Special Standing Committees.

11. In addition to the regular standing committees of the Assembly, there shall be special standing committees, as follows

1. A Committee on Revision and Printing, to consist of five members, as provided in the Joint Rules of the Senate and Assembly.
2. A Committee on Introduction of Bills after the Constitutional Recess, to consist of three members.

Schedules for Committee Meetings.

12. The Speaker shall be empowered to propose to the Assembly such schedules for regular meetings of the standing committees as shall permit a full attendance of their members without conflict of committee engagements

Quorum of Standing Committees.

13. Each standing committee shall determine its own quorum and the number of affirmative votes necessary to report a bill out of committee; provided, that not less than one-half the number of members constituting such committee shall in any case constitute such quorum, nor shall less than the affirmative votes of a majority of such committee be sufficient to report a bill out of committee.

COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE.

Appropriations of Money to Be Considered in Committee of the Whole.

14. All bills making appropriations of money may be considered in a Committee of the Whole House while on second reading by demand of five or more members.

Proceedings of Committee of the Whole House.

15 In forming a Committee of the Whole House, the Speaker, as chairman or a chairman to be named by the Speaker, shall preside. Bills committed to a Committee of the Whole House shall, in Committee of the Whole, be read by sections. All amendments shall be noted and reported to the Assembly by the chairman. After being reported to the Assembly, the bill shall again be subject to amendment before a vote on the report is taken.

Rules in Committee of the Whole.

16. The rules of the Assembly shall be observed in Committee of the Whole, as far as may be applicable, except limiting the time of speaking, and except that the ayes and noes need not be taken.

Motion to Rise Decided Without Debate.

17. A motion that the committee rise shall always be in order, and shall be decided without debate.

SPECIAL DUTIES OF CERTAIN COMMITTEES

Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment.

18 It shall be the duty of the Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment to compare all bills, constitutional amendments, and concurrent and joint resolutions, ordered or considered engrossed by this House with the engrossed copies thereof; and, before they pass out of the possession of this House, see that the engrossed bill is a true copy of the original, with such amendments as may have been made thereto, and said committee shall see that all engrossed bills are reported back in the order in which they were ordered engrossed.

Engrossing and Enrolling Bills

19. The Engrossing and Enrolling Clerk shall engross and enroll the bills, constitutional amendments, and joint and concurrent resolutions which shall come to his hands for such purposes, in compliance with the provisions of section 539 of the Political Code, and in the order of time in which the same shall be acted upon by the House. All Assembly bills, constitutional amendments and joint and concurrent resolutions shall be engrossed before final action is taken on them in the Assembly, and the report of such engrossment must be made to the Assembly on a day previous to the day on which such final action is taken.

Reports of Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment.

20. It shall be in order for the Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment to report at any time.

Committee on Ways and Means.

21. It shall be the duty of the Committee on Ways and Means to take into consideration all reports of the State officers and State boards or State commissions, and all propositions relative to the revenue of the State, as may be referred to them by the Assembly; to inquire into the state of the revenue and expenditures of the State, and report from time to time their opinion thereon. All bills for the appropriation of money, which were not at first referred to the Committee on Ways and Means, shall be reported to the House by the committees having them under consideration, and shall thereupon, without motion, be referred to the Committee on Ways and Means; and said committee shall consider and report thereon the amount of appropriation required. The Committee on Ways and Means shall, from time to time, at least once in two weeks, report to the House the exact condition of legislation involving appropriations, and the aggregate amount of all the proposed appropriations pending.

Committee's Report on Sine Die Adjournment.

22. Concurrent resolutions for adjournment sine die shall in all cases, whether originating in the House or coming from the Senate, be referred to the Committee on Ways and Means. That committee shall report upon any such concurrent resolution not later than the next legislative day, and with regard to the status of the general appropriation bill and tax levy.

Committee on Contested Elections.

23. It shall be the duty of the Committee on Contested Elections to examine and report upon the certificates of election or other credentials of such members returned to serve in this House, as may have their seats contested, and to take into their consideration all such petitions and other matters touching elections and returns as shall or may be presented or come into question, and be referred to them by the House, or the Speaker thereof.

Committee on Attaches.

24. The Committee on Attaches shall assign the committee clerks and the official stenographers of the House to the various committees and, on recommendation of the Chief Clerk, shall have the authority to reassign any clerk or attache under him to special duties or other committees when the necessity arises.

The Committee on Attaches, in cooperation with the Chief Clerk and Sergeant-at-Arms, shall exercise general supervision over and shall systematize the work of all attaches.

The Committee on Attaches shall see to it that attaches shall not receive their per diem until they have been sworn in, and that the per diem of attaches shall be forfeited for each day on which they are absent from their duties without excuse from the authority delegated by the committee.

All assignments of committee clerks and stenographers made by the Committee on Attaches under this rule shall be reported to the House and entered in the Journal.

DUTIES OF ASSEMBLY OFFICERS AND ATTACHES

Duties of Chief Clerk.

25. The Chief Clerk shall have charge and supervision of all the clerical business of the Assembly. He shall perform the duties imposed on him by law and the rules of the Assembly. Subject to the provisions of Rule 67, he and his assistants shall read from the desk only such matter as the Speaker shall direct. He shall have the supervision of all the clerks and assistants at the desk, of all bill clerks, bill filers, stenographers, and of all committee attaches, and all pages, and shall be responsible for their performance of and regular attendance upon their duties and shall have power to suspend any such clerk or attache under him for dereliction of duty, and shall report to the Committee on Attaches such suspension and the cause thereof.

Said suspended clerk or attache shall not receive any pay during the time of such suspension. The Committee on Attaches shall have the power to relieve the attache or clerk of his suspension, and shall have the power, subject to the approval of the House, to remove any clerk or attache for incompetency or for wilful neglect of duty. The Chief Clerk shall not permit any records or papers to be taken from the desk, or out of his custody, by any person except a chairman of a committee; but he shall deliver any bill or paper to be printed to the Superintendent of State Printing, and all bills ordered engrossed or enrolled to the Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment, and take receipts therefor.

Duties of the Sergeant-at-Arms.

26. The Sergeant-at-Arms shall attend the House during its sittings, execute the commands of the Speaker of the House, and serve all processes issued by authority thereof directed to him by the Speaker. He shall be sworn to keep the secrets of the House. He shall also have supervision over the Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms and gatekeepers, and shall be responsible for their performance of and regular attendance upon their duties, and shall have power to suspend any such attache under him for dereliction of duty, and shall report to the Committee on Attaches such suspension and the causes thereof. Said suspended attache shall not receive any pay during the time of such suspension. The Committee on Attaches shall have power to relieve the attache of his suspension and shall have the power subject to the approval of the House, to remove any attache for incompetency or for wilful neglect of duty. The Sergeant-at-Arms shall place copies of all bills, joint and concurrent resolutions, constitutional amendments, and journals and histories, when printed, on the desks of members at least one hour previous to the opening of the session.

Expenses of Sergeant-at-Arms.

27. The Sergeant-at-Arms shall receive his actual traveling expenses for himself or a special messenger when executing any process issued by the House or by any officer or committee thereof.

Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms to Be Doorkeeper.

28. The Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms who is designated to be the doorkeeper shall be sworn to keep the secrets of the House.

Compensation of Attaches.

29. No attache of the Assembly shall demand or receive from any person any compensation other than that provided by law for services performed as such attache.

INTRODUCTION OF BILLS.

Introduction and Reading of Bills.

30. Any member desiring to introduce a bill shall rise in place and address the Speaker, and upon being recognized shall present the same. It shall then be numbered and read the first time at the clerk's desk and referred to a standing committee, and be printed, and a copy placed upon the desk of each member. Every bill shall be read at length on three several days previous to its passage, unless in case of urgency two-thirds of the House shall, by vote of ayes and noes, dispense with this provision. The Speaker shall give notice at each reading, whether it is the first, second or third reading. All bills to appropriate money for contingent purposes shall be presented by the Committee on Ways and Means. The chairman or clerk of each committee of the Assembly shall notify the author of any bill or proceeding pending before such committee of the hour and place of hearing or acting upon such bill or proceeding.

Joint and Concurrent Resolutions and Constitutional Amendments.

31. Joint and concurrent resolutions shall be treated the same as bills: provided, that they shall be read but once, and that after they have been reported by a committee, and provided, further, that the ayes and noes shall not be called upon the adoption of concurrent resolutions, except those presenting charter amendments, unless regularly demanded, or required by statute or the constitution. Proposed amendments to the constitution shall be treated the same as bills, provided, they shall be read but once, and only after they have been reported by a committee. All bills, constitutional amendments, and joint and concurrent resolutions may be amended by a majority of those voting.

Procedure on First Day of Introducing Bills.

32. In each legislative session on the first day when bills are introduced, under the "Order of Business" or "Introduction and Reference of Bills," the roll shall be called from A to Z and then back again from Z to A, and as each member's name is called, he shall have the privilege of introducing one bill, constitutional amendment, joint or concurrent resolution. After these two roll calls, bills constitutional amendments, joint or concurrent resolutions shall be introduced by members on recognition of the Speaker, as provided by the rules of the Assembly, and all bills, constitutional amendments or joint or concurrent resolutions introduced before the standing committees of the Assembly are appointed, shall be referred to committees, references to take effect when the committees shall be appointed.

Introduction of Bills by Committee.

33. Any committee may introduce a bill appertaining to any subject coming within its consideration, whereupon it shall be read the first time and placed upon the proper second-reading file. When such bill is designed to be a substitute for one or more Assembly bills, the bills for which it is such a substitute shall, by a majority vote of the House, be deemed withdrawn, and shall not appear upon the file. Upon the introduction of a bill by a committee, it shall be numbered as a new bill, read, ordered printed, and placed upon the Assembly file for further action.

Introduction of Bills After Constitutional Recess.

34. Immediately upon convening after the constitutional recess the Speaker shall appoint a standing Committee on Introduction of Bills, to consist of three members

All motions for leave to introduce bills after the constitutional recess shall be sent to the desk in writing, under the order of "Introduction of Bills," and at no other time. The motion shall give the title of the bill, and shall be accompanied by the bill. The bill shall thereupon be referred to the Committee on Introduction of Bills

Joint and concurrent resolutions and constitutional amendments shall not be referred to the Committee on Introduction of Bills, and shall not require a vote to authorize their introduction

The committee shall examine bills referred to it with particular reference to the question as to whether there is already any bill in either House of the same character which might be amended to effect the results sought, and generally as to the advisability of introducing the measure.

The committee shall report upon each bill so referred to it on the same legislative day. The report shall be made at the conclusion of the consideration of the Senate Special File.

The committee may, in its discretion, incorporate more than one bill in the resolution to grant leave to introduce, incorporating in the resolution the title of each bill in full, and the roll shall be called upon the adoption of the resolution and no resolution to introduce any such bill shall be adopted without the consent of three-fourths of the members of the Assembly.

If a division of the question is demanded upon the introduction of any particular bill, the division shall be allowed, and the roll called separately upon the bill. The author of any bill shall have not more than ten minutes within which to speak to the question of the introduction of his bill and the Committee on Introduction of Bills may have the same time for reply.

Reference of Bills.

35 At the time of introduction the Speaker shall first indicate to what committee a bill or resolution ought to be referred, and it shall be so referred, unless upon a motion, without debate, the Assembly by a majority vote refer it to some other committee. A motion to re-refer a bill shall be debatable as to the propriety of such re-reference

Order of Reference.

36. When a motion is made to refer any subject, and different committees shall be proposed, the question shall be taken in the following order:

The Committee of the Whole House.
A Standing Committee.
A Select Committee.

Referring With Special Instructions.

Reference of Senate Bills.

38. When a Senate bill has been received by the House with a message announcing that the same has passed the Senate, such bill shall be referred to a standing committee: provided, however, that when a Senate bill is received the provisions of which are stated by a member to be identical with those of an Assembly bill which has already been considered and reported by a committee of the Assembly, such Senate bill shall be referred to the Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment for comparison, which committee shall report on the next legislative day whether or not said bill is identical with the Assembly bill, and if reported identical, shall be read the second time, be substituted for the Assembly bill (the latter being considered withdrawn), shall take the latter's place on the Assembly file, and be considered as having received the same recommendation of the Assembly committee; provided, that the fact that the bills are identical shall be entered in the Journal

Bills to Be Reported Back to Committees.

39. All committees shall act upon bills, constitutional amendments and resolutions referred to them as soon as practicable, and when acted upon each bill shall be reported back to the Assembly forthwith, and the chairman of each committee is charged with the observance of this rule; provided, that the Assembly may at any time, by a majority vote of all its members, recall a bill, constitutional amendment or resolution from any committee.

ORDER OF CONSIDERING BILLS.

Order of Making File.

40 Upon the introduction of bills they shall be read the first time, and referred to committees as provided in Rule 30 When reported back they shall be placed upon the general file, to be kept by the Clerk, as follows All bills when reported to the House by the committees, except such bills as are by the report re-referred to another committee, shall be placed at the foot of the second-reading file, in the order in which the reports are made, and after the second reading they shall be placed at the foot of the third-reading file, in the order of reading, and precedence shall be given in the consideration of bills in the following order: Second-reading file and third-reading file, unless otherwise ordered by unanimous consent or by two-thirds vote of the House. The bills upon third reading shall be considered in the order in which they appear upon the file, unless otherwise ordered by unanimous consent or by vote of majority of the members present, such vote to be taken by roll call; provided, that if a bill is passed on file for any reason, other than the absence of the author by leave of the Assembly, note of the fact shall be made in the General File, and when passed on file a second time the bill shall be ordered to the foot of the file, and notice of the fact of the bill having been passed on file prior to the order placing it at the foot of the file shall be omitted from the General File The Clerk shall post, in a conspicuous place in the chamber, a daily statement of the bills on the General File, setting forth the order in which they were filed, and specifying the alterations arising from the disposal of business each day.

Order Making Special File.

41 The Clerk shall, from time to time, make up a file, to be known as the Special File, on which he shall place bills relating to appropriations for the support of the State government and State institutions, revenue, election laws and constitutional amendments, in the order named, and in the order in which the same may be reported to the Assembly, and he shall place no other bills thereon, nor shall any bill on the General File be substituted for any bill thereon.

Ordering Bills to Third Reading.

42. After being read the second time bills shall be ordered by the Speaker to third reading (or, in the case of Assembly bills, to engrossment and third reading). When any member makes objection to any bill thus being ordered to third reading, the final question for such bill shall be, "Shall the bill be ordered to third reading?"

Bills Considered During Last Seven Days.

43 No Assembly bill shall be passed by the Assembly within seven days of the time set for adjournment sine die of the two houses of the Legislature, unless permission to vote on such bill be granted by a three-fourths vote of the Assembly after being recommended by the Speaker of the Assembly.

QUESTIONS AND MOTIONS.

44. When a question is under debate, or before the House, no motion shall be received but: To adjourn; to lay on the table; for the previous question; to postpone to a day certain; to commit or amend; to postpone indefinitely; which several motions shall have precedence in the order in which they are named, but the first three shall be decided without debate; and no motion to postpone to a day certain, to commit, or to postpone indefinitely, being decided, shall again be allowed on the same day and at the same stage of the proceedings A motion to strike out the enacting clause of a bill shall have preference over a motion to amend, and, if carried, shall be considered equivalent to its rejection. A dilatory motion shall not be considered intervening business within the meaning of parliamentary usage.

Division of Questions.

45. Any member may call for a division of the question, which shall be divided if it comprehend propositions in substance so distinct that, one being taken away, a substantive proposition shall remain for the decision of the House. A motion to strike out being lost, shall preclude neither a motion to add to nor a motion to strike out and insert.

Substitute.

46. A motion to substitute shall be deemed and held to be a motion to amend, and be treated in all respects as such.

Subjects Different from the One Under Consideration.

47. No motion or proposition on a subject different from that under consideration shall be admitted as an amendment.

Question Indefinitely Postponed.

48. When a question is postponed indefinitely, the same shall not again be introduced during the session.

PROCEDURE OF DEBATE

Motions to Be Stated by Speaker, and If Desired Shall Be Reduced to Writing, or May be Withdrawn.

49. No motion shall be debated until the same be seconded and distinctly announced by the Speaker, and it shall be reduced to writing, if desired by the Speaker, or any member, and be read by the Clerk, before the same shall be debated. A motion may be withdrawn, by leave of the House, at any time before amendment or decision.

Order in Speaking to Questions

50. Every member, when he speaks, shall, standing in his place, address "Mr. Speaker," and when he has finished he shall sit down. No member shall speak more than twice during the consideration of any one question, of whatever nature, on the same day and at the same stage of proceedings, without leave being granted, except the author of a bill or resolution, or mover of a question, who shall have the right to close the debate. No member shall be allowed to speak more than fifteen minutes upon any question except by leave of the House, and except further, the author shall be allowed fifteen minutes to open and fifteen minutes to close

Speaker to Decide Who Is Entitled to the Place.

51. When two or more members shall rise at once, the Speaker shall name the member who is first to speak.

Calling Members to Order When Transgressing Rules.

52. If any member, in speaking or otherwise, transgresses the rules of the House, the Speaker shall, or any member may, call to order, in which case the member so called to order shall immediately sit down, unless permitted to explain, and if called to order by a member, such member shall immediately state the point of order. If the point of order be sustained by the Chair, the member shall not be allowed to proceed, but if it be not sustained, then he shall be permitted to go on. Every such decision from the Chair shall be subject to an appeal to the House, but no discussion of a question of order shall be allowed, unless an appeal be taken from the decision of the Chair.

Called to Order for Offensive Words in Debate

53. If any member be called to order for offensive words spoken in debate, the person calling him to order shall report the words excepted to, and they shall be taken down in writing at the Clerk's table; and no member shall be held to answer, or be subject to censure of the House, for language used in debate, if any member has spoken or other business has intervened after the words spoken and before exception to them shall have been taken.

THE PREVIOUS QUESTION.

Previous Question Demanded.

54. The previous question shall be put only when demanded by five members.

Manner of Putting the Previous Question.

55. The previous question shall be in this form, "Shall the main question be now put?" And its effect, when sustained by a majority of the members present, shall be to put an end to all debate and bring the House to a vote on the question or questions before it.

Questions of Order After Previous Question Is Ordered.

56 All incidental questions of order arising after a motion is made for the previous question, and pending such motion or previous question, shall be decided (whether on appeal or otherwise) without debate; provided, that after the previous question shall have been ordered, ten minutes shall be allowed for explanation of the matters covered by the previous question, of which five minutes shall be given to the member moving the previous question, and five minutes to those opposed thereto.

VOTING BY ASSEMBLY.

Calling Ayes and Noes.

57. The ayes and noes shall be taken on the final passage of all bills, and when called for by five members on other questions, and every member within the bar of the House, when his name is called, shall (unless for special reasons he be excused) declare openly and without debate, his vote In taking the ayes and noes, and upon call of the House, the names of the members shall be taken alphabetically, and the Clerk shall enter on the Journal the names of those demanding the ayes and noes.

Members at Clerk's Desk.

58. No member, or other person shall remain by the Clerk's table while the ayes and noes are being called, or while the votes are being counted.

Voting on Question When Interested.

59. No person shall vote on any question in the result of which he is personally interested or involved.

Division and Count of House.

60. Upon a division and count of the House on any question, no person without the bar shall be counted.

Explaining or Changing Vote

61. No member shall be allowed to explain his vote or discuss the question while the ayes and noes are being called, and no member shall be allowed to change his vote after the vote is announced by the Chair.

Election by House.

62. In all cases of election by the House, the vote shall be taken viva voce.

Notice of Reconsideration of Vote

63. On the day succeeding that on which a final vote on any bill, constitutional amendment, or resolution has been taken, said vote may be reconsidered on the motion of any member, provided, a notice of intention to move such reconsideration shall have been given on the day on which such final vote was taken, by a member voting with the successful side, and it shall not be in order for any member to move a reconsideration on the day on which such final vote was taken. Said motion of reconsideration shall have precedence over every other motion, except a motion to adjourn. No notice of reconsideration shall be in order on the day preceding the last day of the session. No motion to reconsider shall be adopted, except upon a roll call, and it shall require forty-one votes to adopt the motion.

MESSAGES, PETITIONS AND PAPERS

Messengers May Be Introduced

64. Messengers may be introduced at any stage of business except while a question is being put, while the ayes and noes are being called, while the ballots are being counted, or while a member is addressing the House.

Messages from the Governor and Senate.

65. Messages from the Governor and from the Senate may be considered at any time by vote of the House or by unanimous consent.

Petitions to Be Presented With a Brief Statement of Contents.

66. Whenever petitions, memorials, or other papers addressed to the House are presented by a member, a brief statement of the contents thereof shall be made verbally by the introducer. They shall not be debated on the day of their being presented, but shall lie on the table, or be referred, as the House shall determine.

Reading of Papers

67. When the reading of a paper is called for, except petitions, and the same is objected to by a member, such reading shall be determined by a vote of the House, without debate, upon brief statement of its substance by the Speaker.

THE ASSEMBLY CHAMBER.

Persons Admitted to the Floor.

68. No persons except Senators, State officers, Governors and ex-Governors of the states, members of Congress, Judges of the Supreme, Appellate and Superior Courts, ex-Senators and ex-Assemblymen, members of the press when accredited by their respective journals, attaches when actually engaged in work for the Assembly or a member thereof, and the wife or child of a member, shall be admitted within the Assembly Chamber, except in the gallery, during the sessions of the Assembly, provided, however, any other guest of any member may be admitted to the floor of the Assembly, but to no other part of the floor than to a seat at the desk of said member, and provided, also, that such admission of said guest shall be only by written permission of said member, countersigned by the Speaker, such permission being good only for the sessions of the day on which it is given, the names of such member and guest to be entered in the Journal when specifically requested by such member. At the convening of the Assembly in the morning, or after recess, all present except those covered by this rule shall retire from the floor of the Assembly. No one except the Sergeant-at-Arms or his deputies shall be allowed to remain in the lobby behind the rail at any time

No Lobbying in the Assembly Chamber.

69. No person engaged in presenting to the Assembly or its committees any business, or claim, or legislation, shall be permitted to engage in such business in the Assembly Chamber, or be permitted on the floor of the Assembly at any time while the Assembly is in session, unless seated beside a member upon his invitation, and any person transgressing this rule shall be removed from the floor of the Assembly and be debarred from the privilege of the floor during the remainder of the entire session The Speaker is charged with the enforcement of this rule. This rule can not be suspended except by a two-thirds vote of the entire Assembly.

Speaker May Order the Galleries and Lobby Cleared.

70. In case of any disturbance or disorderly conduct in the galleries or lobby, or whenever he shall deem it necessary, the Speaker (or Chairman of the Committee of the Whole House) shall have power to order the same to be cleared

Smoking in the Assembly Chamber

71. No smoking shall be allowed within the Assembly Chamber during the session of the House; provided, that during night sessions, this rule may be suspended by a vote of the majority of the members present, without notice or reference to committee.

Use of Assembly Chamber.

72 The Assembly room shall not be used for any public or private business other than legislative, except by consent of a majority of the House

LEGISLATIVE PRINTING.

Form for Printed Amended Bills.

75 All bills amended, either in committee or on the floor of the House, shall be immediately reprinted, the omission of any matter to be indicated by the insertion of heavy parentheses and all proposed additions to be enclosed in heavy brackets.

Printing of Maps.

Filling Blanks.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

Protest of Members.

78 It shall be in order for any member or members to protest against the action of the House, and have such protest entered in the Journal.

Personal Explanation.

79 Any member may rise to explain a matter personal to himself, with leave of the Chair, but shall not discuss a question in such explanation

Right to Address Assembly

80 No one except a member of the Assembly shall be permitted to address the Assembly except in the Committee of the Whole

Call of the House.

81 Upon a motion being carried for a call of the House the Speaker shall immediately order the doors to be closed, and shall direct the Clerk to call the names of the absentees as disclosed by the last previous roll call. Thereupon no one shall be permitted to leave or enter the Assembly Chamber except by written permission of the Speaker, or except such members as are taken into custody as herein provided Those members who are found to be absent and for whom no excuse or sufficient excuses are made, may, by order of those present, be taken into custody, as they appear or may be sent for and then taken into custody by the Sergeant-at-Arms wherever found, or by special messenger to be appointed for that purpose In the absence of a quorum, a majority of the members present may order a roll call of the House and compel the attendance of absentees in the manner above provided No recess can be taken during a call of the House, provided, however, that during a call of the House it may consider and transact any matter or business that the members then present shall unanimously decide to consider, but no call of the House shall be had, during the call of the House, on any matter so taken up or considered while the House is under call When a call of the House is ordered, pending the completion of a roll call, the pending roll call shall become unfinished business, the consideration of which shall be continued until further proceedings under the call of the House are dispensed with, when it will forthwith become the order of business before the Assembly.

Members Absenting Themselves.

82 No member shall absent himself from attendance at a session of the House without the leave of the House, and no member shall obtain leave of absence, or be excused without a vote of two-thirds of the House, or by unanimous consent.

Fees for Witnesses.

83. Witnesses summoned to appear before the House or any of its committees shall be paid as follows: For each day a witness shall attend, the sum of three dollars, for each mile he shall travel in coming to and going from the place of examination, the sum of ten cents. No mileage shall be paid, except where the witness has actually traveled for the purpose of giving testimony.

No Committee Expenditures Permitted.

84 No member of any committee shall be permitted to incur any expense by visiting any part of the State on official business, except that the Chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means shall, during the constitutional recess, be allowed his actual expenses while on such business.

RULES OF PROCEDURE

Parliamentary Rules.

85. The rules of parliamentary practice contained in Robert's Rules of Order shall govern the House in all cases to which they are applicable, and in which they are not inconsistent with the Standing Rules and Orders of the House and the Joint Rules of the Senate and Assembly.

Suspending and Changing Rules

86. No standing rule or order of the House shall be rescinded or changed without a vote of two-thirds of the members of the Assembly, and one day's notice being given of the motion therefor, provided, that the Committee on Rules may at any time, except during a roll call, report a temporary rule providing for the consideration of any bill on the files of the House belonging to either of the following classes:

1. Bills affecting the State government, its revenues, its various departments or commissions or appropriations therefor
2. Bills affecting county and township governments, or roads and highways
3. Bills affecting town, city, city and county governments, or the municipal affairs of the same.
4. Bills amending election or primary election laws
5. Constitutional amendments
6. Bills amending or repealing the codes, or sections thereof

Such temporary rule shall provide when a bill so selected shall be taken up for consideration, and the time when final vote shall be taken thereon and pending amendments thereto, if there be any.

It shall always be in order to call up for consideration such report. The same shall be subject to amendments by the House

On the adoption of such temporary rule by the House by a two-thirds vote thereof, if the bill be on third reading, and by a majority vote of the members elected to the House, if otherwise, such bill shall thereupon be made the special order for the time fixed therein.

A rule or order may be suspended temporarily by a vote of two-thirds of the members present, except Rule 43 and that portion of Rule 30 relating to third reading of bills. A motion or resolution proposing to increase or diminish a standing committee shall not be adopted until the same has been referred to the Committee on Rules

The Committee on Rules may also, at any time, report a temporary rule or regulation When such temporary rule or regulation shall have been adopted by a two-thirds vote of the House it shall have the effect, for the time being, of a standing rule, and if such temporary rule shall be in conflict with a standing rule it shall supersede said standing rule for the time being, and shall be enforced by the Speaker

RESOLUTIONS.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

The Speaker announced the receipt of the following communication from the Surveyor General and ordered that the same be printed in the Journal:

OFFICE OF SURVEYOR GENERAL,
SACRAMENTO, January 5, 1925.

To the Legislature of the State of California

Pursuant to the provisions of chapter 800, Statutes of California, 1917, I beg to report that the registrars of titles under "The Torrens Law" in the sixteen counties of the State in which registrations of land have been made up to August 1, 1924, advised me as follows

Alameda County—

Relative to the total number of registrations or certificates of title issued, will advise that there were no new certificates issued—only transfers during 1924

In 1923 the registrar reported 94 certificates issued, including all transfers, up to August 1, 1923.

Fresno County—

The registrar of Fresno County made no report this year, but in 1923 he reported that two certificates were issued up to August 1, 1923.

Humboldt County—

Imperial County—

Our total number of Torrens certificates up to August 1, 1924, is 244.

Kern County—

We have four registrations Torrens Act and this office has issued 43 certificates to August 1, 1924.

Los Angeles County—

The total number of certificates issued under the Land Registration Act (Torrens) up to August 1, 1924, was 28,853, and the total number of documents filed for record in said department from August 1, 1923, to August 1, 1924, was 19,217.

Orange County—

Nine hundred five parcels of land have been registered under the Land Title Law of California in this county; and 3496 certificates of title issued up to August 1, 1924.

Riverside County—

The total number of certificates issued in this county up to August 1, 1924, are 120, and no new decrees issued since February 6, 1923, and as the number of said certificates was 110, you will see that we have only issued 20 continuation certificates since that date.

San Bernardino County—

The total number of registrations under the Registered Land Title Law, up to August 1, is 475.

San Diego County—

The total number of certificates of title issued up to August 1, 1924, is 2187.

San Francisco County—

During the entire life of the Torrens Act there have been filed in this department but five original decrees. Nine certificates of title have been issued.

Santa Barbara County—

We have 176 certificates of title to date.

Santa Cruz County—

There has been one registration under the Torrens system in our office and we have issued ten certificates of title.

Sonoma County—

Up to August 1, 1924, there had been 219 certificates of title issued, 230 documents filed and no new registrations, leaving the total separate parcels of land registered as 84.

Tulare County—

Total number of certificates issued, 38.

Ventura County—

The registrar of Ventura County made no report this year, but in 1923 he reported that one certificate was issued up to August 1, 1923.

The Torrens Act provides that, upon the original registration of any land, a sum equal to one-tenth of one per cent of the assessed value of the land, including permanent improvements thereon as the same were valued for county taxation the last time said land and permanent improvements or either thereof were assessed for county taxes next preceding the filing of the petition, shall be collected by the Registrar and paid to the State Treasurer to be credited to the "Torrens Title Assurance Fund." The books of the State Treasurer show that on August 1, 1924, the "Torrens Title Assurance Fund" contained State of California Harbor Improvement 4 per cent bonds having a face value of $23,000, which were purchased for the benefit of said fund, for the sum of $22,253.19, and that the amount of cash in said fund on August 1, 1924, was $1,605.56.

Respectfully submitted.

W. S. KINGSBURY,
Surveyor General.

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT.

Mr. Eksward asked for and was granted unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

INTRODUCTION AND REFERENCE OF BILL—(OUT OF ORDER).

The following bill was introduced:

By Mr. Eksward: Assembly Bill No. 1—An act to amend section 266 of the Political Code, relating to the method of paying salaries of the members of the Legislature and making the same an urgency measure.

Bill read first time.

APPOINTMENT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE.

The regular committees not having been appointed, the Speaker appointed Messrs. McPherson, Coombs, Graves, Wright, T. M., and Mrs. Saylor as a special committee to consider Assembly Bill No. 1 and to report to the Assembly tomorrow, January 8, 1925.

Assembly Bill No. 1 referred to special committee.

RECESS.

At eleven o'clock a. m., on motion of Mr Eksward, the Assembly was declared at recess for the purpose of meeting with the Senate in Joint Convention.

Friend Wm. Richardson to inform him that the Joint Convention was now in session and to escort him to the convention

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF ESCORT.

The joint committee of escort of the Senate and Assembly appeared at the bar of the House and announced the presence of His Excellency Friend Wm. Richardson, Governor of the State of California.

PRESENTATION OF GOVERNOR FRIEND WM. RICHARDSON.

Hon. Arthur H Breed, President of the Senate pro tempore, presented Governor Friend Wm Richardson to the Joint Assembly. The Governor then delivered his first biennial message as follows:

FIRST BIENNIAL MESSAGE OF GOVERNOR FRIEND WM. RICHARDSON.

To the Senate and the Assembly of the State of California

Economy has been the watchword in state government during the past two calendar years. Every endeavor has been made to conduct affairs on an economical, efficient and businesslike basis The results show that twelve million dollars has been saved as promised the people, and that from a deficit, when I took office, there is now a surplus of six million dollars. The practice of economy has resulted in increased efficiency in the various state departments. Economy came into the management of the state government in 1923 as an unwelcome guest to the bosses of the old political machine and the spendthrifts who had for years kept piling higher and higher the burden upon the taxpayers Every inch in the progress of the economy campaign has been contested vigorously and viciously by the political bosses, their tax-eating parasites, and spendthrifts generally. At the end of the first fiscal year, June 30, 1924, there was a large balance on hand in the various funds and this deprived the critics of further material for attack Economy has proved successful. All of the various functions of the state have been maintained at a high state of efficiency and still there is a balance unexpended The program of economy has been and will be continued. Your cooperation and support at the coming session is earnestly desired Having demonstrated during the past two years that economy and efficiency can go hand in hand, there can be but little opposition and that will come from selfish interests and political manipulators.

BUSINESS IN GOVERNMENT.

During the past two years I have endeavored to give the people a business and not a political administration Appointments have been made on merit and not because of political pull The present state administration has no political machine or political organization Whenever an official under the former administration was found to be doing efficient work he has been retained. I feel particularly proud of the men from the previous administration whom I have retained and of the new men I have inducted into office. While having no political organization, I have built up a business organization unequalled for efficiency in the history of the state Every department of the state is functioning well The results prove it. I have taken an active interest in the various functions of government I have visualized myself as business manager of the state and not as a political "boss" distributing patronage to incompetent favorites, or a pseudo monarch issuing illegal proclamations on trivial subjects I have attended carefully to state business. I have visited all of the various state institutions and know of their workings. I have visited frequently the state departments in the state offices in Los Angeles and San Francisco and have conferred with the department heads From these inspections my conclusions are that the machinery of the state was never working more efficiently or satisfactorily.

COST OF MISFORTUNES.

The year 1924 was a trying one for this state, but the farmers, fruit men, stock men, resort owners, business men and citizens faced the various problems resolutely. Among the extraordinary situations which arose and which caused the people of the state great loss were: An unusually dry year, an unexpected visitation of the foot and mouth disease, a few forest fires mostly in United States reserves, a slight shortage of water for irrigation, a deficiency of water power for electric energy caused by the dry year, and an epidemic of some kind, unfortunately called a "plague," and last, and more deadly than all these, the flames of yellow journalism which lighted up the world with false, exaggerated and lurid tales. When I speak of yellow journalism I refer to a few metropolitan newspapers. An overwhelming majority of the press of the state is honest and helpful to California. It publishes free of charge thousands of columns of news telling of the charms of California's climate, its grand scenery, its many recreational places, its fertile soil and its various opportunities. Gutter journalism of the yellow type thrives chiefly on lying and exaggeration. The injurious publication in California of this class of journals has held back the full advancement of the state, its tentacles having spread throughout the commonwealth and injured directly or indirectly every industry except that of selling faked news to a deluded public.

The foot and mouth disease has cost the state and nation directly nearly six million dollars. Its effect upon other industries, due to the exaggerated stories of the yellow journals, has cost the people of California many millions more. A few forest fires last summer were fanned by these journals until many of our people were panic stricken and resort and hotel business was paralyzed. This false news was spread to other states and untold damage has been inflicted upon California. The epidemic referred to above has resulted in a few deaths, mainly among the Mexican population, but yellow journals did not neglect another opportunity to injure the state by lurid and sensational fabrication. Even the recent Owens River aqueduct episode has been misrepresented to the detriment of the state. But the citizens of California have met all of these misfortunes bravely and successfully. They now have the issue of yellow journalism to solve and that can be easily solved by subscribers and advertisers demanding truth in the news columns. The publishers of these gutter journals care nothing for caustic criticism, but they have one vital organ, and that is the counting room. Action on this organ will quickly produce reform.

HIGHWAY FINANCING.

How to finance future highway construction is one of the big problems facing your body. The money from highway bond issues has been exhausted and if new work is to be continued more money must be raised. The two cent per gallon rate placed upon gasoline at the last session was for repairing and reconstructing state highways and not for new roads. There is now in the state system 6500 miles of highway of which some three thousand miles are of local character and should never have been placed in the system. These roads, commonly called "pork barrel" roads, are viewed with disapproval by the large centers of population which have to pay most of the money for their construction. Some of these local roads have been placed in the system by legislative action, while some of the most unnecessary are there by vote of the people. How to get these roads out of the state system is a problem for you to consider and it is a vital problem because the great centers will not continue to vote money if it is to be used upon roads not properly a part of the state system. The highway commission has found that the great pressure placed upon it for road work has usually been for work of the "pork barrel" variety.

APPOINTMENT OF JUDGES.

During the past two years I have appointed twenty-nine judges, which is a number unprecedented in the state. One of these was the chief justice of the supreme court, two were associate justices of the supreme court, three were justices of appellate courts, and twenty-three were judges of superior courts of various counties. I spent a great deal of time and earnest effort in making these appointments and have made them regardless of political or personal considerations. My sole desire has been to give the people first-class judges of the best legal attainments, highest character, and ability to work, in order that respect for the laws may be sustained. In the recent election, all of these judges with one exception were elected by the people.

LEGISLATIVE APPORTIONMENT.

The constitution of the state plainly provides that the legislature shall, at its first session after each census, adjust the districts and reapportion the representation so as to preserve them as nearly equal in population as may be. This plain duty was neglected by the legislature in 1921. The legislature in 1923 again failed to adjust the districts. I called attention to the importance of redistricting in a special message in ample time for the legislature of 1923 to act. Districting the state into forty senatorial and eighty assembly districts is not a simple matter, for, while population is the basis and the districts must be as nearly equal as may be, still these districts must be of contiguous territory, and no county or city can be divided unless given two or more districts. The legislative committees will have a difficult task before them in adjustments to conform to county and city boundaries and in adjusting and describing the various districts, but this should not deter them in obeying the mandate of the constitution. Since the 1910 census, on which districts are now adjusted, there has been a great shift in population, resulting in gross inequality in the population of the various districts.

LAW ENFORCEMENT.

The enactment of laws is of little importance if they are not enforced. Criminal prosecution for law violation has been placed by the constitution and the statutes in the hands of county officials. County grand juries, county district attorneys, county sheriffs and superior (county) judges, are elected by the people and charged with the duty of enforcing the law, both civil and criminal. This gives the people direct local self-government. Juries are selected from the citizens of the immediate vicinity. The governor has no power to prosecute violations of the law except what moral force he may be able to exert. The governor is not a super-sheriff or a super-district attorney. Although the constitution says the governor shall "see that the laws are faithfully executed," the legislature has wisely conferred the power of prosecution upon the officials of counties where the people may take part in the process and closely watch its operation County officials who fail to do their duty may be recalled by the voters. Various departments of the state are authorized to investigate law violation, but they must depend upon county officials for the prosecution of offenders. In order to see that the laws are faithfully executed I have kept in close touch with various state agencies having power to check law violation, and have cooperated with them in every way.

QUALITY OF LEGISLATION

Your work as legislators will be judged by its quality and not by its quantity For the past decade the statutes have been so bulky as to stagger even men trained in the law who attempt to maintain familiarity with them In 1923 there was a forty-eight per cent decrease in the number of laws enacted as compared with the 1921 statutes It is hoped that the 1925 legislature will produce a still smaller volume The legislator who introduces the fewest bills should be given the most credit by his constituents Your body is a deliberative one, and the more carefully you consider proposed legislation the more good you can accomplish That a hundred bills of doubtful value shall die on your files or in committee is better than that one bad bill, due to hasty methods, should become a law Let calm deliberation be your method and not the hectic rush that has many times characterized legislative methods in the past

DIRECT PRIMARY LAW

The direct primary law again proved its value in the recent election. In nearly every instance the people defeated candidates for reelection to the legislature who had stood against economy In a general way this law has fully vindicated itself, having made it possible to elect men to office who are unpledged to political bosses or organizations. That the most powerful political machine ever known in California was defeated two years ago was due to the fact that the successful candidate for governor at that time had the protection of this statute. The direct primary law has also made it possible for me to conduct the affairs of state on a business basis, since under it no pledges to any political machine or organization are necessary for success While this law has proved its benefits and should be safeguarded in all its essential particulars, still it may be possible to amend it in a way that will improve its operation and at the same time protect the people

CHILD LABOR AMENDMENT

The child labor amendment to the federal constitution will, if ratified, permit congress to enact legislation to protect the children of the nation. While California has ample laws to protect minors from being injured by hard labor and unsanitary conditions, still there are states in the union where the child is being exploited for the benefit of industry It must be assumed that congress will enact wise legislation to carry into effect this constitutional amendment and hence there is little ground for the objections that are being raised against this amendment. I feel that California must keep in the front rank in humane legislation and that this amendment should be ratified by your body at the earliest possible time

THE PUBLIC SCHOOL SYSTEM

The people have indicated their willingness to contribute liberally to the cause of education because it tends to promote better citizenship, but they do insist that their money shall be wisely expended. The education of the children of the state is a matter of most vital importance and California ranks high in educational standards. The public school system of California offers as good training to the children of the state as can be found anywhere in the nation. Education should embrace good morals, patriotism and thrift as well as book learning. The public schools of the state should be run in an efficient and economical manner, and the voters in the various school districts should be given greater control over school affairs.

