We give thanks for giving us the responsibility and privilege of sharing the life and love with one another. We thank You for the land we live in and the people who made it great. We thank You for the freedom and for the chance to call out Your name. We thank You for the faith we share and for the hope that one day we will reach out to hold all of our brothers' and sisters' hands in peace. We thank You for the lesson You have taught us, and where You have brought us, that there is no charity to compare with the praise given to You when one person reaches out to help another in need. We pray that You would keep us together to share in Your Divine Love and Divine Wisdom, Jesus, and we thank You for these.—AMEN.

PRAYER

Upon invitation of Speaker pro Tempore Keeley, the following prayer was offered by Assembly Chaplain Rabbi Mona Alfi:

Sir Arthur Eddington posed both a question and an answer for us to ponder.

What is the ultimate truth about ourselves? Various answers suggest themselves. We are bits of stellar matter gone wrong. We are physical machinery-puppets that strut and laugh and die. But there is one inescapable answer. We are that which asks the question. Whatever else there may be in our nature, responsibility of truth is one of its attributes.

“We are that which asks the question.” This goes to the essence of what it means to be human. We have an insatiable desire to know. But what becomes critical is not only asking the question, but doing something with the answers that we receive, and not turning away from the truth when it is revealed to us. We can not be satisfied with simply asking the questions that need to be asked. It is essential if we wish to elevate ourselves spiritually, or our community in actuality, to take action, to participate, to do.

May the Holy One of Blessing spur our hearts to ask the difficult questions, and may we never be hesitant in acting on what we know to be true in our hearts. May this be God’s will.—AMEN.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE TO THE FLAG

Upon request of Speaker pro Tempore Keeley, Assembly Member Corbett then led the Assembly in the pledge of allegiance to the Flag.

PRAYER

Upon invitation of Speaker pro Tempore Keeley, the following prayer was offered by Assembly Chaplain Rabbi Mona Alfi:

The celebrated Southern writer, Lillian Smith, wrote about the necessary values of life. She wrote:

The unpardonable sin for every human being is to have more knowledge than understanding, more power than love; to know more about the earth than the people who live in it; to invent quick means of travel to faraway places when one cannot grope one's way within one's own heart. For freedom is a dreadful thing unless it goes hand in hand with responsibility.

Freedom is both a fragile thing and the source of our strength. True freedom brings with it the obligation to act responsibly and to do what is in our power to preserve freedom not only for ourselves, but for all humanity.

May our understanding of freedom be infused with love and compassion, a sensitivity to others and an awareness of self. And may the Source of Life inspire us to always act with responsibility and thoughtfulness. May this be God's will.—AMEN.

Upon request of Speaker pro Tempore Keeley, Assembly Member Washington then led the Assembly in the pledge of allegiance to the Flag.

Get yourself a teacher; and acquire a friend to study with you. When you judge people, give them the benefit of the doubt.

(Joshua ben Perachya, Pirke Avot 1.6)

May we always have the humility to know that there is something to be learned from someone more experienced than ourselves, may we always know the pleasure of studying with a peer, and may our studies teach us to act with compassion for others. May this be God's will.—AMEN.

PRAYER

Upon invitation of Speaker pro Tempore Keeley, the following prayer was offered by Assembly Chaplain Rabbi Mona Alfi:

Judge Learned Hand, the presiding judge of the Second Circuit Court of Appeals from 1939 to 1951 gave a speech at the "I Am an American Day" ceremony in New York City towards the end of WWII. He offered these words about the spirit of liberty, he said:

The spirit of liberty is the spirit which is not too sure that it is right; the spirit of liberty is the spirit which seeks to understand the minds of other men and women; the spirit of liberty is the spirit which weighs their interest alongside its own without bias; the spirit of liberty remembers that not even a sparrow falls to earth unheeded.

May it be the will of the Creator that our words and deeds be infused with the spirit of liberty, may we seek to understand those with whom we work, may we treat their interests as being equal to our own, and may we never fail to respond with swiftness and surety when even the smallest and weakest of God's creatures might stumble or fall. May this be God's will.—AMEN.

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT TO PRINT IN JOURNAL

Mr. E. Dotson Wilson

*Chief Clerk, California State Assembly
Assembly Desk, State Capitol

RE: SB 996 (Johnston) Workers' Compensation:
Administration and Benefits

Dear Mr. Wilson: As the respective floor manager and author of Senate Bill (SB) 996, and Chair of the Assembly Labor and Employment Committee, we wish to clarify our intent regarding the bill. We amended SB 996 in the Assembly in order to move a bill as soon as possible to a Conference Committee. The contents of this bill nearly mirror SB 320, Senator Solis' workers compensation bill that the Governor vetoed this past year. We intent to place SB 996 in Conference to elicit proposals to increase benefits and improve the efficiency of the workers' compensation system.

Given the complicated nature of the subject, the Legislature has, in the past, successfully employed an extended Conference Committee as the best means of pursuing a consensus bill. We invite persons with an interest and knowledge of the workers' compensation system to put forth their proposals with respect to the changes they would like to see, including the perspectives of workers, the business community, insurers, attorneys, medical providers, and vocational rehabilitation professionals.

We have no intention of submitting SB 996 in its current form to the Governor. The amended version of the bill is being moved without further policy hearing precisely because those issues were debated and voted upon during the first year of the biennium. The earlier this matter can be placed before a Conference Committee, the better able all interested parties will be to place their issues in a public forum. It is our intent that the Conference Committee will provide open discussions and hearings for a full examination of both the issues within this bill and those raised by interested parties, so that these issues may be considered for inclusion in the legislation.

To avoid confusion regarding our intent for SB 996, we respectfully request that this letter be printed in the Assembly Daily Journal.

Sincerely,

FRED KEELEY

Speaker pro Tempore of the Assembly

PATRICK JOHNSTON

Chair, Senate Appropriations Committee

DARRELL STEINBERG

Chair, Assembly Labor &
Employment Committee

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT TO PRINT IN JOURNAL

Upon request of Assembly Member Shelley, Assembly Member Strom-Martin was granted unanimous consent that the following statement of legislative intent be printed in the Journal:

January 26, 2000

E. Dotson Wilson

*Chief Clerk of the Assembly
State Capitol, Room 3196
Sacramento, California*

Dear Mr. Wilson: This letter is to clarify provisions contained in AB 75 (Chapter 764, Statutes of 1999), that require community service districts offering solid waste handling services or waste diversion programs to provide disposal information to the city, county or regional jurisdiction in which they are located. The language of the bill creates an administrative reporting problem for community service districts due to a question of specificity. In many situations, the solid waste services of community service districts often cross multiple local jurisdictions. The reporting requirements of AB 75 will result in waste disposal information being duplicated in the annual reports of the local jurisdictions.

The intent of AB 75 is to require community service districts to report their waste disposal information to only one jurisdiction under the existing waste management system. This will prevent multiple reporting of the data, thereby ensuring the accuracy of the jurisdictions' annual reports.

Sincerely,

VIRGINIA STROM-MARTIN, Assembly Member
First District

PRAYER

Upon invitation of Speaker pro Tempore Keeley, the following prayer was offered by Assembly Chaplain Rabbi Mona Alfi:

The noted American poet, editor and college professor, Mark Van Doren, had this to say about his life's work:

Whenever I have been afraid that my work was so personal that no one could understand it, everybody did understand it. When I tried to speak for others, they didn't know what I was talking about.

When we speak from our hearts, we can cross boundaries created by language, culture, age, and experience, and find universal truths that will resonate with others. But when we presume to know what others think or feel or need, our judgment can become clouded by arrogance. By first knowing ourselves, we can then begin to know and understand others.

May we have the wisdom to look into our hearts and understand what we see, and may this help us infuse our life's work with honesty, integrity, and thoughtfulness. May this be God's will.—AMEN.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE TO THE FLAG

Upon request of Speaker pro Tempore Keeley, Assembly Member Cox then led the Assembly in the pledge of allegiance to the Flag.

PRAYER

Upon invitation of Speaker pro Tempore Keeley, the following prayer was offered by Assembly Chaplain Rabbi Mona Alfi:

The 19th century political and economic philosopher, John Stuart Mill, said this about human nature:

Human nature is not a machine to be built after a model, and set to do exactly the work prescribed for it, but a tree, which requires to grow and develop itself on all sides, according to the tendency of the inward forces which make it a living thing.

Like a tree, each of us is unique, growing and responding to the natural forces that shape us. And like a tree, we have within us the strength to weather many storms and the ability to be sustained through a long winter so that we will find ourselves renewed once again in the spring.

May we come to recognize the inward forces within ourselves that help each of us to develop and grow in our own way and in our own time. May this be God's will.—AMEN.

REPORTS

The following letters of transmittal were presented by the Chief Clerk, and ordered printed in the Journal:

California State Auditor

99027

January 25, 2000

*The Honorable Speaker of the Assembly
The Honorable Members of the Assembly
of the Legislature of California
State Capitol, Room 3196
Sacramento, California*

Members of the Assembly: As required by the 1999–2000 Budget Act (Chapter 50, Statutes of 1999), the Bureau of State Audits presents its audit report concerning the California Department of Corrections' (department) medical operations.

This report concludes that the department has only partially adopted the comprehensive practices used by managed care organizations to ensure cost-effective medical services. For example, the department cannot effectively determine what aspects of its operations need improvement because it lacks a comprehensive review process and a modern, statewide information management structure. In addition, unlike managed care organizations, it has not developed systemwide treatment guidelines that are designed to create more uniform care. Further, key operating data, such as total medical costs or nursing costs per inmate vary significantly among its 33 institutions, but the department does not routinely analyze such data, so it does not know whether low-cost institutions are operating optimally or providing a level of services below that of other institutions. Finally, the department could reduce its health care costs if it increased the number of pharmaceutical products it purchases under competitively bid contracts and increased its efforts to monitor the prescribing practices at all its institutions.

Respectfully submitted,

MARY P. NOBLE
Acting State Auditor

Above report referred to the Committee on Public Safety.

*The Honorable Speaker of the Assembly
The Honorable Members of the Assembly
of the Legislature of California
State Capitol, Room 3196
Sacramento, California*

Members of the Assembly: As required by the 1999–2000 Budget Act (Chapter 50, Statutes of 1999), the Bureau of State Audits presents its audit report concerning personnel management practices of the California Department of Corrections (department).

This report concludes that the department has failed to effectively manage sick leave usage and its holiday and leave programs. As a result, the department is incurring high overtime costs, possibly as much as $17 million annually, that are largely driven by the significant use of sick leave on the part of custody staff.

Respectfully submitted,

MARY P. NOBLE
Acting State Auditor

Above report referred to the Committee on Public Safety.

