REPORTS

The following letters of transmittal were presented by the Speaker and ordered printed in the Journal:

California State Auditor

2021-047
November 17, 2022

*The Honorable Speaker of the Assembly
The Honorable Members of the Assembly
of the Legislature of California
State Capitol, Room 319
Sacramento, California*

Members of the Assembly: As required by Health and Safety Code section 8028, my office conducted its second audit of the University of California's (university) compliance with the federal Native American Graves Protection and Repatriation Act of 1990 (NAGPRA) and its 2001 California counterpart, CalNAGPRA. These acts establish requirements for the repatriation of Native American human remains and cultural items (remains and cultural items) to tribes by government agencies and museums—which include the university's campuses—that maintain collections of remains and cultural items. This report concludes that, although the university has made improvements since my office's 2020 audit, it must still take additional action to ensure the timely return of Native American remains and cultural items.

We reviewed the university's campuses at Berkeley, Riverside, Santa Barbara, and San Diego and found they continue to maintain large collections and that some have yet to completely review all the remains and cultural items in their control. Because of the size of some of these campuses' collections, they will likely not fully repatriate their collections for at least a decade. In fact, the university's Office of the President has not yet ensured that campuses have the guidance necessary to return their collections in a timely and consistent manner. Although some campuses, such as Berkeley, have made recent progress in repatriating their collections, both Riverside and San Diego recently discovered large collections of remains and cultural items of which they were previously unaware. Because the Office of the President has not ensured consistency in how campuses respond to newly discovered collections, tribes have reported having different experiences when working with campuses to reclaim their ancestors, which created an unnecessary level of frustration and complexity for those tribes.

Additionally, the Office of the President has not ensured that campuses prioritize completing their repatriation implementation plans. Since July 2020, the Office of the President has required campuses to create these plans, but it did not set a deadline for their completion. In the absence of a deadline, the four campuses we reviewed have yet to complete them as of mid-October 2022. Finally, campuses have not formally committed to providing long-term, sustainable funding for their repatriation-related activities. Nor has the Office of the President dedicated funds beyond fiscal year 2022–23 to support campuses' repatriation activities. Because of the uncertainty surrounding the funding necessary to support campuses' repatriation efforts, we believe this approach is shortsighted and may undermine recent efforts by the university to further repatriation.

Respectfully submitted,

MICHAEL S. TILDEN, CPA
Acting California State Auditor

Above report referred to the Committee on Higher Education.

California State Auditor

2021-806
November 10, 2022

*The Honorable Speaker of the Assembly
The Honorable Members of the Assembly
of the Legislature of California
State Capitol, Room 319
Sacramento, California*

Members of the Assembly: Despite recent financial improvements, the city of Richmond's long-term financial stability remains uncertain. Our office's audit of the city—conducted as part of our high-risk local government agency audit program—concludes that the city is high risk due to its anticipated deficits, high pension debt, and mismanagement of the Richmond Housing Authority (housing authority).

Richmond forecasts a significant long-term deficit, which we believe may worsen based on emerging financial trends. The city anticipates that these deficits may average as much as $6.7 million annually beginning in fiscal year 2023–24 and continue through at least fiscal year 2027–28. Despite having increased its general fund reserves to nearly $49 million in fiscal year 2021–22, Richmond projects that its deficit will deplete those reserves to less than $9 million by fiscal year 2027–28, which is well below levels recommended by financial experts.

Richmond's growing annual pension costs are a significant barrier to balancing its budgets. In fiscal year 2020–21, Richmond paid $37 million in pension costs. However, these costs could reach $53 million by fiscal year 2028–29. Richmond attempted to mitigate its pension costs in 2005 by issuing $115 million in bonds and investing the proceeds but, after refinancing those bonds in 2022, the city now expects its residents to pay millions in annual debt service until 2044.

Finally, the mismanagement of Richmond's housing authority has resulted in the federal government disallowing millions of dollars in reimbursement of city expenses and requiring the housing authority to transfer its public housing responsibilities to other entities. However, the housing authority has missed numerous federal deadlines associated with this transfer and the city, which provides staff and financial support to the housing authority, may need to provide additional resources to resolve this ongoing problem.

Respectfully submitted,

MICHAEL S. TILDEN, CPA
Acting California State Auditor

Above report referred to the Committee on Local Government.