ACTIONS ON PRISONERS

Believing that it is my duty to sustain the laws and uphold the verdicts of juries and the decisions of judges, I have issued few pardons and those only when the merit of the cases fully warranted. Twenty acts of executive clemency have been done by me but only four men have been released from the state's prisons and two from the county jails. Of the four released from state prisons, three were upon the recommendation of the district attorney of Los Angeles County, who admitted the men had been wrongfully convicted and were innocent of the crimes charged. The two released from county jails were chiropractors, whose technical law violations had been legalized by the affirmative vote of the people through an initiative measure. In a separate message I will submit details of the pardons issued, with full and complete reasons. While it has been the policy in the past to report to you in the briefest detail, I feel that you should have the complete reasons. The matter of pardons is a grave and arduous duty which I have tried to exercise for the protection of society generally

PUNISHMENT FOR CAPITAL CRIME.

During the past two years only one person condemned to death has had his sentence commuted, and in this case it was ascertained by me that the prisoner was under eighteen years of age at the time of the murder and that his execution would violate a statute prohibiting execution of persons of that age, although the facts fully justified his execution had he been of age. I have made a careful examination of the evidence in each case where men have been condemned to execution and have fully satisfied myself of the sufficiency of the evidence to warrant the verdict of the jury and the sentence of the judge. Under the criminal statutes the only protection of the citizen against the murderer, and the only real punishment is execution. The term, "life imprisonment," as used in the law, is a mere expression since prisoners can be released after seven years. In fact life imprisonment may mean less time in prison than a manslaughter conviction. I feel it is my duty to stand firmly by the law and not to permit sentiment or political influence or hysterical journalists to prevent a warning being given to would-be criminals.

AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENTS.

The great increase in the number of fatal automobile accidents points to the need for vigorous action on your part. The protection of human life is the first duty of the state. The lives of children and old people are particularly menaced by reckless automobile drivers. Drivers who are incompetent or physically defective should be prohibited from driving automobiles on the public highways.

EXECUTIVE PROCLAMATIONS.

The law gives the governor power in certain specific cases to issue proclamations. I have confined myself strictly to the law, and have declined to issue proclamations which are unauthorized by statute. The issuing of unauthorized proclamations by city, county or state officials is an unwarranted assumption of kingly power which should be prevented by statute. The people should know that a proclamation is a serious matter, authorized and backed up by the full power of the state, county or city government, and that it is not some illegal pronunciamento of some farcical day. Unauthorized proclamations tend to discredit genuine legal proclamations and confuse people who desire to conscientiously obey the laws.

DEPOSITS OF PUBLIC MONEY.

The new deposit act passed in 1923 has increased the revenues of the state more than one hundred thousand dollars annually. This act was drawn by me in 1921 and after passing both houses of the legislature by nearly a unanimous vote failed of executive approval. At the 1923 session the bill was again passed by the legislature and signed by me. It has not only increased the state revenue but it has added many hundreds of thousands of dollars to the treasuries of the various counties and cities.

BOARD OF CONTROL.

This department has been my main support in putting into effect the economy budget. The members of the board have worked unceasingly to keep down expense and see that economy and efficiency are practiced. For nearly a year the board has been composed of only two members, who are entitled to credit for their splendid service to the state and for the large saving they have made for the taxpayers. Economy has ever been their watchword. In the message accompanying the budget I will go into their work more fully.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE.

All of the state departments are important, but none is more important than the Department of Agriculture. It comes in contact with the material producers of the state without whose products there could be no life or civilization. This department, with its manifold duties, requires a man of superior ability and energy, and fortunately the department has such a man. He has been held over from the previous administration on account of his worth and freedom from political domination. He has made a record of which the state and the department may be proud. That his department has been able to run more efficiently and economically than under previous administrations is due to the fact that he has been absolutely free from political domination. Every man in his department is serving upon his merit.

The wide range of agricultural products in California has made necessary the maintenance of this department and it is admitted to be the most efficient of any department of the kind in the nation. The maintenance of efficient quarantine service, proper standardization, inspection of soil products, protection of animal industry, furthering of dairy husbandry, and other functions, as well as a general service to the people, demand the careful consideration of the department.

The general status of agriculture is now materially improved in spite of the continuance of drouth conditions and the visitation of the foot and mouth disease during the past year. An investigation made by the University of California, aided by this department, has determined that a general depression in business occurred beginning in March and reached its worst stage in June of last year. This loss amounted to 18 per cent in June and had an injurious effect on business in general. An analysis of the facts shows that one-third of this depression can fairly be charged to unwarranted embargoes by other states due to unfavorable publicity, and the other two-thirds to drouth and local disturbances.

The most serious event of the year was the outbreak of the foot and mouth disease, first discovered in Oakland, February 17, 1924. After most strenuous efforts on behalf of the state department of agriculture and the federal department, this disease has been completely eradicated in all parts of the state, with the possible exception of Tuolumne County, where the situation is being very closely watched. It is barely possible that sporadic outbreaks may again occur, but if they do the state and federal governments are well organized to meet the situation and combat it quickly When this disease first broke out in Oakland last year, it was a great surprise even to trained veterinarians, as heretofore no disease of this kind had appeared on this coast. From the best available information the disease was introduced in foodstuff on board a government transport landing at Mare Island.

As evidence of the strict economy practiced in this department, it is shown that for the last fiscal year the overhead decreased despite the fact that the work of the entire department increased.

MOTOR VEHICLE DEPARTMENT.

During the past year the Motor Vehicle Department registered 1,321,368 vehicles. As a result of economical administration it has been enabled to turn over to the California Highway Commission and the counties for road purposes a surplus over and above operating expenses of approximately six hundred thousand dollars. Through the establishment of duplicate indexes in Los Angeles and San Francisco, and the installation of a twenty-four hour telephone service in the Sacramento and Los Angeles offices, a prompt and efficient service has been afforded the police and county officials of the state. This modern, up-to-date method was substituted for the inefficient registration list formerly employed and has resulted in a saving to the department of fifty thousand dollars a year. The superintendent of this department has had Service for his watchword and has spared no pains to be of service to the automobile public. Through his efforts, with the United States postal department, plates, when accompanied by the registration cards, may now be mailed through the Sacramento office as fourth-class matter. This action alone will save the state nearly ten thousand dollars per annum. The department employs three hundred and fifty people regularly, augmenting the number to seven hundred during the renewal period, and operates branches in Oakland, San Francisco, Los Angeles, San Diego and Fresno. It maintains its head office at Sacramento and distributes plates through fifty clubs and agencies located in smaller cities and towns. It has a traffic officer squad of one hundred and thirty men located in forty counties It keeps a three-way file on every automobile, a duplicate record in each of its branch offices, and handles in its Sacramento office from two to five thousand letters daily. Its mail during the renewal season runs from five to six sacks per day. Twenty-six carloads of plate licenses are necessary for the automobiles of the state.

There was a reduction in expenditures during the year 1923 over the year 1922 of twenty-five per cent and at the same time the efficiency of the department was increased. The legislature in 1923 reduced the license fee on automobiles and established a gasoline tax. A complete system of registration has been inaugurated so that the ownership of motor-driven vehicles may be easily and quickly established. This department has been run on a civil service basis without any political interference whatever, and too much credit can not be given to the superintendent for his splendid service at a small compensation.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA.

The governor is ex officio regent of the University of California and president of the board of regents. I have made it a point to attend the sessions of the board and during the past two years I have attended practically every meeting, in contrast to former executives who rarely attended In this way I have become familiar with the business of this great educational institution and have obtained valuable first-hand information. As one-eighth of the net budget is expended on the university, it deserves the governor's careful attention. I must commend the members of the board of regents, the president of the university, and the university comptroller for their earnest and active interest in the welfare of students who desire higher education. Every effort has been made to conduct the university on an economical basis and the result shows that the economy budget has not injured efficiency in any manner.

STATE HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT.

The three commissioners and the engineer of this department have done good work as is shown by the results. All of these appointments were made on merit and without regard to politics. The department is now on an efficiency basis and roads are being constructed which will stand the test. The commissioners are business men of high standing and character The engineer was selected by me solely on merit and has proved his worth.

BANKING DEPARTMENT

This is another function designed to protect the people The banks are carefully inspected so that there may be no loss to the depositors who place their money in them. This department has never been conducted on a higher plane of service and efficiency than during the past two years The superintendent is able, honest and courageous and has ever kept in mind the best interests of the people and the necessity for their protection. Substantial economies have been effected.

CIVIL SERVICE

The Civil Service Department has never worked more efficiently and rendered greater service than during the past two years The budget appropriation while reduced has proved ample and the splendid work of the commission has been of great value to the state. This department has been maintained for the first time in its history absolutely free from political pressure or influence. Civil service, while having its defects, is vastly superior to the old spoils system. It is a protection to the employees of the state It has been of great benefit to me in establishing a business administration. I have stood strongly against all efforts to break down the efficacy of the civil service. Civil service employees who become inefficient should be promptly recommended for dismissal by the various department heads in order that the state as well as the employees shall be properly protected. During the past two years there have been three elections in the State of California and not a single dollar of assessment has been levied against any civil service employee, or for that matter any noncivil service employee, in the State of California. This is in striking contrast to the old political methods where civil service employees were openly assessed The investigations of the assembly committee at the last session of the legislature showed that the old political machine had openly violated the civil service law and had been in the 1922 elections notorious in its assessment of state employees.

INDUSTRIAL ACCIDENT COMMISSION.

The new commissioners appointed by me have greatly increased the efficiency of this department and at the same time have saved the taxpayers a large sum of money. Every effort has been made to serve those who are injured in the trades and the payment of benefits has been greatly accelerated The new commissioners are young, active and energetic men who are giving close attention to their work and serving the public to the best of their ability. The operating expenses of this department have been reduced from $805,000 for the previous biennium to an estimate of about $500,000 for the present biennium. For the past fiscal year the commission has decided 2898 cases. Of these only 2.2 per cent were appealed to the supreme and appellate courts for review, and only 3 of 1 per cent were decided against the commission. This establishes a remarkable record in compensation administration.

The state compensation fund which is operated under the direction of the commission has had a most gratifying business experience in the last two years, the premium business for the past fiscal year being the largest in the history of the fund, amounting to more than five and one-half million dollars, and exceeding that of the last previous fiscal year by 10.8 per cent.

The henchmen of the old political machine have made every effort to discredit and injure both the commission and the fund, so it is remarkable that there should have been any increase at all Political traitors connected with the fund and the commission have resigned and gone out into private companies in order to injure and harass the fund. The fund is operated for the benefit of the people who work in various avocations, and it is gratifying to know that it has the support of the general public.

INSURANCE COMMISSION.

This department has been conducted efficiently and economically, and for the first time in its history is free from political manipulation. The commission was the citadel of the boss of the old discredited political machine. The citadel and the boss have been demolished To protect the people has been the effort of the present able commissioner The business of this department has increased 13 per cent, while the cost of running it has decreased 18 per cent. The present commissioner has put the department on an absolutely business basis.

STATE LIBRARY

California has one of the finest libraries in the world. Here is to be found a collection of really worthwhile books. The state library is a dignified collection of real books which give real service to their readers. The people of Sacramento and the state are particularly fortunate in having this remarkable library at their command. This department is ably conducted by experts free from political domination of any kind The economy budget applied to this library has proved a success and efficiency has been maintained.

IMMIGRATION AND HOUSING.

This department has been doing a big humane work and those who serve on the commission without pay are deserving of especial praise I have noted that nonsalaried officials frequently do more work than the salaried The economy budget has not hampered the functions of this department.

STATE PRINTING OFFICE.

The state does its own printing and the results of the past year show that one hundred and fifty thousand dollars has been saved the taxpayers over the cost had the work been done in private printing plants. The state printing office has, during the past two years, been put on a high plane of efficiency and has justified its existence. Too much credit can not be given the superintendent, who, at a meager salary, has performed a service worth several times the amount paid.

CHARITIES AND CORRECTIONS

This department is rendering a great and humane service to the people As a member ex officio I have attended the sessions and observed its splendid work There is no longer any friction between this department and others, due to the able and efficient secretary and the broadminded attitude of the new members I have appointed.

BOARD OF DENTAL EXAMINERS.

The State Board of Dental Examiners has been reorganized by appointing five new members to replace members whose terms had expired. The board has been placed on a more efficient basis and an endeavor will be made to help the people, only a small per cent of whom have any dental work done. Examinations are being held upon merit, free from political influence The minutes of this board show that in previous years the boss of the old political machine was accustomed to attend the sessions of the board and to control its decisions The complete story of the mechanism of this machine may never be known, but its slimy trail has been discovered in many departments

BUILDING AND LOAN DEPARTMENT.

This department has been operated in a very efficient manner during the past two years, first under the old commissioner and the last year under the new commissioner There has been an increase of nearly one hundred per cent in the business of the office and a consequent decrease in assessments placed upon associations which support the department The salaries paid the commissioner and his employees are lower than those paid in any department of the state service for similar work.

ATHLETIC COMMISSION.

At the recent election the people, by initiative, created another commission, the Athletic Commission, thus showing public approval of commissions. This act repeals former prohibitions against prize fights, permits twelve-round fights, and places all fights, boxing matches and wrestling bouts under the supervision of this commission. While the cost of maintaining this commission will be collected from those operating under its permits, still the taxpayers will ultimately pay this as well as all other taxes In appointing the commission, I exercised great care in selecting men of high standing and character and of knowledge All three are reputable business men, skilled in the supervision of athletic contests, who will endeavor to conduct prize fights on as high a plane as possible. The commission has appointed an able and honest secretary Regardless of my personal convictions with respect to the moral effect of prize fighting, I have bowed to the will of the people, and have appointed a commission that will give the new law every opportunity to function. If there is a failure the commission can not be blamed RECLAMATION BOARD.

At the end of 1922 work on the reclamation board had practically shut down because of the total failure of the credit of the previous board. I made possible the reorganization of this board by appointing a majority of new members The board, before reorganization, had made contracts for 3,700,000 yards of levees on a warrant basis. After reorganization, legislation was introduced and passed allowing operation on a cash basis, and the contracts were then amended to permit payment of cash This work has been completed at a saving to date of $133,203.98. Besides these levees, rights of way have been secured, a pumping plant has been installed levee work accomplished bridges constructed, and litigation, which has been encountered at every step, successfully fought The total construction expenditures for the twenty-one months ending 1924, was $929,510 72, being an increase of 60 per cent over the work done by the old administration during a similar period In spite of this great increase in construction work there has been a decrease in the overhead expenses of the board of 44 per cent The overhead under the previous administration was 23 per cent, while under the present administration it has been reduced to 8 per cent This reduction in the cost of operation has not been accomplished by the reduction of salaries of employees, but on the contrary salaries have in a number of instances been increased.

The reclamation board when I took office was one of the worst business tangles that confronted me in any department, and I desire particularly to commend the members of this board for their splendid cooperation in placing this department on a business basis and making it run economically and efficiently.

CORPORATION DEPARTMENT.

This department has been doing a valuable work in protecting the people, as far as the statute permits, against bogus stock schemes. While handicapped in some cases by the failure of district attorneys and other county officials to prosecute law violators, still the good accomplished warrants the cost of the department and indicates the necessity for an increase in the power of the commissioner. The present commissioner has been held over from the previous administration and has proved his worth While the cost of operating the department has decreased 6 per cent, the number of orders issued has increased 40 per cent and the number of agents' licenses issued has increased 220 per cent This is a particularly trying department to conduct, as corrupt promoters have used every endeavor to circumvent the commissioner These men have repeatedly threatened to injure the commissioner, have sued him for libel, have sought to have him indicted, and have harassed him in every way I have stood behind the commissioner and sustained his policy of running down rascals

STATE INSTITUTIONS.

The state institutions are in control of a director who has been particularly efficient. Under his department are the state hospitals at Patton, Norwalk, Napa, Stockton, Agnew and Mendocino, the state home at Eldridge, and the schools at Whittier, Ventura and Ione. While the economy budget reduced the allowance for these institutions, still savings were made without decreasing the service to the inmates or injuring the administration. In fact, business principles have made a marked improvement in their administration The gross annual cost per person in these institutions under the former administration was $306.81. This amount has been reduced to $284.42 per annum, meaning a total saving of nearly three hundred thousand dollars annually, while the quality of the food and clothing has been improved Here economy and efficiency have gone hand in hand with increased comfort for patients

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS.

This department has been reorganized by the statutes of 1923 and is operated with perfect freedom from political control. I have taken an active interest in its affairs and have frequently conferred with its head. This department is composed of the Division of Engineering and Irrigation, Division of Water Rights, and Division of Architecture It has been of great assistance in the matter of the organization and operation of irrigation projects and in the examination and construction of impounding works The Division of Water Rights as successor to the water commission, is now recognized as an important branch of the state government, and is functioning with ability and fairness. The increase in the business of this division has been eight per cent while the cost of operaton has been decreased twenty-three per cent. The Division of Architecture is pursuing its important task of constructing new buildings and repairing old ones in an efficient manner.

STATE BOARD OF AGRICULTURE.

This board is composed of twelve members appointed by the Governor and serving without compensation. The state has been particularly fortunate in securing the services of intelligent, high-class men who are conversant with the various agricultural industries of the state and representative of the various sections. The State Fair annually held at the capital is one of the finest that is held in any state in the Union Last year, notwithstanding the foot and mouth disease and the resulting absence of all cloven-footed animals, the fair was a greater success than ever and reflected particular credit on the directors. I have taken an active interest in their work and have cooperated with them in every way.

ADJUTANT GENERAL

During the past two years the National Guard of California has been increased from 3575 members to more than 5500, and this great increase has been accomplished notwithstanding the budget was twenty-five per cent lower than under the former administration. The new adjutant general was appointed by me on the plebiscite method and absolutely because of his merit. His efficient work has reflected credit upon the state. This department is now, for the first time in the history of the state, absolutely free from political domination.

LABOR DEPARTMENT.

This department is run in the interest of those who toil. At its head is a man who has a sympathetic interest in his work. Much good has been accomplished in protecting from exploitation those who can not protect themselves. In the matter of wage collections alone, the department has justified itself The economy budget made it possible for the commissioner to remove from the pay roll certain useless political parasites and thus increase the efficiency of the department.

MINING BUREAU.

This department has been managed in a very efficient and economical manner, and, notwithstanding the decrease in its allowance, has been able to run more efficiently than formerly. The new mineralogist is thoroughly skilled in his work and deserving of praise.

REAL ESTATE COMMISSION.

This commission is organized for the protection of the people against dishonest real estate schemes, and the commissioner has proved his courage and vigor and has prosecuted law violators as fully as the law will permit.

FISH AND GAME COMMISSION.

This department has been able to conduct its affairs on the economy budget in an efficient and businesslike manner The savings effected in overhead has made it possible for the commission to build up a surplus and this surplus will be expended in building new fish hatcheries and in other improvements. The policy of economy has proved worth while. I have cooperated with the department in every way to put it on an efficient basis and to assist in seeing that fish and game are protected from commercialized exploitation. Every dollar of fees derived from the sportsmen has been, and will continue to be, expended in the interests of game preservation in California. No attempt has ever been made to take a dollar of the fund of the Fish and Game Commission and tranfer it to the general fund, notwithstanding the continued prevarication of yellow journals upon this subject.

WOMEN'S WELFARE WORK.

The women of the state have always taken an active part in all humanitarian measures. With the development of society many new problems have arisen calling for solution. Women, by their sympathetic interest in all such matters, are well qualified to consider these questions. I therefore suggest that you authorize me to appoint a committee representing different sections of the state and the various groups of women who are interested in welfare work, to the end that a thorough study be made of the entire field and well considered recommendations be presented to the legislature.

LAND SETTLEMENT.

When I took office I found that the land settlement operations at Delhi Colony were in a very bad condition, and it was nearly a year before I could, under the law, make the necessary changes to put it on a business basis The new president of the board is a man of practical experience and sympathetic ideas who has done a wonderful work in aiding the colonists and putting the settlement on a business basis. The feelings of the settlers can best be shown by calling attention to the fact that an expensive oil painting of a former director was taken out of the community hall at Delhi by enraged settlers, cut from the frame, and hung in effigy on the state highway. This act must be condemned by all law-abiding citizens, but is recorded here solely to indicate the sentiment of the people over the failure of the former management.

DEPARTMENT OF FORESTRY.

The majority of the members of this board have been appointed by me and the department is being conducted in an intelligent and efficient manner. The State of California has no forests and no forest land except a grove in Mendocino County and another grove in the Big Basin in Santa Cruz County. This department has cooperated with the national government in helping to protect the forests and assisting the national government in its efforts to preserve the great area of forests in the state which are in the national reserves. This department has been given all the funds that it has requested to meet any emergency.

HARBOR COMMISSION.

The Harbor Commission of San Francisco has under its control one of the most important ports in the nation. Here the state has an immense investment and employs hundreds of men and expends thousands of dollars This department is now absolutely on a business basis. Money is being expended on bids after fair competition, supplies are being bought on the bid system, and the employees, with very few exceptions are on the civil service list. Never in the history of California has the harbor been so well managed and so well conducted as at the present time. This board has made a creditable record for economy and efficiency. The state budget allowance for the first year was $1,626,982.88, and a balance of $221,374.30 remains to its credit at the end of the year, June 30, 1924. All sources of revenue show decided increases over the preceding year, particularly in rents, dockage and tolls, while the operating expenses for the same period show a decrease of $38,349, as compared with the operating expenses of the previous year. In the operation of the Belt Railroad the net revenue for the fiscal year exceeds the revenue of the previous year by $18,437.20, due to decrease in operating expenses, for which the belt line superintendent is entitled to full credit.

When the new commission took charge there was found an alarming decay in timber and disintegration in exposed works which had to be given early attention. During the first year betterments in the Ferry building, including California marble floors laid in the waiting rooms occupied by railroad companies, called for expense amounting to $63,759. Renovations in the interior of the building have transformed it from a dismal and uninviting assembly enclosure into a restful place in all sections, with light coloring and cheerful effects in decorations, most pleasing to the many thousands of commuters and travelers. Construction of a vehicular subway through which all traffic will be diverted from the crossing of Market street in front of the Ferry building and sent both ways a distance of four blocks, leaving the crowded street open for pedestrians, is a great achievement.

Other improvements made by the board to encourage activity on the waterfront and assist the shipping industry are the opening and successful operation of a grain terminal, repaving the Embarcadero with smooth surfacing; reconstruction of the Belt Line Railroad, extending and covering piers, repairing Ferry slips and making room for more ships in the southern extension of the harbor, building new pier No. 50, one of the three planned, reclamation of a large area of submerged lands along Islais Creek for commercial uses, and carrying forward a general plan to reclaim 280 acres of waterfront owned by the state. Meantime the well-organized forces of the commission have been giving good service to the shipping public, winning general praise for splendid business management and for the encouragement of commerce. Every dollar of revenue collected by the commission will be expended for the benefit of the harbor. Notwithstanding my frequent reiteration of this statement, certain San Francisco newspapers continue to misrepresent me. Their chronic lying is a habit they are unable to shake off.

VETERANS' WELFARE BOARD.

The interests of those who fought to preserve the nation in the World War, and who now desire to acquire farms and homes have been cared for in an intelligent and sympathetic manner by the Veterans' Welfare Board. My sole appointee on this board is the secretary who is in fact the manager. He is young, honest and capable and has the best interests of the veterans at heart. If this good work is continued further a new bond issue must be provided. In this matter the state advances its credit and return payments are made easy for the veteran farmers and home-builders. The present plan under a business administration has proved successful.

PROGRESSIVE LEGISLATION.

The charitable, humane and progressive laws of the state have been carefully guarded and protected by the various departments having to do with their administration. The budget allowances have been found ample for the full operation of the departments, but, should occasion warrant, assistance will be given from the emergency fund. California has become noted for its welfare legislation in the interests of the whole people. Such laws will be preserved and protected and any attack upon them will be resisted by me. During my career as a public official I have stood consistently for these laws and their sympathetic administration.

OTHER DEPARTMENTS.

There are other departments which have made an efficient and businesslike showing during the past two years but which I have neither the time nor the space to consider at this time. There are other subjects also which I would like to discuss, but will probably take them up with you in special messages from time to time during the session.

I want to assure you of my loyal support and desire to cooperate with you in every way for the best interests of the state, for the continuance of the present business policies of the state government, and for the maintenance in every department of the state of the principles of economy. Boiled down into one word, my policy has been economy, and will continue to be ECONOMY.

Respectfully submitted,

FRIEND WM. RICHARDSON,
Governor of the State of California.

Dated January 7, 1925.

PRESENTATION OF PETITIONS.

The following petitions were presented, and ordered printed in the Journal:

By Mr. Little:

Resolved, That we, members of the Faculty of the Warren G. Harding High School in regular meeting assembled on December 2, 1924, do hereby unanimously endorse this proposed amendment, that we urge Parent Teacher Associations and civic bodies, lodges and clubs having the welfare of the child at heart, to adopt similar resolutions to the end that all our legislators may be behind the pending child labor amendment and demand its prompt ratification by our State Legislature

ANGUS L. CAVANAGH, Principal.

Also:

Resolved, That the Los Angeles District of the California Federation of Women's Clubs send a letter to each Senator and Assemblyman of the 1925 Legislature urging them to work for this proposed bill of ratification, and that a petition, signed by the individual members of every club in the district, be presented to the legislators, accompanied by a letter from or presented in person by our District President and the Chairman of Child Welfare; and that a copy of this resolution be spread upon the minutes of the Executive Board of the district.

LAURA McNEIR HERD,
And 41 others

By Mr. McPherson:

The Solano County Farm Bureau in regular session on the fifth day of January, 1925, having under consideration the proposed Constitutional Amendment No. 20, giving to Congress the power to limit, regulate, and prohibit the labor of persons under the age of eighteen years, does hereby Resolve, That this question most directly interests the farming communities and the power which is proposed to be lodged in Congress could be converted into a ruinous policy, and we are earnestly opposed to the yielding of any such power upon the simple promise that it would not be used.

J. H. MURRAY,
President, Solano County Farm Bureau.

By Mr. Murphy:

Resolved, That this Grange, Happy Camp No. 395, opposes the ratification of the proposed constitutional amendment restricting child labor and we urge our representative in the California Legislature to use all honorable means to secure its rejection by that body.

It is further ordered, That a copy of this resolution, signed by the Master and Secretary, and with the seal of Grange attached be forwarded to Hon. J. J. Murphy for action.

Reported favorably.

MRS. ARTHUR ATTEBERY,

RESOLUTION.

The following resolution was offered:

By Messrs. Anderson, R. J., and Coombs:

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk be authorized to receive from the members of the Assembly a mailing list of all bills, resolutions and histories, to be directed to libraries, chambers of commerce and other public centers, for general inspection This list to be limited to fifteen names each, and shall be forwarded to the legislative bill room for regular mailing

That in addition thereto, the Chief Clerk shall send fifty copies of said bills, resolutions and histories to the State Commander of the American Legion or to such posts as he may name

Resolution read. and on motion adopted.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The following message from the Governor was received and read:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, STATE OF CALIFORNIA.

To the Senate and Assembly of the State of California.

I have received from the Honorable Charles E Hughes, Secretary of State, a certified copy of a resolution of Congress entitled "Joint Resolution Proposing an Amendment to the Constitution of the United States" which is as follows:

Resolved, by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled (two-thirds of each House concurring therein), That the following article is proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, which, when ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several States, shall be valid to all intents and purposes as a part of the Constitution

MOTION TO DEFER ACTION AND SUBMIT TO THE PEOPLE.

The following written motion was made by Messrs. Anderson, R. J., Bernard, Wemple, Murphy and Melville:

WHEREAS, The Congress of the United States of America has adopted a proposed amendment to the constitution of the United States, to-wit, Amendment No. 20, providing that the Congress may prohibit all persons under eighteen years of age from doing any useful work, and

WHEREAS, Said proposed amendment has been, by the Secretary of State of the United States, transmitted to the Governor of the State of California for ratification or rejection by the Legislature of said State of California, and

WHEREAS, The Governor of the State of California has this day transmitted said proposed amendment to the Senate and Assembly of the State of California for its approval or rejection, and

WHEREAS, Said proposed amendment if ratified by three-fourths of the states of the Union would result in surrendering to the federal government a sovereign power, now residing in said states and reserved to them, and

WHEREAS, The proposal to confer upon the Congress rights and powers of legislation properly belonging to the states is revolutionary and contrary to the form and theory of our government; and

WHEREAS, The State of California, pursuant to its sovereign powers, has placed upon its statute books a law regulating child labor, by which statute minors under the age of fifteen years are prohibited from engaging in gainful employment, and

WHEREAS, Said law is expressive of the will of the people of this State and should not be altered, changed, or amended without ascertaining the will of the people, and

WHEREAS, The people of this State have adopted the referendum as a means of expressing their will in regard to matters affecting the people of this State; and

WHEREAS, The people of the State of California have had no opportunity to express their will or desire in respect to surrendering this sovereign power to the federal government; now, therefore,

Be more That the Assembly of the State of California defer action on Assembly Joint Resolution No. 1 until the will of the people shall have been ascertained by means of a referendum to be submitted to the people before or at the general election in November, 1926.

The question being on the motion to defer action and submit to the people.

Assembly Joint Resolution No. 1 ordered transmitted to the Senate.

ASSEMBLY JOINT RESOLUTION No. 1

Relative to the ratification of an amendment to the constitution of the United States, proposed by the Congress of the United States of America, relating to child labor.

WHEREAS, The sixty-eighth Congress of the United States of America, at its first session, has adopted House Joint Resolution No. 184, two-thirds of each House concurring therein, proposing an amendment to the constitution of the United States, in the following words, to wit

"Joint resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution of the United States."

"Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled (two-thirds of each House concurring therein), That the following article is proposed as an amendment to the constitution of the United States, which, when ratified by the Legislatures of three-fourths of the several states, shall be valid to all intents and purposes as part of the constitution.

"ARTICLE —.

"Section 1. The Congress shall have power to limit, regulate, and prohibit the labor of persons under eighteen years of age.

"SEC. 2. The power of the several states is unimpaired by this article except that the operation of state laws shall be suspended to the extent necessary to give effect to legislation enacted by the Congress."

And

WHEREAS, Said proposed amendments will be valid as part of the constitution of the United States when ratified by the Legislatures of three-fourths of the several states; therefore be it

Resolved by the Assembly and the Senate of the Legislature of the State of California, jointly, at its forty-sixth session, commencing on the fifth day of January, 1925, a majority of all the members elected to each house of said Legislature voting in favor thereof, that the said proposed amendment be and the same is hereby ratified by the Legislature of the State of California

Resolved, further, That certified copies of the foregoing preamble and resolution be forwarded by the Governor of the State of California to the President of the United States, the Secretary of State of the United States, the President of the Senate of the United States and the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the United States

EXPLANATIONS OF VOTE.

The following explanations of vote were received and ordered printed in the Journal:

On consideration of this child labor amendment, my natural inclination has been in its favor, however, recently considerable opposition has arisen in the agricultural sections of the country, these sections fearing that its operation would prove disastrous, not only to the agricultural interests, but also to the home life of the nation My constituents are divided upon the issue, many favor the adoption while others are opposed.

This morning, when the motion was made to put the measure through without reference to committee, I objected upon the ground that a matter of such vital importance should be given proper consideration. That motion prevailed by 58 votes, which was more than the necessary two-thirds.

A motion then made to give eight days' time to hear those who might be opposed to the amendment in my mind was fair, and I favored it, but it also was defeated. A resolution also to refer the matter to a vote of the people of the State having been rejected, we are now upon the passage of the ratification, and as every effort to have a hearing or to postpone the action on ratification has failed and now there remains nothing for me but to vote my personal view, therefore, believing that Congress will be fair and careful in such an important matter, I am voting for ratification.

S. L HEISINGER.

My vote being recorded among the "ayes" was brought about due to my changing my vote from "no" to "aye" prior to the announcement of the vote with the intention of moving for a reconsideration on the next legislative day Upon learning that the Senate had remained in session with the expectation of being able to vote upon the resolution this afternoon I did not move for a reconsideration. The vote having been announced in the meantime prevented me from changing back to "no" as I had originally voted.

VAN BERNARD.

MOTION TO PRINT SPEECH IN JOURNAL.

Mr McPherson moved that the speech delivered by Mr. Coombs relative to the child labor amendment be printed in the Journal of Friday, January 9, 1925.

Motion carried.

MOTION TO PRINT SPEECHES IN JOURNAL.

Mr. Wright, T. M., moved that the speeches of Mrs Saylor and Mr Spence relative to the child labor amendment be printed in the Journal of Friday, January 9, 1925

Motion carried

ASSISTANT CLERK BOOTH READING.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

MESSAGE OF THE GOVERNOR REGARDING ACTS OF EXECUTIVE CLEMENCY.

To the Senate and Assembly of the State of California.

I am submitting to you herewith a statement of the various acts of executive clemency done by me during my term of office with full reasons for each act. I have not followed the precedent of giving you abbreviated notes, as I believe you should know all of the reasons actuating me in exercising this very important power.

Every request for executive clemency has been given thoughtful and sympathetic consideration. All cases of capital punishment have been looked into carefully whether request has been made or not. I have made it a rule to require arguments and statements regarding pardons to be submitted in writing so that they may be calmly perused and be a part of the public record. This policy has placed the humblest prisoner without friends on a basis of equality with the one able to employ competent counsel, and thus has spared the executive the pain of frenzied oratory and emotional eloquence.

As soon as a case has a complete record it has been acted upon promptly, and cases have not been held back for decision in order to be released on particular days for spectacular effect. Most of the cases denied have appeared to be more proper for parole than for pardon. The parole system has proved its value and should have the support of all good citizens. It has restored many men to society and made them useful citizens. The paroled man has a better chance than the released criminal who has served his term. The paroled man has the aid of the parole officers and the prison board, while the released criminal has usually no one to guide or help him.

I have exercised twenty acts of executive clemency, but only four men have been released from the state's prisons and two from the county jails. Of the four released from the state's prisons three were upon recommendation of the District Attorney of Los Angeles County, who admitted that the men had been wrongfully convicted and were innocent of the crimes charged. The two released from county jails were chiropractors whose action in practicing without licenses seems to have been legalized by affirmative vote of the people upon an initiative amendment.

I have exercised but few acts of executive clemency, as I have found that the verdicts of juries and the decisions of judges can be relied upon, as being just and right. When juries err it is usually in being too lenient with the person accused. I have exercised great care in these matters because I believe it the prime duty of the Governor to uphold the officers of the law and to protect society by convincing criminals and would-be criminals that they can not escape punishment in California and that the era of the sob sister of both sexes is at an end.

The acts of executive clemency can be classified as follows:

Released from state prison	4
Released from county jail	2
Restriction removed	1
Insane nonresident deported	1
Restored to citizenship	5
Commutations of sentence	4
Short reprieves	3

PARDONED FROM STATE'S PRISON.

CLARKE MORTON was pardoned November 8, 1923. He plead guilty to the crime of rape in the county of San Mateo on the second day of April, 1923, and was sentenced under the indeterminate sentence law to be imprisoned from six months to fifty years. On the twenty-seventh day of October, 1923, the Board of Prison Directors fixed his sentence at one year.

Morton, although a boy barely nineteen years old at the time of being sentenced, had a wife and a small baby in Oregon. He was working in Redwood City with his wife's consent, and was attempting to establish a home for his family at the time he met the complaining witness. This witness subsequently charged another young man with the same offense, but he was acquitted. Morton would probably have been acquitted if he had stood trial.

The Judge, District Attorney and Sheriff of San Mateo County, as well as former employers and others, speak well of him and strongly recommend that he be pardoned. It is sufficient to quote from the letters of the District Attorney and Sheriff. District Attorney Franklin Swart writes as follows:

> "I believe this is the first instance in which I have addressed the Governor directly in recommending a pardon of a man who has been sentenced to San Quentin. This young man pleaded guilty under a charge of statutory rape and was thereafter sentenced by our Superior Court. At the same time there was a charge pending against another man on a similar charge. The latter was tried and there seemed no question as to his guilt, but the circumstances surrounding the complaining witness and her mother were such that a good jury absolutely refused to convict this man, who in fact had been intimate with the girl in question before Clarke Morton had even seen her. She was a very attractive looking young girl, raised by a mother who perhaps meant well, but who in her handling of the girl was a first-class fool. She threw the girl in contact with men in such a way that a young man could hardly escape. Clarke Morton was working at the time as a dispenser in a candy store. I had been taking lunch at this store and had had occasion to watch the young man for some weeks.
> "I do not hesitate to say that he should not be in the penitentiary. I felt this so much just after the trial of the other man referred to, that I directed a letter to the Prison Board and asked that the matter be presented in a proper way in order to have this young man spared from a long prison term.
> "I want you to understand that I never knew the young man before. I don't know any of his relatives and I wrote the letters in his behalf upon my own suggestion. The present letter is requested by an attorney who now represents Mr. Morton, but it expresses the same views which I expressed voluntarily to the Prison Board when the defendant was without any attorney or any representative here.
> "I appreciate more than anyone your attitude toward the ordinary petition for the pardon of a dangerous man, but this is one case in which I feel that you should give the most careful consideration, and as the prosecuting officer in the case, I freely tell you that I think this young man should not be in the penitentiary."

Sheriff H. W. Lampkin writes as follows:

"On or about February 1st of this year I became acquainted with Clarke Morton, who was employed by John Trahan in his restaurant and confectionery business at Redwood City, and had almost daily occasion to observe the boy in his conduct of the business and his treatment of the people who came into the restaurant. He always conducted himself in a gentlemanly manner and gave every evidence of having been raised right at home. He was pleasant and courteous to the customers and undoubtedly increased the trade of his employer.

"During the time that he was in Redwood City, I never heard anything but good things of him and of the manner in which he deported himself. No complaints were ever made of his conduct and I formed a very high opinion of the boy during the time that I knew him. His conduct while an inmate of our county jail was of the highest order and he never gave us the slightest cause for complaint.

"The girl involved in this case was married to a man in this county within two weeks after the date of the occurrence of the offense charged in this case, and is living in San Mateo County now with her husband. I hope that Clarke Morton's application to you for executive clemency will receive favorable consideration at your hands, for through my thorough acquaintance with the circumstances and facts of this case, I feel that a great injustice is being done the boy to have him further incarcerated at San Quentin."

Now, therefore, in conformity with the recommendations above referred to and because of the character of Clarke Morton, the fact that he has sufficiently paid for his offense, that he is in no sense a criminal, and that he will return to care for his wife and child, I do hereby pardon him.

PARDONED ON RECOMMENDATION OF DISTRICT ATTORNEY WHO ADVISED PRISONER WAS INNOCENT.

SALVADOR MENDIVAL, San Quentin Prison No. 37157, was pardoned May 2, 1924. He, with Jose Hernandez and Broulio Galindo, was convicted of the crime of robbery in Los Angeles and on November 6, 1922, was given an indeterminate sentence of 1 to 10 years. He was immediately transported to San Quentin, where he has ever since remained.

Mendival, with Hernandez and Galindo and a fourth Mexican, who afterwards died, was arrested and charged with the robbery of the National Bank of Arcadia a few hours after that bank had been robbed. The evidence presented against them at the time of trial was circumstantial and no direct connection was ever shown between the defendants and the crime charged. After their conviction and sentence, a thorough investigation was made by Sheriff William I. Traeger and District Attorney Asa Keyes of Los Angeles County, which convinced them that Mendival and his companions had no connection with the crime and were wrongfully convicted.

District Attorney Asa Keyes and his deputy, W. Maxwell Burke, who personally conducted the trial, strongly recommend that Mendival and his companions be pardoned, and writes as follows:

"All three, Salvador Mendival, Jose Hernandez, and Broulio Galindo, stoutly protested their absolute innocence * * * They continued to protest their innocence in a dramatic way at the time of sentence. * * * They even amongst themselves protested their innocence.

"These men were tried on September 27, 1922, and after they had gone to the penitentiary, one Jack Thomas appeared in Mr. Burke's office and told him that four other men had told him that they, and not the Mexicans, had committed the robbery at Arcadia; practically at the time of the trial four men were arrested in Los Angeles upon a liquor charge, and at the same time there were counterfeit government strip stamps found at the house. The four men were lodged in jail and Major McReynolds of the United States Internal Revenue Service made an investigation in regard to these men and discovered that these men, particularly one Frank Sullivan and one W. F. McMahon, were two of the men that Jack Thomas had implicated as having in their possession certain of the United States bonds which were stolen from the Arcadia bank; also, there was discovered by the District Attorney and by a Mr. Johnson, a Burns Detective Agency employee, that Sullivan had used one of these United States bonds stolen from that bank in the purchase of illicit liquor. There did not seem to be enough information to hold any of these men for trial at that time, and they were released. Later, Mr. Al Manning, who was Deputy Sheriff and Superintendent of the Criminal Division of the Sheriff's office, was relieved of his position summarily, and Mr. Harry Wright was put in charge. When Mr. Wright took possession of Mr. Manning's office, be discovered in the drawer of the desk about $600 worth of American Express Company checks unsigned These were proven to be a part of the securities taken from the Arcadia Bank

"Upon investigation it was found that one Tom Gray, who was one of the four heretofore implicated by Thomas and McReynolds, had buried those checks in a Mason jar in a flower bed upon a ranch of one Sam Lawrence in Artesia, about twenty miles from Arcadia. About the same time a convict by the name of Harold Brownlee, who is now in San Quentin for robbery, was being used by Al Manning as a stool pigeon; that Brownlee told Al Manning that those four men, to wit, Frank Sullivan, W. F. McMahon, Eddie Burns and Tom Gray, had confessed to him that they, and not the Mexicans, were the ones who had robbed the Arcadia Bank.

