(1) Despite the fact that the environmental and educational communities have known for years that lead paint still exists in school buildings in the state, many of these lead hazards have not been mitigated and continue to pose a danger to the health and well being of children.

(2) A survey of the State Department of Health Services found that, of 200 randomly selected California elementary schools, 77 percent have lead-based paint; 38 percent have lead-based paint that is deteriorating, exposing children to possible lead poisoning; 6 percent have soil lead levels greater than the Environmental Protection Agency's limit; and 18 percent have lead levels in drinking water in excess of the action level set by the Environmental Protection Agency.

(3) Lead is a highly toxic heavy metal that adversely affects virtually every organ system in the body.

(4) Most children with lead poisoning have no overt symptoms, but can suffer permanent neurological deficits and behavioral problems, including attention deficit disorder and loss of IQ points.

(5) The United States Center for Disease Control and Prevention has found that ''lead poisoning remains the most common and societally devastating environmental disease of young children.''

(6) Childhood lead poisoning has a significant financial cost, as lead poisoned children incur high medical and special education costs and have reduced lifetime earning potential.

(b) Therefore, it is the intent of the Legislature to encourage all public schools to identify all lead hazards as quickly as possible.

SEC. 2. Section 17074.27 is added to the Education Code, to read:

17074.27. In addition to the uses specified in Section 17074.25, a modernization apportionment may also be used for the control, management, or abatement of lead.

SEC. 3. Section 17074.30 is added to the Education Code, to read:

17074.30. Commencing with applications submitted after January 1, 2004, any school district applying for funding pursuant to this article shall certify that it has considered the potential for the presence of lead-containing materials in the modernization projects and will follow all relevant federal, state, and local standards for the management of any identified lead.

SEC. 4. Section 17582 of the Education Code is amended to read:

17582. (a) The governing board of each school district may establish a restricted fund to be known as the ''district deferred maintenance fund'' for the purpose of major repair or replacement of plumbing, heating, air conditioning, electrical, roofing, and floor systems, the exterior and interior painting of school buildings, the inspection, sampling, and analysis of building materials to determine the presence of asbestos-containing materials, the encapsulation or removal of asbestos-containing materials, the inspection, identification, sampling, and analysis of building materials to determine the presence of lead-containing materials, the control, management, and removal of lead-containing materials, and any other items of maintenance approved by the State Allocation Board. Funds deposited in the district deferred maintenance fund may be received from any source whatsoever, and shall be accounted for separately from all other funds and accounts and retained in the district deferred maintenance fund for purposes of this section. The term ''school building'' as used in this article includes a facility that a county office of education is authorized to use pursuant to Article 3 (commencing with Section 17280) of Chapter 3.

(b) Funds deposited in the district deferred maintenance fund shall only be expended for maintenance purposes as provided pursuant to subdivision (a).

(c) The governing board of each school district shall have complete control over the funds and earnings of funds once deposited in the district deferred maintenance fund, provided that no funds deposited in the district deferred maintenance fund pursuant to subdivision (a) or (b) of Section 17584 may be expended by the governing board for any purpose except those specified in subdivision (a) of this section.

SEC. 5. Section 17584.2 is added to the Education Code, to read:

17584.2. At the public hearing required pursuant to Section 17584.1, the governing board of the school district shall also address the use of deferred maintenance funds for the inspection, identification, sampling, and analysis of building materials to determine the presence of lead-containing materials and the control, management, and removal of lead-containing materials.

CHAPTER 1076

An act to amend Sections 11628 and 12959 of the Insurance Code, relating to insurance.

[Approved by Governor September 29, 2002. Filed with Secretary of State September 29, 2002.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Section 11628 of the Insurance Code is amended to read:

11628. (a) No admitted insurer, licensed to issue and issuing motor vehicle liability policies as defined in Section 16450 of the Vehicle Code, shall fail or refuse to accept an application for that insurance, to issue that insurance to an applicant therefor, or issue or cancel that insurance under conditions less favorable to the insured than in other comparable cases, except for reasons applicable alike to persons of every race, language, color, religion, national origin, ancestry, or the same geographic area; nor shall race, language, color, religion, national origin, ancestry, or location within a geographic area of itself constitute a condition or risk for which a higher rate, premium, or charge may be required of the insured for that insurance.

As used in this section ''geographic area'' means a portion of this state of not less than 20 square miles defined by description in the rating manual of an insurer or in the rating manual of a rating bureau of which the insurer is a member or subscriber. In order that geographic areas used for rating purposes may reflect homogeneity of loss experience, a record of loss experience for the geographic area shall include the breakdown of actual loss experience statistics by ZIP Code area (as designated by the United States Postal Service) within each geographic area for family owned private passenger motor vehicles and lightweight commercial motor vehicles, under $1^1/_2$-ton load capacity, used for local service or retail delivery, normally within a 50-mile radius of garaging, and which are not part of a fleet of five or more motor vehicles under one ownership. A record of loss experience for the geographic area, including that statistical data by ZIP Code area, shall be submitted annually to the commissioner for examination by each insurer licensed to issue and issuing motor vehicle liability policies, motor vehicle physical damage policies, or both. Loss experience shall include separate loss data for each type of coverage, including liability or physical damage coverage, underwritten. That report shall include the insurer's statewide loss ratio, loss adjustment expense ratio, expense ratio, and combined ratio on its assigned-risk business. An insurer may satisfy its obligation to report statistical data under this subdivision by providing its loss experience data and statewide expense ratio and combined ratio on its assigned-risk business to a rating or advisory organization for submission to the commissioner. This data shall be made available to the public by the commissioner annually after examination. However, the data shall be released in aggregate form by ZIP Code in order that no individual insurer's loss experience for any specific geographic area be revealed. Differentiation in rates between geographical areas shall not constitute unfair discrimination.

All information reported to the department pursuant to this subdivision shall be confidential.

As used in this section, (1) ''language'' means the inability to speak, read, write, or comprehend the English language, (2) ''dependents'' shall include, but not be limited to, issue regardless of generation, and (3) ''spouse'' shall be determined without regard to current marital status.

(b) The commissioner may require insurers with combined ratios on statewide assigned-risk business that are 10 percent above the mean combined ratio for all plan participants to also report the following:

(1) The reason for the excessive ratio.

(2) A plan for reducing the ratio, and when the reduction can be expected to occur. The commissioner may require insurers subject to this subdivision to provide periodic reports on the progress in reducing the combined ratio.

(c) No admitted insurer, licensed to issue and issuing motor vehicle liability insurance policies as defined in Section 16450 of the Vehicle Code, shall fail or refuse to accept an application for that insurance, refuse to issue that insurance to an applicant therefor, or cancel that insurance solely for the reason that the applicant for that insurance or any insured is employed in a specific occupation, or is on active duty service in the Armed Forces of the United States.

Nothing in this section shall prohibit an insurer from:

(1) Considering the occupation of the applicant or insured as a condition or risk for which a higher rate or discounted rate may be required or offered for coverage in the course and scope of his or her occupation.

(2) Charging a deviated rate to any classification of risks involving a specific occupation, or grouping thereof, if the rate meets the requirements of Chapter 9 (commencing with Section 1850) of Part 2 of Division 1 and is based upon actuarial data which demonstrates a significant actual historical differential between past losses or expenses attributable to the specific occupation, or grouping thereof, and the past losses or expenses attributable to other classification of risks. For purposes of compiling that actuarial data for a specific occupation or grouping thereof, a person shall be deemed employed in the occupation in which that data is compiled if: (A) the majority of his or her employment during the previous year was in the occupation, or (B) the majority of his or her aggregate earnings for the immediate preceding three-year period were derived from the occupation, or (C) the person is a member in good standing of a union which is an authorized collective bargaining agent for persons engaged in the occupation.

Nothing in this section shall be construed to include in the definition of ''occupation'' any status or activity which does not result in remuneration for work done or services performed, or self-employment in a business operated out of an applicant's or insured's place of residence or persons engaged in the renting, leasing, selling, repossessing, rebuilding, wrecking, or salvaging of motor vehicles.

(d) Nothing in this section shall limit or restrict the ability of an insurer to refuse to accept an application for or refuse to issue or cancel such insurance for the reason that it is a commercial vehicle or based upon the consideration of a vehicle's size, weight, design, or intended use.

(e) It is the intent of the Legislature that actuarial data by occupation may be examined for credibility by the commissioner on the same basis as any other automobile insurance data which he or she is empowered to examine.

(f) (1) Except as provided in Article 4 (commencing with Section 11620), nothing in this section or in Article 10 (commencing with Section 1861.01) of Chapter 9 of Part 2 of Division 1 or in any other provision of this code, shall prohibit an insurer from limiting the issuance or renewal of insurance as defined in subdivision (a) of Section 660 to persons who engage in, or have formerly engaged in, governmental or military service or segments of categories thereof, and their spouses, dependents, and former dependents or spouses.

(2) The term ''military service'' includes, but is not limited to, officer and warrant officer candidates, cadets or midshipmen at a service academy, cadets or midshipmen in advance Reserve Officer Training Corps programs or on Reserve Officer Training Corps program scholarships, National Guard officer candidates, students in government-sponsored precommissioning programs, and foreign military officers while on temporary duty in the United States.

(g) Any person subject to regulation by the commissioner pursuant to this code that fails to comply with a data call required by the department pursuant to subdivision (a) shall be liable to the state for a civil penalty in an amount not exceeding five thousand dollars ($5,000) for each 30-day period that the person is not in compliance, unless the failure to comply is willful, in which case the civil penalty shall be in an amount not to exceed ten thousand dollars ($10,000) for each 30-day period that the person is not in compliance, but not to exceed an aggregate amount of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000). The commissioner shall collect the amount so payable and may bring an action in the name of the people of the State of California to enforce collection. These penalties shall be in addition to other penalties provided by law.

(h) This section shall be known and may be cited as the ''Rosenthal Auto Insurance Nondiscrimination Law.''

SEC. 2. Section 12959 of the Insurance Code is amended to read:

12959. (a) On January 1, 1990, and on every January 1, thereafter, the commissioner shall publish and distribute a comparison of insurance rates report for those lines of insurance which, in the comissioner's judgment, are of most interest to individual purchasers of personal lines of coverage. The report shall be available to consumers. The distribution shall be designed to make consumers throughout the state aware of the content of the report. This report shall be prepared by the commissioner in a manner designed to provide information useful to consumers so that they may make informed comparisons of coverages and rates.

(b) The submission of any false rate information by any such insurer pursuant to a request of the commissioner for the purpose of compiling comparative data for the report to be published as required in subdivision (a), shall be punishable by a civil penalty not to exceed one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000). Any person subject to regulation by the commissioner pursuant to this code that fails to comply with a data call required by the department pursuant to this section shall be liable to the state for a civil penalty in an amount not exceeding five thousand dollars ($5,000) for each 30-day period that the person is not in compliance, unless the failure to comply is willful, in which case the civil penalty shall be in an amount not to exceed ten thousand dollars ($10,000) for each 30-day period that the person is not in compliance, but not to exceed an aggregate amount of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000). In determining the level of the penalty, the commissioner shall consider the good faith of the insurer and any similar prior violations by the insurer under this code.

An act to amend Sections 3176, 3183, and 3184 of, and to add Section 3188 to, the Family Code, relating to mediation.

[Approved by Governor September 29, 2002. Filed with Secretary of State September 29, 2002.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Section 3176 of the Family Code is amended to read:

3176. (a) Notice of mediation and of any hearing to be held pursuant to this chapter shall be given to the following persons:

(1) Where mediation is required to settle a contested issue of custody or visitation, to each party and to each party's counsel of record.

(2) Where a stepparent or grandparent seeks visitation rights, to the stepparent or grandparent seeking visitation rights, to each parent of the child, and to each parent's counsel of record.

(b) Notice shall be given by certified mail, return receipt requested, postage prepaid, to the last known address.

(c) Notice of mediation pursuant to Section 3188 shall state that all communications involving the mediator shall be kept confidential between the mediator and the disputing parties.

SEC. 2. Section 3183 of the Family Code is amended to read:

3183. (a) Except as provided in Section 3188, the mediator may, consistent with local court rules, submit a recommendation to the court as to the custody of or visitation with the child.

(b) Where the parties have not reached agreement as a result of the mediation proceedings, the mediator may recommend to the court that an investigation be conducted pursuant to Chapter 6 (commencing with Section 3110) or that other services be offered to assist the parties to effect a resolution of the controversy before a hearing on the issues.

(c) In appropriate cases, the mediator may recommend that restraining orders be issued, pending determination of the controversy, to protect the well-being of the child involved in the controversy.

SEC. 3. Section 3184 of the Family Code is amended to read:

3184. Except as provided in Section 3188, nothing in this chapter prohibits the mediator from recommending to the court that counsel be appointed, pursuant to Chapter 10 (commencing with Section 3150), to represent the minor child. In making this recommendation, the mediator shall inform the court of the reasons why it would be in the best interest of the minor child to have counsel appointed.

SEC. 4. Section 3188 is added to the Family Code, to read:

3188. (a) Any court selected by the Judicial Council under subdivision (c) may voluntarily adopt a confidential mediation program that provides for all of the following:

(1) The mediator may not make a recommendation as to custody or visitation to anyone other than the disputing parties, except as otherwise provided in this section.

(2) If total or partial agreement is reached in mediation, the mediator may report this fact to the court. If both parties consent in writing, where there is a partial agreement, the mediator may report to the court a description of the issues still in dispute, without specific reference to either party.

(3) In making the recommendation described in Section 3184, the mediator may not inform the court of the reasons why it would be in the best interest of the minor child to have counsel appointed.

(4) If the parties have not reached agreement as a result of the initial mediation, this section does not prohibit the court from requiring subsequent mediation that may result in a recommendation as to custody or visitation with the child if the subsequent mediation is conducted by a different mediator with no prior involvement with the case or knowledge of any communications, as defined in Section 1040 of the Evidence Code, with respect to the initial mediation. The court, however, shall inform the parties that the mediator will make a recommendation to the court regarding custody or visitation in the event that the parties cannot reach agreement on these issues.

(5) If an initial screening or intake process indicates that the case involves serious safety risks to the child, such as domestic violence, sexual abuse, or serious substance abuse, the court may provide an initial emergency assessment service that includes a recommendation to the court concerning temporary custody or visitation orders in order to expeditiously address those safety issues.

(b) This section shall become operative upon the appropriation of funds in the annual Budget Act sufficient to implement this section.

(c) This section shall apply only in four or more counties selected by the Judicial Council that currently allow a mediator to make custody recommendations to the court and have more than 1,000 family law case filings per year. The Judicial Council may also make this section applicable to additional counties that have fewer than 1,000 family law case filings per year.

CHAPTER 1078

An act to amend Sections 11180 and 11181 of the Penal Code, relating to the Interstate Compact for the Supervision of Adult Offenders.

[Approved by Governor September 29, 2002. Filed with Secretary of State September 29, 2002.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Section 11180 of the Penal Code is amended to read:

11180. The Interstate Compact for Adult Offender Supervision as contained herein is hereby enacted into law and entered into on behalf of the state with any and all other states legally joining therein in a form substantially as follows:

Preamble

Whereas: The interstate compact for the supervision of Parolees and Probationers was established in 1937. It is the earliest corrections ''compact'' established among the states and has not been amended since its adoption over 62 years ago.

Whereas: This compact is the only vehicle for the controlled movement of adult parolees and probationers across state lines and it currently has jurisdiction over more than a quarter of a million offenders.

Whereas: The complexities of the compact have become more difficult to administer, and many jurisdictions have expanded supervision expectations to include currently unregulated practices such as victim input, victim notification requirements, and sex offender registration.

Whereas: After hearings, national surveys, and a detailed study by a task force appointed by the National Institute of Corrections, the overwhelming recommendation has been to amend the document to bring about an effective management capacity that addresses public safety concerns and offender accountability.

Whereas: Upon the adoption of this Interstate Compact for Adult Offender Supervision, it is the intention of the Legislature to repeal the previous Interstate Compact for the Supervision of Parolees and Probationers as to those states that have ratified this compact.

Be it enacted by the General Assembly (Legislature) of the state of California.

Short title: This Act may be cited as The Interstate Compact for Adult Offender Supervision.

Article I. Purpose

The compacting states to this Interstate Compact recognize that each state is responsible for the supervision of adult offenders in the community who are authorized pursuant to the Bylaws and Rules of this compact to travel across state lines both to and from each compacting state in a manner so as to track the location of offenders, transfer supervision authority in an orderly and efficient manner, and when necessary return offenders to the originating jurisdictions. The compacting states also recognize that Congress, by enacting the Crime Control Act, 4 U.S.C. Section 112 (1965), has authorized and encouraged compacts for cooperative efforts and mutual assistance in the prevention of crime. It is the purpose of this compact and the Interstate Commission created hereunder, through means of joint and cooperative action among the compacting states: to provide the framework for the promotion of public safety and protect the rights of victims through the control and regulation of the interstate movement of offenders in the community; to provide for the effective tracking, supervision, and rehabilitation of these offenders by the sending and receiving states; and to equitably distribute the costs, benefits, and obligations of the compact among the compacting states. In addition, this compact will: create an Interstate Commission which will establish uniform procedures to manage the movement between states of adults placed under community supervision and released to the community under the jurisdiction of courts, paroling authorities, corrections or other criminal justice agencies which will promulgate rules to achieve the purpose of this compact; ensure an opportunity for input and timely notice to victims and to jurisdictions where defined offenders are authorized to travel or to relocate across state lines; establish a system of uniform data collection, access to information on active cases by authorized criminal justice officials, and regular reporting of Compact activities to heads of state councils, state executive, judicial, and legislative branches and criminal justice administrators; monitor compliance with rules governing interstate movement of offenders and initiate interventions to address and correct non-compliance; and coordinate training and education regarding regulations of interstate movement of offenders for officials involved in these types of activities. The compacting states recognize that there is no ''right'' of any offender to live in another state and that duly accredited officers of a sending state may at all times enter a receiving state and there apprehend and retake any offender under supervision subject to the provisions of this compact and Bylaws and Rules promulgated hereunder. It is the policy of the compacting states that the activities conducted by the Interstate Commission created herein are the formation of public policies and are therefore public business.

Article II. Definitions

Notwithstanding any civil service or other similar laws of any Compacting State, the By-laws shall exclusively govern the personnel policies and programs of the Interstate Commission; and providing a mechanism for winding up the operations of the Interstate Commission and the equitable return of any surplus funds that may exist upon the termination of the Compact after the payment and/or reserving of all of its debts and obligations; providing transition rules for ''start up'' administration of the compact; establishing standards and procedures for compliance and technical assistance in carrying out the compact.

Section B. Officers and Staff

The Interstate Commission shall maintain its corporate books and records in accordance with the By-laws.

Section D. Qualified Immunity, Defense and Indemnification

The Members, officers, executive director and employees of the Interstate Commission shall be immune from suit and liability, either personally or in their official capacity, for any claim for damage to or loss of property or personal injury or other civil liability caused or arising out of any actual or alleged act, error or omission that occurred within the scope of Interstate Commission employment, duties or responsibilities; provided, that nothing in this paragraph shall be construed to protect anyone from suit and/or liability for any damage, loss, injury or liability caused by their intentional or willful and wanton misconduct. The Interstate Commission shall defend the Commissioner of a Compacting State, or his or her representatives or employees, or the Interstate Commission's representatives or employees, in any civil action seeking to impose liability, arising out of any actual or alleged act, error or omission that occurred within the scope of Interstate Commission employment, duties or responsibilities, or that the defendant had a reasonable basis for believing occurred within the scope of Interstate Commission employment, duties or responsibilities; provided, that the actual or alleged act, error or omission did not result from intentional wrongdoing on the part of that person.

The Interstate Commission shall indemnify and hold the Commissioner of a Compacting State, the appointed designee or employees, or the Interstate Commission's representatives or employees, harmless in the amount of any settlement or judgement obtained against anyone arising out of any actual or alleged act, error or omission that occurred within the scope of Interstate Commission employment, duties or responsibilities, or that person had a reasonable basis for believing occurred within the scope of Interstate Commission employment, duties or responsibilities, provided, that the actual or alleged act, error or omission did not result from gross negligence or intentional wrongdoing on the part of the person.

Article VII. Activities of the Interstate Commission

The Interstate Commission shall meet and take whatever actions as are consistent with the provisions of this Compact.

Except as otherwise provided in this Compact and unless a greater percentage is required by the By-laws, in order to constitute an act of the Interstate Commission, the act shall have been taken at a meeting of the Interstate Commission and shall have received an affirmative vote of a majority of the members present.

Each Member of the Interstate Commission shall have the right and power to cast a vote to which that Compacting State is entitled and to participate in the business and affairs of the Interstate Commission. A Member shall vote in person on behalf of the state and shall not delegate a vote to another member state. However, a State Council shall appoint another authorized representative, in the absence of the commissioner from that state, to cast a vote on behalf of the member state at a specified meeting. The By-laws may provide for Members' participation in meetings by telephone or other means of telecommunication or electronic communication. Any voting conducted by telephone, or other means of telecommunication or electronic communication shall be subject to the same quorum requirements of meetings where members are present in person.

The Interstate Commission shall meet at least once during each calendar year. The chairperson of the Interstate Commission may call additional meetings at any time and, upon the request of a majority of the Members, shall call additional meetings.

The Interstate Commission's By-laws shall establish conditions and procedures under which the Interstate Commission shall make its information and official records available to the public for inspection or copying. The Interstate Commission may exempt from disclosure any information or official records to the extent they would adversely affect personal privacy rights or proprietary interests. In promulgating the Rules, the Interstate Commission may make available to law enforcement agencies records and information otherwise exempt from disclosure, and may enter into agreements with law enforcement agencies to receive or exchange information or records subject to nondisclosure and confidentiality provisions.

Public notice shall be given of all meetings and all meetings shall be open to the public, except as set forth in the Rules or as otherwise provided in the Compact. The Interstate Commission shall promulgate Rules consistent with the principles contained in the ''Government in Sunshine Act,'' 5 U.S.C. Section 552(b), as may be amended. The Interstate Commission and any of its committees may close a meeting to the public where it determines by two-thirds vote that an open meeting would be likely to:

Relate solely to the Interstate Commission's internal personnel practices and procedures.

Disclose matters specifically exempted from disclosure by statute.

Disclose trade secrets or commercial or financial information which is privileged or confidential.

Involve accusing any person of a crime, or formally censuring any person.

Disclose information of a personal nature where disclosure would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy.

Disclose investigatory records compiled for law enforcement purposes.

Disclose information contained in or related to examination, operating or condition reports prepared by, or on behalf of or for the use of, the Interstate Commission with respect to a regulated entity for the purpose of regulation or supervision of the entity.

Disclose information, the premature disclosure of which would significantly endanger the life of a person or the stability of a regulated entity.

Specifically relate to the Interstate Commission's issuance of a subpoena, or its participation in a civil action or proceeding.

For every meeting closed pursuant to this provision, the Interstate Commission's chief legal officer shall publicly certify that, in his or her opinion, the meeting may be closed to the public, and shall reference each relevant exemptive provision. The Interstate Commission shall keep minutes which shall fully and clearly describe all matters discussed in any meeting and shall provide a full and accurate summary of any actions taken, and the reasons therefor, including a description of each of the views expressed on any item and the record of any rollcall vote (reflected in the vote of each Member on the question). All documents considered in connection with any action shall be identified in the minutes. The Interstate Commission shall collect standardized data concerning the interstate movement of offenders as directed through its By-laws and Rules which shall specify the data to be collected, the means of collection and data exchange and reporting requirements.

Article VIII. Rulemaking Functions of the Interstate Commission

The Interstate Commission shall promulgate Rules in order to effectively and efficiently achieve the purposes of the Compact including transition rules governing administration of the compact during the period in which it is being considered and enacted by the states.

Rulemaking shall occur pursuant to the criteria set forth in this Article and the By-laws and Rules adopted pursuant thereto. Rulemaking shall substantially conform to the principles of the federal Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U.S.C.S. section 551 et seq., and the Federal Advisory Committee Act, 5 U.S.C.S. app. 2, section 1 et seq., as may be amended (hereinafter ''APA''). All Rules and amendments shall become binding as of the date specified in each Rule or amendment.

If a majority of the legislatures of the Compacting States rejects a Rule, by enactment of a statute or resolution in the same manner used to adopt the compact, then the Rule shall have no further force and effect in any Compacting State.

When promulgating a Rule, the Interstate Commission shall:

Publish the proposed Rule stating with particularity the text of the Rule which is proposed and the reason for the proposed Rule.

Allow persons to submit written data, facts, opinions and arguments, which information shall be publicly available.

Provide an opportunity for an informal hearing.

Promulgate a final Rule and its effective date, if appropriate, based on the rulemaking record.

Not later than sixty days after a Rule is promulgated, any interested person may file a petition in the United States District Court for the District of Columbia or in the Federal District Court where the Interstate Commission's principal office is located for judicial review of the Rule. If the court finds that the Interstate Commission's action is not supported by substantial evidence, (as defined in the APA), in the rulemaking record, the court shall hold the Rule unlawful and set it aside. Subjects to be addressed within 12 months after the first meeting must at a minimum include:

Notice to victims and opportunity to be heard.

Offender registration and compliance.

Violations/returns.

Transfer procedures and forms.

Eligibility for transfer.

Collection of restitution and fees from offenders.

Data collection and reporting.

The level of supervision to be provided by the receiving state.

Transition rules governing the operation of the compact and the Interstate Commission during all or part of the period between the effective date of the compact and the date on which the last eligible state adopts the compact.

Mediation, arbitration and dispute resolution.

The existing rules governing the operation of the previous compact superceded by this Act shall be null and void twelve (12) months after the first meeting of the Interstate Commission created hereunder.

Upon determination by the Interstate Commission that an emergency exists, it may promulgate an emergency rule which shall become effective immediately upon adoption, provided that the usual rulemaking procedures provided hereunder shall be retroactively applied to said rule as soon as reasonably possible, in no event later than 90 days after the effective date of the rule.

Article IX. Oversight, Enforcement, and Dispute Resolution by the Interstate Commission

Section A. Oversight

The Interstate Commission shall oversee the interstate movement of adult offenders in the compacting states and shall monitor the activities being administered in Non-compacting States which may significantly affect Compacting States.

The courts and executive agencies in each Compacting State shall enforce this Compact and shall take all actions necessary and appropriate to effectuate the Compact's purposes and intent. In any judicial or administrative proceeding in a Compacting State pertaining to the subject matter of this Compact which may affect the powers, responsibilities or actions of the Interstate Commission, the Interstate Commission shall be entitled to receive all service of process in any proceeding, and shall have standing to intervene in the proceeding for all purposes.

Section B. Dispute Resolution

The Compacting States shall report to the Interstate Commission on issues or activities of concern to them, and cooperate with and support the Interstate Commission in the discharge of its duties and responsibilities.

The Interstate Commission shall attempt to resolve any disputes or other issues which are subject to the Compact and which may arise among Compacting States and Non-compacting States.

The Interstate Commission shall enact a By-law or promulgate a Rule providing for both mediation and binding dispute resolution for disputes among the Compacting States.

Section C. Enforcement

The Interstate Commission, in the reasonable exercise of its discretion, shall enforce the provisions of this compact using any or all means set forth in Article XII, Section B, of this compact.

Article X. Finance

The Interstate Commission shall pay or provide for the payment of the reasonable expenses of its establishment, organization and ongoing activities.

The Interstate Commission shall levy on and collect an annual assessment from each Compacting State to cover the cost of the internal operations and activities of the Interstate Commission and its staff which must be in a total amount sufficient to cover the Interstate Commission's annual budget as approved each year. The aggregate annual assessment amount shall be allocated based upon a formula to be determined by the Interstate Commission, taking into consideration the population of the state and the volume of interstate movement of offenders in each Compacting State and shall promulgate a Rule binding upon all Compacting States which governs said assessment.

The Interstate Commission shall not incur any obligations of any kind prior to securing the funds adequate to meet the same; nor shall the Interstate Commission pledge the credit of any of the compacting states, except by and with the authority of the compacting state. The Interstate Commission shall keep accurate accounts of all receipts and disbursements. The receipts and disbursements of the Interstate Commission shall be subject to the audit and accounting procedures established under its By-laws. However, all receipts and disbursements of funds handled by the Interstate Commission shall be audited yearly by a certified or licensed public accountant and the report of the audit shall be included in and become part of the annual report of the Interstate Commission.

Article XI. Compacting States, Effective Date and Amendment

Any state, as defined in Article II of this compact, is eligible to become a Compacting State. The Compact shall become effective and binding upon legislative enactment of the Compact into law by no less than 35 of the States. The initial effective date shall be the later of July 1, 2001, or upon enactment into law by the 35th jurisdiction. Thereafter, it shall become effective and binding, as to any other Compacting State, upon enactment of the Compact into law by that State. The governors of Non-member states or their designees will be invited to participate in Interstate Commission activities on a non-voting basis prior to adoption of the compact by all states and territories of the United States.

Amendments to the Compact may be proposed by the Interstate Commission for enactment by the Compacting States. No amendment shall become effective and binding upon the Interstate Commission and the Compacting States unless and until it is enacted into law by unanimous consent of the Compacting States.

Article XII. Withdrawal, Default, Termination, and Judicial Enforcement

Section A. Withdrawal

Once effective, the Compact shall continue in force and remain binding upon each and every Compacting State; provided, that a Compacting State may withdraw from the Compact (''Withdrawing State'') by enacting a statute specifically repealing the statute which enacted the Compact into law.

The effective date of withdrawal is the effective date of the repeal. The Withdrawing State shall immediately notify the Chairperson of the Interstate Commission in writing upon the introduction of legislation repealing this Compact in the Withdrawing State. The Interstate Commission shall notify the other Compacting States of the Withdrawing State's intent to withdraw within sixty days of its receipt thereof. The Withdrawing State is responsible for all assessments, obligations and liabilities incurred through the effective date of withdrawal, including any obligations, the performance of which extend beyond the effective date of withdrawal.

Reinstatement following withdrawal of any Compacting State shall occur upon the Withdrawing State reenacting the Compact or upon a later date as determined by the Interstate Commission.

Section B. Default

If the Interstate Commission determines that any Compacting State has at any time defaulted (''Defaulting State'') in the performance of any of its obligations or responsibilities under this Compact, the By-laws or any duly promulgated Rules the Interstate Commission may impose any or all of the following penalties: Fines, fees and costs in amounts as are deemed to be reasonable as fixed by the Interstate Commission. Remedial training and technical assistance as directed by the Interstate Commission; suspension and termination of membership in the compact. Suspension shall be imposed only after all other reasonable means of securing compliance under the By-laws and Rules have been exhausted. Immediate notice of suspension shall be given by the Interstate Commission to the Governor, the Chief Justice or Chief Judicial Officer of the state, the majority and minority leaders of the defaulting state's legislature, and the State Council.

The grounds for default include, but are not limited to, failure of a Compacting State to perform the obligations or responsibilities imposed upon it by this compact, Interstate Commission By-laws, or duly promulgated Rules. The Interstate Commission shall immediately notify the Defaulting State in writing of the penalty imposed by the Interstate Commission on the Defaulting State pending a cure of the default. The Interstate Commission shall stipulate the conditions and the time period within which the Defaulting State must cure its default. If the Defaulting State fails to cure the default within the time period specified by the Interstate Commission, in addition to any other penalties imposed herein, the Defaulting State may be terminated from the Compact upon an affirmative vote of a majority of the Compacting States and all rights, privileges and benefits conferred by this Compact shall be terminated from the effective date of suspension. Within sixty days of the effective date of termination of a Defaulting State, the Interstate Commission shall notify the Governor, the Chief Justice or Chief Judicial Officer and the Majority and Minority Leaders of the Defaulting State's legislature and the state council of the termination.

The Defaulting State is responsible for all assessments, obligations and liabilities incurred through the effective date of termination including any obligations, the performance of which extends beyond the effective date of termination.

The Interstate Commission shall not bear any costs relating to the Defaulting State unless otherwise mutually agreed upon between the Interstate Commission and the Defaulting State. Reinstatement following termination of any Compacting State requires both a reenactment of the Compact by the Defaulting State and the approval of the Interstate Commission pursuant to the Rules.

Section C. Judicial Enforcement

The Interstate Commission may, by majority vote of the Members, initiate legal action in the United States District Court for the District of Columbia or, at the discretion of the Interstate Commission, in the Federal District where the Interstate Commission has its offices to enforce compliance with the provisions of the Compact, its duly promulgated Rules and By-laws, against any Compacting State in default. In the event judicial enforcement is necessary the prevailing party shall be awarded all litigation costs including reasonable attorneys fees.

Section D. Dissolution of Compact

The Compact dissolves effective upon the date of the withdrawal or default of the Compacting State which reduces membership in the Compact to one Compacting State.

Upon the dissolution of this Compact, the Compact becomes null and void and shall be of no further force or effect, and the business and affairs of the Interstate Commission shall be wound up and any surplus funds shall be distributed in accordance with the By-laws.

Article XIII. Severability and Construction

The provisions of this Compact shall be severable, and if any phrase, clause, sentence or provision is deemed unenforceable, the remaining provisions of the Compact shall be enforceable.

The provisions of this Compact shall be liberally constructed to effectuate its purposes.

Article XIV. Binding Effect of Compact and Other Laws

Section A. Other Laws

Nothing herein prevents the enforcement of any other law of a Compacting State that is not inconsistent with this Compact.

All Compacting States' laws conflicting with this Compact are superseded to the extent of the conflict.

Section B. Binding Effect of the Compact

All lawful actions of the Interstate Commission, including all Rules and By-laws promulgated by the Interstate Commission, are binding upon the Compacting States.

All agreements between the Interstate Commission and the Compacting States are binding in accordance with their terms.

Upon the request of a party to a conflict over meaning or interpretation of Interstate Commission actions, and upon a majority vote of the Compacting States, the Interstate Commission may issue advisory opinions regarding meaning or interpretation.

In the event any provision of this Compact exceeds the constitutional limits imposed on the legislature of any Compacting State, the obligations, duties, powers or jurisdiction sought to be conferred by the provision upon the Interstate Commission shall be ineffective and the obligations, duties, powers or jurisdiction shall remain in the Compacting State and shall be exercised by the agency thereof to which the obligations, duties, powers or jurisdiction are delegated by law in effect at the time this Compact becomes effective.

SEC. 2. Section 11181 of the Penal Code is amended to read:

11181. (a) There is hereby established the California Council for Interstate Adult Offender Supervision.

(b) The council shall exercise oversight and advocacy concerning its participation in Interstate Commission activities, and other duties as may be determined by the Legislature or Governor, including but not limited to, development of policy concerning operations and procedures of the compact within the state.

(c) There shall be seven members of the council. The Director of Corrections, or his or her designee, shall be a member and serve as the commissioner, who shall represent California and serve on the Interstate Commission for Adult Offender Supervision. The commissioner shall also be the Compact Administrator for the State of California for purposes of the Interstate Compact for Adult Offender Supervision. The Governor shall appoint three members, one of whom shall represent victims rights groups, and one of whom shall represent chief probation officers. One member each shall be appointed by the Senate Committee on Rules and the Speaker of the Assembly. The Judicial Council shall appoint one superior court judge as a member.

(d) With the exception of the commissioner, each member of the council shall serve for a term of four years. Council members shall not be compensated, except for reasonable per diem expenses related to their work for council purposes.

(e) The council shall, not later than July 1, 2005, submit a report to the Legislature on the status of implementing the Interstate Compact for Adult Offender Supervision in California. The report shall clearly differentiate the role and responsibilities of the state Compact Administrator from local supervisory agencies and shall articulate the interdependence between the state Compact Administrator and other related entities, including, but not limited to, local supervisory agencies. Additionally, the report shall identify the process by which the State Council communicates with county probation offices and Superior courts to ensure the state's compliance with the Interstate Compact for Adult Offender Supervision.

An act to amend Sections 5094, 8022, 8028, and 8028.2 of, to add Sections 153.5, 2570.26, 2570.27, 2570.28, 2570.29, 2570.30, 2570.31, and 2570.32 to, to amend and repeal Sections 805.2 and 8020 of, and to repeal Section 2570.17 of, the Business and Professions Code, relating to professions and vocations, making an appropriation therefor, and declaring the urgency thereof, to take effect immediately.

[Approved by Governor September 29, 2002. Filed with Secretary of State September 29, 2002.]

I am signing Senate Bill 1244. However, I am vetoing Section 2 (8) (d) of this measure, which would authorize the Medical Board of California to expend the first $300,000 deposited in the Contingent Fund of the Medical Board of California in the 2002–03 fiscal year pursuant to Section 125.3. Existing law already requires the Board to complete the peer review study for which this funding would be provided and I do not support appropriating additional funds for this purpose, especially given the already insecure fiscal condition of the fund.

GRAY DAVIS, Governor

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Section 153.5 is added to the Business and Professions Code, to read:

153.5. In the event that a newly authorized board replaces an existing or a previous board, the director may appoint an interim executive officer for the board who shall serve temporarily until the new board appoints a permanent executive officer.

SEC. 2. Section 805.2 of the Business and Professions Code, as added by Section 2 of Chapter 615 of the Statutes of 2001, is amended to read:

805.2. (a) It is the intent of the Legislature to provide for a comprehensive study of the peer review process as it is conducted by peer review bodies defined in paragraph (1) of subdivision (a) of Section 805, in order to evaluate the continuing validity of Section 805 and Sections 809 to 809.8, inclusive, and their relevance to the conduct of peer review in California. The Medical Board of California shall contract with the Institute for Medical Quality to conduct this study, which shall include, but not be limited to, the following components:

(1) A comprehensive description of the various steps of and decisionmakers in the peer review process as it is conducted by peer review bodies throughout the state, including the role of other related committees of acute care health facilities and clinics involved in the peer review process.

(2) A survey of peer review cases to determine the incidence of peer review by peer review bodies, and whether they are complying with the reporting requirement in Section 805.

(3) A description and evaluation of the roles and performance of various state agencies, including the State Department of Health Services and occupational licensing agencies that regulate healing arts professionals, in receiving, reviewing, investigating, and disclosing peer review actions, and in sanctioning peer review bodies for failure to comply with Section 805.

(4) An assessment of the cost of peer review to licentiates and the facilities which employ them.

(5) An assessment of the time consumed by the average peer review proceeding, including the hearing provided pursuant to Section 809.2, and a description of any difficulties encountered by either licentiates or facilities in assembling peer review bodies or panels to participate in peer review decisionmaking.

(6) An assessment of the need to amend Section 805 and Sections 809 to 809.8, inclusive, to ensure that they continue to be relevant to the actual conduct of peer review as described in paragraph (1), and to evaluate whether the current reporting requirement is yielding timely and accurate information to aid licensing boards in their responsibility to regulate and discipline healing arts practitioners when necessary, and to assure that peer review bodies function in the best interest of patient care.

(7) Recommendations of additional mechanisms to stimulate the appropriate reporting of peer review actions under Section 805.

(8) Recommendations regarding the Section 809 hearing process to improve its overall effectiveness and efficiency.

(b) The Institute of Medical Quality shall exercise no authority over the peer review processes of peer review bodies. However, peer review bodies, health care facilities, health care clinics, and health care service plans shall cooperate with the institute and provide data, information, and case files as requested in the timeframes specified by the institute.

(c) The institute shall work in cooperation with and under the general oversight of the Medical Director of the Medical Board of California and shall submit a written report with its findings and recommendations to the board and the Legislature no later than November 1, 2003.

(d) For the purpose of carrying out this section, the board is authorized to expend the first three hundred thousand dollars ($300,000) that is deposited in the Contingent Fund of the Medical Board of California in the 2002–03 fiscal year pursuant to Section 125.3.

SEC. 3. Section 805.2 of the Business and Professions Code, as added by Section 4 of Chapter 614 of the Statutes of 2001, is repealed.

SEC. 4. Section 2570.17 of the Business and Professions Code is repealed.

SEC. 5. Section 2570.26 is added to the Business and Professions Code, to read:

(3) Revoking the license.

(b) The board may issue an initial license on probation, with specific terms and conditions, to any applicant who has violated any provision of this chapter or the regulations adopted pursuant to it, but who has met all other requirements for licensure.

SEC. 7. Section 2570.28 is added to the Business and Professions Code, to read:

2570.28. The board may deny or discipline a licensee for any of the following:

(a) Unprofessional conduct, including, but not limited to, the following:

(1) Incompetence or gross negligence in carrying out usual occupational therapy functions.

(2) Repeated similar negligent acts in carrying out usual occupational therapy functions.

(3) A conviction of practicing medicine without a license in violation of Chapter 5 (commencing with Section 2000), in which event a certified copy of the record of conviction shall be conclusive evidence thereof.

(c) Violating or attempting to violate, directly or indirectly, or assisting in or abetting the violation of, or conspiring to violate, any provision or term of this chapter or any regulation adopted pursuant to this chapter.

(j) Using excessive force upon or mistreating or abusing any patient. For the purposes of this subdivision, ''excessive force'' means force clearly in excess of that which would normally be applied in similar clinical circumstances.

(k) Falsifying or making grossly incorrect, grossly inconsistent, or unintelligible entries in a patient or hospital record or any other record.

(l) Changing the prescription of a physician and surgeon or falsifying verbal or written orders for treatment or a diagnostic regime received, whether or not that action resulted in actual patient harm.

(m) Failing to maintain confidentiality of patient medical information, except as disclosure is otherwise permitted or required by law.

(n) Delegating to an unlicensed employee or person a service that requires the knowledge, skills, abilities, or judgement of a licensee.

(o) Committing any act that would be grounds for denial of a license under Section 480.

(p) Except for good cause, the knowing failure to protect patients by failing to follow infection control guidelines of the board, thereby risking transmission of blood-borne infectious diseases from licensee to patient, from patient to patient, or from patient to licensee.

(1) In administering this subdivision, the board shall consider referencing the standards, regulations, and guidelines of the State Department of Health Services developed pursuant to Section 1250.11 of the Health and Safety Code and the standards, guidelines, and regulations pursuant to the California Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1973 (Part 1 (commencing with Section 63001) of Division 5 of the Labor Code) for preventing the transmission of HIV, hepatitis B, and other blood-borne pathogens in health care settings. (b) Use to an extent or in a manner dangerous or injurious to himself or herself, to any other person, or to the public, or that impairs his or her ability to conduct with safety to the public the practice authorized by his or her license, of any of the following:

(e) Falsify, or make grossly incorrect, grossly inconsistent, or unintelligible entries in any hospital or patient record, or any other record, pertaining to the substances described in subdivision (a) of this section.

SEC. 9. Section 2570.30 is added to the Business and Professions Code, to read:

2570.30. The board shall retain jurisdiction to proceed with any investigation, action or disciplinary proceeding against a license, or to render a decision suspending or revoking a license, regardless of the expiration, lapse, or suspension of the license by operation of law, by order or decision of the board or a court of law, or by the voluntary surrender of a license by the licensee.

(e) The board may grant or deny the petition, or may impose any terms and conditions that it reasonably deems appropriate as a condition of reinstatement or reduction of penalty.

(f) The board may refuse to consider a petition while the petitioner is under sentence for any criminal offense, including any period during which the petitioner is on court-imposed probation or parole or subject to an order of registration pursuant to Section 290 of the Penal Code.

Since 1982, paraprofessionals in California public schools have been assessed for their proficiency and ability to assist teachers and certificated personnel in teaching reading, writing, and mathematics. This legislation is intended to ensure that state law conforms with federal law regarding the testing requirements for paraprofessionals supported by federal Title I funds.

SEC. 2. Article 6.5 (commencing with Section 45330) is added to Chapter 5 of Part 25 of the Education Code, to read:

(c) Pursuant to the federal No Child Left Behind Act of 2001 (P.L. 107-110), a local education agency that receives funding from Title 1 of that act shall ensure that every paraprofessional hired on or after January 8, 2002, who is supported by those Title 1 funds and who assists in instruction has demonstrated at least one of the following in addition to any other requirements under that act:

(e) No person shall be initially assigned to assist in instruction as a paraprofessional in kindergarten and grades 1 to 12, inclusive, unless the person has demonstrated proficiency in reading, writing, and mathematics skills up to or exceeding that required by the employing district for high school seniors pursuant to subdivisions (a) and (f) of Section 51220 if the employing district educates high school students.

(f) If the employing district is an elementary school district, the paraprofessional shall demonstrate proficiency in reading, writing, and mathematics skills up to or exceeding that required for high school seniors pursuant to subdivisions (a) and (f) of Section 51220 in the high school district that includes all or the largest portion of the elementary district.

(g) In establishing the educational qualifications or in developing a proficiency exam, a school district shall align the qualifications and proficiency exams pursuant to paragraph (3) of subdivision (c).

(j) A school district may use an existing proficiency assessment or may develop a new proficiency assessment to meet the requirements of paragraph (3) of subdivision (c).

(k) Pursuant to the federal No Child Left Behind Act of 2001, a local education agency may use a portion of the funds from that act for staff development for paraprofessionals, to the extent that those funds are appropriated in the annual Budget Act for this purpose.

This fee may be subject to negotiation between the district and the exclusive representative of instructional aides, but in no event shall the fee exceed seven dollars ($7).

(c) An instructional aide who passes a district proficiency test as required by this section, transfers to another district, and is employed in the same capacity shall be considered to have met the proficiency standards for purposes of this section unless the district to which he or she has transferred determines that the test taken by the aide is not comparable to the standards required by the employing district.

SEC. 4. Section 45361.5 of the Education Code is amended to read:

This fee may be subject to negotiation between the district and the exclusive representative of instructional aides, but in no event shall the fee exceed seven dollars ($7).

(d) The school district governing board, at a public meeting, may grant an exemption from this requirement to any person, for a period of one year, if the person is to be assigned as a bilingual-crosscultural aide and the governing board determines that there is no other person available to serve in the same capacity. Upon or prior to the expiration of the one-year period, the bilingual-crosscultural aide shall be required to take and pass the basic skills test required by this section. A bilingual-crosscultural aide who has not demonstrated his or her basic skills proficiency through these means may not be compensated for work as a bilingual-crosscultural aide. A bilingual-crosscultural aide may only be granted one exemption from this requirement. The authority of district governing boards to grant these exemptions shall cease on June 30, 1985.

(e) An aide who passes a district proficiency test as required by this section who transfers to another district and is employed in the same capacity, shall be considered to have met the proficiency standards for purposes of this section unless the district to which he or she has transferred determines that the test taken by the aide is not comparable to the standards required by the employing district.

(f) An aide who passes a district proficiency test, as required by this section, and who is reassigned to another school or program in the district and is employed in the same capacity, shall be considered to have met the state basic skills proficiency test requirement.

SEC. 5. No reimbursement is required by this act pursuant to Section 6 of Article XIII B of the California Constitution because a local agency or school district has the authority to levy service charges, fees, or assessments sufficient to pay for the program or level of service mandated by this act, within the meaning of Section 17556 of the Government Code.

(1) Pay the cost of maintaining, repairing, and operating the project and each and every portion thereof, to the extent that the payment of that cost has not otherwise been adequately provided for.

(2) Pay the principal of, and the interest on, outstanding bonds of the authority issued in respect of that project as the same shall become due and payable.

(3) Create and maintain reserves required or provided for in any resolution authorizing, or trust agreement securing, bonds of the authority.

(b) (1) The rates, rents, fees, and charges referenced in subdivision (a) are not subject to supervision or regulation by any department, commission, board, body, bureau, or agency of this state other than the authority. A sufficient amount of the revenues derived in respect of a project, except a part of those revenues that is necessary to pay the cost of maintenance, repair, and operation and to provide reserves for renewals, replacements, extensions, enlargements, and improvements as may be provided for in the resolution authorizing the issuance of any bonds of the authority or in the trust agreement securing the same, shall be set aside at regular intervals provided in the resolution or trust agreement in a sinking or other similar fund.

(2) The fund established pursuant to paragraph (1) is pledged to, and charged with, the payment of the principal of and the interest on, the bonds as the same shall become due, and the redemption price or the purchase price of bonds retired by call or purchase as therein provided.

(3) The pledge required by paragraph (2) shall be valid and binding from the time when the pledge is made. The rates, rents, fees and charges and other revenues or other moneys so pledged and thereafter received by the authority shall immediately be subject to the lien of the pledge without any physical delivery thereof or further act, and the lien of that pledge shall be valid and binding as against all parties having claims of any kind in tort, contract, or otherwise against the authority, irrespective of whether the parties have notice thereof. Neither the resolution nor any trust agreement by which a pledge is created need be filed or recorded except in the records of the authority.

(4) The use and disposition of moneys to the credit of the sinking or other similar fund shall be subject to the resolution authorizing the issuance of those bonds or of that trust agreement. Except as may otherwise be provided in that resolution or that trust agreement, the sinking or other similar fund shall be a fund for all of those bonds issued to finance projects at a participating college, or bonds issued to finance a project of a participating nonprofit entity, without distinction or priority of one over another.

(5) The authority, in the resolution or trust agreement, may provide that the sinking or other similar fund shall be either of the following:

(A) The fund for a particular project at a participating college and for the bonds issued to finance a particular project and may, additionally, permit and provide for the issuance of bonds having a subordinate lien in respect of the security herein authorized to other bonds of the authority and, in this case, the authority may create separate sinking or other similar funds in respect of those subordinate lien bonds.

(B) The fund for a particular project of a participating nonprofit entity.

SEC. 5. Section 94154 of the Education Code is amended to read:

94154. The State of California pledges and agrees with the holders of the bonds, notes, and other obligations issued pursuant to authority contained in this chapter, and with those parties who may enter into contracts with the authority pursuant to the provisions of this chapter, that the state will not limit, alter, or restrict the rights hereby vested in the authority and the participating private colleges and participating nonprofit entities to maintain, construct, reconstruct, and operate any project as defined in this chapter or to establish and collect the rents, fees, receipts, or other charges as may be convenient or necessary to produce sufficient revenues to meet the expenses of maintenance and operation thereof and to fulfill the terms of any agreements made with the holders of bonds authorized by this chapter, and with the parties who may enter into contracts with the authority pursuant this chapter, or in any way impair the rights or remedies of the holders of those bonds or those parties until the bonds, together with interest thereon, are fully paid and discharged and the contracts are fully performed on the part of the authority. The authority as a public body corporate and politic may include the pledge herein made in its bonds and contracts.

SEC. 6. Article 9 (commencing with Section 94215) is added to Chapter 2 of Part 59 of the Education Code, to read:

Article 9. Grants

94215. The authority shall have power to make grants in aid to any private college in accordance with an agreement between the authority and a private college.

94215.3. Grants may be made to enable a private college to provide a program of academic assistance and services to pupils attending a qualified school, as defined in Section 94215.9, in order to inform the pupils of the benefits of, and the requirements for, higher education; prepare these pupils for college entrance; or to provide programs, such as academic enrichment and mentoring programs, that advance the academic standing of those pupils. The Legislature finds and declares that these grants will provide a benefit to the residents of the state.

94215.5. The authority is authorized to incur necessary expenses, payable from available funds, to provide grants for the purposes of this article, and the funds provided by the private college may be fully or partly matched by funds provided by the authority.

94215.7. (a) The authority, in consultation with representatives of private colleges, qualified schools, and other appropriate parties, shall develop selection criteria and a process for awarding grants under this article, which shall include all of the following:

(1) The extent to which the program to be funded will provide academic assistance, guidance in college admissions, or will otherwise contribute to the expansion of postsecondary educational opportunities for low- and very low income students.

(2) The extent to which the program, if it is already in existence, has a demonstrated record of success in providing academic assistance, guidance in college admissions, or in otherwise expanding the educational opportunities of students.

(3) If the program to be funded is new, the extent to which the applicant has demonstrated that the program is feasible, ready to be implemented, and well-structured to provide academic assistance, guidance in college admissions, or to expand the educational opportunities of students at qualified schools.

(4) The extent to which the program will serve qualified schools in geographic areas that are not currently being served by similar programs.

(5) The extent to which the applicant has demonstrated its commitment to providing need-based financial assistance to students who otherwise could not afford to attend the applicant's institution.

(6) The extent to which the applicant has committed its own funds, or funds obtained from other sources, to the program.

(7) The total amount of funds appropriated and available for purposes of this section.

(b) In no event shall a grant to finance a program exceed the total cost of the program, as determined by the applicant and approved by the authority. Grants shall be awarded only to applicants that have certified to the authority that all requirements established by the authority for grantees have been met. The authority shall not award more than a total of two million dollars ($2,000,000) in grants under this article, nor shall it award more than two hundred fifty thousand dollars ($250,000) to any applicant.

(c) All programs that are awarded grants shall be implemented within a reasonable period of time, to be determined by the authority. The authority shall not release any funds until the applicant demonstrates, to the authority's satisfaction, that the program is ready to be implemented. If the authority determines that the applicant has failed to implement the program under the terms specified in awarding the grant, the authority may require remedies, including the return of all or a portion of the grant.

(d) Any applicant receiving a grant under this section shall commit to using the grant funds for the purposes for which the grant was awarded.

94215.9. For purposes of this article, ''qualified school'' means any comprehensive school providing instruction in any of grades 7 to 12, inclusive, as determined by the authority, which shall take into consideration whether the school is in a low- or very low income area and whether, where applicable, the percentage of pupils who graduate from the school and are eligible for admission to the California State University or the University of California is below the statewide average according to the most recent information from the California Postsecondary Education Commission.

94216. Commencing with the 2004 calendar year, the authority shall annually submit to the Legislature a report setting forth the amount of funds awarded pursuant to this article in the preceding calendar year, the amount of each grant awarded, and a description of each of the outreach programs to which funding has been awarded under this article.

94216.9. The authority may adopt regulations to implement the grant program described in this article as emergency regulations in accordance with the rulemaking provisions of the Administrative Procedure Act (Chapter 3.5 (commencing with Section 11340) of Part 1 of Division 3 of Title 2 of the Government Code). The adoption of any emergency regulation pursuant to this section filed with the Office of Administrative Law on or before July 1, 2003, shall be deemed to be an emergency and necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety, or general welfare. Notwithstanding subdivision (e) of Section 11346.1 of the Government Code, any emergency regulation adopted pursuant to this section shall remain in effect for no more than 360 days.

94216.11. This article shall remain in effect only until January 1, 2009, and as of that date is repealed, unless a later enacted statute, that is enacted before January 1, 2009, deletes or extends that date.

SEC. 7. The Legislature finds and declares that the appropriation made by Section 6 of this act is a one-time appropriation from existing resources.

An act to amend Sections 76000, 76100, and 76101 of, to amend and renumber Section 68073 of, to add Section 76223 to, to add Chapter 4.2

(commencing with Section 69202) to Title 8 of, and to add Chapter 5.7 (commencing with Section 70301) to Title 8 of, the Government Code, relating to court facilities.

[Approved by Governor September 29, 2002. Filed with Secretary of State September 29, 2002.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. The Legislature finds and declares the following:

(a) The Lockyer-Isenberg Trial Court Funding Act (hereafter act) provides that court operations are to be funded by the state, rather than primarily by the counties, as they had been prior to the enactment of the act. Although the counties continue to contribute to trial court funding through maintenance-of-effort obligations, the restructuring of court funding ends a dual system of county and state funding and provides a more stable and consistent funding source for trial court operations. Counties, however, continue to bear primary responsibility for trial court facilities.

(b) The act also created the Task Force on Court Facilities (hereafter task force) to deal with the question of facilities that has been left as the responsibility of the counties by the act. The purpose of this act is to transfer the responsibility for trial court facilities funding and operation to the state in a manner generally consistent with the recommendations of the task force.

(c) The overarching recommendation of the task force is that responsibility for trial court facilities funding and operation be shifted from the counties to the state. The primary reasons for that recommendation are as follows:

(1) The judicial branch of government is now wholly responsible for its programs and operations, with the exception of trial court facilities. The judiciary should have the responsibility for all of its functions related to its operations and staff, including facilities.

(2) Uniting responsibility for operations and facilities increases the likelihood that operational costs will be considered when facility decisions are made, and enhances economical, efficient, and effective court operations.

(3) The state, being solely responsible for creating new judicial positions, drives the need for new court facilities.

(4) Equal access to justice is a key underpinning of our society and the rule of law. It is also a paramount goal of the Judicial Council, the policymaking body of the judicial branch. The state can best ensure uniformity of access to all court facilities in California.

(d) Specific provisions for carrying out this transfer of responsibility for trial court facilities from the counties to the state are contained in this act. The guiding principles for the transition are as follows:

(1) The transfer shall occur as expeditiously as possible and be completed by June 30, 2007.

(2) The transfer shall be negotiated on a building-by-building basis between the state and the counties. Negotiations shall be consummated in an agreement governing each facility.

(3) The Judicial Council shall represent the state's interests in negotiations with counties.

(4) Generally, fee title to court facilities shall be transferred to the state when possible. However, in the case of joint-use facilities or historic facilities, title may remain with a county as provided for in the governing agreement. In those cases, the principal guiding negotiations shall be the preservation of the respective equity interests of the county and the state in a joint-use or historic facility.

(5) Generally, the Judicial Council and the county shall agree to the transfer of responsibility for each court facility in that county unless transfer of responsibility is rejected.

(6) Counties shall not be entitled to compensation for any equity value of court facilities transferred to the state.

(7) Generally, the state shall be expected to accept responsibility for facilities in an as-is condition. However, the state may reject facilities that are seriously deficient, and require counties to continue financial responsibility for those facilities.

(8) Counties shall provide funding for facilities operation and maintenance costs based on historic funding patterns through a county facilities payment to the state. An amount shall be calculated for each facility and that amount shall be agreed to prior to the transfer of responsibility for the facility to which it pertains. This funding shall be provided in perpetuity, but not indexed to increase with inflation over time.

(9) A method shall be created to resolve disputes between the Judicial Council and a county if those parties fail to reach agreement for a facility or the appropriate calculation of the county facilities payment amount.

(e) The same responsibility for appellate court facilities, including the responsibility for planning and construction of new facilities, shall be transferred to the Judicial Council.

(f) The task force recommendations concerning money collected for court facilities consist of the following:

(1) That money collected for trial court facilities operation and maintenance through the county facilities payment, as deposited in the Court Facilities Trust Fund, which represents ''funds historically spent by counties to maintain existing court facilities,'' should continue to be used "to fund or offset the management, operations, and maintenance of all existing facilities."

(2) That the money collected for court facilities construction through filing fee surcharges and the State Court Construction Penalty Assessment, as deposited in the State Court Facilities Construction Fund, should be "dedicated to the capital facilities' needs of the judicial branch."

SEC. 2. Chapter 4.2 (commencing with Section 69202) is added to Title 8 of the Government Code, to read:

CHAPTER 4.2. APPELLATE COURT FACILITIES

69202. (a) The Judicial Council shall annually recommend to the Governor and the Legislature the amount proposed to be spent for the planning, renovation, and building of facilities for the appellate courts.

(b) Facilities shall be subject to the State Building Construction Act of 1955 (commencing with Section 15800) and the Property Acquisition Law (commencing with Section 15850), except, notwithstanding any other provision of law, the Administrative Office of the Courts shall serve as the implementing agency upon the approval of the Department of Finance.

69204. The Judicial Council, as the policymaking body for the judicial branch, shall have the following responsibilities and authorities with regard to appellate court facilities, in addition to any other authority or responsibilities established by law:

(a) Exercise full responsibility, jurisdiction, control, and authority as an owner would have over appellate court facilities, including, but not limited to, the acquisition and development of facilities.

(b) Exercise the full range of policymaking authority over appellate court facilities, including, but not limited to, planning, construction, acquisition, and operation, to the extent not otherwise limited by the law.

(c) Establish policies, procedures, and guidelines for ensuring that the appellate courts have adequate and sufficient facilities, including, but not limited to, facilities' planning, acquisition, construction, design, operation, and maintenance.

(d) Allocate appropriated funds for appellate court facilities maintenance and construction, subject to the other provisions of this chapter.

(e) Prepare funding requests for appellate court facility construction, repair, and maintenance.

(f) Implement the design, bid, award, and construction of all appellate court construction projects, except as delegated to others.

(g) Provide for capital outlay projects that may be built with funds appropriated or otherwise available for these purposes, as follows:

(1) Approve five year and master plans for each appellate court.

(2) Establish priorities for construction.

(3) Submit the cost of projects proposed to be funded to the Department of Finance for inclusion in the Governor's budget.

(h) Keep funding for appellate court facilities, whether for operation, planning, or construction, separate from funding for trial court facilities.

69206. The Administrative Office of the Courts shall have the following responsibilities and authority in addition to other responsibilities and authority granted by law or delegated by the Judicial Council:

(a) Carry out the policies of the Judicial Council in regard to appellate court facilities, except as otherwise limited by the law.

(b) Develop for Judicial Council approval the master plans for appellate court facilities in each court.

(c) Construct appellate court buildings, including, but not limited to, selection of architects and contractors, except as otherwise limited by the law.

SEC. 3. Section 68073 of the Government Code is amended and renumbered to read:

70311. (a) Commencing July 1, 1997, and each year thereafter, no county or city and county is responsible to provide funding for ''court operations,'' as defined in Section 77003 and Rule 810 of the California Rules of Court, as it read on July 1, 1996.

(b) Except as provided in Section 70312, commencing as of July 1, 1996, and each year thereafter, each county or city and county shall be responsible for providing necessary and suitable facilities for judicial and court support positions created prior to July 1, 1996. In determining whether facilities are necessary and suitable, the reasonable needs of the court and the fiscal condition of the county or city and county shall be taken into consideration.

(c) If a county or city and county fails to provide necessary and suitable facilities as described in subdivision (b), the court shall give notice of a specific deficiency. If the county or city and county then fails to provide necessary and suitable facilities pursuant to this section, the court may direct the appropriate officers of the county or city and county to provide the necessary and suitable facilities. The expenses incurred, certified by the judges to be correct, are a charge against the county or city and county treasury and shall be paid out of the general fund.

(d) Prior to the construction of new court facilities or the alteration, remodeling, or relocation of existing court facilities, a county or city and county shall solicit the review and comment of the judges of the court affected regarding the adequacy and standard of design, and that review and comment shall not be disregarded without reasonable grounds.

(e) Any reference in the statutes enacted prior to January 1, 2003, that refers to Section 68073 shall be deemed to refer to this section.

SEC. 4. Chapter 5.7 (commencing with Section 70301) is added to Title 8 of the Government Code, to read:

CHAPTER 5.7. SUPERIOR COURT FACILITIES

70303. (a) The Court Facilities Dispute Resolution Committee is hereby created to hear and determine disputes between a county and the Judicial Council as specified by this chapter.

(b) The committee shall consist of the following members:

(1) One person selected by the California State Association of Counties.

(2) One person selected by the Judicial Council.

(3) One person selected by the Director of Finance.

(g) Regulations and rules adopted by the committee shall be exempt from review and approval or other processing by the Office of Administrative Law required by Chapter 3.5 (commencing with Section 11340) of Part 1 of Division 3 of Title 2.

Article 2. Responsibility for Court Facilities

70312. If responsibility for court facilities is transferred from the county to the Judicial Council pursuant to this chapter, the county is relieved of any responsibility under Section 70311 for providing those facilities. The county is also relieved of any responsibility for deferred or ongoing maintenance for the facility transferred, except for the county facilities payment required by Section 70353. Except as otherwise provided by this chapter, or by the agreement between the Judicial Council and the county under this chapter, the Judicial Council shall have ongoing responsibility for providing trial court facilities. If responsibility for all court facilities within a county has been transferred pursuant to this chapter, that county shall have no responsibility for providing court facilities. This section does not relieve a county of its obligation under Article 5 (commencing with Section 70341) or its obligations under any agreement entered into pursuant to this chapter.

70313. This chapter may not be construed as authorizing a county, a city and county, a court, the Judicial Council, or the state to supply to the official reporters of the courts stenography, stenotype, or other shorthand machines, or as authorizing the supply to the official reporters of the courts, for use in the preparation of transcripts, of typewriters, transcribing equipment, supplies, or other personal property. The enactment of this provision is a statement of existing law under former subdivision (f) of Section 68073 and is not a modification of the prior law.

Article 3. Agreements Transferring Responsibility for Court Facilities

70321. The Judicial Council, in consultation with the superior court of each county and the county shall enter into agreements concerning the transfer of responsibility for court facilities from that county to the Judicial Council. The agreements shall be negotiated between July 1, 2003, and June 30, 2007, inclusive. Transfer of responsibility may occur not earlier than July 1, 2004, and not later than June 30, 2007. On or before July 1, 2003, each county shall designate those persons who shall negotiate the agreements on behalf of the county and shall give the Judicial Council the names of those persons. The name of a person designated by a county to negotiate on its behalf may be changed by the county at any time by providing written notice to the Judicial Council.

70322. The transfer of responsibility for court facilities in each building shall be subject to a separate agreement.

70323. Subject to the provisions of Section 70325 concerning a building subject to a bonded indebtedness, and Section 70329 concerning historic buildings, transfer of responsibility for court facilities shall be evidenced by the following change in title to the building containing those facilities:

(a) If the building is currently owned by the county and used solely for court functions, the building shall be transferred to the state which shall hold title to and use of the entire building. This subdivision may not apply to buildings that are deficient as provided in subdivision (b) of Section 70326. Unless bonded indebtedness, including the legal obligation to pay the indebtedness, is transferred to the state, this subdivision does not apply so long as a court facility is subject to bonded indebtedness. Title shall transfer to the state when the bonded indebtedness is paid. For the purposes of this subdivision, bonded indebtedness includes only the bonded indebtedness existing at the time of transfer of responsibility, and any refunding of the existing bonded indebtedness issued to achieve monetary savings to the county. Any refunding under this subdivision does not extend the original maturity date of the bonded indebtedness and may not increase the original principal amount of the indebtedness, except to pay costs relating to the refunding of the bonded indebtedness.

(b) If the building is currently owned by the county and used for court and other county functions, title to the building may be held in one of three ways, each of which shall be considered a transfer of responsibility for the court facilities for purposes of Section 70312:

(1) The county may continue to hold title to the building.

(2) The county may transfer title to the building to the state.

(3) The county may transfer title to the building to joint ownership between the county and the state.

(c) If the building is currently owned by a third party and leased by the county, any of the following apply:

(1) If the lessor consents to transfer of the lease to the state either without modification of the lease or on modification terms acceptable to the county and the Judicial Council, the county shall transfer its rights and responsibilities under the lease to the state. The court shall then occupy the building under the terms of the lease.

(2) If the lessor does not consent to the transfer of the lease to the state or the lessor's new terms for transfer of the lease to the state are unacceptable to either the county or the Judicial Council, the county shall continue to provide facilities to the court under the terms of the lease and the amount of the lease payments shall be excluded from the county facilities payment provided by Section 70359. Upon expiration of the lease, the amount of the lease payments shall then be included in the county facilities payment in the same manner provided by Section 70359, as if the lease were transferred to the state.

(3) If the lessor does not consent to the transfer of the lease to the state or the lessor's new terms for transfer of the lease to the state are unacceptable to either the county or the Judicial Council, the county and the Judicial Council may agree that the provisions of paragraph (2) of subdivision (c) shall not apply, the court shall find alternative facilities, and the amount of the lease payments due under the lease shall be included in the county facilities payment as provided by Section 70359. The agreement under this subdivision may include an agreement for a different lease payment amount to be included in the county facilities payment.

70325. (a) (1) If title to a building proposed to be transferred pursuant to this chapter is subject to a bonded indebtedness, the county shall retain the revenue sources used to pay the bonded indebtedness in which case the county shall be required to continue to make the payments on the bonded indebtedness.

(2) As an alternative to paragraph (1), the county and the state may agree that the county shall transfer the revenue sources to the state, in which case, the state shall be required to make the payments on the bonded indebtedness in the amount of the revenue received. If the amount payable on the bonded indebtedness exceeds the amount of the revenue transferred to the state, the county shall be responsible for paying the remaining amount. If a revenue source is used to pay the bonded indebtedness on several buildings and not all of those buildings are being transferred to the state, the county shall transfer the proportion of the revenue used to pay the bonded indebtedness on the buildings transferred to the state. Except for revenue sources subject to Section

70375, any revenue source transferred by the county to the state under this paragraph shall be transferred back to the county by the state when the bonded indebtedness on the building is retired.

(b) Except in the case of a shared use building or historical facility whose title is not being transferred from the county, the agreement concerning transfer of responsibility for court facilities contained in a building subject to bonded indebtedness shall specify when title to the building will transfer, which shall not be later than the date of final payment of the bonded indebtedness on the building. A county shall not extend the term of the final maturity date of, or increase the amount of, any bonded indebtedness on a building containing court facilities whose responsibility has been transferred to the state without the consent of the Administrative Director of the Courts. For the purposes of this subdivision, the amount of the bonded indebtedness shall not be deemed to be increased if the amount is refunded for an amount not greater than the original principal amount of the indebtedness plus any costs relating to the refunding of the bonded indebtedness.

(c) Notwithstanding any provision to the contrary in this chapter, during the period and to the extent which bonded indebtedness is outstanding with respect to any court facility, the state shall not have any equity or other ownership rights in, to, or with respect to, the court facility. A county may not sell, assign, or transfer any rights or interests in that facility, or otherwise further encumber the facility, other than those rights, interests, or encumbrances required by legal documents establishing the bonded indebtedness. If, during the period of bonded indebtedness outstanding with respect to a court facility, the state is required to vacate the facility through the operation or enforcement of the legal documents establishing the bonded indebtedness, the county shall be responsible for providing the state with suitable and necessary court facilities at least equal to those occupied by the state immediately prior to the date on which the state was compelled to vacate the facility.

70326. (a) Except as provided in this section, the agreement may not require any payment from the county to the state for any deficiencies in the court facilities being transferred caused by deferred maintenance.

(b) A building and the court facilities in it shall be deemed deficient if any of the following exist:

(1) A deficiency or deficiencies that constitute a significant threat to life, safety, or health.

(2) A deficiency or deficiencies that include seismically hazardous conditions with an unacceptable seismic safety rating.

(3) Deficiencies that in their totality are significant to the functionality of the facility.

(c) Neither title to a deficient building nor responsibility for the court facilities in that building shall transfer to the state or the Judicial Council under this chapter, and Section 70312 does not apply to the court facilities in a deficient building, unless provision is made in the agreement for correction of the deficient items.

(d) If one or more phases of a maintenance project are pending on the court facilities prior to the date of the agreement under this article, the agreement shall specify whether the county shall complete those phases of the project, to the extent approved, or shall transfer funds to the state to permit completion of those phases of the project. As used in this section, a phase of a project is to be deemed pending to the extent that the board of supervisors has either approved the phase in whole or in part at a board of supervisors meeting, and either allocated or appropriated money for the phase in whole or in part, or executed a contract for the phase in whole or in part.

70327. (a) Prior to the completion of the negotiations concerning the transfer of responsibility for court facilities in a building, the state shall provide for a licensed structural engineer to inspect and evaluate the building containing the court facilities for seismic safety if the building was built under a building code prior to the 1988 Uniform Building Code and the building has not been upgraded since 1988 for seismic safety. The inspection shall be made using the method and criteria for seismic safety developed by the Department of General Services' Real Estate Services Division. Any repair required to the damage caused by the exploratory inspection shall be paid for by the state.

(b) The county shall assist the state in the inspection by providing the following:

(1) Access to the facility for inspection purposes.

(2) Drawings and design documents for the building, if available.

(3) Any reports on structural or seismic evaluations of the building.

(c) If a building is given an unacceptable seismic safety rating and the county subsequently performs seismic upgrade work, the state may, upon the request of the county and at the county's expense, contract with a licensed structural engineer to reinspect and reevaluate the building.

(d) Neither title to a building with an unacceptable seismic safety rating nor responsibility for the court facilities in that building shall transfer to the state or the Judicial Council under this chapter, and Section 70312 does not apply to the court facilities in that building, unless provision is made in the agreement for correction of the unacceptable seismic safety items.

(e) The Administrative Director of the Courts, in his or her discretion, with the approval of the Director of Finance or his or her designee, may waive the inspection required by subdivision (a) upon his or her finding of either of the following:

(1) The ratio of court facilities to other facilities in the building is minimal and title to the building is not being transferred to the state.

(2) The amount of court space in the building does not exceed 10,000 square feet.

70328. If a building receives an unacceptable seismic safety rating under Section 70327, or is rejected as deficient under Section 70326, the county may appeal that action to the Court Facilities Dispute Resolution Committee. The state has the burden of proving by a preponderance of the evidence the unacceptable seismic safety rating or deficient rating.

70329. (a) Title to a historical building containing court facilities may not be transferred to the state without the express consent of the county's board of supervisors.

(b) If title to a historical building containing court facilities is not transferred to the state, the county may still be relieved of its responsibility to fund court facilities under Section 70312 if the county as part of its agreement under this article either:

(1) Makes the court facilities within the historical building available to the Judicial Council for court use.

(2) Provides, with the consent of the Judicial Council, alternative court facilities of at least comparable size, condition, and utility.

(c) Court facilities provided under this section shall meet all requirements for transfer of court facilities under this chapter, and the court and the Judicial Council shall have all the rights to that building that they have under this chapter to other court facilities whose responsibility is transferred to the Judicial Council.

(d) A county shall not prevent a court from using court facilities traditionally used by that court in a historical building, except with the consent of the Administrative Director of the Courts.

70330. The agreement shall provide for parking spaces for the court of comparable convenience, number, and type, as was made available for court use as of October 1, 2001. For purposes of this section, parking spaces for the court includes, but is not limited to, spaces for judges, court employees, other court staff, witnesses, and jurors.

70331. (a) If there are one or more pending phases of a project involving court facilities and the responsibility for the facility is to be transferred to the Judicial Council, the Judicial Council may, as part of the agreement under this article, require the completion of those phases of the project, to the extent that county funds or property have been allocated, approved, appropriated, or committed to those phases of the project by resolution or ordinance as a condition of transfer of responsibility to the Judicial Council.

(b) This section applies irrespective of whether title to the building containing the court facilities is to be transferred to the state.

(c) As used in this section, a phase of a project is to be deemed pending to the extent that the board of supervisors has either approved the phase in whole or in part at a board of supervisors meeting, and allocated or appropriated money for the phase in whole or in part, or executed a contract for the phase in whole or in part.

(d) The Judicial Council may request the county to implement design changes relating to the project if either the overall effect of the changes do not increase the costs of the project to the county, or the Judicial Council agrees to pay any extra costs caused by the changes.

70332. The Judicial Council, in consultation with the Department of Finance and the trial courts, and the California State Association of Counties, in consultation with the Department of Finance and the counties, shall develop the procedures for implementing the transfer of responsibility for court facilities from the counties to the state as set forth in this article.

70333. If the Judicial Council and the county fail to reach agreement on any facility, each shall present its position to the Court Facilities Dispute Resolution Committee which shall render its determination concerning that transfer of responsibility for that facility.

Article 4. Administration of Shared Use Buildings

70341. (a) The user rights of the court and the county are based on the proportional allocation of exclusive use facilities within the building for the court and for the county as specified in the agreement, regardless of the entity holding title to the building.

(b) The court and the county shall each have exclusive use of the facilities in the building currently used by it, together with the shared use of the common areas, indefinitely and at no cost, subject to the terms of any lease with a third-party lessor.

70342. (a) If the county holds title to a shared use building and the court wishes to have additional space in the building, if the county agrees to allocate additional space, the county may charge the state reasonable rent for any space as may be agreed between the county and the Judicial Council.

(b) If the state holds title to a shared use building and the county wishes to have additional space in the building, if the state agrees to allocate additional space, the state may charge the county reasonable rent for any space as may be agreed to between the county and the Judicial Council.

(c) If the state and the county jointly hold title to a shared use building and either the court or the county wishes to have additional space in the building, the Judicial Council and the county may agree to modify the amount of space and the charges made for that space.

(d) If the state or the county is a lessee in a shared use building owned by a third party and the court or the county wishes to have additional space in the building, the Judicial Council or the county may negotiate with the lessor concerning the amount of space and the charges made for that space. This subdivision does not permit either the state or the county to occupy space in the building leased by the other party without the consent of that party.

(e) Unless the Judicial Council and the county agree otherwise, if either the Judicial Council or the county desires to decrease the amount of space it occupies in a shared use building, it may do so only after offering the other party the space on the same terms and conditions as to which it has proposed to transfer the space to a third party. Notwithstanding the transfer of space pursuant to this subdivision or the failure to use the space, the Judicial Council and the county are not relieved of their rights and responsibilities under the agreement entered into pursuant to Section 70343, unless that agreement is superseded by a subsequent agreement. As used in this subdivision, a ''third party'' means an entity other than the court or the county.

70343. (a) Notwithstanding the manner of holding title to a shared use building:

(1) The rights and responsibilities of the Judicial Council, the court, and the county in a shared use building shall be established by an agreement between the Judicial Council and the county which may be modified by the consent of both the Judicial Council and the county. The agreement shall include, but not be limited to:

(A) The liability and responsibility for ongoing maintenance and administration of the building.

(B) Any agreed-upon conditions involving the ongoing administration of the building.

(C) Any agreements concerning general liability for the building, building planning, engineering, design, maintenance, repair, construction, failure to maintain common use areas, and dispute resolution.

(D) A provision involving resolution of disputes that may arise under the agreement between the county and the Judicial Council.

(2) Unless otherwise specifically provided by agreement between the Judicial Council and the county, the Judicial Council and the county shall share operation and maintenance costs in a shared use building as follows:

(A) Each entity is responsible for the operation and normal day-to-day maintenance costs of that space in the building exclusively used by the entity.

(B) Each entity shall share the operating and normal day-to-day maintenance costs for the common space in the building based on the proportionate amount of space exclusively used by each entity.

(C) Each entity shall share the major building repairs and maintenance affecting the entire building, including, but not limited to, common areas, based on the proportionate amount of space exclusively used by each entity.

(b) The use of space in a joint-use building by both the court and the county shall be compatible with the building and shall not deteriorate or diminish the ability of either the county or the court to use the remaining space effectively.

70344. (a) The entity holding title to a shared use building, except a third-party lessor, shall not transfer any right to a third party of the part of the building used by the other entity or place further bonded indebtedness on it, except as already required by operation of the legal documentation related to bonded indebtedness or as agreed to by the Judicial Council and the county, if the result of the action would be a further delay in transfer of title to the building to the other party pursuant to subdivision (b) of Section 70325.

(b) If either the court or the county occupies 80 percent or more of a shared use building, the Judicial Council, on behalf of the court, or the county may require the other entity to vacate the building. The entity vacating the building shall be given reasonable notice and shall be compensated by the other entity for its equity in the facility and for relocation costs at the fair market rate.

(c) Except as provided in subdivision (b), if the court or the Judicial Council is required to vacate a shared use building owned by the county, in whole or in part, the county shall provide the court or the Judicial Council with suitable and necessary facilities at least equal to those previously occupied by the court. The failure of the county to provide those facilities shall make the county responsible to the court under Section 70311 for the facilities not provided.

Article 5. County Facilities Payment

70351. It is the intent of the Legislature in enacting this section to provide a source of funding for the ongoing operations and maintenance of court facilities by requiring each county to pay to the state the amount that county historically expended for operation and maintenance of court facilities. It is further the intent of the Legislature that funding for the ongoing operations and maintenance of court facilities that are in excess of the county facilities payments be provided by the state.

70352. (a) There is hereby established the Court Facilities Trust Fund.

(b) Money deposited in this fund and appropriated by the Legislature shall be administered by the Judicial Council for the operation, repair, and maintenance of court facilities and other purposes provided by statute. The Judicial Council may delegate the administration of the fund to the Administrative Director of the Courts.

(c) The Judicial Council shall recommend to the Governor and the Legislature each fiscal year on the proposed expenditures from the fund and submit a report on actual expenditures after the end of each fiscal year.

70353. (a) Each county shall remit the county facilities payment determined by this article to the Controller, for deposit into the Court Facilities Trust Fund. One-quarter of each county's facilities payment shall be remitted to the Controller quarterly on October 1, January 1, April 1, and July 1. Any payment that is not made when required by this subdivision shall be considered delinquent, and subject to the penalties specified in subdivision (b).

(b) Upon receipt of any delinquent payment required pursuant to this section, the Controller shall calculate a penalty on any delinquent payment by multiplying the amount of the delinquent payment at a daily rate equivalent to $1^1/_2$ percent per month for the number of days the payment is delinquent. Penalty amounts calculated pursuant to this subdivision shall be paid by the county to the Court Facilities Trust Fund no later than 45 days after the end of the month in which the penalty was calculated.

(c) The Judicial Council shall provide the Controller with a schedule of the county facility payments at the beginning of each fiscal year. If the amount of the county facility payment changes pursuant to this article, the Judicial Council shall provide the Controller with a new schedule of payments within 30 days of the change.

70354. The components of the county facilities payment are based on the actual annual direct and indirect county expenditures on court facilities. In the case of a shared use building, the amounts are prorated for the court's usable space in the building as a percentage of total usable space in the building. The determination of the court's usable space and the total usable space shall be made by the standard methodology used for determining usable space by the Department of General Services.

70355. Except for the value computed under Section 70359, all values listed in this article shall be adjusted from the fiscal year of the expenditure to the effective date of transfer for inflation using, as the inflation index, the average of the following three indices from the Bureau of Labor Statistics Producer Price Index:

(a) Building cleaning and maintenance services (Series Id PCU 7349).

(b) Operators and lessors of nonresidential buildings (Series Id PCU 6512).

(c) Maintenance and repair constructions (Series Id PCU BMRP).

70356. The following items shall be included in the county facilities payment based on a five-year average of expenditures made by the county for facility operation and maintenance. This amount shall be computed by multiplying the value for each of the five fiscal years from 1995–96 to 1999–2000, inclusive, by the increase in the inflation index from January 1 of that fiscal year to the date of transfer of responsibility for the court facilities from the county to the state, and then averaging the five inflated yearly values:

(a) Maintenance and repair, including, but not limited to, maintenance and repair of the building and its components, utility systems, security equipment, and interior and exterior lighting.

(b) Purchase, installation, modernization, and maintenance of major building systems not of an ongoing nature, including, but not limited to, plumbing, HVAC (heating, ventilation, and air-conditioning), electrical, and vertical transportation.

(c) A special repair.

(d) Landscaping and grounds maintenance services for court facilities.

(e) Maintenance of parking spaces or garages dedicated to the court or for jurors.

(f) County facility management and administrative costs directly or indirectly associated with trial court facilities, including, but not limited to, management, supervision, planning, design, department administration, payroll, finance, procurement, and program management.

70357. The cost of utilities shall be included in the county facilities payment by calculating the average consumption of utilities for the fiscal years 1995–96 to 1999–2000, inclusive, and multiply the consumption averages by the 1999–2000 rates, and multiplying the value by the increase in the inflation index from January 1, 2000, to the date of transfer of responsibility for the court facilities from the county. As used in this section, utility costs include, but are not limited to, natural gas, heating oil, electricity, water, sewage, and garbage. The consumption rates for 1999–2000 shall be the average of the rates for each month of that fiscal year. Utility costs shall be included without regard to whether payment of the costs was made by the county, the court, or another entity, except that the amount of specific utility costs may not be included in the county facilities payment if all of the following conditions are satisfied:

(a) A lease expressly provides that the utilities are to be paid by the lessor.

(b) There is no payment by the lessee for the utilities, except as part of the lease payment.

(c) The lease payment is included in the county facilities payment.

70358. Insurance costs shall be included in the county facilities payment. If the actual expenditures made by the county are used to determine the amount, the expenditures shall be based on the 1999–2000 fiscal year multiplied by the increase in the inflation index from January 1, 2000, to the date of the transfer of responsibility for the court facilities from the county to the state.

The amount of insurance may not include the cost of any insurance required by any agreement involving bonded indebtedness on the facility to the extent that the cost of insurance is greater than the cost of commercial insurance coverage on the building.

The determination of the insurance costs may consider the costs of commercial insurance coverage for a fair and reasonable level of insurance and the costs of self-insurance. The amount of the insurance costs shall be subject to negotiation between the Judicial Council and the county.

To the extent the responsibility for grounds is transferred, the insurance costs for court facilities shall include, but not be limited to, the cost of liability insurance relating to the grounds.

70359. (a) Court facilities rental or leasing, except to the extent included as a court operation in Rule 810 of the California Rules of Court, shall be included in the county facilities payment using as the initial amount the annual amount for the lease for the fiscal year of the date of transfer of those court facilities to the state.

(b) The amount computed under subdivision (a) shall be adjusted annually for each remaining year in the lease to reflect the changed annualized amount for the lease for each year remaining on the lease. A lease amount in the final year of any lease entered into or renewed on or after October 2, 2001, shall represent a good faith relationship to the fair market value of the facilities either at the time of the making of the lease or the time of determination of the final year lease amount.

(c) The adjustment of the amount pursuant to subdivision (b) shall not permit either the county or the Judicial Council to appeal the county facilities payment amount under Section 70366 or 70367, except as to any issues directly related to the adjustment made by subdivision (b).

(d) The amount of any lease included in the county facilities payment amount shall, unless otherwise agreed to by the Administrative Director of the Courts and the county, be paid by the county from the county's courthouse construction fund, if the lease was originally entered into prior to July 1, 2002, and to the extent the lease was funded in whole or in part by the courthouse construction fund prior to July 1, 2002. The length of time payment that may be made from the courthouse construction fund is to be calculated by the length of the lease entered into before July 1, 2002, plus any one renewal or extension of not more than five years entered into on or after July 2, 2002. The Administrative Director of the Courts may agree to a longer time for payment from the courthouse construction fund.

70360. Calculation of the county facilities payment may not include any of the following:

(a) Purchase of land and buildings.

(b) Construction and construction services.

(c) Maintenance of parking for the general public whose responsibility is not transferred and that may also be used by the courts or jurors.

(d) Depreciation of court facilities.

(e) Costs associated with court facilities or a portion of the facilities that is not transferred to the state or that remains a county responsibility.

(f) A capital project that alters the facilities' function or capacity.

(g) Any county payments resulting from bonded indebtedness and not normally a cost of building operation.

(h) A special improvement.

70361. The Administrative Office of the Courts, in consultation with the courts, and the California State Association of Counties, in consultation with the counties, shall jointly prepare forms and instructions for calculating the county facilities payment in compliance with this section and submit those forms and instructions to the Director of Finance for approval. In the event that the Administrative Office of the Courts and the California State Association of Counties are unable to agree on forms and instructions, they shall present their positions of agreement and disagreement to the Director of Finance who shall make the final determination on the forms and instructions. The proposed forms and instructions or positions of each party shall be provided to the Director of Finance no later than June 30, 2003. Upon approval by the Director of Finance, the Administrative Office of the Courts shall provide the counties and the courts with the approved forms and instructions.

70362. The Department of Finance shall provide the Administrative Office of the Courts with the base inflation index figures for January 1, 1996, January 1, 1997, January 1, 1998, January 1, 1999, and January 1, 2000, to be included in the approved instructions. When the proposed date of transfer of responsibility is determined for a facility, the department shall provide the Administrative Office of the Courts with the inflation index figures for that county for the proposed dates of transfer. If the actual date of transfer is different than the proposed date of transfer, the department shall provide the Administrative Office of the Courts with the inflation index figures for that county for the actual date of transfer.

70363. Each county shall calculate the county facilities payment for each facility using the forms and instructions as approved and distributed pursuant to Section 70361. The county shall mail the Judicial Council and local court the actual expenditure figures and adjustments at least 90 days prior to the proposed date of transfer of responsibility for that facility. The county auditor shall certify the reported expenditures and indexed calculations.

(a) Prior to the transfer of responsibility of each court facility from the county to the state, the Administrative Office of the Courts shall review the accuracy of the calculations.

(b) The Administrative Office of the Courts and the county shall meet and discuss any differences they have concerning the calculations in an effort to reduce or eliminate any areas of disagreement. Following the discussions, the Administrative Office of the Courts shall mail the Department of Finance the proposed county facility payment and any necessary background information, including the calculations and the reported county expenditures and a summary of any disagreements between the Administrative Office of the Courts and the county regarding the payment.

(c) The Department of Finance shall within 30 days of the receipt of the proposed county facilities payment from the Administrative Office of the Courts do any of the following:

(1) Approve the proposed payment.

(2) Approve a modified payment.

(3) Request additional information from either the county or the Administrative Office of the Courts.

(d) When the department has approved a county facilities payment for that facility, it shall mail the Administrative Director of the Courts the approved county facilities payment. The Administrative Office of the Courts shall mail a copy of the Department of Finance notification to the county administrative officer and the court executive officer.

70365. The parties to any appeal of the determination of the county facilities payment, for purposes of the mailing of documents, are the county administrative officer, on behalf of the county, and the Administrative Director of the Courts, on behalf of both the state and the court.

70366. (a) Within 30 days after the Administrative Office of the Courts has mailed the county the approved county facilities payment, pursuant to Section 70364, the county may submit a declaration to the Court Facilities Dispute Resolution Committee, with the mailing of copies to the other parties, that the amount is incorrect for one or more of the following reasons:

(1) Expenditure data is reported incorrectly or calculated incorrectly and causes an approved county facilities payment amount that is higher than the payment should be.

(2) The approved county facilities payment includes amounts that were specifically appropriated, funded, and expended by the county to fund extraordinary one-time expenditures. Extraordinary one-time expenditures do not include periodic major facility repair or maintenance including, but not limited to, reroofing or replacement of a major system component. Extraordinary one-time expenditures do include, but are not limited to, abatement of asbestos and seismic structural upgrades.

(3) The approved county facilities payment includes expenses funded from grants or subventions that would not have been funded without these grants or subventions.

(b) The Administrative Director of the Courts shall mail comments to the Court Facilities Dispute Resolution Committee on the county's declaration within 30 days of the mailing of the county's declaration, with the mailing to the other parties.

(c) Within 90 days of receipt of comments pursuant to subdivision (b), the Court Facilities Dispute Resolution Committee shall review the declarations and comments received, and make its recommendation to the Director of Finance concerning correction of any errors and, if necessary, adjustment of the amount of the county facilities payment. The Court Facilities Dispute Resolution Committee shall mail a copy of its recommendation to all the parties.

(d) The Director of Finance or his or her designee shall review the recommendations of the Court Facilities Dispute Resolution Committee and make his or her determination concerning any correction of errors and, if necessary, adjustment of the amount of the county facilities payment. The director shall mail a copy of his or her determination on all the parties.

70367. (a) Within 30 days after the Administrative Director of the Courts has mailed to the county, under Section 70364, the approved county facilities payment, the Administrative Director of the Courts may submit a declaration to the Court Facilities Dispute Resolution Committee, mailing of copies to the other parties, that the amount is incorrect because the county failed to report court facilities expenses paid by the county which reduced the amount of the approved county facilities payment.

(b) The county shall mail its comments to the Court Facilities Dispute Resolution Committee on the administrative director's declaration within 30 days of the mailing of the administrative director's declaration, with mailing to the other parties.

(c) Within 90 days of receipt of comments pursuant to subdivision (b), the Court Facilities Dispute Resolution Committee shall review the declarations and comments received, and makes its recommendation to the Director of Finance concerning correction of any errors and, if necessary, adjustment of the amount of the county facilities payment. The Court Facilities Dispute Resolution Committee shall mail a copy of its recommendation to all the parties.

(d) The Director of Finance or his or her designee shall review the recommendations of the Court Facilities Dispute Resolution Committee and make his or her determination concerning any correction of errors and, if necessary, adjustment of the amount of the county facilities payment. The director shall serve a copy of his or her determination on all the parties.

70368. The county shall initially compute a separate county facilities payment for each building containing court facilities whose responsibility is transferred to the Judicial Council using the proposed date of transfer of responsibility for those court facilities as the date for computing inflation under Sections 70356, 70357, and 70358. The county's responsibility for the county facilities payment for those facilities commences upon the actual date of transfer of responsibility for those facilities. If the actual date of transfer of responsibility for a facility is different than the proposed date of transfer, upon which the county facilities payment is calculated, the Administrative Office of the Courts shall adjust the amount of the county facilities payment by applying the inflation index figures for that county for the actual date of transfer, as provided in Section 70362, to the approved county facilities payment. The amount of any county facilities payment that takes effect after the beginning of a fiscal year shall be prorated for the amount remaining in that fiscal year. In no event shall a county have any responsibility for a court facility payment prior to the effective date of the transfer of responsibility for a facility.

70369. Where mail of notice or any other document is required by this article, any method of mailing equivalent to first-class mail may be used. The computation of time based on mailing under this article is based on the date the item was deposited in the mail.

70370. If the amount computed by the county under Section 70368 is increased pursuant to this article, the county shall pay the state the difference relating back to the initial date payment was due under Section 70368. If the amount computed by the county under Section 70368 is reduced pursuant to this article, the state shall pay the county the difference relating back to the initial date payment was due under Section 70368. Upon agreement between the county and state, any amount due under this section may be made by an addition or reduction in the next scheduled county facilities payment.

Article 6. State Court Facilities Construction Fund

70371. There is hereby established the State Court Facilities Construction Fund, the proceeds of which shall be subject to the provisions of this article. Improvement of the court facilities and the construction funds generated by this article are intended to further reasonable access to the courts and judicial process throughout the state for all parties.

70372. (a) Except as otherwise provided in this article, there shall be levied a state court construction penalty, in addition to any other state or local penalty including, but not limited to, the penalty provided by Section 1464 of the Penal Code and Section 76000 of the Government Code, in an amount equal to five dollars ($5) for every ten dollars ($10) or fraction thereof, upon every fine, penalty, or forfeiture imposed and collected by the courts for criminal offenses, including, but not limited to, all offenses, except parking offenses, as defined in subdivision (i) of Section 1463 of the Penal Code, involving a violation of a section of the Fish and Game Code, the Health and Safety Code, or the Vehicle Code or any local ordinance adopted pursuant to the Vehicle Code. Any bail schedule adopted pursuant to Section 1269b of the Penal Code may include the necessary amount to pay the state penalties established by this section, by Section 1464 of the Penal Code, and Chapter 12 (commencing with Section 76000) of Title 8 of the Government Code for all matters where a personal appearance is not mandatory and the bail is posted primarily to guarantee payment of the fine. After a determination by the court of the amount due, the clerk of the court shall collect the penalty and transmit it immediately to the county treasury and the county treasurer shall transmit these sums as provided in subdivision (f).

(b) In addition to the penalty provided by subdivision (a), for every parking offense where a parking penalty, fine, or forfeiture is imposed, an added state court construction penalty of one dollar and fifty cents ($1.50) shall be included in the total penalty, fine, or forfeiture. These moneys shall be taken from fines and forfeitures deposited with the county treasurer prior to any division pursuant to Section 1462.3 or 1463.009 of the Penal Code. In those cities, districts, or other issuing agencies which elect to accept parking penalties, and otherwise process parking violations pursuant to Article 3 (commencing with Section 40200) of Chapter 1 of Division 17 of the Vehicle Code, that city, district, or issuing agency shall observe the increased bail amounts as established by the court reflecting the added penalty provided for by this section. Each agency which elects to process parking violations shall pay to the county treasurer one dollar and fifty cents ($1.50) for the parking penalty imposed by this section for each violation which is not filed in court.

Those payments to the county treasurer shall be made monthly, and the county treasurer shall transmit these sums as provided in subdivision (f).

(c) Where multiple offenses are involved, the state court construction penalty shall be based upon the total fine or bail for each case. When a fine is suspended, in whole or in part, the state court construction penalty shall be reduced in proportion to the suspension.

(d) When any deposited bail is made for an offense to which this section applies, and for which a court appearance is not mandatory, the person making the deposit shall also deposit a sufficient amount to include the state court construction penalty prescribed by this section for forfeited bail. If bail is returned, the state court construction penalty paid thereon pursuant to this section shall also be returned.

(e) In any case where a person convicted of any offense, to which this section applies, is in prison until the fine is satisfied, the judge may waive all or any part of the state court construction penalty, the payment of which would work a hardship on the person convicted or his or her immediate family.

(f) Within 45 days after the end of the month that moneys are deposited in the county treasury pursuant to subdivision (a) or (b), the county treasurer shall transmit the moneys to the State Controller, to be deposited in the State Court Facilities Construction Fund.

70373. (a) To provide additional funds for maintaining and expanding the uniform accessibility of the courts and judicial process throughout the state, the following surcharges are added to the first appearance fee in the following actions:

(1) A surcharge in all general unlimited civil, family law, and probate actions, as follows:

(A) Ten dollars ($10) from January 1, 2003, through December 31, 2003.

(B) Fifteen dollars ($15) from January 1, 2004, through December 31, 2007.

(2) A surcharge of twenty-five dollars ($25) in all limited civil actions.

(b) The clerk of the court shall collect the surcharge and transmit it to the State Controller, to be deposited in the State Court Facilities Construction Fund. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the full amount of the surcharge collected shall be deposited as provided in this section.

70373.5. (a) Notwithstanding paragraph (2) of subdivision (a) of Section 70373, a surcharge of eighteen dollars ($18) shall be added to the first appearance fee in all limited civil actions.

(b) The surcharge provided for in this section and Section 70373 are not subject to the percentage surcharge authorized by Section 68087.

(c) This section shall become inoperative on July 1, 2007, and as of January 1, 2008, is repealed, unless a later enacted statute, that becomes operative on or before January 1, 2008, deletes or extends that date.

70374. (a) The Judicial Council shall annually recommend to the Governor and the Legislature the amount proposed to be spent for projects paid for with money in the State Court Facilities Construction Fund. The use of the appropriated money is subject to subdivision (l) of Section 70391.

(b) Facilities shall be subject to the State Building Construction Act of 1955 (commencing with Section 15800) and the Property Acquisition Law (commencing with Section 15850), except that notwithstanding any other provision of law, the Administrative Office of the Courts shall serve as an implementing agency upon approval of the Department of Finance.

(c) Money in the State Court Facilities Construction Fund shall only be used for either of the following:

(1) To acquire, rehabilitate, construct, or finance court facilities, as defined by subdivision (e) of Section 70302.

The Judicial Council shall determine the local projects after consulting with the trial court in that county and based on the locally approved trial court facilities master plan for that county.

(e) Any money in the fund that is appropriated for use on a project that is not needed for completion of that project shall be returned to the fund. The amount shall then be divided between the fund and other state funds in the same proportion that the original sources of money for the project came from the fund and other state funds.

70375. (a) This article shall take effect on January 1, 2003, and the fund, penalty, and fee assessment established by this article shall become operative on January 1, 2003, except as otherwise provided in this article.

(b) In each county, the amount authorized by Section 70372 shall be reduced by the following:

(1) The amount collected for deposit into the local Courthouse Construction Fund established pursuant to Section 76100.

(2) The amount collected for transmission to the state for inclusion in the Transitional State Court Facilities Construction Fund established pursuant to Section 70401 to the extent it is funded by money from the local Courthouse Construction Fund.

(c) The amount authorized by Section 70373 shall be reduced by the following in the following counties:

(1) In the County of Riverside, the amount collected pursuant to Section 26826.1 of the Government Code for transmission to the state for inclusion in the Transitional State Court Facilities Construction Fund established pursuant to Section 70401.

(2) In the County of San Bernardino, the amount collected pursuant to Section 26826.4 of the Government Code for transmission to the state for inclusion in the Transitional State Court Facilities Construction Fund established pursuant to Section 70401.

(3) In the City and County of San Francisco, the amount collected pursuant to Section 76238 of the Government Code for transmission to the state for inclusion in the Transitional State Court Facilities Construction Fund established pursuant to Section 70401.

(d) The authority for all of the following shall expire proportionally as of the date of transfer of responsibility for facilities from the county to the Judicial Council, except so long as money is needed to pay for construction provided for in those sections and undertaken prior to the transfer of responsibility for facilities from the county to the Judicial Council:

(1) An additional penalty for a local Courthouse Construction Fund established pursuant to Section 76100.

(2) A filing fee surcharge in the County of Riverside established pursuant to Section 26826.1.

(3) A filing fee surcharge in the County of San Bernardino established pursuant to Section 26826.4.

(4) A filing fee surcharge in the City and County of San Francisco established pursuant to Section 76238.

(e) For purposes of subdivision (d), the term ''proportionally'' means that proportion of the fee or surcharge that shall expire upon the transfer of responsibility for a facility that is the same proportion as the square footage that facility bears to the total square footage of court facilities in that county.

70376. It is the intent of the Legislature that funding for courthouse alteration, renovation, and construction be funded by money in the State Court Facilities Construction Fund and additional money as necessary from the state.

70377. (a) Any amounts required to be transmitted by a county to the Controller pursuant to this article shall be remitted no later than 45 days after the end of the month in which the penalties were collected. Any remittance made later than this time shall be considered delinquent and subject to the penalties specified in this section.

(b) Upon receipt of any delinquent payment required pursuant to this section, the Controller shall calculate a penalty on any delinquent payment by multiplying the amount of the delinquent payment at a daily rate equivalent to $1^1/_2$ percent per month for the number of days the payment is delinquent.

(c) Penalty amounts calculated pursuant to subdivision (b) shall be paid by the county to the Controller no later than 45 days after the end of the month in which the penalty was calculated. All money received by the Controller under this section shall be deposited in the State Court Facilities Construction Fund.

(d) If the penalty imposed by this section results from a court's failure to comply with the requirements for timely deposit of money with the county treasury, the court shall reimburse the county general fund in an amount equal to the actual penalty. Notwithstanding Section 77009, the court may pay this penalty from money received from the Trial Court Trust Fund. This section does not require an increase in a court's allocation from the Trial Court Trust Fund.

70378. The State Court Facilities Construction Fund shall be invested in the Surplus Money Investment Fund and all interest earned shall be allocated to the State Court Facilities Construction Fund semiannually and shall be allocated as otherwise provided in this article.

These moneys shall be taken from fines and forfeitures deposited with the county treasurer prior to any division pursuant to Section 1463 of the Penal Code.

The county treasurer shall deposit those amounts specified by the board of supervisors by resolution in one or more of the funds established pursuant to this chapter. However, deposits to these funds shall continue through whatever period of time is necessary to repay any borrowings made by the county on or before January 1, 1991, to pay for construction provided for in this chapter.

(b) In each authorized county, provided that the board of supervisors has adopted a resolution stating that the implementation of this subdivision is necessary to the county for the purposes authorized, with respect to each authorized fund established pursuant to Section 76100 or 76101, for every parking offense where a parking penalty, fine, or forfeiture is imposed, an added penalty of two dollars and fifty cents ($2.50) shall be included in the total penalty, fine, or forfeiture. Each agency which elects to process parking violations shall pay to the county treasurer two dollars and fifty cents ($2.50) for each fund for each parking penalty collected on each violation which is not filed in court. Those payments to the county treasurer shall be made monthly, and the county treasurer shall deposit all those sums in the authorized fund. No issuing agency shall be required to contribute revenues to any fund in excess of those revenues generated from the surcharges established in the resolution adopted pursuant to this chapter, except as otherwise agreed upon by the local governmental entities involved.

(c) The county treasurer shall deposit one dollar ($1) of every two dollars and fifty cents ($2.50) collected pursuant to subdivision (b) into the general fund of the county.

(e) The seven dollar ($7) additional penalty authorized by subdivision (a) shall be reduced in each county by the additional penalty amount assessed by the county for the local courthouse construction fund established by Section 76100 as of January 1, 1998, when the money in that fund is transferred to the state under Section 70402. provision that may disclose the identity of an information source. For the purposes of this section, a board may protect an information source by providing a copy of the material with only those deletions necessary to protect the identity of the source or by providing a comprehensive summary of the substance of the material. Whichever method is used, the board shall ensure that full disclosure is made to the subject of any personal information that could reasonably in any way reflect or convey anything detrimental, disparaging, or threatening to a licensee's reputation, rights, benefits, privileges, or qualifications, or be used by a board to make a determination that would affect a licensee's rights, benefits, privileges, or qualifications. The information required to be disclosed pursuant to Section 803.1 shall not be considered among the contents of a central file for the purposes of this subdivision.

The licensee may, but is not required to, submit any additional exculpatory or explanatory statement or other information that the board shall include in the central file.

Each board may permit any law enforcement or regulatory agency when required for an investigation of unlawful activity or for licensing, certification, or regulatory purposes to inspect and have copies made of that licensee's file, unless the disclosure is otherwise prohibited by law.

These disclosures shall effect no change in the confidential status of these records.

SEC. 2. Section 801 of the Business and Professions Code is amended to read:

negligence, error, or omission in practice, or by his or her rendering of unauthorized professional services. A settlement over thirty thousand dollars ($30,000) shall also be reported if the settlement is based on the licensee's negligence, error, or omission in practice, or by the licensee's rendering of unauthorized professional services, and a party to the settlement is a corporation, medical group, partnership, or other corporate entity in which the licensee has an ownership interest or that employs or contracts with the licensee. If the attorney has not received this notice within 45 days after the settlement was reduced to writing and signed by all of the parties, the arbitration award was served on the parties, or the date of entry of the civil judgment, the attorney shall make the report to the agency.

(f) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, no insurer shall enter into a settlement without the written consent of the insured, except that this prohibition shall not void any settlement entered into without that written consent. The requirement of written consent shall only be waived by both the insured and the insurer. This section shall only apply to a settlement on a policy of insurance executed or renewed on or after January 1, 1971.

SEC. 3. Section 801.1 of the Business and Professions Code is amended to read:

A settlement over thirty thousand dollars ($30,000) shall also be reported if the settlement is based on the licensee's negligence, error, or omission in practice or by his or her rendering of unauthorized professional services, and a party to the settlement is a corporation, medical group, partnership, or other corporate entity in which the licensee has an ownership interest or that employs or contracts with the licensee. SEC. 4. Section 802 of the Business and Professions Code is amended to read:

802. (a) Every settlement or arbitration award over three thousand dollars ($3,000) of a claim or action for damages for death or personal injury caused by negligence, error or omission in practice, or by the unauthorized rendering of professional services, by a person who holds a license, certificate or other similar authority from an agency mentioned in subdivision (a) of Section 800 (except a person licensed pursuant to Chapter 3 (commencing with Section 1200) or Chapter 5 (commencing with Section 2000) of Division 2) or the Osteopathic Initiative Act who does not possess professional liability insurance as to that claim shall, within 30 days after the written settlement agreement has been reduced to writing and signed by all the parties thereto or 30 days after service of the arbitration award on the parties, be reported to the agency that issued the license, certificate, or similar authority. A complete report shall be made by appropriate means by the person or his or her counsel, with a copy of the communication to be sent to the claimant through his or her counsel if the person is so represented, or directly if he or she is not. If, within 45 days of the conclusion of the written settlement agreement or service of the arbitration award on the parties, counsel for the claimant (or if the claimant is not represented by counsel, the claimant himself or herself) has not received a copy of the report, he or she shall himself or herself make the complete report. Failure of the physician or claimant (or, if represented by counsel, their counsel) to comply with this section is a public offense punishable by a fine of not less than fifty dollars ($50) or more than five hundred dollars ($500). Knowing and intentional failure to comply with this section or conspiracy or collusion not to comply with this section, or to hinder or impede any other person in the compliance, is a public offense punishable by a fine of not less than five thousand dollars ($5,000) nor more than fifty thousand dollars ($50,000).

(b) Every settlement over thirty thousand dollars ($30,000), or arbitration award of any amount, of a claim or action for damages for death or personal injury caused by negligence, error or omission in practice, or by the unauthorized rendering of professional services, by a physician and surgeon licensed pursuant to Chapter 5 (commencing with Section 2000) of Division 2, or the Osteopathic Initiative Act, who does not possess professional liability insurance as to the claim shall, within 30 days after the written settlement agreement has been reduced to writing and signed by all the parties thereto or 30 days after service of the arbitration award on the parties, be reported to the agency that issued the license, certificate or similar authority. A settlement over thirty thousand dollars ($30,000) shall also be reported if the settlement is based on the licensee's negligence, error, or omission in practice or his or her rendering of unauthorized professional services, and a party to the settlement is a corporation, medical group, partnership, or other corporate entity in which the licensee has an ownership interest or that employs or contracts with the licensee. A complete report including the name and license number of the physician and surgeon shall be made by appropriate means by the person or his or her counsel, with a copy of the communication to be sent to the claimant through his or her counsel if he or she is so represented, or directly if he or she is not. If, within 45 days of the conclusion of the written settlement agreement or service of the arbitration award on the parties, counsel for the claimant (or if the claimant is not represented by counsel, the claimant himself or herself) has not received a copy of the report, he or she shall himself or herself make the complete report. Failure of the physician or claimant (or, if represented by counsel, their counsel) to comply with this section is a public offense punishable by a fine of not less than fifty dollars ($50) nor more than five hundred dollars ($500). Knowing and intentional failure to comply with this section or conspiracy or collusion not to comply with this section, or to hinder or impede any other person in the compliance, is a public offense punishable by a fine of not less than five thousand dollars ($5,000) nor more than fifty thousand dollars ($50,000).