PRAYER

Upon invitation of Speaker pro Tempore Keeley, the following prayer was offered by Rev. Kelvin Sauls, Pastor of Downs Memorial United Methodist Church, in Oakland:

Let us pause. It was Martin Luther King, Jr., who said that we all are inextricably linked towards the same destiny formed in this mutual garment that we are heading to. And as to this day honor the spirit that he is here with us to celebrate and uphold human dignity when we celebrate Black History.

On this day when we unite for a common destiny, we would like to celebrate the spirits of those that have gone on before us, both dead and alive—Willie Brown, Maxine Waters, Rosa Parks, Thurgood Marshall, and the many who because of their hard work, we today unite towards a history and a destiny to uphold human dignity.

And so, we pause to celebrate that spirit. We pause to celebrate ourselves, for we know that Black History is essentially American History and as we celebrate this history, we claim our future together. And so now, a spirit of compassion, love and joy come now and permeate our lives as we deliberate and discuss that which will affect all of human kind that we are responsible for.

Guide us now and strengthen us as we continue to do and be what we ought to do and be—that is to uphold and celebrate human dignity.

We thank You for this opportunity of Black History. Most of all we thank You for the opportunity to influence and determine our destiny.—AMEN.

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR

The following messages from the Acting Governor were received and ordered printed in the Journal:

PROCLAMATIONCensus Awareness Day in Los Angeles

WHEREAS, there are only 52 days until the count begins in the 2000 federal decennial census, which represents the first great challenge of the new millennium; and

WHEREAS, after the 1990 census, it was determined that an estimated 835,000 Californians, including 350,000 of the state's children, were not counted; and

WHEREAS, as a result of the undercount, California lost approximately $2.2 billion in federal money that it should have received, totaling $2,660 lost for each man, woman and child not counted; and

WHEREAS, a similar undercount in the 2000 census would mean that more than one million people would not be counted in California, likely costing the state billions of dollars in needed revenue; and

WHEREAS, the City of Los Angeles, the Office of the Mayor, and the State of California through the California Complete Count Committee, have joined forces to present a community-based census forum; now therefore be it

RESOLVED, That I, Cruz M. Bustamante, Acting Governor of the State of California, do hereby proclaim Thursday, February 10, 2000 as Census Awareness Day in Los Angeles.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I hereunto set my hand and have caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this Ninth Day of February of the Year Two Thousand.

WHEREAS, land surveyors provide important services to California consumers, such as designing parcel and subdivision maps, surveying for grading and site preparation, and professional land division; and

WHEREAS, as California continues to grow and develop into the 21st century, land surveyors will play an increasingly critical role in the future of this great state; now therefore be it

RESOLVED, That I, Cruz M. Bustamante, Acting Governor of the State of California, do hereby declare February 13–19, 2000 as “Land Surveyors’ Week.”

PRAYER

Upon invitation of Speaker pro Tempore Keeley, the following prayer was offered by Assembly Chaplain Rabbi Mona Alfi:

The American poet, John Burroughs, wrote:

The lesson which life repeats and constantly enforces is "look under foot." You are always nearer the divine and the true sources of your power than you think. The lure of the distant and the difficult is deceptive. The great opportunity is where you are. Do not despise your own place and hour. Every place is under the stars, every place is the centre of the world.

It is easy to get distracted and look for life's treasures and rewards as something to be found in the far-off future, in another place, or as somehow unattainable in the here and now.

However this is not true. In every place and every moment there is an opportunity to encounter the sacred.

May the Holy One of Blessing open our eyes so we may see the daily miracles of life, and open our hearts so we can enjoy them. May this be God's will.—AMEN.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE TO THE FLAG

Upon request of Speaker pro Tempore Keeley, Assembly Member Bates then led the Assembly in the pledge of allegiance to the Flag.

Cox	Kuehl	Pescetti	Mr. Speaker

PRAYER

Upon invitation of Speaker pro Tempore Keeley, the following prayer was offered by Assembly Chaplain Rabbi Mona Alfi:

The British philosopher and social critic, Bertrand Russell, wrote on the topic of freedom. He said:

The freedom we should seek is not the right to oppress others, but the right to live as we choose and think as we choose where our doing so does not prevent others from doing likewise.

May we be mindful of the needs of those around us, and may our actions always enable the spirit of freedom to thrive and take root. May we find a way to live freely while still respecting the freedom of others. May this be God's will.—AMEN.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE TO THE FLAG

Upon request of Speaker pro Tempore Keeley, Assembly Member Dickerson then led the Assembly in the pledge of allegiance to the Flag.

REPORTS

The following letter of transmittal was presented by the Chief Clerk, and ordered printed in the Journal:

California State Auditor

99121

January 20, 2000

*The Honorable Speaker of the Assembly
The Honorable Members of the Assembly
of the Legislature of California
State Capitol, Room 3196
Sacramento, California*

Members of the Assembly: As requested by the Joint Legislative Audit Committee, the Bureau of State Audits presents its audit report concerning the Department of Education's (department) monitoring of state and federal programs.

This report concludes that the department has begun to shift its monitoring focus from concentrating solely on compliance with state and federal regulations to measuring accountability by student achievement. While we recognize the importance of student achievement, this philosophy hinders the department's ability to ensure the appropriate use of state and federal funds. Its monitoring approach is further flawed because the department generally does not review entities receiving state and federal funds based on risk and it does not adequately track and evaluate the results of its monitoring efforts.

We also found that the Audits and Investigations Division (audits division), which was the primary focus of our audit, provides limited value towards the department's monitoring efforts. The audits division is spending the majority of its time reviewing independent CPA reports and ensuring that the department's records agree with figures in these reports rather than performing on-site audits or assisting with program reviews. Finally, we found that various divisions within the department can improve their processes for monitoring nonprofit organizations and school districts by performing reviews within the required timeframe and consistently following up with program participants to ensure that they have taken appropriate corrective actions.

Respectfully submitted,

MARY P. NOBLE
Acting State Auditor

PRAYER

Upon invitation of Speaker Villaraigosa, the following prayer was offered by Assembly Chaplain Rabbi Mona Alfi:

When Benjamin Franklin addressed the Constitutional Convention in 1887, he spoke timeless truths about the nature of government and the key to its success. He said:

Much of the strength and efficiency of any government, in procuring and securing happiness to the people depends on opinion, on the general opinion of the goodness of that government as well as of the wisdom and integrity of its governors.

Benjamin Franklin wisely stated that the strength and efficiency of a government rests both on the people's opinion of that government, as well as on the wisdom and integrity of its leaders. Each one is a reflection of the other.

We stand here today to recognize and honor 150 years of a democratic government, elected to secure the happiness and well-being of its citizens and dedicated to representing all who comprise the vast diversity that is this great state.

May it be the will of the Creator, that our leaders always be blessed with wisdom and integrity, and that the people continue to be blessed with leaders who are worthy to serve them. May this be God's will.—AMEN.

Upon request of Speaker Villaraigosa, Assembly Member Hertzberg then led the Assembly in the pledge of allegiance to the Flag.

ABOUT THE CLOCK TOWER

The Benicia Clocktower, originally called The Old Fort, was built in 1859 under the direction of arsenal commander Franklin D. Callender and was part of a larger facility called the Benicia Arsenal. The Clocktower consisted of three floors, the lower being used for large gun storage and the second and third for smaller arms. In 1912 the Clocktower was badly damaged in a fire and explosion. Two years later the Clocktower was rebuilt as a two-story building which today is used as a public reception area.

ABOUT THE BENICIA STATE CAPITOL

On February 11, 1853, the Legislature reconvened the Fourth Session in Benicia and Benicia became California's Third State Capitol. On February 25, 1854, California's Capitol was moved to Sacramento. Today, Benicia remains home to the single original State Capitol Building still standing outside of the Capitol Building in Sacramento. Other historic State Capitols were located in Monterey, San Francisco, San Jose and Vallejo.

The Siting of a Capitol

(Excerpt from the 2000 edition of California's Legislature)

Among the duties of the Constitutional Convention of 1849 was that of proposing a seat of government for the new state. The question was placed before a group of men little affected by historical precedent, for the majority of the delegates had settled in the northern part of the territory for less than a decade, and one-fourth had come west with the gold rush. The few native Californians present might have recalled a territorial capital being moved from Monterey to San Diego, Santa Barbara or Los Angeles at the whim of various Mexican governors. Even Monterey, while playing host to the convention, claimed only the dubious distinction of housing, since 1846, the headquarters of the American military governors.

Thus unencumbered by tradition, the delegates voiced their desire for a location free of the distractions of commerce. Offers of accommodations poured in from communities large and small, all envisioning a substantial return on their investment.

During the session, two men from the booming little town of Pueblo de San Jose were sent galloping over the hills to Monterey to offer Washington Square in their town as a capitol site and to assure delegates that a suitable building would await them. After hours of debate the convention accepted the offer and named Pueblo de San Jose the capital—with the qualification that, by law, it might be moved elsewhere.¹

Capitol at San Jose—1849-51

SAN JOSE

State Capital, November 13, 1849 to May 1, 1851

The First and Second Sessions of the Legislature, which were held in 1850 and 1851, convened at San Jose. Founded in 1777, San Jose was the first incorporated city in the state and is the county seat of Santa Clara County.

The Capitol was a two-story adobe hotel, 60 by 40 feet, the upper story being assigned to the Assembly and the lower to the Senate. William Kelly, English author of A Stroll Through the Diggings of California, who visited the First Legislature at work, describes the Senate and Assembly Chambers as being:

*... accommodated under the same roof, one downstairs, the other above; but, by a sort of solecism in the arrangement, the Senate, or upper house, occupy the lower apartment, which is a large, ill-lighted, badly-ventilated room, with a low ceiling, and a rough railing a little inside the door; beyond which none but the elect may pass. Each member had a rush-bottomed armchair, and a small desk with stationery . . . At the farther end, the Speaker was perched in a species of pulpit; the floor was covered with a number of little carpets, of various shapes and patterns . . . The other apartment (the Assembly Chamber) is of precisely the same size, but has the advantage of greater loftiness . . . plain common chairs, flat deal tables, and a strip of matting thrown where the feet are erroneously supposed to rest, being the extent of the accommodation . . .*²

Judge Sexton of Oroville said that "no sooner was the Legislature fairly organized than the members began to growl about their accommodations. They didn't like the legislative building and swore terribly between drinks at the accommodations of the town generally. Many of the solons expressed a desire to remove the capital from San Jose immediately."³

During the session of 1850, several proposals to provide suitable lands for state buildings, along with lands, bonds or moneys to establish funding for construction, were presented to the Legislature. General Vallejo's offer was by far the most generous. "The Committee on Public Buildings reported in favor of accepting the Vallejo proposition, and on April 22, an Act was passed and approved directing the Governor to submit to the people at the following general election the various propositions that had been made for the location of the Capital . . ." ⁴ At the general election of October 7, 1850, the proposal of General Vallejo was overwhelmingly favored.