"In the meantime, the American Express Company had detailed an investigator to trace their checks, which had been stolen from this bank, and a part of which had been cashed at Tia Juana and San Diego, through a bank. It was then discovered that one Hubert Kittle and one David McGregor had received these checks from Frank Sullivan, either directly or indirectly, and had cashed them, or a part of them, under the name of G. McDonald, forging that name in two places upon these checks. Incidentally, Kittle and McGregor have been indicted, and their trial for receiving stolen property is now pending, and Hubert Kittle has made a partial or complete confession of this matter implicating directly Frank Sullivan, Tom Gray, W. F. McMahon and Eddie Burns.

"Some time in March, 1924, one J. B. O'Neill was arrested for robbing a bank at Norwalk in Los Angeles County, and confessed, and in his confession also told that Frank Sullivan had requested him to participate in the Arcadia Bank robbery some time in April of 1922, but that he refused, and later Frank Sullivan told O'Neill that he, Sullivan, together with Burns, Gray and McMahon, had robbed the Bank of Arcadia. In his confession he also told how Sullivan and his wife had helped rob the bank in Norwalk, particularly in helping the actual robbers to escape from the scene, and that Sullivan had received one-third of the proceeds of that robbery. None of these bonds, so far as I have been able to discover, were ever recovered by the bank, or the insurance company.

"Upon all of this information being presented to the Grand Jury of Los Angeles County, six men were indicted for the robbery of the Arcadia Bank, to-wit Frank Sullivan, Tom Gray, Eddie Burns, W. F. McMahon, E. S. McCardia and Sam Fair."

Sheriff William I. Traeger strongly recommends that they be pardoned and writes as follows:

"At the time the four defendants were arrested no moneys or securities were found in their possession, or, in other words, nothing other than the firearms, that would lead the officers to believe that they were the men who committed the crime.

"Although the four defendants were found guilty by a jury, I was somewhat skeptical as to whether or not we had actually apprehended the guilty parties, and, being of this frame of mind, I personally thought it necessary and so instructed, that the investigation be continued, and, although this investigation was rather continuous, I was unable to properly unravel the mystery and cloak myself with sufficient evidence to make further arrests that would bring about convictions, until here recently.

"Mrs. Lelia Sullivan, Hubert M Kittle, and David G. McGregor, having been apprehended, the latter two, Kittle and McGregor, each made statements connecting each other with possession of the stolen property in the county of Los Angeles, and the encashment of American Express Company's travelers' checks at Trajuana, Mexico, and San Diego, California, also showing the connection of Frank J. Sullivan, Tom Gray, Eddie Burns, Wm. McMahon, and E. S. McCardie as the actual participants in the bank robbery.

"I then began to accumulate further information, which resulted in actual evidence that proved beyond any doubt that the Mexicans who were arrested and are serving time for having robbed the First National Bank of Arcadia on April 5, 1922, were innocent of that charge, and the men who have been previously mentioned herein are the actual participants, and the guilty parties, and shall be apprehended and prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law.

"Recently the officials and some of the bank employees of the First National Bank of Arcadia, who were connected with the First National Bank of Arcadia on April 5, 1922, and who, to some degree, identified the Mexicans who were apprehended and who are at the present time serving a sentence, are now to a certain degree skeptical as to their identification of the Mexicans, and especially one employee who made verbal statements that the men who actually held up the bank were not Mexicans at all, and furthermore, he stated during a recent interview with him, that at the time the four Mexicans were brought into the bank by the officers for identification, he had a mental reflection as to the contrast between the men brought back by the officers and the men who held up the bank, particularly as to their height, the men brought back to the bank being considerably shorter than the participants. This man's name is Martell Stover.

"At this time, while I am dictating this memorandum, I have just been advised that Hubert M. Kittle, who was out on bail, has just committed suicide, which might be taken as a substantial indication of his guilt, inasmuch as it seems that he preferred death rather than to stand trial.

"* * * the Mexicans are not guilty of the Arcadia Bank robbery: that the men and women now indicted are the ones who committed the robbery, and I therefore recommend that you pardon Salvador Mendival and Broulio Galindo, who are serving a sentence of twenty-five years at Folsom, and Jose Hernandez, serving a ten-year sentence at San Quentin, for the crime for which they are now serving the sentences above enumerated."

Mendival's companions, Hernandez and Galindo, having been twice convicted of felonies, can not be pardoned by me at this time. Section 1 of article VII of the constitution provides that in such case a pardon must be first recommended by the Supreme Court. This recommendation has not been received to date

Now, therefore, in consideration of the recommendations above referred to, which show that he was not guilty of the robbery charged, I do hereby pardon Salvador Mendival

PARDONED AND DEPORTED ON RECOMMENDATION OF DISTRICT ATTORNEY WHO ADVISED PRISONER WAS INNOCENT.

JOSE HERNANDEZ, Folsom Prison No. 12208, was pardoned May 26, 1924. Hernandez, having been twice convicted of a felony, could not be pardoned under section 1, article VII of the constitution, until such pardon was recommended by a majority of the Justices of the Supreme Court. This recommendation has been received

Now, therefore, in consideration of the recommendations of the members of the Supreme Court, and other recommendations above referred to, which show that he was not guilty of the robbery charged, I do hereby pardon Jose Hernandez. This pardon is being granted with the understanding that Hernandez be delivered to the United States immigration officials, and that he be deported to Mexico.

BROULIO GALINDO, Folsom Prison No. 12286, was pardoned September 30, 1924. RESTRICTIONS OF PREVIOUS PARDON REMOVED.

On January 13, 1923, the limitation upon the pardon of Dr. William Card was removed by me. Card was convicted in the Superior Court in the city and county of San Francisco on July 7, 1918, of the crime of murder in the second degree and was sentenced to serve a term of from ten years to life imprisonment in San Quentin Prison. On January 8, 1923, a pardon was issued to him by the Honorable William D. Stephens, Governor of California, which pardon was conditioned upon Card leaving the State of California immediately upon his release from state prison, and never returning to the state.

It appeared to me that it would be a dangerous precedent for California to banish its criminals to other states, and that if we adopted such a policy the forty-seven other states might banish their criminals to California. The power of a governor in this matter is unquestioned, and if a governor can banish from California he could banish to a particular state. The question of the merits of the pardon issued by my predecessor was not at issue for the reason that I had the right to assume that the pardon was issued for good reasons and for worthy purposes. The only question that confronted me was that of removing the restriction of banishment.

In addition to the bad policy of banishing prisoners to other states, it appeared to me to be an unfair handicap upon Card to exile him from his own state and thus make it difficult to support his wife and family. For these reasons on January 13, 1923, I amended the pardon of January 8, 1923, issued by Governor Stephens, by removing the restriction.

CHIROPRACTOR PARDONED FROM COUNTY JAIL.

H. C. SAUNDERS, a chiropractor, was pardoned August 2, 1923. He was convicted in the Superior Court of the State of California in and for the county of Orange, for practicing chiropracty without a license or certificate to do so, and was sentenced by Superior Judge R. Y. Williams of that county to be imprisoned in the county jail of that county for a period of 120 days. The defendant is now confined in the county jail of Orange County.

As the people by their vote at the last election made the practice of chiropracty legal, I believe I am expressing the will of the people by pardoning the defendant, and I do hereby pardon the said H. C. Saunders.

CHIROPRACTOR PARDONED FROM COUNTY JAIL.

J. E. WILLIS, a chiropractor, was pardoned August 2, 1923. He was convicted in the Superior Court of the State of California in and for the county of Tulare on the second day of March, 1922, of practicing chiropracty without a license or certificate to do so, and was sentenced by Superior Judge W. B. Wallace of that county on the sixth day of March, 1922, to be imprisoned in the county jail of that county for a period of five months. The defendant appealed from this conviction to the Appellate Court of the Third Appellate District and that court affirmed the judgment of the Superior Court on the thirtieth day of June, 1922. The defendant is now confined in the county jail of Tulare County.

As the people by their vote at the last election made the practice of chiropracty legal, I believe I am expressing the will of the people by pardoning the defendant, and I do hereby pardon the said J. E. Willis.

RESTORED TO CITIZENSHIP WHILE ON PAROLE.

EDWARD MCCAMISH was pardoned November 1, 1923. He was convicted of the crime of murder in the first degree in the Superior Court of Los Angeles County, and on the twenty-eighth day of September, 1897, was sentenced to life imprisonment. He served continuously from that time until the ninth day of April, 1910, when he was paroled by the Board of Prison Directors, from which date until the present time he has been under parole, reporting regularly to the parole officer.

McCamish's conduct on parole has been exemplary as evidenced by the report of State Parole Officer Ed. H. Whyte, and by letters of recommendation which have been received from practically all his employers, as well as from the Mayor, Chief of Police, and police officers of the city of Berkeley, in which city he has spent most of his time since being paroled. Part of Whyte's statement is as follows:

> "McCamish's conduct since his release on parole has been exemplary and he has complied with the parole rules to the letter. To every one employing him, McCamish has given entire satisfaction.
> "He has filed his monthly report promptly each month since his release, and it has been a pleasure to note each month an increase in his savings. At the present time McCamish has to his credit in savings the sum of $3,490, which to my way of thinking is the best indication of his industry, thrift and good intentions. I know of no other way to describe his record than to say he has made good in all respects, and feel that after all those years of excellent conduct he is deserving of a pardon."

Under the indeterminate sentence law, McCamish, undoubtedly, would have been given his full freedom long ago by the Board of Prison Directors, but this law was not passed until recently, and hence the board has had no power to take such action.

Now, therefore, in conformity with the recommendations above referred to, and because of his exemplary conduct for more than twenty-six years, thirteen in prison and thirteen and one-half years on parole, and because of the fact that a technicality of the law prevents him from being given his freedom by the Board of Prison Directors, I do hereby pardon the said Edward McCamish.

RESTORED TO CITIZENSHIP AFTER PAROLE AND EXPIRATION OF TERM.

ARTHUR E. MOUFFE was pardoned December 14, 1923. He was sentenced from Los Angeles County on the 12th day of December, 1918, to be imprisoned under the indeterminate sentence law for the crime of forgery. On December 20, 1919, the Board of Prison Directors fixed his sentence at eighteen months with immediate parole. On the 12th day of March, 1920, his sentence expired, and he was given a certificate of discharge.

Mouffe's forgery was committed against his employers, the Union Oil Company of California at Los Angeles. Upon his release from prison he returned to his old home and has remained there ever since. His conduct in prison and while on parole was exemplary, and ever since his release he has proved himself to be a good citizen. These facts are testified to by numerous persons who have known Mouffe since his release, as well as by his employers. The officials of the Union Oil Company of California are among those who have petitioned that he be restored to citizenship. C. W. Ralph, director of sales and transportation of that company, writes in part as follows:

"The writer was authorized some weeks ago by W. L. Stewart, president, and E. W. Clark, executive vice president, to act for the Union Oil Company in the matter of request for executive clemency in the case of the above mentioned. Since his parole I have made it my personal business to follow up the activities of this young man, so that when we were satisfied he had learned his lesson that we might in every possible way assist him to start along new lines.

"I am very glad of the opportunity to state that Mr. Mouffe has conducted himself in a manner which is a credit to himself, his family and friends, that he has provided, to the best of his ability, for his family and he has earned the confidence of his present employer, and on requesting the Union Oil Company of California to endorse his application for clemency, we wish to say that we are pleased of this privilege and will willingly reemploy this young man should he desire to enter our service. We believe this is the disposition that should be shown by the former employers of those who err and who show an honest desire to once again take up their burdens and conduct themselves along proper lines.

"We believe this young man has earned the confidence of his fellow citizens and we sincerely hope that after a review of his application, you will conclude to grant his request.

"If there is any further information desired, kindly advise.

Respectfully yours,

UNION OIL COMPANY OF CALIFORNIA.
(Signed) C. W. Ralph."

Mouffe's former employer writes as follows:

"Having known Mr. A. E. Mouffe, of 5091 So. Pacific Boulevard, Huntington Park, California, both before and since his unfortunate experience I am of the opinion that he is a fit and worthy person to be restored to citizenship.

"Mr. Mouffe was formerly employed by me and I can not speak too highly of his services.

Yours truly,

THE GRANT FORGE SHOP.
(Signed) John Grant."

Mouffe's present employer writes as follows:

"A. E. Mouffe has been working under the writer's personal supervision for the past four years as steel heat treater and general forge shop work. I have always found him a good, steady, obedient and reliable workman, faithful in the discharge of his duties. He is a man of the highest character, and very good to his family. Am proud to have him in this plant, and would be pleased to have more men like him.

Yours very truly,

(Signed) R. B. ADAMS,
Superintendent, Wilson & Willard Mfg. Co."

Now, therefore, in conformity with the recommendations above referred to, and because of his excellent conduct in prison, while on parole, and since his release, which conduct shows him to be entitled to be restored to citizenship, I do hereby pardon Arthur E. Mouffe.

RESTORED TO CITIZENSHIP WHILE ON PAROLE.

THOMAS A. PATTON was pardoned December 22, 1923. He pleaded guilty to assault to commit rape on May Goeller in the month of January, 1917, and was sentenced by the Superior Court of Sacramento County on January 29, 1917, to be imprisoned for twenty years. He was paroled January 30, 1920.

At the time the crime was alleged to have been committed, Patton was so drunk that he had no recollection as to what occurred. He fell into the hands of an inexperienced attorney, who misrepresented the prosecution's case and prevailed on him to plead guilty so as to get probation.

Dr James T. Christian, who at the time of the alleged offense was employing the prosecuting witness, writes as follows:

"Some months ago I addressed you relative to Thomas A Patton. I again address you in his behalf to bring out a few more points in his case, which I understand is up for a complete pardon.

"As I stated before in my letter, May Goeler, his accuser, is an epileptic and is mentally deficient, and has a mania for making accusations against other persons similar to those made against Mr Patton. On one occasion she accused a Mr. Dwight Comstock of this place of attempting to rape her, but the charge was proven absolutely false upon investigation She also accused her brother-in-law, Henry May, of attempting to rape her—the circumstances are as follows: I was called to Mr May's residence about ten p.m. to attend Miss Goeler. I found her in a hysterical condition and upon demanding the reason for her condition she informed me that she was alone with her brother-in-law and that he had assaulted her I at once called Mr. May, and, upon telling him in her presence what she had said, she admitted that she had told a lie and that the real reason for her condition was that she was angry because she had not been allowed to go to Ione with her sister. Upon another time, while she and several girls were picking flowers near Carbondale, she came running to the girls and said a man had tried to assault her near an old mine shaft. There was a searching party organized, but no trace could be found of anyone having been in that vicinity.

"I have every reason to believe Mr Patton innocent. First: I know that the girl is absolutely irresponsible and insane. Second: I sent swabs from the vagina of Miss Goeler, taken one-half hour after the time of the alleged assault, to the Dameron Laboratory at Stockton and they were found to be free from any evidence of semen. Third. Mr. Cameron, an attorney, was in his offices just about nine feet away and heard nothing that would indicate that a struggle was going on. Fourth Mr Patton was in such a condition physically at the time of the alleged assault that it would have been a physical impossibility for him to have actually raped the girl He was intoxicated almost to a stupor.

"I personally know that Mr. Cameron, his attorney, was afraid to proceed with the trial, and desired to get out as quickly as possible, no matter who suffered

"I feel that Mr. Patton is a victim of unlucky circumstance and has suffered for a crime for which he is absolutely not guilty. He is deserving of help at this time, and if you can see fit to grant him a complete pardon, I know that he will never act in any manner that will make you regret that you have done so, and your kindness will be greatly appreciated by his many friends in this vicinity."

The Judge, District Attorney, prosecuting witness, and numerous responsible persons, recommend that Patton be pardoned District Attorney Bradford writes as follows:

"He has been on parole for several years and has 'made good.' During this time, I have seen him quite a number of times and often heard of his work. He now is asking for a pardon, and, in view of his conduct while on parole, I very heartily recommend his request to your favorable consideration Especially, I do this because doubt has since been cast upon the story of the girl"

Patton's conduct in prison and while on parole has been exemplary, as testified to by officials, employers, and others

Now, therefore, because of the recommendations above referred to, and of the fact that there is very grave doubt of his guilt, and because of his exemplary conduct in prison and while on parole, I do hereby pardon the said Thomas A Patton.

RESTORED TO CITIZENSHIP AFTER PAROLE AND EXPIRATION OF TERM.

VINCENT J. STEFFAN, formerly known as Vincent Steffanke, was pardoned August 4, 1924. He pleaded guilty to second degree burglary in Sacramento County and was sentenced to five years' imprisonment in Folsom Prison. He was received there January 11, 1911, and was given No 7763 On August 11, 1914, he was discharged and went to San Francisco, where he pleaded guilty to violating probation given him by Judge Wm P. Lawlor of that county in 1910, and to second degree burglary committed in San Francisco in September, 1914. For these crimes he was sentenced to be imprisoned for seven and three years respectively, such sentences to run concurrently. He was received at San Quentin November 20, 1914, being given No. 27975, and was released on parole January 10, 1918. He continued on parole until August 20, 1919, when he was discharged.

During his incarceration in San Quentin, Steffan became converted to Christianity and a complete reformation took place in his life. He carried on evangelistic work among his fellow prisoners and has continued such work ever since his release. In 1923 he was ordained a minister of the Presbyterian Church and elected prison chaplain at large for the state by the Presbyterian Synod.

The Supreme Court of California has unanimously recommended that Steffan be pardoned. Honorable George H. Cabiniss, Judge of the Superior Court of San Francisco, who sentenced Steffan to San Quentin, likewise recommends and writes as follows:

"I earnestly recommend that V. J. Steffanke's application for pardon be granted. Whilst in prison Steffanke underwent a genuine change of heart. After leaving prison he became closely identified with the Presbyterian Church, under the auspices of which he has done much good work. I am in full accord with your view that criminals should be punished and not coddled, and yet, in exceptional cases (of which the Steffanke case is one), I believe the full clemency of the law should be extended to one who has already been severely punished and seeks now a pardon, only that he may be restored to all of his rights as a citizen."

Several officials connected with the state's penal institutions who have been in touch with Steffan for several years have recommended that he be pardoned. Among them are Warden J. A. Johnston of San Quentin Prison, Superintendent O. H Close of Preston School of Industry, Trustee B. F. Pearson of Whittier State School and state parole officer, Ed. H. Whyte. Mr. Whyte writes as follows.

"His case was called to my attention on many occasions while he was in San Quentin on account of the great transformation in him. He not only set out to redeem himself but also helped many of the prisoners. I met and conversed with him and became convinced in my own mind that should he continue on the outside with the course he started in prison he would make good.

"From January, 1918, until August 20, 1919, I kept close observation of his conduct and deportment and found him sincere in his work and studies. Since his discharge, I have not only kept in personal touch with him but have inquired of his friends and the clergy with whom he is carrying on missionary work, and I am thoroughly convinced that Steffanke has not only staged a comeback but through his position as missionary of the Presbyterian Church I feel he will continue lending a helping hand to the unfortunate. I take great pleasure in recommending him to your excellency."

A large number of ministers of various denominations from all parts of California who have had occasion to work with Steffan, and to observe his conduct since his release from prison, have written letters strongly urging that he be pardoned. Rev. Lapsley A. McAfee of Berkeley, past moderator of the Presbyterian Synod of California, writes as follows

"This is my most cordial commendation of Vincent J. Steffan, who is now making an application before you I know him very well and have known him for the past several years. I know his record previously and I honor him very highly. Knowing the detail of his application and knowing his genuine worth, I am eager to be counted among those to urge favorable action for him."

Rev. Augustus B. Prichard of Los Angeles writes as follows:

"He has continued since his liberation in a course of life which gives yet further evidence of the reality of his transformation. He has been very closely observed by a large number of intelligent Christian people and I have yet to learn of a single misstep on his part, or of even a word escaping him that would continue to link him with the old life. He is assuredly a new creature in Christ Jesus. As one of those who have had especially good opportunity to know the man and witness his manner of life, I take great pleasure in asking that clemency be shown him to the extent of granting him a full pardon."

Rev. G. A. Briegleb of Los Angeles, present Moderator of the Presbyterian Synod of California, writes as follows:

"For the last seven years he has been doing evangelistic work and is now the Chaplain-at-Large to Penal Institutions of California of our Presbyterian denomination. He is an ordained Presbyterian clergyman, a member of the Presbytery of Los Angeles I know of no man that deserves the approbation of men in a greater degree than does Mr. Steffan. He has made good, has a tremendously powerful message and is being used in a very large way in our denomination in evangelistic work. He married a young woman who was for some time my church secretary, and it has been a source of personal joy to me to see the growth in grace of this good brother."

Now, therefore, in consideration of his meritorious conduct in prison, on parole, and since his release, which shows his worthiness to be restored to citizenship, and in reliance upon the recommendations above referred to, as well as many others, I do hereby pardon Vincent J. Steffan, formerly known as Vincent Steffanke.

RESTORED TO CITIZENSHIP AFTER PAROLE AND EXPIRATION OF TERM.

SAM F. KENNEDY, San Quentin Prison No. 31252, was pardoned December 4, 1924. He pleaded guilty of the crime of burglary in Santa Barbara County and was sentenced January 10, 1918, to an indeterminate period of from one to fifteen years at San Quentin Prison. The State Board of Prison Directors in due course fixed his term at four years. On July 12, 1919, he was released on parole and on January 12, 1921, his term expired.

Ever since his release on parole Kennedy has lived with and supported his wife and two children and has kept steadily employed. His exemplary life during that time and his fitness to be restored to citizenship are testified to by many responsible persons who have observed his conduct, and recommend that he be pardoned. Among those who do so are the following:

J. F. Frick, Supervisor, Fourth District.
M. G. Wenz, Pastor, M. E. Church.
L. E. Heiges, M. D., District Surgeon, S. P. R. R.
V. A. Kennedy, Editor, Lompoc Review.
G. W. Meals, Attorney at Law.
W. S. Bland, Chief of Police.
A. C. Whittemore, President Board of Trustees.
F. A. Mann, Justice of the Peace.
W. E. Talbott, M.D., Health Officer.
R. S. Lagier, Vice President, Commercial Trust & Savings Bank, Lompoc.

Dr. L. E. Heiges of Lompoc writes as follows:

"I am family physician and fraternal brother to Mr. Kennedy and his family. In this connection I have had opportunity to observe Mr. Kennedy not only in his home life but in community and social life as well. Believing that he is able and willing to reestablish himself on the firm and sound footing of good citizenship, I do not hesitate to recommend any favorable action you may take in this matter."

W. S. Bland, Chief of Police of Lompoc, writes as follows:

"He reported to me regularly during his parole and I have had opportunity for the several years he has been employed by his brother, editor of the Lompoc Review, to observe his conduct, which has been in every way becoming. He has been hard-working and regular in his habits, making a home for his wife and children.

The Honorable A. C. Whittemore, president of the Board of Trustees of the City of Lompoc, writes as follows:

"I have had opportunity to observe the young man and have never heard of anything to his discredit, since his return to this city on parole. From what I can learn I believe that he will make good use of citizenship if it is returned to him and will not abuse this privilege."

H. J. Moore, Keeper of the Records and Seal of Lompoc Lodge No. 57 of the Knights of Pythias, writes as follows:

"I personally am acquainted with Mr. Sam F. Kennedy and believe his conduct in his home and our community to be of an exemplary nature. Since his release from San Quentin on parole Mr. Kennedy has been employed by his brother, Mr. V. A. Kennedy, editor of the Lompoc Review, and has been in constant support of his wife and two children. I would heartily recommend any favorable action your office might care to take in this action, believing that Mr. Kennedy would prove himself to be one of our average citizens."

Ronald M. Adam, Editor and Proprietor of the Lompoc Record writes as follows:

"In reply to your letter of November 19th, regarding Sam F. Kennedy of Lompoc, will state that his conduct and behavior have been good. He has been working steadily for a long time for his brother, V. A. Kennedy, in the printing business in Lompoc. He has attended to his own business and has not been into any trouble since his release from prison. I made inquiry and he appears to be paying his bills and is going straight. Therefore, from my own observation and from the investigation that I have quietly made, I believe that he is worthy of your pardon."

The Honorable W. L. Talbott, member of the Board of Supervisors of Santa Barbara County, writes as follows:

"I have known the family for several years and am familiar with the trouble this young man got into and his life since his release from sentence and parole. He is raising a family and seems to be making every effort to overcome his past record, and is doing it here among the hardest circumstances possible, among people who know his past. I believe he will make proper use of citizenship if it be returned to him, better use probably than many who have never made the first slip."

All the officials connected with the prisoner's trial, to wit: The Honorable S. E. Crow, Superior Judge; Honorable James Ross, Sheriff; and Honorable E. W. Squier, District Attorney, have recommended that he be pardoned.

Now, therefore, in view of the recommendations above referred to, as well as those of many other responsible citizens, and because of the exemplary life he has led which shows him to be worthy, I do hereby pardon the said Sam F. Kennedy, for the purpose of restoring him to citizenship.

SENTENCE COMMUTED

The sentence of MICHAEL PARASKEVOPOULOS was commuted December 18, 1923, from life to fifteen years. He plead guilty in the month of October, 1917, to murder in the first degree, and on October 31, 1917, was sentenced to life imprisonment by the Superior Court of Napa County. He was immediately imprisoned in San Quentin, where he has ever since remained. His conduct while in prison has been exemplary.

On the night the offense was committed, the defendant, who is a Greek, was engaged in a drunken brawl with two fellow countrymen. His brother, Christos, seeing him so engaged, rushed up and fatally shot one of the defendant's opponents. For some reason the defendant's attorneys, who are now dead, compelled him to plead guilty in spite of the fact that he had had nothing to do with the firing of the fatal shot.

In May, 1922, Governor Stephens commuted the sentence of the defendant's brother Christos to time served, because he had fired the fatal shot believing his brother's life in danger.

Both the trial judge and the District Attorney, among others, have recommended commutation of the defendant's sentence. The District Attorney recites the above facts, and writes as follows:

> "As conclusion from the foregoing facts and particularly in view of the excellent character and reputation which said applicant had prior to this unfortunate trouble, and the excellent character and reputation which he has borne during his entire incarceration, and believing that he can again become a useful member of society, I have no hesitancy in recommending a commutation of sentence and I therefore recommend that your Excellency commute the sentence of the aforesaid Michael Paraskevopoulos, San Quentin Register No. 31044, to one which will be the approximate punishment of manslaughter.
> NATHAN F. COOMBS, > Prosecuting District Attorney."

Now, therefore, upon the recommendations of the Judge, District Attorney, and others, and in order to prevent a miscarriage of justice, I do hereby commute the sentence of the said Michael Paraskevopoulos from life to fifteen years.

SENTENCE OF EXECUTION COMMUTED, PRISONER BEING UNDER EIGHTEEN YEARS OF AGE.

The sentence of WILLIAM ALEXANDER HARD was commuted April 14, 1924, to life imprisonment. He was convicted of murder in the first degree in the Superior Court of Siskiyou County on the fourth day of March, 1924, and was sentenced to be hanged at San Quentin prison on Friday, the twenty-third day of May, 1924.

Since the conviction of Hard I have made a careful investigation and have discovered that he was not of the age of eighteen years at the time of the commission of the murder. This is shown by his birth certificate and the record of his baptism. This evidence was not presented to the jury. From the evidence presented to the jury it decided that Hard was of the age of eighteen years.

Section 190 of the Penal Code provides that the death penalty shall not be inflicted upon any person for murder committed before such person shall have reached the age of eighteen years.

Now, therefore, in view of the above facts and the law, I do hereby commute the sentence of the said William Alexander Hard to life imprisonment.

This action is taken solely for the reasons stated above. The murder committed was cruel, cold-blooded and deliberate. There were no extenuating circumstances. Hard has the appearance of being nineteen years of age, as he stated to officers when arrested, and his conduct on the witness stand showed keen intelligence and force.

SENTENCE COMMUTED.

The sentence of HERBERT W. REED was commuted April 18, 1924, to ten years' imprisonment. He pleaded guilty to the crime of sodomy committed in San Joaquin County on March 27, 1921, and was sentenced to an indeterminate sentence of from five years to life on June 14, 1921. He was immediately transported to San Quentin Prison, where he has since remained.

At the time Reed was sentenced, the law in such cases provided that the sentence could not be less than five years. However, on July 29, 1921, this law was amended changing the sentence in such cases to not less than one nor more than ten years. It is, therefore, apparent that if he had pleaded guilty he would have been sentenced under the amended statute.

While confined in San Quentin his conduct has been exemplary, and he has been of great assistance to the prison officials. Reverend Spence Burton, representative of the Episcopal Church at San Quentin, writes as follows:

"Mr Reed holds a responsible position in charge of the University Extension Work in the prison. He is trusted by the authorities and liked by his fellow prisoners. I shall not presume to make any suggestions to you in regard to Mr Reed, but I beg of you to consider his excellent record both for usefulness and trustworthiness while in San Quentin."

William R. Blumenthal, assistant to the chaplain at San Quentin, writes as follows:

"I have known Mr. Reed during two years that I have made regular monthly visits to the prison, and have had opportunity to observe his work and conduct. I am happy to be able to say that I always found him gentlemanly, considerate and courteous. The guards and inmates all speak of him in terms of highest praise.

"As assistant to former Chaplain Laizure and as the one in charge of the University Extension Division, he has fulfilled and filled full his duties in a most able and efficient manner. Mr Reed rendered my Committee for Personal Service aid in helping us conduct our holiday services for the past two seasons, for which we are all duly grateful.

"I bespeak your consideration of his case, for I am convinced that he is worthy of a chance to show that he can make good."

C. D. Seacrist, the complaining witness against Reed, recommends clemency, and writes as follows:

"I am asking a favor in regard to Mr. Reed, now in San Quentin, that he be pardoned or paroled. I am the man who made the charges against him that he pleaded guilty to, but I feel that he has paid full penalty for his crime and am more than willing that he be pardoned or paroled. Hoping you may find it possible to grant this favor."

Judge George F. Buck of San Joaquin County, who sentenced Reed, recommends that his sentence be commuted to ten years, and District Attorney Edward Van Vranken of that county approves this recommendation. Judge Buck writes as follows:

"The offense charged against the defendant was committed on the twenty-seventh day of March, 1921, and the information charging the same as a crime was presented by the District Attorney on the fourteenth day of June, 1921. And on the fourteenth day of June, 1921, the defendant appeared in court, waived right to counsel, and entered his plea of guilty, and waived time allowed by statute before the pronouncing of judgment, and judgment was forthwith on said fourteenth day of June, 1921, pronounced against him, ordering 'that he be imprisoned in the state prison of the State of California for such period of time as provided by law.' It now seems that at the time of the commission of the offense the punishment provided by law was 'imprisonment in the state prison not less than five years.' (Penal Code, 286.)

"But on April 29, 1921, the Legislature enacted an amendment of this section of the Code so as to provide that the punishment should be 'imprisonment in the state prison not less than one nor more than ten years,' and further providing that this amendment should go in effect ninety days after date, to wit, on July 29, 1921. This amendment was approved by the Governor on May 13, 1921. From the foregoing it will therefore appear that on June 14, 1921, when the defendant appeared and pleaded guilty, without counsel, and waived time for pronouncing judgment, that he inadvertently deprived himself of the benefit of the amendment enacted by the Legislature on April 29th, and approved by the Governor on May 13th, even though that amendment did not in law become effective until July 29, 1921. For he could very easily have availed himself of that amendment by prolonging the time of his sentence beyond July 29, 1921, by entering a plea of not guilty and having the case set for trial at some later day and then either standing trial or withdrawing his plea of not guilty and entering his plea of guilty after July 29, 1921, and not waiving time for pronouncing sentence, but insisting upon his statutory rights. It would therefore seem that the mere failure on the part of the defendant through ignorance or inadvertence in availing himself of his statutory rights should not deprive him of the slight benefit accruing to him by virtue of an amendment to the statute duly enacted by the Legislature and approved by the Governor. For in this case, since the amendment was a modification of the punishment provided by the statute in effect at the time of the commission of the offense, the amendment is not rendered ineffective, so far as the defendant is concerned, by the rule prohibiting ex post facto legislation. (16 Corpus Juris, page 70, 22 N. Y. 95, 21 Pick 492.)

"It would therefore seem to me that it would be highly in conformity with the spirit of the law that this defendant should be given the benefit of the amended statute which provides that the punishment shall be not less than one nor more than ten years' imprisonment, and that he should not be burdened with the penalty of the old statute as a result simply of his own inadvertence and ignorance which followed from his evident and praiseworthy desire not to delay but to speed the process of the law."

Now, therefore, in consideration of the defendant's exemplary conduct in prison, the assistance rendered by him to the prison officials, the recommendations above referred to as well as others, and in order to make his sentence conform to the present law, I do hereby commute the sentence of Herbert W. Reed to ten years' imprisonment.

SENTENCE COMMUTED.

The sentence of JOHN E BRISCOE, San Quentin Prison No. 34209, was commuted April 25, 1924, to ten years' imprisonment. He was convicted of the infamous crime against nature in Napa County, and on November 21, 1920, was sentenced to a term of from five years to life. He was immediately transported to San Quentin Prison, where he has ever since remained. He has conducted himself properly as a prisoner and is given a clean record in the prison report

At the time Briscoe was sentenced, the law in such cases provided that the sentence should be from five years to life However, on July 29, 1921, this law was amended changing the sentence in such cases to not less than one nor more than ten years.

Honorable Henry C. Gesford, who, as Judge of the Superior Court of Napa County, sentenced Briscoe, recommends that his sentence be commuted, and writes as follows

"[illegible] in view of the change of law since the conviction of this man, which has resulted in his not being eligible for parole at this date while those who have been convicted of the same crime since the change of law are now eligible for parole and are being paroled. I can not see that there would be any disadvantage to the state nor anything but good come of such a commutation of sentence in the premises. It would place this prisoner upon the same footing that he would now be on had he been convicted under the new law."

Clarence N. Riggins, who was District Attorney of Napa County at the time Briscoe was convicted, recommends that his sentence be commuted, and writes as follows:

"At the time of his conviction, the law provided that sentence be from five years to life The legislature of 1921 amended this section so that punishment is from one to ten years Briscoe was intoxicated at the time of the offense and he was an industrious man when sober. I think that he has already been sufficiently punished, and, since the legislature has amended the law and reduced the penalty, I think it would be just to give him the benefit of the amendment and reduce his sentence."

Jas R Harris, Sheriff of Napa County, recommends that Briscoe's sentence be commuted, and writes as follows:

"Regarding the case of John E. Briscoe, convicted in the Superior Court of Napa County in 1920 for violation of Section 286 of the Penal Code, and who, I am informed, has applied for commutation of sentence, I wish to state that I believe that his application should be granted.

"The amending of this section by the legislature of 1921 so that it now reads from one to ten years should, I believe, be taken into consideration when passing upon his application. Briscoe was a very industrious man while here in Napa, and was at the time of the offense intoxicated

"Further, after the trial was over, it was rather a general opinion that the complaining witness was a moral pervert, at least bore that reputation."

Eight of the jurymen who rendered the verdict against Briscoe have also recommended that his sentence be commuted

Now, therefore, in consideration of the defendant's clean record in prison, the recommendations of the Judge, District Attorney, Sheriff and jurymen above referred to, as well as others, and in order to make his sentence conform to the present law, I do hereby commute the sentence of the said John E. Briscoe to ten years imprisonment.

REPRIEVED FOR THREE DAYS.

WILLARD THOMPSON, reprieved April 9, 1924, was convicted in Los Angeles County of murder in the first degree and on June 2, 1922, was sentenced to be hanged August 18, 1922. An appeal was taken which was denied by the Supreme Court and on February 12, 1924, his execution was set for April 18, 1924. Because this date fell on Good Friday, I reprieved him from that day until April 21, 1924.

REPRIEVED FOR SEVEN DAYS.

ISAAC WOLFGANG, reprieved April 9, 1924, was convicted in Los Angeles County of murder in the first degree and on April 2, 1923, was sentenced to be hanged

June 22, 1923. An appeal was taken, which was denied by the Supreme Court, and on February 2, 1924, his execution was set for April 18, 1924. Because this date fell on Good Friday, I reprieved him from that day until April 25, 1924.

REPRIEVED FOR THREE DAYS.

WILLIAM BRINGHURST, reprieved April 9, 1924, was convicted in Los Angeles County of murder in the first degree and on June 2, 1922, was sentenced to be hanged August 18, 1922. An appeal was taken, which was denied by the Supreme Court, and on February 12, 1924, his execution was set for April 18, 1924. Because this date fell on Good Friday, I reprieved him from that day until April 21, 1924.

DEPORTED TO HOME STATE ON ACCOUNT OF INSANITY.

HARRIS HALL, also known as Dallas Pope, was pardoned October 6, 1924. He was convicted of grand larceny in San Diego County on February 28, 1924 and was sentenced March 15, 1924, to San Quentin Prison for an indeterminate term of one to ten years. Upon being received at San Quentin it was discovered that he had been previously convicted of a felony. He was thereupon transferred to Folsom Prison where he was given prison number 13026.

Hall's peculiar actions attracted the attention of Warden Smith and Dr. Rogers, warden and prison physician respectively of Folsom, and after careful examination and observation, on April 3, 1924, they petitioned the Superior Court of Sacramento County to examine into the prisoner's sanity. After such examination by the Insanity Commission of Sacramento County, Hall was declared insane by the Honorable Peter J. Shields, Judge of the Superior Court of Sacramento County, on April 4, 1924. He was ordered committed to Stockton State Hospital for the insane, where he has remained ever since. He has been closely observed by the hospital physicians and they have advised me that his insanity is incurable. Dr. Fred P. Clark, Medical Superintendent of the institution, writes me as follows:

> "This man is a convict and was sent to us from the Folsom State Prison. He is suffering from a mild form of dementia praecox, an incurable disease. Since he has been with us, he has not shown any violent tendencies—has been quiet and well behaved but makes peculiar grimaces and acts in a peculiar manner. He will sit and stare into space and when answering questions, gives his answers slowly and in a very low tone. He has had one or two marked periods of excitement.
> "We would recommend to you that you issue a pardon to this man in order that he may be deported to Oregon, where he belongs."

After Hall was committed to Stockton Hospital, it was discovered that he was a resident of the State of Oregon. Negotiations were taken up with the Board of Control of that state and that board has consented to receive and keep him at the Oregon State Hospital. The Department of Institutions was advised that because Hall was under sentence to state prison he could not be deported and upon the matter being submitted to the Attorney General's office of this state, that office has rendered me the following opinion advocating Hall's pardon for purposes of deportation:

> "Upon the record as presented, it appears to be manifestly to the interest and advantage of the State of California to deport this man to the state of his residence, and thereby relieve this state of the burden of his maintenance throughout the balance of his natural life. Under these circumstances you request to be advised whether or not it will be necessary for you to pardon, or commute the sentence of, the said Harris Hall, in order that he may be legally removed from the custody of the Superintendent of the Stockton State Hospital and delivered into the custody of the proper authorities in charge of the Oregon State Hospital at Salem.
> "In answer thereto, I write to advise you that I am of opinion such action, upon your part, will be necessary.
> "In contemplation of law, the status as a convict remains unaltered and the Superintendent of the Stockton State Hospital is without authority to deliver him into the custody of the deportation agent of this state, for transportation to Oregon, until his status as a convict is terminated. This termination can be had only through the medium of the exercise of executive clemency, either in the form of a pardon, or of a commutation of sentence."

Honorable Walter D. Wagner, Director of Institutions, also recommends Hall's pardon for purposes of deportation and writes as follows:

> "The Attorney General has informed us that before this man can be deported his prison record must be cleared, which would require that he be pardoned by Your Excellency. I am informed that Hall is incurably insane and will probably require custodial care the rest of his life.
> "In view of the above facts, I respectfully request that you grant a pardon to Harris Hall, Folsom Convict No. 13026, so that he may be deported to the State of Oregon, which State has agreed to receive him."

Now, therefore, relying upon the above recommendations and solely to enable him to be deported thus saving this state the expense of maintaining him for the rest of his life, I do hereby pardon the said Harris Hall, also known as Dallas Pope, Folsom Prison No 13026.

Respectfully submitted

FRIEND WILLIAM RICHARDSON,
Governor of the State of California.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The following message from the Governor was received and ordered printed in the Journal.

BUDGET MESSAGE OF FRIEND WM. RICHARDSON, GOVERNOR.

To the Members of the Senate and Assembly.

In accordance with the requirements of section 34 of article IV of the constitution, I submit herewith to you a budget containing a complete plan and itemized statement of all proposed expenditures of the State provided by existing laws or recommended by me, and of all institutions, departments, boards, bureaus, commissions, officers, employees, and other agencies, and of all estimated revenues, for each fiscal year of the ensuing biennial period, together with a comparison as to each item of revenue and expenditure for the first fiscal year of the present biennial period, and the actual and estimated revenues and expenditures for the second fiscal year of the present biennial period.

The estimated revenues of the State for the ensuing biennium exceed the total of the budget, hence the present revenues will be sufficient. The details of this budget have been prepared by the members of the Board of Control, who are entitled to great credit for their efficient service to the State.

The constitution provides that the Governor may at any time amend or supplement the budget, and it is possible that I will make further recommendations to you from time to time while the budget is being considered. It is presented to you not with the idea that it is a perfect document but that it is as complete and thorough as it could be made. After the budget has been considered by your two finance committees you may be able to suggest further savings and indicate where the budget can be reduced.

The budget herewith presented shows proposed expenditures totaling $103,430,275 10. The estimated revenues for the biennial period, according to figures presented by the State Board of Equalization, are $104,571,780 19.

In preparing this budget, every endeavor has been made to carry out the economy program and to keep the State's expenses within its income. The people ultimately pay every dollar of taxes whether such taxation be direct or indirect, hence it is important that expenditures should be curtailed as much as possible.