(c) Every settlement or arbitration award over ten thousand dollars ($10,000) of a claim or action for damages for death or personal injury caused by negligence, error, or omission in practice, or by the unauthorized rendering of professional services, by a marriage and family therapist or clinical social worker licensed pursuant to Chapter 13 (commencing with Section 4980) or Chapter 14 (commencing with Section 4990) who does not possess professional liability insurance as to that claim shall within 30 days after the written settlement agreement has been reduced to writing and signed by all the parties thereto or 30 days after service of the arbitration award on the parties be reported to the agency that issued the license, certificate, or similar authority. A complete report shall be made by appropriate means by the person or his or her counsel, with a copy of the communication to be sent to the claimant through his or her counsel if he or she is so represented, or directly if he or she is not. If, within 45 days of the conclusion of the written settlement agreement or service of the arbitration award on the parties, counsel for the claimant (or if he or she is not represented by counsel, the claimant himself or herself) has not received a copy of the report, he or she shall himself or herself make a complete report. Failure of the marriage and family therapist or clinical social worker or claimant

(or, if represented by counsel, their counsel) to comply with this section is a public offense punishable by a fine of not less than fifty dollars ($50) nor more than five hundred dollars ($500). Knowing and intentional failure to comply with this section, or conspiracy or collusion not to comply with this section or to hinder or impede any other person in that compliance, is a public offense punishable by a fine of not less than five thousand dollars ($5,000) nor more than fifty thousand dollars ($50,000).

SEC. 5. Section 802.3 is added to the Business and Professions Code, to read:

802.3. Every report of a settlement required by Sections 801, 801.1, and 802 shall specify the specialty or subspecialty of the physician and surgeon involved.

SEC. 6. Section 803.1 of the Business and Professions Code is amended to read:

803.1. (a) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the Medical Board of California, the Osteopathic Medical Board of California, and the California Board of Podiatric Medicine shall disclose to an inquiring member of the public information regarding any enforcement actions taken against a licensee by either board or by another state or jurisdiction, including all of the following:

(1) Temporary restraining orders issued.

(2) Interim suspension orders issued.

(3) Revocations, suspensions, probations, or limitations on practice ordered by the board, including those made part of a probationary order or stipulated agreement.

(4) Public letters of reprimand issued.

(5) Infractions, citations, or fines imposed.

(b) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, in addition to the information provided in subdivision (a), the Medical Board of California, the Osteopathic Medical Board of California, and the California Board of Podiatric Medicine shall disclose to an inquiring member of the public all of the following:

(1) Civil judgments in any amount, whether or not vacated by a settlement after entry of the judgment, that were not reversed on appeal and arbitration awards in any amount of a claim or action for damages for death or personal injury caused by the physician and surgeon's negligence, error, or omission in practice, or by his or her rendering of unauthorized professional services.

(2) (A) All settlements in the possession, custody, or control of the board shall be disclosed for a licensee in the low-risk category if there are three or more settlements for that licensee within the last 10 years, except for settlements by a licensee regardless of the amount paid where (i) the settlement is made as a part of the settlement of a class claim, (ii)

the licensee paid in settlement of the class claim the same amount as the other licensees in the same class or similarly situated licensees in the same class, and (iii) the settlement was paid in the context of a case where the complaint that alleged class liability on behalf of the licensee also alleged a products liability class action cause of action. All settlements in the possession, custody, or control of the board shall be disclosed for a licensee in the high-risk category if there are four or more settlements for that licensee within the last 10 years except for settlements by a licensee regardless of the amount paid where (i) the settlement is made as a part of the settlement of a class claim, (ii) the licensee paid in settlement of the class claim the same amount as the other licensees in the same class or similarly situated licensees in the same class, and (iii) the settlement was paid in the context of a case where the complaint that alleged class liability on behalf of the licensee also alleged a products liability class action cause of action. Classification of a licensee in either a ''high-risk category'' or a ''low-risk category'' depends upon the specialty or subspecialty practiced by the licensee and the designation assigned to that specialty or subspecialty by the Medical Board of California, as described in subdivision (e). For the purposes of this paragraph, ''settlement'' means a settlement of an action described in paragraph (1) entered into by the licensee on or after January 1, 2003, in an amount of thirty thousand dollars ($30,000) or more.

(B) The board shall not disclose the actual dollar amount of a settlement but shall put the number and amount of the settlement in context by doing the following:

(i) Comparing the settlement amount to the experience of other licensees within the same specialty or subspecialty, indicating if it is below average, average, or above average for the most recent 10-year period.

(ii) Reporting the number of years the licensee has been in practice.

(iii) Reporting the total number of licensees in that specialty or subspecialty, the number of those who have entered into a settlement agreement, and the percentage that number represents of the total number of licensees in the specialty or subspecialty.

(3) Current American Board of Medical Specialty certification or board equivalent as certified by the Medical Board of California, the Osteopathic Medical Board of California, or the California Board of Podiatric Medicine.

(4) Approved postgraduate training.

(5) Status of the license of a licensee. By January 1, 2004, the Medical Board of California, the Osteopathic Medical Board of California, and the California Board of Podiatric Medicine shall adopt regulations defining the status of a licensee. The board shall employ this definition when disclosing the status of a licensee pursuant to Section 2027.

(6) Any summaries of hospital disciplinary actions that result in the termination or revocation of a licensee's staff privileges for medical disciplinary cause or reason.

(c) The Medical Board of California, the Osteopathic Medical Board of California, and the California Board of Podiatric Medicine may formulate appropriate disclaimers or explanatory statements to be included with any information released, and may by regulation establish categories of information that need not be disclosed to an inquiring member of the public because that information is unreliable or not sufficiently related to the licensee's professional practice. The Medical Board of California, the Osteopathic Medical Board of California, and the California Board of Podiatric Medicine shall include the following statement when disclosing information concerning a settlement:

''Some studies have shown that there is no significant correlation between malpractice history and a doctor's competence. At the same time, the State of California believes that consumers should have access to malpractice information. In these profiles, the State of California has given you information about both the malpractice settlement history for the doctor's specialty and the doctor's history of settlement payments only if in the last 10 years, the doctor, if in a low-risk specialty, has three or more settlements or the doctor, if in a high-risk specialty, has four or more settlements. The State of California has excluded some class action lawsuits because those cases are commonly related to systems issues such as product liability, rather than questions of individual professional competence and because they are brought on a class basis where the economic incentive for settlement is great. The State of California has placed payment amounts into three statistical categories: below average, average, and above average compared to others in the doctor's specialty. To make the best health care decisions, you should view this information in perspective. You could miss an opportunity for high-quality care by selecting a doctor based solely on malpractice history.

When considering malpractice data, please keep in mind:

Malpractice histories tend to vary by specialty. Some specialties are more likely than others to be the subject of litigation. This report compares doctors only to the members of their specialty, not to all doctors, in order to make an individual doctor's history more meaningful.

This report reflects data only for settlements made on or after January 1, 2003. Moreover, it includes information concerning those settlements for a 10-year period only. Therefore, you should know that a doctor may have made settlements in the 10 years immediately preceding January 1, 2003, that are not included in this report. After January 1, 2013, for doctors practicing less than 10 years, the data covers their total years of practice. You should take into account the effective date of settlement disclosure as well as how long the doctor has been in practice when considering malpractice averages.

The incident causing the malpractice claim may have happened years before a payment is finally made. Sometimes, it takes a long time for a malpractice lawsuit to settle. Some doctors work primarily with high-risk patients. These doctors may have malpractice settlement histories that are higher than average because they specialize in cases or patients who are at very high risk for problems.

Settlement of a claim may occur for a variety of reasons that do not necessarily reflect negatively on the professional competence or conduct of the doctor. A payment in settlement of a medical malpractice action or claim should not be construed as creating a presumption that medical malpractice has occurred.

You may wish to discuss information in this report and the general issue of malpractice with your doctor.''

(d) The Medical Board of California, the Osteopathic Medical Board of California, and the California Board of Podiatric Medicine shall, by regulation, develop standard terminology that accurately describes the different types of disciplinary filings and actions to take against a licensee as described in paragraphs (1) to (5), inclusive, of subdivision (a). In providing the public with information about a licensee via the Internet pursuant to Section 2027, the Medical Board of California, the Osteopathic Medical Board of California, and the California Board of Podiatric Medicine shall not use the terms ''enforcement,'' ''discipline,'' or similar language implying a sanction unless the physician and surgeon has been the subject of one of the actions described in paragraphs (1) to (5), inclusive, of subdivision (a).

(e) The Medical Board of California shall adopt regulations no later than July 1, 2003, designating each specialty and subspecialty practice area as either high risk or low risk. In promulgating these regulations, the board shall consult with commercial underwriters of medical malpractice insurance companies, health care systems that self-insure physicians and surgeons, and representatives of the California medical specialty societies. The board shall utilize the carriers' statewide data to establish the two risk categories and the averages required by subparagraph (B) of paragraph (2) of subdivision (b). Prior to issuing regulations, the board shall convene public meetings with the medical malpractice carriers, self-insurers, and specialty representatives.

(f) The Medical Board of California, the Osteopathic Medical Board of California, and the California Board of Podiatric Medicine shall provide each licensee with a copy of the text of any proposed public disclosure authorized by this section prior to release of the disclosure to the public. The licensee shall have 10 working days from the date the board provides the copy of the proposed public disclosure to propose corrections of factual inaccuracies. Nothing in this section shall prevent the board from disclosing information to the public prior to the expiration of the 10-day period.

(g) Pursuant to subparagraph (A) of paragraph (2) of subdivision (b), the specialty or subspecialty information required by this section shall group physicians by specialty board recognized pursuant to paragraph (5) of subdivision (h) of Section 651 unless a different grouping would be more valid and the board, in its statement of reasons for its regulations, explains why the validity of the grouping would be more valid.

SEC. 7. Chapter 1.6 (commencing with Section 920) is added to Division 2 of the Business and Professions Code, to read:

CHAPTER 1.6. HEALTH CARE PROFESSIONAL DISASTER RESPONSE ACT

920. This chapter shall be known and may be cited as the Health Care Professional Disaster Response Act.

921. (a) The Legislature finds and declares the following:

(1) In times of national or state disasters, a shortage of qualified health care practitioners may exist in areas throughout the state where they are desperately required to respond to public health emergencies.

(2) Health care practitioners with lapsed or inactive licenses could potentially serve in those areas where a shortage of qualified health care practitioners exists, if licensing requirements were streamlined and fees curtailed.

(b) It is, therefore, the intent of the Legislature to address these matters through the provisions of the Health Care Professional Disaster Response Act.

922. (a) A physician and surgeon who satisfies the requirements of Section 2439 but whose license has been expired for less than five years may be licensed under this chapter.

(b) To be licensed under this chapter, a physician and surgeon shall complete an application, on a form prescribed by the Medical Board of California, and submit it to the board, along with the following:

(1) Documentation that the applicant has completed the continuing education requirements described in Article 10 (commencing with Section 2190) of Chapter 5 for each renewal period during which the applicant was not licensed.

(2) A complete set of fingerprints as required by Sections 144 and 2082, together with the fee required for processing those fingerprints.

(c) An applicant shall not be required to pay any licensing, delinquency, or penalty fees for the issuance of a license under this chapter.

SEC. 8. Section 2001 of the Business and Professions Code is amended to read:

2001. There is in the Department of Consumer Affairs a Medical Board of California that consists of 21 members, nine of whom shall be public members.

The Governor shall appoint 19 members to the board, subject to confirmation by the Senate, seven of whom shall be public members. The Senate Rules Committee and the Speaker of the Assembly shall each appoint a public member, and their initial appointment shall be made to fill, respectively, the first and second public member vacancies that occur on or after January 1, 1983.

This section shall become inoperative on July 1, 2005, and, as of January 1, 2006, is repealed, unless a later enacted statute, which becomes effective on or before January 1, 2006, deletes or extends the dates on which it becomes inoperative and is repealed. The repeal of this section renders the board subject to the review required by Division 1.2 (commencing with Section 473).

SEC. 9. Section 2008 of the Business and Professions Code is amended to read:

2008. The Division of Medical Quality shall consist of 14 members of the board, six of whom shall be public members. The Division of Licensing shall consist of seven members, three of whom shall be public members.

Each member appointed to the board shall be assigned by the Governor to a specific division, except that, commencing July 1, 1994, those members of the board who prior to July 1, 1994, were assigned to the Division of Allied Health Professions shall be members of the Division of Medical Quality.

SEC. 10. Section 2013 of the Business and Professions Code is amended to read:

2013. (a) The board and each division may convene from time to time as deemed necessary by the board or a division.

(b) Eight members of the Division of Medical Quality, and four members of the Division of Licensing, shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business at any division meeting. Four members of a panel of the Division of Medical Quality shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business at any meeting of the panel. Eleven members shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business at any board meeting.

(c) It shall require the affirmative vote of a majority of those members present at a division, panel, or board meeting, those members constituting at least a quorum, to pass any motion, resolution, or measure. A decision by a panel of the Division of Medical Quality to discipline a physician and surgeon shall require an affirmative vote, at a meeting or by mail, of a majority of the members of that panel; except that a decision to revoke the certificate of a physician and surgeon shall require the affirmative vote of four members of that panel.

SEC. 11. Section 2020 of the Business and Professions Code is amended to read:

2020. The board may employ an executive director exempt from the provisions of the Civil Service Act and may also employ investigators, legal counsel, medical consultants, and other assistance as it may deem necessary to carry into effect this chapter. The board may fix the compensation to be paid for services subject to the provisions of applicable state laws and regulations and may incur other expenses as it may deem necessary. Investigators employed by the board shall be provided special training in investigating medical practice activities.

The Attorney General shall act as legal counsel for the board for any judicial and administrative proceedings and his or her services shall be a charge against it.

This section shall become inoperative on July 1, 2005, and, as of January 1, 2006, is repealed, unless a later enacted statute, which becomes effective on or before January 1, 2006, deletes or extends the dates on which it becomes inoperative and is repealed.

SEC. 12. Section 2026 of the Business and Professions Code is repealed.

SEC. 13. Section 2027 of the Business and Professions Code is amended to read:

2027. (a) On or after July 1, 2001, unless otherwise authorized by the Department of Information Technology pursuant to Executive Order D-3-99, the board shall post on the Internet the following information in its possession, custody, or control regarding licensed physicians and surgeons:

(1) With regard to the status of the license, whether or not the licensee is in good standing, subject to a temporary restraining order (TRO), subject to an interim suspension order (ISO), or subject to any of the enforcement actions set forth in Section 803.1.

(2) With regard to prior discipline, whether or not the licensee has been subject to discipline by the board of another state or jurisdiction, as described in Section 803.1.

(3) Any felony convictions reported to the board after January 3, 1991.

(4) All current accusations filed by the Attorney General, including those accusations that are on appeal. For purposes of this paragraph, ''current accusation'' shall mean an accusation that has not been dismissed, withdrawn, or settled, and has not been finally decided upon by an administrative law judge and the Medical Board of California unless an appeal of that decision is pending.

(5) Any malpractice judgment or arbitration award reported to the board after January 1, 1993.

(6) Any hospital disciplinary actions that resulted in the termination or revocation of a licensee's hospital staff privileges for a medical disciplinary cause or reason.

(7) Appropriate disclaimers and explanatory statements to accompany the above information, including an explanation of what types of information are not disclosed. These disclaimers and statements shall be developed by the board and shall be adopted by regulation.

(8) Any information required to be disclosed pursuant to Section 803.1.

(b) (1) From January 1, 2003, the information described in paragraphs (1) (other than whether or not the licensee is in good standing), (2), (4), (5), and (7) of subdivision (a) shall remain posted for a period of 10 years from the date the board obtains possession, custody, or control of the information, and after the end of that period shall be removed from being posted on the board's Internet Web site. Information in the possession, custody, or control of the board prior to January 1, 2003, shall be posted for a period of 10 years from January 1, 2003. Settlement information shall be posted as described in paragraph (2) of subdivision (b) of Section 803.1.

(2) The information described in paragraphs (3) and (6) of subdivision (a) shall not be removed from being posted on the board's Internet Web site. Notwithstanding the provisions of this paragraph, if a licensee's hospital staff privileges are restored and the licensee notifies the board of the restoration, the information pertaining to the termination or revocation of those privileges, as described in paragraph (6) of subdivision (a), shall remain posted for a period of 10 years from the restoration date of the privileges, and at the end of that period shall be removed from being posted on the board's Internet Web site.

(c) The board shall provide links to other Web sites on the Internet that provide information on board certifications that meet the requirements of subdivision (b) of Section 651. The board may provide links to other Web sites on the Internet that provide information on health care service plans, health insurers, hospitals, or other facilities. The board may also provide links to any other sites that would provide information on the affiliations of licensed physicians and surgeons.

(c) The remedy provided in this section shall not preclude any other remedy provided by law.

SEC. 15. Section 2053 of the Business and Professions Code is repealed.

SEC. 16. Section 2135.5 is added to the Business and Professions Code, to read:

2135.5. 2350. (a) The division shall establish criteria for the acceptance, denial, or termination of physicians and surgeons in a diversion program. Only those physicians and surgeons who have voluntarily requested diversion treatment and supervision by a committee shall participate in a program.

(b) A physician and surgeon under current investigation by the division may request entry into the diversion program by contacting the Chief or Deputy Chief of Enforcement of the Medical Board of California. The Chief or Deputy Chief of Enforcement of the Medical Board of California shall refer the physician and surgeon who requests participation in the diversion program to a committee for evaluation of eligibility, even if the physician and surgeon is currently under investigation by the division, as long as the investigation is based primarily on mental illness or on the self-administration of drugs or alcohol under Section 2239, or the illegal possession, prescription, or nonviolent procurement of drugs for self-administration, and does not involve actual harm to the public or his or her patients. Prior to referring a physician and surgeon to the diversion program, the division may require any physician and surgeon who requests participation under those circumstances, or if there are other violations, to execute a statement of understanding in which the physician and surgeon agrees that violations of this chapter or other statutes that would otherwise be the basis for discipline may nevertheless be prosecuted should the physician and surgeon be terminated from the program for failure to comply with program requirements.

(c) Neither acceptance into nor participation in the diversion program shall preclude the division from investigating or continuing to investigate any physician and surgeon for any unprofessional conduct committed before, during, or after participation in the diversion program.

(d) Neither acceptance into nor participation in the diversion program shall preclude the division from taking disciplinary action or continuing to take disciplinary action against any physician and surgeon for any unprofessional conduct committed before, during, or after participation in the diversion program, except for conduct that resulted in the physician and surgeon's referral to the diversion program.

(e) Any physician and surgeon terminated from the diversion program for failure to comply with program requirements is subject to disciplinary action by the division for acts committed before, during, and after participation in the diversion program. The division shall not be precluded from taking disciplinary action for violations identified in the statement of understanding described in subdivision (b) if a physician and surgeon is terminated from the diversion program for failure to comply with program requirements. The termination of a physician and surgeon who has been referred to the diversion program pursuant to subdivision (b) shall be reported by the program manager to the division.

(f) Nothing in this section shall preclude a physician and surgeon who is not the subject of a current investigation from self-referring to the diversion program on a confidential basis. Subdivision (b) shall not apply to a physician and surgeon who applies for the diversion program in accordance with this subdivision.

(g) Any physician and surgeon who successfully completes the diversion program shall not be subject to any disciplinary actions by the board for any alleged violation that resulted in referral to the diversion program.

(1) Successful completion shall be determined by the program manager and shall include, at a minimum, three years during which the physician and surgeon has remained free from the use of drugs or alcohol and adopted a lifestyle to maintain a state of sobriety.

(2) Notwithstanding paragraph (1), with respect to mental illness, successful completion shall be determined by the program manager and shall instead include, at a minimum, three years of mental health stability and treatment compliance and adoption of a lifestyle designed to maintain a state of mental health stability.

(h) The division shall establish criteria for the selection of evaluating physicians and surgeons or psychologists who shall examine physicians and surgeons requesting diversion under a program. Any reports made under this article by the evaluating physician and surgeon or psychologist shall constitute an exception to Section 2263 and to Sections 994, 995, 1014, and 1015 of the Evidence Code.

(i) The division shall require biannual reports from each committee which shall include, but not be limited to, information concerning the number of cases accepted, denied, or terminated with compliance or noncompliance, and a cost analysis of the program. The Bureau of Medical Statistics may assist the committees in the preparation of the reports.

(j) Each physician and surgeon shall sign an agreement that diversion records may be used in disciplinary or criminal proceedings if the physician and surgeon is terminated from the diversion program and one of the following conditions exists:

(1) His or her participation in the diversion program is a condition of probation.

(2) He or she has a disciplinary action pending or was under investigation at the time of entering the diversion program.

(3) A diversion evaluation committee determines that he or she presents a threat to the public health or safety.

This agreement shall also authorize the diversion program to exchange information about the physician and surgeon's recovery with a hospital well-being committee or monitor and with the board's licensing program, if appropriate, and to acknowledge, with the physician and surgeon's approval, that he or she is participating in the diversion program. Nothing in this section shall be construed to allow release of alcohol or drug treatment records in violation of federal or state law.

In addition, this agreement shall authorize the diversion program, upon recommendation by a diversion evaluation committee, to order the physician and surgeon to be examined by one or more physicians and surgeons designated by the diversion program to determine clinical competency. The failure of the physician and surgeon to comply with this order shall constitute grounds for suspension or revocation of his or her certificate. The board shall develop regulations that provide guidelines for determining when this examination should be ordered.

SEC. 25. Section 2435 of the Business and Professions Code is amended to read:

2435. The following fees apply to the licensure of physicians and surgeons:

(a) Each applicant for a certificate based upon a national board diplomate certificate, each applicant for a certificate based on reciprocity, and each applicant for a certificate based upon written examination, shall pay a nonrefundable application and processing fee, as set forth in subdivision (b), at the time the application is filed.

(b) The application and processing fee shall be fixed by the Division of Licensing by May 1 of each year, to become effective on July 1 of that year. The fee shall be fixed at an amount necessary to recover the actual costs of the licensing program as projected for the fiscal year commencing on the date the fees become effective.

(c) Each applicant for a certificate by written examination, unless otherwise provided by this chapter, shall pay an examination fee fixed by the board, which shall equal the actual cost to the board of the purchase of the written examination furnished by the organization pursuant to Section 2176, plus the actual cost to the board of administering the written examination. The actual cost to the board of administering the written examination that shall be charged to the applicant shall not exceed one hundred dollars ($100). The board may charge the examination fee provided for in this section for any subsequent reexamination of the applicant.

(d) The board shall charge each applicant who is required to take the oral examination as a condition of licensure an oral examination fee that is equal to the amount necessary to recover the actual cost of that examination. The board shall charge the oral examination fee provided for in this subdivision for any subsequent oral examination taken by the applicant.

(e) Each applicant who qualifies for a certificate, as a condition precedent to its issuance, in addition to other fees required herein, shall pay an initial license fee, if any. The initial license fee shall be fixed by the board at an amount not to exceed six hundred ten dollars ($610), in accordance with paragraph (2) of subdivision (f). Any applicant enrolled in an approved postgraduate training program shall be required to pay only 50 percent of the initial license fee.

(f) (1) The biennial renewal fee shall be fixed by the board at an amount not to exceed six hundred ten dollars ($610), in accordance with paragraph (2).

(2) The board shall fix the biennial renewal fee and the initial license fee so that, together with the amounts from other revenues, the reserve balance in the board's contingent fund shall be equal to approximately two months of annual authorized expenditures. Any change in the renewal and initial license fees shall be effective upon a determination by the board, by emergency regulations adopted pursuant to Section 2436, that changes in the amounts are necessary to maintain a reserve balance in the board's contingent fund equal to two months of annual authorized expenditures in the state fiscal year in which the expenditures are to occur.

(g) Notwithstanding Section 163.5, the delinquency fee shall be 10 percent of the biennial renewal fee.

(h) The duplicate certificate and endorsement fees shall each be fifty dollars ($50), and the certification and letter of good standing fees shall each be ten dollars ($10).

(i) It is the intent of the Legislature that, in setting fees pursuant to this section, the board shall seek to maintain a reserve in the Contingent Fund of the Medical Board of California equal to approximately two months' operating expenditures.

(j) The board shall report to the appropriate policy and fiscal committees of each house of the Legislature whenever the board proposes or approves a fee increase pursuant to this section. The board shall specify the reasons for each increase and identify the percentage of funds to be derived from an increase in the fees that will be used for investigation or enforcement related activities by the board.

SEC. 26. Section 2507 of the Business and Professions Code is amended to read:

(b) As used in this article, the practice of midwifery constitutes the furthering or undertaking by any licensed midwife, under the

If the members of the panel do not have a full workload, they may be assigned work by the Director of the Office of Administrative Hearings. When the medically related case workload exceeds the capacity of the members of the panel, additional judges shall be requested to be added to the panels as appropriate. When this workload overflow occurs on a temporary basis, the Director of the Office of Administrative Hearings shall supply judges from the Office of Administrative Hearings to adjudicate the cases.

(c) The decisions of the administrative law judges of the panel, together with any court decisions reviewing those decisions, shall be published in a quarterly ''Medical Discipline Report,'' to be funded upon appropriation by the Legislature from the Contingent Fund of the Medical Board of California.

CHAPTER 1086

An act to add and repeal Chapter 3.8 (commencing with Section 50199.70) of Part 1 of Division 31 of the Health and Safety Code, relating to community renewal, and declaring the urgency thereof, to take effect immediately.

[Approved by Governor September 29, 2002. Filed with Secretary of State September 29, 2002.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Chapter 3.8 (commencing with Section 50199.70) is added to Part 1 of Division 31 of the Health and Safety Code, to read:

CHAPTER 3.8. COMMUNITY RENEWAL

50199.70. The Legislature hereby finds and declares all of the following:

(a) The federal Community Renewal Tax Relief Act of 2000 (Public Law 106-554), amending the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, establishes a system of distributing commercial revitalization tax deductions and a commercial revitalization expenditure ceiling to stimulate the development of designated renewal communities.

(b) The first designated renewal communities include specified areas in San Francisco, San Diego, and Los Angeles as urban renewal communities, and Parlier and Orange Cove as rural renewal communities, through partnerships between those communities and the state.

(c) The federal law allows for a maximum commercial revitalization expenditure ceiling of twelve million dollars ($12,000,000) for each renewal community designated in the state. The ceiling amount is available for allocation during each calendar year after 2001 and before 2010 for each renewal community in the state.

(d) To allocate the commercial revitalization expenditures available to it, the state must comply with certain requirements specified in Section 1400E and following of Title 26 of the United States Code, including designating a commercial revitalization agency for the state and developing a qualified allocation plan. This plan is to be formulated by the state's commercial revitalization agency.

(e) The renewal community program offers the state an opportunity to provide federally funded financial and economic benefits to certain communities that have a demonstrated need for that assistance. It is in the interest of the people of this state that action be taken as necessary to obtain those benefits.

50199.71. (a) This chapter is enacted to comply with the requirements of Section 1400E and following of Title 26 of the United States Code, as it may be amended from time to time.

(b) To the extent that any provision of this chapter is held to be inconsistent with, or repugnant to, federal law, the provision shall be given effect in accordance with its terms to the greatest extent possible and consistent with the federal law and any inconsistency shall have no effect on the remaining provisions of this chapter.

(d) ''Designated renewal community'' means a community designated as a renewal community by the Secretary of the United States Housing and Urban Development Agency pursuant to Section 1400E of Title 26 of the United States Code.

50199.73. (a) The committee shall develop a qualified allocation plan that complies with Section 1400I(e)(2) of Title 26 of the United States Code, and includes, but is not limited to, the following:

(1) Selection criteria to be used to determine priorities of the committee that are appropriate to local conditions and that consider all of the following:

(A) The degree to which a project contributes to the implementation of a strategic plan devised for a renewal community.

(B) The amount of any increase in permanent, full-time employment.

(C) The active involvement of residents and nonprofit groups within the renewal community.

(2) A procedure that the committee will follow to monitor compliance with the act.

(b) Prior to implementation of the initial qualified allocation plan, the committee shall provide for a public hearing and reasonable period for public comment. Following the public comment period, the final qualified allocation plan shall be approved by the committee.

(c) The qualified allocation plan shall be reviewed by the committee on an annual basis. If any changes are proposed, the committee shall allow for a reasonable period of public comment to review the proposed changes. Any final modifications to the qualified allocation plan shall be approved by the committee.

50199.74. (a) The committee is hereby designated as the state's only commercial revitalization agency for purposes of Section 1400I of Title 26 of the United States Code. The committee shall annually allocate the aggregate commercial revitalization expenditure amount available to the state in accordance with this chapter and applicable federal law. The committee shall undertake any and all responsibilities of commercial revitalization agencies set forth in Section 1400I of Title 26 of the United States Code.

(d) The committee shall develop and provide application forms for use by applicants. The committee shall adopt uniform procedures for submission and review of applications, including fees it shall charge to defray the committee's cost in administering this chapter. In the committee's discretion, the fees may be charged to an applicant as a condition of submitting an application or as a condition of receiving an allocation or reservation of the state's current or anticipated commercial revitalization ceiling, or both.

(e) No allocations or reservations shall be made pursuant to this subdivision with respect to projects that do not meet the requirements of the qualified allocation plan, this chapter, or Section 1400I of Title 26 of the United States Code.

Any loan made to the committee pursuant to this subdivision shall be repayable solely from moneys appropriated to the committee from the Community Revitalization Fee Account and shall not constitute a general obligation for which the faith and credit of the state are pledged.

50199.76. Any allocation or reservation of a portion of the current or future commercial revitalization expenditure ceiling by the committee may be upon terms and conditions that the committee may determine. For example, the committee may condition an allocation or reservation on the execution of a contract between the commercial revitalization expenditure recipient and the committee or state or local agency requiring the recipient to comply with all the terms of Section 1400E and following of the Internal Revenue Code, any applicable state law, and any additional requirements that the committee deems necessary or appropriate, and providing for legal action to obtain specific performance or monetary damages for breach of contract.

50199.77. The committee shall adopt and supply forms for eliciting information for the purposes of this chapter from applicants. State and local agencies, applicants, and recipients shall provide the committee with any information requested by the committee in performing its duties and responsibilities pursuant to this chapter and the act.

An act to amend Sections 44325, 44326, 44328, and 44830.3 of, and to add Section 44329 to, the Education Code, relating to credentialing.

[Approved by Governor September 29, 2002. Filed with Secretary of State September 29, 2002.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Section 44325 of the Education Code is amended to read:

44325. (a) The Commission on Teacher Credentialing shall issue district intern certificates authorizing persons employed by any school district that maintains kindergarten and grades 1 to 12, inclusive, or that maintains classes in bilingual education to provide classroom instruction to pupils in those grades and classes in accordance with the requirements of Section 44830.3. The commission, until January 1, 2008, also shall issue district intern certificates authorizing persons employed by any school district to provide classroom instruction to pupils with mild and moderate disabilities in special education classes, in accordance with the requirements of Section 44830.3.

(b) Each district intern certificate shall be valid for a period of two years. However, a certificate may be valid for three years if the intern is participating in a program that leads to the attainment of a specialist credential to teach pupils with mild and moderate disabilities, or four years if the intern is participating in a program that leads to the attainment of both a multiple subject or single subject teaching credential and a specialist credential to teach pupils with mild and moderate disabilities. Upon the recommendation of the school district, the commission may grant a one-year extension of the district intern certificate.

(c) The commission shall require each applicant for a district intern certificate to demonstrate that he or she meets the minimum qualifications for that certificate, including (1) the possession of a baccalaureate degree conferred by a regionally accredited institution of postsecondary education, (2) the successful passage of the state basic skills proficiency test administered under Sections 44252 and 44252.5, (3) the successful completion of the appropriate subject matter examination administered by the commission, or a commission-approved subject matter preparation program for the subject areas in which the district intern is authorized to teach, and (4) the oral language component of the assessment program leading to the bilingual-crosscultural language and academic development certificate for persons seeking a district intern certificate to teach bilingual education classes.

(d) The commission shall apply the requirements of Sections 44339, 44340, and 44341 to each applicant for a district intern certificate.

SEC. 2. Section 44326 of the Education Code is amended to read:

44326. (a) Persons holding district intern certificates issued by the commission under Section 44325 to teach in grades 9 to 12, inclusive, or in grades 6 to 8, inclusive, in a departmentalized program, or in departmentalized bilingual classes, shall only be authorized to teach in the subject areas in which they have completed an undergraduate academic major or minor.

(b) Persons holding district intern certificates issued by the commission under Section 44325 to teach in kindergarten and grades 1 to 8, inclusive, in a self-contained program or in self-contained bilingual classes who have completed an academic major or minor or a diversified or liberal arts degree that includes the subject matter coursework prescribed in Section 44314 shall be authorized to teach in those grades or classes.

(c) Prior to assignment to teach pupils with mild and moderate disabilities, persons holding district intern certificates issued by the commission under Section 44325 to teach those pupils shall meet the requirements of either subdivision (a) or (b).

(d) Each district intern shall be required to teach with the assistance and guidance of certificated employees of the district who have been classified as mentor teachers under Article 4 (commencing with Section 44490) of Chapter 3, or with the assistance and guidance of certificated employees selected through a competitive process adopted by the governing board after consultation with the exclusive teacher representative unit or by personnel employed by institutions of higher education to supervise student teachers. Mentor teachers or other certificated employees shall possess valid certification at the same level or of the same type of credential as the district interns they serve.

SEC. 3. Section 44328 of the Education Code is amended to read:

44328. Unless the commission determines that substantial evidence exists that a person is unqualified to teach, upon the completion of successful service as a district intern pursuant to subdivision (b) of Section 44325, and upon the recommendation of the school district governing board, the commission shall award professional credentials to district interns in the same manner as applicants recommended for credentials by institutions that operate approved programs of professional preparation.

Notwithstanding paragraphs (1) and (2) of subdivision (a) of Section 44225, paragraphs (3), (4), (5), and (6) of subdivision (b) of Section 44259, paragraphs (1), (2), (3), and (4) of subdivision (c) of Section 44259, and Sections 44261, 44265, and 44335, it is the intent of the Legislature that upon recommendation by the governing board, district interns shall be issued professional credentials, rather than preliminary credentials, upon the completion of successful service as a teacher pursuant to subdivision (b) of Section 44325 unless the governing board recommends, and the commission finds substantial evidence that the person is not qualified to teach. Notwithstanding Section 44261, the professional credential awarded to any district intern holding a certificate to teach bilingual classes shall be a basic teaching credential with a bilingual-crosscultural language and academic development emphasis. Notwithstanding Section 44265, the professional credential awarded to any district intern who holds a certificate to teach special education pupils with mild and moderate disabilities shall be a special education specialist instruction credential that authorizes the holder to teach special education pupils with mild and moderate disabilities.

It is the intent of the Legislature that institutions of higher education that operate approved programs of professional preparation work cooperatively with school districts that offer district intern programs for a special education specialist credential to apply the regular education coursework and fieldwork from the special education district intern program toward earning a multiple or single subject teaching credential through the institution.

SEC. 4. Section 44329 is added to the Education Code, to read:

44329. On or before January 1, 2007, the commission shall prepare and submit a report to the Legislature that summarizes the regulations adopted by the commission to expand statewide the issuance of district intern certificates that authorize classroom instruction to pupils with mild and moderate disabilities. The report shall also analyze the effectiveness of persons who hold those certificates.

SEC. 5. Section 44830.3 of the Education Code is amended to read:

44830.3. (a) The governing board of any school district that maintains kindergarten or grades 1 to 12, inclusive, or that maintains classes in bilingual education or special education programs for pupils with mild and moderate disabilities, may in consultation with an accredited institution of higher education offering an approved program of pedagogical teacher preparation employ persons authorized by the Commission on Teacher Credentialing to provide service as district interns to provide instruction to pupils in those grades or classes as a classroom teacher. The governing board shall require that each district intern be assisted and guided by a certificated employee of the school district who has been designated by the governing board as a mentor teacher pursuant to Article 4 (commencing with Section 44490) of Chapter 3 or by certificated employees selected through a competitive process adopted by the governing board after consultation with the exclusive teacher representative unit or by personnel employed by institutions of higher education to supervise student teachers. Mentor teachers or other certificated employees shall possess valid certification at the same level, or of the same type, of credential as the district interns they serve.

(b) The governing board of each school district employing district interns shall develop and implement a professional development plan for district interns in consultation with an accredited institution of higher education offering an approved program of pedagogical preparation. The professional development plan shall include all of the following:

(1) Provisions for an annual evaluation of the district intern.

(A) One hundred twenty clock hours of preservice training and orientation in the aspects of child development, classroom organization and management, pedagogy, and methods of teaching the subject field or fields in which the district intern will be assigned, which training and orientation period shall be under the direct supervision of an experienced permanent teacher. In addition, persons holding district intern certificates issued by the commission pursuant to Section 44325 shall receive orientation in methods of teaching pupils with mild and moderate disabilities. At the conclusion of the preservice training period, the permanent teacher shall provide the district with information regarding the area that should be emphasized in the future training of the district intern.

(B) The successful completion, prior to service by the intern in any classroom, of six semester units of coursework from a regionally accredited college or university, designed in cooperation with the school district to provide instruction and orientation in the aspects of child development and the methods of teaching the subject field or fields in which the district intern will be assigned.

(4) Instruction in child development and the methods of teaching during the first semester of service for district interns teaching in kindergarten or grades 1 to 6, inclusive, including bilingual classes and, for person holding district intern certificates issued by the commission pursuant to Section 44325, special education programs for pupils with mild and moderate disabilities at those levels.

(5) Instruction in the culture and methods of teaching bilingual children during the first year of service for district interns teaching children in bilingual classes and, for persons holding district intern certificates issued by the commission pursuant to Section 44325, instruction in the etiology and methods of teaching children with mild and moderate disabilities.

(6) Any other criteria that may be required by the governing board.

(7) In addition to the requirements set forth in paragraphs (1) to (6), inclusive, the professional development plan for district interns teaching in special education programs for pupils with mild and moderate disabilities also shall include 120 clock hours of mandatory training and supervised fieldwork that shall include, but not be limited to, instructional practices, and the procedures and pedagogy of both general education programs and special education programs that teach pupils with disabilities.

(8) In addition to the requirements set forth in paragraphs (1) to (6), inclusive, the professional development plan for district interns teaching bilingual classes shall also include 120 clock hours of mandatory training and orientation, which shall include, but not be limited to, instruction in subject matter relating to bilingual-crosscultural language and academic development.

(9) The professional development plan for district interns teaching in special education programs for pupils with mild and moderate disabilities shall be based on the standards adopted by the commission as provided in subdivision (a) of Section 44327.

(c) Each district intern and each district teacher assigned to supervise the district intern during the preservice period, shall be compensated for the preservice period pursuant to subparagraph (A) or (B) of paragraph (3). The compensation shall be that which is normally provided by each district for staff development or in-service activity.

(d) Upon completion of two years of service, or three years of service for interns participating in a program that leads to the attainment of a specialist credential to teach pupils with mild and moderate disabilities, or four years if the intern is participating in a program that leads to the attainment of both a multiple subject or single subject teaching credential and a specialist credential to teach pupils with mild and moderate disabilities, the governing board may recommend to the Commission on Teacher Credentialing that the district intern be credentialed in the manner prescribed by Section 44328.

An act to add Sections 12803.6, 12803.65, and 12803.7 to the Government Code, to add Division 10 (commencing with Section 18000) to the Unemployment Insurance Code, and to amend Sections 12300 and 14132.95 of, and to add Sections 14007.95 and 14132.955 to, the Welfare and Institutions Code, relating to disabilities.

[Approved by Governor September 29, 2002. Filed with Secretary of State September 29, 2002.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. The Legislature finds and declares all of the following:

(a) Historically, federal programs for adults with disabilities have encouraged dependency on income supports and have created barriers to employment and economic self-sufficiency. Even in strong economic times, adults with disabilities have had limited options and faced major barriers to achieve economic self-sufficiency, resulting in prolonged reliance upon public assistance programs and an unacceptably high unemployment rates statewide.

(b) Federal laws enacted during the 1990's offered significant public policies and fiscal incentives designed to assist states to restructure workforce development programs into integrated workforce investment systems that will respond to the employment, training, and education needs of its citizens.

(c) Since 1998, employment-focused reforms for adults with disabilities in the workforce have been enacted into Medicare, medicaid, the Supplemental Security Income Program (SSI), the Social Security Disability Insurance Program (SSDI), and with respect to programs administered by the United States Department of Labor, and the United States Department of Education.

(d) The federal Workforce Investment Act of 1998 (WIA), (Public Law 105-220) redesigned major federal public employment programs, and included a requirement that services for employers and employees be centered in accessible, community-based one-stop centers.

(e) The federal Ticket to Work and Work Incentives Improvement Act of 1999, (Public Law 106-170) increased opportunities for states to remove and minimize barriers to employment for people with disabilities by improving access to health care coverage available under Medicare and medicaid.

(f) Beginning February 1, 2002, the Social Security Ticket to Work program (TTW) began a state-by-state phase in period nationally, allowing SSI and SSDI beneficiaries to receive a ''ticket'' from the Social Security Administration that can be assigned for employment services to a wider pool of rehabilitation, employment, or other employment support service providers. The Ticket to Work program (TTW) is scheduled for implementation in California in July 2003.

(g) The programs and consumer options provided under Public Law 106-170 are based upon public policies that respect the rights of consumers to control decisions related to health care, rehabilitation, and employment within the framework of independent living principles and guidelines that include, but are not limited to, providing consumers of these services with an array of choices to promote independence and financial stability.

(h) California took a significant step forward in removing barriers to work for Californians with disabilities when it enacted Chapter 820 of the Statutes of 1999 (Assembly Bill 155, introduced by Assembly Member Migden, which has been referred to as the ''250% California Working Disabled Program'' or ''CWD'') under which any employed individual who is disabled and whose countable income, as determined pursuant to Section 14007.9 of the Welfare and Institutions Code, does not exceed 250 percent of the federal poverty level shall be eligible for Medi-Cal benefits, subject to the payment of sliding-scale premiums set by the State Department of Health Services. Two years after its implementation, CWD program enrollment is just above 500, which is significantly below budgeted projections.

(i) California received a "Medicaid Infrastructure Grant" (MIG) that is expected to continue for a second year, and that allows the State Department of Health Services to administer the California Health Incentive Improvement Project with the assistance of a project steering committee in order to bolster the state's efforts to conduct outreach, research, and analysis related to the implementation of Chapter 820 of the Statutes of 1999.

(j) California will have the opportunity to coordinate its activities with privately funded initiatives to identify potential cost savings that could be achieved if California adopted additional policies available to the state through the federal Balanced Budget Act of 1997 and the Ticket to Work and Work Incentives Improvement Act, including, but not limited to, raising the income standard, changing rules related to disregarding or exempting resources, providing adjustments to the amount of premiums paid on a sliding scale, including adjustments based on the amount paid for other health insurance, and providing an allowance for coverage for up to 18 months in the case of loss of employment.

(k) The California Governor's Committee on Employment of Disabled Persons, through its staff and volunteers, promotes in the private and public sectors understanding and information on employment supports and benefits for people with disabilities who transition from benefits as the sole source of income to gainful employment.

SEC. 2. Section 12803.6 is added to the Government Code, to read:

12803.6. (a) The Governor shall authorize the secretary of the Labor and Workforce Development Agency, in collaboration with the secretary of the California Health and Human Services Agency, to make available the expertise of state employees and programs to support the employment-related needs of individuals with disabilities. Using existing resources, the agencies shall develop a sustainable, comprehensive strategy to do all of the following:

(1) Bring adults with disabilities into gainful employment at a rate that is as close as possible to that of the general adult population.

(2) Support the goals of equality of opportunity, full participation, independent living, and economic self-sufficiency for these individuals.

(3) Ensure that state government is a model employer of individuals with disabilities.

(4) Support state coordination with, and participation in, benefits planning training and information dissemination projects supported by private foundations and federal grants.

(b) (1) The Labor and Workforce Development Agency shall monitor and enforce implementation of Section 188 of the federal Workforce Investment Act of 1998 (29 U.S.C. Sec. 2938), and shall require local workforce investment boards to report as follows:

(A) By July 1, 2003, each local workforce investment board shall report to the Labor and Workforce Development Agency or its designated department on the steps it has taken to ensure compliance with Section 188 of the federal Workforce Investment Act of 1998 (29 U.S.C. Sec. 2938), in regard to the provisions as they apply to persons with disabilities.

(B) By October 31, 2003, each local workforce investment board that chooses to participate in the federal Ticket to Work and Self-Sufficiency program shall report to the California Workforce Investment Board on its readiness to meet the eligibility standards to serve as an employment network under the federal Ticket to Work and Self-Sufficiency program (Section 1148(f), Part A, Title XI of the Social Security Act, 42 U.S.C. Section 1320b-19).

(2) The Labor and Workforce Development Agency shall report its findings, based on the reports described in subparagraph (A) of paragraph (1), to the Governor and the Legislature.

SEC. 3. Section 12803.65 is added to the Government Code, to read:

12803.65. (a) The Governor shall rename and establish, in the Labor and Workforce Development Agency, the existing California Governor's Committee on Employment of Disabled Persons as the ''California Governor's Committee on Employment of People with Disabilities'' or ''CGCEPD.''

(b) (1) The California Governor's Committee on Employment of People with Disabilities shall include, but not be limited to, the following:

(A) Four individuals with disabilities representing disabled persons, two appointed by the Governor and one each appointed by the Senate Committee on Rules and the Speaker of the Assembly, each for a three-year term.

(B) The Directors of the Employment Development Department, State Department of Health Services, State Department of Mental Health, State Department of Developmental Services, State Department of Social Services, and Department of Rehabilitation, and the Chair of the State Independent Living Council.

(C) Representatives from the State Department of Health Services' California Health Incentive Improvement Project.

(D) A representative from the California Workforce Investment Board.

(E) Representatives from any other department or program that may have a role in increasing the capacity of state programs to support the employment-related needs of individuals with disabilities.

(F) A representative from a local one-stop or local workforce investment board, to be appointed by the Governor.

(G) A business representative with experience in employing persons with disabilities, to be appointed by the Governor.

(2) The members of the California Governor's Committee on Employment of People with Disabilities shall select a chair from among the members, and shall hold open meetings no less than quarterly.

(c) The California Governor's Committee on Employment of People with Disabilities shall consult with and advise the Labor and Workforce Development Agency and the California Health and Human Services Agency on all issues related to full inclusion in the workforce of persons with disabilities, including development of the comprehensive strategy required pursuant to Section 12803.6 and implementation of the grant program established pursuant to Section 12803.7.

(d) The California Governor's Committee on Employment of People with Disabilities shall also:

(1) Coordinate and provide leadership, as necessary, with regard to efforts to increase inclusion in the workforce of persons with disabilities.

(2) Report annually to the Legislature and the Governor on the employment status of Californians with disabilities.

(e) The California Governor's Committee on Employment of People with Disabilities shall provide support to the State Workforce Investment Board and the local one-stop centers in their efforts to achieve full compliance with Sections 18002, 18004, 18006, and 18008 of the Unemployment Insurance Code, and shall identify the extent to which any one-stops are not in full compliance with those sections and the reasons for the lack of compliance, including the need for additional resources.

(f) The California Governor's Committee on Employment of People with Disabilities shall meet quarterly with the California Health Incentive Improvement Project, administered by the State Department of Health Services, and the project's steering committee, to the extent funding for the project continues and the activities of the California Governor's Committee on Employment of People with Disabilities are not inconsistent with the charge of the California Health Incentive Improvement Project.

(g) Using existing funding, the California Governor's Committee on Employment of People with Disabilities shall facilitate, promote, and coordinate collaborative dissemination of information on employment supports and benefits, which shall include the Ticket to Work program and health benefits, to individuals with disabilities, consumers of public services, employers, service providers, and state and local agency staff.

(h) Using existing funding, the California Governor's Committee on Employment of People with Disabilities shall receive primary administrative and staff support from the State Employment Development Department.

SEC. 4. Section 12803.7 is added to the Government Code, to read:

12803.7. The California Governor's Committee on Employment of People with Disabilities, in conjunction with the Department of Rehabilitation, pursuant to Section 12803.65 and to the extent that funds are available, shall make grants available to counties and local workforce investment boards, through collaborative efforts of public agencies and private organizations, including organizations that serve people with disabilities, to accomplish both of the following purposes:

(a) To develop local strategies, including, but not limited to, regular cross-agency staff training, for enhancing employment opportunities for individuals with disabilities.

(b) To fund comprehensive local or regional benefits planning and outreach programs to assist individuals with disabilities in removing barriers to work.

SEC. 5. Division 10 (commencing with Section 18000) is added to the Unemployment Insurance Code, to read:

DIVISION 10. EMPLOYMENT ASSISTANCE FOR WORKERS WITH DISABILITIES

18000. (a) It is the purpose of this division to ensure that workforce preparation services provided through California's one-stop centers, including information and services provided electronically, are accessible to employers and jobseekers with disabilities.

(b) It is further the intent of the Legislature that one-stop centers provide appropriate services to individuals with disabilities to enhance their employability.

(c) It is further the intent of the Legislature that, in order to achieve the goals specified in subdivisions (a) and (b), local workforce investment boards plan for and report on services to jobseekers and employers with disabilities, including the implementation of the federal Ticket to Work program for those local workforce investment boards and one-stop centers that choose to implement the Ticket to Work program in their local workforce investment areas.

18002. Each local workforce investment board shall establish at least one comprehensive one-stop career center in each local workforce investment area. These one-stop centers shall ensure access to services pursuant to Section 134(d) of the federal Workforce Investment Act of 1998 (29 U.S.C. Sec. 2864(d)), including services for persons with disabilities, including, but not limited to, all of the following:

(a) Outreach, intake, and orientation.

(b) Initial assessments of skills, aptitudes, abilities, and need for support services.

(c) Program eligibility determinations.

(d) Information on the local, regional, and national labor market.

(e) Information on filing for unemployment insurance.

(f) Access to intensive services as needed, including, but not limited to, comprehensive and specialized assessments of skill levels and service needs, development of individual employment plans, group counseling, individual counseling and career planning, case management for participants seeking training services under subdivision (g), and short-term prevocational services, such as learning, communication, interview, and other jobseeking and work related skills to help prepare individuals for unsubsidized employment and training.

18004. The local workforce investment boards shall schedule and conduct regular performance reviews of their one-stop centers to determine whether the centers and providers are providing effective and meaningful opportunities for persons with disabilities to participate in the programs and activities of the centers and providers.

18006. (d) California's public safety and emergency response entities currently are operating near, or in excess of, the capacity of their radio communication systems.

(e) The development of an integrated public safety communication system will help relieve crowding on public safety radio spectrum, provide enhanced system functionality, and improve overall efficiency of communication by public safety entities on a day-to-day basis and during emergencies.

8592.4. The committee shall determine which agencies need new or upgraded communication equipment in order to enter into an agreement for interoperability or other shared use of public safety spectrum and shall establish a program for equipment purchase. An act to add Article 5.5 (commencing with Section 66055) to Chapter 2 of Part 40 of the Education Code, relating to nursing education.

[Approved by Governor September 29, 2002. Filed with Secretary of State September 29, 2002.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. (a) The Legislature finds and declares all of the following:

(1) California is experiencing a severe nursing shortage that threatens the public health care system.

(2) California has the second lowest ratio of registered nurses per 100,000 population in the country, and this shortage is expected to worsen in the coming years.

(3) Due to lack of capacity, the California Community Colleges and the California State University and University of California systems are unable to meet the demands for increased enrollment for students into the nursing programs.

(4) Artificial barriers, such as admission requirements and a variety of prerequisites and corequisites required for nursing programs, prevent students from matriculating in a timely manner.

(5) There is a lack of diversity among faculty and students to meet the needs of California residents.

(6) The Community College Intersegmental Major Preparation Articulated Curriculum and the California State University Common Core Alignment projects have made great strides in reforming nursing education to meet the needs of California residents, and continuation of their efforts is critical.

(b) It is the intent of the Legislature to require the Chancellor of the California Community Colleges and the Chancellor of the California State University to develop a seamless articulation between the community colleges and California State University nursing programs by standardizing admissions requirements prerequisites, and corequisites.

SEC. 2. Article 5.5 (commencing with Section 66055) is added to Chapter 2 of Part 40 of the Education Code, to read:

Article 5.5. Nursing Programs

[Approved by Governor September 29, 2002. Filed with Secretary of State September 29, 2002.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. It is the intent of the Legislature, in enacting this act, to do all of the following:

(b) To provide employees of local school districts, community college districts, and county offices of education with information that allows these employees to make informed decisions in selecting tax-deferred retirement investment products described in Section 403(b) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 and the vendors that provide them by establishing a registration process within the State Teachers' Retirement System for participating vendors.

(c) To provide employees of local school districts, community college districts, and county offices of education and other interested parties, with access to an impartial information bank to compare among registered vendors and investment options available, including information related to participant cost, participant education, vendor experience, other vendor services, and access to all performance and other prospectus disclosures, as required by the National Association of Securities Dealers and the Securities and Exchange Commission.

(d) To require that the actual costs associated with the initial establishment and continuing administration of the investment registration process and the provision of the information bank and costs associated with publicizing the availability of the information bank to local school districts, community college districts, and county offices of education are borne equally by the participating registered vendors based on the total number of registrants.

(e) To enable all local school districts, community college districts, and county offices of education to provide employees notice of available retirement investment products from registered vendors.

SEC. 2. Chapter 39 (commencing with Section 25100) is added to Part 13 of Division 1 of Title 1 of the Education Code, to read:

CHAPTER 39. SCHOOL EMPLOYER RETIREMENT INVESTMENT PRODUCT VENDOR REGISTRATION PROCESS AND INFORMATION BANK

25100. (a) The board shall establish a vendor registration process through which information about tax-deferred retirement investment products as described in Section 403(b) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 shall be made available for consideration by public employees of all local school districts, community college districts, and county offices of education.

(b) For the purposes of this chapter, ''403(b) product or 403(b) products'' means tax-deferred retirement investment products as described in Section 403(b) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986.

(c) For the purposes of this chapter, ''vendor'' means a public retirement system, broker-dealer, registered investment company, or life insurance company qualified to do business in California that provides 403(b) products. ''Vendor'' does not include individual registered representatives, brokers, financial planners, or agents.

25101. A prospective vendor of 403(b) products that offers those products, or the products of other 403(b) vendors, to local school districts, community college districts, county offices of education and their employees, shall register those products with the board pursuant to this chapter. Registered vendors shall offer only registered 403(b) products as funding vehicles for 403(b) plans.

(a) Prospective vendors shall be registered with the board based upon a complete response to the disclosures required by this subdivision. This information shall be included in the impartial investment information bank established pursuant to Section 25104. The prospective vendors shall provide the following information:

(2) A characterization by the vendor of its offering as either an annuity or custodial account, as defined under Sections 403(b)(1) and 403(b)(7) of Internal Revenue Code, respectively.

(3) A disclosure of all expenses paid directly or indirectly by retirement plan participants, including, but not limited to, penalties for early withdrawals, declining or fixed withdrawal charges, surrender or deposit charges, management fees, and annual fees, supported by documentation as required for prospectus disclosure by the National Association of Securities Dealers and the Securities and Exchange Commission. Vendors shall be required to provide information regarding the impact of product fees upon a hypothetical investment, as described in Section 25104.

(4) The types of products, product features, including presence of two tier annuity features, services offered to participants, and information about how to access product prospectuses or other relevant product information.

(5) A discussion of the ability, experience, and commitment of the vendor to provide retirement counseling and education services, including, but not limited to, access to group meetings and individual counseling by various means, including telephone and telecommunications devices for the deaf (TDD), Internet, and face-to-face consultations by registered representatives.

(6) A statement of the financial strength and stability of the vendor, as may be applicable, by identifying its ratings assigned by nationally recognized rating services that evaluate the financial strength of life insurance, mutual funds, and other similar companies.

(7) The location of offices and counselors, or method of distribution, of the vendor relative to serving local school districts, community college districts, and county offices of education and their employees in California.

(8) A description of the ability of the vendor to comply with all applicable provisions of federal and state law governing retirement plans, including minimum distribution requirements and contribution limits.

(9) To the extent applicable, the demonstrated ability of the vendor to offer an appropriate array of accumulation funding options, including, but not limited to, a diversified mix of value, growth, growth and income, hybrid and index funds or accounts across large, mid, and small capitalization asset classes, both domestic and international. These investment products may include mutual funds, group or individual annuity contracts, fixed or variable annuity contracts, individual retirement annuities, interests in trust and collective trusts, separate accounts, and other financial instruments.

(10) A discussion of the range of administrative and customer services provided, including asset allocation, accounting and administration of benefits for individual participants, recordkeeping for individual participants, asset purchase, control, and safekeeping, execution of a participant's instructions as to asset and contribution allocation, calculation of daily net asset values, direct access for participants to their account information, periodic reporting to active participants, not less than quarterly, on their account balances and transactions, and compliance with the standard of care applicable in the provision of investment services and consistent with federal law.

(11) Certification by the vendor that the information provided to the board accurately reflects the provisions of the Section 403(b) products they register pursuant to this chapter.

(b) Registration may not be conditioned upon the content of the information.

(c) Vendors shall supply information and data in the format required by the board.

25102. Registration shall be offered to vendors once annually, and renewal of registration shall be required at least once every five years thereafter for vendors that wish to continue to participate. The board shall provide public notice prior to the initial registration, annual registration, and registration renewal periods. The board may require, through a password-based update system that allows vendors to access the registration list for the purposes of updating their product information, or through other means, an update of the information required to be provided under Section 25101 with each registration renewal. Registered vendors shall submit to the board within the time required by the Securities and Exchange Commission an amendment to the information required to be provided under Section 25101 to reflect material changes to the products or services offered that occur between registration or renewal periods. Registered vendors may register additional 403(b) products with the board between registration or renewal periods by providing the board the information required under Section 25101 and fees required under subdivision (c) of Section 25108. Upon receipt of information reflecting material changes or additions to the products or services offered by registered vendors that occur between registration or renewal periods, the board shall reflect those changes in the impartial investment information bank established pursuant to Section 25104 within the time required by the Securities and Exchange Commission.

25103. (a) The board may remove a vendor from the registry if the vendor submits materially inaccurate information to the board, does not remit assessed fees within 60 days, or fails to submit notice of material changes to their registered investment products, pursuant to Section 25102. Vendors found to have submitted materially inaccurate information to the board shall be allowed 60 days to correct the information. The board may refer vendors that submit information required under Section 25102 that is materially inaccurate and may constitute conduct prohibited by the National Association of Securities Dealers and the California Department of Insurance to those entities.

(b) The board shall remove a vendor from the registry if the vendor is not licensed or has their license revoked by the National Association of Securities Dealers or the California Department of Insurance for engaging in conduct prohibited by those entities.

(c) The board shall establish an appeals process pursuant to Section 22219 for vendors that are denied registration or removed from the registry.

25104. (a) The board shall maintain an impartial investment information bank, via an Internet Web site, containing the information required by Section 25101 about the retirement investment products offered by each registered vendor and objective comparisons of vendors and types of products.

(b) The information bank shall include information on investment performance based upon the investment's average annual total return, as measured by a nationally recognized rating service selected by the board for standard periods of time of not less than one year.

(c) The Web site shall include a table showing, for each registered fund, the total fee cost in dollars incurred by a shareholder who initially invested ten thousand dollars ($10,000), earned a 5 percent rate of return for one, five, 10, 15, and 20 year time periods. This table shall be accompanied by a disclaimer that the rate of return is for purposes of illustrating the respective impacts of different fee amounts on each investment, and is not to predict future investment returns.

(d) The board shall have the authority to organize data, but may not subjectively rank or give preference to a vendor or product.

25105. The board shall include notice of the existence of, and the Internet Web site address for, the impartial investment information bank in each newsletter sent to members. The board shall include a notice in the individual account statements of members of the Defined Benefit Program and participants of the Cash Balance Benefit Program that explains the purpose and Web site address of the impartial investment information bank.

25106. The board shall design the information bank Internet Web site and include retirement investment product plan information and education materials taken from and referenced to the Internal Revenue Service, the Securities and Exchange Commission, the National Association of Insurance Commissioners, and other applicable governmental or regulatory agencies. Information shall be presented and used in a manner that is consistent with the rules of those agencies and with rules of the National Association of Securities Dealers. The information shall be offered as a preface to the vendor information required in Section 25101. The preface shall include, but shall not be limited to, the following information:

(a) An explanation of Section 403(b) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986.

(b) The retirement investment products that may be purchased under Section 403(b) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, and with definitions of those products.

(c) Definitions or explanations of all fees referred to in the investment information bank.

25107. A vendor may not charge a fee that is not disclosed.

25108. (a) The actual cost of establishing the vendor registration system and the investment information bank shall be borne equally by registered vendors, based on the total number of registered vendors. Each registered vendor shall pay a one-time establishment fee equal to a pro rata share of the establishment costs charged to vendors that register with the board prior to the close of the initial registration period, as determined by the board. The one-time establishment fee charged to vendors that register with the board after the completion of the initial registration period shall be distributed equally among registered vendors that have paid the establishment fee, and credited toward subsequent maintenance and administrative fees charged to each vendor.

(b) The actual cost of maintaining the vendor registration system and the investment information bank, and the costs associated with publicizing the availability of the investment information bank to local school districts, community college districts, and county offices of education and their employees, shall be borne equally by registered vendors, based on the total number of registered vendors. Each registered vendor shall pay a renewal fee equal to a pro rata share of the maintenance costs, as determined by the board.

(c) Each registered vendor shall pay an administrative fee for each 403(b) product it offers to school employees, which shall represent the actual costs associated with processing the information related to the investment option and presenting it on the investment information bank, as determined by the board.

(d) The board may not divert member services resources or personnel to establish or maintain the registration list.

25109. (a) The board and the system, and its officers and employees, are not responsible for, and may not be held liable for the adequacy of the information provided by the participating vendors contained in the information bank. The information bank maintained by the board serves only to provide information supplied by the participating vendors for the consideration of selection of 403(b) products.

(b) Participating vendors may not utilize the system's logo, or claim or infer any endorsement or recommendation by the board or the system with respect to products and services identified by the vendors in the information bank. At the discretion of the board, a violation of this section may lead to removal from the registry. This restriction does not apply to 403(b) products offered by the board to school employees pursuant to Section 24950.

(c) The board and the system may not be held liable for the actions of other registered vendors.

25110. The board shall complete the initial registration process on or before July 1, 2004.

25111. Each local school district, community college district, and county office of education, in consultation with the exclusive bargaining agent of its employees, if any, may develop a process to ensure that employees are aware of, and have access to, information provided in the impartial investment bank maintained by the board.

25113. A local school district, community college district, or county office of education may not forward annuity or custodial account consideration to the vendor of any unregistered 403(b) product, except insofar as an employee continues making contributions to an unregistered product or products purchased or entered into prior to the implementation date of the impartial investment bank, as established by this chapter.

25114. Employees shall select from registered 403(b) products. Notwithstanding Section 25113, an employee of a local school district, community college district, or county office of education may continue to make contributions to unregistered products purchased or entered into prior to the date of implementation of the impartial investment bank, as established by this chapter.

25115. For purposes of restricting the use of 403(b) investment products provided to employees of local school districts, community college districts, and county offices of education by those vendors and investment products registered with the board pursuant to this chapter, the provisions of Section 770.3 of the Insurance Code do not apply.

(B) The licensed contractor's name, address, and experience modification factor as reported by the licensed contractor.

(C) The workers' compensation classifications associated with the payroll reported pursuant to subparagraph (A). Classifications shall be assigned in accordance with the rules set forth in the California Workers' Compensation Uniform Statistical Reporting Plan published by the Workers' Compensation Insurance Rating Bureau.

(b) The temporary employment agency, employment referral service, labor contractor, or other similar entity supplying the individual under the conditions specified in subdivision (a) shall be solely responsible for the individual's workers' compensation, as specified in subdivision (a).

(c) Nothing in this section is intended to change existing law in effect on December 31, 2002, as it relates to the sole remedy provisions of this division and the special employer provisions of Section 11663 of the Insurance Code.

(d) A licensed contractor that is using a temporary worker supplied pursuant to subdivision (a) shall notify the temporary employment agency, employment referral service, labor contractor, or other similar entity that supplied that temporary worker when either of the following occurs:

(1) The temporary worker is being used on a public works project.

(2) The contractor reassigns a temporary worker to a position other than the classification to which the worker was originally assigned.

CHAPTER 1099

An act to amend Section 51553 of the Education Code, relating to sex education.

[Approved by Governor September 29, 2002. Filed with Secretary of State September 29, 2002.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Section 51553 of the Education Code is amended to read:

51553. (a) All public elementary, junior high, and senior high school classes that teach sex education and discuss sexual intercourse shall emphasize that abstinence from sexual intercourse is the only protection that is 100 percent effective against unwanted teenage pregnancy, sexually transmitted diseases, and acquired immune deficiency syndrome (AIDS) when transmitted sexually. All material and instruction in classes that teach sex education and discuss sexual intercourse shall be age appropriate.

(b) All sex education courses that discuss sexual intercourse shall also satisfy the following criteria:

(1) (A) Factual information presented in course material and instruction shall be medically accurate and objective.

(B) For purposes of this section, the following definitions apply:

(i) ''Factual information'' includes, but is not limited to, medical, psychiatric, psychological, empirical, and statistical statements.

(ii) ''Medically accurate'' means verified or supported by research conducted in compliance with scientific methods and published in peer-review journals, where appropriate, and recognized as accurate and objective by professional organizations and agencies with expertise in the relevant field, such as the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

(2) Course material and instruction shall stress that abstinence is the only contraceptive method which is 100 percent effective, and that all other methods of contraception carry a risk of failure in preventing unwanted teenage pregnancy. Statistics based on the latest medical information shall be provided to pupils citing the failure and success rates of condoms and other contraceptives in preventing pregnancy.

(3) Course material and instruction shall stress that sexually transmitted diseases are serious possible hazards of sexual intercourse. Pupils shall be provided with statistics based on the latest medical information citing the failure and success rates of condoms in preventing AIDS and other sexually transmitted diseases.

(4) Course material and instruction shall include a discussion of the possible emotional and psychological consequences of preadolescent and adolescent sexual intercourse outside of marriage and the consequences of unwanted adolescent pregnancy.

(5) Course material and instruction shall stress that pupils should abstain from sexual intercourse until they are ready for marriage.

(6) Course material and instruction shall teach honor and respect for monogamous heterosexual marriage.

(7) Course material and instruction shall advise pupils of the laws pertaining to their financial responsibility to children born in and out of wedlock.

(8) Advise pupils of the provisions of Section 1255.7 of the Health and Safety Code and Section 271.5 of the Penal Code, relating to parents and others who voluntarily surrender physical custody of a minor child 72 hours old or younger at a hospital emergency room or other designated location without being subject to prosecution for a violation of certain crimes such as child abandonment. In developing and providing this advice, school districts and public schools may adopt and use for this purpose appropriate information and materials developed by nonprofit organizations with experience in child abandonment. The advice required to be given under this paragraph shall apply only so long as both Section 1255.7 of the Health and Safety Code and Section 271.5 of the Penal Code are in effect.

(9) Course material and instruction shall advise pupils that it is unlawful for males or females of any age to have sexual intercourse with males or females under the age of 18 years to whom they are not married, pursuant to Section 261.5 of the Penal Code.

(10) Course material and instruction shall emphasize that the pupil has the power to control personal behavior. Pupils shall be encouraged to base their actions on reasoning, self-discipline, sense of responsibility, self-control, and ethical considerations, such as respect for oneself and others.

(11) Course material and instruction shall teach pupils to not make unwanted physical and verbal sexual advances, how to say ''no'' to unwanted sexual advances, and shall include information about sexual assault, verbal, physical, and visual, including, but not limited to, nonconsensual sexual advances, nonconsensual physical sexual contact, and rape by an acquaintance, commonly referred to as ''date rape.'' This course material and instruction shall contain methods of preventing sexual assault by an acquaintance, including exercising good judgment and avoiding behavior that impairs good judgment, and shall also encourage youth to resist negative peer pressure. This course material and instruction also shall inform pupils of the potential legal consequences of sexual assault by an acquaintance. Specifically, pupils shall be advised that it is unlawful to touch an intimate part of another person, as specified in subdivision (d) of Section 243.4 of the Penal Code.

[Approved by Governor September 29, 2002. Filed with Secretary of State September 29, 2002.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. It is the intent of the Legislature that, by granting classified service status to employees who serve in part-time playground positions and who also work in the same school district in a classified position, parents and guardians who volunteer in playground positions are not discouraged from volunteering.

SEC. 2. Section 45103 of the Education Code is amended to read:

45103. (a) The governing board of any school district shall employ persons for positions not requiring certification qualifications. The governing board shall, except where Article 6 (commencing with Section 45240) or Section 45318 applies, classify all of these employees and positions. The employees and positions shall be known as the classified service.

(b) (1) Substitute and short-term employees, employed and paid for less than 75 percent of a school year, shall not be a part of the classified service.

(2) Apprentices and professional experts employed on a temporary basis for a specific project, regardless of length of employment, shall not be a part of the classified service.

(3) Full-time students employed part time, and part-time students employed part time in any college workstudy program, or in a work experience education program conducted by a community college district pursuant to Article 7 (commencing with Section 51760) of Chapter 5 of Part 28 and that is financed by state or federal funds, shall not be a part of the classified service.

(4) Part-time playground positions shall not be a part of the classified service, where the employee is not otherwise employed in a classified position. Part-time playground positions shall be considered a part of the classified service when the employee in the position also works in the same school district in a classified position.

(c) As used in this section:

(1) ''Substitute employee'' means any person employed to replace any classified employee who is temporarily absent from duty. In addition, if the district is then engaged in a procedure to hire a permanent employee to fill a vacancy in any classified position, the governing board may fill the vacancy through the employment, for not more than 60 calendar days, of one or more substitute employees, except to the extent that a collective bargaining agreement then in effect provides for a different period of time.

(2) ''Short-term employee'' means any person who is employed to perform a service for the district, upon the completion of which, the service required or similar services will not be extended or needed on a continuing basis.

(3) ''Seventy-five percent of a school year'' means 195 working days, including holidays, sick leave, vacation and other leaves of absence, irrespective of number of hours worked per day.

(d) Employment of either full-time or part-time students in any college workstudy program, or in a work experience education program shall not result in the displacement of classified personnel or impair existing contracts for services.

(e) This section shall apply only to districts not incorporating the merit system as outlined in Article 6 (commencing with Section 45240).

SEC. 2.5. Section 45103 of the Education Code is amended to read:

45103. (a) The governing board of any school district shall employ persons for positions not requiring certification qualifications. The governing board shall, except where Article 6 (commencing with Section 45240) or Section 45318 applies, classify all of these employees and positions. The employees and positions shall be known as the classified service.

(b) (1) Substitute and short-term employees, employed and paid for less than 75 percent of a school year, shall not be a part of the classified service.

(2) Apprentices and professional experts employed on a temporary basis for a specific project, regardless of length of employment, shall not be a part of the classified service.

(3) Full-time students employed part time, and part-time students employed part time in any college workstudy program, or in a work experience education program conducted by a community college district pursuant to Article 7 (commencing with Section 51760) of Chapter 5 of Part 28 and that is financed by state or federal funds, shall not be a part of the classified service.

(4) Part-time playground positions shall not be a part of the classified service, where the employee is not otherwise employed in a classified position. Part-time playground positions shall be considered a part of the classified service when the employee in the position also works in the same school district in a classified position.

(c) Unless otherwise permitted, a person whose position does not require certification qualifications shall not be employed by a governing board, except as authorized by this section.

(d) As used in this section:

(1) ''Substitute employee'' means any person employed to replace any classified employee who is temporarily absent from duty. In addition, if the district is then engaged in a procedure to hire a permanent employee to fill a vacancy in any classified position, the governing board may fill the vacancy through the employment, for not more than 60 calendar days, of one or more substitute employees, except to the extent that a collective bargaining agreement then in effect provides for a different period of time.

(2) ''Short-term employee'' means any person who is employed to perform a service for the district, upon the completion of which, the service required or similar services will not be extended or needed on a continuing basis. Before employing a short-term employee, the governing board, at a regularly scheduled board meeting, shall specify the service required to be performed by the employee pursuant to the definition of ''classification'' in subdivision (a) of Section 45101, and shall certify the ending date of the service. The ending date may be shortened or extended by the governing board, but shall not extend beyond 75 percent of a school year.

(3) ''Seventy-five percent of a school year'' means 195 working days, including holidays, sick leave, vacation and other leaves of absence, irrespective of number of hours worked per day.

(e) Employment of either full-time or part-time students in any college workstudy program, or in a work experience education program shall not result in the displacement of classified personnel or impair existing contracts for services.

(f) This section shall apply only to districts not incorporating the merit system as outlined in Article 6 (commencing with Section 45240).

SEC. 3. Section 45256 of the Education Code is amended to read:

45256. (a) The commission shall classify all employees and positions within the jurisdiction of the governing board or of the commission, except those that are exempt from the classified service, as specified in subdivision (b). The employees and positions shall be known as the classified service. ''To classify'' shall include, but not be limited to, allocating positions to appropriate classes, arranging classes into occupational hierarchies, determining reasonable relationships within occupational hierarchies, and preparing written class specifications.

(6) Part-time playground positions, where the employee is not otherwise employed in a classified position. Part-time playground positions shall be considered part of the classified service when the employee in the position also works in the same school district in a classified position.

(c) (1) Employment of either full-time or part-time students in any college workstudy program, or in a work experience education program shall not result in the displacement of classified personnel or impair existing contracts for services.

(2) Nothing in this section shall prevent an employee, who has attained regular status in a full-time position, from taking a voluntary reduction in time and retaining his or her regular status under the provisions of this law.

(d) No person whose contribution consists solely in the rendition of individual personal services and whose employment does not come within the scope of the exceptions listed above shall be employed outside the classified service.

(e) A part-time position is one for which the assigned time, when computed on an hourly, daily, weekly, or monthly basis, is less than $87\frac{1}{2}$ percent of the normally assigned time of the majority of employees in the classified service.

SEC. 4. A school district shall not reduce the hours of, or terminate, as a result of the implementation of this act, a classified employee who was assigned to a part-time playground position.

SEC. 5. Section 2.5 of this bill incorporates amendments to Section 45103 of the Education Code proposed by both this bill and AB 500. It shall only become operative if (1) both bills are enacted and become effective on or before January 1, 2003, (2) each bill amends Section 45103 of the Education Code, and (3) this bill is enacted after AB 500, in which case Section 2 of this bill shall not become operative.

CHAPTER 1101

An act to add Section 1284.3 to the Code of Civil Procedure, relating to arbitration.

[Approved by Governor September 29, 2002. Filed with
Secretary of State September 29, 2002.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Section 1284.3 is added to the Code of Civil Procedure, to read:

1284.3. (a) No neutral arbitrator or private arbitration company shall administer a consumer arbitration under any agreement or rule requiring that a consumer who is a party to the arbitration pay the fees and costs incurred by an opposing party if the consumer does not prevail in the arbitration, including, but not limited to, the fees and costs of the arbitrator, provider organization, attorney, or witnesses.

(b) (1) All fees and costs charged to or assessed upon a consumer party by a private arbitration company in a consumer arbitration, exclusive of arbitrator fees, shall be waived for an indigent consumer. For the purposes of this section, ''indigent consumer'' means a person having a gross monthly income that is less than 300 percent of the federal poverty guidelines. Nothing in this section shall affect the ability of a private arbitration company to shift fees that would otherwise be charged or assessed upon a consumer party to a nonconsumer party.

(2) Prior to requesting or obtaining any fee, a private arbitration company shall provide written notice of the right to obtain a waiver of fees to a consumer or prospective consumer in a manner calculated to bring the matter to the attention of a reasonable consumer, including, but not limited to, prominently placing a notice in its first written communication to the consumer and in any invoice, bill, submission form, fee schedule, rules, or code of procedure.

(3) Any consumer requesting a waiver of fees or costs may establish his or her eligibility by making a declaration under oath on a form provided to the consumer by the private arbitration company for signature stating his or her monthly income and the number of persons living in his or her household. No private arbitration company may require a consumer to provide any further statement or evidence of indigence.

(4) Any information obtained by a private arbitration company about a consumer's identity, financial condition, income, wealth, or fee waiver request shall be kept confidential and may not be disclosed to any adverse party or any nonparty to the arbitration, except a private arbitration company may not keep confidential the number of waiver requests received or granted, or the total amount of fees waived.

(c) This section applies to all consumer arbitration agreements subject to this article, and to all consumer arbitration proceedings conducted in California.

CHAPTER 1102

An act to amend Section 11135 of the Government Code, to amend Sections 19050 and 19050.5 of, to add Section 19054 to, and to add Chapter 3 (commencing with Section 19095) to Part 1 of Division 10 of, the Welfare and Institutions Code, relating to human services.

[Approved by Governor September 29, 2002. Filed with Secretary of State September 29, 2002.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. (a) The Legislature finds and declares all of the following:

(1) Approximately 70 percent of employable blind and visually impaired individuals are unemployed.

(2) Due to the lack of employment, most of these individuals receive public assistance payments, as well as Medi-Cal and other public benefits, thereby costing the state millions of dollars in benefit payments and lost income tax revenue.

(3) It is the primary function of the Department of Rehabilitation to prepare and place persons with disabilities, including the blind and visually impaired, in meaningful jobs.

(4) The department needs to implement policy and procedural changes in order to improve its ability to increase the numbers of blind and visually impaired consumers placed in competitive employment.

(5) The blind and visually impaired have a long history of success with separate specialized training that takes into account their unique needs and the need to have experienced, trained staff, and contracting organizations.

(6) The establishment of a Division of Services for the Blind and Visually Impaired and the Deaf and Hard of Hearing in the Department of Rehabilitation will, through the focus of state and federal resources and without diverting resources that would otherwise be used to assist those with other disabilities, dramatically improve employment-related services provided to persons who are blind or visually impaired or deaf or hard of hearing.

(7) The purpose of the establishment of a Division of Services for the Blind and Visually Impaired and the Deaf and Hard of Hearing in the department is to streamline, and make more efficient and effective, the department's delivery of services to Californians who are blind or visually impaired, and that this streamlined organization of those services into a single division within the department will result in no greater than minor, absorbable costs, if any.

(b) It is, therefore, the intent of the Legislature to establish a Division of Services for the Blind and Visually Impaired and the Deaf and Hard of Hearing to improve the lives of blind and visually impaired and deaf and hard of hearing persons.

SEC. 2. Section 11135 of the Government Code is amended to read:

11135. (a) No person in the State of California shall, on the basis of ethnic group identification, religion, age, sex, color, or disability, be unlawfully denied full and equal access to the benefits of, or be unlawfully subjected to discrimination under, any program or activity that is conducted, operated, or administered by the state or by any state agency, is funded directly by the state, or receives any financial assistance from the state.

(b) With respect to discrimination on the basis of disability, programs and activities subject to subdivision (a) shall meet the protections and prohibitions contained in Section 202 of the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (42 U.S.C. Sec. 12132), and the federal rules and regulations adopted in implementation thereof, except that if the laws of this state prescribe stronger protections and prohibitions, the programs and activities subject to subdivision (a) shall be subject to the stronger protections and prohibitions.

(c) As used in this section, ''disability'' means any mental or physical disability as defined in Section 12926.

(d) (1) The Legislature finds and declares that the ability to utilize electronic or information technology is often an essential function for successful employment in the current work world.

(2) In order to improve accessibility of existing technology, and therefore increase the successful employment of individuals with disabilities, particularly blind and visually impaired and deaf and hard-of-hearing persons, state governmental entities, in developing, procuring, maintaining, or using electronic or information technology, either indirectly or through the use of state funds by other entities, shall comply with the accessibility requirements of Section 508 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, as amended (29 U.S.C. Sec. 794d), and regulations implementing that act as set forth in Part 1194 of Title 36 of the Federal Code of Regulations.

(3) Any entity that contracts with a state or local entity subject to this section for the provision of electronic or information technology or for the provision of related services shall agree to respond to, and resolve any complaint regarding accessibility of its products or services that is brought to the attention of the entity.

SEC. 2.5. Section 11135 of the Government Code is amended to read:

11135. (a) No person in the State of California shall, on the basis of race, national origin, ethnic group identification, religion, age, sex, color, or disability, be unlawfully denied full and equal access to the benefits of, or be unlawfully subjected to discrimination under, any program or activity that is conducted, operated, or administered by the state or by any state agency, is funded directly by the state, or receives any financial assistance from the state.

(b) With respect to discrimination on the basis of disability, programs and activities subject to subdivision (a) shall meet the protections and prohibitions contained in Section 202 of the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (42 U.S.C. Sec. 12132), and the federal rules and regulations adopted in implementation thereof, except that if the laws of this state prescribe stronger protections and prohibitions, the programs and activities subject to subdivision (a) shall be subject to the stronger protections and prohibitions.

(c) As used in this section, ''disability'' means any mental or physical disability as defined in Section 12926.

(d) (1) The Legislature finds and declares that the ability to utilize electronic or information technology is often an essential function for successful employment in the current work world.

(2) In order to improve accessibility of existing technology, and therefore increase the successful employment of individuals with disabilities, particularly blind and visually impaired and deaf and hard-of-hearing persons, state governmental entities, in developing, procuring, maintaining, or using electronic or information technology, either indirectly or through the use of state funds by other entities, shall comply with the accessibility requirements of Section 508 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, as amended (29 U.S.C. Sec. 794d), and regulations implementing that act as set forth in Part 1194 of Title 36 of the Federal Code of Regulations.

(3) Any entity that contracts with a state or local entity subject to this section for the provision of electronic or information technology or for the provision of related services shall agree to respond to, and resolve any complaint regarding accessibility of its products or services that is brought to the attention of the entity.

SEC. 3. Section 19050 of the Welfare and Institutions Code is amended to read:

19050. There is in the department a program manager for the blind and visually impaired and a program manager for the deaf and hard of hearing. The program managers shall, as determined by the director, report to the deputy director of the division established pursuant to Section 19095, and shall assist in the development and coordination of policy with respect to programs for persons who are blind and visually impaired and persons who are deaf and hard of hearing.

SEC. 4. Section 19050.5 of the Welfare and Institutions Code is amended to read:

19050.5. The program manager for the blind and visually impaired programs and the program manager for the deaf and hard-of-hearing programs shall have demonstrated experience and sensitivity in working with these disabilities.

SEC. 5. Section 19054 is added to the Welfare and Institutions Code, to read:

19054. The director shall appoint a Deaf Advisory Committee to advise the director on means to increase employment, enlarge economic opportunities, enhance independence and self-sufficiency, and otherwise improve services to persons who are deaf or hard of hearing. A majority of the committee members shall be deaf or hard of hearing, and other members shall have experience relating to services to the deaf or hard of hearing. The committee shall develop, in conjunction with stakeholders, an annual work plan to identify and address areas for improvement in services provided by the department to persons who are deaf or hard of hearing.

SEC. 6. Chapter 3 (commencing with Section 19095) is added to Part 1 of Division 10 of the Welfare and Institutions Code, to read:

CHAPTER 1104

An act to amend Section 30353 of the Public Resources Code, relating to local coastal programs.

[Approved by Governor September 29, 2002. Filed with Secretary of State September 29, 2002.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Section 30353 of the Public Resources Code is amended to read:

30353. Payment for costs claimed pursuant to this article shall be made only for costs which, but for the operation of a certified local coastal program, would not have been incurred by the claimant local government and if the following criteria are met:

(a) Costs for establishing a regulatory program to implement a certified local coastal program, including costs for the preparation and printing of public information materials, application forms, establishing new procedures, and staff training are payable. The costs specified in this subdivision include initial startup costs incurred over a period not to exceed one year from the date a certified local coastal program has been adopted for implementation by the appropriate local government.

(b) A fixed payment not to exceed ten dollars ($10) per permit application for any development subject to a certified local coastal program may be claimed and paid. The payment specified in this subdivision is intended to cover general costs, including costs for public notice, notice and submittal of files to the commission, and appearances before the commission.

(c) Other costs of processing and reviewing coastal development permits pursuant to a certified local coastal program shall normally not be eligible for reimbursement because these types of activities should either be incorporated within the routine regulatory process of the local government or, at the discretion of the local government, be paid for from reasonable permit fees. A local government may, however, request payment for increased regulatory costs if it can show that either or both of the following special circumstances apply within its jurisdiction:

(1) In jurisdictions with a population of less than 10,000, the existing regulatory program of the local government is not capable of processing and reviewing additional coastal development permits pursuant to a certified local coastal program and where the increased costs could not reasonably be expected to be covered by permit fees.

(2) The regulatory program included in a certified local coastal program requires the discharge of resource management functions that exceed the level of regulatory review normally required or undertaken by the local government.

(d) Costs for enforcement of regulatory requirements that are directly related to local coastal program implementation, such as ensuring compliance with coastal development permit terms and conditions, are payable, if the enforcement activities are not of a type routinely undertaken or of a type required by law as part of the affected local government's normal regulatory responsibilities.

(e) Litigation costs which, but for the operation of a certified local coastal program, would not have been incurred may be paid. Where an action is brought against a local government and the action states as a principal cause of action the operation of the local government's local coastal program and the local government prevails in the action, litigation costs may be paid to the extent the costs are not assessed against the party bringing the action. Where the local government loses the action primarily on grounds it has failed to properly carry out its certified local coastal program, litigation costs shall not be paid. In accordance with procedures established by the executive director of the commission in consultation with the Attorney General, litigation costs may be paid prior to the rendering of a final judgment in the action, if the Attorney General has intervened in the action in support of the local government's position, the amount paid does not exceed five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000), and the amount paid is equal to or greater than 5 percent of the local government's general revenues as published in the most recent version of ''Cities Annual Report'' by the Controller. The local government shall reimburse the state from any costs recovered after a final judgment is rendered in the action.

(f) If additional planning is required by the commission as a condition of its certification of any local coastal program, costs for the additional planning are payable.

An act to amend Section 1417.9 of, and to add Sections 1054.9 and 1473.6 to, the Penal Code, relating to criminal procedure.

[Approved by Governor September 29, 2002. Filed with Secretary of State September 29, 2002.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Section 1054.9 is added to the Penal Code, to read:

1054.9. (a) Upon the prosecution of a postconviction writ of habeas corpus or a motion to vacate a judgment in a case in which a sentence of death or of life in prison without the possibility of parole has been imposed, and on a showing that good faith efforts to obtain discovery materials from trial counsel were made and were unsuccessful, the court shall, except as provided in subdivision (c), order that the defendant be provided reasonable access to any of the materials described in subdivision (b).

(b) For purposes of this section, ''discovery materials'' means materials in the possession of the prosecution and law enforcement authorities to which the same defendant would have been entitled at time of trial.

(c) In response to a writ or motion satisfying the conditions in subdivision (a), court may order that the defendant be provided access to physical evidence for the purpose of examination, including, but not limited to, any physical evidence relating to the investigation, arrest, and prosecution of the defendant only upon a showing that there is good cause to believe that access to physical evidence is reasonably necessary to the defendant's effort to obtain relief. The procedures for obtaining access to physical evidence for purposes of postconviction DNA testing are provided in Section 1405, and nothing in this section shall provide an alternative means of access to physical evidence for those purposes.

(d) The actual costs of examination or copying pursuant to this section shall be borne or reimbursed by the defendant.

SEC. 2. Section 1417.9 of the Penal Code is amended to read:

1417.9. (a) Notwithstanding any other provision of law and subject to subdivision (b), the appropriate governmental entity shall retain all biological material that is secured in connection with a criminal case for the period of time that any person remains incarcerated in connection with that case. The governmental entity shall have the discretion to determine how the evidence is retained pursuant to this section, provided that the evidence is retained in a condition suitable for deoxyribonucleic acid (DNA) testing.

(b) A governmental entity may dispose of biological material before the expiration of the period of time described in subdivision (a) if all of the conditions set forth below are met:

(1) The governmental entity notifies all of the following persons of the provisions of this section and of the intention of the governmental entity to dispose of the material: any person, who as a result of a felony conviction in the case is currently serving a term of imprisonment and who remains incarcerated in connection with the case, any counsel of record, the public defender in the county of conviction, the district attorney in the county of conviction, and the Attorney General.

(2) The notifying entity does not receive, within 90 days of sending the notification, any of the following:

(A) A motion filed pursuant to Section 1405. However, upon filing of that motion, the governmental entity shall retain the material only until the time that the court's denial of the motion is final.

(B) A request under penalty of perjury that the material not be destroyed or disposed of because the declarant will file within 180 days a motion for DNA testing pursuant to Section 1405 that is followed within 180 days by a motion for DNA testing pursuant to Section 1405, unless a request for an extension is requested by the convicted person and agreed to by the governmental entity in possession of the evidence.

(C) A declaration of innocence under penalty of perjury that has been filed with the court within 180 days of the judgment of conviction or July

1, 2001, whichever is later. However, the court shall permit the destruction of the evidence upon a showing that the declaration is false or there is no issue of identity that would be affected by additional testing. The convicted person may be cross-examined on the declaration at any hearing conducted under this section or on an application by or on behalf of the convicted person filed pursuant to Section 1405.

(3) No other provision of law requires that biological evidence be preserved or retained.

(c) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the right to receive notice pursuant to this section is absolute and shall not be waived. This prohibition applies to, but is not limited to, a waiver that is given as part of an agreement resulting in a plea of guilty or nolo contendre.

SEC. 3. Section 1473.6 is added to the Penal Code, to read:

1473.6. (a) Any person no longer unlawfully imprisoned or restrained may prosecute a motion to vacate a judgment for any of the following reasons:

(1) Newly discovered evidence of fraud by a government official that completely undermines the prosecution's case, is conclusive, and points unerringly to his or her innocence.

(2) Newly discovered evidence that a government official testified falsely at the trial that resulted in the conviction and that the testimony of the government official was substantially probative on the issue of guilt or punishment.

(3) Newly discovered evidence of misconduct by a government official committed in the underlying case that resulted in fabrication of evidence that was substantially material and probative on the issue of guilt or punishment. Evidence of misconduct in other cases is not sufficient to warrant relief under this paragraph.

(b) For purposes of this section, ''newly discovered evidence'' is evidence that could not have been discovered with reasonable diligence prior to judgment.

(c) The procedure for bringing and adjudicating a motion under this section, including the burden of producing evidence and the burden of proof, shall be the same as for prosecuting a writ of habeas corpus.

(d) A motion pursuant to this section must be filed within one year of the later of the following:

(1) The date the moving party discovered, or could have discovered with the exercise of due diligence, additional evidence of the misconduct or fraud by a government official beyond the moving party's personal knowledge.

(2) The effective date of this section.

SEC. 4. Notwithstanding Section 17610 of the Government Code, if the Commission on State Mandates determines that this act contains costs mandated by the state, reimbursement to local agencies and school districts for those costs shall be made pursuant to Part 7 (commencing with Section 17500) of Division 4 of Title 2 of the Government Code. If the statewide cost of the claim for reimbursement does not exceed one million dollars ($1,000,000), reimbursement shall be made from the State Mandates Claims Fund.

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Article 6.3 (commencing with Section 8592.9) is added to Chapter 7 of Division 1 of Title 2 of the Government Code, to read:

Article 6.3. Public Safety Communications Equipment

8592.9. (a) Of the funds received from the federal government for homeland security and appropriated in the Budget Act of 2002, not more than fifteen million dollars ($15,000,000) may be allocated to the security advisor to the Governor for disbursement to state and local government public safety agencies to procure and operate radio equipment that will provide interoperability among state, local, and federal public radio systems. This interoperable radio equipment shall meet the public safety digital communications standards in Suite 102 of the American National Standards Institute and the Telecommunications Information Association.

(b) Each state and local government public safety agency that receives funds pursuant to this section shall report to the Legislature on its progress in implementing this section by January 1 of each year, beginning in 2004, and until all of the funds disbursed pursuant to this section have been expended.

(c) This section shall not be construed to preempt or supercede the development and implementation of public radio communications systems by local governments.

SEC. 2. Section 12305 of the Penal Code is amended to read:

12305. (a) Every dealer, manufacturer, importer, and exporter of any destructive device, or any motion picture or television studio using destructive devices in the conduct of its business, shall obtain a permit for the conduct of that business from the Department of Justice.

(b) Any person, firm, or corporation not mentioned in subdivision (a) shall obtain a permit from the Department of Justice in order to possess or transport any destructive device. No permit shall be issued to any person who meets any of the following criteria:

(d) Applications and permits shall be uniform throughout the state on forms prescribed by the Department of Justice.

(e) Each applicant for a permit shall pay at the time of filing his or her application a fee not to exceed the application processing costs of the Department of Justice. A permit granted pursuant to this article may be renewed one year from the date of issuance, and annually thereafter, upon the filing of a renewal application and the payment of a permit renewal fee not to exceed the application processing costs of the Department of Justice. After the department establishes fees sufficient in amount to cover processing costs, the amount of the fees shall only increase at a rate not to exceed the legislatively approved cost-of-living adjustment for the department.

(f) Except as provided in subdivision (g), the Department of Justice shall, for every person, firm, or corporation to whom a permit is issued pursuant to this article, annually conduct an inspection for security and safe storage purposes, and to reconcile the inventory of destructive devices.

(g) A person, firm, or corporation with an inventory of fewer than five devices that require any Department of Justice permit shall be subject to an inspection for security and safe storage purposes, and to reconcile inventory, once every five years, or more frequently if determined by the department.

(h) Subdivisions (f) and (g) shall not apply to individuals possessing an assault weapon pursuant to a permit issued by the Department of Justice for noncommercial purposes.

SEC. 3. Section 7 of Assembly Bill 2580 is amended to read:

SEC. 7. The Department of Justice shall establish a schedule of fees to cover the costs of the inspection duties imposed on the department by this act. The fees shall be equitable and shall not exceed the costs of providing the required inspections. The duties imposed on the department by this act are to be funded through inspection fees and, as may be necessary, until January 1, 2006, from the Dealers' Record of Sale Special Account, unless a later enacted statute, that becomes operative on or before January 1, 2006, deletes or extends that date.

SEC. 4. Sections 2 and 3 of this act shall only become operative if Assembly Bill 2580 is enacted and becomes effective on or before January 1, 2003, and this act is enacted after Assembly Bill 2580.

(b) The legal or beneficial title to all or substantially all of the company's assets is vested in the district on or before January 1, 2008.

(c) For the one-year period immediately prior to commencement of the transfer and continuing until the transfer is completed, 85 percent or more of the company's income consists of amounts collected from stockholders for the sole purpose of meeting losses and expenses.

65041.1. The state planning priorities, which are intended to promote equity, strengthen the economy, protect the environment, and promote public health and safety in the state, including in urban, suburban, and rural communities, shall be as follows:

(a) To promote infill development and equity by rehabilitating, maintaining, and improving existing infrastructure that supports infill development and appropriate reuse and redevelopment of previously developed, underutilized land that is presently served by transit, streets, water, sewer, and other essential services, particularly in underserved areas, and to preserving cultural and historic resources.

(b) To protect environmental and agricultural resources by protecting, preserving, and enhancing the state's most valuable natural resources, including working landscapes such as farm, range, and forest lands, natural lands such as wetlands, watersheds, wildlife habitats, and other wildlands, recreation lands such as parks, trails, greenbelts, and other open space, and landscapes with locally unique features and areas identified by the state as deserving special protection.

(c) To encourage efficient development patterns by ensuring that any infrastructure associated with development, other than infill development, supports new development that does all of the following:

(1) Uses land efficiently.

(2) Is built adjacent to existing developed areas to the extent consistent with the priorities specified pursuant to subdivision (b).

(3) Is located in an area appropriately planned for growth.

(4) Is served by adequate transportation and other essential utilities and services.

SEC. 1.5. Section 66418.2 of the Government Code is amended to read:

66418.2. (a) ''Environmental subdivision'' means a subdivision of land pursuant to this division for biotic and wildlife purposes that meets all of the conditions specified in subdivision (b).

(b) Prior to approving or conditionally approving an environmental subdivision, the local agency shall find each of the following:

(1) That factual biotic or wildlife data, or both, are or will be available to the local agency approving the environmental subdivision to support the application for approval.

(2) That provisions have been made for the perpetual maintenance of the property as a biotic or wildlife habitat, or both, in accordance with the conditions specified by any local, state, or federal agency requiring mitigation.

(3) That an easement will be recorded in the county in which the land is located to ensure compliance with the conditions specified by any local, state, or federal agency requiring the mitigation. The easement shall contain a covenant with a county, city, or nonprofit organization running with the land in perpetuity, that the landowner shall not construct or permit the construction of improvements except those for which the right is expressly reserved in the instrument. This reservation shall not be inconsistent with the purposes of this section and shall not be incompatible with maintaining and preserving the biotic or wildlife character, or both, of the land.

(4) The real property is at least 20 acres in size, or it is less than 20 acres in size, but is contiguous to other land that would also qualify as an environmental subdivision and the total combined acreage would be 20 acres or more.

(c) Notwithstanding subdivision (a) of Section 66411.1, any improvement, dedication, or design required by the local agency as a condition of approval of an environmental subdivision shall be solely for the purposes of ensuring compliance with the conditions required by the local, state, or federal agency requiring the mitigation.

(d) After recordation of an environmental subdivision, a subdivider may only abandon an environmental subdivision by reversion to acreage pursuant to Chapter 6 (commencing with Section 66499.11) if the local agency finds that all of the following conditions exist:

(1) None of the parcels created by the environmental subdivision has been sold or exchanged.

(2) None of the parcels is being used, set aside, or required for mitigation purposes pursuant to this section.

(3) Upon abandonment and reversion to acreage pursuant to this subdivision, the easement for biotic and wildlife purposes is extinguished.

(e) If the environmental subdivision is abandoned and reverts to acreage pursuant to subdivision (d), all local, state, and federal requirements shall apply.

(f) This section shall apply only upon the written request of the landowner at the time the land is divided. This section is not intended to limit or preclude subdivision by other lawful means for the mitigation of impacts to the environment, or of the land devoted to these purposes, or to require the division of land for these purposes.

(g) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, no legislative body shall approve or conditionally approve a subdivision pursuant to this section on or after January 1, 2005.

SEC. 2. Section 66478.4 of the Government Code is amended to read:

66478.4. (a) No local agency shall approve either a tentative or a final map of any proposed subdivision to be fronted upon a public waterway, river, or stream which does not provide, or have available, reasonable public access by fee or easement from a public highway to that portion of the bank of the river or stream bordering or lying within the proposed subdivision.

(b) Reasonable public access shall be determined by the local agency in which the proposed subdivision is to be located. In making the determination of what shall be reasonable access, the local agency shall consider all of the following:

(1) That access may be by highway, foot trail, bike trail, horse trail, or any other means of travel.

(2) The size of the subdivision.

(3) The type of riverbank and the various appropriate recreational, educational, and scientific uses, including, but not limited to, swimming, diving, boating, fishing, water skiing, scientific collection, and teaching.

(c) A public waterway, river, or stream for the purposes of Sections 66477.2, 66478.4, 66478.5 and 66478.6 means those waterways, rivers and streams defined in Sections 100 through 106 of the Harbors and Navigation Code, any stream declared to be a public highway for fishing pursuant to Sections 25660 through 25662 of the Government Code, the rivers listed in Section 1505 of the Fish and Game Code as spawning areas, all waterways, rivers and streams downstream from any state or federal salmon or steelhead fish hatcheries.

SEC. 3. Section 66478.5 of the Government Code is amended to read:

66478.5. (a) No local agency shall approve either a tentative or a final map of any proposed subdivision to be fronted upon a public waterway, river, or stream which does not provide for a dedication of a public easement along a portion of the bank of the river or stream bordering or lying within the proposed subdivision.

(b) The extent, width and character of the public easement shall be reasonably defined to achieve reasonable public use of the public waterway, river, or stream consistent with public safety. The reasonableness and extent of the easement shall be determined by the local agency in which the proposed subdivision is to be located. In making the determination for reasonably defining the extent, width, and character of the public easement, the local agency shall consider all of the following:

(1) That the easement may be for a foot trail, bicycle trail, or horse trail.

(2) The size of the subdivision.

(3) The type of riverbank and the various appropriate recreational, educational and scientific uses including, but not limited to, swimming, diving, boating, fishing, water skiing, scientific collection and teaching.

SEC. 5. Section 66478.8 of the Government Code is amended to read:

66478.8. Nothing in Sections 66478.1 to 66478.10, inclusive, of this article shall require a local agency to disapprove either a tentative or final map solely on the basis that the reasonable public access otherwise required by this article is not provided through or across the subdivision itself, if the local agency makes a finding that the reasonable public access is otherwise available within a reasonable distance from the subdivision and identifies the location of the reasonable public access.

The finding shall be set forth on the face of the tentative or final map.

SEC. 6. Section 66478.11 of the Government Code is amended to read:

66478.11. (a) No local agency shall approve either the tentative or the final map of any subdivision fronting upon the coastline or shoreline which subdivision does not provide or have available reasonable public access by fee or easement from public highways to land below the ordinary high water mark on any ocean coastline or bay shoreline within or at a reasonable distance from the subdivision.

Any public access route or routes provided by the subdivider shall be expressly designated on the tentative or final map, and the map shall expressly designate the governmental entity to which the route or routes are dedicated.

(b) Reasonable public access, as used in subdivision (a), shall be determined by the local agency in which the subdivision lies.

(c) In making the determination of what shall be reasonable public access, the local agency shall consider:

(2) The size of the subdivision.

(3) The type of coastline or shoreline and the various appropriate recreational, educational, and scientific uses, including, but not limited to, diving, sunbathing, surfing, walking, swimming, fishing, beachcombing, taking of shellfish and scientific exploration.

(4) The likelihood of trespass on private property and reasonable means of avoiding the trespass.

(d) Nothing in this section shall require a local agency to disapprove either a tentative or final map solely on the basis that the reasonable public access otherwise required by this section is not provided through or across the subdivision itself, if the local agency makes a finding that the reasonable public access is otherwise available within a reasonable distance from the subdivision and identifies the location of the reasonable public access.

The finding shall be set forth on the face of the tentative or final map.

(e) The provisions of this section shall not apply to the final map of any subdivision the tentative map of which has been approved by a local agency prior to the effective date of this section.

(f) The provisions of this section shall not apply to the final or tentative map of any subdivision which is in compliance with the plan of any planned development or any planned community which has been approved by a local agency prior to December 31, 1968. The exclusion provided by this subdivision shall be in addition to the exclusion provided by subdivision (e).

(g) Nothing in this section shall be construed as requiring the subdivider to improve any access route or routes which are primarily for the benefit of nonresidents of the subdivision area.

(h) Any access route or routes provided by the subdivider pursuant to this section may be conveyed or transferred to any state or local agency by the governmental entity to which the route or routes have been dedicated, at any future time, by mutual consent of such governmental entity and the particular state or local agency. The conveyance or transfer shall be recorded by the recipient state or local agency in the office of the county recorder of the county in which the route or routes are located.

Any public access route or routes provided by the subdivider shall be expressly designated on the tentative or final map, and the map shall expressly designate the governmental entity to which the route or routes are dedicated and its acceptance of the dedication.

(b) Reasonable access, as used in subdivision (a), shall be determined by the local agency in which the subdivision lies.

(c) In making the determination of what shall be reasonable access, the local agency shall consider:

(1) That access may be by highway, foot trail, bike trail, horse trail, or any other means of travel.

(2) The size of the subdivision.

(3) The type of shoreline and the various appropriate recreational, educational, and scientific uses, including, but not limited to, swimming, diving, boating, fishing, water skiing, scientific exploration, and teaching.

(4) The likelihood of trespass on private property and reasonable means of avoiding the trespasses.

(d) Nothing in this section shall require a local agency to disapprove either a tentative or final map solely on the basis that the reasonable access otherwise required by this section is not provided through or across the subdivision itself, if the local agency makes a finding that the reasonable access is otherwise available within a reasonable distance from the subdivision and identifies the location of the reasonable public access.

The finding shall be set forth on the face of the tentative or final map.

(e) The provisions of this section shall not apply to the final map of any subdivision the tentative map of which has been approved by a local agency prior to the effective date of this section.

(f) Any access route or routes provided by the subdivider pursuant to this section may be conveyed or transferred to any state or local agency by the governmental entity to which the route or routes have been dedicated, at any future time, by mutual consent of the governmental entity and the particular state or local agency. The conveyance or transfer shall be recorded by the recipient state or local agency in the office of the county recorder of the county in which the route or routes are located.

a local agency shall determine, whether the real property complies with the provisions of this division and of local ordinances enacted pursuant to this division. If a local agency determines that the real property complies, the city or the county shall cause a certificate of compliance to be filed for record with the recorder of the county in which the real property is located. The certificate of compliance shall identify the real property and shall state that the division of the real property complies with applicable provisions of this division and of local ordinances enacted pursuant to this division. The local agency may impose a reasonable fee to cover the cost of issuing and recording the certificate of compliance.

(b) If a local agency determines that the real property does not comply with the provisions of this division or of local ordinances enacted pursuant to this division, it shall issue a conditional certificate of compliance. A local agency may, as a condition to granting a conditional certificate of compliance, impose any conditions that would have been applicable to the division of the property at the time the applicant acquired his or her interest therein, and that had been established at that time by this division or local ordinance enacted pursuant to this division, except that where the applicant was the owner of record at the time of the initial violation of the provisions of this division or of the local ordinances who by a grant of the real property created a parcel or parcels in violation of this division or local ordinances enacted pursuant to this division, and the person is the current owner of record of one or more of the parcels which were created as a result of the grant in violation of this division or those local ordinances, then the local agency may impose any conditions that would be applicable to a current division of the property. Upon making the determination and establishing the conditions, the city or county shall cause a conditional certificate of compliance to be filed for record with the recorder of the county in which the real property is located. The certificate shall serve as notice to the property owner or vendee who has applied for the certificate pursuant to this section, a grantee of the property owner, or any subsequent transferee or assignee of the property that the fulfillment and implementation of these conditions shall be required prior to subsequent issuance of a permit or other grant of approval for development of the property.

Compliance with these conditions shall not be required until the time that a permit or other grant of approval for development of the property is issued by the local agency.

(c) A certificate of compliance shall be issued for any real property that has been approved for development pursuant to Section 66499.34.

(d) A recorded final map, parcel map, official map, or an approved certificate of exception shall constitute a certificate of compliance with respect to the parcels of real property described therein.

(e) An official map prepared pursuant to subdivision (b) of Section 66499.52 shall constitute a certificate of compliance with respect to the parcels of real property described therein and may be filed for record, whether or not the parcels are contiguous, so long as the parcels are within the same section or, with the approval of the city engineer or county surveyor, within contiguous sections of land.

(f) (1) Each certificate of compliance or conditional certificate of compliance shall include information the local agency deems necessary, including, but not limited to, all of the following:

(A) Name or names of owners of the parcel.

(B) Assessor parcel number or numbers of the parcel.

(C) The number of parcels for which the certificate of compliance or conditional certificate of compliance is being issued and recorded.

(D) Legal description of the parcel or parcels for which the certificate of compliance or conditional certificate of compliance is being issued and recorded.

(E) A notice stating as follows:

This certificate relates only to issues of compliance or noncompliance with the Subdivision Map Act and local ordinances enacted pursuant thereto. The parcel described herein may be sold, leased, or financed without further compliance with the Subdivision Map Act or any local ordinance enacted pursuant thereto. Development of the parcel may require issuance of a permit or permits, or other grant or grants of approval.

(F) Any conditions to be fulfilled and implemented prior to subsequent issuance of a permit or other grant of approval for development of the property, as specified in the conditional certificate of compliance.

(2) Local agencies may process applications for certificates of compliance or conditional certificates of compliance concurrently and may record a single certificate of compliance or a single conditional certificate of compliance for multiple parcels. Where a single certificate of compliance or conditional certificate of compliance is certifying multiple parcels, each as to compliance with the provisions of this division and with local ordinances enacted pursuant thereto, the single certificate of compliance or conditional certificate of compliance shall clearly identify, and distinguish between, the descriptions of each parcel.

An act to amend Sections 1351, 1363.05, 1366, 1366.3, 1367, and 1368 of, and to add Sections 1361.5, 1365.1, and 1367.1 to, the Civil Code, relating to common interest developments.

[Approved by Governor September 29, 2002. Filed with Secretary of State September 29, 2002.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Section 1351 of the Civil Code is amended to read:

1351. As used in this title, the following terms have the following meanings:

(a) ''Association'' means a nonprofit corporation or unincorporated association created for the purpose of managing a common interest development.

(b) ''Common area'' means the entire common interest development except the separate interests therein. The estate in the common area may be a fee, a life estate, an estate for years, or any combination of the foregoing. However, the common area for a planned development specified in paragraph (2) of subdivision (k) may consist of mutual or reciprocal easement rights appurtenant to the separate interests.

(c) ''Common interest development'' means any of the following:

(1) A community apartment project.

(2) A condominium project.

(3) A planned development.

(4) A stock cooperative.