On January 14, 1851, General Vallejo presented a communication to the Senate offering bonds as security for the fulfillment of his proposal. A majority of the Senate Committee on Public Buildings reported a bill recommending removal of the capital to the town of Vallejo which, passing both houses, was approved by the Governor on February 4, 1851. ⁵ California's first State Capitol site is now marked with a plaque across from the Plaza de Cesar Chavez on South Market Street in downtown San Jose.

Capitol at Vallejo—1852-53

VALLEJO

State Capital, January 5, 1852 to February 4, 1853. Removed temporarily to Sacramento January 16, 1852 to May 4, 1852.

The Third Session opened at Vallejo on January 5, 1852. The capital was in a state of total chaos. Accommodations of all sorts were in varying stages of construction, with workmen noisily determined upon their completion. The Sacramento Daily Union reported: "The furniture, fixtures, etc., are not yet in their places (in the Capitol); many of them have not yet arrived at Vallejo . . . no printing materials in town . . . few or none of the buildings in town finished . . . music of the saw and hammer heard night and day." ⁶

Of the State House itself, Bancroft wrote: "The $125,000 capitol so far was a rather insignificant two-story building with a drinking-saloon and a skittle-alley in the basement—the third house, as it was ironically called."⁷ The site is now marked by a bronze plaque on the corner of York and Sacramento Streets in Vallejo.

The steamer, Empire, establishing itself as a floating hotel, berthed some 250 persons, of whom 50 were Members of the Legislature. Anywhere else, wrote the Daily Union, should a man become "so prodigal as to purchase the exclusive privileges of a settee or a line of stools, it is perfect destruction on the purse."⁸

The dearth of essentials and the absence of amenities plunged the legislators into a new battle to move the Capitol. The obvious efforts of builders to complete construction and the pledges of townspeople to secure conveniences were countered by charges that General Vallejo had broken his contract to provide a suitable capital. Compromise prevailed, and it was decided that, while the town of Vallejo would remain the permanent capital of the state, the Senate and Assembly would repair to Sacramento on January 16, 1852 to complete the session.

The following year, on January 3, 1853, the Legislature assembled again in Vallejo for the Fourth Session. Compared with the previous year, conditions were a little better, and the weather worse. Transportation and communication, in spite of great effort, fell far short of the needs of the Legislature. Proponents of removal viewed, on the one hand, Sacramento recovering from a flood and, on the other, the town of Benicia offering the free use of its new city hall and a port of call at which all river traffic stopped. Spurred perhaps by the immediate prospect of an uncomfortable session in Vallejo, the Legislature passed a bill on February 4 ordering the seat of government to be moved instantly to the City of Benicia.

Capitol at Benicia — 1853-54

BENICIA

State Capital, February 4, 1853 to February 25, 1854

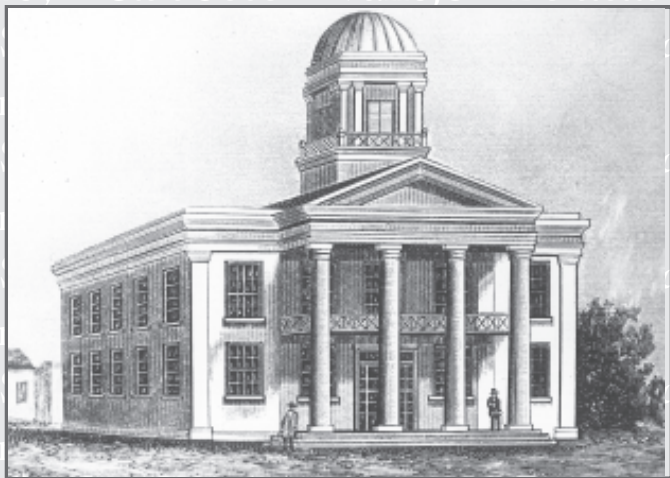

The newly designated capital promptly welcomed the Legislature as the Fourth Session reconvened on February 11, 1853. Benicia, given the second name of the wife of General Vallejo, had grown with the addition of an ordnance depot and a military post into a major port of call between San Francisco and Sacramento.

The new State Capitol was a roomy, two-story brick building which, besides two large legislative chambers, contained much-demanded rooms for committees. Two Doric pillars and four pilasters presented, for the first time, a suitably grand façade. The lawmakers, with little or no complaint, resumed their labors and adjourned May 19, 1853.

Yet once more, the capital seemed inadequate to the accommodations required for a legislative session and its entourage of scribes, journalists and advocates. On January 2, 1854, the opening day of the Fifth Session, it is reported that “at least a hundred men had no place to sleep except barrooms of saloons.”⁹ As with Vallejo, inclement weather heightened the general irritation. The change to Benicia had proved apparently to be a change in the degree of discomfiture.

A handsome proposal from the City of Sacramento arrived at about this time. Free use of the Sacramento County Courthouse as a capitol building, rooms for state officers, fireproof vaults for the records, removal of the Legislature and furnishings from Benicia to Sacramento without charge, and a building site for a permanent capitol — were included.

Other political considerations were agreed to, and an act was passed repealing all prior legislation which had to do with a state capital and naming Sacramento as the permanent seat of government. On February 25, the bill was signed by Governor Bigler, and the Legislature, bag and baggage, climbed aboard the steamer, Wilson G. Hunt, for the voyage to the new capital.

First Capitol at Sacramento 1854

SACRAMENTO

State Capital, February 25, 1854 to present. Removed temporarily to San Francisco in 1862.

—The First State House in Sacramento (1854)—

A few of the legislators recalled the surroundings of two years before as they reconvened the session of 1854 in Sacramento County's first courthouse. Just prior to its completion in 1851, the wooden two-story building was proudly described in the Daily Union: "Sacramento can now boast of the finest and most commodious courthouse in the State . . . The design of the main entrance is very neat and in good taste. Four fluted columns will support a balcony, surrounding which there will be a handsome iron railing. The building will be ornamented with a neat cupola, in which a bell is to be suspended, and a clock also will show its face and hands to late witnesses and trembling culprits." ¹⁰

The confidence of the city was to be seen everywhere. Sturdy levees braced it against flooding rivers, and the new Capitol looked down upon streets covered with wooden planking, ever-increasing numbers of substantial brick and iron buildings and no less than 55 hotels. Stagecoaches, freight wagons and pack trains combined with frequent steamboat service to make Sacramento one of the most accessible cities in the state. More rapid communications were available by telegraph.

At last, a permanent capital seemed able to offer an abundance of those facilities deemed necessary for the appropriate conduct and comfort of the Legislature. Soon after the conclusion of the session, the stately courthouse, along with a considerable portion of the city, was razed in the disastrous fire of July 13, 1854. Undaunted, the energetic citizenry saw the cornerstone of a more splendid courthouse laid on September 27, 1854. The 7th and I Street location of these first two Capitol buildings in Sacramento is now the site of the Sacramento County Jail. Although the location is registered as State Historic Landmark No. 869, no plaque has been placed there to identify it as such.

Second Capitol at Sacramento 1855-69

—Sacramento's Second State House (1855-69)—

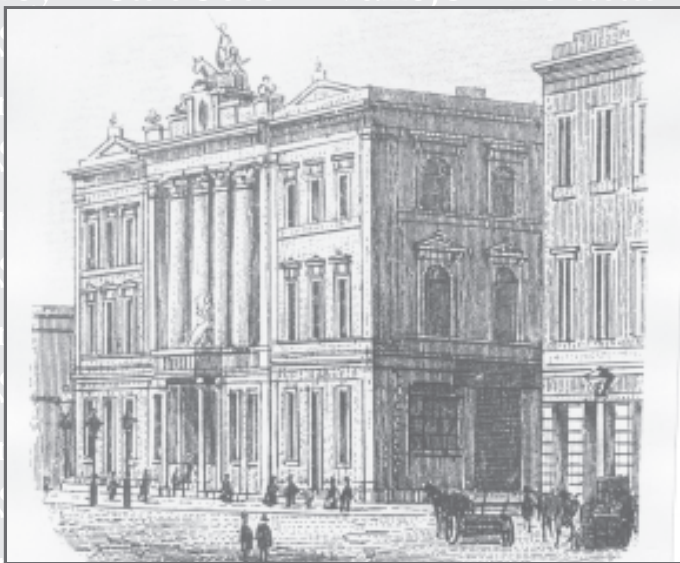

Sacramento's Second County Courthouse was ready for occupancy in less than four months. Completed in January 1855, construction of the new State House neither delayed nor distracted the Legislature.

The façade was graced by eight fluted pillars with Ionic capitals supporting an imposing entablature. The second floor was 80 by 120 feet, granting sufficient space not only for adequate chambers for the Senate and Assembly, but also for nine rooms to be used by officers and clerks of the Legislature. The ground floor provided offices complete with fireproof vaults for the Controller and Treasurer.

The rebuilding of Sacramento caused James G. Read to write: "After four years, in which she had been in turn desolated by flood and pestilence, consumed by fire, and shook by civil commotion, we will look at her as she stands in her pride of wealth and power. We will look at her extensive levees, her commodious wharves, her noble lines of storehouses, her magnificent post office, her elegant and spacious church, and other public buildings; her fine hotels and her palace-like private residences, and who can forbear astonishment?"¹¹

This "pride of wealth and power" embraced the Legislature. In 1854, the public square at 9th and 10th, I and J Streets, was donated by the city as a site for the permanent Capitol. The work, which commenced in December of 1856, was halted by court litigation, and construction was never resumed.¹² The site, which reverted to the city, is now Cesar E. Chavez Plaza.

Intense geographical and political scheming led to various legislative attempts to move the capital again. At one point even the State Supreme Court ruled, but later reversed itself, that the state capital was actually still San Jose.¹³ Several cities, including San Francisco, Oakland and San Jose, reopened the prospect of change by proposing capitol sites to the Legislature, but Sacramento's gift of four blocks between L and N, 10th and 12th Streets, was finally agreed upon in 1860. The Legislature appropriated $500,000 as a construction fund, and appointed a commission to superintend the building of a capitol.

Merchants Exchange Building at San Francisco—1862

SAN FRANCISCO

Temporary State Capital, January 24, 1862 to May 15, 1862

December 9, 1861, found Sacramento completely flooded. Early in January, the Daily Union, while describing conditions in the city as normal, reported “a movement, probably having a speculative origin, to attempt to bring about a temporary removal of the Capital of the Legislature to San Francisco, but we do not apprehend that such an attempt will be countenanced by sensible men in either branch.”¹⁴

On January 10, 1862, Sacramento was again awash with flood waters rising 20 inches higher than the crest the previous month. Governor Leland Stanford supposedly arrived for his inauguration in a rowboat.

The question of removal was not only considered, it was pursued to the extent that one legislator feared they would become known as “the changing, mudscow, steamboat moving, forever uncertain legislature of California.” On January 24, 1862, the Legislature took up temporary residence in San Francisco.