In view of the fact that changes will be made in the next few days in the personnel of the State Railroad Commission, it has been thought best to leave the budget figures the same as for the last biennium, so that the new commissioners may have an opportunity to make recommendations. The same course has been followed with regard to the Industrial Welfare Commission in view of the uncertainty surrounding the pending decision of the Supreme Court.

The largest increase in the budget is in the appropriations for education, amounting to ten million dollars. As pointed out by the Board of Control in its letter of transmittal, if these increases fixed by statute are continued, they will in a few years absorb the entire income of the State. The increase in bond and interest payments will be two million dollars over the previous biennium. The Supreme Court of the United States has recently decided the case involving the tax on the return premiums of insurance companies adversely to the State and more than eight hundred thousand dollars will have to be returned to the insurance companies. In July, 1923, a disastrous earthquake occurred at the State Hospital at Patton and six hundred thousand dollars damage to the main building resulted. Provision has been made in this budget to cover this loss by the erection of new buildings. It has also been necessary to provide for the continued growth of the State, which ordinarily in two years would be about 10 per cent.

As required by the constitution, the budget is accompanied by an appropriation bill covering the proposed expenditures.

The budget has been prepared after the most careful study with the purpose of using the funds available to the greatest advantage of all concerned. It is submitted to you in the most friendly spirit and with the desire for your cooperation and support in maintaining the program of ECONOMY.

Respectfully submitted,

FRIEND WM. RICHARDSON,
Governor of California.

January 12, 1925.

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL.

SACRAMENTO, CAL., December 31, 1924.

Hon. Friend Wm. Richardson,
Governor of California,
Sacramento, California.

YOUR EXCELLENCY: We submit herewith the State Budget of prospective revenues and expenditures for the two fiscal years commencing July 1, 1925, and ending June 30, 1927.

In doing so, we desire to pay a tribute to the fine spirit of cooperation shown by the heads of all departments in the preparation of these figures. Intensely interested, as they are, in their respective functions, and desirous of seeing their work extended, they have intelligently realized that the complete achievement of their ideals could not be fully reached in one biennial period, and they have set themselves loyally to work with the funds available. They have also appreciated the fact that the State finances cover a wide field and that due consideration must be given to other departments than their own.

In the preparation of this budget the thought which has been always in mind has been the continued need for strict economy, consistent with efficiency in every department of the State.

The total available funds for the period are $104,571,780 19, consisting of an estimated balance of $2,675,478.59 and estimated receipts from semi self-supporting departments of $2,556,301 60, together with the Board of Equalization's estimated revenue of $99,340,000. We have not included in this last item the $2,000,000 estimated revenue from the new poll tax, as this amount is credited to the School Fund and is treated in the same manner as other School Fund accretions.

The fixed charges amount to $66,804,871 66, being an increase over the preceding biennium of $8,972,272 02, of which approximately $7,000,000 is to be expended for education and $1,985,000 for bond interest and redemption.

The amount which we recommend for appropriation to cover the cost of operating the various activities of the State is $36,625,403 44. This amount does not include any provision for self-supporting functions of the State, the details of which are given in the following pages, and in the Summary on page 136. This makes due allowance for the large increase in population, and the consequent increase in the amount of work to be done. It also provides for the proper upkeep and replacement of the ordinary wear and tear on machinery and property owned by the State, and the development of the various institutions to meet such growth in population as may be reasonably expected during the coming two years.

These recommendations are made after personal visits to every State-operated institution in California, a thorough inspection of such institutions, and conferences with the officers regarding their needs.

We consider it our duty to call your attention to the large amount appropriated for education and the growth in proportion to the total revenue with each biennium.

The total provided for education in this budget, including fixed charges, amounts to $61,593,816 60, which is approximately $10,000,000 more than for the previous biennium and is almost 60 per cent of the total budget. It has been estimated that should this proportion continue to increase at the same ratio for a few more years the amount required for educational purposes would absorb the entire revenue of the State.

This is a subject which is giving grave concern to all who are interested in educational matters and calls for careful preparatory study if California is to retain its present advanced educational position without embarrassment to the State's finances.

In dealing with the institutions we recommend that they be treated as branches of one great department, allowing greater flexibility in administering the finances of the institutions.

In budgeting for expenditures more than two years in advance it is evident that conditions may arise during the interim which will render changes desirable and even imperative. Both efficiency and economy can be obtained by the interchange of products between institutions, and the transfer of funds from one institution to another as necessity may dictate.

We suggest, therefore, that a total appropriation be made for each of two groups, viz.: the eight curative institutions and for the three corrective institutions for delinquents, and that authority be given for interchanges within these respective groups as outlined above.

In the past it has been the custom for the Division of Architecture, Department of Public Works, to bill the institutions for the office cost of preparing designs, blue prints, etc., and for the expense of supervising buildings during construction.

This has not worked satisfactorily as the bills for such expenses could not be rendered until the buildings were completed, and therefore the institutions did not know what funds were available or what charges were accumulating against them.

To overcome this difficulty, we have budgeted the cost of operating the Division of Architecture and this cost has been deducted from the budget recommendations for permanent improvements of the several institutions.

The appropriations herein recommended are larger than for the last biennium, due to great increase in fixed charges, unusual expenditures and the State's growth during that period. This is an additional reason for rigid economy in all departments. The optimistic predictions of national authorities that the country is entering upon an era of prosperity is still another reason for economic caution. Every one has to retrench during hard times. The true economist saves when times are good. Real thrift never forgets the future rainy day.

Respectfully yours,

STATE BOARD OF CONTROL
HENRY ROBERT BRADEN.
GEORGE G. RADCLIFF.

SELF-SUPPORTING DEPARTMENTS.

The following budgetary data present estimated expenditures and estimated revenues for all self-supporting departments. They show the actual expenditures and revenues for the seventy-fifth fiscal year, and the estimated expenditures and revenues for the seventy-sixth fiscal year, together with the recommended expenditures and estimated revenues for the seventy-seventh and seventy-eighth fiscal years.

No appropriations are necessary for the support of these departments, they being created by constitutional provisions or existing statutes and being supported entirely out of moneys obtained from their own collections.

SPEECHES RELATIVE TO CHILD LABOR AMENDMENT.

The following speeches were delivered January 8, 1925, relative to the Child Labor Amendment:

By Mr. Coombs:

I want to apologize for addressing you, simply, though, because I know that you are tired, perhaps ready to vote, and not in a mood to listen to further discussion, and if it were merely for myself, a matter of individual thought or expression, or the assertion of my own principles, I would forego this opportunity

No truth was ever told more sublime than that which was uttered once by Byron "A thousand years scarce serve to build a state; an hour may lay it in the dust" With that momentous question we are now to deal, for I feel that we have in our hands the fate of a nation

It has been the idea of republics, ancient and modern, to keep government near the people Original discipline originates in the family, by the care and the discipline of the mother and the father the children are reared and grown to manhood, and republics, when they yield that principle, hover close around the verge of monarchy The Declaration of Rights of 1765, again the Declaration of Rights of 1774, told of the infringement of monarchial discipline upon the conduct of the colonies; in other words, the warning of the tendency toward centralization of power And one of the sublime utterances out of the field of speculation, out of the field of experience, and out of the field of thought, was that made by Thomas Jefferson when he wrote the Declaration of Independence He said, "He has erected a multitude of new officers, and sent hither swarms of officers to harass our people and eat out our substance. He has kept among us, in times of peace, standing armies, without the consent of our legislatures. He has affected to render the military independent of, and superior to, the civil power He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution, and unacknowledged by our laws; giving assent to their acts of pretended legislation. He has quartered large bodies of armed troops among us"

And those were the thoughts springing, not only from the examples of tyranny exercised by the English monarch, but from a study of the home life of the colonies, out of the wisdom of local government.

In the olden times the Greeks in the different cities fought against the tendencies of a central government. There were confederacies of states for different purposes: the Archean League, the Dellian League, the Boetian League, and they each in turn dissolved because each state saw in it the encouragement of centralized power, an encroachment upon and contrary to the ideas of popular government.

Take the Roman system with all of its imperialism. They observed a rule of conduct as necessary to their existence and their national life; it was in order to preserve the independence of the communities which made up the empire. There was constituted through Italy the township government, from which we derive our own; their independence was recognized and local government was encouraged, and the hand of the imperial government with its symbols of power, with its gilded eagles, never invaded the rights of the home, and wherever a Roman happened to be, he was a citizen of Rome. But that republic could not have so long survived, could not have grown without the recognition of the first and abiding principle of national life—that government began at the fireside.

So we find in that same great country institutions within the imperial state preserving the life of these principles. The Goddess Vesta presided over the destinies of her temple and was the guardian of the home, and the holy virgins they call vestals kept its altars lighted, and no hand dimmed them with sacrilege, though it bore the imperial purple

This principle went down through the centuries, became a part of France, thwarted at times by the feudal system, but ever struggling, it created the Third Estate. Then came the States General, then the Revolution, and at last popular government. In the early part of the fifth century the Saxon, the Jute and the Angles invaded England, bringing the love of the old Roman system of township government, and from this the home was built and fostered, the Common Council evolved, and Magna Charta was achieved, and from all these developed the parliament. I love to read of that old English institution, with its love of the home life, where every man's house was his castle the wind might whistle through it, the rain might enter it, but the King could not.

And so, in 1620, came the Pilgrim Fathers, and with them the life of the principles of the past, to plant, on other shores, the faith of home and government, household government, and that is the way the colonies were built.

And then came along the days of oppression, and with them the Declaration of Rights of 1765 and 1774, and the Declaration of Independence, then the great Convention, presided over by Washington, and the work of a constitution was at hand. The one thing impressed upon the fathers by the centuries was the preservation of the home life, the preservation of the sovereignty of the individual states, and they adopted a constitution preserving these rights, and gave to the general government no real governmental powers touching the domestic life of the people, so far as the regulation of the family is concerned, and to that extent the national government is not a government and never was intended to be, the state is the government concerning the social order. The national government was charged with special and limited powers, recognizing that when the inspiration for government failed at the home, government itself would fail

Article I, section 8, of the Federal Constitution contains the enumeration of the powers of the general government. They are these: 1. To collect taxes, duties, imposts and excises. 2 To borrow money. 3 To regulate commerce. 4. To enact laws of naturalization and bankruptcy. 5. To coin money and regulate its value. 6 To provide for punishing counterfeiting 7. To establish post offices. 8. To promote progress of science and arts. 9. To establish federal courts. 10. To define and punish for piracies. 11. To declare war, with incidental powers. 12. To raise and support armies. 13. To provide and maintain a navy. 14. To provide for government of naval forces. 15. To call upon the militia and to suppress rebellion. 16. To organize, arm and discipline the navy. 17. To exercise jurisdiction of the city of Washington. 18 To make laws to carry out these powers

It is seen by this that all local affairs were left to the states, but the constitution went a little further and in article IV, section 4, it said "The United States shall guarantee to every state in this union a republican form of government."

It is not difficult to find the theory upon which our government was founded, and to ascertain that this proposed measure is calculated to destroy it.

Every state in this union has a republican form of government with all of the powers over the household and the family, and it has been styled the wisest conception of government ever suggested by wisdom or sanctioned by time. And who, now, is endeavoring to destroy it?

Every time you vote for an amendment to the constitution of the United States of this character, you are giving away something that belongs to you as a principle upon which your life estate was established, and by virtue of which it has existed for one hundred and thirty years. The very moment you pass an amendment like this you destroy something that was vital in the conception of original government, something that should belong to it, and when you give it away you take it from yourselves, and you cannot get it back And someone has said, "Oh, Congress would not abuse the power," and that is the only defense that I have heard.

I have always understood that the framers of this government were never trained to the giving away of a power which might be exercised to their detriment upon the simple hope that it would not be exercised. The whole thought of constitutions is to abridge the right of government so that powers tyrannical or arbitrary are rendered impossible and not permissible.

You are giving up something vital, with the hope that it will not be used, giving the power to tyrannize over you with the hope and the trust that it will not be exercised. I tell you it is the history of human experience that power tends to tyranny, and that tyranny grows by what it feeds on. There never was a power conferred, and this is the history of mankind, but that it has been exercised to its limit, and its full control; and if it suggests arbitrariness, the full operation of it, some time, you will surely have. How exercised—how exercised? Let me speak of the Eighteenth amendment, not in derogation of its principles, mind you. It has passed and become a law. We have accepted it and lived under it, and abided by it. I instance it only that it affords an example. It is enforced by agents, strangers among us, and this has to be, if it is enforced at all.

There is no power of the government of the United States that can be exercised except it is exercised by agents sent out from a distant capital, just as Jefferson penned in his declaration, complaining of the government of England. There the monarch was 2500 miles away, seated upon a throne of ancient lineage, and our homes are about 3000 miles away, planted upon banks of majestic rivers, by the growths that clothe the wold and meet the sky, under trees planted by God himself. How can you reach the government in supplication, in complaint of injury and oppression? You cannot. Some vicious whisper brings an agent to investigate you, poking his nose into your household affairs. Regulation, they say. They say they will not prohibit, that they will merely regulate. To me to prohibit is a less evil than to regulate.

To regulate you. How can they act in consonance with this amendment except to regulate? How can regulation be anything except a change in the style of government which you, yourselves, have enacted for your home affairs? How can they regulate except to disturb the home discipline? Regulation is worse than to prohibit. I would rather they would say, "You shall not work at all but lie in idleness until you are eighteen," rather than to regulate. You say there is no danger. I tell you there is now going through this world, of which you sit here and think not, a danger widespread. The seeds of disintegration seem to be sown upon fallow soil. It reaches from Moscow to Siberia; it can reach out its hand across the wastes and the snows into the little household of the peasant and you can not be too guardful of its influence here.

We cannot be too guardful of the insistent and insidious enemies of our system of government, for they are making a deeper impression than we are willing to admit. They are insistent and impress themselves upon organizations intended for good. The variety of thought that comes to us from institutions to which we should look for examples is sometimes startling.

The official journal of the soviet commissariat of the public education says: "We must nationalize the children. We must remove the children from the pernicious influence of the family."

There is some intolerance about this. I will not speak of others who have told me that they have been threatened, nor of the impressions sought to be created to the effect that the woman of the farm is not capable of judging of these things.

I have learned a different lesson from the farm and the woman of the farm. They are educated, they read, they make music where there was none before. They are educated in all of the household affairs. I would be willing to take their word upon anything which concerns the domestic privileges. It is a mistake, ladies, to say that the woman of the farm is not as competent to judge as you, of governmental affairs.

I remember one myself, and you, perhaps many of you, remember your mother, the most vivid picture of life. From her hands I first saw, and from her lips I first heard, the lessons of the Bible. From her I first saw the volume of poems in an old edition printed long years ago. If there is anything in me that gives me courage to come here today and confront the people whom I oppose, it comes from memory. If there is anything of good in me, it came from her, and this is not detracting from that father whose name I bear and whose memory I revere, whose name stands brave in the very early archives of this hall, but all the gentle traits that shape men's lives come from the mother. She was as noble as the Roman Cornelia, the mother of a noble race, as God-fearing as St. Cecilia when led to her martyrdom, as beautiful as any of the daughters of Eve, as ever image reflected from the mirror of the tinted flesh; more beautiful still in character, in womanhood, in mother love, and betwixt that relation and the boy the government desires to enter its designing hand, to regulate. It is tearing into shreads the very fabric of the constitution. I say "stop it" now, ere it be too late; now, ere it goes further; now, ere the silver cord be loosed; now, ere the golden bowl be broken, now, ere the pitcher be broken at the fountain, or the wheel broken at the cistern—stop it now. There is not any havoc more widespread, no flame more consuming, more calculated to detract from government as it was originally created than this one.

Child Labor Law. A gentleman, whom I esteem, prints and distributes a poem entitled "The Cry of the Children." Appealing, indeed, yet, when I read it, the thought comes that when the children cry they should be upon the breast of the mother, not in the hands of the government No mother, with all of your patched-up law, will yield one caress of the child, and that is the one thing we have to depend upon, the one thing in life we encourage, and should not destroy. Oh, it is a principle that has concerned the ages' Regulation, to regulate the mother, that's what this is.

I cannot help but go back to the time when this constitution was adopted, and it seems to me that they built a mighty cathedral from which, during all the spent years, has come the martial hymns of the republic. They have kept enkindled the fires of the temple. I see there the form of Washington, with his sword in his hand and the ægis upon his breast, the ægis of the republic. And in another nitche, Grant, the humanitarian general, and as some think, the greatest of his time. Higher than all is Lincoln, surrounded by the emblems of peace, raised at home. The first act in his legislative life in the State of Illinois concerned a local affair, for he cherished the home government Alexander Hamilton, the foremost in mind, though an off-spring of love not sanctified by the law, said that if there was one thing great in him, one thing above another, it came from his mother; and the mother today you want to regulate. You want to throw aside the mantle of love with which she has surrounded her children and fashion it by government control. Danger? There is plenty of it. The God-given little things—I always think that the sweetest of the sayings of Christ was "Suffer little children to come unto me, and forbid them not, for of such is the kingdom of heaven."

You think that I exaggerate? I assure you that I do not, for the pallid hand that reaches out into the mother's home to tell her what to do, changes the very fountain of love, it raises the boy, not in veneration of his father and mother, but away from their disciplining and their love, and their corrections No stranger—and the government is a stranger with its cohorts of agents—no stranger can cross the sacred threshold of the home, as of right without defiling it No stranger can retard the discipline of the mother, set back her love, without defiling the home, and, though I spoke before of the lighted fires of that Eternal City, that neither the king nor the emperor, nor the dictators of the republic could enter the temple—that, at times, was the only veneration they had, and legend and tradition preserved the cherished customs, the creeds of a race

Man stands ever at the door, the tutelary guardian of his own kingdom: let us not destroy it. And you women, I appeal to you now. Do not resign or delegate the rights that God has given you as good, honest women And you are about to do it You are brave enough for the great adventure, and so are your sisters in toil and endeavor, the adventure of life with the young.

I know, I realize what I am up against, but never yet in my political career did I shirk a danger or sidetrack a duty and though many of us, Mr. Van Bernard, and others, may fall, we will fall with the flags flying over us, and that is the courageous way. "One crowded hour of glorious strife is worth an age without a name."

Let us see what this is Say the Congress shall have the power to limit, regulate and prohibit the labor of persons under the age of eighteen years, and the advocates of this measure have interpolated phrases so that it reads that Congress shall have power to limit, regulate, or prohibit child labor. Do you see any difference? Why eighteen years of age? They tell us that the President of the United States has advocated this It is not true He recommended some action, but not this, and it was sent back to the state of which the President had been governor, and submitted to the referendum and defeated by nearly three to one When I instanced this to a lady yesterday she said, 'Oh, it was the interests that did that" Yet, in that old English community that has ever cherished the ideals of the constitution, every town, I believe, voted against it They have halls there and ancient buildings where you see the memorials of the past, traced are the legends of a heroic time; you read from the mighty volumes and hear the voices of the fathers, those who built this constitution made the Union and created its liberties, and from far away came the awful echoes and made the people of the old dominion patriotic again

And then we are told that a convention met here in September and endorsed it, and I wonder how many of that convention read it, or had read it up to that time. I understand it was not submitted to the committee at all I do not assert this, but I understand it is the truth. But how about that convention? I was not there I came in the morning and I saw that I could not offer any suggestions which might change its pre-ordained course, and after the recess I went home. But this is not an alibi with me Say I was there, if you like There were Senators of the United States, and Congressmen, naturally they were in favor of endorsing something which they had done. There were State officers, not fresh from the people, elected two years ago, and then ourselves. We sat here in solemn conclave and directed how we should vote three months hence on a proposed law we had not read—how we should vote after reading it, after understanding it. If it had been a convention of 700 or 800 members, fresh from the people, with a full discussion before it, it would have been different But I do not feel bound by what I might have said. As a matter of fact, I did once say that I was going to vote for it. A teacher came to me and asked, "Do you think it best to start the fight for the Twentieth Amendment now, or to wait until after election?" I replied that I thought it was better to wait, as the people would not take it up then. I said, "You will not have any trouble, it will go right through." Then afterwards I went to him and asked him if he remembered, and he said "Yes," and I said, "Have you read it?" and he said "No," and I said, "It is not what I thought it was." How many of the Legislature, Senate and Assembly, had read it at that time? I would say this, that a man is giving up something as a member of this Legislature who abides by the thought that might have been in his breast at that time on this question, confessing that he had never read it. And men are too prone to pledge themselves. It is the way of saving trouble.

It is a mistake to say that it does not propose a centralization of power. It seeks the greatest centralization of power that was ever attempted in this Union, for it is an attempted regulation of the family, and the fight against the centralization of power created this constitution—created the Union.

There are many evils and many abuses in the world, in society. Children are often abused, sometimes by too much pampering, sometimes by cruelties, but every time we see an individual case, or even a system involving numerous cases, as a remedy we should not resort to changing the constitution—to centralizing power in the general government, to taking from the states the constitutional guarantee of a republican form of government. If the energies in aid of this proposed amendment should centralize in the state where abuse is found, with the immense funds ready for such work, no evil could stand against them. And that is the duty of society, and the causes are always within the power of the states. Besides, the states have, or can have, a referendum, and Congress has not.

I have looked upon the constitution in my reverence for old institutions, like him who bowed before temples of old faiths, and I have stood before the flag, and with me the constitution and the flag are one, born of the same womb of destiny, out of the same red fires of conflict from the same circumstance of glorious war. Of that glory, while it would be a crime to dim a star or erase a stripe, it would be a mistake, fraught with equal consequences, needlessly or unthinkingly to tear a leaf from the venerable pages of the constitution under which, and under whose ideals the nation has grown to be the proudest upon earth, and where women and men have cherished the greatest faith in womanhood and manhood, and where they have attained the ultimate fulfillment of happiness.

In the continued reverence of the constitution and the flag, love and faith and patriotism will shape our destiny. Let us go forth to battle with the old faith, the old hope, for we have many modern strangers to encounter, and let us stop and think, ere the silver cord be loosed, or the golden bowl be broken, or the pitcher be broken at the fountain, or the wheel broken at the cistern. Let us go back to original conditions, if you like, from the time when man came from the unknown ancestor and first established a home, and then, with the sweep of the years a government, carrying some idea of union, and through unbroken paths until faintly glimmering liberty dawned and lighted his hearths anew with faith, the faith of his own handiwork. That was the handiwork and the faith of the home which became his castle, and while, through the ages, the wind might blow its shutters, "the storm might enter it, the king could not."

By Mrs. Saylor:

MR SPEAKER AND MEMBERS OF THE ASSEMBLY: This is the third time today that I have lifted my voice in behalf of this amendment, but my interest in it is so deep that I must again ask your indulgence.

A number of years ago it was my privilege to inspect some of the mines in a middle western state in a semi-official capacity, and what I saw there of child labor stirred my very soul, and I solemnly resolved that if ever I had an opportunity to raise my voice against it I would do so in no uncertain terms.

There were scores and scores of children, eight to ten years of age, in those mines who went to work before daylight and quit work after dark, and for weeks at a time those little fellows never saw the light of day.

Those who were either too young or too sick to dig coal, opened and closed doors so the mules that pulled the cars of coal could go back and forth. For ten, and often twelve hours a day, those little fellows sat in drafts, in dampness, in darkness and silence, for a mere pittance. They were robbed of all the joys of childhood, robbed of health, of education, and everything else that makes life worth living—and for what? To give them the privilege of coughing their lives away, and to further line the pockets of four coal barons who were already rolling in wealth.

Why am I for this amendment?

First, Because child labor, which means cheap labor, a substitute for adult labor always, is an extremely dangerous economic waste, resulting in unjust competition between states that do protect their children industrially and states that do not protect them.

Second, Because it has been found that whatever industry saves in dollars and cents, society pays for a hundredfold in terms of vice and crime, delinquency, and illiteracy (for child labor and illiteracy always go hand in hand), and, most dangerous of all, decayed citizenship.

Third, Because, as was stated in the Judiciary Committee of the United States Senate when this amendment was under discussion, "In some states a single industry is so powerful, politically, as to prevent the enactment of any kind of a state child labor law or secure its enforcement after enactment," hence, the great necessity of legislating on this subject in a national way

The purpose of this amendment, briefly stated, is to protect children when children need protection

It is to protect those who are at the mercy of parents who would exploit their own children for selfish gain.

It is to protect them from unscrupulous labor bosses and factory owners who would exploit them industrially.

It is to give Congress the power to make a law which will protect the children in the states which either refuse or neglect to protect them.

The powers granted to Congress through this amendment are the same that all of the states now possess, with one important difference.

The states already have the power to prohibit the labor of any person, of any age, at any occupation, or under any conditions that their respective legislatures may deem harmful to the individual. For example, under no circumstances are females permitted to work in the mines of this country.

In other words, the state has jurisdiction over the individual throughout the entire span of human life, while this amendment limits the powers of Congress to the age of eighteen.

And why the age of eighteen?

Because, the words "child" and "minor" have different meanings in the laws of different states. In some states those words are defined as a person under twenty-one years of age, in others, under eighteen, or sixteen, or fourteen, or even seven years of age In one state the law reads: "A child is a person who has not yet reached the age of discretion" So, it was necessary for Congress to set a limit upon its powers of jurisdiction, and eighteen was regarded as a reasonable age and the word "person" was used instead of either the word "child" or "minor"

As soon as this amendment is ratified by thirty-six states, then Congress will have the power to enact a national child labor law With that power, Congress may do much, or little, or nothing.

But Congress is extremely responsive to the will of the people, and common sense teaches that Congress, composed mainly of parents who are, we hope, above the average intelligence of their districts, will not make a law which will be the "laughing stock" of this and other nations.

It is not reasonable to suppose that they will make a law which will take away from children the right to that character building and character developing process which comes with honest toil. This amendment will not prevent your daughters from doing work about your home or your sons from laboring on the farm, as some would have you believe

It should be well understood that this amendment does not give Congress the power to fix wages, or determine working conditions, or physical fitness, or to set educational standards.

One of the previous speakers would have us believe that this day and this hour is the first intimation that the people of California have ever had about this amendment He says we are like a "steam roller choking it down their throats without an opportunity to be heard" Doesn't this previous speaker know that this thing has been talked about and written about for the last twenty years, and that nineteen years ago Senator Beveridge of Indiana introduced the first child labor law in Congress?

No, this is not a new thing. It has long since passed the experimental stage, for the United States government has already functioned two national child labor laws for a period of three years, and nothing has happened that was detrimental to the laws of the states that had laws on the subject and surely nothing happened to industry but the soundest kind of prosperity and success.

Some say this amendment is not necessary Let public records tell their own story.

In thirty-five states children from fourteen to sixteen years of age are allowed to go to work without a grammar school education

In nineteen states physical fitness is not a condition of employment

In fourteen states children work at dangerous employment, such as oiling machinery in motion, running elevators, working on locomotives, doing night messenger work, etc.

In eleven states children under sixteen work from nine to eleven hours a day

In one state there is no regulation as to hours.

Only thirteen states are up to standards used in the first two national child labor laws, which standard is said to be acceptable to one of the most powerful organized opponents to this measure

Some of the previous speakers have said that this amendment is radical, socialistic, bolshevik Some said that woman suffrage, the eighteenth amendment, and the prohibition of slavery was radical. Some people of California said that those who favored public roads instead of toll roads were radical. Once the public schools were considered worse than radical. Today we look upon them as the salvation of this republic.

Don't lose sight of the fact that many, in fact, all progressive steps, are looked upon by some as radical.

It has been extremely interesting to me to analyze the anonymous literature that I have received against this measure From their printed page they indicate a desire to teach the American people that this government can not be trusted; that Congress can not be trusted to pass a law to protect its children, although it can be trusted to borrow money, levy taxes, and declare war; that the President of the United States can not be trusted with his veto power, and, lastly, the Supreme Court, which must rule on its constitutionality, can not be trusted.

It would seem that the deliberate teaching of distrust of this government is as radical as it is un-American.

The opposition to this amendment seems to come from three principal sources·

First, Those who do not understand its meaning and purpose, and are misled by propaganda

Second, Those who oppose any change whatsoever in the constitution of the United States "As it was in the beginning (even though it was 137 years ago), is now, and ever shall be."

Third, Those who are opposed to either state or national regulation, but heartily welcome no prohibition, and no regulation of child labor It is quite evident that no one who is not in favor of exploiting children to the point of endangering life, limb, health and morals need fear this enabling act, for such it is.

If this amendment fails, those who profit by trafficking in childhood will surely feel encouraged to enlarge upon their nefarious business because of national approval.

In conclusion, if the constitution of the United States is too sacred to be amended, perhaps the lives of millions of little children of this and future generations are too sacred to be used as mere grist for the mills and mines and factories of this country.

If this great and powerful nation of ours could arm 4,000,000 men and send them across the Atlantic ocean to fight foreign foes on a foreign soil to make this country safe for democracy, surely we can change our constitution to make this country safe for its own children.

By Mr. Spence·

We have before us a resolution which seeks to ratify the proposed twentieth amendment to the constitution of the United States. This amendment if adopted would give to Congress the power to "limit, regulate, and prohibit the labor of persons under eighteen years of age."

In speaking upon this resolution at the present time, I am not doing so with even a hope that anything I may say will influence the vote of a single member of this body. Every one of us has been addressed by numerous individuals and organizations, some favoring and some opposing the ratification of this so-called Child Labor Amendment Nearly every one within the hearing of my voice has committed himself or herself, either in favor of or in opposition to it. I am therefore reconciled to the fact that my remarks will be more in the nature of an explanation of my vote on this important question

In arriving at my decision in this matter, I have been torn between the dictates of sentiment and the dictates of my better judgment, sentiment persuading me that I should do all in my power to protect the child in industry and my better judgment convincing me that the proposed constitutional amendment is the wrong remedy for this evil of the exploitation of the child It is now a generally accepted fact that every state should protect the women and children in industry, and nearly all of the states have accepted this duty and are satisfactorily progressing in legislation along these lines California has stood in the front in her legislation in this regard I have, in these halls and elsewhere, espoused the cause of all reasonable legislation for the protection of women and children in industry and for the welfare of labor generally It has always been and always will be a pleasure to me to vote for well-considered humanitarian legislation, and it is not with any feeling of pleasure that I enroll myself at this time on what may seem to be the other side

I pledge myself here and now to maintain the laws of the State of California, protecting the child in industry, and will be glad to be the first to enlist myself in the aid, financial or otherwise, of a cause which has for its purpose the betterment of the laws regarding child labor in certain other states of the Union which have been somewhat backward in this regard But despite the sentiments I have expressed, I must follow the dictates of my better judgment and vote against the ratification of this proposed amendment to the federal constitution, stripping the states of their sovereign rights in this regard, and burdening the federal government with this further responsibility.

To my mind, a great deal of the argument concerning this matter has been made under a misapprehension of the issue that is before us. The issue is not whether we are in favor of or opposed to child labor, whether we would prohibit it or permit it, whether we would regulate it or allow it to go unregulated The question resolves itself purely into a question of whether this function of government will remain in the hands of the several states or be transferred to the federal government.

Mr. Coombs has carried you back to the days of ancient Rome in a most masterful address, and I trust you will pardon me if I take a moment of your time in reviewing very briefly the history of the amendments to the federal constitution.

The original constitution as written in 1787 consisted of but seven articles with which to govern these United States. As simple and as brief as it may have been, there was a new form of government conceived under which this country of ours has happily prospered for almost over a century and a half of time. It carefully reserved to the states and prohibited to the federal government the exercises of any functions of government which were not essentially national in character; and it conferred on the federal government only those powers and functions which were essentially national in character. In the hearts of the framers of the constitution was the desire to reserve to the states all of their sovereign powers not essentially national in character and to avoid the dangerous over-centralization of power which had resulted in the downfall of many forms of government previously attempted.

Almost contemporaneously with the framing and adoption of the constitution, itself, came the ratification of the first ten amendments to the constitution, commonly known as the Bill of Rights. These amendments conferred no new powers or responsibilities on the federal government, but insured the citizens against oppression either by the federal government or the government of the states, and specifically reserved to the states all powers not delegated to the federal government. And so, by 1791 we had the federal constitution and the first ten amendments thereto, which together are commonly thought of as the constitution in its original form.

During a period of one hundred thirty-four years, since 1791, only nine further amendments have been added to the constitution of the United States. Of these nine, only five were ratified between 1791 and 1913, a period of one hundred twenty-two years, but in the brief period of seven years from 1913 to 1920, the remaining four amendments were ratified. There has recently developed an absolute mania for amending the constitution of the United States. Whenever a few states lag in keeping abreast with the times in their legislation, a federal constitutional amendment is proposed, conferring certain further powers on Congress. This tendency has grown so rapidly that at the last session of Congress there were introduced one hundred proposed amendments to the constitution of the United States, practically all of which had for their purpose centralizing certain powers or functions of government now belonging to, and which should properly remain with, the several states.

Of course, every new function, new power, or new responsibility, which is placed on the shoulders of the federal government, results in new and greater responsibilities resting upon the Chief Executive of this nation and upon the Congress of this country. So great are the responsibilities already burdening the Chief Executive that our experience shows that our presidents are carrying a burden too great for any human being to bear. Our late President Wilson retired from office broken in health and our late President Harding was carried to his last resting place during the term for which he was elected. It is not idle to assume that the tremendous amount of work placed upon the shoulders of these men brought them to their graves while in the prime of their lives. We certainly cannot lessen these burdens by placing further amendments on our federal constitution increasing the powers and responsibilities of our government at Washington.

And with respect to the Congress of these United States, who can say that Congress is now functioning in an efficient manner? With all due respect to Congress as a body and to the individual members thereof, we have already given them what appears to be almost a superhuman task in dealing with the national and international problems of this great country. At the last session of Congress approximately 15,000 bills were introduced relating to those functions of government with which the federal government now deals. It is obvious that but a small percentage of these bills could possibly be given serious and thoughtful consideration and, does any one feel that we are bettering this condition by adding new amendments to the federal constitution, placing upon Congress further legislative responsibilities with respect to new functions which are proposed to be cast upon the federal government?

This amendment in itself would materially add to these responsibilities and would necessarily cause the creation of a new bureau with its agents to carry into execution such laws as Congress might enact thereunder. But the great danger is in the tendency which is upon us to further and further add to these responsibilities from time to time. If this amendment be ratified and adopted as the twentieth amendment to the constitution, it is but a step further to enact a twenty-first amendment, giving Congress power to regulate the employment of women in industry. After all is it not as important for the federal government to protect the mothers and prospective mothers from exploitation in industry and to regulate the conditions under which they shall work, as it is to protect the children up to eighteen years of age? And should such an amendment protecting women be adopted as a twenty-first amendment, would it not be but one step further to say that all labor and the conditions under which all men shall toil should be regulated by the federal government under a twenty-second amendment to the federal constitution? And, as suggested by Mrs. Saylor in her talk today, there are states where the laws relative to the education of the child are not what they should be. And why, rather than to seek the legislation through the legislatures of the various states, could this not be handled by giving Congress, under a twenty-third amendment to the constitution, power to make laws governing compulsory education in the various states? And so we might go on and on, suggesting various and innumerable functions which might be put under federal control in order to spread the benefit of humanitarian laws throughout those states which have been backward in this regard.

The difficulty lies in the fact that our federal government is now topheavy and almost inevitably made so by necessary centralization. If we add to these functions of government which are necessarily centralized, further responsibilities and powers which are not necessarily national in their character and need not be centralized, we may so build up our centralized power with its cumbersome boards, bureaus and employees to such an extent that the whole structure may some day topple under its own weight. This is the danger, and the real danger, and it is far greater in its importance than the question of whether control of child labor shall rest in Washington or in Sacramento.

I have read arguments for and against the ratification of this amendment, some of which seemed to have merit and some of which seemed entirely beside the point. The children of the State of California and practically all of the rest of the states of the Union are now amply protected by state laws. There are but few states in which the conditions are unsatisfactory. Nevertheless, progress has been made all over the country and it is merely a question of time when the desired legislation will be placed upon the statute books of every state of the Union. If the effort which has been made to have Congress pass this proposed constitutional amendment and the effort which is being made in the various states to obtain the ratification of this amendment, had been directed toward a campaign for adequate state laws in those few states that are behind the times, we might already have had satisfactory child labor laws in all of these states. But, in order to speed up and better conditions in these states which are backward, we are asked to strip California and every other state of the Union of its sovereign power to legislate in this regard and to allow ourselves to be controlled from Washington in every detail of the work of the child.

My judgment tells me that such procedure is entirely wrong and that the further centralization of government in these United States should cease. Let us leave our federal government as free as possible to deal with the great problems now confronting them which are essentially national or international in their character. These problems are many and we hope for their fullest consideration and early solution. And let us not force upon our national leaders the problems of the several states which are not essentially national in character.

That I may not be misunderstood, let me repeat that I stand unequivocally for adequate laws to protect the child against exploitation, but let me further say that the evils arising in a few states under inadequate child labor laws can be solved more easily than the evil which lurks behind the tendency now upon us of further hampering an already overburdened federal government with new and greater responsibilities.

It has been said that it is political suicide to vote against this amendment. I do not believe this, for I believe that the people generally will realize that this amendment should not be ratified when full light is thrown upon the subject. I further do not believe that any one is subject to criticism for voting his true convictions. It would be pleasanter to vote in accord with the wishes of those who have been actively working for this amendment here in Sacramento, and it probably would be more expedient. But I have never cast a vote on the floor of this Assembly against my convictions and solely as a matter of political expediency, and I will not do so now.

ASSISTANT CLERK BOOTH READING.

REPORT OF STANDING COMMITTEE.

The following report of standing committee was received and read:

ON FEDERAL RELATIONS.

ASSEMBLY CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, January 14, 1925.

MR. SPEAKER: Your Committee on Federal Relations, to which was referred Assembly Joint Resolution No. 4—Relative to federal taxation of community income and community estates in California—has had the same under consideration, and respectfully reports the same back, and recommends that it be adopted.

LOUTTIT, Chairman

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT.

Assembly Joint Resolution No. 4 ordered transmitted to the Senate.

ASSEMBLY JOINT RESOLUTION No. 4.

Relative to federal taxation of community income and community estates in California.

WHEREAS, The community system of property prevails in the State of California; and

WHEREAS, In the other community property states the husband and wife are permitted to return one-half of the community income each for purposes of federal income taxes; and

WHEREAS, Only one-half of the community property passing to the wife on the death of her husband is subject to the federal estate tax; and

WHEREAS, The right of California taxpayers to equal treatment in these matters with the other community property states has been suspended and has been under the consideration of the Attorney General and the Secretary of the Treasury of the United States since May, 1924; and

WHEREAS, We are advised that the Attorney General, whose opinion on the matter was requested by the Secretary of the Treasury, gave his opinion to the secretary on the matter last October; and

WHEREAS, The absence of a definite ruling upon this matter by the Secretary of the Treasury is a matter of grave concern to the taxpayers in the State of California and is seriously embarrassing to them now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly and the Senate of California, That we respectfully urge upon the Secretary of the Treasury the importance of an early decision of these questions by his department and the early publication thereof for the guidance of all taxpayers in this State who may be concerned; and be it further

Resolved, That the text of this joint resolution be telegraphed immediately to the Secretary of the Treasury of the United States.

H. G. DENTON, City Clerk.

By Mr. Little:

WHEREAS, By an amendment to the constitution of the State of California, adopted in 1911, it was provided that on the reassembling of the Legislature after recess, no bills shall be introduced in either House without the consent of three-fourths of the members thereof; and

WHEREAS, Said provision was undoubtedly intended to enable the people of the State to study the proposed legislation during said recess; now, therefore,

The City Council of the City of Santa Monica hereby resolves: That the Legislature of the State of California be respectfully requested to provide for the speedy printing of all bills introduced at the first portion of the session of the Legislature, and their distribution during the recess of said Legislature. It is further

Resolved, That the Legislature be requested to furnish to the city of Santa Monica at least fifty (50) copies of all bills so introduced, in order that the same may be distributed among the various civic organizations in the city. It is further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Honorable Charles Lyons, Senator from this district, and the Honorable Walter J. Little, Assemblyman from this district.

Adopted, January 16, 1925.

F. A. HELTON,
Commissioner of Finance, ex officio City Clerk, ex officio Clerk of the City Council of the City of Santa Monica.

REPORT OF JOINT COMMITTEE OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY ON PRINTING.

The following report of joint committee was received and read:

MR SPEAKER: The joint committee of the Senate and Assembly on Revision and Printing having considered the subject presented by Senator Johnson and in consultation with the State Printer, unanimously recommend the adoption of the following rule:

> "All amendments to existing code sections as well as amendments to statutes shall be underscored in the copy and appear italicized in the printed bill."

The matter has been taken up with the legislative counsel and if all members will follow the rule suggested of italicizing new matter, we believe that the plan recommended by the joint committee will prove very satisfactory to both houses.

For the information of the members of the Senate and Assembly, we request that this be printed in the Journal and the recommendation be adopted.

CADET TAYLOR
Printing Committee of the Senate.
E. G. ADAMS,

ASSEMBLY CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 6.

Relative to requesting the State Athletic Commission of California to give preference to any post of the American Legion or any other duly recognized organization of veterans of any war of the United States in the matter of granting boxing or wrestling permits.