(d) ''Community apartment project'' means a development in which an undivided interest in land is coupled with the right of exclusive occupancy of any apartment located thereon.

(e) ''Condominium plan'' means a plan consisting of (1) a description or survey map of a condominium project, which shall refer to or show monumentation on the ground, (2) a three-dimensional description of a condominium project, one or more dimensions of which may extend for an indefinite distance upwards or downwards, in sufficient detail to identify the common areas and each separate interest, and (3) a certificate consenting to the recordation of the condominium plan pursuant to this title signed and acknowledged by the following:

(A) The record owner of fee title to that property included in the condominium project.

(B) In the case of a condominium project which will terminate upon the termination of an estate for years, the certificate shall be signed and acknowledged by all lessors and lessees of the estate for years.

(C) In the case of a condominium project subject to a life estate, the certificate shall be signed and acknowledged by all life tenants and remainder interests.

(D) The certificate shall also be signed and acknowledged by either the trustee or the beneficiary of each recorded deed of trust, and the mortgagee of each recorded mortgage encumbering the property.

Owners of mineral rights, easements, rights-of-way, and other nonpossessory interests do not need to sign the condominium plan. Further, in the event a conversion to condominiums of a community apartment project or stock cooperative has been approved by the required number of owners, trustees, beneficiaries, and mortgagees pursuant to Section 66452.10 of the Government Code, the certificate need only be signed by those owners, trustees, beneficiaries, and mortgagees approving the conversion.

A condominium plan may be amended or revoked by a subsequently acknowledged recorded instrument executed by all the persons whose signatures would be required pursuant to this subdivision.

(f) A ''condominium project'' means a development consisting of condominiums. A condominium consists of an undivided interest in common in a portion of real property coupled with a separate interest in space called a unit, the boundaries of which are described on a recorded final map, parcel map, or condominium plan in sufficient detail to locate all boundaries thereof. The area within these boundaries may be filled with air, earth, or water, or any combination thereof, and need not be physically attached to land except by easements for access and, if necessary, support. The description of the unit may refer to (1) boundaries described in the recorded final map, parcel map, or condominium plan, (2) physical boundaries, either in existence, or to be constructed, such as walls, floors, and ceilings of a structure or any portion thereof, (3) an entire structure containing one or more units, or (4) any combination thereof. The portion or portions of the real property held in undivided interest may be all of the real property, except for the separate interests, or may include a particular three-dimensional portion thereof, the boundaries of which are described on a recorded final map, parcel map, or condominium plan. The area within these boundaries may be filled with air, earth, or water, or any combination thereof, and need not be physically attached to land except by easements for access and, if necessary, support. An individual condominium within a condominium project may include, in addition, a separate interest in other portions of the real property.

(g) ''Declarant'' means the person or group of persons designated in the declaration as declarant, or if no declarant is designated, the person or group of persons who sign the original declaration or who succeed to special rights, preferences, or privileges designated in the declaration as belonging to the signator of the original declaration.

(h) ''Declaration'' means the document, however denominated, which contains the information required by Section 1353.

(i) ''Exclusive use common area'' means a portion of the common areas designated by the declaration for the exclusive use of one or more, but fewer than all, of the owners of the separate interests and which is or will be appurtenant to the separate interest or interests.

(1) Unless the declaration otherwise provides, any shutters, awnings, window boxes, doorsteps, stoops, porches, balconies, patios, exterior doors, doorframes, and hardware incident thereto, screens and windows or other fixtures designed to serve a single separate interest, but located outside the boundaries of the separate interest, are exclusive use common areas allocated exclusively to that separate interest.

(2) Notwithstanding the provisions of the declaration, internal and external telephone wiring designed to serve a single separate interest, but located outside the boundaries of the separate interest, are exclusive use common areas allocated exclusively to that separate interest.

(j) ''Governing documents'' means the declaration and any other documents, such as bylaws, operating rules of the association, articles of incorporation, or articles of association, which govern the operation of the common interest development or association.

(k) ''Planned development'' means a development (other than a community apartment project, a condominium project, or a stock cooperative) having either or both of the following features:

(1) The common area is owned either by an association or in common by the owners of the separate interests who possess appurtenant rights to the beneficial use and enjoyment of the common area.

(2) A power exists in the association to enforce an obligation of an owner of a separate interest with respect to the beneficial use and enjoyment of the common area by means of an assessment which may become a lien upon the separate interests in accordance with Section 1367 or 1367.1.

(l) ''Separate interest'' has the following meanings:

(1) In a community apartment project, ''separate interest'' means the exclusive right to occupy an apartment, as specified in subdivision (d).

(2) In a condominium project, ''separate interest'' means an individual unit, as specified in subdivision (f).

(3) In a planned development, ''separate interest'' means a separately owned lot, parcel, area, or space.

(4) In a stock cooperative, ''separate interest'' means the exclusive right to occupy a portion of the real property, as specified in subdivision (m).

Unless the declaration or condominium plan, if any exists, otherwise provides, if walls, floors, or ceilings are designated as boundaries of a separate interest, the interior surfaces of the perimeter walls, floors, ceilings, windows, doors, and outlets located within the separate interest are part of the separate interest and any other portions of the walls, floors, or ceilings are part of the common areas.

The estate in a separate interest may be a fee, a life estate, an estate for years, or any combination of the foregoing.

(m) ''Stock cooperative'' means a development in which a corporation is formed or availed of, primarily for the purpose of holding title to, either in fee simple or for a term of years, improved real property, and all or substantially all of the shareholders of the corporation receive a right of exclusive occupancy in a portion of the real property, title to which is held by the corporation. The owners' interest in the corporation, whether evidenced by a share of stock, a certificate of membership, or otherwise, shall be deemed to be an interest in a common interest development and a real estate development for purposes of subdivision (f) of Section 25100 of the Corporations Code.

A ''stock cooperative'' includes a limited equity housing cooperative which is a stock cooperative that meets the criteria of Section 33007.5 of the Health and Safety Code.

SEC. 2. Section 1361.5 is added to the Civil Code, to read:

1361.5. Except as otherwise provided in law, an order of the court, or an order pursuant to a final and binding arbitration decision, an association may not deny an owner or occupant physical access to his or her separate interest, either by restricting access through the common areas to the owner's separate interest, or by restricting access solely to the owner's separate interest.

SEC. 3. Section 1363.05 of the Civil Code is amended to read:

1363.05. (a) This section shall be known and may be cited as the Common Interest Development Open Meeting Act.

(b) Any member of the association may attend meetings of the board of directors of the association, except when the board adjourns to executive session to consider litigation, matters relating to the formation of contracts with third parties, member discipline, personnel matters, or to meet with a member, upon the member's request, regarding the member's payment of assessments, as specified in Section 1367 or 1367.1. The board of directors of the association shall meet in executive session, if requested by a member who may be subject to a fine, penalty, or other form of discipline, and the member shall be entitled to attend the executive session.

(c) Any matter discussed in executive session shall be generally noted in the minutes of the immediately following meeting that is open to the entire membership.

(d) The minutes, minutes proposed for adoption that are marked to indicate draft status, or a summary of the minutes, of any meeting of the board of directors of an association, other than an executive session, shall be available to members within 30 days of the meeting. The minutes, proposed minutes, or summary minutes shall be distributed to any member of the association upon request and upon reimbursement of the association's costs for making that distribution.

(e) Members of the association shall be notified in writing at the time that the pro forma budget required in Section 1365 is distributed, or at the time of any general mailing to the entire membership of the association, of their right to have copies of the minutes of meetings of the board of directors, and how and where those minutes may be obtained.

(f) As used in this section, ''meeting'' includes any congregation of a majority of the members of the board at the same time and place to hear, discuss, or deliberate upon any item of business scheduled to be heard by the board, except those matters that may be discussed in executive session.

(g) Unless the time and place of meeting is fixed by the bylaws, or unless the bylaws provide for a longer period of notice, members shall be given notice of the time and place of a meeting as defined in subdivision (f), except for an emergency meeting, at least four days prior to the meeting. Notice shall be given by posting the notice in a prominent place or places within the common area and by mail to any owner who had requested notification of board meetings by mail, at the address requested by the owner. Notice may also be given, by mail or delivery of the notice to each unit in the development or by newsletter or similar means of communication.

(h) An emergency meeting of the board may be called by the president of the association, or by any two members of the governing body other than the president, if there are circumstances that could not have been reasonably foreseen which require immediate attention and possible action by the board, and which of necessity make it impracticable to provide notice as required by this section.

(i) The board of directors of the association shall permit any member of the association to speak at any meeting of the association or the board of directors, except for meetings of the board held in executive session. A reasonable time limit for all members of the association to speak to the board of directors or before a meeting of the association shall be established by the board of directors.

SEC. 4. Section 1365.1 is added to the Civil Code, to read:

1365.1. (a) The association shall distribute the written notice described in subdivision (b) to each member of the association during the 60-day period immediately preceding the beginning of the association's fiscal year. The notice shall be printed in at least 12-point type. An association distributing the notice to an owner of an interest that is described in Section 11003.5 of the Business and Professions Code may delete from the notice described in subdivision (b) the portion regarding meetings and payment plans.

(b) The notice required by this section shall read as follows:

"NOTICE

ASSESSMENTS AND FORECLOSURE

This notice outlines some of the rights and responsibilities of owners of property in common interest developments and the associations that manage them. Please refer to the sections of the Civil Code indicated for further information. A portion of the information in this notice applies only to liens recorded on or after January 1, 2003. You may wish to consult a lawyer if you dispute an assessment.

ASSESSMENTS AND NONJUDICIAL FORECLOSURE

The failure to pay association assessments may result in the loss of an owner's property without court action, often referred to as nonjudicial foreclosure. When using nonjudicial foreclosure, the association records a lien on the owner's property. The owner's property may be sold to satisfy the lien if the lien is not paid. Assessments become delinquent 15 days after they are due, unless the governing documents of the association provide for a longer time. (Sections 1366 and 1367.1 of the Civil Code)

In a nonjudicial foreclosure, the association may recover assessments, reasonable costs of collection, reasonable attorney's fees, late charges, and interest. The association may not use nonjudicial foreclosure to collect fines or penalties, except for costs to repair common areas damaged by a member or a member's guests, if the governing documents provide for this. (Sections 1366 and 1367.1 of the Civil Code)

The association must comply with the requirements of Section 1367.1 of the Civil Code when collecting delinquent assessments. If the association fails to follow these requirements, it may not record a lien on the owner's property until it has satisfied those requirements. Any additional costs that result from satisfying the requirements are the responsibility of the association. (Section 1367.1 of the Civil Code)

At least 30 days prior to recording a lien on an owner's separate interest, the association must provide the owner of record with certain documents by certified mail. Among these documents, the association must send a description of its collection and lien enforcement procedures and the method of calculating the amount. It must also provide an itemized statement of the charges owed by the owner. An owner has a right to review the association's records to verify the debt. (Section 1367.1 of the Civil Code)

If a lien is recorded against an owner's property in error, the person who recorded the lien is required to record a lien release within 21 days, and to provide an owner certain documents in this regard. (Section 1367.1 of the Civil Code)

The collection practices of the association may be governed by state and federal laws regarding fair debt collection. Penalties can be imposed for debt collection practices that violate these laws.

PAYMENTS

When an owner makes a payment, he or she may request a receipt, and the association is required to provide it. On the receipt, the association must indicate the date of payment and the person who received it. The association must inform owners of a mailing address for overnight payments. (Sections 1367.1 and 1367.1 of the Civil Code)

An owner may dispute an assessment debt by giving the board of the association a written explanation, and the board must respond within 15 days if certain conditions are met. An owner may pay assessments that are in dispute in full under protest, and then request alternative dispute resolution. (Sections 1366.3 and 1367.1 of the Civil Code)

An owner is not liable for charges, interest, and costs of collection, if it is established that the assessment was paid properly on time. (Section 1367.1 of the Civil Code)

MEETINGS AND PAYMENT PLANS

An owner of a separate interest that is not a time-share may request the association to consider a payment plan to satisfy a delinquent assessment. The association must inform owners of the standards for payment plans, if any exist. (Section 1367.1 of the Civil Code)

The board of the directors must meet with an owner who makes a proper written request for a meeting to discuss a payment plan when the owner has received a notice of a delinquent assessment. These payment plans must conform with the payment plan standards of the association, if they exist. (Section 1367.1 of the Civil Code)''

SEC. 5. Section 1366 of the Civil Code is amended to read:

1366. (a) Except as provided in this section, the association shall levy regular and special assessments sufficient to perform its obligations under the governing documents and this title. However, annual increases in regular assessments for any fiscal year, as authorized by subdivision (b), shall not be imposed unless the board has complied with subdivision (a) of Section 1365 with respect to that fiscal year, or has obtained the approval of owners, constituting a quorum, casting a majority of the votes at a meeting or election of the association conducted in accordance with Chapter 5 (commencing with Section 7510) of Part 3 of Division 2 of Title 1 of the Corporations Code and Section 7613 of the Corporations Code. For the purposes of this section, ''quorum'' means more than 50 percent of the owners of an association.

(b) Notwithstanding more restrictive limitations placed on the board by the governing documents, the board of directors may not impose a regular assessment that is more than 20 percent greater than the regular assessment for the association's preceding fiscal year or impose special assessments which in the aggregate exceed 5 percent of the budgeted gross expenses of the association for that fiscal year without the approval of owners, constituting a quorum, casting a majority of the votes at a meeting or election of the association conducted in accordance with Chapter 5 (commencing with Section 7510) of Part 3 of Division 2 of Title 1 of the Corporations Code and Section 7613 of the Corporations Code. For the purposes of this section, quorum means more than 50 percent of the owners of an association. This section does not limit assessment increases necessary for emergency situations. For purposes of this section, an emergency situation is any one of the following:

(1) An extraordinary expense required by an order of a court.

(2) An extraordinary expense necessary to repair or maintain the common interest development or any part of it for which the association is responsible where a threat to personal safety on the property is discovered.

(3) An extraordinary expense necessary to repair or maintain the common interest development or any part of it for which the association is responsible that could not have been reasonably foreseen by the board in preparing and distributing the pro forma operating budget under Section 1365. However, prior to the imposition or collection of an assessment under this subdivision, the board shall pass a resolution containing written findings as to the necessity of the extraordinary expense involved and why the expense was not or could not have been reasonably foreseen in the budgeting process, and the resolution shall be distributed to the members with the notice of assessment.

(c) Regular assessments imposed or collected to perform the obligations of an association under the governing documents or this title shall be exempt from execution by a judgment creditor of the association only to the extent necessary for the association to perform essential services, such as paying for utilities and insurance. In determining the appropriateness of an exemption, a court shall ensure that only essential services are protected under this subdivision.

This exemption shall not apply to any consensual pledges, liens, or encumbrances that have been approved by the owners of an association, constituting a quorum, casting a majority of the votes at a meeting or election of the association, or to any state tax lien, or to any lien for labor or materials supplied to the common area.

(d) The association shall provide notice by first-class mail to the owners of the separate interests of any increase in the regular or special assessments of the association, not less than 30 nor more than 60 days prior to the increased assessment becoming due.

(e) Regular and special assessments levied pursuant to the governing documents are delinquent 15 days after they become due, unless the declaration provides a longer time period, in which case the longer time period shall apply. If an assessment is delinquent the association may recover all of the following:

(1) Reasonable costs incurred in collecting the delinquent assessment, including reasonable attorney's fees.

(2) A late charge not exceeding 10 percent of the delinquent assessment or ten dollars ($10), whichever is greater, unless the declaration specifies a late charge in a smaller amount, in which case any late charge imposed shall not exceed the amount specified in the declaration.

(3) Interest on all sums imposed in accordance with this section, including the delinquent assessments, reasonable fees and costs of collection, and reasonable attorney's fees, at an annual interest rate not to exceed 12 percent, commencing 30 days after the assessment becomes due, unless the declaration specifies the recovery of interest at a rate of a lesser amount, in which case the lesser rate of interest shall apply.

(f) Associations are hereby exempted from interest-rate limitations imposed by Article XV of the California Constitution, subject to the limitations of this section.

SEC. 6. Section 1366.3 of the Civil Code is amended to read:

1366.3. (a) The exception for disputes related to association assessments in subdivision (b) of Section 1354 shall not apply if, in a dispute between the owner of a separate interest and the association regarding the assessments imposed by the association, the owner of the separate interest chooses to pay in full to the association all of the charges listed in paragraphs (1) to (4), inclusive, and states by written notice that the amount is paid under protest, and the written notice is mailed by certified mail not more than 30 days from the recording of a notice of delinquent assessment in accordance with Section 1367 or 1367.1; and in those instances, the association shall inform the owner that the owner may resolve the dispute through alternative dispute resolution as set forth in Section 1354, civil action, and any other procedures to resolve the dispute that may be available through the association.

(1) The amount of the assessment in dispute.

(2) Late charges.

(3) Interest.

(4) All reasonable fees and costs associated with the preparation and filing of a notice of delinquent assessment, including all mailing costs, and including reasonable attorney's fees not to exceed four hundred twenty-five dollars ($425).

(b) The right of any owner of a separate interest to utilize alternative dispute resolution under this section may not be exercised more than two times in any single calendar year, and not more than three times within any five calendar years. Nothing within this section shall preclude any owner of a separate interest and the association, upon mutual agreement, from entering into alternative dispute resolution for a number of times in excess of the limits set forth in this section. The owner of a separate interest may request and be awarded through alternative dispute resolution reasonable interest to be paid by the association on the total amount paid under paragraphs (1) to (4), inclusive, of subdivision (a), if it is determined through alternative dispute resolution that the assessment levied by the association was not correctly levied.

SEC. 7. Section 1367 of the Civil Code is amended to read:

1367. (a) A regular or special assessment and any late charges, reasonable costs of collection, and interest, as assessed in accordance with Section 1366, shall be a debt of the owner of the separate interest at the time the assessment or other sums are levied. Before an association may place a lien upon the separate interest of an owner to collect a debt which is past due under this subdivision, the association shall notify the owner in writing by certified mail of the fee and penalty procedures of the association, provide an itemized statement of the charges owed by the owner, including items on the statement which indicate the assessments owed, any late charges and the method of calculation, any attorney's fees, and the collection practices used by the association, including the right of the association to the reasonable costs of collection. In addition, any payments toward that debt shall first be applied to the assessments owed, and only after the principal owed is paid in full shall the payments be applied to interest or collection expenses.

(b) The amount of the assessment, plus any costs of collection, late charges, and interest assessed in accordance with Section 1366, shall be a lien on the owner's interest in the common interest development from and after the time the association causes to be recorded with the county recorder of the county in which the separate interest is located, a notice of delinquent assessment, which shall state the amount of the assessment and other sums imposed in accordance with Section 1366, a legal description of the owner's interest in the common interest development against which the assessment and other sums are levied, the name of the record owner of the owner's interest in the common interest development against which the lien is imposed, and, in order for the lien to be enforced by nonjudicial foreclosure as provided in subdivision (e) the name and address of the trustee authorized by the association to enforce the lien by sale. The notice of delinquent assessment shall be signed by the person designated in the declaration or by the association for that purpose, or if no one is designated, by the president of the association, and mailed in the manner set forth in Section 2924b, to all record owners of the owner's interest in the common interest development no later than 10 calendar days after recordation. Upon payment of the sums specified in the notice of delinquent assessment, the association shall cause to be recorded a further notice stating the satisfaction and release of the lien thereof. A monetary penalty imposed by the association as a means of reimbursing the association for costs incurred by the association in the repair of damage to common areas and facilities for which the member or the member's guests or tenants were responsible may become a lien against the member's separate interest enforceable by the sale of the interest under Sections 2924, 2924b, and 2924c, provided the authority to impose a lien is set forth in the governing documents. It is the intent of the Legislature not to contravene Section 2792.26 of Title 10 of the California Code of Regulations, as that section appeared on January 1, 1996, for associations of subdivisions that are being sold under authority of a subdivision public report, pursuant to Part 2 (commencing with Section 11000) of Division 4 of the Business and Professions Code.

(c) Except as indicated in subdivision (b), a monetary penalty imposed by the association as a disciplinary measure for failure of a member to comply with the governing instruments, except for the late payments, may not be characterized nor treated in the governing instruments as an assessment which may become a lien against the member's subdivision interest enforceable by the sale of the interest under Sections 2924, 2924b, and 2924c.

(d) A lien created pursuant to subdivision (b) shall be prior to all other liens recorded subsequent to the notice of assessment, except that the declaration may provide for the subordination thereof to any other liens and encumbrances.

(e) After the expiration of 30 days following the recording of a lien created pursuant to subdivision (b), the lien may be enforced in any manner permitted by law, including sale by the court, sale by the trustee designated in the notice of delinquent assessment, or sale by a trustee substituted pursuant to Section 2934a. Any sale by the trustee shall be conducted in accordance with the provisions of Sections 2924, 2924b, and 2924c applicable to the exercise of powers of sale in mortgages and deeds of trusts.

(f) Nothing in this section or in subdivision (a) of Section 726 of the Code of Civil Procedure prohibits actions against the owner of a separate interest to recover sums for which a lien is created pursuant to this section or prohibits an association from taking a deed in lieu of foreclosure.

(g) This section only applies to liens recorded on or after January 1, 1986 and prior to January 1, 2003.

SEC. 8. Section 1367.1 is added to the Civil Code, to read:

1367.1. (a) A regular or special assessment and any late charges, reasonable fees and costs of collection, reasonable attorney's fees, if any, and interest, if any, as determined in accordance with Section 1366, shall be a debt of the owner of the separate interest at the time the assessment or other sums are levied. At least 30 days prior to recording a lien upon the separate interest of the owner of record to collect a debt that is past due under this subdivision, the association shall notify the owner of record in writing by certified mail of the following:

(1) A general description of the collection and lien enforcement procedures of the association and the method of calculation of the amount, a statement that the owner of the separate interest has the right to inspect the association records, pursuant to Section 8333 of the Corporations Code, and the following statement in 14-point boldface type, if printed, or in capital letters, if typed: ''IMPORTANT NOTICE: IF YOUR SEPARATE INTEREST IS PLACED IN FORECLOSURE BECAUSE YOU ARE BEHIND IN YOUR ASSESSMENTS, IT MAY BE SOLD WITHOUT COURT ACTION''.

(2) An itemized statement of the charges owed by the owner, including items on the statement which indicate the amount of any delinquent assessments, the fees and reasonable costs of collection, reasonable attorney's fees, any late charges, and interest, if any.

(3) A statement that the owner shall not be liable to pay the charges, interest, and costs of collection, if it is determined the assessment was paid on time to the association.

(4) The right to request a meeting with the board as provided by subdivision (c).

(b) Any payments made by the owner of a separate interest toward the debt set forth, as required in subdivision (a), shall first be applied to the assessments owed, and, only after the assessments owed are paid in full shall the payments be applied to the fees and costs of collection, attorney's fees, late charges, or interest. When an owner makes a payment, the owner may request a receipt and the association shall provide it. The receipt shall indicate the date of payment and the person who received it. The association shall provide a mailing address for overnight payment of assessments.

(c) (1) An owner may dispute the debt noticed pursuant to subdivision (a) by submitting to the board a written explanation of the reasons for his or her dispute. The board shall respond in writing to the owner within 15 days of the date of the postmark of the explanation, if the explanation is mailed within 15 days of the postmark of the notice.

(2) An owner, other than an owner of any interest that is described in Section 11003.5 of the Business and Professions Code, may submit a written request to meet with the board to discuss a payment plan for the debt noticed pursuant to subdivision (a). The association shall provide the owners the standards for payment plans, if any exist. The board shall meet with the owner in executive session within 45 days of the postmark of the request, if the request is mailed within 15 days of the date of the postmark of the notice, unless there is no regularly scheduled board meeting within that period, in which case the board may designate a committee of one or more members to meet with the owner.

(d) The amount of the assessment, plus any costs of collection, late charges, and interest assessed in accordance with Section 1366, shall be a lien on the owner's interest in the common interest development from and after the time the association causes to be recorded with the county recorder of the county in which the separate interest is located, a notice of delinquent assessment, which shall state the amount of the assessment and other sums imposed in accordance with Section 1366, a legal description of the owner's interest in the common interest development against which the assessment and other sums are levied, the name of the record owner of the owner's interest in the common interest development against which the lien is imposed. In order for the lien to be enforced by nonjudicial foreclosure as provided in subdivision (g), the notice of delinquent assessment shall state the name and address of the trustee authorized by the association to enforce the lien by sale. The notice of delinquent assessment shall be signed by the person designated in the declaration or by the association for that purpose, or if no one is designated, by the president of the association, and mailed in the manner set forth in Section 2924b, to all record owners of the owner's interest in the common interest development no later than 10 calendar days after recordation. Within 21 days of the payment of the sums specified in the notice of delinquent assessment, the association shall record or cause to be recorded in the office of the county recorder in which the notice of delinquent assessment is recorded a lien release or notice of rescission and provide the owner of the separate interest a copy of the lien release or notice that the delinquent assessment has been satisfied. A monetary charge imposed by the association as a means of reimbursing the association for costs incurred by the association in the repair of damage to common areas and facilities for which the member or the member's guests or tenants were responsible may become a lien against the member's separate interest enforceable by the sale of the interest under Sections 2924, 2924b, and 2924c, provided the authority to impose a lien is set forth in the governing documents. It is the intent of the Legislature not to contravene Section 2792.26 of Title 10 of the California Code of Regulations, as that section appeared on January 1, 1996, for associations of subdivisions that are being sold under authority of a subdivision public report, pursuant to Part 2 (commencing with Section 11000) of Division 4 of the Business and Professions Code.

(e) Except as indicated in subdivision (d), a monetary penalty imposed by the association as a disciplinary measure for failure of a member to comply with the governing instruments, except for the late payments, may not be characterized nor treated in the governing instruments as an assessment that may become a lien against the member's subdivision separate interest enforceable by the sale of the interest under Sections 2924, 2924b, and 2924c.

(f) A lien created pursuant to subdivision (d) shall be prior to all other liens recorded subsequent to the notice of assessment, except that the declaration may provide for the subordination thereof to any other liens and encumbrances.

(g) An association may not voluntarily assign or pledge the association's right to collect payments or assessments, or to enforce or foreclose a lien to a third party, except when the assignment or pledge is made to a financial institution or lender chartered or licensed under federal or state law, when acting within the scope of that charter or license, as security for a loan obtained by the association; however, the foregoing provision may not restrict the right or ability of an association to assign any unpaid obligations of a former member to a third party for purposes of collection. Subject to the limitations of this subdivision, after the expiration of 30 days following the recording of a lien created pursuant to subdivision (d), the lien may be enforced in any manner permitted by law, including sale by the court, sale by the trustee designated in the notice of delinquent assessment, or sale by a trustee substituted pursuant to Section 2934a. Any sale by the trustee shall be conducted in accordance with Sections 2924, 2924b, and 2924c applicable to the exercise of powers of sale in mortgages and deeds of trusts. The fees of a trustee may not exceed the amounts prescribed in Sections 2924c and 2924d.

(h) Nothing in this section or in subdivision (a) of Section 726 of the Code of Civil Procedure prohibits actions against the owner of a separate interest to recover sums for which a lien is created pursuant to this section or prohibits an association from taking a deed in lieu of foreclosure.

(i) If it is determined that a lien previously recorded against the separate interest was recorded in error, the party who recorded the lien shall, within 21 calendar days, record or cause to be recorded in the office of the county recorder in which the notice of delinquent assessment is recorded a lien release or notice of rescission and provide the owner of the separate interest with a declaration that the lien filing or recording was in error and a copy of the lien release or notice of rescission.

(j) (1) An association that fails to comply with the procedures set forth in this section shall, prior to recording a lien, recommence the required notice process.

(2) Any costs associated with recommencing the notice process shall be borne by the association and not by the owner of a separate interest.

(k) This section only applies to liens recorded on or after January 1, 2003.

SEC. 9. Section 1368 of the Civil Code is amended to read:

1368. (a) The owner of a separate interest, other than an owner subject to the requirements of Section 11018.6 of the Business and Professions Code, shall, as soon as practicable before transfer of title to the separate interest or execution of a real property sales contract therefor, as defined in Section 2985, provide the following to the prospective purchaser:

(1) A copy of the governing documents of the common interest development.

(2) If there is a restriction in the governing documents limiting the occupancy, residency, or use of a separate interest on the basis of age in a manner different from that provided in Section 51.3, a statement that the restriction is only enforceable to the extent permitted by Section 51.3 and a statement specifying the applicable provisions of Section 51.3.

(3) A copy of the most recent documents distributed pursuant to Section 1365.

(4) A true statement in writing obtained from an authorized representative of the association as to the amount of the association's current regular and special assessments and fees, any assessments levied upon the owner's interest in the common interest development that are unpaid on the date of the statement, and any monetary fines or penalties levied upon the owner's interest and unpaid on the date of the statement. The statement obtained from an authorized representative shall also include true information on late charges, interest, and costs of collection which, as of the date of the statement, are or may be made a lien upon the owner's interest in a common interest development pursuant to Section 1367 or 1367.1.

(5) A copy or a summary of any notice previously sent to the owner pursuant to subdivision (h) of Section 1363 that sets forth any alleged violation of the governing documents that remains unresolved at the time of the request. The notice shall not be deemed a waiver of the association's right to enforce the governing documents against the owner or the prospective purchaser of the separate interest with respect to any violation. This paragraph shall not be construed to require an association to inspect an owner's separate interest.

(6) A copy of the preliminary list of defects provided to each member of the association pursuant to Section 1375, unless the association and the builder subsequently enter into a settlement agreement or otherwise resolve the matter and the association complies with Section 1375.1. Disclosure of the preliminary list of defects pursuant to this paragraph shall not waive any privilege attached to the document. The preliminary list of defects shall also include a statement that a final determination as to whether the list of defects is accurate and complete has not been made.

(7) A copy of the latest information provided for in Section 1375.1.

(8) Any change in the association's current regular and special assessments and fees which have been approved by the association's board of directors, but have not become due and payable as of the date disclosure is provided pursuant to this subdivision.

(b) Upon written request, an association shall, within 10 days of the mailing or delivery of the request, provide the owner of a separate interest with a copy of the requested items specified in paragraphs (1) to (8), inclusive, of subdivision (a). The association may charge a fee for this service, which shall not exceed the association's reasonable cost to prepare and reproduce the requested items.

(c) An association shall not impose or collect any assessment, penalty, or fee in connection with a transfer of title or any other interest except the association's actual costs to change its records and that fee authorized by subdivision (b).

(d) Any person or entity who willfully violates this section shall be liable to the purchaser of a separate interest which is subject to this section for actual damages occasioned thereby and, in addition, shall pay a civil penalty in an amount not to exceed five hundred dollars ($500). In an action to enforce this liability, the prevailing party shall be awarded reasonable attorneys' fees.

(e) Nothing in this section affects the validity of title to real property transferred in violation of this section.

(f) In addition to the requirements of this section, an owner transferring title to a separate interest shall comply with applicable requirements of Sections 1133 and 1134.

SEC. 9.5. Section 1368 of the Civil Code is amended to read:

1368. (a) The owner of a separate interest, other than an owner subject to the requirements of Section 11018.6 of the Business and Professions Code, shall, as soon as practicable before transfer of title to the separate interest or execution of a real property sales contract therefor, as defined in Section 2985, provide the following to the prospective purchaser:

(1) A copy of the governing documents of the common interest development, including a copy of the association's articles of incorporation, or, if not incorporated, a statement in writing from an authorized representative of the association that the association is not incorporated.

(2) If there is a restriction in the governing documents limiting the occupancy, residency, or use of a separate interest on the basis of age in a manner different from that provided in Section 51.3, a statement that the restriction is only enforceable to the extent permitted by Section 51.3 and a statement specifying the applicable provisions of Section 51.3.

(3) A copy of the most recent documents distributed pursuant to Section 1365.

(4) A true statement in writing obtained from an authorized representative of the association as to the amount of the association's current regular and special assessments and fees, any assessments levied upon the owner's interest in the common interest development that are unpaid on the date of the statement, and any monetary fines or penalties levied upon the owner's interest and unpaid on the date of the statement. The statement obtained from an authorized representative shall also include true information on late charges, interest, and costs of collection which, as of the date of the statement, are or may be made a lien upon the owner's interest in a common interest development pursuant to Section 1367 or 1367.1.

(5) A copy or a summary of any notice previously sent to the owner pursuant to subdivision (h) of Section 1363 that sets forth any alleged violation of the governing documents that remains unresolved at the time of the request. The notice shall not be deemed a waiver of the association's right to enforce the governing documents against the owner or the prospective purchaser of the separate interest with respect to any violation. This paragraph shall not be construed to require an association to inspect an owner's separate interest.

(6) A copy of the preliminary list of defects provided to each member of the association pursuant to Section 1375, unless the association and the builder subsequently enter into a settlement agreement or otherwise resolve the matter and the association complies with Section 1375.1. Disclosure of the preliminary list of defects pursuant to this paragraph shall not waive any privilege attached to the document. The preliminary list of defects shall also include a statement that a final determination as to whether the list of defects is accurate and complete has not been made.

(7) A copy of the latest information provided for in Section 1375.1.

(8) Any change in the association's current regular and special assessments and fees which have been approved by the association's board of directors, but have not become due and payable as of the date disclosure is provided pursuant to this subdivision.

(b) Upon written request, an association shall, within 10 days of the mailing or delivery of the request, provide the owner of a separate interest with a copy of the requested items specified in paragraphs (1) to (8), inclusive, of subdivision (a). The association may charge a fee for this service, which shall not exceed the association's reasonable cost to prepare and reproduce the requested items.

(c) An association shall not impose or collect any assessment, penalty, or fee in connection with a transfer of title or any other interest except the association's actual costs to change its records and that authorized by subdivision (b).

(d) Any person or entity who willfully violates this section shall be liable to the purchaser of a separate interest which is subject to this section for actual damages occasioned thereby and, in addition, shall pay a civil penalty in an amount not to exceed five hundred dollars ($500). In an action to enforce this liability, the prevailing party shall be awarded reasonable attorneys' fees.

(e) Nothing in this section affects the validity of title to real property transferred in violation of this section.

(f) In addition to the requirements of this section, an owner transferring title to a separate interest shall comply with applicable requirements of Sections 1133 and 1134.

SEC. 10. Section 9.5 of this bill incorporates amendments to Section 1368 of the Civil Code proposed by both this bill and AB 643. It shall only become operative if (1) both bills are enacted and become effective on or before January 1, 2003, (2) each bill amends Section 1368 of the Civil Code, and (3) this bill is enacted after AB 643, in which case Section 9 of this bill shall not become operative.

CHAPTER 1112

An act to amend Sections 8714, 8715, 8802, and 8807 of the Family Code, relating to adoption.

[Approved by Governor September 29, 2002. Filed with Secretary of State September 29, 2002.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Section 8714 of the Family Code is amended to read:

8714. (a) A person desiring to adopt a child may for that purpose file a petition in the county in which the petitioner resides or, if the petitioner is not a resident of this state, in the county in which the birth parent or birth parents resided when the relinquishment of parental rights for the purpose of adoption was signed. Where a child has been adjudged to be a dependent of the juvenile court pursuant to Section 300 of the Welfare and Institutions Code, and has thereafter been freed for adoption by the juvenile court, the petition may be filed either in the county where the petitioner resides or in the county where the child was freed for adoption.

(b) The court clerk shall immediately notify the department at Sacramento in writing of the pendency of the proceeding and of any subsequent action taken.

(c) If the petitioner has entered into a postadoption contact agreement with the birth parent as set forth in Section 8714.7, the agreement, signed by the participating parties, shall be attached to and filed with the petition for adoption under subdivision (a).

(d) The caption of the adoption petition shall contain the names of the petitioners, but not the child's name. The petition shall state the child's sex and date of birth. The name the child had before adoption shall appear in the joinder signed by the licensed adoption agency.

(e) If the child is the subject of a guardianship petition, the adoption petition shall so state and shall include the caption and docket number or have attached a copy of the letters of the guardianship or temporary guardianship. The petitioners shall notify the court of any petition for guardianship or temporary guardianship filed after the adoption petition. The guardianship proceeding shall be consolidated with the adoption proceeding.

(f) The order of adoption shall contain the child's adopted name, but not the name the child had before adoption.

SEC. 2. Section 8715 of the Family Code is amended to read:

8715. (a) The department or licensed adoption agency, whichever is a party to, or joins in, the petition, shall submit a full report of the facts of the case to the court.

(b) If the child has been adjudged to be a dependent of the juvenile court pursuant to Section 300 of the Welfare and Institutions Code, and has thereafter been freed for adoption by the juvenile court, the report required by this section shall describe whether the requirements of subdivision (e) of Section 16002 of the Welfare and Institutions Code have been completed and what, if any, plan exists for facilitation of postadoptive contact between the child who is the subject of the adoption petition and his or her siblings and half siblings.

(c) If a petition for adoption has been filed with a postadoption contact agreement pursuant to Section 8714.7, the report shall address whether the postadoption contact agreement has been entered into voluntarily, and whether it is in the best interests of the child who is the subject of the petition.

(d) The department may also submit a report in those cases in which a licensed adoption agency is a party or joins in the adoption petition.

(e) If a petitioner is a resident of a state other than California, an updated and current homestudy report, conducted and approved by a licensed adoption agency or other authorized resource in the state in which the petitioner resides, shall be reviewed and endorsed by the department or licensed adoption agency, if the standards and criteria established for a homestudy report in the other state are substantially commensurate with the homestudy standards and criteria established in California adoption regulations.

SEC. 3. Section 8802 of the Family Code is amended to read:

8802. (a) (1) Any of the following persons who desire to adopt a child may, for that purpose, file a petition in the county in which the petitioner resides or, if the petitioner is not a resident of this state, in the county in which the placing birth parent or birth parents resided when the adoption placement agreement was signed, or the county in which the placing birth parent or birth parents resided when the petition was filed

(A) An adult who is related to the child or the child's half sibling by blood or affinity, including all relatives whose status is preceded by the words "step," "great," "great-great," or "grand," or the spouse of any of these persons, even if the marriage was terminated by death or dissolution.

(B) A person named in the will of a deceased parent as an intended adoptive parent where the child has no other parent.

(C) A person with whom a child has been placed for adoption.

(D) A legal guardian who has been the child's legal guardian for more than one year. However, if the parent nominated the guardian for a purpose other than adoption for a specified time period, or if the guardianship was established pursuant to Section 360 of the Welfare and Institutions Code, the guardianship shall have been in existence for not less than three years.

(2) If the child has been placed for adoption, a copy of the adoptive placement agreement shall be attached to the petition. The court clerk shall immediately notify the department at Sacramento in writing of the pendency of the proceeding and of any subsequent action taken.

(b) The petition shall contain an allegation that the petitioners will file promptly with the department or delegated county adoption agency information required by the department in the investigation of the proposed adoption. The omission of the allegation from a petition does not affect the jurisdiction of the court to proceed or the validity of an adoption order or other order based on the petition.

(c) The caption of the adoption petition shall contain the names of the petitioners, but not the child's name. The petition shall state the child's sex and date of birth and the name the child had before adoption.

(d) If the child is the subject of a guardianship petition, the adoption petition shall so state and shall include the caption and docket number or have attached a copy of the letters of the guardianship or temporary guardianship. The petitioners shall notify the court of any petition for guardianship or temporary guardianship filed after the adoption petition. The guardianship proceeding shall be consolidated with the adoption proceeding.

(e) The order of adoption shall contain the child's adopted name, but not the name the child had before adoption.

SEC. 4. Section 8807 of the Family Code is amended to read:

8807. (b) If the investigation establishes that there is a serious question concerning the suitability of the petitioners or the care provided the child or the availability of the consent to adoption, the report shall be filed immediately.

(c) In its discretion, the court may allow additional time for the filing of the report, after at least five days' notice to the petitioner or petitioners and an opportunity for the petitioner or petitioners to be heard with respect to the request for additional time.

(d) If a petitioner is a resident of a state other than California, an updated and current homestudy report, conducted and approved by a licensed adoption agency or other authorized resource in the state in which the petitioner resides, shall be reviewed and endorsed by the department or delegated county adoption agency, if the standards and criteria established for a homestudy report in the other state are substantially commensurate with the homestudy standards and criteria established in California adoption regulations.

An act to amend, repeal, and add Section 11126 of the Government Code, relating to open meetings.

[Approved by Governor September 29, 2002. Filed with Secretary of State September 29, 2002.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Section 11126 of the Government Code is amended to read:

11126. (a) (1) Nothing in this article shall be construed to prevent a state body from holding closed sessions during a regular or special meeting to consider the appointment, employment, evaluation of performance, or dismissal of a public employee or to hear complaints or charges brought against that employee by another person or employee unless the employee requests a public hearing.

(2) As a condition to holding a closed session on the complaints or charges to consider disciplinary action or to consider dismissal, the employee shall be given written notice of his or her right to have a public hearing, rather than a closed session, and that notice shall be delivered to the employee personally or by mail at least 24 hours before the time for holding a regular or special meeting. If notice is not given, any disciplinary or other action taken against any employee at the closed session shall be null and void.

(3) The state body also may exclude from any public or closed session, during the examination of a witness, any or all other witnesses in the matter being investigated by the state body.

(4) Following the public hearing or closed session, the body may deliberate on the decision to be reached in a closed session.

(b) For the purposes of this section, ''employee'' does not include any person who is elected to, or appointed to a public office by, any state body. However, officers of the California State University who receive compensation for their services, other than per diem and ordinary and necessary expenses, shall, when engaged in that capacity, be considered employees. Furthermore, for purposes of this section, the term employee includes a person exempt from civil service pursuant to subdivision (e) of Section 4 of Article VII of the California Constitution.

(c) Nothing in this article shall be construed to do any of the following:

(1) Prevent state bodies that administer the licensing of persons engaging in businesses or professions from holding closed sessions to prepare, approve, grade, or administer examinations.

(2) Prevent an advisory body of a state body that administers the licensing of persons engaged in businesses or professions from conducting a closed session to discuss matters that the advisory body has found would constitute an unwarranted invasion of the privacy of an individual licensee or applicant if discussed in an open meeting, provided the advisory body does not include a quorum of the members of the state body it advises. Those matters may include review of an applicant's qualifications for licensure and an inquiry specifically related to the state body's enforcement program concerning an individual licensee or applicant where the inquiry occurs prior to the filing of a civil, criminal, or administrative disciplinary action against the licensee or applicant by the state body.

(3) Prohibit a state body from holding a closed session to deliberate on a decision to be reached in a proceeding required to be conducted pursuant to Chapter 5 (commencing with Section 11500) or similar provisions of law.

(4) Grant a right to enter any correctional institution or the grounds of a correctional institution where that right is not otherwise granted by law, nor shall anything in this article be construed to prevent a state body from holding a closed session when considering and acting upon the determination of a term, parole, or release of any individual or other disposition of an individual case, or if public disclosure of the subjects under discussion or consideration is expressly prohibited by statute.

(5) Prevent any closed session to consider the conferring of honorary degrees, or gifts, donations, and bequests that the donor or proposed donor has requested in writing to be kept confidential.

(6) Prevent the Alcoholic Beverage Control Appeals Board from holding a closed session for the purpose of holding a deliberative conference as provided in Section 11125.

(7) (A) Prevent a state body from holding closed sessions with its negotiator prior to the purchase, sale, exchange, or lease of real property by or for the state body to give instructions to its negotiator regarding the price and terms of payment for the purchase, sale, exchange, or lease.

(B) However, prior to the closed session, the state body shall hold an open and public session in which it identifies the real property or real properties that the negotiations may concern and the person or persons with whom its negotiator may negotiate.

(C) For purposes of this paragraph, the negotiator may be a member of the state body.

(D) For purposes of this paragraph, ''lease'' includes renewal or renegotiation of a lease.

(E) Nothing in this paragraph shall preclude a state body from holding a closed session for discussions regarding eminent domain proceedings pursuant to subdivision (e).

(8) Prevent the California Postsecondary Education Commission from holding closed sessions to consider matters pertaining to the appointment or termination of the Director of the California Postsecondary Education Commission.

(9) Prevent the Council for Private Postsecondary and Vocational Education from holding closed sessions to consider matters pertaining to the appointment or termination of the Executive Director of the Council for Private Postsecondary and Vocational Education.

(10) Prevent the Franchise Tax Board from holding closed sessions for the purpose of discussion of confidential tax returns or information the public disclosure of which is prohibited by law, or from considering matters pertaining to the appointment or removal of the Executive Officer of the Franchise Tax Board.

(11) Require the Franchise Tax Board to notice or disclose any confidential tax information considered in closed sessions, or documents executed in connection therewith, the public disclosure of which is prohibited pursuant to Article 2 (commencing with Section 19542) of Chapter 7 of Part 10.2 of the Revenue and Taxation Code.

(12) Prevent the Board of Corrections from holding closed sessions when considering reports of crime conditions under Section 6027 of the Penal Code.

(13) Prevent the State Air Resources Board from holding closed sessions when considering the proprietary specifications and performance data of manufacturers.

(14) Prevent the State Board of Education or the Superintendent of Public Instruction, or any committee advising the board or the superintendent, from holding closed sessions on those portions of its review of assessment instruments pursuant to Chapter 5 (commencing with Section 60600) of, or pursuant to Chapter 8 (commencing with Section 60850) of, Part 33 of the Education Code during which actual test content is reviewed and discussed. The purpose of this provision is to maintain the confidentiality of the assessments under review.

(15) Prevent the California Integrated Waste Management Board or its auxiliary committees from holding closed sessions for the purpose of discussing confidential tax returns, discussing trade secrets or confidential or proprietary information in its possession, or discussing other data, the public disclosure of which is prohibited by law.

(16) Prevent a state body that invests retirement, pension, or endowment funds from holding closed sessions when considering investment decisions. For purposes of consideration of shareholder voting on corporate stocks held by the state body, closed sessions for the purposes of voting may be held only with respect to election of corporate directors, election of independent auditors, and other financial issues that could have a material effect on the net income of the corporation. For the purpose of real property investment decisions that may be considered in a closed session pursuant to this paragraph, a state body shall also be exempt from the provisions of paragraph (7) relating to the identification of real properties prior to the closed session.

(17) Prevent a state body, or boards, commissions, administrative officers, or other representatives that may properly be designated by law or by a state body, from holding closed sessions with its representatives in discharging its responsibilities under Chapter 10 (commencing with Section 3500), Chapter 10.3 (commencing with Section 3512), Chapter 10.5 (commencing with Section 3525), or Chapter 10.7 (commencing of Section 3540) of Division 4 of Title 1 as the sessions relate to salaries, salary schedules, or compensation paid in the form of fringe benefits. For the purposes enumerated in the preceding sentence, a state body may also meet with a state conciliator who has intervened in the proceedings.

(18) (A) Prevent a state body from holding closed sessions to consider matters posing a threat or potential threat of criminal or terrorist activity against the personnel, property, buildings, facilities, or equipment, including electronic data, owned, leased, or controlled by the state body, where disclosure of these considerations could compromise or impede the safety or security of the personnel, property, buildings, facilities, or equipment, including electronic data, owned, leased, or controlled by the state body.

(B) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, a state body, at any regular or special meeting, may meet in a closed session pursuant to subparagraph (A) upon a two-thirds vote of the members present at the meeting.

(C) After meeting in closed session pursuant to subparagraph (A), the state body shall reconvene in open session prior to adjournment and report that a closed session was held pursuant to subparagraph (A), the general nature of the matters considered, and whether any action was taken in closed session.

(D) After meeting in closed session pursuant to subparagraph (A), the state body shall submit to the Legislative Analyst written notification stating that it held this closed session, the general reason or reasons for the closed session, the general nature of the matters considered, and whether any action was taken in closed session. The Legislative Analyst shall retain for no less than four years any written notification received from a state body pursuant to this subparagraph.

(d) (1) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, any meeting of the Public Utilities Commission at which the rates of entities under the commission's jurisdiction are changed shall be open and public.

(2) Nothing in this article shall be construed to prevent the Public Utilities Commission from holding closed sessions to deliberate on the institution of proceedings, or disciplinary actions against any person or entity under the jurisdiction of the commission.

(e) (1) Nothing in this article shall be construed to prevent a state body, based on the advice of its legal counsel, from holding a closed session to confer with, or receive advice from, its legal counsel regarding pending litigation when discussion in open session concerning those matters would prejudice the position of the state body in the litigation.

(2) For purposes of this article, all expressions of the lawyer-client privilege other than those provided in this subdivision are hereby abrogated. This subdivision is the exclusive expression of the lawyer-client privilege for purposes of conducting closed session meetings pursuant to this article. For purposes of this subdivision, litigation shall be considered pending when any of the following circumstances exist:

(A) An adjudicatory proceeding before a court, an administrative body exercising its adjudicatory authority, a hearing officer, or an arbitrator, to which the state body is a party, has been initiated formally.

charges brought against that employee by another person or employee unless the employee requests a public hearing.

(2) As a condition to holding a closed session on the complaints or charges to consider disciplinary action or to consider dismissal, the employee shall be given written notice of his or her right to have a public hearing, rather than a closed session, and that notice shall be delivered to the employee personally or by mail at least 24 hours before the time for holding a regular or special meeting. If notice is not given, any disciplinary or other action taken against any employee at the closed session shall be null and void.

(3) The state body also may exclude from any public or closed session, during the examination of a witness, any or all other witnesses in the matter being investigated by the state body.

Those matters may include review of an applicant's qualifications for licensure and an inquiry specifically related to the state body's enforcement program concerning an individual licensee or applicant where the inquiry occurs prior to the filing of a civil, criminal, or administrative disciplinary action against the licensee or applicant by the state body.

(e) (1) Nothing in this article shall be construed to prevent a state body, based on the advice of its legal counsel, from holding a closed session to confer with, or receive advice from, its legal counsel regarding pending litigation when discussion in open session concerning those matters would prejudice the position of the state body in the litigation.

An act to amend Section 101230 of the Health and Safety Code, relating to public health.

[Approved by Governor September 29, 2002. Filed with Secretary of State September 29, 2002.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. The Legislature finds and declares all of the following:

(a) Disease control, surveillance, and epidemiology are well recognized core local agreement public health functions, serving as integral components of the state's public safety network.

(b) Counties rely on local public health agencies to detect and respond effectively to significant threats, including major outbreaks of infectious disease, pathogens resistant to antimicrobial agents, and the acts of bioterrorism.

(c) California's public health infrastructure is lacking in its ability to respond to biological threats or other emergencies. The system has been allowed to atrophy over the past several decades, leaving the public more susceptible to serious outbreaks of infectious disease.

(d) Threats of emerging infections and bioterrorism could be addressed more effectively with adequate funding infused into the public health system. Additional ongoing resources are needed to train additional public health staff, expand information and communication systems, and enhance public health laboratory capacity.

(e) State and local public health departments require additional resources and funding to enhance their ability to respond to and prepare for future potential acts of biological terrorism or public health emergencies.

SEC. 2. Section 101230 of the Health and Safety Code is amended to read:

101230. From the appropriation made for the purposes of this article, allocation shall be made to the administrative bodies of qualifying local health jurisdictions described as public health administrative organizations in Section 101185 in the following manner:

(a) A basic allotment as follows:

To the administrative bodies of local health jurisdictions, a basic allotment of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000) per local health jurisdiction or $0.212426630 per capita, whichever is greater, subject to the availability of funds appropriated in the annual Budget Act or some other act.

The population estimates used for the calculation of the per capita allotment shall be based on the Department of Finance's E-1 Report, ''City/County Population Estimates with Annual Percentage Changes'' as of January 1 of the previous fiscal year. However, if within a county there are one or more city health jurisdictions, the county shall subtract the population of the city or cities from the county total population for purposes of calculating the per capita total. If the amounts appropriated are insufficient to fully fund the allocations specified in this subdivision, the state department shall prorate and adjust each local health jurisdiction's allocation using the same percentage that each local health jurisdiction's allocation represents to the total appropriation under the allocation methodology specified in this subdivision.

(b) A per capita allotment, determined as follows:

After deducting the amounts allowed for the basic allotment as provided in subdivision (a), the balance of the appropriation, if any, shall be allotted on a per capita basis to the administrative body of each local health jurisdiction in the proportion that the population of that local health jurisdiction bears to the population of all qualified local health jurisdictions of the state.

(c) Beginning in the 1998–99 fiscal year, funds appropriated for the purposes of this article shall be used to supplement existing levels of the services described in subdivision (d) provided by qualifying participating local health jurisdictions. As part of a county's or city's annual realignment trust fund report to the Controller, a participating county or city shall annually certify to the Controller that it has deposited county or city funds equal to or exceeding the amount described in subdivisions (a) and (b) of Section 17608.10 of the Welfare and Institutions Code. The county or city shall not be required to submit any additional reports or modifications to existing reports to document compliance with this subdivision. Funds shall be disbursed quarterly in advance to local health jurisdictions beginning July 1, 1998. If a county or city does not accept its allocation, any unallocated funds provided under this section shall be redistributed according to subdivision (b) to the participating counties and cities that remain.

(d) Funds shall be used for the following:

(1) Communicable disease control activities. Communicable disease control activities shall include, but not be limited to, communicable disease prevention, epidemiologic services, public health laboratory identification, surveillance, immunizations, followup care for sexually transmitted disease and tuberculosis control, and support services. Communicable disease control activities may include:

(A) Training of local public health, laboratory, environmental, and emergency medical services staff, including first responders, and the local medical community.

(B) Acquisition of communication and data systems necessary for effective disease tracking.

(C) Acquisition of protective equipment and other equipment and materials essential for communicable disease control activities.

(2) Community and public health surveillance activities. These activities shall include, but not be limited to, epidemiological analyses, and investigating, monitoring, and controlling illnesses due to natural or intentional biological, chemical, or other health threats.

(e) Funds also may be used for activities that increase the capacity of local public health jurisdictions to respond to potential biological and chemical terrorist threats, in the areas of communicable disease surveillance and control, public health laboratories, environmental health, and linkages to emergency medical services agencies.

(f) Funds shall not be used for medical care services, including jail medical care treatment, except as necessary for purposes of subdivision (d).

CHAPTER 1115

An act to amend Sections 2341 and 2854 of, and to add Section 1513.2 to, the Probate Code, and to amend Sections 366.4 and 11405 of the Welfare and Institutions Code, relating to conservators and guardians.

[Approved by Governor September 30, 2002. Filed with Secretary of State September 30, 2002.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. The Legislature finds and declares as follows:

(a) Children who are in foster care or at risk of entering foster care because their parents are unable to provide care and supervision are in need of stable and permanent relationships with responsible adult caregivers. When neither reunification with the parent nor adoption is available as a permanent plan for the child, legal guardianship can provide the safety and security of a permanent home for the child. While many relatives become legal guardians of foster children, foster parents are frequently willing to commit to becoming guardians of foster children in their care. Thus, foster parents are a valuable resource for the provision of permanency and stability for children who cannot be returned to their parents.

(b) Research shows that foster parents will often commit to becoming legal guardians for sibling groups of two or more foster children, thus ensuring that important sibling relationships are preserved. The maintenance of sibling relationships, as described in Section 16002 of the Welfare and Institutions Code, is a public policy priority.

(c) A recent change to Section 2341 of the Probate Code now requires as of January 1, 2000, that all ''private professional guardians'' register with the Statewide Registry and reregister every three years thereafter, and be subject to the payment of a registration and reregistration fee. ''Private professional guardians'' are defined as all unrelated persons appointed as guardians of the person, the estate, or both the person and the estate of two or more wards. This fee has been initially established at three hundred eighty-five dollars ($385) every three years.

(d) This required registration fee presents a financial hardship for existing foster parents who are guardians of two or more former foster children, and acts as a financial deterrent to foster parents considering guardianship for sibling groups in their care.

(e) Certain nonrelated adults who are appointed guardians of the person of foster children or children who are at risk of entry into foster care by juvenile or probate court are not the intended population to be monitored by the Statewide Registry. When nonrelated guardians are in receipt of assessment and case management services by the county welfare department pursuant to Section 11405 of the Welfare and Institutions Code there are sufficient safeguards in place to monitor the suitability and appropriateness of those nonrelated guardians of former foster care children or those children at risk of foster care placement.

(f) Therefore, it is the intent of the Legislature to exempt from the Statewide Registry those nonrelated guardians of the person of minors who were appointed by the juvenile court pursuant to Section 366.26 of the Welfare and Institutions Code, or appointed by the probate court pursuant to Section 1514 of the Probate Code and in receipt of AFDC-FC payments and case management services from the county welfare department, as evidenced by a Notice of Action of AFDC-FC eligibility.

SEC. 2. Section 1513.2 is added to the Probate Code, to read:

1513.2. (a) To the extent resources are available, the court shall implement procedures, as described in this section, to ensure that every guardian annually completes and returns to the court a status report, including the statement described in subdivision (b). A guardian who willfully submits any material information required by the form which he or she knows to be false shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Not later than one month prior to the date the status report is required to be returned, the clerk of the court shall mail to the guardian by first-class mail a notice informing the guardian that he or she is required to complete and return the status report to the court. The clerk shall enclose with the letter a blank status report form for the guardian to complete and return by mail. If the status report is not completed and returned as required, or if the court finds, after a status report has been completed and returned, that further information is needed, the court shall attempt to obtain the information required in the report from the guardian or other sources. If the court is unable to obtain this information within 30 days after the date the status report is due, the court shall either order the guardian to make himself or herself available to the investigator for purposes of investigation of the guardianship, or to show cause why the guardian should not be removed.

(b) The Judicial Council shall develop a form for the status report. The form shall include the following statement: ''A guardian who willfully submits any material information required by this form which he or she knows to be false is guilty of a misdemeanor.'' The form shall request information the Judicial Council deems necessary to determine the status of the guardianship, including, but not limited to, the following:

(1) The guardian's present address.

(2) The name and birth date of the child under guardianship.

(3) The name of the school in which the child is enrolled, if any.

(4) If the child is not in the guardian's home, the name, relationship, address, and telephone number of the person or persons with whom the child resides.

(5) If the child is not in the guardian's home, why the child was moved.

(c) The report authorized by this section is confidential and shall only be made available to persons who have been served in the proceedings or their attorneys. The clerk of the court shall implement procedures for the limitation of the report exclusively to persons entitled to its receipt.

(d) The Judicial Council shall report to the Legislature no later than December 31, 2004, regarding the costs and benefits of utilizing the annual status report.

SEC. 3. Section 2341 of the Probate Code is amended to read:

2341. (a) As used in this article, ''private professional conservator'' means a person or entity appointed as conservator of the person or estate, or both, of two or more conservatees at the same time who are not related to the conservator by blood or marriage, except a bank or other entity authorized to conduct the business of a trust company, or any public officer or public agency including the public guardian, public conservator, or other agency of the State of California. In the case of an entity, all natural persons who are authorized by the entity to perform the functions of a conservator shall comply with this article. The court may, at its discretion, require any person who is the conservator for only one conservatee not related to the conservator by blood or marriage to comply with this article, and in that case, references in this article to a ''private professional conservator'' includes those persons.

(b) As used in this article, ''private professional guardian'' means a person or entity appointed as guardian of the person or estate, or both, of two or more wards at the same time who are not related to the guardian by blood or marriage, except a bank or other entity authorized to conduct the business of a trust company, or any public officer or public agency including the public guardian, public conservator, or other agency of the State of California. In the case of an entity, all natural persons who are authorized by the entity to perform the functions of a guardian shall comply with this article. The court may, at its discretion, require any person who is the guardian for only one ward not related to the guardian by blood or marriage to comply with this article, and in that case, references in this article to a ''private professional guardian'' includes those persons.

As used in this article, ''private professional guardian'' does not include a nonrelated guardian of the person of a minor appointed by the court, where the appointment results from the selection of a permanency plan for a dependent child or ward pursuant to Section 366.26 of the Welfare and Institutions Code. It also does not include a nonrelated guardian of the person of a minor appointed by the court pursuant to Section 1514 if that child is in receipt of AFDC-FC payments and case management services from the county welfare department, as evidenced by a Notice of Action of AFDC-FC eligibility.

(c) As used in this article, ''private professional trustee'' means a nonprofit charitable corporation appointed as trustee pursuant to Section 15604.

SEC. 4. Section 2854 of the Probate Code is amended to read:

2854. (a) This chapter does not apply to any public conservator, public guardian, or to any conservator or guardian who is related to the conservatee or ward by blood, marriage, or adoption. This chapter does not apply to any person who is not required to file information with the county clerk pursuant to Section 2340, to any person or entity subject to the oversight of a local government, including an employee of a city, county, or city and county, or to any person or entity subject to the oversight of the state or federal government, including a supervised financial institution.

(b) This chapter does not apply to any conservator who resided in the same home with the conservatee immediately prior to the condition or event that gave rise to the necessity of a conservatorship. This subdivision does not create any order or preference of appointment, but simply exempts a conservator described by this subdivision from registration.

(c) This chapter does not apply to a nonrelated guardian of the person of a minor appointed by the court as the result of the selection of a permanency plan for a dependent child or ward pursuant to Section 366.26 of the Welfare and Institutions Code. It also does not include a nonrelated guardian of the person of a minor appointed pursuant to Section 1514 if that child is in receipt of AFDC-FC payments and case management services from the county welfare department, as evidenced by a Notice of Action of AFDC-FC eligibility.

SEC. 5. Section 366.4 of the Welfare and Institutions Code is amended to read:

366.4. (a) Any minor for whom a guardianship has been established resulting from the selection or implementation of a permanent plan pursuant to Section 366.26 is within the jurisdiction of the juvenile court. For those minors, Part 2 (commencing with Section 1500) of Division 4 of the Probate Code, relating to guardianship, shall not apply. CHAPTER 1116

An act to amend Section 10153.2 of, to amend, repeal, and add Section 10170.5 of, and to add and repeal Part 4 (commencing with Section 11500) of Division 4 of the Business and Professions Code, and to amend Sections 1363.5 and 1365 of the Civil Code, relating to common interest development managers.

[Approved by Governor September 30, 2002. Filed with Secretary of State September 30, 2002.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. The Legislature hereby finds and declares all of the following:

(a) A large number of Californians find housing in the more than 33,000 common interest developments in this state. California common interest developments contain over three million homes, that house more than nine million people.

(b) Homes in common interest developments are no different than homes that are not in that they most often represent the owner's single largest lifetime investment.

(c) The management and operation of common interest developments is governed by a complex set of laws contained in the Civil, Corporations, Government, and Health and Safety Codes, and in federal statutes. In addition to possessing an understanding of this significant body of law, the successful professional common interest development management and the operations of a common interest development require fundamental skills in subjects including, but not limited to, finance accounting and bookkeeping, contract administration, human resources, and parliamentary procedure.

(d) Common interest development managers are often delegated the authority, by the governing body of the common interest development, to collect and disburse substantial sums of money annually in homeowner assessments, for the purpose of maintaining and operating the community.

(e) The growth in common interest developments, coupled with the addition of governing statutes, has created a demand for individuals who possess the necessary skills and technical expertise to act as common interest development managers.

(f) Currently, individuals hired to manage common interest developments are not recognized by law as possessing any educational or management skill standards if they identify themselves as ''certified.'' In essence, any person can call himself or herself a certified common interest development manager without having received specific education and training in managing a common interest development.

(g) Those who reside in common interest developments in this state, or who participate as board members of homeowner associations of common interest developments, need to be assured that common interest development managers who refer to themselves as ''certified'' have met certain minimal education requirements and standards if they offer their services to California common interest developments as a ''certified'' common interest development manager.

SEC. 2. Section 10153.2 of the Business and Professions Code is amended to read:

10153.2. (a) An applicant to take the examination for an original real estate broker license shall also submit evidence, satisfactory to the commissioner, of successful completion, at an accredited institution, of:

(1) A three-semester unit course, or the quarter equivalent thereof, in each of the following:

(A) Real estate practice.

SEC. 4. Section 10170.5 is added to the Business and Professions Code, to read:

10170.5. SEC. 5. Part 4 (commencing with Section 11500) is added to Division 4 of the Business and Professions Code, to read:

These amounts shall be reported at the end of the fiscal year for which the study is prepared as separate line items under cash reserves pursuant to clause (ii). In lieu of

(c) In lieu of the distribution of the pro forma operating budget required by subdivision (a), the board of directors may elect to distribute a summary of the pro forma operating budget to all of its members with a written notice that the pro forma operating budget is available at the business office of the association or at another suitable location within the boundaries of the development, and that copies will be provided upon request and at the expense of the association. If the association receives any notice of nonrenewal of a policy described in paragraph (1), the association shall immediately notify its members if replacement coverage will not be in effect by the date the existing coverage will lapse.

(3) To the extent that any of the information required to be disclosed pursuant to paragraph (1) is specified in the insurance policy declaration page, the association may meet its obligation to disclose that information by making copies of that page and distributing it to all of its members.

(4) The summary distributed pursuant to paragraph (1) shall contain, in at least 10-point boldface type, the following statement: ''This summary of the association's policies of insurance provides only certain information, as required by subdivision (e) of Section 1365 of the Civil Code, and should not be considered a substitute for the complete policy terms and conditions contained in the actual policies of insurance. Any association member may, upon request and provision of reasonable notice, review the association's insurance policies and, upon request and payment of reasonable duplication charges, obtain copies of those policies. Although the association maintains the policies of insurance specified in this summary, the association's policies of insurance may not cover your property, including personal property or, real property improvements to or around your dwelling, or personal injuries or other losses that occur within or around your dwelling. Even if a loss is covered, you may nevertheless be responsible for paying all or a portion of any deductible that applies. Association members should consult with their individual insurance broker or agent for appropriate additional coverage."

(d) Any person or entity who willfully violates this section shall be liable to the purchaser of a separate interest which is subject to this section for actual damages occasioned thereby and, in addition, shall pay a civil penalty in an amount not to exceed five hundred dollars ($500). In an action to enforce this liability, the prevailing party shall be awarded reasonable attorneys' fees.

CHAPTER 1118

An act to amend Section 391.7 of the Code of Civil Procedure, to amend Sections 210, 3041, and 8804 of the Family Code, and to amend Sections 1000 and 1601 of, and to add Chapter 3 (commencing with Section 1610) to Part 2 of Division 4 of, the Probate Code, relating to guardianship, conservatorship, and custody.

[Approved by Governor September 30, 2002. Filed with Secretary of State September 30, 2002.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Section 391.7 of the Code of Civil Procedure is amended to read:

391.7. (a) In addition to any other relief provided in this title, the court may, on its own motion or the motion of any party, enter a prefiling order which prohibits a vexatious litigant from filing any new litigation in the courts of this state in propria persona without first obtaining leave of the presiding judge of the court where the litigation is proposed to be filed. Disobedience of the order by a vexatious litigant may be punished as a contempt of court.

(b) The presiding judge shall permit the filing of that litigation only if it appears that the litigation has merit and has not been filed for the purposes of harassment or delay. The presiding judge may condition the filing of the litigation upon the furnishing of security for the benefit of the defendants as provided in Section 391.3.

(c) The clerk may not file any litigation presented by a vexatious litigant subject to a prefiling order unless the vexatious litigant first obtains an order from the presiding judge permitting the filing. If the clerk mistakenly files the litigation without the order, any party may file with the clerk and serve on the plaintiff and other parties a notice stating that the plaintiff is a vexatious litigant subject to a prefiling order as set forth in subdivision (a). The filing of the notice shall automatically stay the litigation. The litigation shall be automatically dismissed unless the plaintiff within 10 days of the filing of that notice obtains an order from the presiding judge permitting the filing of the litigation as set forth in subdivision (b). If the presiding judge issues an order permitting the filing, the stay of the litigation shall remain in effect, and the defendants need not plead, until 10 days after the defendants are served with a copy of the order.

(d) For purposes of this section, ''litigation'' includes any petition, application, or motion other than a discovery motion, in a proceeding under the Family Code or Probate Code, for any order.

(e) The clerk of the court shall provide the Judicial Council a copy of any prefiling orders issued pursuant to subdivision (a). The Judicial Council shall maintain a record of vexatious litigants subject to those prefiling orders and shall annually disseminate a list of those persons to the clerks of the courts of this state.

SEC. 2. Section 210 of the Family Code is amended to read:

210. Except to the extent that any other statute or rules adopted by the Judicial Council provide applicable rules, the rules of practice and procedure applicable to civil actions generally, including the provisions of Title 3a (commencing with Section 391) of Part 2 of the Code of Civil Procedure, apply to, and constitute the rules of practice and procedure in, proceedings under this code.

SEC. 3. Section 3041 of the Family Code is amended to read:

3041. (a) Before making an order granting custody to a person or persons other than a parent, over the objection of a parent, the court shall make a finding that granting custody to a parent would be detrimental to the child and that granting custody to the nonparent is required to serve the best interest of the child. Allegations that parental custody would be detrimental to the child, other than a statement of that ultimate fact, shall not appear in the pleadings. The court may, in its discretion, exclude the public from the hearing on this issue.

(b) Subject to subdivision (d), a finding that parental custody would be detrimental to the child shall be supported by clear and convincing evidence.

(c) As used in this section, ''detriment to the child'' includes the harm of removal from a stable placement of a child with a person who has assumed, on a day-to-day basis, the role of his or her parent, fulfilling both the child's physical needs and the child's psychological needs for care and affection, and who has assumed that role for a substantial period of time. A finding of detriment does not require any finding of unfitness of the parents.

(d) Notwithstanding subdivision (b), if the court finds by a preponderance of the evidence that the person to whom custody may be given is a person described in subdivision (c), this finding shall constitute a finding that the custody is in the best interest of the child and that parental custody would be detrimental to the child absent a showing by a preponderance of the evidence to the contrary.

SEC. 4. Section 8804 of the Family Code is amended to read:

8804. (a) Whenever the petitioners move to withdraw the petition for the adoption or to dismiss the proceeding, the clerk of the court in which the proceeding is pending shall immediately notify the department at Sacramento of the action. The department or the delegated county adoption agency shall file a full report with the court recommending a suitable plan for the child in every case where the petitioners move to withdraw the petition for the adoption or where the department or delegated county adoption agency recommends that the petition for adoption be denied and shall appear before the court for the purpose of representing the child.

(b) Notwithstanding the withdrawal or dismissal of the petition, the court may retain jurisdiction over the child for the purposes of making any order for the child's custody that the court deems to be in the child's best interest.

(c) If a birth parent who did not place a child for adoption as specified in Section 8801.3 has refused to give the required consent, or a birth parent revokes consent as specified in Section 8814.5, the court shall order the child restored to the care and custody of the birth parent or parents subject to the provisions of Section 3041.

SEC. 5. Section 1000 of the Probate Code is amended to read:

1000. Except to the extent that this code provides applicable rules, the rules of practice applicable to civil actions, including discovery proceedings and proceedings under Title 3a (commencing with Section 391) of Part 2 of the Code of Civil Procedure, apply to, and constitute the rules of practice in, proceedings under this code. All issues of fact joined in probate proceedings shall be tried in conformity with the rules of practice in civil actions.

SEC. 6. Section 1601 of the Probate Code is amended to read:

1601. Upon petition of the guardian, a parent, or the ward, the court may make an order terminating the guardianship if the court determines that it is in the ward's best interest to terminate the guardianship. Notice of the hearing on the petition shall be given for the period and in the manner provided in Chapter 3 (commencing with Section 1460) of Part 1.

SEC. 7. Chapter 3 (commencing with Section 1610) is added to Part 2 of Division 4 of the Probate Code, to read:

CHAPTER 3. PERMANENT AND STABLE HOME

1610. (a) The Legislature finds and declares that it in the best interest of children to be raised in a permanent, safe, stable, and loving environment.

(b) Unwarranted petitions, applications, or motions other than discovery motions after the guardianship has been established create an environment that can be harmful to children and are inconsistent with the goals of permanency, safety, and stability.

1611. If a person files a petition for visitation, termination of the guardianship, or instruction to the guardian that is unmeritorious, or intended to harass or annoy the guardian, and the person has previously filed pleadings in the guardianship proceedings that were unmeritorious, or intended to harass or annoy the guardian, this petition shall be grounds for the court to determine that the person is a vexatious litigant for the purposes of Title 3a (commencing with Section 391) of Part 2 of the Code of Civil Procedure. For these purposes, the term ''new litigation'' shall include petitions for visitation, termination of the guardianship, or instruction to the guardian.

SECTION 1. Section 21080.5 of the Public Resources Code is amended to read:

21080.5. (a) Except as provided in Section 21158.1, when the regulatory program of a state agency requires a plan or other written documentation containing environmental information and complying with paragraph (3) of subdivision (d) to be submitted in support of any activity listed in subdivision (b), the plan or other written documentation may be submitted in lieu of the environmental impact report required by this division if the Secretary of the Resources Agency has certified the regulatory program pursuant to this section.

(b) This section applies only to regulatory programs or portions thereof that involve either of the following:

(1) The issuance to a person of a lease, permit, license, certificate, or other entitlement for use.

(2) The adoption or approval of standards, rules, regulations, or plans for use in the regulatory program.

(c) A regulatory program certified pursuant to this section is exempt from Chapter 3 (commencing with Section 21100), Chapter 4 (commencing with Section 21150), and Section 21167, except as provided in Article 2 (commencing with Section 21157) of Chapter 4.5.

(d) To qualify for certification pursuant to this section, a regulatory program shall require the utilization of an interdisciplinary approach that will ensure the integrated use of the natural and social sciences in decisionmaking and that shall meet all of the following criteria:

(1) The enabling legislation of the regulatory program does both of the following:

(A) Includes protection of the environment among its principal purposes.

(B) Contains authority for the administering agency to adopt rules and regulations for the protection of the environment, guided by standards set forth in the enabling legislation.

(2) The rules and regulations adopted by the administering agency for the regulatory program do all of the following:

(A) Require that an activity will not be approved or adopted as proposed if there are feasible alternatives or feasible mitigation measures available that would substantially lessen any significant adverse effect that the activity may have on the environment.

(B) Include guidelines for the orderly evaluation of proposed activities and the preparation of the plan or other written documentation in a manner consistent with the environmental protection purposes of the regulatory program.

(C) Require the administering agency to consult with all public agencies that have jurisdiction, by law, with respect to the proposed activity.

(D) Require that final action on the proposed activity include the written responses of the issuing authority to significant environmental points raised during the evaluation process.

(E) Require the filing of a notice of the decision by the administering agency on the proposed activity with the Secretary of the Resources Agency. Those notices shall be available for public inspection, and a list of the notices shall be posted on a weekly basis in the Office of the Resources Agency. Each list shall remain posted for a period of 30 days.

(F) Require notice of the filing of the plan or other written documentation to be made to the public and to any person who requests, in writing, notification. The notification shall be made in a manner that will provide the public or any person requesting notification with sufficient time to review and comment on the filing.

(3) The plan or other written documentation required by the regulatory program does both of the following:

(A) Includes a description of the proposed activity with alternatives to the activity, and mitigation measures to minimize any significant adverse effect on the environment of the activity.

(B) Is available for a reasonable time for review and comment by other public agencies and the general public.

(e) (1) The Secretary of the Resources Agency shall certify a regulatory program that the secretary determines meets all the qualifications for certification set forth in this section, and withdraw certification on determination that the regulatory program has been altered so that it no longer meets those qualifications. Certification and withdrawal of certification shall occur only after compliance with Chapter 3.5 (commencing with Section 11340) of Part 1 of Division 3 of Title 2 of the Government Code.

(2) In determining whether or not a regulatory program meets the qualifications for certification set forth in this section, the inquiry of the secretary shall extend only to the question of whether the regulatory program meets the generic requirements of subdivision (d). The inquiry shall not extend to individual decisions to be reached under the regulatory program, including the nature of specific alternatives or mitigation measures that might be proposed to lessen any significant adverse effect on the environment of the activity.

(3) If the secretary determines that the regulatory program submitted for certification does not meet the qualifications for certification set forth in this section, the secretary shall adopt findings setting forth the reasons for the determination.

(f) After a regulatory program has been certified pursuant to this section, any proposed change in the program that could affect compliance with the qualifications for certification specified in subdivision (d) may be submitted to the Secretary of the Resources Agency for review and comment. The scope of the secretary's review shall extend only to the question of whether the regulatory program meets the generic requirements of subdivision (d). The review shall not extend to individual decisions to be reached under the regulatory program, including specific alternatives or mitigation measures that might be proposed to lessen any significant adverse effect on the environment of the activity. The secretary shall have 30 days from the date of receipt of the proposed change to notify the state agency whether the proposed change will alter the regulatory program so that it no longer meets the qualification for certification established in this section and will result in a withdrawal of certification as provided in this section.

(g) Any action or proceeding to attack, review, set aside, void, or annul a determination or decision of a state agency approving or adopting a proposed activity under a regulatory program that has been certified pursuant to this section on the basis that the plan or other written documentation prepared pursuant to paragraph (3) of subdivision (d) does not comply with this section shall be commenced not later than 30 days from the date of the filing of notice of the approval or adoption of the activity.

(h) (1) Any action or proceeding to attack, review, set aside, void, or annul a determination of the Secretary of the Resources Agency to certify a regulatory program pursuant to this section on the basis that the regulatory program does not comply with this section shall be commenced within 30 days from the date of certification by the secretary.

(2) In any action brought pursuant to paragraph (1), the inquiry shall extend only to whether there was a prejudicial abuse of discretion by the secretary. Abuse of discretion is established if the secretary has not proceeded in a manner required by law or if the determination is not supported by substantial evidence.

(i) For purposes of this section, any county agricultural commissioner is a state agency.

(j) For purposes of this section, any air quality management district or air pollution control district is a state agency, except that the approval, if any, by a district of a nonattainment area plan is subject to this section only if, and to the extent that, the approval adopts or amends rules or regulations.

(k) (1) The secretary, by July 1, 2003, shall develop a protocol for reviewing the prospective application of certified regulatory programs to evaluate the consistency of those programs with the requirements of this division. Following the completion of the development of the protocol, the secretary shall provide a report to the Senate Committee on Environmental Quality and the Assembly Committee on Natural Resources regarding the need for a grant of additional statutory authority authorizing the secretary to undertake a review of the certified regulatory programs.

(2) The secretary shall provide a significant opportunity for public participation in developing the protocol described in paragraph (1) including, but not limited to, at least two public meetings with interested parties. A notice of each meeting shall be provided at least 10 days prior to the meeting to any person who files a written request for a notice with the agency.

SEC. 2. Section 21151 of the Public Resources Code is amended to read:

21151. (a) All local agencies shall prepare, or cause to be prepared by contract, and certify the completion of, an environmental impact report on any project that they intend to carry out or approve which may have a significant effect on the environment. When a report is required by Section 65402 of the Government Code, the environmental impact report may be submitted as a part of that report.

(b) For purposes of this section, any significant effect on the environment shall be limited to substantial, or potentially substantial, adverse changes in physical conditions which exist within the area as defined in Section 21060.5.

(c) If a nonelected decisionmaking body of a local lead agency certifies an environmental impact report, approves a negative declaration or mitigated negative declaration, or determines that a project is not subject to this division, that certification, approval, or determination may be appealed to the agency's elected decisionmaking body, if any.

SEC. 3. Section 21159.9 of the Public Resources Code is amended to read:

21159.9. The Office of Planning and Research shall implement, utilizing existing resources, a public assistance and information program, to ensure efficient and effective implementation of this division, to do all of the following:

(a) Establish a public education and training program for planners, developers, and other interested parties to assist them in implementing this division.

(b) Establish and maintain a data base to assist in the preparation of environmental documents.

(c) Establish and maintain a central repository for the collection, storage, retrieval, and dissemination of notices of exemption, notices of preparation, notices of determination, and notices of completion provided to the office, and make the notices available through the Internet. The office may coordinate with another state agency for that agency to make the notices available through the Internet.

(d) Commencing January 1, 2003, copies of any documents submitted in electronic format to the Office of Planning and Research pursuant to this division shall be furnished by the office to the California State Library. The California State Library shall be the repository for those electronic documents, which shall be made available for viewing by the general public upon request.

SEC. 4. Section 21167.6 of the Public Resources Code is amended to read:

21167.6. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, in all actions or proceedings brought pursuant to Section 21167, except those involving the Public Utilities Commission, all of the following shall apply:

(a) At the time that the action or proceeding is filed, the plaintiff or petitioner shall file a request that the respondent public agency prepare the record of proceedings relating to the subject of the action or proceeding. The request, together with the complaint or petition, shall be served personally upon the public agency not later than 10 business days from the date that the action or proceeding was filed.

(b) (1) The public agency shall prepare and certify the record of proceedings not later than 60 days from the date that the request specified in subdivision (a) was served upon the public agency. Upon certification, the public agency shall lodge a copy of the record of proceedings with the court and shall serve on the parties notice that the record of proceedings has been certified and lodged with the court. The parties shall pay any reasonable costs or fees imposed for the preparation of the record of proceedings in conformance with any law or rule of court.

(2) The plaintiff or petitioner may elect to prepare the record of proceedings or the parties may agree to an alternative method of preparation of the record of proceedings, subject to certification of its accuracy by the public agency, within the time limit specified in this subdivision.

(c) The time limit established by subdivision (b) may be extended only upon the stipulation of all parties who have been properly served in the action or proceeding or upon order of the court. Extensions shall be liberally granted by the court when the size of the record of proceedings renders infeasible compliance with that time limit. There is no limit on the number of extensions that may be granted by the court, but no single extension shall exceed 60 days unless the court determines that a longer extension is in the public interest.

(d) If the public agency fails to prepare and certify the record within the time limit established in paragraph (1) of subdivision (b), or any continuances of that time limit, the plaintiff or petitioner may move for sanctions, and the court may, upon that motion, grant appropriate sanctions.

(e) The record of proceedings shall include, but is not limited to, all of the following items:

(1) All project application materials.

(2) All staff reports and related documents prepared by the respondent public agency with respect to its compliance with the substantive and procedural requirements of this division and with respect to the action on the project.

(3) All staff reports and related documents prepared by the respondent public agency and written testimony or documents submitted by any person relevant to any findings or statement of overriding considerations adopted by the respondent agency pursuant to this division.

(4) Any transcript or minutes of the proceedings at which the decisionmaking body of the respondent public agency heard testimony on, or considered any environmental document on, the project, and any transcript or minutes of proceedings before any advisory body to the respondent public agency that were presented to the decisionmaking body prior to action on the environmental documents or on the project.

(5) All notices issued by the respondent public agency to comply with this division or with any other law governing the processing and approval of the project.

(6) All written comments received in response to, or in connection with, environmental documents prepared for the project, including responses to the notice of preparation.

(7) All written evidence or correspondence submitted to, or transferred from, the respondent public agency with respect to compliance with this division or with respect to the project.

(8) Any proposed decisions or findings submitted to the decisionmaking body of the respondent public agency by its staff, or the project proponent, project opponents, or other persons.

(9) The documentation of the final public agency decision, including the final environmental impact report, mitigated negative declaration, or negative declaration, and all documents, in addition to those referenced in paragraph (3), cited or relied on in the findings or in a statement of overriding considerations adopted pursuant to this division.

(10) Any other written materials relevant to the respondent public agency's compliance with this division or to its decision on the merits of the project, including the initial study, any drafts of any environmental document, or portions thereof, that have been released for public review, and copies of studies or other documents relied upon in any environmental document prepared for the project and either made available to the public during the public review period or included in the respondent public agency's files on the project, and all internal agency communications, including staff notes and memoranda related to the project or to compliance with this division.

(11) The full written record before any inferior administrative decisionmaking body whose decision was appealed to a superior administrative decisionmaking body prior to the filing of litigation.

(f) In preparing the record of proceedings, the party preparing the record shall strive to do so at reasonable cost in light of the scope of the record.

(g) The clerk of the superior court shall prepare and certify the clerk's transcript on appeal not later than 60 days from the date that the notice designating the papers or records to be included in the clerk's transcript was filed with the superior court, if the party or parties pay any costs or fees for the preparation of the clerk's transcript imposed in conformance with any law or rules of court. Nothing in this subdivision precludes an election to proceed by appendix, as provided in Rule 5.1 of the California Rules of Court.

(h) Extensions of the period for the filing of any brief on appeal may be allowed only by stipulation of the parties or by order of the court for good cause shown. Extensions for the filing of a brief on appeal shall be limited to one 30-day extension for the preparation of an opening brief, and one 30-day extension for the preparation of a responding brief, except that the court may grant a longer extension or additional extensions if it determines that there is a substantial likelihood of settlement that would avoid the necessity of completing the appeal.

(i) At the completion of the filing of briefs on appeal, the appellant shall notify the court of the completion of the filing of briefs, whereupon the clerk of the reviewing court shall set the appeal for hearing on the first available calendar date.

SEC. 5. Section 21167.6.5 is added to the Public Resources Code, to read:

21167.6.5. (a) The petitioner or plaintiff shall name, as a real party in interest, any recipient of an approval that is the subject of an action or proceeding brought pursuant to Section 21167, 21168, or 21168.5, and shall serve the petition or complaint on that real party in interest, by personal service, mail facsimile, or any other method permitted by law not later than 20 business days following service of the petition or complaint on the public agency.

(b) The public agency shall provide the petitioner or plaintiff, not later than 10 business days following service of the petition or complaint on the public agency, with a list of responsible agencies and any public agency having jurisdiction over a natural resource affected by the project.

(c) The petitioner or plaintiff shall provide the responsible agencies, and any public agency having jurisdiction over a natural resource affected by the project, with notice of the action or proceeding within 15 days of receipt of the list described in subdivision (b).

(d) Failure to name potential parties, other than those described in subdivision (a) or (b), is not grounds for dismissal pursuant to Section 389 of the Code of Civil Procedure.

(e) Nothing in this section is intended to affect an existing right of a party to intervene in the action.

SEC. 6. Notwithstanding Section 17610 of the Government Code, if the Commission on State Mandates determines that this act contains costs mandated by the state, reimbursement to local agencies and school districts for those costs shall be made pursuant to Part 7 (commencing with Section 17500) of Division 4 of Title 2 of the Government Code. If the statewide cost of the claim for reimbursement does not exceed one million dollars ($1,000,000), reimbursement shall be made from the State Mandates Claims Fund.

[Approved by Governor September 30, 2002. Filed with Secretary of State September 30, 2002.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Section 10430 of the Public Contract Code is amended to read:

SEC. 2. Article 4 (commencing with Section 10515) is added to Chapter 2.1 of Part 2 of Division 2 of the Public Contract Code, to read:

Article 4. Conflict of Interest

10515. (a) No person, firm, or subsidiary thereof who has been awarded a consulting services contract may submit a bid for, nor be awarded a contract on or after January 1, 2003, for, the provision of services, procurement of goods or supplies, or any other related action that is required, suggested, or otherwise deemed appropriate in the end product of the consulting services contract.

(b) Subdivision (a) does not apply to any person, firm, or subsidiary thereof who is awarded a subcontract of a consulting services contract that amounts to no more than 10 percent of the total monetary value of the consulting services contract.

10516. No officer or employee of the University of California shall engage in any employment, activity, or enterprise from which the officer or employee receives compensation or in which the officer or employee has a financial interest if that employment, activity, or enterprise is sponsored or funded, or sponsored and funded, by any university department through or by a university contract unless the employment, activity, or enterprise is within the course and scope of the officer's or employee's regular university employment. This section shall not apply to officers or employees of the university with teaching or research responsibilities.

10517. (a) No retired, dismissed, separated, or formerly employed person of the University of California employed with the university or otherwise appointed to serve in the university may enter into a contract

The subscriber's placement on the ''do not call'' list shall expire three years after the date on which the subscriber's telephone number and ZIP Code first became available on the list to telephone solicitors. The Attorney General shall triennially charge these subscribers a fee not to exceed five dollars ($5). A subscriber may exclude from the coverage of the ''do not call'' list telephone calls from entities identified by the subscriber. The subscriber shall designate any exclusions in the manner prescribed by the Attorney General.

(c) Telephone solicitors, as defined in Section 17592, shall obtain copies of the ''do not call'' list by paying a fee to the Attorney General in an amount not to exceed the costs incurred by the Attorney General in the preparation, maintenance, production, and distribution of that list. The Attorney General shall establish a sliding scale fee schedule, charging a telephone solicitor with more than 1,000 employees or independent contractors the maximum fee and charging a telephone solicitor with fewer than five full-time employees no fee. The Attorney General shall provide a telephone solicitor the option of paying this fee on a quarterly or annual basis. The Attorney General shall offer a statewide list and shall also offer lists of areas within the state. The determination of the number and definition of areas shall be within the discretion of the Attorney General.

(d) The Attorney General shall utilize the best available, cost-effective technology to ensure that subscribers may easily place their telephone numbers on the ''do not call'' list. This technology includes, but is not limited to, methods by which a subscriber may effect placement on the list by using a state-designated Internet Web site or a designated, statewide toll-free telephone number. When the subscriber utilizes the toll-free telephone number method, the subscriber shall call from the telephone that is also the number to be included on the list. The Attorney General shall also utilize the best available, cost-effective technology to ensure that telephone solicitors may easily obtain and manipulate the ''do not call'' list. This technology may include, but is not limited to, methods that are computer compatible and that allow the downloading of the list and the sorting of the list by ZIP Code and that make the list available on CD-ROM. The Attorney General may contract with a private vendor to establish, maintain, and administer the ''do not call'' list and a contract entered into in that regard shall include appropriate provisions to protect the confidentiality of subscriber information. The Attorney General may promulgate regulations to implement the provisions of this article.

(e) It is the intent of the Legislature that the fees paid to the Attorney General by telephone solicitors and subscribers be utilized by the Attorney General in carrying out this article. The Attorney General shall annually reduce the amount of the fee paid by subscribers and telephone solicitors set forth in this section based on revenue history and costs so that the fees do not exceed the actual estimated costs in carrying out this article. The fees obtained by the Attorney General shall be deposited in the Special Telephone Solicitors Fund, which is hereby created. All moneys in the fund shall be subject to annual appropriation in the Budget Act.

(f) A person or entity that obtains a ''do not call'' list shall not use the list for any purpose other than to comply with this article. These unlawful purposes include, but are not limited to, causing a subscriber to participate in and be included on, the ''do not call'' list without the subscriber's knowledge or consent, selling or leasing the ''do not call'' list to a person other than a telephone solicitor, selling or leasing by a telephone solicitor of the ''do not call'' list, and a telephone solicitor, either directly or indirectly, persuading a subscriber with whom it has an established business relationship to place his or her telephone number on the ''do not call'' list, if the solicitation has the effect of preventing competitors from contacting that solicitor's customers.

(b) If late enactment of the annual Budget Act contributes to the abolishment of any proposed new position or positions, or if significant recruitment problems for hard-to-fill classifications, as determined by the Department of Finance, contribute to the abolishment of positions, a state agency may submit a written request for reestablishment of the positions to the Director of Finance. The positions may be reestablished upon approval granted by the Director of Finance.

(c) The only exceptions to this abolishment are those positions exempt from civil service or those instructional and instruction-related positions authorized for the California State University. No money appropriated by the subsequent Budget Act shall be used to pay the salary of any otherwise authorized state position that is abolished pursuant to this section.

(d) The Controller, no later than the following August 1 of each succeeding fiscal year, shall notify the Department of Finance in writing of any authorized state position that was vacant continuously during that period.

SEC. 18. The state's current fiscal condition has necessitated the reallocation of a local assistance appropriation, contained in the Budget Act of 2000, for the Office of Criminal Justice Planning, that was designated for a regional crime laboratory to serve criminal justice agencies in Southern California. Notwithstanding this action, and in furtherance of the mission of the Office of Criminal Justice Planning, the Legislature finds that there is a need for a regional crime laboratory in Los Angeles County and that the state is benefited when multiple state and local criminal justice and educational agencies are allowed to jointly use, maintain, staff, and operate a regional crime laboratory facility. Accordingly, the acquisition, development, design, and construction of a regional crime laboratory in the City and County of Los Angeles is hereby authorized, to be jointly used, maintained, staffed, and operated by various interested state agencies and educational institutions, together with the Los Angeles Regional Crime Laboratory Facility Authority, a joint powers agency consisting of the County of Los Angeles on behalf of its sheriff and the City of Los Angeles on behalf of its police department.

Further, the Los Angeles Regional Crime Laboratory Facility Authority is authorized to assign, and the director is authorized to accept, all contracts already entered into by the Los Angeles Regional Crime Laboratory Facility Authority for the development and design of this project. It is acknowledged that these contracts will have to be modified to make them consistent with the standards for state projects. The director is additionally authorized to enter into a long-term ground lease for 75 years with the Trustees of the California State University for the land within the Los Angeles campus on which the project is to be constructed. At the end of the ground lease term, unencumbered title to the land shall return to the trustees and, at the option of the trustees, ownership of any improvements constructed pursuant to this section shall vest in the trustees. The trustees are authorized and directed to fully cooperate and enter into a ground lease with the Department of General Services upon the terms and conditions that will facilitate the financing of this project by the State Public Works Board. The trustees shall obtain concurrence from the Los Angeles Regional Crime Laboratory Facility Authority in the development of the long-term ground lease referenced in this section. In his or her capacity, the director is directed to obtain concurrence and approval from the trustees relating to the design and construction of the facility consistent with the trustees' reasonable requirements.

(c) The State Public Works Board and the Office of Criminal Justice Planning may borrow funds for project costs from the Pooled Money Investment Account, pursuant to Sections 16312 and 16313, or from any other appropriate source. In the event the bonds authorized by this section for the project are not sold, the Office of Criminal Justice Planning shall commit a sufficient amount of its support appropriation to repay any loans made for the project.

(d) The amount of lease revenue bonds, negotiable notes, or negotiable bond anticipation notes to be issued by the State Public Works Board shall not exceed ninety-two million dollars ($92,000,000) and any additional sums necessary to pay interim and permanent financing costs. The additional sums may also include interest and a reasonably required reserve fund. This amount includes additional estimated project costs associated with reformatting the initial local assistance appropriation into a state managed and constructed regional crime laboratory project.

(e) The Office of Criminal Justice Planning may execute a contract with the State Public Works Board for the lease of the regional crime laboratory facilities described in this section that are financed with the proceeds of the board's bonds. Further, and notwithstanding any other provision of law, the Office of Criminal Justice Planning is authorized to enter into contracts and subleases with the trustees, the Los Angeles Regional Crime Laboratory Facility Authority, the Department of Justice, and any other appropriate state or local agency, with the consent of the State Public Works Board and the Department of General Services, for the use, maintenance, and operation of the financed regional crime laboratory facilities described in this section.

(1) For each program of commercial paper notes authorized, the final date of maturity and the total aggregate principal amount of the commercial paper notes authorized to be outstanding at any one time up to the maturity date. The resolution may provide that the commercial paper notes may be issued and renewed from time to time until the final maturity date, and that the amount issued from time to time may be set by the Treasurer up to the maximum amount authorized to be outstanding at any one time. The resolution shall include methods of setting the dates, numbers, and denominations of the commercial paper notes. (4) Consistent with the intent for the General Fund to realize a savings in debt service costs when commercial paper notes are issued in place of bonds without shifting or adding financing and debt service costs to the bond funds, the state administrative costs of commercial paper and interest payable and other costs associated with commercial paper notes shall be paid for as follows:

(A) The proceeds of commercial paper notes are, notwithstanding Section 13340, continuously appropriated to pay the state administrative costs of commercial paper including, but not limited to, costs of the Treasurer's office, the Controller's office, and the Department of Finance.

This account shall operate as a revolving fund and whenever notes are sold, out of the first money realized from their sale, any remaining expenses shall be paid and then there shall be redeposited in the account any amounts that have been expended for the above purposes, which amounts may be used for the same purposes and repaid in the same manner whenever additional sales are made.

SEC. 30.2. Section 17551 of the Government Code is amended to read:

(b) Commission review of claims may be had pursuant to subdivision (a) only if the test claim is filed within the time limits specified in this section.

(c) Local agency and school district test claims shall be filed not later than three years following the date the mandate became effective, or in the case of mandates that became effective before January 1, 2002, the time limit shall be one year from the effective date of this subdivision.

(d) The commission, pursuant to the provisions of this chapter, shall hear and decide upon a claim by a local agency or school district filed on or after January 1, 1985, that the Controller has incorrectly reduced payments to the local agency or school district pursuant to paragraph (2) of subdivision (d) of Section 17561.

However, if no funds are appropriated for the program for the fiscal year for which the claim is made, the time for the Controller to initiate an audit shall commence to run from the date of initial payment of the claim.

(b) The Controller shall notify the claimant in writing within 30 days after issuance of a remittance advice of any adjustment to a claim for reimbursement that results from an audit or review. The notification shall specify the claim components adjusted, the amounts adjusted, interest charges on claims adjusted to reduce the overall reimbursement to the local agency or school district, and the reason for the adjustment. Remittance advices and other notices of payment action shall not constitute notice of adjustment from an audit or review.

(c) The interest rate charged by the Controller on reduced claims shall be set at the Pooled Money Investment Account rate and shall be imposed on the dollar amount of the overpaid claim from the time the claim was paid until overpayment is satisfied.

(d) Nothing in this section shall be construed to limit the adjustment of payments when inaccuracies are determined to be the result of the intent to defraud, or when a delay in the completion of an audit is the result of willful acts by the claimant or inability to reach agreement on terms of final settlement.

SEC. 30.6. Section 17561 of the Government Code is amended to read:

17561. (a) The state shall reimburse each local agency and school district for all ''costs mandated by the state,'' as defined in Section 17514.

(b) (1) For the initial fiscal year during which these costs are incurred, reimbursement funds shall be provided as follows:

(A) Any statute mandating these costs shall provide an appropriation therefor.

(B) Any executive order mandating these costs shall be accompanied by a bill appropriating the funds therefor, or alternatively, an appropriation for these costs shall be included in the Budget Bill for the next succeeding fiscal year. The executive order shall cite that item of appropriation in the Budget Bill or that appropriation in any other bill which is intended to serve as the source from which the Controller may pay the claims of local agencies and school districts.

(2) In subsequent fiscal years appropriations for these costs shall be included in the annual Governor's Budget and in the accompanying Budget Bill. In addition, appropriations to reimburse local agencies and school districts for continuing costs resulting from chaptered bills or executive orders for which claims have been awarded pursuant to subdivision (a) of Section 17551 shall be included in the annual Governor's Budget and in the accompanying Budget Bill subsequent to the enactment of the local government claims bill pursuant to Section 17600 that includes the amounts awarded relating to these chaptered bills or executive orders.

(c) The amount appropriated to reimburse local agencies and school districts for costs mandated by the state shall be appropriated to the Controller for disbursement.

(d) The Controller shall pay any eligible claim pursuant to this section within 60 days after the filing deadline for claims for reimbursement or 15 days after the date the appropriation for the claim is effective, whichever is later. The Controller shall disburse reimbursement funds to local agencies or school districts if the costs of these mandates are not payable to state agencies, or to state agencies that would otherwise collect the costs of these mandates from local agencies or school districts in the form of fees, premiums, or payments. When disbursing reimbursement funds to local agencies or school districts, the Controller shall disburse them as follows:

(1) For initial reimbursement claims, the Controller shall issue claiming instructions to the relevant local agencies pursuant to Section 17558. Issuance of the claiming instructions shall constitute a notice of the right of the local agencies and school districts to file reimbursement claims, based upon parameters and guidelines adopted by the commission.

(A) When claiming instructions are issued by the Controller pursuant to Section 17558 for each mandate determined pursuant to Section 17555 that requires state reimbursement, each local agency or school district to which the mandate is applicable shall submit claims for initial fiscal year costs to the Controller within 120 days of the issuance date for the claiming instructions.

(B) When the commission is requested to review the claiming instructions pursuant to Section 17571, each local agency or school district to which the mandate is applicable shall submit a claim for reimbursement within 120 days after the commission reviews the claiming instructions for reimbursement issued by the Controller.

(C) If the local agency or school district does not submit a claim for reimbursement within the 120-day period, or submits a claim pursuant to revised claiming instructions, it may submit its claim for reimbursement as specified in Section 17560. The Controller shall pay these claims from the funds appropriated therefor, provided that the Controller (i) may audit the records of any local agency or school district to verify the actual amount of the mandated costs, and (ii) may reduce any claim that the Controller determines is excessive or unreasonable.

(2) In subsequent fiscal years each local agency or school district shall submit its claims as specified in Section 17560. The Controller shall pay these claims from funds appropriated therefor, provided that the Controller (A) may audit the records of any local agency or school district to verify the actual amount of the mandated costs, (B) may reduce any claim that the Controller determines is excessive or unreasonable, and (C) shall adjust the payment to correct for any underpayments or overpayments which occurred in previous fiscal years.

(3) When paying a timely filed claim for initial reimbursement, the Controller shall withhold 20 percent of the amount of the claim until the claim is audited to verify the actual amount of the mandated costs. All initial reimbursement claims for all fiscal years required to be filed on their initial filing date for a state-mandated local program shall be considered as one claim for the purpose of computing any late claim penalty. Any claim for initial reimbursement filed after the filing deadline shall be reduced by 10 percent of the amount that would have been allowed had the claim been timely filed. The Controller may withhold payment of any late claim for initial reimbursement until the next deadline for funded claims unless sufficient funds are available to pay the claim after all timely filed claims have been paid. In no case shall a reimbursement claim be paid if submitted more than one year after the filing deadline specified in the Controller's claiming instructions on funded mandates contained in a claims bill.

SEC. 30.8. Section 17562 of the Government Code is amended to read:

17562. (a) The Legislature hereby finds and declares that the increasing revenue constraints on state and local government and the increasing costs of financing state-mandated local programs make evaluation of state-mandated local programs imperative. Accordingly, it is the intent of the Legislature to increase information regarding state mandates and establish a method for regularly reviewing the costs and benefits of state-mandated local programs.

(b) The Controller shall submit a report to the Joint Legislative Budget Committee and fiscal committees by January 1 of each year. This report shall summarize, by state mandate, the total amount of claims paid per fiscal year and the amount, if any, of mandate deficiencies or surpluses. This report shall be made available in an electronic spreadsheet format. The report shall compare the annual cost of each mandate to the statewide cost estimate adopted by the commission.

(c) After the commission submits its second semiannual report to the Legislature pursuant to Section 17600, the Legislative Analyst shall submit a report to the Joint Legislative Budget Committee and legislative fiscal committees on the mandates included in the commission's reports. The report shall make recommendations as to whether the mandate should be repealed, funded, suspended, or modified.

(d) In its annual analysis of the Budget Bill and based on information provided pursuant to subdivision (b), the Legislative Analyst shall identify mandates that significantly exceed the statewide cost estimate adopted by the commission. The Legislative Analyst shall make recommendations on whether the mandate should be repealed, funded, suspended, or modified.

(e) (1) A statewide association of local agencies or a Member of the Legislature may submit a proposal to the Legislature recommending the elimination or modification of a state-mandated local program. To make such a proposal, the association or member shall submit a letter to the Chairs of the Assembly Committee on Local Government and the Senate Committee on Local Government specifying the mandate and the concerns and recommendations regarding the mandate. The association or member shall include in the proposal all information relevant to the conclusions. If the chairs of the committees desire additional analysis of the submitted proposal, the chairs may refer the proposal to the Legislative Analyst for review and comment. The chairs of the committees may refer up to a total of 10 of these proposals to the Legislative Analyst for review in any year. Referrals shall be submitted to the Legislative Analyst by December 1 of each year.

(2) The Legislative Analyst shall review and report to the Legislature with regard to each proposal that is referred to the office pursuant to paragraph (1). The Legislative Analyst shall recommend that the Legislature adopt, reject, or modify the proposal. The report and recommendations shall be submitted annually to the Legislature by March 1 of the year subsequent to the year in which referrals are submitted to the Legislative Analyst.

(3) The Department of Finance shall review all statutes enacted each year that contain provisions making inoperative Section 2229 or Section 2230 of the Revenue and Taxation Code or Section 17561 or Section 17565 that have resulted in costs or revenue losses mandated by the state that were not identified when the statute was enacted. The review shall identify the costs or revenue losses involved in complying with the statutes. The Department of Finance shall also review all statutes enacted each year that may result in cost savings authorized by the state. The Department of Finance shall submit an annual report of the review required by this subdivision, together with the recommendations as it may deem appropriate, by December 1 of each year.

(f) It is the intent of the Legislature that the Assembly Committee on Local Government and the Senate Committee on Local Government hold a joint hearing each year regarding the following:

(1) The reports and recommendations submitted pursuant to subdivision (e).

(2) The reports submitted pursuant to Sections 17570, 17600, and 17601.

(3) Legislation to continue, eliminate, or modify any provision of law reviewed pursuant to this subdivision. The legislation may be by subject area or by year or years of enactment.

17564. (a) No claim shall be made pursuant to Sections 17551 and 17561, nor shall any payment be made on claims submitted pursuant to Sections 17551 and 17561, unless these claims exceed one thousand dollars ($1,000), provided that a county superintendent of schools or county may submit a combined claim on behalf of school districts, direct service districts, or special districts within their county if the combined claim exceeds one thousand dollars ($1,000) even if the individual school district's, direct service district's, or special district's claims do not each exceed one thousand dollars ($1,000). The county superintendent of schools or the county shall determine if the submission of the combined claim is economically feasible and shall be responsible for disbursing the funds to each school, direct service, or special district. These combined claims may be filed only when the county superintendent of schools or the county is the fiscal agent for the districts. All subsequent claims based upon the same mandate shall only be filed in the combined form unless a school district, direct service district, or special district provides to the county superintendent of schools or county and to the Controller, at least 180 days prior to the deadline for filing the claim, a written notice of its intent to file a separate claim.

(b) Claims for direct and indirect costs filed pursuant to Section 17561 shall be filed in the manner prescribed in the parameters and guidelines.

(b) The clerk of the court shall cause the amount collected to be transmitted to the Trial Court Trust Fund.

(c) It is the intent of the Legislature that nothing in this section shall change the existing distribution or amounts of the fees specified in paragraph (1) of subdivision (c) of Section 68085 provided to local jurisdictions and the state.

(d) This section shall become inoperative on July 1, 2007, and as of January 1, 2008, is repealed, unless a later enacted statute, that becomes operative on or before January 1, 2008, deletes or extends that date.

SEC. 32. Section 18909 of the Health and Safety Code is amended to read:

18909. (a) ''Building standard'' means any rule, regulation, order, or other requirement, including any amendment or repeal of that requirement, that specifically regulates, requires, or forbids the method of use, properties, performance, or types of materials used in the construction, alteration, improvement, repair, or rehabilitation of a building, structure, factory-built housing, or other improvement to real property, including fixtures therein, and as determined by the commission.

(b) Except as provided in subdivision (d), ''building standard'' includes architectural and design functions of a building or structure, including, but not limited to, number and location of doors, windows, and other openings, stress or loading characteristics of materials, and methods of fabrication, clearances, and other functions.

(d) ''Building standard'' does not include any safety regulations that any state agency is authorized to adopt relating to the operation of machinery and equipment used in manufacturing, processing, or fabricating, including, but not limited to, warehousing and food processing operations, but not including safety regulations relating to permanent appendages, accessories, apparatus, appliances, and equipment attached to the building as a part thereof, as determined by the commission.

18937. (a) Emergency standards shall be acted on by the commission within 30 days and only when the adopting agency or state agency that proposes the building standards has made the finding of emergency required by Sections 11346.1 and 11346.5 of the Government Code and the adopting agencies have adopted the emergency standard in compliance with Section 11346.1 of the Government Code, and the commission concurs with that finding. Both the concurrence and the approval of the emergency building standards require an affirmative vote of two-thirds of the members of the commission attending a meeting, or not less than six affirmative votes, whichever is greater.

(b) Emergency standards approved by the commission pursuant to subdivision (a) shall be filed by the commission pursuant to Section 11346.1 of the Government Code and shall be subject to that section.

SEC. 35. Section 18938 of the Health and Safety Code is amended to read:

18938. (a) Building standards shall be filed with the Secretary of State and codified only after they have been approved by the commission and shall not be published in any other title of the California Code of Regulations. Emergency building standards shall be filed with the Secretary of State and shall take effect only after they have been approved by the commission as required by Section 18937. The filing of building standards adopted or approved pursuant to this part, or any certification with respect thereto, with the Secretary of State, or elsewhere as required by law, shall be done solely by the commission.

(c) Except as otherwise provided in this subdivision, an adoption, amendment, or repeal of a building standard shall become effective 180 days after its publication in the triennial edition of the California Building Standards Code or one of its supplements, or at any later date as approved by the California Building Standards Commission, with the exceptions of standards adopted pursuant to Section 25402 of the Public Resources Code and those regulations that implement or enforce building standards. Regulations that implement or enforce building standards shall become effective 30 days after filing by the commission with the Secretary of State. This subdivision shall not apply to emergency building standards. An amendment or a repeal of a building standard in the California Building Standards Code that, as determined by the commission, would result in a less restrictive regulation, shall become effective 30 days after filing of the amendment or repeal by the commission with the Secretary of State.

