Any additional increment of interest produced by increasing the rate of interest upon a loan pursuant to this subdivision shall be transmitted or forwarded to the entity for deposit in the specified fund from which the loan was made, or, if no such fund exists, or the public entity has directed otherwise, then to the general fund of such entity.

If the subsequent purchaser or transferee does not meet the agency's eligibility requirements, the agency shall require acceleration of repayment of the principal balance of the loan to be all due and payable upon the sale or transfer of the property.

(b) With respect to mortgage loans made prior to July 1, 1979, the agency may waive the requirements of subdivision (a) when necessary to permit participation in mortgage insurance, guarantee, or purchase programs, or when the provisions of subdivision (a) would interfere with the financial structuring or the administration of any bond financing program. The requirements of subdivision (a) may be waived with respect to any mortgage loan made on or after July 1, 1979, only if the loan is federally assisted or insured and the waiver is necessary to obtain such federal assistance or insurance. The Legislature finds and declares that existing petroleum franchise agreements provide for their automatic termination upon the death of the franchisee The Legislature finds and declares that the protections hereinafter provided encourage the fair and efficient functioning of a free market economy within the petroleum industry.

SEC. 2. Section 21140.6 is added to the Business and Professions Code, to read·

21140.6. (a) On and after January 1, 1980, it shall be unlawful to include in any franchise agreement any term which provides for the termination of the franchise by the franchisor upon the death of the franchisee if the franchisee, prior to his demise, designates a successor-in-interest in a form prescribed by and delivered to the franchisor

(b) For the purposes of this section, "successor-in-interest" shall be restricted to either a surviving spouse or adult child of the franchisee, provided that such spouse or child, at the time of the franchisee's death, shall meet the reasonable qualifications then being required of dealers by the franchisor for the operation of such service stations.

(c) This section shall not apply to a "trial franchise" as defined in the Petroleum Marketing Practices Act (Public Law 95-297).

(d) The designated successor-in-interest shall be allowed 21 days after the death of the franchisee to give written notice of his or her election to assume and operate the franchise. The notification shall contain such information regarding business experience and creditworthiness as is reasonably required by the franchisor. The successor-in-interest must offer to assume the franchise in writing three days (excluding Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays) after such election and must commence operation of the franchise within 10 days after it has been assumed.

(e) Franchisors may require that franchisees desiring to designate a successor-in-interest pursuant to this section deposit with the franchisor at the time of such designation such sum as would be reasonably estimated to be necessary to compensate the franchisor for rent for a period of 21 days. This deposit is intended to compensate the franchisor in the event the designated successor-in-interest fails for such period after the death of the franchisee to assume the franchise obligation. Any unearned portion of such deposit resulting from the successor-in-interest assuming responsibility for the franchise sooner than 21 days after the date of the franchisee's death, or from the temporary operation of the facility by the franchisor during such 21 days, shall be refunded by the franchisor to the estate or legal representative of the deceased franchisee. In addition to such deposit, the franchisor may require a franchisee desiring to qualify under this section to arrange for the discharge or performance of other franchise obligations such as, but not limited to, insurance, but excluding any obligation to be open to the public, for a period of up to 21 days after his demise.

(f) The franchise available to the successor-in-interest pursuant to this section is intended to be no greater than or less than the franchise as it existed in the name of the deceased franchisee at the time of such franchisee's death. This section is not intended to expand or diminish the rights of franchisors or franchisees under either federal or state law.

(g) A franchisee may designate a primary and one alternate successor-in-interest. The alternate, if one is designated, shall have no rights under this section in the event of any exercise of rights by the primary successor-in-interest. If an alternate desires to assume and operate the franchise in the event the primary successor-in-interest fails to do so, the alternate must give notice of such election and otherwise comply with paragraph (d) of this section.

(h) Unless otherwise specifically provided herein, any actions to be performed by the franchisor or by the successor-in-interest hereunder shall in each instance be performed within a reasonable time.

(i) Unless the franchisor otherwise agrees in writing, there shall be no operation of the franchise following the death of the franchisee by anyone (other than the franchisor for its own account) until all parts of the franchise have been expressly assumed as herein provided, including, but not limited to, such items as lease or leases, products agreement, loaned equipment agreement, federal and state environmental law compliance agreements, licensing, and tax permits.

(j) Following the death of a franchisee, and prior to the operation of the franchise by the successor-in-interest as herein provided, the franchisor shall have the option to operate the franchise by contract or otherwise for its own account without obligation or duty to the heirs or estate of the deceased franchisee or to the successor-in-interest except for the obligation to account to the heirs or the estate of the deceased franchisee for the inapplicable portion of any prepaid rent or other sums prepaid to the franchisor, and for any physical inventory salvaged from the franchise and used or sold by the franchisor.

(k) If the successor-in-interest assumes the franchise and there has been no intervening operation of the franchise by the franchisor, the successor-in-interest shall account to the heirs or estate of the deceased franchisee for the value or other disposition of personal property of the franchisee located at or related to the franchise.

(l) The liability for failure to comply with this section shall be limited to those damages provided by Section 3300 of the Civil Code. Any action pursuant to this section shall be commenced within one year after the cause of action accrued.

CHAPTER 973

An act to amend Section 430.10 of, and to add and repeal Section 411.35 of, the Code of Civil Procedure, relating to civil actions.

[Approved by Governor September 22, 1979. Filed with Secretary of State September 22, 1979.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Section 411.35 is added to the Code of Civil Procedure, to read:

411.35. (a) In any action for damages arising out of the professional negligence of a person holding a valid architect's certificate issued pursuant to Chapter 3 (commencing with Section 5500) of Division 3 of the Business and Professions Code, or of a person holding a valid registration as a professional engineer issued pursuant to Chapter 7 (commmencing with Section 6700) of Division 3 of the Business and Professions Code, or a person holding a valid land surveyor's license issued pursuant to Chapter 15 (commencing with Section 8700) of Division 3 of the Business and Professions Code on or before the date of service of the complaint on any defendant, the plaintiff's attorney shall file the certificate specified in subdivision (b)

(b) A certificate shall be executed by the attorney for the plaintiff declaring one of the following:

(1) That the attorney has reviewed the facts of the case, that the attorney has consulted with at least one architect, professional engineer, or land surveyor who is licensed to practice and practices in this state or any other state or teaches at an accredited college or university and who the attorney reasonably believes is knowledgeable in the relevant issues involved in the particular action, and that the attorney has concluded on the basis of such review and consultation that there is reasonable and meritorious cause for the filing of such action.

(2) That the attorney was unable to obtain the consultation required by paragraph (1) because a statute of limitations would impair the action and that the certificate required by paragraph (1) could not be obtained before the impairment of the action. If a certificate is executed pursuant to this paragraph, the certificate required by paragraph (1) shall be filed within 60 days after filing the complaint.

(3) That the attorney was unable to obtain the consultation required by paragraph (1) because the attorney had made three separate good faith attempts with three separate architects, professional engineers, or land surveyors to obtain such consultation and none of those contacted would agree to such a consultation.

(c) Where a certificate is required pursuant to this section, only one such certificate shall be filed notwithstanding that multiple defendants have been named in the complaint or may be named at a later time

(d) Where the attorney intends to rely solely on the doctrine of "res ipsa loquitur," as defined in Section 646 of the Evidence Code, or exclusively on a failure to inform of the consequences of a procedure, or both, this section shall be inapplicable The attorney shall certify upon filing of the complaint that the attorney is solely relying on the doctrines of "res ipsa loquitur" or failure to inform of the consequences of a procedure or both, and for that reason is not filing a certificate required by this section

(e) For purposes of this section, and subject to Section 912 of the Evidence Code, an attorney who submits a certificate as required by paragraph (1) or (2) of subdivision (b) has a privilege to refuse to disclose the identity of the architect, professional engineer, or land surveyor consulted and the contents of such consultation Such privilege shall also be held by the architect, professional engineer, or land surveyor so consulted, provided when the attorney makes a claim under paragraph (3) of subdivision (b) that he was unable to obtain the required consultation with the architect, professional engineer, or land surveyor, the court may require the attorney to divulge the names of architects, professional engineers, or land surveyors refusing such consultation

(f) A violation of the provisions of this section may constitute unprofessional conduct and be grounds for discipline against the attorney, except that the failure to file the certificate required by paragraph (1) of subdivision (b), within 60 days after filing the complaint and certificate provided for by paragraph (2) of subdivision (b), shall not be grounds for discipline against the attorney.

(g) The failure to file a certificate required by this section shall be grounds for a demurrer pursuant to Section 430.10.

(h) This section shall be operative until January 1, 1984, and on such date is repealed.

SEC. 2. Section 430 10 of the Code of Civil Procedure is amended to read:

430 10. The party against whom a complaint or cross-complaint has been filed may object, by demurrer or answer as provided in Section 430 30, to the pleading on any one or more of the following grounds:

(a) The court has no jurisdiction of the subject of the cause of action alleged in the pleading.

(b) The person who filed the pleading does not have the legal capacity to sue.

(c) There is another action pending between the same parties on the same cause of action.

(d) There is a defect or misjoinder of parties.

(e) The pleading does not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action.

(f) The pleading is uncertain. As used in this subdivision, "uncertain" includes ambiguous and unintelligible.

(g) In an action founded upon a contract, it cannot be ascertained from the pleading whether the contract is written or oral.

(h) The complaint was not accompanied by the certificate required by Section 411.35

CHAPTER 974

An act to add and repeal Chapter 2.6 (commencing with Section 8475) of Part 6 of the Education Code, relating to child care, and declaring the urgency thereof, to take effect immediately.

[Approved by Governor September 22, 1979 Filed with Secretary of State September 22, 1979.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1 Chapter 2.6 (commencing with Section 8475) is added to Part 6 of the Education Code, to read:

CHAPTER 2.6. INTERGENERATIONAL CHILD CARE ACT OF 1979

8475. This chapter shall be known and may be cited as the Intergenerational Child Care Act of 1979.

8476. The Legislature finds that there is an urgent need to provide for more quality child care services in California, particularly in light of recent statistical data collected by the Department of Education which indicates that more single parents are entering the work force.

The Legislature further finds that the lifestyles of older people often result in greatly diminished contact between the elderly and children. Further, the Department of Aging has documented that older people often lack opportunities for involvement in meaningful community activities.

8477. The intent of the Legislature in enacting the provisions of this chapter is to bring older people together with children in a child care program which will provide for urgently needed nurturing child care services and, at the same time, provide a meaningful way in which the elderly may become involved in their own communities.

The Legislature intends to accomplish this purpose, at least in part, through the establishment of experimental project centers in which child care programs will be organized and in which the elderly will serve as aides.

The Department of Education shall encourage the use of intergenerational staff in all agencies with which it contracts for child development services.

8478. The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall establish the Intergenerational Child Care Center Projects statewide in a minimum of two counties. Rules and regulations adopted under Chapters 2 (commencing with Section 8200) and 2.5 (commencing with Section 8400) of this part shall be applicable, as nearly as may be practicable, to the projects under this chapter.

The superintendent shall consult with the Department of Aging and with the Elvirita Lewis Foundation for Geriatric Health and Nutrition which developed the first intergenerational child care center in the state.

8479 Each center shall be operated by a viable, fiscally sound public or private nonprofit corporation. To encourage the private and public sectors to work together in providing quality child development, the superintendent shall encourage the nonprofit operator of each center to cooperate with a local school district and to locate the center on an elementary school campus.

To the maximum extent possible, each school district shall provide in-kind services such as:

(a) Access to resources, such as the libraries, and discount purchasing of school supplies;

(b) Janitorial services;

(c) Utilities.

8480. Fees for services to parents shall be based on a sliding scale so that parents will make some financial contribution to the care of their children yet will be able to utilize the services regardless of income.

8481. The centers may seek, receive, and make use of integrated funding to subsidize the centers. Such funds may be made available from federal, voluntary, philanthropic, or other sources in order to augment any state funds appropriated for the purposes of this chapter.

8482. The provisions of this chapter shall be in effect for three years after the effective date of this chapter, and as of such date are repealed, unless a later enacted statute, which is chaptered before such date deletes or extends such date.

SEC. 2. No later than six months prior to the repeal of this chapter, the Department of Education shall submit a report to the Legislature describing the effectiveness of the projects under this act and recommending whether or not the program shall be established on a more permanent basis.

SEC. 3. It is the intent of the Legislature that the source of funds for the experimental project centers and the one-time administrative costs for development of guidelines and project implementation under this act shall be Item 328(l) of the Budget Act of 1979, and shall not exceed one hundred ninety-two thousand dollars ($192,000). It is further the intent of the Legislature that funding for development of materials and statewide in-service sessions to promote intergenerational staff in existing and future child development programs under this act shall be Title 20 Social Service Act training appropriation which has been allocated to the Department of Education.

SEC. 4. This act is an urgency statute necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, or safety within the meaning of Article IV of the Constitution and shall go into immediate effect. The facts constituting such necessity are:

Recent statistical data collected by the Department of Education has shown an urgent statewide need for quality child care, particularly in view of the fact that more single parents are entering the work force. Furthermore, the Department of Aging has documented the serious lack of meaningful opportunities for older people to become involved in community activities, particularly those which include children. The Elvirita Lewis Foundation, in creating and operating the first intergenerational child care center, has demonstrated that intergenerational child care is one of the most effective and fiscally conservative approaches to quality child development. In order to insure that these vital child care services are available and that older people will have a vehicle by which to become involved, it is necessary for this act to take effect immediately.

CHAPTER 975

An act to amend Section 655 of the Business and Professions Code, relating to healing arts.

[Approved by Governor September 22, 1979 Filed with Secretary of State September 22, 1979]

Any violation of this section constitutes a misdemeanor as to such person licensed under Chapter 7 (commencing with Section 3000) of this division and as to any and all persons, whether or not so licensed under this division, who participate with such licensed person in a violation of any provision of this section

SEC 2 Notwithstanding Section 2231 or 2234 of the Revenue and Taxation Code, no appropriation is made by this act pursuant to these sections because this act creates a new crime or infraction, eliminates a crime or infraction, or changes the penalty for a crime or infraction. It is recognized, however, that a local agency or school district may pursue any remedies to obtain reimbursement available to it under Chapter 3 (commencing with Section 2201) of Part 4 of Division 1 of that code.

SEC 3. This act shall become operative January 1, 1983.

CHAPTER 976

SECTION 1. An article heading is added immediately preceding Section 19825 of the Health and Safety Code, to read:

Article 1 Contents

SEC. 2. Section 19827 of the Health and Safety Code is amended to read:

19827. (a) The Legislature hereby finds and declares that there is an urgent and statewide public interest in assuring that building contractors comply with the Contractors License Law (Chapter 9 (commencing with Section 7000), Division 3, Business and Professions Code) and provisions of law relating to Workers' Compensation Insurance for building construction, that property owners are informed about, and protected from, fraudulent representations, liability for worker's injuries, liability for material and labor costs unpaid by contractors, licensing requirements, and employer's tax liabilities when improving their property as owner-builders, and that uniformity of enforcement necessitates that the provisions of this chapter apply uniformly statewide.

(b) This article shall become operative on July 1, 1980.

SEC. 3. Article 2 (commencing with Section 19830) is added to Chapter 9 of Part 3 of Division 13 of the Health and Safety Code, to read

Article 2. Owner-Builder Information

19830 Every city or county, whether general law or chartered, which requires the issuance of a permit as a condition precedent to the construction, alteration, improvement, demolition, or repair of any building or structure, shall, in addition to any other requirements, prepare and give notice to the owner of the building or structure whenever an application for a building permit is submitted in the owner's name as builder of such improvements. Such notice shall be given by mail; or such notice may be given to the applicant at the time the application for the permit is made, provided that the applicant presents identification sufficient to identify himself or herself as the owner. The notice shall be in substantially the following form:

"OWNER-BUILDER INFORMATION

"Dear Property Owner.

"An application for a building permit has been submitted in your name listing yourself as the builder of the property improvements specified.

"For your protection you should be aware that as 'owner-builder' you are the responsible party of record on such a permit. Building permits are not required to be signed by property owners unless they are personally performing their own work. If your work is being performed by someone other than yourself, you may protect yourself from possible liability if that person applies for the proper permit in his or her name.

"Contractors are required by law to be licensed and bonded by the State of California and to have a business license from the city or county. They are also required by law to put their license number on all permits for which they apply.

"If you plan to do your own work, with the exception of various trades that you plan to subcontract, you should be aware of the following information for your benefit and protection:

"If you employ or otherwise engage any persons other than your immediate family, and the work (including materials and other costs) is $200 or more for the entire project, and such persons are not licensed as contractors or subcontractors, then you may be an employer.

"If you are an employer, you must register with the state and federal government as an employer and you are subject to several obligations including state and federal income tax withholding, federal social security taxes, workers' compensation insurance, disability insurance costs, and unemployment compensation contributions.

"There may be financial risks for you if you do not carry out these obligations, and these risks are especially serious with respect to workers' compensation insurance

"For more specific information about your obligations under federal law, contact the Internal Revenue Service (and, if you wish, the U S. Small Business Administration) For more specific information about your obligations under state law, contact the Department of Benefit Payments and the Division of Industrial Accidents.

"If the structure is intended for sale, property owners who are not licensed contractors are allowed to perform their work personally or through their own employees, without a licensed contractor or subcontractor, only under limited conditions.

"A frequent practice of unlicensed persons professing to be contractors is to secure an 'owner-builder' building permit, erroneously implying that the property owner is providing his or her own labor and material personally. Building permits are not required to be signed by property owners unless they are performing their own work personally.

"Information about licensed contractors may be obtained by contacting the Contractors' State License Board in your community or at 1020 N Street, Sacramento, California 95814.

"Please complete and return the enclosed owner-builder verification form so that we can confirm that you are aware of these matters. The building permit will not be issued until the verification is returned.

Very truly yours,

"(Name of permitting agency)".

19831. A city or county, which is required to give notice pursuant to Section 19830, shall attach to such notice, and, as a condition precedent to issuing a building permit, require the completion, and whenever notice is given by mail, require the return of, an owner-builder verification in substantially the following form:

"OWNER-BUILDER VERIFICATION

"Attention Property Owner:

"An 'owner-builder' building permit has been applied for in your name and bearing your signature.

"Please complete and return this information in the envelope provided at your earliest opportunity to avoid unnecessary delay in processing and issuing your building permit. No building permit will be issued until this verification is received.

1 I personally plan to provide the major labor and materials for construction of the proposed property improvement (yes or no) _____

2. I (have/have not) _____ signed an application for a building permit for the proposed work.

3 I have contracted with the following person (firm) to provide the proposed construction:

Phone _____ Contractors License No. _____

4 I plan to provide portions of the work, but I have hired the following person to coordinate, supervise, and provide the major work

5. I will provide some of the work but I have contracted (hired) the following persons to provide the work indicated:

Name	Address	Phone	Type of Work

Signed:
Property owner _____
Social Security number _____
Date: _____".

19832. A city or county, whether general law or chartered, shall transmit the notice required pursuant to Section 19830 and the owner-builder verification required pursuant to Section 19831 by mail to the property owner applying for such owner-builder building permit and shall not provide such notice or such verification in person to the person applying for such building permit The return of the owner-builder verification shall be a condition precedent to issuance of the building permit.

SEC. 4. Notwithstanding Section 2231 or 2234 of the Revenue and Taxation Code, no appropriation made by this act pursuant to these sections because revenue is provided in Section 17951 of the Health and Safety Code to cover these costs. It is recognized, however, that a local agency or school district may pursue any remedies to obtain reimbursement available to it under Chapter 3 (commencing with Section 2201) of Part 4 of Division 1 of the Revenue and Taxation Code.

If a certificate is executed pursuant to this paragraph, the certificate required by paragraph (1) shall be filed within 60 days after service of the complaint.

(3) That the attorney was unable to obtain the consultation

(f) For purposes of this section, and subject to Evidence Code Section 912, an attorney who submits a certificate as required by paragraph (1) or (2) of subdivision (b) has a privilege to refuse to disclose the identity of the physician or surgeon or dentist consulted and the contents of such consultation. (g) A violation of the provisions of this section may constitute unprofessional conduct and be grounds for discipline against the attorney.

(h) The failure to file a certificate required by this section shall be grounds for a demurrer pursuant to Section 430.10.

(i) The provisions of this section shall not be applicable to a plaintiff who is not represented by an attorney

(j) This section is repealed as of January 1, 1984.

SEC. 2. Section 430.10 of the Code of Civil Procedure is amended to read.

11589. No insurer who provides professional liability insurance for physicians and surgeons or dentists shall increase the premium for such insurance, impose a surcharge with respect to such insurance, or otherwise require additional compensation for such insurance, or institute or increase a deductible amount payable by the insured, because a notice of intention to commence an action has been given pursuant to Section 364 of the Code of Civil Procedure, unless a complaint has been served on the physician and surgeon or dentist with respect to such action.

(b) For the purposes of this section, "professional liability insurance" means insurance against liability for damages caused by any act or omission of a physician and surgeon or dentist in rendering professional services within this state issued by any insurer, including, but not limited to, a joint underwriting association, cooperative corporation or reciprocal or interinsurance exchange.

An act to add Title 9 (commencing with Section 14100) to Part 4 of the Penal Code, relating to causes of violence and crime.

[Approved by Governor September 22, 1979 Filed with Secretary of State September 22, 1979]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Title 9 (commencing with Section 14100) is added to Part 4 of the Penal Code, to read:

TITLE 9. CALIFORNIA COMMISSION ON CRIME CONTROL AND VIOLENCE PREVENTION

14100 The Legislature finds the following:

(a) The incidence of violent acts between and amongst our people continues to grow.

(b) Violence has become a central, social, and personal issue.

(c) Current methods are proving insufficient to prevent the occurrence of crime and violence in our society.

(d) Our criminal justice system (including criminal penalties and other methods of crime containment) presently established in law operates essentially after the perpetration of violence or after the buildup of the violent personality

(e) The government is by itself unable to sufficiently prevent crime and violence, and active individual personal involvement of the citizenry of California is essential to this effort.

(f) It is incumbent upon all Californians, in order to enhance our chances for a safe society, to explore and discover what kinds of environments best enable humans to grow healthy, strong, and gentle, rather than violent.