WHEREAS, The people of the State of California at the last general election favorably approved and adopted proposition number seven relating to boxing and wrestling contests; and,

WHEREAS, Certain individual posts of the American Legion, other duly recognized veteran organizations and individual veterans were very active and instrumental in securing the passage of said proposition number seven; and,

WHEREAS, It has been brought to the attention of the members of the Legislature that certain posts of the American Legion have applied for permits to grant them the privilege of holding boxing contests under and by virtue of the provisions of said proposition number seven; and,

WHEREAS, It appears that said request for boxing permits by the American Legion posts have been denied;

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, the Senate thereof concurring, That the State Athletic Commission of California be and the same is hereby requested to give preference to posts of the American Legion, or any other duly organized veteran organization in granting permanent boxing permits whenever it is possible;

Resolved, further, That a copy of this resolution be sent to each of the members of the said Athletic Commission of California and a copy to the Governor of the State of California.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION No. 18

Relating to protection of certain navigable waters in the State of California.

WHEREAS, The flow of lava and mud from Mount Shasta has seriously threatened the navigation of certain rivers in the northern part of the State of California; and

WHEREAS, The flow of such lava and mud, and debris into the rivers is threatening the fisheries of the State with serious injury; and

WHEREAS, There has been introduced into the House of Representatives of the United States a certain bill (H. R. 11065, sixty-eighth Congress, second session) which is commonly called the Raker bill, which provides for an investigation of the problem caused by such volcanic ash, mud and other material from Mount Shasta, California, the passage of which would be of great benefit to the State of California, wherefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate and Assembly of the State of California, jointly, That the Legislature of the State of California urgently petitions and requests the passage of the bill known as the Raker bill; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate is directed to send copies of these resolutions to the chairman of the rivers and harbors committees in the Senate and House of Representatives, and to the United States engineer in charge of rivers and harbors development, and to the Senators and Representatives of the State of California in Congress.

NOES—None.

Assembly Joint Resolution No. 3 ordered to engrossment.

ASSEMBLY JOINT RESOLUTION No. 3.

Relative to memorializing Congress to adopt a bill introduced by Honorable John E. Raker to provide compensation in lieu of taxes for the several states with respect to certain lands of the United States within the borders of said states, and for other purposes.

WHEREAS, Honorable John E. Raker, member of the Congress of the United States, representing the second district of California therein, has introduced a bill in the House of Representatives being H. R. 8844 which provides: "That the United States government hereby assumes, subject to the conditions of this act or any subsequent act of Congress, the payment to the several states of sums of money equivalent to the amounts which such states would receive from the taxation of said lands of the United States within their respective borders if such lands were owned by individuals", and

WHEREAS, Under act of the Congress of the United States approved March 3, 1891, large areas of territory with the timber and other resources thereon and therein were "set apart, reserved, and withdrawn from entry" in the states of California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Nevada, Arizona and New Mexico and in a lesser degree in several of the other states of the Union; and

WHEREAS, The United States government has withdrawn, set apart and reserved within permanent national forests 18,891,161 acres of land within the State of California, approximating one-fifth of the total land area of the State, said lands being set apart, withdrawn from entry and reserved for the purpose of conserving the resources thereof and particularly the standing timber thereon for the benefit of future generations of mankind, and

WHEREAS, The lands of the United States above referred to, comprising in several of the counties to upwards of one-half of the area within the borders of the counties and although exempt from annual taxation are being put to commercial and industrial uses for the benefit of all of the people of the United States which fact places these lands on the same basis as to use as privately owned lands used for the same purpose, and said lands of the United States are in competition with said privately owned lands, and the setting aside, reserving and withdrawing from entry of these large areas of territory in the sparsely settled forest counties and on which the United States pays no taxes results in throwing a heavy tax burden on privately owned property in the same political subdivision of government thus making the financing of local government a difficult problem indeed; and

WHEREAS, This area is not and can not be taxed by any of the thirty-nine counties of California wherein this vast domain is situated, although each of said counties are required to and do perform therein and thereon all necessary and requisite police powers, equip, maintain and operate schools, equip, maintain and operate courts for the punishment of offenders against the forest and other laws, construct, repair and maintain trails, roads and bridges and to do and perform such other acts, duties and powers as may be necessary to the enjoyment of such forests by the people of the United States as well as of other nations, and

WHEREAS, When state government was instituted and the several states admitted into the Union they were divided into counties, and townships and each of the states, counties and townships were guaranteed the full right of enjoyment of all of the territory and resources within their respective borders and the declared policy of the United States government being to dispose of all of the public domain and article X of the declaration of rights which formed the basis for the union of the states provides that "No state shall be deprived of territory for the benefit of the United States." In setting apart, reserving and withdrawing from entry 19,000,000 acres of land for national forest purposes within the boundaries of a single state, surely territory has been taken from that state for the benefit of the United States, and

WHEREAS, The following clause is contained in the enabling act of every state admitted into the Union, beginning with Ohio in 1803 "The state when admitted shall be on a basis of equality with the original states in all respects whatever" Therefore all political subdivisions of government should be on a basis of equality, which makes it necessary for all to contribute on a basis of equality to the solution of all problems of national necessity (and we deem the national forests to be national necessities), and if in so doing it becomes necessary to take territory and resources from some of the subdivisions of government and "set apart, reserve or withdraw" the same from entry for the benefit of all of the others, then those benefited should join in reimbursing the subdivisions of government from which the territory and resources were taken, otherwise there can be no basis of equality, and

WHEREAS, The Congress of the United States has enacted legislation known as the "exchange bills" under the provisions of which said law, private owners are enabled to exchange cut-over lands for standing timber on the lands of the United States, and since said law has become operative private owners have availed themselves of the right granted to them under said law and have conveyed hundreds of thousands of acres of such lands to the United States and have received in exchange, hundreds of millions of feet of standing virgin timber from the United States, and as a result of the operation of such legislation, counties in which such exchange have been made or in which such exchanges may hereafter be made, have had or will have taken from them and removed from the assessment rolls of such counties, many thousands of dollars in assessed valuation, and in addition to this loss of assessed valuation such counties are losing the percentage which they would receive were a sale made instead of an exchange, and as Colonel Greeley, Chief Forester of the United States, has said of this law, "The forest counties lose both going and coming", and

WHEREAS, The Congress of the United States has enacted the so-called Clark-McNary Law, and under the provisions of section seven of said law, private owners are enabled to donate or devise to the United States lands chiefly valuable for the growing of forests, the private owner reserving the timber, mineral, grazing and other rights and when so conveyed become a part of the national forest reserve and not open to entry or taxation, and should timber owners in some of the counties in several of the western states exercise their just right under this law and convey their said lands to the United States thus taking from the assessment rolls of the counties the immense valuation involved and the right of taxation, it will result in putting many of the forest counties of the west out of business, such counties will be unable to raise sufficient revenue to maintain county government, and if such counties are annexed to a nonforest county in the same state the county to which it is annexed will receive not an asset but a liability and

WHEREAS, It is only just and right that a heavy burden of local taxation should not be placed annually on the people of any state, in which and by reason of the fact that extensive areas of territory having great natural resources, guaranteed to them in the beginning and later legislated from them, set apart, reserved and withdrawn from entry for the economic use and benefit of all of the people of the United States, and we believe that if the government of the United States can not afford to finance its national forests, then in right and justice it should not expect the sparsely settled forest counties to do so for it; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly and Senate, jointly That the Legislature of the State of California approves of the purpose of the Raker bill referred to and respectfully request its support and adoption by the Congress of the United States at the earliest possible date; and be it further

Resolved, That any moneys to be paid to the State of California by the United States under the provisions of the Raker bill or any similar bill, or any law enacted by the Congress of the United States, based on forest values of the forest counties of California shall be divided among said forest counties in proportion to the forest values fixed by the United States Bureau of Public Roads. Provided, that by the term "forest counties" is meant those counties of California, a part of which are in the present national forests; and provided, further, that any portion of the timber sale, grazing or other receipts of national forests returned by the federal government to the State of California, are excepted herefrom; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly of the State of California be authorized and directed to transmit copies of this resolution by mail to the governors of the states of Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, Utah, Nevada, Colorado, New Mexico, and Arizona with the request that similar action be taken by their respective legislatures; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly of the State of California be authorized and directed to transmit copies of this resolution by mail to all of the members of the Congress and Senate of the United States.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION No. 14.

Relative to the proposed formation of a bridge and highway district for the purpose of constructing a bridge across the Golden Gate from the city and county of San Francisco to the county of Marin.

WHEREAS, The war department of the government of the United States has recently approved the general plan placed before it for the construction of a bridge to span the Golden Gate from the city and county of San Francisco to the county of Marin; and

WHEREAS, Steps are now about to be taken for the formation of a bridge and highway district under the laws of the State of California for the purpose of constructing said bridge and the approaches thereto; and

WHEREAS, Said bridge will, when completed, form a much needed link in the chain of the famous highway system of the State of California, and afford service, convenience and economy of transportation to its citizens, as well as a marvelous attraction to sightseers and tourists, and will be a valuable asset in time of war; and

WHEREAS, Said bridge will be a monument to engineering skill and public enterprise, now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate and the Assembly of the State of California, That we endorse the project of forming a bridge and highway district, as an agency of the State of California, for the purpose of building said bridge, and urge upon the boards of supervisors of the respective counties affected by the proposed district the desirability and urgency of pressing the necessary resolutions and ordinances to effect the speedy organization of such bridge and highway district; and be it further

Resolved, That we extend to the war department of the United States Government the appreciation of the Senate and the Assembly of the State of California for its favorable and helpful consideration in the past, and most respectfully urge that such further consideration be extended to the project as will enable its early completion, and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate be and he is hereby directed to forward a copy of this resolution to the Secretary of War of the United States.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION No. 16.

Relating to federal harbor development at Crescent City.

WHEREAS, The federal government has heretofore approved the projected construction of a jetty at the Crescent City harbor for a distance of 3000 feet at an estimated cost of $490,000, the expenditures therefor by the federal government to be matched or equaled by local interests or other sources; and

WHEREAS, More than 2200 feet of such jetty has been constructed, and between 700 and 800 feet thereof remains uncompleted, the said amount of $490,000 having been expended and expenditures of the federal government having been equaled by the county of Del Norte through a bond issue; and

WHEREAS, The completion of said jetty is of great importance in establishing a harbor of refuge to coast navigation as well as the commercial and industrial development of northwestern California and southwestern Oregon; and

WHEREAS, The county of Del Norte is unable to assume further bonded indebtedness to secure funds to be available under existing federal restrictions; now therefore be it

Resolved by the Senate and Assembly of the State of California, jointly, That the Congress of the United States is most respectfully urged to include in the pending rivers and harbors appropriation bill, or such other bills as may be necessary, a sufficient amount to complete said proposed jetty without the requirement or condition that federal expenditures therefor be matched by contribution from local or other sources, and that the United States engineers in charge of or making recommendations on said project is most respectfully urged to make their recommendations for the completion of said project, with the estimated amount necessary therefor, without the condition of contribution thereto from other sources; be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted forthwith to the chairman of the rivers and harbors committee, to the California representatives in Congress, to the United States district engineer at San Francisco, California, and to the chief engineer of the army board of engineers at Washington, D. C.

BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL WOMEN'S CLUB,
LONG BEACH, January 17, 1925.

Honorable Assembly, Sacramento, California

GENTLEMEN It has been with considerable interest that the Business and Professional Women's Club of Long Beach has watched for the Assembly vote on the Federal Child Labor Law. As a club we wish to express our approval of your ratification of this bill, which has our unanimous support. Positive evidence that faith in our representatives is well placed is both pleasing and gratifying

Yours truly,

BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL WOMEN'S CLUB.
MARGARET OHL, Corresponding Secretary.

Also:

Be it resolved that

WHEREAS, The Legislature of California has endorsed the National Child Labor Law Amendment, and

WHEREAS, We, the Seattle Council of Parent-Teacher Associations favor this amendment, be it therefore

Resolved, That we send a message of congratulation to the Speaker of the House in Sacramento, California.

MRS JOHN G. MATTHEWS,

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The following message from the Governor was received and read:

SPECIAL MESSAGE ON TEACHERS' RETIREMENT SALARY ACT.

To the Senate and Assembly.

The financial condition of the Public School Teachers' Retirement System is in such an alarming state that it deserves your earnest consideration. The report of the actuary to the Board of Education shows that the fund is now from an actuarial standpoint insolvent to the extent of more than thirty million dollars In 1919 an actuary reported to the former Board of Education that the fund was then insolvent to the amount of twenty-five million dollars At the 1923 session of the Legislature, Senate Bill 127 was passed amending the Teachers' Retirement Salary Act, and delivered to me on the day the Legislature adjourned I declined to sign the bill for the reason that the whole scheme appeared unsound and the great majority of teachers who were paying into the fund would never receive a dollar in return. In a statement issued at that time I said

"I have made a careful examination of the Teachers' Retirement Act and of Senate Bill 127 amending the act. I have read the report of the actuaries who have investigated the subject, have conferred with the Insurance Commissioner, the Board of Control, and others in regard to this matter. From this investigation I am forced to conclude that the present law is unsound, that the fund is now insolvent, and that it is only a question of a few years when the crash will come. Senate Bill 127 will not improve this desperate condition but may make it worse. This bill increases the pension to teachers from $500 to $720 a year, increases the tax on teachers from $12 to $24 a year, and changes the State payment from 5 per cent on inheritance taxes to an amount similar to that paid by teachers. The increase in the cost to the State, in the opinion of the State Controller, would be $350,000 for the next biennial period.

"On first investigation it was my desire to sign the bill, but when my attention was called to the report of the actuary and I dug deeper I found the proposition so fundamentally unsound that I could not, in justice to the teachers, double their assessments when there is so little hope of the great majority ever receiving a cent of benefit; and in justice to the taxpayers sinking their money in a scheme having so little financial stability.

"Notwithstanding the warning of the actuary, the sponsors of this plan have gone ahead with seeming little dread of the insolvency that awaits the fund within the next few years. It is evident that the pension plan will be of help to those teachers who are now receiving pensions for a very few years, and that when the crash comes these older teachers will receive no further compensation, and that the great majority of young teachers who have poured their savings into this financially unsound scheme will receive nothing whatever in return. For me to approve this bill and double the tax on teachers in the face of the instability of the plan, would be a gross injustice to which I will not be a party.

"I propose to have this matter looked into during the next two years in the hope that some plan may be devised for the 1925 Legislature which will rescue this fund from insolvency."

After the adjournment of the 1923 Legislature, I took the matter up with the Insurance Commissioner and he employed a high-class actuary who made a careful examination and reported to the Board of Education. The actuary states that the commitments at the present time are no less than $32,848,543.05, while there is only $2,300,000 on hand and invested. The actuary says that the condition of the retirement fund is not unique but is simply a repetition of the history of nearly every public and private pension system. He says that the present plan has been unsound and unsafe from the start. I am submitting to you herewith the report of the actuary for your careful consideration. As I am not an expert on insurance and was not the author or in any way responsible for this pension plan, I have no advice to give you other than that contained in the report of the actuary.

I am submitting the report to you because I believe the public should have the fullest information and that the thousands of teachers who are paying money into this fund every month should know the full facts, and how little the possibility of their ever receiving a dollar in return. Whether it is possible to make this plan workable without too great an assessment upon the teachers and too heavy a financial burden upon the taxpayers is a subject which I leave for your consideration.

Respectfully submitted.

FRIEND WM. RICHARDSON,
Governor of the State of California.

Dated January 21, 1925.

ACTUARIAL REPORT ON FINANCIAL CONDITION OF PUBLIC SCHOOL TEACHERS' RETIREMENT FUNDS AS OF NOVEMBER 30, 1924.

January 12, 1925.

To His Excellency, Friend W. Richardson,
Governor of the State of California,
Sacramento, California.

DEAR SIR: At your suggestion, the members of the State Board of Education, under date of October 27, 1924, authorized my appointment as actuarial expert for the purpose of investigating the financial condition of the Public School Teachers' Retirement System.

I now have the honor, after an unavoidable delay, of submitting to you the attached report, copies of which I am transmitting today to the State Board of Education.

The condition as revealed in the report can only be considered in the light of an estimate, but one sufficiently reliable for immediate purposes to indicate a crying need for reorganization, thus confirming the views expressed by you two years ago, when you declined to give your approval to a temporizing amendment of the retirement law.

I bespeak your earnest consideration of the recommendations incorporated in the report, which aim at the solution of what undoubtedly constitutes one of the major financial problems confronting the State of California.

A no less disturbing phase of the present system is the certainty that the great majority of contributing teachers will be almost totally deprived of the benefits which they are being led to expect, unless energetic steps are taken to remedy the situation.

To permit this great injustice to continue on the convenient ground that it is neither generally known nor immediately being felt, is entirely inconsistent with the traditional solicitude of the people of California for the welfare of its public school teachers

Respectfully submitted.

S. GUNDELFINGER,
Actuary.

SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA,
January 12, 1925.

To the Honorable, the State Board of Education,
Sacramento, California.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN In compliance with the authority conferred upon me pursuant to your letter to the Honorable Will C Wood, Secretary of the State Board of Education, dated October 27, 1924, I have examined the available records of your board with a view to estimating the financial condition of the Public School Teachers' Permanent Fund and the Public School Teachers' Retirement Salary Fund from an actuarial point of view.

Subject to the qualifications hereinafter made, I estimate that on November 30, 1924, the commitments of the State of California arising from the operation of the laws dealing with the retirement of public school teachers exceed present and future resources arising from the operation of the same laws by a sum not less than $32,848,453 05.

This means that adequate provision under present laws for the obligations of the State to the present force of both active and retired teachers necessitates the accumulation of funds equivalent to a present investment of 33 million dollars earning 4 per cent interest per annum, in addition to the $2,300 000 now on hand and invested, and in addition to the contributions to be made in the future by and on behalf of the present teaching force

Any increase in the number of active teachers will require further provisions on a similar scale

The continuing ability of the system to meet its currently maturing obligations is being maintained solely at the expense of, and at a practically total loss to, the great majority of the present force of approximately 32,000 public school teachers.

BASIS OF ESTIMATE.

The statistical data underlying the estimate are incomplete, and this has necessitated the substitution of certain broad assumptions which are open to criticism from an actuarial point of view and render the valuation less reliable than that made five years ago by Mr. William Leslie on the basis of fairly complete and up-to-date information.

The number of active school teachers has increased in the interval from 21,000 to approximately 32,000 No information is available as to age, length of service, and location of service of the new entrants It has, therefore, been assumed that the new entrants are composed in these respects of groups substantially similar to those existing in 1919, with an appreciable modification in favor of the younger ages and of a lesser service record.

It has also seemed advisable in order to avoid the possibility of overstating the deficiency, to assume between the ages 18 and 33 substantially higher rates of withdrawal from active service than were used in the valuation of November, 1919 This has been done in deference to the view frequently expressed, although by no means substantiated by proof, that such withdrawals show a higher frequency in California than elsewhere

As a result, the estimate here presented and more fully analyzed in the accompanying financial statement and schedules, can not claim scientific accuracy, but it can and does claim to be an informed estimate of the financial condition of the system considered in the most favorable light compatible with safety. In short, the estimated deficiency of approximately thirty-three million dollars is almost certainly understated.

INTEREST.

It has been assumed that the funds of the system not disbursed for annuities earn interest at the rate of 4 per cent per annum, compounded annually, and it is believed that this rate is capable of attainment although it is doubtful whether it has been attained in the past. No attempt has been made to determine the actual rate of interest earnings, but a cursory examination of the record of the past ten years indicates that it does not exceed, and probably does not reach 3½ per cent per annum This is due partly to unavoidable periods of idleness to which not inconsiderable portions of the funds are from time to time condemned, and partly to the necessity of occasional purchases of securities above par value.

CAUSE OF DEFICIENCY.

The unfavorable condition of the retirement funds is not unique, but constitutes a repetition of the history of practically every public and many private pension systems. Two principal causes are responsible for it. To begin with a great number of prospective beneficiaries entering the system at the time of its establishment had to their credit a service record involving a large commitment on the part of the State, which then had no commensurate resources in the fund to offset these commitments. In the second place the contributions exacted from the teachers and made on their behalf in accordance with law are insufficient. As a result, a fraction only of the funds now on hand, invested, and accrued, has been contributed by retired teachers now drawing annuities, and nearly $2,000,000 more is required in contribution from and on behalf of active teachers to enable the fund to meet its liability to those retired.

NEED FOR REORGANIZATION.

In its decennial report covering the period August 10, 1913, to June 30, 1923, the Public Teachers' Retirement Salary Fund Board said

> "It is the impression of those in charge of the fund that the financial basis of the fund eventually will have to be revised, but that we have not yet had enough experience to show just what should be done, and that it is not wise to hurry about making a change, since the fund will evidently run on for a number of years before the expenditures will exceed the income."

The impression that the financial basis of the fund requires revision is not only completely confirmed as correct, but it is also apparent that the situation demands a speedy and fundamental reorganization. The State of California is now diverting funds contributed by active teachers to the benefit of retired teachers, with no prospect of being able to continue the process for an indefinite period. The remarkable growth in the number of active teachers, which is characteristic of the past, can not go on forever. On the other hand, the number of annual retirements is bound to increase with the passage of time. The relative volume of cash expenditures to cash receipts, so far from being an index of safety, has no bearing on the question of solvency other than being dangerously misleading.

CALIFORNIA EXPERIENCE.

To establish a basis for a scientifically unassailable and practically accurate determination of rates of contribution, it is imperative that the rates of separation and retirement actually obtaining among teachers in California be currently observed and currently recorded. To this end, information similar to that gathered in 1919, and pertaining to new entrants, is essential. In addition, current reports of all changes in the status of active teachers are indispensable. Without the former data, successive valuations become less and less reliable; without the latter, no intelligent adjustment of rates to changing conditions is possible.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

It is therefore urgently recommended that the Public School Teachers' Retirement Salary Fund Board secure legal authority to exact the information and reports above referred to from individual teachers and from the proper school officials, as the case may be, and that complete experience observation records be currently maintained, commencing at the earliest feasible date, under competent actuarial direction.

The inadequacy of present rates of contributions, and the consequent inevitable state of insolvency into which the fund is rapidly drifting, forbids the application of these rates to new entrants. It is therefore recommended that public school teachers entering the service after a convenient fixed date in the near future be relieved from the burdens and excluded from the benefits of the present retirement law, without prejudice to vested, accrued and inchoate rights, and that enactment be secured of a new retirement law, applicable to all public school teachers entering the service after such date, and embodying provision insuring a continually sound financial condition.

For the latter purpose, any one of the four plans suggested by Mr. William Leslie in connection with the valuation made by him in 1919, possesses the virtue of adequacy. Periodical adjustment of rates, based upon experience indications of the observation records hereinbefore recommended, should be expressly provided for.

For reasons which will presently appear, the choice of a plan is suggested which provides for the return, upon separation from the service for any cause except retirement with an annuity, of the teacher's individual contributions, together with interest at 4 per cent per annum, compounded annually.

It is apparent that the elimination of new entrants from the operation of the present retirement law has no effect upon the condition of the present system. To reduce the deficiency in the present system to manageable proportions, it is necessary that the system be relieved of the commitments incurred by it in respect of a considerable contingent of the 32,000 active teachers now embraced by it. Thus, it is believed, can be accomplished in the case of a large number of teachers not too far advanced in age or service, by according them the optional right to enter the new system with its refund and interest features, in consideration of a waiver of all rights vested in and accrued to the optionee under the present law. Adequate rates of contribution for such teachers can be developed, and it is believed that such a plan would be welcomed and accepted by many as a valuable inducement. The transfer of a large number of teachers from the old to the new system involves, of course, a curtailment of the current revenue of the former, equal to $12 per annum for each teacher transferred. The revenue from inheritance tax, however, would remain unimpaired, and the deficiency thus greatly reduced. This reduced deficiency, however, offers a far less difficult problem than the present excess of liabilities over assets. It is believed that the remaining deficit will be amenable to gradual amortization by a series of annual appropriations of relatively modest proportions.

The establishment of a new system for new entrants, with adequate rates of contribution, gives rise to a question concerning the source of such contributions. In this connection, I venture to suggest for your consideration the desirability of requiring the school districts, the immediate employers of the public school teacher, to share with the State and the teacher the cost of providing retirement salaries.

CONCLUSION

I take this opportunity of expressing my appreciation of the valuable assistance rendered me by the Assistant Secretary of your board, Miss Marion H. Ketcham, and to place myself at your disposal for any service which I may be able to render you.

Respectfully submitted

S. GUNDELFINGER,
Actuary.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 7.

Providing for the appointment of a committee to investigate and report upon the controversy between the city of Los Angeles and the county of Inyo involving the taking of the waters of Inyo County by the said city of Los Angeles.

WHEREAS, Certain differences have arisen between the city of Los Angeles and the people of the county of Inyo touching the question of the appropriation and diversion of the waters of Inyo County by and to the said city of Los Angeles; and

WHEREAS, In order to avoid and prevent friction between the two said communities over said question and to settle, if possible, the friction caused thereby and to better inform this Legislature as to the said questions, it is advisable that a committee be appointed to study said several matters and to report back its findings after the constitutional recess;

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, the Assembly thereof concurring, That a committee consisting of two members of the Senate and two members of the Assembly be appointed by the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the Assembly, respectively, and that the State Engineer and the Attorney General be members of said office, ex officio, to investigate said aforementioned questions and to report back its findings to this Legislature as soon after said constitutional recess as may be convenient;

Resolved, further, That the expenses of said investigation be borne equally by said Inyo County and said city of Los Angeles in a sum not to exceed $750 each, to be paid as required to the chairman of said committee who shall render an itemized statement of its expenditures to each of said contributors;

Resolved, That in the event that either the said city of Los Angeles or the said county of Inyo shall fail, refuse or neglect to bear its share of said expense as aforesaid, the other party may, at its option pay the entire expense;

Resolved, further, That said committee shall proceed with said investigation when satisfied that proper financial arrangements have been made to defray said expenses as hereinbefore stated, and not otherwise.

SPECIAL ORDER.

The hour of eleven o'clock a.m. having arrived, the special order heretofore set for this hour was taken up for consideration.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The following message from the Governor was received, and read:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE.
SACRAMENTO, January 22, 1925.

To the Senate and Assembly.

In compliance with chapter 241 of the Statutes of 1923, I appointed a State Highway Committee for the purpose of investigating and reporting upon the State highway system.

The statute provided that the committee should be composed of one Senator, one Assemblyman, the State Engineer, one member of the Highway Commission, one member of the State Board of Control, and four others. I appointed as members of this committee

Hon. A. H. Breed, Senator,
Hon. Elmer P. Bromley, Assemblyman,
Louis Everding, member, California Highway Commission,
George G. Radcliff, member, State Board of Control,
J. B. Gill, San Bernardino,
J. H. Newman, Tulare,
E. E. East, Los Angeles,
A. E. Loder, San Francisco,
R. M. Morton, State Engineer.

This committee spent several months in careful and thorough investigation and has visited every county in the State. It has been left absolutely free to use its own judgment and to come to its own conclusions. I have not attended a single meeting of the committee or gone on any of its trips, and have sought in no way to control or influence its judgment or its report.

It has made a preliminary report which I am submitting to you herewith for your consideration. A complete report, the committee advises me, will be ready within the next thirty days. I am submitting the preliminary report without comment, for your consideration.

Respectfully submitted.

FRIEND WM. RICHARDSON, Governor.

To Friend Wm. Richardson, Governor.

Your committee, appointed in accordance with chapter 241, Statutes 1923, to make a study of the State highway situation for the purpose of rendering a report for the benefit of the forty-sixth session of the Legislature, with sole instructions from you to perform our duty according to law, herewith presents a summary of its recommendations.

A complete and detailed report setting forth our findings and supporting our conclusions and recommendations, as set forth below, is in course of preparation and will shortly be submitted.

1. We recommend a classification of the roads in the present highway system into two general systems hereafter designated as primary system and secondary system. Classification has been made in accordance with the importance of the various highways based on their functional use.

The primary system to consist of—

1. Intercity highways.
2. Major interstate connections.
3. County seat laterals.
4. Other important lateral connections.
5. Major recreational highways.

The secondary system to consist of—
1. Minor interstate connections.
2. Minor recreational highways.
3. Local development highways.

We find that it is necessary to add certain highways to the State highway system for the purpose of closing obvious gaps in the various routes, thus providing for the more economic and efficient operation of traffic on the primary road system.

To this end we recommend that the following roads be made State highways, which we classify as a portion of the primary system

San Rafael to Point San Quentin, 3 miles.
Crescent City to the Oregon line, coast route, 19 miles
Alturas to the Oregon line, near New Pine Creek, 44 miles.
From Coleville to the Nevada state line in Mono County, 10 miles.
From Bakersfield to Mojave, 65 miles
From Needles to Topoc, 16 miles
From Shavers Wells to Coachella, 25 miles.
From Blythe to the Colorado River, 5 miles.
From Oxnard to the main coast highway, 2 miles.
From San Diego to Tia Juana, 7 miles

We recommend that the primary system consist of the roads outlined in red and that the secondary system consist of the roads outlined in green upon the maps hereto attached and made a part hereof.

We recommend that no other additions be made to the primary system, and that any additional roads which, in the opinion of the Legislature, should be included in the State highway system prior to the completion of the primary system be classified into the secondary system.

The committee has been requested to recommend for inclusion in the State highway system 3000 miles of additional road, the estimated future expenditure on which would approximate $117,000,000.

This is divided 2050 miles in the forty-five northern counties at an estimated cost for construction and reconstruction in a fifteen or twenty year period of about $86,000,000, and 951 miles in the thirteen southern counties at an estimated cost in a fifteen or twenty year period of $31,000,000

Of these requests, we recommend ten sections, hereinbefore named, aggregating 196 miles, to be included in the primary system for reasons stated above

The committee is unwilling to recommend any further additions, although not disputing the merit of some of the roads requested, because of the magnitude of our obligation on the present highway system.

2. Financing

We recommend further financing of State highway construction by one or more methods, which will insure a revenue of approximately $10,000,000 in 1926 and thereafter

Four general methods of financing are available.

1. By general State bond issue The sum of $200,000,000 will probably be required to be expended over a term of at least fifteen years If this method is adopted, we recommend successive bond issues for portions of this amount.

2. Ad valorem tax may be levied on the general property of the State at rates necessary to produce a minimum of $10,000,000 per year

3 Direct legislative appropriation might be made at the rate of not less than $20,000,000 per biennium.

4. Increased taxes on motor vehicles through either
(a) Increased gasoline tax
(b) Increased plate tax.
(c) Graduated weight tax to produce additional revenue of $10,000,000 in 1926

Of the above four methods, we recommend increased taxes on motor vehicles in combination with the following recommended bond issue.

We recommend that steps be taken by the Legislature preliminary to placing before the voters at the next general election a bond issue of $25,000,000 all proceeds of which shall be used to defray the cost of construction of major bridges on the primary road system, and in cooperation with railroads, division of expense to be fixed by the California Railroad Commission for each project, for the elimination of railroad grade crossings on the primary road system

We recommend that at least 75 per cent of construction funds be devoted annually to the construction of the primary road system until completed

3 We have found the following situation

The southern thirteen counties, San Luis Obispo, Tulare, Kern, Mono, Inyo, San Bernardino, Santa Barbara, Ventura Los Angeles, Orange, Riverside, San Diego, and Imperial, comprise about 50 per cent of the area of the State. They have an estimated population of about 45 per cent of the total population of the State (U. S. Bureau of Census estimate for 1923.) These counties contain only 35 per cent of the existing State highway mileage, and record of past expenditures shows approximately 34 per cent of State highway construction expenditures in these counties In these counties is found 57 per cent of the motor vehicle registration.

We further find that not less than 60 per cent of the future expenditures for State highway construction on the primary road system will be required on roads located in the northern 45 counties.

This situation has given the committee much concern, but we have been unable to agree on any method for apportionment of future expenditures which would correct this situation. We consider it advisable, however, to concentrate future State highway construction expenditures, insofar as possible, on the primary trunk system, which is of general State importance, and we recommend that construction be prosecuted by the State Highway Commission on the primary system at equal rates of annually completed highway mileage in each section of the State.

An alternate method for allocation of funds would be to district the State for State highway expenditures, allotting to each district the amount raised therein.

We recommend that the policy of the California Highway Commission should be to assume all cost of construction on the road system, including bridge construction and rights of way, accepting such donations as may be offered.

We recommend that the convict labor camps be expanded or increased in number, to utilize at least 1600 prisoners on highways, the cost to be payable from any moneys in the highway construction funds, and that the savings in prison maintenance expense be paid from general State funds to the highway fund from which operation of convict camps is defrayed.

We recommend that maintenance be extended by law to all unconstructed State highways open to travel, this for the reason that many years will elapse prior to construction of all the State highways, and the best possible road service should in the interim be furnished to the public.

We are informed by the State Highway Commission that the additional annual cost to extend this class of work to those roads not now maintained is estimated from $600,000 to $700,000 per annum.

We recommend that the amount of the existing revenue for maintenance and reconstruction purposes be not reduced on account of the requirements for maintenance and the urgency of reconstruction needs due to traffic conditions.

We recommend that the present law be so amended as to give the California Highway Commission authority to relocate and realign constructed roads.

We recommend that as a procedure for adding roads to the system that any district or county asking for the inclusion of additional roads to the highway system, should make survey, plans and estimates of the cost of same in proper form and submit to the California Highway Commission, which, in turn, should submit the same to the first succeeding session of the Legislature with its recommendations as to importance and classification.

Reasons which lead us to make these recommendations will be set forth in detail in our final report now in course of preparation, which will be filed shortly.

18. It shall be the duty of the Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment to compare all bills, constitutional amendments, and concurrent and joint resolutions, ordered or considered engrossed by this House with the engrossed copies thereof, and, before they pass out of the possession of this House, see that the engrossed bill is a true copy of the original, with such amendments as may have been made thereto; and said committee shall see that all engrossed bills are reported back in the order in which they were ordered engrossed

Engrossing and Enrolling Bills.

19. The Engrossing and Enrolling Clerk shall engross and enroll the bills, constitutional amendments, and joint and concurrent resolutions which shall come to his hands for such purposes, in compliance with the provisions of section 539 of the Political Code, and in the order of time in which the same shall be acted upon by the House. All Assembly bills, constitutional amendments and joint and concurrent resolutions shall be engrossed before final action is taken on them in the Assembly, and the report of such engrossment must be made to the Assembly on a day previous to the day on which such final action is taken.

Reports of Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment.

20. It shall be in order for the Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment to report at any time.

Committee on Ways and Means.

21. It shall be the duty of the Committee on Ways and Means to take into consideration all reports of the State officers and State boards or State commissions, and all propositions relative to the revenue of the State, as may be referred to them by the Assembly, to inquire into the state of the revenue and expenditures of the State, and report from time to time their opinion thereon. All bills for the appropriation of money, which were not at first referred to the Committee on Ways and Means, shall be reported to the House by the committees having them under consideration, and shall thereupon, without motion, be referred to the Committee on Ways and Means and said committee shall consider and report thereon the amount of appropriation required. The Committee on Ways and Means shall, from time to time at least once in two weeks, report to the House the exact condition of legislation involving appropriations, and the aggregate amount of all the proposed appropriations pending

Committee's Report on Sine Die Adjournment.

22 Concurrent resolutions for adjournment sine die shall in all cases, whether originating in the House or coming from the Senate, be referred to the Committee on Ways and Means. That committee shall report upon any such concurrent resolution not later than the next legislative day, and with regard to the status of the general appropriation bill and tax levy.

Committee on Contested Elections.

23 It shall be the duty of the Committee on Contested Elections to examine and report upon the certificates of election or other credentials of such members returned to serve in this House, as may have their seats contested, and to take into their consideration all such petitions and other matters touching elections and returns as shall or may be presented or come into question, and be referred to them by the House, or the Speaker thereof.

Committee on Attaches.

24. The Committee on Attaches shall assign the committee clerks and the official stenographers of the House to the various committees and, on recommendation of the Chief Clerk, shall have the authority to reassign any clerk or attache under him to special duties or other committees when the necessity arises.

The Committee on Attaches, in cooperation with the Chief Clerk and Sergeant-at-Arms, shall exercise general supervision over and shall systematize the work of all attaches.

The Committee on Attaches shall see to it that attaches shall not receive their per diem until they have been sworn in, and that the per diem of attaches shall be forfeited for each day on which they are absent from their duties without excuse from the authority delegated by the committee

All assignments of committee clerks and stenographers made by the Committee on Attaches under this rule shall be reported to the House and entered in the Journal

DUTIES OF ASSEMBLY OFFICERS AND ATTACHES

Duties of Chief Clerk.

25 The Chief Clerk shall have charge and supervision of all the clerical business of the Assembly. He shall perform the duties imposed on him by law and the rules of the Assembly. Subject to the provisions of Rule 67, he and his assistants shall read from the desk only such matter as the Speaker shall direct He shall have the supervision of all the clerks and assistants at the desk, of all bill clerks, bill filers, stenographers, and of all committee attaches and all pages, and shall be responsible for their performance of and regular attendance upon their duties and shall have power to suspend any such clerk or attache under him for dereliction of duty, and shall report to the Committee on Attaches such suspension and the cause thereof. Said suspended clerk or attache shall not receive any pay during the time of such suspension. The Committee on Attaches shall have the power to relieve the attache or clerk of his suspension, and shall have the power, subject to the approval of the House, to remove any clerk or attache for incompetency or for wilful neglect of duty. The Chief Clerk shall not permit any records or papers to be taken from the desk, or out of his custody, by any person except a chairman of a committee; but he shall deliver any bill or paper to be printed to the Superintendent of State Printing, and all bills ordered engrossed or enrolled to the Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment, and take receipts therefor.

Duties of the Sergeant-at-Arms.

26. The Sergeant-at-Arms shall attend the House during its sittings, execute the commands of the Speaker of the House, and serve all processes issued by authority thereof directed to him by the Speaker He shall be sworn to keep the secrets of the House. He shall also have supervision over the Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms and gatekeepers, and shall be responsible for their performance of and regular attendance upon their duties, and shall have power to suspend any such attache under him for dereliction of duty, and shall report to the Committee on Attaches such suspension and the causes thereof Said suspended attache shall not receive any pay during the time of such suspension. The Committee on Attaches shall have power to relieve the attache of his suspension and shall have the power, subject to the approval of the House, to remove any attache for incompetency or for wilful neglect of duty. The Sergeant-at-Arms shall place copies of all bills, joint and concurrent resolutions, constitutional amendments, and journals and histories, when printed, on the desks of members at least one hour previous to the opening of the session

Expenses of Sergeant-at-Arms.

27. The Sergeant-at-Arms shall receive his actual traveling expenses for himself or a special messenger when executing any process issued by the House or by any officer or committee thereof.

Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms to Be Doorkeeper.

28. The Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms who is designated to be the doorkeeper shall be sworn to keep the secrets of the House.

Compensation of Attaches.

29. No attache of the Assembly shall demand or receive from any person any compensation other than that provided by law for services performed as such attache.

INTRODUCTION OF BILLS.

Introduction and Reading of Bills.

30. Any member desiring to introduce a bill shall rise in place and address the Speaker, and upon being recognized shall present the same. It shall then be numbered and read the first time at the Clerk's desk and referred to a standing committee, and be printed, and a copy placed upon the desk of each member. Every bill shall be read at length on three several days previous to its passage, unless in case of urgency two-thirds of the House shall, by vote of ayes and noes, dispense with this provision. The Speaker shall give notice at each reading, whether it is the first, second or third reading. All bills to appropriate money for contingent purposes shall be presented by the Committee on Ways and Means. The chairman or clerk of each committee of the Assembly shall notify the author of any bill or proceeding pending before such committee of the hour and place of hearing or acting upon such bill or proceeding.

Joint and Concurrent Resolutions and Constitutional Amendments.

31. Joint and concurrent resolutions shall be treated the same as bills; provided, that they shall be read but once, and that after they have been reported by a committee; and provided, further, that the ayes and noes shall not be called upon the adoption of concurrent resolutions, except those presenting charter amendments, unless regularly demanded, or required by statute or the constitution. Proposed amendments to the constitution shall be treated the same as bills; provided, they shall be read but once, and only after they have been reported by a committee. All bills, constitutional amendments, and joint and concurrent resolutions may be amended by a majority of those voting.

Procedure on First Day of Introducing Bills.

32. In each legislative session on the first day when bills are introduced, under the "Order of Business" or "Introduction and Reference of Bills," the roll shall be called from A to Z and then back again from Z to A, and as each member's name is called, he shall have the privilege of introducing one bill, constitutional amendment, joint or concurrent resolution. After these two roll calls, bills, constitutional amendments, joint or concurrent resolutions shall be introduced by members on recognition of the Speaker, as provided by the rules of the Assembly, and all bills, constitutional amendments or joint or concurrent resolutions introduced before the standing committees of the Assembly are appointed, shall be referred to committees, references to take effect when the committees shall be appointed.

Introduction of Bills by Committee.

33. Any committee may introduce a bill appertaining to any subject coming within its consideration, whereupon it shall be read the first time and placed upon the proper second-reading file. When such bill is designed to be a substitute for one or more Assembly bills, the bills for which it is such a substitute shall, by a majority vote of the House, be deemed withdrawn, and shall not appear upon the file. Upon the introduction of a bill by a committee, it shall be numbered as a new bill, read, ordered printed, and placed upon the Assembly file for further action.

Introduction of Bills After Constitutional Recess.

34. Immediately upon convening after the constitutional recess the Speaker shall appoint a standing Committee on Introduction of Bills, to consist of three members.