(d) Emergency standards defined in subdivision (a) of Section 18913 shall become effective when approved by the commission, and filed with the Secretary of State, or upon any later date specified therein, and remain in effect as provided by Section 11346.1 of the Government Code and Section 18937 of this code. 18942. (a) The commission shall publish, or cause to be published, editions of the code in its entirety once in every three years. In each intervening year the commission shall publish, or cause to be published, supplements as necessary. For emergency building standards defined in subdivision (a) of Section 18913, an emergency building standards supplement shall be published whenever the commission determines it is necessary.

(b) The commission shall publish the text of Article 2.5 (commencing with Section 115920) of Chapter 5 of Part 10 of Division 104, within the California Code of Regulations, Title 24, Part 2 requirements for single-family residential occupancies, with the following note:

"NOTE: These regulations are subject to local government modification. You should verify the applicable local government requirements at the time of application for a building permit."

(c) The commission may publish, stockpile, and sell at a reasonable price the code and any materials incorporated therein by reference if it deems the latter is insufficiently available to the public, or unavailable at a reasonable price. Each state department concerned and each city, county, or city and county shall have an up-to-date copy of the code available for public inspection.

(d) (1) Each city, county, and city and county, including charter cities, shall obtain and maintain with all revisions on a current basis, at least one copy of the building standards and other state regulations relating to buildings published in Titles 8, 19, 20, 24, and 25 of the California Code of Regulations. (c) Career executive assignment IV, in the administration and licensing services division.

SEC. 39. Section 62.5 of the Labor Code is amended to read:

62.5. (a) The Workers' Compensation Administration Revolving Fund is hereby created as a special account in the State Treasury. Money in the fund may be expended by the department, upon appropriation by the Legislature, for the administration of the workers' compensation program set forth in this division and Division 4 (commencing with Section 3200), other than the activities financed pursuant to Section 3702.5, and may not be used for any other purpose, except as determined by the Legislature.

(b) The fund shall consist of assessments made pursuant to this section. Costs of the program shall be shared on a proportional basis between the General Fund and employer assessments. The General Fund appropriation shall account for 80 percent, and employer assessments shall account for 20 percent, of the total costs of the program.

(c) Assessments shall be levied by the director upon all employers as defined in Section 3300. The total amount of the assessment shall be allocated between self-insured employers and insured employers in proportion to payroll respectively paid in the most recent year for which payroll information is available. The director shall promulgate reasonable rules and regulations governing the manner of collection of the assessment. The rules shall require the assessment to be paid by self-insurers to be expressed as a percentage of indemnity paid during the most recent year for which information is available, and the assessment to be paid by insured employers to be expressed as a percentage of premium. In no event shall the assessment paid by insured employers be considered a premium for computation of a gross premium tax or agents' commission.

SEC. 40. Section 142 of the Labor Code is amended to read:

142. The Division of Occupational Safety and Health shall enforce all occupational safety and health standards adopted pursuant to this chapter, and those heretofore adopted by the Industrial Accident Commission or the Industrial Safety Board. General safety orders heretofore adopted by the Industrial Accident Commission or the Industrial Safety Board shall continue to remain in effect, but they may be amended or repealed pursuant to this chapter.

SEC. 41. Section 142.3 of the Labor Code is amended to read:

142.3. (a) (1) The board, by an affirmative vote of at least four members, may adopt, amend or repeal occupational safety and health standards and orders. The board shall be the only agency in the state authorized to adopt occupational safety and health standards.

(2) The board shall adopt standards at least as effective as the federal standards for all issues for which federal standards have been promulgated under Section 6 of the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970 (P.L. 91-596) within six months of the promulgation date of the federal standards and which, when applicable to products which are distributed or used in interstate commerce, are required by compelling local conditions and do not unduly burden interstate commerce.

(3) No standard or amendment to any standard adopted by the board that is substantially the same as a federal standard shall be subject to Article 5 (commencing with Section 11346) and Article 6 (commencing with Section 11349) of Chapter 3.5 of Part 1 of Division 3 of Title 2 of the Government Code. For purposes of this subdivision, ''substantially the same'' means identical to the federal standard with the exception of editorial and format differences needed to conform to other state laws and standards.

(4) If a federal standard is promulgated and no state standard that is at least as effective as the federal standard is adopted by the board within six months of the date of promulgation of the federal standard, the following provisions shall apply unless adoption of the state standard is imminent:

(A) If there is no existing state standard covering the same issues, the federal standard shall be deemed to be a standard adopted by the board and enforceable by the division pursuant to Section 6317. This standard shall not be subject to Article 5 (commencing with Section 11346) and Article 6 (commencing with Section 11349) of Chapter 3.5 of Part 1 of Division 3 of Title 2 of the Government Code.

(B) If a state standard is in effect at the time a federal standard is promulgated covering the same issue or issues, the board may adopt the federal standard, or a portion thereof, as a standard enforceable by the division pursuant to Section 6317; provided, however, if a federal standard or portion thereof is adopted which replaces an existing state standard or portion thereof, the federal standard shall be as effective as the state standard or portion thereof. No adoption of or amendment to any federal standard, or portion thereof shall be subject to Article 5 (commencing with Section 11346) and Article 6 (commencing with Section 11349) of Chapter 3.5 of Part 1 of Division 3 of Title 2 of the Government Code.

(C) Any state standard adopted pursuant to subparagraph (A) or (B) shall become effective at the time the standard is filed with the Secretary of State, unless otherwise provided, but shall not take effect before the effective date of the equivalent federal standard and shall remain in effect for six months unless readopted by the board for an additional six months or superseded by a standard adopted by the board pursuant to paragraph (2) of subdivision (a).

(D) Any standard adopted pursuant to subparagraph (A), (B), or (C), shall be published in Title 8 of the California Code of Regulations in a manner similar to any other standards adopted pursuant to paragraphs (1) and (2) of subdivision (a) of this section.

(b) The State Building Standards Commission shall codify and publish in a semiannual supplement to the California Building Standards Code, or in a more frequent supplement if required by federal law, all occupational safety and health standards that would otherwise meet the definition of a building standard described in Section 18909 of the Health and Safety Code adopted by the board in the State Building Standards Code without reimbursement from the board. These occupational safety and health standards may also be published by the Occupational Safety and Health Standards Board in other provisions in Title 8 of the California Code of Regulations prior to publication in the California Building Standards Code if that other publication includes an appropriate identification of occupational safety and health standards contained in the other publication.

(c) Any occupational safety or health standard or order promulgated under this section shall prescribe the use of labels or other appropriate forms of warning as are necessary to ensure that employees are apprised of all hazards to which they are exposed, relevant symptoms and appropriate emergency treatment, and proper conditions and precautions for safe use or exposure. Where appropriate, these standards or orders shall also prescribe suitable protective equipment and control or technological procedures to be used in connection with these hazards and shall provide for monitoring or measuring employee exposure at such locations and intervals and in a manner as may be necessary for the protection of employees. In addition, where appropriate, the occupational safety or health standard or order shall prescribe the type and frequency of medical examinations or other tests which shall be made available, by the employer or at his or her cost, to employees exposed to such hazards in order to most effectively determine whether the health of such employee is adversely affected by this exposure.

(d) The results of these examinations or tests shall be furnished only to the Division of Occupational Safety and Health, the State Department of Health Services, any other authorized state agency, the employer, the employee, and, at the request of the employee, to his or her physician.

SEC. 42. Section 142.6 of the Labor Code is repealed.

SEC. 43. Section 1777.5 of the Labor Code is amended to read:

1777.5. (a) Nothing in this chapter shall prevent the employment of properly registered apprentices upon public works.

(b) Every apprentice employed upon public works shall be paid the prevailing rate of per diem wages for apprentices in the trade to which he or she is registered and shall be employed only at the work of the craft or trade to which he or she is registered.

(c) Only apprentices, as defined in Section 3077, who are in training under apprenticeship standards that have been approved by the Chief of the Division of Apprenticeship Standards and who are parties to written apprentice agreements under Chapter 4 (commencing with Section 3070) of Division 3 are eligible to be employed at the apprentice wage rate on public works. The employment and training of each apprentice shall be in accordance with either of the following:

(1) The apprenticeship standards and apprentice agreements under which he or she is training.

(2) The rules and regulations of the California Apprenticeship Council.

(d) When the contractor to whom the contract is awarded by the state or any political subdivision, in performing any of the work under the contract, employs workers in any apprenticeable craft or trade, the contractor shall employ apprentices in at least the ratio set forth in this section and may apply to any apprenticeship program in the craft or trade that can provide apprentices to the site of the public work for a certificate approving the contractor under the apprenticeship standards for the employment and training of apprentices in the area or industry affected. However, the decision of the apprenticeship program to approve or deny a certificate shall be subject to review by the Administrator of Apprenticeship. The apprenticeship program or programs, upon approving the contractor, shall arrange for the dispatch of apprentices to the contractor. A contractor covered by an apprenticeship program's standards shall not be required to submit any additional application in order to include additional public works contracts under that program. ''Apprenticeable craft or trade,'' as used in this section, means a craft or trade determined as an apprenticeable occupation in accordance with rules and regulations prescribed by the California Apprenticeship Council. As used in this section, ''contractor'' includes any subcontractor under a contractor who performs any public works not excluded by subdivision (o).

(e) Prior to commencing work on a contract for public works, every contractor shall submit contract award information to an applicable apprenticeship program that can supply apprentices to the site of the public work. The information submitted shall include an estimate of journeyman hours to be performed under the contract, the number of apprentices proposed to be employed, and the approximate dates the apprentices would be employed. A copy of this information shall also be submitted to the awarding body if requested by the awarding body. Within 60 days after concluding work on the contract, each contractor and subcontractor shall submit to the awarding body, if requested, and to the apprenticeship program a verified statement of the journeyman and apprentice hours performed on the contract. The information under this subdivision shall be public. The apprenticeship programs shall retain this information for 12 months.

(f) The apprenticeship program that can supply apprentices to the area of the site of the public work shall ensure equal employment and affirmative action in apprenticeship for women and minorities.

(g) The ratio of work performed by apprentices to journeymen employed in a particular craft or trade on the public work may be no higher than the ratio stipulated in the apprenticeship standards under which the apprenticeship program operates where the contractor agrees to be bound by those standards, but, except as otherwise provided in this section, in no case shall the ratio be less than one hour of apprentice work for every five hours of journeyman work.

(h) This ratio of apprentice work to journeyman work shall apply during any day or portion of a day when any journeyman is employed at the jobsite and shall be computed on the basis of the hours worked during the day by journeymen so employed. Any work performed by a journeyman in excess of eight hours per day or 40 hours per week shall not be used to calculate the ratio. The contractor shall employ apprentices for the number of hours computed as above before the end of the contract or, in the case of a subcontractor, before the end of the subcontract. However, the contractor shall endeavor, to the greatest extent possible, to employ apprentices during the same time period that the journeymen in the same craft or trade are employed at the jobsite. Where an hourly apprenticeship ratio is not feasible for a particular craft or trade, the Chief of the Division of Apprenticeship Standards, upon application of an apprenticeship program, may order a minimum ratio of not less than one apprentice for each five journeymen in a craft or trade classification.

(i) A contractor covered by this section that has agreed to be covered by an apprenticeship program's standards upon the issuance of the approval certificate, or that has been previously approved for an apprenticeship program in the craft or trade, shall employ the number of apprentices or the ratio of apprentices to journeymen stipulated in the applicable apprenticeship standards, but in no event less than the 1-to-5 ratio required by subdivision (g).

(j) Upon proper showing by a contractor that he or she employs apprentices in a particular craft or trade in the state on all of his or her contracts on an annual average of not less than one hour of apprentice work for every five hours of labor performed by journeymen, the Chief of the Division of Apprenticeship Standards may grant a certificate exempting the contractor from the 1-to-5 hourly ratio, as set forth in this section for that craft or trade.

(k) An apprenticeship program has the discretion to grant to a participating contractor or contractor association a certificate, which shall be subject to the approval of the Administrator of Apprenticeship, exempting the contractor from the 1-to-5 ratio set forth in this section when it finds that any one of the following conditions is met:

(1) Unemployment for the previous three-month period in the area exceeds an average of 15 percent.

(2) The number of apprentices in training in the area exceeds a ratio of 1 to 5.

(3) There is a showing that the apprenticeable craft or trade is replacing at least one-thirtieth of its journeymen annually through apprenticeship training, either on a statewide basis or on a local basis.

(4) Assignment of an apprentice to any work performed under a public works contract would create a condition that would jeopardize his or her life or the life, safety, or property of fellow employees or the public at large, or the specific task to which the apprentice is to be assigned is of a nature that training cannot be provided by a journeyman.

(l) When an exemption is granted pursuant to subdivision (k) to an organization that represents contractors in a specific trade from the 1-to-5 ratio on a local or statewide basis, the member contractors will not be required to submit individual applications for approval to local joint apprenticeship committees, if they are already covered by the local apprenticeship standards.

(m) (1) A contractor to whom a contract is awarded, who, in performing any of the work under the contract, employs journeymen or apprentices in any apprenticeable craft or trade shall contribute to the California Apprenticeship Council the same amount that the director determines is the prevailing amount of apprenticeship training contributions in the area of the public works site. A contractor may take as a credit for payments to the council any amounts paid by the contractor to an approved apprenticeship program that can supply apprentices to the site of the public works project. The contractor may add the amount of the contributions in computing his or her bid for the contract.

(2) At the conclusion of the 2003–04 fiscal year and each fiscal year thereafter, the California Apprenticeship Council shall distribute training contributions received by the council under this subdivision, less the expenses of the Division of Apprenticeship Standards for administering this subdivision, by making grants to approved apprenticeship programs for the purpose of training apprentices. The funds shall be distributed as follows:

(A) If there is an approved multiemployer apprenticeship program serving the same craft or trade and geographic area for which the training contributions were made to the council, a grant to that program shall be made.

(B) If there are two or more approved multiemployer apprenticeship programs serving the same craft or trade and geographic area for which the training contributions were made to the council, the grant shall be divided among those programs based on the number of apprentices registered in each program.

(C) All training contributions not distributed under subparagraphs (A) and (B) shall be used to defray the future expenses of the Division of Apprenticeship Standards.

(3) All training contributions received pursuant to this subdivision shall be deposited in the Apprenticeship Training Contribution Fund, which fund is hereby created in the State Treasury. Notwithstanding Section 13340 of the Government Code, all money in the Apprenticeship Training Contribution Fund is hereby continuously appropriated for the purpose of carrying out this subdivision and to pay the expenses of the Division of Apprenticeship Standards.

(n) The body awarding the contract shall cause to be inserted in the contract stipulations to effectuate this section. The stipulations shall fix the responsibility of compliance with this section for all apprenticeable occupations with the prime contractor.

(o) This section does not apply to contracts of general contractors or to contracts of specialty contractors not bidding for work through a general or prime contractor when the contracts of general contractors or those specialty contractors involve less than thirty thousand dollars ($30,000).

(p) All decisions of an apprenticeship program under this section are subject to Section 3081.

SEC. 44. Section 830.5 of the Penal Code is amended to read:

830.5. The following persons are peace officers whose authority extends to any place in the state while engaged in the performance of the duties of their respective employment and for the purpose of carrying out the primary function of their employment or as required under Sections 8597, 8598, and 8617 of the Government Code. Except as specified in this section, these peace officers may carry firearms only if authorized and under those terms and conditions specified by their employing agency:

(2) To the escape of any inmate or ward from a state or local institution.

(3) To the transportation of persons on parole or probation.

(4) To violations of any penal provisions of law which are discovered while performing the usual or authorized duties of his or her employment.

(5) To the rendering of mutual aid to any other law enforcement agency.

For the purposes of this subdivision, ''parole agent'' shall have the same meaning as parole officer of the Department of Corrections or of the Department of the Youth Authority.

Any parole officer of the Department of Corrections, the Department of the Youth Authority, or the Youthful Offender Parole Board is authorized to carry firearms, but only as determined by the director on a case-by-case or unit-by-unit basis and only under those terms and conditions specified by the director or chairperson. The Department of the Youth Authority shall develop a policy for arming peace officers of the Department of the Youth Authority who comprise ''high-risk transportation details'' or ''high-risk escape details'' no later than June 30, 1995. This policy shall be implemented no later than December 31, 1995.

The Department of the Youth Authority shall train and arm those peace officers who comprise tactical teams at each facility for use during ''high-risk escape details.''

(b) A correctional officer employed by the Department of Corrections or any employee of the Department of the Youth Authority having custody of wards or the Inspector General of the Youth and Adult Correctional Agency or any internal affairs investigator under the authority of the Inspector General or any employee of the Department of Corrections designated by the Director of Corrections or any correctional counselor series employee of the Department of Corrections or any medical technical assistant series employee designated by the Director of Corrections or designated by the Director of Corrections and employed by the State Department of Mental Health or employee of the Board of Prison Terms designated by the Secretary of the Youth and Adult Correctional Agency or employee of the Department of the Youth Authority designated by the Director of the Youth Authority or any superintendent, supervisor, or employee having custodial responsibilities in an institution operated by a probation department, or any transportation officer of a probation department.

(4) Despite the significant decline in the number of persons committed to the Youth Authority, the Department of the Youth Authority continues to operate the same number of institutions and camps as it did when its population peaked at over 10,000 wards. The department similarly continues to expend an annual budget exceeding four hundred million dollars ($400,000,000).

(5) As a result of the Department of the Youth Authority's drop in population and continued operation of all of its facilities, the cost-per-ward at the Youth Authority is about fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) per year.

(6) In these fiscally challenging times, prudent public policy dictates that the Department of Youth Authority consolidate its facilities and programs to reflect its reduced population.

(7) It is the intent of the Legislature that the Department of the Youth Authority produce a viable plan for closing three of its facilities in a manner that achieves fiscal savings for the state and assures public safety through sound correctional programming consistent with the requirements of Chapter 1 (commencing with Section 1700) of Division 2.5 of the Welfare and Institutions Code.

(b) (1) The Department of the Youth Authority shall submit to the Department of Finance and the fiscal committees of the Legislature on or before November 1, 2002, a written plan to close at least three facilities by June 30, 2007.

(2) The Department of the Youth Authority shall close at least one facility pursuant to the plan required by this subdivision not later than June 30, 2004.

(c) The plan submitted pursuant to subdivision (b) shall include, but not be limited to, the following information regarding the proposed closure or closures:

(1) Identification of the facilities proposed for closure.

(2) The basis for selecting the facilities for closure.

(3) The basis for not selecting the facilities that are not proposed for closure.

(4) A description of the land and buildings that would be affected by the proposed closures.

(5) Potential alternative uses for the land and buildings that would be affected by the proposed closures, including, but not limited to, sale or lease of the property.

(6) A description of existing lease arrangements, if any, regarding the facilities proposed for closure.

(7) Projected savings to the department from the proposed closures.

(8) Projected costs to the department for implementing the plan.

(9) A proposed timetable for implementing the plan.

(10) The number and classification of positions affected by the proposed closures, including proposed reassignment plans for current staff located at the facilities proposed to be closed, and anticipated attrition of affected staff through retirement, resignation or other reasons.

(11) A description of treatment programs that will be required to be moved to or expanded at other facilities as a result of the proposed closures.

(12) A proposed relocation plan for wards who will have to be moved as a result of the proposed closures.

(13) A description of any changes that will have to be made at any facilities not proposed for closure as a result of the proposed closures.

(14) A description of any systemwide improvements recommended by the department as essential to effect a smooth and orderly reduction of the total number of facilities.

(15) Any additional information deemed relevant by the department.

(d) The department shall consult with the Department of General Services in preparing the written plan required by this section, and shall be available to confer with the Legislature during the preparation of the plan concerning its status and any issues of concern.

SEC. 61. Money in the Renewable Resource Trust Fund may be expended as a loan to repay the startup loans provided by the General Fund to the California Consumer Power and Conservation Financing Authority, in an amount not to exceed eight million nine hundred thousand dollars ($8,900,000). The loan shall be repaid with interest calculated at the rate earned by the Pooled Money Investment Account at the time of the transfer and shall be repaid from revenues deposited in the California Consumer Power and Conservation Financing Authority Fund pursuant to Chapter 10 of the Statutes of 2001 (First Extraordinary Session). The authority shall repay at least one million dollars ($1,000,000) of the amount loaned pursuant to this section by June 20, 2003. Any remaining loan amount shall be repaid by June 30, 2004. If any amount loaned pursuant to this section remains outstanding on July 1, 2004, the outstanding loan amount shall be converted to a loan from the Energy Resources Programs Account and the outstanding balance with accrued interest shall be transferred from the Energy Resources Programs Account to the Renewable Resources Trust Fund.

SEC. 62. No reimbursement shall be made from the State Mandates Claims Fund pursuant to Part 7 (commencing with Section 17500) of Division 4 of Title 2 of the Government Code for costs mandated by the state pursuant to this act. It is recognized, however, that a local agency or school district may pursue any remedies to obtain reimbursement available to it under Part 7 (commencing with Section 17500) and any other provisions of law.

SEC. 63. This act is an urgency statute necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, or safety within the meaning of Article IV of the Constitution and shall go into immediate effect. The facts constituting the necessity are:

In order to make the necessary statutory changes to implement the Budget Act of 2002, with respect to the funding of programs relating to state and local government, it is necessary that this act go into immediate effect.

(d) The agency may issue clarifying instructions that meet the requirements of this section, including specifying the sources of data to be used, citation requirements, and the form of submitting the proposed business plans. SEC. 4. Section 2 shall become operative only if Assembly Bill 3000 is enacted during the 2001–02 Regular Session and adds Section 15364.725 to the Government Code.

CHAPTER 1126

An act to add Chapter 13 (commencing with Section 20050) to Part 11 of the Education Code, relating to historic preservation, and making an appropriation therefor.

[Approved by Governor September 30, 2002. Filed with Secretary of State September 30, 2002.]

I am signing Assembly Bill 716 because it highlights the importance of the state's historical and cultural resources and because it appropriates funds specified in Proposition 40. In particular, it is important to disburse the monies that Proposition 40 allocated for San Francisco, Los Angeles and other specific areas in a timely manner that meets the local recreation needs of these communities and the expectations of the voters.

However, with respect to the $128 million earmarked for the California Cultural and Historical Endowment that this bill seeks to create, I regret that I must delete the monies for this purpose. There are several reasons for this action. First, given the state's fiscal condition, now is not the time to establish a new, permanent bureaucratic entity with broad new duties. Second, the duties of the Endowment as proposed in this measure extend well beyond competitive grant-making responsibilities and would create significant general fund cost pressure. For example, while the comprehensive study the bill would require by January 1, 2005 may be desirable, such a multi-million dollar study could not be funded with bond money.

Moreover, the proposed endowment appears to be significantly redundant and unnecessary given the duties and expertise of the Department of Parks and Recreation, the Office of Historic Preservation (OHP) and the State Historic Resources Commission. In particular, by directing the Endowment to conduct competitive grantmaking for historical preservation purposes, the bill undermines the successful efforts of the OHP and the Commission in disbursing Proposition 12 historical preservation monies. Failure to take advantage of such expertise will lead to unnecessary costs and delays in implementation of competitive grants. For this reason, I am directing the Secretary for Resources to seek $10 million in the budget to fund an initial competitive grants program to be administered by the Office of Historic Preservation that will build upon the success of its current program.

Additionally, while I applaud the authors for their admirable efforts to craft a high-profile structure for enhancement of historical and cultural resources, I am concerned that the timing of the conference committee and the conference report language did not allow for meaningful discussion among stakeholders. Such stakeholder input is key to ensuring that an effective, efficient and respected process for disbursing Proposition 40 monies is crafted. For this reason, I am directing the Secretary for Resources to conduct a series of stakeholder meetings during the legislative recess for the purpose of discussing the best approaches for funding historical, cultural and museum projects.

Finally, there are many significant, high-priority state and local cultural and historical projects that should be funded. These include the Department of Parks and Recreation's projects as included in the May Revise-the Statewide Indian Museum, California Heritage Center, the John Marsh home and the Adamson House collection, as well as local assistance funding for the California Academy of Sciences in San Francisco. For this reason, I am directing the Department of Parks and Recreation to utilize $5 million in Proposition 40 monies for the development of the Statewide Indian Museum. Moreover, the other projects should be directly funded from the cultural and historical monies and I am directing the Department of Finance to include these important projects in my 2003–04 budget.

GRAY DAVIS, Governor

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Chapter 13 (commencing with Section 20050) is added to Part 11 of the Education Code, to read:

CHAPTER 13. CALIFORNIA CULTURAL AND HISTORICAL ENDOWMENT ACT

Article 1. General Provisions

20050. This chapter shall be known and may be cited as the California Cultural and Historical Endowment Act.

20051. The Legislature finds and declares the following:

(a) Every civilization defines itself in part by its past, and an understanding of its past helps determine its basic values and future aspirations. Understanding of the past is strengthened and deepened through contact with the buildings, physical places, and artifacts of earlier times. Through learning this past, our young and future generations come to better understand the society in which they live and to better understand themselves.

(b) As America's physical culture and built environment become remarkably similar throughout the country, it is left to the natural environment and the structures of the past to give a unique sense of place to our communities. Preserving these structures is becoming increasingly compelling as the homogeneity of our physical culture increases.

(c) The buildings, other structures, and artifacts that embody California's past are in escalating danger of being redeveloped, remodeled, renovated, paved, excavated, bulldozed, modernized, and lost forever.

(d) For history to be part of our lives, we must include it in our daily lives, through the adaptive reuse of historic structures in our older commercial districts and inner cities.

(e) California has one of the most diverse populations on earth and its cultural and historic preservation program should reflect that fact. Early cultural and historic preservation efforts often focused on the structures and activities of our European ancestors. Without minimizing their contribution, it is important to pursue other historical threads that are important to California's Latino population, to African-Americans, to Asians and Pacific Islanders, to Native Americans, to Jewish persons, and to many other groups of peoples with uniquely identifiable cultures and histories. It is increasingly important to preserve the physical and cultural history and folklife of these many groups' presence and contributions to California's history.

(f) Historic preservation should include the contributions of all Californians. The study of history once focused largely on the actions and works of wealthy, powerful, noble, brilliant, or famous persons. More recently, historians have tried to increase understanding of how more ordinary people lived and thought. California's historic preservation efforts should allow its citizens and visitors to experience something of the physical world of both.

(g) In 1997, California's Statewide Historic Preservation Plan was prepared pursuant to the National Historic Preservation Act of 1966 and includes seven statewide goals, including the goal to promote the preservation and stewardship of cultural resources among a diversified state population representing all levels of the socioeconomic spectrum.

(h) California's retained past certainly includes sites important to its prehistoric and later Native American people, and the remaining great structures of the 19th century. But the state also needs to consciously preserve selected remnants of the 1930s, of California's great role in World War II, as well as representative structures and sites that were culturally or economically important during the 1950s, 1960s, and, in some cases, even more recently.

(i) California's historic missions are among California's most evocative historical structures. Their continued protection and restoration should continue to have high priority.

(j) California's museums are among the most important and cherished repositories of the state's cultural and historical heritage.

(k) California's partnerships with federal, state, and local governmental agencies and nonprofit organizations have helped us understand the range and diversity of California's history and historic and cultural resources and artifacts and have helped develop a better understanding of the educational, environmental, and economic benefits of, and tools available for, the preservation and interpretation of historic and cultural resources and artifacts.

20052. As used in this chapter, the following terms have the following meanings:

(a) ''Development'' includes, but is not limited to, improvement, rehabilitation, restoration, enhancement, preservation, protection, and interpretation.

(b) ''Endowment'' means the California Cultural and Historical Endowment created pursuant to Section 20053, or the board of the endowment, as appropriate.

(c) ''Museum'' means a public or private nonprofit institution that is organized on a permanent basis for essentially educational or aesthetic purposes and that owns or uses tangible objects, cares for those objects, and exhibits them to the general public on a regular basis.

(d) ''Nonprofit organization'' means any nonprofit public benefit corporation that is formed pursuant to the Nonprofit Corporation Law (commencing with Section 500 of the Corporations Code), qualified to do business in California, and qualified under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code, that has, among its principal charitable purposes, the preservation of historic or cultural resources for cultural, scientific, historic, educational, recreational, agricultural, or scenic opportunities.

(e) ''Preservation'' includes, but is not limited to, identification, evaluation, recordation, restoration, stabilization, development, and reconstruction, or any combination of those activities.

(f) ''Public agency'' means a federal agency, state agency, city, county, district, association of governments, joint powers agency, or tribal organization.

20052.5. It is the intent of the Legislature that consideration be given to the transferring and fully integrating the Office of Historic Preservation with the California Cultural and Historical Endowment, which is created pursuant to this chapter, for the following purposes:

(a) To increase the stature, visibility, authority, and entrepreneurial capabilities of the Office of Historic Preservation in the interest of helping it carry out its missions and purposes.

(b) To allow the California Cultural and Historical Endowment to benefit from the Office of Historic Preservation's experience and expertise, and from the experience and expertise of its constituents and supporters.

(c) To synergistically increase the state's effective commitment to historic and cultural preservation.

Article 2. Creation and Powers of the Endowment

20053. (a) There is in the California State Library the California Cultural and Historical Endowment, consisting of the following 10 members:

(1) The State Librarian, who shall serve as chair of the endowment, or his or her designee.

(2) The Secretary of the Resources Agency, or his or her designee.

(3) The Director of Finance, or his or her designee.

regular meetings of the endowment at the rate of one hundred dollars ($100) per day, and shall be reimbursed for the actual and necessary expenses, including travel expenses, incurred in the performance of their duties.

20056. If any member of the endowment is an employee, director, or officer of any organization that has applied to the endowment for a grant, that member shall not communicate with any other member of the endowment or any member of any advisory panel regarding the grant application and the member shall not be present when the application is considered by the endowment or advisory panel.

20057. (a) A majority of the total authorized membership of the endowment shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of any business under this chapter.

(b) The endowment may adopt regulations as necessary or convenient for carrying out the purposes of this chapter, including, but not limited to, establishing grant application criteria and procedures. Before adopting regulations for grant application criteria and procedures, the endowment shall conduct public hearings throughout the state and shall invite persons from diverse groups and ethnic backgrounds to share their input on the matter.

(c) The endowment may hold hearings, execute agreements, and perform any acts necessary and proper to carry out the purposes of this chapter. The endowment may select and contract with other state agencies and with private entities, including nonprofit organizations, museums and individuals to provide services necessary to carry out the purposes of this chapter.

20058. The endowment shall determine the qualifications of, and it shall appoint and fix the salary of, the executive officer of the endowment, who shall be exempt from civil service, and shall appoint such other staff as may be necessary to carry out the powers and functions set forth in this chapter.

20059. The endowment may appoint one or more advisory committees as it determines to be useful to its work. Members of advisory committees shall serve without compensation, but each may be reimbursed for necessary travel and other expenses incurred in the performance of official duties.

20060. The endowment may apply for and accept federal grants. Notwithstanding Section 11005 of the Government Code, the endowment may receive gifts, donations, subventions, rents, royalties, and other financial support from public and private sources without additional approvals. Funds received pursuant to this section, except for federal grants, shall be deposited in the California Cultural and Historical Endowment Fund, which is hereby created, and, notwithstanding Section 13340 of the Government Code, are continuously appropriated to the endowment for its lawful purposes, after notification to and approval by the Department of Finance. The endowment shall report annually to the Legislature on the condition and status of the fund, and the uses made of moneys in the fund during the year.

Article 3. Grants and Loans

20070. (a) The endowment may award grants and loans on a competitive basis to public agencies and nonprofit organizations, including museums, to encourage development of a systematic and coordinated assemblage of buildings, sites, artifacts, museums, cultural landscapes, illustrations, written materials, and displays and interpretive centers to preserve and tell the stories of California as a unified society and of the many groups of people that together comprise historic and modern California. In addition to preserving and interpreting California's missions, gold rush and pioneer sites, and other examples of early European exploration and settlement, the endowment shall give priority to funding projects to preserve, interpret, and enhance understanding and appreciation of the state's subsequent cultural, social, and economic evolution. For example, it may fund projects involving buildings, including the acquisition of any interest in real property, structures, ships, historic cemeteries, site areas, places, trails, artifacts, artistic expressions, illustrations, written materials, or collections of artifacts, historic districts, cultural landscapes, illustrations, and written materials, including, but not limited to, the following:

(1) Projects that preserve, display, demonstrate, or interpret the contributions of the many unique identifiable ethnic and other communities that have added significant elements to California's culture, including, but not limited to, their architecture, landscaping, urban forms, recreation, food and drink, styles, literature, artistic expressions, and pastimes.

(2) Projects that preserve and demonstrate culturally significant aspects of the changing ways that ordinary or particularly creative people lived their daily lives during the course of California history, including, but not limited to, representative or exceptionally expressive residences, recreational facilities and equipment, farms and ranches, transportation technologies, and innovative shopping arrangements.

(3) Projects that preserve, display, demonstrate, or interpret the industries, technologies, individuals, groups, and commercial enterprises that built California's enormous economic strength, including, but not limited to, aircraft construction, banking and finance, electronics and related technologies, medical technologies, petroleum production and refining, movie and television production, and agriculture.

(4) Projects that preserve, display, demonstrate, or interpret California's contribution to the national defense during the state's history, including facilities and artifacts from closed military bases, and including projects about the social, demographic, and other changes that resulted from these national defense activities.

(5) Projects that preserve and promote understanding and continuity of California's living cultural heritage and folklife that is deeply rooted in and reflective of its distinct cultural communities, including, but not limited to, public programs, recordings, exhibitions, apprenticeships, publications, ethnographic documentation, and archival preservation.

(6) Projects that preserve, display, demonstrate, or interpret California's geologic and oceanographic history, including, but not limited to, its assemblage from Jurassic and earlier archipelagoes and ophiolitic remnants through subduction processes, and the expression of global tectonic forces in its mountains, basins, and faults.

(b) The endowment shall fund projects relating to the archaeology, history, or culture of California's Native American population that are sensitive to the sovereign status of the tribes and that respect the cultural and spiritual traditions of those tribes.

(c) The endowment shall give priority to funding projects that preserve, document, interpret, or enhance understanding of threads of California's story that are absent or underrepresented in existing historical parks, monuments, museums, and other facilities, and to achieve careful balance geographically, among communities and organizations of large and small size, and among diverse ethnic groups. The endowment may create financial and other incentives to support projects described in this subdivision, including, but not limited to, technical assistance, funding set asides, and preferential match requirements.

(d) The endowment shall ensure that California's historic and cultural resources are accessible and available to the people of California, especially traditionally underserved communities, by encouraging programs including, but not limited to, traveling exhibitions, illustrative publications, exchanges, Web sites and digitalization of materials, and programs in conjunction with school districts to bring school children into contact with these materials, and may fund projects for these purposes.

20071. The endowment shall require that public agencies requesting a grant provide a matching amount of resources for the completion of the project. The match may include resources obtained from other funding agencies, and may include in-kind resources. The match shall be a proportion of the cost of the project as the endowment determines is appropriate, but the proportion shall be uniform for categories of project and public agencies, except pursuant to subdivision (c). The endowment shall determine the match proportion by considering the following:

(a) The endowment shall seek to leverage the resources available to it.

(b) The endowment shall require a match sufficient to ensure a strong commitment to the project on the part of the sponsoring agency.

(c) The endowment may require a lower than usual match if necessary to make projects realistic for underserved communities.

20072. (a) The endowment shall require grant recipients to report on the progress and completion of any project for which they have received a grant, and on public acceptance or criticism of the project. The endowment shall make all such reports available to the Legislature.

(b) The endowment shall require grant recipients to follow the Secretary of the Interior's Standards for the Treatment of Historic Properties where appropriate to ensure the historical integrity of the project.

20073. (a) Funds may be granted or loaned to a nonprofit organization under this chapter if the nonprofit organization enters into an agreement with the endowment, on such terms and conditions as the endowment specifies.

(b) (1) In the case of a grant for real property acquisition, the agreement shall provide all of the following:

(A) The purchase price of any interest in real property acquired by the nonprofit organization may not exceed the fair market value as established by an appraisal approved by the endowment.

(B) The endowment shall approve the terms under which the interest in land is acquired.

(C) The interest in land acquired pursuant to a grant from the endowment may not be used as security for any debt to be incurred by the nonprofit organization unless the endowment approves the transaction.

(D) The transfer of land acquired pursuant to an endowment grant shall be subject to the approval of the endowment and a new agreement sufficient to protect the interest of the people of California shall be entered into with the transferee.

(E) If any essential term or condition is violated, title to all interest in real property acquired with state funds shall immediately vest in the state.

(F) If the existence of the nonprofit organization is terminated for any reason, title to all interest in real property acquired with state funds shall immediately vest in the state unless another appropriate public agency or nonprofit organization is identified by the endowment and agrees to accept title to all interests in real property.

(2) Any deed or other instrument of conveyance whereby real property is being acquired by a nonprofit organization pursuant to this section shall set forth the reversionary interest of the state.

(c) The endowment shall also require an agreement sufficient to protect the public interest in any improvement or development constructed under a grant to a nonprofit organization for improvement and development of a project under this chapter. The agreement shall particularly describe any real property which is subject to the agreement, and it shall be recorded by the endowment in the county in which the real property is located.

(d) Any funds collected from a nonprofit organization pursuant to an agreement regarding a grant shall be deposited in the account created pursuant to Section 20060.

20074. The endowment may provide technical and other assistance to applicants and prospective applicants as it determines to be useful or necessary to carry out the purposes of this chapter.

Article 4. Cultural and Historical Policy

20080. The endowment shall undertake a comprehensive survey of the state of cultural and historical preservation, accessibility, and interpretation in California, and report to the Governor and the Legislature. In conducting the survey, the endowment shall coordinate with existing state agencies, including the California Arts Council, the Department of Parks and Recreation, and the Secretary of State. The report shall include all of the following:

(a) A survey of elements in California's existing assemblage of buildings, sites, artifacts, museums, cultural landscapes, trails, illustrations, the arts and artistic expressions, written materials, and displays and interpretive centers that are missing or underrepresented, such as if current facilities, materials, and services leave out, misrepresent, or inadequately present some important thread of the story of California as a unified society or of the many groups of people that together comprise historic and modern California.

(b) Recommendations for steps that should be taken to fill in the missing or underrepresented elements identified in subdivision (a).

(c) Recommendations for the manner of transferring the Office of Historic Preservation in the Department of Parks and Recreation to the endowment, consistent with the Legislature's intent expressed in Section 20052.5.

(d) Recommendations for additional steps that should be taken to better preserve and administer cultural and historic resources efficiently and effectively, including additional actions that should be taken to improve the governmental structures responsible for historic and cultural preservation in California, including oversight and support of museums. In particular, the endowment shall examine the feasibility and desirability of establishing the endowment as a separate institution in state government, without ties to any existing agency or department, although under the general authority of the Governor. The endowment shall also identify the most appropriate chair, or the most appropriate method for selecting the chair, of its board.

(e) A survey of the capacities and fiscal conditions of public, nonprofit, and other private entities in California that provide cultural and historical facilities and services, including museums.

(f) Recommendations for the future financing of cultural and historical programs provided by public agencies and nonprofit agencies in California, including museums.

(g) Recommendations for programs to encourage the historic maintenance and restoration of properties in private ownership, including, but not limited to, a state tax credit for restoration of historic properties that maintain historic integrity, property tax deferral as long as a property's historic integrity is maintained, and low interest loans.

(h) A study of the economic impact of the preservation and interpretation of cultural and historic resources in the state. This should include the economic benefits resulting from the preservation of historic commercial and residential properties and sites, and from historic and cultural tourism activities.

20081. In preparing its report pursuant to Section 20080, the endowment shall conduct public hearings throughout the state on this subject and shall invite persons of diverse groups and ethnic backgrounds to share their input on the matter, including comment on the needs of all types of cultural and historical resource organizations and programs in California.

20082. The report prepared pursuant to this article shall be delivered to the Governor and the Legislature by November 1, 2005. The endowment shall report annually to the Governor and the Legislature on its progress towards completion of the report, until the report is completed.

Article 5. Museum and Cultural Resources Program

20090. The Legislature finds and declares the following:

(a) Museums do important work that helps the state meet its obligations to residents in the field of education. Museums contribute to formal and informal learning at every stage of life, from the education of children in preschool to the continuing education of adults.

(b) Museums are a significant resource for in-service training of California teachers. A great potential for a relationship between museums and educational facilities exists.

(c) Museums are an important means of making art, science, history, and culture available to California residents.

(d) Museums provide an economic boost to their communities by attracting tourists and local visitors, all of whom create a demand for services.

CHAPTER 1127

An act to amend Sections 12152, 13400, 13401, 13402, 13403, 13405, 13406, 63048.5, and 63052 of, and to add Article 6.3 (commencing with Section 8592.9) to Chapter 7 of Division 1 of Title 2 of, and to add Article 5.5 (commencing with Section 63047.5) to Chapter 2 of Division 1 of Title 6.7 of, the Government Code, to amend Sections 33020, 33681, and 33681.5 of, and to add Sections 33681.7 and 33681.8 to, the Health and Safety Code, to add Chapter 2.7 (commencing with Section 22047) to Part 3 of Division 2 of the Public Contract Code, to amend Section 19521 of the Revenue and Taxation Code, to amend Section 143 of the Streets and Highways Code, and to amend and supplement the Budget Act of 2002, relating to state and local government, making an appropriation therefor, and declaring the urgency thereof, to take effect immediately.

[Approved by Governor September 30, 2002. Filed with Secretary of State September 30, 2002.]

I have signed Assembly Bill 1768, but I am deleting the provision for funding up to $15,000,000 for the Governor's Security Advisor upon receipt of funding from federal allocations for Homeland Security. Given the uncertainty of the availability of federal funds, it is premature to require that the expenditure be limited to equipment standards placed in statute given that the existing Public Safety Radio Strategic Planning Committee is developing a statewide solution for radio interoperability systems for all first responders. Their standards will assure that California's emergency first responders will have equipment that complies with the statewide interoperability radio standards and that this equipment, subject to federal funding, will provide badly needed equipment for all of the State's emergency personnel in the improvement of public safety.

Use of these funds should be consistent with established communication plans and systems authorized under the California Emergency Services Act including the California Emergency Plan, the California State Mutual Aid Radio System Plan, and other state and local plans providing for multi-discipline radio interoperability. This bill would unnecessarily specify a technology standard that could be overly restrictive. It is my preference that instead of being restrictive, the State in its procurements should maximize the use of business competition, thereby ensuring reasonable cost to the State and acquisition of proven, established, stable technology and equipment.

GRAY DAVIS, Governor

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Article 6.3 (commencing with Section 8592.9) is added to Chapter 7 of Division 1 of Title 2 of the Government Code, to read:

Article 6.3. Public Safety Communications Equipment

8592.9. (a) Of the funds received from the federal government for homeland security and appropriated in the Budget Act of 2002, not more than fifteen million dollars ($15,000,000) may be allocated to the security adviser to the Governor for disbursement to state and local government public safety agencies to procure and operate radio equipment that will provide interoperability among state, local, and federal public radio systems. This interoperable radio equipment shall meet the public safety digital communications standards in Suite 102 of the American National Standards Institute and the Telecommunications Information Association.

(b) Each state and local government public safety agency that receives funds pursuant to this section shall report to the Legislature on its progress in implementing this section by January 1 of each year, beginning in 2004, and until all of the funds disbursed pursuant to this section have been expended.

(c) This section shall not be construed to preempt or supercede the development and implementation of public radio communications systems by local governments.

SEC. 2. Section 12152 of the Government Code is amended to read:

12152. (a) To assist him or her in the discharge of the duties of his or her office, the Secretary of State may appoint one Assistant Secretary of State, whose powers, duties and liabilities shall be those of a deputy, and any deputies and clerical, expert, technical and other assistants necessary for the proper conduct of his or her office. The Assistant Secretary of State and all deputies are civil executive officers.

(f) It is the intent of the Legislature, in enacting this section, that these allocations directly or indirectly assist in the financing or refinancing, in whole or in part, of the community's redevelopment projects pursuant to Section 16 of Article XVI of the California Constitution.

(g) It is the intent of the Legislature in enacting this section that this section supersede and be operative in place of Section 33681 of the Health and Safety Code as added by Senate Bill 617 of the 1991–92 Regular Session.

(h) This section shall be operative only until July 1, 2003. This section shall remain in effect only until January 1, 2004, and as of that date is repealed.

SEC. 14. Section 33681.5 of the Health and Safety Code is amended to read:

(D) Determine an amount for each agency by multiplying the amount determined pursuant to subparagraph (A) by the percentage factor determined pursuant to subparagraph (C).

(E) Notify each agency and each legislative body of the amount determined pursuant to subparagraph (D).

(F) Notify each county auditor of the amounts determined pursuant to subparagraph (D) for each agency in his or her county.

(f) It is the intent of the Legislature, in enacting this section, that these allocations directly or indirectly assist in the financing or refinancing, in whole or in part, of the community's redevelopment projects pursuant to Section 16 of Article XVI of the California Constitution.

SEC. 16. Section 33681.8 is added to the Health and Safety Code, to read:

33681.8. (a) (1) For the purposes of this section, ''existing indebtedness'' means one or more of the following obligations incurred by a redevelopment agency prior to the effective date of this section, the payment of which is to be made in whole or in part, directly or indirectly, out of taxes allocated to the agency pursuant to Section 33670, and that is required by law or provision of the existing indebtedness to be made during the fiscal year of the relevant allocation required by Section 33681.7:

(G) Obligations imposed by law with respect to activities that occurred prior to the effective date of the act that adds this section.

(2) Existing indebtedness incurred prior to the effective date of this section may be refinanced, refunded, or restructured after that date, and shall remain existing indebtedness for the purposes of this section, if the annual debt service during that fiscal year does not increase over the prior fiscal year and the refinancing does not reduce the ability of the agency to make the payment required by subdivision (a) of Section 33681.7.

(3) For the purposes of this section, indebtedness shall be deemed to be incurred prior to the effective date of this section if the agency has entered into a binding contract subject to normal marketing conditions, to deliver the indebtedness, or if the redevelopment agency has received bids for the sale of the indebtedness prior to that date and the indebtedness is issued for value and evidence thereof is delivered to the initial purchaser no later than 30 days after the date of the contract or sale.

(b) During the 2002–03 fiscal year, an agency that has adopted a resolution pursuant to subdivision (c) may, pursuant to subdivision (a) of Section 33681.7, allocate to the auditor less than the amount required by subdivision (a) of Section 33681.7, if the agency finds that either of the following has occurred:

(2) The agency has no other funds to make the allocation required by subdivision (a) of Section 33681.7.

(c) (1) Any agency that, pursuant to subdivision (b), allocates to the auditor less than the amount required by subdivision (a) of Section 33681.7 shall adopt, prior to December 31, 2002, after a noticed public hearing, a resolution that lists all of the following:

(A) Each existing indebtedness incurred prior to the effective date of this section.

(B) Each indebtedness on which a payment is required to be made during the 2002–03 fiscal year.

(C) The amount of each payment, the time when it is required to be paid, and the total of the payments required to be made during the 2002–03 fiscal year. For indebtedness that bears interest at a variable rate, or for short-term indebtedness that is maturing during the fiscal year and that is expected to be refinanced, the amount of payments during the fiscal year shall be estimated by the agency.

(2) The information contained in the resolution required by this subdivision shall be reviewed for accuracy by the chief fiscal officer of the agency.

(3) The legislative body shall additionally adopt the resolution required by this section.

(c) The administration and the public education community are committed to collaborating on development of an audit process that holds schools fiscally responsible in a fair and reasonable manner.

(d) Legislative action is required to effectuate termination of these audits and establish a new audit process.

SEC. 2. Section 14501 of the Education Code is amended to read:

14501. (a) As used in this chapter, ''financial and compliance audit'' shall be consistent with the definition provided in the ''Standards for Audits of Governmental Organizations, Programs, Activities, and Functions'' promulgated by the Comptroller General of the United States. SEC. 3. Section 14502 of the Education Code is amended to read:

14502. (a) The Controller, in consultation with the Department of Finance and the State Department of Education, shall develop a plan to review and report on financial and compliance audits. The plan shall commence with the 1984–85 fiscal year for audits of school districts and the offices of county superintendents of schools. (b) For the audit of school districts or county offices of education electing to take formal action pursuant to Sections 22714 and 44929, the audit guide shall be in the form and require the information prescribed by the Controller, including, but not limited to, the following:

(1) The number and type of positions vacated.

(2) The age and service credit of the retirees receiving the additional service credit provided by Sections 22714 and 44929.

(3) A comparison of the salary and benefits of each retiree receiving the additional service credit with the salary and benefits of the replacement employee, if any.

(4) The resulting retirement cost, including interest, if any, and postretirement health care benefits costs, incurred by the employer.

(c) The Controller shall annually prepare a cost analysis, based on the information included in the audit reports for the prior fiscal year, to determine the net savings or costs resulting from formal actions taken by school districts and county offices of education pursuant to Sections 22714 and 44929, and shall report the results of the cost analysis to the Governor and the Legislature by April 1 of each year.

(d) All costs incurred by the Controller to implement subdivision (b) shall be absorbed by the Controller.

(e) This section shall be used to prepare the audit guide for school district audits for the 2002–03 fiscal year.

(f) This section shall become inoperative on July 1, 2003, and, as of January 1, 2004, is repealed, unless a later enacted statute, that becomes operative on or before January 1, 2004, deletes or extends the dates on which it becomes inoperative and is repealed.

SEC. 4. Section 14502.1 is added to the Education Code, to read:

14502.1. (a) The Controller, in consultation with the Department of Finance and the State Department of Education, shall develop a plan to review and report on financial and compliance audits. The plan shall commence with the 2003–04 fiscal year for audits of school districts, other local education agencies, and the offices of county superintendents of schools. The Controller, in consultation with the Department of Finance, the State Department of Education, and representatives of the California School Boards Association, the California Association of School Business Officials, the California County Superintendents Educational Service Association, the California Teachers Association, the California Society of Certified Public Accountants, shall recommend the statements and other information to be included in the audit reports filed with the state, and shall propose the content of an audit guide to carry out the purposes of this chapter. A supplement to the audit guide may be suggested in the audit year, following the above process, to address issues resulting from new legislation in that year that changes the conditions of apportionment. The proposed content of the audit guide and any supplement to the audit guide shall be submitted by the Controller to the Education Audits Appeal Panel for review and possible amendment.

(b) The audit guide and any supplement shall be adopted by the Education Audits Appeal Panel pursuant to the rulemaking procedures of the Administrative Procedure Act as set forth in Chapter 3.5 (commencing with Section 11340) of Part 1 of Division 3 of Title 2 of the Government Code. It is the intent of the Legislature that, for the 2003–04 fiscal year, the audit guide be adopted by July 1 of the fiscal year to be audited. A supplemental audit guide may be adopted to address legislative changes to the conditions of apportionment. It is the intent of the Legislature that supplements be adopted before March 1 of the audit year. Commencing with the 2004–05 fiscal year, and each fiscal year thereafter, the audit guide shall be adopted by July 1 of the fiscal year to be audited. A supplemental audit guide may be adopted to address legislative changes to the conditions of apportionment. The supplements shall be adopted before March 1 of the audit year. To meet these goals and to ensure the accuracy of the audit guide, the process for adopting emergency regulations set forth in Section 11346.1 of the Government Code may be followed to adopt the guide and supplemental audit guide. It is the intent of the Legislature that once the audit guide has been adopted for a fiscal year, as well as any supplement for that year, thereafter only suggested changes to the audit guide and any additional supplements need be adopted pursuant to the rulemaking procedures of the Administrative Procedure Act. The audit guide and any supplement shall be issued in booklet form and may be made available by any means deemed appropriate. The Controller and consultants in the development of the suggested audit guide and any supplement shall work cooperatively on a timeline that will allow the education audits appeal panel to meet the July 1 and March 1 issuance dates. Consistent with current practices for development of the audit guide before the 2003–04 fiscal year, the Controller shall provide for the adoption of procedures and timetables for the development of the suggested audit guide, any supplement, and the format for additions, deletions, and revisions.

(c) For the audit of school districts or county offices of education electing to take formal action pursuant to Sections 22714 and 44929, the audit guide content proposed by the Controller shall include, but not be limited to, the following:

(1) The number and type of positions vacated.

(2) The age and service credit of the retirees receiving the additional service credit provided by Sections 22714 and 44929.

(3) A comparison of the salary and benefits of each retiree receiving the additional service credit with the salary and benefits of the replacement employee, if any.

(4) The resulting retirement cost, including interest, if any, and postretirement health care benefits costs, incurred by the employer.

(d) The Controller shall annually prepare a cost analysis, based on the information included in the audit reports for the prior fiscal year, to determine the net savings or costs resulting from formal actions taken by school districts and county offices of education pursuant to Sections 22714 and 44929, and shall report the results of the cost analysis to the Governor and the Legislature by April 1 of each year.

(e) All costs incurred by the Controller to implement subdivision (c) shall be absorbed by the Controller.

(f) This section shall become operative July 1, 2003 and shall apply to the preparation of the audit guide for school district audits commencing with the 2003–04 fiscal year.

SEC. 5. Section 14503 of the Education Code is amended to read:

14503. (a) Financial and compliance audits shall be performed in accordance with General Accounting Office standards for financial and compliance audits. The audit guide prepared by the Controller shall be used in the performance of these audits until an audit guide is adopted by the Education Audits Appeal Panel pursuant to Section 14502.1. When an audit guide is adopted by that panel, the adopted audit guide shall be used in the performance of these audits. Every audit report shall specifically and separately address each of the state program compliance requirements included in the audit guide, stating whether or not the district is in compliance with those requirements. For each state program compliance requirement included in the audit guide, every audit report shall further state that the suggested audit procedures included in the audit guide for that requirement were followed in the making of the audit, if that is the case, or, if not, what other procedures were followed. If a local education agency is not in compliance with a requirement that is a condition of eligibility for the receipt of state funds, the audit report shall include a statement of the number of units of average daily attendance, if any, that were inappropriately reported for apportionment.

(b) An independent auditor shall not engage in financial or compliance audits unless, within three years of commencing the first of the audits, and every successive three years thereafter, the auditor completes a quality control review in accordance with General Accounting Office standards. The time period between commencement of the first audit, or completion of a quality control review, and completion of a subsequent quality control review shall be calculated from the first day of the month following commencement of the audit or completion of the quality control review. Notwithstanding this subdivision, independent auditors may continue to perform any financial and compliance audits until January 1, 1994.

SEC. 6. Section 14504 of the Education Code is amended to read:

14504. To determine the practicability and effectiveness of the audits and audit guide, the Controller shall, on an annual basis, review and monitor the audit reports performed by independent auditors. The Controller shall determine whether audit reports are in conformance with reporting provisions of subdivision (a) of Section 14503 and shall notify each local education agency, office of the responsible county superintendent of schools, the Superintendent of Public Instruction, the Department of Finance, and the auditor regarding each determination. The local education agency or the county superintendent of schools contracting for the financial and compliance audit shall include a statement that will provide the Controller access to audit working papers.

SEC. 7. Section 14504.2 of the Education Code is amended to read:

14504.2. (a) The Controller may perform quality control reviews of audit working papers to determine whether audits are performed in conformity with subdivision (a) of Section 14503. The Department of Finance may refer an independent auditor of a school district to the Controller for a review pursuant to this section if the Department of Finance finds that an audit of a school district was conducted in a manner that may constitute noncompliance with subdivision (a) of Section 14503. The Controller shall communicate the results of his or her reviews to the Department of Finance, the independent auditor, and the school district or office of the county superintendent of schools for which the audit was performed, and shall review his or her findings with the independent auditor.

(b) Prior to the performance of any quality control reviews, the Controller shall develop and publish guidelines and standards for those reviews. Pursuant to the development of those guidelines and standards, the Controller shall provide opportunity for public comment.

(c) (1) The Controller shall conduct a quality control review of the audit working papers of the independent auditor who performed the audits for a local education agency for the prior three fiscal years if any of the following circumstances exists:

(B) The budget of the local education agency is disapproved or the local education agency has received a negative certification on any budget or interim financial report, as defined in Section 42131, during the current or preceding fiscal year.

(C) The responsible county superintendent of schools has otherwise determined that a lack of going concern exists for a local education agency pursuant to Section 42127.6.

(2) If the quality control review of the Controller indicates that the audit was conducted in a manner that may constitute unprofessional conduct as defined pursuant to Section 5100 of the Business and Professions Code, including, but not limited to, gross negligence resulting in a material misstatement in the audit, the Controller shall refer the case to the California Board of Accountancy. If the California Board of Accountancy finds that the independent auditor conducted an audit in an unprofessional manner, the independent auditor is prohibited from performing any audit of a local education agency for a period of three years, in addition to any other penalties that the California Board of Accountancy may impose.

(d) In any matter that is referred to the California Board of Accountancy under subparagraph (A) of paragraph (1) of subdivision (c), the Controller may suspend the independent auditor from performing any local education agency audits pending final disposition of the matter by the California Board of Accountancy if the Controller gives the independent auditor notice and an opportunity to respond to that suspension. The independent auditor shall be given credit for any period of suspension if the California Board of Accountancy prohibits the independent auditor from performing audits of the local education agency under subdivision (c). In no event may the Controller suspend an independent auditor under this subdivision for a period of longer than three years.

(e) The county superintendent of schools or the county board of education may refer an independent auditor of a local education agency to the California Board of Accountancy for action pursuant to subdivision (c) if an audit of a local education agency was conducted in a manner that may constitute unprofessional conduct as defined by Section 5100 of the Business and Professions Code, including, but not limited to, gross negligence resulting in a material misstatement in the audit.

SEC. 8. Section 41020 of the Education Code is amended to read:

41020. (a) It is the intent of the Legislature to encourage sound fiscal management practices among school districts for the most efficient and effective use of public funds for the education of children in California by strengthening fiscal accountability at the district, county, and state levels.

(b) (1) Not later than the first day of May of each fiscal year, each county superintendent of schools shall provide for an audit of all funds under his or her jurisdiction and control and the governing board of each local education agency shall either provide for an audit of the books and accounts of the local education agency, including an audit of income and expenditures by source of funds, or make arrangements with the county superintendent of schools having jurisdiction over the local education agency to provide for that auditing.

(2) A contract to perform the audit of a local education agency that has a disapproved budget or has received a negative certification on any budget or interim financial report during the current fiscal year or either of the two preceding fiscal years, or for which the county superintendent of schools has otherwise determined that a lack of going concern exists, is not valid unless approved by the responsible county superintendent of schools and the governing board.

(3) If the governing board of a local education agency has not provided for an audit of the books and accounts of the local education agency by April 1, the county superintendent of schools having jurisdiction over the local education agency shall provide for the audit of each local education agency.

(4) An audit conducted pursuant to this section shall fully comply with the Government Auditing Standards issued by the Comptroller General of the United States.

(5) For purposes of this section, ''local education agency'' does not include community colleges.

(c) Each audit conducted in accordance with this section shall include all funds of the local education agency, including the student body and cafeteria funds and accounts and any other funds under the control or jurisdiction of the local education agency. Each audit shall also include an audit of pupil attendance procedures.

(d) All audit reports for the 2002–03 fiscal year, and for each subsequent fiscal year, shall be developed and reported using a format established by the Controller after consultation with the Superintendent of Public Instruction and the Director of Finance.

(f) (1) The audits shall be made by a certified public accountant or a public accountant, licensed by the California Board of Accountancy, and selected by the local education agency, as applicable, from a directory of certified public accountants and public accountants deemed by the Controller as qualified to conduct audits of local education agencies, which shall be published by the Controller not later than December 31 of each year.

(2) Commencing with the 2003–04 fiscal year and except as provided in subdivision (d) of Section 41320.1, it is unlawful for a public accounting firm to provide audit services to a local educational agency if the lead audit partner, or coordinating audit partner, having primary responsibility for the audit, or the audit partner responsible for reviewing the audit, has performed audit services for that local educational agency in each of the six previous fiscal years. The Education Audits Appeal Panel may waive this requirement if the panel finds that no otherwise eligible auditor is available to perform the audit.

(3) It is the intent of the Legislature that, notwithstanding paragraph (2) of this subdivision, the rotation within public accounting firms conform to provisions of the federal Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002 (P.L. 107-204; 15 U.S.C. Sec. 7201, et seq.), and upon release of the report required by the act of the Comptroller General of the United States addressing the mandatory rotation of registered public accounting firms, the Legislature intends to reconsider the provisions of paragraph (2). In determining which certified public accountants and public accountants shall be included in the directory, the Controller shall use the following criteria:

(A) The certified public accountants or public accountants shall be in good standing as certified by the Board of Accountancy.

(B) The certified public accountants or public accountants, as a result of a quality control review conducted by the Controller pursuant to Section 14504.2, shall not have been found to have conducted an audit in a manner constituting noncompliance with subdivision (a) of Section 14503.

(B) A summary of audit exceptions and management improvement recommendations.

(C) Each local education agency's audit shall include an auditor's evaluation on whether there is substantial doubt about the local agency's ability to continue as a going concern for a reasonable period of time. This evaluation shall be based on the Statement of Auditing Standards (SAS) No. 59, as issued by the AICPA regarding disclosure requirements relating the entity's ability to continue as a going concern.

(2) To the extent possible, a description of correction or plan of correction shall be incorporated in the audit report, describing the specific actions that are planned to be taken, or that have been taken, to correct the problem identified by the auditor. The descriptions of specific actions to be taken or that have been taken shall not solely consist of general comments such as ''will implement,'' ''accepted the recommendation,'' or ''will discuss at a later date.''

(h) Not later than December 15, a report of each local education agency audit for the preceding fiscal year shall be filed with the county superintendent of schools of the county in which the local education agency is located, the State Department of Education, and the Controller. The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall make any adjustments necessary in future apportionments of all state funds, to correct any audit exceptions revealed by those audit reports.

(i) Commencing with the 2002–03 audit of local education agencies pursuant to this section, each county superintendent of schools shall be responsible for reviewing the audit exceptions contained in an audit of a local education agency under his or her jurisdiction related to attendance, inventory of equipment, internal control, and any miscellaneous items, and determining whether the exceptions have been either corrected or an acceptable plan of correction has been developed.

(j) Upon submission of the final audit report to the governing board of each local education agency and subsequent receipt of the audit by the county superintendent of schools having jurisdiction over the local education agency, the county office of education shall do all of the following:

(1) Review audit exceptions related to attendance, inventory of equipment, internal control, and other miscellaneous exceptions. Attendance exceptions or issues shall include, but not be limited to, those related to revenue limits, adult education, and independent study.

(2) If a description of the correction or plan of correction has not been provided as part of the audit required by this section, then the county superintendent of schools shall notify the local education agency and request the governing board of the local education agency to provide to the county superintendent of schools a description of the corrections or plan of correction by March 15.

(3) Review the description of correction or plan of correction and determine its adequacy. If the description of the correction or plan of correction is not adequate, the county superintendent of schools shall require the local education agency to resubmit that portion of its response that is inadequate.

(k) Each county superintendent of schools shall certify to the Superintendent of Public Instruction and the Controller, not later than May 15, that his or her staff has reviewed all audits of local education agencies under his or her jurisdiction for the prior fiscal year, that all exceptions that the county superintendent was required to review were reviewed, and that all of those exceptions, except as otherwise noted in the certification, have been corrected by the local education agency or that an acceptable plan of correction has been submitted to the county superintendent of schools. In addition, the county superintendent shall identify, by local education agency, any attendance-related audit exception or exceptions involving state funds, and require the local education agency to which the audit exceptions were directed to submit appropriate reporting forms for processing by the Superintendent of Public Instruction.

(l) In the audit of a local education agency for a subsequent year, the auditor shall review the correction or plan or plans of correction submitted by the local education agency to determine if the exceptions have been resolved. If not, the auditor shall immediately notify the appropriate county office of education and the State Department of Education and restate the exception in the audit report. After receiving that notification, the State Department of Education shall either consult with the local education agency to resolve the exception or require the county superintendent of schools to follow up with the local education agency.

(m) (1) The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall be responsible for ensuring that local education agencies have either corrected or developed plans of correction for any one or more of the following:

(A) All federal and state compliance audit exceptions identified in the audit.

(B) Any exceptions that the county superintendent certifies as of May 15 have not been corrected.

(C) Any repeat audit exceptions that are not assigned to a county superintendent to correct.

(2) In addition, the Superintendent of Public Instruction shall be responsible for ensuring that county superintendents of schools and each county board of education that serves as the governing board of a local education agency either correct all audit exceptions identified in the audits of county superintendents of schools and of the local education agencies for which the county boards of education serve as the governing boards or develop acceptable plans of correction for those exceptions.

(3) The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall report annually to the Controller on his or her actions to ensure that school districts, county superintendents of schools, and each county board of education that serves as the governing board of a school district have either corrected or developed plans of correction for any of the exceptions noted pursuant to paragraph (1).

(n) To facilitate correction of the exceptions identified by the audits issued pursuant to this section, commencing with 2002–03 audits pursuant to this section, the Controller shall require auditors to categorize audit exceptions in each audit report in a manner that will make it clear to both the county superintendent of schools and the Superintendent of Public Instruction which exceptions they are responsible for ensuring the correction of by a local education agency. In addition, the Controller annually shall select a sampling of county superintendents of schools and perform a followup of the audit resolution process of those county superintendents of schools and report the results of that followup to the Superintendent of Public Instruction and the county superintendents of schools that were reviewed.

(o) County superintendents of schools shall adjust subsequent local property tax requirements to correct audit exceptions relating to local education agency tax rates and tax revenues.

(p) If a governing board or county superintendent of schools fails or is unable to make satisfactory arrangements for the audit pursuant to this section, the Controller shall make arrangements for the audit and the cost of the audit shall be paid from local education agency funds or the county school service fund, as the case may be.

(q) Audits of regional occupational centers and programs are subject to the provisions of this section.

(r) Nothing in this section shall be construed to authorize examination of, or reports on, the curriculum used or provided for in any local education agency.

(s) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, a nonauditing, management, or other consulting service to be provided to a local education agency by a certified public accounting firm while the certified public accounting firm is performing an audit of the agency pursuant to this section must be in accord with Government Accounting Standards, Amendment No. 3, as published by the United States General Accounting Office.

SEC. 9. Section 41020.3 of the Education Code is amended to read:

41020.3. By January 31 of each year, the governing body of each local education agency shall review, at a public meeting, the annual audit of the local education agency for the prior year, any audit exceptions identified in that audit, the recommendations or findings of any management letter issued by the auditor, and any description of correction or plans to correct any exceptions or management letter issue. This review shall be placed on the agenda of the meeting pursuant to Section 35145.

SEC. 10. Section 41344 of the Education Code is amended to read:

41344. (a) If, as the result of an audit or review, a local education agency is required to repay an apportionment significant audit exception, the Superintendent of Public Instruction and the Director of Finance, or their designees shall jointly establish a plan for repayment of state school funds that the local education agency received on the basis of average daily attendance, or other data, that did not comply with statutory or regulatory requirements that were conditions of the apportionments. A local education agency must request a repayment plan within 90 days of receiving the final audit report or review, within 30 days of receiving a final determination regarding an appeal pursuant to subdivision (d), or, in the absence of an appeal pursuant to subdivision (d), within 30 days of receiving a determination of a summary review pursuant to subdivision (d) of Section 41344.1. At the time the local education agency is notified, the Controller shall also be notified of the repayment plan. The repayment plan shall be established in accordance with the following:

(1) The Controller shall withhold the disallowed amount at the next principal apportionment or pursuant to paragraph (2), unless subdivision (d) or subdivision (d) of Section 41344.1 applies, in which case the disallowed amount shall be withheld, at the next principal apportionment or pursuant to paragraph (2) following the determination regarding the appeal or summary appeal. In calculating the disallowed amount, the Controller shall determine the total amount of overpayment received by the local education agency on the basis of average daily attendance, or other data, reported by the local education agency that did not comply with one or more statutory or regulatory requirements that are conditions of apportionment.

(2) If the Superintendent of Public Instruction and the Director of the Department of Finance concur that repayment of the full liability in the current fiscal year would constitute a severe financial hardship for the local agency, they may approve a repayment plan of equal annual payments over a period of up to eight years. The repayment plan shall include interest on each year's outstanding balance at the rate earned on the state's short-term pooled investment fund during that year. The Superintendent of Public Instruction and the Director of the Department of Finance shall jointly establish this repayment plan. The Controller shall withhold amounts pursuant to the repayment plan.

(3) If the Superintendent of Public Instruction and the Director of the Department of Finance do not jointly establish a repayment plan, the State Controller shall withhold the entire disallowed amount determined pursuant to paragraph (1) at the next principal apportionment.

(b) For purposes of computing average daily attendance pursuant to Section 42238.5, a local educational agency's prior fiscal year average daily attendance shall be reduced by an amount equal to any average daily attendance disallowed in the current year, by an audit or review, as defined in subdivision (e).

(c) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, this section may not be waived under any authority set forth in this code except as provided in this section or Section 41344.1.

(d) Within 60 days of the date on which a local education agency receives a final audit report resulting from an audit or review or within 30 days of receiving a determination of a summary review pursuant to subdivision (d) Section 41344.1, a local agency may appeal a finding contained in the final report, pursuant to Section 41344.1. Within 90 days of the date on which the appeal is received by the panel, a hearing shall be held at which the local agency may present evidence or arguments if the local education agency believes that the final report contains any finding that was based on errors of fact or interpretation of law. A repayment schedule may not commence until the panel reaches a determination regarding the appeal. If the panel determines that the local agency is correct in its assertion, in whole or in part, the allowable portion of any apportionment payment that was withheld shall be paid at the next principal apportionment.

(e) As used in this section, ''audit or review'' means an audit conducted by the Controller's office, an annual audit conducted by a certified public accountant or a public accountant firm pursuant to Section 41020, and an audit or review conducted by a governmental agency that provided the local education agency with an opportunity to provide a written response.

SEC. 11. Section 41344.1 is added to the Education Code, to read:

41344.1. (a) The Education Audit Appeals Panel is hereby established as a separate state agency. Its membership shall consist of the Superintendent of Public Instruction, the Director of the Department of Finance, and the Chief Executive Officer of the Fiscal Crisis and Management Assistance Team established pursuant to Section 42127.8 or their designees. The panel shall have the authority to expend funds, hire staff, make contracts, sue and be sued, and issue regulations in furtherance of its duties.

(b) The panel shall hear appeals filed pursuant to subdivision (d) of Section 41344. The Controller shall be a party to all appeals. The State Department of Education and the Department of Finance may, at their election, timely intervene as a party in any appeal. The panel shall consider audit appeals pursuant to the administrative adjudication provisions of the Administrative Procedure Act (Chapter 4.5 (commencing with Section 11400) and Chapter 5 (commencing with Section 11500) of Part 1 of Division 3 of Title 2 of the Government Code), except that it may adopt regulations specifying special pleadings that shall govern audit appeals. The panel may approve settlements and make findings of fact and interpretations of law.

(c) Compliance with all legal requirements is a condition to the state's obligation to make apportionments. A condition may be deemed satisfied if the panel finds there has been compliance or substantial compliance with all legal requirements. ''Substantial compliance'' means nearly complete satisfaction of all material requirements of a funding program that provide an educational benefit substantially consistent with the program's purpose. A minor or inadvertent noncompliance may be grounds for a finding of substantial compliance provided that the local education agency can demonstrate it acted in good faith to comply with the conditions established in law or regulation necessary for apportionment of funding. The panel may further define ''substantial compliance'' by issuing regulations or through adjudicative opinions, or both. If the panel finds there has been substantial compliance, the panel may waive or reduce the reimbursement and may also order other remedial measures sufficient to induce full compliance in the future. Other remedial measures may include, but are not limited to, restoration of a reduction if full compliance is not rendered in the future, ordering special audits, and requiring special training.

(d) In addition to the normal appeal process specified above, there is hereby created a voluntary, informal, summary appeals process for noncompliant audit exceptions that clearly constitute substantial compliance as that term is defined in subdivision (c). Requests for summary review shall be made to the executive officer of the panel who may seek comment from the Department of Finance or Superintendent of Public Instruction. Summary review shall be sought within 30 days of the date on which a local education agency receives a final audit report resulting from an audit or review.

(1) If the executive officer concludes the conditions for finding substantial compliance are not clearly met or involve substantial questions of fact, the executive officer may deny the request for summary review and the appellant may pursue its claim through the normal appeal process.

(2) For appeals in which the total audit exceptions for full repayment constitute less than 150 units of average daily attendance or seven hundred fifty thousand dollars ($750,000), whichever is less, the executive officer may order reduced reimbursement upon a finding of substantial compliance and that other remedial measures are sufficient to induce full compliance in the future.

(3) For appeals in which the total audit exceptions for full repayment meet or exceed 150 units of average daily attendance or seven hundred fifty thousand dollars ($750,000), whichever is greater, the executive officer may propose reduced reimbursement upon a finding of substantial compliance and order other remedial measures that are sufficient to induce full compliance in the future, if he or she has the written approval of the Department of Finance and the Superintendent of Public Instruction. The executive officer shall provide the details of the proposed settlement and the rationale in writing to the Department of Finance and Superintendent of Public Instruction and allow at least 30 days for their review.

(4) The right to appeal pursuant to subdivision (d) of Section 41344 is independent of this subdivision and an appellant may pursue his or her appeal under subdivision (b) regardless of the result under this subdivision. Local education agencies that have unresolved audit appeals pursuant to subdivision (d) of Section 41344 pending on January 1, 2003, may file a request for summary review under this subdivision for a period of 60 days after January 1, 2003.

SEC. 12. Section 41609 of the Education Code is repealed.

SEC. 13. Section 42238.75 is added to the Education Code, to read:

42238.75. Notwithstanding any other provision of law:

(a) All completed audits, including those on appeal, of school districts, charter schools, and county offices of education funded by Item 8860-025-0001 of Section 2.00 of Chapter 50 of the Statutes of 1999, Item 8860-025-0001 of Section 2.00 of Chapter 52 of the Statutes of 2000, and Item 8860-025-0001 of Section 2.00 of Chapter 106 of the Statutes of 2001, and any findings of those audits, are withdrawn, and no loss of apportionment arising from the findings of those audits shall be realized.

(b) All audits funded by Item 8860-025-0001 of Section 2.00 of Chapter 50 of the Statutes of 1999, Item 8860-025-0001 of Section 2.00 of Chapter 52 of the Statutes of 2000, and Item 8860-025-0001 of Section 2.00 of Chapter 106 of the Statutes of 2001, shall be discontinued.

(c) The Controller shall notify all school districts, charter schools, and county offices of education that it is no longer necessary to retain records supporting pupil attendance and excused absences used for purposes of calculating average daily attendance during the 1996–97 fiscal year.

SEC. 14. Section 17558.5 of the Government Code is amended to read:

17558.5. (a) A reimbursement claim for actual costs filed by a local agency or school district pursuant to this chapter is subject to the initiation of an audit by the Controller no later than three years after the date that the actual reimbursement claim is filed or last amended, whichever is later. However, if no funds are appropriated or no payment is made to a claimant for the program for the fiscal year for which the claim is filed, the time for the Controller to initiate an audit shall commence to run from the date of initial payment of the claim.

(b) The Controller shall notify the claimant in writing within 30 days after issuance of a remittance advice of any adjustment to a claim for reimbursement that results from an audit or review. The notification shall specify the claim components adjusted, the amounts adjusted, and the reason for the adjustment. Remittance advices and other notices of payment action shall not constitute notice of adjustment from an audit or review.

(c) Nothing in this section shall be construed to limit the adjustment of payments when inaccuracies are determined to be the result of the intent to defraud, or when a delay in the completion of an audit is the result of willful acts by the claimant or inability to reach agreement on terms of final settlement.

(d) This section shall become operative on July 1, 1996.

SEC. 14.5. Section 17558.5 of the Government Code is amended to read:

17558.5. (a) A reimbursement claim for actual costs filed by a local agency or school district pursuant to this chapter is subject to the initiation of an audit by the Controller no later than three years after the date that the actual reimbursement claim is filed or last amended, whichever is later. However, if no funds are appropriated or no payment is made to a claimant for the program for the fiscal year for which the claim is filed, the time for the Controller to initiate an audit shall commence to run from the date of initial payment of the claim.

(b) The Controller shall notify the claimant in writing within 30 days after issuance of a remittance advice of any adjustment to a claim for reimbursement that results from an audit or review. The notification shall specify the claim components adjusted, the amounts adjusted, interest charges on claims adjusted to reduce the overall reimbursement to the local agency or school district, and the reason for the adjustment. Remittance advices and other notices of payment action shall not constitute notice of adjustment from an audit or review.

(c) The interest rate charged by the Controller on reduced claims shall be set at the Pooled Money Investment Account rate and shall be imposed on the dollar amount of the overpaid claim from the time the claim was paid until overpayment is satisfied.

(d) Nothing in this section shall be construed to limit the adjustment of payments when inaccuracies are determined to be the result of the intent to defraud, or when a delay in the completion of an audit is the result of willful acts by the claimant or inability to reach agreement on terms of final settlement.

SEC. 15. The sum of two million nine hundred fifty thousand dollars ($2,950,000) is hereby appropriated from the General Fund according to the following schedule:

(a) The sum of five hundred twenty-five thousand dollars ($525,000) to the Controller for the purposes of reviewing annual financial and compliance audits performed for local education agencies and developing and maintaining the directory of certified public accountant and public accountant pursuant to subdivision (f) of Section 41020 of the Education Code, and for work associated with audit appeals pursuant to Article 3 (commencing with Section 41344) of Chapter 3 of Part 24 of the Education Code.

(b) The sum of one million six hundred thousand dollars ($1,600,000) to the Controller for the purposes of auditing reimbursable state mandate claims filed by local government entities and local education agencies.

(c) The sum of seven hundred fifty thousand dollars ($750,000) to the Controller for allocation to the Education Audit Appeals Panel established pursuant to Section 41344.1 of the Education Code for general support of hearing appeals as set forth under Section 41344.1 of the Education Code.

(d) The sum of seventy-five thousand dollars ($75,000) to the State Department of Education for one Staff Services Analyst/Associate Governmental Program Analyst position and operating expense for workload associated with the implementation of this act.

SEC. 16. Section 14.5 of this bill incorporates amendments to Section 17558.5 of the Government Code proposed by this bill and AB 3000. It shall only become operative if (1) both bills are enacted and become effective on or before January 1, 2003, (2) each bill amends Section 17558.5 of the Government Code, and (3) this bill is enacted after AB 3000, in which case Section 17558.5 of the Government Code, as amended by AB 3000, shall remain operative only until the operative date of this bill, at which time Section 14.5 of this bill shall become operative, and Section 14 of this bill shall not become operative.

SEC. 17. Notwithstanding Section 17610 of the Government Code, if the Commission on State Mandates determines that this act contains costs mandated by the state, reimbursement to local agencies and school districts for those costs shall be made pursuant to Part 7 (commencing with Section 17500) of Division 4 of Title 2 of the Government Code. If the statewide cost of the claim for reimbursement does not exceed one million dollars ($1,000,000), reimbursement shall be made from the State Mandates Claims Fund.

An act to amend Section 42407 of, to add Section 40720 to, to add Chapter 9.8 (commencing with Section 44299.80) to Part 5 of Division 26 of, to add and repeal Section 40720.5 of, and to repeal Section 44299.83 of, the Health and Safety Code, relating to air pollution.

[Approved by Governor September 30, 2002. Filed with Secretary of State September 30, 2002.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. The Legislature finds and declares all of the following:

(a) Air pollution in the state is an ongoing problem that impacts the health and safety of its residents.

(b) Long lines at California marine terminals and ports often become congested and force trucks to idle for extended periods of time.

(c) Idling trucks emit air contaminants, including oxides of nitrogen (NO_x), carbon dioxide (CO_2), and particulate matter.

(d) Many marine terminals and ports in the state are close in proximity to homes and businesses.

(e) Owners and operators of marine terminals and ports generally do not directly own or control trucks that conduct transactions at their site. However, due to the manner in which some marine terminals and ports are operated, including, but not limited to, setting short gate hours and maintaining systems that do not spread truck transactions throughout the day, and because trucks must operate within the systems established by the owners and operators of marine terminals, trucks are forced to idle for extended periods of time and create severe congestion on public roadways in communities at and near marine terminals and ports.

(f) It is the intent of the Legislature to prohibit extended idling by trucks at marine terminals and ports in the state in order to protect the health and safety of all Californians.

(g) It is the intent of the Legislature, in enacting the provisions of this act, to reduce only emissions of particulate matter that are caused by trucks idling at marine terminals and ports in the state.

(h) It is not the intent of the Legislature, in providing a system for the provisions of grants for the reduction of emission of particulate matter at marine terminals and ports in the state, to delegate any authority for the control of emissions from mobile sources to districts.

SEC. 2. Section 40720 is added to the Health and Safety Code, to read:

40720. (a) Each marine terminal in the state shall operate in a manner that does not cause the engines on trucks to idle or queue for more than 30 minutes while waiting to enter the gate into the marine terminal.

(1) Any owner or operator of a marine terminal that operates in violation of this subdivision is subject to a $250 fine per vehicle per violation.

(2) Marine terminals in the state shall be monitored by the district with jurisdiction over that terminal to ensure compliance with this subdivision.

(3) Citations for violations of this subdivision shall be issued by the applicable district, and shall include the truck license plate number, the name of the marine terminal and port at which the violation occurred, and the date and time of the violation.

(4) Any action taken by the marine terminal to assess, or seek reimbursement from, the driver or owner of a truck for a violation of this subdivision shall constitute a violation of Article 3 (commencing with Section 42400) of Chapter 4 of Part 4.

(5) Any owner or operator of a marine terminal or port, or any agent thereof, who takes any action intended to avoid or circumvent the requirements of this subdivision or to avoid or circumvent the reduction of emissions of particulate matter from idling or queuing trucks is subject to a seven hundred fifty dollar ($750) fine per vehicle per violation, including, but not limited to, either of the following actions:

(A) Diverting an idling truck to area freeways or alternate staging areas, including, but not limited to, requiring a truck to idle or queue inside the gate of a marine terminal.

(B) Requiring or directing a truckdriver to turn on and off an engine while queuing.

(6) The owner or operator of a marine terminal does not violate this subdivision by causing a truck to idle for more than 30 minutes while waiting to enter the gate into the marine terminal, if the delay is caused by acts of God, strikes, or declared state and federal emergencies, or if the district finds that an unavoidable or unforeseeable event caused trucks to idle and that the terminal is in good faith compliance with this section.

(7) Failure to pay a fine imposed pursuant to paragraph (1) or (5) shall constitute a violation of Article 3 (commencing with Section 42400) of Chapter 4 of Part 4.

(b) (1) Subdivision (a) does not apply to any marine terminal that provides, as determined by the district, two continuous hours of uninterrupted, fully staffed receiving and delivery gates two hours prior to and after, peak commuter hours each day, at least five days per week.

(2) For the purposes of this subdivision, ''peak commuter hours'' shall be those hours determined by the district, in consultation with the owners and operators of the marine terminals within each district's jurisdiction and any labor union that is represented at those marine terminals. The district shall notify the marine terminals of the final determination of the peak commuter hours.

(c) Subdivision (a) does not apply to any marine terminal that operates fully staffed receiving and delivery gates for 65 hours, five days per week, if that marine terminal is located at a port that processes less than 3 million containers (20-foot equivalent units (TEUs)) annually.

(d) Subdivision (a) does not apply to any marine terminal that operates fully staffed receiving and delivery gates for 70 hours, five days per week, if that marine terminal is located at a port that processes more than 3 million containers (20-foot equivalent units (TEUs)) annually.

(e) The district shall determine the necessary level of monitoring and enforcement commensurate with the level of the truck idling problem existing within its jurisdiction.

(f) For the purposes of this section, ''marine terminal'' means a facility that meets all of the following criteria:

(1) Is located at a bay or harbor.

(2) Is primarily used for loading or unloading containerized cargo onto or off of a ship or marine vessel.

(3) Contains one or more of the following:

(A) Piers.

(B) Wharves.

(C) Slips.

(D) Berths.

(E) Quays.

(4) Is located at a port that processes 100,000 or more containers (20-foot equivalent units (TEUs)) annually.

(g) Notwithstanding subdivision (a), if a marine terminal implements a scheduling or appointment system for trucks to enter the terminal, the terminal shall be subject to a fine pursuant to subdivision (a) only for a truck that makes use of the system and whose engine idles for more than 30 minutes while waiting to enter the gate into the terminal, commencing from the start of the appointment or the time the truck arrives, whichever is later. The scheduling or appointment system shall meet all of the following requirements:

(1) Provide appointments on a first-come, first-served basis.

(2) Provide appointments that last at least 60 minutes and are continuously staggered throughout the day.

(3) Not discriminate against any motor carrier that conducts transactions at the marine terminal in scheduling appointments.

(4) Not interfere with a double transaction once inside the gate.

(5) Not turn away or fine a motor carrier if that motor carrier misses an appointment.

SEC. 2.5. Section 40720.5 is added to the Health and Safety Code, to read:

40720.5. (a) Subdivision (a) of Section 40720 does not apply to any marine terminal that implements, or begins to implement, a scheduling or appointment system for trucks to enter the marine terminal.

(b) Any marine terminal that implements, or begins to implement a scheduling or appointment system for trucks to enter the marine terminal shall notify the applicable district of that implementation as soon as practicable.

(c) This section shall become inoperative on July 1, 2003, and, as of January 1, 2004, is repealed, unless a later enacted statute that is enacted before January 1, 2004, deletes or extends the dates on which it becomes inoperative and is repealed.

SEC. 3. Section 42407 of the Health and Safety Code is amended to read:

42407. Except as provided in Sections 40720 and 42403.5, this article is not applicable to vehicular sources.

SEC. 4. Chapter 9.8 (commencing with Section 44299.80) is added to Part 5 of Division 26 of the Health and Safety Code, to read:

CHAPTER 9.8. THE CALIFORNIA PORT COMMUNITY AIR QUALITY PROGRAM

44299.80. As used in this chapter, the following terms have the following meanings:

(a) ''Advanced introduction cost'' means the cost of a project less a baseline cost that would otherwise be incurred by the applicant in the normal course of business based on the actual age and turnover rates of trucks used at ports, and may include, but is not limited to, any of the following: incremental engine costs, re-engine or retrofit costs, additional operational costs, incremental fuel costs, facility modifications, and scrappage costs to eliminate operation on highways in the state.

(b) ''Cost-effectiveness'' means the funds provided to a project for each ton of particulate matter reduction attributed to a project or to the program as a whole. In calculating cost-effectiveness, a one-time grant of funds made at the beginning of a project shall be annualized using a time value of public funds or discount rate determined for each project. Cost-effectiveness shall be calculated by dividing annualized costs by local emissions reductions of PM.

(c) ''Covered engine'' includes an engine from any onroad heavy-duty diesel truck or bus weighing over 33,000 pounds and used in for-hire or proprietary trucking operated by a trucking company that services a port in the state.

(d) ''Covered source'' includes onroad heavy-duty diesel vehicles and other onroad high-emitting diesel engine categories.

(e) ''Covered vehicle'' includes any vehicle or piece of equipment powered by a covered engine.

(f) ''District'' means the Bay Area Air Quality Management District as described in Chapter 4 (commencing with Section 40200) of Part 3 and the South Coast Air Quality Management District as described in Chapter 5.5 (commencing with Section 40400) of Part 3.

(g) ''Fund'' means the California Port Community Air Quality Program Trust Fund established pursuant to Section 44299.84.

(h) ''Gr-bhph'' means grams-per brake horsepower hour.

(i) ''Marine terminal'' has the same meaning as in Section 40720.

(j) ''New very low-emission vehicle'' means a vehicle that qualifies as a very low-emission vehicle when it is a new vehicle, as defined in Section 430 of the Vehicle Code, with regard to particulate matter emissions standards or that is modified with the approval and warranty of the original equipment manufacturer to qualify as a very low-emission vehicle with regard to particulate matter emissions standards within 12 months of delivery to an owner for private or commercial use.

(k) ''Port'' means any sea or river port in the state.

(l) ''PM'' means particulate matter.

(m) ''Program'' means the California Port Community Air Quality Program created by this chapter.

(n) ''Project'' means the replacement, repowering, scrapping or retrofitting of a covered vehicle or covered engine that receives a grant pursuant to this chapter.

(o) ''Repower'' means replacing an engine with a different engine. The term ''repower'' as used in this chapter, refers to replacing an older, uncontrolled engine with a newer model engine that meets the latest emissions standards.

(p) ''Retrofit'' means making modifications to the engine and fuel system so that the retrofitted engine does not have the same emissions of particulate matter as the original engine.

(q) ''Very low-emission vehicle'' means a vehicle with emissions significantly lower than otherwise applicable baseline emission standards or uncontrolled emission levels.

44299.81. (a) The California Port Community Air Quality Program is hereby established in the Bay Area Air Quality Management District and the South Coast Air Quality Management District.

(b) The program shall be implemented and administered by a district within its jurisdiction. The district shall provide grants to offset the advanced introduction costs of eligible projects that reduce onroad emissions of particulate matter within communities adjacent to marine terminals.

(c) A district may use moneys derived from fines imposed within its jurisdiction pursuant to paragraphs (1) and (5) of subdivision (a) of Section 40720 to offset costs incurred performing the administration, enforcement, and monitoring activities as required pursuant to that section.

(d) A district shall use any moneys derived from fines imposed within its jurisdiction pursuant to paragraphs (1) and (5) of subdivision (a) of Section 40720 that are not expended to offset costs pursuant to paragraph (c) to fund the grant program.

44299.82. (a) A district shall determine the projects eligible for grants within that district. Those projects may include, but are not limited to, any of the following:

(1) Purchase of a new very-low-emission covered vehicle or covered engine to replace an older heavy-duty diesel vehicle or engine.

(2) Purchase and use of PM emission-reducing add-on equipment for a covered vehicle.

(3) Implementation of a practical, low-emission retrofit technology, repower option, advanced technology, or low sulfur diesel or alternative fuel mixture for a covered engine.

(b) In determining eligible projects, the district shall consider whether the project will have the following effects:

(1) Reduce onroad PM emissions to the maximum extent feasible on a timely and cost-effective basis at the marine terminal or port and within the surrounding communities.

(2) Meet environmental justice goals and objectives set by the state and local air pollution control agencies, including, but not limited to, districts.

(3) Benefit small businesses, giving particular emphasis to independent minority owners and operators.

(4) Assist in meeting the 0.01 gr-bhph emission standards adopted by the federal Environmental Protection Agency for 2007 and later model year diesel heavy-duty engines and vehicles (40 C.F.R. Sec. 86.007-11).

(c) A person that owns a covered vehicle that operates near or in a marine terminal or port is eligible to apply for a project grant if the district with jurisdiction over that marine terminal or port determines that the covered vehicle contributes significantly to the PM emissions inventory in the communities adjacent to that marine terminal or port.

(d) Each district shall allocate grant funds in the following manner:

(1) Covered engines and covered vehicles that are manufactured prior to 1994 shall receive 50 percent of the funds to purchase pre-existing engines or vehicles that are certified by the state board to have been manufactured after 1993. If the replacement engine or vehicle is not equipped with a PM retrofit device verified by the state board, those funds shall be utilized to purchase a PM retrofit device that is verified by the state board and to offset incremental costs incurred during the first year of utilizing low-sulfur diesel fuel with not more than 15 parts per million sulfur. The total cost to offset the incremental costs may not exceed 10 percent of the cost of the retrofit control device.

(2) The remaining 50 percent of the funds shall be used to fund the purchase of engines or vehicles, including, but not limited to, engines that are certified to be cleaner than existing exhaust emission standards, and the repower or retrofit of existing engines to meet the 0.01 gr-bhph PM emission standard. A new engine purchased pursuant to this section may operate on any fuel source if that fuel source is certified by the state board. If a new engine does not meet the 0.01 gr-bhph PM emission standards, a portion of these funds shall be utilized to purchase a PM retrofit device that is verified by the state board and to offset the incremental costs incurred during the first year of utilizing low-sulfur diesel fuel with not more than 15 parts per million sulfur to achieve the 0.01 gr-bhph PM emission standard. The total cost to offset the incremental costs shall not exceed 10 percent of the cost of the retrofit control device.

(e) A district shall give priority to those grant applicants that provide the greatest reduction in PM emissions.

(f) A district may give priority to any grant applicant who provides matching funds for the grant.

(g) A district may provide a grant to a project that involves replacing an engine that was manufactured before 1988, only if the applicant delivers that engine to the district or its agent for scrappage. The grant award amount shall include the costs the district will incur in scrapping that engine.

(h) A district may provide a grant for a project involving PM control retrofit technology only if that technology has been determined to be eligible for use by the state board.

(i) In determining eligible projects, a district may not exclude any technology based on the type of fuel utilized by that technology.

44299.83. (a) Notwithstanding paragraph (4) of subdivision (b) of Section 44299.82, a district may, on a case by case basis, determine that a project that meets a PM standard that is less stringent than 0.01 gr-bhph, but does not exceed 0.1 gr-bhph, is eligible for funding if it meets all of the following conditions:

(1) The project is proposed, pursuant to paragraph (1) of subdivision (d) of Section 44299.82 to reduce emissions from engines manufactured before 1994.

(2) The district has determined that the applicant's cost of meeting a 0.01 gr-bhph standard will exceed thirty-seven thousand five hundred dollars ($37,500).

(3) The district has evaluated the emission reductions that can be achieved by the applicant through available purchase and retrofit options and the costs of these options prior to making the determination.

(b) This section shall remain in effect only until January 1, 2005, and as of that date is repealed, unless a later enacted statute, that is enacted before January 1, 2005, deletes or extends that date.

44299.85. (a) A district may include any reduction in PM emissions that result from the implementation of the program in any state implementation plan, or revision of that plan, that is submitted to the state board pursuant to Chapter 10 (commencing with Section 40910) of Part 3 for a particulate matter nonattainment area.

(b) All emission reductions or reduction credits resulting from a project funded by a district pursuant to this chapter are the property of the district that approved the grant. The district may utilize those emission reductions or reduction credits first to fulfill local and regional commitments to air quality standards. Any additional reductions or credits that exist after the local or regional commitment to air quality is fulfilled may be used by the state board to fulfill the state's commitment to air quality standards and attainment.

SEC. 5. The Legislature finds and declares that, due to the unique circumstances relating to air quality in the communities surrounding ports in the Bay Area Air Quality Management District and the South Coast Air Quality Management District, a statute of general applicability cannot be enacted within the meaning of subdivision (b) of Section 16 of Article IV of the California Constitution.

SEC. 6. No reimbursement is required by this act pursuant to Section 6 of Article XIII B of the California Constitution for certain costs that may be incurred by a local agency or school district because in that regard this act creates a new crime or infraction, eliminates a crime or infraction, or changes the penalty for a crime or infraction, within the meaning of Section 17556 of the Government Code, or changes the definition of a crime within the meaning of Section 6 of Article XIII B of the California Constitution.

However, notwithstanding Section 17610 of the Government Code, if the Commission on State Mandates determines that this act contains other costs mandated by the state, reimbursement to local agencies and school districts for those costs shall be made pursuant to Part 7 (commencing with Section 17500) of Division 4 of Title 2 of the Government Code. If the statewide cost of the claim for reimbursement does not exceed one million dollars ($1,000,000), reimbursement shall be made from the State Mandates Claims Fund.

Sec. 1. (a) The lands shall be held by the city, and by its successors, in accordance with the applicable provisions of this act, for purposes in connection with, or for the promotion and accommodation of, commerce, navigation, and fishery, and for those purposes specified in Section 3 of this act.

(b) Except as otherwise provided in this act, the city, or its successors, shall not grant, convey, give or alien the lands, or any part thereof, to any individual firm or corporation for any purpose whatsoever; provided that the city, or its successors, may grant franchises and permits thereon for limited periods, but not to exceed 50 years, for purposes in connection with, or for the promotion and accommodation of, commerce, navigation, fishery, and for any purpose specified in Section 3 of this act, and may lease the lands, or any part thereof for limited periods, but not to exceed 50 years, for any and all purposes which shall not interfere with the trusts upon which the lands are held by the State of California.

(c) The tide and submerged lands shall be improved by the city without expense to the state, and any harbor constructed thereon shall always remain a public harbor for all purposes of commerce and navigation, and the State of California shall have, at all times, the right to use, without charge, all wharves, docks, piers, slips, quays, and other improvements constructed by the city on the lands, or any part thereof, for any vessel or other watercraft, or railroad, owned or operated by the State Of California.

(d) In the management, conduct or operation of any such harbor, or of any of the utilities, structures or appliances constructed in connection therewith, no discrimination in rates, tolls, or charges, or in facilities, for any use or service in connection therewith shall ever be made, authorized, or permitted by the city, or by its successors.

There is reserved in the people of the State of California the absolute right to fish in the waters, with the right of convenient access to the waters over the lands for those purposes. The grant herein made shall not include those tidelands or submerged lands within those certain areas known as the Westgate addition acquired by the City of Los Angeles by annexation on June 14, 1916, or the Santa Monica canyon addition acquired by the City of Los Angeles by annexation on April 28, 1925, or the Venice addition acquired by the City of Los Angeles by consolidation on November 25, 1925.

SEC. 2. Section 2 of Chapter 651 of the Statutes of 1929, as added by Chapter 1046 of the Statutes of 1970, is amended to read:

Sec. 2. The city shall establish a separate tidelands trust fund or funds in such manner as may be approved by the Department of Finance and the city shall deposit in the fund or funds all moneys received directly from, or indirectly attributable to, the granted tidelands in the city, other than those portions of the tidelands described in Section 651 of Article VI of the Charter of the City of Los Angeles. An annual statement of financial condition and operations, to conform with such requirements as the Department of Finance may prescribe, shall be submitted to the Department of Finance each year by the city on or before September 30th of each year for the preceding fiscal year.

SEC. 3. Section 5 of Chapter 651 of the Statutes of 1929, as added by Chapter 1046 of the Statutes of 1970, is amended to read:

Sec. 5. As to the accumulation and expenditure of revenues for any single capital improvement on the granted lands, other than those portions of the tidelands described in Section 651 of Article VI of the Charter of the City of Los Angeles, involving an amount in excess of two hundred fifty thousand dollars ($250,000) in the aggregate, the city shall file with the State Lands Commission a detailed description of the capital improvement not less than 90 days prior to the time of any disbursement therefor or in connection therewith, excepting preliminary planning. The State Lands Commission may, within 90 days after the time of filing, determine and notify the city that the capital improvement is not in the statewide interest and benefit or is not authorized by Section 3 of this act. The State Lands Commission may request the opinion of the Attorney General on the matter, and if it does so, a copy of that opinion shall be delivered to the city with the notice of its determination. If the State Lands Commission notifies the city that the capital improvement is not authorized, the city may not disburse any revenue for, or in connection with, the capital improvement, unless and until it is determined to be authorized by a final order or judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction. The city may bring suit against the state for the purpose of securing that order or adjudication, which suit shall have priority over all other civil matters. Service shall be made upon the Executive Officer of the State Lands Commission and the Attorney General, and the Attorney General shall defend the state in the suit. If the judgment is against the state in the suit, no costs shall be recovered against it.

SEC. 4. Section 6 of Chapter 651 of the Statutes of 1929, as added by Chapter 1046 of the Statutes of 1970, is amended to read:

Sec. 6. At the end of every third fiscal year, beginning June 30, 1972, that portion of the city tideland trust revenues derived from the granted tidelands, other than those portions described in Section 651 of Article VI of the Charter of the City of Los Angeles, in excess of two hundred fifty thousand dollars ($250,000) remaining after current and accrued operating costs and expenditures directly related to the operation or maintenance of tideland trust activities have been made, shall be deemed excess revenue; provided that any funds deposited in a reserve fund for future capital expenditures or any funds used to retire bond issues for the improvement or operation of the granted lands shall not be deemed excess revenue. Capital improvements of the granted lands for purposes authorized by this act may be considered as expenditures for the purpose of determining net revenues; provided, however, that if made after January 1, 1971, they may be so considered only if made in accordance with Section 5 of this act.

The excess revenue, as determined pursuant to Section 5 of this act shall be divided as follows: 85 percent to the General Fund in the State Treasury, and 15 percent to the city to be deposited in the trust fund and used for any purpose authorized by Section 3 of this act.

An act to add Article 9.5 (commencing with Section 1970) to Chapter 4 of, to add Article 7.5 (commencing with Section 2153.5) and Article 7.7 (commencing with Section 2154) to Chapter 5 of, and to repeal Article 7.5 (commencing with Section 2154) of Chapter 5 of, Division 2 of the Business and Professions Code, and to add Section 128224 to, and to add Article 2.5 (commencing with Section 127925) to Chapter 2 of Part 3 of Division 107 of the Health and Safety Code, relating to health care, and making an appropriation therefor.

[Approved by Governor September 30, 2002. Filed with Secretary of State September 30, 2002.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. This act shall be known as the Community Healthcare Service Expansion Act.

SEC. 2. The Legislature finds and declares all of the following:

(a) According to the 2000 Census and its Supplementary Survey, communities of color represent a majority, 53 percent, of the state's population. In addition, almost 40 percent of Californians speak a language other than English at home.

(b) According to the Institute of Medicine Report entitled ''Unequal Treatment,'' to improve the health care of diverse populations and to eliminate health disparities, culturally and linguistically appropriate services are critical. For example, the provision of language assistance services results in improved quality of health care, increased access to health services, reduced medical errors, and greater provider-patient trust and satisfaction for limited-English proficient populations.

(c) The Department of Health and Human Services Office of Minority Health published standards for culturally and linguistically appropriate services (CLAS) on December 22, 2000. These CLAS standards outlined requirements, guidelines and recommendations on how health care organizations can make their practices more culturally and linguistically accessible, with the ultimate goal of eliminating racial and ethnic health disparities.

(d) According to the Bureau of Health Professions, the cost of receiving medical and dental education and training results in many new physicians and dentists being unable to afford to work in underserved communities, including those that face cultural and linguistic barriers to care, because of the need to repay student loans.

(e) According to the Center for California Health Workforce Studies, despite some existing programs to repay student loans for physicians who commit to work in underserved areas, there are still inadequate numbers of physicians that are culturally or linguistically competent to serve these areas. The same holds true for dentists, for whom few subsidized loan repayment programs or options exist.

(f) It is in the interest of the state and its residents that medical and dental services be provided throughout California in a manner that can be effectively accessed by the residents of all communities.

SEC. 3. Article 9.5 (commencing with Section 1970) is added to Chapter 4 of Division 2 of the Business and Professions Code, to read:

(k) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the county, in exercising its option to establish a public authority, shall not be subject to competitive bidding requirements. However, contracts entered into by either the county, a public authority, or a nonprofit consortium pursuant to this section shall be subject to competitive bidding as otherwise required by law.

(l) (1) The department may adopt regulations implementing this section as emergency regulations in accordance with Chapter 3.5 (commencing with Section 11340) of Part 1 of Division 3 of Title 2 of the Government Code. For the purposes of the Administrative Procedure Act, the adoption of the regulations shall be deemed an emergency and necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety, or general welfare. Notwithstanding Chapter 3.5 (commencing with Section 11340) of Part 1 of Division 3 of Title 2 of the Government

Code, these emergency regulations shall not be subject to the review and approval of the Office of Administrative Law.

(2) Notwithstanding subdivision (h) of Section 11364.1 and Section 11349.6 of the Government Code, the department shall transmit these regulations directly to the Secretary of State for filing. The regulations shall become effective immediately upon filing by the Secretary of State.

(3) Except as otherwise provided for by Section 10554, the Office of Administrative Law shall provide for the printing and publication of these regulations in the California Code of Regulations. Emergency regulations adopted pursuant to this subdivision shall remain in effect for no more than 180 days.

(m) (1) In the event that a county elects to form a nonprofit consortium or public authority pursuant to subdivision (a) before the State Department of Health Services has obtained all necessary federal approvals pursuant to paragraph (3) of subdivision (j) of Section 14132.95, all of the following shall apply:

(A) Subdivision (c) shall apply only to those matters that do not require federal approval.

(B) The second sentence of subdivision (g) shall not be operative.

(C) The nonprofit consortium or public authority shall not provide services other than those specified in paragraphs (1), (2), (3), (4), and (5) of subdivision (d).

(2) Paragraph (1) shall become inoperative when the State Department of Health Services has obtained all necessary federal approvals pursuant to paragraph (3) of subdivision (j) of Section 14132.95.

(n) (1) One year after the effective date of the first approval by the department granted to the first public authority, the Bureau of State Audits shall commission a study to review the performance of that public authority.

(2) The study shall be submitted to the Legislature and the Governor not later than two years after the effective date of the approval specified in subdivision (a). The study shall give special attention to the health and welfare of the recipients under the public authority, including the degree to which all required services have been delivered, out-of-home placement rates, prompt response to recipient complaints, and any other issue the director deems relevant.

(3) The report shall make recommendations to the Legislature and the Governor for any changes to this section that will further ensure the well-being of recipients and the most efficient delivery of required services.

(o) Commencing July 1, 1997, the department shall provide annual reports to the appropriate fiscal and policy committees of the Legislature on the efficacy of the implementation of this section, and shall include an assessment of the quality of care provided pursuant to this section.

SEC. 2. Section 12302.2 of the Welfare and Institutions Code is amended to read:

12302.2. (a) (1) If the state or a county makes or provides for direct payment to a provider chosen by a recipient or to the recipient for the purchase of in-home supportive services, the department shall perform or assure the performance of all rights, duties and obligations of the recipient relating to those services as required for purposes of unemployment compensation, unemployment compensation disability benefits, workers' compensation, federal and state income tax, and federal old-age survivors and disability insurance benefits. Those rights, duties, and obligations include, but are not limited to, registration and obtaining employer account numbers, providing information, notices, and reports, making applications and returns, and withholding in trust from the payments made to or on behalf of a recipient amounts to be withheld from the wages of the provider by the recipient as an employer and transmitting those amounts along with amounts required for all contributions, premiums, and taxes payable by the recipient as the employer to the appropriate person or state or federal agency. The department may assure the performance of any or all of these rights, duties, and obligations by contract with any person, or any public or private agency.

(2) Contributions, premiums, and taxes shall be paid or transmitted on the recipient's behalf as the employer for any period commencing on or after January 1, 1978, except that contributions, premiums, and taxes for federal and state income taxes and federal old-age, survivors and disability insurance contributions shall be paid or transmitted pursuant to this section commencing with the first full month that begins 90 days after the effective date of this section.

(3) Contributions, premiums, and taxes paid or transmitted on the recipient's behalf for unemployment compensation, workers' compensation, and the employer's share of federal old-age survivors and disability insurance benefits shall be payable in addition to the maximum monthly amount established pursuant to Section 12303.5 or subdivision (a) of Section 12304 or other amount payable to or on behalf of a recipient. Contributions, premiums, or taxes resulting from liability incurred by the recipient as employer for unemployment compensation, workers' compensation, and federal old-age, survivors and disability insurance benefits with respect to any period commencing on or after January 1, 1978, and ending on or before the effective date of this section shall also be payable in addition to the maximum monthly amount established pursuant to Section 12303.5 or subdivision (a) of Section 12304 or other amount payable to or on behalf of the recipient. Nothing in this section shall be construed to permit any interference with the recipient's right to select the provider of services or to authorize a charge for administrative costs against any amount payable to or on behalf of a recipient.

(b) If the state makes or provides for direct payment to a provider chosen by a recipient, the Controller shall make any deductions from the wages of in-home supportive services personnel that are authorized by Sections 1152 and 1153 of the Government Code, as limited by Section 3515.6 of the Government Code.

(c) Funding for the costs of administering this section and for contributions, premiums, and taxes paid or transmitted on the recipient's behalf as an employer pursuant to this section shall qualify, where possible, for the maximum federal reimbursement. To the extent that federal funds are inadequate, notwithstanding Section 12306, the state shall provide funding for the purposes of this section.

SEC. 3. Section 12302.25 of the Welfare and Institutions Code is amended to read:

12302.25. (a) On or before January 1, 2003, each county shall act as, or establish, an employer for in-home supportive service providers under Section 12302.2 for the purposes of Chapter 10 (commencing with Section 3500) of Division 4 of Title 1 of the Government Code and other applicable state or federal laws. Each county may utilize a public authority or nonprofit consortium as authorized under Section 12301.6, the contract mode as authorized under Sections 12302 and 12302.1, county administration of the individual provider mode as authorized under Sections 12302 and 12302.2 for purposes of acting as, or providing, an employer under Chapter 10 (commencing with Section 3500) of Division 4 of Title 1 of the Government Code, county civil service personnel as authorized under Section 12302, or mixed modes of service authorized pursuant to this article and may establish regional agreements in establishing an employer for purposes of this subdivision for providers of in-home supportive services. Within 30 days of the effective date of this section, the department shall develop a timetable for implementation of this subdivision to ensure orderly compliance by counties. Recipients of in-home supportive services shall retain the right to choose the individuals that provide their care and to recruit, select, train, reject, or change any provider under the contract mode or to hire, fire, train, and supervise any provider under any other mode of service. Upon request of a recipient, and in addition to a county's selected method of establishing an employer for in-home supportive service providers pursuant to this subdivision, counties with an IHSS caseload of more than 500 shall be required to offer an individual provider employer option.