The Legislature further finds the following:

(a) There is increasing research being undertaken to search out the root causes of violence.

(b) Such research heretofore has been little, if at all, presented to the public and little, if at all, utilized in forming public policy.

(c) It is in our public interest to encourage, foster, and coordinate such research to bring it to more common public knowledge.

(d) A statewide citizens' effort, including public hearings, is the means most likely to accomplish these purposes.

The Legislature therefore intends:

(a) To establish, as a supplement to current efforts at crime control and violence prevention, a long-term preventive approach.

(b) To generate an effort to involve and inform the public of the latest research discoveries and developments in the field of the causes of crime and violence, so as to enable individuals to exercise more personal responsibility for crime control and violence prevention.

14101. (a) There is hereby created in the Governor's office the California Commission on Crime Control and Violence Prevention for the purpose of studying the root causes of violence in our society.

(b) The commission shall:

(1) Identify, review, evaluate, coordinate, and encourage research and other available information relevant to its mission and the areas of study specified in Section 14102, except that the commission shall not directly engage in research activities.

(2) Sponsor and conduct public hearings, conferences and other efforts, collect and disseminate information, and issue periodic reports relating to its findings concerning the root causes of violent behavior.

(3) Make findings, conclusions, and recommendations applicable to its relevant areas of study, as specified in Section 14102, that will assist in the prevention and detection of the root causes of violent behavior Any such recommendation shall contain a discussion of the immediate and long-term possible impacts of each area of study, as well as specific proposals for immediate implementation, especially looking toward the development of a broader and deeper public awareness of the root causes of, and possible solutions for, crime and violence, and hopefully leading to voluntary, more responsible personal preventative action (rather than governmental mandate), but also including, but not limited to, possible legislation, departmental regulations, funding for research, and other matters of state policy and administration.

(4) Develop a program or a series of programs for immediate and long-term implementation individually and personally by the people of California that will impact upon the root causes and the incidence of violent activities. Such programs shall focus upon preventing the development of the causes of violence and the rehabilitation of individuals, and shall contain recommendations for the effective dissemination and implementation of such programs in the major social, political, economic, and geographic centers of our state, including but not limited to, the home, the schools, and the work place.

(5) Render advice and information, as requested, to the state and municipal governments, and in response to inquiries by the public.

(6) Annually report its progress to the Legislature by January 15, 1981, and January 15, 1982, and submit its findings and recommendations in a final report to the Legislature on or before January 15, 1983.

(7) Apply to the federal government or any agency thereof, and to any other source or agency, whether public or private, for a gift or grant of funds, up to five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000), for any of the purposes of this title

(c) The commission shall consist of 25 members, who shall be broadly reflective of the general public, including ethnic minorities, women, and persons from varying economic levels, and who shall consult with the Attorney General, the Director of Social Services, and the Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The membership of the commission shall include the Attorney General or a designee, the Secretary of the Health and Welfare Agency or a designee, and the Superintendent of Public Instruction or a designee. In addition, the Attorney General shall appoint one other citizen member. Three citizen members shall be appointed by each of the following: the Senate Rules Committee, the Speaker of the Assembly, and the Judicial Council The League of California Cities and the County Supervisors Association of California shall each provide a list of five names to the Governor, who shall appoint two commission members from each list. In addition, the Governor shall appoint eight more commission members Each appointing authority shall make the required appointments within 30 days of the effective date of this title.

In the event of a resignation, the inability of a member to continue service, or other vacancy, a new member shall be appointed to the commission by the original appointing authority in accordance with the requirements applicable to an original appointment.

The commission shall elect its chairperson and shall hire an executive director who shall employ such staff as is appropriate The commission may delegate to an executive committee comprised of its members the responsibility of overseeing the operations of the commission. Such delegation, however, shall not release a commission member from the obligations imposed by this title Office facilities and other in-kind services shall be provided by the Health and Welfare Agency.

In making appointments to the commission, each appointing authority shall be responsible for appointing persons from different backgrounds, abilities, interests, and opinions to create a balanced commission, reflective of the areas to be studied by the commission. At least one, but no more than five, persons shall be appointed from each of the following: social science, law enforcement, mental health, education, religion, business, labor, a street level law enforcement officer with at least five years' experience, a victim of a crime, a member of the legal profession, and an ex-convict.

The Governor or a designee shall call the first meeting of the commission within 45 days of the effective date of this title.

Commissioners shall be reimbursed for their travel and per diem expenses.

The commission shall expire January 1, 1983.

14102 The commission shall study the root causes of violent behavior in our society.

The areas of study of the commission shall include, but shall not be limited to, the following:

(a) The birthing process.
(b) The parenting process.
(c) Nutrition.
(d) Significance of tactile development
(e) Healthy emotional development.
(f) Healthy bodily development.
(g) Self-esteem
(h) Healthy sexual development.
(i) The effects of television.
(j) Powerlessness.
(k) Poverty.
(l) Prejudice.
(m) Social and economic environment.

SEC. 2. The California Council on Criminal Justice is encouraged to make funds available to the commission from the state share of federal dollars under its control to carry out the purposes of this title.

The people of the State of California do enact as follows

SECTION 1 Chapter 321 of the Statutes of 1978 established an unintentional two-year waiver of the licensure requirements for professional personnel, other than psychologists and clinical social workers, by its amendment of subdivision (b) of Section 1277 of the Health and Safety Code. It is the intent of the Legislature in enacting this act to restrict the exemption specified in such provisions to the minimum time required for personnel in the professions of psychology and clinical social work, to ensure the application of such provisions equally as to all facilities and services of the State Department of Mental Health and the State Department of Developmental Services

SEC. 2. Section 2909 of the Business and Professions Code is amended to read

2909. Nothing in this chapter shall be construed as restricting or preventing activities of a psychological nature or the use of the official title of the position for which they were employed on the part of the following persons, provided such persons are performing those activities as part of the duties for which they were employed, are performing such activities solely within the confines of or under the jurisdiction of the organization in which they are employed and do not offer to render or render psychological services as defined in Section 2903 to the public for a fee, monetary or otherwise, over and above the salary they receive for the performance of their official duties with the organization in which they are employed:

(a) Persons who hold a valid and current credential as a school psychologist issued by the California Department of Education.

(b) Persons who hold a valid and current credential as a psychometrist issued by the California Department of Education.

(c) Persons employed in positions as psychologists or psychological assistants, or in a student counseling service, by accredited or approved colleges, junior colleges or universities; federal, state, county or municipal governmental organizations which are not primarily involved in the provision of direct health or mental health services. However, such persons may, without obtaining a license under this act, consult or disseminate their research findings and scientific information to other such accredited or approved academic institutions or governmental agencies. They may also offer lectures to the public for a fee, monetary or otherwise, without being licensed under this chapter.

(d) Persons who meet the educational requirements of subdivision (d) of Section 2914 and who have one year or more of professional experience of a type which the committee determines will competently and safely permit the person to engage in the activities regulated by this chapter, if they are employed by nonprofit community agencies which receive a minimum of 25 percent of their financial support from any federal, state, county, or municipal governmental organizations for the purpose of training and providing services. Such persons shall be registered by the agency with the committee at the time of employment and shall be exempt from the provisions of this chapter for a maximum period of two years from the date of registration.

SEC. 3. Section 2910 of the Business and Professions Code is amended to read:

2910. Nothing in this chapter shall be construed to restrict or prevent activities of a psychological nature on the part of persons who are salaried employees of accredited or approved academic institutions, public schools or governmental agencies, provided:

(a) Such employees are performing such psychological activities as part of the duties for which they were hired;

(b) Such employees are performing those activities solely within the jurisdiction or confines of such organizations;

(c) Such persons do not hold themselves out to the public by any title or description of activities incorporating the words "psychology," "psychological," "psychologist," "psychometry," "psychometrics" or "psychometrist";

(e) Such persons do not provide direct health or mental health services

SEC 4. Section 1277 of the Health and Safety Code is amended to read:

(b) Notwithstanding any provision of Part 2 (commencing with Section 5600) of Division 5 of, or Division 7 (commencing with Section 7000) of, the Welfare and Institutions Code or any other law to the contrary, except Sections 2137.1 and 2137.2 of the Business and Professions Code, the licensure requirements for professional personnel, including, but not limited to, physicians and surgeons, dentists, podiatrists, psychologists, pharmacists, registered nurses, and clinical social workers in the state and other governmental health facilities licensed by the state department shall not be less than for such professional personnel in health facilities under private ownership. Persons employed as psychologists and clinical social workers, while continuing in their employment in the same class as of January 1, 1979, in the same state or other governmental health facility licensed by the state department, including those persons on authorized leave, but not including intermittent personnel, shall be exempt from the requirements of this subdivision. Additionally, the requirements of this subdivision may be waived by the state department solely for persons in the professions of psychology or clinical social work who are gaining qualifying experience for licensure in such profession in this state. (c) A special permit shall be issued by the state department when it finds that the staff, both professional and nonprofessional, and the standards of care and services are adequate and appropriate, and that the special services unit is operated in the manner required in this chapter and by the rules and regulations adopted hereunder.

(d) The state department shall apply the same standards to state and other governmental health facilities that it licenses as it applies to health facilities in private ownership The state department shall report to the Legislature by March 1 of each year any waivers of requirements imposed by its regulations granted during the prior calendar year to any health facility

A waiver pursuant to this subdivision shall be granted only to the extent necessary to qualify for licensure, except that personnel recruited for employment from outside this state and whose experience is sufficient to gain admission to a licensing examination shall, nevertheless, have one year from the date of their employment in California to become licensed, at which time licensure shall have been obtained or the employment shall be terminated, provided that the employee shall take the licensure examination at the earliest possible date after the date of his or her employment, and if the employee does not pass the examination at that time, he or she shall have a second opportunity to pass the examination, subject to the one-year limit.

CHAPTER 997

An act to add Section 327 to the Unemployment Insurance Code, relating to unemployment.

[Became law without Governor's signature September 25, 1979 Filed with Secretary of State September 25, 1979]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. The Legislature hereby makes the following findings in enacting this act:

There is an urgent need for accurate, current, and precise information about the California labor market and the social and economic characteristics of California's working age population Reliable data for California is needed on the comparative unemployment rates among various age, sex, and ethnic groups and on the period and types of unemployment experienced by those groups.

State and local agencies must currently rely upon inadequate data to plan, administer, and evaluate vocational education and employment and training programs for which hundreds of millions of dollars are expended annually. The data currently available is provided as part of the United States Bureau of the Census's nationwide Current Population Survey and it is inadequate because it is based upon a severely limited California sample of 5,000 households which represent approximately two-tenths of 1 percent of California's population.

This California sample is part of a monthly nationwide sample of 50,000 households which provides adequate information for the development, operation, and evaluation of federal social programs. However, this data is completely inadequate for determining the effects of those programs on California.

Contracting with the Bureau of the Census to expand this survey of California's population represents the best means of providing sufficient data for sound program evaluation and analysis at a reasonable cost To develop such a contract may require the expenditure of substantial time and would coincide with other national demands placed on the Bureau of the Census, such as the upcoming decennial census.

California's vocational education and employment and training programs would benefit greatly from the additional information and increased reliability that would be obtained by such an expanded survey Other departments and branches of state government would also benefit from such a survey.

The Legislative Analyst, for example, has determined that the major cause of the accumulated state surplus in recent years has been the inability of the state to forecast accurately its annual revenues. The Legislative Analyst has also determined that the single most important element to improve revenue estimates would be the expansion of the federally conducted Current Population Survey. Because this data is the basic building block of state revenue estimates, the Legislative Analyst estimates that a one percentage point error in the annual employment forecast for the state can cause an error of about one hundred million dollars ($100,000,000) in the forecast for personal income tax revenues alone. For this reason, the Legislative Analyst has recommended that the Legislature provide for an expanded Current Population Survey

The information resulting from an expanded survey would greatly improve the state's ability to more effectively target its resources. The passage of Proposition 13 at the June 6, 1978, statewide election makes essential improvement in the state's ability to forecast and allocate its resources. The Legislature, therefore, intends to provide for an expanded Current Population Survey to provide necessary data on California's social and economic characteristics and to improve California's revenue estimating capability.

SEC 2. Section 327 is added to the Unemployment Insurance Code, to read:

327 The department is authorized to enter into negotiations with the United States Bureau of the Census to expand the current population survey for a sample of up to 35,000 households in California. The department shall report its findings and the result of the negotiations to the Legislature. At such time as the Bureau of the Census is prepared to undertake the workload involved in expanding California's portion of the population survey, the department shall submit to the Legislature a budget request for funds not available from other sources to finance a contract with the Bureau of the Census When sufficient funds are made available through the budget process or from other sources, the department is authorized to contract with the Bureau of the Census for the purpose of expanding the current population survey to a sample of up to 35,000 households in California. Based on the results of the expanded survey, the department shall compile and publish monthly information pertaining to employment and unemployment and shall provide such information to state governmental entities, including the Legislature, which are responsible for preparing state economic projections and revenue estimates.

CHAPTER 1005

An act relating to taxation, to take effect immediately, tax levy.

[Approved by Governor September 26, 1979 Filed with Secretary of State September 26, 1979]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Sections 2 to 5, inclusive, of Chapter 1388 of the Statutes of 1978, shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1976

SEC 2. The Legislature finds and declares that the amendments to Section 13402 of the Revenue and Taxation Code enacted by Chapter 1079, Statutes of 1977, were being interpreted by the State Controller's Office to require taking into consideration, for the purpose of fixing inheritance taxes, all gifts of the decedent occurring since the effective date of the California Gift Tax Law in 1939. It was the stated intent of the Legislature in enacting Chapter 1079 "to conform provisions of California law, where appropriate, to the changes contained in the Federal Tax Reform Act of 1977 (P.L. 94-455)," which, with respect to similar provisions for a unified rate schedule for estate and gift taxes, operates prospectively only and includes only those gifts made after December 31, 1976, and, thus, the Legislature enacted Chapter 1388 of the Statutes of 1978. To further effectuate the intent of the Legislature that such amendments to Section 13402 apply only to gifts made after December 31, 1976, and during the lifetime of decedents dying after the effective date of Chapter 1079, so as to avoid hardship on persons who have relied on prior law, it is necessary that the inheritance and gift tax provisions of Chapter 1388 of the Statutes of 1978 apply retroactively to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1976.

SEC 3 This act provides for a tax levy within the meaning of Article IV of the Constitution and shall go into immediate effect.

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. The Legislature hereby makes the following findings and statements of intent in enacting this legislation:

(1) Implementation of the State Youth Employment and Development Act of 1977 has complemented and built upon federally funded efforts to attack youth unemployment, linking existing agencies and moneys.

(2) Limited state funds support projects involving apprenticeship, training opportunities at actual workplaces, and involvement of the private business sector.

(3) Initial evidence reveals that programs including actual worksite experience or combinations of worksite and classroom instruction are more effective than programs involving exclusively conventional classroom vocational training.

(4) After 15 years of state and federal experience with a variety of demonstration programs, and as needed expansion of youth programs occurs, more thoughtful comparison of existing employment and training programs is necessary in determining the most effective employment and vocational program models receiving state funding

(5) Neither the Employment Development Department nor state education agencies have evaluated the relative effectiveness of employment and vocational education programs to enable more effective allocation of funds

(6) Funds for employment and vocational education programs are limited, making an evaluation of such programs imperative so that existing funds may be reallocated to the most effective programs

SEC. 2 Chapter 2 8 (commencing with Section 9850) is added to Part 1 of Division 3 of the Unemployment Insurance Code, to read

CHAPTER 2 8 YOUTH EMPLOYMENT AND VOCATIONAL EDUCATION PLAN

(a) Program effectiveness shall be defined to include, but not be limited to, the following outcomes· placement in unsubsidized jobs with longevity and possible upward mobility; skill instruction related to actual labor market demand; cost effectiveness; and instruction in basic literacy skills and competencies necessary for personal development.

(b) The task group shall submit to the Legislature, by December 1, 1980, recommendations on how existing state and locally controlled federal employment and training funds, and state vocational education moneys, should be allocated to the most effective programs. The plan shall.

(1) Summarize a review of available state and national evaluations of on-the-job, apprenticeship, and classroom vocational programs, and projects involving classroom worksite based instruction.

(2) Examine job placement rates and quality of placements in existing employment and classroom vocational programs; provide that the quality of placements minimally include wage level, career ladder potential, and training relatedness

(3) Determine whether the length of classroom vocational programs is justifiable in terms of required skill levels in actual jobs.

(4) Determine how available jobs and skill needs of private employers can more effectively be communicated to employment and vocational program administrators and funding agencies.

(5) Examine within which occupations vocational classroom instruction is more feasible than worksite-based instruction.

(6) Examine relative cost effectiveness of alternative employment and vocational program models.

(c) The task group shall concentrate, to the extent possible, on collecting available evaluation research and program information rather than conducting new evaluations

(d) The task group shall be chaired by the Director of Employment Development and include. a representative of the Department of Education; the Chancellor of the Community Colleges or a representative, a representative of a local Comprehensive Employment and Training Act prime sponsor; a community-based employment program administrator; and five representatives of private business, including small and large employers and employers who have employed participants in existing employment or vocational programs. The Comprehensive Employment and Training Act prime sponsor representative, community-based employment program administrator, and representatives of private business shall be appointed by the Director of Employment Development

9850 1 It is the intent of the Legislature that the task group shall utilize seventy-five thousand dollars ($75,000) in existing state or federal vocational education funds, allocated by the State Director of Vocational Education, to assess the employment and wage gains of a random sample of vocational education graduates The data collection specified in this section shall be conducted by an independent research organization The information collected shall assist the Department of Education to respond to the program evaluation mandates contained in paragraph (1) of subdivision (b) of Section 8007.5 of the Education Code and Section 112(b) (1) (B) of Public Law 94-482.

The task group shall submit a study plan to the Joint Legislative Budget Committee and the Joint Legislative Audit Committee by March 1, 1980.

9850.2. This chapter shall remain in effect only until March 1, 1981, and as of such date is repealed, unless a later enacted statute, which is chaptered before March 1, 1981, deletes or extends such date.

(b) When a public administrator takes possession of the estate of a decedent as provided in this chapter, and it appears that the total value of the estate of the decedent does not exceed five hundred dollars ($500), the public administrator may, instead of applying to the superior court or judge thereof for an order provided in subdivision (a), apply such money or proceeds from the sale of any personal property towards the expense of the burial of the decedent or may deposit such money with the county treasurer for use in the general fund without regard for any claims, other than preferred claims, against the decedent's estate.

(c) The commissions payable to the public administrator pursuant to this section and the attorney, if any, for the public administrator for the filing of the application provided for in this section, and for the performance of any duty or service connected therewith, are those set forth in Section 901, except that, in any case administered pursuant to this section, the public administrator shall be entitled to a minimum of two hundred fifty dollars ($250) if there are sufficient proceeds in the decedent's estate therefor.

The money received from any such sale or collection shall be used to pay commissions to the public administrator, and to defray the expenses of the burial of the decedent and the expenses of his last illness; the balance, if any, shall be used to pay other claims presented to the public administrator within four months of the above order and there shall be no administration upon the estate unless additional property is discovered No notice of the application need be given. The application may be filed whether or not there is a will of the decedent in existence, if the executor named therein refuses to act, or if the will does not appoint an executor.

(b) When a public administrator takes possession of the estate of a decedent as provided in this chapter, and it appears that the total value of the estate of the decedent does not exceed five hundred dollars ($500), the public administrator may, instead of applying to the superior court or judge thereof for an order provided in subdivision (a), apply such money or proceeds from the sale of any personal property towards the expense of the burial of the decedent, pay other proper claims against the decedent's estate, and deposit the balance with the county treasurer for use in the general fund.

(c) The commissions payable to the public administrator pursuant to this section and the attorney, if any, for the public administrator for the filing of the application provided for in this section, and for the performance of any duty or service connected therewith, are those set forth in Section 901, except that, in any case administered pursuant to this section, the public administrator shall be entitled to a minimum of $250 if there are sufficient proceeds in the decedent's estate therefor.

SEC. 2. The amendments to subdivision (c) of Section 1143 of the Probate Code made by this act shall apply to all decedents' estates which are being administered by a public administrator on the date on which this act becomes operative.

SEC. 3 It is the intent of the Legislature, if this bill and Assembly Bill 1623 are both chaptered and become effective on or before January 1, 1980, both bills amend Section 1143 of the Probate Code, and this bill is chaptered after Assembly Bill 1623, that Section 1143 of the Probate Code, as amended by Section 1 of this act, shall remain operative until the effective date of Assembly Bill 1623, and that on the effective date of Assembly Bill 1623 Section 1143 of the Probate Code, as amended by Section 1 of this act, be further amended in the form set forth in Section 1.5 of this act to incorporate the changes in Section 1143 proposed by Assembly Bill 1623. Therefore, if this bill and Assembly Bill 1623 are both chaptered and become effective on or before January 1, 1980, and Assembly Bill 1623 is chaptered before this bill and amends Section 1143, Section 1.5 of this act shall become operative on the effective date of Assembly Bill 1623.

SEC 4 Notwithstanding Section 2231 of the Revenue and Taxation Code, there shall be no reimbursement pursuant to that section nor shall there be an appropriation made by this act because there are savings as well as costs in this act which, in the aggregate, do not result in additional net costs

68002 As an exotic subtropical fruit, the kiwifruit is not heavily consumed in this country or abroad Opportunity exists for continued growth and expansion of the industry, by creating new markets in such areas. The success of such an expansion program is uniquely dependent upon effective advertising and promotion, since the creation of new markets is essentially a matter of educating people to the use of a previously unknown or unrecognized food

68003. The establishment of a California Kiwifruit Commission is necessary for the efficient development and management of a national and international advertising program and essential to ensure that the California kiwifruit industry can compete successfully in the marketplace and reduce the spread between consumer cost and the amount received by the producer

68135. Upon suspension of the operation of this chapter and of the commission, the commission shall mail a copy of the notice of suspension to all producers and handlers affected by such suspension whose names and addresses are on file.

(e) Notwithstanding any provision of a contract to the contrary, the buyer may pay at any time before maturity the entire indebtedness evidenced by the contract without penalty. In the event of prepayment in full.

