LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL'S DIGEST

Preprint AB 37, as proposed, McAlister Eminent domain

This bill, to be operative July 1, 1977, revises existing statutory provisions relating to eminent domain, to make substantive and clarifying changes, to incorporate recommendations of the California Law Revision Commission, including the following changes

(1) Under existing law, various public agencies are required to adopt resolutions of public necessity before exercising the power of condemnation

This bill extends the requirement to all public agencies with a uniform procedure to be followed, except as otherwise provided for specified entities

(2) Existing law does not prescribe any procedures for the condemnation of property for future use

This bill makes specific provision for such condemnation

(3) Under existing law various public agencies are specifically authorized to condemn property in exchange for property needed for public use

This bill would provide a procedure, applicable to public agencies generally, to accomplish such condemnation

(4) Under existing law a condemnor could acquire possession of the property upon deposit of money prior to judgement of condemnation only if the property is to be taken for right-of-way, or reservoir purposes

This bill would expand such authorization to all public agencies, specify procedures therefor, with various safeguards provided, including restrictions in cases of hardship

(5) Under existing law a condemnor may, prior to condemnation, enter property for purposes of surveys and tests, subject to damages for injury, including court costs and reasonable attorneys fees

This bill limits the award of attorneys' fees to cases where the entry is unlawful or if the condemnor acts abusively or lacking in due regard for the owner, or substantially fails to comply with a court order

This bill, however, expands the recovery in such cases to include recovery for expenses of litigation, as defined

(6) Existing law contains various provisions relating to the condemnation of property of little market value which remains after a partial condemnation

This bill provides a general procedure for such condemnation

(7) Under existing law a procedure is specified to determine priorities in condemnation devoted to a public use

This bill makes various changes in such procedures, including the requirement of joint use of property sought to be condemned upon various conditions of compatability

(8) Under existing law provision is made to provide procedures for the discovery of evidence in eminent domain proceedings

This bill makes several changes in the procedures, including discovery without court order in certain situations

(9) Under existing law compensation is awarded on the basis of the value of property at the time of the issuance of summons or, in certain cases, at the date of trial

This bill substitutes the date of commencement of the action for the date of summons issue as the date at valuation, authorizes a valuation date based on the date of court deposit of probable compensation for the property, makes specific provision for a valuation date in case of a new trial, and makes other changes

(10) Under existing law no provision is made to make compensable "business good will" in condemnation awards

This bill makes provision for such compensation

(11) Under existing law certain fixed equipment designed for manufacturing or industrial purposes in land to be condemned is included in determining compensation

This bill would extend the compensation to any facility, machinery or equipment which cannot be removed without a substantial economic loss in value or without substantial damages to the condemned land