The business of the state resumed in the Merchants Exchange Building, which stood on the northeast corner of Battery and Washington Streets. Erected in 1854 for the Hong Kong trading house of Jardine and Matheson, this imposing, three-story structure, capped with a central dome, was done in the palladian style of architecture. Statuary of an allegorical nature embellished the cornice. The site is now occupied in part by the forecourt of the Richard Henry Dana Building at 550 Battery Street.

Any efforts, public or private, to foster another permanent move of the capital must have been rebuffed, for the next session convened in Sacramento.

The Capital Comes to Rest in a Glorious New Building

While the Legislature had been away, work proceeded on a magnificent new capitol building designed by M.F. Butler. Ground had been broken on September 24, 1860, and the cornerstone had been laid on May 15, 1861. Details and working drawings were prepared by Reuben Clark, the first of the superintending architects, as problems arose.

Construction of the Capitol covered a period of 14 years, and special taxes had to be levied to sustain the project. “Until the roof was built in 1868, work stopped in the winter, both because wet weather set in and because the year’s funds, derived from annual taxes, were exhausted by fall. Supplies contracted for did not always arrive at the stipulated time; during the Civil War many construction items that might previously have been ordered from the East were made in San Francisco, where facilities were limited.”¹⁵ Flooding, cost overruns, and delays in construction reinvigorated Bay Area cities’ attempts to move the state capital to their locales. In 1868, serious removal efforts were waged to move the capital to Santa Cruz, San Jose, Oakland, Benicia, and San Francisco.¹⁶ None of the removal bills passed the Legislature.

On November 26, 1869, the offices of the Governor and Secretary of State were occupied, and on December 6th of that year the Legislature convened in the new chambers. Work on the Capitol continued until 1874, when it was declared completed.

Five years later, the Constitutional Convention of 1879 incorporated into the Constitution a section declaring Sacramento to be the seat of government of the state.¹⁷ Removal could be obtained only by an extraordinary vote of the Legislature and a majority vote of the people.

On foundations patterned after the ancient Spanish fortress at Panama and cemented by the state’s new Constitution, California’s Capitol finally came to rest.

Celebrating California's Past: The Legislature Returns to Benicia (March 15, 1958 and February 16, 2000)

The capitol structures in San Jose and Vallejo, as well as the two original buildings in Sacramento, were destroyed long ago. After a hundred years, the only edifice left standing was the two-story building in Benicia. Over the years, the building was used as the city hall, a school, church, fire department, county courthouse and library. In the 1950's, efforts were made to refurbish the aging structure. The City of Benicia, the Benicia Capitol Restoration Committee, and the State of California cooperated in the restoration project. The building was restored to its original condition, in authentic detail, and in 1958 was rededicated as a State Historic Park. To honor the occasion, the Legislature passed SCR 2, moving the capital to Benicia for one day. For three days, Benicia celebrated with parades, parties, a Governor's Ball, and a one-day commemorative legislative session held on March 15, 1958.

But the recognition of Benicia's place in state history did not end in 1958. To celebrate the 150th anniversary of California statehood, the 1999-2000 Legislature adopted SCR 54. The measure called for the Legislature to convene once again in Benicia on February 16, 2000 to pay homage to California's rich past. Benicia again reclaimed its status as the state capital, if only for a day.

Mariano Guadalupe Vallejo
1808-1890

General Mariano Guadalupe Vallejo was a central figure in early California history. The Vallejo family first came to California in 1774, when Ignacio Vicente Ferrer Vallejo of Jalisco, Mexico, served on an expedition to the region. The Vallejo family was soon well established in Alta California, with family members owning vast ranchos and holding important military titles. When the Mexican government's ineffectual control over the province weakened further in the 1840's, General Vallejo actively sought annexation by the United States:

Why then should we hesitate still to assert our independence? We have indeed taken the first step, by electing our own governor; but another remains to be taken . . . annexation to the United States. In contemplating this consummation of our destiny, I feel nothing but pleasure, and I ask you to share it . . . When we join our fortunes to hers, we shall not become subjects, but fellow-citizens, possessing all the rights of the United States and choosing our own federal and local rulers. We shall have a stable government and just laws. California will grow strong and flourishing, and her people will be prosperous, happy, and free.

—General M.G. Vallejo, April 1846

As the region transitioned from a Mexican province to a State, Mariano Vallejo's reputation as a military leader and great landowner earned him a place as a delegate to the Constitutional Convention of 1849. He was thereafter elected to serve as Senator in the First Legislature at San Jose. As a legislator, he convinced the Members to move the state capital to his property in Solano County in 1852. The towns of Vallejo and Benicia (named after General Vallejo's wife Francisca Benicia Carrillo) each served briefly as the seat of state government in the 1850's, until bustling Sacramento won the honor as permanent state capital in 1854. General Vallejo spent his later years as a patriarchal figure in Northern California, and is widely regarded as one of California's most important statesmen.

"Around the bevel of the ring are represented thirty-one stars being the number of states of which the union will consist upon the admission of California. The foreground figure represents the Goddess Minerva having sprung full grown from the brain of Jupiter. She is introduced as a type of the political birth of the State of California without having gone through the probation of a Territory. At her feet crouches a grizzly bear feeding upon clusters from a grape vine emblematic of the peculiar characteristics of the country. A miner is engaged with a rocker and bowl at his side, illustrating the golden wealth of the Sacramento upon whose waters are seen shipping typical of commercial greatness and the Snow-clad peaks of the Sierra Nevada make up the background while above the Greek motto 'Eureka' (I have found it) applying either to the principle involved in the admission of the State, or the success of the miner at work."

PRAYER

In observance of the Day of Remembrance for Japanese Americans interned during World War II, Speaker pro Tempore Keeley invited Rev. Kosho Yukawa of the Buddhist Church of Sacramento to offer the morning prayer.

Honored Members of the Assembly . . . Good Morning!

Thank you very much for the invitation to join you this morning observing the Day of Remembrance. Please join me in a moment of meditation and reflection.

Buddhist life is to aspire to live a life of the way of Bodhisattva. The Bodhisattva practice is to benefit self and others at the same time, through one's actions of words, deeds and thoughts.

Bodhisattva practice is to be a medicine for the sick and weary, nursing them until their afflictions are gone forever: protector of the helpless, a guide for travelers and their means of crossing a stream, a lamp for those who need a lamp, a bed for those who need a bed, a friend for those who need a friend.

Bodhisattva practice is to aspire for all beings in the paths of existence to be released from their afflictions; the state to continue in peaceful prosperity with all its hostile activities stopped; the wind to blow in time, the rain to fall seasonably, and the people to live happily.

And Bodhisattva practice is to realize the impermanence of all existences, that everything is constantly changing and nothing stays the same. Because our life is impermanent, we must treasure our existence and live each day with respect and gratitude.

And, we close our mediation and reflection with the following Bodhisattva thoughts: "May all find happiness through my actions and let no one suffer because of me. And, may we truly realize the inter-dependency of all existences and live a life of respect and reverence to all."

Namoamidabutsu.

PRAYER

Upon invitation of Speaker pro Tempore Keeley, the following prayer was offered by Assembly Chaplain Rabbi Mona Alfi:

Suffering from asthma, poor vision, and weak health, the great American President Theodore Roosevelt was too sickly as a child to even attend school. However, through hard work and perseverance he built up both his body and his mind. In 1899, just after being elected Governor of New York, he spoke these inspirational words based on his own personal experiences:

Far better it is to dare mighty things, to win glorious triumphs, even though checkered by failure, than to take rank with those poor spirits who neither enjoy much nor suffer much, because they live in the gray twilight that knows not victory nor defeat.

May the Holy One of Blessing grant us the courage to dare to follow our convictions, and the strength to carry on when obstacles are placed in our way, and may we follow our dreams to a glorious end. May this be God's will.—AMEN.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE TO THE FLAG

Upon request of Speaker pro Tempore Keeley, Assembly Member Davis then led the Assembly in the pledge of allegiance to the Flag.

PRAYER

Upon invitation of Speaker pro Tempore Keeley, the following prayer was offered by Assembly Chaplain Rabbi Mona Alfi:

The Austrian physician and writer, Arthur Schnitzler wrote about the human condition. He said:

The meaning of our life is the road, not the goal. For each answer is delusive, each fulfillment melts away between our fingers, and the goal is no longer a goal once it is attained.

Each day is a new adventure, with opportunities waiting to be explored and new paths to venture down. Most of our greatest rewards can be found not at our final destinations but in our relationships and unexpected interactions along the way.

May the Holy One of Blessing help us to find meaning in our journey and as much joy in our travels as in our final destination. May this be God's will.—AMEN.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE TO THE FLAG

Upon request of Speaker pro Tempore Keeley, Assembly Member Jackson then led the Assembly in the pledge of allegiance to the Flag.

January 28, 2000

*The Honorable Speaker of the Assembly
The Honorable Members of the Assembly
of the Legislature of California
State Capitol, Room 3196
Sacramento, California*

Members of the Assembly: As required by Chapter 690, Statutes of 1997, the Bureau of State Audits presents its audit report concerning the status of community college districts' (districts) compliance with Section 84752 of the California Education Code that prohibits districts from receiving full-time equivalent student funding for activities that are fully funded through another source. This report concludes that although most districts appear to be complying with state regulations prohibiting the districts from requesting funding for such activities, the Chancellor's Office is not properly monitoring instructional service agreements (ISAs). As a result, the Chancellor's Office cannot assure that all districts receiving funds through ISAs have met state requirements for receiving state funds.

Respectfully submitted,

California State Auditor

99124

February 17, 2000

*The Honorable Speaker of the Assembly
The Honorable Members of the Assembly
of the Legislature of California
State Capitol, Room 3196
Sacramento, California*

Members of the Assembly: As requested by the Joint Legislative Audit Committee, the Bureau of State Audits presents its audit report concerning our evaluation of the methods employed by the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission (commission) to assure an adequate, long-term, and reliable water supply for its Bay Area customers. This report concludes that the commission has been slow to assess and upgrade its water delivery system to enable it to survive catastrophic events such as earthquakes, fires, or floods. The commission has also been slow to estimate the amount of water it will need to meet demand in the future and to seek additional sources of water. As a result, the nearly 2.4 million customers in the City and County of San Francisco, and in Alameda, San Mateo, and Santa Clara counties who rely on the commission for their drinking water are at greater risk of disruptions and water shortages in the event of a catastrophe or a drought.

The commission's capital improvement plan currently lists about 200 capital projects requiring more than $3 billion to complete. The commission plans to complete most of these projects over the next 15 years. In the past 10 years, however, the commission completed 54 capital projects at a cost of about $270 million. Several factors contributed to the commission's inability to complete capital projects more quickly. For instance, the commission believes that insufficient staffing to manage the projects is a major factor. Other deficiencies that contribute to the slowness are inefficient contracting procedures, outdated project operations manuals, weak project monitoring, and inadequate project management training.