(1) If the finance charge was determined on the precomputed basis, the amount required to prepay the contract shall be the outstanding contract balance as of that date, provided, however, that the buyer shall be entitled to a refund credit in the amount of the unearned portion of the finance charge, except as provided in paragraphs (3) and (4) The amount of the unearned portion of the finance charge shall be at least as great a proportion of the finance charge, or if the contract has been extended, deferred or refinanced, of the additional charge therefor, as the sum of the periodic monthly time balances payable more than 15 days after the date of prepayment bears to the sum of all the periodic monthly time balances under the schedule of installments in the contract or, if the contract has been extended, deferred or refinanced, as so extended, deferred or refinanced. Where the amount of the refund credit is less than one dollar ($1), no refund credit need be made by the holder. Any refund credit in the amount of one dollar ($1) or more may be made in cash or credited to the outstanding obligations of the buyer under the contract

(2) If the finance charge or a portion thereof was determined on the simple-interest basis, the amount required to prepay the contract shall be the outstanding contract balance as of that date, including any earned finance charges which are unpaid as of that date and, if applicable, the amount provided in paragraph (3), and provided further that in cases where a finance charge is determined on the 360-day basis, the payments theretofore received will be assumed to have been received on their respective due dates regardless of the actual dates on which such payments were received.

(3) Where the minimum finance charge provided by subparagraph (B) of paragraph (1) of subdivision (c) or subparagraph (B) of paragraph (2) of subdivision (c), if either is applicable, is greater than the earned finance charge as of the date of prepayment, the holder shall be additionally entitled to the difference.

(4) The provisions of this subdivision shall not impair the right of the seller or his assignee to receive delinquency charges on delinquent installments and reasonable costs and fees as provided in subdivision (d) of this section.

(f) Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter to the contrary, in the event any required downpayment on which no finance charge is imposed is to be made by the buyer to the seller on a conditional sale contract after the date of such contract but prior to the date of the second payment otherwise scheduled, the amount of such payment may be shown in such contract as a deferred portion of the cash downpayment or, if the finance charge is determined on the precomputed basis, as a deduction from the amount of the unpaid balance, and shall be included in the total of payments.

(g) Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter to the contrary, any information required to be disclosed in a conditional sale contract under this chapter may be disclosed in any manner, method, or terminology required or permitted under Regulation Z, as in effect at the time such disclosure is made Nothing contained in this chapter shall be deemed to prohibit the disclosure in such contract of additional information required or permitted under Regulation Z, as in effect at the time such disclosure is made.

However, nothing in this section shall limit the power of the authority to make loans with the proceeds of bonds in accordance with the terms of the resolution authorizing the same.

Notwithstanding that such revenue bonds may be payable from a special fund, they shall be and be deemed to be for all purposes negotiable instruments, subject only to the provisions of such bonds for registration.

(c) The authority's revenue bonds may be issued as serial bonds or as term bonds, or the authority, in its discretion, may issue bonds of both types The issuance of all revenue bonds shall be authorized by resolution of the authority and shall bear such date or dates,

The State Treasurer may sell any such revenue bonds at a price below the par value thereof, provided, however, that the discount on any bonds so sold shall not exceed 6 percent of the par value thereof. Pending preparation of the definitive bonds, the authority may issue interim receipts or certificates or temporary bonds which shall be exchanged for such definitive bonds.

(d) Any resolution or resolutions authorizing the issuance of any revenue bonds or any issue of revenue bonds may contain provisions, which shall be a part of the contract with the holders of the bonds to be authorized, as to pledging all or any part of the revenues of a project or any revenue-producing contract or contracts made by the authority with any individual, partnership, corporation or association or other body, public or private, to secure the payment of the bonds or of any particular issue of bonds

All such bonds shall contain on the face thereof a statement to the effect that neither the State of California nor the authority shall be obligated to pay the principal of, or the interest thereon, except from revenues of the authority, and that neither the faith and credit nor the taxing power of the State of California or of any political subdivision thereof is pledged to the payment of the principal of or the interest on such bonds. The issuance of revenue bonds under the provisions of this part shall not directly or indirectly or contingently obligate the state or any political subdivision thereof to levy or to pledge any form of taxation whatever therefor or to make any appropriation for their payment.

15444 Any holder of revenue bonds issued under the provisions of this part or any of the coupons appertaining thereto, and the trustee or trustees under any indenture or trust agreement, except to the extent the rights herein given may be restricted by any resolution authorizing the issuance of, or any such indenture or trust agreement securing, such bonds, may, either at law or in equity, by suit, action, mandamus or other proceedings, protect and enforce any and all rights under the laws of the state or granted hereunder or under such resolution or indenture or trust agreement, and may enforce and compel the performance of all duties required by this part or by such resolution, indenture, or trust agreement to be performed by the authority or by any officer, employee or agent thereof.

(e) Utilizing the district revenue limit per unit of average daily attendance for the preceding fiscal year computed pursuant to paragraph (2) of subdivision (b) of Section 42237 or this section, as the case may be, the county superintendent of schools shall compute an inflation adjustment as follows:

(1) For districts with a revenue limit per unit of average daily attendance in the preceding fiscal year which was less than the amount specified in subdivision (b), the maximum inflation allowance plus an additional amount not to exceed twenty-five dollars ($25) if the district will qualify for the maximum inflation adjustment in the next succeeding fiscal year

(2) For districts with a revenue limit per unit of average daily attendance in the preceding fiscal year which was greater than the amount specified in subdivision (b), but less than the amount specified in subdivision (c), determine the difference between the prior year amount specified in subdivision (c) and the district's prior year revenue limit per unit of average daily attendance. the chancellor shall determine the district's revenues for fiscal year 1977–78 in the manner specified in paragraph (1) of subdivision (a), and multiply the result times 0.93. The product shall be the district's base 1979–80 fiscal year revenues.

SEC 15. Section 84702 of the Education Code, as added by Chapter 282 of the Statutes of 1979, is amended to read

For districts reporting fewer than 3,000 units of average daily attendance for fiscal year 1978–79, and for districts which have increased in average daily attendance since 1978–79, the incremental cost rate is defined as two-thirds of the statewide revenues per unit of actual average daily attendance for 1978–79

(d) For districts which have increased in the number of units of average daily attendance reported between fiscal years 1978–79 and 1979–80, the chancellor shall add the amount computed pursuant to subdivision (c) to the amount computed pursuant to Section 84701 For districts which have decreased in the number of units of average daily attendance reported between fiscal years 1978–79 and 1979–80, the chancellor shall subtract the result computed pursuant to subdivision (c) from the amount computed pursuant to Section 84701 subdivision.

For each such eligible community college district, the chancellor shall add to the district's revenues, computed pursuant to this article, one-half of the difference between:

(1) The revenue that would have resulted during 1977–78 by applying the small district formula, pursuant to Sections 84764 and 84765, except using attendance ADA, to those units of average daily attendance reported for the small college or colleges within that district; and

(2) The revenues that would have resulted by applying the district's base revenue, computed pursuant to Section 84701, per unit of average daily attendance during 1977–78 to those units of average daily attendance reported for the small college or colleges within that district.

If the amount computed pursuant to paragraph (1) is less than the amount computed pursuant to paragraph (2), there shall be no adjustment made pursuant to this subdivision.

84720. For the 1980–81 fiscal year, the chancellor shall apportion general state aid to community college districts according to the following procedure·

(a) The 1980–81 fiscal year revenues for each community college district shall be its base 1980–81 fiscal year revenues, as defined in Section 84721; plus or minus the average daily attendance adjustment based on incremental costs, as defined in Section 84722; plus the inflation adjustment specified in Section 84723; plus the capital outlay or lease purchase assistance, if any, as specified in Section 84724

(b) The chancellor shall adjust the amount determined pursuant to subdivision (a) to provide for prior year adjustments or adjustments which are required pursuant to Sections 84330, 84737 and 84904, as well as adjustments for the effects of annexation for transfer of territory occurring after June 30, 1979

(c) For any district whose revenues computed pursuant to this article are less than 1.01 times the revenues received by the district for fiscal year 1978–79, as defined in paragraph (1) of subdivision (c) of Section 84700, the district shall receive 1.01 times its fiscal year 1978–79 revenues in lieu of amounts computed pursuant to this article.

The report shall include comparisons on a district-by-district basis, as well as on a statewide basis, of revenues per unit of average daily attendance for fiscal years 1979–80 and 1980–81 The report shall also include information on the amounts of actual and estimated sources of revenue that comprise the basis for the calculation of revenues per unit of average daily attendance.

(g) For purposes of this article "average daily attendance" and "attendance ADA" shall mean the attendance of state residents attending within the district.

(h) If the revenues appropriated by Section 84728 are insufficient to provide for the state general apportionment as calculated pursuant to this section, the amounts appropriated by Section 84728 shall be allocated on a pro rata basis, so that all community college districts receive the same percentage of their state general apportionment that they are otherwise entitled to receive

SEC. 21. Section 84721 of the Education Code, as added by Chapter 282 of the Statutes of 1979, is amended to read 84721 The base 1980–81 fiscal year revenues for each community college district shall be the sum of those revenues received pursuant to Sections 84701 to 84704, inclusive, or Section 84706, whichever is applicable.

(a) The chancellor shall determine the increase or decrease in the number of units of average daily attendance reported by each district between fiscal years 1979–80 and 1980–81.

(b) The chancellor shall multiply the increase or decrease in such units of average daily attendance by the incremental cost rate For districts reporting 3,000 or more units of average daily attendance for fiscal year 1980–81, and which have decreased in average daily attendance since 1979–80, the incremental cost rate is defined as two-thirds of the district's revenues per unit of average daily attendance for 1979–80 For districts reporting fewer than 3,000 units of average daily attendance for fiscal year 1980–81, and for districts which have increased in average daily attendance since 1979–80, the incremental cost rate is defined as two-thirds of the statewide revenues per unit of average daily attendance for 1979–80.

SEC 24 Article 5 (commencing with Section 84801) is added to Chapter 5 of Part 50 of the Education Code, to read

Article 5. General Provisions

84801 For the purposes of this chapter, the governing board of each community college district shall report to the Chancellor of the California Community Colleges during each fiscal year the average daily attendance of the district for all full school months during (1) the period between July 1st and December 31st, inclusive, to be known as the "first period" report for the first principal apportionment, and (2) the period between July 1st and April 15th, inclusive, to be known as the "second period" report for the second principal apportionment If the average daily attendance in the regular day schools of a district for the period of time between July 1st and June 30th is greater or lesser than the average daily attendance in the regular day schools reported for the second period report, the appropriate increases and decreases in the several categories of attendance for which separate foundation programs are required to be computed shall be recomputed on the basis of the foundation program and assessed valuation of the district of the fiscal year in which such increases and decreases in average daily attendance were applicable and the appropriate increases and decreases in apportionments shall be added or withheld in the next succeeding fiscal year pursuant to Section 84330

Each report shall be prepared in accordance with instructions on forms prescribed and furnished by the Chancellor of the California Community Colleges and average daily attendance shall be computed in the following manner:

(a) With the exception of days of attendance in special day classes convened, or other instruction provided a student for days in a school year which are in excess of the number of days in the school year on which the regular day schools of the district are convened, if the average daily attendance in schools and classes maintained by community college districts other than regular day schools and classes for the period of time between July 1st and June 30th is greater or lesser than the average daily attendance in such schools and classes reported for the second period report, the separate state support which is provided for attendance in such schools and classes shall be recomputed on the basis of the fiscal year average daily attendance, and increases and decreases in apportionments shall be added or withheld in the next succeeding fiscal year pursuant to Section 84330.

(b) The average daily attendance of each community college shall be determined pursuant to the provisions of Article 2 (commencing with Section 84520) of Chapter 4 For community colleges under the provisions of this paragraph, the "first period" shall be the summer intersession school and the fall semester for semester system colleges, the summer and fall quarter for colleges on the three-quarter system, and the summer and fall quarters for colleges on the four-quarter system. The "second period" shall be the "academic year" which is any intersession school plus the first and second semester for semester system colleges, any intersession school plus the first and second quarters for three-quarter-system colleges and the summer, fall, and winter quarters for four-quarter-system colleges.

The "academic year" for three- or four-quarter-system colleges is reported on the annual report and adjustments shall be made as set forth in the first paragraph of this section

(c) The average daily attendance in intersession schools and outdoor science and conservation education classes maintained in accordance with subdivision (a) or (b) of Section 78008 shall be reported on both the first period and second period reports. The hours of attendance shall be divided by 525 for all classes of less than four weeks duration For intersession schools of four weeks or more, average daily attendance shall be computed as provided in Section 84520.

(d) The days of attendance in classes for adults maintained after the last full school month of the second period of the preceding year and prior to the end of each reporting period shall be reported on each report.

84810. The Chancellor of the California Community Colleges shall exclude from the computation of state apportionments the units of average daily attendance of nonresident students and of inmates of any state penal institution for adults or any city, county, or city and county jail, road camp, or farm for adults; however, he shall allow any community college district, which has boundaries coterminous with those of a city and county, maintaining classes for immates of any state institution for adults or any city, county, or city and county jail, road camp, or farm for adults an amount equal to the actual current expenses of the community college district for such classes The amount so allowed to such a community college district for each unit of average daily attendance in such classes shall in no event exceed the amount of total state aid per unit of average daily attendance which the district would have received, had the average daily attendance in such classes not been excluded.

84811 The Chancellor of the California Community Colleges shall allow to each community college district an amount equal to the actual current expense of the district of maintaining adult education classes for prisoners in any county jail, or any county industrial farm or county or joint county road camp for the current fiscal year. The amount so allowed to a district for each unit of average daily attendance in such classes shall in no event exceed the total of the amounts allowed to the district as basic state aid and state equalization aid for each unit of average daily attendance of the district exclusive of the average daily attendance of the district in classes for adults

For purposes of this section, the Chancellor of the California Community Colleges shall, by rules and regulations, establish minimum standards for the conduct of the adult education classes, including, but not necessarily limited to, attendance requirements and requirements concerning records to be kept and reports to be submitted

(b) The Board of Governors of the California Community Colleges shall adopt rules and regulations for determining program and service components and appropriation of resources to community college districts pursuant to Section 78014. Such rules and regulations shall be based upon guidelines, developed and approved by both the chancellor and the Director of Rehabilitation after public hearings, and shall be appropriate to the educational needs of handicapped students enrolled at a community college

The chancellor and the Director of Rehabilitation shall incorporate suggestions from other interested persons and organizations in the guidelines where feasible and appropriate

If the chancellor and the Director of Rehabilitation are unable to agree upon any portion or portions of the guidelines, each may submit guidelines to the board of governors, which may base the rules and regulations which it adopts on any combination of guidelines submitted

(c) Each community college district receiving an allowance under this section shall report to the chancellor on forms and at such times as he or she shall provide, all expenditures and incomes related to handicapped students for whom such allowances are made If the chancellor determines that the current expense of educating such students does not equal or exceed the sum of basic state aid and state equalization aid provided in the regular community college foundation program per unit of average daily attendance, the allowance provided under this section and any amount of local tax funds contributed to the foundation program for each such handicapped student in average daily attendance in the district, then the amount of such deficiency shall be withheld from state apportionments to the district in the succeeding fiscal year in accordance with the procedure prescribed in Section 84330

(d) The chancellor and the Director of Rehabilitation shall review programs for handicapped students funded pursuant to this section and shall report, jointly or separately, their findings and recommendations to the Legislature not later than February 15, 1978. The report shall include recommendations relative to appropriate levels of support for programs and services for handicapped students and further improvements in funding procedures.

Allocations in excess of seven hundred eighty-five dollars ($785) per student shall be provided only to programs identified by the chancellor and the Director of Rehabilitation in accordance with rules and regulations adopted pursuant to subdivision (b).

(f) In the event that requests for apportionments exceed the amount of state funds statutorily available, the chancellor shall apportion the statutorily available funds among community college districts applying for such funds in accordance with guidelines established and approved by the chancellor and the Director of Rehabilitation pursuant to this section State apportionments shall be made only to districts which certify that all appropriate federal and local funds available for programs for handicapped students are being utilized

(g) The chancellor's office and the Department of Rehabilitation shall jointly develop guidelines governing expenditures relating to handicapped students to prevent duplication in state expenditures for such students.

SEC. 26 Article 8 (commencing with Section 84890) is added to Chapter 5 of Part 50 of the Education Code, to read:

Article 8 Community College Academic Calendar and Student Measurement

84890. There is a pilot program for more flexible and effective nontraditional calendar and course scheduling in the community colleges.

The pilot program shall be limited to the Cabrillo Community College District and six other community college districts to be selected by the Board of Governors of the California Community Colleges

The board of governors shall monitor and evaluate the costs and benefits of experimental, nontraditional calendars to be undertaken in the pilot districts and report its findings to the 1977–78 Regular Session of the Legislature One objective of this article is to study use of a full-time equivalent measure of enrollment that produces a count as similar as possible to the previous average daily attendance count, while eliminating factors that theoretically convert enrollment to attendance Inasmuch as the nationally recognized measure of semester course credit is defined for a term of 16 weeks, a second objective of this article is to evaluate a minimum instructional year of 160 days for community colleges similar to that of other segments of higher education while retaining the 175-day academic year In addition, under provisions of this article, organization of instructional modules are no longer limited to the traditional quarter or semester modes Flexible calendar scheduling will, among other effects, facilitate articulation of community college students with other segments of higher education, allow programs and courses to be designed on the basis of need and subject content, and provide opportunity to smooth peak student course demand within an educationally and fiscally responsible framework.

This article applies only to community college districts included in the pilot program

In order to carry out the purposes of the pilot program the board of governors may waive the provisions of Sections 72252, 76302, 76310, 76311, 76312, 76320, 76321, 78008, 78200, 78206, 78460, 79002, 79028, 84370, 84372, 84520, 84522, 84524, 84525, 84526, 84528, 84531, 84532, 84533, 84550, 84701, 84706, 84760, and any other related sections as applied only to pilot districts

84891 The academic year for community colleges shall be no less than 175 workdays, of which a minimum of 160 days, exclusive of Saturdays and Sundays, shall be devoted to instruction or examination or both in scheduled courses Specific college calendars shall be determined by the district governing board

All college personnel under contract for the academic year are to be accountable, as determined by the district, for the 175 workdays, which include, but are not limited to, the following activities

(a) Course instruction and examination

(b) Student personnel services

(c) Learning resource services

(d) Community and public services

(e) Related activities, such as student advising, guidance and orientation, staff development and in-service training, course, curriculum, and learning resource development, department and division meetings, conferences and workshops, program development and evaluation, and institutional research

(f) The necessary supporting activities for the above

The governing board of a community college district may provide for community college courses on Saturday or Sunday, or both

These days may be counted toward the 160-day minimum required when, due to unforeseen circumstances, a college is closed by order of the President of the United States or the Governor of the State of California

Number and length of courses and sessions or terms scheduled during the academic year shall be determined by the governing board of the district

84892 Community colleges shall be permitted to conduct, in addition to courses and sessions or terms scheduled during the academic year, other sessions and courses, graded and ungraded, any time during the fiscal year for any length of time during any day or days of the week, including Saturdays and Sundays. All such courses shall qualify for state and local fiscal support

84893. The unit of student workload measurement shall be based upon contact hours of enrollment. The unit measure shall be student full-time equivalent contact hours of enrollment and, in graded courses, is derived by dividing the product of the mean average of active enrollment counts at specified census dates and the total contact hour value of each course by an appropriate divisor.

Contact hours of enrollment in ungraded courses (classes for adults) shall be divided by a divisor that produces a comparable unit of student workload measurement.

These divisors shall be determined by the Board of Governors of the California Community Colleges in cooperation with the Department of Finance.

For purposes of any other provision of this code, the unit of student workload measurement as defined under provisions of this section and set forth in Title 5 of the California Administrative Code shall be deemed to be average daily attendance for all community college purposes

(a) Contact hours of enrollment in graded, term or session-length courses during the academic year shall be based upon two census counts of students enrolled on the days nearest one-fifth and three-fifths of the way through the term or session.

(b) Contact hours of enrollment in graded courses scheduled for longer or shorter periods than regular terms or sessions of the academic year or at other times during the fiscal year shall be based upon two census counts of students enrolled on the course meeting days nearest one-fifth and three-fifths of the way through the course, provided that the first census would not occur earlier than the second meeting for courses scheduled to meet two or more times and that the second census would not be taken for courses meeting 12 times or less

For purposes of this subdivision and subdivision (a), the drop date for reporting students in active enrollment, as specified by rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Governors of the California Community Colleges, shall be no later than the day prior to the second census date

(c) Contact hours of enrollment in ungraded courses (classes for adults) shall be based upon a count of students present at each course meeting

(d) Contact hours of enrollment of adults shall be reported separately

(e) Contact hours of enrollment of all students not residents of a community college district shall be reported separately

(f) Contact hours of enrollment of all students not residents of California shall be reported separately.

84894. One semester credit hour of community college work is approximately 48 hours of lecture, study, recitation, demonstration-discussion, and laboratory work, or any combination thereof, over any period of time.

84895. Provisions of this article shall be implemented at no gain or loss in district operating revenue per unit of student workload This may be accomplished without changing base revenue and state aid for individual districts in the year of implementation. To the extent that counts of the new units of student workload differ from average daily attendance only because of new measurement techniques, there may need to be proportionate changes in a district's revenue base per student and in the state foundation programs.

The Board of Governors of the California Community Colleges shall adopt rules and regulations setting forth definitions, procedures, and guidelines to implement this article.

84896. Notwithstanding any provision of this article, state apportionments to community colleges shall continue to be calculated on the basis of a 175-day academic year.

84897 This article shall remain in effect only until July 1, 1981, and as of such date is repealed unless a statute which is chaptered before July 1, 1981, deletes or extends such date

SEC 26.5 Section 100.4 is added to the Revenue and Taxation Code, to read

100 4 Sections 100 2 and 100.3 shall apply only if the jurisdiction estimates that revenues received by that jurisdiction in the next fiscal year will exceed the amount which such jurisdiction may appropriate in the next fiscal year in compliance with the Constitution prior to the reduction of any proceeds of taxes

SEC 27 Chapter 1203 of the Statutes of 1970 is repealed

SEC 27 5. Section 27 2 of Chapter 259 of the Statutes of 1979 is amended to read

The Department of Finance shall certify to the State Controller the amount of such salary savings in this act by item and category, and the State Controller shall revert such sums to the unappropriated surplus of the General Fund The purpose of this section is to achieve a salary savings in the 1979–80 budget year and is not intended to be a permanent workforce reduction

It is the intent of the Legislature that the California Highway Patrol no longer be required to administer county school crossing guard programs beyond June 30, 1980, and that all school crossing guards currently employed by the state pursuant to a contract between a county and the California Highway Patrol become employees effective January 1, 1980.