(b) Nothing in this section shall prohibit any negotiations or agreement regarding collective bargaining or any wage and benefit enhancements.

(c) Nothing in this section shall be construed to affect the state's responsibility with respect to the state payroll system, unemployment insurance, or workers' compensation and other provisions of Section 12302.2 for providers of in-home supportive services.

(d) Prior to implementing subdivision (a), a county shall establish an advisory committee as required by Section 12301.3 and solicit recommendations from the advisory committee on the preferred mode or modes of service to be utilized in the county for in-home supportive services.

(e) Each county shall take into account the advice and recommendations of the in-home supportive services advisory committee, as established pursuant to Section 12301.3, prior to making policy and funding decisions about the program on an ongoing basis.

(f) In implementing and administering this section, no county, public authority, nonprofit consortium, contractor, or a combination thereof, that delivers in-home supportive services shall reduce the hours of service for any recipient below the amount determined to be necessary under the uniform assessment guidelines established by the department.

(g) Any agreement between a county and an entity acting as an employer under subdivision (a) shall include a provision that requires that funds appropriated by the state for wage increases for in-home supportive services providers be used exclusively for that purpose. Counties or the state may undertake audits of the entities acting as employers under the terms of subdivision (a) to verify compliance with this subdivision.

(h) On or before January 15, 2003, each county shall provide the department with documentation that demonstrates compliance with the January 1, 2003, deadline specified in subdivision (a). The documentation shall include, but is not limited to, any of the following:

(1) The public authority ordinance and employee relations procedures.

(2) The invitations to bid and requests for proposal for contract services for the contract mode.

(3) An invitation to bid and request for proposal for the operation of a nonprofit consortium.

(4) A county board of supervisors' resolution resolving that the county has chosen to act as the employer required by subdivision (a) either by utilizing county employees, as authorized by Section 12302, to provide in-home supportive services or through county administration of individual providers.

(5) Any combination of the documentation required under paragraphs (1) to (4), inclusive, that reflects the decision of a county to provide mixed modes of service as authorized under subdivision (a).

(i) Any county that is unable to provide the documentation required by subdivision (h) by January 15, 2003, may provide, on or before that date, a written notice to the department that does all of the following:

(1) Explains the county's failure to provide the required documentation.

(2) Describes the county's plan for coming into compliance with the requirements of this section.

(3) Includes a timetable for the county to come into compliance with this section, but in no case shall the timetable extend beyond March 31, 2003.

(j) Any county that fails to provide the documentation required by subdivision (h) and also fails to provide the written notice as allowed under subdivision (i), shall be deemed by operation of law to be the employer of IHSS individual providers for purposes of Chapter 10 (commencing with Section 3500) of Division 4 of Title 1 of the Government Code as of January 15, 2003.

(k) Any county that provides a written notice as allowed under subdivision (i), but fails to provide the documentation required under subdivision (h) by March 31, 2003, shall be deemed by operation of law to be the employer of IHSS individual providers for purposes of Chapter 10 (commencing with Section 3500) of Division 4 of Title 1 of the Government Code as of April 1, 2003.

(l) Any county deemed by operation of law, pursuant to subdivision (j) or (k), to be the employer of IHSS individual providers for purposes of Chapter 10 (commencing with Section 3500) of Division 4 of Title 1 of the Government Code shall continue to act in that capacity until the county notifies the department that it has established another employer as permitted by this section, and has provided the department with the documentation required under subdivision (h) demonstrating the change.

(m) Section 10605 may be applied in each county that has not complied with this section by January 1, 2003.

SEC. 4. Notwithstanding Section 17610 of the Government Code, if the Commission on State Mandates determines that this act contains costs mandated by the state, reimbursement to local agencies and school districts for those costs shall be made pursuant to Part 7 (commencing with Section 17500) of Division 4 of Title 2 of the Government Code. If the statewide cost of the claim for reimbursement does not exceed one million dollars ($1,000,000), reimbursement shall be made from the State Mandates Claims Fund.

CHAPTER 1136

An act to add Section 2104.5 to the Business and Professions Code, relating to healing arts.

[Approved by Governor September 30, 2002. Filed with Secretary of State September 30, 2002.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. (a) The Legislature finds and declares all of the following:

(1) The Fifth Pathway Program allows a citizen of the United States who attended medical school in a foreign country and completed one academic year of supervised clinical training in an approved medical school located in the United States and one year of a residency program, to apply for licensure as a physician and surgeon.

(2) The clinical training component of the Fifth Pathway Program is not currently offered in medical schools located in California.

(3) The Fifth Pathway Program is currently utilized successfully in New York, and has been utilized successfully in California in the past, to increase the number of physicians and surgeons who have an understanding of foreign cultures and a proficiency in a foreign language that they obtained while attending medical school in a foreign country.

(4) California is currently experiencing a shortage of health care providers with the cultural and linguistic competency to serve the state's diverse population, which has contributed to a lack of access to care in many immigrant communities.

(b) It is the intent of the Legislature to facilitate the establishment of one or more Fifth Pathway Programs at approved medical schools in California so that United States citizens who have graduated from a medical school in a foreign country can more easily obtain licensure in this state.

SEC. 2. Section 2104.5 is added to the Business and Professions Code, to read:

2104.5. The board, in consultation with various medical schools located in California, the Office of Statewide Health Planning and Development, and executive directors and medical directors of nonprofit community health centers, hospital administrators, and medical directors with experience hiring graduates of the Fifth Pathway Program or foreign medical school graduates shall study methods to reactivate the Fifth Pathway Program in medical schools located in this state. The executive directors and medical directors of nonprofit community health centers, the hospital administrators, and the medical directors should serve or work with underserved populations or in facilities located in medically underserved communities or in health professional shortage areas. The board shall submit a report to the Legislature on or before July 1, 2003, that shall include options for the Legislature to consider in order to facilitate the establishment of one or more Fifth Pathway Programs in medical schools located in California. The study shall focus on whether the Fifth Pathway Program can address the needs of areas where a shortage of providers exists, communities with a non-English speaking population in need of medical providers who speak their native language and understand their culture, and whether it can provide greater provider stability in these communities.

CHAPTER 1137

An act to amend Section 3509 of, and to add Section 3509.5 to, the Government Code, relating to local public employee organizations.

[Approved by Governor September 30, 2002. Filed with Secretary of State September 30, 2002.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. (a) The Legislature finds and declares that by enacting this act it does not intend to restrict or expand the Public Employment Relations Board's jurisdiction or authority beyond that previously authorized by the Legislature.

(b) It is the intent of the Legislature that the amendments made to Section 3509 of the Government Code by this act are intended to be technical and clarifying of existing law.

(c) It is further the intent of the Legislature by adding Section 3509.5 to the Government Code to establish procedures for judicial review of determinations by the Public Employment Relations Board.

SEC. 2. Section 3509 of the Government Code is amended to read:

3509. (a) The powers and duties of the board described in Section 3541.3 shall also apply, as appropriate, to this chapter and shall include the authority as set forth in subdivisions (b) and (c).

(b) A complaint alleging any violation of this chapter or of any rules and regulations adopted by a public agency pursuant to Section 3507 shall be processed as an unfair practice charge by the board. The initial determination as to whether the charge of unfair practice is justified and, if so, the appropriate remedy necessary to effectuate the purposes of this chapter, shall be a matter within the exclusive jurisdiction of the board. The board shall apply and interpret unfair labor practices consistent with existing judicial interpretations of this chapter.

(c) The board shall enforce and apply rules adopted by a public agency concerning unit determinations, representation, recognition, and elections.

(d) Notwithstanding subdivisions (a) to (c), inclusive, the employee relations commissions established by, and in effect for, the County of Los Angeles and the City of Los Angeles pursuant to Section 3507 shall have the power and responsibility to take actions on recognition, unit determinations, elections, and all unfair practices, and to issue determinations and orders as the employee relations commissions deem necessary, consistent with and pursuant to the policies of this chapter.

(e) This section shall not apply to employees designated as management employees under Section 3507.5.

(f) The board shall not find it an unfair practice for an employee organization to violate a rule or regulation adopted by a public agency if that rule or regulation is itself in violation of this chapter. This subdivision shall not be construed to restrict or expand the board's jurisdiction or authority as set forth in subdivisions (a) to (c), inclusive.

SEC. 3. Section 3509.5 is added to the Government Code, to read:

3509.5. (a) Any charging party, respondent, or intervenor aggrieved by a final decision or order of the board in an unfair practice case, except a decision of the board not to issue a complaint in such a case, and any party to a final decision or order of the board in a unit determination, representation, recognition, or election matter that is not brought as an unfair practice case, may petition for a writ of extraordinary relief from that decision or order. A board order directing an election may not be stayed pending judicial review.

(b) A petition for a writ of extraordinary relief shall be filed in the district court of appeal having jurisdiction over the county where the events giving rise to the decision or order occurred. The petition shall be filed within 30 days from the date of the issuance of the board's final decision or order, or order denying reconsideration, as applicable. Upon the filing of the petition, the court shall cause notice to be served upon the board and thereafter shall have jurisdiction of the proceeding. The board shall file in the court the record of the proceeding, certified by the board, within 10 days after the clerk's notice unless that time is extended by the court for good cause shown. The court shall have jurisdiction to grant any temporary relief or restraining order it deems just and proper, and in like manner to make and enter a decree enforcing, modifying, and enforcing as modified, or setting aside in whole or in part the decision or order of the board. The findings of the board with respect to questions of fact, including ultimate facts, if supported by substantial evidence on the record considered as a whole, shall be conclusive. Title 1 (commencing with Section 1067) of Part 3 of the Code of Civil Procedure relating to writs shall, except where specifically superseded by this section, apply to proceedings pursuant to this section.

(c) If the time to petition for extraordinary relief from a board decision or order has expired, the board may seek enforcement of any final decision or order in a district court of appeal or superior court having jurisdiction over the county where the events giving rise to the decision or order occurred. The board shall respond within 10 days to any inquiry from a party to the action as to why the board has not sought court enforcement of the final decision or order. If the response does not indicate that there has been compliance with the board's final decision or order, the board shall seek enforcement of the final decision or order upon the request of the party. The board shall file in the court the record of the proceeding, certified by the board, and appropriate evidence disclosing the failure to comply with the decision or order. If, after hearing, the court determines that the order was issued pursuant to the procedures established by the board and that the person or entity refuses to comply with the order, the court shall enforce the order by writ of mandamus or other proper process. The court may not review the merits of the order.

An act to add Section 4409 to the Business and Professions Code, and to add Article 2 (commencing with Section 128198) to Chapter 3 of Part 3 of Division 107 of the Health and Safety Code, relating to health professions.

4409. At the time a pharmacy license is renewed pursuant to subdivision (a) of Section 4110 or a pharmacist license is renewed pursuant to Section 4401, the pharmacy or pharmacist may make a twenty-five dollar ($25) contribution, to be submitted to the board, for the sole purpose of funding the California Pharmacist Scholarship and Loan Repayment Program established pursuant to Article 5 (commencing with Section 128050) of Chapter 2 of Part 3 of Division 107 of the Health and Safety Code. The contribution submitted pursuant to this section shall be paid into the State Treasury and credited to the California Pharmacist Scholarship and Loan Repayment Program Fund established pursuant to Section 128051 of the Health and Safety Code.

SEC. 2. Article 2 (commencing with Section 128198) is added to Chapter 3 of Part 3 of Division 107 of the Health and Safety Code, to read:

Article 2. California Pharmacist Scholarship and Loan Repayment Program

128198. (a) (1) There is hereby established in the Office of Statewide Health Planning and Development the California Pharmacist Scholarship and Loan Repayment Program.

(2) The program shall provide scholarships to pay for the educational expenses of pharmacy school students and repay qualifying educational loans of pharmacists who agree to participate in designated medically underserved areas as provided in this section.

(b) The Office of Statewide Health Planning and Development shall administer the California Pharmacist Scholarship and Loan Repayment Program utilizing the same general guidelines applicable to the federal National Health Service Corps Scholarship Program established pursuant to Section 254*l* of Title 42 of the United States Code and the National Health Service Corps Loan Repayment Program established pursuant to Section 254*l*-1 of Title 42 of the United States Code, except as follows:

(1) A pharmacist or pharmacy school student shall be eligible to participate in the program if he or she agrees to provide pharmacy services in a practice site located in areas of the state where unmet priority needs for primary care family physicians exist as determined by the Health Manpower Policy Commission.

(2) No matching funds shall be required from any entity in the practice site area.

(c) This section shall be implemented only to the extent that sufficient moneys are available in the California Pharmacist Scholarship and Loan Repayment Program Fund to administer the program.

128198.5. The California Pharmacist Scholarship and Loan Repayment Program Fund is hereby established in the State Treasury. Revenues from the contributions made pursuant to Section 4409 of the Business and Professions Code, as well as any other private or public funds made available for purposes of the California Pharmacist Scholarship and Loan Repayment Program, shall be deposited into the fund. Upon appropriation by the Legislature, moneys in the fund shall be available for expenditure by the Office of Statewide Health Planning and Development for purposes of implementing the California Pharmacist Scholarship and Loan Repayment Program pursuant to this article. The Office of Statewide Health Planning and Development shall be under no obligation to administer a program under this article until sufficient moneys have been accumulated in the fund and appropriated to the office by the Legislature.

An act to amend Sections 20636 and 20816 of, and to add Sections 20096.3 and 21063 to, the Government Code, relating to retirement.

[Approved by Governor September 30, 2002. Filed with Secretary of State September 30, 2002.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Section 20096.3 is added to the Government Code, to read:

20096.3. If an incumbent member of the board, holding a board seat described in subdivision (g) of Section 20090, does not deliver his or her completed nomination documents to the election coordinator for reelection by the applicable filing deadline for candidates for the seat, any otherwise eligible person other than the person who was the incumbent on the filing deadline shall have until 10 days after the filing deadline to file nomination documents for the same office. This section is not applicable if there is no incumbent eligible to be elected or if the notice of election states that the incumbent does not intend to be a candidate for reelection.

SEC. 2. Section 20636 of the Government Code is amended to read:

20636. (a) ''Compensation earnable'' by a member means the payrate and special compensation of the member, as defined by subdivisions (b), (c), and (g), and as limited by Section 21752.5.

(b) (1) ''Payrate'' means the normal monthly rate of pay or base pay of the member paid in cash to similarly situated members of the same group or class of employment for services rendered on a full-time basis during normal working hours. ''Payrate,'' for a member who is not in a group or class, means the monthly rate of pay or base pay of the member, paid in cash and pursuant to publicly available pay schedules, for services rendered on a full-time basis during normal working hours, subject to the limitations of paragraph (2) of subdivision (e).

(2) ''Payrate'' shall include any amount deducted from a member's salary for any of the following:

(A) Participation in a deferred compensation plan.

(B) Payment for participation in a retirement plan that meets the requirements of Section 401(k) of Title 26 of the United States Code.

(C) Payment into a money purchase pension plan and trust that meets the requirements of Section 401(a) of Title 26 of the United States Code.

(D) Participation in a flexible benefits program.

(3) The computation for any leave without pay of a member shall be based on the compensation earnable by him or her at the beginning of the absence.

(4) The computation for time prior to entering state service shall be based on the compensation earnable by him or her in the position first held by him or her in state service.

(c) (1) Special compensation of a member includes any payment received for special skills, knowledge, abilities, work assignment, workdays or hours, or other work conditions.

(2) Special compensation shall be limited to that which is received by a member pursuant to a labor policy or agreement or as otherwise required by state or federal law, to similarly situated members of a group or class of employment that is in addition to payrate. If an individual is not part of a group or class, special compensation shall be limited to that which the board determines is received by similarly situated members in the closest related group or class that is in addition to payrate, subject to the limitations of paragraph (2) of subdivision (e).

(3) Special compensation shall be for services rendered during normal working hours and, when reported to the board, the employer shall identify the pay period in which the special compensation was earned.

(4) Special compensation may include the full monetary value of normal contributions paid to the board by the employer, on behalf of the member and pursuant to Section 20691, if the employer's labor policy or agreement specifically provides for the inclusion of the normal contribution payment in compensation earnable.

(5) The monetary value of any service or noncash advantage furnished by the employer to the member, except as expressly and specifically provided in this part, is not special compensation unless regulations promulgated by the board specifically determine that value to be ''special compensation.''

(6) The board shall promulgate regulations that delineate more specifically and exclusively what constitutes ''special compensation'' as used in this section. A uniform allowance, the monetary value of employer-provided uniforms, holiday pay, and premium pay for hours worked within the normally scheduled or regular working hours that are in excess of the statutory maximum workweek or work period applicable to the employee under Section 201 et seq. of Title 29 of the United States Code shall be included as special compensation and appropriately defined in those regulations.

(7) Special compensation does not include any of the following:

(A) Final settlement pay.

(B) Payments made for additional services rendered outside of normal working hours, whether paid in lump sum or otherwise.

(C) Any other payments the board has not affirmatively determined to be special compensation.

(d) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, payrate and special compensation schedules, ordinances, or similar documents shall be public records available for public scrutiny.

(e) (1) As used in this part, ''group or class of employment'' means a number of employees considered together because they share similarities in job duties, work location, collective bargaining unit, or other logical work related grouping. One employee may not be considered a group or class.

(2) Increases in compensation earnable granted to any employee who is not in a group or class shall be limited during the final compensation period applicable to the employees, as well as the two years immediately preceding the final compensation period, to the average increase in compensation earnable during the same period reported by the employer for all employees who are in the same membership classification, except as may otherwise be determined pursuant to regulations adopted by the board that establish reasonable standards for granting exceptions.

(f) As used in this part, ''final settlement pay'' means any pay or cash conversions of employee benefits that are in excess of compensation earnable, that are granted or awarded to a member in connection with, or in anticipation of, a separation from employment. The board shall promulgate regulations that delineate more specifically what constitutes final settlement pay.

(g) (1) Notwithstanding subdivision (a), ''compensation earnable'' for state members means the average monthly compensation, as determined by the board, upon the basis of the average time put in by members in the same group or class of employment and at the same rate of pay, and is composed of the payrate and special compensation of the member. The computation for any absence of a member shall be based on the compensation earnable by him or her at the beginning of the absence and for time prior to entering state service shall be based on the compensation earnable by him or her in the position first held by him or her in that state service.

(2) Notwithstanding subdivision (b), ''payrate'' for state members means the average monthly remuneration paid in cash out of funds paid by the employer to similarly situated members of the same group or class of employment, in payment for the member's services or for time during which the member is excused from work because of holidays, sick leave, vacation, compensating time off, or leave of absence. ''Payrate'' for state members shall include:

(A) Any amount deducted from a member's salary for any of the following:

(i) Participation in a deferred compensation plan established pursuant to Chapter 4 (commencing with Section 19993) of Part 2.6.

(iv) Participation in a flexible benefits program.

(C) Employer ''pick up'' of member contributions that meets the requirements of Section 414(h)(2) of Title 26 of the United States Code.

(D) Any disability or workers' compensation payments to safety members in accordance with Section 4800 of the Labor Code.

(E) Temporary industrial disability payments pursuant to Article 4 (commencing with Section 19869) of Chapter 2.5 of Part 2.6.

(F) Any other payments the board may determine to be within ''payrate.''

(3) Notwithstanding subdivision (c), ''special compensation'' for state members shall mean all of the following:

(A) The monetary value, as determined by the board, of living quarters, board, lodging, fuel, laundry, and other advantages of any nature furnished to a member by his or her employer in payment for the member's services.

(B) Any compensation for performing normally required duties, such as holiday pay, bonuses (for duties performed on regular work shift), educational incentive pay, maintenance and noncash payments, out-of-class pay, marksmanship pay, hazard pay, motorcycle pay, paramedic pay, emergency medical technician pay, POST certificate pay, and split shift differential.

(C) Compensation for uniforms, except as provided in Section 20632.

(D) Any other payments the board may determine to be within ''special compensation.''

(4) Neither "payrate" nor "special compensation" for state members includes any of the following:

(A) The provision by the state employer of any medical or hospital service or care plan or insurance plan for its employees (other than the purchase of annuity contracts as described below in this subdivision), any contribution by the employer to meet the premium or charge for that plan, or any payment into a private fund to provide health and welfare benefits for employees.

(B) Any payment by the state employer of the employee portion of taxes imposed by the Federal Insurance Contribution Act.

(C) Amounts not available for payment of salaries and that are applied by the employer for the purchase of annuity contracts including those that meet the requirements of Section 403(b) of Title 26 of the United States Code.

(D) Any benefits paid pursuant to Article 5 (commencing with Section 19878) of Chapter 2.5 of Part 2.6.

(E) Employer payments that are to be credited as employee contributions for benefits provided by this system, or employer payments that are to be credited to employee accounts in deferred compensation plans. The amounts deducted from a member's wages for participation in a deferred compensation plan may not be considered to be ''employer payments.''

(F) Payments for unused vacation, annual leave, personal leave, sick leave, or compensating time off, whether paid in lump sum or otherwise.

(G) Final settlement pay.

(H) Payments for overtime, including pay in lieu of vacation or holiday.

(I) Compensation for additional services outside regular duties, such as standby pay, callback pay, court duty, allowance for automobiles, and bonuses for duties performed after the member's regular work shift.

(J) Amounts not available for payment of salaries and which are applied by the employer for any of the following:

(i) The purchase of a retirement plan which meets the requirements of Section 401(k) of Title 26 of the United States Code.

(ii) Payment into a money purchase pension plan and trust which meets the requirements of Section 401(a) of Title 26 of the United States Code.

(K) Payments made by the employer to or on behalf of its employees who have elected to be covered by a flexible benefits program, where those payments reflect amounts that exceed the employee's salary.

(L) Any other payments the board may determine are not ''payrate'' or ''special compensation.''

(5) If the provisions of this subdivision, including the board's determinations pursuant to subparagraph (F) of paragraph (2) and subparagraph (D) of paragraph (3), are in conflict with the provisions of a memorandum of understanding reached pursuant to Section 3517.5 or 3560, the memorandum of understanding shall be controlling without further legislative action, except that if the provisions of a memorandum of understanding require the expenditure of funds, those provisions may not become effective unless approved by the Legislature in the annual Budget Act. No memorandum of understanding reached pursuant to Section 3517.5 or 3560 may exclude from the definition of either ''payrate'' or ''special compensation'' a member's base salary payments or payments for time during which the member is excused from work because of holidays, sick leave, vacation, compensating time off, or leave of absence. If any items of compensation earnable are included by memorandum of understanding as ''payrate'' or ''special compensation'' for retirement purposes for represented and higher education employees pursuant to this paragraph, the Department of Personnel Administration or the Trustees of the California State University shall obtain approval from the board for that inclusion.

(6) (A) Subparagraph (B) of paragraph (3) of this subdivision prescribes that compensation earnable includes any compensation for performing normally required duties, such as holiday pay, bonuses (for duties performed on regular work shift), educational incentive pay, maintenance and noncash payments, out-of-class pay, marksmanship pay, hazard pay, motorcycle pay, paramedic pay, emergency medical technician pay, POST certificate pay, and split shift differential; and includes compensation for uniforms, except as provided in Section 20632; and subparagraph (I) of paragraph (4) excludes from compensation earnable compensation for additional services outside regular duties, such as standby pay, callback pay, court duty, allowance for automobile, and bonuses for duties performed after regular work shift.

(B) Notwithstanding subparagraph (A), the Department of Personnel Administration shall determine which payments and allowances that are paid by the state employer shall be considered compensation for retirement purposes for any employee who either is excluded from the definition of state employee in Section 3513, or is a nonelected officer or employee of the executive branch of government who is not a member of the civil service.

(C) Notwithstanding subparagraph (A), the Trustees of the California State University shall determine which payments and allowances that are paid by the trustees shall be considered compensation for retirement purposes for any managerial employee, as defined in Section 3562, or supervisory employee as defined in Section 3580.3.

SEC. 3. Section 20816 of the Government Code is amended to read:

20816. (a) Notwithstanding any other provision of this part, all assets of an employer shall be used in the determination of the employer contribution rate for the membership comprising the basis of the computation. Assets held shall be recognized over the same funding period used to amortize unfunded accrued actuarial obligations, whether in excess of the accrued actuarial obligation or not, using the entry age normal funding method.

(b) On and after January 1, 1999, contracting agencies for which the actuarial value of assets exceeds the present value of benefits as of the most recently completed valuation, as determined by the chief actuary, may request that the board transfer employer assets to member-accumulated contribution accounts to satisfy all member contributions required by this part. That transfer shall be over a 12-month period provided the actuarial value of assets exceeds the present value of benefits. In determining the present value of benefits and the actuarial value of assets for purposes of this part, liabilities and assets attributed to the 1959 survivor allowance may not be included. On and after January 1, 2003, a transfer of assets may not be made pursuant to this subdivision unless the member contributions of each member in a membership classification are satisfied through the transfer. An employer electing a transfer of assets pursuant to this subdivision shall satisfy the members' contributions for a period of not less than one month and not more than one year.

(c) On and after January 1, 2002, any contracting agency for which the actuarial value of assets exceeds the present value of benefits as of the most recently completed valuation, as determined by the chief actuary, may request that the board transfer from the contracting agency's employer account excess assets, as determined by the board subject to the requirements and limitations of Section 420 of the Internal Revenue Code (26 U.S.C. Sec. 420), to a retiree health account established by the board, in its discretion, in the contracting agency's employer account pursuant to Section 401(h) of the Internal Revenue Code (26 U.S.C. 401(h)) for the purpose of providing health benefits to the contracting agency's retirees and their covered dependents. The board may, in its discretion, transfer excess assets from the contracting agency's employer account to that contracting agency's retiree health account within that agency's employer account, if the transfer meets the conditions of a qualified transfer pursuant to Section 420 of the Internal Revenue Code (26 U.S.C. Sec. 420). The transferred assets shall be used solely for the payment of current retiree health liabilities. That qualified transfer shall be made only once each year. The board may adopt regulations necessary to implement this subdivision. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the regulations may provide for the nonforfeiture of accrued pension benefits of participants and beneficiaries of a plan from which excess assets are transferred to the extent necessary for the transfer to meet the conditions of a qualified transfer pursuant to Section 420 of the Internal Revenue Code (26 U.S.C.

Sec. 420), and may include any other provision necessary under Section 420 of the Internal Revenue Code (26 U.S.C. Sec. 420) or Section 401(h) of the Internal Revenue Code (26 U.S.C. Sec. 401(h)) to accomplish the purposes of this subdivision.

(d) For the purpose of this section, ''employer'' means any contracting agency, the state, or a school employer.

(e) The actuarial report in the annual financial report shall also express the effect upon employer contribution rates of this section and of the recognition of net unrealized gains and losses.

SEC. 4. Section 21063 is added to the Government Code, to read:

21063. A member may request a meeting, to be conducted by the member's employer, at which the employer shall explain to the member the elements of the member's past or current compensation that have been or will be reported to the board as compensation earnable. The information provided to the member at the meeting shall be provided orally and in writing and a copy of the writing shall be provided to the member for his or her records.

CHAPTER 1140

An act to add Article 1.5 (commencing with Section 92605) to Chapter 6 of Part 57 of the Education Code, relating to the University of California.

[Approved by Governor September 30, 2002. Filed with Secretary of State September 30, 2002.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. (a) The Legislature finds and declares all of the following:

(1) In September 1997, Resolution Chapter 103 of the Statutes of 1997 directed the California Postsecondary Education Commission (CPEC) to investigate the reasons why health care professionals choose not to practice in underserved areas.

(2) In its April 1999 report, entitled ''Recommendations on Strategies to Enhance the Delivery of Health Care to All Californians,'' CPEC concluded that, although California has an adequate supply of physicians, their inequitable distribution across the state disadvantages over 4,000,000 Californians, particularly those in rural areas and inner city communities with large numbers of African American and Latino residents.

(3) CPEC's April 1999 report also concluded that the recent decline in enrollment in medical schools of students from communities whose health care needs are presently underserved presents a challenge because these are the physicians in training most likely to return to their home neighborhoods to practice.

(4) In October 2001, the Center for California Health Workforce Studies of the University of California, San Francisco, in its study, entitled "Migration Patterns of Underrepresented Minority Californians in Medicine," found that the number of underrepresented minority Californians entering medical school who enrolled in California medical schools decreased from 59 percent in 1993 to 43 percent in 1999.

(5) The Center for California Health Workforce Studies also concluded that increasing the number of underrepresented minority Californians in California's residency programs is an important strategy for increasing the state's supply of underrepresented minority physicians. One of the center's major recommendations was the expansion of the Charles R. Drew/UCLA Undergraduate Medical Education Program. The Drew/UCLA program has been highly successful in recruiting underrepresented minority medical students.

(b) It is, therefore, the intent of the Legislature to request the Regents of the University of California to develop, in collaboration with the Charles R. Drew/UCLA Medical School, a plan and timeline for the expansion of the Charles R. Drew/UCLA Undergraduate Medical Education Program in order to assist the state in addressing the state's physician workforce needs. Increasing the size of the entering class of the Drew/UCLA program would significantly enlarge the cadre of physicians who are likely to provide care to California's underserved populations.

SEC. 2. Article 1.5 (commencing with Section 92605) is added to Chapter 6 of Part 57 of the Education Code, to read:

Article 1.5. Charles R. Drew/UCLA Undergraduate Medical Education Program

92605. (a) The regents are hereby requested to consider, as a component of the University of California's current systemwide medical education program assessment, the expansion of the Charles R. Drew/UCLA Undergraduate Medical Education Program.

(b) The regents are further requested to submit, not later than June 30, 2003, a report summarizing their findings regarding the Charles R. Drew/UCLA Undergraduate Medical Education Program to the Governor, the Legislature, and the California Postsecondary Education Commission.

CHAPTER 1141

An act to amend the heading of Part 4 (commencing with Section 13900) of Division 3 of Title 2 of, to add Section 13974.2 to, to add Chapter 5 (commencing with Section 13950) to, to add a heading as Chapter 5.5 to, to repeal Sections 13955.5, 13968, 13969, 13969.2, 13969.5, and 13969.7 of, to repeal the heading of Article 2 (commencing with Section 13970) of Chapter 5 of, to repeal Article 1 (commencing with Section 13959) of Chapter 5 of, and to repeal the heading of Chapter 5 (commencing with Section 13959) of, Part 4 of Division 3 of Title 2 of, the Government Code, and to add Sections 1202.42 and 1202.43 to the Penal Code, relating to victims of crime, and making an appropriation therefor.

[Approved by Governor September 30, 2002. Filed with Secretary of State September 30, 2002.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. The heading of Part 4 (commencing with Section 13900) of Division 3 of Title 2 of the Government Code is amended to read:

PART 4. CALIFORNIA VICTIM COMPENSATION AND GOVERNMENT CLAIMS BOARD

SEC. 2. Chapter 5 (commencing with Section 13950) is added to Part 4 of Division 3 of Title 2 of the Government Code, to read:

CHAPTER 5. INDEMNIFICATION OF VICTIMS OF CRIME

Article 1. General Provisions

13950. (a) The Legislature finds and declares that it is in the public interest to assist residents of the State of California in obtaining compensation for the pecuniary losses they suffer as a direct result of criminal acts.

(b) This chapter shall govern the procedure by which crime victims may obtain compensation from the Restitution Fund.

(c) Any reference in statute or regulations to Article 1 (commencing with Section 13959) of Chapter 5, as it read on December 31, 2002, shall be construed to refer to this chapter.

13951. As used in this chapter, the following definitions shall apply:

(a) ''Board'' means the California Victim Compensation and Government Claims Board.

(b) (1) ''Crime'' means a crime or public offense, wherever it may take place, that would constitute a misdemeanor or a felony if the crime had been committed in California by a competent adult.

(2) ''Crime'' includes an act of terrorism, as defined in Section 2331 of Title 18 of the United States Code, committed against a resident of the state, whether or not the act occurs within the state.

(c) ''Derivative victim'' means an individual who sustains pecuniary loss as a result of injury or death to a victim.

(d) ''Law enforcement'' means every district attorney, municipal police department, sheriff's department, district attorney's office, county probation department, and social services agency, the Department of Justice, the Department of Corrections, the Department of the Youth Authority, the Department of the California Highway Patrol, the police department of any campus of the University of California, California State University, or community college, and every agency of the State of California expressly authorized by statute to investigate or prosecute law violators.

(e) ''Pecuniary loss'' means an economic loss or expense resulting from an injury or death to a victim of crime that has not been and will not be reimbursed from any other source.

(f) ''Peer counseling'' means counseling offered by a provider of mental health counseling services who has completed a specialized course in rape crisis counseling skills development, participates in continuing education in rape crisis counseling skills development, and provides rape crisis counseling within the State of California.

(g) ''Victim'' means an individual who sustains injury or death as a direct result of a crime as specified in subdivision (e) of Section 13955.

(h) ''Victim center'' means a victim and witness assistance center that receives funds pursuant to Section 13835.2 of the Penal Code.

Article 2. Applications for Compensation

13952. (a) An application for compensation shall be filed with the board in the manner determined by the board.

(b) (1) The application for compensation shall be verified under penalty of perjury by the individual who is seeking compensation, who may be the victim or derivative victim, or an individual seeking reimbursement for burial, funeral, or crime scene cleanup expenses

pursuant to subdivision (i) of Section 13957. If the individual seeking compensation is a minor or is incompetent, the application shall be verified under penalty of perjury or on information and belief by the parent with legal custody, guardian, conservator, or relative caregiver of the victim or derivative victim for whom the application is made. However, if a minor seeks compensation only for expenses for medical, medical related, psychiatric, psychological, or other mental health counseling related services and the minor is authorized by statute to consent to those services, the minor may verify the application for compensation under penalty of perjury.

(2) For purposes of this subdivision, ''relative caregiver'' means a relative as defined in subdivision (i) of Section 6550 of the Family Code, who assumed primary responsibility for the child while the child was in the relative's care and control, and who is not a biological or adoptive parent.

(c) (1) The board may require submission of additional information supporting the application that is reasonably necessary to verify the application and determine eligibility for compensation.

(2) The staff of the board shall determine whether an application for compensation contains all of the information required by the board. If the staff determines that an application does not contain all of the required information, the staff shall communicate that determination to the applicant with a brief statement of the additional information required. The applicant, within 30 calendar days of being notified that the application is incomplete, may either supply the additional information or appeal the staff's determination to the board, which shall review the application to determine whether it is complete.

13952.5. (a) An emergency award shall be available to a person eligible for compensation pursuant to this chapter if the board determines that such an award is necessary to avoid or mitigate substantial hardship that may result from delaying compensation until complete and final consideration of an application.

(b) The board shall establish the method for requesting an emergency award, which may include, but need not be limited to, requiring submission of the regular application as provided for in Section 13952.

(c) (1) The board may grant an emergency award based solely on the application of the victim or derivative victim. The board may refuse to grant an emergency award where it has reason to believe that the applicant will not be eligible for compensation under this chapter.

(2) By mutual agreement between the staff of the board and the applicant or the applicant's representative, the staff of the board may take additional 10-day periods to verify the emergency award claim and make payment.

(3) The board may delegate authority to designated staff persons and designated agencies, including, but not limited to, district attorneys, probation departments, victim centers, and other victim service providers approved by the board and under contract with the board, who shall use guidelines established by the board, to grant and disburse emergency awards.

(d) Disbursements of funds for emergency awards shall be made within 30 calendar days of application.

(e) (1) If an application for an emergency award is denied, the board shall notify the applicant in writing of the reasons for the denial.

(2) An applicant for an emergency award shall not be entitled to a hearing before the board to contest a denial of an emergency award. However, denial of an emergency award shall not prevent further consideration of the application for a regular award and shall not affect the applicant's right to a hearing pursuant to Section 13959 if staff recommends denial of a regular award.

(f) (1) If upon final disposition of the regular application, it is found that the applicant is not eligible for compensation from the board, the applicant shall reimburse the board for the emergency award pursuant to an agreed-upon repayment schedule.

(2) If upon a final disposition of the application, the board grants compensation to the applicant, the amount of the emergency award shall be deducted from the final award of compensation. If the amount of the compensation is less than the amount of the emergency award, the excess amount shall be treated as an overpayment pursuant to Section 13965.

(3) ''Final disposition,'' for the purposes of this section, shall mean the final decision of the board with respect to the victim's or derivative victim's application, before any action for judicial review is instituted.

(g) The amount of an emergency award shall be dependent upon the immediate needs of the victim or derivative victim subject to rates and limitations established by the board.

13953. (a) An application for compensation shall be filed within one year of the date of the crime, one year after the victim attains 18 years of age, or one year of the time the victim or derivative victim knew or in the exercise of ordinary diligence could have discovered that an injury or death had been sustained as a direct result of crime, whichever is later.

(b) The board may for good cause grant an extension of the time period in subdivision (a). In making this determination, the board may consider any relevant factors including, but not limited to, all of the following:

(1) A recommendation from the prosecuting attorney regarding the victim's or derivative victim's cooperation with law enforcement and the prosecuting attorney in the apprehension and prosecution of the person charged with the crime.

(2) Whether particular events occurring during the prosecution or in the punishment of the person convicted of the crime have resulted in the victim or derivative victim incurring additional pecuniary loss.

(3) Whether the nature of the crime is such that a delayed reporting of the crime is reasonably excusable.

(c) The period prescribed in this section for filing an application by or on behalf of a derivative victim shall be tolled when the board accepts the application filed by a victim of the same qualifying crime.

13954. (a) The board shall verify with hospitals, physicians, law enforcement officials, or other interested parties involved, the treatment of the victim or derivative victim, circumstances of the crime, amounts paid or received by or for the victim or derivative victim, and any other pertinent information deemed necessary by the board. Verification information shall be returned to the board within 10 business days after a request for verification has been made by the board. Verification information shall be provided at no cost to the applicant, the board, or victim centers. When requesting verification information, the board shall certify that a signed authorization by the applicant is retained in the applicant's file and that this certification constitutes actual authorization for the release of information, notwithstanding any other provision of law. If requested by a physician or mental health provider, the board shall provide a copy of the signed authorization for the release of information.

(b) The victim and the applicant, if other than the victim, shall cooperate with the staff of the board or the victim center in the verification of the information contained in the application. Failure to cooperate shall be reported to the board, which, in its discretion, may reject the application solely on this ground.

(c) The board may contract with victim centers to provide verification of applications processed by the centers pursuant to conditions stated in subdivision (a). The board and its staff shall cooperate with the Office of Criminal Justice Planning and victim centers in conducting training sessions for center personnel and shall cooperate in the development of standardized verification procedures to be used by the victim centers in the state. The board and its staff shall cooperate with victim centers in disseminating standardized board policies and findings as they relate to the centers.

(d) Notwithstanding Section 827 of the Welfare and Institutions Code or any other provision of law, every law enforcement and social service agency in the state shall provide to the board or to victim centers that have contracts with the board pursuant to subdivision (c), upon request, a copy of a petition filed in a juvenile court proceeding, reports of the probation officer, any other document made available to the probation officer or to the judge, referee, or other hearing officer, a complete copy of the report regarding the incident, and any supplemental reports involving the crime, public offense, or incident giving rise to a claim, for the specific purpose of the submission of a claim or the determination of eligibility to submit a claim filed pursuant to this chapter. The board and victim centers receiving records pursuant to this subdivision may not disclose a document that personally identifies a minor to anyone other than the minor who is so identified, his or her custodial parent or guardian, the attorneys for those parties, and any other persons that may be designated by court order. Any information received pursuant to this section shall be received in confidence for the limited purpose for which it was provided and may not be further disseminated. A violation of this subdivision is a misdemeanor punishable by a fine not to exceed five hundred dollars ($500).

(e) The law enforcement agency supplying information pursuant to this section may withhold the names of witnesses or informants from the board, if the release of those names would be detrimental to the parties or to an investigation in progress.

(f) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, every state agency, upon receipt of a copy of a release signed in accordance with the Information Practices Act of 1977 (Chapter 1 (commencing with Section 1798) of Title 1.8 of Part 4 of Division 3 of the Civil Code) by the applicant or other authorized representative, shall provide to the board or victim center the information necessary to complete the verification of an application filed pursuant to this chapter.

(g) The Department of Justice shall furnish, upon application of the board, all information necessary to verify the eligibility of any applicant for benefits pursuant to subdivision (d) of Section 13956, to recover any restitution fine or order obligations that are owed to the Restitution Fund or to any victim of crime, or to evaluate the status of any criminal disposition.

(h) A privilege is not waived under Section 912 of the Evidence Code by an applicant consenting to disclosure of an otherwise privileged communication if that disclosure is deemed necessary by the board for verification of the application.

(i) Any verification conducted pursuant to this section shall be subject to the time limits specified in Section 13958.

Article 3. Eligibility for Compensation

13955. Except as provided in Section 13956, a person shall be eligible for compensation when all of the following requirements are met:

(a) The person for whom compensation is being sought is any of the following:

(1) A victim.

(2) A derivative victim.

(3) A person who is entitled to reimbursement for funeral, burial, or crime scene cleanup expenses pursuant to subdivision (i) of Section 13957.

(b) Either of the following conditions is met:

(1) The crime occurred within the State of California, whether or not the victim is a resident of the State of California. This paragraph shall apply only during those time periods during which the board determines that federal funds are available to the State of California for the compensation of victims of crime.

(2) Whether or not the crime occurred within the State of California, the victim was any of the following:

(A) A resident of the State of California.

(B) A member of the military stationed in California.

(C) A family member living with a member of the military stationed in California.

(c) If compensation is being sought for a derivative victim, the derivative victim is a resident of California, or resident of another state, who is any of the following:

(1) At the time of the crime was the parent, grandparent, sibling, spouse, child, or grandchild of the victim.

(2) At the time of the crime was living in the household of the victim.

(3) At the time of the crime was a person who had previously lived in the household of the victim for a period of not less than two years in a relationship substantially similar to a relationship listed in subparagraph (1).

(4) Is another family member of the victim, including, but not limited to, the victim's fiancé or fianceé, and who witnessed the crime.

(5) Is the primary caretaker of a minor victim, but was not the primary caretaker at the time of the crime.

(d) The application is timely pursuant to Section 13953.

(e) (1) Except as provided in paragraph (2), the injury or death was a direct result of a crime.

(2) Notwithstanding paragraph (1), no act involving the operation of a motor vehicle, aircraft, or water vehicle that results in injury or death constitutes a crime for the purposes of this chapter, except when the injury or death from such an act was any of the following:

(A) Intentionally inflicted through the use of a motor vehicle, aircraft, or water vehicle.

(B) Caused by a driver who fails to stop at the scene of an accident in violation of Section 20001 of the Vehicle Code.

(C) Caused by a person who is under the influence of any alcoholic beverage or drug.

(D) Caused by a driver of a motor vehicle in the immediate act of fleeing the scene of a crime in which he or she knowingly and willingly participated.

(E) Caused by a person who commits vehicular manslaughter in violation of subdivision (c) of Section 192 or Section 192.5 of the Penal Code.

(f) As a direct result of the crime, the victim or derivative victim sustained one or more of the following:

(1) Physical injury. The board may presume a child who has been the witness of a crime of domestic violence has sustained physical injury.

(2) Emotional injury and a threat of physical injury.

(3) Emotional injury, where the crime was a violation of any of the following provisions:

(A) Section 261, 262, 271, 273a, 273d, 285, 286, 288, 288a, 288.5, or 289, or subdivision (b) or (c) of Section 311.4, of the Penal Code.

(B) Section 270 of the Penal Code, where the emotional injury was a result of conduct other than a failure to pay child support, and criminal charges were filed.

(C) Section 261.5 of the Penal Code, and criminal charges were filed.

(D) Section 278 or 278.5 of the Penal Code, where the deprivation of custody as described in those sections has endured for 30 calendar days or more. For purposes of this paragraph, the child, and not the nonoffending parent or other caretaker, shall be deemed the victim.

(g) The injury or death has resulted or may result in pecuniary loss within the scope of compensation pursuant to Sections 13957 to 13957.9, inclusive.

13955.5. (a) Notwithstanding the residency requirement of subdivision (c) of Section 13955, a nonresident of the United States who meets the other requirements of that subdivision shall be deemed to be a ''derivative victim'' for purposes of this chapter and may be reimbursed for outpatient mental health counseling when that mental health counseling is necessary as a direct result of a crime that occurred in this state, in the amounts set forth in this chapter.

(b) This section shall remain in effect only until January 1, 2007, and as of that date is repealed, unless a later enacted statute, that is enacted before January 1, 2007, deletes or extends that date.

13956. Notwithstanding Section 13955, a person shall not be eligible for compensation under the following conditions:

(a) An application shall be denied if the board finds that the victim or, where compensation is sought by or on behalf of a derivative victim, either the victim or derivative victim, knowingly and willingly participated in the commission of the crime that resulted in the pecuniary loss for which compensation is being sought pursuant to this chapter. However, this subdivision shall not apply if the injury or death occurred as a direct result of a crime committed in violation of Section 261, 262, or 273.5 of, or a crime of unlawful sexual intercourse with a minor committed in violation of subdivision (d) of Section 261.5 of, the Penal Code.

(b) (1) An application shall be denied if the board finds that the victim or, where compensation is sought by, or on behalf of, a derivative victim, either the victim or derivative victim failed to cooperate reasonably with a law enforcement agency in the apprehension and conviction of a criminal committing the crime. However, in determining whether cooperation has been reasonable, the board shall consider the victim's or derivative victim's age, physical condition, and psychological state, cultural or linguistic barriers, any compelling health and safety concerns, including, but not limited to, a reasonable fear of retaliation or harm that would jeopardize the well-being of the victim or the victim's family or the derivative victim or the derivative victim's family, and giving due consideration to the degree of cooperation of which the victim or derivative victim is capable in light of the presence of any of these factors.

(2) An application for a claim based on domestic violence may not be denied solely because no police report was made by the victim. The board shall adopt guidelines that allow the board to consider and approve applications for assistance based on domestic violence relying upon evidence other than a police report to establish that a domestic violence crime has occurred. Factors evidencing that a domestic violence crime has occurred may include, but are not limited to, medical records documenting injuries consistent with allegations of domestic violence, mental health records, or the fact that the victim has obtained a temporary or permanent restraining order, or all of these.

(c) An application for compensation may be denied, in whole or in part, if the board finds that denial is appropriate because of the nature of the victim's or other applicant's involvement in the events leading to the crime or the involvement of the persons whose injury or death gives rise to the application. In the case of a minor, the board shall consider the minor's age, physical condition, and psychological state, as well as any compelling health and safety concerns, in determining whether the minor's application should be denied pursuant to this section. The application of a derivative victim of domestic violence under the age of 18 years may not be denied on the basis of the denial of the victim's application under this subdivision.

(d) (1) Notwithstanding Section 13955, no person who is convicted of a felony may be granted compensation until that person has been discharged from probation or has been released from a correctional institution and has been discharged from parole, if any. In no case shall compensation be granted to an applicant pursuant to this chapter during any period of time the applicant is held in a correctional institution.

(2) A person who has been convicted of a felony may apply for compensation pursuant to this chapter at any time, but the award of that compensation may not be considered until the applicant meets the requirements for compensation set forth in paragraph (1).

(3) Applications of victims who are not felons shall receive priority in the award of compensation over an application submitted by a felon who has met the requirements for compensation set forth in paragraph (1).

Article 4. Scope of Compensation

13957. (a) The board may grant for pecuniary loss, when the board determines it will best aid the person seeking compensation, as follows:

(1) Subject to the limitations set forth in Section 13957.2, reimburse the amount of medical or medical-related expenses incurred by the victim, including, but not limited to, eyeglasses, hearing aids, dentures, or any prosthetic device taken, lost, or destroyed during the commission of the crime, or the use of which became necessary as a direct result of the crime.

(2) Subject to the limitations set forth in Section 13957.2, reimburse the amount of outpatient psychiatric, psychological, or other mental health counseling related expenses incurred by the victim or derivative victim, including peer counseling services provided by a rape crisis center as defined by Section 13837 of the Penal Code, and including family psychiatric, psychological, or mental health counseling for the successful treatment of the victim provided to family members of the victim in the presence of the victim, whether or not the family member relationship existed at the time of the crime, that became necessary as a direct result of the crime, subject to the following conditions:

(A) The following persons may be reimbursed for the expense of their outpatient mental health counseling in an amount not to exceed ten thousand dollars ($10,000):

(i) A victim.

(ii) A derivative victim who is the surviving parent, sibling, child, spouse, fiancé, or fianceé of a victim of a crime that directly resulted in the death of the victim.

(iii) A derivative victim, as described in paragraphs (1) to (4), inclusive, of subdivision (c) of Section 13955, who is the primary caretaker of a minor victim whose claim is not denied or reduced pursuant to Section 13956 in a total amount not to exceed ten thousand dollars ($10,000) for not more than two derivative victims.

(B) The following persons may be reimbursed for the expense of their outpatient mental health counseling in an amount not to exceed three thousand dollars ($3,000):

(i) A derivative victim not eligible for reimbursement pursuant to subparagraph (A), provided that mental health counseling of a derivative victim described in paragraph (5) of subdivision (c) of Section 13955, shall be reimbursed only if that counseling is necessary for the treatment of the victim.

(ii) A victim of a crime of unlawful sexual intercourse with a minor committed in violation of subdivision (d) of Section 261.5 of the Penal Code. A derivative victim of a crime committed in violation of subdivision (d) of Section 261.5 of the Penal Code shall not be eligible for reimbursement of mental health counseling expenses. The total award to or on behalf of a victim of a crime committed in violation of subdivision (d) of Section 261.5 of the Penal Code may not exceed three thousand dollars ($3,000) for mental health counseling expenses only.

(C) The board may reimburse a victim or derivative victim for outpatient mental health counseling in excess of that authorized by subparagraphs (A) or (B) or for inpatient psychiatric, psychological, or other mental health counseling if the claim is based on dire or exceptional circumstances that require more extensive treatment, as approved by the board.

(D) Expenses for psychiatric, psychological, or other mental health counseling related services may be reimbursed only if the services were provided by either of the following individuals:

(i) A person who would have been authorized to provide those services pursuant to the provisions of former Article 1 (commencing with Section 13959) as it read on January 1, 2002.

(ii) A person who is licensed by the state to provide those services, or who is properly supervised by a person who is so licensed, subject to the board's approval and subject to the limitations and restrictions the board may impose.

(3) Reimburse the expenses of nonmedical remedial care and treatment rendered in accordance with a religious method of healing recognized by state law.

(4) Subject to the limitations set forth in Section 13957.5, authorize compensation equal to the loss of income or loss of support, or both, that a victim or derivative victim incurs as a direct result of the victim's or derivative victim's injury or the victim's death. If the victim or derivative victim requests that the board give priority to reimbursement of loss of income or support, the board may not pay medical expenses, or mental health counseling expenses, except upon the request of the victim or derivative victim or after determining that payment of these expenses will not decrease the funds available for payment of loss of income or support.

(5) Authorize a cash payment to or on behalf of the victim for job retraining or similar employment-oriented services.

(6) Reimburse the expense for installing or increasing residential security, not to exceed one thousand dollars ($1,000), with respect to a crime that occurred in the victim's residence, upon verification by law enforcement to be necessary for the personal safety of the victim or by a mental health treatment provider to be necessary for the emotional well-being of the victim. Installing or increasing residential security may include, but need not be limited to, both of the following:

(A) Home security device or system.

(B) Replacing or increasing the number of locks.

(7) Reimburse the expense of renovating or retrofitting a victim's residence or a vehicle, or both, to make the residence, the vehicle, or both, accessible or the vehicle operational by a victim upon verification that the expense is medically necessary for a victim who is permanently disabled as a direct result of the crime, whether the disability is partial or total.

(8) Authorize a cash payment or reimbursement not to exceed two thousand dollars ($2,000) to a victim for expenses incurred in relocating, if the expenses are determined by law enforcement to be necessary for the personal safety of the victim or by a mental health treatment provider to be necessary for the emotional well-being of the victim. When a relocation payment or reimbursement is provided to a victim of sexual assault or domestic violence and the identity of the offender is known to the victim, the victim shall agree not to inform the offender of the location of the victim's new residence and not to allow the offender on the premises at any time, or shall agree to seek a restraining order against the offender. The cash payment or reimbursement made under this subdivision shall only be awarded once to any victim, except that the board may, under compelling circumstances, award a second cash payment or reimbursement to the same victim if both of the following conditions are met:

(A) The crime occurs more than three years from the date of the crime giving rise to the initial relocation cash payment or reimbursement.

(B) The crime does not involve the same offender.

(9) When a victim dies as a result of a crime, the board may reimburse any individual who voluntarily, and without anticipation of personal gain, pays or assumes the obligation to pay any of the following expenses:

(A) The medical expenses incurred as a direct result of the crime in an amount not to exceed the rates or limitations established by the board.

(B) When the crime occurs in a residence, the reasonable costs to clean the scene of the crime in an amount not to exceed one thousand dollars ($1,000). Services reimbursed pursuant to this subdivision shall be performed by persons registered with the State Department of Health Services as trauma scene waste practitioners in accordance with Chapter 9.5 (commencing with Section 118321) of Part 14 of Division 104 of the Health and Safety Code.

(C) The funeral and burial expenses incurred as a direct result of the crime, not to exceed seven thousand five hundred dollars ($7,500).

(b) The total award to or on behalf of each victim or derivative victim may not exceed thirty-five thousand dollars ($35,000), except that this amount may be increased to seventy thousand dollars ($70,000) if federal funds for that increase are available.

13957.2. (a) The board may establish maximum rates and service limitations for reimbursement of medical and medical-related services and for mental health and counseling services. The adoption, amendment, and repeal of these service limitations and maximum rates shall not be subject to the Administrative Procedure Act (Chapter 3.5 (commencing with Section 11340) of Part 1). An informational copy of the service limitations and maximum rates shall be filed with the Secretary of State upon adoption by the board. A provider who accepts payment from the program for a service shall accept the program's rates as payment in full and shall not accept any payment on account of the service from any other source if the total of payments accepted would exceed the maximum rate set by the board for that service. To ensure service limitations that are uniform and appropriate to the levels of treatment required by the victim or derivative victim, the board may review all claims for these services as necessary to ensure their medical necessity.

(b) The board may request an independent examination and report from any provider of medical or medical-related services or psychological or psychiatric treatment or mental health counseling services, if it believes there is a reasonable basis for requesting an additional evaluation. The victim or derivative victim shall be notified of the name of the provider who is to perform the evaluation within 30 calendar days of that determination. In cases where the crime involves sexual assault, the provider shall have expertise in the needs of sexual assault victims. In cases where the crime involves child abuse or molestation, the provider shall have expertise in the needs of victims of child abuse or molestation, as appropriate. When a reevaluation is requested, payments shall not be discontinued prior to completion of the reevaluation.

(c) Reimbursement for any medical or medical-related services shall, if the application has been approved, be paid by the board within an average of 90 days from receipt of the claim for payment. Payments to a medical or mental health provider may not be discontinued prior to completion of any reevaluation. Whether or not a reevaluation is obtained, if the board determines that payments to a provider will be discontinued, the board shall notify the provider of their discontinuance within 30 calendar days of its determination.

13957.5. (a) In authorizing compensation for loss of income and support pursuant to paragraph (4) of subdivision (a) of Section 13957, the board may take any of the following actions:

(1) Compensate the victim for loss of income directly resulting from the injury, except that loss of income may not be paid by the board for more than five years following the crime, unless the victim is disabled as defined in Section 416(i) of Title 42 of the United States Code, as a direct result of the injury.

(2) Compensate an adult derivative victim for loss of income, subject to all of the following:

(A) The derivative victim is the parent or legal guardian of a victim, who at the time of the crime was under the age of 18 years and is hospitalized as a direct result of the crime.

(B) The minor victim's treating physician certifies in writing that the presence of the victim's parent or legal guardian at the hospital is necessary for the treatment of the victim.

(C) Reimbursement for loss of income under this paragraph may not exceed the total value of the income that would have been earned by the adult derivative victim during a 30-day period.

(3) Compensate an adult derivative victim for loss of income, subject to all of the following:

(A) The derivative victim is the parent or legal guardian of a victim who at the time of the crime was under the age of 18 years.

(B) The victim died as a direct result of the crime.

(C) The board shall pay for loss of income under this paragraph for not more than 30 days from the date of the victim's death.

(4) Compensate a derivative victim who was legally dependent on the victim at the time of the crime for the loss of support incurred by that person as a direct result of the crime, subject to both of the following:

(A) Loss of support shall be paid by the board for income lost by an adult for a period up to, but not more than, five years following the date of the crime.

(B) Loss of support shall not be paid by the board on behalf of a minor for a period beyond the child's attaining the age of 18 years.

(b) The total amount payable to all derivative victims pursuant to this section as the result of one crime may not exceed seventy thousand dollars ($70,000).

13957.7. (a) No reimbursement may be made for any expense that is submitted more than three years after it is incurred by the victim or derivative victim. However, reimbursement may be made for an expense submitted more than three years after the date it is incurred if the victim or derivative victim has affirmed the debt and is liable for the debt at the time the expense is submitted for reimbursement, or has paid the expense as a direct result of a crime for which a timely application has been filed.

(b) Compensation made pursuant to this chapter may be on a one-time or periodic basis. If periodic, the board may increase, reduce, or terminate the amount of compensation according to the applicant's need, subject to the maximum limits provided in this chapter.

(c) (1) The board may authorize direct payment to a provider of services that are reimbursable pursuant to this chapter and may make those payments prior to verification. However, the board may not, without good cause, authorize a direct payment to a provider over the objection of the victim or derivative victim.

(2) Reimbursement on the initial claim for any psychological, psychiatric, or mental health counseling services shall, if the application has been approved, be paid by the board within 90 days of the date of receipt of the claim for payment, with subsequent payments to be made to the provider within one month of the receipt of a claim for payment.

(d) Payments for peer counseling services provided by a rape crisis center may not exceed fifteen dollars ($15) for each hour of services provided. Those services shall be limited to in-person counseling for a period not to exceed 10 weeks plus one series of facilitated support group counseling sessions.

(e) The board shall develop procedures to ensure that a victim is using compensation for job retraining or relocation only for its intended purposes. The procedures may include, but need not be limited to, requiring copies of receipts, agreements, or other documents as requested, or developing a method for direct payment.

(f) Compensation granted pursuant to this chapter shall not disqualify an otherwise eligible applicant from participation in any other public assistance program.

(g) The board shall pay attorney's fees representing the reasonable value of legal services rendered to the applicant, in an amount equal to 10 percent of the amount of the award, or five hundred dollars ($500), whichever is less, for each victim and each derivative victim. An attorney receiving fees from another source may waive the right to receive fees under this subdivision. Payments under this subdivision shall be in addition to any amount authorized or ordered under subdivision (b) of Section 13960. An attorney may not charge, demand, receive, or collect any amount for services rendered in connection with any proceedings under this chapter except as awarded under this chapter.

(h) A private nonprofit agency shall be reimbursed for its services at the level of the normal and customary fee charged by the private nonprofit agency to clients with adequate means of payment for its services, except that this reimbursement may not exceed the maximum reimbursement rates set by the board and may be made only to the extent that the victim otherwise qualifies for compensation under this chapter and that other reimbursement or direct subsidies are not available to serve the victim.

13957.9. (a) Notwithstanding Section 13954, the board shall develop a simplified and expedited procedure for paying claims of a qualified provider of mental health services.

(b) A simplified and expedited procedure for paying claims specified in subdivision (a) shall include all of the following:

(1) An agreement by the provider to subject its claims to audit procedures established by the board and to request payment only for qualified services.

(2) An agreement by the board to pay claims on a regular and timely basis to a qualified provider for services without requiring further documentation beyond that required to initially qualify the claim.

(3) Additional methods of simplifying the claims process as agreed upon between the board and the qualified provider.

(c) Simplified and expedited procedures for mental health services may be instituted when both of the following conditions are met:

(1) The board has determined that the crime has occurred and that the victim qualifies for compensation pursuant to this chapter.

(2) Services to the victim or derivative victim, or both, are being provided by a qualified provider.

(d) A nonprofit agency may apply to the board for a determination that the nonprofit agency is a qualified provider for purposes of this section. The board shall approve or reject an application from a qualified provider for participation in an agreement pursuant to this section within 90 days of receipt of a complete application as required by the board.

(e) An agreement made pursuant to this section shall not be deemed to be a contract subject to the requirements of Part 2 (commencing with Section 10100) of Division 2 of the Public Contract Code.

(f) For purposes of this section, ''qualified provider'' means a nonprofit agency with extensive experience in providing mental health services and that has utilized reimbursement from the Restitution Fund at a significant level on a regular and constant basis. Upon request of a nonprofit agency, the board shall determine if the nonprofit agency is a qualified provider for purposes of this section.

13958. The board shall approve or deny applications, based on recommendations of the board staff, within an average of 90 calendar days and no later than 180 calendar days of acceptance by the board or victim center.

(a) If the board does not meet the 90-day average standard prescribed in this subdivision, the board shall, thereafter, report to the Legislature, on a quarterly basis, its progress and its current average time of processing applications. These quarterly reports shall continue until the board meets the 90-day average standard for two consecutive quarters.

(b) If the board fails to approve or deny an individual application within 180 days of the date it is accepted, pursuant to this subdivision, the board shall advise the applicant and his or her representative, in writing, of the reason for the failure to approve or deny the application.

Article 5. Hearings and Judicial Review

13959. (a) The board shall grant a hearing to an applicant who believes he or she is entitled to compensation pursuant to this chapter to contest a staff recommendation to deny compensation in whole or in part.

(b) The board shall notify the applicant not less than 10 days prior to the date of the hearing. Notwithstanding Section 11123, if the application that the board is considering involves either a crime against a minor, a crime of sexual assault, or a crime of domestic violence, the board may exclude from the hearing all persons other than board members and members of its staff, the applicant for benefits, a minor applicant's parents or guardians, the applicant's representative, any witnesses, and other persons of the applicant's choice to provide assistance to the applicant during the hearing. However, the board may not exclude persons from the hearing if the applicant or applicant's representative requests that the hearing be open to the public.

(c) At the hearing, the person seeking compensation shall have the burden of establishing, by a preponderance of the evidence, the elements for eligibility under Section 13955.

(d) Except as otherwise provided by law, in making determinations of eligibility for compensation and in deciding upon the amount of compensation, the board shall apply the law in effect as of the date an application was submitted.

(e) The hearing shall be informal and need not be conducted according to the technical rules relating to evidence and witnesses. The board may rely on any relevant evidence if it is the sort of evidence on which responsible persons are accustomed to rely in the conduct of serious affairs, regardless of the existence of any common law or statutory rule that might make improper the admission of the evidence over objection in a civil action. The board may rely on written reports prepared for the board, or other information received, from public agencies responsible for investigating the crime. If the applicant or the applicant's representative chooses not to appear at the hearing, the board may act solely upon the application for compensation, the staff's report, and other evidence that appears in the record.

(f) Hearings shall be held in various locations with the frequency necessary to provide for the speedy adjudication of the applications. If the applicant's presence is required at the hearing, the board shall schedule the applicant's hearing in as convenient a location as possible.

(g) The board may delegate the hearing of applications to hearing officers.

(h) The decisions of the board shall be in writing. Copies of the decisions shall be delivered to the applicant or to his or her representative personally or sent to them by mail.

(i) The board may order a reconsideration of all or part of a decision on its own motion or on written request of the applicant. The board may not grant more than one such request with respect to any one decision on any application for compensation. The board may not consider any such request filed with the board more than 30 calendar days after the personal delivery or 60 calendar days after the mailing of the original decision.

13960. (a) Judicial review of a final decision made pursuant to this chapter may be had by filing a petition for a writ of mandate in accordance with Section 1094.5 of the Code of Civil Procedure. The right to petition shall not be affected by the failure to seek reconsideration before the board. The petition shall be filed as follows:

(1) Where no request for reconsideration is made, within 30 calendar days of personal delivery or within 60 calendar days of the mailing of the board's decision on the application for compensation.

(2) Where a timely request for reconsideration is filed and rejected by the board, within 30 calendar days of personal delivery or within 60 calendar days of the mailing of the notice of rejection.

(3) Where a timely request for reconsideration is filed and granted by the board, or reconsideration is ordered by the board, within 30 calendar days of personal delivery or within 60 calendar days of the mailing of the final decision on the reconsidered application.

(b) (1) In an action resulting in the issuance of a writ of mandate pursuant to this section the court may order the board to pay to the applicant's attorney reasonable attorney's fees or one thousand dollars ($1,000), whichever is less. If action is taken by the board in favor of the applicant in response to the filing of the petition, but prior to a judicial determination, the board shall pay the applicant's costs of filing the petition.

(2) In case of appeal by the board of a decision on the petition for writ of mandate that results in a decision in favor of the applicant, the court may order the board to pay to the applicant's attorney reasonable attorney fees.

(3) Nothing in this section shall be construed to prohibit or limit an award of attorney's fees pursuant to Section 1021.5 of the Code of Civil Procedure.

Article 6. Administration

13962. (a) The board shall publicize through the board, law enforcement agencies, victim centers, hospitals, medical, mental health or other counseling service providers, and other public or private agencies, the existence of the program established pursuant to this chapter, including the procedures for obtaining compensation under the program.

(b) It shall be the duty of every local law enforcement agency to inform crime victims of the provisions of this chapter, of the existence of victim centers, and in counties where no victim center exists, to provide application forms to victims who desire to seek compensation pursuant to this chapter. The board shall provide application forms and all other documents that local law enforcement agencies and victim centers may require to comply with this section. The board, in cooperation with victim centers, shall set standards to be followed by local law enforcement agencies for this purpose and may require them to file with the board a description of the procedures adopted by each agency to comply with the standards.

13963. (a) The board shall be subrogated to the rights of the recipient to the extent of any compensation granted by the board. The subrogation rights shall be against the perpetrator of the crime or any person liable for the losses suffered as a direct result of the crime which was the basis for receipt of compensation, including an insurer held liable in accordance with the provision of a policy of insurance issued pursuant to Section 11580.2 of the Insurance Code.

(b) The board shall also be entitled to a lien on any judgment, award, or settlement in favor of or on behalf of the recipient for losses suffered as a direct result of the crime that was the basis for receipt of compensation in the amount of the compensation granted by the board. The board may recover this amount in a separate action, or may intervene in an action brought by or on behalf of the recipient. If a claim is filed within one year of the date of recovery, the board shall pay 25 percent of the amount of the recovery that is subject to a lien on the judgment, award, or settlement, to the recipient responsible for recovery thereof from the perpetrator of the crime, provided that the total amount of the lien is recovered. The remaining 75 percent of the amount, and any amount not claimed within one year pursuant to this section, shall be deposited in the Restitution Fund.

(c) The board may compromise or settle and release any lien pursuant to this chapter if it is found that the action is in the best interest of the state or the collection would cause undue hardship upon the recipient. Repayment obligations to the Restitution Fund shall be enforceable as a summary judgment.

(d) No judgment, award, or settlement in any action or claim by a recipient, where the board has an interest, shall be satisfied without first giving the board notice and a reasonable opportunity to perfect and satisfy the lien. The notice shall be given to the board in Sacramento except in cases where the board specifies that the notice shall be given otherwise. The notice shall include the complete terms of the award, settlement, or judgment, and the name and address of any insurer directly or indirectly providing for the satisfaction.

(e) (1) If the recipient brings an action or asserts a claim for damages against the person or persons liable for the injury or death giving rise to an award by the board under this chapter, notice of the institution of legal proceedings, notice of all hearings, conferences, and proceedings, and notice of settlement shall be given to the board in Sacramento except in cases where the board specifies that notice shall be given to the Attorney General. Notice of the institution of legal proceedings shall be given to the board within 30 days of filing the action. All notices shall be given by the attorney employed to bring the action for damages or by the recipient if no attorney is employed.

(2) Notice shall include all of the following:

(A) Names of all parties to the claim or action.

(B) The address of all parties to the claim or action except for those persons represented by attorneys and in that case the name of the party and the name and address of the attorney.

(C) The nature of the claim asserted or action brought.

(D) In the case of actions before courts or administrative agencies, the full title of the case including the identity of the court or agency, the names of the parties, and the case or docket number.

(3) When the recipient or his or her attorney has reason to believe that a person from whom damages are sought is receiving a defense provided in whole or in part by an insurer, or is insured for the injury caused to the recipient, notice shall include a statement of that fact and the name and address of the insurer. Upon request of the board, a person obligated to provide notice shall provide the board with a copy of the current written claim or complaint.

(f) The board shall pay the county probation department or other county agency responsible for collection of funds owed to the Restitution Fund under Section 13967, as operative on or before September 28, 1994, Section 1202.4 of the Penal Code, Section 1203.04 of the Penal Code, as operative on or before August 2, 1995, or Section 730.6 of the Welfare and Institutions Code, 10 percent of the funds so owed and collected by the county agency and deposited in the Restitution Fund. This payment shall be made only when the funds are deposited in the Restitution Fund within 45 days of the end of the month in which the funds are collected. Receiving 10 percent of the moneys collected as being owed to the Restitution Fund shall be considered an incentive for collection efforts and shall be used for furthering these collection efforts. The 10-percent rebates shall be used to augment the budgets for the county agencies responsible for collection of funds owed to the Restitution Fund, as provided in Section 13967, as operative on or before September 28, 1994, Section 1202.4 of the Penal Code, Section 1203.04 of the Penal Code, operative on or before August 2, 1995, or Section 730.6 of the Welfare and Institutions Code. The 10-percent rebates shall not be used to supplant county funding.

(g) In the event of judgment or award in a suit or claim against a third party or insurer, if the action or claim is prosecuted by the recipient alone, the court or agency shall first order paid from any judgment or award the reasonable litigation expenses incurred in preparation and prosecution of the action or claim, together with reasonable attorney's fees when an attorney has been retained. After payment of the expenses and attorney's fees, the court or agency shall, on the application of the board, allow as a lien against the amount of the judgment or award, the amount of the compensation granted by the board to the recipient for losses sustained as a result of the same incident upon which the settlement, award, or judgment is based.

(h) For purposes of this section, ''recipient'' means any person who has received compensation or will be provided compensation pursuant to this chapter, including the victim's guardian, conservator or other personal representative, estate, and survivors.

13964. (a) Claims under this chapter shall be paid from the Restitution Fund.

(b) Notwithstanding Section 13340, the proceeds in the Restitution Fund are hereby continuously appropriated to the board, without regard to fiscal years, for the purposes of this chapter. However, the funds appropriated pursuant to this section for administrative costs of the board shall be subject to annual review through the State Budget process.

(c) A sum not to exceed 15 percent of the amount appropriated annually to pay claims pursuant to this chapter may be withdrawn from the Restitution Fund, to be used as a revolving fund by the board for the payment of emergency awards pursuant to Section 13961.

13965. (a) A person who has been overpaid or on whose behalf any provider or other person has been overpaid under this chapter is liable for that amount unless both of the following facts exist:

(1) The overpayment was not due to fraud, misrepresentation, or willful nondisclosure on the part of the recipient.

(2) The overpayment was received without fault on the part of the recipient, and its recovery would be against equity and good conscience.

(b) All overpayments exceeding two thousand dollars ($2,000) shall be reported to the Legislature pursuant to Section 13928 and the relief from liability described in subdivision (a) shall be subject to legislative approval.

13966. The board may do all of the following to recover moneys owed to the Restitution Fund:

(a) File a civil action against the liable person for the recovery of the amount of moneys owed. This action shall be filed within one year of either of the following events, or within three years of either of the following events if the liable person was overpaid benefits due to fraud, misrepresentation, or nondisclosure as described in paragraph (1) of subdivision (a) of Section 13965:

(1) The mailing or personal service of the notice of the moneys owed if the person affected does not file an appeal with the board or person designated by the board.

(2) The mailing of the decision of the board if the person affected does not initiate a further appeal.

(b) (1) Initiate proceedings for a summary judgment against the liable person. However, this subdivision shall apply only where the board has found, pursuant to Section 13965, that the overpayment may not be waived. The board may, not later than three years after the overpayment became final, file with the clerk of the proper court in the county from which the overpayment of benefits was paid or in the county in which the claimant resides, a certificate containing all of the following:

(A) The amount due, plus interest from the date that the initial determination of the moneys owed was made.

(B) A statement that the board has complied with all the provisions of this chapter prior to the filing of the certificate.

(C) A request that the judgment be entered against the liable person in the amount set forth in the certificate.

(2) The clerk, immediately upon the filing of the certificate, shall enter a judgment for the state against the liable person in the amount set forth in the certificate.

13967. (a) (1) The Governor's Budget shall specify the estimated amount in the Restitution Fund that is in excess of the amount needed to pay claims pursuant to this chapter, to pay administrative costs for increasing restitution funds, and to maintain a prudent reserve.

(2) It is the intent of the Legislature that, notwithstanding Section 13963, funds be appropriated in the annual Budget Act to the State Department of Mental Health from those funds that are determined to be in excess of the amount needed pursuant to paragraph (1), for the purposes of this section.

(b) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, moneys in the Restitution Fund appropriated in the annual Budget Act pursuant to subdivision (a) may be used to fund programs and activities operated by the State Department of Mental Health, that address the problem of unequal protection for, and unequal services to, crime victims with disabilities.

(c) Programs and activities that may be funded pursuant to this section include all of the following, as they relate to persons with disabilities:

(1) Identification of crime victims with disabilities.

(2) Crime and violence prevention.

(3) Improvement of access to victim's support and compensation.

(4) Planning and activities by service provider organizations to address the reduction of crime.

(5) Establishment of programs for personal safety, planning, and training.

(6) Public information efforts.

(7) Coordination with other federal and state agencies.

(8) Training of staff.

The board may only include in the program a certified child life specialist who has been determined by a current employer in California or a California licensing entity not to have a criminal history that would prevent that employment or the issuance of a license. If neither determination has occurred, the board shall secure from the Department of Justice a criminal record to determine whether the applicant would be disqualified from employment pursuant to Sections 45122.1 and 45123 of the Education Code, and for these purposes the board may make the determinations required by that section. The board may charge a certified child life specialist a fee for the actual cost of fingerprinting and obtaining the criminal history information required by this section.

(c) The program shall terminate on January 1, 2004. The board shall evaluate the program and, notwithstanding Section 7550.5, shall report its conclusions and recommendations to the Legislature by January 31, 2003. (b) This section shall remain in effect only until January 1, 2004, and as of that date is repealed, unless a later enacted statute, that is enacted before January 1, 2004, deletes or extends that date.

13969.2. (a) The board may expand the scope of compensation to include derivative victims who incur a pecuniary loss as a direct result of any of the four terrorist attacks that occurred at the World Trade Center and the Pentagon, and in Pennsylvania, on September 11, 2001, as follows:

(2) A California resident grandparent or grandchild of a victim injured or killed in a terrorist attack described in this section, regardless of whether or not the victim is or was a resident of the state.

(b) This section shall remain in effect only until January 1, 2004, and as of that date is repealed, unless a later enacted statute, that is enacted before January 1, 2004, deletes or extends that date.

13969.7. (a) The board may make a one-time allocation of one million dollars ($1,000,000) to the victim compensation program in the State of New York to aid that state in compensating victims of the terrorist attack on the World Trade Center that occurred on September 11, 2001.

(b) The Legislature finds and declares that the provision of funds for victim compensation in the State of New York as described in subdivision (a) serves a public purpose and does not constitute a gift of public funds within the meaning of Section 6 of Article XVI of the California Constitution.

(c) This section shall remain in effect only until January 1, 2004, and as of that date is repealed, unless a later enacted statute, that is enacted before January 1, 2004, deletes or extends that date.

When a relocation payment or reimbursement is provided to a victim of sexual assault or domestic violence and the identity of the offender is known to

The procedures may include, but need not be limited to, requiring copies of receipts, agreements, or other documents as requested, or developing a method for direct payment.

(f) Compensation granted pursuant to this chapter shall not disqualify an otherwise eligible applicant from participation in any other public assistance program.

(g) The board shall pay attorney's fees representing the reasonable value of legal services rendered to the applicant, in an amount equal to 10 percent of the amount of the award, or five hundred dollars ($500), whichever is less, for each victim and each derivative victim. An attorney receiving fees from another source may waive the right to receive fees under this subdivision. Payments under this subdivision shall be in addition to any amount authorized or ordered under subdivision (b) of Section 13960. An attorney may not charge, demand, receive, or collect any amount for services rendered in connection with any proceedings under this chapter except as awarded under this chapter.

(h) A private nonprofit agency shall be reimbursed for its services at the level of the normal and customary fee charged by the private nonprofit agency to clients with adequate means of payment for its services, except that this reimbursement may not exceed the maximum reimbursement rates set by the board and may be made only to the extent that the victim otherwise qualifies for compensation under this chapter and that other reimbursement or direct subsidies are not available to serve the victim.

Those services shall be limited to in-person counseling for a period not to exceed 10 weeks plus one series of facilitated support group counseling sessions.

(e) The board shall develop procedures to ensure that a victim is using compensation for job retraining or relocation only for its intended purposes. The procedures may include, but need not be limited to, requiring copies of receipts, agreements, or other documents as requested, or developing a method for direct payment.

(6) That the defendant is required to notify the clerk of the court within seven days after changes in the defendant's address, payers, and the addresses of his or her payers.

(7) That the court order will be stayed in accordance with subdivision (b) and that a hearing is available in accordance with subdivision (f).

(f) (1) Upon receiving the notice described in paragraph (2) of subdivision (b), the clerk of the court or officer of the agency responsible for collection of restitution shall serve an income deduction order and the notice to payer on the defendant's payer unless the defendant has applied for a hearing to contest the enforcement of the income deduction order.

(2) (A) Service by or upon any person who is a party to a proceeding under this section shall be made in the manner prescribed for service upon parties in a civil action.

(B) Service upon the defendant's payer or successor payer under this section shall be made by prepaid certified mail, return receipt requested.

(3) The defendant, within 15 days after being informed that the order staying the income deduction order will be lifted, may apply for a hearing to contest the enforcement of the income deduction order on the ground of mistake of fact regarding the amount of restitution owed or on the ground that the defendant has established good cause for the nonpayment. The timely request for a hearing shall stay the service of an income deduction order on all payers of the defendant until a hearing is held and a determination is made as to whether the enforcement of the income deduction order is proper.

(4) The notice to any payer required by this subdivision shall contain only information necessary for the payer to comply with the income deduction order. The notice shall do all of the following:

(A) Require the payer to deduct from the defendant's income the amount specified in the income deduction order, and to pay that amount to the clerk of the court.

(B) Instruct the payer to implement the income deduction order no later than the first payment date that occurs more than 14 days after the date the income deduction order was served on the payer.

(C) Instruct the payer to forward, within two days after each payment date, to the clerk of the court the amount deducted from the defendant's income and a statement as to whether the amount totally or partially satisfies the periodic amount specified in the income deduction order.

(D) Specify that if a payer fails to deduct the proper amount from the defendant's income, the payer is liable for the amount the payer should have deducted, plus costs, interest, and reasonable attorney's fees.

(E) Provide that the payer may collect up to five dollars ($5) against the defendant's income to reimburse the payer for administrative costs for the first income deduction and up to one dollar ($1) for each deduction thereafter.

(F) State that the income deduction order and the notice to payer are binding on the payer until further notice by the court or until the payer no longer provides income to the defendant.

(G) Instruct the payer that, when he or she no longer provides income to the defendant, he or she shall notify the clerk of the court and shall also provide the defendant's last known address and the name and address of the defendant's new payer, if known, and that, if the payer violates this provision, the payer is subject to a civil penalty not to exceed two hundred fifty dollars ($250) for the first violation or five hundred dollars ($500) for any subsequent violation.

(H) State that the payer shall not discharge, refuse to employ, or take disciplinary action against the defendant because of an income deduction order and shall state that a violation of this provision subjects the payer to a civil penalty not to exceed two hundred fifty dollars ($250) for the first violation or five hundred dollars ($500) for any subsequent violation.

(I) Inform the payer that when he or she receives income deduction orders requiring that the income of two or more defendants be deducted and sent to the same clerk of a court, he or she may combine the amounts that are to be paid to the depository in a single payment as long as he or she identifies that portion of the payment attributable to each defendant.

(J) Inform the payer that if the payer receives more than one income deduction order against the same defendant, he or she shall contact the court for further instructions.

(5) The clerk of the court shall enforce income deduction orders against the defendant's successor payer who is located in this state in the same manner prescribed in this subdivision for the enforcement of an income deduction order against a payer.

(6) A person may not discharge, refuse to employ, or take disciplinary action against an employee because of the enforcement of an income deduction order. An employer who violates this provision is subject to a civil penalty not to exceed two hundred fifty dollars ($250) for the first violation or five hundred dollars ($500) for any subsequent violation.

(7) When a payer no longer provides income to a defendant, he or she shall notify the clerk of the court and shall provide the defendant's last known address and the name and address of the defendant's new payer, if known. A payer who violates this provision is subject to a civil penalty not to exceed two hundred fifty dollars ($250) for the first violation or five hundred dollars ($500) for a subsequent violation.

(g) As used in this section, ''good cause'' for failure to meet an obligation or ''good cause'' for nonpayment means, but shall not be limited to, any of the following:

(1) That there has been a substantial change in the defendant's economic circumstances, such as involuntary unemployment, involuntary cost-of-living increases, or costs incurred as the result of medical circumstances or a natural disaster.

(2) That the defendant reasonably believes there has been an administrative error with regard to his or her obligation for payment.

(3) Any other similar and justifiable reasons.

SEC. 15. Section 1202.43 is added to the Penal Code, to read:

1202.43. (a) The restitution fine imposed pursuant to subdivision (a) of Section 13967 of the Government Code, as operative on or before September 28, 1994, subparagraph (B) of paragraph (2) of subdivision (a) of Section 1203.04, as operative on or before August 2, 1995, or Section 1202.4 shall be payable to the clerk of the court, the probation officer, or any other person responsible for the collection of criminal fines. If the defendant is unable or otherwise fails to pay that fine in a felony case and there is an amount unpaid of one thousand dollars ($1,000) or more within 60 days after the imposition of sentence, or in a case in which probation is granted, within the period of probation, the clerk of the court, probation officer, or other person to whom the fine is to be paid shall forward to the Controller the abstract of judgment along with any information which may be relevant to the present and future location of the defendant and his or her assets, if any, and any verifiable amount which the defendant may have paid to the victim as a result of the crime.

(b) A restitution fine shall be deemed a debt of the defendant owing to the state for the purposes of Sections 12418 and 12419.5 of the Government Code, excepting any amounts the defendant has paid to the victim as a result of the crime. Upon request by the Controller, the district attorney of a county or the Attorney General may take any necessary action to recover amounts owing on a restitution fine. The amount of the recovery shall be increased by a sum sufficient to cover any costs incurred by any state or local agency in the administration of this section. The remedies provided by this subdivision are in addition to any other remedies provided by law for the enforcement of a judgment.

SEC. 16. (a) Section 3 of this bill incorporates changes to Section 13960 of the Government Code proposed by AB 2729 into the provisions of Section 13951, as proposed to be added to the Government Code by Section 2 of this bill. CHAPTER 1142

An act to amend Section 15051 of the Unemployment Insurance Code, and to amend Section 11324.6 of the Welfare and Institutions Code, relating to unemployment.

[Approved by Governor September 30, 2002. Filed with Secretary of State September 30, 2002.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Section 15051 of the Unemployment Insurance Code is amended to read:

15051. The department shall establish rules, regulations, and procedures necessary to govern the administration of the provisions of this division and to assure that the legislative purposes and intent are carried out. The regulations shall include to the extent permitted by federal law:

(a) Standards and criteria for determining eligibility and services priorities pursuant to Section 15011. These shall include, but are not limited to, standards for insuring that a service delivery area plan gives appropriate priority to public assistance recipients.

(b) Standards for determining appropriate and allowable services and training activities, and entities providing services and training. These shall include, but are not limited to, insuring that all occupational skill training correspond to area labor market demand, insuring that any training entity providing services has a demonstrated record of past performances in training and placing persons in unsubsidized private sector employment or offers reasonable assurance that services provided will result in these placements, and prohibiting contracting with entities whose officers have been convicted of fraud or misappropriation of funds within the last two years.

(c) Standards and criteria to be used in developing plans. These shall include, but are not limited to, appropriate placement goals and requirements for adequate public notice and opportunity for public involvement in the development of service delivery area plans.

(d) Standards, criteria, and procedures to be used by the department in evaluating and approving service delivery area plans.

(e) Standards for assuring adequate, efficient service delivery area administration including standards for assuring efficient service delivery area management information and financial accounting systems.

(f) Standards and criteria for assuring effective coordination and linkages with other agencies that deliver training and employment-related services.

(g) Standards and criteria for assuring that no participant shall be employed or that no job opening shall be filled:

(1) When any other individual is on layoff from the same or any substantially equivalent job.

(2) When the employer has terminated the employment of any regular employee or otherwise reduced its workforce with the intention of filling the vacancy so created by hiring a participant whose wages are subsidized by the Workforce Investment Act of 1998 (Public Law 105-220), the successor to the Job Training Partnership Act.

(3) When the employer has not rehired a seasonal employee who has a history of regular seasonal employment with the employer. This paragraph shall only apply to the construction industry.

SEC. 2. Section 11324.6 of the Welfare and Institutions Code is amended to read:

11324.6. Any employment or training program position described in subdivisions (a) to (l), inclusive, of Section 11322.6 or Section 11322.9 or under any county pilot project, shall not be created as a result of, or shall not result in, any of the following:

(a) Displacement or partial displacement of current employees, including, but not limited to, a reduction in hours of nonovertime and overtime work, wages, or employment benefits.

(b) The filling of positions which would otherwise be promotional opportunities for current employees, except when positions are to be filled through an open process in which recipients are provided equal opportunity to compete.

(c) The filling of a position, prior to compliance with applicable personnel procedures or provisions of collective bargaining agreements.

(d) The filling of established unfilled public agency positions, unless the positions are unfunded in a public agency budget.

(e) The filling of a position created by termination, layoff, or reduction in workforce, caused by the employer's intent to fill the position with a subsidized position pursuant to this article.

(f) A strike, lockout, or other bona fide labor dispute, or violation of any existing collective bargaining agreement between employees and employers.

(g) The filling of a work assignment customarily performed by a worker in a job classification within a recognized collective bargaining unit in that specific worksite, or the filling of a work assignment in any bargaining unit in which funded positions are vacant or in which regular employees are on layoff.

(h) The termination of a contract for services, prior to its expiration date, that results in the displacement or partial displacement of workers performing contracted services, caused by the employer's intent to fill the position with a subsidized position pursuant to this article.

(i) The filling of a work assignment that results in not rehiring a seasonal employee who has a history of regular seasonal employment with an employer. The provisions of this subdivision shall apply only to the construction industry.

(j) The denial to a participant or employee of protections afforded other workers on the worksite by state and federal laws governing workplace health, safety, and representation.

(k) Subdivisions (b), (d), and (g) shall not apply to unsubsidized employment placements.

CHAPTER 1143

An act to amend Section 66427.5 of the Government Code, relating to housing.

[Approved by Governor September 30, 2002. Filed with Secretary of State September 30, 2002.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Section 66427.5 of the Government Code is amended to read:

66427.5. At the time of filing a tentative or parcel map for a subdivision to be created from the conversion of a rental mobilehome park to resident ownership, the subdivider shall avoid the economic displacement of all nonpurchasing residents in the following manner:

(a) The subdivider shall offer each existing tenant an option to either purchase his or her condominium or subdivided unit, which is to be created by the conversion of the park to resident ownership, or to continue residency as a tenant.

(b) The subdivider shall file a report on the impact of the conversion upon residents of the mobilehome park to be converted to resident owned subdivided interest.

(c) The subdivider shall make a copy of the report available to each resident of the mobilehome park at least 15 days prior to the hearing on the map by the advisory agency or, if there is no advisory agency, by the legislative body.

(d) (1) The subdivider shall obtain a survey of support of residents of the mobilehome park for the proposed conversion.

(2) The survey of support shall be conducted in accordance with an agreement between the subdivider and a resident homeowners' association, if any, that is independent of the subdivider or mobilehome park owner.

(3) The survey shall be obtained pursuant to a written ballot.

(4) The survey shall be conducted so that each occupied mobilehome space has one vote.

(5) The results of the survey shall be submitted to the local agency upon the filing of the tentative or parcel map, to be considered as part of the subdivision map hearing prescribed by subdivision (e).

(e) The subdivider shall be subject to a hearing by a legislative body or advisory agency, which is authorized by local ordinance to approve, conditionally approve, or disapprove the map. The scope of the hearing shall be limited to the issue of compliance with this section.

(f) The subdivider shall be required to avoid the economic displacement of all nonpurchasing residents in accordance with the following:

(1) As to nonpurchasing residents who are not lower income households, as defined in Section 50079.5 of the Health and Safety Code, the monthly rent, including any applicable fees or charges for use of any preconversion amenities, may increase from the preconversion rent to market levels, as defined in an appraisal conducted in accordance with nationally recognized professional appraisal standards, in equal annual increases over a four-year period.

(2) As to nonpurchasing residents who are lower income households, as defined in Section 50079.5 of the Health and Safety Code, the monthly rent, including any applicable fees or charges for use of any preconversion amenities, may increase from the preconversion rent by an amount equal to the average monthly increase in rent in the four years immediately preceding the conversion, except that in no event shall the monthly rent be increased by an amount greater than the average monthly percentage increase in the Consumer Price Index for the most recently reported period.

SEC. 2. It is the intent of the Legislature to address the conversion of a mobilehome park to resident ownership that is not a bona fide resident conversion, as described by the Court of Appeal in El Dorado Palm Springs, Ltd. v. City of Palm Springs (2002) 96 Cal.App.4th 1153. The court in this case concluded that the subdivision map approval process specified in Section 66427.5 of the Government Code may not provide local agencies with the authority to prevent nonbona fide resident conversions. The court explained how a conversion of a mobilehome park to resident ownership could occur without the support of the residents and result in economic displacement. It is, therefore, the intent of the Legislature in enacting this act to ensure that conversions pursuant to Section 66427.5 of the Government Code are bona fide resident conversions.

SEC. 3. The changes in law enacted by this act shall not apply to any application for parcel map approval for conversion of a rental mobilehome park to resident ownership approved by the local agency under Section 66427.5 of the Government Code prior to January 1, 2003.

CHAPTER 1144

An act to amend Section 1151.5 of the Government Code, relating to public employment.

[Approved by Governor September 30, 2002. Filed with Secretary of State September 30, 2002.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Section 1151.5 of the Government Code is amended to read:

1151.5. (a) In addition to deductions authorized pursuant to Section 1151, a state employee may authorize deductions to be made from salaries or wages for payment for the support, maintenance, or care of the employee's child, children, family, or former spouse for whom the employee has a duty of support. A service charge may be assessed for this deduction.

(b) A public agency may establish payroll deduction programs for any of the following purposes:

(1) Payment for the support, maintenance, or care of an employee's child, children, family, or former spouse for whom the employee has a duty of support.

(2) Payment of an employee's legal judgment.

(3) Garnishment or deduction of an employee's wages pursuant to a court order.

(4) Payment of an employee's loan or obligation to a commercial lending institution.

CHAPTER 1145

An act to add Chapter 6.5 (commencing with Section 1164) to Part 3.5 of Division 2 of the Labor Code, relating to agricultural labor relations.

[Approved by Governor September 30, 2002. Filed with Secretary of State September 30, 2002.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. The Legislature finds and declares that a need exists for a mediation procedure in order to ensure a more effective collective bargaining process between agricultural employers and agricultural employees, and thereby more fully attain the purposes of the Agricultural Labor Relations Act, ameliorate the working conditions and economic standing of agricultural employees, create stability in the agricultural labor force, and promote California's economic well-being by ensuring stability in its most vital industry.

SEC. 2. Chapter 6.5 (commencing with Section 1164) is added to Part 3.5 of Division 2 of the Labor Code, to read:

CHAPTER 6.5. CONTRACT DISPUTE RESOLUTION

1164. (a) An agricultural employer or a labor organization certified as the exclusive bargaining agent of a bargaining unit of agricultural employees may file with the board, at any time following 90 days after certification of the labor organization, a declaration that the parties have failed to reach a collective bargaining agreement and a request that the board issue an order directing the parties to mandatory mediation and conciliation of their issues. ''Agricultural employer,'' for purposes of this chapter, means an agricultural employer, as defined in subdivision (c) of Section 1140.4, who has employed or engaged 25 or more agricultural employees during any calendar week in the year preceding the filing of a declaration pursuant to this subdivision.

(b) Upon receipt of a declaration pursuant to subdivision (a), the board shall immediately issue an order directing the parties to mandatory mediation and conciliation of their issues. The board shall request from the California State Mediation and Conciliation Service a list of nine mediators who have experience in labor mediation. The California State Mediation and Conciliation Service may include names chosen from its own mediators, or from a list of names supplied by the American Arbitration Association or the Federal Mediation Service. The parties shall select a mediator from the list within seven days of receipt of the list. If the parties cannot agree on a mediator, they shall strike names from the list until a mediator is chosen by process of elimination. If a party refuses to participate in selecting a mediator, the other party may choose a mediator from the list. The costs of mediation and conciliation shall be borne equally by the parties.

(c) Upon appointment, the mediator shall immediately schedule meetings at a time and location reasonably accessible to the parties. Mediation shall proceed for a period of 30 days. Upon expiration of the 30-day period, if the parties do not resolve the issues to their mutual satisfaction, the mediator shall certify that the mediation process has been exhausted. Upon mutual agreement of the parties, the mediator may extend the mediation period for an additional 30 days.

(d) Within 21 days, the mediator shall file a report with the board that resolves all of the issues between the parties and establishes the final terms of a collective bargaining agreement, including all issues subject to mediation and all issues resolved by the parties prior to the certification of the exhaustion of the mediation process. With respect to any issues in dispute between the parties, the report shall include the basis for the mediator's determination. The mediator's determination shall be supported by the record.

1164.3. (a) Either party, within seven days of the filing of the report by the mediator, may petition the board for review of the report. The petitioning party shall, in the petition, specify the particular provisions of the mediator's report for which it is seeking review by the board and shall specify the specific grounds authorizing review by the board. The board, within 10 days of receipt of a petition, may accept for review those portions of the petition for which a prima facie case has been established that (1) a provision of the collective bargaining agreement set forth in the mediator's report is unrelated to wages, hours, or other conditions of employment within the meaning of Section 1155.2, or (2) a provision of the collective bargaining agreement set forth in the mediator's report is based on clearly erroneous findings of material fact.

(b) If it finds grounds exist to grant review within the meaning of subdivision (a), the board shall order the provisions of the report that are not the subject of the petition for review into effect as a final order of the board. If the board does not accept a petition for review or no petition for review is filed, then the mediator's report shall become a final order of the board.

(c) The board shall issue a decision concerning the petition and if it determines that a provision of the collective bargaining agreement contained in the mediator's report violates the provisions of subdivision (a), it shall issue an order requiring the mediator to modify the terms of the collective bargaining agreement. The mediator shall meet with the parties for additional mediation for a period not to exceed 30 days. At the expiration of this mediation period, the mediator shall prepare a second report resolving any outstanding issues. The second report shall be filed with the board.

(d) Either party, within seven days of the filing of the mediator's second report, may petition the board for a review of the mediator's second report pursuant to the procedures specified in subdivision (a). If no petition is filed, the mediator's report shall take immediate effect as a final order of the board. If a petition is filed, the board shall issue an order confirming the mediator's report and order it into immediate effect, unless it finds that the report is subject to review for any of the grounds specified in subdivision (a), in which case the board shall determine the issues and shall issue a final order of the board.

(e) Either party, within seven days of the filing of the report by the mediator, may petition the board to set aside the report if a prima facie case is established that any of the following have occurred: (1) the mediator's report was procured by corruption, fraud, or other undue means, (2) there was corruption in the mediator, or (3) the rights of the petitioning party were substantially prejudiced by the misconduct of the mediator. For the sole purpose of interpreting the terms of paragraphs (1), (2), and (3), case law that interprets similar terms used in Section 1286.2 of the Code of Civil Procedure shall apply. If the board finds that any of these grounds exist, the board shall within 10 days vacate the report of the mediator and shall order the selection and appointment of a new mediator, and an additional mediation period of 30 days, pursuant to Section 1164.

(f) Within 60 days after the order of the board takes effect, either party or the board may file an action to enforce the order of the board, in the superior court for the County of Sacramento or in the county where the parties' principal place of business is located. No final order of the board shall be stayed during any appeal under this section, unless the court finds that (1) the appellant will be irreparably harmed by the implementation of the board's order, and (2) the appellant has demonstrated a likelihood of success on appeal.

1164.5. (a) Within 30 days after the order of the board takes effect, a party may petition for a writ of review in the court of appeal or the California Supreme Court. If the writ issues, it shall be made returnable at a time and place specified by court order and shall direct the board to certify its record in the case to the court within the time specified. The petition for review shall be served personally upon the executive director of the board and the nonappealing party personally or by service.

(b) The review by the court shall not extend further than to determine, on the basis of the entire record, whether any of the following occurred:

(1) The board acted without, or in excess of, its powers or jurisdiction.

(2) The board has not proceeded in the manner required by law.

(3) The order or decision of the board was procured by fraud or was an abuse of discretion.

(4) The order or decision of the board violates any right of the petitioner under the Constitution of the United States or the California Constitution.

(c) Nothing in this section shall be construed to permit the court to hold a trial de novo, to take evidence other than as specified by the California Rules of Court, or to exercise its independent judgment on the evidence.

1164.7. (a) The board and each party to the action or proceeding before the mediator may appear in the review proceeding. Upon the hearing, the court of appeal or the Supreme Court shall enter judgment either affirming or setting aside the order of the board.

(b) The provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure relating to writs of review shall, so far as applicable, apply to proceedings instituted under this chapter.

1164.9. No court of this state, except the court of appeal or the Supreme Court, to the extent specified in this article, shall have jurisdiction to review, reverse, correct, or annul any order or decision of the board to suspend or delay the execution or operation thereof, or to enjoin, restrain, or interfere with the board in the performance of its official duties, as provided by law and the rules of court.

1164.11. This chapter shall apply to all election certifications issued by the board before and after the effective date of this chapter.

1164.13. The provisions of this chapter are severable. If any provision of this chapter or its application is held invalid, that invalidity shall not affect other provisions or applications that can be given effect without the invalid provision or application.

CHAPTER 1146

An act to amend Sections 1164, 1164.3, and 1164.11 of, and to add Sections 1164.12 and 1164.14 to, the Labor Code, relating to agricultural labor relations.

[Approved by Governor September 30, 2002. Filed with Secretary of State September 30, 2002.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Section 1164 of the Labor Code, as added by Senate Bill No. 1156 of the 2001–02 Regular Session, is amended to read:

1164. (a) An agricultural employer or a labor organization certified as the exclusive bargaining agent of a bargaining unit of agricultural employees may file with the board, at any time following (1) 90 days after a renewed demand to bargain by an agricultural employer or a labor organization certified prior to January 1, 2003, which meets the conditions specified in Section 1164.11 or (2) 180 days after an initial request to bargain by an agricultural employer or a labor organization certified after January 1, 2003, a declaration that the parties have failed to reach a collective bargaining agreement and a request that the board issue an order directing the parties to mandatory mediation and conciliation of their issues. ''Agricultural employer,'' for purposes of this chapter, means an agricultural employer, as defined in subdivision (c) of Section 1140.4, who has employed or engaged 25 or more agricultural employees during any calendar week in the year preceding the filing of a declaration pursuant to this subdivision.

(b) Upon receipt of a declaration pursuant to subdivision (a), the board shall immediately issue an order directing the parties to mandatory mediation and conciliation of their issues. The board shall request from the California State Mediation and Conciliation Service a list of nine mediators who have experience in labor mediation. The California State Mediation and Conciliation Service may include names chosen from its own mediators, or from a list of names supplied by the American Arbitration Association or the Federal Mediation Service. The parties shall select a mediator from the list within seven days of receipt of the list. If the parties cannot agree on a mediator, they shall strike names from the list until a mediator is chosen by process of elimination. If a party refuses to participate in selecting a mediator, the other party may choose a mediator from the list. The costs of mediation and conciliation shall be borne equally by the parties.

(c) Upon appointment, the mediator shall immediately schedule meetings at a time and location reasonably accessible to the parties. Mediation shall proceed for a period of 30 days. Upon expiration of the 30-day period, if the parties do not resolve the issues to their mutual satisfaction, the mediator shall certify that the mediation process has been exhausted. Upon mutual agreement of the parties, the mediator may extend the mediation period for an additional 30 days.

(d) Within 21 days, the mediator shall file a report with the board that resolves all of the issues between the parties and establishes the final terms of a collective bargaining agreement, including all issues subject to mediation and all issues resolved by the parties prior to the certification of the exhaustion of the mediation process. With respect to any issues in dispute between the parties, the report shall include the basis for the mediator's determination. The mediator's determination shall be supported by the record.

SEC. 2. Section 1164.3 of the Labor Code, as added by Senate Bill No. 1156 of the 2001–02 Regular Session, is amended to read:

1164.3. (a) Either party, within seven days of the filing of the report by the mediator, may petition the board for review of the report. The petitioning party shall, in the petition, specify the particular provisions of the mediator's report for which it is seeking review by the board and shall specify the specific grounds authorizing review by the board. The board, within 10 days of receipt of a petition, may accept for review those portions of the petition for which a prima facie case has been established that (1) a provision of the collective bargaining agreement set forth in the mediator's report is unrelated to wages, hours, or other conditions of employment within the meaning of Section 1155.2, or (2) a provision of the collective bargaining agreement set forth in the mediator's report is based on clearly erroneous findings of material fact.

(b) If it finds grounds exist to grant review within the meaning of subdivision (a), the board shall order the provisions of the report that are not the subject of the petition for review into effect as a final order of the board. If the board does not accept a petition for review or no petition for review is filed, then the mediator's report shall become a final order of the board.

(c) The board shall issue a decision concerning the petition and if it determines that a provision of the collective bargaining agreement contained in the mediator's report violates the provisions of subdivision (a), it shall, within 21 days, issue an order requiring the mediator to modify the terms of the collective bargaining agreement. The mediator shall meet with the parties for additional mediation for a period not to exceed 30 days. At the expiration of this mediation period, the mediator shall prepare a second report resolving any outstanding issues. The second report shall be filed with the board.

(d) Either party, within seven days of the filing of the mediator's second report, may petition the board for a review of the mediator's second report pursuant to the procedures specified in subdivision (a). If no petition is filed, the mediator's report shall take immediate effect as a final order of the board. If a petition is filed, the board shall issue an order confirming the mediator's report and order it into immediate effect, unless it finds that the report is subject to review for any of the grounds specified in subdivision (a), in which case the board shall determine the issues and shall issue a final order of the board.

(e) Either party, within seven days of the filing of the report by the mediator, may petition the board to set aside the report if a prima facie case is established that any of the following have occurred: (1) the mediator's report was procured by corruption, fraud, or other undue means, (2) there was corruption in the mediator, or (3) the rights of the petitioning party were substantially prejudiced by the misconduct of the mediator. For the sole purpose of interpreting the terms of paragraphs (1), (2), and (3), case law that interprets similar terms used in Section 1286.2 of the Code of Civil Procedure shall apply. If the board finds that any of these grounds exist, the board shall within 10 days vacate the report of the mediator and shall order the selection and appointment of a new mediator, and an additional mediation period of 30 days, pursuant to Section 1164.

(f) Within 60 days after the order of the board takes effect, either party or the board may file an action to enforce the order of the board, in the superior court for the County of Sacramento or in the county where either party's principal place of business is located. No final order of the board shall be stayed during any appeal under this section, unless the court finds that (1) the appellant will be irreparably harmed by the implementation of the board's order, and (2) the appellant has demonstrated a likelihood of success on appeal.

SEC. 3. Section 1164.11 of the Labor Code, as added by Senate Bill No. 1156 of the 2001–02 Regular Session, is amended to read:

1164.11. A demand made pursuant to paragraph (1) of subdivision (a) of Section 1164 may be made only in cases which meet all of the following criteria: (a) the parties have failed to reach agreement for at least one year after the date on which the labor organization made its initial request to bargain, (b) the employer has committed an unfair labor practice, and (c) the parties have not previously had a binding contract between them.

SEC. 4. Section 1164.12 is added to the Labor Code, immediately following Section 1164.11 of the Labor Code, as added by Senate Bill No. 1156 of the 2001–02 Regular Session, to read:

1164.12. To ensure an orderly implementation of the mediation process ordered by this chapter, a party may not file a total of more than 75 declarations with the board. In calculating the number of declarations so filed, the identity of the other party with respect to whom the declaration is filed, shall be irrelevant.

SEC. 5. Section 1164.14 is added to the Labor Code, immediately following Section 1164.13 of the Labor Code, as added by Senate Bill No. 1156 of the 2001–02 Regular Session, to read:

1164.14. This chapter shall remain in effect only until January 1, 2008, and as of that date is repealed, unless a later enacted statute, that is enacted before January 1, 2008, deletes or extends that date.

SEC. 6. This act shall become operative only if this bill and Senate Bill No. 1156 is enacted and becomes effective on or before January 1, 2003.

CHAPTER 1147

An act to amend Section 409 of, and to add Section 455.2 to, the Public Utilities Code, relating to public utilities, and making an appropriation therefor.

[Approved by Governor September 30, 2002. Filed with Secretary of State September 30, 2002.]

I am signing Assembly Bill 2838, but reducing the appropriation from the Public Utilities Commission Utilities Reimbursement Account from $445,000 to $222,500.

This bill requires the Public Utilities Commission (PUC) to act on water utilities' rate applications within specified timelines and allows water utilities to enact interim rates at the rate of inflation when their rate cases are delayed, subject to refunds by the PUC. The bill also requires water utilities to file a rate application with the PUC every three years.

GRAY DAVIS, Governor

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. The Legislature finds and declares all of the following:

(a) The rate case plan for water corporations adopted by the Public Utilities Commission in Decision No. 90-08-045 has not been updated or revised to reflect statutes adopted since its promulgation in 1990.

(b) It is in the public's interest to provide a certain but flexible schedule for investigating and addressing rate changes proposed by water corporations.

(c) Not later than December 31, 2003, the commission should review and revise, as appropriate, the rate case plan for water corporations adopted by Decision No. 90-08-045 to ensure its consistency with relevant statutes and commission practice in addressing rate applications by water corporations.

(d) Whenever a water corporation files an application for a rate change pursuant to the rate case plan for water corporations, the commission should render a decision consistent with the schedule established in the plan.

(e) The provisions of this act should not be construed as precedent for any other utility.

SEC. 2. Section 409 of the Public Utilities Code is amended to read:

409. (a) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, all fees and charges collected pursuant to this code by the commission from each public utility subject to Section 431, with the exception of any penalty collected pursuant to Section 405 or 406, shall be deposited in the Public Utilities Commission Utilities Reimbursement Account, in addition to the fee authorized by Section 431.

(b) A penalty collected pursuant to Section 405 or 406 shall be deposited in the General Fund.

SEC. 3. Section 455.2 is added to the Public Utilities Code, to read:

455.2. (a) The commission shall issue its final decision on a general rate case application of a water corporation with greater than 10,000 service connections in a manner that ensures that the commission's decision becomes effective on the first day of the first test year in the general rate increase application.

(b) If the commission's decision is not effective in accordance with subdivision (a), the applicant may file a tariff implementing interim rates that may be increased by an amount equal to the rate of inflation as compared to existing rates. The interim rates shall be effective on the first day of the first test year in the general rate case application. These interim rates shall be subject to refund and shall be adjusted upward or downward back to the interim rate effective date, consistent with the final rates adopted by the commission. The commission may authorize a lesser increase in interim rates if the commission finds the rates to be in the public interest. If the presiding officer in the case determines that the commission's decision cannot become effective on the first day of the first test year due to actions by the water corporation, the presiding officer or commission may require a different effective date for the interim rates or final rates.

(c) The commission shall establish a schedule to require every water corporation subject to the rate case plan for water corporations to file an application pursuant to the plan every three years. The plan shall include a provision to allow the filing requirement to be waived upon mutual agreement of the commission and the water corporation.

(d) The requirements of subdivisions (a) and (b) may be waived at any time by mutual consent of the executive director of the commission and the water corporation.

SEC. 4. The sum of four hundred forty-five thousand dollars ($445,000) is hereby appropriated from the Public Utilities Commission Utilities Reimbursement Account in the General Fund for costs incurred by the Public Utilities Commission in the 2002–03 fiscal year in the administration of Section 455.2 of the Public Utilities Code. That sum shall be allocated from those moneys in the Public Utilities Commission Utilities Reimbursement Account derived from the imposition of regulatory fees pursuant to Section 431 of the Public Utilities Code, and may not include moneys in the Public Utilities Commission Utilities Reimbursement Account derived from the imposition of penalties pursuant to Sections 405 and 406 of the Public Utilities Code.