All motions for leave to introduce bills after the constitutional recess shall be sent to the desk in writing, under the order of "Introduction of Bills," and at no other time. The motion shall give the title of the bill, and shall be accompanied by the bill. The bill shall thereupon be referred to the Committee on Introduction of Bills.

Joint and concurrent resolutions and constitutional amendments shall not be referred to the Committee on Introduction of Bills, and shall not require a vote to authorize their introduction.

The committee shall examine bills referred to it with particular reference to the question as to whether there is already any bill in either House of the same character which might be amended to effect the results sought, and generally as to the advisability of introducing the measure

The committee shall report upon each bill so referred to it on the same legislative day. The report shall be made at the conclusion of the consideration of the Senate Special File.

The committee may, in its discretion, incorporate more than one bill in the resolution to grant leave to introduce, incorporating in the resolution the title of each bill in full, and the roll shall be called upon the adoption of the resolution and no resolution to introduce any such bill shall be adopted without the consent of three-fourths of the members of the Assembly

If a division of the question is demanded upon the introduction of any particular bill, the division shall be allowed, and the roll called separately upon the bill The author of any bill shall have not more than ten minutes within which to speak to the question of the introduction of his bill and the Committee on Introduction of Bills may have the same time for reply.

Reference of Bills.

35 At the time of introduction the Speaker shall first indicate to what committee a bill or resolution ought to be referred, and it shall be so referred, unless upon a motion, without debate, the Assembly by a majority vote refer it to some other committee. A motion to re-refer a bill shall be debatable as to the propriety of such re-reference.

Order of Reference.

36. When a motion is made to refer any subject, and different committees shall be proposed, the question shall be taken in the following order

The Committee of the Whole House.
A Standing Committee.
A Select Committee.

Referring With Special Instructions.

37 No amendment shall be received for discussion at the third reading of any bill; but it shall at all times be in order, before the final passage of such bill, to move its commitment to a select committee, under special instructions to amend

Reference of Senate Bills.

38. When a Senate bill has been received by the House with a message announcing that the same has passed the Senate, such bill shall be referred to a standing committee, provided, however, that when a Senate bill is received the provisions of which are stated by a member to be identical with those of an Assembly bill which has already been considered and reported by a committee of the Assembly, such Senate bill shall be referred to the Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment for comparison, which committee shall report on the next legislative day whether or not said bill is identical with the Assembly bill, and if reported identical, shall be read the second time, be substituted for the Assembly bill (the latter being considered withdrawn), shall take the latter's place on the Assembly file, and be considered as having received the same recommendation of the Assembly committee; provided, that the fact that the bills are identical shall be entered in the Journal.

Bills to Be Reported Back to Committees.

39. All committees shall act upon bills, constitutional amendments and resolutions referred to them as soon as practicable, and when acted upon each bill shall be reported back to the Assembly forthwith, and the chairman of each committee is charged with the observance of this rule, provided, that the Assembly may at any time, by a majority vote of all its members, recall a bill, constitutional amendment or resolution from any committee.

ORDER OF CONSIDERING BILLS

Order of Making File.

40. Upon the introduction of bills they shall be read the first time, and referred to committees as provided in Rule 30. When reported back they shall be placed upon the general file, to be kept by the Clerk, as follows All bills when reported to the House by the committees, except such bills as are by the report re-referred to another committee, shall be placed at the foot of the second-reading file, in the order in which the reports are made, and after the second reading they shall be placed at the foot of the third-reading file, in the order of reading, and precedence shall be given in the consideration of bills in the following order Second-reading file and third-reading file, unless otherwise ordered by unanimous consent or by two-thirds vote of the House. The bills upon third reading shall be considered in the order in which they appear upon the file, unless otherwise ordered by unanimous consent or by vote of majority of the members present, such vote to be taken by roll call: provided, that if a bill is passed on file for any reason, other than the absence of the author by leave of the Assembly, note of the fact shall be made in the General File, and when passed on file a second time the bill shall be ordered to the foot of the file, and notice of the fact of the bill having been passed on file prior to the order placing it at the foot of the file shall be omitted from the General File. The Clerk shall post, in a conspicuous place in the chamber, a daily statement of the bills on the General File, setting forth the order in which they were filed, and specifying the alterations arising from the disposal of business each day.

Order Making Special File.

41. The Clerk shall, from time to time, make up a file, to be known as the Special File, on which he shall place bills relating to appropriations for the support of the State government and State institutions, revenue, election laws and constitutional amendments, in the order named, and in the order in which the same may be reported to the Assembly, and he shall place no other bills thereon, nor shall any bill on the General File be substituted for any bill thereon.

Ordering Bills to Third Reading.

42. After being read the second time bills shall be ordered by the Speaker to third reading (or, in the case of Assembly bills, to engrossment and third reading). When any member makes objection to any bill thus being ordered to third reading, the final question for such bill shall be, "Shall the bill be ordered to third reading?"

Bills Considered During Last Seven Days.

43. No Assembly bill shall be passed by the Assembly within seven days of the time set for adjournment sine die of the two houses of the Legislature, unless permission to vote on such bill be granted by a three-fourths vote of the Assembly after being recommended by the Speaker of the Assembly.

QUESTIONS AND MOTIONS.

44. When a question is under debate, or before the House, no motion shall be received but: To adjourn; to lay on the table; for the previous question, to postpone to a day certain; to commit or amend; to postpone indefinitely, which several motions shall have precedence in the order in which they are named, but the first three shall be decided without debate; and no motion to postpone to a day certain, to commit, or to postpone indefinitely, being decided, shall again be allowed on the same day and at the same stage of the proceedings. A motion to strike out the enacting clause of a bill shall have preference over a motion to amend, and, if carried, shall be considered equivalent to its rejection. A dilatory motion shall not be considered intervening business within the meaning of parliamentary usage.

Division of Questions.

45. Any member may call for a division of the question, which shall be divided if it comprehend propositions in substance so distinct that, one being taken away, a substantive proposition shall remain for the decision of the House. A motion to strike out being lost, shall preclude neither a motion to add to nor a motion to strike out and insert.

Substitute.

46. A motion to substitute shall be deemed and held to be a motion to amend, and be treated in all respects as such.

Subjects Different from the One Under Consideration

47. No motion or proposition on a subject different from that under consideration shall be admitted as an amendment.

Question Indefinitely Postponed.

48. When a question is postponed indefinitely, the same shall not again be introduced during the session.

PROCEDURE OF DEBATE.

Motions to Be Stated by Speaker, and If Desired Shall Be Reduced to Writing, or May be Withdrawn.

49. No motion shall be debated until the same be seconded and distinctly announced by the Speaker; and it shall be reduced to writing, if desired by the Speaker, or any member, and be read by the Clerk, before the same shall be debated. A motion may be withdrawn, by leave of the House, at any time before amendment or decision.

Order in Speaking to Questions.

50. Every member, when he speaks shall, standing in his place, address "Mr Speaker," and when he has finished he shall sit down. No member shall speak more than twice during the consideration of any one question, of whatever nature, on the same day and at the same stage of proceedings, without leave being granted, except the author of a bill or resolution, or mover of a question, who shall have the right to close the debate. No member shall be allowed to speak more than fifteen minutes upon any question except by leave of the House, and except further, the author shall be allowed fifteen minutes to open and fifteen minutes to close.

Speaker to Decide Who Is Entitled to the Place.

51. When two or more members shall rise at once, the Speaker shall name the member who is first to speak.

Calling Members to Order When Transgressing Rules.

52. If any member, in speaking or otherwise, transgresses the rules of the House, the Speaker shall, or any member may, call to order, in which case the member so called to order shall immediately sit down, unless permitted to explain; and if called to order by a member, such member shall immediately state the point of order. If the point of order be sustained by the Chair, the member shall not be allowed to proceed; but if it be not sustained, then he shall be permitted to go on. Every such decision from the Chair shall be subject to an appeal to the House, but no discussion of a question of order shall be allowed, unless an appeal be taken from the decision of the Chair.

Called to Order for Offensive Words in Debate.

53. If any member be called to order for offensive words spoken in debate, the person calling him to order shall report the words excepted to, and they shall be taken down in writing at the Clerk's table, and no member shall be held to answer, or be subject to censure of the House, for language used in debate, if any member has spoken or other business has intervened after the words spoken and before exception to them shall have been taken.

THE PREVIOUS QUESTION.

Previous Question Demanded.

54. The previous question shall be put only when demanded by five members.

Manner of Putting the Previous Question.

55. The previous question shall be in this form: "Shall the main question be now put?" And its effect, when sustained by a majority of the members present, shall be to put an end to all debate and bring the House to a vote on the question or questions before it.

Questions of Order After Previous Question Is Ordered.

56. All incidental questions of order arising after a motion is made for the previous question, and pending such motion or previous question, shall be decided (whether on appeal or otherwise) without debate; provided, that after the previous question shall have been ordered, ten minutes shall be allowed for explanation of the matters covered by the previous question of which five minutes shall be given to the member moving the previous question, and five minutes to those opposed thereto.

VOTING BY ASSEMBLY.

Calling Ayes and Noes.

57. The ayes and noes shall be taken on the final passage of all bills, and when called for by five members on other questions, and every member within the bar of the House, when his name is called, shall (unless for special reasons he be excused) declare openly and without debate, his vote. In taking the ayes and noes, and upon call of the House, the names of the members shall be taken alphabetically, and the Clerk shall enter on the Journal the names of those demanding the ayes and noes.

Members at Clerk's Desk.

58. No member, or other person shall remain by the Clerk's table while the ayes and noes are being called, or while the votes are being counted.

Voting on Question When Interested.

59. No person shall vote on any question in the result of which he is personally interested or involved.

Division and Count of House.

60. Upon a division and count of the House on any question, no person without the bar shall be counted.

Explaining or Changing Vote.

61. No member shall be allowed to explain his vote or discuss the question while the ayes and noes are being called, and no member shall be allowed to change his vote after the vote is announced by the Chair.

Election by House.

62. In all cases of election by the House, the vote shall be taken viva voce.

Notice of Reconsideration of Vote.

63. On the day succeeding that on which a final vote on any bill, constitutional amendment, or resolution has been taken, said vote may be reconsidered on the motion of any member, provided, a notice of intention to move such reconsideration shall have been given on the day on which such final vote was taken, by a member voting with the successful side, and it shall not be in order for any member to move a reconsideration on the day on which such final vote was taken. Said motion of reconsideration shall have precedence over every other motion, except a motion to adjourn. No notice of reconsideration shall be in order on the day preceding the last day of the session. No motion to reconsider shall be adopted, except upon a roll call, and it shall require forty-one votes to adopt the motion.

MESSAGES, PETITIONS AND PAPERS.

Messengers May Be Introduced.

64 Messengers may be introduced at any stage of business except while a question is being put, while the ayes and noes are being called, while the ballots are being counted, or while a member is addressing the House.

Messages from the Governor and Senate.

65 Messages from the Governor and from the Senate may be considered at any time by vote of the House or by unanimous consent.

Petitions to Be Presented With a Brief Statement of Contents

66. Whenever petitions, memorials, or other papers addressed to the House are presented by a member, a brief statement of the contents thereof shall be made verbally by the introducer. They shall not be debated on the day of their being presented, but shall lie on the table, or be referred, as the House shall determine.

Reading of Papers.

67 When the reading of a paper is called for, except petitions, and the same is objected to by a member, such reading shall be determined by a vote of the House, without debate, upon brief statement of its substance by the Speaker.

THE ASSEMBLY CHAMBER.

Persons Admitted to the Floor.

68 No persons except Senators, State officers, Governors and ex-Governors of the states, members of Congress, Judges of the Supreme, Appellate and Superior Courts, ex-Senators and ex-Assemblymen, members of the press when accredited by their respective journals, attaches when actually engaged in work for the Assembly or a member thereof, and the wife, husband, or child of a member, shall be admitted within the Assembly Chamber, except in the gallery, during the sessions of the Assembly; provided, however, any other guest of any member may be admitted to the floor of the Assembly, but to no other part of the floor than to a seat at the desk of said member, and provided, also, that such admission of said guest shall be only by written permission of said member, countersigned by the Speaker, such permission being good only for the sessions of the day on which it is given, the names of such member and guest to be entered in the Journal when specifically requested by such member At the convening of the Assembly in the morning, or after recess, all present except those covered by this rule shall retire from the floor of the Assembly. No one except the Sergeant-at-Arms or his deputies shall be allowed to remain in the lobby behind the rail at any time

No Lobbying in the Assembly Chamber.

69. No person engaged in presenting to the Assembly or its committees any business, or claim, or legislation, shall be permitted to engage in such business in the Assembly chamber, or be permitted on the floor of the Assembly at any time while the Assembly is in session, unless seated beside a member upon his invitation; and any person transgressing this rule shall be removed from the floor of the Assembly and be debarred from the privilege of the floor during the remainder of the entire session. The Speaker is charged with the enforcement of this rule. This rule can not be suspended except by a two-thirds vote of the entire Assembly

Speaker May Order the Galleries and Lobby Cleared.

70. In case of any disturbance or disorderly conduct in the galleries or lobby, or whenever he shall deem it necessary, the Speaker (or Chairman of the Committee of the Whole House) shall have power to order the same to be cleared.

Smoking in the Assembly Chamber.

71. No smoking shall be allowed within the Assembly Chamber during the session of the House, provided, this rule may be suspended by a vote of the majority of the members present, without notice or reference to committee

Use of Assembly Chamber.

72 The Assembly room shall not be used for any public or private business other than legislative, except by consent of a majority of the House.

LEGISLATIVE PRINTING.

Printing of Bills.

73. One thousand five hundred copies of all bills, and as many additional copies as the House shall order, shall be printed The Chief Clerk or Sergeant-at-Arms shall be required to certify to the receipt by the House of all such printed matter and quantity thereof.

74. A proposition to print an extra number of any document or other matter shall lie on the table one day for consideration, unless otherwise ordered by consent of the House.

Form for Printed Amended Bills.

75 All bills amended, either in committee or on the floor of the House, shall be immediately reprinted; the omission of any matter to be indicated by the insertion of heavy parentheses and all proposed additions to be enclosed in heavy brackets

Printing of Maps.

76. Maps accompanying documents shall not be printed under the general order to print, without the special direction of the House.

Filling Blanks.

77. In filling up blanks the least sum and shortest time shall be put first.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS.

Protest of Members.

78. It shall be in order for any member or members to protest against the action of the House and have such protest entered in the Journal

Peisonal Explanation.

79 Any member may rise to explain a matter personal to himself, with leave of the Chair, but shall not discuss a question in such explanation

Right to Address Assembly.

80. No one except a member of the Assembly shall be permitted to address the Assembly except in the Committee of the Whole.

Call of the House.

81 Upon a motion being carried for a call of the House the Speaker shall immediately order the doors to be closed, and shall direct the Clerk to call the names of the absentees as disclosed by the last previous roll call. Thereupon no one shall be permitted to leave or enter the Assembly Chamber except by written permission of the Speaker, or except such members as are taken into custody as herein provided Those members who are found to be absent and for whom no excuse or insufficient excuses are made, may, by order of those present, be taken into custody, as they appear, or may be sent for and then taken into custody by the Sergeant-at-Arms wherever found, or by special messenger to be appointed for that purpose. In the absence of a quorum, a majority of the members present may order a roll call of the House and compel the attendance of absentees in the manner above provided No recess can be taken during a call of the House, provided, however, that during a call of the House it may consider and transact any matter or business that the members then present shall unanimously decide to consider, but no call of the House shall be had, during the call of the House, on any matter so taken up or considered while the House is under call. When a call of the House is ordered, pending the completion of a roll call, the pending roll call shall become unfinished business, the consideration of which shall be continued until further proceedings under the call of the House are dispensed with, when it will forthwith become the order of business before the Assembly.

Members Absenting Themselves.

82. No member shall absent himself from attendance at a session of the House without the leave of the House, and no member shall obtain leave of absence, or be excused without a vote of two-thirds of the House, or by unanimous consent

Fees for Witnesses.

83. Witnesses summoned to appear before the House or any of its committees shall be paid as follows For each day a witness shall attend, the sum of three dollars, for each mile he shall travel in coming to and going from the place of examination, the sum of ten cents No mileage shall be paid, except where the witness has actually traveled for the purpose of giving testimony

No Committee Expenditures Permitted.

84. No member of any committee shall be permitted to incur any expense by visiting any part of the State on official business, except that the chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means shall, during the constitutional recess, be allowed his actual expenses while on such business.

RULES OF PROCEDURE.

Parliamentary Rules.

85. The rules of parliamentary practice contained in Robert's Rules of Order shall govern the House in all cases to which they are applicable, and in which they are not inconsistent with the Standing Rules and Orders of the House and the Joint Rules of the Senate and Assembly.

Suspending and Changing Rules.

86. No standing rule or order of the House shall be rescinded or changed without a vote of two-thirds of the members of the Assembly, and one day's notice being given of the motion therefor; provided, that the Committee on Rules may at any time, except during a roll call, report a temporary rule providing for the consideration of any bill on the files of the House belonging to either of the following classes:

1. Bills affecting the State government, its revenues, its various departments or commissions or appropriations therefor.
2. Bills affecting county and township governments, or roads and highways.
3. Bills affecting town, city, city and county governments, or the municipal affairs of the same.
4. Bills amending election or primary election laws.
5. Constitutional amendments.
6. Bills amending or repealing the Codes, or sections thereof.

Such temporary rule shall provide when a bill so selected shall be taken up for consideration, and the time when final vote shall be taken thereon and pending amendments thereto, if there be any.

It shall always be in order to call up for consideration such report. The same shall be subject to amendments by the House.

On the adoption of such temporary rule by the House by a two-thirds vote thereof, if the bill be on third reading, and by a majority vote of the members elected to the House, if otherwise, such bill shall thereupon be made the special order for the time fixed therein.

A rule or order may be suspended temporarily by a vote of two-thirds of the members present, except Rule 43 and that portion of Rule 30 relating to third reading of bills. A motion or resolution proposing to increase or diminish a standing committee shall not be adopted until the same has been referred to the Committee on Rules.

The Committee on Rules may also, at any time, report a temporary rule or regulation. When such temporary rule or regulation shall have been adopted by a two-thirds vote of the House it shall have the effect, for the time being, of a standing rule, and if such temporary rule shall be in conflict with a standing rule it shall supersede said standing rule for the time being, and shall be enforced by the Speaker.

REPORT OF STANDING COMMITTEE.

The following report of standing committee was received and read:

ON RULES.

ASSEMBLY CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, January 22, 1925

MR. SPEAKER: Your Committee on Rules, to which was referred Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 4—Relative to Joint Rules of the Senate and Assembly—has had the same under consideration, and respectfully reports the same back, and recommends that it be adopted.

ASSEMBLY CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 4.

Relative to Joint Rules of Senate and Assembly.

Resolved by the Assembly, the Senate concurring, That the following be adopted as the Joint Rules of the two houses of the Legislature for its forty-sixth session

JOINT RULES OF SENATE AND ASSEMBLY.

COMMITTEES AND COMMITTEE MEETINGS.

STANDING COMMITTEES.

1 Subject to the right of either House to appoint additional committees, the following standing committees shall be appointed in the Senate and Assembly, the number of members and the manner of selection to be determined by the rules of each house:

(1) Agriculture.
(2) Banking.
(3) Commerce and Navigation.
(4) Corporations.
(5) County Government
(6) Drainage, Swamp and Overflowed Lands.
(7) Education.
(8) Elections
(9) Federal Relations.
(10) Finance in the Senate and Ways and Means in the Assembly.
(11) Fish and Game.
(12) Hospitals and Asylums.
(13) Insurance.
(14) Irrigation.
(15) Judiciary.
(16) Labor and Capital.
(17) Military Affairs.
(18) Mines and Mining.
(19) Municipal Corporations.
(20) Oil Industries
(21) Prisons and Reformatories
(22) Public Health and Quarantine
(23) Public Morals.
(24) Public Utilities
(25) Revenue and Taxation.
(26) Roads and Highways.
(27) Rules.

JOINT COMMITTEES.

2. Joint standing committees of Senate and Assembly shall be appointed as follows

(1) Committee on Revision and Printing, to consist of three (3) members from the Senate and five (5) from the Assembly

(2) Committee on Joint Rules, to consist of the members of the rules committee of each House.

JOINT MEETING OF COMMITTEES.

3 Whenever any bill has been referred by the Senate to one of its committees, and the same or a like bill has been referred by the Assembly to one of its committees, the chairmen of the respective committees, when in their judgment the interests of legislation or the expedition of business will be better served thereby, shall arrange for a joint meeting of their committees for the consideration of such bill.

BILLS AND RESOLUTIONS.

SCOPE OF WORD "BILL."

4. Whenever the word "bill" is used in these rules it shall include constitutional amendments, joint and concurrent resolutions

JOINT AND CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS.

5. Joint resolutions are those which relate to matters connected with the federal government. All other resolutions relating to matters to be treated by both houses of the Legislature are concurrent resolutions.

RESOLUTIONS TREATED AS BILLS.

6. Joint resolutions, concurrent resolutions and constitutional amendments shall be treated in all respects as bills, except that they shall be read but one time in each house, and that they shall not be deemed bills within the meaning of section 2 of article IV of the constitution and shall not be referred to the Committee on Introduction of Bills, and shall not require a vote to authorize their introduction. As in the case of bills, they shall be engrossed in the house in which they originate before being voted upon.

PREPARATION AND INTRODUCTION OF BILLS

TITLE OF BILL

7. The title of every bill introduced shall convey an accurate idea of the contents of the bill and shall be indicative of the scope of the act and the object to be accomplished. In amending a code section, the mere reference to the section by number shall not be deemed sufficient

DIVISION OF BILL INTO SECTIONS.

8. Bills amending more than one section of existing laws shall contain a separate section for each section amended

Bills which are not amendatory of existing laws shall be divided into short sections, where this can be done without destroying the sense of any particular section, to the end that future amendments may be made without the necessity of setting forth and repeating sections of unnecessary length.

CHANGES FROM EXISTING LAWS TO BE MARKED BY AUTHOR.

9 In case of a bill amending a code section, or general law, all omissions must be shown by the insertion of heavy parentheses or brackets without including the omitted matter; all additions must be shown by underlining the new matter. When printed, the new matter so underlined shall be enclosed in heavy brackets in the printed bill and also heavy brackets shall be retained to show omissions.

COMMITTEE ON REVISION AND PRINTING TO EXAMINE BILLS WHEN INTRODUCED.

10 Unless otherwise ordered by the House in which the bill was introduced, all bills before being printed shall be immediately sent to the Committee on Revision and Printing, which shall examine the bill, with the aid of the Legislative Counsel Bureau. The committee, by and with the written assent of the author filed with it, shall have authority to correct any clerical error such as in orthography, adding or correcting the enacting clause, mistakes in numbering sections and references thereto, errors in grammar, phraseology, or in the form of the bill; provided, that no bill which bears the stamp of the Legislative Counsel Bureau showing that before introduction it has been examined as to form, shall be sent to the Committee on Revision and Printing.

NOTE—The submission of bill copy to Legislative Counsel Bureau for approval of form before introduction will expedite its course.

BILLS INTRODUCED TO INDICATE CHANGES IN EXISTING LAWS

11. The Committee on Revision and Printing shall see to it that rules seven and nine of these Joint Rules are observed by the author, and that the bill shall not be sent to the printer until the provisions of these rules have been carried out.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEE ON REVISION AND PRINTING.

12. The Committee on Revision and Printing shall return to the Secretary of the Senate or Chief Clerk of the Assembly all bills in the order in which they were sent to it, but shall not retain any bill for longer than three legislative days, unless otherwise ordered.

ENDORSEMENT OF DATE OF INTRODUCTION.

13. Bills introduced in either House shall be endorsed with the date of introduction.

PRINTING AND DISTRIBUTION OF BILLS.

MANNER OF PRINTING BILLS, ETC.

14. The State Printer shall observe the following directions in printing all bills, constitutional amendments, joint and concurrent resolutions

(a) The body of such bills and resolutions shall be printed in solid unspaced form so that the same type shall be used both before and after enrollment.

(b) All titles of bills, resolutions, etc., shall be set in italics, statute form, and the length of the lines used in the bills shall not exceed that of the body of the bill.

(c) The lines of all printed bills shall be numbered by page and not by sections, and amendments shall be identified by reference to title, page and line only; provided, however, that concurrent resolutions approving city or county or city and county charters or amendments thereto may be set in smaller type without line numbers.

(d) Enrolled bills may be inclosed in stock cover.

PRINTING OF AMENDMENTS.

15. All bills amended by either House shall be immediately reprinted; in the case new matter is added by the amendments, such new matter shall be inclosed in heavy parentheses in the printed bill, and in the case of matter being omitted, the omission shall also be indicated by heavy parentheses. When a bill is amended in either house, the first or previous markings, except that showing change from code provision or former law, shall be omitted. When a bill amendatory of a code section is engrossed, all figures or symbols shall be removed.

DISTRIBUTION OF BILLS DURING CONSTITUTIONAL RECESS.

16. All requests for mailing or distribution by the members shall be filed with the Secretary of the Senate or Chief Clerk of the Assembly, who shall compile the same with the elimination of duplication as a general mailing list. The distribution of bills, constitutional amendments, joint and concurrent resolutions shall be systematized as follows: Members' desks and legislative officers, files 150 full sets; to authors 50 copies of their own bills, accredited newspaper representatives 25, to public and law libraries, newspapers, county officials, and other civic, commercial, fraternal or industrial organizations as the Secretary of the Senate and Chief Clerk of the Assembly may compile from the recommendations of the members of both houses, 1200 copies; to State officers, State library and Secretary of State, 200 copies, to legislative committees, bill room files and public requests—confined to single copies of bills designated, 1000 copies. The State Printer shall cause to be printed in the standard form adopted by the Senate and the Assembly as many copies of all bills, constitutional amendments and joint or concurrent resolutions as may be necessary to conform to the provisions of this rule.

A similar number and distribution shall be made of the semi-final history and final calendar.

DISTRIBUTION OF BILLS AFTER CONSTITUTIONAL RECESS.

17. Following the recess, new bills introduced shall be forwarded to the public libraries and law libraries only, and one copy each of amended bills as may be requested. Weekly Histories and Journals shall be distributed generally, following the recess, upon such schedule as the Secretary of the Senate and Chief Clerk of the Assembly may designate.

OTHER LEGISLATIVE PRINTING.

PRINTING OF THE DAILY JOURNAL.

18. The State Printer shall print 1000 copies of the Journal of each day's proceedings of each house; at the end of the session he shall also print a sufficient number of copies, properly paged after being corrected and indexed by the Secretary of the Senate and Chief Clerk of the Assembly, to bind in book form as the journal of the respective Houses of the Legislature as required by law.

WHAT SHALL BE PRINTED IN THE JOURNAL.

19. The following shall always be printed in the Journal of each House:

(a) Messages from the Governor and messages from the other House, and the titles of all bills, joint and concurrent resolutions and constitutional amendments when introduced in, offered to, or acted upon by the House, and the title and text of joint and concurrent resolutions and constitutional amendments when adopted by the House; provided, that in the case of a concurrent resolution approving the adoption of a charter or charter amendments of any kind, the text of such charter or charter amendments need not be printed in the Journal.

(b) Every vote taken in the House, and a statement of the contents of each petition, memorial, or paper presented to the House.

(c) A true and accurate account of the proceedings of the House, when not acting as a Committee of the Whole.

PRINTING OF THE DAILY FILE.

20. A Daily File of bills ready for consideration shall be printed each day for each House, and copies of the file of each House shall be distributed each day to all of the members of both Houses.

PRINTING OF HISTORY.

21. Each House shall cause to be printed on Monday of each week, during the session, a complete History of all bills, joint or concurrent resolutions and constitutional amendments originating in, or acted upon by the respective Houses.

Such History shall show the action taken upon each measure up to and including the legislative day preceding its issuance

For each legislative day intervening there shall be printed a Supplemental History showing the action taken upon any measure since the issuance of the complete History. A regular form shall be prescribed and no other form shall be used

Immediately following the adjournment for the constitutional recess the History shall be compiled and printed to date of recess.

AUTHORITY FOR PRINTING ORDERS

22. The Superintendent of State Printing shall not print for use of either House any matter other than provided by law or by these rules, except upon a written order signed by the Secretary of the Senate or the Chief Clerk of the Assembly. The Secretary of the Senate and the Chief Clerk of the Assembly may also, when necessity requires it, order certain matter printed in advance of the regular order, by the issuance of a rush order.

RECORD OF BILLS.

SECRETARY AND CHIEF CLERK TO KEEP REGISTER

23. The Secretary of the Senate and the Chief Clerk of the Assembly shall keep a register, in which shall be recorded every action taken by the Senate and Assembly on every bill, concurrent or joint resolution, or constitutional amendment.

SECRETARY AND CHIEF CLERK SHALL ENDORSE BILLS.

24. The Secretary of the Senate and the Chief Clerk of the Assembly shall endorse on every original bill a statement of any action taken by the Senate and Assembly.

ACTION IN ONE HOUSE ON BILL TRANSMITTED FROM THE OTHER.

BILLS READ AND REFERRED TO COMMITTEE.

25. When a Senate bill has been received by the Assembly or an Assembly bill by the Senate, with a message announcing that the same has passed the Senate or Assembly, such bill shall be read the first time by the Secretary or the Chief Clerk and referred to a standing committee by the presiding officer, unless otherwise ordered by the house.

AFTER A BILL HAS BEEN PASSED BY THE SENATE OR ASSEMBLY.

26. When a bill (if it be a Senate bill) has been received from the Senate by the Assembly, after its passage, or (if it be an Assembly bill) has been received from the Assembly by the Senate after its passage, it shall be taken up by the Senate or Assembly, as the case may be, under the regular order of business ("Senate messages" or "Assembly messages"), read the first time, unless otherwise ordered by the House, and shall then be assigned to the proper committee, unless otherwise ordered, who shall act upon the same as soon as practicable, and report the same back to the Senate or Assembly forthwith, and the chairman of each committee is charged with observance of this rule.

SPECIAL FILE.

27 On the second day after the close of the recess provided for in section 2, article IV of the constitution, the Senate and Assembly shall each adopt and provide a special file upon which shall be placed In the Senate, only Assembly bills that have passed the Assembly, and in the Assembly, only Senate bills that have passed the Senate. Such special file shall be taken up at two o'clock p m of each day in the Assembly and at two o'clock and thirty minutes p m. of each day in the Senate and be considered at least one hour and a half after being so taken up unless its consideration shall be completed in a lesser period of time. This rule shall not be suspended in either House except by a three-fourths vote of such House.

REPORTS FROM ONE HOUSE TO THE OTHER AS TO ACTION ON BILL.

BILL OR RESOLUTION IN ONE HOUSE, REJECTED IN THE OTHER, REQUIRES NOTICE.

28. When a bill or resolution which shall have passed one House is rejected by the other, notice thereof shall be given immediately to the House in which the same shall have passed.

EACH HOUSE TO TRANSMIT PAPERS.

29 Each House shall transmit to the other papers on which any bill or resolution shall be founded.

NOTICES TO BE IN WRITING, UNDER PROPER SIGNATURES

30 Notice of the action of either House to the other shall be in writing, and under the signature of the Secretary of the Senate or the Chief Clerk of the House from which such notice is to be conveyed

SECRETARY, CHIEF CLERK, ETC., TO DISPATCH MESSAGES.

31. Messages shall be sent to the other House by an officer or attache to be designated by the Secretary, if it be a Senate message, or by the Chief Clerk if it be an Assembly message MESSAGES MUST BE ANNOUNCED BY THE SERGEANT-AT-ARMS.

32. When a message shall be sent from either House it shall be announced at the door by the Sergeant-at-Arms, and shall be respectfully communicated to the presiding officer by the person by whom it may be sent.

PASSAGE AND ENROLLING OF BILLS.

PASSAGE OF BILLS TAKING EFFECT IMMEDIATELY.

33. Each House shall act in the usual course upon all bills that may be made to take effect immediately, under the provisions of section 1, article IV of the constitution

PASSAGE OF URGENCY PROVISIONS IN BILLS.

34. Upon the third reading of an act which is an urgency measure within the meaning of section 1 article IV of the State constitution, the presiding officer shall direct that the section of said act setting forth the facts constituting the necessity for such urgency (which shall be known as the urgency section) be then read and put to vote The question shall be thus stated. "Shall this section, setting forth the urgency features of this bill, be passed?" If upon such final vote, two-thirds of all the members elected to the House in which the vote is being taken shall not vote in the affirmative, no further action shall be taken on the bill, but, in case an identical bill without such an emergency clause be again introduced into such House, such bill shall be placed on file without reference to any committee.

PASSAGE OF BILLS PRECEDING FINAL ADJOURNMENT

35. No Senate bill shall be passed by the Senate and no Assembly bill shall be passed by the Assembly within seven days of the time set for adjournment sine die of the two Houses of the Legislature, unless permission to vote on such bill shall be granted by a three-fourths vote of the House of its origin after being recommended by the presiding officer thereof.

ENROLLMENT OF BILL AFTER PASSAGE

36. After a bill shall have passed both houses, it shall be duly enrolled after being carefully compared, by the Engrossing and Enrolling Clerk and Committee of the House in which it originated, with the engrossed bill, as passed in the two houses. It shall then receive the signatures provided for in joint rule 37, and be presented to the Governor of the State.

ENROLLING COMMITTEE TO PRESENT BILLS TO GOVERNOR.

37. After a bill shall have been thus passed in each House, it shall be presented by the Engrossing and Enrolling Committee of the House in which it originated to the Governor of the State for his approval (it being first endorsed by the presiding officers of the two houses, and by the Secretary of the Senate and the Chief Clerk of the Assembly). The said committee shall report the day of presentation to the Governor, which time shall be carefully entered in the Journal of the House in which the bill originated.

AMENDMENTS AND CONFERENCES.

AMENDMENTS TO AMENDED BILLS MUST BE ATTACHED.

38. Whenever a bill or resolution which shall have been passed in one House shall be amended in the other, it shall immediately be reprinted as amended by the House making such amendment or amendments. Such amendment or amendments shall be attached to the bill or resolution so amended, and indorsed "adopted," and such amendment or amendments, if concurred in by the House in which such bill or resolution originated, shall be indorsed "concurred in," and such indorsement shall be signed by the Secretary or Assistant Secretary of the Senate, or the Chief Clerk or Assistant Chief Clerk of the Assembly, as the case may be, provided, however, that an amendment to the title of a bill adopted after the passage of such bill shall not necessitate reprinting, but such amendment must be concurred in by the House in which such bill originated.

TO CONCUR OR REFUSE TO CONCUR IN AMENDMENTS.

39. In case the Senate amend and pass an Assembly bill, or the Assembly amend and pass a Senate bill, the Senate (if it be a Senate bill) or the Assembly (if it be an Assembly bill) must either "concur" or "refuse to concur" in the amendments. If the Senate concur (if it be a Senate bill), or the Assembly concur (if it be an Assembly bill), the Secretary or Chief Clerk shall notify the House making the amendments and the bill shall be ordered to enrollment.

WHEN SENATE OR ASSEMBLY REFUSE TO CONCUR.

40. If the Senate refuse to concur (if it be a Senate bill), or the Assembly refuse to concur (if it be an Assembly bill), the Secretary or the Chief Clerk shall notify the House making the amendments of such refusal, and ask that they recede from their amendments. If they refuse to recede, the presiding officer shall appoint a committee of three (3) on conference and the Secretary or the Chief Clerk shall immediately notify the other House of the action taken and request the appointment of a like committee. Two of the members comprising such committee from each House shall be selected from those voting with the majority on the point about which the difference has arisen, and the other member from each House of such committee shall be selected from the minority, in the event there is a minority vote. The first Senator named on the conference committee shall act as chairman of the committee from the Senate, and the first Assemblyman named on such committee shall act as chairman of the committee from the House, and the chairman thus selected shall arrange the time and place of all meetings and prepare or direct the preparation of reports. The Committee on Conference shall report to both the Senate and Assembly.

COMMITTEE ON CONFERENCE.

41. In every case of an amendment of a bill agreed to in one House and dissented from in the other, if either House shall request a conference and appoint a committee to confer, the other House shall appoint a like committee, and such committee shall meet at a convenient hour, to be agreed upon by the respective chairmen of the committees.

COMMITTEE ON FREE CONFERENCE.

42. If the conference fail to agree or either House refuse to adopt the report of the committee, a Committee on Free Conference shall then be appointed, which shall consist of three members from each House, to be constituted and appointed in the same manner as a Committee on Conference. The Committee on Free Conference is hereby directed to include in its report any amendments which it may adopt as a committee, and such amendments shall be attached to the bill.

The report of the Committee on Free Conference shall not be subject to amendment, and if either House refuse to adopt such report the conferees may be discharged and other conferees appointed.

It shall require the affirmative vote of not less than four of the members constituting the committee to agree upon a report. No member who has served on a Committee on Conference shall be appointed a member of a Committee on Free Conference on the same bill.

WHEN CONFERENCE COMMITTEE REPORT IS IN ORDER

43. The presentation of the report of a Committee on Conference or Free Conference shall always be in order, except when the Journal is being read or a question of order or a motion to adjourn is pending, or during roll call, and, when received, the question of proceeding to the consideration of the report, if raised, shall be immediately passed upon, and shall be determined without debate.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS.

44. The Committee on Joint Rules shall be empowered to compile a list of suggestions as to the form of bills and resolutions prepared for introduction into the Legislature.

PRESS RULES.

45. A person desiring recognition by the Senate or Assembly as a newspaper correspondent shall make application in writing to the President of the Senate or Speaker of the Assembly.

(a) The applicant shall state in writing the name of the newspaper or newspapers he represents and that he is not engaged, and will not become engaged as a lobbyist for any person, copartnership, corporation or interest and that he is not and will not become the agent or representative of any person, copartnership, organization or corporation in advocating or attempting to defeat any measure pending in either branch of the Legislature, that he is not employed in any executive, administrative or legislative department of the State government and will not become so employed while accepting the privileges of a press representative.

(b) It shall be the duty of the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the Assembly to assign one or more rooms for the exclusive use of correspondents during the legislative session, which room shall be known as the Press Room. The Press Room shall be under the control of the Superintendent of the Capitol Building and Grounds, provided, that all rules and regulations shall be approved by the President of the Senate and Speaker of the Assembly.

ADJOURNMENT.

46. Adjournment for the constitutional recess and adjournment sine die shall be made only by concurrent resolution, and the resolution for adjournment sine die shall be passed by both houses at least twenty-eight days before the date of such adjournment.

JOINT ADDRESS TO GOVERNOR.

47. When the Senate and Assembly shall judge it proper to make a joint address to the Governor, it shall be presented to him in his audience chamber by the President of the Senate in the presence of the Speaker of the Assembly and a Select Committee of six members from each House appointed by the respective presiding officers

DISPENSING WITH JOINT RULES.

48. No Joint Rule shall be dispensed with except by a vote of two-thirds of each House; and Joint Rules 27 and 35 can be dispensed with only in the manner provided for in said Joint Rules. If either House shall violate a Joint Rule, a question of order may be raised in the other House and decided in the same manner as in the case of the violation of the rules of such House, and if it shall be decided that the Joint Rules have been violated, the bill involving such violation shall be returned to the House in which it originated, without further action. Or, at the option of such House, the President or Speaker may direct the Secretary or the Chief Clerk to mark the section or sections in conflict with the rules as nonconcurred in or negatived.

REPORT OF STANDING COMMITTEE.

COMMITTEE AMENDMENT.

During reading of the Concurrent Resolution No. 9 the following amendment was submitted by the committee:

AMENDMENT NUMBER ONE.

On page 1, line 1, after the word "WHEREAS," strike out the remainder of the bill and insert in lieu thereof the following: "the legislature, during its session of 1923, passed an act known as the vehicle act, and

WHEREAS, Said act provided as follows

"Nothing in this act shall be construed as preventing the use on a motor vehicle of any headlight lamp, device or equipment heretofore approved by the division until December 31, 1924, unless such approval is revoked in accordance with the provisions hereof. After December 31 1924, it shall be unlawful to use on any highway in this state any headlight, lamp, device or equipment which shall not have been approved by the division as in this act provided" And

WHEREAS, The state motor vehicle department has so construed said act as to compel the installation of certain lighting devices on cars, manufactured prior to 1919, which are now lighted from their magnetos, which said installation will cause the expenditure of a large sum of money upon cars of small value used principally in the daytime by farmers and laborers in commercial pursuits, and

WHEREAS, It is proposed by certain members of the legislature to introduce for the consideration of this legislature certain amendments to the vehicle act relating to the lighting provisions thereof; therefore, be it

Resolved by the senate, the assembly concurring, That it be the sense of this legislature that the provisions of said section herein quoted be extended by the motor vehicle department to September 1, 1925, in so far as it applies to cars manufactured prior to 1919 where the same are lighted from their magnetos. And be it further

Resolved, That it be the sense of this legislature that no requirements as to lighting facilities other than equipment heretofore approved on the division be required as to cars manufactured prior to 1919 as a prerequisite for registration of said cars for the year 1925

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the superintendent of the motor vehicle department of the State of California."

Amendment adopted.

SACRAMENTO, January 16, 1925.

To His Excellency, Friend Wm. Richardson,
Governor of California.

DEAR SIR I submit herewith for your consideration the report of the Surveyor General on the presence of oil on California beaches, authorized by Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 23, filed with the Secretary of State May 21, 1923, reading as follows

"Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 23—Relative to an investigation by the surveyor general of the prevalence of oil upon the beaches along the coast of California.

[Filed with Secretary of State May 21, 1923.]