SEC 3. Notwithstanding Section 2231 or 2234 of the Revenue and Taxation Code, no appropriation is made by this act pursuant to these sections because self-financing authority is provided in this act to cover costs that may be incurred by it in carrying on any program or performing any service required to be carried on or performed by it by this act or because revenue is provided in Section 42201 of the Vehicle Code to cover these costs It is recognized, however, that a local agency or school district may pursue any remedies to obtain reimbursement available to it under Chapter 3 (commencing with Section 2201) of Part 4 of Division 1 of the Revenue and Taxation Code.

SEC. 4 This act is an urgency statute necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, or safety within the meaning of Article IV of the Constitution and shall go into immediate effect. The facts constituting such necessity are:

The Department of the California Highway Patrol administers the school crossing guard program through an appropriation from the General Fund Expenses are subsequently reimbursed by the contracting counties. No appropriation for salaries and wages of crossing guards furnished by the Department of the California Highway Patrol has been included in the 1979–80 budget and it is, therefore, necessary that this act take effect immediately.

An identical appropriation is contained in a companion measure which I intend to approve

With the deletion, I approve Senate Bill No 229.

EDMUND G BROWN JR., Governor

The people of the State of California do enact as follows.

SECTION 1 The Legislature finds and declares that safe, decent and sanitary housing which is affordable is a basic need Adequate housing is of primary importance to the health, safety and well-being of the residents of this state for all of the following reasons:

(a) The homes, rental units, and neighborhoods in which residents live shape them as individuals, contribute to their self-image, and significantly influence their future roles in society.

(b) Housing units affect the physical and mental health of residents; unsanitary, overcrowded, unsuitable units increase crime, and spread disease and infestation.

(c) Housing patterns profoundly affect the state's economy, general well-being, social structure and patterns of development.

(d) A healthy housing market offers the freedom of meaningful choice to all residents; a healthy housing market is necessary to alleviate high unemployment and to achieve a healthy state economy.

The Legislature finds and declares that the state's housing problems are substantial, complex, and now of crisis proportions. There is a great lack of housing available in the state to moderate and lower income people, the elderly, and the handicapped as a result of decay and blight and poorly conceptualized and administered programs. This housing shortage is a threat to the health and well-being of both the individuals affected and the welfare of the state as a whole

SEC. 2 The Legislature finds and declares that the greatest need for housing is experienced by residents at the lower end of the economic scale. Many moderate- and low-income households with children cannot normally find decent, safe, and suitable housing at prices they can afford. The need is not, and apparently cannot be, met by either the private market or by present government-sponsored programs.

Tenants comprise 45 percent of the state's households, but renter income is dramatically lower than homeowner income. More than half of the renter households earn less than eleven thousand dollars ($11,000) annually. Forty-three percent of the state's renters can afford no more than two hundred dollars ($200) a month for rent and utilities and 31 percent of the state's renters can afford no more than one hundred fifty dollars ($150) a month for rent and utilities. The units available at these rents are a small fraction of the number needed by low-income households.

SEC. 3. The Legislature finds and declares that the tremendous disparity between the supply and demand for lower rent units, and the inability of the private market and present governmental programs to meet the need, mandates that the state launch a program which addresses the most urgent needs.

SEC. 4 In order to reduce such housing shortages, it is necessary to implement a public program incorporating the following elements and goals:

(a) A simple rental housing construction program that will utilize available funds in the most efficient and effective model in order to produce the maximum number of housing units

(b) The minimum feasible amount of funding should be used for interest charges, administrative and management costs Maximum feasible use should be made of below market interest rate loans from the California Housing Finance Agency and other public housing

finance entities

(c) A program to serve state residents unable to compete in the present market for safe, decent and suitable housing

(d) A program to encourage the new construction of rental units.

(e) A program to assist low- and moderate-income families to become owners of condominium and cooperative dwelling units and mobilehome park spaces.

(f) A basic program which can be enhanced by the use of state or local surplus lands, additional existing subsidy programs, or other methods of lowering costs presently included in development

(g) A program of housing rehabilitation assistance to low-income and moderate-income families to finance room additions to avoid overcrowding and to permit loans in connection with federally assisted code enforcement.

SEC. 5. The Legislature finds and declares that it is to the economic benefit of the state and a public purpose to encourage the availability of adequate housing for persons and families of low-income or moderate-income and to develop viable urban and rural communities by providing decent housing, enhanced living environments, and increased economic opportunities for persons and families of low or moderate income.

SEC. 6 Section 50097 of the Health and Safety Code is amended to read

50097 "Rehabilitation standards" means applicable state or local building or housing standards adopted pursuant to the State Housing Law, Part 1 5 (commencing with Section 17910) of Division 13, or continued in effect pursuant thereto

For the purposes of Chapter 6 5 (commencing with Section 50660) of Part 2, "rehabilitation standards" includes room additions necessary to prevent overcrowding of low-income or moderate-income households.

SEC. 7 Section 50660 of the Health and Safety Code is amended to read·

50660. The Legislature finds and declares that the rehabilitation of existing housing is necessary to the continued viability of neighborhoods, the elimination of health and safety hazards, the prevention of the overcrowding and the continued availability of a dwindling stock of low-cost housing Economic conditions have not provided sufficient incentive to home improvement and elimination of substandard conditions, and financial assistance in the form of deferred-payment rehabilitation loans is necessary for those owners of residential real property who would otherwise be unable to obtain sufficient public or private financing to bring their properties into compliance with rehabilitation standards. Deferred-payment loans provide a means of financing rehabilitation which the owner could not otherwise afford Such assistance is particularly necessary where local agencies are undertaking concentrated or systematic enforcement programs to require compliance with rehabilitation standards, and where persons or families of low or moderate income are affected.

SEC. 8 Section 50661 of the Health and Safety Code is amended to read.

50661. There is hereby created in the State Treasury the Housing Rehabilitation Loan Fund. All interest or other increment resulting from the investment of moneys in the Housing Rehabilitation Loan Fund shall be deposited in such fund, notwithstanding Section 16305 7 of the Government Code. All money in such fund is continuously appropriated to the department (a) for making deferred-payment rehabilitation loans for financing all or a portion of the cost of rehabilitating existing housing to meet rehabilitation standards as provided in this chapter; (b) for making deferred-payment loans as provided in Sections 50669 and 50670; (c) for related administrative expenses of the department; and (d) for related administrative costs of nonprofit corporations and local public entities contracting with the department pursuant to Section 50663 in an amount, if any, as determined by the department, to enable such entities and corporations to implement a program pursuant to this chapter

SEC 9. Section 50662 of the Health and Safety Code is amended to read·

50662 The department shall adopt regulations establishing terms upon which deferred-payment rehabilitation loans may be made. The amount of a deferred-payment rehabilitation loan shall in no case exceed the costs of meeting rehabilitation standards. The amount, when combined with other financing provided, shall in no case exceed the combined costs of meeting rehabilitation standards and refinancing existing indebtedness Except for loans made to local agencies pursuant to Section 50664, deferred-payment rehabilitation loans shall bear interest at the rate of 3 percent per annum on the unpaid principal balance In the discretion of the department, which may differentiate among the types of programs specified in Section 50663, such interest shall either be payable periodically as it accrues during the term of the loan or payment of interest shall be deferred until payment of the principal is due However, regulations of the department may provide for waiver of interest payments when a local public entity or nonprofit corporation contracting pursuant to Section 50663 remits to the department in advance on behalf of the borrower a sum equal to not less than 15 percent of the original principal balance, which may be in lieu of interest The regulations of the department may also provide for payment of interest as accrued, in circumstances determined appropriate by the department to serve the purposes of this chapter In the case of a deferred-payment rehabilitation loan to an elderly person who is the owner of an owner-occupied one-to-four family residence, the note and deed of trust securing the loan shall require payment of the obligation upon transfer of the property In the case of a deferred-payment rehabilitation loan to a nonelderly person who is the owner of an owner-occupied one-to-four family residence, payment shall be required after five years or upon transfer of the property, whichever first occurs. However, the loan may be renewed for additional five-year terms so long as the property is not transferred and the owner is unable to refinance the obligation when the debt comes due. In the case of a deferred-payment rehabilitation loan to an owner of a residence other than an owner-occupied one-to-four family residence, payment shall be required after five years, but the loan may be renewed for up to three additional five-year terms so long as persons of low income residing in the residence will benefit. The department shall establish standards and determine eligibility for renewal.

SEC. 10. Section 50663 of the Health and Safety Code is amended to read:

50663. The department may contract with a local public entity or nonprofit corporation to provide any portion of uncommitted funds in the Housing Rehabilitation Loan Fund for making deferred-payment rehabilitation loans through such local public entity or nonprofit corporation in aid of a (a) rehabilitation loan program conducted in a concentrated rehabilitation area designated pursuant to Section 51302; (b) residential rehabilitation financing program conducted pursuant to Part 13 (commencing with Section 37910) of Division 24; (c) systematic enforcement program for which the California Housing Finance Agency has allocated funds for mortgage loans pursuant to Section 51311; (d) code enforcement agency repairing substandard dwellings following the owner's failure to commence work following a final notice or order from the enforcement agency; (e) program conducted by the agency in a mortgage assistance area, provided such area is located in a rural area; or (f) rehabilitation or code enforcement program being undertaken by a local public entity or nonprofit corporation in an area in which federal funds are being used or will be used in conjunction with the program established pursuant to this chapter. Eligibility for such loans shall be governed by the provisions of Sections 50664, 50665, 50666, 50667, and 50667.5.

SEC. 11. Section 50667.5 is added to the Health and Safety Code, to read:

50667.5. In areas in which a local public entity or nonprofit corporation is undertaking a rehabilitation or code enforcement program for which federal funds are being used or will be used in conjunction with the program established pursuant to this chapter, a person or family of low income who is the owner of an owner-occupied one-unit to four-unit dwelling may receive a deferred payment rehabilitation loan for the excess of the cost of meeting rehabilitation standards over the amount of financing or assistance the local public entity or nonprofit corporation is able to provide without exceeding the owner's ability to afford the monthly payments required. Owners of rental housing in such areas may receive deferred payment loans if necessary to avoid increases in monthly debt service which would result in rent increases causing permanent displacement of persons of low income residing in such housing and if the owner enters into an agreement with the local public entity or nonprofit corporation which provides for the regulation of rents and limitations on profit to assure that the purposes of this chapter are carried out Such agreement shall be binding on any successor in interest of the sponsor. The department may adopt regulations which govern the terms of such agreements. Owners of rental housing in such areas may also receive deferred-payment rehabilitation loans in the amount necessary to avoid such increases in monthly debt service as would make it economically infeasible to accept subsidies available to provide affordable rents to persons of low income if the owner agrees to accept such subsidies.

SEC. 12. Section 50669 is added to the Health and Safety Code, to read:

50669 As used in Section 50670:

(a) "Deferred-payment loan" means a loan for acquisition and rehabilitation of a rental housing development which (1) has a term of not more than 25 years, but which shall not in any event exceed the useful life of the rental housing development for which such loan is made, as determined by the department, whichever is less, and (2) is repaid in a single payment upon refinancing of such development at the end of the term of the loan. Such loans shall bear interest at the rate of 3 percent per annum on the unpaid principal balance, provided however, that the department may reduce or eliminate interest payments on a loan for any year or alternatively defer interest payments until the deferred-payment loan is repaid, if in the exercise of sound discretion, the department determines such action is necessary to provide affordable rents to elderly or handicapped households of very low and low income.

(b) "Rental housing development" means a residential structure containing five or more rental dwelling units, provided that each unit is equipped with a kitchen and bathroom

SEC. 13. Section 50670 is added to the Health and Safety Code, to read:

50670 (a) The Department shall establish a Demonstration Housing Rehabilitation Program for the Elderly and Handicapped, under which it may make deferred-payment loans to sponsors for the rehabilitation or the acquisition and rehabilitation of rental housing developments to be occupied by elderly or handicapped households of very low and low income The department may make such loans in an amount necessary to acquire and rehabilitate a rental housing development and to provide affordable rents, when considered in conjunction with other financing on or assistance to such development, for elderly or handicapped households of very low and low income for the term of the regulatory agreement pursuant to subdivision (d) In no event may the amount of the loan exceed 90 percent of the combined amount of the fair market value of the rental housing development and the cost of rehabilitation work to be undertaken, provided, however, that with respect to a non-profit sponsor, the department may loan up to 100 percent of such combined amount.

(b) In making a loan pursuant to this section, the department may disburse funds in a manner and in accordance with a schedule which ensures the economic feasibility of the rental housing development and the completion of the rehabilitation work and which protects the interests of the state.

(c) Prior to making a loan commitment pursuant to this section, the department shall do the following:

(1) Inspect the rental housing development to be assisted pursuant to this section to determine the economic feasibility of rehabilitating such development.

(2) Approve a plan submitted by the sponsor which includes a plan for occupancy of the development, a description of the nature and costs of rehabilitation to be undertaken, and projections as to rental levels in such development

(d) Prior to disbursement of any funds pursuant to this section, the department shall enter into a regulatory agreement with the sponsor which provides for the limitation on profits in the operation of the rental housing development, sets standards for tenant selection to ensure occupancy by elderly or handicapped households of very low and low income for the term of such agreeement, governs the terms of occupancy agreements, and contains other provisions necessary to carry out the purposes of this section Upon recordation of the agreement in the office of the county recorder in the county in which the real property subject to such agreement is located, the agreement shall be binding upon the sponsor and successors in interest for the original term of the loan, as determined by the department, but for a period of not more than 25 years

(e) The department shall fix and alter, from time to time, a schedule of rents on each development as may be necessary to provide residents of the rental housing development with affordable rents, to the extent consistent with the financial integrity of such development. No sponsor shall increase the rent on any unit without the prior permission of the department which shall be given only if the sponsor affirmatively demonstrates that such increase is required to defray necessary operating costs or to avoid jeopardizing the fiscal integrity of the housing development However, in the event that the department does not act upon a request for a rent increase within 60 days from documented receipt of the request, such increase shall be deemed approved

(f) The department may annually inspect rental housing developments assisted pursuant to this section to ensure compliance with the terms of the regulatory agreement and may require such audits, financial statements, and other documents as are necessary to ensure compliance with the terms of the regulatory agreement and to ensure occupancy by elderly or handicapped households of very low and low income

(g) In conjunction with rental housing developments rehabilitated pursuant to Section 50669 and this section, the department shall make displacement payments in the amount of one thousand dollars ($1,000) to persons and families of low or moderate income displaced as a result of such rehabilitation, provided that eligible households who will reside in the rental housing development subsequent to rehabilitation shall instead be provided with temporary housing during that period of the rehabilitation which requires temporary displacement of such tenants. The amount of monthly assistance provided to eligible households temporarily displaced shall not exceed the difference between monthly rents paid by such households in the rental housing development prior to rehabilitation and the rents in units located by the department during the period of rehabilitation.

Eligible households displaced as a result of rehabilitation shall be accorded first priority in occupying units in the rental housing development subsequent to rehabilitation.

SEC. 14. Chapter 9 (commencing with Section 50735) is added to Part 2 of Division 31 of the Health and Safety Code, to read:

CHAPTER 1043

An act to amend Sections 50097, 50660, 50661, 50662, and 50663 of, to add Sections 50667 5, 50669, and 50670, and 51350.5 to, and to add Chapter 9 (commencing with Section 50735) and Chapter 10 (commencing with Section 50775) to Part 2 of Division 31 of, the Health and Safety Code, relating to housing, and making an appropriation therefor.

[Approved by Governor September 26, 1979 Filed with Secretary of State September 26, 1979]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1 The Legislature finds and declares that safe, decent, and sanitary housing which is affordable is a basic need Adequate housing is of primary importance to the health, safety and well-being of the residents of this state for all of the following reasons.

(a) The homes, rental units, and neighborhoods in which residents live shape them as individuals, contribute to their

self-image, and significantly influence their future roles in society

(b) Housing units affect the physical and mental health of residents; unsanitary, overcrowded, unsuitable units increase crime, and spread disease and infestation.

(c) Housing patterns profoundly affect the state's economy, general well-being, social structure and patterns of development.

(d) A healthy housing market offers the freedom of meaningful choice to all residents; a healthy housing market is necessary to alleviate high unemployment and to achieve a healthy state economy

The Legislature finds and declares that the state's housing problems are substantial, complex, and now of crisis proportions. There is a great lack of housing available in the state to moderate and lower income people, the elderly, and the handicapped as a result of decay and blight and poorly conceptualized and administered programs. This housing shortage is a threat to the health and well-being of both the individuals affected and the welfare of the state as a whole

SEC. 2 The Legislature finds and declares that the greatest need for housing is experienced by residents at the lower end of the economic scale Many moderate- and low-income households with children cannot normally find decent, safe, and suitable housing at prices they can afford The need is not, and apparently cannot be, met by either the private market or by present government-sponsored programs.

Tenants comprise 45 percent of the state's households, but renter income is dramatically lower than homeowner income More than half of the renter households earn less than eleven thousand dollars ($11,000) annually Forty-three percent of the state's renters can afford no more than two hundred dollars ($200) a month for rent and utilities and 31 percent of the state's renters can afford no more than one hundred fifty dollars ($150) a month for rent and utilities The units available at these rents are a small fraction of the number needed by low-income households

SEC 3 The Legislature finds and declares that the tremendous disparity between the supply and demand for lower rent units, and the inability of the private market and present governmental programs to meet the need, mandates that the state launch a program which addresses the most urgent needs

SEC. 4 In order to reduce such housing shortages, it is necessary to implement a public program incorporating the following elements and goals

(a) A simple rental housing construction program that will utilize available funds in the most efficient and effective model in order to produce the maximum number of housing units

(b) The minimum feasible amount of funding should be used for interest charges, administrative and management costs Maximum feasible use should be made of below market interest rate loans from the California Housing Finance Agency and other public housing finance entities.

(c) A program to serve state residents unable to compete in the present market for safe, decent and suitable housing.

(d) A program to encourage the new construction of rental units.

(e) A program to assist low-income and moderate-income families to become owners of condominium and cooperative dwelling units and mobilehome park spaces

(f) A basic program which can be enhanced by the use of state or local surplus lands, additional existing subsidy programs, or other methods of lowering costs presently included in development

(g) A program of housing rehabilitation assistance to low- and moderate-income families to finance room additions to avoid overcrowding and to permit loans in connection with federally assisted code enforcement

SEC 5 The Legislature finds and declares that it is to the economic benefit of the state and a public purpose to encourage the availability of adequate housing for persons and families of low-income or moderate-income and to develop viable urban and rural communities by providing decent housing, enhanced living environments, and increased economic opportunities for persons and families of low or moderate income.

SEC. 6 Section 50097 of the Health and Safety Code is amended to read.

50097. "Rehabilitation standards" means applicable state or local building or housing standards adopted pursuant to the State Housing Law, Part 1.5 (commencing with Section 17910) of Division 13, or continued in effect pursuant thereto

For the purposes of Chapter 6.5 (commencing with Section 50660) of Part 2, "rehabilitation standards" includes room additions necessary to prevent overcrowding of low-income or moderate-income households.