The commission acknowledges that it lacks the tools to streamline project development or to control such a large capital improvement program. Therefore, it has taken several measures to address the deficiencies. However, its ability to ensure a sufficient, long-term and reliable water system remains uncertain since most of these measures are still in development or were recently finalized.

Respectfully submitted,

MARY P. NOBLE
Acting State Auditor

Above report referred to the Committee on Utilities and Commerce.

PRAYER

Upon invitation of Speaker pro Tempore Keeley, the following prayer was offered by Assembly Chaplain Rabbi Mona Alfi:

It is easy to get distracted by the routine of every day life and get caught up with what might seem fleeting, unimportant, or simply mundane. It is human to desire to make something that is permanent and enduring, to find some way to connect with the world in a deeper and lasting fashion. Warren Walker spoke of the desire within each of us to experience what is real and what is sustaining. He wrote:

There is deep-seated in the make-up of the ordinary person a craving for flowers that do not fade and pleasures that do not pass away. Deep down inside of every human being there is a desire for the genuine—the lasting quality of real life.

May the Holy One of Blessing grant us the ability to experience every day with a sense of wonder, and to find moments of transcendence where we can encounter what is Divine and Eternal. May we be blessed to see the beauty that is sometimes hidden in our day to day lives and may we know the lasting quality of real life. May this be God's will.—AMEN.

PRAYER

Upon invitation of Speaker pro Tempore Keeley, the following prayer was offered by Assembly Chaplain Rabbi Mona Alfi:

The celebrated civil rights activist and Catholic theologian, Rosemary Ruether, has written eloquently on the topic of experiencing God in the everyday world. She taught:

The liberating encounter with God/ess is always an encounter with our authentic selves resurrected from underneath the alienated self. It is not experienced against, but in and through relationships, healing our broken relations with our bodies, with other people, with nature.

Through the experience of trying to heal what is broken in our lives, we can come to experience God. When we see the act of spiritual and emotional healing as something that is done with others, rather than to or by others, we can become closer with the Divine. And by allowing ourselves to connect with the natural world, we can discover a sense of the Eternal.

May we find what is blessed and sacred within ourselves, and may that sense of sacredness release within us a desire to heal what is broken in our lives and in our world. May we find strength through our spiritual struggles and comfort in our relationships with others. May this be God's will.—AMEN.

In Memoriam
Richard A. Breza

It is with a great deal of sadness that I seek permission to adjourn in memory of the Police Chief of Santa Barbara—a wonderful man named Rick Breza who passed away of a brain tumor this weekend, at the age of 53. Chief Breza was one of those extraordinary police officers who truly understood the benefits, not only of strict and consistent enforcement of the laws, but also in dealing with intervention and prevention. He was very actively involved with the alcohol and substance abuse programs that we have in the City of Santa Barbara. He was also a very strong supporter of reasonable gun control, one of the leaders of the state on that issue. He also provided inspiration to youth and also believed very strongly that the most effective policing is when the community is involved. He spent the last 12 years as the Chief of this fine city, committed to the issues and committed to the type of law enforcement that will be a beacon for the future. He was also a friend of mine. I knew him when I first came to Santa Barbara in 1975 and served in the DA's office. He was a young police officer who graduated to detective. He was a man of unquestioned integrity and compassion and it is with that sadness that I ask to adjourn in his memory today.

REPORTS

California State Auditor

99111

February 10, 2000

*The Honorable Speaker of the Assembly
The Honorable Members of the Assembly
of the Legislature of California
State Capitol, Room 3196
Sacramento, California*

Members of the Assembly: As requested by the Joint Legislative Audit Committee, the Bureau of State Audits presents its audit report concerning our review of the Department of Rehabilitation's (department) administration of California's Vocational Rehabilitation Program (program).

The report concludes that, although federal requirements have contributed to its rising costs, the department has failed to manage certain aspects of its program adequately. Specifically, the department does not track the cumulative costs of its cases and sometimes spends far beyond what is reasonable. Additionally, it does not always promptly close expensive, unsuccessful cases. Further, the department does not fully use its existing management tools to monitor the program. Finally, the department's current method for evaluating the severity of clients' disabilities favors clients with learning and certain learning disabilities.

Respectfully submitted,

PRAYER

Upon invitation of Assistant Speaker pro Tempore Thomson, the following prayer was offered by Assembly Chaplain Rabbi Mona Alfi:

The 19th century American author J.G. Holland taught that “God gives every bird its food, but does not throw it into the nest.”

All that we need to nourish us in life, physically, intellectually, spiritually, God provides. But it is for us to seek, to search, and to claim it for ourselves.

May we be blessed with the ability to find what we need to sustain us, recognize it when it is revealed to us, and to accept even what we have worked hard to attain as though it were a gift from the Eternal One. May this be God’s will.—AMEN.

PRAYER

Upon invitation of Speaker pro Tempore Keeley, the following prayer was offered by Assembly Chaplain Rabbi Mona Alfi:

What is life's heaviest burden? Asked a youth of a sad and lonely old man. To have nothing to carry, he answered.
(E. Scott O'Connor)

To care for others, to carry their concerns with our own, is not one of life's burdens, but a privilege. To stand apart from the community, to carry none of the load in our arms, is to carry the greatest burden of all. To participate in both life's struggles and celebrations is to live a life of meaning.

May we have the wisdom to see our burdens as blessings, our responsibilities as the source of our strength, and our work as meaningful. May this be God's will.—AMEN.

PRAYER

Upon invitation of Speaker Villaraigosa, the following prayer was offered by Assembly Chaplain Rabbi Mona Alfi:

The great American poet, Edward Arlington Robinson wrote that there are:

Two kinds of gratitude: the sudden kind
We feel for what we take, the larger kind
We feel for what we give.

It is such a simple piece of wisdom that most of us are taught as children “It is better to give than to receive.” Simple, yet true. Life’s most lasting rewards are often received not from those occasions when we take from others, but when we have the opportunity to give wholly and unselfishly of ourselves.

May we always be so blessed as to be in a position where we can give more than we take. May this be God’s will.—AMEN.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE TO THE FLAG

Upon request of Speaker Villaraigosa, Assembly Member Romero then led the Assembly in the pledge of allegiance to the Flag.

PRAYER

Upon invitation of Speaker pro Tempore Keeley, the following prayer was offered by Assembly Chaplain Rabbi Mona Alfi:

What does it mean to live a life of meaning? Acquiring material wealth, social status, or diplomas to hang on our walls? No. To live a life of meaning is to strive not only to improve our own lot, but the lot of others as well.

Cesar Chavez taught that “We can choose to use our lives for others to bring about a better and more just world for our children.”

When our legacy is one not only of compassion for others, but of acting in a way which elevates the humanity of those around us, we know that we have lived a life of meaning. Further, when we address life’s injustices in the present we are ensuring a better world for those who come after us.

May the work of our hands and the meditations of our hearts be directed towards creating a better and more just world. May this be God’s will.—AMEN.

REPORTS

The following letters of transmittal were presented by the Chief Clerk, and ordered printed in the Journal:

California State Auditor

99002

March 21, 2000

The Honorable Speaker of the Assembly
The Honorable Members of the Assembly
of the Legislature of California
State Capitol, Room 3196
Sacramento, California

Members of the Assembly: As required by the California Government Code, Section 8542, et. seq., the Bureau of State Audits presents its audit report concerning our review of the State of California's internal controls and compliance with state and federal laws and regulations for the year ended June 30, 1999.

This report shows that in some instances the State has not established an effective system of internal control over financial reporting and compliance with federal requirements. Additionally, it does not always adhere to established control procedures. These problems result in noncompliance with some state and federal regulations. Although none of the problems we identified is significant to the State's financial statements or the federal programs it administers, weaknesses in the State's internal control system could adversely affect its ability to provide accurate financial information and to administer federal programs in compliance with applicable requirements.

Respectfully submitted,

MARY P. NOBLE
Acting State Auditor

Above report referred to the Committee on Consumer Protection, Governmental Efficiency and Economic Development.

California State Auditor

99117.2

March 16, 2000

*The Honorable Speaker of the Assembly
The Honorable Members of the Assembly
of the Legislature of California
State Capitol, Room 3196
Sacramento, California*

Members of the Assembly: As requested by the Joint Legislative Audit Committee, the Bureau of State Audits presents its audit report concerning the California Public Utilities Commission (commission).

This report concludes that the commission does not adequately develop and manage its contracts. For example, it sometimes fails to perform important steps in developing its contracts, such as seeking competitive bids, including a clearly defined scope of work, and preparing reasonably detailed budgets and progress schedules. It also does not always review its consultants' invoices to make sure that the charges are appropriate and sufficiently supported. As a result, the commission has made hundreds of thousands of dollars in questionable payments to its consultants.

Respectfully submitted,

MARY P. NOBLE
Acting State Auditor

PRAYER

Upon invitation of Speaker pro Tempore Keeley, the following prayer was offered by Assembly Chaplain Rabbi Mona Alfi:

Harry Emerson Fosdick observed that: To pass from a mirror-mind to a mind with windows is an essential element in the development of real personality.

When we are children we see the world as a reflection of ourselves, its needs and wants as an extension of our own. However, as we mature, we learn about ourselves not only by looking inward, but also by watching and learning from those around us.

Our personality, that is, who we are, is a reflection of how we understand the world. If we are only able to look at the world as though we were looking in a mirror, our vision becomes narrow and limited, but when we begin to use our mind as a window through which we can view the world around us, our horizon become endless.

May we be so blessed to have the curiosity to seek another's view, and the ability to understand what we see. May this be God's will.—AMEN.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE TO THE FLAG

Upon request of Speaker pro Tempore Keeley, Assembly Member Leach then led the Assembly in the pledge of allegiance to the Flag.

May He Who blessed our fathers, Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, bless the newly elected Speaker Mr. (Hebrew name) Baruch son of Abraham, his wife and his children, a man who faithfully occupies himself with the needs of the community. May the Holy One, blessed be He, give him his reward. May He remove all sickness from him. May He send blessings and success in all his activities, along with all Israel his brethren and all the people of California—and let us all say—AMEN.

Upon invitation of Speaker Villaraigosa, the following prayer was offered by Rev. Norman D. Copeland Sr., Pastor of Ward African Methodist Episcopal Church, in Los Angeles:

Beloved Father, We gather on this day to give thanks and to seek guidance for those who would labor for their fellow citizens, citizens of this vast state called California.

We realize that as we intervene in human affairs that there is such a great weight placed on the shoulders of each one who would represent the many communities and the vast arrays of diverse cultures of many hues that make up the rainbow.

One who will step forward and become a voice for all of us as Speaker of the California State Assembly in the person of Robert Myles Hertzberg, we lift him up before You. To bless both his mind and his heart as he seeks to unify and strengthen the Assembly for the well being of all its citizens.