WHEREAS, The beaches along the coast of California are among the most desirable pleasure places in the state and furnish a means of recreation to a great many people, and

WHEREAS, There is at the present time a great prevalence of crude oil and petroleum in the waters along such beaches which is washed upon and scattered along the beaches themselves making them undesirable for pleasure purposes and preventing their use and enjoyment; and

WHEREAS, The value and desirability of maintaining such beaches in a condition in which they may be used for pleasure purposes by the people of the state is a matter of concern to the entire state and has already been recognized by the legislature by a provision of the act of 1921 reserving minerals in state lands which prohibits the leasing of tidelands in front of an incorporated city and for a mile on either side for the purpose of drilling for oil; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the assembly, the senate concurring, That the surveyor general of this state be and hereby is authorized and directed to make a complete survey and investigation of such situation and to determine the causes for the presence of such crude oil or petroleum on the beaches and to arrive, if possible, at a method for preventing the same; and be it further

Resolved, That the surveyor general shall make a full and complete report of his findings with all data so obtained to the governor of this state together with any plans and suggestions he may deem expedient."

I have made every effort to present to you a report completely and accurately covering the situation I have carefully inspected the beaches where the most trouble has been experienced and I have conferred in person or by correspondence with Federal, State, County and City officials, private geologists, the California State Mineralogist, State Oil and Gas Supervisor, State Fish and Game Commission, State Attorney General, with Oil Company officials, and with Chambers of Commerce, Bath House men, and many private citizens, some of whom were entirely disinterested. I have collected all clippings, articles and data that have come to my attention

I have secured particularly valuable data from the United States Bureau of Mines, the National Coast Anti-pollution League, and from the State Fish and Game Commission. I have taken advantage of every source of information available, that I might make an accurate and fair presentation of the facts, together with such recommendations for methods of prevention as appear best suited to meet the situation

Respectfully submitted.

W. S. KINGSBURY, State Surveyor General.
By GEORGE R. HILBY, Assistant.

General Review of Situation.

The problem of oil on bathing beaches is a very serious one. It is not confined to California alone nor even to the United States, but it is a world wide condition which has arisen and grown steadily worse, since oil has come into use, as fuel. The United States Bureau of Mines has made a thorough investigation to determine the cause of this condition. Hearings have been held before the Committee on Rivers and Harbors of the House of Representatives and before the Commerce Committee of the United States Senate, finally resulting in the passage of an act by Congress (Public No. 238—68th Congress.) (S. 1942.) to protect navigation from obstruction and injury by preventing the discharge of oil into the coastal navigable waters of the United States

The act makes it a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine or imprisonment or both, to discharge oil from vessels into the coastal navigable waters and authorizes the Secretary of War to ascertain what polluting substances are being deposited into certain waters of the United States

"[PUBLIC—No. 238—68TH CONGRESS.]
[S. 1942.]

An Act To protect navigation from obstruction and injury by preventing the discharge of oil into the coastal navigable waters of the United States.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That this Act may be cited as the 'Oil Pollution Act, 1924.'

SEC. 2. When used in this Act, unless the context otherwise requires—

(a) The term 'oil' means oil of any kind or in any form, including fuel oil, oil sludge, and oil refuse;

(b) The term 'person' means an individual, partnership, corporation, or association; any owner, master, officer or employee of a vessel, and any officer, agent, or employee of the United States;

(c) The term 'coastal navigable waters of the United States' means all portions of the sea within the territorial jurisdiction of the United States, and all inland waters navigable in fact in which the tide ebbs and flows;

(d) The term 'Secretary' means the Secretary of War

SEC 3 That, except in case of emergency imperiling life or property, or unavoidable accident, collision, or stranding, and except as otherwise permitted by regulations prescribed by the Secretary as hereinafter authorized, it shall be unlawful for any person to discharge, or suffer, or permit the discharge of oil by any method, means, or manner into or upon the coastal navigable waters of the United States from any vessel using oil as fuel for the generation of propulsion power, or any vessel carrying or having oil thereon in excess of that necessary for its lubricating requirements and such as may be required under the laws of the United States and the rules and regulations prescribed thereunder The Secretary is authorized and empowered to prescribe regulations permitting the discharge of oil from vessels in such quantities, under such conditions, and at such times and places as in his opinion will not be deleterious to health or sea food, or a menace to navigation, or dangerous to persons or property engaged in commerce on such waters, and for the loading, handling, and unloading of oil.

SEC 4. That any person who violates section 3 of this Act, or any regulation prescribed in pursuance thereof, is guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $2,500 nor less than $500, or by imprisonment not exceeding one year nor less than thirty days, or by both such fine and imprisonment, for each offense. And any vessel (other than a vessel owned and operated by the United States) from which oil is discharged in violation of section 3 of this Act, or any regulation prescribed in pursuance thereof, shall be liable for the pecuniary penalty specified in this section, and clearance of such vessel from a port of the United States may be withheld until the penalty is paid, and said penalty shall constitute a lien on such vessel which may be recovered in proceedings by libel in rem in the district court of the United States for any district within which the vessel may be

SEC. 5. A board of local inspectors of vessels may, subject to the provisions of section 4450 of the Revised Statutes, and of the Act entitled 'An Act to provide for appeals from decisions of local inspectors of vessels, and for other purposes,' approved June 10, 1918, suspend or revoke a license issued by any such board to the master or other licensed officer of any vessel found violating the provisions of section 3 of this Act.

SEC. 6. That no penalty or the withholding of clearance, or the suspension or revocation of licenses, provided for herein, shall be enforced for any violation of this Act occurring within three months after its passage

SEC. 7. That in the administration of this Act the Secretary may make use of the organization, equipment, and agencies, including engineering, clerical, and other personnel, employed under his direction in the improvement of rivers and harbors, and in the enforcement of existing laws for the preservation and protection of navigable waters. And for the better enforcement of the provisions of this Act, the officers and agents of the United States in charge of river and harbor improvements, and the assistant engineers and inspectors employed under them by authority of the Secretary, and officers of the Customs and Coast Guard Service of the United States, shall have power and authority and it shall be their duty to swear out process and to arrest and take into custody, with or without process, any person who may violate any of said provisions Provided, That no person shall be arrested without process for a violation not committed in the presence of some one of the aforesaid officials: And provided further, That whenever any arrest is made under the provisions of this Act the person so arrested shall be brought forthwith before a commissioner, judge, or court of the United States for examination of the offenses alleged against him, and such commissioner, judge, or court shall proceed in respect thereto as authorized by law in cases of crimes against the United States.

SEC. 8. That this Act shall be in addition to the existing laws for the preservation and protection of navigable waters and shall not be construed as repealing, modifying, or in any manner affecting the provisions of those laws.

SEC. 9. That the Secretary is authorized and directed to make such investigation as may be necessary to ascertain what polluting substances are being deposited into the navigable waters of the United States, or into nonnavigable waters connecting with navigable waters, to such an extent as to endanger or interfere with navigation or commerce upon such navigable waters or the fisheries therein; and with a view to ascertaining the sources of such pollutions and by what means they are deposited; and the Secretary shall report the results of his investigation to the Congress not later than two years after the passage of this Act, together with such recommendations for remedial legislation as he deems advisable: Provided, That funds appropriated for examinations, surveys, and contingencies of rivers and harbors may be applied to paying the cost of this investigation, and, to adequately provide therefor, the additional sum of not to exceed $50,000 is hereby authorized to be appropriated for examinations, surveys, and contingencies of rivers and harbors.

Approved, June 7, 1924."

The centers of the zones of greatest pollution appear to be Redondo, San Pedro, Long Beach and Huntington Beach.

Oil is drained from Los Angeles fields through storm sewers draining into Ballona Creek, which empties into the ocean at Playa del Rey north of Redondo. The beaches to the north at Venice, Ocean Park and Santa Monica have at times been polluted from Ballona Creek, but at these points I am convinced that practically all the trouble comes from shipping.

Directly west of Redondo about two miles, there is a submarine oil spring which doubtless has been a large contributing factor, to the pollution of Redondo, Hermosa and Manhattan Beaches.

Practically all the pollution at San Pedro comes from the shipping and from spillage at the oil loading stations. Secretary of Commerce H. C. Hoover estimated that generally about ninety per cent of oil pollution comes from ships. (See Hearings on Pollution of Navigable Waters, Committee on Rivers and Harbors, House of Representatives, Sixty-eighth Congress, page 12.)

Oil is also drained from Signal Hill field through storm sewers and the open ditch leading into the flood control channel, which empties into the ocean at Long Beach. At Huntington Beach oil has been drained from the oil field through storm waterways. At these points the oil field drainage is largely, but not altogether, responsible for the pollution of the beaches.

At Pismo Beach, a great deal of damage to the clam industry was done at one time, but through several court actions initiated by the State Fish and Game Commission, the trouble was overcome.

CHAPTER III.

The Shipping Situation

One of the greatest sources of pollution is the shipping, including both tankers and cargo vessels. This occurs principally in four ways, as follows:

1. Discharge of ballast water.
2. Pumping out bilges.
3. Cleaning out tanks for inspection or repairs.
4. Spillage in transferring oil.

Ballast water is carried in the empty oil tanks of tankers and in the empty fuel tanks of practically all oil burning vessels, to preserve stability. If the weather is fair upon approaching the port of destination, the ballast water is discharged, and with it a certain amount of oil. As the tanks are pumped from the bottom, the oil scum which floats on the top does not begin to appear until the depth of the water in the tank is reduced to about three feet. It is now the general practice of the tankers operated by the large oil companies to reduce the depth to about three feet while out at sea, retaining the balance for discharge and salvage, while at the loading station. This reduces the loss of oil through the discharge of ballast water to a very small amount.

The ability of a ship to handle any oily water which may accumulate is dependent upon the design of the ship. Most of the modern ships should have little difficulty in properly retaining ballast water for discharge at the loading station, and the installation on each ship of a successful oil separation device will prevent pollution from all others. This will undoubtedly be the ultimate solution of this phase of the problem.

The largest part of the pollution of the Southern California beaches has been due in the past to improper discharge of ballast water, but it is believed that enforcement of the recent legislation enacted by Congress will prevent practically all the pollution from this source.

Pumping out bilges This source of pollution has always existed, since steamships have come into general use, but particularly since the steamships have been using oil as fuel It is doubtless a contributing factor in the Pacific Coast problem, but not a large one It was not noticeable before oil came into general use as fuel. The installation of a small separator and a little care in operation will probably eliminate this source of pollution

It is believed that this phase of the situation will be remedied through the operation of the new United States law

Cleaning out tanks for inspection or repairs This is sometimes done at sea. It is probable that the Secretary of War will make rules and regulations governing, and provide facilities for, the discharge of waste products of this kind in every case.

Spillage in transferring oil In the past there had been a great deal of spillage at the loading stations in San Pedro Harbor, but the City of Los Angeles employed watchmen at these places to prevent carelessness in operation, and conditions have since improved greatly As the amount of oil being shipped is constantly decreasing, the pollution from this source will decrease proportionately

CHAPTER IV.

Oil Field Drainage

Aside from the shipping, this is the most prolific cause of pollution of the beaches.

The principal region affected by this condition is that around Long Beach. It also occasionally occurs at several other places, particularly at Huntington Beach, and at the mouth of Ballona Creek At Long Beach, where the largest amount of oil has been produced and where, consequently, the greatest amount of trouble has been experienced, the situation appears to be fairly well under control The oil and water which escape from the sumps at the wells, drain into a ditch which leads to a settling basin As the oil accumulates on the top of the water in the settling basin, it is skimmed off and pumped into the pipe line, and the water is allowed to flow down a storm drain to the Flood Control Channel. Just before reaching the Flood Control Channel, the water goes through another system of sumps and the waste oil recovered is burned In normal times, with a small amount of water coming down, the system is very successful in preventing practically all oil from entering the Flood Control Channel from Long Beach Field

However, due to the close spacing of the wells in both Long Beach and Huntington Beach fields, and the small size of individual holdings there is often not enough room for proper storage space for waste oil and water Inadequate sumps maintained by individual operators are a constant menace for in a heavy rainstorm, the great amount of water will carry down large quantities of oil which have accumulated in the sumps The capacity of the settling basins cannot be increased in proportion, and the oil will be swept out through the storm drains, into the Flood Control Channel, and from thence carried to the bay and brought back on the beach, by the tide. This has happened in the past at Long Beach, Huntington Beach and through Ballona Creek, and will continue to happen until successful preventive action is taken. The sides of the Flood Control Channel, at Long Beach, particularly near the high water mark, bear the evidence of many such occurrences. At Huntington Beach I found oily masses which were attached to chips of wood in such a way as to indicate very clearly that they had come from an oil sump The only practical solution to the problem is a cooperative separation system of sufficient capacity to meet any emergency.

The city officials of Long Beach have done everything in their power to prevent pollution of their beach and have succeeded in reducing the damage to a minimum. The Board of Supervisors of Los Angeles County passed a resolution to assist in every way possible to prevent the pollution of beaches by oil. However, there appears to be some doubt as to the applicability of the sections of the Penal Code covering the situation and I believe that a specific provision of law should be enacted directly prohibiting pollution by oil of waters which drain into the ocean, or which may in time of flood, drain into the ocean at or near a bathing beach.

CHAPTER V.

Submarine Oil Springs

There are several places along the coast of California where oil and gas are continually escaping from points in the bed of the ocean. They are opposite Naples, Carpinteria, Manhattan, Redondo and San Juan Capistrano. The principal one that concerns the Southern California beaches is directly west of Redondo and is shown extending from a point about one and one-half miles off shore to a point about three miles off shore, on the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey Chart of Santa Monica Bay corrected to May 29, 1923. The depth of the water at the center of this spot is 72 fathoms. It lies at the head of a canyon and is practically all in water too deep for divers to work in, so that at present there appears to be no practical way of exploration of the bottom of the sea at this point, or any remedy or method of prevention of pollution from this source.

Harry H. Rogers, being first duly sworn, deposes and says I have been fishing off Hermosa and Redondo for the past nine years, and during this time have known of two oil seepages which cover the surface of the ocean for acres One is about three miles off Redondo and the other is off Manhattan about four miles. This oil at times drifts up on the beach.

H. Carstensen, being first duly sworn, deposes and says. I have been fishing for the market for about 28 years, off Redondo, and during this time have always found crude oil on the surface of the water along the shore between Manhattan and Redondo. At times this oil is carried on to the beach by the wind and currents It is common knowledge that this oil comes from a natural oil spring off shore

CHAPTER VI.

Refineries, Industrial Plants and Pipe Lines.

Refineries I do not believe that much damage is being done from this source As a rule, refineries find it profitable to save every drop of oil possible, and they are well equipped to prevent any loss of oil into the discharge water, except possibly under extraordinary circumstances The Standard Oil Refinery at El Segundo has been accused of polluting the beaches, in times past, but it does not appear that this accusation has any foundation in fact. On April 25, 1921, C S. Bauder, Assistant Fish and Game Commissioner at San Pedro, after a thorough investigation, including an inspection of the Standard Oil Refinery and a chemical analysis of the discharge water, reported that the real cause of the oil on the beach at this point, is the submarine oil spring off Redondo, and that every effort was being made by the officers of the Standard Oil Company to prevent any pollution of the ocean waters at El Segundo.

Industrial Plants. I was unable to find any case where the discharge from an industrial plant was polluting the water with oil.

Pipe Line Breaks. There have been several very bad breaks in pipe lines, resulting in the pollution of the vicinity for many months. The oil companies are taking every possible precaution to prevent such accidents and I do not think anything could be done that would entirely eliminate this source of pollution.

CHAPTER VII.

City Sewers.

There appears to be a great deal of oil and grease in city sewage, but the city officials of Los Angeles, where the greatest amount of pollution from this source would naturally be, are doing everything in their power to keep this condition under control, as the oil and grease interfere with sewage treatment and assimilation by the ocean water and are consequently very undesirable I do not think that enough oil escapes through the sanitary sewers to noticeably pollute the beach, but I am satisfied that oil from oil fields escapes at intervals through storm sewers.

CHAPTER VIII

Summary.

Sources of Pollution and Remedies

1 Shipping. This will probably be properly taken care of by the War Department.

2. Oil Field Drainage Enactment of law recommended.

3 Submarine Oil Springs. No remedy.

4 Refineries, Industrial Plants, and Pipe Lines Little pollution from these sources.

5. Sewage Proper regulation of oil field drainage will practically eliminate this source.

SENATE MESSAGE.

SENATE CHAMBER SACRAMENTO, January 22, 1925.

MR. SPEAKER I am directed to inform your honorable body that the Senate on this day passed as a case of urgency Assembly Bill No 344—An act making an appropriation to meet the deficiency in the appropriations for salaries and support of the State Department of Agriculture for the seventy-fifth and seventy-sixth fiscal years.

J A. BEEK, Secretary of Senate
By J. T. MACDONALD, Assistant Secretary.

The above reported bill ordered to enrollment.

INTRODUCTION AND REFERENCE OF BILL.

The following bill was introduced, and referred as indicated:

By Mr. Anderson, R J.: Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 12—Relative to requesting the Attorney General of the State of California to appoint a special prosecutor to represent the people of the county of Shasta against said John H. Vail on the charge of murdering James S. White in said county.

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT.

Mr Anderson, R. J., asked for unanimous consent to take up Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 12, at this time, without reference to committee or printer.

MOTION.

Mr. Coombs moved that Assembly Concurrent Resolution No 12 be referred to Committee on Judiciary.

Motion carried

The speaker referred Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 12 to Committee on Judiciary

REPORTS OF STANDING COMMITTEES.

The following reports of standing committees were received and read:

ON MUNICIPAL CORPORATIONS.

ASSEMBLY CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, January 23, 1925.

MR. SPEAKER: Your Committee on Municipal Corporations, to which was referred Assembly Concurrent Resolution No 8—Relative to approving the charter of the City of Compton, State of California, ratified by the qualified electors of said city, at a special election held therein, on the ninth day of December, 1924;

Also Assembly Concurrent Resolution No 10—To approving amendments to the charter of the city of Watsonville, county of Santa Cruz, State of California, voted for and ratified by the qualified electors of the said city of Watsonville at a special municipal election held therein for that purpose on the nineteenth day of January, 1925;

Has had the same under consideration, and respectfully reports the same back, and recommends that they be adopted

SEWELL, Chairman.

The above reported concurrent resolutions ordered on file for adoption.

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT.

Mr. Sewell asked for and was granted unanimous consent to take up Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 8, at this time, without reference to file, and that same be considered engrossed.

CONSIDERATION OF ASSEMBLY CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NUMBER EIGHT.

INTRODUCTION AND REFERENCE OF BILLS.

The following bills were introduced, and referred as indicated:

By Mr. Reindollar: Assembly Bill No. 713—An act to amend "An act to provide for the incorporation and organization and management of municipal water districts, and to provide for the acquisition or construction by said districts of water works and for the acquisition of all property necessary therefor, and also to provide for the distribution and sale of water by said districts," approved May 1, 1911, as amended by act approved December 24, 1911, by amending section 12 thereof as amended, relating to powers of municipal water districts.

Bill read first time, and referred to Committee on Municipal Corporations.

Also: Assembly Bill No. 714—An act to amend section 23 of an act entitled, "An act to provide for the incorporation and organization and management of municipal water districts, and to provide for the acquisition or construction by said districts of water works and for the acquisition of all property necessary therefor, and also to provide for the distribution and sale of water by said districts," approved May 1, 1911, as amended, relating to powers of municipal water districts to levy tax to meet deficiencies.

Bill read first time, and referred to Committee on Municipal Corporations.

By Mr. Jones: Assembly Bill No. 715—An act to amend section 3065 of the Civil Code, providing for liens on logs, lumber and other timber products by persons who by their own labor, or by using their live stock, machinery or appliances, assist in felling, preparing or transporting logs or in manufacturing lumber or other timber products from such logs and providing for means by which the owner of such logs or products manufactured therefrom may protect by a contractor's bond against any liens in excess of the contract price agreed upon between the said owner and any contractor; to add a new section to Civil Code to be numbered 3065*a*, providing for means of enforcing such liens, to repeal an act entitled "An act giving a lien to loggers and laborers, employed in logging camps, upon the logs cut and hauled by the persons who employ them," approved March 30, 1878, together with acts amending same approved April 12, 1880, and March 8, 1887; and to repeal all other acts and parts of acts in conflict with this act.

Bill read first time, and referred to Committee to Judiciary

By Mr. Nielsen: Assembly Bill No 716—An act appropriating money to pay the claim of the county of Sacramento against the State of California.

Bill read first time, and referred to Committee on Claims.

By Mr. West: Assembly Bill No 717—An act to amend section 1207 of the Civil Code, relating to acknowledgments.

Bill read first time, and referred to Committee on Judiciary.

Also: Assembly Bill No. 718—An act regulating the buying, receiving as a pledge and shipping of builders' tools, and requiring every person, firm or corporation dealing in second-hand goods, wares or merchandise, either as pawnbroker or otherwise, to secure from every person who sells or pledges builders' tools satisfactory written evidence of his rights to sell or pledge the same; establishing a prima facie presumption that any such tools bought or received in pledge, without such written evidence, were so bought or so received in pledge, with knowledge that they were stolen; and also requiring every such person, firm or corporation to keep a register of all such tools bought or received as a pledge, and to deliver daily, except on legal holidays, a copy thereof to the chief of police, city marshal, town marshal, or other head of the police department, or to the sheriff of the county; and prescribing a penalty for violation of the act.

Bill read first time, and referred to Committee on Judiciary.

Also: Assembly Bill No. 719—An act authorizing the sending of the librarians of any and all publicly supported libraries in the State to meetings of the California Library Association, and the payment of the expenses incident thereto.

Bill read first time and referred to Committee on Governmental Efficiency and Economy.

By Mr. Cleveland: Assembly Bill No. 720—An act to amend section 5 of an act entitled "An act to accept from the Veterans' Home Association the conveyance of, and to vest the title in the State of California, to the tract of land in Napa County known as the Veterans' Home, with the improvements and furnishings thereon, to make the same a State home for United States soldiers, sailors, and marines, and to provide for the government thereof by the State," approved March 11, 1897, as amended, relating to the appointment of employees.

Bill read first time, and referred to Committee on Governmental Efficiency and Economy.

Also: Assembly Bill No. 721—An act to amend section 69*a* of the Civil Code, relative to the certificate of registry of marriage.

Bill read first time, and referred to Committee on Judiciary.

By Mr. Deuel: Assembly Bill No 722—An act to promote the development of the California olive industry and to protect the State's reputation in such industry by establishing and defining certain standards for canned olives, and to prevent deception in the packing and sale of canned olives, and to prescribe penalties for violation of the provisions hereof.

Bill read first time, and referred to Committee on Agriculture.

Also: Assembly Bill No. 723—An act to amend section 4041*f* of the Political Code, relating to homes and meeting places for veterans.

Bill read first time, and referred to Committee on Soldiers and Sailors Affairs.

Also: Assembly Bill No. 724—An act providing that any reversionary restriction in titles of real estate shall be inoperative and void after the reasons for the restrictions have, through operation of law, ceased to exist, and providing that any reversionary restriction shall not be operative for more than a period of twenty-one years or during the life of the person holding the reversionary interest.

Bill read first time, and referred to Committee on Judiciary.

By Mr Brock: Assembly Bill No 725—An act to amend an act entitled "An act to define and regulate the business of banking." approved March 1, 1909, as amended, designated the "Bank Act," by amending sections 15, 15*a*, 21*a*, 62, 65, 80, 83, 96, 101, 123, 130, 132, and 138, and by adding new sections thereto, to be numbered sections 16, 16*a*, 16*b*, 16*c*, 16*d*, 16*e*, and 104, all relating to the definition and regulation of the business of banking.

Bill read first time, and referred to Committee on Banking.

Also: Assembly Bill No. 726—An act to amend sections 2, 3, 4, 5, and 6 of an act entitled "An act relating to the liquidation of banks by the Superintendent of Banks; empowering him to levy assessments against the members and stockholders of any bank in process of liquidation by him to an amount which he may determine to be necessary to promptly pay the creditors of such bank in full; to enforce such assessments by suit and empowering the superior court to determine the equities of the members and stockholders of any such bank to any surplus which may remain after the payment of the creditors of such bank in full, and to award and distribute the same accordingly," approved May 17, 1917.

Bill read first time, and referred to Committee on Banking.

Also: Assembly Bill No. 727—An act to repeal section 290½ of the Civil Code, relating to the names, powers of corporations, and the purposes for which certain corporations may be formed.

Bill read first time, and referred to Committee on Corporations.

Also: Assembly Bill No. 728—An act to provide for the investigation of matters relating to the public welfare in connection with the welfare of women and children in the State of California by a committee of nine women to be appointed by the Governor.

Bill read first time, and referred to Committee on Governmental Efficiency and Economy.

Also: Assembly Bill No. 729—An act to add a new section to an act entitled "An act to provide for the organization, incorporation and government of municipalities," approved March 13, 1883, as amended, to be numbered 887, relating to liability of public officers.

Bill read first time, and referred to Committee on Municipal Corporations.

Also: Assembly Bill No. 730—An act to amend sections 852*a* and 881 of an act entitled "An act to provide for the organization, incorporation and government of municipal corporations," approved March 13, 1883, as amended, relating to elections for and adoption of the commission form of government, and relating to the compensation of officers of municipalities.

Bill read first time, and referred to Committee on Municipal Corporations.

Also: Assembly Bill No. 731—An act to amend section 2 of an act entitled "An act to provide for the organization, incorporation and government of municipal corporations," approved March 13, 1883, as amended, relating to boundaries of municipalities

Bill read first time, and referred to Committee on Municipal Corporations.

By Mr. Pierce: Assembly Bill No. 732—An act to amend an act entitled "An act to establish State Board of Embalmers, defining the duties thereof, providing for the better protection of life and health, preventing the spread of contagious diseases, regulating the practice of embalming in connection with the care and disposal of the dead and providing penalties for the violation thereof," approved April 16, 1915, as amended.

Bill read first time, and referred to Committee on Public Health and Quarantine.

Also: Assembly Bill No. 733—An act to amend section 1861 of the Civil Code, relating to liens of innkeepers.

Bill read first time, and referred to Committee on Judiciary.

By Mr. Hartranft: Assembly Bill No. 734—An act to amend section 4 of an act entitled "An act to provide for the incorporation and organization and management of county water districts, and to provide for the acquisition of water rights or construction thereby of waterworks and for the acquisition of all property necessary therefor and also to provide for the distribution and sale of water by said districts," approved June 10, 1913, as amended, relating to elections.

Bill read first time, and referred to Committee on Irrigation.

Also: Assembly Bill No. 735—An act to amend section 7 of an act entitled "An act providing for the improvement, development or protection of any harbor, bay, inlet, or other arm of sea, existing within any county of this State, providing for the appointment of a harbor commission by the board of supervisors of any such county to have charge and control of the improvement, development, or protection thereof, and the voting, issuance and sale of the bonds of such county to pay the cost thereof," approved June 15, 1915, as amended, relating to improvement.

Bill read first time, and referred to Committee on Commerce and Navigation.

Also: Assembly Bill No. 736—An act to amend section 1576 of the Political Code, relative to incorporated cities and school districts.

Bill read first time, and referred to Committee on Education.

Also: Assembly Bill No. 737—An act to amend section 42 of an act entitled "An act to provide for the organization and government of drainage districts, for the drainage of agricultural lands, other than swamp and overflowed lands, and to provide for the acquisition or construction thereby of works for the drainage of the lands embraced within such districts," approved March 20, 1903, as amended.

Bill read first time, and referred to Committee on Drainage, Swamp and Overflowed Lands.

Also: Assembly Bill No. 738—An act to amend sections 8 and 10½ of an act entitled: "An act to provide for the formation, government, operation, reorganization, dissolution and alternation of boundaries of sanitary districts in any part of the State, for the construction of sewers, septic tanks and other sanitary purposes; the acquisition of property thereby; the calling and conducting of elections in such districts; the assessment, levy, collection, custody and disbursement of taxes therein; the issuance, and disposal of the bonds thereof and the determination of their validity and making provision for the payment of such bonds and the disposal of their proceeds; to empower sanitary boards to make and enforce sanitary regulations and providing penalties for violations thereof," approved May 25, 1919, as amended, relating to listing of property.

Bill read first time, and referred to Committee on Public Health and Quarantine.

Also: Assembly Bill No. 739—An act to amend section 1519*a*, relating to powers and duties of the State Board of Education.

Bill read first time, and referred to Committee on Education.

By Mr. Browne: Assembly Bill No. 740—An act to create a water district known as the Mono-Inyo Water District prescribing its boundaries and providing for the government and control thereof.

Bill read first time, and referred to Committee on Irrigation.

Also: Assembly Bill No. 741—An act to amend section 394 of the Code of Civil Procedure, relating to the place of trial of actions or proceedings to which a county, city and county, or city is a party.

During the reading of Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 9 the following amendment was submitted by the committee:

AMENDMENT NUMBER ONE

On page 1, line 1, of the printed bill, after the word "Whereas", strike out the remainder of the bill and insert in lieu thereof the following

The Legislature, during its session of 1923, passed an act known as the vehicle act, and

WHEREAS, Said act provided as follows:

"Nothing in this act shall be construed as preventing the use on a motor vehicle of any headlight, lamp, device or equipment heretofore approved by the division until December 31, 1924, unless such approval is revoked in accordance with the provisions hereof. After December 31, 1924, it shall be unlawful to use on any highway in this State any headlight lamp, device or equipment which shall not have been approved by the division as in this act provided."

And

WHEREAS, The State motor vehicle department has so construed said act as to compel the installation of certain lighting devices on cars, manufactured prior to 1919, which are now lighted from their magnetos, which said installation will cause the expenditure of a large sum of money upon cars of small value used principally in the daytime by farmers and laborers in commercial pursuits, and

WHEREAS, It is proposed by certain members of the Legislature to introduce for the consideration of this Legislature certain amendments to the vehicle act relating to the lighting provisions thereof, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate, the Assembly concurring, That it be the sense of this Legislature that the provisions of said section herein quoted be extended by the motor vehicle department to September 1, 1925, in so far as it applies to cars manufactured prior to 1919 where the same are lighted from their magnetos; and be it further

Resolved, That it be the sense of this Legislature that no requirements as to lighting facilities other than equipment heretofore approved on the division be required as to cars manufactured prior to 1919 as a prerequisite for registration of said cars for the year 1925

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the superintendent of the motor vehicle department of the State of California

Amendment adopted.

RESOLUTION.

The following resolution was offered:

By Mr. Dillinger:

WHEREAS, Today is the seventy-seventh anniversary of the discovery of gold in California by James W. Marshall, and

WHEREAS, As a result of that discovery of gold, in the tail race of the mill at Coloma, in El Dorado County, on January 24, 1848, there came to California those hardy immigrants who, upon their arrival discovered that California held not only gold, but the wealth and beauty of all the world, and

WHEREAS, During the three-quarters of a century that has passed, this great commonwealth has grown and prospered, and in that space of time has reached a place of honor in the aggregation of states which compose this nation; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That this Assembly when it shall adjourn this twenty-fourth day of January, 1925, do so in commemoration of the seventy-seventh anniversary of the discovery of gold and the resultant influx of rugged pioneers who founded this great State.

January 24, 1925.

Resolution read, and on motion unanimously adopted.

MOTION TO PRINT SPEECH.

Mrs. Woodbridge moved that the speech delivered by Mr. Dillinger, relative to the discovery of gold in California, be printed in the Journal.

Motion carried.

SPEECH BY MR. DILLINGER.

The following speech was delivered by Mr. Dillinger, relative to the discovery of gold in California:

Today we part, to return to our respective places of abode, there to counsel with our constituencies respecting the wisdom of our acts and to reflect upon the task that lies before us upon our return, that our labors may find fruition in wise laws, for the legend above our Speaker's head, "Legislatorum est justus, Leges condere," says that it is the duty of the Legislature to make wise laws

This day, also, is the anniversary of another day, that seventy-seven years ago marked the beginning of a new epoch in the history of the world. On a morning such as this, a rugged pioneer toiled in a canyon near the head waters of the American, beneath his feet the swirling waters of that turbulent stream rushed down to the sea, above his head the stately pines reared their crowns to the azure skies and the twittering birds and crooning zephyrs completed that scene of virgin beauty. From this scene, that morning sped the magic word that gold was found in California. The relentless hand that engrosses on the fair new page of time the record of the deeds of men, that writes and having wrote moves on, turned another spotless page on which to spread the stirring annals of an empire born to the world that day.

The magnetic lure of adventure and gold called men from the plow, the forge, the bench, the office, the store. Leaving a farewell kiss on lips that were dear to them, they broke the clasp of clinging arms to follow that call into the land of the setting sun, braving the dangers of the trackless sea or equally trackless plain. None but the highest courage would dare it; none but an unbreakable will could achieve it.

By such men as these, upon a strength of purpose such as this, and upon their high ideals of simple honesty and justice, was founded and built our priceless heritage, California So now, let us, in the light of those high ideals, this day be consecrated to the task that lies before us, that we may prove worthy of that heritage and wisely administer that trust

I offer this resolution, Mr. Speaker, that when we adjourn we do so in commemoration, not alone of the mere accidental discovery of gold at Coloma on January 24, 1848, but in commemoration as well of the unquenchable spirit and the lofty ideals of those rugged pioneers who, with James A. Marshall, bequeathed to us our wonderful California

RESOLUTION.

The following resolution was offered:

By Mr. Coombs:

Resolved, That standing rule No. 10, subdivision 22, relating to the Committee on Governmental Revenues and Expenditures be amended by striking out the word

"five" and insert in lieu thereof the word "nine" so that said committee shall consist of nine instead of five members and that the Speaker be authorized to fill the vacancies on said committee created by such change.

Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 12 ordered transmitted to the Senate.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 12

Relative to a southern branch of the University of Southern California

WHEREAS, The students in attendance at the southern branch of the University of California have increased from 1800 in 1920, when President Barrows made his earnest plea for help, to 5042, the present enrollment; and

WHEREAS, The like crowded condition prevails in every other collegiate institution in southern California, an instance of which may be given in the case of Pomona, which has accommodations for 750 students, but had applications from 2000 desiring admission at the opening last September, and

WHEREAS, The southern branch is at present quartered in the old normal school buildings, on a fifteen-acre tract in the city of Los Angeles, which, by reason of its small size, and the high valuation of surrounding contiguous territory is eliminated from practical consideration for further development and

WHEREAS, At the instigation of a site committee composed of representatives of farm bureaus, chambers of commerce, women's clubs, Rotary and Kiwanis clubs from every section of southern California, some thirteen different site offers have been prepared for presentation to the regents of the University of California, these sites containing from 200 to 1300 acres each, and

WHEREAS, Recent investigations have revealed the probability that, in case an adequate site is selected, where all undergraduate college degrees may be conferred upon one campus, beautifully laid out from architectural and scientific standpoints, many wealthy citizens of California are waiting to contribute toward buildings and equipment, and

WHEREAS, There is to be a meeting of the Board of Regents of the University on Tuesday, February 10, 1925, in Los Angeles, at which the matter of possible sites is to be considered, therefore be it

Resolved by the Senate, the Assembly concurring, That the Legislature of the State of California at its forty-sixth session do respectfully request the Board of Regents of the University to give a hearing to proponents of the respective sites.

Resolved, That the President of the Senate be requested to present these resolutions, as our petition to the Board of Regents at their meeting on Tuesday, February the tenth, in Los Angeles.

COMMITTEE AMENDMENT.

During second reading of the bill, the following amendment was submitted by the committee:

AMENDMENT NUMBER ONE

On page 1, line 3 of the printed bill, after the figures "4266", insert the following "In counties of the thirty-seventh class the county officers shall receive as compensation for the services required of them by law or by virtue of their offices the following salaries, fees and expenses, to wit

1. The county clerk, two thousand seven hundred dollars per annum and such fees and commissions as are now or may hereafter be allowed by law, one deputy at one hundred fifty dollars per month; one deputy at one hundred twenty-five dollars per month; which offices are hereby created, the salaries of said deputies shall be paid in monthly installments at the same time and in the same manner and out of the same fund as the salary of the county clerk is paid, the clerk may also be allowed by the board of supervisors a sum not to exceed one thousand dollars per annum for additional clerical help, when in the opinion of the board of supervisors, such assistance is necessary; provided, further, in each year in which a new and complete or supplemental registration of voters is required by law the county clerk shall appoint as many deputy registration clerks as may be necessary for the convenient registration of voters of the county, which deputy registration clerks shall receive as compensation for their services the sum of ten cents per name for each and every voter registered by them, said compensation to be paid out of the general fund of the county on the presentation and filing with the board of supervisors of the county a duly verified claim therefor approved by the county clerk

2 The sheriff, three thousand dollars per annum and such mileage as is allowed by law for the services of all papers issued by courts outside this county; and all mileage for service of papers in civil cases in this county; and actual expenses incurred in criminal cases, he shall have one deputy at one hundred seventy-five dollars per month and one deputy at one hundred fifty dollars per month, which offices are hereby created, said deputies to be appointed by the sheriff, and to be paid by said county in equal monthly installments at the same time and out of the same fund as the salary of the sheriff is paid The sheriff may also be allowed by the board of supervisors a sum not to exceed fifteen hundred dollars per annum for additional help, when, in the opinion of the board, such additional help is necessary. The provisions of this section shall not apply to the present incumbent or his deputies but shall become effective immediately upon the expiration of the term of office of the present incumbent, except that part relating to the fifteen hundred dollars to be allowed by the board of supervisors, which shall go into effect immediately

3. The recorder, two thousand four hundred dollars per annum; he shall have one deputy recorder at one hundred twenty-five dollars per month, two deputy recorders at one hundred dollars per month each, which offices are hereby created, said deputies to be appointed by the recorder and to be paid by said county in equal monthly installments at the same time, in the same manner and out of the same fund as the salary of the recorder is paid The recorder may also be allowed by the board of supervisors a sum not to exceed two thousand dollars per annum for additional clerical help, when, in the opinion of the board of supervisors, such assistance is necessary.

4. The auditor, two thousand four hundred dollars per annum; he shall have one deputy auditor at one hundred twenty-five dollars per month, said deputy to be appointed by the auditor and to be paid by said county in equal monthly installments at the same time, in the same manner and out of the same fund as the salary of the auditor is paid. The auditor may also be allowed by the board of supervisors a sum not to exceed five hundred dollars per annum for additional clerical help, when, in the opinion of the board of supervisors, such assistance is necessary.

5. The treasurer, two thousand four hundred dollars per annum; one deputy treasurer at one thousand two hundred dollars per annum, which office is hereby created; the salary of said deputy to be paid by said county in equal monthly installments at the same time, in the same manner and out of the same fund as the treasurer is paid.

6. The tax collector, two thousand one hundred dollars per annum; he shall have one deputy at one hundred twenty-five dollars per month, which office is hereby created, the salary of said deputy to be paid by said county in equal monthly installments at the same time in the same manner and out of the same fund as the tax collector is paid. The tax collector may also be allowed by the board of supervisors a sum not to exceed one thousand five hundred dollars per annum for additional clerical help, when, in the opinion of the board of supervisors, such assistance is necessary.

7. The assessor, two thousand five hundred dollars per annum; he shall have one deputy assessor at one hundred fifty dollars per month, one deputy at one hundred twenty-five dollars per month, which offices are hereby created; the salaries of said deputies to be paid by said county in equal monthly installments at the same time, in the same manner, and out of the same fund as the assessor is paid. The assessor may also be allowed by the board of supervisors a sum of not to exceed five thousand dollars per annum additional help, when in the opinion of the board of supervisors, such assistance is necessary. Provided, further, that the assessor shall be entitled to receive and retain for his own use four per centum only on personal property tax collected by him as authorized by section three thousand eight hundred twenty of the Political Code of the State of California.

8. The district attorney, three thousand dollars per annum; he shall have one stenographer at one hundred twenty-five dollars per month, said salary to be paid in monthly installments at the same time, in the same manner and out of the same fund as the district attorney is paid.

9. The coroner, such fees as are now or may hereafter be allowed by law.

10. The public administrator, such fees as are now or may hereafter be allowed by law.

11. The superintendent of schools, two thousand four hundred dollars per annum; he shall have one deputy to be appointed by him at a salary of one thousand two hundred dollars per annum, which office is hereby created, said salary to be paid in monthly installments at the same time, in the same manner and out of the same fund as the superintendent of schools is paid.

12. The surveyor, ten dollars per day when engaged in county work. He shall also receive his actual expenses when at work in the field.

13. The justices of the peace shall receive the following salaries to be paid each month as the salaries of the county officers are paid, which shall be in full for all services rendered by them. In townships having a population of five thousand or more, one hundred twenty-five dollars per month, in townships less than five thousand and more than three thousand, one hundred dollars per month, in townships having a population of less than three thousand, six hundred dollars per annum.

14. The constables shall receive the following salaries to be paid each month as the salaries of county officials are paid. In townships having a population of more than five thousand, one hundred twenty-five dollars per month, in townships of less than five thousand and more than three thousand one hundred dollars per month, in townships having a population of less than three thousand four hundred eighty dollars per annum. In addition to the monthly salaries herein allowed, each constable may receive and retain for his own use such fees and mileage as are allowed by law for service of all papers issued by any court outside of this county and all fees and mileage for service of papers in civil cases in this county.

15. Each member of the board of supervisors, one thousand eight hundred dollars per annum, in full payment for services as member of the board of supervisors, as member of the board of equalization and as road commissioner, and twenty-five cents per mile while traveling from his residence to the county seat not more than once a month and each member shall receive his actual traveling expenses as road commissioner not to exceed six hundred dollars per annum. It is hereby found as a fact that the changes provided for in this section do not work an increase in compensation and it is intended that the same shall apply immediately to the present incumbents.