SEC 7 Section 50660 of the Health and Safety Code is amended to read·

50660 The Legislature finds and declares that the rehabilitation of existing housing is necessary to the continued viability of neighborhoods, the elimination of health and safety hazards, the prevention of the overcrowding and the continued availability of a dwindling stock of low-cost housing Economic conditions have not provided sufficient incentive to home improvement and elimination of substandard conditions, and financial assistance in the form of deferred-payment rehabilitation loans is necessary for those owners of residential real property who would otherwise be unable to obtain sufficient public or private financing to bring their properties into compliance with rehabilitation standards. Deferred-payment loans provide a means of financing rehabilitation which the owner could not otherwise afford Such assistance is particularly necessary where local agencies are undertaking concentrated or systematic enforcement programs to require compliance with rehabilitation standards, and where persons or families of low or moderate income

are affected

SEC 8 Section 50661 of the Health and Safety Code is amended to read

50661 There is hereby created in the State Treasury the Housing Rehabilitation Loan Fund. All interest or other increment resulting from the investment of moneys in the Housing Rehabilitation Loan Fund shall be deposited in such fund, notwithstanding Section 16305 7 of the Government Code. All money in such fund is continuously appropriated to the department (a) for making deferred-payment rehabilitation loans for financing all or a portion of the cost of rehabilitating existing housing to meet rehabilitation standards as provided in this chapter; (b) for making deferred-payment loans as provided in Sections 50669 and 50670; (c) for related administrative expenses of the department; and (d) for related administrative costs of nonprofit corporations and local public entities contracting with the department pursuant to Section 50663 in an amount, if any, as determined by the department, to enable such entities and corporations to implement a program pursuant to this chapter

SEC. 9. Section 50662 of the Health and Safety Code is amended to read

50662 The department shall adopt regulations establishing terms upon which deferred-payment rehabilitation loans may be made The amount of a deferred-payment rehabilitation loan shall in no case exceed the costs of meeting rehabilitation standards. The amount, when combined with other financing provided, shall in no case exceed the combined costs of meeting rehabilitation standards and refinancing existing indebtedness. Except for loans made to local agencies pursuant to Section 50664, deferred-payment rehabilitation loans shall bear interest at the rate of 3 percent per annum on the unpaid principal balance. In the discretion of the department, which may differentiate among the types of programs specified in Section 50663, such interest shall either be payable periodically as it accrues during the term of the loan or payment of interest shall be deferred until payment of the principal is due. However, regulations of the department may provide for waiver of interest payments when a local public entity or nonprofit corporation contracting pursuant to Section 50663 remits to the department in advance on behalf of the borrower a sum equal to not less than 15 percent of the original principal balance, which may be in lieu of interest The regulations of the department may also provide for payment of interest as accrued, in circumstances determined appropriate by the department to serve the purposes of this chapter In the case of a deferred-payment rehabilitation loan to an elderly person who is the owner of an owner-occupied one-to-four family residence, the note and deed of trust securing the loan shall require payment of the obligation upon transfer of the property. In the case of a deferred-payment rehabilitation loan to a nonelderly person who is the owner of an owner-occupied one-to-four family residence, payment shall be required after five years or upon transfer of the property, whichever first occurs However, the loan may be renewed for additional five-year terms so long as the property is not transferred and the owner is unable to refinance the obligation when the debt comes due In the case of a deferred-payment rehabilitation loan to an owner of a residence other than an owner-occupied one-to-four family residence, payment shall be required after five years, but the loan may be renewed for up to three additional five-year terms so long as persons of low income residing in the residence will benefit The department shall establish standards and determine eligibility for renewal

50663 The department may contract with a local public entity or nonprofit corporation to provide any portion of uncommitted funds in the Housing Rehabilitation Loan Fund for making deferred-payment rehabilitation loans through such local public entity or nonprofit corporation in aid of a (a) rehabilitation loan program conducted in a concentrated rehabilitation area designated pursuant to Section 51302, (b) residential rehabilitation financing program conducted pursuant to Part 13 (commencing with Section 37910) of Division 24, (c) systematic enforcement program for which the California Housing Finance Agency has allocated funds for mortgage loans pursuant to Section 51311, (d) code enforcement agency repairing substandard dwellings following the owner's failure to commence work following a final notice or order from the enforcement agency, (e) program conducted by the agency in a mortgage assistance area, provided such area is located in a rural area, or (f) rehabilitation or code enforcement program being undertaken by a local public entity or nonprofit corporation in an area in which federal funds are being used or will be used in conjunction with the program established pursuant to this chapter Eligibility for such loans shall be governed by the provisions of Sections 50664, 50665, 50666, 50667, and 50667.5

SEC 11 Section 50667 5 is added to the Health and Safety Code, to read

50667 5 In areas in which a local public entity or nonprofit corporation is undertaking a rehabilitation or code enforcement program for which federal funds are being used or will be used in conjunction with the program established pursuant to this chapter, a person or family of low income who is the owner of an owner-occupied one-unit to four-unit dwelling may receive a deferred payment rehabilitation loan for the excess of the cost of meeting rehabilitation standards over the amount of financing or assistance the local public entity or nonprofit corporation is able to provide without exceeding the owner's ability to afford the monthly payments required Owners of rental housing in such areas may receive deferred payment loans if necessary to avoid increases in monthly debt service which would result in rent increases causing permanent displacement of persons of low income residing in such housing and if the owner enters into an agreement with the local public entity or nonprofit corporation which provides for the regulation of rents and limitations on profit to assure that the purposes of this chapter are carried out. Such agreement shall be binding on any successor in interest of the sponsor. The department may adopt regulations which govern the terms of such agreements Owners of rental housing in such areas may also receive deferred-payment rehabilitation loans in the amount necessary to avoid such increases in monthly debt service as would make it economically infeasible to accept subsidies available to provide affordable rents to persons of low income if the owner agrees to accept such subsidies.

SEC. 12 Section 50669 is added to the Health and Safety Code, to read.

50669 As used in Section 50670·

(a) "Deferred-payment loan" means a loan for acquisition and rehabilitation of a rental housing development which (1) has a term of not more than 25 years, but which shall not in any event exceed the useful life of the rental housing development for which such loan is made, as determined by the department, whichever is less, and (2) is repaid in a single payment upon refinancing of such development at the end of the term of the loan. Such loans shall bear interest at the rate of 3 percent per annum on the unpaid principal balance, provided however, that the department may reduce or eliminate interest payments on a loan for any year or alternatively defer interest payments until the deferred payment loan is repaid, if in the exercise of sound discretion, the department determines such action is necessary to provide affordable rents to elderly or handicapped households of very low and low income.

(b) "Rental housing development" means a residential structure containing five or more rental dwelling units, provided that each unit is equipped with a kitchen and bathroom

SEC. 13 Section 50670 is added to the Health and Safety Code, to read·

The department may make such loans in an amount necessary to acquire and rehabilitate a rental housing development and to provide affordable rents, when considered in conjunction with other financing on or assistance to such development, for elderly or handicapped households of very low and low income for the term of the regulatory agreement pursuant to subdivision (d) In no event may the amount of the loan exceed 90 percent of the combined amount of the fair market value of the rental housing development and the cost of rehabilitation work to be undertaken, provided, however, that with respect to a nonprofit sponsor, the department may loan up to 100 percent of such combined amount

(b) In making a loan pursuant to this section, the department may disburse funds in a manner and in accordance with a schedule which ensures the economic feasibility of the rental housing development and the completion of the rehabilitation work and which protects the interests of the state

(c) Prior to making a loan commitment pursuant to this section, the department shall do the following

(1) Inspect the rental housing development to be assisted pursuant to this section to determine the economic feasibility of rehabilitating such development.

(2) Approve a plan submitted by the sponsor which includes a plan for occupancy of the development, a description of the nature and costs of rehabilitation to be undertaken, and projections as to rental levels in such development.

(d) Prior to disbursement of any funds pursuant to this section, the department shall enter into a regulatory agreement with the sponsor which provides for the limitation on profits in the operation of the rental housing development, sets standards for tenant selection to ensure occupancy by elderly or handicapped households of very low and low income for the term of such agreeement, governs the terms of occupancy agreements, and contains other provisions necessary to carry out the purposes of this section. Upon recordation of the agreement in the office of the county recorder in the county in which the real property subject to such agreement is located, the agreement shall be binding upon the sponsor and successors in interest for the original term of the loan, as determined by the department, but for a period of not more than 25 years

(e) The department shall fix and alter, from time to time, a schedule of rents on each development as may be necessary to provide residents of the rental housing development with affordable rents, to the extent consistent with the financial integrity of such development No sponsor shall increase the rent on any unit without the prior permission of the department which shall be given only if the sponsor affirmatively demonstrates that such increase is required to defray necessary operating costs or to avoid jeopardizing the fiscal integrity of the housing development However, in the event that the department does not act upon a request for a rent increase within 60 days from documented receipt of the request, such increase shall be deemed approved

(f) The department may annually inspect rental housing developments assisted pursuant to this section to ensure compliance with the terms of the regulatory agreement and may require such audits, financial statements, and other documents as are necessary to ensure compliance with the terms of the regulatory agreement and to ensure occupancy by elderly or handicapped households of very low and low income

(g) In conjunction with rental housing developments rehabilitated pursuant to Section 50669 and this section, the department shall make displacement payments in the amount of one thousand dollars ($1,000) to persons and families of low or moderate income displaced as a result of such rehabilitation, provided that eligible households who will reside in the rental housing development subsequent to rehabilitation shall instead be provided with temporary housing during that period of the rehabilitation which requires temporary displacement of such tenants. The amount of monthly assistance provided to eligible households temporarily displaced shall not exceed the difference betwen monthly rents paid by such households in the rental housing development prior to rehabilitation and the rents in units located by the department during the period of rehabilitation.

Eligible households displaced as a result of rehabilitation shall be accorded first priority in occupying units in the rental housing development subsequent to rehabilitation

50702 The department may make loans to eligible sponsors to enable such sponsors to exercise options or to purchase land on which no option can be obtained even though the sponsor is not able at the time to proceed to the development of assisted housing on the purchased site, which shall be in a rural area All such loans shall be secured by a first deed of trust on the purchased land to the benefit of the state, or in the case of Indian Trust Land a mortgage on a leasehold interest in the land shall be acceptable

If the department eliminates interest on a loan pursuant to this subdivision, it shall charge a loan origination fee of not more than 2 percent of the loan amount.

(c) All moneys received in repayment of such loans, including interest, and any other moneys received by the department pursuant to this chapter shall be deposited in the Land Purchase Fund

[Approved by Governor September 26, 1979. Filed with Secretary of State September 26, 1979.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Section 50101 of the Health and Safety Code is amended to read:

50101. "Rural area" means any open country or any place, town, village, or city which by itself and taken together with any other places, towns, villages, or cities that it is part of or associated with (a) has a population not exceeding 10,000, or (b) has a population not exceeding 20,000 and is contained within a nonmetropolitan area. "Rural area" additionally includes any open country, place, town, village, or city located within a Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area if the population thereof does not exceed 20,000 and the area is not part of, or associated with, an urban area and is rural in character. This definition may be changed by the department or the agency, as the case may be, to conform to changes in federal programs.

SEC. 2. Section 50519 is added to the Health and Safety Code, to read:

50519. (a) The Legislature finds and declares that the need for decent housing among individuals of very low and low income is great, and that residential hotels are often the only form of housing affordable to these individuals. Many residential hotels are in poor condition and in need of rehabilitation, and many are being demolished or converted to other uses. The state can play an important role in preserving the existence and improving the quality of this housing resource through sponsoring demonstration projects which will enable local sponsors to acquire, rehabilitate, maintain or otherwise protect and improve residential hotels as a housing resource for persons of very low and low income. The demonstration projects should be undertaken and designed in such a manner as to demonstrate the feasibility of innovative methods of protecting and improving residential hotels and of improving their habitability while assuring their continued availability to persons of very low and low income.

(b) The following definitions govern the construction of this section

(1) "Residential hotel" means any building containing six or more guestrooms intended or designed to be used, or which are used, rented, or hired out, to be occupied, or which are occupied, for sleeping purposes by guests, which is also the primary residence of such guests, but does not mean any hotel which is primarily used by transient guests who do not occupy such hotel as their primary residence

(2) "Sponsor" means a local government or nonprofit housing sponsor.

(3) "Persons of low income" shall have the same meaning as persons of low income as defined in Section 50093 of the Health and Safety Code

(c) The department, in conjunction with the State Fire Marshal, shall develop a model code for the rehabilitation of residential hotels. The department shall adopt such code on or before January 1, 1981 Such code need not be adopted by any city, county, or city and county However, such entities may adopt all or part of such code as an alternative to the requirements of the State Housing Law, Part 1 5 (commencing with Section 17910) of Division 13, as that law applies to residential hotels

The purpose of such standards shall be to protect the health, safety, and welfare of the occupants of such hotels, to allow the economically feasible rehabilitation of such hotels, and to assure to the extent possible the preservation of such hotels as housing for very low and low-income persons.

(d) The agency shall develop a program of financing and loan insurance for the purpose of assisting the rehabilitation and acquisition of residential hotels serving the housing needs of very low and low income persons by appropriate sponsors, and shall implement such a program on or before January 1, 1981

In the event that the agency is unable to implement such a program, it shall report to the Legislature on or before July 1, 1981, the reasons for its inability to implement such a program, and recommend methods by which the agency could implement such a program

(e) The department shall contract, subject to the availability of federal funds, with selected sponsors to acquire, rehabilitate, maintain, or otherwise protect and improve residential hotels as housing for persons of low income Such contracts may provide for grants or loans at an interest rate which the department determines will facilitate the present and future use of residential hotels as housing for persons of very low and low income Subject to the availability of funds, the department shall contract for the preservation and improvement of at least one residential hotel in a rural area Subject to restrictions on funds received, the department shall give first priority to hotels financed or acquired with assistance from the agency pursuant to subdivision (d)

(f) In connection with contracts let pursuant to subdivision (e), the department shall fix, and may alter from time to time, a schedule of rents as may be necessary to assure affordable rents for persons of low income in residential hotels assisted by funds made available under subdivision (e), and to the extent consistent with the maintenance of the financial integrity of the sponsor of the project and with the requirements for repayment of any funds loaned as established by the department No local government or nonprofit housing sponsor receiving funds through the provisions of subdivision (e) shall alter rents without the prior permission of the department, which permission shall be given only if the sponsor demonstrates that such an alteration is necessary to defray necessary operating costs and to avoid jeopardizing the fiscal integrity of the sponsor or to maintain affordable rents to the residents in such project If the department does not act upon a request for a rent increase within 60 days, such increase shall be deemed approved In connection with contracts authorized by subdivision (e), the department may determine standards for the selection by sponsors of the tenants for units in projects funded by contracts pursuant to subdivision (e). The authority of the department to fix and alter rents pursuant to this subdivision shall apply only to units within residential hotels which receive assistance pursuant to subdivision (e).

(g) On or before January 1, 1983, the department shall conduct an evaluation of the various projects funded pursuant to subdivision (e), and of the various methods of preserving and improving residential hotels as a housing resource for persons of low income, and will report on these projects and methods to the Legislature

(h) On or before January 1, 1983, the department shall report to the Legislature on the extent of the use of residential hotels as housing for persons of low income, and on possible state actions to further the use of residential hotels and to improve existing conditions in residential hotels in a manner designed to maintain their use as housing for persons of low income

50532 (a) The department shall require adequate security for all loans made from the loan fund For purposes of this subdivision "adequate security" includes, but need not be limited to, a first lien on any property purchased with loan fund moneys, a promissory note, or an assignment of a land option, except that in the case of Indian trust land a mortgage on a leasehold interest in the property shall be acceptable

(b) No loan may be made pursuant to this chapter unless the department may reasonably anticipate that a commitment can be obtained by the nonprofit corporation or local agency for construction financing or long-term financing that will permit occupancy as specified in Section 50531. The department shall not approve loans exceeding fifty thousand dollars ($50,000), exclusive of payments for purchase of real property as may be approved by the department The department shall not approve loans, including payments for options or deposits on contracts of purchase for a term less than 12 months or in an amount in excess of 10 percent of the purchase price

(c) (1) Except as provided in paragraph (2) of this subdivision, all loans made from the loan fund shall bear interest. The rate of interest for any loan shall be computed annually, and shall be the same as the average rate returned by the Pooled Money Investment Board for the past five fiscal years immediately preceding the year in which the loan payment is made

(2) The department may reduce or eliminate interest on the loans, if, in the exercise of sound discretion, the department determines such action is necessary for the provision of decent housing to very low income households However, if the department eliminates interest on a loan, it shall charge a loan origination fee, not to exceed 2 percent of the loan amount

(d) In complying with the provisions of Section 50408, the department shall also report annually to the Legislature and the Governor on the administration of the loan fund. Such report shall include, but need not be limited to, (1) the number of units assisted, (2) the average income of households assisted and the distribution of annual incomes among assisted households, (3) the rents in assisted units, (4) the number and amount of loans made to each agency or nonprofit corporation in the preceding year, (5) data on the number of delinquencies and defaults, (6) recommendations, as needed, to improve operations of the fund, and (7) the location of housing developments aided in relation to public transit corridors.

(e) Other things being equal, the department shall give priority to assisting developments which will be located in public transit corridors.

SEC. 5 Section 50662 of the Health and Safety Code is amended to read

50662. The department shall adopt regulations establishing terms upon which deferred-payment rehabilitation loans may be made. The amount of a deferred-payment rehabilitation loan shall in no case exceed the costs of meeting rehabilitation standards The amount, when combined with other financing provided, shall in no case exceed the combined costs of meeting rehabilitation standards and refinancing existing indebtedness. Except for loans made to local agencies pursuant to Section 50664, deferred-payment rehabilitation loans shall bear interest at the rate of 3 percent per annum on the unpaid principal balance. In the discretion of the department, which may differentiate among the types of programs specified in Section 50663, such interest shall either be payable periodically as it accrues

during the term of the loan or payment of interest shall be deferred until payment of the principal is due. However, regulations of the department may provide for waiver of interest payments when a local public entity or nonprofit corporation contracting pursuant to Section 50663 remits to the department in advance on behalf of the borrower a sum equal to not less than 15 percent of the original principal balance, which may be in lieu of interest. The regulations of the department may also provide for payment of interest as accrued, in circumstances determined appropriate by the department to serve the purposes of this chapter In the case of a deferred-payment rehabilitation loan to an elderly person who is the owner of an owner-occupied one-to-four family residence, the note and deed of trust securing the loan shall require payment of the obligation upon transfer of the property In the case of a deferred-payment rehabilitation loan to a nonelderly person who is the owner of an owner-occupied one-to-four family residence, payment shall be required after five years or upon transfer of the property, whichever first occurs. However, the loan may be renewed for additional five-year terms so long as the property is not transferred and the owner is unable to refinance the obligation when the debt comes due. In the case of a deferred-payment rehabilitation loan to an owner of a residence other than an owner-occupied one-to-four family residence, payment shall be required after five years, but the loan may be renewed for up to three additional five-year terms so long as persons of low income residing in the residence will benefit The department shall establish standards and determine eligibility for renewal Regulations of the department shall permit the assumption of a deferred-payment rehabilitation loan authorized by this section when the property which has been rehabilitated by such loan is transferred to a person who meets the eligibility requirements of this section, as determined by the department

SEC 6 Section 50663 of the Health and Safety Code is amended to read.

50663. The department may contract with a local public entity or nonprofit corporation to provide any portion of uncommitted funds in the Housing Rehabilitation Loan Fund for making deferred-payment rehabilitation loans through such local public entity or nonprofit corporation in aid of a (a) rehabilitation loan program conducted in a concentrated rehabilitation area designated pursuant to Section 51302, (b) residential rehabilitation financing program conducted pursuant to Part 13 (commencing with Section 37910) of Division 24, (c) systematic enforcement program for which the California Housing Finance Agency has allocated funds for mortgage loans pursuant to Section 51311; (d) code enforcement agency repairing substandard dwellings following the owner's failure to commence work following a final notice or order from the enforcement agency; (e) program conducted by the agency in a mortgage assistance area, provided such area is located in a rural area, or (f) rehabilitation or code enforcement program being undertaken by a local public entity or nonprofit corporation in an area in which federal funds are being used or will be used in conjunction with the program established pursuant to this chapter. Eligibility for such loans shall be governed by the provisions of Sections 50664, 50665, 50666, 50667, 50667 5, or 50668

SEC. 7 Section 50667 5 of the Health and Safety Code, as added by Assembly Bill 333 of the 1979–80 Regular Session of the Legislature, is amended to read:

50667.5 In areas in which a local public entity or nonprofit corporation is undertaking a rehabilitation or code enforcement program for which federal funds are being used or will be used in conjunction with the program established pursuant to this chapter, a person or family of low income who is the owner of an owner-occupied one-unit to four-unit dwelling may receive a deferred-payment rehabilitation loan for the excess of the cost of meeting rehabilitation standards over the amount of financing or assistance the local public entity or nonprofit corporation is able to provide without exceeding the owner's ability to afford the monthly payments required Owners of rental housing in such areas may receive deferred-payment loans if necessary to avoid increases in monthly debt service which would result in rent increases causing permanent displacement of persons of low income residing in such housing and if the owner enters into an agreement with the local public entity or nonprofit corporation which provides for the regulation of rents, consistent with a fair rate of return for the owner, if such owner is not a nonprofit corporation, and consistent with the provision of affordable rents, to assure that the purposes of this chapter are carried out. Such agreement shall be binding on any successor in interest of the sponsor. The department may adopt regulations which govern the terms of such agreements. Owners of rental housing in such areas may also receive deferred-payment rehabilitation loans in the amount necessary to avoid such increases in monthly debt service as would make it economically infeasible to accept subsidies available to provide affordable rents to persons of low income if the owner agrees to accept such subsidies

50668 Except as provided in Section 50664, deferred-payment loans may be made only through agreements between the local public entity or nonprofit corporation which has received a fund commitment and the owner of the residence, residential structure, or housing development. Such agreements shall regulate contractor selection, work to be done, and the schedule of contractor payments, and shall require that the loan be secured by a deed of trust Agreements regarding housing other than owner-occupied one-to-four family dwellings shall have the prior approval of the department

All moneys received by the department in repayment of loans made pursuant to this chapter, including interest and payments in advance in lieu of future interest, shall be deposited in the Housing Rehabilitation Loan Fund

SEC 9 Section 50669 of the Health and Safety Code, as added by Assembly Bill 333 of the 1979–80 Regular Session of the Legislature, is amended to read

50669 As used in Section 50670

(a) "Deferred-payment loan" means a loan for acquisition and rehabilitation of a rental housing development which (1) has a term of not more than 25 years, but which shall not in any event exceed the useful life of the rental housing development for which such loan is made, as determined by the department, whichever is less, and (2) is repaid in a single payment upon refinancing of such development at the end of the term of the loan. Such loans shall bear interest at the rate of 3 percent per annum on the unpaid principal balance, provided however, that the department may reduce or eliminate interest payments on a loan for any year or alternatively defer interest payments until the deferred-payment loan is repaid, if in the exercise of sound discretion, the department determines such action is necessary to provide affordable rents to elderly or handicapped households of very low and low income

(b) "Rental housing development" means a residential structure or structures containing five or more rental dwelling units, provided that each unit is equipped with a kitchen and bathroom

SEC 31 Section 1 of Assembly Bill 333 of the 1979–80 Regular Session of the Legislature, is amended to read·

Section 1 The Legislature finds and declares that safe, decent, and sanitary housing which is affordable is a basic need Adequate housing is of primary importance to the health, safety and well-being of the residents of this state for all of the following reasons:

(a) The homes, rental units, and neighborhoods in which residents live shape them as individuals, contribute to their self-image, and significantly influence their future roles in society

(b) Housing units affect the physical and mental health of residents, unsanitary, overcrowded, unsuitable units increase crime, and spread disease and infestation

(c) Housing patterns profoundly affect the state's economy, general well-being, social structure and patterns of development

(d) A healthy housing market offers the freedom of meaningful choice to all residents, a healthy housing market is necessary to alleviate high unemployment and to achieve a healthy state economy.

The Legislature finds and declares that the state's housing problems are substantial, complex, and now of crisis proportions. There is a great lack of housing available in the state to moderate and lower income people, the elderly, and the handicapped This housing shortage is a threat to the health and well-being of both the individuals affected and the welfare of the state as a whole.

