PREPRINT ASSEMBLY BILLS—2003–04 SESSION

Preprint A.B. No. 1—Dymally.

An act to add Division 1.4 (commencing with Section 4700) to the Financial Code, relating to predatory lending.

LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL'S DIGEST

Existing law imposes various restrictions on certain consumer loans defined as “covered loans,” including prohibiting a covered loan from including a prepayment fee or penalty after the first 36 months after the date of consummation of the loan, prohibiting a person originating a covered loan from making or arranging the loan unless the person reasonably believes at the time the loan is consummated that the consumer will be able to make the scheduled payments, and prohibiting a person who originates a covered loan from recommending or encouraging a consumer to default on an existing consumer loan or other debt in connection with the solicitation or making of a covered loan that refinances all or any portion of the existing consumer loan or debt. This bill would enact additional provisions relating to certain home loans and high-cost home loans. The bill would limit prepayment penalties by lenders on these loans under certain conditions. The bill would prohibit a lender from making a high-cost home loan unless the lender reasonably believes at the time the loan is consummated that the obligor will be able to make the scheduled payments. The bill would prohibit a lender from recommending or encouraging default on an existing loan or other debt prior to and in connection with the closing or planned closing of a consumer home loan that refinances all or any portion of the existing loan or debt. The bill would prohibit a lender from making a high-cost home loan without first receiving certification from a counselor approved by the Commissioner of Financial Institutions that the borrower has received counseling on the advisability of the loan transaction and the appropriate loan for the borrower.

Proclamation by Governor Gray Davis

(Convened December 9, 2002)

WHEREAS, an extraordinary occasion has arisen and now exists requiring that the Legislature of the State of California be convened in special session; and,

WHEREAS, the national and State economies have recovered very little from the recession of 2001; and,

WHEREAS, the economies of the State's major trading partners continue to struggle, and thus demand for California-made goods and services in weak abroad; and,

WHEREAS, the continuing decline in the stock market will further reduce personal income tax receipts from capital gains and stock options; and,

WHEREAS, the expected economic recovery from the national recession has not materialized as anticipated, thus reducing personal income tax, sales tax, and corporation tax revenues; and,

WHEREAS, on January 8, 2002 the Legislature was convened to meet in extraordinary session to make General Fund spending reductions in the 2001-02 fiscal year; and,

WHEREAS, the Legislative Analyst's Office and the Department of Finance are now projecting a budget shortfall exceeding $21 billion over the 2002-03 and 2003-04 fiscal years; and,

WHEREAS, California's local, public, health care delivery systems face operating deficits now and in the future;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, GRAY DAVIS, Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by Section 3(b) Article IV of the Constitution of California, do hereby convene the Legislature of the State of California to meet in special session at Sacramento, California, on the 9th day of December, 2002, at a time appointed by each house of the Legislature of said day for the following purposes:

Proclamation by Governor Gray Davis

(Convened January 23, 2003)

WHEREAS, an extraordinary occasion has arisen and now exists requiring that the Legislature of the State of California be convened in special session; and

WHEREAS, on December 30, 2002, the Court of Appeal held in the case of Marine Forests Society et al. v. California Coastal Commission et al. that the present statutory scheme of legislative appointment and removal of voting members of the California Coastal Commission violates the separation of powers provisions of the California Constitution; and,

WHEREAS, unless the Court's decision is reversed or modified by further judicial review or unless the matter is addressed by legislation, the California Coastal Commission may be unable to grant permits or issue cease and desist orders that are legally binding; and,

WHEREAS, inability of the Coastal Commission to grant legally binding permits to take effective enforcement actions could cause irreparable harm to California's economy and environment, affecting thousands of individuals who own homes, businesses or other property within the coastal zone; and,

WHEREAS, the Coastal Commission processes almost 2,000 permits per year, including applications for waivers and emergency permits; and,

WHEREAS, if the Coastal Commission cannot approve legally binding permits, hundreds of property owners may be unable to build or make emergency repairs in compliance with the Coastal Act; and,

WHEREAS, if the Coastal Commission cannot issue legally binding cease and desist orders, its ability to protect California's coastal resources will be severely limited; and,

WHEREAS, almost 900 cases are pending before the Coastal Commission involving alleged violations of the Coastal Act, requiring resolution of the Commission's authority as soon as possible to avoid needless litigation, delay and costs to property owners and taxpayers; and,

WHEREAS, the potential inability of the Coastal Commission to discharge its duties under the Coastal Act has created an extraordinary occasion requiring that the Legislature be convened in special session;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, GRAY DAVIS, Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by Article IV, Section 3(b) of the Constitution of the State of California, do hereby convene the legislature of the State of California to meet in special session at Sacramento, California, on the 23rd day of January, 2003, at a time appointed by each house of the Legislature of said day for consideration and adoption of legislation to amend the provisions of the Public Resources Code which provide for appointment and removal of members of the Coastal Commission.
