15. Television Programs.

[Submitted by the initiative and approved by electors, November 3, 1964
In effect December 7, 1964]

An act to preserve free television in California.

The People of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1: This Act shall be known and may be cited as the FREE TELEVISION ACT

SECTION 2 The public has heretofore had available to it over existing television stations and privately owned receiving sets many different categories of free television programs, including telecasts of sporting events, political discussions, original dramatic presentations, variety programs, news programs, motion pictures and other programs of interest. The development of television in the United States has been based upon the public policy of making proper use in the public interest of existing television channels, and providing a broad range of interesting and informative programs free of charge to the viewing public. The information, instruction and entertainment derived from such programs are in the public interest. The development of any subscription television business would have an adverse effect upon presently licensed television stations which do not make a charge to viewers; and would tend to deprive the members of the public, who have made a substantial investment in television receiving equipment, of their present freedom of choice with respect to television programs, and of the information, instruction and entertainment now readily and freely available to them. It would tend to create a monopoly. For those and related reasons it would be contrary to the public policy of this State.

SECTION 3 The public shall have the right to view any television program on a home television set free of charge regardless of how such program is transmitted, whether in whole or in part by wires, lines, radio waves, waveguides, coaxial cable, microwave transmitters or other electronic or mechanical means or any combination thereof; and no person shall, directly or indirectly, make a charge inconsistent with such right. "Television program" includes any program of a category, form, kind, nature or type substantially similar to any category, form, kind, nature or type which was transmitted on or before the effective date hereof free of charge for reception on home television sets. "Home television set" includes any electronic or electrical device generally or customarily used for the reception of television programs in the home.

SECTION 4. The following contracts, agreements, or understandings, where inconsistent with such free transmission, are absolutely void and are not enforceable: (a) those made or executed after the effective date of this Act, and (b) those in existence on such effective date to the extent that they are executory.

SECTION 5: Any person who is injured by the violation of this Act may recover threefold any damages and may enjoin such violation and shall be entitled, in addition, to his costs of suit and reasonable attorneys fees.

SECTION 6: This Act shall not apply to community antenna systems or to hotel or apartment antenna systems, where no charge is made to the viewer based upon or related to program content, or to non-profit educational television systems, whether closed or open circuit.

SECTION 7. If any section, sentence or clause of this Act is adjudged to be unconstitutional or invalid, such adjudication shall not affect the validity of the remaining portion of this Act. It is hereby declared that this Act, and each section, sentence or clause thereof, would have been passed, irrespective of the fact that any one or more sections, sentences or clauses might be adjudged to be unconstitutional or for any other reason invalid. If any part of this Act is invalid in one or more of its applications, that part nevertheless remains in effect in all valid applications. It is the intention in this Act in respect of its subject matter to exercise the power of the State to the full extent of its constitutional power; and so, this Act shall be applicable to that extent regardless of any limitations of its applicability on the ground of a want of constitutional power.

SECTION 8 Chapter 5 of the First Extraordinary Session of 1963, codified as Part 15 of Division 2 of the Revenue and Taxation Code, together with all other acts which may be in conflict herewith, is hereby repealed.

17. Railroad Train Crew.

[Submitted by the initiative and approved by electors, November 3, 1964.

In effect December 7, 1964.]

In act to adopt the Railroad Anti-Featherbedding Law of 1964 by adding Sections 6900.1 and 6900.5 to the Labor Code and repealing Sections 6902, 6902.1, 6902.5 and 6903 of the Labor Code.

The People of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1: A new Section to be numbered 6900.1 is hereby added to the Labor Code, to read:

6900.1. This Act shall be known and cited as the Railroad Anti-Featherbedding Law of 1964.

SECTION 2: A new Section to be numbered 6900.5 is hereby added to the Labor Code, to read:

6900.5. It is the policy of the people of the State of California that featherbedding practices in the railroad industry should be eliminated and that national settlement of labor controversies relating to the manning of trains should be made effective in California. Accordingly the award of the Federal Arbitration Board No 282 appointed by President John F. Kennedy pursuant to Congressional Public Law 88-108 of August 28, 1963, providing for the elimination of excess firemen and brakemen on diesel powered freight trains, or awards made pursuant thereto, shall be made effective in this State. Said award was the culmination of the proceedings originating with the Presidential Railroad Commission which was appointed by President Dwight D. Eisenhower at the request of both railroad labor and management and reported to President Kennedy on February 26, 1962.

Nothing contained in the laws of this State or in any order of any regulatory agency of this State shall prevent a common carrier by railroad from manning its trains in accordance with said award, in accordance with any federal legislation or awards pursuant thereto, or in accordance with any agreement between railroad company and its employees or their representatives.

SECTION 3: Section 6902 of the Labor Code, reading as follows, is hereby repealed:

~~6902. No common carrier operating more than four trains each way per day of 24 hours on any main track or branch line of railroad within this State, or on any part of such main track or branch line, shall run or permit to be run, on any part of such main track or branch line, any freight, mixed, or work train on which there is not employed at least one conductor and the following:—~~

~~(a) One engineer and one fireman for each steam locomotive where the train is propelled or drawn by steam.~~

~~(b) One motorman for each train propelled or run by electricity.~~

~~(c) One motor or power control man for each train propelled by motive power other than steam or electricity.~~

~~(d) Two brakemen.~~

SECTION 4: Section 6902.1 of the Labor Code, reading as follows, is hereby repealed:

~~6902.1. No common carrier operating more than four trains each way per day of 24 hours on any main track or branch line of railroad within this State, or on any part of such main track or branch line, shall run or permit to be run, on any part of such main track or branch line, any freight, mixed, or work train on which there is not employed one engineer and one fireman for each diesel locomotive weighing over forty five tons (45).~~

SECTION 5: Section 6902.5 of the Labor Code, reading as follows, is hereby repealed:

~~6902.5. The Public Utilities Commission of the State of California shall have the power, after hearing had upon its own motion or upon complaint, by general or special order, rule, or regulation, or otherwise, to require each common carrier by railroad within the State of California to operate its trains, with such number of brakemen as are necessary to promote the safety of its employees, passengers,~~

~~and the public; provided, however, that the Commission shall not require the employment of such number of brakemen as will result in feather-bed practices.~~

SECTION 6: Section 6903 of the Labor Code, reading as follows, is hereby repealed:

~~6903. No common carrier operating more than four trains each way per day of 24 hours on any main track or branch line of railroad within this State, or on any part of such main track or branch line, shall run or permit to be run, on any part of such main track or branch line, any self propelled pile driver, car, or vehicle which has sufficient power to draw or propel itself and one or more standard cars, or any train propelled or drawn by steam, electricity, or other motive power other than those trains described in Sections 6901, 6902, and 6902.1 on which there is not employed at least one conductor and one brakeman and the following:~~

~~(a) One engineer and one fireman for each diesel locomotive.~~

~~(b) One motorman for each train propelled or drawn by electricity.~~

~~(c) One motor or power control man for each train propelled by motive power other than diesel or electricity.~~

~~(d) One steam engineer or one motor or power control man for each self-propelled pile driver or other self-propelled vehicle which has sufficient power to draw or propel itself and one or more standard cars. The provisions of this section with reference to self-propelled pile drivers or other self-propelled vehicles apply only where the self-propelled pile driver or vehicle is moved under its own power from one permanent station or siding to the place of work if the distance is one half mile or more.~~

~~The provisions of this section shall not be applicable to any diesel locomotive weighing forty five tons (45) or less.~~