SEC. 32. Section 2 of Assembly Bill 333 of the 1979–80 Regular Session of the Legislature, is amended to read:

Sec. 2. The Legislature finds and declares that the greatest need for housing is experienced by residents at the lower end of the economic scale Many moderate- and low-income households cannot normally find decent, safe, and suitable housing at prices they can afford

Tenants comprise 45 percent of the state's households, but renter income is dramatically lower than homeowner income. More than half of the renter households earn less than eleven thousand dollars ($11,000) annually Forty-three percent of the state's renters can afford no more than two hundred dollars ($200) a month for rent and utilities and 31 percent of the state's renters can afford no more than one hundred fifty dollars ($150) a month for rent and utilities The units available at these rents are a small fraction of the number needed by low-income households

SEC 33 Section 4 of Assembly Bill 333 of the 1979–80 Regular Session of the Legislature, is amended to read

Sec 4 In order to reduce such housing shortages, it is necessary to implement a public program incorporating the following elements and goals

(a) A rental housing construction program that will utilize available funds in the most efficient and effective model in order to produce the maximum number of housing units.

(b) The minimum feasible amount of funding should be used for interest charges, administrative and management costs. Maximum feasible use should be made of below market interest rate loans from the California Housing Finance Agency and other public housing finance entities

(c) A program to serve state residents unable to compete in the present market for safe, decent and suitable housing.

(d) A program to encourage the new construction of rental units.

(e) A program to assist low-income and moderate-income families to become owners of condominium and cooperative dwelling units and mobilehome park spaces.

(f) A basic program which can be enhanced by the use of state or local surplus lands, additional existing subsidy programs, or other methods of lowering costs presently included in development

(g) A program of housing rehabilitation assistance to low- and moderate-income families to finance room additions to avoid overcrowding and to permit loans in connection with federally

assisted code enforcement

SEC 34 Sections 4 to 7, inclusive, and Sections 9 to 33, inclusive, of this act shall not become operative unless both this bill and Assembly Bill 333 are chaptered and become effective on January 1, 1980, and this bill is chaptered after Assembly Bill 333

SEC 35. Notwithstanding Section 2231 or 2234 of the Revenue and Taxation Code, no appropriation is made by this act pursuant to these sections because the duties, obligations, or responsibilities imposed on local agencies or school districts by this act are such that related costs are incurred as part of their normal operating procedures It is recognized, however, that a local agency or school district may pursue any remedies to obtain reimbursement available to it under Chapter 3 (commencing with Section 2201) of Part 4 of Division 1 of that code

An act making an appropriation to pay the claims of the Secretary of the State Board of Control, and declaring the urgency thereof, to take effect immediately

[Approved by Governor September 26, 1979 Filed with Secretary of State September 26, 1979]

I am reducing the appropriation contained in Assembly Bill No 1929 from $1,082 419 96 to $1,042,702 40 by reducing the General Fund appropriation from $1,042,199 78 to $1,002,482 22

This bill appropriates $355 from the General Fund for hospital services to a Medi-Cal patient rendered prior to receiving the appropriate authorization To pay this claim would defeat the purpose of program controls

This bill also appropriates $39,362 56 from the General Fund for the payment of various Medi-Cal provider claims which were either not submitted or were submitted well past the time limitations allowed I feel it would be imprudent to set a precedent by approving claims which do not fall within the acceptable time constraint

With these reductions, I approve Assembly Bill No 1929

436 4 The office shall implement the loan insurance program for the construction, improvement, and expansion of public and nonprofit corporation health facilities so that, in conjunction with all other existing facilities, the necessary physical facilities for furnishing adequate health facility services will be available to all the people of the state

The office shall make an inventory of all existing health facilities and shall survey the need for construction, improvement, and expansion of health facilities and, on the basis of such inventory and survey, shall develop a state plan.

Such state plan shall set forth the relative need for health facilities determined on the basis of the relative need of different sections of the population and of different areas and shall provide for the insurance of loans for health facility construction, improvement, and expansion when need is clearly demonstrated, in the order of relative need so determined, except that preference shall be given to health facility construction, improvement, and expansion which will (a) provide the more comprehensive health services, (b) include outpatient and other integrated services useful and convenient to the operation of the facility and the community, or (c) reduce the inventory of beds and services in those areas where the state plan indicates excess health facility and service capacity.

The health facility construction loan insurance program shall provide for health facility distribution throughout the state in such manner as to make all types of health facility services reasonably accessible to all persons in the state according to the state plan

In performing its duties under this section, the office shall, insofar as possible and to the extent not inconsistent with this chapter, give consideration to the state plan and relative need for hospital construction determined under Sections 432, 432 1, 432.5, and 437.5.

(b) The borrower obtains an American Land Title Association title insurance policy with the office designated as beneficiary, with liability equal to the amount of the loan insured under this chapter, and with such additional endorsements as the office may reasonably require

(c) The proceeds of the loan shall be used exclusively for the construction, improvement, or expansion of the health facility, as approved by the office under Section 436 4 However, loans insured pursuant to this chapter may include loans to refinance another prior loan, whether or not state insured and without regard to the date of the prior loan, if the office determines that the prior loan would have been eligible for insurance under this chapter at the time it was made The office may not insure a loan for a health facility which is not needed as determined by the state plan developed under the authorization of Section 436 4

(d) The loan shall have a maturity date not exceeding 30 years from the date of the beginning of amortization of the loan, except as authorized by subdivision (e), or 75 percent of the office's estimate of the economic life of the health facility, whichever is the lesser

(e) The loan shall contain complete amortization provisions requiring periodic payments by the borrower not in excess of its reasonable ability to pay as determined by the office The office shall permit a reasonable period of time during which the first payment to amortization may be waived on agreement by the lender and borrower The office may, however, waive the amortization requirements of this subdivision and of subdivision (g) of this section when a term loan would be in the borrower's best interest

(f) The loan shall bear interest on the amount of the principal obligation outstanding at any time at a rate, as negotiated by the borrower and lender, as the office finds necessary to meet the loan money market. As used in this chapter, "interest" does not include premium charges for insurance and service charges if any Where a loan is evidenced by a bond issue of a political subdivision, the interest thereon may be at any rate which such bonds may legally bear

(g) The loan shall provide for the application of the borrower's periodic payments to amortization of the principal of the loan

(h) The loan shall contain such terms and provisions with respect to insurance, repairs, alterations, payment of taxes and assessments, foreclosure proceedings, anticipation of maturity, additional and secondary liens, and other matters as the office may in its discretion prescribe

(i) The loan shall have a principal obligation not in excess of an amount equal to 90 percent of the total construction cost Where the borrower is a political subdivision, the office may fully insure loans equal to the total construction cost

(j) The borrower shall offer reasonable assurance that the services of the health facility will be made available to all persons residing or employed in the area served by the facility

(k) A certificate of need or certificate of exemption has been issued for the project to be financed pursuant to Part 1.5 (commencing with Section 437) of this division, unless the project is not subject to such requirement With respect to projects for which a certificate of exemption has been issued or which are otherwise exempt from the requirement for a certificate of need, the director of the office may require a showing of need for the project be demonstrated in an informal review process to be conducted by the health systems agency for the area, as designated pursuant to federal Public Law 93-641, and by the Division of Certificate of Need of the office The health systems agency and the Division of Certificate of Need shall submit their recommendations and analyses respecting the project to the director of the office within 20 days after receiving the director's request for such review

(l) In the case of acquisitions, a project loan shall be guaranteed only for transactions not in excess of the fair market value of the acquisition

Fair market value shall be determined, for purposes of this subdivision, pursuant to the following procedure which shall be utilized during the state review of a loan guarantee application

(1) Completion of a property appraisal by an appraisal firm qualified to make appraisals, as determined by the office, before closing a loan on the project

(2) Evaluation of the appraisal in conjunction with the book value of the acquisition by the office. When acquisitions involve additional construction, the office shall evaluate the proposed construction to determine that the costs are reasonable for the type of construction proposed. In those cases where this procedure reveals that the cost of acquisition exceeds the current value of a facility, including improvements, then the acquisition cost shall be deemed in excess of fair market value.

SEC. 6. Section 436.9 of the Health and Safety Code is amended to read:

436.9. Political subdivisions and nonprofit corporations may apply for state insurance of needed construction, improvement, or expansion loans for construction, remodeling, or acquisition of health facilities to be or already owned, established, and operated by them as provided in this chapter. Applications shall be submitted to the office by the nonprofit corporation or political subdivision authorized to construct and operate a health facility. Each application shall conform to state requirements, shall be submitted in the manner and form prescribed by the office, and shall be accompanied by an application fee of one-half of 1 percent of the amount of the loan applied for, but in no case shall the application fee exceed five hundred dollars ($500) Such fees shall be deposited by the office in the fund and used to defray the office's expenditures in the administration of this chapter.

SEC. 7. Section 436.28 of the Health and Safety Code is amended to read:

436 28 The office's authorization to insure health facility construction, improvement, and expansion loans under this chapter shall be limited to a total of not more than one hundred fifty million dollars ($150,000,000) of insurance for each of the first five fiscal years during which this chapter is operative, except that any unused portion of any year's authorization shall be carried forward and added to the amount otherwise authorized for the succeeding fiscal year. Beginning July 1, 1974, there shall be no limits set upon the total amount of insurance which the office may authorize in any fiscal year.

SEC. 8. The Legislature finds and declares that there are many areas of the state where a substantial portion of the capacity of existing health facilities is distributed among a number of small, inefficient facilities. The result is that the cost of providing health care is unnecessarily high

It is the intent of the Legislature, in enacting this chapter, to promote efficiency, economy of scale, cost containment, and enhanced accessibility to high quality health care services by encouraging acquisition of these small facilities by existing larger health facilities for the purpose of consolidation.

The Legislature further finds that since the enactment of this chapter the need for health facilities has substantially shifted from the need for the construction of new facilities to the present need for the consolidation or merger of existing facilities, and the inducement of fiscal economies within existing health facilities It is the intent of the Legislature that those health facilities which receive the public benefit of loan insurance under this chapter for acquisition and consolidation of health facilities should pass on consequential cost savings to the consuming public

SEC 9 This act is an urgency statute necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, or safety within the meaning of Article IV of the Constitution and shall go into immediate effect The facts constituting such necessity are

There are numerous pending negotiations for the acquisition of one health care facility by another which if concluded would result in substantial savings in health care costs and would significantly contribute to the quality of health care In order for these benefits to the public health to commence as soon as possible, it is necessary that this act take effect immediately.

226 1 It is the intent of the Legislature, in enacting Sections 226.1 to 226.5, inclusive, to establish a citation system for the imposition of prompt and effective civil sanctions against violators of the law that requires the listing of deductions when workers are paid in cash.

SEC 2 Section 226.2 is added to the Labor Code, to read

226 2 Every employer who pays wages in cash shall semimonthly or at the time of each payment of wages furnish each employee an itemized statement in writing showing: (1) all deductions, including, when applicable, deductions for federal income tax, state income tax, disability insurance, health and welfare payments, and any other deductions authorized by the employee; (2) the inclusive dates of the period for which the employee is paid; (3) the name of the employee or the employee's social security number; and (4) the name of the employer.

The deductions made from cash payments of wages shall be recorded in ink or other indelible form, properly dated, showing the month, day, and year, and a copy of such statement, or a record of the deductions, shall be kept on file by the employer for at least three years at the place of employment or at a central location within the State of California. An employer's records shall be available for inspection by the employee upon reasonable request.

This section shall not apply to any employer of any person employed by the owner or occupant of a residential dwelling whose duties are incidental to the ownership, maintenance, or use of the dwelling, including the care and supervision of children, or whose duties are personal and not in the course of the trade, business, profession, or occupation of such owner or occupant.

The civil penalties provided for in this section are in addition to any other penalty provided by law.

SEC 4 Section 226.4 is added to the Labor Code, to read:

226 4 If, upon inspection or investigation, the Labor Commissioner determines that an employer is in violation of Section 226.2, the Labor Commissioner may issue a citation to the person in violation. The citation may be served personally or by registered mail in accordance with subdivision (c) of Section 11505 of the Government Code. Each citation shall be in writing and shall describe the nature of the violation, including reference to the

(a) Decent housing is an essential motivating force in helping people achieve self-fulfillment in a free and democratic society.

(b) Unsanitary, unsafe, overcrowded, or congested dwelling accommodations constitute conditions which cause an increase in and spread of, disease and crime.

(c) A healthy housing market is one in which residents of this state have a choice of housing opportunities and one in which the housing consumer may effectively choose within the free marketplace.

52001. The Legislature finds and declares that there exists within the state a serious shortage of decent, safe, and sanitary housing which is affordable to many persons in the state. This shortage is exacerbated during periods of rising interest rates, particularly as high interest rates have the effect of diminishing the number of otherwise creditworthy buyers from qualifying for private sector mortgage capital sources. In order to remedy this adverse effect on potential home buyers on the lower end of the purchasing spectrum, it is necessary to implement a public program to reduce the cost of mortgage financing for single-family purchases for those persons unable to compete for mortgage financing in the conventional mortgage market.

52002. The Legislature finds and declares that it is necessary and essential that counties and cities be authorized to directly or indirectly make long-term, low-interest loans to persons not presently eligible for financing through private sector lending institutions to finance construction, rehabilitation, and acquisition of homes in order to encourage investment and upgrade local areas.

52003. The Legislature finds and declares that in order to preserve a healthy housing market and avoid a two-tier market where publicly subsidized mortgage capital supplants mortgage capital supplied by private financial institutions, it is necessary for the lending programs of cities and counties to be sufficiently targeted to avoid competition with private sector mortgage lenders, and further that revenue bond financing of mortgage lending by cities and counties be reasonably constrained to avoid disruption of bond markets and the credit standing of the state and its political subdivisions.

52004 The Legislature finds and declares that the present shortage of decent, safe, and sanitary housing available to potential purchasers in the lower end of the buying spectrum is particularly inimical to the health of the housing economy and, with few exceptions, beyond the capability of private enterprise acting alone to cure, and a public purpose is served by public-private efforts to reduce cost of financing single-family homes for this class of purchasers.

52005. The Legislature finds and declares that the revenue bonds provided for in this part are to be used to complement and not compete with home loans made from private sector sources, so as to substantially lower the cost of single-family home financing and meet a demand for housing financing which cannot otherwise be met.

52006. The Legislature finds and declares that the authority to issue revenue bonds to aid in the financing of home purchase is needed in the cities and the counties of the state and that it is in the public interest and serves a public purpose by providing financing for decent, safe, and sanitary housing that people in the lower end of the purchasing spectrum can afford and is a function pertaining to the government and affairs of the cities and the counties of the state.

52007. The Legislature finds and declares that the establishment of basic procedures for the issuance of revenue bonds to finance the purchase of residential housing and the costs of home ownership is necessary and desirable to provide clarity in law and direction for subsequent actions.

52008. The Legislature finds and declares that the construction of federally assisted housing for persons and families of low or moderate income is not a primary purpose of this part. However, nothing in this part shall be deemed to prohibit financing of federally assisted housing for persons and families of low or moderate income.

52051 The provisions of Chapter 16 (commencing with Section 7260) of Division 7 of Title 1 of the Government Code shall not apply to a mortgagor of any home acquired by foreclosure, trust deed, sale or other proceeding resulting from default on a home mortgage made by a county or city or by a lending institution pursuant to this part

52052 This part is necessary for the health, welfare and safety of the state, its counties and cities and its inhabitants Therefore, it shall be liberally construed to effect its purposes

(b) The Legislature finds and declares that the market for municipal home mortgage revenue bonds is limited and that, as a matter of overriding state policy, issuances of such bonds should be limited to financing housing for persons whose housing needs are least satisfied by conventional mortgage financing and other governmental home ownership assistance programs This part contains appropriate limitations with respect to mortgagor income and also contains provisions which will assist in assuring that no bond issuance under this part will result in any impairment of the public credit in this state

Therefore, this part shall be the exclusive authority for issuance of revenue bonds by any city, including any charter city, county, or city and county for the purpose of providing long-term mortgage financing for the construction or acquisition of housing, excluding multifamily rental housing; provided, that nothing in this subdivision shall supersede any other provision of state law authorizing the provision of long-term mortgage financing by any state agency or local public entity; and provided further, that nothing in this subdivision shall affect, or be in any way applicable to, revenue bonds issued (and loans made with the proceeds thereof) by any charter city on or before February 1, 1980, the interest on which would be excludable from the gross income of the recipients by reason of Section 4(b) of the proposed Mortgage Subsidy Bond Tax Act of 1979, as reported by the Committee on Ways and Means of the United States House of Representatives on August 31, 1979. Furthermore, nothing in this subdivision shall affect the authority conferred upon a charter city by its charter to issue revenue bonds to undertake a program of long-term mortgage financing of multifamily rental housing

(c) Home mortgages may be acquired, purchased, and financed, and bonds may be issued under this part for purposes of this part, notwithstanding that any other law or resolution may provide for the acquisition, purchase, and financing of like home mortgages, or the issuance of bonds for like purposes, and without regard to the requirements, restrictions, limitations, or other provisions contained in any other law or resolution.

52054. If any provision of this part or the application thereof to any person or circumstances is held invalid, such invalidity shall not affect other provisions or applications of the part which can be given effect without the invalid provision or application, and to this end the provisions of this part are severable.

52055 Any city having a population exceeding 2,000,000 persons may, in addition to any other power conferred by this part, issue revenue bonds as provided in Chapter 4 (commencing with Section 52030) of this part for the purpose of financing the construction, development, rehabilitation, or acquisition and rehabilitation of multifamily rental housing and for the provision of capital improvements in connection with and determined necessary to such multifamily rental housing for occupancy by persons and families of low and moderate income

An act to amend Section 16140 of the Government Code, and to amend Section 423 of, and to add Section 14212 to, the Revenue and Taxation Code, relating to taxation, and declaring the urgency thereof, to take effect immediately.

[Approved by Governor September 27, 1979 Filed with Secretary of State September 28, 1979]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Section 16140 of the Government Code is amended to read·

16140. There is hereby continuously appropriated to the Controller from the State General Fund a sum sufficient to make the payments required by this chapter

The payments provided by this chapter shall be made only when the value of each parcel of open-space land assessed under Sections 423 and 423.5 of the Revenue and Taxation Code is less than the value that would have resulted if the valuation of the property was made pursuant to Section 110 1 of the Revenue and Taxation Code, as though the property were not subject to an enforceable restriction in the base year

SEC 2. Section 423 of the Revenue and Taxation Code is amended to read.

423 Except as provided in Section 423.7, when valuing enforceably restricted open-space land, other than land used for the production of timber for commercial purposes, the board for purposes of surveys required by Section 1815 of this code and the county assessor shall not consider sales data on lands, whether or not enforceably restricted, but shall value such lands by the capitalization of income method in the following manner

(a) The annual income to be capitalized shall be determined as follows·

(1) Where sufficient rental information is available the income shall be the fair rent which can be imputed to the land being valued based upon rent actually received for the land by the owner and upon typical rentals received in the area for similar land in similar use, where the owner pays the property tax. Any cash rent or its equivalent considered in determining the fair rent of the land shall be the amount for which comparable lands have been rented, determined by average rents paid to owners as evidenced by typical land leases in the area, giving recognition to the terms and conditions of the leases and the uses permitted within the leases and within the enforceable restrictions imposed

(2) Where sufficient rental information is not available, the income shall be that which the land being valued reasonably can be expected to yield under prudent management and subject to applicable provisions under which the land is enforceably restricted. There shall be a rebuttable presumption that "prudent management" does not include use of the land for a recreational use, as defined in subdivision (n) of Section 51201 of the Government Code, unless the land is actually devoted to such use

(3) Notwithstanding any other provision herein, if the parties to an instrument which enforceably restricts the land stipulate therein an amount which constitutes the minimum annual income per acre to be capitalized, then the income to be capitalized shall not be less than the amount so stipulated

For the purposes of this section income shall be determined in accordance with rules and regulations issued by the board and with this section and shall be the difference between revenue and expenditures Revenue shall be the amount of money or money's worth, including any cash rent or its equivalent, which the land can be expected to yield to an owner-operator annually on the average from any use of the land permitted under the terms by which the land is enforceably restricted including, but not limited to, that from the production of salt and from typical crops grown in the area during a typical rotation period as evidenced by historic cropping patterns and agricultural commodities grown When the land is planted to fruit-bearing or nut-bearing trees, vines, bushes or perennial plants, the revenue shall not be less than the land would be expected to yield to an owner-operator from other typical crops grown in the area during a typical rotation period, as evidenced by historic cropping patterns and agricultural commodities grown. Proceeds from the sale of the land being valued shall not be included in the revenue from the land

Expenditures shall be any outlay or average annual allocation of money or money's worth that has been charged against the revenue received during the period used in computing such revenue Those expenditures to be charged against revenue shall be only those which are ordinary and necessary in the production and maintenance of the revenue for that period Expenditures shall not include depletion charges, debt retirement, interest on funds invested in the land, interest on funds invested in trees and vines valued as land as provided by Section 429, property taxes, corporation income taxes, or corporation franchise taxes based on income When the income used is from operating the land being valued or from operating comparable land, amounts shall be excluded from the income to provide a fair return on capital investment in operating assets other than the land, to amortize depreciable property, and to fairly compensate the owner-operator for his operating and managing services

(b) The capitalization rate to be used in valuing land pursuant to this article shall not be derived from sales data and shall be the sum of the following components

(1) An interest component to be determined by the board and announced no later than September 1 of the year preceding the assessment year and which was the yield rate for long-term United States government bonds, as most recently published by the Federal Reserve Board, rounded to the nearest one-quarter (¼) percent

(2) A risk component which shall be a percentage determined on the basis of the location and characteristics of the land, the crops to be grown thereon and the provisions of any lease or rental agreement to which the land is subject; and 33000 This division shall be known as and may be cited as the Santa Monica Mountains Conservancy Act.

33001 The Legislature hereby finds and declares that the Santa Monica Mountains Zone, as defined in Section 33104, is a unique and valuable economic, environmental, agricultural, scientific, educational, and recreational resource which should be held in trust for present and future generations; that as the last large undeveloped area contiguous to the shoreline within the greater Los Angeles metropolitan region, comprised of Los Angeles and Ventura Counties, it provides essential relief from the urban environment, and that it exists as a single ecosystem in which changes that affect one part may also affect all other parts, and that the preservation and protection of this resource is in the public interest.