No conveyance shall be operated in this state unless a permit for its operation is issued by or in behalf of the division, and unless the permit remains in effect and is kept posted conspicuously on the conveyance. Operation of a conveyance without a permit or failure to post the permit conspicuously shall constitute cause for the division to prohibit use of the conveyance, unless it can be shown that a request for issuance or renewal of a permit has been made and the request has not been acted upon by the division.

(c) (1) The permit shall expire when the work authorized by that permit is not commenced within six months after the date of issuance, or within a shorter period as the division may specify at the time the permit is issued.

(2) The permit shall expire following commencement of work, if the permitholder suspends or abandons the work for a period of 60 days, or for a shorter period of time as the division may specify at the time the permit is issued.

The certified qualified elevator company shall furnish proof of competency as the division may require. The division shall issue an emergency certified competent elevator mechanic certificate upon receipt of acceptable documentation and payment of the required fee. Each certificate issued pursuant to this subdivision shall recite that it is valid for a period of 30 days from the date of issuance and for those particular conveyances and geographical areas as the division may designate, and otherwise shall entitle the person being certified to the rights and privileges of a certified competent elevator mechanic as set forth in this chapter. The division shall renew an emergency certified competent elevator mechanic certificate during the existence of the emergency.

(c) Before January 1, 2004, the division shall establish an application procedure and all requirements for certification under this subdivision as a temporary certified competent elevator mechanic. If there are no certified qualified elevator mechanics available to perform elevator work, a certified qualified elevator company may apply to the division for certification of one or more temporary certified competent elevator mechanics. Any person seeking to work as a temporary certified competent elevator mechanic shall, before beginning work, be approved by the division as having an acceptable combination of documented experience and education to perform work covered by this chapter without direct and immediate supervision. The certified qualified elevator company shall furnish proof of competency as the division may require. The division may issue a temporary certified competent elevator mechanic certificate upon acceptable documentation and payment of the required fee. Each certificate issued pursuant to this subdivision shall recite that it is valid for a period of 30 days from the date of issuance and while the certificate holder is employed by the certified qualified elevator company that certified the individual as competent. The certificate shall be renewable as long as the shortage of certified competent elevator mechanics continues.

SEC. 11. Section 7302 of the Labor Code is repealed.

SEC. 12. Section 7302 is added to the Labor Code, to read:

7302. The operation of a conveyance without a permit by any person owning or having the custody, management, or control of the operation of the conveyance, is a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of not more than one thousand dollars ($1,000), imprisonment in the county jail for not more than 10 days, or by both that fine and imprisonment. Proof by certification of the division that a permit has not been issued, has expired, or has been revoked, together with the affidavit of any safety inspector of the division or other expert that the operation of the conveyance is dangerous to the life or safety of any person, is sufficient ground, in the discretion of the court, for the immediate granting of a temporary restraining order.

SEC. 18. Section 7306 of the Labor Code is amended to read:

SEC. 19. Section 7307 of the Labor Code is amended to read:

7307. (a) If it thereafter appears to the division that the conveyance is unsafe and that the requirements contained in the preliminary order should be complied with, or that other things should be done to make the conveyance safe, the division may order or confirm the withholding of the permit and may impose requirements as it deems proper for the repair or alteration of the conveyance or for the correction of the unsafe condition. The order may thereafter be reheard by the division or reviewed by the courts in the manner specified for safety orders by Part 1 (commencing with Section 6300) of this division, and not otherwise.

(b) The operation of a conveyance by any person owning or having the custody, management, or control of the operation thereof, while an order to repair is outstanding pursuant to subdivision (a), is a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not more than seven thousand dollars ($7,000), by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than 30 days, or by both that fine and imprisonment. This section shall not apply to platform lifts and stairway chair lifts installed in a private residence as provided in paragraph (2) or (3) of subdivision (a) of Section 7317.

(b) Before March 1, 2003, the division shall establish an application procedure and all requirements for certification under this section as a certified qualified elevator company, consistent with this section. This continuing education course shall consist of not less than eight hours of instruction that shall be attended and completed within one year immediately preceding any certificate renewal.

(c) The courses shall be taught by instructors through continuing education providers that may include, but shall not be limited to, division programs, association seminars, and joint labor-management apprenticeship and journeyman upgrade training programs. The division shall approve the continuing education providers and curriculum. The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. It is the intent of the Legislature, upon the enactment of Senate Bill 2022 of the 2001–02 Regular Session, which will codify the scope of practice of dental hygienists, to pursue the creation of an independent board that would regulate the practice of dental hygienists.

Every newly appointed board member shall, within one year of assuming office, complete a training and orientation program offered by the department regarding, among other things, his or her functions, responsibilities, and obligations as a member of a board. SEC. 2. Section 800 of the Business and Professions Code is amended to read:

800. (a) The Medical Board of California, the Board of Psychology, the Dental Board of California, the Osteopathic Medical Board of California, the Board of Chiropractic Examiners, the California Board of Registered Nursing, the Board of Vocational Nursing and Psychiatric Technicians, the State Board of Optometry, the Veterinary Medical Board, the Board of Behavioral Sciences, the Physical Therapy Board of California, and the State Board of Pharmacy shall each separately create and maintain a central file of the names of all persons who hold a license, certificate, or similar authority from that board. Each central file shall be created and maintained to provide an individual historical record for each licensee with respect to (1) any conviction of a crime in this or any other state that constitutes unprofessional conduct pursuant to the reporting requirements of Section 803; (2) any judgment or settlement requiring the licensee or his or her insurer, to pay any amount of damages in excess of three thousand dollars ($3,000) for any claim that injury or death was proximately caused by the licensee's negligence, error or omission in practice, or by rendering unauthorized professional services, pursuant to the reporting requirements of Section 801 or 802; (3) any public complaints for which provision is hereinafter made, pursuant to subdivision (b) of this section; (4) disciplinary information reported pursuant to Section 805.

If a board, or division thereof, a committee, or a panel has failed to act upon a complaint or report within five years, or has found that the complaint or report is without merit, the central file shall be purged of information relating to the complaint or report.

Notwithstanding this subdivision, the Board of Psychology, the Board of Behavioral Sciences, and the Respiratory Care Board of California shall maintain complaints or reports as long as each board deems necessary.

For the purposes of this section, a board may protect an information source by providing a copy of the material with only those deletions necessary to protect the identity of the source or by providing a comprehensive summary of the substance of the material. Whichever method is used, the board shall ensure that full disclosure is made to the subject of any personal information that could reasonably in any way reflect or convey anything detrimental, disparaging, or threatening to a licensee's reputation, rights, benefits, privileges, or qualifications, or be used by a board to make a determination that would affect a licensee's rights, benefits, privileges, or qualifications.

The licensee may, but is not required to, submit any additional exculpatory or explanatory statement or other information which the board shall include in the central file.

Each board may permit any law enforcement or regulatory agency when required for an investigation of unlawful activity or for licensing, certification, or regulatory purposes to inspect and have copies made of that licensee's file, unless the disclosure is otherwise prohibited by law.

These disclosures shall effect no change in the confidential status of these records.

If a board, or division thereof, a committee, or a panel has failed to act upon a complaint or report within five years, or has found that the complaint or report is without merit, the central file shall be purged of information relating to the complaint or report.

Notwithstanding this subdivision, the Board of Psychology, the Board of Behavioral Sciences, and the Respiratory Care Board of California shall maintain complaints or reports as long as each board deems necessary.

(c) The contents of any central file that are not public records under any other provision of law shall be confidential except that the licensee involved, or his or her counsel or representative, shall have the right to inspect and have copies made of his or her complete file except for the provision that may disclose the identity of an information source. For the purposes of this section, a board may protect an information source by providing a copy of the material with only those deletions necessary to protect the identity of the source or by providing a comprehensive summary of the substance of the material. Whichever method is used, the board shall ensure that full disclosure is made to the subject of any personal information that could reasonably in any way reflect or convey anything detrimental, disparaging, or threatening to a licensee's reputation, rights, benefits, privileges, or qualifications, or be used by a board to make a determination that would affect a licensee's rights, benefits, privileges, or qualifications. The information required to be disclosed pursuant to Section 803.1 shall not be considered among the contents of a central file for the purposes of this subdivision.

The licensee may, but is not required to, submit any additional exculpatory or explanatory statement or other information that the board shall include in the central file.

Each board may permit any law enforcement or regulatory agency when required for an investigation of unlawful activity or for licensing, certification, or regulatory purposes to inspect and have copies made of that licensee's file, unless the disclosure is otherwise prohibited by law.

These disclosures shall effect no change in the confidential status of these records.

For local prosecutors, as described in paragraph (2) of subdivision (a) of Section 31469.2, service in the office of a district attorney and a local child support agency shall be considered service for the district attorney for purposes of this section.

(c) Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter, within 90 days after this section becomes operative in the county, or on the first day of the calendar month following his or her entrance into service, whichever is later, a local prosecutor, local public defender, or local public defender investigator may file a written election not to become a local safety member pursuant to this section.

(d) Notwithstanding Section 31485.9 or any other provision of this chapter, local prosecutors, local public defenders, and local public defender investigators shall be subject to the benefit formula contained in Section 31664 or 31664.2, or any other benefit formula applicable to safety members that does not provide benefits greater than those benefits provided under Section 31664.2, as designated in the resolution described in subdivision (e). A local prosecutor, local public defender, or local public defender investigator shall not be deemed to be a county peace officer, as defined in Section 31469.1, for any purpose under this chapter.

A resolution to make this section operative in the county shall include all local prosecutors, local public defenders, and local public defender investigators described in Section 31469.2.

(f) A provision in a memorandum of understanding that an employer is not obligated to meet and confer regarding wages, hours, or conditions of employment during the term of the memorandum shall not be construed to preclude meetings regarding the provisions of this section between an employer and local prosecutors, local public defenders, and local public defender investigators prior to the expiration of the term of the memorandum of understanding.

(a) A surviving spouse of a member who is killed in the performance of duty or who dies as the result of an accident or an injury caused by external violence or physical force, incurred in the performance of the member's duty, now or hereafter entitled to receive a death allowance under Section 31787, shall be paid an additional amount for each of the member's children during the lifetime of the child, or until the child marries or reaches the age of 18 years, as follows, subject to the limitation in subdivision (b):

(1) For one child, twenty-five percent (25%) of the allowance provided in Section 31787.

(2) For two children, forty percent (40%) of the allowance provided in Section 31787.

(3) For three or more children, fifty percent (50%) of the allowance provided in Section 31787.

Sec. 401 et. seq.), the benefit payable under this section shall be reduced to the amount required to meet that benefit limit.

(c) If the surviving spouse does not have legal custody of the member's children, the allowance provided by this section shall be payable to the person to whom custody of the children has been awarded by a court of competent jurisdiction for each child during the lifetime of the child, or until the child marries or reaches the age of 18 years.

(d) The allowance provided by this section shall be payable to the surviving spouses of members whose duties consist of active law enforcement or active fire suppression or any other class or group of members as the retirement board shall fix. (f) This section shall not be operative in a city unless and until the city council or board of supervisors, by ordinance adopted by majority vote, makes this section operative in the city. A resolution to make this section operative in the city shall include all local prosecutors, local public defenders, and local public defender investigators as described in Section 20423.6 or 31469.2.

(g) This section does not apply to any local prosecutor, local public defender, or local public defender investigator, as described in Section 20423.6 or 31469.2, who dies prior to the date this section becomes operative in the city.

(c) Except as provided in subdivision (e) and notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter, past service shall be converted to safety service, if the past service was rendered in a position that has been made subject to safety benefits pursuant to this section. For local prosecutors described in paragraph (2) of subdivision (b) of Section 20423.6, and paragraph (2) of subdivision (a) of Section 31469.2, service in the office of a district attorney and a local child support agency shall be considered service for the district attorney for purposes of this section. SEC. 18. Section 12.5 of this bill shall become operative only if SB 362 is enacted and becomes effective on or before January 1, 2003, and adds Section 31485.9 to the Government Code, in which case Section 12 of this bill shall not become operative.

SEC. 19. Section 4.5 of this bill incorporates amendments to Section 21151 of the Government Code proposed by both this bill and SB 1984. The Workers' Compensation Appeals Board, using the same procedures as in workers' compensation hearings, shall in disputed cases determine whether the death of the member occurred as a result of that injury.

(b) The jurisdiction of the Workers' Compensation Appeals Board shall be limited solely to the issue of industrial causation, and this section may not be construed to authorize the Workers' Compensation Appeals Board to award costs against this system pursuant to Section 4600, 5811, or any other provision of the Labor Code.

An act to amend Sections 2796.5 and 21151.7 of, and to add Sections 2773.3, 2773.5, and 2797 to, and to repeal Section 21066.5 of, the Public Resources Code, relating to mining.

[Approved by Governor September 30, 2002. Filed with Secretary of State September 30, 2002.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Section 2773.3 is added to the Public Resources Code, to read:

2773.3. (a) In addition to other reclamation plan requirements of this chapter and regulations adopted by the board pursuant to this chapter, a lead agency may not approve a reclamation plan for a surface mining operation for gold, silver, copper, or other metallic minerals or financial assurances for the operation, if the operation is located on, or within one mile of, any Native American sacred site and is located in an area of special concern, unless both of the following criteria are met:

(1) The reclamation plan requires that all excavations be backfilled and graded to do both of the following:

(A) Achieve the approximate original contours of the mined lands prior to mining.

(B) Grade all mined materials that are in excess of the materials that can be placed back into excavated areas, including, but not limited to, all overburden, spoil piles, and heap leach piles, over the project site to achieve the approximate original contours of the mined lands prior to mining.

(2) The financial assurances are sufficient in amount to provide for the backfilling and grading required by paragraph (1).

(b) For purposes of this section, the following terms have the following meaning:

(1) ''Native American sacred site'' means a specific area that is identified by a federally recognized Indian Tribe, Rancheria or Mission Band of Indians, or by the Native American Heritage Commission, as sacred by virtue of its established historical or cultural significance to, or ceremonial use by, a Native American group, including, but not limited to, any area containing a prayer circle, shrine, petroglyph, or spirit break, or a path or area linking the circle, shrine, petroglyph, or spirit break with another circle, shrine, petroglyph, or spirit break.

(2) ''Area of special concern'' means any area in the California desert that is designated as Class C or Class L lands or as an Area of Critical Environmental Concern under the California Desert Conservation Area Plan of 1980, as amended, by the United States Department of the Interior, Bureau of Land Management, pursuant to Section 1781 of Title 43 of the United States Code.

SEC. 2. Section 2773.5 is added to the Public Resources Code, to read:

2773.5. Section 2773.3 does not apply to either of the following:

(a) Any surface mining operation in existence on January 1, 2003, for which the lead agency has issued final approval of a reclamation plan and the financial assurances prior to September 1, 2002.

(b) Any amended reclamation plan or financial assurances that are necessary for the continued operation or expansion of a surface mining operation in existence on January 1, 2003, that otherwise satisfies the requirements of subdivision (a).

SEC. 3. Section 2796.5 of the Public Resources Code is amended to read:

2796.5. (a) The director, with the consultation of appropriate state and local agencies, may remediate or complete reclamation of abandoned mined lands that meet all of the following requirements:

(1) No operator having both the responsibility and the financial ability to remediate or reclaim the mined lands can be found within the state.

(2) No reclamation plan is in effect for the mined lands.

(3) No financial assurances exist for the mined lands.

(4) The mined lands are abandoned, as that term is used in paragraph (6) of subdivision (h) of Section 2770.

(b) In deciding whether to act pursuant to subdivision (a), the director shall consider whether the action would accomplish one of the following:

(1) The protection of the public health and safety or the environment from the adverse effects of past surface mining operations.

(2) The protection of property that is in danger as a result of past surface mining operations.

(3) The restoration of land and water resources previously degraded by the adverse effects of surface mining operations.

(c) The director may also consider the potential liability to the state in deciding whether to act under this section. Neither the director, the department, nor the state, or its appointees, employees, or agents, in conducting remediation or reclamation under this section, shall be liable under applicable state law, and it is the intent of the Legislature that those persons and entities not be liable for those actions under federal laws.

(d) (1) The remediation or reclamation work performed under this section includes, but is not limited to, supervision of remediation or reclamation activities that, in the director's judgment, is required by the magnitude of the endeavor or the urgency for prompt action needed to protect the public health and safety or the environment. The action may be taken in default of, or in addition to, remedial work by any other person or governmental agency, and regardless of whether injunctive relief is being sought.

(2) The director may authorize the work to be performed through department staff, with the cooperation of any other governmental agency, or through contracts, and may use rented tools or equipment, either with or without operators furnished.

(3) In cases of emergency where quick action is necessary, notwithstanding any other provision of law, the director may enter into oral contracts for the work, and the contracts, whether written or oral, may include provisions for the rental of tools or equipment and in addition the furnishing of labor and materials necessary to accomplish the work. These emergency contracts are exempt from approval by the Department of General Services pursuant to Section 10295 of the Public Contract Code.

(4) The director shall be permitted reasonable access to the abandoned mined lands as necessary to perform any remediation or reclamation work. The access shall be obtained with the consent of the owner or possessor of the property or, if the consent is withheld or otherwise unobtainable, with a warrant duly issued pursuant to the procedure described in Title 13 (commencing with Section 1822.50) of Part 3 of the Code of Civil Procedure. However, in the event of an emergency affecting the public health or safety, the director may enter the property without consent or the issuance of a warrant.

(e) For any remediation or reclamation work accomplished, or other necessary remedial action taken by any governmental agency, the operator, landowner, and the person or persons who allowed or caused any pollution or nuisance are liable to that governmental agency to the extent of the reasonable costs actually incurred in remediating, reclaiming, or taking other remedial action. The amount of the costs is recoverable in a civil action by, and paid to, the governmental agency and the director to the extent of the director's contribution to the costs of the remediation, reclamation, cleanup, and abatement or other corrective action.

(f) (1) The amount of the costs constitutes a lien on the affected property upon service of a copy of the notice of lien on the owner and upon the recordation of a notice of lien, which identifies the property on which the remediation or reclamation was accomplished, the amount of the lien, and the owner of record of the property, in the office of the county recorder of the county in which the property is located. Upon recordation, the lien has the same force, effect, and priority as a judgment lien, except that it attaches only to the property posted and described in the lien. The lien shall continue for 10 years from the time of the recording of the notice of the lien unless sooner released or otherwise discharged, and may be renewed.

(2) Not later than 45 days after receiving a notice of lien, the owner may petition the court for an order releasing the property from the lien or reducing the amount of the lien. In this court action, the governmental agency that incurred the costs shall establish that the costs were reasonable and necessary. The lien may be foreclosed by an action brought by the director, for a money judgment. Money recovered by a judgment in favor of the director shall be used for the purposes of this chapter.

(g) If the operation has been idle for more than one year without obtaining an approved interim management plan, an application for the review of an interim management plan filed for the purpose of preventing the director from undertaking remediation or reclamation of abandoned mined lands under this section shall be voidable by the lead agency or the board upon notice and hearing by the lead agency or the board. In the event of conflicting determinations, the decision of the board shall prevail.

(h) ''Remediate,'' for the purposes of this section, means to improve conditions so that threat to or damage to public health and safety or the environment are lessened or ameliorated, including the cleanup and abatement of pollution or nuisance or threatened pollution or nuisance.

(i) ''Threaten,'' for the purposes of this section, means a condition creating a probability of harm, when the probability and potential extent of harm make it reasonably necessary to take action to prevent, reduce, or mitigate damages to persons, property, or the environment.

(j) This section shall apply to abandoned mined lands on which the mining operations were conducted after January 1, 1976.

(k) The director may act under this section only upon the appropriation of funds by the Legislature for the purposes of carrying out this section.

(l) Nothing in this section limits the authority of any state agency under any other law or regulation to enforce or administer any cleanup or abatement activity.

(m) This section shall remain in effect only until January 1, 2007, and as of that date is repealed, unless a later enacted statute that is enacted before January 1, 2007, deletes or extends that date.

SEC. 4. Section 2797 is added to the Public Resources Code, to read:

2797. (a) Not later than January 1 of each year, the director shall report to the Legislature on any abandoned mine remediation projects that are proposed for the following fiscal year.

(b) The report required to be prepared pursuant to subdivision (a) shall include information on all of the following:

(1) The source of funding and scope of work to be performed.

(2) Any other governmental agencies having jurisdiction over any proposed project, if any, and the role of any of those affected governmental agencies with respect to the proposed project.

(3) Any impacts on the local community or any other stakeholders that may result from the proposed project.

(4) Any potential legal consequences that may result from the commencement of remediation work.

(c) The report required to be prepared pursuant to this section shall be made available on the department's Internet Web site.

SEC. 5. Section 21066.5 of the Public Resources Code, as proposed to be added by Senate Bill 1828 of the 2001–02 Regular Session, is repealed.

SEC. 5.5. Section 21151.7 of the Public Resources Code is amended to read:

21151.7. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, a lead agency shall prepare or cause to be prepared by contract, and certify the completion of, an environmental impact report for any open-pit mining operation that is subject to the permit requirements or reclamation plan requirements of the Surface Mining and Reclamation Act of 1975 (Chapter 9 (commencing with Section 2710) of Division 2) and utilizes a cyanide heap-leaching process for the purpose of producing gold or other metallic minerals.

SEC. 6. This act is not intended to interfere with the ability of the federal government to designate particular land uses applicable to federal government owned lands or to conflict with the ability of the federal government to permit or allow particular land use activities to occur on federal lands. This act is intended to be a state regulatory framework consistent with California Coastal Comm'n v. Granite Rock (1987) 480 U.S. 572.

SEC. 7. Notwithstanding Section 17610 of the Government Code, if the Commission on State Mandates determines that this act contains costs mandated by the state, reimbursement to local agencies and school districts for those costs shall be made pursuant to Part 7 (commencing with Section 17500) of Division 4 of Title 2 of the Government Code. If the statewide cost of the claim for reimbursement does not exceed one million dollars ($1,000,000), reimbursement shall be made from the State Mandates Claims Fund.

SEC. 8. This act shall become operative only if Senate Bill 1828 of the 2001–02 Regular Session is enacted and becomes effective on or before January 1, 2003.

CHAPTER 1155

An act to add Chapter 1.76 (commencing with Section 5097.995) to Division 5 of the Public Resources Code, relating to historical resources.

[Approved by Governor September 30, 2002. Filed with Secretary of State September 30, 2002.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. The Legislature finds and declares all of the following:

(a) Native American burial sites and Native American cultural resources have always been, and will continue to be, considered sacred to California Native Americans.

(b) California Native American sacred cultural resources and burial sites have been continuously looted and destroyed by grave robbers and people wanting to sell sacred and cultural artifacts.

(c) California Native American sacred sites are nonrenewable and need additional protection.

(d) California Native American tribes have demonstrated ancestral affiliation to Native American burial sites and historical and cultural resources.

(e) The United States Government and many western states, including California, have realized the need for protection of Native American burial sites and cultural resources and have enacted laws to reflect this awareness with more stringent legal enforcement and penalties for desecration of Native American sacred sites.

(f) Legislation is needed to provide the additional legal protection for Native American burial and cultural sites, art, and other cultural artifacts found at those sites.

(g) Legislation is needed to provide additional legal protection for Native American historical and cultural sites, art, and other cultural artifacts found at those sites, if that protection for Native American cultural resources found on private lands is consistent with constitutionally protected property rights of the persons who own the land on which they are found.

(h) Consistent with Sections 5020.7 and 5097.94 of the Public Resources Code, in order to encourage collaborative relationships for the protection of Native American cultural resources between Native Americans and landowners, funding and other state assistance should be encouraged for support of voluntary agreements to conserve, maintain, and provide physical access for Native Americans to these cultural resources.

SEC. 2. Chapter 1.76 (commencing with Section 5097.995) is added to Division 5 of the Public Resources Code, to read:

CHAPTER 1.76. NATIVE AMERICAN HISTORIC RESOURCE PROTECTION ACT

5097.995. (a) (1) Any person who unlawfully and maliciously excavates upon, removes, destroys, injures, or defaces a Native American historic, cultural, or sacred site, that is listed or may be eligible for listing in the California Register of Historic Resources pursuant to Section 5024.1, including any historic or prehistoric ruins, any burial ground, any archaeological or historic site, any inscriptions made by Native Americans at such a site, any archaeological or historic Native American rock art, or any archaeological or historic feature of a Native American historic, cultural, or sacred site is guilty of a misdemeanor if the act was committed with specific intent to vandalize, deface, destroy, steal, convert, possess, collect, or sell a Native American historic, cultural, or sacred artifact, art object, inscription, or feature, or site and the act was committed as follows:

(A) On public land.

(B) On private land, by a person, other than the landowner, as described in subdivision (b).

(2) A violation of this section is punishable by imprisonment in the county jail for up to one year, by a fine not to exceed ten thousand dollars ($10,000), or by both that fine and imprisonment.

(b) This section does not apply to any of the following:

(5) Any act authorized under the Z'berg-Nejedly Forest Practice Act of 1973 (Chapter 8 (commencing with Section 4511) of Part 2 of Division 4).

(6) Any action taken with respect to a conservation easement in accordance with Chapter 4 (commencing with Section 815) of Division 2 of the Civil Code, or any similar nonperpetual enforceable restriction that has as its purpose the conservation, maintenance, or provision of physical access of Native Americans to one or more Native American historic, cultural, or sacred sites, or pursuant to a contractual agreement for that purpose to which most likely descendents of historic Native American inhabitants are signatories.

(7) Any otherwise lawful act undertaken by the owner, or an employee or authorized agent of the owner acting at the direction of the owner, of land on which artifacts, sites, or other Native American resources covered by this section are found, including, but not limited to, farming, ranching, forestry, improvements, investigations into the characteristics of the property conducted in a manner that minimizes adverse impacts unnecessary to that purpose, and the sale, lease, exchange, or financing of real property.

(8) Research conducted under the auspices of an accredited postsecondary educational institution or other legitimate research institution on public land in accordance with applicable permitting requirements or on private land in accordance with otherwise applicable law.

5097.996. (a) Each person who violates subdivision (a) of Section 5097.995 is subject to a civil penalty not to exceed fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) per violation.

(b) A civil penalty may be imposed for each separate violation of subdivision (a) in addition to any other civil penalty imposed for a separate violation of any other provision of law.

(c) In determining the amount of any civil penalty imposed pursuant to this section, the court shall take into account the extent of the damage to the resource. SEC. 3. No reimbursement is required by this act pursuant to Section 6 of Article XIII B of the California Constitution because the only costs that may be incurred by a local agency or school district will be incurred because this act creates a new crime or infraction, eliminates a crime or infraction, or changes the penalty for a crime or infraction, within the meaning of Section 17556 of the Government Code, or changes the definition of a crime within the meaning of Section 6 of Article XIII B of the California Constitution.

CHAPTER 1156

An act to amend Section 3309.5 of the Government Code, relating to public safety officers.

[Approved by Governor September 30, 2002. Filed with
Secretary of State September 30, 2002.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Section 3309.5 of the Government Code is amended to read:

3309.5. (a) It shall be unlawful for any public safety department to deny or refuse to any public safety officer the rights and protections guaranteed to him or her by this chapter.

(b) The superior court shall have initial jurisdiction over any proceeding brought by any public safety officer against any public safety department for alleged violations of this chapter.

(c) (1) In any case where the superior court finds that a public safety department has violated any of the provisions of this chapter, the court shall render appropriate injunctive or other extraordinary relief to remedy the violation and to prevent future violations of a like or similar nature, including, but not limited to, the granting of a temporary restraining order, preliminary, or permanent injunction prohibiting the public safety department from taking any punitive action against the public safety officer.

(2) If the court finds that a bad faith or frivolous action or a filing for an improper purpose has been brought pursuant to this chapter, the court may order sanctions against the party filing the action, the parties attorney, or both pursuant to Sections 128.6 and 128.7 of the Code of Civil Procedure. Those sanctions may include, but not be limited to, reasonable expenses, including attorney's fees, incurred by a public safety department, as the court deems appropriate. Nothing in this paragraph is intended to subject actions or filings under this section to rules or standards that are different from those applicable to other civil actions or filings subject to Section 128.6 or 128.7 of the Code of Civil Procedure.

(d) In addition to the extraordinary relief afforded by this chapter, upon a finding by a superior court that a public safety department, its employees, agents, or assigns, with respect to acts taken within the scope of employment, maliciously violated any provision of this chapter with the intent to injure the public safety officer, the public safety department shall, for each and every violation, be liable for a civil penalty not to exceed twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) to be awarded to the public safety officer whose right or protection was denied and for reasonable attorney's fees as may be determined by the court. If the court so finds, and there is sufficient evidence to establish actual damages suffered by the officer whose right or protection was denied, the public safety department shall also be liable for the amount of the actual damages. Notwithstanding these provisions, a public safety department may not be required to indemnify a contractor for the contractor's liability pursuant to this subdivision if there is, within the contract between the public safety department and the contractor, a ''hold harmless'' or similar provision that protects the public safety department from liability for the actions of the contractor. An individual shall not be liable for any act for which a public safety department is liable under this section.

An act to repeal and add Section 853 of, and to add Sections 854 and 855 to, the Business and Professions Code, relating to healing arts.

[Approved by Governor September 30, 2002. Filed with Secretary of State September 30, 2002.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. The Legislature finds and declares all of the following:

The 2000 United States Census determined the population of California to be over 35 million people with approximately 11 million being Latino.

From July 1990 to July 1999, California's population increased by approximately 4 million people. Approximately 61 percent of this growth can be attributed to the growth in the Latino population. The Latino population has increased at an average rate of 275,000 persons per year from 1990 to 1999. The Latino population is estimated to have grown in virtually all counties over this period.

The United States General Accounting Office reports that the United States Community Health Centers patients are comprised of 65 percent ethnic and racial minorities.

Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 requires any federally funded health facility to ensure persons with limited English proficiency may meaningfully access health care services. Persons with limited English proficiency are often excluded from programs, experience delays or denials of services, or receive care and services based on inaccurate or incomplete information.

The Health Resources and Services Administration reports the number of physicians in California grew 17 percent between 1989 and 1998.

The Health Resources and Services Administration found in 1998 that only 4 percent of active patient care physicians were Latino.

The Association of American Medical Colleges in 1998 found only 6.8 percent of all graduates from United States medical schools were of an ethnic or racial minority group.

In 1999 only 11 percent of dentists in California were a member of a racial or ethnic minority group with 5 percent being classified as Asian or Pacific Islanders.

In 1996 only 4 percent of dentists in California were Latino.

According to the Institute of Medicine report requested by the United States Congress, research evidence suggests that provider-patient communication is directly linked to patient satisfaction, adherence, and subsequently health outcomes. Thus, when sociocultural differences between the patient and the provider are not appreciated, explored, understood, or communicated in the medical encounter, the result is patient dissatisfaction, poor adherence, poorer health outcomes, and racial and ethnic disparities in health care.

A Commonwealth Fund of New York study found that: (1) one-third of Latinos said they had problems communicating with their doctors with barriers to this poor communication including language, cultural traditions, and sensitivity; (2) communication is essential to quality health care; and (3) inadequate communication can lead to the perception of inhumane health care service delivery.

The Summit on Immigration Needs & Contributions of the Bridging Borders in the Silicon Valley Project found that approximately 50 percent of participants reported that having a provider that speaks his or her language will improve the quality of health care services they receive.

Only two states in the country have reported cultural competency standards for care.

No states in the country have reported foreign language competencies for physicians or dentists.

According to the Dallas Morning News, many immigrants travel to Mexico to receive health care due to the cultural and language barriers they encounter in the United States health care system. According to the San Jose Mercury News, 65 percent of the membership of the largest medical association in California reported that if they were required to pay for medical interpreters, they would stop seeing patients that required interpretation services.

According to the Journal of the American Medical Association, in 1999, one medical school had a separate course covering cultural diversity, 109 medical schools included cultural diversity content as part of a required course or clerkship, and 84 medical schools included information on cultural beliefs or practices related to death or dying in a required course or clerkship.

SEC. 2. Section 853 of the Business and Professions Code is repealed.

SEC. 3. Section 853 is added to the Business and Professions Code, to read:

853. (a) The Licensed Physicians and Dentists from Mexico Pilot Program is hereby created. This program shall allow up to 30 licensed physicians specializing in family practice, internal medicine, pediatrics, and obstetrics and gynecology, and up to 30 licensed dentists from Mexico to practice medicine or dentistry in California for a period not to exceed three years. The program shall also maintain an alternate list of program participants.

(ii) Additionally, Mexican physicians participating in the program shall be required to be enrolled in adult English as a Second Language (ESL) classes that focus on both verbal and written subject matter. Each physician participating in the program shall have transcripts sent to the Medical Board of California from the appropriate Mexican university showing enrollment and satisfactory completion of these classes.

(C) Representatives from the National Autonomous University of Mexico (UNAM) in Mexico and a medical school in good standing or a facility conducting an approved medical residency training program in California shall confer to develop a mutually agreed upon distant learning program for the six-month orientation program required pursuant to subparagraph (B).

(4) Upon satisfactory completion of the requirements in paragraphs (1) and (2), the applicant shall receive a three-year nonrenewable license to work in nonprofit community health centers and shall also be required to participate in a six-month externship at his or her place of employment. This externship shall be undertaken after the participant has received a license and is able to practice medicine. The externship shall ensure that the participant is complying with the established standards for quality assurance of nonprofit community health centers and medical practices. The externship shall be affiliated with a medical school in good standing in California. Complaints against program participants shall follow the same procedures contained in the Medical Practice Act (Chapter 5 (commencing with Section 2000)).

(5) After arriving in California, Mexican physicians participating in the program shall be required to be enrolled in adult English as a Second Language (ESL) classes at institutions approved by the Bureau of Private Post Secondary and Vocational Education or accredited by the Western Association of Schools and Colleges. These classes shall focus on verbal and written subject matter to assist a physician in obtaining a level of proficiency in English that is commensurate with the level of English spoken at community clinics where he or she will practice. The community clinic employing a physician shall submit documentation confirming approval of an ESL program to the Medical Board of California for verification. Transcripts of satisfactory completion of the ESL classes shall be submitted to the Medical Board of California as proof of compliance with this provision.

(6) (A) Nonprofit community health centers employing Mexican physicians in the program shall be required to have medical quality assurance protocols and either be accredited by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Health Care Organizations or have protocols similar to those required by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Health Care Organizations. These protocols shall be submitted to the Medical Board of California prior to the hiring of Mexican physicians.

(B) In addition, after the program participant successfully completes the six-month externship program, a free standing health care organization that has authority to provide medical quality certification, including, but not limited to, health plans, hospitals, and the Integrated Physician Association, shall be responsible for ensuring and overseeing the compliance of nonprofit community health centers medical quality assurance protocols, conducting site visits when necessary, and developing any additional protocols, surveys, or assessment tools to ensure that quality of care standards through quality assurance protocols are being appropriately followed by physicians participating in the program.

(7) Participating hospitals shall have the authority to establish criteria necessary to allow individuals participating in this three-year pilot program to be granted hospital privileges in their facilities.

(8) The Medical Board of California shall provide oversight review of both the implementation of this program and the evaluation required pursuant to subdivision (j). The Board shall consult with the medical schools applying for funding to implement and evaluate this program, executive and medical directors of nonprofit community health centers wanting to employ program participants, and hospital administrators who will have these participants practicing in their hospital, as it conducts its oversight responsibilities of this program and evaluation. Any funding necessary for the implementation of this program, including the evaluation and oversight functions, shall be secured from nonprofit philanthropic entities. Implementation of this program may not proceed unless appropriate funding is secured from nonprofit philanthropic entities. The Medical Board of California shall report to the Legislature every January during which the program is operational regarding the status of the program and the ability of the program to secure the funding necessary to carry out its required provisions. Notwithstanding Section 11005 of the Government Code, the board may accept funds from nonprofit philanthropic entities. The board shall, upon appropriation in the annual Budget Act, expend funds received from nonprofit philanthropic entities for this program.

(d) (1) Dentists from Mexico eligible to participate in this program shall comply with the following:

(g) Nonprofit community health centers in the counties listed in subdivision (f) shall apply to the Medical Board of California and the Dental Board of California to hire eligible applicants who shall then be required to complete a six-month externship that includes working in the nonprofit community health center and a corresponding hospital. Once enrolled in this externship, and upon payment of the required fees, the Medical Board of California shall issue a three-year nonrenewable license to practice medicine and the Dental Board of California shall issue a three-year nonrenewable dental special permit to practice dentistry. For purposes of this program, the fee for a three-year nonrenewable license to practice medicine shall be nine hundred dollars ($900) and the fee for a three-year nonrenewable dental permit shall be five hundred forty-eight dollars ($548). A licensee or permitholder shall practice only in the nonprofit community health center that offered him or her employment and the corresponding hospital. (h) The three-year nonrenewable license or permit shall terminate upon notice by certified mail, return receipt requested, to the licensee's or permitholder's address of record, if, in the Medical Board of California or Dental Board of California's sole discretion, it has determined that either:

This shall include nonprofit community health centers providing malpractice insurance coverage.

(j) Beginning 12 months after this pilot program has commenced, an evaluation of the program shall be undertaken with funds provided from philanthropic foundations. The evaluation shall be conducted jointly by one medical school and one dental school in California and the National Autonomous University of Mexico in consultation with the Medical Board of California and the Dental Board of California. If the evaluation required pursuant to this section does not begin within 15 months after the pilot project has commenced, the evaluation may be performed by an independent consultant selected by the Director of the Department of Consumer Affairs. This evaluation shall include, but not be limited to, the following issues and concerns:

(1) Quality of care provided by doctors and dentists licensed under this pilot program.

(2) Adaptability of these licensed practitioners to California medical and dental standards.

(3) Impact on working and administrative environment in nonprofit community health centers and impact on interpersonal relations with medical licensed counterparts in health centers.

(4) Response and approval by patients.

(5) Impact on cultural and linguistic services.

(6) Increases in medical encounters provided by participating practitioners to limited English-speaking patient populations and increases in the number of limited English-speaking patients seeking health care services from nonprofit community health centers.

(7) Recommendations on whether the program should be continued, expanded, altered, or terminated.

(8) Progress reports on available data listed shall be provided to the Legislature on achievable time intervals beginning the second year of implementation of this pilot program. An interim final report shall be issued three months before termination of this pilot. A final report shall be submitted to the Legislature at the time of termination of this pilot program on all of the above data. The final report shall reflect and include how other initiatives concerning the development of culturally and linguistically competent medical and dental providers within California and the United States are impacting communities in need of these health care providers.

(k) Costs for administering this pilot program shall be secured from philanthropic entities.

(l) Program applicants shall be responsible for working with the governments of Mexico and the United States in order to obtain the necessary three-year visa required for program participation.

SEC. 4. Section 854 is added to the Business and Professions Code, to read:

SEC. 5. Section 855 is added to the Business and Professions Code, to read:

855. (a) Up to 70 international medical graduates who have passed their United States medical license examination on the first attempt and who have been working in the medical field in the capacity of a medical assistant, a nurse practitioner, a nurse-midwife, a physician assistant, a dental hygienist, or a quality assurance and peer review specialist for not less than three years, shall be selected to participate in a pilot program. Preference shall be given to international medical graduates who are residents of California, have experience working in communities whose language is other than English and whose culture is not from the dominant society, and have a proven level of literacy in the foreign language of a medically underserved community.

(b) If there are not 70 international medical graduates who meet the criteria of subdivision (a), the remaining openings may be filled by participants who have passed the United States medical license examination on two or more attempts, have been working in the medical field in the capacity of a medical assistant, a nurse practitioner, a nurse-midwife, a physician assistant, a dental hygienist, or a quality assurance and peer review specialist for not less than three years, and who pass an additional test to be determined by the medical facility and the medical school participating in the pilot program. Preference shall be given to international medical graduates who are residents of California, have experience working in communities whose language is other than English and whose culture is not from the dominant society, and have a proven level of literacy in the foreign language of a medically underserved community.

(c) An international medical graduate shall not be eligible for this program if he or she has not graduated from a school in good standing that is recognized by the Medical Board of California.

(d) Upon selection for the pilot program, participants may submit an application to the International Medical Graduate Liaison of the Medical Board of California's Division of Licensing, with the appropriate fee, to initiate the medical licensing review process, providing the participant time to remediate any deficiency during the three-year international medical graduates pilot program.

(e) All program participants shall be required to have the foreign language fluency and the cultural knowledge necessary to serve the non-English-speaking community at the nonprofit community health center where they practice.

(f) The Medical Board of California shall issue an applicant status letter to participating and qualifying international medical graduates.

(g) International medical graduates shall be required to participate and satisfactorily complete a six-month orientation program that will address medical protocol, community clinic history and operations, medical administration, hospital operations and protocol, medical ethics, the California medical delivery system, health maintenance organizations and managed care practices, and pharmacology differences. International medical graduates who have passed the Educational Commission for Foreign Medical Graduates (ECFMG) language exam shall not be required to be enrolled in English language classes. However, if a participating international medical graduate has not passed the ECFMG language exam, he or she shall be enrolled in English language acquisition classes until he or she obtains a level of English language proficiency equivalent to the ECFMG language exam.

(h) (1) Upon satisfactorily completing the orientation program and the one-year residency training program, international medical graduates shall be selected by nonprofit community health centers to work in nonprofit community health centers and disproportionate share hospitals whose service areas include federally designated Health Professional Shortage Areas, Dental Professional Shortage Areas, Medically Underserved Areas, and Medically Underserved Populations for a period not to exceed three years.

(2) There shall be two residency programs operated under the auspices of a medical school in good standing, with one in southern California and one in northern California. These residency programs shall be in family practice, internal medicine, or obstetrics and gynecology.

(3) After successfully completing the one-year residency program, the training institution for the one-year residency program for international medical graduates may transfer the program participant into an approved residency program.

(i) (1) All program participants shall be required to satisfy the medical curriculum requirements of Section 2089, the clinical instruction requirements of Section 2089.5, and the examination requirements of Section 2170 prior to being admitted into an approved residency program.

(2) Those international medical graduates who are transferred into an approved residency program shall be required to work in nonprofit community health centers or disproportionate share hospitals whose service areas include federally designated Health Professional Shortage Areas, Dental Professional Shortage Areas, Medically Underserved Areas, and Medically Underserved Populations for not less than three years after being fully licensed.

(j) For individuals in this program as specified in this section, the applicant status letter shall be deemed a license in good standing pursuant to the provisions of this article for the purpose of participation and reimbursement in all federal, state, and local health programs, including managed care organizations and health maintenance organizations.

(k) (1) The Director of General Medical Education or an equivalent position in the training institution of the one-year residency program for international medical graduates shall have the authority to make a recommendation to the Medical Board of California for the full medical licensure of an international medical graduate who has successfully completed the one-year residency program if the director believes, based on the performance and competency of international medical graduate, that the international medical graduate should be fully licensed.

(2) After reviewing the recommendation for full licensure from the director, the Medical Board of California shall have the authority to issue a permanent license to practice medicine in this state to the international medical graduate.

(l) If an international medical graduate desires to secure a permanent license to practice medicine from the board, he or she shall, among other things, be required to be admitted into an approved residency program.

The director shall not issue a license to any applicant prior to receiving payment in full for all amounts charged pursuant to this subdivision.

(b) In addition to other fees and reimbursements required to be paid under this chapter, each licensed plan shall pay to the director an amount as estimated by the director for the ensuing fiscal year, as a reimbursement of its share of all costs and expenses, including, but not limited to, costs and expenses associated with routine financial examinations, grievances and complaints including maintaining a toll-free number for consumer grievances and complaints, investigation and enforcement, medical surveys and reports, and overhead, reasonably incurred in the administration of this chapter and not otherwise recovered by the director under this chapter or from the Managed Care Fund. The amount may be paid in two equal installments. The first installment shall be paid on or before August 1 of each year, and the second installment shall be paid on or before December 15 of each year. The amount paid by each plan, except a plan offering only specialized health care service plan contracts, shall be twelve thousand five hundred dollars ($12,500), plus an amount up to, but not exceeding, an amount computed in accordance with the following schedule:

Plan Enrollment	Amount of Assessment

The amount paid by each plan shall be for each enrollee enrolled in its plan in this state as of the preceding March 31, and shall be fixed by the director by notice to all licensed plans on or before June 15 of each year. A plan that is unable to report the number of enrollees enrolled in the plan because it does not collect that data, shall provide the director with an estimate of the number of enrollees enrolled in the plan and the method used for determining the estimate. The director may, upon giving written notice to the plan, revise the estimate if the commissioner determines that the method used for determining the estimate was not reasonable.

In determining the amount assessed, the director shall consider all appropriations from the Managed Care Fund for the support of this chapter and all reimbursements provided for in this chapter.

(c) Each licensed plan shall also pay two thousand dollars ($2,000), plus an amount up to, but not exceeding, forty-eight hundredths of one cent ($0.0048) for each enrollee for the purpose of reimbursing its share of all costs and expenses, including overhead, reasonably anticipated to

(d) In no case shall the reimbursement, payment, or other fee authorized by this section exceed the cost, including overhead, reasonably incurred in the administration of this chapter.

(e) The director by notice to all licensed plans on or before September 15 of each year, may require health care service plans to pay an additional assessment to provide the department with sufficient revenues to support costs and expenses as set forth in this section and subdivision (b) of Section 1341.4 for the 2000–01, 2001–02, and 2002–03 fiscal years. Any plan that did not pay its assessment as required under this subdivision for the 2001–02 fiscal year shall be assessed the amount due for the 2001–02 fiscal year in the 2002–03 fiscal year, in addition to the amount due in the 2002–03 fiscal year. The assessment pursuant to this subdivision is separate and independent of the assessment in subdivision (b), and may not be aggregated for the purposes of limitation or otherwise with the assessment in subdivision (b). The assessment pursuant to this subdivision is not subject to the limitations imposed on assessments pursuant to Section 1356.1. In imposing an assessment pursuant to this subdivision the director shall levy on each plan an amount determined by the director using the categories of plans in the schedules set forth in subdivision (b). The assessment shall be paid in full or in two equal installments, as determined by the department. On July 1, 2003, and thereafter, the director may raise the assessment limit pursuant to subdivision (b) to incorporate annual expenditure levels set forth in this subdivision.

(f) For the purpose of calculating the assessment under this section, an enrollee who is enrolled in one plan and who receives health care services under arrangements made by another plan or plans, whether pursuant to a contract, agreement, or otherwise, shall be considered to be enrolled in each of the plans.

SEC. 5. Section 1797.199 of the Health and Safety Code is amended to read:

1797.199. (a) There is hereby created in the State Treasury, the Trauma Care Fund, which, notwithstanding Section 13340 of the Government Code, is hereby continuously appropriated without regard to fiscal years to the authority for the purposes specified in subdivision (c).

(b) The fund shall contain any moneys deposited in the fund pursuant to appropriation by the Legislature or from any other source, as well as, notwithstanding Section 16305.7 of the Government Code, any interest and dividends earned on moneys in the fund.

(c) Moneys in the fund shall be expended by the authority to provide for allocations to local EMS agencies, for distribution to local EMS agency-designated trauma centers provided for by this chapter.

(d) Within 30 days of the effective date of the enactment of an appropriation for purposes of implementing this chapter, the authority shall request all local EMS agencies with an approved trauma plan, that includes at least one designated trauma center, to submit within 45 days of the request the total number of trauma patients and the number of trauma patients at each facility that were reported to the local trauma registry for the most recent fiscal year for which data are available, pursuant to Section 100257 of Title 22 of the California Code of Regulations. However, the local EMS agency's report shall not include any registry entry that is in reference to a patient who is discharged from the trauma center's emergency department without being admitted to the hospital unless the nonadmission is due to the patient's death or transfer to another facility. Any local EMS agency that fails to provide these data shall not receive funding pursuant to this section.

(e) Except as provided in subdivisions (j) and (o), the authority shall distribute all funds to local EMS agencies with an approved trauma plan that includes at least one designated trauma center in the local EMS agency's jurisdiction as of July 1 of the fiscal year in which funds are to be distributed.

(1) The amount provided to each local EMS agency shall be in the same proportion as the total number of trauma patients reported to the local trauma registry for each local EMS agency's area of jurisdiction compared to the total number of all trauma patients statewide as reported under subdivision (d).

(2) The authority shall send a contract to each local EMS agency that is to receive funds within 30 days of receiving the required data and shall distribute the funds to a local EMS agency within 30 days of receiving a signed contract and invoice from the agency.

(f) Local EMS agencies that receive funding under this chapter shall distribute all those funds to eligible trauma centers, except that an agency may expend 1 percent for administration. It is the intent of the Legislature that the funds distributed to eligible trauma centers be spent on trauma services. The local EMS agency may utilize a grant-based system, a reimbursement-based system, or other appropriate methodology to comply with this section. Local EMS agencies shall take the following factors into consideration when determining the distribution amounts for each trauma center:

(1) The volume of uninsured trauma patients treated at the trauma center.

(2) The existence of a high percentage of uninsured trauma patients relative to the total number of trauma patients treated at the trauma center.

(3) The acuity mix of uninsured trauma patients treated at the trauma center.

(g) A trauma center shall be eligible for funding under this section if it is designated as a trauma center by a local EMS agency pursuant to Section 1798.165 and complies with the requirements of this section. Both public and private hospitals designated as trauma centers shall be eligible for funding.

(h) A trauma center that receives funding under this section shall agree to remain a trauma center through June 30 of the fiscal year in which it receives funding. If the trauma center ceases functioning as a trauma center, it shall pay back to the local EMS agency a pro rata portion of the funding that has been received. If there are one or more trauma centers remaining in the local EMS agency's service area, the local EMS agency shall distribute the funds among the other trauma centers. If there is no other trauma center within the local EMS agency's service area, the local EMS agency shall return the moneys to the authority. The authority shall deposit any such funds into the reserve described in subdivision (j). In the case of a local EMS agency that distributes funds using a reimbursement or fee-for-service system, a trauma center that ceases functioning as a trauma center shall only be required to pay back a pro rata portion of the minimum distributed as described in subdivision (i).

(i) Notwithstanding subdivision (f), the local EMS agency shall provide from the funds that the local EMS agency receives from the authority a minimum amount of one hundred fifty thousand dollars ($150,000) to each Level I or Level II trauma center to assist those centers in ensuring trauma center viability. The local EMS agency shall provide a Level III trauma center a minimum amount of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) for this purpose. If a local EMS agency's distribution pursuant to subdivision (e) is less than the amount necessary for each trauma center within the local EMS agency's jurisdiction to receive the minimum amount provided by this subdivision, the authority shall include in its distribution to the agency an additional amount of funds necessary to make up the minimum amount pursuant to paragraph (1) of subdivision (j) plus 1 percent of the added amount for local EMS agency administrative costs. Based upon qualifying patient volume figures and the distribution factors established in subdivision (f), a trauma center designated as a Level IV may receive funding as determined appropriate by the local EMS agency.

(j) Notwithstanding subdivision (e), the authority shall reserve 6 percent of any funds appropriated to the Trauma Care Fund for distribution during the same fiscal year. The authority may spend these funds for the purposes specified in paragraphs (1) to (3), inclusive.

(1) To provide to a local EMS agency, the amount that the agency needs to make up the full minimum amount specified in subdivision (i).

(2) To provide a minimum amount to a trauma center that was not designated on July 1 of the fiscal year as specified in subdivision (e) but which becomes designated by January 1 of any fiscal year in which funds are being distributed pursuant to this section. In the case of such a newly designated center, the minimum distribution shall equal one-half of the minimum distribution described in subdivision (i), provided the local EMS agency makes an application to the authority for this purpose by February 1 of the same fiscal year.

(3) To the extent that there are funds in the reserve after the distributions provided by paragraphs (1) and (2) of this subdivision, to provide additional amounts to a local EMS agency where the distribution under subdivision (f) does not provide an accurate reflection of its total trauma volume. Any local EMS agency that believes the distribution under subdivision (f) does not provide an accurate accounting of its total trauma patient volume may make application to the authority for an adjustment.

(A) The application shall state the reason for the request and shall include supporting data.

(B) The authority shall consider all applications submitted pursuant to this paragraph and received by February 1 of the fiscal year.

(C) Based on the application and its supporting information, the authority shall determine the amount, if any, that the local agency should receive in addition to the amounts specified in subdivision (e) and shall allocate an appropriate amount of the reserve in accordance with its determination.

(k) In order to receive funds pursuant to this section, an eligible trauma center shall submit, pursuant to a contract between the trauma center and the local EMS agency, relevant and pertinent data requested by the local EMS agency. A trauma center shall demonstrate that it is appropriately submitting data to the local EMS agency's trauma registry and a local EMS agency shall audit the data annually within two years of a distribution from the local EMS agency to a trauma center. Any trauma center receiving funding pursuant to this section shall report to the local EMS agency how the funds were used to support trauma services.

(l) It is the intent of the Legislature that all moneys appropriated to the fund be distributed to local EMS agencies during the same year the moneys are appropriated. To the extent that any moneys are not distributed by the authority during the fiscal year in which the moneys are appropriated, the moneys shall remain in the fund and be eligible for distribution pursuant to this section during subsequent fiscal years, except that the minimum distribution specified in subdivision (i) shall be provided to the extent that moneys are available in the fund.

(m) By October 31, 2002, the authority shall develop criteria for the standardized reporting of trauma patients to local trauma registries. The authority shall seek input from local EMS agencies to develop the criteria. All local EMS agencies shall utilize the trauma patient criteria for reporting trauma patients to local trauma registries by July 1, 2003.

(n) By December 31 of the fiscal year following any fiscal year in which funds are distributed pursuant to this section, a local EMS agency that has received funds from the authority pursuant to this chapter shall provide a report to the authority that details the amount of funds distributed to each trauma center, the amount of any balance remaining, and the amount of any claims pending, if any, and describes how the respective centers used the funds to support trauma services. The report shall also describe the local EMS agency's mechanism for distributing the funds to trauma centers, a description of their audit process and criteria, and a summary of the most recent audit results.

(o) The authority may retain from any appropriation to the fund an amount sufficient to implement this section, up to two hundred eighty thousand dollars ($280,000). This amount may be adjusted to reflect any increases provided for wages or operating expenses as part of the authority's budget process.

SEC. 5.5. Section 26157 is added to the Health and Safety Code, to read:

26157. (a) The department may receive voluntary contributions to support the department's activities in providing guidance, developing standards and guidelines and permissible exposure limits, and adopting regulations relating to indoor mold hazards, including, but not limited to, duties included under this chapter.

(b) The contributions shall be deposited in the Public Health Protection from Indoor Mold Hazards Fund, which is hereby created in the State Treasury. Notwithstanding Section 13340 of the Government Code, moneys in the fund shall be continuously appropriated to the department without regard to fiscal years and shall be used to support the department's activities in providing guidance, developing standards and guidelines and permissible exposure limits, and adopting regulations relating to indoor mold hazards, including, but not limited to, duties included under this chapter to the extent that funding is available.

SEC. 6. Section 53300 of the Health and Safety Code is amended to read:

53300. (a) No more than 10 percent of the amount appropriated in a fiscal year for the purposes of this chapter may be used for state administration of this chapter, including evaluation and technical assistance. Technical assistance shall include, but is not limited to, assisting with collaborations, providing information, and convening training workshops. The Legislature shall be notified of the administrative costs of this program pursuant to Section 28 of the Budget Act.

(b) Notwithstanding the allocation of funds in the Budget Act of 2000 for the supportive housing initiative to the local assistance Item 4440-101-0001, up to 10 percent of the funds may be spent for administrative costs, as defined in subdivision (a).

(c) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the lead agency shall make all grant awards from funds allocated in the Budget Act of 2001 for the supportive housing initiative no later than June 30, 2002, and shall expend the funds allocated for those grants no later than June 30, 2005, except for grants awarded for housing costs, as specified in paragraph (1) of subdivision (b) of Section 53275.

SEC. 7. Section 100171 of the Health and Safety Code is amended to read:

100171. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, whenever the department is authorized or required by statute, regulation, due process (14th amendment, United States Constitution; subdivision (a) of Section 7 of Article I, California Constitution), or a contract, to conduct an adjudicative hearing leading to a final decision of the director or the department, the following shall apply:

(a) The proceeding shall be conducted pursuant to the administrative adjudication provisions of Chapter 4.5 (commencing with Section 11400) and Chapter 5 (commencing with Section 11500) of Part 1 of Division 3 of Title 2 of the Government Code, except as specified in this section.

(b) Notwithstanding Section 11502 of the Government Code, whenever the department conducts a hearing under Chapter 4.5 (commencing with Section 11400) or Chapter 5 (commencing with Section 11500) of Part 1 of Division 3 of Title 2 of the Government Code, the hearing shall be conducted before an administrative law judge selected by the department and assigned to a hearing office that complies with the procedural requirements of Chapter 4.5 (commencing with Section 11400) of Part 1 of Division 3 of Title 2 of the Government Code.

(c) (1) Notwithstanding Section 11508 of the Government Code, whenever the department conducts a hearing under Chapter 4.5 (commencing with Section 11400) or Chapter 5 (commencing with Section 11500) of Part 1 of Division 3 of Title 2 of the Government Code, the time and place of the hearing shall be determined by the staff assigned to the hearing office of the department, except as provided in paragraph (2) or unless the department by regulation specifies otherwise.

(2) Formal hearings requested by institutional Medi-Cal providers and health facilities shall be held in Sacramento.

(d) (1) Unless otherwise specified in this section, the following sections of the Government Code shall apply to any adjudicative hearing conducted by the department only if the department has not, by regulation, specified an alternative procedure for the particular type of hearing at issue: Section 11503 (relating to accusations), Section 11504 (relating to statements of issues), Section 11505 (relating to the contents of the statement to respondent), Section 11506 (relating to the notice of defense), Section 11507.6 (relating to discovery rights and procedures), Section 11508 (relating to the time and place of hearings), and Section 11516 (relating to amendment of accusations).

(2) Any alternative procedure specified by the department in accordance with this subdivision shall conform to the purpose of the Government Code provision it replaces insofar as it is possible to do so consistent with the specific procedural requirements applicable to the type of hearing at issue.

(3) Any alternative procedures adopted by the department under this subdivision shall not diminish the amount of notice given of the issues to be heard by the department or deprive appellants of the right to discovery suitable to the particular proceedings. Except as specified in paragraph (2) of subdivision (c), modifications of timeframes or of the place of hearing made by regulation may not lengthen timeframes within which the department is required to act nor require hearings to be held at a greater distance from the appellant's place of residence or business than is the case under the otherwise applicable Government Code provision.

(e) The specific timelines specified in Section 11517 of the Government Code shall not apply to any adjudicative hearing conducted by the department to the extent that the department has, by regulation, specified different timelines for the particular type of hearing at issue.

(f) In the case of any adjudicative hearing conducted by the department, ''transcript,'' as used in subdivision (c) of Section 11517 of the Government Code, shall be deemed to include any alternative form of recordation of the oral proceedings, including, but not limited to, an audiotape.

(g) Pursuant to Section 11415.50 of the Government Code, the department may, by regulation, provide for any appropriate informal procedure to be used for an informal level of review that does not itself lead to a final decision of the department or the director. The procedures specified in Article 10 (commencing with Section 11445.10) of Chapter 4.5 of Part 1 of Division 3 of Title 2 of the Government Code shall not apply to any such an informal level of review. Informal conferences concerning appeals by institutional Medi-Cal providers and health facilities may be held in Sacramento or Los Angeles.

(h) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, any adjudicative hearing conducted by the department that is conducted pursuant to a federal statutory or regulatory requirement that contains specific procedures may be conducted pursuant to those procedures to the extent they are inconsistent with the procedures specified in this section.

(i) Nothing in this section shall apply to a fair hearing involving a Medi-Cal beneficiary insofar as the hearing is, by agreement or otherwise, heard before an administrative law judge employed by the State Department of Social Services, or insofar as the hearing is being held pursuant to Division 4.5 (commencing with Section 4500) of the Welfare and Institutions Code in connection with services provided by the State Department of Developmental Services under applicable federal medicaid waivers. Nothing in this subdivision shall be interpreted as abrogating the authority of the State Department of Health Services as the single state agency under the state medicaid plan.

(j) Nothing in this provision shall supersede express provisions of law that apply to any hearing that is not adjudicative in nature or that does not involve due process rights specific to an individual or specific individuals, as opposed to the general public or a segment of the general public.

SEC. 8. Article 6 (commencing with Section 101315) is added to Chapter 3 of Part 3 of Division 101 of the Health and Safety Code, to read:

Article 6. Federal Funding for Bioterrorism Preparedness and other Public Health Threats

101315. (a) Federal funding received by the State Department of Health Services for bioterrorism preparedness and emergency response is subject to appropriation in the annual Budget Act.

(b) This article shall govern the purposes for which federal funding may be allocated and expended by local health jurisdictions for the prevention of, and response to, bioterrorist attacks and other public health emergencies pursuant to the federally approved collaborative state-local plan.

(c) A local health jurisdiction shall be ineligible to receive funding from appropriations made for purposes of this article when that local health jurisdiction receives directly or through another local jurisdiction federal funding for the same purposes. Moneys appropriated in the annual Budget Act for purposes of this article that would have been allocated to a local health jurisdiction that is ineligible, pursuant to this subdivision, to receive funding shall be allocated, as provided in Section 101317, among the remaining local health jurisdictions that are eligible.

(d) Funds appropriated for the purposes of this article shall not be used to supplant funding for existing levels of service and shall only be used for purposes specified in Section 101317.

101317. (a) For purposes of this article, allocations shall be made to the administrative bodies of qualifying local health jurisdictions described as public health administrative organizations in Section 101185, and pursuant to Section 101315, in the following manner:

(1) (A) For the 2003–04 fiscal year and subsequent fiscal years, to the administrative bodies of each local health jurisdiction, a basic allotment of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000), subject to the availability of funds appropriated in the annual Budget Act or some other act.

(B) For the 2002–03 fiscal year, the basic allotment of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000) shall be reduced by the amount of federal funding allocated as part of a basic allotment for the purposes of this article to local health jurisdictions in the 2001–02 fiscal year.

(2) (A) Except as provided in subdivision (c), after determining the amount allowed for the basic allotment as provided in paragraph (1), the balance of the annual Budget Act appropriation for purposes of this article, if any, shall be allotted on a per capita basis to the administrative bodies of each local health jurisdiction in the proportion that the population of that local health jurisdiction bears to the population of all eligible local health jurisdictions of the state.

(B) The population estimates used for the calculation of the per capita allotment pursuant to subparagraph (A) shall be based on the Department of Finance's E-1 Report, ''City/County Populations Estimates with Annual Percentage Changes'' as of January 1 of the previous year. However, if within a local health jurisdiction there are one or more city health jurisdictions, the local health jurisdiction shall subtract the population of the city or cites from the local health jurisdiction total population for purposes of calculating the per capita total.

(b) If the amounts appropriated in the annual Budget Act are insufficient to fully fund the allocations specified in subdivision (a), the department shall prorate and adjust each local health jurisdiction's allocation so that the total amount allocated equals the amount appropriated.

(c) For the 2002–03 fiscal year and subsequent fiscal years, where the federally approved collaborative state-local plan identifies an allocation method, other than the basic allotment and per capita method described in subdivision (a), for specific funding to a local public health jurisdiction, including, but not limited to, funding laboratory training, chemical and nuclear terrorism preparedness, and information technology approaches, that funding shall be paid to the administrative bodies of those local health jurisdictions in accordance with the federally approved collaborative state-local plan for bioterrorism preparedness and other public health threats in the state.

(d) Funds appropriated pursuant to the annual Budget Act for allocation to local health jurisdictions pursuant to this article shall be disbursed quarterly to local health jurisdictions beginning July 1, 2002, using the following process:

(1) Each fiscal year, upon the submission of an application for funding by the administrative body of a local health jurisdiction, the department shall make the first quarterly payment to each eligible local health jurisdiction. That application shall include a plan and budget for the local program that is in accordance with the department's plans and priorities for bioterrorism preparedness and response, and other public health threats and emergencies, and a certification by the chairperson of the board of supervisors or the mayor of a city with a local health department that the funds received pursuant to this article will not be used to supplant other funding sources in violation of subdivision (d) of Section 101315.

(2) The department shall establish procedures and a format for the submission of the local health jurisdiction's plan and budget. The local health jurisdiction's plan shall be consistent with the department's plans and priorities for bioterrorism preparedness and response, and other public health threats and emergencies, in accordance with requirements specified in the department's federal grant award. Payments to local health jurisdictions beyond the first quarter shall be contingent upon the approval of the department of the local health jurisdiction's plan and the local health jurisdiction's progress in implementing the provisions of the local health jurisdiction's plan, as determined by the department.

(3) If a local health jurisdiction does not apply or submits a noncompliant application for its allocation, those funds provided under this article may be redistributed according to subdivision (a) to the remaining local health jurisdictions.

(e) Funds shall be used for activities to improve and enhance local health jurisdictions' preparedness for and response to bioterrorism and other public health threats and emergencies, including laboratory training and information technology, and for any other purposes, as determined by the department, that are consistent with the purposes for which the funds were appropriated.

(f) Any local health jurisdiction that receives funds pursuant to this article shall deposit them in a special Local Public Health Preparedness Trust Fund established solely for this purpose before transferring or expending the funds for any of the uses allowed pursuant to this article.

The interest earned on moneys in the fund shall accrue to the benefit of the fund and shall be expended for the same purposes as other moneys in the fund.

(g) (1) A local health jurisdiction that receives funding pursuant to this article shall submit reports that display cost data and the activities funded by moneys deposited in its Local Public Health Preparedness Trust Fund to the department on a regular basis in a form and according to procedures prescribed by the department.

(2) The department, in consultation with local health jurisdictions, shall develop required content for the reports required under paragraph (1), which shall include, but shall not be limited to, data and information needed to implement this article and to satisfy federal reporting requirements. The chairperson of the board of supervisors or the mayor of a city with a local health department shall certify the accuracy of the reports and that the moneys appropriated for the purposes of this article have not been used to supplant other funding sources.

(h) The administrative body of a local health jurisdiction may enter into a contract with the department and the department may enter into a contract with that local health jurisdiction for the department to administer all or a portion of the moneys allocated to the local health jurisdiction pursuant to this article.

(i) The department may recoup from a local health jurisdiction any moneys allocated pursuant to this article that are unspent or that are not expended for purposes specified in subdivision (d). The department may also recoup funds expended by a local health jurisdiction in violation of subdivision (d) of Section 101315. The department may withhold quarterly payments of moneys to a local health jurisdiction if the local health jurisdiction is not in compliance with this article or the terms of that local health jurisdiction's plan as approved by the department. Before any funds are recouped or withheld from a local health jurisdiction, the department shall meet with local health officials to discuss the status of the unspent moneys or the disputed use of the funds or both.

(j) Moneys made available for bioterrorism preparedness pursuant to this article in the 2001–02 fiscal year shall be available for expenditure and encumbrance until June 30, 2003. Moneys made available for bioterrorism preparedness pursuant to this article from July 1, 2002, to August 30, 2003, inclusive, shall be available for expenditure and encumbrance until August 30, 2004, subject to extension of the federal grant authority.

101319. Due to the need to rapidly implement, and to provide local health jurisdictions with timely funding for the purposes of, this article, funds appropriated in the annual Budget Act for purposes of this article for the 2002–03 fiscal year and subsequent fiscal years shall be allocated through the use of agreements, which shall not be subject to Part 2 (commencing with Section 10100) of the Public Contract Code.

SEC. 9. Section 104188 is added to the Health and Safety Code, to read:

104188. The maximum indirect cost rate that may be charged on any cancer research program grant awarded to any institution under this article shall not be more than 25 percent of the institution's direct costs.

SEC. 10. Section 120955 of the Health and Safety Code is amended to read:

120955. (a) To the extent that state and federal funds are appropriated in the annual Budget Act for these purposes, the director shall establish and may administer a program to provide drug treatments to persons infected with human immunodeficiency virus (HIV), the etiologic agent of acquired immune deficiency syndrome (AIDS). The director shall develop, maintain, and update as necessary a list of drugs to be provided under this program. Drugs on the list shall include, but not be limited to, the drugs zidovudine (AZT) and aerosolized pentamidine.

(b) The director may grant funds to a county public health department through standard agreements to administer this program in that county. To maximize the recipients' access to drugs covered by this program, the director shall urge the county health department in counties granted these funds to decentralize distribution of the drugs to the recipients.

(c) The director shall establish a rate structure for reimbursement for the cost of each drug included in the program. Rates shall not be less than the actual cost of the drug. However, the director may purchase a listed drug directly from the manufacturer and negotiate the most favorable bulk price for that drug.

(d) Manufacturers of the drugs on the list shall pay the department a rebate equal to the rebate that would be applicable to the drug under Section 1927(c) of the federal Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. Sec. 1396r-8(c)) plus an additional rebate to be negotiated by each manufacturer with the department, except that no rebates shall be paid to the department under this section on drugs for which the department has received a rebate under Section 1927(c) of the federal Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. Sec. 1396r-8(c)) or that have been purchased on behalf of county health departments or other eligible entities at discount prices made available under Section 256b of Title 42 of the United States Code.

(e) The department shall submit an invoice, not less than two times per year, to each manufacturer for the amount of the rebate required by subdivision (d).

(f) Drugs may be removed from the list for failure to pay the rebate required by subdivision (d), unless the department determines that removal of the drug from the list would cause substantial medical hardship to beneficiaries.

(g) The department may adopt emergency regulations to implement amendments to this chapter made during the 1997–98 Regular Session, in accordance with the Administrative Procedure Act, Chapter 3.5 (commencing with Section 11340) of Part 1 of Division 3 of Title 2 of the Government Code. The initial adoption of emergency regulations shall be deemed to be an emergency and considered by the Office of Administrative Law as necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety, or general welfare. Emergency regulations adopted pursuant to this section shall remain in effect for no more than 180 days.

(h) Reimbursement under this chapter shall not be made for any drugs that are available to the recipient under any other private, state, or federal programs, or under any other contractual or legal entitlements, except that the director may authorize an exemption from this subdivision where exemption would represent a cost savings to the state.

However, this shall be the responsibility of the department for all counties that contract with the state for health services. Contract counties, at the option of the board of supervisors, may provide services pursuant to this article in the same manner as other county programs, provided the option is exercised prior to the beginning of each fiscal year. Each plan shall include, but is not limited to, the following requirements:

At the discretion of the department, these health screening and evaluation services may be provided at the frequency provided under the Healthy Families Program and permitted in managed care plans providing services under the Medi-Cal program, and shall be contingent upon appropriation in the annual Budget Act. (3) Where an agency receives funding from both the Maternal and Child Health Branch of the State Department of Health Services and the Domestic Violence Branch of the Office of Criminal Justice Planning during any grant cycle, the Maternal and Child Health Branch and the Domestic Violence Branch shall, to the extent feasible, coordinate agency site visits and share performance assessment data with the goal of improving efficiency, eliminating duplication, and reducing administrative costs.

(e) In implementing the grant program pursuant to this section, the State Department of Health Services shall consult with an advisory council that shall remain in existence until January 1, 2006. The council shall be composed of not to exceed 13 voting members and two nonvoting members appointed as follows:

It is the intent of the Legislature that the council membership reflect the ethnic, racial, cultural, and geographic diversity of the state.

(f) The department shall collaborate closely with the council in the development of funding priorities, the framing of the Request for Proposals, and the solicitation of proposals.

(g) (1) The Maternal and Child Health Branch of the State Department of Health Services shall administer grants, awarded as the result of a request for application process, to agencies to conduct demonstration projects to serve battered women, including, but not limited to, creative and innovative service approaches, such as community response teams and pilot projects to develop new interventions emphasizing prevention and education, and other support projects identified by the advisory council.

(1) Fund shelters pursuant to this section that reflect the ethnic, racial, economic, cultural, and geographic diversity of the state.

(2) Target geographic areas and ethnic and racial communities of the state whereby, based on a needs assessment, it is determined that no shelter-based services exist or that additional resources are necessary.

(i) The director may award additional grants to shelter-based agencies when it is determined that there exists a critical need for shelter or shelter-based services.

(j) As a condition of receiving funding pursuant to this section, battered women's shelters shall do all of the following:

(b) (1) The department shall charge a fee to all payers for any tests or activities performed pursuant to this chapter. The amount of the fee shall be established by regulation and periodically adjusted by the director in order to meet the costs of this chapter. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, any fees charged for screening and followup services provided to Medi-Cal eligible persons, health care service plan enrollees, or persons covered by disability insurance policies, shall be paid in full directly to the Genetic Disease Testing Fund, subject to all terms and conditions of each enrollee's or insured's health care service plan or insurance coverage, whichever is applicable, including, but not limited to, copayments and deductibles applicable to these services, and only if these copayments, deductions, or limitations are disclosed to the subscriber or enrollee pursuant to the disclosure provisions of Section 1363.

(2) The department shall expeditiously undertake all steps necessary to implement the fee collection process, including personnel, contracts, and data processing, so as to initiate the fee collection process at the earliest opportunity. In no event shall a hospital be charged a fee for any test performed pursuant to this chapter on or after July 1, 2001.

(4) Effective for services provided on and after July 1, 2002, the department shall charge a fee to the hospital of birth, or, for births not occurring in a hospital, to families of the newborn, for newborn screening and followup services. The hospital of birth and families of newborns born outside the hospital shall make payment in full to the Genetic Disease Testing Fund. The department shall not charge or bill Medi-Cal beneficiaries for services provided under this chapter.

(C) In a family with an annual or monthly household income greater than 250 percent of the federal poverty level, any income deduction that is applicable to a child under Medi-Cal shall be applied in determining the annual or monthly household income. If the income deductions

(A) He or she has been receiving, but is no longer eligible for, benefits under the program.

(B) He or she appears to be income eligible for full-scope Medi-Cal benefits without a share of cost.

(2) The two additional calendar months of benefits under this chapter shall begin on the first day of the month following the last day of the person's eligibility for benefits under the program.

(c) The two-calendar-month period of Healthy Families benefits provided under this chapter shall be identical to the scope of benefits that the person was receiving under the program.

(d) Nothing in this section shall be construed to provide Healthy Families benefits for more than a two calendar-month period under any circumstances, including the failure to apply for benefits under the Medi-Cal program or the failure to be made aware of the availability of the Medi-Cal program unless the circumstances described in subdivision (b) reoccur.

(e) This section shall become inoperative if an unappealable court decision or judgment determines that any of the following apply:

(1) The provisions of this section are unconstitutional under the United States Constitution or the California Constitution.

(2) The provisions of this section do not comply with the State Children's Health Insurance Program, as set forth in Title XXI of the federal Social Security Act.

(3) The provisions of this section require that the health care benefits provided pursuant to this section are required to be furnished for more than two calendar months.

SEC. 25. Section 4094.2 of the Welfare and Institutions Code is amended to read:

4094.2. (a) For the purpose of establishing payment rates for community treatment facility programs, the private nonprofit agencies selected to operate these programs shall prepare a budget that covers the total costs of providing residential care and supervision and mental health services for their proposed programs. These costs shall include categories that are allowable under California's Foster Care program and existing programs for mental health services. They shall not include educational, nonmental health medical, and dental costs.

(b) Each agency operating a community treatment facility program shall negotiate a final budget with the local mental health department in the county in which its facility is located (the host county) and other local agencies as appropriate. This budget agreement shall specify the types and level of care and services to be provided by the community treatment facility program and a payment rate that fully covers the costs included in the negotiated budget. All counties that place children in a community treatment facility program shall make payments using the budget agreement negotiated by the community treatment facility provider and the host county.

(c) A foster care rate shall be established for each community treatment facility program by the State Department of Social Services. These rates shall be established using the existing foster care ratesetting system for group homes, with modifications designed as necessary. It is anticipated that all community treatment facility programs will offer the level of care and services required to receive the highest foster care rate provided for under the current group home ratesetting system.

(d) For the 2001–02 fiscal year and the 2002–03 fiscal year, community treatment facility programs shall also be paid a community treatment facility supplemental rate of up to two thousand five hundred dollars ($2,500) per child per month on behalf of children eligible under the foster care program and children placed out of home pursuant to an individualized education program developed under Section 7572.5 of the Government Code. Subject to the availability of funds, the supplemental rate shall be shared by the state and the counties. Counties shall be responsible for paying a county share of cost equal to 60 percent of the community treatment rate for children placed by counties in community treatment facilities and the state shall be responsible for 40 percent of the community treatment facility supplemental rate. The community treatment facility supplemental rate is intended to supplement, and not to supplant, the payments for which children placed in community treatment facilities are eligible to receive under the foster care program and the existing programs for mental health services.

(e) For initial ratesetting purposes for community treatment facility funding, the cost of mental health services shall be determined by deducting the foster care rate and the community treatment facility supplemental rate from the total allowable cost of the community treatment facility program. Payments to certified providers for mental health services shall be based on eligible services provided to children who are Medi-Cal beneficiaries, up to the statewide maximum allowances for these services.

(f) Although there is statutory authorization for up to 400 community treatment facility beds statewide, it is anticipated that there will be a phased-in implementation of community treatment facilities, and that the average monthly community treatment facility caseload during the 2001–02 fiscal year will be approximately 100 and during the 2002–03 fiscal year will be approximately 140.

(g) The department shall provide the community treatment facility supplemental rates to the counties for advanced payment to the community treatment facility providers in the same manner as the regular foster care payment and within the same required payment time limits.

(h) In order to facilitate a study of the costs of community treatment facilities, licensed community treatment facilities shall provide all documents regarding facility operations, treatment, and placements requested by the department.

(i) It is the intent of the Legislature that the department and the State Department of Social Services work to maximize federal financial participation in funding for children placed in community treatment facilities through funds available pursuant to Titles IV-E and XIX of the federal Social Security Act (Title 42 U.S.C. Sec. 670 and following and Sec. 1396 and following) and other appropriate federal programs.

(j) The department and the State Department of Social Services may adopt emergency regulations necessary to implement joint protocols for the oversight of community treatment facilities, to modify existing licensing regulations governing reporting requirements and other procedural and administrative mandates to take into account the seriousness and frequency of behaviors that are likely to be exhibited by the seriously emotionally disturbed children placed in community treatment facility programs, to modify the existing foster care ratesetting regulations, and to pay the community treatment facility supplemental rate. The adoption of these regulations shall be deemed to be an emergency and necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety, and general welfare. The regulations shall become effective immediately upon filing with the Secretary of State. The regulations shall not remain in effect more than 180 days unless the adopting agency complies with all the provisions of Chapter 3.5 (commencing with Section 11340) of Part 1 of Division 3 of Title 2 of the Government Code, as required by subdivision (e) of Section 11346.1 of the Government Code.

(11) A description of an evaluation plan that includes quantitative and qualitative measures of school and pupil characteristics, and a comparison of children's adjustment to school.

(k) Matching grants awarded pursuant to this article may be used for salaries of staff responsible for implementing the school-based early mental health intervention and prevention services program, equipment and supplies, training, and insurance.

(l) Salaries of administrative staff and other administrative costs associated with providing services shall be limited to 5 percent of the state share of assistance provided under this section.

(m) No more than 10 percent of each matching grant awarded pursuant to this article may be used for matching grant evaluation.

(n) No more than 10 percent of the moneys allocated to the director pursuant to this chapter may be utilized for program administration and evaluation.

Program administration shall include both state staff and field staff who are familiar with and have successfully implemented school-based early mental health intervention and prevention services. Field staff may be contracted with by local school districts or community mental health programs. Field staff shall provide support in the timely and effective implementation of school-based early mental health intervention and prevention services. Reviews of each project shall be conducted at least once during the first year of funding.

The community placement plan shall be based upon an individual program plan process as referred to in subdivision (a) of Section 4418.3 and shall be linked to the development of the annual state budget. The department's policies shall address statewide priorities, plan requirements, and the statutory roles of regional centers, developmental centers, and regional resource development projects in the process of assessing consumers for community living and in the development of community resources.

(b) The community placement plan shall provide for dedicated funding for comprehensive assessments of selected developmental center residents, for identified costs of moving selected individuals from developmental centers to the community, and for deflection of selected individuals from developmental center admission. The plans shall, where appropriate, include budget requests for regional center operations, assessments, resource development, and ongoing placement costs. These budget requests are intended to provide supplemental funding to regional centers. The plan is not intended to limit the department's or regional centers' responsibility to otherwise conduct assessments and individualized program planning, and to provide needed services and supports in the least restrictive, most integrated setting in accord with the Lanterman Developmental Disabilities Services Act (Division 4.5 (commencing with Section 4500)).

(c) The department shall review, negotiate, and approve regional center community placement plans for feasibility and reasonableness, including recognition of each regional centers' current developmental center population and their corresponding placement level, as well as each regional centers' need to develop new and innovative service models. The department shall hold regional centers accountable for the development and implementation of their approved plans. The regional centers shall report, as required by the department, on the outcomes of their plans. The department shall make aggregate performance data for each regional center available, upon request, as well as data on admissions to, and placements from, each developmental center.

(d) Funds allocated by the department to a regional center for a community placement plan developed under this section shall be controlled through the regional center contract to ensure that the funds are expended for the purposes allocated. Funds allocated for community placement plans that are not used for that purpose may be transferred to Item 4300-003-0001 for expenditure in the state developmental centers if their population exceeds the budgeted level. Any unspent funds shall revert to the General Fund.

SEC. 29. Section 4418.3 of the Welfare and Institutions Code is amended to read:

4418.3. (a) It is the intent of the Legislature to ensure that the transition process from a developmental center to a community living arrangement is based upon the individual's needs, developed through the individual program plan process, and ensures that needed services and supports will be in place at the time the individual moves. It is further the intent of the Legislature that regional centers, developmental centers, and regional resource development projects coordinate with each other for the benefit of their activities in assessment, in the development of individual program plans, and in planning, transition, and deflection, and for the benefit of consumers.

(b) As individuals are identified for possible movement to the community, an individual planning meeting shall be initiated by the developmental center, which shall notify the planning team, pursuant to subdivision (j) of Section 4512, and the regional resource development project of the meeting. The regional resource development project shall make services available to the developmental center and the regional center, including, but not limited to, consultations with the planning teams and the identification of services and supports necessary for the consumer to succeed in community living.

(c) The development of the individual program plan shall be consistent with Sections 4646 and 4646.5. For the purpose of this section, the planning team shall include developmental center staff knowledgeable about the service and support needs of the consumer.

(d) Regional resource development project services may include providing information in an understandable form to consumers and, where appropriate, their families, conservators, legal guardians, or authorized representatives, that will assist them in making decisions about community living and services and supports. This information may include affording the consumer the opportunity to visit a variety of community living arrangements that could meet his or her needs. If the visits are not feasible, as determined by the planning team, a family member or other representative of the consumer may conduct the visits. Regional resource development projects may be requested to facilitate these visits. The availability of this service shall be made known by the planning team to consumers and, where appropriate, their families, conservators, legal guardians, or authorized representative.

(e) Once the individual program plan is completed and providers of services and supports are identified and agreed to, pursuant to subdivision (b) of Section 4646.5, and no less than 15 days prior to the move, unless otherwise ordered by a court, a transition conference, which may be facilitated by a regional resource development project, shall be held. Participants in the transition conference shall include, but not be limited to, the consumer, where appropriate the consumer's parents, legal guardian, conservator, or authorized representative, a regional center representative, a developmental center representative, and a representative of each provider of primary services and supports identified in the individual program plan. This meeting may take place in the catchment area to which the consumer is moving. If necessary, conferees may participate by telephone or video conference. The purpose of this conference shall be to ensure a smooth transition from the developmental center to the community.

(f) The department, through the appropriate regional resource development project, shall provide, in cooperation with regional centers and developmental centers, followup services to help ensure a smooth transition to the community. Followup services shall include, but shall not limited to, all of the following:

(1) Regularly scheduled as well as on an as-needed basis, contacts and visits with consumers and service providers during the 12 months following the consumers movement date.

(2) Participation in the development of an individual program plan in accordance with Sections 4646 and 4646.5.

(3) Identification of issues that need resolution.

(4) Arrangement for the provision of developmental center services, including, but not limited to, medication review, crisis services, and behavioral consultation.

(g) To ascertain that the individual program plan is being implemented, that planned services are being provided, and that the consumer and, where appropriate the consumer's parents, legal guardian, or conservator, are satisfied with the community living arrangement, the regional center shall schedule face-to-face reviews no less than once every 30 days for the first 90 days. Following the first 90 days, and following notification to the department, the regional center may conduct these reviews less often as specified in the individual program plan.

(h) The regional center and the regional resource development project shall coordinate their followup reviews required pursuant to subdivisions (f) and (g) and shall share with each other information obtained during the course of the followup visits.

SEC. 30. Section 4418.7 of the Welfare and Institutions Code is amended to read:

4418.7. (a) If the regional center determines, or is informed by the consumer's parents, legal guardian, conservator, or authorized representative that the community placement of a consumer is at risk of failing, and that admittance to a state developmental center is a likelihood, the regional center shall immediately notify the appropriate regional resource development project, the consumer, and the consumer's parents, legal guardian, or conservator.

(b) In these cases, the regional resource development project shall immediately arrange for an assessment of the situation, including, visiting the consumer, if appropriate, determining barriers to successful integration, and recommending the most appropriate means necessary to assist the consumer to remain in the community. If, based on the assessment, the regional resource development project determines that additional or different services and supports are necessary, the department shall ensure that the regional center provides those services and supports on an emergency basis. An individual program plan meeting, including the regional resource development project's representative, shall be convened as soon as possible to review the emergency services and supports and determine the consumer's ongoing needs for services and supports. The regional resource development project shall follow up with the regional center as to the success of the recommended interventions until the consumer's living arrangement is stable.

(c) If the regional resource development project, in consultation with the regional center, the consumer, and the consumer's parents, legal guardian, or conservator, when appropriate, determines that admittance to a state developmental center is necessary to prevent a substantial risk to the individual's health and safety, the regional resource development project shall immediately facilitate that admission.

(d) The department shall collect data on the outcomes of efforts to assist at-risk consumers to remain in the community. The department shall make aggregate data on the implementation of the requirements of this section available, upon request.

SEC. 30.5. Section 4631.5 is added to the Welfare and Institutions Code, to read:

4631.5. (a) The Legislature finds and declares both of the following:

(1) The state is facing an unprecedented fiscal crisis that will require an unallocated reduction in the 2002–03 fiscal year for regional centers' purchase of service budgets of fifty-two million dollars ($52,000,000).

(2) Even when the state faces an unprecedented fiscal crisis, the services and supports set forth in the Lanterman Developmental Disabilities Services Act (Division 4.5 (commencing with Section 4500)) shall continue to be provided to individuals with developmental disabilities in accordance with state and federal statutes, regulations, and case law, including Association for Retarded Citizens v. Department of Developmental Services (1985) 38 Cal.3d 384.

(b) It is the intent of the Legislature that actions taken pursuant to this section shall not eliminate an individual's eligibility, adversely affect an individual's health and safety, or interfere with an individual's rights as described in Section 4502.

(c) In order to ensure that services to eligible consumers are available throughout the fiscal year, regional centers shall administer their contracts within the level of funding appropriated by the annual Budget Act.

(d) Within 30 days of the enactment of the annual Budget Act, and after consultation with stakeholder organizations, the department shall determine the amount of unallocated reduction that each regional center shall make in its purchase-of-service budget and shall provide each regional center with guidelines, technical assistance, and a variety of options for reducing operations and purchase of service costs.

(e) Within 60 days of the enactment of the annual Budget Act, each regional center shall develop and submit a plan to the department describing in detail how it intends to absorb the unallocated reduction and achieve savings necessary to provide services to eligible consumers throughout the fiscal year within the limitations of the funds allocated. Prior to adopting the plan, each regional center shall hold a public hearing in order to receive comment on the plan. The regional center shall provide notice to the community at least 10 days in advance of the public hearing. The regional center shall summarize and respond to the public testimony in its plan.

(f) A regional center shall implement components of its plans upon approval of the department. Within 30 days of receipt of the plan, the department shall review and approve, or require modification of, portions of the regional center's plan.

(g) This section shall become inoperative on July, 1, 2004, and, as of January 1, 2005, is repealed, unless a later enacted statute, that becomes operative on or before January 1, 2005, deletes or extends the dates on which it becomes inoperative and is repealed.

SEC. 31. Section 4640.6 of the Welfare and Institutions Code is amended to read:

4640.6. (a) In approving regional center contracts, the department shall ensure that regional center staffing patterns demonstrate that direct service coordination are the highest priority.

(b) Contracts between the department and regional centers shall require that regional centers implement an emergency response system that ensures that a regional center staff person will respond to a consumer, or individual acting on behalf of a consumer, within two hours of the time an emergency call is placed. This emergency response system shall be operational 24 hours per day, 365 days per year.

(c) Contracts between the department and regional centers shall require regional centers to have service coordinator-to-consumer ratios, as follows:

(1) An average service coordinator-to-consumer ratio of 1 to 62 for all consumers who have not moved from the developmental centers to the community since April 14, 1993. In no case shall a service coordinator for these consumers have an assigned caseload in excess of 79 consumers for more than 60 days.

(2) An average service coordinator-to-consumer ratio of 1 to 45 for all consumers who have moved from a developmental center to the community since April 14, 1993. In no case shall a service coordinator for these consumers have an assigned caseload in excess of 59 consumers for more than 60 days.

(d) For purposes of this section, ''service coordinator'' means a regional center employee whose primary responsibility includes preparing, implementing, and monitoring consumers' individual program plans, securing and coordinating consumer services and supports, and providing placement and monitoring activities.

(e) In order to ensure that caseload ratios are maintained pursuant to this section, each regional center shall provide service coordinator caseload data to the department in September and March of each fiscal year, commencing in the 1999–2000 fiscal year. The data shall be submitted in a format prescribed by the department. Within 30 days of receipt of data submitted pursuant to this subdivision, the department shall make a summary of the data available to the public upon request. The department shall verify the accuracy of the data when conducting regional center fiscal audits. Data submitted by regional centers pursuant to this subdivision shall:

(1) Only include data on service coordinator positions as defined in subdivision (d). Regional centers shall identify the number of positions that perform service coordinator duties on less than a full-time basis. Staffing ratios reported pursuant to this subdivision shall reflect the appropriate proportionality of these staff to consumers served.

(2) Be reported separately for service coordinators whose caseload primarily includes any of the following:

(A) Consumers who are three years of age and older and who have not moved from the developmental center to the community since April 14, 1993.

(B) Consumers who have moved from a developmental center to the community since April 14, 1993.

(C) Consumers who are younger than three years of age.

(3) Not include positions that are vacant for more than 60 days.

(f) The department shall provide technical assistance and require a plan of correction for any regional center that, for two consecutive reporting periods, fails to maintain service coordinator caseload ratios required by this section or otherwise demonstrates an inability to maintain appropriate staffing patterns pursuant to this section. Plans of correction shall be developed following input from the local area board, local organizations representing consumers, family members, regional center employees, including recognized labor organizations, and service providers, and other interested parties.

(g) Contracts between the department and regional center shall require the regional center to have, or contract for, all of the following areas:

(1) Criminal justice expertise to assist the regional center in providing services and support to consumers involved in the criminal justice system as a victim, defendant, inmate, or parolee.

(2) Special education expertise to assist the regional center in providing advocacy and support to families seeking appropriate educational services from a school district.

(3) Family support expertise to assist the regional center in maximizing the effectiveness of support and services provided to families.

(4) Housing expertise to assist the regional center in accessing affordable housing for consumers in independent or supportive living arrangements.

(7) Each regional center shall employ at least one consumer advocate who is a person with developmental disabilities.

(8) Other staffing arrangements related to the delivery of services that the department determines are necessary to ensure maximum cost-effectiveness and to ensure that the service needs of consumers and families are met.

(h) Any regional center proposing a staffing arrangement that substantially deviates from the requirements of this section shall request a waiver from the department. Prior to granting a waiver, the department shall require a detailed staffing proposal, including, but not limited to, how the proposed staffing arrangement will benefit consumers and families served, and shall demonstrate clear and convincing support for the proposed staffing arrangement from constituencies served and impacted, that include, but are not limited to, consumers, families, providers, advocates, and recognized labor organizations. In addition, the regional center shall submit to the department any written opposition to the proposal from organizations or individuals, including, but not limited to, consumers, families, providers, and advocates, including recognized labor organizations. The department may grant waivers to regional centers that sufficiently demonstrate that the proposed staffing arrangement is in the best interest of consumers and families served, complies with the requirements of this chapter, and does not violate any contractual requirements. A waiver shall be approved by the department for up to 12 months, at which time a regional center may submit a new request pursuant to this subdivision.

(i) The requirements of subdivisions (c), (f), and (h) shall not apply when a regional center is required to develop an expenditure plan pursuant to Section 4791, and when the expenditure plan addresses the specific impact of the budget reduction on staffing requirements and the expenditure plan is approved by the department.

(j) (1) Any contract between the department and a regional center entered into on and after January 1, 2003, shall require that all employment contracts entered into with regional center staff or contractors be available to the public for review, upon request. For purposes of this subdivision, an employment contract or portion thereof may not be deemed confidential nor unavailable for public review.

(2) Notwithstanding paragraph (1), the social security number of the contracting party may not be disclosed.

(3) The term of the employment contract between the regional center and an employee or contractor shall not exceed the term of the state's contract with the regional center.

Assessment shall be performed as soon as possible and in no event more than 60 days following initial intake where any delay would expose the client to unnecessary risk to his or her health and safety or to significant further delay in mental or physical development, or the client would be at imminent risk of placement in a more restrictive environment. Assessment may include collection and review of available historical diagnostic data, provision or procurement of necessary tests and evaluations, and summarization of developmental levels and service needs and is conditional upon receipt of the release of information specified in subdivision (b). On and after July 1, 2003, the assessment shall be performed within 60 days following intake and if unusual circumstances prevent the completion of assessment within 60 days following intake, this assessment period may be extended by one 30-day period with the advance written approval of the department.

(b) In determining if an individual meets the definition of developmental disability contained in subdivision (a) of Section 4512, the regional center may consider evaluations and tests, including, but not limited to, intelligence tests, adaptive functioning tests, neurological and neuropsychological tests, diagnostic tests performed by a physician, psychiatric tests, and other tests or evaluations that have been performed by, and are available from, other sources.

(1) Gathering information and conducting assessments to determine the life goals, capabilities and strengths, preferences, barriers, and concerns or problems of the person with developmental disabilities. For children with developmental disabilities, this process should include a review of the strengths, preferences, and needs of the child and the family unit as a whole. Assessments shall be conducted by qualified individuals and performed in natural environments whenever possible. Information shall be taken from the consumer, his or her parents and other family members, his or her friends, advocates, providers of services and supports, and other agencies. The assessment process shall reflect awareness of, and sensitivity to, the lifestyle and cultural background of the consumer and the family.

(2) A statement of goals, based on the needs, preferences, and life choices of the individual with developmental disabilities, and a statement of specific, time-limited objectives for implementing the person's goals and addressing his or her needs. These objectives shall be stated in terms that allow measurement of progress or monitoring of service delivery. These goals and objectives should maximize opportunities for the consumer to develop relationships, be part of community life in the areas of community participation, housing, work, school, and leisure, increase control over his or her life, acquire increasingly positive roles in community life, and develop competencies to help accomplish these goals.

(3) When developing individual program plans for children, regional centers shall be guided by the principles, process, and services and support parameters set forth in Section 4685.

(4) A schedule of the type and amount of services and supports to be purchased by the regional center or obtained from generic agencies or other resources in order to achieve the individual program plan goals and objectives, and identification of the provider or providers of service responsible for attaining each objective, including, but not limited to, vendors, contracted providers, generic service agencies, and natural supports. The plan shall specify the approximate scheduled start date for services and supports and shall contain timelines for actions necessary to begin services and supports, including generic services.

(5) When agreed to by the consumer, the parents or legally appointed guardian of a minor consumer, or the legally appointed conservator of an adult consumer or the authorized representative, including those appointed pursuant to Section 4590 and subdivision (e) of Section 4705, a review of the general health status of the adult or child including a medical, dental, and mental health needs shall be conducted. This review shall include a discussion of current medications, any observed side effects, and the date of last review of the medication. Service providers shall cooperate with the planning team to provide any information necessary to complete the health status review. If any concerns are noted during the review, referrals shall be made to regional center clinicians or to the consumer's physician, as appropriate. Documentation of health status and referrals shall be made in the consumer's record by the service coordinator.

(6) A schedule of regular periodic review and reevaluation to ascertain that planned services have been provided, that objectives have been fulfilled within the times specified, and that consumers and families are satisfied with the individual program plan and its implementation.

(b) For all active cases, individual program plans shall be reviewed and modified by the planning team, through the process described in Section 4646, as necessary, in response to the person's achievement or changing needs, and no less often than once every three years. If the consumer or, where appropriate, the consumer's parents, legal guardian, or conservator requests an individual program plan review, the individual program shall be reviewed within 30 days after the request is submitted.

(c) (1) The department, with the participation of representatives of a statewide consumer organization, the Association of Regional Center Agencies, an organized labor organization representing service coordination staff, and the Organization of Area Boards shall prepare training material and a standard format and instructions for the preparation of individual program plans, which embodies an approach centered on the person and family.

(2) Each regional center shall use the training materials and format prepared by the department pursuant to paragraph (1).

This provision shall not apply to any of the following:

The department shall audit and monitor the use of these funds to ensure they are used solely in support of Adult System of Care programming. If county programs receiving adult system of care funding do not comply with program and audit requirements determined by the department, funding shall be redistributed to other counties to implement, expand, or model adult systems of care.

(b) The department may allocate the funds appropriated in Schedule (3) of Item 4440-101-0001 of the annual Budget Act, to county mental health programs for Children's System of Care programming. These funds shall be utilized by counties only in support of a mental health system serving seriously emotionally disturbed children, in accordance with the principles and program requirements associated with the system of care model, as set forth in Part 4 (commencing with Section 5850). The department shall audit and monitor the use of these funds to ensure they are used solely in support of the Children's System of Care program. If county programs receiving children's system of care funding do not comply with program and audit requirements determined by the department, funds shall be redistributed to other counties to implement, expand, or model children's system of care programming.

14000.03. (a) The Legislature finds and declares that Section 1396a(a)(11)(A) of Title 42 of the United States Code provides that California's state plan for medical assistance under the Medicaid program must ''provide for entering into cooperative arrangements with the State agencies responsible for administering or supervising the administration of health services and vocational rehabilitation services in the State looking toward maximum utilization of such services in the provision of medical assistance under the plan.''

(b) In furtherance of Section 1396a(a)(11)(A) of Title 42 of the United States Code and Section 7560 of the Government Code, it is the intent of the Legislature to maximize the amount of federal and state funds continually available under agreements identified in Section 1396a(a)(11)(A) of Title 42 of the United States Code and entered into by the State Department of Health Services by making later-appropriated and budgeted funds immediately encumbered and available for expenditure under agreements by operation of law.

(c) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, upon additional funds being appropriated and budgeted for the support of the services identified within the scope of work of an agreement of the type identified in Section 1396a (a)(11)(A) of Title 42 of the United States Code and previously entered into by the State Department of Health Services, the

These services may be made available to any person who may be eligible for or is receiving benefits under this chapter. Funds appropriated in the annual Budget Act for the support of the Office of the Ombudsman may be allocated for this purpose.

SEC. 43. Section 14005.41 of the Welfare and Institutions Code is amended to read:

14005.41. (a) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the department shall deem to have met the income documentation requirements for participation in the Medi-Cal program, without a share of cost, any child who is less than six years of age and who has been determined to be eligible for free meals through a federally funded program using the National School Lunch application provided for pursuant to Chapter 13 (commencing with Section 1751) of Title 42 of the United States Code.

(b) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, with regard to any child who is enrolled in and attending public school in the State of California, the department shall accept documentation of enrollment for free meals under the National School Lunch Program as sufficient documentation of California residency for that child for the purposes of the Medi-Cal program.

(c) (1) (A) Effective July 1, 2003, notwithstanding any other provision of law, each county shall participate in a statewide pilot project to determine Medi-Cal program eligibility for any child under six years of age and currently enrolled in school in the State of California who is eligible for free meals under the National School Lunch Program upon receipt of proof of participation in the National School Lunch Program and a signed Medi-Cal application, which may be the supplemented application, described in subdivision (i). Counties shall notify the parent or guardian of the results of the eligibility determination.

(B) Effective July 1, 2003, notwithstanding any other provision of law, each county shall participate in a statewide pilot project to use the procedure described in this subdivision to determine Medi-Cal eligibility without a share of cost, and, if eligible, shall enroll in the Medi-Cal program, any child six years of age or older currently enrolled in school in the State of California who is eligible for free meals under the National School Lunch Program, upon receipt of proof of participation in the National School Lunch Program and a signed Medi-Cal application, which may be the supplemented application, described in subdivision (i). If the county determines from the supplemented application described in subdivision (i) that the child meets the eligibility requirements for participation in the Medi-Cal program, the county shall notify the parent or guardian that the child has been found eligible for the Medi-Cal program. If the county is unable to determine from the information on the application as described in subdivision (i) whether the child is eligible, the county shall contact the family to seek any additional information regarding income, household composition, or deductions that the department, in consultation with the county welfare departments, may determine to be necessary to complete the Medi-Cal application. If the county determines that the child does not meet the eligibility requirements for participation in the Medi-Cal program, the county shall notify the parent or guardian of the determination and shall send the parent or guardian an application for the Healthy Families Program.

(2) Each county shall ask the parent or guardian of each child identified in subparagraph (A) of paragraph (1) and the parent or guardian of each child whom the county determines to meet the income eligibility requirements for participation in the Medi-Cal program under subparagraph (B) of paragraph (1) to provide additional documentation as required by current law necessary for retention of eligibility in the Medi-Cal program. If a parent or guardian does not provide the documentation required for retention of full-scope Medi-Cal program eligibility, the county shall continue the child's enrollment in the Medi-Cal program, but only for the limited scope of Medi-Cal program benefits as described in Section 14007.5.

(d) Nothing in this section shall be construed as preventing the department from verifying eligibility through the Income Eligibility Verification System match mandated by Section 1137 of the federal Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. Sec. 1320b-7) or from requesting additional information or documentation required by federal law.

(e) Each county shall include its cost of implementing this section in its annual Medi-Cal administrative budget requests submitted to the department.

(f) For purposes of this section, the Medi-Cal program application date shall be the date on which the school lunch application information is received by the local agency determining eligibility under the Medi-Cal program.

(g) (1) This section shall be implemented on July 1, 2003, only if, and to the extent that, federal financial participation is available for the services provided and only for the period of time the free National School Lunch Program utilizes a gross income standard at or below 133 percent of the federal poverty level. This section shall be implemented in a manner consistent with any federal approval.

(2) Notwithstanding paragraph (1), if the department determines that one or more state plan amendments are necessary to ensure full federal financial participation in the provisions of this section, the department shall prepare and submit requests for the state plan amendments to the federal government, after which this section shall not be implemented until the later of the date the department receives approval of all necessary state plan amendments, or July 1, 2003.

(h) (1) Notwithstanding subdivision (g), not later than March 1, 2003, the department, in consultation with the State Department of Education and representatives of the school districts, county superintendents of schools, local agencies that administer the Medi-Cal program, consumer advocates, and other stakeholders, shall develop and distribute the policies and procedures, including any all-county letters, necessary to implement Section 49557.2 of the Education Code and this section.

(2) The policies and procedures required to be developed and distributed pursuant to subdivision (a) shall include, at a minimum, both of the following:

(A) Processes for the school districts, county superintendents of schools, and local agencies that administer the Medi-Cal program to use in forwarding and processing free school lunch application information pursuant to Section 49557.2 of the Education Code, and in following up with the applicants to obtain any necessary documentation required by federal law.

(B) Instructions for implementing the eligibility provisions of this chapter.

(3) The policies and procedures required to be developed pursuant to subdivision (a) shall specify all of the following:

(A) The information on the school lunch application may be used to initiate a Medi-Cal program application only when the applicant has provided his or her consent pursuant to Section 49557.2 of the Education Code.

(B) The date of the Medi-Cal program application shall be the date on which the school lunch application was received by the local agency that determines eligibility under the Medi-Cal program.

(C) The county, in determining eligibility for the Medi-Cal program, shall request additional documentation only as required by federal law, and shall enroll any child whose parent or guardian does not provide the necessary documentation for full-scope benefits under the Medi-Cal program in the Medi-Cal program with limited scope benefits, as described in Section 14007.5.

(i) To the extent federal financial participation is available, and to the extent administratively feasible, the department shall utilize the free National School Lunch Application developed under Section 49557.2 of the Education Code, if supplemented as needed by simplified forms and disclosures, including Medi-Cal rights and responsibility notices and privacy notices, as a Medi-Cal application for children described in this section.

(j) Notwithstanding Chapter 3.5 (commencing with Section 11340) of Part 1 of Division 3 of Title 2 of the Government Code, the department shall implement this section by means of all-county letters or similar instructions without taking regulatory action. Thereafter, the department shall adopt regulations in accordance with the requirements of Chapter 3.5 (commencing with Section 11340) of Part 1 of Division 3 of Title 2 of the Government Code.

(k) The department shall review the effectiveness of the statewide pilot project and make recommendations regarding appropriate ways to expand the use of the approaches contained in this section.

(l) In order to expedite health coverage for children who have been determined eligible for free meals under the National School Lunch Program, the department, at its discretion, may choose to implement this section in whole or in part by exercising the option described in Section 1396r-1a of Title 42 of the United States Code to allow information provided on the National School Lunch Program application referred to, and supplemented as described, in paragraph (1) of subdivision (a) of Section 49557.2 of the Education Code to serve as a basis for a preliminary eligibility determination by a qualified entity designated by the department.

SEC. 44. Section 14011.6 of the Welfare and Institutions Code is amended to read:

14011.6. (a) To the extent federal financial participation is available, the department shall exercise the option provided in Section

1920a of the federal Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. Sec. 1396r-1a) to implement a program for accelerated enrollment of children.

(b) The department shall designate the single point of entry, as defined in subdivision (c), as the qualified entity for determining eligibility under this section.

(c) For purposes of this section, ''single point of entry'' means the centralized processing entity that accepts and screens applications for benefits under the Medi-Cal Program for the purpose of forwarding them to the appropriate counties.

(d) The department shall implement this section only if, and to the extent that, federal financial participation is available.

(e) The department shall seek federal approval of any state plan amendments necessary to implement this section. When federal approval of the state plan amendment or amendments is received, the department shall commence implementation of this section on the first day of the second month following the month in which federal approval of the state plan amendment or amendments is received, or on July 1, 2002, whichever is later.

(f) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the department shall implement this section only if, and to the extent that, the federal State Children's Health Insurance Program waiver described in Section 12693.755 of the Insurance Code is approved by the federal government.

(g) Notwithstanding Chapter 3.5 (commencing with Section 11340) of Part 1 of Division 3 of Title 2 of the Government Code, the department shall, without taking any regulatory action, implement this section by means of all-county letters. Thereafter, the department shall adopt regulations in accordance with the requirements of Chapter 3.5 (commencing with Section 11340) of Part 1 of Division 3 of Title 2 of the Government Code.

(h) Upon the receipt of an application for a child who has coverage pursuant to the accelerated enrollment program, a county shall determine whether the child is eligible for Medi-Cal benefits. If the county determines that the child does not meet the eligibility requirements for participation in the Medi-Cal program, the county shall report this finding to the Medical Eligibility Data System so that accelerated enrollment coverage benefits are discontinued. The information to be reported shall consist of the minimum data elements necessary to discontinue that coverage for the child. This subdivision shall become operative on July 1, 2002, or the date that the program for accelerated enrollment coverage for children takes effect, whichever is later.

SEC. 45. Section 14011.7 is added to the Welfare and Institutions Code, to read:

14011.7. (a) To the extent allowed under federal law and only if federal financial participation is available, the department shall exercise the option provided in Section 1396r-1a of Title 42 of the United States Code and the Managed Risk Medical Insurance Board shall exercise the option provided in Section 1397gg(e)(1)(D) of Title 42 of the United States Code to implement a program for preenrollment of children into the Medi-Cal program or the Healthy Families Program. Upon the exercise of both of the federal options described in this subdivision, the department shall implement and administer a program of preenrollment of children into the Medi-Cal program or the Healthy Families Program.

(b) Before July 1, 2003, the department shall develop an electronic application to serve as the application for preenrollment into the Medi-Cal program or the Healthy Families Program and to also serve as an application for the Child Health and Disability Prevention (CHDP) program, to the extent allowed under federal law.

(c) (1) The department may designate, as necessary, those CHDP program providers described in paragraphs (1) to (5), inclusive, of subdivision (g) of Section 124030 of the Health and Safety Code as qualified entities who are authorized to determine eligibility for the CHDP program and for preenrollment into either the Medi-Cal program or the Healthy Families Program as authorized under this section.