In the midst of prosperity let him remember the disenfranchised, the poor, the uneducated, the elderly, the sick in body and mind, that these, too, need a voice that will speak to their needs.

As he moves among those who have power, remember that even the powerful can be weak; and the weak can be powerful.

And God reminds us that some things cannot be legislated nor can be accomplished by finances. Some things come from within the spirit of humanity, such things as decency, fair play, honesty, character and justice. Above all let us remember that we are people of faith.

This is our prayer in the name of the Father, the Son and the Holy Spirit.—AMEN.

SPEAKER VILLARAIGOSA ADDRESSES THE ASSEMBLY

The following address was given by Speaker Antonio R. Villaraigosa:

Passing the Torch of Leadership

Address by

Speaker Antonio R. Villaraigosa

April 13, 2000

It is with a special sense of pride and joy that I'd like to introduce my wife, Corina.

And, I would like to introduce someone else who is very close to my heart—my son, Antonio Villaraigosa.

Antonio is here today with his teacher Lucy Hunt and his class from Mt. Washington Elementary School.

Antonio, it is important that you are here, today. You were here with me, when I was first elected Speaker, two years ago.

I still remember the look of apprehension on your face when the vote count was taking place.

And the relief you showed when I was actually elected Speaker.

I know the pride you have for me. And, I want you to know that it is more than matched by the love I have for you.

I'm especially pleased that you and your classmates are here today to witness what a transition of power should look like in a democratic society.

There have been some bumps along the way, of course. But, for those who remember—this changing of the guard of the Speakership used to be less a passing of the torch—than a burning of the city.

I believe that at the end of the day, Antonio, and our new Speaker's sons—David, Daniel and Raymond—can all be proud of what happened here.

As I said on January 24 of this year—when I placed Bob's name into nomination as the next Speaker of the Assembly—I am gratified to pass the torch of leadership to him.

I believe Bob will prove to be an exemplary Speaker. His leadership is fired by the passion he has for improving the process of government.

I think we've all seen this passion . . . and his sincere desire to make this Assembly work more efficiently for the people of the state.

He deeply cares about the people we serve. I know of some of the challenges of this job, and I feel he has all the talent and skills to meet them—and more.

I feel secure in knowing that I leave the care of this Assembly in his capable hands.

I also feel comfort in knowing that Bob is committed to carry on what I hope will stand as a legacy to my tenure here.

That is the unprecedented atmosphere of collegiality and bipartisanship that we've established within these halls in the past two years.

We brought back civility and respect to the debates and actions on this floor.

The people of California asked us to get things done for them, and we did—with a minimum of politics—and a maximum of cooperation and professionalism.

This legacy is something that we achieved together—and I want to thank every Member in this House for that.

I also want to acknowledge the Republican leader, Scott Baugh, for your great efforts and willingness to work together.

I hope that we have established a model for the future of the Assembly under term limits that will endure beyond our years here.

Finally, I want to thank you, Members, for extending to me the distinct privilege and honor of serving you as Speaker, for the past two years.

You afforded me an experience I will always treasure, and an opportunity I can never forget.

I think we all agree California is poised at the threshold of an exciting future. And, I believe each of us has a role to play in shaping that future.

But, these past two years will remain unique and special in my heart as a time we were able to make government work, by working together.

And so, I want to thank you again, for this extraordinary experience.

There is just one last thing I would like to say as the 63rd Speaker of the California State Assembly:

Antonio—as great as this experience has been for me over the past two years—it can’t match the experience of being your Dad.

Thank you Members . . .

APPOINTMENT OF SELECT COMMITTEE ON ESCORT

Pursuant to the election of Robert M. Hertzberg on January 24, 2000 (Assembly Journal, p. 4906), Speaker Villaraigosa appointed Assembly Members Baugh, Calderon, Cardenas, Leonard, McClintock, Shelley, Steinberg, Thomson, Wesson, Wright, and Migden as a Select Committee on Escort to escort the Speaker-elect to the Rostrum.

OATH OF OFFICE ADMINISTERED

Speaker-elect Robert M. Hertzberg appeared at the bar of the Assembly and took and subscribed to the following oath of office administered by The Honorable Stanley Mosk, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of California:

OATH

for the Office of Speaker of the Assembly

I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will support and defend the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of the State of California against all enemies, foreign and domestic; that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of California; that I take this obligation freely, without any mental reservation or purpose of evasion; and that I will well and faithfully discharge the duties upon which I am about to enter.

ROBERT M. HERTZBERG

Subscribed and sworn to before me,
this 13th day of April
A.D. 2000

THE HONORABLE STANLEY MOSK
Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of California

PRESENTATION OF SPEAKER HERTZBERG

Former Speaker Villaraigosa then presented the 64th Speaker of the California State Assembly, Robert M. Hertzberg.

Address by Speaker Hertzberg

Members, I am humbled by the trust you have placed in me—and I will do everything I can to bring honor to you and this House.

Because I did not get here alone—I do not stand here alone. I want to offer a special word of gratitude to some of the many friends and loved ones who have come to share this day:

- To my best friend, my partner in life, and my wonderful wife—Cynthia Telles
- To my sources of joy and inspiration—my boys—Raymond, David, Daniel
- To the one person who literally made all this possible—my mom, Bunny Hertzberg. And thank you also to Dr. Tony Ramu

- To my two brothers who are here—Billy and Gerry Hertzberg
- To my sister-in-law and her husband, who came all the way from Florida to be here today, Patsy and Don Irvin
- To Cheryl Post, who I am so grateful is here today. Cheryl—Manning occupies a huge place in my heart. I would not be here without him—and I know that he is here with us today
- To Pablo and Inez Valenzuela, for their many years of wonderful friendship and support
- To my friends from The Group—what a long, but great road it has been
- To all my friends and supporters from the San Fernando Valley. You are not losing an Assemblyman, you are gaining a Speaker

- To The Reverend Norman Dean Copeland and Cantor Joseph Malovany, for reminding us of the larger purpose behind our work

- To Antonio Villaraigosa, for the incredible passion and commitment you brought to the Speakership
- To Lieutenant Governor Cruz Bustamante, I take enormous pride in having served under the brilliant leadership of two Latino Speakers. I pledge to continue both your efforts to serve all Californians!
- To Governor Davis and Senator Burton, I am honored by your presence—and I look forward to having a wonderful time working together with you two guys

- To the other statewide constitutional officers here today—State Treasurer Phil Angelides, and Superintendent of Public Instruction Delaine Eastin
- To my fellow Members who stood by my side to make this day possible; I will never forget your help in making this happen. You will be a true part of this leadership
- And, finally, to my wonderful staff—who put their hearts into their jobs. I am forever grateful.

My friends, there's glory in these walls. For 150 years, the State Assembly has been the place where men and women from all over California—from different backgrounds and different walks of life—have come together to solve problems—plan California's future—and stand up for hard-working Californians.

We all come here with different beliefs about what should be done for this great state—and different ideas about how it should be done.

But despite these differences, we have all come here for one reason: fundamentally, all of us—all of us—share a deep concern about our state's future and a compelling desire to make a difference for her people.

For this reason, it is incumbent upon us to respect each other for fighting hard for the communities we represent, and yet, at the same time, seek the common ground necessary to create a vision and plan for California's future.

And what a glorious future it could be!

As we all have witnessed, every day, dignitaries from all over the world visit this Capital to witness the genius of California.

They come to see our incredible economy. They come to understand what makes our state the global leader in entertainment and invention, technology and trade. They seek us out as a model of democracy and diversity.

In fact, no where else on earth do more diverse communities come together to live and work.

With the eyes of the world looking towards us, we are, in my judgment, at the threshold of a defining moment.

It is a time of unparalleled economic prosperity and a time of brilliant financial growth. Yet, it is a time of increasing economic disparity, vast unmet needs, and a gaping infrastructure deficit.

There has never been a time in our recent history of such unique opportunities and such colossal challenges.

This is a moment crying out for dedicated, creative leadership that transforms sheer change into real progress.

Republican Leader Scott Baugh and I share a goal—this is the time to do “something great for California.”

But, let's not kid ourselves, today we are facing a real problem. Out there—beyond the rooms where the deals are made, far away from the halls of power—many hard-working Californians no longer believe that what we do here—really matters.

They don't believe that we're looking out for their best interests. In fact, they don't believe that government works—and they certainly don't believe it works for them.

It is time we gave Californians faith in their government again. We must show that we are solving real problems, and that we are working hard for those who are working hard. That's our job.

Here's how I believe we should do it:

First, we should put aside our squabbles and pour every ounce of our energy into finding solutions that work—for all Californians.

That doesn't mean any of us should give up our beliefs. When we disagree, let's get the issues out on the table and hash out our differences.

Let's park our egos at the door, reach decisions, and get things done.

Second, let's make sure that all Members get every opportunity to rise to the occasion and give this great state their very best.

In part, that means providing us with the best possible information, resources, and, most importantly, training to do our jobs.

Our success in terms of schools for legislators and staff has been a product of both parties working together.

And if you will permit me a point of personal privilege, ladies and gentlemen, today I'm pleased to announce that a classroom at the newly-created Capital Institute will be named for our colleague, former Republican Leader Bill Leonard, who has been essential in making our program a reality.

Third, when we pass a law, we need to have oversight.

- Is the law doing what it is supposed to do?
- Are the bureaucrats providing the best possible service to the public?
- Is the executive branch implementing our vision of the laws that we write?

And I know that the Governor is just as interested in oversight as we are.

When services fall short, it's hard working Californians that get hurt the most—and that is just not acceptable. If we want Californians to have confidence in us again, we have to get it the old fashioned way—by earning it.

That is why, today I am announcing that we are establishing an Office of Oversight which will report directly to me.

Fourth, we have to create a new culture in our institution that embraces technology—with the ultimate goal of better serving our constituents and creating greater access to government for every Californian.

We need to bring the voice of the people into this chamber. That's why I think we should move towards the day when every bill has its own web page—with a chat room where Californians can make their ideas heard.

Fifth, we need to pass smart new laws to keep up with the dynamic changes sweeping the state. But we need to do more.

We need to show that government can both add and subtract. That we can get rid of old laws that are out-of-date and out-of-touch with the new California.

Sixth, and finally, we need to plan for the future. That's why our thinking has to go beyond the next budget cycle and look 5 and even 10 years ahead. We have to look down the road—and not just play catch-up.

As your new Speaker, I pledge to provide the kind of leadership that encourages us to do all these things—to spend our time finding solutions for California and not losing sight of what we were sent here to do.

I pledge to support a culture that honors each member of this House as an individual—a member of this House first, and a member of his or her own party—second.

I have spoken about the opportunities and challenges we face and about how we should approach our work.

Now, I would like to make some brief remarks about the goals that I believe are important for us to undertake, understanding clearly that everything we do in this House is a collaborative effort, with each of us having a responsibility to our own independent perspective and conscience.