33002 The Legislature further finds and declares that prior to the preparation of the plan by the Santa Monica Mountains Comprehensive Planning Commission, planning for the zone was fragmented and there were ineffective means of determining and resolving conflicting interjurisdictional values, or of evaluating individual projects within the zone as to their effect on the entire region; that in the absence of a governmental mechanism to perform such evaluations, piecemeal development projects were occurring within the zone which resulted in the irreplaceable loss of open space and recreational resources, in the physical and biological deterioration of air, land, and water systems within the zone, and adversely affected regional life-support systems, including fish and wildlife, therefore being harmful to the needs of the present and future population of the region

33003 The Legislature further finds and declares that the coastal zone portion of the Santa Monica Mountains Zone has been evaluated as part of the California Coastal Zone Conservation Plan, and because of the unique, important, and threatened nature of the coastal-related resources within the coastal zone, the Legislature determined that the special coastal resources planning and management program established pursuant to the California Coastal Act of 1976 (Division 20 (commencing with Section 30000)) should apply within the coastal zone and that the local coastal program required by such act should be completed in a timely and effective manner by local governments and certified by the California Coastal Commission. It is the intent of the Legislature to facilitate early completion of local coastal programs for the coastal zone portion of the Santa Monica Mountains Zone and that accordingly the jurisdiction of the Santa Monica Mountains Conservancy should be extended to include, at the time of certification, those portions of the coastal zone for which a local coastal program has been certified.

33004. The Legislature further finds and declares that the Santa Monica Mountains Comprehensive Planning Commission, composed of representatives of the state government, cities, and counties in the region, and the general public, has adopted a comprehensive plan for the conservation and development of the zone, consistent with the preservation of the resource as set forth in Section 33001.

33005. Federal grant funds shall be used to accomplish the purposes of this division to the maximum extent possible.

33006. It is further declared to be the intent of the Legislature that, in making grants for park, recreation, or conservation purposes from funds received pursuant to Section 507(n) of the National Parks and Recreation Act of 1978 (16 U.S.C Sec. 460kk(n)), the conservancy shall primarily operate outside the public ownership area of the Santa Monica Mountains National Recreation Area as identified by the Secretary of the Interior pursuant to Section 507(d) (2) of the National Parks and Recreation Act of 1978 (16 U S.C. Sec. 460kk(d) (2)).

33007. In accomplishing the objectives of this division, private landowners, local governments, and all other public agencies shall be encouraged to participate in the programs authorized by this division by voluntary incentives.

33008. The Legislature finds and declares that there are existing problems of substandard lots, incompatible land uses, conflicts with recreational use, and inadequate resource protection which, in some cases, cannot be addressed in a feasible manner by local government exercise of the police power or federal land acquisition as part of the Santa Monica Mountains National Recreation Area, and that it is necessary to enact the provisions of this division as a complement to the full exercise of the police power by local governments and the acquisition of lands by the federal government for the Santa Monica Mountains National Recreation Area. Nothing in this division shall supersede or limit a local government's exercise of the police power derived from any other provision of existing law or any law hereafter enacted.

33009 In order to avoid the continuing problems identified in Section 33008, each local government's implementation of the plan shall be a necessary condition of that local government receiving any money pursuant to this division.

33010. For purposes of compliance with federal law, the references to the Santa Monica Mountains Comprehensive Planning Commission shall be deemed to mean the conservancy

33204. The conservancy may, in accordance with the priorities of the plan, do the following:

(a) Award grants or make interest-free loans to cities, counties, and recreation and park districts for the purpose of restoring areas which, because of scattered ownerships, poor lot layout, inadequate lot size, inadequate park and open space, incompatible land uses, or other conditions, are adversely affecting the Santa Monica Mountains environment or are impeding orderly development. The county auditor shall determine and certify the amount distributable to the board of supervisors, which shall thereupon order the making of the distribution

Any money distributed pursuant to this section to any county, revenue district, or other taxing agency shall be deposited to the credit of the same fund as any taxes or assessments on any taxable similar real property similarly situated

10163.5 (a) In the case of ordinary policies issued on or after the operative date of this subdivision as defined herein, all adjusted premiums and present values referred to in this article shall be calculated on the basis of the Commissioners 1958 Standard Ordinary Mortality Table and the rate of interest specified in the policy for calculating cash surrender values and paid-up nonforfeiture benefits, provided that such rate of interest shall not exceed 3½ percent per annum except that a rate of interest not exceeding 4 percent per annum may be used for all policies issued on or after January 1, 1970, and prior to January 1, 1980, and a rate of interest not exceeding 5½ percent per annum may be used for all such policies issued on or after January 1, 1980, except that for any single premium whole life or endowment insurance policy a rate of interest not exceeding 6½ percent per annum may be used; provided, that for any category of ordinary insurance issued on female risks, adjusted premiums and present values may be calculated according to an age not more than six years younger than the actual age of the insured; provided, however, that in calculating the present value of any paid-up term insurance with accompanying pure endowment, if any, offered as a nonforfeiture benefit, the rates of mortality assumed may be not more than those shown in the Commissioners 1958 Extended Term Insurance Table, provided further, that for insurance issued on a substandard basis, the calculation of any such adjusted premiums and present values may be based on such other table of mortality as may be specified by the company and approved by the commissioner.

On or after January 1, 1961, any company may file with the commissioner a written notice of its election to comply with the provisions of this subdivision after a specified date before January 1, 1966. After the filing of such notice, then upon such specified date (which shall be the operative date of this subdivision for such company), this subdivision shall become operative with respect to the ordinary policies thereafter issued by such company. If a company makes no such election, the operative date of this subdivision for such company shall be January 1, 1966.

(b) In the case of industrial policies issued on or after the operative date of this subdivision as defined herein, all adjusted premiums and present values referred to in this article shall be calculated on the basis of the Commissioners 1961 Standard Industrial Mortality Table and the rate of interest specified in the policy for calculating cash surrender values and paid-up nonforfeiture benefits, provided that such rate of interest shall not exceed 3½ percent per annum except that a rate of interest not exceeding 4 percent per annum may be used for all such policies issued on or after January 1, 1970, and prior to January 1, 1980, and a rate of interest not exceeding 5½ percent per annum may be used for all such policies issued on or after January 1, 1980, except that for any single premium whole life or endowment insurance policy a rate of interest not exceeding 6½ percent per annum may be used. Provided, further, that for insurance issued on a substandard basis, the calculation of any such adjusted premiums and present values may be based on such other table of mortality as may be specified by the company and approved by the commissioner

After September 20, 1963, any company may file with the commissioner a written notice of its election to comply with the provisions of this subdivision after a specified date before January 1, 1968 After the filing of such notice, then upon such specified date (which shall be the operative date of this subdivision for such company), this subdivision shall become operative with respect to the industrial policies thereafter issued by such company. If a company makes no such election, the operative date of this subdivision for such company shall be January 1, 1968

SEC 2 Article 3b (commencing with Section 10168) is added to

Chapter 1 of Part 2 of Division 2 of the Insurance Code, to read:

Article 3b. Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Individual Deferred Annuities

10168. This article shall not apply to any reinsurance, group annuity purchased under a retirement plan or plan of deferred compensation established or maintained by an employer (including a partnership or sole proprietorship) or by an employee organization, or by both, other than a plan providing individual retirement accounts or individual retirement annuities under Section 408 of the Internal Revenue Code, as now or hereafter amended, premium deposit fund, variable annuity, investment annuity, immediate annuity, any deferred annuity contract after annuity payments have commenced, or reversionary annuity, nor to any contract which shall be delivered outside this state through an agent or other representative of the company issuing the contract.

10168.1. In the case of contracts issued on or after the operative date of this article as defined in Section 10168.10, no contract of annuity, except as stated in Section 10168, shall be delivered or issued for delivery in this state unless it contains in substance the following provisions, or corresponding provisions which in the opinion of the commissioner are at least as favorable to the contract holder, upon cessation of payment of considerations under the contract.

(a) That upon cessation of payment of considerations under a contract, the company will grant a paid-up annuity benefit on a plan stipulated in the contract of such value as is specified in Sections 10168.3, 10168.4, 10168.5, 10168.6, and 10168.8.

(b) If a contract provides for a lump sum settlement at maturity, or at any other time, that upon surrender of the contract at or prior to the commencement of any annuity payments, the company will pay in lieu of any paid-up annuity benefit a cash surrender benefit of such amount as is specified in Sections 10168.3, 10168.4, 10168.6, and 10168.8. The company shall reserve the right to defer the payment of such cash surrender benefit for a period of six months after demand therefor with surrender of the contract.

(c) A statement of the mortality table, if any, and interest rates used in calculating any minimum paid-up annuity, cash surrender or death benefits that are guaranteed under the contract, together with sufficient information to determine the amounts of such benefits.

(d) A statement that any paid-up annuity, cash surrender or death benefits that may be available under the contract are not less than the minimum benefits required by any statute of the state in which the contract is delivered and an explanation of the manner in which such benefits are altered by the existence of any additional amounts credited by the company to the contract, any indebtedness to the company on the contract or any prior withdrawals from or partial surrenders of the contract.

Notwithstanding the requirements of this section, any deferred annuity contract may provide that if no considerations have been received under a contract for a period of two full years and the portion of the paid-up annuity benefit at maturity on the plan stipulated in the contract arising from considerations paid prior to such period would be less than twenty dollars ($20) monthly, the company may at its option terminate such contract by payment in cash of the then present value of such portion of the paid-up annuity benefit, calculated on the basis of the mortality table, if any, and the interest rate specified in the contract for determining the paid-up annuity benefit, and by such payment shall be relieved of any further obligation under such contract.

10168.2. The minimum values as specified in Sections 10168.3, 10168.4, 10168.5, 10168.6, and 10168.8 of any paid-up annuity, cash surrender or death benefits available under an annuity contract shall be based upon minimum nonforfeiture amounts as defined in this section.

(a) With respect to contracts providing for flexible considerations, the minimum nonforfeiture amount at any time at or prior to the commencement of any annuity payments shall be equal to an accumulation up to such time at a rate of interest of 3 percent per annum of percentages of the net considerations (as hereinafter defined) paid prior to such time, decreased by the sum of (i) any prior withdrawals from or partial surrenders of the contract accumulated at a rate of interest of 3 percent per annum and (ii) the amount of any indebtedness to the company on the contract, including interest due and accrued, and increased by any existing additional amounts credited by the company to the contract.

The net considerations for a given contract year used to define the minimum nonforfeiture amount shall be an amount not less than zero and shall be equal to the corresponding gross considerations credited to the contract during that contract year less an annual contract charge of thirty dollars ($30) and less a collection charge of one dollar and twenty-five cents ($1.25) per consideration credited to the contract during that contract year. The percentages of net considerations shall be 65 percent of the net consideration for the first contract year and 87½ percent of the net considerations for the second and later contract years. Notwithstanding the provisions of the preceding sentence, the percentage shall be 65 percent of the portion of the total net consideration for any renewal contract year which exceeds by not more than two times the sum of those portions of the net considerations in all prior contract years for which the percentage was 65 percent.

(b) With respect to contracts providing for fixed scheduled considerations, minimum nonforfeiture amounts shall be calculated on the assumption that considerations are paid annually in advance and shall be defined as for contracts with flexible considerations which are paid annually with two exceptions:

(1) The portion of the net consideration for the first contract year to be accumulated shall be the sum of 65 percent of the net

consideration for the first contract year plus 22½ percent of the excess of the net consideration for the first contract year over the lesser of the net considerations for the second and third contract years

(2) The annual contract charge shall be the lesser of thirty dollars ($30) or 10 percent of the gross annual consideration.

(c) With respect to contracts providing for a single consideration, minimum nonforfeiture amounts shall be defined as for contracts with flexible considerations except that the percentage of net consideration used to determine the minimum nonforfeiture amount shall be equal to 90 percent and the net consideration shall be the gross consideration less a contract charge of seventy-five dollars ($75)

10168 3. Any paid-up annuity benefit available under a contract shall be such that its present value on the date annuity payments are to commence is at least equal to the minimum nonforfeiture amount on that date. Such present value shall be computed using the mortality table, if any, and the interest rate specified in the contract for determining the minimum paid-up annuity benefits guaranteed in the contract

10168 4 For contracts which provide cash surrender benefits, such cash surrender benefits available prior to maturity shall not be less than the present value as of the date of surrender of that portion of the maturity value of the paid-up annuity benefit which would be provided under the contract at maturity arising from considerations paid prior to the time of cash surrender reduced by the amount appropriate to reflect any prior withdrawals from or partial surrenders of the contract, such present value being calculated on the basis of an interest rate not more than 1 percent higher than the interest rate specified in the contract for accumulating the net considerations to determine such maturity value, decreased by the amount of any indebtedness to the company on the contract, including interest due and accrued, and increased by any existing additional amounts credited by the company to the contract. In no event shall any cash surrender benefit be less than the minimum nonforfeiture amount at that time. The death benefit under such contracts shall be at least equal to the cash surrender benefit.

10168 5 For contracts which do not provide cash surrender benefits, the present value of any paid-up annuity benefit available as a nonforfeiture option at any time prior to maturity shall not be less than the present value of that portion of the maturity value of the paid-up annuity benefit provided under the contract arising from considerations paid prior to the time the contract is surrendered in exchange for, or changed to, a deferred paid-up annuity, such present value being calculated for the period prior to the maturity date on the basis of the interest rate specified in the contract for accumulating the net considerations to determine such maturity value, and increased by any existing additional amounts credited by the company to the contract. For contracts which do not provide any death benefits prior to the commencement of any annuity payments, such present values shall be calculated on the basis of such interest rate and the mortality table specified in the contract for determining the maturity value of the paid-up annuity benefit. However, in no event shall the present value of a paid-up annuity benefit be less than the minimum nonforfeiture amount at that time.

10168.6. For the purpose of determining the benefits calculated under Sections 10168.4 and 10168 5, in the case of annuity contracts under which an election may be made to have annuity payments commence at optional maturity dates, the maturity date shall be deemed to be the latest date for which election shall be permitted by the contract, but shall not be deemed to be later than the anniversary of the contract next following the annuitant's seventieth birthday or the tenth anniversary of the contract, whichever is later.

10168.7. Any contract which does not provide cash surrender benefits or does not provide death benefits at least equal to the minimum nonforfeiture amount prior to the commencement of any annuity payments shall include a statement in a prominent place in the contract that such benefits are not provided.

10168.8. Any paid-up annuity, cash surrender or death benefits available at any time, other than on the contract anniversary under any contract with fixed scheduled considerations, shall be calculated with allowance for the lapse of time and the payment of any scheduled considerations beyond the beginning of the contract year in which cessation of payment of considerations under the contract occurs.

10168.9. For any contract which provides, within the same contract by rider or supplemental contract provision, both annuity benefits and life insurance benefits that are in excess of the greater of cash surrender benefits or a return of the gross considerations with interest, the minimum nonforfeiture benefits shall be equal to the sum of the minimum nonforfeiture benefits for the annuity portion and the minimum nonforfeiture benefits, if any, for the life insurance portion computed as if each portion were a separate contract. Notwithstanding the provisions of Sections 10168.3, 10168.4, 10168.5, 10168.6, and 10168.8, additional benefits payable (a) in the event of total and permanent disability, (b) as reversionary annuity or deferred reversionary annuity benefits, or (c) as other policy benefits additional to life insurance, endowment, and annuity benefits, and considerations for all such additional benefits, shall be disregarded in ascertaining the minimum nonforfeiture amounts, paid-up annuity, cash surrender and death benefits that may be required by this article. The inclusion of such additional benefits shall not be required in any paid-up benefits, unless such additional benefits separately would require minimum nonforfeiture amounts, paid-up annuity, cash surrender and death benefits.

10168 10 After the effective date of this article, any company may file with the commissioner a written notice of its election to comply with the provisions of this article after a specified date before the second anniversary of the effective date of this article. After the filing of such notice, then upon such specified date, which shall be the operative date of this article for such company, this article shall become operative with respect to annuity contracts thereafter issued by such company. If a company makes no such election, the operative date of this article for such company shall be the second anniversary of the effective date of this article.

SEC. 3. Article 3a (commencing with Section 10489.1) of Chapter 5 of Part 2 of Division 2 of the Insurance Code is repealed.

SEC. 4. Article 3a (commencing with Section 10489.1) is added to Chapter 5 of Part 2 of Division 2 of the Insurance Code, to read:

10489 4. Except as otherwise provided in Sections 10489.5 and 10489 8, reserves according to the commissioners reserve valuation method, for the life insurance and endowment benefits of policies providing for a uniform amount of insurance and requiring the payment of uniform premiums shall be the excess, if any, of the present value, at the date of valuation, of such future guaranteed benefits provided for by such policies, over the then present value of any future modified net premiums therefor The modified net premiums for any such policy shall be such uniform percentage of the respective contract premiums for such benefits that the present value, at the date of issue of the policy, of all such modified net premiums shall be equal to the sum of the then present value of such benefits provided for by the policy and the excess of (a) over (b), as follows·

(a) A net level annual premium equal to the present value, at the date of issue, of such benefits provided for after the first policy year, divided by the present value, at the date of issue, of an annuity of one per annum payable on the first and each subsequent anniversary of such policy on which a premium falls due, except that such net level annual premium shall not exceed the net level annual premium on the 19-year premium whole life plan for insurance of the same amount at an age one year higher than the age at issue of such policy.

(b) A net one-year term premium for such benefits provided for in the first policy year.

Reserves according to the commissioners reserve valuation method for (1) life insurance policies providing for a varying amount of insurance or requiring the payment of varying premiums; (2) group annuity and pure endowment contracts purchased under a retirement plan or plan of deferred compensation, established or maintained by an employer (including a partnership or sole proprietorship) or by an employee organization, or by both, other than a plan providing individual retirement accounts or individual retirement annuities under Section 408 of the Internal Revenue Code, as now or hereafter amended, (3) disability and accidental death benefits in all policies and contracts; and (4) all other benefits, except life insurance and endowment benefits in life insurance policies and benefits provided by all other annuity and pure endowment contracts shall be calculated by a method consistent with the principles of the preceding paragraph, except that any extra premiums charged because of impairments or special hazards shall be disregarded in the determination of modified net premiums

10489.5 This section shall apply to all annuity and pure endowment contracts other than group annuity and pure endowment contracts purchased under a retirement plan or plan of deferred compensation, established or maintained by an employer (including a partnership or sole proprietorship) or by an employee organization, or by both, other than a plan providing individual retirement accounts or individual retirement annuities under Section 408 of the Internal Revenue Code, as now or hereafter amended.

Reserves according to the commissioners annuity reserve method for benefits under annuity or pure endowment contracts, excluding any disability and accidental death benefits in such contracts, shall be the greatest of the respective excesses of the present values, at the date of valuation, of the future guaranteed benefits, including guaranteed nonforfeiture benefits, provided for by such contracts at the end of each respective contract year, over the present value, at the date of valuation, of any future valuation considerations derived from future gross considerations, required by the terms of such contract, that become payable prior to the end of such respective contract year. The future guaranteed benefits shall be determined by using the mortality table, if any, and the interest rate, or rates, specified in such contracts for determining guaranteed benefits. The valuation considerations are the portions of the respective gross considerations applied under the terms of such contracts to determine nonforfeiture values.

10489.6. In no event shall an insurer's aggregate reserves for all life insurance policies, excluding disability and accidental death benefits, be less than the aggregate reserves calculated in accordance with the methods set forth in Sections 10489.4, 10489.5, and 10489.8 and the mortality table or tables and rate or rates of interest used in calculating nonforfeiture benefits for such policies.

10489.7 Reserves for any category of policies, contracts or benefits as established by the commissioner may be calculated, at the option of the insurer, according to any standards which produce greater aggregate reserves for such category than those calculated according to the minimum standard herein provided, but the rate or rates of interest used for policies and contracts, other than annuity and pure endowment contracts, shall not be higher than the corresponding rate or rates of interest used in calculating any nonforfeiture benefits provided for therein.

10489.8. If in any contract year the gross premium charged by any life insurer on any policy or contract is less than the valuation net premium for the policy or contract calculated by the method used in calculating the reserve thereon but using the minimum valuation standards of mortality and rate of interest, the minimum reserve required for such policy or contract shall be the greater of either the reserve calculated according to the mortality table, rate of interest, and method actually used for such policy or contract, or the reserve calculated by the method actually used for such policy or contract but using the minimum standards of mortality and rate of interest and replacing the valuation net premium by the actual gross premium in each contract year for which the valuation net premium exceeds the actual gross premium.

SEC. 5. Section 11136 of the Insurance Code is amended to read:

11136. Such valuation shall be certified by a competent actuary or, at the expense of the society, verified by the actuary of the insurance supervisory official of the state of domicile of the society, and the legal minimum standard of valuation shall be as follows:

(a) All benefits promised by certificates issued prior to September 22, 1952, and the rates therefor shall be valued in accordance with the provisions of law applicable thereto as of the date of issuance, but not lower than the standards and interest assumptions used in the calculation of rates for such benefits.

(b) The minimum standard for the valuation of all certificates issued after September 21, 1952, and prior to January 1, 1972, shall be 3 percent per annum interest; in the case of certificates issued on and after January 1, 1972, and prior to January 1, 1980, the minimum standard for the valuation of all such certificates shall be 4 percent per annum interest; and in the case of certificates issued on and after January 1, 1980, the minimum standard for the valuation of all single premium certificates shall be 5¼ percent per annum interest and for the valuation of all other such certificates shall be 4½ percent per annum interest, and the following tables:

(1) For all ordinary certificates of life insurance issued on the standard basis, excluding any disability and accidental death benefits in such certificates—the American Men Ultimate Table of Mortality, with Bowerman's or Davis' Extension thereof, or, at the option of the society, the Commissioners 1941 Standard Ordinary Mortality Table or the Commissioners 1958 Standard Ordinary Mortality Table, using actual age of the insured for male risks and an age not more than six years younger than the actual age of the insured for female risks.

(2) For all industrial life insurance certificates issued on the standard basis, excluding any disability and accidental death benefits in such certificates—the 1941 Standard Industrial Mortality Table.

(3) For annuity and pure endowment certificates, excluding any disability and accidental death benefits in such certificates—the 1937 Standard Annuity Mortality Table, or the Annuity Mortality Table for 1949 Ultimate, or the Individual Annuity Mortality Table for 1971, or any modification of any of these tables approved by the commissioner.