16. The official reporter of the superior court shall receive such fees as are now or may hereafter be allowed by law.

17. The salary of the county librarian shall be two thousand four hundred dollars per annum, to be paid in equal monthly installments, at the same time, in the same manner and out of the same fund as the salaries of other county officers are paid.

18. Grand jurors and jurors in the superior court shall receive the following fees: For each day's attendance three dollars, and for each mile actually traveled in attending court as a juror, one way, fifteen cents

19. There is hereby created for counties of this class, a traffic officer, who shall receive a salary of not to exceed two hundred fifty dollars per month, said officer to provide and maintain his equipment and all costs of operating thereof. The traffic officer shall be allowed not to exceed three deputies. Each of such deputies shall receive a salary not to exceed two hundred fifty dollars per month, and shall provide and maintain his equipment and all costs of operating the same. Such traffic officer and his deputies shall be appointed by the board of supervisors and shall hold office for the period provided by law; provided, however, that the board of supervisors shall have authority at any time to remove such officer, or any of said deputies."

Amendment adopted.

COMMITTEE AMENDMENTS.

During second reading of the bill, the following amendments were submitted by the committee:

AMENDMENT NUMBER ONE.

In line 1 of the title of the printed bill, insert after the word "amend" the words "section two of."

AMENDMENT NUMBER TWO.

In line 1 of the printed bill, insert after the words "Section 1" the following:

Section two of an act entitled "An act creating a reclamation district to be called and known as 'reclamation district number one thousand five hundred; providing for the management and control thereof and dissolving all levee districts, swamp land districts, and reclamation districts, lying wholly within the boundaries of said reclamation district number one thousand five hundred; providing for the liquidation and winding up of said dissolved districts, and excluding from any levee district, swamp land district and reclamation district any land lying within the boundaries of said reclamation district number one thousand five hundred," approved April 30, 1913, as amended, is hereby amended to read as follows.

Sec. 2. The management and control of said reclamation district number one thousand five hundred and the election of trustees thereof are hereby made subject to the provisions of article one of chapter one of title eight of part three of the Political Code of the State of California, relating to swamp and overflowed lands and reclamation districts, or any amendments or additions thereto, except as otherwise provided in this act, and the management and control of said reclamation district number one thousand five hundred shall be vested in five trustees who shall hold office until their successors are elected or appointed and qualified

An election of five trustees shall be held in said district on the third Tuesday in October, 1925, and on the third Tuesday in October every two years thereafter, and the term of office shall be two years and until their successors are elected or appointed and qualified. If an election is not held at any time herein specified, it may be held at such other time as may be authorized or provided for by said chapter one of title eight of the Political Code of California In case of any vacancy in the office of trustee of said district, the board of supervisors of Sutter county shall appoint a qualified person as trustee who shall hold said office for the portion of the unexpired term and until his successor is elected and qualified. The office and principal place of business of said district shall be in the city of Sacramento, and in such place as the board of trustees thereof may from time to time fix. The board of supervisors of the county of Sutter shall have jurisdiction over all matters concerning said district, to the same extent as if the said district was formed under the provisions of said Political Code of the State of California, except as otherwise provided in this act. All funds of said district shall be deposited in the county treasury of said county of Sutter, and shall be disbursed by the treasurer of said county in payment of the warrants of said district. Said district shall have the power to make by-laws in conformity with the provisions by law, and shall have all rights and powers which are now, or may hereafter be conferred by the provisions of the Political Code, or by other laws of the State of California upon reclamation or swamp land districts, and shall also have the right and power of purchasing real and personal property and rights of way within the boundaries of said district, or outside thereof, as may be necessary or desirable to carry out the purposes of said district or to acquire the same by condemnation proceedings in the manner provided by law, and shall also have the right and power to join with other reclamation districts, levee districts, or swamp land districts, or other persons in the construction and maintenance of levees and reclamation works, and to contract for the same, and also to do all other acts and things that may be incident to or necessary to the reclamation of the lands of said district, as the board of trustees thereof may determine.

All of the provisions of the Political Code of the State of California, unless inconsistent with the provisions of this act, are made a part of this act, and shall be deemed to be incorporated herein. The said reclamation district hereby created, shall have the power, in addition to the power hereby conferred, to do all other acts or things that any reclamation district or swamp land district within the State of California has power to do under any existing law, or any law hereafter enacted.

The said district may at any time petition in writing, by its board of trustees, the reclamation board to change the line of location or construction of any levee in this act, or in the act of which this is amendatory, described, or any other levee, or to build any additional or supplemental levee or levees, and the reclamation board may, by an order allow such petition in whole or in part, and allow such change, or the building of any additional or supplemental levee.

MOTION.

Mr. West moved that a report of the program rendered in the Assembly, in connection with the inauguration of President Coolidge and Vice President Dawes at Washington, D. C., including the radio program, the President's inaugural address and the prayer offered by the Chaplain of the Assembly, the Rev. Dr. Rudolph I. Coffee, be printed in the Journal.

Motion carried.

The Speaker appointed Mr. Wright, T. M., to prepare such report for the Journal.

REPORT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE ON INAUGURAL CEREMONIES.

By Mr. Wright, T. M.:

The sturdy pioneers, who spent weary months in the land and water journey to California seventy-five years ago, would be amazed and incredulous if told that the people of the State which they here founded would some day be able to listen to the ceremonies connected with the inauguration of a President of the United States in the national capitol. Yet on this day the members of the Assembly, and their friends and the public, gathered in the Assembly chamber at Sacramento were able to follow the inaugural ceremonies, hear the music of the band, the applause of the multitude before the east front of the national capitol, the voice of the Chief Justice of the United States, William Howard Taft, as the oath of office was administered to the President, and the voice of President Calvin Coolidge as he delivered his inaugural address to the people assembled before him in Washington.

And what occurred in Sacramento on this occasion was but an incident in the day when an entire nation was enabled to listen to the inauguration of its President. This was made possible by a recent development of science known as the radio, by which voices may be carried through the air for thousands of miles.

And by an equally marvelous development of science, the afternoon papers of this day carry reproductions of photographs taken of the inaugural ceremonies in Washington, the lapse of only an hour or two occurring between the work of the photographer in Washington, and the appearance upon the streets in California of the afternoon newspaper with reproductions of scenes in connection with the inaugural ceremonies.

Future generations may look upon this as but the crude beginnings of a development of science which they are then enjoying, but to the citizens of California today the events here recorded are considered marvelous.

The Chaplain of the Assembly, Rev. Dr. Rudolph I. Coffee, upon the convening of the Assembly, offered the following prayer:

Almighty Father, we invoke Thy divine blessing this day upon Calvin Coolidge, who has just been inaugurated as President of these our beloved United States. Mayest Thou strengthen him through Thy infinite mercy to continue the work of our illustrious Washington and Lincoln. May he, and all who are placed in positions of authority, govern wisely for the betterment of our nation. Be with the President and his counsellors, with all the members of this Assembly and with everyone who strives to further the ideals of our beloved America. Be with us now and forevermore. Amen.

WASHINGTON'S PRAYER.

Before taking the oath as President.

Almighty God: We make our earnest prayer that Thou wilt keep the United States in Thy holy protection, that Thou wilt incline the hearts of the citizens to cultivate a spirit of subordination and obedience to government; and entertain a brotherly affection and love for one another and for their fellow citizens of the United States at large. And finally, that Thou wilt most graciously be pleased to dispose us all to do justice, to love mercy and to demean ourselves with that charity, humility and pacific temper of mind which were the characteristics of the divine author of our blessed religion, and without a humble imitation of whose example in these things, we can never hope to be a happy nation. Grant our supplication, we beseech Thee, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

LINCOLN'S SECOND INAUGURAL ADDRESS.

March 4, 1865.

(Closing paragraph, spoken exactly sixty years ago to the day.)

With malice toward none, with charity for all, with firmness in the right as God gives us to see the right, let us strive on to finish the work we are in, to bind up the nation's wounds, to care for him who shall have borne the battle and for his widow and orphans, to do all which may achieve and cherish a just and a lasting peace among ourselves and with all nations.

The inaugural address of President Coolidge is as follows:

INAUGURAL ADDRESS.

MY COUNTRYMEN No one can contemplate current conditions without finding much that is satisfying and still more that is encouraging. Our own country is leading the world in the general readjustment to the results of the great conflict. Many of its burdens will bear heavily upon us for years, and the secondary and indirect effects we must expect to experience for some time But we are beginning to comprehend more definitely what course should be pursued, what remedies ought to be applied, what actions should be taken for our deliverance, and are clearly manifesting a determined will faithfully and conscientiously to adopt these methods of relief. Already we have sufficiently rearranged our domestic affairs so that confidence has returned, business has revived, and we appear to be entering an era of prosperity which is gradually reaching into every part of the nation. Realizing that we can not live unto ourselves alone, we have contributed of our resources and our counsel to the relief of the suffering and the settlement of the disputes among the European nations Because of what America is and what America has done, a firmer courage, a higher hope, inspires the heart of all humanity.

These results have not occurred by mere chance They have been secured by a constant and enlightened effort marked by many sacrifices and extending over many generations. We can not continue these brilliant successes in the future, unless we continue to learn from the past It is necessary to keep the former experiences of our country both at home and abroad continually before us, if we are to have any science of government. If we wish to erect new structures, we must have a definite knowledge of the old foundations We must realize that human nature is about the most constant thing in the universe and that the essentials of human relationship do not change We must frequently take our bearings from these fixed stars of our political firmament if we expect to hold a true course. If we examine carefully what we have done, we can determine the more accurately what we can do

We stand at the opening of the one hundred and fiftieth year since our national consciousness first asserted itself by unmistakable action with an array of force. The old sentiment of detached and dependent colonies disappeared in the new sentiment of a united and independent nation Men began to discard the narrow confines of a local charter for the broader opportunities of a national constitution. Under the eternal urge of freedom we became an independent nation. A little less than fifty years later that freedom and independence were reasserted in the face of all the world, and guarded, supported and secured by the Monroe doctrine. The narrow fringe of states along the Atlantic seaboard advanced its frontiers across the hills and plains of an intervening continent until it passed down the golden slope to the Pacific We made freedom a birthright. We extended our domain over distant islands in order to safeguard our own interests and accepted the consequent obligation to bestow justice and liberty upon less favored peoples In the defense of our own ideals and in the general cause of liberty we entered the Great War. When victory had been fully secured, we withdrew to our own shores unrecompensed save in the consciousness of duty done.

Throughout all these experiences we have enlarged our freedom, we have strengthened our independence. We have been, and propose to be, more and more American. We believe that we can best serve our own country and most successfully discharge our obligations to humanity by continuing to be openly and candidly, intensely and scrupulously, American If we have any heritage, it has been that If we have any destiny, we have found it in that direction.

But if we wish to continue to be distinctly American, we must continue to make that term comprehensive enough to embrace the legitimate desires of a civilized and enlightened people determined in all their relations to pursue a conscientious and religious life. We can not permit ourselves to be narrowed and dwarfed by slogans and phrases It is not the adjective but the substantive, which is of real importance It is not the name of the action, but the result of the action, which is the chief concern It will be well not to be too much disturbed by the thought of either isolation or entanglements of pacifists and militarists. The physical configuration of the earth has separated us from all of the Old World, but the common brotherhood of man, the highest law of all our being, has united us by inseparable bonds with all humanity Our country represents nothing but peaceful intentions toward all the earth, but it ought not to fail to maintain such a military force as comports with the dignity and security of a great people It ought to be a balanced force, intensely modern, capable of defense by sea and land, beneath the surface and in the air But it should be so conducted that all the world may see in it, not a menace, but an instrument of security and peace

This nation believes thoroughly in an honorable peace under which the rights of its citizens are to be everywhere protected. It has never found that the necessary enjoyment of such a peace could be maintained only by a great and threatening array of arms. In common with other nations, it is now more determined than ever to promote peace through friendliness and good will, through mutual understandings and mutual forbearance. We have never practiced the policy of competitive armaments We have recently committed ourselves by covenants with the other great nations to a limitation of our sea power. As one result of this, our navy ranks larger, in comparison, than it ever did before. Removing the burden of expense and jealousy, which must always accrue from a keen rivalry, is one of the most effective methods of diminishing that unreasonable hysteria and misunderstanding which are the most potent means of fomenting war. This policy represents a new departure in the world. It is a thought, an ideal, which has led to an entirely new line of action. It will not be easy to maintain. Some never moved from their old position, some are constantly slipping back to the old ways of thought and the old action of seizing a musket and relying on force. America has taken the lead in this new direction, and that lead America must continue to hold. If we expect others to rely on our fairness and justice we must show that we rely on their fairness and justice.

If we are to judge by past experience, there is much to be hoped for in international relations from frequent conferences and consultations. We have before us the beneficial results of the Washington conference and the various consultations recently held upon European affairs, some of which were in response to our suggestions and in some of which we were active participants. Even the failures can not but be accounted useful and an immeasurable advance over threatened or actual warfare. I am strongly in favor of a continuation of this policy, whenever conditions are such that there is even a promise that practical and favorable results might be secured.

In conformity with the principle that a display of reason rather than a threat of force should be the determining factor in the intercourse among nations, we have long advocated the peaceful settlement of disputes by methods of arbitration and have negotiated many treaties to secure that result. The same considerations should lead to our adherence to the Permanent Court of International Justice. Where great principles are involved, where great movements are under way which promise much for the welfare of humanity by reason of the very fact that many other nations have given such movements their actual support, we ought not to withhold our own sanction because of any small and inessential difference, but only upon the ground of the most important and compelling fundamental reasons. We can not barter away our independence or our sovereignty, but we ought to engage in no refinements of logic, no sophistries, and no subterfuges, to argue away the undoubted duty of this country by reason of the might of its numbers, the power of its resources, and its position of leadership in the world, actively and comprehensively to signify its approval and to bear its full share of the responsibility of a candid and disinterested attempt at the establishment of a tribunal for the administration of even-handed justice between nation and nation. The weight of our enormous influence must be cast upon the side of a reign not of force but of law and trial, not by battle but by reason.

We have never any wish to interfere in the political conditions of any other countries. Especially are we determined not to become implicated in the political controversies of the Old World. With a great deal of hesitation, we have responded to appeals for help to maintain order, protect life and property, and establish responsible government in some of the small countries of the Western Hemisphere. Our private citizens have advanced large sums of money to assist in the necessary financing and relief of the Old World. We have not failed nor shall we fail to respond, whenever necessary to mitigate human suffering and assist in the rehabilitation of distressed nations. These, too, are requirements which must be met by reason of our vast powers and the place we hold in the world.

Some of the best thought of mankind has long been seeking for a formula for permanent peace. Undoubtedly the clarification of the principles of international law would be helpful, and the efforts of scholars to prepare such a work for adoption by the various nations should have our sympathy and support. Much may be hoped for from the earnest studies of those who advocate the outlawing of aggressive war. But all these plans and preparations, these treaties and covenants, will not of themselves be adequate. One of the greatest dangers to peace lies in the economic pressure to which people find themselves subjected. One of the most practical things to be done in the world is to seek arrangements under which such pressure may be removed, so that opportunity may be renewed and hope may be revived. There must be some assurance that effort and endeavor will be followed by success and prosperity. In the making and financing of such adjustments there is not only an opportunity, but a real duty, for America to respond with her counsel and her resources. Conditions must be provided under which people can make a living and work out of their difficulties. But there is another element more important than all, without which there can not be the slightest hope of a permanent peace. That element lies in the heart of humanity. Unless the desire for peace be cherished there, unless this fundamental and only natural source of brotherly love be cultivated to its highest degree, all artificial efforts will be in vain. Peace will come when there is realization that only under a reign of law, based on righteousness and supported by the religious conviction of the brotherhood of man, can there be any hope of a complete and satisfying life. Parchment will fail, the sword will fail, it is only the spiritual nature of man that can be triumphant.

It seems altogether probable that we can contribute most to these important objects by maintaining our position of political detachment and independence. We are not identified with any Old World interests. This position should be made more and more clear in our relations with all foreign countries. We are at peace with all of them. Our program is never to oppress, but always to assist. But while we do justice to others, we must require that justice be done to us. With us a treaty of peace means peace, and a treaty of amity means amity.

We have made great contributions to the settlement of contentious differences in both Europe and Asia. But there is a very definite point beyond which we can not go. We can only help those who help themselves. Mindful of these limitations, the one great duty that stands out requires us to use our enormous powers to "trim" the balance of the world.

While we can look with a great deal of pleasure upon what we have done abroad, we must remember that our continued success in that direction depends upon what we do at home. Since its very outset, it has been found necessary to conduct our government by means of political parties. That system would not have survived from generation to generation if it had not been fundamentally sound and provided the best instrumentalities for the most complete expression of the popular will. It is not necessary to claim that it has always worked perfectly. It is enough to know that nothing better has been devised. No one would deny that there should be full and free expression and an opportunity for independence of action within the party. There is no salvation in a narrow and bigoted partisanship. But if there is to be responsible party government, the party label must be something more than a mere device for securing office. Unless those who are elected under the same party designation are willing to assume sufficient responsibility and exhibit sufficient loyalty and coherence, so that they can cooperate with each other in the support of the broad general principles of the party platform, the election is merely a mockery, no decision is made at the polls, and there is no representation of the popular will. Common honesty and good faith with the people who support a party at the polls require that party, when it enters office, to assume the control of that portion of the government to which it has been elected. Any other course is bad faith and a violation of the party pledges.

When the country has bestowed its confidence upon a party by making it a majority in the Congress, it has a right to expect such unity of action as will make the party majority an effective instrument of government. This administration has come into power with a very clear and definite mandate from the people. The expression of the popular will in favor of maintaining our constitutional guarantees was overwhelming and decisive. There was a manifestation of such faith in the integrity of the courts that we can consider that issue rejected for some time to come. Likewise, the policy of public ownership of railroads and certain electric utilities met with unmistakable defeat. The people declared that they wanted their rights to have not a political but a judicial determination, and their independence and freedom continued and supported by having the ownership and control of their property, not in the government, but in their own hands. As they always do when they have a fair chance, the people demonstrated that they are sound and are determined to have a sound government.

When we turn from what was rejected to inquire what was accepted, the policy that stands out with the greatest clearness is that of economy in public expenditure with reduction and reform of taxation. The principle involved in this effort is that of conservation. The resources of this country are almost beyond computation. No mind can comprehend them. But the cost of our combined governments is likewise almost beyond definition. Not only those who are now making their tax returns, but those who meet the enhanced cost of existence in their monthly bills, know by hard experience what this great burden is and what it does. No matter what others may want, these people want a drastic economy. They are opposed to waste. They know that extravagance lengthens the hours and diminishes the rewards of their labor. I favor the policy of economy, not because I wish to save money, but because I wish to save people. The men and women of this country who toil are the ones who bear the cost of the government. Every dollar that we carelessly waste means that their life will be so much the more meager. Every dollar that we prudently save means that their life will be so much the more abundant. Economy is idealism in its most practical form.

If extravagance were not reflected in taxation, and through taxation both directly and indirectly injuriously affecting the people, it would not be of so much consequence. The wisest and soundest method of solving our tax problem is through economy. Fortunately, of all the great nations this country is best in a position to adopt that simple remedy. We do not any longer need war-time revenues. The collection of any taxes which are not absolutely required, which do not beyond reasonable doubt contribute to the public welfare, is only a species of legalized larceny. Under this republic the rewards of industry belong to those who earn them. The only constitutional tax is the tax which ministers to public necessity. The property of the country belongs to the people of the country. Their title is absolute. They do not support any privileged class; they do not need to maintain great military forces; they ought not to be burdened with a great array of public employees. They are not required to make any contribution to government expenditures except that which they voluntarily assess upon themselves through the action of their own representatives. Whenever taxes become burdensome a remedy can be applied by the people; but if they do not act for themselves, no one can be very successful in acting for them.

The time is arriving when we can have further tax reduction, when, unless we wish to hamper the people in their right to earn a living, we must have tax reform. The method of raising revenue ought not to impede the transaction of business, it ought to encourage it. I am opposed to extremely high rates, because they produce little or no revenue, because they are bad for the country, and, finally, because they are wrong. We can not finance the country, we can not improve social conditions, through any system of injustice, even if we attempt to inflict it upon the rich. Those who suffer the most harm will be the poor. This country believes in prosperity. It is absurd to suppose that it is envious of those who are already prosperous. The wise and correct course to follow in taxation and all other economic legislation is not to destroy those who have already secured success but to create conditions under which every one will have a better chance to be successful. The verdict of the country has been given on this question. That verdict stands. We shall do well to heed it.

These questions involve moral issues. We need not concern ourselves much about the rights of property if we will faithfully observe the rights of persons. Under our institutions their rights are supreme. It is not property but the right to hold property, both great and small, which our constitution guarantees. All owners of property are charged with a service. These rights and duties have been revealed, through the conscience of society, to have a divine sanction. The very stability of our society rests upon production and conservation. For individuals or for governments to waste and squander their resources is to deny these rights and disregard these obligations. The result of economic dissipation to a nation is always moral decay.

These policies of better international understandings, greater economy, and lower taxes have contributed largely to peaceful and prosperous industrial relations. Under the helpful influences of restrictive immigration and a protective tariff, employment is plentiful, the rate of pay is high, and wage earners are in a state of contentment seldom before seen. Our transportation systems have been gradually recovering and have been able to meet all the requirements of the service. Agriculture has been very slow in reviving, but the price of cereals at last indicates that the day of its deliverance is at hand.

We are not without our problems, but our most important problem is not to secure new advantages but to maintain those which we already possess. Our system of government made up of three separate and independent departments, our divided sovereignty composed of nation and state, the matchless wisdom that is enshrined in our constitution, all these need constant effort and tireless vigilance for their protection and support.

In a republic the first rule for the guidance of the citizen is obedience to law. Under a despotism the law may be imposed upon the subject. He has no voice in its making, no influence in its administration, it does not represent him. Under a free government the citizen makes his own laws, chooses his own administrators, which do represent him. Those who want their rights respected under the constitution and the law ought to set the example themselves of observing the constitution and the law. While there may be those of high intelligence who violate the law at times, the barbarian and the defective always violate it. Those who disregard the rules of society are not exhibiting a superior intelligence, are not promoting freedom and independence, are not following the path of civilization, but are displaying the traits of ignorance, of servitude, of savagery, and treading the way that leads back to the jungle.

The essence of a republic is representative government. Our Congress represents the people and the states. In all legislative affairs it is the natural collaborator with the President. In spite of all the criticism which often falls to its lot, I do not hesitate to say that there is no more independent and effective legislative body in the world. It is, and should be, jealous of its prerogative. I welcome its cooperation, and expect to share with it not only the responsibility, but the credit, for our common effort to secure beneficial legislation.

These are some of the principles which America represents. We have not by any means put them fully into practice, but we have strongly signified our belief in them. The encouraging feature of our country is not that it has reached its destination, but that it has overwhelmingly expressed its determination to proceed in the right direction. It is true that we could, with profit, be less sectional and more national in our thought. It would be well if we could replace much that is only a false and ignorant prejudice with a true and enlightened pride of race. But the last election showed that appeals to class and nationality had little effect. We were all found loyal to a common citizenship. The fundamental precept of liberty is toleration. We can not permit any inquisition either within or without the law or apply any religious test to the holding of office. The mind of America must be forever free.

It is in such contemplations, my fellow countrymen, which are not exhaustive but only representative, that I find ample warrant for satisfaction and encouragement. We should not let the much that is to do obscure the much which has been done. The past and present show faith and hope and courage fully justified. Here stands our country, an example of tranquility at home, a patron of tranquility abroad. Here stands its government, aware of its might, but obedient to its conscience. Here it will continue to stand, seeking peace and prosperity, solicitous for the welfare of the wage earner, promoting enterprise, developing waterways and natural resources, attentive to the intuitive counsel of womanhood, encouraging education, desiring the advancement of religion, supporting the cause of justice and honor among the nations. America seeks no earthly empire built on blood and force. No ambition, no temptation, lures her to thought of foreign dominions. The legions which she sends forth are armed, not with the sword, but with the cross. The higher state to which she seeks the allegiance of all mankind is not of human, but of divine origin. She cherishes no purpose save to merit the favor of Almighty God.

The county surveyor, two thousand five hundred dollars ($2,500) per annum; provided, that if the county surveyor shall be appointed superintendent of the permanent highways in the county constructed under bond issue, under any statute of this state providing for the appointment of such superintendent, then and in that event said county surveyor shall receive a salary of four thousand dollars ($4,000) per annum, provided, that in counties of this class there shall be and is hereby allowed to the county surveyor the following deputies, who shall be appointed by the county surveyor, and who shall be paid salaries as follows One chief deputy county surveyor at a salary of one hundred fifty dollars ($150) per month; one deputy county surveyor at a salary of one hundred twenty-five dollars ($125) per month, and one deputy at one hundred dollars ($100) per month, all of which offices are hereby created; also said county surveyor may appoint another deputy or deputies, the compensation to said deputies or deputy in the aggregate not to exceed two thousand dollars ($2,000) in any one year, payable to such deputy or deputies in such installments, at such time and in such amount as may be designated by the county surveyor, provided, however, that the county surveyor shall file with the county auditor a verified statement showing in detail the amounts and the persons to whom said compensation is paid The salaries of said deputies and each of them shall be paid in the same manner and out of the same fund as the salaries of other county officers are paid.

13. The county librarian, two thousand one hundred dollars ($2,100) per annum.

14. In counties of this class, each member of the county board of education shall receive five dollars for each day the board of education is in session, not to exceed a total of three hundred fifty dollars per annum. In addition each member shall receive the same mileage as is allowed the members of the board of supervisors of said county. Compensation of the members of the county board of education shall be payable out of the same funds and in the same manner as is the salary of the county superintendent of schools.

15. The justices of the peace shall receive the following monthly salaries, to be paid each month as salaries of other county officers are paid, which shall be in full for all services rendered in both civil and criminal cases In townships where the population is ten thousand or more, one hundred seventy-five dollars ($175) per month, in townships where the population is four thousand and less than ten thousand, one hundred fifty dollars ($150) per month, and said justices of the peace shall be furnished with offices and necessary supplies by the board of supervisors of said county, in townships where the population is two thousand and less than four thousand, eighty dollars ($80) per month in townships where the population is one thousand and less than two thousand, forty dollars ($40) per month; in townships where the population is less than one thousand, twenty dollars ($20) per month; provided, that the justice of the peace shall, before receiving his monthly salary, file with the auditor a statement of all fines received, together with the treasurer's receipt for same; provided, further, that no justice of the peace shall hold the office of city recorder.

16. Constables shall receive the following monthly salaries to be paid each month as salaries of county officers are paid, which shall be in full for all services rendered by them in criminal cases; in townships where the population is ten thousand or more, one hundred twenty-five dollars ($125) per month; in townships where the population is four thousand and less than ten thousand, eighty dollars ($80) per month, in townships where the population is two thousand and less than four thousand, seventy dollars ($70) per month, in townships where the population is one thousand and less than two thousand, fifty dollars ($50) per month, in townships where the population is less than one thousand, twenty-five dollars ($25) per month. In addition to the monthly salary herein allowed each constable may retain for his own use such fees as are now or may hereafter be allowed by law for all services rendered by him in civil actions, each constable shall also be allowed all necessary expenses actually incurred by him in arresting, pursuing or conveying prisoners to court or to prison, and actual expenses incurred in serving any process in any criminal case pending in said county, which said expenses shall be audited and allowed by the board of supervisors out of the county treasury.

17. For the purposes of subdivisions fifteen and sixteen of this section, the population of the several judicial townships shall be ascertained by the board of supervisors of said county at their regular meeting in the month of December following the election of justices of the peace and constables in said county, by multiplying by three the number of registered voters in said township as shown by the register prepared by the county clerk of said county for the general election next preceding the date of such determination. It is hereby found as a fact, that the salaries provided for in subdivisions fifteen and sixteen do not work an increase in the compensation and the same shall apply immediately to incumbents.

18. Each member of the board of supervisors, one thousand two hundred dollars ($1,200) per annum, and their necessary expenses when attending to the business of the county, other than the meetings of the board at the county seat, and twenty cents (20c) per mile in traveling from his residence to the county seat; provided, that not more than one mileage for any one regular session of the board shall be allowed, and not more than one mileage for any special session of the board shall be allowed.

19. The county traffic officer, two thousand seven hundred dollars ($2,700) per annum; provided, that in counties of this class there shall be and there is hereby allowed to the county traffic officer five deputies, which offices are hereby created. Said deputies shall be appointed by said county traffic officer and shall each receive a salary of two thousand five hundred twenty dollars, which shall be paid by said county in monthly installments at the same time, in the same manner and out of the same fund as the salary of the county traffic officer is paid. Said traffic officer and his said deputies shall provide their own motorcycles or other vehicles and gasoline and oil for the purpose of propelling the same, and shall pay all of the expense of the upkeep of said machines. All the provisions of this paragraph are to apply to the office of county traffic officer and his deputies whenever said office of county traffic officer is created by law.

20. The salaries of all county and township officers and their deputies shall be payable in monthly installments on the first day of each month.

21. For acting as a grand juror in the superior court, for each day's attendance per day, three dollars. For every mile actually traveled in attending court as a grand juror in going only, twenty-five cents (25c) per mile.

Assembly Bill No 1003—An act to amend sections 1327, 1328, 1333, 1491, 1658 and 1664 of the Code of Civil Procedure, relating to procedure in probate matters.

COMMITTEE AMENDMENTS.

During second reading of the bill, the following amendments were submitted by the committee:

AMENDMENT NUMBER ONE.

In the title, in line 4, of the printed bill, strike out the words one thousand six hundred fifty-eight.

AMENDMENT NUMBER TWO.

In line 4 of the printed bill, after the period, insert the following: "When a will has been admitted to probate, any person interested may, at any time within six months after such probate, contest the same or the validity of the will. For that purpose he must file in the court in which the will was proved a petition in writing, containing his allegations against the validity of the will or against the sufficiency of the proof, and praying that the probate may be revoked

SEC. 2 Section one thousand three hundred twenty-eight of the Code of Civil Procedure is amended to read as follows 1328. Upon filing the petition, and within six months after such probate, a citation must be issued to the executor of the will, or to the administrator with the will annexed, and to all the legatees and devisees mentioned in the will, and heirs residing in the state, so far as known to the petitioner or to their guardians, if any of them are minors, or their personal representatives, if any of them are dead, requiring them to appear before the court on some day therein specified, to show cause why the probate of the will should not be revoked.

SEC. 3 Section one thousand three hundred thirty-three of the Code of Civil Procedure is amended to read as follows 1333 If no person, within six months after the probate of a will, contest the same or the validity thereof, the probate of the will is conclusive: saving to infants and persons of unsound mind, a like period of six months after their respective disabilities are removed.

SEC 4. Section one thousand four hundred ninety-one of the Code of Civil Procedure is amended to read as follows 1491. The time expressed in the notice must be six months after its first publication, when the estate exceeds in value the sum of ten thousand dollars, and four months when it does not.

SEC. 5. Section one thousand six hundred sixty-four of the Code of Civil Procedure is amended to read as follows:

1664. In all estates now being administered, or that may hereafter be administered, any person claiming to be heir to the deceased, or entitled to distribution in whole or in any part of such estate, may, at any time after the issuing of letters testamentary or of administration upon such estate, file a petition in the matter of such estate, praying the court to ascertain and declare the rights of all persons to said estate and all interests therein, and to whom distribution thereof should be made. Upon the filing of such petition, the court shall make an order directing service of notice to all persons interested in said estate to appear and show cause, on a day to be therein named, not less than thirty days nor over two months from the date of the making of such order, in which notice shall be set forth the name of the deceased, the name of the executor or administrator of said estate, the names of all persons who may have appeared claiming any interest in said estate in the course of the administration of the same, up to the time of the making of said order, and such other persons as the court may direct, and also a description of the real estate whereof said deceased died seized or possessed, so far as known, described with certainty to a common intent, and requiring all said persons, and all persons named or not named having or claiming any interest in the estate of said deceased, at the time and place in said order specified, to appear and exhibit, as hereinafter provided, their respective claims of heirship, ownership, or interest in said estate, to said court, which notice shall be served in the same manner as a summons in a civil action, upon proof of which service, by affidavit or otherwise, to the satisfaction of the court, the court shall thereupon acquire jurisdiction to ascertain and determine the heirship, ownership, and interest of all parties in and to the property of said deceased, and such determination shall be final and conclusive in the administration of said estate, and the title and ownership of said property. The court shall enter an order or decree establishing proof of the service of such notice. All persons appearing within the time limited as aforesaid, shall file their written appearance in person or through their authorized attorney, such attorney filing at the same time written evidence of his authority to so appear, entry of which appearance shall be made in the minutes of the court and in the register of proceedings of said estate. And the court shall, after the expiration of the time limited for appearing as aforesaid, enter an order adjudging the default of all persons for not appearing as aforesaid, who shall not have appeared as aforesaid. At any time within twenty days after the date of the order or decree of the court establishing proof of the service of such notice, any such persons so appearing may file his complaint in the matter of the estate, setting forth the facts constituting his claim of heirship, ownership, or interest in said estate, with such reasonable particularity as the court may require, and serve a copy of the same upon each of the parties or attorneys who shall have entered their written appearance as aforesaid, if such parties or such attorneys reside within the county; and in case any of them do not reside within the county, then service of such copy of said complaint shall be made upon the clerk of said court for them, and the clerk shall forthwith mail the same to the address of such party or attorney as may have left with said clerk his post-office address. Such parties are allowed twenty days after the service of the complaint, as aforesaid, within which to plead thereto, and thereafter such proceedings shall be had upon such complaint as in this code provided in case of an ordinary civil action; and the issues of law and of fact arising in the proceeding shall be disposed of in like manner as issues of law and fact are herein provided to be disposed of in civil actions, with a like right to a motion for a new trial and appeal to the supreme court, and the provisions in this code contained regulating the mode of procedure for the trial of civil actions, the motion for a new trial of civil actions, statements on motion for a new trial, bills of exception, and statements on appeal, as also in regard to undertakings on appeal, and the mode of taking and perfecting appeals, and the time within which such appeals shall be taken, shall be applicable thereto; provided, however, that all appeals herein must be taken within sixty days from the date of the entry of the judgment at the order complained of. The party filing the petition as aforesaid, if he file a complaint, and if not, the party first filing such complaint, shall, in all subsequent proceedings, be treated as the plaintiff therein, and all other parties so appearing shall be treated as the defendants in said proceedings, and all such defendants shall set forth in their respective answers the facts constituting their claim of heirship, ownership, or interest in said estate, with such particularity as the court may require, and serve a copy thereof on the plaintiff. Evidence in support of all issues may be taken orally or by deposition, in the same manner as provided in civil actions. Notice of the taking of such depositions shall be served only upon the parties, or the attorneys of the parties, so appearing in said proceeding. The court shall enter a default of all persons failing to appear, or plead, or prosecute, or defend their rights as aforesaid, and upon the trial of the issues arising upon the pleadings in such proceedings, the court shall determine the heirship to said deceased, the ownership of his estate, and the interest of each respective claimant thereto or therein, and persons entitled to distribution thereof, and the final determination of the court thereupon shall be final and conclusive in the distribution of said estate, and in regard to the title to all the property of the estate of said deceased The cost of the proceedings under this section shall be apportioned in the discretion of the court In any proceedings under this section, the court may appoint an attorney for any minor mentioned in said proceedings not having a guardian. Nothing in this section contained shall be construed to exclude the right upon final distribution of any estate to contest the question of heirship, title, or interest in the estate so distributed, where the same shall not have been determined under the provisions of this section; but where such questions shall have been litigated, under the provisions of this section, the determination thereof as herein provided shall be conclusive in the distribution of said estate."

Amendments adopted.

Bill read second time, ordered to reprint, engrossment, and third reading.

ASSEMBLY JOINT RESOLUTION No. 12.

Relative to the appropriation of funds for carrying out certain recommendations of the Chief of Staff of the United States Army made in furtherance of the National Defense Act of 1920.

WHEREAS, The President of the United States in a recent message to the Congress of the United States has stated that the Army and Navy of the United States should be strengthened and that a people who neglect their national defense are putting in jeopardy their national honor; and

WHEREAS, In furtherance of the National Defense Act of 1920 and in order to increase and promote the strength and effectiveness of the Army, the Chief of Staff of the Army of the United States has recommended substantially as follows:

(a) That the Regular Army be brought back to the strength of 150,000 enlisted men and 13,000 officers, and that it be suitably housed and enabled to conduct annual maneuvers on a moderate scale;

(b) That the National Guard be given the support necessary to permit its progressive development toward a strength of 250,000;

(e) That the reserve officers' training corps units be further developed;

(f) That provision may be made for a gradual increase in the number accommodated annually in the citizens' military training camps therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly and Senate, jointly, That the Legislature of the State of California respectfully and earnestly urge upon the Congress the necessity of appropriating such funds and enacting such legislation as will adequately provide for the effective carrying out of the provisions of the National Defense Act of 1920 and also the recommendations of the Chief of Staff of the Army of the United States hereinbefore set forth; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of these resolutions be sent by the Secretary of State to the President of the United States, the presiding officers of both branches of Congress, to the Senators and Representatives in Congress from this State, and to the members of the congressional committees on appropriation and on military affairs.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The following message from the Governor was received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, STATE OF CALIFORNIA.
SACRAMENTO, March 5, 1925

To the Senate and Assembly.

At the 1923 session of the California Legislature, Assembly Joint Resolution No 3 was adopted approving the Colorado River Compact. The compact was also approved by the states of Colorado, Nevada, New Mexico, Utah and Wyoming, but up to this time has not been approved by the state of Arizona.

The purpose of the compact was to provide for an equitable division of the waters of the Colorado River, to secure storage for use in dry seasons, and to afford protection from disastrous floods. California is vitally interested in the purposes of this compact. During the past season Imperial Valley has suffered for want of sufficient water, while only a few years ago this valley and the Palo Verde Valley were injured by floods. The waters of the Colorado River can be conserved by dams. Not only the needs of the Imperial Valley demand action, but the future development of parts of Imperial, Riverside, San Bernardino and Los Angeles counties depend upon the conservation and storage of the waters of this great river. The city of Los Angeles is now looking to the Colorado River for future water supply.

The state of Colorado has adopted a resolution providing that the compact shall become binding when approved by the states of California, Colorado, Nevada, New Mexico, Utah and Wyoming. The state of Wyoming has adopted the same resolution. Nevada, New Mexico and Utah are awaiting action by California.

I am transmitting to you herewith a copy of the resolution adopted by the state of Colorado and the state of Wyoming, and ask your earnest and prompt consideration of a similar resolution on the part of California.

Respectfully submitted

FRIEND WM RICHARDSON, Governor

RELATIVE TO APPROVING THE COLORADO RIVER COMPACT.

WHEREAS, The Legislatures of the States of California, Colorado, Nevada, New Mexico, Utah, and Wyoming heretofore have approved the Colorado River Compact, signed by the Commissioners for said states and the State of Arizona, and approved by Herbert Hoover as a Representative of the United States of America, at Santa Fe, New Mexico, November 24th, 1922 (Chapter 17 of the Statutes of California, 1923), and notice of the approval by the Legislature of each of said approving states has been given by the Governor to the Governors of the other signatory states, and to the President of the United States, as required by Article XI of said compact; Now therefore,

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Wyoming:

SECTION 1. That the provisions of the first paragraph of Article XI of the Colorado River Compact, making said compact effective when it shall have been approved by the Legislature of each of the signatory states, are hereby waived and said Compact shall become binding and obligatory upon the State of Wyoming, and upon the other signatory states which have ratified or may hereafter ratify it, whenever at least six of the signatory states shall have consented thereto and the Congress of the United States shall have given its consent and approval, provided, however, that this Act shall be of no force and effect until a similar Act or Resolution shall have been passed or adopted by the Legislatures of the States of California, Colorado, Nevada, New Mexico and Utah.

SECTION 2. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

ENROLLED ACT, No. 60 SENATE.

EIGHTEENTH LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF WYOMING.

An act relating to the Colorado River Compact

WHEREAS, The Legislatures of the States of California, Colorado, Nevada, New Mexico, Utah, and Wyoming heretofore have approved the Colorado River Compact, signed by the Commissioners for said states and the State of Arizona, and approved by Herbert Hoover as a Representative of the United States of America, at Santa Fe, New Mexico, November 24th, 1922 (Chapter 3 of the Session Laws of Wyoming, 1923), and notice of the approval by the Legislature of each of said approving states has been given by the Governor to the Governors of the other signatory states, and to the President of the United States, as required by Article XI of said compact; now therefore

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Wyoming:

SECTION 1. That the provisions of the first paragraph of Article XI of the Colorado River Compact, making said compact effective when it shall have been approved by the Legislature of each of the signatory states, are hereby waived and said Compact shall become binding and obligatory upon the State of Wyoming, and upon the other signatory states which have ratified or may hereafter ratify it, whenever at least six of the signatory states shall have consented thereto and the Congress of the United States shall have given its consent and approval, provided, however, that this Act shall be of no force and effect until a similar Act or Resolution shall have been passed or adopted by the Legislatures of the States of California, Colorado, Nevada, New Mexico and Utah.

SECTION 2. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

J. C. UNDERWOOD
Speaker of the House of Representatives.

LEWIS H. BROWN
President of the Senate.

Approved, February 25, 1925.
