This bill would eliminate the Department of Corporations. It would create a Department of Financial Services, with a Division of Financial Institutions. The chief officer of the Department of Financial Services would be the Commissioner of Financial Services. The bill would also create the Department of Managed Health Care in the Business, Transportation and Housing Agency. The chief officer would be the Director of the Department of Managed Health Care. The bill would transfer responsibilities of the Department of Corporations to the Department of Financial Services, except for those responsibilities relating to health care service plans, which would be transferred to the Department of Managed Health Care. The Department of Financial Services would succeed to the functions of the Department of Financial Institutions, with the Division of Financial Institutions having specific responsibilities with respect to the regulation of certain financial institutions.