(4) For disability benefits in or supplementary to ordinary certificates—Hunter's Disability Table or the Class 3 Disability Table (1926), modified to conform to the contractual waiting period, or the tables of Period 2 disablement rates and the 1930 to 1950 termination rates of the 1952 Disability Study of the Society of Actuaries with due regard to the type of benefit, or the 1964 Commissioners Disability Table. Any such table shall, for active lives, be combined with a mortality table permitted for calculating the reserves for life insurance certificates.

(5) For accidental death benefits in or supplementary to certificates—The Inter-Company Double Indemnity Mortality Table or the 1959 Accidental Death Benefits Table. Either table shall be combined with a mortality table permitted for calculating the reserves for life insurance certificates.

(6) For temporary accident and health benefits in or supplementary to certificates—Class 3 Disability Table (1926) with Conference Modifications or the 1964 Commissioners Disability Table

(7) For life insurance issued upon the substandard basis and other special benefits—such tables as may be approved by the commissioner.

(c) The commissioner may, in his discretion, accept other standards for valuation if he finds that the reserves produced thereby will not be less in the aggregate than reserves computed in accordance with the minimum valuation standard prescribed. Whenever the mortality experience under the certificates valued on the same mortality table is in excess of the expected mortality according to such table for a period of three consecutive years, the commissioner may require additional reserves when in his judgment deemed necessary on account of such certificates.

(d) Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivisions (a) and (b), any society, with the consent of the insurance supervisory official of the state of domicile of the society, and under such conditions, if any, which he may impose, may establish and maintain reserves on its certificates in excess of the reserves required thereunder, but the contractual rights of any insured member shall not be affected thereby.

CHAPTER 1094

An act to amend Section 69506 of, to add and repeal Chapter 2 (commencing with Section 10100) to Part 7 of, and to add Section 69506.5 to, the Education Code, relating to education, and declaring the urgency thereof, to take effect immediately.

[Approved by Governor September 27, 1979 Filed with Secretary of State September 28, 1979]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows

SECTION 1. Chapter 2 (commencing with Section 10100) is added to Part 7 of the Education Code, to read·

CHAPTER 2. DEMONSTRATION PROGRAM

10100. The Legislature recognizes that there are several hundred thousand California schoolchildren whose primary languages are not English These children have shown their ability to perform in bilingual-crosscultural classes and large amounts of money are now available to expand the number of bilingual classrooms The Legislature recognizes, furthermore, that there is an insufficient number of qualified bilingual-bicultural teachers to staff present projects, and that many more such teachers will be needed as the new projects are established. It is, therefore, the intent of this chapter to establish programs designed to rapidly produce teachers who are fully bilingual, who are sensitive to cultural differences and knowledgeable about the origins of such differences, who can serve as models for these children to emulate, and who will qualify for credentials in bilingual-crosscultural education. Bilingual-bicultural teacher aides and the presently underutilized certificated teacher force shall be primary manpower sources for this program.

10101. The Commission for Teacher Preparation and Licensing shall develop, on or before January 15th of each year, a status report on local, state, and federally funded bilingual-crosscultural teacher preparation programs. Such report shall be made to the Legislature not later than February 15th of each year. The Board of Governors of the California Community Colleges, the Trustees of the California State University and Colleges, and the Regents of the University of California shall, by November 15 of each year, report to the Commission for Teacher Preparation and Licensing with reference to their programs in bilingual-crosscultural teacher training. Such report shall include, but not be limited to, information on special classes or programs leading to a certificate of competence for bilingual-crosscultural instruction, preservice or in-service programs offered by these institutions to bilingual-crosscultural teachers or teacher aides, the number of persons enrolled in such programs, and any other relevant data requested by the Commission for Teacher Preparation and Licensing.

10102. The Commission for Teacher Preparation and Licensing shall design career ladder programs which will allow bilingual teacher aides to become fully certificated bilingual teachers. This program shall provide grants for tuition and living expenses to needy applicants for part-time or full-time attendance at any public institution of higher education in California. Up to two years of credit toward credential requirements may be allowed for experience within the classroom as a teacher aide. The career ladder programs shall be adopted by regulations promulgated by the Commission for Teacher Preparation and Licensing and subject to Section 44232.

10103. The Commission for Teacher Preparation and Licensing shall, with the assistance of a representative appointed by the Superintendent of Public Instruction, the Chancellor of the California Community Colleges, the Chancellor of the California

State University and Colleges, the President of the University of California, and with five presently practicing teachers appointed by the Superintendent of Public Instruction, design a comprehensive language and culture curriculum for teachers who are already certificated. Such curriculum shall be designed to enable teachers to qualify for the bilingual-crosscultural certificate of competence authorized pursuant to Section 44253.5. Initial programs to assist on the development of this shall be offered at not less than five public institutions of higher education in California, beginning not later than September 1, 1977.

10104. There is hereby established a Bilingual-Crosscultural Teacher Development Grant Program. The Student Aid Commission shall administer the Bilingual-Crosscultural Teacher Development Grant Program. The Student Aid Commission shall evaluate candidates for grants in consultation with the Commission for Teacher Preparation and Licensing. The Student Aid Commission shall adopt such rules and regulations as are necessary for the effective administration of the Bilingual-Crosscultural Teacher Development Grant Program after consultation with the Commission for Teacher Preparation and Licensing. Initial regulations shall be adopted within 120 days after January 1, 1978. All grants shall be made on the basis of financial need. Grants shall be awarded to individuals who are most likely to qualify for a bilingual certificate of competence within two years. Not less than 60 percent of the funds shall be made available for grants to certificated teachers providing instruction in programs defined by subdivision (a), (b), or (c) of Section 52163 and who do not meet the bilingual-crosscultural teacher certification requirements defined by subdivision (h) of Section 52163 and who are teaching with a waiver granted pursuant to Section 52178. However, if there are insufficient applicants from the aforementioned group of certificated teachers to utilize 60 percent of the funds, the remaining funds shall be made available to eligible noncertificated applicants. Grant recipients shall engage in a program of study which leads to a certificate of bilingual-crosscultural competence or any other credential in bilingual education authorized by the Commission for Teacher Prepartion and Licensing. Not less than 30 percent of the funds available for grants shall be made to noncredentialed upper division and graduate students pursuing a course of study leading to a teaching credential with a bilingual-crosscultural emphasis. Grants may be used to cover tuition, fees, and subsistence expenses and shall supplement and not supplant other state and federal student financial aid programs. Grants may be renewed, provided that the student satisfactorily completes 18 quarter units or 12 semester units per year. No student may receive grants for a period of more than two academic years, including summer sessions. No grant shall exceed three thousand dollars ($3,000) per academic year, including summer sessions.

10105 The Board of Governors of the California Community

Colleges and the Trustees of the California State University and Colleges shall, within their respective systems, establish a policy of recruitment and appointment of professors of bilingual-crosscultural education.

10106. The Commission for Teacher Preparation and Licensing shall serve as a clearinghouse for bilingual-crosscultural teaching personnel. The commission shall compile, continually update, and maintain a directory of bilingual-crosscultural teachers available to teach in bilingual education programs. The directory shall be sent to all school districts annually. The commission shall, upon request, assist school districts in the recruitment of such teachers.

10107. This chapter shall remain in effect only until June 30, 1984, and as of such date is repealed, unless a later enacted statute, which is chaptered before June 30, 1984, deletes or extends such date.

SEC. 2. Section 69506 of the Education Code is amended to read:

69506. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the Student Aid Commission or any public postsecondary educational institution shall not consider the income of an applicant's parents in the determination of an applicant's financial need if the applicant meets all of the following requirements:

(a) Has not and will not be claimed as an exemption for state and federal income tax purposes by his or her parent in the calendar years aid is received and in any of the three calendar years prior to the award period for which aid is requested.

(b) Has not and will not receive more than seven hundred fifty dollars ($750) per year in financial assistance from his or her parent in the calendar years in which aid is received and in any of the three calendar years before the award period for which aid is requested.

(c) Has not lived and will not live for more than six weeks in the home of his or her parent during the calendar year aid is received and in any of the three calendar years before the award period for which aid is requested.

Nothing in this section shall exempt any applicant from submitting parental income information pursuant to Section 69672, or from submitting such information solely because the applicant comes within the provisions of Section 211 of the Civil Code.

69506.5. Notwithstanding Section 69506, neither the Student Aid Commission nor any public postsecondary educational institution shall consider the income of an applicant's parents in the determination of an applicant's financial need if the applicant meets one of the following requirements:

(b) Has been a ward of the court, in which case appropriate court documents shall be submitted.

(c) Is an orphan and will not be claimed as an exemption for state and federal income tax purposes by anyone other than self or spouse for the calendar years aid is received.

(d) Has been a part of an extremely adverse home situation which is documented and supported by school or responsible community personnel such as a minister or social worker, which situation has led to estrangement from the family under circumstances where the student has not received a contribution in cash or kind from his family for the preceding 12 months. Public postsecondary educational institutions and the Student Aid Commission shall develop a procedure to allow students to appeal decisions on whether the student has been part of an adverse home situation.

(e) Is 30 years of age or older, unless there is substantial evidence of parental support of such applicant.

Nothing in this section shall exempt any applicant from submitting parental income information pursuant to Section 69672, or from submitting such information solely because the applicant comes within the provisions of Section 211 of the Civil Code.

SEC. 4. This act is an urgency statute necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, or safety within the meaning of Article IV of the Constitution and shall go into immediate effect. The facts constituting such necessity are:

In order to facilitate the orderly administration of the Student Aid Commission, and in order to ensure orderly and continuous administration of the Bilingual-Crosscultural Teacher Preparation and Training Act of 1973 which under current law is repealed as of July 1, 1979, it is necessary that this act take effect immediately

An act to add and repeal Article 4.5 (commencing with Section 8230) to Chapter 2, Part 3, Division 6 of the Fish and Game Code, relating to fish, and making an appropriation therefor.

[Approved by Governor September 27, 1979 Filed with Secretary of State September 28, 1979]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Article 4.5 (commencing with Section 8230) is added to Chapter 2 of Part 3 of Division 6 of the Fish and Game Code, to read:

Article 4.5. Commercial Salmon Permit

8230. The following definitions apply to the provisions of this article:

(a) "Appeals board" means the Commercial Salmon Fishing Appeals Board created pursuant to Section 8236.

(b) "Qualification period" means the calendar years 1974 through 1979.

(c) "Qualified individual" means either of the following:

(1) A natural person who during the qualification period has qualified by landing at least one salmon sold for commercial purposes as evidenced by a fish landing receipt issued pursuant to Section 8011 and having a commercial fishing license. A person may also qualify by other evidence of such landing or by acting as such a person's partner, agent, servant, or employee and directly engaging in assisting such person in taking and landing at least one salmon and being licensed to commercially fish for salmon.

(2) A natural person who during the qualification period has made a substantial investment in becoming a commercial salmon fisherman, including, but not limited to a person who owns a vessel which was under construction as of December 16, 1977, or any vessel contracted for purchase or construction as of December 16, 1977. A vessel shall be deemed to be under construction if the keel or fiberglass mold of the vessel was laid as of December 16, 1977. A vessel shall be deemed to be contracted for purchase if a valid contract for purchase and transfer of title was entered into as of December 16, 1977. A vessel shall be deemed to be contracted for construction if a valid contract for construction was entered into as of December 16, 1977

8231 Salmon may not be taken for commercial purposes except under a nontransferable, revocable permit issued by the department to a qualified individual otherwise authorized to engage in commercial fishing. Such permit shall be valid from date of issue through December 31, 1981.

8232. Application for a commercial salmon permit shall be made on such forms and contain such information as the department may require. Such permit is in addition to any other requirements to commercially fish.

The commission shall set a fee to be charged for a commercial salmon permit issued pursuant to this article. Such fee shall not exceed the reasonable costs of implementing and administering the provisions of this article.

8233. Any person authorized to fish for salmon commercially in another state may fish in California if California fishermen who have a California commercial salmon permit are allowed to fish in that state.

8234. A permit holder may have any person serve in his place and engage in commercial salmon fishing under his permit for one period not to exceed 15 calendar days in any one year Prior authorization for such substitution shall be obtained from the director and shall be given only on his finding that the permittee will not be available to engage in such activity and that such substitution will not adversely affect the resource. Application for such substitution shall be made to the Department of Fish and Game, Headquarters Office, Sacramento, and contain such information as the director may require. Any denial of such substitution may be appealed to the appeals board.

8235. A vessel may not be used to take salmon for commercial purposes and sport purposes in the same calendar year, except that, boats licensed pursuant to Section 7920, engaged in such business, may be used to take salmon for commercial purposes, but not on the same day that sport fishing passengers are carried on such vessel.

The appeals board shall be limited to factual determinations as specified by this article and shall render such determinations based upon substantial evidence by a majority vote of the full board.

8237. Accordingly, the Legislature finds that, for purposes of persons who hold such office, the commercial salmon fishing industry is tantamount to and constitutes the public generally within the meaning of Section 87103 of the Government Code in those decisions affecting the commercial salmon fishing industry, unless the results of their actions taken as board members have a material financial effect on them distinguishable from their effect on other members of their industry

generally

8239. This article shall remain in effect only until January 1, 1982, and as of such date is repealed unless a later enacted statute, which is chaptered before January 1, 1982, deletes or extends such date.

Notwithstanding Section 2231 or 2234 of the Revenue and Taxation Code, no appropriation is made by this act pursuant to these sections because this act creates a new crime or infraction, eliminates a crime or infraction, or changes the penalty for a crime or infraction. It is recognized, however, that a local agency or school district may pursue any remedies to obtain reimbursement available to it under Chapter 3 (commencing with Section 2201) of Part 4 of Division 1 of that code.

Article 6.5. Hazardous Waste Haulers

25167.1. This article may be cited and shall be known as the Hazardous Waste Haulers Act. It is not the intent of the Legislature in enacting these provisons to preempt or weaken any state or federal law or regulation specifically relating to the handling or transportation of radioactive materials or nuclear waste.

25167.2. The Legislature finds and declares that increasing quantities of hazardous waste are being produced in this state and that adequate and reasonable safeguards in handling hazardous wastes, particularly in transporting hazardous wastes to disposal sites, are necessary to protect the public health and environment.

25167.3. It is the intent of the Legislature that this act preempt all local regulations and all conflicting state regulations concerning the transportation of hazardous waste, including all inspection, licensing, and registration of trucks, trailers, vacuum tanks, cargo tanks, and containers used to transport all types of hazardous wastes. No state agency, city, city and county, county, or other political subdivision of this state, including, but not limited to, a chartered city, city and county, or county, shall adopt or enforce any ordinance or regulation which is inconsistent with the rules and regulations adopted by the State Department of Health Services, the Department of the California Highway Patrol, or the State Fire Marshal pursuant to this act.

25168 No registration shall be granted under this article unless:

(a) The truck, trailer, vacuum tank, cargo tank, or container, excluding containers holding hazardous waste packages pursuant to Federal Department of Transportation requirements, used to transport all types of hazardous wastes, has been inspected and received a certificate of compliance under this article, and

(b) The owner or operator provides documentation indicating that all persons who will operate the truck, trailer, vacuum tank, cargo tank, or container have received training adequate to insure the safe handling of the hazardous waste to be transported.

25168.1. The department shall adopt regulations for containers used to transport hazardous wastes not covered or packaged as required by federal regulations contained in Title 49 of the Code of Federal Regulations. The California Highway Patrol shall conduct an annual inspection of every truck, trailer, vacuum tank, cargo tank, or container used by registered waste haulers to transport hazardous waste on the highways. The inspection shall be designed to determine if each vehicle complies with regulations adopted by the State Fire Marshal under Section 34020 of the Vehicle Code, by the Highway Patrol under subdivisions (a) and (b) of Section 34501 of the Vehicle Code, and by the State Department of Health Services for containers used to haul hazardous waste. The Department of the California Highway Patrol shall determine whether the construction, design, equipment, and safety features of every such truck, trailer, vacuum tank, cargo tank, or container are in compliance with the standards which the department determines are necessary for the safe transportation of hazardous waste.

25168.2. The department may, pursuant to Chapter 5 (commencing with Section 11500) of Part 1 of Division 3 of Title 2 of the Government Code, suspend or revoke the certification of a truck, trailer, vacuum tank, cargo tank, or container used to haul hazardous waste and may revoke the registration of a hazardous waste hauler for any of the following reasons:

(a) Failure of the registrant to pay required fees or misrepresentation upon application for original or renewal registration

(b) Failure of a truck, trailer, vacuum tank, cargo tank, or container owned or operated by a registrant to comply with regulations adopted under Section 34020, subdivisions (a) and (b) of Section 34501 of the Vehicle Code, and those regulations promulgated by the department for containers used to haul hazardous waste

(c) Failure or refusal of the registrant to permit inspection of a truck, trailer, vacuum tank, cargo tank, or container or make a truck, trailer, vacuum tank, cargo tank, or container available for inspection by a member of the California Highway Patrol upon reasonable notice.

(d) Failure to possess the minimum insurance, as prescribed in

Section 25169

(e) Violation of any provisions of this division.

25168.3. (a) Once a truck, trailer, vacuum tank, cargo tank, or container has been inspected and found to be in compliance with all design, construction, and safety requirements, the department shall issue a sticker, label, or other suitable device constituting a certificate of compliance to identify waste hauling vehicles which have passed inspection. The certificate of compliance shall be plainly affixed to the truck, trailer, vacuum tank, cargo tank, or container. The size, shape, color, and design of the certificate of compliance and the positioning of the certificate shall be determined by the department.

(b) The indicia required by this section shall be incorporated with, or take the place of, any indicia issued pursuant to the provisions of this article.

25168.4. The fee for the annual inspection of a truck, trailer, vacuum tank, cargo tank, or container used to transport hazardous wastes shall be determined by the commissioner of the Department of the California Highway Patrol as provided by Article 6 (commencing with Section 2560) of Chapter 2 of Division 2 of the Vehicle Code.

25168.6. All inspection fees received shall be deposited in the Motor Vehicle Account in the State Transportation Fund. An amount equal to the fees collected is hereby continuously appropriated from the Motor Vehicle Account to the Department of the California Highway Patrol to reimburse the department for the inspections conducted.

25169. Every transporter of hazardous waste, as defined in Section 25117, shall maintain ability to respond in damages resulting from the operation of his business consistent with:

(a) The liability limits prescribed pursuant to Section 3631 of the Public Utilities Code.

(b) A higher limit than that prescribed in (a), when deemed necessary and so established by the State Department of Health Services.

25169.1. (a) The California Highway Patrol shall inspect every truck, trailer, vacuum tank, cargo tank, or container used to transport hazardous waste at least once a year to ascertain whether its construction, design, equipment and safety features comply with the regulations promulgated by the State Department of Health Services pursuant to Section 25168.1.

(b) No person shall transport hazardous waste on streets and highways within the State of California, unless the truck, trailer, vacuum tank, cargo tank, or container in which the hazardous waste is being transported displays a certificate of compliance, issued by the State Department of Health Services, showing that the vehicle has been inspected within the last 12 months.

SEC. 4. Section 25201.2 is added to the Health and Safety Code, to read:

25201.2. Any operator of a treatment facility, waste transfer station, waste storage area, resource recovery facility or waste disposal site or any other person who accepts hazardous waste from a vacuum truck, trailer, or container failing to display a valid certificate of compliance as provided in Section 25168.3, shall report the incident to the State Department of Health Services, as required by the department.

SEC. 5. Notwithstanding Section 2231 or 2234 of the Revenue and Taxation Code, no appropriation is made by this act pursuant to these sections because this act creates a new crime or infraction, eliminates a crime or infraction, or changes the penalty for a crime or infraction. It is recognized, however, that a local agency or school district may pursue any remedies to obtain reimbursement available to it under Chapter 3 (commencing with Section 2201) of Part 4 of Division 1 of that code.

SEC. 6. Article 6 (commencing with Section 2560) is added to Chapter 2.5 of Division 2 of the Vehicle Code, to read:

The fee, established by regulation, shall be sufficient to cover the cost to the department of conducting hazardous waste inspections but shall not exceed fifty dollars ($50).

2561. The department shall collect the fee at the time of the inspection. All fees received shall be deposited in the Motor Vehicle Account in the State Transportation Fund.

SEC. 7. Section 34100 of the Vehicle Code is amended to read:

34100. No person shall drive, move, or leave standing any tank vehicle upon any highway unless all cargo tanks on such vehicles have been registered, pursuant to this division, with the State Fire Marshal and the appropriate fees have been paid.

SEC. 8. The sum of twenty thousand dollars ($20,000) is hereby appropriated from the General Fund to State Department of Health Services to develop the regulations required by this act.

An act to add Sections 40709, 40710, 40711, 40712, and 40713 to the Health and Safety Code, relating to air pollution.

[Approved by Governor September 27, 1979 Filed with Secretary of State September 28, 1979]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows.

SECTION 1 Section 40709 is added to the Health and Safety Code, to read.

40709 Every district board may establish by regulation a system by which certain reductions in the emission of air contaminants may be banked and used to offset certain future increases in the emission of air contaminants Such system shall provide that only those reductions in the emission of air contaminants, which are not otherwise required by any federal, state, or district law, rule, order, permit, or regulation, shall be registered, certified, or otherwise approved by the district air pollution control officer before they may be banked and used to offset future increases in the emission of air contaminants. Such system shall be subject to disapproval by the state board pursuant to Chapter 1 (commencing with Section 41500) of Part 4 of this division within 60 days after adoption by the district.

Such system is not intended to recognize any preexisting right to emit air contaminants, but to provide a mechanism for districts to recognize the existence of reductions of air contaminants that can be used as offsets, and to provide greater certainty that such offsets shall be available for emitting industries.

SEC. 2. Section 40710 is added to the Health and Safety Code, to read.

The owner or owners of such certificates have the exclusive right to use and to authorize the use of the approved reductions evidenced thereby.

SEC. 3. Section 40711 is added to the Health and Safety Code, to read.

40711. Use of approved reductions in emissions of air contaminants may be transferred in whole or in part by any means of conveyance permissible under the laws of this state. No such transfer shall be effective until the district air pollution control officer is notified thereof in writing.

SEC. 4 Section 40712 is added to the Health and Safety Code, to read:

40712. If there is more than one owner of the source of the approved reductions in emission of air contaminants, initial title to such approved reductions shall be deemed held by such co-owners in the same manner as they hold title to the source of such reductions at the time such reductions are approved by the district air pollution control officer.
