every action, proceeding, or special proceeding where it is necessarily drawn in question the validity of a statute, or of an authority exercised under the United States; or where is necessarily drawn in question the validity of the Constitution or any statute of or authority exercised under this State on the ground of being repugnant to the constitution or laws of the United States; or where is necessarily drawn in question the validity of any statute or authority exercised under this State on the ground of being repugnant to the Constitution of this State; or where the legality of any tax, impost, or assessment; in all proceedings in exercise of the right of eminent domain; in actions or proceedings for usurpation or intrusion into, or unlawful holding of, a public franchise; also in all criminal actions (on questions of law alone) in which the judgment shall be death or imprisonment for life; and also in all cases, originating in the Superior Court, in which the fact of the adoption by a city, or of a city and county, of a charter for its own government, or of any amendment thereto, or the validity of the same, or any part thereof, or of any authority exercised thereunder, is necessarily drawn in question. And in all cases in which the Supreme Court shall acquire jurisdiction, it shall have further jurisdiction to decide all questions properly presented on the record, whether or not they be such as if by themselves would entitle the court to which the appeal was decided to take jurisdiction of the cause. Where the record on any appeal, either to the District or Supreme Court, discloses that a different judgment or order should have been given or made in the lower court, and what the same should have been, the appellate court in determining such appeal shall, in reversing or modifying such judgment or order appealed from whenever practicable or possible, direct the entry by the lower court of the proper judgment or order without ordering a retrial in the lower court; or, if a retrial shall be necessary as to some one or more points, then the appellate court shall indicate the specific errors or matters as to which such retrial shall be had, and the case shall be reheard in the lower court, upon the record of the former trial, except so far as the same may be modified or changed by the introducing of further or additional evidence otherwise than by the introduction of evidence upon the indication or directions of the appellate court, or as may be otherwise provided by law.

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, STATE OF CALIFORNIA,

To the Assembly of the State of California:

I have the honor to inform your honorable body that I have approved Assembly Bill No. 91, entitled "An Act to amend Section 870 of an Act entitled 'An Act to provide for the organization, incorporation, and government of municipal corporations,' approved March 13, 1883"; and Assembly Bill No. 590, entitled "An Act to prevent the introduction, and provide for the investigation and suppression of contagious or infectious diseases, and appropriating money to be used for such purposes"; and Assembly Bill No. 82, entitled "An Act to amend an Act entitled 'An Act to establish and support a Bureau of Labor Statistics,' approved March 3, 1883, by adding a new section thereto, to be numbered Section 12."

HENRY T. GAGE,
Governor of the State of California.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, STATE OF CALIFORNIA,
SACRAMENTO, February 20, 1901.

To the Assembly of the State of California:

I herewith return to your honorable body without my approval, with my objections thereto, Assembly Bill No. 137, entitled "An Act appropriating the sum of $2,345.75 to pay the claim of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company against the State of California for loss of merchandise by the collapse of a portion of Pier 9 in the City and County of San Francisco, California."

I disapprove of this bill first, for the reason that the Controller is authorized to draw his warrant directly for the sum appropriated in favor of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company upon the San Francisco Harbor Improvement Fund, in violation of the provisions of the Political Code, which provides that the Treasurer shall be the depository of the funds of the State. In my opinion, the Pacific Coast Steamship Company should be compelled to have recourse to the courts for the establishment of its claim, and should not receive legislative aid upon an ex parte hearing.

It would appear to me that the bill is likewise special, because opposed to the provisions of Section 25 of Article IV of the Constitution, which prohibits the Legislature from granting to any corporation, association, or individual any special or exclusive right, privilege, or immunity.

By the provisions of Section 2535 of the Political Code, the State Treasurer can only pay out money from the San Francisco Harbor Improvement Fund as provided for in Article IX, Chapter I, Title VI of the Political Code, and by the provisions of Section 2529 of said Article IX no warrant shall be drawn by the Controller upon the Treasurer of the State unless the order bears all the signatures of the Harbor Commissioners and of the secretary of the Board. To legislate in this particular instance, granting exemption from the general law, would be in my opinion a grant of a special privilege and immunity. The claim of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company should be at least presented to the Board of Harbor Commissioners and to the State Board of Examiners before permitting an appropriation to be made either from the State Harbor Improvement Fund or from the General Fund.

HENRY T. GAGE,
Governor of the State of California.