In everything we do, I believe that one fact forms the foundation for our work: California is changing. We are at the dawn of a New Economy that will completely transform the way we work and live. California is ground zero for the New Economy. I am convinced that we have to embrace it.

But first, we have to understand it. The New Economy is found in places where entrepreneurs and innovators are creating jobs and changing the world. But it is found in other places too.

The New Economy is the auto mechanic who works on cars with more computing power than the capsule that took Neil Armstrong to the moon.

The New Economy is the farmer using satellite mapping to grow better and stronger crops.

The New Economy is the small, San Fernando Valley multimedia firm whose creative use of technology entertains and informs people around the world.

The New Economy is the nurse using advanced diagnostic technology to get patients on track for recovery.

The New Economy is the labor union that provides training for its members—who need to compete and win in a global marketplace.

The New Economy is all the workplaces that have broken down the old hierarchies and given workers a greater voice.

We have to be on the side of the New Economy—making sure that its promise reaches every Californian.

But let me be clear: as we embrace the New Economy, we must never forget our fundamental values.

Though there are more billionaires than ever, there are still far too many Californians stuck in a cycle of poverty and still far too many who, in spite of working their guts out, are not able to get ahead.

- We should never stop fighting for social justice.
- We should never stop reaching out to those who are being left out.
- We should never stop helping those who are getting left behind.

There will always be those Californians who don't have powerful interests on their side. It is up to us, in my judgment, to stand up for them and provide common-sense solutions to the issues they face every day of their lives.

That is why we should prioritize affordable housing in the places where economic growth is taking off with incentives to local governments.

We should support efforts to cut down commute times by connecting jobs and housing together—helping people work where they live and live where they work.

We should do everything we can to promote child care for working parents.

We should find creative answers to Information Age questions like privacy and Internet taxation.

We should provide better services for the mentally ill, so that they get adequate treatment and instead—do not end up homeless or behind bars.

We should take new, creative steps to ensure Californians have access to quality health care.

Finally, in the 21st century, education is infrastructure. We must make an investment in the minds of Californians a top priority. It is an embarrassment that in a state with the plenty of California, we invest less in our schoolchildren than all but a handful of other states.

I want to commend the Governor for his comprehensive education proposal. And I believe we should supplement it with more help for those students with the greatest need.

I believe it is time that we connected schools to their neighborhoods by combining them with community centers.

I believe in building smaller schools where kids are less likely to fall through the cracks.

I believe in valuing education enough to show that we value teachers and the nobility of the teaching profession.

I want to cut through the state's bureaucratic red-tape so that local communities have more control and less paperwork.

And I will work to strengthen our community colleges because, for Californians of all ages, they are the true classrooms of the New Economy—where we are training the nurses, technicians, and computer analysts we need.

Not all of the challenges Californians face will be solved through legislation. We live in a high-pressure, fast-paced, hectic world.

Television and traffic. Car alarms and dead bolts. Taking care of our children and parents. We don't know our neighbors—and our kids' friends live across town. The values we share and the duties we owe to one another sometimes get ignored.

The balance between rights and responsibilities, between opportunities and obligations, sometimes gets forgotten. The bonds that tie us together sometimes get frayed.

But nevertheless, I believe that we can make a difference. By our actions here, we in the Assembly can show the whole state that there is a better way. That people with different views and different experiences and different backgrounds can come together, forge a common ground, and work towards the common good.

We won't always agree, but we must always remember why we are here—to achieve results for the people we represent.

Solving problems, planning for the future, fighting for every Californian, calling out the best in all our people.

That's the true meaning of the oath I have sworn before you and before God. That's the job we have before us.

Now, let's go to work. Thank you.

At 10:40 a.m., Hon. Antonio R. Villaraigosa, 45th District, presiding

Lena Evans, known to many as "Nanie" joined her predeceased loved ones on April 7, 2000, while surrounded by many family members and friends, after suffering an unexpected stroke in Sacramento on April 6, 2000.

"Nanie" was a longtime Plumas County resident, born on September 27, 1906, to Guy and Carmelina Sobrio on the Sobrio Ranch in Vinton, California. She attended Summit School in Vinton and developed a hard work ethic while helping her family on their ranch. She married Chester Guidici in 1922 and had three children from that union. She and Chester ranched in Vinton and eventually purchased a ranch in the Mohawk Valley near Clio, California. Following the death of Chester in 1936, she continued to work the Mohawk Valley Ranch alone until she married Forrest Evans in 1940. From 1940 until Forrest's death in 1955 she continued to ranch in Mohawk Valley with Forrest. During that time they had one child. In 1956, she retired from ranching and moved to Portola where she worked at the Chuck Wagon Restaurant and Kehoe Drugs. She was a member of the Vinton Grange for years and a former member and officer in the Rebekah Lodge in Portola.

For the last several years "Nanie" has enjoyed working on the Mohawk Ranch from late spring through the fall with her daughter Judy Guidici and spending the winters in the Sacramento area at the homes of her daughter Bernice Hagen and granddaughter Karen Locke.

In the week preceding her death, at 93 years of age, "Nanie" demonstrated her spunk, energy and joy of life by attending and cheering the Kings to victory with one of her great-grandsons and then a few days later enjoying a highly competitive round of miniature golf with another great-grandson.

The spirit and joy of "Nanie" will live on in all who knew her, especially in her children Judy Guidici of Clío, Loren Guidici of Portola, Bernice Hagen of Fair Oaks, a brother Alex Sorbriio of Reno, a sister Carmen Robinson of San Lorenzo, 8 grandchildren, 13 great-grandchildren, and 3 great great grandchildren. In addition to her two husbands, "Nanie" was preceded in death by her daughter Florence Guidici, her sisters Sylvia Bergeret and Margaret Landaburu, her grandson Tommy Guidici and great-grandson Thomas Sanchez.

Upon request of Assembly Member Shelley, Assembly Member Davis was granted unanimous consent that the following statement of legislative intent be printed in the Journal:

Legislative Intent—Assembly Bill No. 12

April 27, 2000

*E. Dotson Wilson, Chief Clerk
California State Assembly
State Capitol, Room 3196
Sacramento, California*

Dear Mr. Wilson: The purpose of this letter is to clarify the legislative intent behind two provisions of my bill, AB 12 (Chapter 531, Statutes of 1999) relating to second opinions. AB 12 generally allows a health plan enrollee to obtain a second opinion if specified conditions are met.

One of the key provisions of my bill allows a health plan enrollee to obtain a second opinion outside of their contracting medical group when they were requesting a second opinion from a specialist. One of the major issues revolved around who would pay for the second opinion—the health plan or the enrollee's contracting medical group. When this provision was added to my bill on August 16, 1999 in the Senate Insurance Committee, the committee amendments required the health plan to pay for second opinions outside of the contracting medical group. The health plans opposed this provision saying that it would require the health plan to pay the second opinion provider at the higher fee-for-service rates. This provision was further amended on August 24, 1999 and requires the plan to incur the cost of the second opinion "or negotiate the fee arrangements of that second opinion." The legislative intent was to still require the health plan to pay for the second opinion but allow the health plan to negotiate what the fee was. It was not the intent of the legislation to allow the health plan to unilaterally require the contracting medical group to pay for second opinions outside of that medical group.

Another contentious provision of the bill relates to where the treatment was to take place. While the bill allows a health plan enrollee to obtain a second opinion outside of their contracting medical group, this is just a second opinion. The enrollee must obtain any necessary services "pursuant to the specific contract under which the enrollee is entitled to health care services" (Section 1383.15 (j)). Hence if a enrollee's contract requires the enrollee to obtain services from their contracting medical group they will be required to do so. If the contract allows the enrollee to go outside of the contracting medical group, then the enrollee may receive services outside of the contracting medical group. It is not the intent of this bill to change where an enrollee must obtain services. The provisions of this bill only apply to the provision of a second opinion.

AB 12 is an important part of last year's health care reform. It is imperative that it be implemented correctly.

Sincerely,

SUSAN A. DAVIS, Assembly Member
Seventy-sixth District

PRAYER

Upon invitation of Speaker Hertzberg, the following prayer was offered by Assembly Chaplain Rabbi Mona Alfi:

Beginning tonight, Jews worldwide will be observing Yom HaShoah—Holocaust Memorial Day. It is often asked: “Where was God during the Holocaust?”

Where was God?

God could be found in the actions of people who did not lose their humanity in a time of great brutality.

God could be found in the bravery of the countless Christians who risked their own lives, and the lives of their families, to hide a Jew.

God could be found in the hearts of the Japanese-American soldiers who liberated Dachau while their own families were interned at home.

God could be found in the spirits of African-American soldiers who proudly served their country even as they were forced to serve in segregated armed forces.

God could be found in the idealism and determination of the American people, who fought a war not only against tyranny but also for their belief in freedom for all peoples.

Where was God? God can be found within each of us, when we act with courage and compassion, basic decency and the ability to recognize our shared humanity.

May it be the will of the Creator that we be so blessed as to find God in ourselves, in everyday acts of bravery, and extraordinary acts of kindness. May this be God’s will.—AMEN.

REPORTS

The following letter of transmittal was presented by the Chief Clerk, and ordered printed in the Journal:

California State Auditor

99131

April 5, 2000

*The Honorable Speaker of the Assembly
The Honorable Members of the Assembly
of the Legislature of California
State Capitol, Room 3196
Sacramento, California*

Members of the Assembly: As requested by the Joint Legislative Audit Committee, the Bureau of State Audits presents its audit report concerning our evaluation of the State Board of Education (board), the Superintendent of Public Instruction (superintendent), and the California Department of Education's (department) implementation and administration of the Standardized Testing and Reporting (STAR) program. The State uses this program to assess the academic achievement of public school students in grades 2 through 11.

This report concludes that ongoing conflicts between the board and the superintendent about their respective roles and responsibilities have negatively affected all aspects of the STAR program. Implementing the program has been especially difficult because, due to their conflicts, the superintendent has never developed an annual implementation plan, as state law requires. Moreover, despite having a contract for the spring 2000 test cycle that better clarifies the responsibilities of the board and department, the test publisher continues to receive conflicting instructions.

The test publisher's performance in the first two years of the STAR program—spring 1998 and 1999 test cycles—has been problematic. Missed deadlines, unreliable data, and inaccurate reporting of achievement test results have plagued the program. Unrealistic timelines that the Legislature imposed for designating an achievement test did not allow the board time to thoroughly investigate potential publishers before making a final selection. Also, the superintendent did not fulfill a legal requirement to establish a formal method for working with the test publisher and as a result there appears to have been very little monitoring of the test publisher's performance. These factors contributed to the test publisher's unsatisfactory performance.