(2) The CHDP provider shall assist the parent or guardian of the child seeking eligibility for the CHDP program and for preenrollment into the Medi-Cal program or the Healthy Families Program in completing the electronic application.

(d) The electronic application developed pursuant to subdivision (b) may only be filed through the CHDP program when the child is in need of CHDP program services in accordance with the periodicity schedule used by the CHDP program.

(e) (1) The electronic application developed pursuant to subdivision (b) shall request all information necessary for a CHDP provider to make an immediate determination as to whether a child meets the eligibility requirements for CHDP and for preenrollment into either the Medi-Cal program or the Healthy Families Program pursuant to the federal options described in Section 1396r-1a or 1397gg(e)(1)(D) of Title 42 of the United States Code.

(2) (A) If the electronic application indicates that the child is seeking eligibility for either no cost full-scope Medi-Cal benefits or enrollment in the Healthy Families Program, the department shall mail to the child's parent or guardian a followup application for Medi-Cal program eligibility or enrollment in the Healthy Families Program. The parent or guardian of the child shall be advised to complete and submit to the appropriate entity the followup application.

(B) The followup application, at a minimum, shall include all notices and forms necessary for both a Medi-Cal program and a Healthy Families Program eligibility determination under state and federal law, including, but not limited to, any information and documentation that is required for the joint application package described in Section 14011.1.

(C) The date of application for the Medi-Cal program or the Healthy Families Program is the date the completed followup application is submitted with the appropriate entity by the parent or guardian.

(3) Upon making a determination pursuant to paragraph (1) that a child is eligible, the CHDP provider shall inform the child's parent or guardian of both of the following:

(A) That the child has been determined to be eligible for services under the CHDP program and, if applicable, eligible for preenrollment into either the Medi-Cal program or the Healthy Families Program.

(B) That if the child has been determined to be eligible for preenrollment into either the Medi-Cal program or the Healthy Families Program, the period of preenrollment eligibility will end on the last day of the month following the month in which the determination of preenrollment eligibility is made, unless the parent or guardian completes and returns to the appropriate entity the followup application described in paragraph (2) on or before that date.

(4) If the followup application described in paragraph (2) is submitted on or before the last day of the month following the month in which a determination is made that the child is eligible for preenrollment into either the Medi-Cal program or the Healthy Families Program, the period of preenrollment eligibility shall continue until the completion of the determination process for the applicable program or programs.

(f) The scope and delivery of benefits provided to a child who is preenrolled for the Healthy Families Program pursuant to this section shall be identical to the scope and delivery of benefits received by a child who is preenrolled for the Medi-Cal program pursuant to this section.

(g) The department and the Managed Risk Medical Insurance Board shall seek approval of any amendments to the state plan, necessary to implement this section, for purposes of funding under Title XIX (42 U.S.C. 1396 et seq.) and Title XXI (42 U.S.C. 1397aa et seq.) of the Social Security Act. Notwithstanding any other provision of law and only when all necessary federal approvals have been obtained, this section shall be implemented only to the extent federal financial participation is available.

(h) Upon the implementation of this section, this section shall control in the event of a conflict with any provision of Article 6 (commencing with Section 124025) of Chapter 3 of Part 2 of Division 106 of the Health and Safety Code governing the Child Health and Disability Prevention program.

(i) To implement this section, the department may contract with public or private entities, or utilize existing health care service provider enrollment and payment mechanisms, including the Medi-Cal program's fiscal intermediary, only if services provided under the program are specifically identified and reimbursed in a manner that appropriately claims federal financial reimbursement. Contracts, including the Medi-Cal fiscal intermediary contract for the Child Health and Disability Prevention Program, including any contract amendment, any system change pursuant to a change order, and any project or systems development notice shall be exempt from Part 2 (commencing with Section 10100) of Division 2 of the Public Contract Code, Chapter 7 (commencing with Section 11700) of Part 1 of Division 3 of Title 2 of the Government Code, Section 19130 of the Government Code, and any policies, procedures, or regulations authorized by these laws.

(j) Notwithstanding Chapter 3.5 (commencing with Section 11340) of Part 1 of Division 3 of Title 2 of the Government Code, the department shall implement this section by means of all-county letters or similar instructions, without taking any further regulatory action. Thereafter, the department shall adopt regulations, as necessary, to implement this section in accordance with the requirements of Chapter 3.5 (commencing with Section 11340) of Part 1 of Division 3 of Title 2 of the Government Code.

(k) Notwithstanding subdivision (g), in no event shall this section be implemented before April 1, 2003.

SEC. 46. Section 14011.8 is added to the Welfare and Institutions Code, to read:

14011.8. (a) Benefits provided to an individual pursuant to a preliminary determination as described in Section 1396r-1, 1396r-1a, or 1396r-1b of Title 42 of the United States Code shall end, without the necessity for any further review or determination by the department, on or before the last day of the month following the month in which the preliminary determination was made, unless an application for medical assistance under the state plan is filed on or before that date.

(b) If an application for medical assistance is filed on or before the last day of the month following the month in which the preliminary determination was made, preliminary benefits shall continue until the regular eligibility determination based on the application has been completed. The application shall be treated in all respects as an initial application for benefits and the following shall apply:

(1) In the case of an applicant who is found eligible for medical assistance, benefits shall be granted in an amount and under those conditions, including imposition of a share of cost, as have been found applicable pursuant to the regular eligibility determination.

(2) In the case of all other applicants, provision of preliminary benefits shall end on the day that the regular eligibility determination is made.

(c) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, medical assistance pursuant to a preliminary determination as described in Section 1396r-1, 1396r-1a, or 1396r-1b of Title 42 of the United States Code shall be provided only if and to the extent federal financial participation is available.

SEC. 47. Section 14011.9 is added to the Welfare and Institutions Code, to read:

14011.9. (a) On or before October 1, 2002, the department shall issue instructions to counties via an all-county letter or similar instructions to establish an automated system for tracking the status of applications received by county welfare departments from the centralized processing entity that accepts and screens applications for benefits under the Medi-Cal program for the purpose of forwarding these applications to the appropriate counties. Except for reporting denials of applications on behalf of children enrolled in accelerated Medi-Cal coverage pursuant to subdivision (g) of Section 14011.6, the department shall not institute a process to require county welfare departments to routinely manually report to the Medi-Cal Eligibility Data System (MEDS) regarding the status of applications for Medi-Cal coverage prior to the development of an interface between that county's automated eligibility determination system and the MEDS system for the purposes of implementing this section. It is the intent of the Legislature that the Health Human Services Data Center and the counties complete the automation changes necessary to implement the automated tracking system on or before July 1, 2003.

(b) This section shall be implemented only to the extent that federal financial participation is not jeopardized.

(c) Nothing in this section shall be construed as prohibiting the department from requiring a county to report on the status of an individual application or to manually generate a report on a statistically valid sampling of applications pursuant to federally required monitoring activities.

SEC. 47.5. Section 14019.3 of the Welfare and Institutions Code is amended to read:

14019.3. (a) A beneficiary or any person on behalf of the beneficiary who has paid for health care services otherwise covered by the Medi-Cal program received by the beneficiary shall be entitled to a return from the provider of any part of the payment that meets all of the following:

(1) Was rendered during any period prior to the receipt of his or her Medi-Cal card, for which the card authorizes payment under Section 14018 or 14019.

(2) Was reimbursed to the provider by the Medi-Cal program, following all audits and appeals to which the provider is entitled.

(3) Is not payable by a third party under contractual or other legal entitlement.

(4) Was not used to satisfy his or her paid or obligated liability for health care services or to establish eligibility.

(b) To the extent permitted by federal law, whether or not a facility actually evicts a beneficiary, a beneficiary who may validly be evicted pursuant to Section 1439.7 of the Health and Safety Code, and who has received and paid for health care services otherwise covered by the Medi-Cal program shall not be entitled to the return from the provider of any part of the payment for which service was rendered during any period prior to the date upon which knowledge is acquired by the licensee of the application of the beneficiary for Medi-Cal or the date of application for Medi-Cal, whichever is later.

(c) Upon presentation of the Medi-Cal card or other proof of eligibility, the provider shall submit a Medi-Cal claim for reimbursement, subject to the rules and regulations of the Medi-Cal program.

(d) Notwithstanding subdivision (c), payment received from the state in accordance with Medi-Cal fee structures shall constitute payment in full, except that a provider, after making a full refund to the department of any Medi-Cal payments received for services, may recover all provider fees to the extent that any other contractual entitlement, including, but not limited to, a private group or indemnification insurance program, is obligated to pay the charges for the care provided the beneficiary.

(e) The provider shall return any and all payments made by the beneficiary, or any person on behalf of the beneficiary, other than a third party obligated to pay charges by reason of the beneficiary's other contractual or legal entitlement for Medi-Cal program covered services upon receipt of Medi-Cal payment.

(f) To the extent permitted by federal law, the department shall waive overpayments made to a pharmacy provider that would otherwise be reimbursable to the department for prescription drugs returned to the pharmacy provider from a nursing facility upon discontinuation of the drug therapy or death of the beneficiary.

14051. (a) ''Medically needy person'' means any of the following:

(b) ''Medically needy family person'' means a parent or caretaker relative of a child who meets the deprivation requirements of Aid to Families with Dependent Children or a child under 21 years of age or a pregnant woman of any age with a confirmed pregnancy, exclusive of those persons specified in subdivision (a), whose income and resources are insufficient to provide for the costs of health care or coverage.

SEC. 49. Section 14085.7 of the Welfare and Institutions Code is amended to read:

14085.7. (a) The Medi-Cal Medical Education Supplemental Payment Fund is hereby created in the State Treasury. Notwithstanding Section 13340 of the Government Code, the fund shall be continuously appropriated to, and under the administrative control of, the department for the purposes specified in this section. Except as otherwise limited by this section, the fund shall consist of all of the following:

(3) Any amounts appropriated to the fund by the Legislature.

(4) Any interest that accrues on amounts in the fund.

(b) Any public agency transferring moneys to the fund may, for that purpose, utilize any revenues, grants, or allocations received from the state for health care programs or purposes, unless otherwise prohibited by law. A public agency may also utilize its general funds or any other public moneys or revenues for purposes of transfers to the fund, unless otherwise prohibited by law.

(c) The department shall have the discretion to accept or not accept moneys offered to the department for deposit in the fund. If the department accepts moneys pursuant to this section, the department shall obtain federal matching funds to the full extent permitted by law.

The department shall accept only those funds that are certified by the transferring or donating entity as qualifying for federal financial participation under the terms of the Medicaid Voluntary Contribution and Provider-Specific Tax Amendments of 1991 (P.L. 102-234) or Section 433.51 of Title 42 of the Code of Federal Regulations, as applicable, and may return any funds transferred or donated in error.

(d) Moneys in the fund shall be used as the source for the nonfederal share of payments to hospitals under this section. Moneys shall be allocated from the fund by the department and matched by federal funds in accordance with customary Medi-Cal accounting procedures for purposes of payments under subdivision (e). (f) The state shall be held harmless from any federal disallowance resulting from this section. A hospital receiving supplemental reimbursement pursuant to this section shall be liable for any reduced federal financial participation resulting from the implementation of this section with respect to that hospital. The state may recoup any federal disallowance from the hospital.

(g) This section shall become inoperative on July 1, 2004, and, as of January 1, 2005, is repealed, unless a later enacted statute, that becomes effective on or before January 1, 2005, deletes or extends the dates on which it becomes inoperative and is repealed.

A public agency may also utilize its general funds or any other public moneys or revenues for purposes of transfers to the fund, unless otherwise prohibited by law.

(e) The department may accept or not accept moneys offered to the department for deposit in the fund. If the department accepts moneys pursuant to this section, the department shall obtain federal matching funds to the full extent permitted by law. The department shall accept only those funds that are certified by the transferring or donating entity as qualifying for federal financial participation under the terms of the Medicaid Voluntary Contribution and Provider-Specific Tax Amendments of 1991 (P.L. 102-234) or Section 433.51 of Title 42 of the Code of Federal Regulations, as applicable, and may return any funds transferred or donated in error.

(f) Moneys in the fund shall be used as the source for the nonfederal share of payments to hospitals under this section. SEC. 51. Section 14103.6 of the Welfare and Institutions Code, as amended by Section 1 of Chapter 1005 of the Statutes of 1975, is amended to read:

14103.6. The director, or a carrier acting under regulations adopted by the director, may require that any individual provider shall receive prior authorization before providing services when the director or carrier determines that the provider has been rendering unnecessary services.

At any time the director determines that it is necessary to postpone elective services pursuant to Section 14120, he or she shall require prior authorization for those services determined to be generally elective under the provisions of Section 14103.4, except a service which costs less than one hundred dollars ($100) or a lower amount determined by the director. This lower amount may be applied generally or for specific services. The director may terminate the requirement for prior authorization when he or she determines that it is no longer necessary to postpone elective services.

Prior authorization for services provided by persons licensed under the provisions of Chapter 4 (commencing with Section 1600) and Chapter 7 (commencing with Section 3000) of Division 2 of the Business and Professions Code shall be determined by consultants licensed under Chapter 4 or Chapter 7 respectively. Prior authorization for all other elective services shall be determined by consultants licensed under the provisions of Chapter 5 (commencing with Section 2000) of Division 2 of the Business and Professions Code, provided, however, that prior authorization for pharmaceutical services may be determined by persons licensed under the provisions of Chapter 9 (commencing with Section 4000) of Division 2 of the Business and Professions Code, and prior authorization for services provided in an inpatient setting may be reviewed and approved, but not denied, by a person licensed under the provisions of Chapter 6 (commencing with Section 2700) of Division 2 of the Business and Professions Code, working under the supervision of a consultant licensed under the provisions of Chapter 5 (commencing with Section 2000) of Division 2 of the Business and Professions Code.

In no event shall prior authorization be required when there is a bona fide emergency requiring immediate treatment.

In carrying out this section, notwithstanding Section 19130 of the Government Code, the department may contract, either directly or through the fiscal intermediary, for staff to accomplish the treatment authorization request reviews and medical case management, including appeals. The fiscal intermediary contract, including any contract amendment, system change pursuant to a change order, and project or systems development notice shall be exempt from Part 2 (commencing with Section 10100) of Division 2 of the Public Contract Code, Chapter 7 (commencing with Section 11700) of Part 1 of Division 3 of Title 2 of the Government Code, and any policies, procedures, or regulations authorized by those laws.

SEC. 52. Section 14103.6 of the Welfare and Institutions Code, as amended by Section 1 of Chapter 682 of the Statutes of 1985, is amended to read:

14103.6. The director, or a carrier acting under regulations adopted by the director, may require that any individual provider shall receive prior authorization before providing services when the director or carrier determines that the provider has been rendering unnecessary services.

At any time the director determines that it is necessary to postpone elective services pursuant to Section 14120, he or she shall require prior authorization for those services determined to be generally elective under the provisions of Section 14103.4, except a service which costs less than one hundred dollars ($100) or a lower amount determined by the director. This lower amount may be applied generally or for specific services. The director may terminate the requirement for prior authorization when he or she determines that it is no longer necessary to postpone elective services.

Prior authorization for services provided by persons licensed under the provisions of Chapter 4 (commencing with Section 1600) and Chapter 7 (commencing with Section 3000) of Division 2 of the Business and Professions Code shall be determined by consultants licensed under Chapter 4 or Chapter 7 respectively. Prior authorization for all other elective services shall be determined by consultants licensed under the provisions of Chapter 5 (commencing with Section 2000) of Division 2 of the Business and Professions Code, provided, however, that prior authorization for pharmaceutical services may be determined by persons licensed under the provisions of Chapter 9 (commencing with Section 4000) of Division 2 of the Business and Professions Code, and prior authorization for services provided in an inpatient setting may be reviewed and approved, but not denied, by a person licensed under the provisions of Chapter 6 (commencing with Section 2700) of Division 2 of the Business and Professions Code, working under the supervision of a consultant licensed under the provisions of Chapter 5 (commencing with Section 2000) of Division 2 of the Business and Professions Code.

The consultants shall render decisions on prior authorization requests in a timely manner. A timely manner shall be deemed to be an average of five working days after the prior authorization request is received by the department. A decision shall be an approval, denial, modification, or request for additional information. A supplemental authorization request submitted with additional information requested by a consultant shall be processed in a timely manner as if it were an original authorization request. If no decision on a prior authorization request is rendered by the consultant within 30 days of receipt by the department, the request shall be deemed to be approved. Final decisions of the department on all requests for prior authorization shall be reviewable under the department's provider appeal and fair hearing procedures. If the request is denied, the department shall send notice to the provider and beneficiary of the right to appeal the decision.

In no event shall prior authorization be required when there is a bona fide emergency requiring immediate treatment.

In carrying out this section, notwithstanding Section 19130 of the Government Code, the department may contract, either directly or through the fiscal intermediary, for staff to accomplish the treatment authorization request reviews and medical case management, including appeals. The fiscal intermediary contract, including any contract amendment, system change pursuant to a change order, and project or systems development notice shall be exempt from Part 2 (commencing with Section 10100) of Division 2 of the Public Contract Code, Chapter 7 (commencing with Section 11700) of Part 1 of Division 3 of Title 2 of the Government Code, and any policies, procedures, or regulations authorized by those laws.

SEC. 53. Section 14105.18 is added to the Welfare and Institutions Code, to read:

14105.18. (a) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, provider rates of payment for services rendered in all of the following programs shall be identical to the rates of payment for the same service performed by the same provider type pursuant to the Medi-Cal program.

(1) The California Children's Services Program established pursuant to Article 5 (commencing with Section 123800) of Chapter 3 of Part 2 of Division 106 of the Health and Safety Code.

(2) The Genetically Handicapped Person's Program established pursuant to Article 1 (commencing with Section 125125) of Chapter 2 of Part 5 of Division 106 of the Health and Safety Code.

(3) The Breast and Cervical Cancer Early Detection Program established pursuant to Article 1.5 (commencing with Section 104150) of Chapter 2 of Part 1 of Division 103 of the Health and Safety Code and the breast cancer programs specified in Section 30461.6 of the Revenue and Taxation Code.

(4) The State-Only Family Planning Program established pursuant to Division 24 (commencing with Section 24000).

(5) The Family Planning, Access, Care, and Treatment (Family PACT) Waiver Program established pursuant to subdivision (aa) of Section 14132.

(b) The director may identify in regulations other programs not listed in subdivision (a) in which providers shall be paid rates of payment that are identical to the rates of payments in the Medi-Cal program pursuant to subdivision (a).

(c) Notwithstanding subdivision (a), services provided under any of the programs described in subdivisions (a) and (b) may be reimbursed at rates greater than the Medi-Cal rate that would otherwise be applicable if those rates are adopted by the director in regulations.

SEC. 53.5. Section 14105.2 of the Welfare and Institutions Code is amended to read:

14105.2. (a) The allowable markup payable for the dispensing of medical supplies by assistive device and sickroom supply dealers and pharmacies shall not exceed 23 percent of the cost of the item dispensed, as defined by the department.

(b) Payment for diabetic testing supplies shall not exceed the cost of the item dispensed, as defined by the department, plus a fee equal to the maximum professional fee component used in the payment for legend generic drug types.

SEC. 54. Section 14105.3 of the Welfare and Institutions Code is amended to read:

14105.3. (a) The department is considered to be the purchaser, but not the dispenser or distributor, of prescribed drugs under the Medi-Cal program for the purpose of enabling the department to obtain from manufacturers of prescribed drugs the most favorable price for those drugs furnished by one or more manufacturers, based upon the large quantity of the drugs purchased under the Medi-Cal program, and to enable the department, notwithstanding any other provision of state law, to obtain from the manufacturers discounts, rebates, or refunds based on the quantities purchased under the program, insofar as may be permissible under federal law. Nothing in this section shall interfere with usual and customary distribution practices in the drug industry.

(b) The department may enter into exclusive or nonexclusive contracts on a bid or negotiated basis with manufacturers, distributors, dispensers, or suppliers of appliances, durable medical equipment, medical supplies, and other product-type health care services and with laboratories for clinical laboratory services for the purpose of obtaining the most favorable prices to the state and to assure adequate quality of the product or service. This subdivision shall not apply to pharmacies licensed pursuant to Section 4080 of the Business and Professions Code.

(c) Notwithstanding subdivision (b), the department may not enter into a contract with a clinical laboratory unless the clinical laboratory operates in conformity with Chapter 3 (commencing with Section 1200) of Division 2 of the Business and Professions Code and the regulations adopted thereunder, and Section 263a of Title 42 of the United States Code and the regulations adopted thereunder.

(d) The department shall contract with manufacturers of single-source drugs on a negotiated basis, and with manufacturers of multisource drugs on a bid or negotiated basis.

(e) In carrying out contracting activity for this or any section associated with the Medi-Cal list of contract drugs, notwithstanding Section 19130 of the Government Code, the department may contract, either directly or through the fiscal intermediary, for pharmacy consultant staff necessary to accomplish the contracting process or treatment authorization request reviews. The fiscal intermediary contract, including any contract amendment, system change pursuant to a change order, and project or systems development notice shall be exempt from Part 2 (commencing with Section 10100) of Division 2 of the Public Contract Code, Chapter 7 (commencing with Section 11700) of Part 1 of Division 3 of Title 2 of the Government Code, and any policies, procedures, or regulations authorized by these provisions.

(f) In order to achieve maximum cost savings the Legislature hereby determines that an expedited contract process for contracts under this section is necessary. Therefore contracts under this section shall be exempt from Chapter 2 (commencing with Section 10290) of Part 2 of Division 2 of the Public Contract Code.

(g) For purposes of implementing the contracting provisions specified in this section, the department shall do all of the following:

(1) Ensure adequate access for Medi-Cal patients to quality laboratory testing services in the geographic regions of the state where contracting occurs.

(2) Consult with the statewide association of clinical laboratories and other appropriate stakeholders on the implementation of the contracting provisions specified in this section to ensure maximum access for Medi-Cal patients consistent with the savings targets projected by the 2002–03 Budget Conference Committee for clinical laboratory services provided under the Medi-Cal program.

(3) Consider which types of laboratories are appropriate for implementing the contracting provisions specified in this section, including independent laboratories, outreach laboratory programs of hospital based laboratories, clinic laboratories, physician office laboratories, and group practice laboratories.

SEC. 55. Section 14105.31 of the Welfare and Institutions Code is amended to read:

14105.31. For purposes of the Medi-Cal contract drug list, the following definitions shall apply:

(a) ''Single-source drug'' means a drug that is produced and distributed under an original New Drug Application approved by the federal Food and Drug Administration. This shall include a drug marketed by the innovator manufacturer and any cross-licensed producers or distributors operating under the New Drug Application, and shall also include a biological product, except for vaccines, marketed by the innovator manufacturer and any cross-licensed producers or distributors licensed by the federal Food and Drug Administration pursuant to Section 262 of Title 42 of the United States Code. A drug ceases to be a single-source drug when the same drug in the same dosage form and strength manufactured by another manufacturer is approved by the federal Food and Drug Administration under the provisions for an Abbreviated New Drug Application.

(b) ''Best price'' means the negotiated price, or the manufacturer's lowest price available to any class of trade organization or entity, including, but not limited to, wholesalers, retailers, hospitals, repackagers, providers, or governmental entities within the United States, that contracts with a manufacturer for a specified price for drugs, inclusive of cash discounts, free goods, volume discounts, rebates, and on- or off-invoice discounts or credits, shall be based upon the manufacturer's commonly used retail package sizes for the drug sold by wholesalers to retail pharmacies.

(c) ''Equalization payment amount'' means the amount negotiated between the manufacturer and the department for reimbursement by the manufacturer, as specified in the contract. The equalization payment amount shall be based on the difference between the manufacturer's direct catalog price charged to wholesalers and the manufacturer's best price, as defined in subdivision (b).

(d) ''Manufacturer'' means any person, partnership, corporation, or other institution or entity that is engaged in the production, preparation, propagation, compounding, conversion, or processing of drugs, either directly or indirectly by extraction from substances of natural origin, or independently by means of chemical synthesis, or by a combination of extraction and chemical synthesis, or in the packaging, repackaging, labeling, relabeling, and distribution of drugs.

(e) ''Price escalator'' means a mutually agreed upon price specified in the contract, to cover anticipated cost increases over the life of the contract.

(f) ''Medi-Cal pharmacy costs'' or ''Medi-Cal drug costs'' means all reimbursements to pharmacy providers for services or merchandise, including single-source or multiple-source prescription drugs, over-the-counter medications, and medical supplies, or any other costs billed by pharmacy providers under the Medi-Cal program.

(g) ''Medicaid rebate'' means the rebate payment made by drug manufacturers pursuant to Section 1927 of the federal Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. Sec. 1396r-8).

(h) ''State rebate'' means any negotiated rebate under the Drug Discount Program in addition to the medicaid rebate.

(i) ''Date of mailing'' means the date that is evidenced by the postmark date by the United States Postal Service or other common mail carrier on the envelope.

SEC. 56. Section 14105.33 of the Welfare and Institutions Code is amended to read:

14105.33. (a) The department may enter into contracts with manufacturers of single-source and multiple-source drugs, on a bid or nonbid basis, for drugs from each major therapeutic category, and shall maintain a list of those drugs for which contracts have been executed.

(b) (1) Contracts executed pursuant to this section shall be for the manufacturer's best price, as defined in Section 14105.31, which shall be specified in the contract, and subject to agreed-upon price escalators, as defined in that section. The contracts shall provide for an equalization payment amount, as defined in Section 14105.31, to be remitted to the department quarterly. The department shall submit an invoice to each manufacturer for the equalization payment amount, including supporting utilization data from the department's prescription drug paid claims tapes within 30 days of receipt of the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services' file of manufacturer rebate information. In lieu of paying the entire invoiced amount, a manufacturer may contest the invoiced amount pursuant to procedures established by the federal Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services' Medicaid Drug Rebate Program Releases or regulations by mailing a notice, that shall set forth its grounds for contesting the invoiced amount, to the department within 38 days of the department's mailing of the state invoice and supporting utilization data. For purposes of state accounting practices only, the contested balance shall not be considered an accounts receivable amount until final resolution of the dispute pursuant to procedures established by the federal Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services' Medicaid Drug Rebate Program Releases or regulations that results in a finding of an underpayment by the manufacturer. Manufacturers may request, and the department shall timely provide, at cost, Medi-Cal provider level drug utilization data, and other Medi-Cal utilization data necessary to resolve a contested department-invoiced rebate amount.

(2) The department shall provide for an annual audit of utilization data used to calculate the equalization amount to verify the accuracy of that data. The findings of the audit shall be documented in a written audit report to be made available to manufacturers within 90 days of receipt of the report from the auditor. Any manufacturer may receive a copy of the audit report upon written request. Contracts between the department and manufacturers shall provide for any equalization payment adjustments determined necessary pursuant to an audit.

(3) Utilization data used to determine an equalization payment amount shall exclude data from both of the following:

(A) Health maintenance organizations, as defined in Section 300e(a) of Title 42 of the United States Code, including those organizations that contract under Section 1396b(m) of Title 42 of the United States Code.

(B) Capitated plans that include a prescription drug benefit in the capitated rate, and that have negotiated contracts for rebates or discounts with manufacturers.

(c) In order that Medi-Cal beneficiaries may have access to a comprehensive range of therapeutic agents, the department shall ensure that there is representation on the list of contract drugs in all major therapeutic categories. Except as provided in subdivision (a) of Section 14105.35, the department shall not be required to contract with all manufacturers who negotiate for a contract in a particular category. The department shall ensure that there is sufficient representation of single-source and multiple-source drugs, as appropriate, in each major therapeutic category.

(d) The department shall select the therapeutic categories to be included on the list of contract drugs, and the order in which it seeks contracts for those categories. The department may establish different contracting schedules for single-source and multiple-source drugs within a given therapeutic category.

(e) (1) In order to fully implement subdivision (d), the department shall, to the extent necessary, negotiate or renegotiate contracts to ensure there are as many single-source drugs within each therapeutic category or subcategory as the department determines necessary to meet the health needs of the Medi-Cal population. The department may determine in selected therapeutic categories or subcategories that no single-source drugs are necessary because there are currently sufficient multiple-source drugs in the therapeutic category or subcategory on the list of contract drugs to meet the health needs of the Medi-Cal population. However, in no event shall a beneficiary be denied continued use of a drug which is part of a prescribed therapy in effect as of September 2, 1992, until the prescribed therapy is no longer prescribed.

(2) In the development of decisions by the department on the required number of single-source drugs in a therapeutic category or subcategory, and the relative therapeutic merits of each drug in a therapeutic category or subcategory, the department shall consult with the Medi-Cal Contract Drug Advisory Committee. The committee members shall communicate their comments and recommendations to the department within 30 business days of a request for consultation, and shall disclose any associations with pharmaceutical manufacturers or any remuneration from pharmaceutical manufacturers.

(f) In order to achieve maximum cost savings, the Legislature declares that an expedited process for contracts under this section is necessary. Therefore, contracts entered into on a nonbid basis shall be exempt from Chapter 2 (commencing with Section 10290) of Part 2 of Division 2 of the Public Contract Code.

(g) In no event shall a beneficiary be denied continued use of a drug that is part of a prescribed therapy in effect as of September 2, 1992, until the prescribed therapy is no longer prescribed.

(h) Contracts executed pursuant to this section shall be confidential and shall be exempt from disclosure under the California Public Records Act (Chapter 3.5 (commencing with Section 6250) of Division 7 of Title 1 of the Government Code).

(i) The department shall provide individual notice to Medi-Cal beneficiaries at least 60 calendar days prior to the effective date of the deletion or suspension of any drug from the list of contract drugs. The notice shall include a description of the beneficiary's right to a fair hearing and shall encourage the beneficiary to consult a physician to determine if an appropriate substitute medication is available from Medi-Cal.

(j) In carrying out the provisions of this section, the department may contract either directly, or through the fiscal intermediary, for pharmacy consultant staff necessary to initially accomplish the treatment authorization request reviews.

(k) (1) Manufacturers shall calculate and pay interest on late or unpaid rebates. The interest shall not apply to any prior period adjustments of unit rebate amounts or department utilization adjustments.

(2) For state rebate payments, manufacturers shall calculate and pay interest on late or unpaid rebates for quarters that begin on or after the effective date of the act that added this subdivision.

(3) Following final resolution of any dispute pursuant to procedures established by the federal Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services' Medicaid Drug Rebate Program Releases or regulations regarding the amount of a rebate, any underpayment by a manufacturer shall be paid with interest calculated pursuant to subdivisions (m) and (n), and any overpayment, together with interest at the rate calculated pursuant to subdivisions (m) and (n), shall be credited by the department against future rebates due.

(l) Interest pursuant to subdivision (k) shall begin accruing 38 calendar days from the date of mailing of the invoice, including supporting utilization data sent to the manufacturer. Interest shall continue to accrue until the date of mailing of the manufacturer's payment.

(m) Except as specified in subdivision (n), interest rates and calculations pursuant to subdivision (k) for medicaid rebates and state rebates shall be identical and shall be determined by the federal Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services' Medicaid Drug Rebate Program Releases or regulations.

(n) If the date of mailing of a state rebate payment is 69 days or more from the date of mailing of the invoice, including supporting utilization data sent to the manufacturer, the interest rate and calculations pursuant to subdivision (k) shall be as specified in subdivision (m), however the interest rate shall be increased by 10 percentage points. This subdivision shall apply to payments for amounts invoiced for any quarters that begin on or after the effective date of the act that added this subdivision.

(o) If the rebate payment is not received, the department shall send overdue notices to the manufacturer at 38, 68, and 98 days after the date of mailing of the invoice, and supporting utilization data. If the department has not received a rebate payment, including interest, within 180 days of the date of mailing of the invoice, including supporting utilization data, the manufacturer's contract with the department shall be deemed to be in default and the contract may be terminated in accordance with the terms of the contract. For all other manufacturers, if the department has not received a rebate payment, including interest, within 180 days of the date of mailing of the invoice, including supporting utilization data, all of the drug products of those manufacturers shall be made available only through prior authorization effective 270 days after the date of mailing of the invoice, including utilization data sent to manufacturers.

(p) If the manufacturer provides payment or evidence of payment to the department at least 40 days prior to the proposed date the drug is to be made available only through prior authorization pursuant to subdivision (o), the department shall terminate its actions to place the manufacturers' drug products on prior authorization.

(q) The department shall direct the state's fiscal intermediary to remove prior authorization requirements imposed pursuant to subdivision (o) and notify providers within 60 days after payment by the manufacturer of the rebate, including interest. If a contract was in place at the time the manufacturers' drugs were placed on prior authorization, removal of prior authorization requirements shall be contingent upon good faith negotiations and a signed contract with the department.

(r) A beneficiary may obtain drugs placed on prior authorization pursuant to subdivision (o) if the beneficiary qualifies for continuing care status. To be eligible for continuing care status, a beneficiary must be taking the drug when its manufacturer is placed on prior authorization status. Additionally, the department shall have received a claim for the drug with a date of service that is within 100 days prior to the date the manufacturer was placed on prior authorization.

(s) A beneficiary may remain eligible for continuing care status, provided that a claim is submitted for the drug in question at least every 100 days and the date of service of the claim is within 100 days of the date of service of the last claim submitted for the same drug.

(t) Drugs covered pursuant to Sections 14105.43 and 14133.2 shall not be subject to prior authorization pursuant to subdivision (o), and any other drug may be exempted from prior authorization by the department if the director determines that an essential need exists for that drug, and there are no other drugs currently available without prior authorization that meet that need.

(u) It is the intent of the Legislature in enacting subdivisions (k) to (t), inclusive, that the department and manufacturers shall cooperate and make every effort to resolve rebate payment disputes within 90 days of notification by the manufacturer to the department of a dispute in the calculation of rebate payments.

SEC. 57. Section 14105.332 is added to the Welfare and Institutions Code, to read:

14105.332. State and federal rebates that are owed to the state for drugs dispensed to fee-for-service Medi-Cal beneficiaries shall not be reduced to the state if a manufacturer reports, to the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services or the department, a revised drug product's average manufacturer price or best price as these terms are defined pursuant to Section 1927 of the federal Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. Sec. 1396r-8) for any calendar quarter in which the rebate was due.

SEC. 58. Section 14105.337 of the Welfare and Institutions Code is amended to read:

14105.337. (a) Effective January 1, 2000, the department shall increase reimbursement to pharmacists by twenty-five cents ($0.25) per prescription for all drug prescription claims reimbursed through the Medi-Cal program.

(b) Effective July 1, 2002, the department shall increase reimbursement to pharmacists by an additional fifteen cents ($0.15) per prescription for all drug prescription claims reimbursed through the Medi-Cal program.

(c) (1) The department shall reduce reimbursement to pharmacists in the amount reimbursement was increased pursuant to subdivisions (a) and (b) with respect to pharmacy services rendered on and after the date that this subdivision is enacted. Claims submitted by pharmacists for beneficiaries residing in a nursing facility shall be exempt from this subdivision.

(2) This subdivision shall become inoperative on July 1, 2004.

SEC. 59. Section 14105.34 of the Welfare and Institutions Code is amended to read:

14105.34. (a) The department shall provide for an annual written report of Medi-Cal pharmacy costs or Medi-Cal drug costs, as defined in subdivision (f) of Section 14105.31.

(b) The annual report shall be consistent with the relevant sections of the Quarterly Report of Expenditures for the Medi-Cal Assistance Program, known as the HCFA-64 Report, provided to the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services. The report shall include the following expenditure and receipt information:

(1) The total annual equalization payment amounts received by the department pursuant to agreements with the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services of the United States Department of Health and Human Services.

(2) The total annual equalization payment amounts received pursuant to state contracts with drug manufacturers.

(3) Total drug cost amounts upon which equalization payments were made.

SEC. 60. Section 14105.35 of the Welfare and Institutions Code is amended to read:

14105.35. (a) (1) On and after July 1, 1990, drugs included on the Medi-Cal drug formulary shall be included on the list of contract drugs until the department and the manufacturer have concluded contract negotiations or the department suspends the drug from the list of contract drugs pursuant to the provisions of this subdivision.

The department shall, in writing, invite any manufacturer with single-source drug products on the formulary as of July 1, 1990, to enter into negotiations relative to the retention of its drug or drugs. As to the issue of cost, the department shall accept the manufacturer's best price as sufficient for purposes of entering into a contract to retain the drug or drugs on the list of contract drugs.

If the department and a manufacturer enter into a contract for retention of a drug or drugs on the list of contract drugs, the drug or drugs shall be retained on the list of contract drugs for the effective term of the contract.

If a manufacturer refuses to enter into negotiations with the department pursuant to this subdivision, or if after 30 days of negotiation, the manufacturer has not agreed to execute a contract for a drug at the manufacturer's best price, the department may suspend from the list of contract drugs the manufacturer's single-source drug in question for a period of at least 180 days. The department shall lift the suspension upon execution of a contract for that drug. Consistent with the provisions of this section, the department shall delete the Medi-Cal drug formulary specified in paragraphs (b), (c), (d), and (e) of Section 59999 of Title 22 of the California Code of Regulations.

(2) On and after July 1, 1990, the director may retain a drug on the Medi-Cal list of contract drugs even if no contract is executed with a manufacturer, if the director determines that an essential need exists for that drug, and there are no other drugs currently on the formulary that meet that need.

(3) The director may delete a drug from the list of contract drugs if the director determines that the drug presents problems of safety or misuse. The director's decision as to safety shall be based upon published medical literature, and the director's decision as to misuse shall be based on published medical literature and claims data supplied by the fiscal intermediary.

(b) Any reference to the Medi-Cal drug formulary by statute or regulation shall be construed as referring to the list of contract drugs.

(c) (1) Any drug in the process of being added to the formulary by contract agreement pursuant to Section 14105.3, executed prior to the effective date of this section, shall be added to the list of contract drugs.

(2) Contracts pursuant to Section 14105.3 executed prior to January 1, 1991, shall be considered to be contracts executed pursuant to Section 14105.33, and the department shall exempt the drugs included in these contracts from the initial therapeutic category review in which they would normally be considered.

(3) Nothing in this section shall be construed to require the department to discontinue negotiations into which it has entered with any manufacturer as of the effective date of this section. Contracts entered into as a result of these negotiations shall be exempt from the initial therapeutic category review in which they would normally be considered.

SEC. 61. Section 14105.37 of the Welfare and Institutions Code is amended to read:

14105.37. (a) The department shall notify each manufacturer of drugs in therapeutic categories selected pursuant to Section 14105.33 of the provisions of Sections 14105.31 to 14105.42, inclusive.

(b) If, within 45 days of notification, a manufacturer does not enter into negotiations for a contract pursuant to those sections, the department may suspend or delete from the list of contract drugs, or refuse to consider for addition, drugs of that manufacturer in the selected therapeutic categories.

(c) If, after 150 days from the initial notification, a contract is not executed for a drug currently on the list of contract drugs, the department may suspend or delete the drug from the list of contract drugs.

(d) If, within 150 days from the initial notification, a contract is executed for a drug currently on the list of contract drugs, the department shall retain the drug on the list of contract drugs.

(e) If, within 150 days from the date of the initial notification, a contract is executed for a drug not currently on the list of contract drugs, the department shall add the drug to the list of contract drugs.

(f) The department shall terminate all negotiations 150 days after the initial notification.

(g) The department may suspend or delete any drug from the list of contract drugs at the expiration of the contract term or when the contract between the department and the manufacturer of that drug is terminated.

(h) In the absence of a contract, the department may suspend or delete any drug from the list of contract drugs.

(i) Any drug suspended from the list of contract drugs pursuant to this section or Section 14105.35 shall be subject to prior authorization, as if that drug were not on the list of contract drugs.

(j) Any drug suspended from the list of contract drugs pursuant to this section or Section 14105.35 may be deleted from the list of contract drugs in accordance with Section 14105.38.

SEC. 62. Section 14105.38 of the Welfare and Institutions Code is amended to read:

14105.38. (a) (1) In the event the department determines a drug should be deleted from the list of contract drugs, the department shall conduct a public hearing, as provided in this section, to receive comment on the impact of removing the drug.

(2) (A) The department shall provide written notice 30 days prior to the hearing.

(B) The department shall send the notice required by this subdivision to the manufacturer of the drug proposed to be deleted and to organizations representing Medi-Cal beneficiaries.

(b) (1) The hearing panel shall consist of the Chief, Medi-Cal Drug Discount Program, who shall serve as chair, and the Medi-Cal Contract Drug Advisory Committee.

(2) The hearing shall be recorded and transcribed, and the transcript available for public review.

(3) Subsequent to hearing all public comment, and within 30 days of the hearing, each panel member shall submit a recommendation regarding deletion of the drug and the reason for the recommendation to the director.

(c) The director shall consider public comments provided at the hearing and the recommendations of each panel member in determining whether to delete the drug.

SEC. 63. Section 14105.39 of the Welfare and Institutions Code is amended to read:

14105.39. (a) (1) A manufacturer of a new single-source drug may request inclusion of its drug on the list of contract drugs pursuant to Section 14105.33 provided all of the following conditions are met:

(A) The request is made within 12 months of approval for marketing by the federal Food and Drug Administration.

(B) The manufacturer agrees to negotiate a contract with the department to provide the drug at the manufacturer's best price.

(C) (i) The manufacturer provides the department with necessary information, as specified by the department, in the request.

(ii) Notwithstanding clause (i), either of the following may be submitted by the manufacturer in lieu of the Summary Basis of Approval prepared by the federal Food and Drug Administration for that drug:

(I) The federal Food and Drug Administration's approval or approvable letter for the drug and federal Food and Drug Administration's approved labeling.

(II) The federal Food and Drug Administration's medical officers' and pharmacologists' reviews and the federal Food and Drug Administration's approved labeling.

(D) The department had concluded contracting for the therapeutic category in which the drug is included prior to approval of the drug by the federal Food and Drug Administration.

(2) Within 90 days from receipt of the request, the department shall evaluate the request using the criteria identified in subdivision (d), and shall submit the drug to the Medi-Cal Contract Drug Advisory Committee.

(b) Any petition for the addition to or deletion of a drug to the Medi-Cal drug formulary submitted prior to July 31, 1990, shall be deemed to be denied. A manufacturer who has submitted a petition deemed denied may request inclusion of that drug on the list of contract drugs provided all of the following conditions are met:

(1) The manufacturer agrees to negotiate for a contract with the department to provide the drug at the manufacturer's best price.

(2) The manufacturer provides the department with necessary information, as specified by the department, in the request.

(3) The manufacturer submits the request to the department prior to October 1, 1990.

(c) (1) To ensure that the health needs of Medi-Cal beneficiaries are met consistent with the intent of this chapter, the department shall, when evaluating a decision to execute a contract, and when evaluating drugs for retention on, addition to, or deletion from, the list of contract drugs, use all of the following criteria:

(A) The safety of the drug.

(B) The effectiveness of the drug.

(C) The essential need for the drug.

(D) The potential for misuse of the drug.

(E) The cost of the drug.

(2) The deficiency of a drug when measured by one of these criteria may be sufficient to support a decision that the drug should not be added or retained, or should be deleted from the list. However, the superiority of a drug under one criterion may be sufficient to warrant the addition or retention of the drug, notwithstanding a deficiency in another criterion.

(d) (1) A manufacturer of single-source drugs denied a contract pursuant to this section or Section 14105.33 or 14105.37, may file an appeal of that decision with the director within 30 calendar days of the department's written decision.

(2) Within 30 calendar days of the manufacturer's appeal, the director shall request a recommendation regarding the appeal from the Medi-Cal Contract Drug Advisory Committee. The committee shall provide its recommendation in writing, within 30 calendar days of the director's request.

(3) The director shall issue a final decision on the appeal within 30 calendar days of the recommendation.

(e) Deletions made to the list of contract drugs, including those made pursuant to Section 14105.37, shall become effective no sooner than 30 days after publication of the changes in provider bulletins.

(f) A manufacturer of a drug deleted from, or not added to, the list of contract drugs may request inclusion of the drug on the list of preferred prior authorization drugs that is hereby established as a subset of the list of contract drugs. To ensure that the health needs of Medi-Cal beneficiaries are met, the department shall evaluate the request pursuant to subdivision (c). The department shall give preference for prior authorization drugs based on the medical need or continuing care of the beneficiary. The department may contract with manufacturers of drugs on the list of preferred prior authorization drugs. Contracts executed pursuant to this subdivision are subject to Section 14105.33.

(g) Changes made to the list of contract drugs under this or any other section are exempt from the requirements of the Administrative Procedure Act (Chapter 3.5 (commencing with Section 11340), Chapter 4 (commencing with Section 11370), and Chapter 5 (commencing with Section 11500) of Part 1 of Division 3 of Title 2 of the Government Code), and shall not be subject to the review and approval of the Office of Administrative Law.

SEC. 64. Section 14105.4 of the Welfare and Institutions Code, as amended by Section 78 of Chapter 93 of the Statutes of 2000, is repealed.

SEC. 65. Section 14105.4 of the Welfare and Institutions Code, as amended by Section 77 of Chapter 93 of the Statutes of 2000, is amended to read:

14105.4. (a) The director shall appoint a Medi-Cal Contract Drug Advisory Committee for the purpose of providing scientific and medical analysis on drugs contained on the list of contract drugs. The duties of the committee shall be as follows:

(1) To review drugs in the Medi-Cal list of contract drugs and make written recommendations to the director as to the addition of any drug or the deletion of any drug from the list. These recommendations shall be in accordance with subdivision (c) of Section 14105.39.

(4) If the date of mailing of a state rebate payment is 69 days of more from the date of mailing of the invoice, including supporting utilization data sent to the manufacturer, the interest rate shall be as specified in paragraph (3), however the interest rate shall be increased by 10 percentage points.

(c) The assisted living benefit shall be designed to provide eligible individuals with a range of services that enable them to remain in the least restrictive and most homelike environment while receiving the medical and personal care necessary to protect their health and well-being. Benefits provided pursuant to this waiver program shall include only those not otherwise available under the state plan, and may include, but are not limited to, medicine management, coordination with a primary health care provider, and case management.

(E) (i) In the amount of eighty-four million seven hundred fifty-seven thousand six hundred ninety dollars ($84,757,690) for the 1999–2000 fiscal year.

(ii) It is the intent of the Legislature that the economic benefit of any reduction in the amount transferred, or to be transferred, to the Health Care Deposit Fund pursuant to this subdivision for the 1999–2000 fiscal year, as compared to the amount so transferred for the 1998–99 fiscal year, be allocated equally between public and nonpublic disproportionate share hospitals. To implement the reduction in clause (i) the department shall, by June 30, 2000, adjust the calculations in Section 14105.98 in order to allocate the funds in accordance with this clause.

(F) In the amount of twenty-nine million seven hundred fifty-seven thousand six hundred ninety dollars ($29,757,690) for the 2000–01 fiscal year and the 2001–02 fiscal year.

(G) In the amount of eighty-five million dollars ($85,000,000) for the 2002–03 fiscal year and each fiscal year thereafter.

(H) The transfers from the fund shall be made in six equal monthly installments to the Medi-Cal local assistance appropriation item (Item 4260-101-0001 of the annual Budget Act) in support of Medi-Cal expenditures. The first installment shall accrue in October of each transfer year, and all other installments shall accrue monthly thereafter from November through March.

(e) For the 1991–92 state fiscal year, the department shall determine, no later than 70 days after the enactment of this section, the transferor entities for the 1991–92 transfer year. To make this determination, the department shall utilize the disproportionate share list for the 1991–92 fiscal year issued by the department pursuant to paragraph (1) of subdivision (f) of Section 14105.98. The department shall identify each eligible hospital on the list for which a public entity is the licensee as of July 1, 1991. The public entity that is the licensee of each identified eligible hospital shall be a transferor entity for the 1991–92 transfer year.

(f) The department shall determine, no later than 70 days after the enactment of this section, the transfer amounts for the 1991–92 transfer year.

The transfer amounts shall be determined as follows:

(1) The eligible hospitals for 1991–92 shall be identified. For each hospital, the applicable total per diem payment adjustment amount under Section 14105.98 for the 1991–92 transfer year shall be computed. This amount shall be multiplied by 80 percent of the eligible hospital's annualized Medi-Cal inpatient paid days as determined from all Medi-Cal paid claims records available through April 1, 1991. The products of these calculations for all eligible hospitals shall be added together to determine an aggregate sum for the 1991–92 transfer year.

(2) The eligible hospitals for 1991–92 involving transferor entities as licensees shall be identified. For each hospital, the applicable total per diem payment adjustment amount under Section 14105.98 for the 1991–92 transfer year shall be computed. This amount shall be multiplied by 80 percent of the eligible hospital's annualized Medi-Cal inpatient paid days as determined from all Medi-Cal paid claims records available through April 1, 1991. The products of these calculations for all eligible hospitals with transferor entities as licensees shall be added together to determine an aggregate sum for the 1991–92 transfer year.

(3) The aggregate sum determined under paragraph (1) shall be divided by the aggregate sum determined under paragraph (2), yielding a factor to be utilized in paragraph (4).

(4) The factor determined in paragraph (3) shall be multiplied by the amount determined for each hospital under paragraph (2). The product of this calculation for each hospital in paragraph (2) shall be divided by 1.771, yielding a transfer amount for the particular transferor entity for the transfer year.

(g) For the 1991–92 transfer year, the department shall notify each transferor entity in writing of its applicable transfer amount or amounts.

(h) For the 1992–93 transfer year and subsequent transfer years, transfer amounts shall be determined in the same procedural manner as set forth in subdivision (f), except:

(1) The department shall use all of the following:

(A) The disproportionate share list applicable to the particular transfer year to determine the eligible hospitals.

(B) The payment adjustment amounts calculated under Section 14105.98 for the particular transfer year. These amounts shall take into account any projected or actual increases or decreases in the size of the payment adjustment program as are required under Section 14105.98 for the particular year in question, including any decreases resulting from the application of the OBRA 1993 payment limitation. The department may issue interim, revised, and supplemental transfer requests as necessary and appropriate to address changes in payment adjustment levels that occur under Section 14105.98. All transfer requests, or adjustments thereto, issued to transferor entities by the department shall meet the requirements set forth in subdivision (i).

(C) Data regarding annualized Medi-Cal inpatient paid days for the most recent calendar year ending prior to the beginning of the particular transfer year, as determined from all Medi-Cal paid claims records available through April 1 preceding the particular transfer year.

(D) The status of public entities as licensees of eligible hospitals as of July 1 of the particular transfer year.

(E) For the 1993–94 transfer year and subsequent transfer years, the divisor to be used for purposes of the calculation referred to in paragraph (4) of subdivision (f) shall be determined by the department. The divisor shall be calculated to ensure that the appropriate amount of transfers from transferor entities are received into the fund to satisfy the requirements of Section 14105.98, exclusive of the amounts described in paragraph (2) of this subdivision, and to satisfy the requirements of paragraph (2) of subdivision (d), for the particular transfer year. For the 1993–94 transfer year, the divisor shall be 1.742.

(F) The following provisions shall apply for certain transfer amounts relating to nonsupplemental payments under Section 14105.98:

(i) For the 1998–99 transfer year, transfer amounts shall be determined as though the payment adjustment amounts arising pursuant to subdivision (ag) of Section 14105.98 were increased by the amounts paid or payable pursuant to subdivision (af) of Section 14105.98.

(ii) Any transfer amounts paid by a transferor entity pursuant to subparagraph (C) of paragraph (2) shall serve as credit for the particular transferor entity against an equal amount of its transfer obligation for the 1998–99 transfer year.

(iii) For the 1999–2000 transfer year, transfer amounts shall be determined as though the amount to be transferred to the Health Care Deposit Fund, as referred to in paragraph (2) of subdivision (d), were reduced by 28 percent.

(2) (A) Except as provided in subparagraphs (B), (C), and (D), for the 1993–94 transfer year and subsequent transfer years, transfer amounts shall be increased for the particular transfer year in the amounts necessary to fund the nonfederal share of the total supplemental payment adjustment amounts of all types that arise under Section 14105.98. These increases shall be paid only by those transferor entities that are licensees of hospitals that are projected to receive some or all of the particular supplemental payments, and the increases shall be paid by the transferor entities on a pro rata basis in connection with the particular supplemental payments. For purposes of this paragraph, supplemental payment adjustment amounts shall be deemed to arise for the particular transfer year as of the date specified in Section 14105.98. Transfer amounts to fund the nonfederal share of the payments shall be paid for the particular transfer year within 20 days after the department notifies the transferor entity in writing of the additional transfer amount to be paid.

(B) For the 1995–96 transfer year, the nonfederal share of the secondary supplemental payment adjustments described in paragraph (9) of subdivision (y) of Section 14105.96 shall be funded as follows:

(i) Ninety-nine percent of the nonfederal share shall be funded by a transfer from the University of California.

(ii) One percent of the nonfederal share shall be funded by transfers from those public entities that are the licensees of the hospitals included in the ''other public hospitals'' group referred to in clauses (ii) and (iii) of subparagraph (B) of paragraph (9) of subdivision (y) of Section 14105.98. The transfer responsibilities for this 1 percent shall be allocated to the particular public entities on a pro rata basis, based on a formula or formulae customarily used by the department for allocating transfer amounts under this section. The formula or formulae shall take into account, through reallocation of transfer amounts as appropriate, the situation of hospitals whose secondary supplemental payment adjustments are restricted due to the application of the limitation set forth in clause (v) of subparagraph (B) of paragraph (9) of subdivision (y) of Section 14105.98.

(iii) All transfer amounts under this subparagraph shall be paid by the particular transferor entities within 30 days after the department notifies the transferor entity in writing of the transfer amount to be paid.

(C) For the 1997–98 transfer year, transfer amounts to fund the nonfederal share of the supplemental payment adjustments described in subdivision (af) of Section 14105.98 shall be funded by a transfer from the County of Los Angeles.

(D) (i) For the 1998–99 transfer year, transfer amounts to fund the nonfederal share of the supplemental payment adjustment amounts arising under subdivision (ah) of Section 14105.98 shall be increased as set forth in clause (ii).

(ii) The transfer amounts otherwise calculated to fund the supplemental payment adjustments referred to in clause (i) shall be increased on a pro rata basis by an amount equal to 28 percent of the amount to be transferred to the Health Care Deposit Fund for the 1999–2000 fiscal year, as referred to in paragraph (2) of subdivision (d).

(3) The department shall prepare preliminary analyses and calculations regarding potential transfer amounts, and potential transferor entities shall be notified by the department of estimated transfer amounts as soon as reasonably feasible regarding any particular transfer year. Written notices of transfer amounts shall be issued by the department as soon as possible with respect to each transfer year. All state agencies shall take all necessary steps in order to supply applicable data to the department to accomplish these tasks. The Office of Statewide Health Planning and Development shall provide to the department quarterly access to the edited and unedited confidential patient discharge data files for all Medi-Cal eligible patients. The department shall maintain the confidentiality of that data to the same extent as is required of the Office of Statewide Health Planning and Development. In addition, the Office of Statewide Health Planning and Development shall provide to the department, not later than March 1 of each year, the data specified by the department, as the data existed on the statewide database file as of February 1 of each year, from all of the following:

(A) Hospital annual disclosure reports, filed with the Office of Statewide Health Planning and Development pursuant to Section 443.31 or 128735 of the Health and Safety Code, for hospital fiscal years that ended during the calendar year ending 13 months prior to the applicable February 1.

(B) Annual reports of hospitals, filed with the Office of Statewide Health Planning and Development pursuant to Section 439.2 or 127285 of the Health and Safety Code, for the calendar year ending 13 months prior to the applicable February 1.

(C) Hospital patient discharge data reports, filed with the Office of Statewide Health Planning and Development pursuant to subdivision (g) of Section 443.31 or 128735 of the Health and Safety Code, for the calendar year ending 13 months prior to the applicable February 1.

(D) Any other materials on file with the Office of Statewide Health Planning and Development.

(4) Transfer amounts calculated by the department may be increased or decreased by a percentage amount consistent with the Medi-Cal state plan.

(5) For the 1993–94 fiscal year, the transfer amount that would otherwise be required from the University of California shall be increased by fifteen million dollars ($15,000,000).

(6) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, except for subparagraph (D) of paragraph (2), the total amount of transfers required from the transferor entities for any particular transfer year shall not exceed the sum of the following:

(A) The amount needed to fund the nonfederal share of all payment adjustment amounts applicable to the particular payment adjustment year as calculated under Section 14105.98. Included in the calculations for this purpose shall be any decreases in the program as a whole, and for individual hospitals, that arise due to the provisions of Section 1396r-4(f) or (g) of Title 42 of the United States Code.

(B) The amount needed to fund the transfers to the Health Care Deposit Fund, as referred to in subdivision (d).

(7) (A) Except as provided in subparagraphs (B) and (C) and in paragraph (2) of subdivision (j), and except for a prudent reserve not to exceed two million dollars ($2,000,000) in the Medi-Cal Inpatient Payment Adjustment Fund, any amounts in the fund, including interest that accrues with respect to the amounts in the fund, that are not expended, or estimated to be required for expenditure, under Section 14105.98 with respect to a particular transfer year shall be returned on a pro rata basis to the transferor entities for the particular transfer year within 120 days after the department determines that the funds are not needed for an expenditure in connection with the particular transfer year.

(B) The department shall determine the interest amounts that have accrued in the fund from its inception through June 30, 1995, and, no later than January 1, 1996, shall distribute these interest amounts to transferor entities:

(C) With respect to those particular amounts in the fund resulting solely from the provisions of subparagraph (D) of paragraph (2), the department shall determine by September 30, 1999, whether these particular amounts exceed 28 percent of the amount to be transferred to the Health Care Deposit Fund for the 1999–2000 fiscal year, as referred to in paragraph (2) of subdivision (d). Any excess amount so determined shall be returned to the particular transferor entities on a pro rata basis no later than October 31, 1999.

(D) Regarding any funds returned to a transferor entity under subparagraph (A) or (C), or interest amounts distributed to a transferor entity under subparagraph (B), the department shall provide to the transferor entity a written statement that explains the basis for the particular return or distribution of funds and contains the general calculations used by the department in determining the amount of the particular return or distribution of funds.

(i) (1) For the 1991–92 transfer year, each transferor entity shall pay its transfer amount or amounts to the Controller, for deposit in the fund, in eight equal installments.

(2) (A) Except as provided in subparagraphs (B) and (C), for the 1992–93 transfer year and subsequent transfer years, each transferor entity shall pay its transfer amount or amounts to the Controller, for deposit in the fund, in eight equal installments. However, for the 1997–98 and subsequent transfer years, each transferor entity shall pay its transfer amount or amounts to the Controller, for deposit in the fund, in the form of periodic installments according to a timetable established by the department. The timetable shall be structured to effectuate, on a reasonable basis, the prompt distribution of all nonsupplemental payment adjustments under Section 14105.98, and transfers to the Health Care Deposit Fund under subdivision (d).

(B) For the 1994–95 transfer year, each transferor entity shall pay its transfer amount or amounts to the Controller, for deposit in the fund, in five equal installments.

(C) For the 1995–96 transfer year, each transferor entity shall pay its transfer amount or amounts to the Controller, for deposit in the fund, in five equal installments.

(D) Except as otherwise specifically provided, subparagraphs (A) to (C), inclusive, shall not apply to increases in transfer amounts described in paragraph (2) of subdivision (h) or to additional transfer amounts described in subdivision (o).

(E) All requests for transfer payments, or adjustments thereto, issued by the department shall be in writing and shall include (i) an explanation of the basis for the particular transfer request or transfer activity, (ii) a summary description of program funding status for the particular transfer year, and (iii) the general calculations used by the department in connection with the particular transfer request or transfer activity.

(3) A transferor entity may use any of the following funds for purposes of meeting its transfer obligations under this section:

(A) General funds of the transferor entity.

(B) Any other funds permitted by law to be used for these purposes, except that a transferor entity shall not submit to the Controller any federal funds unless those federal funds are authorized by federal law to be used to match other federal funds. In addition, no private donated funds from any health care provider, or from any person or organization affiliated with the health care provider, shall be channeled through a transferor entity or any other public entity to the fund, unless the donated funds will qualify under federal rules as a valid component of the nonfederal share of the Medi-Cal program and will be matched by federal funds. The transferor entity shall be responsible for determining that funds transferred meet the requirements of this subparagraph.

(j) (1) If a transferor entity does not submit any transfer amount within the time period specified in this section, the Controller shall offset immediately the amount owed against any funds which otherwise would be payable by the state to the transferor entity. The Controller, however, shall not impose an offset against any particular funds payable to the transferor entity where the offset would violate state or federal law.

(2) Where a withhold or a recoupment occurs pursuant to the provisions of paragraph (2) of subdivision (r) of Section 14105.98, the nonfederal portion of the amount in question shall remain in the fund, or shall be redeposited in the fund by the department, as applicable. The department shall then proceed as follows:

(A) If the withhold or recoupment was imposed with respect to a hospital whose licensee was a transferor entity for the particular state fiscal year to which the withhold or recoupment related, the nonfederal portion of the amount withheld or recouped shall serve as a credit for the particular transferor entity against an equal amount of transfer obligations under this section, to be applied whenever the transfer obligations next arise. Should no such transfer obligation arise within 180 days, the department shall return the funds in question to the particular transferor entity within 30 days thereafter.

(B) For other situations, the withheld or recouped nonfederal portion shall be subject to paragraph (7) of subdivision (h).

(k) All transfer amounts received by the Controller or amounts offset by the Controller shall immediately be deposited in the fund.

(l) For purposes of this section, the disproportionate share list utilized by the department for a particular transfer year shall be identical to the disproportionate share list utilized by the department for the same state fiscal year for purposes of Section 14105.98. Nothing on a disproportionate share list, once issued by the department, shall be modified for any reason other than mathematical or typographical errors or omissions on the part of the department or the Office of Statewide Health Planning and Development in preparation of the list.

(m) Neither the intergovernmental transfers required by this section, nor any elective transfer made pursuant to Section 14164, shall create, lead to, or expand the health care funding or service obligations for current or future years for any transferor entity, except as required of the state by this section or as may be required by federal law, in which case the state shall be held harmless by the transferor entities on a pro rata basis.

(n) Except as otherwise permitted by state and federal law, no transfer amount submitted to the Controller under this section, and no offset by the Controller pursuant to subdivision (j), shall be claimed or recognized as an allowable element of cost in Medi-Cal cost reports submitted to the department.

(o) Whenever additional transfer amounts are required to fund the nonfederal share of payment adjustment amounts under Section 14105.98 that are distributed after the close of the particular payment adjustment year to which the payment adjustment amounts apply, the additional transfer amounts shall be paid by the parties who were the transferor entities for the particular transfer year that was concurrent with the particular payment adjustment year. The additional transfer amounts shall be calculated under the formula that was in effect during the particular transfer year. For transfer years prior to the 1993–94 transfer year, the percentage of the additional transfer amounts available for transfer to the Health Care Deposit Fund under subdivision (d) shall be the percentage that was in effect during the particular transfer year. These additional transfer amounts shall be paid by transferor entities within 20 days after the department notifies the transferor entity in writing of the additional transfer amount to be paid.

(p) (1) Ten million dollars ($10,000,000) of the amount transferred from the Medi-Cal Inpatient Payment Adjustment Fund to the Health Care Deposit Fund due to amounts transferred attributable to years prior to the 1993–94 fiscal year is hereby appropriated without regard to fiscal years to the State Department of Health Services to be used to support the development of managed care programs under the department's plan to expand Medi-Cal managed care.

(2) These funds shall be used by the department for both of the following purposes: (A) distributions to counties or other local entities that contract with the department to receive those funds to offset a portion of the costs of forming the local initiative entity, and (B) distributions to local initiative entities that contract with the department to receive those funds to offset a portion of the costs of developing the local initiative health delivery system in accordance with the department's plan to expand Medi-Cal managed care.

(3) Entities contracting with the department for any portion of the ten million dollars ($10,000,000) shall meet the objectives of the department's plan to expand Medi-Cal managed care with regard to traditional and safety net providers.

(4) Entities contracting with the department for any portion of the ten million dollars ($10,000,000) may be authorized under those contracts to utilize their funds to provide for reimbursement of the costs of local organizations and entities incurred in participating in the development and operation of a local initiative.

(5) To the full extent permitted by state and federal law, these funds shall be distributed by the department for expenditure at the local level in a manner that qualifies for federal financial participation under the medicaid program.

(q) (1) Any local initiative entity that has performed unanticipated additional work for the purposes identified in subparagraph (B) of paragraph (2) of subdivision (p) resulting in additional costs attributable to the development of its local initiative health delivery system, may file a claim for reimbursement with the department for the additional costs incurred due to delays in start dates through the 1996–97 fiscal year. The claim shall be filed by the local initiative entity not later than 90 days after the effective date of the act adding this subdivision, and shall not seek extra compensation for any sum that is or could have been asserted pursuant to the contract disputes and appeals resolution provisions of the local initiative entity's respective two-plan model contract. All claims for unanticipated additional incurred costs shall be submitted with adequate supporting documentation including, but not limited to, all of the following:

(A) Invoices, receipts, job descriptions, payroll records, work plans, and other materials that identify the unanticipated additional claimed and incurred costs.

(B) Documents reflecting mitigation of costs.

(C) To the extent lost profits are included in the claim, documentation identifying those profits and the manner of calculation.

(D) Documents reflecting the anticipated start date, the actual start date, and reasons for the delay between the dates, if any.

(2) In determining any amount to be paid, the department shall do all of the following:

(A) Conduct a fiscal analysis of the local initiative entity's claimed costs.

(B) Determine the appropriate amount of payment, after taking into consideration the supporting documentation and the results of any audit.

(C) Provide funding for any such payment, as approved by the Department of Finance through the deficiency process.

(D) Complete the determination required in subparagraph (B) within six months after receipt of a local initiative entity's completed claim and supporting documentation. Prior to final determination, there shall be a review and comment period for that local initiative entity.

(E) Make reasonable efforts to obtain federal financial participation. In the event federal financial participation is not allowed for this payment, the state's payment shall be 50 percent of the total amount determined to be payable.

SEC. 89. Section 14495.10 of the Welfare and Institutions Code is amended to read:

14495.10. (a) The department shall establish a pilot program to provide continuous skilled nursing care as a benefit of the Medi-Cal program, when those services are provided in accordance with an approved federal waiver meeting the requirements of subdivision (b). ''Continuous skilled nursing care'' means medically necessary care provided by, or under the supervision of, a registered nurse within his or her scope of practice, seven days a week, 24 hours per day, in a health facility participating in the pilot program. This care shall include a minimum of eight hours per day provided by or under the direct supervision of a registered nurse. Each health facility providing continuous skilled nursing care in the pilot program shall have a minimum of one registered nurse or one licensed vocational nurse awake and in the facility at all times.

(b) The department shall submit to the federal Health Care Financing Administration, no later than April 1, 2000, a federal waiver request developed in consultation with the State Department of Developmental Services and the Association of Regional Center Agencies, pursuant to Section 1915(b) of the federal Social Security Act to provide continuous skilled nursing care services under the pilot program.

(c) (1) The pilot program shall be conducted to explore more flexible models of health facility licensure to provide continuous skilled nursing care to developmentally disabled individuals in the least restrictive health facility setting, and to evaluate the effect of the pilot program on the health, safety, and quality of life of individuals, and the cost-effectiveness of this care. The evaluation shall include a review of the pilot program by an independent agency.

(2) Participation in the pilot program shall include 10 health facilities provided that the facilities meet all eligibility requirements. The facilities shall be approved by the department, in consultation with the State Department of Developmental Services and the appropriate regional center agencies, and shall meet the requirements of subdivision (e). Priority shall be given to facilities with four to six beds, to the extent those facilities meet all other eligibility requirements.

(d) Under the pilot program established in this section, a developmentally disabled individual is eligible to receive continuous skilled nursing care if all of the following conditions are met:

(1) The developmentally disabled individual meets the criteria as specified in the federal waiver.

(2) The developmentally disabled individual resides in a health facility that meets the provider participation criteria as specified in the federal waiver.

(3) The continuous skilled nursing care services are provided in accordance with the federal waiver.

(4) The continuous skilled nursing care services provided to the developmentally disabled individual do not result in costs that exceed the fiscal limit established in the federal waiver.

(e) A health facility seeking to participate in the pilot program shall provide care for developmentally disabled individuals who require the availability of continuous skilled nursing care, in accordance with the terms of the pilot program. During participation in the pilot program, the health facility shall comply with all the terms and conditions of the federal waiver described in subdivision (b), and shall not be subject to licensure or inspection under Chapter 2 (commencing with Section 1250) of Division 2 of the Health and Safety Code. Upon termination of the pilot program and verification of compliance with Section 1265 of the Health and Safety Code, the department shall immediately reinstate the participating health facility's previous license for the balance of time remaining on the license when the health facility began participation in the pilot program.

(f) The department shall implement this pilot program only to the extent it can demonstrate fiscal neutrality, as required under the terms of the federal waiver, and only if the department has obtained the necessary approvals to implement the pilot program and receives federal financial participation from the federal Health Care Financing Administration.

(g) In implementing this article, the department may enter into contracts for the provision of essential administration and other services. Contracts entered into under this section may be on a noncompetitive bid basis and shall be exempt from the requirements of Chapter 2 (commencing with Section 10290) of Part 2 of Division 2 of the Public Contract Code.

(h) This section shall remain in effect only until January 1, 2006, and as of that date is repealed, unless a later enacted statute that becomes effective on or before January 1, 2006, deletes or extends that date.

SEC. 90. Section 16809 of the Welfare and Institutions Code, as amended by Section 45 of Chapter 171 of the Statutes of 2001, is amended to read:

16809. (a) (1) The board of supervisors of a county that contracted with the department pursuant to Section 16709 during the 1990–91 fiscal year and any county with a population under 300,000, as determined in accordance with the 1990 decennial census, by adopting a resolution to that effect, may elect to participate in the County Medical Services Program. The County Medical Services Program shall have responsibilities for specified health services to county residents certified eligible for those services by the county.

(2) If the County Medical Services Program Governing Board contracts with the department to administer the County Medical Services Program, that contract shall include, but need not be limited to, all of the following:

(A) Provisions for the payment to participating counties for making eligibility determinations based on the formula used by the County Medical Services Program for the 1993–94 fiscal year.

(B) Provisions for payment of expenses of the County Medical Services Program Governing Board.

(C) Provisions relating to the flow of funds from counties' vehicle license fees, sales taxes, and participation fees and the procedures to be followed if a county does not pay those funds to the program.

(D) Those provisions, as applicable, contained in the 1993–94 fiscal year contract with counties under the County Medical Services Program.

(3) The contract between the department and the County Medical Services Program Governing Board shall require that the County Medical Services Program Governing Board shall reimburse three million five hundred thousand dollars ($3,500,000) for the state costs of providing administrative support to the County Medical Services

Program. The department may decline to implement decisions made by the governing board that would require a greater level of administrative support than that for the 1993–94 fiscal year. The department may implement decisions upon compensation by the governing board to cover that increased level of support.

(4) The contract between the department and the County Medical Services Program Governing Board may include provisions for the administration of a pharmacy benefit program and, pursuant to these provisions, the department may negotiate, on behalf of the County Medical Services Program, rebates from manufacturers that agree to participate. The governing board shall reimburse the department for staff costs associated with this paragraph.

(5) The department shall administer the County Medical Services Program pursuant to the provisions of the 1993–94 fiscal year contract with the counties and regulations relating to the administration of the program until the County Medical Services Program Governing Board executes a contract for the administration of the County Medical Services Program and adopts regulations for that purpose.

(6) The department shall not be liable for any costs related to decisions of the County Medical Services Program Governing Board that are in excess of those set forth in the contract between the department and the County Medical Services Program Governing Board.

(b) Each county intending to participate in the County Medical Services Program pursuant to this section shall submit to the Governing Board of the County Medical Services Program a notice of intent to contract adopted by the board of supervisors no later than April 1 of the fiscal year preceding the fiscal year in which the county will participate in the County Medical Services Program.

(c) A county participating in the County Medical Services Program pursuant to this section shall not be relieved of its indigent health care obligation under Section 17000.

(d) (1) The County Medical Services Program Account is established in the County Health Services Fund. The County Medical Services Program Account is continuously appropriated, notwithstanding Section 13340 of the Government Code, without regard to fiscal years. The following amounts may be deposited in the account:

(A) Any interest earned upon money deposited in the account.

(B) Moneys provided by participating counties or appropriated by the Legislature to the account.

(C) Moneys loaned pursuant to subdivision (q).

(2) The methods and procedures used to deposit funds into the account shall be consistent with the methods used by the program during the 1993–94 fiscal year.

(e) Moneys in the program account shall be used by the department, pursuant to its contract with the County Medical Services Program Governing Board, to pay for health care services provided to the persons meeting the eligibility criteria established pursuant to subdivision (j) and to pay for the expense of the governing board as set forth in the contract between the board and the department. In addition, moneys in this account may be used to reimburse the department for state costs pursuant to paragraph (3) of subdivision (a).

(f) (1) Moneys in this account shall be administered on an accrual basis and notwithstanding any other provision of law, except as provided in this section, shall not be transferred to any other fund or account in the State Treasury except for purposes of investment as provided in Article 4 (commencing with Section 16470) of Chapter 3 of Part 2 of Division 4 of Title 2 of the Government Code.

(2) (A) All interest or other increment resulting from the investment shall be deposited in the program account, at the end of the 1982–83 fiscal year and every six months thereafter, notwithstanding Section 16305.7 of the Government Code.

(B) All interest deposited pursuant to subparagraph (A) shall be available to reimburse program-covered services, County Medical Services Program Governing Board expenses, or for expenditures to augment the program's rates, benefits, or eligibility criteria pursuant to subdivision (j).

(g) A separate County Medical Services Program Reserve Account is established in the County Health Services Fund. Six months after the end of each fiscal year, any projected savings in the program account shall be transferred to the reserve account, with final settlement occurring no more than 12 months later. (k) The Legislature hereby determines that an expedited contract process for contracts under this section is necessary. Contracts under this section shall be exempt from Part 2 (commencing with Section 10100) of Division 2 of the Public Contract Code. (h) Moneys in the program account and the reserve account, except for moneys provided by the state in excess of the amount required to fund the state risk specified in subdivision (j), and any funds loaned pursuant to subdivision (q), shall not be transferred to any other fund or account in the State Treasury except for purposes of investment as provided in Article 4 (commencing with Section 16470) of Chapter 3 of Part 2 of Division 4 of Title 2 of the Government Code. (C) As a condition of the state assuming this risk, the department may require uniform eligibility criteria and benefits to be provided which shall be mutually established by participating counties in conjunction with the department. The County Medical Services Program Governing Board may revise these eligibility criteria and benefits or alter rates of payment in order to assure that expenditures do not exceed the funds available in the program account.

(2) Before initiating any proceeding to challenge rates of payment, charges, or fees set by the board, to seek reimbursement or release of any funds from the County Medical Services Program, or to challenge any other action by the board, any prospective claimant shall first notify the board, in writing, of the nature and basis of the challenge and the amount claimed. (4) No regulation adopted by the governing board is valid and effective unless the regulation meets the standards of necessity, authority, clarity, consistency, and nonduplication, as defined in paragraph (4).

(5) The following definitions govern the interpretation of this subdivision:

(D) ''Consistency'' means being in harmony with, and not in conflict with, or contradictory to, existing statutes, court decisions, or other provisions of law.

(E) ''Nonduplication'' means that a regulation does not serve the same purpose as a state or federal statute or another regulation. This standard requires that the governing board identify any state or federal statute or regulation that is overlapped or duplicated by the proposed regulation and justify any overlap or duplication. This standard is not intended to prohibit the governing board from printing relevant portions of enabling legislation in regulations when the duplication is necessary to satisfy the clarity standard in subparagraph (C). This standard is intended to prevent the indiscriminate incorporation of statutory language in a regulation.

(h) The requirements of the Ralph M. Brown Act (Chapter 9 (commencing with Section 54950) of Part 1 of Division 2 of Title 5 of the Government Code) shall apply to the meetings of the CMSP Governing Board, except as otherwise provided in this subdivision. (4) Include in the notice, at a minimum, the amount and type of each proposed change, the expected savings, and the number of persons affected.

(5) Hold those meetings in the county seats of at least four regionally distributed CMSP participating counties.

(6) Locate those meetings so as to provide that each hearing will be within a four-hour one-way drive of one quarter of the target population so that the four meetings shall be held at locations in the state that will ensure that each member of the target population may reach at least one of the meetings by a one-way drive that does not exceed four hours.

(i) Records of the County Medical Services Program and of the CMSP Governing Board that relate to rates of payment or to the board's negotiations with providers of health care services or to the board's deliberative processes regarding either shall not be subject to disclosure pursuant to the Public Records Act (Chapter 5 (commencing with Section 6250) of Division 7 of Title 1 of the Government Code).

(j) The following definitions shall govern the construction of this part, unless the context requires otherwise:

(1) ''CMSP Governing Board'' means the County Medical Services Program Governing Board established pursuant to this section.

(2) ''Board'' means the County Medical Services Program Governing Board established pursuant to this section.

(3) ''CMSP'' means the program by which health care services are provided to eligible persons in those counties electing to participate in the CMSP pursuant to Section 16809.

(4) ''CMSP county'' means a county that has elected to participate pursuant to Section 16809 in the CMSP.

(k) Any references to the ''County Medical Services Program'' or ''CMSP county'' in this code shall be defined as set forth in this section.

(l) This section shall remain in effect only until January 1, 2008, and as of that date is repealed, unless a later enacted statute, that is enacted on or before January 1, 2008, deletes or extends that date.

Upon receipt of the notice, the county welfare department shall make an eligibility determination by utilizing the information in the food stamp recipient's case file or paper application. The Medi-Cal application date shall be the date the notice is received by the county welfare department. If the food stamp case file does not include sufficient information to establish Medi-Cal program eligibility, the county welfare department shall request, either orally or in writing, additional information from the food stamp recipient.

(g) If the food stamp recipient is determined to be eligible to participate in the Medi-Cal program with a share of cost, or is determined to be ineligible for Medi-Cal, information pertinent to the food stamp recipient's eligibility for the Healthy Families Program shall be forwarded by the county welfare department to the Healthy Families Program statewide administrator for immediate processing. If there is insufficient information to establish Healthy Families Program eligibility, the administrator shall request, either orally or in writing, additional information from the food stamp recipient.

(h) Counties shall include the cost of implementing this section in their annual administrative budget requests to the State Department of Health Services.

(i) This section shall be implemented on or after July 1, 2003, but only to the extent federal financial participation is available.

SEC. 93. The State Department of Health Services may adopt emergency regulations to implement the applicable provisions of this act in accordance with the rulemaking provisions of the Administrative Procedure Act (Chapter 3.5 (commencing with Section 11340) of Part 1 of Division 3 of Title 2 of the Government Code). The initial adoption of emergency regulations and one readoption of the initial regulations shall be deemed to be an emergency and necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, or general welfare. Initial emergency regulations and the first readoption of those regulations shall be exempt from review by the Office of Administrative Law. The initial emergency regulations and the first readoption of those regulations authorized by this section shall be submitted to the Office of Administrative Law for filing with the Secretary of State and publication in the California Code of Regulations and each shall remain in effect for no more than 180 days.

SEC. 94. The department may not recoup any overpayment made to a provider before October 1, 2002, pursuant to Section 14109 of the Welfare and Institutions Code for ambulance transport services, if the overpayment is not due to the fault of the provider.

SEC. 95. (a) The State Department of Health Services shall complete the design and implementation of the Children's Medical Services Network (CMS Net) Enhancement 47 project to ensure that all system enhancements for CMS Net, the California Medicaid Management Information System (CA-MMIS), and the California Dental Management Information System (CD-MMIS) that are required to enable providers in the California Children's Services (CCS) provider network to submit electronic claims for reimbursement for services provided to CCS eligible children are operational by August 1, 2004.

(b) The department shall work in cooperation with county CCS programs that are not yet participating in CMS Net to take all necessary action within available resources to expedite the transition of these county programs to CMS Net for the provision of automated case management and service authorization for all CCS eligible children in their county caseload.

SEC. 96. (a) The California Health and Human Services Agency shall develop a comprehensive plan describing the actions that California may take to improve its long-term care system so that its residents have available an array of community care options that allow them to avoid unnecessary institutionalization. The plan shall respond to the decision of the United States Supreme Court in Olmstead v. L.C. (1999) 527 U.S. 581 and shall embody the six principles for an ''Olmstead Plan'' as articulated by the federal Center for Medicaid and Medicare Services. These principles include:

(1) A comprehensive, effectively working plan.

(2) A plan development and implementation process that provides for the involvement of consumers and other stakeholders.

(3) The development of assessment procedures and practices that prevent or correct current and future unjustified institutionalization of persons with disabilities.

(4) An assessment of the current availability of community-integrated services, identification of gaps in service availability, and evaluation of changes that could be made to enable consumers to be served in the most integrated setting possible.

(5) The inclusion in the plan of practices by which consumers are afforded the opportunity to make informed choices among the services available to them.

(6) Elements in the plan that ensure that services are provided in the most integrated setting appropriate and that the quality of services meets the needs of the consumers.

(b) The plan required under subdivision (a) shall be submitted to the Legislature on or before April 1, 2003.

SEC. 97. It is the intent of the Legislature that a significant portion of funds received in the 2003–04 fiscal year and subsequent fiscal years, due to increased federal financial participation attributable to the medicaid home- and community-based waiver program under Section 1396n of Title 42 of the United States Code or other similar initiatives, shall be used to increase the rates for community-based providers serving individuals with developmental disabilities and other actions related to expanding and improving services and supports. The purpose of these fund adjustments shall be to increase community living options, provide expanded consumer choice, provide for increased health and physical safety, and improve the overall stability of community-based services and supports.

SEC. 98. The State Department of Developmental Services shall ensure that funds appropriated in Item 4300-101-0001 of the Budget Act of 2002 to address concerns regarding the potential underfunding of regional center operations shall be used by each regional center toward achieving and maintaining service coordinator caseloads, as contained in subdivision (c) of Section 4640.6 of the Welfare and Institutions Code. In addition, these funds may be used to provide for increased clinical staff as necessary to meet requirements under the federal home- and community-based waiver program (42 U.S.C. Sec. 1396n).

SEC. 99. The State Department of Developmental Services shall ensure that funds appropriated in Item 4300-101-0001 of the Budget Act of 2002 for the purpose of funding a federal program coordinator position at each regional center will be used only for that purpose. This position shall address issues pertaining to federally funded programs serving individuals with developmental disabilities as appropriate, including the home- and community-based waiver program (42 U.S.C.

Sec. 1396n), as well as seeking increased federal financial participation when practicable.

SEC. 100. (a) Of the amount appropriated in Item 4300-101-0001 of the Budget Act of 2002, up to five million six hundred thousand dollars ($5,600,000) may be used to provide one-time only grant awards to community-based service providers to conduct resource development activities for hard-to-serve populations, including dual diagnosis, and medically and behaviorally challenged individuals who have been identified through the community placement plan process as being appropriate for community placement and whose needs cannot otherwise be met within the existing array of service options in the community.

(b) The grant awards shall be allocated pursuant to subdivision (a) by the State Department of Developmental Services with the intent to improve the quality of local services and to stabilize service systems. Regional centers may serve as the fiscal agent for these one-time grants.

SEC. 101. (a) Of the amount appropriated in Item 4260-111-0001 of the Budget Act of 2002 from the Cigarette and Tobacco Products Surtax Fund, twenty-four million eight hundred three thousand dollars ($24,803,000) shall be allocated in accordance with subdivision (b) for the 2002–03 fiscal year from the following accounts:

(1) Nine million fifteen thousand dollars ($9,015,000) from the Hospital Services Account.

(2) Two million three hundred twenty-eight thousand dollars ($2,328,000) from the Physician Services Account.

(3) Thirteen million four hundred sixty thousand dollars ($13,460,000) from the Unallocated Account.

(b) The funds specified in subdivision (a) shall be allocated proportionately as follows:

(1) Twenty-two million three hundred twenty-four thousand dollars ($22,324,000) shall be administered and allocated for distribution through the California Healthcare for Indigents Program (CHIP), Chapter 5 (commencing with Section 16940) of Part 4.7 of Division 9 of the Welfare and Institutions Code.

(2) Two million four hundred seventy-nine thousand dollars ($2,479,000) shall be administered and allocated through the rural health services program, Chapter 4 (commencing with Section 16930) of Part 4.7 of Division 9 of the Welfare and Institutions Code.

(c) Funds allocated by this section from the Physician Services Account and the Unallocated Account in the Cigarette and Tobacco Products Surtax Fund shall be used only for the reimbursement of uncompensated emergency services, as defined in Section 16953 of the Welfare and Institutions Code. Funds shall be transferred to the Physician Services Account in the county Emergency Medical Services Fund established pursuant to Sections 16951 and 16952 of the Welfare and Institutions Code.

Reimbursement for emergency services shall be consistent with Section 16952 of the Welfare and Institutions Code.

SEC. 102. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the unencumbered balances, as of June 30, 2002, of the amounts appropriated in Item 4260-001-0589 of Chapter 50 of the Statutes of 1999, Item 4260-001-0589 of Chapter 52 of the Statutes of 2000, and Item 4260-001-0589 of Chapter 106 of the Statutes of 2001 are hereby reappropriated for the purposes specified in those items, and shall be available for encumbrance and expenditure until July 30, 2005.

SEC. 103. (a) In order to implement changes in the level of funding for Medi-Cal services in the Budget Act of 2002, effective August 1, 2002, the Director of Health Services shall eliminate all provider rate increases that were provided, effective August 1, 2000, for services rendered in the Medi-Cal program, except for the supplemental rate for the California Children's Services Program, home health services, shift nursing, nonemergency medical transportation, and family planning physician services. The director shall take this action pursuant to the rate-setting authority provided under subdivision (a) of Section 14105 of the Welfare and Institutions Code. The director shall also conform the rates for the same services rendered by the same provider types in non-Medi-Cal programs pursuant to Section 14105.18 of the Welfare and Institutions Code to those paid in the Medi-Cal program, absent regulations adopted pursuant to subdivision (c) of Section 14105.18 of the Welfare and Institutions Code. The rates for managed health care plans shall be reduced by the actuarial equivalent amount of the provider rate reductions made by this section at the time of the plan's next rate determination.

(b) For purposes of this section, ''provider'' means any provider participating in the Medi-Cal program that received a rate increase, effective August 1, 2000, but does not include the following:

(1) A general acute care hospital as defined in subdivision (a) of Section 1250 of the Health and Safety Code.

(2) A skilled nursing facility as defined in subdivision (c) of Section 1250 of the Health and Safety Code.

(5) An intermediate care facility/developmentally disabled-nursing as defined in subdivision (h) of Section 1250 of the Health and Safety Code.

(6) An adult day health care center as defined in subdivision (b) of Section 1570.7 of the Health and Safety Code.

SEC. 104. It is the intent of the Legislature that, in implementing Section 14105.33 of the Welfare and Institutions Code during the 2002–03 fiscal year, the Director of Health Services shall direct the department to negotiate as aggressively as necessary to achieve savings levels related to pharmaceutical contracting identified in the Budget Act of 2002.

SEC. 105. Notwithstanding Section 17610 of the Government Code, if the Commission on State Mandates determines that this act contains costs mandated by the state, reimbursement to local agencies and school districts for those costs shall be made pursuant to Part 7 (commencing with Section 17500) of Division 4 of Title 2 of the Government Code. If the statewide cost of the claim for reimbursement does not exceed one million dollars ($1,000,000), reimbursement shall be made from the State Mandates Claims Fund.

SEC. 106. This act is an urgency statute necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, or safety within the meaning of Article IV of the Constitution and shall go into immediate effect. The facts constituting the necessity are:

In order to make necessary statutory changes to implement the Budget Act of 2002 at the earliest possible time, it is necessary that this act go into immediate effect.

CHAPTER 1162

An act to add Section 701.1 to the Financial Code, relating to financial institutions.

[Approved by Governor September 30, 2002. Filed with Secretary of State September 30, 2002.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. The Legislature finds and declares all of the following:

(a) The economic strength and general welfare of California depends on strong and sound financial institutions that command the highest levels of public confidence among the citizens of this state.

(b) California financial institutions are highly monitored and closely supervised by federal and state regulatory agencies that impose strict compliance standards and conduct regular and frequent examinations of those institutions.

(c) The Banking Law, as amended by Chapter 105 of the Statutes of 2000 (Senate Bill 2148), reclassified industrial loan companies as industrial banks, otherwise subject to all laws and regulations pertaining to commercial banks, except the prohibition against offering demand deposits.

(d) The chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, in congressional testimony, and many other noted economists, experts, and government officials have noted the dangers of mixing banking and general commerce. Clarification of California public policy with regard to mixing of banking and commerce and to the acquisition of control of California industrial banks is desirable to assure continued public confidence in these institutions.

(e) It is therefore the intent of the Legislature to address these concerns by creating more consistency between state and federal law.

SEC. 2. Section 701.1 is added to the Financial Code, to read:

701.1. Notwithstanding any other provision of this article, except for those persons approved by the commissioner prior to September 1, 2002, and for those persons who control industrial banks as of September 1, 2002, no person may directly or indirectly, including through any merger, consolidation, or any other type of business combination, acquire control of an industrial bank, as defined in Section 105.5, unless the person is engaged only in the activities permitted for financial holding companies, as provided in Section 103 of the federal Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act (12 U.S.C. Sec. 1843(k)(1)), or is a credit union, as defined in Section 134.5, when the industrial bank is a credit union service organization, as defined in Section 14651. Nothing in this section shall be construed to exempt a person seeking to acquire control of a bank that otherwise qualifies to do so pursuant to this section, from the requirements of Sections 700 to 711, inclusive. For the purposes of this section, the term ''control'' has the same meaning as in subdivision (b) of Section 700.

CHAPTER 1163

An act to add Section 51210.4 to, and to add Chapter 10 (commencing with Section 8990) to Part 6 of, the Education Code, relating to school nutrition, and making an appropriation therefor.

[Approved by Governor September 30, 2002. Filed with Secretary of State September 30, 2002.]

I am signing Assembly Bill 1634, which would require new curriculum development in nutrition and would create a new school garden grant program.

I certainly share the author's belief in the importance of nutrition education. Many studies have demonstrated that infancy, toddler years, and early childhood are the most important developmental states for children. During these early years of a child's development, it is essential to establish healthy eating and exercise patterns.

As evidenced by a letter to the Assembly Journal, the author intended that the $200,000 appropriation contained in this bill would be a subset of an appropriation contained in the Budget Act for similar purposes. While she has committed to carrying cleanup language next year to rectify the error, a more expeditious remedy is for me to strike the $200,000 appropriation from this legislation.

Lastly, it is my intent that the State Department of Education will develop the nutrition curricula and related best practices from existing departmental resources.

With that understanding, I am pleased to sign this legislation, but am vetoing the $200,000 appropriation.

GRAY DAVIS, Governor

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. The Legislature finds and declares all of the following:

(a) Recent evidence shows that infancy, toddler years, and early childhood are the most important developmental stages for establishing healthy eating and exercise patterns. These patterns can provide optimal growth and cognitive development and prevent a lifetime of obesity and nutrition-related diseases.

(b) Poor diet and physical inactivity are the leading preventable causes of cancer and the second actual cause of premature death, following tobacco use. Nutrition education is an effective way of developing healthy eating patterns among pupils. For this reason, one of the health promotion objectives of the United States Department of Health and Human Services is to increase the number of schools that provide nutrition education in preschool, kindergarten, and grades 1 to 12, inclusive.

(c) Approximately 8 percent of all preschool age children are overweight and one-third of overweight preschool children remain overweight as adults. In 1999, the federal Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC): National Center for Health Statistics found that the percentage of children and adolescents who are overweight has more than doubled in the last 30 years.

(d) At the University of California, San Diego, Medical School in 2000–01, it has been found that by the age of 12, 30 to 60 percent of children in the United States show at least one risk factor of cardiovascular disease. Increasingly, overweight and obese children are experiencing health risks previously thought of as adult medical issues, such as Type 2 diabetes, high blood pressure, high cholesterol levels, asthma, and certain cancers. Eating habits and exercise patterns are most often established during early childhood.

(e) Approximately 70 percent of girls, and 40 percent of boys, 6 to 12 years of age do not have enough muscle strength to do more than one pullup. Most children lead inactive lives. According to the Third National Health and Nutrition Examination Survey conducted by the CDC: National Center for Health Statistics, 33 percent of children in the United States watch four or more hours of television each day.

(f) The family plays a primary role in fostering eating and exercise habits. A family that practices good nutrition and exercises regularly increases the health and well-being of the child dramatically. Healthy eating patterns and physical activity are essential for long-term health, and because they have the potential to last a lifetime, it is important to learn the benefits of good nutrition and regular exercise. Yet, children's physical activity and eating habits have deteriorated over the last three decades.

(g) Children of all socioeconomic levels are at risk for poor nutrition. According to the National Health/Education Consortium, some children do not get enough to eat each day because their families lack money to buy sufficient food. Other children consume enough food, but have diets high in fat, sugar, and sodium that put them at risk for obesity or heart disease and other chronic illnesses. Furthermore, as the number of parents in the workforce increases, more children are being left to fend for themselves for meals.

(h) Pupils who are involved in nutrition education have the opportunity to make healthy food and lifestyle choices. As a setting for nutrition education, schools are an excellent site because they reach almost all children and their nutrition programs offer opportunities to practice healthy eating habits.

(i) Health and success in school are interrelated. Schools cannot achieve their primary mission of education if pupils are not healthy and fit physically, mentally, and socially. Credible studies indicate that alarming proportions of young people engage in behaviors that put them at risk of serious health problems. In addition, the leading health authorities recommend that schools take an active role in preventing disabling chronic health conditions that create misery and consume a burdensome share of the nation's resources.

(j) The link between nutrition and learning is well documented. Healthy eating patterns are essential for pupils to achieve their full academic potential, full physical and mental growth, and lifelong health and well-being. Healthy eating is demonstrably linked to reduced risk for mortality and development of many chronic diseases as adults. Schools have a responsibility to help pupils and staff establish and maintain lifelong, healthy eating patterns. Well-planned and well-implemented school nutrition programs have been shown to positively influence pupils' eating habits.

(k) School garden programs, one way of integrating nutrition education into schools, give pupils an interactive educational experience to learn about food, nutrition, California specialty crops, and healthy eating. These programs also offer pupils a deeper understanding and appreciation for the role of agriculture in California, the world economy, the environment, the community, and each other.

(l) School gardens are a feasible setting for hands-on, integrated learning at urban, suburban, or rural schools whether the gardens are indoor or outdoor container gardens, raised-bed gardens set on asphalt or gardens that are incorporated into the schools' existing landscaping. Instructional school gardens provide an environmental context for interdisciplinary teaching education standards. A number of schools are working to integrate mathematics, science, language arts, social studies, health, and art into a garden-based curriculum.

(m) There is a clear connection between nutrition and learning. Research shows that physical and mental well-being are prerequisites for achieving educational success. Well-nourished and healthy children have better attendance at school, concentrate better in class, and achieve improved academic performance. Instructional school gardens provide the opportunity for classrooms to create healthy snacks from the garden and provide school food service programs to incorporate garden produce into meals and snacks as well as return the trimmings to a compost bin for future soil enrichment.

(n) Garden salad bars provide a choice of fresh fruits and vegetables as part of the school lunch program. Fruits and vegetables on garden salad bars increase pupil participation in the National School Lunch Program. A school garden salad bar is a vehicle to launch a school compost program in a district and reinforce garden curricula. Children who learn to enjoy the variety of vegetables and fruits grown in California may carry this healthy habit into adulthood. In addition, garden-based education can develop agricultural and environmental awareness in pupils as they care for the garden, build networks between the school and the community, and promote intergenerational transfer of information and culture.

SEC. 2. Chapter 10 (commencing with Section 8990) is added to Part 6 of the Education Code, to read:

CHAPTER 10. SCHOOL NUTRITION

Article 1. Nutrition Education

8990. The Legislature encourages nutritional education instructional activities that comply with all of the following:

(a) They emphasize the appealing aspects of healthy eating.

(b) They are participatory, developmentally appropriate, and enjoyable.

(c) They engage families as partners in their children's education.

(d) They encourage teachers responsible for nutrition education, who have received nutrition instruction during their credentialing program, to be adequately prepared and regularly participate in professional development activities to effectively deliver the nutrition education program as planned. Preparation and professional development activities should provide basic knowledge of nutrition, combined with skill practice in program-specific activities and instructional techniques and strategies designed to promote healthy eating habits.

8993. The Legislature encourages school instructional staff to do the following:

(a) Be informed about the negative consequences of using food as a reward and of withholding food from pupils as punishment.

(b) The need to closely coordinate with the food service program and other components of the school health program in order to integrate nutrition concepts into the instruction of other subject areas.

(c) Cooperate with other agencies and community groups to provide opportunities for pupil volunteer work related to nutrition, such as assisting with food recovery efforts and preparing nutritious meals for house-bound people.

(d) Collaborate with agencies and groups conducting nutrition education in the community to send consistent messages to pupils and their families. Guest speakers invited to address pupils shall receive appropriate orientation to the relevant policies of the district.

(e) Disseminate information to parents, guardians, pupils, and staff about community programs that offer nutrition assistance to families.

(f) Model healthy eating behaviors.

8995. The Legislature encourages school administrations to do the following:

(a) Offer wellness programs that include personalized instruction about healthy eating and physical activity.

(b) Ensure that the nutrition services, health services, and social services children need in order to learn are provided at the schoolsite or in cooperation with other community agencies.

8996. As used in this article the following terms have the following meanings:

(a) ''Dietary Guidelines for Americans'' means the current set of recommendations of the federal government that are designed to help people choose diets that will meet nutrient requirements, promote health, support active lives, and reduce chronic disease risks.

(b) ''Nutrition education'' means a planned sequential instructional program that provides knowledge and teaches skills to help pupils adopt and maintain lifelong, healthy eating patterns.

8997. This chapter shall become operative on July 1, 2004.

Article 2. Garden Programs

9000. The Legislature intends to expand the number of educational gardens and garden salad bars in California public schools by offering startup or expansion grants, implementing garden-enhanced nutrition education, and training and resources to the grantees. For those purposes, the school gardens program is hereby established.

9001. The State Department of Education shall establish, develop, and implement the instructional school garden program to make competitive grants available for school districts and county offices of education. Schools may incorporate one of the following into the nutrition education program proposal:

(a) An instructional school garden if a garden does not already exist on the site.

(b) A school garden salad bar with a compost program if an instructional garden already exists onsite.

(c) An instructional school garden if an instructional garden does not already exist on the schoolsite and a school garden salad bar with a compost program.

9002. The State Department of Education shall distribute the grants pursuant to subdivision (a) or (b), in consultation with education, nutrition, and agricultural experts, at the applicant's election, as follows:

(a) A maximum of one thousand dollars ($1,000) to each school that establishes instructional school gardens and an additional five hundred dollars ($500) as a workshop travel stipend to each school district that receives a grant.

(b) A maximum of two thousand dollars ($2,000), available on a competitive basis as determined by the State Department of Education, to each school that has an existing instructional garden onsite, and that would offer a garden salad in the school lunch program with these funds.

9003. The State Department of Education shall develop, research, and coordinate the best available practices regarding appropriate curriculum for school garden programs in kindergarten and grades 1 to 12, inclusive, in consultation with education, nutrition, and agricultural experts. The department shall make the curriculum available to the schools that receive a grant pursuant to this article.

9004. (a) The sum of two hundred thousand dollars ($200,000) is hereby appropriated from the United States Department of Agriculture Specialty Crop Block Grant funds in the Federal Trust Fund to the department for the purposes of this article pursuant to the following schedule:

(1) A sum not to exceed one hundred twenty-six thousand dollars ($126,000) for the purposes of awarding grants for at least 70 school district instructional gardens pursuant to Sections 9001 and 9002.

(2) A sum not to exceed seventy-four thousand dollars ($74,000) for the purposes of developing, researching, and coordinating the best available practices regarding appropriate curriculum for school garden programs pursuant to Section 9003.

(b) An amount not to exceed 10 percent of the sum set forth in subdivision (a) may be used for the administrative costs of the department in implementing this article.

(c) The State Department of Education shall select grant recipients from the northern, southern, and central regions of the state and from urban, rural, and suburban areas, so that the recipients are broadly representatives of the state.

SEC. 3. Section 51210.4 is added to the Education Code, to read:

51210.4. The State Department of Education shall incorporate nutrition education curriculum content into the health curriculum framework at its next revision. This curriculum shall focus on pupils' eating behaviors, be based on theories and methods proven effective by published research. Nutrition education shall be designed to help pupils learn all of the following:

(a) Nutritional knowledge, including but not limited to, the benefits of healthy eating, essential nutrients, nutritional deficiencies, principles of healthy weight management, the use and misuse of dietary supplements, and safe food preparation, handling, and storage.

(b) Nutrition-related skills, including, but not limited to, planning a healthy meal, understanding and using food labels, and critically evaluating nutrition information, misinformation, and commercial food advertising.

(c) How to assess their own personal eating habits, set goals for improvement, and achieve those goals by using the Food Guide Pyramid, Dietary Guidelines for Americans, Nutrition Fact Labels, and the Physical Activity Pyramid.

CHAPTER 1164

An act to repeal Section 103 of Assembly Bill 442 of the 2001–02 Regular Session, relating to health, and declaring the urgency thereof, to take effect immediately.

[Approved by Governor September 30, 2002. Filed with Secretary of State September 30, 2002.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Section 103 of Assembly Bill 442 of the 2001–02 Regular Session is repealed.

SEC. 2. Section 1 of this act shall be operative only if Assembly Bill 442 of the 2001–02 Regular Session is enacted on or before January 1, 2003.

SEC. 3. This act is an urgency statute necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, or safety within the meaning of Article IV of the Constitution and shall go into immediate effect. The facts constituting the necessity are:

In order to make necessary statutory changes to implement the Budget Act of 2002 at the earliest possible time, it is necessary that this act take effect immediately.

CHAPTER 1165

An act to add Sections 11139.6, 11139.7, and 11139.8 to the Government Code, relating to public employment and contracting.

[Approved by Governor September 30, 2002. Filed with Secretary of State September 30, 2002.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. The Legislature hereby finds and declares the following:

(a) Proposition 209, enacted by the voters on November 5, 1996, amended the California Constitution by adding Section 31 to Article I thereof to ban discrimination or preferential treatment based on race, ethnicity, and gender in the operation of public employment, public education, and public contracting.

(b) It is the intent of the Legislature to reaffirm diversity as a public policy goal in public contracting and public employment.

(c) California's ability to compete will suffer if talented, skilled business professionals and workers from any segment of the labor pool are excluded from employment or denied contracting opportunities because of discrimination or exclusion.

(d) In an August 1, 2000, report by the Governor's Task Force on Diversity and Outreach, the Task Force recommended the state's outreach efforts should ensure all sectors of California's workforce are informed of state employment openings.

(e) It is the intent of this act to emphasize and clarify that Section 31 of Article I does not prohibit governmental agencies from fashioning outreach programs in ways that will yield diverse results in public employment and public contracting.

(f) It is further the intent of the Legislature to clarify permissible outreach strategies to accomplish the diversity goal.

SEC. 2. Section 11139.6 is added to the Government Code, to read:

11139.6. (a) (1) The Legislature finds and declares that subdivision (a) of Section 31 of Article I of the California Constitution prohibits state and local government agencies from discriminating against or granting preferential treatment to any individual or group on the basis of race, sex, color, ethnicity, or national origin in the operation of public employment, public education, and public contracting. The Legislature finds that this prohibition does not prevent governmental agencies from engaging in inclusive public sector outreach and recruitment programs that, as a component of general recruitment, may include, but not be limited to, focused outreach and recruitment of minority groups and women if any group is underrepresented in entry level positions of a public sector employer.

(2) The Legislature also finds and declares that increasing the number of businesses that participate in the bidding process in public contracting results in more vigorous competition, and thus assists state and local agencies in obtaining the desired quality of work at a lower cost.

(3) It is the intent of this section that all governmental agencies shall engage in general recruitment and outreach programs to all individuals, including persons who are economically disadvantaged.

(b) For purposes of this section, underrepresentation shall be determined by comparing the minority group or the number of women at the governmental agency with that group's representation in the current civilian labor force in the jurisdiction of the governmental agency.

(c) State government employment shall use current state civilian labor force data to implement this section.

(d) It is the intent of this section to allow public sector employers to conduct outreach efforts with a goal of supplementing word-of-mouth recruitment that should result in increasing diversity of the public sector workforce.

(e) The type of recruitment activities allowed would include, but not be limited to, placement of job announcements in the following media instruments:

(1) General circulation newspapers, general circulation publications, and general market radio and television stations, including electronic media.

SEC. 5. Section 52057 of the Education Code is amended to read:

52057. (a) The State Board of Education shall establish a Governor's Performance Award Program to provide monetary and nonmonetary awards to schools that meet or exceed API performance growth targets established pursuant to Section 52052, and demonstrate comparable improvement in academic achievement by all numerically significant ethnic and socioeconomically disadvantaged subgroups within schools. Monetary awards shall be awarded only to schools whose API scores meet or exceed their API growth target as established pursuant to Section 52052 or increase by five points, whichever is greater, and in which all numerically significant subgroups' scores meet or exceed 80 percent of the school's API growth target as established pursuant to Section 52052 or increase by four points, whichever is greater. For purposes of this section, an ethnic or socioeconomically disadvantaged subgroup of at least 100 pupils constitutes a numerically significant subgroup, even if the subgroup does not constitute 15 percent of the total enrollment at a school.

(b) All schools, including schools participating in the Immediate Intervention/Underperforming Schools Program are eligible to participate in the Governor's Performance Award Program. The manner and form in which the monetary and nonmonetary awards are given shall be established by the Superintendent of Public Instruction and approved by the State Board of Education. The monetary awards shall be made available on either a per pupil or per school basis, not to exceed one hundred fifty dollars ($150) per pupil who received a score on the assessments described in subdivision (b) of Section 60640 and subject to funds appropriated in the annual Budget Act. A school that continues to show improvement in successive years is eligible to receive annual bonuses.

(c) In addition to or in substitution of monetary awards, the Superintendent of Public Instruction may establish, upon approval by the State Board of Education, nonmonetary awards that may include, but are not limited to, classification as a distinguished school, listing on a published public school honor roll, and public commendations by the Governor and the Legislature. In addition to any other criteria that are used to determine whether a school shall be classified as a distinguished school, the Superintendent of Public Instruction may consider the performance of a school on the physical performance tests administered pursuant to Section 60800.

(d) A governing board of a school district or a county board of education with one or more schools under its jurisdiction that are eligible to receive an award from the Governor's Performance Award Program may request on behalf of those schools that the State Board of Education waive all or any part of any provision of this code, or any regulation adopted by the State Board of Education, controlling any of the programs listed in clause (i) of subparagraph (B) of paragraph (1) of subdivision (a) of Section 54761 and Section 64000. The board may grant the request if the waiver does not result in a decrease in the instructional time otherwise required by law or regulation or an increase in state costs and is determined to be consistent with subdivision (a) of Section 46300. The waiver shall be granted for no more than three consecutive fiscal years. A governing board of a school district or a county board of education may request a renewal for schools under their jurisdiction that still meet the eligibility criteria.

(e) The waiver granted pursuant to subdivision (d) of Section 52057 may also provide the governing board of a school district or a county board of education with maximum flexibility, on the part of eligible schools within the districts, in the expenditure of any new or existing categorical funds not otherwise prohibited under state or federal law to enable the school to continue improvement in pupil performance.

SEC. 5.5. Section 52057 of the Education Code is amended to read:

52057. (a) The State Board of Education shall establish a Governor's Performance Award Program to provide monetary and nonmonetary awards to schools that meet or exceed API performance growth targets established pursuant to Section 52052, and demonstrate comparable improvement in academic achievement by all numerically significant English learner, ethnic, and socioeconomically disadvantaged subgroups within schools. Monetary awards shall be awarded only to schools whose API scores meet or exceed their API growth target as established pursuant to Section 52052 or increase by five points, whichever is greater, and in which all numerically significant subgroups' scores meet or exceed 80 percent of the school's API growth target as established pursuant to Section 52052 or increase by four points, whichever is greater. For purposes of this section, an English learner, ethnic, or socioeconomically disadvantaged subgroup of at least 100 pupils constitutes a numerically significant subgroup, even if the subgroup does not constitute 15 percent of the total enrollment at a school.

(b) All schools, including schools participating in the Immediate Intervention/Underperforming Schools Program are eligible to participate in the Governor's Performance Award Program. The manner and form in which the monetary and nonmonetary awards are given shall be established by the Superintendent of Public Instruction and approved by the State Board of Education. The monetary awards shall be made available on either a per pupil or per school basis, not to exceed one hundred fifty dollars ($150) per pupil who received a score on the assessments described in subdivision (b) of Section 60640 and subject to funds appropriated in the annual Budget Act. A school that continues to show improvement in successive years is eligible to receive annual bonuses.

(c) In addition to or in substitution of monetary awards, the Superintendent of Public Instruction may establish, upon approval by the State Board of Education, nonmonetary awards that may include, but are not limited to, classification as a distinguished school, listing on a published public school honor roll, and public commendations by the Governor and the Legislature. In addition to any other criteria that are used to determine whether a school shall be classified as a distinguished school, the Superintendent of Public Instruction may consider the performance of a school on the physical performance tests administered pursuant to Section 60800.

(d) A governing board of a school district or a county board of education with one or more schools under its jurisdiction that are eligible to receive an award from the Governor's Performance Award Program may request on behalf of those schools that the State Board of Education waive all or any part of any provision of this code, or any regulation adopted by the State Board of Education, controlling any of the programs listed in clause (i) of subparagraph (B) of paragraph (1) of subdivision (a) of Section 54761 and Section 64000. The board may grant the request if the waiver does not result in a decrease in the instructional time otherwise required by law or regulation or an increase in state costs and is determined to be consistent with subdivision (a) of Section 46300. The waiver shall be granted for no more than three consecutive fiscal years. A governing board of a school district or a county board of education may request a renewal for schools under their jurisdiction that still meet the eligibility criteria.

(e) The waiver granted pursuant to subdivision (d) of Section 52057 may also provide the governing board of a school district or a county board of education with maximum flexibility, on the part of eligible schools within the districts, in the expenditure of any new or existing categorical funds not otherwise prohibited under state or federal law to enable the school to continue improvement in pupil performance.

SEC. 6. Section 60800 of the Education Code is amended to read:

60800. (a) During the month of February, March, April, or May, the governing board of each school district maintaining any of grades 5, 7, and 9 shall administer to each pupil in those grades the physical performance test designated by the State Board of Education. Each physically handicapped pupil and each pupil who is physically unable to take all of the physical performance test shall be given as much of the test as his or her condition will permit.

(b) Upon request of the State Department of Education, a school district shall submit to the department, at least once every two years, the results of its physical performance testing.

(c) The State Department of Education shall compile the results of the physical performance test and submit a report every two years, by December 31, to the Legislature and Governor that standardizes the data, tracks the development of high-quality fitness programs, and compares the performance of California's pupils with national performance, to the extent that funding is available.

(d) Pupils shall be provided with their individual results after completing the physical performance testing.

(e) The governing board of a school district shall report the aggregate results of its physical performance testing administered pursuant to this section in their annual school accountability report card required by Sections 33126 and 35256.

SEC. 7. The Legislature finds and declares that this act furthers the purposes of the Classroom Instructional Improvement and Accountability Act.

SEC. 8. Section 5.5 of this bill incorporates amendments to Section 52057 of the Education Code proposed by both this bill and AB 741. It shall only become operative if (1) both bills are enacted and become effective on or before January 1, 2003, (2) each bill amends Section 52057 of the Education Code, and (3) this bill is enacted after AB 741, in which case Section 5 of this bill shall not become operative.

SEC. 9. Notwithstanding Section 17610 of the Government Code, if the Commission on State Mandates determines that this act contains costs mandated by the state, reimbursement to local agencies and school districts for those costs shall be made pursuant to Part 7 (commencing with Section 17500) of Division 4 of Title 2 of the Government Code. If the statewide cost of the claim for reimbursement does not exceed one million dollars ($1,000,000), reimbursement shall be made from the State Mandates Claims Fund.

An act to amend Sections 10554, 41203.1, 42238, 42238.12, 42238.44, 44515, 44955.5, 47634.5, 48005.10, 48005.13, 48005.15, 48005.25, 48005.30, 48005.35, 48005.45, 48005.55, 53075, 54201, 56836.158, 70000, 99234, 99235, 99240, and 99242 of, to add Sections 42238.445, 42238.46, and 54205 to, and to add and repeal Section 52263.5 of, the Education Code, to add Section 17581.5 to the Government Code, and to amend Section 5701.3 of the Welfare and Institutions Code, relating to school finance, making an appropriation therefor, and declaring the urgency thereof, to take effect immediately.

[Approved by Governor September 30, 2002. Filed with Secretary of State September 30, 2002.]

I am signing Assembly Bill 2781. However, I am reducing the portion of the appropriation for school district revenue limit equalization by $203,000,000 that is based on revenue limits prior to the re-benching of excused absences in 1997–98. I intend to set this amount aside for subsequent legislation that accomplishes the intent of legislation I signed last year (Chapter 165, Statutes of 2001), which established a statewide equalization goal.

Let me be clear. I am fully committed to providing full funding for equalization in the 2003–04 Budget Year. However, I am opposed to the formula used to determine equalization funding in this bill. By splitting equalization into disparate allocation methods, as proposed by AB 2781, the State does not actually reach an equalized endpoint. Consequently, this bill creates continued pressure to fund further rounds of equalization in future years. It is estimated that an additional $195 million to $200 million would still be required to fully equalize revenue limits computed on the basis of current state policy. As mentioned above, I intend to sign subsequent legislation that appropriates up to $203,000,000 to complete full equalization consistent with the current statutory goal. That subsequent legislation should also delete Section 7 and subdivision (c) of Section 42 of this statute to conform.

Further, I am reducing the appropriation for the Standardized Testing and Reporting (STAR) program by $800,000 to correct an unintentional overappropriation of the item.

The effect of my actions are reflected as follows:

SEC. 44. The sum appropriated in Item 6110-113-0001 of Section 2.00 of the Budget Act of 2002 is hereby augmented by forty-five million eight hundred nine thousand dollars ($45,809,000) and the amount appropriated in Schedule (4) of that item is augmented by forty-five million eight hundred nine thousand dollars ($45,809,000).

SEC. 51. (a) The amount of two hundred three million dollars ($203,000,000) is hereby appropriated from the General Fund to the Superintendent of Public Instruction for the 2003–04 fiscal year for the following purposes:

(1) Two hundred three million dollars ($203,000,000) for purposes of Section 42238.44 of the Education Code, to be allocated to school districts on a pro rata basis.

(b) For purposes of making the computations required by Section 8 of Article XVI of the California Constitution, the appropriation made by this section shall be deemed to be "General Fund revenues appropriated to schools districts," as defined in subdivision (c) of Section 41202 of the Education Code for the 2003–04 fiscal year and be included within the "total allocations to schools district and community college districts from General Fund proceeds of taxes appropriated pursuant to Article XVII B," as defined in subdivision (e) of Section 41202 of the Education Code for the 2003–04 fiscal year.

GRAY DAVIS, Governor

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Section 10554 of the Education Code is amended to read:

10554. (a) In order for the governing board to carry out its responsibilities pursuant to this chapter, there is hereby established the Educational Telecommunication Fund. The amount of moneys to be deposited in the fund shall be the amount of any offset made to the principal apportionments made pursuant to Sections 1909, 2558, 42238, 52616, Article 1.5 (commencing with Section 52335) of Chapter 9 of Part 28, and Chapter 7.2 (commencing with Section 56836) of Part 30, based on a finding that these apportionments were not in accordance with law. The maximum amount that may be annually deposited in the fund from the offset shall be fifteen million dollars ($15,000,000). The Controller shall establish an account to receive and expend moneys in the fund. The placement of the moneys in the fund shall occur only upon a finding by the Superintendent of Public Instruction and the Director of Finance that the principal apportionments made pursuant to Sections 1909, 2558, 42238, 52616, and Article 1.5 (commencing with Section 52335) of Chapter 9 of Part 28, and Chapter 7.2 (commencing with Section 56836) of Part 30 were not in accordance with existing law and were so identified pursuant to Sections 1624, 14506, 41020, 41020.2, 41320, 42127.2, and 42127.3, or an independent audit that was approved by the State Department of Education.

(b) Moneys in the fund established pursuant to subdivision (a) shall only be available for expenditure upon appropriation by the Legislature in the Budget Act.

(c) The moneys in the fund established pursuant to subdivision (a) may be expended by the governing board to carry out the purposes of this chapter, including for the following purposes:

(1) To support the activities of the team established pursuant to subdivision (c) of Section 10551.

(2) To assist the school districts and county superintendents of schools in purchasing both hardware and software to allow school districts, county superintendents of schools, and the State Department of Education to be linked for school business and administrative purposes. The governing board shall establish a matching share requirement that applicant school districts and county superintendents of schools must fulfill to receive those funds. It is the intent of the Legislature to encourage the distribution of grants to school districts and county superintendents of schools to the widest extent possible.

(3) To provide technical assistance through county offices of education to school districts in implementing the standards established pursuant to subdivision (a) of Section 10552.

(d) This section shall become inoperative as of January 1, 2004.

SEC. 2. Section 41203.1 of the Education Code is amended to read:

41203.1. (a) For the 1990–91 fiscal year and each fiscal year thereafter, allocations calculated pursuant to Section 41203 shall be distributed in accordance with calculations provided in this section. Notwithstanding Section 41203, and for the purposes of this section, school districts, community college districts, and direct elementary and secondary level instructional services provided by the State of California shall be regarded as separate segments of public education, and each of these three segments of public education shall be entitled to receive respective shares of the amount calculated pursuant to Section 41203 as though the calculation made pursuant to subdivision (b) of Section 8 of Article XVI of the California Constitution were to be applied separately to each segment and the base year for the purposes of this calculation under paragraph (1) of subdivision (b) of Section 8 of Article XVI of the California Constitution were based on the 1989–90 fiscal year. Calculations made pursuant to this subdivision shall be made so that each segment of public education is entitled to the greater of the amounts calculated for that segment pursuant to paragraph (1) or (2) of subdivision (b) of Section 8 of Article XVI of the California Constitution.

(b) If the single calculation made pursuant to Section 41203 yields a guaranteed amount of funding that is less than the sum of the amounts calculated pursuant to subdivision (a), then the amount calculated pursuant to Section 41203 shall be prorated for the three segments of public education.

(c) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, this section shall not apply to the fiscal years between the 1992–93 fiscal year and the 2002–03 fiscal year, inclusive.

SEC. 3. Section 42238 of the Education Code is amended to read:

42238. (a) For the 1984–85 fiscal year and each fiscal year thereafter, the county superintendent of schools shall determine a revenue limit for each school district in the county pursuant to this section.

(b) The base revenue limit for the current fiscal year shall be determined by adding to the base revenue limit for the prior fiscal year the following amounts:

(1) The inflation adjustment specified in Section 42238.1.

(2) For the 1995–96 fiscal year, the equalization adjustment specified in Section 42238.4.

(3) For the 1996–97 fiscal year, the equalization adjustments specified in Sections 42238.41, 42238.42, and 42238.43.

(4) For the 1985–86 fiscal year, the amount received per unit of average daily attendance in the 1984–85 fiscal year pursuant to Section 42238.7.

(5) For the 1985–86, 1986–87, and 1987–88 fiscal years, the amount per unit of average daily attendance received in the prior fiscal year pursuant to Section 42238.8.

(6) For the 2003–04 fiscal year, the equalization adjustments specified in Sections 42238.44 and 42238.46.

(c) Except for districts subject to subdivision (d), the base revenue limit computed pursuant to subdivision (b) shall be multiplied by the district average daily attendance computed pursuant to Section 42238.5.

(d) (1) For districts for which the number of units of average daily attendance determined pursuant to Section 42238.5 is greater for the current fiscal year than for the 1982–83 fiscal year, compute the following amount, in lieu of the amount computed pursuant to subdivision (c):

(B) Multiply the lesser of the amount in subdivision (c) or 1.05 times the statewide average base revenue limit per unit of average daily attendance for districts of similar type for the current fiscal year by the difference between the average daily attendance computed pursuant to Section 42238.5 for the current and 1982–83 fiscal years.

(C) Add the amounts in subparagraphs (A) and (B).

(2) This subdivision shall become inoperative on July 1, 1998.

(e) For districts electing to compute units of average daily attendance pursuant to paragraph (3) of subdivision (a) of Section 42238.5, the amount computed pursuant to Article 4 (commencing with Section 42280) shall be added to the amount computed in subdivision (c) or (d), as appropriate.

(f) For the 1984–85 fiscal year only, the county superintendent shall reduce the total revenue limit computed in this section by the amount of the decreased employer contributions to the Public Employees' Retirement System resulting from enactment of Chapter 330 of the Statutes of 1982, offset by any increase in those contributions, as of the 1983–84 fiscal year, resulting from subsequent changes in employer contribution rates.

(g) The reduction required by subdivision (f) shall be calculated as follows:

(1) Determine the amount of employer contributions that would have been made in the 1983–84 fiscal year if the applicable Public Employees' Retirement System employer contribution rate in effect immediately prior to the enactment of Chapter 330 of the Statutes of 1982 were in effect during the 1983–84 fiscal year.

(2) Subtract from the amount determined in paragraph (1) the greater of subparagraph (A) or (B):

(A) The amount of employer contributions that would have been made in the 1983–84 fiscal year if the applicable Public Employees' Retirement System employer contribution rate in effect immediately after the enactment of Chapter 330 of the Statutes of 1982 were in effect during the 1983–84 fiscal year.

(B) The actual amount of employer contributions made to the Public Employees' Retirement System in the 1983–84 fiscal year.

(3) For purposes of this subdivision, employer contributions to the Public Employees' Retirement System for any of the following shall be excluded from the calculation specified above:

(B) Positions supported by funds received pursuant to Section 42243.6.

(C) Positions supported, to the extent of employer contributions not exceeding twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) by any single educational agency, from a revenue source determined on the basis of equity to be properly excludable from the provisions of this subdivision by the Superintendent of Public Instruction with the approval of the Director of Finance.

(4) For accounting purposes, the reduction made by this subdivision may be reflected as an expenditure from appropriate sources of revenue as directed by the Superintendent of Public Instruction.

(h) The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall apportion to each school district the amount determined in this section less the sum of:

(1) The district's property tax revenue received pursuant to Chapter 3 (commencing with Section 75) and Chapter 6 (commencing with Section 95) of Part 0.5 of the Revenue and Taxation Code.

(2) The amount, if any, received pursuant to Part 18.5 (commencing with Section 38101) of the Revenue and Taxation Code.

(3) The amount, if any, received pursuant to Chapter 3 (commencing with Section 16140) of the Government Code.

(8) For a unified school district, other than a unified school district that has converted all of its schools to charter status pursuant to Section 47606, the amount of statewide average general-purpose funding per unit of average daily attendance received by school districts for each of four grade level ranges, as computed by the State Department of Education pursuant to Section 47633, multiplied by the average daily attendance, in corresponding grade level ranges, of any pupils who attend charter schools funded pursuant to Chapter 6 (commencing with Section 47630) of Part 26.8 for which the district is the sponsoring local educational agency, as defined in Section 47632, and who reside in and would otherwise have been eligible to attend a noncharter school of the district.

(i) No transfer of seventh and eighth grade pupils between an elementary school district and a high school district shall result in the receiving district receiving a revenue limit apportionment for those pupils that exceeds 105 percent of the statewide average revenue limit for the type and size of the receiving school district.

SEC. 4. Section 42238.12 of the Education Code is amended to read:

42238.12. (a) For the 1995–96 fiscal year and each fiscal year thereafter, the county superintendent of schools shall adjust the total revenue limit for each school district in the jurisdiction of the county superintendent of schools by the amount of increased or decreased employer contributions to the Public Employees' Retirement System resulting from the enactment of Chapter 330 of the Statutes of 1982, adjusted for any changes in those contributions resulting from subsequent changes in employer contribution rates, excluding rate changes due to the direct transfer of the state-mandated portion of the employer contributions to the Public Employees' Retirement System, through the current fiscal year. The adjustment shall be calculated for each school district, as follows:

(B) For the purposes of this calculation, no school district shall have a contribution rate higher than 13.020 percent.

(4) For the purpose of this section, employer contributions to the Public Employees' Retirement System for any of the following positions shall be excluded from the calculation specified above:

(A) Positions or portions of positions supported by federal funds that are subject to supplanting restrictions.

SEC. 11. Section 48005.10 of the Education Code is amended to read:

48005.10. (a) This article shall be known, and may be cited, as the Kindergarten Readiness Pilot Program.

(b) The Legislature hereby finds and declares the following:

(1) The available data indicate all of the following:

(A) By changing the age at which children generally enter kindergarten, California's children will be better prepared to enter into the academic environment that is required by the California content standards for kindergarten.

(B) Success in school is often related to socioeconomic status, English language fluency at school entry, and access to preschool. By providing a kindergarten readiness program for the children most at risk for low performance and delaying entry to allow all children time to become more developmentally ready to learn, pupils are more likely to succeed in school.

(C) Comparisons between California pupils and pupils in other states on national achievement tests in the later grades are likely to be more equitable if the entry age of California pupils is more closely aligned to that of most other states.

(D) Children who have attended an educationally based kindergarten readiness program, including, but not limited to, a quality state preschool, Head Start, or kindergarten readiness program, are better prepared academically and socially for the existing kindergarten curriculum, as reflected by the state adopted standards.

(2) The purpose of the pilot project established pursuant to this article is intended to test these data.

(3) For participating school districts, the change in enrollment required pursuant to this article will result in a decrease in the number of pupils enrolled in kindergarten classes for the class entering kindergarten in the 2003–04 school year. Thus, it is estimated that in participating school districts there will be a 25 percent decrease in the enrollment of the kindergarten class in the initial year of implementation.

(4) The school district revenue related provision of this article in Section 48005.30 is intended to fully fund participation in the program and provide an incentive to participate.

SEC. 12. Section 48005.13 of the Education Code is amended to read:

(b) The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall convene an advisory panel to assist the department in developing its request for proposals, and in evaluating and selecting the proposals submitted to the department. The advisory panel shall include, but need not be limited to, a representative of each of the following:

(1) The Department of Finance.

(2) The Legislature.

(3) The California Research Bureau.

(4) The Legislative Analyst.

(5) The State Board of Education.

(6) The Secretary for Education.

(c) By February 1, 2003, the superintendent shall notify elementary and unified school districts maintaining kindergarten about the existence of this program, shall notify them about the procedures for participation, and shall request proposals for participation.

(d) Participation in the program by a school district shall be voluntary.

(e) A school district that elects to participate in the program shall apply to the Superintendent of Public Instruction by May 1, 2003, upon forms adopted by the superintendent for this purpose.

(f) The Superintendent of Public Instruction, with the advice of the advisory panel, and in consultation with the Secretary for Education, shall select participants from the group of applicants. The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall give priority to applicant school districts that are representative of the diversity of pupils and of the various types of school districts within the state. Priority shall, also, be given to unified school districts.

(g) Nothing in this article prohibits a school district from implementing the program in selected schools within the district if adequate records are kept to substantiate the accuracy of the declining enrollment incentive and limits on prekindergarten instruction funding provided pursuant to Section 48005.30.

SEC. 13. Section 48005.15 of the Education Code is amended to read:

48005.15. By July 1, 2003, each participant school district shall enter into an agreement with the Superintendent of Public Instruction setting forth the requirements under the program, including, but not limited to, all of the following:

(a) The participating school district shall make reasonable efforts to identify parents and guardians of children from three to five years of age who reside within the school district and to provide the parents and guardians with information regarding, and access to, services, programs, or methods, to assist them in assessing the level of readiness of a child to enter school.

(b) The effort set forth in paragraph (1) shall include, but need not be limited to, information regarding available care services, preschool programs, and educationally based kindergarten readiness programs. The school district may coordinate this effort with local parent-teacher organizations.

(c) ''Reasonable effort'' as used in this subdivision does not require that the school district individually contact every potential parent who resides within the school district.

(d) The school district shall provide assistance to parents or guardians who request assistance regarding activities that parents may initiate in preparing children for school.

(e) At a minimum, participating school districts shall supply parents or guardians with written readiness guidelines developed by the State Department of Education.

(f) Assistance provided pursuant to this section shall be based on generally accepted child development theory and may include information related to social and development readiness and professional consultations with teachers and school administrators.

(g) The participating school district shall make reasonable efforts to collect data and make it available to the independent evaluator, as specified in Section 48005.45.

SEC. 14. Section 48005.25 of the Education Code is amended to read:

48005.25. (a) Notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary, including, but not limited to, Section 48000, for the 2003–04 school year, and each school year thereafter in which a school district continues to participate in the program, the school district shall offer admission to kindergarten at the beginning of the school year, or at a later time in the same school year, only to children who will have their fifth birthday on or before September 1 of that school year. For a school district that is not implementing the pilot project authorized by this article on a districtwide basis, this subdivision applies only to children whose residence is in the regular attendance boundary of a participating school or who would otherwise attend that school under school assignment policies established in the school year prior to implementation of this pilot program.

(b) Notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary, including, but not limited to, Section 48010, for the 2004–05 school year, and each school year thereafter in which a school district continues to participate in the program, a school district shall offer admission to first grade at the beginning of the school year, or at a later time in the same school year, only to children who will have their sixth birthday on or before September 1 of that school year. Kindergarten shall not be a prerequisite for enrollment in first grade pursuant to this article. For a school district that is not implementing the pilot project authorized by this article on a districtwide basis, this subdivision applies only to children whose residence is in the regular attendance boundary of a participating school or who would otherwise attend that school under school assignment policies established in the school year prior to implementation of this pilot program.

(c) Notwithstanding subdivisions (a) and (b), the governing board of each school district participating in this program shall adopt a policy to allow, for good cause, admission of a child to kindergarten or to the first grade at the beginning of a school year in which the child's birthday will be after September 1, or at a later time in the same school year. It is the intent of the Legislature that this subdivision authorize rare exceptions for only the most gifted and socially mature children. Therefore, exceptions are limited to no more than the greater of either one child or the number of children determined by multiplying .01 times the prior school year P-2 average daily attendance in kindergarten within the participating school district or the school implementing the program, as applicable. A school or school district may not exceed this limitation without specific written approval from the Superintendent of Public Instruction upon consideration of a statement by the school or school district of the circumstances that meet the legislative intent regarding this subdivision.

SEC. 15. Section 48005.30 of the Education Code is amended to read:

48005.30. (a) For the 2003–04 school year and each school year thereafter until the 2009–10 school year the Superintendent of Public Instruction shall allocate a grant of funds for a participating school district for each year of participation to cover the costs of developing and operating the school district kindergarten readiness program, including, but not limited to, the costs of administration and the costs associated with services provided to parents and children in the program. For any participating school district, annual funding pursuant to this paragraph shall be subject to the limitations and requirements of this subdivision and shall not exceed the per-pupil amount nor the total amount computed as follows:

(1) Five dollars ($5) per hour for each hour of attendance for every child participating in the kindergarten readiness program up to a maximum of 150 hours of attendance for each child. The amount per hour shall be adjusted annually, commencing with the 2004–05 school year for the inflation adjustment calculated pursuant to subdivision (b) of Section 42238.1.

(2) For purposes of total funding to a participating school district, the amount claimed may not exceed an amount equivalent to multiplying the amount in paragraph (1) by a number equal to 50 percent of the entire kindergarten P-2 average daily attendance for the 2002–03 school year of the school district or, in a school district that is not implementing the pilot project authorized by this article on a districtwide basis, by a number equal to 50 percent of the kindergarten P-2 average daily attendance for the 2002–03 school year of the schools in the district that are implementing the program.

(b) For the 2003–04 school year, the Superintendent of Public Instruction shall allocate a one-time incentive grant to enhance transition of the school district for the reduced attendance that results from the program, to be determined by multiplying one-fourth of the kindergarten average daily attendance for the 2002–03 school year by the school district's base revenue limit per unit of average daily attendance. If a school district does not implement the program districtwide, this one-time incentive shall be determined by multiplying one-fourth of the specific portion of the district's kindergarten average daily attendance for the 2002–03 school year contributed by the implementing school or schools by the school district's base revenue limit per unit of average daily attendance.

(c) A participating school district that does not implement the program on a districtwide basis shall provide to the Superintendent of Public Instruction a statement certifying the following:

(1) P-2 average daily attendance in the implementing schools for the 2002–03 school year. The school district shall maintain these records for audit purposes. The Superintendent of Public Instruction may request documentation of the P-2 average daily attendance in schools implementing the program as deemed necessary to enforce the funding limits of this article.

(2) Attendance boundaries for the schools implementing the program will remain the same as they existed in the 2002–03 school year through the duration of the program unless the district submits an application to and receives approval from the State Board of Education. The State Board of Education shall only consider applications for attendance boundary changes for participating schools in cases where significant population changes necessitate the opening of new schools or the closing of existing schools. In order to preserve the integrity of the evaluation required by this article, it is the intent of the Legislature that a school district applying to participate in the program on a less than districtwide basis avoid implementation of the program in schools that can reasonably be foreseen to be subject to boundary changes within the timeframe of the pilot program authorized in this article. The State Board of Education may not approve boundary changes that do not meet the requirements and intent of this paragraph.

(3) The district has established procedures that restrict attendance in nonparticipating schools of the district for children residing in the attendance boundaries of the schools implementing the program.

(d) Total incentive funding for reduced P-2 average daily attendance provided pursuant to this article shall be subject to a statewide maximum funding level equal to the equivalent of 2,300 full annual units of average daily attendance multiplied by the statewide average school district revenue limit for the 2003–04 fiscal year as determined by the Department of Finance.

SEC. 16. Section 48005.35 of the Education Code is amended to read:

48005.35. (a) A school district kindergarten readiness program operated pursuant to this article is exempt from Chapter 14 (commencing with Section 15000) and Chapter 19 (commencing with Section 17906) of Division 1 of Title 5 of the California Code of Regulations if the program meets kindergarten staffing and safety requirements.

(b) Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, including, but not limited to, subdivision (a) of Section 17285, a commercial building that does not meet the requirements of Section 17820, that is leased to a school district may, until January 1, 2004, be used as a classroom in order to accommodate programs under this article if the governing board of the school district finds that conditions of subdivision (b) of Section 17285 have been met.

(c) Any teacher participating in the kindergarten readiness program shall be a holder of a permit or credential issued by the Commission on Teacher Credentialing that authorizes instruction in kindergarten or child care and development.

SEC. 17. Section 48005.45 of the Education Code is amended to read:

48005.45. (a) The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall, by June 1, 2004, contract for an independent longitudinal evaluation regarding the effects of the change in the entry age for kindergarten and first grade pursuant to this article. In selecting the independent evaluator, awarding the contract pursuant to this section, and in monitoring performance under the contract, the Superintendent of Public Instruction shall consult with the advisory panel convened pursuant to subdivision (b) of Section 48005.13.

(b) The evaluation shall be based upon samples of sufficient size and diversity to allow results to be reported separately for pupils of different ethnicity, socioeconomic status, and primary language, and results of the evaluation shall be so reported.

(c) The primary purpose of the evaluation is to determine whether this entry age change results in improved readiness for school and an improvement in academic achievement among participating children.

(d) The evaluation shall use representative sampling to identify the change's effects on all of the following:

(1) Academic achievement, as measured by standardized tests, as compared with pupils not participating in the program.

(2) Behavioral problems, as measured by objective data including, but not limited to, suspension and expulsion rates, as compared with pupils not participating in the program.

(3) Academic problems, as measured by referrals to special education and remedial programs, as compared with pupils not participating in the program.

(4) Age of kindergarten entry and previous educationally based preschool experience, including, but not limited to, access to child care and preschool by parents or guardians.

(5) Overall retention rates in kindergarten and in subsequent grades.

(6) Participation in remedial, supplemental, or summer school programs.

(7) Class size.

(8) Number of pupils participating in kindergarten.

(9) Number of pupils participating in the kindergarten readiness programs.

(10) Differences, if any, between programs with full preschool participation, and those with partial or no preschool.

(11) Childcare difficulties caused by the admission age change.

(12) Demographic breakdown of participants and nonparticipants, including, but not limited to, socioeconomic and ethnic demographics.

(13) Facilities difficulties, if any, encountered by participating school districts.

(14) The ability of parents to gain access to the program, disaggregated by ethnic, primary language, and socioeconomic status.

(e) It is the intent of the Legislature that funding for this evaluation be included in the Budget Act or a bill related to the Budget Act. It is the intent of the Legislature to subsequently increase the number of hours funded for the kindergarten readiness program if the reports pursuant to this section indicate that the increase would be beneficial.

(f) (1) The independent evaluator shall report to the Legislature, the Governor, the Superintendent of Public Instruction, the State Board of Education, and the Secretary for Education.

(2) The initial report shall be filed by June 1, 2006. The interim report shall be filed by January 1, 2008. The final report shall be filed by January 1, 2009.

SEC. 18. Section 48005.55 of the Education Code is amended to read:

48005.55. This article shall become inoperative on July 1, 2010, and, as of January 1, 2011, is repealed, unless a later enacted statute, that becomes operative on or before January 1, 2011, deletes or extends the dates on which it becomes inoperative and is repealed.

SEC. 19. Section 52263.5 is added to the Education Code, to read:

52263.5. (a) Notwithstanding subdivision (a) of Section 52253, no technology support and staff training grants shall be provided to school districts and county offices of education for the 2002–03 fiscal year. Notwithstanding subdivision (a) of Section 52262, the Superintendent of Public Instruction may not allocate technology support and staff training grants for the 2002–03 fiscal year.

(b) It is the intent of the Legislature that the funding that would otherwise have been provided for the 2002–03 fiscal year be provided in the 2003–04 fiscal year.

(c) This section shall become inoperative on July 1, 2003, and, as of January 1, 2004, is repealed, unless a later enacted statute that is enacted before January 1, 2004, deletes or extends the dates on which it becomes inoperative and is repealed.

53075. Subject to funding being appropriated in the annual Budget Act for this purpose, the Secretary for Education shall contract for the development and establishment of a public involvement campaign to inform Californians that promoting reading in the public schools as a key to success in life is the responsibility of all Californians. The campaign shall address, but not necessarily be limited to, promoting family reading activities, encouraging private sector support for child literacy programs, and publicizing the importance of reading skills for academic success.

Elected officials and declared candidates for partisan public office may not appear in promotional materials for the reading campaign.

SEC. 21. Section 54201 of the Education Code is amended to read:

54201. (a) The State Department of Education shall calculate the per pupil amount that was received by each school district pursuant to the court-ordered desegregation claims filed pursuant to Sections 42243.6 and 42247, and the per pupil amount that was received based on voluntary integration claims filed pursuant to Sections 42247 and 42249 for the 2000–01 fiscal year. This amount shall be determined by dividing the total funds by the actual average daily attendance as reported on the second principal apportionment for 2000–01.

(b) The amount determined pursuant to subdivision (a) for each school district, adjusted by the percentage increase calculated pursuant to Section 42238.1, multiplied by the districts' total average daily attendance for each fiscal year shall be the total per pupil funding received for the Targeted Instructional Improvement Grant. This amount shall be adjusted annually thereafter by the percentage increase calculated pursuant to Section 42238.1. For the 2001–02 fiscal year, and each fiscal year thereafter, the total amount a school district shall receive in any fiscal year is at a minimum the same total amount it received in the 2000–01 fiscal year adjusted annually pursuant to Section 42238.1.

SEC. 22. Section 54205 is added to the Education Code, to read:

54205. (a) For a basic aid district that was entitled to reimbursement pursuant to Section 42247.4, as that section read on January 1, 2001, and that received an apportionment pursuant to subdivision (h) of Section 42247.4, as that section read on January 1, 2001, because a court order directs pupils to transfer to that district as part of the court-ordered voluntary pupil transfer program, the Superintendent of Public Instruction, commencing with the 2001–02 fiscal year, shall calculate an apportionment of state funds for that basic aid district that provides 70 percent of the district revenue limit calculated pursuant to Section 42238 that would have been apportioned to the school district from which the pupils were transferred for the average daily attendance of any pupils credited under that court order who did not attend the basic aid school district prior to the 1995–96 fiscal year.

(b) For purposes of this section, ''basic aid district'' means a school district that does not receive from the state, for any fiscal year in which this section is applied, an apportionment of state funds pursuant to subdivision (h) of Section 42238.

SEC. 23. Section 56836.158 of the Education Code is amended to read:

56836.158. (a) (1) The superintendent shall determine the statewide total average daily attendance used for the purposes of Section 56836.08 for the 2000–01 fiscal year. For the purposes of this calculation, the 2000–01 second principal average daily attendance for the court, community school, and special education programs served by the Los Angeles County Juvenile Court and Community School/Division of Alternative Education special education local plan area shall be used in lieu of the average daily attendance used for that agency for the purposes of Section 56836.08.

This increase shall be effective beginning in the 2001–02 fiscal year.

(4) Notwithstanding paragraph (3), for the Los Angeles County Juvenile Court and Community School/Division of Alternative Education special education local plan area, the superintendent shall permanently increase the amount per unit of average daily attendance determined pursuant to paragraph (2) of Section 56836.10 by the ratio of the amount determined pursuant to paragraph (2) to the statewide target per unit of average daily attendance determined pursuant to Section 56836.11 for the 2000–01 fiscal year. This increase shall be effective beginning in the 2001–02 fiscal year.

(5) The superintendent shall increase the statewide target per unit of average daily attendance determined pursuant to Section 56836.11 for the 2001–02 fiscal year by the amount determined pursuant to paragraph (2).

(b) (1) The superintendent shall determine the statewide total average daily attendance used for the purposes of Section 56836.08 for the 2001–02 fiscal year. For the purposes of this calculation, the 2001–02 second principal average daily attendance for the court, community school, and special education programs served by the Los Angeles County Juvenile Court and Community School/Division of Alternative Education special education local plan area shall be used in lieu of the average daily attendance used for that agency for the purposes of Section 56836.08.

(2) The superintendent shall distribute the amount appropriated for purposes of this section from the Budget Act of 2002. The superintendent shall divide that amount of funding by the amount calculated in paragraph (1).

It is the intent of the Legislature that a local education agency give highest priority to training teachers assigned to low-performing schools. It is also the intent of the Legislature that funding appropriated in one fiscal year that is not expended by a local education agency be redirected to local education agencies that have trained more eligible teachers than the percentage funded. When a redirection of funding occurs, funding in subsequent fiscal years for the local education agencies involved shall be adjusted to reflect the redirection of funding.

(b) A school district that cannot make the certification required pursuant to paragraph (3) of subdivision (a) of Section 99237 for all the grade levels it maintains in reading and mathematics may apply for and receive incentive funding for the grade levels and subjects for which it can make the certification required pursuant to paragraph (3) of subdivision (a) of Section 99237, in which case the certified assurance submitted pursuant to Section 99237 shall apply only to the professional development provided to teachers and instructional aides and paraprofessionals who directly assist with classroom instruction in mathematics and reading in the grade levels and subjects for which it can make the certification required pursuant to paragraph (3) of subdivision (a) of Section 99237.

(d) The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall notify local education agencies that the maximum funding for the purpose of this article for which they are eligible each year is equal to the percentage set forth in subdivision (a), multiplied by the sum of the following two factors multiplied by two thousand five hundred dollars ($2,500):

(1) Twice the number of multiple subjects teachers teaching in a self-contained classroom and special education teachers, as specified in paragraphs (1) and (2) of Section 99233, that provide direct instruction in reading and mathematics as reported in the most recent available CBEDS data, who have not received training pursuant to either this article or Article 2 (commencing with Section 99220).

(2) The number of mathematics, English, science, and social science teachers as specified in paragraphs (3) to (6), inclusive, of Section 99233 that were reported in the most recent available CBEDS data, who have not received training pursuant to either this article or Article 2 (commencing with Section 99220).

(e) The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall allocate funding appropriated for the purposes of this article in the following order of priority:

(1) Two thousand five hundred dollars ($2,500) for each qualifying teacher who was provided training pursuant to subdivision (a) in the prior year for whom the local education agency did not receive funding due to insufficient availability of funds in the prior fiscal year.

(2) Two thousand five hundred dollars ($2,500) for each qualifying teacher who was provided training pursuant to this article, subject to the limitations in subdivision (d).

(3) Five hundred dollars ($500) for each qualifying teacher for each qualifying program as specified in Article 2 (commencing with Section 99220) who successfully completes mathematics or reading standards training, or both, at a California Professional Development Institute authorized pursuant to Article 2 (commencing with Section 99220) in the 2001–02 fiscal year to the 2004–05 fiscal year, inclusive, using funds received pursuant to Article 2 (commencing with Section 99220), and has had specific approved training on the mathematics or reading instructional materials selected for use in the school.

(5) Two thousand five hundred dollars ($2,500) for each qualifying teacher who was provided training pursuant to this article in excess of limitations in subdivision (d).

(f) For purposes of this article, qualifying teachers who, in the 2000–01 fiscal year, received training at a California Professional Development Institute authorized pursuant to Article 2 (commencing with Section 99220) that was paid for by a local education agency using funds that were not received pursuant to Article 2 (commencing with Section 99220) shall be deemed to have received training in the 2001–02 fiscal year. A local education agency shall receive funding for these qualifying teachers in accordance with paragraph (2) of subdivision (e).

(g) Except as provided in subdivision (f) of Section 99237, funding may not be provided to a local education agency until the State Board of Education approves the agency's certified assurance submitted pursuant to Section 99237.

(h) Of the funding a local education agency is eligible to receive pursuant to this section for each eligible teacher, up to the number specified in subdivision (a), 50 percent shall be awarded following the provision of 40 hours of professional development as specified in subdivision (b) of Section 99237, with the remaining funding to be awarded following certification of the provision of the 80 hours of followup instruction as specified in subdivision (b) of Section 99237.

(i) Except as provided in paragraphs (3) and (4) of subdivision (e), a local education agency may not receive funds pursuant to this article for teachers who receive training pursuant to Article 2 (commencing with Section 99220) using funding provided pursuant to Article 2 (commencing with Section 99220).

Funding will be provided to local education agencies on a first-come, first-serve basis. A local education agency that chooses to participate in the program is eligible to receive funding for no greater than 29 percent of its instructional aides and paraprofessionals who directly assist with classroom instruction in mathematics and reading in the 2004–05 fiscal year and up to 14.5 percent in the 2005–06 fiscal year. However, the statewide total number of instructional aides and paraprofessionals who directly assist with classroom instruction in mathematics and reading served under this program may not exceed 9,600 over the two fiscal years.

(b) Of the incentive provided pursuant to subdivision (a), a local educational agency may use not more than five hundred dollars ($500) of the per instructional aide and paraprofessionals who directly assist with classroom instruction in mathematics and reading amount to provide an individual instructional aid stipend.

(b) The increase in revenue limit provided in subdivision (a) shall be adjusted annually, including plus or minus adjustments for under- or over-estimating expenditures used in determining the increase in revenue limit provided by subdivision (a) in the previous fiscal year.

(c) For the 1994–95 fiscal year and each fiscal year thereafter, the amount of the increase computed pursuant to this section shall not be adjusted by the deficit factor applied to the revenue limit of each county superintendent of schools pursuant to Section 2558.45.

(d) Expenditures for employees of charter schools funded pursuant to Article 2 (commencing with Section 47633) of Chapter 6 of Part 26.8 are excluded from the calculations set forth in this section.

SEC. 2. Section 2558 of the Education Code is amended to read:

2558. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, for the 1979–80 fiscal year and each fiscal year thereafter, the Superintendent of Public Instruction shall apportion state aid to county superintendents of schools pursuant to the provisions of this section.

(a) The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall total the amounts computed for the fiscal year pursuant to Sections 2550, 2551, 2551.3, 2554, 2555, and 2557. For the 1979–80 fiscal year and for purposes of calculating the 1979–80 fiscal year base amounts in succeeding fiscal years, the amounts in Sections 2550, 2551, 2552, 2554, 2555, and 2557, as they read in the 1979–80 fiscal year, shall be multiplied by a factor of 0.994. For the 1981–82 fiscal year and for purposes of calculating the 1981–82 fiscal year base amounts in succeeding fiscal years, the amount in this subdivision shall be multiplied by a factor of 0.97.

(b) For the 1995–96 fiscal year and each fiscal year thereafter, the county superintendent of schools shall adjust the total revenue limit computed pursuant to this section by the amount of increased or decreased employer contributions to the Public Employees' Retirement System resulting from the enactment of Chapter 330 of the Statutes of 1982, adjusted for any changes in those contributions resulting from subsequent changes in employer contribution rates, excluding rate changes due to the direct transfer of the state-mandated portion of the employer contributions to the Public Employees' Retirement System through the current fiscal year. The adjustment shall be calculated for each county superintendent of schools as follows:

(1) Determine the amount of employer contributions that would have been made in the current fiscal year if the applicable Public Employees' Retirement System employee contribution rate in effect immediately prior to the enactment of Chapter 330 of the Statutes of 1982 were in effect during the current fiscal year.

(2) Determine the actual amount of employer contributions made to the Public Employees' Retirement System in the current fiscal year.

(3) If the amount determined in paragraph (1) is greater than the amount determined in paragraph (2), the total revenue limit computed pursuant to this part for that county superintendent of schools shall be decreased by the amount of the difference between those paragraphs; or if the amount determined in paragraph (1) is less than the amount determined in paragraph (2), the total revenue limit for that county superintendent of schools shall be increased by the amount of the difference between those paragraphs.

(4) For the purposes of this subdivision, employer contributions to the Public Employees' Retirement System for any of the following positions shall be excluded from the calculation specified above:

(A) Positions or portions of positions supported by federal funds that are subject to supplanting restrictions.

(B) Positions supported by funds received pursuant to paragraph (1) of subdivision (a) of Section 54203.

(C) Positions supported, to the extent of employers' contributions not exceeding twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) by any single educational agency, from a non-General Fund revenue source determined to be properly excludable from this subdivision by the Superintendent of Public Instruction with the approval of the Director of Finance. Commencing in the 2002–03 fiscal year, only positions supported from a non-General Fund revenue source determined to be properly excludable as identified for a particular local education agency or pursuant to a blanket waiver by the Superintendent of Public Instruction and the Director of Finance, prior to the 2002–03 fiscal year, may be excluded pursuant to this paragraph.

(5) For accounting purposes, any reduction to county office of education revenue limits made by this subdivision may be reflected as an expenditure from appropriate sources of revenue as directed by the Superintendent of Public Instruction.

(6) The amount of the increase or decrease to the revenue limits of county superintendents of schools made by this subdivision for the 1995–96 fiscal year or any fiscal year thereafter shall not be adjusted by the deficit factor applied to the revenue limit of each county superintendent of schools pursuant to Section 2558.45.

(c) The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall also subtract from the amount determined in subdivision (a) the sum of: (1) local property tax revenues received pursuant to Section 2573 in the then current fiscal year, and tax revenues received pursuant to Section 2556 in the then current fiscal year, (2) state and federal categorical aid for the fiscal year, (3) district contributions pursuant to Section 52321 for the fiscal year, and other applicable local contributions and revenues, (4) any amounts that the county superintendent of schools was required to maintain as restricted and not available for expenditure in the 1978–79 fiscal year as specified in the second paragraph of subdivision (c) of Section 6 of Chapter 292 of the Statutes of 1978, as amended by Chapter 51 of the Statutes of 1979, and (5) the amount received pursuant to subparagraph (C) of paragraph (3) of subdivision (a) of Section 33607.5 of the Health and Safety Code that is considered property taxes pursuant to that section.

(d) The remainder computed in subdivision (c) shall be distributed in the same manner as state aid to school districts from funds appropriated to Section A of the State School Fund.

(e) If the remainder determined pursuant to subdivision (c) is a negative amount, no state aid shall be distributed to that county superintendent of schools pursuant to subdivision (d), and an amount of funds of that county superintendent equal to that negative amount shall be deemed restricted and not available for expenditure during the current fiscal year. In the next fiscal year, that amount shall be considered local property tax revenue for purposes of the operation of paragraph (1) of subdivision (c) of this section.

(b) The standardized template shall include fields for the insertion of data and information by the State Department of Education and by local educational agencies. When the template for a school is completed, it should enable parents and guardians to compare how local schools compare to other schools within that district as well as other schools in the state.

(c) In conjunction with the development of the standardized template, the State Department of Education shall furnish standard definitions for school conditions included in the school accountability report card. The standard definitions shall comply with the following:

(1) Definitions shall be consistent with the definitions already in place or under the development at the state level pursuant to existing law.

(2) Definitions shall enable schools to furnish contextual or comparative information to assist the public in understanding the information in relation to the performance of other schools.

(3) Definitions shall specify the data for which the State Department of Education will be responsible for providing and the data and information for which the local educational agencies will be responsible.

(d) By December 1, 2000, the State Department of Education shall report to the State Board of Education on the school conditions for which it already has standard definitions in place or under development. The report shall include a survey of the conditions for which the State Department of Education has valid and reliable data at the state, district, or school level. The State Board of Education may designate outside experts in performance measurements in support of activities of the advisory board.

(f) By January 1, 2001, the State Board of Education shall approve available definitions for inclusion in the template as well as a timetable for the further development of definitions and data collection procedures. By July 1, 2001, and each year thereafter, the State Board of Education shall adopt the template for the current year's school accountability report card. (g) The State Department of Education shall annually post the completed and viewable template on the Internet. The template shall be designed to allow schools or districts to download the template from the Internet. The State Department of Education shall establish model guidelines and safeguards that may be used by school districts secured access only for those school officials authorized to make modifications.

(l) Local educational agencies shall make these school accountability report cards available through the Internet or through paper copies.

(c) If a gift of land has been accepted by the governing board of a school district upon condition or agreement that it be devoted to school purposes of the district, whether that condition or agreement is written or oral and whether the terms thereof are recited or referred to in any instrument executed in connection with the conveyance of the gift, and the board subsequently determines that the land cannot feasibly be utilized for any school purpose of the district, the board may cause it to be reconveyed to the donor without consideration to the district; provided that failure to do so shall not affect the rights of any bona fide purchaser or encumbrancer of the land.

SEC. 14. Section 41033 of the Education Code is amended to read:

41033. The governing board of a school district which has placed funds in the Foundation Fund is hereby authorized to invest all or any part of those funds as it deems wise and expedient as follows:

41303. The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall report to the Controller, on or before the 20th day of October of each year, the total average daily attendance during the preceding fiscal year credited to all kindergarten, elementary, high school, and adult schools in the state and to county school tuition funds.

SEC. 18. Section 41372 of the Education Code is amended to read:

41372. For purposes of this section:

(a) ''Salaries of classroom teachers'' and ''teacher'' shall have the same meanings as prescribed by Section 41011 provided, however, that the cost of all health and welfare benefits provided to the teachers by the school district shall be included within the meaning of salaries of classroom teachers.

(b) ''Current expense of education'' means the gross total expended (not reduced by estimated income or estimated federal and state apportionments) for the purposes classified in the final budget of a school district (except one which, during the preceding fiscal year, had less than 101 units of average daily attendance) submitted to and approved by the county superintendent of schools pursuant to Section 42127 for certificated salaries other than certificated salaries for pupil transportation, food services, and community services; classified salaries other than classified salaries for pupil transportation, food services, and community services; employee benefits other than employee benefits for pupil transportation personnel, food services personnel, and community services personnel; books, supplies, and equipment replacement other than for pupil transportation and food services; and community services, contracted services, and other operating expenses other than for pupil transportation, food services, and community services. ''Current expense of education,'' for purposes of this section shall not include those expenditures classified as sites, buildings, books, and media and new equipment (object of expenditure 6000 of the California School Accounting Manual), the amount expended from categorical aid received from the federal or state government which funds were granted for expenditures in a program not incurring any teacher salary expenditures or requiring disbursement of the funds without regard to the requirements of this section, or expenditures for facility acquisition and construction; and shall not include the amount expended pursuant to any lease agreement for plant and equipment or the amount expended from funds received from the federal government pursuant to the ''Economic Opportunity Act of 1964'' or any extension of this act of Congress.

There shall be expended during each fiscal year for payment of salaries of classroom teachers:

(1) By an elementary school district, 60 percent of the district's current expense of education.

(2) By a high school district, 50 percent of the district's current expense of education.

(3) By a unified school district, 55 percent of the district's current expense of education.

If the county superintendent of schools having jurisdiction over the district determines, on the basis of an audit conducted pursuant to Section 41020, that a school district has not expended the applicable percentage of current expense of education for the payment of salaries of classroom teachers during the preceding fiscal year, the county superintendent of schools shall, in apportionments made to the school district from the State School Fund after April 15 of the current fiscal year, designate an amount of this apportionment or apportionments equal to the apparent deficiency in district expenditures. Any amount designated by the county superintendent of schools shall be deposited in the county treasury to the credit of the school district, but shall be unavailable for expenditure by the district pending the determination to be made by the county superintendent of schools on any application for exemption which may be submitted to the county superintendent of schools. If it appears to the governing board of a school district that the application of the preceding paragraphs of this section during a fiscal year results in serious hardship to the district, or in the payment of salaries of classroom teachers in excess of the salaries of classroom teachers paid by other districts of comparable type and functioning under comparable conditions, the board may apply to the county superintendent of schools in writing not later than September 15th of the succeeding fiscal year for exemption from the requirements of the preceding paragraphs of this section for the fiscal year on account of which the application is made. Upon receipt of this application, the county superintendent of schools shall grant the district exemption for any amount that is less than one thousand dollars ($1,000). If the amount is one thousand dollars ($1,000) or greater, the county superintendent of schools may grant an exemption from the requirements for the fiscal year on account of which the application is made. If the exemption is granted by the county superintendent of schools, the designated moneys shall be immediately available for expenditure by the school district governing board. If no application for exemption is made or exemption is denied, the county superintendent of schools shall order the designated amount or amount not exempted to be added to the amounts to be expended for salaries of classroom teachers during the next fiscal year.

The county superintendent of schools shall enforce the requirements prescribed by this section, and may adopt necessary rules and regulations to that end.

SEC. 19. Section 41403 of the Education Code is amended to read:

41403. The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall determine, for each current fiscal year, for each school district in the state, to two decimal points, the following:

(a) The total number of administrative employees, except those serving in positions that are supported by categorical grants from any source and are in programs that require specific teacher/administrator ratios, or that are supported by federal funds. As to those serving in positions that are not supported completely by these categorical grants from any source or completely by federal funds, the number of employees reported shall include the full-time equivalent of all fractional time attributable to that time not supported by categorical grants or federal funds.

(b) The total number of teachers except those serving in positions that are supported by federal funds or by categorical grants from any source and are in programs that require specific teacher/administrator ratios. As to those serving in positions that are not supported completely by these categorical grants from any source or completely by federal funds, the number of employees reported shall include the full-time equivalent of all fractional time attributable to that time not supported by categorical grants or federal funds. Substitute teachers may be counted as teachers only if the employee for whom they are substituting is not counted. In no event shall the number of full-time equivalent teachers reported be greater than the number of full-time equivalent teaching positions in the district.

(c) The total maximum number of administrative employees that should be employed by the district based upon the application of the appropriate ratio prescribed by Section 41402 to the number of teachers determined pursuant to subdivision (b).

(d) The number of administrative employees in excess of the number allowable without penalty as determined by subtracting the number determined pursuant to subdivision (c) from the number determined pursuant to subdivision (a).

The number of employees reported pursuant to subdivisions (a), (b), (c), and (d) shall include the full-time equivalent of all fractional time of those employees.

For purposes of determining the allowable ratio of administrative employees to teachers for the San Diego City School District, the number of employees and the full-time equivalent of all of the fractional time of employees serving the district in positions mandated as the result of the district's court-ordered integration plan is excluded from the numbers identified pursuant to subdivisions (a), (b), (c), and (d).

No individual may be counted as more than one full-time equivalent employee unless the individual is employed on a part-time basis in adult education, driver education, or vocational education, or any part-time or additional teaching assignment, in addition to his or her regular full-time assignment.

SEC. 20. Section 41404 of the Education Code is amended to read:

41404. The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall determine the reduction in state support resulting from excess administrative employees identified in subdivision (d) of Section 41403 as follows:

(a) Compute the ratio which total state support to the district general fund bears to the total general fund income of the district.

(b) Multiply the ratio determined pursuant to subdivision (a) by the average salary of administrative employees.

SEC. 20.5. Section 41405 of the Education Code is repealed.

SEC. 21. Section 41407 is added to the Education Code, to read:

41407. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, a school district is subject, with regard to Section 41402, to audits conducted pursuant to Section 41020.

SEC. 22. Section 42127 of the Education Code is amended to read:

42127. (a) On or before July 1 of each year, the governing board of each school district shall accomplish the following:

(1) Hold a public hearing on the budget to be adopted for the subsequent fiscal year. The budget to be adopted shall be prepared in accordance with Section 42126. The agenda for that hearing shall be posted at least 72 hours prior to the public hearing and shall include the location where the budget will be available for public inspection.

(2) Adopt a budget. Not later than five days after that adoption or by July 1, whichever occurs first, the governing board shall file that budget with the county superintendent of schools. That budget, and supporting data, shall be maintained and made available for public review. If the governing board of the district does not want all or a portion of the property tax requirement levied for the purpose of making payments for the interest and redemption charges on indebtedness as described in paragraph (1) or (2) of subdivision (b) of Section 1 of Article XIII A of the California Constitution, the budget shall include a statement of the amount or portion for which a levy shall not be made.

(b) The county superintendent of schools may accept changes in any statement included in the budget, pursuant to subdivision (a), of the amount or portion for which a property tax levy shall not be made. The county superintendent or the county auditor shall compute the actual amounts to be levied on the property tax rolls of the district for purposes that exceed apportionments to the district pursuant to Sections 95 to 100, inclusive, of the Revenue and Taxation Code. Each school district shall provide all data needed by the county superintendent or the county auditor to compute the amounts. On or before August 15, the county superintendent shall transmit the amounts so computed to the county auditor who shall compute the tax rates necessary to produce the amounts. On or before September 1, the county auditor shall submit the rate so computed to the board of supervisors for adoption.

(c) The county superintendent of schools shall do all of the following:

(1) Examine the adopted budget to determine whether it complies with the standards and criteria adopted by the State Board of Education pursuant to Section 33127 for application to final local educational agency budgets. The superintendent shall identify, if necessary, any technical corrections that must be made to bring the budget into compliance with those standards and criteria.

(2) Determine whether the adopted budget will allow the district to meet its financial obligations during the fiscal year and is consistent with a financial plan that will enable the district to satisfy its multiyear financial commitments.

(d) On or before August 15, the county superintendent of schools shall approve or disapprove the adopted budget for each school district. If, pursuant to the review conducted pursuant to subdivision (c), the superintendent determines that the adopted budget for a school district does not satisfy paragraph (1) or (2) of that subdivision, he or she shall disapprove the budget and, not later than August 15, transmit to the governing board of the school district, in writing, his or her recommendations regarding revision of the budget and the reasons for those recommendations. The county superintendent of schools may assign a fiscal adviser to assist the district to develop a budget in compliance with those revisions. In addition, the county superintendent of schools may appoint a committee to examine and comment on the superintendent's review and recommendations, subject to the requirement that the committee report its findings to the superintendent no later than August 20.

(e) On or before September 8, the governing board of the school district shall revise the adopted budget to reflect changes in projected income or expenditures subsequent to July 1, and to include any response to the recommendations of the county superintendent of schools, shall adopt the revised budget, and shall file the revised budget with the county superintendent of schools. Prior to revising the budget, the governing board shall hold a public hearing regarding the proposed revisions, to be conducted in accordance with Section 42103. The revised budget, and supporting data, shall be maintained and made available for public review.

(f) On or before September 22, the county superintendent of schools shall provide a list to the Superintendent of Public Instruction identifying all school districts for which budgets may be disapproved.

(g) The county superintendent of schools shall examine the revised budget to determine whether it (1) complies with the standards and criteria adopted by the State Board of Education pursuant to Section 33127 for application to final local educational agency budgets, (2) allows the district to meet its financial obligations during the fiscal year, and (3) is consistent with a financial plan that will enable the district to satisfy its multiyear financial commitments, and, not later than October 8, shall approve or disapprove the revised budget. If the county superintendent of schools disapproves the budget, he or she shall call for the formation of a budget review committee pursuant to Section 42127.1 unless the governing board of the school district and the county superintendent of schools agree to waive the requirement that a budget review committee be formed, and the State Department of Education approves the waiver after determining that a budget review committee is not necessary. Based on the waiver, the county superintendent immediately has the authority and responsibility provided in Section 42127.3.

(h) Not later than October 8, the county superintendent of schools shall submit a report to the Superintendent of Public Instruction identifying all school districts for which budgets have been disapproved or budget review committees waived. The report shall include a copy of the written response transmitted to each of those districts pursuant to subdivision (d).

(i) Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, the budget review for a school district shall be governed by paragraphs (1), (2), and (3) of this subdivision, rather than by subdivisions (e) and (g), if the governing board of the school district so elects, and notifies the county superintendent in writing of that decision, not later than October 31 of the immediately preceding calendar year. On or before July 1, the governing board of a school district for which the budget review is governed by this subdivision, rather than by subdivisions (e) and (g), shall conduct a public hearing regarding its proposed budget in accordance with Section 42103.

(1) If the adopted budget of a school district is disapproved pursuant to subdivision (d), on or before September 8, the governing board of the school district, in conjunction with the county superintendent of schools, shall review the superintendent's recommendations at a regular meeting of the governing board and respond to those recommendations. The response shall include any revisions to the adopted budget and other proposed actions to be taken, if any, as a result of those recommendations.

(2) On or before September 22, the county superintendent of schools will provide a list to the Superintendent of Public Instruction identifying all school districts for which a budget may be tentatively disapproved.

(3) Not later than October 8, after receiving the response required under paragraph (1), the county superintendent of schools shall review that response and either approve or disapprove the budget. If the county superintendent of schools disapproves the budget, he or she shall call for the formation of a budget review committee pursuant to Section 42127.1 unless the governing board of the school district and the county superintendent of schools agree to waive the requirement that a budget review committee be formed, and the State Department of Education approves the waiver after determining that a budget review committee is not necessary. Based on the waiver, the county superintendent immediately has the authority and responsibility provided in Section 42127.3.

(4) Not later than 45 days after the Governor signs the annual Budget Act, the school district shall make available for public review any revisions in revenues and expenditures that it has made to its budget to reflect the funding made available by that Budget Act.

(j) Any school district for which the county board of education serves as the governing board is not subject to subdivisions (c) to (h), inclusive, but is governed instead by the budget procedures set forth in Section 1622.

SEC. 23. Section 42127.1 of the Education Code is amended to read:

42127.1. (a) Pursuant to subdivision (g) or (i) of Section 42127, upon the disapproval of a school district budget by the county superintendent, the county superintendent shall call for the formation of a budget review committee unless the governing board of the school district and the county superintendent of schools agree to waive the requirement that a budget review committee be formed, and the State Department of Education approves the waiver after determining that a budget review committee is not necessary. Based on the waiver, the county superintendent immediately has the authority and responsibility provided in Section 42127.3.

(b) The budget review committee shall be composed of three persons selected by the governing board of the school district from a list of candidates provided to the governing board by the Superintendent of Public Instruction. The list of candidates shall be composed of persons who have expertise in the management of a school district or county office of education. Their experience shall include, but not be limited to, the fiscal and educational aspects of local educational agency management.

(c) Notwithstanding subdivision (b) or any other provision of this article, with the approval of the Superintendent of Public Instruction and the governing board of the school district, the county superintendent of schools may select and convene a regional review committee, consisting of persons having the expertise described in that subdivision. The regional review committee shall operate in place of the budget review committee, in accordance with the provisions of this article governing budget review committees.

(d) Members of the committee shall be reimbursed by the State Department of Education for their services and associated expenses while on official business at rates established by the State Board of Education.

SEC. 24. Section 42129 of the Education Code is amended to read:

42129. School districts and county offices of education shall transmit to the State Department of Education, on a timely basis, all budget reports, prior year expenditure reports, qualified and negative financial status reports, program cost accounting reports, certifications, and audit reports as prescribed by subdivision (j) of Section 1240, subdivision (g) of Section 35035, Sections 1621, 1623, 41020, 42127, 42131, and Chapter 7.2 (commencing with Section 56836) of Part 30, and those reports used to calculate the first, second, and annual principal apportionments and special purpose apportionments for school districts and county offices of education. If the reports are not submitted to the Superintendent of Public Instruction within 14 days after the submission date prescribed in the statute or specified by the Superintendent of Public Instruction, the Superintendent of Public Instruction may direct the county auditor to withhold payment of any stipend, expenses, or salaries to the district superintendent, county superintendent, or members of the governing boards, as appropriate. The withholding shall continue only until the delinquent reports have been submitted to the State Department of Education. If the county superintendent performs the functions of the county auditor, the Superintendent of Public Instruction may direct the county superintendent to withhold the payments specified in this section.

SEC. 25. Section 42238.12 of the Education Code is amended to read:

42238.12. (a) For the 1995–96 fiscal year and each fiscal year thereafter, the county superintendent of schools shall adjust the total revenue limit for each school district in the jurisdiction of the county superintendent of schools by the amount of increased or decreased employer contributions to the Public Employees' Retirement System resulting from the enactment of Chapter 330 of the Statutes of 1982, adjusted for any changes in those contributions resulting from subsequent changes in employer contribution rates, excluding rate changes due to the direct transfer of the state-mandated portion of the employer contributions to the Public Employees' Retirement System, through the current fiscal year. The adjustment shall be calculated for each school district, as follows:

(1) (A) Determine the amount of employer contributions that would have been made in the current fiscal year if the applicable Public Employees' Retirement System employer contribution rate in effect immediately prior to the enactment of Chapter 330 of the Statutes of 1982 were in effect during the current fiscal year.

(B) For the purposes of this calculation, no school district shall have a contribution rate higher than 13.020 percent.

(2) Determine the actual amount of employer contributions made to the Public Employees' Retirement System in the current fiscal year.

(3) If the amount determined in paragraph (1) for a school district is greater than the amount determined in paragraph (2), the total revenue limit computed for that school district shall be decreased by the amount of the difference between those paragraphs; or, if the amount determined in paragraph (1) for a school district is less than the amount determined in paragraph (2), the total revenue limit for that school district shall be increased by the amount of the difference between those paragraphs.

(4) For the purpose of this section, employer contributions to the Public Employees' Retirement System for any of the following positions shall be excluded from the calculation specified above:

(A) Positions or portions of positions supported by federal funds that are subject to supplanting restrictions.

(B) Positions supported by funds received pursuant to paragraph (1) of subdivision (a) of Section 54203.

(C) Positions supported, to the extent of employers' contributions not exceeding twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) by any single educational agency, from a non-General Fund revenue source determined to be properly excludable from this section by the Superintendent of Public Instruction with the approval of the Director of Finance. Commencing in the 2002–03 fiscal year, only positions supported from a non-General Fund revenue source determined to be properly excludable as identified for a particular local education agency or pursuant to a blanket waiver by the Superintendent of Public Instruction and the Director of Finance, prior to the 2002–03 fiscal year, may be excluded pursuant to this paragraph.

(5) For accounting purposes, any reduction to district revenue limits made by this provision may be reflected as an expenditure from appropriate sources of revenue as directed by the Superintendent of Public Instruction.

(6) The amount of the increase or decrease to the revenue limits of school districts computed pursuant to paragraph (3) for the 1995–96 fiscal year or any fiscal year thereafter shall not be adjusted by the deficit factor applied to the revenue limit of each school district pursuant to Section 42238.145.

(b) The calculations set forth in paragraphs (1), (2), and (3), inclusive, of subdivision (a) exclude employer contributions for employees of charter schools funded pursuant to Article 2 (commencing with Section 47633) of Chapter 6 of Part 26.8.

(c) Funding appropriated through the Budget Act of 2001 or legislation amending the Budget Act of 2001 for the purpose of limiting the reductions to revenue limits calculated pursuant to this section and to Section 2558 for the 2001–02 fiscal year shall be allocated on a one-time basis in the following manner:

(1) Each school district and county office of education subject to a reduced apportionment pursuant to this section or to Section 2558 shall receive a share of the amount described in paragraph (3) that is proportionate to the reduction in their apportionment pursuant to this section or to Section 2558 for the 2001–02 fiscal year as compared to the statewide total reduction that would occur absent this paragraph.

(2) For the 2001–02 fiscal year, in lieu of the alternative calculation authorized by paragraph (1), San Francisco Unified School District shall receive an amount equal to five dollars and 57 cents ($5.57) multiplied by its second principal apportionment average daily attendance for the 2001–02 fiscal year.

(3) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, total allocations pursuant to this subdivision shall not exceed thirty-five million dollars ($35,000,000).

(d) Thirty-five million dollars ($35,000,000) is hereby appropriated from the General Fund for transfer to Section A of the State School Fund for local assistance for the purpose of limiting the reductions to revenue limits calculated pursuant to this section and to Section 2558 for the 2003–04 fiscal year. Funding from this appropriation shall be allocated in the following manner:

(1) Each school district and county office of education subject to a reduced apportionment pursuant to this section or to Section 2558 shall receive a share of the amount appropriated in this subdivision that is proportionate to the reduction in their apportionment pursuant to this section or to Section 2558 for the 2003–04 fiscal year as compared to the statewide total reduction that would occur absent this paragraph.

(2) For the 2003–04 fiscal year, in lieu of the alternative calculation authorized by paragraph (1), the San Francisco Unified School District shall receive an amount equal to five dollars and 57 cents ($5.57) multiplied by its second principal apportionment average daily attendance for the 2003–04 fiscal year.

(3) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, total allocations pursuant to this subdivision shall not exceed thirty-five million dollars ($35,000,000) for the 2003–04 fiscal year.

(4) For the purposes of making the computations required by Section 8 of Article XVI of the California Constitution, the appropriation made by this section shall be deemed to be ''General Fund revenues appropriated for school districts,'' as defined in subdivision (c) of Section 41202 of the Education Code, for the 2003–04 fiscal year and included within the ''total allocations to school districts and community college districts from General Fund proceeds of taxes appropriated pursuant to Article XIII B,'' as defined in subdivision (e) of Section 41202 of the Education Code, for the 2003–04 fiscal year.

(e) For the 2004–05 fiscal year, and each fiscal year thereafter, apportionment reductions pursuant to this section and to Section 2558 shall be limited as follows:

(1) Each school district and county office of education subject to a reduced apportionment pursuant to this section or to Section 2558 shall receive a share of the amount described in paragraph (3) that is proportionate to the reduction in their apportionment pursuant to this section or to Section 2558 for the 2004–05 fiscal year as compared to the statewide total reduction as would occur absent this paragraph.

(2) In lieu of the alternative calculation authorized by paragraph (1), the San Francisco Unified School District shall receive funding equal to the amount of funding per unit of average daily attendance specified in paragraph (2) of subdivision (c) as increased annually by cost-of-living adjustments specified in Section 42238.1, multiplied by its second principal apportionment average daily attendance for that fiscal year.

(3) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, total limitations pursuant to this subdivision shall not annually exceed the amount described in paragraph (3) of subdivision (c) as annually increased by the cost-of-living adjustments specified in Section 42238.1, multiplied by the annual statewide percentage growth in total average daily attendance, measured at the second principal apportionment.

(c) If, at the end of any fiscal year, the actual expenditures of the district specified in subdivision (a) exceed the revenue derived from the increase in revenue limit provided in subdivision (a) for that fiscal year, the difference may be added to the increase in revenue limit, authorized pursuant to this section, in the following fiscal year.

The action plan shall include percentage growth targets at least as high as the annual growth targets adopted by the State Board of Education pursuant to Section 52052. development of the school action plan. Technical assistance includes assistance provided by school district personnel, county offices of education, universities, a state approved external evaluator, or any other entity that has proven successful expertise specific to the challenges inherent in low-performing schools. If the school action plan is approved, the Superintendent of Public Instruction shall provide funding for its implementation. (2) A school district, on behalf of an eligible school under its jurisdiction, may elect to forego the fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) planning grant and immediately submit its application and school action plan. If a school chooses this option, the Superintendent of Public Instruction shall take one of the following actions:

(A) Recommend approval of the application by the State Board of Education and action plan and provide funding for implementation of the school action plan.

(C) Disapprove the plan in which case a school district on behalf of an eligible school under its jurisdiction shall receive a fifty thousand dollar ($50,000) planning grant that shall be used for technical assistance in the redevelopment of the school action plan according to the department's recommendations. Technical assistance includes assistance provided by school district personnel, county offices of education, universities, a state approved external evaluator, or any other entity that has proven expertise specific to the challenges inherent in low-performing schools.

(c) The following deadlines apply for the 2001–02 fiscal year:

Upon approval by the State Board of Education, the State Department of Education shall allocate funding to schools for the implementation of the action plan. If the State Board of Education fails to approve or disapprove the application and school action plan by June 30, 2002, the recommendation of the Superintendent of Public Instruction shall be deemed to be adopted and funding for implementation of the action plan shall be allocated.

(3) If the Superintendent of Public Instruction takes the action specified in subparagraph (B) of paragraph (2) of subdivision (b), the school and school district shall resubmit the application and school action plan with the clarifications and changes for approval by August 1, 2002, and the Superintendent of Public Instruction shall make a recommendation to the State Board of Education regarding approval or disapproval by September 1, 2002. The State Board of Education shall approve or disapprove the application and action plan by September 30, 2002. If the State Board of Education fails to approve or disapprove the application and school action plan by September 30, 2002, the recommendation of the Superintendent of Public Instruction shall be deemed to be adopted and funding for implementation of the action plan is to be allocated.

(4) A school district may request that the State Board of Education waive the deadlines set forth in this subdivision. The State Board of Education may grant a waiver request made pursuant to this paragraph.

(d) If a school receives implementation funding during the same fiscal year it receives a fifty thousand dollar ($50,000) planning grant, the planning grant shall be deducted from the amount of implementation funding provided to the school pursuant to subdivision (b) of Section 52055.600.

(1) Calculate an ''incidence multiplier'' for each special education local plan area using the definition, methodology, and data provided in the final report submitted by the American Institutes for Research pursuant to Section 67 of Chapter 854 of the Statutes of 1997.

(2) Submit the incidence multiplier for each special education local plan area and supporting data to the Department of Finance.

(b) The Department of Finance shall review the incidence multiplier for each special education local plan area and the supporting data, and report any errors to the department and the Office of the Legislative Analyst for correction.

(c) The Department of Finance shall approve the final incidence multiplier for each special education local plan area by November 23, 1998.

(d) For the 1998–99 fiscal year and each fiscal year thereafter to and including the 2002–03 fiscal year, the superintendent shall perform the following calculation to determine each special education local plan area's adjusted entitlement for the incidence of disabilities:

(1) The incidence multiplier for the special education local plan area shall be multiplied by the statewide target amount per unit of average daily attendance for special education local plan areas determined pursuant to Section 56836.11 for the fiscal year in which the computation is made.

(2) The amount determined pursuant to paragraph (1) shall be added to the statewide target amount per unit of average daily attendance for special education local plan area determined pursuant to Section 56836.11 for the fiscal year in which the computation is made.

(3) Subtract the amount of funding for the special education local plan area determined pursuant to paragraph (1) of subdivision (a) or paragraph (1) of subdivision (b) of Section 56836.08, as appropriate for the fiscal year in which the computation is made, or the statewide target amount per unit of average daily attendance for special education local plan areas determined pursuant to Section 56836.11 for the fiscal year in which the computation is made, whichever is greater, from the amount determined pursuant to paragraph (2). For the purposes of this paragraph for the 2001–02 and 2002–03 fiscal years, the amount, if any, received pursuant to Section 56836.159 shall be excluded from the funding level per unit of average daily attendance for a special education local plan area. If the result is less than zero, than the special education local plan area shall not receive an adjusted entitlement for the incidence of disabilities.

(4) Multiply the amount determined in paragraph (3) by either the average daily attendance reported for the special education local plan area for the fiscal year in which the computation is made, as adjusted pursuant to subdivision (a) of Section 56836.15, or the average daily attendance reported for the special education local plan area for the prior fiscal year, as adjusted pursuant to subdivision (a) of Section 56826.15, whichever is less.

(5) If there are insufficient funds appropriated in the fiscal year for which the computation is made for the purposes of this section, the amount received by each special education local plan area shall be prorated.

(e) For the 1997–98 fiscal year, the superintendent shall perform the calculation in paragraphs (1) to (3), inclusive, of paragraph (d) only for the purposes of making the computation in paragraph (1) of subdivision (d) of Section 56836.08, but the special education local plan area shall not receive an adjusted entitlement for the incidence of disabilities pursuant to this section for the 1997–98 fiscal year.

(f) On or before March 1, 2003, the Office of the Legislative Analyst, in conjunction with the Department of Finance and the department, shall submit to the Legislature a new study of the incidence multiplier, with recommendations as to the necessity of continuing to adjust the funding formula contained in this chapter for the purposes of this section to the extent that funding is provided for this purpose. The Office of the Legislative Analyst may contract for this study. It is the intent of the Legislature to provide funding for this study in the Budget Act of 2002.

[Approved by Governor September 30, 2002. Filed with Secretary of State September 30, 2002.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Article 4 (commencing with Section 87100) of Chapter 1 of Part 51 of the Education Code is repealed.

SEC. 2. Article 4 (commencing with Section 87100) is added to Chapter 1 of Part 51 of the Education Code, to read:

Article 4. Equal Employment Opportunity Hiring

87100. The Legislature finds and declares all of the following:

(a) In fulfilling its mission within California's system of public higher education, the California Community Colleges are committed to academic excellence and to providing all students with the opportunity to succeed in their chosen educational pursuits.

(b) Academic excellence can best be sustained in a climate of acceptance and with the inclusion of persons from a wide variety of backgrounds and preparations to provide service to an increasingly diverse student population.

(c) A workforce that is continually responsive to the needs of a diverse student population may be achieved by ensuring that all persons receive an equal opportunity to compete for employment and promotion within the community college districts and by eliminating barriers to equal employment opportunity.

(d) It is the intent of the Legislature to establish and maintain, within the California Community College districts, a policy of equal opportunity in employment for all persons, and to prohibit discrimination or preferential treatment based on ethnic group identification, race, color, national origin, religion, age, gender, disability, ancestry, or sexual orientation. Every aspect of personnel policy and practice in the community college districts should advance the realization of inclusion through a continuing program of equal employment opportunity.

(e) The Legislature recognizes that it is not enough to proclaim that community college districts must not discriminate and must not grant preferential treatment on impermissible bases. The Legislature declares that efforts must also be made to build a community in which nondiscrimination and equal opportunity are realized. It is the intent of the Legislature to require community college districts to adopt and implement programs and plans for ensuring equal employment opportunity in their employment practices.

87101. For the purposes of this article:

(a) ''Equal employment opportunity'' means that all qualified individuals have a full and fair opportunity to compete for hiring and promotion and fully enjoy the benefits of employment by a community college district. Ensuring equal employment opportunity is advanced in an inclusive environment that fosters cooperation, acceptance, democracy, and the free expression of ideas. An inclusive environment is welcoming to men and women, persons with disabilities, individuals from all ethnic groups, and individuals from all other groups protected from discrimination by this article.

(b) ''Equal employment opportunity plan'' means a document that includes specific procedures for achieving equal employment opportunity.

(c) ''Equal employment opportunity program'' means all the various methods by which equal employment opportunity is ensured. These methods include, but are not necessarily limited to, actively recruiting, using nondiscriminatory employment practices, and monitoring employment practices to ensure equality of opportunity. Each district employer shall commit to sustained action to devise recruiting, training, and advancement opportunities that will result in equal employment opportunities for all qualified applicants and employees.

87102. (a) As a condition for the receipt of funds pursuant to Section 87107, the governing board of community college district that opts to participate under the article shall periodically submit to the board of governors an affirmation of compliance with this article. Each participating district's equal employment opportunity program shall ensure participation in, and commitment to, the program by district personnel. Each participating district's equal employment opportunity plan shall include steps that the district will take in eliminating improper discrimination or preferences in its hiring and employment practices. Each plan shall address how the district will make progress in achieving the ratio of full-time to part-time faculty hiring, as indicated in Section 87482.6, while still ensuring equal employment opportunity.

(b) Each participating district's equal employment opportunity plan is a public record within the meaning of the California Public Records Act (Chapter 3.5 (commencing with Section 6250) of Division 7 of Title 1 of the Government Code).

87103. The board of governors shall render assistance in developing and implementing equal employment opportunity programs in the community college districts.

87105. The board of governors shall adopt all necessary regulations to carry out the intent of this article and to ensure that each participating community college district implements processes for ensuring equal employment opportunities. Nothing in this act shall be construed to require any community college to incur any costs in excess of the funds allocated by the state for the purposes of this act.

87106. (a) The board of governors shall develop systemwide strategies for encouraging community college students to become qualified for, and seek, employment as community college faculty or administrators.

(b) The board of governors shall develop and disseminate to community college districts a model equal employment opportunity plan that accomplishes at least all of the following:

(1) Compliance with the regulations adopted by the board of governors to implement this article.

(2) Compliance with the other applicable state and federal nondiscrimination statutes.

(3) Implementation of the best practices for improving the equality of opportunity.

(4) Encouragement of districts to take steps reasonably calculated to inform their students about the opportunity to participate in the Graduate Assumption Program of Loans for Education authorized by Article 5.5 (commencing with Section 69618) of Chapter 2 of Part 42 and to participate in other programs developed by the board of governors pursuant to subdivision (a).

87107. In order to support the activities required and authorized by this article, the Employment Opportunity Fund is hereby established. The fund shall include moneys appropriated in the annual Budget Act or provided, pursuant to Section 87482.7, through transfer. The moneys in the fund shall be administered by the board of governors for the purpose of promoting equal employment opportunities in hiring and promotion at community college districts.

87108. (a) The board of governors shall adopt regulations for the use of the fund. Those uses may include, but need not be limited to, all of the following:

(1) Activities designed to encourage community college students to become qualified for, and seek, employment as community college faculty or administrators.

(2) Outreach and recruitment.

(3) In-service training on equal employment opportunities.

(4) Accommodations for applicants and employees with disabilities.

(5) Activities to promote equal employment opportunities and implement the requirements of this article.

(b) The Board of Governors of the California Community Colleges may use not more than 25 percent of the revenues in the fund to provide technical assistance, service, monitoring, and compliance functions. Service functions under this subdivision may include, but are not necessarily limited to, the provision of a clearinghouse for advertising community college district job opportunities and for allowing persons seeking jobs to make known their interest in community college employment. This clearinghouse shall include a special emphasis on faculty internship employment opportunities and on reaching students who are qualified for faculty internship programs. The remaining balance in the fund may be allocated to the individual community college districts as prescribed by the board of governors.

SEC. 3. Section 87482.7 of the Education Code is amended to read:

87482.7. (a) The board of governors shall, pursuant to paragraph (6) of subdivision (b) of Section 70901, adopt regulations that establish minimum standards regarding the percentage of hours of credit instruction that shall be taught by full-time instructors.

(b) Upon notification by the board of governors, the Department of Finance shall transfer any money deducted from district apportionments pursuant to the regulations adopted under this section. This money shall be transferred to the Employment Opportunity Fund pursuant to Section 87107.

(b) All reductions allocated by the Director of Finance pursuant to subdivision (a) shall be specific reductions in positions or items of expenditure. The plan shall categorize each reduction as to whether it eliminates resources in excess of those needed to carry out programs effectively or whether the reduction will have a programmatic effect, in which case the plan shall identify that effect.

(c) The reductions allocated by the Director of Finance shall be reflected and identified in the 2003–04 Governor's Budget as submitted

WHEREAS, These public policy changes at the national level influenced many changes in California public policy as manifested in the Unruh Civil Rights Act and the Rumford Fair Housing Act, in open enrollment and access to higher education, specifically with respect to the California State University and the University of California, and in employment and labor laws, transportation policy, election laws, and other aspects of public policy; and

WHEREAS, The unfinished business of Dr. King and the Civil Rights Movement was and is the plight of the poor, the fight against war and for worldwide peace, and the struggle for a fair, equitable, and sensible economic system; and

WHEREAS, Dr. King and the Civil Rights Movement noted that a majority of Americans lived below the poverty line, and that the huge income gaps between rich and poor, called for ''changes in the structure of our society''; and

WHEREAS, Dr. King, in the last months of his life, began organizing a Poor People's Campaign to, among other things, assemble ''a multiracial army of the poor that would descend on Washington—engaging in nonviolent civil disobedience at the Capitol, if need be—until Congress enacted a poor people's bill of rights''; and

WHEREAS, All of the aforementioned concerns and more continue to be the quest of civil and human rights organizations in the great State of California, across America, and throughout the world; and

WHEREAS, Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. fought to change public policy from the ''self-inflicted wound of segregation to the pluralistic diverse democracy'' we continue to construct today; and

WHEREAS, The philosophy of open unfettered access to goods, services and information espoused by Dr. King and the Civil Rights Movement had a dramatic effect on American society and cultural thinking and serves as one of the many theoretical foundations for the principle of open access to, and the free flow of, information, goods, services, and equal opportunity; and

WHEREAS, Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. and the Civil Rights Movement serve as a model for principled leadership and forward thinking, bipartisan public policy; now, therefore, be it

RESOLUTION CHAPTER 5

Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 147—Relative to Abraham Lincoln's birthday.

[Filed with Secretary of State February 25, 2002.]

WHEREAS, Abraham Lincoln, of all the presidents in the history of the United States, is the one that Americans remember the most and with deepest affection. He rose from humble beginnings to become President of the United States and bravely led his country during its darkest conflict, the Civil War; and

WHEREAS, Mr. Lincoln brought a new honesty and integrity to the White House, and would always be remembered as ''Honest Abe.'' Most of all, he is associated with saving the Union with the final abolition of slavery; and

WHEREAS, Abraham Lincoln was born on February 12, 1809, in Kentucky, and spent the first seven years of his life there; and

WHEREAS, Abraham Lincoln began a long road to become the 16th President of the United States; and

WHEREAS, In his entire life, Abe was only able to go to school for a total of one year. This lack of formal education only made him hungry for more knowledge, and he mastered the Bible, the works of William Shakespeare, and the law; and

WHEREAS, As Abe grew older, he noticed that people loved to listen to stories and he began telling tall tales in the general store where he worked. Customers came and stayed when they knew Abe would be there, just to hear him talk. His family moved once again, this time to Illinois where he began working in a store in the new capital of Springfield; and

WHEREAS, Abe's powerful oratory soon helped him to enter a new arena, that of politics and the law. In 1834 he was elected to the Illinois House of Representatives and began studying to become a lawyer; and

WHEREAS, In 1847 he was elected to Congress, where his opinions against the Mexican War and his vehement opposition to the extension of slavery did not ensure him a long stay there. He was not elected to a second term, so he returned to the practice of law; and

WHEREAS, A few years later, with the passage of the Kansas-Nebraska Act and the Dred Scott decision by the United States Supreme Court, there were few barriers left to the extension of slavery throughout the country; and

WHEREAS, Mr. Lincoln fundamentally believed in the preamble of the Declaration of Independence which states that, ''all men are created equal''; and

WHEREAS, Abe joined the Republicans, a new political party that was opposed to the extension of slavery. The Republicans nominated him for the United States Senate in 1858, and in his acceptance speech, he stated: ''A house divided against itself cannot stand ... . This government cannot endure, permanently half-slave and half-free ... . I do not expect the Union to be dissolved. I do not expect the house to fall but I do expect it will cease to be divided.'' He lost a close election to Stephen A. Douglas, the Democratic Party candidate; and

WHEREAS, Having been nominated by the Republican Party in 1860 as its candidate for the Presidency of the United States, Mr. Lincoln won by a small margin; and

WHEREAS, Shortly after he assumed office, Fort Sumter was attacked and the Civil War began. Despite his military inexperience, President Lincoln displayed a shrewd grasp of military strategy, recognizing from the beginning the importance of the western theater and the necessity of taking advantage of the Union's superior resources. It took him several years, however, to find competent and aggressive generals to implement this strategy; and

WHEREAS, As the war continued, the objectives of the war expanded to not only saving the Union but also to freeing the slaves, and he moved to free the slaves by issuing the Emancipation Proclamation on January 1, 1863; and

WHEREAS, Uncorrupted by the power of the office of the Presidency, Mr. Lincoln enunciated the nation's loftiest ideals during its darkest moment. His Gettysburg Address, regarded as one of the finest speeches in the English language, was delivered by him at Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, on November 19, 1863. On that day, ceremonies were held to dedicate a cemetery for those killed in the Battle of Gettysburg which took place July 1 to 3, 1863, between George Gordon Meade's Army of the Potomac and Robert E. Lee's Army of Northern Virginia; and

WHEREAS, Abraham Lincoln was elected to a second term in 1864. The South subsequently surrendered, and the Civil War ended on April 9, 1865, with the surrender of General Lee to the Union General, Ulysses S. Grant. The difficult task of national reconstruction and reconciliation lay ahead, but President Lincoln would not be the person to lead the country through this difficult period; and

WHEREAS, On April 14, 1865, Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln attended a play at Ford's Theatre in Washington, D.C. A few minutes past 10 p.m., an actor who disagreed with Mr. Lincoln's political opinions stepped into the Presidential box and shot the President. He died the following morning, and his Secretary of War said that Lincoln now ''belonged to the ages''; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, the Senate thereof concurring, That the Legislature hereby declares that Abraham Lincoln be honored on his birthday as the virtual symbol of the American dream whereby an ordinary person from humble beginnings can reach the pinnacle of American society as President of the country and serve with honor and courage; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly transmit copies of this resolution to the author for appropriate distribution.

RESOLUTION CHAPTER 6

Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 150—Relative to Spay Day USA 2002.

WHEREAS, Between six and 10 million dogs and cats are euthanized in the United States each year; and

WHEREAS, In most instances these are young, attractive, healthy, friendly, and playful animals that are euthanized simply because there are not enough good homes for them; and

WHEREAS, An additional unknown number of animals die each year due to abandonment, neglect, abuse, starvation, or cruelty because they are unwanted; and

WHEREAS, The spaying and neutering of dogs and cats directly addresses these problems by reducing the number of unwanted animals; and

WHEREAS, Californians can contribute to this effort by spaying and neutering their own pets and by supporting programs in their communities that offer spay and neuter services; and

WHEREAS, Veterinarians, humane societies, and national and local animal protection organizations will join together to advocate the spaying and neutering of dogs and cats on ''Spay Day USA 2002,'' now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, the Senate thereof concurring, That the Legislature of the State of California declares February 26, 2002, to be Spay Day USA 2002 and that Californians are requested to observe the day by having their dogs or cats spayed or neutered or by contributing to those organizations that provide spay and neuter services; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly transmit copies of this resolution to the author for appropriate distribution.

RESOLUTION CHAPTER 7

Senate Joint Resolution No. 22—Relative to gasoline.

[Filed with Secretary of State February 27, 2002.]

WHEREAS, The federal Clean Air Act Amendments of 1990 (P.L. 101-549) mandate the use of reformulated gasoline containing 2 percent, by weight, oxygen in areas designated as nonattainment areas due to high ambient ozone levels in summer months and high ambient carbon monoxide levels in winter months; and

WHEREAS, The federal oxygenate mandate requires the use of oxygenate in gasoline in approximately 70 percent of the California retail gasoline market; and

WHEREAS, California has historically led the nation in enacting air quality improvement measures that provide substantial health, economic, and social benefits for the state's citizens; and

WHEREAS, The State Air Resources Board's Cleaner Burning Gasoline Program has resulted in reducing emissions equivalent to removing 3.5 million cars from California's roads; and

WHEREAS, The California Cleaner Burning Gasoline Program provides greater flexibility than the federal program to produce gasoline that meets stringent emission reduction mandates; and

WHEREAS, Methyl tertiary-butyl ether (MTBE) has been used in California as the primary oxygenate additive to gasoline because its relatively low vapor pressure (RVP) simplifies the production of low-RVP summer gasolines, and because of its compatibility with the blending and distribution system for gasoline, its ability to be transported by pipeline, and its high octane rating; and

WHEREAS, The Environmental Protection Agency's Blue Ribbon Panel on Oxygenates in Gasoline recommended that the 2-percent oxygenate requirement be removed and that MTBE be reduced substantially; and

WHEREAS, Pursuant to Chapter 816 of the Statutes of 1997, the University of California prepared a report that assessed the health and environmental effects of MTBE and submitted that report to the Legislature and the Governor in November 1998; and

WHEREAS, The University of California report found that there are significant risks and costs associated with water contamination due to the use of MTBE because it is highly soluble in water and will transfer readily to groundwater from leaking underground storage tank systems and other components of the gasoline distribution system; and

WHEREAS, The County of Santa Clara, the City of Santa Monica, the Lake Tahoe region, and the Sacramento area, as well as other municipalities in other areas of the state, have all been forced to shut down public drinking water wells due to MTBE contamination; and

WHEREAS, The University of California report found that over 60 percent of the reservoirs tested in California have detectable levels of MTBE; and

WHEREAS, The University of California report found that there is no significant additional air quality benefit to the use of oxygenates such as MTBE in reformulated gasoline, relative to the alternative nonoxygenated formulations identified by the California Cleaner Burning Gasoline Program; and

WHEREAS, United States Senators Diane Feinstein and James Inhofe previously introduced legislation, S. 947, to grant the governor of a state the power to waive the 2-percent oxygenate content requirement for reformulated or clean burning gasoline as long as the fuel meets all other requirements for reformulated gasoline other than those regarding oxygen content; and

WHEREAS, California has previously sought a waiver from the United States Environmental Protection Agency of the oxygen content requirement; and

WHEREAS, The United States Environmental Protection Agency denied California's request for a waiver on the grounds that there was not sufficient evidence that the waiver would help California to reduce harmful levels of air pollutants; and

WHEREAS, California has sought and received waivers from other provisions of the federal Clean Air Act, including Section 209(b)(1) of that act, and has demonstrated no loss of air quality benefits after those waivers have been issued; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate and Assembly of the State of California, jointly, That the Legislature of the State of California respectfully memorializes the United States Environmental Protection Agency to reconsider granting an administrative waiver of the federal Clean Air Act's oxygenated gasoline requirement to the State of California, to the extent permitted by the federal Clean Air Act, given the state's independent requirements for clean gasoline that meet both state and national ambient air quality standards; and be it further

Resolved, That the Legislature of the State of California respectfully memorializes the Congress of the United States to enact legislation, if an administrative waiver of the federal Clean Air Act is not granted by the United States Environmental Protection Agency, similar to, or including, the Feinstein-Inhofe legislation, that would authorize

California to waive the oxygen content requirement for reformulated gasoline only if the fuel meets other requirements in the federal Clean Air Act for reformulated gasoline; and be it further

Resolved, That the Legislature of the State of California respectfully memorializes the President of the United States to sign that legislation if it is enacted by the Congress of the United States; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate transmit copies of this resolution to the President and Vice President of the United States, the Secretary of the United States Environmental Protection Agency, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, the Majority Leader of the Senate, and to each Senator and Representative from California in the Congress of the United States.

WHEREAS, Societal definitions of beauty create contexts in which impressionable young girls learn to place great value on the size and shape of their bodies; and

WHEREAS, Internet Web sites have been dedicated to the sole purpose of instructing people on how to be anorexic and bulimic and also glamorize skeletal body types; and

WHEREAS, Contrary to public myth, eating disorders strike young and old, rich and poor, and all races and creeds, and cross all social paths; and

WHEREAS, Eating disorders have reached epidemic proportions and have increased the need for awareness of the health dangers of starvation, laxative, and diuretic abuse, and excessive and compulsive exercise; and

WHEREAS, Embarrassment and secrecy contribute to the underreporting of eating disorders; and

WHEREAS, The most effective prevention or treatment of these disorders is through public education and awareness; and

WHEREAS, It is essential that communities, schools, local organizations, and medical professionals raise consciousness about the deadly and growing phenomenon of eating disorders; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, the Assembly thereof concurring, That the Legislature proclaims the week of February 24, 2002, to March 3, 2002, as California Eating Disorders Awareness Week, to coincide with National Eating Disorders Awareness Week; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate transmit copies of this resolution to the Governor.

[Filed with Secretary of State March 6, 2002.]

WHEREAS, Sound nutrition is an essential component of a healthy and productive lifestyle; and

The United States Department of Agriculture estimates that if Americans consumed healthier diets, at least $71 billion per year in medical costs, lost productivity, and premature deaths could be prevented; and

WHEREAS, The prophylactic effect of a healthy diet in preventing disease is demonstrated by research suggesting that phytonutrients, which are natural substances found in plants, working together with other nutrients found in fruits, vegetables, and nuts, can help slow the aging process and reduce the risk of many diseases, including cancer, heart disease, stroke, high blood pressure, cataracts, and urinary tract infections; and

Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 67—Relative to César Chávez Day.

[Filed with Secretary of State April 10, 2002.]

WHEREAS, On March 31, 1927, a true hero named César Estrada Chávez was born in Yuma, Arizona to Librado and Juana Chávez and became the second oldest in a family of five children. César Chávez lived his life dedicated to improving the plight of farmworkers through struggle, sacrifice, and self-denial. He founded and led the first successful farmworkers' union in United States history. He stood for dignity and justice for farmworkers. Today, he remains a symbol of hope to all Californians who find hope and peace in justice; and

WHEREAS, In the 1930's, during the Great Depression, César Chávez' father lost his small farming business and the family went broke. The family became migrant workers and joined some 30,000 workers who followed the crops from Arizona into southern California, then up the length of the Central Valley and back again picking everything from peas to cotton. They lived in tents and other makeshift housing that often lacked a bathroom, electricity, or running water. Schooling for Chávez was irregular and haphazard. He attended some 30 different schools, often encountered discrimination, and was punished for speaking Spanish; and

WHEREAS, After graduation from the eighth grade, César Chávez was forced to quit school and take to the fields in order to help support his family. In 1944, at the age of 17, César Chávez joined the Navy and served in World War II. After he completed his tour of duty, César Chávez returned to California and married Helen Fabela, a woman who shared his dedication to the cause of the farmworker. They lived in San Jose in a tough Mexican neighborhood called ''Sal Si Puedes'' which translated to ''get out if you can,'' and together raised eight children; and

WHEREAS, As a farmworker, César Chávez experienced firsthand the injustice of working long hours with little pay. Instilled with a sense of justice passed down from his mother, César Chávez made a decision to speak up and fight for change. He took part in his first strike in protest of low wages and poor working conditions for farmworkers. Although initially unsuccessful, his participation in that first strike was to mark the beginning of a long career in which he fought for improved working and living conditions for farmworkers; and

WHEREAS, In 1952, César Chávez met Fred Ross who was with a group called the Community Services Organization (CSO). Struck by César Chávez' engaging personality and leadership qualities, Ross tapped César Chávez to head voter registration efforts where he successfully registered 4,000 voters. The following year, he led organizational efforts to establish CSO offices in every major barrio. César Chávez eventually spent 10 years with CSO, and became general director in 1958. During this time, services were expanded to include citizenship classes, helping members secure drivers' licenses, assistance in filling out applications for aid, and securing legal counsel; and

WHEREAS, In 1962, César Chávez resigned his position with the CSO to embark on a bold new undertaking to form a farmworkers' union. He was joined by the great Dolores Huerta, and together they became the architects of the National Farm Worker's Union, the forerunner to the present United Farm Workers (UFW); and

WHEREAS, In 1965, César Chávez led a strike of California grapepickers to demand higher wages and urged all Americans to boycott table grapes as a show of support. The strike included a 340-mile march from Delano to Sacramento in 1966 in which thousands of farmworkers and supporters marched in solidarity. The farmworkers and supporters carried banners with the black eagle with the words ''HUELGA'' (strike) and ''VIVA LA CAUSA'' (long live our cause); and

WHEREAS, César Chávez preached nonviolence to the strikers even as they were physically abused by many of those opposed to the grape boycott. In 1968, he began a Ghandi-like fast to call attention to the migrant workers' cause. Although his dramatic act did little to solve the immediate problem, it increased public awareness of the conditions under which farmworkers labored. In 1973, the UFW organized a strike for higher wages from lettuce growers, and, after many battles, an agreement was finally reached in 1977 that gave the UFW the sole right to organize farmworkers; and

WHEREAS, During the 1980's, César Chávez led the effort to call attention to the health problems of farmworkers caused by the use of certain pesticides on crops; and

WHEREAS, On April 23, 1993, César Estrada Chávez died peacefully in his sleep in San Luis, Arizona. During his funeral, Cardinal Roger M. Mahoney, who celebrated the funeral mass, called César Chávez ''a special prophet for the worlds' farmworkers''; and

WHEREAS, Many declared that the UFW would die without him, but on César Chávez' birthday, March 31, 1994, under the leadership of his son-in-law, Arturo Rodriquez, the UFW marched 343 miles from Delano to Sacramento, echoing César Chávez' historic 1966 march, and demonstrated that the UFW still worked for farmworkers; and

WHEREAS, In 1990, Mexican President Salinas de Gortari awarded César Chávez the ''El Aguila Azteca'' (the Aztec Eagle), Mexico's highest award presented to people of Mexican heritage who have made major contributions outside of Mexico. He also became the second Mexican American to receive the Presidential Medal of Freedom, the highest civilian honor in the United States, which was presented posthumously to his wife, Helen Chávez, and her children on August 8, 1994, by President Clinton; and

WHEREAS, In 1994, César Chávez' family and the officers of the UFW created the César E. Chávez Foundation to inspire current and future generations by promoting the ideals of César Chávez' life, work, and vision. Communities throughout California and the United States have honored the memory of César Chávez by naming schools, parks, children's centers, streets, and other public works after the leader; and

WHEREAS, César Chávez led by example, giving of himself so that he might help others. His relentless pursuit of the belief that the American dream should be available to all Americans, regardless of race or origin of birth, stands as a monument to our free society. His life and work is not only an inspiration to Latinos, but to working Americans of all nationalities. His legacy lives on in the improved working and living conditions of hundreds of thousands of Californians and their families; and

WHEREAS, In the year 2000, the Legislature enacted Senate Bill No. 984 (Chapter 213 of the Statutes of 2000) to create an annual state holiday on César Chávez' birthday, March 31; this holiday provides all Californians the opportunity to learn from César Chávez' life and provides schoolchildren the opportunity to learn through community service; and

WHEREAS, American women of every culture, class, and ethnic background have participated in the founding and building of our nation, have made historic contributions to the growth and strength of our nation, and have played a critical role in shaping the economic, cultural, and social fabric of our society, not in the least of ways through their participation in the labor force, working both inside and outside the home; and

WHEREAS, The story of the women's rights movement deserves telling because of the significance and scope of women's role in making history and shaping the cultural and societal makeup of California and the United States, and because it is a rich part of our common heritage, a story of gallantry and devotion to the belief that the opportunity for complete human dignity should not be denied to one-half of the state and the nation; and

RESOLUTION CHAPTER 31

Senate Joint Resolution No. 36—Relative to highway funding.

[Filed with Secretary of State April 15, 2002.]

WHEREAS, The proposed federal budget for the 2003 fiscal year beginning October 1, 2003, would reduce federal highway funding by eight billion six hundred million dollars ($8,600,000,000) from the current funding level, a reduction of nearly 30 percent; and

WHEREAS, The reduced highway funding would adversely affect California to the greatest extent and result in a funding reduction to the state in excess of six hundred million dollars ($600,000,000), with similar, proportionate funding reductions in other states; and

WHEREAS, The projected loss of federal highway funding to California is equivalent to 25 percent of the state's anticipated and budgeted federal allocation for this purpose; and

WHEREAS, The precipitous reduction in funding would equate to a loss of 144,000 jobs nationwide and 20,000 jobs in California at a time when the states and the nation are seeking ways to stimulate economic activity and counter the effects of existing job losses and sluggish economic conditions; and

WHEREAS, A dramatically reduced, federal transportation budget would delay the completion of highway projects and programs across the country, thereby hampering efforts to provide critically needed transportation facilities, improve efficiency, reduce congestion, and increase safety to the traveling public; and

WHEREAS, The federal Highway Trust Fund has an unobligated balance of eighteen billion five hundred million dollars ($18,500,000,000) which could be used to remedy any actual or temporary decline in federal transportation revenues and to maintain highway funding at levels anticipated in the Transportation Equity Act for the Twenty-First Century (TEA-21); and

WHEREAS, Members of the House Transportation and Infrastructure Committee and the Senate Environment and Public Works Committee have introduced legislation to restore federal highway funding for the 2003 fiscal year and the Transportation and Infrastructure Committee has asked the General Accounting Office to reexamine the assumptions and calculations underlying the proposed federal budget reduction; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate and Assembly of the State of California, jointly, That the Legislature supports the efforts of the House of Representatives and the United States Senate to verify the accuracy of federal transportation revenue forecasts, and more importantly, to restore federal highway program funding levels to not less than those anticipated by the states and in the Transportation Equity Act for the Twenty-First Century (TEA-21) provisions for 2003, including the use of funds in the Highway Trust Fund to the extent necessary to maintain present allocation levels and obligational authority; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate transmit copies of this resolution to the Members of the House of Representatives and the United States Senate.

WHEREAS, Cancer is disproportionately a disease of the elderly, with more than one-half of all cancer diagnoses occurring in persons 65 years of age or older, who are thus dependent on the federal Medicare program for provision of cancer care; and

WHEREAS, Noncoverage of these important new products leaves many Medicare beneficiaries confronting the choice of either substantial out-of-pocket personal costs or selection of more toxic, less effective treatments that are covered by the program; and

WHEREAS, Medicare's failure to cover oral anticancer drugs leaves at risk many beneficiaries suffering from blood-related cancers like leukemia, lymphoma, and myeloma, as well as cancers of the breast, lung, and prostate; and

WHEREAS, Certain members of the United States Congress have recognized the necessity of Medicare coverage for all oral anticancer drugs and introduced legislation in the 107th Congress to achieve that result; now, therefore, be it

WHEREAS, The Indian Health Care Improvement Act (IHCIA) was enacted in the 94th Congress (P.L. 94-437) to implement the federal responsibility for the care and education of the American Indian people by improving the services and facilities of federal American Indian health programs; and

WHEREAS, The IHCIA provides for California's 109 federally recognized tribes and contains ''special eligibility'' language for thousands of nonrecognized American Indians who represent one-third of the eligible population through direct descendancy, who hold trust interests in public domain or allotments, and are members of the community served by local tribally operated programs funded by the Indian health services; and

WHEREAS, On June 14, 1944, President Franklin D. WHEREAS, Congress passed legislation in 1946 limiting and precluding Filipino veterans that fought in the service of the United States during World War II from receiving most veterans benefits that were available to them before 1946; and

WHEREAS, On the 60th year anniversary of the fall of Bataan, there are still 13,000 Filipino-American World War II veterans living in the United States, and 6,000 of them are residents of California on the West Coast and 60,000 in the Philippines who are still not recognized as American World War II veterans and are living under deplorable conditions; and

WHEREAS, It is fitting and proper that we honor the sacrifices and services of these individuals and pay tribute to the heroism of the Filipino forces under the United States Armed Forces in the Far East and the more than 200,000 guerrilla fighters who fought for more than three years under the occupation to defend the flag of the United States in its only colonial possession in Southeast Asia during the Second World War; and

WHEREAS, On this occasion we call on our legislators in the United States Congress and in the State of California to honor these men and women who served and fought for the United States by supporting the Filipino Veterans Equity Bill (HR 491 in the House of Representatives and SB 1042 in the Senate) that will remedy their lack of status and recognize them as United States World War II veterans; and

Senate Joint Resolution No. 37—Relative to Alzheimer's disease.

[Filed with Secretary of State May 30, 2002.]

WHEREAS, Four hundred seventy-two thousand Californians suffer from Alzheimer's disease; and

WHEREAS, We face an imminent epidemic unless we find a way to stop Alzheimer's because an estimated 1.4 million California baby boomers will have the disease within 50 years; and

WHEREAS, One in 10 persons over 65 years of age, and nearly one-half of those over 85 years of age have the disease and younger people also get the disease; and

WHEREAS, Without a way to prevent the Alzheimer's disease, it will continue to be costly, not just to families, but also to businesses and government; and

WHEREAS, Alzheimer's disease costs society $100 billion annually; and

WHEREAS, Alzheimer's disease costs businesses $33 billion annually, including $26 billion to lost productivity and absenteeism and $7 billion in health insurance and related costs for employees with Alzheimer's disease; and

WHEREAS, Alzheimer's disease may bankrupt the Medicare program because the costs to care for Medicare beneficiaries with Alzheimer's disease is 70 percent more than the cost to care for the average beneficiary; and

WHEREAS, Alzheimer's disease may bankrupt medicaid and state budgets as well because nearly one-half of Medicare beneficiaries who have Alzheimer's disease also receive medicaid; and

WHEREAS, Alzheimer's disease research needs and deserves a bigger investment; and

WHEREAS, The federal government is spending far less on Alzheimer's disease research than on other devastating diseases, such as the $3.7 billion spent on cancer research and $2.3 billion spent on heart disease; and

WHEREAS, To realize the benefits of recent progress in Alzheimer's disease research, we need a massive assault on Alzheimer's disease because Alzheimer's disease attacks the brain of its potential victims 20 years before symptoms appear; and

WHEREAS, To prevent 14 million American baby boomers from the death sentence of Alzheimer's disease, we have to find ways to stop the disease process now, and a $1 billion investment in research is our only hope; and

WHEREAS, The return on the federal government's investment in Alzheimer's disease research has been spectacular in that science has made progress that 10 years ago no one dreamed was possible; and

WHEREAS, Four drugs to treat early and middle stages of Alzheimer's disease are on the market, and more are in the pipeline; and

WHEREAS, Scientists have developed a vaccine that in mice appears to ward off and reduce the brain-clogging deposits of amyloid protein characteristic of Alzheimer's disease; and

WHEREAS, Research has produced evidence that commonly available products, including nonsteroid antiinflammatory drugs, vitamin E, and estrogen, may have a preventive effect on Alzheimer's disease; and

WHEREAS, Doctors are now able to diagnose Alzheimer's disease with a high degree of certainty; and

WHEREAS, Contradicting a long-held belief, several recent animal studies have suggested that the brain has regenerative power over new cells in the area of the brain associated with memory; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate and Assembly of the State of California, jointly, That an immediate investment in activities such as Alzheimer's disease clinical trials, research, awareness, and early detection could prevent 14 million American baby boomers from getting Alzheimer's disease; and be it further

Resolved, That the Legislature memorializes the President and Congress of the United States to enact legislation to do all of the following:

(1) Increase the number of large-scale clinical trials, which can cost as much as $15 to $20 million for one study because these trials take at least five years to produce results and we do not have time to conduct these trials one at a time.

(2) Fund a higher percentage of Alzheimer's disease research grants because the National Institute of Aging is funding only 24 percent of research applications it receives, which is down from 28 percent in 1999.

(3) Launch an initiative on dementia and vascular disease, which is a condition prevalent in certain minority populations and is the most common condition coexisting with Alzheimer's disease.

(4) Conduct further research on Alzheimer's disease risk factors to determine which individuals to target with prevention.

(5) Develop simple, practical, and affordable methods to detect early changes in the brain because improvements in diagnostic techniques are the only way that physicians will be able to identify who needs the treatment that will help alter the course of the disease while there is still enough time to make a difference; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate transmit copies of this resolution to the President and Vice President of the United States, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, each Senator and Representative from California in the Congress of the United States, and the Secretary of Health and Human Services of the United States.

[Filed with Secretary of State June 4, 2002.]

WHEREAS, On December 7, 2001, the 60th Anniversary of the attack on Pearl Harbor, Senator Max Cleland introduced new legislation (S. 1785) that ''urges the President to establish the White House Commission on National Military Appreciation Month'' to promote the observance of that month and other military commemorative events, to encourage participation through the establishment of the Spirit of America Alliance, and to provide the necessary incentives for federal, state, and local governments and private sector entities to sponsor and participate in programs initiated by the commission. Among other things, S. 1785 found the following:

''(1) The vigilance of the United States Armed Forces, past and present, has been instrumental to the preservation of the freedom, security, and prosperity that the United States enjoys.

(2) The vigilance and capabilities of the United States Armed Forces depend on the dedicated service of its members, their families, and the civilian employees of the Department of Defense and United States Coast Guard.

(3) The role of the United States as a world leader, and the global scope that this role imparts to our Nation's interests, requires a military force that is well-trained, well-equipped, and appropriately sized.

(4) It is important for the relevance of the history and activities of the United States Armed Forces to be emphasized to current and future citizens of the United States through an annual National Military Appreciation Month that includes associated local and national observances and activities''; and

WHEREAS, On December 7, 1941, just before 8 a.m. on a Sunday morning, the first wave of bombers began the attack on Pearl Harbor that led the United States into World War II. It was an unforgettable day for those who lived through it, one which called America forth to defend itself, and in so doing, inspired a generation of Americans to rise and lead the defense of freedom around the world; and

WHEREAS, On September 11, 2001, America was attacked again, and for only the second time in modern history, American blood was shed on American soil by a foreign foe. Most of the casualties of this most recent attack were civilians, a reflection of the many ways in which the world has changed since 1941. Once again, a generation of Americans has been called to rise to the defense of our way of life-this time not against an aggressor nation but against the global terrorist networks that have targeted us; and

WHEREAS, The American military has been essential in responding to this latest attack; and

WHEREAS, As a nation, we cannot afford to forget the price of our freedom. Maintaining our military and our readiness is one of the keys to our freedom; and