Some action has been taken by the Legislature, board, department, and test publisher to improve the implementation and administration of the STAR program. But further improvements must be made to ensure the success of the Public Schools Accountability Act, which places greater emphasis on the accuracy, completeness, and timeliness of the STAR achievement test results. It requires these results to be included in the State's Academic Performance Index (API) that the department will use for the first time in fall of 2000 to determine how to distribute funds earmarked for schools and teachers. Currently, the results of the achievement test are the sole component of the API and, therefore, the only determinant of these monetary awards.

Respectfully submitted,

MARY P. NOBLE
Acting State Auditor

PRAYER

Upon invitation of Speaker Hertzberg, the following prayer was offered by Assembly Chaplain Rabbi Mona Alfi:

In memory of Cardinal John O'Connor of New York, who passed away yesterday, I would like to quote Saint Francis of Sales, who was noted for his ecumenical work and his concern for the spirituality of the laity. Cardinal O'Connor served his community faithfully. In an interview shortly before his death, the Cardinal stated that he understood that at times he had been seen as a controversial political figure. However, he himself had desired nothing more than to be a parish priest or a teacher, and he hoped that in the end, he would simply be remembered for being a good priest. Similarly, Saint Francis of Sales understood the importance of ongoing self-reflection for the advancement of the human spirit. He taught:

Have patience with all things, but chiefly have patience with yourself. Do not lose courage in considering your own imperfections, but instantly set about remedying them—every day begin the task anew.

By wrestling with the parts of ourselves that still need to grow or be refined, we do more than merely cover up our mistakes or weaknesses. What ultimately is accomplished by the act of wrestling with ourselves is the ennobling of the human spirit.

Saint Francis reminds us that the process of self-examination is as important as the goal of bettering oneself. By each day examining ourselves anew, we are given the opportunity to see areas in which we can not only better ourselves, but also to be able to take pride in our development and growth as human beings. While much of the world might have seen only the powerful public persona of Cardinal O'Connor, he himself understood the importance to be found in the modest achievements of perfecting himself as a man.

May it be the will of the Creator that we shall always have the courage to look at ourselves with honesty, the humility to know that there is always room for improvement, and the capacity to find joy in even the most modest of our achievements. May this be God's will.—AMEN.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE TO THE FLAG

Upon request of Speaker Hertzberg, Assembly Member Leonard then led the Assembly in the pledge of allegiance to the Flag.

PRAYER

Upon invitation of Speaker Hertzberg, the following prayer was offered by Assembly Chaplain Rabbi Mona Alfi:

An ancient Greek philosopher taught:

A good man or woman does nothing for the sake of appearances, but for the sake of doing right. (Epicetetus)

For politicians, appearances can not be easily dismissed as mere vanity. Often times how a situation appears to be is more important than what it actually is. The sheer appearance of something can create or destroy an important endeavor or career.

However, it is precisely because of the importance of appearances, that the true value of a person's goodness can be measured by the extent of how their conscience dictates them to act.

Courage for those involved in the public arena comes not in blithely dismissing the importance of appearances, rather, it is in the very act of knowing exactly how important appearances are, and still taking a stand simply because they know that it is the right thing to do.

May the Holy One of Blessing grant us the ability to always discern the right path, and the fortitude to walk it. May this be God's will.—AMEN.

Upon request of Speaker Hertzberg, Assembly Member Cardenas then led the Assembly in the pledge of allegiance to the Flag.

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR

The following message from the Governor was received and ordered printed in the Journal:

Governor's Office, Sacramento
May 8, 2000

To the Members of the Assembly:

I am signing Assembly Bill No. 696 with the following comments.

Last year I vetoed Assembly Bill No. 312, which was similar in several respects to this bill. At that time it was believed that the recently enacted charter school funding model, contained in Assembly Bill No. 1115, would accommodate the funding needs of the existing and very successful Soledad Enrichment Action charter school. Since that premise has proved to be incorrect, I am signing this bill.

I recognize the outstanding record of achievement of this school, as reflected in its graduation, college attendance, and employment rates. Despite the troubled backgrounds of many of its students, the Soledad Enrichment Action charter school has had remarkable success in enabling its students to meet higher expectations. I applaud their accomplished history.

Sincerely,

GRAY DAVIS

REPORTS

The following letters of transmittal were presented by the Chief Clerk, and ordered printed in the Journal:

California State Auditor

Investigative Report I2000-1

April 11, 2000

*The Honorable Speaker of the Assembly
The Honorable Members of the Assembly
of the Legislature of California
State Capitol, Room 3196
Sacramento, California*

Members of the Assembly: Pursuant to the California Whistleblower Protection Act, the Bureau of State Audits presents its investigative report summarizing investigations of improper governmental activity completed from July through December 1999.

Respectfully submitted,

MARY P. NOBLE
Acting State Auditor

Above report referred to the Committee on Consumer Protection, Governmental Efficiency and Economic Development.

The Honorable Members of the Assembly
of the Legislature of California
State Capitol, Room 3196
Sacramento, California*

Members of the Assembly: As requested by the Joint Legislative Audit Committee, the Bureau of State Audits presents its audit report concerning the County Veterans Service Officer program (CVSO program). This report concludes that although the CVSO program benefits veterans, methods for measuring its effectiveness need improvement, and the California Department of Veterans Affairs (department) should improve its administrative oversight of the program. Specifically, counties that participate in the CVSO program (CVSOs) and the department should improve the reporting of benefits and savings associated with the CVSO program, and the department's report to the Legislature and letters to counties citing such accomplishments should be viewed with caution. Even if the department reported accurate figures, such benefits and savings should not serve as the only measure of the success of the CVSO program. Instead, CVSOs should do more to analyze and improve their own operations, and the department should do more to improve the program statewide. In addition, the department does not ensure that its allocations of funds to the counties are based on accurate data, and it has not maximized its federal reimbursement of the CVSOs' cost-saving activities. Finally, the department should improve its oversight of the training and accreditation process for CVSO personnel.

Respectfully submitted,

MARY P. NOBLE
Acting State Auditor

Above report referred to the Committee on Veterans Affairs.

Members of the Assembly: As requested by the Joint Legislative Audit Committee, the Bureau of State Audits presents its audit report concerning whether the State-County Property Tax Administration Program (program) is still needed.

This report concludes that continuing the program makes good business sense, but the Department of Finance (department) needs to improve its oversight of the program. Specifically, the program continues to generate additional tax revenues that benefit both the State and the counties. Additionally, it provides counties a much-needed infusion of funds that reduces existing work backlogs and strengthens local property tax systems. However, the department currently makes its decisions to fund county loans based on insufficient and unverified county-reported data.

Respectfully submitted,

MARY P. NOBLE
Acting State Auditor

Above report referred to the Committee on Revenue and Taxation.

State Capitol, Room 3196

Members of the Assembly: As requested by the Joint Legislative Audit Committee, the Bureau of State Audits presents its audit report concerning the Housing Opportunities for Persons With AIDS (HOPWA) program administered locally by the Los Angeles Housing Department (department). At the federal level, U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) administers the HOPWA program. Specifically, we were asked to determine whether the HOPWA program is achieving its goals and being run effectively, whether the funds are appropriately used and whether they are in jeopardy of being revoked by the federal government, and finally whether conflicts of interest exist in the actions of its advisory committee.

This report concludes that while the department has used HOPWA funds for appropriate purposes, it has been slow to allocate and spend grant funds. However, as a result of several waivers granted by HUD, the program has not lost any federal funds because of delays in spending. Also, the HOPWA program does not know whether it has met its program goals and, as a result, cannot adequately plan for the future. Finally, certain actions of the HOPWA advisory committee raise questions about the appearance of conflict of interest.

Respectfully submitted,

MARY P. NOBLE
Acting State Auditor

Above report referred to the Committee on Housing and Community Development.

*The Honorable Speaker of the Assembly
The Honorable Members of the Assembly
of the Legislature of California
State Capitol, Room 3196
Sacramento, California*

Members of the Assembly: The Bureau of State Audits presents its report concerning the Department of Social Services (department) entitled Department of Social Services: It Still Needs to Improve Its Oversight of County Child Welfare Services. This audit was performed as a follow up to our January 1998 report on Kern County's child protective services program, which included a review of the department's oversight of county child welfare services programs. We reviewed the actions the department has taken in response to the recommendations we made in our January 1998 report.

This report concludes that the department has improved its oversight of county child welfare services, but it has not fully implemented all state auditor recommendations from our 1998 report. Specifically, the department conducted timely on-site compliance reviews of each county and its plan for future reviews indicates that the department will comply with the requirement to conduct reviews every three years. However, the department hinders the effectiveness of these reviews by not promptly issuing written compliance reports and ensuring counties take corrective action. In addition, although it now reviews the timeliness of county caseworkers' emergency response to allegations of abuse and neglect, the department does not always require corrective action when the counties fail to respond quickly to emergencies. Further, because the department does not review county administrative practices during compliance reviews, the department does not know whether county practices that affect the lives of children are adequate. Moreover, the department has yet to analyze existing data on children's deaths from abuse and neglect to identify potential systemic weaknesses in child welfare services or to consider the need for legislative or regulatory changes to reduce these fatalities. Finally, to the department's credit, it continues to provide leadership to county child welfare agencies through its Structured Decision-Making Project designed to assist California's caseworkers in making critical assessments and decisions about cases.

Respectfully submitted,

MARY P. NOBLE
Acting State Auditor

Above report referred to the Committee on Human Services.

*The Honorable Speaker of the Assembly
The Honorable Members of the Assembly
of the Legislature of California
State Capitol, Room 3196
Sacramento, California*

Members of the Assembly: As required by California Government Code, Section 8542, et. seq., the Bureau of State Audits (bureau) presents its audit report concerning our review of the Department of Health Services' (department) compliance with federal laws and regulations applicable to the Capitalization Grants for Drinking Water State Revolving Fund program (program) for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1999. The department contracted with the bureau to perform this audit to satisfy a federal audit requirement.

This report concludes that the department did not always comply with federal laws and regulations governing allowable costs and cost principles. Although none of the problems we identified are significant to the program, when the department does not comply with the requirements, it risks incurring costs that the federal government may later disallow.

Respectfully submitted,

PRAYER

Upon invitation of Speaker Hertzberg, the following prayer was offered by Assembly Chaplain Rabbi Mona Alfi:

Ralph Waldo Emerson, known for his commentaries on human nature, wrote:

God offers to every mind its choice between truth and repose. Take which you please—you can never have both.

Wisdom and a quiet conscience can not co-exist. A mind in pursuit of truth must be open to what that truth might ask of him. As any one who follows the daily news knows, if one wants a tranquil spirit then they must shield their eyes from the world.

In the choice between truth and repose, Emerson challenges us to choose truth, and with truth, we must also choose action.

May it be the will of the Creator that we not be satisfied in taking the easy path, but rather, may our spirits be fulfilled in the pursuit of acting on our truths. May this be God's will.—AMEN.

Upon request of Speaker Hertzberg, Assembly Member Davis then led the Assembly in the pledge of allegiance to the Flag.
